8. Certain Matters Relating to Engagement. (a) Each of the Co-Issuers and the Company acknowledges that the Placement Agent has been engaged solely as an independent contractor to provide the services set forth herein and any duties of the Placement Agent arising out of its engagement hereunder shall be owed solely to the Co-Issuers and the Company. In rendering the services set forth herein, the Placement Agent will be acting solely pursuant to a contractual relationship on an arm's-length basis with respect to each Offering (including in connection with determining the terms of each Offering) and not as a financial advisor or a fiduciary to any Co-Issuer, the Company or any other person. Each of the Co-Issuers and the Company further acknowledges and agrees that any review by the Placement Agent of the Company, the Co-Issuers, each Offering, the terms of the Offered Notes and other matters relating thereto will be performed solely for the benefit of the Placement Agent and shall not be on behalf of any Co-Issuer, the Company or any other person. In addition, each of the Co-Issuers and the Company agrees that the Placement Agent may perform the services contemplated hereby in conjunction with its affiliates and that any the Placement Agent affiliates performing services hereunder shall be entitled to the benefits and be subject to the terms of this Agreement.

(b) Each of the Co-Issuers and the Company acknowledges that the Placement Agent is not advising any Co_Issuer, the Company or any other person as to any legal, tax, investment, accounting or regulatory matters in any jurisdiction. Each of the Co-Issuers and the Company shall consult with its own respective advisors concerning such matters and shall be responsible for making its own independent investigation and appraisal of the transactions contemplated hereby, and the Placement Agent shall have no responsibility or liability to the Company or the Co-Issuer with respect thereto.

(c) Each of the Co-Issuers and the Company understands that (i) so long as any Offered Notes are outstanding, the applicable Co-Issuer will be required under any purchase agreement or placement agency agreement between it and the Placement Agent to furnish to the Placement Agent copies of all reports or other communications (financial or other) furnished to holders of the Offered Notes (collectively, the "Transaction Reports"), (ii) such Transaction Reports, as well as the Disclosure Documents and the operative documents related to the Offered Notes, may be provided to third parties, such as current and prospective investors in the Offered Notes, securities exchanges on which the Offered Notes are listed and third-party vendors, such as Intex, that provide modeling, reporting and other support services to investors and other participants in CLO transactions, and (iii) the Placement Agent (or affiliates thereof) may use information derived from such operative documentation and Transaction Reports in research publications or other research work-product relating to CLO, ABS or other securitization transactions. To facilitate the Placement Agent's provision of valuations of the Offered Notes following the applicable Closing Date, each of the Co-Issuers and the Company further agrees (A) to provide, or to request the Transaction's trustee or collateral administrator to provide, to the Placement Agent information reasonably available to such person relating to the collateral obligations and (B) to provide, or to request each of the Transaction's trustee or collateral administrator to provide, such other information reasonably available to such person relating to such Transaction as the Placement Agent may reasonably request from time to time.

(d) The Placement Agent may not, without its prior written consent, be quoted or referred to in any document, release or communication prepared, issued or transmitted by the Co-Issuers or the Company (including any entity controlled by, or under common control with, the Co-Issuers, the Company or any of their respective directors, officers, employees or agents thereof). Upon consummating the sale of any Offered Notes, the Placement Agent or any of its affiliates may place customary "tombstone" advertisements in publications of the Placement Agent's choice at its own expense only with the prior written approval of the Company.

9. Other Business Relationships. (a) Each of the Co-Issuers and the Company understands that Mizuho comprises full service securities firms and commercial banks engaged in securities trading and brokerage activities, as well as providing investment banking, asset management, financing and financial advisory services and other commercial and investment banking products and services to a wide range of corporations and individuals. In the ordinary course of its trading, brokerage, asset management and financing activities, Mizuho may at any time hold long or short positions, and may trade or otherwise effect transactions, for its own account or the other accounts of customers, in debt or equity securities or senior loans of persons or entities that may be involved in the transactions contemplated hereby. Mizuho recognizes its responsibility for compliance with federal securities laws in connection with such activities.

(b) In addition, Mizuho may have and may in the future have investment and commercial banking, trust and other relationships with parties other than the Co-Issuers or the Company, which parties may have interests with respect to the transactions contemplated hereby. Although Mizuho in the course of such other relationships may acquire information about such other parties, Mizuho shall have no obligation to disclose such information, or the fact that Mizuho is in possession of such information, to the Co-Issuers, the Company or to use such information on its behalf. Furthermore, Mizuho may have fiduciary or other relationships whereby Mizuho may exercise voting power over securities of various persons, which securities may from time to time include securities of persons or entities that may be involved in the transactions contemplated hereby. Each of the Co-Issuers and the Company acknowledges that Mizuho may exercise such powers and otherwise perform its functions in connection with such fiduciary or other relationships without regard to its relationship to the Co-Issuers and the Company.

10. Governing Law, Waiver of Jury Trial and Submission to Jurisdiction. (a) This Agreement shall be governed by and construed in accordance with the laws of the State of New York, without giving effect to the conflicts of laws principles thereof. Each of the parties hereto irrevocably agrees to waive trial by jury in any action, proceeding, claim or counterclaim brought by or on behalf of any party hereto related to or arising out of this Agreement or the performance of services hereunder.

(b) Each of the parties hereto irrevocably agrees that any state or federal court sitting in the Borough of Manhattan in the City of New York shall have exclusive jurisdiction to hear and determine any suit, action or proceeding and to settle any dispute arising out of or relating to this Agreement and, for such purposes, irrevocably submits to the jurisdiction of such courts. Each of the parties hereto irrevocably and unconditionally waives any objection to the laying of venue of any such suit, action or proceeding brought in any such court and any claim that any such suit, action or proceeding has been brought in an inconvenient forum.

11. Miscellaneous. This Agreement contains the entire agreement between the parties hereto relating to the subject matter hereof and supersedes all oral statements and prior writings with respect thereto. This Agreement may not be amended or modified except by a writing executed by each of the parties hereto. Section headings herein are for convenience only and are not a part of this Agreement. This Agreement is solely for the benefit of the parties hereto, and no other person (except for indemnified persons to the extent set forth in Schedule I hereto and the Placement Agent affiliates referred to in Section 8(a)) shall acquire or have any rights under or by virtue of this Agreement. This Agreement may not be assigned by either party hereto without the other party's prior written consent. Neither party hereto shall be responsible or have any liability to any other party for any indirect, special or consequential damages arising out of or in connection with this Agreement or the transactions contemplated hereby, even if advised of the possibility thereof.

This Agreement may be executed in counterparts, each of which will be deemed an original, but all of which taken together will constitute one and the same instrument.

12. Confidentiality. (a) In connection with each Offering, the Placement Agent expects to furnish the Co-Issuers and the Company, and the Co-Issuers and the Company expects to furnish to the Placement Agent, certain oral and written confidential or proprietary material and information, including without limitation, information regarding the specific proposed structure of such Offering. All material information furnished by the Placement Agent to the Co-Issuers or the Company, or the Co-Issuer or the Company to the Placement Agent, whether oral or written, shall be considered confidential and proprietary unless the party furnishing such information otherwise specifies in writing (all such confidential or proprietary material and information is referred to herein as the "Confidential Information"). Other than as set forth in this Agreement, each party hereto agrees that it will keep all Confidential Information furnished to it by the other party hereto strictly confidential; provided that each party hereto may disclose such Confidential Information (v) to its affiliates, agents or representatives (collectively, the "Representatives") to the extent necessary to consummate the Offering if such Representatives are advised of the confidentiality obligations imposed hereby and agree to abide by such obligations, (w) to current or prospective investors, to the extent such information was provided for inclusion in any offering memorandum or other marketing materials for the Offered Notes or is otherwise provided for distribution to one or more potential investors (x) to any other person or entity with the prior written consent of the other party hereto, (y) to each Rating Agency and other persons or entities involved in the Offering to the extent necessary or requested to obtain ratings for the Offered Notes, to sell the Offered Notes, to structure such Transaction and to consummate such Transaction or (z) (i) at the request of any regulatory authority (including, but not limited to, any self-regulatory organization), (ii) pursuant to subpoena or other legal or administrative process or to defend against any claim in any legal or administrative proceeding, (iii) to its independent auditors and counsel or (iv) otherwise as required by law or regulation. Each party hereto agrees that it will use all such Confidential Information solely for the purposes described in this Agreement. Confidential Information furnished to a party hereto does not include any information (i) that is or becomes publicly available or is not otherwise confidential or proprietary, in each case other than as a result of breach of this confidentiality provision by such party, (ii) that was known by such party prior to its disclosure by the other party hereto, (iii) that was received from a third party that is not known by the receiving party to be subject to a confidentiality agreement or similar document prohibiting the disclosure of such Confidential Information to such receiving party, (iv) that is independently developed by the receiving party without reference to the Confidential Information.

(b) Notwithstanding the foregoing, each party hereto may disclose to any and all persons, without limitation of any kind, the "tax treatment" and "tax structure" (in each case, within the meaning of Treasury Regulation Section 1.6011-4) of each Transaction described herein and all materials of any kind (including opinions or other tax analyses) that are provided to such party relating to such tax treatment and tax structure, except that, with respect to any document or similar item that in either case contains information concerning the tax treatment or tax structure of each Transaction as well as other information, this authorization shall only apply to such portions of the document or similar item that relate to the tax treatment or tax structure of each Transaction. Each party shall take reasonable steps to ensure that any such disclosure by it will not result in a violation of applicable securities laws.

13. Limited Recourse. Notwithstanding the foregoing or anything in this Agreement to the contrary, no party hereto shall institute against, or join any other person in instituting against, any Co-Issuer, any bankruptcy, reorganization, arrangement, insolvency, moratorium or liquidation proceedings, or other similar proceedings under United States federal or state bankruptcy laws or any similar laws; provided, however, that nothing in this Agreement (i) shall preclude, or be deemed to estop, any party (A) from taking any action in (x) any case or proceeding voluntarily filed or commenced by a Co-Issuer or (y) any involuntary insolvency proceeding filed or commenced against a Co-Issuer by a person other than such party or any affiliate of such party or (B) from commencing against a Co-Issuer or any properties of a Co-Issuer, any legal action which is not a bankruptcy, reorganization, arrangement, insolvency, moratorium or liquidation proceeding, including, without limitation, any legal action to enforce this Agreement. Each of the Co-Issuer's obligations hereunder will be solely the corporate obligations of such Co-Issuer and no party shall have any recourse to any of the directors, officers, employees, shareholders, members, governors or affiliates of such Co-Issuer with respect to any claims, losses, damages, liabilities, indemnities or other obligations contemplated by this Agreement. Notwithstanding any other provisions hereof, recourse in respect of any obligations of a Co-Issuer to the parties hereunder from time to time and at any time will be limited to the Assets available at such time as applied in accordance with the Priority of Payments pursuant to the applicable Indenture and, on the exhaustion of the Assets, all remaining claims against such Co-Issuer arising from this Agreement or any transactions contemplated hereby or thereby shall be extinguished and shall not thereafter revive. The provisions of this Section 13 shall survive the termination or expiration of this Agreement for any reason whatsoever.

SCHEDULE I

Capitalized terms used but not defined in this Schedule I have the meanings assigned to such terms in the letter agreement to which this Schedule I is attached (the "Agreement").

(a) Indemnification and Reimbursement. The Company agrees (i) to indemnify and hold harmless the Placement Agent, its affiliates and the respective officers, directors, employees, agents and controlling persons of the Placement Agent and its affiliates (each a "Manager Indemnified Person") from and against any and all losses, claims, demands, damages, liabilities and expenses ("Liabilities"), joint or several, to which any such Manager Indemnified Person may become subject, insofar as such Liabilities (or any claim, action, litigation, investigation or proceeding in respect thereof, regardless of whether any of such Manager Indemnified Persons is a party thereto) are either (x) arising out of, based upon or in connection with any breach or alleged breach by the Company of any representation, covenant or warranty or failure to comply with any of the agreements set forth in the Agreement or in the collateral management agreement, or the gross negligence, fraud or willful misconduct of the Company in the performance of its obligations hereunder or under such collateral management agreement, or (y) arising out of or based upon an untrue statement or alleged untrue statement of a material fact contained in any information concerning the Company furnished in writing by the Company expressly for inclusion in any Disclosure Document (including, for the avoidance of doubt, the information furnished in writing by the Company expressly for inclusion in the offering circular relating to the Offering under the heading "Credit Risk Retention") (the "Manager Information"), or arising out of or based upon any omission or alleged omission to state in the Disclosure Documents a material fact necessary in order to make the statements contained in the Manager Information, in light of the circumstances under which they were made not misleading, and (ii) to reimburse such Manager Indemnified Persons for any legal or other expenses as they are incurred in connection with investigating, preparing, responding to or defending any such Liabilities (or claim, action, litigation, investigation or proceeding); provided that the foregoing indemnification shall not, as to any Manager Indemnified Person, apply to any Liabilities to the extent that they have resulted primarily from the bad faith, gross negligence or willful misconduct of an Manager Indemnified Person.

The Placement Agent agrees (i) to indemnify and hold harmless the Co-Issuers, the Company, their respective affiliates and its and their respective officers, directors, employees, agents and controlling persons (each a "Placement Agent Indemnified Person" and together with a "Manager Indemnified Person" the "Indemnified Persons") from and against any Liabilities, joint or several, to which any such Placement Agent Indemnified Person may become subject, insofar as such Liabilities (or any claim, action, litigation, investigation or proceeding in respect thereof, regardless of whether any of such Placement Agent Indemnified Persons is a party thereto) are either (x) arising out of, based upon or in connection with any breach or alleged breach by the Placement Agent of any representation, covenant or warranty or failure to comply with any of the agreements set forth in the Agreement, or (y) arising out of or based upon an untrue statement or alleged untrue statement of a material fact contained in any information concerning the Placement Agent in any Disclosure Document (the "Placement Agent Information"), or arising out of or based upon any omission or alleged omission to state in the Disclosure Documents a material fact necessary in order to make the statements contained in the Placement Agent Information, in light of the circumstances under which they were made not misleading, and (ii) to reimburse such Placement Agent Indemnified Persons for any legal or other expenses as they are incurred in connection with investigating, preparing, responding to or defending any such Liabilities (or claim, action, litigation, investigation or proceeding); provided that the foregoing indemnification shall not, as to any Placement Agent Indemnified Person, apply to any Liabilities to the extent that they have resulted primarily from the bad faith, gross negligence or willful misconduct of a Placement Agent Indemnified Person.

(b) Exculpation. Each of the Co-Issuers and the Company also agrees that no Indemnified Person shall have any liability (whether direct or indirect, in contract, tort or otherwise) to Co-Issuers or the Company for any Liabilities incurred by the Co-Issuers or the Company in connection with the Agreement, any transactions contemplated thereby or the Placement Agent's role or services in connection therewith, except to the extent that any such Liabilities incurred by the Co-Issuers or the Company have resulted primarily from the bad faith, gross negligence or willful misconduct of such Indemnified Person.

(c) Contribution. If the foregoing indemnification is unavailable or insufficient to hold an Indemnified Person harmless (in each case, other than by reason of the express limitations in the indemnity set forth above) then, in lieu of indemnifying such Indemnified Person hereunder, the Company or the Placement Agent, as applicable, shall contribute to the amount paid or payable by such Indemnified Person as a result of such Liabilities in such proportion as is appropriate to reflect the relative benefits to the Company or the Placement Agent, as applicable, on the one hand, and such Indemnified Person, on the other hand, of the transactions contemplated by the Agreement and also the relative fault of each of the Company or the Placement Agent, as applicable, and such Indemnified Person, as well as any other relevant equitable considerations.

(d) Notice and Conduct of Proceedings. Promptly after receipt by an Indemnified Person of actual notice of its involvement in any claim, action, litigation, investigation or proceeding for which indemnification is being sought hereunder (a "Proceeding"), the Placement Agent or such Indemnified Person will notify the Company or the Placement Agent, as applicable, in writing of such involvement. Failure to so notify the Company or the Placement Agent, as applicable, will not relieve the Company or the Placement Agent, as applicable, from liability that it may have to any Indemnified Person hereunder, except to the extent that the Company or the Placement Agent, as applicable, is materially prejudiced by such failure. The Company or the Placement Agent, as applicable, shall be entitled to assume the defense of all Indemnified Persons in connection with the Proceeding, including the employment of counsel reasonably satisfactory to the Placement Agent, and the payment of the fees and disbursements of such counsel. Notwithstanding the Company's or the Placement Agent's, as applicable, decision to assume the defense of any Proceeding, (x) its right to enter into any compromise or settlement of the Proceeding shall be limited as set forth below, and (y) the Indemnified Person shall have the right to employ separate counsel and to participate in the defense of the Proceeding. Such counsel shall be at the expense of the Indemnified Person, unless (i) the use of counsel chosen by the Company or the Placement Agent, as applicable, to represent the Indemnified Person would present such counsel with a conflict of interest, (ii) the named parties to any Proceeding (including any impleaded parties) include both the Company or the Placement Agent, as applicable, and an Indemnified Person and (A) representation of both parties by the same counsel, or conduct by the Company or the Placement Agent, as applicable, of the defense of the Indemnified Person, would be inappropriate due to actual or potential differing interests between the Company or the Placement Agent, as applicable, and such Indemnified Person or (B) there may be defenses available to the Indemnified Person that are different from, or in addition to, the defenses available to the Company or the Placement Agent, as applicable,, or (iii) the Company or the Placement Agent, as applicable, fails to assume the defense of the Proceeding or to employ counsel reasonably satisfactory to the Placement Agent, in each case in a timely manner. In the event of any of the foregoing clauses (i) through (iii), then the Indemnified Person may employ separate counsel at the Company's or the Placement Agent's, as applicable, expense to represent or defend it in any such Proceeding or group of related Proceedings (it being agreed that the Company or the Placement Agent, as applicable, shall not, under any of the circumstances described in clause (i) or (ii) above, have the right to direct the defense of the Proceeding on behalf of the Indemnified Person). In no event shall the Company or the Placement Agent, as applicable, be liable for the fees and expenses of more than one separate firm of attorneys for all Indemnified Persons in connection with any Proceeding, plus one firm of local counsel in each jurisdiction in which any such Proceeding is taking place. Notwithstanding anything to the contrary herein, the Indemnified Person and its counsel shall have the right to defend and to make the final decision on matters affecting the conduct of such Proceeding with respect to any allegation that such Indemnified Person is not entitled to be indemnified by the Company or the Placement Agent, as applicable,.

(e) Settlement of Proceedings. The Company or the Placement Agent, as applicable, shall not be liable for any settlement of any Proceeding effected without its written consent but if settled with its written consent or if there be a final judgment for the plaintiff in any such Proceedings, the Company or the Placement Agent, as applicable, agrees to indemnify and hold harmless each Indemnified Person from and against any and all Liabilities by reason of such settlement or judgment in accordance with the provisions of this Schedule I. Notwithstanding the immediately preceding sentence, if at any time an Indemnified Person shall have requested the Company or the Placement Agent, as applicable, in writing to reimburse such Indemnified Person for legal or other expenses in connection with investigating, preparing, responding to or defending any Proceeding as contemplated by this Schedule I, the Company or the Placement Agent, as applicable, shall be liable for any settlement of any Proceeding effected without its written consent if (i) such settlement is entered into more than 60 days after receipt by the Company or the Placement Agent, as applicable, of such written request for reimbursement, accompanied by documentation (in reasonable detail) of the incurrence, amounts and nature of such expenses, and (ii) the Company or the Placement Agent, as applicable, shall not have reimbursed such Indemnified Person in accordance with such request prior to the date of such settlement. The Company or the Placement Agent, as applicable, shall not, without the prior written consent of an Indemnified Person, settle, compromise, consent to the entry of any judgment in or otherwise seek to terminate any pending or threatened Proceeding in respect of which indemnity could have been sought hereunder by such Indemnified Person, whether or not any Indemnified Person is an actual or potential party thereto, unless (x) such settlement, compromise, consent or termination includes an unconditional release of such Indemnified Person in form and substance satisfactory to such Indemnified Person from all liability on claims that are the subject matter of such Proceeding and (y) does not include any statement as to or any admission of fault, culpability or a failure to act by or on behalf of any Indemnified Person.

(f) Miscellaneous. The obligations of the Company or the Placement Agent, as applicable, under this Schedule I shall be in addition to any liability that the Company or the Placement Agent, as applicable, may otherwise have to an Indemnified Person and shall be binding upon and inure to the benefit of any successors, assigns, heirs and personal representatives of the Company or the Placement Agent, as applicable, and any Indemnified Person.

DONDERO'S OBJECTIONS AND ANSWERS TO ACIS' FIRST SET OF INTERROGATORIES

INTERROGATORY NO. 1: Describe Your approval, on behalf of Acis, to Acis amending or revising its Sub-Advisory and Shared Services Agreements with Highland Capital to increase payments to Highland Capital under those agreements, including identifying for each instance in which those agreements were amended or revised (i) Your decision-making process for approving the increased payments to Highland Capital, such as who You communicated with, what was said, and what information You considered; (ii) on what grounds did you approve the increased payments to Highland Capital; (iii) the financial gain, direct or indirect, that You derived from Acis paying Highland Capital more; and (iv) Your evaluation and resolution of any potential conflicts of interest.

ANSWER: Defendant objects to this interrogatory to the extent this request and its sub-parts call for a narrative response requiring complete factual detail by Defendant, and to the extent this request and its sub-parts seek to narrow Defendant's responses without the benefit of specific questions during direct or cross examination. This interrogatory is unduly burdensome and overbroad, requires Defendant to marshal all of his available evidence, is duplicative of Plaintiffs' Requests for Production to this Defendant, and would more appropriately be addressed by way of deposition. Subject to and without waiving the foregoing objections, Defendant responds as follows:

Acis was created and used as a vehicle to compensate Josh Terry. Accordingly, and in order to increase the amount of compensation Terry was able to extract from Acis, Acis' payments to vendors were hard capped by agreement, even if that meant that other Highland affiliates had to bear a portion of Acis' pro rata allocation of shared third-party vendor expenses. Additionally, via price-controlled shared services and sub-advisory fees, Acis paid less, on a pro rata basis, for the infrastructure and employees' costs compared to Highland and the other affiliated investment managers. For example, Acis never paid additional amounts even when employee costs increased (even if those employees primarily worked to service Acis) and never paid more when other overhead costs increased. Moreover, if Acis earned less revenue, then it still only paid a fixed percentage of that revenue to Highland Capital, rather than a fixed amount. Therefore, while the actual costs of running the Acis business could fluctuate up and down, Acis could not lose money: its expenses were a fixed percentage of its revenue. While Acis and Highland shared the benefit of increased revenue to Acis, Highland alone bore the risk of increased costs of running the Acis business.

As far as Dondero understands as of the date of these responses, after Terry's employment with Acis terminated, to ensure that Acis was paying its fair pro rata share of overhead, infrastructure, and employee expenses, David Klos (the current CFO of Highland Capital Management, L.P. ("Highland Capital")) performed a comparison of Acis to other affiliated advisors and managed investment products on the Highland Capital platform to determine which expenses incurred by Highland Capital were actually attributable to Acis and its operations. Dondero did not participate in that analysis and has no personal knowledge of how it was conducted. Dondero's understanding is based on what he was told at the time by Klos. Acis's expenses began being accounted for as expenses of Acis and Acis was treated similarly to other affiliated advisors and managed accounts.

There was no financial gain to Dondero as the result of the process to account for and capture Acis expenses on the books of Acis. In fact, the adjustment of the fees paid by Acis to Highland Capital yielded a financial loss to Dondero, because: (1) Dondero had sold almost all of his interest in Highland Capital to Hunter Mountain prior to the time the decision was made to increase payments to Highland Capital under the Sub-Advisory and Shared Services Agreements; and (2) a trust, of which Dondero is the beneficiary, owned approximately 60 percent of Acis at that time. Dondero did not engage in any formal process to resolve potential conflicts of interest affecting Acis partners because, at that time, the only Acis partners were the trust and Okada. Moreover, conflicts of interest policies generally were designed to protect investor funds. The amendments to the sub-advisory and shared services agreements were executed based upon recommendations of the Chief Compliance Officer, the Deputy General Counsel, and other in-house counsel of Highland Capital.

INTERROGATORY NO. 2: Describe Your approval of diverting $332,284 from Acis CLO Value Fund II, L.P.; Acis CLO Value Fund II (Cayman), L.P.; or Acis CLO Value Master Fund II, LP to CLO HoldCo, instead of Acis, see Original Complaint at , ¶¶ 44-47, including identifying (i) Your decision making process for diverting these funds in such a way, such as who You communicated with, what was said, and what information You considered; (ii) on what grounds You approved diverting those funds away from Acis and to CLO HoldCo; and (iii) Your evaluation and resolution of any potential conflicts of interest.

ANSWER: Defendant objects to this interrogatory to the extent this request and its sub-parts call for a narrative response requiring complete factual detail by Defendant, and to the extent this request and its sub-parts seek to narrow Defendant's responses without the benefit of specific questions during direct or cross examination. This interrogatory is unduly burdensome and overbroad, requires Defendant to marshal all of his available evidence, is duplicative of Plaintiffs' Requests for Production to this Defendant, and would more appropriately be addressed by way of deposition. Defendant further objects to the term "diverting" as it inaccurately describes what happened and the parties' rights. Defendant further objects to this interrogatory as assuming facts not in evidence. Defendant objects to this request on the basis that it seeks information that is irrelevant because that information is not likely to make any fact at issue in this proceeding more or less probable. See Fed. R. Evid. 401. For that reason, this request seeks information that is beyond the scope of discovery and that has no impact or importance in resolving the issues in this proceeding. Fed. R. Civ. P. 26(b). Subject to and without waiving the foregoing objections, Defendant responds as follows:

Dondero did not approve the referenced "diversion" of $332,284 and has no personal knowledge regarding how that transaction was completed. Dondero was informed by Thomas Surgent and Tim Cournoyer that Terry caused an amendment to a fund document that resulted in a redemption in a fund. Terry represented to Surgent that investors in that fund had requested an amendment. In reality, the amendment was Terry's request and decision alone. The amendment caused investors (Highfield Capital and CLO HoldCo, Ltd.) to lose approximately $700,000. As a result, investors were owed a reimbursement in that amount pursuant to the Trading Policy of Highland Capital's Compliance Manual. Surgent, not Dondero, engaged in the formal process to identify or resolve potential conflicts of interest affecting Acis partners in connection with the loss to investors caused by Terry.

INTERROGATORY NO. 3: Describe Your approval, on behalf of Acis, to Acis selling its shares to ALF, see Exhibits A & B, including identifying (i) Your decision-making process for approving this transaction, such as who You communicated with, what was said, and what information You considered; (ii) on what grounds You approved Acis selling its shares to ALF; and (iii) Your evaluation and resolution of any potential conflicts of interest.

ANSWER: Defendant objects to this interrogatory to the extent this request and its sub-parts call for a narrative response requiring complete factual detail by Defendant, and to the extent this request and its sub-parts seek to narrow Defendant's responses without the benefit of specific questions during direct or cross examination. This interrogatory is unduly burdensome and overbroad, requires Defendant to marshal all of his available evidence, is duplicative of Plaintiffs' Requests for Production to this Defendant, and would more appropriately be addressed by way of deposition. Subject to and without waiving the foregoing objections, Defendant responds as follows:

Highland Capital was a creditor of Acis because Acis had substantial unpaid sub-advisory, shared services, and other fees and expenses that had never been paid to Highland Capital. To reduce liabilities to Highland Capital, Acis transferred certain of its assets to Highland Capital in exchange for a dollar-for-dollar forgiveness of debt owed to Highland Capital. At the same time, Acis was the manager of ALF and held shares in ALF. ALF redeemed its shares (Acis sold them to ALF at fair value) in order to generate revenue to Acis. Acis used that revenue to further reduce its debt to Highland Capital. The actual value of the transaction between Acis and ALF was a net zero, and Dondero did not benefit as the result of this transaction. The transactions reduced the liabilities of Acis and were approved by Surgent, and drafted and executed by Cournoyer under Surgent's direction. The documents to facilitate these transactions were drafted by Cournoyer, who reported to Surgent for purposes of structuring these transactions. Cournoyer acted under the direct supervision of Surgent. Leventon analyzed the transaction documents and advised with respect to legal risks associated with the transactions. Thomas Surgent, Highland Capital's Chief Compliance Officer, was tasked with resolving any potential conflicts of interest created by the transactions described in this response. Dondero had no direct involvement with reviewing those transactions and they were approved based upon recommendations of the Chief Compliance Officer, the Deputy General Counsel, and other in-house counsel of Highland Capital.

INTERROGATORY NO. 4: Describe Your approval, on behalf of Acis, to it transferring to Highland Management a note payable to Acis from Highland Capital, see Exhibits C & D, including identifying (i) Your decision-making process for this note transfer, such as who You communicated with, what was said, and what information You considered; (ii) on what grounds You approved Acis transferring its note to Highland Management; and (iii) Your evaluation and resolution of any potential conflicts of interest.

ANSWER: Defendant objects to this interrogatory because the request for information regarding the "grounds on which [Defendant] approved" a transaction is vague and ambiguous as used in this request. Specifically, Defendant cannot discern what information this request seeks beyond a description of the decision-making process by which Defendant determined to approve the transaction described in this response. Defendant further objects to this interrogatory to the extent this request and its sub-parts call for a narrative response requiring complete factual detail by Defendant, and to the extent this request and its sub-parts seek to narrow Defendant's responses without the benefit of specific questions during direct or cross examination. This interrogatory is unduly burdensome and overbroad, requires Defendant to marshal all of his available evidence, is duplicative of Plaintiffs' Requests for Production to this Defendant, and would more appropriately be addressed by way of deposition. Subject to and without waiving the foregoing objections, Defendant responds as follows:

On October 7, 2016, Acis and Highland Capital entered into a transaction that had positive tax benefits to Acis. The parties executed a certain Agreement for Purchase and Sale of Participation Interests under which Acis sold Highland Capital 50% of Acis' future quarterly management fees for a period of years in exchange for Highland Capital's agreement to pay to Acis $12,666,446, together with principal and interest pursuant to the amortization table attached to the Promissory Note. This transaction resulted in a dollar-for-dollar forgiveness of debt owed to Highland Capital, and the fees that Acis was to pay Highland were intended to equal $12,666,4460, i.e., the value of the Promissory Note. Acis stopped paying Highland Capital 50% of Acis' quarterly management fees, i.e. Acis stopped paying Highland Capital any amount as consideration for the Promissory Note. Immediately prior to bankruptcy, it was inadvisable for Acis to continue to manage the Acis CLOs, especially if they were to undergo reset transactions as needed for the benefit of their investors. Accordingly, Highland CLO Management, LLC ("Highland Management") was established to assume management of the Acis CLOs post-reset, including taking on Acis' obligation to pay 50% of the Acis CLO fees to Highland Capital as well as becoming payee on Highland Capital's the Promissory Note. In accordance with the above, Acis, on November 7, 2017, agreed to transfer the Promissory Note to Highland Management and also agreed to transfer to Highland Management, when it became manager of the Acis CLO's post-reset, to pay 50% of the CLO management fees to Highland Capital. The result to Acis would be approximately neutral: it would not have the benefit of the asset of the outstanding balance on the Promissory Note, but it also would not have the liability of being obligated to pay 50% of the CLO management fees.

The wind down process was orchestrated by Surgent and carried out by Surgent, Cournoyer, and Hunter Covitz. The documents to facilitate these transactions were drafted by Cournoyer. Thomas Surgent, Highland Capital's Chief Compliance Officer, was tasked with resolving any potential conflicts of interest created by the transactions described in this response. These transactions were approved based upon recommendations of Surgent, the Chief Compliance Officer, the Deputy General Counsel, and other in-house counsel of Highland Capital.

INTERROGATORY NO. 5: Describe Your approval, on behalf of Acis, to its determination that it could no longer fulfill its duties as portfolio manager of the Acis CLOs, see Exhibit D, including identifying (i) Your decision-making process, such as who You communicated with, what was said, and what information You considered and (ii) on what grounds You approved Acis transferring its note to Highland Management.

ANSWER: Defendant objects to this request on the basis that it seeks information that is irrelevant because that information is not likely to make any fact at issue in this proceeding more or less probable. See Fed. R. Evid. 401. For that reason, this request seeks information that is beyond the scope of discovery and that has no impact or importance in resolving the issues in this proceeding. Fed. R. Civ. P. 26(b). Subject to and without waiving the foregoing objections, Defendant responds as follows:

Acis was not able to fulfil its duties to investors while also bearing the legal risk created by the Terry arbitration award. Acis had insufficient liquidity to pay its debts, in particular those to Highland Capital, in cash. Acis did not have sufficient cash to pay Terry's arbitration award. Acis needed to proceed with reset transactions for each of its CLOs for the benefit of investors. Acis would have faced substantial difficulty in the market resetting its CLOs with (a) a public arbitration award by its former portfolio manager and (b) the business risked posed by Acis' liquidity position. Additionally, as described in response to Interrogatory No. 2 above, Acis only was able to turn an operating profit because it was subsidized by Highland Capital. At this point Acis was a pass-through entity with a substantial legal issue, no employees or infrastructure of its own, whose only ability to service its clients was via the continued subsidization by Highland Capital. Regarding the transfer of its note, Dondero incorporates by reference as if fully restated here his response to Interrogatory No. 4, above.

INTERROGATORY NO. 6: Describe Your approval, on behalf of Acis, to Acis assigning its assets to Highland Holdings, see Exhibit E, including identifying (i) Your decision-making process, such as who You communicated with, what was said, and what information You considered; (ii) on what grounds You approved Acis so assigning its assets; and (iii) Your evaluation and resolution of any potential conflicts of interest.

ANSWER: Defendant objects to this request because its use of the phrase "its assets" to describe some unidentified assets of Acis is vague and confusing. Defendant cannot discern which particular assets Acis intends to be the subject of this request. Defendant further objects to this interrogatory to the extent this request and its sub-parts call for a narrative response requiring complete factual detail by Defendant, and to the extent this request and its sub-parts seek to narrow Defendant's responses without the benefit of specific questions during direct or cross examination. This interrogatory is unduly burdensome and overbroad, requires Defendant to marshal all of his available evidence, is duplicative of Plaintiffs' Requests for Production to this Defendant, and would more appropriately be addressed by way of deposition. Subject to and without waiving the foregoing objections, Defendant responds as follows:

Exhibit E states why Acis assigned the "Interests," as that term is defined in Exhibit E. See Fed. R. Civ. P. 33(d). Acis was set to cease being the manager of Acis CLO 2017-7 for the reasons set forth in response to Interrogatory No. 5 and also because Acis did not have assets to fund a capitalized majority-owned affiliate ("C-MOA") pursuant to newly enacted federal regulations regarding risk retention by CLO managers. Additionally, Acis did not have the assets to continue to fund any future risk retention obligations or costs. The Interests that were actually conveyed to Highland Holdings via Exhibit E were LLC interests and a limited partnership interest that were associated with the management of Acis CLO-2017-7, Ltd. (a CLO). On the date Exhibit E was executed, the CLO had a capitalized majority-owned affiliate. As a result, the management company was required to have funds at risk. A structure was built around the manager risk-retention requirements. Acis CLO Management Intermediate Holdings I, LLC and Acis CLO Management GP, LLC (on Schedule A to Exhibit E) (together the "LLCs") were the managers of the CLO. Acis CLO Management Holdings, L.P. (the "LP") was the risk retention vehicle holding an interest in the CLO. The LLCs had no value because their only possible value was the ability to receive future fees pursuant to a management contract that could be cancelled at any time. The LP had a market value of 2.8 million dollars, consisting of the ownership of the CLO. Acis transferred the LP to Highland Holdings for fair value and reduced the debt Acis owed Highland Capital by $2.8 million dollars. These transactions were approved based upon recommendations of Surgent, the Chief Compliance Officer, the Deputy General Counsel, and other in-house counsel of Highland Capital.

INTERROGATORY NO. 7: Describe Your approval, on behalf of Acis, of Acis transferring its risk retention structure to Highland Holdings, see Exhibit F at ¶ 31(e), including identifying (i) Your decision-making process, such as who You communicated with, what was said, and what information You considered; (ii) the grounds for this decision; and (iii) Your evaluation and resolution of any potential conflicts of interest.

ANSWER: Defendant objects to this interrogatory to the extent this request and its sub-parts call for a narrative response requiring complete factual detail by Defendant, and to the extent this request and its sub-parts seek to narrow Defendant's responses without the benefit of specific questions during direct or cross examination. This interrogatory is unduly burdensome and overbroad, requires Defendant to marshal all of his available evidence, is duplicative of Plaintiffs' Requests for Production to this Defendant, and would more appropriately be addressed by way of deposition. Subject to and without waiving the foregoing objections, Defendant responds as follows:

Frank Waterhouse initiated and approved transferring Acis's risk retention structure (and associated ownership in CLOs) to Highland Holdings. As far as Dondero understands as of the date of these responses, Waterhouse authorized that transfer because Acis (via Terry) claimed that Highland Capital was charging Acis too much in fees and attributing too many expenses to Acis. The transaction was approved based upon recommendations of Surgent, the Chief Compliance Officer, the Deputy General Counsel, and other in-house counsel of Highland Capital. Dondero incorporates by reference his response to Interrogatory No. 6, above, as if fully restated here.

INTERROGATORY NO. 8: Describe your approval, on behalf of Highland Capital, of its evaluation of replacing Acis as the manager or advisor to BayVK R2 Lux S.A., SICAVFIS, see Exhibit G at 2-3, including identifying (i) Your decision-making process, such as who You communicated with, what was said, and what information You considered; (ii) the grounds for this decision; and (iii) Your evaluation and resolution of any potential conflicts of interest.

ANSWER: Defendant objects to this request on the basis that it seeks information that is irrelevant because that information is not likely to make any fact at issue in this proceeding more or less probable. See Fed. R. Evid. 401. For that reason, this request seeks information that is beyond the scope of discovery and that has no impact or importance in resolving the issues in this proceeding. Fed. R. Civ. P. 26(b). Defendant further objects to the use of the word "your" as used in this request, because it assumes facts not in evidence, i.e. that it was Defendant who approved the transaction described in this request on behalf of Highland Capital, and that such approval was, in fact, given. The email that is cited in Exhibit G by Plaintiffs is a request of Cournoyer at Highland Capital inquiring about options. Defendant further objects to this interrogatory to the extent this request and its sub-parts call for a narrative response requiring complete factual detail by Defendant, and to the extent this request and its sub-parts seek to narrow Defendant's responses without the benefit of specific questions during direct or cross examination. This interrogatory is unduly burdensome and overbroad, requires Defendant to marshal all of his available evidence, is duplicative of Plaintiffs' Requests for Production to this Defendant, and would more appropriately be addressed by way of deposition. Subject to and without waiving the foregoing objections, Defendant responds that Defendant neither approved or disproved the transaction described in this interrogatory and no such transaction ever occurred.

INTERROGATORY NO. 9: Describe your approval, on behalf of Highland Capital, of Highland Capital's attempted reset of Acis CLO 2014-3, see Exhibit F at ¶ 31(h) & Exhibit H, that would have replaced Acis with Highland Management as the portfolio manager for that CLO, including identifying (i) Your decision-making process, such as who You communicated with, what was said, and what information You considered; (ii) the grounds for this attempted reset; and (iii) Your evaluation and resolution of any potential conflicts of interest.

ANSWER: Defendant objects to the use of the word "your" as used in this request, because it assumes facts not in evidence, i.e. that it was Defendant who approved the transaction described in this request on behalf of Highland Capital, and that such approval was, in fact, given. Defendant further objects to this interrogatory to the extent this request and its sub-parts call for a narrative response requiring complete factual detail by Defendant, and to the extent this request and its sub-parts seek to narrow Defendant's responses without the benefit of specific questions during direct or cross examination. This interrogatory's request for Dondero to describe each conversation and what was discuss is unduly burdensome and overbroad, requires Defendant to marshal all of his available evidence, is duplicative of Plaintiffs' Requests for Production to this Defendant, and would more appropriately be addressed by way of deposition. Subject to and without waiving the foregoing objections, Defendant responds as follows:

Highland Capital was in the act of implementing a reset on the CLOs. When the CLOs are reset, the equity owners of the CLO have the contractual right to select the portfolio manager. The equity in Acis CLO 2014-3 was the Donor Advisory Fund ("DAF"), Harborvest and Highland Capital Management employees. The CLOs were to be reset based on market conditions requiring that Acis reset the CLOs for the benefit of its investors, in particular the CLO equity holders. As noted in the Acis bankruptcy proceeding, the majority of similar vintage CLOs in the market either reset or were "called" consistent with what was demanded by the Acis CLO equity holders. Dondero made the decision as a fiduciary to the equity holders to request the resets. That decision was made based upon recommendations of Surgent, the Chief Compliance Officer, the Deputy General Counsel, and other in-house counsel of Highland Capital. Hunter Covitz, as the head of the structured products group, primarily was tasked with effectuating the resets. As is legally required in the investment industry, the interests of the investors in Acis' managed funds was paramount and above the interests of Acis and its constituents, including its creditors. Additionally, Dondero was not required to perform any analysis of whether the reset was in the best interest of Acis because the equity owners' option to reset and select a new manager is contractual and unqualified.

INTERROGATORY NO. 10: Describe Your involvement with the First Optional Redemption Notices, see Exhibit I, including identifying and describing (i) each communication you had with Heather Bestwick, William Scott, or any Highland Capital employee regarding those Notices and (ii) Your assessment and conclusion, on behalf of Acis, as to whether the Notices were in Acis' best interest.

ANSWER: Defendant objects to this request on the basis that it seeks information that is irrelevant because that information is not likely to make any fact at issue in this proceeding more or less probable. See Fed. R. Evid. 401. For that reason, this request seeks information that is beyond the scope of discovery and that has no impact or importance in resolving the issues in this proceeding. Fed. R. Civ. P. 26(b). Defendant further objects to this interrogatory to the extent this request and its sub-parts call for a narrative response requiring complete factual detail by Defendant, and to the extent this request and its sub-parts seek to narrow Defendant's responses without the benefit of specific questions during direct or cross examination. This interrogatory's request for Dondero to describe each conversation and what was discuss is unduly burdensome and overbroad, requires Defendant to marshal all of his available evidence, is duplicative of Plaintiffs' Requests for Production to this Defendant, and would more appropriately be addressed by way of deposition. Subject to and without waiving the foregoing objections, Defendant responds as follows:

Acis CLO 2014-3 was going to be reset. When Acis CLO 2014-3 was reset, the equity owners of the CLO had the contractual right to select the portfolio manager. Those equity owners chose to transfer the management of Acis CLO 2014-3 to Highland CLO Management, LLC. In connection with these changes in management, an optional redemption was also offered to the equity holders of Acis CLO 2014-3. The First Optional Redemption Notices were approved based upon recommendations of Surgent, the Chief Compliance Officer, the Deputy General Counsel, and other in-house counsel of Highland Capital. Regarding whether the Notices were in Acis's best interest, under the Indentures, the CLO equity owners have the option to redeem. Under the Indentures, if the CLO Equity exercise their option to redeem, Acis is obligated to comply with the request. The Portfolio Management Agreements require the Portfolio Manager to comply with the terms and conditions of the Indenture. Dondero made the decision as a fiduciary to the equity holders to request the resets. As is legally required in the investment industry, the interests of the investors in Acis' managed funds were paramount and above the interests of Acis and its constituents, including its creditors. Accordingly, Dondero performed no analysis of whether the Notices were in Acis's best interest as no analysis was needed—the equity owners' option to redeem is contractual and unqualified.

INTERROGATORY NO. 11: Describe Your involvement with the Second Optional Redemption Notices, see Original Complaint at ¶¶ 118-123, including identifying and describing (i) each communication you had with Heather Bestwick, William Scott, or any Highland Capital employee regarding those Notices and (ii) Your assessment and conclusion, on behalf of Acis, as to whether the Notices were in Acis' best interest.

ANSWER: Defendant objects because the information that is responsive to this request has no propensity to make any fact in issue more or less likely. Defendant further objects to this interrogatory to the extent this request and its sub-parts call for a narrative response requiring complete factual detail by Defendant, and to the extent this request and its sub-parts seek to narrow Defendant's responses without the benefit of specific questions during direct or cross examination. This interrogatory's request for Dondero to describe each conversation and what was discuss is unduly burdensome and overbroad, requires Defendant to marshal all of his available evidence, is duplicative of Plaintiffs' Requests for Production to this Defendant, and would more appropriately be addressed by way of deposition. Subject to and without waiving the foregoing objections, Defendant responds as follows:

The Second Optional Redemption was triggered by Acis's involuntary bankruptcy proceeding. All of the CLOs tendered their optional redemptions when Terry initiated the involuntary bankruptcy proceeding. Under the Indentures, the CLO equity owners have the option to redeem. Under the Indentures, if the CLO Equity exercise their option to redeem, Acis is obligated to comply with the request. The Portfolio Management Agreements require the Portfolio Manager to comply with the terms and conditions of the Indenture. The equity owners' option to redeem is contractual and unqualified. Accordingly, Acis agreed to these terms and it is irrelevant if the Notices were in Acis's best interest. Highland Capital was the investment manager and fiduciary of Highland CLO Funding, Ltd., the fund that owned the Acis CLOs' equity at that time. Dondero made the decision as a fiduciary to the equity holders to request the resets. That decision was made based upon recommendations of Surgent, the Chief Compliance Officer, the Deputy General Counsel, and other in-house counsel of Highland Capital. As is legally required in the investment industry, the interests of the investors in Acis' managed funds were paramount and above the interests of Acis and its constituents, including its creditors. To the best of Dondero's knowledge, Surgent and Covitz, together with US Bank, decided to redeem on behalf of Highland Capital. Dondero had no discussions about that decision with Bestwick, Scott, or any other Highland Capital employee.

INTERROGATORY NO. 12: Describe Your involvement with and knowledge of Highland Capital's management of the Acis CLOs during the pendency of the Acis and Highland Capital bankruptcy proceedings, including identifying (i) who, at Highland Capital, directed Highland Capital to sell loans for the Acis CLOs and not purchase loans for them; (ii) any analysis You conducted or had conducted during this timeframe of the Acis CLOs; (iii) all individuals with whom You consulted and all documents that You considered; (iv) Your decision-making authority with respect to the Acis CLOs during this timeframe.

ANSWER: Each of the Acis CLOs had a pending optional redemption period. A few were in their reinvestment period and yielding cash flows. That cash was not reinvested via the purchase of additional loans due to the pending optional redemptions, because any loans purchased would have to comport to the portfolio criteria following the pending optional redemptions. Isaac Leventon, as counsel to Highland and at the instruction of Hunter Covitz as his business client, told Robin Phalen that the employees of Highland Capital were not reinvesting and were retaining cash in the CLOs for the purposes of effectuating the notices of optional redemption submitted by the equity-holding investors. Highland as sub-advisor to the CLOs, believed it had a fiduciary obligation to effectuate the investors' notices of optional redemption under the governing CLO indentures. Acis, via Chapter 11 Trustee Phalen, took steps to prevent Acis and Highland Capital from fulfilling their fiduciary duties to the investors. Namely, Phalen then sought a temporary restraining order to prevent the liquidation. Buying and selling decisions were made by Covitz.

Dondero had no direct involvement in management the Acis CLOs during the pendency of the bankruptcy proceedings and was consulted by Covitz on rare occasions only.

INTERROGATORY NO. 13: Identify by date and proceeding name all sworn testimony that You have provided over the past seven years.

ANSWER: Defendant objects to this request on the basis that it seeks information that is irrelevant because that information is not likely to make any fact at issue in this proceeding more or less probable. See Fed. R. Evid. 401. For that reason, this request seeks information that is beyond the scope of discovery and that has no impact or importance in resolving the issues in this proceeding. Fed. R. Civ. P. 26(b).

VERIFICATION OF JAMES DONDERO

1. My names is James Dondero. I am over the age of twenty-one and competent to give this verification. I am a Defendant in the above-styled lawsuit in my individual capacity.

2. I have reviewed Defendant's answers to the First Set of Interrogatories of Acis (as defined in those answers) and the facts stated in those answers are true and correct.

I declare under penalty of perjury that the foregoing is true and correct.

PROCEEDINGS

THE VIDEOGRAPHER: We are now on the record at 10:06 a.m. on September 4, 2024. This is the video-recorded deposition of James Dondero.

Would counsel please introduce yourselves for the record, after which the court reporter will swear in the witness.

MR. AHMAD: This is Joe Ahmad, together with Thomas Cooke, for the Plaintiffs.

MR. LANG: Michael Lang for James Dondero.

MR. LURICH: Ryan Lurich on behalf of Grant Scott.

MR. AUSTIN: Joseph Austin on behalf of CLO HoldCo, Ltd.

(Witness placed under oath.)

JAMES DONDERO,

having been first duly sworn, testified as follows:

EXAMINATION

BY MR. AHMAD:

Q. State your name, please, sir.

A. James David Dondero.

Q. And, Mr. Dondero, how are you employed right now?

A. President of NexPoint and chairman of NexBank.

Q. And what is the full entity name of NexPoint?

A. NexPoint Capital Management.

Q. And how long have you been with NexPoint?

A. Since I left Highland.

Q. And so you've been president the entire time since you left Highland?

A. Yes.

Q. Do you remember what date that was?

A. Early in '20.

Q. And have you been chairman of NexBank that long as well?

A. Longer. Twenty-plus years.

Q. Okay. And then you mentioned when you left Highland in 2020. What position did you hold prior to being president at NexPoint?

MR. LANG: Objection, form.

A. They overlapped, but I was president of Highland, at Highland.

Q. Okay. And which Highland entity are you referring to that you were president of?

A. Highland Capital Management.

Q. Okay. And when you say they overlapped, did you hold any other positions immediately prior to being president of NexPoint?

A. I was on numerous other boards. Yeah, I was on numerous other boards in numerous other companies.

Q. Okay. Meaning you were a director of numerous other boards?

A. Yes.

Q. And -- I'm sorry. Did I cut you off?

A. Well, and president of the retail -- Highland retail funds operated separately. I believe I was president there also. I don't -- I don't remember if I was president of Acis. I don't -- I don't recall what my position was there.

Q. Okay. I'll ask you about that in a second. When you say you were president of Highland retail funds, what was the name of that entity, as best you can remember?

A. There was H- -- Highland Fund Management, HFM.

Q. Highland Fund Management?

A. Yes.

Q. And how long were you the president?

A. Twenty years. Twenty-plus years.

Q. Until when?

A. I think I -- I believe I still am, actually.

Q. Okay. And do you remember the names of the companies you have served as a director?

A. They're numerous. I can't remember off the top of my head. We can send you a summary.

Q. Okay. Can you remember any of them off the top of your head?

A. Different -- different portfolio companies, like MGM.
Q. MGM, the casino and hotel?
A. No. MGM, the studio.
Q. Okay.
A. I was on and off the board at CCS at different times. Trustway. There are others over the years, too.
Q. That you can't remember right now?
A. Correct.
Q. What does CCS stand for?
A. I don't know what CCS stands for. It -- it was an abbreviation for a company that did diabetes machines.
Q. Okay. Do you know the full name?
A. CCS Medical was the full name, as far as I know.
Q. Were you ever the president of Acis? I'll start with Acis, Limited Partnership?
MR. LANG: Objection, form.
A. I don't remember. Probably, but I don't remember.
Q. I should say Acis Capital Management, L.P.?
MR. LANG: Objection, form.
Q. You don't remember whether you were the president of Acis Capital Management, L.P.?

MR. LANG: Same objection.
A. Correct.
Q. How about Acis Capital Management, GP? Did you have a position with that entity?
A. I don't remember which entities.
Q. Were you the president of any Acis entity?
MR. LANG: Same objection.
A. I don't remember. I don't remember.
Q. Do you remember holding any position with any Acis entity?
A. I don't remember if I had management positions or if I was just the majority owner.
Q. Do you remember being a majority owner of any Acis entity?
A. Yes.
Q. Which ones?
A. I believe I was majority owner of -- of all of them, unless there was -- unless there was an entity that was just Josh's interest. But otherwise I would have been a majority owner of all of them.
Q. Do you remember being the sole member of any Acis entity?
A. I don't remember.
Q. Do you remember -- do you remember being the sole member of Acis, GP at any time?

MR. LANG: Objection, form.
A. It's logical I would have been, but I don't remember. I haven't refreshed myself on the details here.
Q. Okay. And if I say "Acis, GP," do you understand that to be Acis Capital Management, GP?
A. I will if you tell me that --
Q. Okay.
A. -- that's what --
Q. Let me -- I'm sorry. Then I'll ask you the question again. Do you remember being the sole member of Acis Capital Management, GP?
MR. LANG: Objection, form.
A. I don't remember specifically, but, again, I do remember being majority owner, and it would have made sense in an LP structure that I would have had the 1 percent GP interest, but I don't remember specifically. I haven't refreshed myself. I don't know if it was an LP or LLC structure.
Q. And so when you say refreshed yourself, did you do anything to prepare for today's deposition other than meet with your lawyer?
A. No.
Q. Did you review any of your previous testimony, depositions, arbitration testimony, anything like that in preparation for today's deposition?

A. No.
Q. Did you hold any position -- well, let me ask you this: Do you remember being the president and CEO of Highland Capital Management?
A. Yes.
Q. And during what period of time?
A. Since inception through spring of 2020.
Q. And how about Highland -- HCF Advisor, Ltd.? Do you remember being the president of that entity?
A. Not specifically.
Q. Do you remember holding any position with that entity?
A. Not specifically.
Q. You mentioned Strand Advisors before. Do you remember being -- I think you said you were on the -- I may have it wrong, but I thought you mentioned being on the board.
But my question is, do you specifically remember being the president of Strand Advisors, Inc.?
A. Yes. I believe that was the GP for Highland Capital.
Q. Highland Capital Management?
A. Yes, although I believe there were at least half a dozen different Strand entities, but the ...

Q. Okay. Were you the president of any of the other Strand entities other than Strand Advisors, Inc.?
A. I believe so.
Q. All of them?
A. I believe so.
Q. And you mentioned a NexPoint entity that you're currently the president of, correct?
A. Yes.
Q. Are you also -- or if it's a different entity, are you also president and CEO of NexPoint Strategic Opportunities Fund?
A. Are you speaking of the publicly listed fund?
Q. Yes.
A. I know I'm the portfolio manager there. I don't know if a closed-end fund has -- or I guess it's a REIT now.
Q. Whatever position you have.
A. It's a senior position in the fund. I don't know what it is, though.
Q. Okay. Are you the manager?
A. One of the portfolio managers, yes.
Q. Who are the other portfolio managers?
A. I don't know. Most likely somebody from the real estate team.

Page 10

Q. Don't know any of them?
A. I don't know. The structures change all the time.
Q. Going back to Acis Capital Management, LP. And I think you said you don't remember whether you were the president or not. Do you remember anybody reporting to you at all at Acis Capital Management, LP?
MR. LANG: Objection, form.
A. I'm not sure Acis had many employees other than Josh Terry. I think Josh Terry would have been the only person, and whatever other employees went through Acis.
Q. Did Josh Terry report to you at Acis Capital Management, LP?
MR. LANG: Objection, form.
A. I don't remember. He was an employee of Highland for years, and then he was an employee at Acis. Whether or not he was a dual employee, I don't remember, but he would have reported to me at Highland for sure, and if I was or wasn't an officer -- if I was, he would have reported to me at Acis. If not, he would have been responsive to me as the majority holder.
Q. Okay. So at Highland Capital Management, LP, Josh Terry would have reported to you?
MR. LANG: Objection, form.
A. Yes. I mean, not throughout his career. Not when he was junior, but when he was more senior, yes.

Page 11

Q. And during what period of time would this be?
A. I don't know.
Q. Would it have been at the time of his termination?
A. Like I said, I don't remember whether he was a dual employee or just an employee at Acis at that time.
Q. Okay. Do you remember Josh Terry being terminated back in 2016?
A. I remember the incident, yes.
Q. What was the incident?
A. He came into my office with Thomas Surgent, the head of compliance, and there was an issue -- there was an issue -- I believe Thomas Surgent was doing the talking, where he had lost faith or trust in Josh Terry, and we sent him home. That's all I remember at this point.
Q. And at the time you say he was sent home, did Josh Terry report to you, whether it was Acis or Highland?
A. I don't know specifically.
Q. Back in 2016, specifically I'll go to July of 2016, do you remember what position you held at any entity, whether it's Highland or Acis at that time?
MR. LANG: Objection, form.

A. I would have been president of Highland and Highland Funds and most of the other Highland entities. I can't remember specifically whether I was president of Acis or not.
Q. Okay. And when you say "Highland," you're again referring to Highland Capital Management?
A. Yes.
Q. And when you say "Highland Funds," which entity are you referring to?
A. That H fam entity we spoke of earlier.
Q. Do you generally know what a fiduciary duty is?
A. Yes.
Q. And how would you describe fiduciary duty?
MR. LANG: Objection, form.
Q. I'm not asking for a legal opinion. Just your understanding.
A. To treat client monies with the highest standards and care and subject to any contractual or regulatory specifics to that account.
Q. Do you believe you ever owed any fiduciary duty to any Acis entity?
MR. LANG: Objection, form.
A. The fiduciary answer I was describing was towards client money. Corporate structure duty is different and defined by the corporate or partnership agreements in -- in my mind.

Q. Okay. Do you feel like you have an understanding when you're an officer of a company or whether it's an LP or an LLC, do you feel like you know what an officer's fiduciary duty to a company is?
MR. LANG: Objection, form.
A. Yeah, again, the duties I would describe as contractual largely, with any -- with any regulatory or state registrant fair dealing or transparency issues that might be specific to the State. But I always have and would rely on compliance and internal and external legal to define those responsibilities.
Q. So is it your understanding fiduciary duty is defined by contract and subject to regulation?
A. No.
Q. What fiduciary duties -- well, let me ask you this: Do you understand as an officer of a company you may have fiduciary duties outside of what is specified in a contract?
MR. LANG: Objection, form.
A. I would repeat the answer I just gave. I would rely on compliance internal and external lawyers that would draft and interpret the agreements and domicile of those agreements to make sure that we were compliant with them. But fiduciary responsibility is generally a term reserved for dealing with client money. Not saying that there isn't corporate fiduciary responsibility, especially with public companies, but fiduciary responsibility in private companies and partnerships I believe is typically very limited.

Q. Why do you believe it's typically very limited?
A. That's the feedback from our lawyers and our compliance people.
Q. Do you know whether you ever owed any fiduciary duty to any Acis entity?
MR. LANG: Objection, form.
A. I am a hundred percent confident that compliance that approved every transaction and legal internal and external had structured every transaction was compliant with any and all fiduciary responsibilities and was never influenced to circumvent them.
MR. AHMAD: I'll object as nonresponsive.
Q. My question is, do you know whether you owed any fiduciary duty to any Acis entity, not whether you complied. Just whether you owed such a duty.
MR. LANG: Objection, form.
A. I think my response was responsive. I would repeat that answer.
Q. Is the answer yes -- well, let me just ask you this: If your answer was meant to say yes, which Acis entity do you believe you owed a fiduciary duty to?

MR. LANG: Objection, form.
A. I don't believe my answer was yes.
Q. Was it no?
MR. LANG: Objection, form.
A. My answer was the answer I gave.
Q. Okay. Well, are you saying you did not owe a fiduciary duty to Acis Capital Management, L.P.?
MR. LANG: Object to the form.
A. I didn't say that.
Q. Okay. Are you saying you did owe a fiduciary duty to Acis Capital Management, L.P.?
MR. LANG: Objection, form.
A. Let me do the best to repeat the answer I did give. Fiduciary responsibility is a term largely to describe the relationship with -- the responsibilities towards third-party investor funds. Fiduciary responsibilities in contracts and partnerships, my understanding is limited beyond contractual and defined by specific state or regulatory limits.
And I would never have been the person to interpret whether or not there were some limited fiduciary responsibilities and how best to comply with them regarding Acis. All that was performed and approved by compliance and internal counsel and external counsel.

So I don't have an opinion nor am I a lawyer, nor would I know the details to answer what limited fiduciary responsibility I might have had to Acis.
Q. So to the extent you might have had a fiduciary duty to Acis Capital Management, L.P., you believe it was limited?
MR. LANG: Object --
A. In comparison to the fiduciary responsibility to third-party investors. That fiduciary responsibility is significant and real. And within private partnerships or companies it's much less, much more limited, much less, and generally defined by the contract itself, with some overlay based on state and regulatory bodies.
Q. Have you ever -- well, are you familiar with the term "duty of good faith"?
A. No, not specifically. I have a general layman's concept.
Q. And what's your layman's concept of it?
A. Just transparency and -- I'm trying to think of other examples. Transparency and fair treatment under contracts.

(Exhibits 1, 2 marked.)
Q. I'm going to hand you what has been marked as Exhibits 1 and 2 to your deposition.
MR. AHMAD: And pass this one. I may not have copies of the next one, but if somebody wants it --
MR. LANG: I can print them on the next break if somebody wants.
Q. There's Exhibit 2.
MR. AHMAD: Here's an extra. That's 2.
Q. Taking a look at Exhibit 1, have you seen that document before?
A. These are affidavits that we prepared at different points, right?
Q. Interrogatory responses. I'll represent to you those are your -- Exhibit 1 is your objections and answers to plaintiffs' first set of interrogatories, and Exhibit 2 is your amended answers to plaintiffs' interrogatories.
A. Yeah, I'm aware of these from when they were prepared.
Q. I'm assuming you helped prepare those?
A. I reviewed them when -- after they were prepared.
Q. Okay. And if you look at Exhibit 2, on the last page --

A. Yes.
Q. -- do you see your verification?
A. Yes.
Q. Dated July 5th, 2022, correct?
A. Yes, yes.
Q. And that's your signature?
A. Yes.
Q. Verifying that the facts stated in the -- the answers to interrogatories are true and correct?
A. Yes.
Q. Now, if you look at page 3 --
A. Of Number 2 or Number 1?
Q. It's probably the same, but I'll check. Well, I think it's page 3 of Exhibit 1. And you see at the bottom it says, "As far as Dondero understands"? Do you see that?
A. Yes.
Q. "As of the date of these responses, after Terry's employment with Acis terminated, to ensure that Acis was paying its fair pro rata share of overhead structure and employee expenses, David Klos"?
A. Yes, yes, I see all that.
Q. And he says, he performed a comparison of Acis to other affiliated advisors.
Do you see that?

A. Yes.
Q. Have you seen any such comparison done?
A. Not that I recall at this point.
Q. Did you request him to do such a comparison?
A. Not -- not specifically, that I recall.
Q. Have you ever seen the comparison?
A. Not that I recall.
Q. Now, if you go to -- and this is Exhibit 1 again -- Interrogatory No. 4 -- okay. If you look at the very last sentence of your answer in Interrogatory No. 4. And you're in Exhibit 1, right?
A. Yes.
Q. Okay. It talks about in that paragraph a wind down process being orchestrated by Surgent and carried out by Surgent, Cournoyer, and Hunter Covitz. And at the very end, it said, "Dondero had no direct involvement with reviewing or approving those transactions."
Do you see that?
A. Yes.
Q. Now, if you look at Exhibit 2, at the end of that interrogatory response, I notice that the phrase or statement Dondero's had no direct involvement with reviewing or approving those transactions" has been taken out.

And my question is, did you have any involvement in the wind-down process as being described in this paragraph at the end of Interrogatory No. 4?
A. No, not that -- no, not that I recall. I don't know why this sentence would have been taken out either.
Q. What position did Mr. Surgent have? He's a -- my understanding he's --
MR. LANG: I was making sure he was on the right page on both of them.
MR. AHMAD: Okay. Did I miss it?
MR. LANG: No, no. He's just looking at the one. And this is the -- this is the amended.
MR. AHMAD: Yes, Exhibit 2 is amended. Exhibit 1 is the original.
THE WITNESS: Yeah.
Q. My understanding is Mr. Surgent is a chief compliance officer --
A. Yes.
Q. -- as of 2016. Correct?
A. I -- I don't know when he started the position. I think it was well before that.
Q. Well, I'm just saying I think it's describing a process in October of 2016. Do you see that?
A. See it where? Or just --
Q. My question is really just when you describe this wind-down process being orchestrated by Surgent, I'm asking was he the chief compliance officer at that time.

A. Yes, I believe he was -- yes, at that time and long before that time.
Q. Okay. And I'm not suggesting he wasn't long before that time.
Which entity was Mr. Surgent the chief compliance officer of?
A. Everything in the complex. Everything that we did he was the chief compliance officer for.
Q. Would that mean Highland Capital Management?
A. Every entity.
Q. Every Highland entity?
A. Everything that we did at Highland on those two floors at The Crescent, every investment, yes. Every investment, whether it was for investors or any proprietary investments, everything went through compliance.
Q. Well, I'm asking about Mr. Surgent in particular. Was he also the chief compliance officer -- in addition to being the chief compliance officer for the Highland entities, was he also the chief compliance officer for the Acis entities?
A. Yes.

Q. And there is reference at the end of Interrogatory No. 4 response in Exhibit 2.
MR. LANG: Here.
Q. If you read, it says -- I believe the last sentence says, now, "These transactions were approved based upon recommendations of Surgent, the chief compliance officer, the deputy general counsel, and other in-house counsel of Highland Capital."
Do you see that?
A. Yes.
Q. Who is the -- or who was the deputy general counsel that you're referring to in this answer?
A. I can't remember his name.
Q. Was it Cournoyer?
A. I'm sorry. Was the question -- repeat -- please repeat the question.
Q. Who was the deputy general counsel you're referring to?
A. Okay. Yeah, I believe Cournoyer was the deputy general counsel.
Q. Okay.
A. Or I think that was the name they used for midlevel attorneys.
Q. Okay. And it says these transactions were approved.

I take it you were the one approving them. Correct?
A. No. I signed off on them, but the approval process is from compliance.
Q. Who would have given the ultimate approval of their recommendations?
A. Compliance.
Q. And who would that have been?
A. Thomas Surgent.
Q. Okay. The reason I ask is, it says, "These transactions were approved based upon the recommendation of Surgent."
Are you now telling me he approved his own recommendation?
MR. LANG: Objection, form.
A. I guess the distinction I'm trying to draw is I would have had signing authority for respective entities. The approval of the final transaction -- compliance would have to approve any final transactions. I don't remember making any changes to the transaction recommended by Surgent and Cournoyer.
Q. Did you have to sign off on the recommendations?
A. I'd sign on the transaction itself. There wasn't an intermediate step signing off on the transactions, as far as I know.

Q. Okay. But it was necessary for you to sign off on the transaction or else the transaction couldn't be carried out, correct?
A. I was the majority --
MR. LANG: Objection, form.
A. I was the majority controlling shareholder. So ultimately I needed to approve or sign off on it, correct.
Q. Who sent -- when it says "these transactions were based upon the recommendations of Surgent, chief compliance officer, deputy general counsel, and other in-house counsel of Highland Capital," who would have sent these transactions to Surgent and the other lawyers?
MR. LANG: Objection, form.
A. They kept -- they keep all legal files. So they were aware and involved in the structuring of Acis in the first place. So when the partnership or -- whether it's an LLC or partnership, I don't know. But when it was no longer -- when it no longer contained all the partners after Josh left, the proper reconstituting was a necessary maintenance item that they would have done. Nobody had to send them anything.
Q. Did they ever issue any written recommendations?

A. Not that -- not that I would recall. It wasn't -- it wasn't -- my recollection is it wasn't complicated. They were rights the other partners had to properly reconstitute the entity when one partner left. And that's what they did. And there wasn't discretion or debate, as far as I remember.
Q. Okay. So the best of your knowledge is that these recommendations from Surgent, Cournoyer, Hunter Covitz, other lawyers, was -- it was all oral, not written?
A. Yes. What I'm saying is it wasn't complicated or iterative. That's why there's -- I have no recollection. I don't believe there was any paper trail or verbal back and forth.
(Exhibit 3 marked.)
Q. I'm going to hand you what has been marked as Exhibit 3 to your deposition.
MR. LANG: Can we set these two aside, Joe?
MR. AHMAD: Yes.
MR. LANG: Get these out of the way, if you don't mind.
Q. And if you skip over the first page, or first two pages, you'll see a final award on Exhibit 3.

A. Final award.
MR. LANG: It's on the second page.
A. It's on the second page?
MR. LANG: Yeah. It's a front/back.
A. Okay.
Q. Can you identify that award in Exhibit 3?
A. I'm sorry. Identify what? Final award in Exhibit 3?
Q. Can you identify this as the final arbitration award in the case between Josh Terry and Highland Capital Management, Acis Capital Management, Acis Capital Management, GP, LLC, you as trustee of the Dugaboy Investment Trust and Mark Okada?
A. Yes. I don't -- yes. That's what it seems to be.
Q. Have you read the final award?
A. No.
Q. Never?
A. Never.
Q. Do you know if there were any findings you disagreed with?
MR. LANG: Objection, form.
A. I haven't read it before. I can read it now if you'd like.
Q. That's okay. I'm just wondering sitting today -- here today if you remember any findings of the arbitrators that you disagree with.

A. I don't -- I don't remember. I haven't reviewed it.
Q. Did you ever think the arbitrators were biased against you?
A. I don't remember having those feelings.
Q. Did you have any -- remember having any negative opinion about the arbitration process at all?
A. I don't remember at this point.
Q. There is an entity in here called Hunter Mountain. Are you familiar with that entity?
A. Generally.
Q. And what is Hunter Mountain?
A. Hunter Mountain owns a chunk of Highland Capital.
Q. Do you know what type of entity Hunter Mountain is?
A. No.
Q. Do you know who owns Hunter Mountain?
A. I believe at this point that DAF owns Hunter Mountain.
Q. I'm sorry. Staff?
MR. LANG: DAF.
A. DAF. DAF.

Page 28

MR. LANG: Donor-Advised Fund.
MR. AHMAD: Thank you.
MR. LANG: Yep.
Q. How about in 2017? Do you know who owned Hunter Mountain?
A. I know John Honis was the trustee at that point, but I don't recall who owns it.
Q. And his name is H-o-n-e -- n-i-s?
A. H-o-n-i-s.
Q. You don't know any of the owners?
A. I don't recall as we sit here.
(Exhibit 4 marked.)
Q. I'm going to hand you what has been marked as Exhibit 4 to your deposition. Can you identify Exhibit 4?
A. Looks like it's an LP agreement for defining Acis.
Q. For Acis Capital Management?
A. Yes.
Q. And if you go to the last page -- actually, maybe not the last page, but the last few pages are signature pages. Do you see that?
A. Yep.
Q. On the, I believe, third-to-last signature page, do you see your signature?

Page 29

A. Yes.
Q. Do you see it twice?
A. Yes.
Q. Both as general partner of Acis Capital Management GP, LLC? Do you see that?
A. Yes.
Q. Does that refresh your recollection that you were the president of Acis Capital Management GP, LLC?
A. Yes.
Q. And then you are also signing off on behalf of one of the limited partners, Dugaboy Investment Trust. Do you see that?
A. Yes. Yep.
Q. And your position with the Dugaboy Investment Trust was trustee, correct?
A. Yes.
Q. Were you also the beneficiary?
MR. LANG: Objection, form.
A. I don't believe so.
Q. Do you know who the beneficiary was?
A. I think the beneficiary, my understanding, was and is my children.
Q. Okay. And then it looks like Mark Okada is a limited partner as well?
A. Yes.

Q. And, of course, Josh Terry, right?
A. Yes.
Q. And did you know Mark Okada prior to this limited partnership agreement being signed in January of 2011?
A. Yes.
Q. And how did you know him?
A. We formed Highland together in '93, but I guess I hired him in '89.
Q. Hired him where?
A. When I used to be the chief investment officer for an insurance company called Protective Life, and we had started an asset management company for them called Protective Asset Management. And Mark Okada was my first hire.
Q. Is that how you first met him?
A. Yes.
Q. And then I think, as you said, the two of you started Highland together?
A. Yes.
Q. Highland Capital Management?
A. Yes.
Q. Did you read Exhibit 4, the limited partnership agreement, before you signed it?
A. Not that I recall. Not specifically.

Q. Did you read it after you signed it?
A. I can't remember ever reading it.
Q. Do you know who created Exhibit 4?
A. I believe it would have been Thomas and his group.
Q. Surgent?
A. Yes.
Q. "His group" being lawyers?
A. Yes. Him and/or the lawyers under him.
Q. Do you know if they made any revisions to the original draft?
A. I do remember there was more than one iteration of it, but I don't remember anything beyond that.
Q. Did you review any parts of any previous iteration?
A. I wouldn't have reviewed the documentation or legal stuff. They would have -- if there were substantive changes in terms, they would have run those by me, but I -- I don't -- I don't -- I don't remember anything in particular.
Q. Do you know if there's anything in Exhibit 4, the limited partnership agreement, that limits any fiduciary duty you would have to Acis Capital Management, LP?
MR. LANG: Objection, form.

A. If there's a section that describes fiduciary responsibility, then there'd be maybe a subsection that limits it. So is there a section that describes any fiduciary responsibility?
Q. Well, I'm just asking if you're aware of anything that limits any fiduciary duty you would owe to Acis Capital Management, LP.
MR. LANG: Objection, form.
Q. Do you know of any?
MR. LANG: Objection, form.
A. I'm -- I'm not aware of any described in here or what regulatory or state obligations there might be. But I don't believe there's any described in here.
Q. So you don't know of anything that would modify or waive any fiduciary duty to the extent it exists?
MR. LANG: Objection, form.
A. I don't believe that this gives any. I don't believe that this limits any either, which I think answers your question.
Q. Do you -- were you ever aware that as president of the Acis Capital Management GP, LLC, you might owe some fiduciary duties to Acis Capital Management, LP?
MR. LANG: Objection, form.
Q. Did that ever occur to you?
MR. LANG: Objection, form.

Page 33

A. That would have been handled by compliance and legal to make sure that we were compliant with whatever, if any, fiduciary obligations there were.
Q. I'm just asking you were you ever aware.
MR. LANG: Objection, form.
A. I don't remember it as a discussion item.
Q. Never entered your mind?
MR. LANG: Same objection.
A. Yeah, I can't remember what entered my mind. I'm just saying I don't remember it being a discussion point or issue.
Q. If you look at page 1 of Exhibit 4 of -- and I mean page 1 of the substantive agreement, not the table of contents. If you look at the top, you see I think a few "whereas" paragraphs.
A. Yep.
Q. It looks like on the second "whereas" it says, Effective on the effective capital -- excuse me. Effective on the effective date, Highland Management Services, Inc., transferred its interest in the partnership in kind to James Dondero and Mark K. Okada. And James Dondero transferred his interest into the Dugaboy Investment Trust.
Do you see that?
A. Yes.

Q. Do you remember why you gave your interest to the Dugaboy Investment Trust?
A. No.
Q. Is it fair to say that you were the top person at -- as president of the general partner at Acis Capital Management, LP?
MR. LANG: Objection, form.
A. What do you mean by "top person"?
Q. Were you the ultimate authority?
MR. LANG: Objection, form.
A. I was the president, so --
Q. Did anybody have more authority than you?
MR. LANG: Objection, form.
A. Not on presidential-type decisions, but I wasn't involved in the day-to-day operations that would have been performed by Josh and his staff. And I wouldn't have been the decision-maker on any of those activities.
Q. Okay. But I assume if you disagreed with something that Josh wanted to do, you had the power to make sure it didn't happen?
A. Yes.
Q. If, in fact, you disagreed?
A. Yeah. As a registered investment advisor, anytime a portfolio manager like Josh tries to steal from investor funds, which he did several times, we would try and object and stop it or file whatever appropriate motions to prevent it. We've done that numerous times.

Q. Okay. Do you think he ever successfully stole money?
A. Oh, yeah. Well, I mean -- yes. I would use the word "stealing" for taking investors' money for his own personal legal expenses and his compensation and for compensation when there were no activities performed. I would view that as stealing, so ...
Q. Okay. And what personal legal expenses?
A. We filed various different -- he -- he's been -- I think he's been a defendant in several actions where it wasn't just against Acis, it was against him personally. And using investor funds for his own personal defense was, in the view of the entities filing the motions, you know, improper or stealing.
Q. Was that your view?
A. Yes.
Q. Okay. Which case and which lawyer did he -- did he use for personal purposes and have Acis pay for, or Highland?
A. I -- I don't remember. I just -- these were the substance. I don't know any of the specifics, but these were the substance of various actions and motions in both Acis and subsequent cases.

Q. Okay. Well, you've said that he was stealing money from investors. I assume that's pretty serious. Is that right?
A. Correct.
Q. But you don't remember any of the specifics?
A. No, nor would I be involved in the specifics.
Q. Okay. Anything else you can tell me about them other than what you just have?
A. No. Most of it's public, or most of it's party to arbitration case file.
Q. Yeah, and you made those arguments in the arbitration, correct?
A. I believe so.
MR. LANG: Objection, form.
Q. Were you aware that you did not prevail as far as his termination was concerned?
A. I haven't read the -- I haven't read the arbitration award.
Q. Do you believe that Josh Terry was terminated for good cause?
A. Yes.
Q. And you were the one that made that decision, correct?

A. I -- I -- I don't remember. I believe compliance and Thomas Surgent were deeply involved.
Q. Were you involved?
A. And in the room at the same time.
Q. I'm sorry. Were you involved?
A. It was in my office, the contrivance, I guess.
Q. Okay. But were you involved in the decision to terminate Josh Terry?
A. Was I involved? Yeah, either I was involved or I approved it. I don't remember exactly.
Q. And did Josh Terry report to you such that you were the one that had to approve his termination?
MR. LANG: Objection, form.
A. Same answer.
Q. Were you the top person at Highland Capital Management, LP?
A. Yes.
Q. I'm going to ask you, if you'd look at pages 4 going over to 5 of the agreement, there is a term "net available cash." Do you see that?
A. Yes.
Q. If you go to the top of page 5, it talks about -- and this is under (b). It talks about any other reasonable reserve created by the general partner in connection with any expected expenses or liabilities of the partnership, and goes on.

You were the general partner, correct, or at least president of the general partner?
A. Yes.
Q. Were you aware of any reasonable reserve?
A. I -- that clause provides flexibility. I don't remember -- I don't remember applying it, but it provides some flexibility to create reserves.
Q. Now, if you go to page 15, and if you specifically look at -- I believe it's 4.01(e) and (ii). So it's kind of the middle of page 15. Do you see that?
A. Uh-huh.
Q. Talks about how the general partner, any of its affiliates, and with the consent of the general partner, any other partner may enter into to an agreement with the partnership to render services, including management services, for the partnership.
Do you see that?
A. Yes.
Q. And that, in fact, happened, did it not? Affiliates rendered services to Acis?
A. Acis needed a lot of services. It was very employee-light, so -- but it was a functioning RIA, so it needed accounting compliance, it needed legal support, et cetera. So, yeah, I mean ...

Q. So Highland Capital Management, LP, provided services to Acis Capital Management, L.P., correct?
A. Yes.
Q. Did any other affiliates provide services to Acis Capital Management, L.P.?
A. I don't remember.
Q. You would agree, though, Highland Capital Management LP was an affiliate of Acis Capital Management, LP?
MR. LANG: Objection, form.
A. I mean, "affiliate" is a legal term, right? I -- common control. If we want to define it as common control, yes. I'm -- I just want to be cautious about agreeing to the word "affiliate."
Q. Fair enough.
Did you understand, if you keep reading on, that any such agreement for services with an affiliate as it's described here in 4.01(e)(ii), should be on arm's-length term and fair and reasonable to Acis Capital Management, LP?
A. Right. I see that at the end of little two little i there.
Q. Do you agree with me that services provided by an affiliate should be arm's length and fair and reasonable to the Acis Capital Management, LP?

MR. LANG: Objection, form.
A. I believe every -- every effort was made to make sure that was the case.
Q. Specifically, was every effort made to make sure that the services provided by Highland Capital Management LP were arm's length and fair and reasonable to Acis Capital Management, LP?
A. I believe so.
MR. LANG: Objection, form.
Go ahead.
A. I believe so.
Q. And why do you believe that?
A. We honor our contracts, and we administer things methodically with appropriate accounting compliance, et cetera.
Q. Were there ever any, in your opinion, conflicts of interest between any Acis -- well, let me ask it this way: Was there any conflict of interest between any Highland entity and Acis Capital Management LP?
MR. LANG: Objection, form.
A. Generally -- generally not, that I'm aware of.
Q. Did you regard the fact that Highland Capital Management was providing services to Acis Capital Management, LP, as a conflict or potential conflict?
A. No.

Q. Did you ever regard that relationship or service as being a conflict or potential conflict?
A. No.
Q. Would you agree with me that if you were trying to deliberately depress Acis Capital Management, LP's value so that Josh Terry couldn't get money from it, would you agree with me that that would not be appropriate and in good faith?
MR. LANG: Objection, form.
A. I don't want to speculate on hypotheticals, but that scenario was never done, in my mind, or in my recollection or any evidence I've seen.
Q. Okay. Would you agree that to do that would be in bad faith?
MR. LANG: Objection, form.
A. I don't want to -- I don't want to speculate, not knowing what else could have been happening or what else could have been going on.
Q. Okay. So you're not willing to agree that trying to deliberately depress Acis Capital Management, LP's value to prevent Josh Terry from collecting money from Acis, not willing to agree that that would be in bad faith?
MR. LANG: Objection, form.
A. You're using sensationalized words. You know, there's rights of offset and there's, you know -- let's say in the context of that scenario he was also stealing money, or let's say he did something to destroy investor value, putting on a significant reserve or putting on a significant allocation for regulatory fines or for legal expenses would be more than appropriate.

Now, you used the word deliberately as if maliciously reducing value, would that be an appropriate -- we've never done that. We would never do that, but I can imagine scenarios where the value would get depressed based on bad acts of a partner.
Q. So let me make sure I understand you. Do you think that -- if Josh Terry had stole money from investors or taken any other act of misconduct towards Acis, do you think that would be justification for you to deliberately depress Acis Capital Management, LP's value?
MR. LANG: Objection, form.
A. What I'm saying, we honor our contracts in the spirit of our contracts. We wouldn't deliberately or maliciously do anything to distort the value. I'm just saying I could imagine scenarios where compliance or legal would create material offsets that could materially change the value if they believed the offsets were proper due to bad behavior.

But I don't believe that happened contemporaneously here at all. I think that bad behavior was discovered later, and I don't think there was any intentional diminution of value in the partnership, that I recall.
Q. Okay. I just want to be clear. Was there any offset created for any reason because of any bad behavior of Josh Terry?
MR. LANG: Objection, form.
A. I don't recall, but I wouldn't have been the one who did that or calculated that or determined it was appropriate. Again, compliance reports directly to the SEC. They're the ones that police and administer compliance and react to bad behavior, if there is bad behavior that they are aware of.
Q. And have you told me -- by the way, when you referred to Josh Terry stealing, I think using company funds to pay for personal lawyers, I think you gave me that example, but have you described to me all the misconduct by Josh Terry that you remember?
MR. LANG: Objection, form.
A. We don't have all the source documents on all the monies and where it went, but there's 20 or 30 million dollars missing from investor accounts that there's no reasonable accounting for if you compare the expense level to other similar funds in the marketplace.

Q. Are you saying that Josh Terry took that money?
A. In one form or another, yes.
Q. And how did he take it?
A. False expense allocations, false management fee compensation, and legal fees allocated that weren't properly -- that shouldn't have properly been -- that shouldn't have been born been the investors.
Q. You said false expense reimbursements. Anything else besides legal fees?
A. False management fees, too. These are -- again, we don't have source documents, but these are -- these are just suspicions relative to fee levels for similar-size funds in the marketplace that should have been a couple million dollars, there's $30 million missing, 20, 30 million dollars missing.
Q. When you say "false management fees," is there a document where Josh Terry charged management fees that were false?
A. I know we have some documentation. We have limited documentation. But all this stuff has been filed and put forward already, you know, to varying degrees of success, but it -- still, nonetheless, the investors are missing $30 million.
Q. Did you raise all the misconduct in the arbitration?

MR. LANG: Objection, form.
A. I think most of the misconduct happened after the arbitration. I believe the misconduct happened based on latitudes -- latitude that Acis felt Jernigan gave them.
Q. I'm sorry. I'm not sure I understand the last part. Are you saying that most of the misconduct occurred after Acis was put into bankruptcy?
A. I believe so.
Q. Acis Capital Management, LP, correct?
A. Yes.
Q. And specifically what acts occurred during bankruptcy? You mentioned Judge Jernigan gave latitude. What -- what acts of misconduct are you referring to in the bankruptcy, if you remember?
A. I -- I can describe it generally. It's -- let's say you and I had a property management company together and we managed a couple different office buildings. But let's say we had a falling out and we went our own way. Let's say whoever left had a claim against the management company, but there was nothing in the management company because it was just a service company.
Then let's say the judge said, I'm going to force the insurance companies or Japanese investors that own the office building to continue to pay management fees for three years even though they want to go somewhere else and they want nothing to do with the infighting or our services company anymore. And the judge forces them to continue to pay for the management company that is in disarray and not providing adequate services anymore.

In addition to that, whoever was left in our partnership, me and you, of me and you on managing the building then said, oh, they're stuck for three years. I can now bill them for whatever additional expenses or legal fees I want and take it out of their hides because they can't go anywhere and it doesn't matter if I bill them ten times what a typical management fee would be because they're stuck based on court order.
That's -- that's -- that's my -- that's my best analogy.
Q. So this happened through court approval, correct?
MR. LANG: Objection, form.
A. A thoughtful court would have, I think, viewed it as unintended consequences that the investors who she locked into paying management fees for three years wasn't specifically addressed and the unintended consequence was the free rein that Josh and Acis had to bilk the investors who couldn't leave. She didn't specifically grant him that latitude, but he took that latitude.

Q. Do you -- I assume you raised all these issues with the bankruptcy court. Right?
MR. LANG: Objection, form.
A. I think we tried to raise them as much as possible during the bankruptcy, and then I don't know how much ability there was post the bankruptcy to do it. But everything that we thought was compliant with the advisors act and consistent with the fiduciary responsibility to investors we tried to shine light on and stop improper behavior as much as we could.
Q. Was there any improper behavior which you didn't point out to the court, the bankruptcy court?
A. Everything that we were aware of, when we were aware of it we brought forward the best we could.
Q. Is there anything you've become aware of since?
A. I -- I would -- I'm not a lawyer. I'm not the lawyer on the Acis thing. I don't know.
Q. In your example of the Japanese investor, who do you think is the equivalent of the Japanese investor here?

A. The DAF and the retail funds who are just third-party investor in the Acis, Acis CLOs. They're impaired at least 30-odd million dollars.
Q. Which donor-advised fund are you referring to?
A. There's only one that I'm aware of, the DAF, which is the foundation we set up years ago. And then the retail funds are the NexPoint and Highland fund, closed-end funds.
Q. When you say we set up the donor-advised fund, who is "we"?
A. Highland Capital set it up.
Q. Highland Capital Management?
A. Yes.
Q. And who at Highland Capital Management set it up?
A. Our tax attorneys.
Q. Tax attorneys that work for Highland Capital --
A. Highland Capital Management, yes.
Q. Okay. Who gave the tax attorneys authority to set it up?
A. I did.
Q. Anybody else?
A. Compliance.
MR. LANG: When you get to a stopping point, we've been going about an hour and a half.

THE WITNESS: Yeah, let's take a break.
MR. AHMAD: Sounds good.
THE VIDEOGRAPHER: Off the record at 11:31 a.m.
(Recess taken from 11:31 to 11:50.)
THE VIDEOGRAPHER: We are back on the record at 11:50 a.m.
Q. Mr. Dondero, you mentioned Thomas Surgent. Did you -- I think you mentioned that you relied upon him for some of the Acis Capital Management, LP, transactions. Is that right?
A. Yes.
Q. And what did you specifically rely on him for?
A. To administer properly with whatever responsibilities are in the document or whatever responsibilities are based on jurisdiction or regulation in the initial formation and then in the reconstitution after Josh was gone.
Q. Do you believe that Mr. Surgent engaged in any -- well, let me ask you this: Do you believe Mr. Surgent gave you bad advice at all?
A. I have no reason to believe that as we sit here today.
Q. Do you believe he did anything wrong?
A. Not as we sit here today.

Q. You don't have any -- you haven't brought any claims against him?
A. I don't know. I think -- I think there are claims stemming from the Highland bankruptcy that I think people are tracking, but I don't -- I think there's maybe some preclusions. I don't believe anything's been filed against Thomas Surgent at this point.
Q. Do you believe that there are potential claims against Thomas Surgent?
MR. LANG: Objection, form.
A. Not regarding Acis, but I believe there -- there are things regarding the Highland bankruptcy.
Q. What specifically?
A. I don't know. Just certain -- certain transactions that he was deeply involved in that other parties are, I think, improperly seeking relief from myself or Ellington.
Q. Okay. Well, do you believe Mr. Surgent breached any duty he has to any Highland entity?
MR. LANG: Objection, form.
A. I don't believe those are the nature of any of the claims. I'm not aware of anybody, any as we sit here at this moment.
Q. I'm asking what you believe. You don't believe

Mr. Surgent has done anything wrong, you personally?
MR. LANG: Objection, form.
A. I believe there are things in the Highland bankruptcy that may be actionable.
Q. What specifically?
A. I don't know. I know they're keeping a list of things, but there's nothing that we've brought forward at this point, that I'm aware of.
Q. Okay. Do you believe that he gave you good advice with respect to Acis Capital Management, LP?
MR. LANG: Objection, form.
A. I -- I have no reason to think otherwise at -- up to this point.
Q. Okay. And the same with any of the other lawyers? I can go through them, but I think you mentioned Mr. Ellington?
A. I don't -- I'm not aware of Mr. Ellington having any involvement in Acis, but as far as the other lawyers or his team are concerned, I don't have awareness of anything improper or negligent with regard to Acis.
Q. Okay. And I'll just go through them just so we're clear by name.
Mr. Leventon?
A. I don't have any awareness of anything improper.

Q. Gave you good advice?
MR. LANG: Objection, form.
A. Yes, as far as I -- as far as I know, yes.
Q. Mr. Cournoyer, if I'm saying that right?
A. As far as I know today, yes.
Q. Gave you good advice?
A. Yes.
Q. Did nothing wrong?
MR. LANG: Objection, form.
A. Yes. As far as I know, yes.
Q. Hunter Covitz?
A. Hunter Covitz isn't a lawyer. He's a businessperson.
Q. Did he give you advice regarding Acis?
A. I don't know if advice is -- he did not give me legal advice with regard to Acis.
Q. Did he give you any other advice with respect to Acis?
A. I don't remember.
Q. With respect to legal advice, did you get legal advice outside of the arbitration -- you know, I know you hired outside counsel. But did you get legal advice with respect to any of the Acis Capital Management, L.P. transactions from anybody I haven't mentioned?

MR. LANG: Objection, form.
A. The compliance department had one or two different outside law firms that they use regularly on anything, anything complex from a compliance or regulatory side. For a long time it was Ropes & Gray. I don't know if Ropes & Gray is still the -- was still the counsel at this point. But whether or not Thomas consulted or relied on outside counsel I wouldn't know. I don't have an awareness.
Q. Okay. Did any outside counsel specifically give you advice with respect to any of the Acis Capital Management, LP, transactions?
A. I relied on -- I relied on internal counsel entirely.
Q. And those internal counsel would be the ones we mentioned, correct?
A. Correct.
Q. Is there anybody you relied upon primarily?
A. Thomas Surgent.
(Exhibit 5 marked.)
Q. I'm handing you what's been marked Exhibit 5.
MR. LANG: Thank you.
MR. AHMAD: Uh-huh.
Q. Can you identify that document?
A. This is first time I recall seeing it.

Q. Did you sign it on page 3?
A. Yes.
Q. As both the transferor and the transferee?
A. Yes.
Q. Do you not remember this transaction?
A. Not specifically, but I'm willing to be refreshed.
Q. Okay. Well, I think you can see what's going on in the recitals.
A. Yes.
Q. And you see that you signed off on behalf of the transferor, which is Highland Capital Management services Inc., correct?
A. Yes.
Q. And they were transferring, as you will see, 74 percent of its LP interest and a hundred percent of its membership interest in the general partner to you, and 25 percent of its LP interest to Mark Okada, correct?
A. Correct.
Q. Did you regard -- at least after this transaction on January 21st, 2011, did you regard Acis Capital Management, LP as a wholly owned subsidiary of Highland?
MR. LANG: Objection, form.
A. That's not what it says here.

Page 55

Q. No, it's not, at least I don't think. Because after this transaction, for example, the LP interest is split between you and Mr. Okada, correct?
A. Correct.
Q. Meaning it's not wholly owned by Highland, correct?
A. Correct.
(Exhibit 6 marked.)
Q. I'm handing you what's been marked as Exhibit 6.
MR. LANG: Thank you.
Q. Have you seen Exhibit 6 before?
A. Not that I recall.
Q. Do you see you're one of the signatories under transferee?
A. Yes.
Q. So you signed Exhibit 6 just like you signed Exhibit 5, correct?
MR. LANG: Objection, form.
Q. Correct?
A. I signed it as transferee, yes, both times, yes.
Q. Both on Exhibit 5 and Exhibit 6 as transferee, but Exhibit 5 is transferor in addition, correct?
A. Yes.

Q. And who is Nancy Dondero?
A. I believe at this point she was trustee of Dugaboy, and she's my sister.
Q. I notice, if you again look at the whereases, in the second whereas it says that transferor and transferee, which looks like you and your sister, correct?
A. Yes.
Q. Have determined that it is in their respective best interests to cause the transferor's membership interest in the company to be transferred to transferee. Do you see that?
A. Yes.
Q. Do you know why it was considered to be in your best interest to transfer the membership interest in Acis GP to you?
A. I -- my general recollection is at this point Acis had no value, and none of the investors -- potential new investors or underwriters in terms of refinancing CLOs or doing additional CLOs wanted to be anywhere near Acis as a shell without any employees or any normal business. And in general miscellaneous assets I try and put into Dugaboy to keep any estate cleaner. But I don't remember the specifics otherwise around this.

Q. What do you mean by "cleaner"?
A. It's -- if you have a bunch of -- if you're an asset manager or a high-net-worth individual and you have a bunch of disparate assets, it's good to aggregate them instead of having them off in a myriad of different entities. That's my recollection. There might have been some other reason, but that's my recollection.
Q. Was Acis insolvent, Acis Capital Management, LP, insolvent as of October 2015?
MR. LANG: Objection, form.
A. As of -- no, I don't believe so at that date. It wasn't -- it wasn't particularly solvent or insolvent. It was largely a pass-through entity, but it wasn't an ongoing business once Josh left.
And I think any potential for it being an ongoing business was quickly and firmly killed by HarbourVest that was either an investor or going to put money in and then killed by -- also by -- I think Goldman Sachs was the underwriter that we were potentially going to refinance the deals with. And nobody wanted to have anything to do with Acis. So I don't think we viewed at this point Acis having any value on a current or going-forward basis.
Q. Just to be clear, you're saying Acis had no value as of October 2015?

Page 58

MR. LANG: Objection, form.
A. I want to be careful saying anything with regarding the date because I can't remember the context around that date. Is that the date -- that's after Josh left, right? No.
Q. That's before.
A. Oh, okay.
MR. LANG: He left in June of '16, just to orient you.
THE WITNESS: Okay. Thank you.
A. So the valueless comment is -- is after he left. But -- but my recollection is we didn't reconstitute the partnership until after he left. So these -- these agreements to me look like a reconstituting of the partnership or a reconstituting of the transfer of the partnership.
Q. I'm just asking as of October 2015, which is -- I don't know -- eight, nine months before Josh Terry left, did Acis Capital Management, LP have value?
MR. LANG: Objection, form.
A. It had limited value before Josh left because the markets had turned down materially, and the mark to market and the upside on the portfolios was limited. And I believe that panic is what put Josh on a path towards trying to be terminated. You know, the surreptitious taping of employees, the, you know, contrivance of his exit was because the portfolio was down and incentives that would have been material to Acis were gone based on market conditions.

There was still inherent flows to the entity, and there was expense reimbursement and there was salaries and stuff that came out. So it was marginally solvent. But the point in time leading up to Josh's departure, there wasn't any expectation of future value. That's why he went on the path that he went down. And my recollection is the transfers or the -- the reconstituting of the ownership to be just Mark and I was something that happened post him leaving. That's my recollection. But I don't -- I have no recollection of -- of changing his ownership interests while he was still there in good standing.
MR. AHMAD: I'll object to non- -- nonresponsive part.
Q. So you're saying you -- you have no memory of Exhibit 6?
A. I guess -- I'm struggling with the dates here I guess is the issue.
Q. I will tell you it's about eight months before Josh Terry left. I could count it up, but --
MR. LANG: It's about eight.

Page 60

MR. AHMAD: About eight? Yeah.
Q. I'm just asking you if you remember this assignment agreement which is Exhibit 6.
A. I don't remember these agreements. Give me a second here to try and piece what's going on here. So this first agreement is 2011. This is more at the formation? Is that what this is, this Number 5?
Q. That's about the time of the formation. Probably the same date.
A. Okay. So this was when Acis was formed, before Josh Terry was ever brought into it.
Q. Yeah. Now, I'm not asking you about the previous exhibits. I'm just asking you if you remember Exhibit 6. And if you don't, that's fine.
A. So hold on a second.
Q. Not trying to -- not trying to make it harder than it is.
A. Well, I -- okay. I just want to make sure I don't misspeak, that this first agreement predates even bringing Josh Terry into Acis, so it has no relevance to Josh Terry whatsoever. This was us, Mark Okada and I, just forming Acis and splitting it our typical 75/25. There's nothing unusual or relevant to Josh Terry in 5. That's -- that's my comment on that.
MR. LANG: I think we're overthinking it.

I think one --
THE WITNESS: Okay.
MR. LANG: Exhibit 5 assigns from Highland. Highland owned Acis. It assigned its interest to you and Mark 75/25.
THE WITNESS: Right, okay.
MR. LANG: Exhibit 6, you just assign your interest to Dugaboy.
Q. I actually just simpler than that, I just wanted to know if you remembered it.
A. Okay.
Q. I think you testified you don't?
A. No, not specifically, but I can -- I can -- pulling it out of Highland makes some sense if we were going to make it a separate entity or separate vehicle we wanted to take advantage of signage or in anticipation of bringing in another partner like Josh or somebody. That makes some sense to me. And then moving it to -- moving my interest to Dugaboy makes some sense to me, too. Now --
Q. And how does it make sense?
A. Again, I've tried over the years, as I've gotten older, to get more things out of my personal estate and put more things -- or most everything into Dugaboy because that's the surviving residual entity that goes to my children.

Q. You mentioned, I think, the term pass-through entity with respect to Acis Capital Management, L.P. Did I -- did I hear that right?
A. Pass-through is not the right word, but I'm just saying it was an entity that was dependent on management fees, reimbursements, expenses, et cetera. But it wasn't an entity that accumulated great deals of capital or was expected to. It was -- it largely disbursed its income every year.
Q. And why is not -- why is pass-through not the right word? Do you have a different understanding of pass-through?
A. Pass-through is -- are tax thing generally, but that isn't the word I was -- I was looking for there.
(Exhibit 7 marked.)
Q. I'm going to hand you what has been marked as Exhibit 7 to your deposition. Have you seen that document before?
A. Not specifically. I can -- I can tell what it is, but I don't recall this.
Q. Do you remember seeing this letter, Exhibit 7, back in 2016?
A. I remember -- I remember the attachment.
Q. And is attachment is a letter to you from Josh

Terry?
A. Yes.
Q. You got that letter, correct?
A. Yes.
Q. Do you remember if you got the letter from Rogge Dunn over at Clouse Dunn?
A. I remember he hired Rogge Dunn. I don't remember this demand letter specifically.
Q. Well, if you look at Josh's letter to you, towards the end he gives a summary of what he is requesting.
A. Uh-huh.
Q. Do you see that under summary of departure economics?
A. Yes.
Q. He's requesting 2.8 be paid immediately from Acis Capital Management, LP, correct?
A. I'm sorry. I don't remember specifics. I remember it was a couple million bucks. He's done an expert job parlaying it into 40 and another 75, so -- but I remember his original claims being a couple million bucks.
MR. LANG: I think it's towards the back. He's got it -- is that what you're looking at, Joe?
MR. AHMAD: Yes. It's right under this heading.

MR. LANG: It's down at the bottom of that page. Do you see bullet points?
THE WITNESS: Yeah.
Q. If it helps you, it's Acis CM 024288 at the bottom.
A. Yeah, I see this, yeah.
Q. Okay. And the money that he's requesting from Acis, did Acis have the money -- Acis Capital Management, LP, have the money to -- if it had wanted to, to pay Josh 2.8 million plus?
A. I have no idea. I have no idea. I don't remember keeping cash balances anywhere near that high.
Q. Do you think it could have paid it if it wanted to?
A. What a disaster.
MR. LANG: Objection, form.
THE WITNESS: We need to get back everything from Josh other than the 1.8 million. That's got to be the mandate.
Q. What's the 1.8 million?
A. Or, I'm sorry, whatever. It's crazy that a couple million dollar claim is parlayed into -- what are we talking about? 20 from Acis, 30 from Highland, another 75? It's a pretty good parlay. Jeez.

Q. Well, my question --
MR. AHMAD: I'll object to the nonresponsive part.
Q. -- is was Acis Capital Management capable of paying 2.8 million back then.
A. I don't know.
MR. LANG: Objection, form.
A. I don't know the answer.
Q. Do you know whether Acis Capital Management, LP, had value -- net value as of July 2016?
A. I have no idea.
Q. Okay. And actually I think the letter was just a few days later, in June. But did you ever believe Acis Capital Management, LP was insolvent?
MR. LANG: Objection, form.
A. I don't remember having those thoughts.
Q. Why do you think Acis Capital Management, LP, has not paid Josh for his arbitration award?
MR. LANG: Objection, form.
A. I think Jernigan gave him access to other entities that weren't part of this. This was supposed to be an arbitration thing in general. I think Jernigan gave him 15 or 17. I think the Highland estate gave him 25. I think he took another 30. It's been a -- it's been a tremendous parlay on his part if he doesn't have to disgorge it.

MR. AHMAD: I'll object as nonresponse.
Q. Do you know why Acis Capital Management, LP, has not paid the amount in the arbitration award that was awarded to Josh Terry?
MR. LANG: Objection, form.
Q. If you know.
A. I believe Josh has been immensely overrewarded and compensated for any claims he might have ever had. So I don't believe there's a deficiency anywhere. But I don't know specifically what entity, when.
Q. Did you have a desire after the arbitration award to pay Josh Terry what he was awarded in arbitration?
MR. LANG: Objection, form. Could you restate that?
MR. AHMAD: Sure.
Q. Did you have a desire to pay Josh Terry what he was awarded in the arbitration?
A. I think I was released in the arbitration. I wasn't -- I think I was originally a defendant, but I think the award wasn't against me.
Q. Sure, but did you have a desire on behalf of Acis Capital Management, LP, to have Acis Capital Management, LP, pay the arbitration award?

A. I did not have a specific opinion one way or another.
Q. You had no desire one way or the other?
MR. LANG: Objection, form.
A. I don't remember having an opinion one way or the other.
(Exhibit 8 marked.)
Q. I'm going to hand you what has been marked as Exhibit 8 to your deposition.
MR. LANG: Thank you.
Q. Can you identify Exhibit 8?
A. I haven't seen it before.
Q. Okay.
(Exhibit 9 marked.)
Q. I'm going to hand you what's been marked as Exhibit 9. Can you tell me what Exhibit 9 is?
A. It appears to be an amendment to the partnership we were looking at earlier.
Q. You signed off on it as general partner?
A. Yes.
Q. As well as trustee of a Dugaboy Investment Trust as a limited partner?
A. Yes.
Q. Mark Okada signed off on it also as limited partner?

A. Yes.
Q. Why was this done? If it helps, it looks like you're changing the definition of founding partner group.
A. Yes, that's what it looks like. I mean, it says what it says. I don't know. I don't have a recollection beyond that.
Q. Well, it looks like it's designed to remove Josh Terry as a founding partner group, as a member of the founding partner group. Is that -- is that fair to say?
MR. LANG: Objection, form.
A. Yes, that appears so. Was he out of the company at this point?
Q. Yes. He had been -- I think he left on June 9th of 2016, and this is July 1st of 2016. So probably about two and a half weeks later.
A. Right.
Q. So is it fair to say that this was designed to remove Josh Terry as a member of the founding partner group?
MR. LANG: Objection, form.
A. Yes, I believe that's what it does.
Q. Do you know why you wanted to remove him as a member of the founding partner group? If you remember.

A. I just -- I believe it's good corporate -- or good corporate responsible and proper document adjustment. You start a restaurant with three people. There's a cook that provides no capital but the labor and then he quits or is terminated, whatever. You reconstitute the partnership with the people who are left or you bring in a new cook, right? That's how I would look at that.
Q. Well, I understand, but why did you need to amend the partnership agreement to do that?
MR. LANG: Objection, form.
Q. If you know.
A. I -- I believe it's good legal housekeeping. I don't know the exact reason why.
Q. Did you ever testify that things between you and Josh Terry after the termination and during the arbitration proceedings had become personal?
A. I don't remember.
Q. You don't remember saying that?
A. I -- I don't remember. I'm not saying I didn't, but I don't remember.
Q. Did you ever feel it was personal?
A. You know, at some point stealing money and trying to gouge value from somebody else when you have a $2 million claim and you've already parlayed it into 50 or 70 and going for another 75, at some point it gets personal, doesn't it?

Q. Did you ever accuse Mr. Terry of mud slinging?
A. I don't remember.
Q. If I -- well, let me ask you this: Have you ever gone back and looked at any of your testimony before?
A. No.
Q. Do you have any reason to believe you testified inaccurately in the past?
MR. LANG: Objection, form.
A. Yeah, there are sometimes I speak too fast, and there's sometimes I get emotional. So there's -- there's definitely a chance that things I say or have said need clarification.
Q. Did you ever feel like you didn't want a dime to go to Terry because it was personal?
A. I don't recall saying that.
Q. Did you ever feel that way?
A. I -- I don't -- no, I don't recall -- I don't recall that at all.
Q. If you said that, was it wrong?
MR. LANG: Objection, form.
A. I -- I don't remember saying that at all.
Q. Did you -- did you realize that Acis Capital

Page 71

Management, LP, when it went into bankruptcy -- and I take it it was not your choice for it to go into bankruptcy. Is that right?
A. I believe it was filed involuntarily and against the binding arbitration clause in the agreement.
Q. Okay.
MR. AHMAD: I'll object as nonresponsive.
Q. It wasn't your choice to send Acis Capital Management into bankruptcy?
A. It was not.
Q. Did you believe that Acis Capital Management, LP's creditors, though, should be paid?
MR. LANG: Objection, form.
A. I believe creditors were entitled to whatever they were entitled to.
Q. Well, do you specifically -- and, actually, I think if you go back, I believe it's to the proof of claim. It's probably Exhibit --
A. 8.
Q. -- 8?
MR. LANG: 8.
Q. And you said you hadn't seen it, but if you look, you'll see a list of creditors at the end, or it should be there?
MR. LANG: No.

MR. AHMAD: Make this a separate exhibit.
MR. LANG: Should this be part of this, like an 8A, or should it be 10?
MR. AHMAD: I can do it separately.
MR. LANG: Okay.
MR. AHMAD: It was supposed to be, but ...
MR. LANG: That's fine.
(Exhibit 10 marked.)
Q. Hand you what's been marked as Exhibit 10. You'll see Exhibit 10 is a list of creditors that you signed on behalf of Acis Capital Management, LP.
A. Yes.
Q. Did you believe that the creditors listed here in Exhibit 10 should be paid?
A. I don't have an awareness of the validity of each bill, but on the surface it looks like bona fide creditors.
Q. So did you believe they should be paid if they were bona fide?
MR. LANG: Objection, form.
A. If they're bona fide in due course with -- yes.
Q. Did you believe that as of the time of the bankruptcy that you were the sole owner of Acis Capital Management, LP?
MR. LANG: Objection, form.

Page 73

A. No.
Q. Who else was the owner? Mr. Okada?
A. Yes.
Q. Twenty-five percent interest?
A. Yes, I believe so.
(Exhibit 11 marked.)
Q. I'm going to hand you what has been marked as Exhibit 11.
A. Yes.
Q. Do you remember this agreement, Exhibit 11? Actually, amended and restated agreement?
A. No.
Q. It looks like, if you look at page 10, you signed off as both the investment manager, Acis Capital Management, LP, as well as the sub-advisor, Highland Capital Management LP. Is that correct?
A. Yes.
Q. And when it says sub-advisor, what was Highland's duties -- or what were Highland's duties with respect to Acis?
A. Well, when Josh left, there were no employees left, I don't think, at Acis, or no ability to manage the portfolios that were there. So, again, I view this document like the other one, as proper legal housekeeping and adjustment for a situation that changed.

Q. Well, one of the things, if not the major thing that's being done was an increase in the fee charged for the advisory services of Highland Capital Management, correct?
A. Well, again, because all the work was shifting to Highland, so I believe they probably made the proper adjustment to reflect that.
Q. Okay. So you see in here, if you look at the Schedule A, the fee rate is now going to be 20 bps.
A. Okay. Yes.
Q. Which I guess is .2 percent. Is that correct?
A. Correct, yep.
Q. And it had previously been 5 basis points, correct?
A. Correct. Again, Acis used to be work. Now Acis wasn't going to be doing any work.
Q. Okay.
A. So I think this was just proper adjustment and housekeeping.
Q. Well, when --
A. And I think well within the latitude of the agreement, too, right?
Q. Did you have any lawyers, compliance people recommend this transaction to you?

Page 75

A. Yes. They were the ones that would have prepared and put this in front of me.
Q. And who did that?
A. Thomas Surgent.
Q. Any documents where he's recommending that the fee from Highland go up from 5 basis points to 20?
A. This document here.
Q. Okay. This is just the change. Any documents where Surgent is saying that?
A. This reflects his recommendation and his legal work and keeper of all -- his responsibility of keeper of all documents to be current and compliant and appropriate.
Q. No other document?
MR. LANG: Objection, form.
A. Not that I'm aware of.
Q. And you're saying that the reason for this increase, this four-fold increase from 5 basis points to 20 basis points is that Highland was going to have to provide more services because Josh Terry was gone?
A. Correct. All the work that Acis did Acis was no longer doing, and the burden of replacing the services provided by a 2, 3 million dollar a year guy were now falling on Highland.
Q. And what services did Josh Terry provide that

Highland was now going to have to pick up?
A. He probably has a grander answer to this question, but, you know, the portfolio management, the business development, and the communication with Wall Street and investors, all activities that he would have been doing are now -- have now fallen back to Highland.
Q. Who paid Josh salaries -- Josh Terry's salary or his compensation? Do you know?
A. I believe in the beginning there wasn't enough in Acis to do that, and like I said, I don't know whether -- how long he was a dual employee, but it would have been offset from Highland. But then as Acis started accruing more fees and more deals, I imagine most of it would have been paid by Acis.
Q. Do you know?
A. I don't. The accountants would know. I don't know the specifics.
Q. Okay. And to be clear, you said Surgent would have been involved in recommending this increase; is that right?
MR. LANG: Objection, form.
A. Yes, absolutely. He -- he would have been the one that crafted the agreement, making sure it was compliant with partnership agreement, any responsibilities from a regulatory or venue standpoint.

And I sign probably 200 things a week. I'm not the lawyer putting together documents. I rely on the lawyers. And, like I said, compliance has an unusually large role in any asset management firm. They report dotted line to me but also to the SEC. So they're -- they're quasi independent and personal liability to the SEC.

So you take their recommendations and you can't push them around. Otherwise, they would have personal liability. And an investment -- investment advisory firm, they would be the orchestrator of that.

Q. And did Surgent also make the recommendation to remove Josh Terry from the founding partner group?

A. Yes. He was gone. He had -- he had left.

Q. My question is did Surgent recommend that --

A. Yes.

Q. -- change.

A. Yes. I said yes.

Q. And as far as this Exhibit 11, the change in the fees, Highland Capital Management was changing to now 20 basis points. Did anybody get a fairness opinion of whether -- given the fact that this was one affiliate, Highland, charging a fee to another affiliate, Acis Capital Management, anybody get an opinion as to whether this transaction was fair?

Page 78

A. Not that I'm aware of. Not that I would have thought would be logical or appropriate either.

Q. Do you think this reflected fair market value?

A. Yes. Acis became a shell when Josh left. Why would -- when all the work and all the responsibility and all the liability flowed to Highland, why would -- why would a shell be entitled to anything?

Q. Was there any discussion or thought of any kind about Acis getting these same advisory services from another entity, an unaffiliated independent entity?

A. Not that I'm aware of.

Q. Are there other outfits other than Highland Capital Management which provide advisory services, or is it the only one?

A. There aren't any others that we believe do it better.

Q. Are there -- are there others out there? Are there competitors?

A. Yes.

Q. Anybody look at potentially using one of them to provide these services?

A. There aren't any that we believe do it better.

Q. So therefore you didn't look at any other entity? Is that what you're saying?

A. Not that I recall.

MR. AHMAD: Let me know when you guys want to take lunch, by the way. If you do want to take lunch.

THE WITNESS: Let's not take lunch. I've got a hard stop at 2:00. I can push it till 2:30. But I thought this was going to be a short one. I've got to travel internationally tomorrow.

MR. AHMAD: Well, I can't promise you I'll be done by 2:00, but if you have a hard stop --

THE WITNESS: Yeah. I have a hard stop. I was thinking we'd be done by 2:00. I can push it to 2:30, but that's it. Otherwise, we can reconvene when schedules permit.

(Exhibit 12 marked.)

Q. I'm going to hand you what's been marked as Exhibit 12 to your deposition.

MR. LANG: Thank you.

Q. Do you remember this document?

A. No.

Q. You signed it, didn't you?

A. Yes.

Q. It looks like you signed it on behalf of both purchaser, Highland Capital Management, LP, and the seller, Acis Capital Management, LP, right?

A. I don't see signatures on mine.

MR. LANG: On page 13.

THE WITNESS: Oh, it's on page 13?

MR. LANG: Yeah. There's other attachments.

A. Yes.

Q. Those are your signatures, correct?

A. Yes.

Q. On page 3, if you go to Section 1.3, it says that the parties acknowledge and agree that the purchase price reflects the arm's length value of Acis' participation interest as of the date of this agreement as determined by mutually agreed appraisal methods.

Do you see that?

A. Yes.

Q. Was there an appraisal done of the value of Acis's participation interest?

A. I don't have specific knowledge, but if it -- I do believe whatever it says we did, we did.

Q. But you haven't seen that?

A. I have not.

Q. And you don't specifically remember an appraisal?

MR. LANG: Objection, form.

A. I'm saying we're good with our contracts, and if we said we were doing something, we did it. But I don't have any specific awareness.

Q. Okay. If you go to the bottom of page 1, under the recitals, it's the third-to-the-last "whereas." It says, Whereas, seller has determined to stop making annual distributions of excess cash to seller's partners while efforts are underway to form a new -- to form new CLOs.
Do you see that?
A. Yes.
Q. Who on behalf of seller determined to stop making annual distributions of excess cash, if you remember?
A. There was a lot going on. I thought -- I thought it was the investors, meaning the retail funds and the DAF, that didn't want that, didn't want any more distributions because they needed the extra cash in the deals in order to form the -- in order to do new CLOs. I believe that was the -- my recollection is that was investor driven.
Q. And the investor being the donor-advised fund?
A. And the retail mutual funds.
Q. Which retail mutual funds?
A. (need spellings) ^H fro and ^N H F.
Q. With respect to the donor advisor fund, who at the donor advisor fund made that decision? Would that have been you?

A. No. The donor-advised fund's independent. I believe the trustee at the time. I believe the trustee at the time was Grant Scott.
Q. So you believe Grant Scott determined to stop making annual distributions of excess cash?
MR. LANG: Objection, form.
A. I believe the excess cash distributions were -- holding them back in the deal were necessary to refinance the deals because the deals hadn't performed that well. And the excess cash was necessary to refinance them. And the investors in aggregate wanted to refinance the deals. And that was one of the prerequisites.
Q. Okay. Do you have any idea, if it was really the investors, why it said the seller, Acis Capital Management, LP?
A. Because the -- the registered investment advisors have responsibility first and foremost to the investors.
Q. Is there any communication from the investors where they tell Acis to stop making annual distributions?
A. I don't know.
Q. If you go to Schedule A, which is the last page

Page 83

in the document --
A. Yes.
Q. -- you will see a total servicer fee and then the servicer fee retention amount. Do you see that?
A. Yes.
Q. So basically the seller, Acis Capital Management, is selling its -- looks like about half of its participation interest to Highland Capital Management; is that correct?
A. Yes.
Q. In exchange for a note?
A. Yes. The date on this is -- is this pre --
Q. It's October 7, 2016.
A. Is this pre or after he left?
Q. After.
A. Okay.
Q. Do you think that as of October 7th, 2016, Acis could afford to pay these -- half of its advisory fees participation interest rather?
MR. LANG: Objection, form.
Q. I'll restate it. Do you think Acis as of October 7, 2016, could afford to pay Highland half of its participation interest?
MR. LANG: Objection, form.
Q. Or servicer fees?

Page 84

MR. LANG: Same objection.
A. I -- I don't know if that's -- I don't know how much of the total servicer fee Acis was getting. I don't know if it's fair to look at it that way. But in any case, let me just answer by saying I don't -- I don't know. I don't have a comment.
Q. And did anybody do any kind of a fairness opinion as to whether the value of the servicer fees that Acis was giving up was worth the value of the note?
MR. LANG: Objection, form.
A. Since it suggests that it was done in here, I believe that there was something done. I just don't have an awareness of it.
(Exhibit 13 marked.)
Q. I'm going to hand you what's been marked as Exhibit 13. And this is the note that we were referring to earlier --
A. Uh-huh.
Q. -- that Acis received in exchange for the transaction of Exhibit 12, correct?
A. It appears to be.
Q. And Acis made payments, at least one payment on that note; is that correct?
A. I don't know.
Q. Well, I think if --

Page 85

MR. LANG: Object to the form. Acis or Highland, Joe?
MR. AHMAD: Hang on for a second.
Q. If you look at the last page --
MR. AHMAD: And it's Highland. I'm sorry.
MR. LANG: Yeah. I just wanted to be sure we're clear.
Q. If you look at the last page --
A. Of the promissory note?
Q. Yeah, Exhibit 8.
MR. LANG: Sorry. Exhibit 8. So here.
Q. Exhibit A.
MR. LANG: Oh, A.
Q. Of Exhibit 13.
MR. LANG: Okay.
Q. Sorry. It's an exhibit of an exhibit.
A. Yes.
Q. Were you aware -- and the first payment looks like it was supposed to be on May 31st, 2017. Were you aware that one payment had been made?
A. No. I'm not aware of accounting details like that.
Q. Were you aware that Acis stopped remitting its servicer fees to Highland?
A. I'm not aware.

Q. I'm going to hand you what's been marked as Exhibit 14. It looks like this is an agenda, I'm assuming for a meeting that you sent out, on October 6, 2016. Is that correct?
A. Appears to be.
Q. And it's to Isaac Leventon?
A. Yes.
Q. One of the lawyers?
A. Yes.
Q. And it says, Meeting with Isaac re David Smith at the top. I'm not sure -- do you know who Isaac or David Smith is?
A. Isaac Leventon is Isaac.
Q. That makes sense.
A. David Smith was a CEO at one of the portfolio companies. Might have been CCS.
Q. Okay. So these are two different items on the agenda? His separation, and then it looks like tax, slash, Acis, slash, Terry transaction; is that right?
A. Yes.
Q. And do you know what this meeting was about?
A. I -- I don't remember.
Q. Do you know whether the structure of the transaction we just looked at, Exhibits 12 and 13, did it have any tax benefit for Acis or Highland?

A. I believe it had some modest tax deferral if it had gone as planned. I don't think it had any tax -- I don't want to say. The tax -- if it would have had some tax deferral benefit for a few years if it had gone as planned, I don't -- since it busted, I don't know what -- what value it had, if any.
Q. Who would the deferral benefits have been for? Acis or Highland?
A. It would have been -- it would have been -- the tax deferral, it looks like three years of tax deferral, would have gone to whoever was reporting the income on the CLO fee income.
Q. And who would that have been?
A. I don't know. Whoever -- whoever had the management contract at that point, whether it was Acis or Highland, I don't know.
Q. Okay. And do you know what the Terry transaction is that you're referring to on Exhibit 14?
A. I don't know, but given its contemporaneous timing with everything we just discussed -- I don't even want to -- I'm not supposed to assume, but it appears to be that -- that transaction.
(Exhibit 15 marked.)
Q. I'll hand you what's been marked as Exhibit 15.

Page 88

This looks like another meeting, but this time with --
A. Compliance.
Q. I assume Thomas is Thomas Surgent, correct?
A. Yes.
Q. And then JP and Tim are who?
A. Tim Cournoyer. I can never pronounce it right. And JP is another lawyer in the group.
Q. Do you remember his name or her name?
A. JP Sevilla.
Q. And Isaac, Isaac Leventon, I assume?
A. Yes.
Q. Do you know why you-all were meeting about Josh Terry on November 3rd, 2017?
A. No.
Q. This would have been right after the arbitration. Does that ring a bell?
A. I -- that was a long time. I have no specific recollection.
(Exhibit 16 marked.)
Q. I'm handing you what's been marked as Exhibit 16 to your deposition. I take it you have seen that document before because you signed it a couple of times.
A. I don't recall it.
Q. Well, Exhibit 16 does have your signature at the end twice, does it not?

Page 89

A. Yes.
Q. On behalf of Acis Capital Management, LP, and Highland Capital Management, LP, correct?
A. Yes.
Q. And then somebody is signing for Highland CLO Management. Do you see that?
A. Yes.
Q. And who is that?
A. I haven't seen that signature before, but let me --
Q. Is it John Cullinane, or Cullinane?
A. Tim -- I don't think that's Tim Cournoyer. Maybe it is. I don't recognize the signature.
Q. Is Highland CLO Management -- by the way, is that referred to as HCLOM?
A. It seems to be here, yes.
Q. It says if you look on the first page, under recitals, the third whereas, it says, whereas HCM has notified Acis that HCM is unwilling to provide -- to continue to provide support personnel and other critical services to Acis with respect to the CLOs.
Do you see that?
A. Yes.
Q. Is this the first time Highland ever mentioned that they would stop providing support?

A. I don't know.
Q. Why did Highland -- why was Highland Capital Management unwilling to continue to provide support personnel and other critical services to Acis?
A. I can't remember why. Could you ask the question again?
Q. It was just that. Why was Highland Capital Management unwilling to continue to provide support, personnel, and other critical services to Acis with respect to the CLOs?
A. See, I can't remember -- I'm trying to figure out why HCLOM was set up as a successor manager. I wasn't -- I wasn't involved. I'm just speculating, but it looks like they're creating a separate asset management arm, which it's not unusual for us to have multiple advisors under Highland. And it looks like they're creating HCLOM to be the successor manager probably as part of what the investors wanted and part of the refi they created a separate entity. And as part of that, they had to terminate the relationship with Highland, and this is how they -- they drafted it. But this is probably -- this is me more speculating, but I don't know. I don't have an awareness. I wasn't involved in this, so --

Q. Okay.
A. That's my overall answer but I think my speculation is probably pretty good.
Q. Okay. HCLOM was a new entity, correct?
A. Yes, it appears to be here.
Q. It didn't have any CLO experience, correct?
MR. LANG: Objection, form.
A. Well, we don't have a description of HCLOM. We don't know. We don't know what the agreement with HCLOM is relative -- I don't know if that's the next document -- with Highland, but it -- if it's a qualified successor manager, then it has to be qualified, right? If we're representing it's qualified, it either has to have employees or it has to have a services agreement with Highland.
Q. Do you have any idea who would have -- who came up with the idea to basically transfer Acis's position and notes -- note to HCLOM?
MR. LANG: Objection, form.
A. This all would have been from Thomas and his group.
Q. Thomas Surgent?
A. Yes.
Q. Do you know if there was any fairness opinion, fairness determination?

Page 92

A. I don't know. If it says in here that there was one, then I believe we would have got one. If it doesn't specifically say it, I have no idea.
Q. Other than 9.5 million remaining on the note its owed from Highland, did Acis have any other assets?
A. I don't know. That would be an accountant question.
Q. Was Acis insolvent after this assignment and transfer agreement, Exhibit 16, on November 3rd, 2017?
MR. LANG: Objection, form.
A. I don't know.
Q. Do you remember talking to Thomas Surgent, Isaac Leventon, JP Sevilla, or Cournoyer, on November 3rd, 2017, the date of Exhibit 16?
A. Not specifically.
(Exhibit 17 marked.)
Q. I've handed you what's been marked as Exhibit 17.
MR. AHMAD: Just take one.
MR. LANG: Okay.
Q. You're not copied on this, but the bottom email is an email from Isaac Leventon to Surgent, JP Sevilla, Tim Cournoyer, subject Terry. And it says, Talked to Scott.
Do you have any idea who that is?

Page 93

A. Nope.
Q. It says, He would like us to talk to Jim this afternoon.
I assume that's you?
A. Probably.
Q. But you don't remember talking to them about the subject is Terry?
A. Not specifically.
(Telephonic interruption.)
MR. AHMAD: Do you need to take that?
THE WITNESS: No, that's okay.
Q. Did you regard Acis as a shell company?
MR. LANG: Objection, form.
You can answer.
A. After Josh left.
Q. Why was it a shell company?
A. Because there was no employees and no ability to conduct business, no continuity after Josh left.
Q. Was Josh an Acis employee or a Highland employee?
MR. LANG: Objection, form.
A. Like I said, I don't remember the construct, whether he was a dual employee and/or when he transferred to Acis. I don't know the answers. The accountants would know the answers.

Page 94

Q. You noted before, or at least you saw in the November 3rd agreement between Highland Capital Management, Acis Capital Management, HCLOM, that Highland Capital Management was unwilling to continue to provide support.
Do you know if anybody at either Highland or Acis tried to find anybody else to provide support for Acis?
A. I don't know.
Q. Did you ask?
A. I don't remember asking.
(Exhibit 18 marked.)
Q. I hand you what's been marked as Exhibit 18. Are you familiar with Exhibit 18?
A. No.
Q. Don't have your signature. This looks like a draft agreement. But did you issue a personal guarantee from any note between Acis and Highland?
A. Not that I recall.
Q. Do you remember Exhibit 18 at all?
MR. LANG: Objection, form.
A. I do not.
Q. Were you ever aware that you personally guaranteed the note between Highland and Acis?
MR. LANG: Objection, form.

Page 95

A. I don't have a recollection, but I'm willing to be refreshed.
Q. Do you know who would have drafted this?
A. I can't imagine anybody other than Thomas Surgent and his group.
Q. Did he ever mention this to you?
A. Not that I recall.
(Exhibit 19 marked.)
Q. Exhibit 19. Have you seen Exhibit 19 before?
A. No.
Q. Okay.
A. It's not my signature at the back either.
Q. Well, it looks, by the way, like that signature that you couldn't spot before. Would you agree with me that it looks like John Cullinane's signature here?
A. Yes. Yes.
Q. And do you know who's signing on behalf of Strand Advisors, Inc.?
A. I don't know who John Cullinane is. But I'm willing to be refreshed, but I don't know who he is.
Q. Okay.
A. And I don't know whose signature that is for Strand.
Q. Are you familiar with this forbearance agreement?

Page 96

A. No.
Q. So I take it you have no idea why this agreement was entered into?
A. I have no idea.
(Exhibit 20 marked.)
Q. I've handed you what's been marked as Exhibit 20. Have you seen Exhibit 20 before?
A. No.
Q. If you look towards the end, you'll see that John Cullinane is supposed to be the director.
A. Okay.
Q. Do you see that?
A. Yes.
Q. And do you see you're the president?
MR. LANG: Hold on. Where are we?
THE WITNESS: Second to the last page.
MR. LANG: Right here (pointing)?
MR. AHMAD: Correct.
MR. LANG: All right.
Q. And this is of HCLOM or Highland CLO Management, Ltd., correct?
A. Yes.
Q. Do you remember being the president of Highland CLO Management, Ltd.?
A. No.

Q. And you still don't remember John Cullinane who's supposed to be a director of the company you're a president of?
A. Directors come and go. Maples corporate services changes them often. But, no, I don't have an awareness of --
Q. Okay.
A. -- him.
Q. Do you know who the members of Highland CLO Management is?
A. I mean, other than what this agreement -- other than what this paper says, I do not.
Q. Do you know who Summit Management, Limited, is? I'm getting that from John Cullinane. He's for and on behalf of Summit Management, Lt- -- Limited.
A. I think maples puts together independent board members in the Caymans, and I think they have their own entities, so -- but I don't have an awareness of Summit Management.
Q. By the way, you mentioned something about HarbourVest and Goldman Sachs before. They didn't want to use Acis anymore; is that correct?
A. Correct.
Q. Who at -- well, first of all, did anybody from HarbourVest tell you that?

Page 98

A. Not directly. There were -- there were legal and investment teams talking directly to HarbourVest weekly or biweekly.
Q. And who is -- who is talking to HarbourVest directly?
A. Trey Parker on the investment side, and then the legal team, I don't know who on the legal team was talking to them regularly.
Q. So who told you that HarbourVest said they didn't want to use Acis?
A. The legal team.
Q. Who in the legal team?
A. I don't recall specifically. It probably would have been Thomas, but I don't recall specifically.
Q. And who told the legal team that HarbourVest didn't want to use Acis?
A. HarbourVest. There was a point person in particular at HarbourVest. I never spoke with them, but the legal team, whoever the legal team was speaking to regularly.
Q. And who was that point person at HarbourVest?
A. I don't know.
Q. Okay. You mentioned Goldman Sachs. Did you personally talk to Goldman Sachs?
A. No. That was Trey and his group, or maybe

Page 99

Hunter. But Trey under Hunter would have been talking to Goldman.
Q. Do you know who they talked to at Goldman Sachs?
A. The CLO desk.
Q. Do you know who was at the CLO desk?
A. No.
(Exhibit 21 marked.)
Q. I've handed you what has been marked as Exhibit 21. Are you familiar with Acis Loan Funding, Ltd.?
A. Not specifically, but I think this was the structure they tried to bring HarbourVest into or that they did bring HarbourVest into, but I don't have a specific awareness of this.
Q. Have you reviewed Exhibit 21 before?
A. No.
Q. Did you approve it?
A. I don't even know if I was involved in approving -- generally the concept of bringing HarbourVest in for half the portfolio I was aware of as a business development, but ...
(Exhibit 22 marked.)
Q. I'm going to hand you what's been marked as Exhibit 22.

Page 100

MR. AHMAD: This looks like my only copy.
MR. LANG: Do you want me to make copies?
MR. AHMAD: Oh, he's got -- he's got them.
MR. LANG: Do you have a copy?
MR. AHMAD: Yeah.
MR. LANG: Okay.
MR. AHMAD: Thank you. If I don't, I'm going to wing it.
Q. I see an email here towards the top from Trey Parker. It just says that Thomas and I just walked through the term sheet with Jim and he is comfortable with it. Do you see that?
A. Yes.
Q. Is that true, you were comfortable with the term sheet as of August 22nd, 2017?
A. Yes.
(Exhibit 23 marked.)
Q. I'm going to hand you what's been marked as Exhibit 23 to your deposition. Have you seen this document before?
A. No.
Q. Do you know who would have created it?
A. This would have been Trey and -- and/or Hunter.
Q. Hunter Covitz?
A. Yes.

Page 101

Q. Trey Parker?
A. Yes.
(Exhibit 24 marked.)
Q. I've handed you what's been marked as Exhibit 24. Do you remember telling people not to use arbitration anymore?
A. I think we did strip arbitration out of all of our contracts.
Q. Is that because arbitrators like to split the baby?
A. I think that's a fair summary there, yeah.
Q. And that's an email you sent on September 18th, 2017; is that correct?
A. Yes.
(Exhibit 25 marked.)
Q. I'm going to hand you what's been marked as Exhibit 25. And this document appears to be a revision of the term sheet, correct?
A. Yes.
Q. And this one is dated September 14, 2017?
A. Yes.
Q. And it looks like Acis is being replaced in this document, does it not, by Highland?
A. Yes.
Q. Specifically Highland Capital Management, LP?

Page 102

A. Well, as portfolio manager, but it's being replaced by HCLO Funding.
Q. Yes.
A. Okay.
Q. And who made that decision to change the portfolio manager from Acis to Highland Capital Management?
A. I believe the investors. I mean, you can see all -- see how many other terms are changed?
Q. Sure.
A. So that would have been based on investor or underwriter feedback.
Q. Specifically who?
A. I -- I don't know. I'm just saying that I think what you had before was the best fair efforts of Trey and Hunter to put forward what they thought was reasonable, and then this is the turn and change from the -- either the investors or from the underwriters. That's why -- they wouldn't have changed all these terms on their own iterations.
Q. Which investors and which underwriters?
A. HarbourVest -- we were considering I think three or four different underwriters at the time, but I think ended up focusing on Goldman. And we had solicited a bunch of investors, but I think HarbourVest was the investor that was going forward. So it would have been one of those two.

Q. Is there any document that you know of where HarbourVest or Goldman Sachs says to remove Acis?
A. Implicitly this document here.
Q. Exhibit 25?
A. Yeah.
Q. I don't see -- I don't see where Goldman Sachs is -- or HarbourVest is actually making that change.
A. Let's look at some of the changes inside, because a lot of the changes inside there'd be no reason for us to make them. They would have only been made by somebody else. Like look at descriptions of the loans and investment policy. Look at the investment period being changed and adjusted.
Q. But --
A. Look at the limitations on whatever -- these are -- look how much it changes from the original proposal. These are not things that we would have unilaterally changed between drafts. Those -- those kinds of inputs would have only come from third parties.
Q. Well, could you have changed the portfolio manager from Acis to Highland?
A. I believe this change was required, that you're referring to on the front, from Goldman and/or

Page 104

HarbourVest.
Q. Okay. But you don't have a document that says that?
A. I believe this document speaks clearly for itself.
Q. And that's all you have?
A. I don't --
MR. LANG: Objection, form.
A. I don't have any documents.
(Exhibit 26 marked.)
Q. I hand you what's been marked as Exhibit 26. And you'll see at the top it's an email from Tim Cournoyer to Trey Parker, cc'ing -- well, cc'ing Tom Surgent, correct?
A. Yes.
Q. And it's the Acis loan funding sheet, correct?
A. Yes.
Q. Sometimes referred to as "ALF"?
A. Yes.
Q. I don't -- I don't see HarbourVest on here. Do you?
A. Yes.
Q. Where?
A. Second-to-last sentence. "HV reviewed."
Q. I'm sorry. Where?

Page 105

A. Redline marked against the last draft from HarbourVest.
Q. Oh, I'm sorry. I was talking -- I was talking about on this email. But I'll go to that section. It says, this is the form ready to be sent to HarbourVest, correct?
A. Well, it says attached is a clean draft and a redline marked against the last draft HarbourVest reviewed, yeah.
Q. And -- and it says, attached is a -- above that, on September 14, 7:56 a.m., it says, attached is a revised draft that's been updated for today's date pending confirmation of Thomas's discussion with Jim.
Do you see that?
A. Yes.
Q. And it's -- and then above that, at 8:02 a.m., it says, Thomas spoke to Jim. Will need to circle up this morning, and says internally and with Dechert on RR structure, if necessary.
Do you see that?
A. Yes.
Q. Is that Dechert the law firm?
A. Yeah. Let me clarify what I said before about Ropes & Gray. By this point, we had switched from Ropes & Gray to Dechert. But Dechert was our third-party independent compliance counsel. So you're seeing independent -- you're seeing internal compliance and looks like external compliance in this case reviewing everything, which goes back to everything that we've talked about today was either directly developed or reviewed by internal compliance, probably external compliance.

Q. Yeah, and I guess that's my question. Where is the documentation from Dechert where they analyze or give an opinion about this?
A. We lost all of our internal records to Highland in the bankruptcy, and they have not been forthcoming on any requests for documentation. So you're going to have to get that from them.
Q. Who is "them"?
A. Jim Seery and Thomas Surgent.
Q. Okay. So you have these emails, but you don't have the Dechert documents?
MR. LANG: Objection, form.
A. No, no, we don't have the emails. These emails come from their servers. But they have mandatory 7-, 10-year document retention. They have all the supporting documents that you need. But we have none of them.
MR. LANG: Joe, we can talk about this.

These all come from Highland Capital and John Morris, but we can talk about it --
MR. AHMAD: I gathered that, but I'm just wondering why you have the emails from Highland but not Dechert.
MR. LANG: Highland produced these, not us.
MR. AHMAD: I get it.
MR. LANG: I don't know what Highland withheld.
MR. AHMAD: I'm sorry?
MR. LANG: I don't know what Highland withheld.
MR. AHMAD: Yeah, that's what I'm asking.
MR. LANG: That's fair.
MR. AHMAD: Okay. I'm asking why they would produce this and not the Dechert.
Q. But you don't know, I take it?
A. You should work from the assumption they'll withhold anything that would impair Thomas.
Q. Do you believe Dechert did an analysis?
A. I have no idea.
Q. Was it your understanding that HarbourVest demanded to remove Acis?
MR. LANG: Objection, form.

Page 108

A. I believe it was demanded by both them and Goldman.
Q. Was HarbourVest aware of the arbitration?
A. They were kept abreast of all the details of on at least a weekly or biweekly basis of everything regarding Acis.
Q. Who kept them abreast?
A. Somebody on Thomas's team.
(Exhibit 27 marked.)
Q. I'm going to hand you what's been marked as Exhibit 27 to your deposition. Are you familiar with Exhibit 27?
A. No.
Q. Were you aware of it?
A. Not yet. Let me keep reading. (Reviewing document.) Okay. What's the question?
Q. Are you familiar with the document?
A. No. I'm trying to figure it out as I'm sitting here.
Q. Okay. Do you know why HarbourVest removed Acis as the portfolio manager?
A. They didn't want any part of the risk in Jernigan's court or the risk in the litigation or arbitration around Josh Terry.
Q. Is that what was communicated to you from the legal group?

A. Yes.
Q. And, again, they didn't tell you who said that?
MR. LANG: Objection, form.
A. No.
Q. Any other reason that Acis was removed as the portfolio manager?
A. No. Well, no, other than once Josh was no longer employed, there was no reason to use the shell.
Q. If you'd go to page 13, which is section 14. Do you see that, in the middle of the paragraph --
A. Yes.
Q. -- middle of the page? It says that this agreement may be terminated and portfolio manager may be removed for cause as defined below.
Do you see that?
A. Yes.
Q. Was Acis as portfolio manager removed for cause?
A. You know, this is -- this is a different set of people and a different fund, right? This is Acis Loan Funding. This isn't part of Acis Management, right? This is -- this is the -- William Scott, I believe, is the Guernsey director removing Acis as the manager of one of the holding companies above Acis that was located in Guernsey. This is a different thing and a different entity.

Q. Well, under this -- this is a PMA, portfolio management agreement, correct?
A. Yes.
Q. And it's between Acis Loan Funding, ALF --
A. Yes.
Q. -- and Acis Capital Management, LP, correct?
A. Yes.
Q. And Acis Capital Management is going to be the portfolio manager, right? Correct?
A. Yes.
Q. For Acis Loan Funding, correct?
A. Yes.
Q. Are you saying that Acis Capital Management was not removed as the portfolio manager for Acis Loan Funding?
MR. LANG: Objection, form.
A. It was, I guess.
Q. Okay. Do you believe Acis Capital Management, LP, was removed for cause as the portfolio manager?
A. Well, again, that decision was made by the Guernsey independent board member, right?
Q. Who was that?
A. William Scott is an English fellow that lives in Guernsey. I've met him before.

Q. Okay. Okay. So I'm just asking your opinion. If you don't have one, that's fine.
Do you believe that Acis Capital Management, LP, was removed as portfolio manager for cause?
MR. LANG: Objection, form.
A. I believe if it was post Josh's departure, it was validly for cause, if that's how they did it. But I don't know.
Q. Do you know what the cause was under Exhibit 27?
A. Let's see if we can find it. If there -- if there's no personnel or no ability to manage the portfolio, that would be cause, I would think. What section do you want me to read? Termination for cause?
Q. I don't need you to read any section. I'm just asking if you believe that they were terminated for cause.
A. The portfolio managers is wound up or dissolved, appointed over a substantial portion of its assets a receiver, administrator ...
I don't know. I -- I don't know what Jim Scott thought, but it sounds like he's got plenty of avenues for cause.

Page 112

Q. Such as?
A. The paragraph I was just reading.
Q. Which one?
A. How about let's focus on this one? The occurrence of the act of the portfolio manager that constitutes fraud or criminal activity in the performance of his obligations under that agreement. I think that's a good one.
Q. Okay.
A. That would apply to Josh, four or five ways.
Q. Okay. So I thought you said -- when I asked you why HarbourVest wanted to replace Acis, you didn't mention anything about any criminal or fraudulent acts.
Are you saying that they were aware of criminal or fraudulent acts, or they believe that Josh Terry had engaged in them?
A. Maybe I'm being too tongue-in-cheek. Again, this is between an offshore administrator and Guernsey regarding ALF, which has nothing to do with HarbourVest. And you're asking me if I know or I can speculate if he had for cause.
Q. I'm just asking if you --
A. So I'm just saying if -- I believe he could have chosen a cause, but I don't know what basis he used to terminate. You should ask him.

Page 113

Q. Well, sir, I'm just asking whether you have an opinion as to whether it was terminated for cause. Do you have an opinion?
A. I don't know.
MR. LANG: Objection, form.
A. I don't know.
(Exhibit 28 marked.)
Q. I'm handing you what's been marked as Exhibit 28. This looks like an email between you and Mark Okada, cc'ing Trey Parker, on May 17, 2017.
Do you see that?
A. Yes.
Q. It says, ALF has to close June 30, multistrat by year end or we start laying off people.
A. Yes.
Q. What does that mean?
A. We were overstaffed at that point in the economy, and there were projects that were lingering that needed to close.
Q. Is "multistrat" something that needed to close?
A. Yes.
Q. Was -- was ALF in any financial trouble at this point?
A. No. ALF I think represented new business at that point.

Page 114

(Exhibit 29 marked.)
Q. I'll hand you what's been marked as Exhibit 29. Are you familiar with Exhibit 29?
A. No.
Q. You've never seen it before?
A. No.
Q. Were you aware of it?
A. No.
Q. Do you have any idea why ALF was buying back its shares from Acis?
A. No.
Q. On October 24, 2017?
A. No.
Q. Did you approve the buyback?
A. I don't have an awareness of it or recollection of it.
Q. If you go back and look at Exhibit -- let's see. If you go back and look at Exhibit 1, to Interrogatory No. 3, on page 5. And do you see that?
A. Yes.
Q. And I think it's the same, as far as I can tell, but maybe it's a little bit different as Exhibit 2 answer to Interrogatory No. 3, but you could use either one. But I think for the relevant portion it's the same.

Page 115

And if you go down about four lines, you'll see, At the same time, Acis was the manager of ALF and held shares in ALF.
Do you see that?
A. Yes.
Q. And it says, ALF redeemed its shares (Acis sold them to ALF at fair value) in order to generate revenue for Acis -- or to Acis.
A. Yes.
Q. Do you see that?
A. Yes.
Q. Is that true?
A. I believe everything in this thing is true. I just -- I didn't refresh myself on this.
Q. Okay. Well, I mean, it sounds like you did have some knowledge of this share buyback.
A. Well, I think we tried to answer the question, but it's -- I didn't have awareness of this.
Q. Okay. Well, just so we're clear, I mean, did you verify that things were true and correct even if you didn't really know it?
A. Yeah, I believe we answered the interrogatories to the best of our ability as accurately as possible. And whatever it says here specifically I believe is accurate, but I'm saying I had no involvement in this.

Q. Well, you were -- you were certainly the president of the general partner of Acis, correct, Acis Capital Management GP?
A. Yes.
Q. Okay. And you're saying you had no awareness that ALF redeemed its shares?
A. I don't believe it was a material transaction, and it was done at book value or fair market value I believe is what it says here.
Q. Was it --
A. I -- I wasn't -- I wasn't specifically involved. I don't remember it. And I don't believe it was material, either.
Q. Okay. Did you have knowledge at some point in time that Acis sold its shares -- I mean, Acis sold its shares in ALF to ALF in order to generate revenue to Acis? Did you -- did you have personal knowledge of that at one time?
A. I don't -- not that I remember as I sit here today.
Q. Do you know how you arrived at this answer?
A. I believe the organization put forward the best answers to all these questions, and I think the answer here is correct and complete.
And then look at the last sentence.

Dondero had no direct involvement when reviewing these -- these transactions.
I don't have a recollection or memory of these transactions.
Q. Okay. Well, it said you didn't have direct involvement. But they were approved based upon recommendations of various people, correct?
A. Yes.
Q. And that would have been you approving them, correct?
A. Yes.
Q. Because you were the president of the general partner of Acis, right?
A. I was one of the few people with signing authority, so I get to sign a lot of things that I rely on other people to do well.
Q. And is it accurate to say Acis had to pay -- pay some debt to Highland, and that's why this was done?
A. I don't know.
Q. Do you know who Frank Waterhouse is?
A. Yes.
Q. Was he the treasurer of Highland, Highland Capital Management, LP?
A. I know him as our CFO. He might have been treasurer.

Page 118

Q. As CFO, did he report to you at Highland?
A. Yes.
MR. AHMAD: By the way, I'm going to keep going until you tell me the stop.
THE WITNESS: Let me set my car up, and then we'll have a hard stop at 2:30. Hold on a second.
MR. AHMAD: Because I'm not necessarily going to keep track of time, but I'm happy to stop when you have to go.
Q. By the way, did anybody besides you have signing authority at Acis Capital Management, LP?
MR. LANG: Objection, form.
A. On particular trades, Josh Terry had signing authority. But on anything corporate governance related, I believe I was the only one that had signing authority.
Q. So after Josh Terry left, would you be the only one that had signing authority at Acis Capital Management, LP?
MR. LANG: Objection, form.
A. I believe -- I -- I don't know. I don't know if they replaced somebody on the portfolio side. I don't know.
Q. Did Frank Waterhouse have any signing authority for Acis Capital Management, LP?

Page 119

MR. LANG: Objection, form.
A. I don't know. I don't know.
(Exhibit 30 marked.)
Q. Handing you what's been marked as Exhibit 30 to your deposition.
A. Yep.
Q. Are you familiar with this document?
A. Nope.
Q. If you look under the portfolio management agreement paragraph on paragraph 4 --
A. Yes.
Q. -- it says, It is noted that the rationale for entry into the portfolio management agreement is that (i) it is a condition to the proposed investment from HarbourVest Partners, LLC.
A. Yes. Well, that answers that question.
Q. Well, I'm asking you, do you know who drafted this document?
A. I do not.
Q. Do you know where they got the idea that it was a condition to the proposed investment from HarbourVest Partners?
A. From HarbourVest? I don't know.
Q. Do you know that?
A. No, I don't know where they got it from.

Page 120

Q. And it indicates in, I guess, (ii), it says, the change in portfolio manager to Highland HCF Advisor, Ltd. will improve the marketability of the company and the CLO business going forward.
Do you see that?
A. Yes.
Q. Again, do you know who would have -- who would have told the signatories of Exhibit 30 that?
A. I -- I don't know.
Q. Have you ever seen Exhibit 30 before?
A. No.
Q. Who owned Highland HCF Advisor?
A. I don't know.
Q. Was it a Highland entity?
A. I don't know. I'm willing to be refreshed, but I don't know.
Q. Was it you?
A. I don't know. I don't believe so. No, I don't know.
Q. You don't know whether you owned Highland HCF Advisor, Ltd.?
A. I do not know.
Q. And you don't know whether you had any ownership interest at all?
A. I -- I mean, we've been looking at stuff all day that's either 75/25 or Highland owned it. I -- it's -- the economic flow-through is the same, but I don't know whether Highland owned it or if there was an entity that Mark and I shared.

Q. If you look at paragraph 5, it says, Written Resolution. Do you see that?

A. Yes.

Q. It says the -- After due and careful consideration, the written resolution was put to the sole shareholder of the company, CLO HoldCo, Ltd. for approval.

Do you see that?

A. Yes.

Q. Do you know who the sole shareholder was?

A. Nope.

Q. Do you know who Grant Scott is?

A. Yes.

Q. And who is that?

A. Grant Scott is trustee -- was trustee I think on the DAF at this point in time.

Q. Okay.

A. Yeah, Grant Scott. Not Bill Scott. Bill Scott's different.

Q. Yeah. William Scott is different than Grant Scott?

Page 122

A. Yes.

Q. No relation, as far as you know?

A. Yes, correct.

Q. You said Grant Scott was a trustee of the donor-advised fund?

A. Yes.

Q. Was he also the trustee of CLO HoldCo?

A. I don't know.

Q. And when did you first meet Grant Scott? Or better way of asking, how long have you known him?

A. Since high school.

Q. Did you go to high school with him?

A. Yes.

Q. Where did you go to high school?

A. Pascack Hills public high school in northern New Jersey. Montvale.

Q. Montvale, New Jersey?

A. Uh-huh.

Q. Does he hold any other positions in any Highland or Acis entity?

A. Not that I'm aware of.

Q. Did he ever?

A. Not that I'm aware of.

Q. Is he ever -- is he a trustee of any entity that you have any relationship to other than the ones you've just mentioned?

A. No.

Q. Do you know if HCF Advisor is different from H- -- HCLOF?

MR. LANG: HCF Advisor versus HCLOF?

MR. AHMAD: Correct.

Q. Do you know if they're different?

A. Not off the top of my head.

(Exhibit 31 marked.)

Q. I'm handing you what's been marked as Exhibit 31. Can you identify Exhibit 31?

A. I can read it. The bench ruling?

Q. I'm just asking whether you're familiar of it.

A. I'm aware of it. I've never read it.

Q. Do you know -- when I asked you about HCLOF, do you know who the directors of HCLOF are? HCLOF of Guernsey?

A. Yeah, that's -- that's Bill Scott and his partner, the woman that we saw in some of the signatures.

Q. Okay. And to be clear, would that be Heather Bestwick?

A. Yes.

Q. Do you know who owns HCLOF Guernsey?

A. I don't recall as I sit here.

Page 124

Q. Was it NexBank?

A. No, I don't believe that's true.

Q. NexBank doesn't own any part of HCLOF or its equity?

A. No. NexBank I don't believe's been involved in this circus at all.

Q. Okay. But you're certainly the majority owner and chairman, chairman of the board of NexBank, correct?

A. Yes.

Q. What it says here, if you go to Exhibit 14 --

MR. LANG: Page 14?

MR. AHMAD: Oh, I'm sorry. Page 14. You're right.

MR. LANG: Exhibit 31?

MR. AHMAD: Yeah. Trying to do this without a break.

MR. LANG: I got it. Doing great.

MR. AHMAD: Thanks.

Q. It says in here that the equity owner of HCLOF Guernsey, in turn, has three equity owners. Do you see that?

A. Yep.

Q. And it mentions above -- if you go up a few lines, it has the reference to NexBank that I was referring to, that NexBank had some -- it looked like some notes that were pledged to HCLOF, or I guess held at NexBank.

A. Okay, yes.
Q. But, in any event, it says HCLOF -- the equity owner HCLOF Guernsey, in turn, had three equity owners. And it says the donor-advised fund, or DAF, right?
A. Uh-huh.
Q. Is that a yes?
A. Yes.
Q. And that donor-advised fund has the trustee of Grant Scott, correct?
A. Yes.
Q. And then it says 2 percent is owned by Highland employees. Do you see that?
A. Yes.
Q. Do you know which employees?
A. Hunter, Trey, Parker, and I don't remember. I think it was four employees. I don't remember the other two.
Q. And it then it says a 49 percent equity owner that is a third-party institutional investor based in Boston?
A. Yes.
Q. Is that HarbourVest?
A. Yes.

Q. And it says they desire to remain passive and anonymous. But we know that's HarbourVest, correct?
A. Yes.
Q. Do you know who could act on behalf of HCLOF?
A. HCLOF.
Q. Yes. Which --
A. I mean HCLOF could. I don't know. I don't know if Bill Scott or Heather.
Q. What about you and Mr. Okada and Mr. Covitz?
A. No, I think -- no, not that I'm aware of.
Q. You -- do you remember an expert hired by Highland, a Mr. Castro?
A. Yes, I remember the name.
Q. And he was hired by Highland, to be clear?
A. I believe so.
Q. Okay. That's your company, correct?
MR. LANG: Objection, form.
A. It was at the time, yes.
Q. Yes, it was at the time. And it looks like, if you go on to -- page -- the bottom of page 22, top of page 23, your expert, Mr. Castro, testified that the actual humans who would make the decision for HCLOF were not the directors but rather Highland executives. You, Mr. Okada, and Mr. Covitz.
A. Yes.

Q. Do you remember that being Highland's position through its expert?
A. I would say Hunter Covitz maybe, if they're talking about specific assets. But I don't agree with the inclusion of myself or Okada.
Q. But apparently your expert did?
A. If he really did say that.
Q. Okay. Fair enough.
A. Never know.
Q. You never know, why?
MR. LANG: Don't answer that.
MR. AHMAD: It was a fair question.
MR. LANG: Never know. A more fair response by me.
MR. AHMAD: It's fine.
Q. Hang on. Let me mark that. I've got to mark that first. Sir?
A. Oh, sorry.
Q. I've got to mark that.
(Exhibit 32 marked.)
Q. I have in front of you Exhibit 32.
A. Yep.
Q. And do you recognize 32 at all?
A. No.
Q. Well, it looks to be board meeting minutes?

Page 128

A. Yes.
Q. That's what it says, right?
A. Yes.
Q. Do you believe that William Scott and Heather Bestwick were independent?
A. Yes.
Q. How do you know those individuals, if you do?
A. I don't. I mean, other than I think Jernigan put them out of business. They closed up shop and went back to England.
Q. Weren't they in England before?
A. They were in Guernsey before, but --
Q. Oh, I always thought that was part of England, but ...
A. Okay. Well --
Q. I don't know.
A. -- satellite island. But after being accused of fraud in a sham jurisdiction, and not being truthful, their business ended, so -- but I do believe they were independent. I believe they had a real business for 30 years before, before they met Judge Jernigan.
Q. Do you know how they were selected as directors?
A. There's only -- at the time, there was only two or three firms to choose from in Guernsey. The law firm that -- I believe the law firm that did that document -- the document creation knew and recommended them.

And by the way, all that document creation was -- that whole structure was done by Josh, by the way.

Q. What whole structure?

A. The whole offshore Guernsey structure was put together by Josh.

Q. Did he pick the directors?

A. I think he picked the law firm that picked the directors.

Q. And what law firm was that?

A. I don't know.

Q. But whatever it was, you believe they picked the directors?

A. Yes.

(Exhibit 33 marked.)

Q. I've handed you what's been marked as Exhibit 33.

A. Didn't we see this one already?

Q. I hope not.

A. This is just the final version of one?

Q. Yeah, it shouldn't be the same document.

This document is a PMA agreement between Highland CLO Funding, Ltd., formerly known as Acis Loan

Funding, Ltd., and Highland HCF Advisor, Ltd., dated November 15, 2017.

Do you see that?

A. Yes.

Q. Have you seen this document before?

A. No.

Q. I noticed that at the end it has your signature.

A. Yes.

Q. Signing at least as portfolio manager, president of portfolio manager Highland HCF Advisor, Ltd., correct?

A. Yes.

Q. Do you think you signed it without looking at it?

A. Yes.

Q. Does this refresh your recollection that Highland HCF Advisor, Ltd. was a Highland entity?

MR. LANG: Objection, form.

A. No.

(Exhibit 34 marked.)

Q. You have in front of you Exhibit 34. First of all, do you know who Mizuho is?

A. Yes.

Q. And who are they?

A. They're a large Japanese bank.

Q. Okay. And do you know what's going on in Exhibit 34? It looks like several resets. Is that a fair statement?

A. I think they -- they were either co with Goldman or competing with Goldman. I believe that's what -- let me not speak here for a second.

Yeah, because it's refinancing transactions. So they were either co with Goldman or in competition with Goldman, looks like to redo the Acis transactions.

Q. To refinance or --

A. Yes.

Q. -- extend it?

A. Yep, yes.

Q. And you're signing as president of Highland CLO Management, LLC, correct?

A. Correct.

Q. Also known as HCLOM?

A. Yes.

Q. Why was this reset or refinancing extension -- however you want to call it, why was this being done?

A. The financing was maturing. And the way CLOs work is there's senior tranches and mez tranches. And the senior tranches get paid off first.

So as time goes on and you get closer to termination, you're losing your low cost stat and you're losing your arbitrage. So you have to refire, extend them to maintain the -- to maintain the arbitrage.

THE WITNESS: All right. This a good break? This is good time? 2:30.

MR. AHMAD: Okay. We'll let you know about reconvening.

THE VIDEOGRAPHER: Off the record at 2:28 p.m.

	§	Case No. 18-30265-SGJ-11
ACIS CAPITAL MANAGEMENT, L.P. and	§

	§	18-30264-SGJ-11)
Debtors.	§	Chapter 11

HIGHLAND CAPITAL MANAGEMENT, L.P.'s APPLICATION FOR ADMINISTRATIVE EXPENSE CLAIM PURSUANT TO 11 U.S.C. § 503(b)

Highland Capital Management, L.P. ("Highland"), hereby files this Application for Administrative Expense Claim Pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 503(b) (the "Application") and requests this Court's approval of an administrative expense claim for the actual and necessary costs and expenses for services to Acis Capital Management, LP and Acis Capital Management GP, LLC (the "Debtors") rendered post-petition in the current known amount of $3,554,224.29, as well as such other amounts that may arise, as referenced herein, related to Highland's indemnity rights and other potential claims that may be asserted against the estates, as applicable. In support of the Application, Highland respectfully states as follows:

JURISDICTION & VENUE

1. This Court has jurisdiction over the subject matter of this Application pursuant to 28 U.S.C. §§ 157 and 1334. The subject matter of this Application is a core proceeding within the meaning of 28 U.S.C. § 157(b)(2)(A) and (B). Venue is proper in this Court pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1409(a).

BACKGROUND

A. The Contracts

2. Debtor Acis Capital Management, L.P. ("Acis LP") was formed in 2011 as an affiliated investment advisor to manage Highland's collateralized loan obligations. Acis LP and Highland are parties to a number of different agreements. Debtor Acis Capital Management GP, LLC ("Acis GP") is the general partner of Acis LP.

(a) The PMAs and the CLOs

3. Prior to the Petition Date (defined below), Acis LP had contractual obligations to provide portfolio management services to five collateralized loan obligation entities known as Acis CLO 2013-1 Ltd., Acis CLO 2014-3 Ltd., Acis CLO 2014-4 Ltd., Acis CLO 2014-5 Ltd., and Acis CLO 2015-6 Ltd. (the "CLOs") through certain portfolio management agreements (the "PMAs") with the CLOs. For those services, Acis LP was entitled to certain portfolio management fees pursuant to the PMAs.

4. Each CLO holds a portfolio of diversified syndicated leveraged commercial loans through the private placement of rated secured notes (the "Secured Notes") and unsecured subordinated securities (the "Equity Notes," together with the Secured Notes, the "Notes"). Highland CLO Funding, Ltd. ("HCLOF") is the holder of the Equity Notes. Each Note is subject to an indenture (the "Indenture") that establishes the rights of the noteholders and indenture trustee investment criteria. Neither of the Debtors are a party to any of the Indentures. Rather, the Indentures are between each CLO entity, as issuer, and U.S. Bank, N.A. as indenture trustee (the "Indenture Trustee").

5. Pursuant to the Indentures, the CLOs can redeem the Secured Notes under certain conditions, including at the written direction of 66 2/3% of the aggregate outstanding amount of the Equity Notes. Through this right of redemption, the Equity Noteholders can restructure the CLOs when they no longer meet their investment objectives. Because changes in interest rates affect the return on the CLOs' investments, HCLOF has the contractual right to "reset" the CLOs, which is a process of refinancing the existing collateral loan obligations.

(b) The Outsourcing Agreement

6. Also prior to the Petition Date, Acis LP was party to an Agreement for the Outsourcing of the Asset Management (the "Outsourcing Agreement") with Universal-Investment-Luxembourg S.A. ("Universal") whereby Universal outsourced to Acis LP the asset management of an entity called BAYVK R2 Lux S.A., SICAV-FS – Highland (the "Sub-Fund"), which is a sub-fund of an entity called BAYVK R2 Lux S.A., SICAV-FIS. A copy of the Outsourcing Agreement is attached hereto as Exhibit A. In return for Acis LP's management services, Universal paid Acis LP management fees, which were ultimately charged to the Sub-Fund, as provided by section 5.3 of the Outsourcing Agreement. Section 2.6 of the Outsourcing Agreement provided that, subject to the prior consent of Universal, Acis LP was permitted to utilize the asset management services of third parties. Pursuant to that provision, Acis LP engaged Highland to provide sub-advisory services with respect to the management of the Sub-Fund.[1]

7. Acis LP does not have, nor has it ever had, any employees. All employees who have ever provided services to Acis LP were Highland employees, which were provided to Acis LP through shared and sub-advisory services agreements. Acis LP has always essentially subcontracted its CLO managerial function out to Highland. As a result, independently, Acis LP was not able to provide the services necessary to fulfill the contractual obligations under the PMAs or the Outsourcing Agreement. Since the inception of Acis LP until August 2, 2018, Highland provided all front, middle, and back-office services to Acis LP through sub-advisory and shared services agreements.

(c) The Shared Services Agreement

8. Prior to being replaced on August 2, 2018 (as described below), Highland provided back- and middle-office services to Acis LP pursuant to the Fourth Amended and Restated Shared Services Agreement, executed on March 17, 2017, (as amended and restated from time to time, the "Shared Services Agreement"). A copy of the Shared Services Agreement is attached hereto as Exhibit B and incorporated herein by reference. The multitude of services provided by Highland are set forth in Article II of the Shared Services Agreement.

9. Highland provided these shared services in exchange for management fees, currently averaging 15 basis points ("bps") of the total balances of the CLO accounts. See Exhibit 1 at Section 3.01 and Appendix A. The management fees were due to be paid to Highland approximately every quarter.

(d) The Sub-Advisory Agreement

10. Highland also provided front-office services to Acis LP pursuant to the Third Amended and Restated Sub-Advisory Agreement, executed March 17, 2017 (as amended and restated from time to time, the "Sub-Advisory Agreement," collectively with the Shared Services Agreement, the "Contracts"). A copy of the Sub-Advisory Agreement is attached hereto as Exhibit C and incorporated herein by reference.

11. The Sub-Advisory Agreement appointed Highland "as Sub-Advisor to the Management Company [Acis LP] for the purpose of assisting the Management Company [Acis LP] in managing the Portfolios of each Account . . . ." See Sub-Advisory Agreement at Section 1(a)). The Sub-Advisory Agreement directs Highland to perform a multitude of investment advisory services set forth in Section 1(b) of the agreement.

12. Highland was the sole provider of these services to Acis LP. See id at § 5(6) ("So long as this [Sub-Advisory] Agreement or any extension, renewal or amendment of this [Sub-Advisory] Agreement remains in effect, the Sub-Advisor shall be the only portfolio management sub-advisor for the Management Company."). Given that Acis LP has no employees, Highland therefore was the sole provider of these services to the CLOs and the BVK Sub-Fund.

13. For these investment advisory services, Highland received a sub-advisory fee that averaged 20 bps of the total average 40 bps Acis LP received as portfolio manager. See id. at § 2(a) and Appendix A. The sub-advisory fees were due to be paid to Highland approximately every quarter. Acis LP has not made a payment to Highland for sub-advisory services since November of 2017.

B. The Bankruptcy Cases

14. On January 30, 2018 (the "Petition Date"), Joshua N. Terry ("Terry") filed involuntary petitions (the "Involuntary Petitions") for relief under Chapter 7, Title 11 of the United States Code (the "Bankruptcy Code") against Acis LP and Acis Capital Management GP, LLC (the "Debtors").

15. The Debtors filed answers to the Involuntary Petitions and moved to dismiss the petitions, asserting among other defenses that the Court lacked subject matter jurisdiction.

16. A five-day contested trial on the Involuntary Petitions was held in late March 2018. On April 13, 2018, the Court entered orders for relief (the "Orders for Relief"). Diane Reed was thereafter appointed as the Chapter 7 trustee (the "Chapter 7 Trustee").

17. On April 17, 2018, the Chapter 7 Trustee filed her Expedited Motion to Operate the Debtors' Business in Chapter 7 [Doc. No. 127] (the "Motion to Operate"). By the Motion to Operate, the Chapter 7 Trustee determined there was "an immediate need to obtain authorization to continue the business operations of the Debtors by the [Chapter 7] Trustee continuing Acis LP's performance of the Sub-Advisory Agreement and the Shared Services Agreement." Motion to Operate at ¶ 5.

18. During this time period, HCLOF evaluated the situation and determined that having a bankrupt portfolio manager was an untenable situation. HCLOF therefore decided to take action related to redeeming the CLOs. Accordingly, on April 30, 2018, HCLOF instructed the Indenture Trustee and Acis LP to initiate an optional redemption (the "Optional Redemption Notices"). Pursuant to the terms of the Indentures, there was a 45-day notice period prior to the occurrence of the redemption. Thus, the redemption was scheduled to occur on June 14, 2018.

19. Highland, which had related responsibilities as sub-manager, was well-aware of the timeline related to the Optional Redemption Notices and was operating under the assumption that the Debtors would no longer be operating as of June 14, 2018. As such, on May 3, 2018, Highland filed its Motion of Highland Capital Management, L.P. for Order Compelling Chapter 7 Trustee to Reject Certain Executory Contracts [Doc. No. 169] ("Motion to Reject"). By the Motion to Reject, Highland sought an order compelling the Debtors to reject the Contracts. Highland's intention was to file the Motion to Reject on a timeline such that any order granting the Motion to Reject would be on or about the same time as the optional redemption on June 14, 2018.

20. On May 4, 2018, the Chapter 7 trustee filed an Expedited Motion to Convert Cases to Chapter 11 [Doc. No. 171] (the "Motion to Convert"). Also on May 4, 2018, Terry filed an Emergency Motion for an Order Appointing Trustee for the Chapter 11 Estates of Acis Capital Management, L.P. and Acis Capital Management GP, LLC Pursuant to Bankruptcy Code Section 1104(a) [Doc. No. 173] (the "Motion to Appoint Chapter 11 Trustee").

21. On May 6, 2018, following an expedited hearing on the matter, the Court entered an order granting the Motion to Operate [Doc. No. 178] (the "Operation Order").[2] The Operation Order authorized the Chapter 7 Trustee to operate the Debtors, explicitly pursuant to the terms of the Contracts with Highland. The Operations Order did not contemplate long-term operations of the Debtors as illustrated by the fact that the Court set a further status conference for June 25, 2018 to "consider the status of the cases and any modifications to the relief granted" in the Operations Order. See Operations Order at p. 3.

22. Thereafter, on May 11, 2018, after a hearing on the matter, the Court entered orders granting the Motion to Convert [Doc. No. 205] and the Motion to Appoint Chapter 11 Trustee [Doc. No. 206]. On May 17, 2018, the Court entered an order granting appointment of Robin Phelan as Chapter 11 Trustee (the "Chapter 11 Trustee").

23. The Chapter 11 Trustee refused to authorize the process to allow Highland, as sub-manager, to take the actions necessary to effectuate the noticed optional redemptions. The Chapter 11 Trustee, Highland, and HCLOF exchanged a number of letters related to that issue in late May 2018.

[2] The Operations Order was preceded by an interim order entered by the Court on April 18, 2018 [Doc. No. 130] pending a hearing on the Motion to Operate.

24. On May 24, 2018, the Chapter 11 Trustee filed his Objection to the Motion of Highland Capital Management, L.P. for Order Compelling Chapter 7 Trustee to Reject Certain Executory Contracts and Request for Expedited Hearing [Doc. 237] ("Trustee's Objection"). By the Trustee's Objection, the Chapter 11 Trustee argued that rejection of the Contracts was premature, given the conversion of the cases to Chapter 11. The Chapter 11 Trustee made clear his intention to continue to bind Highland to the terms of the Contracts, and to enjoy the services provided by Highland that made Acis LP's operations possible.

25. On May 31, 2018, the Court held a status conference and entered a sua sponte temporary restraining order (the "TRO") staying the optional redemption process. In recognition of this fact, HCLOF subsequently withdrew the Optional Redemption Notices.

26. On June 11, 2018, Highland filed a withdrawal [Doc. No. 273] of its Motion to Reject. The conversion of the case and the entry of the TRO made it perfectly clear that the Debtors' business would continue to operate past the late June time period Highland originally contemplated when it filed the Motion to Reject. Thus, Highland continued to perform the sub-advisory and shared services it provided the Debtors pre-petition, throughout the involuntary, and post-petition pursuant to the terms of the Contracts.

27. On July 30, 2018, less than a month after the Chapter 11 Trustee complained about Highland's attempts to free itself of the obligations under the Contracts, the Chapter 11 Trustee filed his Emergency Motion to Approve Replacement Sub-Advisory and Shared Services Providers, Brigade Capital Management, LP and Cortland Capital Markets Services LLC [Doc. No. 448] (the "Replacement Motion"). By the Replacement Motion, the Chapter 11 Trustee sought to replace Highland with Brigade Capital Management, LP ("Brigade") based on vague allegations by the Chapter 11 Trustee that Highland was "mismanaging" and "overcharging" the Debtors.

28. The Court held a hearing on the Replacement Motion on August 1, 2018. At the hearing, counsel for the Chapter 11 Trustee stated that the issue of mismanagement was "not the issue" for the hearing and reserved rights.[3] Rather, the issue related solely to whether the Chapter 11 Trustee's business judgment supported the relief sought in the Replacement Motion. As such, the Court never took up the mismanagement issue.

29. On August 1, 2018, the Court entered an order [Doc. 464] granting the Chapter 11 Trustee's Replacement Motion, thereby replacing Highland with Brigade Capital Management, LP as service provider to Acis LP. Highland provided transitional services through August 2, 2018.

C. Highland's Post-Petition Services Under the Contracts

30. Highland provided Acis LP with uninterrupted services during three legally-distinct time periods: (i) the period prior to the filing of the Involuntary Petitions; (ii) the "gap" period between the filing of Involuntary Petitions and the entry of the Orders for Relief; and (iii) the post-petition period following the entry of the Orders for Relief until Highland's replacement on August 2, 2018 (the "Post-Petition Period"). Highland has filed a proof of claim asserting its pre-petition unsecured claim and its priority gap claim pursuant to Bankruptcy Code section 507(a)(3).[4] This Application seeks an administrative expense claim relating solely to the Post-Petition Period and Highland reserves all rights related to any other period.

[3] See Hr'g Tr (Aug. 1, 2018) at 154:17-24 (MS. PATEL: "And with respect to these – to issues surrounding mismanagement, et cetera, as I said sort of at the opportunity to cross-examine Mr. Covitz, it's just not an issue today. That's why we would want to reserve our rights at a later date to the extent that that is an actual material issue in dispute. That's when that needs to be brought up, but that's it. We reserve our rights, Your Honor. It's just not an issue for today. Thank you."

[4] See Proof of Claim [No. 27] filed on August 1, 2018 (the "Proof of Claim") whereby Highland asserts an unsecured claim in the amount of $4,672,140.38, constituting $2,622,576.03 for the pre-petition period and

RELIEF REQUESTED

31. By this Application, Highland seeks allowance of an administrative expense claim for services rendered under the Contracts during the Post-Petition Period. The total accrued amount for such services is $3,554,224.29, as set forth in the summary attached hereto as Exhibit D, composed of $3,007,678.41 for sub-servicing and sub-advisory fees and $543,545.88 for expenses.

32. Section 503(b) provides for an administrative expense claim for "the actual, necessary costs and expenses of preserving the estate" as well as "the actual, necessary expenses" incurred by a creditor "in making a substantial contribution" in a Chapter 11 case. See 11 U.S.C. §§ 503(b)(1); see also In re ASARCO, LLC, 650 F.3d 593, 601 (5th Cir. 2011) (providing that administrative expense claims under 503 "generally stem from voluntary transactions with third parties who lend goods or services necessary to the successful reorganization of the debtor's estate.") (internal citation omitted). "A prima facie case under section 503(b)(1) may be established by evidence that (1) the claim arises from a transaction with the [debtor]; and (2) the goods or services supplied enhanced the ability of the [debtor's] business to function as a going concern." Matter of TransAmerican Natural Gas Corp., 978 F.2d 1409, 1416 (5th Cir. 1992). The burden then shifts to the objector to put on sufficient evidence to rebut the movant's prima facie case. Id. Mere allegations, unsupported by evidence, are insufficient to rebut the movant's prima face case. Id.

33. It is undisputed that Highland provided services under the Contracts during the Post-Petition Period and that Highland has not been paid for such services. Because Acis LP has no employees, it is self-evident that Highland's services benefited the estates because, absent such services, Acis LP would have been completely incapable of operating. In addition, while the Chapter 11 Trustee apparently has furthered a theory that Highland overcharged the Debtors (despite the fact that the terms of the Contracts are not in dispute), the Chapter 11 Trustee is required to provide evidence, not simply allegations, to rebut the prima facie case that Highland is entitled to an administrative expense claim. To date, the Chapter 11 Trustee has provided no such evidence. Rather, the Contracts speak for themselves and are the best evidence of the validity of the claim asserted by Highland.

$2,049,564.35 for the gap period. In the Proof of Claim, Highland specifically reserves its right to seek an administrative expense claim, and also related to contingent claims for indemnification pursuant to Section 6.03 of the Shared Services Agreement and Section 4(c) of the Sub-Advisory Agreement. See id. at Proof of Claim Exhibit A.

34. In addition, Highland reserves all indemnity rights against the Debtors pursuant to section 6.03 of the Shared Services Agreement and section 4(c) of the Sub-Advisory Agreement. This includes, but is not limited to, in relation to the thirty-for (34) causes of action (the "Causes of Action") asserted against Highland by the Chapter 11 Trustee in the Amended Answer, Counterclaims (Including Claims Objections) and Third Party Claims filed by the Chapter 11 Trustee on November 13, 2018 in Adversary Proceeding No. 18-03078 [Adv. Proc. Doc. No. 84]. Many – if not all – of such Causes of Action appear to arguably fall within the coverage of the applicable indemnity provisions of the Contracts.

WHEREFORE, Highland respectfully requests that the Court enter an order: (i) awarding it an administrative expense claim at least in the amount of $3,554,224.29; (ii) awarding an administrative expense for any indemnity claims payable to Highland under the Contracts; and (iii) providing any such other relief the Court deems just and proper.

What will be in the new case to confirm? Probably the entire detail of the award.

When: Monday, November 6.

When will Terry file the award? November 13.

Next steps: Highland files a notice of related case; moves to transfer the new case to the current case at the 162nd.

How long until Terry confirms: Depends. If the new case and the pending case are combined, then at least a year. If the new case stays separate, then within 4 months.

Upon confirmation: ACM/GP files a notice of appeal; posts a bond for 50% of net worth, which delays collection.

Collection: Must collect where the bank accounts are located; Delaware. If not assets in Delaware, then chase in Cayman. Will be multiple years to collect.

Other issues: SEC may investigate, statements to the media. Potentially a separate claim against ALF for Terry's 401K monies. File suit against NexBank. Highland's employment claims against Terry.

I just spoke to Rogge, he confirmed intend of new filing in TX state district court. He said he is inclined to file it separately even if we add ACM/ACM GP (as he is trying to avoid getting it dragged into HCM/Terry disputes, which will delay entry). He will also want to try and take a victory lap based their spin of the result.

I am generally available this afternoon to discuss.

My inclination is to force it into the same case in the first instance. Please let me know if you are available to discuss this afternoon. I am going try to get Scott on the phone as well.

Adding ACM/ACM GP to the current case makes transfer/consolidation more likely, and also aids in delaying entry of a judgment on the award pending resolution of the remaining HCM/Terry claims. He may still file separately, but would behooved to plead a motion to enforce in that case as opposed to initiating a new action and avoid cost, expense, and delay associated with serving the suit and litigating the transfer. He may try and file the Petition in County Court at Law to get a friendlier draw, but that should not affect the transfer/consolidation motion practice. He could also try and file in federal court, but state district remains the most likely venue and that is what Rogge was contemplating when we spoke earlier in the week. I can reach out to him again today to see if he is agreeable to filing in the 162nd after we plead ACM/ACM GP into the case.

Only downside to adding ACM/ACM GP is it speeds up service.

Is there a way/reason why we would want to add ACM/GP to the current matter to make him file in the current case? I think that would be my preference so there is not a new matter that shows up on docket alerts.

When we spoke to him earlier in the week, it was going to be state district court in Dallas. Since ACM/ACM GP are not parties to HCM's pending suit at the moment, it will most likely be a new filing and we will have to try and get it transferred to the 162nd for consolidation w/ HCM suit.

Terry intends to file a Petition to Enforce the Award on Monday. It will not attach the Award at that time, but you should expect it to be a hit piece regardless.

To comply with the procedures in 6.12 of the LPA, he has also provided written notice that he will file the award on 11/13.

Hi Hunter – sorry I missed you yesterday, but just had so much going on that I could not make it to the conference.

As you probably know, Scott Ellington reached out to post us on the arbitration ruling related to Josh Terry. We will need to do a follow-on diligence call to get more details on that, and the potential transfer of management contracts from ACIS to affiliates that was referenced in the engagement letter .

Could you let me know if there are some times on Monday afternoon/evening or Tuesday that work for the team on your end?

Thanks,

Amit

Hello Amit, please see our Engagement Letter comments. As discussed today, alongside closing the refinancing of the Notes of the three CLOs we have discussed (Acis 14-3/Acis 14-4/Acis 14-5), we plan to

- Change the manager of each CLO from Acis Capital Management, LP to another affiliated registered investment advisor, likely Highland Capital Management, LP.
- Change the Issuer names to correspond to the manager change
- Change the ticker on the Notes to correspond to the manager change

We did remove "Highland" from some of the language in Section 15 but we feel Highland is covered by either the references to the Portfolio Manager and/or the description of "affiliates" of the Portfolio Manager within Section 15.

Let us know if you have any questions. I have cc'd our internal counsel (Tim Cournoyer) and CCO (Thomas Surgent) on the email.

Thank you,
Hunter

EXECUTION VERSION

AMENDMENT
TO
AMENDED AND RESTATED AGREEMENT OF LIMITED PARTNERSHIP
OF ACIS CAPITAL MANAGEMENT, L.P.

THIS AMENDMENT (this "Amendment") to the Amended and Restated Agreement of Limited Partnership, dated effective as of January 21, 2011 (the "Amended and Restated LPA"), of Acis Capital Management, L.P., a Delaware limited partnership (the "Partnership"), is entered into to be effective as of July 1, 2016 (the "Effective Date") by Acis Capital Management GP, LLC, a Delaware corporation (the "General Partner") as the General Partner of the Partnership. Capitalized terms used but not defined in this Amendment shall have the meanings set forth in the Amended and Restated LPA.

WHEREAS, the General Partner desires to amend the Amended and Restated LPA pursuant to the authority granted under Section 6.01 of the Amended and Restated LPA; and

WHEREAS, each of the current Limited Partners of the Partnership are joining in the execution and delivery of this Amendment for the purpose of consenting to this Amendment in accordance with Section 6.01 of the Amended and Restated LPA.

NOW, THEREFORE, the General Partner hereby amends the Amended and Restated LPA as follows:

1. The definition of "Founding Partner Group" that is set forth in Section 2.01 of the Amended and Restated LPA is hereby amended and replaced in its entirety to read as follows:

> "Founding Partner Group" means, collectively, Acis Capital Management GP, LLC, The Dugaboy Investment Trust, Mark K. Okada and Joshua N. Terry; provided, however, that the definition will not include any Limited Partner that has experienced a Removal Event as defined herein or any General Partner that has withdrawn pursuant to this Agreement.

2. Exhibit A of the Amended and Restated LPA is hereby amended and replaced in its entirety with Exhibit A attached hereto.

3. Except as modified hereby, the Amended and Restated LPA shall remain in full force and effect and this Amendment shall be binding upon the parties thereto and their respective successors and assigns. If any inconsistency exists or arises between the terms of this Amendment and the terms of the Amended and Restated LPA, this Amendment shall prevail.

4. This Amendment may be executed in counterparts, all of which together shall constitute one agreement binding on all the parties hereto, notwithstanding that all such parties are not signatories to the original or the same counterpart.

5. Subject to Section 6.12 of the Amended and Restated LPA, as amended, restated, modified or supplemented from time to time, and which is incorporated herein by reference as so amended, restated modified or supplemented from time to time, this Amendment shall be construed in accordance with and governed by the laws of the State of Delaware, without regard to the principles of conflicts of law.

Master Repurchase Agreement

September 1996 Version

Dated as of January 26, 2018

Between: NWCC, LLC

And HIGHLAND CLO MANAGEMENT, LLC

1. Applicability

From time to time the parties hereto may enter into transactions in which one party ("Seller") agrees to transfer to the other ("Buyer") securities or other assets ("Securities") against the transfer of funds by Buyer, with a simultaneous agreement by Buyer to transfer to Seller such Securities at a date certain or on demand, against the transfer of funds by Seller. Each such transaction shall be referred to herein as a "Transaction" and, unless otherwise agreed in writing, shall be governed by this Agreement, including any supplemental terms or conditions contained in Annex I hereto and in any other annexes identified herein or therein as applicable hereunder.

2. Definitions

(a) "Act of Insolvency", with respect to any party, (i) the commencement by such party as debtor of any case or proceeding under any bankruptcy, insolvency, reorganization, liquidation, moratorium, dissolution, delinquency or similar law, or such party seeking the appointment or election of a receiver, conservator, trustee, custodian or similar official for such party or any substantial part of its property, or the convening of any meeting of creditors for purposes of commencing any such case or proceeding or seeking such an appointment or election, (ii) the commencement of any such case or proceeding against such party, or another seeking such an appointment or election, or the filing against a party of an application for a protective decree under the provisions of the Securities Investor Protection Act of 1970, which (A) is consented to or not timely contested by such party, (B) results in the entry of an order for relief, such an appointment or election, the issuance of such a protective decree or the entry of an order having a similar effect, or (C) is not dismissed within 15 days, (iii) the making by such party of a general assignment for the benefit of creditors, or (iv) the admission in writing by such party of such party's inability to pay such party's debts as they become due;

(b) "Additional Purchased Securities", Securities provided by Seller to Buyer pursuant to Paragraph 4(a) hereof;

(c) "Buyer's Margin Amount", with respect to any Transaction as of any date, the amount obtained by application of the Buyer's Margin Percentage to the Repurchase Price for such Transaction as of such date;

(d) "Buyer's Margin Percentage", with respect to any Transaction as of any date, a percentage (which may be equal to the Seller's Margin Percentage) agreed to by Buyer and Seller or, in the absence of any such agreement, the percentage obtained by dividing the Market Value of the Purchased Securities on the Purchase Date by the Purchase Price on the Purchase Date for such Transaction;

(e) "Confirmation", the meaning specified in Paragraph 3(b) hereof;

(f) "Income", with respect to any Security at any time, any principal thereof and all interest, dividends or other distributions thereon;

(g) "Margin Deficit", the meaning specified in Paragraph 4(a) hereof;

(h) "Margin Excess", the meaning specified in Paragraph 4(b) hereof;

(i) "Margin Notice Deadline", the time agreed to by the parties in the relevant Confirmation, Annex I hereto or otherwise as the deadline for giving notice requiring same-day satisfaction of margin maintenance obligations as provided in Paragraph 4 hereof (or, in the absence of any such agreement, the deadline for such purposes established in accordance with market practice);

(j) "Market Value", with respect to any Securities as of any date, the price for such Securities on such date obtained from a generally recognized source agreed to by the parties or the most recent closing bid quotation from such a source, plus accrued Income to the extent not included therein (other than any Income credited or transferred to, or applied to the obligations of, Seller pursuant to Paragraph 5 hereof) as of such date (unless contrary to market practice for such Securities);

(k) "Price Differential", with respect to any Transaction as of any date, the aggregate amount obtained by daily application of the Pricing Rate for such Transaction to the Purchase Price for such Transaction on a 360 day per year basis for the actual number of days during the period commencing on (and including) the Purchase Date for such Transaction and ending on (but excluding) the date of determination (reduced by any amount of such Price Differential previously paid by Seller to Buyer with respect to such Transaction);

(l) "Pricing Rate", the per annum percentage rate for determination of the Price Differential;

(m) "Prime Rate", the prime rate of U.S. commercial banks as published in The Wall Street Journal (or, if more than one such rate is published, the average of such rates);

(n) "Purchase Date", the date on which Purchased Securities are to be transferred by Seller to Buyer;

(o) "Purchase Price", (i) on the Purchase Date, the price at which Purchased Securities are transferred by Seller to Buyer, and (ii) thereafter, except where Buyer and Seller agree otherwise, such price increased by the amount of any cash transferred by Buyer to Seller pursuant to Paragraph 4(b) hereof and decreased by the amount of any cash transferred by Seller to Buyer pursuant to Paragraph 4(a) hereof or applied to reduce Seller's obligations under clause (ii) of Paragraph 5 hereof;

(p) "Purchased Securities", the Securities transferred by Seller to Buyer in a Transaction hereunder, and any Securities substituted therefor in accordance with Paragraph 9 hereof. The term "Purchased Securities" with respect to any Transaction at any time also shall include Additional Purchased Securities delivered pursuant to Paragraph 4(a) hereof and shall exclude Securities returned pursuant to Paragraph 4(b) hereof;

(q) "Repurchase Date", the date on which Seller is to repurchase the Purchased Securities from Buyer, including any date determined by application of the provisions of Paragraph 3(c) or 11 hereof;

(r) "Repurchase Price", the price at which Purchased Securities are to be transferred from Buyer to Seller upon termination of a Transaction, which will be determined in each case (including Transactions terminable upon demand) as the sum of the Purchase

Price and the Price Differential as of the date of such determination;

(s) "Seller's Margin Amount", with respect to any Transaction as of any date, the amount obtained by application of the Seller's Margin Percentage to the Repurchase Price for such Transaction as of such date;

(t) "Seller's Margin Percentage", with respect to any Transaction as of any date, a percentage (which may be equal to the Buyer's Margin Percentage) agreed to by Buyer and Seller or, in the absence of any such agreement, the percentage obtained by dividing the Market Value of the Purchased Securities on the Purchase Date by the Purchase Price on the Purchase Date for such Transaction.

3. Initiation; Confirmation; Termination

(a) An agreement to enter into a Transaction may be made orally or in writing at the initiation of either Buyer or Seller. On the Purchase Date for the Transaction, the Purchased Securities shall be transferred to Buyer or its agent against the transfer of the Purchase Price to an account of Seller.

(b) Upon agreeing to enter into a Transaction hereunder, Buyer or Seller (or both), as shall be agreed, shall promptly deliver to the other party a written confirmation of each Transaction (a "Confirmation"). The Confirmation shall describe the Purchased Securities (including CUSIP number, if any), identify Buyer and Seller and set forth (i) the Purchase Date, (ii) the Purchase Price, (iii) the Repurchase Date, unless the Transaction is to be terminable on demand, (iv) the Pricing Rate or Repurchase Price applicable to the Transaction, and (v) any additional terms or conditions of the Transaction not inconsistent with this Agreement. The Confirmation, together with this Agreement, shall constitute conclusive evidence of the terms agreed between Buyer and Seller with respect to the Transaction to which the Confirmation relates, unless with respect to the Confirmation specific objection is made promptly after receipt thereof. In the event of any conflict between the terms of such Confirmation and this Agreement, this Agreement shall prevail.

(c) In the case of Transactions terminable upon demand, such demand shall be made by Buyer or Seller, no later than such time as is customary in accordance with market practice, by telephone or otherwise on or prior to the business day on which such termination will be effective. On the date specified in such demand, or on the date fixed for termination in the case of Transactions having a fixed term, termination of the Transaction will be effected by transfer to Seller or its agent of the Purchased Securities and any Income in respect thereof received by Buyer (and not previously credited or transferred to, or applied to the obligations of, Seller pursuant to Paragraph 5 hereof) against the transfer of the Repurchase Price to an account of Buyer.

4. Margin Maintenance

(a) If at any time the aggregate Market Value of all Purchased Securities subject to all Transactions in which a particular party hereto is acting as Buyer is less than the aggregate Buyer's Margin Amount for all such Transactions (a "Margin Deficit"), then Buyer may by notice to Seller require Seller in such Transactions, at Seller's option, to transfer to Buyer cash or additional Securities reasonably acceptable to Buyer ("Additional Purchased Securities"), so that the cash and aggregate Market Value of the Purchased Securities, including any such Additional Purchased Securities, will thereupon equal or exceed such aggregate Buyer's Margin Amount (decreased by the amount of any Margin Deficit as of such date arising from any Transactions in which such Buyer is acting as Seller).

(b) If at any time the aggregate Market Value of all Purchased Securities subject to all Transactions in which a particular party hereto is acting as Seller exceeds the aggregate Seller's Margin Amount for all such Transactions at such time (a "Margin Excess"), then Seller may by notice to Buyer require Buyer in such Transactions, at Buyer's option, to transfer cash or Purchased Securities to Seller, so that the aggregate Market Value of the Purchased Securities, after deduction of any such cash or any Purchased Securities so transferred, will thereupon not exceed such aggregate Seller's Margin Amount (increased by the amount of any Margin Excess as of such date arising from any Transactions in which such Seller is acting as Buyer).

(c) If any notice is given by Buyer or Seller under subparagraph (a) or (b) of this Paragraph at or before the Margin Notice Deadline on any business day, the party receiving such notice shall transfer cash or Additional Purchased Securities as provided in such subparagraph no later than the close of business in the relevant market on such day. If any such notice is given after the Margin Notice Deadline, the party receiving such notice shall transfer such cash or Securities no later than the close of business in the relevant market on the next business day following such notice.

(d) Any cash transferred pursuant to this Paragraph shall be attributed to such Transactions as shall be agreed upon by Buyer and Seller.

(e) Seller and Buyer may agree, with respect to any or all Transactions hereunder, that the respective rights of Buyer or Seller (or both) under subparagraphs (a) and (b) of this Paragraph may be exercised only where a Margin Deficit or Margin Excess, as the case may be, exceeds a specified dollar amount or a specified percentage of the Repurchase Prices for such Transactions (which amount or percentage shall be agreed to by Buyer and Seller prior to entering into any such Transactions).

(f) Seller and Buyer may agree, with respect to any or all Transactions hereunder, that the respective rights of Buyer and Seller under subparagraphs (a) and (b) of this Paragraph to require the elimination of a Margin Deficit or a Margin Excess, as the case may be, may be exercised whenever such a Margin Deficit or Margin Excess exists with respect to any single Transaction hereunder (calculated without regard to any other Transaction outstanding under this Agreement).

5. Income Payments

Seller shall be entitled to receive an amount equal to all Income paid or distributed on or in respect of the Securities that is not otherwise received by Seller, to the full extent it would be so entitled if the Securities had not been sold to Buyer. Buyer shall, as the parties may agree with respect to any Transaction (or, in the absence of any such agreement, as Buyer shall reasonably determine in its discretion), on the date such Income is paid or distributed either (i) transfer to or credit to the account of Seller such Income with respect to any Purchased Securities subject to such Transaction or (ii) with respect to Income paid in cash, apply the Income payment or payments to reduce the amount, if any, to be transferred to Buyer by Seller upon termination of such Transaction. Buyer shall not be obligated to take any action pursuant to the preceding sentence (A) to the extent that such action would result in the creation of a Margin Deficit, unless prior thereto or simultaneously therewith Seller transfers to Buyer cash or Additional Purchased Securities sufficient to eliminate such Margin Deficit, or (B) if an Event of Default with respect to Seller has occurred and is then continuing at the time such Income is paid or distributed.

6. Security Interest

Although the parties intend that all Transactions hereunder be sales and purchases and not loans, in the event any such Transactions are deemed to be loans, Seller shall be deemed to have pledged to Buyer as security for the performance by Seller of its obligations under each such Transaction, and shall be deemed to have granted to Buyer a security interest in, all of the Purchased Securities with respect to all Transactions hereunder and all Income thereon and other proceeds thereof.

7. Payment and Transfer

Unless otherwise mutually agreed, all transfers of funds hereunder shall be in immediately available funds. All Securities transferred by one party hereto to the other party (i) shall be in suitable form for transfer or shall be accompanied by duly executed instruments of transfer or assignment in blank and such other documentation as the party receiving possession may reasonably request, (ii) shall be transferred on the book-entry system of a Federal Reserve Bank, or (iii) shall be transferred by any other method mutually acceptable to Seller and Buyer.

8. Segregation of Purchased Securities

To the extent required by applicable law, all Purchased Securities in the possession of Seller shall be segregated from other securities in its possession and shall be identified as subject to this Agreement. Segregation may be accomplished by appropriate identification on the books and records of the holder, including a financial or securities intermediary or a clearing corporation. All of Seller's interest in the Purchased Securities shall pass to Buyer on the Purchase Date and, unless otherwise agreed by Buyer and Seller, nothing in this Agreement shall preclude Buyer from engaging in repurchase transactions with the Purchased Securities or otherwise selling, transferring, pledging or hypothecating the Purchased Securities, but no such transaction shall relieve Buyer of its obligations to transfer Purchased Securities to Seller pursuant to Paragraph 3, 4 or 11 hereof, or of Buyer's obligation to credit or pay Income to, or apply Income to the obligations of, Seller pursuant to Paragraph 5 hereof.

Required Disclosure for Transactions in Which the Seller Retains Custody of the Purchased Securities

Seller is not permitted to substitute other securities for those subject to this Agreement and therefore must keep Buyer's securities segregated at all times, unless in this Agreement Buyer grants Seller the right to substitute other securities. If Buyer grants the right to substitute, this means that Buyer's securities will likely be commingled with Seller's own securities during the trading day. Buyer is advised that, during any trading day that Buyer's securities are commingled with Seller's securities, they [will]* [may] be subject to liens granted by Seller to [its clearing bank]* [third parties] and may be used by Seller for deliveries on other securities transactions. Whenever the securities are commingled, Seller's ability to resegregate substitute securities for Buyer will be subject to Seller's ability to satisfy [the clearing]* [any] lien or to obtain substitute securities.

* Language to be used under 17 C.F.R. ß403.4(e) if Seller is a government securities broker or dealer other than a financial institution.

 Language to be used under 17 C.F.R. ß403.5(d) if Seller is a financial institution.

9. Substitution

(a) Seller may, subject to agreement with and acceptance by Buyer, substitute other Securities for any Purchased Securities. Such substitution shall be made by transfer to Buyer of such other Securities and transfer to Seller of such Purchased Securities. After substitution, the substituted Securities shall be deemed to be Purchased Securities.

(b) In Transactions in which Seller retains custody of Purchased Securities, the parties expressly agree that Buyer shall be deemed, for purposes of subparagraph (a) of this Paragraph, to have agreed to and accepted in this Agreement substitution by Seller of other Securities for Purchased Securities; provided, however, that such other Securities shall have a Market Value at least equal to the Market Value of the Purchased Securities for which they are substituted.

10. Representations

Each of Buyer and Seller represents and warrants to the other that (i) it is duly authorized to execute and deliver this Agreement, to enter into Transactions contemplated hereunder and to perform its obligations hereunder and has taken all necessary action to authorize such execution, delivery and performance, (ii) it will engage in such Transactions as principal (or, if agreed in writing, in the form of an annex hereto or otherwise, in advance of any Transaction by the other party hereto, as agent for a disclosed principal), (iii) the person signing this Agreement on its behalf is duly authorized to do so on its behalf (or on behalf of any such disclosed principal), (iv) it has obtained all authorizations of any governmental body required in connection with this Agreement and the Transactions hereunder and such authorizations are in full force and effect and (v) the execution, delivery and performance of this Agreement and the Transactions hereunder will not violate any law, ordinance, charter, bylaw or rule applicable to it or any agreement by which it is bound or by which any of its assets are affected. On the Purchase Date for any Transaction Buyer and Seller shall each be deemed to repeat all the foregoing representations made by it.

11. Events of Default

In the event that (i) Seller fails to transfer or Buyer fails to purchase Purchased Securities upon the applicable Purchase Date, (ii) Seller fails to repurchase or Buyer fails to transfer Purchased Securities upon the applicable Repurchase Date, (iii) Seller or Buyer fails to comply with Paragraph 4 hereof, (iv) Buyer fails, after one business day's notice, to comply with Paragraph 5 hereof, (v) an Act of Insolvency occurs with respect to Seller or Buyer, (vi) any representation made by Seller or Buyer shall have been incorrect or untrue in any material respect when made or repeated or deemed to have been made or repeated, or (vii) Seller or Buyer shall admit to the other its inability to, or its intention not to, perform any of its obligations hereunder (each an "Event of Default"):

(a) The nondefaulting party may, at its option (which option shall be deemed to have been exercised immediately upon the occurrence of an Act of Insolvency), declare an Event of Default to have occurred hereunder and, upon the exercise or deemed exercise of such option, the Repurchase Date for each Transaction hereunder shall, if it has not already occurred, be deemed immediately to occur (except that, in the event that the Purchase Date for any Transaction has not yet occurred as of the date of such exercise or deemed exercise, such Transaction shall be deemed immediately canceled). The nondefaulting party shall (except upon the occurrence of an Act of Insolvency) give notice to the defaulting party of the exercise of such option as promptly as practicable.

(b) In all Transactions in which the defaulting party is acting as Seller, if the nondefaulting party exercises or is deemed to have exercised the option referred to in subparagraph (a) of this Paragraph, (i) the defaulting party's obligations in such Transactions to repurchase all Purchased Securities, at the Repurchase Price therefor on the Repurchase Date determined in accordance with subparagraph (a) of this Paragraph, shall thereupon become immediately due and payable, (ii) all Income paid after such exercise or deemed exercise shall be retained by the nondefaulting party and applied to the aggregate unpaid Repurchase Prices and any other amounts owing by the defaulting party hereunder, and (iii) the defaulting party shall immediately deliver to the nondefaulting party any Purchased Securities subject to such Transactions then in the defaulting party's possession or control.

(c) In all Transactions in which the defaulting party is acting as Buyer, upon tender by the nondefaulting party of payment of the aggregate Repurchase Prices for all such Transactions, all right, title and interest in and entitlement to all Purchased Securities subject to such Transactions shall be deemed transferred to the nondefaulting party, and the defaulting party shall deliver all such Purchased Securities to the nondefaulting party.

(d) If the nondefaulting party exercises or is deemed to have exercised the option referred to in subparagraph (a) of this Paragraph, the nondefaulting party, without prior notice to the defaulting party, may:

(i) as to Transactions in which the defaulting party is acting as Seller, (A) immediately sell, in a recognized market (or otherwise in a commercially reasonable manner) at such price or prices as the nondefaulting party may reasonably deem satisfactory, any or all Purchased Securities subject to such Transactions and apply the proceeds thereof to the aggregate unpaid Repurchase Prices and any other amounts owing by the defaulting party hereunder or (B) in its sole discretion elect, in lieu of selling all or a portion of such Purchased Securities, to give the defaulting party credit for such Purchased Securities in an amount equal to the price therefor on such date, obtained from a generally recognized source or the most recent closing bid quotation from such a source, against the aggregate unpaid Repurchase Prices and any other amounts owing by the defaulting party hereunder; and

(ii) as to Transactions in which the defaulting party is acting as Buyer, (A) immediately purchase, in a recognized market (or otherwise in a commercially reasonable manner) at such price or prices as the nondefaulting party may reasonably deem satisfactory, securities ("Replacement Securities") of the same class and amount as any Purchased Securities that are not delivered by the defaulting party to the nondefaulting party as required hereunder or (B) in its sole discretion elect, in lieu of purchasing Replacement Securities, to be deemed to have purchased Replacement Securities at the price therefor on such date, obtained from a generally recognized source or the most recent closing offer quotation from such a source.

Unless otherwise provided in Annex I, the parties acknowledge and agree that (1) the Securities subject to any Transaction hereunder are instruments traded in a recognized market, (2) in the absence of a generally recognized source for prices or bid or offer quotations for any Security, the nondefaulting party may establish the source therefor in its sole discretion and (3) all prices, bids and offers shall be determined together with accrued Income (except to the extent contrary to market practice with respect to the relevant Securities).

(e) As to Transactions in which the defaulting party is acting as Buyer, the defaulting party shall be liable to the nondefaulting party for any excess of the price paid (or deemed paid) by the nondefaulting party for Replacement Securities over the Repurchase Price for the Purchased Securities replaced thereby and for any amounts payable by the defaulting party under Paragraph 5 hereof or otherwise hereunder.

(f) For purposes of this Paragraph 11, the Repurchase Price for each Transaction hereunder in respect of which the defaulting party is acting as Buyer shall not increase above the amount of such Repurchase Price for such Transaction determined as of the date of the exercise or deemed exercise by the nondefaulting party of the option referred to in subparagraph (a) of this Paragraph.

(g) The defaulting party shall be liable to the nondefaulting party for (i) the amount of all reasonable legal or other expenses incurred by the nondefaulting party in connection with or as a result of an Event of Default, (ii) damages in an amount equal to the cost (including all fees, expenses and commissions) of entering into replacement transactions and entering into or terminating hedge transactions in connection with or as a result of an Event of Default, and (iii) any other loss, damage, cost or expense directly arising or resulting from the occurrence of an Event of Default in respect of a Transaction.

(h) To the extent permitted by applicable law, the defaulting party shall be liable to the nondefaulting party for interest on any amounts owing by the defaulting party hereunder, from the date the defaulting party becomes liable for such amounts hereunder until such amounts are (i) paid in full by the defaulting party or (ii) satisfied in full by the exercise of the nondefaulting party's rights hereunder. Interest on any sum payable by the defaulting party to the nondefaulting party under this Paragraph 11(h) shall be at a rate equal to the greater of the Pricing Rate for the relevant Transaction or the Prime Rate.

(i) The nondefaulting party shall have, in addition to its rights hereunder, any rights otherwise available to it under any other agreement or applicable law.

12. Single Agreement

Buyer and Seller acknowledge that, and have entered hereinto and will enter into each Transaction hereunder in consideration of and in reliance upon the fact that, all Transactions hereunder constitute a single business and contractual relationship and have been made in consideration of each other. Accordingly, each of Buyer and Seller agrees (i) to perform all of its obligations in respect of each Transaction hereunder, and that a default in the performance of any such obligations shall constitute a default by it in respect of all Transactions hereunder, (ii) that each of them shall be entitled to set off claims and apply property held by them in respect of any Transaction against obligations owing to them in respect of any other Transactions hereunder and (iii) that payments, deliveries and other transfers made by either of them in respect of any Transaction shall be deemed to have been made in consideration of payments, deliveries and other transfers in respect of any other Transactions hereunder, and the obligations to make any such payments, deliveries and other transfers may be applied against each other and netted.

13. Notices and Other Communications

Any and all notices, statements, demands or other communications hereunder may be given by a party to the other by mail, facsimile, telegraph, messenger or otherwise to the address specified in Annex II hereto, or so sent to such party at any other place specified in a notice of change of address hereafter received by the other. All notices, demands and requests hereunder may be made orally, to be confirmed promptly in writing, or by other communication as specified in the preceding sentence.

14. Entire Agreement; Severability

This Agreement shall supersede any existing agreements between the parties containing general terms and conditions for repurchase transactions. Each provision and agreement herein shall be treated as separate and independent from any other provision or agreement herein and shall be enforceable notwithstanding the unenforceability of any such other provision or agreement.

15. Non-assignability; Termination

(a) The rights and obligations of the parties under this Agreement and under any Transaction shall not be assigned by either party without the prior written consent of the other party, and any such assignment without the prior written consent of the other party shall be null and void. Subject to the foregoing, this Agreement and any Transactions shall be binding upon and shall inure to the benefit of the parties and their respective successors and assigns. This Agreement may be terminated by either party upon giving written notice to the other, except that this Agreement shall, notwithstanding such notice, remain applicable to any Transactions then outstanding.

(b) Subparagraph (a) of this Paragraph 15 shall not preclude a party from assigning, charging or otherwise dealing with all or any part of its interest in any sum payable to it under Paragraph 11 hereof.

16. Governing Law

This Agreement shall be governed by the laws of the State of New York without giving effect to the conflict of law principles thereof.

17. No Waivers, Etc.

No express or implied waiver of any Event of Default by either party shall constitute a waiver of any other Event of Default and no exercise of any remedy hereunder by any party shall constitute a waiver of its right to exercise any other remedy hereunder. No modification or waiver of any provision of this Agreement and no consent by any party to a departure herefrom shall be effective unless and until such shall be in writing and duly executed by both of the parties hereto. Without limitation on any of the foregoing, the failure to give a notice pursuant to Paragraph 4(a) or 4(b) hereof will not constitute a waiver of any right to do so at a later date.

18. Use of Employee Plan Assets

(a) If assets of an employee benefit plan subject to any provision of the Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974 ("ERISA") are intended to be used by either party hereto (the "Plan Party") in a Transaction, the Plan Party shall so notify the other party prior to the Transaction. The Plan Party shall represent in writing to the other party that the Transaction does not constitute a prohibited transaction under ERISA or is otherwise exempt therefrom, and the other party may proceed in reliance thereon but shall not be required so to proceed.

(b) Subject to the last sentence of subparagraph (a) of this Paragraph, any such Transaction shall proceed only if Seller furnishes or has furnished to Buyer its most recent available audited statement of its financial condition and its most recent subsequent unaudited statement of its financial condition.

(c) By entering into a Transaction pursuant to this Paragraph, Seller shall be deemed (i) to represent to Buyer that since the date of Seller's latest such financial statements, there has been no material adverse change in Seller's financial condition which Seller has not disclosed to Buyer, and (ii) to agree to provide Buyer with future audited and unaudited statements of its financial condition as they are issued, so long as it is a Seller in any outstanding Transaction involving a Plan Party.

19. Intent

(a) The parties recognize that each Transaction is a "repurchase agreement" as that term is defined in Section 101 of Title 11 of the United States Code, as amended (except insofar as the type of Securities subject to such Transaction or the term of such Transaction would render such definition inapplicable), and a "securities contract" as that term is defined in Section 741 of Title 11 of the United States Code, as amended (except insofar as the type of assets subject to such Transaction would render such definition inapplicable).

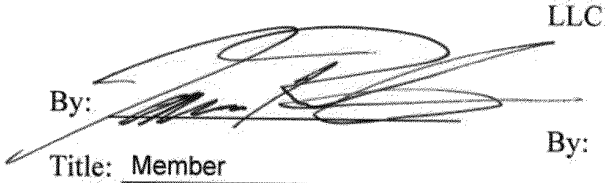
(b) It is understood that either party's right to liquidate Securities delivered to it in connection with Transactions hereunder or to exercise any other remedies pursuant to Paragraph 11 hereof is a contractual right to liquidate such Transaction as described in Sections 555 and 559 of Title 11 of the United States Code, as amended.

(c) The parties agree and acknowledge that if a party hereto is an "insured depository institution," as such term is defined in the Federal Deposit Insurance Act, as amended ("FDIA"), then each Transaction hereunder is a "qualified financial contract," as that term is defined in FDIA and any rules, orders or policy statements thereunder (except insofar as the type of assets subject to such Transaction would render such definition inapplicable).

(d) It is understood that this Agreement constitutes a "netting contract" as defined in and subject to Title IV of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation Improvement Act of 1991 ("FDICIA") and each payment entitlement and payment obligation under any Transaction hereunder shall constitute a "covered contractual payment entitlement" or "covered contractual payment obligation", respectively, as defined in and subject to FDICIA (except insofar as one or both of the parties is not a "financial institution" as that term is defined in FDICIA).

20. Disclosure Relating to Certain Federal Protections

The parties acknowledge that they have been advised that:



(a) in the case of Transactions in which one of the parties is a broker or dealer registered with the Securities and Exchange Commission ("SEC") under Section 15 of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934

("1934 Act"), the Securities Investor Protection Corporation has taken the position that the provisions of the Securities Investor Protection Act of 1970 ("SIPA") do not protect the other party with respect to any Transaction hereunder;

(b) in the case of Transactions in which one of the parties is a government securities broker or a government securities dealer registered with the SEC under Section 15C of the 1934 Act, SIPA will not provide protection to the other party with respect to any Transaction hereunder; and

(c) in the case of Transactions in which one of the parties is a financial institution, funds held by the financial institution pursuant to a Transaction hereunder are not a deposit and therefore are not insured by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation or the National Credit Union Share Insurance Fund, as applicable.

Execution Version

ANNEX I
SUPPLEMENTAL TERMS AND CONDITIONS

This Annex I forms a part of the Master Repurchase Agreement, dated as of January 26, 2018 (the "Master Agreement"), between NWCC, LLC (the "Buyer") and HIGHLAND CLO MANAGEMENT, LLC (the "Seller"). Capitalized terms used but not defined in this Annex I shall have the meanings ascribed to them in the Master Agreement.

1. Applicable Annexes. In addition to this Annex I and Annex II, the following Annexes and any applicable Schedules thereto shall form part of the Master Agreement and shall be applicable thereunder:

   Annex III (Form of Conforming Transaction Master Confirmation).

2. Definitions.

   (a) The definition of "Act of Insolvency" in Paragraph 2(a) of the Master Agreement is hereby amended by (i) deleting the following words in clause (i): "or the convening of any meeting of creditors for purposes of commencing any such case or proceeding or seeking such an appointment or election" and (ii) replacing the words "15 days" in clause (ii)(C) thereof with the words "90 days".

   (b) "Conforming Transaction" means any Transaction that satisfies each of the following criteria:

      (i) such Transaction shall be evidenced by a written transaction supplement substantially in the form attached as Schedule B to Annex III to the Master Agreement (each, a "Conforming Transaction Supplement") and a written Master Confirmation substantially in the form attached to the Master Agreement as Annex III (the "Conforming Transaction Master Confirmation"; the Conforming Transaction Master Confirmation together with the Conforming Transaction Supplement in respect of any Conforming Transaction shall be referred to herein as the "Conforming Transaction Confirmation" in respect of such Conforming Transaction); provided, for the avoidance of doubt, that each Conforming Transaction Confirmation shall constitute a Confirmation for purposes of the Master Agreement;

      (ii) (A) the Purchase Price for all Purchased Securities subject to such Transaction shall equal the sum of the Purchase Prices attributable to each class of such Purchased Securities and (B) the Purchase Price for each class of such Purchased Securities shall equal the Market Value (as defined in the Conforming Transaction Master Confirmation) of such class of Purchased Securities as of the related Purchase Date (it being understood and agreed that if the Purchase Price specified in any Conforming Transaction Supplement does not reflect the methodology set forth in this clause (ii), the Buyer and the Seller shall cooperate with each other in good faith to amend such Conforming Transaction Supplement to ensure that the Purchase Price specified therein reflects the methodology set forth in this clause (ii)); and

(iii) the Scheduled Repurchase Date for such Transaction shall be the latest final maturity date of the Purchased Securities subject to such Transaction (it being understood and agreed that if the Scheduled Repurchase Date specified in the Conforming Transaction Supplement for such Transaction is not the latest final maturity date of the Purchased Securities subject to such Transaction, the Buyer and the Seller shall cooperate with each other in good faith to amend such Conforming Transaction Supplement to ensure that the Scheduled Repurchase Date specified is the latest final maturity date of the Purchased Securities subject to such Transaction).

(c) "Margin Notice Deadline", the deadline for giving notice, referenced in Paragraph 2(i) of the Master Agreement, shall be 10:00 a.m. (New York time) and such notice shall be made in writing.

(d) "Maximum Facility Amount" means $100,000,000 (or such other amount as may be agreed to by the Buyer and the Seller from time to time).

(e) "Retention Period" means, with respect to any Conforming Transaction and the related Purchased Securities, the period from (and including) the Purchase Date of such Conforming Transaction to (but excluding) the date on which the Seller and, if the Seller is not the "sponsor" of the related "securitization transaction" (as such terms are defined in the Risk Retention Requirements), pursuant to which such Purchased Securities were issued, such "sponsor" is no longer required pursuant to any applicable Risk Retention Requirements to hold the Purchased Securities.

(f) "Risk Retention Requirements" means the requirements of Section 941 of The Dodd-Frank Wall Street Reform and Consumer Protection Act of 2010, as amended, and the rules and regulations thereunder, or any successor law, rules or regulations.

3. Events of Default.

(a) The introductory paragraph of Paragraph 11 of the Master Agreement is hereby amended and restated in its entirety as follows:

"In the event that (i) Seller fails to transfer or the Buyer fails to purchase Purchased Securities upon the applicable Purchase Date, (ii) the Seller fails to repurchase or the Buyer fails to transfer Purchased Securities upon the applicable Repurchase Date and, in either case, such failure is not remedied within three (3) Business Days after written notice of such failure is given to such party, (iii) the Seller or the Buyer fails to comply with Paragraph 4 hereof, subject to a three (3) Business Day grace period after written notice of such failure is given to such party, (iv) the Buyer fails, after three (3) Business Days' written notice, to comply with Paragraph 5 hereof, (v) an Act of Insolvency occurs with respect to the Seller or the Buyer, (vi) any written representation made by the Seller or the Buyer fails to be correct or true in any material respect when made or repeated, such failure materially and adversely affects the party to whom such representation is made or repeated, and such failure is not remedied within thirty (30) days after written notice of such failure is given by such party that is materially and adversely affected to the party making such representation, or (vii) the Seller or the Buyer shall admit to the other its inability to, or its intention not to, perform any of its obligations hereunder (each an "Event of Default");"

(b) Notwithstanding any provision of the Master Agreement to the contrary, during the Retention Period, the Buyer may not sell, foreclose upon or otherwise comparably convert, or cause to be sold, foreclosed upon or comparably converted, any Purchased Securities, in each such case as the result of the occurrence of an Event of Default hereunder; provided that the provisions of this sentence shall in no way prohibit, limit, restrict or impair the ability of the Buyer to sell, transfer, pledge or hypothecate the Purchased Securities pursuant to Paragraph 8 of the Master Agreement.

(c) Paragraph 11(d)(i) of the Master Agreement is hereby amended by deleting the last four lines thereof and replacing them with the following:

"Purchased Securities in an amount equal to the price therefor, as determined in a commercially reasonable manner by a recognized third party valuation agent appointed by the mutual agreement of the Buyer and the Seller, each acting in good faith and in a commercially reasonable manner, on such date; and".

(d) Paragraph 11(g) of the Master Agreement is hereby amended by (i) adding "and documented" after the word "reasonable" and before the words "legal or other expenses" in the second line thereof and (ii) replacing the words "in connection with or as a" in the fifth line thereof with the words "as a direct".

4. Initiation of Conforming Transactions. The Seller may at any time, in its sole and absolute discretion, request that the Buyer enter into one or more Conforming Transactions hereunder. A request to enter into a Conforming Transaction may be made orally or in writing at the initiation of the Seller; provided that the Seller shall deliver to the Buyer any such request and a Conforming Transaction Confirmation for such Conforming Transaction at least fifteen (15) Business Days prior to the proposed Purchase Date of such Conforming Transaction. Upon receipt of a Conforming Transaction Confirmation executed by the Seller, the Buyer may, in its sole and absolute discretion, enter into the related Conforming Transaction by countersigning and delivering to Seller each component of such Conforming Transaction Confirmation. Notwithstanding the foregoing, the Buyer shall not enter into any Conforming Transaction if, immediately after giving effect to such proposed Conforming Transaction, the aggregate outstanding Purchase Price for all outstanding Conforming Transactions (including such proposed Conforming Transaction) would exceed the Maximum Facility Amount. For the avoidance of doubt, the Buyer shall be under no obligation to enter into any Conforming Transaction hereunder. In the event of any inconsistencies between the terms of the Master Agreement and any Conforming Transaction Confirmation, the terms of the Conforming Transaction Confirmation shall prevail.

5. Additional Documentation. Each party agrees to deliver to the other party the following documents:

Party required to deliver document	Form/Document/Certificate	Date by which to be delivered
Buyer and Seller	Certified copies of all corporate, partnership, limited liability company or other similar authorizations, as the case may be, and any other documents with respect to the execution, delivery and performance of the Master Agreement or any other document executed in connection with the Master Agreement.	Upon execution and delivery of the Master Agreement or any other document executed in connection with the Master Agreement.
Buyer and Seller	Certificate of authority and specimen signatures of individuals executing the Master Agreement or any other document executed in connection with the Master Agreement.	Upon execution and delivery of the Master Agreement or any other document executed in connection with the Master Agreement and thereafter upon reasonable request of the other party.

6. Tax Document Delivery Obligations.

(a) Both parties agree to provide, upon reasonable written demand by such other party, any form, document or information that may be required in order to allow such other party to make a payment under the Master Agreement (i) without any deduction or withholding for or on account of any tax or (ii) with such deduction or withholding at a reduced rate (so long as the completion, execution or submission of such form, document or information would not materially prejudice the legal or commercial position of the party in receipt of such demand). Any such form, document or information shall be accurate and completed in a manner reasonably satisfactory to such other party and be executed and be delivered with any reasonably required certification.

(b) The Seller agrees to provide an original executed United States Internal Revenue Service Form W-9 (or any successor thereto) upon execution of the Master Agreement, thereafter promptly upon reasonable demand by the other party, and prior to any such tax form previously provided by the Seller becoming obsolete or incorrect.

(c) The Buyer agrees to provide an executed United States Internal Revenue Service Form W-9 (or any successor thereto) upon execution of the Master Agreement, thereafter promptly upon reasonable demand by the other party, and upon learning that any such tax form previously provided by the Buyer has become obsolete or incorrect.

7. FATCA. Notwithstanding anything to the contrary in the Master Agreement, if a "FATCA Withholding Tax" (as defined below) is required by law to be withheld from a payment made by one party to another under the Master Agreement, such payment shall be made net of such FATCA Withholding Tax, and neither party shall be required to pay additional amounts with respect to such FATCA Withholding Tax. "FATCA Withholding Tax" is defined as any U.S. federal withholding tax imposed or collected pursuant to Sections 1471 through 1474 of the U.S. Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended (the "Code"), any current or future regulations or official interpretations thereof, any agreement entered into pursuant to Section 1471(b) of the Code, or any fiscal or regulatory legislation, rules or practices adopted pursuant to any intergovernmental agreement entered into in connection with the implementation of such Sections of the Code.

8. Expenses. Upon receipt of a detailed invoice, the Seller shall pay all reasonable out-of-pocket costs and expenses incurred by the Buyer (including, without limitation, all reasonable fees, disbursements and expenses of one external counsel) in connection with the negotiation of (a) a finalized term sheet relating to the Facility Documents (as defined below), (b) the Master Agreement, the Conforming Transaction Master Confirmation and each Conforming Transaction Supplement (collectively, the "Facility Documents"), and (c) any other documents prepared in connection with the Facility Documents, in each case regardless of whether any Transaction is entered into under the Facility Documents. For the avoidance of doubt, all other costs and expenses (including any expenses incurred after the Purchase Date) incurred by the Buyer shall be the sole responsibility of the Buyer.

9. Indemnification. The Seller shall indemnify and hold harmless the Buyer and its affiliates, and its and their respective directors, officers and employees (collectively the "Indemnitees") from and against any and all liabilities, obligations, losses, damages, penalties, claims, demands, actions, judgments, suits, costs, expenses and disbursements (including reasonable and documented legal fees and expenses) incurred by any Indemnitee or asserted against any Indemnitee by any third party of any kind or nature whatsoever, which may at any time be imposed on, incurred by or asserted against any such Indemnitee in connection with (i) the execution, delivery and performance by the parties thereto of their respective obligations under the Master Agreement, any Confirmation, any transaction contemplated hereby or thereby, or the consummation and administration of the transactions contemplated hereby and thereby, or (ii) any actual or prospective claim, litigation, investigation or proceeding brought or threatened, whether based on contract, tort or any other theory, brought by a third party, and regardless of whether such Indemnitee is designated a party thereto, relating to or arising out of the Master Agreement or any Confirmation or the transactions contemplated hereby and thereby; provided that such indemnity shall not, as to any Indemnitee, be available to the extent that such liabilities, obligations, losses, damages, penalties, claims, demands, actions, judgments, suits, costs, expenses or disbursements have resulted from the bad faith, gross negligence, willful misconduct, fraud or violation of applicable law of such Indemnitee. Notwithstanding anything to the contrary set forth herein, neither the Seller (and its affiliates, and its and their respective directors, officers, employees, agents and advisors) nor any Indemnitee shall have any liability for any special, indirect, consequential or punitive damages relating to the Master Agreement or any Confirmation or arising out of their activities in connection herewith or therewith (whether before or after the date hereof). Moreover, if the Buyer is paid any amount by the Seller pursuant to this Section 9 and later collects amounts from third parties based on the same or similar claims, the Buyer shall reimburse in full all amounts to Seller within five (5) Business Days of collecting such amounts from such third parties.

10. Confidential Information.

(a) "Confidential Information" means the terms of each Conforming Transaction (including, without limitation, the related Upfront Amount, the Spread or any Haircut Percentage, or, in each case, any component thereof), the Facility Documents and any other documents prepared in connection herewith or therewith (including, without limitation, any related account control agreements or custodial agreements) and, in each case, the terms of any negotiations relating thereto.

(b) The Seller shall maintain the secrecy of the Confidential Information furnished to it by the Buyer by using the same degree of care to prevent the unauthorized use, dissemination, or publication of the Confidential Information as the Seller uses to protect its own confidential or proprietary information of like kind, and will not disclose or permit the disclosure of any Confidential Information to third parties other than directors, officers, employees, internal consultants, attorneys, accountants and agents of the Seller who are required to have such information in order to implement the terms of the Master Agreement and any Conforming Transaction (each person to whom the Seller discloses or allows access to Confidential Information, individually, a "Receiving Party"), but then only where such Receiving Party has agreed to maintain the confidentiality of the Confidential Information as set forth in this Section 10. The Seller shall be liable for any breach of confidentiality or misuse of Confidential Information by any Receiving Party. The Seller further agrees to notify the Buyer immediately, in writing, of any actual or suspected misuse, misappropriation or unauthorized disclosure of Confidential Information which may come to the Seller's attention.

(c) The Seller agrees that it will use the Confidential Information solely in order to implement the terms of the Master Agreement and any Conforming Transaction.

(d) Notwithstanding the foregoing, the Seller shall not have liability to the Buyer with regard to, and Confidential Information shall not include, any information that, as demonstrated by written records in existence at the time of disclosure:

(i) was in the public domain at the time it was disclosed by the Buyer or has entered the public domain through no fault of the Seller;

(ii) was known to the Seller without restriction as of the date of the Master Agreement;

(iii) is disclosed with the prior written approval of the Buyer; or

(iv) becomes known to the Seller, without restriction, from a source other than the Buyer.

The Seller shall have no liability with regard to any Confidential Information that is disclosed pursuant to the order, request or requirement of a court (or in connection with any legal process), administrative or regulatory agency, or other governmental body; provided, however, that if the Seller or any Receiving Party becomes subject to legal proceedings that require the disclosure of the Confidential Information, then, prior to any disclosure of such Confidential Information, to the extent permitted and practicable, the Seller shall promptly notify the Buyer and, upon the Buyer's request and at the Buyer's expense, shall reasonably cooperate with the Buyer in contesting such request or seeking confidential treatment therefor.

(e) The Buyer and the Seller each expressly agree that due to the unique nature of the Confidential Information, monetary damages would be inadequate to compensate the Buyer for any breach by the Seller of its covenants and agreements set forth in this Section 10. Accordingly, the Buyer and the Seller each agree and acknowledge that any such violation or threatened violation shall cause irreparable injury to the Buyer and that, in addition to any other remedies that may be available, in law, in equity or otherwise, the Buyer shall be entitled to seek injunctive relief against the threatened breach of this Section 10 or the continuation of any such breach by the Seller.

(f) The Buyer will maintain the confidentiality of all "Confidential Information" (as defined in the Governing Instruments with respect to the Purchased Securities for each Conforming Transaction) in accordance with the terms of such Governing Instruments.

11. Submission to Jurisdiction. Each party irrevocably and unconditionally (i) submits to the exclusive jurisdiction of any United States Federal or New York State court sitting in Manhattan, and any appellate court from any such court, solely for the purpose of any suit, action or proceeding brought to enforce its obligations under the Master Agreement or relating in any way to the Master Agreement or any Transaction under the Master Agreement and (ii) waives, to the fullest extent it may effectively do so, any defense of an inconvenient forum to the maintenance of such action or proceeding in any such court and any right of jurisdiction on account of its place of residence or domicile.

12. Notices. Paragraph 13 of the Master Agreement is hereby amended to add "electronic mail," after the words "by mail," and before the word "facsimile".

13. Waiver of Jury Trial. EACH PARTY HEREBY IRREVOCABLY WAIVES ANY AND ALL RIGHTS TO TRIAL BY JURY WITH RESPECT TO ANY LEGAL PROCEEDING ARISING OUT OF OR RELATING TO THE MASTER AGREEMENT OR ANY TRANSACTION CONTEMPLATED HEREBY.

14. Amendments. The Seller and Buyer agree to cooperate with each other in the negotiation and execution of such reasonable amendments to the Facility Documents as may be necessary in order to ensure compliance by the Seller with the Risk Retention Requirements or any other applicable law, rule or regulation.

15. Counterparts. The Master Agreement may be executed in counterparts (including by facsimile or electronic transmission), each of which counterpart, when so executed and delivered, shall be deemed to be an original and all of which counterparts, taken together, shall constitute one and the same agreement.

ANNEX III
FORM OF CONFORMING TRANSACTION
MASTER CONFIRMATION

The purpose of this master confirmation, dated as of the Contract Date specified below (this "Conforming Transaction Master Confirmation"), is to set forth the terms and conditions of one or more repurchase transactions (each, a "Conforming Transaction") entered into between NWCC, LLC ("NWCC") and HIGHLAND CLO MANAGEMENT, LLC ("Counterparty"), each as further evidenced by a transaction supplement substantially in the form attached hereto as Schedule B (each, a "Conforming Transaction Supplement;" this Conforming Transaction Master Confirmation together with the Conforming Transaction Supplement in respect of any Conforming Transaction shall be referred to herein as a "Conforming Transaction Confirmation"). Each Conforming Transaction shall constitute a "Transaction," and each "Conforming Transaction Confirmation" shall constitute a "Confirmation," in each case for purposes of the Master Agreement described below.

Each Conforming Transaction Confirmation supplements, forms a part of, and is subject to the SIFMA 1996 Master Repurchase Agreement, dated as of January 26, 2018 (as amended, restated, supplemented or modified from time to time, the "Master Agreement"), between NWCC and Counterparty. Except as expressly modified by the relevant Conforming Transaction Confirmation, all provisions contained in, or incorporated by reference into, the Master Agreement shall govern each Conforming Transaction. In the event of any inconsistencies between the Master Agreement and any Conforming Transaction Confirmation, such Conforming Transaction Confirmation shall prevail. Capitalized terms not defined herein have the meaning ascribed to them in the Master Agreement.

The terms of each Conforming Transaction to which this Conforming Transaction Master Confirmation relates are as follows:

Buyer:	NWCC (the "Buyer").
Seller:	Counterparty (the "Seller").
Contract Date:	January 26, 2018 (the "Contract Date").
Purchase Date:	For each Conforming Transaction, as specified in the related Conforming Transaction Supplement (the "Purchase Date").
Purchase Price:	For each Conforming Transaction, as specified in the related Conforming Transaction Supplement (the "Purchase Price").
Purchased Securities:	For each Conforming Transaction, the Rated Purchased Securities and the Equity Purchased Securities (collectively, the "Purchased Securities").

Rated Purchased Securities:	For each Conforming Transaction, the Eligible Securities specified as such in the related Conforming Transaction Supplement (the "Rated Purchased Securities").
Equity Purchased Securities:	For each Conforming Transaction, the Eligible Securities specified as such in the related Conforming Transaction Supplement (the "Equity Purchased Securities").
PIKable Purchased Securities:	For each Conforming Transaction, any class of Purchased Securities that pursuant to its Governing Instrument permits the capitalization or deferral of accrued and unpaid interest thereon (any such class of Purchased Securities, "PIKable Purchased Securities;" and any PIKable Purchased Securities in respect of which accrued and unpaid interest is being capitalized or deferred (so long as such capitalization or deferral is continuing), "PIKing Purchased Securities"). Solely for purposes of calculating the Repurchase Price of any Conforming Transaction, the Purchase Price for such Conforming Transaction shall, effective as of the date on which any capitalization or deferral of accrued and unpaid interest in respect of any PIKing Purchased Securities actually occurs, be deemed to be automatically increased by the amount of any accrued and unpaid interest so capitalized or deferred (any such amount (so long as such amount remains capitalized or deferred), a "PIK Amount"); provided, for the avoidance of doubt, that no such deemed increase in the Purchase Price shall require the Buyer to make any additional payments to the Seller in respect of the Purchase Price after the Purchase Date of such Conforming Transaction.
Eligible Securities:	Any Securities set forth in Schedule A to this Conforming Transaction Master Confirmation, as such schedule may be amended by the written agreement of the Buyer and the Seller from time to time (the "Eligible Securities").
Repurchase Date:	For all or any portion of a Conforming Transaction, the earliest to occur of (i) any Repurchase Date occurring under Paragraph 11 of the Master Agreement (a "Paragraph 11 Repurchase Date"); (ii) the Scheduled Repurchase Date of such Conforming Transaction; (iii) the date on which all or any portion of the related Purchased Securities are redeemed pursuant to the related Governing Instrument; (iv) a Change in Law Repurchase Date in respect of such Conforming Transaction; or (v) an Accelerated Repurchase Date in respect of such Conforming Transaction (each, a "Repurchase Date"). Any repurchased Purchased Securities transferred from Buyer to Seller on a Repurchase Date shall bear the same CUSIP identifier as those of the Purchased Securities. For the avoidance of doubt, the amount of any repurchased PIKable Purchased Securities required to be transferred from the Buyer to the Seller on a Repurchase Date shall be increased by any related PIK Amounts attributable to any date from (and including) the Purchase Date to (but excluding) the Repurchase Date.

Governing Instrument:	For each Conforming Transaction and any Purchased Securities, as specified in the related Conforming Transaction Supplement (the "Governing Instrument").
Scheduled Repurchase Date:	For each Conforming Transaction, as specified in the related Conforming Transaction Supplement (the "Scheduled Repurchase Date").
Upfront Amount:	On the Purchase Date of each Conforming Transaction, the Seller shall pay to the Buyer an amount equal to (i) (a) the Purchase Price multiplied by (b) the Upfront Amount Percentage or (ii) such other amount as may be specified in the related Conforming Transaction Supplement (the "Upfront Amount").
Upfront Amount Percentage:	For each Conforming Transaction, as specified in the related Conforming Transaction Supplement (the "Upfront Amount Percentage"); provided that the Upfront Amount Percentage for any Refinancing Conforming Transaction (as defined below) shall be the "Related Refinancing Conforming Transaction Upfront Amount Percentage" set forth in the Conforming Transaction Supplement for the related Refinanced Conforming Transaction (the "Related Refinancing Conforming Transaction Upfront Amount Percentage").
Proportionate Paydown:	With respect to each Conforming Transaction, on any Business Day prior to the Repurchase Date on which an amount of Income constituting a principal or redemption amount (such Income, "Paydown Income") is paid in respect of the Purchased Securities to the holder(s) thereof, (i) the Seller shall pay to the Buyer an amount equal to the Seller Proportionate Paydown Amount (it being understood that any Seller Proportionate Paydown Amount paid by the Seller to the Buyer will result in a corresponding equal decrease in the Repurchase Price) and (ii) the Buyer shall pay to the Seller an amount equal to the Buyer Proportionate Paydown Amount (each, a "Proportionate Paydown").

Seller Proportionate Paydown Amount:	For each Conforming Transaction, with respect to any Interim Payment Date and any class of Purchased Securities, an amount equal to (i) the Paydown Income paid to the holder(s) of such Purchased Securities on such Interim Payment Date multiplied by (ii) (a) 100% minus (b) the Haircut Percentage for such class of Purchased Securities (the "Seller Proportionate Paydown Amount").
Buyer Proportionate Paydown Amount:	For each Conforming Transaction, with respect to any Interim Payment Date and any class of Purchased Securities, an amount equal to the Paydown Income paid to the holder(s) of such class of Purchased Securities on such Interim Payment Date (the "Buyer Proportionate Paydown Amount").
Business Day:	For each Conforming Transaction, each day on which commercial banks settle payments and are open for general business (including dealings in foreign exchange and foreign currency deposits) in New York, and on which the relevant clearing houses for the Purchased Securities (if any) are open for settling deliveries of the types of securities as the Purchased Securities (each, a "Business Day").
Business Day Convention:	If any relevant date in respect of any Conforming Transaction would otherwise fall on a day that is not a Business Day, such date shall be the following Business Day unless such following Business Day is in the next calendar month, in which case such date shall be the first preceding Business Day (the "Business Day Convention"). Notwithstanding the foregoing, the Business Day Convention shall not apply to any Paragraph 11 Repurchase Date, which shall be determined in accordance with Paragraph 11 of the Master Agreement.
Pricing Rate:	For each Conforming Transaction and each calendar day in a Price Differential Calculation Period, a per annum rate (the "Pricing Rate") determined by the Buyer equal to: (i) the Weighted Average Interest Rate of the Rated Purchased Securities applicable to such Price

Differential Calculation Period, subject to a minimum of zero; plus

(ii) the Spread.

Weighted Average Interest Rate: For each Conforming Transaction, (i) the average effective interest rate of each class of securities comprising the Rated Purchased Securities, as such rate may be adjusted from time to time pursuant to the related Governing Instrument, weighted in proportion to the principal amount of securities comprising each such class that constitute Rated Purchased Securities plus (ii) solely for the purposes of calculating the Pricing Rate, the Adjustment Rate (the "Weighted Average Interest Rate"). For the avoidance of doubt, if the interest payable in respect of any PIKable Purchased Securities is capitalized or deferred pursuant to the related Governing Instrument, then neither the related interest rate nor the principal amount of such PIKable Purchased Securities shall be included in the calculation of the Weighted Average Interest Rate for the period during which such interest is capitalized or deferred (but the related interest rate and principal amount of such PIKable Purchased Securities shall be included in the calculation of the Weighted Average Interest Rate after such capitalization or deferral period).

Adjustment Rate: For each Conforming Transaction, for any class of securities purchased at a discount or a premium, a rate (which in the case of securities purchased at a premium shall be negative) equal to (i) (100% minus the Class Purchase Price) divided by (ii) the Class Modified Duration (the "Adjustment Rate"); provided, however, the Adjustment Rate shall be zero from and after the date on which the discount or premium for the class has been fully amortized; and provided, further, if the Repurchase Date occurs before the discount or premium for a class has been fully amortized, such unamortized premium will be payable to Seller or to Buyer in the case of unamortized discount.

Class Purchase Price: For each Conforming Transaction, the amount specified in the related Conforming Transaction Supplement (the "Class Purchase Price").

Class Modified Duration: For each Conforming Transaction, the period specified in the related Conforming Transaction Supplement (the "Class Modified Duration").

Spread:	For each Conforming Transaction, (i) the Spread Percentage multiplied by (ii) (a) the Purchase Price divided by (b) the face amount (excluding, in the case of any PIKable Purchased Securities, any PIK Amounts attributable to either the then-current Price Differential Calculation Period or any prior Price Differential Calculation Period) of the Rated Purchased Securities (the "Spread").
Spread Percentage:	For each Conforming Transaction, as specified in the related Conforming Transaction Supplement (the "Spread Percentage").
Price Differential:	For each Conforming Transaction, with respect to any Price Differential Payment Date, the sum of (i) the aggregate amount obtained by daily application of the rate described in clause (i) of the definition of Pricing Rate for such Conforming Transaction, for the Price Differential Calculation Period ending immediately prior to such Price Differential Payment Date, to the face amount of the Rated Purchased Securities (other than any PIKable Purchased Securities that constitute PIKing Purchased Securities) for such Conforming Transaction on an actual/360 basis and (ii) the aggregate amount obtained by daily application of the rate described in clause (ii) of the definition of Pricing Rate for such Conforming Transaction, for the Price Differential Calculation Period ending immediately prior to such Price Differential Payment Date, to the face amount of the Rated Purchased Securities (which, for the avoidance of doubt, shall include the face amount of any PIKable Purchased Securities, irrespective of whether such PIKable Purchased Securities are also PIKing Purchased Securities, but without giving effect to any PIK Amounts attributable to either the then-current Price Differential Calculation Period or any prior Price Differential Calculation Period) for such Conforming Transaction on an actual/360 basis (the sum of clauses (i) and (ii), the "Price Differential"). On each Price Differential Payment Date for any Conforming Transaction, the Seller shall pay to the Buyer all accrued and unpaid Price Differential.
Price Differential Payment Dates:	For each Conforming Transaction, (i) the Repurchase Date, (ii) each Interim Payment Date, and (iii) each Periodic Price Differential Payment Date (each of the dates described in clauses (i), (ii) and (iii), a "Price Differential Payment Date").

Interim Payment Date:	For each Conforming Transaction, any Business Day prior to the Repurchase Date on which Paydown Income is paid to the holder(s) of the Purchased Securities (each, an "Interim Payment Date").
Periodic Price Differential Payment Dates:	For each Conforming Transaction, as specified in the related Conforming Transaction Supplement (each, a "Periodic Price Differential Payment Date").
Price Differential Calculation Periods:	For each Conforming Transaction, each period commencing on (and including) a Price Differential Payment Date and ending on (but excluding) the immediately following Price Differential Payment Date (each, a "Price Differential Calculation Period"), provided that the initial Price Differential Calculation Period will commence on (and include) the Purchase Date and the final Price Differential Calculation Period will end on (but exclude) the Repurchase Date.
Buyer's Margin Percentage and Seller's Margin Percentage:	For each Conforming Transaction, 100%.
Market Value:	With respect to any Securities as of any time on any date, an amount determined by the Buyer equal to the greater of: (i) the Unadjusted Market Value of such Securities as of such date minus the Haircut applicable to such Securities at such time; and (ii) zero. With respect to any cash as of any date, the amount of such cash.
Unadjusted Market Value:	For each Conforming Transaction, with respect to any Purchased Securities as of the related Purchase Date, an amount determined by the Buyer in a commercially reasonable manner equal to the product of (i) the price of such Purchased Securities (expressed as a percentage and which, in the case of any Rated Purchased Securities, shall be based on one or more firm bids solicited by the Buyer from one or more dealers selected by the Buyer in its sole and absolute discretion) and (ii) the applicable current face amount for such Purchased Securities on such date, excluding accrued Income to the extent not included therein unless contrary to market practice for such Purchased Securities.

	For each Conforming Transaction, with respect to any Purchased Securities as of any Margin Deficit Determination Date or Margin Excess Determination Date, as applicable, an amount equal to the product of (i) (a) the bid price of such Purchased Securities (expressed as a percentage) published by Interactive Data Corporation, the Financial Industry Regulatory Authority's Trade Reporting and Compliance Engine or another nationally recognized bond pricing service, in each case as selected by the Buyer with the prior written consent of the Seller, (b) if the bid price of such Purchased Securities described in clause (i)(a) is not available, (I) the average of the bid prices (expressed as a percentage) determined by three broker-dealers selected by the Buyer that are active in the trading of such Purchased Securities and are independent from each other and the Buyer, (II) if only two such bid prices can be obtained, the lower of such two bid prices (expressed as a percentage), or (III) if only one such bid price can be obtained, such bid price (expressed as a percentage); or (c) if a bid price described in clauses (i)(a) or (i)(b) is not available, then the price (expressed as a percentage) at which the Buyer reasonably believes such Purchased Securities could be sold in the market within thirty (30) days from such date of determination, as determined by the Buyer in a commercially reasonable manner consistent with the manner in which it would determine the market value of an asset for purposes of other funds or accounts managed by it or its affiliates; and (ii) the applicable current face amount for such Purchased Securities on such date (including, in the case of any PIKable Purchased Securities, any PIK Amounts attributable to any date occurring on or prior to such date of determination), excluding accrued Income to the extent not included therein unless contrary to market practice for such Purchased Securities (the amount determined in accordance with this paragraph or the preceding paragraph, as applicable, the "Unadjusted Market Value").
Haircut:	For each Conforming Transaction, with respect to any Purchased Securities as of any time on any date, an amount determined by the Buyer equal to the product of: (i) the Unadjusted Market Value; and (ii) the Haircut Percentage (the "Haircut").
Haircut Percentage:	For each Conforming Transaction, with respect to (i) any class of Rated Purchased Securities, the Rated Purchased Securities Haircut Percentage and (ii) any class of Equity Purchased Securities, the Equity Purchased Securities Haircut Percentage (the Rated Purchased Securities Haircut Percentage or the Equity Purchased Securities Haircut Percentage, as applicable, the "Haircut Percentage").

Rated Purchased Securities Haircut Percentage:	For each Conforming Transaction, as specified in the related Conforming Transaction Supplement (the "Rated Purchased Securities Haircut Percentage").
Equity Purchased Securities Haircut Percentage:	For each Conforming Transaction, as specified in the related Conforming Transaction Supplement (the "Equity Purchased Securities Haircut Percentage").
Purchased Securities Default Event:	For each Conforming Transaction, as specified in the related Conforming Transaction Supplement (each, a "Purchased Securities Default Event"). The Seller shall notify the Buyer of each Purchased Securities Default Event promptly following a responsible officer of the Seller having actual knowledge or received notice of the occurrence thereof (any such notice, a "Purchased Securities Default Event Notice").
Margin Deficit Determination Date:	With respect to each Purchased Securities Default Event, the earlier of (i) the Business Day on which the Buyer receives a Purchased Securities Default Event Notice in respect of such Purchased Securities Default Event and (ii) the Business Day on which a responsible officer of the Buyer has actual knowledge of the occurrence of such Purchased Securities Default Event (each, a "Margin Deficit Determination Date"). For the avoidance of doubt, (x) no more than one Margin Deficit Determination Date may occur in connection with the occurrence of any particular Purchased Securities Default Event in respect of any Conforming Transaction and (y) there may be more than one Margin Deficit Determination Date if (and only if) there is more than one Purchased Securities Default Event in respect of any Conforming Transaction.
Margin Excess Determination Date:	Any Business Day selected by the Seller following the occurrence of a Margin Deficit Determination Date; provided that the Seller shall not select more than one Margin Excess Determination Date per calendar quarter (each, a "Margin Excess Determination Date").

Margin Determination:	In Paragraph 4(a) of the Master Agreement, (i) the words "If at any time" in the first line thereof are hereby deleted and replaced with the words "If on any Margin Deficit Determination Date in respect of any Conforming Transaction," and the words "(which notice must be given no later than three (3) Business Days following the related Margin Deficit Determination Date)" are hereby inserted immediately after the words "may by notice to Seller" in the fourth line thereof. In Paragraph 4(b) of the Master Agreement, (i) the words "If at any time" in the first line thereof are hereby deleted and replaced with the words "If on any Margin Excess Determination Date," and (ii) the words "(which notice must be given no later than three (3) Business Days following the related Margin Excess Determination Date)" are hereby inserted immediately after the words "may by notice to Buyer" in the fourth line thereof.
Margin Transfer:	Notwithstanding the provisions of Paragraph 4 of the Master Agreement, if the Buyer requires the Seller to satisfy a Margin Deficit, the Seller shall satisfy such Margin Deficit by (i) first, repaying any cash paid by the Buyer to satisfy a Margin Excess and (ii) second, paying cash in U.S. Dollars (which cash payment shall result in a corresponding reduction in the Repurchase Price of one or more Conforming Transactions (as agreed upon by the Buyer and the Seller)) (any cash payment described in this clause (ii), a "Cash Paydown") or delivering to the Buyer Additional Purchased Securities. For the avoidance of doubt, and notwithstanding any provision of this Conforming Transaction Master Confirmation to the contrary but without limiting the Seller's obligations under the immediately preceding sentence, the Seller may, in its sole and absolute discretion, at any time deliver to the Buyer Additional Purchased Securities, cash or other assets as may be agreed upon by the Buyer and the Seller to further secure the Seller's obligations to the Buyer in respect of any Conforming Transaction or to facilitate compliance by the Seller with the Risk Retention Requirements. Notwithstanding the provisions of Paragraph 4 of the Master Agreement, if the Seller requires the Buyer to satisfy a Margin Excess, the Buyer shall satisfy such Margin Excess by repaying, up to the amount of such Margin Excess, any cash paid by the Seller to satisfy a Margin Deficit ("Previously Paid Margin Deficit Cash");

	it being understood that (i) in no event shall the Buyer ever be required to pay to the Seller more than the amount of any Previously Paid Margin Deficit Cash in order to satisfy any Margin Excess and (ii) upon any such payment by the Buyer to the Seller of any Previously Paid Margin Deficit Cash, such Margin Excess shall be deemed to have been satisfied for all purposes of the Master Agreement and this Conforming Transaction Master Confirmation.
Accelerated Repurchase Date:	The Seller may by written notice to the Buyer request that a Conforming Transaction be terminated in whole on any date. If the Buyer, in its sole and absolute discretion, agrees to so terminate such Conforming Transaction, the date specified in such notice shall be the "Accelerated Repurchase Date" of such Conforming Transaction; provided that no Accelerated Repurchase Date shall occur unless the Buyer and the Seller have agreed on the size of the Early Repurchase Amount to be paid by the Seller to the Buyer on such Accelerated Repurchase Date.
Payments on Accelerated Repurchase Date:	On an Accelerated Repurchase Date of any Conforming Transaction, the Seller shall pay to the Buyer such amount as may be agreed to by the Buyer and the Seller (such amount, the "Early Repurchase Amount"). For the avoidance of doubt, the payment by the Seller to the Buyer of the Early Repurchase Amount shall be in lieu of (and not in addition to) any other amounts payable under the Master Agreement or the related Conforming Transaction Confirmation on such Accelerated Repurchase Date.
Change in Law Repurchase Date:	For any Conforming Transaction, the date on which (i) the Seller has certified to the Buyer in writing (which certification shall be based on the written advice of a nationally recognized and reputable law firm) that there has been a change in law (as a result of the issuance of new interpretative letters or other applicable written guidance) such that the Risk Retention Requirements no longer require that the Seller own the Purchased Securities and (ii) the Seller elects in its sole discretion to effect such Change in Law Repurchase Date (the "Change in Law Repurchase Date").
Payment of PV Amount on Change in Law Repurchase Date:	For each Conforming Transaction, if a Change in Law Repurchase Date occurs prior to the related PV Amount

Cut-Off Date, the Seller shall pay to the Buyer on such Change in Law Repurchase Date an amount equal to the PV Amount. For the avoidance of doubt, such PV Amount shall be in addition to any other amount payable under the Master Agreement or this Conforming Transaction Master Confirmation on or in connection with such Change in Law Repurchase Date.

PV Amount:

For each Conforming Transaction, a sum of amounts determined by the Buyer acting in good faith for each Price Differential Calculation Period from (and including) the Change in Law Repurchase Date to (and including) the PV Amount Cut-Off Date for all Purchased Securities equal to:

(i) the face amount of the Rated Purchased Securities (excluding, in the case of any PIKable Purchased Securities, any PIK Amounts attributable to the then-current Price Differential Calculation Period or any prior Price Differential Calculation Period); multiplied by

(ii) the Spread; multiplied by

(iii) the actual number of days in such Price Differential Calculation Period (or in the case of the Price Differential Calculation Period during which the PV Amount Cut-Off Date occurs, the actual number of days from and including the PV Amount Cut-Off Date to and including the last day of such Price Differential Calculation Period), divided by 360; each such amount discounted using the USD Swap Curve Rate for a term (the "Relevant Swap Term") equal to the period from the relevant PV Amount Cut-Off Date to the last day of the relevant Price Differential Calculation Period (the sum of such amounts, the "PV Amount").

USD Swap Curve Rate:

On any date of determination and in relation to any Relevant Swap Term, the mid-market rate determined by the Buyer for the fixed-for-floating USD interest rate swap transaction, with a scheduled term equal to the Relevant Swap Term, against the Fed Funds Effective Rate (the "USD Swap Curve Rate").

"Fed Funds Effective Rate" means, for any day, the rate set forth in H.15 for that day opposite the caption "Federal funds (effective)".

	"H.15" means the weekly statistical release designated as such, or any successor publication, published by the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System.
Cash Settlement on Change in Law Repurchase Date:	Notwithstanding any other provision of this Conforming Transaction Master Confirmation or the Master Agreement (including Paragraph 3(c) thereof) to the contrary, in connection with the Change in Law Repurchase Date of any Conforming Transaction, the Buyer may (in its sole and absolute discretion), by giving notice to the Seller, elect to settle such Conforming Transaction on such Change in Law Repurchase Date such that no payment (other than the payment by the Seller to the Buyer of any PV Amount) or delivery shall be required to be made by the Buyer or the Seller on or in connection with such Change in Law Repurchase Date pursuant to this Conforming Transaction Master Confirmation or the Master Agreement.
PV Amount Cut Off Date:	For each Conforming Transaction, the date that is two (2) years from the related Purchase Date (the "PV Amount Cut-Off Date").
No Substitution:	Paragraph 9 of the Master Agreement is hereby deleted in its entirety and replaced with "Reserved.", and all references thereto are hereby deleted.
Notices:	The Seller shall deliver to the Buyer a copy of any notice delivered to the holder(s) of the Purchased Securities by the issuer, the trustee or the collateral manager (however described) of such Purchased Securities, promptly (and in any event no event later than three (3) Business Days) following the delivery of such notice to such holder(s).

Seller Representation and Warranty:	On each Purchase Date, the Seller represents and warrants to the Buyer that it is in compliance with the Risk Retention Requirements as such requirements relate to the issuer of the Purchased Securities, except for (i) any Risk Retention Requirements that are being contested by the Seller in good faith through appropriate proceedings or (ii) any Risk Retention Requirements the failure to comply with which, individually or in the aggregate, could not reasonably be expected to materially and adversely affect the Buyer.
Calculations:	All calculations made by the Buyer hereunder shall be made in good faith and in a commercially reasonable manner.
Refinancing Conforming Transactions:	Notwithstanding any provision of this Conforming Transaction Master Confirmation to the contrary, in the event that, pursuant to the terms of the related Governing Instrument, the Purchased Securities for any Conforming Transaction are redeemed in full and new securities are issued in replacement therefor, in each case in connection with a refinancing or re-pricing (any such Conforming Transaction, a "Refinanced Conforming Transaction"), the Buyer and the Seller agree that the Seller and Buyer may enter into a new Conforming Transaction (any such Conforming Transaction, a "Refinancing Conforming Transaction") in respect of such newly-issued securities on such terms as the Buyer and Seller (acting in good faith and in a commercially reasonable manner) may agree upon; provided that the Upfront Amount Percentage for such Refinancing Conforming Transaction shall be the Related Refinancing Conforming Transaction Upfront Amount Percentage.
Counterparts:	This Conforming Transaction Master Confirmation may be executed in counterparts (including by facsimile or electronic transmission), each of which counterpart, when so executed and delivered, shall be deemed to be an original and all of which counterparts, taken together, shall constitute one and the same agreement.

ORDER CONFIRMING ARBITRATION AWARD

On December 13, 2017, came on to be heard the Petition to Confirm Arbitration Award and Enter Judgment on Same (the "Petition") filed by Plaintiff Joshua N. Terry ("Terry"), seeking confirmation of the arbitration award entered in JAMS Arbitration No. 1310022713 on October 20, 2017 (the "Award"). After considering the Petition and other pleadings, any evidence timely presented at the hearing, and the argument of counsel, the Court believes that it is proper to enter an order confirming the Award.

IT IS THEREFORE ORDERED that the Award is confirmed. All relief not expressly granted herein is hereby denied.

Signed this 18th day of December, 2017.

Re: Terry v. Acis Capital Management, L.P. and Acis Capital Management GP, LLC

Our File No: 1675-55555
Our File Name: Terry/Acis - Terry/Highland

Dear Mr. Welton:

You told me on the phone last week that Acis Capital Management, L.P. and Acis Capital Management GP are "judgment proof."

Acis, an affiliate of Highland, touts on its website that Acis has "$3.5 billion in assets under management." If the investment manager for that amount of assets is insolvent, that is a material event that Acis Capital Management, L.P. and Acis Capital Management GP should immediately disclose to the fund's investors, the public, and others.

Notice: Mr. Terry will pursue legal claims against any person or entity involved in any aspect of fraudulent transfers of Acis Capital Management, L.P. and Acis Capital Management GP's assets, including, but not limited to, Mr. Dondero, Mr. Surgent, Mr. Covitz and Mr. Waterhouse, individually. Further, if Acis Capital Management, L.P. and/or Acis Capital Management GP fraudulently dissipate assets via unreasonable expense charges, excessive payments or other machinations, Mr. Terry will pursue his legal rights against any person or entity involved with such fraud.

Any such transfers subject the transferees, as well as those facilitating the transfers, and/or conspiring to transfer assets to civil liability for actual damages, attorneys' fees, and punitive damages. See, e.g., Matter of Galaz, 850 F.3d 800, 807 (5th Cir. 2017) (affirming award of punitive damages under TUFTA). If any fraudulent or questionable transfers occur, Mr. Terry will vigorously pursue claims against any person or entity involved.

Very truly yours,

Rogge Dunn

THE CLERK: All rise. United States Bankruptcy Court for the Northern District of Texas, Dallas Division, is now in session, the Honorable Stacey Jernigan presiding.

THE COURT: Good morning. Please be seated.

IN UNISON: Good morning.

THE COURT: Long time no see. All right, the record will reflect we're starting day three of the trial on the involuntary bankruptcy petition of Acis Capital Management, L.P. and Acis Capital Management GP, LLC. Do we have all the lawyers we need?

UNIDENTIFIED SPEAKER: Yes, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Okay, so for the record, we've got Ms. Patel, Mr. Shaw, and Ms. Chiarello for the petitioning creditors (sic). We've got Mr. Warner --

MR. WARNER: Good morning.

THE COURT: Good morning. -- and Mr. Cruciani's back there; Mr. Fritz and Mr. Usatine; all here for the companies. And then our proposed intervenors -- Mr. Larson and Ms. Jobe, are you all back there?

MR. LARSON: Mr. Larson, ma'am. (Indiscernible).

THE COURT: Okay. All right, well, thank you. Do we have any housekeeping matters before we start?

MR. FRITZ: We do, Judge.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. FRITZ: You'll recall the debtors introduced some exhibits yesterday. We have copies for the Court and the Court's clerk. If I may approach?

THE COURT: You may.

MR. FRITZ: Judge, here; it belongs with all of this --

THE COURT: Thank you. Okay. So my list here -- this is the Demonstrative 6 that we have the marked-up version of page 32 -- or, wait. Yes. Okay, so I need to call this Demonstrative 6, right?

UNIDENTIFIED SPEAKER: Yeah.

THE COURT: Okay. This is the marked-up version of page 32 of Demonstrative 5. Okay. So Demonstrative Aid 6.

(Marked-up version of page 32 of Demonstrative 5 was hereby marked for identification as Demonstrative's Exhibit 6, as of this date.)

THE CLERK: Is there a demonstrative of the charts that (indiscernible)? I (indiscernible).

THE COURT: Okay, well, let --

THE CLERK: Yeah, it's here if we need to look for the --

THE COURT: Just what are those, so we have them marked and --

THE CLERK: These are demonstrative replacements for the notebooks, for Demonstrative 1 -- these books.

THE COURT: They're replacement pages for --

THE CLERK: Yes. Updated charts from --

THE COURT: Okay. I gotcha. Okay, I just wanted to make sure we have everything correctly.

THE CLERK: I have everything here.

THE COURT: Okay. Very good. We're clear. We're good. Thank you.

All right, anything else?

MS. PATEL: Your Honor, just from a scheduling perspective; I know that there was discussion yesterday about what days we're going to come back next week.

THE COURT: Um-hum.

MS. PATEL: Just so everyone can start putting it on their calendars and blocking those days, in the event other things get put on there in the interim, if we could sort of rejigger the conversation with respect to just what days we're going to come back next week?

THE COURT: All right, well, pending overnight, we had: are we coming back Monday morning? So I cannot remember whose potential conflict it was.

MR. CRUCIANI: That was Mr. Ellington's conflict --

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. CRUCIANI: -- on Monday. I think Tuesday is available for everybody, I believe --

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. CRUCIANI: -- for a half a day, I believe we have.

THE COURT: Yes.

MR. CRUCIANI: What we were hoping for, given the Easter --

THE COURT: Um-hum.

MR. CRUCIANI: -- break and Ms. Patel's --

THE COURT: Um-hum.

MR. CRUCIANI: -- conflict is, if -- perhaps on our end at least, that following Monday, if the Court had time that date, that would work on our side. I don't know about the Court or opposing counsel.

THE COURT: That's a terrible day for us, I'm sorry. We --

MR. CRUCIANI: Okay.

THE COURT: We already knew that was a terrible, terrible day. Yeah, I am just -- now, right, I'm showing Wednesday, March 28th is a good day, unless something has changed.

MR. CRUCIANI: That was your --

MS. PATEL: That was -- Your Honor, that's when I'm in Judge Jones' court on contested cash collateral and --

THE COURT: Oh, wait. Wait.

MS. PATEL: -- a variety of other things.

THE COURT: Wait, wait, wait. Okay, so I'm -- so it's Monday, April 2nd that's terrible, right?

THE CLERK: Yeah. I --

THE COURT: Okay.

THE CLERK: Oh, wait, you have a (indiscernible) on --

THE COURT: Okay, that's -- yeah, we could do the 3rd or the 4th.

MR. CRUCIANI: Of all places, I am in Hawaii arguing before the Hawaii Supreme Court.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. CRUCIANI: And you could check it.

THE COURT: Rough duty.

MR. CRUCIANI: Yeah.

THE COURT: Yeah.

MR. CRUCIANI: But Your Honor, here's what I would suggest: if we could -- given that that Monday doesn't work, we just may need to try to make some choice on our end whether it's Mr. Ellington -- I know Mr. Warner can't be here on Thursday, but potentially, if we're just doing closing and I'm doing it, he may not need to be here. So that's a possibility to potentially do Tuesday and Thursday. But as I recall, you might have a tight schedule on Thursday?

THE COURT: Well, I had a tight schedule until about 2:30, right, or 3.

That was the day we had a long 1:30 docket.

Well, was Ellington going to be a witness or he just -- because he's general counsel.

MR. CRUCIANI: Well, it was both, depending upon --

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. CRUCIANI: -- these witnesses -- he potentially was batting cleanup. If I need him as a witness, then for sure I would want him here. I don't yet know that, because it depends on how today's testimony goes in court.

THE COURT: Um-hum.

MR. CRUCIANI: So we would have liked to have been here as a general counsel, but I understand; with conflicts, we're prepared to dispense with that if necessary.

THE COURT: Okay. All right, so here's what we'll do: we'll definitely come back Tuesday for a half a day --

MR. CRUCIANI: Um-hum.

THE COURT: -- 9:30 to -- I've got a long afternoon starting at 1:30. So 9:30 to 12:30ish. We could start earlier; 9.

MR. CRUCIANI: That's fine.

THE COURT: We'll start 9 to kind of get in a little more time. And then I will see what Traci can do about clearing up some time Thursday. I know our 1:30 docket's terrible, but maybe the morning docket we can -- I just don't remember what the --

THE CLERK: (Indiscernible) so we push the morning --

THE COURT: Push the morning.

(On phone) Traci, we are going to come back on Acis at 9 o'clock Tuesday morning, and so we'll give them 9 to 12:30. But we're probably going to need a little time at least for closing arguments, if not more. And I want to see if we can free up some time Thursday morning. I can't remember what's set. I know we've got a huge 1:30 docket, but are the 9:30 matters possibly going to go away or can we maybe move them to the afternoon? Maybe contact those attorneys and see can they come at 2:30. Um-hum. All right. Thank you. Bye-bye.

All right, so we'll know a little later if our Thursday morning will clear up. I think we'll be able to do that.

MR. CRUCIANI: Thank you.

THE COURT: Okay? All right. So with that --

MS. PATEL: And Your Honor, Monday -- did you have all day if we can work through the issues for Monday? I'm just trying to block out my calendar before people start putting things on it unbeknownst to me.

THE COURT: Monday morning.

MS. PATEL: Morning? Okay, I --

THE COURT: Yeah.

MS. PATEL: I'm just going to tentatively block it off. I'm not going to let anything get scheduled --

THE COURT: Okay.

MS. PATEL: -- so that we don't have a later conflict. Thank you, Your Honor.

THE COURT: All right. Well -- okay. With that, are -- okay, I believe Petitioning Creditor had rested, subject to the ability to -- on Mr. Dondero, to treat him as both a witness you're cross-examining as well as direct testimony that can be beyond the scope of --

MS. PATEL: I don't think we said we rested, because it's subject to this interesting Dondero thing. But I -- so I just want to be --

THE COURT: You technically don't want that --

MS. PATEL: -- the record to be clear. Right.

THE COURT: Okay.

MS. PATEL: Exactly.

THE COURT: What we all agreed that means is that when Dondero is called as Acis' witness, your cross can go beyond the scope of direct.

MS. PATEL: Exactly, Your Honor.

THE COURT: All right. So with that, I will turn to Acis. You may call your first witness.

MR. FRITZ: We call Mark Okada.

THE COURT: All right. Mr. Okada, welcome. If you could approach our witness stand; I'll swear you in.

Please raise your right hand.

(Witness sworn)

THE COURT: All right, please take a seat.

DIRECT EXAMINATION

BY MR. FRITZ:

Q. Good morning, sir.

A. Good morning.

Q. Could you please state your name for the record?

A. Mark Okada.

Q. Where are you employed?

A. Highland Capital Management.

Q. Okay, what is your position at Highland Capital Management?

A. I'm the co-founder and co-chief investment officer.

Q. You say you're the co-founder. Can you tell me about Highland's founding?

A. Yeah. We formed -- "we" meaning Protective Life and Jim Dondero and myself, formed the firm in April of '93; so it was about twenty-five years ago. And Highland had a different name then; it was Protective Asset Management. But we -- we changed that name, bought out our parent -- or our partner in Protective Life in -- in '97 and moved the company to Dallas in '94. So, yeah, that -- that's sufficient?

Q. Yes. Could you please explain to the judge what business Highland's in?

A. So we are an investment manager, which means that we manage funds that investors can invest in, and our -- our role is to, really, provide the -- the investment-management services and the risk management for those investors, in different markets.

Q. What types of funds does Highland manage?

A. So we manage a -- a wide variety of funds, everything from hedge funds to private-equity funds, mutual funds, ETFs, private-equity funds (sic). And then the largest asset class we manage is structured-credit funds, called CLOs or collateralized loan obligations.

Q. And what's been Highland's experience with CLOs?

A. So we really were there at the founding of the industry. Back in 1996, we did our first CLO. And back then, we -- we probably did the first investor-led transaction in the space. Today the -- the industry is, gosh, about 600 billion. It's a very large industry. But when we started, we were the first people to do one for -- from an investor standpoint. And, yeah, that was in 1996.

Q. And you said before, you were the chief investment officer?

A. Yes.

Q. And as chief investment officer, do you have any personal experience with CLOs?

A. Yes.

Q. Could you explain that?

A. So I mean, I -- I've been involved in everything from structuring and managing to restructuring to -- to raising funds for -- for CLOs and analyzing them since really 1995 when we started the process. So it's been twenty-three years I'm now involved in the industry and as it's evolved since then. So I've been very involved in -- in the entire space as a manager, as -- as somebody who's helping, you know, lead our -- our -- our teams in the space. But, yeah, I've been very involved in -- in the CLO business for as long as anybody, really.

Q. And with respect to the CLO business at Highland, do you still take part in active management of that?

A. Yeah; the team directly reports in to me. I -- I -- I -- I supervise and oversee the -- the -- the activities of -- of our -- our CLO team, which includes originating and -- and managing CLOs, but also our -- our investing in -- in the -- in the -- the marketplace of -- of investing in CLO bonds and equity, and then also interfacing with investors in explaining market risks and opportunities and -- and -- and things like that.

Q. You see Mr. Terry's in the courtroom today?

A. Yes.

Q. While Mr. Terry was at Highland, did he report to you?

A. Yes, he did.

Q. Now, we've talked about Highland's management of CLOs. Are you familiar with an entity called Acis Capital Management, L.P. and Acis Capital Management GP?

A. Yes.
Q. And Acis is also an asset manager for CLOs, correct?
A. Correct.
Q. And are you familiar with the Acis-managed CLOs at Highland?
A. Yes.
Q. Let me back up and ask you some general questions about CLOs. What's the purpose of a CLO?
A. So a CLO is a structured product, or a securitization. What that basically means is you're taking a -- a pool of -- of investments, or in this case they're -- they're called bank loans, the corporate bank loans that are issued by -- by companies. And you're -- you're funding a pool of those in using CLO bonds and equity.

And so a CLO is a structure that is formed to -- to house the investments, and it's funded by issuing CLO bonds and CLO equity. And then as it's -- as it's -- it has a -- a -- a reinvestment period and a maturity as -- these deals are anywhere from eight to twelve years long; they're -- they're fairly long-life transactions.

But the purpose of a CLO is -- is -- is -- as in all securitizations, is to yield to -- tranche the risk of that pool, so that the pool of loans will have a certain type of risk based on the market and the -- but the bonds that you issue and the equity that you issue will have different types of risk.

So you can -- you -- you can allocate the risk to different types of investors that want to fund into markets, taking different types of risk. And that's -- that's how securitizations are structured. And the -- and so a CLO is formed to do that in -- in the ARM (ph.) market.

Q. Can you explain to the judge who are the various parties of a CLO?

A. Sure. So as -- as we were talking about, there's -- Acis would be -- are -- are the CLO manager. So what managers do is -- is they're -- they're out looking to form transactions to raise the capital and then help structure them and distribute them but also manage them on a go-forward basis.

With a CLO, the -- the -- the -- the investment manager is going to be managing the pool of assets -- or loans or assets in -- in -- in the portfolio, during the reinvestment period, and then managing those assets during the -- the -- the wind-down or liquidation at the end.

So that -- that's the manager's role. And we -- this is all driven by an indenture. Indenture is the document that the trustee administers, that talks about really all the rules of how the CLO is governed and how -- how things can be traded, and also lays out all of the -- the covenants and the structure for the -- the deal.

So there's a trustee -- an independent third-party trustee that will manage the -- the structure for the benefit of the bondholders and the equity. They -- they -- they create a monthly report, called the trustee report, that really details all the activity within -- within each individual CLO.

And then we have an underwriter. So every deal that is done has a -- an underwriter, and these would be your -- your big Wall Street banks like -- like a Merrill Lynch or a B of A or a JPMorgan or a Goldman Sachs. They -- they have the salesforce and the -- the -- the -- the wherewithal to go and pool the investors together and help you structure and raise a -- a transaction. So there's always an underwriter.

And then we obviously have the -- the bondholders and the equity investors. So the CLO bondholders, as I mentioned earlier, are -- this is a -- it's about a 600-billion-dollar market. So the people that invest -- or the -- the investors that invest in CLO bonds would be anything from, gosh, large pensions, sovereign-wealth banks, insurance companies.

But they're -- they're investing in this market because these bonds are rated for a certain type of credit risk. We have everything from B all up to AAA sorts of risk. And so they're looking at, gosh, I can invest in these bonds at a -- a certain rating and a certain risk versus a certain price. And that's -- that's what the bondholders are doing. And they -- they have the indenture that it's governed -- what they're doing.

And then on the other side, you have the -- the equity. The equity sponsor or the equity investors in the transaction, they're -- they're taking the most risk in the transaction. They put the -- the money in that -- that comes out last. They're taking the risk of all that -- the -- the bank-loan pool of -- of what happens to it over time, and all the loans in there. And -- and as the -- the transaction goes forward, the -- the -- they'll be rewarded with -- with -- with the net income off the portfolio.

So those are the basic -- there's lawyers, obviously, involved in these things, and -- and -- but that -- those are the -- the major players in a CLO.

Q. We were talking before about Acis Capital Management LLC -- L.P., and Acis Capital Management GP. For the purposes of this examination, can we just refer to those as "Acis"?

A. Yes.

Q. With respect to Acis, do you know approximately how many CLOs Acis manages?

A. Right now, about five. Yeah, five.

Q. Does Acis have any employees?

A. No.

Q. If Acis doesn't have any employees, how does Acis manage those CLOs?

A. It has a -- a shared-service contract with Highland Capital Management.
Q. Does Acis own any equity in the CLOs it manages?
A. No.
Q. Is Acis a bondholder in any of the CLOs it manages?
A. No.
MR. FRITZ: Omar, could you put up slide 2, please?
UNIDENTIFIED SPEAKER: (Indiscernible) the input.
Q. If you look on your screen, Mr. Okada, you see the titles "ALF's equity investments" and "All Acis CLOs". You see that?
A. Yes.
Q. Could you please describe for the judge what's being shown in this slide?
A. So this is a -- a chart that shows the -- believe the original amount of -- of CLO equity that was invested in the Acis CLOs. So those -- the 1940 (ph.), the 51, 53, and 52 million dollars would be the original amounts of equity that were invested into each of those CLOs; we call them 1, 3, 4, 5, and 6, for -- for reference.
And then there's this unfunded commitment. ALF is a -- a -- a vehicle that has additional cash in unfunded -- unfunded commitments to invest in further equity of -- of CLOs and -- and CLO securities.
Q. Near the top of this chart, you see there's a circle with the term "ALF" in it. You know who ALF is?

A. So that is a Highland -- that's our -- that's our Highland Loan Funding -- formerly known as Acis -- as Acis Loan Funding; we refer to it as ALF, kind of a sticky name which you -- which you hear at once.

But -- but yeah, that -- that's a -- a vehicle that is set up to invest in the equity of -- of -- of CLOs and also invest in -- in the -- the secondary market of CLO securities.

Q. So just so the record's clear, this entity is currently known as Highland Loan Funding Ltd. but was formerly known as Acis Loan Funding?

A. That's correct.

Q. For simplicity's sake, just to be consistent with kind of what we've been using, will we refer to that entity as "ALF"?

A. Yeah. Sure.

Q. Mr. Okada, you see there's another diagram up, the screen there? You see that "ALF" in the middle?

A. (No audible response).

Q. Can you please describe to the judge the various parties you see identified on this chart?

A. So what this is is it shows who the investors are in ALF that hold the -- basically hold the equity of this CLO 3; this is the third CLO that has -- had an original amount of about forty million dollars of equity. So there's -- there's two institutional investors that hold the majority; each have about forty-nine percent of the transaction -- or of -- of -- of ALF. And then there's Highland employees that have a -- a small amount of -- of investment in the -- the ALF vehicle.

Q. When you say the Highland employees have two percent, could you please describe that a little bit more?

A. So if you -- one of the things that we -- we -- we think is important for our investors to understand is that our employees are aligned with them. So we -- we give the opportunity for the employees of the firm to invest alongside of our investors so that they have the same experience and they're aligned. It's kind of like eating your own cooking.

So that two percent would represent a direct investment into the transact -- into the ALF fund, by various Highland employees; I'm one of them. Various people on the team are -- that are involved in managing our CLOs have their own equity invested -- or their own capital invested alongside the -- the equity investors here.

Q. Now, is this -- when you say "their own equity", is this money that they actually take out of their pocket, put in, or is it contributed by --

A. No, no, no. It's -- it's -- it's their own capital.

Q. So they actually invest their own product (ph.)?

A. Yes.

Q. We have two other entities there that each own forty-nine percent. There's one up there that says, "third party"; do you see that?

A. Yes.
Q. Is that an independent third party?
A. Yes.
Q. Now, there's another one: the charitable foundation. Can you describe generally what that charitable foundation is?
A. So the charitable foundation is a -- a donor-advised fund set up to provide charitable donations to -- you know, like any foundation, in -- in various charities around the country, really.
Q. Now, during the course of this hearing, we've heard the term -- or the entity "CLO Holdco Ltd." Do you know who that is?
A. Yes.
Q. Can you please tell the judge who that is?
A. So CLO Holdco Ltd. is the vehicle that houses the charitable foundation's investment in the equity of the CLOs. So it -- it could be, like, their brokerage account or their checking account that -- that holds the -- the -- the CLO equity investment. It's just a holding vehicle that houses the actual CLO equity.
Q. So that CLO equity for the charitable foundation, that would be the charitable foundation's money?
A. Yes.
Q. Obviously, this charitable foundation, I assume, makes donations?

A. Yes.
Q. Who controls what donations the charitable foundation makes?
A. So it's -- it's -- it's a donor-advised fund but it's -- it's administered by The Dallas Foundation, and -- and -- and -- primarily. And -- I'm not sure if you're familiar with -- with -- with what I -- The Dallas Foundation does, but they -- they provide all of the operational and -- and structural management for a donor-advised fund.
And -- and -- and -- and the way these things are set up, they'll have a staff that help you write the -- the -- the -- the different grants that you're going to make, determine who to donate the money to, evaluate those -- those different charities, and help you plan out how -- how the charity is -- is -- is to go about its -- its -- its donations.
Q. Is The Dallas Foundation an affiliate of Highland?
A. No.
Q. With regard to this charitable foundation, who decides how the charitable foundation invests its money?
A. So the -- the investments within the charitable foundation ultimately are -- are managed by a -- a trustee; his name is Grant Scott. And so we have a independent trustee that -- that -- that oversees the -- the investing activity of -- of the charitable foundation.
Q. Is Mr. Scott a friend Highland?

A. Yes. He -- he and Jim go way back; twenty, thirty years.
Q. You also mentioned he was an independent trustee?
A. Yes. He's a -- he's a lawyer and that -- that's his role: to -- to -- to be the -- the independent trustee for the transaction.
Q. Do you understand if Mr. Scott owes any duties to the foundation?
A. Well, yeah. I mean, as the trustee, he has a fiduciary duty to the -- to the foundation.
Q. And do you have a general understanding of what the fiduciary duty is?
A. Well, he's -- he's supposed to make sure that the -- the foundation's interests are -- are -- are put first, ahead of, you know, anybody else in the -- in the -- in his dealings, and to make sure that it's -- it's administered in a -- in a fair and lawful way.
Q. Is Mr. Scott an employee of Highland?
A. No.
Q. Has he ever been?
A. No.
Q. Does Highland own any of the assets in the charitable foundation?
A. No, they do not.
Q. What about Mr. Dondero?
A. No, he does not.

Q. Does Highland or Mr. Dondero have access to any of the funds held by the charitable foundation?
A. No.
MR. FRITZ: Omar?
Q. I want to talk kind of about the Acis-managed CLOs in the time period of 2014 to 2017; would that be okay?
A. Yes.
Q. So if I own equity in a CLO -- and let's use CLO 3 as an example -- how do I make money?
A. Okay, so let me explain this chart to you, because it -- think of it -- this is a balance sheet, the way this is set up; so you have assets and liabilities. The assets here are these -- a loan portfolio. This is made up of anywhere between 100 to 200 individual loans to corporations. The type of corporations we're talking about here are large; they have a -- an average of about a billion dollars of -- of overall size and total capitalization. So we're talking about American Airlines, big companies that issue within this loan market that we're investing in.
But think of those as our assets. Right? So that -- that market that we're investing in, this loan-portfolio returns, these are the assets that are going to generate the income that is -- that is structured into -- that goes into paying the -- the liabilities of the structure.
So the -- the manager is going to be -- Acis is going to -- or Highland is going to be managing this loan portfolio during the reinvestment period, and during that period we can be trading it, we can buy and sell -- buying things and selling them. We want to avoid things that are going to end up here in the bankruptcy court, because we don't want them to default, per se.

THE COURT: We talked about Toys "R" Us a lot yesterday.

THE WITNESS: Yeah, okay. Okay. Yeah, that -- that's a good example of something that -- that we -- that can end up in one of these -- these pools.

A. And the --

THE COURT: Um-hum.

A. -- manager's role is to determine is that a good investment, that's going to pay off based on its collateral, et cetera, et cetera.

So the income -- this -- this top box up here is supposed to represent the -- the quarterly interest income. So these loans are yielding LIBOR plus something, and they're going to pay every quarter, on average. And that -- that's the variable income that's coming out of the loan portfolio.

And how it's applied is the -- is -- is the next chart here on the right. So when we look at the -- the liability structure, when I talked about the bondholders -- the CLO bond debt that -- that you issue in the equity, this is how it's represented here. So you have AAA, AA bonds; they're all rated different ratings. They're -- they're issued in the marketplace.

And the reason it says "fixed payment" is because their coupons are determined at the day that you issue the bonds and you -- you -- you fund them. So the -- the -- when you have a pricing and when you go do a deal, you price your AAAs at a certain price; LIBOR plus something. And that's fixed -- those payments are fixed so everyone knows what the liability costs are going to cost you when you do a transaction.

So the way this -- the way this works is each quarter you take your -- your income, you subtract what you have to pay in the form of your expenses, which would be your bond coupon, your bond-interest payments, your management fees, to the -- the CLO manager. There's trustee fees and expenses that come out of the transaction; those are all paid. And then whatever's left over, given -- if the thing -- if -- if the transaction is -- is operating normally, would flow out to the equity in the form of a dividend or a net income.

So your -- your question was how do you make money in a CLO. You can see that the bondholders are making a -- a -- a coupon return based on the types of risks -- the -- the rating that they're -- risks that they're taking. And then the equity investor here is getting that quarterly distribution.

And then at the end of the transaction, whether you either call it or -- or wind it up, the -- the principal amount of these loans is used to pay off the debt in the order that it's on here; so the AAA gets paid off first, AA, A. That's why these are very -- the -- the -- very highly rated, high-quality assets because they get paid off first and the equity gets paid off last.

So the -- the -- the way you make money in a CLO is -- is, if you're the equity, right, you want to maximize your variable income coming off your loan portfolio or your assets, versus the amount of fixed payments you have to pay, because if you have -- if you have a higher income coming off a portfolio than what you have to pay for your liabilities for the CLO bonds, then you have higher dividends. That's -- that's how the structure works.

Q. Are you familiar with essentially the returns on the Acis-managed CLOs from 2014 to 2016?

A. Yes.

Q. Can you please describe for the judge what type of return the Acis-managed CLOs saw in -- between 2014 and 2016?

A. So the dividends expressed in, like, an annual return are anywhere from fourteen to sixteen, seventeen percent; so pretty high returns for that period.

Q. Has that changed recently?

A. Yes. That -- that's coming down.

Q. Could you please explain that to the judge?

A. So what's -- what's happened as the economy's gotten better, as the -- the markets have -- have improved, the overall pricing within this loan asset class has compressed. So -- so borrowers are refinancing their debt at lower yields. As -- as more people are looking to invest in these loans, there's more demand for them. As the economy's been good, that -- that amount of return that we're getting in this loan portfolio is -- for the entire industry, is coming down.

So that -- that variable income coming off the portfolio -- let's -- let's just make an example. Let's say, before, we were making six percent on the portfolio and we were paying four percent for all of our liabilities and two percent was coming out every quarter. That's how we were getting to our nice returns that we discussed earlier. Today, 2017, that six percent might have dropped to five percent.

And so now you have five percent coming off the portfolio. You're still paying the same amount, that five percent, the -- the -- the four percent for the liabilities, all -- the cost of your debt. And so now you only have one percent left over.

So you can see how that -- as -- as -- as loan income drops, because you have these fixed payments for your -- your liability structure, you're going to compress the amount of net income that's coming out to be equity. And that's what happened to this -- this CLO specifically in -- in 20 -- 2017.

Q. If the return to equity keeps diminishing, does the market have a response for that?

A. Yeah. So -- so one of the -- the things that's happened within the marketplace in a pretty big way is -- is something called a reset, or a refinance. And what a reset is is you go and you reset the transaction. That involves repricing all of these bonds to -- to current market prices.

So -- so now your costs of debt will now reflect the current environment versus what it used to be. Think about refinancing your home mortgage; you're going -- you're going to get a lower rate now because all rates have come down.

So a reset would be you go back and you remarket all of these bonds, you reprice them to current market prices and, because those are lower -- think of our example before where we went from six and four -- six minus four, it gets to two, and then we went from five minus four, it gets to one. Now it might be five minus three or three and a half, and that would get us back up to a higher equity return.

The other thing that happens in a reset is you're going to extend the reinvestment period for the -- for the -- the CLO, and you're going to reset a lot of the covenants. We didn't talk about the covenants within a CLO; it gets kind of complicated because there's -- there's a lot of things governing how these payments work in a structure.

But suffice it to say, you -- you reset the covenants, which can be -- free up the manager to be able to invest in more things, because as the deals get closer and closer to the end of their reinvestment period, it becomes more restrictive. The bondholders is -- these bonds that are listed here, they want to have certainty of getting paid. So they -- they restrict to what the manager can invest in, as you get closer and closer to the end of the reinvestment period.

Q. Mr. Okada, if part of a reset is, for example, reducing the coupon rate to the bondholders, why would the bondholders ever go along with it?

A. So as -- as in all bond -- all investors are going to look at an -- an investment based on what their alternatives are. So when we would go out to do a reset, we'd be offering these bonds in a -- in a -- a -- a new offering, and they would have to be attractive versus where the markets are.

The -- the -- the existing investor that's in the bond -- that holds the bond today is -- is the primary person that you're going to, to talk about the reset. They can either -- they can either roll, meaning they can be -- they can -- they can be -- they can stay in the bonds and just take a lower coupon, or they can be replaced by other investors. So if there's other investors that want to hold that risk at the current marketplace, they'll just get paid off and their -- their returns would go away.

So it's a competitive dynamic of -- in the reset, where you're repricing things to market, and the investor who's -- who's looking at that, the AAA, the AA, A, will be looking at other alternatives of where CLO bonds or other similarly rated debt is trading, and say, well, that makes sense and I want to do that, I want to invest in -- in the transaction.

Q. Are you familiar with how many resets have occurred in 2017, approximately?

A. It's -- there's a lot. I -- I think the numbers are, like -- I -- I would be guessing, but something like thirty, forty billion dollars. A lot of -- of resets. Maybe even more than that. So a -- a lot of it.

Q. Relatively speaking, compared to other years, how does that compare in terms of the number of resets you saw in 2017?

A. I'm not sure I understand your question.

Q. In other words, did you see an uptick as compared to 2013, 2014 --

A. Yeah; resets are a fairly new phenomenon. They -- they really started in -- at the end of '16 and '17 and -- through 2017. And -- and I think we've done ten or fifteen billion in -- in January alone. So there's a lot of these happening in the marketplace right now.

Q. When you say "we", who are you referring to?

A. The -- the entire CLO industry. When I refer to that six hundred billion, that's -- there -- there are -- there are probably several hundred different CLO managers that are managing CLOs in that space, and a lot of them are taking advantage of the CLO resets to lower their costs of debt, their costs of financing, and their transactions, to match -- to better match what -- where the -- the market has gone and, therefore, improve their equity returns and then extend the deals to make them easier to manage.

Q. With respect to the Acis-managed CLOs, have those been able to be reset?

A. One of them.

Q. Did it actually execute?

A. Well, we priced it. We -- we -- we had a -- we -- we had an underwriter, Mizuho, and we went out to market for this transaction specifically. We priced all the bonds. And then this proceeding occurred and that stopped that from happening.

Q. Mr. Okada, do you recognize what's been put up on the screen and labeled as Acis Exhibit 194?

A. Yes, I do.

Q. Could you please explain to the judge what this is?

A. So this is an analysis of that equity return that we talked about earlier for the May 1st period for CLO 3, before and after the reset. So the top part is kind of the state of the -- of the transaction as it sits, and the bottom part is what will happen once the reset that we priced went into effect.

So it shows what happens to both the -- the variable income, the -- the income that's coming off the portfolio, on the left side, and then what changes to the -- the costs of the bonds and the fixed payments that you have to pay on the other side, and it shows the net income that's going to come out to the equity in the form of net income. And this is just for one quarter for that May period.

Q. Which CLO does this apply to?

A. CLO 3.

Q. Now, in the upper right-hand corner, I see a number around 4.5 million dollars. What number is that?

A. So that's -- that's the interest projection of how much those -- those loan portfolio -- those 100 to 200 loans are going to pay in coupon income for that quarter. So we -- the -- the -- there's a internal accounting system called Wall Street Office that will -- that has all the loans in it, all the coupons, and we project out what will be paid in that quarter, based on the current coupons.

So that's what that totals. That 4.583 totals the total amount of -- of interest income that's coming into the transaction as of that date, for that quarter.

Q. And I see underneath that number there's a lot of numbers in parentheses. Can you describe for the judge what those numbers are?

A. So this would be, when we talked about the fixed payments on the liability structure, what has to be paid in that quarter. So there's the fees, the -- that goes to the CLO manager; that's called senior fees; that's the 147. The expenses, those are the trustee fees and other fees that -- that occur during the quarter.

Then there's a -- staying on the fees line, there's a sub fee that also comes out to the manager down there, at 246. You see that?

And then there's the -- the coupons that are being paid to those bondholders for the quarter, and these -- these amounts show the number of days that it's calculated, based on the -- the LIBOR base rate and then the -- the overall all-in coupon based on the spread and the amount. And that's just calculated into those numbers. So that million-664 is what the AAA bondholders are going to get as far as their coupon return for that quarter.

And as we said before, these really don't change in a CLO. At -- at least the -- the -- the way it's calculated don't (sic) change. The LIBOR will change, but -- but the way the -- the coupons are -- are calculated stays the same.

And then on the bottom we have some more expenses that come out, at the bottom.

And then -- so this 565, think of it as your net income. So you had your -- your income coming out the portfolio, you pay all your expenses, and then you have your net income.

What's a little different about this demonstrative here is -- and this structure, is there's a test that was tripped. There's something called an OC test, an overcollateralization test, that has -- has different forms; one is the diversion test. So once you trip the diversion test, now something happens to this net income. It doesn't flow out to the equity. The dividends don't get to the equity investor. Half of them are diverted and they go back into the -- the loan pool. So they're -- they're reinvested back in the deal.

The -- the -- the purpose of the -- of the diversion is -- is to improve the value or the -- the size of the portfolio or the collateral that all these bondholders are depending on, if it -- if it goes down. So maybe we had a -- a Toys "R" Us or something where we have a default, and you may trip this -- this diversion test, as CLO 3 has, and then so that -- that 2 -- 282 would be half of the -- the income that would have gone to the investors; instead, it's going to be reinvested and go back into the transaction and go into the loan pool to be reinvested. So that's why this ultimate 282 is what -- what is coming out to the equity investors for this quarter.

Q. Can you please describe to the judge what this section of Exhibit 194 describes?

A. So this is a projection of what the CLO would be returning to the equity and -- and the -- the bondholders under the -- the transaction that we had priced in the reset.

So once we reset the deal and priced it, now we know what all the new coupons are. We refinanced all of our debt to these new prices that are lower than the ones up top. And so we're -- we're going to apply that over time, in this period, and then we're going to have the expenses and the fees stay the same in the transaction.

Up top, we have a higher -- you can see the -- the income coming off the portfolio's a little bit higher. CLO 3 -- because it's at the end of its reinvestment period, it's hard to invest all the cash in the portfolio. There's -- there's these tests that say you can't own debt that has maturities beyond a certain amount of time, and that restricts our -- the pool of investments that we can make for this CLO.

By resetting it, we improve the -- we -- we make the market bigger for us to invest in more loans. And so having more loans in the portfolio will increase the amount of income that -- that comes off in that quarter.

So we're pro-forming (sic) that we would be spending some of our cash into loans and that pickup -- and that interest income is what's reflected on the top here, in that 4.8 million versus the 4.5 we had earlier.

So what you're seeing here now is we -- we have our income. We pay our expenses and the fees and the bond interest to the -- the new bondholders in the reset that we priced. And then what's coming out at the bottom is this million-three. There's no diversion test now because we've reset all the tests in the transaction. So that -- that -- that -- that diversion test that got tripped before, it's not -- it's -- now it's fine because we reset that in the transaction. And so the entire amount of 1.3 million dollars would flow out to the equity in this -- this quarter.

And so on the bottom, you see the difference between the -- the payment that we had projected and what will happen after we do the reset.

Q. And Mr. Okada, earlier you said this is for one quarter?

A. Yes.

Q. Do you have any idea of what'll happen in quarters to come if -- both if and -- if the CLO is reset and the CLO is not reset?

THE CLERK: (Indiscernible).

MR. FRITZ: Yes, ma'am. Sorry.

A. So in the case where we -- we can't do the reset, what will happen is -- is the amount of income coming off the portfolio will go down, because there's fewer loans that we can invest in, because of the restrictions in the -- the transaction. So that's going to come down. Our fixed payments will stay the same, and so that diversion test -- that OC test will still be the same.

So that amount to the equity will go down and down and down, and it could go to zero. And so that -- that's a bad thing. We -- we don't -- we don't want that.

In a reset, because we've reset the transaction, you'll get similar sorts of payments like this each quarter. So -- so there's a -- this -- this million-dollar increase in -- in income actually will grow, in the two different scenarios where we do the reset.

In this scenario, we'll -- we'll -- we'll have very nice income each quarter, assuming that the world doesn't blow up. But -- but -- but if -- if not, because of the -- the fact that the -- the income will be coming down in the transaction and we have to pay all the expenses, at some point, we're going to have to -- we're going to have to call -- the -- the equity will decide to call the deal and -- and wind it up, because we're not going to make any money coming out of the portfolio -- you shouldn't -- you -- you're not going to want to have the -- the -- the -- the structure in place.

MR. FRITZ: Omar, could you pull up 193?

Q. Mr. Okada, I've asked Omar to pull up Exhibit 193. Are you familiar with this document?

A. Yes.

Q. Could you explain to the judge what this document is?

A. So you saw "Mizuho" on the front page; that's our underwriter for the reset. This is the pricing document that shows what we -- we -- what we were successful in -- in placing in the market on January 26 and were set to fund and close on February 1st for CLO 3. And you can see it has the amounts of the -- the debt, the new pricing, the new coupons that we had placed in the marketplace, the amounts, the ratings. And then they have new CUSIPs because they're -- they're new bonds. So that -- that's -- that's what you see here.

And -- and -- so this was -- this was priced; this was done. We had third-party investors that had spoken for all of these bonds in the marketplace, and we were ready to go with our reset.

Q. So this wasn't hypothetical; this wasn't --

A. No, no. This is done. We -- we had trade tickets and we were priced and we were in the process of -- of trying to close the transaction.

Q. Did the transaction close?

A. No, it did not.

Q. Why did it not close?

A. Because of -- Mr. Terry filed Acis for involuntary bankruptcy proceedings.

MR. FRITZ: Omar, could you go to Exhibit 192?

Q. Do you recognize the document that we put up on the screen? It's Exhibit 192.

A. Yes.

Q. What is it?

A. So this is the -- the -- well, I spoke earlier about the trustee and what they do. This is -- would be a -- a monthly trustee report that they performed for CLO 3 for that -- for the month -- for the -- the -- the month of February. I'm not sure what month this actually is, but -- but it's dated February 21st.

MR. FRITZ: Omar, would you go to page 5, please?

Q. Mr. Okada, do you recognize the chart that's on page 5?

A. Yes.

Q. Could you tell the judge what that chart is?

A. So it lays out all those bonds of the existing CLO, as they stand, with -- with the amounts, and the coupons that -- for the original pricing, and their -- their original rating and their current rating, and -- and the amounts. And then it has -- at the bottom it -- it shows the amount of -- of assets, term loans, and different assets of the CLO and the number of them; so there's 189 individual loans here that total 378 million dollars.

And then there's these -- these different tests. There's the -- the coverage test, the quality test, the -- these are the things that are in the indenture that the trustee is going to tell you whether you're passing or failing them, in that month.

Q. Does the trustee have any involvement in deciding whether or not to reset a CLO?

A. No -- well, I mean, they're -- they're going to -- they're going to have to administer the new CLO, the new bonds, once it's -- it's reset.

Q. Who does the trustee report to?
A. The trustee reports to the transaction itself, to the fund.
Q. "To the fund" meaning the CLO?
A. Yes, the CLO.
MR. FRITZ: Could you turn back to Exhibit 194?
Q. So we just saw two exhibits: the Mizuho -- that -- the data chart, and then also the U.S. Bank trustee report. Does the information you saw there correlate with the information that's in Exhibit 194?
A. Yeah, that's -- that's where these -- the -- the information came from to make this -- this chart here.
Q. So in essence, the information in the top chart came from U.S. Bank, which is an independent trustee? Correct?
A. Yes.
Q. And who did the -- who provided the information in the bottom chart?
A. Mizuho, for the -- the -- we were talking specifically about the -- the pricing, the amounts of the bonds, for up top versus the bottom.
Q. And remind the judge who Mizuho is.
A. Mizuho would be the underwriter of the transaction.
Q. Is Mizuho a Highland-related entity?

A. No. They're -- they're an investment bank.
Q. What about U.S. Bank? Is that a Highland-related entity?
A. No. That's -- they're an independent trustee.
Q. And it's -- there's -- and it's those two entities whose members are driving what you see here in Exhibit 194?
A. Yes.
Q. So Mr. Okada, we've discussed CLO 3 in detail in Exhibit 194. Do you know if, for example, the million-dollar loss we see equity facing if the CLO's not reset -- do you know if something similar will affect the other Acis-managed CLOs?
A. Yeah; they're all in the -- the same sort of situation as -- as -- as CLO 3. And our plan was to reset all of them.
Q. And why haven't the other Acis-managed CLOs been reset?
A. Oh, because we -- we're here and we can't do that with this proceeding going on.
Q. And is there any way you see that million-dollar loss for Acis CLO actually being reduced over the coming quarters?
MR. SHAW: I'm going to object to spec -- it calls for speculation.
THE COURT: Overruled. He can answer.
A. So as I said before, what will happen as -- as these deals age, as they get older, right, the -- the tests become more restrictive; it's harder for us to invest the portfolio. So the amount of income that we can get each quarter is going to go down.

And so without the reset and the benefit of the reset, we don't get to reinvest a lot of cash, so it sits there earning nothing and/or very small amounts. But we still have to pay those fixed income -- those fixed coupons every quarter. So the income's going to just fall for each -- all these transactions, with time. And so that's -- that's why the plan was to reset them.

Ultimately, if it gets bad enough, the -- the controlling -- the investors in the transactions will call the deal, they'll -- they'll wind them up. And -- and in that scenario, we -- we -- we'll pay it, we'll -- we'll liquidate the whole portfolio and we'll pay off all the bonds. And what's there left over, it will go to the equity investor and -- and the deal's gone; there's no more fees to -- to the manager; the -- the deals just kind of go away.

But in that scenario, you're -- you're cementing the loss for the equity. They don't get to see any more current income and they have to -- they have to take their losses or gains, whatever they are, based on the value of the portfolio as you liquidate it. So there's no more interest income and it's -- it's different -- net income on a quarterly basis that we saw before, when you call a deal.

Q. You said you call -- that is called a call?

A. That -- yeah. When -- when a deal is called.

Q. If there's a possible loss associated with a call, why would an investor call a deal?

A. Because if -- if there's no net income coming off the portfolio, you're -- you're not -- it makes no sense to be the investor, and it really -- I mean, you -- you -- you wouldn't -- you'd want to take that equity that's sitting there and you want to reinvest it in something that's earning something. So if you're not going to earn anything, you might -- you'll be better off taking -- calling the deal, taking whatever equity you have left over, and maybe reinvesting it in a new CLO and then starting to get earned income again.

So in the -- in an event where a transaction can't be reset at some point -- and this is in the normal course of all CLOs; they all get called at some point. And that -- that's what'll happen here; you -- your -- your assets aren't earning enough to justify the cost of your liabilities, and that net income is not high enough to justify continuing to pay the management fees and trustee fees and -- and having that risk in the marketplace, so deals get called.
Q. And I think you said, and correct me if I'm wrong, but investors make the decision to call a deal?
A. Yes.
Q. Specifically which investors?
A. It's going to be the controlling-share class, which is normally the equity.

Q. And what would happen if a deal is called to the asset manager?
A. Their fees just go away. You stop getting your fees.
Q. Because what is -- remind me what a manager's fee -- what's it based on?
A. So the -- the manager gets -- as what you saw in that demonstrative where we had the senior fees and the sub fees, you get a fee that -- that's based on the total size of the portfolio. So this case, we had about a 380-million-dollar portfolio. You'd get a -- a small senior fee, which is ten or twelve basis points.

And then you get a sub fee after -- and the sub fee's -- pays out after -- after the bonds get paid. So that's why it's called a sub fee. That -- that -- that fee -- those two fees would go away in a call, because the deal's wound up; there's no more -- no more management of the loans. And so you're not -- you're not paid that -- that.

And fees, on average, they total about anywhere between fifteen and fifty basis points, on average. So they'd come down a bit, so the -- the -- today they're probably averaging in the thirty-, thirty-five-basis-point fees in total.
Q. Mr. Okada, if a deal is called by the investors, can an asset manager stop that from taking place?
A. Well, it -- it -- there -- there's -- a call has to happen in the -- based on what the indenture says the rules are. So as long as the call is -- is -- is in compliance with the indenture, no, the -- the manager needs to carry out the call.

Q. Do you know, based upon your experience in the industry and your particular experience with Acis, does Acis have a fiduciary duty to the investors in, for example, the Acis-managed CLOs?

A. So we have an investment-management agreement that's part of the -- the -- the -- the documentation for a CLO, and -- and -- and we provide the investment-management services for -- for all of the -- the bondholders and the equity holders in the -- in the deal, and we owe them a fiduciary duty.

Q. And for example, does that fiduciary duty include making sure that the investors receive the largest return on their money?

A. Risk-adjusted, right? We -- we want to make sure that -- that we are managing the -- the CLO as best as we can to optimize the returns and the recovery for the bondholders and the equity holders over time.

Q. Mr. Okada, are the Acis CLO equity holders being harmed by this involuntary bankruptcy?

A. Absolutely.

Q. Could you please explain that to the judge?

A. Well, as we just saw, I mean, even in this one example, right, there -- there's five CLOs within the Acis complex. But this one example in this one quarter -- there's a million dollars of income they're missing out on, and that's only going to grow. Plus -- so if you -- Acis -- ALF has -- I think, has invested about 200 million of -- of face of -- of equity in all these transactions.

So you -- if you can't reset them, you're materially reducing the amount of -- of that net income coming to the equity investors, every quarter. It's -- it's -- it's -- it's already happened. And we've already created the losses, because we haven't been able to refinance the debt.

We -- we would have already been in the market with CLO 4 and 5 and 6 by now. That was our plan to already kind of be in the market and reset those deals too so they had lower cost of debt.

And so the -- the -- the equity investors here are being materially harmed, because they -- they're getting much lower equity returns as a result of not being able to reset transactions in the marketplace.

Q. Mr. Okada, based upon your experience in the industry, if the equity holders are not allowed to reset their CLOs, specifically the Acis-managed CLOs, do you know what their solution is?

A. They're probably going to call the deals. I mean, at -- at some point, the arbitrage, or the difference between the income and the expense, is going to go down so much that there's going to be no need to have it structured together, so they'll call all the deals.

Q. And will -- with respect to the Acis-managed CLOs, will equity take any losses on those calls?

A. Yes. I mean, there -- there's been -- in all of these transactions, because they were done in 2014, there's been defaults in the portfolios and -- and -- and -- and some reduction in the overall amount of -- of the -- the loan pool. And so that'll be realized when you call the deal, because you have to sell the whole portfolio and pay off all the bondholders, and what'sever (sic) left over is -- so you're -- you're going to crystallize losses on a mark-to-market basis, for the equity investors when you call a deal.

Q. And do you have any idea, based upon your experience particularly with the Acis-managed CLOs, with respect to those losses that equity sustains? Will they hold someone responsible?

A. Yes, I believe so.

Q. Who?

A. Mr. Terry.

MR. FRITZ: No other questions, Your Honor.

THE COURT: All right. Let's figure out do we need a break. About how long do you think the cross will take?

MR. SHAW: I think forty-five minutes.

THE COURT: Okay. Let's take a ten-minute break, then.

THE CLERK: All rise.

(Recess from 10:40 a.m. until 10:52 a.m.)

(Audio begins mid-sentence)

MR. USATINE: -- if I may. Can I offer my demonstratives as a demonstrative exhibit?

THE COURT: All right. Yeah, the ones that you've been using --

MR. USATINE: Yes, ma'am.

THE COURT: -- this morning are not -- yes, you may approach.

MS. PATEL: Thank you.

THE COURT: I was flipping through your PowerPoint at one point; where are these pages in there marked.

Okay, so we're marking this Demonstrative 8.

(PowerPoint was hereby marked for identification as Demonstrative's Exhibit 8, as of this date.)

THE COURT: All right. There you are.

Mr. Okada, if you could resume your spot. And you are of course still under oath.

Mr. Shaw, you may proceed with your cross.

MR. SHAW: Thank you, Judge.

CROSS-EXAMINATION

BY MR. SHAW:

Q. Mr. Okada, you were discussing with Mr. Fritz this proposed reset transaction; you recall that?
A. Yes.
Q. I noted one omission in your exchange with him, with regard to the transaction, and that is that not only was this a reset but it was also a reset coupled with a change in the manager of the CLO from Acis, the alleged debtor to a Highland affiliate. That's true, correct?
A. Yes.
Q. What attempts did Acis make to go out and get value -- or value those collateral-management agreements that's contemplated to be transferred in this reset transaction?
A. I'm not sure I understand your question. Could you repeat it, please?
Q. Well, Acis was not getting anything for this reset tran -- this proposed reset transaction that would have transferred the collateral-management agreement from Acis to a Highland affiliate, right?
A. That's correct, I believe.
Q. And you've been involved in the sale of collateral-management agreements while you were at Highland, right?
A. Yes, I have.
Q. And for example, the Carlyle transaction where Highland sold collateral-management agreements to Carlyle, right?
A. Yes.

Q. Did Acis make any effort -- as opposed to agreeing to transfer the management of this CLO to a Highland affiliate, did Acis make any effort to go out and say, let's get some value for this collateral-management agreement that we are transferring to this Highland affiliate?
A. Well, Acis wouldn't qualify for the management for the reset, so that's not possible.
Q. So did Acis go out and try to get value for the collateral-management agreement that's at issue?
A. No, because Acis wouldn't be the manager under the reset.
Q. Does Acis have a duty to the investors in this particular CLO to transfer its collateral-management agreement to a Highland affiliate for no consideration?
A. The -- the duty is to -- to the investors, ultimately, as fiduciary right, to -- to make sure that their interests are -- are met. So the -- as we described in the reset, the -- the transaction's refinanced so that the equity would continue to get better payments over time.

So that -- that's -- that's the nature of the -- of the transaction.
Q. So you believe that Acis had a duty to the investors in the underlying CLO to agree to transfer and no longer be the collateral-management -- collateral manager under these particular CMAs?
A. They're -- they're CLOs. Don't --

Q. Under the CMA, the collateral-management agreement. I'm sorry.
A. Okay. I'm sorry. But the -- the transaction's going away under the reset, because Acis is not a qualified investor for -- for a reset. Resets have to be done with a manager that the market will accept. And given all the things going on with Acis, the -- the market is -- will not accept Acis as a manager. And plus, the -- the deal has to be risk-retention-compliant, and Acis does not have the capital to be a risk-retention-compliant manager.
Q. Now, Acis was risk-retention-compliant at one point, was it not?
A. For one transaction, it -- it did have the capital to do that.
Q. And then subsequent to the arbitration award that was entered on October 20th, 2017, a transaction occurred which made Acis nonrisk-retention-compliant, correct?
A. No, I -- I don't agree with that characterization.
Q. You're familiar with the sale of Acis' interest in ALF, correct?
A. "Sale of Acis interest in ALF". No.
Q. You're not familiar with that transaction?
A. No.
Q. Now, you understand that Mr. Terry did not have an issue with Acis resetting this CLO, is that correct?

A. I haven't talked to Mr. Terry about that. I don't -- I don't know what he's okay with or not.
Q. Are you familiar with this bankruptcy proceeding and what's occurred in the bankruptcy proceeding?
A. Only today. I mean, I -- I know that there's a -- he's filed for an involuntary, the -- on Acis.
Q. What efforts -- has Acis filed anything in this court to request permission to go forward with this reset or refi?
A. You're going to have to ask the lawyers that. I'm not -- I'm not aware of -- of what we've filed or not.
Q. Are you aware of Goldman Sachs passing on participating in the reset of this particular CLO?
A. We did -- we were working with Goldman as -- as a potential underwriter for CLO 3.
Q. And they didn't proceed with doing the underwriting for this particular deal, right?
A. No, they did not.
Q. And do you know why?
A. Well, they had -- they had concerns with the transaction, but I -- I don't know specifically what those concerns were.
Q. Have you seen any of the email traffic with regard to -- between Acis and Goldman Sachs?
A. Not that I -- no, I don't believe I saw those emails.
Q. So you're unaware of the fact that Goldman Sachs had an issue with the transfer of the collateral-management agreement or that this successor collateral-management -- collateral manager would be a Highland affiliate, as opposed to Acis?

A. I know that they had concerns with the -- with the -- the transaction and chose not to go forward.
Q. Now, let's go back to kind of a little bit of a -- I'm going to back up and talk about your role with Acis. Now, up until December 19, 2017, you were a limited partner in Acis, right?
A. I -- I'm -- I'm not familiar with that date or that data, but that -- that sounds correct. I mean, I could be -- I don't remember that date in my head, so -- but sounds good.
Q. You were a limited partner in Acis up until at least the issuance of the arbitration award in the underlying arbitration, right?
A. I -- I -- I don't -- I haven't looked at those dates, so I -- I don't want to answer that, because I -- I'm not -- I don't -- I haven't looked at that.
Q. Let's go to Exhibit 184.
MR. SHAW: Omar, if you don't mind pulling that up for me.
Q. Mr. Okada, this is an assignment, transfer, and amendment agreement. Do you recognize that document?
MR. FRITZ: Your Honor, if I may, I just point out that if Mr. Okada would like him to scroll through the document so he can read the entire thing, that we're happy to do that.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. SHAW: Maybe go on to the signature page. Would it be helpful to show where Mr. Okada's signature is?

MR. FRITZ: And Mr. Okada, there's a binder with hard copies, if you would rather look at those, to the right of the witness box.

THE WITNESS: Okay.

MR. SHAW: One more, please, Omar.

A. There I am.

Q. And that's your signature, correct?

A. Yes. Yes, it is.

Q. And that document is dated December 19th, 2017?

MR. SHAW: If you go to the first page, Omar.

A. Yeah, that's what it says.

Q. So does that refresh your memory as to when you ceased becoming a limited partner in Acis?

A. That's correct. That's what this is: the assignment, transfer, and amendment agreement.

Q. Now, so we know that at one point until December 19, 2017, which was the day after the judgment was entered in the 44th District Court, you were a limited partner in Acis. Do you have any corporate-governance role in Acis?

A. "Corporate-governance role".

Q. And maybe I can ask a better question. Are you an officer or director of Acis L.P. or Acis GP?

A. I don't know. Maybe.
Q. Do you know that Mr. Dondero is the president of Acis GP?
A. That sounds correct.
Q. And is there anybody higher in the organizational chart for Acis, than Mr. Dondero?
A. I don't have that chart in front of me. I'm -- you mean -- by "higher" -- what do you mean by "higher"?
Q. More senior than Mr. Dondero.
A. No, I -- I don't believe so.
Q. Now, your day-to-day role with Acis -- I think you described it a little bit that you have some role with risk analysis, et cetera; is that true?
A. Yes.
Q. Now, before Mr. Terry was terminated, he, in effect, ran the day-to-day operations for Acis, right?
A. He was the -- the head of the team. Yes.
Q. So he was -- he and his team were making the decisions on what loans to buy and sell and other of those kind of investment decisions?
A. In conjunction with our investment policies, our committees, and the oversight of myself and the rest of our partners, that's correct.
Q. You weren't involved in that, kind of, day-to-day minutiae, though, correct?

A. Well, I'm -- I -- I chair the investment committee and so any loan that goes into the CLOs is -- is something that has to go through those -- those committees. And so I -- I -- I do handle some -- some of the minutiae, even though I'm -- have a beard and I'm old.

Q. Well, you recall that you testified at the arbitration hearing in the underlying arbitration? You remember that?

A. Yes.

Q. And you remember that you were under oath during that arbitration proceeding, just like you were before today --

A. Yeah --

Q. -- correct?

A. Yes.

Q. Do you remember kind of describing yourself, with regard to your role with Highland and Acis, as the "outside guy", quote-unquote?

A. I -- I don't -- I don't recall what that is -- was referring to. I mean, when I -- when I -- when I refer to myself as the outside guy, I'm -- I'm the -- between Jim and I, I'm the extrovert, he's the introvert. And so I spend time with investors, I -- I go on TV, I do a lot of external activity for the firm.

So -- I don't remember specifically what you're referring to, but that's probably what that means.

Q. Right, and you do things like going and speaking at conferences, is that right?

A. Yes, I do.
Q. And describe to me, if you will, the difference between what you do for Highland and what Mr. Dondero does for Highland.
A. So -- so Jim -- Jim is the -- the president and -- and a majority partner for the firm, so he -- he manages the firm, he -- he's helping us try to figure out what -- where -- where -- where -- where risk lies and where opportunities are, how businesses should be managed. And -- and he also has, as I do, specific fund-management roles. He's portfolio manager for specific funds, and so he'll -- he'll manage those.
But the -- the -- the difference between our activities is he's my boss, and then I tend to have more investor contact and -- and, sort of, media contact than he does.
Q. So Mr. Dondero's your boss; he's also the majority owner of Highland ultimately, correct?
A. He and his trusts and -- yeah.
Q. And when I'm referring to Highland, I'm referring to Highland Capital Management, L.P. If I say -- if we talk about another entity that's got the Highland name in it, I'll make sure to make that distinction. Can we agree on that?
A. Okay.
Q. Now, did you read the arbitration award that was issued in the Terry arbitration?

A. Some of it.
Q. And you're aware that Highland issued a press release after that arbitration award became public?
A. Yes.
Q. Were you -- did you play any part in drafting that --
A. No, I did not.
Q. -- press release? And just if you can; I know sometimes you can anticipate my question but, if you will, just -- that makes the record a lot clearer.
A. Sorry.
Q. Did you approve of the issuance of that press release?
A. It -- it wasn't something that I was involved in specifically.
Q. Now, are you familiar with the fact that there have been several transactions that have occurred after the arbitration was entered on October 20th, 2017, with regard to Acis?
A. What do you mean by "transactions"? I'm sorry.
Q. Well, let's go through those and I think I can probably help you out there. Can we go to Exhibit 173. Have you ever seen this document, Mr. Okada?
A. No.
Q. And this is the transaction I was talking about before with regard to ALF, Acis Loan Funding, where Acis was selling its interest in ALF back to ALF. Do you see that there? If you look at the top Acis Loan Funding is defined as "the company," so anywhere the terms "the company" is used means ALF.

MR. FRITZ: Your Honor, I just wanted to ask Mr. Okada, would it be easier if we got you a hard copy to scroll through rather than the screen?

THE WITNESS: Yes.

THE COURT: You may.

MR. SHAW: 173.

(Pause)

Q. Let me just ask you this question, have you ever seen that document before?

A. No.

Q. So I take it you were not involved in the underlying transaction that is contemplated there?

A. No.

Q. All right. At the time that this document was executed four days after the arbitration award you were still a limited partner in Acis, right? Remember you transferred your Acis interest --

A. When you --

Q. I'm sorry.

A. You said Acis, you're referring to the manager, Acis Management?

Q. Yeah. When I say Acis -- I think you had the agreement with Mr. Fritz, that if we say Acis we're referring to Acis

Capital Management L.P., and Acis Capital Management --
A. Right.
Q. -- GP, LLC, can we have that agreement?
A. Yes.
Q. And so at the time that you executed this -- or at the time this document was entered into you were still a limited partner in Acis, right?
A. I believe that's correct.
Q. But you had no advance notice, and no knowledge regarding this transaction?
A. I had no knowledge.
Q. All right. Let's go to Exhibit 16, please.
MR. SHAW: May I approach, Your Honor?
THE COURT: You may.
THE WITNESS: We're killing a lot of trees.
MR. SHAW: It's the nature of our business unfortunately.
A. All right, 16.
Q. And if you would, just look through that real quickly, let me know if you have any familiarity with that document?
(Pause)
Q. Mr. Okada, I've got the signature pages up there on the screen if you look right there. Your signature's not there, correct?
A. No.

Q. Have you seen this document before?
A. Not that I remember.
Q. Now, let's go back to the first page there if you would. Are you aware of an October 2016 transaction, wherein Acis sold certain participation interests in CLOs that it managed to Highland in exchange for a promissory note?
A. I don't recall that.
Q. Are you aware of the fact that Acis had on its balance sheet as of October 20th, 2017 a promissory note that had about nine million dollars left to be paid on it from Highland Capital Management?
A. I don't -- I'm not familiar with that.
Q. So you never had any conversations with Mr. Dondero before he signed Exhibit 16?
A. Not that I can recall.
Q. And, again, you were a limited partner of Acis on November 3rd, 2017, correct?
A. Yes, I believe that's correct.
Q. Do you know who -- there's an entity here referenced Highland CLO Management Limited in the first paragraph on the first page. Do you see that there?
A. Yes, I see that.
Q. Okay. And that's a Cayman Islands exempted company. Are you familiar with Cayman Island exempted companies?
A. I'm familiar with Cayman Islands companies, I'm not sure what an exempted company is, but --

Q. Do you know who Highland CLO Management Limited is?
A. Not off the top of my head.
Q. Is it a Highland affiliate?
A. I don't know.
Q. Do you have any ownership interest in Highland CLO Management Limited?
A. I don't know.
Q. All right. Exhibit number 16, if you go down to the third whereas paragraph. It says, "Whereas HCM has notified Acis that HCM is unwilling to continue to provide support personnel and other critical services to Acis with respect to the CLOs," you see that?
A. Yes.
Q. Were you involved in the decision on behalf of Highland to inform Acis that it was unwilling to continue to provide personnel in other critical services to Acis?
A. No.
Q. And, again, you were a limited partner as of November 3rd, 2017?
A. Yes.
Q. And you see the paragraph 4 -- I'm sorry, the paragraph 3, the third whereas. It says, "Whereas has determined that the effect of the notification is that it cannot fulfill its duties as portfolio management of the CLOs. And in order ensure the continued operation of such CLOs and protection for its stakeholders it must assign its rights as portfolio manager in the CLOs to a qualified successor portfolio manager pursuant to the CLO documents." You see that?

A. Yeah, I read what you just read.

Q. Okay. And the next paragraph talks about that HCLOM is going to agree to be this qualified successor manager, right?

A. Yeah, that's what that says.

Q. Now, just in general Acis is an asset manager, right?

A. Yes.

Q. It's not a CLO, it's an asset manager, it manages CLOs, correct?

A. Yes.

Q. And an asset manager of CLOs, where does it derive its revenue from?

A. From the fees that it receives from managing assets.

Q. And where -- what document governs or entitles the asset manager to those fees?

A. It's usually and investment management or a management agreement.

Q. Right. So sometimes it's called a collateral-management agreement. Sometimes it's called a portfolio-management agreement. But those are essentially the same things; is that right?

A. Yes.

Q. Okay. And that is the source of the revenue for Acis?
A. Yes, in general, that's correct.
Q. And this November 3rd transaction Exhibit number 16, did Mr. Dondero consult with you before he executed this document on November 3rd?
A. No.
Q. All right. Let's look at Exhibit number 184, that's the Neutra document that we were discussing before. I'm sorry to go back and forth between exhibits. You didn't know you were going to get a workout.
Now we know you signed Exhibit 184, we looked at that before.
MR. SHAW: Omar, if you don't mind pulling that up too, go to his signature page.
A. Yes.
Q. Right. Who provided this document to you to sign?
A. Our internal legal counsel.
Q. And who in your internal legal counsel provided you that document to sign?
A. I think it was Thomas Surgent.
Q. Why were you transferring your partnership interest in Acis to Neutra one day after the judgment was rendered in the 44th District Court?
A. Because my counsel advised me to.
MR. FRITZ: Your Honor, I just would like to make sure to instruct the witness don't answer a question if to do so would require you to disclose communications with your counsel.

THE COURT: Okay. You understand?

THE WITNESS: Yeah.

THE COURT: Um-huh.

Q. Do you have any other basis other than the advice of internal counsel at Highland for you to sign this agreement?

A. No.

Q. And was Mr. Surgent, who's the chief compliance officer for Highland, correct?

A. And the I believe deputy general counsel.

Q. And he's also the chief compliance officer for Acis, is that right too?

A. I'm not certain, but that probably makes sense.

Q. Now, was he representing you in your individual capacity?

A. I'm not sure I understand your question.

Q. Well, you're a partner in Acis Capital Management personally, correct?

A. Yes.

Q. Do you know whether or not Mr. Surgent was representing you, Mark Okada, individually, or was he representing Highland, or was he representing Acis, or was he representing Neutra, do you know?

A. I'm not sure I understand your question.

Q. Now, over the course of your partnership interest in Acis, started in 2011 and lasted until December of 2017, you received distributions from Acis, right?
A. I believe that's -- it happened.
Q. Right. Let's just look at Exhibit 23, page 3, if you could, just to refresh your memory. And it will come up here, and I don't think you're going to -- you probably won't need to look at it. If you can just look at it on the screen, I think this won't be easy?
MR. FRITZ: Mr. Okada, please free to look at the entire document in hard copy if you need to.
MR. SHAW: Can you zoom in on that.
Q. And you see there under the listing for equity there's Mark Okada draws, you see that there?
A. Yes, I see that there.
MR. FRITZ: We want to make sure you capture -- is there anything else? Thank you, Mark.
MR. SHAW: Can you zoom in -- or do you want to look at both pages, or --
Q. I mean, you don't have any reason to dispute that you've received distributions in excess of two million dollars from Acis from 2011 to 2017, do you?
A. I don't -- I don't -- I didn't -- I haven't seen this before, so, but it could be right.
Q. You've received distributions from Acis over the course of 2011 to 2017, right?

A. Is that what this document represents?
Q. Well, I'm just asking the question, independent of that you've been a limited partner and you've received distributions from Acis over the course of its existence, right?
A. Yes.
Q. Now, do you own any of this Neutra entity, that's a Cayman entity?
A. I don't know.
Q. Did you discuss this transaction that's reflected in Exhibit number 184 with anyone other than counsel at Highland?
A. No.
Q. And your rationale -- I just want to make sure the record's clear, your rationale for executing this agreement is -- was solely based on advice of counsel?
A. Yes.
Q. And you understand, you have the right to invoke your attorney-client privilege on those particular communications, right?
A. Yes.
Q. And you're -- and I'm going to ask you the question, what did Mr. Surgent tell you about the rationale for entering into Exhibit number 184?
A. I'm not going to answer that.

Q. Thank you.

MR. SHAW: All right. Can we go to slide number 3. You guys were discussing slide number 3. And I think it should be big enough on the screen there.

Q. Now, you've been throwing around the term equity with regard to CLOs, right?

A. Yes.

Q. And that's also referred to in some circles as subordinated notes?

A. Yes.

Q. And when we talk about equity we're not talking about equity in Acis, the asset manager, right?

A. Correct.

Q. We're talking about the equity in the underlying CLOs?

A. Yes.

Q. Now, we have this chart here with the third-party forty-nine percent, you see that?

A. Yes.

Q. And you're familiar with the identity of that third party?

A. Yes.

Q. When did that third party make its investment in the equity of CLO-3?

A. Sometime in 2017, I don't remember the exact dates.

Q. After the litigation between Mr. Terry, and Highland, and Acis started, right?

A. Correct.
Q. And was that third-party investor notified regarding the pendency of the arbitration in the various litigation?
A. What term did you use, pendence?
Q. The existence of it?
A. I believe so.
Q. And they knew coming in that there was this existing litigation, and they decided to invest nevertheless, right?
A. Yes.
Q. Now, under that is this charitable foundation that we've been referencing, this forty-nine percent. We've called that the DAF -- I know that there's another entity called CLO Holdco Limited, can we just call that the DAF; is that fair enough?
A. It's fine with me.
Q. Okay. And that's kind of loosely what Highland refers to is -- in shorthand is the DAF, right?
A. That's right.
Q. And that stands for donor advised funds?
A. Yes.
Q. All right. Who advises the donor advised fund?
A. To do what?
Q. Well, on investment decisions?
A. So the donor advised fund has a management contract with Highland to manage its investments.

Q. And does Highland manage all the donor advised fund's assets?
A. I don't know if it's all of them.
Q. The original underlying assets that are -- that comprise the donor advised fund, what was the source of those assets?
A. Could you -- could you narrow that down a bit for me. What do you mean by "source?"
Q. What was the seed investment, the capital that initially capitalized the DAF, where did that come from?
A. It was a donation from Highland.
Q. And what type of assets were donated by Highland to the DAF?
A. They were primarily CLO equity, equity some debt.
Q. And that CLO equity and debt has performed well subsequent to that initial contribution, right?
A. I think it's done well. I don't know what you mean by "well" but that's a fair word.
Q. You're pleased with the performance of those -- those assets have increased in value from the time that they were originally contributed until now?
A. They have increased.
Q. Now, the DAF has what you call -- what you refer to as an independent trustee, right?
A. Yes.

Q. And that is Mr. Grant Scott, correct?
A. Yes.
Q. And Mr. Scott is Mr. Dondero's college roommate, correct?
A. I don't remember whether they were college roommates or not, but they -- he's known him for a long, long time.
Q. We talked about the charities that benefit from the DAF. You mentioned The Dallas foundation, but also the Santa Barbara Foundation as well, do you recall that?
A. Yes.
Q. And those foundations then make donations to various charitable organizations, is that right?
A. Yes.
Q. Now, one of the charitable foundations or organizations that the DAF assets eventually flow down to is the Dallas Zoo, correct?
A. We've made donations to the zoo.
Q. And when you say "we" are you talking about the DAF --
A. The DAF.
Q. -- or you talking about Highland?
A. The DAF.
Q. Now, when you go to the zoo, because I went to the zoo a few weeks ago with my son and wife, there is signage that says the zoo has been sponsored by Highland Capital Management, is that correct?
A. Yeah.

Q. And you're familiar with that signage and you're familiar with the fact that that is around the Dallas Zoo, right?
A. Yes.
Q. And Mr. Ellington I believe serves on some kind of board capacity with the Dallas Zoo as well?
A. I believe that's the case, I'm not sure if he's still on the board. But, yeah, in the past he has. I'm aware of that.
Q. And there's no mention of the DAF, or CLO, Holdco, or Mr. Scott, as somehow being a sponsor of the Dallas Zoo, right?
A. I don't think that's what the signs say.
Q. Same question for the Perot Museum. The Perot Museum is one of the ultimate beneficiaries of charitable contributions from the DAF, right?
A. Yes.
Q. And the signage there at the Perot Museum says Highland Capital Management, right?
A. Yes.
Q. Recently I saw a press release regarding a contribution made to the George Bush Presidential Library, are you familiar with that contribution?
A. Yes, I am.
Q. And that is held out as a contribution by Highland Capital Management; is it not?
A. I believe it's characterized in the same way as the other two examples that you brought up.

Q. But the money from that contribution came from this charitable foundation, this forty-nine percent, that owns ALF, or owns forty-nine percent of ALF, right?
A. Yes.
Q. Now, the DAF invests in a lot of Highland funds and various Highland vehicles, correct?
A. That's part of the things that they're invested in, that's correct.
Q. So the DAF is used, for example -- or had been used to invest in an entity or fund called CLO Value Fund, right?
A. I don't understand what you mean by the term "used?"
Q. The DAF invested in CLO Value Fund, right?
A. Yes, I believe so.
Q. All right. And that was a fund that was -- the portfolio manager of which was Acis Capital?
A. Yes.
Q. Now, going back to the first thing we talked about, which was this contemplated reset or refi transaction, now that transaction would require the equity to make an investment in order for that reset to happen, right?
A. Are you referring to the -- we didn't talk about, but there's a need to create a risk-retention-compliant management agreement. So the manager has to have equity in the new transaction, that's correct.
Q. And that risk-retention requirement that you're referring to does that derive from the Dodd-Frank legislation?

A. I believe it's part of that.
Q. Are you familiar with a recent case out of the district or the court of appeals in the District of Columbia that says that CLO managers do not have to comply with that risk-retention requirement?
A. That's in process. There's been a ruling, and it's being -- we'll figure out if it's going to be appealed. But that's going on right now.
Q. So that issue is in flux at the moment?
A. Yes.
Q. Now, you said that there was a -- with regard to CLO 3 that there was an interest diversion test failure, do you recall that?
A. Yes.
Q. All right. There are things that the asset manager can do in order to fix that failure, right?
A. I don't know how you make a statement like that, but you're not an investment manager.
Q. I am not an investment manager, and you know much more than I do. And I know that Mr. Terry does as well. But, for example, if you were failing that interest diversion test, you can trade -- the asset manager can trade underlying assets, those loans, in order to meet that test, correct?
A. Maybe, possible.

Q. And while we're at it, Mr. Terry -- you worked with Mr. Terry for how many years, eight years?
A. It's quite a long time, yes.
Q. And Mr. Terry has quite a vast knowledge with regard to the CLO market, do you agree with that?
A. He's knowledgeable.
Q. Very smart guy, right?
A. Yes.
Q. I mean, he rose through the ranks of Highland. He started in a fairly low position and ended -- when he was terminated he was in a fairly high position at Highland, correct?
A. That's correct.
Q. Now, you talked about the controlling share class calling the deal, calling the CLO if a reset or refi did not occur, do you recall that?
A. I said that that's they hypothetical of what would probably happen, that's correct.
Q. Are you aware of that occurring with any of these CLOs that are of the vintage that we're talking about in the market?
A. I'm not aware of -- if your question is do I know what's happened with all the 2014 managed deals, whether they can call the reset back, I don't have that knowledge.
Q. Well, I mean, can you name one CLO that has been -- of that vintage that has been called by the equity?

A. We had one, Acis CLO 2, that's been called.
Q. And when did that occur?
A. I think that happened in '17. But I don't remember the exact dates.
Q. And who was the controlling class in that particular CLO?
A. It was the equity.
Q. And the equity, is that the same split that we have here, this third-party investor in the charitable foundation, or who owned the equity?
A. That was outside of ALF.
Q. And was it outside of the DAF as well?
A. Yes.
Q. And who owned that equity?
A. I don't -- other institutional investors. I don't -- and I'm not -- I don't remember exactly who the equity holders are of that -- were of that transaction.
Q. Now, you are an employee of Highland Capital Management, right?
A. Yes.
Q. Does Highland Capital Management oppose this bankruptcy proceeding?
MR. FRITZ: Objection, Your Honor. That may or may not call for communications with counsel. So to the extent Mr. Okada's going to answer that question based upon communication of counsel, I'll ask him not to answer. Instruct him not to answer.

THE COURT: All right. So answer the question if you can without revealing conversations with counsel.

A. And your question again, can you repeat that for me one more time?

Q. I lost my train of thought because I was looking at my notes.

A. Okay.

Q. Does Highland oppose this bankruptcy proceeding, without revealing any attorney -- anything that your attorneys have told you?

A. I don't know if I can answer that. This is all a legal proceeding in my mind, so everything that's happening here has been in conjunction with discussion with the lawyers. And you're asking about Highland Capital, I'm one of the partners there, but I don't control Highland. So it's a diff -- I don't know how to answer your question specifically. I mean, if you can ask it differently, I can give you a different answer.

Q. All right. You don't control Highland, who does?

A. In -- on average, it's Jim, in general.

Q. Now, going back to this reset/refi issue, there are a lot of CLOs out there of the 2015 vintage that have not yet refi'd or reset, isn't that true?

A. I have no idea.
Q. Who would know that?
A. I guess maybe industry research people, like Wells Fargo, Morgan Stanley, somebody like that.
Q. I mean, there are people at Highland that have more knowledge with regard to the current state of the CLO market than you, right?
A. I'm not sure what you're getting at there.
Q. Well, for example, Mr. Covitz, he's on the structured products team, right?
A. Yes.
Q. And he has taken over some of the responsibilities that Mr. Terry had while he was the portfolio manager at Acis, right?
A. Yes.
Q. And Mr. Covitz is in the "trenches" day in day out, right?
A. He has a more detailed day-to-day involvement than I do, if that's what you're getting at.
Q. Right. Mr. Covitz is not going on CNBC, he's not going to conferences, he's not -- he hasn't played that role, he's more in the operational day-to-day operations of Acis and the structured products team at Highland, right?
A. He goes to conferences.
Q. He does go to conference, sure. But he doesn't speak at conferences like you do, he's not the public face of Highland or of Acis like --

A. He speaks at conferences.

Q. Okay.

MR. SHAW: We pass the witness.

THE COURT: All right, redirect.

MR. FRITZ: Briefly, Your Honor.

REDIRECT EXAMINATION

BY MR. FRITZ:

Q. Mr. Okada, I want to ask a clarification question. In response to one of Mr. Shaw's questions, I think you said, and correct me if I'm wrong, that the reset couldn't go forward because Acis wasn't qualified. Can you please expound upon that?

A. So there's two things that have to happen when you do a reset. You got to reprice the bonds, you got to redistribute them in the marketplace. So the marketplace is going to make a determination of who the manager is and whether they find that manager acceptable. Acis does not qualify given all the noise around the legal disputes.

And then the other thing that has to happen, and because of the risk-retention regulation, is that Acis would have to come up with the capital to be able to invest in the new transaction if it was going to be the manager. Otherwise that deal is not risk-retention-compliant. And you can't issue the -- you couldn't do the reset per the law.

Q. Did Acis -- I'm sorry, go ahead.
A. Per the law.
Q. Did Acis ever have the capital to make that commitment?
A. For CLO 3, no.
Q. Over --
MR. FRITZ: Hold on one second.
Q. I want to get back to this charitable foundation issue real quick if we could.
So Highland was essentially the seed money for the DAF for this charitable foundation?
A. Yes.
Q. Once Highland committed that money, could it take it back?
A. No.
MR. FRITZ: So if you would go to slide 4, Omar.
Q. And are these some of the charities that the DAF has provided funds to?
A. Yes, they are.
Q. And when Highland provided the seed money to the DAF, the DAF then invested it and made that money grow; is that correct?
A. Yes.
Q. When Highland gave that seed that money to the DAF was it ever intended to be an anonymous donation?

A. No.

MR. FRITZ: And with that on behalf of my six and eight-year-old as a co-founder of Highland, thank you for your donations to the Perot Museum and the Zoo. Pass the witness.

THE COURT: Recross?

MR. SHAW: Nothing further, Judge.

THE COURT: All right. Thank you, Mr. Okada. You are excused.

THE WITNESS: Thank you, Your Honor.

THE COURT: All right. It is 11:45. I said we'd stop at noon. Who is your next witness?

MR. CRUCIANI: Your Honor, we have two short videotapes to -- we reached an agreement with counsel rather than to call them, just to play their videotapes. I think they're about fifteen to twenty minutes each. And then after that will be Mr. Dondero.

THE COURT: All right. So shall we do one of those videotapes, and then --

MR. FRITZ: That makes sense.

THE COURT: -- we'll break. I mean, I -- if you all don't mind going a little past noon, I don't know if it messes up lunch plans, we can do both of the videos then break.

MR. FRITZ: We're indifferent, whatever the Court would prefer.

THE COURT: Everyone's indifferent?

MS. PATEL: Your Honor, we get lunch on the sixth floor, so it will probably be better because there won't be a rush.

THE COURT: Okay. All right. So we'll go ahead and do both videos and then break for an hour for lunch. Okay.

MR. FRITZ: 303.

THE COURT: Everybody hear that?

MR. FRITZ: Thank you, yes.

THE COURT: Okay.

(Video deposition of Brian Patrick Shaw played at 11:46:32, transcribed to the best of the transcriber's ability)

Q. Please state your name for the record?

A. Brian Patrick Shaw.

Q. Mr. Shaw, how long have you been a practicing attorney?

A. Since 2006.

Q. Why did Mr. Terry put Acis into involuntary bankruptcy?

A. I can't answer the question without violating the work-product or attorney-client privilege.

Q. You publicly disclosed those reasons, didn't you? Did you not publicly disclose the reasons you put -- Mr. Terry put Acis into involuntarily bankruptcy?

A. I don't understand your question.

Q. Do you recall telling Judge Goldstein why you did that?

A. I do not.

Q. Trial Exhibit 2. Do you recognize this, Mr. Shaw, as being transferred from the January 31, 2018 hearing in front Judge Goldstein?
A. It appears to be.
Q. Look at page 8, if you would, Mr. Shaw. Can you see per the transcript you begin speaking on line 13, do you see that, sir?
A. Correct.
Q. All right. And then on line 20 you represent to Ms. Goldstein -- Judge Goldstein "We have filed them into an involuntary bankruptcy. We did so because on Monday we received a sworn affidavit from Acis regarding their net worth." You see that --
A. I do.
Q. -- representation? Was that truthful representation you made to Judge Goldstein?
A. Was my statement on the record truthful?
Q. Yes, sir.
A. Yes.
Q. I'm handing you Mr. Klos' declaration, Exhibit 3. And the balance sheet attached to that, which is Exhibit 4. And would you just look at the transcript from January 30th where you refer to the sworn affidavit from Acis regarding your net worth, and that would be Mr. Klos' declaration to which you were referring, which has been marked as Exhibit 3, correct?

A. Correct.
Q. And what was it about that affidavit that caused Mr. Terry to put Acis into involuntary bankruptcy?
(No audible response)
Q. Now, you had requested that -- you argued to Judge Goldstein that basically everything would be hunky-dory as long as someone, including Highland, put out the eight-million-dollar bond, do you recall that?
A. I don't -- your characterization of everything is going to be hunky-dory if somebody puts up a -- the bond --
Q. Um-hum.
A. -- did I say that, I don't know. I mean, the transcript speaks for itself. I believe -- yeah, I made that argument, sure.
Q. Okay. What did you mean by that?
A. I can't answer that question without revealing my mental impressions, work-product, attorney-client.
Q. Well, I was just ask -- well, these are words you spoke, I want to know what you meant when you said everything would be hunky-dory?
A. I do not believe I ever said the word "hunky-dory." But if I did, I did.
Q. Well, okay. Do you have an understanding of what "hunky-dory" means to you?
A. Hunky-dory means everything is going to be fine.

Q. Okay.
A. I do not recall using the term "hunky-dory," it's not something that I use very often. If I said the term "hunky-dory," then I said the term "hunky-dory."
Q. Fair enough. And if you said it you would have inteded to mean what you just said, "That everything would be fine," correct?
A. I can't answer that question. It also invades the attorney-work-client and work-product privilege. This is what happens when you depose and attorney, you're going to get a lot of instructions not to answer based upon attorney work-product and attorney-client privilege.
Q. You're familiar with the list of creditors and everything on the two supplemental lists filed with the bankruptcy court, correct?
A. I am.
Q. Okay. And have you communicated with any of those creditors?
A. I have.
Q. So what I'm interested in is any discussions you had with them on any topic other than just that. For example, whether they were interested in joining Mr. Terry as the movants in connection with the involuntary?
A. Sure. So the only purported creditors listed in Exhibit number 5, for which I had discussions beyond transmitting discovery and getting responses back is CSI Global Deposition Services, and the TASA Group Inc.

Q. So tell me about your discussions with CSI Global Depositions Services, who did you speak with or communicate with there?

A. Communicated with Brent Dobbs at CSI.

Q. Okay. And what position does he hold with that company?

A. I don't know what his title is.

Q. Did you know him by name prior to reaching out, or did you reach out and you were provided his --

A. Knew him by name.

Q. How did you know him by name?

A. We do -- we use CSI Global Deposition Services, my firm.

Q. Okay. And did you have a phone call or email or meeting with Mr. Dobbs?

A I had a phone call with him.

Q. When was that?

A Sometime after you guys filed your list of creditors. I don't know exactly when.

Q. What was the --

A And you're talking about with regard to this Acis matter, right?

Q. Yes, sir.

A Okay.

Q. Tell me what was discussed in that phone call.

A That they were listed as a purported creditor of Acis.
Q. Okay.
A And we made inquiry as to whether they would -- if they ended up -- if the Court ended up finding that they were indeed a creditor of Acis, if they would care to join in the involuntary bankruptcy.
Q. What did they say?
A They said that they would.
Q. Okay. Have they?
A They have not so -- for so far.
Q. Why not?
A I don't know.
Q. You then spoke with a lawyer, as I understand it, within the TASA Group?
A I did.
Q. Okay. Who was that?
A His name is David Seltzer. I think it's S-E-L-T-Z-E-R.
Q. And what was -- and did you ask him if he'd be willing to join Mr. Terry as a petitioning creditor?
A. I asked if his client, TASA Group, was interested in joining in as a potential creditor.
Q. What did he say?
A. I heard from him yesterday. He said that after discussing with their client, that they were -- were not interested in joining into the bankruptcy.

Q. Okay. Separate topic. Have you received substantive responses from one or more of the parties to whom you've served written deposition questions?
A. Received responses from CSI, but that were incomplete because we didn't have their -- they had not been served with -- or didn't receive their cross-questions. So I have received responses from CSI, but we're awaiting their cross-questions.
Q. Do you know whether those have been provided to Acis, the CSI responses?
A. I don't know.
Q. Did you provide them to Acis?
A I did not.
Q. Do you know whether CSI provided them to Acis?
Q. Is there a reason that you have discovery responses that you've received from one of the deponents that you've not provided those responses to Acis?
A. Yeah, that's -- it would be work product.
Q. Handing you Plaintiff's Application For Turnover Order and Appointment of Receiver I've marked as Exhibit 8. You filed this on January 29th in the state court?
A. Yes.
Q. And this went out under your firm's signature?
A. Yes.
Q. And you asked at the bottom of -- actually, page 4, you say, "Mr. Terry requests the Court exercise its broad discretion to appoint a receiver over Acis to provide for the orderly and arm's-length liquidation of Acis' assets sufficient to satisfy the judgment, the cost to pursue this receivership and receivership fees.

The asset subject to sale include, but are not limited to, one or more of the management contracts. To the extent necessary to preserve the value of Acis, the receiver should also be empowered to obtain substitute shared-services and subadvisory providers in arm's-length transactions.

Mr. Terry requests the receiver be empowered to do all things reasonably necessary to preserve the value of Acis and satisfy the judgment and any other amounts that are appropriate under applicable law."

Did I read that correctly?

A. Yes.

Q. And is that the relief that you, in fact, were seeking from the state court?

A. The relief that we were requesting is contained in Exhibit 8.

Q. And you proposed a trustee, Kelly Crawford at Scheef & Stone?

A. Correct.

Q. Who is that person?

A. He's an individual that I spoke with that's a -- that has served as a receiver in other cases.

Q. Do you know him?
A You know, I have run in to him on -- in to -- on one case, on the Life Partners bankruptcy that was in the Fort Worth Division. He represented some other defendants in an adversary case.
Q. What capacity did he serve in that case?
A. Counsel for a defend -- a co-defendant.
Q. Okay. Can you tell the Court -- you told the Court that "Mr. Crawford is supremely qualified to serve as a receiver in this matter."
Why did you believe that?
A. Based upon comments that I'd received from other lawyers with regard to his abilities as well as his curriculum vitae.
Q. And you say that "Mr. Terry anticipates that Mr. Crawford will engage professionals, including an investment bank, to market one or more of the management contracts or other assets of Acis in a manner designed to ensure the highest potential price for those assets."
Do you see that?
A. I do. What page are we on?
Q. Yes, sir. It's -- it's the page 5 of 66, right above "Conclusion."
A All right. I'm with you.
Q. Okay. Did you have a discussion with Mr. Crawford about that? Or on what basis did Mr. Terry anticipate Mr. Crawford would do that?

A I don't know that I talked to Mr. Crawford about the necessity to engage an investment bank.
Q. On what basis did you represent to the Court that you anticipated that's what Mr. Crawford would do? Was it based on anything you discussed or was it on some other basis?
A I don't know that I can answer that question without revealing attorney work product, my mental processes with regard to my legal strategy and my legal opinion on that issue. So I don't know that I can answer that question. And also, attorney-client privilege.
Q. Well, you're not asserting any privilege vis-à-vis Mr. Crawford, are you?
A No. But to the extent that that statement was based upon attorney-client privileged information, then I can't answer the question.
Q. Just tell me about any discussions or communications you had with Mr. Crawford in connection with this matter.
A. I told him generally about the case. I believe I sent him a copy of our TRO and had him run conflicts to make sure that he was able to serve, and I think that's it.
Q. How many conversations did you have with him?
A. Probably three to four.
Q. Okay. Well, you filed the receiver application on January 29th. So with that, can you try to place the dates of those conversations?

A. Prior to that time?

Q. Okay. Did you have any subsequent to filing the receivership application?

A. Yes.

Q. Okay. So let's -- tell me about the -- the dates, as best you can recall, the conversations you had prior to January 29th.

A. I reached out to him. I think I just minimally provided him with party information so that he could run a conflicts check. Once conflicts passed, we then had a substantive discussion with regards to what he or what his role would be if the Court appointed him. Obviously the Court has no obligation to appoint any particular person. They can appoint whoever they want. So we were making the suggestion as a proposed receiver, but that was simply a proposal.

I believe that once I told him about the substantive representation, you know, I think that he looked at the TRO and said, "Wow, these are some pretty audacious transfers that are happening right after the arbitration award," and that he would be willing to serve if the Court appointed him as a receiver.

I think his assistant sent me his CV, and -- and that is the extent of our communications prior to the filing of the receivership. I don't know whether I sent him a file-marked copy of the receivership motion after I filed it -- or application after I filed it -- or not. I may have.

Q. Because for him to -- he was reviewing apparently a draft of what -- of the receivership application you were planning on filing that led him to believe these were some audacious transfers?

A. I sent him a copy -- I think a file-marked copy of the -- of the request for a temporary restraining order. So that sets out the facts --

Q. Okay.

A -- with regard to the transfers, which, you know, I think anybody would consider them audacious. But -- so, yeah, that's -- I think -- I'm pretty sure that's the document that he -- that I gave him initially, kind of, as background once he cleared conflicts.

Q. So you filed that on January 24th, the TRO. Do you recall that?

A. Yes, I do.

Q. So you would have sent that to him -- that -- that substantive conversation would have taken place on or subsequent to January 24th?

A To the extent that -- that the application for a TRO was indeed the document that I sent to him, yes, it would have had to have been subsequent to me filing.

I guess, you know, I'm thinking back upon other filings that were made that could have provided a similar background, which, you know, as you're aware, there are several that have a similar fact pattern. So it could have been any one of those, but I do believe it was the application for a temporary restraining order.

Q. Okay. So you had an initial preliminary discussion really more for conflicts purposes, identifying the parties. Then you had a second discussion that you've just testified to that sounds like it likely would have occurred sometime between January 24 and January 29th.

Is that fair?

A. I think that's fair, yes.

Q. Okay. Any other conversations with Mr. Crawford prior to the filing of the receivership application?

A. I -- not that I recall.

Q. Okay. And he indicated, based on that second substantive discussion, that if the Court were to appoint him, he'd be willing to serve?

A. Yes.

Q. Okay. And he had already indicated to you his views that these were audacious transfers. Was that his words or your paraphrase?

A. That's a paraphrase. So he was -- he certainly did not respond with "What's the big deal," and my recollection is that he was complimentary of the drafting that was done and said that -- that it looked bad, the transactions looked bad, you know, the Cayman transfers, the fact that it was transferred days after the arbitration award, the fact that, you know, that they were transferring substantially all of the assets of the entity, you know, all the facts that you've heard that support the fraudulent nature of the transfers.

Q. And these were all -- this was the discussion you had with him prior to filing the receivership application on January 29th?

A. Correct.

Q. So you knew, when you were proposing Mr. Crawford, that he was favorably disposed of your view of the case -- audacious transfers and looked bad, et cetera, et cetera, correct?

A. I don't -- I don't know what was in his mind. I know what he -- he told me, and that's what I just recited. So that's to the extent of what I'm going to say.

Q. And it's a fair summary what he recited to you, that he was favorably disposed towards your view of the case of bad conduct, the fraudulent transfers, correct?

A I don't know how to answer that question. All I can tell you is what he told me. And in order for me to characterize what his view was, that he was favorably -- favorably disposed to our side of the case, I can't tell you that.

Q. But what you've told me is truthful so far, correct?
A. Correct. And you can -- you can -- you can draw your own conclusions, but I'm not going to draw it for you.
(End of video deposition excerpt of Brian Patrick Shaw)
MR. CRUCIANI: That concludes the deposition excerpt for Mr. Brian Shaw.
THE COURT: All right.
MR. CRUCIANI: And we now have Ms. Rakhee Patel.
And, Your Honor, we do have a transcript that it would probably make sense for the record if we could mark that as an exhibit and submit that into the record as a housekeeping matter later.
THE COURT: Okay. Any objection to that? Okay.
UNIDENTIFIED SPEAKER: No objection, Judge.
THE COURT: We'll look for it later.
(Video deposition of Rakhee Patel played at 12:06:42, transcribed to the best of the transcriber's ability)
Q. So other than that one email that gave you the list of entities from which you could run your informal conflict check, you had not been provided with any documents as of the time of this phone call on January 25th or 26th?
A. That's -- that's correct.
Q. And you had not spoken to Mr. Terry at that time?
A. That's correct.
Q. Now, had you -- by the time you -- you arrived at the meeting, had you read all the documents that you were sent on January 29th or did you wait until January 30th to read them?

A. I -- by the time I arrived at the meeting, I had read all of the documents, but I read them early morning on the 30th.
Q. Okay. So you didn't start reading anything until the morning of the 30th pre-meeting?
A. That -- that's correct. My best recollection is that the reason why we had to have a meeting on the morning of the 30th is because I was otherwise disposed the entire day of the 29th.
Q. Okay. And so while things were collecting in your mailbox on the 29th, you didn't actually open and start reading them until prior to the meeting on the 30th?
A. Well, I -- I may have read it the eve -- late evening of the 29th, but -- or it may have been first thing in the morning on the 30th.
Q. So you're in a meeting on January 30th that started sometime around 9:00 or 9:30 in the morning. How long did the meeting last?
A. A few hours. At least until the lunch hour.
Q. And when -- in terms of the purpose of the meeting, had the decision to file an involuntary been made by the time they came to meet with you or they -- or was that a potential path of action that was to be discussed? In other words, did they say we need to file an involuntary, let's hire Rakhee, or did they say let's go see what Rakhee thinks we should do. You understand the distinction I'm drawing?

A. Yes. I do not believe that a decision to file had been made. I believe that the purpose of the meeting was to get my advice and counsel with respect to whether an involuntary would be appropriate under the facts and circumstances.
Q. Now, at the time you -- you all sat down in the morning of January 30th, you weren't retained yet; is that right?
A. That's correct.
Q. Okay. When did that happen?
A. Later that afternoon.
Q. Your conclusion that for purposes of Section 303 eligibility, Mr. Terry could be a sole petitioning creditor because Acis -- both Acis entities has less -- had less than twelve creditors was based solely on your review of documents on January 30th; is that correct?
A. Yes. And I'll also add as the documents that -- that underlie my opinions here, as the -- the -- I'll call it the -- the arbitration in the state-court pleadings that I reviewed that day.
Q. Right. That's -- that's included in the universe of documents?
A. Included in the universe of documents.
Q. At some point on January 30th, based on everything you reviewed and based on everything that was discussed, did you advise Mr. Terry to file the involuntary petitions?

A. The fact is the involuntary petitions were filed on January 30th. I think that probably provides your answer.
Q. I want to -- it does, but I'm -- I'm more interested in when. When did -- when did --when -- when on January 30th was the decision made to file?
A. I don't recall a specific moment that the decision was made to file, because as with all things, there's work performed in the -- in the run up to it. And as with all things, again, anyone could change their mind until the moment that we filed. But shortly before the filings, it was definitive that -- that we were filing.
Q. Okay. Let me -- let me back up. Was a decision made to file before Mr. Terry and Mr. Shaw left your office?
A. No.
Q. Okay. Was a decision made to file --
MR. USTAINE: Strike that.
Q. What time of the day did you get your engagement letter signed?
A. Oh. Engagement letter, it was midafternoon. I don't remember the exact time.
Q. Was a decision made to file by the time you got your engagement letter signed?
A. I think by the time the engagement letter was signed and returned to the firm, it was more assured than not that the involuntaries were going to be filed.

Q. So when -- I mean, did you -- did there ever come a time on January 30th where you expressed to Mr. Terry or Mr. Shaw or both of them -- hey, I'd like to have more time before we make the decision to file. I've got a lot of stuff I've got to review. I've got to look at some issues. I'd like more time.
A. Could I see the transcript from Mr. Terry's deposition yesterday? I'd like to --
MR. USTAINE: It's okay with me.
A. -- re-read the questions
MR. USTAINE: I think --
A. -- that the privilege was waived to.
MR. USTAINE: I mean, it's -- yes. The answer is yes, you could. They're highlighted somewhat there, but I'm not sure it's going to give you a perfect understanding.
MR. CAMPBELL: Just to be clear, the witness is reviewing a binder that contains a rough draft --
MR. USTAINE: Correct.
MR. CAMPBELL: -- of Mr. Terry's deposition. It's not been marked as an exhibit.
MR. USTAINE: Also correct.
A. Okay. I -- I don't think these are the questions that --
Q. You've got to flip through wherever the tabs are.
A. You're right. Okay. I --

Q. They kind of exist in a few different places.
A. I took -- I was reading the highlighted as you had indicated but -- okay. Here we go. All right. Got this. Okay. That was the first one.
(Witness reviewing document.)
A. I will -- I don't believe that the response to the question falls within the scope of the waiver. So I will answer with my mental impressions, which was just that --
Q. Okay. That was my next question anyway.
A. -- I didn't believe that in my mind -- I didn't believe in my mind that time was an -- was something available for me to request. It would be akin to me just walking out on the street and saying, Can I please have an Aston Martin? There's -- it wasn't -- it's just not an option.
Q. Why is that?
A. Well, because -- well, we -- the transaction was closing on February 1st, and again, in any mind, I wanted -- I thought it most prudent to file the involuntaries, seek immediate 303(f) relief and address -- address the situation on that path. So and -- I could have --I could have said at any given point, I'm sure, like, can I have another hour or two. But did I think to myself, oh, well, let's see if we can't deal with this in a -- in a week or two, that just wasn't something that necessarily was in my mind.
Q. Because you didn't think it was just available under the time line that you were facing?

A. I just didn't think it was available under the time line.
Q. Did you advise Mr. Terry that the law on the special circumstances exception was uniform throughout the country? Or did you tell him that there was a split, that some courts apply it and some courts don't? What did you tell him in terms of the state of the law of the special circumstances exception such as it is?
A. I told him that that's the law in this district.
Q. Binding precedent in this district is that there is a special circumstances exception to both numerosity and generally not paying their debts as they become due?
A. I -- the cases say that there is a special exception, and I believe the language is that special except -- special circumstances exception is a exception to the technical requirements of 303.
Q. I get what it says. My question is did you tell him that was the law and -- and this judge had no wiggle room, she had to apply it? Or did you tell him that some bankruptcy courts apply it and maybe some courts don't?
A. I don't think I opined on that either way.
Q. Okay. Fair -- fair enough.
A. The case law is the case law.
Q. The case law is the case law. So let's talk about where -- what are the case where the special circumstances exception lives. Norris?

A. Right. I believe I referenced them.
Q. Moss?
A. Norris, Moss.
Q. Smith?
A. Smith.
Q. Okay.
A. In this district.
Q. Okay. Now, are any of those --
A. And there may be -- there may be unreported opinions as well, but I'm not --
Q. Okay. Are any of those cases binding on this judge?
(Pause)
A. I don't know definitively.
Q. Well --
A. But I think perhaps not.
Q. Okay. Because they're authored by sister or brother bankruptcy courts, right?
A. Yes.
Q. Okay. And Judge Jernigan herself hasn't written on this issue; is that correct?
A. Not as far as I am aware today, subject to the caveat that, again, there may be an unpublished opinion of which I am unaware.
Q. Okay. Putting that -- accepting that caveat, okay, did you advise Mr. Terry that there was a risk that while you might have grounds for special circumstances, for example, if you were in Judge Hale's court, okay, that Judge Jernigan may say I don't believe in the special circumstances exception? Did you so advise Mr. Terry?

A. No.

Q. Have you ever in your career filed an involuntary petition on the same day that you were retained?

A. Other than this matter, I can't recall. And I'm happy to explain that -- why I can't recall, because I've only ever filed or been a party to a filing of one other involuntary.

Q. Do you know what Mr. Shaw told the creditors?

A. I do -- only by virtue of my conversations with Mr. Shaw, which I believe would still be covered by the work product.

Q. Did he tell you what he said? Did he say, Ms. Patel, here's what I told the creditors?

A. I don't know if he told me everything that he told the creditors, but he has advised me as to at least some of the substance of his conversations he had with some creditors.

Q. What did he tell you he said to the creditors?

MR. CAMPBELL: You can answer that one.

THE WITNESS: I can answer that one?

A. Well -- well, he at least advised them that -- of the consequences of -- of joining the petition under Section 303, and that --

Q. And what --
A. And that there's a pending claim by Acis for bad faith and attorneys' fees and costs and that by joining that -- that any joining creditor will potentially subject themselves to the same claims.
Q. Okay. And based on that, no surprise, no one has joined today?
A. As -- as we sit here today, no one has joined.
Q. Okay.
(End of video-deposition excerpt of Rakhee Patel)
MR. CRUCIANI: That concludes the deposition of Ms. --
THE COURT: All right. We will recess. Come back at 1:20. Okay?
UNIDENTIFIED SPEAKER: Thank you, Judge.
THE COURT: All rise.
(Recess from 12:21 p.m. until 1:22 p.m.)
THE CLERK: All rise.
THE COURT: Please be seated. We are going back on the record in the Acis trial. Are you ready to call your witness?
MR. CRUCIANI: Yes, Your Honor. Just, perhaps, a quick housekeeping matter. I have Mr. Shaw's transcript. It will be Exhibit 195 and Ms. Patel's Exhibit 196. If I may hand up to you?

THE COURT: You may approach.
THE CLERK: Was that Shaw 195?
MR. CRUCIANI: Yes.
THE CLERK: Patel 196?
MR. CRUCIANI: Um-hum.
THE COURT: All right.
MR. CRUCIANI: We call Mr. Jim Dondero to the stand.
THE COURT: All right. Mr. Dondero, if you could approach our witness stand I'll swear you in.
Please raise your right hand.
(Witness sworn)
THE COURT: All right. Please be seated.
DIRECT EXAMINATION
BY MR. CRUCIANI:
Q. Good afternoon, Mr. Dondero. Could you please state your name for the record?
A. James David Dondero.
Q. And who is your employer?
A. Highland Capital Management.
Q. What is your title with Highland Capital?
A. I'm president.
Q. Can you give us just some background on where you grew up kind of, family members and all. Just tell us a little bit about yourself, if you would.
A. I was born in Hoboken, New Jersey. Went to high school in Bergen County, Northern New Jersey. Went to University of Virginia. Graduated in '84. Beta Gamma Sigma, Beta Alpha Psi, top four percent of the class at Virginia. Got my CPA, CFA, CMA exam. Worked for Morgan Bank, American Express, and in Protective Life for a while before setting up Highland in '93, '94.

Q. Okay. And Mr. Okada gave us a little bit of a history of Highland, and so we can dispense with that. We already have that in the record.

Tell us, in your capacity as president of Highland, generally speaking, what are your duties?

A. To provide oversight, guidance, coordination, strategy, in terms of different business initiatives.

Q. Okay. Now, the subject matter of this proceeding involves, among other things, the CLOs. How significant of a player is Highland in the CLO industry?

A. We were one of original founders. We did one of their first CLOs back in the mid-nineties. We were very large players prior to the crash. The crash created some complexities in the business. The -- our portfolios were over-weighted in some bad Credit Suisse deals, which ended up having more volatility and -- more volatility than CLOs in general, which hampered our ability to do CLOs post the crisis and under the Highland brand, so we rebranded under Acis.

Q. And are you experiencing that same dynamic now in terms of back then you rebranded from Highland to Acis, and now you're rebranding from Acis back to Highland?

A. Yes. Almost exactly. The old Highland deals have phoenixed back, and the Acis brand is tainted largely by litigation and Josh Terry publicity, you know, and to a lesser extent, you know, the performance of the Acis deals has been average.
Q. Okay. All right. Now, what we've seen a lot of references to offshore entities throughout this proceeding, Cayman Islands and elsewhere. Why is that? What is it about the CLO industry that causes that phenomenon?
A. The entire CLO business, ninety-nine percent of it, is based in the Cayman. They're structured vehicles that depend on niches in the tax code that allow you to create, essentially, a synthetic bank in the Cayman Islands, with the entity itself not paying taxes but being a pass-through, essentially, a PFIC or whatever. But it's -- it grew up in the Cayman Islands, and virtually a hundred percent of the business is in the Cayman Islands.
Q. And we may use some jargon, and just to have a clear record, you said a PFIC and a "synthetic bank". Just so we know what you're referring to, can you tell us what either of those are?
A. Sure. Passive foreign income. That's a section of the Tax Code, you know, that you have to be -- you have to be compliant. You have to buy loans that are existing, et cetera. But essentially you buy a pool of loans, and then you finance them with a series of securities, you know.

So you buy a hundred million dollars of loans, and then you finance it with ninety million of debt and ten million of equity. And then the debt is -- the ninety million of debt is tranched into a AAA tranche or a AA tranche, a A or a BBB tranche.

Q. Okay. And again, just for your edification, and I think Mr. Okada, kind of, went through that whole structure, so just for the sake of not being repetitive I'm not going to go over that with you in any detail. Are there other types of either industries, other types of financial products that Highland has -- is a material player in -- besides the CLO industry?

A. Oh, sure. Institutional and retail products in a variety of -- we have a reinsurance company in Bermuda and the Cayman. We have a corporation that does largely marketing and business development in Singapore. We do retail funds in the U.S. We do some hedge funds in the U.S. We do real estate and REITs in the U.S., and we do institutional money management in the U.S. also.

Q. And you mentioned institutional and retail. Can you explain a little bit what the distinction is there?

A. Retail products are generally '40 Act funds, and, you know, some of them are REITs or real estate investment trusts -- operate under a different section of the Code. But they're products geared for retail investors, you know, mom and pop investors making 5, 10, 50,000 dollar investments, you know, liquid listed on exchanges. That's our retail business.

And then the institutional business is more sophisticated qualified investors in private accounts.

Q. Okay. All right. And I know that the ownership and organizational structure is complex, but can you explain, generally speaking, who owns Highland Cap?

A. Sure. Mark and I have been seventy-five/twenty-five partners since the beginning, essentially. There were times pre-crisis we brought in minority partners for ten percent of the business, but since then we've bought out those partners and they've retired.

About three years ago we sold Highland to a -- essentially what's a charitable remainder trust is a good way to describe it. We sold it for noncash. Mark and I both got a note that Highland has to pay back over time, and Highland's been making payments on it. The note is principal and interest.

It pays Mark and I over a fifteen-year period, and then after that fifteen-year period the value of Highland or the remainder amount goes to charity.

Q. So after fifteen years, what exactly happens to your ownership or Mr. Okada's ownership in Highland?

A. Well, we've already sold our ownership. It's a hundred percent owned by the remainder trust. But, like I said, we're capturing in the payoff of the note most of the value. Once we've been paid off, the charitable remainder trust goes to -- and we can add additional charities to it, but right now it defaults to Catholic Charities --

Q. Okay. Now, there's been a lot of discussion about Highland affiliates in this matter. Do you have any estimation of the number of Highland affiliates within the corporate family?

A. I know we're set up -- I mean, I know our -- I know our K-1s are more than a thousand. We have 1,500, 1,800. Maybe more.

Q. And why is it? Why is Highland structured to have so many entities?

A. It's by necessity. Each retail fund, each institutional investor, each property, each development project we do when we build something requires its own entity. A lot of times a single entity, oftentimes a holding company entity that captures multiple partners, but for sure a specific entity. And it's driven by the market. I mean, it's, you know, the -- if you're, like, we're building a project in Phoenix. The lenders to that project, we're providing a construction loan. They don't want it to be an amalgamation of other things. They want it -- they want an entity that has just that piece of land, just that project in it, you know, et cetera. And so that becomes an entity.

And then we have partners in the equity in that deal, so ended up creating an entity on top of that, which brings in the other partners.

Q. So one deal may spawn multiple entities for a single deal or a single project?

A. And I think that's typical, yes. You're correct.

Q. And are those sometimes called SPVs or special purpose vehicles?

A. Yes.

Q. Okay. Now, do these Highland affiliates typically have or not have employees?

A. It depends. Sometimes they'll -- a lot of times they'll have none, you know, like that development project on Camelback Road in Phoenix. You know, it has no employees, and it's serviced by Highland employees under either direct billing or a shared-services agreement.

Sometimes it'll be like our office in Singapore, where it has one employee, but he's doing marketing and business development. And all the other necessary services like accounting and tax and -- are handled via some shared-services agreement via Highland.

Q. Okay. And are you typically an officer in these entities?

A. Yes. I mean, ultimately it becomes partnership accounting, but somebody has to sign for the partner, and generally the GP is either Highland, and I'm signing for Highland, or -- yeah, I mean, usually the GP in some form or fashion is Highland, and I'm signing for Highland.
Q. And we'll talk about, sort of, signature authority in a little more detail, but as you understand it, who, absent you delegating them permission to sign on behalf of Acis, who has permission to sign on behalf of Acis?
A. There's never more than three parties or three equity -- or three equity owners of Acis at its maximum: myself, Okada, and Josh Terry.
From the very beginning I was the only one that had signing authority when Josh was a member and after Josh was a member.
Q. Okay. And so has that always been the case, that you've been the lone person with signing authority, absent your delegating that to someone else?
A. Yes.
Q. And what about Highland presently? How many individuals have signature authority at Highland, again, absent delegation?
A. Two or three.
Q. Okay. And is that why we'll often see you signing documents on behalf of Highland and an affiliate?

A. Yes.
Q. Okay. With all these thousands of affiliates, do you make it your personal mission to attempt to keep track of the ownership structure of each of these affiliates?
A. No.
Q. Who or what department is typically in charge of maintaining the corporate formalities and such with respect to the ownership structure?
A. Yeah, that's -- that's the important question. It comes from -- what does it take for somebody to hit my desk for a signature? What's the protocol? And everything comes through legal department. I think -- especially post the financial crisis, but post Dodd-Frank and post the regulatory burden increasing for the last ten or twenty years, I mean, a firm like ours has half a dozen people in compliance, you know, and we have a -- and, you know, a firm like Citibank will have floors of people in compliance. But everything runs through compliance nowadays, where compliance is weighting issues between funds, duty and care to investors, and regulatory compliance.
Q. Okay. And we'll talk about compliance again in a little more detail as well.
But let's turn to Acis. Do you recall approximately what year Acis was formed?
A. Post the crisis, 2010, 2011.

Q. And what role did Mr. Terry have in connection with the formation of Acis?
A. He was one of the original partners, myself and Mark Okada and him. He was responsible for building the CLOs or getting the CLOs priced, so to speak. You know, getting the liabilities priced and then working with Trey and our investment professionals to put the portfolios together.
Q. And we've likewise seen some very complex organizational structure for Acis. What role, if any, did Mr. Terry have in setting up all that complex web of organizations for Acis?
A. He worked with outside counsel. It is very complex from post Dodd-Frank, and it's complex from a tax standpoint.
Q. And testimony has been that Mr. Terry was the portfolio manager of Acis. Was that correct?
A. Yes.
Q. And what are the duties of -- what were his duties as portfolio manager?
A. Keeping the cash balances spent in the CLOs, because things pay off and different loans will reprice, and keeping the portfolio balanced and diversified, which is part of the collateral-management agreement.
Depicting the underlying credits was something that was separate and done by, you know, Trey Parker and the investment staff. We have ten or fifteen people on the investment staff that are mastering different industries and looking at, you know, individual investments, you know, and there's only two or three people in structured product that would -- that worked under Josh when he was there, so they weren't doing the individual credits. They were just balancing the portfolio and making sure the portfolios were compliant with the CMAs.

Q. And you've mentioned structured products. What is the structured products group? What do they do?

A. They're the ones pooling the loans together in a pool. You know, putting together, say, 500 million of them, and then working with Mizuho, Goldman, somebody to come up with the ninety percent financing and issuing the AAA securities and AA securities, and the BBB securities.

Q. And you mentioned this ninety/ten. Is that, sort of, an industry standard?

A. That's typical, yes.

Q. And where does the -- in the Highland or its affiliate deals -- where does the ten percent equity come from typically?

A. As far as Acis is concerned, virtually all the equity came from either the DAF or from the large institutional investor that we partnered up with a couple of years ago.

Q. And who presently are the key Highland managers in that structured products group?

A. Well, replacing him on the portfolio-management side has been Hunter and Neil, and then, you know, replacing him on some of the structuring underwriting side has been Dave Simek.

Q. All right. And when Mr. Terry was at Acis, was he a part of that structured products group, or when he was at Highland, was he a part of that structured products group?
A. Yes. He led that group.
Q. And can you give us a sense of how many loans or industries that that structured products group covers?
A. Typically each transaction would be 150 different investments. And if there were 6 or 7 transactions, there'd be overlap between Acis 1, Acis 2, Acis 3, so there'd be some credits that were in all of the deals, so you can't just say 7 times 150. You know, probably -- because again, there's overlap -- maybe there were 6 or 700 credits in total. But again, the individual names or the individual credits were being selected and picked by Trey Parker and his group.
Q. Okay. And when Highland makes an investment, was it common for Acis to more or less piggyback on a Highland investment?
A. Yes. I mean, because again, the competency to select individual loans and pick individual investments was in Trey Parker's area. In the structured product group, nobody in that group other than, I think, Josh had spent a couple of years in credit early in his career, but nobody else in that group had ever analyzed individual investments, and they were piggybacking off of the Highland portfolio selection or investment selection.

Q. And how, if at all, does it benefit Acis to be able to rely on the analysis of the Highland employees in terms of deciding what loans to put into the CLO?
A. It's critical. I mean, it's -- the fees that CLO managers have gotten over the years have come down enormously, and if it wasn't for being able to lean on those services from Highland at a relatively cost effective basis, there would be no profitability at Acis if Acis had to hire fifteen or sixteen analysts.
Q. And let's talk a little bit about your Acis duties or positions. Do you know what offices that you hold within Acis?
A. I believe I was the president there also.
Q. And do you have any day-to-day management responsibilities to speak of for Acis?
A. No. I didn't then, and I don't now.
Q. What, historically, have been, to the extent you have them, the duties that you performed on behalf of Acis?
A. Strategy. You know, when to refinance or not refinance a deal, when to price a deal, when the market is attractive to put a pool of loans together. Helping select, you know, underwriters. You know, coordinating our marketing team with the structured products team to try and raise money from third-party investors.

Q. Okay. Now, let's talk about -- we talked about your beneficial ownership and the structure of that ownership in Highland. On a percentage basis, what is the split between you and Mr. Okada on the Acis side from ownership?
A. You know, automatically when people leave Highland they give up their interest in any entities at Highland. So when Josh left his interests were split between Mark and I, and Mark and I fell back to that seventy-five/twenty-five percent virtually immediately when Josh left in Acis.
Q. So when you have transaction involving Highland on the one end and Acis on the other, do you have any financial incentive to favor one over the other?
A. No.
Q. Another entity that's been mentioned is the Dugaboy Investment Trust. What is the purpose of that trust?
A. It's an estate planning. It's a perpetual Delaware trust. It's -- I'm their trustee as long as I'm alive, and then it spills into my children.
Q. And who are the beneficial owners of that trust?
A. I am until I die, and then it spills into -- it's -- the primary purpose of the trust is generation -- as far as I understand it, it's generation skipping, and it uses part of your exemption.
Q. Okay. Now, given the way that we have these structured and your signature authority, does that give rise to potential or real conflicts of interest in the ordinary course of Highland doing business through its affiliates?

A. Yeah, we touched on this a little bit earlier. I mean, that's why I said, you know, nothing -- nothing gets signed organizationally until it goes through compliance. And compliance is -- again, going back to Dodd-Frank, compliance, and your compliance officer has personal liability for anything that's improper or fraudulent, right? Like, that's what Dodd-Frank did. It stepped up the chief compliance officer to have the same personal liability that C-Suite executives, CEOs and CFOs, have in public and private companies.

So the chief compliance officer is very empowered in our organization and every financial services organization. So he's looking at things carefully in their fairness, their spirit. A phrase they use all the time, but whenever someone tries to get too clever, is you can't do something indirectly that you can't do directly, you know. And the chief compliance officer is weighting any conflict between different Highland entities, if we own -- also own debtor equity, making sure it's fair, and really holding tantamount responsibilities we have to investors. Because in the big scheme of things, from a regulatory perspective, regulators don't really care if the mix between a different Highland entity is up by a penny or two. But if anything is done to impair or disadvantage an investor, they will come after you for that, and you can go to the big house for that. So that's how I would describe their role.

Q. And who is that chief compliance officer at Highland?

A. For almost a decade now it's been Thomas Surgent. But again, he has a staff of at least -- at least three or four, maybe five people working for him, checking everything.

Q. Who does he report to?

A. Well, again, in some sense he reports to nobody. I mean, he reports to -- I mean, he -- he has that much power, you know, period, and I don't do anything about running anything without running everything through him.

I think as far as staffing and operations, he reports up through legal and reports up through Scott Ellington.

Q. What type of access does Mr. Surgent have to you personally?

A. Immediate and constant. He's in my office two or three times every day.

Q. And in the grand scheme of things, and you perhaps touched on this, how -- you have different departments with Highland: front office, back office, accounting, legal, whatever. How important is the compliance department within Highland?

A. Like I said, it's critical. You know, like if we have, like in this case, a former employer that goes to the SEC three or four times and, you know, complains or makes up stories, you know, he has to be able to dialogue with the SEC. He needs to be able to prepare and coordinate, you know, any responses or any information that they need. It's critical.

Anytime we get an institutional client, the first thing they diligence is the soundness and independence of our compliance office. You know, so it's a real job.

Q. And I take it that conflicts will typically involve legal issues of some kind?

A. Yes.

Q. Are you an attorney?

A. No, I'm not.

Q. Are you, in your mind, qualified to be the one making legal decisions on how to handle conflicts?

A. No.

Q. Now, you're at the top, I think, of the organizational chart for over 1,000, perhaps over 2,000 different entities. How, in general, are conflicts or potential conflicts handled, given these vast number of entities within the Highland structure?

A. Typically, if there's -- there are two sides or two different entities, typically there's an advocate for each side. And they typically, the advocate for each side understands that it needs to be fair. But the advocate for each side ends up presenting or dialoguing with Thomas Surgent on the final splits. And then he -- he looks at it carefully, and he -- he opines on the -- on any -- anything that overlaps or any final split.

Q. Okay, assume that a certain transaction is not in Highland's best financial interest, but is in the best interest of its equity investors. How in general would that type of conflict be handled?

A. Yeah, I -- I use the word "tantamount" (ph.). Maybe first priority or -- or trium -- it's -- it's -- it's -- it's not an equal -- it's -- it's a -- it's a clear priority to investors. It -- it's -- it trumps any interests or any competing interests of Highland funds, period.

Q. And assume that there was a particular transaction that was not in Acis's financial interest to engage in, but it was in the interest of the investors. How would that be handled?

A. The first and foremost responsibility is to -- is to investors, and the liability from clear regulatory statutes and whatever would be on the manager or anybody who didn't -- or moved adverse to the investors.

Q. Now, have -- you're familiar with the CLO 3 reissuance that was scheduled to close on February 1st, and for obvious reasons did not; you're familiar with that?

A. Yes.

Q. Now, did the investors indicate their interest in proceeding with that transaction?

A. Oh yes.
Q. All right, now, you understand that Mr. Terry argues that as a judgment creditor of Acis it was not in his interest or Acis interest for that transaction to go forward; do you have that understanding?
A. I didn't know he'd be crazy enough to argue that. That'll get you -- that'll get you to --
Q. Okay.
A. -- to the big house.
Q. But just -- just assume for the moment that Mr. Terry's position is because Acis is not getting anything for the transfer of these collateral-management agreements that this transaction should not go forward. Assuming that's his position, how would you reconcile that position with the position of the investors of I want this deal to go through?
A. The investor wishes have to be respected, period. And I think the -- what's happened in the market is two things, right. Like, the -- the cost of borrowing to ninety percent has come down monumentally, like, mortgage rates coming down from five, six percent to two or three percent, right. There -- there's that aspect, but the other aspect is the pool of loans that are being financed used to yield LIBOR plus three, LIBOR plus four, five, six, seven percent.
But as the economy has gotten better, the rates on those have compressed a lot. So what's happened in the equity investors are getting squeezed by two things. They're getting squeezed by their funding costs are too high and need to be reset lower, but they're getting eaten alive because their assets don't yield as much as they used to.

So every -- every day that goes on where the deals aren't refinanced, the returns to the equity investors are materially less, if not zero, compared to what they would be otherwise.

Q. Okay, and we'll probably return to that in just a bit. Let's talk about duties. Do you understand whether Acis owes a fiduciary duty to anyone or any entity?

A. I -- Acis as the collateral manager signs a collateral-management agreement with each of the CLOs to do its best managing and optimizing the CLOs. So by not refinancing them, it's not -- it's either directly or indirectly violating or violating the intent or the spirit of that collateral-management agreement.

Q. Let's get back to signatures for a minute. Do you have any just ballpark estimate of the number of corporate documents that you sign as officer for Highland or Highland affiliates in the course of a given year?

A. A few hundred a week, I probably signed thirty this morning.

Q. And describe the process on how that is typically carried out in terms of whether you sign or have someone else sign, or do half, whether you typically read the documents or don't read them. Just give us a general flavor of the thirty documents you signed this morning, how that was carried out.

A. The documents I signed this morning, one was an MOU to partner with a Brazilian latex farmer to form a joint venture on a latex glove company that we have in Brazil that was written in Portuguese.

I also signed a letter of intent on a RIA, registered investment advisory firm out of Denver that we're going to (sic) due diligence to try and buy them.

I also signed the purchase certificates on a company called American Banknote that the shareholder agreement has a ROFR that allows all the shareholders to buy a piece if any seller sells it, whatever, et cetera. So a different owner sold their piece and we had a right to buy it, so we exercised the ROFR.

Yeah, and then I signed some accounting certificates for audits. Year-end audits are being done in a lot of different entities, so just rep letters that say nothing material's happened since whatever.
Q. And how long would you estimate it took you to go through and sign these thirty or so documents you signed this morning?
A. Three minutes, two minutes.
Q. Okay, so you're not generally reading documents when you sign them.
A. Right, like I -- like I -- I'm depending upon protocol and depending upon good and capable people. We have 150 people working at Highland in the U.S. and another, whatever, half-dozen around the world, but doing various different deals, getting the deals approved through credit committee in the investment process, but then getting the documentation approved through legal before it hits my desk.

Q. And who generally are you relying upon such that you're comfortable signing something without reading it and making sure that it's proper in all respects?

A. I'm depending upon the businesspeople in business issues, and I'm depending upon the lawyers on drafting and compliance on anything that has overlap or competing issues.

Q. Is it common for you to have a big stack of documents waiting for you on your ledge or on your desk, something like that?

A. Yes.

Q. Now, let's talk about how you sign. Do you sometimes physically sign documents?

A. Yes.

Q. And do you ever use a stamp or an electronic signature?

A. No. I'll have my assistant sign if I'm not around or I'm not available.

Q. Okay, so your assistant will sometimes sign documents on your behalf?

A. Yes.

Q. And is there any sort of protocol you have with your assistant by which she knows that she's authorized to sign a particular document?
A. Yeah, I mean, unless it's routine accounting forms or something, that's -- that's the only thing I would say she has kind of full discretion on. But -- but everything else, she'll -- she'll ask me, via text or email, and I'll usually -- I'll just tell her yes.
Q. So again, we have a lot of documents with your signature on them that are exhibits in this case. Should we draw any conclusions if we see your signature on a document that you were the person who negotiated the agreement, for example?
A. Rarely am I involved in any kind of degree on negotiation.
Q. And what it be more common or not that you typically, on transactional-type documents, would not even have read the document, but rather relied upon somebody else to tell you it was okay to sign?
A. That's right.
Q. Okay. Let's talk about authority. I take it you obviously have decision-making authority at Acis.
A. Yes.
Q. And depending on the issue, do you ever have occasion to delegate authority to others?
A. Yes.

Q. In connection with this lawsuit, who have you authorized to make legal decisions or sign legal documents on behalf of Acis?
A. Scott Ellington.
Q. Okay, and what about Mr. Leventon?
A. Yes, I think it's primarily Scott, but yes.
Q. And there's been some questions raised in this case by Mr. Terry and his lawyers about whether Mr. Ellington and Mr. Leventon are authorized to sign documents on behalf of Acis. So what's the answer to that?
A. Yeah, I mean, they're -- they're representing Acis and Acis's interests since Josh left. You know, I'm -- I -- I don't know. I've been -- I don't know the exact signing protocol or whatever.
Q. So maybe a bad question -- is there any -- is it clear that you, in fact, have delegated to Mr. Ellington and/or Mr. Leventon authority to sign documents in this case legal matters?
A. Yeah, and it -- well, yes, and to represent Acis and then there's another in-house attorney on anything Acis related to represent Highland, and then -- but everything then filters up through or gets approved by Thomas Surgent in the middle, as compliance.
Q. Okay. Let's look at a document that you signed. It's Exhibit 13. It is -- it is a notice of list of creditors that was filed in this case on January 31st.

MR. CRUCIANI: Omar, if we could go to the signature page, please.

Q. And can you tell from this signature whose -- whose signature that is?

A. I mean, it's my signature. I would have -- it looks like my assistant, but you know, whatever. I -- I'm not saying -- I -- I did authorize her.

Q. And that was just a technical question. Whether you can tell from the signature whether it was you signing it or whether it was your assistant signing with your permission.

A. My -- my Ds are usually a little bolder.

Q. So likely your assistant on this one?

A. Yes. Yeah.

Q. Okay. Did you do any type of independent investigation into the creditors listed here, the amounts owed that are listed on this sheet, or did you rely upon others?

A. Yeah, I relied on others.

Q. And who would that have been, what department?

A. I'm -- it would've been both the accounting department and the legal department.

Q. Okay. Let's look at Exhibit 14, please. And let's go to the signature page, which is 15 of 22. And just for reference, this is an agreement for purchase and sale of CLO participation interests between Acis and Highland dated October 7, 2016. And is that your signature or your authorized signature there?

A. Yeah, I believe that's mine. The D's a little bolder.
Q. Okay, let's go to the beginning of the document, so page 3 of 22, the recitals. And let's put this in a little bit of context. Timing wise, Mr. Terry was terminated by Highland in June of 2016. Does that sound about right?
A. Yes.
Q. Okay, and this document -- and again, if you need ever to see the full document hard copy, let me know, and I'm happy to send it up to you. But this document, the agreement for purchase and sale of CLO participation interest, you'll see it's got a proper mark on that page that it is dated October 7, 2016.
A. Right.
Q. Okay, so this is some four months after Mr. Terry was already gone?
A. Yes.
Q. What -- what in general was taking place in this time period within Acis?
A. Okay, again, repeating what I said earlier, immediately after upon leaving, employees or partners give up interest they have in whatever funds. So immediately upon Josh's leaving back in June, the partnership became just Mark and I. So Acis at this point is just Mark and I, 75/25.

What this transaction was and was meant to be and never was anything more was a tax-planning strategy to reduce taxes. Because Acis was a full taxpaying entity and Highland wasn't. You know, the creation of the note of Highland paying Acis a note, that note -- Highland never got any monies for it. Highland never got any value for it, other than a promise for Acis to pay its management fees over time.

Right, so essentially, it was a selling of the future value of management fees for a note, and the way the note was structured and recommended from the tax attorneys would shift some of the income-tax expense to a lower taxpaying entity at Highland.

Q. I want to make sure we don't gloss over that point. This Is not like I -- for example, I refinanced my house recently, give a note to the bank, but I get cash money at closing from the bank. Are you saying that did not happen here?

A. Correct. In October, Highland got nothing other than a promise for Acis to pay. And all the payment schedule -- the amortization on the note was timed exactly to match the expected management fees as Acis got them in.

Q. Okay.

A. Does that make sense?

Q. Yeah, so -- so what was the basic trade here as you understand, or what was Highland giving to Acis and what was Acis giving to Highland?

A. Highland was giving Acis a note, and Acis gave Highland a promise to pay a discrete amount or percentage management fees going forward. And the two numbers almost net out over time.
Q. And you mentioned an amortization schedule. Let's go to the last page of the document, Exhibit A, which is entitled "Amortization Schedule". And we see the initial note amount of roughly 12.6 million dollars, and then a paydown to 9.5 million dollars in May of 2018, and another paydown of the 4.5 million dollars in May of 2019. So tell us what you mean when you're saying this -- this note amortization schedule was tied to the expected service fees from Acis. How did that work exactly?
A. There's another agreement. There's got to be another agreement of what Acis promised to pay to Highland, right.
Q. Right.
A. And if you look at those percentages or those numbers in aggregate, plus/minus some small interest differential, it equals that 12.6 over the same period.
Q. Okay and, in fact, let's look at paragraph 1.1, purchase price on page 2. And in this document, the seller is Acis and the purchaser is Highland, for ease of reference. So in consideration of the sale of the Acis participation interests to Highland, Highland shall pay 660,000 dollars in cash and deliver a promissory note with the 12.6 million dollars. Do you see that, sir?

A. Yes.
Q. Okay, and then above that, it says the seller, which would be Acis sells to Highland participation interest in the service fees defined as the Acis participation interest in an amount equal to the total servicer fees paid to seller by each of the CLOs, beginning in November 2016 and ending August 2019, and in the aggregate for a particular payment date, less the service fee or retention amount with respect to each CLO as shown on Schedule A. Do you see that?
A. Yes.
Q. Okay, and then let -- let's -- is that what you were referring to earlier?
A. Yes.
Q. Okay.
A. Yes.
Q. And then if we go to page 16 of 22, there's another schedule here, Schedule A participation interest.
A. Right.
Q. And you see there are Acis 1, 3, 4, 5, and 6 in three columns. Can you explain these three columns and economically what this reflects?
A. I'm sorry. I wasn't paying attention to that.
Q. Sure.
A. But -- but -- but essentially, one of those columns reflects the amount that's in the paragraph you were just highlighting. One of those columns reflects the amounts that are going to be paid to Highland in consideration for the note.

Q. And I think this is defined -- we just got done looking at is the Acis participation interest, so for example, on -- on Acis CLO 1, it shows total servicer fees of fifty pips with the servicer fee retained at Acis of twenty pips, and then Acis transferring thirty pips to Highland. Have I accurately summarized how that works?

A. Yes.

Q. Okay. And do you know why this -- the timing of this went through August 2019 -- from the November 2016 through the August 2019 period in terms of these participation interests?

A. Because that's what it took for it to pay off in full.

Q. You were trying to match the amount of the note in the 600,000 dollars or so of cash?

A. Yes. Just to be clear on the context here; internally, we never thought the Josh dispute was ever more than a million-dollar issue. We thought Acis would continue to exist when he -- when he first left. We hadn't at this point been sued for 210 million dollars. We hadn't gone through a rodeo of defamation and other things.

This was just a tax-planning strategy. This was just a way how can we reduce taxes by a couple million bucks. That was our tax attorneys coming to us and saying well, you have this full taxpaying entity, Acis over here. Highland pays less than full tax rates over here. You can shift some of the income by selling forward some of the management fees for a note. And that's what this is.

And when you look at all the details like why was there a 600,000-dollar cash payment, it's just because the tax attorneys come back and say well, it can't just be completely notes. There has to be at least ten percent, twenty percent, whatever the percentage is that's noncash et cetera. And it has to go out for longer than a year. That's why it's probably three years, whatever. It can't be a hundred percent of the fees. It needs to be -- that's why there's a split between the retention amount, whatever. But all this detail stuff was driven by taxes.

Q. And you understand you made reference to Mr. Terry already being gone at this point in time four months earlier. You understand that actually Mr. Terry sued Acis in the arbitration claiming this transaction was a fraudulent transfer.

A. I believe so, yes.

Q. You understand that particular claim was rejected by the arbitration panel?

A. Yes.

Q. Did Mr. Terry -- after he was terminated, did he retain any ownership interest of any kind in Acis?

A. No.
Q. Let's just look -- again, I think you've summarized what's going on here, but if I could just walk through a couple of the specifics in the recitals. If we can go to page 3 of 22.
The first recital, first whereas clause -- actually, second whereas clause says, "Whereas, all of the reinvestment periods of the CLOs will have expired by August 2019"; do you see that, sir?
A. Yes.
Q. And we just got done looking -- you don't have to flip there, but the payments went from November 2016 through August 2019. So is that why that end date was chosen?
A. Probably, yeah.
Q. And what is a reinvestment period, by the way?
A. It's a period of time at which the CLO or the pool of loans is allowed to reinvest any loans and payoff, so in other words, it keeps its full balance. After that, it amort -- the balance of the loans is shrinking.
Q. You're basically -- after the reinvestment period, you're just selling off loans but not putting new loans into a CLO?
A. Yes, loans are paying off and then the money is reused to pay down the AAA first, then AA.
Q. The fourth whereas clause says, "Seller has recently engaged an investment bank to actively market a new CLO to prospective investors." So this was October 2016, which was a full year before the arbitration award; does that sound right, timing wise?

A. Yes.

Q. So to the extent there was any suggestion in this case that this whole CLO restructure process was motivated by an attempt to avoid Mr. Terry's arbitration award without being bankrupt?

A. No.

Q. Then -- now, you were -- you and Mr. Okada were actually at this point receiving or entitled to receive your 75/25 partnership distributions, correct?

A. Correct.

Q. And then look at that, it's the third whereas clause from the bottom. It says, "Whereas, seller has determined to stop making annual distributions of excess cash to seller's partners, while efforts are underway to form new CLOs." Do you see that?

A. Yes.

Q. I think it's been suggested that there was something perhaps untoward that there had been no distributions since 2016. Does this explain why that was the case?

A. Yes. Yes.

Q. Okay, let's go onto another document. Actually, this is the companion document. Let's look at Exhibit 15 signed -- the document signed the same date, October 7, 2016. And let's go to the signature page there of this promissory note. And is that you signing on behalf of Highland Capital Management, L.P.?

A. Yes.

Q. And I think this is probably obvious, but why are Exhibits 14 and 15 both dated October 7, 2016?

A. Because they're paired together.

Q. Okay, and we've looked -- I think it was an exhibit to the other one, the amortization schedule. But let's actually go to the note, the amortization schedule at the end here. Do you know -- it's not reflected in the amortization schedule, but do you know whether Highland, in fact, made that initial 666,000-dollar payment to Acis?

A. I believe we -- we -- we did everything according to schedule, yes.

Q. Okay, and then this first payment that reduced the balance from 12.6 million down to 9.5 million, do you know whether that payment was made?

A. Like I said, I believe we -- we adhered to everything in the document.

Q. Okay. Let's move onto Exhibit 16. This has been the subject of a lot of discussion. It's alleged in this case that this is a fraudulent transfer occurring post-arbitration award. This is an assignment and transfer agreement dated November 3, 2017. And you'll see at the beginning paragraph the parties are Acis, Highland, and then an entity called Highland CLO Management, Ltd. with a acronym "HCLOM". Do you know the function or purpose of HCLOM?

A. Not -- not specifically.

Q. And there are a lot of acronyms here, so let me maybe help you out on this one if I may. I believe this was the entity designed to be the successor portfolio manager to Acis. Does that perhaps refresh your memory on it?

(Sneeze)

A. Bless you. Yes, okay.

Q. Okay, and let's go back to the signature page here. And there's your signature on behalf of Highland and on behalf of Acis. And then there's actually another signature here on behalf of Highland CLO Management, Ltd. I'm not sure if you can make out that signature or not. Do you know who's actually signing that? Can you tell?

A. No. I imagine it's one of the board members of that entity.

Q. And why is it that this Cayman entity has a -- is a -- is signing this agreement; do you know?

A. I believe -- I would -- I'm guessing it's a -- a requisite for a Cayman Island entity to have approval of the board member -- or a board member.

Q. Okay, and I see this is on behalf of the director, this signature you see there at the bottom?

A. Yes.
Q. All right, now, this timing wise was entered about two weeks after the arbitration award. So first question is did you have any role in negotiating Exhibit 16?
A. No.
Q. What role, if any, did you play in connection with Exhibit 16?
A. Just final approval.
Q. Do you know -- do you have any understanding about what group of people would have been responsible for putting together the document -- for putting together the document?
A. Sure. Yeah, I mean, the general context is we'd been negotiating for months with a large institutional investor out of Boston to come in for approximately fifty percent of the ALF. And the investor came into fifty percent of the ALF based on a schedule of refining -- refining and redoing of the various different Acis transactions.

The refi -- the refining the whole operation of the ALF post the investor coming in from Boston was all dependent upon getting as far away from Acis and a new collateral manager as possible. And so this was part of that as far as I understand.
Q. To your understanding, was that institutional investor willing to invest if Acis remained as collateral manager?

A. No, the way it was described to me, which I believe and have no reason to disbelieve even at this point, is no investor or no underwriter wanted to have any legacy or reputational exposure to Acis, period.
Q. And again, this is sort of coming full circle. Highland had this problem '08, '09 period and now it's Acis having this brand period.
A. Yeah, I would describe it as different. I mean, Highland back in the day was performance related to real estate. You know, the Acis problem is terrorism around a former employee trying to reputationally tarnish in the press as much as possible a brand.
Q. Okay. Let's look at a couple of the whereas clauses here if we may, on the first page. The third whereas clause says, "Highland has notified Acis that Highland is unwilling to continue to provide support personnel and other critical services to Acis with respect to the CLOs." Did Highland have that right to do that?
A. Yes.
Q. And why was that Highland's position?
A. It -- it's under no obli -- it's under no obligation. As a matter of fact, the -- the only reason why it was at this point was to just facilitate the refinancings, you know, but it -- but it's under no obligation to provide services to a shell.

Q. The next whereas clause says, "Acis has determined that the effect of the notification is that it cannot fulfil its duties as portfolio manager of the CLOs." Why was that the effect of Highland's notification?
A. Because there are no employees and no capacity at Acis to manage the underlying CLOs.
Q. Those last two whereas clauses say, "Acis is expected to incur significant costs and expenses relating to ongoing claims and litigation." Would that be with respect to Mr. Terry?
A. Yes.
Q. And also "is expected to have ongoing accounting and administrative expenses." Do you see that?
A. Yes.
Q. Let's go to the next page, Exhibit 4 -- excuse me, paragraph 4 that addresses these legal and administrative obligations. It says, "In any event Acis delivers written notice to HCLOM that Acis is unable to pay when due any Acis expenses, then HCLOM shall promptly pay to Acis" -- I'm going to paraphrase -- the two million dollars of legal expenses or the one million dollars of administrative expenses. Do you see that?
A. Yes.
Q. So this, to your knowledge, prior to the bank accounts of Acis being garnished by Mr. Terry and him throwing Acis into involuntary bankruptcy, was there ever an occasion, to your knowledge, where Acis was unable to pay when due its expenses?

A. No, there were none.
Q. Therefore, was there ever any occasion to trigger this particular expense and support provision?
A. No.
Q. Now, if there came a time with litigation costs and other expenses where Acis was unable to pay its expenses when they became due, what was your intent in signing this as to whether or not HCLOM would honor this and make the payment?
A. We would -- we would honor it and -- and pay as appropriate.
Q. Now, you referred to this three million dollars of expense reimbursement in your deposition. I think you called it a windfall to Acis. Do you recall that?
A. Yes.
Q. Can you explain to the Court why you view this as a windfall?
A. Okay, without repeating myself too much, again --
Q. Yeah.
A. -- right, the note was created, became an asset and a liability of Acis long after Josh Terry was there. There was an offsetting asset. There was an offsetting liability. It was -- it was created for tax purposes, and it was created assuming Acis was going to be an ongoing entity and ongoing operating entity.

In raising money from new investors, and as the litigation got more heated, it was clear Acis wasn't going to be a ongoing entity in any form or fashion with regard to Acis's 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7.

The unwinding of the note plus unwinding of the liabilities, which netted each other, which were never an asset of Josh's in any form or fashion and were never really of any net value anyway, the -- giving three million dollars to Acis in terms of expense and fee reimbursement is unwarranted based on the economics and really a gift to Acis, period.

Q. Okay. Well, let's look at that netting that you talked about with respect to the promissory note versus the service fees as reflected in the balance sheets of Acis. And if we can go to Exhibit 177, please.

MR. CRUCIANI: And Omar, if you'll drop down in the middle there under "Other Current Assets". You see there's a line item for HCM loan participation note of the 12.6 million dollars, roughly? There you go.

A. What's the date on this?

Q. I'm sorry, this is December 31, 2016, so shortly after the transaction was made and before there was anything.

A. Okay.

Q. Okay, so there's an asset reflected in the face amount of the note, correct? Okay, let's go to the second page on the liabilities, again in the middle there you'll see "Due to HCMLP participation fees" 11.9 million dollars. You see that?

A. Yes.
Q. So we've got the asset not exactly offsetting but roughly offsetting liability, correct?
A. That's right.
Q. All right, and then the actual spread there if you did the math is about roughly 700,000 dollars it looks like, the way -- if you compare the note, the asset on the balance sheet versus the liability on the balance sheet.
A. Yes.
Q. All right. Let's go to Exhibit 103, and Exhibit 103 should be an August 31, 2017 balance sheet.
MR. CRUCIANI: And let's go on the first page, Omar, that will be the same -- same spots on the balance sheet. You'll see -- yeah, thank you for doing that.
Q. The HCM loan participation note has now been reduced 9.5 million. Do you see that, sir?
A. Yes.
Q. Then if we go to the next page and look at the corresponding amount -- liability, it's roughly 7.9 million dollars. Do you see that?
A. Yes.
Q. And that's -- if you do that math, it's roughly 1.6

million dollars. Does that sound about right?
A. Yes.
Q. And you'll see the total equity there is 3.3 million dollars. Do you see that?
A. Yes.
Q. So if all you did was focus on the note and only the note, by removing the note from the balance sheet as an asset, that has an effect of reducing the total equity by the amount of the note, 9.5 million. That's all you looked at, right?
A. Right.
Q. But is that the right way, in your view, to look at this transaction?
A. No. They were -- it was -- it was a paired transaction. It always was a paired transaction.
Q. And so in that respect, is it your view that you have to consider the 7.9-million-dollar corresponding liability?
A. Yes.
Q. And by the way, nowhere reflected on here is the -- unless I've missed it -- I don't think I have, is the three-million-dollar windfall that you just got done talking about, that was a receivable to which Acis was entitled, correct?
A. Yeah. I believe the accountants viewed it as contingent and therefore not an asset yet. You know, if it -- if it starts being exercised or applied then it would hit the -- hit the financials.

Q. Okay, let's do one more on the balance sheet. If we could go to Exhibit 88, the December 31, 2017 balance sheet. And this is shortly after the November transaction we got done looking at. And if you'll look on the asset side, you'll see there is no promissory note here. The total assets at this point are 2.8 million dollars. Do you see that?
A. Yes.
Q. But likewise, there is no -- if you go to the liabilities, there's no corresponding liability on the balance sheet either, correct?
A. Yes.
Q. And we see a total equity of about 863,000, and again, that's not including the three million dollars that we just got done talking about, correct?
A. Correct.
Q. Okay, let me go back in time for just a minute. I want to return to Exhibit 14. And just so I don't whipsaw you on this, Mr. Dondero, this is the original October 2016 transaction that we just got done talking about, okay.
A. Yes.
Q. All right, so it's been pointed out in this proceeding that -- and let's go to paragraph 3.6. That's at the bottom of page 6 or 8 of 22. And it says at the very bottom, "Should the seller's rights with respect to the service fees be terminated, such termination shall not affect the purchaser's obligations under the note." Do you see that?

A. Yes.
Q. And I believe it's Mr. Terry's position and argument that Exhibit 14 does not condition payment by Highland of the promissory note to receipt of service fees from Acis. So what is your response to that contention?
A. It was always a -- it was always a paired transaction, and the tying of the two together and a recommendation for unwinding or whatever you want to call it, selling the note came to me from counsel and advisors. I mean, does that not answer?
Q. Yeah, well, let me ask you this way. If you just -- if you just stopped here, and what you did was you said okay, Highland, you've paid 600-some-thousand cash up front, and you have to pay the remaining balance on the note, which when coupled with what was paid that would be the 12.6 million face amount. So Highland, you owe Acis thirteen-million-plus dollars, but Acis, you don't need to pay any more fees. And maybe you've paid three or four million dollars in fees to date. Was that the intent behind this transaction?
A. No, never, and you know, to the extent that we did anything convoluted to the disadvantage of the equity holders in the CLOs by trying to keep Acis flows alive so that it could pay the Highland note so that -- or pay the Highland share so that Highland could pay the note, that would be -- that would be looked at -- I don't need to be a compliance guy to know that that would -- that would be -- that'd be bad.

That would -- that would -- yeah, if -- if we tried to keep the Acis fees alive by keeping the CLOs as they are with the expensive debt nonrefinanced so that Acis could have more sharing to pay Highland as it's supposed to so that Highland could pay the note, that would have been -- we couldn't go down that path.

Q. And there are -- and in both cases, it's not like there are third-party owners of either Highland or Acis. It's essentially 75/25 you and Mr. Okada in both entities, correct?

A. Correct.

Q. So by -- of the remaining 9.5 million dollars in principal and interest payments that Acis would've received, you would've gotten roughly 7 million dollars of that personally or through your work entities, correct?

A. Okay, yeah.

Q. So does this transaction benefit you in any way, given that you're seventy-five-percent ownership in each entity, or was it economically a wash?

A. It's essentially a wash. They're -- yes, it doesn't matter which pocket it goes into.

Q. Okay. Let's move on and talk just briefly about some of the service agreements, the shared-service agreement and the subadvisory agreement. I'm not going to walk through those, but just generally speaking; are you familiar that there were changes made to the -- to the fee allocations of those agreements from -- over time?

A. Yes.

Q. And while Mr. Terry was the portfolio manager at -- for Acis, do you know if he played any role in negotiating some of the changes to those -- to those fee allocations as between Highland and Acis?

A. Oh yeah. Well, when he was employed --

Q. Yes.

A. -- every -- every year him and Frank would meet for -- Frank Waterhouse the CFO would meet and discuss for weeks, you know, at the end of the year what was -- and debate what was the appropriate shared-services and portfolio fee. When -- after he was gone, you know, he wasn't involved in that, but after he was gone, Acis was using a lot more resources in the company.

Q. And Mr. Terry, while he was there, had a twenty-five-percent ownership interest in Acis, but no ownership interest in Highland, correct?

A. Right.

Q. So economically, was it in Mr. Terry's advantage to negotiate, to lay off onto Highland as many of those fees as opposed to keeping them at the Acis level?

A. Oh absolutely.
Q. And your understanding of the negotiations he had with Mr. Waterhouse, was he vigorous in advocating his position?
A. Sure, yes.
Q. And did you have any concerns after Mr. Terry was terminated, as you looked at the allocations in these agreements, that his economic interests may have colored how those allocations historically had been made?
A. Yes, yeah. I mean, over advocated, but again, what happened is the costs went up monumentally after he left too, so the -- the accountants or whoever were doing the allocation was -- I mean, after he left, he goes to the SEC, makes all kinds of claims. And then the SEC makes a two-million-page document request of Acis. You know what I mean? So it ends up being a burden on Acis, and it ends up being a burden on Highland to meet those requests.
Q. So those type of actions that Mr. Terry initiated are the very thing that drove up the underlying servicing costs?
A. Post him leaving, absolutely, yeah.
Q. Let me go through, and I'm going to do this briefly because Mr. Okada went through this in some detail talking about the equity. But I'm going to approach it from a little bit different angle with you.
But let's go to PowerPoint slide number 25 if we can. I believe the Court has seen this, Mr. Okada, part of this, but I just wanted to focus in.

Actually, let's go to PowerPoint slide number 26, for a simple version, where we have the CLO, three basket of loans, the ALF equity, and the bondholders, and this is a super-duper simplified version of CLO 3, correct?

A. Yes.

Q. All right. And then let's go to slide 27, which again, Mr. Okada talked about this so I'm not going to spend much time on it. But just to orient you, is this your understanding of the equity component of CLO 3, where you have this third-party institutional investor at forty-nine percent -- a charitable foundation at forty-nine percent, and that Highland or some of its employees at two percent?

A. Yes.

MR. CRUCIANI: Now, let's go to that donor-advised slide, yeah.

And Your Honor, I don't think we've used this before. If I could have the next demonstrative number, please.

THE COURT: What are we to, 9? Number 9?

MR. CRUCIANI: I'm sorry, that was number 9?

THE COURT: This will be 9.

MR. CRUCIANI: Yes, ma'am, thank you.

Q. Okay, so we have in the middle this donor-advised fund, the DAF called -- CLO HoldCo being the entity. Let me just start without even reference to the structure here. What is the purpose of the DAF?

A. We decided about a decade ago to set up a charitable foundation. We initially seeded it with forty or fifty million dollars. We added monies to it over the years. We added thirty, forty million to it last year I think. And between that and appreciation, it's grown to about 350 million dollars. It's one of the larger foundations in Dallas.
Q. And just generally speaking, how does it operate? That we see there's four different foundations here. Do you know at what level the funds or the CLOs are actually held?
A. Sure. The assets are held directly by the lower boxes there. It's not a quarter, a quarter, a quarter. I don't know what the exact percentages are. The first three I think are larger than the last one. But they hold the individual assets. To be clear, like the foundation or the charitable -- it's monies we've donated. They're -- they don't come back to Highland. They never can come back to Highland. They've been donated for which we got a tax deduction and can never have claim to those assets again. And those assets have to be -- that are now down in these four underlying entities have to be given to qualified 501(3)(c) charitable organizations.
Q. Okay, and I think we went through some of those organizations with Mr. Okada, so I won't belabor that point.

Who runs The Dallas foundation?
A. Mary Jalonick or -- she just retired. I don't know who she handed it off to.
Q. Okay. Who was she with?
A. The Dallas Foundation.
Q. That's the name of it?
A. Yeah.
Q. Dallas Foundation?
A. It is the name of it, yes.
Q. Okay and does -- you may have said this. Does Highland have any ownership interest whatsoever in the DAF?
A. No. The closest we come to it is we're an advisor. We can make recommendations on asset purchases and sales, but they have to be approved by Grant Scott, the general partner and trustee.
Q. And we see Highland, HCM, up in the top-left corner as advisor. Is that the full trappings of the investment advisor under the security laws?
A. Yes. It's a formal advisory agreement.
Q. Okay, and do you have any ownership interest in the DAF?
A. No.
Q. And to the extent it's been suggested or alluded to in this proceeding that this is all really Mr. Dondero personally behind the equity, is that true?
A. No.

Q. Was it ever true?
A. No.
Q. And the general partner there, DAF GP, LLC, (ph.) Grant Scott managing member, trustee -- whatever his exact title is, who is Mr. Scott?
A. He's a truly independent trustee. I've known him for a long time. He's a patent attorney by training, but he has the time and inclination and he enjoys being involved with the charities.
Q. You said he's independent. In what way is he independent?
A. He's never been an employee or relative or whatever the violations of the independence rules are.
Q. Okay. And it was asked of Mr. Okada and - today and asked of you in the deposition about certain signage rights that Highland gets for places like the Dallas Zoo or the Perot Museum. Why is that? Why does it not say DAF or donor-advised fund at the Dallas Zoo as opposed to Highland Capital?
A. Well, because we gave all the money to the charity, Highland did, I would say as point number one. Plus you could make the signage anything you want. Where anything -- any time we donate money, we can make the signage anything we want, but there's -- DAF doesn't get any benefit for the signage. It helps Highland to be active in the community and charitable in the community, so we generally give the signage to Highland or NexBank or one of our portfolio companies.

Q. Okay. Now, let's talk about Highland's plans to reissue the Acis CLOs. And I think we've talked about -- we read one of the whereas clauses showing that was taking place back I believe in October 2016 when that process was sort of under way, correct?
A. Yeah.
Q. Okay, now, so did that -- so obviously, that initial decision had nothing to do with the arbitration award by definition, correct?
A. Right.
Q. All right. What are the -- what are the market forces generally speaking that are driving from an economic perspective Highland and other folks in the CLO industry to go through reissuance?
A. The cost of borrowing at ninety percent has come down materially. But also, the yield that you're getting on the portfolio of assets, on the pool of loans has been coming down materially too. In other words, spread compression in the market where everybody's ability to borrow, between fed easing and a better economy is less. The spread that everybody pays is less.
So if you have a historic deal, where your financing costs are high, but in the meantime the yields you're getting on your portfolio of loans is coming down, and you don't refi, you're just killing your equity.

Q. All right.
A. Does that make any sense?
Q. Absolutely.
A. I hope.
Q. Now, let's talk about sort of the problems with the brand that you touched upon. Now, Mr. Terry as the portfolio manager was more or less the face of the Acis CLOs; was he not?
A. Yes.
Q. Have you ever heard of anybody other than Mr. -- well, let me step back. You became aware that Mr. Terry had secretly tape recorded about 300 conversations while he was at Highland?
A. Yes, I was. Yeah, I was told and for eighteen months I believe too.
Q. Including privileged conversations with counsel?
A. That's what I was told, yes.
Q. Are you aware of anyone else in the CLO industry ever having engaged in such conduct?
A. No.
Q. And what did that do when that became public knowledge, that the portfolio manager of Acis had engaged in this secret tape recording campaign? What did that do to the Acis brand?
A. I mean, that and the commensurate litigation made it unmarketable. The underwriters wouldn't deal with Acis, but the investors didn't want to have anything to do with Acis either.

Q. Okay, let's -- I'm almost there, by the way, Mr. Dondero. Just so you don't get anxious at this point. Roll of the eyes. All right, let's talk again, Mr. Dondero -- excuse me, Mr. Okada talked about this. I don't want to repeat much of this. But I want to talk about the investors' call rights. What does it mean for an investor to exercise a call?

A. The investors have the right to -- there's a noncall period of which I believe virtually every Acis CLO is beyond the noncall period, where the investors can just call the deal and just have it liquidated.

Q. Did that -- is there any precedent for that having happened with any of the Acis CLOs?

A. Yes, yeah, we called a -- Acis 2, I believe.

Q. And that was due to what reasons?

A. It had -- it was too far beyond its reinvestment period and it shrank too much to reset it or extend it. Once they're beyond their re -- reinvestment period, any payoffs on the loans pay down the debt, so the whole deal shrinks. And it would -- it had -- it was -- it had shrank too much to refi.

Q. And do you have any reason to believe what the investors would choose to do if this case remained stuck in bankruptcy?

A. There's a point at which they start getting eaten alive by -- even its first month costs several millions of dollars, but more -- more than a million dollars in just a month. Once you get eight or nine months into it, they're getting eaten alive by their financing costs relative to the yield on their portfolio. And it would be -- towards the end of the year, they'd be in -- in -- indifferent between calling the deal and booking the loss or -- or getting eaten alive.

Q. What happens to the CMAs and the associated service fees if the deal gets called?

A. The CMAs go away, yeah.

Q. Now, if when the Court rules her ruling would release Acis from this bankruptcy, what would you plan on doing with respect to the remaining Acis CLOs?

A. We would refinance CLO 3 immediately. It was very -- in the history of Wall Street, it was very rare to price a deal and have it not close. I mean, if that happens once a year, on all of Wall Street, that's unique. But we managed to do that on Acis (sic) 3.

But we would immediately go back to all the investors, that -- that circle, try and get them reconfirmed, and try and do that within a couple of weeks. And then we would try and do 4, 5, and 6 immediately behind.

Q. And if this deal ends up getting called, as a result of Mr. Terry throwing it into bankruptcy, which of the stakeholders ends up bearing the brunt of the economic damages?

A. Oh, the -- the -- the equity holders, the ALF, which is half the charitable foundation, but half a firm out of Boston that will be furious.
Q. Why would they be furious?
A. Because based on the interference -- and that, I would say, is inappropriate interference -- of Josh Terry, they lost millions of dollars.
Q. All right. Last topic, then I'm done with you. I want to talk about this CMA valuation. You're aware that Mr. Terry has asserted, under oath, multiple times in this case, that the five Acis CLOs are worth well in excess of thirty million dollars? Are you aware of that assertion?
A. Yes.
Q. And he complains that Acis should not transfer the CMAs for no value, but rather should sell them for what the market can get, which he says is thirty million dollars.
So let me ask it of you. Based on your seventy-five percent beneficial ownership interest in Acis, do you have an economic interest in -- if you could -- to sell these CMAs for as much as the market could bear?
A. Sure.
Q. And if Acis was able to sell these CMAs for thirty million dollars, as Mr. Terry asserts they're valued, your seventy-five percent interest would translate into more than twenty million dollars in your pocket, would it not?

A. Right.
Q. Do you not want to make twenty million dollars?
A. They're not -- they're unsellable. They're -- they're thirty-day contracts. They can be called at any time, for any reason, for -- in -- in thirty days. They -- they have -- it would be like trying to sell your wages.
Q. Okay. Well, Mr. Terry complains you haven't even tried. Why haven't you tried to sell these CMAs to someone?
A. It's -- there's no longevity to them. They can be called at any time, for any reason. There's no hurdle on thirty days' notice on deals that all need to be refinanced in a -- where the counterparty of the CMA is a shell company mirrored -- or mired in contentious litigation. Who's -- who's going to but a thirty-day contract and try and transfer the contracts to their name from a company that's mired in litigation, knowing that they could be dragged into it or --
Q. If Mr. Terry brought you a buyer and said, Mr. Dondero, here's thirty million dollars; sell me the CMAs, are you doing that deal?
A. Yeah. You can have it -- you can have it for five.
Q. Five million?
A. Yeah.
Q. Now, do you have a belief whether you could find a buyer who would pay anything other than negligible value, if that,

for these CMAs?
A. No. They -- yeah. If someone wanted to get involved in the litigation, try and do a transfer, spend the legal work, they would present-value a month or two worth of fees.
MR. CRUCIANI: I pass the witness, Your Honor.
THE COURT: Okay. Why don't we take about a seven-minute break and when we come back, we'll cross?
THE CLERK: All rise.
(Recess from 2:55 p.m. until 3:03 p.m.)
THE COURT: Be seated. All right, and Mr. Dondero was still under oath.
Mr. Shaw, your cross?
MR. SHAW: Yes.
CROSS-EXAMINATION
BY MR. SHAW:
Q. Mr. Dondero, one of the last things you said in your direct testimony was that the collateral-management agreements, of which Acis serves as the portfolio manager and collateral manager, were terminable for any reason. Do you recall that?
A. Yes.
Q. And that's not actually true. Those CMAs are actually only terminable for cause. Isn't that the case?
A. Well, they can be called for any reason.
Q. Okay, but they can't be terminated. The CMAs cannot be terminated without cause, correct?

A. I'm sorry if I mixed up that difference. Yes, yes -- I don't know.
Q. Highland sold CMAs to Carlyle in 2012, right?
A. Yes.
Q. And that was a thirty- to forty-million-dollar transaction?
A. Yes.
Q. Okay. Those collateral-management agreements, similar to the Acis collateral-management agreements, could also be terminated for cause, correct?
A. I don't know.
Q. I want to make sure I'm clear on this issue. I believe you testified that you had no financial incentive to favor Highland over Acis, is that right?
A. Yes, particularly once Josh was gone.
Q. And I think you also characterized it as it doesn't matter which pocket it goes into, correct?
A. Yes.
Q. Does Highland Capital Management, L.P. have an unstayed judgment against it?
A. Not that I'm aware of.
Q. All right. Has Highland Capital Management been garnished in the last year?
A. No.

Q. MR. Terry does not have a judgement against Highland Capital Management, does he?
A. No.
Q. Are you here today on behalf of Highland Capital Management, as its president, or Acis Capital Management GP, LLC, as its president?
A. I -- I always wear many hats. I -- I believe, on here, I'm both.
Q. And you acknowledge that Highland -- and when I say Highland, can we have the agreement that I'm talking about Highland Capital Management L.P.?
A. Sure.
Q. And when I say Acis, I mean the combination of Acis Capital Management, L.P. and Acis Capital Management, LLC -- I'm sorry, Acis Capital Management GP, LLC. Can we have that agreement?
A. Okay.
Q. So you acknowledge that Highland is a creditor of Acis, correct?
A. Yes, I believe so.
Q. This is a deeply personal dispute with Mr. Terry for you, isn't it?
A. Not particularly.
Q. Well, I heard you characterize Mr. Terry as a terrorist. Did I hear that correctly?

A. Yes.
Q. You said in your direct testimony that you believe that he should go to the "big house". Do you recall that?
A. I think he runs the risk of going to the big house.
Q. You had your deposition taken on Tuesday, right?
A. Yes.
Q. You refused to shake Mr. Terry's hand, didn't you?
A. Yes.
Q. You recall your testimony at that deposition that, "The personalities on both sides are intractable." Do you remember that?
A. I -- I just said I know the personalities on both sides.
Q. Do you recall saying that the personalities on both sides are intractable, under oath?
A. I -- I don't remember that, but that's close enough.
Q. Do you recall saying -- and this is under oath -- "We'll be here a decade from now"?
A. I -- I thought I said five years. I mean, do you want to know the context or --
Q. No. I just want to know --
A. Okay.
Q. -- whether you said, we'll be here a decade from now.
And can we pull up Exhibit 101, please, and go to page 26, line 24? I'm sorry, and this is actually a deposition in arbitration.

MR. CRUCIANI: Hold on one second.

MR. SHAW: Yeah.

MR. CRUCIANI: There is a confidentiality order in place and proffered in the arbitration. I want -- well, I will show it to them. But if it's admitted, then I would just ask that any reference of this be sealed because that arbitration proceeding was supposed to be a sealed proceeding. We have third parties in the room who are copiously taking notes about the protection of Mr. Dondero. And I would not -- in fact, I would ask, to the extent that they use this, that they (indiscernible) coordinate with Mr. (indiscernible), who's a former Highland employee, with the pending litigation, as Mr. (indiscernible).

THE COURT: Okay. Let me back up. This is a deposition from the arbitration?

MR. CRUCIANI: That's correct.

THE COURT: And there is some sort of sealing order or confidentiality order from the arbitration?

MR. CRUCIANI: That's typical and I'm confident -- yeah, I'll let the others who were involved with that address that.

THE COURT: Is there any dispute about that?

MR. SHAW: No. The limited-partnership agreement provided that everything in arbitration was confidential. So there was no order of the arbitrators, but a contractual agreement of the parties was that it was confidential. So there's no dispute and we have no issue on sealing this particular exhibit, Judge.

THE COURT: All right. Well, then I'll be happy to do a sealing order. I'll leave you all to upload something in the next day or two.

MR. CRUCIANI: Right.

THE COURT: And it -- this is Exhibit what?

MR. CRUCIANI: Exhibit 102.

THE COURT: And that one's already been admitted by stipulation?

MR. SHAW: It has.

THE COURT: All right.

THE COURT: So --

MR. CRUCIANI: And honestly, Your Honor, that was -- I think that was inadvertent. I think it was not appreciated that it was from the arbitration and there was a sealing order there. So --

THE COURT: All right. My point is, just for the clerk's office benefit, I'll need you to submit an order, you know, the next couple of days, before the trial is completed, providing that this exhibit will be kept under seal and that the transcript on, you know, March 23rd, from, you know, 3:10 p.m. -- whatever time through whatever will be -- a redacted copy will be the publicly available copy of the transcript.

And then we'll have an unredacted copy that's sealed.

MR. CRUCIANI: And I would even propose, Your Honor, to the extent that this was sort of like an inadvertent designation of confidentiality, I would assert that now. I did not get the sense that the pending question was anything of any great moment. I think it was five years versus ten years. I think that from the question that he was directing Mr. Dondero to, I would ask, if Mr. Shaw is able to get his testimony without going to the deposition, which should have been sealed, that he would do that.

Alternatively, I would ask that this be withdrawn as having been inadvertently put into the record as opposed to -- I appreciate the Court's willingness to seal.

THE COURT: Okay. Well, why --

MR. CRUCIANI: You know, I don't think this is a big disputed point.

MR. SHAW: We want it in the record. Whether it's sealed or not is -- I can make it the question.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. SHAW: So --

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. SHAW: But --

THE COURT: You've stipulated; it will be in the record. We'll just have it sealed.

Now, there is someone in the courtroom that you want to exclude?

MR. CRUCIANI: MR. SHAW: Yeah. Mr. Daugherty has pending litigation.

THE COURT: Is that you? Okay. So the protective order from the arbitration would protect this information from getting in --

MR. CRUCIANI: Public domain.

THE COURT: -- public domain, period.

All right. Mr. Daugherty, it sounds like we have an issue with anyone that a lawyer or a party --

MR. DAUGHERTY: I'm fine with --

THE COURT: -- to that arbitration hearing some testimony that pertains to what was said in the arbitration.

MR. DAUGHERTY: Yeah. If you're asking me to, you know, stand down on that, absolutely.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. DAUGHERTY: But I am a potential creditor of Acis.

THE COURT: Really?

MR. DAUGHERTY: Yes.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. CRUCIANI: Oh?

MR. DAUGHERTY: The more I learn about what's going on at Acis, I think the money -- that note might have been mine.

THE COURT: Oh, goodness. Okay. The plot thickens. All right. Well for now, I need to exclude you from the courtroom --

MR. DAUGHERTY: Fair enough.

THE COURT: -- based on what I'm hearing. And I guess as a courtesy, can someone go get him when we're finished with this protected information?

MR. SHAW: And it will be very quick. And I don't think anything -- what I'm actually talking about is anything that's sensitive. I mean, it's -- so --

THE COURT: All right. Well, I'm not flooded volunteers to do that, but, Mr. Larson, since you're standing up --

MR. LARSON: I received your secret code.

MR. DAUGHERTY: Your Honor, I'll just return tomorrow.

THE COURT: Oh, okay. Well, we won't be here Saturday, but --

MR. DAUGHERTY: I'm sorry; Monday.

THE COURT: Monday, all right.

MR. CRUCIANI: Your Honor, before Mr. Daugherty --

THE COURT: See you.

MR. CRUCIANI: -- leaves, he made a comment that obviously surprised everybody, that he believes he might be a creditor of Acis. I'd love to know what he thinks he's owed and what the basis is. I mean, this is just --

MR. SHAW: He's not been listed as a witness. We have no notice of this.

MR. CRUCIANI: All right. That's fine, Your Honor. I just --

THE COURT: Yeah. We're not going to have --

MR. SHAW: This is not trial by --

THE COURT: Okay. Thank you, Mr. Daugherty.

MR. CRUCIANI: Okay, okay.

MR. DAUGHERTY: Thank you, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Okay. And I don't know what they were rescinding. Did you all completely rule out Monday now?

MR. CRUCIANI: I thought we were doing --

MR. SHAW: We confirmed Tuesday.

MR. CRUCIANI: -- Tuesday and Thursday.

THE COURT: Tuesday and Thursday, okay. I didn't know if Monday was still something you all were -- but, okay, Tuesday.

All right. You may proceed.

MR. SHAW: Let me see if I can get back on track here.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. SHAW: Okay.

(Portion under seal submitted separately)

THE COURT: Okay.

All right, it's 4:16. Who is your next witness?

MR. CRUCIANI: That will be Mr. Terry.

THE COURT: All right, well, shall we use forty-five minutes, at least? I don't know if you're going to take more than that or not.

MR. CRUCIANI: Oh, I'm going to take more than that. Yeah, I haven't gotten an examination of Mr. Terry --

THE COURT: Right.

MR. CRUCIANI: -- so I'll --

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. CRUCIANI: -- probably have three hours.

THE COURT: Okay.

How much time does Acis have left, Laura, just so that -- you had mentioned --

MR. CRUCIANI: Oh, we have that much? Okay. Okay.

THE COURT: Okay. It -- I mean, shall we go forward? I'm fine with going another forty-five minutes, but I'll --

MR. CRUCIANI: Yeah.

THE COURT: -- defer to the --

MR. SHAW: My --

THE COURT: -- lawyers.

MR. SHAW: My one concern is if they are going to take a position that we can't consult with our client over the weekend, about strategy, whatever -- they've taken that position before -- then we would prefer to put him on fresh on Monday or whenever we start again. But I do know -- and I have looked into that issue, Judge, about whether or not the Court can restrict --

THE COURT: Right.

MR. SHAW: -- a party's --

THE COURT: Right, right, right.

MR. SHAW: And I -- and from what I've seen, there's no -- there's no clear rule on it. I know in the criminal context that you can't do a full-sale bar --

THE COURT: Right.

MR. SHAW: -- overnight.

THE COURT: It's a balancing thing, right?

MR. SHAW: It's a bal --

THE COURT: Like I said.

MR. SHAW: Exactly --

THE COURT: Um-hum.

MR. SHAW: -- right. Exactly right.

THE COURT: Coaching the witness versus right to assistance of counsel.

MR. SHAW: Right, and you have general, you know --

THE COURT: Um-hum.

MR. SHAW: -- broad discretion --

THE COURT: Um-hum.

MR. SHAW: -- into how to, you know, effectuate the proceedings and how the trial goes, so obviously, we would defer to your discretion on that. But that would put us in a bad spot if we can't -- you know, if there's --

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. SHAW: -- some issue.

THE COURT: Mr. Cruciani, do you feel comfortable with the honor code applying? I mean, they can -- they can counsel their client, strategize with their client, talk to their client over the weekend, they just can't -- I don't know. They can't coach him, they can't visit with him: hey, you know that answer you just gave right at the end of the day Friday? Why don't you go change that up Monday morning or Tuesday morning?

I mean, it's just -- it's an honor code thing. What can we do except --

MR. CRUCIANI: I --

THE COURT: -- plow ahead.

MR. CRUCIANI: I share your view, Your Honor. I think what they can't do and shouldn't do, and it would be a violation of the honor code, is to specifically discuss his testimony. They could discuss case strategy, PowerPoints, whatever you're going to say in closing argument, but his -- it's the testimony itself that they ought not discuss. Anything else, I don't care.

MR. SHAW: Judge, you know, I -- and I -- and we've discussed this before about finishing. I mean, it's almost

4:30. I realize we have finite time, but why don't we just -- we can -- we can eliminate this as an issue. It's Friday. I mean --

THE COURT: Well, my --

MR. SHAW: -- and come back. I really --

THE COURT: Mm. My problem is I can give you -- what did I -- three hours-ish?

THE CLERK: We're starting at 9.

THE COURT: Oh, we said we were starting at 9.

THE CLERK: Three and a half hours.

THE COURT: No, we're starting in the morning on Thursday.

THE CLERK: Oh, that's right.

THE COURT: I mean, if we stop now, we'll finish the evidence, but we won't get to closing arguments. But we might not even --

MR. CRUCIANI: Yeah, I think --

THE COURT: -- make it.

MR. CRUCIANI: -- I think that what the -- in addition to closing arguments, just maybe get to address scheduling, I understood the Court was, to the extent, not somehow mooted, was going to address the stay issue --

THE COURT: Oh, and they --

MR. CRUCIANI: -- as --

THE COURT: -- needed that. Um-hum.

MR. CRUCIANI: -- as well as the intervention issue.
THE COURT: Um-hum.
MR. CRUCIANI: So that would be some more housekeeping --
THE COURT: Um-hum.
MR. CRUCIANI: -- to deal with.
MR. SHAW: But this forty minutes is probably not going to change -- I mean, make or break us. I don't know. Anyway, that -- my preference would be that we would just call it a week, but obviously, I --
MR. CRUCIANI: I'm -- you know, I'm happy to go forward, Your Honor. I'm happy to stop. I mean, either way, whatever the Court's --
THE COURT: Let's just get --
MR. CRUCIANI: -- preference is.
THE COURT: -- in forty more minutes. Stop at 5 like we said we would.
MR. CRUCIANI: And --
THE COURT: I'm sorry, there's no perfect answer, either --
MR. CRUCIANI: That's fine.
THE COURT: -- but that's the --
MR. CRUCIANI: Can we --
THE COURT: -- best one.
MR. CRUCIANI: Can we just take, perhaps, five or ten minutes, just to transition?

THE COURT: No problem.

MS. PATEL: Wait, Your Honor, if I could just ask a question? Or we can do this when we come back.

THE COURT: Five minutes.

THE CLERK: All rise.

(Recess from 4:21 p.m. until 4:26 p.m.)

THE CLERK: All rise.

THE COURT: All right, please be seated, those of you here.

MR. SHAW: They said they gave up.

THE COURT: Yeah. I'm sure that's true.

(Off-the-record conversation)

THE COURT: All right, well, are we ready?

MR. CRUCIANI: Yes --

THE COURT: Mr. Terry --

MR. CRUCIANI: -- we are.

THE COURT: -- I guess I need to swear you in again. It's been a couple of days. Please raise your right hand.

(Witness sworn)

THE COURT: All right, please be seated.

DIRECT EXAMINATION

BY MR. CRUCIANI:

Q. Mr. Terry, I want to ask you the same questions I asked you substantively on February 6th and see if, with the passage of time, you have the same or a different answer. You have an eight-million-dollar judgment on the one hand, and on the other hand, you say there are five CMAs at Acis that are worth at least thirty million dollars, correct?

A. Yes.

Q. All right. So can we all go home right now where you will stipulate on the record that you will release your judgment against Acis and, in return, you can have the CMAs to do with them what you want?

A. No.

Q. You just won't take yes for an answer, will you?

A. Could you --

Q. Why wouldn't you --

A. -- rephrase your --

Q. -- do that?

A. -- question, please?

Q. Why wouldn't you do that? Isn't that what you want the bankruptcy trustee to do, among other things, if one were to be appointed, is to do an auction process, sell these CMAs, get that into the estate, and use it to pay you and any other creditors?

A. Well, number one, I think it would be up to the trustee to decide how to maximize the value of the estate for the benefit of the creditors, and the -- and the entire estate. So one of the paths I believe the trustee could take would be to auction the CLO contracts off. Another path could be to find new shared-services and subadvisory agreement providers at an arm's-length fee. And then there's a number of other things the trustee could do, as well.

Q. I'm focusing on the auction process. I'm focusing on what you say is the only material asset left in Acis, the CMX. If they're really worth thirty million dollars and you only have an eight-million-dollar claim, then it ought to be a snap to be able to sell those through an auction process and get sufficient funds to pay you off, right?

A. I believe an auction process within this bankruptcy concept -- context could be facilitated. I wouldn't call it a snap, but I think it could probably facil -- be facilitated in less than six months is my general belief based on my prior experience.

Q. Why do we need bankruptcy? Why don't we just agree on who's going to conduct the auction process, we can get out of bankruptcy, and you get the benefit of the auction process?

A. Well, because on one hand, the conduct of Acis was to fraudulently transfer, in my view, the contracts to an affiliate for no value. So the only other alternative would be a venue outside of bankruptcy court. And in that situation, if you look at the portfolio-management agreements, you have numerous removal-for-cause provisions in those types of scenarios that I understand are ipso facto clauses within a bankruptcy context. Such as we talked before about --

Q. Um-hum.
A. -- the receivership option and that there's a provision -- the removal-for-cause provision in a receivership if a receivership -- if a receiver is appointed over substantially all of the assets.
There's also provisions that discuss if substantially all of the -- all of the assets are enjoined, I believe. And so in that situation, a bankrupt -- a bankruptcy venue, my understanding, would be much better for Acis, in order to maximize the value of Acis, as well as good for its creditors.
Q. You and I share something in common. Neither of us are bankruptcy lawyers. All right? So do you not understand, though, that the process for VCMAs is there will be a sixty-day period, subject to potential extension, to either -- if a trustee is appointed, to either assume or reject these contracts? Do you have that understanding?
A. I don't have that understanding as a nonbankruptcy attorney, either way.
Q. Okay.
A. I know --
Q. And --
A. -- there's an assume -- an assumption or rejection process, but the sixty-day time period is outside of my knowledge.

Q. Do you have the understanding that you can rewrite the terms of the CMAs as part of an auction process, and take out those clauses that would impair the value, potentially, of the CMAs? That the -- that the Court has the power to rewrite the terms of the CMAs; is that your understanding?
A. There are a few parts to your question, and I want to make sure I answer it.
Q. Let me -- sure. You may be right. Is it your understanding that the Court can modify the terms of the CMAs as part of the auction process?
A. My understanding is the Court can render certain provisions unenforceable if -- the ipso facto context -- if in a bankruptcy context -- or if there are certain provisions in the contract that are punitive to the estate or punitive to creditors solely because we're in bankruptcy or similar provisions, my understanding is the Court can render those unenforceable. But that's my understanding as a businessperson and --
Q. Right.
A. -- obviously, not as an attorney.
Q. Mr. Terry, you said in the previous testimony that these contracts were worth thirty million dollars as written, with all of the good, bad, and indifferent provisions in the agreements. Do you stand by that testimony?
A. Yes, the CMAs --

Q. The answer is yes?
A. -- are worth thirty million dollars.
Q. But as written?
A. Can you explain what you mean by "as written"?
Q. You don't know what "as written" means, then?
A. You're talking about the CMAs as written?
Q. Yes, sir.
A. Yes, I agree that they're worth thirty million dollars.
Q. With all the rights that you heard Mr. Okada and Mr. Dondero testify to -- all the call rights that the equity has, the thirty-day termination provisions that Highland has, and other provisions -- they're still worth thirty million dollars as written, is your testimony, right?
A. I disagree with a lot of their testimony, and -- but the answer is yes.
Q. Okay. So you wouldn't need to modify anything as part of an auction process, you wouldn't need to remove some of these provisions you think are -- that can be removed as part as this bankruptcy process. As written, you should be able to sell them for thirty million dollars, right?
MR. SHAW: Judge, I kind of let this go, but I mean, he's not -- he's already testified he's not a bankruptcy lawyer, he's not a bankruptcy expert, he's -- they're -- the questions are calling for legal conclusions. So it's just going way --

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. SHAW: -- far afield.

THE COURT: Sustained.

Q. Mr. Terry, do you recall testifying in this hearing that -- because we had this discussion, and this is page 125 of your -- and if --

MR. CRUCIANI: Why don't you just pull up, I think it's 82, Omar?

It's at the bottom of page 25. I'm sorry, page 125.

Q. The very bottom, you have this discussion. You say, "and if you give me time, I would gladly set up the asset management that could take over as successor manager in lieu of my eight-million-dollar judgment".

Do you see that?

A. Yes, I do.

Q. Do you stand by that?

A. Yes.

Q. How much time do you need?

A. Well, I've got -- to set up an asset manager or a registered investment advisor, I'd have to look into the process for how long it would take for me, personally, to set up a registered investment advisor and have conversations with fund transaction attorneys and that type of thing.

Q. Um-hum.

A. So I -- I would have to really give it some though. It it's kind of hard to enter that question right now. Maybe six months --

Q. Okay.

A. -- or so to -- to form an asset manager and put the structure on it to have a registered investment advisor. Maybe longer. Optimistically, we -- in an optimistic scenario, maybe shorter.

Q. Okay. So let's just use your six months. If you had -- if we say, here's the CMAs, you have six months, go sell them, you said you're willing to release your eight-million-dollar judgment, right?

A. That's -- can you repeat the question? I'm sorry, the --

Q. Did -- whatever you testified under oath, you would confirm or you're sticking to it, right?

A. Correct.

Q. So could we just shut this down, leave early today, say: here's your CMAs, you've got six months, get a successor -- a successor manager, and you -- in return, you release the eight-million-dollar judgment?

MR. SHAW: I'm going to object, Judge. It's inappropriate for counsel to try to get the witness to make an agreement to settle the case. Is that -- I mean, is that what he's saying? I think it's inappropriate under 408, it an inappropriate mode of examination to try to get him to make some commitment.

THE COURT: Are you making him a settlement offer right now?

MR. CRUCIANI: I'm not quite doing that. I think I'm using the hopeful art of cross-examination to show this is a made-up play. He knows these aren't worth thirty million dollars or else he'd gladly take them, modifies them, (indiscernible) eight-million-dollar judgment. So I'm just seeing if he (indiscernible).

MR. SHAW: And I guess the question is would he do that or, you know, would he be concerned about the further dissipation of assets for Acis or would he trust Acis and Highland to do what they said they're going to do? So --

THE COURT: Okay, I overrule.

MR. SHAW: -- there's a lot of problems.

THE COURT: He can answer. Let's move on.

A. Could you re --

BY MR. CRUCIANI:

Q. Yes, sir.

A. -- repeat, I'm sorry?

Q. Yes, sir. If we say, here are the CMAs, they are yours, we're out of the picture, you have six months to sell them, and in return, you release the eight-million-dollar judgment, are you still prepared to do the deal today that you said on February 6th you were prepared to do?

A. I would like to say I'm still prepared to do the deal today, but what I've learned since I said that on February 6th or 7th is that, apparently, there's these allegations from these investors in the CLOs to sue -- I don't know if it's Acis or I don't know if it's me personally, which is the same equity in the Clos that you would be selling me. So I don't know if I, personally, am -- would still be willing to do that deal, given the allegations that have been lobbed against me outside of the bankruptcy context, which, my understanding, would oversee everything related to the Acis estate.

Q. Do you -- do you have any evidence to dispute the damage that you've done to the equity by virtue of your actions in filing this involuntary bankruptcy, the difference in cash flows that Mr. Okada testified to?

A. Yes, I could go through the exhibit that you prepared and point out its inaccuracies.

Q. Okay. Is Mr. Okada considered one of the sort of lions of the CLO industry?

A. I would say he's considered one of the most tenured people within the industry, but it, I -- on the other hand, he's also not really, from my experience, that involved anymore, other than at very high-level discussions.

Q. Why did you secretly tape-record about 300 conversations about him?

A. First of all, it wasn't about 300 conversations, but to answer your question --

Q. 270-something?
A. 187, or --
Q. Are you --
A. -- something like that.
Q. -- sure?
A. A hundred percent sure, yes.
Q. 187? Only 187?
A. Well, the -- yes.
Q. Okay. All right. Well, why did you secretly record 187 conversations while being paid millions of dollars by Highland over a nineteen-month period (indiscernible) Highland (indiscernible)? Why did you do that?
A. Because the conver -- the recording began in March of 2015, and at that time, there was heavy regulatory scrutiny on the industry. There was a gentleman that had just pled guilty to fraud to the DOJ that was a well-known CLO trader. And the understanding in the industry was that the DOJ was going after him to get to his boss and to the broader organization. And that brought concern to the industry.
There was also regulatory scrutiny on Highland. And at the time, I was being asked to do things that I had concerns over, I thought they were questionable, but I was being told by internal and out -- by internal counsel that internal counsel had blessed them and external counsel had blessed them.
And I thought, given Mr. Dondero's historical proclivity to push the envelope, given the regulatory scrutiny on the industry, given the regulatory scrutiny on Highland, which had just received a cease-and-desist order from the SEC a few months prior, that it would be prudent to have an accurate representation of some of the conversations that took place in the office between me and Mr. Dondero, me and Mr. Surgent, and others.

Q. Nobody asked you to record?

A. No.

Q. You mentioned in-house counsel. I didn't know who you were referring to.

You mentioned counsel in that long answer. What --

A. Right.

Q. What counsel were you referring to?

A. Mainly Mr. Surgent. Mr. Thomas Surgent, our --

Q. So --

A. -- chief compliance officer.

Q. So based on things Mr. Surgent, Highland's chief compliance officer, told you, you initiated your tape-recording of him?

A. No, that's not -- that's not what I said.

Q. Well, are -- do you consider yourself to be an honorable man?

A. Yes.

Q. Okay. Do you think the honorable thing to do would be to say: I'm concerned with Mr. Dondero, I'm concerned with Highland pushing the envelope. I quit.

Would that not have been the honorable thing to do, instead of making millions and millions of dollars while surreptitiously and secretly tape-recording your colleagues? What would have been the more honorable thing for you to do?

A. I would -- it was a difficult scenario. I don't -- I don't know the answer to that question, either way. I really liked my job at Acis. I liked what I did on a day-to-day basis. I liked meeting with investors, I liked the investment process.

And so I was really conflicted with having a job that I liked doing every day with then, on the other hand, having some questionable instructions from either Mr. Dondero or -- or Mr. Surgent, the chief compliance officer, related to more Highland-centric act -- activities.

And I was caught in between those scenarios, and, you know, I -- I don't know -- I've thought about it a lot. Should I have -- trust me, after -- after being fired and sued and everything that they've put me through, I've thought about it a lot. I wish -- maybe I -- I should have quit. I don't know. Maybe I would have been sued, anyway, if I quit. I --

Q. That was a hard moral choice for you? On the one hand, I don't like what's going on here, I'm willing to give up the money I'm making, and I quit, versus continuing to bank millions of dollars and surreptitiously tape-record your colleagues. That was a hard choice you wrestled with?

MR. SHAW: Judge, I'm going to object to the repetitious -- it's also irrelevant. I've let it go, but there's really -- how is that relevant to anything in this bankruptcy --

MR. CRUCIANI: That --

MR. SHAW: -- proceeding?

MR. CRUCIANI: They've just got done pointing out the personal animosity between Mr. Dondero and Mr. Terry. They have certainly opened the door.

THE COURT: Overruled.

Q. That was a hard moral choice for you? Was -- that's a yes or no. Did you struggle with it?

A. Your prior question used "surreptitious". I -- but yes, I -- I did struggle -- I struggled with it over that --

Q. Okay.

A. -- time period.

Q. And it was surreptitious because surreptitious means you're doing it without telling somebody. You didn't tell anybody at Highland that you were tape-recording them, did you?

A. Okay, I -- if that's the definition of surreptitious, that's correct.

Q. And let's look at Exhibit 42. This is a summary of your compensation, Mr. Terry. Mr. Dondero helped to make you a rich man, didn't he?

A. I think that's fair. I think part of success in life comes from the opportunities one's given, and I think Mr. Dondero did give me an opportunity.
Q. Okay, and in your Acis distributions, when he gave you a twenty-five percent limited partnership in Acis, you'll see the distribution starting at 2012 for that, alone, is nearly 4.6 million dollars, correct?
A. Correct.
Q. And then you made another 4.3-million-dollar bonus during that -- during your tenure, and another 2.5-million-dollar base for a total of 13.2 million dollars, correct?
A. I obviously haven't verified these numbers. I'll take your word that they're correct, but they look -- they look correct.
Q. Okay. Now, did you have a purpose on either taping for potential claims you may have against Highland or did you have a purpose of potentially taping in order to turn Highland or its personnel into the SEC or some other government body?
A. No, it -- it was defensive. It -- there was no offensive purpose.
Q. But have you ever gone to the SEC?
A. Yes.
Q. How many times?

A. Subsequent to my termination, there were -- probably roughly five meetings at their request subsequent to my termination.
Q. Five separate meetings with the SEC?
A. I believe that's correct. And --
Q. Yeah.
A. -- the DOJ and the FBI also wanted to talk to me about Highland and Mr. Dondero.
Q. And what were you trying to spill the beans on Highland and Mr. Dondero? What were you trying to tell them?
A. Well, I had filed a whistle-blower complaint after my termination, given the nature of what I was terminated for. Also, given some of the allegations that Highland had made up against me to justify a for-cause reason for my termination, I, among other reasons, filed a whistle-blower complaint with the SEC subsequent to my termination. And subsequent to that whistle-blower complaint, they wanted to talk to me about Highland numerous times.
Q. What happened to that complaint?
A. That's a question for the SEC. I don't -- I don't know where it stands right now.
Q. Is it pending?
A. I -- that's a better question for the SEC or, I'm sure, you guys -- I'm sure Highland knows better than I do what the status of that investigation is, but I do understand Highland is under investigation.

Q. What were you blowing the whistle on?
A. Well, number one, I was terminated because I was told to engage in a transaction that I thought would violate my fiduciary duty to investors. And it was, in my view, a loan taken from the CLOs to benefit Mr. Dondero and Highland Capital, and I thought it was wrong, and I was fired for it. And so I told the SEC all about that transaction. That was one.

Number two, I had been asked to do something called "season trades", which would have the effect of getting around that previous September 2014 cease-and-desist order that had come from the SEC against Highland. I had been told by Highland's compliance team that it was okay. I had kind of -- I have questioned it while I was there. I was told again it was okay. Subsequent to my termination, I retained regulatory counsel. Regulatory counsel informed me that it likely was not okay, I probably should have been in the conversations with counsel. But subsequent to that, that was one of the things that I reported, as well --

Q. So --
A. -- to the SEC.
Q. So you -- you've had five meetings. Is that just with the SEC or is it a combination of DOJ, FBI?
A. There is at least one meeting that the DOJ had reached out through the SEC because they heard I was a whistle-blower. The SEC, my understanding is the agency cannot divulge the identity of a whistle-blower without the whistle-blower's consent, so the SEC asked me if I would be open to meeting with the DOJ, the FBI, the U.S. Attorney's Office in connection with the questions they had about Highland. I then said it was okay to set up that meeting with the -- with those offices and to give them my identity. And so we then went out and did -- you know, I answered questions they had about Mr. Dondero and -- and Highland Capital.

Q. Do you have a lot of personal, even not (indiscernible)?

A. Not any.

Q. Okay. None has happened. So let me ask you this. Did you ever say to Scott Ellington: pay me ten million dollars to settle my claim or I will take these papers and give them to the SEC? Did you ever say --

A. No, never.

Q. You're denying that under oath?

A. Yes.

Q. And you didn't say that in the presence of Mr. Chalk (ph.)?

A. I don't know what you're talking about.

Q. You didn't say that in the presence of an SEC enforcement attorney?

A. No.

Q. You never said it? You're saying that under oath?
A. Yes.
Q. Let's -- by the way, I never would have gone here, but your lawyer (indiscernible) by talking about your sexual affairs, and he went into the arbitration award. Do you think that's -- do you think your sexual affairs were relevant to this issue?
A. Well, first of all, your statement is incorrect. But second of all, no, I don't think that topic is relevant.
Q. Okay, so we can agree, and I will try to be professional because you said that you were terminated because of things such as not doing -- engaging in conduct that you thought might be a violation of the regulatory laws, because I understand that was at least one of the reasons why you thought you were terminated?
A. Well, I was terminated because Mr. Dondero was angry that I had disagreed with his --
Q. Yeah.
A. -- proposal, and it was found by a three-judge arbitration -- by a three-former-judge arbitration panel that that was the case.
Q. Okay.
A. It's already --
Q. Well --
A. -- been adjudicated.

Q. But since you've opened the door on this subject, weren't you terminated for having an affair with a junior Highland employee?
A. No, I was terminated for refusing Mr. Dondero's wrong-headed plan --
Q. Did --
A. -- and then he subsequently made up a pretextual excuse so he didn't have to pay me under the Acis agreement. And then that -- and that was determined by a three-judge arbitration panel in October 2017.
Q. Did you admit on the record that you had a sexual affair with a Highland --
MR. SHAW: Judge, I'm going to object to the relevance. This idea --
MR. CRUCIANI: Okay --
MR. SHAW: Can I please get my objection out? Thank you, sir.
This idea that I opened the door, it's a -- it's a document that's admitted as Exhibit number 1. The point of my -- of my examination was strictly with regard to Mr. Surgent. It didn't get into sexual affairs, it didn't get into anything. It was strictly on Mr. Surgent's credibility. This idea that we're all going to get in here, and we're going to relitigate issues that have already been determined by a three-judge panel, I think is improper and it's harassing, and it's just inappropriate.

MR. CRUCIANI: Your Honor --

THE COURT: Response?

MR. CRUCIANI: -- he opened the door, and he said he was terminated for a reason other than one of the reasons that Highland gave and other than one of the reasons that, I understand I wasn't there, but he admitted to in the arbitration. It's like I said, I would not have gone there, but for them opening the door.

MR. SHAW: It's collateral estoppel and res judicata. I mean --

THE COURT: I overrule. A little --

MR. CRUCIANI: Yeah.

THE COURT: -- latitude, but just a little.

MR. CRUCIANI: Well, one -- just one question. Assuming I get a responsive answer.

BY MR. CRUCIANI:

Q. Did you admit to having an affair with a Highland junior employee, yes or no?

A. Yes, I admitted to having an affair --

Q. That's all I want.

A. -- but she was not a Highland employee, she was an employee of an affiliate, but it was -- it was wrong, and I did it.

Q. Okay. And that's all I have on that, sir. Let's go to Exhibit 50, please, your involuntary petition?

You signed this, sir, page 3, correct?

A. Yes.

Q. And you read the warning that says bankruptcy fraud is a serious crime, on part 4, and can subject you up to twenty years in prison, correct?

A. Correct.

Q. And you swore that: I have examined the information in this document and have a reasonable belief that the information is true and correct?

Do you see that?

A. Yes.

Q. And you say that the debtor is generally not paying its debts as they become due unless they are the subject with a bona fide dispute as to liability of (indiscernible). Do you see that?

A. Yes.

Q. Now, you say your debt is not being paid, right?

A. Correct.

Q. And you know that on -- you filed this at midnight on January 30th, correct?

A. Yes.

Q. And you knew that on January 29th, Acis filed a motion in the 44th District Court to post a supersedeas bond which would have stayed the enforcement of the judgment, correct?

A. I believe that's incorrect.
Q. They filed a supersedeas bond and asked that the Court enter it -- an amount of approximately 500,000?
A. Filed a motion?
Q. Yes.
A. Yes.
Q. Right. And if that -- and do you understand -- I know you're not a lawyer, but do you understand that when supersedeas bond is posted, it stays further enforcement of the judgment? So you have that layman's understanding?
A. If the judge agreed to that --
Q. Right.
A. -- amount that Acis was requesting, then yes, I would -- that's my general layman's understanding.
Q. And then you would have been a judgment creditor whose claim had -- would have been stayed at that point, correct?
A. That's starting to get into legal areas that I don't have any --
Q. So other than --
A. -- understanding of.
Q. -- you -- and you understand there was a bona fide dispute and that Acis had had every intention of filing an appeal or we just got done talking about the bond that it had --
A. My --

Q. -- sought --
A. My understanding is that's not correct, based on case law and that it's an unstayed judgment, so I -- that's getting into bankruptcy law terms, but my understanding of that, that's not correct.
Q. Well, it was -- it was stayed as of the moment you filed the bankruptcy as -- by virtue of the automatic stay, wasn't it?
MR. SHAW: I'm going to object. It calls for a legal conclusion. This witness does not have a basis as a lawyer, he's not been -- not an expert.
MR. CRUCIANI: He just offered an opinion.
THE COURT: I sustain the objection.
MR. CRUCIANI: Okay.
Q. Other than yourself, what other creditors can you point to that were not generally being paid their debts as they became due?
A. As of the date I filed the petition or --
Q. Just --
A. -- today --
Q. No, no.
A. -- today?
Q. I want you to put your January 30th at midnight hat on. Okay? What other creditors were not generally being paid their debts as they became due?

A. So there was accrued audit fees that had been on the balance sheet for some time and had increased. I don't know if I knew that was KPMG at the time or not. Now I know it's KPMG. Highland had had a substantial amount on the balance sheet, and that amount had increased over time. It wasn't able to pay that debt to -- to Highland. It was obviously transferring the assets to Highland. My -- my eight-million-dollar judgment, which wasn't on the Klos affidavit, it's my understanding it's -- the balance sheet provided for this supersedeas bond doesn't include the -- the judgment of -- would -- wouldn't include the judgment in that case, so that's why it wasn't on the balance sheet, but I was obviously aware of it. And then, to the extent there was any other, that it couldn't be paid because Acis was completely dismantling its business, dis --

Q. Mr. --

A. -- dissipating --

Q. Mr. Terry --

A. -- assets below --

Q. Mr. Terry, Mr. Terry, I asked you as of that date --

A. Right.

Q. -- specific creditors, not what may happen in the future. Can you identify every specific creditor you knew of or believed you knew of as of January 30th?

A. Yeah, to the extent, that category of unknown creditors isn't a specific creditor, then -- then I've named the three that I was aware of from the balance sheet.

Q. And why did you file -- well, let me ask it this way. Let's turn to Exhibit 33, I believe. This was a January 29 -- excuse me, a January 31, 2018 hearing in front of Judge Goldstein the afternoon after the stay had been entered. Let's go to page 8. You were at this hearing, right?
A. Yes, I was.
Q. Okay, and down at starting at line 20, Mr. Shaw is telling Judge Goldstein, "we have filed them into an involuntary bankruptcy. We did so because on Monday we received a sworn affidavit from Acis regarding their net worth". Do you see that?
A. I do.
Q. Is that why you filed Acis into bankruptcy?
A. No, it -- it's not the -- it's not the specific reason why I filed Acis into an involuntary bankruptcy, no.
Q. So the representation that Mr. Shaw made to the court was false is what you're saying?
A. I think Mr. Shaw can obviously speak to the representation that he made. I think he was referring to the last piece of information that we had received prior to filing the involuntary petition, which was a sworn net worth affidavit from Mr. Klos that stated various facts that previously weren't available to us.

Q. So just so I have your testimony, when Mr. Shaw said that the reason that "we", which would be you, Josh Terry, filed Acis into bankruptcy was because of that January 29 Klos affidavit. You said that, but now it's actually not; is that your testimony?
A. That's -- from my perspective, that's not the only -- that's not the reason that we filed Acis into an involuntary bankruptcy, no.
Q. Do you remember -- or you were in the courtroom when Ms. Patel's deposition tape was played, correct?
A. Yes. I think I may have actually run to the restroom while some of the depositions were --
Q. Well --
A. -- up. I think I was here for --
Q. Did --
A. -- the majority of her --
Q. Did you hear the part where she testified (indiscernible) that there just wasn't enough time? It'd be like she'd like to find an asset market (ph.) in the Street, but there just wasn't enough time to do more due diligence. Do you recall the substance of that testimony?
A. Yes, I do.
Q. Okay. Now, that -- and the event that caused there to be not enough time was the scheduled closing of the transaction on February 1st, was it not?

A. I don't know if that's one hundred percent true. I think it was there was a multitude of various things going on at that time, and it wasn't just that transaction. But that certainly was on the forefront of our mind --
Q. There were --
A. -- at that time.
Q. I'm sorry. There were only two events on the short-term time horizon: a temporary injunction during the schedule, for January 31, and the CLO loan closing on February 1. Those were the two short-term events that were coming up that had a relationship (indiscernible); did they not?
A. I think that's true, but there was also a concern that --
Q. So are --
A. -- there was a --
Q. So were --
A. -- the
Q. -- those the two events?
A. Well, I'm -- I'm trying to answer your question and -- as best I can, and I don't think those were just -- the only two events.
Q. Let me ask you this. You testified under oath that there was no time issue. There was no urgency from your standpoint when you filed this on January 30. Do you recall testifying to that?
A. I think that mischaracterizes my testimony.

MR. CRUCIANI: You know what, Your Honor, I think it's 5 o'clock, and maybe we'll pick up with that next week.

THE COURT: All right. So we will recess. I will need you to take all your stuff because we're going to have --

MR. CRUCIANI: Yes, ma'am.

THE COURT: -- different people in here on Monday, but I will see you 9 o'clock Tuesday.

Oh, okay, well, that's true. Your --

MS. PATEL: Your Honor, we ask --

THE COURT: Your boxes --

MS. PATEL: -- if we could just -- we've stacked our up in the back, and that's where we'll just --

THE COURT: That --

MS. PATEL: -- leave them --

THE COURT: That'll be --

MS. PATEL: -- tucked away?

THE COURT: That'll be fine.

MS. CHIARELLO: Thank you, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Boxes against walls --

MR. CRUCIANI: And --

THE COURT: -- are fine.

MR. CRUCIANI: And could I just -- because we've talked about different times, so it's Tuesday 9 until when?

THE COURT: Until -- yeah, because we have a 1:30. We'll stop at 12:30.

MR. CRUCIANI: And Thursday, the time again, please?
THE COURT: We can start at 9, I guess --
MR. CRUCIANI: Is --
THE COURT: -- on Thursday --
MR. CRUCIANI: Is it --
THE COURT: -- as well.
MR. CRUCIANI: -- a morning session on Thursday --
THE COURT: It's a --
MR. CRUCIANI: -- as well?
THE COURT: -- morning session, yeah.
MR. CRUCIANI: So like 9 to 12:30, as well?
THE COURT: 12:30, yeah.
MR. CRUCIANI: Thank you so much for --
THE COURT: All right.
MS. PATEL: Thank you --
MR. CRUCIANI: -- accommodating us.
MS. PATEL: -- Your Honor. I'm just trying to get an understanding because we're trying to now begin, also, the motion for stay pending an appeal --
THE COURT: Um-hum.
MS. PATEL: -- the motion to intervene. And just to make sure that, again, we're prepared at -- whenever those are going to get taken up, what -- are we still thinking both of those are taken up at the end of all of the evidence after closing arguments, before closing arguments?

THE COURT: Well, I don't know, before or after closing arguments. I guess --

MR. WARNER: The stay, we'd appreciate the Court considering that the stay pending appeal consider before ruling. The motion for relief from stay, be --

THE COURT: Oh, that's the different thing, the --

UNIDENTIFIED SPEAKER: Yeah, it's --

THE COURT: -- motion to lift stay.

MR. WARNER: Right.

MS. PATEL: Right, right. Now, and I was referencing specifically --

MR. WARNER: And then there's --

MS. PATEL: -- the motion for relief from stay we've already agreed gets set after the ruling.

MR. WARNER: Right. I'm okay with that after the ruling, the motion for relief from stay.

MS. PATEL: That's the agreement, right.

MR. WARNER: the motion for stay pending appeal before ruling, the motion to intervene, I assume, is before ruling.

MS. PATEL: So I'm just --

THE COURT: Right, but --

MS. PATEL: -- wondering --

THE COURT: -- before or after closing arguments is what we're discussing.

UNIDENTIFIED SPEAKER: Yeah.

MR. CRUCIANI: Can we have a final time count so we can maybe map this out a little bit so --

THE CLERK: Five hours and thirty-nine minutes for you.

And eight hours, thirty-six minutes.

MR. CRUCIANI: Thank you.

THE COURT: I guess what I'm inclined to think is we go ahead and roll to those other motions, and if we run out of time, which I'm very afraid we will, we could come back for closing arguments.

THE CLERK: Oh. I didn't --

THE COURT: Well, wait, how much time do we have? You just told him --

THE CLERK: Three hours and (indiscernible).

MR. CRUCIANI: Little less than --

THE COURT: So we --

MR. CRUCIANI: -- four hours.

THE COURT: Okay, yeah, we can get through it all on Thursday, closing arguments, as well as the two motions.

MR. CRUCIANI: Okay, great. Thank you --

THE COURT: All right?

MR. CRUCIANI: -- Your Honor.

MS. PATEL: So the -- just to be clear, Your Honor, then, so on Tuesday we'll have evidence --

THE COURT: And we'll probably finish or almost finish the evidence.

THE CLERK: Yeah, that would be --

THE COURT: Because we're starting at 9 and --

MS. PATEL: Okay.

THE CLERK: Yeah, I don't think there's going to be (indiscernible).

THE COURT: Thursday, yeah.

MS. PATEL: Thursday --

THE COURT: There's nobody --

MS. PATEL: -- evidence on --

THE COURT: Unless they don't use all their time.

THE CLERK: Evidence on Tuesday.

THE COURT: Which I'm guessing --

MS. PATEL: Evidence on Thursday. Motions on Thursday before or after closing? Your Honor, I'm -- we're just trying to -- again, we've been in this courtroom for the last three days. I've had other people in my office working on things. I need to check with their schedules --

THE COURT: Okay.

MS. PATEL: -- figure out --

THE COURT: We'll do the other --

MS. PATEL: -- who's going to argue stuff.

THE COURT: -- motions -- we'll do the other motions first, and then closing arguments.

MR. CRUCIANI: Not to be a fly in the ointment, but if we could do closing, which I will, I think, be doing, I will not need to be present to argue our motion to lift stay, nor be involved in the intervention motion. As I said, I am relying on an oral argument. And if we have --

THE COURT: Oh, wait, I forgot; when is that?

MR. CRUCIANI: Yeah, it's April 5th, and I'll be leaving on --

THE CLERK: That's after this week --

THE COURT: Yeah, we're --

MR. WARNER: That's the following week.

THE COURT: -- we're going to finish Thursday --

MR. CRUCIANI: Okay --

THE COURT: -- of next week.

MR. CRUCIANI: Are we going to finish -- okay, that was -- I just was concerned that we were going to run out of time to do the two motions and closing argument. But if we're going to finish everything --

THE COURT: We're going to --

MR. CRUCIANI: -- on Thursday, then that's fine.

THE COURT: -- finish Thursday --

MS. PATEL: And Your Honor --

THE COURT: -- even if I have to --

THE CLERK: Have to limit the time --

MR. CRUCIANI: Yeah, I think that --

THE COURT: Yeah, we may --
MR. CRUCIANI: -- makes sense.
MS. PATEL: Right.
THE COURT: -- be doing that.
MS. PATEL: And Your Honor, just again, then we also have a witness issue if we haven't been able to --
MR. CRUCIANI: I think we'll work --
MS. PATEL: -- work through with --
MR. CRUCIANI: I think we'll work that out.
MS. PATEL: Well, I -- but I need to -- I need to know if we've worked it out. If not, I've --
MS. PATEL: -- got to start --
MR. CRUCIANI: We're fine.
MS. PATEL: -- issuing subpoenas.
MR. CRUCIANI: We're --
MS. PATEL: We're good?
MR. CRUCIANI: Yeah, we're good.
MS. PATEL: I don't --
MR. WARNER: You can use the --
MS. PATEL: -- need to issue a subpoena --
MR. WARNER: It's three pages.
MS. PATEL: -- to Lackey? The three pages we sent to you is --
MR. WARNER: The three pages --
UNIDENTIFIED SPEAKER: It's subject to us supplementing for --

MS. PATEL: You can put in --

UNIDENTIFIED SPEAKER: -- for completeness.

MS. PATEL: -- whatever you like. I just want my three pages in.

MR. CRUCIANI: Yeah.

MS. PATEL: Otherwise, I -- and then I don't need to subpoena a witness. Okay. Thank you.

MR. SHAW: Thank you, guys.

THE CLERK: All rise.

MR. CRUCIANI: Thank you.

PROCEEDINGS

THE VIDEOGRAPHER: This is the videotaped deposition of James Dondero. The date is March 20th, 2018. The time is approximately 2:04 p.m.

Will counsel present please identify yourself and who you represent, and will the court reporter please swear in the witness.

MR. SHAW: Brian Shaw and Rahkee Patel on behalf of Joshua Terry.

MR. CRUCIANI: Gary Cruciani with Carson Young and Scott Ellington on behalf of Acis and Mr. Dondero.

JAMES DONDERO,

having been first duly sworn to tell the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth, so help him God, testified as follows:

EXAMINATION

BY MR. SHAW:

Q. State your name.

A. James Dondero.

Q. Mr. Dondero, you're the president of Acis Capital Management GP, L.L.C., correct?

A. I don't know if I still am, but . . .

Q. You were the president of Acis Capital Management, GP, L.L.C., at some point, correct?

A. I believe so.

(Trial Exhibit 110 referenced.)

Q. (BY MR. SHAW) Let me show you what's been marked as Exhibit 110.

MR. CRUCIANI: Are these gonna correspond to the trial exhibits?

MR. SHAW: They are.

Q. (BY MR. SHAW) This is a consent of the sole member of Acis Capital Management, GP, L.L.C. Do you see that?

A. Yes.

Q. And you see under the second "Resolve further" -- you see that there -- or actually the first "Resolve further"?

A. Yes.

Q. It names you as the president of Acis Capital Management, GP, L.L.C., correct?

A. Yes.

Q. And Mr. Waterhouse is the treasurer as of June 10th, 2016, of Acis Capital Management, GP, L.L.C.?

A. Yes.

Q. Is there some subsequent document that removed you as president of Acis Capital Management, GP, L.L.C.?

A. I don't know.

Q. If I say "Acis, GP," can we have the agreement that we're talking about Acis Capital Management, GP, L.L.C.?

MR. CRUCIANI: That's fine.

A. Okay.

Q. (BY MR. SHAW) And if I say "Acis, LP," I'm talking about Acis Capital Management, LP. Do you understand that?

A. What's the difference?

Q. One is a general partner, and one is the limited partnership.

A. Okay.

Q. Now, Acis, GP, controls and runs Acis, LP, correct?

A. Controls and runs . . . It's the general partner.

Q. Is there anyone at Acis, LP, or Acis, GP, that is higher on the organizational chart than you?

A. I don't believe so.

Q. Mr. Waterhouse, he is listed in Exhibit 110 as the treasurer of Acis, GP. Do you see that?

A. Yes.

Page 10

Q. He's also an employee of Highland Capital Management, correct?
A. Yes.
Q. Does Mr. Waterhouse have the authority to transfer any assets of Acis, LP, without your approval?
A. I don't know.
Q. Has Mr. Waterhouse ever transferred any assets of Acis, LP, without your approval?
A. I don't know.
Q. The ownership of Acis, LP, you are a beneficiary of the Dugaboya Investment Trust, right?
A. Wait a minute, benefit . . . Yes, I believe so.
Q. That's a private express trust that has Nancy Dondero, your sister, as its trustee, right?
A. I -- I don't know. She's the trustee.
Q. The ownership of Acis, LP, at one point, the majority owner was the Dugaboya Investment Trust, of which you are a beneficiary, correct?
A. I believe that's true.
Q. All right. Dugaboya Investment Trust no longer has an ownership interest directly in Acis, LP, right?
A. I do not believe so.

Page 11

Q. And the Dugaboya Investment Trust transferred its interest in Acis, LP, to an entity called Neutra, N-e-u-t-r-a, Limited; is that right?
A. I don't know.
Q. Do you have a -- any actual or beneficial ownership in Neutra?
A. I -- I believe it's an affiliate of Highland.
Q. You are a majority owner of the Highland Capital Management, LP, right?
A. No.
Q. You are a majority owner of Highland Capital Management, LP, through various entities -- I believe you previously testified -- around 75 percent of Highland Capital Management, LP?
A. No.
Q. Do you have any ownership of -- do you or any entity in which you have an ownership interest, or trust in which you are a beneficiary, have an ownership interest in Highland Capital Management, LP?
A. I do not believe so.
Q. Who owns Highland Capital Management, LP?
A. A trust. A -- a taxing -- a trust in a insured -- insurance vehicle that owes Mark Okada and I a note in interest for our shares, and then the residuals spills out to -- once the notes are paid off in full, the residual interests spills out to charity.

Q. Have you ever described yourself as an ownership of Highland Capital Management, LP?
A. Before -- yeah -- before -- yes.
Q. Have you ever described yourself as a majority owner of Highland Capital Management, LP?
A. I'm sure I did when I was.
Q. And when did you cease becoming a majority owner of Highland Capital Management, LP?
A. When -- we call the transaction the "Rand transaction" internally, whenever that Rand transaction was completed.
Q. If Highland Capital Management liquidated, who would -- what flesh and blood individuals would receive the proceeds from that liquidation?
A. It -- it spills to charity. It will -- it would pay off the principal and interest of the notes that remain to Mark Okada and I first. And if it liquidated, whatever residual left goes to a series of charities, primarily Catholic charities and a couple others.
Q. There are no other flesh and blood individuals who would receive the proceeds from a liquidation of the Highland Capital Management other than you and Mr. Okada; is that correct?

A. We wouldn't receive proceeds from the liquidation. We would receive principal and interest on the established notes. Any residual amount would go to charities, no individuals that I'm aware of.
Q. You are the president of Highland Capital Management, LP, right?
A. Yeah, I believe -- yes, I believe so.
Q. There is no one higher on the organizational chart for Highland Capital Management, LP, than James Dondero, right?
A. Correct.
Q. Highland is a creditor of Acis, LP, correct?
A. I -- I don't know.
Q. You don't know if Highland Capital Management, LP, is a creditor of Acis, LP?
A. I -- I'm not up to speed on specific accounting at all.
Q. Let me see if I can refresh your memory.
(Trial Exhibit 13 referenced.)
Q. (BY MR. SHAW) I'm showing you what's been marked as Acis Exhibit 13.

Page 14

MR. CRUCIANI: Can I just ask for the record, Brian. So you've marked the first one as Trial Exhibit 110. This is -- is not Trial Exhibit 13. It's a different Exhibit 13.
MR. SHAW: I believe it's Trial Exhibit 13, but I could be wrong.
MR. CRUCIANI: Okay. Because the first one says "Exhibit 110" and this one says "Acis Exhibit 13," and so I just want to make sure there's no confusion on the numbering.
MR. SHAW: You know, I just printed it off of the documents that you gave us --
MR. CRUCIANI: Okay.
MR. SHAW: -- for your exhibits, so if it doesn't have a marking there, then I think we can pretty easily identify it, though.
MR. CRUCIANI: Okay.
Q. (BY MR. SHAW) Do you recognize that document, Mr. Dondero?
A. No.
Q. Okay. Do you see the page -- the third page there?
A. Yes.
Q. Do you recognize that signature?

Page 15

A. Looks like my assistant's.
Q. That's your assistant's signature?
A. I believe so.
Q. She's signing for you?
A. I believe so.
Q. Does she regularly sign documents filed in court pleadings on your behalf?
A. Yes.
Q. Did you authorize her to sign this on your behalf?
A. Yes.
Q. Did you review the document before you signed it -- or you had her sign it?
A. No.
Q. Page 2 of Exhibit 13, if you look at the eighth creditor down, it says, "Highland, LP," Do you see that?
A. Yes.
Q. And you're aware of the relationship between Acis, LP, and Highland Capital Management, LP?
A. Yes.
Q. You understand that there are subadvisory -- there's subadvisory agreements and shared services agreements between Acis, LP, and

Page 16

Highland Capital Management, LP?
A. Yes.
Q. And if I say "Highland," can we have the agreement that I mean Highland Capital Management, LP?
A. Yes.
Q. And you see they're listing $2.77 million as a creditor of Acis, LP?
A. Yes.
Q. Does that refresh your memory as to whether or not Highland is a creditor of Acis, LP?
A. I'm sure, with painstaking accuracy, my accountants and my lawyers put this together and double-checked it.
Q. And no reason to disagree with that document that was filed with the bankruptcy court?
A. I have no reason to disagree with it.
Q. Who represents Highland in this bankruptcy proceeding?
MR. CRUCIANI: Objection; assumes facts not in evidence.
A. Represents Highland in . . . Highland's not a party, right?
Q. (BY MR. SHAW) So are there any lawyers that are representing Highland in the bankruptcy proceeding?

A. I don't know.
Q. Is McKool Smith representing Highland in this bankruptcy proceeding?
A. I -- I don't know.
Q. Is Cole Schotz representing Highland in this bankruptcy proceeding?
A. I -- I don't -- I don't know the slate for sure. I would -- I mean, don't know. I don't know exactly what parties they're representing.
Q. You understand that McKool Smith and Cole Schotz, at a minimum, represent Acis, LP, in this bankruptcy proceeding?
A. I'm -- I'm saying I do- -- I don't know. I rely on my capable internal counsel to build the appropriate slate of supporting external counsel.
Q. Who is paying McKool Smith and Cole Schotz for the representation in this bankruptcy proceeding?
A. I don't know.
Q. Now, as the president of Acis, GP, have you had communications with outside counsel with regard to this bankruptcy?
MR. CRUCIANI: You can answer "yes" or "no," whether you've had communications.

Page 18

A. I -- I don't know. I mean, I -- I don't know with what regard my conversations with counsel have been.

Q. (BY MR. SHAW) So you don't know if they were in your role as the president of Acis, GP, or if they were in your role as the president of Highland?

A. Correct.

Q. You have in-house counsel at Highland, correct?

A. Yes.

Q. All right. Mr. Ellington and Mr. Leventon are two of the members of Highland's legal team?

A. Yes.

Q. And they provide legal services to Highland, right?

A. In some -- in some matters, yes.

Q. Are they also providing legal services to Acis, LP, or Acis, GP?

A. I believe in this matter, the Acis matters, Scott Ellington's been representing Acis.

Q. Is Mr. Ellington the -- the lead attorney -- in-house attorney for Acis in this bankruptcy proceeding?

A. I believe so.

Page 19

Q. And Acis opposes the entry of an order of relief in the bankruptcy proceeding, correct?

MR. CRUCIANI: Objection; vague as to "order of relief." I'm not sure he knows what that is, but you can ask him.

Q. (BY MR. SHAW) You can answer the question.

A. What do you mean by "order of relief"?

Q. I knew that was gonna be your next question.

Acis, GP, and LP does not want to be in bankruptcy, correct?

A. I -- yeah. It's my belief it shouldn't be in bankruptcy.

Q. And Highland also does not want Acis, GP, or Acis, LP, to be in bankruptcy either, right?

A. It's -- yeah, it's not -- it's not right for Acis to be in bankruptcy, and it potentially creates issues for Highland, too.

(Deposition Exhibit 1 marked for identification.)

Q. (BY MR. SHAW) Let me show you what's been marked as Exhibit 1 to your deposition. I know we're kind of getting confusing on our -- on our exhibits, but I'm doing the best I can.

Page 20

A. (Examined exhibit.)

Q. Do you recognize this document?

A. No.

Q. Did you authorize the Bell Nunnally law firm to file a notice of appearance in bankruptcy court on behalf of Highland CLO Funding, Ltd., CLO Holdco, Ltd., or Neutra, Ltd.?

A. No. This would have been a tactical strategic decision of in-house or out-of-house counsel. It wouldn't have been my decision.

Q. Now, CLO Holdco, Ltd., that's commonly known as the DAF, right?

A. I don't know.

Q. You've heard of the DAF before?

A. Yes.

Q. What do you understand the DAF to mean?

A. The DAF, I don't know what the abbreviation for it is.

Q. The Donor Advised Fund?

A. No. I know that abbreviation. I don't know which one of these entities it is.

Q. And Mr. Scott is the trustee of the DAF, right?

A. Mr. Scott -- you mean Mr. Grant Scott?

Q. Yes.

Page 21

A. Yes, I think he's the independent trustee.

Q. Did he authorize the filing of this notice of appearance?

A. I don't know.

Q. The entities listed here, Highland CLO Funding Limited, CLO Holdco Limited, and Neutra Limited, do you or does Highland have any ownership interest in any of those entities?

MR. CRUCIANI: Objection; compound.

A. I believe I said Neutra is an affiliated entity. I -- the DAF is completely separate, independent, irrevocable to the extent one of those represents the DAF, and I -- I don't know what the other one is.

Q. (BY MR. SHAW) You don't know what Highland CLO Funding Limited is?

A. Well, I'm taking your word that one of them is the DAF. And I'm just saying the DAF, it's an independent, irrevocable, charitable structure.

Q. I understand your position on that.

My question was with regards to Highland CLO Funding Limited, that first entity that's listed there.

A. I don't know. I don't know what it means.

Q. Does Highland have or its affiliates have any control over the Highland CLO Funding Limited?

Page 22

A. We have no control over anything related to the DAF. I don't know what the other entity is.
Q. The DAF, Highland advises, though, right?
A. We -- we advise on some -- yes, on some of the portfolio assets, yes.
Q. And the DAF, is a -- some sort of charitable entity; is that right?
A. Yes. It's an irrevocable pool of funds that eventually spill out to charities a certain amount each year.
Q. But Highland has no control over the DAF. Is that what you're saying?
A. Right. It has independent trustees invested in three or four subsidiary charities, and we can make a recommendation to it, but it -- as an investment advisor, but it doesn't have to take our investment advice.
Q. I went to the Dallas Zoo recently with my wife and son and saw that Highland purports to sponsor the Dallas Zoo. Is that -- is that accurate, or is it the DAF that's supporting the Dallas Zoo?
A. We made -- the donation, I believe, comes from the -- the donation comes from the DAF, but because all the original moneys put into the DAF came from Highland, Highland typically gets signage on the ultimate donations made by the DAF.

Q. Same response for, say, the Perot -- Perot Museum?
A. Yes.
Q. And same response, say, for the George W. Bush Library?
A. Yes.
(Trial Exhibit 1 referenced.)
Q. (BY MR. SHAW) I'm showing you what's been marked as Exhibit Number 1.
A. (Examined exhibit.)
Q. Do you recognize that document?
A. No.
Q. Have you ever read the arbitration award that was entered by JAMS in the arbitration between Mr. Terry and the parties listed on the second page to Exhibit Number 1?
A. No.
Q. You've never read that document?
A. Never glanced at it.
Q. Were you aware that an arbitration award was entered against Acis Capital Management, LP, and Acis Capital Management, GP, L.L.C.?

Page 24

A. Yes.
Q. Were you made aware of that on October 20th, 2017?
A. I don't remember.
Q. Where were you when you were made aware of the roughly $8 million arbitration award against Acis, GP, and Acis, LP?
A. I don't remember.
Q. Is an $8 million arbitration award a significant event?
MR. CRUCIANI: Objection; vague.
A. It -- yes. It's particularly significant to Acis, yes.
Q. (BY MR. SHAW) And you, in fact, testified at the arbitration hearing, right?
A. Yes.
Q. You testified at a -- in a deposition in the arbitration, right?
A. Yes.
Q. Mr. Okada, the -- the co-owner of Highland also testified in that arbitration?
A. Yes.
Q. Various other employees at Highland, including Mr. Surgent and Mr. Ellington, outside counsel, Mr. Katz, also testified in that arbitration hearing. Do you recall that?

A. I was only there for mine, but I -- but I believe there was a parade of people, yes.
Q. And you actually issued a -- a pretty extensive press release once the outcome of this arbitration award was made public, right?
A. I believe so.
Q. And that was in response to an article by The Wall Street Journal?
A. Yes.
Q. And did you author that press release?
A. No.
Q. Who did?
A. PR Legal Compliance.
Q. Did you approve of the issuance and publication of that press release?
A. Yes.
Q. Yet you didn't even review the underlying arbitration award?
A. Correct.
Q. At some point, you became aware of the roughly $8 million arbitration award entered against Acis, GP, and Acis, LP, right?
A. Yes.

Page 26

Q. But you can't recall where you were when you received that information?
A. No.
Q. After you received notice that this arbitration award had been entered, did you have any conversations with any Highland employees about transferring Acis, LP's or Acis, GP's assets?
MR. CRUCIANI: I'm just gonna instruct you not to answer to the extent you had any discussions with your legal counsel. Otherwise you may answer.
A. Yeah, not that I recall.
Q. (BY MR. SHAW) All right. So excluding counsel, right? Is that -- is that the answer?
A. Right.
Q. So you didn't have any conversations about -- with Mr. Covitz about transferring Acis, LP, or Acis, GP's assets after the entrance of the arbitration award on October 20th, 2017?
A. No, not that I recall.
Q. I know that I'm gonna get an objection to this, but -- and an instruction not to answer.
But did you have any conversations with counsel with regard to transferring the assets of Acis, LP, or Acis, GP, after October 20th, 2017?

Page 27

MR. CRUCIANI: And I -- I would instruct you not to answer.
Q. (BY MR. SHAW) Are you refusing to answer based upon your instructions from your attorney?
A. Sounds good.
Q. Is that a "yes"?
MR. CRUCIANI: He's gonna follow my instruction, yes.
A. Yes. I'm following his instructions.
Q. (BY MR. SHAW) So I don't need to follow up with that ques- -- with that question after? If he instructs you not to answer, I can assume that you're following your --
A. Yes.
Q. -- attorney's instructions? Okay. Thanks.
Are Acis -- strike that.
You've received, personally or through the Dugaboya Investment Trust, roughly $11 million in distributions from Acis, LP; is that right?
A. I have no idea.
(Trial Exhibit 23 referenced.)
Q. (BY MR. SHAW) Let me show you what's been marked as Exhibit Number 23.
Go to the second page there.

Page 28

A. (Complied.)
Q. Do you see the listing for Equity, it says, "James Dondero draws"?
Do you see that, sir?
A. Yes.
Q. Any reason to dispute the fact that you have received, according to Acis's own balance sheet, a little over $11 million in draws?
A. Yes.
Q. You have reason to dispute that or you have no reason to dispute it?
A. No, I have reason to dispute it. It's -- it's under a column saying "Estimated Value" on something that was prepared a month or two before the actual distributions were made.
Q. Well, you've been receiving distributions from Acis -- well, at least you started receiving distributions from Acis in 2011 and received distributions into 2016, right?
A. I -- I don't know.
Q. You have not received any distributions nor has any -- nor have any of the other partners of Acis, LP, since Mr. Terry was terminated in June of 2016, right?
A. I don't even know that.

Page 29

Q. Let's talk about the assets of Acis on October 20th, 2017.
That's the date of the arbitration award. Okay?
(Trial Exhibit 15 referenced.)
Q. (BY MR. SHAW) Let me show you what's been marked as Exhibit Number 15, Acis 15.
Do you see that document?
A. Yes.
Q. Have you ever seen it before?
A. (Examined exhibit.) Not that I recall.
Q. Go to the second to last page there and tell me if that's your signature?
A. It looks like it.
Q. All right. And this Promissory Note reflects that Highland, of which you're the president, was the maker under a promissory note in favor of Acis, LP; is that right?
A. Yes.
Q. All right. And that's a $12.6 million promissory note?
A. Yes.
Q. And you're a -- credit expert. This promissory note was an asset of Acis, LP, on October 20th, 2017, right?

Page 30

A. Yes.
Q. The underlying transaction for which Acis received this promissory note, are you familiar with that transaction?
A. Just generally.
Q. What's your general understanding of the -- of that transaction?
A. That it was a note payable for a future stream of payments that Acis was going to give Highland for --
Q. So Acis -- Acis had a right to an income stream under these collateral management agreements, and in exchange for the note, Acis transferred that fee stream to Highland.
Is that your general understanding of the transaction?
A. Right. That there was no actual value times zero received by Highland for the note. Each -- each side promised streams to the other.
Q. And did you feel like that was a fair and arm's length transaction?
A. It -- I believe it was meant to offset. It was primarily due for tax planning, if I recall. That was my general understanding.
Q. And -- and you were on both sides of that transaction. On the Highland side as the president of Highland, and on the Acis side as the president of Acis, GP, right?

A. Yes.
Q. And presumably, you thought that was a fair deal for both Highland and for Acis?
A. I -- yeah. At the time that was recommended by our tax accountants.
Q. And you wouldn't have done the deal if it wasn't fair to both sides, both to Acis, LP, and to Ac- -- and to Highland, right?
A. Yeah, we -- yes.
Q. All right. So we've got one asset of Acis, LP, as of October 20th, 2017. I want us to talk about additional assets. And because there's a lot of names here, I want to help you and show you . . .
(Deposition Exhibit 2 marked for identification.)
Q. (BY MR. SHAW) I'm going to show you what's been marked as Depo Exhibit 2.
A. (Examined exhibit.)
Q. All right. And go to -- if you will, just look at that document. This is a transaction entered into between Acis Capital Management, on the one hand, and Highland CLO Holdings Limited, Caymans. It's a Cayman entity.

Page 32

Do you see that in the first paragraph?
A. Yes.
Q. And if you look down into the Recitals, it discusses the assets that are being transferred, and the -- one, two, three -- fourth whereas paragraph down, are you there with me? It says, "Whereas, in satisfaction of the transfer receivable, Acis proposes a transfer to HCLOH, 100 hundred percent of Acis's ownership interest in the assets listed in Exhibit A hereto."
Did I read that correctly?
A. Yes.
Q. All right. So let's go back and look at Exhibit A.
A. (Complied.)
Q. And that Schedule A there says, "The assets are a limited liability company interest in Acis CLO Management Intermediate Holdings I, LLC; Acis CLO Management GP, LLC; and a limited partnership interest in Acis CLO Management Holdings, LP."
Did I read that correctly?

Page 33

A. Yes.
Q. All right. As of October 20th, 2017, Acis owned those assets listed in Schedule A, right?
A. I don't know, but I would assume.
Q. Acis can't transfer something that it doesn't already own, right?
A. That's what I would assume, but I have no knowledge.
Q. And that doesn't refresh your memory at all on Schedule A about what entity interest or partnership interest that Acis owned on October 20th, 2017?
A. No.
Q. Are you familiar with an entity called Acis Loan Funding Limited?
A. I'm -- not specifically.
Q. You've heard of the acronym "ALF," right?
A. Yes.
Q. And ALF, you understand, is repre- -- is short for Acis Loan Funding?
A. Yes.
Q. On October 20th, 2017, Acis owned an interest in ALF, right?
A. I -- I don't know.
Q. All right. As of October 20th, 2017, Acis was the portfolio manager under various collateralized -- or collateral management agreements; is that right?

A. I believe so.

Q. All right. Let's talk about the Acis liabilities as of October 20th, 2017. You have a list of creditors there that we've already talked about that was marked as an exhibit.

Will you look at that, please, again, for me?

A. (Examined exhibit.)

(Trial Exhibit 40 referenced.)

Q. (BY MR. SHAW) And then I want to show you an additional exhibit which is Trial Exhibit 40, Acis 40.

A. (Examined exhibit.)

Q. And this is a document that was filed in the bankruptcy proceeding.

Do you see that document?

A. Yes.

Q. As of October 20th, 2017, Acis had creditors for which it has not paid outstanding invoices; is that right?

A. I mean, I'm not the guy to answer that for you. I -- I don't know.

Page 35

Q. Okay. Well, let's look at Exhibit Number 40 and see if this helps you. This is a document that was filed by Acis in the bankruptcy court, and on page 2 -- let's see. Let's go to page 3 of Exhibit 40 and line 16, Reid Collins Tsai.

Are you familiar with that law firm?

A. Yes.

Q. They apparently did some work for Acis in the Terry matter, right?

A. I don't know.

Q. And that law firm has also represented Highland or Highland's affiliates in -- in other litigation too, correct?

A. It's represented Highland and other Highland affiliates in other litigation, but I have no idea what they did here.

Q. Are you familiar with a lawyer named James Stanton?

A. Yes.

Q. And James Stanton is a former judge, right?

A. I believe so.

Q. And he also was co-counsel with Reid Tsai in litigation before Judge Tillery in Dallas County, right?

Page 36

A. Years ago, I believe so.

Q. Now, the Stanton Law Firm on number 18, Exhibit Number 40, is listed as a creditor of Acis.

Do you see that?

A. Yes.

Q. And that invoice date is 10-18-2016?

A. Yes.

Q. Now, after 10-18-2016, you authorized on behalf of Acis, LP, and Highland the payment by Acis to Highland of amounts due under the shared services agreement and subadvisory agreements, right?

A. What was the first part of the sentence? I -- I authorized? Is that what you're saying?

Q. Yes.

A. It was part of the operating agreement. I mean, I didn't specifically authorize it, but . . .

Q. So under the operating procedure for Acis, when an amount was due to Highland under the shared services agreement or subadvisory agreement, did Mr. Covitz just have authority to unilaterally pay Ac-- -- pay from Acis to Highland those amounts?

A. You're talking in a time period after Josh is gone?

Q. Correct.

A. After Josh was gone, it would have been between legal, accounting. There would have been a -- a consensus of when and how to pay or who to pay or whatever.

Q. And did you have any involvement in that consensus?

A. No.

Q. Legal bills for Highland and its affiliates, including Acis, what is the procedure for the approval and payment of those legal bills?

MR. CRUCIANI: Objection; overbroad.

A. Scott and his team decide timing and amounts, and if it aggregates to a large number, they bring it by me for overall signoff. If it's a lesser amount, they don't.

Q. (BY MR. SHAW) So there are times when you are involved in the approval or disapproval of certain payments to legal providers?

A. Generally.

Q. Have there been times that Mr. Leventon has brought you in a stack of legal bills and you've thrown some of those away and approved some of them and not approved others?

A. Not that I recall with that specificity.

Q. Why hasn't former Judge Stanton been paid from this 2016 invoice?

Page 38

A. I don't know.
Q. Who would know that?
A. Scott and his team.
Q. Same question for Reid Collins Tsai, this law firm that's represented Highland or its affiliates in other litigation. That's an invoice from 8-31-2017.
Why hasn't that been paid?
A. I don't know.
Q. But we do know that despite the fact that this invoice has been outstanding since August 2017, that Highland has received payments after that 8-31-2017 invoice, right?
A. I don't know that answer either.
Q. Let me show you what's been marked as Exhibit Number 111, Trial Exhibit 111.
(Trial Exhibit 111 referenced.)
A. (Examined exhibit.)
Q. (BY MR. SHAW) The cover sheet there is Carson Young. He's an attorney with McKool Smith, sitting here today, and this is transfer -- historical transfers from NexBank for Acis.
Do you see that?
MR. CRUCIANI: Again, just for the record, I think this just reflects that it was printed out by Carson Young --

Page 39

MR. SHAW: Sure.
MR. CRUCIANI: -- as opposed to being from or to.
MR. SHAW: Sure. Sorry about that.
MR. CRUCIANI: And I'm sorry. What -- what was the question, or was there a question?
Q. (BY MR. SHAW) All right. This document, Exhibit 111, reflects historical transfers from the NexBank account for Acis to an acronym HCMLP.
Do you see that?
A. Yep.
Q. And HCMLP is Highland, right?
A. Yes.
Q. And you see there that there are multiple transfers of amounts of money that occur after Reid Collins invoiced Acis, after Stanton Law Firm invoiced Acis, right?
A. Yes.
Q. Who makes the decision at Acis to pay Highland as opposed to one of these other creditors?
A. My general understanding, for a long time shared services was a basis point equation when Josh was there. That stepped up, what -- over the years, even while Josh was there. After Josh was there, whether -- what it stepped up to or how much was basis points, how much was not included in the basis points, like how much was for a la carte structuring or legal stuff, I don't know.

And the specific timing on when to pay what lawyers how much was handled by Scott and his group. I think that answers all your questions, at least as far as I know.
Q. Respectfully, I don't -- I don't agree with that -- that it answers the question.
So I'm gonna ask it again, which is, we know that we have a creditor, which is Highland, right, of Acis? We've established that.
There's -- there's no contest that Highland is a creditor of Acis, right?
A. Right.
Q. All right. And then we have a listing of -- of other alleged creditors that's in Exhibit Number 40, right?
A. Well, I wouldn't -- we presented them as factual, so I wouldn't say "alleged," but okay.
Q. Okay. And what I'm asking is: Who makes the decision to pay Highland as a creditor as opposed to one of these other parties, these other creditors?

Page 41

MR. CRUCIANI: Objection; asked and answered.
A. Yeah, I think I've answered it.
Do you want me to say it again?
Q. (BY MR. SHAW) I want you to answer the question I've asked.
So who makes that decision? Do you make the decision?
A. No, I don't make the decision. I'm saying anything regarding legal payments and the timing thereof is determined by Scott and his group, period, and then --
Q. And -- okay.
A. -- and then the shared services and the basis points and how much Young gets paid and who does that calculation and whatever would be calculated more by the accountants.
Q. Is Mr. Ellington acting on behalf of Acis when he makes that determination or whom?
A. You need to talk to Mr. Ellington on -- on that one. It's -- he uses his -- he uses his judgment, and he can tell you why.
Q. Are you aware that individuals who are employees at Highland had communications with Goldman Sachs regarding a refinance or reset of various Acis CLOs?

A. Yes.
Q. How did you become aware of that?
A. From counsel.
Q. Anybody else?
A. No. It's pretty much counsel.
Q. Did you direct Mr. Covitz to have communications with Goldman with regard to a refinance or reset of Acis CLOs?
A. I believe Mr. Covitz was the business person, but there were a lot of legal issues, so I believe there was always -- or virtually always lawyers on the phone.
Q. Did you have conversations with Mr. Covitz with regard to a refi or reset of Acis CLOs?
A. Not that I recall other than, generally, that it needed to happen because not refinancing was killing the equity.
Q. Did you have any written communications with Mr. Covitz with regard to a refi or reset of Acis CLOs?
A. I don't recall. I mean, I might have pushed him and asked him status, but . . .
(Trial Exhibit 21 referenced.)
Q. (BY MR. SHAW) I'm going to show you

Page 43

what's been marked as Exhibit Number 21 to the trial.
A. (Examined exhibit.)
Q. Are you familiar with Mr. Amit at Goldman Sachs?
A. No.
Q. Have you ever seen this e-mail?
A. No.
Q. And you note that this e-mail, October 27th, is seven days after the arbitration award?
A. Okay.
Q. No reason to disagree with that, right?
A. Right.
Q. I want to make it abundantly clear, if I didn't ask it before.
Did you direct any person to transfer Acis, LP, assets after the arbitration award?
MR. CRUCIANI: I think this was the same question asked previously, and I think my instruction to that was, and is, to the extent you had discussions with businesspeople, feel free to answer. To the extent you had discussions with counsel, I would instruct you not to answer.
Q. (BY MR. SHAW) All right. And so with any businesspeople, did you have that conversation?

A. No.
Q. And are you familiar with any of the written communications with Goldman Sachs?
A. No.
Q. Did you have any written communications with any businesspeople with regards to the transfer of management contracts -- collateral management contracts from Acis to a Highland affiliate?
A. No.
Q. Does anybody have authority at Acis, other than you, to -- to pursue a strategy of transferring the management of Acis collateral management agreements to a Highland affiliate?
MR. CRUCIANI: Objection; vague, assumes facts not in evidence.
A. Yeah, you need to rephrase that question for me.
Q. (BY MR. SHAW) I mean, what I'm getting at is, could this happen without James Dondero's approval? Could a collateral management agreement that was formerly in the name of Acis, LP, be transferred to a Highland affiliate without your approval?
A. Well, I mean, ultimately, it comes to my desk, but it -- but it's -- yeah, it would have -- I was gonna say at the -- it wasn't orch- -- not at my orchestration, but as approval of something that was -- not a transfer, but a result of a refi and a market demanding a distancing from Acis. It -- I would just recharacterize the whole context differently.

MR. CRUCIANI: Whenever you're at a breaking point. We've been going about an hour. If this is good, we can take a break. If you're in the middle of something, we can wait.
MR. SHAW: That's fine. We can take a break.
THE VIDEOGRAPHER: We're off the record. The time is approximately 3:00 p.m.
(A recess was taken from 3:00 p.m. to 3:10 p.m.)
THE VIDEOGRAPHER: We are back on the record. The time is approximately 3:10 p.m.
(Trial Exhibit 173 referenced.)
Q. (BY MR. SHAW) Mr. Dondero, I'm going to show you what's marked as Trial Exhibit 173.
A. (Examined exhibit.)
Q. You're familiar with ALF Loan Funding, correct?

Page 46

A. Not in any kind of detail, but yes.
Q. All right. And you're -- you're familiar with the ALF Loan Funding as an affiliate of Highland?
A. I don't know that.
Q. You're familiar with Mr. Waterhouse, right?
A. Yes.
Q. You're familiar with Mr. Scott, Grant Scott, right?
A. Yes.
Q. And this document, Exhibit Number 173, was executed on October 24th, 2017.
Do you see that?
A. Yes.
Q. All right. That's four days after the arbitration award.
Any reason to dispute that?
A. No.
Q. And if you look on Exhibit 173, first page, that number 1 says, "The Company be and is hereby specifically empowered, authorized and directed to acquire 966,679 ordinary shares of no par value in the capital of the Company."
Do you see that?

Page 47

A. Yes.
Q. And the Company is defined as "Acis Loan Funding Limited," right? First line, it says, "Acis Loan Funding."
Is that --
A. Sure.
Q. -- the Company?
A. Yes.
Q. Okay. And then it says, "To be entered into between the Company," that's Acis Loan Funding Limited, "and Acis Capital Management."
Do you see that?
A. Yes.
Q. And that's the entity in which you served as the president of the general partner?
A. Yes.
Q. And that document's signed by Mr. Waterhouse as treasurer of Acis?
A. Yes.
Q. Did you have a discussion with Mr. Waterhouse with regard to the transaction that's reflected in Exhibit Number 173?
A. No, not that I recall.
Q. Did you have any communications at all with Mr. Waterhouse with regard to the transaction reflected in Exhibit Number 173?

A. No, not that I recall at all.
Q. So at the beginning of your testimony, we talked about Mr. Waterhouse's role and whether Mr. Waterhouse had the authority to transfer assets out of Acis without your approval.
Do you recall that?
A. Yes.
Q. And you correct me if I'm wrong, but I believe you testified that he did not have the authority to transfer assets from Acis without your approval?
MR. CRUCIANI: Objection; misstates his testimony.
A. Yeah. This is a de minimis amount of shares, and I -- I'm not sure this is anything more than an accounting cleanup, right? I think it's just moving it from one entity to a related entity, right?
I mean, I -- I don't have an awareness of what it is, but if you're asking me did Frank overstep his bounds or do something untoward, I don't -- I don't think so. I think this was probably a cleanup item, probably something that came from legal, and Frank -- Frank's a trustworthy

Page 49

CFO.
Q. (BY MR. SHAW) Did you authorize this transaction?
A. No, not that I recall.
Q. And Mr. Waterhouse, who you referred to as Frank, he is both an employee of Highland on the one hand and also the treasurer of Acis, LP -- or I'm sorry, Acis GP, correct?
A. I don't know if he is now. As -- as of the date of whatever you showed me, he was, but I have no idea if he is now.
Q. Okay. What was the purpose of this transaction reflected in Exhibit Number 173?
A. I don't know.
Q. What did Acis, LP, receive for transferring this interest in Acis Loan Funding, Limited, to Acis Loan Funding, Limited?
A. USD 991,180.13.
Q. So it received --
MR. CRUCIANI: I think your -- I think, by the way, your last question had Acis Loan Funding, Limited, at both ends, so you might want to --
MR. SHAW: And that's what the transaction was.

Page 50

MR. CRUCIANI: Whatever.
A. All right. I was trying to be clever. I don't have an awareness of this.
It says, if you read it, that the shares were transferred for U.S. dollar consideration. Beyond what it says there, I don't have an awareness.
Q. (BY MR. SHAW) Did Acis receive $991,000 for the transfer of these shares?
A. I don't know specifically.
Q. And you said something about this is just an accounting transaction.
I mean, is $991,000, in your opinion, just a minor cleanup, accounting transaction?
MR. CRUCIANI: Objection; vague.
A. It could be.
Q. (BY MR. SHAW) Do you believe that Exhibit Number 173 was in Acis, LP's best interest?
A. I've no reason to think it's not. I don't have an awareness of it.
(Trial Exhibit 43 referenced.)
Q. (BY MR. SHAW) I'm showing you what's been marked as Exhibit Number 43 -- Trial Exhibit 43.
A. (Examined exhibit.)
Q. Have you ever seen this document?

Page 51

A. No.
Q. Are you aware that seven days after the arbitration award this portfolio management agreement was executed?
A. No.
Q. Are you aware that Acis was formally the portfolio manager and was terminated on October 27th, 2017?
A. (Examined exhibit.)
Q. Do you see number 1 on page 1, "Termination of the Portfolio Services Agreement"?
Do you see that there?
A. Yes.
Q. All right. You see it's effective -- "As of the effective date, the Predecessor Portfolio Management Agreement is hereby canceled"?
Did I read that correctly?
A. Yes.
Q. And in the first paragraph, Predecessor Portfolio Manager is defined as Acis Capital Management.
Do you see that?
A. Yes.
Q. And you see that the new portfolio manager is Highland HCF Advisor, Limited?

Page 52

A. Yes.
Q. Who is Highland HCF Advisor, Limited?
A. It's affiliated with Highland of some sort -- in some way, but I -- I don't know.
Q. Do you have any ownership interest in Highland HCF Advisor, Limited?
A. I would have no idea.
Q. And who would?
A. Corporate rep or ask the lawyers.
Q. Page 18, will you turn to that, please.
A. Yes.
Q. Is that your signature there?
A. (Examined exhibit.) No.
Q. Whose signature is it?
A. It's -- I got a blank page with no signature.
Q. The very last page at the bottom, you see where it says, "Consented and Agreed, Acis Capital Management"?
A. Yes.
Q. All right. Is that your signature there?
A. Looks like my assistant's. But if -- if it is, it's authorized by me.
Q. How often does your assistant sign documents on your behalf?

Page 53

A. Often.
Q. And how does that go? Do you direct her to sign a particular document or does she just get a document and sign it without any authorization from you? I mean, what's the protocol there?
A. Well, I travel a lot. I'm out of the office a lot, you know. She'll call or she'll text and say, "The lawyers or the accountants need whatever it is signed. Can I sign it for you?"
And -- and most of the time I can say yes, just based on her saying what it is.
Q. Do you review these documents that your assistant signs on your behalf?
A. No. We -- we have a lot of entities and a lot of companies and -- and I sign hundreds of things a week.
Q. Now, this portfolio management -- management agreement that removes Acis as the portfolio manager and then substitutes in Highland HCF Advisor, Limited, this was done seven days after the arbitration award.
How is this in Acis's best interest?
A. Because Acis had no ability to provide the services. I mean, Acis would have just had the liability.

Page 54

Q. How does Acis historically make money?
A. By putting together and managing the CLOs.
Q. And the management of those CLOs pays fees, right?
And I might -- let me restate that because I don't think it was a good question.
Acis receives fees for managing the CLOs pursuant to collateralized management agreements or also known as portfolio management agreements; is that right?
A. Yes.
Q. So in this document, Exhibit Number 43, Acis is giving up its right to receive those fees under the existing portfolio management agreement and now Highland HCF Advisor, Limited, will be the entity that has the right to those fees?
MR. CRUCIANI: Objection; mischaracterizes the document.
A. Rephrase the question for me.
Q. (BY MR. SHAW) Before this agreement was executed -- this portfolio management agreement that's Exhibit Number 43 --
Do you see that?
A. Yes.
Q. Before that was executed, Acis had the right to the fees under the portfolio management agreement that was in existence, right?

Page 55

MR. CRUCIANI: Objection; mischaracterizes the document.
A. (No response.)
Q. (BY MR. SHAW) Can you answer the question or not?
A. No.
(Trial Exhibit 16 referenced.)
Q. (BY MR. SHAW) All right. I'm showing you what's been marked as Exhibit Number 16 -- Trial Exhibit 16.
This is a document entitled "Assignment and Transfer Agreement." It's dated November 3rd, 2017.
Do you see that?
A. (Examined exhibit.) Yes.
Q. And this is a document that was signed by you on the last page, if you'll turn with me to the last page.
A. Yes.
Q. Is that your actual signature or is that your assistant's signature?
A. That one looks more like mine.
Q. All right. Now, this document,

Page 56

November 3rd, 2017, that is 13 days after the arbitration award that occurred on October 20th, 2017, and it's between Acis, Highland, and Highland CLO Management, Limited.
Do you see that?
A. Yes.
Q. Who owns Highland CLO Management, Limited?
A. I don't know.
Q. Who controls Highland CLO Management, Limited?
A. Beyond it being an affiliate of Highland, I don't know.
Q. Do you ultimately control all of the affiliates of Highland?
MR. CRUCIANI: Objection; overbroad.
A. No.
Q. (BY MR. SHAW) All right. This document, Exhibit Number 16, I want you to look in the recitals.
So the first recital talks about "Acis is a portfolio manager under certain collateralized loan obligations listed in Schedule A of the purchase agreement and is entitled to fee compensation in connection therewith as set forth therein."

Page 57

That's what we were just discussing with regard to how Acis makes money, right?
A. Right.
Q. And then the second paragraph says that "Whereas Acis and HCM entered into the purchase agreement whereby Acis sold a portion of its future service fees to HCM in exchange for cash flows for HC- -- from HCM in each case as set forth in the note."
And that's that promissory note that we referred to earlier in your deposition, right?
A. Right.
Q. So the third "whereas" paragraph says, "Whereas HCM has notified Acis that HCM is unwilling to continue to provide support personnel and other critical services to Acis with respect to the CLOs."
Do you see that?
A. Yes.
Q. All right. Who made the determination that HCM, Highland, was unwilling to continue to provide support personnel and other critical services to Acis?
A. I -- that was a thoughtful, considering all facts and circumstances, decision made by our counsel -- internal and external counsel.

Page 58

Q. Were you involved in that decision?
A. I was aware of it, and I agreed with it, but . . .
Q. What external counsel was involved in that determination?
A. You'll have to ask Scott Ellington.
Q. And the internal counsel that was involved in that determination was who?
A. Tim.
Q. That's Tim Cournoyer?
A. Yes.
Q. Was Mr. Ellington involved in that decision?
A. I don't know.
Q. Now, when Highland notified Acis that Highland was no longer to provide the support and personnel and other critical services to Acis with respect to the CLOs, what did Acis do to go out to the market to try to get those support services and personnel from other service providers?
A. I don't know.
Q. Did it do anything to go out and say, "Hey, Highland's no longer gonna provide these shared services and subadvisory services, so we need to find somebody else to provide those"?

Page 59

A. I -- I don't know. I don't know if it did. I don't know if it would have been plausible, but I -- I don't know.
Q. Who would know that?
A. Check with Scott.
Q. All right. The next paragraph says, "Whereas Acis has determined that the effect of the notification is that it cannot fulfill its duties as portfolio manager of the CLOs, and in order to ensure the continued operation of such CLOs and protection for its stakeholders, it must assign its rights as portfolio manager in the CLOs to a qualified successor portfolio manager pursuant to the CLO documents."
Did I read that correctly?
A. Yes.
Q. What efforts did Acis make to sell its rights as a portfolio manager in the CLOs as opposed to just transferring them to a Highland affiliate?
A. I don't know, but I want to focus on my second comment I said -- last time I said I don't know. I don't believe it would have been a plausible errant.
I don't know what efforts were made, but you had deals that were priced off market that needed to be refinanced that weren't likely to be outstanding for any length of time to -- for a third party to get involved and to try and take over the deals for a very short period of time and be potentially subject to litigation or be subject to not being paid because litigation was somehow slowing or taking money or whatever.

I'm not sure that errand would have been -- I'm not sure there would have been interest from anybody under any circumstance -- any plausible circumstance that I can imagine --
Q. But we don't know --
A. -- anybody interested in buying it.
Q. I'm sorry. I didn't mean to cut you off there.
But we don't know because, no, we don't -- we're unaware of any efforts that were made to -- to determine that, right?
A. Yeah. The -- those efforts wouldn't have been made at my level. But I'm -- I'm just saying I have a hard time seeing how it would have been plausible, but you can -- you can ask Scott and other people.
Q. All right. So this -- this transfer agreement contemplates the transfer of these collateralized management agreements from Acis to Highland CLO Management, Limited.

That's that Cayman entity, right?
A. Yes.
Q. All right. What efforts did Acis make to obtain or to get from Highland CLO Management, Limited, some amount of money for the transfer of those portfolio management agreements?
A. Then maybe this is the crux of everything. It's hard to see how they have any value.
Q. Is it your position that those portfolio management agreements, or often called collateral management agreements, have no value?
A. When I have 30 or 60 days of tenure and they're mirrored in a pile of litigation, yeah, I'd say they have limited to zero value.
Q. When you entered into the note transaction, when Highland took a note in exchange for part of the fees under those collateralized management agreements, that was done at a time that there was pending litigation between Mr. Terry and Acis, right?
A. I -- I don't recall that timing, but it was -- I don't -- yeah, I don't -- I don't recall -- I thought it was before that. But if it -- but that -- wasn't that completely held valid in arbitration anyway?

But anyway, I don't -- I don't know the time. If you want to --

Q. So the promissory note is dated October 7th, 2016.

Any reason --

A. Okay.

Q. -- to disagree with that? All right.

And you -- and you recall that in September of 2016 was when Highland filed a lawsuit -- public lawsuit against Mr. Terry.

Mr. Terry filed an arbitration against Highland and Acis in September of 2016 as well, right?

A. Okay. Yes.

Q. Highland CLO Management, Limited, since it became an entity, what -- what assets does Highland CLO Management, Limited, have?

A. I have no idea.

Q. All right. Go to the second page of Exhibit 16.

A. (Complied.)

Q. So this is the actual agreement, not the recitals, but it talks in number 1, "Succession,

Page 63

Acis shall promptly provide the controlling class with notice that Highland" -- this Cayman entity -- "will be the portfolio manager," in number 1.

Do you see that?

A. Um-hum.

Q. Is that a "yes"?

A. Yes, I see it. Yes.

Q. And then we have number 2, "There is a successor manager, each of Acis and HCLOM shall promptly pursue successor management appointment of this Highland Cayman entity."

Do you see that?

A. Yes.

Q. All right. And then number 3 is an assignment and transfer of the promissory note. And the promissory note is that document that we were referring to earlier. It's dated October 7th, 2016. That's the note from Highland to Acis.

Do you recall that?

A. Yes.

Q. All right. And so the first paragraph there transfers the note from Acis to HCLOM.

Do you see that?

A. Yes.

Q. So do you recall too we discussed on

Page 64

October 20th, 2017, the note was an asset of Acis, right?

A. (Examined exhibit.) Yes.

Q. All right. And now this agreement effectuates the transfer of that asset of Acis to HCLOM?

A. Yes.

Q. Now, number 4 says, "Expense Support," and it says, "In the event Acis delivers written notice to HCLOM that Acis is unable to pay when due any Acis expenses, then HCLOM shall promptly pay to Acis" -- and then it goes on and on to say "an aggregate of $3 million of Acis's administrative fees and legal expenses."

Do you see that?

A. Yes.

Q. Prior to the filing of the bankruptcy, did Acis ever deliver written notice to HCLOM that Acis was unable to pay any Acis expenses?

A. I think you mixed up parties.

Could you say it one more time.

Q. Prior to the filing of the bankruptcy, did Acis deliver a written notice to HCLOM that Acis was unable to pay when due any Acis expenses?

A. Not that I'm aware of.

Page 65

Q. Why not?

A. I don't know. I think it was paying all expenses when it was due and payable.

Q. Well, was it?

A. It wasn't -- yeah. I believe so.

Q. Well, we have a creditor list that you've reviewed earlier, for example, James Stanton, whose bill was invoiced in October of 2016, that has not been paid for legal expenses.

Why did Acis not send the notice to HCLOM, "Hey, we've got James Stanton. He hasn't been paid since 2016. We want some of this expense support under this assignment and transfer agreement"?

A. From an Acis standpoint, it -- it wasn't past due. I mean, it -- bills, especially legal fees -- bills and structuring fees, get paid over extended period of times are adjusted downward or -- or blended into other deals or -- or whatever. Again, that would be determined by Scott and his team.

But from an Acis perspective, there were no overdue or defaulted bills or payments.

Q. Same thing for Andrews Kurth.

Is that right, those bills that were due to Andrews Kurth?

Page 66

A. Correct.
Q. You say that as of the date of this agreement here, that those were not due and payable?
A. Correct.
(Mr. Carson Young left the room.)
A. But they weren't in default or they weren't beyond payment date.
Q. (BY MR. SHAW) Nothing in this agreement requires Acis to deliver this written notice, right?
A. Nothing requires -- doesn't some -- number 4, first sentence require Acis?
Q. That -- the question is to you: In the event Acis delivers written notice, are you aware of any requirement that Acis deliver that notice to HCLOM, or could A- -- could Acis just say, "You know what, we're not gonna send the notice because we don't want to"?
A. Well, I think the way that paragraph is written, they have to send a notice if they want to draw on the 2 million for legal expenses or 1 million for administrative expenses.
I mean, they -- they don't have to, but then I don't think they ever had a chance at getting those moneys.

Page 67

Q. So we know the overall effect of this Exhibit Number 1 -- 16 is, number 1, to transfer the promissory note, the maker of which was Highland, that had roughly $9 million left to be paid.
That was transferred out, right, pursuant to this agreement?
A. Yes.
Q. All right. And we know that the intent was to transfer the management of these collateralized management -- collateral -- collateral management agreements to this Highland affiliate as well, right?
A. Yes.
Q. And what did Acis get out of this Exhibit Number 16?
A. A $3 million windfall. $3 million it would have never gotten otherwise. I mean, it's a gigantic windfall.
You've got to remember the creation of that note never put any value in Highland's pocket. It's not like Highland got 12 million of cash and signed a $12 million note.
Highland got a promise of fees that Acis is never gonna deliver against that note. This transaction was trying to be very fair to everybody and everybody -- everybody knew it would be scrutinized in hindsight.

But the purpose of putting that $3 million in there was to create an abundance and a windfall for the benefit of Acis that the assets couldn't be questioned in terms of their value.
Q. Why did you know that it was gonna be scrutinized in hindsight?
A. What? I just -- the level of litigation was -- was high and the -- the personalities on both sides were intractable. We'll be here a decade from now.
Q. And you're saying the personalities on both sides are intractable?
A. Oh, yeah.
Q. Now, Highland did receive participation fees pursuant to that note transaction, didn't it?
A. I'm sorry. Say that again. Highland . . .
Q. Highland did receive participation fees pursuant to that note transaction?
MR. CRUCIANI: For clarity, I think you're referring to the first as opposed to the second note transaction. You just might want to make that clear.

Page 69

Q. (BY MR. SHAW) Yeah. So Highland received fees pursuant to the first note transaction which assigned out the interest in the collateral management agreements to Highland. It received fees pursuant to that underlying transaction in October of 2016.
And I'm not saying the fees were received in October of 2016, but that's the transaction I'm referring to.
MR. CRUCIANI: I'm sorry. Objection; vague.
A. I couldn't follow that either. I couldn't follow that either.
Q. (BY MR. SHAW) All right. There was a transaction in October of 2016 where Highland gave a note to Acis and Acis transferred an interest in fees under the collateralized management agreements.
Do you recall that transaction?
A. Yes. But to be clear, Highland got nothing for its promissory note but a promise or a potential capture of future fees.
Q. And those future fees were paid to Highland?
A. For a little while, and then Highland paid on the note for a little while also.

Page 70

Q. Until this transaction occurred in Exhibit Number 16?
A. Yes, because with the refinancings that were necessary being demanded by the equity investors would eliminate the manage- -- the management fees to Acis, and Acis was in no position to provide the services anyway.
Q. Was part of the goal in this Exhibit Number 16 also to avoid Acis having to go into bankruptcy?
A. I don't think -- I -- not that I'm aware of. I couldn't see that far in advance. I don't know what other people were thinking.
It was to provide real value -- real value for assets that had negligible value.
Q. And you believe Acis received that real value pursuant to this agreement, Exhibit 16?
A. Yes. I believe -- yes. I believe it -- it removed itself from an inability to perform, and I believe it got more value in paragraph 4 than it ever would have received otherwise.
Q. But Acis hasn't received 1 cent under Paragraph Number 4, has it?
A. Not yet. It's early.
Q. And you, as Acis's president as it stands, get to determine whether or not Acis gets that $3 million or if it doesn't get that $3 million in expense support?

Page 71

(Mr. Carson Young entered the room.)
MR. CRUCIANI: Objection; misstates evidence that we're in bankruptcy.
A. If this was -- if this was -- this agreement operated in the normal course like it should have, that would have come across my desk, yes.
Q. (BY MR. SHAW) I'm saying outside of bankruptcy --
A. Right.
Q. -- we know that Acis never received a dollar under Exhibit -- under Paragraph Number 4, right?
A. Right, not yet.
Q. And we know that Acis gets to make the determination of when and whether it files this written notice to HCLOM that it wants this money.
A. Right, which Highland operates in good faith. HCLOM -- HCLOM will operate in good faith. Acis has operated in good faith. And if it gets to the point where this paragraph is properly triggered, it will do what it's supposed to do.

Page 72

Q. And you, as the president of Acis, GP, get to make the determination, under paragraph 4, whether you serve that written notice or not?
A. A better way to describe it is I would approve it as the agreement would be administered by somebody else.
Q. And why hasn't that happened prior to the bankruptcy?
A. Again, because it hasn't been triggered yet.
Q. And where is the trigger in your opinion, where, okay, this is the -- this is the number -- the dollar number or the -- or the age of the receivable or the payable, that's gonna trigger me to say, "Me, Jim Dondero, as president of the general partner of Acis, sends this notice to HCLOM to pay"?
A. It would have to come from either accounting or legal. The people who would administer this agreement, if they would come and say, "Okay. This is the current facts and circumstances. We need to do the following. We recommend you do the following."
Q. And those are all Highland employees, right, that would make that determination?

Page 73

A. Yeah. In the normal course, there's no ability for Acis to operate. There's no employees there, so that kind of stuff would be done via a shared services responsibilities.
Q. And we talked about this before.
Does HCLOM have $3 million in cash to pay Acis?
A. I -- I don't know.
Q. If HCLOM didn't have the cash to pay Acis -- so let's -- the scenario that Acis sends the notice, and HCLOM says, "We don't have the cash to pay."
Would you, as Acis, go out and sue HCLOM to compel the payment of this $3 million support fee?
MR. CRUCIANI: Objection; calls for speculation.
A. Yeah. I mean, we'd expect the agreement to be honored, and we would operate accordingly, but I don't want to speculate on what we would do when.
Q. (BY MR. SHAW) Why was HCLOM set up as a Cayman entity as opposed to like Acis, a Delaware entity or like Highland, a Delaware entity?
A. Because the whole structured product world is offshore. All the risk retention stuff is in

Guernsey. All the CLOs are created in Cayman. All the -- it makes more -- most sense or more sense for it to be there than anywhere else.

Q. Yeah. But this is -- we're talking about an asset manager, right? You'd know the difference between an asset manager as opposed to the underlying entities that run -- that are the CLOs or the risk retention people, right?

A. Yes.

Q. All right. And Acis was the asset manager of these Acis CLOs and it was a Delaware entity, right?

A. I believe so.

Q. Now, this Exhibit Number 16, we talked about the fact that it contemplates the transfer of the collateralized management agreements.

If -- we know that those collateralized management agreements -- as we sit here today, all of those have not been transferred to HCLOM, right?

A. I don't know.

Q. So you don't know, as we sit here today, whether Acis is the portfolio manager under any collateralized management agreements?

A. I -- I think the ones that were about to be refinanced that got stopped in mid-refi, which you guys will be liable for, I believe those are still at Acis.

Q. All right. Had this -- had that not been stopped, right, or had that -- had that gone through, what -- what assets would Acis have left over?

A. Like I said, I don't know. I don't know about what latter CLOs are still there, but -- I don't know.

Q. Well, we know it wouldn't have the note, right?

A. We know it wouldn't have the note.

Q. We know that there were interests in various entities. We looked at those lists in that Schedule A that it no longer has, right?

A. Right.

Q. We know that if this transaction had gone through, that it would no longer be the portfolio manager under any collateralized management agreements, right?

MR. CRUCIANI: Could I just make a question? You were talking about the one transaction and then you talked about globally other collateral management agreements. I just want to make sure you match.

You either just talk about CLO3 or if you're talk about all the CLO management agreements, if you'll look at your question.

Q. (BY MR. SHAW) I'm just talking about Exhibit 16.

Had Exhibit 16 gone through as planned, what --

MR. CRUCIANI: I'm sorry. You said Exhibit 16. That's my point. You're talking about just CLO3, because part of your question was -- it seemed to be directed just to CLO3, and then part of your question seemed directed to the other collateral management agreements for the other CLOs. I'm just asking for clarification on that.

MR. SHAW: Okay. Well, I think it was clear, so I appreciate that, but . . .

Q. (BY MR. SHAW) Exhibit 16 contemplates the transfer of the promissory note, correct? And it did effectuate the transfer of the promissory note.

A. Right.

Q. We know that Acis had -- strike that.

We know that this document also contemplates that Acis be replaced as the portfolio manager under various collateralized management agreements, right?

A. Right.

Q. So had that gone through, what would Acis have had left?

MR. CRUCIANI: Objection; vague.

A. Yeah, like I said, I'm not the person to answer that.

But for sure, it would have had cash. It would have had the $3 million asset to trigger under this agreement, and I don't know what other assets, from this other thing, right.

It got 900,000 in cash or something, I don't know, whatever. But there -- there would be cash -- I don't know what other incidental assets.

And then there would be $3 million of receivables from HCLOM.

Q. (BY MR. SHAW) Who would know the -- the answer to that question?

A. A corporate rep.

Q. And you understand that Mr. Leventon was designated as the corporate rep for Acis in this bankruptcy proceeding?

A. I don't know.

Q. Does Mr. Leventon have any day-to-day business side operation role in Acis?

Page 78

A. I don't know.
Q. Who does run the day-to-day business side operations of Acis?
A. I -- I don't know.
Q. I mean, Mr. Covitz?
A. He runs the portfolios. I -- I don't who, on Frank's team -- who manages the Acis stuff.
Q. Mr. Simek?
A. No.
Q. What does Mr. Simek do?
A. He helps find primarily AAA, AA, A investors and CLOs. He has input into structuring.
Q. This Exhibit 16, did you have any written communications with anybody with regard to this transaction and -- and that's reflected in Exhibit -- Exhibit 16?
A. No.
Q. Did you have any oral conversations with anybody on the business side, nonattorneys, with regards to Exhibit Number 16?
A. No.
Q. What role did you play in Exhibit 16 in that transaction?
A. I just had a general awareness of it.
Q. Was Exhibit 16 done at your behest?

Page 79

A. No.
Q. Whose behest was it done at?
A. Legal, internal/external.
Q. Did you direct legal to do that?
A. I'm not a lawyer by training. This is a lot of legal dancing.
Q. But did you direct legal to --
A. No, I did not.
Q. Let me finish the question.
Did you direct legal to effectuate Exhibit Number 16?
MR. CRUCIANI: Objection; vague.
A. I didn't -- I -- I didn't ord- -- I didn't tell anybody to effectuate anything.
Q. (BY MR. SHAW) You approve of Exhibit 16, though, correct?
A. Yes.
THE WITNESS: Is this a good time for a break?
MR. CRUCIANI: Sure. We've been going --
MR. SHAW: Sure.
MR. CRUCIANI: Take a break.
THE VIDEOGRAPHER: We're off the record. The time is approximately 3:56 p.m.

Page 80

(A recess was taken from 3:56 p.m. to 4:12 p.m.)
THE VIDEOGRAPHER: We are back on the record. The time is approximately 4:12 p.m.
Q. (BY MR. SHAW) Prior to the filing of the involuntary bankruptcy petitions, was Acis, LP, net negative cash flow?
MR. CRUCIANI: Objection; vague.
A. I don't know.
Q. (BY MR. SHAW) Who would know that?
A. The accountants, I would think, and I don't know who else.
Q. And the accountants, who -- who handles the accounting for Acis?
A. I don't know.
Q. Mr. Klos?
A. I don't know.
(Trial Exhibit 104 referenced.)
Q. (BY MR. SHAW) I'm showing you what's been marked as Exhibit 104.
A. (Examined exhibit.)
Q. Do you recognize that document?
A. No.
Q. Go to page 12 of 19.
A. (Complied.)

Page 81

Q. Are you there with me?
A. Yes.
Q. Is that your signature for Highland CLO Management, L.L.C.?
A. Yes.
Q. Are you familiar with this document?
A. No.
Q. Are you aware that Mizuho was handling the refi or reset for various Acis CLOs?
A. I know the businesspeople and the lawyers had talked to Mizuho. I think maybe before that Goldman, or Goldman after Mizuho. And then -- or Goldman before. I don't -- whatever.
They -- they talked to two or three different underwriters, and they tried to negotiate something similar to this.
Q. Mizuho was the only investment bank that was willing to do the deal, though, right?
A. I -- I don't know.
Q. Are you aware that Goldman passed on handling the refi or reset?
A. Yes.
Q. How'd you become aware of that?
A. From counsel.
Q. So Exhibit 104, who -- who was negotiating that agreement on behalf of Acis?

Page 82

A. I believe Scott Ellington.
Q. Now, Mr. Ellington has no formal role with Acis, right? I mean, he's not the -- an officer or director of Acis, LP, or Acis, GP?
A. Okay. Then his contact comes in via the shared services.
Q. Do you have any e-mail communications with regard to the Mizuho transaction?
A. No.
Q. What was the purpose of the Mizuho agreement and the contemplated refi or reset?
A. Financing rates, like mortgage rates on your house, had come down materially for CLOs, and the ability to refinance or refinance and extend the deal for the benefit of the shareholders or the equity holders was clear and possible for the Acis transactions.
Q. Who are the equity holders in the Acis CLOs that are listed here on Exhibit Number 104?
A. Primarily the ALF, I guess, which is primarily DAF investors and primarily one large institutional investor.
Q. So we've got the institutional investor, and we've got the DAF.

Page 83

Anybody else who owns equity in these CLOs that are reflected in Exhibit Number 104?
A. I don't know. If not, it'd be small. Even if there is, they're small. I don't know.
Q. Now, the transaction that's contemplated by Exhibit 104 is not simply a reset or a refi.
It's a reset or refi together with a transfer of the management agreement -- or management agreements from Acis to Highland CLO Management, L.L.C., right?
A. Yes. I believe so.
Q. The second part of that, the transfer of the management agreements, why is that necessary?
A. The way it was described to me was no one wanted to be near the Acis brand. They -- they wanted it to be a functioning Highland subsidiary, not a nonfunctioning litigation mess.
Q. This nonfunctioning Highland subsidiary that would take over the management of these CLOs, they're taking over the management because they want to reap the benefits of the collateralized -- collateral management agreements, right?
A. No.
Q. Why are they taking it over?
A. To prevent the shareholders or the equity holders from suffering and being crushed by an expensive cap structure and to prevent or mitigate any claims against Acis for not refinancing the deals.
Q. Is Acis required to refinance a deal?
A. It's required to do what's in the best interest of its equity investors that hired him that it has fiduciary responsibility to.
Q. Is Acis required to refi any of the CLOs?
A. Fiduciary -- fiduciarily "obligated" may be a better word than "required" because it's not a contractual requirement.
But it's a -- it's something that -- an opportunity that I think they could be held liable or negligent for if they didn't do.
And that's why I believe you guys ultimately would be liable for delaying it.
Q. The outside investor that you mentioned that controls the equity along with the DAF, when did that outside investor take a piece of the equity?
A. Last fall.
Q. Was that equity investor apprised of the pendency of the arbitration between Mr. Terry and Acis?

Page 85

A. Yes. We kept them fully informed.
Q. So they knew coming in that the deal had some hair on it?
MR. CRUCIANI: Objection; vague.
A. I'm gonna force you to give me more specific words than "hair on it."
Q. (BY MR. SHAW) Well, they came in knowing that there was litigation in which Acis, the portfolio -- the current portfolio manager, was a party and could be liable to Mr. Terry.
A. Yes. They were aware of that risk, so they underwrote that risk.
Q. And did they buy the equity at a discount based upon that risk?
A. No. They bought it at a fair market value.
Q. How was the fair market value of the equity determined?
A. I don't know the specifics. I -- I just know the prices were between 40, 60 cents on the dollar.
It was about 20 to 30 percent less than similar deals done in the market of similar vintage, so they were -- but the -- the -- the methodology was scrutinized heavily by both sides.

and I know it was a -- as fair a market value as they could get to it at the time.

Q. Who was negotiating on behalf of Acis with regard to bringing in this third-party investor in the equity of the CLOs?

A. I would -- it would have been Hunter and Price in the portfolio.

As a business person, Trey was involved also on bringing the investor in. And then there would have been somebody from legal on the team too.

Q. And you're talking about Trey Parker?

A. Yes.

Q. If these refis and resets, coupled with a transfer of the management agreements, went forward, this Highland affiliate, Highland CLO Management, L.L.C., would receive the revenue from the CLOs under these new collateral management agreements, right?

A. Yeah. The revenue and -- and all the work and responsibility in terms of managing them, administering them, keeping the accounting, and doing everything else that is -- is part of that business. It's not a high-margin business.

Q. The margins depend on, to some degree, the arrangement between Highland, who is providing the shared services and the subadvisory agreement or services, and the portfolio manager, whether that be Acis or this new Highland CLO Management, L.L.C., right?

A. I mean, some of it depends on the transfer pricing being accurate, which I think is what you're asking.

But across the industry, it's no more than a 15 to 20 percent margin business, period. Where we're not the only ones who do CLOs, it's at best 15, 20, 25 percent margin business in the best of cases.

Q. Did -- was there a discussion or any kind of communications with regard to between Highland CLO Management, L.L.C., and Highland with regard to what fees would be charged pursuant to the shared services and subadvisory agreements that would be required to -- to have Highland CLO Management manage these collateral -- collateral management agreements?

A. Not that I'm aware of.

Q. Do you know why Goldman passed on this deal?

MR. CRUCIANI: Objection; asked and answered.

A. Do you want more specifics?

Q. (BY MR. SHAW) I just asked the question. If you got an answer, then let me know.

A. The Acis brand is toxic. I think taping and baiting partners for a year-and-a-half, suing your former employer aggressively, I mean, just nobody wants to get near it.

Q. When do you believe that the Acis brand became toxic?

A. I don't know, as -- as everything became public.

Q. All right. Became public in September of 2016, right?

A. Let's see.

Q. In September of 2016?

A. Thereabouts or thereafter.

Q. And it became public through a lawsuit filed by Highland against Mr. Terry, right?

A. I think -- I don't remember exactly, but I think ours was very brief and not specific and nonsalacious.

Q. You didn't accuse Mr. Terry of having a sexual relationship with an attorney that worked for Highland in that pleading?

Page 89

A. I thought it was multiple. But I don't -- I don't know. I don't remember specifically.

Q. I guess salacious is in the eye of the beholder, right?

A. Yes.

(Trial Exhibit 105 referenced.)

Q. (BY MR. SHAW) I'm showing you what's been marked as Exhibit Number 105.

A. (Examined exhibit.)

Q. Have you ever seen that document?

A. No.

Q. You've never seen the judgment that was entered against Acis Capital Management and Acis Capital Management, GP, L.L.C.?

A. Nope.

Q. Are you aware that a final judgment was entered by the state court against Acis, GP, and Acis, LP?

A. I -- I don't know if it was valid or held to be valid. I don't -- I -- I'd be -- I don't know.

Q. All right. So this was -- this Acis or this judgment was entered on December 18th, 2017. The next day, December 19th, 2017, this agreement was executed, Exhibit Number 184.

Page 90

(Trial Exhibit 184 referenced.)
A. (Examined exhibit.)
Q. (BY MR. SHAW) Do you recognize that document?
A. No.
Q. You're familiar with your sister's handwriting and signature that's on page 8 of 12?
A. That looks like it.
Q. And then the next page is Mr. Okada, right?
A. Yep.
Q. And you worked with Mr. Okada for a long time, correct?
A. Yes.
Q. Did you talk to Mr. Okada about this assignment transfer and amendment agreement?
A. No.
Q. When was the last time you talked to Mr. Okada?
MR. CRUCIANI: About anything, you mean, or . . .
Q. (BY MR. SHAW) About anything.
A. Yesterday.
Q. So the Dugaboya Investment Trust, we know that you're a ultimate beneficiary of that trust, right?

Page 91

A. Yes.
Q. All right. And this document, Exhibit Number 184, executed the day after the judgment was entered, the Dugaboya trust transfers its interests in Acis, LP, and Acis, GP, to Neutra Limited.
Do you see that?
A. Yes.
Q. Why?
A. You'll have to ask -- you'll have to ask the -- and I don't think there's a structuring. You'll have to ask the lawyers and -- I was going to say the accountants, but the accountants wouldn't know. You'd have to ask the lawyers.
But it seems -- assumes, like, there was consistency to get a Cayman business in the Caymans, you know, between the manager and the -- the interests here too, but I -- I don't -- you'll have to ask the lawyers.
Q. Did you talk to Nancy Dondero, your sister, about why she signed this agreement transferring the trust's interest in Acis to a Cayman entity?
A. No, I have -- even more so my sister. I think, and I trust, are capable as internal and external counsel, so no.

Q. Did you ask anybody to divest the trust of its interest in Acis, LP, or Acis GP?
A. I -- I don't recall.
Q. Did you have any written communications with regard to this Neutra transfer?
A. No.
Q. Who owns Neutra?
A. I don't know.
Q. Who would?
A. I'd have to check with counsel.
Q. When you say "counsel," do you mean internal or external?
A. Internal.
Q. So would that be Mr. Ellington?
A. Or Isaac, if Isaac was the corporate rep.
Q. And when you say "Isaac," you mean Mr. Leventon?
A. Yes.
Q. Who controls Neutra?
A. It's -- it's affiliated with Highland, but I -- I don't know.
Q. Okay. There was an Exhibit Number 184 in front of you, I believe.

Page 93

MR. CRUCIANI: What is it?
MR. SHAW: It's the assignment transferring the amendment agreement that's regarding -- let's see. Am I on the right one? I might be on the wrong one. Hold on. That's the wrong one. My apologies.
Q. (BY MR. SHAW) Real quick. Does -- does internal counsel for Highland represent your sister, Ms. Dondero?
MR. CRUCIANI: Objection; overbroad.
A. Sometimes, but not always.
Q. (BY MR. SHAW) How is that determined?
A. I don't know.
Q. There is a document in front of you called "Assignment and Transfer Agreement." It's one of the documents we reviewed early on to talk about the assets of Acis as of October 20th, 2017.
MR. CRUCIANI: Is that the December 19, Dondero 2?
MR. SHAW: Yes.
MR. CRUCIANI: It's this one. You can use my copy.
A. (Examined exhibit.) Okay.
Q. (BY MR. SHAW) All right. So this is -- we've got the judgment entered on December 18th, and then we have this document on December 19th, the same date as the -- that Neutra transaction we were just talking about.

Are you familiar with this document?

A. (Examined exhibit.) No.

Q. If you go to page 233 at the bottom right-hand corner.

A. (Complied.) Yes.

Q. Is that your signature or is that your assistant's signature?

A. (Examined exhibit.) Looks like mine.

Q. Did you review this document before you signed it?

A. No. I reviewed it when we talked about it earlier.

Q. Did you authorize, on behalf of Acis, the transfer of these interests that are listed in Schedule A to this Highland Holdings, Limited, this Cayman entity?

A. Yes, I approved it.

Q. Why?

A. Because I was told or advised by counsel to do it.

MR. CRUCIANI: And that's fine. Just don't get into any of the substance, but your answer as it was is fine.

THE WITNESS: Yeah.

MR. CRUCIANI: Are you done with that?

THE WITNESS: Yeah. Sorry.

Q. (BY MR. SHAW) I assume you're gonna tell the bankruptcy judge when you testify at trial that none of these transactions were intended to make it harder for Mr. Terry to collect his judgment. Is that fair?

MR. CRUCIANI: Objection; speculation as to what he may or may not tell the bankruptcy judge.

A. I'd rather keep it a secret.

Q. (BY MR. SHAW) Will you tell the bankruptcy judge that none of the transactions that we've talked about today were done in order to make it more difficult for Mr. Terry to collect his judgment?

MR. CRUCIANI: Same objection; speculation on what his testimony may be at trial.

A. I'd like to keep my trial testimony secret until I'm . . .

Q. (BY MR. SHAW) Okay.

A. Yeah.

Q. Well, then I'll ask you the question as opposed to posing the question that way.

Were any of these transactions that we've discussed today intended to make it more difficult for Mr. Terry to collect his judgment?

A. Not that I'm aware of or not that I orchestrated or not that I approved. Everything was done to react to changes in facts and circumstances and do what was best for the investors that are suffering the longer these deals don't refinance.

Q. What about doing what's best for Acis? How does doing what's best for Acis and its creditors factor into your decision to enter into the transactions we've talked about today?

A. Again, the first obligation is to the investors. Any obligation to Acis is secondary to that. The obligations to Acis are fairly and honorably weighed, alongside obligations and fairness to Highland and other constituents.

Q. You have many masters, right?

MR. CRUCIANI: Objection; vague.

A. Are you waiting for me?

Q. (BY MR. SHAW) Yeah.

A. What do you mean by "masters"?

Q. Well, you wear a lot of different hats. Is that fair?

Page 97

MR. CRUCIANI: Objection; vague.

A. What do you mean by "wear a lot of hats"?

Q. (BY MR. SHAW) Okay. Let's just talk about two of the hats you wear. One hat is that you are the president of Acis, GP, right?

A. Yes.

Q. Another hat that you wear is that you are the president of Highland, correct?

A. Yes.

Q. And Highland, we know, is a creditor of Acis, right?

A. And it's also a service provider.

Q. And it's a service provider, and the creditor status of -- of Highland is by virtue of that sev- -- those services?

A. That's a transaction we talked about earlier, right, the note and the -- is that what you're speaking of or just the services in general or . . .

Q. The services in general -- I mean, part of Highland's status as a creditor of Acis is by virtue of amounts owed to it under shared services agreement and subadvisory agreements?

A. Yes.

Q. You also have -- wear the hat as the ultimate authority for Highland and these Highland affiliates, where these assets are being transferred to, for example, the Highland CLO Holdings, Limited, that became an entity?

Page 98

MR. CRUCIANI: Objection; vague.

A. The Highland entities are affiliates of Highland.

Q. (BY MR. SHAW) Right. For example, Highland CLO Holdings, Limited, which is the transferee of particular assets from Acis, that's an entity that is affiliated with Highland, right?

A. Right.

Q. And you are the ultimate authority at Highland?

A. I'm the ultimate authority at Highland, but I've never seen a document regarding HC or whatever, and I've never -- whatever. I've never seen a document, and I've never been to the location where it's located. I've never -- you know, whatever, so, I mean, it's affiliated, but I -- "control" isn't the right word.

Q. Throughout the litigation with Mr. Terry, Acis has paid all of the legal expenses incurred.

MR. CRUCIANI: May I ask for a clarification whether you're talking about the arbitration agreement or these bankruptcy proceedings?

MR. SHAW: Well, I guess if Highland's paying for the -- I -- I don't know. Is Highland paying for the bankruptcy proceedings? I --

MR. CRUCIANI: I -- I -- no, I'm --

MR. SHAW: I thought I asked that question.

MR. CRUCIANI: -- I'm just asking for clarification is all. I'm not suggesting anything by it. I'm just asking for clarification. But that's fine. If you don't want to clarify it, that's fine.

Q. (BY MR. SHAW) I mean, is Highland paying for --

A. I don't know.

Q. Let me -- let me get the question out because it doesn't read very well if we do that.

But is Highland paying for any of the attorneys in this room?

A. I mean, clearly our internal counsel, right, but otherwise, I -- I don't know.

Q. Now, with regard to the arbitration and the state court proceedings, up and to -- up until the date that the involuntary petitions were filed,

Page 100

Acis was footing the bill for the Terry litigation.

Do you have any reason to dispute that?

A. I don't know, so . . .

Q. And who would?

A. Corporate rep or you could ask Scott.

Q. All right. Now, after Mr. Terry was terminated in June of 2016, Highland and Acis renegotiated the terms of the shared services agreements and the subadvisory agreements.

Do you recall that?

A. Generally.

Q. And that was done on multiple occasions? Are you familiar with that?

A. And if you say so, but I don't know.

Q. The fees paid to Highland under those shared services agreements and subadvisory agreements were increased. Is that fair?

A. I believe that's the case.

Q. Why was that done?

A. You'll -- you'll have to ask the accountants and lawyers, but I would suggest that they looked at the cost of operating Acis, managing the Acis CLOs with a more objective light subsequent to Josh being gone.

Q. And when you say "a more objective light," what -- what do you mean?

A. I -- I think the expenses or the shared services allocations were light compared to the amount of people at Highland working on Acis-related things, and I -- I think there was an adjustment to make it -- the shared services basis points more reflective of actual costs. That's my understanding of it.

Q. The increase in the costs for shared services and subadvisories has decreased the financial performance of Acis, LP, right?

A. I -- I would guess.

Q. You're aware that Acis was -- or Acis's bank accounts were garnished at the end of 2017?

A. I -- what is -- what do you mean by "garnished"?

Q. Frozen.

A. I believe -- yeah, I believe I heard -- heard something like that. I know the accounts were frozen somewhere.

Q. Acis opened a new bank account. Are you aware of that?

A. No.

Q. So you don't know anything about Texas

Page 102

Capital Bank and a bank account that was opened for Acis?

A. No.

Q. So we talked about, in general, those changes in the subadvisory agreement and shared services.

Who, on behalf of Acis, negotiated the terms of the shared services and subadvisory agreements?

A. I -- I believe when we divided responsibilities trying to get to overall balance of fairness, I think it was Scott that oversaw and negotiated that.

Q. So, I mean, was it a scenario where Scott is sitting there saying, "Well, no, Jim, you're -- you're trying to charge Acis too much on behalf of Highland, so I think you ought to decrease the amount of basis points that you're charging for the services"?

A. I -- I wasn't -- I'm not -- I'm not the ringmaster in these -- middle of these conversations. These were conversations had between Scott, other attorneys internally, most likely Tim representing Highland, and then with the accountants, and then probably the blessing of external, whatever, but I'm not in those meetings.

Q. But ultimately, you approved those shared services agreement amendments and subadvisory amendments, right?

A. Yeah, ultimately, I get something like this, sign this, you know, and so it gets signed.

MR. SHAW: Let's take a quick break, if you don't mind. I might be kinda close.

MR. CRUCIANI: Sure.

THE VIDEOGRAPHER: We're off the record at 4:50 p.m.

(A recess was taken from 4:50 p.m. to 5:07 p.m.)

THE VIDEOGRAPHER: We are back on the record. The time is approximately 5:07 p.m.

Q. (BY MR. SHAW) You previously testified that the Acis brand is -- is, quote/unquote, "toxic"; is that right?

A. Toxic, tarnished, whatev- -- yes, whatever.

Q. And in your role as the president of Acis, GP, do you have an intent to -- outside this bankruptcy, if this bankruptcy was not there, to wind down the operations of Acis?

MR. CRUCIANI: Objection; vague, calls for speculation.

A. No. I mean, the -- the intent is to do what's best for the investors in Acis, and -- yeah, I don't know what business Acis would do in the future, maybe more work again with Josh and he can find investors that want to come into Acis. I -- I don't know. But we need to take care of the investors that are in there.

Q. (BY MR. SHAW) Well, I guess my question is: If you transfer the management of all of these CLOs to a Highland affiliate --

A. I -- I wouldn't characterize it that way.

Q. How would you characterize it?

A. These deals have to be refinanced. It's like having a 9 percent home mortgage when you could have a 3 percent home mortgage. To the extent that you don't, you're killing your equity holders, the equity has to be refinanced.

There's no investors and there's no underwriters that will deal with Acis on a refi. So you have to refi with a manager beyond Acis, right? And that's what we're trying to do here.

Q. Does it have to be a Highland affiliate who you refi and transfer the management agreements to?

Page 105

A. The investors would have to believe that another entity other than Highland could do a better job than Highland, and the investors would have to find a manager willing to -- in each of these transactions, it takes a few million dollars to handle the risk retention or bridge it. I don't know exactly what for. But on each of them, the businesspeople have come to me and say it takes two or three million dollars more to refinance them.

So they'd have to find somebody who they think could do a better job and who'd be willing to put in a -- a few million dollars to make the transactions happen, which I think would be difficult.

Q. But we don't know because we haven't tried, right?

A. You mean, have we explored moving or refinancing the Acis deals away from Acis but to somebody other than Highland?

Q. Right. Like say Angelo Gordon or Carlisle and get some compensation flowing to Acis in exchange for the transfer of the collateral management agreement?

MR. CRUCIANI: Objection; assumes facts not in evidence.

A. Yeah, they wouldn't -- they wouldn't give any money for it -- I mean, they -- they would -- if -- they would refinance the deals and want the management fee going forward. They wouldn't pay anything to Acis for refinancing.

Q. (BY MR. SHAW) They wouldn't pay anything to Acis for transferring the management agreements either.

Is that what your testimony is?

A. Because it wouldn't be transferring, it would be refinancing. They have to refinance them with somebody, and Carlisle or KKR would say thank you for picking us, but they wouldn't pay for that.

Q. Now, kind of getting back to the -- my original question was: If these collateral management agreements are transferred -- and I know that you have a problem with that because it's a reset and a refi. But if it's a reset and a refi, the ultimate -- ultimately, if that goes through, Acis will no longer be the collateral manager of those CLOs, right?

A. Yes.

Q. What would Acis do if it's no longer the collateral manager under any of these collateral management agreements?

Page 107

A. It has very good claims against your firm and Josh Terry that could be worth boatloads of money down the road.

Q. What is your theory against my law firm?

MR. CRUCIANI: Objection. Don't get into any --

THE WITNESS: Yeah, yeah. I can't --

MR. CRUCIANI: Excuse me, excuse me. Let me make my objection.

THE WITNESS: Sorry. Okay.

MR. CRUCIANI: Do not get into any discussions you've had with counsel about any potential claims against Mr. Shaw's law firm.

Q. (BY MR. SHAW) Okay. I don't want to hear what you talked to your lawyer about.

But what theories do you have, not based upon what you've talked to your lawyers about, against my law firm?

MR. CRUCIANI: And if you can answer that without disclosing, that's fine --

THE WITNESS: Yeah, I was going to say.

MR. CRUCIANI: -- but if you can't --

A. All -- all my theories come from the -- the lawyers.

Page 108

Q. (BY MR. SHAW) What about Ms. Patel's firm, are you gonna threaten them as well?

MR. CRUCIANI: Objection; assumes facts not in evidence.

A. We don't threaten, ever. And I'm -- I'm not aware of liability that she has yet.

Q. (BY MR. SHAW) You've sued law firms before on behalf of Highland, haven't you?

A. I believe we have.

Q. All right. You've sued Lackey -- and let's see. Lackey -- you had Lackey Hershman file a lawsuit against Looper Reed, right, in the Pat Daugherty litigation?

A. Yes.

Q. And that case was dismissed and affirmed on appeal, right?

A. I -- I don't know.

Q. Highland sued Haynes and Boone before, right?

A. I don't -- I don't recall that one. I -- I recall the $12 million we got from Orrick, but I don't recall the Haynes Boone one, though.

Q. Highland sued Winstead, PC, right?

A. Yes. We've gotten a firm to take it on contingency there, so we're optimistic on that one.

Page 109

Q. So other than these litigation claims that you say would remain, is there anything else that Acis would do?

If it's not managing collateralized management agreements . . .

A. Well, the -- there's -- I don't know. I mean, there'll be some assets left in there, and there's always an ability for an RIA to resurrect its reputation, and if it's got a unique and differentiated product offering, you can raise money for new investors.

Performance -- performance is always the Phoenix, so -- but I do believe the litigation business is a good business. I mean, we -- we -- we run six, eight litigators internally. It's a big business for us. I think it could be an important part of Acis going forward.

Q. Yeah, you have a litigation claims business that you're a partner in with Mr. Ellington, right?

A. Yes.

Q. Now, you've been in the kind of distressed debt space for a long time. Is that fair?

A. Yes.

Q. You've been involved in involuntary bankruptcy petitions before?

A. Very rarely. You have to be careful. I usually get advised by counsel not to do it because it opens up a whole can of worms and liabilities if you're not careful. So, yes, we are -- we are -- we are aware of distress situations.
Q. And you recall the Seven Seas bankruptcy?
A. Vaguely.
Q. That was one where Highland or its affiliates put a debtor into an involuntary bankruptcy?
A. Yeah, that was -- yeah, that was -- it was a fraud on a mine or an oil discovery that didn't exist, but I don't remember much beyond that.
Q. Now, you said that you were going to -- or looking to sue my law firm and --
A. I didn't say that.
MR. CRUCIANI: Yeah, don't misquote him.
Q. (BY MR. SHAW) Let's -- let's go back up to that. Let's see where that was.
I believe you said that the ongoing business -- this is your quote -- was -- and this is my question:
"What would Acis do if it's no longer the collateral manager under any of these collateral manager agreements?"

And your answer was, "It was very -- it has very good claims against your firm and Josh Terry that would be worth boatloads of money down the road."
Do you recall that statement?
A. Yes.
Q. And you understand you're under oath today, right?
A. Yes.
Q. And when you say my firm, you mean my law firm, right?
A. Yes.
Q. And so you're saying that Acis would have a claim against my law firm?
MR. CRUCIANI: And, again, don't get into any privileged discussions you've had with respect to the nature of any discussions or the nature of any types of claims. I think you've testified you believe you have it, so you've already testified to that, but don't get into anything --
A. Yeah, that's -- that's how I'd like to leave it. We're a very righteous group. We like to hold people accountable. We believe in fairness in the long run, and that's how we've operated.

Q. (BY MR. SHAW) You said that you have claims against my firm, and you've never made that threat before in the arbitration, right?
A. I -- I don't -- I don't know.
Q. So is the -- this threat based upon the filing of the bankruptcy petition?
MR. CRUCIANI: Objection; mischaracterizes. Never used the word "threat." That's your word.
A. Yeah, that's -- I objected to that once already, but I -- I never used the word "threat."
Q. (BY MR. SHAW) Yeah. Because I -- and I don't know if you told your counsel to say this, but Mr. Cruciani, at a hearing after we filed the involuntary bankruptcy court petition in state court, told us that we needed to go talk to our insurance carrier.
Did you tell Mr. Cruciani to say that?
A. He's a smart man. He didn't need me to tell you that.
Q. Did you tell Mr. Cruciani to threaten my law firm with a lawsuit?
A. No, I never told him that.
Q. Now, you said that this refi transaction that was slated to go forward in February did not go forward because of some action taken by Mr. Terry; is that right?

A. Yes.
Q. And what action was that?
A. The filing of the bankruptcy and the freezing of activity or -- or whatever. I don't -- I don't know exactly, but it's very rare for a transaction to get pulled between pricing and close. I think that happens once a decade, but we managed to have a transaction that priced but didn't close.
Q. You were aware that Judge Jernigan told Mr. Warner on the record that she would consider a motion filed, and to approve the transaction if Acis put up a adequate protection-like payment.
Are you aware of that?
MR. CRUCIANI: Objection; mischaracterizes the record. If you have something to show him instead of mischaracterizing it, I'm happy to have him answer that question.
A. I don't have any awareness of that anyway.
Q. (BY MR. SHAW) Your counsel did not seek any relief with the bankruptcy court and request that that transaction be approved with the payment of an adequate protection payment?

Page 114

A. I have no awareness.
Q. You're aware that Judge Goldstein, the state court judge, entered various orders in that case.
Are you familiar with that?
A. No.
Q. Are you familiar with the fact that she ordered that the manager not be changed until further order, and that was on January 24th?
A. No.
Q. What duty does Josh Terry owe to these investors that you claim are going to pursue him?
MR. CRUCIANI: Objection; mischaracterizes his testimony. And objection to the extent it calls for a legal conclusion.
A. And I'd like that to be the answer. I don't want to make a legal conclusion.
Q. (BY MR. SHAW) Have you directed any of the investors to pursue Mr. Terry with a lawsuit?
A. No.
Q. You didn't call Grant Scott, your college roommate, and tell him to file an appearance in this case?
A. No.
Q. Who controls the Acis bank accounts?

Page 115

MR. CRUCIANI: You mean before they were garnished or now?
MR. SHAW: Whichever.
MR. CRUCIANI: Well, object; it's vague, then. Please clarify.
Q. (BY MR. SHAW) Who controls the Acis bank accounts?
A. I don't know.
Q. Who approves wire transfers from the Acis bank accounts?
A. I don't know.
Q. So you knew that the November 3rd transaction, 2017, was going to be scrutinized afterwards, right?
A. I knew this was going to be a heavy, extended litigation.
Q. And you knew the transaction would be scrutinized, right?
A. Yes.
Q. So why not go out and get outside valuations for what -- for that transaction, for the November 3rd transaction? Why not get a third party to say -- come out and bless it, say this is reasonable equivalent value, that Acis isn't getting in return for transferring this $9 million promissory note and all of its collateral management agreements?

MR. CRUCIANI: And I don't -- I don't know that it does, Mr. Dondero, but given the nature of the question, to the extent that your answer would involve any privileged communications, don't answer. If you can otherwise answer, please do.
A. It's -- I think I testified already, it's advice of counsel was that it wasn't necessary --
MR. CRUCIANI: Wait, wait, wait, wait.
THE WITNESS: Or I'm sorry. Or I --
MR. CRUCIANI: Timeout. Just stop talking for one second. The instruction was -- and you may have to repeat the question, given the interchange. But the pending was if you can answer it without getting into advice of counsel, do so.
If you cannot --
THE WITNESS: Okay.
MR. CRUCIANI: -- then I'm going to instruct you not to answer. If you need the question repeated so you know what it was at this point.
THE WITNESS: No, I -- I can . . .
MR. CRUCIANI: Okay.
Q. (BY MR. SHAW) Can you answer the question without revealing any attorney/client privileged information?

A. Yeah. I just said, repeating pieces of prior testimony, we did not believe it was plausible to market contracts that would have 30 or 60 days left to run and would be in an entity mired in complex, cantankerous litigation. We didn't believe it was plausible or likely to result in any meaningful number. That was -- that's what I testified to earlier, so repeat that as Point Number 1.
Point Number 2, under abundance of caution, we made the consideration be $3 million more than it needed or should have been, to maintain clean hands and maintain clean behavior in terms of the whole process.
Q. Why not test that idea of plausibility?
MR. CRUCIANI: Objection; asked and answered.
A. You know what, I can't say for sure other people -- I -- I know I never pointed anybody to that direction because I didn't think it was plausible or reasonable or whatever. I don't know if other people tried. I don't know if that was a hurdle mentioned by you guys earlier or if anybody tried.

But my -- my testimony -- my recollection, my opinion is that it was -- would have been a -- a fool's errand. People -- it -- to make decisions, any financial institution that it keeps throwing out KKR, Carlisle or whatever, it takes them 30 days to make a decision, 45 days to make a decision for something that's gonna last 60 days.
I mean, like I said, it's comical, but maybe someone else in the organization tried or looked at it differently or maybe counsel looked at it different, but I -- I have no idea.
Q. (BY MR. SHAW) What do you mean it was gonna last 60 days?
A. Because in fairness and in obligation to the investors that we, as manager, or Acis, as manager, or Highland, to all of our investors have, first obligation that you guys will be held accountable for screwing over to the extent that you're involved in that. Okay?
It -- they deserve to have a 3 percent mortgage if interest rates are 3 percent instead of having a 10 percent mortgage. And every day you prevent them from doing that, you're harming them.

So they need -- all those deals need to be refinanced as quickly as possible; otherwise, it starts shredding the equity value of those investors.
Q. Do you have communications with those investors wherein they're making this request for this refi or reset?
MR. CRUCIANI: Objection; vague.
A. Not that I'm aware of.
Q. (BY MR. SHAW) Why hadn't this been done before the arbitration award?
A. The mark- --
MR. CRUCIANI: Objection; assumes facts not in evidence.
A. We tried at different times. The market didn't move enough for these deals to refinance until more recently, and it was -- I think it was started -- it was actually started in the months beforehand, but the market wasn't -- rates weren't low enough to get it done sooner.
Q. (BY MR. SHAW) Now, in your business -- you obviously know it a lot better than I do -- but there are instances where you go out and get marks on particular assets, some third-party determination about the value of a particular asset. Is that fair?

A. Yes.
Q. So that's not a foreign concept to you, that -- that in order to provide transparency and in order that a transaction does not look conflicted, you go out and get a third-party valuation so that you have some check on a potential conflict of interest; isn't that right?
A. If it's a security. If it's an asset. If you ask me to go price, how about I take the garbage out before 7:00 every day for the next two weeks instead of doing it at 8:00, how much is that worth? Get three major firms to give me a bid on that service that's gonna end in two weeks, how much is it worth to do it an hour earlier?
Q. Well, how about a 9 --
A. But that's --
MR. CRUCIANI: Let's -- I'm sorry. I don't think he's finished.
Q. (BY MR. SHAW) Sorry.
A. But that's -- it's -- something -- something that's got 30 or 60 days to run that's mired in conflict, that needs to be refinanced, doesn't have value or it's got negligible value. It's not a security, and it's not something that's significant or defiant.

Q. What about that 9 -- promissory note, the original amount was $12.6 million is worth 9 on -- when it was transferred to the Cayman entity. That's a good quality asset, isn't it?
A. No, it's not.
Q. Why not?
A. What did Highland get when the note was put in place? It's a $12 million note. Did Highland get $12 million? Did Highland get $13 million? Did Highland get an asset? No.
Highland got a promise from Acis to pay it management fees that Acis was gonna get over the next three or four years, and the amortization was tied to fees as they came in, and Highland got them.
So when Highland got fees, it paid down -- it paid the money to Acis to pay off the note. But there was -- you refinance those deals. There's no more money coming into Acis. There was -- no more moneys gonna be paid to Highland. You finance those deals over the next 60 days, Highland got nothing for its $9 million.
Was Highland supposed to give $9 million to Acis for nothing? There's no -- there was no value, and the value that was to be given to Highland was never gonna happen. $3 million was a gift. That loan -- that -- that note for the next 60 days wasn't gonna be worth a million dollars.

Q. And I guess I'm wondering what hat you're wearing when you're talking about whether that was a good asset or not. Are you talking about -- are you wearing your hat as -- as Highland's president or it wasn't a good asset as Acis's president?

MR. CRUCIANI: Objection; vague.

A. The responsibility to the investors trump it all. Beyond that, there needs to be fairness and spirit of agreements between related entities, especially when Highland is the dominant partner in all of them, right? You know, there needs -- there needs to be fairness, and trying to pay one entity that Highland owns all of $9 million it doesn't deserve from another entity that Highland controls more of wouldn't be fair. You have to look at things in the context of facts and circumstances and what's happened since and over time.

Q. (BY MR. SHAW) But that's the deal you struck. I mean, you struck it on both sides of that deal. You gave -- you gave High -- you gave Acis a note from Highland for $12.6 million that had -- was not -- did not have any precondition about the payments. It was just due.

And so that's what I don't understand. How was that not a good asset, that promissory note that was transferred out? It's a promise to pay. It's not conditioned on the performance of the CLOs.

A. And there's facts and circumstances, and Acis was supposed to pay an annuity stream equal to more than the $12 million for Highland to pay the $12 million back. It was a tax transaction. It was never an economic transaction there.

Q. But even presuming what you're saying is true, that -- that it was a bad deal for Highland, tough luck, Highland, right? If you struck a bad deal, you gave them a $12 million promissory note that you say ended up not being a good deal, doesn't mean that you can just transfer the asset out, does it?

A. That's -- I don't want to repeat myself anymore.

Q. So going back to it, why not go out and say, hey, we've got this $9 million promissory note that Highland Capital Management is the maker on, what would this sell for out on the market?

A. We didn't do that.

Page 124

MR. SHAW: Just a three-minute break, and then I'm probably done.

THE WITNESS: I don't -- I don't need a break.

MR. CRUCIANI: Well, let's keep going.

MR. SHAW: Well, I want a break, so I can take a break when I want one.

MR. CRUCIANI: You can, but let's keep it -- and I think we're almost out of time.

So how much time do we have?

THE VIDEOGRAPHER: You have 11 minutes left.

MR. SHAW: All right.

MR. CRUCIANI: Okay. Is three minutes enough?

MR. SHAW: All right. Just -- let me just clean up. I may -- I might be done, Mr. Dondero.

MR. CRUCIANI: Okay. Fair enough.

THE VIDEOGRAPHER: We're off the record at 5:36 p.m.

(A recess was taken from 5:36 p.m. to 5:41 p.m.)

THE VIDEOGRAPHER: We are back on the record. The time is approximately 5:41 p.m.

Page 125

Q. (BY MR. SHAW) What entities do you believe have claims against Mr. Terry with regard to the filing of the involuntary petitions?

MR. CRUCIANI: Objection; calls for speculation, calls for a legal conclusion.

Instruct you not to answer to the extent it's based on discussions with counsel.

A. I can't answer, given that.

Q. (BY MR. SHAW) What entities do you believe have claims against Clouse Dunn by virtue of the filing of the involuntary bankruptcy petitions?

MR. CRUCIANI: Same question; object as calling for speculation, calling for a legal conclusion.

Instruct you not to answer to the extent it's based on discussions with counsel.

A. Yeah, same answer. I -- you guys are smart. You can put it together, but I can't say anything.

MR. SHAW: Pass the witness.

MR. CRUCIANI: Okay. Shall we? Thanks, guys.

MR. SHAW: Thank you.

THE VIDEOGRAPHER: We are off the record. The time is approximately 5:42 p.m.

Page 126

THE COURT REPORTER: I have a question.

MR. CRUCIANI: Yes, ma'am.

THE COURT REPORTER: Would you like the witness to read and sign?

MR. CRUCIANI: Yes. I know it's expedited, but we'd like the witness to read and sign.

The draft Offering Memorandum ("Offering Memorandum") for Highland CLO Funding, Ltd. (the "Company") has been prepared by Highland Capital Management, L.P. for persons reasonably believed by it to be of the kind to whom it is permitted to give preliminary information about the investment proposition described therein. It is a confidential communication to, and solely for the use of, the recipient.

The information contained in the Offering Memorandum is subject to updating, completion, modification and amendment. The purpose of the Offering Memorandum is to give initial detail in order to gauge investor interest, so that the parties concerned can decide whether to bring the project to the point where a formal proposal may be put to investors.

The Offering Memorandum does not constitute an offer or solicitation to anyone in any jurisdiction, and may not be used for the purposes of any such offer or solicitation in any jurisdiction, in which such offer or solicitation is not authorised, or to any person to whom it is unlawful to make such offer or solicitation. Therefore, no person receiving a copy of the Offering Memorandum may treat it as constituting an offer or invitation to him to buy investments, nor may he copy it for transmission to another person. If, however, an offer to sell investments is made in the future, it will be subject only to information circulated at the time in the final offering memorandum.

No person (unless otherwise expressly authorised by the Company) has been authorised to make any representations or give any information with respect to the shares of the Company (the "Shares") except the information contained therein, and any information or representation not contained therein (unless otherwise expressly authorised by the Company) must not be relied upon as having been authorised. Neither the delivery of the Offering Memorandum nor the issue of Shares shall, under any circumstances, create any implication that there has been no change in the affairs of the Company since the date of the Offering Memorandum.

Applications to subscribe for Shares described in the Offering Memorandum may only be made, and will only be considered, on the basis of the final offering memorandum, the final application form and the articles of association of the Company, and the contents of the Offering Memorandum are qualified in their entirety by each such document. In the event of any conflict between the contents of the Offering Memorandum and the final offering memorandum (or any supplements thereto, if any), the contents of the final offering memorandum (including any supplements thereto) will prevail; in the event of any conflict between the contents of the final offering memorandum (or any supplements thereto) and the final application form, the final application form will prevail; in the event of any conflict between the contents of the final offering memorandum (or any supplements thereto) and the final articles of association of the Company, the contents of the final articles of association of the Company will prevail.

It is the responsibility of every person reading the Offering Memorandum to satisfy himself as to the full observance of the laws of any country relevant to him, including obtaining any government or other consent which may be required, and/or observing any other formality which needs to be observed in that country.

The Offering Memorandum is written for the benefit of the category of persons described above. It is not addressed to any other person and may not be used by them for any purpose whatsoever. It expresses no views as to the suitability of the investments described therein to the individual circumstances of any recipient.

THIS DOCUMENT IS IMPORTANT AND REQUIRES YOUR IMMEDIATE ATTENTION. If you are in any doubt as to the action you should take or the contents of this document, you are recommended to seek your own independent financial advice immediately from your stockbroker, bank, solicitor, accountant, or other appropriate independent financial adviser, who is authorised under the Financial Services and Markets Act 2000, as amended ("FSMA") if you are in the United Kingdom, or from another appropriately authorised independent financial adviser if you are in a territory outside the United Kingdom.

A copy of this document, which comprises an offering memorandum (the "Offering Memorandum") relating to Highland CLO Funding, Ltd. (the "Company") in connection with the issue of Placing Shares in the Company, is available at the Company's registered office upon request.

The Placing Shares are only suitable for investors: (i) who understand the potential risk of capital loss and that there may be limited liquidity in the underlying investments of the Company; (ii) for whom an investment in the Placing Shares is part of a diversified investment programme; and (iii) who fully understand and are willing to assume the risks involved in such an investment programme. It should be remembered that the price of the Placing Shares and the income from them can go down as well as up and that investors may not receive, on the sale or cancellation of the Placing Shares, the amount that they invested.

The Company and its directors (whose names appear in the section of this Offering Memorandum entitled "Company Directors and Administration") (the "Directors") accept responsibility for the information contained in this Offering Memorandum. To the best of the knowledge of the Company and the Directors (who have taken all reasonable care to ensure that such is the case), the information contained in the Offering Memorandum is in accordance with the facts and contains no omission likely to affect its import. The Directors have taken all reasonable care to ensure that the facts stated in the Offering Memorandum are true and accurate in all material respects, and that there are no other facts the omission of which would make misleading any statement in this Offering Memorandum, whether of facts or of opinion. All the Directors accept responsibility accordingly.

Potential investors should read the whole of this Offering Memorandum when considering an investment in the Placing Shares and, in particular, attention is drawn to the section of this Offering Memorandum entitled "Risk Factors" on pages [•] to [•] of this Offering Memorandum.

SUMMARY

The following is an overview of the transaction structure and is qualified in its entirety by, and should be read in conjunction with, the more detailed information appearing elsewhere in this Offering Memorandum and related documents referred to herein. Capitalised terms not specifically defined in this Offering Memorandum have the meanings set out in the section of this Offering Memorandum entitled "Definitions" below. For a discussion of certain risk factors to be considered in connection with an investment in the Shares, see "Risk Factors".

The Company:

Highland CLO Funding, Ltd. (formerly known as Acis Loan Funding, Ltd.) (the "Company") is a closed-ended investment company limited by shares incorporated on 30 March 2015 under the laws of Guernsey with registered number 60120. The Company changed its name from Acis Loan Funding, Ltd. to Highland CLO Funding, Ltd. on [●], 2017.

The Company holds a partial, indirect ownership in Highland CLO Management, LLC ("Highland CLO Management"), a Delaware series limited liability company established to manage Highland CLOs, act as a "majority-owned affiliate" for purposes of the U.S. Risk Retention Rules and as an "originator" for purposes of EU Retention Requirements and to hold with respect to Highland CLOs the required risk retention interests required under, and in accordance with, the U.S. Retention Rules and/or the EU Retention Requirements, as applicable (such interests with respect to any CLO, the applicable "Retention Interest"). Highland CLO Management is also partly held (on an indirect basis) by Highland Capital Management, L.P. ("Highland"), a Delaware limited partnership, which controls the major economic decisions of Highland CLO Management.

The Company holds a partial, indirect ownership in ACIS CLO Management, LLC ("Acis CLO Management" and together with Highland CLO Management, the "CLO Management Companies" and each, a "CLO Management Company"), a Delaware series limited liability company established to manage Acis CLO 2017-7, Ltd. ("Acis CLO 7"), act as a "majority-owned affiliate" for purposes of the U.S. Risk Retention Rules and to hold the Retention Interests with respect to Acis CLO 7 required under, and in accordance with, the U.S. Retention Rules. Acis CLO Management is also partly held (on an indirect basis) by Acis Capital Management, L.P. ("Acis"), a Delaware limited partnership, which controls the major economic decisions of Acis CLO Management.

Investment Objective:

The Company's investment objective is to provide Shareholders with stable and growing income returns, and to grow the capital value of the investment portfolio through opportunistic exposure to CLO Notes, investments in new issue CLOs sponsored by Highland and Acis CLO 7 through its interests in the Management Companies and CLO Income Notes, respectively, and senior secured loans primarily for the purpose of enabling Highland CLO Management to qualify as an "originator" for purposes of the EU Retention Requirements, on both a direct basis and indirect basis, through the use of the investments described in its investment policy and through use of leverage, including ~~repurchase facilities and~~, any Revolving Credit Facility, Warehouse Loan Facilities, total return swaps or repurchase agreements, in addition to secured loan facilities.

- a limit on the weighted average life of the portfolio;
- a limit on the weighted average rating of the portfolio;
- a limit on the maximum amount of portfolio assets with a rating lower than B-/B3/B-; and
- a limit on the minimum diversity of the portfolio.
- a limit on the minimum weighted average of the prescribed rating agency recovery rate;
- a limit on the minimum amount of senior secured assets;
- a limit on the maximum aggregate exposure to second lien loans, high yield bonds, mezzanine loans and unsecured loans;
- a limit on the maximum portfolio exposure to covenant-lite loans;
- an exclusion of project finance loans;
- an exclusion of structured finance securities;
- an exclusion on investing in the debt of companies domiciled in countries with a local currency sub investment grade rating; and
- an exclusion of leases.

The above are not intended to be an exhaustive list of the eligibility criteria and portfolio limits within a typical CLO and the inclusion or exclusion of such limits and their absolute levels are subject to change depending on market conditions.

Act as Risk Retention Provider

The Company may also invest in, provide loans to, or purchase performance-linked notes from, asset management subsidiaries, affiliated with the Company, Highland, Acis or the Management Companies and which may act as the asset manager of certain U.S. or European CLOs in order to satisfy the U.S. Risk Retention Rules or EU Retention Requirements.

Allocation of Investment Opportunities

Highland CLO Management will serve as CLO Manager to each newly-issued Highland CLO during the Investment Period.

During the Investment Period, the Company shall receive priority allocations with respect to all CLO Income Note investment opportunities with respect to new issue Highland CLOs, over the account of the Portfolio Manager, its affiliates and other clients, including other investment funds and client accounts, including those which follow an investment program substantially similar to that of the Business (such other clients, funds and accounts, collectively, the "Other Accounts"). For the avoidance of doubt, the Portfolio Manager shall otherwise allocate investment opportunities among the Company and Highland and its affiliates and Other Accounts in accordance with its allocation policy which requires allocations among clients to be fair and equitable over time. See "Risk Factors—Risks Relating to Conflicts of Interest—The Company will be subject to various conflicts of interest involving the Portfolio Manager and its affiliates".

Investment Restrictions:

During the Investment Period, the Company may invest up to $250,000,000 in CLO Income Notes for new Highland CLOs as follows: (a) up to $150,000,000 in the aggregate from new capital contributions; and (b) up to $100,000,000 in the aggregate from proceeds received from existing seed portfolio investments and investments in new Highland CLOs, net of dividends paid, and amortization and interest payments on Company borrowings from committed credit facilities.

The Company may, without the consent of the Advisory Board, invest in any CLO Notes or CLO Income Notes of new Highland CLOs (a) pursuant to which Highland, Highland CLO Management or any of its affiliates does not charge subordinate management fees in excess of 0.00%, senior management fees in excess of 0.15% or incentive management fees in excess of 0.00% or (b) does not have a reinvestment period longer than 5 years (such CLOs, "Qualifying CLOs"); provided that, if the Portfolio Manager has provided reasonable evidence to the Advisory Board that a substantial portion of new issue CLOs have reinvestment periods longer than 5 years (the "RP Condition"), the consent of the Advisory Board to invest in any Highland CLO that meets clause (a) of the definition of Qualifying CLOs only shall not be unreasonably withheld, conditioned or delayed.

During the Investment Period, the Company shall be permitted to invest in a "reset" with respect to the following CLOs (which may extend the re-investment period and/or term of such CLOs) managed by Highland affiliates (the "Designated CLO Resets"):

Acis CLO 2013-1, Ltd.
Acis CLO 2015-6, Ltd.

During the Investment Period, the Company shall be permitted to invest in a refinancing with respect to the following CLOs (which may not extend the re-investment period or term of such CLOs) managed by Highland affiliates (the "Designated CLO Refinancings"):

Acis CLO 2014-3, Ltd.
Acis CLO 2014-4, Ltd.
Acis CLO 2014-5, Ltd.
Acis CLO 2017-7, Ltd.

For the avoidance of doubt, following the expiration of the Investment Period, the Company shall not consummate an investment in any "reset" with respect to CLO Income Notes held by the Company.

The Company shall not invest in the CLO Income Notes of a new issue Highland CLO unless it is the 100% owner of the CLO Income Notes not forming part of the Retention Interest acquired by Highland CLO Management.

Indirect Actions

Neither the Portfolio Manager nor the Company may take any action indirectly through controlled subsidiaries that either the Portfolio Manager or the Company is not permitted to undertake directly as set forth herein.

Borrowing:

It is expected that the Company will have access to one or more committed credit facilities and will use advances under such facilities, together with the proceeds of the Shares, to purchase future senior secured loans (for the primary purpose of enabling Highland CLO Management to qualify as an "originator" for purposes of the EU Retention Requirements) or other assets. Such facilities may take the form of any Revolving Credit Facility, Warehouse Loan Facilities, total return swaps or repurchase agreements, in addition to secured loan facilities. In addition to such facilities, the Company will be permitted to borrow money for day to day administration and cash management purposes.

Borrowing Limits

Notwithstanding the foregoing or anything to the contrary set forth herein, as of the time any such debt is incurred, the Company's maximum gross leverage exposure (excluding the Warehouse Loan Facilities) pursuant to (a) committed secured loan facilities and any other borrowing (other than described in clause (b)) shall not exceed the greater of (x) 15% of the Company's gross asset value and (y) $50,000,000, and (b) repurchase agreements shall not exceed 75% of the Company's gross asset value.

For purposes of the limits regarding repurchase agreements set forth in clause (b) above, the "gross asset value" of the Company shall exclude financing for CLO Notes held by a Management Company as part of a "vertical" Retention Interest (including for the Designated CLO Resets), the NexBank Credit Facility, any Warehouse Loan Facilities and cash equivalents.

Warehouse Loan Facilities

One or more multi-currency warehouse lending facilities may be entered into from time to time between (i) the Company and (ii) a warehouse provider (the "Warehouse Loan Facilities"), pursuant to which the Company is able to draw multi-currency loans from time to time in order to purchase assets for its portfolio. The Warehouse Loan Facilities will be entered into on market standard terms, as negotiated between the Company and the relevant warehouse provider in each case and will include a senior security package in favour of the warehouse provider.

Hedging and Derivatives

The Company may use hedging or derivatives (both long and short) for the purposes of efficient portfolio management (other than with respect to credit risk under or associated with the CLO Retention Notes).

Repurchase Agreements

The Company may not use repurchase agreements to finance the purchase of CLO Income Notes, however, the may pledge any already owned CLO Income Notes as additional collateral under repurchase agreements.

Revolving Credit Facility

The Company may enter into a secured revolving credit facility with a committed amount of ~~$15,000,000~~50,000,000 for working capital purposes (a "Revolving Credit Facility")

NexBank Credit Facility

The Company currently has a secured term credit facility provided by NexBank SSB, a Texas savings bank, with a principal amount of ~~$23,000,000~~22,158,337, as of September 30, 2017 (the "NexBank Credit Facility"). The Company may, from time to time, increase its borrowing under the NexBank Credit Facility up to a maximum principal amount of $30,000,000 at any time without the consent of the Advisory Board, but subject to the limitations set forth above in "—Borrowing Limits".

Advisory Board:

The Company shall form and assemble an advisory board (the "Advisory Board") composed of individuals who shall be representatives of certain Shareholders selected by Highland in its sole discretion in order to (a) provide advice to Highland with respect to certain issues involving conflicts of interest in any transaction or relationship between the Company and Highland or any of its employees or affiliates that are presented to the Advisory Board by Highland, and (b) be required to approve the following actions:

- Any extension of the Investment Period;
- Any extension of the Term (other than an automatic extension following an extension of the Investment Period that has been approved by the Advisory Board);
- Any allotment of additional equity securities by the Company; and
- Any investment in a Related Obligation or any other transaction between the Company or any entity in which the Company holds a direct or indirect interest, on the one hand, and Highland or any of its affiliates, on the other hand.

Notwithstanding the foregoing or anything to the contrary set forth herein, no transaction that is specifically authorized in the governing documents of the Company shall require approval of the Advisory Board, including, without limitation, sales or securitizations of all or a portion of the Company's loan portfolio into new Qualifying CLOs and investments in CLO Notes issued by CLOs managed by Highland affiliates and the NexBank Credit Facility.

Notwithstanding the foregoing or anything to the contrary set forth herein, without the consent of the Advisory Board, the Company may raise additional funds, including through the allotment of additional equity securities (subject to the pre-emption rights of the Shareholders to invest in such additional equity securities pro rata) or acceptance of contributions, if determined by the Board of Directors to be necessary to protect the Company, consistent with the Board's duties to the Company.

No voting member of the Advisory Board shall be a controlled affiliate of Highland.

Each member of the Advisory Board shall owe no fiduciary or other duties to the Company or the shareholders and may act solely in the interest of the shareholder that it represents.

Neither the Advisory Board nor any member thereof shall have the power to bind or act for or on behalf of the Company in any manner, and no shareholder who appoints a member of the Advisory Board shall be deemed to be an affiliate of the Company or Highland solely by reason of such appointment.

Investment Period:

The Company's assets may be invested and, subject to the terms and conditions set forth in the "Dividend Policy" section below, reinvested for a period commencing on the Closing Date of the Placing and ending on [April 30, 2020] (the "Investment Period"), subject to two additional one-year extensions with the consent of the Advisory Board (as hereinafter defined) and the Portfolio Manager; provided that the Term will automatically be extended by an identical length of time in the event of an extension of the Investment Period.

Termination of Investment Period following Key Person Event

The Portfolio Manager will promptly provide each Shareholder with written notice in the event that any three of James Dondero, Mark Okada, Trey Parker or Hunter Covitz (the "Key Persons") cease to devote such time to the affairs of the Company as is sufficient to effectively manage the operations of the Company (a "Key Person Event"), as determined by the Portfolio Manager in its reasonable discretion, taking into account such factors as it shall deem relevant in its reasonable discretion. The Portfolio Manager will promptly provide each Shareholder with written notice in the event of the termination of employment of any Key Person. From and after the occurrence of a Key Person Event, until the 60th day following the date of the applicable notice to the Shareholders (or until earlier reinstatement of the Investment Period, if applicable), the Company (or the Portfolio Manager, on behalf of the Company) may not enter into a letter of intent, written agreement in principle or legally binding agreement to make any acquisition of any investment and the Portfolio Manager may not deliver any drawdown notice for any new Commitments, and may only deliver a drawdown notice that would otherwise be permitted to be delivered by the Portfolio Manager following the termination of the Investment Period.

The Investment Period will be terminated effective on the 60th day following the date of notice to the Shareholders of a Key Person Event unless, on or before such 60th day (i) the Portfolio Manager obtains or receives notice of the written election or vote of the Advisory Board to reinstate the Investment Period, or (ii) one or more Qualified Replacements (as defined below) are appointed in place of (or in addition to) the then existing Key Persons to cure the Key Person Event, in which event the Investment Period will continue until its termination as otherwise described herein without further regard to such Key Person Event.

For purposes of this Offering Memorandum, a "Qualified Replacement" means a person nominated by the Portfolio Manager and approved by the [Advisory Board], such approval not to be unreasonably withheld, conditioned or delayed, as a replacement for any existing Key Person or as an additional Key Person.

Term:

The term of the Company will commence on the date of the Placing and will end (and the Company thereafter will be wound up and dissolved) on the ten-year anniversary of the date of the Placing (the "Term"), subject to (a) automatic extension in the event of an extension of the Investment Period and (b) two additional one-year extension with the consent of the Portfolio Manager and the Advisory Board, or such earlier date after the end of the Investment Period on which the Portfolio Manager determines to terminate and wind up the Company following the receipt by the Company of all amounts reasonably expected by the Portfolio Manager to be received with respect to the Company's assets or the sale thereof during the term and in a manner that will not cause the Company, Highland, Acis, the Management Companies or any subsidiary thereof to violate any applicable law or contract.

The Company has been established as a closed-ended vehicle. Accordingly, there is no right or entitlement attaching to Shares that allows them to be redeemed or repurchased by the Company at the option of the Shareholder. [NTD: Articles to be amended to reflect closed end term.]

Placing Arrangements – Investment Period Subscription Commitment:

[The Company is seeking aggregate subscriptions to purchase Placing Shares in an aggregate amount of up to approximately $[●] million.

Placees will commit under the subscription agreements to purchase Shares to be settled from time to time during the Investment Period. The Portfolio Manager may call such Shares for settlement from time to time on a pro rata basis upon 10 Business Days' notice to the Placees in such amounts as may be specified by the Portfolio Manager.

Upon the expiration of the Investment Period, all Placees will be released from any further obligation with respect to purchase Shares under their subscriptions, except to the extent necessary to:

(i) complete the purchase of Shares pursuant to written commitments, letters of intent or similar contractual commitments that were in process as of the end of the Investment Period; and

(ii) fund any indebtedness of the Company permitted hereunder incurred prior to the end of the Investment Period (including to repay outstanding indebtedness under any Warehouse Loan Facilities).

Shares will be issued at a price ~~equal to U.S. $1.00~~ per Share based on the then current NAV of the Company.

The maximum number of Shares to be issued by the Company is [●] million and the minimum number is [●] million. Fractions of Placing Shares will not be issued.

On the Closing Date, Placees will acquire ~~of~~ Shares of existing Shareholders at a price per Share based on the current NAV of the Company such that Placees and existing Shareholders will hold currently existing Shares on a pro rata basis and existing Shareholders will commit, as Placees under subscription agreements, to purchase Shares such that new and existing Shareholders will hold both existing Shares and commitments on pro rata basis.

The Board may deduct from any dividend payable to any Shareholder on or in respect of a Share all sums of money (if any) presently payable by him to the Company on account of calls with respect to existing Shares, or calls of commitments to purchase Shares pursuant to the subscription agreements or otherwise.

The Board may retain any dividend or other monies payable on or in respect of a Share on which the Company has a lien and may apply the same in or towards satisfaction of the liabilities or obligations in respect of which the capacities, any person who serves at the request of the Portfolio Manager or the Board pursuant to the Articles, on behalf of the Company as an officer, director, manager, partner, member, employee, stockholder, agent or legal representative of any other person serving at the request of the Portfolio Manager or the Board pursuant to the Articles on behalf of the Company in such capacity as listed above, each member of the Advisory Board and each member of any subcommittee thereof (including, solely in connection with matters relating to the Advisory Board or such subcommittee, the Shareholder and/or other person on whose behalf the Advisory Board member or subcommittee member is serving and such Shareholder's and/or other person's affiliates) and any assignees or successors of the foregoing (each, an "Indemnified Person") will incur no liability to the Company or any Shareholder in the absence of a finding by any court or governmental body of competent jurisdiction in a final, non-appealable judgment that the commission by such person of an action, or the omission by such person to take an action, constitutes bad faith, gross negligence or wilful misconduct (a "Triggering Event"), except as otherwise required by applicable law. Any claims arising from a Triggering Event shall be limited to actual out-of-pocket damages incurred as a direct consequence of the Triggering Event, and shall not include punitive, consequential or other damages or lost profits.

Indemnification:

To the fullest extent permitted by applicable law, the Company will be required to indemnify each Indemnified Person for any losses, claims, damages or liabilities incurred by such Indemnified Person or to which such Indemnified Person may be subject by reason of its activities in connection with the conduct of the business or affairs of the Fund and/or a Portfolio Company, unless such losses result from an Indemnified Person's Triggering Event.

The Indemnified Persons shall be entitled to advancement of expenses as they are incurred in connection with the investigation, defence or resolution of any claim that may be subject to indemnification, subject to providing an undertaking to repay any amounts ultimately determined not to be subject to indemnification due to a Triggering Event.

Each member of the Advisory Board and each member of any subcommittee thereof and, solely in connection with matters relating to the Advisory Board or such subcommittee, the Shareholder and/or other person or entity on whose behalf such Advisory Board member or subcommittee member serves, will have the benefit of similar exculpation and indemnification rights unless it has not acted in good faith.

Notwithstanding the foregoing or anything to the contrary set forth herein, the Company will not provide for the exculpation or indemnification of any Indemnified Person for any liability (including liability under U.S. federal securities laws which, under certain circumstances, impose liability even on persons that act in good faith), to the extent that such liability may not be waived, modified or limited under applicable law.

Press Releases:

Neither the Portfolio Manager, the Company nor any Shareholder shall~~,~~ issue or approve any press release or other announcement referring to the identity of a Shareholder without the prior written consent of the ~~Portfolio Manager and a majority of the Shareholders, issue or approve any press release or other announcement referring to the Company, the Shareholders or the matters contemplated in this Offering Memorandum~~applicable Shareholder.

Retention Requirements, the relevant CLO Retention Notes will not be permitted to be sold, transferred or liquidated during this time. In addition, even after an early redemption option is permitted to be exercised, such an option usually contains a number of conditions to its exercise including, but not limited to, a threshold that the liquidation value of the CLO collateral exceed an amount which would pay (a) all expenses of the CLO and (b) principal and accrued interest on the CLO Notes senior to the CLO Income Notes. If the liquidation value of the portfolio will not achieve this threshold at the time the Company intends to exercise its early redemption option, the CLO will not be able to be optionally redeemed by the Company at such time. In such circumstances, the Company or the applicable Management Company may not redeem the CLO Retention Notes until their final stated maturity (which may be in excess of 12 years), therefore producing no proceeds to pay to Shareholders until this point.

Potential non-compliance with or changes to the United States and European risk retention requirements

The purchase and retention of the CLO Retention Notes in a CLO will be undertaken by the Company or the applicable Management Company with the intention of achieving compliance with the U.S. Risk Retention Rules and/or the EU Retention Requirements by the relevant CLO.

The U.S. Risk Retention Rules and/or EU Retention Requirements may be amended, supplemented or revoked from time to time. There is no guarantee that existing CLOs or future CLOs will be grandfathered into the regime which results from such amendments, supplements or revocations and, as such, the CLOs in which the applicable Management Company is retaining the CLO Retention Notes, may become non-compliant with the U.S. Risk Retention Rules and/or EU Retention Requirements.

Liability for breach of a risk retention letter

The arranger of a CLO and certain other parties of a CLO in which a Management Company agrees to hold the CLO Retention Notes (in such capacity, the "Retention Holder") will require the applicable Management Company to execute a risk retention letter. Under a risk retention letter the applicable Retention Holder will typically be required to, amongst other things, make certain representations, warranties and undertakings: (a) in relation to its acquisition and retention of the CLO Retention Notes for the life of the CLO; and (b) regarding its agreement to sell assets to the relevant CLO from time to time. If the applicable Retention Holder sells or is forced to sell the CLO Retention Notes prior to the maturity of the relevant CLO, or the applicable Retention Holder holds insufficient cash or investments to continually sell the assets to the CLO as described above or for any other reason the applicable Retention Holder is not considered to be an "originator" (as such term is defined in the CRR), the Company may be in breach of the terms of the related risk retention letter. In such circumstances the arranger of the relevant CLO and the other parties to the related risk retention letter would have recourse to the applicable Retention Holder for losses incurred as a result of such breach. Such claims may reduce, or entirely diminish any cash or assets of the Company which may have been available to make payments on the Shares.

[RISKS RELATING TO HIGHLAND AND ACIS

Past Performance Not Indicative of Future Results

The past performance of Highland and Acis and their principals and affiliates in other portfolios or investment vehicles, including, without limitation ~~its~~their outstanding CLO transactions, ~~[Hewett's Island CLO I-R, ACIS CLO 2013-1, ACIS CLO 2013-2, ACIS CLO 2014-3, ACIS CLO 2014-4, ACIS CLO 2014-5, ACIS CLO 2015-6 and ACIS CLO 2017-7] [To be updated to include Highland Legacy CLOs]~~ may not be indicative of the results that the Company may be able to achieve. Similarly, the past performance of Highland, Acis and their principals and affiliates over a particular period may not necessarily be indicative of the results that may be expected in future periods. Furthermore, the nature of, and risks associated with, the Company's investments may differ substantially from those investments and strategies undertaken historically by Highland, Acis and their principals and affiliates. There can be no assurance that Highland's or Acis' investment recommendations will perform as well as past investments of Highland or Acis or their principals and affiliates, that the Company will be able to avoid losses or that the Company will be able to make investments similar to the past investments of Highland, Acis and their principals and affiliates. In addition, such past investments may have been made utilizing a leveraged capital structure, an asset mix and fee arrangements that are different from the anticipated capital structure, asset mix and fee arrangements of the Company. Moreover, because the investment criteria that govern investments in the Company's portfolio do not govern the investments and investment strategies of Highland,

As part of their regular business, Highland, its affiliates and their respective officers, directors, trustees, shareholders, members, partners, personnel and employees and their respective funds and investment accounts (collectively, the "Related Parties") hold, purchase, sell, trade or take other related actions both for their respective accounts and for the accounts of their respective clients, on a principal or agency basis, with respect to loans, securities and other investments and financial instruments of all types. Highland, its affiliates and their respective officers, directors, shareholders, members, partners, personnel and employees also provide investment advisory services, among other services, and engage in private equity, real estate and capital markets-oriented investment activities. The Related Parties will not be restricted in their performance of any such services or in the types of debt or equity investments which they may make. The Related Parties may have economic interests in or other relationships with obligors or issuers in whose obligations or securities or credit exposures the Company and/or the Managed CLOs may invest. In particular, the Related Parties may make and/or hold an investment in an obligor's or issuer's securities that may be pari passu, senior or junior in ranking to an investment in such obligor's or issuer's securities made and/or held by the Company and/or the Managed CLOs, or in which partners, security holders, members, officers, directors, agents, personnel or employees of such Related Parties serve on boards of directors or otherwise have ongoing relationships. Each of such ownership and other relationships may result in securities laws restrictions on transactions in such securities by the Company and/or the Managed CLOs and otherwise create conflicts of interest for the Company and/or the Managed CLOs. In such instances, the Related Parties may in their discretion make investment recommendations and decisions that may be the same as or different from those made with respect to the Company's and/or the Managed CLOs' investments. In connection with any such activities described above, the Related Parties may hold, purchase, sell, trade or take other related actions in securities or investments of a type that may be suitable to be included as investments by the Company and/or Managed CLOs. Other than with respect to new issue Highland CLOs as described below, the Related Parties will not be required to offer such securities or investments to the Company or Managed CLOs or provide notice of such activities to the Company or Managed CLOs. In addition, in providing services under the Portfolio Management Agreement and the CLO Management Agreements, Highland may take into account its relationship or the relationships of its affiliates with obligors and their respective affiliates, which may create conflicts of interest. Furthermore, in connection with actions taken in the ordinary course of business of Highland in accordance with its fiduciary duties to its other clients, Highland may take, or be required to take, actions which adversely affect the interests of the Company and/or Managed CLOs. ~~The~~Except as otherwise set forth herein, including with respect to Qualifying CLOs, Designated CLO Resets, Designated CLO Refinancings and the NexBank Facility, the consent of the Advisory Board will be required with respect to transactions with any Related Party.

The Related Parties invested and may continue to make investments that would also be appropriate for the Company, Highland CLO Management, Highland CLO Management and/or the Highland CLOs. Such investments may be different from those recommended to the Company or made on behalf of the Highland CLOs, Highland CLO Management or Highland CLO Management. Neither Highland nor any Related Entity has any duty, in making or maintaining such investments, to act in a way that is favorable to the Company, Highland CLO Management, Highland CLO Management and/or the Manged CLOs or to offer any such opportunity to the Company, other than with respect to new issue Highland CLOs as described below, or the Managed CLOs. The investment policies, fee arrangements and other circumstances applicable to such other parties may vary from those applicable to the Company, Highland, Acis, the Management Companies and the Managed CLOs. Highland and/or any Related Entity may also provide advisory or other services for a customary fee to issuers or obligors whose debt obligations or other securities are held by the Company, Highland, Acis, the Management Companies and/or the Managed CLOs, and neither the Shareholders nor the Company shall have any right to such fees. Highland, Acis, the Management Companies and/or any Related Entity may also have ongoing relationships with, render services to or engage in transactions with other clients, including other issuers of collateralized loan obligations and collateralized debt obligations, who invest in assets of a similar nature to those of the Company, Highland, Acis, the Management Companies and/or the Managed CLOs, and with companies whose securities or loans are acquired by the Company, Highland, Acis, the Management Companies and/or the Managed CLOs, and may own equity or debt securities issued by obligors of debt held by the Company, Highland, Acis, the Management Companies and/or the Managed CLOs. In connection with the foregoing activities, Highland, Acis, the Management Companies and/or any Related Entity may from time to time come into possession of material nonpublic information that limits the ability of Highland to advise the Company or the Management Companies or effect a transaction for Managed CLOs, and the Company's, the Management Companies' and/or the Managed CLOs' investments may be constrained as a consequence of Highland's or Acis' inability to use such information for advisory purposes or otherwise to effect transactions that otherwise may have been initiated on behalf of its clients, including the Company, the Management Companies and/or the Managed CLOs. In addition, officers or affiliates of Highland, Acis and/or Related Parties may possess information relating to obligors of debt held by the Company, the Management Companies and/or the Managed CLOs that is not known to the individuals at Highland responsible for monitoring such investments and performing the other obligations under the Portfolio Management Agreement or CLO Management Agreements.

During the Investment Period, the Company shall receive priority allocations with respect to all CLO Income Note investment opportunities with respect to new issue Highland CLOs, over the account of the Portfolio Manager, its affiliates and Other Accounts. For the avoidance of doubt, the Portfolio Manager shall otherwise allocate investment opportunities among the Company and Highland and its affiliates and Other Accounts in accordance with its allocation policy which requires allocations among clients to be fair and equitable over time as described below. Highland, Acis and their affiliates may, from time to time, be presented with investment opportunities, other than with respect to new issue Highland CLOs during the Investment Period, that fall within the investment objectives of the Company, the Management Companies and/or the Managed CLOs and other clients, funds or other investment accounts managed by Highland, Acis or their affiliates, and in such circumstances, Highland, Acis and their affiliates expect to allocate such opportunities among the Company, the Management Companies and/or the Managed CLOs and such other clients, funds or other investment accounts on a basis that Highland, Acis and their affiliates determine in good faith is appropriate taking into consideration such factors as the fiduciary duties owed to the Company, the Management Companies, the Managed CLOs and such other clients, funds or other investment accounts, the primary mandates of the Company, the Management Companies, the Managed CLOs and such other clients, funds or other investment accounts, the capital available to the Company, the Management Companies, the Managed CLOs and such other clients, funds or other investment accounts, any restrictions on investment, the sourcing of the transaction, the size of the transaction, the amount of potential follow-on investing that may be required for such investment and the other investments of the Company, the Management Companies, the Managed CLOs and such other clients, funds or other investment accounts, the relation of such opportunity to the investment strategy of the Company, the Management Companies and/or the Managed CLOs and such other clients, funds or other investment accounts, reasons of portfolio balance and any other consideration deemed relevant by Highland, Acis and their affiliates in good faith. Subject to the Company's priority allocation with respect to new issue Highland CLOs, Highland will allocate investment opportunities across the entities for which such opportunities are appropriate, consistent with (1) its internal conflict of interest and allocation policies and (2) the requirements of the Investment Advisers Act. Highland will seek to allocate investment opportunities among such entities in a manner that is fair and equitable over time and consistent with its allocation policy. However, there is no assurance that such investment opportunities will be allocated to the Company, the Management Companies and/or the Managed CLOs fairly or equitably in the short term or over time and there can be no assurance that the Company, the Management Companies and/or any of the Managed CLOs will be able to participate in all such investment opportunities that are suitable for it.

Although the professional staff of Highland will devote as much time to the Company as Highland deems appropriate to perform its duties in accordance with the Portfolio Management Agreement and in accordance with reasonable commercial standards, the staff may have conflicts in allocating its time and services among the Company and Highland's other accounts.

The directors, officers, personnel, employees and agents of Highland and its Related Parties may, subject to applicable law, serve as directors (whether supervisory or managing), officers, personnel, employees, partners, agents, nominees or signatories, and receive arm's length fees in connection with such service, for the Company or entities that operate in the same or a related line of business as the Company or the Management Companies, or of other clients managed by Highland or its affiliates, or for any obligor or issuer in respect of the debt, equity securities or other investments held by the Company, the Management Companies and/or Managed CLOs, or any affiliate thereof, to the extent permitted by their governing instruments, or by any resolutions duly adopted by the Company, such other entities, or any obligor or issuer (or any affiliate thereof) in respect of any of the debt, equity securities or other investments held by the Company, the Management Companies and/or Managed CLOs pursuant to their respective governing instruments, and neither the Company, The applicable Management Company nor the Managed CLOs shall have the right to any such fees.

COMPANY, ITS INVESTMENT OBJECTIVE, POLICY AND STRATEGY

COMPANY

Highland CLO Funding, Ltd. (formerly known as Acis Loan Funding, Ltd.) (the "Company") was incorporated on 30 March 2015 and registered under the laws of Guernsey (registration number 60120) pursuant to the Companies Law. The Company changed its name on [•], 2017. The Company is an investment company established to provide its investors with exposure CLO Notes on both a direct basis and indirect basis and senior secured loans on an indirect basis, through the use of the investments described in its investment policy, including through the Management Companies.

The Company is seeking to raise in excess of U.S. $[•] million through the Placing to invest in accordance with its investment objective and policy. Applications to an appropriate securities exchange may be made when deemed appropriate by the Company.

Investment in the Company is only suitable for institutional, professional and high net worth investors, private client fund managers and brokers and other investors who understand the risks involved in investing in the Company and/or who have received advice from their fund manager or broker regarding investment in the Company.

INVESTMENT OBJECTIVE

The Company's investment objective is to provide Shareholders with stable and growing income returns, and to grow the capital value of the investment portfolio through opportunistic exposure to CLO Notes, investments in new issue CLOs sponsored by Highland and Acis CLO 7 through its interests in the Management Companies and CLO Income Notes, respectively, and senior secured loans primarily for the purpose of enabling Highland CLO Management to qualify as an "originator" for purposes of the EU Retention Requirements, on both a direct basis and indirect basis, through the use of the investments described in its investment policy and through use of leverage, ~~including repurchase facilities and~~any Revolving Credit Facility, Warehouse Loan Facilities, total return swaps or repurchase agreements, in addition to secured loan facilities.

Highland, in its capacity as the Portfolio Manager under the Portfolio Management Agreement, will manage the Company's investments. In addition, Highland, Highland CLO Management, or another affiliate of Highland, in the capacity of the CLO Manager, may also manage Highland CLOs and Highland, Acis, Acis CLO Management, or another affiliate of Acis, in the capacity of the CLO Manager, may also manage Managed CLOs, in each case, pursuant to CLO Management Agreements to be entered into from time to time.

INVESTMENT POLICY

Overview

The Company's investment policy is to focus on synergistic investments in the following areas.

Loan Investments

The Company will invest on an indirect basis in a diverse portfolio of predominantly floating rate senior secured loans (or on a direct basis for the primary purpose of enabling Highland CLO Management to qualify as an "originator" for purposes of the EU Retention Requirements), all of which will have at least one rating, which may be public or private, from Moody's, S&P or Fitch. Initially, the Company's loan investments will be focused in the U.S., but depending on market conditions the Company may also invest in similar types of loans in Europe. Accordingly, there is no limit on the maximum U.S. or European exposure. Investments in U.S. or European loans may be made through a U.S. or European originator subsidiary of the Company. The Company intends to invest directly only in those senior secured loans to obligors with total potential indebtedness under all applicable loan agreements, indentures and other underlying instruments at least $250,000,000 that would generally satisfy the eligibility criteria for Highland CLOs and set forth in "Summary—Investment Policy—Loan Investments".

Financing of Loan Portfolios / Securitization

It is intended that the Company will periodically seek to sell or securitise all or a portion of its loan portfolio, held directly or indirectly, into new Highland CLOs where Highland CLO Management acts as CLO Manager. In doing so, Highland CLO Management may seek to adopt the "originator" model to address the Origination Requirements (as defined below) applicable to such Highland CLOs to the extent such Highland CLOs sought to comply with EU Retention Requirements. As a result, Highland CLO Management, will be required to commit to: (a) establishing the relevant CLO and (b) selling certain loan investments to the relevant CLO which it has purchased for its own account initially. In addition, under current guidance, prior to closing date of the relevant CLO, Highland CLO Management expects to sell investments to the relevant CLO to satisfy the Origination Requirements.

CLO Notes

The Company will from time to time invest directly or indirectly (through affiliates and subsidiaries, including the Management Companies, as more fully described below) in CLO Notes issued by Managed CLOs or CLOs managed by other asset managers as set forth in "Summary—Investment Policy—CLO Notes".

The Company is currently invested in CLO Income Notes issued by Managed CLOs managed by Highland, Acis and Acis CLO Management. Following the Placing, the Company will invest indirectly through the Management Companies in CLO Notes.

Act as Risk Retention Provider

The Company may also invest in, provide loans to, or purchase performance-linked notes from asset management subsidiaries, affiliated with the Company, Highland or Acis and which may act as the asset manager of certain U.S. or European CLOs in order to satisfy certain U.S. Risk Retention Rules or EU Retention Requirements.

Allocation of Investment Opportunities

Highland CLO Management will serve as CLO Manager to each newly-issued Highland CLO during the Investment Period.

During the Investment Period, the Company shall receive priority allocations with respect to all CLO Income Note investment opportunities with respect to new issue Highland CLOs, over the account of the Portfolio Manager, its affiliates and Other Accounts as set forth in "Summary—Investment Policy—Allocation of Investment Opportunities".

INVESTMENT RESTRICTIONS

The Company will, at all times, invest and manage its assets in a way which is consistent with its object of spreading investment risk and in accordance with the investment policy set out in "—Investment Policy".

In the event of any breach of the Company's investment policy or of the investment restrictions applicable to the Company, Shareholders will be informed of the actions to be taken by the Company (at the time of such a breach) by an announcement issued by the Administrator.

During the Investment Period, the Company may invest up to $250,000,000 in CLO Income Notes for new Highland CLOs as follows: (a) up to $150,000,000 in the aggregate from new capital contributions; and (b) up to $100,000,000 in the aggregate from proceeds received from existing seed portfolio investments and investments in new Highland CLOs, net of dividends paid, and amortization and interest payments on Company borrowings from committed credit facilities.

The Company may, without the consent of the Advisory Board, invest in any CLO Notes or CLO equity of Qualifying CLOs as set forth in "Summary—Investment Restrictions"; provided that, if the Portfolio Manager has satisfied the RP Condition, the consent of the Advisory Board to invest in any Highland CLO that meets clause (a) of the definition of Qualifying CLOs only shall not be unreasonably withheld, conditioned or delayed.

During the Investment Period, the Company shall be permitted to invest in "resets" with respect to the Designated CLO Resets and refinancings with respect to the Designated CLO Refinancings, each as set forth in "Summary—Investment Restrictions".

The Company shall not invest in the CLO Income Notes of a new-issue Highland CLO unless it is the 100% owner of the ~~non-risk retention equity of such~~CLO Income Notes not forming part of the Retention Interest acquired by Highland CLO Management.

BORROWING

Subject to the limitations set forth in "Summary-Borrowing", it is expected that the Company will have access to one or more committed credit facilities. Such facilities may take the form of any Revolving Credit Facility, Warehouse Loan Facilities, total return swaps or repurchase agreements, in addition to secured loan facilities. It is expected that the Company will use advances under such facilities, together with the proceeds of the Shares, to purchase future senior secured loans (acquired for the primary purpose of enabling Highland CLO Management to qualify as an "originator" for purposes of the EU Retention Requirements) and other assets. In addition to such facilities, the Company will be permitted to borrow money for day to day administration and cash management purposes.

CHANGES TO INVESTMENT OBJECTIVE AND POLICY

Any material change to the investment objective and policy of the Company would be made only with the approval of Shareholders.

INVESTMENT STRATEGY

Whether the senior secured loans or other assets are held directly by the Company (with respect to senior secured loans for the purpose of enabling Highland CLO Management to qualify as an "originator" for purposes of the EU Retention Requirements) or indirectly via CLO Notes or its investment in the applicable Management Company it is the Company's intention that, in any case, the portfolios will be actively managed (by Highland, Acis, the applicable Management Company, an asset manager subsidiary or the applicable CLO Manager, as the case may be) to minimise default risk and potential loss through comprehensive credit analysis performed by Highland, Acis, the applicable Management Company or the applicable CLO Manager (as applicable).

Whilst the intention is to pursue an active, non-benchmark total return strategy, Highland as the Company's Portfolio Manager will be cognisant of the positioning of the loan portfolios against relevant indices. Accordingly, Highland will track the returns and volatility of such indices, while seeking to outperform them on a consistent basis. In-depth, fundamental credit research dictates name selection and sector over-weights/under-weights relative to the benchmark, backstopped by constant portfolio monitoring and risk oversight. Highland will typically look to diversify the Company's portfolios to avoid the risk that any one obligor or industry will adversely impact overall returns. The investment strategy also places an emphasis on loan portfolio liquidity to ensure that if the Company's credit outlook changes, it is free to respond quickly and effectively to reduce or mitigate risk in its portfolio. Highland believes this investment strategy will be successful in the future as a result of its emphasis on risk management, capital preservation and fundamental credit research. Highland believes the best way to control and mitigate risk is by remaining disciplined in market cycles, by making careful credit decisions and maintaining adequate diversification.

Leverage and Expected Returns

It is anticipated that any borrowing for the purpose of investing directly in senior secured loans (acquired for the primary purpose of enabling Highland CLO Management to qualify as an "originator" for purposes of the EU Retention Requirements) will be in the form of a term Warehouse Loan Facility, however the Company has entered into ~~a Revolving Credit Facility and~~ the NexBank Credit Facility and may enter into any Revolving Credit Facility, Warehouse Loan Facilities, total return swaps, repurchase agreements or other facilities to facilitate the acquisition or financing of loans. Loans purchased using such borrowings will typically be held for no more than 12 months before being sold to a Highland CLO. Except in relation to the CLO Retention Notes it holds, the Company may enter into hedging and derivatives transactions pursuant to its investment activities, for the purposes of efficient portfolio management.

To the extent the Company does not have available funds on hand to meet the Target Dividend with respect to any Quarterly Payment Date, the Portfolio Manager may suspend dividends if, in consultation with the Board of Directors, it determines that a sale of assets to produce proceeds to meet the Target Dividend would not be in the best interests of the Company and/or would not produce a sale price reflective of the value of the assets.

The Board may deduct from any dividend payable to any Shareholder on or in respect of a Share all sums of money (if any) presently payable by him to the Company on account of calls with respect to existing Shares, or calls of commitments to purchase Shares pursuant to the subscription agreements or otherwise.

The actual dividend generated by the Company in pursuing its investment objective will, however, depend on a wide range of factors including, but not limited to, general economic and market conditions, fluctuations in currency exchange rates, prevailing interest rates and credit spreads, the terms of the investments made by the Company and the risks highlighted in the "Risk Factors" section of this Offering Memorandum. Dividend payments may be suspended by the Portfolio Manager in its absolute discretion, including, without limitation, in the event of adverse, or perceived adverse, market conditions.

The Articles permit the Directors, in their absolute discretion, to offer a scrip dividend alternative to Shareholders when a cash dividend is declared from time to time. In the event a scrip dividend is offered in future, an electing Shareholder would be issued new, fully paid up Shares (or Shares sold from treasury) pursuant to the scrip dividend alternative. The scrip dividend alternative would be available only to those Shareholders to whom Shares might lawfully be marketed by the Company.

The Target Total Return and the Target Dividend should not be taken as an indication of the Company's expected future performance or results. The Target Total Return and the Target Dividend are targets only and there is no guarantee that they can or will be achieved and should not be seen as an indication of the Company's expected or actual return. Target returns are hypothetical and are neither guarantees nor predictions or projections of future performance. Actual events and conditions may differ materially from the assumptions used to establish the Target Total Return and Target Dividend. Accordingly, investors should not place any reliance on the Target Total Return or the Target Dividend in deciding whether to invest in Shares.

Furthermore, the future performance of the Company may be materially adversely affected by the risks discussed in the section of this Offering Memorandum entitled "Risk Factors".

FURTHER ISSUES OF SHARES

The Directors will have authority to allot further Shares in the share capital of the Company following the Placing. Further issues of Shares would only be made subject to consent of the Advisory Board, as described in "Summary—Advisory Board" if the Directors determine such issues to be necessary to protect the Company, consistent with the Board's duties to the Company, and in the best interests of Shareholders and the Company as a whole. Relevant factors in making such determination include net asset performance, share price rating and perceived investor demand. In the case of further issues of Shares (or sales of Shares from treasury), except as permitted by the Shareholders, such Shares will only be issued at prices which are not less than the then prevailing Net Asset Value per Share (as estimated by the Directors).

There are no provisions of Guernsey law which confer rights of pre-emption in respect of the allotment of Shares. The Articles, however, contain pre-emption rights in relation to allotments of Shares for cash.

VALUATION

Net Asset Value

As at the latest practicable date prior to the publication of this Offering Memorandum, the unaudited net asset value per share of the Net Asset Value was [●].

Publication of Net Asset Value

The Company intends to publish the Net Asset Value per Share as calculated in accordance with the process described below, on a quarterly basis (within 15 Business Days following the relevant month-end). Notice will be statement of comprehensive income, statement of financial position, statement of cash flows, statement of changes in equity, related notes and any additional information that the Board deems appropriate or that is required by applicable law.

It is expected that the CLOs and any Warehouse Loan Facilities established will not be consolidated in the Company's GAAP financial statements, although such assessment will depend on the facts and circumstances.

Any disclosures required to be made to Shareholders pursuant to the AIFMD will be contained either in the Company's periodic reports or communicated to Shareholders in written form.

INVESTMENT PROCESS

Highland as Portfolio Manager and CLO Manager

The Company has entered into a Portfolio Management Agreement with Highland as the Portfolio Manager. Pursuant to the Portfolio Management Agreement, Highland will, at its discretion, select the portfolio of investments and instruct the Custodian with respect to any acquisition, disposition or sale of investments and provide certain support services to the Company. The performance of the Company's portfolio will depend heavily on the skills of Highland in analyzing, selecting and managing the investments. The Portfolio Manager has entered into Service Agreements with ~~Acis~~Highland Capital Management, L.P. ~~(an affiliate of Highland)~~ under which the Portfolio Manager has agreed to make its investment research and recommendations and back-office support services available to Acis. Further details are set out in the section of this offering memorandum entitled "Investment Process" and "Additional Information on the Company".

Based in Dallas, Texas, Highland is an SEC Registered Investment Adviser founded in 1993 that specializes in senior secured bank loans, high yield bonds, structured products and equities. Highland issued its first CLO in 1996, and Highland and its affiliates have since issued and managed over U.S. $28 billion of CLOs and CDOs consisting of 40 separate vehicles. As of August 31, 2017, Highland and its affiliates, managed or serviced approximately U.S. $13.4 billion in senior secured bank loans, high yield bonds, structured products and other assets for banks, insurance companies, pension plans, foundations and high net worth individuals.

Highland, Acis and/or the Management Companies, may act as CLO Manager(s) in relation to the Managed CLOs pursuant to CLO Management Agreements. ~~As at [●], 2017, Acis and Acis CLO Management had U.S. $[●] billion of CLO assets under management.~~ Highland, Acis and/or the applicable Management Company as CLO Manager is responsible for purchasing and selling of collateral obligations and performing certain other advisory and administrative tasks for and on behalf of the Managed CLOs in each case subject to the provisions of the applicable CLO Management Agreement and any applicable provisions of the indenture.

Highland is an SEC Registered Investment Adviser and currently manages ~~[●][To be updated to include Highland Legacy CLOs].~~ CLOs and other managed accounts and investment funds. Highland CLO Management is a relying adviser of Highland and will manage Highland CLOs. Highland CLO Management has the HCLOM Service Agreements in place with Highland, pursuant to which Highland provides credit research and operational support to Highland CLO Management, including services in connection with determining the composition, nature and timing of changes to the Highland CLO Management portfolio, the due diligence of actual or potential investments, the execution of investment transactions approved by Highland CLO Management, and certain loan services and administrative services.

Acis is an SEC Registered Investment Adviser and currently manages ~~Hewett's Island CLO I-R, ACIS CLO 2013-1, ACIS CLO 2013-2, ACIS CLO 2014-3, ACIS CLO 2014-4, ACIS CLO 2014-5, ACIS CLO 2015-6~~CLOs and other managed accounts and investment funds. Acis CLO Management is a relying adviser of Acis and currently manages ACIS CLO 2017-7. Acis is an affiliate of Highland and is 100% owned by Highland senior management, and was established by James Dondero and Mark Okada to focus on managing traditional CLOs that invest in liquid, broadly syndicated bank loans and secondary CLO investments. Acis has the ACM Service Agreements in place with Highland, pursuant to which Highland provides investment research and recommendations and operational support to Acis, including services in connection with the Portfolio Manager's recommendations with respect to the composition, nature and timing of changes to the Company's portfolio, the due diligence of actual or potential investments, the execution of investment transactions, and certain loan services and administrative services. Acis CLO Management has the ACLOM Service Agreements in place with Acis, pursuant to which Acis provides credit research and operational support to Acis CLO Management, including services in connection with determining the composition, nature and timing of changes to the ACIS CLO Management portfolio, the due diligence of actual or potential investments, the execution of investment transactions approved by ACIS CLO Management, and certain loan services and administrative services. ~~Highland CLO Management has the HCLOM Service Agreements in place with Highland, pursuant to which Highland provides credit research and operational support to Highland CLO Management, including services in connection with determining the composition, nature and timing of changes to the Highland CLO Management portfolio, the due diligence of actual or potential investments, the execution of~~ ~~investment transactions approved by Highland CLO Management, and certain loan services and administrative services.~~ All final credit decisions are made by the Highland ~~and Acis~~ individuals referenced ~~above~~below.

Investment Philosophy

~~[Highland's investment philosophy combines bottom-up credit analysis with top-down sector rotation and technical trading considerations to optimize the risk-adjusted performance of collateral it manages. This process is a joint effort among Highland's Credit Research Team, Trading Desk and the Acis CLO Team.~~ Highland's investment philosophy centers on being investors first. The firm has 25 years of experience investing in alternative strategies through multiple cycles. Highland is a recognized pioneer in bank loan asset management and CLO issuance. The firm invests a meaningful amount of capital in the portfolios they manage, with market value in excess of $250 million invested alongside our clients, as of September 30, 2017.

Highland's investment philosophy is rooted in a value-driven approach that combines rigorous bottom-up credit underwriting with top-down risk analysis to optimize risk-adjusted performance of portfolios. The firm integrates risk management throughout its investment process and maintains a culture of a high level of compliance. Highland focuses on attractive risk/return arbitrage opportunities where the firm can add value. Highland seeks to generate alpha by implementing checks and balances that allow the firm to identify risks, mitigate volatility, and quickly ascertain and sell losers.

~~Highland's Credit Research Team is led by its Head of Credit Research, with three Managing Directors reporting directly to that individual. Each Managing Director is responsible for managing one to two specific industry sectors as well as managing one to four Directors of credit research that report to them. Each Director is responsible for managing one to three specific industry sectors, and on average Highland credit research analysts manage 20 to 25 credits per analyst. As conditions in the credit markets develop and Highland grows their assets under management, Highland will increase their investment staff as needed.~~While participating in the larger, liquid bank loan asset class, Highland continues to capture market inefficiencies in this over the counter (OTC) market through mispricings that it identifies via robust fundamental analysis, proactive diligence and monitoring, and nimble trading capabilities. Given the scale of the firm's investment resources, Highland is able to follow and manage investment portfolio names more closely. Highland credit research analysts manage 20-30 credits per analyst versus most peers, who manage 40-50 credits per analyst. In addition, the firm's dedicated trading desk and active dialogue with the Street enable Highland to identify technical dislocations and opportunities. The firm's high conviction investment philosophy and active portfolio management style versus peers have been key drivers of creating alpha for clients over time.

~~Highland believes this low credits per analyst ratio is optimal, as it allows each of its analysts to maintain regular dialogue with company management, financial sponsors, rating agency analysts, broker/dealer research analysts and traders, and other relevant parties to monitor each credit. Additionally, along with other advantages, it allows each analyst time to build customized, detailed financial models and thoroughly analyze credit agreements, indentures, inter-creditor agreements and other relevant documents for each credit the analyst manages.~~

~~Highland's Trading Desk is led by its Head of Trading, with a CLO trader, Loan Trader, and Trading Assistant reporting to that individual. Highland sources from major trading desks across Wall Street, as Highland's size has made its Trading Desk one of the major broker/dealers' top counterparties by volume for many years. Highland traders keep regular dialogue with numerous broker/dealers to identify secondary trading opportunities and new issue bank loan investment opportunities that are coming to market.~~

~~Highland's investment philosophy is rooted in a valued-oriented approach, which combines bottom-up research and top-down technical market analysis. Each of Highland and Acis take this approach with respect to the CLOs it~~

~~manages and applies it to large, liquid, broadly syndicated loans. Since the Highland portfolios consist of only large, liquid loans, Highland is able to frequently trade the portfolio, regularly taking advantage of market volatility and relative value opportunities. Highland's sourcing advantage and robust information and research expertise allows it to comprehensively analyze and monitor a higher percentage of the credit universe. Highland follows a rigorous and time-tested process of credit analysis. A bottom-up credit analysis is performed on each credit Highland manages. Highland has devised and applied an institutionalized process of credit evaluation and approval, via its Investment Committee. Highland's large investment team allows Highland to add enormous value and experience.~~

Investment Monitoring and Risk Management

Risk management is integrated into all levels of the investment process, from research, to portfolio construction and management, to ongoing monitoring. Highland conducts extensive position and portfolio monitoring activities on a daily basis. Portfolio risk is reviewed using internally generated daily, weekly, and monthly reports which measure transaction compliance including investor-mandated metrics such as portfolio concentrations or required test scores, as well as compliance with evolving internal positioning targets. Individual position risk is monitored in a number of ways, including Highland's extensive proprietary intranet system (Highland Online Management Engine or "HOME"), which pulls together data from their various data providers (Wall Street Office, LPC, Moody's, S&P, MarkIt, S&P LCD, CSFB Index) to provide a comprehensive portfolio/risk management system. The system allows the CLO team to monitor metrics at any level of aggregation (instrument, issuer, portfolio, fund and across the platform). Additionally, the system is designed to be scalable and with flexibility to enable future data inputs and reporting requirements.

For both Managed CLOs and for the underlying loans, the HOME intranet system allows Highland to monitor portfolios on a real-time, ongoing basis by receiving alerts showing positions with the largest daily/weekly/monthly mark change, as well as alerts on downgrades/upgrades, and when their credit analyst has changed his opinion on a broadly syndicated loan.

Allocation Policy

Highland and its affiliates may, from time to time, be presented with investment opportunities that fall within the investment objectives of the Company and the Managed CLOs and other clients, funds or other investment accounts managed by Highland or its affiliates, and in such circumstances, subject to the Company's priority allocation with respect to CLO Income Notes of new issue Highland CLOs Highland and its affiliates expect to allocate such opportunities among the Company, the Managed CLOs and such other clients, funds or other investment accounts on a basis that Highland and its affiliates determine in good faith is appropriate taking into consideration such factors as the fiduciary duties owed to the Company, the Managed CLOs and such other clients, funds or other investment accounts, the primary mandates of the Company, the Managed CLOs and such other clients, funds or other investment accounts, the capital available to the Company, the Managed CLOs and such other clients, funds or other investment accounts, any restrictions on investment, the sourcing of the transaction, the size of the transaction, the amount of potential follow-on investing that may be required for such investment and the other collateral obligations of the Company, the Managed CLOs and such other clients, funds or other investment accounts, the relation of such opportunity to the investment strategy of the Company, the Managed CLOs and such other clients, funds or other investment accounts, reasons of portfolio balance and any other consideration deemed relevant by Highland and its affiliates in good faith. Subject to the Company's priority allocation with respect to CLO Income Notes of new issue Highland CLOs, Highland will allocate investment opportunities across the entities for which such opportunities are appropriate, consistent with (1) its internal conflict of interest and allocation policies and (2) the requirements of the Investment Advisers Act. Highland will seek to allocate investment opportunities among such entities in a manner that is fair and equitable over time and consistent with its allocation policy. However, there is no assurance that such investment opportunities will be allocated to the Company and the Managed CLOs fairly or equitably in the short term or over time and there can be no assurance that the Company and the Managed CLOs will be able to participate in all such investment opportunities that are suitable for it.

Biographies of the Highland ~~Investment Committee~~Key Personnel

The ~~Investment Committee comprises Jim Dondero, Mark Okada, Trey Parker and Hunter Covitz~~Portfolio Manager will use the services of the key personnel set forth below, although it may not necessarily continue to use their services during the entire term of the Portfolio Management Agreement. Of these, Trey Parker and Hunter Covitz

(and such other personnel as may be determined from time to time) will be made available by Highland to the Company pursuant to the Portfolio Management Agreement.

Although the persons described above are currently employed by Highland and are engaged in the activities of the Portfolio Manager, such persons may not necessarily continue to be employed by Highland during the entire term of the Portfolio Management Agreement and, if so employed, may not remain engaged in the activities of the Portfolio Manager.

PLACING ARRANGEMENTS

THE PLACING

The target number of Placing Shares to be issued pursuant to the Placing is in excess of [●] million. As at the date of this Offering Memorandum, the actual number of Placing Shares to be issued under the Placing is not known.

The results of the Placing will be released by the Company, including details of the number of Placing Shares allotted (or such other date as may be notified by the Company). Whilst it is expected that all Placing Shares will be issued in uncertificated form, if any Placing Shares are issued in certificated form it is expected that share certificates would be despatched approximately two weeks after settlement of the Placing. No temporary documents of title will be issued.

[The Company is seeking aggregate subscriptions to purchase Placing Shares in an aggregate amount of up to approximately $[●] million.

Placees will commit under the subscription agreements to purchase Shares to be settled from time to time during the Investment Period. The Portfolio Manager may call such Shares for settlement from time to time on a pro rata basis upon 10 Business Days' notice to the Placees in such amounts as may be specified by the Portfolio Manager.

Upon the expiration of the Investment Period, all Placees will be released from any further obligation with respect to purchase Shares under their subscriptions, except to the extent necessary to:

(i) complete the purchase of Shares pursuant to written commitments, letters of intent or similar contractual commitments that were in process as of the end of the Investment Period; and

(ii) fund any indebtedness of the Company permitted hereunder incurred prior to the end of the Investment Period (including to repay outstanding indebtedness under any Warehouse Loan Facilities).

Shares will be issued at a price ~~equal to U.S. $1.00~~ per Share based on the then current NAV of the Company.

The maximum number of Shares to be issued by the Company is [●] million and the minimum number is [●] million. Fractions of Placing Shares will not be issued.

On the Closing Date, Placees will acquire ~~of~~ Shares of existing Shareholders at a price per Share based on the current NAV of the Company such that Placees and existing Shareholders will hold currently existing Shares on a pro rata basis and existing Shareholders will commit, as Placees under subscription agreements, to purchase Shares such that new and existing Shareholders will hold both existing Shares and commitments on pro rata basis.

The Board may deduct from any dividend payable to any Shareholder on or in respect of a Share all sums of money (if any) presently payable by him to the Company on account of calls with respect to existing Shares, or calls of commitments to purchase Shares pursuant to the subscription agreements or otherwise.

The Board may retain any dividend or other monies payable on or in respect of a Share on which the Company has a lien and may apply the same in or towards satisfaction of the liabilities or obligations in respect of which the lien exists.]

Highland Principal Commitment

[Certain principals of Highland will subscribe for Shares of [●] in the aggregate.]

TIME AND DATE OF THE OPENING AND CLOSING OF THE OFFER

This subscription is open for a fixed offer period only. This period runs from [●], the offer opening date, until 17:00 in Guernsey on the Closing Date. Only fully completed applications received by this date with cleared funds in the Companies' nominated account will be acceptable for investment.

Under the Portfolio Management Agreement, the Portfolio Manager agrees to the provision of certain human resources as may be necessary to enable the Company to conduct any matters related to its portfolio of assets.

Under the Portfolio Management Agreement, the Company shall pay to the Portfolio Manager an amount equivalent to all reasonable third party costs and expenses incurred by the Portfolio Manager in the performance of its obligations thereunder, together with any irrecoverable VAT arising on such costs and expenses.

The Portfolio Management Agreement is governed by the laws of the State of Texas.

Predecessor Portfolio Management Agreement and Termination

Prior to the current Portfolio Management Agreement, the Company held a Portfolio Management Agreement dated 22 December 2016 (the "Predecessor Portfolio Management Agreement") between (i) the Company and (ii) Acis as the predecessor portfolio manager (the "Predecessor Portfolio Manager"), pursuant to which the Company appointed Acis as the Predecessor Portfolio Manager to select the portfolio of investments and instruct the Custodian with respect to any acquisition, disposition or sale of investments and provide certain support and assistance (including back and middle office functions), personnel and credit and market research and analysis in connection with the investment and ongoing management of the portfolio.

The terms of the Predecessor Portfolio Management Agreement were substantially similar to the terms of the Portfolio Management Agreement.

The Predecessor Portfolio Management Agreement was governed by the laws of the State of Texas.

The Predecessor Portfolio Management Agreement was terminated pursuant to a Termination of Management Agreement dated [•] 2017 (the "Termination Agreement") between (i) the Company and (ii) the Predecessor Portfolio Manager. Pursuant to the Termination Agreement, (x) the Predecessor Portfolio Management Agreement was cancelled and terminated in its entirety, (y) each party released the other party from all claims, suits or causes of action arising out of or relating to the Management Agreement and (z) each party ratified prior transactions effected in accordance with the Predecessor Portfolio Management Agreement.

NexBank Credit Facility

The Company currently has the NexBank Credit Facility with a principal amount of ~~$23,000,000~~22,158,337, as of September 30, 2017. The NexBank Credit Facility is governed by an Amended and Restated Loan Agreement dated as of 17 January 2017 that provides for quarterly payments of principal and interest at 5.00% per annum and a maturity on November 23, 2021.

Warehouse Loan Facilities

One or more multi-currency Warehouse Loan Facilities may be entered into from time to time between (i) the Company and (ii) a warehouse provider as described in "Summary-Borrowing-Warehouse Loan Facilities".

Forward Purchase Agreements

Forward Purchase Agreements may be entered into from time to time, between (i) the Company and (ii) a CLO (each, a "Forward Purchase Agreement"), pursuant to which the Company may from time to time enter into sale and purchase contracts with a CLO with respect to the assets of the Company ("Forward Sales"). Such Forward Sales are with a view to effectively managing its access to wholesale funding and exposure to unnecessary market price volatilities of its portfolio. Such Forward Purchase Agreements may be entered into at the same time or shortly after the origination or acquisition of the relevant asset by the Company, at a later date, or not at all. Where a loan becomes subject to a Forward Purchase Agreement, the Company will (subject to the conditions set out below) neither receive the gain nor bear the loss that occurs between the date when the loan is added to the Forward Purchase Agreement and the date when the transfer occurs.

Each Forward Sale will be conditional upon:

- the occurrence of the closing date of the relevant CLO; and

The draft Offering Memorandum ("Offering Memorandum") for Highland CLO Funding, Ltd. (the "Company") has been prepared by Highland Capital Management, L.P. for persons reasonably believed by it to be of the kind to whom it is permitted to give preliminary information about the investment proposition described therein. It is a confidential communication to, and solely for the use of, the recipient.

The information contained in the Offering Memorandum is subject to updating, completion, modification and amendment. The purpose of the Offering Memorandum is to give initial detail in order to gauge investor interest, so that the parties concerned can decide whether to bring the project to the point where a formal proposal may be put to investors.

The Offering Memorandum does not constitute an offer or solicitation to anyone in any jurisdiction, and may not be used for the purposes of any such offer or solicitation in any jurisdiction, in which such offer or solicitation is not authorised, or to any person to whom it is unlawful to make such offer or solicitation. Therefore, no person receiving a copy of the Offering Memorandum may treat it as constituting an offer or invitation to him to buy investments, nor may he copy it for transmission to another person. If, however, an offer to sell investments is made in the future, it will be subject only to information circulated at the time in the final offering memorandum.

No person (unless otherwise expressly authorised by the Company) has been authorised to make any representations or give any information with respect to the shares of the Company (the "Shares") except the information contained therein, and any information or representation not contained therein (unless otherwise expressly authorised by the Company) must not be relied upon as having been authorised. Neither the delivery of the Offering Memorandum nor the issue of Shares shall, under any circumstances, create any implication that there has been no change in the affairs of the Company since the date of the Offering Memorandum.

Applications to subscribe for Shares described in the Offering Memorandum may only be made, and will only be considered, on the basis of the final offering memorandum, the final application form and the articles of association of the Company, and the contents of the Offering Memorandum are qualified in their entirety by each such document. In the event of any conflict between the contents of the Offering Memorandum and the final offering memorandum (or any supplements thereto, if any), the contents of the final offering memorandum (including any supplements thereto) will prevail; in the event of any conflict between the contents of the final offering memorandum (or any supplements thereto) and the final application form, the final application form will prevail; in the event of any conflict between the contents of the final offering memorandum (or any supplements thereto) and the final articles of association of the Company, the contents of the final articles of association of the Company will prevail.

It is the responsibility of every person reading the Offering Memorandum to satisfy himself as to the full observance of the laws of any country relevant to him, including obtaining any government or other consent which may be required, and/or observing any other formality which needs to be observed in that country.

The Offering Memorandum is written for the benefit of the category of persons described above. It is not addressed to any other person and may not be used by them for any purpose whatsoever. It expresses no views as to the suitability of the investments described therein to the individual circumstances of any recipient.

THIS DOCUMENT IS IMPORTANT AND REQUIRES YOUR IMMEDIATE ATTENTION. If you are in any doubt as to the action you should take or the contents of this document, you are recommended to seek your own independent financial advice immediately from your stockbroker, bank, solicitor, accountant, or other appropriate independent financial adviser, who is authorised under the Financial Services and Markets Act 2000, as amended ("FSMA") if you are in the United Kingdom, or from another appropriately authorised independent financial adviser if you are in a territory outside the United Kingdom.

A copy of this document, which comprises an offering memorandum (the "Offering Memorandum") relating to Highland CLO Funding, Ltd. (the "Company") in connection with the issue of Placing Shares in the Company, is available at the Company's registered office upon request.

The Placing Shares are only suitable for investors: (i) who understand the potential risk of capital loss and that there may be limited liquidity in the underlying investments of the Company; (ii) for whom an investment in the Placing Shares is part of a diversified investment programme; and (iii) who fully understand and are willing to assume the risks involved in such an investment programme. It should be remembered that the price of the Placing Shares and the income from them can go down as well as up and that investors may not receive, on the sale or cancellation of the Placing Shares, the amount that they invested.

The Company and its directors (whose names appear in the section of this Offering Memorandum entitled "Company Directors and Administration") (the "Directors") accept responsibility for the information contained in this Offering Memorandum. To the best of the knowledge of the Company and the Directors (who have taken all reasonable care to ensure that such is the case), the information contained in the Offering Memorandum is in accordance with the facts and contains no omission likely to affect its import. The Directors have taken all reasonable care to ensure that the facts stated in the Offering Memorandum are true and accurate in all material respects, and that there are no other facts the omission of which would make misleading any statement in this Offering Memorandum, whether of facts or of opinion. All the Directors accept responsibility accordingly.

Potential investors should read the whole of this Offering Memorandum when considering an investment in the Placing Shares and, in particular, attention is drawn to the section of this Offering Memorandum entitled "Risk Factors" on pages [●] to [●] of this Offering Memorandum.

HIGHLAND CLO FUNDING, LTD.

(a closed-ended investment company limited by shares incorporated under the laws of Guernsey with registered number 60120)

Placing for a target issue in excess of [●] million Placing Shares at

U.S. $[●] per Placing Share

This Offering Memorandum does not constitute or form part of any offer or invitation to sell, or the solicitation of an offer to acquire or subscribe for, any securities other than the securities to which it relates or any offer or invitation to sell or issue, or any solicitation of any offer to purchase or subscribe for such securities by any person in any circumstances in which such offer or solicitation is unlawful.

The Placing Shares have not been and will not be registered under the U.S. Securities Act of 1933 (the "U.S. Securities Act") or under the securities laws of any state or other jurisdiction of the United States. The Placing Shares may not be offered, sold, exercised, resold, transferred or delivered, directly or indirectly, within the United States or to, or for the account or benefit of, U.S. Persons, except pursuant to an exemption from, or in a transaction not subject to, the registration requirements of the U.S. Securities Act and in compliance with any applicable securities laws of any state or other jurisdiction in the United States.

The Company has not been and will not be registered under the U.S. Investment Company Act of 1940, as amended (the "U.S. Investment Company Act") and investors will not be entitled to the benefits of the U.S. Investment Company Act. There will be no public offer of the Placing Shares in the United States.

Neither the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission (the "SEC") nor any state securities commission has approved or disapproved of the Placing Shares or passed upon or endorsed the merits of the offering of the Placing Shares or the adequacy or accuracy of this Offering Memorandum. Any representation to the contrary is a criminal offence in the United States.

Except with the express written consent of the Company given in respect of an investment in the Company, the Placing Shares may not be acquired by: (i) investors using assets of: (A) an "employee benefit plan" as defined in Section 3(3) of the United States Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974, as amended ("ERISA") that is subject to Title I of ERISA; (B) a "plan" as defined in Section 4975 of the United States Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended (the "U.S. Tax Code"), including an individual retirement account or other arrangement that is subject to Section 4975 of the U.S. Tax Code; or (C) an entity whose underlying assets are considered to include "plan assets" by reason of investment by an "employee benefit plan" or "plan" described in preceding clause (A) or (B) in such entity pursuant to the U.S. Plan Assets Regulations; or (ii) a governmental, church, non-U.S. or other employee benefit plan that is subject to any federal, state, local or non-U.S. law that is substantially similar to the provisions of Title I of ERISA or Section 4975 of the U.S. Tax Code, unless its purchase, holding, and disposition of the Placing Shares will not constitute or result in a non-exempt violation of any such substantially similar law.

The distribution of this Offering Memorandum and the offer of the Placing Shares in certain jurisdictions may be restricted by law. No action has been or will be taken to permit the possession, issue or distribution of this Offering Memorandum (or any other offering or publicity material relating to the Placing Shares) in any jurisdiction where action for that purpose may be required or doing so is restricted by law. Accordingly, neither this Offering Memorandum, nor any advertisement, nor any other offering material may be distributed or published in any jurisdiction except under circumstances that will result in compliance with any applicable laws and regulations. Persons into whose possession this Offering Memorandum comes should inform themselves about and observe any such restrictions. None of the Company or any of its affiliates or advisors accepts any legal responsibility for any breach by any person, whether or not a prospective investor, of any such restrictions.

In addition, the Placing Shares are subject to restrictions on transferability and resale in certain jurisdictions and may not be transferred or resold except as permitted under applicable securities laws and regulations. Investors may be required to bear the financial risks of their investment in the Placing Shares for an indefinite period of time. Any failure to comply with these restrictions may constitute a violation of the securities laws of any such jurisdictions. For further information on restrictions on offers, sales and transfers of the Placing Shares, please refer to the section of this Offering Memorandum entitled "Purchase and Transfer Restrictions" in "Placing Arrangements".

In making an investment decision, each investor must rely on their own examination, analysis and enquiry of the Company and the terms of the Placing including the merits and risks involved. The investors also acknowledge that they have relied only on the information contained in this document. No person has been authorised to give any information or make any representations other than those contained in this Offering Memorandum and, if given or made, such information or representations must not be relied on as having been so authorised. Neither the delivery of this Offering Memorandum nor any subscription or sale made under it shall, under any circumstances, create any implication that there has been no change in the affairs of the Company since the date of this document or that the information in it is correct as of any subsequent time.

None of the Company or any of its representatives is making any representation to any prospective investor in respect of the Placing Shares regarding the legality of an investment in the Placing Shares by such prospective investor under the laws applicable to such prospective investor.

The contents of this Offering Memorandum should not be construed as legal, financial or tax advice. Each prospective investor should consult his, her or its own legal, financial or tax adviser for legal, financial or tax advice.

The Company is a registered closed-ended collective investment scheme pursuant to The Protection of Investors (Bailiwick of Guernsey) Law, 1987, as amended and the Registered Collective Investment Schemes Rules 2015 issued by the Guernsey Financial Services Commission. Neither the Guernsey Financial Services Commission nor the States of Guernsey take any responsibility for the soundness of the Company or for the correctness of any statements made or opinions expressed with regard to it.

If you are in any doubt about the contents of this Offering Memorandum you should consult your accountant, legal or professional adviser or financial adviser.

This Offering Memorandum has not been reviewed by the Guernsey Financial Services Commission and, in granting registration, the Guernsey Financial Services Commission has relied upon specific warranties provided by State Street (Guernsey) Limited, the Company's designated administrator.

It should be remembered that the price of securities and the income from them can go down as well as up.

You are wholly responsible for ensuring that all aspects of the Company are acceptable to you. Investment in the Company may involve special risks that could lead to a loss of all or a substantial portion of such investment. Unless you fully understand and accept the nature of the Company and the potential risks inherent in this Company you should not invest in the Company.

This Offering Memorandum is dated [●].

IMPORTANT NOTICES

Investors should rely only on the information contained in this Offering Memorandum. No person has been authorised to give any information or to make any representations in connection with the Placing other than those contained in this Offering Memorandum and, if given or made, such information or representations must not be relied upon as having been authorised by or on behalf of the Company. Neither the delivery of this Offering Memorandum nor any subscription or sale made under this Offering Memorandum shall, under any circumstances, create any implication that there has been no change in the business or affairs of the Company since the date of this Offering Memorandum or that the information contained in this Offering Memorandum is correct as of any time subsequent to its date.

The contents of this Offering Memorandum are not to be construed as legal, financial, business, investment or tax advice. Each prospective investor should consult his or her own legal adviser, financial adviser or tax adviser for legal, financial or tax advice in relation to any purchase or proposed purchase of Placing Shares.

An investment in the Placing Shares is suitable only for institutional, professional and high net worth investors, private client fund managers and brokers and other investors who are capable of evaluating the merits and risks of such an investment and/or who have received advice from their fund manager or broker regarding such an investment and who have sufficient resources to be able to bear losses (which may equal the whole amount invested) that may result from such an investment. An investment in the Placing Shares should constitute part of a diversified investment portfolio. Accordingly, typical investors in the Company are expected to be institutional, professional and high net worth investors, private client fund managers and brokers and other investors who understand the risks involved in investing in the Company and/or who have received advice from their fund manager or broker regarding investment in the Company.

In making an investment decision, each investor must rely on their own examination, analysis and enquiry of the Company and the terms of the Placing including the merits and risks involved. Investors who purchase Placing Shares will be deemed to have acknowledged that no person has been authorised to give any information or make any representations other than those contained in this Offering Memorandum and, if given or made, such information or representations must not be relied on as having been authorised by the Company.

General

Prospective investors should not treat the contents of this Offering Memorandum as advice relating to legal, taxation, investment or any other matters. Prospective investors should inform themselves as to: (a) the legal requirements within their own countries for the purchase, holding, transfer, redemption or other disposal of Placing Shares; (b) any foreign exchange restrictions applicable to the purchase, holding, transfer, redemption or other disposal of Placing Shares which they might encounter; and (c) the income and other tax consequences which may apply in their own countries as a result of the purchase, holding, transfer, redemption or other disposal of Placing Shares. Prospective investors must rely on their own representatives, including their own legal advisers, financial advisers and accountants, as to legal, tax, investment or any other related matters concerning the Company and an investment therein.

Statements made in this Offering Memorandum are based on the law and practice currently in force and are subject to changes therein. This Offering Memorandum should be read in its entirety before making any application for Placing Shares.

Application will be made to the appropriate securities exchange for the Placing Shares to be admitted when deemed appropriate by the Company.

All times and dates referred to in this Offering Memorandum are, unless otherwise stated, references to Guernsey times and dates and are subject to change without further notice.

Capitalised terms contained in this Offering Memorandum shall have the meanings set out in the Offering memorandum and/or in the section of this Offering Memorandum entitled "Definitions", save where the context indicates otherwise.

Restrictions on distribution and sale

The distribution of this Offering Memorandum and the offering and sale of securities offered hereby in certain jurisdictions may be restricted by law. Persons in possession of this Offering Memorandum are required to inform themselves about and observe any such restrictions. This Offering Memorandum may not be used for, or in connection with, and does not constitute, any offer to sell, or solicitation to purchase, any such securities in any jurisdiction in which solicitation would be unlawful.

For a description of restrictions on offers, sales and transfers of Shares, please refer to the sections of this Offering Memorandum entitled "Selling restrictions" below and "Purchase and Transfer Restrictions" in "Placing Arrangements". Save as set out in these sections, there are no restrictions on the transfer of Shares under the Articles.

Forward-looking statements

This Offering Memorandum includes statements that are, or may be deemed to be, "forward-looking statements". These forward-looking statements can be identified by the use of forward-looking terminology, including the terms "believes", "estimates", "anticipates", "expects", "intends", "plans", "projects", "targets", "aims", "may", "will" or "should" or, in each case, their negative or other variations or comparable terminology. These forward-looking statements include all matters that are not historical facts. They appear in a number of places throughout this Offering Memorandum and include statements regarding the intentions, beliefs or current expectations of the Company concerning, amongst other things, the investment objective and investment policy, investment strategy, financing strategies, investment performance, results of operations, financial condition, prospects, and dividend/distribution policy of the Company, and the markets in which the Company, and their respective portfolios of investments, invest and/or operate. By their nature, forward-looking statements involve risks (including those set out in the section of this Offering Memorandum entitled "Risk Factors") and uncertainties because they relate to events and depend on circumstances that may or may not occur in the future. Forward-looking statements are not guarantees of future performance. The Company's actual investment performance, results of operations, financial condition, dividend policy and the development of its investment strategy financing strategies may differ materially from the impression created by the forward-looking statements contained in this Offering Memorandum. In addition, even if the investment performance, results of operations, financial condition of the Company, and the development of its financing strategies, are consistent with the forward-looking statements contained in this Offering Memorandum, those results or developments may not be indicative of results or developments in subsequent periods. Important factors that could cause these differences include, but are not limited to:

- changes in economic conditions generally and the Company's ability to achieve its investment objective and target returns and target dividends for investors;
- the ability of the Company to invest the cash on its balance sheet and the proceeds of the Placing on a timely basis within the investment objective and investment policy;
- foreign exchange mismatches with respect to exposed assets;
- changes in the interest rates and/or credit spreads, as well as the success of the Company's investment strategy in relation to such changes and the management of the un-invested proceeds of the Placing;
- impairments in the value of the investments;
- the availability and cost of capital for future investments;
- the departure of key personnel employed by the Portfolio Manager;

- changes in laws or regulations, including tax laws, or new interpretations or applications of laws and regulations, that are applicable to the Company; and
- general economic trends and other external factors, including those resulting from war, incidents of terrorism or responses to such events.

Given these uncertainties, prospective investors are cautioned not to place any undue reliance on such forward-looking statements. Prospective investors should carefully review the "Risk Factors" section of this Offering Memorandum before making an investment decision. Forward-looking statements speak only as at the date of this Offering Memorandum. Although the Company undertakes no obligation to revise or update any forward-looking statements contained herein (save where required by the Offering Memorandum Rules), whether as a result of new information, future events, conditions or circumstances, any change in the Company's expectations with regard thereto or otherwise, prospective investors are advised to consult any communications made directly to them by the Company and/or any additional disclosures through announcements that the Company may make through a website to be created or through the Administrator.

Selling Restrictions

This Offering Memorandum does not constitute, and may not be used for the purposes of, an offer or an invitation to apply for any Placing Shares by any person: (i) in any jurisdiction in which such offer or invitation is not authorised; or (ii) in any jurisdiction in which the person making such offer or invitation is not qualified to do so; or (iii) to any person to whom it is unlawful to make such offer or invitation. The distribution of this Offering Memorandum and the offering of Placing Shares in certain jurisdictions may be restricted. Accordingly, persons into whose possession this Offering Memorandum comes are required to inform themselves about and observe any restrictions as to the offer or sale of Placing Shares and the distribution of this Offering Memorandum under the laws and regulations of any jurisdiction in connection with any applications for Placing Shares, including obtaining any requisite governmental or other consent and observing any other formality prescribed in such jurisdiction.

Bailiwick of Guernsey

The Company has been established in Guernsey as a registered collective investment scheme under the RCIS Rules.

Further information in relation to the regulatory treatment of registered closed-ended investment funds domiciled in Guernsey may be found on the website of the Guernsey Financial Services Commission at www.gfsc.gg.

This Offering Memorandum is prepared, and a copy of it has been sent to the Guernsey Financial Services Commission, in accordance with the RCIS Rules.

The Commission takes no responsibility for the financial soundness of the Company or for the correctness of any statements made or opinions expressed with regard to it.

The applicant is strongly recommended to read and consider this Offering Memorandum before completing an application.

This Offering Memorandum has not been approved by the GFSC and neither the GFSC nor the States of Guernsey Policy Council takes any responsibility for the financial soundness of the Company or for the correctness of any of the statements made or opinions expressed with regard to it.

European Economic Area

In relation to each member state of the European Economic Area which has implemented the Prospectus Directive (each, a "Relevant Member State"), no Placing Shares have been offered or will be offered pursuant to the Placing to the public in that Relevant Member State prior to the publication of a prospectus in relation to the Placing Shares which has been approved by the competent authority in that Relevant Member State, or, where appropriate, approved in another Relevant Member State and notified to the competent authority in that Relevant Member State, all in accordance with the Prospectus Directive, except that offers of Placing Shares to the public may be made at any time under the following exemptions under the Prospectus Directive, if they are implemented in that Relevant Member State:

(a) to any legal entity which is a qualified investor as defined in the Prospectus Directive;

(b) to fewer than 150 natural or legal persons (other than qualified investors as defined in the Prospectus Directive) in such Relevant Member State; or

(c) in any other circumstances falling within Article 3(2) of the Prospectus Directive, provided that no such offer of Placing Shares shall result in a requirement for the publication of a prospectus pursuant to Article 3 of the Prospectus Directive or a supplemental prospectus pursuant to Article 16 of the Prospectus Directive or any measure implementing the Prospectus Directive in a Relevant Member State and each person who initially acquires any Placing Shares or to whom any offer is made under the Placing will be deemed to have represented, acknowledged and agreed that it is a "qualified investor" within the meaning of Article 2(1)(e) of the Prospectus Directive.

For the purposes of this provision, the expression an "offer to the public" in relation to any offer of Placing Shares in any Relevant Member State means a communication in any form and by any means presenting sufficient information on the terms of the offer and any Placing Shares to be offered so as to enable an investor to decide to purchase or subscribe for the Placing Shares, as the same may be varied in that Relevant Member State by any measure implementing the Prospectus Directive in that Relevant Member State and the expression "Prospectus Directive" means Directive 2003/71/EC (and the amendments thereto, including 2010 PD Amending Directive, to the extent implemented in the Relevant Member State) and includes any relevant implementing measure in each Relevant Member State and the expression "2010 PD Amending Directive" means Directive 2010/73/EU.

The distribution of this Offering Memorandum in other jurisdictions may be restricted by law and therefore persons into whose possession this Offering Memorandum comes should inform themselves about and observe any such restrictions.

The Company is an alternative investment fund for the purpose of the AIFMD. The Placing Shares may only be marketed to prospective investors which are domiciled or have a registered office in a member state of the European Economic Area ("EEA Persons") in which marketing has been registered or authorised (as applicable) under the relevant national implementation of Article 42 of AIFMD and in such cases only to EEA Persons which are Professional Investors or any other category of person to which such marketing is permitted under the national laws of such member state.

This Offering Memorandum is not intended for, should not be relied on by and should not be construed as an offer (or any other form of marketing) to any other EEA Person.

A "Professional Investor" is an investor who is considered to be a professional client or who may, on request, be treated as a professional client within the relevant national implementation of Annex II of Directive 2004/39/EC (Markets in Financial Instruments Directive) and the AIFMD.

Each EEA Person who initially acquires Placing Shares or to whom any offer is made will be deemed to have represented, warranted to and agreed with the entity placing such shares and the Company that (a) it is a "qualified investor" within the meaning of the law in that relevant member state implementing Article 2.1(e) of the Prospectus Directive and (b) , that it is a Professional Investor or other person to whom Placing Shares in the Company may lawfully be marketed under the AIFMD or under the national laws of that relevant member state.

The distribution of this Offering Memorandum in other jurisdictions may be restricted by law and therefore persons into whose possession this Offering Memorandum comes should inform themselves about and observe any such restrictions

Switzerland

This Offering Memorandum may only be freely circulated and Shares in the Company may only be freely offered, distributed or sold to regulated financial intermediaries such as banks, securities dealers, fund management companies, asset managers of collective investment schemes and central banks as well as to regulated insurance companies. Circulating this Offering Memorandum and offering, distributing or selling Shares in the Company to other persons or entities including qualified investors as defined in the Federal Act on Collective Investment Schemes ("CISA") and its implementing Ordinance ("CISO") may trigger, in particular, (i) licensing/prudential supervision requirements for the distributor, (ii) a requirement to appoint a representative and paying agent in Switzerland and (iii) the necessity of a written distribution agreement between the representative in Switzerland and the distributor. Accordingly, legal advice should be sought before providing this Offering Memorandum to and offering, distributing, selling or on-selling Shares of the Company to any other persons or entities. This Offering Memorandum does not constitute an issuance prospectus pursuant to Articles 652a or 1156 of the Swiss Code of Obligations and may not comply with the information standards required thereunder. The Shares will not be listed on the SIX Swiss Exchange, and consequently, the information presented in this document does not necessarily comply with the information standards set out in the relevant listing rules. The documentation of the Company has not been and will not be approved, and may not be able to be approved, by the Swiss Financial Market Supervisory Authority ("FINMA") under the CISA. Therefore, investors do not benefit from protection under the CISA or supervision by the FINMA. This Offering Memorandum does not constitute investment advice. It may only be used by those persons to whom it has been handed out in connection with the Shares and may neither be copied or directly/indirectly distributed or made available to other persons.

United States

The Placing Shares have not been and will not be registered under the U.S. Securities Act or with any securities regulatory authority of any state or other jurisdiction of the United States and the Placing Shares may not be offered, sold, exercised, resold, transferred or delivered, directly or indirectly, within the United States or to, or for the account or benefit of, U.S. Persons, except pursuant to an exemption from, or in a transaction not subject to, the registration requirements of the U.S. Securities Act and in compliance with any applicable securities laws of any state or other jurisdiction in the United States. There will be no public offer of the Placing Shares in the United States.

Subject to certain exceptions as described herein, the Placing is only being made outside the United States to non-U.S. Persons in reliance on Regulation S under the U.S. Securities Act.

In addition, prospective investors should note that, except with the express written consent of the Company given in respect of an investment in the Company, the Placing Shares may not be acquired by: (i) investors using assets of: (A) an "employee benefit plan" as defined in Section 3(3) of ERISA that is subject to Title I of ERISA; (B) a "plan" as defined in Section 4975 of the U.S. Tax Code, including an individual retirement account or other arrangement that is subject to Section 4975 of the U.S. Tax Code; or (C) an entity whose underlying assets are considered to include "plan assets" by reason of investment by an "employee benefit plan" or "plan" described in preceding clause (A) or (B) in such entity pursuant to the U.S. Plan Assets Regulations; or (ii) a governmental, church, non-U.S. or other employee benefit plan that is subject to any federal, state, local or non-U.S. law that is substantially similar to the provisions of Title I of ERISA or Section 4975 of the U.S. Tax Code, unless its purchase, holding, and disposition of the Placing Shares will not constitute or result in a non-exempt violation of any such substantially similar law.

If 25 per cent or more of any class of equity in the Company is owned, directly or indirectly, by U.S. Plan Investors that are subject to Title I of ERISA or Section 4975 of the U.S. Tax Code, the assets of the Company will be deemed to be "plan assets", subject to the constraints of ERISA and Section 4975 of the U.S. Tax Code. This would result, among other things, in: (i) the application of the prudence and fiduciary responsibilities standards of ERISA to investments made by the Company, and (ii) the possibility that certain transactions that the Company and its subsidiaries might enter into, or may have entered into in the ordinary course of business, might constitute or result in non-exempt prohibited transactions under Section 406 of ERISA and/or Section 4975 of the U.S. Tax Code and might have to be rescinded. A non-exempt prohibited transaction may also result in the imposition of an excise tax under the U.S. Tax Code upon a "party in interest" (as defined in ERISA) or "disqualified person" (as defined in the U.S. Tax Code), with whom a plan engages in the transaction. The Company will use commercially reasonable efforts to restrict ownership by U.S. Plan Investors of equity in the Company. However, no assurance can be given that investment by U.S. Plan Investors will not exceed 25 per cent or more of any class of equity in the Company.

For a description of restrictions on offers, sales and transfers of Placing Shares, please refer to the section of this Offering Memorandum entitled "Purchase and Transfer Restrictions" in "Placing Arrangements".

SUMMARY

The following is an overview of the transaction structure and is qualified in its entirety by, and should be read in conjunction with, the more detailed information appearing elsewhere in this Offering Memorandum and related documents referred to herein. Capitalised terms not specifically defined in this Offering Memorandum have the meanings set out in the section of this Offering Memorandum entitled "Definitions" below. For a discussion of certain risk factors to be considered in connection with an investment in the Shares, see "Risk Factors".

The Company:

Highland CLO Funding, Ltd. (formerly known as Acis Loan Funding, Ltd.) (the "Company") is a closed-ended investment company limited by shares incorporated on 30 March 2015 under the laws of Guernsey with registered number 60120. The Company changed its name from Acis Loan Funding, Ltd. to Highland CLO Funding, Ltd. on [●], 2017.

The Company holds a partial, indirect ownership in Highland CLO Management, LLC ("Highland CLO Management"), a Delaware series limited liability company established to manage Highland CLOs, act as a "majority-owned affiliate" for purposes of the U.S. Risk Retention Rules and as an "originator" for purposes of EU Retention Requirements and to hold with respect to Highland CLOs the required risk retention interests required under, and in accordance with, the U.S. Retention Rules and/or the EU Retention Requirements, as applicable (such interests with respect to any CLO, the applicable "Retention Interest"). Highland CLO Management is also partly held (on an indirect basis) by Highland Capital Management, L.P. ("Highland"), a Delaware limited partnership, which controls the major economic decisions of Highland CLO Management.

The Company holds a partial, indirect ownership in ACIS CLO Management, LLC ("Acis CLO Management" and together with Highland CLO Management, the "CLO Management Companies" and each, a "CLO Management Company"), a Delaware series limited liability company established to manage Acis CLO 2017-7, Ltd. ("Acis CLO 7"), act as a "majority-owned affiliate" for purposes of the U.S. Risk Retention Rules and to hold the Retention Interests with respect to Acis CLO 7 required under, and in accordance with, the U.S. Retention Rules. Acis CLO Management is also partly held (on an indirect basis) by Acis Capital Management, L.P. ("Acis"), a Delaware limited partnership, which controls the major economic decisions of Acis CLO Management.

Investment Objective:

The Company's investment objective is to provide Shareholders with stable and growing income returns, and to grow the capital value of the investment portfolio through opportunistic exposure to CLO Notes, investments in new issue CLOs sponsored by Highland and Acis CLO 7 through its interests in the Management Companies and CLO Income Notes, respectively, and senior secured loans primarily for the purpose of enabling Highland CLO Management to qualify as an "originator" for purposes of the EU Retention Requirements, on both a direct basis and indirect basis, through the use of the investments described in its investment policy and through use of leverage, including, any Revolving Credit Facility, Warehouse Loan Facilities, total return swaps or repurchase agreements, in addition to secured loan facilities.

Investment policy:

The Company's investment policy is to focus on synergistic investments in the following areas.

Loan Investments

The Company will invest on an indirect basis in a diverse portfolio of predominantly floating rate senior secured loans (or on a direct basis for the primary purpose of enabling Highland CLO Management to qualify as an "originator" for purposes of the EU Retention Requirements), all of which will have at least one rating, which may be public or private, from Moody's Investor Services, Inc. ("Moody's"), Standard & Poor's Financial Services LLC ("S&P") or Fitch Group, Inc. ("Fitch"). Initially, the Company's loan investments will be focused in the U.S., but depending on market conditions the Company may also invest in similar types of loans in Europe. Accordingly, there is no limit on the maximum U.S. or European exposure. Investments in U.S. or European loans may be made through a U.S or European originator subsidiary of the Company. The Company intends to invest directly only in those senior secured loans to obligors with total potential indebtedness under all applicable loan agreements, indentures and other underlying instruments at least $250,000,000 that would generally satisfy the eligibility criteria for Highland CLOs and (without limiting the foregoing):

- Such loan is not currently deferring the payment of any accrued and unpaid interest that otherwise would have been due and continues to remain unpaid;
- Such loan provides for a fixed amount of principal payable in cash on scheduled payment dates and/or at maturity and does not by its terms provide for earlier amortization or prepayment at a price less than par;
- Such loan is not an obligation issued by Highland, any of its controlled affiliates that are investment funds or any other investment fund whose investments are primarily managed by Highland or any affiliate or company that is controlled by Highland, an affiliate thereof, or an account, fund, client or portfolio established and controlled by Highland or an affiliate thereof (a "Related Obligation");
- Such loan is neither an equity security nor by its terms is convertible into or exchangeable for an equity security and does not include an attached warrant to purchase equity securities;
- Such loan is not a bridge loan; and
- Such loan is not a zero coupon loan.

Financing of Loan Portfolios / Securitization

It is intended that the Company will periodically seek to sell or securitise all or a portion of its loan portfolio, held directly or indirectly, into new Highland CLOs where Highland CLO Management acts as CLO Manager. In doing so, Highland CLO Management may seek to adopt the "originator" model to address the Origination Requirements (as defined below) applicable to such Highland CLOs to the extent such Highland CLOs sought to comply with EU Retention Requirements. As a result, Highland CLO Management will be required to commit to: (a) establishing the relevant CLO and (b) selling certain loan investments to the relevant CLO which it has purchased for its own account initially. In addition, under current guidance, prior to closing date of the relevant CLO, Highland CLO Management expects to sell investments to the relevant CLO such that the required percentage of the total securitised exposures held by the CLO issuer will have come from Highland CLO Management (collectively, the "Origination Requirements").

CLO Notes

The Company will from time to time invest directly or indirectly (through affiliates and subsidiaries, including the Management Companies, as more fully described below) in CLO Notes issued by Acis CLO 7, Highland CLOs, CLOs where Acis is the CLO Manager, ("Acis Legacy CLOs"), CLOs where Highland is the CLO Manager, ("Highland Legacy CLOs" and together with the Highland CLOs, Acis CLO 7 and the Acis Legacy CLOs, the "Managed CLOs") or CLOs managed by other asset managers.

With respect to each such investment, Highland CLO Management, and Acis CLO Management with respect to Acis CLO 7, will acquire the percentages and tranches of CLO Notes necessary to enable the related CLO to meet the U.S. Risk Retention Rules and, if applicable, the EU Retention Requirements.

With respect to any such investments in Highland CLOs where Highland CLO Management acts as CLO Manager, it is expected that Highland CLO Management will be a "relying adviser" of Highland. With respect to Acis CLO 7, Acis CLO Management is a "relying adviser" of Acis. It is further expected that Highland or Acis, as applicable, will act as a "sponsor" of such Managed CLOs for purposes of the U.S. Risk Retention Rules and will treat the applicable Management Company as its "majority-owned affiliate" under the U.S. Risk Retention Rules. All management and incentive fees received from such Managed CLO will be paid to the applicable Management Company pursuant to the relevant portfolio management agreement, which will then pay the majority of such fees to Highland or Acis, as applicable, in its roles as Staff and Services Provider and as Sub-Advisor. The applicable Management Company may also seek to act as "originator" for purposes of the EU Retention Requirements with respect to such Managed CLOs as described above.

Each CLO in which the Company directly or indirectly holds CLO Notes will have its own eligibility criteria and portfolio limits. These limits are designed to ensure the portfolio of loans within the CLO meets a prescribed level of diversity and quality as set by the relevant rating agencies rating securities issued by such CLO. The applicable CLO Manager, including Highland CLO Management with respect to new Highland CLOs or Acis CLO Management with respect to Acis CLO 7, intends to identify and actively manage loans which meet those criteria and limits within each CLO. The eligibility criteria and portfolio limits within a CLO will typically include the following required criteria and may include some or all of the following expected criteria:

- a limit on the weighted average life of the portfolio;
- a limit on the weighted average rating of the portfolio;

- a limit on the maximum amount of portfolio assets with a rating lower than B-/B3/B-; and
- a limit on the minimum diversity of the portfolio.
- a limit on the minimum weighted average of the prescribed rating agency recovery rate;
- a limit on the minimum amount of senior secured assets;
- a limit on the maximum aggregate exposure to second lien loans, high yield bonds, mezzanine loans and unsecured loans;
- a limit on the maximum portfolio exposure to covenant-lite loans;
- an exclusion of project finance loans;
- an exclusion of structured finance securities;
- an exclusion on investing in the debt of companies domiciled in countries with a local currency sub investment grade rating; and
- an exclusion of leases.

The above are not intended to be an exhaustive list of the eligibility criteria and portfolio limits within a typical CLO and the inclusion or exclusion of such limits and their absolute levels are subject to change depending on market conditions.

Act as Risk Retention Provider

The Company may also invest in, provide loans to, or purchase performance-linked notes from, asset management subsidiaries, affiliated with the Company, Highland, Acis or the Management Companies and which may act as the asset manager of certain U.S. or European CLOs in order to satisfy the U.S. Risk Retention Rules or EU Retention Requirements.

Allocation of Investment Opportunities

Highland CLO Management will serve as CLO Manager to each newly-issued Highland CLO during the Investment Period.

During the Investment Period, the Company shall receive priority allocations with respect to all CLO Income Note investment opportunities with respect to new issue Highland CLOs, over the account of the Portfolio Manager, its affiliates and other clients, including other investment funds and client accounts, including those which follow an investment program substantially similar to that of the Business (such other clients, funds and accounts, collectively, the "Other Accounts"). For the avoidance of doubt, the Portfolio Manager shall otherwise allocate investment opportunities among the Company and Highland and its affiliates and Other Accounts in accordance with its allocation policy which requires allocations among clients to be fair and equitable over time. See "Risk Factors—Risks Relating to Conflicts of Interest—The Company will be subject to various conflicts of interest involving the Portfolio Manager and its affiliates".

Investment Restrictions: During the Investment Period, the Company may invest up to $250,000,000 in CLO Income Notes for new Highland CLOs as follows: (a) up to $150,000,000 in the aggregate from new capital contributions; and (b) up to $100,000,000 in the aggregate from proceeds received from existing seed portfolio investments and investments in new Highland CLOs, net of dividends paid, and amortization and interest payments on Company borrowings from committed credit facilities.

The Company may, without the consent of the Advisory Board, invest in any CLO Notes or CLO Income Notes of new Highland CLOs (a) pursuant to which Highland, Highland CLO Management or any of its affiliates does not charge subordinate management fees in excess of 0.00%, senior management fees in excess of 0.15% or incentive management fees in excess of 0.00% or (b) does not have a reinvestment period longer than 5 years (such CLOs, "Qualifying CLOs"); provided that, if the Portfolio Manager has provided reasonable evidence to the Advisory Board that a substantial portion of new issue CLOs have reinvestment periods longer than 5 years (the "RP Condition"), the consent of the Advisory Board to invest in any Highland CLO that meets clause (a) of the definition of Qualifying CLOs only shall not be unreasonably withheld, conditioned or delayed.

During the Investment Period, the Company shall be permitted to invest in a "reset" with respect to the following CLOs (which may extend the re-investment period and/or term of such CLOs) managed by Highland affiliates (the "Designated CLO Resets"):

Acis CLO 2013-1, Ltd.
Acis CLO 2015-6, Ltd.

During the Investment Period, the Company shall be permitted to invest in a refinancing with respect to the following CLOs (which may not extend the re-investment period or term of such CLOs) managed by Highland affiliates (the "Designated CLO Refinancings"):

Acis CLO 2014-3, Ltd.
Acis CLO 2014-4, Ltd.
Acis CLO 2014-5, Ltd.
Acis CLO 2017-7, Ltd.

For the avoidance of doubt, following the expiration of the Investment Period, the Company shall not consummate an investment in any "reset" with respect to CLO Income Notes held by the Company.

The Company shall not invest in the CLO Income Notes of a new issue Highland CLO unless it is the 100% owner of the CLO Income Notes not forming part of the Retention Interest acquired by Highland CLO Management.

Indirect Actions

Neither the Portfolio Manager nor the Company may take any action indirectly through controlled subsidiaries that either the Portfolio Manager or the Company is not permitted to undertake directly as set forth herein.

Borrowing:

It is expected that the Company will have access to one or more committed credit facilities and will use advances under such facilities, together with the proceeds of the Shares, to purchase future senior secured loans (for the primary purpose of enabling Highland CLO Management to qualify as an "originator" for purposes of the EU Retention Requirements) or other assets.

Such facilities may take the form of any Revolving Credit Facility, Warehouse Loan Facilities, total return swaps or repurchase agreements, in addition to secured loan facilities. In addition to such facilities, the Company will be permitted to borrow money for day to day administration and cash management purposes.

Borrowing Limits

Notwithstanding the foregoing or anything to the contrary set forth herein, as of the time any such debt is incurred, the Company's maximum gross leverage exposure (excluding the Warehouse Loan Facilities) pursuant to (a) committed secured loan facilities and any other borrowing (other than described in clause (b)) shall not exceed the greater of (x) 15% of the Company's gross asset value and (y) $50,000,000, and (b) repurchase agreements shall not exceed 75% of the Company's gross asset value.

For purposes of the limits regarding repurchase agreements set forth in clause (b) above, the "gross asset value" of the Company shall exclude financing for CLO Notes held by a Management Company as part of a "vertical" Retention Interest (including for the Designated CLO Resets), the NexBank Credit Facility, any Warehouse Loan Facilities and cash equivalents.

Warehouse Loan Facilities

One or more multi-currency warehouse lending facilities may be entered into from time to time between (i) the Company and (ii) a warehouse provider (the "Warehouse Loan Facilities"), pursuant to which the Company is able to draw multi-currency loans from time to time in order to purchase assets for its portfolio. The Warehouse Loan Facilities will be entered into on market standard terms, as negotiated between the Company and the relevant warehouse provider in each case and will include a senior security package in favour of the warehouse provider.

Hedging and Derivatives

The Company may use hedging or derivatives (both long and short) for the purposes of efficient portfolio management (other than with respect to credit risk under or associated with the CLO Retention Notes).

Repurchase Agreements

The Company may not use repurchase agreements to finance the purchase of CLO Income Notes, however, the may pledge any already owned CLO Income Notes as additional collateral under repurchase agreements.

Revolving Credit Facility

The Company may enter into a secured revolving credit facility with a committed amount of $50,000,000 for working capital purposes (a "Revolving Credit Facility")

NexBank Credit Facility

The Company currently has a secured term credit facility provided by NexBank SSB, a Texas savings bank, with a principal amount of $22,158,337, as of September 30, 2017 (the "NexBank Credit Facility"). The Company may, from time to time, increase its borrowing under the NexBank Credit Facility up to a maximum principal amount of $30,000,000 at any time without the consent of the Advisory Board, but subject to the limitations set forth above in "—Borrowing Limits".

Advisory Board:

The Company shall form and assemble an advisory board (the "Advisory Board") composed of individuals who shall be representatives of certain Shareholders selected by Highland in its sole discretion in order to (a) provide advice to Highland with respect to certain issues involving conflicts of interest in any transaction or relationship between the Company and Highland or any of its employees or affiliates that are presented to the Advisory Board by Highland, and (b) be required to approve the following actions:

- Any extension of the Investment Period;
- Any extension of the Term (other than an automatic extension following an extension of the Investment Period that has been approved by the Advisory Board);
- Any allotment of additional equity securities by the Company; and
- Any investment in a Related Obligation or any other transaction between the Company or any entity in which the Company holds a direct or indirect interest, on the one hand, and Highland or any of its affiliates, on the other hand.

Notwithstanding the foregoing or anything to the contrary set forth herein, no transaction that is specifically authorized in the governing documents of the Company shall require approval of the Advisory Board, including, without limitation, sales or securitizations of all or a portion of the Company's loan portfolio into new Qualifying CLOs and investments in CLO Notes issued by CLOs managed by Highland affiliates and the NexBank Credit Facility.

Notwithstanding the foregoing or anything to the contrary set forth herein, without the consent of the Advisory Board, the Company may raise additional funds, including through the allotment of additional equity securities (subject to the pre-emption rights of the Shareholders to invest in such additional equity securities pro rata) or acceptance of contributions, if determined by the Board of Directors to be necessary to protect the Company, consistent with the Board's duties to the Company.

No voting member of the Advisory Board shall be a controlled affiliate of Highland.

Each member of the Advisory Board shall owe no fiduciary or other duties to the Company or the shareholders and may act solely in the interest of the shareholder that it represents.

Neither the Advisory Board nor any member thereof shall have the power to bind or act for or on behalf of the Company in any manner, and no shareholder who appoints a member of the Advisory Board shall be deemed to be an affiliate of the Company or Highland solely by reason of such appointment.

Investment Period:

The Company's assets may be invested and, subject to the terms and conditions set forth in the "Dividend Policy" section below, reinvested for a period commencing on the Closing Date of the Placing and ending on [April 30, 2020] (the "Investment Period"), subject to two additional one-year extensions with the consent of the Advisory Board (as hereinafter defined) and the Portfolio Manager; provided that the Term will automatically be extended by an identical length of time in the event of an extension of the Investment Period.

Termination of Investment Period following Key Person Event

The Portfolio Manager will promptly provide each Shareholder with written notice in the event that any three of James Dondero, Mark Okada, Trey Parker or Hunter Covitz (the "Key Persons") cease to devote such time to the affairs of the Company as is sufficient to effectively manage the operations of the Company (a "Key Person Event"), as determined by the Portfolio Manager in its reasonable discretion, taking into account such factors as it shall deem relevant in its reasonable discretion. The Portfolio Manager will promptly provide each Shareholder with written notice in the event of the termination of employment of any Key Person. From and after the occurrence of a Key Person Event, until the 60th day following the date of the applicable notice to the Shareholders (or until earlier reinstatement of the Investment Period, if applicable), the Company (or the Portfolio Manager, on behalf of the Company) may not enter into a letter of intent, written agreement in principle or legally binding agreement to make any acquisition of any investment and the Portfolio Manager may not deliver any drawdown notice for any new Commitments, and may only deliver a drawdown notice that would otherwise be permitted to be delivered by the Portfolio Manager following the termination of the Investment Period.

The Investment Period will be terminated effective on the 60th day following the date of notice to the Shareholders of a Key Person Event unless, on or before such 60th day (i) the Portfolio Manager obtains or receives notice of the written election or vote of the Advisory Board to reinstate the Investment Period, or (ii) one or more Qualified Replacements (as defined below) are appointed in place of (or in addition to) the then existing Key Persons to cure the Key Person Event, in which event the Investment Period will continue until its termination as otherwise described herein without further regard to such Key Person Event.

For purposes of this Offering Memorandum, a "Qualified Replacement" means a person nominated by the Portfolio Manager and approved by the [Advisory Board], such approval not to be unreasonably withheld, conditioned or delayed, as a replacement for any existing Key Person or as an additional Key Person.

Term:

The term of the Company will commence on the date of the Placing and will end (and the Company thereafter will be wound up and dissolved) on the ten-year anniversary of the date of the Placing (the "Term"), subject to (a) automatic extension in the event of an extension of the Investment Period and (b) two additional one-year extension with the consent of the Portfolio Manager and the Advisory Board, or such earlier date after the end of the Investment Period on which the Portfolio Manager determines to terminate and wind up the Company following the receipt by the Company of all amounts reasonably expected by the Portfolio Manager to be received with respect to the Company's assets or the sale thereof during the term and in a manner that will not cause the Company, Highland, Acis, the Management Companies or any subsidiary thereof to violate any applicable law or contract.

The Company has been established as a closed-ended vehicle. Accordingly, there is no right or entitlement attaching to Shares that allows them to be redeemed or repurchased by the Company at the option of the Shareholder. [NTD: Articles to be amended to reflect closed end term.]

Placing Arrangements – Investment Period Subscription Commitment:	[The Company is seeking aggregate subscriptions to purchase Placing Shares in an aggregate amount of up to approximately $[•] million. Placees will commit under the subscription agreements to purchase Shares to be settled from time to time during the Investment Period. The Portfolio Manager may call such Shares for settlement from time to time on a pro rata basis upon 10 Business Days' notice to the Placees in such amounts as may be specified by the Portfolio Manager. Upon the expiration of the Investment Period, all Placees will be released from any further obligation with respect to purchase Shares under their subscriptions, except to the extent necessary to: (i) complete the purchase of Shares pursuant to written commitments, letters of intent or similar contractual commitments that were in process as of the end of the Investment Period; and (ii) fund any indebtedness of the Company permitted hereunder incurred prior to the end of the Investment Period (including to repay outstanding indebtedness under any Warehouse Loan Facilities). Shares will be issued at a price per Share based on the then current NAV of the Company. The maximum number of Shares to be issued by the Company is [•] million and the minimum number is [•] million. Fractions of Placing Shares will not be issued. On the Closing Date, Placees will acquire Shares of existing Shareholders at a price per Share based on the current NAV of the Company such that Placees and existing Shareholders will hold currently existing Shares on a pro rata basis and existing Shareholders will commit, as Placees under subscription agreements, to purchase Shares such that new and existing Shareholders will hold both existing Shares and commitments on pro rata basis. The Board may deduct from any dividend payable to any Shareholder on or in respect of a Share all sums of money (if any) presently payable by him to the Company on account of calls with respect to existing Shares, or calls of commitments to purchase Shares pursuant to the subscription agreements or otherwise. The Board may retain any dividend or other monies payable on or in respect of a Share on which the Company has a lien and may apply the same in or towards satisfaction of the liabilities or obligations in respect of which the lien exists.] Highland Principal Commitment [Certain principals of Highland will subscribe for Shares of [•] in the aggregate.]
Regulatory status:	The Company is a registered closed-ended investment company incorporated in Guernsey with limited liability on 30 March 2015 under the provisions of the Companies Law, with registered number 60120. The Company is regulated by the GFSC, and is not regulated by any regulator other than the GFSC.

Acis CLO Management has entered into a Master Sub-Advisory Agreement (the "ACLOM Sub-Advisory Agreement", and together with the HCLOM Sub-Advisory Agreement and the ACM Sub-Advisory Agreement, the "Sub-Advisory Agreements") and a Staff and Services Agreement (the "ACLOM Staff and Services Agreement", and the ACLOM Staff and Services Agreement together with the HCLOM Staff and Services Agreement and the ACM Staff and Services Agreement, the "Staff and Services Agreements" and, and the ACLOM Staff and Services Agreement together with the Sub-Advisory Agreement, the "ACLOM Service Agreements" and the ACLOM Service Agreements with the ACM Service Agreements and the HCLOM Service Agreements, the "Service Agreements") in place with Acis, pursuant to which Acis provides credit research and operational support to Acis CLO Management, including services in connection with determining the composition, nature and timing of changes to portfolios of Acis CLO 7 for which Acis CLO Management acts as CLO Manager, the due diligence of actual or potential investments, the execution of investment transactions approved by Acis CLO Management, and certain loan services and administrative services.

Administrator

State Street (Guernsey) Limited has been appointed as administrator to the Company pursuant to the Administration Agreement. In such capacity, the Administrator is responsible for the day-to-day administration of the Company. Under the terms of the Administration Agreement, the Administrator is entitled to an annual administration fee of up to [•] per cent per annum of the Net Asset Value of the Company [NTD: To conform to updated fee schedule.] calculated and payable monthly in arrears, and other miscellaneous fees and expenses reimbursed, in each case, as determined in the Administration Agreement.

Registrar

State Street (Guernsey) Limited has been appointed as Registrar of the Company. Under the terms of the Registrar Agreement, the Registrar is entitled to receive an annual fee of [•].

Operating Expenses:

Except as provided below, the Portfolio Manager will pay all of its own Overhead without reimbursement by the Company.

Subject to the following paragraph, the Company shall pay or reimburse the Portfolio Manager and its affiliates for all Operating Expenses. See "Company Directors and Administration—The Portfolio Manager—Highland Fees".

Exculpation:

The Portfolio Manager will assume no responsibility under the Portfolio Management Agreement other than to render the services called for thereunder and affecting the duties and functions that have been delegated to it thereunder in good faith and, subject to the standard of conduct described in the next succeeding sentence. The Portfolio Manager will not be responsible for any action or inaction of the Company in declining to follow any advice, recommendation or direction of the Portfolio Manager.

The Portfolio Manager, its affiliates, any officer, director, manager, employee or any direct or indirect partner, member, stockholder, agent or legal representative (e.g., executors, guardians and trustees) of the Portfolio Manager and its affiliates, including persons formerly serving in such capacities, any person who serves at the request of the Portfolio Manager or the Board pursuant to the Articles, on behalf of the Company as an officer, director, manager, partner, member, employee, stockholder, agent or legal representative of any other person serving at the request of the Portfolio Manager or the Board pursuant to the Articles on behalf of the Company in such capacity as listed above, each member of the Advisory Board and each member of any subcommittee thereof (including, solely in connection with matters relating to the Advisory Board or such subcommittee, the Shareholder and/or other person on whose behalf the Advisory Board member or subcommittee member is serving and such Shareholder's and/or other person's affiliates) and any assignees or successors of the foregoing (each, an "Indemnified Person") will incur no liability to the Company or any Shareholder in the absence of a finding by any court or governmental body of competent jurisdiction in a final, non-appealable judgment that the commission by such person of an action, or the omission by such person to take an action, constitutes bad faith, gross negligence or wilful misconduct (a "Triggering Event"), except as otherwise required by applicable law. Any claims arising from a Triggering Event shall be limited to actual out-of-pocket damages incurred as a direct consequence of the Triggering Event, and shall not include punitive, consequential or other damages or lost profits.

Indemnification:	To the fullest extent permitted by applicable law, the Company will be required to indemnify each Indemnified Person for any losses, claims, damages or liabilities incurred by such Indemnified Person or to which such Indemnified Person may be subject by reason of its activities in connection with the conduct of the business or affairs of the Fund and/or a Portfolio Company, unless such losses result from an Indemnified Person's Triggering Event. The Indemnified Persons shall be entitled to advancement of expenses as they are incurred in connection with the investigation, defence or resolution of any claim that may be subject to indemnification, subject to providing an undertaking to repay any amounts ultimately determined not to be subject to indemnification due to a Triggering Event. Each member of the Advisory Board and each member of any subcommittee thereof and, solely in connection with matters relating to the Advisory Board or such subcommittee, the Shareholder and/or other person or entity on whose behalf such Advisory Board member or subcommittee member serves, will have the benefit of similar exculpation and indemnification rights unless it has not acted in good faith. Notwithstanding the foregoing or anything to the contrary set forth herein, the Company will not provide for the exculpation or indemnification of any Indemnified Person for any liability (including liability under U.S. federal securities laws which, under certain circumstances, impose liability even on persons that act in good faith), to the extent that such liability may not be waived, modified or limited under applicable law.
Regulatory status of Portfolio Manager:	Highland Capital Management, L.P. is an investment adviser registered under the Investment Advisers Act of 1940, as amended (the "Investment Advisers Act") and, as such, is subject to the provisions of the Investment Advisers Act.
Regulatory status of Custodian:	The Custodian of the Company is State Street Custodial Services (Ireland) Limited, which is authorised as an Investment Business Firm under Section 10 of the Irish Investment Intermediaries Act, 1995 (as amended), will provide custody and banking services.
Calculation of Net Asset Value:	The Company intends to publish the Net Asset Value per Share on a quarterly basis, within 15 Business Days following the relevant quarter-end. Notice will be provided by the Administrator by e-mail.

Net Asset Value: As at the latest practicable date prior to the publication of this Offering Memorandum, the unaudited net asset value per share of the Net Asset Value was [•].

Type and class of securities: The Shares being offered under the Placing are ordinary shares of no par value in the capital of the Company.

Currency of the securities issue: U.S. Dollar

Number of securities in issue: It is expected that the issued share capital of the Company (all of which shares will be fully paid) immediately following the Placing will consist of in excess of [•] million Shares.

There are no non-paid up Shares in issue.

Description of the rights attaching to the securities: The holders of the Shares shall be entitled to receive, and to participate in, any dividends declared in relation to the Shares that they hold.

On a winding-up or a return of capital by the Company, the net assets of the Company attributable to the Shares shall be divided pro rata among the holders of the Shares.

The Shares shall carry the right to receive notice of, attend and vote at general meetings of the Company.

Unless otherwise authorised by a special resolution, the Company shall not allot equity securities on any terms unless the Company has first made an offer to each person who holds Shares to allot to him, on the same or more favourable terms, such proportion of those equity securities that is as nearly as practicable (fractions being disregarded) equal to the proportion held by the relevant person of the Shares.

Restrictions on the free transferability of the securities: The Company has elected to impose certain restrictions (pursuant to its Articles) on the Placing and on the future trading of the Shares so that the Company will not be required to register the offer and sale of the Shares under the U.S. Securities Act, so that the Company will not have an obligation to register as an investment company under the U.S. Investment Company Act and related rules and to address certain ERISA, U.S. Tax Code and other considerations. These transfer restrictions, which will remain in effect until the Company determines in its sole discretion to remove them, may adversely affect the ability of Shareholders to trade the Shares. Due to the restrictions described below, potential investors in the United States and U.S. Persons (including persons acting for the account or benefit of any U.S. Person) are advised to consult legal counsel prior to making any offer, resale, exercise, pledge or other transfer of the Shares.

Subject to certain exceptions, the Placing is only being made outside the United States to non-U.S. Persons in reliance on Regulation S under the U.S. Securities Act.

Dividend policy:

Whilst not forming part of the investment objective or policy of the Company, dividends will be payable in respect of each calendar quarter, payable in the month following the end of such quarter. During the Investment Period excess cash or interest from the portfolio will be reinvested by the Company with the objective of growing the NAV.

During the Investment Period, on the 15th of February, May, August and November of each calendar year. beginning May 15, 2018 (each a "Quarterly Dividend Date"), the Company will target a dividend to each Shareholder at a rate of at least 8% per annum, based on such Shareholder's aggregate capital contributions as of the prior Quarterly Dividend Date (the "Target Dividend").

Following the Investment Period, excess cash or, interest and proceeds from the realization of portfolio investments after satisfaction of all expenses, debts, liabilities and obligations of the Company will be distributed by the Company to the Shareholders as a dividend on the Quarterly Dividend Date in accordance with the distribution priority as follows (the "Distribution Priority"):

First, 100% to the Shareholders pro rata based on the number of Shares held until each Shareholder has received aggregate distributions from the Company equal to all capital contributions made by such Shareholder plus an amount necessary for such Shareholder to receive a cumulative rate of return of 8.0% per annum, compounded annually;

Second, 100% to the Portfolio Manager until the Portfolio Manager has received aggregate distributions from the Company equal to 20% of the sum of all distributions made in excess of aggregate capital contributions made by Shareholders;

Third, 80% to the Shareholders pro rata based on the number of Shares held and 20% to the Portfolio Manager until each Shareholder has received aggregate distributions from the Company equal to all capital contributions made by such Shareholder plus an amount necessary for such shareholder to receive a cumulative rate of return of 16% per annum, compounded annually; and Thereafter, 70% to the Shareholders pro rata based on the number of Shares held and 30% to the Portfolio Manager.

The total net proceeds and an estimate of the total expenses of the issue/offer, including estimated expenses charged to the investor by the issuer or the offeror:	On the basis that [●] million Shares are issued under the Placing, Net Placing Proceeds are expected to be approximately U.S. $[●]. The initial expenses of the Company are those which are necessary for the Placing, and are expected to be less than [●] per cent of the Gross Placing Proceeds. These expenses will be paid on or around the Placing and will include, without limitation: the cost of settlement and escrow arrangements; printing, advertising and distribution costs; legal fees; and any other applicable expenses.
Reasons for the offer and use of proceeds:	The Company is making the offer in order to raise the Net Placing Proceeds which will be invested in accordance with the Company's investment objective and policy, including its indirect investment the Management Companies.
Expenses related to the Placing:	The expenses of the Company related to the Placing are expected to be less than [●] per cent of the Gross Placing Proceeds. These expenses will be paid on or around the Placing and will include, without limitation: the cost of settlement and escrow arrangements; printing, advertising and distribution costs; legal fees; and any other applicable expenses. All costs associated with the Placing will be borne by the Company after the Placing and therefore the Net Placing Proceeds will be lower than the Gross Placing Proceeds immediately following the Placing.
Ongoing annual expenses:	Based on Gross Placing Proceeds of U.S. $[●] million the Company's total annual expenses are estimated to be approximately U.S. $[●], or less than [●] per cent of the net proceeds. These expenses will include the following: Highland, Acis and the Management Companies Please see above in section titled "Company Directors and Administration—Portfolio Manager—Highland Fees". Administrator Under the terms of the Administration Agreement, the Administrator is entitled to an annual administration fee of up to [●] per cent per annum of the Net Asset Value [NTD: To conform to updated fee schedule.] of the Company per annum, payable monthly in arrears, and other miscellaneous fees and expenses reimbursed, in each case, as determined in the agreement. Registrar The Registrar is entitled to an annual fee of £[2,500●] from the Company for creation and maintenance of the share register. Other registrar activity is charged for in accordance with the Registrar's normal tariff as published from time to time. Custodian Under the terms of the Custody Agreement, the Custodian is entitled to receive transaction charges and sub custodian charges will be recovered by the Custodian from the Company as they are incurred by the relevant sub custodian. All such charges shall be charged at normal commercial rates.

Directors

The Directors are remunerated for their services at a fee of £35,000 per annum (£40,000 for the Chairman). For more information in relation to the remuneration of the Directors, please refer to the section of this Offering Memorandum entitled "Memorandum and Articles" in "Additional Information on the Company".

Other operational expenses

All other ongoing operational expenses of the Company (excluding fees paid to service providers as detailed above) are borne by the Company including, without limitation: the incidental costs of making its investments and the implementation of its investment objective and policy; travel, accommodation and printing costs; the cost of directors' and officers' liability insurance; corporate brokers' fees; audit and legal fees; and brokerage fees. All reasonably and properly incurred out-of-pocket expenses of the Administrator, the Registrar, the Custodian, and the Directors relating to the Company are borne by the Company.

Save to the extent disclosed in the sections set out above, there is no specific monetary cap on the amount of fees, charges, and expenses which are directly or indirectly borne by investors. The amount of charges and expenses which are borne by an investor may vary from year to year.

For more information on expenses charged during the most recent financial year, prospective investors should review the Company's annual audited financial statements (if any) for the prior financial year.

Terms and conditions of the offer:

[•] million Shares are being marketed and are available under the Placing.

Shares will be issued under the Placing at a price per Share based on the then current NAV of the Company. The maximum number of Shares to be issued by the Company is 325 million and the minimum number of Shares will be [•] million.

Placees may acquire of Shares pursuant a combination of issuance and transfer from existing Shareholders.

Placees may also enter into commitments to acquire Shares pursuant a combination of issuance and transfer from existing Shareholders.

The Placing is not being underwritten.

No fractions of Shares will be issued. If a fractional entitlement to a Share arises on an application, the number of Shares issued will be rounded down to the nearest whole number. Any rounding will be retained for the benefit of the Company.

Press Releases:

Neither the Portfolio Manager, the Company nor any Shareholder shall issue or approve any press release or other announcement referring to the identity of a Shareholder without the prior written consent of the applicable Shareholder.

RISK FACTORS

Investment in the Company should be regarded as long term in nature and involving a high degree of risk. Accordingly, prospective investors should consider carefully all of the information set out in this Offering Memorandum and the risks relating to the Company and the Shares including, in particular, the risks described below which are not presented in any order of priority and may not be an exhaustive list or explanation of all the risks which investors may face when making an investment in the Shares and should be used as guidance only.

Only those risks which are believed to be material and currently known to the Company in relation to itself and its industry as at the date of this Offering Memorandum have been disclosed. Additional risks and uncertainties not currently known, or deemed immaterial at the date of this Offering Memorandum, may also have an adverse effect on the business, results of operations, financial conditions and prospects of the Company and its net asset value. Potential investors should review this Offering Memorandum carefully and in its entirety and consult with their professional advisers before making an application to invest in the Shares.

Prospective investors should note that the risks relating to the Company and the Shares summarised in the section of this document headed "Summary" are the risks that the Directors believe to be the most essential to an assessment by a prospective investor of whether to consider an investment in the Shares. However, as the risks which the Company faces relate to events and depend on circumstances that may or may not occur in the future, prospective investors should consider not only the information on the key risks summarised in the section of this document headed "Summary" but also, among other things, the risks and uncertainties described below.

RISKS RELATING TO THE COMPANY

The Company is a recently incorporated company incorporated under the laws of Guernsey with limited history

The Company was incorporated under the laws of Guernsey on 30 March 2015. It commenced operations after the initial Placing in August 2015. As the Company has a limited operating history, investors have limited information on which to evaluate the Company's ability to achieve its investment objective or implement its investment strategy and provide a satisfactory investment return. An investment in the Company is therefore subject to all the risks and uncertainties associated with a recently formed business, including the risk that the Company will not achieve its investment objective and that the value of an investment in the Company could decline substantially as a consequence. Any failure by the Company to do so may adversely affect its business, financial condition, results of operations and/or its NAV.

The Company's returns and operating cash flows depend on many factors, including the price and performance of the investments, the availability and liquidity of investment opportunities falling within the Company's investment objective and policy, the level and volatility of interest rates, readily accessible short-term borrowings, the conditions in the financial markets and economy, the financial performance of obligors under the investments and the Company's ability successfully to operate its business and execute its investment strategy. There can be no assurance that the Company's investment strategy will be successful.

The Company's target return and target dividend yield are based on estimates and assumptions that are inherently subject to significant business and economic uncertainties and contingencies, and the actual return and dividend yield may be materially lower than the target return and target dividend yield and could be negative

The Company's target return and target dividend yield set forth in this Offering Memorandum are targets only and are based on estimates and assumptions concerning the performance of its investment portfolio which will be subject to a variety of factors including, without limitation, the availability of investment opportunities, asset mix, value, volatility, holding periods, performance of underlying portfolio debt issuers, investment liquidity, borrower default, changes in current market conditions, interest rates, government regulations or other policies, the worldwide economic environment, changes in law and taxation, natural disasters, terrorism, social unrest and civil disturbances or the occurrence of risks described elsewhere in this Offering Memorandum, which are inherently subject to significant business, economic and market uncertainties and contingencies, all of which are beyond the control of the Company and which may adversely affect the Company's ability to achieve its target return and target dividend yield. Such targets are based on market conditions and the economic environment at the time of assessing the proposed targets and the assumption that the Company will be able to implement its investment policy and strategy successfully, and are therefore subject to change. There is no guarantee or assurance that the target return and/or target dividend yield can be achieved at or near the levels set forth in this Offering Memorandum. Accordingly, the Company's actual rate of return and actual dividend yield achieved may be materially lower than the targets, or may result in a loss. A failure to achieve the target return and/or target dividend yield set forth in this Offering Memorandum may adversely affect the Company's business, financial condition, results of operations and/or its NAV.

An investment in the Company will be a speculative investment of a long-term nature and involving a high degree of risk. Shareholders could lose all or a substantial portion of their investment in the Company. Shareholders must have the financial ability, sophistication, experience and willingness to bear the risks of an investment in the Company.

Material changes affecting global debt and equity capital markets may have a negative effect on the Company's business, financial condition, results of operations, and/or its NAV

The global financial markets have experienced extreme volatility and disruption in recent years, as evidenced by a lack of liquidity in the equity and debt capital markets, significant write-offs in the financial services sector, the repricing of credit risk in the credit market and the failure of major financial institutions. Despite actions of governmental authorities, these events contributed to general economic conditions that have materially and adversely affected the broader financial and credit markets and reduced, and in certain circumstances, significantly reduced, the availability of debt and equity capital.

Further, within the banking sector, the default of any institution could lead to defaults by other institutions. Concerns about, or default by, one institution could lead to significant liquidity problems, losses or defaults by other institutions, because the commercial soundness of many financial institutions may be closely related as a result of their credit, trading, clearing or other relationships. This risk is sometimes referred to as "systemic risk" and may adversely affect other third parties with whom the Company deals. The Company may therefore be exposed to systemic risk when the Company deals with various third parties whose creditworthiness may be exposed to such systemic risk.

Recurring market deterioration may materially adversely affect the ability of an issuer whose debt obligations form part of the Company's portfolio, or an issuer whose debt obligations form part of a CLO in which the Company holds CLO Notes, to service its debts or refinance its outstanding debt. Further, such financial market disruptions may have a negative effect on the valuations of the investments (and, by extension, on the Company's NAV), and on the potential for liquidity events involving such investments. In the future, non-performing assets in the Company's portfolio may cause the value of that portfolio to decrease (and, by extension and/or its the NAV to decrease). Adverse economic conditions may also decrease the value of any security obtained in relation to any of the investments.

Conversely, in the event of sustained market improvement, the Company may have access to a reduced number of attractive potential investment opportunities, which also may result in limited returns to Shareholders.

The Company's NAV is subject to valuation risk and the Company can provide no assurance that the NAVs it records from time to time will ultimately be realised

The Company's NAV will be calculated by third parties and will be subject to valuation risk (see the risk factor entitled "The investments may be difficult to value accurately and, as a result, the Company may be subject to valuation risk"). If a valuation estimate provided to the Company by a third party subsequently proves to be incorrect, no adjustment to any previously calculated NAV will be made. Any acquisitions or disposals of Shares based on previous erroneous NAVs may result in losses for shareholders.

The investments held by the Company will be valued quarterly and the Company's Net Asset Value will be calculated based on these values. Therefore, the actual value of the investments at any given time may be different from the value based on which the Company's latest Net Asset Value has been calculated.

Investors should note that where a loan becomes subject to a Forward Purchase Agreement (described further in the section of this Offering Memorandum entitled "Additional Information on the Company") the Company will (subject to certain conditions as set out in the section of this Offering Memorandum entitled "Additional Information on the Company") neither receive the gain nor bear the loss that occurs between the date when the loan is added to the Forward Purchase Agreement and the date when the transfer occurs.

Each of the Company, Acis and the Management Companies is reliant on Highland (acting in its different capacities), asset management subsidiaries and other third party service providers to carry on their businesses and a failure by one or more service providers may materially disrupt the business of the Company and or the Management Companies

The Company has no employees and its directors have all been appointed on a non-executive basis. Highland will, as part of the services to be provided under the terms of the Portfolio Management Agreement, be responsible for selecting the portfolio of investments and the acquisition, disposition or sale of investments and providing the Company with the necessary personnel, credit research and other resources to perform the functions necessary to the business of the Company. In addition, Highland or its affiliates, including Acis or the Management Companies, may also act as CLO Manager in respect of the Managed CLOs from time to time. The Company may also invest in, provide debt financing to, or purchase performance-linked notes from, asset management subsidiaries, affiliated with the Company, Highland or Acis, including the Management Companies, and which may act as the asset manager of certain U.S. or European CLOs in order to satisfy certain U.S. or European risk retention requirements. Therefore, the Company is reliant upon the performance of Highland and/or its affiliates, asset management subsidiaries of the Company and other third party service providers for the performance of certain functions.

Highland CLO Management relies on Highland for access to its employees (which are shared with Highland). Acis CLO Management relies on Acis for access to its employees (which are shared with Acis). Highland and Acis, as applicable, will, as part of the services to be provided under the terms of the Staff and Services Agreements, be responsible for providing the Company with the necessary credit research, back office and other resources to perform the functions necessary to the business of each of the Management Companies, including its management of CLOs. Therefore, each of the Management Companies is reliant upon the performance of Highland and Acis, as applicable, for the performance of essential functions, and may be unable to properly manage CLOs without the support of Highland or Acis, as applicable.

Failure by any service provider to carry out its obligations to the Company or the applicable Management Company in accordance with the applicable duty of care and skill, or at all, or termination of any such appointment may adversely affect the Company's or the applicable Management Company's, as applicable, business, financial condition, results of operations and/or its NAV.

In the event that it is necessary for the Company or the applicable Management Company to replace any third party service provider, it may be that the transition process takes time, increases costs and may adversely affect the Company's or the applicable Management Company's, as applicable, business, financial condition, results of operations and/or its NAV.

The Shares will be subordinated to the rights of any secured Warehouse Loan Facility Provider or holder of any other future indebtedness or preference shares of the Company.

The Company is permitted to issue preference shares and incur indebtedness, including secured debt in the form of one or more Warehouse Loan Facilities or other lending facilities. Such preference shares and indebtedness will rank ahead of the Shares in respect of any distributions or payments by the Company to Shareholders. In an enforcement scenario under any Warehouse Loan Facility, the provider(s) of such facilities will have the ability to enforce their security over the assets of the Company and to dispose of or liquidate (on their own behalf or through a security trustee or receiver) the assets of the Company in a manner which is beyond the control of the Company. In such an enforcement scenario, there is no guarantee that there will be sufficient proceeds from the disposal or liquidation of the Company assets to repay any amounts due and payable on the Shares and this may adversely affect the performance of the Company's business, financial condition, results of operations and/or its NAV.

Exculpation and Indemnification

The Articles contain provisions that, subject to applicable law, reduce or modify the duties that the Indemnified Persons would otherwise owe to the Company and the Shareholders. Under the Articles, the Company will indemnify each Indemnified Person against all losses, liabilities, damages, expenses or costs (including any claim, judgment, award, settlement, reasonable legal and other professional fees and disbursements and other costs or expenses incurred in connection with the defence of any proceeding, whether or not matured or unmatured or whether or not asserted or brought due to contractual or other restrictions, joint or several) (collectively, the "Indemnified Losses") to which an Indemnified Person may become subject by reason of any acts or omissions or any alleged acts or omissions arising out of such Indemnified Person's or any other person's activities in connection with the conduct of the business or affairs of the Company and/or an investment as the Portfolio Manager, its affiliates, any officer, director, manager, employee or any direct or indirect partner, member, stockholder, agent or legal representative (e.g., executors, guardians and trustees) of the Portfolio Manager and its affiliates, including persons formerly serving in such capacities, any person who serves at the request of the Portfolio Manager or the Board pursuant to the Articles on behalf of the Company as an officer, director, manager, partner, member, employee, stockholder, agent or legal representative of any other person serving at the request of the Portfolio Manager or the Board pursuant to the Articles on behalf of the Company in such capacity as listed above, each member of the Advisory Board and each member of any subcommittee thereof (including, solely in connection with matters relating to the Advisory Board or such subcommittee, the Shareholder and/or other person on whose behalf the Advisory Board member or subcommittee member is serving and such Shareholder's and/or other person's affiliates) and any assignees or successors of the foregoing, unless such Indemnified Losses result from any action or omission which constitutes, with respect to such person, a Triggering Event; provided, that notwithstanding the foregoing, the members of the Advisory Board or members of any subcommittee thereof (including, solely in connection with matters relating to the Advisory Board or such subcommittee, the Shareholder and/or other person on whose behalf the Advisory Board member or subcommittee member is serving and such Shareholder's and/or other person's affiliates) shall be subject only to a duty of good faith (it being understood that, to the fullest extent permitted by law, any such member, in determining to take or refrain from taking any action, shall be permitted to take into consideration only the interests of the Shareholder and/or other person represented by such member and, in so doing, shall, to the fullest extent permitted by law, be considered to have acted in good faith). Any claims arising from a Triggering Event shall be limited to actual out-of-pocket damages incurred as a direct consequence of the Triggering Event, and shall not include punitive, consequential or other damages or lost profits.

The fees, costs and expenses (whether or not advanced) and other liabilities resulting from the Fund's indemnification obligations are generally operating expenses and will be paid by or otherwise satisfied out of the assets of the Company. The application of the foregoing standards may result in Shareholders having a more limited right of action in certain cases than they would in the absence of such standards. In particular, a "gross negligence" standard of care has been held in some jurisdictions to involve conduct that is closer to wilful misconduct. As a result of these considerations, even though such provisions in the Articles will not act as a waiver on the part of any Shareholder of any of its rights under applicable U.S. securities laws or other laws, the applicability of which is not permitted to be waived, the Company may bear significant financial losses even where such losses were caused by the negligence (even if heightened) of such Indemnified Persons. Such financial losses may have an adverse effect on the returns to the Shareholders and, if the assets of the Company are insufficient to satisfy the Company's indemnification obligations, may result in the recall by the Board of distributions previously made to the Shareholders, subject to certain limitations set forth in the Articles.

RISKS RELATING TO THE INVESTMENT STRATEGY

General Background relating to the United States and European Risk Retention Requirements

Effective for CLOs on December 24, 2016, the so-called "risk retention" rules promulgated by U.S. federal regulators under the Dodd-Frank Wall Street Reform and Consumer Protection Act (the "Dodd-Frank Act") require a "securitizer" or "sponsor" (which in the case of a CLO is considered the collateral manager) to retain directly or through a "majority-owned affiliate" at least 5% of the credit risk of the securitized assets. Highland CLO Management is being formed with intention of acting as a "majority-owned affiliate" of Highland as a "sponsor" for purposes of holding the applicable Retention Interest under U.S. Risk Retention Rules with respect to Managed CLOs and to provide a vehicle whereby the Company can invest in Managed CLOs. Acis CLO Management is being formed with intention of acting as a "majority-owned affiliate" of Acis as a "sponsor" for purposes of holding the applicable Retention Interest under U.S. Risk Retention Rules with respect to Acis CLO 7 and to provide a vehicle whereby the Company can invest in Acis CLO 7.

The CLOs in which the Company invests may be structured with the intent to be compliant with the European risk retention requirements for securitisation transactions, meaning, collectively, (i) Articles 404-410 of Regulation (EU)

No 575/2013 on prudential requirements for credit institutions and investment firms and amending Regulation (EU) No. 648/2012 (the "CRR") as supplemented by Commission Delegated Regulation (EU) No. 625/2014 (the "CRR Retention Requirements") (ii) Articles 51-54 of the Commission Delegated Regulation (EU) No 231/2013 (the "AIFMD Level 2 Regulation") implementing Article 17 of Directive 2011/61/EU on Alternative Investment Fund Managers (the "AIFMD"), and (iii) Article 254-257 of the Commission Delegated Regulation (EU) 2015/35 implementing Article 135(2) of Directive 2009/138/EC on the taking-up and pursuit of the business of Insurance and Reinsurance, as amended by Directive 201/51/EU (and as supplemented by Articles 254-257 of Commission Delegated Regulation (EU) 2015/35) (the "Solvency II Level 2 Regulation"), each together with any applicable guidance, technical standards and related documents published by any European regulator in relation thereto and any implementing laws or regulations in force in any Member State of the European Union (together with the CRR Retention Requirements and the AIFMD Level 2 Regulation, the "EU Retention Requirements" and, together with the risk retention requirements under the U.S. Risk Retention Rules, the "Retention Requirements"). Any such Company investments in CLOs intended to be compliant with the EU Retention Requirements will continue to be subject to the EU Retention Requirements. However, it is expected that, going forward, the Company's investments in CLOs will be done primarily on an indirect basis through its indirect interest in the Management Companies. As used herein, any reference to the Company's investments in CLOs or CLO Retention Notes shall be deemed to refer primarily to (i) prior to the formation of the Management Companies, the CLO securities the Company acquired directly and (ii) following the formation of the Management Companies, the indirect interests in CLOs it intends to hold through the applicable Management Company. Furthermore, any reference to Managed CLOs or CLOs managed by Highland, Acis and the Management Companies shall be deemed to refer primarily to (i) for CLOs formed prior to the formation of Acis, CLOs managed by Highland (ii) for CLOs formed after the formation of Acis and prior to the formation of Acis CLO Management, CLOs managed by Acis, (iii) for CLOs formed following the formation of Acis CLO Management and prior to the formation of Highland CLO Management, CLOs managed by Acis CLO Management and (iv) for CLOs formed following the formation of Highland CLO Management, CLOs managed by Highland CLO Management.

Although the Company and the Management Companies intend to comply with the Retention Requirements, there has been no explicit guidance regarding how entities may be structured for this purpose and therefore the regulatory environment in which the CLOs intend to operate is highly uncertain. There can be no assurance that applicable governmental authorities will agree that any of the transactions, structures or arrangements entered into by the Company or the applicable Management Company, and the manner in which it expects to hold retention interests, will satisfy the Retention Requirements. If such transactions, structures or arrangements are determined not to comply with the Retention Requirements, the applicable Management Company or the Company (as applicable) could become subject to regulatory action which could in turn materially and adversely affect the Company and/or the potential return to shareholders. The impact of the Retention Requirements on the securitization market is also unclear and such rules may negatively impact the value of the CLOs and their underlying assets.

The investments may be difficult to value accurately and, as a result, the Company may be subject to valuation risk

The Company's portfolio may at any given time include, directly and indirectly, securities or other financial instruments or obligations which are very thinly traded, for which no market exists or which are restricted as to their transferability under applicable securities laws. These investments may be extremely difficult to value accurately. Further, because of overall size or concentration in particular markets of positions held by the Company, the value of its investments which can be liquidated may differ, sometimes significantly, from their valuations. Third party pricing information may not be available for certain positions held by the Company. Investments to be held by the Company may trade with significant bid-ask spreads. The Company is entitled to rely, without independent investigation, upon pricing information and valuations furnished by third parties, including pricing services and valuation sources. In the absence of fraud, gross negligence (under New York law), bad faith or manifest error, valuation determinations in accordance with the Company's valuation policy will be conclusive and binding.

Market factors may result in the failure of the investment strategy

Strategy risk is associated with the failure or deterioration of an investment strategy such that most or all investment managers employing that strategy suffer losses. Strategy-specific losses may result from excessive concentration by multiple market participants in the same investment or general economic or other events that adversely affect particular strategies (for example the disruption of historical pricing relationships). Furthermore, an imbalance of supply and demand favouring borrowers could result in yield compression, higher leverage and less favourable terms to the detriment of all investors in the relevant asset class. The investment strategy employed by the Company is speculative and involves substantial risk of loss in the event of a failure or deterioration in the financial markets, although the Company has certain investment limits which define to a degree how it invests. As a result, the Company's investment strategy may fail, and it may be difficult for the Company to amend its investment strategy quickly or at all should certain market factors appear, which may adversely affect the Company's business, financial condition, results of operations and/or its NAV.

The investment strategy of the Company includes investing predominantly in CLO Notes, and, under certain circumstances, asset management subsidiaries, all of which are subject to a risk of loss of principal

The investment strategy of the Company consists of investing predominantly in CLO Notes, directly and indirectly through its investment in the Management Companies, and, under certain circumstances, asset management subsidiaries. The company may also invest in senior secured loans (for the primary purpose of enabling Highland CLO Management to qualify as an "originator" for purposes of the EU Retention Requirements). Such investments may be considered to be subject to a level of risk in the case of deterioration of general economic conditions, which might increase the risk of loss of principal or investment. This could result in losses to the Company which could have a material adverse effect on the Company's business, financial condition, results of operations and/or its NAV.

In the event of a default in relation to an investment, the Company or the CLO in which the Company holds CLO Notes will bear a risk of loss of principal, and accrued interest Performance and investor yield on the Company's investments (including both direct investments by the Company in senior secured loans (for the primary purpose of enabling Highland CLO Management to qualify as an "originator" for purposes of the EU Retention Requirements) and investments in senior secured loans held by CLOs in which the Company holds CLO Notes) may be affected by the default or perceived credit impairment of such investments and by general or sector specific credit spread widening. Credit risks associated with the investments include (among others): (i) the possibility that earnings of an obligor may be insufficient to meet its debt service obligations; (ii) an obligor's assets declining in value; and (iii) the declining creditworthiness, default and potential for insolvency of an obligor during periods of rising interest rates and economic downturn. An economic downturn and/or rising interest rates could severely disrupt the market for the investments and adversely affect the value of the investments and the ability of the obligors thereof or the CLO to repay principal and interest. In turn, this may adversely affect the Company's business, financial condition, results of operations and/or its NAV.

In the event of a default in relation to an investment held by the Company or a CLO in which the Company holds CLO Notes, the Company will bear a risk of loss of principal and accrued interest on that investment. Any such investment may become defaulted for a variety of reasons, including non-payment of principal or interest, as well as breaches of contractual covenants. A defaulted investment may become subject to workout negotiations or may be restructured by, for example, reducing the interest rate, a write-down of the principal, and/or changes to its terms and conditions. Any such process may be extensive and protracted over time, and therefore may result in substantial uncertainty with respect to the ultimate recovery on the defaulted investment. In addition, significant costs might be imposed on the lender, further affecting the value of the investment. The liquidity in such defaulted investments may also be limited and, where a defaulted investment is sold, it is unlikely that the proceeds from such sale will be equal to the amount of unpaid principal and interest owed on that investment. This would adversely affect the value of the Company's investment portfolio and, by extension, its business, financial condition, results of operations and/or its NAV.

In the case of secured loans, restructuring can be an expensive and lengthy process which could have a material negative effect on the Company's anticipated return on the restructured loan. By way of example, it would not be unusual for any costs of enforcement to be paid out in full before the repayment of interest and principal. This would substantially reduce the Company's anticipated return on the restructured loan.

The illiquidity of investments may have an adverse impact on their price and the Company's ability to trade in them or require significant time for capital gains to materialise

Credit markets may from time to time become less liquid, leading to valuation losses on the investments making it difficult to acquire or dispose of them at prices the Company considers their fair value. Accordingly, this may impair the Company's ability to respond to market movements and the Company may experience adverse price movements upon liquidation of such investments. Liquidation of portions of the portfolio under these circumstances could produce realised losses. The size of the Company's positions may magnify the effect of a decrease in market liquidity for such instruments. Settlement of transactions may be subject to delay and uncertainty. Such illiquidity may result from various factors, such as the nature of the instrument being traded, or the nature and/or maturity of the market in which it is being traded, the size of the position being traded, or lack of an established market for the relevant securities. Even where there is an established market, the price and/or liquidity of instruments in that market may be materially affected by certain factors.

The investment objective of the Company is to provide investors with stable income returns and capital appreciation from exposure on an indirect basis to a portfolio of predominantly floating rate senior secured loans, CLO Notes and, under certain circumstances, asset management subsidiaries. Investments which are in the form of loans are not as easily purchased or sold as publicly traded securities due to the unique and more customised nature of the debt agreement and the private syndication process. As a result, there may be a significant period between the date that the Company makes an investment and the date that any capital gain or loss on such investment is realised. Moreover, the sale of restricted and illiquid securities may result in higher brokerage charges or dealer discounts and other selling expenses than the sale of securities eligible for trading on national securities exchanges or in the over-the-counter markets. Further, the Company may not be able readily to dispose of such illiquid investments and, in some cases, may be contractually prohibited from disposing of such investments for a specified period of time, which could materially and adversely affect the Company's business, financial condition, results of operations and/or its NAV. See further the risk factor titled "The Company will be unable to liquidate, sell, hedge or otherwise mitigate its credit risk under or associated with the CLO Retention Notes until such time as the securities of the relevant CLO have been redeemed in full (whether at final maturity or early redemption)" below.

The Company may hold a relatively concentrated portfolio

The Company may hold a relatively concentrated portfolio. There is a risk that the Company could be subject to significant losses if any obligor, especially one with whom the Company had a concentration of investments, were to default or suffer some other material adverse change. The level of defaults in the portfolio and the losses suffered on such defaults may increase in the event of adverse financial or credit market conditions. Any of these factors could adversely affect the value of the Company's investment portfolio and, by extension, its business, financial condition, results of operations and/or its NAV.

A significant portion of the Company's investment portfolio is expected to comprise directly or indirectly of Managed CLOs advised by Highland, Acis or a Management Company, as the CLO Manager. The performance of the Company's portfolio depends heavily on the skills of Highland, Acis and the Management Companies, as applicable, in analyzing, selecting and managing the relevant CLOs. See further the sections titled "Risks Relating to Highland and Acis" and "Conflicts of Interest" below.

The Company may be exposed to foreign exchange risk, which may have an adverse impact on the value of its assets and on its results of operations

The base currency of the Company is the U.S. Dollar. Certain of the Company's assets may be invested in securities and other investments which are denominated in other currencies. Accordingly, the Company will necessarily be subject to foreign exchange risks and the value of its assets may be affected unfavourably by fluctuations in currency rates. Although the Company may utilise financial instruments to hedge against declines in the value of such assets as a result of changes in currency exchange rates, it is not obliged to do so and may terminate any hedge contract at any time. Moreover, it may not be possible for the Company to hedge against a particular change or event at an acceptable price or at all. In addition, there can be no assurance that any attempt to hedge against a particular change or event would be successful, and any such hedging failure could materially and adversely affect the Company's business, financial condition, results of operations and/or its NAV.

The hedging arrangements of the Company may not be successful

The Company's economic risks cannot be effectively hedged. However, in connection with the financing of certain investments, the Company may employ hedging techniques designed to reduce the risks of adverse movements in interest rates, securities' prices and/or currency exchange rates. However, some residual risk may remain as a result of imperfections and inconsistencies in the market and/or in the hedging contract. While such hedging transactions may reduce certain risks, they create others. The Company directly or indirectly (through affiliates and subsidiaries) will not be permitted to enter into hedging with respect to the CLO Retention Notes.

The Company may utilise certain derivative instruments (including, without limitation, single-name credit default swaps, credit default swap and loan credit default swap indexes, equity futures and equity indexes) for hedging purposes. However, even if used primarily for hedging purposes, the prices of derivative instruments are highly volatile, and acquiring or selling such instruments involves certain leveraged risks. There may be an imperfect correlation between the instrument acquired for hedging purposes and the investments or market sectors being hedged, in which case, a speculative element is added to the highly leveraged position acquired through a derivative instrument primarily for hedging purposes. In particular, the investments which are in the form of loans may, in certain circumstances, be repaid at any time on short notice at no cost, and accordingly the hedging of interest rate or currency risk in such circumstances may be less precise than is the case with investments in the public securities market.

Furthermore, default by any hedging counterparty in the performance of its obligations could subject the investments to unwanted credit and market risks. Accordingly, although the Company may benefit from the use of hedging strategies, failure to properly hedge the market risk in the investments and/or default of a counterparty in the performance of its obligations under a hedging contract may have a material adverse effect on the Company's business, financial condition, results of operations and/or its NAV, and such material adverse effects may exceed those which may have resulted had no hedging strategy been employed.

Under certain hedging contracts that the Company may enter into, the Company may be required to grant security interests over some of its assets to the relevant counterparty as collateral

In connection with certain hedging contracts, the Company may be required to grant security interests over some of its assets to the relevant counterparty to such hedging contract as collateral. Such hedging contracts typically will give the counterparty the right to terminate the agreement upon the occurrence of certain events. Such termination events may include, among others, a failure by the Company to pay amounts owed when due, a failure to provide required reports or financial statements, a decline in the value of the investments secured as collateral, a failure to maintain sufficient collateral coverage, a failure by the Company to comply with its investment policy and any investment restrictions, key changes in the Company's management, a significant reduction in the Company's Net Asset Value, and material violations of the terms, representations, warranties or covenants contained in the hedging contract, as well as other events determined by the counterparty. If a termination event were to occur, there may be a material adverse effect on the Company's business, financial condition, results of operations and/or its NAV.

The use of leverage by the Company may increase the volatility of returns and providers of leverage would rank ahead of investors in the Company in the event of insolvency

The Company may employ leverage in order to increase investment exposure with a view to achieving its target return, in the form of one or more committed credit facilities. Leverage may come in the form of CLO securitizations.

While leverage presents opportunities for increasing total returns, it can also have the effect of increasing the volatility of the Shares, including the risk of total loss of the amount invested. If income and capital appreciation on investments made with borrowed funds are less than the costs of the leverage, the Net Asset Value will decrease. The effect of the use of leverage is to increase the investment exposure, the result of which is that, in a market that moves adversely, the possible resulting loss to investors' capital would be greater than if leverage were not used. As a result of leverage, small changes in the value of the underlying assets may cause a relatively large change in the value of the Company. Many financial instruments used to employ leverage are subject to variation or other interim margin requirements, which may force premature liquidation of investments. Investors should be aware that the use of leverage by the Company can be considered to multiply the leverage effect on their investment returns in the Company. As described above, while this effect may be beneficial when markets' movements are favourable, it may result in a substantial loss of capital when markets' movements are unfavourable.

In addition, such leverage may involve granting of security or the outright transfer of specific investments in the portfolio. Since there is no security created in respect of the Shares, any insolvency of the Shareholders could rank behind the Company's financing and hedging counterparties, whose claims will be considered as indebtedness of the Company and may be secured. Leverage does create opportunities for greater total returns on the investments but simultaneously may create special risk considerations by exaggerating changes in the total value of the Net Asset Value and in the yield on the investments held by the Company.

In addition, to the extent leverage is employed, the Company may be required to refinance transactions from time to time. On each refinancing, the applicable counterparty may choose to re-negotiate the terms of each transaction or indeed not to refinance the transaction at all. To the extent refinancing facilities are not available in the market at economic rates or at all, the Company may be required to sell assets at disadvantageous prices. Any such deleveraging may result in losses on investments which could be severe and accordingly could have a material adverse effect on the Company's business, financial condition, results of operations and/or its NAV.

Interest rate fluctuations could expose the Company to additional costs and losses

The prices of the investments that may be held by the Company tend to be sensitive to interest rate fluctuations and unexpected fluctuations in interest rates could cause the corresponding prices of a position to move in directions which were not initially anticipated. In addition, interest rate increases generally will increase the interest carrying costs of borrowed securities and leveraged investments. Further, the Company may invest in both floating and fixed rate securities and interest rate movements will affect those respective securities differently. In particular, when interest rates rise significantly the value of fixed interest rate securities often fall. Furthermore, to the extent that interest rate assumptions underlie the hedging of a particular position, fluctuations in interest rates could invalidate those underlying assumptions and expose the Company to additional costs and losses. Any of the above factors could materially and adversely affect the Company's business, financial condition, results of operations and/or its NAV.

Additional Information about LIBOR

In a speech on 27 July 2017, Andrew Bailey, the Chief Executive of the Financial Conduct Authority ("FCA"), announced the FCA's intention to cease sustaining LIBOR from the end of 2021.

The FCA has statutory powers to compel panel banks to contribute to LIBOR where necessary. The FCA has decided not to ask, or to require, that panel banks continue to submit contributions to LIBOR beyond the end of 2021. The FCA has indicated that the current panel banks will voluntarily sustain LIBOR until the end of 2021. The FCA does not intend to sustain LIBOR through using its influence or legal powers beyond that date. The FCA's intention is that after 2021, it will no longer be necessary for the FCA to persuade, or to compel, banks to submit to LIBOR due to the development of alternative benchmark rates, which the FCA suggested should be based on transactions and not on reference rates that do not have active underlying markets to support them. As of the date of this Offering Memorandum, no specific alternative rates have been generally agreed in the CLO market.

It is possible that the LIBOR administrator, ICE Benchmark Administration, and the panel banks could continue to produce LIBOR on the current basis after 2021, if they are willing and able to do so. However, the survival of LIBOR in its current form, or at all, is not guaranteed after 2021 and, if LIBOR in its current form does not survive, it could cause a disruption in the credit markets generally, which could negatively impact the market value and/or transferability of the Notes.

It is currently unclear how LIBOR would be determined pursuant to existing underlying CLO indentures if LIBOR ceased to exist. If an alternative or a successor benchmark rate were determined, it may increase the risk of a mismatch between the interest rate applicable to the underlying loan assets and the interest rate applicable to the underlying collateral obligations of the CLOs held by the Company. Such mismatch could have a material adverse effect on the value and liquidity of the CLO Notes held by the Company.

Investors should be aware that: (a) any of these changes or any other changes to LIBOR could affect the level of the published rate, including to cause it to be lower and/or more volatile than it would otherwise be; (b) if the applicable rate of interest on any collateral obligation held by the Company is calculated with reference to a currency or tenor which is discontinued, such rate of interest will then be determined by the provisions of the affected collateral obligation, which may include determination by the relevant calculation agent in its discretion; (c) the administrator of LIBOR will not have any involvement in the collateral obligations or notes linked to those obligations and may take any actions in respect of LIBOR without regard to the effect of such actions on the collateral obligations or the notes; and (d) any uncertainty in the value of LIBOR or the admissions made by financial institutions that LIBOR has been manipulated or any uncertainty in the prominence of LIBOR as a benchmark interest rate due to the recent regulatory reforms may adversely affect liquidity of the collateral obligations or the notes in the secondary market and their market value. Any of the above or any other significant change to the setting of LIBOR could materially and adversely affect the Company's business, financial condition, results of operations and/or its NAV.

In the event of the insolvency of an obligor in respect of an investment, or of an underlying obligor in respect of an investment, the return on such investment to the Company may be adversely impacted by the insolvency regime or insolvency regimes which may apply to that obligor or underlying obligor and any of their respective assets

In the event of the insolvency of an obligor in respect of an investment (and in the case of the CLO Notes, the obligors of the assets within the relevant CLO's portfolio), the Company's (or the CLO issuer's, in the case of CLO Notes) recovery of amounts outstanding in insolvency proceedings may be impacted by the insolvency regimes in force in the jurisdiction of incorporation of such obligor or in the jurisdiction in which such obligor mainly conducts its business (if different from the jurisdiction of incorporation), and/or in the jurisdiction in which the assets of such obligor are located. Such insolvency regimes impose rules for the protection of creditors and may adversely affect the ability to recover such amounts as are outstanding from the insolvent obligor under the investment, which may adversely affect the Company's business, financial condition, results of operations and/or its NAV.

Similarly, the ability of obligors to recover amounts owing to them from insolvent underlying obligors may be adversely impacted by any such insolvency regimes applicable to those underlying obligors, which in turn may adversely affect the abilities of those obligors to make payments due under the investment to the Company on a full or timely basis.

In particular, it should be noted that the United States and a number of European jurisdictions operate unpredictable insolvency regimes which may cause delays to the recovery of amounts owed by insolvent obligors or underlying obligors subject to those regimes. The different insolvency regimes applicable in the different jurisdictions result in a corresponding variability of recovery rates for senior secured loans, entered into or issued in such jurisdictions, any of which may have a material adverse effect on the performance of a CLO and, by extension, the Company's business, financial condition, results of operations and/or its NAV.

A CLO issuer may be subject to losses on investments as a result of insolvency or clawback legislation and/or fraudulent conveyance findings by courts

Various laws enacted for the protection of creditors and stakeholders may apply to certain investments that are debt obligations, although the existence and applicability of such laws will vary between jurisdictions. For example, if a court were to find that an obligor did not receive fair consideration or reasonably equivalent value for incurring indebtedness evidenced by an investment and the grant of any security interest securing such investment, and, after giving effect to such indebtedness, the obligor: (i) was insolvent; (ii) was engaged in a business for which the assets remaining in such obligor constituted unreasonably small capital; or (iii) intended to incur, or believed that it would incur, debts beyond its ability to pay such debts as they mature, such court may: (a) invalidate such indebtedness and such security interest as a fraudulent conveyance; (b) subordinate such indebtedness to existing or future creditors of the obligor; or (c) recover amounts previously paid by the obligor (including to a CLO issuer) in satisfaction of such indebtedness or proceeds of such security interest previously applied in satisfaction of such indebtedness. In addition, if an obligor in whose debt a CLO issuer has an investment becomes insolvent, any payment made on such investment may be subject to avoidance, cancellation and/or clawback as a "preference" if made within a certain period of time (which for example under some current laws may be as long as two years) before insolvency.

In general, if payments on an investment are voidable, whether as fraudulent conveyances, extortionate transactions or preferences, such payments may be recaptured either from the initial recipient or from subsequent transferees of such payments. To the extent that any such payments are recaptured from a CLO issuer, there will be an adverse effect on the performance of the CLO issuer and, by extension, on the Company's business, financial condition, results of operations and/or its NAV.

The due diligence process that the Company plans to undertake in evaluating specific investment opportunities may not reveal all facts that may be relevant in connection with such investment opportunities and any corporate mismanagement, fraud or accounting irregularities may materially affect the integrity of the Company's due diligence on investment opportunities

When conducting due diligence and making an assessment regarding an investment, the Company will be required to rely on resources available to it, including internal sources of information as well as information provided by existing and potential obligors, any equity sponsor(s), lenders and other independent sources. The due diligence process may at times be required to rely on limited or incomplete information.

The Portfolio Manager will select investments on the Company's behalf in part on the basis of information and data relating to potential investments filed with various government regulators and publicly available or made directly available to the Portfolio Manager by the entities filing such information or third parties. Although the Portfolio Manager will evaluate all such information and data and seek independent corroboration when it considers it appropriate and reasonably available, the Portfolio Manager will not be in a position to confirm the completeness, genuineness or accuracy of such information and data. The Portfolio Manager is dependent upon the integrity of the management of the entities filing such information and of such third parties as well as the financial reporting process in general.

The value of an investment made by the Portfolio Manager on the Company's behalf may be affected by fraud, misrepresentation or omission on the part of an obligor, underlying obligor, any related parties to such obligor or underlying obligor, or by other parties to the investment (or any related collateral and security arrangements). Such fraud, misrepresentation or omission may adversely affect the value of the investment and/or the value of the collateral underlying the investment in question and may adversely affect the ability of the Portfolio Manager's on the Company's behalf to enforce its contractual rights relating to that investment or the relevant obligor's ability to repay the principal or interest on the investment.

Investment analysis and decisions by the Portfolio Manager may be undertaken on an expedited basis in order to make it possible for the Portfolio Manager to take advantage of short-lived investment opportunities. In such cases, the available information at the time of an investment decision may be limited, inaccurate and/or incomplete. Furthermore, the Portfolio Manager may not have sufficient time to evaluate fully such information even if it is available.

Accordingly, the Portfolio Manager cannot guarantee that the due diligence investigation it carries out with respect to any investment opportunity will reveal or highlight all relevant facts that may be necessary or helpful in evaluating such investment opportunity. Any failure by the Portfolio Manager to identify relevant facts through the due diligence process may cause it to make inappropriate investment decisions, which may have a material adverse effect on the Company's business, financial condition, results of operations and/or its NAV.

The collateral and security arrangements attached to an investment may not have been properly created or perfected, or may be subject to other legal or regulatory restrictions

The collateral and security arrangements in relation to secured obligations in which the Company may invest (and the security arrangements relating to the underlying assets of CLOs) will be subject to such security or collateral having been correctly created and perfected and any applicable legal or regulatory requirements which may restrict the giving of collateral or security by an obligor, such as, for example, thin capitalisation, over-indebtedness, financial assistance and corporate benefit requirements. If the investments do not benefit from the expected collateral or security arrangements, this may adversely affect the value of, or in the event of a default, the recovery of principal or interest from, such investments. Accordingly, any such failure properly to create or perfect collateral and security interests attaching to the investments may adversely affect the performance of the CLO issuer and/or the Company and, by extension, the Company's business, financial condition, results of operations and/or its NAV.

The investments will be based in part on valuations of collateral which are subject to assumptions and factors that may be incomplete, inherently uncertain or subject to change

A component of the Company's analysis of the desirability of making a given investment relates to the estimated residual or recovery value of such investments in the event of the insolvency of the obligor (and in the case of the CLO Notes, the obligors of the assets within the relevant CLO's portfolio). This residual or recovery value will be driven primarily by the value of the anticipated future cash flows of the obligor's business and by the value of any underlying assets constituting the collateral for such investment. The anticipated future cash flows of the obligor's business and the value of collateral can, however, be extremely difficult to predict as in certain circumstances market quotations and third party pricing information may not be available. If the recovery value of the collateral associated with the investments in which the Company or a CLO issuer invests decreases or is materially worse than expected by the Company or a CLO issuer (as applicable), such a decrease or deficiency may affect the value of the investments made by the Company or a CLO issuer. Accordingly, there will be an adverse effect on the performance of the CLO issuer and/or the Company and, by extension, on the Company's business, financial condition, results of operations and/or its NAV.

CLO Income Notes are volatile and interest and principal payments payable on the CLO Income Notes are not fixed CLO Income Notes are the most subordinated tranche of a CLO and all payments of principal and interest on such CLO Income Notes are fully subordinated. Interest and principal payments are not fixed but are based on residual amounts available to make such payments. As a result, payments on such CLO Income Notes will be made by the CLO issuer to the extent of available funds, and no payments thereon will be made until amongst other things (a) the payment of certain costs, fees and expenses have been made and (b) interest and principal (respectively) has been paid on the more senior notes of the CLO. Non-payment of interest or principal on such CLO Income Notes will be unlikely to cause an event of default in relation to the CLO issuer.

CLO Income Notes represent a highly leveraged investment in the underlying assets of the CLO issuer. Accordingly, it is expected that changes in the market value of such CLO Income Notes will be greater than changes in the market value of the underlying assets of the CLO issuer, which themselves are subject to credit, liquidity, interest rate and other risks. Utilisation of leverage is a speculative investment technique and involves certain risks to investors and will generally magnify the CLO Income Notes investors' opportunities for gain and risk of loss. In certain scenarios, the CLO Income Notes may be subject to a partial or a 100 per cent loss of invested capital. CLO Income Notes represent the most junior securities in a leveraged capital structure. As a result, any deterioration in performance of the asset portfolio of a CLO issuer, including defaults and losses, a reduction of realised yield or other factors, will be borne first by holders of such CLO Income Notes prior to the rest of the capital structure.

CLO Income Notes are a limited recourse obligation of the CLO issuer

CLO Income Notes are a limited recourse obligation of a CLO issuer and amounts payable on CLO Income Notes are payable solely from amounts received in respect of the collateral of the CLO issuer. Payments on CLO Income Notes prior to and following enforcement of the security over the collateral of a CLO issuer are subordinated to the prior payment of certain costs, fees and expenses of, or payable by, the CLO issuer and to payment of principal and interest on more senior notes of the CLO issuer. The holders of CLO Income Notes must rely solely on distributions on the collateral of the CLO for payment of principal and interest, if any, on the CLO Income Notes. There can be no assurance that the distributions on the collateral of a CLO will be sufficient to make payments on the CLO Income Notes. If distributions are insufficient to make payments on the CLO Income Notes, no other assets of the CLO issuer will be available for payment of the deficiency and following realisation of the collateral and the application of the proceeds thereof, the obligations of the CLO issuer to pay such deficiency shall be extinguished. Such shortfall will be borne in the first instance by the CLO Income Notes.

In addition, at any time whilst the CLO Income Notes are outstanding in a CLO, no CLO Income Notes holder shall be entitled to institute against the related CLO issuer, or join in any institution against such CLO issuer of, any bankruptcy, reorganization, arrangement, insolvency, examinership, winding up or liquidation proceedings under any applicable bankruptcy or similar law in connection with any obligations of the CLO issuer relating to the CLO Income Notes or otherwise owed to the CLO Income Notes holder, save for lodging a claim in the liquidation of the CLO issuer which is initiated by another party or taking proceedings to obtain a declaration as to the obligations of the CLO issuer, nor shall it have a claim arising in respect of the share capital of the CLO issuer.

Furthermore, following the establishment of the Management Companies, CLO Income Notes may not be held directly by the Company. As such the Company's interest in the CLO Income Notes may be indirect, and the Management Company, not the Company, will be entitled to exercise voting rights associated with the CLO Income Notes.

CLO Notes have limited liquidity

In addition to the restrictions mentioned in the section titled "The Company will be unable to liquidate, sell, hedge or otherwise mitigate its credit risk under or associated with the CLO Retention Notes until such time as the securities of the relevant CLO have been redeemed in full (whether at final maturity or early redemption)", there will usually be a limited market for notes representing collateralised loan obligations (including the CLO Notes). There is no guarantee that any party to a CLO transaction will make a secondary market in relation to the CLO Notes. There can be no assurance that a secondary market for any CLO Notes will develop or, if a secondary market does develop, that it will provide the holders of CLO Notes with liquidity of investment or that it will continue for the life of such notes. As a result, the Company may have to hold the CLO Notes for an indefinite period of time or until their early redemption date or maturity date. Where a market does exist, to the extent that an investor wants to sell the CLO Notes, the price may, or may not, be at a discount from the outstanding principal amount. There may be additional restrictions on divestment in the terms and conditions of CLO Notes.

Investments in asset management subsidiaries may subject the Company to increased regulatory scrutiny or disputes related to CLOs or other investments managed by such asset management subsidiaries

As part of its business, the Portfolio Manager may advise the Company to invest in asset management subsidiaries, affiliated with the Company, Highland, Acis or the Management Companies and which may act as the asset manager of certain U.S. or European CLOs in order to satisfy certain U.S. or European risk retention requirements. Asset managers of U.S. or European CLOs operate in a highly regulated environment, and are subject to a comprehensive statutory and regulatory regime as well as oversight by governmental agencies. In light of the current conditions in the global financial markets and economy, regulators have increased their focus on the regulation of asset managers in the U.S. and Europe. New or modified regulations and related regulatory guidance, including under Basel III and the Dodd-Frank Act, may have unforeseen or unintended adverse effects on asset managers of CLOs. These international regulations could limit an asset management subsidiary from pursuing certain business opportunities and/or impose additional costs, and otherwise indirectly materially adversely affect the Company's business operations and have other negative consequences.

Investors will not have control over the CLO management activities of Highland, Acis or the Management Companies in CLOs

Highland, Acis and/or the Management Companies, in the capacity of CLO Manager of a CLO, will have the discretion to make collateral management decisions for such CLO, including with respect to asset selection, disposition and amendments of the underlying loans. In exercising such discretion, Highland, Acis and/or the applicable Management Company will be responsible to act solely in the best interests of the applicable CLO issuer, not the Company or any Investor. Any amendment, waiver or modification of an investment could postpone the receipt of payments in respect of such investment and/or reduce distributions to Investors. The shareholders will have no right to compel Highland, Acis or the Management Companies, in their roles as CLO Manager to take or refrain from taking any actions or decisions, and the actions or decisions taken by Highland, Acis or the Management Companies as CLO Manager may expose the Investors to losses on their investment.

United States retention requirements may affect future actions of the Company and negatively impact the leveraged loan market

As part of its business, the Company may invest in asset management subsidiaries, affiliated with the Company, Highland, Acis or the Management Companies and which may act as the asset manager of certain CLOs in order to satisfy the U.S. Risk Retention Rules.

On October 21, 2014, the U.S. Risk Retention Rules were issued and became effective on December 24, 2016 with respect to asset-backed securities collateralized by assets other than residential mortgages. The statements contained herein regarding how compliance with the U.S. Risk Retention Rules may be achieved by a CLO are solely based on publicly available information as of the date hereof. Except with respect to asset-backed securities transactions that satisfy certain exemptions, the U.S. Risk Retention Rules generally require one of the sponsors of asset-backed securities or a "majority-owned affiliate" thereof to retain not less than 5% of the credit risk of the assets collateralizing asset-backed securities. The preamble to the rule text in the U.S. Risk Retention Rules indicates that a party that organizes and initiates a securitization would be the "sponsor." In the case of many collateralized loan obligation transactions, the entity acting as collateral manager typically organizes and initiates transaction and, therefore, would be considered the "sponsor" for U.S. Risk Retention Rules purposes, as further discussed in the preamble. The U.S. Risk Retention Rules provide that if there is more than one "sponsor" of a securitization transaction, each "sponsor" is to ensure that at least one "sponsor" (or its "majority-owned affiliate") retains the requisite U.S. Retention Interest.

It is expected that Highland or Acis, as applicable, will agree to act as "sponsor" for purposes of Managed CLOs in which the Company invests, but there can be no assurance, and no representation, made that any Governmental Authority will agree that such is the case. Highland intends to treat Highland CLO Management as its "majority-owned affiliate" due to its holding of a controlling financial interest in Highland CLO Management as determined under GAAP, although there can be no assurance that Highland CLO Management will be treated as a "majority-owned affiliate" of Highland given the lack of guidance in the U.S. Risk Retention Rules on such affiliated situations. Moreover, there can be no guarantee that Highland will be able to maintain the treatment of Highland CLO Management as a "majority-owned affiliate," particularly if GAAP regulations or interpretations change over time. Acis intends to treat Acis CLO Management as its "majority-owned affiliate" due to its holding of a controlling financial interest in Acis CLO Management as determined under GAAP, although there can be no assurance that Acis CLO Management will be treated as a "majority-owned affiliate" of Acis given the lack of guidance in the U.S. Risk Retention Rules on such affiliated situations. Moreover, there can be no guarantee that Acis will be able to maintain the treatment of Acis CLO Management as a "majority-owned affiliate," particularly if GAAP regulations or interpretations change over time.

At this time, each potential investor should understand that there is uncertainty with respect to what is required to comply with the U.S. Risk Retention Rules in certain circumstances, and therefore there can be no assurance that, with respect to any Managed CLO or other CLO in which the Company invests, the applicable credit risk retention and disclosures with respect to such CLO will enable the applicable CLO Manager or U.S. retention holder to comply with the U.S. Risk Retention Rules.

In addition, there are a number of future uncertainties surrounding, U.S. Risk Retention Rules for CLO Managers, including: (i) the ultimate results of litigation currently in process brought by the Loan Syndications and Trading Association (LSTA), a major industry trade association, challenging, among other things, the regulators' application of U.S. Risk Retention Rules to collateral managers of typical so-called open market CLOs, (ii) proposed legislation designed to exclude from U.S. Risk Retention Rules, collateral managers of certain defined "QCLOs" (qualified CLOs) and (iii) future directives and interpretations by Governmental Authorities with respect to the U.S. Risk Retention Rules. If such publicly available information is altered as a result of the foregoing (or anything else), there can be no assurance that, with respect to any Managed CLO or other CLO in which the Company invests, the applicable credit risk retention and disclosures would be viewed by any Governmental Authority as sufficient to meet the requirements under the U.S. Risk Retention Rules. The failure to satisfy the requirements of the U.S. Risk Retention Rules may have a material and adverse effect on the market value and/or liquidity of the applicable CLO Notes and on Highland, Acis and the Management Companies and the Company's investments therein.

The failure by Highland, Acis and/or the Management Companies to comply with the U.S. Risk Retention Rules may have a material and adverse effect on the Company and/or the Portfolio Manager

The failure by Highland, Acis and/or the applicable Management Company to comply with the U.S. Risk Retention Rules with respect to any Managed CLO may result in regulatory actions and other proceedings being brought against Highland, Acis and/or the applicable Management Company, which could result in such person being required, among other things, to pay damages, transfer interests and/or acquire additional CLO Notes (which may or may not be available at such time for acquisition) or be subject to cease and desist orders or other regulatory action. In addition, a failure to remedy non-compliance with the U.S. Risk Retention Rules may also trigger a "cause" event under the applicable CLO Management Agreement and/or subject Highland, Acis and/or the applicable Management Company to adverse publicity and reputational risk resulting from such non-compliance. In addition, given the lack of clarity under the U.S. Risk Retention Rules with respect to the identity of the party responsible for holding U.S. risk retention interests upon a resignation or removal of a CLO Manager, if Highland, Acis and/or the applicable Management Company resigns or the applicable holders of desire to remove the Portfolio Manager in connection with any such "cause" event, there may be no successor CLO Manager willing to accept appointment as such, in which case Highland, Acis and/or the applicable Management Company will be required to continue to act as CLO Manager under the applicable CLO Management Agreement. As a result of any of the foregoing, the failure of Highland, Acis and/or the applicable Management Company to comply with the U.S. Risk Retention Rules may have a material and adverse effect on the market value and/or liquidity of the Company's investment in the applicable CLO Notes as well as on the business, condition (financial or otherwise), assets, operations or prospects of Highland, Acis and/or the applicable Management Company and the Company.

The Company will be unable to liquidate, sell, hedge or otherwise mitigate its credit risk under or associated with the CLO Retention Notes until such time as the securities of the relevant CLO have been redeemed in full (whether at final maturity or early redemption)

In connection with the intention to comply with the Retention Requirements, each Management Company will need to, amongst other things, (a) on the closing date of a Managed CLO, commit to purchase and retain CLO Notes held in the form and at least the minimum required under the applicable Retention Requirements, as applicable, for the relevant CLO (the "CLO Retention Notes") and (b) undertake that, for so long as any securities of the CLO remain outstanding (including the CLO Retention Notes), it will retain its interest in the CLO Retention Notes and will not (except to the extent permitted by the EU Retention Requirements, the accompanying regulatory technical standards or any other related guidance published by the European Securities and Markets Authority) sell, hedge or otherwise mitigate its credit risk under or associated with such CLO Retention Notes. The Company or the applicable Management Company, as applicable, may make certain representations and/or give certain undertakings in favour of Managed CLOs (and/or certain other transaction parties) in respect of its ongoing retention of the CLO Retention Notes and regarding its agreement to sell certain assets to such Managed CLOs from time to time. There are currently transactions in the market which are similar to the Managed CLOs, however if an applicable regulatory authority supervising investors in a Managed CLO were to conclude that the applicable Management Company was not holding the CLO Retention Notes in accordance with the CRR, it is possible, but far from certain, that this may negatively impact the investors in such Managed CLO. If such investors decided to take action against the Company or the applicable Management Company as a result of any negative impact, this may have an adverse effect on the Company's financial performance and prospects.

In addition, with the intention of achieving classification as an "originator" (as defined in the CRR) and complying with the CRR Retention Requirements if applicable to the relevant CLO, the applicable Management Company would be required to meet the Origination Requirements.

As a result of the above commitments, the applicable Management Company will be unable to liquidate, sell, hedge or otherwise mitigate its credit risk under or associated with the CLO Retention Notes until such time as the securities of the relevant CLO have been redeemed in full (whether at final maturity or early redemption). Consequently, if any shares were to become due and repayable in connection with any resolution for their redemption, the Company, the applicable Management Company will not be obliged to immediately sell, transfer or liquidate the CLO Retention Notes and the proceeds of such CLO Retention Notes (if any) will not be available until the final maturity or early redemption in full of the securities of the relevant CLO. In addition, cash held by the Company will not be able to be used to repay any shares to the extent that such repayment could leave the Company unable to continue to originate and sell assets to the CLO issuers in order to ensure that during the relevant CLO's reinvestment period the Company, the applicable Management Company has met the Origination Requirements.

The Company or the applicable Management Company directly or indirectly, may hold a controlling equity stake in the Managed CLOs; accordingly, upon exercise by the Company or the applicable Management Company an early redemption option will result in a full redemption of the applicable CLO securities. Neither the Company nor the applicable Management Company will generally be able to exercise any early redemption options during a "non-call period" (generally lasting two years) after the closing date of the CLO. As a result of this feature and the EU Retention Requirements, the relevant CLO Retention Notes will not be permitted to be sold, transferred or liquidated during this time. In addition, even after an early redemption option is permitted to be exercised, such an option usually contains a number of conditions to its exercise including, but not limited to, a threshold that the liquidation value of the CLO collateral exceed an amount which would pay (a) all expenses of the CLO and (b) principal and accrued interest on the CLO Notes senior to the CLO Income Notes. If the liquidation value of the portfolio will not achieve this threshold at the time the Company intends to exercise its early redemption option, the CLO will not be able to be optionally redeemed by the Company at such time. In such circumstances, the Company or the applicable Management Company may not redeem the CLO Retention Notes until their final stated maturity (which may be in excess of 12 years), therefore producing no proceeds to pay to Shareholders until this point.

Potential non-compliance with or changes to the United States and European risk retention requirements

The purchase and retention of the CLO Retention Notes in a CLO will be undertaken by the Company or the applicable Management Company with the intention of achieving compliance with the U.S. Risk Retention Rules and/or the EU Retention Requirements by the relevant CLO.

The U.S. Risk Retention Rules and/or EU Retention Requirements may be amended, supplemented or revoked from time to time. There is no guarantee that existing CLOs or future CLOs will be grandfathered into the regime which results from such amendments, supplements or revocations and, as such, the CLOs in which the applicable Management Company is retaining the CLO Retention Notes, may become non-compliant with the U.S. Risk Retention Rules and/or EU Retention Requirements.

Liability for breach of a risk retention letter

The arranger of a CLO and certain other parties of a CLO in which a Management Company agrees to hold the CLO Retention Notes (in such capacity, the "Retention Holder") will require the applicable Management Company to execute a risk retention letter. Under a risk retention letter the applicable Retention Holder will typically be required to, amongst other things, make certain representations, warranties and undertakings: (a) in relation to its acquisition and retention of the CLO Retention Notes for the life of the CLO; and (b) regarding its agreement to sell assets to the relevant CLO from time to time. If the applicable Retention Holder sells or is forced to sell the CLO Retention Notes prior to the maturity of the relevant CLO, or the applicable Retention Holder holds insufficient cash or investments to continually sell the assets to the CLO as described above or for any other reason the applicable Retention Holder is not considered to be an "originator" (as such term is defined in the CRR), the Company may be in breach of the terms of the related risk retention letter. In such circumstances the arranger of the relevant CLO and the other parties to the related risk retention letter would have recourse to the applicable Retention Holder for losses incurred as a result of such breach. Such claims may reduce, or entirely diminish any cash or assets of the Company which may have been available to make payments on the Shares.

RISKS RELATING TO HIGHLAND AND ACIS

Past Performance Not Indicative of Future Results

The past performance of Highland and Acis and their principals and affiliates in other portfolios or investment vehicles, including, without limitation their outstanding CLO transactions, may not be indicative of the results that the Company may be able to achieve. Similarly, the past performance of Highland, Acis and their principals and affiliates over a particular period may not necessarily be indicative of the results that may be expected in future periods. Furthermore, the nature of, and risks associated with, the Company's investments may differ substantially from those investments and strategies undertaken historically by Highland, Acis and their principals and affiliates. There can be no assurance that Highland's or Acis' investment recommendations will perform as well as past investments of Highland or Acis or their principals and affiliates, that the Company will be able to avoid losses or that the Company will be able to make investments similar to the past investments of Highland, Acis and their principals and affiliates. In addition, such past investments may have been made utilizing a leveraged capital structure, an asset mix and fee arrangements that are different from the anticipated capital structure, asset mix and fee arrangements of the Company. Moreover, because the investment criteria that govern investments in the Company's portfolio do not govern the investments and investment strategies of Highland, Acis and their principals and affiliates generally, such investments conducted in accordance with such criteria, and the results they yield, are not directly comparable with, and may differ substantially from other investments undertaken by Highland, Acis and their principals and affiliates.

Acis, as CLO Manager, Relies on Highland to Perform Certain Services

Acis currently relies on Highland, a U.S. SEC-registered investment adviser under common control with Acis, pursuant to the ACM Service Agreements, to provide investment research and recommendations and operational support to Acis, including services in connection with credit research, due diligence of actual or potential investments, the execution of investment transactions, and certain loan services and administrative services. If Highland does not continue to provide such services to Acis, or there is a departure or inability of certain Highland personnel to provide such services to Acis, there can be no assurances that Acis would be able to find a substitute service provider with the same experience as, or on the same terms as its ACM Service Agreements with, Highland. The inability of Acis to perform its duties under the applicable CLO Management Agreements or the ACLOM Services Agreements in accordance with the standard of care specified therein due to the termination of the Service Agreements could result in removal of Acis or Acis CLO Management, as applicable, under the applicable CLO Management Agreements for the Acis CLOs and Acis CLO 7.

Litigation Involving Highland and Acis

[Highland and Acis currently are and have been previously subject to various legal proceedings, many of which have been due to the nature of operating in the distressed loan business in the U.S. The legal process is often the route of last resort to recover amounts due from delinquent borrowers. The following provides a summary description of certain pending litigation against Highland and its affiliates unrelated to its distressed business. We currently do not anticipate these proceedings will have a material negative impact to Highland or Acis.

UBS: Highland and certain affiliated investment vehicles are defendants in a complaint filed on February 24, 2009 New York state court by UBS Securities LLC and UBS AG, London Branch relating to a CLO warehouse facility with respect to which UBS is attempting to extend liability beyond the two entities that bore sole risk of loss under the governing documents. On February 19, 2010, the court dismissed all claims against Highland Capital Management. UBS since has filed additional claims against Highland Capital Management and certain additional investment vehicles. On July 21, 2011, the First Appellate Division again dismissed two of UBS's four claims against Highland Capital, severely limiting the remaining two claims. The underlying trial court proceeding has been stayed pending Appellate Division review of certain of UBS's remaining claims.

Disgruntled Employees: From time to time Highland is party to disputes with disgruntled former employees. One such matter involves a former employee that improperly recorded internal Highland conversations in violation of Highland's internal policies and procedures and potentially certain criminal and regulatory provisions. The former employee has asserted counterclaims related to his time at Highland. The matter has been referred to arbitration.

In another matter, a Court ruled that a former employee breached his fiduciary duty to Highland, owed damages to Highland, and ordered the former employee to cease using or disclosing Highland's confidential information. Additionally, an award was entered in favor of the employee against a separate incentive compensation entity for an interest that was already escrowed in his name prior to trial and in which he was already vested. The dispute over the amount of his vested interest is on-going. Additionally, Highland from time to time must take action to enforce the permanent injunction against the former employee's continuing improper disclosures of Highland's confidential information.

Fund Wind-Down: Highland is engaged in litigation with a group of investors relating to the post-financial crisis wind down and distribution of the remaining assets in the Crusader hedge fund vehicle.]

Failure to Comply with Investment Advisers Act May Have an Adverse Effect on the Portfolio Manager's Performance

Highland CLO Management is a relying adviser of Highland, and Highland is a registered investment adviser registered under the Investment Advisers Act and, as such, is subject to the provisions of the Investment Advisers Act. Acis CLO Management is a relying adviser of Acis, and Acis is a registered investment adviser registered under the Investment Advisers Act and, as such, is subject to the provisions of the Investment Advisers Act. Failure to comply with the requirements imposed on Acis and/or Acis CLO Management under the Investment Advisers Act may have a significant adverse effect on Highland, Acis and/or the applicable Management Company. Highland's, Acis' and/or the applicable Management Company's ability to act as CLO Manager for Managed CLOs in which the Company holds CLO Notes may also be adversely affected by negative publicity arising from any regulatory compliance failures or other inappropriate behavior attributed to or any other negative publicity related to Highland, Acis and/or the applicable Management Company, any affiliate thereof or any of their respective investment professionals.

SEC enforcement actions

There can be no assurance that Highland, Acis and/or the Management Companies or their affiliates will avoid regulatory examination and possibly enforcement actions. Recent SEC enforcement actions and settlements involving U.S.-based private fund advisers have involved a number of issues, including the undisclosed allocation of the fees, costs and expenses related to unconsummated co-investment transactions (i.e., the allocation of broken deal expenses), undisclosed legal fee arrangements affording the applicable adviser with greater discounts than those afforded to funds advised by such adviser. Although each of Highland, Acis and the Management Companies believe the foregoing practices to have been common historically amongst private fund advisers within the U.S. private funds industry, if the SEC or any other governmental authority, regulatory agency or similar body may take issue with, or in the case of insufficient disclosure regarding acceleration of certain special fees as described below, may continue to take issue with, past or future practices of Highland, Acis or the Management Companies or any of their affiliates as they pertain to any of the foregoing. In such instances, Highland, Acis or the Management Companies and/or such affiliates may be at risk for regulatory sanction. Even if an investigation or proceeding did not result in a sanction or the sanction imposed against Highland, Acis or the Management Companies was small in monetary amount, Highland, Acis and/or the applicable Management Company or their respective affiliates may be subject to adverse publicity relating to the investigation, proceeding or imposition of any such sanction.

Potential litigation and regulatory actions may materially and adversely affect Highland, Acis and/or the Management Companies

There can be no assurance that Highland, Acis and/or the Management Companies or their affiliates will avoid potential third party or other litigation or regulatory actions under existing laws (including the U.S. Risk Retention Requirements) or laws enacted in the future. Recent SEC enforcement actions and settlements involving U.S.-based private fund advisers have involved a number of issues, including undisclosed legal fee arrangements affording the applicable adviser with greater discounts than those afforded to funds advised by such adviser and the undisclosed acceleration of certain special fees. In addition, the failure by Highland, Acis and/or the Management Companies to comply with the U.S. Risk Retention Rules may result in regulatory actions and other proceedings being brought against Highland, Acis and/or the Management Companies. If the SEC or any other Governmental Authority takes issue with the practices of Highland, Acis and/or the Management Companies or any of their affiliates as they pertain to any of the foregoing, Highland, Acis and/or the Management Companies and/or any such affiliates will be at risk for regulatory sanction. Even if an investigation or proceeding did not result in a sanction or the sanction imposed against Highland, Acis and/or the Management Companies and/or such affiliates was small in monetary amount, the adverse publicity relating to the investigation, proceeding or imposition of these sanctions could harm the Company, Highland, Acis and/or the Management Companies and/or their respective affiliates' reputations which may adversely affect the market value and/or liquidity of the Debt. There is also a material risk that Governmental Authorities in the United States and beyond will continue to adopt new laws or regulations (including tax laws or regulations), or change existing laws or regulations, or enhance the interpretation or enforcement of existing laws and regulations including the U.S. Risk Retention Rules. Any such events or changes could occur during the term of the Debt and may materially and adversely affect Highland, Acis and/or the Management Companies and its ability to operate and/or pursue its management strategies on behalf of the Issuer. Such risks are often difficult or impossible to predict, avoid or mitigate in advance.

Dependence on Highland, Acis and other collateral managers of CLOs

A significant portion of the Company's investment portfolio will comprise of its investment in the Management Companies and in Managed CLOs. The Company's investment portfolio may also include CLOs managed by other asset managers. The performance of the Company's portfolio depends heavily on the skills of Highland, Acis, the Management Companies or such other asset managers in analyzing, selecting and managing the relevant CLOs. As a result, the Company and the CLOs will be highly dependent on the financial and managerial experience of certain investment professionals associated with Highland, Acis, the Management Companies and the other asset managers, none of whom is under any contractual obligation to the Company or such CLOs to continue to be associated with Highland, Acis, the applicable Management Company or such other collateral manager for the term of the Company or any particular CLO. The loss of one or more of these individuals could have a material adverse effect on the performance of the Company and the relevant CLO.

Furthermore, Highland has informed the Company that these investment professionals are also actively involved in other investment activities and will not be able to devote all of their time to the Company's business and affairs. In addition, individuals not currently associated with Highland may become associated with Highland and the performance of the Company and the Managed CLOs may also depend on the financial and managerial experience of such individuals. Moreover, the Portfolio Management Agreement may be terminated under certain circumstances.

The Company generally may not terminate the Portfolio Management Agreement, even in the event of the Portfolio Manager's poor performance

The Portfolio Management Agreement was negotiated between related parties and its terms may not be as favorable as if it had been negotiated with unaffiliated third parties. The Company may choose not to enforce, or to enforce less vigorously, certain of its rights under the Portfolio Management Agreement in an effort to maintain its ongoing relationship with the Portfolio Manager or Highland Capital Management, L.P., as the case may be.

Termination of the Portfolio Management Agreement is difficult and costly. In order to terminate the Portfolio Management Agreement without cause, the Company must (i) be required to register as an investment company under the provisions of the Investment Company Act of 1940 and it must notify the Portfolio Manager of such requirement, (ii) the portfolio must be liquidated in full and its financing arrangements must have been terminated or redeemed in full, or (iii) it must reach a mutual agreement with the Portfolio Manager to terminate the agreement. The initial term of the Portfolio Management Agreement is three years, with automatic renewals of three years thereafter. The Company may not choose to not renew the Portfolio Management Agreement.

The Company's ability to terminate the Portfolio Management Agreement for "cause" is limited, including grounds of wilful violation of the Portfolio Management Agreement by the Portfolio Manager and fraud or criminal activity. However, poor performance by the Portfolio Manager is not grounds for termination for cause under the Portfolio Management Agreement. See "Material Contracts"

RISKS RELATING TO CONFLICTS OF INTEREST

Various Potential and Actual Conflicts of Interest

Various potential and actual conflicts of interest may arise from the overall investment activity of Highland, its clients and its affiliates. The following briefly summarizes some of these conflicts, but is not intended to be an exhaustive list of all such conflicts.

The Company will be subject to various conflicts of interest involving the Portfolio Manager and its affiliates

The following briefly summarizes certain potential and actual conflicts of interest which may arise from the overall investment activity of Highland, its clients and its affiliates, but is not intended to be an exhaustive list of all such conflicts. The scope of the activities of Highland, its affiliates, and the funds and clients managed or advised by Highland or any of its affiliates may give rise to conflicts of interest or other restrictions and/or limitations imposed on the Company in the future that cannot be foreseen or mitigated at this time.

As part of their regular business, Highland, its affiliates and their respective officers, directors, trustees, shareholders, members, partners, personnel and employees and their respective funds and investment accounts (collectively, the "Related Parties") hold, purchase, sell, trade or take other related actions both for their respective accounts and for the accounts of their respective clients, on a principal or agency basis, with respect to loans, securities and other investments and financial instruments of all types. Highland, its affiliates and their respective officers, directors, shareholders, members, partners, personnel and employees also provide investment advisory services, among other services, and engage in private equity, real estate and capital markets-oriented investment activities. The Related Parties will not be restricted in their performance of any such services or in the types of debt or equity investments which they may make. The Related Parties may have economic interests in or other relationships with obligors or issuers in whose obligations or securities or credit exposures the Company and/or the Managed CLOs may invest. In particular, the Related Parties may make and/or hold an investment in an obligor's or issuer's securities that may be pari passu, senior or junior in ranking to an investment in such obligor's or issuer's securities made and/or held by the Company and/or the Managed CLOs, or in which partners, security holders, members, officers, directors, agents, personnel or employees of such Related Parties serve on boards of directors or otherwise have ongoing relationships. Each of such ownership and other relationships may result in securities laws restrictions on transactions in such securities by the Company and/or the Managed CLOs and otherwise create conflicts of interest for the Company and/or the Managed CLOs. In such instances, the Related Parties may in their discretion make investment recommendations and decisions that may be the same as or different from those made with respect to the Company's and/or the Managed CLOs' investments. In connection with any such activities described above, the Related Parties may hold, purchase, sell, trade or take other related actions in securities or investments of a type that may be suitable to be included as investments by the Company and/or Managed CLOs. Other than with respect to new issue Highland CLOs as described below, the Related Parties will not be required to offer such securities or investments to the Company or Managed CLOs or provide notice of such activities to the Company or Managed CLOs. In addition, in providing services under the Portfolio Management Agreement and the CLO Management Agreements, Highland may take into account its relationship or the relationships of its affiliates with obligors and their respective affiliates, which may create conflicts of interest. Furthermore, in connection with actions taken in the ordinary course of business of Highland in accordance with its fiduciary duties to its other clients, Highland may take, or be required to take, actions which adversely affect the interests of the Company and/or Managed CLOs. Except as otherwise set forth herein, including with respect to Qualifying CLOs, Designated CLO Resets, Designated CLO Refinancings and the NexBank Facility, the consent of the Advisory Board will be required with respect to transactions with any Related Party.

The Related Parties invested and may continue to make investments that would also be appropriate for the Company, Highland CLO Management, Highland CLO Management and/or the Highland CLOs. Such investments may be different from those recommended to the Company or made on behalf of the Highland CLOs, Highland CLO Management or Highland CLO Management. Neither Highland nor any Related Entity has any duty, in making or maintaining such investments, to act in a way that is favorable to the Company, Highland CLO Management, Highland CLO Management and/or the Manged CLOs or to offer any such opportunity to the Company, other than with respect to new issue Highland CLOs as described below, or the Managed CLOs. The investment policies, fee arrangements and other circumstances applicable to such other parties may vary from those applicable to the Company, Highland, Acis, the Management Companies and the Managed CLOs. Highland and/or any Related Entity may also provide advisory or other services for a customary fee to issuers or obligors whose debt obligations or other securities are held by the Company, Highland, Acis, the Management Companies and/or the Managed CLOs, and neither the Shareholders nor the Company shall have any right to such fees. Highland, Acis, the Management Companies and/or any Related Entity may also have ongoing relationships with, render services to or engage in transactions with other clients, including other issuers of collateralized loan obligations and collateralized debt obligations, who invest in assets of a similar nature to those of the Company, Highland, Acis, the Management Companies and/or the Managed CLOs, and with companies whose securities or loans are acquired by the Company, Highland, Acis, the Management Companies and/or the Managed CLOs, and may own equity or debt securities issued by obligors of debt held by the Company, Highland, Acis, the Management Companies and/or the Managed CLOs. In connection with the foregoing activities, Highland, Acis, the Management Companies and/or any Related Entity may from time to time come into possession of material nonpublic information that limits the ability of Highland to advise the Company or the Management Companies or effect a transaction for Managed CLOs, and the Company's, the Management Companies' and/or the Managed CLOs' investments may be constrained as a consequence of Highland's or Acis' inability to use such information for advisory purposes or otherwise to effect transactions that otherwise may have been initiated on behalf of its clients, including the Company, the Management Companies and/or the Managed CLOs. In addition, officers or affiliates of Highland, Acis and/or Related Parties may possess information relating to obligors of debt held by the Company, the Management Companies and/or the Managed CLOs that is not known to the individuals at Highland responsible for monitoring such investments and performing the other obligations under the Portfolio Management Agreement or CLO Management Agreements.

During the Investment Period, the Company shall receive priority allocations with respect to all CLO Income Note investment opportunities with respect to new issue Highland CLOs, over the account of the Portfolio Manager, its affiliates and Other Accounts. For the avoidance of doubt, the Portfolio Manager shall otherwise allocate investment opportunities among the Company and Highland and its affiliates and Other Accounts in accordance with its allocation policy which requires allocations among clients to be fair and equitable over time as described below. Highland, Acis and their affiliates may, from time to time, be presented with investment opportunities, other than with respect to new issue Highland CLOs during the Investment Period, that fall within the investment objectives of the Company, the Management Companies and/or the Managed CLOs and other clients, funds or other investment accounts managed by Highland, Acis or their affiliates, and in such circumstances, Highland, Acis and their affiliates expect to allocate such opportunities among the Company, the Management Companies and/or the Managed CLOs and such other clients, funds or other investment accounts on a basis that Highland, Acis and their affiliates determine in good faith is appropriate taking into consideration such factors as the fiduciary duties owed to the Company, the Management Companies, the Managed CLOs and such other clients, funds or other investment accounts, the primary mandates of the Company, the Management Companies, the Managed CLOs and such other clients, funds or other investment accounts, the capital available to the Company, the Management Companies, the Managed CLOs and such other clients, funds or other investment accounts, any restrictions on investment, the sourcing of the transaction, the size of the transaction, the amount of potential follow-on investing that may be required for such investment and the other investments of the Company, the Management Companies, the Managed CLOs and such other clients, funds or other investment accounts, the relation of such opportunity to the investment strategy of the Company, the Management Companies and/or the Managed CLOs and such other clients, funds or other investment accounts, reasons of portfolio balance and any other consideration deemed relevant by Highland, Acis and their affiliates in good faith. Subject to the Company's priority allocation with respect to new issue Highland CLOs, Highland will allocate investment opportunities across the entities for which such opportunities are appropriate, consistent with (1) its internal conflict of interest and allocation policies and (2) the requirements of the Investment Advisers Act. Highland will seek to allocate investment opportunities among such entities in a manner that is fair and equitable over time and consistent with its allocation policy. However, there is no assurance that such investment opportunities will be allocated to the Company, the Management Companies and/or the Managed CLOs fairly or equitably in the short term or over time and there can be no assurance that the Company, the Management Companies and/or any of the Managed CLOs will be able to participate in all such investment opportunities that are suitable for it.

Although the professional staff of Highland will devote as much time to the Company as Highland deems appropriate to perform its duties in accordance with the Portfolio Management Agreement and in accordance with reasonable commercial standards, the staff may have conflicts in allocating its time and services among the Company and Highland's other accounts.

The directors, officers, personnel, employees and agents of Highland and its Related Parties may, subject to applicable law, serve as directors (whether supervisory or managing), officers, personnel, employees, partners, agents, nominees or signatories, and receive arm's length fees in connection with such service, for the Company or entities that operate in the same or a related line of business as the Company or the Management Companies, or of other clients managed by Highland or its affiliates, or for any obligor or issuer in respect of the debt, equity securities or other investments held by the Company, the Management Companies and/or Managed CLOs, or any affiliate thereof, to the extent permitted by their governing instruments, or by any resolutions duly adopted by the Company, such other entities, or any obligor or issuer (or any affiliate thereof) in respect of any of the debt, equity securities or other investments held by the Company, the Management Companies and/or Managed CLOs pursuant to their respective governing instruments, and neither the Company, The applicable Management Company nor the Managed CLOs shall have the right to any such fees.

As further described below, Highland and its Related Parties may effect client cross-transactions where Highland advises the Company or a Management Company, or causes a Managed CLO, to effect a transaction between the Company, the applicable Management Company or such Managed CLO, as applicable, and another client advised by Highland or any of its affiliates. Highland may engage in a client cross-transaction involving the Company, the Management Companies and/or Managed CLOs any time that Highland believes such transaction to be fair to the Company, the applicable Management Company and/or the Managed CLOs, as applicable, and such other client. By purchasing Shares of the Company, a Shareholder is deemed to have consented to such client cross-transactions between the Company, the applicable Management Company and another client of Highland or one of its Related Parties.

As further described below, Highland may effect principal transactions where Highland advises the Company, or causes a Managed CLO, to make and/or hold an investment, including an investment in securities, in which Highland and/or its affiliates have a debt, equity or participation interest, in each case in accordance with applicable law, which may include Highland obtaining the consent and approval of the Advisory Board of the Company prior to engaging in any such principal transaction between the Company and Highland or its affiliates. By purchasing Shares of the Company, a Shareholder is deemed to have consented to such procedures relating to principal transactions between the Company and Highland or its Related Entities, subject to consent of the Advisory Board. In addition, in the event a Managed CLO engages in a principal trade, consent of the client may consist of consent of the board of directors of such Managed CLO (or certain professionals contracted by the board of directors, to the extent relevant), and none of the Company or its shareholders will have any additional consent rights with respect to such transaction.

Highland may advise the Company, or direct the Managed CLOs, to acquire or dispose of investments in cross trades between the Company or the Managed CLOs, as applicable, and other clients of Highland or its affiliates in accordance with applicable legal and regulatory requirements. In addition, the Company and/or the Managed CLOs may invest in securities of obligors or issuers in which Highland and/or its affiliates have a debt, equity or participation interest, and the holding and sale of such investments by the Company and/or Managed CLOs may enhance the profitability of Highland's own investments in such companies. Moreover, the Company and Managed CLOs may invest in assets originated by Highland or its affiliates. In each such case, Highland and such affiliates may have a potentially conflicting division of loyalties and responsibilities regarding the Company or the Managed CLOs, as applicable, and the other parties to such trade. Under certain circumstances, Highland and its affiliates may determine that it is appropriate to mitigate such conflicts by selling an investment at a fair value that has been calculated pursuant to Highland's valuation procedures to another client managed or advised by Highland or such affiliates. In addition, Highland may enter into agency cross-transactions where it or any of its affiliates acts as broker for the Company or a Managed CLO, as applicable, and for the other party to the transaction, to the extent permitted under applicable law. Highland may obtain the Company's written consent as provided herein if any such transaction requires the consent of the Company under Section 206(3) of the Investment Advisers Act.

Highland and/or its Related Parties may participate in creditor committees or other committees with respect to the bankruptcy, restructuring or workout of obligors or issuers of debt obligations or securities held by the Company and/or the Managed CLOs. In such circumstances, Highland may take positions on behalf of itself or Related Parties that are adverse to the interests of the Company or the Managed CLOs in the relevant investment.

Highland and/or its Related Parties may act as an underwriter, arranger or placement agent, or otherwise participate in the origination, structuring, negotiation, syndication or offering of CLOs or any senior secured loans purchased by the Company. Such transactions are on an arm's-length basis and may be subject to arm's-length fees. There is no expectation for preferential access to transactions involving CLOs or senior secured loans that are underwritten, originated, arranged or placed by Highland and/or its affiliates and the Company shall not have any right to any such fees.

There is no limitation or restriction on Highland or any of its Related Parties with regard to acting as investment adviser or collateral manager (or in a similar role) to other parties or persons. This and other future activities of Highland and/or its Related Parties may give rise to additional conflicts of interest. Such conflicts may relate to obligations that Highland's investment committee, Highland or its affiliates have to other clients.

The members of Highland's investment committee serve or may serve as personnel, officers, directors or principals of entities that operate in the same or a related line of business as the Company, or of other clients managed by Highland or its affiliates. In serving in these multiple capacities, they may have obligations to such other clients or investors in those entities, the fulfillment of which may not be in the best interests of the Company. The Company may compete with other entities managed by Highland and its affiliates for capital and investment opportunities.

There are generally no ethical screens or information barriers among Highland and certain of its affiliates of the type that many firms implement to separate persons who make investment decisions from others who might possess material, non-public information that could influence such decisions. If Highland, any of its personnel or its affiliates were to receive material non-public information about a particular obligor, issuer or CLO, or have an interest in causing the Company or a Managed CLO to acquire a particular CLO security, Highland may be prevented from causing the Company or Managed CLO to purchase or sell such asset due to internal restrictions imposed on Highland. Notwithstanding the maintenance of certain internal controls relating to the management of material non-public information, it is possible that such controls could fail and result in Highland, or one of its investment professionals, buying or selling an asset while, at least constructively, in possession of material non-public information. Inadvertent trading on material non-public information could have adverse effects on Highland's reputation, result in the imposition of regulatory or financial sanctions, and as a consequence, negatively impact Highland's ability to perform its portfolio management services to the Company and the Managed CLOs. In addition, while Highland and certain of its affiliates currently operate without information barriers on an integrated basis, such entities could be required by certain regulations, or decide that it is advisable, to establish information barriers. In such event, Highland's ability to operate as an integrated platform could also be impaired, which would limit Highland's access to personnel of its affiliates and potentially impair its ability to advise the Company and manage the Managed CLOs' investments.

RISKS RELATING TO AN INVESTMENT IN THE SHARES

Shareholders have no right to have their Shares redeemed or repurchased by the Company

The Company has been established as a closed-ended vehicle. Accordingly, there is no right or entitlement attaching to the Shares that allows them to be redeemed or repurchased by the Company at the option of the Shareholder.

There is no public market for the Shares, and a market for the Shares may never develop, which could result in Shareholders being unable to monetize their investment.

The Shares have not been registered under any securities exchange, and, unless so registered, may not be offered or sold except pursuant to an exemption from the applicable securities exchange regulator. It is not expected that the Shares will be listed on any securities exchange in the future. The Shares are newly issued securities for which there is no established trading market. In the absence of an active trading market, Shareholders may be unable to resell the Shares at the time and for the price desired or at all. The Company can provide no assurances that the Shares will not subsequently trade below the price at which they are purchased pursuant to this Offering Memorandum.

In connection with the Company filing any registration for any securities exchange, the Company will agree to use commercially reasonable efforts to satisfy the criteria for listing and list and thereafter maintain the listing on such exchange or market so long as it is in the best interests of the Company. Each market or exchange has initial listing criteria, including criteria related to minimum bid price, public float, market makers, minimum number of round lot holders and board independence requirements that the Company can give no assurance that it will meet. The Company's inability to list or include the Shares on a securities exchange could affect the ability of Shareholders to sell their Shares subsequent to the declaration of the effectiveness of any registration statement, and consequently adversely affect the value of such Shares. In such case, Shareholders would find it more difficult to dispose of, or to obtain accurate quotations as to the market value of, the Shares. In addition, the Company would have more difficulty attracting the attention of market analysts to cover it in their research. If the Shares are approved for listing or inclusion on a securities exchange, the Company will have no prior reporting history, and thus there is no way to determine the prices or volumes at which the Shares will trade. The Company can give no assurances as to the development or liquidity of any trading market for the Shares. Shareholders may not be able to resell their Shares at or near their original acquisition price, or at any price.

In the event a market for the Shares does develop, the Shares may trade at a discount to the Net Asset Value per Share and Shareholders may be unable to realise their Shares at the Net Asset Value per Share or at any other price

The Shares may trade at a discount to the Net Asset Value per Share for a variety of reasons, including due to market or economic conditions or to the extent investors undervalue the Company.

Subject to the Companies Law, under its Articles, the Company may issue additional securities, including Shares, for any purpose. Any additional issuances by the Company, or the possibility of such issue, may cause the price of the Shares to decline.

The existence of a liquid market in the Shares cannot be guaranteed

The Shares may be admitted to a securities exchange at some point in the future, however there can be no guarantee that a liquid market in the Shares will develop or be sustained or that the Shares will trade at prices close to the Net Asset Value per Share. The number of Shares to be issued pursuant to the Placing is not yet known, and there may be a limited number of holders of Shares. Limited numbers and/or holders of Shares may mean that there is limited liquidity in such Shares which may affect: (i) a Shareholder's ability to realise some or all of their investment; (ii) the price at which such Shareholder can effect such realisation; and/or (iii) the price at which Shares trade in the secondary market. Accordingly, Shareholders may be unable to realise their investment at Net Asset Value per Share or at all.

The Shares will be subject to purchase and transfer restrictions in the Placing and in secondary transactions in the future

The Company intends to restrict the ownership and holding of its Shares so that none of its assets will constitute "plan assets" under the U.S. Plan Assets Regulations. The Company intends to impose such restrictions based on deemed representations in the case of a subscription of Shares. If the Company's assets were deemed to be "plan assets" of any plan subject to Title I of ERISA or Section 4975 of the U.S. Tax Code ("U.S. Plan"), pursuant to Section 3(42) of ERISA and U.S. Department of Labor regulations promulgated under ERISA by the U.S. Department of Labor and codified at 29 C.F.R. Section 2510.3-101 as amended by Section 3(42) of ERISA (collectively, the "U.S. Plan Asset Regulations") then: (i) the prudence and other fiduciary responsibility standards of ERISA would apply to investments made by the Company; and (ii) certain transactions that the Company or a subsidiary of the Company may enter into, or may have entered into, in the ordinary course of business might constitute or result in non-exempt prohibited transactions under Section 406 of ERISA or Section 4975 of the U.S. Tax Code and might have to be rescinded. Governmental plans and certain church plans, while not subject to Title I of ERISA or Section 4975 of the U.S. Tax Code, may nevertheless be subject to other State, local or other laws or regulations that would have the same effect as the U.S. Plan Asset Regulations so as to cause the underlying assets of the Company to be treated as assets of an investing entity by virtue of its investment (or any beneficial interest) in the Company and thereby subject the Company (or other persons responsible for the investment and operation of the Company assets) to laws or regulations that are similar to the fiduciary responsibility or prohibited transaction provisions contained in Title I of ERISA or Section 4975 of the U.S. Tax Code.

Each purchaser and subsequent transferee of the Shares will be deemed to represent and warrant that no portion of the assets used to acquire or hold its interest in the Shares constitutes or will constitute the assets of any U.S. Plan. The Articles of the Company provide that the Board of Directors may refuse to register a transfer of Shares to any person they believe to be a Non-Qualified Holder or a U.S. Plan investor. If any Shares are owned directly or beneficially by a person believed by the Board of Directors to be a Non- Qualified Holder or a U.S. Plan investor, the Board of Directors may give notice to such person requiring him either (i) to provide the Board of Directors within 30 days of receipt of such notice with sufficient satisfactory documentary evidence to satisfy the Board of Directors that such person is not a Non-Qualified Holder or a U.S. Plan investor, or (ii) to sell or transfer their Shares to a person qualified to own the same within 30 days and within such 30 days to provide the Board of Directors with satisfactory evidence of such sale or transfer. Where condition (i) or (ii) is not satisfied within 30 days after the serving of the notice, the person will be deemed, upon the expiration of such 30 days, to have forfeited their Shares.

In addition, the Placing Shares may not be offered, sold, exercised, resold, transferred or delivered, directly or indirectly, within the United States or to, or for the account or benefit of, U.S. Persons, except pursuant to an exemption from, or in a transaction not subject to, the registration requirements of the U.S. Securities Act and in compliance with any applicable securities laws of any state or other jurisdiction in the United States. For more information, refer to "Risks relating to regulation and taxation - The Company is not, and does not intend to become, registered in the United States as an investment company under the U.S. Investment Company Act and related rules" in this section of this Offering Memorandum.

For more information on purchase and transfer restrictions, prospective investors should refer to the section of this Offering Memorandum entitled "Purchase and Transfer Restrictions" in "Placing Arrangements".

RISKS RELATING TO REGULATION AND TAXATION

Changes in law or regulations, or a failure to comply with any laws or regulations, may adversely affect the respective businesses, investments and performance of the Company

The Company is subject to laws and regulations enacted by national and local governments.

On June 23, 2016, in a public referendum, the United Kingdom voted to leave the European Union. On March 29, 2017, the United Kingdom triggered Article 50 of the Treaty on European Union ("Article 50") by formally notifying the European Council of the United Kingdom's intention to withdraw from the European Union. In accordance with Article 50, the European Union shall negotiate and conclude a withdrawal agreement with the United Kingdom within 2 years of the United Kingdom triggering Article 50, although the European Council in agreement with the United Kingdom may decide to extend this period. The United Kingdom's decision to leave the European Union has caused, and is anticipated to continue to cause, significant new uncertainties and instability in both domestic and global financial markets. These uncertainties could have a material adverse effect on the various obligors' ability to make payments due under the assets within the CLO portfolios, which in turn could have a material adverse effect on the Company's financial condition, results of operations and/or its NAV.

The Company is subject to, and is required to comply with, certain regulatory requirements that are applicable to registered investment schemes which are domiciled in Guernsey.

The laws and regulations affecting the Company are evolving and any changes in such laws and regulations may have an adverse effect on the ability of the Company to carry on its business. Any such changes may also have an adverse effect on the ability of the Company to pursue the investment policies, and may adversely affect the Company's business, financial condition, results of operations and/or its NAV.

Certain income of the Company may be subject to U.S. withholding tax, and changes in tax law may adversely affect the Company

The Company intends to make loan investments in the United States that will qualify for the "portfolio interest exemption" from U.S. withholding on interest. However, if the Company is not eligible for the portfolio interest exemption with respect to a loan paying U.S.-source interest, interest payments to the Company could be subject to a 30% withholding tax. In addition, there can be no assurance that, as a result of any change in any applicable law, rule or regulation or interpretation thereof, U.S.-source interest or other payments on the loans that were not subject to withholding tax when purchased will not in the future become subject to U.S. or other withholding tax or that the amount or rate of withholding tax to which a payment on a loan is subject might not increase.

In addition, if the Company acquires equity interests in U.S. entities, either as a result of a direct purchase or as a result of loans previously purchased by the Company being converted into equity interests, the Company could be subject to 30% U.S. withholding tax on any U.S.-source dividends. If the Company is deemed to be engaged in a trade or business in the United States as a result of its ownership of an equity interest in an entity treated as fiscally transparent in the United States or certain other investments, the Company could be subject to a tax on net income with respect to income from such equity interest or other investments, as well as a "branch profits" tax, with a combined U.S. tax rate with respect to such equity interest or other investments of approximately 54%.

If the Company is subject to U.S. withholding tax on payments from investments or is subject to U.S. net income tax, such tax would reduce the amounts available to make payments on the Placing Shares. The extent to which other source country withholding taxes may apply to the Issuer's income will depend on the actual composition of its assets.

The European Directive on Alternative Investment Fund Managers may impair marketing of the Shares to EU investors

The AIFMD was transposed into the national legislation of a number of EEA member states on 22 July 2013. The Company will be considered an Alternative Investment Fund ("AIF") for the purposes of AIFMD. AIFMD will allow the continued marketing of AIFs, such as the Company, under national private placement regimes where EEA member states choose to implement AIFMD national private placement regimes. In relation to the Company, such marketing will be subject to registration under the AIFMD in those EU member states where there will be marketing of the Shares to investors. To permit marketing, appropriate cooperation agreements must be in place between the supervisory authorities of the relevant EEA member states in which the Shares are being marketed and the jurisdiction of both the Company and the Portfolio Manager, as the AIFM of the Company.

Accordingly, the ability of the Portfolio Manager to market the Shares in the EEA will depend on the relevant EEA state permitting the marketing of non-EEA managed funds, the continuing status of Guernsey and the USA in relation to AIFMD and the Portfolio Manager's willingness to comply with the relevant provisions of AIFMD and the other requirements of the national private placement regimes of individual EEA states, the requirements of which may restrict the Company's ability to raise additional capital from the issue of new Shares in one or more EEA state.

Additionally, it should be noted that what is and what is not "marketing" under AIFMD can vary between EEA member states, in some cases covering most promotional activity in respect of a fund and in some cases covering only material that is sufficiently specific or precise in respect of information relating to the terms of the fund that it could alone form the basis of a decision to invest in the fund. This in turn means that the type of promotional activity that will require registration under AIFMD can also vary between EEA member states.

However, what is and what is not "marketing" under AIFMD remains a developing area and regulatory guidance in many EEA member states is limited. It is possible that European Securities and Markets Authority ("ESMA") or an EEA national regulator may change its policy approach in the future or that ESMA, the European Commission or another European entity, regulatory or legislative body may have a different interpretation at a later date of what constitutes marketing under AIFMD.

If it was held that certain promotional material in respect of the fund constitutes marketing under AIFMD and was provided to investors in an EEA member state without the Company having been registered in that EEA member state for marketing under AIFMD by the Portfolio Manager, the Portfolio Manager may face regulatory sanctions as a result of non-compliance with AIFMD, and the enforceability of agreements with Shareholders may be affected.

ESMA has also consulted on the possible extension of the passport for marketing and managing under AIFMD to non-EEA based managers (the marketing and managing passports are currently only available to EEA based AIFMs) and delivered advice to the European Commission on 18 July 2016 on whether, amongst other things, the passporting regime should be extended to the management and/or marketing of AIFs by non-EEA based managers.

This advice regarding extending the passport to US domiciled AIFMs was qualified, meaning it is currently not clear if the passporting regime will be extended to the Portfolio Manager as an AIFM, nor is it clear that the European Commission consider that this advice contains a positive assessment of a sufficient number of non-EEA countries to extend the passport to these countries. If the European Commission were to consider there were sufficient grounds to extend the passport and adopted the requisite delegated act extending the passport, the national private placement regimes which are currently applicable to non-EEA AIFMs and non-EEA AIFs in EEA member states will temporarily continue to co-exist with this new non-EEA passport (the "Third Country Passport").

However, three years after the adoption of this delegated act, ESMA is required to issue an opinion on the functioning of the Third Country Passport and advise on the potential termination of the current national private placement regimes. If the national private placement regimes were then abolished, an AIF could not be marketed into Europe by a non-EEA AIFM except by way of the Third Country Passport, meaning in this scenario the Portfolio Manager would not be able to market the Shares in the Company in the EEA.

Any regulatory changes arising from implementation of the AIFMD (or otherwise) that limit the Company's ability to carry on its business or to market future issues of its Shares may materially adversely affect the Company's ability to carry out its investment policy successfully and to achieve its investment objective, which in turn may adversely affect the Company's business, financial condition, results of operations and/or its NAV.

Final regulations implementing the "Volcker Rule" in the United States of America were issued in December 2013 and became effective by operation of law on 1 April 2014, subject to a conformance period. The final Volcker Rule regulations revised the November 2011 proposed regulations and include certain changes to the treatment of foreign funds and non-U.S. bank investors. If the Volcker Rule applies to an investor's ownership of Shares, the investor may be forced to sell its shares, or the continued ownership of such shares may be subject to certain restrictions.

On 21 July 2010, U.S. President Barack Obama signed into law the Dodd-Frank Wall Street Reform and Consumer Protection Act and certain provisions therein known as the "Volcker Rule." On 10 December 2013, the final Volcker Rule regulations (the "Final Regulations") were issued by U.S. regulators. The Final Regulations are effective from 1 April 2014, subject to a conformance period ending on 21 July 2015 (which may be extended). The Volcker Rule generally restricts certain non-U.S. banks and affiliated financial firms, collectively identified as "banking entities," from investing in and sponsoring "covered funds." In the event that a non-U.S. bank is deemed to be a "banking entity" and the Company is deemed to be a "covered fund" for purposes of the Volcker Rule, the non-U.S. bank's ownership of the Shares may be subject to investment restrictions. If so, the non-U.S. bank may be required to divest the Shares by the end of the conformance period. Depending on market conditions and other factors, if an investor is required to liquidate its investment in the Shares during the conformance period, it may suffer a loss from the price at which it purchased the Shares.

If the Company becomes subject to tax on a net income basis in any tax jurisdiction, including Guernsey or the United Kingdom, the Company's financial condition and prospects could be materially and adversely affected

The Company intends to conduct its affairs so that it will not be treated as UK resident for taxation purposes, or as having a permanent establishment or otherwise being engaged in a trade or business, in the UK. The Company intends that it will not be subject to tax on a net income basis in any country. There can be no assurance, however, that the net income of the Company will not become subject to income tax in one or more countries, including Guernsey and the United Kingdom, as a result of unanticipated activities performed by the Company, adverse developments or changes in law, contrary conclusions by the relevant tax authorities, changes in the Directors' personal circumstances or management errors, or other causes. The imposition of any such unanticipated net income taxes could materially reduce the post-tax returns available for distributions on the Shares, and consequently may adversely affect the Company's business, financial condition, results of operations and/or its NAV.

The Company may be unable to maintain its non-UK tax resident status, which would adversely affect its financial and operating results, the value of the Shares and the after-tax return to Shareholders

In order to maintain its non-UK tax resident status, the Company is required to be controlled and managed outside the United Kingdom. The composition of the Board of Directors, the place of residence of the individual Directors and the location(s) in which the Board of Directors makes decisions will be important in determining and maintaining the non-UK tax resident status of the Company. Although the Company is established outside the United Kingdom and all of the Directors live outside the United Kingdom, continued attention must be given to ensure that major decisions are not made in the United Kingdom or the Company may lose its non-UK tax resident status. As such, changes in Directors' personal circumstances or management errors could potentially lead to the Company being considered UK resident which would adversely affect the Company's business, financial condition, results of operations, NAV, the price of the Shares and/or the after-tax return to its shareholders. It is to be noted that provisions have been drafted as part of the UK Finance Bill 2014 which may result in the Company being considered as non-UK tax resident even if central management and control is in the UK. These provisions are still in draft though and remain subject to change.

Changes in taxation legislation, or the rate of taxation, may adversely affect the Company

Any change in the tax status of the Company, or in taxation legislation or practice in Guernsey, the United Kingdom or elsewhere could affect the value of the investments held by the Company or the Company's ability to achieve its investment objectives or alter the post-tax returns to Shareholders. Statements in this Offering Memorandum concerning the taxation of Shareholders and/or the Company are based upon current Guernsey and United Kingdom law and published practice as at the date of this Offering Memorandum, which law and practice is, in principle, subject to change (potentially with retrospective effect) that could adversely affect the ability of the Company to meet its investment objective and which could adversely affect the taxation of Shareholders and/or the Company.

Potential investors are urged to consult their tax advisers with respect to their particular tax situations and the tax effect of an investment in the Company.

Possible Financial Transaction Tax

On 14 February 2013, the European Commission issued proposals, including a draft Directive (the "Commission's Proposal") for a financial transaction tax ("FTT") to be adopted in certain participating EU member states (including Belgium, Germany, Estonia, Greece, Spain, France, Italy, Austria, Portugal, Slovenia and Slovakia (the "Participating Member States"), although Estonia has since stated that it will not participate). If the Commission's Proposal was adopted in its current form, the FTT would be a tax primarily on "financial institutions" in relation to "financial transactions" (which would include the conclusion or modification of derivative contracts and the purchase and sale of financial instruments).

Under the Commission's Proposal, the FTT could apply in certain circumstances to persons both within and outside of the Participating Member States. Generally, it would apply where at least one party is a financial institution, and at least one party is established in a Participating Member State. A financial institution may be, or be deemed to be, "established" in a Participating Member State in a broad range of circumstances, including (a) by transacting with a person established in a Participating Member State or (b) where the financial instrument which is subject to the financial transaction is issued in a Participating Member State.

The FTT proposal remains subject to negotiation between the Participating Member States. It may therefore be altered prior to implementation, the timing of which remains unclear. Additional EU member states may decide to participate.

In addition to the FTT, certain countries (such as France and Italy) have unilaterally introduced or announced their own financial transaction tax, and other countries may follow suit. There is therefore a risk that a financial transaction tax may be incurred on certain transactions entered into by the Company. Any such financial transaction tax may adversely affect the cost of investment or hedging strategies pursued by the Company as well as the value and liquidity of certain assets within the Company, such as securities, derivatives and structured finance securities.

Different regulatory, tax or other treatment of the Company or the Shares in different jurisdictions, or changes to such treatment in different jurisdictions, may adversely impact shareholders in certain jurisdictions

For regulatory, tax and other purposes, the Company and the Shares may be treated in different ways in different jurisdictions. For instance, in certain jurisdictions and for certain purposes, the Shares may be treated as more akin to holding units in a collective investment scheme. Furthermore, in certain jurisdictions, the treatment of the Company and/or the Shares may be uncertain or subject to change, or it may differ depending on the availability of certain information or disclosure by the Company of that information. The Company may be subject, therefore, to financially and logistically onerous requirements to disclose any or all of such information or to prepare or disclose such information in a form or manner which satisfies the regulatory, tax or other authorities in certain jurisdictions. The Company may elect not to disclose such information or prepare such information in a form which satisfies such authorities. Therefore Shareholders in such jurisdictions may be unable to satisfy the regulatory requirements to which they are subject.

The Company is not, and does not intend to become, registered in the United States as an investment company under the U.S. Investment Company Act and related rules

The Company has not, does not intend to, and may be unable to, become registered in the United States as an investment company under the U.S. Investment Company Act. The U.S. Investment Company Act provides certain protections to U.S. investors and imposes certain restrictions on companies that are registered as investment companies. As the Company is not so registered, and does not intend to so register, none of these protections or restrictions is or will be applicable to the Company. In addition, to avoid being required to register as an investment company under the U.S. Investment Company Act and to avoid violating the U.S. Investment Company Act, the Company has implemented restrictions on the purchase of the Shares by persons who are located in the United States or are U.S. Persons (or are acting for the account or benefit of any U.S. Person). For more information, prospective investors should refer to the section of this Offering Memorandum entitled "Purchase and Transfer Restrictions" in in "Placing Arrangements".

Certain payments to the Company will in the future be subject to 30 per cent withholding tax unless the Company agrees to certain reporting and withholding requirements and certain Shareholders will be required to provide the Company with required information so that the Company may comply with its obligations under FATCA

Under Sections 1471 through 1474 of the U.S. Internal Revenue Code (commonly referred to as "FATCA"), Financial Institutions are required to use enhanced due diligence procedures to identify U.S. persons who have invested in either non-U.S. financial accounts or non-U.S. entities. Pursuant to FATCA, certain payments of (or attributable to) U.S.-source income, and the proceeds of sales of property that give rise to U.S.-source payments, will be subject to 30 per cent withholding tax with effect from 1 July 2014 unless the Company agrees to certain reporting and withholding requirements.

The United States and Guernsey have entered into an Intergovernmental Agreement ("US IGA") to implement FATCA. Under the terms of the US IGA, the Company may be obliged to comply with the provisions of FATCA as enacted by the Guernsey legislation implementing the US IGA (the "Guernsey IGA Legislation"), rather than directly complying with the U.S. Treasury Regulations implementing FATCA. Under the terms of the US IGA, Guernsey resident entities that comply with the requirements of the Guernsey IGA Legislation will be treated as compliant with FATCA and, as a result, will not be subject to withholding tax under FATCA ("FATCA Withholding") on payments they receive and will not be required to withhold under FATCA on payments they make.

The Company expects that it will be considered to be a Guernsey resident financial institution and therefore will be required to comply with the requirements of the Guernsey IGA Legislation.

Under the Guernsey IGA Legislation, the Company will be required to register with the United States Internal Revenue Service ("IRS") and report to the Guernsey Minister for Treasury and Resources certain holdings by and payments made to certain U.S. investors in the Company, as well as to non-U.S. financial institutions that do not comply with the terms of the Guernsey IGA Legislation. Under the terms of the US IGA, such information will be onward reported by the Guernsey Minister for Treasury and Resources to the United States under the general information exchange provisions of the United States-Guernsey Agreement for the Exchange of Information Relating to Taxes.

Further, even if the Company is not characterised under FATCA as a Financial Institution, it nevertheless may become subject to such 30 per cent withholding tax on certain U.S.-source payments to it unless it either provides information to withholding agents with respect to its U.S. Controlling Persons or certifies that it has no such U.S. Controlling Persons.

As a result, Shareholders may be required to provide any information that the Company determines necessary in order to allow the Company to satisfy its obligations under FATCA.

Additional intergovernmental agreements similar to the US IGA have been entered into or are under discussion by other jurisdictions with the United States. Different rules than those described above may apply depending on whether a payee is resident in a jurisdiction that has entered into an intergovernmental agreement to implement FATCA.

In addition to the US IGA, Guernsey and the United Kingdom have entered into an inter-governmental agreement ("UK IGA") for the implementation of information exchange arrangements, based on FATCA, whereby relevant financial information held in Guernsey in respect of a person or entity who is resident in the UK for tax purposes will be reported to Guernsey Minister for Treasury and Resources for onward reporting to the UK's HM Revenue and Customs. Under the UK IGA, the Company may be required to provide information to the Guernsey authorities about investors and their interests in the Company in order to fully discharge its reporting obligations and, in the event of any failure or inability to comply with the proposed arrangements, may suffer a financial penalty or other sanction under Guernsey law.

The scope and application of FATCA Withholding and information reporting pursuant to the terms of FATCA and the IGAs are subject to review by the United States, the United Kingdom, Guernsey and other IGA governments, and the rules may change. Although the UK IGA and US IGA have been ratified by Guernsey's parliament, guidance published to date has been in draft format only and therefore, while the Company intends to comply with applicable law, it cannot be predicted at this time what the full impact on the Company and the Company's reporting responsibilities pursuant to the UK IGA and US IGA will be. Shareholders should consult with their own tax advisors regarding the application of FATCA to their particular circumstances.

OECD's Base Erosion Profit Shifting ("BEPS") Action Points

In 2013, the OECD published its report on Addressing Base Erosion and Profit Shifting ("BEPS") and its Action Plan on BEPS. The aim of the report and Action Plan was to address and reduce aggressive international tax planning. BEPS remains an ongoing project. On 5 October 2015, the OECD published its final reports, analyses and sets of recommendations (deliverables) with a view to implementing internationally agreed and binding rules which could result in material changes to relevant tax legislation of participating OECD countries. The final package of deliverables was subsequently approved by the G20 Finance Ministers on 8 October 2015. On 24 November 2016, the OECD announced that more than 100 jurisdictions concluded negotiations on a multilateral instrument that will amend their respective tax treaties (more than 2,000 tax treaties worldwide) in order to implement the tax treaty-related BEPS recommendations, although the effective date of such multilateral instrument remains uncertain. A first high level signing ceremony took place on 7 June 2017 where 68 countries signed the multilateral instrument. It is currently anticipated that the multilateral instrument will enter into force after five countries have ratified it. The multilateral instrument will then enter into effect for a specific tax treaty after all parties to that treaty have ratified the multilateral instrument. The final actions to be implemented in the tax legislation of the countries in which the Company will have investments, in the countries where the Company is domiciled or resident, or changes in tax treaties negotiated by these countries, could adversely affect the returns from the Company to its investors.

COMPANY, ITS INVESTMENT OBJECTIVE, POLICY AND STRATEGY

COMPANY

Highland CLO Funding, Ltd. (formerly known as Acis Loan Funding, Ltd.) (the "Company") was incorporated on 30 March 2015 and registered under the laws of Guernsey (registration number 60120) pursuant to the Companies Law. The Company changed its name on [●], 2017. The Company is an investment company established to provide its investors with exposure CLO Notes on both a direct basis and indirect basis and senior secured loans on an indirect basis, through the use of the investments described in its investment policy, including through the Management Companies.

The Company is seeking to raise in excess of U.S. $[●] million through the Placing to invest in accordance with its investment objective and policy. Applications to an appropriate securities exchange may be made when deemed appropriate by the Company.

Investment in the Company is only suitable for institutional, professional and high net worth investors, private client fund managers and brokers and other investors who understand the risks involved in investing in the Company and/or who have received advice from their fund manager or broker regarding investment in the Company.

INVESTMENT OBJECTIVE

The Company's investment objective is to provide Shareholders with stable and growing income returns, and to grow the capital value of the investment portfolio through opportunistic exposure to CLO Notes, investments in new issue CLOs sponsored by Highland and Acis CLO 7 through its interests in the Management Companies and CLO Income Notes, respectively, and senior secured loans primarily for the purpose of enabling Highland CLO Management to qualify as an "originator" for purposes of the EU Retention Requirements, on both a direct basis and indirect basis, through the use of the investments described in its investment policy and through use of leverage, any Revolving Credit Facility, Warehouse Loan Facilities, total return swaps or repurchase agreements, in addition to secured loan facilities..

Highland, in its capacity as the Portfolio Manager under the Portfolio Management Agreement, will manage the Company's investments. In addition, Highland, Highland CLO Management, or another affiliate of Highland, in the capacity of the CLO Manager, may also manage Highland CLOs and Highland, Acis, Acis CLO Management, or another affiliate of Acis, in the capacity of the CLO Manager, may also manage Managed CLOs, in each case, pursuant to CLO Management Agreements to be entered into from time to time.

INVESTMENT POLICY

Overview

The Company's investment policy is to focus on synergistic investments in the following areas.

Loan Investments

The Company will invest on an indirect basis in a diverse portfolio of predominantly floating rate senior secured loans (or on a direct basis for the primary purpose of enabling Highland CLO Management to qualify as an "originator" for purposes of the EU Retention Requirements), all of which will have at least one rating, which may be public or private, from Moody's, S&P or Fitch. Initially, the Company's loan investments will be focused in the U.S., but depending on market conditions the Company may also invest in similar types of loans in Europe. Accordingly, there is no limit on the maximum U.S. or European exposure. Investments in U.S. or European loans may be made through a U.S. or European originator subsidiary of the Company. The Company intends to invest directly only in those senior secured loans to obligors with total potential indebtedness under all applicable loan agreements, indentures and other underlying instruments at least $250,000,000 that would generally satisfy the eligibility criteria for Highland CLOs and set forth in "Summary—Investment Policy—Loan Investments".

Financing of Loan Portfolios / Securitization

It is intended that the Company will periodically seek to sell or securitise all or a portion of its loan portfolio, held directly or indirectly, into new Highland CLOs where Highland CLO Management acts as CLO Manager. In doing so, Highland CLO Management may seek to adopt the "originator" model to address the Origination Requirements (as defined below) applicable to such Highland CLOs to the extent such Highland CLOs sought to comply with EU Retention Requirements. As a result, Highland CLO Management, will be required to commit to: (a) establishing the relevant CLO and (b) selling certain loan investments to the relevant CLO which it has purchased for its own account initially. In addition, under current guidance, prior to closing date of the relevant CLO, Highland CLO Management expects to sell investments to the relevant CLO to satisfy the Origination Requirements.

CLO Notes

The Company will from time to time invest directly or indirectly (through affiliates and subsidiaries, including the Management Companies, as more fully described below) in CLO Notes issued by Managed CLOs or CLOs managed by other asset managers as set forth in "Summary—Investment Policy—CLO Notes".

The Company is currently invested in CLO Income Notes issued by Managed CLOs managed by Highland, Acis and Acis CLO Management. Following the Placing, the Company will invest indirectly through the Management Companies in CLO Notes.

Act as Risk Retention Provider

The Company may also invest in, provide loans to, or purchase performance-linked notes from asset management subsidiaries, affiliated with the Company, Highland or Acis and which may act as the asset manager of certain U.S. or European CLOs in order to satisfy certain U.S. Risk Retention Rules or EU Retention Requirements.

Allocation of Investment Opportunities

Highland CLO Management will serve as CLO Manager to each newly-issued Highland CLO during the Investment Period.

During the Investment Period, the Company shall receive priority allocations with respect to all CLO Income Note investment opportunities with respect to new issue Highland CLOs, over the account of the Portfolio Manager, its affiliates and Other Accounts as set forth in "Summary—Investment Policy—Allocation of Investment Opportunities".

INVESTMENT RESTRICTIONS

The Company will, at all times, invest and manage its assets in a way which is consistent with its object of spreading investment risk and in accordance with the investment policy set out in "—Investment Policy".

In the event of any breach of the Company's investment policy or of the investment restrictions applicable to the Company, Shareholders will be informed of the actions to be taken by the Company (at the time of such a breach) by an announcement issued by the Administrator.

During the Investment Period, the Company may invest up to $250,000,000 in CLO Income Notes for new Highland CLOs as follows: (a) up to $150,000,000 in the aggregate from new capital contributions; and (b) up to $100,000,000 in the aggregate from proceeds received from existing seed portfolio investments and investments in new Highland CLOs, net of dividends paid, and amortization and interest payments on Company borrowings from committed credit facilities.

The Company may, without the consent of the Advisory Board, invest in any CLO Notes or CLO equity of Qualifying CLOs as set forth in "Summary—Investment Restrictions"; provided that, if the Portfolio Manager has satisfied the RP Condition, the consent of the Advisory Board to invest in any Highland CLO that meets clause (a) of the definition of Qualifying CLOs only shall not be unreasonably withheld, conditioned or delayed.

During the Investment Period, the Company shall be permitted to invest in "resets" with respect to the Designated CLO Resets and refinancings with respect to the Designated CLO Refinancings, each as set forth in "Summary—Investment Restrictions".

The Company shall not invest in the CLO Income Notes of a new-issue Highland CLO unless it is the 100% owner of the CLO Income Notes not forming part of the Retention Interest acquired by Highland CLO Management.

BORROWING

Subject to the limitations set forth in "Summary-Borrowing", it is expected that the Company will have access to one or more committed credit facilities. Such facilities may take the form of any Revolving Credit Facility, Warehouse Loan Facilities, total return swaps or repurchase agreements, in addition to secured loan facilities. It is expected that the Company will use advances under such facilities, together with the proceeds of the Shares, to purchase future senior secured loans (acquired for the primary purpose of enabling Highland CLO Management to qualify as an "originator" for purposes of the EU Retention Requirements) and other assets. In addition to such facilities, the Company will be permitted to borrow money for day to day administration and cash management purposes.

CHANGES TO INVESTMENT OBJECTIVE AND POLICY

Any material change to the investment objective and policy of the Company would be made only with the approval of Shareholders.

INVESTMENT STRATEGY

Whether the senior secured loans or other assets are held directly by the Company (with respect to senior secured loans for the purpose of enabling Highland CLO Management to qualify as an "originator" for purposes of the EU Retention Requirements) or indirectly via CLO Notes or its investment in the applicable Management Company it is the Company's intention that, in any case, the portfolios will be actively managed (by Highland, Acis, the applicable Management Company, an asset manager subsidiary or the applicable CLO Manager, as the case may be) to minimise default risk and potential loss through comprehensive credit analysis performed by Highland, Acis, the applicable Management Company or the applicable CLO Manager (as applicable).

Whilst the intention is to pursue an active, non-benchmark total return strategy, Highland as the Company's Portfolio Manager will be cognisant of the positioning of the loan portfolios against relevant indices. Accordingly, Highland will track the returns and volatility of such indices, while seeking to outperform them on a consistent basis. In-depth, fundamental credit research dictates name selection and sector over-weights/under-weights relative to the benchmark, backstopped by constant portfolio monitoring and risk oversight. Highland will typically look to diversify the Company's portfolios to avoid the risk that any one obligor or industry will adversely impact overall returns. The investment strategy also places an emphasis on loan portfolio liquidity to ensure that if the Company's credit outlook changes, it is free to respond quickly and effectively to reduce or mitigate risk in its portfolio. Highland believes this investment strategy will be successful in the future as a result of its emphasis on risk management, capital preservation and fundamental credit research. Highland believes the best way to control and mitigate risk is by remaining disciplined in market cycles, by making careful credit decisions and maintaining adequate diversification.

Leverage and Expected Returns

It is anticipated that any borrowing for the purpose of investing directly in senior secured loans (acquired for the primary purpose of enabling Highland CLO Management to qualify as an "originator" for purposes of the EU Retention Requirements) will be in the form of a term Warehouse Loan Facility, however the Company has entered into the NexBank Credit Facility and may enter into any Revolving Credit Facility, Warehouse Loan Facilities, total return swaps, repurchase agreements or other facilities to facilitate the acquisition or financing of loans. Loans purchased using such borrowings will typically be held for no more than 12 months before being sold to a Highland CLO. Except in relation to the CLO Retention Notes it holds, the Company may enter into hedging and derivatives transactions pursuant to its investment activities, for the purposes of efficient portfolio management.

The Company does not currently grant any guarantee under any leveraging arrangement. The grant of any such guarantee would be disclosed to investors in accordance with the AIFMD Rules.

Any proposed changes to the Company's investment objective and policy will be subject to the process described in the section titled "Changes to Investment Objective and Policy" above in this section of the Offering Memorandum.

Collateral and Asset Re-use Arrangements

Any collateral and asset re-use arrangements of the Company will vary according to the brokers and/or trading counterparties which it may use (each a "Trading Counterparty").

The Company may be required to deliver collateral from time to time to its Trading Counterparties, under the terms of the relevant trading agreements, by posting initial margin and/or variation margin and on a mark-to-market basis. The Company may also deposit collateral as security with a Trading Counterparty. The treatment of such collateral varies according to the type of transaction and where it is traded. Under such arrangements, the cash, securities and other assets deposited as collateral will generally become the absolute property of the Trading Counterparty, the Trading Counterparty will have the right to use such collateral.

Where collateral is reused by a Trading Counterparty, the Company will have an unsecured right to the return of equivalent assets and such collateral will be at risk in the event of the insolvency of a Trading Counterparty.

Any changes to the right of re-use of collateral will be disclosed to investors in accordance with the AIFMD Rules.

Current Investments of the Company

In order to facilitate a timely investment of the proceeds of the Placing and to take advantage of existing opportunities, the Company is currently invested in CLO Income Notes issued by Managed CLOs managed by Highland, Acis and Acis CLO Management. The details of such CLOs are set out in "The Current CLO Portfolio".

Following the Placing, the Company will acquire further assets and fund origination by Highland CLO Management of new Highland CLOs and it is expected that the Net Placing Proceeds will be substantially invested in CLO Notes upon closing. The Company may also, from time to time: (i) hold assets within its portfolio to maturity; (ii) sell assets within its portfolio to the market; or (iii) sell assets within its portfolio to another CLO which is not Managed CLO.

TARGET RETURN AND DIVIDEND POLICY

Target Total Return

Whilst not forming part of the investment objective or policy of the Company, on the basis of current market conditions as at the date of this Offering Memorandum, the Company is targeting an annualised mid-teen total return over the medium-term, once the Net Placing Proceeds are substantially invested (through the Company) in CLO Notes (the "Target Total Return"). The Company intends to seek to deliver this return through a combination of dividend payments and capital appreciation.

Target Dividend Yield and Policy

Whilst not forming part of the investment objective or policy of the Company, dividends will be payable in respect of each calendar quarter, payable in the month following the end of such quarter.

During the Investment Period, on each Quarterly Dividend Date, beginning May 15, 2018, the Company will target the Target Dividend. During the Investment Period, excess cash or interest from the portfolio will be reinvested by the Company with the objective of growing the NAV.

Following the Investment Period, excess cash, interest and proceeds from the realization of portfolio investments after satisfaction of all expenses, debts, liabilities and obligations of the Company will be distributed by the Company to the Shareholders as a dividend on the Quarterly Dividend Date in accordance with the Distribution Priority as set forth in "Summary-Dividend Policy".

To the extent the Company does not have available funds on hand to meet the Target Dividend with respect to any Quarterly Payment Date, the Portfolio Manager may suspend dividends if, in consultation with the Board of Directors, it determines that a sale of assets to produce proceeds to meet the Target Dividend would not be in the best interests of the Company and/or would not produce a sale price reflective of the value of the assets.

The Board may deduct from any dividend payable to any Shareholder on or in respect of a Share all sums of money (if any) presently payable by him to the Company on account of calls with respect to existing Shares, or calls of commitments to purchase Shares pursuant to the subscription agreements or otherwise.

The actual dividend generated by the Company in pursuing its investment objective will, however, depend on a wide range of factors including, but not limited to, general economic and market conditions, fluctuations in currency exchange rates, prevailing interest rates and credit spreads, the terms of the investments made by the Company and the risks highlighted in the "Risk Factors" section of this Offering Memorandum. Dividend payments may be suspended by the Portfolio Manager in its absolute discretion, including, without limitation, in the event of adverse, or perceived adverse, market conditions.

The Articles permit the Directors, in their absolute discretion, to offer a scrip dividend alternative to Shareholders when a cash dividend is declared from time to time. In the event a scrip dividend is offered in future, an electing Shareholder would be issued new, fully paid up Shares (or Shares sold from treasury) pursuant to the scrip dividend alternative. The scrip dividend alternative would be available only to those Shareholders to whom Shares might lawfully be marketed by the Company.

The Target Total Return and the Target Dividend should not be taken as an indication of the Company's expected future performance or results. The Target Total Return and the Target Dividend are targets only and there is no guarantee that they can or will be achieved and should not be seen as an indication of the Company's expected or actual return. Target returns are hypothetical and are neither guarantees nor predictions or projections of future performance. Actual events and conditions may differ materially from the assumptions used to establish the Target Total Return and Target Dividend. Accordingly, investors should not place any reliance on the Target Total Return or the Target Dividend in deciding whether to invest in Shares.

Furthermore, the future performance of the Company may be materially adversely affected by the risks discussed in the section of this Offering Memorandum entitled "Risk Factors".

FURTHER ISSUES OF SHARES

The Directors will have authority to allot further Shares in the share capital of the Company following the Placing. Further issues of Shares would only be made subject to consent of the Advisory Board, as described in "Summary—Advisory Board" if the Directors determine such issues to be necessary to protect the Company, consistent with the Board's duties to the Company, and in the best interests of Shareholders and the Company as a whole. Relevant factors in making such determination include net asset performance, share price rating and perceived investor demand. In the case of further issues of Shares (or sales of Shares from treasury), except as permitted by the Shareholders, such Shares will only be issued at prices which are not less than the then prevailing Net Asset Value per Share (as estimated by the Directors).

There are no provisions of Guernsey law which confer rights of pre-emption in respect of the allotment of Shares. The Articles, however, contain pre-emption rights in relation to allotments of Shares for cash.

VALUATION

Net Asset Value

As at the latest practicable date prior to the publication of this Offering Memorandum, the unaudited net asset value per share of the Net Asset Value was [●].

Publication of Net Asset Value

The Company intends to publish the Net Asset Value per Share as calculated in accordance with the process described below, on a quarterly basis (within 15 Business Days following the relevant month-end). Notice will be provided either by a website to be created or investors may elect to be contacted by the Administrator by e-mail. The Net Asset Value will be calculated by the Administrator on the basis of the valuation policy established by the Directors from time to time. The Company's initial valuation policy is described below.

Valuation of the portfolio

It is intended that, in accordance with its investment objective and policy set out above, the Company will invest in: (a) senior secured loans and other debt securities on both a direct basis (for the primary purpose of enabling Highland CLO Management to qualify as an "originator" for purposes of the EU Retention Requirements) and indirect basis, including through the use of leverage via repurchase facilities and Warehouse Loan Facilities, and for the purpose of enabling Highland CLO Management to qualify as an "originator" for purposes of the EU Retention Requirements; (b) CLO Notes, and any other assets held by management subsidiaries; and (c) interests in the Management Companies, and will value such instruments in accordance with the valuation policy established by the Portfolio Manager from time to time.

The Company (meaning for the purposes of the valuation of assets described herein, the Company itself, the Portfolio Manager or the Administrator under the ultimate supervision of the Board) will generally compute the value of the instruments and other assets of the Company as of the close of business on the last day of each fiscal period and on any other date selected by the Board in its sole discretion. In addition, the Company must compute the value of the instruments that are being distributed in-kind as of their date of distribution in accordance with the Company's Memorandum and Articles of Association. In determining the value of the assets of the Company, no value is placed on the goodwill or name of the Company, or the office records, files, statistical data or any similar intangible assets of the Company not normally reflected in the Company's accounting records, but there must be taken into consideration any related items of income earned but not received, expenses incurred but not yet paid, liabilities fixed or contingent, prepaid expenses to the extent not otherwise reflected in the books of account, and the value of options or commitments to purchase or sell instruments pursuant to agreements entered into on or prior to such valuation date.

A copy of the Company's valuation policy is available upon request.

The value of each instrument and other asset of the Company and the net worth of the Company as a whole determined pursuant the Company's Memorandum and Articles of Association are conclusive and binding on all of the members of the Company and all persons claiming through or under them.

Suspension of the calculation of Net Asset Value

[The Directors may at any time, but are not obliged to, temporarily suspend the calculation of the NAV and NAV per Share during any period when, as a result of political, economic, military or monetary events or any circumstances outside the control, responsibility and power of the Directors, disposal or valuation of a substantial part of the portfolio is, in the opinion of the Directors, not reasonably practicable without this being seriously detrimental to the interests of the Company or if, in the opinion of the Directors, the NAV and/or NAV per Share, as the case may be, cannot be fairly calculated.]

Shareholders will be informed by e-mail from the Administrator in the event that the calculation of the NAV per Share is suspended as described above.

REPORTS AND ACCOUNTS

The accounting period of the Company ends on 31 December, in each year, and the audited annual accounts will be provided to Shareholders within four months of the year end to which they relate. The Company shall report its results of operations and financial position in U.S. Dollars. The Company's first accounts were prepared for the period ending 31 December 2015.

The audited annual accounts will also be available at the registered office of the Administrator and the Company.

The financial statements of the Company will be prepared in accordance with GAAP, and the annual accounts will be audited. The Company's financial statements, which will be the responsibility of its Board, will consist of a statement of comprehensive income, statement of financial position, statement of cash flows, statement of changes in equity, related notes and any additional information that the Board deems appropriate or that is required by applicable law.

It is expected that the CLOs and any Warehouse Loan Facilities established will not be consolidated in the Company's GAAP financial statements, although such assessment will depend on the facts and circumstances.

Any disclosures required to be made to Shareholders pursuant to the AIFMD will be contained either in the Company's periodic reports or communicated to Shareholders in written form.

(vii) [To be updated]

Information on the historic performance of the Company is available upon request from the [Portfolio Manager][Administrator]. Such information will be updated periodically in accordance with the AIFMD Rules.]

MARKET OPPORTUNITY

INVESTMENT OPPORTUNITY

The Company intends to invest in CLO Notes of CLOs which are compliant with the U.S. Risk Retention Rules and which may be compliant with the EU Retention Requirements (as defined above) and in senior secured loans (for the primary purpose of enabling Highland CLO Management to qualify as an "originator" for purposes of the EU Retention Requirements). In pursuance of this intention, the Company will invest in each of the Management Companies which will, pursuant to the EU Retention Requirements, need to, amongst other things: (a) on the closing date of a CLO it establishes, commit to purchase "material net economic interest" equal to at least five per cent of the maximum portfolio principal amount of the assets in the CLO and (b) undertake that, for so long as any securities of the CLO remain outstanding (including any CLO Retention Notes), it will retain its interest in the CLO and will not (except to the extent permitted by the EU Retention Requirements) sell, hedge or otherwise mitigate its credit risk under or associated with such CLO. This five per cent material net economic interest in the CLO can, amongst other methods, be retained through the holding of a vertical strip of all issued tranches (AAA-rated notes to equity) or a retention holding in the first loss tranche or a combination thereof. The EU Retention Requirements prohibit many significant European investors from investing in any securitisation which does not comply with them.

In addition, with the intention of achieving classification as an "originator" (as defined in the CRR) and complying with the CRR Retention Requirements with respect to Highland CLOs, Highland CLO Management will be required to meet the Origination Requirements.

Highland CLO Management may seek to adopt the "originator" model to address the EU Retention Requirements for its CLOs and intends to be treated as a "majority-owned affiliated" of Highland in order to comply with the U.S. Risk Retention Rules.

In addition to its current holdings, the Company may buy floating rate senior secured loans from the primary and secondary market before selling the assets to one or more CLOs which it establishes and for which Highland CLO Management will act as a retention provider, thereby offering investors wholesale access to senior secured loans acquired by the Company and retained CLO Income Notes.

Highland will be responsible for selecting and monitoring the performance of the investments. The Company's purchase and sale decisions (with certain exceptions) will be taken by Highland as Portfolio Manager pursuant to the Portfolio Management Agreement. Further details on the investment process are set out in the section of this Offering Memorandum entitled "Investment Process".

INVESTMENT PROCESS

Highland as Portfolio Manager and CLO Manager

The Company has entered into a Portfolio Management Agreement with Highland as the Portfolio Manager. Pursuant to the Portfolio Management Agreement, Highland will, at its discretion, select the portfolio of investments and instruct the Custodian with respect to any acquisition, disposition or sale of investments and provide certain support services to the Company. The performance of the Company's portfolio will depend heavily on the skills of Highland in analyzing, selecting and managing the investments. The Portfolio Manager has entered into Service Agreements with Highland Capital Management, L.P. under which the Portfolio Manager has agreed to make its investment research and recommendations and back-office support services available to Acis. Further details are set out in the section of this offering memorandum entitled "Investment Process" and "Additional Information on the Company".

Based in Dallas, Texas, Highland is an SEC Registered Investment Adviser founded in 1993 that specializes in senior secured bank loans, high yield bonds, structured products and equities. Highland issued its first CLO in 1996, and Highland and its affiliates have since issued and managed over U.S. $28 billion of CLOs and CDOs consisting of 40 separate vehicles. As of August 31, 2017, Highland and its affiliates, managed or serviced approximately U.S. $13.4 billion in senior secured bank loans, high yield bonds, structured products and other assets for banks, insurance companies, pension plans, foundations and high net worth individuals.

Highland, Acis and/or the Management Companies, may act as CLO Manager(s) in relation to the Managed CLOs pursuant to CLO Management Agreements. Highland, Acis and/or the applicable Management Company as CLO Manager is responsible for purchasing and selling of collateral obligations and performing certain other advisory and administrative tasks for and on behalf of the Managed CLOs in each case subject to the provisions of the applicable CLO Management Agreement and any applicable provisions of the indenture.

Highland is an SEC Registered Investment Adviser and currently manages CLOs and other managed accounts and investment funds. Highland CLO Management is a relying adviser of Highland and will manage Highland CLOs. Highland CLO Management has the HCLOM Service Agreements in place with Highland, pursuant to which Highland provides credit research and operational support to Highland CLO Management, including services in connection with determining the composition, nature and timing of changes to the Highland CLO Management portfolio, the due diligence of actual or potential investments, the execution of investment transactions approved by Highland CLO Management, and certain loan services and administrative services.

Acis is an SEC Registered Investment Adviser and currently manages CLOs and other managed accounts and investment funds. Acis CLO Management is a relying adviser of Acis and currently manages ACIS CLO 2017-7. Acis is an affiliate of Highland and is 100% owned by Highland senior management, and was established by James Dondero and Mark Okada to focus on managing traditional CLOs that invest in liquid, broadly syndicated bank loans and secondary CLO investments. Acis has the ACM Service Agreements in place with Highland, pursuant to which Highland provides investment research and recommendations and operational support to Acis, including services in connection with the Portfolio Manager's recommendations with respect to the composition, nature and timing of changes to the Company's portfolio, the due diligence of actual or potential investments, the execution of investment transactions, and certain loan services and administrative services. Acis CLO Management has the ACLOM Service Agreements in place with Acis, pursuant to which Acis provides credit research and operational support to Acis CLO Management, including services in connection with determining the composition, nature and timing of changes to the ACIS CLO Management portfolio, the due diligence of actual or potential investments, the execution of investment transactions approved by ACIS CLO Management, and certain loan services and administrative services. All final credit decisions are made by the Highland individuals referenced below.

Investment Philosophy

Highland's investment philosophy centers on being investors first. The firm has 25 years of experience investing in alternative strategies through multiple cycles. Highland is a recognized pioneer in bank loan asset management and CLO issuance. The firm invests a meaningful amount of capital in the portfolios they manage, with market value in excess of $250 million invested alongside our clients, as of September 30, 2017.

Highland's investment philosophy is rooted in a value-driven approach that combines rigorous bottom-up credit underwriting with top-down risk analysis to optimize risk-adjusted performance of portfolios. The firm integrates risk management throughout its investment process and maintains a culture of a high level of compliance. Highland focuses on attractive risk/return arbitrage opportunities where the firm can add value. Highland seeks to generate alpha by implementing checks and balances that allow the firm to identify risks, mitigate volatility, and quickly ascertain and sell losers.

While participating in the larger, liquid bank loan asset class, Highland continues to capture market inefficiencies in this over the counter (OTC) market through mispricings that it identifies via robust fundamental analysis, proactive diligence and monitoring, and nimble trading capabilities. Given the scale of the firm's investment resources, Highland is able to follow and manage investment portfolio names more closely. Highland credit research analysts manage 20-30 credits per analyst versus most peers, who manage 40-50 credits per analyst. In addition, the firm's dedicated trading desk and active dialogue with the Street enable Highland to identify technical dislocations and opportunities. The firm's high conviction investment philosophy and active portfolio management style versus peers have been key drivers of creating alpha for clients over time.

Investment Monitoring and Risk Management

Risk management is integrated into all levels of the investment process, from research, to portfolio construction and management, to ongoing monitoring. Highland conducts extensive position and portfolio monitoring activities on a daily basis. Portfolio risk is reviewed using internally generated daily, weekly, and monthly reports which measure transaction compliance including investor-mandated metrics such as portfolio concentrations or required test scores, as well as compliance with evolving internal positioning targets. Individual position risk is monitored in a number of ways, including Highland's extensive proprietary intranet system (Highland Online Management Engine or "HOME"), which pulls together data from their various data providers (Wall Street Office, LPC, Moody's, S&P, MarkIt, S&P LCD, CSFB Index) to provide a comprehensive portfolio/risk management system. The system allows the CLO team to monitor metrics at any level of aggregation (instrument, issuer, portfolio, fund and across the platform). Additionally, the system is designed to be scalable and with flexibility to enable future data inputs and reporting requirements.

For both Managed CLOs and for the underlying loans, the HOME intranet system allows Highland to monitor portfolios on a real-time, ongoing basis by receiving alerts showing positions with the largest daily/weekly/monthly mark change, as well as alerts on downgrades/upgrades, and when their credit analyst has changed his opinion on a broadly syndicated loan.

Allocation Policy

Highland and its affiliates may, from time to time, be presented with investment opportunities that fall within the investment objectives of the Company and the Managed CLOs and other clients, funds or other investment accounts managed by Highland or its affiliates, and in such circumstances, subject to the Company's priority allocation with respect to CLO Income Notes of new issue Highland CLOs Highland and its affiliates expect to allocate such opportunities among the Company, the Managed CLOs and such other clients, funds or other investment accounts on a basis that Highland and its affiliates determine in good faith is appropriate taking into consideration such factors as the fiduciary duties owed to the Company, the Managed CLOs and such other clients, funds or other investment accounts, the primary mandates of the Company, the Managed CLOs and such other clients, funds or other investment accounts, the capital available to the Company, the Managed CLOs and such other clients, funds or other investment accounts, any restrictions on investment, the sourcing of the transaction, the size of the transaction, the amount of potential follow-on investing that may be required for such investment and the other collateral obligations of the Company, the Managed CLOs and such other clients, funds or other investment accounts, the relation of such opportunity to the investment strategy of the Company, the Managed CLOs and such other clients, funds or other investment accounts, reasons of portfolio balance and any other consideration deemed relevant by Highland and its affiliates in good faith. Subject to the Company's priority allocation with respect to CLO Income Notes of new issue Highland CLOs, Highland will allocate investment opportunities across the entities for which such opportunities are appropriate, consistent with (1) its internal conflict of interest and allocation policies and (2) the requirements of the Investment Advisers Act. Highland will seek to allocate investment opportunities among such entities in a manner that is fair and equitable over time and consistent with its allocation policy. However, there is no assurance that such investment opportunities will be allocated to the Company and the Managed CLOs fairly or equitably in the short term or over time and there can be no assurance that the Company and the Managed CLOs will be able to participate in all such investment opportunities that are suitable for it.

Biographies of the Highland Key Personnel

The Portfolio Manager will use the services of the key personnel set forth below, although it may not necessarily continue to use their services during the entire term of the Portfolio Management Agreement. Of these, Trey Parker and Hunter Covitz (and such other personnel as may be determined from time to time) will be made available by Highland to the Company pursuant to the Portfolio Management Agreement.

Although the persons described above are currently employed by Highland and are engaged in the activities of the Portfolio Manager, such persons may not necessarily continue to be employed by Highland during the entire term of the Portfolio Management Agreement and, if so employed, may not remain engaged in the activities of the Portfolio Manager.

COMPANY DIRECTORS AND ADMINISTRATION

DIRECTORS

The Directors are responsible for managing the business affairs of the Company in accordance with the Articles and have overall responsibility for the Company's activities including the appointment of the service providers. The Directors may delegate certain functions to other parties such as the Administrator and the Registrar. The Directors have appointed Highland as Portfolio Manager and delegated the investment management and risk management of the Company's investments to the Portfolio Manager pursuant to the Portfolio Management Agreement.

The Board comprises [two] Directors, both of whom are independent of Highland and Acis.

The address of the Directors, all of whom are non-executive, is the registered office of the Company. The Directors of the Company are as follows:

William Scott (Chairman)

William Scott, a Guernsey resident, acts as an independent Director of the Company. Mr. Scott also currently serves as independent non-executive director of a number of investment companies and funds. From 2003 to 2004, Mr. Scott worked as Senior Vice President with FRM Investment Management Limited. Previously, Mr. Scott was a director at Rea Brothers (which became part of the Close Brothers group in 1999 and where he was a director of Close Bank Guernsey Limited) (1989-2002) and Assistant Investment Manager with the London Residuary Body Superannuation Scheme (1987-1989). Mr. Scott graduated from the University of Edinburgh in 1982 and is a Chartered Accountant having qualified with Arthur Young (now E&Y) in 1987. Mr. Scott also holds the Securities Institute Diploma and is a Chartered Fellow of the Chartered Institute for Securities & Investment. He is also a Chartered Wealth Manager.

Heather Bestwick

Heather Bestwick, a Jersey resident, has been a financial services professional for over 25 years, onshore in the City of London and offshore in the Cayman Islands and Jersey. She qualified as an English solicitor, specialising in ship finance, with City firm Norton Rose, and worked in their London and Athens offices for eight years. In 1999 she joined global offshore law firm Walkers in the Cayman Islands, qualifying as a Cayman Islands attorney and Notary Public, and became a partner in 2003. Her practice encompassed hedge funds, private equity, structured finance, secured lending and yacht registration and finance. Ms. Bestwick moved to Jersey in 2007 to become Managing Partner of the Walkers Jersey office. She joined Jersey Finance in 2010 as Technical Director and Deputy Chief Executive, leading the development of finance industry legislation on behalf of industry (including the introduction of the Jersey Private Placement Fund and the AIFMD compliant regime; overseeing the amendments to the Companies and Trusts Laws) and liaising with the regulator and government. Ms. Bestwick is now an independent non-executive director, and is registered with the Jersey Financial Services Commission. She is a member of the Channel Islands committee of the Association of Investment Companies.

Management functions of the Board of Directors

As there are no employees of the Company, the Board performs certain management functions, which include the overseeing of the Company's the supervision of any delegated responsibilities to third-party service providers, and will have the ultimate responsibility for the management and operations of the Company.

The Company has appointed Highland as Portfolio Manager and delegated the investment management and risk management of the Company's investments to the Portfolio Manager pursuant to the Portfolio Management Agreement.

CORPORATE GOVERNANCE

The Directors are committed to maintaining high standards of corporate governance. Insofar as the Directors believe it to be appropriate and relevant to the Company, it is their intention that the Company should comply with best practice standards for the business carried on by the Company.

On 1 January 2012, the GFSC's Finance Sector Code of Corporate Governance (the "GFSC Code") came into effect. The GFSC has stated in the GFSC Code that companies which report against the UK Corporate Governance Code or the AIC Code are deemed to meet the requirements of the GFSC Code, and need take no further action. Other than as set out below, the Company currently complies with, and will comply with, the GFSC Code.

The Directors recognise the value of the AIC Code and have taken appropriate measures to ensure that the Company complies, so far as is possible given the Company's size and nature of business, with the AIC Code. Save as set out below, the Company currently complies, and will continue to comply, with the AIC Code.

There is no chief executive or senior independent director within the Company, which means that the Company cannot comply with Principle 1 of the AIC Code. As an investment company, all the Directors are non-executive and the Company has no employees. Accordingly, Principle 1 of the AIC Code is not relevant to the Company. The Company does not have a senior independent director because all of its Directors are non-executive and the Company has a Chairman. There are no other instances of non-compliance with the UK Corporate Governance Code by the Company as at the date of this Offering Memorandum.

Audit Committee

The Company has established an Audit Committee, which comprises [all] the Directors. The Company's Audit Committee will meet formally at least twice a year for the purpose, amongst other things, of considering the appointment, independence and remuneration of the Auditor and to review the Company's annual financial reports. Where audit-related and/or non-audit services are to be provided by the Auditors, full consideration of the financial and other implications on the independence of the Auditors arising from any such engagement will be considered before proceeding. Heather Bestwick will act as chairman of the Audit Committee. The responsibilities of the Audit Committee will include monitoring the integrity of the Company's results and financial statements, reviewing reports received from the Administrator on the adequacy and the effectiveness of the Company's internal controls and risk management systems, considering annually whether there is a need for an effectiveness of the Company's internal audit function and assessing the ongoing suitability of the Auditors and ensuring their co-ordination with any internal audit function.

The chairmanship of the Audit Committee and each Director's performance is reviewed annually by the Chairman and the performance of the Chairman will be assessed by the other Directors.

Advisory Board

The Company has established an Advisory Board, which composed of individuals who shall be representatives of certain Shareholders. See "Summary—Advisory Board".

Remuneration and Nomination Committee

The Company has established a Remuneration and Nomination Committee, which comprises all the Directors. The Remuneration and Nomination Committee will meet not less than once a year and will have responsibility for considering the remuneration of the Directors. It will also: (i) identify individuals qualified to become Board members and select the Director nominees for election at general meetings of the Shareholders or for appointment to fill vacancies; (ii) determine Director nominees for each committee of the Board; and (iii) consider the appropriate composition of the Board and its committees.

PORTFOLIO MANAGER

Highland will act as Portfolio Manager to the Company (pursuant to the Portfolio Management Agreement) and may act (either itself or through an affiliate) as the CLO Manager to Managed CLOs.

Pursuant to the Portfolio Management Agreement, the Portfolio Manager will select the portfolio of investments and instruct the Custodian with respect to any acquisition, disposition or sale of investments and be responsible for the business decisions and carry on the day-to-day management of the Company's business and implementation of its investment objective and policy.

Highland Fees

Highland will receive, in consideration for its services pursuant to the Portfolio Management Agreement, an amount equivalent to all Operating Expenses incurred by the Portfolio Manager in the performance of its obligations thereunder as described below, together with any irrecoverable VAT arising on such costs and expenses. Except as provided below, the Portfolio Manager will pay all of its own operating, overhead and administrative expenses, including all costs and expenses on account on employee compensation, employee benefits and rent ("Overhead") without reimbursement by the Company.

The Registrar is a private limited company, created under Guernsey law on [•] whose registered office is situated at First Floor, Dorey Court Admiral Park, St Peter Port, Guernsey GY1 6HJ. The Registrar is licensed by the Commission under the POI Law to act as registrar of Guernsey-based collective investment schemes.

CUSTODIAN

State Street Custodial Services (Ireland) Limited has been appointed as Custodian of the Company pursuant to the Custody Agreement (further details of which are set out in the section of this Offering Memorandum entitled "Material Contracts" in "Additional Information on the Company"). In acting as custodian of the Company's investments, the Custodian shall provide for the safekeeping of certificates of deposit, shares, notes and in general any instrument evidencing the ownership of securities and may take custody of cash and other assets. Assets will be held in a custody account and registered in the name of the Company or the Custodian, its delegate or a nominee.

The Custodian, which is authorised as an Investment Business Firm under Section 10 of the Irish Investment Intermediaries Act, 1995 (as amended), will provide custody and banking services.

FEES AND EXPENSES

The expenses of the Company related to the Placing are described in "Summary—Expenses related to the Placing".

The Company's ongoing expenses are described in "Summary—Ongoing annual expenses".

For more information on expenses charged during the most recent financial year, prospective investors should review the Company's annual audited financial statements (if any) for the prior financial year.

MEETINGS AND REPORTS TO SHAREHOLDERS

All general meetings of the Company shall be held in Guernsey.

The Company's audited annual report and accounts will be prepared to 31 December, each year, and it is expected that copies will be sent to Shareholders at the end of April each year. Shareholders will also receive an unaudited interim report each year covering the six months from 1 January to 30 June, expected to be despatched at the end of August each year.

The Company's accounts are drawn up in U.S. Dollars and in compliance with GAAP.

The following information will be disclosed to investors at the same time as the annual financial statements and may be provided at other times by way of a report and/or letter sent to investors by the [Portfolio Manager][Administrator]:

(a) the percentage of the assets of the Company that are subject to special arrangements arising from their illiquid nature;

(b) any new arrangements for managing the liquidity of the Company;

(c) the current risk profile of the Company and the risk management systems employed by the Portfolio Manager to manage those risks; and

(d) the total amount of leverage employed by the Company.

Any changes to the following information will be provided by the [Portfolio Manager][Administrator] to investors without undue delay and may be provided by email:

(a) the maximum level of leverage which the Portfolio Manager may employ on behalf of the Company;

(b) the right of re-use of collateral or any changes to any guarantee granted under any leveraging arrangement; and

(c) activation of liquidity management tools.

PLACING ARRANGEMENTS

THE PLACING

The target number of Placing Shares to be issued pursuant to the Placing is in excess of [●] million. As at the date of this Offering Memorandum, the actual number of Placing Shares to be issued under the Placing is not known.

The results of the Placing will be released by the Company, including details of the number of Placing Shares allotted (or such other date as may be notified by the Company). Whilst it is expected that all Placing Shares will be issued in uncertificated form, if any Placing Shares are issued in certificated form it is expected that share certificates would be despatched approximately two weeks after settlement of the Placing. No temporary documents of title will be issued.

[The Company is seeking aggregate subscriptions to purchase Placing Shares in an aggregate amount of up to approximately $[●] million.

Placees will commit under the subscription agreements to purchase Shares to be settled from time to time during the Investment Period. The Portfolio Manager may call such Shares for settlement from time to time on a pro rata basis upon 10 Business Days' notice to the Placees in such amounts as may be specified by the Portfolio Manager.

Upon the expiration of the Investment Period, all Placees will be released from any further obligation with respect to purchase Shares under their subscriptions, except to the extent necessary to:

(i) complete the purchase of Shares pursuant to written commitments, letters of intent or similar contractual commitments that were in process as of the end of the Investment Period; and

(ii) fund any indebtedness of the Company permitted hereunder incurred prior to the end of the Investment Period (including to repay outstanding indebtedness under any Warehouse Loan Facilities).

Shares will be issued at a price per Share based on the then current NAV of the Company.

The maximum number of Shares to be issued by the Company is [●] million and the minimum number is [●] million. Fractions of Placing Shares will not be issued.

On the Closing Date, Placees will acquire Shares of existing Shareholders at a price per Share based on the current NAV of the Company such that Placees and existing Shareholders will hold currently existing Shares on a pro rata basis and existing Shareholders will commit, as Placees under subscription agreements, to purchase Shares such that new and existing Shareholders will hold both existing Shares and commitments on pro rata basis.

The Board may deduct from any dividend payable to any Shareholder on or in respect of a Share all sums of money (if any) presently payable by him to the Company on account of calls with respect to existing Shares, or calls of commitments to purchase Shares pursuant to the subscription agreements or otherwise.

The Board may retain any dividend or other monies payable on or in respect of a Share on which the Company has a lien and may apply the same in or towards satisfaction of the liabilities or obligations in respect of which the lien exists.]

Highland Principal Commitment

[Certain principals of Highland will subscribe for Shares of [●] in the aggregate.]

TIME AND DATE OF THE OPENING AND CLOSING OF THE OFFER

This subscription is open for a fixed offer period only. This period runs from [●], the offer opening date, until 17:00 in Guernsey on the Closing Date. Only fully completed applications received by this date with cleared funds in the Companies' nominated account will be acceptable for investment.

USE OF PROCEEDS

The Net Placing Proceeds will depend on the number of Placing Shares issued pursuant to the Placing. The Portfolio Manager intends to invest the Net Placing Proceeds in accordance with the Company's investment policy (further details of the Company's investment process and strategy are set out in the section of this Offering Memorandum entitled "Company, its Investment Objective, Policy and Strategy").

DEALINGS

The Company does not guarantee that at any particular time any market maker(s) will be willing to make a market in the Placing Shares, nor does it guarantee the price at which a market will be made in the Placing Shares. Accordingly, the dealing price of the Placing Shares may not necessarily reflect changes in the Net Asset Value per Share. Furthermore, the level of the liquidity in the Placing Shares can vary significantly.

SCALING BACK AND ALLOCATION

If aggregate applications for Placing Shares exceed 325 million Shares, being the maximum number of Shares to be issued pursuant to the Placing, it will be necessary to scale back applications under the Placing. The Company reserves the right to decline in whole or in part any application for Placing Shares pursuant to the Placing.

GENERAL

Pursuant to anti-money laundering laws and regulations with which the Company must comply in the UK and Guernsey, the Company (and its agents) may require evidence in connection with any application for Placing Shares, including further identification of the applicant(s), before any Placing Shares are issued.

In the event that there are any significant changes affecting any of the matters described in this Offering Memorandum or where any significant new matters have arisen after the publication of this Offering Memorandum, the Company will publish a notice to investors. Such notice will give details of the significant change(s) or the significant new matter(s). In the event that the Company is required to publish any notice, applicants who have applied for Placing Shares shall have at least two clear business days following the publication of the relevant notice within which to withdraw their offer to subscribe for Placing Shares in its entirety. The right to withdraw an application to subscribe for Placing Shares in these circumstances will be available to all investors in the Placing. If the application is not withdrawn within the time limits set out in the relevant notice, any application for Placing Shares will remain valid and binding.

The Directors may, in their absolute discretion, waive the minimum application amounts in respect of any particular application for Placing Shares under the Placing.

Should the Placing be aborted or fail to complete for any reason, monies received will be returned without interest at the risk of the applicant to the bank account from which the money was received forthwith following such abort or failure, as the case may be.

CLEARING AND SETTLEMENT

Payment for the Placing Shares should be made in accordance with settlement instructions to be provided to Placees by or on behalf of the Company. To the extent that any application for Placing Shares is rejected in whole or in part (whether by scaling back or otherwise), monies received will be returned without interest at the risk of the applicant.

PURCHASE AND TRANSFER RESTRICTIONS

This Offering Memorandum does not constitute an offer to sell, or the solicitation of an offer to acquire or subscribe for, Placing Shares in any jurisdiction where such an offer or solicitation is unlawful or would impose any unfulfilled registration, qualification, publication or approval requirements on the Company.

The Company has elected to impose the restrictions described below on the Placing and on the future trading of the Placing Shares so that the Company will not be required to register the offer and sale of the Placing Shares under the U.S. Securities Act, so that the Company will not have an obligation to register as an investment company under the U.S. Investment Company Act and related rules and to address certain ERISA, U.S. Tax Code and other considerations. The Company and its agents will not be obligated to recognise any resale or other transfer of the Placing Shares made other than in compliance with the restrictions described below.

Restrictions due to lack of registration under the U.S. Securities Act and U.S. Investment Company Act

The Placing Shares have not been and will not be registered under the U.S. Securities Act or with any securities regulatory authority of any state or other jurisdiction of the United States and the Placing Shares may not be offered, sold, exercised, resold, transferred or delivered, directly or indirectly, within the United States or to, or for the account or benefit of, U.S. Persons, except pursuant to an exemption from, or in a transaction not subject to, the registration requirements of the U.S. Securities Act and in compliance with any applicable securities laws of any state or other jurisdiction in the United States. There will be no public offer of the Placing Shares in the United States.

Subject to certain exceptions as described herein, the Placing is only being made outside the United States to non-U.S. Persons in reliance on Regulation S under the U.S. Securities Act.

In addition, except with the express written consent of the Company given in respect of an investment in the Company, the Placing Shares may not be acquired by (i) investors using assets of (A) an "employee benefit plan" as defined in section 3(3) of ERISA that is subject to Title I of ERISA; (B) a "plan" as defined in Section 4975 of the U.S. Code, including an individual retirement account or other arrangement that is subject to Section 4975 of the U.S. Code; or (C) an entity which is deemed to hold the assets of any of the foregoing types of plans, accounts or arrangements that is subject to Title I of ERISA or Section 4975 of the U.S. Code; or (ii) a governmental, church, non-U.S. or other employee benefit plan that is subject to any federal, state, local or non-U.S. law that is substantially similar to the provisions of Title I of ERISA or Section 4975 of the U.S. Code, unless its purchase, holding, and disposition of the Placing Shares will not constitute or result in a non-exempt violation of any such substantially similar law.

Subscriber and Shareholder warranties

By participating in the Placing, each subscriber acknowledges and agrees that it will (for itself and any person(s) procured by it to subscribe for Shares and any nominee(s) for any such person(s)) be further deemed to represent and warrant to each of the Company and the Registrar that:

(a) if it is located outside the United States, it is not a U.S. Person, it is acquiring the Shares in an offshore transaction meeting the requirements of Regulation S and it is not acquiring the Shares for the account or benefit of a U.S. Person;

(b) if it is located inside the United States or is a U.S. Person, it is an Eligible U.S. Investor and has received, read, understood and, prior to its receipt of any Shares pursuant to the Placing, returned an executed a U.S. Investor Letter to the Company;

(c) it acknowledges that the Shares have not been and will not be registered under the U.S. Securities Act or with any securities regulatory authority of any state or other jurisdiction of the United States and may not be offered or sold in the United States or to, or for the account or benefit of, U.S. Persons absent registration or an exemption from registration under the U.S. Securities Act;

(d) it acknowledges that the Company has not registered under the U.S. Investment Company Act and that the Company has put in place restrictions for transactions not involving any public offering in the United States, and to ensure that the Company is not and will not be required to register under the U.S. Investment Company Act;

(e) unless the Company expressly consents in writing otherwise, no portion of the assets used to purchase, and no portion of the assets used to hold, the Shares or any beneficial interest therein constitutes or will constitute the assets of (i) an "employee benefit plan" as defined in Section 3(3) of ERISA that is subject to Title I of ERISA; (ii) a "plan" as defined in Section 4975 of the U.S. Code, including an individual retirement account or other arrangement that is subject to Section 4975 of the U.S. Code; or (iii) an entity which is deemed to hold the assets of any of the foregoing types of plans, accounts or arrangements that is subject to Title I of ERISA or Section 4975 of the U.S. Code. In addition, if an investor is a governmental, church, non-U.S. or other employee benefit plan that is subject to any federal, state, local or non-U.S. law that is substantially similar to the provisions of Title I of ERISA or Section 4975 of the U.S. Code, its purchase, holding, and disposition of the Shares must not constitute or result in a non-exempt violation of any such substantially similar law;

(f) that if any Shares offered and sold are issued in certificated form, then such certificates evidencing ownership will contain a legend substantially to the following effect unless otherwise determined by the Company in accordance with applicable law:

"THE COMPANY HAS NOT BEEN REGISTERED UNDER THE UNITED STATES INVESTMENT COMPANY ACT OF 1940, AS AMENDED (THE "INVESTMENT COMPANY ACT") AND THE SECURITY EVIDENCED HEREBY HAS NOT BEEN REGISTERED UNDER THE UNITED STATES SECURITIES ACT OF 1933, AS AMENDED (THE "SECURITIES ACT"), AND MAY NOT BE OFFERED, SOLD, PLEDGED OR OTHERWISE TRANSFERRED EXCEPT (A) OUTSIDE THE UNITED STATES TO A NON-US PERSON (AS DEFINED IN RULE 902 OF REGULATION S, "US PERSON") THAT IS NOT A US RESIDENT FOR THE PURPOSES OF THE INVESTMENT COMPANY ACT (A "US RESIDENT") IN ACCORDANCE WITH RULE 903 OR 904 OF REGULATION S UNDER THE SECURITIES ACT (AND NOT IN A PRE- ARRANGED TRANSACTION RESULTING IN THE RESALE OF SUCH SECURITY INTO THE UNITED STATES) OR (B) PURSUANT TO AN EXEMPTION FROM REGISTRATION UNDER THE SECURITIES ACT AND UNDER CIRCUMSTANCES WHICH WILL NOT REQUIRE THE COMPANY TO REGISTER UNDER THE INVESTMENT COMPANY ACT (PROVIDED THAT, IF SUCH TRANSFER PURSUANT TO THIS CLAUSE (B) IS TO A US PERSON OR A US RESIDENT, THE PURCHASER IS A QUALIFIED PURCHASER WITHIN THE MEANING OF SECTION 3(c)(7) OF THE INVESTMENT COMPANY ACT) AND, IN EACH CASE IN ACCORDANCE WITH ANY APPLICABLE SECURITIES LAWS OF THE STATES OF THE UNITED STATES AND OTHER JURISDICTIONS. THE HOLDER OF THIS SECURITY AGREES THAT IT WILL COMPLY WITH THE FOREGOING RESTRICTIONS. NO REPRESENTATION CAN BE MADE AS TO THE AVAILABILITY OF ANY EXEMPTION UNDER THE SECURITIES ACT FOR RESALES OF THE SECURITY.

THE HOLDER ACKNOWLEDGES THAT THE COMPANY RESERVES THE RIGHT PRIOR TO ANY SALE OR OTHER TRANSFER TO REQUIRE THE DELIVERY OF SUCH CERTIFICATIONS, LEGAL OPINIONS AND OTHER INFORMATION AS THE COMPANY MAY REASONABLY REQUIRE TO CONFIRM THAT THE PROPOSED SALE OR OTHER TRANSFER COMPLIES WITH THE FOREGOING RESTRICTIONS.

IF A BENEFICIAL OWNER OF THIS SECURITY WHO IS REQUIRED TO BE A QUALIFIED PURCHASER WITHIN THE MEANING OF SECTION 3(c)(7) OF THE INVESTMENT COMPANY ACT IS AT ANY TIME NOT SUCH A QUALIFIED PURCHASER, THE COMPANY MAY (A) REQUIRE SUCH BENEFICIAL OWNER TO SELL THIS SECURITY TO A PERSON WHO IS NOT A US PERSON OR A US RESIDENT OR WHO IS A US PERSON WHO IS ALSO A QUALIFIED PURCHASER AND WHO IS OTHERWISE QUALIFIED TO PURCHASE SUCH SECURITY IN A TRANSACTION EXEMPT FROM REGISTRATION UNDER THE SECURITIES ACT OR (B) SELL THIS SECURITY ON BEHALF OF THE BENEFICIAL OWNER AT THE BEST PRICE REASONABLY OBTAINABLE TO A PERSON WHO IS NOT A US PERSON OR WHO IS A US PERSON OR A US RESIDENT WHO IS ALSO A QUALIFIED PURCHASER AND WHO IS OTHERWISE QUALIFIED TO PURCHASE SUCH SECURITY IN A TRANSACTION EXEMPT FROM REGISTRATION UNDER THE SECURITIES ACT.

THE HOLDER OF THIS SECURITY IS DEEMED TO HAVE ACKNOWLEDGED THAT THIS LEGEND WILL NOT BE REMOVED FROM THIS SECURITY FOR AS LONG AS THE COMPANY RELIES ON SECTION 3(c)(7) OF THE INVESTMENT COMPANY ACT";

(g) if in the future the investor decides to offer, sell, transfer, assign or otherwise dispose of the Shares, it will do so only in compliance with an exemption from the registration requirements of the U.S. Securities Act and under circumstances which will not require the Company to register under the U.S. Investment Company Act. It acknowledges that any sale, transfer, assignment, pledge or other disposal made other than in compliance with such laws and the above stated restrictions will be subject to the compulsory transfer provisions as provided in the Articles;

(h) if in the future it decides to offer, resell, pledge or otherwise transfer any of the Shares, such Shares may be offered, resold, pledged or otherwise transferred only (A) outside the United States to persons not known to be U.S. Persons in an offshore transaction in accordance with Rule 904 of Regulation S under the U.S. Securities Act, (B) in a transaction that does not require registration under the U.S. Securities Act or any applicable United States securities laws and regulations or require the Company to register under the U.S. Investment Company Act, subject to, if requested by the Company, delivery of an opinion of counsel of recognised standing in form and substance reasonably satisfactory to the Company, or (C) to the Company;

(i) it is purchasing the Shares for its own account or for one or more investment accounts for which it is acting as a fiduciary or agent, in each case for investment only, and not with a view to or for sale or other transfer in connection with any distribution of the Shares in any manner that would violate the U.S. Securities Act, the U.S. Investment Company Act or any other applicable securities laws;

(j) it acknowledges that the Company reserves the right to make inquiries of any holder of the Shares or interests therein at any time as to such person's status under the U.S. federal securities laws and to require any such person that has not satisfied the Company that holding by such person will not violate or require registration under the U.S. securities laws to transfer such Shares or interests in accordance with the Articles;

(k) it acknowledges and understands that the Company is required to comply with FATCA and that the Company will follow FATCA's extensive reporting and withholding requirements. The subscriber agrees to furnish any information and documents the Company may from time to time request, including but not limited to information required under FATCA;

(l) it is entitled to acquire the Shares under the laws of all relevant jurisdictions which apply to it, it has fully observed all such laws and obtained all governmental and other consents which may be required thereunder and complied with all necessary formalities and it has paid all issue, transfer or other taxes due in connection with its acceptance in any jurisdiction of the Shares and that it has not taken any action, or omitted to take any action, which may result in the Company or its directors, officers, agents, employees and advisers being in breach of the laws of any jurisdiction in connection with the Placing or its acceptance of participation in the Placing;

(m) it has received, carefully read and understands this Offering Memorandum, and has not, directly or indirectly, distributed, forwarded, transferred or otherwise transmitted this Offering Memorandum or any other presentation or offering materials concerning the Shares to within the United States or to any U.S. Persons, nor will it do any of the foregoing; and

(n) if it is acquiring any Shares as a fiduciary or agent for one or more accounts, the investor has sole investment discretion with respect to each such account and full power and authority to make such foregoing representations, warranties, acknowledgements and agreements on behalf of each such account.

The Company and its directors, officers, agents, employees, advisers and others will rely upon the truth and accuracy of the foregoing representations, warranties, acknowledgments and agreements.

If any of the representations, warranties, acknowledgments or agreements made by the investor are no longer accurate or have not been complied with, the investor will immediately notify the Company.

TAXATION

[GENERAL

The information below, which relates only to Guernsey and UK taxation, summarises the advice received by the Board and is applicable to the Company (except insofar as express reference is made to the treatment of other persons) to persons who are resident or ordinarily resident in Guernsey or the United Kingdom for taxation purposes and who hold Placing Shares as an investment. It is based on current Guernsey and UK tax law and published practice, respectively, which law or practice is, in principle, subject to any subsequent changes therein (potentially with retrospective effect). Certain Shareholders, such as dealers in securities, collective investment schemes, insurance companies and persons acquiring their Placing Shares in connection with their employment may be taxed differently and are not considered. The tax consequences for each Shareholder of investing in the Company may depend upon the Shareholder's own tax position and upon the relevant laws of any jurisdiction to which the Shareholder is subject.

If you are in any doubt about your tax position, you should consult your professional adviser.

GUERNSEY

The Directors intend to conduct the Company's affairs such that, based on current law and practice of the relevant tax authorities, the Company will not become resident for tax purposes in any other territory other than Guernsey.

The Company

The Company has been granted tax exempt status by the Director of Income Tax in Guernsey pursuant to the Income Tax (Exempt Bodies) (Guernsey) Ordinance, 1989. The Company will need to reapply annually for exempt status, an application that currently incurs a fee of £1,200 per annum. It is expected that the Company will continue to apply for exempt status annually.

Once exempt status has been granted, the Company is not considered resident in Guernsey for Guernsey income tax purposes and will be exempt from tax in Guernsey on both bank deposit interest and any income that does not have its source in Guernsey. It is not anticipated that any income other than bank deposit interest will arise in Guernsey and therefore the Company is not expected to incur any additional liability to Guernsey tax.

Shareholders

Non-Guernsey resident Shareholders will not be subject to any income tax in Guernsey in respect of or in connection with the acquisition, holding or disposal of any shares owned by them. Such Shareholders will receive dividends without deduction of Guernsey income tax.

Any Shareholders who are resident in Guernsey will be subject to Guernsey income tax on any dividends paid to such persons but will not suffer any deduction of tax by the Company from any such dividends payable where the Company is granted tax exempt status. The Company is however required to provide the Director of Income Tax the names, addresses and gross amount of any income paid to Guernsey resident shareholders during the previous year when renewing the Company's exempt tax status each year.

At present Guernsey does not levy taxes upon capital gains, capital transfer, wealth, sales or turnover (unless the varying of investments and turning of such investments to account is a business or part of a business), nor are there any estate duties save for registration fees and an ad valorem duty for a Guernsey grant of representation where the deceased dies leaving assets in Guernsey which require presentation of such a grant. No stamp duty is chargeable in Guernsey on the issue, transfer, switching or redemption of Shares in the Company.

FATCA, Common Reporting Standard and BEPS

Foreign Account Tax

The US Hiring Incentives to Restore Employment Act resulted in the introduction of legislation in the US known as the Foreign Account Tax Compliance Act (FATCA) which has the effect that a 30 per cent withholding tax may be imposed on payments of US source income and certain payments of proceeds from the sale of property that could give rise to US source income unless there is compliance with requirements for the Company to report on an annual basis the identity of, and certain other information about, direct and indirect US investors in the Company to the relevant Guernsey authority for onward transmission to the US Internal Revenue Service (IRS). An investor that fails to provide the required information to the Company may be subject to the 30 per cent withholding tax with respect to its share of any such payments directly or indirectly attributable to US investments of the Company, and the Company might be required to terminate such investor's investment in the Company.

On 13 December 2013 an intergovernmental agreement was entered into between Guernsey and the US in respect of FATCA (the IGA), which agreement was enacted into Guernsey law as of 30 June 2014 by the Income Tax (Approved International Agreements) (Implementation) (United Kingdom and United States of America) Regulations, 2014. Guidance notes currently in draft form have been issued by the relevant Guernsey authority to provide practical assistance on the reporting obligations of affected businesses under the IGA.

Although the Company will attempt to satisfy any obligations imposed on it to avoid the imposition of such withholding tax, no assurance can be given that the Company will be able to satisfy these obligations. If the Company becomes subject to a withholding tax as a result of FATCA, the return of all Shareholders may be materially affected.

This summary of Guernsey taxation issues can only provide a general overview of this area and it is not a description of all the tax considerations that may be relevant to a decision to invest in the Company. The summary of certain Guernsey tax issues is based on the laws and regulations in force as of the date of this document and may be subject to any changes in Guernsey law occurring after such date. Legal advice should be taken with regard to individual circumstances. Any person who is in any doubt as to his tax position or where he is resident, or otherwise subject to taxation, in a jurisdiction other than Guernsey, should consult his professional adviser.

UNITED KINGDOM

The following statements are intended as a general guide to certain UK tax considerations relating to an investment in Shares and do not purport to be a complete analysis of all potential UK tax consequences of holding Shares. They are based on current UK legislation and current published practice of HMRC, which may change, possibly with retroactive effect. Except insofar as express reference is made to the treatment of non-UK tax residents and non-UK domiciled individuals, they apply only to Shareholders who are resident and domiciled (in the case of individuals) or resident (in the case of companies) for tax purposes in (and only in) the UK, who hold their Shares as an investment (other than under an individual savings account) and who are the absolute beneficial owners of both the Shares and any dividends paid on them. The statements are not addressed to Shareholders who hold Shares in connection with a trade, profession or vocation carried on in the UK through a branch or agency (or, in the case of a corporate Shareholder, in connection with a trade in the UK carried on through a permanent establishment or otherwise). The tax position of certain categories of Shareholders who are subject to special rules (such as persons acquiring their Shares in connection with employment, dealers in securities, insurance companies and collective investment schemes) is not considered.

Taxation of the Company

As the Company is an alternative investment fund for the purpose of the Alternative Investment Fund Managers Regulations 2013, it should not be considered to be UK resident for UK tax purposes. Accordingly, and provided that the Company does not carry on a trade in the UK through a permanent establishment situated therein for UK corporation tax purposes or through a branch or agency situated in the UK which would bring it within the charge to income tax, the Company will not be subject to UK corporation tax or income tax on income and capital gains arising to it save as noted below in relation to possible withholding tax on certain UK source income. The Directors intend that the affairs of the Company are conducted so that no such permanent establishment, branch or agency will arise insofar as this is within their control, but it cannot be guaranteed that the conditions necessary to prevent any such permanent establishment, branch or agency coming into being will at all times be satisfied.

Interest and other income received by the Company which has a UK source may be subject to withholding taxes in the UK.

Disposals of Shares

Each class of Shares will constitute a relevant interest in an "offshore fund" for the purposes of UK taxation. Under the UK's offshore fund legislation, any gain arising on the sale, redemption or other disposal of shares in an offshore fund (which may include an in specie redemption by the Company) held by persons who are resident in the UK for tax purposes will be taxed at the time of such sale, disposal or redemption as income and not as a capital gain. This does not apply, however, where the relevant offshore fund is accepted by HMRC as a "reporting fund" throughout the period during which the relevant interests were held.

It is not currently intended that the Company will apply for reporting fund status under the offshore funds regime in respect of any Shares. Accordingly, Shareholders who are resident in the UK for taxation purposes may be liable to UK income taxation in respect of gains arising from the sale, redemption or other disposal of their Shares. Such gains may remain taxable notwithstanding any general or specific UK capital gains tax exemption or allowance available to a Shareholder and may result in certain Shareholders incurring a proportionately greater UK taxation charge. Any losses arising on the disposal of Shares by Shareholders who are resident in the UK will be eligible for capital gains loss relief. The Directors may launch one or more classes of Shares in future certified by HMRC as reporting funds for the purposes of UK taxation.

Dividends

Any dividends received by UK resident individual Shareholders (or deemed to be received in the case of any future class of Shares with reporting fund status) will generally be subject to UK income tax whether or not such distributions are reinvested.

Dividends received by a UK resident Shareholder (or deemed to be received in the case of any future class of Shares with reporting fund status) within the charge to corporation tax should be exempt from tax in respect of dividends paid by the Company, although it should be noted that this exemption is subject to certain exclusions and specific anti-avoidance rules (particularly in the case of "small companies", as defined in section 931S of the Corporation Tax Act 2009 ("CTA 2009")).

Other UK taxation considerations

The attention of non-corporate Shareholders who are resident in the UK is drawn to the provisions of Chapter 2 of Part 13 of the UK Income Tax Act 2007. These provisions are aimed at preventing the avoidance of income tax by individuals through transactions resulting in the transfer of assets or income to persons (including companies) resident or domiciled abroad and may render them liable for income tax in respect of undistributed income and profits of the Company. This legislation will, however, not apply if such a Shareholder can satisfy HMRC that either:

(i) it would not be reasonable to draw the conclusion from all the circumstances of the case, that the purpose of avoiding liability to taxation was the purpose, or one of the purposes, for which the relevant transactions or any of them were effected;

(ii) all the relevant transactions are genuine commercial transactions and it would not be reasonable to draw the conclusion, from all the circumstances of the case, that any one or more of the transactions was more than incidentally designed for the purpose of avoiding liability to taxation; or

(iii) all the relevant transactions were genuine, arm's length transactions and if the Shareholder were liable to tax under Chapter 2 of Part 13 in respect of such transactions such liability would constitute an unjustified and disproportionate restriction on a freedom protected by Title II or IV of Part Three of the Treaty on the Functioning of the European Union or Part II or III of the EEA Agreement.

Chapter 3 of Part 6 of the CTA 2009 provides that, if at any time in an accounting period a corporate Shareholder within the charge to UK corporation tax holds an interest in an offshore fund and there is a time in that period when that fund fails to satisfy the "non-qualifying investments test", the interest held by such a corporate Shareholder will be treated for the accounting period as if it were rights under a creditor relationship for the purposes of the rules relating to the taxation of most corporate debt contained in the CTA 2009 (the "Corporate Debt Regime"). Shares will (as explained above) constitute interests in an offshore fund and, on the basis of the current investment policies of the Company, it is likely that the "non-qualifying investments test" will not be met. In circumstances where the test is not so satisfied (for example where the Company invests in cash, securities or debt instruments or open-ended companies that themselves do not satisfy the "non-qualifying investments test" and the market value of such investments exceeds 60 per cent. of the market value of all its investments at any time), the Shares in the relevant class will be treated for corporation tax purposes as within the Corporate Debt Regime. As a consequence, all returns on the Shares in respect of each corporate Shareholder's accounting period during which the test is not met (including gains, profits and deficits and exchange gains and losses) will be taxed or relieved as an income receipt or expense on a fair value accounting basis. Accordingly, a corporate Shareholder in the Company may, depending on its own circumstances, incur a charge to corporation tax on an unrealised increase in the value of its holding of Shares (and, likewise, obtain relief against corporation tax for an unrealised reduction in the value of its holding of Shares). The provisions relating to non-reporting funds (outlined above) would not then apply to such corporate shareholders and the effect of the provisions relating to holdings in controlled foreign companies (outlined below) would then be substantially mitigated.

Part 9A of TIOPA 2010 subjects UK resident companies to tax on the profits of companies not so resident (such as the Company) in which they have an interest. The provisions, broadly, affect UK resident companies which hold, alone or together with certain other associated persons, shares which confer a right to at least 25 per cent. of the profits of a non-resident company (a "25% Interest") where that non-resident company is controlled by persons who are resident in the UK and is subject to a lower level of taxation in its territory of residence. The legislation is not directed towards the taxation of capital gains. In addition, these provisions will not apply if the shareholder reasonably believes that it does not hold a 25% Interest in the Company throughout the relevant accounting period.

The attention of persons resident in the UK for taxation purposes is drawn to the provisions of section 13 of the Taxation of Chargeable Gains Act 1992 ("section 13"). Section 13 applies to a "participator" for UK taxation purposes (which term includes a shareholder) if at any time when any gain accrues to the Company which constitutes a chargeable gain for those purposes, at the same time, the Company is itself controlled by a sufficiently small number of persons so as to render the Company a body corporate that would, were it to have been resident in the UK for taxation purposes, be a "close" company for those purposes. The provisions of section 13 could, if applied, result in any such person who is a "participator" in the Company being treated for the purposes of UK taxation of chargeable gains as if a part of any chargeable gain accruing to the Company had accrued to that person directly, that part being equal to the proportion of the gain that corresponds on a just and reasonable basis to that person's proportionate interest in the Company as a "participator". No liability under section 13 could be incurred by such a person however, where such proportion does not exceed one quarter of the gain. In addition, exemptions may also apply where none of the acquisition, holding or disposal of the assets had a tax avoidance main purpose or where the relevant gains arise on the disposal of assets used only for the purposes of genuine, economically significant business activities carried on outside the UK.

In the case of UK resident individuals domiciled outside the UK, section 13 applies only to gains relating to UK situate assets of the Company and gains relating to non-UK situate assets if such gains are remitted to the UK.

Stamp duty and stamp duty reserve tax

No UK stamp duty or stamp duty reserve tax will be payable on an issue of Shares. UK stamp duty at the rate of 0.5% of the value of the consideration for the transfer of any Shares (rounded up where necessary to the nearest £5) may become payable on any instrument of transfer of the Shares which is executed within the UK, or which relates to any property situated, or to any matter or thing done or to be done, in the UK. Provided, as is the intention, that the Shares are not registered in any register kept in the UK by or on behalf of the Company and are not paired with shares issued by a body corporate incorporated in the UK, any agreement to transfer the Shares will not be subject to stamp duty reserve tax.

Inheritance tax

A liability to UK inheritance tax on Shares may arise in the event of the death of or on the making of certain categories of lifetime transfers by an individual Shareholder domiciled or deemed to be domiciled in the UK for inheritance tax purposes.

The Common Reporting Standard

Drawing extensively on the intergovernmental approach to implementing US FATCA, the OECD developed the Common Reporting Standard ("CRS") to address the issue of offshore tax evasion on a global basis. Aimed at maximizing efficiency and reducing cost for financial institutions, the CRS provides a common standard for due diligence, reporting and exchange of financial account information. Pursuant to the CRS, tax authorities in participating CRS jurisdictions will obtain from reporting financial institutions, and automatically exchange with other participating tax authorities in which the Shareholders of the reporting financial institution are resident on an annual basis, financial account and personal information with respect to all reportable accounts identified by financial institutions on the basis of common due diligence and reporting procedures. The first information exchanges are expected to begin in September 2017. Guernsey has legislated to implement the CRS. As a result, the Company will be required to comply with the CRS due diligence and reporting requirements, as adopted by Guernsey. Shareholders may be required to provide additional information to the Company to enable the Company to satisfy its obligations under the CRS. Failure to provide requested information may subject a Shareholder to liability for any resulting penalties or other charges and/or mandatory termination of its interest in the Company.

If you are in any doubt as to your tax position, you should consult your professional adviser.

Save as set out above in this section of this Offering Memorandum, the Company is not aware of any person who holds, or who will immediately following the Placing hold, as shareholder directly or indirectly, 5% or more of the voting rights of the Company.

None of the Shareholders referred to in the table set forth in above has voting rights which differ from those of any other Shareholder in respect of any Shares held by them.

Save as set out in this above in this section of this Offering Memorandum, the Company is not aware of any person who immediately following the Placing directly or indirectly, jointly or severally, will own sufficient shares to exercise control over the Company.

ADDITIONAL INFORMATION ON THE COMPANY

INCORPORATION AND ADMINISTRATION

The Company is a registered closed-ended investment company incorporated in Guernsey with limited liability on 30 March 2015 under the provisions of the Companies Law, with registered number 60120. The Company continues to be registered and domiciled in Guernsey. The registered office and principal place of business of the Company is First Floor, Dorey Court, Admiral Park, St Peter Port, Guernsey GY1 6HJ, Channel Islands (telephone number 01481 715601). The statutory records of the Company are kept at this address. The Company operates and issues shares in accordance with the Companies Law and ordinances and regulations made thereunder and has no employees. The Company shall have an unlimited life.

The Company is regulated by the GFSC and is not regulated by any regulator other than the GFSC.

The Company's accounting period will end on 31 December, of each year, with the first year end on 31 December 2015.

PricewaterhouseCoopers CI LLP of Royal Bank Place, 1 Glategny Esplanade, St Peter Port, Guernsey GY1 4ND has been the only Auditors of the Company since incorporation. PricewaterhouseCoopers CI LLP is a member of the Institute of Chartered Accountants of England & Wales. The Shareholders have the power, under the Companies Law, to appoint the auditor at each AGM or remove the auditor by ordinary resolution.

The annual report and accounts will be prepared according to GAAP.

Save for its entry into the material contracts summarised in "—Material Contracts" of this section of this Offering Memorandum and certain non-material contracts, [since its incorporation the Company has not incurred borrowings, issued any debt securities, incurred any contingent liabilities or made any guarantees, nor granted any charges or mortgages]. [Highland to confirm.]

Save as set out in "Share Capital" below, there have been no changes to the issued share capital of the Company since incorporation.

SHARE CAPITAL

On incorporation, the share capital of the Company consisted of one ordinary share of no par value. The Placing Shares will be issued in the form of participating ordinary shares having the rights set out in the Articles. Shareholders have no right to have their Shares redeemed.

As at the date of this Offering Memorandum, the Company's issued and fully paid up share capital is [144,420,680] shares of no par value. [Subject to State Street confirmation.] The total assets of the Company will have increased by U.S. $[•] million immediately following the Placing and would have been earnings neutral.

None of the Shareholders has voting rights attaching to Shares that they hold which are different to the voting rights attached to any other Shares of the same class in the Company.

As at the date of this Offering Memorandum, the memorandum of incorporation provides that there is no limit on the number of shares of any class which the Company is authorised to issue.

The Directors have absolute authority under the Articles to allot the Shares to be issued pursuant to the Placing and are expected to do so shortly prior to the Placing.

No share or loan capital of the Company is under option or has been agreed, conditionally or unconditionally, to be put under option.

DIRECTORS' AND OTHER INTERESTS

[NTD: Subject to review and update by current directors].

As at the date of this Offering Memorandum, none of the Directors or any person connected with any of the Directors has a Shareholding or any other interest in the share capital of the Company. The Directors and their connected persons may, however, subscribe for Shares pursuant to the Placing.

The Directors are not aware of any person or persons who, following the Placing, will or could, directly or indirectly, jointly or severally, exercise control over the Company and there are no arrangements known to the Directors the operation of which may subsequently result in change of control of the Company.

There are no outstanding loans from the Company to any of the Directors or any outstanding guarantees provided by the Company in respect of any obligation of any of the Directors.

The aggregate remuneration and benefits in kind of the Directors in respect of the Company's accounting period ending on 31 December 2017, which will be payable out of the assets of the Company, is not expected to exceed £[●]. Each of the Directors is entitled to receive £[35,000] per annum, and the Chairman who is entitled to receive £[40,000] per annum. No amount has been set aside or accrued by the Company to provide pension, retirement or other similar benefits.

No Director has a service contract with the Company, nor are any such contracts proposed. The Directors have been appointed through letters of appointment which can be terminated in accordance with the Articles and without compensation. The notice period specified in the Articles for the removal of Directors is one month. The Articles provide that the office of Director shall be terminated by, among other things: (i) written resignation; (ii) unauthorised absences from board meetings for 12 months or more; (iii) written request of the other Directors; and (iv) an ordinary resolution.

None of the Directors has, or has had, an interest in any transaction which is or was unusual in its nature or conditions or significant to the business of the Company and which has been effected by the Company since its incorporation.

In addition to their directorships of the Company, the Directors hold or have held the directorships and are or were members of the partnerships, as listed in the table below, over or within the past five years.

As at the date of this Offering Memorandum, there are no potential conflicts of interest between any duties to the Company of any of the Directors and their private interests and/or other duties. There are no lock up provisions regarding the disposal by any of the Directors of any Shares.

Save as set out in immediately following paragraph below, as at the date of this Offering Memorandum:

(a) none of the Directors has had any convictions in relation to fraudulent offences for at least the previous five years;

(b) save as detailed above, none of the Directors was a director of a company, a member of an administrative, management or supervisory body or a senior manager of a company within the previous five years which has entered into any bankruptcy, receivership or liquidation proceedings;

(c) none of the Directors has been subject to any official public incrimination and/or sanctions by statutory or regulatory authorities (including designated professional bodies) or has been disqualified by a court from acting as a member of the administrative, management or supervisory bodies of an issuer or from acting in the management or conduct of the affairs of any issuer for at least the previous five years; and

(d) none of the Directors are aware of any contract or arrangement subsisting in which they are materially interested and which is significant to the business of the Company which is not otherwise disclosed in this Offering Memorandum.

In respect of the declaration in the immediately preceding paragraph above, certain of the Directors have been directors of entities which have been dissolved. To the best of each Director's knowledge, no such entity, upon its dissolution, was insolvent or owed any amounts to creditors.

The Company maintains directors' and officers' liability insurance on behalf of the Directors at the expense of the Company.

No employees of the Administrator have any service contracts with the Company.

MATERIAL CONTRACTS

The following are all of the contracts, not being contracts entered into in the ordinary course of business, that have been entered into by the Company since its incorporation and are, or may be, material or that contain any provision under which the Company has any obligation or entitlement which is or may be material to it as at the date of this Offering Memorandum.

Administration Agreement

[Highland to confirm regarding any amendments to the Administration Agreement.] An administration agreement dated 10 August 2015 between (i) the Company and (ii) the Administrator, whereby the Administrator was appointed to act as administrator of the Company and provide related administrative, compliance and treasury services (the "Administration Agreement").

Under the terms of the Administration Agreement, the Administrator is entitled to an annual administration fee of up to [•] per cent per annum of the Net Asset Value [NTD: To conform to updated fee schedule.] of the Company per annum, payable monthly in arrears, and other miscellaneous fees and expenses reimbursed, in each case, as determined in the Administration Agreement.

The Administration Agreement may be terminated by either party on not less than three months written notice (or such shorter notice as the parties may agree). The Administration Agreement may be terminated immediately by either party: (i) in the event that either party shall go into liquidation or receivership or an examiner shall be appointed to the Company (except for a voluntary liquidation for the purposes of reconstruction or amalgamation upon terms previously approved in writing by the notifying party, such approval not to be unreasonably withheld or delayed) or be unable to pay its debts as they fall due or commits any act of bankruptcy under the laws of an applicable jurisdiction; or (ii) if the other party commits any material breach of the provisions of the Administration Agreement and, if such breach is capable of remedy shall not have remedied that within 30 days after the service of written notice requiring it to be remedied; (iii) if it shall become illegal or impossible without breach of any applicable laws and for reasons reasonably outside the control of the relevant party for any party to fulfil its obligations hereunder; or (iv) if any changes to the Administration Agreement are required as a consequence of any financial services regulation which may in the future bind any of the parties thereto and which cannot be agreed between the parties. The appointment of the Administrator shall also automatically terminate forthwith if the Administrator shall become or be deemed to become resident for tax purposes in the United Kingdom or in any other place or places outside Guernsey in circumstances which cause the Company to become liable to pay any taxes which it would not otherwise be liable to pay.

The Company has given certain market standard indemnities in favour of the Administrator in respect of the Administrator's potential losses in carrying out its responsibilities under the Administration Agreement.

The Administration Agreement is governed by the laws of Guernsey.]

Portfolio Management Agreement

A Portfolio Management Agreement dated [●] between (i) the Company and (ii) the Portfolio Manager (the "Portfolio Management Agreement"), pursuant to which the Company appointed the Portfolio Manager to select the portfolio of investments and instruct the Custodian with respect to any acquisition, disposition or sale of investments and provide certain support and assistance (including back and middle office functions), personnel and credit and market research and analysis in connection with the investment and ongoing management of the portfolio.

The Portfolio Management Agreement may be terminated in the event of (A) the Company determining in good faith that the Company or the portfolio has become required to register as an investment company under the provisions of the Investment Company Act (where there is no available exemption), and the Company has given prior notice to the Portfolio Manager of such requirement, (B) the date on which the portfolio has been liquidated in full and the Company's financing arrangements have been terminated or redeemed in full and (C) such other date as agreed between the Company and the Portfolio Manager.

In addition, the Portfolio Management Agreement may be terminated, and the Portfolio Manager removed for "Cause" by the Advisory Board or by the Board of Directors upon 10 business days' prior written notice to the Portfolio Manager.

As defined in the Portfolio Management Agreement, "Cause" means any one of the following events: (a) the Portfolio Manager wilfully violates, or takes any action that it knows breaches any material provision of the Portfolio Management Agreement or the Offering Memorandum applicable to it in bad faith (not including a wilful and intentional breach that results from a good faith dispute regarding reasonable alternative courses of action or interpretation of instructions); (b) the Portfolio Manager breaches in any respect any provision of the Portfolio Management Agreement or any terms of the Offering Memorandum applicable to it (other than as covered by clause (a) and except for any such violations or breaches that have not had, or could not, either individually or in the aggregate, reasonably be expected to have, a material adverse effect on the Company) and fails to cure such breach within 30 days of the Portfolio Manager receiving notice of such breach, unless, if such breach is remediable, the Portfolio Manager has taken action that the Portfolio Manager believes in good faith will remedy such breach, and such action does remedy such breach, within sixty (60) days after the Portfolio Manager receives notice thereof; (c) the Portfolio Manager is wound up or dissolved or there is appointed over it or a substantial portion of its assets a receiver, administrator, administrative receiver, trustee or similar officer; or the Portfolio Manager (i) ceases to be able to, or admits in writing its inability to, pay its debts as they become due and payable, or makes a general assignment for the benefit of, or enters into any composition or arrangement with, its creditors generally; (ii) applies for or consents (by admission of material allegations of a petition or otherwise) to the appointment of a receiver, trustee, assignee, custodian, liquidator or sequestrator (or other similar official) of the Portfolio Manager or of any substantial part of its properties or assets, or authorizes such an application or consent, or proceedings seeking such appointment are commenced without such authorization, consent or application against the Portfolio Manager and continue undismissed for sixty (60) days; (iii) authorizes or files a voluntary petition in bankruptcy, or applies for or consents (by admission of material allegations of a petition or otherwise) to the application of any bankruptcy, reorganization, arrangement, readjustment of debt, insolvency or dissolution, or authorizes such application or consent, or proceedings to such end are instituted against the Portfolio Manager without such authorization, application or consent and are approved as properly instituted and remain undismissed for sixty (60) days or result in adjudication of bankruptcy or insolvency; or (iv) permits or suffers all or any substantial part of its properties or assets to be sequestered or attached by court order and the order remains undismissed for sixty (60) days; (d) the occurrence of an act by the Portfolio Manager that constitutes fraud or criminal activity in the performance of its obligations under the Portfolio Management Agreement (as determined pursuant to a final adjudication by a court of competent jurisdiction), or the Portfolio Manager being indicted for a criminal offense materially related to its business of providing asset management services; or (e) any Key Person of the Portfolio Manager (in the performance of his or her investment management duties) is convicted for a criminal offense materially related to the business of the Portfolio Manager providing asset management services and continues to have responsibility for the performance by the Portfolio Manager hereunder for a period of ten (10) days after such conviction.

The Portfolio Management Agreement provides that if any of the events specified in the definition of "Cause" occurs, the Portfolio Manager will give prompt written notice thereof to the Company upon the Portfolio Manager's becoming aware of the occurrence of such event. The Advisory Board and/or the Board of Directors may waive any event described in (a), (b), (d), or (e) above as a basis for termination of the Portfolio Management Agreement and removal of the Portfolio Manager under the terms of the Portfolio Management Agreement.

Any resignation or removal of the Portfolio Manager will only be effective on the satisfaction of certain conditions set out in the Portfolio Management Agreement.

Under the Portfolio Management Agreement, the Portfolio Manager agrees to perform its obligations thereunder, with reasonable care (a) using a degree of skill and attention no less than that which the Portfolio Manager exercises with respect to comparable assets that it manages for itself and others having similar investment objectives and restrictions, and (b) to the extent not inconsistent with the foregoing, in a manner consistent with the Portfolio Manager's customary standards, policies and procedures in performing its duties under the Portfolio Management Agreement (the "Standard of Care"); provided that the Portfolio Manager will not be liable for any loss or damages resulting from any failure to satisfy the Standard of Care except to the extent any act or omission of the Portfolio Manager constitutes a Portfolio Manager Breach (as defined below). The Standard of Care may change from time to time to reflect changes by the Portfolio Manager to its customary standards, policies and procedures provided that such customary standards, policies and procedures are at least as rigorous as the foregoing.

The Portfolio Manager will not be liable (whether directly or indirectly, in contract or in tort or otherwise) to the Company under the Portfolio Management Agreement for liabilities incurred by the Company as a result of or arising out of or in connection with the performance by the Portfolio Manager under the Portfolio Management Agreement, or for any losses or damages resulting from any failure to satisfy the Standard of Care except to the extent such liabilities were incurred by reason of acts or omissions constituting bad faith, fraud, wilful misconduct or due to the gross negligence (with such term given its meaning under New York law) or reckless disregard of the duties and obligations of the Portfolio Manager (a "Portfolio Manager Breach").

Under the Portfolio Management Agreement, the Company will be required to indemnify the Portfolio Manager and its affiliates, managers, directors, officers, partners, agents and employees, from and against all liabilities incurred in connection with the Portfolio Management Agreement (except to the extent such liabilities are incurred as a result of any acts or omissions of the Portfolio Manager which constitute a Portfolio Manager Breach).

The Portfolio Manager is able to resign its role under the Portfolio Management Agreement upon 90 days' written notice to the Company. Whilst the resignation will not be effective until the date as of which a successor adviser has been appointed, it may be difficult to locate an alternative adviser as a successor. In addition, the Portfolio Manager may immediately resign by providing written notice to the Company upon the occurrence of certain events relating to the Company such as, amongst others, the failure of the Company to comply in any material respect with any investment policy or investment objective to which it is bound to comply, a wilful breach or knowing violation by the Company of a material provision of the Portfolio Management Agreement or the occurrence of insolvency proceedings in respect of the Company.

Under the Portfolio Management Agreement, the Portfolio Manager agrees to the provision of certain human resources as may be necessary to enable the Company to conduct any matters related to its portfolio of assets.

Under the Portfolio Management Agreement, the Company shall pay to the Portfolio Manager an amount equivalent to all reasonable third party costs and expenses incurred by the Portfolio Manager in the performance of its obligations thereunder, together with any irrecoverable VAT arising on such costs and expenses.

The Portfolio Management Agreement is governed by the laws of the State of Texas.

Predecessor Portfolio Management Agreement and Termination

Prior to the current Portfolio Management Agreement, the Company held a Portfolio Management Agreement dated 22 December 2016 (the "Predecessor Portfolio Management Agreement") between (i) the Company and (ii) Acis as the predecessor portfolio manager (the "Predecessor Portfolio Manager"), pursuant to which the Company appointed Acis as the Predecessor Portfolio Manager to select the portfolio of investments and instruct the Custodian with respect to any acquisition, disposition or sale of investments and provide certain support and assistance (including back and middle office functions), personnel and credit and market research and analysis in connection with the investment and ongoing management of the portfolio.

The terms of the Predecessor Portfolio Management Agreement were substantially similar to the terms of the Portfolio Management Agreement.

The Predecessor Portfolio Management Agreement was governed by the laws of the State of Texas.

The Predecessor Portfolio Management Agreement was terminated pursuant to a Termination of Management Agreement dated [•] 2017 (the "Termination Agreement") between (i) the Company and (ii) the Predecessor Portfolio Manager. Pursuant to the Termination Agreement, (x) the Predecessor Portfolio Management Agreement was cancelled and terminated in its entirety, (y) each party released the other party from all claims, suits or causes of action arising out of or relating to the Management Agreement and (z) each party ratified prior transactions effected in accordance with the Predecessor Portfolio Management Agreement.

NexBank Credit Facility

The Company currently has the NexBank Credit Facility with a principal amount of $22,158,337, as of September 30, 2017. The NexBank Credit Facility is governed by an Amended and Restated Loan Agreement dated as of 17 January 2017 that provides for quarterly payments of principal and interest at 5.00% per annum and a maturity on November 23, 2021.

Warehouse Loan Facilities

One or more multi-currency Warehouse Loan Facilities may be entered into from time to time between (i) the Company and (ii) a warehouse provider as described in "Summary-Borrowing-Warehouse Loan Facilities".

Forward Purchase Agreements

Forward Purchase Agreements may be entered into from time to time, between (i) the Company and (ii) a CLO (each, a "Forward Purchase Agreement"), pursuant to which the Company may from time to time enter into sale and purchase contracts with a CLO with respect to the assets of the Company ("Forward Sales"). Such Forward Sales are with a view to effectively managing its access to wholesale funding and exposure to unnecessary market price volatilities of its portfolio. Such Forward Purchase Agreements may be entered into at the same time or shortly after the origination or acquisition of the relevant asset by the Company, at a later date, or not at all. Where a loan becomes subject to a Forward Purchase Agreement, the Company will (subject to the conditions set out below) neither receive the gain nor bear the loss that occurs between the date when the loan is added to the Forward Purchase Agreement and the date when the transfer occurs.

Each Forward Sale will be conditional upon:

- the occurrence of the closing date of the relevant CLO; and

- the assets that are the subject of such Forward Sale satisfying a set of eligibility criteria on the closing date of the relevant CLO as agreed between the Company and the relevant CLO.

The Forward Purchase Agreements will contain standard limited recourse and non-petition provisions with respect to the Company and with respect to the relevant CLO.

The governing law of the Forward Purchase Agreements will be English or New York law.

Registrar Agreement

A registrar agreement dated [•] between (i) the Company and (ii) the Registrar (the "Registrar Agreement"), pursuant to which the Company appointed the Registrar to act as registrar of the Company for an annual fee of £[•] payable by the Company.

[The Registrar Agreement shall continue for a period of three years from its effective date (the "Initial Period"). At the expiry of the Initial Period, the Registrar Agreement shall automatically renew for successive periods of 12 months, unless or until terminated by either party, either in accordance with its terms, or: (a) at the end of the Initial Period, provided written notice is given to the other party at least 6 months prior to the end of the Initial Period; or (b) at the end of any successive 12 month period, provided written notice is given to the other party at least six months prior to the end of such successive 12 month period.

The Registrar Agreement may also be terminated by either the Company or the Registrar (a) by giving to the other not less than three months' written notice, should the parties not reach an agreement regarding any increase of the fees; (b) upon service of written notice if the other party commits a material breach of its obligations under the Registrar Agreement (including any payment default) which that party has failed to remedy within 45 days of receipt of a written notice to do so from the first party; or (c) upon service of written notice if a resolution is passed or an order made for the winding up, dissolution or administration of the other party, or if the other party is declared insolvent or if an administrator, administrative receiver, manager or provisional liquidator (or similar officer to any of the foregoing in the relevant jurisdiction) is appointed over the whole of or a substantial part of the other party or its assets or undertakings.

The Company has given certain market standard indemnities in favour of the Registrar in respect of the Registrar's potential losses in carrying on its responsibilities under the Registrar Agreement.] [Description to be confirmed in reference to new registrar agreement.]

The Registrar Agreement is governed by the laws of Guernsey.

Custody Agreement

A custody agreement dated 10 August 2015 between (i) the Company and (ii) the Custodian (the "Custody Agreement"), whereby the Custodian was appointed to act as custodian of the Company's investments, cash and other assets.

The Custodian provides custody services in respect of such of the property of the Company which is delivered to and accepted by the Custodian as and when such custody services may be required. Securities are held by the Custodian in one or more accounts registered in the name of the Company or of the Custodian, its delegate or a nominee. The securities are separately designated in the books of the Custodian as belonging to the Company.

Under the terms of the Custody Agreement, the Custodian is entitled to receive transaction charges and sub-custodian charges will be recovered by the Custodian from the Company as they are incurred by the relevant sub-custodian. All such charges shall be charged at normal commercial rates. [MO: To be updated per fee schedule to the Custody Agreement (i.e. the basis point fee and the monthly minimum fee of $1,000).]

The Custody Agreement shall continue for an initial period of six months and thereafter may be terminated by either of the parties hereto on giving ninety (90) days' prior written notice to the other party hereto, provided that the appointment of the Custodian shall not terminate before the appointment of a replacement Custodian provided always if a replacement custodian is not appointed within six months from the date of the relevant termination notice, the Custody Agreement shall terminate in any event. It may be terminated without notice in certain specified circumstances including the insolvency of either party.

The Custodian has a market standard indemnity from the Company in relation to liabilities incurred other than as a result of its negligence, fraud, bad faith, wilful default or recklessness in carrying out its responsibilities under the Custody Agreement.

The Custody Agreement is governed by the laws of Ireland.

MEMORANDUM AND ARTICLES

Memorandum of Incorporation

The Memorandum of Incorporation provides that the Company's objects are unrestricted and it shall therefore have the full power and authority to carry out any object not prohibited by the Companies Law, or any other law of Guernsey.

Articles of Incorporation

The Articles of Incorporation of the Company contain provisions, inter alia, to the following effect.

Share Capital

The Company may issue an unlimited number of Shares of no par value each.

Ordinary Shares

The rights attaching to the Ordinary Shares shall be as follows:

(a) As to income – subject to the rights of any Ordinary Shares which may be issued with special rights or privileges, the Ordinary Shares of each class carry the right to receive all income of the Company attributable to the Ordinary Shares, and to participate in any distribution of such income by the Company, pro rata to the relative Net Asset Values of each of the classes of Ordinary Shares and, within each such class, income shall be divided pari passu amongst the holders of Ordinary Shares of that class in proportion to the number of Ordinary Shares of such class held by them.

(b) As to capital – on a winding up of the Company or other return of capital (other than by way of a repurchase or redemption of Ordinary Shares in accordance with the provision of the Articles and the Companies Law), the surplus assets of the Company attributable to the Ordinary Shares remaining after payment of all creditors shall, subject to the rights of any Ordinary Shares that may be issued with special rights or privileges, be divided amongst the holders of Ordinary Shares of each class pro rata to the relative Net Asset Values of each of the classes of the Ordinary Shares and, within each such class, such assets shall be divided pari passu amongst the holders of Ordinary Shares of that class in proportion to the number of Ordinary Shares of that class held by them.

(c) As to voting – the holders of the Ordinary Shares shall be entitled to receive notice of and to attend, speak and vote at general meetings of the Company.

General

Without prejudice to any special rights previously conferred on the holders of any existing Shares or class of Shares, any Share (or option, warrant or other right in respect of a Share) in the Company may be issued with such preferred, deferred or other special rights or restrictions, whether as to dividend, voting, return of capital or otherwise, as the Board may determine.

To the extent required by section 292 of the Companies Law, the Board is authorised to issue an unlimited number of shares (or options, warrants or other rights in respect of Shares) which authority shall expire five years after the date of adoption of the Articles; in the event that the restrictions in section 292(3)(a) and/or (b)(i) of the Companies Law are amended or removed, such authority shall be to the extent and for as long as is legally permissible. This authority may be further extended in accordance with the provisions of the Companies Law.

Offers to Shareholders to be on a pre-emptive basis

(a) The Company shall not allot equity securities to a person on any terms unless:

(i) it has made an offer to each person who holds equity securities of the same class in the Company to allot to him on the same or more favourable terms a proportion of those securities that is as nearly as practicable equal to the proportion in number held by him of the share capital of the Company; and

(ii) the period during which any such offer may be accepted has expired or the Company has received notice of the acceptance or refusal of every offer so made.

(b) Securities that the Company has offered to allot to a holder of equity securities in accordance with the preceding may be allotted to him, or anyone in whose favour he has renounced his right to their allotment, without contravening the restriction referred to in above.

(c) Shares held by the Company as treasury shares shall be disregarded for the purposes of the restriction referred to in the second preceding paragraph, so that the Company is not treated as a person who holds equity shares; and the treasury shares are not treated as forming part of the equity share capital of the Company.

(d) Any offer required to be made by the Company pursuant to the restriction referred to above should be made by a notice (given in accordance with "—Notices" below) and such offer must state a period during which such offer may be accepted and such offer shall not be withdrawn before the end of that period. Such period must be a period of at least 21 days beginning on the date on which such offer is deemed to be delivered or received (as the case may be), pursuant to "—Notices" below.

(e) The restriction referred to above shall not apply in relation to the allotment of bonus shares, shares issued pursuant to "—Scrip Dividends" below or to a particular allotment of equity securities if these are, or are to be, wholly or partly paid otherwise than in cash.

(f) The Company may by special resolution resolve that the restriction referred to above shall be excluded or that the restriction referred to in above shall apply with such modifications as may be specified in the resolution:

(i) generally in relation to the allotment by the Company of equity securities;

(ii) in relation to allotments of a particular description; or

(iii) in relation to a specified allotment of equity securities;

and any such resolution must: (A) state the maximum number of equity securities in respect of which the restriction referred to above is excluded or modified; and (B) specify the date on which such exclusion or modifications will expire, which must be not more than five years from the date on which the resolution is passed.

(g) Any resolution passed pursuant to the provisions referred to in the preceding paragraph may:

(i) be renewed or further renewed by special resolution of the Company for a further period not exceeding five years; and

(ii) be revoked or varied at any time by special resolution of the Company.

(h) Notwithstanding that any such resolution referred to in the two preceding paragraphs has expired, the Directors may allot equity securities in pursuance of an offer or agreement previously made by the Company if the resolution enabled the Company to make an offer or agreement that would or might require equity securities to be allotted after it expired.

(i) In relation to an offer to allot securities, a reference (however expressed) to the holder of shares of any description is to whoever was the holder of shares of that description at the close of business on a date to be specified in the offer and the specified date must fall within the period of 28 days immediately before the date of the offer.

Issue of Shares

Subject to the authority to issue Shares referred to in "—Share Capital" or any extension thereof and to "—Offers to Shareholders to be on a pre-emptive basis", the unissued Shares shall be at the disposal of the Board, which may allot or grant options, warrants or other rights over or otherwise dispose of them to such persons on such terms and conditions and at such times as the Board determines but so that no Share shall be issued at a discount except in accordance with the Companies Law and so that the amount payable on application on each Share shall be fixed by the Board.

Variation of class rights

If at any time the share capital is divided into different classes of Shares, the rights attached to any class (unless otherwise provided by the terms of issue) may, whether or not the Company is being wound up, be varied with the consent in writing of the holders of three-fourths of the issued Shares of that class or with the sanction of a special resolution of the holders of the Shares of that class.

Winding up

The term of the Company will commence on the date of the Placing and will end (and the Company thereafter will be wound up and dissolved) at the end of the Term, subject to extension as described in "Summary-Term".

If the Company is wound up whether voluntarily or otherwise the liquidator may with the sanction of a special resolution divide among the Shareholders in specie any part of the assets of the Company and may with the like sanction vest any part of the assets of the Company in trustees upon such trusts for the benefit of the Shareholders as the liquidator with the like sanction shall think fit.

If any of the securities or other assets to be divided as aforesaid involve a liability to calls or otherwise any person entitled under such division to any of the said assets may within fourteen (14) clear days after the passing of the special resolution, by notice in writing, direct the liquidator to sell his proportion and pay him the net proceeds and the liquidator shall, if practicable, act accordingly.

Disclosure of Third Party Interests in Shares

The Directors shall have power by notice in writing to require any Shareholder to disclose to the Company the identity of any person (other than the Shareholder) who has an interest in the Shares held by the Shareholder and the nature of such interest. Any such notice shall require any information in response to such notice to be given in writing within the prescribed period which is 28 days after service of the notice or 14 days if the Shares concerned represent 0.25 per cent or more in value of the issued Shares of the relevant class or such other reasonable period as the Directors may determine. If any Shareholder has been duly served with such a notice and is in default for the prescribed period in supplying to the Company the information required by such notice, the Directors may serve a direction notice upon such Shareholder. The direction notice may direct that in respect of the Shares in respect of which the default has occurred (the "default Shares") and any other Shares held by the Shareholder, the Shareholder shall not be entitled to vote (either personally or by representative or by proxy) in general meetings or class meetings. Where the default Shares represent at least 0.25 per cent of the class of Shares concerned, the direction notice may additionally direct that dividends on such shares will be retained by the Company (without interest) and that no transfer of the Shares (other than a transfer approved under the Articles) shall be registered until the default is rectified.

Dividends

Subject to compliance with section 304 of the Companies Law and the Distribution Priority, the Board may at any time declare and pay such dividends as appear to be justified by the position of the Company. The Board may also declare and pay any fixed dividend which is payable on any Shares half-yearly or otherwise on fixed dates whenever the position, in the opinion of the Board, so justifies. Dividend payments may be suspended by the Directors in their absolute discretion, including, without limitation, in the event of adverse, or perceived adverse, market conditions.

The method of payment of dividends shall be at the discretion of the Board and the Portfolio Manager.

No dividend shall be paid in excess of the amounts permitted by the Companies Law or approved by the Board.

Unless and to the extent that the rights attached to any Shares or the terms of issue thereof otherwise provide, all dividends shall be declared and paid pro rata according to the number of Shares held by each Shareholder. For the avoidance of doubt, where there is more than one class of Shares in issue, dividends declared in respect of any class of Share shall be declared and paid pro rata according to the number of Shares of the relevant class held by each Shareholder.

With the sanction of the Company in general meeting by way of a special resolution, any dividend may be paid wholly or in part by the distribution of specific assets and, in particular, of paid-up Shares of the Company. Where any difficulty arises in regard to such distribution, the Board may settle the same as it thinks expedient and in particular may issue fractional Shares and fix the value for distribution of such specific assets and may determine that cash payments shall be made to any Shareholders upon the basis of the value so fixed in order to adjust the rights of Shareholders and may vest any such specific assets in trustees for the Shareholders entitled as may seem expedient to the Board.

Any dividend interest or other monies payable in cash in respect of Shares may be paid by cheque or warrant sent through the post to the registered address of the holder or, in the case of joint holders, to the registered address of that one of the joint holders who is first named on the register. Any one of two or more joint holders may give effectual receipts for any dividends, interest or other monies payable in respect of their joint holdings. In addition, any such dividend or other sum may be paid by any bank or other funds transfer system or such other means (including, in relation to any dividend or other sum payable in respect of Shares held in uncertificated form, by means of a computer-based system and procedures such as CREST in any manner permitted by the rules of the relevant system concerned) and to or through such person as the holder or joint holders (as the case may be) may in writing direct, and the Company shall have no responsibility for any sums lost or delayed in the course of any such transfer or where it has acted on any such directions. Any one of two or more joint holders may give effectual receipts for any dividends, interest, bonuses or other monies payable in respect of their joint holdings.

No dividend or other monies payable on or in respect of a Share shall bear interest against the Company.

All unclaimed dividends may be invested or otherwise made use of by the Board for the benefit of the Company until claimed and the Company shall not be constituted a trustee in respect thereof. All dividends unclaimed for a period of six years after having been declared shall be forfeited and shall revert to the Company.

Scrip Dividends

The Board may, if authorised by an ordinary resolution of the Company, offer any holders of any particular class of Shares (excluding treasury shares) the right to elect to receive further Shares (whether or not of that class), credited as fully paid, instead of cash in respect of all or part of any dividend specified by the ordinary resolution (a "Scrip Dividend") in accordance with the following provisions.

The ordinary resolution may specify a particular dividend (whether or not already declared) or may specify all or any dividends declared within a specified period, but such period may not end later than the conclusion of the fifth annual general meeting of the Company to be held following the date of the meeting at which the ordinary resolution is passed.

The basis of allotment shall be decided by the Board so that, as nearly as may be considered convenient, the value of the further Shares, including any fractional entitlement, is equal to the amount of the cash dividend which would otherwise have been paid.

The Board shall give notice to the Shareholders of their rights of election in respect of the Scrip Dividend and shall specify the procedure to be followed in order to make an election.

The dividend or that part of it in respect of which an election for the Scrip Dividend is made shall not be paid and instead further Shares of the relevant class shall be allotted in accordance with elections duly made and the Board shall capitalise a sum to the aggregate amount of the Shares to be allotted out of such sums available for the purpose as the Directors may consider appropriate.

The further Shares so allotted shall rank pari passu in all respects with the fully paid Shares of the same class then in issue except as regards participation in the relevant dividend.

The Board may decide that the right to elect for any Scrip Dividend shall not be made available to Shareholders resident in any territory where, in the opinion of the Board, compliance with local laws or regulations would be impossible or unduly onerous.

The Board may do all acts and things considered necessary or expedient to give effect to the provisions of a Scrip Dividend election and the issue of any Shares in accordance with the provisions of this paragraph and the Companies Law, and may make such provisions as they think fit in the case of Shares becoming distributable in fractions (including provisions under which, in whole or in part, the benefit of the fractional entitlements accrues to the Company rather than to the Shareholders concerned).

The Board may from time to time establish or vary a procedure for election mandates, under which a Shareholder may, in respect of any future dividends for which a right of election pursuant to this paragraph is offered, elect to receive Shares in lieu of such dividend on the terms of such mandate.

The Board shall not make a Scrip Dividend available unless the Company has sufficient unissued shares and undistributed profits or reserves to give effect to elections which could be made to receive that Scrip Dividend.

For the avoidance of doubt, Shares allotted pursuant to this paragraph in respect of all or part of any dividend shall not be treated as allotted for cash for the purposes of paragraph (a) and paragraph (e) of the section of this Offering Memorandum entitled "—Offers to Shareholders to be on a pre-emptive basis" above.

Uncertificated Shares – general powers

Subject to the Companies Law and the Guernsey Regulations, the Board may permit any class of Shares to be held in uncertificated form and to be transferred by means of a relevant system and may revoke any such permission. In relation to any Share which is for the time being held in uncertificated form, the Company may utilise the relevant system in which it is held to the fullest extent available from time to time in the exercise of any of its powers or functions under the Guernsey Regulations or the Articles or otherwise in effecting any actions, and the Board may from time to time determine the manner in which such powers, functions and actions shall be so exercised or effected. Any provision in the Articles in relation to the uncertificated Shares which is inconsistent with (a) the holding of that Share in uncertificated form or transfer of title to that Share by means of a relevant system, (b) any other provision of the Guernsey Regulations relating to Shares held in uncertificated form or (c) the exercise of any powers or functions by the Company or the effecting by the Company of any actions by means of a relevant system, shall not apply. Subject to the Guernsey Regulations, the Company may, by notice to the holder of that Share, require the holder to change the form of such Share to certificated form within such period as may be specified in the notice. For the purpose of effecting any action by the Company, the Board may determine that Shares held by a person in uncertificated form shall be treated as a separate holding from Shares held by that person in certificated form, but Shares of a class held by a person in uncertificated form shall not be treated as a separate class from Shares of that class held by that person in certificated form.

Transfer of Shares

Subject to such of the restrictions of the Articles as may be applicable (which such restrictions are described in the paragraphs immediately following this paragraph), any Shareholder may transfer all or any of his uncertificated Shares by means of a relevant system authorised by the Board in such manner provided for, and subject as provided, in the Guernsey Regulations or such as may otherwise from time to time be adopted by the Board on behalf of the Company and the rules of any relevant system, and accordingly no provision of the Articles shall apply in respect of an uncertificated Share to the extent that it requires or contemplates the effecting of a transfer by an instrument in writing or the production of a certificate for the Shares to be transferred. Any Shareholder may transfer all or any of his certificated Shares by an instrument of transfer in any usual or common form or in any other form which the Board may approve. The instrument of transfer of a certificated Share shall be signed by or on behalf of the transferor and, unless the Share is fully paid, by or on behalf of the transferee. An instrument of transfer of a certificated Share need not be under seal.

The Board may, in its absolute discretion and without giving a reason, decline to transfer, convert or register any transfer of any Share in certificated form or (to the extent permitted by the Guernsey Regulations) uncertificated form which is not fully paid or on which the Company has a lien. The Directors may also decline to register a transfer of Shares unless it is in respect of only one class of Shares, it is in favour of a single transferee or not more than four joint transferees; and in the case of a Share in certificated form, having been delivered for registration to the Office or such other place as the Board may decide, it is accompanied by the certificate(s) for the Shares to which it relates and such other evidence as the Board may reasonably require to show the right of the transferor to make the transfer.

The Board may, in its absolute discretion, decline to register a transfer of any Shares to any person whose ownership may result in a person holding Shares in violation of the transfer restrictions published by the Company, from time to time.

The Board may also decline to register a transfer of an uncertificated Share which is traded through the relevant system and in accordance with the Guernsey Regulations, where, in the case of a transfer to joint holders, the number of joint holders to whom the uncertificated Share is to be transferred exceeds four.

The Directors may, in their absolute discretion, refuse to register a transfer of any Shares to a person that they have reason to believe is (i) an "employee benefit plan" (within the meaning of Section 3(3) of ERISA) that is subject to Part 4 of Title 1 of ERISA, (ii) a plan, individual retirement account or other arrangement that is subject to Section 4975 of the U.S. Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended (the "U.S. Tax Code") or any other state, local laws or regulations that would have the same effect as regulations promulgated under ERISA by the U.S. Department of Labor and codified at 29 C.F.R. Section 2510.3-101 to cause the underlying assets of the Company to be treated as assets of that investing entity by virtue of its investment (or any beneficial interest) in the Company and thereby subject the Company and the Investment Adviser (or other persons responsible for the investment and operation of the Company's assets) to laws or regulations that are similar to the fiduciary responsibility or prohibited transaction provisions contained in Title I of ERISA or Section 4975 of the U.S. Tax Code, (iii) an entity whose underlying assets are considered to include "plan assets" of any such plan, account or arrangement (each of (i), (ii) and (iii) in this paragraph a "Plan") or (iv) any person in circumstances where the holding of Shares by such person would (a) give rise to an obligation on the Company to register as an "investment company" under the Investment Company Act (as defined in the Articles) (including because the holder of the Shares is not a "qualified purchaser" as defined in the Investment Company Act), (b) preclude the Company from relying on the exception to the definition of "investment company" contained in Section 3(c)(7) of the Investment Company Act, (c) give rise to an obligation on the Company to register its Shares under the Exchange Act, the Securities Act or any similar legislation (each as defined in the Articles), (d) result in the Company not being considered a "Foreign Private Issuer" as that term is defined by Rule 3b-4(c) promulgated under the Exchange Act, (e) give rise to an obligation on the Investment Adviser to register as a commodity pool operator or commodity trading advisor under the U.S. Commodity Exchange Act of 1974, as amended, (f) cause the Company to be a "controlled foreign corporation" for the purposes of the U.S. Tax Code, or cause the Company to suffer any pecuniary disadvantage (including any excise tax, penalties or liabilities under ERISA or the U.S. Tax Code), or (g) give rise to the Company or the Investment Adviser becoming subject to any U.S. law or regulation determined to be detrimental to it (each such person in this paragraph a "Prohibited U.S. Person"). Each person acquiring Shares shall by virtue of such acquisition be deemed to have represented to the Company that they are not a Prohibited U.S. Person.

If the Board refuses to register the transfer of a Share it shall, within two months after the date on which the transfer was lodged with the Company, send notice of the refusal to the transferee.

Subject to the provisions of the Guernsey Regulations, the registration of transfers may be suspended at such times and for such periods (not exceeding 30 days in the aggregate in any one calendar year) as the Board may decide on giving notice in La Gazette Officielle and either generally or in respect of a particular class of Share except that, in respect of any Shares which are participating shares held in a relevant system, the register of members shall not be closed without the consent of the authorised operator of the relevant system.

Alteration of capital and purchase of shares

The Company may by ordinary resolution: consolidate and divide all or any of its share capital into shares of larger or smaller amounts than its existing Shares; subdivide all or any of its Shares into shares of a smaller amount subject to the paragraph below; cancel Shares which, at the date of the passing of the resolution, have not been taken up or agreed to be taken up by any person, and diminish the amount of its share capital by the amount of Shares so cancelled; convert all or any of its Shares, the nominal amount of which is expressed in a particular currency or former currency into Shares of a nominal amount of a different currency, the conversion being effected at the rate of exchange (calculated to not less than three significant figures) current on the date of the resolution or on such other day as may be specified therein; or where its share capital is expressed in a particular currency or former currency, denominate or redenominate it, whether by expressing its amount in units or subdivisions of that currency or former currency, or otherwise.

In any subdivision under the paragraph above the proportion between the amount paid and the amount, if any, unpaid on each reduced Share shall be the same as that proportion in the case of the Share from which the reduced Share was derived.

The Company may reduce its share capital, any capital account or any share premium account in any manner and with and subject to any authorisation or consent required by the Companies Law.

The Company may, at the discretion of the Board, purchase any of its own Shares, whether or not they are redeemable, and may pay the purchase price in respect of such purchase to the fullest extent permitted by the Companies Law.

Notices

A notice or other communication may be given by the Company to any Shareholder either personally or by sending it by prepaid post addressed to such Shareholder at his registered address (or, subject to the provisions below, in electronic form) or if he desires that notices shall be sent to some other address or person to the address or person nominated for such purpose.

Any notice or other document, if served by post (including registered post, recorded delivery service or ordinary letter post), shall be deemed to have been served 48 hours after the time when the letter containing the same is posted and in proving such service it shall be sufficient to prove that the letter containing the notice or document was properly posted.

Any notice or other document that may be sent by the Company by courier will be deemed to be received 24 hours after the time at which it was despatched.

Service of a document sent by post shall be proved by showing the date of posting, the address thereon and the fact of pre-payment.

Any notice or other document, if transmitted by electronic communication, facsimile transmission or other similar means which produces or enables the production of a document containing the text of the communication, shall, if so transmitted, be deemed to be received at the expiration of 24 hours after the time it was sent.

A notice may be given by the Company to the joint holders of a Share by giving the notice to the joint holder first named in the register in respect of the Share.

Any notice or other communication sent to the address of any Shareholder shall, notwithstanding the death, disability or insolvency of such Shareholder and whether the Company has notice thereof, be deemed to have been duly served in respect of any Share registered in the name of such Shareholder as sole or joint holder and such service shall, for all purposes, be deemed a sufficient service of such notice or document on all persons interested (whether jointly with or as claiming through or under him) in any such Share.

All Shareholders shall be deemed to have agreed to accept communication from the Company by electronic means in accordance with sections 524 and 526 and schedule 3 of the Companies Law unless a Shareholder notifies the Company otherwise. Such notification must be in writing and signed by the Shareholder and delivered to the Company's registered office or such other place as the Board directs. A Shareholder shall be entitled to require the Company to send him a version of a document or information in hard copy form.

General meetings

General meetings shall be held once at least in each calendar year in accordance with Section 199 of the Companies Law but so that not more than fifteen (15) months may elapse between one annual general meeting and the next. At each such annual general meeting shall be laid copies of the Company's most recent accounts, Directors' report and, if applicable, the auditor's report in accordance with Section 252 of the Companies Law. The requirement for an annual general meeting may be waived by the shareholders in accordance with Section 201 of the Companies Law. Other meetings of the Company shall be called extraordinary general meetings.

All general meetings shall be held in Guernsey.

A shareholder participating by video link or telephone conference call or other electronic or telephonic means of communication in a meeting at which a quorum is present shall be treated as having attended that meeting, provided that the shareholders present at the meeting can hear and speak to the participating shareholder.

A video link or telephone conference call or other electronic or telephonic means of communication in which a quorum of shareholders participates and all participants can hear and speak to each other shall be a valid meeting which shall be deemed to take place where the Chairman is present unless the shareholders resolve otherwise.

Any general meeting convened by the Board, unless its time shall have been fixed by the Company in a general meeting or unless convened in pursuance of a requisition, may be postponed by the Board by notice in writing and the meeting shall, subject to any further postponement or adjournment, be held at the postponed date for the purpose of transacting the business covered by the original notice.

The Board may, whenever it thinks fit, and shall on the requisition of shareholders who hold more than ten per cent (10%) of such of the capital of the Company as carries the right to vote at general meetings (excluding any capital held as treasury shares) in accordance with Sections 203 and 204 of the Companies Law, proceed to convene a general meeting.

Notice of general meetings

A general meeting of the Company (other than an adjourned meeting) must be called by notice of at least 14 clear days.

A general meeting may be called by shorter notice than otherwise required if all the Shareholders entitled to attend and vote so agree.

Notices and other documents may be sent in electronic form or published on a website in accordance with section 208 of the Companies Law.

Notice of a general meeting of the Company must be sent to every Shareholder (being only persons registered as a Shareholder), every Director and every alternate Director registered as such.

Notice of a general meeting of the Company must state the time and date of the meeting, state the place of the meeting, specify any special business to be put to the meeting (as defined in the Articles), contain the information required under section 178(6)(a) of the Companies Law in respect of a resolution which is to be proposed as a special resolution at the meeting, contain the information required under section 179(6)(a) of the Companies Law in respect of a resolution which is to be proposed as a waiver resolution at the meeting, and contain the information required under section 180(3)(a) of the Companies Law in respect of a resolution which is to be proposed as a unanimous resolution at the meeting.

Notice of a general meeting must state the general nature of the business to be dealt with at the meeting.

The accidental omission to give notice of any meeting to or the non-receipt of such notice by any Shareholder shall not invalidate any resolution or any proposed resolution otherwise duly approved.

Conflicts of interest

A Director must, immediately after becoming aware of the fact that he is interested in a transaction or proposed transaction with the Company, disclose to the Board in accordance with section 162 of the Companies Law:

(a) if the monetary value of the Director's interest is quantifiable, the nature and monetary value of that interest; or

(b) if the monetary value of the Director's interest is not quantifiable, the nature and extent of that interest.

The obligation referred to above does not apply if:

(a) the transaction or proposed transaction is between the Director and the Company; and

(b) the transaction or proposed transaction is or is to be entered into in the ordinary course of the Company's business and on usual terms and conditions.

A general disclosure to the Board to the effect that a Director has an interest (as director, officer, employee, member or otherwise) in a party and is to be regarded as interested in any transaction which may after the date of the disclosure be entered into with that party is sufficient disclosure of interest in relation to that transaction.

Nothing referred to above in this section applies in relation to:

(a) remuneration or other benefit given to a Director;

(b) insurance purchased or maintained for a Director in accordance with section 158 of the Companies Law; or

(c) a qualifying third party indemnity provision provided for a Director in accordance with section 159 of the Companies Law.

Subject to the paragraph below, a Director is interested in a transaction to which the Company is a party if such Director:

(a) is a party to, or may derive a material benefit from, the transaction;

(b) has a material financial interest in another party to the transaction;

(c) is a director, officer, employee or member of another party (other than a party which is an associated company) who may derive a material financial benefit from the transaction;

(d) is the parent, child or spouse of another party who may derive a material financial benefit from the transaction; or

(e) is otherwise directly or indirectly materially interested in the transaction.

A Director is not interested in a transaction to which the Company is a party if the transaction comprises only the giving by the Company of security to a third party which has no connection with the Director, at the request of the third party, in respect of a debt or obligation of the Company for which the Director or another person has personally assumed responsibility in whole or in part under a guarantee, indemnity or security.

Save as provided in the Articles, a Director shall not vote in respect of any contract or arrangement or any other proposal whatsoever in which he has any material interest otherwise than by virtue of his interest in Shares or debentures or other securities of or otherwise through the Company. A Director may be counted in the quorum at a meeting in relation to any resolution on which he is debarred from voting.

A Director shall (in the absence of some other material interest than is indicated below) be entitled to vote (and be counted in the quorum) in respect of any resolution concerning any of the following matters, namely:

(a) the giving of any guarantee, security or indemnity to him in respect of money lent or obligations incurred by him at the request of or for the benefit of the Company or any of its subsidiaries;

(b) the giving of any guarantee, security or indemnity to a third party in respect of a debt or obligation of the Company or any of its subsidiaries for which he himself has assumed responsibility in whole or in part under a guarantee or indemnity or by the giving of security;

(c) any proposal concerning an offer of Shares or debentures or other securities of or by the Company or any of its subsidiaries for subscription or purchase in which offer he is or is to be interested as a participant in the underwriting or sub-underwriting thereof; or

(d) any proposal concerning any other company in which he is interested, directly or indirectly and whether as an officer or shareholder or otherwise howsoever, provided that he is not the holder of or beneficially interested in one per cent or more of the issued shares of such company (or of any third company through which his interest is derived) or of the voting rights available to shareholders of the relevant company (any such interest being deemed for these purposes to be a material interest in all circumstances).

Where proposals are under consideration concerning the appointment (including fixing or varying the terms of appointment) of two or more Directors to offices or employment with the Company or any company in which the Company is interested, the Directors may be counted in the quorum for the consideration of such proposals and such proposals may be divided and considered in relation to each Director separately and in such case each of the Directors concerned (if not debarred from voting under the provisions referred to above) shall be entitled to vote (and be counted in the quorum) in respect of each resolution except that concerning his own appointment.

If any question shall arise at any meeting as to the materiality of a Director's interest or as to the entitlement of any Director to vote and such question is not resolved by his voluntarily agreeing to abstain from voting, such question shall be referred to the chairman of the meeting and his ruling in relation to any other Director shall be final and conclusive except in a case where the nature or extent of the interests of the Director concerned have not been fairly disclosed.

The Company may by ordinary resolution suspend or relax the provisions referred to above to any extent or ratify any transaction not duly authorised by reason of a contravention of any of the paragraphs above.

Subject to the provisions referred to above the Directors may exercise the voting power conferred by the shares in any other company held or owned by the Company or exercisable by them as directors of such other company in such manner in all respects as they think fit (including the exercise thereof in favour of any resolution appointing themselves or any of them director, managing director, managers or other officer of such company or voting or providing for the payment or remuneration to the directors, managing director, manager or other officer of such company).

A Director may hold any other office or place of profit under the Company (other than the office of Auditor) in conjunction with his office of Director on such terms as to tenure of office or otherwise as the Directors may determine.

Subject to due disclosure in accordance with the provisions referred to in this section, no Director or intending Director shall be disqualified by his office from contracting with the Company as vendor, purchaser or otherwise, nor shall any such contract or any contract or arrangement entered into by or on behalf of the Company in which any Director is in any way interested render the Director liable to account to the Company for any profit realised by any such contract or arrangement by reason of such Director holding that office or of the fiduciary relationship thereby established.

Any Director may act by himself or his firm in a professional capacity for the Company and he or his firm shall be entitled to remuneration for professional services as if he were not a Director, provided that nothing herein contained shall authorise a Director or his firm to act as Auditor to the Company.

Any Director may continue to be or become a director, managing director, manager or other officer or member of any company in which the Company may be interested and (unless otherwise agreed) no such Director shall be accountable for any remuneration or other benefits received by him as a director, managing director, manager or other officer or member of any such other company.

Remuneration and appointment of Directors

The ordinary remuneration of the Directors who do not hold executive office for their services (excluding amounts payable under any other sub-paragraph of the Articles) shall not exceed in aggregate £[150,000] per annum or such higher amount as the Company may from time to time by ordinary resolution determine. Such remuneration shall be deemed to accrue from day to day. The Directors shall also be paid all reasonable out-of-pocket travelling, hotel and other expenses properly incurred by them in attending and returning from meetings of the Directors or any committee of the Directors or general meetings of the Company or in connection with the business of the Company. In addition, the Board may award additional remuneration to any Director engaged in exceptional work at the request of the Board on a time spent basis.

The Board shall have power at any time to appoint any person eligible in accordance with section 137 of the Companies Law to be a Director either to fill a casual vacancy or as an addition to the existing Directors but so that the total number of Directors shall not at any time exceed the number, if any, fixed pursuant to the Articles. Any Director so appointed shall hold office only until the next following annual general meeting and shall then be eligible for re-election. Without prejudice to the powers of the Board, the Company in general meeting may appoint any person to be a Director either to fill a casual vacancy or as an additional Director.

The Directors may at any time appoint one or more of their body (other than a Director resident in the United Kingdom) to the office of managing director for such term and at such remuneration and upon such terms as they determine.

Disqualification and retirement of Directors

No person other than a Director retiring at a general meeting shall, unless recommended by the Directors, be eligible for election by the Company to the office of Director unless, not less than 14 clear days before the date appointed for the meeting there shall have been left at the Company's registered office notice in writing signed by a Shareholder duly qualified to attend and vote at the meeting for which such notice is given of his intention to propose such person for election together with notice in writing signed by that person of his willingness to be elected.

A Director shall cease to hold office: (i) if the Director (not being a person holding for a fixed term an executive office subject to termination if he ceases for any reason to be a Director) resigns his office by written notice signed by him sent to or deposited at the registered office of the Company, (ii) if he shall have absented himself from meetings of the Board for a consecutive period of 12 months and the Board resolves that his office shall be vacated, (iii) if he dies or becomes of unsound mind or incapable, (iv) if he becomes insolvent, suspends payment or compounds with his creditors, (v) if he is requested to resign by written notice signed by all his co-Directors, (vi) if the Company in general meeting shall declare that he shall cease to be a Director, (vii) if he becomes resident in the United Kingdom and, as a result thereof, a majority of the Directors are resident in the United Kingdom, (viii) if he becomes ineligible to be a Director in accordance with section 137 of the Companies Law or (ix) if he becomes prohibited from being a Director by reason of any order made under any provisions or any law or enactment.

Indemnity

The Directors, company secretary and officers for the time being of the Company and their respective heirs and executors shall, to the extent permitted by section 157 of the Companies Law, be fully indemnified out of the assets and profits of the Company from and against all actions, expenses and liabilities which they or their respective heirs or executors may incur by reason of any contract entered into or any act in or about the execution of their respective offices or trusts except such (if any) as they shall incur by or through their own negligence, default, breach of duty or breach of trust respectively and none of them shall be answerable for the acts, receipts, neglects or defaults of the others of them or for joining in any receipt for the sake of conformity or for any bankers or other person with whom any monies or assets of the Company may be lodged or deposited for safe custody or for any bankers or other persons into whose hands any money or assets of the Company may come or for any defects of title of the Company to any property purchased or for insufficiency or deficiency of or defect in title of the Company to any security upon which any monies of the Company shall be placed out or invested or for any loss, misfortune or damage resulting from any such cause as aforesaid or which may happen in or about the execution of their respective offices or trusts, except if the same shall happen by or through their own negligence, default, breach of duty or breach of trust.

Borrowing powers

The Board may exercise all the powers of the Company to borrow money (in whatever currency the Board determines from time to time) and to mortgage, hypothecate, pledge or charge all or part of its undertaking property and uncalled capital and to issue debentures and other securities, whether outright or as collateral security for any liability or obligation of the Company or of any third party, subject to any limits on borrowings adopted by the Board from time to time. The Board may exercise all the powers of the Company to engage in currency or interest rate hedging in the interests of efficient portfolio management.

Forfeiture and surrender of Shares

Any Share in respect of which a notice requiring payment of an unpaid call or instalment, together with any interest which may have accrued and any expenses which may have been incurred, has been served may, at any time before payment has been made, be forfeited by a resolution of the Directors to that effect. Such forfeiture shall include all dividends declared in respect of the forfeited Share and not actually paid before the forfeiture.

The Board may accept from any Shareholder on such terms as agreed a surrender of any Shares in respect of which there is a liability for calls. Any surrendered Share may be disposed of in the same manner as a forfeited share.

If any Shares are owned directly or beneficially by a person believed by the Directors to be a Prohibited U.S. Person, the Directors may give notice to such person requiring them either (i) to provide the Directors within 30 days of receipt of such notice with sufficient satisfactory documentary evidence to satisfy the Directors that such person is not a Prohibited U.S. Person or (ii) to sell or transfer their Shares to a person qualified to own the same within 30 days and within such 30 days to provide the Directors with satisfactory evidence of such sale or transfer. Where condition (i) or (ii) is not satisfied within 30 days after the serving of the notice, the person will be deemed, upon the expiration of such 30 days, to have forfeited their Shares.

LITIGATION

[There are no, and have not been in the last 12 months, any governmental, legal or arbitration proceedings, nor, so far as the Company is aware, are any such proceedings pending or threatened, which may have, or have in the recent past had, a significant effect on the Company's financial position or profitability.] [Highland to confirm]

RELATED PARTY TRANSACTIONS

Other than as set out in the section of this Offering Memorandum entitled "—Material Contracts" (including the NexBank Credit Facility), "Investment Policy—Company Borrowing" and cross-transactions as described in "Risk Factors—Risks Relating to Conflicts of Interest—The Company will be subject to various conflicts of interest involving the Portfolio Manager and its affiliates" the Company has not entered into any related party transactions. The consent of the Advisory Board will be required with respect to transactions with any Related Party.

GENERAL

Highland may be regarded as the promoter of the Company. Save as disclosed in this section of this Offering Memorandum, no amount or benefit has been paid, or given, to the promoter or any of its subsidiaries since the incorporation of the Company and none is intended to be paid, or given. Highland is a limited partnership, established under the laws of the State of Delaware in the U.S. with its registered office at 1209 Orange Street, in the City of Wilmington, County of New Castle, Delaware 19801.

The Net Placing Proceeds available for investment by the Company following the Placing will be approximately U.S. $[•] (less any amounts retained for working capital purposes) and these proceeds will be invested in accordance with the Company's investment policy described in the section of this Offering Memorandum entitled "The Company". Since incorporation, the Company has not commenced operations, and therefore has not generated earnings. As the Shares do not have a par value, the Placing Price consists solely of share premium.

None of the Shares available under the Placing are being underwritten.

Application will be made to the appropriate securities exchange for the Placing Shares to be admitted when deemed appropriate by the Company.

The Company does not own any premises and does not lease any premises.

THIRD PARTY SOURCES

Where third party information has been referenced in this Offering Memorandum, the source of that third party information has been disclosed. Where information contained in this Offering Memorandum has been so sourced, the Company confirms that such information has been accurately reproduced and, as far as the Company is aware and able to ascertain from information published by such third parties, no facts have been omitted which would render the reproduced information inaccurate or misleading.

Highland has given and not withdrawn its written consent to the issue of this Offering Memorandum with references to its name in the form and context in which such references appear. Highland accepts responsibility for information attributed to it in this Offering Memorandum and declares that, having taken all reasonable care to ensure that such is the case, the information attributed to it in this Offering Memorandum is, to the best of its knowledge, in accordance with the facts and contains no omission likely to affect its import.

Highland has given and, as at the date of this Offering Memorandum, has not withdrawn its written consent to the issue of this Offering Memorandum with references to its name in the form and context in which such references appear. Highland accepts responsibility for information attributed to it in this Offering Memorandum and declares that, having taken all reasonable care to ensure that such is the case, the information attributed to it in this Offering Memorandum is, to the best of its knowledge, in accordance with the facts and contains no omission likely to affect its import.

Each of the Management Companies has given and, as at the date of this Offering Memorandum, has not withdrawn its written consent to the issue of this Offering Memorandum with references to its name in the form and context in which such references appear. Each of the Management Companies accepts responsibility for information attributed to it in this Offering Memorandum and declares that, having taken all reasonable care to ensure that such is the case, the information attributed to it in this Offering Memorandum is, to the best of its knowledge, in accordance with the facts and contains no omission likely to affect its import.

WORKING CAPITAL

The Company is of the opinion that the working capital available to the Group is sufficient for the present requirements of the Company, that is, for at least the next 12 months from the date of this Offering Memorandum.

CAPITALISATION AND INDEBTEDNESS

As at [•], 2017, the Company:

(a) does not have any secured, unsecured or unguaranteed indebtedness, including indirect and contingent, other than the NexBank Credit Facility;

(b) has not granted any mortgage or charge over any of its assets, other than that granted under the NexBank Credit Facility; and

(c) does not have any contingent liabilities or guarantees.

As at the date of this Offering Memorandum, the Company's issued and fully paid up share capital consisted of [•] Shares of [•] par value.

DOCUMENTS AVAILABLE FOR INSPECTION

Copies of the Articles, the constitutional documents of the Company, the material contracts referred to in "—Material Contracts" above and this Offering Memorandum will be available for inspection at the registered office of the Company during normal business hours on any weekday (Saturdays and public holidays excepted) up to and including the date of the Placing.

Copies of this Offering Memorandum may be obtained, free of charge during normal business hours on any weekday (bank and public holidays excepted) at the Company's registered office up to and including the date of the Placing.

RELATIONSHIP BETWEEN SHAREHOLDERS, THE COMPANY AND SERVICE PROVIDERS

The Company is a registered closed-ended investment company incorporated in Guernsey with limited liability on 30 March 2015. While prospective investors will acquire an interest in the Company on subscribing for Placing Shares, the Company is the sole legal and/or beneficial owner of its investments. Consequently, Shareholders have no direct legal or beneficial interest in those investments. The liability of Shareholders for the debts and other obligations of the Company is limited to the amount unpaid, if any, on the Placing Shares held by them.

Shareholders' rights in respect of their investment in the Company are governed by the Articles, the Companies Law and the investment terms set out in this Offering Memorandum.

RIGHTS AGAINST THIRD PARTIES, INCLUDING THIRD PARTY SERVICE PROVIDERS

As the Company has no employees and the Directors have all been appointed on a non-executive basis, the Company is reliant on the performance of service providers listed in this Offering Memorandum (the "Service Providers").

Without prejudice to any potential right of action in tort that a Shareholder may have to bring a claim against a Service Provider, each Shareholder's contractual relationship in respect of its investment in Shares is with the Company only. Therefore, no Shareholder will have any contractual claim against any Service Provider with respect to such Service Provider's default.

JURISDICTION AND APPLICABLE LAW

As noted above, Shareholders' rights are governed by the Articles, the Companies Law and the terms set out in this Offering Memorandum. By subscribing for Placing Shares, investors agree to be bound by the Articles, the Companies Law and the terms set out in this Offering Memorandum.

Information on the existence or not of any legal instruments providing for the recognition and enforcement of judgments in the territory where the Company is established is as follows. A final and conclusive judgement under which a sum of money is payable (not being a sum payable in respect of taxes or other charges of a like nature or in respect of a fine or penalty) obtained in the superior courts in the reciprocating countries set out in the Judgments (Reciprocal Enforcement) (Guernsey) Law 1957 (the "1957 Law") (which includes the Supreme Court and the Senior Courts of England and Wales, excluding the Crown Court), after a hearing on the merits would be recognised as a valid judgement by the Guernsey courts and would be enforceable in accordance with and subject to the provisions of the 1957 Law.

The Guernsey courts would also recognise, without reconsideration of the merits and assuming proper service of process and assumption of jurisdiction in accordance with the laws of the relevant jurisdiction, any final and conclusive judgement under which affixed or ascertainable sum of money is payable (not being a sum payable in respect of taxes or other charges or a like nature or in respect of a fine or other penalty) obtained in a court not recognised by the 1957 Law provided that the judgment was not obtained by fraud or in a manner opposed to the principles of natural justice and recognition of the judgment is not contrary to public policy as applied by the Guernsey courts.

FAIR TREATMENT AND PREFERENTIAL TREATMENT OF INVESTORS

The Directors owe certain fiduciary duties to the Company which require them, among other things, to act in good faith and in what they consider to be the best interests of the Company. In doing so, the Directors will act in a manner that ensures the fair treatment of investors.

Under the AIFMD Rules, the Portfolio Manager as AIFM must treat all investors fairly. The Portfolio Manager ensures the fair treatment of investors through its decision-making procedures and organisational structure which (1) identify any preferential treatment, or the right thereto, accorded to investors and (2) ensure that any such preferential treatment does not result in an overall disadvantage to other investors.

In addition, the Portfolio Manager monitors the terms of side arrangements entered into with investors in relation to their investment in the Company to seek to ensure the fair treatment of investors. In so doing, the Portfolio Manager takes into consideration whether such side arrangements are in accordance with side arrangements previously entered into.

The Portfolio Manager may enter into side letters in relation to the Company and its investments with certain individual investors covering, inter alia, [capacity, provision of additional information, fees, most favoured investor commitments, individual investor approval requirements, transfer rights and confirmations of how expenses will be borne]. Such information may provide the recipient greater insights into the Company activities than is included in standard reports to investors. In entering into any side letters, the Company will act in the best interests of the investors as a whole.

Information on such side letters will be disclosed to investors in accordance with the AIFMD.

TERMS AND CONDITIONS OF THE PLACING

INTRODUCTION

Each Placee which confirms its agreement (whether orally or in writing) to subscribe for Placing Shares under the Placing will be bound by these terms and conditions and will be deemed to have accepted them.

The Company may require any Placee to agree to such further terms and/or conditions and/or give such additional warranties and/or representations as it (in its absolute discretion) sees fit and/or may require any such Placee to execute a separate placing letter (a "Placing Letter").

AGREEMENT TO SUBSCRIBE FOR PLACING SHARES

Any Placee agrees to become a member of the Company and agrees to subscribe for those Placing Shares allocated to it at the Placing Price in respect of the Placing Shares allocated to the Placee. To the fullest extent permitted by law, each Placee acknowledges and agrees that it will not be entitled to exercise any remedy of rescission at any time. This does not affect any other rights the Placee may have.

PAYMENT FOR PLACING SHARES

Each Placee must pay the Placing Price for the Placing Shares issued to the Placee in the manner and by the time directed by the Company. If any Placee fails to pay as so directed and/or by the time required, the relevant Placee's application for Placing Shares shall be rejected.

REPRESENTATIONS AND WARRANTIES

By agreeing to subscribe for Placing Shares, each Placee which will enter into a commitment to subscribe for Placing Shares will (for itself and any person(s) procured by it to subscribe for Placing Shares and any nominee(s) for any such person(s)) agree, represent and warrant to each of the Company and the Registrar that:

(a) in agreeing to subscribe for Placing Shares under the Placing, it is relying solely on this Offering Memorandum and any subsequent notice published by the Company subsequent to the date of this Offering Memorandum and not on any other information given, or representation or statement made at any time, by any person concerning the Company or the Placing. It agrees that none of the Company or the Registrar, nor any of their respective officers, agents or employees, will have any liability for any other information or representation. It irrevocably and unconditionally waives any rights it may have in respect of any other information or representation;

(b) if the laws of any territory or jurisdiction outside the United Kingdom are applicable to its agreement to subscribe for Placing Shares under the Placing, it warrants that it has complied with all such laws, obtained all governmental and other consents which may be required, complied with all requisite formalities and paid any issue, transfer or other taxes due in connection with its placing commitment in any territory and that it has not taken any action or omitted to take any action which will result in the Company, the Registrar or any of their respective officers, agents, affiliates or employees acting in breach of the regulatory or legal requirements, directly or indirectly, of any territory or jurisdiction outside the United Kingdom in connection with the Placing;

(c) it does not have a registered address in, and is not a citizen, resident or national of, any jurisdiction in which it is unlawful to make or accept an offer of the Placing Shares and it is not acting on a non-discretionary basis for any such person;

(d) it agrees that, having had the opportunity to read this Offering Memorandum, it shall be deemed to have had notice of all information and representations contained in this Offering Memorandum, that it is acquiring Placing Shares solely on the basis of this Offering Memorandum and any subsequent notice published by the Company subsequent to the date of this Offering Memorandum and no other information and that in accepting a participation in the Placing it has had access to all information it believes necessary or appropriate in connection with its decision to subscribe for Placing Shares;

(e) it acknowledges that no person is authorised in connection with the Placing to give any information or make any representation other than as contained in this Offering Memorandum and any subsequent notice published by the Company subsequent to the date of this Offering Memorandum and, if given or made, any information or representation must not be relied upon as having been authorised by the Company;

(f) it is not applying as, nor is it applying as nominee or agent for, a person who is or may be liable to notify and account for tax under the Stamp Duty Reserve Tax Regulations 1986 at any of the increased rates referred to in section 67, 70, 93 or 96 (depository receipts and clearance services) of the Finance Act 1986;

(g) it accepts that none of the Placing Shares have been or will be registered under the laws of any Restricted Territory. Accordingly, the Placing Shares may not be offered, sold, issued or delivered, directly or indirectly, within any Restricted Territory unless an exemption from any registration requirement is available;

(h) if it is receiving the offer in circumstances under which the laws or regulations of a jurisdiction other than the United Kingdom would apply, that it is a person to whom the Placing Shares may be lawfully offered under that other jurisdiction's laws and regulations;

(i) if it is a resident in the EEA (other than the United Kingdom), it is a "Qualified Investor" within the meaning of the law in the Relevant Member State implementing Article 2(1)(e)(i), (ii) or (iii) of the Prospectus Directive;

(j) if it is outside the United Kingdom, neither this Offering Memorandum nor any other offering, marketing or other material in connection with the Placing constitutes an invitation, offer or promotion to, or arrangement with, it or any person whom it is procuring to subscribe for Placing Shares pursuant to the Placing unless, in the relevant territory, such offer, invitation or other course of conduct could lawfully be made to it or such person and such documents or materials could lawfully be provided to it or such person and Placing Shares could lawfully be distributed to and subscribed and held by it or such person without compliance with any unfulfilled approval, registration or other regulatory or legal requirements;

(k) it acknowledges the representations, warranties and agreements set out in this Offering Memorandum, including those set out in the section of this Offering Memorandum entitled "Purchase and Transfer Restrictions" in "Placing Arrangements", and further acknowledges that it is not a U.S. Person, it is not located within the United States, it is subscribing for Placing Shares in an "offshore transaction" as defined in Regulation S and it is not acquiring the Placing Shares for the account or benefit of a U.S. Person, and where it is subscribing for Placing Shares for one or more managed, discretionary or advisory accounts, it is authorised in writing for each such account: (i) to subscribe for the Placing Shares for each such account; (ii) to make on each such account's behalf the representations, warranties and agreements set out in this Offering Memorandum or in any Placing Letter, where relevant; and (iii) to receive on behalf of each such account any documentation relating to the Placing in the form provided by the Company. It agrees that the provision of this paragraph shall survive any resale of the Placing Shares by or on behalf of any such account;

(l) it is acting as principal only in respect of the Placing, or, if it is acting for any other person (i) it is and will remain liable to the Company for the performance of all its obligations as a placee in respect of the Placing (regardless of the fact that it is acting for another person), (ii) it is both an "authorised person" for the purposes of FSMA and a "qualified investor" as defined at Article 2.1(e)(i) of Directive 2003/71/EC (known as Prospectus Directive) acting as agent for such person, and (iii) such person is either (1) a FSMA Qualified Investor or (2) its "client" (as defined in section 86(2) of FSMA) that has engaged it to act as his agent on terms which enable it to make decisions concerning the Placing or any other offers of transferable securities on his behalf without reference to him;

(m) it has not and will not offer or sell any Placing Shares to persons in the United Kingdom, except to persons whose ordinary activities involve them in acquiring, holding, managing or disposing of investments (as principal or agent) for the purposes of their business or otherwise in circumstances which have not resulted and which will not result in an offer to the public in the United Kingdom within the meaning of section 102B of the FSMA;

(n) it is an "eligible counterparty" within the meaning of Chapter 3 of the FCA's Conduct of Business Sourcebook and it is subscribing for or purchasing the Shares for investment only and not for resale or distribution;

(o) it irrevocably appoints any Director of the Company to be its agent and on its behalf (without any obligation or duty to do so), to sign, execute and deliver any documents and do all acts, matters and things as may be necessary for, or incidental to, its subscription for all or any of the Placing Shares for which it has given a commitment under the Placing, in the event of its own failure to do so;

(p) it accepts that if the Placing does not proceed or such Placing Shares are not admitted to a securities exchange for any reason whatsoever, then none of the Company or any of its affiliates, nor persons controlling, controlled by or under common control with any of them nor any of their respective employees, agents, officers, members, stockholders, partners or representatives, shall have any liability whatsoever to it or any other person;

(q) it has not taken any action or omitted to take any action which will or may result in the Company or any of its directors, officers, agents, affiliates, employees or advisers being in breach of the legal or regulatory requirements of any territory in connection with the Placing or its subscription of Placing Shares pursuant to the Placing;

(r) in connection with its participation in the Placing it has observed all relevant legislation and regulations, in particular (but without limitation) those relating to money laundering and countering terrorist financing and that its placing commitment is only made on the basis that it accepts full responsibility for any requirement to identify and verify the identity of its clients and other persons in respect of whom it has applied. In addition, it warrants that it is a person: (i) subject to the Money Laundering Regulations 2007 in force in the United Kingdom; or (ii) subject to the Money Laundering Directive (2005/60/EC of the European Parliament and of the EC Council of 26 October 2005 on the prevention of the use of the financial system for the purpose of money laundering and terrorist financing); or (iii) subject to the Guernsey AML Requirements; or (iv) acting in the course of a business in relation to which an overseas regulatory authority exercises regulatory functions and is based or incorporated in, or formed under the law of, a country in which there are in force provisions at least equivalent to those required by the Money Laundering Directive;

(s) due to anti-money laundering and the countering of terrorist financing requirements, the Company may require proof of identity of the Placee and related parties and verification of the source of the payment before the placing commitment can be processed and that, in the event of delay or failure by the Placee to produce any information required for verification purposes, the Company may refuse to accept the placing commitment and the subscription moneys relating thereto. It holds harmless and will indemnify the Company against any liability, loss or cost ensuing due to the failure to process the placing commitment, if such information as has been required has not been provided by it or has not been provided timeously;

(t) any person in Guernsey involved in the business of the Company who knows or suspects or has reasonable grounds for knowing or suspecting that any other person (including the Company or any person subscribing for Placing Shares) is involved in money laundering activities, is under an obligation to report such suspicion to the relevant authorities pursuant to the Guernsey AML Requirements. Similar disclosures may be required under other legislation;

(u) it and each person or body (including, without limitation, any local authority or the managers of any pension fund) on whose behalf it accepts Placing Shares pursuant to the Placing or to whom it allocates such Placing Shares have the capacity and authority to enter into and to perform their obligations as a Placee of the Placing Shares and will honour those obligations;

(v) it confirms that it is not acquiring the Placing Shares using the assets of: (i)(A) an "employee benefit plan" as defined in Section 3(3) of ERISA that is subject to Title I of ERISA; (B) a "plan" as defined in Section 4975 of the U.S. Tax Code, including an individual retirement account or other arrangement that is subject to Section 4975 of the U.S. Tax Code; or (C) an entity whose underlying assets are considered to include "plan assets" by reason of investment by an "employee benefit plan" or "plan" described in preceding clause (A) or (B) in such entity pursuant to the U.S. Plan Assets Regulations; or (ii) a governmental, church, non-U.S. or other employee benefit plan that is subject to any federal, state, local or non-U.S. law that is substantially similar to the provisions of Title I of ERISA or Section 4975 of the U.S. Tax Code, unless its purchase, holding, and disposition of the Placing Shares will not constitute or result in a non-exempt violation of any such substantially similar law;

(w) the representations, undertakings and warranties contained in this Offering Memorandum or in any Placing Letter, where relevant, are irrevocable. It acknowledges that the Company and its affiliates will rely upon the truth and accuracy of such representations and warranties and it agrees that if any of the representations or warranties made or deemed to have been made by its subscription of the Shares are no longer accurate, it shall promptly notify the Company;

(x) nothing has been done or will be done by it in relation to the Placing that has resulted or could result in any person being required to publish a prospectus in relation to the Company or to any ordinary shares in accordance with FSMA or the Prospectus Rules or in accordance with any other laws applicable in any part of the European Union or the European Economic Area;

(y) it accepts that the allocation of Placing Shares shall be determined by the Company in its absolute discretion and that such persons may scale down any placing commitments for this purpose on such basis as they may determine; and

(z) time shall be of the essence as regards its obligations to settle payment for the Placing Shares and to comply with its other obligations under the Placing; and

(aa) it has been provided an opportunity to ask questions of, and have received satisfactory answers thereto from, the Company, Highland, Acis and/or their respective affiliates, as applicable, regarding the Company's assets and the terms and conditions of the offering of the Placing Shares, and it and its representatives have obtained all additional information requested of the Company, Highland, Acis and/or their respective affiliates, as applicable and to the extent such information is in their possession or reasonably obtainable thereby without undue expense or burden, in order to respond to any inquiries it has made regarding the offering of the Placing Shares. In connection with the offering of the Shares, it is not relying upon any statements other than those statements contained in the Offering Memorandum. It are not relying on the Company, Highland, Acis and/or their respective any of its respective affiliates or any of its partners, members, managers, shareholders, officers, employees, shared personnel, representatives, consultants, advisors, attorneys or agents for legal, investment or tax advice. It has sought independent legal, investment and tax advice to the extent that it has deemed necessary or appropriate in connection with its decision to subscribe for the Placing Shares.

SUPPLY AND DISCLOSURE OF INFORMATION

If the Registrar or the Company or any of their agents request any information in connection with a Placee's agreement to subscribe for Placing Shares under the Placing or to comply with any relevant legislation, such Placee must promptly disclose it to them.

DATA PROTECTION

Pursuant to the Data Protection (Bailiwick of Guernsey) Law, 2001, as amended (the "DP Law") and any successor legislation, the Company, the Registrar and/or the Administrator may hold personal data (as defined in the DP Law) relating to past and present Shareholders.

Such personal data held is used by those parties in relation to the Placing and to maintain a register of the Shareholders and mailing lists and this may include sharing such data with third parties in one or more of the countries mentioned below when (a) effecting the payment of dividends and redemption proceeds to Shareholders (in each case, where applicable) and, if applicable, the payment of commissions to third parties; and (b) filing returns of Shareholders and their respective transactions in shares with statutory bodies and regulatory authorities. Personal data may be retained on record for a period exceeding six years after it is no longer used.

The countries referred to above include, but need not be limited to, those in the European Economic Area or the European Union and any of their respective dependent territories overseas, Andorra, Argentina, Canada, State of Israel, New Zealand, Switzerland and the Eastern Republic of Uruguay.

By becoming registered as a holder of Placing Shares in the Company a person becomes a data subject (as defined in the DP Law) and is deemed to have consented to the processing by the Company, the Administrator and the Registrar of any personal data relating to them in the manner described above.

The Company will be the "data controller" in respect of the personal data, but has appointed the Administrator and the Registrar as "data processors" of such data (each as defined in the DP Law). Details of the registration of the Company as data controller can be found on the website of the Guernsey Data Protection Commissioner: www.dpr.gov.gg.

MISCELLANEOUS

The rights and remedies of the Company, the Registrar and the Administrator under these terms and conditions are in addition to any rights and remedies which would otherwise be available to each of them and the exercise or partial exercise of one will not prevent the exercise of others.

On the acceptance of their placing commitment, if a Placee is a discretionary fund manager, that Placee may be asked to disclose in writing or orally the jurisdiction in which its funds are managed or owned. All documents provided in connection with the Placing will be sent at the Placee's risk. They may be returned by post to such Placee at the address notified by such Placee.

Each Placee agrees to be bound by the Articles (as amended from time to time) once the Placing Shares, which the Placee has agreed to subscribe for pursuant to the Placing, have been acquired by the Placee. The contract to subscribe for Placing Shares under the Placing and the appointments and authorities mentioned in this Offering Memorandum will be governed by, and construed in accordance with, the laws of England. For the exclusive benefit of the Company, the Registrar and the Administrator, each Placee irrevocably submits to the jurisdiction of the courts of England and Wales and waives any objection to proceedings in any such court on the ground of venue or on the ground that proceedings have been brought in an inconvenient forum. This does not prevent an action being taken against a Placee in any other jurisdiction.

In the case of a joint agreement to subscribe for Placing Shares under the Placing, references to a "Placee" in these terms and conditions are to each of the Placees who are a party to that joint agreement and their liability is joint and several.

The Company expressly reserves the right to modify the Placing (including, without limitation, its timetable and settlement) at any time prior to the date of the Placing.

PLACING STATISTICS

Hunter –

Just so we are all on the same page, given the arbitration award, we had expressed concerns around both (i) doing a refinancing for a transaction managed by ACIS on a going-forward basis, and (ii) transferring the existing contract from ACIS to an affiliate.

Happy to discuss live later today or tomorrow. Please let us know when works best for you.

Amit

Subject: Acis CLOs

Amit, as a follow-up to our conversation last week:

- We understand that as a result of the arbitration award and ongoing dispute with Mr. Terry that Goldman is unwilling to continue with a refinancing of any Acis CLO until Acis Capital Management is replaced as collateral manager.
- Based on this, we agree with your conclusion that we should either
  - seek and receive consent from the Controlling Class (AAA noteholders) of the Acis CLOs to a clean replacement affiliated collateral manager prior to moving forward with any refinancing of such CLOs or
  - the equity in each such CLO should call each such CLO to facilitate a Risk Retention-Compliant "re-set" with a clean affiliated manager.
- Accordingly, after discussing these options with the equity holders of each such CLO, we have concluded that we would like to proceed with 2 year to 3 year "re-sets" of Acis 2014-3, Acis 2014-4, and Acis 2014-5 as soon as possible, with Goldman Sachs as underwriter.

Let's try to discuss next steps later today.

Thank you,
Hunter

Pros and cons of 2 yr re-sets rather than the discussed refis:

1. The Reinvestment Periods (RP) would be extended from current status. However, we still believe monetization of these CLOs past the new RPs can occur naturally on the same dates we have been modeling, and as such, will not change HCF's WAL and payback expectations.

	Refi	Reset	Refi	Reset
CLO	RP Date	RP Date*	Refi Redemption	Re-Set Redemption
Acis 2014-3	2/1/2019	2/1/2020	8/1/2020	8/1/2020
Acis 2014-4	6/5/2019	2/1/2020	2/1/2021	2/1/2021
Acis 2014-5	11/18/2019	2/1/2020	8/1/2021	8/1/2021

 Estimated*

2. The AAA buyer base for refi CLOs with ~15 months to ~2 years left in the RP is the same buyer base that would buy 2 year re-set CLOs. So pricing should be pretty similar in their scenario.

3. Each CLO would be able to reinvest and enjoy the increased arbitrage for a longer time period than currently contemplated.

4. The Weighted Average Life (WAL) test on the loan portfolio in each CLO would be re-set, allowing us to have much more freedom in managing the portfolio and broadening our options in the investible loan universe.

5. These CLOs will now become risk retention-compliant and as such

- Highland Capital will contribute $3mm-$4mm per CLO to issue additional equity shares, which will increase cushion on OC Tests.
- Highland CLO Management (the MOA) will earn the 0.40% annual management fee, and .04% will remain in the MOA, accruing to HCF.
- Acis Capital Management will be replaced and no longer manage these CLOs.

Terry Arbitration Confirmation: Legal Issues

- Where: Texas State Court, new proceeding.
- What will be in the new case to confirm? Terry can file the entire detail of the award, but not the award itself.
- When: Monday, November 6.
- When will Terry file the award document? November 13.
- Next steps: Highland files a notice of related case; moves to transfer the new case to the current case in the 162nd District Court.
- How long until Terry confirms: Depends. If the new case and the pending case are combined, then most likely 9-12 months. If the new case stays separate, then within 3 – 4 months.
- Upon confirmation: ACM/GP files a notice of appeal; posts a bond for 50% of net worth, which delays collection.
- Collection: Must collect where the bank accounts are located; Delaware (not quite, it depends on the banks and where they do business; if banks do business/subject to jurisdiction in TX, Terry could file garnishments in TX even if accounts are based elsewhere; otherwise Terry would have to domesticate judgments in other states/jurisdictions where assets are located and pursue there). If not assets in Delaware, then chase in Cayman. Will be multiple years to collect.
- Other issues:
    - Media statement: Lucy working on draft bullets
    - SEC may investigate
    - Terry may file claims against Acis CLO Value Fund II LP, GP LLC, Master Fund LP, and/or HCM re retirement accounts.
    - Highland's employment and breach of fiduciary duty claims against Terry

See attached. A few questions:
The acknowledgment and waiver refers to the appointment of a collateral manager. Should it state Portfolio Manager as in the Transfer and Assignment Agreement? THESE TERMS ARE BEING USED INTERCHANGEABLY
Does Highland CLO Management, LLC replace Highland CLO Management, Ltd (HCLOM) and if so is there any need now for HCLOM? THE LLC ENTITY IS ASSUMING UNDERTAKINGS BUT THE LTD STILL IS NECESSARY UNDER THE BROADER STRUCTURE.

SHARED SERVICES AGREEMENT

by and between

HIGHLAND CLO HOLDINGS, LTD.

and

HIGHLAND CAPITAL MANAGEMENT, L.P.

Dated December 19, 2017

SHARED SERVICES AGREEMENT

This Shared Services Agreement (as amended, modified, waived, supplemented or restated from time to time in accordance with the terms hereof, this "Agreement"), dated as of December 19, 2017, is entered into by and between Highland CLO Holdings, Ltd., a Cayman Islands exempted company, as the management company hereunder (in such capacity, the "Management Company"), and Highland Capital Management, L.P., a Delaware limited partnership ("Highland"), as the staff and services provider hereunder (in such capacity, the "Staff and Services Provider" and together with the Management Company, the "Parties").

R E C I T A L S

WHEREAS, the Staff and Services Provider is a registered investment adviser under the Investment Advisers Act of 1940, as amended (the "Advisers Act");

WHEREAS, the Staff and Services Provider and the Management Company are engaged in the business of providing investment management services;

WHEREAS, the Staff and Services Provider is hereby being retained to provide certain back- and middle-office services and administrative, infrastructure and other services to assist the Management Company in conducting its business, and the Staff and Services Provider is willing to make such services available to the Management Company on the terms and conditions hereof;

WHEREAS, the Management Company may employ certain individuals to perform portfolio selection and asset management functions for the Management Company, and certain of these individuals may also be employed simultaneously by the Staff and Services Provider during their employment with the Management Company;

WHEREAS, each Person employed by both the Management Company and the Staff and Services Provider as described above (each, a "Shared Employee"), if any, is and shall be identified on the books and records of each of the Management Company and the Staff and Services Provider (as amended, modified, supplemented or restated from time to time);

WHEREAS, reference is hereby made to that certain Fourth Amended and Restated Shared Services Agreement, dated March 17, 2017, by and between Acis Capital Management, L.P., a Delaware limited partnership ("Acis"), and Highland (as amended, modified, waived, supplemented or restated from time to time, the "Existing Shared Services Agreement");

WHEREAS, as of November 30, 2017, Acis owes $1,189,117 to Highland pursuant to the Existing Shared Services Agreement (the "Outstanding Receivables"); and

WHEREAS, Highland desires to transfer and assign to the Management Company, and the Management Company desires to accept and assume from Highland, $874,637 of the Outstanding Receivables (the "Transferred Receivables").

NOW, THEREFORE, for good and valuable consideration, including, without limitation, the representations, promises, agreements and covenants set forth herein, the receipt and sufficiency of which is hereby acknowledged, the Parties hereby agree as follows.

ARTICLE I

DEFINITIONS

Section 1.01 Certain Defined Terms. As used in this Agreement, the following terms shall have the following meanings:

"Advisers Act" shall have the meaning set forth in the Recitals to this Agreement.

"Advisory Restriction" shall have the meaning set forth in Section 5.01(b).

"Affiliate" shall mean with respect to a Person, any other Person that directly, or indirectly through one or more intermediaries, controls, is controlled by, or is under common control with the first Person. The term "control" means (i) the legal or beneficial ownership of securities representing a majority of the voting power of any person or (ii) the possession, directly or indirectly, of the power to direct or cause the direction of the management and policies of a person, whether by contract or otherwise.

"Agreement" shall have the meaning set forth in the Preamble to this Agreement.

"Applicable Asset Criteria and Concentrations" means any applicable eligibility criteria, portfolio concentration limits and other similar criteria or limits which the Management Company instructs in writing to the Staff and Services Provider in respect of the Portfolio or one or more CLOs or Accounts, as such criteria or limits may be modified, amended or supplemented from time to time in writing by the Management Company;

"Applicable Law" shall mean, with respect to any Person or property of such Person, any action, code, consent decree, constitution, decree, directive, enactment, finding, guideline, law, injunction, interpretation, judgment, order, ordinance, policy statement, proclamation, formal guidance, promulgation, regulation, requirement, rule, rule of law, rule of public policy, settlement agreement, statute, writ, or any particular section, part or provision thereof, including the Risk Retention Rules, of any Governmental Authority to which the Person in question is subject or by which it or any of its property is bound.

"CLO or Account" shall mean a collateralized loan obligation transaction, including any type of short-term or long-term warehouse or repurchase facility in connection therewith, or a fund or account advised by the Management Company or its controlled Affiliates, as applicable.

"Covered Person" shall mean the Staff and Services Provider, any of its Affiliates, and any of their respective managers, members, principals, partners, directors, officers, shareholders, employees and agents (but shall not include the Management Company, its subsidiaries or member(s) and any managers, members, principals, partners, directors, officers, shareholders, employees and agents of the Management Company or its subsidiaries or member(s) (in their capacity as such)).

"Governmental Authority" shall mean (i) any government or quasi-governmental authority or political subdivision thereof, whether national, state, county, municipal or regional, whether U.S. or non-U.S.; (ii) any agency, regulator, arbitrator, board, body, branch, bureau, commission, corporation, department, master, mediator, panel, referee, system or instrumentality of any such government, political subdivision or other government or quasi-government entity, whether non-U.S. or U.S.; and (iii) any court, whether U.S. or non-U.S.

"Highland" shall have the meaning set forth in the preamble to this Agreement.

"Indebtedness" shall mean: (a) all indebtedness for borrowed money and all other obligations, contingent or otherwise, with respect to surety bonds, guarantees of borrowed money, letters of credit and bankers' acceptances whether or not matured, and hedges and other derivative contracts and financial instruments; (b) all obligations evidenced by notes, bonds, debentures, or similar instruments, or incurred under bank guaranty or letter of credit facilities or credit agreements; (c) all indebtedness created or arising under any conditional sale or other title retention agreement with respect to any property of the Management Company or any subsidiary; (d) with respect to the Management Company, all indebtedness relating to the acquisition by the EU Originator Series of a collateral obligation that failed to settle (including any ineligible or defaulted collateral obligation) into a CLO; (e) all capital lease obligations; (f) all indebtedness guaranteed by such Person or any of its subsidiaries; (g) all capital lease obligations; (h) all indebtedness guaranteed by such Person or any of its subsidiaries.

"Management Company" shall have the meaning set forth in the preamble to this Agreement.

"Operating Guidelines" means any operating guidelines attached to any portfolio management agreement, investment management agreement or similar agreement entered into between the Management Company or any of its controlled Affiliates and a CLO or Account.

"Parties" shall have the meaning set forth in the preamble to this Agreement.

"Portfolio" means the Management Company's and its controlled Affiliates' portfolio of collateral loan obligations, debt securities (including equity investments or subordinated securities in a CLO such as a Retention Interest), other similar obligations, preferred return notes, financial instruments, securities or other assets held directly or indirectly by, or on behalf of, the Management Company from time to time;

"Securities Act" shall mean the Securities Act of 1933, as amended.

"Staff and Services Fee" shall have the meaning set forth in Section 3.01 of this Agreement.

"Staff and Services Provider" shall have the meaning set forth in the preamble to this Agreement.

"Shared Employee" shall have the meaning set forth in the Recitals to this Agreement.

Section 1.02 Interpretation. The following rules apply to the use of defined terms and the interpretation of this Agreement: (i) the singular includes the plural and the plural includes the singular; (ii) "or" is not exclusive (unless preceded by "either") and "include" and "including" are not limiting; (iii) unless the context otherwise requires, references to agreements shall be deemed to mean and include such agreements as the same may be amended, supplemented, waived and otherwise modified from time to time; (iv) a reference to a law includes any amendment or modification to such law and any rules or regulations issued thereunder or any law enacted in substitution or replacement therefor; (v) a reference to a Person includes its successors and assigns; (vi) a reference to a Section without further reference is to the relevant Section of this Agreement; (vii) the headings of the Sections and subsections are for convenience and shall not affect the meaning of this Agreement; (viii) "writing", "written" and comparable terms refer to printing, typing, lithography and other shall mean of reproducing words in a visible form (including telefacsimile and electronic mail); (ix) "hereof", "herein", "hereunder" and comparable terms refer to the entire instrument in which such terms are used and not to any particular article, section or other subdivision thereof or attachment thereto; and (x) references to any gender include any other gender, masculine, feminine or neuter, as the context requires.

ARTICLE II

SERVICES AND TRANSFERRED RECEIVABLES

Section 2.01 General Authority. Highland is hereby appointed as Staff and Services Provider for the purpose of providing such services and assistance as the Management Company may request from time to time to, and to make available the Shared Employees to, the Management Company in accordance with and subject to the provisions of this Agreement and the Staff and Services Provider hereby accepts such appointment. The Staff and Services Provider hereby agrees to such engagement during the term hereof and to render the services described herein for the compensation provided herein, subject to the limitations contained herein.

Section 2.02 Provision of Services. Without limiting the generality of Section 2.01 and subject to Section 2.04 (Applicable Asset Criteria and Concentrations) below, the Staff and Services Provider hereby agrees, from the date hereof, to provide the following back- and middle-office services and administrative, infrastructure and other services to the Management Company.

(a) Back- and Middle-Office: Assistance and advice with respect to back- and middle-office functions including, but not limited to, accounting, payments, operations, technology and finance;

(b) Legal/Compliance/Risk Analysis. Assistance and advice with respect to legal issues, compliance support and implementation and general risk analysis;

(c) Management of Collateral Obligations and CLOs and Accounts. Assistance and advice with respect to (i) the adherence to Operating Guidelines by the Management Company, and (ii) performing any obligations of the Management Company under or in connection with any back- and middle-office function set forth in any portfolio management agreement, investment management agreement or similar agreement in effect between the Management Company and any CLO or Account from time to time.

(d) Valuation. Advice relating to the appointment of suitable third parties to provide valuations on assets comprising the Portfolio and including, but not limited to, such valuations required to facilitate the preparation of financial statements by the Management Company or the provision of valuations in connection with, or preparation of reports otherwise relating to, a CLO or Account for which the Management Company serves as portfolio manager or investment manager or in a similar capacity;

(e) Execution and Documentation. Assistance relating to the negotiation of the terms of, and the execution and delivery by the Management Company of, any and all documents which the Management Company considers to be necessary in connection with the acquisition and disposition of an asset in the Portfolio by the Management Company or a CLO or Account managed by the Management Company, CLO transactions involving the Management Company, and any other rights and obligations of the Management Company;

(f) Marketing. Provide access to marketing team representatives to assist with the marketing of the Management Company and any specified CLOs or Accounts managed by the Management Company conditional on the Management Company's agreement that any incentive compensation related to such marketing shall be borne by the Management Company;

(g) Reporting. Assistance relating to any reporting the Management Company is required to make in relation to the Portfolio or any CLO or Account, including reports relating to (i) purchases, sales, liquidations, acquisitions, disposals, substitutions and exchanges of assets in the Portfolio, (ii) the requirements of an applicable regulator, or (iii) other type of reporting which the Management Company and Staff and Services Provider may agree from time to time;

(h) Administrative Services. The provision of office space, information technology services and equipment, infrastructure and other related services requested or utilized by the Management Company from time to time;

(i) Shared Employees. The provision of Shared Employees and such additional human capital as may be mutually agreed by the Management Company and the Staff and Services Provider in accordance with the provisions of Section 2.03 hereof;

(j) Ancillary Services. Assistance and advice on all things ancillary or incidental to the foregoing; and

(k) Other. Assistance and advice relating to such other back- and middle-office services in connection with the day-to-day business of the Management Company as the Management Company and the Staff and Services Provider may from time to time agree.

For the avoidance of doubt, none of the services contemplated hereunder shall constitute investment advisory services, and the Staff & Services Provider shall not provide any advice to the Management Company or perform any duties on behalf of the Management Company, other than the back- and middle-office services contemplated herein, with respect to (a) the general management of the Management Company, its business or activities, (b) the initiation or structuring of any CLO or Account or similar securitization, (c) the substantive investment management decisions with respect to any CLO or Account or any related collateral obligations or securitization, (d) the actual selection of any collateral obligation or assets by the Management Company, (e) binding recommendations as to any disposal of or amendment to any Collateral Obligation or (f) any similar functions.

Section 2.03 Shared Employees.

(a) The Staff and Services Provider hereby agrees and consents that each Shared Employee, if any, shall be employed by the Management Company, and the Management Company hereby agrees and consents that each Shared Employee, if any, shall be employed by the Staff and Services Provider. The name, location and such other matters as the Parties desire to reflect with respect to each Shared Employee, if any, shall be identified on the books and records of each of the Management Company and the Staff and Services Provider, which may be amended in writing from time to time by the Parties to add or remove any Shared Employee to reflect the employment (or lack thereof) of such employee. Except as may otherwise separately be agreed in writing between the applicable Shared Employee and the Management Company and/or the Staff and Services Provider, in each of their discretion, each Shared Employee, if any, is an at-will employee and no guaranteed employment or other employment arrangement is agreed or implied by this Agreement with respect to any Shared Employee, and for avoidance of doubt this Agreement shall not amend, limit, constrain or modify in any way the employment arrangements as between any Shared Employee and the Staff and Services Provider or as between any Shared Employee and the Management Company, it being understood that the Management Company may enter into a short-form employment agreement with any Shared Employee memorializing such Shared Employee's status as an employee of the Management Company. If at any time any Shared Employee (or any other person employed by the Staff and Services provider who also provides services to the Management Company) shall be terminated from employment with the Staff and Services Provider or otherwise resigns or is removed from employment with the Staff and Services Provider, then such person may only serve as a separate direct employee of the Management Company upon the approval of the Management Company. The Staff and Services Provider shall ensure that the Management Company has sufficient access to the Shared Employees so that the Shared Employees spend adequate time to provide the services required hereunder. The Staff and Services Provider may also employ the services of persons other than the Specified Persons as it deems fit in its sole discretion

(b) Notwithstanding that the Shared Employees, if any, shall be employed by both the Staff and Services Provider and the Management Company, the Parties acknowledge and agree that any and all salary and benefits of each Shared Employee shall be paid exclusively by the Staff and Services Provider and shall not be paid or borne by the Management Company and no additional amounts in connection therewith shall be due from the Management Company to the Staff and Services Provider.

(c) To the extent that a Shared Employee participates in the rendering of services to the Management Company's clients, the Shared Employee shall be subject to the oversight and control of the Management Company and such services shall be provided by the Shared Employee exclusively in his or her capacity as a "supervised person" of, or "person associated with", the Management Company (as such terms are defined in Sections 202(a)(25) and 202(a)(17), respectively, of the Advisers Act).

(d) Each Party may continue to oversee, supervise and manage the services of each Shared Employee in order to (1) ensure compliance with the Party's compliance policies and procedures, (2) ensure compliance with regulations applicable to the Party and (3) protect the interests of the Party and its clients; provided that Staff and Services Provider shall (A) cooperate with the Management Company's supervisory efforts and (B) make periodic reports to the Management Company regarding the adherence of Shared Employees to Applicable Law, including but not limited to the 1940 Act, the Advisers Act and the United States Commodity Exchange Act of 1936, as amended, in performing the services hereunder.

(e) Where a Shared Employee provides services hereunder through both Parties, the Parties shall cooperate to ensure that all such services are performed consistently with Applicable Law and relevant compliance controls and procedures designed to prevent, among other things, breaches in information security or the communication of confidential, proprietary or material non-public information.

(f) The Staff and Services Provider shall ensure that each Shared Employee has any registrations, qualifications and/or licenses necessary to provide the services hereunder.

(g) The Parties will cooperate to ensure that information about the Shared Employees is adequately and appropriately disclosed to clients, investors (and potential investors), investment banks operating as initial purchaser or placement agent with respect to any CLO or Account, and regulators, as applicable. To facilitate such disclosure, the Staff and Services Provider agrees to provide, or cause to be provided, to the Management Company such information as is deemed by the Management Company to be necessary or appropriate with respect to the Staff and Services Provider and the Shared Employees (including, but not limited to, biographical information about each Shared Employee).

(h) The Parties shall cooperate to ensure that, when so required, each has adopted a Code of Ethics meeting the requirements of the Advisers Act ("Code of Ethics") that is consistent with applicable law and which is substantially similar to the other Party's Code of Ethics.

(i) The Staff and Services Provider shall make reasonably available for use by the Management Company, including through Shared Employees providing services pursuant to this Agreement, any relevant intellectual property and systems necessary for the provision of the services hereunder.

(j) The Staff and Services Provider shall require that each Shared Employee:

(i) certify that he or she is subject to, and has been provided with, a copy of each Party's Code of Ethics and will make such reports, and seek prior clearance for such actions and activities, as may be required under the Codes of Ethics;

(ii) be subject to the supervision and oversight of each Party's officers and directors, including without limitation its Chief Compliance Officer ("CCO"), which CCO may be the same Person, with respect to the services provided to that Party or its clients;

(iii) provide services hereunder and take actions hereunder only as approved by the Management Company;

(iv) provide any information requested by a Party, as necessary to comply with applicable disclosure or regulatory obligations;

(v) to the extent authorized to transact on behalf of the Management Company or a CLO or Account, take reasonable steps to ensure that any such transaction is consistent with any policies and procedures that may be established by the Parties and all Applicable Asset Criteria and Concentrations; and

(vi) act, at all times, in a manner consistent with the fiduciary duties and standard of care owed by the Management Company to its members and direct or indirect investors or to a CLO or Account as well as clients of Staff and Services Provider by seeking to ensure that, among other things, information about any investment advisory or trading activity applicable to a particular client or group of clients is not used to benefit the Shared Employee, any Party or any other client or group of clients in contravention of such fiduciary duties or standard of care.

(k) Unless specifically authorized to do so, or appointed as an officer or authorized person of the Management Company with such authority, no Shared Employee may contract on behalf or in the name of the Management Company, acting as principal.

Section 2.04 Applicable Asset Criteria and Concentrations. The Management Company will promptly inform the Staff and Services Provider in writing of any Applicable Asset Criteria and Concentrations to which it agrees from time to time and the Staff and Services Provider shall take such Applicable Asset Criteria and Concentrations into account when providing assistance and advice in accordance with Section 2.02 above and any other assistance or advice provided in accordance with this Agreement.

Section 2.05 Compliance with Management Company Policies and Procedures. The Management Company will from time to time provide the Staff and Services Provider and the Shared Employees with any policy and procedure documentation which it establishes internally and to which it is bound to adhere in conducting its business pursuant to regulation, contract or otherwise. Subject to any other limitations in this Agreement, the Staff and Services Provider will use reasonable efforts to ensure any services it and the Shared Employees provide pursuant to this Agreement complies with or takes account of such internal policies and procedures.

Section 2.06 Authority. The Staff and Services Provider's scope of assistance and advice hereunder is limited to the services specifically provided for in this Agreement. The Staff and Services Provider shall not assume or be deemed to assume any rights or obligations of the Management Company under any other document or agreement to which the Management Company is a party. Notwithstanding any other express or implied provision to the contrary in this Agreement, the activities of the Staff and Services Provider pursuant to this Agreement shall be subject to the overall policies of the Management Company, as notified to the Staff and Services Provider from time to time. The Staff and Services Provider shall not have any duties or obligations to the Management Company unless those duties and obligations are specifically provided for in this Agreement (or in any amendment, modification or novation hereto or hereof to which the Staff and Services Provider is a party).

Section 2.07 Third Parties.

(a) The Staff and Services Provider may employ third parties, including its affiliates, to render advice, provide assistance and to perform any of its duties under this Agreement; provided that notwithstanding the employment of third parties for any such purpose, the Staff and Services Provider shall not be relieved of any of its obligations or liabilities under this Agreement.

(b) In providing services hereunder, the Staff and Services Provider may rely in good faith upon and will incur no liability for relying upon advice of nationally recognized counsel (which may be counsel for the Management Company, a CLO or Account or any Affiliate of the foregoing), accountants or other advisers as the Staff and Services Provider determines, in its sole discretion, is reasonably appropriate in connection with the services provided by the Staff and Services Provider under this Agreement.

Section 2.08 Management Company to Cooperate with the Staff and Services Provider. In furtherance of the Staff and Services Provider's obligations under this Agreement the Management Company shall cooperate with, provide to, and fully inform the Staff and Services Provider of, any and all documents and information the Staff and Services Provider reasonably requires to perform its obligations under this Agreement.

Section 2.09 Power of Attorney. If the Management Company considers it necessary for the provision by the Staff and Services Provider of the assistance and advice under this Agreement (after consultation with the Staff and Services Provider), it may appoint the Staff and Services Provider as its true and lawful agent and attorney, with full power and authority in its name to sign, execute, certify, swear to, acknowledge, deliver, file, receive and record any and all documents that the Staff and Services Provider reasonably deems appropriate or necessary in connection with the execution and settlement of acquisitions of assets as directed by the Management Company and the Staff and Services Provider's powers and duties hereunder (which for the avoidance of doubt shall in no way involve the discretion and/or authority of the Management Company with respect to investments). Any such power shall be revocable in the sole discretion of the Management Company.

Section 2.10 Transferred Receivables. Highland hereby irrevocably transfers, assigns and conveys to the Management Company, and the Management Company hereby accepts and assumes from Highland, all right, title and interest in, to and under the Transferred Receivables.

ARTICLE III

CONSIDERATION AND EXPENSES

Section 3.01 Consideration. As compensation for its performance of its obligations as Staff and Services Provider under this Agreement and the transfer of the Transferred Receivables, the Staff and Services Provider will be entitled to receive the Staff and Services Fee payable thereto. The "Staff and Services Fee" shall be payable in accordance with Appendix A attached hereto, as such appendix may be amended by the Parties from time to time.

From time to time, the Management Company may enter into shared services agreements with certain management companies on similar terms to this Agreement. Promptly following the receipt of any fees pursuant to such shared services agreements, the Management Company shall pay 100% of such fees to the Staff and Services Provider.

Section 3.03 Costs and Expenses. Each party shall bear its own expenses; provided that the Management Company shall reimburse the Staff and Services Provider for any and all costs and expenses that may be borne properly by the Management Company.

Section 3.04 Deferral. Notwithstanding anything to the contrary contained herein, if on any date the Management Company determines that it would not have sufficient funds available to it to make a payment of Indebtedness, it shall have the right to defer any all and amounts payable to the Staff and Services Provider pursuant to this Agreement, including any fees and expenses; provided that the Management Company shall promptly pay all such amounts on the first date thereafter that sufficient amounts exist to make payment thereof.

ARTICLE IV

REPRESENTATIONS AND COVENANTS

Section 4.01 Representations. Each of the Parties hereto represents and warrants that:

(a) It has full power and authority to execute and deliver, and to perform its obligations under, this Agreement;

(b) this Agreement has been duly authorized, executed and delivered by it and constitutes its valid and binding, obligation, enforceable in accordance with its terms except as the enforceability hereof may be subject to (i) bankruptcy, insolvency, reorganization moratorium, receivership, conservatorship or other similar laws now or hereafter in effect relating to creditors' rights and (ii) general principles of equity (regardless of whether such enforcement is considered in a proceeding, in equity or at law);

(c) no consent, approval, authorization or order of or declaration or filing with any Governmental Authority is required for the execution of this Agreement or the performance by it of its duties hereunder, except such as have been duly made or obtained; and

(d) neither the execution and delivery of this Agreement nor the fulfillment of the terms hereof conflicts with or results in a breach or violation of any of the terms or provisions of, or constitutes a default under, (i) its constituting and organizational documents; or (ii) the terms of any material indenture, contract, lease, mortgage, deed of trust, note, agreement or other evidence of indebtedness or other material agreement, obligation, condition, covenant or instrument to which it is a party or by which it is bound.

ARTICLE V

COVENANTS

Section 5.01 Compliance; Advisory Restrictions.

(a) The Staff and Services Provider shall reasonably cooperate with the Management Company in connection with the Management Company's compliance with its policies and procedures relating to oversight of the Staff and Services Provider. Specifically, the Staff and Services Provider agrees that it will provide the Management Company with reasonable access to information relating to the performance of Staff and Services Provider's obligations under this Agreement.

(b) This Agreement is not intended to and shall not constitute an assignment, pledge or transfer of any portfolio management agreement or any part thereof. It is the express intention of the parties hereto that this Agreement and all services performed hereunder comply in all respects with all (a) applicable contractual provisions and restrictions contained in each portfolio management agreement, investment management agreement or similar agreement and each document contemplated thereby; and (b) Applicable Laws (collectively, the "Advisory Restrictions"). If any provision of this Agreement is determined to be in violation of any Advisory Restriction, then the services to be provided under this Agreement shall automatically be limited without action by any person or entity, reduced or modified to the extent necessary and appropriate to be enforceable to the maximum extent permitted by such Advisory Restriction.

Section 5.02 Records; Confidentiality.

The Staff and Services Provider shall maintain or cause to be maintained appropriate books of account and records relating to its services performed hereunder, and such books of account and records shall be accessible for inspection by representatives of the Management Company and its accountants and other agents at any time during normal business hours and upon not less than three (3) Business Days' prior notice; provided that the Staff and Services Provider shall not be obligated to provide access to any non-public information if it in good faith determines that the disclosure of such information would violate any applicable law, regulation or contractual arrangement.

The Staff and Services Provider shall follow its customary procedures to keep confidential any and all information obtained in connection with the services rendered hereunder that is either (a) of a type that would ordinarily be considered proprietary or confidential, such as information concerning the composition of assets, rates of return, credit quality, structure or ownership of securities, or (b) designated as confidential obtained in connection with the services rendered by the Staff and Services Provider hereunder and shall not disclose any such information to non-affiliated third parties, except (i) with the prior written consent of the Management Company, (ii) such information as a rating agency shall reasonably request in connection with its rating of notes issued by a CLO or supplying credit estimates on any obligation included in the Portfolio, (iii) in connection with establishing trading or investment accounts or otherwise in connection with effecting transactions on behalf of the Management Company or any CLO or Account for which the Management Company serves as portfolio manager or investment manager or in a similar capacity, (iv) as required by (A) Applicable Law or (B) the rules or regulations of any self-regulating organization, body or official having jurisdiction over the Staff and Services Provider or any of its Affiliates, (v) to its professional advisors (including, without limitation, legal, tax and accounting advisors), (vi) such information as shall have been publicly disclosed other than in known violation of this Agreement or shall have been obtained by the Staff and Services Provider on a non-confidential basis, (vii) such information as is necessary or appropriate to disclose so that the Staff and Services Provider may perform its duties hereunder, (viii) as expressly permitted in the final offering memorandum or any definitive transaction documents relating to any CLO or Account, (ix) information relating to performance of the Portfolio as may be used by the Staff and Services Provider in the ordinary course of its business or (xx) such information as is routinely disclosed to the trustee, custodian or collateral administrator of any CLO or Account in connection with such trustee's, custodian's or collateral administrator's performance of its obligations under the transaction documents related to such CLO or Account. Notwithstanding the foregoing, it is agreed that the Staff and Services Provider may disclose without the consent of any Person (1) that it is serving as staff and services provider to the Management Company, (2) the nature, aggregate principal amount and overall performance of the Portfolio, (3) the amount of earnings on the Portfolio, (4) such other information about the Management Company, the Portfolio and the CLOs or Accounts as is customarily disclosed by staff and services providers to management vehicles similar to the Management Company, and (5) the United States federal income tax treatment and United States federal income tax structure of the transactions contemplated by this Agreement and the related documents and all materials of any kind (including opinions and other tax analyses) that are provided to them relating to such United States federal income tax treatment and United States income tax structure. This authorization to disclose the U.S. tax treatment and tax structure does not permit disclosure of information identifying the Staff and Services Provider, the Management Vehicles, the CLOs or Accounts or any other party to the transactions contemplated by this Agreement (except to the extent such information is relevant to U.S. tax structure or tax treatment of such transactions).

ARTICLE VI

EXCULPATION AND INDEMNIFICATION

Section 6.01 Standard of Care. Except as otherwise expressly provided herein, each Covered Person shall discharge its duties under this Agreement with the care, skill, prudence and diligence under the circumstances then prevailing that a prudent person acting in a like capacity and familiar with such matters would use in the conduct of an enterprise of a like character and with like aims. To the extent not inconsistent with the foregoing, each Covered Person shall follow its customary standards, policies and procedures in performing its duties hereunder. No Covered Person shall deal with the income or assets of the Management Company in such Covered Person's own interest or for its own account. Each Covered Person in its respective sole and absolute discretion may separately engage or invest in any other business ventures, including those that may be in competition with the Management Company, and the Management Company will not have any rights in or to such ventures or the income or profits derived therefrom

Section 6.02 Exculpation. To the fullest extent permitted by law, no Covered Person will be liable to the Management Company, any Member, or any shareholder, partner or member thereof, for (i) any acts or omissions by such Covered Person arising out of or in connection with the conduct of the business of the Management Company or its General Partner, or any investment made or held by the Management Company or its General Partner, unless such act or omission was made in bad faith or is determined ultimately by a court of competent jurisdiction, in a final nonappealable judgment, to be the result of gross negligence or to constitute fraud or willful misconduct (as interpreted under the laws of the State of Delaware) (each, a "Disabling Conduct") on the part of such Covered Person, (ii) any act or omission of any Investor, (iii) any mistake, gross negligence, misconduct or bad faith of any employee, broker, administrator or other agent or representative of such Covered Person, provided that such employee, broker, administrator or agent was selected, engaged or retained by or on behalf of such Covered Person with reasonable care, or (iv) any consequential (including loss of profit), indirect, special or punitive damages. To the extent that, at law or in equity, any Covered Person has duties (including fiduciary duties) and liabilities relating thereto to the Management Company or any Member, no Covered Person acting under this Agreement shall be liable to the Management Company or to any such Member for its good-faith reliance on the provisions of this Agreement.

To the fullest extent permitted by law, no Covered Person shall have any personal liability to the Management Company or any Member solely by reason of any change in U.S. federal, state or local or foreign income tax laws, or in interpretations thereof, as they apply to the Management Company or the Members, whether the change occurs through legislative, judicial or administrative action.

Any Covered Person in its sole and absolute discretion may consult legal counsel, accountants or other advisers selected by it, and any act or omission taken, or made in good faith by such Person on behalf of the Management Company or in furtherance of the business of the Management Company in good-faith reliance on and in accordance with the advice of such counsel, accountants or other advisers shall be full justification for the act or omission, and to the fullest extent permitted by applicable law, no Covered Person shall be liable to the Management Company or any Member in so acting or omitting to act if such counsel, accountants or other advisers were selected, engaged or retained with reasonable care.

Section 6.03 Indemnification by the Management Company. The Management Company shall and hereby does, to the fullest extent permitted by applicable law, indemnify and hold harmless any Covered Person from and against any and all claims, demands, liabilities, costs, expenses, damages, losses, suits, proceedings, judgments, assessments, actions and other liabilities, whether judicial, administrative, investigative or otherwise, of whatever nature, known or unknown, liquidated or unliquidated ("Claims"), that may accrue to or be incurred by any Covered Person, or in which any Covered Person may become involved, as a party or otherwise, or with which any Covered Person may be threatened, relating to or arising out of the investment or other activities of the Management Company or its General Partner, or activities undertaken in connection with the Management Company or its General Partner, or otherwise relating to or arising out of this Agreement, including amounts paid in satisfaction of judgments, in compromise or as fines or penalties, and attorneys' fees and expenses incurred in connection with the preparation for or defense or disposition of any investigation, action, suit, arbitration or other proceeding (a "Proceeding"), whether civil or criminal (all of such Claims, amounts and expenses referred to therein are referred to collectively as "Damages"), except to the extent that it shall have been determined ultimately by a court of competent jurisdiction, in a final nonappealable judgment, that such Damages arose primarily from Disabling Conduct of such Covered Person.

The termination of any Proceeding by settlement, judgment, order, conviction or upon a plea of nolo contendere or its equivalent shall not, of itself, create a presumption that any Damages relating to such settlement, judgment, order, conviction or plea of nolo contendere or its equivalent or otherwise relating to such Proceeding arose primarily from Disabling Conduct of any Covered Persons.

Expenses (including attorneys' fees) incurred by a Covered Person in defense or settlement of any Claim that may be subject to a right of indemnification hereunder may be advanced by the Management Company prior to the final disposition thereof upon receipt of a written undertaking by or on behalf of the Covered Person to repay the amount advanced to the extent that it shall be determined ultimately by a court of competent jurisdiction that the Covered Person is not entitled to be indemnified hereunder. The right of any Covered Persons to the indemnification provided herein shall be cumulative of, and in addition to, any and all rights to which the Covered Person may otherwise be entitled by contract or as a matter of law or equity and shall be extended to the Covered Person's successors, assigns and legal representatives. Any judgments against the Management Company and/or any Covered Persons in respect of which such Covered Person is entitled to indemnification shall first be satisfied from the assets of the Management Company, including Drawdowns, before such Covered Person is responsible therefor.

Notwithstanding any provision of this Agreement to the contrary, the provisions of this Section 6.03 shall not be construed so as to provide for the indemnification of any Covered Person for any liability (including liability under Federal securities laws which, under certain circumstances, impose liability even on persons that act in good faith), to the extent (but only to the extent) that such indemnification would be in violation of applicable law, but shall be construed so as to effectuate the provisions of this Section 6.03 to the fullest extent permitted by law.

Section 6.04 Other Sources of Recovery etc. The indemnification rights set forth in Section 6.03 are in addition to, and shall not exclude, limit or otherwise adversely affect, any other indemnification or similar rights to which any Covered Person may be entitled. If and to the extent that other sources of recovery (including proceeds of any applicable policies of insurance or indemnification from any Person in which any of the CLOs or Accounts has an investment) are available to any Covered Person, such Covered Person shall use reasonable efforts to obtain recovery from such other sources before the Company shall be required to make any payment in respect of its indemnification obligations hereunder; provided that, if such other recovery is not available without delay, the Covered Person shall be entitled to such payment by the Management Company and the Management Company shall be entitled to reimbursement out of such other recovery when and if obtained.

Section 6.05 Rights of Heirs, Successors and Assigns. The indemnification rights provided by Section 6.03 shall inure to the benefit of the heirs, executors, administrators, successors and assigns of each Covered Person.

Section 6.06 Reliance. A Covered Person shall incur no liability to the Management Company or any Member in acting upon any signature or writing reasonably believed by him, her or it to be genuine, and may rely in good faith on a certificate signed by an officer of any Person in order to ascertain any fact with respect to such Person or within such Person's knowledge. Each Covered Person may act directly or through his, her or its agents or attorneys.

ARTICLE VII

TERMINATION

Section 7.01 Termination. Either Party may terminate this Agreement at any time upon at least thirty (30) days' written notice to the other.

ARTICLE VIII

MISCELLANEOUS

Section 8.01 Amendments. This Agreement may not be amended or modified except by an instrument in writing signed by each Party.

Section 8.02 Assignment and Delegation.

(a) Neither Party may assign, pledge, grant or otherwise encumber or transfer all or any part of its rights or responsibilities under this Agreement, in whole or in part, except (i) as provided in clauses (b) and (c) of this Section 8.02, without the prior written consent of the other Party and (ii) in accordance with Applicable Law.

(b) Except as otherwise provided in this Section 8.02, the Staff and Services Provider may not assign its rights or responsibilities under this Agreement unless (i) the Management Company consents in writing thereto and (ii) such assignment is made in accordance with Applicable Law.

(c) The Staff and Services Provider may, without satisfying any of the conditions of Section 8.02(a) other than clause (ii) thereof, (1) assign any of its rights or obligations under this Agreement to an Affiliate; provided that such Affiliate (i) has demonstrated ability, whether as an entity or by its principals and employees, to professionally and competently perform duties similar to those imposed upon the Staff and Services Provider pursuant to this Agreement and (ii) has the legal right and capacity to act as Staff and Services Provider under this Agreement, or (2) enter into (or have its parent enter into) any consolidation or amalgamation with, or merger with or into, or transfer of all or substantially all of its assets to, another entity; provided that, at the time of such consolidation, merger, amalgamation or transfer the resulting, surviving or transferee entity assumes all the obligations of the Staff and Services Provider under this Agreement generally (whether by operation of law or by contract) and the other entity is a continuation of the Staff and Services Provider in another corporate or similar form and has substantially the same staff; provided further that the Staff and Services Provider shall deliver ten (10) Business Days' prior notice to the Management Company of any assignment or combination made pursuant to this sentence. Upon the execution and delivery of any such assignment by the assignee, the Staff and Services Provider will be released from further obligations pursuant to this Agreement except to the extent expressly provided herein.

Section 8.03 Non-Recourse; Non-Petition.

(a) The Staff and Services Provider agrees that the payment of all amounts to which it is entitled pursuant to this Agreement shall be payable by the Management Company only to the extent of assets held in the Portfolio.

(b) Notwithstanding anything to the contrary contained herein, the liability of the Management Company to the Staff and Services Provider hereunder is limited in recourse to the Portfolio, and if the proceeds of the Portfolio following the liquidation thereof are insufficient to meet the obligations of the Management Company hereunder in full, the Management Company shall have no further liability in respect of any such outstanding obligations, and such obligations and all claims of the Staff and Services Provider or any other Person against the Management Company hereunder shall thereupon extinguish and not thereafter revive. The Staff and Services Provider accepts that the obligations of the Management Company hereunder are the corporate obligations of the Management Company and are not the obligations of any employee, member, officer, director or administrator of the Management Company and no action may be taken against any such Person in relation to the obligations of the Management Company hereunder.

(c) Notwithstanding anything to the contrary contained herein, any Staff and Services Provider agrees not to institute against, or join any other Person in instituting against, the Management Company any bankruptcy, reorganization, arrangement, insolvency, moratorium or liquidation proceedings, or other proceedings under United States federal or state bankruptcy laws, or similar laws until at least one year and one day (or, if longer, the then applicable preference period plus one day) after the payment in full all amounts payable in respect of any Indebtedness incurred to finance any portion of the Portfolio; provided that nothing in this provision shall preclude, or be deemed to stop, the Staff and Services Provider from taking any action prior to the expiration of the aforementioned one year and one day period (or, if longer, the applicable preference period then in effect plus one day) in (i) any case or proceeding voluntarily filed or commenced by the Management Company, or (ii) any involuntary insolvency proceeding filed or commenced against the Management Company by a Person other than the Staff and Services Provider.

(d) The Management Company hereby acknowledges and agrees that the Staff and Services Provider's obligations hereunder shall be solely the corporate obligations of the Staff and Services Provider, and are not the obligations of any employee, member, officer, director or administrator of the Staff and Services Provider and no action may be taken against any such Person in relation to the obligations of the Staff and Services Provider hereunder.

(e) The provisions of this Section 8.03 shall survive termination of this Agreement for any reason whatsoever.

Section 8.04 Governing Law.

(a) This Agreement shall be governed by, and construed in accordance with, the laws of the State of Texas. The Parties unconditionally and irrevocably consent to the exclusive jurisdiction of the courts located in the State of Texas and waive any objection with respect thereto, for the purpose of any action, suit or proceeding arising out of or relating to this Agreement or the transactions contemplated hereby.

(b) The Parties irrevocably agree for the benefit of each other that the courts of the State of Texas and the United States District Court located in the Northern District of Texas in Dallas are to have exclusive jurisdiction to settle any disputes (whether contractual or non-contractual) which may arise out of or in connection with this Agreement and that accordingly any action arising out of or in connection therewith (together referred to as "Proceedings") may be brought in such courts. The Parties irrevocably submit to the jurisdiction of such courts and waive any objection which they may have now or hereafter to the laying of the venue of any Proceedings in any such court and any claim that any Proceedings have been brought in an inconvenient forum and further irrevocably agree that a judgment in any Proceedings brought in such courts shall be conclusive and binding upon the Parties and may be enforced in the courts of any other jurisdiction.

Section 8.05 WAIVER OF JURY TRIAL. EACH OF THE PARTIES HERETO HEREBY KNOWINGLY, VOLUNTARILY AND INTENTIONALLY WAIVES ANY RIGHTS IT MAY HAVE TO A TRIAL BY JURY IN RESPECT OF ANY LITIGATION BASED HEREON, OR ARISING OUT OF, UNDER, OR IN CONNECTION WITH, THIS AGREEMENT. EACH PARTY HERETO ACKNOWLEDGES AND AGREES THAT IT HAS RECEIVED FULL AND SUFFICIENT CONSIDERATION FOR THIS PROVISION AND THAT THIS PROVISION IS A MATERIAL INDUCEMENT FOR ITS ENTERING INTO THIS AGREEMENT.

Section 8.06 Severability. The provisions of this Agreement are independent of and severable from each other, and no provision shall be affected or rendered invalid or unenforceable by virtue of the fact that for any reason any other or others of them may be invalid or unenforceable in whole or in part. Upon such determination that any term or other provision is invalid, illegal or incapable of being enforced, the Parties shall negotiate in good faith to modify this Agreement so as to effect the original intent of the Parties.

Section 8.07 No Waiver. The performance of any condition or obligation imposed upon any Party may be waived only upon the written consent of the Parties. Such waiver shall be limited to the terms thereof and shall not constitute a waiver of any other condition or obligation of the other Party. Any failure by any Party to enforce any provision shall not constitute a waiver of that or any other provision or this Agreement.

Section 8.08 Counterparts. This Agreement may be executed in any number of counterparts by facsimile or other written or electronic form of communication, each of which shall be deemed to be an original as against any Party whose signature appears thereon, and all of which shall together constitute one and the same instrument. This Agreement shall become binding when one or more counterparts hereof, individually or taken together, shall bear the signatures of all of the Parties reflected hereon as the signatories.

Section 8.09 Third Party Beneficiaries. This Agreement is for the sole benefit of the Parties hereto and their permitted assigns and nothing herein express or implied shall give or be construed to give to any Person, other than the Parties hereto and such permitted assigns, any legal or equitable rights hereunder. For avoidance of doubt, this Agreement is not for the benefit or and is not enforceable by any Shared Employee, CLO or Account or any investor (directly or indirectly) in the Management Company.

Section 8.10 No Partnership or Joint Venture. Nothing set forth in this Agreement shall constitute, or be construed to create, an employment relationship, a partnership or a joint venture between the Parties. Except as expressly provided herein or in any other written agreement between the Parties, no Party has any authority, express or implied, to bind or to incur liabilities on behalf of, or in the name of, any other Party.

Section 8.11 Independent Contractor. Notwithstanding anything to the contrary, the Staff and Services Provider shall be deemed to be an independent contractor and, except as expressly provided or authorized herein, shall have no authority to act for or represent the Management Company or any CLO or Account in which the Management Company acts as portfolio manager or investment manager or in a similar capacity in any manner or otherwise be deemed an agent of the Management Company or any CLO or Account in which the Management Company acts as portfolio manager or investment manager or in a similar capacity.

Section 8.12 Written Disclosure Statement. The Management Company acknowledges receipt of Part 2 of the Staff and Services Provider's Form ADV, as required by Rule 204-3 under the Advisers Act, on or before the date of execution of this Agreement.

Section 8.13 Headings. The descriptive headings contained in this Agreement are for convenience of reference only and shall not affect in any way the meaning or interpretation of this Agreement.

Section 8.14 Entire Agreement. This Agreement constitutes the entire agreement of the Parties with respect to the subject matter hereof and supersedes all prior agreements and undertakings, both written and oral, between the Parties with respect to such subject matter.

Section 8.15 Notices. Any notice or demand to any Party to be given, made or served for any purposes under this Agreement shall be given, made or served by sending the same by overnight mail or email transmission or by delivering it by hand as follows:

Appendix A

The Management Company shall pay to the Staff and Services Provider a Staff and Services Fee for the services for the CLOs or Accounts in an amount equal to the aggregate management fees that would be received by the Management Company for such CLOs or Accounts if such management fees were calculated in exact conformity with the calculation of management fees for such CLOs or Accounts, except that the management fee rates applied in such calculation were replaced by the fee rate set forth in the following table. Such fees shall be payable promptly (or at such time as is otherwise agreed by the parties) following the Management Company's receipt of management fees for such CLOs or Accounts, it being understood that none of the foregoing shall prohibit the Management Company from waiving or entering into side letters with respect to management fees for such CLOs or Accounts; provided that any such waived or reduced amounts shall not be recognized for purposes of calculating the fees payable by the Management Company hereunder. Notwithstanding the foregoing, the parties may agree to a different allocation from that set forth during any period in order to reflect the then current fair market value of the Services rendered.

EXHIBIT 86

SUB-ADVISORY AGREEMENT

by and between

HIGHLAND CLO HOLDINGS, LTD.

and

HIGHLAND CAPITAL MANAGEMENT, L.P.

Dated December 19, 2017

SUB-ADVISORY AGREEMENT

This Sub-Advisory Agreement (as amended, modified, waived, supplemented or restated from time to time in accordance with the terms hereof, this "Agreement"), dated as of December 19, 2017, is entered into by and between Highland CLO Holdings, Ltd., a Cayman Islands exempted company, as the management company hereunder (in such capacity, the "Management Company"), and Highland Capital Management, L.P., a Delaware limited partnership ("Highland"), as the sub-advisor hereunder (in such capacity, the "Sub-Advisor" and together with the Management Company, the "Parties").

R E C I T A L S

WHEREAS, the Management Company from time to time may enter into portfolio management agreements, investment management agreements and/or similar agreements (each such agreement as amended, modified, waived, supplemented or restated, subject in each case to the requirements of Section 8, a "Management Agreement") and related indentures, credit agreements, collateral administration agreements, service agreements or other agreements (each such agreement as amended, modified, waived, supplemented or restated, subject in each case to the requirements of Section 8, a "Related Agreement"), in each case as set forth on Appendix A hereto, as amended from time to time, pursuant to which the Management Company has agreed to provide portfolio and/or investment management services to certain funds and accounts and to certain collateralized loan obligation issuers and to borrowers in certain short-term or long-term warehouse or repurchase facilities in connection therewith (any such transaction, a "Transaction", any fund, account, issuer, warehouse borrower or repurchase agreement seller in respect of any such Transaction, an "Account", and the assets collateralizing each such Transaction and/or comprising the portfolio of such Account, a "Portfolio");

WHEREAS, the Management Company and the Sub-Advisor desire to enter into this Agreement in order to permit the Sub-Advisor to provide certain limited services to assist the Management Company in performing certain obligations under the Management Agreements Related Agreements;

WHEREAS, reference is hereby made to that certain Third Amended and Restated Sub-Advisory Agreement, dated March 17, 2017, by and between Acis Capital Management, L.P., a Delaware limited partnership ("Acis"), and Highland (as amended, modified, waived, supplemented or restated from time to time, the "Existing Sub-Advisory Agreement");

WHEREAS, as of November 30, 2017, Acis owes $2,625,069 to Highland pursuant to the Existing Sub-Advisory Agreement (the "Outstanding Receivables"); and

WHEREAS, Highland desires to transfer and assign to the Management Company, and the Management Company desires to accept and assume from Highland, $1,930,233 of the Outstanding Receivables (the "Transferred Receivables").

NOW, THEREFORE, in consideration of the foregoing recitals, and the receipt of good and valuable consideration, the receipt and sufficiency of which is hereby acknowledged, the Parties, intending to be legally bound, hereby agree that the Existing Agreement is hereby amended, restated and replaced in its entirety as follows.

1. Appointment; Limited Scope of Services; Transferred Receivables.

(a) Highland is hereby appointed as Sub-Advisor to the Management Company for the purpose of assisting the Management Company in managing the Portfolios of each Account pursuant to the related Management Agreement and Related Agreements, in each case that have been included in the scope of this Agreement pursuant to the provisions of Section 8, subject to the terms set forth herein and subject to the supervision of the Management Company, and Highland hereby accepts such appointment.

(b) Without limiting the generality of the foregoing, the Sub-Advisor shall, during the term and subject to the provisions of this Agreement:

(i) make recommendations to the Management Company in its capacity as portfolio manager, investment manager or any similar capacity for any applicable Account as to the general composition and allocation of the Portfolio with respect to such Account among various types of securities, the nature and timing of the changes therein and the manner of implementing such changes, including recommendations as to the specific loans and other assets to be purchased, retained or sold by any such Account;

(ii) place orders with respect to, and arrange for, any investment by or on behalf of such Account (including executing and delivering all documents relating to such Account's investments on behalf of such Account or the Management Company, as applicable), upon receiving a proper instruction from the Management Company;

(iii) identify, evaluate, recommend to the Management Company, in its capacity as portfolio manager for such Account, and, if applicable, negotiate the structure and/or terms of investment opportunities within the specific investment strategy of the Management Company for such Account;

(iv) assist the Management Company in its capacity as portfolio manager for such Account in performing due diligence on prospective Portfolio investments by such Account;

(v) provide information to the Management Company in its capacity as portfolio manager for such Account regarding any investments to facilitate the monitoring and servicing of such investments and, if requested by the Management Company, provide information to assist in monitoring and servicing other investments by such Account

(vi) assist and advise the Management Company in its capacity as portfolio manager for such Account with respect to credit functions including, but not limited to, credit analysis and market research and analysis; and

(vii) assist the Management Company in performing any of its other obligations or duties as portfolio manager for such Account.

The foregoing responsibilities and obligations are collectively referred to herein as the "Services."

Notwithstanding the foregoing, all investment decisions will ultimately be the responsibility of, and will be made by and at the sole discretion of, the Management Company. Furthermore, the parties acknowledge and agree that the Sub-Advisor shall be required to provide only the services expressly described in this Section 1(b), and shall have no responsibility hereunder to provide any other services to the Management Company or any Transaction, including, but not limited to, administrative, management or similar services.

(c) The Sub-Advisor agrees during the term hereof to furnish the Services on the terms and conditions set forth herein and subject to the limitations contained herein. The Sub-Advisor agrees that, in performing the Services, it will comply with all applicable obligations of the Management Company set forth in the Management Agreements and the Related Agreements. In addition, with respect to any obligation that would be part of the Services but for the fact that the relevant Management Agreement or Related Agreement does not permit such obligation to be delegated by the Management Company to the Sub-Advisor, the Sub-Advisor, upon request in writing by the Management Company, shall work in good faith with the Management Company and shall use commercially reasonable efforts to assist the Management Company in satisfying all such obligations.

(d) Highland hereby irrevocably transfers, assigns and conveys to the Management Company, and the Management Company hereby accepts and assumes from Highland, all right, title and interest in, to and under the Transferred Receivables.

2. Compensation.

(a) As compensation for its performance of its obligations as Sub-Advisor under this Agreement in respect of any Transaction and the transfer of the Transferred Receivables, the Sub-Advisor will be entitled to receive the Sub-Advisory Fee payable thereto. The "Sub-Advisory Fee" shall be payable in accordance with Appendix A attached hereto, as such appendix may be amended by the Parties from time to time.

(b) Each party shall bear its own expenses; provided that the Management Company shall reimburse the Sub-Advisor for any and all costs and expenses that are properly Company Expenses or that may be borne by the Management Company under the Management Company LLC Agreement.

(c) Notwithstanding anything to the contrary contained herein, if on any date the Management Company determines that it would not have sufficient funds available to it to make a payment of Indebtedness, it shall have the right to defer any and all amounts payable to the Sub-Advisor pursuant to this Agreement, including any fees and expenses; provided that the Management Company shall promptly pay all such amounts on the first date thereafter that sufficient amounts exist to make payment thereof.

(d) From time to time, the Management Company may enter into sub-advisory agreements with certain management companies on similar terms to this Agreement. Promptly following the receipt of any fees pursuant to such sub-advisory agreements, the Management Company shall pay 100% of such fees to the Sub-Advisor.

3. Representations and Warranties.

(a) Each of the Management Company and the Sub-Advisor represents and warrants, as to itself only, that:

(i) it has full power and authority to execute and deliver, and to perform its obligations under, this Agreement;

(ii) this Agreement has been duly authorized, executed and delivered by it and constitutes its valid and binding, obligation, enforceable in accordance with its terms except as the enforceability hereof may be subject to (i) bankruptcy, insolvency, reorganization moratorium, receivership, conservatorship or other similar laws now or hereafter in effect relating to creditors' rights and (ii) general principles of equity (regardless of whether such enforcement is considered in a proceeding, in equity or at law);

(iii) no consent, approval, authorization or order of or declaration or filing with any government, governmental instrumentality or court or other person or entity is required for the execution of this Agreement or the performance by it of its duties hereunder, except such as have been duly made or obtained; and

(iv) neither the execution and delivery of this Agreement nor the fulfillment of the terms hereof conflicts with or results in a breach or violation of any of the terms or provisions of, or constitutes a default under, (A) its constituting and organizational documents; (B) the terms of any material indenture, contract, lease, mortgage, deed of trust, note, agreement or other evidence of indebtedness or other material agreement, obligation, condition, covenant or instrument to which it is a party or by which it is bound; (C) any statute applicable to it; or (D) any law, decree, order, rule or regulation applicable to it of any court or regulatory, administrative or governmental agency, body of authority or arbitration having or asserting jurisdiction over it or its properties, which, in the case of clauses (B) through (D) above, would have a material adverse effect upon the performance of its duties hereunder.

(b) The Sub-Advisor represents and warrants to the Management Company that it is a registered investment adviser under the Investment Advisers Act of 1940, as amended (the "Advisers Act").

(c) The Management Company acknowledges that it has received Part 2 of Highland Capital Management, L.P.'s Form ADV filed with the Securities and Exchange Commission. The Sub-Advisor will provide to the Management Company an updated copy of Part 2 of its Form ADV promptly upon any amendment to such Form ADV being filed with the Securities and Exchange Commission.

4. Standard of Care; Liability; Indemnification.

(a) Sub-Advisor Standard of Care. Subject to the terms and provisions of this Agreement, the Management Agreements and/or the Related Agreements, as applicable, the Sub-

Advisor will perform its obligations hereunder and under the Management Agreements and/or the Related Agreements in good faith with reasonable care using a degree of skill and attention no less than that which the Sub-Advisor uses with respect to comparable assets that it manages for others and, without limiting the foregoing, in a manner which the Sub-Advisor reasonably believes to be consistent with the practices and procedures followed by institutional managers of national standing relating to assets of the nature and character of the Portfolios, in each case except as expressly provided otherwise under this Agreement, the Management Agreements and/or the Related Agreements. To the extent not inconsistent with the foregoing, the Sub-Advisor will follow its customary standards, policies and procedures in performing its duties hereunder, under the Management Agreements and/or under the Related Agreements.

(b) Exculpation. To the fullest extent permitted by law, none of the Sub-Advisor, any of its affiliates, and any of their respective managers, members, principals, partners, directors, officers, shareholders, employees and agents (but shall not include the Management Company, its subsidiaries or member(s) and any managers, members, principals, partners, directors, officers, shareholders, employees and agents of the Management Company or its subsidiaries or member(s) (in their capacity as such)) (each a "Covered Person") will be liable to the Management Company, any Member, any shareholder, partner or member thereof, any Account (or any other adviser, agent or representative thereof), or to any holder of notes, securities or other indebtedness issued by any Account (collectively, the "Management Company Related Parties"), for (i) any acts or omissions by such Covered Person arising out of or in connection with the provision of the Services hereunder, for any losses that may be sustained in the purchase, holding or sale of any security or debt obligation by any Account, or as a result of any activities of the Sub-Advisor, the Management Company or any other adviser to or agent of the Account or any other sub-advisor appointed by the Management Company to provide portfolio management services to any other delegatee of the Management Company or any other person or entity, unless such act or omission was made in bad faith or is determined ultimately by a court of competent jurisdiction, in a final nonappealable judgment, to be the result of gross negligence or to constitute fraud or willful misconduct (as interpreted under the laws of the State of Delaware) (each, a "Disabling Conduct") on the part of such Covered Person, (ii) any mistake, gross negligence, misconduct or bad faith of any employee, broker, administrator or other agent or representative of the Sub-Advisor, provided that such employee, broker, administrator or agent was selected, engaged or retained by or on behalf of the Sub-Advisor with reasonable care, or (iii) any consequential (including loss of profit), indirect, special or punitive damages. To the extent that, at law or in equity, any Covered Person has duties (including fiduciary duties) and liabilities relating thereto to any Management Company Related Party, no Covered Person acting under this Agreement shall be liable to such Management Company Related Party for its good-faith reliance on the provisions of this Agreement.

To the fullest extent permitted by law, no Covered Person shall have any personal liability to any Management Company Related Party solely by reason of any change in U.S. federal, state or local or foreign income tax laws, or in interpretations thereof, as they apply to any such Management Company Related Party, whether the change occurs through legislative, judicial or administrative action.

Any Covered Person in its sole and absolute discretion may consult legal counsel, accountants or other advisers selected by it, and any act or omission taken, or made in good faith

by such Person on behalf of the Management Company or in furtherance of the business of the Management Company in good-faith reliance on and in accordance with the advice of such counsel, accountants or other advisers shall be full justification for the act or omission, and to the fullest extent permitted by applicable law, no Covered Person shall be liable to any Management Company Related Party in so acting or omitting to act if such counsel, accountants or other advisers were selected, engaged or retained with reasonable care

(c) Indemnification. The Management Company shall and hereby does, to the fullest extent permitted by applicable law, indemnify and hold harmless any Covered Person from and against any and all claims, demands, liabilities, costs, expenses, damages, losses, suits, proceedings, judgments, assessments, actions and other liabilities, whether judicial, administrative, investigative or otherwise, of whatever nature, known or unknown, liquidated or unliquidated ("Claims"), that may accrue to or be incurred by any Covered Person, or in which any Covered Person may become involved, as a party or otherwise, or with which any Covered Person may be threatened, relating to or arising out of the Services, the activities of the Management Company Related Parties, or activities undertaken in connection with the Management Company Related Parties, or otherwise relating to or arising out of this Agreement, any Management Agreement and/or the Related Documents, including amounts paid in satisfaction of judgments, in compromise or as fines or penalties, and attorneys' fees and expenses incurred in connection with the preparation for or defense or disposition of any investigation, action, suit, arbitration or other proceeding (a "Proceeding"), whether civil or criminal (all of such Claims, amounts and expenses referred to therein are referred to collectively as "Damages"), except to the extent that it shall have been determined ultimately by a court of competent jurisdiction, in a final nonappealable judgment, that such Damages arose primarily from Disabling Conduct of such Covered Person. The termination of any Proceeding by settlement, judgment, order, conviction or upon a plea of nolo contendere or its equivalent shall not, of itself, create a presumption that any Damages relating to such settlement, judgment, order, conviction or plea of nolo contendere or its equivalent or otherwise relating to such Proceeding arose primarily from Disabling Conduct of any Covered Persons.

Expenses (including attorneys' fees) incurred by a Covered Person in defense or settlement of any Claim that may be subject to a right of indemnification hereunder may be advanced by the Management Company prior to the final disposition thereof upon receipt of a written undertaking by or on behalf of the Covered Person to repay the amount advanced to the extent that it shall be determined ultimately by a court of competent jurisdiction that the Covered Person is not entitled to be indemnified hereunder. The right of any Covered Persons to the indemnification provided herein shall be cumulative of, and in addition to, any and all rights to which the Covered Person may otherwise be entitled by contract or as a matter of law or equity and shall be extended to the Covered Person's successors, assigns and legal representatives. Any judgments against the Management Company and/or any Covered Persons in respect of which such Covered Person is entitled to indemnification shall first be satisfied from the assets of the Management Company, including Drawdowns, before such Covered Person is responsible therefor.

Notwithstanding any provision of this Agreement to the contrary, the provisions of this Section 4(c) shall not be construed so as to provide for the indemnification of any Covered Person for any liability (including liability under Federal securities laws which, under certain circumstances, impose liability even on persons that act in good faith), to the extent (but only to the extent) that such indemnification would be in violation of applicable law, but shall be construed so as to effectuate the provisions of this Section 4(c) to the fullest extent permitted by law

(d) Other Sources of Recovery etc. The indemnification rights set forth in Section 4(c) are in addition to, and shall not exclude, limit or otherwise adversely affect, any other indemnification or similar rights to which any Covered Person may be entitled. If and to the extent that other sources of recovery (including proceeds of any applicable policies of insurance or indemnification from any Person in which any of the Transactions has an investment) are available to any Covered Person, such Covered Person shall use reasonable efforts to obtain recovery from such other sources before the Company shall be required to make any payment in respect of its indemnification obligations hereunder; provided that, if such other recovery is not available without delay, the Covered Person shall be entitled to such payment by the Management Company and the Management Company shall be entitled to reimbursement out of such other recovery when and if obtained

(e) Rights of Heirs, Successors and Assigns. The indemnification rights provided by Section 4(c) shall inure to the benefit of the heirs, executors, administrators, successors and assigns of each Covered Person

(f) Reliance. A Covered Person shall incur no liability to any Management Company Related Party in acting upon any signature or writing reasonably believed by him, her or it to be genuine, and may rely in good faith on a certificate signed by an officer of any Person in order to ascertain any fact with respect to such Person or within such Person's knowledge. Each Covered Person may act directly or through his, her or its agents or attorneys.

(g) Rights Under Management Agreements and Related Agreements. The Management Company will ensure that the Sub-Advisor is provided substantially similar indemnification and exculpation rights as are afforded to the Management Company in its role as portfolio manager under any future Management Agreement or Related Agreement encompassed within the Services hereunder, and it is expressly acknowledged by the Parties that the Sub-Advisor may not consent to including a Management Agreement and the related Transaction and Related Agreements within the scope of this Agreement pursuant to Section 8 if such indemnification and exculpation rights are not reasonably acceptable to it.

5. Limitations on Employment of the Sub-Advisor; Conflicts of Interest.

(a) The services of the Sub-Advisor to the Management Company are not exclusive, and the Sub-Advisor may engage in any other business or render similar or different services to others including, without limitation, the direct or indirect sponsorship or management of other Transactions, investment-based accounts or commingled pools of capital, however structured, having investment objectives similar to those of the Management Company or the Accounts. Moreover, nothing in this Agreement shall limit or restrict the right of any manager, partner, officer or employee of the Sub-Advisor to engage in any other business or to devote his or her time and attention in part to any other business, whether of a similar or dissimilar nature to the Management Company or any Account, or to receive any fees or compensation in connection therewith.

(b) So long as this Agreement or any extension, renewal or amendment of this Agreement remains in effect, the Sub-Advisor shall be the only portfolio management sub-advisor for the Management Company. The Sub-Advisor assumes no responsibility under this Agreement other than to render the services called for hereunder. It is understood that directors, officers, employees, members and managers of the Management Company are or may become interested in the Sub-Advisor and its Affiliates as directors, officers, employees, partners, stockholders, members, managers or otherwise, and that the Sub-Advisor and directors, officers, employees, partners, stockholders, members and managers of the Sub-Advisor and its Affiliates are or may become similarly interested in the Management Company as members or otherwise.

(c) The Management Company acknowledges that various potential and actual conflicts of interest may exist with respect to the Sub-Advisor as described in the Sub-Advisor's Form ADV Part 2A and as described in Appendix B hereto, and the Management Company expressly acknowledges and agrees to the provisions contained in such Appendix B, as amended from time to time with mutual consent of the Parties.

6. Termination; Survival.

(a) This Agreement may be terminated, in its entirety or with respect to any Management Agreement, at any time without payment of penalty, by the Management Company upon 30 days' prior written notice to the Sub-Advisor.

(b) This Agreement shall terminate automatically with respect to any Management Agreement on the date on which (i) such Management Agreement has been terminated (and, if required thereunder, a successor portfolio manager has been appointed and accepted) or discharged; or (ii) the Management Company is no longer acting as portfolio manager, investment manager or in a similar capacity (whether due to removal, resignation or assignment) under such Management Agreement and the Related Agreements. Upon the termination of this Agreement with respect to any Management Agreement the Management Company shall provide prompt notice thereof to the Sub-Advisor, and Appendix A hereto shall be deemed to be amended by deleting such Management Agreement and the Related Agreements related thereto.

(c) All accrued and unpaid financial and indemnification obligations with respect to any conduct or events occurring prior to the effective date of the termination of this Agreement shall survive the termination of this Agreement.

7. Cooperation with Management Company. The Sub-Advisor shall reasonably cooperate with the Management Company in connection with the Management Company's compliance with its policies and procedures relating to oversight of the Sub-Advisor. Specifically, the Sub-Advisor agrees that it will provide the Management Company with reasonable access to information relating to the performance of Sub-Advisor's obligations under this Agreement.

8. Management Agreements and Related Agreements. The Sub-Advisor's duty to provide Services in connection with any Management Agreement shall not commence until (a) Appendix A to this Agreement has been amended by mutual agreement of the Parties to include such Management Agreement and the related Account, fund and/or account and Related Agreements and (b) the Sub-Advisor acknowledges receipt of such Management Agreement and each Related Agreement. The Sub-Advisor shall not be bound to comply with any amendment, modification, supplement or waiver to any Management Agreement or any Related Agreement until it has received a copy thereof from the Management Company. No amendment, modification, supplement or waiver to any Management Agreement or Related Agreement that, when applied to the obligations and rights of the Management Company under such Management Agreement or Related Agreement, affects (i) the obligations or rights of the Sub-Advisor hereunder; (ii) the amount of priority of any fees or other amounts payable to the Sub-Advisor hereunder; or (iii) any definitions relating to the matters covered in clause (i) or (ii) above, will apply to the Sub-Advisor under this Agreement unless in each such case the Sub-Advisor has consented thereto in writing (such consent not to be unreasonably withheld or delayed unless the Sub-Advisor determines in its reasonable judgment that such amendment, modification, supplement or waiver could have a material adverse effect on the Sub-Advisor).

9. Amendments; Assignments.

(a) Neither Party may assign, pledge, grant or otherwise encumber or transfer all or any part of its rights or responsibilities under this Agreement, in whole or in part, except (i) as provided in clauses (b) and (c) of this Section 9, without the prior written consent of the other Party and (ii) in accordance with the Advisers Act and other applicable law.

(b) Except as otherwise provided in this Section 9, the Sub-Advisor may not assign its rights or responsibilities under this Agreement unless (i) the Management Company consents in writing thereto and (ii) such assignment is made in accordance with the Advisers Act and other applicable law.

(c) The Sub-Advisor may, without satisfying any of the conditions of Section 9(a) other than clause (ii) thereof (so long as such assignment does not constitute an assignment within the meaning of Section 202(a)(1) of the Advisers Act), (1) assign any of its rights or obligations under this Agreement to an affiliate; provided that such affiliate (i) has demonstrated ability, whether as an entity or by its principals and employees, to professionally and competently perform duties similar to those imposed upon the Sub-Advisor pursuant to this Agreement and (ii) has the legal right and capacity to act as Sub-Advisor under this Agreement, or (2) enter into (or have its parent enter into) any consolidation or amalgamation with, or merger with or into, or transfer of all or substantially all of its assets to, another entity; provided that, at the time of such consolidation, merger, amalgamation or transfer the resulting, surviving or transferee entity assumes all the obligations of the Sub-Advisor under this Agreement generally (whether by operation of law or by contract) and the other entity is a continuation of the Sub-Advisor in another corporate or similar form and has substantially the same staff; provided, further, that the Sub-Advisor shall deliver ten (10) Business Days' prior notice to the Management Company of any assignment or combination made pursuant to this sentence. Upon the execution and delivery of any such assignment by the assignee, the Sub-Advisor will be released from further obligations pursuant to this Agreement except to the extent expressly provided herein.

10. Advisory Restrictions. This Agreement is not intended to and shall not constitute an assignment, pledge or transfer of any Management Agreement or any part thereof. It is the express intention of the parties hereto that (i) the Services are limited in scope; and (ii) this Agreement complies in all respects with all applicable (A) contractual provisions and restrictions contained in each Management Agreement and each Related Agreement and (B) laws, rules and regulations (collectively, the "Advisory Restrictions"). If any provision of this Agreement is determined to be in violation of any Advisory Restriction, then the Services to be provided under this Agreement shall automatically without action by any person or entity be limited, reduced or modified to the extent necessary and appropriate to be enforceable to the maximum extent permitted by such Advisory Restriction.

11. Records; Confidentiality.

(a) The Sub-Advisor shall maintain or cause to be maintained appropriate books of account and records relating to its services performed hereunder, and such books of account and records shall be accessible for inspection by representatives of the Management Company and its accountants and other agents at any time during normal business hours and upon not less than three (3) Business Days' prior notice; provided, that the Sub-Advisor shall not be obligated to provide access to any non-public information if it in good faith determines that the disclosure of such information would violate any applicable law, regulation or contractual arrangement.

(b) The Sub-Advisor shall follow its customary procedures to keep confidential any and all information obtained in connection with the services rendered hereunder that is either (a) of a type that would ordinarily be considered proprietary or confidential, such as information concerning the composition of assets, rates of return, credit quality, structure or ownership of securities, or (b) designated as confidential obtained in connection with the services rendered by the Sub-Advisor hereunder and shall not disclose any such information to non-affiliated third parties except (i) with the prior written consent of the Management Company, (ii) such information as a rating agency shall reasonably request in connection with its rating of notes issued in connection with a Transaction or supplying credit estimates on any obligation included in the Portfolios, (iii) in connection with establishing trading or investment accounts or otherwise in connection with effecting transactions on behalf of the Management Company or any Account for which the Management Company serves as portfolio manager, (iv) as required by (A) applicable law or (B) the rules or regulations of any self-regulating organization, body or official having jurisdiction over the Sub-Advisor or any of its affiliates, (v) to its professional advisors (including, without limitation, legal, tax and accounting advisors), (vi) such information as shall have been publicly disclosed other than in known violation of this Agreement or shall have been obtained by the Sub-Advisor on a non-confidential basis, (vii) such information as is necessary or appropriate to disclose so that the Sub-Advisor may perform its duties hereunder, (viii) as expressly permitted in the final offering memorandum or any definitive transaction documents relating to any Transaction, or (ix) information relating to performance of the Portfolios as may be used by the Sub-Advisor in the ordinary course of its business. Notwithstanding the foregoing, it is agreed that the Sub-Advisor may disclose without the consent of any Person (1) that it is serving as Sub-Advisor to the Management Company and each Account, (2) the nature, aggregate principal amount and overall performance of the Portfolios, (3) the amount of earnings on the Portfolios, (4) such other information about the Management Company, the Portfolios and the Transactions as is customarily disclosed by Sub-Advisors to management vehicles similar to the Management Company, and (5) the United States federal income tax treatment and United States federal income tax structure of the transactions contemplated by this Agreement and the related documents and all materials of any kind (including opinions and other tax analyses) that are provided to them relating to such United States federal income tax treatment and United States income tax structure. This authorization to disclose the U.S. tax treatment and tax structure does not permit disclosure of information identifying the Sub-Advisor, the Management Company, the Accounts or any other party to the transactions contemplated by this Agreement (except to the extent such information is relevant to U.S. tax structure or tax treatment of such transactions).

12. Notice. Any notice or demand to any party to this Agreement to be given, made or served for any purposes under this Agreement shall be given, made or served by sending the same by overnight mail, facsimile or email transmission or by delivering it by hand as follows (or to such other address, email address or facsimile number as shall have been notified to the other parties hereto):

(a) If to the Management Company:

Highland CLO Holdings, Ltd.
PO Box 309
Ugland House
Grand Cayman KY1-1104
Cayman Islands

(b) If to the Sub-Advisor:

Highland Capital Management, L.P.
300 Crescent Court
Suite 700
Dallas, TX 75201

13. Governing Law. This Agreement shall be governed by, and construed in accordance with, the laws of the State of Texas. The parties unconditionally and irrevocably consent to the exclusive jurisdiction of the courts located in the State of Texas and waive any objection with respect thereto, for the purpose of any action, suit or proceeding arising out of or relating to this Agreement or the transactions contemplated hereby.

14. WAIVER OF JURY TRIAL. EACH OF THE PARTIES HERETO HEREBY KNOWINGLY, VOLUNTARILY AND INTENTIONALLY WAIVES ANY RIGHTS IT MAY HAVE TO A TRIAL BY JURY WITH RESPECT TO ANY LITIGATION BASED HEREON, OR ARISING OUT OF, UNDER, OR IN CONNECTION WITH, THIS AGREEMENT. EACH PARTY HERETO ACKNOWLEDGES AND AGREES THAT IT HAS RECEIVED FULL AND SUFFICIENT CONSIDERATION FOR THIS PROVISION AND THAT THIS PROVISION IS A MATERIAL INDUCEMENT FOR ITS ENTERING INTO THIS AGREEMENT.

15. Severability. The provisions of this Agreement are independent of and severable from each other, and no provision shall be affected or rendered invalid or unenforceable by virtue of the fact that for any reason any other or others of them may be invalid or unenforceable in whole or in part. Upon such determination that any term or other provision is invalid, illegal or incapable of being enforced, the parties hereto shall negotiate in good faith to modify this Agreement so as to effect the original intent of the parties.

16. No Waiver. The performance of any condition or obligation imposed upon any party hereunder may be waived only upon the written consent of the parties hereto. Such waiver shall be limited to the terms thereof and shall not constitute a waiver of any other condition or obligation of the other party under this Agreement. Any failure by any party to this Agreement to enforce any provision shall not constitute a waiver of that or any other provision or this Agreement.

17. Counterparts. This Agreement may be executed in any number of counterparts by facsimile or other written form of communication, each of which shall be deemed to be an original as against any party whose signature appears thereon, and all of which shall together constitute one and the same instrument. This Agreement shall become binding when one or more counterparts hereof, individually or taken together, shall bear the signatures of all of the parties reflected hereon as the signatories.

18. Third Party Beneficiaries. Nothing in this Agreement will be construed to give any person or entity other than the parties to this Agreement, the Accounts and any person or entity with indemnification rights hereunder any legal or equitable right, remedy, or claim under or with respect to this Agreement or any provision of this Agreement. Except as provided in the foregoing sentence, this Agreement and all of its provisions and conditions are for the sole and exclusive benefit of the parties to this Agreement and their successors and assigns.

19. No Partnership or Joint Venture. Nothing set forth in this Agreement shall constitute, or be construed to create, an employment relationship, a partnership or a joint venture between the parties. Except as expressly provided herein or in any other written agreement between the parties, no party has any authority, express or implied, to bind or to incur liabilities on behalf of, or in the name of, any other party.

20. Entire Agreement. This Agreement, together with each Management Agreement and Related Agreement, constitutes the entire agreement of the parties with respect to the subject matter hereof and supersedes all prior agreements and undertakings, both written and oral, between the parties with respect to such subject matter.

Appendix A

The Management Company shall pay to the Sub-Advisor a Sub-Advisory Fee for the Services for the Accounts in an amount equal to the aggregate management fees that would be received by the Management Company for such Accounts if such management fees were calculated in exact conformity with the calculation of management fees for such Accounts, except that the management fee rates applied in such calculation were replaced by the fee rate set forth in the following table. Such fees shall be payable promptly (or at such time as is otherwise agreed by the parties) following the Management Company's receipt of management fees for such Accounts, it being understood that none of the foregoing shall prohibit the Management Company from waiving or entering into side letters with respect to management fees for such Accounts; provided that any such waived or reduced amounts shall not be recognized for purposes of calculating the fees payable by the Management Company hereunder. Notwithstanding the foregoing, the parties may agree to a different allocation from that set forth during any period in order to reflect the then current fair market value of the Services rendered.

APPENDIX B

Purchase and Sale Transactions; Brokerage

The Management Company acknowledges and agrees that the Sub-Advisor or any of its affiliates may acquire or sell obligations or securities, for its own account or for the accounts of its customers, without either requiring or precluding the acquisition or sale of such obligations or securities for the account of any Account. Such investments may be the same or different from those made by or on behalf of the Management Company or the Accounts.

Additional Activities of the Sub-Advisor

Nothing herein shall prevent the Sub-Advisor or any of its clients, its partners, its members, funds or other investment accounts managed by it or any of its affiliates, or their employees and their affiliates (collectively, the "Related Entities"), from engaging in other businesses, or from rendering services of any kind to the Management Company, its affiliates, any Account or any other Person or entity regardless of whether such business is in competition with the Management Company, its affiliates, such Account or otherwise. Without limiting the generality of the Sub-Advisor and its Related Entities may:

(a) serve as managers or directors (whether supervisory or managing), officers, employees, partners, agents, nominees or signatories for the Management Company or any affiliate thereof, or for any obligor or issuer in respect of any of the Portfolio Assets or any affiliate thereof, to the extent permitted by their respective organizational documents and underlying instruments, as from time to time amended, or by any resolutions duly adopted by the Management Company, any Account, their respective affiliates or any obligor or issuer in respect of any of the Portfolio Assets (or any affiliate thereof) pursuant to their respective organizational documents;

(b) receive fees for services of whatever nature rendered to the obligor or issuer in respect of any of the Portfolio Assets or any affiliate thereof;

(c) be retained to provide services unrelated to this Agreement to the Management Company, any Account or their respective affiliates and be paid therefor, on an arm's-length basis;

(d) be a secured or unsecured creditor of, or hold a debt obligation of or equity interest in, the Management Company, any Account or any affiliate thereof or any obligor or issuer of any Portfolio Asset or any affiliate thereof;

(e) sell any Portfolio Asset to, or purchase or acquire any Portfolio Asset from, any Account while acting in the capacity of principal or agent; provided, however, that any such sale or purchase effected by the Sub-Advisor shall be subject to applicable law and any applicable provisions of this Agreement, the related Management Agreement and Related Agreements, as applicable;

(f) underwrite, arrange, structure, originate, syndicate, act as a distributor of or make a market in any Portfolio Asset;

(g) serve as a member of any "creditors' board", "creditors' committee" or similar creditor group with respect to any Portfolio Asset; or

(h) act as portfolio manager, portfolio manager, investment manager and/or investment adviser or sub-advisor in collateralized bond obligation vehicles, collateralized loan obligation vehicles and other similar warehousing, financing or other investment vehicles.

As a result, such individuals may possess information relating to obligors and issuers of Portfolio Assets that is (a) not known to or (b) known but restricted as to its use by the individuals at the Sub-Advisor responsible for monitoring the Portfolio Assets and performing the Services under this Agreement. Each of such ownership and other relationships may result in securities laws restrictions on transactions in such securities by the Management Company and/or any Account and otherwise create conflicts of interest for the Management Company and/or any Account. The Management Company acknowledges and agrees that, in all such instances, the Sub-Advisor and its affiliates may in their discretion make investment recommendations and decisions that may be the same as or different from those made by the Management Company with respect to the investments of any Account and they have no duty, in making or managing such investments, to act in a way that is favorable to any Account.

The Management Company acknowledges that there are generally no ethical screens or information barriers between the Sub-Advisor and certain of its affiliates of the type that many firms implement to separate Persons who make investment decisions from others who might possess applicable material, non-public information that could influence such decisions. The officers or affiliates of the Sub-Advisor may possess information relating to obligors or issuers of Portfolio Assets that is not known to the individuals at the Sub-Advisor responsible for providing the Services under this Agreement. As a result, the Sub-Advisor may from time to time come into possession of material nonpublic information that limits the ability of the Sub-Advisor to effect a transaction for the Management Company and/or any Account, and the Management Company and/or such Account's investments may be constrained as a consequence of the Sub-Advisor's inability to use such information for advisory purposes or otherwise to effect transactions that otherwise may have been initiated on behalf of its clients, including the Management Company and/or such Account.

Unless the Sub-Advisor determines in its sole discretion that such Transaction complies with the conflicts of interest provisions set forth in the applicable Management Agreement and Related Agreements, he Sub-Advisor will not direct any Account to acquire or sell loans or securities entered into or issued by (i) Persons of which the Sub-Advisor, any of its affiliates or any of its officers, directors or employees are directors or officers, (ii) Persons of which the Sub-Advisor or any of its respective affiliates act as principal or (iii) Persons about which the Sub-Advisor or any of its affiliates have material non-public information which the Sub-Advisor deems would prohibit it from advising as to the trading of such securities in accordance with applicable law.

It is understood that the Sub-Advisor and any of its affiliates may engage in any other business and furnish investment management and advisory services to others, including Persons which may have investment policies similar to those followed by the Management Company with respect to the Portfolio Assets and which may own securities or obligations of the same class, or which are of the same type, as the Portfolio Assets or other securities or obligations of the obligors or issuers of the Portfolio Assets. The Sub-Advisor and its affiliates will be free, in their sole discretion, to make recommendations to others, or effect transactions on behalf of themselves or for others, which may be the same as or different from those effected with respect to the Collateral. Nothing in this Agreement, in the Management Agreements or in the Related Agreements shall prevent the Sub-Advisor or any of its affiliates, acting either as principal or agent on behalf of others, from buying or selling, or from recommending to or directing any other account to buy or sell, at any time, securities or obligations of the same kind or class, or securities or obligations of a different kind or class of the same obligor or issuer, as those directed by the Sub-Advisor to be purchased or sold on behalf of an Account. It is understood that, to the extent permitted by applicable law, the Sub-Advisor, its Related Entities, or any of their owners, directors, managers, officers, stockholders, members, partners, partnership committee members, employees, agents or affiliates or the other Covered Persons or any member of their families or a Person or entity advised by the Sub-Advisor may have an interest in a particular transaction or in securities or obligations of the same kind or class, or securities or obligations of a different kind or class of the same issuer, as those that may be owned or acquired by an Account. The Management Company agrees that, in the course of providing the Services, the Sub-Advisor may consider its relationships with other clients (including obligors and issuers) and its affiliates.

The Management Company agrees that neither the Sub-Advisor nor any of its affiliates is under any obligation to offer any investment opportunity of which they become aware to the Management Company or any Account or to account to the Management Company or any Account for (or share with the Management Company or any Account or inform the Management Company or any Account of) any such transaction or any benefit received by them from any such transaction. The Management Company understands that the Sub-Advisor and/or its affiliates may have, for their own accounts or for the accounts of others, portfolios with substantially the same portfolio criteria as are applicable to the Accounts. Furthermore, the Sub-Advisor and/or its affiliates may make an investment on behalf of any client or on their own behalf without offering the investment opportunity or making any investment on behalf of the Management Company or any Account and, accordingly, investment opportunities may not be allocated among all such clients. The Management Company acknowledges that affirmative obligations may arise in the future, whereby the Sub-Advisor and/or its affiliates are obligated to offer certain investments to clients before or without the Sub-Advisor offering those investments to the Management Company or any Account.

The Management Company acknowledges that the Sub-Advisor and its affiliates may make and/or hold investments in an obligor's or issuer's obligations or securities that may be pari passu, senior or junior in ranking to an investment in such obligor's or issuer's obligations or securities made and/or held by the Management Company or any Account, or in which partners, security holders, members, officers, directors, agents or employees of the Sub-Advisor and its affiliates serve on boards of directors, or otherwise have ongoing relationships or otherwise have interests different from or adverse to those of the Management Company and the Accounts.

Defined Terms

For purposes of this Appendix B, the following defined terms shall have the meanings set forth below:

"Portfolio" shall mean, with respect to any Account and/or Transaction, the assets held by or in the name of the Account or any subsidiary of the Account in respect of such Transaction, whether or not for the benefit of the related secured parties, securing the obligations of such Account.

"Portfolio Asset" shall mean any loan, eligible investment or other asset contained in the Portfolio.

"Transaction" shall mean any action taken by the Sub-Advisor on behalf of any Account with respect to the Portfolio, including, without limitation, (i) selecting the Portfolio Assets to be acquired by the Account, (ii) investing and reinvesting the Portfolio, (iii) amending, waiving and/or taking any other action commensurate with managing the Portfolio and (iv) instructing the Account with respect to any acquisition, disposition or tender of a Portfolio Asset or other assets received in respect thereof in the open market or otherwise by the Account.

STATE OF DELAWARE
CERTIFICATE OF FORMATION
OF
HIGHLAND CLO MANAGEMENT, LLC

The undersigned authorized person, desiring to form a limited liability company pursuant to the Limited Liability Company Act of the State of Delaware, hereby certifies as follows:

1. The name of the limited liability company is Highland CLO Management, LLC.

2. The Registered Office of the limited liability company in the State of Delaware is located at 1209 Orange Street, in the City of Wilmington, County of New Castle, Delaware 19801. The name of the Registered Agent at such address upon whom process against this limited liability company may be served is The Corporation Trust Company.

3. Notice is hereby given pursuant to Section 18.215(b) of the Delaware Limited Liability Company Act (6 Del. C. 18-101 et seq.) that the debts, liabilities, and obligations incurred, contracted for, or otherwise existing with respect to a particular series of the limited liability company, shall be enforceable against the assets of such series only and not against the assets of the limited liability company generally, or any other series thereof, and none of the debts, liabilities, obligations, and expenses incurred, contracted for, or otherwise existing with respect to the limited liability company generally, or any other series thereof, shall be enforceable against the assets of such series.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, the undersigned has executed this Certificate of Formation on this 19th day of October, 2017.

Timothy J. Cournoyer, Authorized Person
