Remote Videotaped Deposition of RICHARD DAUDELIN, held at the location of the witness, taken by the Committee of Asbestos Personal Injury Claimants, before Sara S. Clark, a Registered Professional Reporter, Registered Merit Reporter, Certified Realtime Reporter, and Notary Public.

A. Yes.

Q. And would that be Trane Technologies PLC?

A. Yes.

Q. With respect to reports to Trane Technologies PLC after February 29th of 2020, did you propose any issuances of dividends from that -- from February 29th, 2020 to present?

A. Yes.

Q. How frequently have you made that recommendation to the finance committee?

A. Quarterly.

Q. Okay. And with respect to the liquidity position and cash flow analysis that you mentioned that goes into your consideration of it to propose a dividend, with respect to Trane Technologies PLC, has there been a -- has there been a time where you did not recommend a dividend for Trane Technologies PLC?

A. No.

Q. Is it safe to say that Trane Technologies PLC has been cash flow positive during this period from February 29th, 2020 to present?

MR. MASCITTI: Objection; form.

A. Yes.

Q. Would you say that the Trane Technologies PLC entity has had sufficient liquidity during the period from February 29th, 2020 to present?

MR. MASCITTI: Objection; form.

A. Yes.

Q. And with respect to cash flow and liquidity, are there considerations with respect to paying Trane Technologies' creditors that is considered as part of those assessments?

MR. MASCITTI: Objection; form.

A. Can you ask your question again, please?

Q. Sure.

In analyzing the cash flow of Trane Technologies PLC -- let's start there -- do you consider any obligations owed to creditors of Trane Technologies PLC in analyzing that cash flow?

A. Yes.

Q. And what is that analysis?

A. High-level cash flow and liquidity chart.

Q. Generally speaking, the cash flow addresses whether or not there are sufficient funds to pay creditors and still have funds beyond those obligations; is that fair to say?

A. Yes.

Q. And you mentioned issuing dividends on a quarterly basis -- or recommending -- excuse me -- dividends be issued on a quarterly basis since February 29th of 2020.

Have those dividends actually been issued?

A. Yes, to the best of my knowledge.

Q. And being that they're issued on a quarterly basis, was there one issued at the end of June 2020?

A. Yes, to the best of my knowledge.

Q. Was there another dividend issued at the end of August 2020?

A. No, not that I recall.

Q. Did you make a recommendation that a dividend be issued at the end of August 2020?

A. Not that I recall.

MS. HARDMAN: No.

MR. MASCITTI: Okay. Okay for me to begin?

MS. HARDMAN: Yes. I'm sorry.

EXAMINATION

BY MR. MASCITTI:

Q. Mr. Daudelin, you've been asked about a number of documents that were presented for your signature.

In the ordinary course of Trane's business, could you please describe the process for documents to be presented to you for your signature?

A. Yes. The normal course of -- in our normal course of business in our governance, legal documents come to me and they're vetted first from a legal or an advisory perspective. And before I execute on those, they come from, again, the legal organization.

Q. And you had indicated earlier that, as part of reviewing documents before you sign them, you look at who the sender is.

Would it make a difference if the sender was someone from the legal department?

A. Yes.

Q. Why?

A. Because it would give me a comfort based on our governance that it has been reviewed by the legal department and/or outside or third-party advisors.

Q. Now, you've answered, in response to multiple questions that were presented to you today, that you couldn't recall who you received these documents from, both the board resolutions and the written agreements.

Do you recall whether you received those documents from someone in the legal department?

A. No, I do not. The reason I say that is because sometimes the legal department will pass it through to my admin, and my admin will bring it forward to me. And then based on that, I'll see within the e-mail that it's -- it has come from the legal department.

Q. So with respect to all of the documents, both the resolutions and the agreements that were presented to you today, were those received from someone in the legal department, either directly to you or through your admin?

A. Yes, to the best of my knowledge.

Q. So although you can't recall the specific person, you did know that those documents were presented to you for execution through the legal department?

A. Yes.

Q. And why was that important?

A. Because, again, based on our governance and the way we vet legal documents, my signature is not on a document unless it's gone through our legal department.

Q. So given that we've seen your signature on multiple resolutions and agreements today, does that refresh your recollection that you authorized the legal department to apply your signature to those resolutions and agreements?

A. Yes. In good faith, that will be executed.

Q. You also answered in response to multiple questions that you didn't recall communicating with anyone regarding these

CHRIS KUEHN

MARCH 19, 2021

9:37 a.m. EST

Remote Videotaped Deposition of CHRIS KUEHN, held at the location of the witness, taken by the Committee of Asbestos Personal Injury Claimants, before Sara S. Clark, a Registered Professional Reporter, Registered Merit Reporter, Certified Realtime Reporter, and Notary Public.

A. Well, prior to sign- -- I can see that I signed the document, but we reviewed these documents prior to signing. But just recalling what this document says, yes, that's what -- that's what I recall.

Q. Okay. And that was going to be my next question. On the page ending 1758, is that your signature, Mr. Kuehn?

A. Okay. I see 1758.

Yes, it is.

Q. Okay. Do you recall signing this specific document?

A. I don't recall signing this specific document, no.

Q. Do you --

A. I recall signing documents to effect the corporate restructuring, but not this specific one.

Q. Okay. Let's talk about that generally, then.

With respect to signing documents for the corporate restructuring, can you describe that process? Did you sign them electronically or in hard copy? Who presented them to you?

Any sort of description of how that process worked would be helpful.

A. Sure. My recollection is we had several meetings leading up to the presentation of the documents. Those meetings were led by company legal counsel to really explain what the documents were required to do or asked to do of the signers. We were -- at the time, this was early stages of the pandemic, so we were largely working remotely.

So after reviewing the documents and understanding the step that -- the various steps in the corporate restructuring, I would have electronically signed the document via an iPad, I believe is how it was completed.

Q. Okay. So just to unpack that a little bit, you said company legal counsel had meetings with you to describe these -- the various documents you would be signing with respect to the corporate restructuring?

A. That's correct.

Q. And who was the company legal counsel at that point that you're referring to?

A. I don't recall specifically who it was, but it was a combination of Evan Turtz and/or Sara Brown.

Q. And they met with you in person or on Zoom? How did those meetings actually occur, all pandemic related and whatnot?

A. It's hard to recall specifically. I think it was a mix of in-person meetings as well as over, you know, Zoom or Teams applications.

Q. And about when did these meetings happen? Do you recall?

A. My recollection is they happened on or around the date on the first page, on or around May 1st, 2020, to sign the documents. There were, as I recall, meetings the previous week or so, weeks prior, actually, to explain what all of the steps would be to effect the corporate restructuring. And that connected to meetings that we had, you know, leading up to that decision.

Q. And the meeting --

MS. HARDMAN: If we could go off the record for just a moment.

VIDEOGRAPHER: The time is 10:42 a.m., and we are off the record.

(Discussion held off the record.)

VIDEOGRAPHER: The time is 10:43 a.m., and we are back on the record.

MS. HARDMAN: Great.

BY MS. HARDMAN:

Q. So Mr. Kuehn, we were just discussing the process, and you said there were a number of meetings, and you were presented these documents for signature.

When you described the signature via iPad process, I assume that was a meeting in person; is that fair?

A. If it was via iPad, it would have been the documents were sent to me via email and then executing them through an iPad and sending them back, you know, electronically. Or it was in person, right, signing. I don't recall which avenue I used, but it was one of those two to sign the document.

Q. Okay. And the iPad you're referring to, is it one of your own or did somebody give you an iPad to use for the signature process?

A. It's a company-issued iPad that's -- wasn't just used for this process. It's just a company iPad that's used for multiple things related to the company.

Q. Okay. That's something you keep on your person for your work in the everyday operations of Trane?

A. Yes, that's fair.

Q. And on that iPad score, do you keep notes on that iPad? Sometimes folks use that electronic notepad to keep notes.

A. I do not.

Q. Okay. I am not a big fan either. I'm a big hard copy notetaker.

All right. With respect to the signing process, you mentioned a number of meetings describing the steps that would be taken for that corporate restructuring and then you were presented these documents.

Did you see multiple iterations of the documents that you ended up signing related to the corporate restructuring?

A. I recall seeing one document, not necessarily multiple iterations.

Q. Okay. And in that process, did you ask any questions with respect to the documents that you were planning to sign?

A. I recall making sure that I was familiar with the document and what step in the process the corporate restructuring reflected to make sure that I, you know, was comfortable, A, Evan Turtz or Sara Brown, making sure signers were comfortable with what step in the process it was, and then ultimately if any questions were required, I asked them at that time if they were necessary.

Q. Okay. And you asked those questions of Mr. Turtz or Ms. Brown; is that right?

A. That would be correct. Of those two -- and I don't recall which meetings they were in, but it would have been one of those two. If there were any questions being asked, it would have been asked of them.

Q. And you said the time frame was about a two-week window, give or take, for the meetings up to the signing?

MR. MASCITTI: Object to the form.

Q. You can answer.

MR. MASCITTI: Ms. Hardman, I wanted you to clarify what meetings you're team. I think at one point, we may have included a member or two from the business units. And I believe Mr. Pittard joined that group at some point in 2019. I don't recall when.

Q. Who was it, under your understanding, that ran Project Omega?

A. Evan Turtz, our general legal counsel, would be the one that I would describe as running the project.

Q. Okay. And so you said that you did sign an NDA with respect to Project Omega.

Do you know why you signed an NDA?

A. The project was being treated like any other large transaction in the company. Really just to ensure that the proper people were given -- the proper access were given to the proper people rather than to discuss it more openly within the organization. So I would call that fairly common practice.

Q. Why is an NDA necessary?

A. I think the sensitive nature of the subject and evaluating options that ultimately may never have come true or concluded. So we do this commonly for transactions and mergers and acquisitions, just to include the people that we need to include to get the data or execute various steps that we think are proper.

Q. What's the sensitivity that you're describing there if this information were to be more widely disseminated?

A. Unfortunately, you can't control who has access to information if you just keep it very broad. So, you know, concerned about discussions within the company, discussions outside the company. Especially if no decision was being reached, it was really, let's evaluate options for the company. So the concern was let's bring in more people as decisions are being made, but while we're evaluating the decisions, let's limit it to a smaller group of people.

Q. I guess my question is why do you do that as a --

MR. MASCITTI: Objection; asked and answered.

You can answer again, Mr. Kuehn.

A. It's really to engage people on to the MS. HARDMAN: I don't expect you to read the whole thing. Just let me know once you've had a chance to skim.

THE WITNESS: Okay.

BY MS. HARDMAN:

Q. Are you familiar with this document?

A. Yes.

Q. Okay. And on the third page, I think it's DEBTORS ending in 2506, Page 3 of the PDF.

Is that your signature, Mr. Kuehn?

A. Yes, it is.

Q. Do you recall signing this document?

A. I do recall signing the document.

Q. Do you recall who may have presented it to you?

A. I believe that was the corporate legal department of Trane Technologies, combination of Evan Turtz and/or Sara Brown.

Q. And at a high level, did you review this document before you signed it?

A. Yes.

Q. And do you recall asking any questions -- I'm not asking what they were -- but do you recall asking any questions of Mr. Turtz or Ms. Brown with respect to this document?

A. I recall being aware of what steps in the process this document related to to effect the corporate restructuring. So just making sure I understood where this document fit into that broader plan.

Q. Okay. So putting aside this document specifically, do you know what steps in the corporate restructuring required your authorization?

A. I had assistance of our corporate legal department to include me on areas that required my involvement or my signature. So I probably couldn't recite every one of them, but it was just making sure that anything that I had to be involved in, that I was aware of what the request was and that I had an opportunity to ask questions.

Q. Okay. So do you have any specific understanding of what parts or what steps within Project Omega or the corporate restructuring that you authorized?

him not to answer the question as it relates to that analysis as it was done as part of work product.

But to the extent that you have questions for the topics that are listed, feel free to ask him those questions about the topics that he's been designated for.

MR. GOLDMAN: It is one of the topics. I'm asking him what he knows about it.

MR. MASCITTI: You're asking him about an analysis that he did at the request of counsel. That's not one of the topics listed.

BY MR. GOLDMAN:

Q. You've said that you're prepared to testify as to the debtors' contention that the negative consequences of bankruptcy filings by old IRNJ and old Trane would have outweighed any potential benefits of placing both entities in bankruptcy.

Why would the negative consequences of bankruptcy filings by old IRNJ and old Trane have outweighed any potential benefits of placing both entities in bankruptcy?

A. As I think through potential business impacts, if old IRNJ or old Trane would have been put into bankruptcy, there's a series of things that, you know, I could -- after understanding the business, could correlate back into a detriment. I think of loss of revenue tied to a bankruptcy proceeding. We participate in an industry that has, I would say, four to five major competitors, so it is a very tight-knit, very competitive industry that we participate in. So I believe that, you know, we would see reputational damage coming out of this. It's a highly competitive bid situation.

We would have an impact related to licensing, which would impact our revenue. We are often the contractor on a lot of the commercial jobs that we participate in, and we have contracting licenses, whether they would be general contracting, mechanical contracting, HVAC contracting, electrical, et cetera. And a lot of those licenses are up for renewal every one, two, or three years. And as part of that renewal process, there are many states that actually have a -- we are required to disclose any bankruptcy that would have taken place.

We participate heavily in public bidding, whether it would be federal, state, or local municipalities, you know, specifically like school boards and higher education. And a bankruptcy filing within Trane U.S. Inc. could potentially inhibit our ability to bid on some of those large-scale projects that we are very successful in executing.

I continue to think down the list of some of the business impacts and the detriments associated with it. You know, we have over $5 billion of bonds that a significant majority of those bonds have a debt acceleration clause tied to them that would be triggered from a bankruptcy perspective. The guarantors further up the chain, all the way up to the PLC. So we present a lot of risk there.

I sit here and I think about the impact on, like, my organization, my employees. You know, there's not a lot of people that raise their hand and say "I want to go work for a bankruptcy entity," you know. And I really think long and hard about this because we probably have 4,500 service technicians in the field that are working with our customers every single day who are not going to understand what a bankruptcy filing means, and they're going to become very uncomfortable and anxious. And no matter how hard we would try to script it and make people feel more comfortable, I think we would see, you know, people leaving the organization. And they're touching our customers every day. And if they go to competitors, then all of a sudden, they're going to be influencing our current customers to move to the competition.

I think of our customers that are out there, you know. We have default clauses in all of our open contracts. And while the bankruptcy, we may have a stay in place that could allow us to continue to perform, it doesn't mean we're going to get paid, because when those default clauses trigger, there's a lot of confusion that gets created. And that confusion is going to be felt. As we're trying to execute jobs, trying to work with our customers, trying to collect, they're going to hold payment.

And then, you know, I also sit there and think about it, you know, they're going to try to attempt to cancel the agreements. A lot of them are on a purchase-order-by-purchase-order basis, so we're only locked in for a short period of time. They're going to start to worry about the warranty we give them on the product. Are they going to stand behind the warranty? You know, I think they're going to start to worry about our ability to continue to service the product in the field, so it makes me nervous there.

And then if you think about outside of our direct organization and you go further out into the chain, you know, we -- I'm sure you've had HVAC work done at your home. And those are a lot of small family-owned businesses. We have well over 4,000 contractors across North America that we support within the residential space that sell the Trane brand every single day and service it every single day. We have the same thing in our Thermo King business, where we have between 50 and 60 family-owned distributorships with over 180 locations that stand behind us and sell our brand. So we're going to start impacting them at well, as we think about that.

And then I get into the whole supply chain risk that we would have with a bankruptcy filing because, again, we don't have -- while we may have -- I'll classify it as a memorandum of understanding with suppliers. We purchase product on a PO-by-PO basis. And as they fulfill the obligations of those POs, they're going to want to renegotiate the next purchase order we put out there. They're going to want to renegotiate pricing. They're going to want to renegotiate terms. And today we have pretty good terms with our supply base, anywhere from 60 to 75 days we pay them in. And all of a sudden we can feel a cash crunch where they say, "Hey, I want to be paid in advance or we're going to shorten up the terms."

So as I sit here and I think about the impacts to the business, they're pretty severe.

Q. And when you did your preliminary analysis, did you take all of those things into account?

A. We looked at those things. Absolutely.

Q. And if you were to try to quantify the financial impact of a larger bankruptcy or more comprehensive bankruptcy than the two that were filed, how would you go about that?

MR. TORBORG: Object to form.

A. As I think through that, I mean, we can put assumptions around some of the things I just spoke about. We can -- you know, pretty good assumptions based on analysis of the market and competitiveness of the situations that we're in. You know, we would have an understanding around what our -- how our cost of capital would increase based on a bankruptcy filing. You know, it's -- the cash that it would take to pay third-party support, like we have on this call, for an extended period of time to get us through a reorganization plan, it's tremendous.

So it far outweighs, to me, any other alternative.

Q. I'm sorry. Which far outweighs any other alternative?

A. If we were to look at IRNJ -- old IRNJ and old IR Trane, the cost to the business, not just our business but all of our partners in the field, I just don't know how we would recover from anything like that and the damage we would cause to all of our partners and all of our employees.

Q. Changing subjects a little bit, are there any remaining Trane businesses or product lines that include production of any kind of boilers or heating devices?

MR. MASCITTI: Objection; form.

A. I personally am unaware of any. But I don't know all of the products, having been in the job less than a year.

MR. GOLDMAN: All right. Okay. Why don't I -- rather than take a break to check my notes, if there are others who have questions, let me pass to them because I --

THE WITNESS: Can I give you an out? Can I have a five-minute break?

MR. GOLDMAN: You can take a five-minute break. Absolutely.

THE WITNESS: Thank you.

MR. GOLDMAN: Okay. Thanks.

confirmed, are you?

A. Not impossible. I don't think -- I wouldn't -- I'm sure there are ways. But it's not efficient and it's certainly costly and likely to consume time and resource and energy to delay that.

I think we clearly want to make sure that we get a settlement in place so that valid claimants can get their money as quickly as possible.

Q. And what's -- I'm sorry. Go ahead.

A. Just so there's no reason to try to do both and have delays against the process. We need to go through this as quickly as we can and not be distracted. We need to get this done. That's really the intent here.

Q. Okay. And the bankruptcy was filed -- the two bankruptcies were filed approximately 10 months ago, correct?

A. That's approximately right, correct.

Q. Okay. And what efforts have been made over those 10 months to settle -- to bring about a settlement in these matters?

A. Yeah. The -- it's been my understanding that our team has made every effort to move forward as fast as possible, both with yourselves on the ACC side, as well as the future claimants, and that the -- we stand ready today to open negotiations on an estimation and ready today to try to set this in motion and finalize this.

Q. Well, have there been any proposals made by either of the debtors as of today during the last 10 months?

A. I think there has not. I think -- that I'm aware of. But certainly I -- we stand ready to have negotiations and start that process as soon as -- as soon as the ACC comes forward to do so.

Q. Are you aware of the identity of anyone else working on the bankruptcy other than -- within the Trane organization other than Mr. Tananbaum and Mr. Sands and yourself?

A. There are officers within both Aldrich and Murray that are involved, which we had listed earlier today -- I believe they were listed -- for both entities. And there are a number of people that are in the service

MR. JONES: Object to foundation.

A. Yeah, I don't know. I don't know how much was understood back in the day. So it's hard for me to know. I know when we looked at it in this meeting, there was a good amount of detail to explain the concept and the idea. And I'm not sure we had that level of detail or idea or concept understood back earlier on.

Q. And this detail was provided at this meeting on May 5th?

A. The ideas were introduced, and then -- over the course of the presentation. And then we had asked -- the board and the officers had asked for more homework to be done, which came up, I believe, if I recall, in subsequent meetings.

So it was not a cursory look at these ideas. It was a very serious robust review and discussion that was asked for by the board and many questions by the board and myself, for that matter.

Q. Can you point me to any document -- any place that exists that suggests a -- mentions an organizational option or -- that was

Page 4 of the -- of these minutes of May 22nd, at the bottom there, which says "As part of such discussion, it was noted for the members of the board that, in contrast to the use of Section 524(g) of the Bankruptcy Code, none of the available options provide the," and then there is a redaction.

Now, let me just ask you, who noted that for the members?

A. Noted -- I'm sorry. Who noted --

Q. In other words, regardless of exactly what was said, which was redacted, but the sentence says "it was noted for members of the board." Who -- who verbally noted that to the members of the board?

A. I don't recall -- in that particular sentence, I don't recall exactly. There was a lot of discussion. I do remember that. I remember the -- there was discussion from counsel. There was discussion from the board. There was discussion from officers. And in the end, as I said earlier, the pros and cons were looked at for all three options. And really the only option that met all of the objectives fully, fairly, and finally resolving asbestos claims was the 524(g) option.

Q. And was that -- I know the final vote wasn't until June 17th, but was that pretty much resolved by the end of the May 22nd meeting?

A. I think it wasn't really decided until the very end. I think there was questions that continued. There was discussion and deliberation that continued. As mentioned in the document, it was quite robust and a lot of debate and questions about would -- you know, each option, would they meet the full, fair, and final approach; were there consequences to any of the options that would have been impactful to, you know, the claimants, the customer -- or the stakeholders, the company.

It was very -- to be honest, I was quite proud of the way the board behaved to really thoroughly dig into this and take a very informed and thorough and cautious review to get to a good decision.

MR. GOLDMAN: Let's look at Exhibit 33.

MR. DEPEAU: Okay. 33 is up in the

And that business is a business that was acquired, the Arctic business that we talked about earlier. But it's a great business that gives us a unique product in our portfolio that our commercial teams can take and apply to a lot of different applications for cooling, for heating, for commercial applications. And it's another business. And that business is underneath Aldrich.

Q. And do both of those businesses have customers?

A. They do. They clearly have customers. They generate revenue. They generate profit. They generate cash. That cash is -- they're both healthy businesses, and, you know, those businesses are stand-alone. And they -- with that cash, they will be able to help us to pay for a portion, at least, of the asbestos costs that we've been talking about.

Q. We talked a lot about earlier -- or we heard you talk a lot about the various robust discussions that went on.

In connection with those or any other conversations you may have had -- and I'm not looking for anything privileged here -- this is probably just a yes-or-no answer -- did you ever hear anyone say that the goal with respect to the restructuring and the 524(g) bankruptcy filing was to delay paying asbestos claimants?

A. Absolutely not. That's clearly not our intention from the very beginning. Our intention is to move as quickly as possible to settle these claims. We've had these claims with us for many, many years. And our intention is to go and get this to full, fair, and final resolution as quickly as possible. And clearly our intention is to do the right thing, to pay valid claims to people who have been injured by asbestos that is associated with our products. And so by no means is this an attempt to do any type of delay. We would like to go quicker than we're going today. If we can find a way to move it up, we stand ready to do so.

Q. And along those same lines, did you ever hear anyone say that the goal of the restructuring and the bankruptcy was to artificially suppress the debtors' asbestos liabilities in the tort system?

A. Absolutely not. We want to pay the full amount that we're responsible for to all valid claims.

What our intent here to do is to find a more efficient way to do that. And one of the interesting documents we looked at today showed that only 42 cents on the dollar goes to the claimant. I think that's unbelievable. It shows that 58 cents on the dollar goes to legal fees, attorneys' costs, and administrative costs. We would like to get through that as quickly as possible and get it into a trust where we can get money to the claimants fully, fairly, and finally, without the bureaucratic burden and without that overwhelming cost.

So clearly there's no intent to do any supression whatsoever of the liability amount. What we would like to do is find a more efficient way to take care of those claims.

MS. FELDER: And I have no further questions. Thank you so much.

THE WITNESS: You're welcome.

MR. GOLDMAN: I've just got one document I'd like to ask a few questions

A. Very high level.

Q. Okay. But one of the payers under the funding agreement is Trane Technologies, correct, if you know?

A. I don't know the answer to that, Jonathan.

Q. Do you know if there's any cap on the funding agreements, the amount that they have to pay?

A. I don't know, Jonathan.

Q. That's okay. It's perfectly okay not to know, because we've got plenty of depositions coming up. Someone will know the answer to that question.

From the conversations that you've had with your colleagues leading up to the filing for the prepetition restructuring, did anyone ever say to you, "The goal of this restructuring is to suppress our asbestos liability"?

A. No.

Q. And is it your understanding --

A. The goal was -- the goal was to always -- if someone was harmed, we had every

BY MR. LIESEMER:

Q. Ms. Roeder, do you have Exhibit 128 in front of you?

A. I do.

Q. Do you recognize Exhibit 128?

A. Not necessarily, no.

Q. Are you aware that Aldrich and Murray are asking the bankruptcy court to issue a preliminary injunction?

A. I am.

Q. Aldrich and Murray are taking the position in the motion that's in front of you that if the bankruptcy court does not grant the requested injunction and allows its asbestos lawsuits to continue, you and others will be diverted from the debtors' reorganization efforts?

Do you understand that that is the debtors' position?

A. Yes.

Q. Do you have any understanding or expectation of how you would be diverted from the reorganization if the bankruptcy court does not grant the injunction?

A. My only understanding would be that if -- and I'm -- this is where I have to leave things up to lawyers when it comes to what the injunction actually means -- but if I were to go back to dealing with any type of claims -- asbestos-related claims, that significantly increases my workload.

Q. Do you have any understanding of how it would significantly increase your workload?

A. Well, it would go back to a point of managing the claims reporting, metrics around claims. And there's certainly fewer people now to do that than there were, you know, previously.

Q. When you say "fewer people," do you mean people who were assisting you?

A. Prior to the restructuring, there was a litigation team. And within that team, there were -- there was a gentleman who had a role that was an operational excellence-type role over process. And he did -- helped with a lot of the tracking and management and certainly assisted me with that.

Q. And you don't remember this gentleman's name?

A. I do. His name was Mike Russell.

Q. You said he was part of the legal team, but was he a lawyer?

A. I don't think so, no.

Q. When was the first time you heard about Project Omega?

A. 20- -- let's say sometime late 2019.

Q. Do you know when Project Omega started?

A. Again, I would have to say late 2019.

Q. Who first told you about Project Omega?

A. Evan Turtz.

Q. When were you invited to join Project Omega?

A. I don't recall the dates. Late 2019.

Q. Did you have to sign a non-disclosure agreement, or NDA, to participate in Project Omega?

A. Yes. At some point, yes.

Q. Why did you have to sign an NDA to be a part of Project Omega?

MR. HIRST: Objection; form -- hold on.

Objection to the form and foundation.

Go ahead, Amy.

A. Signing NDAs for any of the projects that we work on is just a typical process that we do, because we -- regardless of the project or the subject matter or the content, as a company, typically these projects have some level of confidentiality. And so most of the time people that join a project sign an NDA, just by normal course of business.

Q. So you were heading in this direction, but -- so others had to sign an NDA to be a part of Project Omega, correct?

A. Yes.

Q. Okay. Do you know how many people were asked to sign an NDA?

A. I do not.

Q. Who decided who would be invited to join Project Omega?

MR. HIRST: Object to the form.

Go ahead.

A. I really don't know.

Bankruptcy Code, Mr. Tananbaum then reviewed the other strategic options for addressing current and future asbestos liabilities that were presented at the May 15 joint meeting."

Do you see that?

A. I do.

Q. Do you recall a lengthy and robust discussion at the meeting?

A. I do.

Q. In what way was the discussion robust?

A. I just recall a lot of involvement from all participants asking questions, obviously, the board members asking questions. I don't remember what questions they were asking, but certainly very interested in understanding everything that had really been presented and really wanted to kind of do a thorough deep dive of everything.

Q. At the meeting, was there disagreement among the board members over which options to choose?

A. No, not that I recall.

Q. The next sentence says "During his review, Mr. Tananbaum, with the assistance of

A. I can only speak to my vote, but I think I mentioned this earlier, but -- once all of the options were presented, I found bankruptcy to be the best option for Aldrich to get to the resolution that we were seeking.

Q. And what is that resolution?

A. As I mentioned earlier, the -- a fair and equitable resolution for, ultimately, the claimants. Making sure that they're compensated for any losses.

Q. That ties into my next question.

Why was it desirable and in the best interests of the company's creditors that the company seek relief under the Bankruptcy Code?

A. Again, I think in my view, it was the best way to ensure claimants were compensated, to ensure that -- how do I say this?

We didn't -- we wanted to make sure that everyone -- we weren't trying to not pay someone. We wanted to make sure everyone was paid appropriately as they should be. But to get to a resolution, there had to be some certainty in the end, and that's where bankruptcy provided that.

The other two options, they didn't really make sense to me. I didn't find them plausible. And the tort system could go on and on and on forever. And so this gave some type of certainty to everyone involved. And so I felt that was in the best interest of the claimants, the company, and, in this, the creditors.

Q. What do you mean by "everyone paid appropriately"?

A. Well, making sure that it was not in our interest to avoid paying anyone. It was -- we wanted to ensure that we're paying whoever we owe money to, whoever our creditors are, ensuring that they're paid. But this was more about finding that certainty in the end.

Q. Do you know who the other interested parties are in that resolved clause?

A. No.

MR. LIESEMER: Jessica, could you kindly send the witness Tab 31, please.

Ms. Roeder, we will be sending you now through the chat a document that is marked -- previously marked as Aldrich to make any changes.

Q. And what changes are you referring to specifically?

A. Anything that would have changed from the first document to the second.

Q. Do you remember what those changes were?

A. Without reading this in detail, no.

Q. Do you remember asking for any changes to be made to the original funding agreement?

A. I do. And it's a very vague recollection, but I believe it had to do with the threshold amount that would trigger funding. So we had to keep a certain amount of cash on Aldrich's books. And I remember vaguely wanting a change to that amount.

Q. Do you recall the reason for that change?

A. I believe I wanted -- if I remember this correctly, I wanted a -- let me think about this for a minute just so I give you the right answer from how I remember it.

I believe the amount was lower originally, and I wanted that amount, that funding -- I wanted those thresholds raised, because I did not want to get stuck in a position for Aldrich where we were doing any type of last-minute funding, or risking not getting funding for any reason or missing -- like having delays just in the transactional part of this. So I wanted that to be raised so that we could kind of pad ourselves on the industrial -- sorry -- on the Aldrich side, I think. I'm trying to remember. It's been a long time since I did that.

Q. You said you perceived the possibility of Aldrich not getting funding at all. Can you tell me more about that?

A. Yeah. So what I mean there is when you put in a request, and at the time of the original funding agreement, never having executed on a payment request, I did not know how long that request would take to receive approval and then certainly transact the actual funding. And if we had indemnity claims at the time that needed to be processed, defense spend, any type of expenses, I didn't want to get into a position where I'm paying our third parties late. And so I wanted to make sure that we always were in a position to be able to pay.

Q. Can you think of any other changes that you asked for to the funding agreement?

A. Not that I remember.

Q. What is the purpose of the Aldrich funding agreement?

A. My understanding is to ensure that we have a funding mechanism to continue normal course of operations in Aldrich. As our cash needs run low, we can request that funding from Trane. Trane LLC, Trane Technologies Company, I believe that's the entity. And -- just so that, again, we can continue our normal course operations.

Q. Let me invite your attention to Page 5 of the funding agreement.

And let me know when you're there.

A. I'm there.

Q. Do you see on the page where it says "Permitted Funding Use"?

A. I do.

Q. Are you familiar with that definition?

A. I am.

Q. So there's no third amended funding agreement?

A. I don't think so.

Q. Can we refer to this document as "the Murray funding agreement"?

A. Yes.

Q. Did you read the Murray funding agreement before you signed it?

A. Absolutely.

Q. Did you negotiate the terms of the Murray funding agreement on behalf of Murray?

A. This particular agreement, the second amended, or any funding agreements?

Q. Any funding agreement.

A. So on any funding agreements, it would have been the same negotiation as I had with Aldrich. So it was just around the cash thresholds that I requested a change.

Q. And you don't recall any other further changes that you requested?

A. No, not on top of mind.

Q. What is the purpose of the Murray funding agreement?

A. The same as it is for Aldrich. This that can resolve asbestos liabilities in one forum and create an asbestos trust other than in bankruptcy?

A. Not that I recall.

Q. Can you tell the Court why Trane PLC and all its subsidiaries didn't file for bankruptcy?

A. I don't know.

Q. That's where you get to say "I don't know." That's perfectly okay.

You're familiar with the funding agreements, correct --

A. Yes.

Q. -- Exhibits 13 and 86?

There's one for each debtor, correct, Aldrich and Murray?

A. Yes.

Q. And on behalf of Aldrich and Murray, as I understand your testimony, you negotiated changes to the funding agreements -- the original funding agreements to address your concerns that monies would be available to -- when and if needed; is that correct?

A. I wanted to make sure I had cash readily available and didn't want to get too low from a balance standpoint, so I wanted to be able to trigger cash at a time -- just so I could do it timely. Let's put it that way.

Q. And you're familiar with the payers under those two funding agreements, correct?

A. Yes.

Q. So for Aldrich, it's Trane Technologies Company LLC, correct?

A. Correct.

Q. And for Murray, it's Trane U.S. Inc., correct?

A. Correct.

Q. Can you tell me why there are two different payers for the different debtors?

A. That gets to the legal entity structure and outside my realm of expertise.

Q. The funding agreements are the vehicles whereby Aldrich and Murray will have assurances that there will be enough money to pay the asbestos liabilities that are being assigned to them, correct?

A. I'm sorry. Can you repeat that?

Q. Yes.

Q. Correct.

A. Okay. So for 200 Park, they manufacture modular and process chillers for the commercial HVAC industry.

And on Climate Labs, they do chemical analysis, so oil analysis, basically, to look for any type of contaminants -- that was the word I was looking for earlier today -- contaminants in the oil that can be predictive of any type of potential failure.

Q. And these companies have customers?

A. Customers? Sorry. Did you say "customers"?

Q. Yes.

A. Yes.

Q. And they generate revenue, correct?

A. They do.

Q. They're not fake companies, are they?

A. They are not.

Q. So I just want to summarize.

If I understand your testimony correctly, the goal of the Trane family of companies in this bankruptcy is to ensure that all individuals who were harmed by asbestos-containing products, either manufactured or sold by those companies, will be paid in full by an asbestos trust as soon as possible, correct?

A. Yes.

Q. And that's existing and future claims in the tort system, correct?

A. Correct.

Q. Did you ever hear anyone say at any point in all of the discussions concerning the restructuring that the goal was to delay paying asbestos claimants?

A. No.

Q. Did you ever hear anyone say at any point in all of the discussions concerning the restructuring discussion -- I just repeated that. Sorry. Let me start again. Strike that.

Did you ever hear anyone say at any point in all of the discussions concerning the restructuring that the goal was to artificially suppress the debtors' asbestos liabilities in the tort system?

A. No.

MR. GUY: I have no further questions.

JOB No. 191080

(Witness reviews document.)

A. Okay. I'm sorry. I've had a chance to review it.

What was your question?

Q. Are you familiar with this document?

A. Honestly, I don't recall. I may have seen it.

Q. Okay. Let's move to Page 3 of this document.

A. Okay.

Q. And if you see the first full paragraph on Page 3, under the numbered list --

A. Okay.

Q. -- could you read that paragraph for me?

A. You want me to read it out loud or to myself?

Q. Out loud, please.

A. Okay.

"In further response to Request 28, which cites excerpts from Paragraph 40 of the declaration of Allan Tananbaum, the," quote, "personnel who Mr. Tananbaum expected will play key roles in the debtors' reorganization," close quote, who would be -- "who," quote, "would be required to spend substantial time managing and directing the activities and the day-to-day defense of these lawsuits," close quote, "are Mr. Tananbaum and Mr. Sands," period.

Q. Do you agree that you're expected to play a key role in the debtors' reorganization?

A. I believe so, yes.

Q. How so?

A. Well, as we discussed earlier, my job is to provide legal support to Mr. Tananbaum, who is the chief legal officer, and to the debtors throughout the pendency of the -- what do you call it -- the reorganization. Sorry. I wasn't sure if you used the word "bankruptcy."

And that encompasses every aspect of my duties and every aspect of the reorganization process, and we expect that to ultimately culminate in a 524(g) bankruptcy trust.

Q. If the -- strike that.

The second part of this paragraph, which states you're among "the personnel who would be required to spend substantial time managing and directing the activities involved in the day-to-day defense of these lawsuits," let's assume for the moment that these lawsuits are lawsuits against the nondebtor affiliates if the preliminary injunction is not granted.

With that assumption in place, do you agree that you would be required to spend substantial time managing and directing those activities?

A. Do me a favor. You lost me there for a second. Please restate or reask your question.

Q. Let me ask it this way.

If the preliminary injunction is not granted and asbestos claims are allowed to continue against the nondebtor affiliates, do you expect that you will be involved in the day-to-day defense of those lawsuits?

A. I do.

Q. And would you be involved in those lawsuits as part of your 90 percent of secondment to the debtor or your 10 percent work for the nondebtor affiliates?

A. Well, I think it would have to be both, because if you think about it, these are projects -- excuse me -- these are products and liabilities that belong to Aldrich and Murray. And if the nondebtor affiliates are being forced to defend those in the tort system while Aldrich and Murray continue in the bankruptcy system, the nondebtor affiliates -- you know, there are liabilities, so there's no one to defend them. The documents are ours. The liabilities are ours. The witnesses are ours, meaning the debtors.

The -- you know, the debtors run the risk of having collateral estoppel issues, res judicata issues, adverse rulings on issues that -- if it proceeds in the tort system -- so take discovery responses as an example -- Aldrich and Murray have a 30-plus-year history of providing discovery -- hundreds of discovery responses in the tort system.

If the nondebtor affiliates are being forced to answer for those liabilities in the tort system and are -- answer in a way that is inconsistent with our prior discovery responses, that creates issues that in this type of mass tort litigation with repeat players, same plaintiffs' counsel in the same jurisdictions with judges that are, shall we say -- with jurisdictions that are not prone to grant summary judgment, this creates a management nightmare for us, number one, for the debtors, and we owe indemnity back, as I understand it, to those nondebtor affiliates, the new Trane U.S. Inc. and new Trane Technologies, so we're going to be stuck with their handling of those liabilities.

And it's -- you know, to say, well, is it one or the other, I don't think you can draw that line, because it directly impacts the debtors. And, of course, my job as being seconded to the debtors is to support the eventual resolution of this in a 524(g) bankruptcy, as is Mr. Tananbaum's. And if we're distracted having to defend the nondebtors in the tort system and, you know, dealing with counsel issues and dealing with discovery and dealing with trials and then being stuck with the results of that, it's clearly going to impede our ability to manage and achieve resolution of a 524(g) bankruptcy.

I think I answered your question.

Q. You did. Thank you.

Is it also your understanding that the purpose of the bankruptcy filings for Aldrich and Murray is to attempt to resolve all of the historic asbestos liabilities in one place?

A. Yes, absolutely. That is my understanding of the goal.

Q. Do you have an understanding of how current and future asbestos claimants are to be treated in a 524(g) trust process?

A. Well, I'm not an expert, but my understanding is that current and future claimants are to be treated substantially similarly. And that's -- I'm not aware of the nuts and bolts, but to me, they're supposed to be treated essentially the same.

MS. FELDER: Thank you. That was all I had.

THE WITNESS: Thank you.

MR. EVERT: Anybody else?

Then I think we're done.

REMOTE VIDEOTAPED DEPOSITION OF

ALLAN TANANBAUM

Stenographically Reported By:
Mark Richman, CSR, CCR, RPR, CM
Job No. 191087

MONDAY, MARCH 22, 2021
9:30 A.M.

Remote Videotaped Deposition of Allan Tananbaum, before Mark Richman, a Certified Shorthand Reporter, Certified Court Reporter, Registered Professional Reporter and Notary Public within and for the State of New York.

understood the concept.

Q. So as of May 1st, you were seconded as chief legal officer to the two debtors and maintained your role as deputy general counsel products litigation and vice president of compliance -- I'm sorry -- and vice president for Trane Technologies; is that right?

A. Yes. But not -- not -- not the compliance piece. I think you corrected that.

Q. Right. What are your current professional duties and work responsibilities as chief legal officer of the debtors?

A. Well, I'm essentially the in-house client for all of the restructuring lawyers at Jones Day who are assisting our efforts to create a consensual trust that will pay valid asbestos victims.

Q. When you say in-house client, what does that mean? Are you suggesting, you know, communications with, with your outside counsel?

A. Suggesting the full panoply of activities that client has to engage in, right? We've got a large team of bankruptcy attorneys who were very skilled at what they're doing but obviously they just can't turn around and do things without client approval. And so, you know, there's a large array of activities that I engage in. There are daily conference calls about strategy. There are many draft pleadings and briefs to review. There are myriad of decisions to be made on almost a daily basis. And I should also add, I apologize, there's an entirely separate workstream around finances. I have to approve many invoices for payment from our own set of counsel. I've got to approve ACC counsel payments including your firm's payments and a variety of experts as well. And I have to interact with the CFO of the debtors,

Ms. Roeder, on approval and payment of those things.

Q. You mentioned daily conference calls. Who are those conference calls with?

A. The attorneys representing the debtors in this matter.

Q. Do you have daily conference calls with people in the Trane organization about this matter?

A. Certainly close to daily conference calls with Mr. Sands who is, as I think you know, also a Trane Technologies employee who is seconded to the debtors, although his secondment currently stands at 90 percent not a hundred percent.

Certainly discussions with him, certainly several discussions a week with Ms. Roeder and Cathy Bowen who is a Trane Technologies employee who assists Ms. Roeder on financial matters.

Q. Anyone else besides Mr. Sands and Ms. Roeder and Ms. Bowen?

A. On a daily basis, I would say probably not.

Q. What about on a weekly basis or biweekly, bimonthly basis?

A. On a weekly basis I have a standing discussion with Ray Pittard who is the vice president and chief restructuring officer as you know, as I believe you know, for the debtors and who is also the chief transformation officer for Trane Technologies itself. You know, with Mr. Turtz at least on a biweekly basis I'll have a discussion.

Q. And you report to Mr. Turtz, right?

A. I wouldn't say in my seconded role I report to Mr. Turtz. I think technically I report to the boards of the debtors, and I know that there's also reference in some of the key agreements that I technically report to Mr. Valdes. But I certainly administratively report to Mr. Turtz.

Q. And those phone calls, those biweekly phone calls with Mr. Turtz, those have to do with your administrative reporting function to him?

A. If you're asking whether the discussions are about administrative functions, the answer is no, they're about substantive issues, they're about, you know, touching base on what I've been doing and where the cases stand.

I think as you know the services agreement provides that the debtors get additional, or are entitled to additional legal support. And throughout the process of these bankruptcies we've had steady legal services provided to the debtors by both Mr. Turtz and Sara Brown.

Q. You mentioned draft pleadings and briefs. Do you look at all the pleadings and briefs that your counsel produces in these matters?

A. That's correct.

Q. Are you a bankruptcy attorney?

A. No. And in fact I'm glad you mention that. Because I'm not a bankruptcy attorney, it probably takes me much longer to review some of these pleadings and briefs and it makes some of the conversations that I have with Jones Day last much longer. Because again, I'm a client representative and I need to understand what's happening before it can be signed off on.

So you're right, I actually spend more time with my counsel because I'm not a bankruptcy attorney to make sure I get it.

Q. I think you mentioned a myriad of decisions made on a daily basis.

A. That's correct.

Q. What is that?

A. Decisions about which arguments to push and which not, arguments not to push, decisions about which motions to make and not to make, decisions about which motions to oppose and which motions not to oppose, decisions about how Jones Day will staff various matters.

I mean I could go on and on, a lot of decisions.

Q. Do you participate in board meetings?

A. I participate in all of the debtors board meetings, that's correct.

Q. I've seen documents referring to you as the secretary in these board meetings. What does that term mean?

A. My understanding -- so, yes, I'm the chief legal officer for the debtors as well as the secretary. I believe in my role as the secretary, I'm responsible for maintaining the books and records of the debtors, and I believe I have authorization, I believe, that came from a combination of some of the orienting documents and perhaps the unanimous consents dated May 1st of 2020.

I believe I've got authorization to help open and maintain bank accounts and the like.

Q. You mentioned your daily tasks earlier, running the full panoply I think is the, is the phrase you used.

Have those tasks evolved since the debtors filed for bankruptcy?

A. I don't know if they've evolved so much as they might be different at different points in time, depending on what is actively happening in the case at a given moment in time.

Q. So if there aren't a lot of pleadings you're not reviewing pleadings obviously, is that --

A. If there's no pleading being drafted or contemplated, that's correct, I wouldn't be reviewing pleadings.

Q. Have you been participating in discovery related to the preliminary injunction matter?

A. What do you mean by participating?

Q. Have you overseen collection of documents, have you prepared witnesses for depositions, things of that nature?

A. So let me separate the two. On the collection of documents, I put Rob Sands in charge of that. And because Trane's production of documents was going to come from the same set last fall, we changed his secondment so that he could simultaneously support the debtors and the Trane affiliates. But Rob has, in general, been on the spot on the document productions.

Now when there are tricky issues that require counsel caucusing pertaining to a subset of the documents, you can be sure that I'm involved in those discussions but, in general, Rob's taken the lead on the documents.

With regard to testimony, I've been involved in the preparation of witnesses that Jones Day has presented in deposition on behalf of the debtors. I have not been involved in the preparation of witnesses that the Trane entities have presented as Trane witnesses.

Q. Okay. So you participate with the debtors witnesses but not with the Trane witnesses; is that right?

A. That's correct.

Q. And what does that, what does that participation entail with respect to the debtors witnesses?

A. I participated in the teams sessions, in the team's prep sessions with the debtor witnesses and Jones Day.

Q. And why were you involved with those team sessions and preparation of the witnesses?

A. I'm the chief legal officer for the debtors, and so I think I have a right to be at -- to have a seat at the table.

Q. Have you participated in preparing all the debtors witnesses that have been deposed to date?

A. Yes, except I wasn't as involved in Mr. Sands' preparation, and I can't recall, I may have been at an initial session but I wasn't at all of the sessions.

Q. You went through what your kind of daily tasks and typical routine is I think with respect to your current position.

Before the corporate restructuring, if I say the 2020 corporate restructuring, will you know what I'm talking about?

A. Yes.

Q. Before the 2020 corporate restructuring, what did a typical day at work look like for you?

A. Which time period are you referring to?

Q. Directly before the corporate restructuring?

A. So in the, fair to say the April 2020 time frame?

Q. Sure.

A. Okay. Because prior to April I would have had a whole other set of duties and compliance and I just wanted

Q. Okay. You also write the facts and statements set forth in this declaration are based on your review of relevant documents. Do you see that, it's C?

A. I do see that, yes.

Q. What are the relevant documents that you reviewed, do you recall?

A. I don't recall right now.

Q. Let's look at paragraph 40 of your declaration. You see, it's the paragraph that starts with personnel who I expect will play key roles, you see that?

A. That's correct.

Q. That first, that first really two sentences?

A. Right.

Q. I anticipate these activities would consume my and possible others' time?

A. Right.

Q. It ends with parties, you see that?

A. I do.

Q. What role would these personnel that you're referring to in those first two sentences play in the debtors' reorganization?

A. Well I think the only way to answer this is to talk about specific people, right.

Q. Who are the personnel that you are referring to in those first two sentences?

A. Well on the one hand principally myself and Mr. Sands in the legal function. And then on the other hand principally Ms. Roeder and I would say Cathy Bowen as well in the finance organization.

Q. Okay. Let me ask you this. What is the basis for your statement in those two sentences that personnel would be required to spend substantial time managing and directing the activities and these activities would consume my and possible others' time, what's the basis for those two sentences?

A. Well again I'd like to divide them between the legal and the finance folks.

For Mr. Sands and myself on the legal side, as I mentioned earlier, when asbestos is -- when asbestos is unleashed and fully operating in the tort system, it's a daily barrage of settlement demands and negotiations and mediations and discovery that needs to be responded to. And sometimes, you know, obstreperous judges in wonderful places such as Madison County calling you to bring a senior corporate witness to appear at a hearing or deposition on next to no notice.

I mean there's always some emergency going on and it's all consuming.

In the past, when we ran the team with a full panoply of litigation unleashed against both Aldrich and Murray's predecessors, we took care of that with a much larger staff than just Mr. Sands and myself. In addition to Mr. Sands, there was -- there were at least two other full-time attorneys handling asbestos. There was a full time paralegal assisting asbestos. There was a vendor who assisted in invoice review, and there was, as well, a para-technologist, a paralegal who specialized in lien process who helped do a lot of the reporting that we had.

So that was a full-time job for that entire team. If we were going to be back in the tort system which I believe failure to secure a PI would essentially bring about, and we would have that full array of activity and just Mr. Sands and myself on the legal side to handle it.

I think if that's all we were doing, that would be an overwhelming task for the two of us. But if we were also simultaneously tasked with working with bankruptcy counsel to help effectuate a resolution in the bankruptcy case, that would be a bridge too far.

Q. Why did you reduce your staff to the current level of just you and Mr. Sands?

A. We lost several individuals in the summer, I would say July of 2020.

Q. When you say you lost them, what does that mean?

A. Their positions were eliminated.

Q. And why were their positions eliminated in July 2020?

A. So I think there are -- I think there were two components to that. The first component was that in wake of the Reverse Morris Trust transaction that closed in the end of February 2020, the entirety of Trane Technologies began a restructuring effort led by Mr. Pittard an effort that I understand continues to this day.

And given the one focus of that corporate restructuring was the need given the smaller size of the company to restructure the corporate functions to make them leaner.

And so I think what Mr. -- what Mr. Turtz was confronted with was a need to bring his staffing levels -- to rationalize his staffing levels. And while I can't recall the number of lawyers who were asked to leave the legal function as a result of the restructuring, there were a number as well as a number of other professionals in the legal department.

And I think no corner of the legal department went unscathed. And my understanding was that given the pendency of the restructuring and the review of asbestos being undertaken by the debtors' boards, that the staffing decisions in the litigation team including the asbestos litigation team were extended until further notice.

So while a number of lawyers lost their job in the April time frame, we were given dispensation to extend a bit before the other shoe was going to drop so to speak.

So that's sort of issue number 1.

Issue number 2, I think, was our expectation, once the bankruptcies were filed, that we'd be the beneficiaries of the automatic stay and that would not have the need for that type of staffing in the aftermath of the filing.

Q. Is there any expectation of replacing those people that were let go during the summer?

A. There was no expectation at that point in time, and I don't have that expectation now.

If the PI were not granted, I suppose we'd have to revisit how to make things work.

Q. Okay.

A. And frankly, apologize, I was just going to add that frankly we would need additional resources to be able to get the job done.

Q. I think that's what you referred to as the legal function, and then what about with respect to Ms. Roeder and Ms. Bowen?

A. Well, yes, what I would say with respect to them is that right now they have workstreams relating to the bankruptcy. Ms. Roeder, for instance, supervises the -- works with a financial consultant and supervises the filing of required monthly reports that go to the bankruptcy administrator. Ms. Roeder also ensures that -- that we book payments to various -- and pay payments to various professionals both those and those of the -- as well as those associated with both the ACC and FCR in this matter, and, and Ms. Roeder also ensures that the debtors are adequately funded at all times and on a quarterly basis will review the consolidated financial statements provided by the nondebtor sister affiliates New Trane US Inc. and Trane Technologies LLC.

A. TANANBAUM

So there's some standing workstreams that they're involved in.

Should, should the PI not be granted and should tort cases begin again against any of the protected parties, inevitably Ms. Roeder would be drawn back into some of the workstreams that she previously engaged in prior to the restructuring, things around looking at the payments of professionals, looking into the reserving of liabilities and assets and the like.

And so I think there would be a strain on both Ms. Roeder and Ms. Bowen who unlike Mr. Sands and I are not seconded and have day jobs as well.

So I think you'd just be adding to the tasks that are already on their plates and strangle them.

Q. Just so I understand it, Ms. Roeder, you said she handles the MORs or monthly operating reports, she handles payments to bankruptcy professionals, and she ensures that the debtors are adequately funded; is that right?

A. Those are the things that came to mind, yes. I'm sure she's doing other things as well that perhaps I'm not as privy to.

Q. Are you personally aware of any other bankruptcy related activity she engages in?

A. I think those are the main ones.

Q. How much of her time is spent on those three functions?

A. Well I think --

MR. HIRST: Object to form. Go ahead.

A. I think that question would be better asked of her than of me. But -- sorry?

Q. Do you understand my question?

A. I do.

Q. Let me rephrase it just to be sure. How much time does Ms. Roeder, to your knowledge, spend on the monthly operating reports, the payments to professionals and making sure the debtors are adequately funded?

A. I couldn't say.

Q. How about with respect to Ms. Bowen, what bankruptcy activities does she engage in?

A. Ms. Bowen supports Ms. Roeder on all of the above. She's more on the spot in the initial instance around the payment of various invoices once they've been reviewed and approved by Ms. Roeder and myself.

Q. Can you tell me, do you know how much time Ms. Bowen spends on bankruptcy related issues?

A. I couldn't. But what I can say for both her and Ms. Roeder is that from my perspective, given the breadth of their other assignments, you know, it's not an exceedingly high percentage, but whether it's 50 percent or below 50 percent I couldn't say.

Q. And you mentioned that neither of them are seconded, so they both work for the Trane organization specifically?

A. That's correct. And they've got other ongoing duties.

Q. Besides yourself, Mr. Sands, Ms. Roeder and Ms. Bowen, are you aware of anyone else that may be distracted or averted in your opinion if the preliminary injunction is not granted?

A. Those are the main folks, I would say.

Q. Okay. Are there any others?

A. No one is coming to mind at the moment.

Q. Okay. You said that they were the main folks. Are there others that are, to use a different word, you know, secondary? Is there anyone else that you're aware of that could be distracted if the preliminary injunction is not granted?

MR. HIRST: Object to the form, asked and answered.

A. Nobody that I can think of. I'm trying to be careful, but I can't think

Q. Did any of the Trane affiliates sign-off on the decision to file for bankruptcy?

A. They did not sign-off on it; the decision was made by Aldrich and Murray's boards.

Q. How do the debtors expect to fairly resolve their asbestos claims through this bankruptcy?

A. I think for my -- from my perspective, the fair resolution is principally the product of a trilateral negotiation in which the debtors, the FCR and the ACC align on the size of a trust. I think that's principally the way it should work and I expect and hope that it will.

Q. Have you been engaged in discussions with the debtors or any nondebtor affiliate with respect to contributing to a Section 524 (g) trust?

A. Discussions within the debtor? Absolutely.

Q. Okay.

discussions to amicably resolve this matter.

Q. Mr. Tananbaum, do the debtors expect a contribution to a trust -- I'm sorry, let me rephrase that.

Do the debtors anticipate that they will pay less than they were paying in the tort system with Section 524 (g) plan?

MR. HIRST: Same objections and caution the witness if your only answer is the product of -- would reveal confidential privileged legal advice, I'll instruct you not to answer. If you have any other basis to answer, you can go ahead and do so.

A. Well since the question is couched in terms of expectations, I guess I can answer it. I would say that we don't have an expectation because we don't control the outcome of discussions, right. I don't have a present expectation because where we land will be the result of three-way discussions.

Q. Have any of the protected parties committed to contributing to an eventual 524 (g) trust?

A. Well let me take them one by one. You've got the affiliate protected parties, and I don't think that -- I'm not aware of any expectation on the part of the non -- of the affiliates who are not the direct sister entities of Trane Technologies -- of Aldrich and Murray.

So that is to say the only affiliates who I think are expecting to be potentially funding a 524 (g) trust are New Trane and New Trane Technologies LLC.

Beyond that, you know, you've got a long list of affiliates. I wouldn't imagine there's an expectation on the part of any of those other affiliates that they're going to be needing to pay out. So that's with respect to the affiliates.

concede there's some delay that needs to be weighed. I'm not going to say otherwise. But I think in the scheme of things it's not as bad as it may look at first blush and it's clearly outweighed by the harms on our side of the -- on our side of the fence.

Q. Have you formed any opinions, sir, as to whether a successful reorganization is likely?

A. I'm optimistic and I believe it is likely.

Q. And what documents or information do you rely on to formulate that view that it is likely?

A. I'm just reminded that while these cases are hard fought, the previous cases that have all eventually gotten over the finish line. I also understand that, and I don't question that in these preliminary skirmishes the parties have to signal hard. And, you know, I understand that the ACC, for instance, is trying to signal hard right now that there will never be a deal.

But I say to myself that that's kind of what, that's kind of what the ACC has to say right now. But I don't think it's a -- I don't think it's a barometer of what's to come later on and so I'm optimistic that we will be successful in getting this case done.

I wish we could do it a lot faster. I know the ACC likes to complain that we're all about delay but it's actually just the opposite. We would love to sit down tomorrow and negotiate a plan.

This is not some vacation from the tort system where we're rubbing our hands saying how wonderful to be out of the tort system another year. It's -- that's not it at all.

This bankruptcy filing was driven for the desire for finality, not for a desire to save a buck. And we stand ready, willing and able to sit down immediately to commence and deepen those discussions.

Q. Are you aware that current asbestos claimants would vote on any potential 524 (g) plan, sir?

A. That's my understanding. That comports with my understanding, yes.

Q. Are you aware that 524 (g) requires a 75 percent supermajority vote by current asbestos claimants?

A. I am aware of that, yes.

Q. Are you aware of anyone working on a plan of reorganization on behalf of the debtors at this point?

MR. HIRST: Object to form. I will caution the witness not to reveal anything that's the result of confidential legal advice. If you can otherwise answer, go ahead.

A. Well, what I would say is that I've had extensive discussions with the legal team at Jones Day since these cases were filed and it's my understanding through those discussions that a plan will need to be arrived at, 22nd board meeting?

A. No reason.

Q. And your signature is at the bottom of page 5; is that right?

A. I do see that, yes, that's my signature.

Q. Did you draft this process or same process as the other ones?

A. Same process as the other ones.

Q. On page 3 it says there is an update regarding activities in connection with current asbestos related lawsuits.

A. I see that.

Q. Again points to Mr. Evert. Do you recall what those updates were?

A. Again, the same constellation of updates that I previously testified to, just updating the board as to what happened in the tort system the previous week and in discussions and communications with our defense counsel network and insurers.

Q. On page 4 the minutes say that following a lengthy and robust discussion of the benefits and challenges associated with the use of Section 524 (g), Mr. Tananbaum then reviewed the other strategic options. Do you see that?

A. I did -- do.

Q. Do you recall a lengthy and robust discussion at this meeting?

A. I recall that this discussion went on at some length. I think it was, as many of the board meetings during this period of time were quite a long discussion and some of the board meetings, perhaps this one, went on long, lasting, you know, for upwards of three or four hours.

So I recall in general a robust discussion, yes.

Q. In what way was the discussion robust?

A. Robust in the sense that the board seemed very concerned that it understand how the options work, what the potential benefits of each option were, what the potential limitations of each option were, what the risks of each option were, what the implementation costs of pursuing each option might be, and what the ultimate cost if you could reach the -- reach the end of the process and see it through successfully.

So kind of lots of questions around all of those angles.

MR. PHILLIPS: Let's turn to tab 42. This is the Aldrich board meeting minutes previously marked as Committee Exhibit 36.

(Committee Exhibit 36, Aldrich Pump minutes from June 17th, 2020 Bates number Debtors 50812 was previously marked for identification.)

MR. PHILLIPS: So this is Murray -- I'm sorry. This is the Aldrich Pump minutes from June 17th, 2020 it has a Bates number at the bottom starting with 50812. And I believe Object to form only.

Q. Looking back at that time that Chapter 11 filing it says now, therefore, be it resolved, it says in the best interest of the company, its creditors and other interested parties?

A. That's correct.

Q. So why was it in the best interest of the creditors?

A. Well again I think I testified to this before, at least I hope I did, the boards were certainly focused on what was in the best interest of the debtors, that's a given. But the boards were also fairly focused on what was in the best interest of the creditors and particularly the asbestos claimants. And I think the board was sensitive to the delays, the significant transaction costs and the inefficiencies of the tort system. And I do believe that one of the board's motivators in authorizing the filing of the Chapter 11 case was that there had to be a better way, a more efficient way, a more humane way, if you will, of cutting out as many of the long legal processes as possible and, you know, permitting claimants to get to a point where they can easily fill out a form and get just compensation where it's fairly due and owing.

So I think the creditor perspective was one we did express in the presentations and that the board members really asked a lot about.

I recall that the topic came up.

Q. At some point during that meeting did you ask the board to vote on the resolution?

A. That's correct.

Q. And how did the board vote?

A. The vote -- the board voted unanimously to proceed with the filing.

MR. PHILLIPS: Let's go to tab 43, Cecelia.

Q. We're going to send to you through the Chat function, Mr.

exhibit, Committee Exhibit 191 in front of you, sir.

A. I'm not seeing it pop up on the chat, unless it's going somewhere else. Oh, I see one new message. Let's see. All right, good. Let me save it to my desktop.

Q. This document has a Trane Bates label at the bottom of 7526. And it appears to be an email from Eric Hankins to Eric Hankins containing conversations with, and the subject line conversation with Hankins, Eric, appears to be a chat between Rolf Paeper and Mr. Hankins. Let me know when you've had a chance to look at that?

A. I see it. May I have a moment to review it? I don't think I've seen this before.

Q. Sure. I'd like you to turn to page 2 when you've had a chance to look at this.

A. Okay, just one moment.

Yes, okay, I've had a chance to review it.

Q. Okay. Page 2. And do you have any reason to believe this isn't an accurate depiction of this chat between Mr. Paeper and Mr. Hankins?

A. No reason. I see it was produced with a Trane Bates stamp.

Q. Thank you. On page 2, about halfway down the page Mr. Hankins message at 7:58 a.m. says "BTW, the only interesting thing that came up in the finance stream meeting yesterday was that it seems like it may be more like mid-June before the BODs for Aldrich and Murray will make a decision about how we proceed going forward."

Do you see that?

A. I do.

[redacted]

A. TANANBAUM

[redacted]

Q. But he did put it in quotes, right?

A. He did. And while I don't know what it means, I look at it and I say well that's potentially unfortunate. But Eric Hankins had it right.

And I forgot to mention Eric. He was definitely part of the Omega project on the finance side assisting particularly on Rolf's workstreams as I recall. But I think Eric got it right, it has to be an independent board of directors' decision and he also pushed back on the notion that this was definitely going to occur in some sort of set timetable.

I think as I testified before, it was, in general, thought to be a good thing to keep pushing and doing -- do this as soon as possible. Particularly, I should add, given all of the claims that started to come in against the protected parties post divisional merger that creates some risk and that's another reason to proceed with all due haste if you can.

But, you know, Mr. Hankins' statement validates what I was saying, that we had an independent board process and, you know, whatever assumptions about time frames might have been made before the board was on a course and looked like they needed more time.

Q. And Mr. Paeper was part of Project Omega, right?

A. Mr. Paeper was. He was project manager and principally in charge of the licensing workstream, yes.

Q. Okay.

MR. PHILLIPS: Why don't we take a break now, Mr. Hirst.

MR. HIRST: Great, Todd.

MR. PHILLIPS: We'll take ten minutes. Want to come back at about 4:42, give or take.

MR. HIRST: Sounds good.

THE VIDEOGRAPHER: The time is 4:33 p.m., this is the end of media protected parties as indemnified parties?

A. Well we tried to create a comprehensive list of M&A counterparties, that is to say, in general, companies that had, we had divested and as part of the divestiture had agreed to indemnify and protect from Aldrich and/or Murray asbestos claims as the case may be.

And so this was our attempt through a lot of archeology of old M&A deals and experience in managing tort cases to come up with a comprehensive list.

Q. Is it fair to say that none of the parties on this list are affiliates of the debtors?

A. That is correct.

Q. Do you know which, if any, indemnified parties on this list have been sued for Aldrich or Murray asbestos claims?

A. I would say most, if not all of them.

Q. Most or all of them have been named on complaints for --

A. I believe so, yes.

Q. Do you know if those entities have sought indemnification from Aldrich or Murray?

A. Yes, and in some cases their successors.

Q. Turning to the insurers, do you know what the criteria was for including a party on the list of the protected parties as insurers? And this starts on page 10 of 27 of the PDF.

A. This list of insurers I believe is a comprehensive list of all the Aldrich and Murray historical insurers that provided comprehensive general liability insurance that would have included asbestos, you know, typically from the mid '50s through on the Murray side I believe it's April of '86 and on the Aldrich side through January 1st, '85.

A. I haven't given that thought so I don't know how to answer that right now definitively. I don't think I can. But I think our motion was predicated on these contractual indemnifications. That's --

Q. Has any party ever tendered a common law indemnification claim to the debtors?

A. I am not aware of any. It's possible, but I'm not aware of any.

Q. Turning to paragraph 38 of your declaration, you state that if allowed to pursue the Aldrich Murray asbestos claims against the protected parties the defendants would litigate the same key facts involving same products, same time period, same alleged injuries. You see that paragraph?

A. I do, yes.

Q. Any rulings or findings could bind the debtors. The debtors could not stand by as liability is potentially established. Do you see that?

A. I do.

Q. What documents or information do you rely to formulate that view articulated in paragraph 38, sir?

A. Documents? I principally don't rely on documents. I principally rely on my knowledge of the tort system, the fact that only Rob Sands and myself are equipped to defend these products and these cases.

So as a very practical matter, it just is as clear as rain that the only way these cases could be successfully defended is with our intercession.

Q. Let me ask this. How could any rulings or findings regarding the Aldrich/Murray asbestos claims asserted against protected parties bind the debtors with respect to those same claims?

A. Because again as I testified earlier and as our motion makes clear, these claims, any claims that might be Deposition of Murray Boiler and Aldrich Pump by its Corporate Representative Allan Tananbaum, before Mark Richman, a Certified Shorthand Reporter, Certified Court Reporter, Registered Professional Reporter and Notary Public within and for the State of New York.

A. I would say not in drafting it but certainly in reviewing a draft plan, commenting on it, providing input.

Q. Since your deposition on March 22nd, have the debtors entered negotiations with any parties in hopes of drafting a consensual plan of reorganization?

MR. HIRST: I'm just objecting on scope here, Todd.

MR. PHILLIPS: This is topic 19, irreparable harm.

MR. HIRST: All right.

MR. PHILLIPS: And topic 21, successful reorganization.

Q. Let me repeat my question. Have the debtors entered negotiations with any parties in hoping of drafting a consensual plan of reorganization?

A. I would characterize the debtors as being in the beginning, very beginning stages of the negotiation with the FCR.

Q. Okay. To your knowledge, has a term sheet been drafted or executed?

A. Not executed. A draft term sheet has been shared with the FCR.

Q. And can you give me a general idea of what the terms of that term sheet are?

MR. HIRST: Hold on one second. I don't have an objection, Mr. Tananbaum, giving it at a high level. This is negotiations with another party in this case.

I suspect if we were negotiating with your client, Mr. Phillips, you would not want revealed to other parties in the case. But from a high level perspective I'll let Mr. Tananbaum testify.

MR. GUY: FCR has the same objection.

Q. Let me rephrase my question. So just so I'm clear, a term sheet has been exchanged between the debtors and the FCR; is that your testimony?

A. The debtors shared a draft term sheet for the FCR's review and comment, yes.

Q. Does that term sheet include a number for asbestos liabilities, such as a contribution to a trust?

A. No, it does not.

Q. Are in-house counsel involved in working on a term sheet with the FCR?

A. I guess I'm not quite sure how to respond to that question. The debtors already shared their proposal for a term sheet, you know, what I would say is that it's in the FCR's court right now.

Q. I'm sorry, let me rephrase my question.

Are you or Mr. Sands or anyone else from the legal department involved in that term sheet exchange and process?

A. I certainly was involved in reviewing the draft term sheet and providing input before it was communicated to counsel for the FCR.

Q. Mr. Tananbaum, what steps specifically have the debtors taken since the petition date towards successfully reorganizing under Chapter 11 here?

A. Well, I think the communication of the draft term sheet is one tangible step. The discussions that have been proceeding between our counsel, myself, Mr. Grier's counsel and Mr. Grier are all moving in the direction of reaching a consensual plan and the continued discussions that the debtors have with their insurance representatives are also moving in that same direction.

We're basically talking to everybody except the ACC, which again we would love to begin doing as well, and those are all movements that get us closer.

I would also argue that prosecuting this preliminary injunction motion is also getting us there as well because it's clearing out the underbrush of blockers or procedural issues that will in due course I believe get us to

A. So we did review the support agreement and I believe there's similar language in the plan of divisional merger, and it does talk about, to my knowledge, indemnification and there's no explicit reference to defense. Again, if I'm wrong the agreement will control, but that's my recollection.

And so I don't see a formal contractual defense obligation, that's correct.

Q. Okay. Are the debtors aware of any parties that asserted res judicata against either Old IRNJ or Old Trane in asbestos tort litigation prebankruptcy?

A. I'm not aware of such.

Q. Are the debtors aware of any parties that asserted collateral estoppel against Old IRNJ or Old Trane in asbestos tort litigation prebankruptcy?

A. I'm not aware as such. But again, that's in a very different context where the debtors were directly defending each case and so the risk of same wasn't the same risk that we're identifying here.

Q. Did any parties to the debtors' knowledge assert res judicata against the debtors in asbestos tort litigation prebankruptcy?

A. I believe you asked that --

MR. HIRST: Object to the form. Asked and answered. Go ahead.

A. -- but I'm not aware.

Q. I actually asked about Old IRNJ and Old Trane. This question is prebankruptcy did anyone assert res judicata against the debtors?

A. Yes, thank you for that clarification. But that's prebankruptcy. So in between the divisional merger and bankruptcy, no, not aware. And in fact, I'm sorry, for that period of time I can go beyond not aware. It did not happen, I believe.

Q. Is the answer the same for collateral estoppel prebankruptcy post restructuring?

A. That's accurate, yes.

Q. To the debtors' knowledge did any parties assert res judicata against any of the debtors' nondebtor affiliates in asbestos tort litigation prebankruptcy?

A. I don't believe so, no.

Q. What about with respect to collateral estoppel?

A. Again, I don't believe so. I would careful during that time not to really be involved in the nondebtor affiliates' defense but I believe I would have heard and I don't believe so.

Q. Did any parties to the debtors' knowledge assert res judicata against any of the indemnified parties in asbestos tort litigation prebankruptcy?

A. No.

Q. What about collateral estoppel against any of the indemnified parties prebankruptcy?

A. No.

Q. Are the debtors aware of any other examples of res judicata being asserted by an asbestos tort plaintiff against an asbestos tort defendant?

A. I'm not, but again I don't think the test on this motion is past is prologue. I think if there's a risk and it can be militated against then we're duty bound to look after it. That's all this motion seeks to do. And again, the context of collateral estoppel and res judicata being applied in cases where the party in interest is actively defending the case is a far cry from the proposition here where if you would have it, if the ACC would have it, these cases against the affiliates would move forward with no input from the debtors themselves even though the actual liabilities being litigated in the cases are Aldrich and Murray liabilities, so.

Q. So it's fair to say that the debtors are not aware of any examples of res judicata being asserted by an asbestos tort plaintiff against an asbestos tort defendant?

A. I'm not aware but I don't know that I would be aware. So I don't think my lack of knowledge proves anything on that.

Q. Well I'm asking the debtors' knowledge?

A. Right, but why would the debtors, there are scores of companies involved in the asbestos litigation, I don't see why these two debtors should have awareness of what happened to some, you know, of the scores of additional companies that have been in the tort system for all these many years. I just don't think we would have that knowledge. And so our lack of knowledge just can't be viewed as meaningful.

Q. Are the debtors aware of any examples of collateral estoppel being asserted by an asbestos tort plaintiff against an asbestos tort defendant?

A. I'm not aware and I refer by reference all my previous responses.

A. I do, yes.

Q. How would the continued prosecution of claims against protected parties thwart the debtors' ability to resolve their asbestos liabilities through 524 (g)?

A. Counsel, I specifically was referring to this sentence in the second part of my prior answer, which is that it undermines the goal of resolving the 524 (g) bankruptcy simultaneously to expect continued prosecution of cases in the tort system. It just does not facilitate reaching a landing in the case.

And again it goes back to my theme that the parties need to choose a lane. We either have to slog it out in the tort system one case at a time for the next 20, 30, 40 years, who knows? Or we can all put our heads together, we can all come to the table productively and with open minds to try to resolve something efficiently and fairly.

A. He'll continue to play a secondary client role to my own.

You know, I believe I testified about all this at great length at my original declaration. I'm not a bankruptcy attorney but I am the client. No decisions can be made, no strategy can be executed without my involvement. And because I'm not a bankruptcy attorney I take more time, not less, understanding the issues.

This insulting notion that I'm not a necessary player here because I'm not a bankruptcy attorney is just ridiculous. The idea that Jones Day can run around run this bankruptcy case with effectively no client, it's just laughable.

Q. On page 2 of Mr. Hirst's letter, exhibit 107, do you still have that open, sir?

A. No, but I'll reopen it. Okay, I reopened it.

pace and she's going to need to continue to be involved in all of those workstreams.

Q. Would the debtors expect Ms. Bowen to be involved in a contested estimation proceeding?

A. I would imagine not directly, although I could also envision that we might need to source some historical data runs from her relating to prior payments. I just don't know.

Q. Would Ms. Bowen's role include formulating a plan of reorganization?

A. No.

Q. What about negotiating a plan of reorganization, would she be involved in that?

A. No.

Q. Would Ms. Bowen be distracted from the reorganization process if asbestos litigation continued against the protected parties or the debtors?

A. I think there would be more work on her plate and she's already pretty heavily tasked so it would certainly not be a welcome development, right? Because she would continue to do all the things I've outlined around the payment process supporting the bankruptcy and at the same time have to re-up her prior workstreams around processing defense counsel payments, tort settlements, looking at potentially any reserves around same. So she would, just as she had previously been involved I'm sure, she would need to be involved with the nondebtor affiliates named in the tort cases.

So, you know, is it a distraction? Absolutely. It's a certain level of distraction because on top of both those workstreams she's got her day job issues, so.

Q. Okay. Besides those individuals listed in Mr. Hirst's letter, are you aware of anyone else, when I say you I mean the debtors, are the debtors aware of anyone else that would be diverted by on the project.

Q. And was that option presented as a viable option to the debtors?

A. Certainly. I presented it as a viable option to the debtors. It was viable in the sense that one could pursue it. You know, was it as viable as other options? Was it as effective as other options? I think those are different questions. But certainly it was an option that could be pursued. And Sidley & Austin told us that other companies in fact had successfully pursued it, although they also told us they could not give us the names of any of those companies.

Q. So was it a viable option post corporate restructuring and post divisional merger?

MR. HIRST: Let me just again caution, and I think again you can answer this question, Mr. Tananbaum, but not to reveal any legal advice that either you received or you provided to the board. But I think you can go ahead and answer.

A. I would contend yes. The boards were charged with reviewing the companies', the debtors' long term asbestos position and seeing if there were a better way, a more efficient way, a fairer way to wrap asbestos up in a bow, if you will, and move past the daily slogging through the tort system.

And they made the most of that opportunity and analyzed the historical problem deeply, both from a liability and asset standpoint analyzed what it would mean to continue soldiering on in the tort system, what it might mean to file a Chapter 11 524 (g) case and what it might mean to take a different path and the structural optimization was one of those different paths.

And so the board certainly looked at it every which way. And frankly, what the prior Trane entities had or had not decided to do about it no longer mattered. It was understood, indeed it was understood by the Trane entities that created the debtors that the decision was now out of their hands and these boards was going -- were going to make the decision.

And among the options were too revert to something like structural optimization that in the past seemed to have some traction and then maybe seemed to run out of some steam. So it was certainly on the table.

Q. You mentioned discussions with Sidley Austin about it, but you said they were not able to give you any specific examples by name.

Are you aware of any examples of structural optimization taking place after a divisional merger?

A. I'm not aware one way or another. I was disappointed to hear that Sidley & Austin felt that because of confidentiality and/or privilege concerns that it could share with us the you know, the debtors were forced to, if you will, make dollars and cents calculations that weren't always based on what the true liability was. And so those are another cluster of harms as well.

Q. You said the debtors would have had to use up their own cash if they stayed in the tort system before turning to the Funding Agreement; is that right?

A. Right. We reviewed that portion of the Funding Agreement on several occasions, right? You can't ask for funding until and unless you've used your own assets first, right? That's the big proviso.

Q. How much cash do the debtors have after the corporate restructuring? How much cash were they allocated?

A. Well, show me Mr. Pittard's declaration and I'll give you the exact figures. I think Aldrich was allocated something like $26 million in cash and Murray was allocated I want to say 16.

But the correct and exact figures are enumerated in Mr. Pittard's declaration.

In addition to that, I know that there were I think in early June, prior to the restructuring the, the only cash calls under the Funding Agreement, if you will, occurred then and I think there were a couple for Aldrich and one for Murray and again records included in the MSRs would detail exactly what those numbers were.

But, you know, with balances moving up and down because insurance proceeds are coming in and because payments to vendors are going out the door, I can't tell you exactly as of the 18th how much sat in the accounts. But those are more or less the guard rails.

Q. Just taking those numbers that you threw out, the 26 and 16, do the debtors have to spend 26 and 16 million to access the Funding Agreement and then the Funding Agreement would cover the rest? Would the debtors have been financially harmed by staying in the tort system?

A. Well the harm would be to the tune of 24 and the 16. That would also include cash disbursements from the operating subs. My understanding is to date no cash disbursements have been made.

To use your hypothetical, if everything was static from the 26 and the 16, the harm would be, I would contend, the 26 and the 16.

To your point, once you get beyond that you've got the Funding Agreement. But to say there's no harm at all is not true.

Q. And how much money were the debtors spending each year before the bankruptcy on the tort system?

A. All in, close to a hundred million in, for both debtors together.

Q. And so if they paid 26 and 16 and then the Funding Agreement took over, you still think that they would have been harmed by staying in the tort system?

A. To the tune of the 42 million, that's all I'm saying. Once you get past the 42, I grant your point that it's on somebody else's nickel. But 42 million is real money where I come from.

Q. When was the idea of remaining in the tort system rejected or abandoned by the debtors?

MR. HIRST: Object to the form.

A. None of the options was rejected or abandoned until the final vote.

Q. Was remaining in the tort system presented as a viable option to the board?

A. It was certainly viable. We had, the debtors had the funding agreements. It was certainly viable that if that were the decision the debtors could revert to the tort system. You know, whether it was advisable is a separate question, but it was certainly viable.

Q. Besides the options we've Remote Videotaped Deposition of MANLIO VALDES, held at the location of the witness, taken by the Committee of Asbestos Personal Injury Claimants, before Sara S. Clark, a Registered Professional Reporter, Registered Merit Reporter, Certified Realtime Reporter, and Notary Public.

Q. And did you sign them and put them in the return envelopes back to Sara Brown?

A. Yes, sir, I believe I did.

Q. Did you carefully review the documents that were attached to this e-mail that we're looking for, April 21, or did you just sign the documents knowing in general what they were about?

MR. HAMILTON: Object to form.

A. No, I --

MR. GOLDMAN: Let me -- I'll reword the question.

Q. Did you review the document sheet -- besides the signature pages, did you review the documents that she had sent to you that were attached in the April 21 --

A. I did. I did, Mr. Goldman.

Q. Okay. Was there anything in those documents that you did not understand?

A. From memory, I don't know what the exact documents were. This is at the beginning, I believe, after I was asked if I would be willing to serve as a board member and president of those businesses. So I believe, but don't know for certain, that this was some of the incorporations and early documents that needed to be signed.

Your question is if I understood every single word in the document? The simple answer probably would be no. Some of these documents are outside of my general field of expertise. But broadly speaking, with documents like this in our company, I review them. I try to ask questions, if there were some, from legal counsel, and counsel generally tries the best they can to give me comfort. But some of these things may sit very well outside my area of immediate expertise, so...

Q. Do you recall asking any questions about any of the documents that were sent to you on April 21st?

MR. HAMILTON: Again, I'm --

A. I --

MR. HAMILTON: Excuse me, Mr. Valdes.

I'm just going to interpose an objection.

I don't need to instruct you not to answer at this point. It's a yes-or-no the operating company would be insolvent.

Q. And you said one of the considerations was treating the claimants equitably; is that right?

A. That is correct.

Q. You're talking about the people injured or killed by the asbestos product?

A. Correct. Anybody that had a legitimate claim against us. And we discussed it quite a bit.

Q. And if you kept, I think you said, option 1 was basically keep going the way you had been going with the claims being handled by Navigant and paid by the parent, what reason did you have to believe that those claimants -- if any, that those claimants would not be treated equitably if you had chosen option 1?

A. Well, Mr. Goldman, let me answer the question maybe this way, and then obviously if you have another question, I'll take that one.

But in my mind, my recollection, and just thinking back on it, I wasn't intent on solving a single variable. If I had been trying to solve the problem of a single constituent specific mention of it. I don't think it would have mattered. I don't know. I was not part of what units were created or were to be created or anything.

Q Okay. But you understood it was something in the air conditioning or air --

A Yeah, that's the nature of Trane, yes.

Q And you said -- you said that sometime after this high-level conversation you had a meeting with the team.

When approximately was that?

A It must have been either late March or early April. I don't remember. So around that period.

Q Who was part of that team meeting besides yourself?

A There was Manuel Valdez and I remember Alan Tananbaum, which became part of every meeting after that, and probably Amy Roeder. That's definitely a core in most of our meetings. And then there were a number of lawyers. I could not specifically remember who at every meeting. A lot of the people I only know by name or heard the name or by video, et cetera. So there were people I didn't know. I know there were specialists there to help us.

Q When was -- when was the subject of bankruptcy or potential bankruptcy filing or possible bankruptcy filing first mentioned, you know, to you or in your presence?

A In an implied way, when I looked at the Bestwall case, you know, it definitely appeared like an option. But we never talked about that subject as -- as a single element. We talked about it as part of, you know, the various alternatives that were discussed in every meeting at various length. So it's never been discussed as one topic. It's been much broader than asbestos or bankruptcy.

Q Is it -- is it still being -- considered one of the options?

A It's one of the options, but there were other options also. We painstakingly reviewed, over the first many, many meetings that we have, understanding all the -- because none of us knows about bankruptcy or asbestos, so none of that had -- we were brought up to speed with a lot of questions, a lot of discussions.

Q Are you familiar with an entity named 200 Park, Inc.?

A Yeah, that's a wholly-owned subsidiary of Aldrich.

Q Are you a -- are you a manager or member of code as a mechanism to finally resolve current and future asbestos claims against the companies."

As of May 29, 2020, had the decision been made to pursue section 524(g) of the bankruptcy code?

A I don't think so, no.

Q So despite the fact that the other options had been found on May 22nd to be not liable, it still hadn't not been (inaudible) to use 524(g)?

A Yeah. Oh, yeah. I don't think that's when we had made the resolution. It was still work in progress to look at the different options.

Q Okay.

A Still making sure we reviewed them and understood them and all of that.

Q If you could turn to page 3, please.

A Yes.

Q The first section discussion that's outlined in the minutes is an update regarding activities and connection with the current asbestos-related lawsuits.

Could you tell me what was said on that subject?

MR. HAMILTON: Object and instruct not to answer on the grounds it requires disclosure of communications protected by the attorney/client privilege.

BY MR. GOLDMAN:
Q The second section describes a review and further discussion of strategic options to addressing current and future asbestos claims.
Could you tell me what you recall being said on that subject?
MR. HAMILTON: Object and instruct the witness not to answer that question because it requires disclosure of communications protected by the attorney/client privilege. As we did in the prior meetings, I will not object to questions that ask what were the subject -- or what were the strategic options that were considered, but if the question is what was said, I'm objecting and instructing the witness not to answer.
BY MR. GOLDMAN:
Q In this section, it says, Mr. Tananbaum briefly reviewed the strategic options for addressing current and future asbestos claims presented June 15 -- excuse me, make sure -- at the May 15th joint meeting and further discussed at the May 22 joint meeting noting that it received requests from members of the boards at and after the May 22 joint meeting to prepare for review with the boards a side-by-side comparison of such options.

Did you make such a request?

A I think we all agreed on those and having a side by side. I don't know if it was specifically me or -- I don't know, but we all agreed that that was the right thing to do.

Q And was a side-by-side review presented at this meeting?

A I don't remember which meeting it was presented.

Q Further down the same paragraph, it says, "Mr. Tananbaum then reviewed a slide presentation which was shared electronically by internet that analyzed such options on a side-by-side basis."

A That would be this meeting.

Q So that would be on May 29?

A Probably if it says so, that's the date, yeah.

Q And do you recall the -- withdrawn.

When we talk about side by side, would that be if we do this, if we do option 1, then this thing will happen; if we do option 2, something else will happen; and so on and so forth, just going point by point? Is that what a side-by-side presentation -- is that what it was structurally?

A It was basically what we discussed before, the headlines were organizational, optimization, insurance and 524(g). And the outcome of possible permanent, efficient, et cetera. I think that's -- those are the discussions. They weren't held only during this meeting. They were held -- this whole thing traveled over time, on the 15th onward. We were digging into each scenario to make sure we're making the right decision. So side by side would definitely look at the credibility, the cost and things of that sort, all of the things we underlined earlier in our conversation and the efficiency, permanency, all of that.

Q Did you have any questions about side by side?

MR. HAMILTON: You can answer that question yes or no.

THE WITNESS: I probably did. I'm sure I did.

BY MR. GOLDMAN:

Q What were those questions?

MR. HAMILTON: Objection, instruct the witness not to answer on the grounds it requires disclosure of communications protected by the attorney/client privilege.

MS. FELDER: This is Debbie Felder from the FCR. I have one question, Mr. Zafari.

EXAMINATION

BY MS. FELDER:

Q Do you have an understanding of how asbestos claimants will be treated in the bankruptcy?

A Current or future?

Q Let's start with current.

A With the current -- well, this is to be determined as -- in the bankruptcy, if this goes through, there's all kinds of conditions we have to meet and my understanding is basically once -- and if we can set a trust, the claimants would manage the claims. So that's, in short, my understanding. And what would help me is to understand that the future claimants are treated as well as the current claimants as much as possible and they're consistent across the geographies or time. So that's how I hope that the claims would be handled.

MR. FELDER: That was all I had. Thank you.

THE WITNESS: Okay.

MR. GOLDMAN: Mr. Zafari, I have one or two followup questions.

The following panel discussion took place at the Law and Organizational Economics Center's Fourth Annual Judges and Lawyers Symposium held at Chapman University in Orange, California, on October 26, 2001. The title of the symposium was Health Care: Economics, Law, and Public Policy. The LOEC is the nation's preeminent provider of rigorous, high-quality education to state judges.

Texas Supreme Court Justice Craig Enoch:

We have two talented speakers today who are going to address two very interesting topics: medical monitoring and asbestos litigation. Our first speaker is Richard Scruggs from Pascagoula, Mississippi. Mr. Scruggs represents workers suffering from occupational injuries such as asbestosis, noise-induced hearing loss, and hand and arm vibration syndrome. His firm serves as special consultant to the Attorneys General of Mississippi and Louisiana, represents plaintiffs in asbestos litigation, and acts as co-counsel in special litigation involving consolidated personal injury cases. Since May of 1994, Mr. Scruggs' firm has been the lead private counsel to the Attorney General of Mississippi in the state's litigation against the tobacco industry. His firm filed the first complaint of its kind seeking reimbursement of Medicare funds and other health care costs provided by state government. He has also worked with Puerto Rico and states such as Oklahoma, Idaho, Louisiana, Michigan, Kansas, Montana, Ohio, Oregon, Rhode Island, Vermont, and New York. In 1997, his firm was influential in negotiating a Memorandum of Understanding between a number of state attorneys general and the tobacco industry. That Memorandum of Understanding was the model for the Master Settlement Agreement between the state attorneys general and the tobacco industry in 1998.

Our next speaker is Victor Schwartz, a partner in the Washington, D.C. office of Shook, Hardy & Bacon L.L.P., a 575-person law firm based in Kansas City, Missouri. Mr. Schwartz is a former law Professor and Dean of the University of Cincinnati College of Law. Later, as chairman of the Federal Interagency Task Force on Product Liability, he received the Department of Commerce Secretary's Award for professional excellence in government service. Mr. Schwartz assisted in the drafting of both the Model Uniform Product Liability Act and the Risk Retention Act. For over two decades, he has been the senior author of Prosser, Wade and Schwartz's Torts (10th ed. 2000), the most widely used torts casebook in the United States. He is also the author of Comparative Negligence, co-author of Guide to Multistate Litigation, and author of numerous articles. Mr. Schwartz is frequently quoted in The Wall Street Journal, The Washington Post, and The New York Times, and has appeared on "Oprah" and "60 Minutes."

We are very pleased to have both speakers with us today. The first topic they will address is medical monitoring.

Richard Scruggs:

Medical monitoring is a controversial topic that has its foundation in class actions resulting from mass torts. The class action vehicle itself has been controversial as a tool for resolving mass tort cases. Class actions can be efficient in that they allow claimants to aggregate all of their claims and resolve them in a single case. Often a company that is involved in very high stakes mass tort litigation is invited to settle rather than bet the company on one big trial involving tens of thousands, if not millions, of victims.

On the other hand, critics have charged that class actions are subject to abuse, such as coupon settlements where a few class action lawyers cut a sweetheart deal with the defendant's lawyers and, essentially, sell out the rights of the many victims for a pittance. The lawyers make a great deal of money, but the victims get practically nothing, and their rights are barred. Despite those abuses, however, I think the class action vehicle has great potential as an alternative to forcing a company to choose between declaring bankruptcy or trying every case until the company exhausts its insurance coverage in jurisdictions where runaway verdicts are common.

Medical monitoring arose in response to some of the challenges that plaintiffs face in meeting all of the requirements for class certification. Often, class actions are challenged in mass torts because they do not meet the typicality requirement of Rule 23(a) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure [or similar state rules]. Additionally, class actions may be challenged based upon the predominance requirement of Rule 23(b)(3) because, in many cases, issues of individual exposure or injury can be argued to predominate over issues common to the class.

In medical monitoring cases, those problems are minimized because everyone in the potential class has been exposed to some sort of dangerous or defective product and is entitled the same sort of remedy (i.e., medical monitoring). The real reason that medical monitoring, in my judgment, is preferable to a traditional class action is because it will better satisfy the requirements for maintaining a class, particularly on appellate scrutiny. Medical monitoring also provides a possibility of settling the case, whereas the jurisprudence is uncertain as to whether settlement classes that do not meet the strict requirements of Rules 23 of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure are permitted.

The United States Supreme Court's decisions in Amchem Prods., Inc. v. Windsor, 521 U.S. 591 (1997), and Ortiz v. Fibreboard Corp., 527 U.S. 815 (1999), as well as some cases by other courts, have created confusion as to when class action settlements will be permitted and when they will not. Medical monitoring seems to be sort of a fiction that both industry and trial lawyers use to satisfy those requirements so that they can craft a settlement that will meet the strict requirements of Rule 23.

In sum, I think that medical monitoring is a valid device. I think that, depending on the type of case, whether it should be used or not can be debated. Generally speaking, however, I think that medical monitoring serves a worthwhile purpose.

Victor Schwartz:

Medical monitoring is a concept that sounds appealing, but when you take a closer look at the issue, there are several reasons to be concerned.

The most troubling issue with medical monitoring is that it allows plaintiffs to recover damages without requiring them to show that they have suffered an injury. If you look at my casebook or any standard tort treatise, you would see that it has been a bedrock principle of tort law for over 200 years that a plaintiff may not recover unless he or she has been injured. In medical monitoring cases, however, the plaintiff is not hurt-there is nothing wrong with him or her; there is no injury.

Of course, tort law has changed over time, and continues to change, but most significant changes to tort law happen gradually, over a long period of time. For example, when some of us went to school the rule in many states was contributory negligence, which meant that if a plaintiff was even a little bit at fault, he or she could not recover at all for an injury. Gradually that was changed into a comparative negligence rule. I agree that comparative negligence is a better rule, but that change took decades. Changing a rule that says somebody who is not harmed can recover damages is a fundamental change to tort law.

The Supreme Court of the United States looked at medical monitoring in Metro-North Commuter R.R. Co. v. Buckley, 521 U.S. 424 (1997). Metro-North involved a medical monitoring claim brought by a pipefitter against his employer under the Federal Employers' Liability Act ("FELA") for occupational exposure to asbestos. FELA provides a cause of action for railroad workers against railroads engaged in interstate commerce. Cases involving FELA have generally been construed in favor of plaintiffs since FELA was enacted in 1908.

Metro-North was a case in which the facts were very sympathetic to the plaintiff. Buckley had been exposed to significant levels of asbestos, but he could not demonstrate any present physical injury - nothing was wrong. The Supreme Court decided not to allow medical monitoring under FELA. If you look at the opinion it is interesting what the Court said and observed. The Court expressed concern about many of the same issues that I will discuss today, such as the huge, almost limitless classes of people that could potentially have a claim for medical monitoring, and the difficulty of identifying which medical monitoring costs are necessary and beneficial.

I disagree with Mr. Scruggs in that I do not think that medical monitoring avoids the individualized issues raised in a class action. I think that there are several questions in medical monitoring cases that will vary from plaintiff to plaintiff. These issues include, what type of treatment is needed by each plaintiff? How much exposure is necessary before you allow a man or a woman to make a claim for medical monitoring? Are these questions really best suited for a court? Very recently the Supreme Court of Alabama (see Hinton v. Monsanto Co., 2001 WL 1073699 (Ala. Sept. 14, 2001)) and the Supreme Court of Nevada (see Badillo v. Am. Brands, Inc., 16 P.3d 435 (Nev. 2001)) both answered that question in the negative. Those two courts reasoned that the legislature may be in a better position to decide whether medical monitoring should be awarded and, if so, when.

Another issue raised by medical monitoring is, how can the courts ensure that the person who receives an award is actually going to use it to obtain medical monitoring? My friend Justice Maynard of the West Virginia Supreme Court of Appeals filed a dissenting opinion in a recent case in which a majority of that court decided to allow medical monitoring (see Bower v. Westinghouse Elec. Corp., 522 S.E.2d 424 (W.Va. 1999)). As Justice Maynard noted in his dissent, there is absolutely no way to assure that somebody who receives an award under a medical monitoring claim will actually use it to get a checkup. In contrast, a legislature can establish mechanisms to ensure that medical monitoring awards are used for checkups. Moreover, legislatures can determine what should be done in cases where a plaintiff may already receive medical monitoring under his or her existing health care plan. Under the collateral source rule, courts are generally not permitted to consider funds that a plaintiff may receive from outside sources. In the case of medical monitoring, however, it may be worth letting the legislature decide whether to allow a double recovery.

Another problem with medical monitoring is that it may produce a flood of claims. Let me give you one hypothetical to illustrate the difference between the number of claims that may be filed in a mass tort action alleging actual injury and the avalanche of claims that could result if medical monitoring were allowed. Suppose that exposure to a particular drug or chemical may produce cancer in a small percentage of the people exposed. There may be several hundred claimants. But, if medical monitoring were allowed, millions of people might have claims. As you can see, there is a very significant difference. The money spent on monitoring may use up assets needed to compensate those with an actual injury. This might occur even if the people exposed had proper monitoring available to them through their health plans.

While I can understand why medical monitoring sounds appealing, the need for medical monitoring is a highly individualized decision. It is extremely difficult for any court to construct a brand new cause of action of this type, which is why many of the courts that have considered this issue have decided not to allow medical monitoring. I will conclude by noting that in New Jersey, the Supreme Court had previously decided to allow medical monitoring with no physical manifestation. (See Ayers v. Township of Jackson, 525 A.29 287 (N.J. 1987)). The Supreme Court of New Jersey has retreated a bit from that decision, and held that for medical monitoring to be allowed in New Jersey, the plaintiff must have an injury before monitoring is appropriate. (See Theer v. Phillip Carey Co., 628 A.2d 724 (N.J. 1993)).

Justice Enoch:

In Texas, before a plaintiff can bring a tort claim, there has to be a legal injury. It is not sufficient to have "negligence in the air;" there has to be an injury. It seems to me that the difficulty in toxic tort cases is that once the substance comes into contact with someone, it may or may not cause an illness in that person, and the courts are having difficulty in deciding at what point the legal injury occurred. For example, in the case of asbestos, many more individuals are exposed to asbestos than will actually develop mesothelioma or lung cancer. Perhaps medical monitoring has been developed by courts to deal with the problem that results when someone has been exposed to a toxic substance but there is no way to tell whether the person will develop an injury. Is this part of the reasoning for medical monitoring? Or is medical monitoring simply a way in which to encourage settlement when there is a exposed class of individuals that may not meet the requirements of Rule 23?

Richard Scruggs:

Judge Enoch, I think that you have stated the issues in medical monitoring very well. The question is, does the injury become actionable upon exposure of the body to a toxic substance, or must the plaintiff wait for a physical manifestation of the injury? I would argue the claim should be allowed upon exposure to the substance. A person who was exposed to excessive doses of radiation from a leak in a reactor, and, as a result, has a much higher risk of cancer or leukemia should be entitled to be checked if early detection can save or prolong his life. That is what medical monitoring is all about. Often, with toxic tort injuries, such as asbestos-related diseases, the physical ramifications of the exposure to the substance do not manifest themselves for 20 years or longer. In many cases, mesothelioma does not manifest itself until 30 or 40 years after the exposure has occurred. I think that the question of when the exposure and the risk of the manifestation of the disease ought to entitle a victim to medical monitoring should be a jury issue. I do not think that should be legislated any more than any other cause of action should be legislated. I think it should be a jury issue as to when the risk is sufficient to warrant medical monitoring. The industries that plaintiffs are generally seeking to hold responsible for these sorts of torts or potential torts are usually very well-heeled industries. They have very talented lawyers working for them, arguing that the risk is minimal. I do not think that it is unfair to require an industry that sells a product, which vastly increases the risk of injury to the people exposed to it, to pay for the monitoring that will be required for early detection.

Victor Schwartz:

A very good plaintiffs' firm in New York has stated that 25 million people have been exposed to asbestos, and I believe that number is accurate. Trying to differentiate between which plaintiffs are going to be allowed to bring claims, and which are not, is an issue that has troubled seven justices of the Supreme Court of the United States. To put this issue in front of a jury puts the jurors in an uncharted sea. If there has been some magnification of risk that is very significant, a rule could be established by the legislature or an administrative body that medical monitoring is required. There are several issues, however, that have to be considered in putting together a medical monitoring program. First, will the medical monitoring do any good? The West Virginia Supreme Court of Appeals decided to allow a claim even if the medical monitoring would not help because the potential disease being monitored is untreatable. Second, how should courts distribute the damages to the plaintiffs? Should the plaintiffs receive lump sum damages, or does there need to be a mechanism in place to ensure that the funds are used for medical monitoring? Third, should claimants who are already receiving medical monitoring through their employer or their insurance be entitled to a double recovery? Can we have a clear trigger to differentiate those who really deserve medical monitoring from those who do not? These are some of the issues that courts need to consider when they are deciding whether to allow medical monitoring.

Audience Member:

Is medical monitoring a new cause of action that is just developing?

Richard Scruggs:

Medical monitoring is not that new; it has been around for a long time. Medical monitoring first arose in the context of asbestos, where people would sue for exposure only, stating that they were at risk because they were exposed to asbestos. Most courts of appeals said that the statute of limitations would begin to run when there was a manifestation of the disease, although in some states, such as Alabama, the statute is triggered by exposure. In some cases, 20 years later, when that person gets cancer, the statute of limitations has run out because he did not sue at the time of exposure. Most courts, however, have taken the position that the statute does not start to run, and the injury is not compensible, until there is a physical manifestation resulting from the exposure.

Audience member:

What would happen if a plaintiff was successful on medical monitoring claim and, then, within the statute of limitations period, the plaintiff develops an injury such as cancer? Would the plaintiff have a new claim? Is the physical injury claim barred by the prior medical monitoring recovery?

Richard Scruggs:

There are separate causes of action, arguably, but I think that most courts would say that the defendant would be entitled to a credit for any amount of money that has been paid to the victim in medical monitoring. I think that if the plaintiff actually develops a disease, he is entitled to compensation for that injury, but the defendant should receive some sort of credit for the amount that it has already paid.

Victor Schwartz:

As I discussed in a recent article, courts in the various states that have looked at medical monitoring have dealt with the issue in several different ways. (See Victor E. Schwartz et al., Medical Monitoring - Should Tort Law Say Yes?, 34 Wake Forest L. Rev. 1057 (1999)).

Justice Enoch:

Let's move on to asbestos.

Richard Scruggs:

I think Victor may be surprised at some of what I will say regarding asbestos. I think that, as one California Supreme Court Justice has said, asbestos litigation has become the endless search for a solvent bystander. Most of the companies that were culpable in promoting the sale of asbestos-containing products have been held accountable and most of them have gone bankrupt. Now, the companies that are peripherally related to the bankrupt defendants are being seized and held up in what I call the "magic jurisdictions," areas where what happens in court is irrelevant because the jury will return a verdict in the favor of the plaintiff. I think that what has happened in asbestos litigation is that most of the companies that are responsible for producing asbestos-containing products with knowledge of their hazards back in the 1930s and 1940s, companies like Johns-Manville and Owens Corning, have all gone bankrupt.

Some lawyers are attempting to impute the primary defendants' knowledge to the peripheral industries. I think that is the wrong approach. I do not think that trial lawyers are serving either the legal profession or their clients well by seeking to impose liabilities on companies that really should not be liable. These attorneys are actually passing up companies that they ought to be going after, such as some of the foreign companies that dealt with some of the most for deadly forms of asbestos. Those are the people they ought to go after. They were the ones that made substantial profits on asbestos sales, knew the product was dangerous and, nevertheless, sold it. Trial lawyers should pursue those companies, rather than going after companies who may have had some asbestos in their products but do not appear to have had the same level of knowledge as the primary asbestos defendants. I do not think we are serving ourselves well by going after the companies that had marginal liability, and trying to characterize those companies, which clearly are not asbestos companies, as asbestos companies, so that they will suffer the public stigma of being known as an "asbestos company."

Victor Schwartz:

I agree with Mr. Scruggs about this. There are two major changes in asbestos litigation today, and Mr. Scruggs may disagree with me on the second one. The first is that the defendants are no longer the 54 companies who are in bankruptcy, the so-called primary defendants. The defendants today are the companies that did not make asbestos, the peripheral defendants. In some areas, there is a presumption that these peripheral defendants had the same amount of knowledge as those who made asbestos-containing products. The processes and procedures that were set up for defendants who have repeatedly been proven at fault are being applied in some jurisdictions to peripheral defendants. This is not right.

The second major trend is the increase in the number of cases being brought by unimpaired claimants. There is nothing wrong with these individuals, they have no manifestation of injury; they are healthy. How do the courts deal with claims by unimpaired individuals? Massachusetts, which is not known for conservative jurisprudence, has developed a solution that I think is a good one. In Massachusetts, there is a registry for individuals who have been exposed to asbestos. When individuals put their names on the registry, the statute of limitations is prevented from running on their claims. If the individuals do get sick, they can have their claims removed from the registry and placed on the active civil docket.

One of the problems that I have noticed is that many of the mechanisms that were created to deal with the massive number of asbestos cases are not working in the way that the judges who created these mechanisms had intended. For example, many judges, faced with 5,000 or 7,000 asbestos cases were looking for expedient ways to handle the cases, and efficiency became the hallmark of everything they did. In order to deal with the huge number of cases, some judges discouraged discovery or were more lenient with the rules for scientific evidence and x-rays than in other cases. Some attorneys saw that judges were not looking very carefully at the x-rays, were not deposing plaintiffs, and were assuming that the defendants had guilty knowledge, and saw an opportunity. What has happened as a result is that instead of getting rid of cases the goal of promoting efficiency has brought about thousands and thousand of new cases. (See Victor E. Schwartz & Leah Lorber, A Letter to the Nation's Trial Judges: How the Focus on Efficiency Is Hurting You and Innocent Victims in Asbestos Liability Cases, 24 Am. J. Trial Advoc. 247 (2000)).

Conservative estimates by Rand Corporation indicate that unimpaired claimants account for at least half of the new asbestos cases being filed. Courts are going to be flooded with these claims, and the only way to stem the tide will be to apply basic rules of law. I am not talking about tort reform; I am talking about basic rules that are applied to other cases when there is a peripheral defendant involved. First, the best way to protect an unimpaired claimant is to make sure that his or his claim is not extinguished by the statute of limitations. As I said earlier, some estimates indicate that 25 million people have been exposed to asbestos. It is going to be difficult for courts to handle that volume of claims. There are a few people who are seriously injured who need help, and the courts need to be able to address the claims of those people. Flooding the courts with asbestos cases filed by people who are not sick against defendants who have not been shown to be at fault is not sound public policy.

Audience Member:

Perhaps the solution to the problem is to have the state legislatures address the situation, to amend the statute of limitations so that it does not begin to run on exposure, but only runs when there is an actual injury. What do you think of that solution?

Richard Scruggs:

I think that would be a great solution in a perfect world. I think the problem is going to require national legislation, however, because if only a few states do it then the plaintiffs will migrate to states in which the statutes do not run. Asbestos litigation has become a cottage industry. I consider myself to be a first or second generation asbestos lawyer. We are now in the eighth and twelfth generation of asbestos lawyers. Some attorneys are building their practices on these mass production inventory asbestos settlements. If one state passes some sort of asbestos litigation reform law, the attorneys will simply go to another state that has more liberal joinder rules and bring the case over there. There must be national legislation in order to solve this problem. The problem with ATLA (the Association of Trial Lawyers of America) and other organizations like that who are watch dogs for consumer rights and lawyer rights, is that these groups are afraid of any sort of legislation in Congress, because even if the initial proposal looks good, they are afraid of what the end result will be. Victor, with his able skills in the American Tort Reform Association, will try to move the goalposts way down field. Nobody can trust the legislative process. I think that national legislation is needed to address the asbestos litigation problem and it would be great if that could be done.

Victor Schwartz:

I agree with Mr. Scruggs that national legislation is needed and I would pledge, certainly on the behalf of anybody that I represent, not to load up such legislation with tort reform. I think the asbestos registry approach would be very helpful to preserve the claims of people if they get sick. I would not try to load legislation dealing with this very major problem with any tort reform. I would try to reach agreement with people like Mr. Scruggs on something that they considered fair. This is a national problem.

In Congress right now there is an atmosphere of bipartisanship that I have not seen in a very long time. There is an opportunity for people who normally may not be in agreement to try to reach agreement on things that affect us all at this point.

Judge Enoch:

Some people view asbestos litigation as being a "mature mass tort." It has been around for decades and certain rules have been fashioned to address it. Is there an immature mass tort on the horizon? Are there new types of claims that trial court judges will be facing in the very near future?

Victor Schwartz:

Over the next 10 years it is estimated that at least 500,000 new asbestos claims will be filed by the unimpaired if they are allowed to recover. In settlements involving unimpaired claimants, attorneys are combining settlement of impaired claimants with unimpaired claimants. If a plaintiffs' lawyer has 5,000 cases, he may have 10 cases of people with mesothelioma or cancer - people with real and serious injuries who deserve compensation - and 4,990 unimpaired claimants. In settlement negotiations, however, the attorney may agree to take less on the lung cancer and mesothelioma cases if the defendants will settle the claims of the unimpaired at the same time. If this type of resolution of unimpaired claimants' claims with seriously injured individuals is allowed to continue, asbestos will be a self-perpetuating litigation. Asbestos will be "the next asbestos."

There are other things on the horizon. Mr. Scruggs would probably have better vision than I do on this topic, but I think that one area may be in pharmaceuticals. I think that there will be a new style of cases brought against pharmaceutical companies that do not involve personal injury. Chemicals may be another hot area. The EPA has been gathering certain data on some chemicals that have never really had that kind of testing. I also see that on the horizon in the next, I would say, 5 to 10 years. I am not commenting on whether the claims will be successful or not, but these are areas in which I think people are likely to try to bring claims.

Richard Scruggs:

I agree with Victor on the pharmaceutical issue. There are a lot of attorneys that have made an awful lot of money in asbestos litigation over the years. I think the ease with which asbestos companies have been successfully sued has diverted a lot of the trial bar away from exploring new mass torts like cases against the pharmaceutical industry. I do think, though, that there is one mass tort on the horizon which is very similar to asbestos, and that is litigation against the manufacturers of welding supplies for manganese poisoning that causes early Parkinson's Disease.

Most of the trial lawyers today have large asbestos inventories; about 20 to 30 percent of their clients were welders or in welding-affiliated trades. Some very incriminating documents from the 1930s and 1940s have surfaced from the major manufacturers of welding supplies, showing their knowledge. Some of these documents are every bit as damaging as those that have surfaced in the asbestos and tobacco litigations. This is definitely the closest thing to asbestos cases that I think we will see.

Justice Enoch:

We have a little bit of time for a few more questions.

Audience Member:

Could you explain to us how medical monitoring works in terms of insurance coverage issues?

Richard Scruggs:

Generally speaking, the carrier for companies that receive a judgment for medical monitoring will have to pay for medical monitoring. It will be a health care cost which will come off the insurance policies. As a practical matter, I do not think it will raise insurance costs. I think it will simply be more of the same until insurance is exhausted. One of the reasons that a lot of asbestos companies or companies that sold asbestos-containing products are settling is not necessarily because they want to settle, but because their insurers have said that they want to get rid of the claims. Once that happens, whether those claims are paid in injury cases or in medical monitoring cases does not really matter. The claims will be resolved faster with medical monitoring than they will with case-by-case injury claims, but once the insurance is exhausted then the victim will move on to someone else. I really do not think that medical monitoring is going to increase health care costs.

Victor Schwartz:

I think the worst way to handle medical monitoring is through the liability system. I think it should be handled under the health care system, where there is a health care provider to make a judgment as to whether or not an individual needs medical monitoring. If he or she does, the medical provider can see that he or she receives the proper monitoring, as compared to a lump sum damages award that may never be used for medical monitoring.

Justice Enoch:

We have time for one more question.

Audience member:

We have been talking about asbestos defendants and some incriminating evidence that surfaced in a document from the 1930s. How does the concept of a long latency period affect the evidence available to the plaintiffs?

Richard Scruggs:

Well, unfortunately for the plaintiffs, much of the evidence has been lost either intentionally or through some document retention policy where every 10 years a company will cull its files and get rid of documents.

We were fortunate in the asbestos and tobacco litigations that documents were not destroyed. We may be fortunate in the welding liability litigation as well. Some of the documents I have seen are pretty incriminating. I think the plaintiffs are going to have to prove that there is some evidence of spoliation of documents in order to get a presumption that the evidence would have been incriminating. That is why I think that regardless of how well-funded the plaintiffs are, or are perceived to be, and how aggressive they have been, the companies are still generally holding most of the cards, and they have gotten away with murder. There is a saying that when a worker kills his boss it is murder, but when the boss kills the worker, it is workers' compensation.

Victor Schwartz:

I think that judges will be very harsh in situations where there has been spoliation of evidence. That behavior should be discouraged. Part of my practice is counseling people on how to stay out of court, and I think that document preservation is important.

In closing, I just want to clarify one point. I agree with Mr. Scruggs that the pharmaceutical companies are going to be exposed to new and very serious litigation. On that point we agree. For the record, however, when Mr. Scruggs talked about how the companies deserve it - I did not agree with him there.

I. OVERVIEW OF THE PLAN

A INTRODUCTION

Chapter 11 is the chapter of the Bankruptcy Code primarily used for business reorganization. Under chapter 11, a company endeavors to restructure its finances to enable the company to continue as a going concern outside bankruptcy. A chapter 11 plan sets forth and governs the treatment and rights to be afforded to creditors and stockholders with respect to their claims against and equity interests in the debtor. According to section 1125 of the Bankruptcy Code, acceptances of a chapter 11 plan may be solicited only after a written disclosure statement has been provided to each creditor or stockholder who is entitled to vote on the plan. This Disclosure Statement is presented by the Debtors to holders of Claims against and Equity Interests in the Debtors to satisfy the disclosure requirements contained in section 1125 of the Bankruptcy Code.

B CHAPTER 11 PLAN

The Plan resolves G-I's liability for Asbestos Claims by channeling them to a trust established by G-I (the "Asbestos Trust"). In exchange for the Plan Consideration to be transferred by the Plan Sponsor or the Reorganized Debtors pursuant to the terms of the Plan (as more fully described herein and in the Plan), which includes cash on the Effective Date in an amount not to exceed $215 million, a Trust Note in the amount of $560 million, and other consideration for the benefit of the Asbestos Trust, the Asbestos Trust will assume and be responsible for all Asbestos Claims.

Holders of Asbestos Personal Injury Claims will be permanently enjoined from pursuing their claims against the Reorganized Debtors, Building Materials Corporation of America ("BMCA"), and certain other parties, and will look solely to the Asbestos Trust for payment of their claims.

The Asbestos Trust will not assume responsibility for any Claims or Demands upon G-I other than the Asbestos Claims. For example, as described more fully herein, the Asbestos Trust will not assume liability for the following claims, whether or not asserted before the conclusion of G-I's Chapter 11 Cases, and whether or not related, directly or indirectly, to asbestos: (i) Workmens' Compensation Claims, (ii) Environmental Claims, (iii) Asbestos Property Damage Claims, (iv) Asbestos Property Damage Contribution Claims, (v) Bonded Claims (other than any deficiency portion of a Bonded Asbestos Personal Injury Claim), (vi) Indirect Trust Claims held by an Affiliate or (vii) the claims of the Center for Claims Resolution, Inc. ("CCR") or its members.

Equity interests in the Debtors existing as of the Commencement Date will be extinguished pursuant to the Plan. The Debtors will issue G-I Class B Shares and ACI Class B Shares prior to the Effective Date, which will remain outstanding.

Specifically, the Plan and the Chapter 11 Cases accomplish the following objectives, which the Debtors believe are essential components of a successful reorganization:

- Fair treatment for all Claims and interests in accordance with the Bankruptcy Code;

- Channeling of Asbestos Personal Injury Claims and Indirect Trust Claims to a trust for processing and resolution under 11 U.S.C. § 524(g), while affording protection against such Claims to the Debtors and certain related entities by means of a permanent injunction.

- Resolution of the Debtors' liability for Asbestos Property Damage Claims and Environmental Claims; and

- Corporate Reorganization of the Debtors.

1. Plan Settlement Negotiations

On or about March 5, 2007, G-I, the Asbestos Claimants Committee, and the Legal Representative participated in a mediation under the auspices of former United States District Judge Nicholas H. Politan in an effort to resolve these Chapter 11 Cases and litigation related to these Chapter 11 Cases, all as more fully described below in Section IV. Following the mediation, the parties outlined the principal terms of a potential global settlement and agreed to endeavor to complete the global settlement with comprehensive documentation in the form of a proposed chapter 11 plan and its ancillary documents.

In order to preserve the resources of G-I pending the negotiation of the terms of a global settlement, the parties requested a stay of litigation from the Bankruptcy Court and other courts with jurisdiction over litigation related to these Chapter 11 Cases. On March 22, 2007, the Bankruptcy Court entered an order staying certain contested matters and adversary proceedings and shortly thereafter, similar orders were entered by the other courts with jurisdiction over such matters.

Subsequent to the entry of the orders staying litigation, the parties continued to engage in good-faith negotiations regarding a consensual plan of reorganization. Throughout the next several months, the parties exchanged draft term sheets and conducted various negotiations which led to a second mediation session with Judge Politan on December 1-2, 2007. The negotiations were complex. In early 2008, the Asbestos Claimants Committee and Legal Representative exercised their rights to terminate the stays of litigation, but the Bankruptcy Court urged that negotiations continue. Such negotiations ultimately resulted in the settlement described herein and embodied in the Plan.

2. Basis for Global Compromise Embodied in the Plan

The Plan incorporates settlements and compromises designed to achieve a global resolution of these Chapter 11 Cases and litigation related to these Chapter 11 Cases. Thus, the Plan is premised upon a settlement, rather than litigation, of various disputes. The settlements and compromises embodied in the Plan represent, in effect, a linked series of concessions of the Debtors as well as the Asbestos Claimants Committee and the Legal Representative in favor of each other. The agreements are interdependent. The following description of the global compromise is qualified in its entirety by the full text of the Plan.

The Plan incorporates a global settlement of all of the disputes in these Chapter 11 Cases and related litigations among the Debtors and their shareholders and the Asbestos Claimants Committee and the Legal Representative, and third-party defendants. The Asbestos Claimants Committee and the Legal Representative allege that the liability of G-I for Asbestos Claims and Demands exceeds the value of G-I's estate by several billion dollars. In addition, the Asbestos Claimants Committee and the Legal Representative have pursued a number of causes of actions against G-I and certain of its present and former Affiliates in the Bankruptcy Court and the United States District Court. G-I disputes the aggregate liability for Asbestos Claims and Demands alleged by the Asbestos Claimants Committee and the Legal Representative, has asserted that the causes of action and allegations made by such parties are without merit, and has challenged the processes by which asbestos claims are prosecuted. The global settlement negotiated by the Debtors, the Asbestos Claimants Committee, and the Legal Representative is implemented by the Plan and was arrived at prior to the estimation of G-I's aggregate asbestos liability, but after each party had investigated the issues thoroughly with its own experts.

To reach the global compromise, the Debtors, the Asbestos Claimants Committee, and the Legal Representative considered, among other things, the possible outcome of disputed issues, including the issues of substantive consolidation, successor liability, validity of the Asbestos Personal Injury Claims, and alleged fraudulent conveyances, and the cost and delay that would be occasioned by litigating to conclusion all such issues. In proposing the Plan, the Plan Proponents are offering a non-litigation solution to Creditors. This solution, which the Debtors believe fairly reflects the risks of litigation, will reduce the future duration of these Chapter 11 Cases and the expenses attendant to protracted disputes. While a litigated outcome of each of these issues might differ from the result produced by the Plan itself, the Debtors believe that, if the issues resolved by the Plan were litigated to conclusion, these Chapter 11 Cases would be prolonged for, at a minimum, an additional year,[1] and probably much longer, and the Debtors' estates would incur significant costs in connection therewith.

3. Overall Fairness of the Settlement

The Debtors firmly believe that the global compromise embodied in the Plan is fair to the Debtors and Creditors and falls within the range of reasonableness required for approval by the Bankruptcy Court.

Although the Debtors believe the global compromise can be approved solely on the basis that the settlements contained therein fall within the range of reasonable outcomes, the Debtors also believe that the benefits obtained from avoiding continued litigation with Creditors and others who have conflicting interests cannot be overemphasized. Indeed, if a compromise had not been reached, the Debtors believe that the cost, delay, and uncertainty attendant to litigating the complex issues resolved by the Plan would have resulted in substantially lower recoveries for most, if not all, Creditors.

C DISTRIBUTIONS, CLASSIFICATION AND TREATMENT UNDER THE PLAN

1. Priority of Distributions

In accordance with the Bankruptcy Code, all Allowed Administrative Expense Claims and priority claims are paid in full on the terms allowed by the Bankruptcy Code. Unsecured claims are classified logically into classes based on their origins (i.e., asbestos claims, commercial claims, environmental claims) and are paid from the Debtors' estates or the Asbestos Trust, as the case may be. Equity Interests are paid nothing. Therefore, the Plan is fair and equitable and satisfies the absolute priority rule, even though such rule will not be implicated unless a class of impaired claims rejects the Plan.

The Plan further provides that Administrative Expense Claims may be fixed either before or after the Effective Date.

2. Summary of Classification and Treatment

The table below summarizes the classification, treatment of, and estimated recovery on Allowed Claims and Equity Interests under the Plan. Further, the table identifies those Classes entitled to vote on the Plan based on the rules set forth in the Bankruptcy Code. The summary information reflected in the table is qualified in its entirety by reference to the full text of the Plan. Please refer to Sections II(C) and V(B) hereof, as well as Exhibit A for additional information regarding the Plan and distributions thereunder. The recovery estimates set forth below are preliminary and are generally based upon information available to the Debtors as of December 1, 2008. The preliminary value of assets and amount of claims used to calculate the estimated recoveries may be significantly different than the ultimate values collected and the ultimate claims allowed. Therefore, the actual distributions under the Plan may be substantially higher or lower than the estimated recoveries set forth below.[2] Except with respect to funding the Asbestos Trust, the Reorganized Debtors shall make a payment on account of a Disputed Claim only after, and to the extent that, such Disputed Claim becomes Allowed. All payments to be made in Cash under the Plan shall be made, at the election of the Reorganized Debtors (or the Reorganized Debtors' agent), by check or wire transfer.

[1] The evidentiary hearing for Phase I of the Estimation Litigation was scheduled for June 8, 2009, but that schedule has been superseded and all deadlines in this proceeding have been suspended by an Agreed Order Staying Certain Matters, which the Bankruptcy Court entered on August 22, 2008. For additional details on the Estimation Litigation, see Section IV(I) below.

Pursuant to the settlement embodied in the Plan, the Debtors pay fixed amounts to the Asbestos Trust to satisfy all pending and future Asbestos Claims resolved in accordance with the Asbestos Trust's procedures. The estimates herein of recoveries to Asbestos Claims are based on estimates provided by the Asbestos Claimants Committee and Legal Representative.

Refer to Section IX, "Risk Factors and Other Factors to Be Considered," for additional information.

The sole recourse of the holder of a Class 6 Claim shall be to the Asbestos Trust, and such holder shall have no right whatsoever at any time to assert its Class 6 Claim against any Protected Party. Without limiting the foregoing, on the Effective Date, all holders of Asbestos Claims shall be subject to the Asbestos Permanent Channeling Injunction. Asbestos Claims will be temporarily allowed for the limited purpose of voting on the Plan, but the ultimate resolution of Asbestos Claims will be made pursuant to the Asbestos Trust Distribution Procedures rather than by means of an allowance proceeding in the Bankruptcy Court.	8.6%

If no such CCR Settlement Agreement is approved, executed and delivered, then the Allowed amount, if any, of the CCR Claim shall be determined in a CCR Allowance Proceeding. If, before the Effective Date, the CCR Claim is Allowed pursuant to a Final Order in a CCR Allowance Proceeding, the Reorganized Debtors shall pay to CCR, on the Effective Date or as soon thereafter as is reasonably practicable, the CCR Payment Amount as specified in clause (b) of the definition thereof. The Plan may be consummated notwithstanding the pendency of a CCR Allowance Proceeding if, but only if, the Asbestos Claimants Committee and the Legal Representative, in their sole discretion, have provided the written consents described in Section 12.2(c) of the Plan. Upon the delivery of such written consents, the Reorganized Debtors shall create the CCR Escrow on the Effective Date as provided in Section 4.4(c)(i)(C) of the Plan, in the amount required by that Section, and thereafter, upon the entry of a Final Order in such CCR Proceeding, shall cause a sum equal to the CCR Payment Amount to be disbursed to CCR from the CCR Escrow. Once the CCR Escrow is created, the Debtors and Reorganized Debtors shall have no liability in respect of the CCR Claim beyond having

Class 9	Bonded Claims	Unimpaired. On the later of (i) the Effective Date and (ii) the date on which a Bonded Claim becomes an Allowed Bonded Claim, or as soon thereafter as is reasonably practicable, each holder of an Allowed Bonded Claim shall receive Cash in an amount equal to such Allowed Bonded Claim; provided, however, that (i) in no event shall such Cash distribution exceed the amount of the bond securing such Allowed Bonded Claim and (ii) each such holder of an Allowed Bonded Claim shall look solely to the bond securing its Claim for such Cash distribution, and shall receive no Cash distribution from G-I. If the holder of the Bonded Claim and G-I do not agree on the Allowed amount of the Bonded Claim, the Bankruptcy Court shall determine the amount of such holder's Allowed Bonded Claim, which amount shall then be paid to such holder from the bond securing such holder's Allowed Bonded Claim.	100%

On the Effective Date, all instruments evidencing a G-I Equity Interest (but not the G-I Class B Shares) shall be canceled without further action under any applicable agreement, law, regulation, or rule. 		action under any applicable agreement, law, regulation, or rule. The ACI Equity Interests shall be extinguished and holders of ACI Equity Interests shall neither receive nor retain any property under the Plan.

For confirmation of the Plan to occur, the Confirmation Order must contain findings that are consistent with and required by section 524(g) of the Bankruptcy Code. Section 524(g) contains requirements for a "channeling injunction" of the type that is provided under the Plan. Only the Debtors, together with the Asbestos Claimants Committee and the Legal Representative may waive the satisfaction of these conditions to confirmation of the Plan. In addition, in order for confirmation of the Plan to occur, Class 6 (Asbestos Claims) must vote, by at least 75 percent (75%) of those voting, in favor of the Plan.

Following confirmation of the Plan, the Plan will not become effective until the Effective Date, which will be a Business Day selected by the Debtors that is on or after the date by which the conditions precedent to the effectiveness of the Plan specified in Section 10.1(b) of the Plan have been satisfied. The satisfaction of many of the conditions to the occurrence of the Effective Date is beyond the control of the Debtors. The Plan Proponents may jointly waive, in whole or in part, the conditions to the Effective Date to the extent practicable and legally permissible.

All Asbestos Claims will be resolved, determined, and paid pursuant to section 524(g) of the Bankruptcy Code and the terms, provisions, and procedures of the Asbestos Trust Agreement and the Asbestos Trust Distribution Procedures. The Asbestos Trust will be funded in accordance with the provisions of Section 4.4 of the Plan. The sole recourse of the holder of an Asbestos Claim will be to the Asbestos Trust, and such holder shall have no right whatsoever at any time to assert its Class 6 Claim against any Protected Party. Without limiting the foregoing, on the Effective Date and irrevocably thereafter, all holders of Asbestos Claims shall be subject to the Asbestos Permanent Channeling Injunction.

II. INTRODUCTION TO DISCLOSURE STATEMENT

The Debtors submit this Disclosure Statement pursuant to section 1125 of the Bankruptcy Code to holders of Claims against the Debtors in connection with (i) the solicitation of acceptances of the Debtors' First Amended Joint Plan of Reorganization Pursuant to Chapter 11 of the United States Bankruptcy Code, dated October 30, 2008, filed by the Plan Proponents with the United States Bankruptcy Court for the District of New Jersey and (ii) the confirmation Hearing scheduled for [January 28, 2009], commencing at 10:00 a.m., prevailing Eastern Time.

On [___], 2008, the Bankruptcy Court, under section 1125 of the Bankruptcy Code, approved this Disclosure Statement as containing information of a kind, and in sufficient detail, adequate to enable a hypothetical, reasonable investor typical of the solicited classes of Claims of the Debtors to make an informed judgment with respect to the acceptance or rejection of the Plan. APPROVAL OF THIS DISCLOSURE STATEMENT DOES NOT CONSTITUTE A DETERMINATION BY THE BANKRUPTCY COURT EITHER OF THE FAIRNESS OR THE MERITS OF THE PLAN OR OF THE ACCURACY OR COMPLETENESS OF INFORMATION CONTAINED IN THIS DISCLOSURE STATEMENT.

The Disclosure Statement Order, a copy of which is annexed hereto as Exhibit B, sets forth in detail, among other things, the deadlines, procedures and instructions for voting to accept or reject the Plan and for filing objections to confirmation of the Plan, the record date for voting purposes, and the applicable standards for tabulating Ballots. In addition, detailed voting instructions accompany each Ballot. Each holder of a Claim entitled to vote on the Plan should read this Disclosure Statement, the Plan, the Disclosure Statement Order, the Ballot, and the instructions accompanying the Ballot in their entirety before voting on the Plan. These documents contain important information concerning the classification of Claims and Equity Interests for voting purposes and the tabulation of votes. No solicitation of votes to accept the Plan may be made except pursuant to section 1125 of the Bankruptcy Code.

A PURPOSE OF THIS DISCLOSURE STATEMENT

The purpose of this Disclosure Statement is to provide the holders of Claims against the Debtors with adequate information to make an informed judgment about the Plan. This information includes, among other things, a brief history of the Debtors, a description of the Debtors' prepetition businesses, a description of the Debtors' prepetition assets and liabilities, a summary of the Debtors' Chapter 11 Cases, a summary of the distributions to be made under the Plan, and an explanation of the Plan mechanics.

B REPRESENTATIONS

This Disclosure Statement is intended for the sole use of Creditors and other parties in interest, and for the sole purpose of assisting those parties in making an informed decision about the Plan. Each Creditor is urged to review the Plan in full prior to voting on the Plan to ensure a complete understanding of the Plan and this Disclosure Statement.

No representations or other statements concerning the Debtors (particularly as to their future business operations or the value of their assets) or other Plan Proponents are authorized by the Debtors other than those expressly set forth in this Disclosure Statement. Creditors should not rely upon any representations or inducements made to secure acceptance of the Plan other than those set forth in this Disclosure Statement.

Except as otherwise expressly indicated, the portions of this Disclosure Statement describing the Debtors, their businesses and properties, and related financial information were prepared by the Debtors, or taken from publicly available information.

This Disclosure Statement has not been approved or disapproved by the SEC; neither has the SEC passed upon the accuracy or adequacy of the statements contained herein.

This Disclosure Statement contains statements that are forward-looking. Forward-looking statements are statements of expectations, beliefs, plans, objectives, assumptions, projections, and future events or performance. Among other things, this Disclosure Statement contains forward-looking statements with respect to anticipated future performance of BMCA, as well as anticipated future determination of claims and distributions on claims. These statements, estimates, and projections may or may not prove to be correct. Actual results could differ materially from those reflected in the forward-looking statements contained herein. Forward-looking statements are not guarantees of future performance and involve risks and uncertainties that could cause actual results or outcomes to differ materially from those expressed. Such risks and uncertainties, include, without limitation: risks inherent in the Chapter 11 process, such as the non-confirmation of the Plan, non-occurrence or delayed occurrence of the Effective Date; the effects of the departure of past and present employees of the Debtors; the preliminary and uncertain nature of valuations and estimates contained in the Plan; potential environmental liabilities; economic, political, regulatory, and legal risks affecting the finances and operations of the Debtors; and the uncertain timing, costs, and recovery values involved in the Debtors' efforts to recover accounts receivable. The Debtors undertake no obligation to update any forward-looking statement to reflect the occurrence of unanticipated events. New factors emerge from time to time and it is not possible to predict all such factors, nor can the impact of any such factor be assessed.

This Disclosure Statement summarizes the terms of the Plan, which summary is qualified in its entirety by reference to the full text of the Plan, and if any inconsistency exists between the terms and provisions of the Plan and this Disclosure Statement, then the terms and provisions of the Plan are controlling.

Unless otherwise specified, the statements contained in this Disclosure Statement are made as of the date of the Disclosure Statement and the delivery of this Disclosure Statement does not imply that there have been no changes in the information set forth herein after such date. The Debtors undertake no duty to update this information.

This Disclosure Statement may not be relied on for any purpose other than to determine whether to vote to accept or reject the Plan, and nothing stated herein shall constitute an admission of any fact or liability by any party, or be admissible in any proceeding involving the Debtors or any other party, or be deemed conclusive evidence of the tax or other legal effects of the plan on the Debtors or holders of Claims or Equity Interests.

All holders of Claims entitled to vote should carefully read and consider fully the risk factors set forth in Section IX hereof, before voting to accept or reject the Plan.

Summaries of certain provisions of agreements referred to in this Disclosure Statement are not complete and are subject to, and are qualified in their entirety by reference to, the full text of the applicable agreement, including the definitions of terms contained in such agreement.

Holders of Claims entitled to vote should read this Disclosure Statement and the Plan carefully and in their entirety and may wish to consult with counsel prior to voting on the Plan.

C HOLDERS OF CLAIMS ENTITLED TO VOTE

Pursuant to the provisions of the Bankruptcy Code, only holders of allowed claims or equity interests in classes of claims or equity interests that are impaired and that are not deemed to have rejected a proposed plan are entitled to vote to accept or reject a proposed plan. Classes of claims or equity interests in which the holders of claims or equity interests are unimpaired under a chapter 11 plan are presumed to have accepted the plan and are not entitled to vote to accept or reject the plan. Classes of claims or equity interests in which the holders of claims or equity interests will receive no recovery under a chapter 11 plan are deemed to have rejected the plan and are not entitled to vote to accept or reject the plan. For a detailed description of the treatment of Claims and Equity Interests under the Plan, refer to Section V(B).

Classes 1A, 1B, 2A, 2B, 3B, 4, 8, 9 and 10B are unimpaired. As a result, holders of Claims in those Classes are conclusively presumed to have accepted the Plan and are not entitled to vote; provided, however, that Class 8 is impaired and is entitled to vote if the CCR Settlement is not approved prior to the voting deadline.

Classes 3A, 5, 6 and 7 of the Plan are impaired and, to the extent Claims in such Classes are Allowed Claims, the holders of such Claims will receive distributions under the Plan. Claims in Class 6 will be allowed for the limited purpose of voting on the Plan but, if the Plan is confirmed and consummated, will be channeled to the Asbestos Trust for resolution, rather than determined by the Bankruptcy Court in an allowance proceeding. As a result, holders of Claims in those Classes are entitled to vote to accept or reject the Plan. As described more fully herein, while Class 5 is entitled to vote, the Debtors will conclusively deem Class 5 to have rejected the Plan.

Classes 10A, 11, 12A, and 12B of the Plan, consisting of all G-I Affiliate Claims, G-I Equity Interest Redemption Claims, G-I Equity Interests and ACI Equity Interests, are impaired. Holders of G-I Affiliate Claims and holders of G-I Equity Interest Redemption Claims shall receive no distribution of Cash or property in respect of such Claims. On the Effective Date, all instruments evidencing a G-I Equity Interest or an ACI Equity Interest (but not the G-I Class B Shares and the ACI Class B Shares) shall be canceled without further action under any applicable agreement, law, regulation, or rule. The G-I Equity Interests and ACI Equity Interests (but not the G-I Class B Shares and the ACI Class B Shares) shall be extinguished and holders of such interests shall not receive nor retain any property under the Plan. As a result, holders of Claims in Classes 10A and 11 and holders of Equity Interests in Classes 12A and 12B are conclusively deemed to have rejected the Plan and are not entitled to vote.

Section 1126 of the Bankruptcy Code defines "acceptance" of a plan by a class of claims as acceptance by creditors in that class that hold at least two-thirds in dollar amount and more than one-half in number of the claims that cast ballots for acceptance or rejection of the plan. Thus, acceptance of the Plan by Classes 3A, 6 and 7 will occur only if at least two-thirds in dollar amount and a majority in number of the holders of such Claims in each Class that cast their Ballots vote in favor of acceptance of the Plan. The confirmation of the Plan is also subject to the further condition that the Plan be accepted by at least 75% of the holders of Class 6 Claims who vote on the Plan. As noted above, Class 5 is conclusively deemed to have rejected the Plan. A vote may be disregarded if the Bankruptcy Court determines, after notice and a hearing, that such acceptance or rejection was not solicited or procured in good faith or in accordance with the provisions of the Bankruptcy Code. For a more detailed description of the requirements for confirmation of the Plan, refer to Section X for further information.

It is important that Creditors exercise their right to vote to accept or reject the Plan. Even if you do not vote to accept the Plan, you may be bound by it, if it is accepted by the requisite holders of Claims. The amount and number of votes required for confirmation of the Plan are computed on the basis of the total amount of Claims actually voting to accept or reject the Plan. Refer to Section X for further information.

If a Class of Claims entitled to vote on the Plan rejects the Plan, the Plan Proponents reserve the right to amend the Plan or request confirmation of the Plan pursuant to section 1129(b) of the Bankruptcy Code or both. Section 1129(b) permits the confirmation of a chapter 11 plan notwithstanding the nonacceptance of a plan by one or more impaired classes of claims or equity interests. Under that section, a plan may be confirmed by a bankruptcy court if the plan does not "discriminate unfairly" and is "fair and equitable" with respect to each nonaccepting class. For a more detailed description of the requirements for confirmation of a nonconsensual plan, refer to Section V(C).

In the event that a Class of Claims entitled to vote does not vote to accept the Plan, the determination whether to request confirmation of the Plan pursuant to section 1129(b) of the Bankruptcy Code will be announced prior to or at the Confirmation Hearing.

D SUBMITTING A BALLOT

To determine whether you are entitled to vote on the Plan, refer to Section I(C)(2). If you are entitled to vote, you should carefully review this Disclosure Statement, including the attached exhibits and the instructions accompanying the Ballot. Then, indicate your acceptance or rejection of the Plan by voting for or against the Plan on the enclosed Ballot or Ballots and return the Ballot(s) in the postage-paid envelope provided. If you hold Claims in more than one Class and you are entitled to vote Claims in more than one Class, you will receive separate Ballots, which must be used for each separate Class of Claims. Refer to Exhibit C for further information.

Any Claim in an impaired Class as to which an objection or request for estimation is pending or that is listed on the Schedules as unliquidated, disputed, or contingent is not entitled to vote unless the holder of such Claim has obtained an order of the Bankruptcy Court temporarily allowing such Claim for the purpose of voting on the Plan.

The Legal Representative has no vote on the Plan.

Pursuant to the Disclosure Statement Order, the Bankruptcy Court set [__], 2008 as the record date for voting on the Plan. Accordingly, only holders of record as of [___], 2008 that otherwise are entitled to vote under the Plan will receive a Ballot and may vote on the Plan.

If you are a holder of a Claim entitled to vote on the Plan and you did not receive a Ballot, received a damaged Ballot, or lost your Ballot, or if you have any questions concerning the Disclosure Statement, the Plan, or the procedures for voting on the Plan, please call or contact Epiq Bankruptcy Solutions LLC at (866) 258-8898 or their website: http://chapter11.epiqsystems.com/GIH.

THE DEBTORS BELIEVE THAT THE PLAN PROVIDES THE BEST POSSIBLE RECOVERIES TO THE DEBTORS' CREDITORS. THE DEBTORS THEREFORE BELIEVE THAT ACCEPTANCE OF THE PLAN IS IN THE BEST INTERESTS OF EACH AND EVERY CLASS OF CREDITORS AND URGE ALL HOLDERS OF IMPAIRED CLAIMS ENTITLED TO VOTE ON THE PLAN TO ACCEPT THE PLAN.

E CONFIRMATION HEARING

Under section 1128 of the Bankruptcy Code, the Bankruptcy Court has scheduled the Confirmation Hearing on [January 28, 2009 at 10:00 a.m.], prevailing Eastern Time, in the United States Bankruptcy Court for the District of New Jersey, Martin Luther King Jr. Federal Building, 50 Walnut Street, Third Floor, Newark, New Jersey, 67101. The Confirmation Hearing may be adjourned from time to time without notice except as given at the Confirmation Hearing or at any subsequent adjourned Confirmation Hearing. The Bankruptcy Court has directed that objections, if any, to confirmation of the Plan be filed and served on or before [January 8, 2009 at 4:00 p.m.], prevailing Eastern Time. Refer to Section X(A) for further information.

III. GENERAL INFORMATION

A OVERVIEW OF CHAPTER 11

Chapter 11 is the principal business reorganization chapter of the Bankruptcy Code. Under chapter 11 of the Bankruptcy Code, a debtor is authorized to reorganize its business for the benefit of its creditors, equity interest holders, employees, customers, and investors. In addition to permitting the rehabilitation of a debtor, another goal of chapter 11 is to promote fair treatment for similarly situated creditors and similarly situated equity interest holders with respect to the distribution of a debtor's value.

The commencement of a chapter 11 case creates an estate that is comprised of all of the legal and equitable interests of the debtor as of the commencement date. The Bankruptcy Code provides that the debtor may continue to operate its business and remain in possession of its property as a "Debtor-in-Possession."

The consummation of a plan of reorganization is the principal objective of a chapter 11 reorganization case. A plan of reorganization sets forth the means for satisfying claims against and interests in a debtor. Confirmation of a plan of reorganization by the bankruptcy court binds the debtor, any issuer of securities under the plan, any person acquiring property under the plan and any creditor or equity interest holder of a debtor. Subject to certain limited exceptions, the order confirming a plan discharges a debtor from any debt that arose prior to the date of confirmation of the plan and substitutes therefore the obligations specified under the confirmed plan.

Holders of claims against and interests in a debtor are permitted to vote to accept or reject the plan. Prior to soliciting acceptances of the proposed plan, however, section 1125 of the Bankruptcy Code requires a debtor to prepare a disclosure statement containing adequate information of a kind, and in sufficient detail, to enable a hypothetical reasonable investor to make an informed judgment regarding the plan. The Debtors are submitting this Disclosure Statement to holders of Claims against the Debtors to satisfy the requirements of section 1125 of the Bankruptcy Code.

B EVENTS LEADING TO THE COMMENCEMENT OF THE CHAPTER 11 CASES

G-I is a privately-held holding company with BMCA as its primary operating subsidiary. BMCA operates as a non-debtor and is not itself in chapter 11. Prior to 1967, G-I's predecessor, General Aniline & Film Corporation, was engaged in the development, manufacturing and sale of photographic and chemical products. In 1967, General Aniline & Film Corporation merged (the "1967 Merger") with the Ruberoid Company ("Ruberoid"), an industrial and building products company, and later changed its name to GAF Corporation. As GAF Corporation, the Company continued its historic business and the business of Ruberoid.

To facilitate administrative efficiency, effective October 31, 2000, GAF Corporation, merged into its direct subsidiary, G-I Holdings Inc. G-I Holdings Inc. then merged into its direct subsidiary, G Industries Corp., which in turn merged into its direct subsidiary, GAF Fiberglas Corporation. In that merger, GAF Fiberglass Corporation changed its name to GAF Corporation. Effective November 13, 2000, GAF Corporation merged into its direct subsidiary, GAF Building Materials Corporation, whose name was changed in the merger to G-I Holdings, Inc. G-I Holdings Inc. is a wholly-owned subsidiary of G Holdings Inc. ("G Holdings"). Samuel J. Heyman beneficially owns (as defined in Rule 13d-3 of the Securities Exchange Act) approximately 99% of G Holdings Inc.

G-I's asbestos liabilities arise primarily from Ruberoid's manufacture of an asbestos-containing thermal insulation product known as Calsilite®. Ruberoid began as a manufacturer of rubber-like roofing and coating products that did not contain asbestos. At the request of the United States Navy during World War II, however, Ruberoid produced Calsilite® – a thermal insulation product used on the United States' naval and other ships. Ruberoid supplied this product, manufactured in accordance with government specifications, to naval shipyards around the country. After the 1967 Merger, GAF Corporation designed an asbestos free product similar to Calsilite® which was rejected by the Navy. The Company ceased production of Calsilite® in 1971. In addition to Calsilite®, Ruberoid (until the 1967 Merger) and then GAF Corporation (after the 1967 Merger) produced a variety of other products that may have contained asbestos including asbestos fiber, asbestos paper, rollboard and millboard, coatings, felt, asbestos-cement boards, sheets and siding, shingles and roll roofing, flooring, and pipe covering,cement and block products. No GAF Corporation product contained asbestos as part of its formulation after 1981.

ACI, formerly known as Alkaril Chemicals, Inc. ("Alkaril"), was formed in 1978. Alkaril manufactured surfactants and other specialty chemicals. On August 18, 1992, Alkaril changed its name to ACI Inc. In November 1987, Alkaril and its Canadian affiliate Alkaril Chemicals Ltd. were acquired by GAF Corporation and its subsidiary GAF Chemicals Corporation through a series of stock purchase transactions. Alkaril and GAF Corporation are collectively referred to as "GAF" in the following discussion.

On February 12, 1990, pursuant to an Asset Sale Agreement, GAF sold the assets (the "Surfactants Assets") of the GAF surfactants business to two newly formed Grantor Trusts (the "Purchaser Trusts"), of which Alkaril and GAF were the sole beneficiaries. The Purchaser Trusts then contributed the Surfactants Assets to a limited partnership (the "Partnership") in exchange for limited partnership interests and, in turn, contributed such interests to a third trust which became a successor limited partner of the Partnership (the "Limited Partner Trust"). The Limited Partner Trust was entitled to priority distributions from the Partnership. The total consideration for the transferred Surfactants Assets was valued at approximately $480 million, including the assumption and payment of certain liabilities relating to the Surfactants Assets. After the formation of the Partnership, the Limited Partner Trust borrowed $450 million pursuant to a non-recourse loan which was secured by its interest in the Partnership.

GAF's investment in the Partnership was represented by an asset reflecting its investment in the Partnership and $450 million long-term indebtedness reflecting the related non-recourse loan. Although non-recourse to GAF, repayment of the debt was secured by a pledge of GAF's interest in the Partnership. On April 26, 1994, GAF settled outstanding disputes relating to GAF's interest in the Partnership. Under the terms of the settlement agreement, GAF agreed to terminate pending litigation and received a partnership distribution of a portion of its interest in the Partnership of approximately $25.5 million in April 1994. The settlement resulted in pre-tax income of $23 million. The settlement also provided that GAF would receive fixed monthly distributions until 1999 as well as a fixed final distribution in 1999.

On September 15, 1997, G-I Holdings Inc. received a notice from the Internal Revenue Service (the "IRS") of a deficiency in the amount of $84.4 million (after taking into account the use of net operating losses and foreign tax credits otherwise available for use in later years) in connection with the formation of the Partnership. On or about February 9, 1999, GAF transferred via an Amended and Restated Agreement of Trust its ownership interests in the Partnership to a Delaware Business Trust, the GA Trust. The Partnership then retired GAF's interest in the Partnership through a distribution of cash and United States Treasury bonds.

GAF was forced to seek chapter 11 protection in January 2001. G-I sought chapter 11 protection in 2001 due to the significant increase in both the number of asbestos claims filed against GAF Corporation and the amounts demanded by asbestos plaintiffs' lawyers to settle their cases. The bankruptcies of four major asbestos defendants occurring immediately prior to the Commencement Date further increased the financial pressure on G-I to unanticipated levels. The result was an inability to continue funding the resolution of rising asbestos claims.

C PREPETITION BUSINESS ACTIVITIES

1. BMCA

G-I's principal asset is BMCA, a wholly-owned subsidiary of BMCA Holdings Corporation, which is a wholly-owned subsidiary of G-I, that was created in 1994 upon the transfer by G-I of substantially all of its operating assets relating to its roofing and building materials business to the newly-formed entity. The following is a more detailed description of this transaction as well as another significant transaction involving G-I and BMCA.

a. The 1994 Transaction

BMCA was incorporated under the laws of Delaware in 1994 and is a wholly-owned subsidiary of BMCA Holdings Corporation, which is a wholly-owned subsidiary of G-I Holdings Inc. In 1994, BMCA acquired the operating assets and certain liabilities of GAF Building Materials Corporation, whose name has been changed to G-I Holdings Inc. G-I Holdings Inc. is a wholly-owned subsidiary of G Holdings Inc. ("G Holdings"). As noted above, Samuel J. Heyman beneficially owns (as defined in Rule 13d-3 of the Securities Exchange Act) approximately 99% of G Holdings Inc.

In 1994, GAF BMC, the predecessor to G-I, was a major manufacturer of roofing and building materials and a well-recognized defendant in asbestos litigation (typically sued as "GAF Corporation"). Despite the efforts of GAF BMC's management to grow the company, the capital markets were not open to GAF BMC (except perhaps on a secured basis) because of the asbestos overhang on the company and, therefore, capital could not be raised to grow the business. Rather than encumber all its assets, GAF BMC's management determined the most beneficial option for all parties in interest was to transfer its operating assets to a new, wholly-owned subsidiary.

Pursuant to the Reorganization Agreement, dated as of January 31, 1994, GAF BMC transferred substantially all its operating assets relating to its roofing and building materials business to BMCA, a newly-formed, wholly-owned subsidiary, in exchange for all issued shares of BMCA's common stock and its assumption of GAF BMC's related liabilities. BMCA also assumed the first $204 million of asbestos liabilities payable in respect of claims for bodily injury pending against GAF BMC as of January 31, 1994, or settled prior to January 31, 1994, whether for indemnity or defense.

As a result of the separation of the BMCA assets from GAF BMC, BMCA's access to the capital markets was greatly enhanced. Specifically, over the next six years, BMCA issued five different series of public bonds and entered into two credit facilities totaling approximately $700 million – all of which provided BMCA with capital to grow its roofing and building materials business.

b. The 2000 Transaction

Faced with an escalating volume of asbestos claims filed against GAF Corporation and the bankruptcy filings of other major asbestos defendants, in late 2000 it became clear G-I had no choice but to seek protection under chapter 11 of the Bankruptcy Code. To increase its liquidity in anticipation of its parent company's filing, in December 2000 BMCA obtained an additional $100 million secured credit facility with its existing lenders secured by first liens on substantially all BMCA's assets and amended its credit agreement. BMCA sought and obtained consents from the holders of its outstanding unsecured notes to amend its existing indentures to permit the proposed refinancing. In exchange for such consents, BMCA granted the senior noteholders a second priority lien on BMCA's assets (the refinancing and related lien grants are referred to collectively below as the "2000 Transaction").

2. Description of the Business

Financial and other information about BMCA and its subsidiaries can be found in (i) the Annual Report on Form 10-K for the fiscal year ended December 31, 2007, filed by BMCA with the Securities and Exchange Commission (the "SEC") on March 28, 2008, a copy of which is annexed hereto as Exhibit F, and (ii) the Quarterly Report on Form 10-Q for the period ended September 28, 2008, filed by BMCA with the SEC on November 12, 2008. You may read and copy documents BMCA has filed with the SEC at the SEC's Public Reading Room located at 450 Fifth Street, N.W., Washington D.C. 20549. You may obtain information on the operation of the Public Reading Room by calling the SEC at 1-800-SEC-0300. The SEC also maintains an Internet site (www.sec.gov) through which you can access reports, proxy and information statements and other information regarding BMCA. The Debtors' monthly operating reports are available on the Bankruptcy Court's Electronic Case Filing System which can be found at www.njb.uscourts.gov, the official website for the Bankruptcy Court. See Section IX for important information that should be considered when reviewing G-I and BMCA's financial information. When applicable, references to BMCA include BMCA's subsidiaries.

a. Residential Roofing Products

BMCA is a leading national manufacturer and marketer of a broad line of asphalt and polymer-based roofing products and accessories for the residential and commercial roofing markets. BMCA also manufactures specialty building products and accessories for the professional and do-it-yourself remodeling and residential construction industries. BMCA does business under the name "GAF Materials Corporation."

Residential roofing product sales represented approximately 75%, 74% and 75% of BMCA's net sales in 2007, 2006 and 2005, respectively. BMCA's principal residential roofing products consist of laminated and strip asphalt shingles. BMCA has improved its sales mix of residential roofing products in recent years by increasing emphasis on laminated shingles and accessory products, which generally are sold at higher prices with more attractive profit margins than standard strip shingle products. Based on unit sales, BMCA believes it is the largest manufacturer of residential roofing shingles in the United States.

BMCA's two principal lines are the Timberline® series and the Sovereign® series. The Timberline Series offers a premium laminated product that adds dramatic shadow lines and substantially improves the appearance of a roof. The Sovereign Series is designed to capitalize on the middle market for quality shingles. BMCA also has a line of premium designer shingles which include the Slateline, Grand Slate, Grand Sequoia, Grand Canyon, Country Mansion, Capstone, and Camelot brands. In addition to shingles, the Residential Roofing lines offer the components necessary to install a complete roofing system. BMCA's Weather Stopper® Integrated Roofing System™ begins with Weather Watch® and Stormguard® waterproof underlayments for eaves, valleys and flashings to protect against water seepage between the roof deck and the shingles caused by ice build-up and wind-driven rain. BMCA's Weather Stopper® Integrated Roofing System™ also includes Shingle-Mate®, Leatherback®, and Deck-Armor™ underlayments; Timbertex®, Ridglass™, Seal-A-Ridge® and Z® Ridge Hip and Ridge shingles, which are thicker and typically larger than standard hip and ridge shingles and provide dramatic accents to the slopes and planes of a finished roof; and the Cobra® and Master Flow® Vent series, which provide attic ventilation.

b. Commercial Roofing Products

BMCA manufactures a full line of commercial roofing products, including modified bitumen and asphalt built-up roofing products, thermoplastic polyolefin products, liquid applied membrane systems and roofing accessories for use in the application of commercial roofing systems. Commercial roofing represented approximately 19%, 22% and 21% of BMCA's net sales in 2007, 2006 and 2005, respectively.

BMCA markets thermoplastic single-ply commercial roofing products under the EverGuard® trademark. The EverGuard® products address the important and growing single-ply segment of the commercial roofing market. The thermoplastic products offer building owners the reliability of heat-welded seams and ENERGY STAR® qualified systems. The EverGuard® brand also includes Freedom™ self-adhered TPO membranes, which feature faster installation without the need for hot asphalt, solvent-based adhesives, or open-flamed torches. Based on unit sales, BMCA believes it is the largest manufacturer of both asphalt built-up roofing products and modified bitumen products in the United States.

BMCA also manufactures fiberglass-based felts, which are made from asphalt impregnated glass fiber mat for use as a component in asphalt built-up roofing systems under the GAFGLAS® trademark. Most of BMCA's fiberglass-based roofing systems are assembled on the roof by applying successive layers of roofing with asphalt and topped, in some applications, with gravel or mineral surfaced sheets. Thermal insulation may be applied beneath the membrane. BMCA also manufactures base sheets, flashings and other roofing accessories for use in these systems; BMCA's TOPCOAT® roofing system, a liquid-applied membrane system designed to protect and waterproof existing roofing systems; and roof maintenance products. In addition, BMCA markets insulation products under the EnergyGuard™ brandname, which includes perlite and isocyanurate foam in addition to accessories, such as vent stacks, fasteners, and cements and coatings. These products allow BMCA to provide customers with a complete roofing system and the ability to market and sell extended guarantees.

BMCA also sells modified bitumen products under the Ruberoid® trademark. Modified bitumen products are used in new and re-roofing applications or in combination with glass membranes in GAF CompositeRoof™ systems. Modified bitumen systems provide an alternative to conventional built-up roofing systems, including ease of installation and maintenance.

c. Other Products

BMCA also manufactures and markets a variety of specialty building products and accessories for the professional and do-it-yourself remodeling and residential construction industries. Specialty products and accessories represented approximately 6%, 4% and 4% of BMCA's net sales in 2007, 2006, and 2005, respectively. These products primarily consist of metal and fiberglass air distribution products for the HVAC (heating, ventilating and air conditioning) industry, decking and railing products, manufactured decorative stone products, and specialty fiber products. BMCA also manufactures a line of specialty coatings for various industrial applications.

d. Marketing and Sales

BMCA's sales and marketing functions are designed to help customers grow their businesses and provide better service while offering property owners the best and safest choice from product offerings. BMCA believes it has one of the industry's largest roofing sales forces. BMCA has a staff of technical professionals who work directly with architects, consultants, contractors, and building owners and provide support to BMCA's sales force, distributors, lumberyards, and retailers. A major portion of BMCA's roofing product sales are to wholesale distributors and retailers, who resell BMCA's products to roofing contractors, builders, and property owners. BMCA believes the wholesale distribution channel represents the principal distribution channel for professionally-installed asphalt roofing products.

BMCA's certified contractor programs offer marketing and support services to nationwide networks of roofing and decorative stone installers, as well as residential homebuilders. BMCA views these certified contractors and builders as an effective extension of its sales force, which promotes BMCA's products and support services (including enhanced warranty protection) directly to property owners, construction specifiers and architects.

e. Significant Customers

No single customer accounted for over 10% of BMCA's net sales in 2007, 2006 and 2005, except for The Home Depot, Inc. and American Builders & Contractors Supply Company, Inc.

f. Raw Materials

The major raw materials required for the manufacture of BMCA's roofing products are asphalt, mineral stabilizer, glass fiber, glass fiber mat, polyester mat, and granules. Asphalt and mineral stabilizer are available from a large number of suppliers on substantially similar terms. BMCA currently has contracts with several of these suppliers, and others are available as substitutes.

The major raw materials required for the manufacture of BMCA's specialty building products and accessories are steel tubes, sheet metal products, aluminum, motors, and cartons. The major raw materials for the manufacture of BMCA's specialty decking and mat product lines are polypropylene, filler, fiberglass, and binder. These raw materials are commodity-type products, the pricing for which is driven by supply and demand. Prices of other raw materials used in the manufacture of specialty building products and accessories are more closely tied to movements in inflation rates. All of these raw materials are available from a large number of suppliers on substantially similar terms.

Three of BMCA's roofing plants have easy access to deep water ports thereby permitting delivery of asphalt by ship, which BMCA believes is the most economical means of asphalt transport. BMCA's Nashville, Tennessee plant manufactures a portion of BMCA's glass fiber requirements for use in its Chester, South Carolina; Shafter, California and Ennis, Texas plants, which manufacture glass fiber mat substrate.

BMCA and its subsidiaries purchase a substantial portion of its headlap roofing granules, colored roofing granules, and algae-resistant granules, on a purchase order basis, from ISP Minerals, an Affiliate of the Debtors. The amount of mineral products purchased each year on this basis is based on current demand and is not subject to minimum purchase requirements. For the second quarter ended June 29, 2008, BMCA purchased $12.3 million of roofing granules, and for the six-month period ended June 29, 2008, BMCA purchased $19.5 million of roofing granules under this arrangement.

In addition to the granules products purchased by BMCA under the above-mentioned purchase order basis, the substantial balance of BMCA's granules requirements is purchased under a contract expiring in 2013. The amount of mineral products purchased each year under the contract is based on current demand and is not subject to minimum purchase requirements. Under the contract, for the second quarter ended June 29, 2008, BMCA purchased $22.8 million of roofing granules, and for the six-month period ended June 29, 2008, BMCA purchased $41.9 million of roofing granules.

g. Seasonal Variations and Working Capital

Sales of roofing and specialty building products and accessories in the northern regions of the United States generally decline during the winter months due to adverse weather conditions.

Generally, BMCA's inventory practice includes increasing inventory levels in the first and second quarters of each year in order to meet peak season demand from June through November.

h. Warranty Claims

BMCA provides certain limited warranties covering most of its residential roofing products for periods generally ranging from 20 to 40 years, although certain of its product lines provide for a lifetime limited warranty. Although terms of warranties vary, BMCA believes its warranties generally are consistent with those offered by its competitors, with the exception of BMCA's unique "Golden Pledge™," "Peace of Mind™" and "Peak Performance®" warranties. BMCA also offers certain limited warranties of varying duration covering most of its commercial roofing products. Most of its specialty building products and accessories carry limited warranties for periods generally ranging from 5 to 20 years, with lifetime limited warranties on certain products.

i. Competition

The roofing products industry is highly competitive and includes a number of national competitors. These competitors in the residential roofing and accessories markets are Owens Corning, Tamko, and CertainTeed Corporation, and in the commercial roofing market are Johns Manville, Firestone Building Products, Carlisle Companies, Inc., Tamko, and CertainTeed Corporation. In addition, there are numerous regional competitors, principally in the commercial roofing market.

Competition is based largely upon products and service quality, distribution capability, price and credit terms. BMCA believes it is well-positioned in the marketplace as a result of its broad product lines in the residential and commercial markets, consistently high product quality, strong sales force, and national distribution capabilities.

BMCA's specialty building products and accessories business is highly competitive with numerous competitors due to the breadth of the product lines it markets. Major competitors include Gibraltar, Southwark Metal Manufacturing Co., Lomanco Inc., Standex International Corp. and Hart & Cooley, Inc.

j. Research and Development

BMCA primarily focuses its research and development activities on the development of new products and process improvements and the testing of alternative raw materials and supplies. BMCA's research and development activities, which are dedicated to residential, commercial and fiberglass products, are located at technical centers in Ennis, Texas; Wayne, New Jersey; Chester, South Carolina and Walpole, Massachusetts. Research and development expenditures were approximately $8.7, $8.0 and $9.4 million in 2007, 2006 and 2005, respectively.

k. Intellectual Property

BMCA holds a number of patents, trademarks and licenses obtained over a number of years and expiring at various times consistent with our business needs. Generally, BMCA seeks statutory protection for strategic or financially important intellectual property, including patents, trademarks and licenses developed in connection with BMCA's businesses. Certain intellectual property, where appropriate, is protected by contracts, licenses, confidentiality, or other similar agreements.

BMCA owns numerous United States and foreign patents (and their respective counterparts), the more important of which cover those technologies and inventions embodied in current products, or which are used in the manufacture of those products. While BMCA believes its patent portfolio is important to its business operations and in the aggregate constitutes a valuable asset, no single patent, or group of patents, is critical to the success of BMCA's businesses. From time to time, BMCA grants licenses under its patents and technology and obtains licenses under the patents and technology of others.

In addition, BMCA owns numerous registered trademarks in the United States and in many foreign countries.

Since 1970, federal, state and local authorities have adopted and amended a wide variety of federal, state and local environmental laws and regulations relating to environmental matters. The environmental laws and regulations deal with air and water emissions or discharges into the environment, as well as the generation, storage, treatment, transportation, and disposal of solid and hazardous waste and the remediation of any releases of hazardous substances and materials to the environment. These laws and regulations affect BMCA because of the nature of the manufacturing processes employed by plants owned, operated, or acquired by BMCA. BMCA made capital expenditures of approximately $0.4, $1.0 and $0.6 million in 2007, 2006 and 2005, respectively, relating to environmental compliance. These expenditures are included in additions to property, plant, and equipment.

BMCA believes that its manufacturing facilities comply in all material respects with applicable environmental laws and regulations, and, while BMCA cannot predict whether more burdensome requirements will be adopted by governmental authorities in the future, nor can it predict with certainty future capital expenditures or operating costs for environmental compliance, BMCA does not believe they will have a material effect on its business, liquidity, results of operations, cash flows, financial position, or competitive position.

m. Intercompany Transactions

BMCA makes loans to, and borrows from, its parent corporations from time to time at prevailing market rates. As of June 29, 2008 and July 1, 2007, BMCA Holdings Corporation owed BMCA $56.3 and $56.1 million, including interest of $1.0 and $0.8 million, respectively, and BMCA owed BMCA Holdings Corporation $52.8 and $52.8 million, with no unpaid interest, respectively.

Interest income on BMCA's loans to BMCA Holdings Corporation amounted to $0.8 and $1.2 million during the second quarter ended June 29, 2008 and July 1, 2007, respectively, and $1.8 and $2.5 million during the six-month periods ended June 29, 2008 and July 1, 2007, respectively. Interest expense on BMCA's loans from BMCA Holdings Corporation amounted to $0.8 and $1.2 million during the second quarter ended June 29, 2008 and July 1, 2007, respectively, and $1.8 and $2.4 million during the six-month periods ended June 29, 2008 and July 1, 2007, respectively.

BMCA's loans payable to/receivable from its parent corporations are due on demand and provide each party with the right of offset of its related obligation to the other party and are subject to limitations as outlined in the Senior Secured Revolving Credit Facility, the Term Loan, the Junior Lien Term Loan and the Senior Notes. Under the terms of the Senior Secured Revolving Credit Facility and the indentures governing BMCA's Senior Notes, at June 29, 2008, BMCA could repay demand loans to its parent corporation amounting to $52.8 million, subject to certain conditions. BMCA also makes non-interest bearing advances to affiliates, of which no balance was outstanding as of June 29, 2008 and July 1, 2007. In addition, as of June 29, 2008 and July 1, 2007, BMCA did not owe any loans or enter into any lending activities with other affiliates.

BMCA has a management agreement (the "Management Agreement"), with ISP Management Company, Inc., a subsidiary of International Specialty Products Inc. to provide BMCA with certain management services. International Specialty Products Inc. and its subsidiaries are referred to as

"ISP". ISP is an affiliate of G-I and was an indirect subsidiary of G-I's predecessor, GAF. The transaction by which ISP ceased to be a subsidiary of GAF has given rise to litigation described in Section III G of this Disclosure Statement. Based on services provided to BMCA in 2008 under the Management Agreement, the aggregate amount payable to ISP Management Company, Inc. under the Management Agreement for 2008, inclusive of the services provided to G-I Holdings, is estimated to be similar to the $6.7 million paid in 2007. BMCA does not expect any changes to the Management Agreement to have a material impact on its results of operations.

BMCA and its subsidiaries purchase a substantial portion of its headlap roofing granules, colored roofing granules, and algae-resistant granules, on a purchase order basis, from ISP Minerals. The amount of mineral products purchased each year on this basis is based on current demand and is not subject to minimum purchase requirements. For the second quarter ended June 29, 2008, BMCA purchased $12.3 million of roofing granules, and for the six-month period ended June 29, 2008, BMCA purchased $19.5 million of roofing granules under this arrangement.

In addition to the granules products purchased by BMCA under the above-mentioned purchase order basis, the balance of BMCA's granules purchases from ISP is purchased under a contract expiring in 2013. The amount of mineral products purchased each year under the contract is based on current demand and is not subject to minimum purchase requirements. Under the contract, for the second quarter ended June 29, 2008, BMCA purchased $22.8 million of roofing granules, and for the six-month period ended June 29, 2008, BMCA purchased $41.9 million of roofing granules.

The buildings in which BMCA operates its corporate headquarters, located at 1361 Alps Road in Wayne New Jersey, are leased from ISP Management Company, Inc. pursuant to a lease (at the time a sublease) dated January 1, 1998, as amended. The lease was originally scheduled to expire on December 31, 1998 but has been extended by various amendments thereto. Since April 1, 2001, the lease has been automatically extended for successive calendar quarters. Such quarterly extensions can be terminated by either ISP Management Company, Inc. or BMCA upon the giving of notice to the other party not less than 30 days prior to the expiration of the then current calendar quarter.

n. Employees

At December 31, 2007, BMCA employed approximately 4,200 people worldwide, approximately 900 of whom were subject to 14 union contracts. The contracts are effective for one to five year periods. During 2007 and the first quarter of 2008, three labor contracts expired and were renegotiated.

D PREPETITION CAPITAL STRUCTURE

1. Prepetition Bank Debt and Other Indebtedness

As of the Commencement Date, the Debtors had no outstanding bank debt or other institutional indebtedness. ACI has certain liabilities in favor of G-I Holdings in connection with the creation of the Partnership.

2. Equity

As of the Commencement Date, G-I had 1,711,545 shares of common and preferred stock outstanding, all owned by G Holdings, Inc. G Holdings, Inc. had 342,309 shares of common stock outstanding. Of that number, approximately 340,220 or 99.4% of the total outstanding number of shares, were owned either directly or indirectly by Samuel J. Heyman. The remaining 0.6% of outstanding shares were largely held by current or former employees.

E PREPETITION LITIGATION

1. Asbestos Bodily Injury Claims

In an effort to efficiently process, defend, and settle asbestos claims, G-I became a member of the CCR, a non-profit organization established in 1988 to act as a claims handling facility originally for twenty companies named as defendants in asbestos personal injury suits. In 1993, the CCR and representatives of the asbestos plaintiffs' bar reached a global settlement affecting all current and future asbestos claims asserted against its members (the "Georgine Settlement"). The Georgine Settlement was approved by the United States District Court for the Eastern District of Pennsylvania which had before it at the time the then pending federal asbestos cases. The Georgine Settlement was designed to assure prompt payment with reduced transaction costs to sick individuals and to defer payment of the claims of non-sick individuals until such time, if ever, that they became sick.

In 1993, the CCR reached a proposed global settlement with a class of persons who alleged exposure to its members' asbestos products but had not yet filed suit (the "Georgine Settlement"). Under the proposed settlement, future asbestos claims of persons who did not validly opt out of the Georgine Settlement would have been processed and resolved under an alternative dispute resolution system with agreed medical criteria and compensation standards for a period of ten years. The Georgine Settlement was designed to assure prompt payment with reduced transaction costs to individuals demonstrating measurable impairment from asbestos-related disease and to defer payment of the claims of other persons unless and until their symptoms satisfied the agreed medical criteria. However, the courts ultimately refused to certify the class and the Georgine Settlement did not take effect.

As the Georgine Settlement worked its way through the courts, the CCR also entered into separate agreements with certain asbestos plaintiffs' lawyers for the processing and resolution of future asbestos claims ("Futures Agreements"). The Futures Agreements provided an alternative dispute mechanism, embodied medical criteria that were generally consistent with the Georgine Settlement, and tolled the statute of limitations for individuals who did not currently meet the agreed medical criteria. CCR also agreed with certain asbestos plaintiffs' lawyers to settle some 50,000 pending asbestos cases for approximately $750 million. G-I (then still known as GAF) contributed approximately $200 million towards the $750 million.

Prepetition, GAF faced a continuous and escalating stream of asbestos claims which were processed through the CCR. Although it disputed the merits of most of these claims, G-I found it appropriate to settle large numbers of the claims based on economic imperatives.

As of January 17, 2000, CCR terminated G-I's membership in the CCR. As of October 1, 2000, G-I was defending against approximately 148,800 pending asbestos claims. During the first nine months before the Commencement Date, G-I received notice of filing of approximately 41,700 new asbestos claims.

Certain disputes between G-I and CCR are the subject of a proposed settlement, made with the participation of Samuel J. Heyman and related entities, the Asbestos Claimants Committee, and the Legal Representative. That proposed settlement is being submitted to the Bankruptcy Court for its approval under Federal Rule of Bankruptcy Procedure 9019(a) and is incorporated into the Plan.

2. Asbestos Property Damage Claims

G-I has been named as a co-defendant in asbestos-in-buildings cases for economic and property damage or other injuries based upon an alleged present or future need to remove asbestos-containing materials from public and private buildings. Most Asbestos Property Damage Claims do not seek to recover an amount of specific damages. Since these actions were first initiated approximately 20 years ago, G-I has successfully disposed of approximately 145 of these cases and remains a co-defendant in three lawsuits. These actions have been stayed as to G-I as a result of the Chapter 11 Cases.

3. Insurance Matters

Before the onset of its Chapter 11 case, G-I and its predecessor used substantial amounts of insurance to fund their defense and indemnity costs pertaining to asbestos personal injury litigation. The Debtors are not aware that any additional amounts are available for that purpose under their insurance policies.

In October 1983, G-I filed a lawsuit in Los Angeles, California Superior Court against its past insurance carriers to obtain a judicial determination that those carriers were obligated to defend and indemnify it for Asbestos Property Damage Claims. G-I is seeking declaratory relief as well as compensatory damages. This action is presently in the pre-trial pleading stage. The parties have agreed to hold this action in abeyance pending developments in the Asbestos Property Damage Claims. Because this litigation is in early stages and evidence and interpretations of important legal questions are presently unavailable, it is not possible to predict the future of this litigation.

In all the Asbestos Property Damage Claims, G-I's defense costs have been paid by one of its primary insurance carriers. While G-I expects that this primary carrier will continue to be obligated to defend and indemnify G-I, this primary carrier has reserved its rights to later refuse to defend and indemnify G-I and to seek reimbursement for some or all of the fees paid to defend and resolve the Asbestos Property Damage Claims.

4. Environmental Litigation

The Debtors and BMCA, together with other companies, are a party to a variety of proceedings and lawsuits involving environmental matters under the Comprehensive Environmental Response Compensation and Liability Act, and similar state laws, in which recovery is sought for the cost of cleanup of contaminated sites or remedial obligations are imposed, a number of which are in the early stages or have been dormant for protracted periods. Most of these Environmental Claims do not seek to recover an amount of specific damages.

In connection with BMCA's formation, it contractually assumed all environmental liabilities relating to existing plant sites. The environmental liabilities that BMCA did not assume relate primarily to closed manufacturing facilities. G-I estimates that, as of December 31, 2007, its liability in respect of the environmental liabilities of G-I not assumed by BMCA was approximately $11.5 million, not accounting for any possible reduction of liability as a result of the Chapter 11 Cases, before insurance recoveries reflected on its balance sheet of $3.7 million. BMCA estimates its liability as of December 31, 2007, in respect of assumed and other environmental liabilities is $2.6 million, and expects insurance recoveries of $1.7 million.

In June 1997, G-I commenced litigation on behalf of itself and its predecessors, successors, subsidiaries and related corporate entities in the Superior Court of New Jersey, Somerset County, seeking insurance recovery amounts substantially in excess of the estimated recoveries. This action was removed to the United States Bankruptcy Court for the District of New Jersey in February 2001, in conjunction with the Chapter 11 Cases. In November 2002, the parties agreed to have the action remanded to the Superior Court of New Jersey, Somerset County where it is pending. While the Debtors believe that their claims are meritorious, there can be no assurance that the Debtors will prevail in their efforts to obtain amounts equal to, or in excess of, the estimated recoveries.

On October 14, 2008, the United States filed a proof of claim against G-I, on behalf of the Environmental Protection Agency ("EPA") and the United States Department of the Interior, Fish and Wildlife Service ("FWS"), relating to the Vermont Asbestos Group Site ("VAG Site") in Eden and Lowell, Vermont. The United States asserts a general unsecured claim under the Comprehensive Environmental Response, Compensation and Liability Act ("CERCLA") on behalf of EPA for $241,420,370 for past and future cleanup costs; and on behalf of the FWS for $12,628,622 in natural resource damages. EPA also alleged in its proof of claim and by adversary complaint the right to issue injunctive orders to G-I compelling the completion of six remedial items under the Clean Air Act ("CAA") and/or the Resource Conservation and Recovery Act ("RCRA").

On October 20, 2008, G-I filed a motion seeking a determination that all of its obligations to the United States relating to the VAG site give rise to claims which will be discharged upon confirmation of G-I's plan of reorganization. On November 5, 2008, the United States opposed this motion which remains pending.

G-I intends to object further to the VAG claims and vigorously defend against these claims.

5. Other Prepetition Litigation

On or about April 29, 1996, an action was commenced in the Circuit Court of Mobile County, Alabama against G-I on behalf of a purported nationwide class of purchasers of, or current owners of, buildings with certain asphalt shingles manufactured by G-I and certain of its affiliated entities. The action alleged, among other things, that those shingles were defective and sought unspecified damages on behalf of the purported class. On September 25, 1998, the parties agreed to settle this litigation on a national, class-wide basis for asphalt shingles manufactured between January 1, 1973 and December 31, 1997. Following a fairness hearing, the court granted final approval of the class-wide settlement in April 1999. Under the terms of the settlement, property owners whose shingles were manufactured during this period and suffered certain damages during the term of their original warranty period, and who file a qualifying claim, were provided with an opportunity to receive certain limited benefits from BMCA beyond those already provided in their existing warranty. BMCA will continue to honor that settlement after the Effective Date.

In October 1998, G-I brought suit in the Superior Court of New Jersey—Middlesex County, on BMCA's behalf, against certain of G-I's insurers for recovery of the defense costs in connection with the Mobile County, Alabama class action and a declaration that the insurers are obligated to provide indemnification for all damages paid pursuant to the settlement of this class action and for other damages. This action is pending.

6. Tax Claim Against G-I Holdings

On September 15, 1997, G-I received a notice from the IRS of a deficiency in the amount of $84.4 million (after taking into account the use of net operating losses and foreign tax credits otherwise available for use in later years) in connection with the formation in 1990 of Rhône-Poulenc Surfactants and Specialties, L.P., or the surfactants partnership, a partnership in which G-I held an interest.

The Debtors filed petitions in the United States Tax Court challenging the IRS's notice of deficiency. The filing of Debtors' bankruptcy petitions automatically stayed proceedings in the Tax Court, and the IRS thereafter filed proofs of claim in the Bankruptcy Court. The IRS seeks, on a priority basis on which it would be paid over time, alleged back taxes of $84.4 million, plus interest and penalties. The Debtors have objected to the IRS's claims and are litigating these matters in an adversary proceeding described in Section IV(M).

IV. DEBTORS' CHAPTER 11 CASES

On January 5, 2001, G-I filed a voluntary petition for relief under chapter 11 of the Bankruptcy Code. On the same date, the Bankruptcy Court approved certain orders designed to minimize the disruption of the Debtors' business operations and to facilitate their reorganization. On August 3, 2001, ACI filed a voluntary petition for relief under chapter 11 of the Bankruptcy Code.

A FIRST DAY ORDERS AND OTHER POSTPETITION ORDERS

1. Case Administration Orders

Upon the commencement of these Chapter 11 Cases, the Bankruptcy Court entered certain orders with respect to the administration of these Chapter 11 Cases. These orders: (i) established interim compensation procedures for professionals; (ii) granted an extension of the time to file the Debtors' schedules and statements; and (iii) approved notice procedures limiting notice on various matters to only affected parties and authorizing the Debtors or their agent, to act as agent for the clerk of the Bankruptcy Court in noticing all matters customarily noticed by the clerk pursuant to the Bankruptcy Code.

2. Business Operations

The Bankruptcy Court authorized the Debtors to: (i) maintain existing bank accounts and business forms; (ii) maintain existing investment practices with financial institutions; (iii) maintain existing business forms; and (iv) provide adequate assurance to utility companies and establish procedures for determining requests for additional adequate assurance.

3. Claims Process and Bar Date

a. Schedules and Statements

On April 2, 2001, G-I filed with the Bankruptcy Court its statement of financial affairs, schedules of assets and liabilities and schedules of executory contracts and unexpired leases and a schedule of equity security holders. On August 3, 2001, ACI filed its statement of financial affairs, schedules of assets and liabilities and schedules of executory contracts and unexpired leases and a schedule of equity security holders.

On September 17, 2008, the Debtors filed amended schedules of liabilities, executory contracts, unexpired leases, and equity security holders.

b. Bar Date

On June 25, 2001, the Debtors filed a motion pursuant to Bankruptcy Rule 3003(c)(3) for an order fixing a final date for filing Proofs of Claim against the Estates of G-I and ACI and approving notices and publication procedures related thereto (the "Bar Date Motion"). The Asbestos Claimants Committee and the Legal Representative both objected to any form of bar date being imposed on holders of Asbestos Claims prior to estimation of G-I's asbestos liabilities. On September 10, 2004, the Debtors filed a letter to the Court stating that, in order to expedite the cases and avoid unnecessary expense should a consensual deal be reached, G-I did not object and agreed to an estimation hearing prior to any bar date that could determine both the allowable amount of each type of asbestos claim and the aggregate liability of the G-I estate for both claims and demands. Accordingly, the Bankruptcy Court did not conduct a hearing with respect to the Bar Date Motion pending resolution of the issues related to estimation of Asbestos Personal Injury Claims. For a description of the estimation process please see Section IV(I).

As a result of the global settlement reached with the Legal Representative and the Asbestos Claimants Committee, the Debtors filed an Amended Bar Date Motion requesting that the Bankruptcy Court establish a date by which proofs of claim (excluding Asbestos Claims) against and proofs of interest in the Debtors must be filed, and the notice procedures related thereto. The hearing for the Bar Date Motion and Amended Bar Date Motion occurred on September 5, 2008. By order, dated September 5, 2008 (the "Bar Date Order"), the Bankruptcy Court fixed October 15, 2008 (the "Bar Date") as the date by which all proofs of claim against and interests in the Debtors must be filed other than certain Excluded Claims defined in the Bar Date Order to which the Bar Date will not apply. In particular, the Bar Date will not apply to any Asbestos Personal Injury Claim, any Indirect Trust Claim, or the deficiency portion of any Bonded Asbestos Personal Injury Claim remaining after crediting the proceeds of any supersedeas bond or other payment assurances to which the holder of such a Bonded Asbestos Personal Injury Claim is determined by Final Order or agreement of the parties to be entitled.

4. Joint Administration

On August 9, 2001, the Debtors filed an Application for Order Directing Joint Administration of the Chapter 11 Cases Pursuant to Fed. R. Bankr. P. 1015(b). On October 10, 2001, the Bankruptcy Court entered an order directing the procedural consolidation and joint administration of the chapter 11 cases of G-I and ACI.

5. Executory Contracts and Unexpired Leases

As part of the efforts to reduce their operating expenses, the Debtors engaged in an analysis of their owned and leased real property and their contracts related to satellite manufacturing and services (collectively, the "Executory Contracts").

6. Employee Matters

a. Wages, Compensation and Employee Benefits

The Debtors currently have no employees.

Starting in the early 1980s, G-I established various employee benefit plans for certain of its employees and certain employees of its direct and indirect subsidiaries (collectively, the "401K Plans"). Each of the 401K Plans were amended and restated effective January 1, 1998. Since its formation and pursuant to various agreements between ISP and G-I, ISP performed, directly or indirectly, all services required to administer G-I's employee benefits plans, including the 401K Plans. Despite this, G-I remains a named party in the 401K Plans. On December 26, 2001, G-I filed a Motion to Assume and Assign Certain Employee Benefit Plans and Related Agreements to ISP. The requested assignment was a ministerial application meant to correctly reflect ISP's administration of the 401K Plans, which ISP had performed since 1991. However, by letter dated January 24, 2002, the Debtors withdrew this motion in light of objections by the Asbestos Claimants Committee, which Debtors believe would have required their estates and the Bankruptcy Court to become unnecessarily involved in the administration of the 401K Plans and unnecessarily complicate their administration.

b. Key Employee Retention Program

The Debtors have not instituted a key employee retention program in connection with their Chapter 11 Cases. During the course of the Debtors' Chapter 11 Cases, BMCA established a key employee retention program and certain bonuses were paid to a limited number of executives of BMCA, in their capacities as BMCA executives.

Following the filing of G-I's bankruptcy petition, BMCA entered into Employment Security Agreements with certain key employees, seven of whom are currently employed by BMCA. The Employment Security Agreements provide for, among other things, the payment of certain salary and bonus amounts to those employees in the event of a termination of their employment by BMCA within a 36-month period following a "change in control" of BMCA. The Employment Security Agreements also provide for vesting of stock options, continuation of coverage under Welfare Plans and other matters relating to severance.

7. Retention of Professionals

The Bankruptcy Court authorized the interim retention of the following Debtors' professionals (all of which were subsequently approved by entry of a final order authorizing their retention): (i) Weil, Gotshal & Manges LLP, (ii) Riker Danzig Scherer, Hyland & Peretti, (iii) Sedgwick, Detert, Moran & Arnold, (iv) Friedman Wang & Bleiberg, P.C., (v) The Law Offices of Joseph D. Pope, (vi) McCarter & English LLP, (vii) Skadden, Arps, Slate, Meagher & Flom LLP, (viii) McKee Nelson LLP (f/k/a/ McKee, Nelson, Ernst & Young), (ix) Cahill Gordon & Reindel LLP, (x) Perkins Coie LLP, (xi) Akin, Gump, Straus, Hauer & Feld LLP, (xii) DeWitt & Roberts LLP, and (xiii) Ober, Kaler, Grimes & Shriver.

By order dated February 14, 2008, the Bankruptcy Court approved the retention of Dewey & LeBoeuf LLP and the substitution of Dewey & LeBoeuf LLP for Weil, Gotshal & Manges LLP as the Debtors' primary bankruptcy attorneys.

8. Exclusivity

Pursuant to sections 1121(b) and 1121(c)(3) of the Bankruptcy Code, G-I's initial period during which it held the exclusive right to file a plan of reorganization was set to expire on May 5, 2001 and the period by which G-I could solicit votes in favor of such plan was set to expire on July 5, 2001 (together, the "Exclusive Periods"). On April 24, 2001, the Debtors filed their first application to extend the Exclusive Periods. The relief requested in that application was granted, and subsequent orders have extended the Debtors' Exclusive Periods. Upon consideration of the Debtors' Tenth Application for an Order Extending Exclusive Periods, the Bankruptcy Court found cause to extend the Debtors' Exclusive Periods to through and including April 30, 2008 and June 30, 2008, respectively. Prior to the expiration of the Exclusive Periods, by application dated April 25, 2008, the Debtors requested a further extension of the Exclusive Periods. In connection with the global compromise, the Plan Proponents agreed to enter into a stipulation extending the Exclusive Periods while the parties work towards confirmation of the co-proposed Plan. By stipulation and order entered August 20, 2008, the Court ordered that the co-proponency of the Plan will not impair exclusivity if confirmation does not occur. The Plan Proponents subsequently proposed the Plan.

As set forth in the Plan, the Plan Proponents means G-I, ACI, the Asbestos Claimants Committee, and the Legal Representative.

By order dated July 24, 2007, the Bankruptcy Court approved the substitution of Charter Oak Financial Consultants, LLC for L. Tersigni Consulting, P.C.

2. Legal Representative

On October 10, 2001, the Bankruptcy Court appointed Mr. Judson Hamlin as the representative of present and future persons holding asbestos-related legal demands in G-I's chapter 11 case (the "Legal Representative"). The Legal Representative has retained the following advisors:

Attorneys	Financial Advisors
Keating Muething & Klekamp PLL 1400 Provident Tower One East Fourth Street Cincinnati, Ohio 45202	Bederson & Company LLP 405 Northfield Avenue West Orange, NJ 07052

The Debtors have kept the Asbestos Claimants Committee and the Legal Representative apprised of G-I and BMCA's business operations and both the Asbestos Claimants Committee and Legal Representative have actively participated during the pendency of these chapter 11 cases.

3. Requests for Additional Committees

Counsel for the Unofficial Committee of Select Asbestos Claimants filed a notice of appearance before the Bankruptcy Court on December 6, 2001. Subsequent to that appearance, the Unofficial Committee filed only one pleading related to the Debtors' chapter 11 cases commenting on the position taken by the Committee with regard to Debtors' Application for an Order Establishing a Method for Liquidating Asbestos Claims and Motion for Order for Fixing Final Date for Filing Proofs of Claim. No motion was made during the course of these chapter 11 cases seeking court appointment of any other committees – official or unofficial.

C PRELIMINARY INJUNCTION

On January 9, 2001, G-I filed a complaint seeking a preliminary injunction enjoining the assertion of present and future asbestos claims against BMCA. G-I Holdings Inc. v. Those Parties Listed on Exhibit A to Complaint et al., Adv. Proc. No. 01-3013 (Bankr. D. N. J.). A hearing on G-I's request for a preliminary injunction was held before the Bankruptcy Court on June 9, 2001 and on June 22, 2001. The Bankruptcy Court rendered an oral decision granting the preliminary injunction on certain terms and conditions, which were incorporated into the order entered February 22, 2002 (hereinafter, as subsequently amended, the "Preliminary Injunction Order").

The Preliminary Injunction Order authorizes BMCA to continue to operate its business in the ordinary course as a non-debtor, but requires BMCA to make certain disclosures to the Asbestos Claimants Committee and provide notice to the Asbestos Claimants Committee of its intent to carry out certain specified transactions. Specifically, the order requires BMCA to give the Committee 30 days written notice before engaging in certain actions such as (i) the refinancing or replacement of the Credit Agreement (as defined in the Preliminary Injunction Order); (ii) making prepayments on senior notes or indentures; (iii) making any transfer or incurring any obligation to any affiliate other than payments to G-I; (iv) amending or replacing the restated Management Agreement (as defined in the Preliminary Injunction Order); (v) making transfers to any insider except payments in the ordinary course of business; (vi) granting over 100,000 Incentive Units under the BMCA Long Term Incentive Plan (as defined in the Preliminary Injunction Order) in any calendar year; and (vii) paying any claim out of the proceeds of any insurance that may be applicable for indemnity or defense costs with respect to asbestos related personal injuries or property damages.

The Preliminary Injunction Order does not prevent the repayment of debt, nor does it prevent BMCA from proceeding with normal, ordinary business transactions. The Preliminary Injunction Order further provides for the tolling of certain statutes of limitations and repose in connection with "asbestos-related" causes of action against BMCA "that had not expired as of January 5, 2001." If the Plan is confirmed and consummated, the Preliminary Injunction will terminate but BMCA will become a Protected Party.

D THE RICO ACTION

On January 10, 2001, G-I filed a RICO action in the United States District Court for the Southern District of New York to recover damages from attorneys and law firms alleged to have engaged in a scheme, through a pattern of corrupt and unethical conduct, to abuse the American civil justice system. G-I Holdings Inc. v. Baron & Budd et al., 01 Civ. 0216 (RWS) (S.D.N.Y.). The complaint, as amended, asserts thirteen claims for relief against defendants Baron & Budd P.C., Frederick M. Baron, Russell Budd, Ness, Motley, Loadhold, Richardson & Poole, Ronald Motley, Joseph Rice, Weitz & Luxenberg P.C., Perry Weitz, and Robert Gordon alleging prima facie tort, tortious interference with economic advantage, tortious interference with contract, antitrust violations, RICO violations, breach of contract, fraudulent inducement and common law fraud.

The Debtors' claims for prima facie tort, anti-trust violations, certain RICO violations and fraudulent inducement were dismissed by District Court Judge Robert W. Sweet in two opinions, the first dated December 11, 2001 and the second dated July 17, 2002. The Debtors' claim for common law fraud against defendant Weitz & Luxenberg, P.C. was dismissed pursuant to Rule 41(a)(2) in an opinion dated February 27, 2004. Judge Sweet also denied the Debtors' motion to leave to file a Fifth Amended Complaint, as well as its subsequent motion for reconsideration. In addition, Judge Sweet has made other rulings, both oral and written, adverse to G-I.

The claims asserting common law fraud against Baron & Budd, P.C. and the remaining RICO claims were recently dismissed pursuant to the Baron & Budd Defendants' Motion for Partial Summary Judgment. G-I submitted a letter to Judge Sweet stating that based on the existing record (which was created through a discovery process G-I believes to have been improperly limited by court rulings), G-I was unable to oppose the summary judgment motion. G-I's claims for tortious interference with economic advantage, tortious interference with contract and breach of contract have been dismissed pursuant to a stipulation of dismissal (with prejudice). The RICO Action is currently pending on G-I's appeal before the United States Court of Appeals for the Second Circuit, which appeal has been fully briefed but has not yet been argued orally. The action had been stayed pending final documentation of a global settlement of this and various other actions described in this Disclosure Statement pursuant to the agreed-upon Order Staying Certain Contested Matters and Adversary Proceedings, entered by the Bankruptcy Court on March 22, 2007. The stay was terminated shortly before the parties reached the global compromise embodied in the Plan, but on September 3, 2008, the Court of Appeals entered a second consensual stay order at the parties' request in view of the filing of the Plan. If the Plan is confirmed and consummated, the RICO Action will be dismissed with prejudice.

E THE SUCCESSOR LIABILITY ACTION

On February 7, 2001, G-I and BMCA filed a complaint against certain named asbestos claimants seeking a declaratory judgment that BMCA does not have liability for pending or future asbestos claims against G-I under theories of successor liability or "alter ego" (the "Successor Liability Action") and requesting the certification of a defendant class consisting of all individuals having asbestos claims against G-I. G-I Holdings Inc. v. Bennet et al., 02 Civ. 3626 (SRC) (D.N.J.). The Asbestos Claimants Committee intervened as a defendant and filed a counterclaim, and its motion to withdraw the reference was granted by the District Court on May 13, 2003. The Bank of New York intervened in opposition to the counterclaim. G-I and BMCA amended their complaint so as to eliminate their class action allegations and joined the Legal Representative as a defendant. On July 6, 2005, the District Court dismissed the Legal Representative as a party upon granting his motion for judgment on the pleadings. After discovery, the remaining parties stipulated to the dismissal of the individual defendants, and on May 30, 2008, the District Court granted the Committee's motion for judgment on the pleadings and dismissed the action. There has been no appeal from that decision. The District Court did not decide the merits of G-I and BMCA's position with respect to successor liability.

F THE SUBSTANTIVE CONSOLIDATION ACTION

On February 8, 2001, the Asbestos Claimants Committee filed a complaint requesting substantive consolidation (retroactive to the January 5, 2001 Commencement Date) of BMCA with G-I, or an order compelling G-I to cause BMCA to commence a chapter 11 case of its own (hereinafter the "Substantive Consolidation Complaint"). Official Committee of Asbestos Claimants v. G-I Holdings Inc. et al., Adv. No. 01-3065 (Bankr. D.N.J.). The Asbestos Claimants Committee moved for an interim decree of substantive consolidation by way of preliminary injunctive relief. Massachusetts Mutual Life Insurance Company, a creditor of BMCA, moved to intervene and opposed the request for preliminary relief, as did Pacific Investment Life Management Company, LLC and Caywood-Scholl Capital Management in their capacity as investment advisors on behalf of various clients.

After certain discovery and a three day evidentiary hearing, on April 6, 2001, the Bankruptcy Court issued an opinion denying the request for interim substantive consolidation. The Bankruptcy Court found that, based on the record before it, the claims and defenses asserted were subject to disputes of fact and law and that the Asbestos Claimants Committee had not met its burden of establishing the elements for interim relief. In view of the preliminary nature of the proceeding, the Bankruptcy Court also held that its decision did not determine the issue of BMCA's alleged successor liability, which was to be litigated in the Successor Liability Action. Official Committee of Asbestos Claimants v. G-I Holdings Inc. et al, 2001 W.L. 159178 * 14 (Bankr. D.N.J., Apr. 6, 2001). By order dated April 9, 2001, the Bankruptcy Court denied G-I's motion to dismiss the Substantive Consolidation Complaint. In view of the denial of preliminary relief, however, the Asbestos Claimants Committee held in abeyance any further proceedings on that complaint, pending the outcome of the Successor Liability Action. If the Plan is confirmed and consummated, the Substantive Consolidation Complaint will be dismissed with prejudice.

G THE ISP FRAUDULENT TRANSFER ACTION

On May 14, 2001, the Bankruptcy Court granted the Asbestos Claimants Committee authority to prosecute claims against Mr. Heyman and related entities to avoid the January 1, 1997 transfer by which ISP ceased to be a subsidiary of GAF and to recover the transferred property or the value thereof for the benefit of G-I's estate. Official Committee of Asbestos Claimants et al. v. Samuel J. Heyman et al., 01 Civ. 8539 (RWS) (S.D.N.Y.). On September 20, 2001, the Asbestos Claimants Committee filed suit on such claims in the United States District Court for the Southern District of New York (the "ISP Fraudulent Transfer Action"), alleging, among other things, that GAF's transfer of ISP to GAF's shareholders prejudiced the rights of GAF's creditors. By subsequent orders, the Bankruptcy Court authorized the Legal Representative to serve as co-representative of the bankruptcy estate in the ISP Fraudulent Transfer Action, and the District Court allowed the Legal Representative to intervene. The complaint has been twice amended, and certain entities related to Mr. Heyman have been joined as defendants. The ISP Fraudulent Transfer Action remains in the discovery stage. No discovery cut-off is in effect, and no trial date has been set.

The ISP Fraudulent Transfer Action was stayed by order entered on April 5, 2007, with the consent of the parties in view of their efforts to make a global settlement of G-I's Chapter 11 Case and related disputes among them. The Committee and Legal Representative terminated the consensual stay on February 1, 2008, but on September 9, 2008, the District Court entered a second consensual stay order at the request of all parties in view of the filing of the Plan. If the Plan is confirmed and consummated, the actions against Mr. Heyman and his related entities will be dismissed with prejudice.

H THE ASBESTOS CLAIMANTS COMMITTEE'S MOTION TO APPOINT A CHAPTER 11 TRUSTEE

On November 11, 2002, the Asbestos Claimants Committee filed a second motion for appointment of a chapter 11 trustee (the "Trustee Motion"). G-I filed an objection to the Asbestos Claimants Committee's Trustee Motion on December 10, 2002. A hearing on the Trustee Motion was held before the Bankruptcy Court on December 13, 2002. By order dated January 16, 2003, the Bankruptcy Court denied the Asbestos Claimants Committee's request for the appointment of a Chapter 11 Trustee.

On January 28, 2003, the Asbestos Claimants Committee filed a notice of appeal of the Bankruptcy Court's order denying the Trustee Motion to the District Court. On June 30, 2003, the District Court affirmed. The Asbestos Claimants Committee appealed to the Court of Appeals for the Third Circuit, which on September 24, 2004, affirmed the District Court's decision.

I ESTIMATION OF ASBESTOS LIABILITY

Seeking to implement an efficient, inexpensive method to liquidate asbestos claims, on June 19, 2002, G-I filed a motion to liquidate individual asbestos claims by use of a medical matrix and without a jury trial (the "Estimation Motion"). On May 23, 2002, the Asbestos Claimants Committee filed a motion seeking to estimate G-I's asbestos claims in the aggregate for chapter 11 plan confirmation purposes. The District Court denied motions by the Legal Representative and the Asbestos Claimants Committee to withdraw the reference of these motions. After extensive briefing by all parties, the Bankruptcy Court held a hearing on January 15, 2004, on the threshold legal issues pertaining to G-I's Estimation Motion. By order dated February 1, 2005, the Bankruptcy Court denied G-I's Estimation Motion and granted, in part, the Asbestos Claimants Committee's motion seeking an aggregate estimation of G-I's asbestos claims. G-I appealed the denial of its Estimation Motion. Its appeal was dismissed as premature and the dismissal is on appeal to the Third Circuit where it has been argued and is sub judice.

The estimation of G-I's asbestos liability is a central issue in G-I's Chapter 11 Case. The Bankruptcy Court has made a series of rulings concerning the nature and scope of the asbestos personal-injury claims estimation proceeding and proposed discovery therein, and has authorized G-I to issue a detailed questionnaire to a sample of asbestos personal injury claimants. The Bankruptcy Court also established a schedule for discovery and trial, and bifurcated the trial, with claims for present and future mesothelioma and asbestos-related lung cancer to be estimated in "Phase I" and claims for present and future asbestos-related non-malignant conditions to be estimated, if necessary, in "Phase II." After several amendments, the schedule contemplated that trial of Phase I would commence on June 10, 2010. Upon the filing of the Plan, the Bankruptcy Court entered an order dated August 22, 2008, agreed to by G-I, the Asbestos Claimants Committee, and the Legal Representative, that, among other things, stayed the claims estimation proceeding and suspended all deadlines previously established therein. The estimation proceeding, including G-I's Third Circuit appeal, will be rendered moot if the Plan is confirmed and consummated. By letter dated September 22, 2008, counsel to G-I informed the Clerk of the Third Circuit of the pending Plan and the likelihood that confirmation of the Plan would resolve the issues on appeal.

J REFINANCING OF THE PREPETITION BMCA BANK FACILITY

On March 18, 2003, BMCA provided the Asbestos Claimants Committee and the Legal Representative with notice, pursuant to the Preliminary Injunction Order, of its intention to enter into a new senior secured revolving credit facility (the "Citibank Facility"), the proceeds of which would be used to refinance BMCA's then-existing prepetition credit agreement with the Bank of New York ("BNY"), as agent, and to fund the payment, when due, of BMCA's then-existing 10.5% Senior Notes due September 2003. Following the Bankruptcy Court's entry of an order modifying the Preliminary Injunction Order, BMCA, the Asbestos Claimants Committee and the Legal Representative entered into a stipulation (the "Refinancing Stipulation"), which provided, among other things, that BMCA's entry into the Citibank Facility and repayment of the BNY credit facility and other BMCA public debt would not prejudice the rights, if any, that the Asbestos Claimants Committee, the Legal Representative, or the G-I estate may have against BNY or BMCA's public noteholders (the "Noteholders"). The proposed Refinancing Stipulation also provided that BMCA would not commence a repurchase program with respect to BMCA's public notes without first providing the Asbestos Claimants Committee 30 days notice.

BNY and Mass Mutual Life Insurance Company, on behalf of the Noteholders, filed limited objections to the Refinancing Stipulation, challenging the Bankruptcy Court's jurisdiction to prejudice their rights without their consent to the stipulation. The Asbestos Claimants Committee then responded by objecting to BMCA's entry into the Citibank Facility, absent a ruling that BNY or the Noteholders could not use repayment as a defense to a future action.

On June 18, 2003, the Bankruptcy Court overruled the Asbestos Claimants Committee's objection, holding that the issue of BNY's and the Noteholders' future defenses or rights was not ripe for judicial review and that the Bankruptcy Court lacked subject matter jurisdiction pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1334(b). Consistent therewith, the Bankruptcy Court entered an order (the "Refinancing Order") modifying the Preliminary Injunction Order to (i) allow BMCA to enter into the Citibank Facility and (ii) preserve any rights or defenses of BNY. On appeal by the Asbestos Claimants Committee, the District Court and the Third Circuit affirmed the Bankruptcy Court's order on the same grounds.

K THE 2004 REFINANCING OF THE 8 5/8% SENIOR NOTES DUE 2006

On January 9, 2004, in accordance with the terms of the Refinancing Stipulation, G-I provided notice to the Asbestos Claimants Committee of BMCA's intent to issue up to $150,000,000 of new senior secured notes and to use the proceeds to redeem the 8 5/8% Senior Notes due 2006 under the applicable optional redemption provision (the "2004 Refinancing"). It also announced the possibility of using its funds for an opportunistic open market purchase of BMCA's outstanding Senior Notes. The Asbestos Claimants Committee filed an objection.

On June 8, 2004 the Bankruptcy Court issued a decision, as modified on July 7, 2004, permitting the 2004 Refinancing.

L THE MOTION FOR DERIVATIVE STANDING TO PROSECUTE ALLEGED AVOIDANCE CLAIMS

On or about February 27, 2004, the Asbestos Claimants Committee filed a Motion for Authorization to Prosecute Claims on Behalf of the Debtor's Estate (the "Motion to Prosecute"). Among other things, the Motion to Prosecute requested that the Bankruptcy Court modify the Preliminary Injunction Order to permit the Asbestos Claimants Committee to commence an adversary proceeding for avoidance of the 1994 Transaction and certain subsequent transactions involving BMCA and recovery for the benefit of G-I's estate of certain payments made by BMCA to certain of its former lenders and to holders of notes publicly issued by BMCA before the commencement of G-I's Chapter 11 Case.

On June 8, 2004 the Bankruptcy Court issued its opinion denying in part and granting in part the Motion to Prosecute. The Bankruptcy Court authorized the Asbestos Claimants Committee to file an adversary proceeding on behalf of G-I's estate challenging the 1994 Transaction as a fraudulent transfer pursuant to sections 544(b) and 550 of the Bankruptcy Code. The Bankruptcy Court denied other relief requested in the Motion to Prosecute. The Asbestos Claimants Committee proceeded to file a complaint in the Bankruptcy Court, naming as defendants BMCA, certain of its Affiliates, certain former lenders to BMCA, and numerous entities alleged to be or to have been holders of notes issued by BMCA before the commencement of G-I's Chapter 11 Case. Official Committee of Asbestos Claimants v. Building Materials Corp. of America et al., Adv. Proc. No. 04-2192 (Bankr. D.N.J.). The Committee also initiated discovery for the purpose of identifying other Entities that are or were holders of such notes.

On July 20, 2004, the Asbestos Claimants Committee filed with the District Court an appeal of the Bankruptcy Court's decision, insofar as it refused authorization to raise certain claims and theories. G-I, BMCA, and the Bank of New York then cross-appealed the Bankruptcy Court's decision insofar as it granted leave for the Asbestos Claimants Committee to prosecute claims to avoid the 1994 Transaction.

By order and opinion issued on June 21, 2006, the District Court granted the cross-appeal and vacated and remanded the Bankruptcy Court's decision with directions to set forth a cost-benefit analysis with respect to the Asbestos Claimants Committee's proposed prosecution of an action to avoid the 1994 Transaction. The District Court affirmed the other rulings of the Bankruptcy Court.

On June 30, 2006, the Asbestos Claimants Committee filed with the District Court a motion for reconsideration (the "Motion for Reconsideration") of the District Court's June 21, 2006 order and opinion. By order dated August 7, 2006, the District Court granted the Motion for Reconsideration and remanded the matters raised in the Asbestos Claimants Committee's appeal to the Bankruptcy Court with directions to include those matters in the cost-benefit analysis.

On March 22, 2007, the Bankruptcy Court stayed the proceeding on remand with the consent of the parties as they attempted to complete negotiations on a proposed global settlement. The consensual stay was terminated on February 1, 2008, but, in view of the filing of the Plan, the remanded proceeding was again stayed on consent of the parties pursuant to an order entered by the Bankruptcy Court on August 22, 2008. If the Plan is confirmed and consummated, the Asbestos Claimants' Committee's Motion to Prosecute avoidance claims pertaining to the 1994 Transaction and subsequent transactions involving BMCA will be dismissed with prejudice.

M THE IRS ACTION

On September 21, 2001, the IRS filed a proof of claim with respect to such deficiency against G-I in the chapter 11 cases. G-I filed an objection to the proof of claim, which is the subject of an adversary proceeding pending in the United States District Court for the District of New Jersey. United States v. G-I Holdings Inc., 02 Civ. 3082 (SRC). By opinion and order dated September 8, 2006, the District Court ruled on the parties' respective motions for Partial Summary Judgment, granting the government summary judgment on the issue of "adequate disclosure" for statute of limitations purposes and denying G-I summary judgment on its other statute of limitations defense (finding material issues of fact that must be tried). In an opinion dated June 8, 2007, the District Court decided that G-I cannot avail itself of the "binding contract" transitional relief with respect to the 1999 distribution of U.S. Treasury Bonds to G-I. This IRS claim is not part of the global settlement. If the Plan is confirmed, the IRS and G-I will continue to litigate the allowance of the claim and the Plan provides whatever allowed claim, if any, is ultimately granted will be paid in accordance with the Bankruptcy Code.

V. THE PLAN OF REORGANIZATION

The Debtors believe that (i) through the Plan, holders of Allowed Claims will obtain a greater recovery from the estates of the Debtors than the recovery that they would receive if the assets of the Debtors were liquidated under chapter 7 of the Bankruptcy Code and (ii) the Plan will afford the Debtors the opportunity and ability to continue in business as a viable going concern and preserve ongoing employment for the Debtors' employees.

The Plan is annexed hereto as Exhibit A and forms a part of this Disclosure Statement. The summary of the Plan set forth below is qualified in its entirety by reference to the provisions of the Plan.

Statements as to the rationale underlying the treatment of Claims and Equity Interests under the Plan are not intended to, and shall not, waive, compromise or limit any rights, claims or causes of action in the event the Plan is not confirmed.

A STRUCTURE OF THE REORGANIZED DEBTORS

It is contemplated that, on the Effective Date, the management, control, and operation of the Reorganized Debtors shall become the general responsibility of the Boards of Directors of the Reorganized Debtors.

The Boards of Directors of each of the Debtors immediately prior to the Effective Date will serve as the initial Boards of Directors of the Reorganized Debtors on and after the Effective Date and are identified in Schedule 8.2 of the Plan Supplement. Each of the members of such Boards of Directors will serve in accordance with applicable non-bankruptcy law and each Debtors' certificate or articles of incorporation and by-laws, as each of the same may be amended from time to time. The officers of the Debtors immediately prior to the Effective Date will serve as the initial officers of the Reorganized Debtors on and after the Effective Date. Such officers shall serve in accordance with applicable non-bankruptcy law and any employment agreement with the Debtors, if assumed, or with the Reorganized Debtors.

The articles or certificate of incorporation and by-laws of the Debtors will be amended as of the Effective Date to provide substantially as set forth in the Reorganized Debtors' Certificate of Incorporation and the Reorganized Debtors' By-Laws. The articles or certificate of incorporation and by-laws shall contain provisions (i) prohibiting the issuance of non-voting equity securities, as required by section 1123(a)(6) of the Bankruptcy Code (subject to further amendment of such certificates of incorporation and by-laws as permitted by applicable law), and (ii) effectuating the provisions of the Plan, in such case without further action by the stockholders or directors of the Debtors, the Debtors-in-Possession, or the Reorganized Debtors.

On the Effective Date, the adoption of the Reorganized Debtors' Certificate of Incorporation and the Reorganized Debtors' By-Laws shall be authorized and approved in all respects, in each case without further action under applicable law, regulation, order, or rule, including, without limitation, any action by the stockholders of the Debtors or the Reorganized Debtors. All other matters provided under the Plan involving the corporate structure of the Reorganized Debtors or corporate action by the Reorganized Debtors shall be deemed to have occurred, be authorized, and shall be in effect without requiring further action under applicable law, regulation, order, or rule, including, without limitation, any action by the stockholders of the Debtors or the Reorganized Debtors. Without limiting the foregoing, from and after the Confirmation Date, the Debtors or the Reorganized Debtors shall take any and all actions deemed appropriate to consummate the transactions contemplated herein.

As set forth in the Plan, the Plan Sponsor and Reorganized Debtors (as applicable) and only the Plan Sponsor and Reorganized Debtors shall be responsible for Distributions required by the Plan. The Asbestos Trust and only the Asbestos Trust shall be responsible for resolving and paying Class 6 Claims and Demands in accordance with the Asbestos Trust Agreement and the Asbestos Trust Distribution Procedures.

B CLASSIFICATION AND TREATMENT OF CLAIMS AND EQUITY INTERESTS

The Plan governs the treatment of Claims against and Equity Interests in the Debtors in these chapter 11 cases. The table in Section I(C)(2) summarizes the treatment under the Plan for each class.

Unless otherwise indicated, the characteristics and amount of the Claims or Equity Interests in the following classes are based on the Debtors' books and records. Each subclass is treated as a separate class for purposes of the Plan and the Bankruptcy Code. Except for Asbestos Claims, which will be resolved by the Asbestos Trust in accordance with the Asbestos Trust Agreement and the Asbestos Trust Distribution Procedures, only Claims that are "allowed" under the Bankruptcy Code or by the Bankruptcy Court will receive any distribution under the Plan.

The Plan classifies Claims and Equity Interests separately and provides different treatment for different Classes of Claims and Equity Interests in accordance with the Bankruptcy Code. As described more fully below, the Plan provides, separately for each Class, that holders of certain Claims will receive various amounts and types of consideration, thereby giving effect to the different rights of holders of Claims and Equity Interests in each Class.

1. Administrative Expense Claims.

In order to confirm the Plan, Allowed Administrative Expense Claims and Allowed Priority Tax Claims must be paid in full or in a manner otherwise agreeable to the holders of such Claims.

Administrative expenses are the actual and necessary costs and expenses of the Debtors' Chapter 11 Cases. Administrative Expense Claims are Claims constituting a cost or expense of administration of the Chapter 11 Cases allowed under sections 503(b) and 507(a)(1) of the Bankruptcy Code. Such Claims include all actual and necessary costs and expenses of preserving the estates of the Debtors, all actual and necessary costs and expenses of operating the business of the Debtors-in-Possession, any indebtedness or obligations incurred or assumed by the Debtors-in-Possession in connection with the conduct of their business, the actual, reasonable, and necessary professional fees and expenses of the professionals retained by the Debtors, the Asbestos Claimants Committee and the Legal Representative, and all cure amounts owed in respect of leases and contracts assumed by the Debtors-in-Possession. The Debtors estimate that the amount of Allowed Administrative Expense Claims that have not previously been paid pursuant to an order of the Bankruptcy Court will not exceed $5,500,000.

Pursuant to the Plan, except to the extent that any entity entitled to payment of any Allowed Administrative Expense Claim agrees to a less favorable treatment with the applicable Debtor, each holder of an Allowed Administrative Expense Claim shall receive Cash in an amount equal to such Allowed Administrative Expense Claim on the later of the Effective Date and the date on which such Administrative Expense Claim becomes an Allowed Administrative Expense Claim, or as soon thereafter as is practicable; provided, however, that Allowed Administrative Expense Claims representing liabilities incurred in the ordinary course of business by the applicable Debtor-in-Possession shall be paid in full and performed by the applicable Reorganized Debtor in the ordinary course of business in accordance with the terms and subject to the conditions of any agreements governing, instruments evidencing, or other documents relating to such transactions.

To the extent that an Administrative Expense Claim is Allowed against the Estate of more than one Debtor, there shall be only a single recovery on account of such Allowed Claim; provided, however, that an Entity holding an Allowed Claim against one or more Debtors which are co-obligors on such Claim may recover distributions from any of such Debtors until such Entity has received payment in full on such Allowed Claim.

2. Compensation and Reimbursement Claims.

Compensation and reimbursement Claims are Administrative Expense Claims for the compensation of professionals and reimbursement of expenses incurred by such professionals pursuant to sections 503(b)(2), 503(b)(3), 503(b)(4) and 503(b)(5) of the Bankruptcy Code (the "Compensation and Reimbursement Claims").

All payments to professionals for Compensation and Reimbursement Claims will be made in accordance with the procedures established by the Bankruptcy Code, the Federal Rules of Bankruptcy Procedure (the "Bankruptcy Rules"), and the Bankruptcy Court relating to the payment of interim and final compensation for services rendered and reimbursement of expenses. The aggregate amount incurred by the Debtors in respect of compensation for services rendered and reimbursement of expenses incurred by professionals (including professionals employed by the Debtors and the Creditors' Committee) through November 23, 2008 is approximately $202,002,000. The Bankruptcy Court will review and determine all applications for compensation for services rendered and reimbursement of expenses.

Section 503(b) of the Bankruptcy Code provides for payment of compensation to creditors, indenture trustees and other entities making a "substantial contribution" to a reorganization case, and to attorneys for and other professional advisors to such entities. At this time, the Debtors do not know the amounts, if any, which may be sought by entities for such compensation. Requests for compensation must be approved by the Bankruptcy Court after a hearing on notice at which the Debtors and other parties in interest may participate and, if appropriate, object to the allowance of any claims for compensation and reimbursement of expenses.

Pursuant to the Plan, all holders of any Claim for an award by the Bankruptcy Court of compensation for services rendered or reimbursement of expenses incurred through and including the Effective Date pursuant to sections 503(b)(2), 503(b)(3), 503(b)(4), or 503(b)(5) of the Bankruptcy Code shall (i) file their respective final applications for allowances of compensation for services rendered and reimbursement of expenses incurred through the Effective Date by a date no later than the date that is ninety (90) days after the Effective Date or by such other date as may be fixed by the Bankruptcy Court and (ii) if granted such an award by the Bankruptcy Court, be paid in full in such amounts as are Allowed by the Bankruptcy Court (A) on the date on which such Administrative Expense Claim becomes an Allowed Administrative Expense Claim, or as soon thereafter as is reasonably practicable, or (B) upon such other terms as may be mutually agreed upon between such holder of an Administrative Expense Claim and the Reorganized Debtors.

To the extent that an Administrative Expense Claim is Allowed against the Estate of each Debtor, there shall be only a single recovery on account of such Allowed Claim; provided, however, that an Entity holding an Allowed Claim against each of the Debtors as co-obligors on such Claim may recover distributions from any such Debtor until such Entity has received payment in full on such Allowed Claim.

3. Priority Tax Claims.

Priority Tax Claims are Claims against the Debtors of a governmental unit of the kind entitled to priority in payment as specified in sections 502(i) and 507(a)(8) of the Bankruptcy Code.

Pursuant to the Plan, except to the extent that a holder of an Allowed Priority Tax Claim has been paid by the applicable Debtor prior to the Effective Date or agrees to a different treatment, each holder of an Allowed Priority Tax Claim shall receive, at the sole option of the applicable Reorganized Debtor and in full and complete satisfaction of any and all liability attributable to such Priority Tax Claim on the latest of (i) the Effective Date, (ii) the date on which such Priority Tax Claim becomes an Allowed Priority Tax Claim, and (iii) the date such Allowed Priority Tax Claim is payable under applicable nonbankruptcy law, or as soon thereafter as is reasonably practicable, (a) Cash in an amount equal to such Allowed Priority Tax Claim, (b) a transferable note that provides for a Cash payment in an amount equal to such Allowed Priority Tax Claim, together with interest at four percent (4%), on the sixth (6th) anniversary from the date of final determination of the assessment of such Allowed Priority Tax Claim, or (c) any combination of Cash and a note, on the terms provided in subsections (a) and (b) hereof, in an aggregate Cash and principal amount equal to such Allowed Priority Tax Claim; provided, that the Debtors reserve the right to prepay any such note in part or in whole at any time without premium or penalty; and provided, further, that no holder of an Allowed Priority Tax Claim shall be entitled to any payments on account of any pre-Effective Date interest accrued on or penalty arising after the Commencement Date with respect to or in connection with such Allowed Priority Tax Claim.

4. Allowed G-I Priority Non-Tax Claims (Class 1A)

The Claims in Class 1A consist of G-I Priority Non-Tax Claims.

Pursuant to the Plan, G-I Priority Non-Tax Claims are any Claims against G-I or its estate, other than an Administrative Expense Claim or a Priority Tax Claim, entitled to priority in payment in accordance with sections 507(a)(3), (4), (5), (6), (7) or (9) of the Bankruptcy Code, but only to the extent entitled to such priority.

Pursuant to the Plan, the legal, equitable, and contractual rights of the holders of Allowed G-I Priority Non-Tax Claims are unaltered by the Plan, or such Allowed G-I Priority Non-Tax Claims shall otherwise be rendered unimpaired pursuant to section 1124 of the Bankruptcy Code.

The Debtors estimate that the amount of Claims in Class 1A will be $0.

Class 1A is unimpaired by the Plan. Each holder of a Class 1A Claim is conclusively presumed to have accepted the Plan, and is thus not entitled to vote to accept or reject the Plan.

5. Allowed ACI Priority Non-Tax Claims (Class 1B)

The Claims in Class 1B consist of ACI Priority Non-Tax Claims.

Pursuant to the Plan, ACI Priority Non-Tax Claims are any Claims against ACI or its estate, other than an Administrative Expense Claim or a Priority Tax Claim, entitled to priority in payment in accordance with sections 507(a)(3), (4), (5), (6), (7) or (9) of the Bankruptcy Code, but only to the extent entitled to such priority.

Pursuant to the Plan, the legal, equitable, and contractual rights of the holders of Allowed ACI Priority Non-Tax Claims are unaltered by the Plan, or such Allowed ACI Priority Non-Tax Claims shall otherwise be rendered unimpaired pursuant to section 1124 of the Bankruptcy Code.

The Debtors estimate that the amount of Claims in Class 1B will be $0.

Class 1B is unimpaired by the Plan. Each holder of a Class 1B Claim is conclusively presumed to have accepted the Plan, and is thus not entitled to vote to accept or reject the Plan.

6. G-I Secured Claims (Class 2A).

Class 2A consists of all G-I Secured Claims.

Pursuant to the Plan, the Claims in Class 2A are Claims against G-I, to the extent reflected in the Schedules or a proof of claim as a Secured Claim, that are secured by a Lien on Collateral to the extent of the value of such Collateral, as determined in accordance with section 506(a) of the Bankruptcy Code, or, in the event that such Claim is subject to a permissible setoff under section 553 of the Bankruptcy Code, to the extent of such permissible setoff.

Pursuant to the Plan, the legal, equitable, and contractual rights of the holders of Allowed G-I Secured Claims are unaltered by the Plan, or such Allowed G-I Secured Claims shall otherwise be rendered unimpaired pursuant to section 1124 of the Bankruptcy Code.

The Debtors estimate that the Claims in Class 2A will be $0.

Class 2A is unimpaired by the Plan. Each holder of a Class 2A Claim is conclusively presumed to have accepted the Plan, and is thus not entitled to vote to accept or reject the Plan.

7. ACI Secured Claims (Class 2B).

Class 2B consists of all ACI Secured Claims.

Pursuant to the Plan, the Claims in Class 2B are Claims against ACI, to the extent reflected in the Schedules or a proof of claim as a Secured Claim, that are secured by a Lien on Collateral to the extent of the value of such Collateral, as determined in accordance with section 506(a) of the Bankruptcy Code, or, in the event that such Claim is subject to a permissible setoff under section 553 of the Bankruptcy Code, to the extent of such permissible setoff.

Pursuant to the Plan, the legal, equitable, and contractual rights of the holders of Allowed ACI Secured Claims are unaltered by the Plan, or such Allowed ACI Secured Claims shall otherwise be rendered unimpaired pursuant to section 1124 of the Bankruptcy Code.

The Debtors estimate that the Claims in Class 2B will be $0.

Class 2B is unimpaired by the Plan. Each holder of a Class 2B Claim is conclusively presumed to have accepted the Plan, and is thus not entitled to vote to accept or reject the Plan.

8. G-I Unsecured Claims (Class 3A)

Class 3A consists of all Unsecured Claims against G-I.

Pursuant to the Plan, an Unsecured Claim is any Claim against one or more of the Debtors (regardless of whether such Claim is covered by insurance), to the extent that such Claim is neither secured nor entitled to priority under applicable law. Unsecured Claims expressly include, without limitation, (a) any claim arising from the rejection of an executory contract or unexpired lease under section 365 of the Bankruptcy Code; (b) any portion of a Claim that is not a Secured Claim (i.e., an unsecured deficiency claim); (c) any deficiency portion of a Bonded Non-Asbestos Claim remaining after crediting proceeds of any supersedeas bond or other payment assurances to which the holder of such Claim is determined by Final Order or agreement of the parties to be entitled; and (d) any Claims arising from the provision of goods or services to the Debtors prior to the Commencement Date, including the Claims of commercial trade creditors. Unless otherwise specifically provided in an applicable provision of the Plan, Unsecured Claims shall not include (i) Administrative Expense Claims; (ii) Priority Tax Claims; (iii) G-I Priority Non-Tax Claims; (iv) ACI Priority Non-Tax Claims; (v) G-I Secured Claims; (vi) ACI Secured Claims; (vii) Asbestos Claims; (viii) Asbestos Property Damage Claims; (ix) Asbestos Property Damage Contribution Claims; (x) Environmental Claims; (xi) Bonded Claims; (xii) the CCR Claim; (xiii) G-I Affiliate Claims; (xiv) ACI Affiliate Claims; (xv) Workers' Compensation Claims; or (xvi) G-I Equity Interest Redemption Claims.

Pursuant to the Plan, On the later of (i) the Effective Date and (ii) the date on which a G-I Unsecured Claim becomes an Allowed G-I Unsecured Claim, or as soon thereafter as is reasonably practicable, each holder of an Allowed G-I Unsecured Claim shall receive Cash in an amount equal to 8.6% of such Allowed Claim.

The Debtors believe that the Claims in Class 3A will approximate $1,110,629.

Class 3A is impaired by the Plan. Each holder of an Allowed Class 3A Claim is entitled to vote to accept or reject the Plan.

9. ACI Unsecured Claims (Class 3B)

Class 3B consists of all Unsecured Claims against ACI.

Pursuant to the Plan, an Unsecured Claim is any Claim against one or more of the Debtors (regardless of whether such Claim is covered by insurance), to the extent that such Claim is neither secured nor entitled to priority under applicable law. Unsecured Claims expressly include, without limitation, (a) any claim arising from the rejection of an executory contract or unexpired lease under section 365 of the Bankruptcy Code; (b) any portion of a Claim that is not a Secured Claim (i.e., an unsecured deficiency claim); (c) any deficiency portion of a Bonded Non-Asbestos Claim remaining after crediting proceeds of any supersedeas bond or other payment assurances to which the holder of such Claim is determined by Final Order or agreement of the parties to be entitled; and (d) any Claims arising from the provision of goods or services to the Debtors prior to the Commencement Date, including the Claims of commercial trade creditors. Unless otherwise specifically provided in an applicable provision of the Plan, Unsecured Claims shall not include (i) Administrative Expense Claims; (ii) Priority Tax Claims; (iii) G-I Priority Non-Tax Claims; (iv) ACI Priority Non-Tax Claims; (v) G-I Secured Claims; (vi) ACI Secured Claims; (vii) Asbestos Claims; (viii) Asbestos Property Damage Claims; (ix) Asbestos Property Damage Contribution Claims; (x) Environmental Claims; (xi) Bonded Claims; (xii) the CCR Claim; (xiii) G-I Affiliate Claims; (xiv) ACI Affiliate Claims; (xv) Workers' Compensation Claims; or (xvi) G-I Equity Interest Redemption Claims.

Pursuant to the Plan, the legal, equitable, and contractual rights of the holders of Allowed ACI Unsecured Claims are unaltered by the Plan, or such Allowed ACI Unsecured Claims shall otherwise be rendered unimpaired pursuant to section 1124 of the Bankruptcy Code.

The Debtors believe that the Claims in Class 3B will be $0.

Class 3B is unimpaired by the Plan. Each holder of a Class 3B Claim is conclusively presumed to have accepted the Plan, and is thus not entitled to vote to accept or reject the Plan.

10. Environmental Claims for Remedial Relief (Class 4)

Class 4 consists of all Environmental Claims for Remedial Relief.

Pursuant to the Plan, an Environmental Claim for Remedial Relief is an Environmental Claim by a governmental unit for remedial relief to address on-going hazards as an exercise of state or federal regulatory power at properties currently owned or operated by the Debtors, but does not include a Claim for monetary relief for reimbursement or contribution in respect of prepetition remediation expenditures or any other prepetition monetary Claim. Environmental Claims are Claims relating to alleged hazardous materials, hazardous substances, contamination, pollution, waste, fines or mine or mill tailings released, threatened to be released or present in the environment or ecosystem, including without limitation, alleged contamination under federal or state environmental laws, codes, orders or regulations, common law, as well as any entitlements to equitable remedies, including, without limitation, investigation, restoration, natural resource damages, reclamation, remediation and cleanup, including without limitation, any Environmental Claim for Remedial Relief and any Other Environmental Claim; provided, however, for the avoidance of doubt, the term "Environmental Claim" shall not include or pertain to any Asbestos Claim, Asbestos Property Damage Claim, Asbestos Property Damage Contribution Claim, Bonded Asbestos Personal Injury Claim, CCR Claim, Workers' Compensation Claim, or Claim of an Affiliate.

Pursuant to the Plan, the legal, equitable, and contractual rights of the holders of Allowed Environmental Claims for Remedial Relief are unaltered by the Plan, or such Allowed Environmental Claims for Remedial Relief shall otherwise be rendered unimpaired pursuant to section 1124 of the Bankruptcy Code.

Class 4 is unimpaired by the Plan. Each holder of a Class 4 Claim is conclusively presumed to have accepted the Plan, and is thus not entitled to vote to accept or reject the Plan.

11. Other Environmental Claims (Class 5)

Class 5 consists of all Other Environmental Claims.

The Debtors will presume Class 5 rejects the Plan. As a practical matter, because all the claims are disputed, there would likely be no claims voting, or claims would have to be allowed on a temporary basis (to the extent allowed by law) for voting purposes. Because the Plan provides substantially the same economic treatment to the claims in Class 5 as it does to all G-I Unsecured Claims in Class 3, the Debtors believe the Plan can be confirmed over the rejection of Class 5.

Pursuant to the Plan, an Other Environmental Claim is any Environmental Claim that is not an Environmental Claim for Remedial Relief, including without limitation Claims for monetary relief for reimbursement or contribution in respect of prepetition remediation expenditures and any prepetition monetary Claims relating to environmental laws or regulations, whether for property owned or operated by G-I prepetition, postpetition, or both.

Environmental Claims are Claims relating to alleged hazardous materials, hazardous substances, contamination, pollution, waste, fines or mine or mill tailings released, threatened to be released or present in the environment or ecosystem, including without limitation, alleged contamination under federal or state environmental laws, codes, orders or regulations, common law, as well as any entitlements to equitable remedies, including, without limitation, investigation, restoration, natural resource damages, reclamation, remediation and cleanup, including without limitation, any Environmental Claim for Remedial Relief and any Other Environmental Claim; provided, however, for the avoidance of doubt, the term "Environmental Claim" shall not include or pertain to any Asbestos Claim, Asbestos Property Damage Claim, Asbestos Property Damage Contribution Claim, Bonded Asbestos Personal Injury Claim, CCR Claim, Workers' Compensation Claim, or Claim of an Affiliate.

Pursuant to the Plan, on the later of (i) the Effective Date and (ii) the date on which an Other Environmental Claim becomes an Allowed Other Environmental Claim, or as soon thereafter as is reasonably practicable, each holder of an Allowed Other Environmental Claim shall receive Cash in an amount equal to 8.6%[*] of such Allowed Claim.

Class 5 is impaired by the Plan. Each holder of a Class 5 Claim is conclusively deemed to reject the Plan and is thus not entitled to vote to accept or reject the Plan. By presuming that Class 5 has rejected the Plan, the Debtors will avoid any costs and delay associated with providing ballots to Class 5 claimholders.

12. Asbestos Claims (Class 6).

Class 6 consists of Asbestos Claims.

As provided in the Plan, an Asbestos Claim is any (i) Asbestos Personal Injury Claim, (ii) Indirect Trust Claim, and (iii) any deficiency portion of a Bonded Asbestos Personal Injury Claim remaining after crediting the proceeds of any supersedeas bond or other payment assurances to which the holder of such Claim is determined by Final Order or agreement of the parties to be entitled, provided, however, for the avoidance of doubt, the term "Asbestos Claim" shall not include or pertain to the CCR Claim or any Asbestos Property Damage Claim, Asbestos Property Damage Contribution Claim, Bonded Claim, Claim held by an Affiliate (even if such Claim would constitute an Indirect Trust Claim if it arose in favor of a non-Affiliate), Environmental Claim, or Workers' Compensation Claim. Accordingly, the following types of Claims and Demands are illustrative of what constitutes an Asbestos Claim:

- Asbestos Personal Injury Claim means any Claim or Demand against G-I, now existing or hereafter arising, whether or not such Claim, remedy, liability, or Demand is reduced to judgment, liquidated, unliquidated, fixed, contingent, matured, unmatured, disputed, undisputed, legal, equitable, secured, or unsecured, whether or not the facts of or legal bases therefor are known or unknown, under any theory of law, equity, admiralty, or otherwise, for death, bodily injury, sickness, disease, medical monitoring or other personal injuries (whether physical, emotional or otherwise) to the extent caused or allegedly caused, directly or indirectly, by the presence of or exposure (whether prior to or on and after the Commencement Date) to asbestos or asbestos-containing products or things that was or were installed, engineered, designed, manufactured, fabricated, constructed, sold, supplied, produced, specified, selected, distributed, released, marketed, serviced, maintained, repaired, purchased, owned, occupied, used, removed, replaced or disposed by G-I or an Entity for whose products or operations G-I allegedly has liability or for which G-I is otherwise allegedly liable, including, without limitation,

(i) any Claim, remedy, liability, or demand for compensatory damages (such as loss of consortium, wrongful death, medical monitoring, survivorship, proximate, consequential, general, and special damages) and punitive damages;

(ii) any Claim, remedy, liability or demand for reimbursement, indemnification, subrogation and contribution (including an Indirect Trust Claim); and

(iii) any Claim under any settlement pertaining to an Asbestos Personal Injury Claim, which settlement was actually or purportedly entered into by or on behalf of G-I prior to the Commencement Date;

provided, however, for the avoidance of doubt, the term "Asbestos Personal Injury Claim" shall not include or pertain to the CCR Claim or any Asbestos Property Damage Claim, Asbestos Property Damage Contribution Claim, Bonded Claim, Claim held by an Affiliate (even if such Claim would constitute an Indirect Trust Claim if it arose in favor of a non-Affiliate), Environmental Claim, or Workers' Compensation Claim.

- Indirect Trust Claim means any Claim or Demand against G-I, now existing or hereafter arising, that is

(i) held by any Entity (other than a director or officer entitled to indemnification pursuant to Section 7.5 of the Plan) who has been, is, or may be a defendant in an action seeking damages for death, bodily injury, sickness, disease, or other personal injuries (whether physical, emotional, or otherwise) to the extent based on, arising from, or attributable to an Asbestos Personal Injury Claim; and

(ii) on account of alleged liability of G-I for reimbursement, indemnification, subrogation, or contribution of any portion of any damages such Entity has paid or may pay on account of an Asbestos Personal Injury Claim; provided, however, that the term "Indirect Trust Claim" shall not include or pertain to the CCR Claim or any Asbestos Property Damage Claim, Asbestos Property Damage Contribution Claim, Bonded Claim, Environmental Claim, Workers' Compensation Claims, ACI Affiliate Claim, or G-I Affiliate Claim.

- Deficiency portion of a Bonded Asbestos Personal Injury Claim means that portion remaining after crediting the proceeds of any supersedeas bond or other payment assurances to which the holder of such Claim is determined by Final Order or agreement of the parties to be entitled with respect to a Bonded Asbestos Personal Injury Claim. Please refer to the treatment of Bonded Claims – Class 9, below, for further information regarding treatment of Bonded Asbestos Personal Injury Claims.

Pursuant to the Plan, all Class 6 Claims shall be resolved, determined, and paid pursuant to section 524(g) of the Bankruptcy Code and the terms, provisions, and procedures of the Asbestos Trust Agreement and the Asbestos Trust Distribution Procedures. The Asbestos Trust will be funded in accordance with the provisions of Section 4.4 of the Plan. The sole recourse of the holder of a Class 6 Claim shall be to the Asbestos Trust, and such holder shall have no right whatsoever at any time to assert its Class 6 Claim against any Protected Party. Without limiting the foregoing, on the Effective Date, all holders of Asbestos Claims shall be subject to the Asbestos Permanent Channeling Injunction.

The Debtors are advised by the Asbestos Claimants Committee and Legal Representative that the estimated aggregate amount of Asbestos Personal Injury Claims and demands against the Debtors is in excess of $7,000,000,000.

Class 6 is impaired and the holders of Claims in Class 6 are entitled to vote to accept or reject the Plan.

13. Asbestos Property Damage Claims and Asbestos Property Damage Contribution Claims (Class 7).

Class 7 consists of Asbestos Property Damage Claims and Asbestos Property Damage Contribution Claims.

Pursuant to the Plan, Asbestos Property Damage Claims consist of (i) any Claim or remedy or liability against G-I, whether or not such Claim, remedy, or liability is reduced to judgment, liquidated, unliquidated, fixed, contingent, matured, unmatured, disputed, undisputed, legal, equitable, secured, or unsecured, whether or not the facts of or legal bases therefor are known or unknown, under any theory of law, equity, admiralty, or otherwise, for damages for property damage, including but not limited to, the cost of inspecting, maintaining, encapsulating, repairing, decontaminating, removing or disposing of asbestos or asbestos-containing products in buildings, other structures, or other property arising from the installation in, presence in or removal from buildings or other structures of asbestos or asbestos-containing products that was or were installed, manufactured, engineered, designed, fabricated, constructed, sold, supplied, produced, distributed, released, specified, selected, marketed, serviced, repaired, maintained, purchased, owned, used, removed, replaced or disposed of by G-I prior to the Commencement Date, or for which G-I is otherwise allegedly liable, including, without express or implied limitation, any such Claims, remedies and liabilities for compensatory damages (such as proximate, consequential, general, and special damages) and punitive damages, and any Claim, remedy or liability for reimbursement, indemnification, subrogation and contribution, including, without limitation, any Asbestos Property Damage Contribution Claim; and (ii) any Claim under any settlement pertaining to an Asbestos Property Damage Claim, which settlement was actually or purportedly entered into by or on behalf of G-I prior to the Commencement Date; provided, however, for the avoidance of doubt, the term "Asbestos Property Damage Claim" shall not include or pertain to an Asbestos Personal Injury Claim, Bonded Claim, Indirect Trust Claim, CCR Claim, Environmental Claim or Workers' Compensation Claim.

Pursuant to the Plan, Asbestos Property Damage Contribution Claims consist of any Claim or remedy or liability against G-I, whether or not such Claim, remedy or liability is reduced to judgment, liquidated, unliquidated, fixed, contingent, matured, unmatured, disputed, undisputed, legal, equitable, secured, or unsecured, whether or not the facts of or legal bases for such Claim, remedy or liability are known or unknown, that is (i) held by (a) any Entity (other than a director or officer entitled to indemnification pursuant to Section 7.5 of the Plan) who has been, is, or may be a defendant in an action seeking damages for property damage, including but not limited to, the cost of inspecting, maintaining, encapsulating, repairing, decontaminating, removing or disposing of asbestos or asbestos-containing products in buildings, other structures, or other property, arising from the installation in, presence in or removal from buildings or other structures of asbestos or asbestos-containing products that was or were installed, manufactured, engineered, designed, fabricated, constructed, sold, supplied, produced, distributed, released, specified, selected, marketed, serviced, repaired, maintained, purchased, owned, used, removed, replaced or disposed of by G-I prior to the Commencement Date, or for which G-I is otherwise allegedly liable, including, without express or implied limitation, any such Claims, remedies and liabilities for compensatory damages (such as proximate, consequential, general, and special damages) and punitive damages, or (b) any assignee or transferee of such Entity; and (ii) on account of alleged liability of G-I for reimbursement, indemnification, subrogation, or contribution of any portion of any damages such Entity has paid or may pay to the plaintiff in such action; provided, however, for the avoidance of doubt, the term "Asbestos Property Damage Contribution Claim" shall not include or pertain to an Asbestos Personal Injury Claim, Bonded Claim, Indirect Trust Claim, CCR Claim, Environmental Claim, or Workers' Compensation Claim.

Pursuant to the Plan, on the later of (i) the Effective Date and (ii) the date on which an (A) Asbestos Property Damage Claim becomes an Allowed Asbestos Property Damage Claim or (B) Asbestos Property Damage Contribution Claim becomes an Allowed Asbestos Property Damage Contribution Claim, or as soon thereafter as is reasonably practicable, each holder of an Allowed Asbestos Property Damage Claim or Allowed Asbestos Property Damage Contribution Claim shall receive Cash in an amount equal to 8.6% of such Allowed Claim, without interest; provided, however, that (i) all Allowed Asbestos Property Damage Claims or Allowed Asbestos Property Damage Contribution Claims shall be paid solely from the PD Existing Insurance and shall receive no Cash distribution from G-I, and (ii) such Allowed Property Damage Claims and Allowed Property Damage Contribution Claims shall be subject to the terms and provisions of Section 6.5 of the Plan.

The Debtors believe that the Claims in Class 7 will be $0.

Class 7 is impaired by the Plan. Each holder of an Allowed Class 7 Claim is entitled to vote to accept or reject the Plan.

14. CCR Claim (Class 8)

Class 8 consists of the Allowed CCR Claim.

Pursuant to the Plan, a CCR Claim means any means any Claim arising from facts or legal relationships that existed before or during G-I's bankruptcy that CCR or its members, in their capacity as such, have asserted or could assert against G-I or its bankruptcy estate, including, without limitation, any Claim for compensatory damages, contribution, indemnity, payment, reimbursement, subrogation, or any other remedy, whether or not raised in the alternative dispute resolution proceedings that were pending between CCR and G-I when G-I's bankruptcy case commenced. The CCR Claim shall include, but not necessarily be limited to, all Claims based on or relating to (i) alleged breach by G-I of the CCR Producer Agreement or any amendments thereof; (ii) alleged payment or advances of funds, or financing of expenses, by or through CCR on G-I's account or for G-I's benefit; and (iii) any liability or expense allegedly incurred or paid by or through CCR as a result of G-I's failure or refusal to pay any obligation it allegedly incurred under any agreement made by CCR, during G-I's membership in CCR, for the settlement of any asbestos-related personal injury or wrongful death Claim.

As noted in the Plan, the CCR Settlement Agreement is an agreement to be entered into between and among the Debtors, Asbestos Claimants Committee, Legal Representative, and CCR, and submitted for approval to the Bankruptcy Court, which will implement the letter of understanding with CCR dated June 30, 2008, and provide for a compromise and settlement governing the treatment of the Allowed CCR Claim under the Plan.

Pursuant to the Plan, if, by the Effective Date, the CCR Claim has been Allowed pursuant to the CCR Settlement Agreement approved by the Bankruptcy Court and executed and delivered by the parties thereto, then on the Effective Date or as soon thereafter as is reasonably practicable, and in accordance with such CCR Settlement Agreement, the Reorganized Debtors shall pay to CCR the CCR Payment Amount as specified in clause (a) of the definition thereof. If no such CCR Settlement Agreement is approved, executed and delivered, then the Allowed amount, if any, of the CCR Claim shall be determined in a CCR Allowance Proceeding. If, before the Effective Date, the CCR Claim is Allowed pursuant to a Final Order in a CCR Allowance Proceeding, the Reorganized Debtors shall pay to CCR, on the Effective Date or as soon thereafter as is reasonably practicable, the CCR Payment Amount as specified in clause (b) of the definition thereof. The Plan may be consummated notwithstanding the pendency of a CCR Allowance Proceeding if, but only if, the Asbestos Claimants Committee and the Legal Representative, in their sole discretion, have provided the written consents described in Section 12.2(c) of the Plan. Upon the delivery of such written consents, the Reorganized Debtors shall create the CCR Escrow on the Effective Date as provided in Section 4.4(c)(i)(C) of the Plan, in the amount required by that Section, and thereafter, upon the entry of a Final Order in such CCR Proceeding, shall cause a sum equal to the CCR Payment Amount to be disbursed to CCR from the CCR Escrow. Once the CCR Escrow is created, the Debtors and Reorganized Debtors shall have no liability in respect of the CCR Claim beyond having the escrow agent turn over the appropriate amount from the CCR Escrow.

The Debtors anticipate that the CCR Payment Amount will be $9,900,000.

If the CCR Settlement Agreement has been executed and delivered by each of the parties thereto and approved by the Bankruptcy Court prior to the Confirmation Hearing, the Class 8 Claim is unimpaired by the Plan and the holder of the Class 8 Claim is conclusively presumed to have accepted the Plan, and is thus not entitled to vote to accept or reject the Plan. If no CCR Settlement Agreement has been approved by the Bankruptcy Court prior to the Confirmation Hearing, then Class 8 is impaired by the Plan, and the holder of an Allowed Class 8 Claim is entitled to vote to accept or reject the Plan.

15. Bonded Claims (Class 9).

Class 9 consists of Bonded Claims.

Pursuant to the Plan, Bonded Claims constitute any Bonded Asbestos Personal Injury Claim or Bonded Non-Asbestos Claim, but shall not include the deficiency portion, if any, of any such Claims. Accordingly, the following types of Claims and Demands are illustrative of what constitutes a Bonded Claim:

- Bonded Asbestos Personal Injury Claim means an Asbestos Personal Injury Claim evidenced by a judgment as to which, but only to the extent that, a supersedeas bond or equivalent form of payment assurance was posted by a Debtor or by an Affiliate as security for such Claim.

- Bonded Non-Asbestos Claim means any Claim, other than an Asbestos Claim and a Bonded Asbestos Personal Injury Claim, evidenced by a judgment as to which, but only to the extent that, a supersedeas bond or equivalent form of payment assurance was posted by a Debtor or by an Affiliate as security for such Claim.

The deficiency portions of Bonded Asbestos Personal Injury Claims (i.e., that portion remaining after crediting the proceeds of any supersedeas bond or other payment assurances to which the holder of such Claim is determined by Final Order or agreement of the parties to be entitled with respect to a Bonded Asbestos Personal Injury Claim) will be treated as Asbestos Claims.

The deficiency portions of Bonded Non-Asbestos Claims (i.e., that portion remaining after crediting the proceeds of any supersedeas bond or other payment assurances to which the holder of such Claim is determined by Final Order or agreement of the parties to be entitled with respect to a Bonded Non-Asbestos Claim) will be treated as either G-I Unsecured Claims or ACI Unsecured Claims, as the case may be.

Pursuant to the Plan, on the later of (i) the Effective Date and (ii) the date on which a Bonded Claim becomes an Allowed Bonded Claim, or as soon thereafter as is reasonably practicable, each holder of an Allowed Bonded Claim shall receive Cash in an amount equal to such Allowed Bonded Claim; provided, however, that (i) in no event shall such Cash distribution exceed the amount of the bond securing such Allowed Bonded Claim and (ii) each such holder of an Allowed Bonded Claim shall look solely to the bond securing its Claim for such Cash distribution, and shall receive no Cash distribution from G-I. If the holder of the Bonded Claim and G-I do not agree on the Allowed amount of the Bonded Claim, the Bankruptcy Court shall determine the amount of such holder's Allowed Bonded Claim, which amount shall then be paid to such holder from the bond securing such holder's Allowed Bonded Claim.

The Debtors estimate that the Claims in Class 9 will be $10,068,790.

16. G-I Affiliate Claims (Class 10A)

Class 10A consists of all G-I Affiliate Claims.

Pursuant to the Plan, on the Effective Date, each holder of a G-I Affiliate Claim shall receive no distribution of Cash or property in respect of such Claim.

Class 10A is impaired by the Plan. Each holder of a G-I Affiliate Claim is conclusively deemed to reject the Plan and is not entitled to vote to accept or reject the Plan.

17. ACI Affiliate Claims (Class 10B)

Class 10B consists of all ACI Affiliate Claims.

Pursuant to the Plan, the legal, equitable, and contractual rights of the holders of Allowed ACI Affiliate Claims are unaltered by the Plan, or such Allowed ACI Affiliate Claims shall otherwise be rendered unimpaired pursuant to section 1124 of the Bankruptcy Code.

The Debtors estimate that the Claims in Class 10B will be $0.

Class 10B is unimpaired by the Plan. Each holder of an ACI Affiliate Claim is conclusively presumed to have accepted the Plan and is thus not entitled to vote to accept or reject the Plan.

18. G-I Equity Interest Redemption Claims (Class 11)

Class 11 consists of all G-I Equity Interest Redemption Claims.

Pursuant to the Plan, on the Effective Date, each holder of a G-I Equity Interest Redemption Claim shall receive no distribution of Cash or property in respect of such Claim.

Class 11 is impaired by the Plan. Each holder of a G-I Equity Interest Redemption Claim is conclusively deemed to reject the Plan and is not entitled to vote to accept or reject the Plan.

19. G-I Equity Interests (Class 12A).

Class 12A consists of all Equity Interests in G-I and any rights to acquire common stock or other equity securities of G-I.

Pursuant to the Plan, an Equity Interest is any equity interest or proxy related thereto, direct or indirect, in any of the Debtors represented by duly authorized, validly issued and outstanding shares of preferred stock or common stock, stock appreciation rights or any other instrument evidencing a present ownership interest, direct or indirect, inchoate or otherwise, in any of the Debtors, or right to convert into such an equity interest or acquire any equity interest of the Debtors, whether or not transferable, or an option, warrant or right contractual or otherwise, to acquire any such interest, which was in existence prior to or on the Commencement Date; provided, however, for the avoidance of doubt, the term "Equity Interest" does not include or pertain to any ACI Class B Shares or G-I Class B Shares.

On the Effective Date, all instruments evidencing a G-I Equity Interest (but not the G-I Class B Shares) shall be canceled without further action under any applicable agreement, law, regulation, or rule. The G-I Equity Interests shall be extinguished and holders of G-I Equity Interests shall not receive nor retain any property under the Plan.

Prior to the Effective Date, for good and valuable consideration as part of the global settlement referred to in Section 4.1 of the Plan, G-I will authorize and issue to Holdings the G-I Class B Shares, subject to the Capital Stock Lien. On the Effective Date, as a result of all Equity Interests in G-I (but not the G-I Class B Shares) being cancelled, one hundred percent (100%) of the equity interest in G-I shall be represented by the G-I Class B Shares held by Holdings.

Class 12A is impaired by the Plan. Each holder of a G-I Equity Interest is conclusively deemed to reject the Plan and is not entitled to vote to accept or reject the Plan.

20. ACI Equity Interests (Class 12B).

Class 12B consists of all Equity Interests in ACI and any rights to acquire common stock or other equity securities of ACI.

Pursuant to the Plan, an Equity Interest is any equity interest or proxy related thereto, direct or indirect, in any of the Debtors represented by duly authorized, validly issued and outstanding shares of preferred stock or common stock, stock appreciation rights or any other instrument evidencing a present ownership interest, direct or indirect, inchoate or otherwise, in any of the Debtors, or right to convert into such an equity interest or acquire any equity interest of the Debtors, whether or not transferable, or an option, warrant or right contractual or otherwise, to acquire any such interest, which was in existence prior to or on the Commencement Date; provided, however, for the avoidance of doubt, the term "Equity Interest" does not include or pertain to any ACI Class B Shares or G-I Class B Shares.

On the Effective Date, all instruments evidencing an ACI Equity Interest (but not the ACI Class B Shares) shall be canceled without further action under any applicable agreement, law, regulation, or rule. The ACI Equity Interests shall be extinguished and holders of ACI Equity Interests shall not receive nor retain any property under the Plan.

Prior to the Effective Date, for good and valuable consideration as part of the global settlement referred to in Section 4.1 of the Plan, ACI will authorize and issue to G-I the ACI Class B Shares. On the Effective Date, as a result of all Equity Interests in ACI (but not the ACI Class B Shares) being cancelled, one hundred percent (100%) of the equity interest in ACI shall be represented by the ACI Class B Shares held by G-I.

Class 12B is impaired by the Plan. Each holder of an ACI Equity Interest is conclusively deemed to reject the Plan and is not entitled to vote to accept or reject the Plan.

C RESERVATION OF "CRAM DOWN" RIGHTS

The Bankruptcy Code permits the Bankruptcy Court to confirm a chapter 11 plan over the rejection of any class of claims or equity interests as long as the standards in section 1129(b) are met. This power to confirm a plan over dissenting classes – often referred to as "cram down" – is an important part of the reorganization process. It assures that no single group (or multiple groups) of claims or interests can block a restructuring that otherwise meets the requirements of the Bankruptcy Code and is in the interests of the other constituents in the case.

The Debtors reserve the right to seek confirmation of the Plan, notwithstanding the rejection of the Plan by any class entitled to vote. In the event a class votes to reject the Plan, the Debtors will request the Bankruptcy Court to rule that the Plan meets the requirements specified in section 1129(b) of the Bankruptcy Code with respect to such class. The Debtors will also seek such a ruling with respect to each class that is deemed to reject the Plan. For the classes deemed to reject the Plan, the Debtors will request confirmation pursuant to Bankruptcy Code section 1129(b). However, confirmation of the Plan is subject to the condition that the Plan be accepted by at least 75% of the holders of Class 6 Claims who vote on the Plan.

VI. THE ASBESTOS TRUST

The following summarizes the terms of the governing documents for the Asbestos Trust. These documents consist of the Asbestos Trust Agreement (the "Asbestos Trust Agreement") and the G-I Asbestos Settlement Trust Distribution Procedures (the "Trust Distribution Procedures") to be implemented by the Asbestos Trustees pursuant to the terms and conditions of the Plan and the Asbestos Trust Agreement to process, liquidate, and pay Asbestos Claims. The following is intended only to be a summary and is qualified in its entirety by reference to the full text of such documents. In the event of any inconsistency between the provisions of these documents and the summary contained herein, the terms of such documents will control. Interested parties should therefore review the Asbestos Trust Agreement and the Trust Distribution Procedures, copies of which are attached to the Plan as Exhibits 1.1.17 and 1.1.18, respectively.[3] The Trust Distribution Procedures were formulated by the Asbestos Claimants Committee and the Legal Representative, and not by any of the Debtors or their affiliates.

A GENERAL DESCRIPTION OF THE ASBESTOS TRUST

1. Creation and Purposes of the Asbestos Trust

The Plan provides for the creation of a section 524(g) trust to which all Asbestos Claims, including Demands, will be channeled and paid. The Asbestos Trust will have the exclusive liability and responsibility for paying all Asbestos Claims. The Debtors, the Reorganized Debtors, BMCA, and certain other Protected Parties identified in the Plan will have no liability for the payment of Asbestos Claims other than the liability provided for in the Plan to make certain payments to the Asbestos Trust.

The Plan provides that the Asbestos Trust shall be created as of the Effective Date. The Asbestos Trust shall be a "qualified settlement fund" within the meaning of section 468B of the Tax Code and the Treasury Regulations thereunder and shall be established as a statutory trust under the laws of the State of Delaware pursuant to the Asbestos Trust Agreement. The purpose of the Asbestos Trust is, among other things, (a) to direct the processing, resolution, liquidation, and payment of all Asbestos Claims in accordance with section 524(g) of the Bankruptcy Code, the Plan, the Asbestos Trust

[3] Capitalized terms used in this Article IV of this Disclosure Statement that are not otherwise defined herein or in the Plan shall have the meanings assigned to them in the Asbestos Trust Agreement and the Trust Distribution Procedures.

Agreement, the Trust Distribution Procedures, and the Confirmation Order, and (b) to preserve, hold, manage, and maximize the assets of the Asbestos Trust for use in paying and satisfying Asbestos Claims.

The Plan further provides that, on the Confirmation Date, the Bankruptcy Court will appoint the individuals selected jointly by the Asbestos Claimants Committee and the Legal Representative to serve as the Asbestos Trustees for the Asbestos Trust pursuant to the terms of the Asbestos Trust Agreement. Such appointment shall be effective as of the Effective Date. The individuals so appointed shall be identified in Exhibit 4.3 of the Plan.

The Trust Distribution Procedures provide, among other things, for the resolution of Asbestos Claims pursuant to the terms of the Trust Distribution Procedures, and that resolution of an Asbestos Claim by the Asbestos Trust shall result in a full release of such Claim against the Asbestos Trust. The Asbestos Trust shall pay Asbestos Claims as provided by, and at the rates set forth in, the Trust Distribution Procedures.

Pursuant to section 1123(b)(3)(B) of the Bankruptcy Code, except as otherwise provided in the Plan, on the Effective Date, or as soon as reasonably practicable thereafter, the Reorganized Debtors shall assign to the Asbestos Trust all of the Trust Causes of Action,[4] and the Asbestos Trust shall retain and have the exclusive right to enforce against any Entity any and all of the Trust Causes of Action, with the proceeds of the recoveries of any such actions to be deposited in the Trust; provided, however, that nothing herein shall alter, amend or modify the Asbestos Permanent Channeling Injunction, releases, discharges, or Supersedeas Bond Action provisions contained elsewhere in the Plan.

2. The Asbestos Trustees

The three individuals who will serve as the initial Asbestos Trustees of the Asbestos Trust are Marina Corodemus, Alan B. Rich and Stephen M. Snyder. The initial Asbestos Trustees shall each serve a term that shall end on the second anniversary of the Effective Date. On the second anniversary of the Effective Date, the number of Asbestos Trustees shall be reduced from three to one. When the number of Asbestos Trustees is reduced from three to one, Stephen M. Snyder shall serve as the sole Asbestos Trustee. Prior to the second anniversary of the Effective Date, Mr. Snyder shall serve as Managing Trustee and shall undertake the administrative duties typically associated with such position.

Each Asbestos Trustee will serve until the earliest of the end of the Asbestos Trustee's term (if any), his or her death, resignation or removal, or the termination of the Asbestos Trust. An Asbestos Trustee may be removed by the unanimous vote of the remaining Trustees (if any) or at the recommendation of the Trust Advisory Committee and the Legal Representative, with the approval of the Bankruptcy Court, in the event he or she becomes unable to discharge his or her duties due to accident or physical or mental deterioration, or for other good cause, including any substantial failure to comply with [4] As set forth in the Plan, these actions include any and all actions, claims, rights, defenses, counterclaims, suits, and causes of action of the Debtors, whether known or unknown, at law, in equity or otherwise, whenever or wherever arising under the laws of any jurisdiction attributable to: (a) all defenses to any Asbestos Claim; (b) with respect to any Asbestos Claim, all rights of setoff, recoupment, contribution, reimbursement, subrogation, or indemnity (as those terms are defined by the non-bankruptcy law of any relevant jurisdiction) and any other indirect Claim of any kind whatsoever, whenever, and wherever arising or asserted; and (c) subject to the provisions of the Plan, any other Claims or rights with respect to Asbestos Claims that the Debtors would have had under applicable law if the Chapter 11 Cases had not occurred and the holder of such Asbestos Claim had asserted it by initiating or continuing civil litigation against any such Debtor. Notwithstanding the foregoing, Trust Causes of Action shall not include (i) any of the Debtors' rights arising under or attributable to the Supersedeas Bond Actions; (ii) the property, rights, or assets, if any, of the Debtors or their Affiliates that were previously used to secure or obtain a supersedeas bond with respect to any Bonded Claim and which are recoverable or recovered by any of the Debtors or any of their Affiliates after full satisfaction of such Claim; or (iii) any Claims or rights that were or could have been asserted in the Covered Matters.

the general administration provisions of the Asbestos Trust Agreement, a consistent pattern of neglect and failure to perform or participate in performing the duties of Asbestos Trustees or repeated non-attendance at scheduled meetings. In the event of a vacancy in an Asbestos Trustee position, the remaining Asbestos Trustees (if any) will consult with the Trust Advisory Committee and the Legal Representative concerning appointment of a successor Asbestos Trustee. The vacancy will be filled by the unanimous vote of the remaining Asbestos Trustees (if any) unless a majority of the Trust Advisory Committee or the Legal Representative vetoes the appointment. In that event, the Bankruptcy Court will make the appointment. If there are no remaining Asbestos Trustees, the vacancy shall be filed by the Trust Advisory Committee and the Legal Representative. In the event the Trust Advisory Committee and the Legal Representative cannot agree on the successor Asbestos Trustee, the Bankruptcy Court will make the appointment.

Each Asbestos Trustee shall receive a retainer from the Asbestos Trust for his or her service as an Asbestos Trustee in the amount of $60,000.00 per annum, which amount shall be payable in quarterly installments. In addition, for all time expended attending Asbestos Trust meetings with other Asbestos Trustees (if any) or with the Trust Advisory Committee and the Legal Representative, preparing for such meetings, and working on authorized projects, the Asbestos Trustees shall receive the sum of $500 per hour computed on a quarter-hour basis. The Asbestos Trustees shall also be reimbursed for out-of-pocket costs and expenses. The Asbestos Trustees' annual retainer and hourly compensation will be reviewed every year and appropriately adjusted for changes in the cost of living.

3. The Trust Advisory Committee

The Asbestos Trust Agreement provides for the establishment of a Trust Advisory Committee. The initial members of the Trust Advisory Committee will be Steven T. Baron, Matthew Bergman, John D. Cooney, Robert Komitor, Mark C. Meyer and Joseph F. Rice. The initial members of the Trust Advisory Committee shall serve staggered three-, four- or five-year terms as set forth in the Asbestos Trust Agreement. Thereafter, each term of office shall be five years. Each member of the Trust Advisory Committee will serve until the earliest of (i) the end of his or her full term in office, (ii) his or her death, (iii) his or her resignation, (iv) his or her removal, or (v) the termination of the Asbestos Trust. Any Trust Advisory Committee member may be removed by the remaining Trust Advisory Committee members with the approval of the Bankruptcy Court in the event he or she becomes unable to discharge his or her duties due to accident, physical deterioration, mental incompetence, or a consistent pattern of neglect and failure to perform or to participate in performing the duties of such member under the Asbestos Trust Agreement, such as repeated non-attendance at scheduled meetings or for other good cause.

In the event of a vacancy caused by the resignation or death of a Trust Advisory Committee member or the expiration of his or her term, the successor shall be pre-selected by such Trust Advisory Committee member, or by his or her law firm in the event that such member has not pre-selected a successor. There is no limit on the number of terms a Trust Advisory Committee member may serve. If neither the member nor the law firm exercises the right to make such a selection, the successor shall be chosen by a majority vote of the remaining Trust Advisory Committee members. If a majority of the remaining members cannot agree, the Bankruptcy Court shall appoint the successor. In the event of a vacancy caused by the removal of a Trust Advisory Committee member, the remaining members of the Trust Advisory Committee by majority vote shall name the successor. If the majority of the remaining members of the Trust Advisory Committee cannot reach agreement, the Bankruptcy Court shall appoint the successor.

The Asbestos Trustees are required to consult with the Trust Advisory Committee on the appointment of successor Asbestos Trustees, the general implementation and administration of the Asbestos Trust and the Trust Distribution Procedures, and on various other matters required by the Asbestos Trust Agreement. The Asbestos Trustees must also obtain the consent of the Trust Advisory Committee members on a variety of matters, including amendments to the Asbestos Trust Agreement and the Trust Distribution Procedures, acquisition, merger or participation with other claims resolution facilities, and termination of the Asbestos Trust under certain conditions specified in the Asbestos Trust Agreement.

The members of the Trust Advisory Committee will not be entitled to receive compensation from the Asbestos Trust for their services as Trust Advisory Committee members. The members of the Trust Advisory Committee will be reimbursed promptly for all reasonable out-of-pocket costs and expenses incurred in connection with the performance of their duties hereunder.

4. The Legal Representative

The Asbestos Trust Agreement provides for the appointment of a Legal Representative, C. Judson Hamlin, who will serve in a fiduciary capacity, representing the interests of the holders of future Asbestos Claims against the Asbestos Trust for the purposes of protecting the rights of such persons.

The Legal Representative will serve until the earliest of his death, resignation or removal, or the termination of the Asbestos Trust. The Legal Representative may resign at any time by written notice to the Asbestos Trustees and may be removed by the Bankruptcy Court in the event he becomes unable to discharge his duties due to accident, physical deterioration, mental incompetence or a consistent pattern of neglect and failure to perform or to participate in performing his duties under the Asbestos Trust Agreement, such as non-attendance at scheduled meetings or for other good cause.

A vacancy caused by death or resignation shall be filled with an individual nominated prior to the death or the effective date of the resignation by the deceased or resigning Legal Representative, and a vacancy caused by removal of the Legal Representative shall be filled with an individual nominated by the Asbestos Trustees in consultation with the Trust Advisory Committee, subject, in each case, to the approval of the Bankruptcy Court. In the event a majority of the Asbestos Trustees cannot agree, or a nominee has not been pre-selected, the successor shall be chosen by the Bankruptcy Court.

The Asbestos Trustees are required to consult with the Legal Representative on the appointment of successor Asbestos Trustees, the general implementation and administration of the Asbestos Trust and the Trust Distribution Procedures, and on various other matters required by the Asbestos Trust Agreement. The Asbestos Trustees must also obtain the consent of the Legal Representative on a variety of matters, including amendments to the Asbestos Trust Agreement and the Trust Distribution Procedures, acquisition, merger or participation with other claims resolution facilities, and termination of the Asbestos Trust under certain conditions specified in the Asbestos Trust Agreement.

The Legal Representative will be entitled to receive compensation from the Asbestos Trust in the form of payment at the Legal Representative's normal hourly rate for services performed and will be reimbursed by the Asbestos Trust for all reasonable out-of-pocket costs and expenses incurred by the Legal Representative in connection with the performance of his duties hereunder.

B TRANSFER OF CERTAIN PROPERTY TO THE ASBESTOS TRUST

1. Transfer of Asbestos Claims Books and Records

On the Effective Date or as soon thereafter as is reasonably practicable, the books and records of the Debtors that pertain directly to Asbestos Claims shall be transferred, assigned, or otherwise disposed of pursuant to the terms and provisions of a certain Cooperation Agreement to be entered into by and between the Reorganized Debtors and the Asbestos Trust on the Effective Date.

2. Transfer of CCR Claims Books and Records

On the date on which (i) the CCR Payment Amount is paid to CCR, consistent with the terms of the CCR Settlement Agreement or (ii) the Final Order is entered in the CCR Allowance Proceeding, as applicable, or as soon thereafter as is practicable, CCR shall assign to the Asbestos Trust all data and documentation concerning the underlying Asbestos Personal Injury Claims and any rights and claims against G-I that CCR received by agreement or operation of law in settling such Claims.

3. Effective Date Transfers of Plan Consideration

Section 4.4(c) of the Plan provides for the transfer of a Cash payment to the Asbestos Trust under the following circumstances.

- On the Effective Date, if the CCR Claim has been Allowed and the CCR Payment Amount is $10.0 million or less, the Reorganized Debtors' First Payment To Asbestos Trust shall be Cash in the aggregate amount of $215,000,000 less half of the CCR Payment Amount.

- On the Effective Date, if the CCR Claim has been Allowed and the CCR Payment Amount is greater than $10.0 million, the Reorganized Debtors' First Payment To Asbestos Trust shall be Cash in an aggregate amount calculated by subtracting the CCR Payment Amount from $220,000,000.

- If a CCR Allowance Proceeding remains pending after confirmation of the Plan but the Asbestos Claimants Committee and Legal Representative have provided the written consents described in Section 12.2(c) of the Plan, then the Reorganized Debtors shall create the CCR Escrow on the Effective Date. The Reorganized Debtors shall deposit the CCR Escrow Amount into the CCR Escrow, for eventual disbursement to CCR if, when, and to the extent the CCR Claim is Allowed pursuant to a Final Order in the CCR Allowance Proceeding. If the CCR Escrow becomes applicable, then the Reorganized Debtors' First Payment To Asbestos Trust shall be computed as $220,000,000 minus the CCR Escrow Amount, and CCR's sole recourse for payment of the CCR Claim shall be against the CCR Escrow. Any balance remaining in the CCR Escrow after the CCR Claim is paid or disallowed shall be distributed as follows:

  (i) If the CCR Claim is disallowed by Final Order, Reorganized G-I shall receive $5 million plus an allocable pro rata share of any CCR Escrow Earnings, and the Asbestos Trust shall receive all remaining proceeds of the CCR Escrow, including all remaining CCR Escrow Earnings;

  (ii) If the CCR Claim is Allowed by Final Order and the resulting CCR Payment Amount is $10 million or less, the Reorganized G-I shall receive the difference between $5 million and 50% of the CCR Payment Amount, plus a pro rata share of any CCR Escrow Earnings, and the Asbestos Trust shall receive the entire remaining balance of the CCR Escrow plus all remaining CCR Escrow Earnings; and

  (iii) If the CCR Claim is allowed by Final Order and the resulting CCR Payment Amount is more than $10 million, the Asbestos Trust shall receive the entire remaining balance of the CCR Escrow plus all CCR Escrow Earnings.

4. Transfer of Other Consideration to the Asbestos Trust

On the Effective Date (A) Reorganized G-I shall execute and deliver to the Asbestos Trust the Trust Note, which shall be secured by the Capital Stock Lien, as well as any and all documents and instruments related thereto; and (B) immediately after such delivery of the Trust Note, the Letter of Credit shall be delivered to the LC Agent. Upon such delivery of the Letter of Credit, the Capital Stock Lien shall be immediately extinguished. The Trust Note terms and conditions are set forth in Exhibit 1.1.105 to the Plan.

5. Post-Effective Date Transfers of Plan Consideration

After the Effective Date, and in addition to the applicable Cash payment required by Section 4.4(c) of the Plan, the Reorganized Debtors shall make the payments and repayments set forth in the Trust Note; provided, however, that the Plan Sponsor may voluntarily make any or all Cash payments or repayments set forth in the Trust Note, in place of the Reorganized Debtors, provided, further that any claims or rights that might thereby arise in favor of the Plan Sponsor against G-I with respect to the Trust Note, the Letter of Credit, or any related collateral security therefor, including (by way of illustration and not of limitation) claims for subrogation, reimbursement, contribution, indemnity, or interest, shall be fully subordinated to the rights of the Trust and the Holder of the Trust Note and shall not be paid or become payable until all principal and interest payable under the Trust Note shall have been indefeasibly paid in full.

6. Assumption of Certain Liabilities by the Asbestos Trust

In accordance with sections 524(g) and 1141 of the Bankruptcy Code and in furtherance of the purposes of the Asbestos Trust and the Plan, on the Effective Date all liability and responsibility for all Asbestos Claims shall be assumed and succeeded to by the Asbestos Trust, and the Reorganized Debtors shall be completely discharged of such Claims and have no further financial or other responsibility or liability therefor.

7. Assignment and Enforcement of Trust Causes of Action

As set forth in Section 4.4(g) of the Plan, on the Effective Date, by virtue of the confirmation of the Plan, without further notice, action, or deed, the Trust Causes of Action shall be automatically assigned to, and indefeasibly vested in, the Asbestos Trust, and the Asbestos Trust will thereby become the estate representative pursuant to section 1123(b)(3)(B) of the Bankruptcy Code, with the exclusive right to enforce any and all of the Trust Causes of Action against any Entity, and the proceeds of the recoveries of any such Trust Causes of Action shall be deposited in the Asbestos Trust; provided, however, that nothing in section 4.5(g) of the Plan shall alter, amend or modify the Asbestos Permanent Channeling Injunction, releases, discharges, or Supersedeas Bond Action provisions contained elsewhere in the Plan.

8. Asbestos Trust Termination Provisions

The Asbestos Trust is irrevocable, but will dissolve ninety (90) days after the first to occur of any of the following events:

- the Asbestos Trustees decide to dissolve the Asbestos Trust because (a) they deem it unlikely that new asbestos claims will be filed against the Asbestos Trust, (b) all Asbestos Claims duly filed with the Asbestos Trust have been liquidated and paid to the extent provided in the Asbestos Trust Agreement and the Trust Distribution Procedures or disallowed by a final, non-appealable order, to the extent possible based upon the funds available through the Plan, and (c) twelve (12) consecutive months have elapsed during which no new Asbestos Claim has been filed with the Asbestos Trust; or

- if the Asbestos Trustees have procured and have in place irrevocable insurance policies and have established claims handling agreements and other necessary arrangements with suitable third parties adequate to discharge all expected remaining obligations and expenses of the Asbestos Trust in a manner consistent with this Asbestos Trust Agreement and the Trust Distribution Procedures, the date on which the Bankruptcy Court enters an order approving such insurance and other arrangements and such order becomes a final order; or

- to the extent that any rule against perpetuities will be deemed applicable to the Asbestos Trust, the date on which twenty-one (21) years less ninety-one (91) days pass after the death of the last survivor of all of the descendents of the late Joseph P. Kennedy, Sr., father of the late President John F. Kennedy, living on the date hereof.

On the dissolution date or as soon as reasonably practicable, after the wind-up of the Asbestos Trust's affairs by the Asbestos Trustees and payment of all the Asbestos Trust's liabilities have been provided for as required by applicable law, all monies remaining in the Asbestos Trust estate will be given to such organization(s) exempt from federal income tax under Section 501(c)(3) of the Tax Code, which tax-exempt organization(s) will be selected by the Asbestos Trustees using their reasonable discretion; provided, however, that (i) if practicable, the activities of the selected tax-exempt organization(s) will be related to the treatment of, research on, or the relief of suffering of individuals suffering from asbestos-related lung disease or disorders, and (ii) the tax-exempt organization(s) will not bear any relationship to Reorganized Debtors within the meaning of Section 468(d)(3) of the Tax Code. The Plan Proponents believe that the likelihood of any monies remaining in the Asbestos Trust after the Asbestos Trust terminates is extremely remote.

Following the dissolution and distribution of the assets of the Asbestos Trust, the Asbestos Trust shall terminate and the Asbestos Trustees, or any one of them, shall execute and cause a Certificate of Cancellation of the Certificate of Trust of the Asbestos Trust to be filed with the State of Delaware. The existence of the Asbestos Trust as a separate legal entity shall continue until the filing of the Certificate of Cancellation.

9. Amendment of the Asbestos Trust Documents

The Asbestos Trustees, subject to the Trust Advisory Committee's and the Legal Representative's consent, may modify or amend certain provisions of the Asbestos Trust Agreement or any document annexed thereto. However, the Asbestos Trust provisions may not be modified or amended in any way that could jeopardize, impair, or modify the applicability of section 524(g) of the Bankruptcy Code, the efficacy or enforceability of the injunction entered thereunder, or the Asbestos Trust's qualified settlement fund status within the meaning of Treasury Regulations Section 1.468B-1, et seq., promulgated under Section 468B of the Tax Code.

C INSTITUTION AND MAINTENANCE OF LEGAL AND OTHER PROCEEDINGS

As of the date subsequent to the Effective Date on which the Asbestos Trustees confirm in writing to the Reorganized Debtors that the Asbestos Trust is in a position to assume the responsibility, the Asbestos Trust shall be empowered to initiate, prosecute, defend, and resolve all legal actions and other proceedings related to any asset, liability, or responsibility of the Asbestos Trust, including Trust

Causes of Action. The Asbestos Trust shall be empowered to initiate, prosecute, defend, and resolve all such actions in the name of G-I, ACI, or any of the Reorganized Debtors if deemed necessary or appropriate by the Asbestos Trust. The Asbestos Trust shall be responsible for the payment of all damages, awards, judgments, settlements, expenses, costs, fees, and other charges incurred subsequent to the Effective Date arising from or associated with any legal action or other proceeding that is the subject of Section 4.5 of the Plan.

D SUPERSEDEAS BONDS AND PAYMENT ASSURANCES

1. Preserved Actions

All Supersedeas Bond Actions and the rights and Claims asserted or to be asserted therein shall be preserved and shall be prosecuted or defended, as the case may be, by the Reorganized Debtors on and after the Effective Date.

2. Assumption by the Asbestos Trust

As of the Effective Date, the Asbestos Trust shall assume, and shall have exclusive liability for, any deficiency portion of a Bonded Asbestos Personal Injury Claim remaining after crediting proceeds of any supersedeas bond or other payment assurances to which the holder of such Claim is determined by Final Order or agreement of the parties to be entitled. To the extent the Reorganized Debtors successfully prosecute or defend against a Supersedeas Bond Action resulting in the discharge or release of the relevant supersedeas bond or other payment assurance provided in connection therewith, any such recoveries shall inure to the benefit of the Reorganized Debtors.

3. Reservation of Rights of Issuers and Insurers of Payment Assurances

Notwithstanding anything to the contrary contained herein, nothing in the Plan shall be deemed to impair, prejudice, compromise, or otherwise affect any defense or counterclaim asserted by any issuer or insurer of payment assurances issued on behalf of the Debtors, or any other defendant in the Supersedeas Bond Actions, to any claim of the Debtors, including, without limitation, any defense based on an asserted right of setoff or recoupment, or other defense under applicable non-bankruptcy law. Any right of setoff or recoupment shall be satisfied out of the assets in the possession of the sureties or insurers relating to such payment assurances and any claims or liabilities including, without limitation, claims for premiums for bonds provided by any such issuers or insurers.

4. Compromise and Settlement

The Reorganized Debtors shall be entitled to compromise or settle any of the Supersedeas Bond Actions; provided, however, that any such compromise or settlement shall require the consent of the Asbestos Trust (which consent shall not be unreasonably withheld or delayed) to the extent the compromise or settlement results in there being any deficiency portion of a Bonded Asbestos Personal Injury Claim after applying the proceeds of any supersedeas bond or equivalent form of payment assurance.

E THE ASBESTOS PERMANENT CHANNELING INJUNCTION

The Confirmation Order will contain, among other things, the Asbestos Permanent Channeling Injunction and will therefore be submitted to the United States District Court for its issuance. Pursuant to the Asbestos Permanent Channeling Injunction, all Entities will be forever stayed, restrained, and enjoined from taking certain actions specified in the Plan against any Protected Party for the purpose of, directly or indirectly, collecting, recovering, or receiving payment of, on, or with respect to any Asbestos Personal Injury Claims, all of which will be channeled to the Asbestos Trust for resolution as set forth in the Trust Distribution Procedures, against any Protected Party or its property (other than actions brought to enforce any right or obligation under the Plan, any Exhibits to the Plan, or any other agreement or instrument between the Debtors or the Reorganized Debtors and the Asbestos Trust, which actions will be in conformity and compliance with the provisions of the Plan). Nothing contained in the Asbestos Permanent Channeling Injunction will be deemed a waiver of any claim, right, or cause of action that the Debtors, the Reorganized Debtors, or the Asbestos Trust may have against any Entity in connection with or arising out of an Asbestos Personal Injury Claim.

It is the intent of the provisions of the Plan relating to treatment of Asbestos Personal Injury Claims to channel all such claims (except workers' compensation claims), regardless of theory of recovery, and regardless of how the claim arises, i.e., directly or indirectly, to the Asbestos Trust. For example, regardless of whether a claim arises by virtue of a product liability theory of recovery, a premises liability theory of recovery, a contract theory of recovery or any other theory of recovery, if it relates to a personal injury (including medical monitoring, fear of injury, emotional distress, loss of consortium, or any other injury of or relating to a person) it will be channeled to the Asbestos Trust.

In 1994, the Bankruptcy Code was amended to add subsections (g) and (h) to section 524. These subsections confirm the validity of existing injunctions (such as those used in the chapter 11 cases of Johns Manville Corporation and UNR Corporation) similar to the Asbestos Permanent Channeling Injunction and codify a court's authority to issue a permanent injunction in asbestos related reorganizations under chapter 11 to supplement the injunctive relief afforded by section 524. Section 524(g) provides that, if certain specified conditions are satisfied, a court may issue a supplemental permanent injunction, such as the Asbestos Permanent Channeling Injunction, barring claims and demands against the reorganized company and certain identified protected parties and channeling those claims and demands to an independent trust.

Pursuant to the Asbestos Permanent Channeling Injunction and the Plan, the following entities will be "Protected Parties" and, therefor, protected by the scope of the Asbestos Permanent Channeling Injunction:

- the Debtors;
- the Reorganized Debtors;
- any Affiliate listed on Exhibit 1.1.94(c) to the Plan;
- any Entity that, pursuant to the Plan or after the Effective Date, becomes a direct or indirect transferee of, or successor to, any assets of the Debtors, the Reorganized Debtors, or the Asbestos Trust, but solely to the extent that an Asbestos Claim is asserted against such Entity by reason of its becoming such a transferee or successor;
- any Entity that, pursuant to the Plan or after the Effective Date, makes a loan to the Reorganized Debtors, any Protected Party, or the Asbestos Trust or to a successor to, or transferee of, any assets of the Debtors, the Reorganized Debtors, or the Asbestos Trust, but solely to the extent that an Asbestos Claim is asserted against such Entity by reason of its making such loan or to the extent that any pledge of assets made in connection with such a loan is sought to be upset or impaired; or
- any Entity alleged to be directly or indirectly liable for the conduct of, Claims against, or Demands on the Debtors, the Reorganized Debtors, or the Asbestos Trust on account of Asbestos Claims by reason of one or more of the following:

- such Entity's ownership of a financial interest in the Debtors, the Reorganized Debtors, a past or present Affiliate of the Debtors or the Reorganized Debtors, or a predecessor in interest of the Debtors or the Reorganized Debtors, but solely in such Entity's capacity as such;

- such Entity's involvement in the management of the Debtors, an Affiliate, the Reorganized Debtors, or any predecessor in interest of the Debtors, or the Reorganized Debtors, but solely in such Entity's capacity as such;

- such Entity's service as an officer, director, or employee of the Debtors, the Reorganized Debtors, any past or present Affiliate of the Debtors or the Reorganized Debtors, any predecessor in interest of the Debtors or the Reorganized Debtors, or any Entity that owns or at any time has owned a financial interest in the Debtors or the Reorganized Debtors, any past or present Affiliate of the Debtors or the Reorganized Debtors, or any predecessor in interest of the Debtors or the Reorganized Debtors, but solely in such Entity's capacity as such;

- such Entity's provision of insurance to the Debtors, the Reorganized Debtors, any past or present Affiliate of the Debtors or the Reorganized Debtors, any predecessor in interest of the Debtors or the Reorganized Debtors, or any Entity that owns or at any time has owned a financial interest in the Debtors or the Reorganized Debtors, any past or present Affiliate of the Debtors or the Reorganized Debtors, or any predecessor in interest of the Debtors or the Reorganized Debtors, but only to the extent that the Debtors, the Reorganized Debtors, or the Asbestos Trust enters into a settlement with such Entity that is approved by the Bankruptcy Court and expressly provides that such Entity shall be entitled to the protection of the Asbestos Permanent Channeling Injunction as a Protected Party; or

- such Entity's involvement in a transaction changing the corporate structure, or in a loan or other financial transaction (including involvement in providing financing or advice to an Entity involved in such a transaction or acquiring or selling a financial interest in an Entity as part of such a transaction), affecting the financial condition of the Debtors, an Affiliate, the Reorganized Debtors, any past or present Affiliate of the Debtors or the Reorganized Debtors, or any predecessor in interest of the Debtors or the Reorganized Debtors, but solely in such Entity's capacity as such.

Pursuant to the Asbestos Permanent Channeling Injunction, the Protected Parties will be protected against any Entity taking any of the following actions for the purpose of, directly or indirectly, collecting, recovering, or receiving payment of, on, or with respect to any Asbestos Personal Injury Claims, including, but not limited to:

- commencing, conducting, or continuing in any manner, directly or indirectly, any suit, action, or other proceeding (including, without express or implied limitation, a judicial, arbitral, administrative, or other proceeding) in any forum against or affecting any Protected Party or any property or interests in property of any Protected Party;

- enforcing, levying, attaching (including, without express or implied limitation, any prejudgment attachment), collecting, or otherwise recovering by any means or in any manner, whether directly or indirectly, any judgment, award, decree, or other order against any Protected Party or any property or interests in property of any Protected Party;

- creating, perfecting, or otherwise enforcing in any manner, directly or indirectly, any Encumbrance against any Protected Party or any property or interests in property of any Protected Party;

- setting off, seeking reimbursement of, contribution from, indemnification of or subrogation against, or otherwise recouping in any manner, directly or indirectly, any amount against any liability owed to any Protected Party or any property or interests in property of any Protected Party; and

- proceeding in any manner in any place with regard to any matter that is subject to resolution pursuant to the Asbestos Trust Agreement or the Asbestos Trust Distribution Procedures, except in conformity and compliance therewith.

The Debtors will seek the issuance of the Asbestos Permanent Channeling Injunction pursuant to section 524(g) and any other applicable provision of the Bankruptcy Code. To qualify under the statute, a trust must meet certain standards that are specified in section 524(g). To ensure that the Asbestos Trust meets these standards, the Debtors have made compliance with them a condition precedent to confirmation of the Plan.

F COMPLIANCE WITH QSF REGULATIONS

The Plan provides that the Asbestos Trust shall be a "qualified settlement fund" within the meaning of section 468B of the Tax Code and the Treasury Regulations thereunder. The purpose of the Asbestos Trust is, among other things, (a) to direct the processing, resolution, liquidation, and payment of all Asbestos Claims in accordance with section 524(g) of the Bankruptcy Code, the Plan, the Asbestos Trust Agreement, the Asbestos Trust Distribution Procedures, and the Confirmation Order, and (b) to preserve, hold, manage, and maximize the assets of the Asbestos Trust for use in paying and satisfying Asbestos Claims.

The Debtors plan to request a private letter ruling from the IRS substantially to the effect that, among other things, the Asbestos Trust will be a "qualified settlement fund" within the meaning of section 468B of the Internal Revenue Code and the Treasury Regulations thereunder. As a condition to the occurrence of the Effective Date, the Debtors must have received either a favorable ruling from the IRS with respect to the qualification of the Asbestos Trust as a "qualified settlement fund" or an opinion of counsel with respect to the tax status of the Asbestos Trust as a "qualified settlement fund" reasonably satisfactory to the Debtors, the Asbestos Claimants Committee, and the Legal Representative.

Within sixty (60) days before or after the funding of the Asbestos Trust (but not later than February 15 of the following calendar year), the Debtors or the Reorganized Debtors will obtain, if applicable, a Qualified Appraisal of the fair market value of the Trust Assets transferred (or to be transferred) to the Asbestos Trust. Following the funding of the Asbestos Trust and, if applicable, the receipt of the Qualified Appraisal (and in no event later than February 15 of the calendar year following the funding of the Asbestos Trust), the Reorganized Debtors will provide a "§ 1.468B-3 Statement" to the Asbestos Trustees in accordance with Treasury Regulations section 1.468B-3(e).

G DISCHARGE OF ALL LIABILITIES RELATED TO ASBESTOS CLAIMS

As of the Effective Date, all Asbestos Claims, other than Demands, shall be discharged and all Demands shall be permanently and irrevocably enjoined and channeled to the Asbestos Trust. The Asbestos Trust shall assume sole and exclusive responsibility for all Asbestos Claims, including without limitation, Demands and Indirect Trust Claims, and such Asbestos Claims shall be paid solely by the Asbestos Trust from its assets in accordance with the Asbestos Trust Distribution Procedures. Any action or attempt to recover against the Debtors, the Reorganized Debtors, their respective estates or the Protected Parties with respect to any Asbestos Claim, including without limitation Demands and Indirect Trust Claims, shall be barred.

In accordance with and not in limitation of sections 524 and 1141 of the Bankruptcy Code, and except as provided in the Plan, upon the Effective Date, all Claims against the Debtors shall be, and shall be deemed to be, discharged in full, and all holders of Claims shall be precluded and enjoined from asserting against the Reorganized Debtors, or any of their assets or properties, any other or further Claim based upon any act or omission, transaction, or other activity of any kind or nature that occurred prior to the Effective Date, whether or not such holder has filed a proof of Claim. Upon the Effective Date, all Entities shall be forever precluded and enjoined, pursuant to section 524 of the Bankruptcy Code, from prosecuting or asserting any such discharged Claim against the Debtors.

H. TRUST DISTRIBUTION PROCEDURES

1. Asbestos Trust Goals

The Asbestos Trustees will implement and administer the Trust Distribution Procedures, which are attached to the Plan as Exhibit 1.1.18. The Trust Distribution Procedures have been adopted after negotiations between the Legal Representative and the Asbestos Claimants Committee. The goal of the Asbestos Trust is to treat all Asbestos Claims that involve similar claims in substantially the same manner, as required by 11 U.S.C. § 524(g). The Trust Distribution Procedures further that goal by setting forth procedures for processing and paying the Debtors' several shares of the unpaid portion of the liquidated value of Asbestos Claims generally on an impartial, first-in, first-out ("FIFO") basis, with the intention of paying all claimants over time as equivalent a share as possible of the value of their Asbestos Claims based on historical values for substantially similar claims in the tort system. To this end, the Trust Distribution Procedures establish a schedule of eight asbestos-related diseases ("Disease Levels"), seven of which have presumptive medical and exposure requirements ("Medical/Exposure Criteria") and specific liquidated values ("Scheduled Values"), and five of which have anticipated average values ("Average Values") and caps on their liquidated values ("Maximum Values"). The Disease Levels, Medical/Exposure Criteria, Scheduled Values, Average Values and Maximum Values have all been selected and derived with the intention of achieving a fair allocation of the Asbestos Trust funds as among claimants suffering from different disease processes in light of the best available information and taking into consideration the Debtors' histories of settling claims and the rights claimants would have in the tort system absent the Chapter 11 Cases.

2. Disease Levels, Scheduled Values and Medical/Exposure Criteria

The eight Disease Levels covered by the Trust Distribution Procedures together with the Medical/Exposure Criteria for each and the Scheduled Values for the seven Disease Levels eligible for expedited review under the terms of the Trust Distribution Procedures, are set forth below. Evidentiary requirements for both medical diagnoses and exposure are set forth below at Section VI.H.19. of this Disclosure Statement. These Disease Levels, Scheduled Values, and Medical/Exposure Criteria shall apply to all PI Trust Voting Claims (as defined in the Trust Distribution Procedures) filed with the Asbestos Trust (except Pre-Petition Liquidated Claims, as defined in Section VI.H.10. below) on or before the Initial Claims Filing Date (defined in Section VI.H.8. below) for which a claimant elects the expedited review process described in the Trust Distribution Procedures (the "Expedited Review Process"). Thereafter, for purposes of administering the Expedited Review Process (and with the consent of the Trust Advisory Committee and the Legal Representative), the Asbestos Trustees may add to, change or eliminate Disease Levels, Scheduled Values, or Medical/Exposure Criteria; develop subcategories of Disease Levels, Scheduled Values or Medical/Exposure Criteria; or determine that a novel or exceptional Asbestos Claim is compensable even though it does not meet the Medical/Exposure Criteria for any of the then current Disease Levels. The Asbestos Trust, with the consent of the Trust Advisory Committee and the Legal Representative, shall periodically adjust the Scheduled Values to account for inflation.

Disease Level	Scheduled Value	Medical/Exposure Criteria
Mesothelioma (Level VIII)	$155,000	(1) Diagnosis[5] of mesothelioma; and (2) G-I Exposure.[6]
Lung Cancer 1 (Level VII)	$ 45,000	(1) Diagnosis of a primary lung cancer plus evidence of an underlying Bilateral Asbestos-Related Nonmalignant Disease,[7] (2) six months G-I Exposure prior to December 31, 1982, (3) Significant Occupational Exposure[8] to asbestos, and (4) supporting medical documentation establishing asbestos exposure as a contributing factor in causing the lung cancer in question.
Lung Cancer 2 (Level VI)	None	(1) Diagnosis of a primary lung cancer; (2) G-I Exposure prior to December 31, 1982, and (3) supporting medical documentation establishing asbestos exposure as a contributing factor in causing the lung cancer in question. Lung Cancer 2 (Level VI) claims are claims that do not meet the more stringent medical and/or exposure

[5] The requirements for a diagnosis of an asbestos-related disease that may be compensated are set forth in the Trust Distribution Procedures.

[6] As defined in the Trust Distribution Procedures.

[7] Evidence of "Bilateral Asbestos-Related Nonmalignant Disease" for purposes of meeting the criteria for establishing Disease Levels I, II, III, V, and VII is described in the Trust Distribution Procedures as either (i) a chest X-ray read by a qualified B reader of 1/0 or higher on the ILO scale or, (ii) (x) a chest X-ray read by a qualified B reader or other Qualified Physician, (y) a CT scan read by a Qualified Physician, or (z) pathology, in each case showing bilateral interstitial fibrosis, bilateral pleural plaques, bilateral pleural thickening, or bilateral pleural calcification. Evidence submitted to demonstrate (i) or (ii) above must be in the form of a written report stating the results (e.g., an ILO report, a written radiology report or a pathology report). Solely for asbestos claims filed against G-I or another defendant in the tort system prior to the Petition Date, if an ILO reading is not available, either (i) a chest X-ray or a CT scan read by a Qualified Physician or, (ii) pathology, in each case showing bilateral interstitial fibrosis, bilateral pleural plaques, bilateral pleural thickening, or bilateral pleural calcification consistent with, or compatible with, a diagnosis of asbestos-related disease shall be evidence of Bilateral Asbestos-Related Nonmalignant Disease for purposes of meeting the presumptive medical requirements of Disease Levels I, II, III, V and VII. Pathological proof of asbestosis may be based on the pathological grading system for asbestosis described in the Special Issue of the Archives of Pathology and Laboratory Medicine, "Asbestos-associated Diseases," Vol. 106, No. 11, App. 3 (October 8, 1982). "Qualified Physician" is defined in the Trust Distribution Procedures.

[8] As defined in the Trust Distribution Procedures.

		requirements of Lung Cancer (Level VII) claims. All claims in this Disease Level shall be individually evaluated. The estimated likely average of the individual evaluation awards for this category is $15,000, with such awards capped at $35,000, unless the claim qualifies for Extraordinary Claim treatment (described in Section VI.H.17. below). Level VI claims that show no evidence of either an underlying Bilateral Asbestos-Related Non-malignant Disease or Significant Occupational Exposure may be individually evaluated, although it is not expected that such claims shall be treated as having any significant value, especially if the claimant is also a Smoker.[9] In any event, no presumption of validity shall be available for any claims in this category.
Other Cancer (Level V)	$ 15,000	(1) Diagnosis of a primary colo-rectal, laryngeal, esophageal, pharyngeal, or stomach cancer, plus evidence of an underlying Bilateral Asbestos-Related Nonmalignant Disease, (2) six months G-I Exposure prior to December 31, 1982, (3) Significant Occupational Exposure to asbestos, and (4) supporting medical documentation establishing asbestos exposure as a contributing factor in causing the other cancer in question.
Severe Asbestosis (Level IV)	$ 30,000	(1) Diagnosis of asbestosis with ILO of 2/1 or greater, or asbestosis determined by pathological evidence of asbestos, plus (a) TLC less than 65%, or (b) FVC less than 65% and FEV1/FVC ratio greater than 65%, (2) six months G-I Exposure prior to December 31, 1982, (3) Significant Occupational Exposure

[9] There is no distinction between Non-Smokers and Smokers for either Lung Cancer (Level VII) or Lung Cancer (Level VI), although a claimant who meets the more stringent requirements of Lung Cancer (Level VII) (evidence of an underlying Bilateral Asbestos-Related Nonmalignant Disease plus Significant Occupational Exposure) and who is also a Non-Smoker may wish to have his or her claim individually evaluated by the Asbestos Trust. In such a case, absent circumstances that would otherwise reduce the value of the claim, it is anticipated that the liquidated value of the claim might well exceed the $45,000 Scheduled Value for Lung Cancer 1 (Level VII) shown above. "Non-Smoker" means a claimant who either (a) never smoked or (b) has not smoked during any portion of the twelve (12) years immediately prior to the diagnosis of the lung cancer.

		to asbestos, and (4) supporting medical documentation establishing asbestos exposure as a contributing factor in causing the pulmonary disease in question.
Asbestosis/ Pleural Disease (Level III)	$ 8,300	(1) Diagnosis of Bilateral Asbestos-Related Nonmalignant Disease, plus (a) TLC less than 80%, or (b) FVC less than 80% and FEV1/FVC ratio greater than or equal to 65%, and (2) six months G-I Exposure prior to December 31, 1982, (3) Significant Occupational Exposure to asbestos, and (4) supporting medical documentation establishing asbestos exposure as a contributing factor in causing the pulmonary disease in question.
Asbestosis/ Pleural Disease (Level II)	$ 2,625	(1) Diagnosis of a Bilateral Asbestos-Related Nonmalignant Disease, and (2) six months G-I Exposure prior to December 31, 1982, and (3) five years cumulative occupational exposure to asbestos.
Other Asbestos Disease (Level I - Cash Discount Payment)	$ 225	(1) Diagnosis of a Bilateral Asbestos-Related Nonmalignant Disease or an asbestos-related malignancy other than mesothelioma, and (2) G-I Exposure prior to December 31, 1982.

3. Claims Liquidation Procedures

Asbestos Claims will be processed based on their place in a FIFO processing queue ("Asbestos FIFO Processing Queue") to be established pursuant to the Trust Distribution Procedures. The Asbestos Trust will take all reasonable steps to resolve Asbestos Claims as efficiently and expeditiously as possible at each stage of claims processing and arbitration, which steps may include conducting settlement discussions with claimants' representatives with respect to more than one Asbestos Claim at a time, provided that the claimants' respective positions in the Asbestos FIFO Processing Queue are maintained and each Asbestos Claim is individually evaluated pursuant to the valuation factors set forth in the Trust Distribution Procedures. The Asbestos Trust will also make every effort to resolve each year at least that number of Asbestos Claims required to exhaust the maximum annual payment ("Maximum Annual Payment") and the maximum available payment ("Maximum Available Payment") for Category A Claims (as defined in Section VI.H.6. below) and Category B Claims (as defined in Section VI.H.6. below) under the Trust Distribution Procedures.

The Asbestos Trust will liquidate all Asbestos Claims, except Foreign Claims (as defined in the Trust Distribution Procedures), that meet the presumptive Medical/Exposure Criteria of Disease Level I (Other Asbestos Disease — Cash Discount Payment), Disease Level II (Asbestosis/Pleural Disease), Disease Level III (Asbestosis/Pleural Disease), Disease Level IV (Severe Asbestosis), Disease Level V (Other Cancer), Disease Level VII (Lung Cancer 1) and Disease Level VIII (Mesothelioma) under the Expedited Review Process. A holder of an Asbestos Claim qualifying for treatment under Asbestos Disease Level IV, V, VII or VIII may alternatively seek to establish a liquidated value for the Asbestos Claim that is greater than its Scheduled Value by electing the process for individual review under the Trust Distribution Procedures (the "Individual Review Process"). However, the liquidated value of an Asbestos Claim that undergoes the Individual Review Process for valuation purposes may be determined to be less than its Scheduled Value and, in any event, will not exceed the Maximum Value for the relevant Disease Level, unless the Asbestos Claim qualifies as an Extraordinary Claim (as defined in Section VI.H.17. below), in which case its liquidated value cannot exceed the maximum extraordinary value specified in Section VI.H.17. below for Extraordinary Claims. Asbestos Claims qualifying for treatment under Disease Level VI (Lung Cancer 2) and all Foreign Claims may be liquidated only pursuant to Individual Review.

All unresolved disputes over a claimant's medical condition, exposure history and/or the liquidated value of the Asbestos Claim will be subject to mandatory pro bono evaluation or mediation and then to binding or non-binding arbitration at the election of the claimant, under procedures that are provided in Attachment A to the Trust Distribution Procedures. Asbestos Claims that are the subject of a dispute with the Asbestos Trust that cannot be resolved by non-binding arbitration may enter the tort system. However, if and when the holder of such an Asbestos Claim obtains a judgment in the tort system, the judgment will be payable subject to the applicable payment percentage under the Trust Distribution Procedures (the “Payment Percentage”), the Maximum Available Payment and the claims payment ratio under the Trust Distribution Procedures (the “Claims Payment Ratio”).

4. Payment Percentage

After the liquidated value of any Asbestos Claim other than an Asbestos Claim qualifying for treatment under Disease Level I is determined pursuant to the Expedited Review Process, pursuant to the Individual Review Process, by arbitration or by litigation in the tort system as set forth in Trust Distribution Procedures, the holder of such Claim will ultimately receive a pro rata share of that value based on the Payment Percentage. The Payment Percentage will also apply to all Pre-Petition Liquidated Claims.

The Initial Payment Percentage has been set at 8.6%. The Initial Payment Percentage has been calculated on the assumption that the Average Values under the Trust Distribution Procedures will be achieved with respect to existing present Asbestos Claims and projected future Asbestos Claims involving Disease Levels IV-VIII.

The Payment Percentage may be adjusted upwards or downwards from time to time by the Asbestos Trustees with the consent of the Trust Advisory Committee and the Legal Representative to reflect then-current estimates of the Asbestos Trust's assets and its liabilities, as well as the then-estimated value of pending and future Asbestos Claims. If the Payment Percentage is increased over time, holders of Asbestos Claims that were liquidated and paid in prior periods under the Trust Distribution Procedures will receive additional payments only as provided in Section 4.3 of the Trust Distribution Procedures. Because there is uncertainty in the prediction of both the number and severity of future Asbestos Claims and the amount of the Asbestos Trust's assets, no guarantee can be made of any Payment Percentage of an Asbestos Claim's liquidated value.

5. Maximum Annual Payment and Maximum Available Payment

The Asbestos Trust will estimate or model the amount of cash flow anticipated to be necessary over its entire life to ensure that funds will be available to treat all present and future holders of Asbestos Claims as similarly as possible. In each year the Asbestos Trust will be empowered to pay out all of the income earned during the year (net of taxes payable with respect thereto), together with a portion of its principal, calculated so that the application of Asbestos Trust funds over its life will correspond with the needs created by the estimated initial backlog of Asbestos Claims and the estimated anticipated future flow of Asbestos Claims (i.e., the Maximum Annual Payment), taking into account the Payment Percentage provisions of the Trust Distribution Procedures. The Asbestos Trust's distributions to all claimants for that year will not exceed the Maximum Annual Payment determined for that year.

In distributing the Maximum Annual Payment, the Asbestos Trust will first allocate the amount in question to (a) outstanding Pre-Petition Liquidated Claims, (b) Asbestos Claims involving Disease Level I (Cash Discount Payment) that have been liquidated by the Asbestos Trust, (c) any Asbestos Claims based upon a diagnosis dated prior to the Effective Date that have been liquidated by the Asbestos Trust ("Existing Claims") and (d) Exigent Hardship Claims (as defined in Section VI.H.17. below). Should the Maximum Annual Payment be insufficient to pay all such claims in full, they shall be paid in proportion to the aggregate value of each such group of claims and the available funds allocated to each group shall be paid to the maximum extent to claimants in the particular group based on their place in their respective FIFO payment queue ("Asbestos FIFO Payment Queue"). Claims in any group for which there are insufficient funds shall be carried over to the next year and placed at the head of their Asbestos FIFO Payment Queue. Any remaining portion of the Maximum Annual Payment (i.e., the Maximum Available Payment) will then be allocated and used to satisfy all other liquidated Asbestos Claims, subject to the Claims Payment Ratio. Claims in the groups described in (a), (b), (c) and (d) above shall not be subject to the Claims Payment Ratio.

6. Claims Payment Ratio

Based upon G-I's claims settlement history and analysis of present and future Asbestos Claims, a Claims Payment Ratio has been determined which, as of the Effective Date, has been set at 85% for Asbestos Claims qualifying for treatment under Asbestos Disease Level IV - VIII ("Category A Claims") and at 15% for Asbestos Claims qualifying for treatment under Asbestos Disease Level II or III ("Category B Claims"). In each year, after the determination of the Maximum Available Payment, 85% of that amount will be available to pay Category A Claims and 15% will be available to pay Category B Claims that have been liquidated since the Petition Date, except for claims that are not subject to the Claims Payment Ratio as described above. If there are excess funds in either or both Categories in any year, the excess funds shall be rolled over and shall remain dedicated to the respective Category to which they were originally allocated.

No amendment to the Claims Payment Ratio to reduce the percentage allocated to Category A Claims may be made without the unanimous consent of the members of the Trust Advisory Committee and the consent of the Legal Representative. The Claims Payment Ratio may not be amended until the second anniversary of the date the Asbestos Trust first accepts for processing proof of claim forms and other materials required to file a claim with the Asbestos Trust. The Asbestos Trustees, with the consent of the Trust Advisory Committee and the Legal Representative, may offer the option of a reduced Payment Percentage to holders of either Category A Claims or Category B Claims in return for more prompt payment.

7. Indirect Trust Claims

Indirect Trust Claims that have not been disallowed, discharged, or otherwise resolved by prior order of the Bankruptcy Court shall be processed in accordance with procedures to be developed and implemented by the Asbestos Trustees, which procedures (a) shall determine the validity, allowability and enforceability of such claims; and (b) shall otherwise provide the same liquidation and payment procedures and rights to the holders of such claims as the Asbestos Trust would have afforded the holders of the underlying valid Asbestos Claims, while protecting the Asbestos Trust from incurring multiple liability with respect to the same claim.

Indirect Trust Claims asserted against the Asbestos Trust shall be treated as presumptively valid and paid by the Asbestos Trust subject to the applicable Payment Percentage if (a) such claim satisfied the requirements of the Bar Date for such claims established by the Bankruptcy Court, if applicable, and is not otherwise disallowed by section 502(e) of the Bankruptcy Code or subordinated under Section 509(c) of the Bankruptcy Code, and, and (b) the holder of such claim (the "Indirect Claimant") establishes to the satisfaction of the Asbestos Trustees that (i) the Indirect Claimant has paid in full the liability and obligation of the Asbestos Trust to the individual claimant to whom the Asbestos Trust would otherwise have had a liability or obligation under the Trust Distribution Procedures (the "Direct Claimant"), (ii) the Direct Claimant and the Indirect Claimant have forever and fully released the Asbestos Trust from all liability to the Direct Claimant, and (iii) the claim is not otherwise barred by a statute of limitation or repose or by other applicable law.

If an Indirect Claimant cannot meet the presumptive requirements set forth above, the Indirect Claimant may request that the Asbestos Trust review the Indirect Trust Claim individually. Any dispute between the Asbestos Trust and an Indirect Claimant over whether the Indirect Claimant has a right to reimbursement for any amount paid to a Direct Claimant shall be subject to the ADR Procedures provided in Attachment A to the Trust Distribution Procedures. If such dispute is not resolved by said ADR Procedures, the Indirect Claimant may litigate the dispute in the tort system as provided in the Trust Distribution Procedures.

8. Ordering of Claims

The Asbestos Trust will order Asbestos Claims that are sufficiently complete to be reviewed for processing purposes on a FIFO basis (i.e., by reference to a claimants' position in the Asbestos FIFO Processing Queue) except as otherwise provided in the Trust Distribution Procedures. For all Asbestos Claims filed on or before the date six months after the date that the Asbestos Trust first makes available the proof of claim forms and other claims materials required to file an Asbestos Claim with the Asbestos Trust (the "Initial Claims Filing Date"), a claimant's position in the Asbestos FIFO Processing Queue will be determined as of the earliest of (a) the date prior to January 5, 2001 (the "Petition Date") that the specific Asbestos Claim was either filed against G-I in the tort system or was actually submitted to G-I pursuant to an administrative settlement agreement, if any, (b) the date before the Petition Date that an Asbestos Claim was filed against another defendant in the tort system if at the time the Asbestos Claim was subject to a tolling agreement with G-I, (c) the date after the Petition Date but before the date the Asbestos Trust first makes available the proof of claim form and other claims material required to file an Asbestos Claim with the Asbestos Trust that the Asbestos Claim was filed against another defendant in the tort system, (d) the date after the Petition Date but before the Effective Date that a proof of Claim was filed against G-I in the Chapter 11 Cases, or (e) the date a Ballot was submitted on behalf of the claimant in the Chapter 11 Cases for purposes of voting on the Plan in accordance with the voting procedures approved by the Bankruptcy Court.

Following the Initial Claims Filing Date, the claimant's position in the Asbestos FIFO Processing Queue will be determined by the date the Asbestos Claim is filed with the Asbestos Trust. If any Asbestos Claims are filed on the same date, the claimant's position in the Asbestos FIFO Processing Queue will be determined by the date of the diagnosis of the claimant's asbestos-related disease. If any Asbestos Claims are filed and diagnosed on the same date, the claimant's position in the Asbestos FIFO Processing Queue will be determined by the date of the claimant's birth, with older claimants given priority over younger claimants.

9. Payment of Claims

Asbestos Claims that have been liquidated pursuant to the Expedited Review Process, pursuant to the Individual Review Process, by arbitration or by litigation in the tort system will be paid in FIFO order based on the date their liquidation became final, all such payments being subject to the applicable Payment Percentage, the Maximum Available Payment and the Claims Payment Ratio, except as otherwise provided in the Trust Distribution Procedures.

10. Resolution of Pre-Petition Liquidated Claims

As soon as practicable after the Effective Date, the Asbestos Trust will, upon submission by the claimant of the appropriate documentation, pay all Asbestos Claims that were liquidated by (a) a binding settlement agreement for the particular claim entered into prior to the Petition Date that is judicially enforceable by the claimant, (b) a jury verdict or non-final judgment in the tort system obtained prior to the Petition Date, or (c) by a judgment that became final and non-appealable prior to the Petition Date (collectively, "Pre-Petition Liquidated Claims"). In order to receive payment from the Asbestos Trust, the holder of a Pre-Petition Liquidated Claim must submit all documentation necessary to demonstrate to the Asbestos Trust that the claim was liquidated in the manner described in the preceding sentence, which documentation shall include (A) a court authenticated copy of the jury verdict (if applicable), a non-final judgment (if applicable) or a final judgment (if applicable) and (B) the name, social security number and date of birth of the claimant and the name and address of the claimant's lawyer.

The liquidated value of a Pre-Petition Liquidated Claim will be the unpaid portion of the amount agreed to in the binding settlement agreement, the unpaid portion of the amount awarded by the jury verdict or non-final judgment or the unpaid portion of the amount of the final judgment, as the case may be, plus interest that has accrued on that amount in accordance with the terms of the agreement, if any, or under applicable state law for settlements or judgments as of the Petition Date; however, except as otherwise provided below, the liquidated value of a Pre-Petition Liquidated Claim will not include any punitive or exemplary damages. In the absence of a final order of the Bankruptcy Court determining whether a settlement agreement is binding and judicially enforceable, a dispute between the claimant and the Asbestos Trust over this issue will be resolved pursuant to the same procedures in the Trust Distribution Procedures that are provided for resolving the validity and/or liquidated value of an Asbestos Claim.

Pre-Petition Liquidated Claims will be processed and paid in accordance with their order in a separate Asbestos FIFO Processing Queue to be established by the Asbestos Trustees based on the date the Asbestos Trust received all required documentation for the particular claim. If any Pre-Petition Liquidated Claims were filed on the same date, the respective positions of the holders of such claims in the Asbestos FIFO Processing Queue for such claims will be determined by the date on which each claim was liquidated. If any Pre-Petition Liquidated Claims were both filed and liquidated on the same dates, the positions of those claimants in the Asbestos FIFO Processing Queue will be determined by the claimants' dates of birth, with older claimants given priority over younger claimants.

11. Resolution of Unliquidated Claims

Within six months after the establishment of the Asbestos Trust, the Asbestos Trustees with the consent of the Trust Advisory Committee and the Legal Representative will adopt procedures for reviewing and liquidating all unliquidated Asbestos Claims, which will include deadlines for processing such claims. Such procedures will also require claimants seeking resolution of unliquidated Asbestos Claims to first file a proof of claim form, together with the required supporting documentation. It is anticipated that the Asbestos Trust will provide an initial response to the claimant within six months of receiving the proof of claim form.

12. Expedited Review Process

The Asbestos Trust's Expedited Review Process is designed primarily to provide an expeditious, efficient and inexpensive method for liquidating all Asbestos Claims (except those claims qualifying for treatment under Disease Level VI and all Foreign Claims, which will be liquidated pursuant to the Individual Review Process) where the claim can easily be verified by the Asbestos Trust as meeting the presumptive Medical/Exposure Criteria for the relevant Disease Level. Expedited Review thus provides claimants with a substantially less burdensome process for pursuing Asbestos Claims than does Individual Review. Expedited Review is also intended to provide qualifying claimants a fixed and certain claims payment.

Asbestos Claims that undergo the Expedited Review Process and meet the presumptive Medical/Exposure Criteria for the relevant Disease Level will be paid the Scheduled Value for such Disease Level. However, except for Asbestos Claims qualifying for treatment under Disease Level I, all Asbestos Claims liquidated pursuant to the Expedited Review Process will be subject to the applicable Payment Percentage, and all such claims other than (i) claims qualifying for treatment under Disease Level I, (ii) Existing Claims and (iii) Exigent Hardship Claims will be subject to the Maximum Available Payment and the Claims Payment Ratio. Claimants holding claims that cannot be liquidated by Expedited Review because they do not meet the presumptive Medical/Exposure Criteria for the relevant Disease Level may elect Individual Review.

13. Claims Processing Under Expedited Review

All claimants seeking liquidation of their Asbestos Claims pursuant to the Expedited Review Process must file the Asbestos Trust's proof of claim form. As a proof of claim form is reached in the Asbestos FIFO Processing Queue, the Asbestos Trust will determine whether the claim described therein meets the Medical/Exposure Criteria for one of the seven Disease Levels eligible for Expedited Review and will advise the claimant of its determination. If a Disease Level is determined to be applicable to a claim, the Asbestos Trust will tender to the claimant an offer of payment of the Scheduled Value for the relevant Disease Level multiplied by the applicable Payment Percentage, together with a form of release approved by the Asbestos Trust. If the claimant accepts the Scheduled Value and returns the release properly executed, the claim will be placed in the Asbestos FIFO Payment Queue, following which the Asbestos Trust will disburse payment subject to the limitations of the Maximum Available Payment and Claims Payment Ratio, if any.

14. Individual Review Process

The Asbestos Trust's Individual Review Process provides a claimant with an opportunity for individual consideration and evaluation of an Asbestos Claim that fails to meet the presumptive Medical/Exposure Criteria for Disease Level I, II, III, IV, V, VII or VIII. In such case, the Asbestos Trust will either deny the claim or, if the Asbestos Trust is satisfied that the claimant has presented an Asbestos Claim that would be cognizable and valid in the tort system, the Asbestos Trust can offer the claimant a liquidated value amount up to the Scheduled Value for that Disease Level.

Claimants holding Asbestos Claims qualifying for treatment under Asbestos Disease Level IV, V, VII or VIII will also be eligible to seek Individual Review of the liquidated value of their claims, as well as of their medical/exposure evidence. Individual Review is intended to result in payments equal to the full liquidated value for each Asbestos Claim multiplied by the Payment Percentage, except that the liquidated value of any Asbestos Claim that undergoes Individual Review may be determined to be less than the Scheduled Value the claimant would have received under Expedited Review. Moreover, the liquidated value for an Asbestos Claim qualifying for treatment under Disease Level IV, V, VI, VII or VIII will not exceed the Maximum Value for the relevant Disease Level set forth below, unless the claim meets the requirements of an Extraordinary Claim, in which case its liquidated value cannot exceed the maximum extraordinary value set forth in Section VI.H.17. below for such claims. Because the detailed examination and valuation process pursuant to Individual Review requires substantial time and effort, claimants electing to undergo Individual Review may be paid the liquidated value of their Asbestos Claims later than would have been the case had the claimant elected Expedited Review. Subject to the claims audit program provision of the Trust Distribution Procedures, the Asbestos Trust will devote reasonable resources to the review of all Asbestos Claims to ensure that there is a reasonable balance maintained in reviewing all classes of claims.

15. Valuation Factors To Be Considered in Individual Review

The Asbestos Trust will liquidate the value of each Asbestos Claim that undergoes Individual Review based on the historic liquidated values of other similarly situated claims in the tort system for the same Disease Level. The Asbestos Trust will, thus, take into consideration all of the factors that affect the severity of damages and values within the tort system, including but not limited to, credible evidence of (a) the degree to which the characteristics of a claim differ from the presumptive Medical/Exposure Criteria for the Disease Level in question, (b) factors such as the claimant's age, disability, employment status, disruption of household, family or recreational activities, dependencies, special damages and pain and suffering, (c) whether the claimant's damages were (or were not) caused by asbestos exposure, including exposure to an asbestos-containing product for which G-I has legal responsibility prior to December 31, 1982 (e.g., alternative causes and the strength of documentation of injuries), (d) the industry of exposure, (e) settlements and verdict histories and other law firms' experiences in the Claimant's Jurisdiction (as defined in the Trust Distribution Procedures) for similarly situated claims; and (f) settlement and verdict histories for the claimant's law firm for similarly situated claims.

16. Scheduled, Average and Maximum Values

The Scheduled, Average and Maximum Values for the Disease Levels compensable under the Trust Distribution Procedures are the following:

Disease Level	Scheduled Value	Average Value	Maximum Value
Level VIII (Mesothelioma)	$155,000	$225,000	$450,000
Level VII (Lung Cancer 1)	$45,000	$55,000	$100,000
Level VI (Lung Cancer 2)	None	$15,000	$35,000
Level V (Other Cancer)	$15,000	$18,000	$35,000
Level IV (Severe Asbestosis)	$30,000	$35,000	$50,000
Level III (Asbestosis/Pleural Disease)	$8,300	None	None
Level II (Asbestosis/Pleural Disease)	$2,625	None	None
Level I (Other Asbestos Disease — Cash Discount Payment)	$225	None	None

These Scheduled Values, Average Values and Maximum Values will apply to all PI Trust Voting Claims, other than Pre-Petition Liquidated Claims, filed with the Asbestos Trust on or before the Initial Claims Filing Date. Thereafter, the Asbestos Trust, with the consent of the Trust Advisory Committee and the Legal Representative, shall periodically adjust these valuation amounts to account for inflation and otherwise may adjust the values for good cause and consistent with other restrictions on the amendment power.

17. Extraordinary and/or Exigent Hardship Claims

For purposes of the Trust Distribution Procedures, "Extraordinary Claim" means an Asbestos Claim that otherwise satisfies the medical criteria for Disease Level IV, V, VI, VII or VIII and that is held by a claimant whose exposure to asbestos (a) occurred predominately as the result of working in a manufacturing facility of G-I during a period in which G-I was manufacturing asbestos-containing products at that facility or (b) was at least 75% the result of exposure to asbestos or an asbestos-containing product or to conduct for which G-I has legal responsibility and, in either case, there is little likelihood of a substantial recovery elsewhere. All such Extraordinary Claims will be presented for Individual Review and, if valid, will be entitled to an award of up to a maximum extraordinary value of five times the Scheduled Value for claims qualifying for treatment under Disease Level IV, V, VII or VIII, and five times the Average Value, for claims qualifying for treatment under Disease Level VI, in each case multiplied by the applicable Payment Percentage.

Any dispute as to Extraordinary Claim status will be submitted to a special "Extraordinary Claims Panel" established by the Asbestos Trustees with the consent of the Trust Advisory Committee and the Legal Representative. All decisions of such panel will be final and not subject to any further administrative or judicial review. An Extraordinary Claim, following its liquidation, will be placed in the Asbestos FIFO Payment Queue ahead of all other Asbestos Claims (except Pre-Petition Liquidated Claims, Claims qualifying for treatment under Disease Level I, Existing Claims and Exigent Hardship Claims, which will be paid first) based on its date of liquidation and will be subject to the Maximum Available Payment and Claims Payment Ratio described above unless otherwise provided above.

At any time the Asbestos Trust may liquidate and pay Asbestos Claims that qualify as Exigent Hardship Claims. Such claims may be considered separately regardless of the order of processing that otherwise would have been under the Trust Distribution Procedures. An Exigent Hardship Claim, following its liquidation, will be placed first in the Asbestos FIFO Payment Queue ahead of all other liquidated Asbestos Claims (except Pre-Petition Liquidated Claims, Claims qualifying for treatment under Asbestos Disease Level I and Existing Claims). For purposes of the Trust Distribution Procedures, an Asbestos Claim is an "Exigent Hardship Claim" if it meets the Medical/Exposure Criteria for Disease Level IV, V, VI, VII or VIII and the Asbestos Trust, in its sole discretion, determines (a) that the claimant needs financial assistance on an immediate basis based on the claimant's expenses and all sources of available income and (b) that there is a causal connection between the claimant's dire financial condition and the claimant's asbestos-related disease.

18. Secondary Exposure Claims

If a claimant alleges an asbestos-related disease resulting solely from exposure to an occupationally-exposed person, such as a family member, the claimant must seek Individual Review of his or her Asbestos Claim. The proof of claim form will contain an additional section for Secondary Exposure Claims (as defined in the Trust Distribution Procedures). All other liquidation and payment rights and limitations under the Trust Distribution Procedures will be applicable to such claims.

19. Evidentiary Requirements

a. Medical Evidence

All diagnoses of a Disease Level shall be accompanied by either (i) a statement by the physician providing the diagnosis that at least ten (10) years have elapsed between the date of first exposure to asbestos or asbestos-containing products and the diagnosis, or (ii) a history of the claimant's exposure sufficient to establish a ten (10)-year latency period. A finding by a physician after the Effective Date that a claimant's disease is "consistent with" or "compatible with" asbestosis shall not alone be treated by the Asbestos Trust as a diagnosis.[10]

Except for claims filed against G-I or any other defendant in the tort system prior to the Petition Date, all diagnoses of a non-malignant asbestos-related disease (Disease Levels I-IV) shall be based in the case of a claimant who was living at the time the claim was filed, upon a physical examination of the claimant by the physician providing the diagnosis of the asbestos-related disease. All living claimants must also provide (i) for Disease Levels I - III, evidence of Bilateral Asbestos-Related Nonmalignant Disease (as defined in Footnote 5 above); (ii) for Disease Level IV, an ILO reading of 2/1 or greater or pathological evidence of asbestosis, and (iii) for Disease Levels III and IV, pulmonary function testing.[11]

In the case of a claimant who was deceased at the time the claim was filed, all diagnoses of a non-malignant asbestos-related disease (Disease Levels I-IV) shall be based upon either (i) a physical examination of the claimant by the physician providing the diagnosis of the asbestos-related disease; or (ii) pathological evidence of the non-malignant asbestos-related disease; or (iii) in the case of Disease Levels I-III, evidence of Bilateral Asbestos-Related Nonmalignant Disease (as defined in Footnote 5 above), and for Disease Level IV, either an ILO reading of 2/1 or greater or pathological evidence of asbestosis; and (iv) for either Disease Level III or IV, pulmonary function testing.

All diagnoses of an asbestos-related malignancy (Disease Levels V–VIII) shall be based upon either (i) a physical examination of the claimant by the physician providing the diagnosis of the asbestos-related disease, or (ii) on a diagnosis of such a malignant Disease Level by a board-certified pathologist or by a pathology report prepared at or on behalf of a hospital accredited by the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Healthcare Organizations ("JCAHO").

If the holder of an Asbestos Claim that was filed against G-I or any other defendant in the tort system prior to the Petition Date has available a report of a diagnosing physician engaged by the holder or his or her law firm who conducted a physical examination of the holder as described above, or if the holder has filed such medical evidence and/or a diagnosis of the asbestos-related disease by a physician not engaged by the holder or his or her law firm who conducted a physical examination of the holder with another asbestos-related personal injury settlement trust that requires such evidence, without regard to whether the claimant or the law firm engaged the diagnosing physician, then the holder shall provide such diagnosis to the Asbestos Trust notwithstanding the exception described above.

b. Credibility of Medical Evidence

Before making any payment to a claimant, the Asbestos Trust must have reasonable confidence that the medical and exposure evidence provided in support of the claim is credible and consistent with recognized medical standards. The Asbestos Trust may require the submission of X-rays,

[10] All diagnoses of Asbestosis/Pleural Disease (Disease Levels II and III) not based on pathology shall be presumed to be based on findings of bilateral asbestosis or pleural disease, and all diagnoses of Mesothelioma (Disease Level VIII) shall be presumed to be based on findings that the disease involves a malignancy. However, the Asbestos Trust may refute such presumptions.

[11] "Pulmonary function testing" or "PFT" shall mean testing that is in material compliance with the quality criteria established by the American Thoracic Society ("ATS") and is performed on equipment which is in material compliance with ATS standards for technical quality and calibration. PFT performed in a hospital accredited by the JCAHO, or performed, reviewed or supervised by a board certified pulmonologist or other Qualified Physician shall be presumed to comply with ATS standards, and the claimant may submit a summary report of the testing. If the PFT was not performed in a JCAHO accredited hospital, or performed, reviewed or supervised by a board certified pulmonologist or other Qualified Physician, the claimant must submit the full report of the testing (as opposed to a summary report); provided, however that if the PFT was conducted prior to the Effective Date of the Plan and the full PFT report is not available, the claimant must submit a declaration signed by a Qualified Physician or other qualified party, in the form provided by the Asbestos Trust, certifying that the PFT was conducted in material compliance with ATS standards.

CT scans, detailed results of pulmonary function tests, laboratory tests, tissue samples, results of medical examination or reviews of other medical evidence and may require that medical evidence submitted comply with recognized medical standards regarding equipment, testing methods and procedures to assure that such evidence is reliable. Medical evidence (i) that is of a kind shown to have been received in evidence by a state or federal judge at trial, (ii) that is consistent with evidence submitted to G-I to settle for payment similar disease cases prior to G-I's bankruptcy, or (iii) that is a diagnosis by a physician shown to have previously qualified as a medical expert with respect to the asbestos-related disease in question before a state or federal judge, is presumptively reliable, although the Asbestos Trust may seek to rebut the presumption.

In addition, claimants who otherwise meet the requirements of the Trust Distribution Procedures for payment of an Asbestos Claim shall be paid irrespective of the results in any litigation at any time between the claimant and any other defendant in the tort system. However, any relevant evidence submitted in a proceeding in the tort system, other than any findings of fact, a verdict, or a judgment, involving another defendant may be introduced by either the claimant or the Asbestos Trust in any Individual Review proceeding or any Extraordinary Claim proceeding conducted by the Asbestos Trust.

c. Exposure Evidence

To qualify for any Disease Level the claimant must demonstrate a minimum exposure to an asbestos-containing product manufactured, produced or distributed by G-I or to conduct for which G-I has legal responsibility. Claims based on conspiracy theories that involve no exposure to an asbestos-containing product manufactured, produced or distributed by G-I are not compensable under the Trust Distribution Procedures. To meet the presumptive exposure requirements of Expedited Review, the claimant must show (i) for all Disease Levels, G-I Exposure prior to December 31, 1982, (ii) for Asbestos/Pleural Disease Level II, six (6)-months G-I Exposure prior to December 31, 1982, plus five (5) years cumulative occupational asbestos exposure; and (iii) for Asbestosis/Pleural Disease (Disease Level III), Severe Asbestosis (Disease Level IV), Other Cancer (Disease Level V), or Lung Cancer 1 (Disease Level VII), the claimant must show six (6)-months G-I Exposure prior to December 31, 1982, plus Significant Occupational Exposure to asbestos. If the claimant cannot meet the relevant presumptive exposure requirements for a Disease Level eligible for Expedited Review, the claimant may seek Individual Review of his or her claim based on exposure to asbestos or an asbestos-containing product or to conduct for which G-I has legal responsibility.

The claimant must demonstrate (a) meaningful and credible exposure, which occurred prior to December 31, 1982, to asbestos or asbestos-containing products supplied, specified, manufactured, installed, maintained, or repaired by G-I and/or any entity for which G-I has legal responsibility. That meaningful and credible exposure evidence may be established by an affidavit or sworn statement of the claimant; by an affidavit or sworn statement of a co-worker or the affidavit or sworn statement of a family member in the case of a deceased claimant (providing the Asbestos Trust finds such evidence reasonably reliable); by invoices, employment, construction or similar records; or by other credible evidence. The specific exposure information required by the Asbestos Trust to process a claim under either Expedited or Individual Review shall be set forth on the proof of claim form to be used by the Asbestos Trust. The Asbestos Trust can also require submission of other or additional evidence of exposure when it deems such to be necessary.

20. Second Disease (Malignancy) Claims

Notwithstanding the provision of the Trust Distribution Procedures stating that a claimant may not assert more than one Asbestos Claim thereunder, the holder of an Asbestos Claim involving a non-malignant asbestos-related disease (i.e., a claim qualifying for treatment under Disease Level I, II, III or IV) may assert a new Asbestos Claim against the Asbestos Trust for a malignant disease (i.e., a claim qualifying for treatment under Disease Level V, VI, VII or VIII) that is subsequently diagnosed.

21. Punitive Damages

Except as provided in the Trust Distribution Procedures for Asbestos Claims asserted under the Alabama Wrongful Death Statute, in determining the value of any liquidated or unliquidated Asbestos Claim, punitive or exemplary damages (i.e., any damages other than compensatory damages) will not be considered or allowed, notwithstanding their availability in the tort system.

22. Suits in the Tort System

If the holder of an Asbestos Claim disagrees with the Asbestos Trust's determination regarding the Disease Level of the claim, the claimant's exposure history or the liquidated value of the claim and, if the holder has first submitted the claim to non-binding arbitration, the holder may file a lawsuit in the Claimant's Jurisdiction. Any such lawsuit must be filed by the claimant in her or her own right and name and not as a member or representative of a class and no such lawsuit may be consolidated with any other lawsuit. All defenses (including, with respect to the Asbestos Trust, all defenses which could have been asserted by G-I) will be available to both sides at trial, except that the Asbestos Trust may waive any defense and/or concede any issue of fact or law. If the claimant was alive at the time the initial pre-petition complaint was filed or on the date the proof of claim was filed with the Asbestos Trust, the case will be treated as a personal injury case with all personal injury damages to be considered even if the claimant has died during the pendency of the claim.

VII. MEANS OF IMPLEMENTATION

A METHOD OF DISTRIBUTION UNDER THE PLAN

1. Distributions

One of the key concepts under the Bankruptcy Code is that only claims and equity interests that are "allowed" may receive distributions under a chapter 11 plan. This term is used throughout the Plan and the descriptions below. In general, an "allowed" claim or an "allowed" equity interest simply means that the debtor agrees, or in the event of a dispute, that the bankruptcy court determines, that the claim or interest, and the amount thereof, is in fact a valid obligation of the debtor.

Any Claim that is not a Disputed Claim and for which a proof of claim has been filed is an Allowed Claim. Any Claim that has been listed by any Debtor in such Debtors' schedules of assets and liabilities, as may be amended from time to time, as liquidated in amount and not disputed or contingent is an Allowed Claim in the amount listed in the schedules unless an objection to such Claim has been filed. If the holder of such Claim files a proof of claim in an amount different than the amount set forth on the Debtors' schedules of assets and liabilities, the Claim is an Allowed Claim for the lower of the amount set forth on the Debtors' schedules of assets and liabilities and on the proof of claim and a Disputed Claim for the difference. Any Claim that has been listed in the Debtors' schedules of assets and liabilities as disputed, contingent, or not liquidated and for which a proof of claim has been timely filed is a Disputed Claim. Any Claim for which an objection has been timely interposed is a Disputed Claim. For an explanation of how Disputed Claims will be determined, see Section VII(A)(15).

Except as set forth above, all Distributions under the Plan shall be made by the Disbursing Agent. At the option of the Debtors, any Cash payment to be made under the Plan may be made by a check or wire transfer. Unless the Entity receiving a payment agrees otherwise, any payment in Cash to be made by the Disbursing Agent shall be made by check drawn on a domestic bank or by wire transfer from a domestic bank; provided, however, that no cash payment of less than one hundred dollars ($100) shall be made to a holder of an Allowed Claim unless a request therefor is made in writing to the Reorganized Debtors.

To the extent that any Allowed Claim entitled to a distribution under the Plan consists of indebtedness and accrued but unpaid interest thereon, such distribution shall be allocated first to the principal amount of the Claim (as determined for federal income tax purposes) and then, to the extent the consideration exceeds the principal amount of the Claim, to accrued but unpaid interest.

2. Disbursing Agent

All Distributions under the Plan shall be made by the Disbursing Agent.

3. Delivery of Distributions

Pursuant to the Plan, whenever any Distribution to be made under the Plan shall be due on a day other than a Business Day, such Distribution shall instead be made, without interest, on the immediately succeeding Business Day, but shall be deemed to have been made on the date due. The Distributions shall be made to the holders of Allowed Claims as of the Record Date and the Debtors and the Reorganized Debtors shall have no obligation to recognize any transfer of a Claim occurring after the Record Date.

4. Distribution Deadlines

Any Distribution to be made by the Disbursing Agent pursuant to the Plan shall be deemed to have been timely made if made within twenty (20) days after the time therefor specified in the Plan or such other agreements. No interest shall accrue or be paid with respect to any Distribution as a consequence of such Distribution not having been made on the Effective Date.

5. Distributions with Respect to Allowed Claims

Subject to Bankruptcy Rule 9010, all Distributions under the Plan to holders of Allowed Claims in Classes 3A, 3B, 5 and 7 shall be made by the Disbursing Agent to the holder of each Allowed Claim in such Classes at the address of such holder as listed on the Schedules as of the Record Date, unless the Debtors or, on and after the Effective Date, the Reorganized Debtors have been notified in writing of a change of address, including, without limitation, by the timely filing of a proof of claim by such holder that provides an address for such holder different from the address reflected on the Schedules. If any Distribution to any such holder is returned as undeliverable, the Disbursing Agent shall use reasonable efforts to determine the current address of such holder, but no Distribution to such holder shall be made unless and until the Disbursing Agent has determined the then current address of such holder, at which time such Distribution shall be made to such holder without interest; provided, however, that, at the expiration of one (1) year from the Effective Date such undeliverable Distributions shall be deemed unclaimed property and shall be treated in accordance with Section 5.7 of the Plan.

6. Responsibility for Transfers and Distributions

The Plan Sponsor and Reorganized Debtors (as applicable) and only the Plan Sponsor and Reorganized Debtors shall be responsible for Distributions required by the Plan. The Asbestos Trust and only the Asbestos Trust shall be responsible for resolving and paying Class 6 Claims and Demands in accordance with the Asbestos Trust Agreement and the Asbestos Trust Distribution Procedures.

7. Manner of Payment Under the Plan

Unless the Entity receiving a payment agrees otherwise, any payment in Cash to be made by the Disbursing Agent shall be made by check drawn on a domestic bank or by wire transfer from a domestic bank; provided, however, that no Cash payment of less than one hundred dollars ($100) shall be made to a holder of an Allowed Claim unless a request therefor is made in writing to the Reorganized Debtors.

8. Unclaimed Property

a. Plan Distributions

All Distributions under the Plan that are unclaimed for a period of one (1) year after distribution thereof shall be deemed unclaimed property under section 347(b) of the Bankruptcy Code and shall revest in the Reorganized Debtors, and any entitlement of any holder of any Claim to such Distributions shall be extinguished and forever barred.

b. 1989 LBO Transactions

Any unclaimed, un-cashed, or undeliverable Cash or check previously earmarked or tendered for the redemption of certain Equity Interests relating to the 1989 LBO Transaction, which Cash or checks G-I currently holds or has remitted to an appropriate state agency, and as to which such Equity Interests remain un-tendered by their holders, shall be deemed unclaimed property under section 347(b) of the Bankruptcy Code and shall revest in the Reorganized Debtors, and any entitlement of any holder of any Claim to such Cash or checks shall be extinguished and forever barred.

9. Time Bar to Cash Payments

Checks issued by the Disbursing Agent for Distributions on account of Allowed Claims shall be null and void if not negotiated within ninety (90) days from and after the date of issuance thereof. Requests for re-issuance of any check shall be made directly to the Disbursing Agent by the holder of the Allowed Claim with respect to which such check originally was issued. Any claim in respect of such a voided check shall be made on or before the later of (a) the first (1st) anniversary of the Effective Date or (b) ninety (90) days after the date of issuance of such check, if such check represents a final Distribution hereunder on account of such Claim. After such date, all Claims in respect of voided checks shall be discharged and forever barred and the Reorganized Debtors shall retain all monies related thereto.

10. Distributions After Effective Date

Distributions made after the Effective Date to holders of Claims that are not Allowed Claims as of the Effective Date, but which later become Allowed Claims, shall be deemed to have been made in accordance with the terms and provisions of the Plan.

11. Setoffs

The Reorganized Debtors may, but shall not be required to, pursuant to applicable non-bankruptcy law, set off against any Allowed Claim and the Distributions to be made pursuant to the Plan on account thereof (before any Distribution is made on account of such Claim), the claims, rights, and causes of action of any nature that the Debtors' estates or the Reorganized Debtors hold against the holder of such Allowed Claim (other than an Asbestos Claim); provided, however, that neither the failure to effect such a setoff nor the allowance of any Claim hereunder shall constitute a waiver or release by the Debtors, Debtors-in-Possession or the Reorganized Debtors of any such claims, rights and causes of action that the Debtors, Debtors-in-Possession or the Reorganized Debtors may possess against such holder.

12. Cancellation of Existing Securities And Agreements

On the Effective Date, any document, agreement, or instrument evidencing any Claim or Equity Interest, other than an Asbestos Claim or any Claim that is unimpaired by the Plan, shall be deemed cancelled without further act or action under any applicable agreement, law, regulation, order, or rule, and the obligations of the Debtors under such documents, agreements, or instruments evidencing such Claims and Equity Interests, as the case may be, shall be discharged; provided, however, that each Asbestos Claim (other than any Demand) shall be discharged as to the Reorganized Debtors, and all Asbestos Claims (including all Demands) shall be subject to the Asbestos Permanent Channeling Injunction.

13. Payment of Interest on Allowed Claims

Interest shall be paid on Allowed Claims only to the extent the payment of interest is provided for by a contractual agreement between the Debtors and the holder of any such Allowed Claim.

14. Allocation of Plan Distributions Between Principal and Interest

To the extent that any Allowed Claim entitled to a distribution under the Plan is comprised of indebtedness and accrued but unpaid interest thereon, such distribution shall be allocated first to the principal amount of the Claim (as determined for federal income tax purposes) and then, to the extent the consideration exceeds the principal amount of the Claim, to accrued but unpaid interest.

15. Procedures for Treating Disputed Claims Under the Plan

a. Disputed Claims

A Disputed Claim ("Disputed Claim") is a Claim that is not an Allowed Claim, a Disallowed Claim, or an Asbestos Claim, and is any Claim, proof of which was filed, or an Administrative Expense Claim or other Claim, which is the subject of a dispute under the Plan or as to which Claim the Debtors have interposed a timely objection and/or a request for estimation in accordance with section 502(c) of the Bankruptcy Code and Bankruptcy Rule 3018 or other applicable law, which objection and/or request for estimation has not been withdrawn or determined by a Final Order, and any Claim, proof of which was required to be filed by order of the Bankruptcy Court, but as to which a proof of claim was not timely or properly filed.

A Claim for which a proof of claim has been filed but that is listed on the Debtors' schedules of assets and liabilities as unliquidated, disputed or contingent, and which has not yet been resolved by the parties or by the Bankruptcy Court, is a Disputed Claim. If a holder of a Claim has filed a proof of claim that is inconsistent with the Claim as listed on the Debtors' schedules of assets and liabilities, such Claim is a Disputed Claim to the extent of the difference between the amount set forth in the proof of claim and the amount scheduled by the Debtors. Any Claim for which the Debtors or any party in interest have interposed (or will interpose) a timely objection is a Disputed Claim.

Pursuant to the Plan, the Reorganized Debtors shall object to the allowance of Claims filed with the Bankruptcy Court (other than Asbestos Claims) with respect to which the Reorganized Debtors dispute liability in whole or in part. All objections filed and prosecuted by the Reorganized Debtors as provided herein shall be litigated to Final Order by the Reorganized Debtors; provided, however, that the Debtors or Reorganized Debtors, as the case may be, may compromise and settle, withdraw or resolve by any other method, without requirement of Bankruptcy Court approval, any objections to Claims; provided, further, however, that in the case of a CCR Allowance Proceeding (i) such CCR Allowance Proceeding shall be prosecuted by the Reorganized Debtors, the Asbestos Claimants Committee, and the Legal Representative, and (ii) such CCR Allowance Proceeding may only be compromised, settled, withdrawn, or otherwise resolved with the consent of each of the Reorganized Debtors, the Asbestos Claimants Committee, and the Legal Representative. Subject to the treatment described in Section 3.11 of the Plan with respect to the CCR Claim, each of G-I, ACI, the Committee, and the Legal Representative shall oppose the allowance of any Claim by or on behalf of any Entity that is or was a member of CCR, arising from facts or legal relationships that existed during the period when G-I and the Entity asserting the Claim (or on whose behalf it is asserted) were both members of CCR, or arising from or relating to any agreement made by CCR during such period for the settlement of any asbestos-related personal injury or wrongful death claim.

Unless otherwise provided herein or ordered by the Bankruptcy Court, all objections by the Reorganized Debtors to Claims shall be served and filed on or before the later of (i) one hundred eighty (180) days after the Effective Date, and (ii) such date as may be fixed by the Bankruptcy Court, after notice and hearing, whether fixed before or after the date specified in clause (i) above.

b. Estimation of Disputed Claims

The Plan provides for the estimation of Disputed Claims. Unless otherwise limited by an order of the Bankruptcy Court, the Reorganized Debtors may at any time request that the Bankruptcy Court estimate for final Distribution purposes any contingent, unliquidated or Disputed Claim pursuant to section 502(c) of the Bankruptcy Code or other applicable law regardless of whether the Debtors or the Reorganized Debtors previously objected to such Claim or whether the Bankruptcy Court has ruled on such objection, and the Bankruptcy Court will retain jurisdiction to consider any request to estimate any Claim at any time during litigation concerning any objection to any Claim, including, without limitation, during the pendency of any appeal relating to any such objection. Unless otherwise provided in an order of the Bankruptcy Court, in the event that the Bankruptcy Court estimates any contingent, unliquidated or Disputed Claim, the estimated amount shall constitute either the Allowed amount of such Claim or a maximum limitation on such Claim, as determined by the Bankruptcy Court; provided, however, that, if the estimate constitutes the maximum limitation on such Claim, the Debtors or the Reorganized Debtors, as the case may be, may elect to pursue supplemental proceedings to object to any ultimate allowance of such Claim; and, provided, further, that the foregoing is not intended to limit the rights granted by section 502(j) of the Bankruptcy Code. All of the aforementioned Claims objection, estimation and resolution procedures are cumulative and not necessarily exclusive of one another.

c. No Distributions Pending Allowance

Notwithstanding any other provision of the Plan, if any portion of a Claim is a Disputed Claim, no Distribution or Trust Distribution provided for hereunder shall be made on account of any portion of such Claim unless and until such Disputed Claim becomes an Allowed Claim. No interest shall be paid on account of Disputed Claims that later become Allowed except to the extent that payment of interest is required under section 506(b) of the Bankruptcy Code.

d. Distributions After Allowance

The Plan provides that, to the extent a Disputed Claim ultimately becomes an Allowed Claim, a Distribution shall be made to the holder of such Allowed Claim in accordance with the provisions of the Plan. As soon as reasonably practicable after the date that the order or judgment of the Bankruptcy Court or other applicable court of competent jurisdiction (including any appeal therefrom) allowing any Disputed Claim becomes a Final Order, the Reorganized Debtors shall provide to the holder of such Claim the Distribution to which such holder is entitled hereunder on account of or in exchange for such Allowed Claim.

e. Distributions Related to Allowed Insured Claims

Nothing contained in the Plan shall constitute or be deemed a waiver of any Claim, defense, right or cause of action that the Debtors, the Reorganized Debtors, the Asbestos Trust, or any Entity may hold under any policies of insurance against any other Entity, including, without limitation, insurers, nor shall anything contained herein constitute or be deemed a waiver by such insurers of any defenses, including coverage defenses, held by such insurers. Section 6.5 of the Plan shall not limit the liability or obligations of any of the Debtors under the Plan with respect to the uninsured portion of any Claim.

f. Management of Existing Tax Claim Litigation

The Plan provides that, under the Confirmation Order, the District Court shall retain sole jurisdiction over the litigation in the action styled United States v. G-I Holdings Inc., Case No. 02-03082 (D.N.J.) (pending resolution or dismissal without prejudice of that action) and, as a consequence, the Reorganized Debtors shall not file any petition in the United States Tax Court with respect to the Claims subject to that litigation pending resolution or dismissal without prejudice of that action.

B EXECUTORY CONTRACTS AND UNEXPIRED LEASES

1. Assumption and Rejection of Executory Contracts and Unexpired Leases

The Plan provides that any executory contract or unexpired lease not set forth on Schedule 7.1 of the Plan Supplement that has not expired by its own terms on or prior to the Confirmation Date, which has not been assumed and assigned or rejected with the approval of the Bankruptcy Court, or which is not the subject of a motion to assume and assign or reject as of the Confirmation Date, shall be deemed rejected by the Debtors-in-Possession on the Confirmation Date and the entry of the Confirmation Order by the Bankruptcy Court shall constitute approval of such rejection pursuant to sections 365(a) and 1123 of the Bankruptcy Code.

Any executory contracts or unexpired leases of the Debtors that are set forth on Schedule 7.1 of the Plan Supplement shall be deemed to have been assumed by the Debtors and the Plan shall constitute a motion to assume such executory contracts and unexpired leases.

Each executory contract or unexpired lease assumed under the Plan shall include any modifications, amendments, supplements or restatements to such contract or lease. Entry of the Confirmation Order by the Clerk of the Bankruptcy Court shall constitute approval of such assumptions pursuant to section 365(a) of the Bankruptcy Code and a finding by the Bankruptcy Court that each such assumed executory contract or unexpired lease is in the best interest of the Debtors, their bankruptcy estates, and all parties in interest in the Chapter 11 Cases.

The Debtors reserve the right, at any time prior to the Effective Date, to amend Schedule 7.1 to (a) delete and executory contract or unexpired lease listed therein, thus providing for its rejection under the Plan; or (b) add any executory contract or unexpired lease to Schedule 7.1, thus providing for its assumption. The Debtors will provide notice of any amendments to Schedule 7.1 to the parties to the executory contracts and unexpired leases affected thereby. Nothing herein or in the Plan shall constitute an admission by a Debtor or Reorganized Debtor that any contract or lease is an executory contract or unexpired lease or that a Debtor or Reorganized Debtor has any liability thereunder.

Notwithstanding anything contained in the Plan to the contrary, all of the Debtors' insurance policies and any agreements, documents or instruments relating thereto, are treated as executory contracts under the Plan and will be assumed pursuant to the Plan, effective as of the Effective Date. Entry of the Confirmation Order by the Clerk of the Bankruptcy Court shall constitute approval of such assumptions pursuant to section 365(a) of the Bankruptcy Code and a finding by the Bankruptcy Court that assumption of the insurance policies is in the best interest of the Debtors, their bankruptcy estates, and all parties in interest in the Chapter 11 Cases. Nothing contained in the Plan shall constitute or be deemed a waiver of any cause of action that the Debtors may hold against any Entity, including, without limitation, the insurer, under any of the Debtors' policies of insurance.

2. Cure of Defaults and Survival of Contingent Claims under Assumed Executory Contracts and Unexpired Leases

Except as may otherwise be agreed to by the parties, on or before the thirtieth (30th) day after the Effective Date, provided the non-debtor party to any such assumed executory contract or unexpired lease has timely filed a proof of claim with respect to such cure amount, the Reorganized Debtors shall cure any and all undisputed defaults under each executory contract and unexpired lease assumed by the Debtors pursuant to the Plan, in accordance with section 365(b) of the Bankruptcy Code. All disputed defaults required to be cured shall be cured either within thirty (30) days of the entry of a Final Order determining the amount, if any, of the Reorganized Debtors' liability with respect thereto, or as may otherwise be agreed to by the parties. Unless a proof of claim was timely filed with respect thereto, all cure amounts and all contingent reimbursement or indemnity claims for prepetition amounts expended by the non-debtor parties to assumed executory contracts and unexpired leases shall be discharged upon entry of the Confirmation Order by the Clerk of the Bankruptcy Court.

3. Deadline for Filing Rejection Damage Claims

The Plan provides that, if the rejection of an executory contract or unexpired lease by the Debtors-in-Possession pursuant to Section 7.1 of the Plan results in damages to the other party or parties to such contract or lease, any claim for such damages, if not heretofore evidenced by a filed proof of claim, shall be forever barred and shall not be enforceable against the Debtors, or their properties, their agents, successors, or assigns, unless a proof of claim is filed with the Debtors' court-appointed claims agent or with the Bankruptcy Court and served upon the Debtors or Reorganized Debtors on or before thirty (30) days after the latest to occur of (a) the Confirmation Date, and (b) the date of entry of an order by the Bankruptcy Court authorizing rejection of such executory contract or unexpired lease.

4. Indemnification and Reimbursement Obligations

For purposes of the Plan, the obligations of the Debtors to indemnify and reimburse persons who are or were directors, officers, or employees of any of the Debtors on the Commencement Date or at any time thereafter against and for any obligations (including, without limitation, fees and expenses incurred by the board of directors of any of the Debtors, or the members thereof, in connection with the Chapter 11 Cases) pursuant to articles of incorporation, codes of regulations, bylaws, applicable state law, or specific agreement, or any combination of the foregoing, shall survive confirmation of the Plan, remain unaffected hereby, and not be discharged in accordance with section 1141 of the Bankruptcy Code, irrespective of whether indemnification or reimbursement is owed in connection with an event occurring before, on, or after the Commencement Date.

5. Compensation and Benefit Programs

Except as provided in Section 7.1 of the Plan, the Debtors' existing pension plans, savings plans, retirement plans, health care plans, performance-based incentive plans, retention plans, workers' compensation programs and life, disability, directors and officers liability, and other insurance plans are treated as executory contracts under the Plan and shall, on the Effective Date, be deemed assumed by the Debtors in accordance with sections 365(a) and 1123(b)(2) of the Bankruptcy Code. On and after the Effective Date, all claims submitted for payment in accordance with the foregoing benefit programs, whether submitted prepetition or postpetition, shall be processed and paid in the ordinary course of business of the Reorganized Debtors, in a manner consistent with the terms and provisions of such benefit programs.

Nothing in the Confirmation Order, the Plan, the Bankruptcy Code (and section 1141 thereof), or any other document filed in any of the Debtors' bankruptcy proceedings shall be construed to discharge, release or relieve the Debtors, the Reorganized Debtors, or any other party, in any capacity, from any liability or responsibility with respect to the Retirement Plan for Hourly Paid Employees of Building Materials Corporation of America ("Pension Plan") under any law, governmental policy, or regulatory provisions. PBGC and the Pension Plan shall not be enjoined or precluded from enforcing such liability or responsibility as a result of any of the provisions of the Plan, including those providing for satisfaction, release, and discharge of claims, the Confirmation Order, the Bankruptcy Code (and section 1141 thereof), or any other document filed in any of the Debtors' bankruptcy proceedings.

6. Retiree Benefits

On and after the Effective Date, pursuant to section 1129(a)(13) of the Bankruptcy Code, the Reorganized Debtors shall continue to pay all retiree benefits of the Debtors (within the meaning of section 1114 of the Bankruptcy Code), if any, at the level established in accordance with section 1114 of the Bankruptcy Code, at any time prior to the Confirmation Date, for the duration of the period for which the Debtors had obligated themselves to provide such benefits.

VIII. OTHER ASPECTS OF THE PLAN

A CORPORATE GOVERNANCE AND MANAGEMENT OF REORGANIZED DEBTORS

1. Board of Directors

On the Effective Date, the management, control, and operation of the Reorganized Debtors shall become the general responsibility of the Board of Directors of the Reorganized Debtors.

2. Reorganized Debtors' Directors and Officers

The Boards of Directors of each of the Debtors immediately prior to the Effective Date shall serve as the initial Boards of Directors of the Reorganized Debtors on and after the Effective Date and, if different than the individuals identified in the Disclosure Statement, shall be identified in Schedule 8.2 to the Plan. Each of the members of such Boards of Directors shall serve in accordance with applicable non-bankruptcy law and each Debtors' certificate or articles of incorporation and bylaws, as each of the same may be amended from time to time. The officers of the Debtors immediately prior to the Effective Date shall serve as the initial officers of the Reorganized Debtors on and after the Effective Date. Such officers shall serve in accordance with applicable non-bankruptcy law and any employment agreement with the Debtors, if assumed, or with the Reorganized Debtors.

3. Amendment of Articles of Incorporation and By-Laws

The certificate or articles of incorporation and by-laws of the Debtors shall be amended as of the Effective Date to provide substantially as set forth in the Reorganized Debtors' Certificates of Incorporation and the Reorganized Debtors' By-Laws. The certificate or articles of incorporation and by-laws shall contain provisions (i) prohibiting the issuance of non-voting equity securities, as required by section 1123(a)(6) of the Bankruptcy Code (subject to further amendment of such certificates of incorporation and by-laws as permitted by applicable law), and (ii) effectuating the provisions of the Plan, in such case without further action by the stockholders or directors of the Debtors, the Debtors-in-Possession, or the Reorganized Debtors.

Copies of the Reorganized Debtors' Certificates of Incorporation and By-Laws are Schedules to the Plan.

4. Corporate Action

On the Effective Date, the adoption of the Reorganized Debtors' Certificate of Incorporation and the Reorganized Debtors' By-Laws shall be authorized and approved in all respects, in each case without further action under applicable law, regulation, order, or rule, including, without limitation, any action by the stockholders of the Debtors or the Reorganized Debtors. All other matters provided under the Plan involving the corporate structure of the Reorganized Debtors or corporate action by the Reorganized Debtors shall be deemed to have occurred, be authorized, and shall be in effect without requiring further action under applicable law, regulation, order, or rule, including, without limitation, any action by the stockholders of the Debtors or the Reorganized Debtors. Without limiting the foregoing, from and after the Confirmation Date, the Debtors or the Reorganized Debtors shall take any and all actions deemed appropriate to consummate the transactions contemplated herein.

5. Authority of the Debtors

Effective on the Confirmation Date, the Debtors shall be empowered and authorized to take or cause to be taken, prior to the Effective Date, all actions necessary to enable them to implement effectively their respective obligations under the Plan and the Plan Documents.

B CONDITIONS PRECEDENT TO CONFIRMATION AND THE EFFECTIVE DATE

1. Conditions Precedent to the Effective Date of the Plan

The occurrence of the Effective Date and the substantial consummation of the Plan are subject to satisfaction of the following conditions precedent:

a. The Bankruptcy Court and the District Court shall have entered the Confirmation Order, in form and substance reasonably satisfactory to the Debtors, the Asbestos Claimants Committee, and the Legal Representatives. The Confirmation Order or ancillary orders shall provide the following findings and conclusions and shall approve the following relief:

(i) The Asbestos Permanent Channeling Injunction is implemented in connection with the Plan and the Asbestos Trust;

(ii) The Plan (including the Plan Documents) complies with section 524(g) of the Bankruptcy Code for the issuance of an irrevocable injunction against Demands subject to the exclusive subject matter jurisdiction of the District Court;

(iii) The Reorganized Debtors, the Plan Sponsor, each Protected Party and their respective successors and assigns are permanently enjoined from requesting any tribunal to enjoin draws on the Letter of Credit for any reason, including, without limitation, if any one of them becomes a debtor under title 11 of the United States Code; provided, however, that this provision shall not impair any of such enjoined persons' remedies if such a draw shall have been wrongful or fraudulent;

(iv) The global compromise and settlement embodied in the Plan is approved;

(v) At the time of the order for relief with respect to G-I, G-I had been named as a defendant in personal injury, wrongful death, and property damage actions seeking recovery for damages allegedly caused by the presence of, or exposure to, asbestos or asbestos-containing products;

(vi) The Asbestos Trust, as of the Effective Date, will assume all the liabilities of the Debtors with respect to all Asbestos Claims;

(vii) The Asbestos Trust is to be funded in whole or in part by securities of the Reorganized Debtors and by the contingent obligation of the Reorganized Debtors to make future payments;

(viii) The Asbestos Trust is to own, or by the exercise of rights granted under the Plan, for purposes of section 524(g) of the Bankruptcy Code, would be entitled to own, if specified contingencies occur, a majority of the voting shares of G-I;

(ix) G-I is likely to be subject to substantial future Demands for payment arising out of the same or similar conduct or events that gave rise to the Claims that are addressed by the Asbestos Permanent Channeling Injunction;

(x) The actual amounts, numbers, and timing of the future Demands referenced in Section 10.1(a)(ix) of the Plan cannot be determined;

(xi) Pursuit of the Demands referenced in Section 10.1(a)(ix) of the Plan outside the procedures prescribed by the Plan is likely to threaten the Plan's purpose to deal equitably with Claims and future Demands;

(xii) The terms of the Asbestos Permanent Channeling Injunction, including any provisions barring actions against third parties pursuant to section 524(g)(4)(A) of the Bankruptcy Code, are set out in the Plan and the Disclosure Statement;

(xiii) The Plan establishes, in Class 6 (Asbestos Claims), a separate class of the claimants whose Claims are to be addressed by the Asbestos Trust;

(xiv) The Legal Representative was appointed as part of the proceedings leading to issuance of the Asbestos Permanent Channeling Injunction for the purpose of protecting the rights of persons that might subsequently assert unknown Asbestos Claims and Demands that are addressed in the Asbestos Permanent Channeling Injunction and transferred to the Asbestos Trust;

(xv) Applying the Asbestos Permanent Channeling Injunction to each Protected Party in the Asbestos Permanent Channeling Injunction is fair and equitable with respect to persons that might subsequently assert Demands against each such Protected Party, in light of the benefits provided, or to be provided, to the Asbestos Trust by or on behalf of any such Protected Party;

(xvi) Class 6 (Asbestos Claims) has voted, by at least 75 percent (75%) of those voting, in favor of the Plan; and

(xvii) Pursuant to court orders or otherwise, the Asbestos Trust will operate through mechanisms such as structured, periodic, or supplemental payments, pro rata distributions, matrices, or periodic review of estimates of the numbers and values of Asbestos Claims and Demands, or other comparable mechanisms, that provide reasonable assurance that the Asbestos Trust will liquidate, and be in a financial position to pay, Asbestos Claims and Demands that involve similar Claims in substantially the same manner.

b. The Effective Date shall not occur, and the Plan shall be of no force and effect, until satisfaction of the following conditions precedent:

(i) The Confirmation Order shall have been entered for at least ten (10) days and then is not stayed or enjoined;

(ii) The Bankruptcy Court and/or the District Court, as required, shall have entered or affirmed the Asbestos Permanent Channeling Injunction (which may be included in the Confirmation Order), which shall contain terms satisfactory to the Debtors, the Asbestos Claimants Committee, and the Legal Representative;

(iii) The Confirmation Order and the Asbestos Permanent Channeling Injunction shall be in full force and effect;

(iv) All Asbestos Trustees shall have been selected and shall have executed the Asbestos Trust Agreement;

(v) All agreements and instruments that are exhibits to the Plan or included in the Plan Supplement shall have been duly executed and delivered; provided, however, that no party to any such agreements and instruments may unreasonably withhold its execution and delivery of such documents to prevent this condition precedent from occurring;

(vi) Such other actions and documents as the Debtors deem necessary to implement the Plan shall have been effected or executed; provided, however, that the execution, delivery, and approval of the CCR Settlement Agreement shall not constitute a condition to the Effective Date and the issuance of a Final Order in the CCR Allowance Proceeding shall not constitute a condition to the Effective Date; and

(vii) All conditions to closing set forth in the Trust Note and the Letter of Credit shall have been fulfilled to the reasonable satisfaction of the Asbestos Claimants Committee and the Legal Representative (such satisfaction not to be unreasonably withheld).

c. The Debtors shall have received (i) a favorable ruling from the Internal Revenue Service with respect to the qualification of the Asbestos Trust as a "qualified settlement fund" or (ii) an opinion of counsel with respect to the tax status of the Asbestos Trust as a "qualified settlement fund" reasonably satisfactory to the Debtors, the Asbestos Claimants Committee and the Legal Representative.

2. Waiver of Conditions Precedent

To the extent practicable and legally permissible, each of the conditions precedent in Section 10.1 of the Plan may be waived, in whole or in part by the Plan Proponents, jointly. Any such waiver of a condition precedent may be effected at any time by filing with the Bankruptcy Court a notice thereof that is executed by the Plan Proponents, jointly. If any Plan Proponent desires to waive a condition precedent to facilitate confirmation, the other Plan Proponents shall confer promptly with it as to whether or not the suggested waiver should be given, in recognition that time is of the essence.

C ALTERNATIVE PLAN(S) OF REORGANIZATION

The Debtors have evaluated numerous reorganization alternatives to the Plan. After evaluating these alternatives, the Debtors have concluded that the Plan, assuming confirmation and successful implementation, is the best alternative and will fairly treat holders of Claims. If the Plan is not confirmed, then the Debtors could remain in chapter 11. Should this occur, then the Debtors could continue to operate their businesses and manage their properties as Debtors-in-Possession, but they would remain subject to the restrictions imposed by the Bankruptcy Code. Moreover, the Debtors (whether individually or collectively) or, subject to further determination by the Bankruptcy Court as to extensions of exclusivity under the Bankruptcy Code, any other party in interest could attempt to formulate and propose a different plan or plans. This would take time and result in an increase in the operating and other administrative expenses of these Chapter 11 Cases.

D LIQUIDATION UNDER CHAPTER 7

If no chapter 11 plan can be confirmed, then the Debtors' cases may be converted to cases under chapter 7 of the Bankruptcy Code, whereby a trustee would be elected or appointed to liquidate the assets of the Debtors for distribution to the holders of Claims in accordance with the strict priority scheme established by the Bankruptcy Code.

Under chapter 7, the cash amount available for distribution to Creditors would consist of the proceeds resulting from the disposition of the unencumbered assets of the Debtors, augmented by the unencumbered cash held by the Debtors at the time of the commencement of the liquidation cases. Such cash amount would be reduced by the costs and expenses of the liquidation and by such additional administrative and priority claims as may result from the termination of the Debtors' businesses and the use of chapter 7 for the purposes of liquidation.

Because there is no section 524(g) channeling injunction available in chapter 7, the Debtors believe their principal asset, BMCA, would have substantially less value, and that both commercial creditors and asbestos creditors would receive materially smaller recoveries in chapter 7 than under the Plan.

The Liquidation Analysis attached as Exhibit E reflects the Debtors' estimates regarding recoveries in a chapter 7 liquidation. The Liquidation Analysis is based upon the hypothetical disposition of assets and distribution on Claims under a chapter 7 liquidation in contrast to the distribution of Cash and Plan Securities under the Plan. The Liquidation Analysis assumes that, in the chapter 7 cases, the Bankruptcy Court will approve the settlements and compromises embodied in the Plan and described in the Disclosure Statement as fair and reasonable and determines that each of those settlements and compromises represents the best estimate, short of a final determination on the merits, of how these issues would be resolved. The Liquidation Analysis further takes into consideration the increased costs of a chapter 7 liquidation, the impact on the value of the three Operating Entities and the expected delay in distributions to Creditors.

The Debtors submit that the Liquidation Analysis evidences that the Plan satisfies the best interest of creditors test and that, under the Plan, each holder of an Asbestos Claim that is payable under the Trust Distribution Procedures, and each holder of an Allowed Claim in another Class of Claims that is impaired,[12] will receive value that is not less than the amount such holder would receive in a [12] As noted in Section I.C.2 of this Disclosure Statement, the classes of Claims and Interests that are impaired consist of G-I Unsecured Claims, Other Environmental Claims, Asbestos Claims, Asbestos Property Damage and Asbestos Property Damage Contribution Claims, the CCR Claim (if the CCR Claim is litigated, rather than resolved pursuant to the proposed CCR Settlement), G-I Affiliate Claims, G-I Equity Interest Redemption Claims, G-I Equity Interests, and ACI Equity Interests.

chapter 7 liquidation. Further, the Debtors believe that pursuant to chapter 7 of the Bankruptcy Code, holders of Equity Interests would receive no distributions.

Estimating recoveries in any chapter 7 case is an uncertain process due to the number of unknown variables such as business, economic and competitive contingencies beyond the chapter 7 trustee's control, and this uncertainty is further aggravated by the complexities of these Chapter 11 Cases. The underlying projections contained in the Liquidation Analysis have not been compiled or examined by independent accountants. The Debtors make no representations regarding the accuracy of the projections or a chapter 7 trustee's ability to achieve forecasted results. Many of the assumptions underlying the projections are subject to significant uncertainties. Inevitably, some assumptions will not materialize and unanticipated events and circumstances may affect the ultimate financial results. In the event these Chapter 11 Cases are converted to chapter 7, actual results may vary materially from the estimates and projections set forth in the Liquidation Analysis. As such, the Liquidation Analysis is speculative in nature, but the unavailability of a section 524(g) channeling injunction in chapter 7 is not speculative.

E MISCELLANEOUS PLAN PROVISIONS

1. Effectuating Documents and Further Transactions

Each of the officers of the Reorganized Debtors is authorized, in accordance with his or her authority under the resolutions of the Board of Directors, to execute, deliver, file, or record such contracts, instruments, releases, indentures, and other agreements or documents and take such action as may be necessary or appropriate to effectuate and further evidence the terms and conditions of the Plan.

2. Cooperation

Subject to any rights to revoke or withdraw the Plan as set forth therein, the Plan Proponents shall cooperate and together use their best efforts in pursuing confirmation of the Plan by the Bankruptcy Court.

3. Title to Assets

Upon the Effective Date, pursuant to sections 1141(b) and (c) of the Bankruptcy Code, all property of the estates of the Debtors shall vest in the Reorganized Debtors free and clear of all Claims, Liens, encumbrances, charges, and other interests created prior to the Effective Date, except as provided in the Plan and the Plan Documents. From and after the Effective Date, the Reorganized Debtors may operate their businesses and may use, acquire, and dispose of property free of any restrictions of the Bankruptcy Code or the Bankruptcy Rules in all respects as if there were no pending cases under any chapter or provision of the Bankruptcy Code, except as provided in the Plan.

4. Discharge of Claims

In accordance with and not in limitation of sections 524 and 1141 of the Bankruptcy Code, and except as provided in the Plan, upon the Effective Date, all Claims against the Debtors shall be, and shall be deemed to be, discharged in full, and all holders of Claims shall be precluded and enjoined from asserting against the Reorganized Debtors, or any of their assets or properties, any other or further Claim based upon any act or omission, transaction, or other activity of any kind or nature that occurred prior to the Effective Date, whether or not such holder has filed a proof of Claim. Upon the Effective Date, all Entities shall be forever precluded and enjoined, pursuant to section 524 of the Bankruptcy Code, from prosecuting or asserting any such discharged Claim and any Demand against the Debtors.

5. Injunction Against Claims

In accordance with and not in limitation of sections 524 and 1141 of the Bankruptcy Code, and except as otherwise expressly provided in the Plan, the Confirmation Order or other applicable order of the Bankruptcy Court, all Persons or Entities who have held, hold or may hold Claims or other debts or obligations discharged pursuant to the Plan are permanently enjoined, from and after the Effective Date, from (a) commencing or continuing in any manner any action or other proceeding of any kind on any such Claim or other discharged debt or obligation pursuant to the Plan against the Debtors, the Debtors-in-Possession or the Reorganized Debtors, the Debtors' estates or properties or interests in properties of the Debtors or the Reorganized Debtors, (b) the enforcement, attachment, collection or recovery by any manner or means of any judgment, award, decree or order against the Debtors, the Debtors-in-Possession or the Reorganized Debtors, the Debtors' estates or properties or interests in properties of the Debtors, the Debtors-in-Possession or the Reorganized Debtors, (c) creating, perfecting, or enforcing any encumbrance of any kind securing a discharged claim against the Debtors, the Debtors-in-Possession or the Reorganized Debtors or against the property or interests in property of the Debtors, the Debtors-in-Possession or the Reorganized Debtors, and (d) except to the extent provided, permitted or preserved by sections 553, 555, 556, 559 or 560 of the Bankruptcy Code or pursuant to the common law right of recoupment, asserting any right of setoff, subrogation or recoupment of any kind with respect to any obligation due from the Debtors, the Debtors-in-Possession or the Reorganized Debtors or against the property or interests in property of the Debtors, the Debtors-in-Possession or the Reorganized Debtors, with respect to any such Claim or other debt or obligation that is discharged pursuant to the Plan.

6. Terms of Existing Injunctions or Stays

Unless otherwise provided in the Plan, all injunctions or stays provided for in the Chapter 11 Cases pursuant to sections 105 or 362 of the Bankruptcy Code, or otherwise, and in existence on the Confirmation Date, shall remain in full force and effect until the later of the Effective Date and the date indicated in such applicable order.

7. Injunction Against Interference With Plan of Reorganization

Pursuant to sections 1142 and 105 of the Bankruptcy Code, from and after the Effective Date, all holders of Claims and Equity Interests and other parties in interest, along with their respective present or former employees, agents, officers, directors, principals and Affiliates shall be enjoined from taking any actions to interfere with the implementation or consummation of the Plan except for actions allowed to attain legal review.

8. Exculpation

None of the Debtors, the Reorganized Debtors, their Affiliates, any of the members of the Asbestos Claimants Committee, the Legal Representative, or any of their respective officers, directors, members, employees, advisors, attorneys, financial advisors, accountants, agents, or other professionals retained with Bankruptcy Court approval shall have or incur any liability to any Entity for any act or omission in connection with or arising out of the Chapter 11 Cases, including, without limitation, the commencement of the Chapter 11 Cases, the negotiation of the Plan, pursuit of confirmation of the Plan, the consummation of the Plan, or the administration of the Plan or the property to be distributed under the Plan, except for gross negligence or willful misconduct, and in all respects shall be entitled to rely upon the advice of counsel with respect to their duties and responsibilities under, or in connection with, the Plan; provided, however, that the foregoing exculpation shall not apply to L. Tersigni Consulting P.C. or Loreto T. Tersigni.

9. Mutual Releases

The Plan provides that, upon the Effective Date, the Debtors, the Debtors-in-Possession, the Plan Sponsor, the Reorganized Debtors, and the respective Affiliates and subsidiaries of the foregoing Entities shall be deemed to have unconditionally waived and released the Asbestos Claimants Committee, the Legal Representative, the defendants in G-I Holdings Inc. v. Baron & Budd, et al., Case No. 01-CV-0216 (RWS), the Noteholder Defendants, and each of their respective members, employees, agents, advisors, attorneys, financial advisors, accountants, and other professionals from any and all claims, obligations, suits, judgments, damages, rights, causes of action arising from or based on any Claim, Equity Interest, or litigation, including, but not limited to, the Covered Matters, and all pending litigation among the Debtors, the Debtors-in-Possession, shareholders of the Debtors, the Asbestos Claimants Committee, the Noteholder Defendants, and the Legal Representative (including any of the Covered Matters) shall be dismissed with prejudice and without costs to any party; provided, however, that the foregoing release shall not apply to L. Tersigni Consulting P.C. or Loreto T. Tersigni; and provided further, however, that nothing in the Plan shall relieve the Debtors, the Reorganized Debtors, the Plan Sponsor, the Asbestos Claimants Committee, the Legal Representative, or the Asbestos Trust of their obligations under the Plan, the Plan Documents, the Confirmation Order, the documents and instruments contained in the Plan Supplement, and the Asbestos Trust Agreement.

Upon the Effective Date, the Asbestos Claimants Committee and the Legal Representative shall be deemed to have unconditionally waived and released the Debtors, the Debtors-in-Possession, the Plan Sponsor, the Reorganized Debtors, the respective Affiliates and subsidiaries of the foregoing Entities, the Noteholder Defendants, and each of the foregoing Entities' respective present and former officers, directors, employees, advisors, attorneys, financial advisors, accountants, and other professionals from any and all claims, obligations, suits, judgments, damages, rights, causes of action arising from or based on any Claim (other than an Asbestos Claim), Equity Interest, or litigation, including, but not limited to, the Covered Matters, and all pending litigation among the Debtors, the Debtors-in-Possession, shareholders of the Debtors, the Asbestos Claimants Committee, the Noteholder Defendants, and the Legal Representative (including any of the Covered Matters) shall be dismissed with prejudice and without costs to any party; provided, however, that nothing in the Plan shall relieve the Debtors, the Reorganized Debtors, the Plan Sponsor, the Asbestos Claimants Committee, the Legal Representative, or the Asbestos Trust of their obligations under the Plan, the Plan Documents, the Confirmation Order, the documents and instruments contained in the Plan Supplement, and the Asbestos Trust Agreement

Consistent with the foregoing releases, the parties will execute any and all appropriate documentation to effectuate the dismissal of all pending litigation.

10. Avoidance Actions

The Reorganized Debtors shall release any avoidance, equitable subordination, piercing the corporate veil, alter ego or similar claims, rights, or causes of action that the Debtors, the Debtors-in-Possession or their Chapter 11 estates hold, arising under sections 510, 541, 544, 545, 547, 548, 549, 550, 551 and 553 of the Bankruptcy Code or non-bankruptcy law, including, but not limited to, any and all causes of action that were or could have been asserted in the Covered Matters.

11. Reservation of Rights

Except with respect to Covered Matters (as defined in the Plan) or as otherwise specifically provided in the Plan, nothing herein shall constitute or be deemed a waiver of any claim, right, or cause of action that the Debtors, the Reorganized Debtors, or the Asbestos Trust may have against any Entity other than a Protected Party in connection with or arising out of an Asbestos Claim, and the Asbestos Permanent Channeling Injunction shall not apply to the assertion of any such claim, right, or cause of action by the Debtors, the Reorganized Debtors, or the Asbestos Trust.

12. Post-Confirmation Date Fees and Expenses

The Reorganized Debtors shall, in the ordinary course of business and without the necessity for any approval by the Bankruptcy Court, pay the reasonable fees and expenses of professional persons incurred from and after the Effective Date by the Reorganized Debtors, including, without limitation, those fees and expenses incurred in connection with the implementation and consummation of the Plan.

13. Plan Modifications

Prior to the Confirmation Date, the Plan Proponents, in their sole discretion, may jointly amend, modify or supplement the terms and provisions of the Plan, in the manner provided for by section 1127 of the Bankruptcy Code or as otherwise permitted by law, without additional disclosure pursuant to section 1125 of the Bankruptcy Code, except as the Bankruptcy Code may otherwise direct. After the Confirmation Date, so long as such action does not affect materially and adversely the treatment of Claims under the Plan, the Plan Proponents may jointly institute proceedings in the Bankruptcy Court to remedy any defect or omission or reconcile any inconsistencies in the Plan or the Confirmation Order with respect to such matters as may be necessary to carry out the purposes and effects of the Plan. If any Plan Proponent suggests a modification of the Plan to facilitate confirmation, the other Plan Proponents shall confer promptly with it as to whether or not to modify the Plan accordingly, in recognition that time is of the essence.

14. Revocation or Withdrawal

If the Effective Date does not occur by the last date permitted by the definition thereof, or if the Plan does not otherwise become effective by such date, the Confirmation Order and the Plan shall become null and void in all respects, unless each Plan Proponent, in its sole and absolute discretion, executes and files with the Bankruptcy Court a written notice waiving the foregoing requirement of Plan effectiveness by such date.

If a CCR Allowance Proceeding remains pending after confirmation of the Plan, the Plan shall be deemed withdrawn, and may not be consummated, unless the Asbestos Claimants Committee and Legal Representative, in their sole discretion, consent in writing to (i) consummation of the Plan, with the CCR Allowance Proceeding to be resolved after the Effective Date, (ii) the creation of a CCR Escrow pursuant to Section 4.4(c)(i)(C) of the Plan, and (iii) any adjustment in the First Payment to Asbestos Trust required by Section 4.4(c)(i)(C) of the Plan.

If the Plan is revoked or withdrawn prior to the Confirmation Date, or if the Plan does not become effective for any reason whatsoever, then the Plan shall be deemed null and void. In such event, nothing contained herein shall be deemed to constitute a waiver or release of any claims by the Debtors or any other Entity or to prejudice in any manner the rights of the Debtors or any other Entity in any further proceedings pending in, arising in, or relating to the Chapter 11 Cases

In the event that the Effective Date does not occur, the parties shall be returned to the position they would have held had the Confirmation Order not been entered, and nothing in the Plan, the Disclosure Statement, any of the Plan Documents, or any pleading filed or statement made in court with respect to the Plan or the Plan Documents shall be deemed to constitute an admission or waiver of any sort or in any way limit, impair, or alter the rights of any Entity.

15. Retention of Jurisdiction

On and after the Effective Date, the Bankruptcy Court shall retain jurisdiction, including any exclusive jurisdiction it may have, over any matter arising under the Bankruptcy Code, arising in or related to the Chapter 11 Cases or the Plan, or relating to the following:

a. to interpret, enforce, and administer the terms of the Plan, the Plan Documents (including all annexes and exhibits thereto), and the Confirmation Order;

b. to resolve any matters related to the assumption, assignment, or rejection of any executory contract or unexpired lease to which a Debtor is a party or with respect to which a Debtor may be liable and to hear, determine and, if necessary, liquidate, any Claims arising therefrom, including those matters related to the amendment after the Effective Date of the Plan, to add any executory contracts or unexpired leases to the list of executory contracts and unexpired leases to be rejected;

c. to enter such orders as may be necessary or appropriate to implement or consummate the Plan and all contracts, instruments, releases, and other agreements or documents created in connection with the Plan; provided, however, that nothing in the Plan shall detract from or contravene any jurisdictional provisions of any such written agreement or instrument, including the Trust Note, any agreement regarding a pledge or collateral to secure the Trust Note, or any escrow agreement with respect to the CCR Escrow, that permits or requires legal actions or proceedings to be brought in another court;

d. to determine any and all motions, adversary proceedings, applications, and contested or litigated matters that may be pending on the Effective Date or that, pursuant to the Plan, may be instituted by the Reorganized Debtors, the Asbestos Claimants Committee, or the Legal Representative, after the Effective Date including, without limitation, any claims to recover assets for the benefit of the Debtors' estate, except for matters waived or released under the Plan;

e. to ensure that Distributions to holders of Allowed Claims are accomplished as provided herein;

f. to hear and determine any timely objections to Administrative Expense Claims or to proofs of Claim (other than Asbestos Claims), both before and after the Confirmation Date, including any objections to the classification of any Claim (other than Asbestos Claims), and to allow, disallow, determine, liquidate, classify, estimate or establish the priority of or secured or unsecured status of any Claim (other than Asbestos Claims), in whole or in part;

g. to enter and implement such orders as may be appropriate in the event the Confirmation Order is for any reason stayed, revoked, modified, reversed or vacated;

h. to issue such orders in aid of execution of the Plan, to the extent authorized by section 1142 of the Bankruptcy Code;

i. to consider any modifications of the Plan, to cure any defect or omission, or reconcile any inconsistency in any order of the Bankruptcy Court, including the Confirmation Order;

j. to hear and determine all applications for allowances of compensation and reimbursement of expenses of professionals under sections 330 and 331 of the Bankruptcy Code and any other fees and expenses authorized to be paid or reimbursed under the Plan, except as otherwise provided in Section 13.8 of the Plan;

k. to hear and determine disputes arising in connection with or relating to the Plan or the interpretation, implementation, or enforcement of the Plan or the extent of any Entity's obligations incurred in connection with or released under the Plan;

l. to issue injunctions, enter and implement other orders or take such other actions as may be necessary or appropriate to restrain interference by any Entity with consummation or enforcement of the Plan;

m. to recover all assets of the Debtors and property of the Debtors' estates, wherever located;

n. to resolve any Disputed Claims;

o. to determine the scope of any discharge of any Debtor under the Plan or the Bankruptcy Code;

p. to determine any other matters that may arise in connection with or are related to the Plan, the Disclosure Statement, the Confirmation Order or any contract, instrument, release or other agreement or document created in connection with the Plan or the Disclosure Statement, including any of the Plan Documents;

q. to the extent that Bankruptcy Court approval is required, to consider and act on the compromise and settlement of any Claim (excluding any Asbestos Claim) or cause of action by or against the Debtors' estates;

r. to hear and determine any other matters that may be set forth in the Plan, the Confirmation Order or the Asbestos Permanent Channeling Injunction, or that may arise in connection with the Plan, the Confirmation Order or the Asbestos Permanent Channeling Injunction;

s. to hear and determine any proceeding that involves the validity, application, construction, or enforceability of the Asbestos Permanent Channeling Injunction, or that may arise in connection with the Plan, the Confirmation Order, or the Asbestos Permanent Channeling Injunction;

t. to hear and determine matters concerning state, local and federal taxes in accordance with sections 346, 505, and 1146 of the Bankruptcy Code (including the expedited determination of tax under section 505(b) of the Bankruptcy Code);

u. to hear any other matter or for any purpose specified in the Confirmation Order that is not inconsistent with the Bankruptcy Code;

v. to enter a final decree closing the Chapter 11 Cases; and

w. to hear and determine all objections to the termination of the Asbestos Trust.

To the extent that the Bankruptcy Court under applicable law lacks core jurisdiction over, or is otherwise not permitted to render dispositive orders or judgments in, any of the foregoing matters, the reference to the "Bankruptcy Court" in this Article XI shall be deemed to be replaced by the "District Court." Notwithstanding anything in this Article XI to the contrary, (i) the resolution and payment of Asbestos Claims, and the forum in which such resolution and payment will be determined, will be governed by and in accordance with the Asbestos Trust Distribution Procedures and the Asbestos Trust Agreement, and (ii) the Bankruptcy Court and the District Court shall have concurrent rather than exclusive jurisdiction with respect to (x) disputes relating to rights under insurance policies issued to the Debtors, and (y) disputes relating to the Debtors' rights to insurance with respect to Workers' Compensation Claims.

16. Discharge of Debtors

Except as otherwise provided in the Plan, the Confirmation Order or such other order of the Bankruptcy Court as may be applicable, on the Effective Date the Debtors and Reorganized Debtors shall be discharged from all Claims whatsoever and all Demands shall be permanently and irrevocably channeled to the Asbestos Trust, and the Debtors' and reorganized Debtors' only liabilities shall be those set forth in the Plan. All Persons and Entities shall be precluded from asserting against the Debtors, the Debtors-in-Possession, their successors or assigns, including, without limitation, the Reorganized Debtors or their respective assets properties or interests in property, any other or further Claims based upon any act or omission, transaction or other activity of any kind or nature that occurred prior to the Confirmation Date, whether or not the facts or legal bases therefor were known or existed prior to the Confirmation Date and regardless of whether a proof of Claim or Equity Interest was filed, whether the holder thereof voted to accept or reject the Plan or whether the Claim or Equity Interest is an Allowed Claim or an Allowed Equity Interest.

17. Plan Supplement

A specimen form of the documents to be included in the Plan Supplement shall be (a) filed with the clerk of the Bankruptcy Court no later than ten (10) days prior to the last date by which holders of impaired Claims may vote to accept or reject the Plan; and (b) posted at http://chapter11.epiqsystems.com/GIH as they become available, but no later than ten (10) days prior to the last date by which holders of impaired Claims may vote to accept or reject the Plan. Upon its filing with the clerk of the Bankruptcy Court, the Plan Supplement may be inspected in the office of the clerk of the Bankruptcy Court during normal court hours.

IX. RISK FACTORS AND OTHER FACTORS TO BE CONSIDERED

PRIOR TO VOTING TO ACCEPT OR REJECT THE PLAN, HOLDERS OF IMPAIRED CLAIMS ENTITLED TO VOTE ON THE PLAN SHOULD READ AND CAREFULLY CONSIDER EACH OF THE FACTORS SET FORTH BELOW, AS WELL AS OTHER INFORMATION SET FORTH IN THIS DISCLOSURE STATEMENT AND THE DOCUMENTS DELIVERED TOGETHER HEREWITH AND/OR INCORPORATED BY REFERENCE HEREIN.

THE RISKS AND UNCERTAINTIES DESCRIBED BELOW SHOULD NOT BE REGARDED AS CONSTITUTING THE ONLY RISKS INVOLVED IN CONNECTION WITH THE PLAN AND ITS IMPLEMENTATION.

A BANKRUPTCY RISKS

1. Risk of Non-Confirmation of the Plan

Although the Debtors believe that the Plan will satisfy all requirements necessary for confirmation by the Bankruptcy Court (including, without limitation, satisfaction of secured, priority and administrative claims in accordance with the Bankruptcy Code), there can be no assurance that the Bankruptcy Court will reach the same conclusion. Moreover, there can be no assurance that modifications to the Plan will not be required for confirmation or that such modifications will not necessitate the re-solicitation of votes. In particular, the Plan embodies various settlements and compromises and there can be no assurance that the Bankruptcy Court will approve such settlements and compromises as part of the confirmation of the Plan.

2. Non-Consensual Confirmation

In the event any impaired Class of Claims does not accept the Plan, the Bankruptcy Court may nevertheless confirm the Plan at the Debtors' request if at least one impaired Class has accepted the Plan (such acceptance being determined without including the vote of any "insider" in such Class), and as to each impaired Class that has not accepted the Plan, if the Bankruptcy Court determines that the Plan "does not discriminate unfairly" and is "fair and equitable" with respect to the dissenting impaired classes. Refer to Section X(F) for further information. The Debtors believe that the Plan satisfies these requirements.

3. Risk of Non-Occurrence or Delayed Occurrence of the Effective Date

Although the Debtors believe that the Effective Date will occur after the Confirmation Date following satisfaction of any applicable conditions precedent, there can be no assurance as to the timing of the Effective Date. If the conditions precedent to the Effective Date set forth in the Plan are not fulfilled (or have been waived) by each of the Plan Proponents by the last day on which the Effective Date may occur, then the Plan will be null and void, in which event no distributions will be made under it, the Debtors and all holders of Claims and Equity Interests will be restored to the position they would have held had the Confirmation Order not been entered, and the Debtors' obligations with respect to Claims and Equity Interests will remain unchanged.

B VARIANCE FROM ESTIMATES AND PROJECTIONS

The estimated recoveries and projections set forth in this Disclosure Statement are highly speculative and based on information available at the time that each analysis was prepared. Actual results will vary and may vary materially from those reflected herein. Refer to the entirety of Section IX for a discussion of potential risks and variances.

1. Forward-Looking Statements

Each of the estimated recoveries and projections set forth in this Disclosure Statement is based, in large part, on forward-looking statements.

Forward-looking statements are statements of expectations, beliefs, plans, objectives, assumptions, projections, and future events or performance. These statements, estimates and projections may or may not prove to be correct. Actual results could differ materially from those reflected in the forward-looking statements. Forward-looking statements are not guarantees of future performance and involve risks and uncertainties that could cause actual results or outcomes to differ materially from those expressed. Such risks and uncertainties include, without limitation: risks inherent in the Chapter 11 process, such as the non-confirmation of the Plan, non-occurrence or delayed occurrence of the Effective Date, or delayed distribution or non-distribution of Plan Securities; the effects of the departure of personnel who rendered, or are rendering, services to the Debtors under the Management Agreement; the preliminary and uncertain nature of valuations and estimates contained in the Plan; potential environmental liabilities; increasing competition and operational hazards faced by BMCA and its subsidiaries; and economic, political, regulatory, and legal risks affecting the finances and operations of the Reorganized Debtors.

The Debtors and the Reorganized Debtors undertake no obligation to update any forward-looking statement included in the projections to reflect the occurrence of unanticipated events. New factors emerge from time to time and it is not possible to predict all such factors, nor can the impact of any such factor be assessed.

2. Estimated Recoveries

The recovery estimates set forth herein are based on various estimates and assumptions. Moreover, Bankruptcy Code section 524(g)(2)(B)(ii)(II) requires as a condition of the channeling injunction that the actual amounts, numbers, and timing of future demands cannot be determined. For example, if the estimated amount of Allowed Claims relied upon to calculate the estimated recoveries ultimately varies significantly from the actual amount of Allowed Claims, then actual creditor recoveries will vary significantly as well. Similarly, as the estimated amount of Allowed Claims is a forward-looking statement based upon information available to the Debtors as of December 1, 2008, the actual results may vary significantly as Claims are Allowed or otherwise resolved over time.

At commencement of these Chapter 11 Cases over 148,000 asbestos-related personal injury claims against the Debtors were pending. The disputes applicable to these claims together with the incalculable Demands render it impossible for the Debtors to determine the maximum amount of their potential liability.

3. Financial Projections

Pursuant to the Plan, the payments to the Asbestos Trust are comprised of Cash on the Effective Date in an amount not to exceed $215 million, a Trust Note in the amount of $560 million, and other consideration for the benefit of the Asbestos Trust. The Debtors have prepared the projections set forth in Exhibit D (as well as incorporated into the estimated creditor recoveries included herein) based on certain assumptions that they believe are reasonable under the circumstances. Certain assumptions are described in each of the relevant Appendices. The projections have not been compiled or examined by independent accountants. The Debtors make no representations regarding the accuracy of the projections or any ability to achieve forecasted results. Many of the assumptions underlying the projections are subject to significant uncertainties. Inevitably, some assumptions will not materialize, and unanticipated events and circumstances may affect the ultimate financial results. Therefore, the actual results achieved will vary from the forecasts, and the variations may be material. In evaluating the Plan, Creditors are urged to examine carefully all of the assumptions underlying the financial projections.

4. Liquidation Analysis

The Debtors have prepared the Liquidation Analysis attached as Exhibit E based on certain assumptions that they believe are reasonable under the circumstances. Those assumptions that the Debtors consider significant are described in the Liquidation Analysis. The underlying projections have not been compiled or examined by independent accountants. The Debtors make no representations regarding the accuracy of the projections or a chapter 7 trustee's ability to achieve forecasted results. Many of the assumptions underlying the projections are subject to significant uncertainties. Inevitably, some assumptions will not materialize and unanticipated events and circumstances may affect the ultimate financial results. In the event these Chapter 11 Cases are converted to chapter 7, actual results may vary materially from the estimates and projections set forth in the Liquidation Analysis. As such, the Liquidation Analysis is speculative in nature. In evaluating the Plan, Creditors are urged to examine carefully all of the assumptions underlying the Liquidation Analysis.

C SECURITIES LAW MATTERS

In connection with the Plan, pursuant to section 1145 of the Bankruptcy Code, and except as provided in subsection (b) thereof, any issuance of (a) shares of common stock issued pursuant to the Plan and (b) the Trust Note issued pursuant to the Plan shall be exempt from registration pursuant to section 5 of the Securities Act of 1933, as amended, and all other applicable non-bankruptcy laws or regulations.

1. Issuance and Resale of New Securities

Section 1145(a) of the Bankruptcy Code generally exempts from registration under the Securities Act of 1933 (the "Securities Act") the offer or sale of securities of a debtor or a successor to a debtor under a chapter 11 plan if such securities are offered or sold in exchange for a claim against, or an equity interest in, such debtor, or principally in such exchange and partly for Cash. The Debtors and/or the Reorganized Debtors may attempt to rely on this exemption and seek to have common stock and any rights issued on the Effective Date exempted from the registration requirements of the Securities Act. If so authorized, such securities may be resold without registration under the Securities Act or other federal securities laws pursuant to an exemption provided by section 4(1) of the Securities Act, unless the holder is an "underwriter" with respect to such securities, as that term is defined in the Bankruptcy Code. In addition, such securities generally may be resold without registration under state securities laws pursuant to various exemptions provided by the respective laws of the several states. Recipients of securities issued under the Plan, if any, are advised to consult with their own legal advisors as to the availability of any such exemption from registration under state law in any given instance and as to any applicable requirements or conditions to such availability.

In view of the complex, subjective nature of the question of whether a particular person may be an underwriter or an affiliate of the Reorganized Debtors, the Debtors make no representations concerning the right of any person to trade in any new stock that may be distributed in connection with the confirmation of the Plan. Accordingly, in the event securities are issued in connection with the confirmation of the Plan, the Debtors recommend that potential recipients of such securities consult their own counsel concerning whether they may freely trade such securities.

2. Legends

If stock or rights are issued in connection with confirmation of the Plan, then certificates evidencing shares of new common stock received by holders of at least 10% of the outstanding new common stock and received by holders of new stock upon exercise of rights issued pursuant to Regulation D will bear a legend substantially in the form below:

> THE SHARES OF COMMON STOCK REPRESENTED BY THIS CERTIFICATE HAVE NOT BEEN REGISTERED UNDER THE SECURITIES ACT OF 1933, AS AMENDED, OR UNDER THE SECURITIES LAWS OF ANY STATE OR OTHER JURISDICTION AND MAY NOT BE SOLD, OFFERED FOR SALE OR OTHERWISE TRANSFERRED UNLESS REGISTERED OR QUALIFIED UNDER SUCH ACT AND APPLICABLE STATE SECURITIES LAWS OR UNLESS THE COMPANY RECEIVES AN OPINION OF COUNSEL REASONABLY SATISFACTORY TO IT THAT SUCH REGISTRATION OR QUALIFICATION IS NOT REQUIRED.

D RISKS ASSOCIATED WITH THE BUSINESS

Additional discussion of risks related to the Debtors' and BMCA's business are set forth in greater detail in BMCA's Form 10-K for the fiscal year ended December 31, 2007, annexed hereto at Exhibit F.

X. CONFIRMATION OF THE PLAN

A CONFIRMATION HEARING

Section 1128(a) of the Bankruptcy Code requires the Bankruptcy Court, after appropriate notice, to hold a hearing on confirmation of a Plan. The Bankruptcy Court has ordered that the hearing on confirmation of the Plan will begin at __:_.m. Eastern Time, on _____ __, 2008, before the Honorable Rosemary Gambardella, United States Bankruptcy Judge, Third Floor of the United States Bankruptcy Court, Martin Luther King Jr. Federal Building, 50 Walnut Street, Third Floor, Newark, New Jersey. The Confirmation Hearing may be adjourned from time to time by the Bankruptcy Court without further notice except for an announcement of the adjourned date made at the Confirmation Hearing or any subsequent adjourned Confirmation Hearing.

The Plan will not constitute a valid, binding contract between the Debtors and their creditors until the Bankruptcy Court has entered a Final Order confirming the Plan. The Bankruptcy Court must hold a confirmation hearing before deciding whether to confirm the Plan.

Section 1128(b) of the Bankruptcy Code provides that any party in interest may object to confirmation of a Plan. Any objection to confirmation of the Plan must be in writing, must conform to the Federal Rules of Bankruptcy Procedure, must set forth the name of the objector, the nature and amount of Claims or interests held or asserted by the objector against the Debtor, the basis for the objection and the specific grounds therefore, and must be filed with the Bankruptcy Court, with a copy to chambers, together with proof of service thereof, and served upon and received no later than 4:00 p.m. Eastern Time on ___ __, 2008 by (i) G-I Holdings Inc., 1361 Alps Road, Wayne, New Jersey (Attn: Samuel Heyman); (ii) the attorneys for the Debtor, Dewey & LeBoeuf LLP, 1301 Sixth Avenue, New York, New York 10019 (Attn: Martin J. Bienenstock, Esq., Judy G.Z. Liu, Esq., and Timothy Q. Karcher, Esq.) and Riker, Danzig, Scherer, Hyland & Peretti LLP., Headquarters Plaza, One Speedwell Avenue, Morristown, New Jersey 07962 (Attn: Dennis J. Lockwood, Esq.) and Lowenstein Sandler, P.C., 65 Livingston Avenue, Roseland, New Jersey 07068 (Attn: Jeffrey Prol, Esq. and Kenneth Rosen, Esq.); and (v) the attorneys for the Legal Representative, Keating, Muething & Klekamp, P.L.L., 1400 Provident Tower, One East Fourth Street, Cincinnati, Ohio 45202 (Attn: Kevin E. Irwin, Esq. and Michael Scheier, Esq.) and Saiber LLC, Gateway 1, 13th Floor, Newark, New Jersey, 07102-5311 (Attn: David R. Gross, Esq. and Nancy A. Washington, Esq.).

Objections to confirmation of the Plan are governed by Rule 9014 of the Federal Rules of Bankruptcy Procedure.

UNLESS AN OBJECTION TO CONFIRMATION IS TIMELY SERVED AND FILED, IT MAY NOT BE CONSIDERED BY THE BANKRUPTCY COURT.

B REQUIREMENTS FOR CONFIRMATION OF THE PLAN

At the Confirmation Hearing, the Bankruptcy Court will determine whether the Plan satisfies the requirements for confirmation listed in section 1129 of the Bankruptcy Code. If the Bankruptcy Court determines that those requirements are satisfied, it will enter an order confirming the Plan and submit the order to the United States District Court for its signature in respect of the channeling injunction. As set forth in section 1129 of the Bankruptcy Code, the requirements for confirmation are as follows:

1. The plan complies with the applicable provisions of the Bankruptcy Code.

2. The proponent of the plan complies with the applicable provisions of the Bankruptcy Code.

3. The plan has been proposed in good faith and not by any means forbidden by law.

4. Any payment made or promised by the proponent of the plan, by the debtor, or by a person issuing securities or acquiring property under the plan, for services or for costs and expenses in, or in connection with, the case, or in connection with the plan and incident to the case, has been approved by, or is subject to the approval of, the Bankruptcy Court as reasonable.

5. a. The proponent of the plan has disclosed:

(1) the identity and affiliations of any individual proposed to serve, after confirmation of the plan, as a director, officer, or voting trustee of the debtor, an affiliate of the debtor participating in a joint plan with the debtor, or a successor to the debtor under the plan; and

(2) the appointment to, or continuance in, the office of the individual, is consistent with the interests of creditors and equity security holders and with public policy.

b. The proponent of the plan has disclosed the identity of any insider that will be employed or retained by the reorganized debtor, and the nature of any compensation for the insider.

6. Any governmental regulatory commission with jurisdiction, after confirmation of the plan, over the rates of the debtor has approved any rate change provided for in the plan, or the rate change is expressly conditioned on such approval.

7. With respect to each impaired class of claims or interests:

a. Each holder of a claim or interest of the class has

(1) accepted the plan; or

(2) will receive or retain under the plan on account of the claim or interest property of a value, as of the effective date of the plan, that is not less than the amount that the holder would so receive or retain if the debtor were liquidated under chapter 7 of the Bankruptcy Code on that date; or

b. If section 1111(b)(2) of the Bankruptcy Code applies to the claims of the class, the holder of the claim of the class will receive or retain under the plan property of a value, as of the effective date of the plan, that is not less than the value of the holder's interest in property of the estate that secures the claim.

8. With respect to each class of claims or interests:

a. The class has accepted the plan; or

b. The class is not impaired under the plan.

9. Except to the extent that the holder of a particular claim has agreed to a different treatment of the claim, the plan provides that:

a. With respect to a claim of a kind specified in section 507(a)(1) or 507(a)(2) of the Bankruptcy Code, on the effective date of the plan, the holder of the claim will receive on account of the claim cash equal to the allowed amount of the claim;

b. With respect to a class of claims of a kind specified in section 507(a)(3), 507(a)(4), 507(a)(5), or 507(a)(6) of the Bankruptcy Code, each holder of a claim of the class will receive:

(1) if the class has accepted the plan, deferred cash payments of a value, as of the effective date of the plan, equal to the allowed amount of the claim; or

(2) if the class has not accepted the plan, cash on the effective date of the plan equal to the allowed amount of the claim; and

c. With respect to a claim of a kind specified in section 507(a)(7) of the Bankruptcy Code, the holder of a claim will receive on account of the claim deferred cash payments, over a period not exceeding six years after the date of assessment of such claim, of a value, as of the effective date of the plan, equal to the allowed amount of such claim.

10. If a class of claims is impaired under the plan, at least one class of claims that is impaired has accepted the plan, determined without including any acceptance of the plan by any insider holding a claim of the class.

11. Confirmation of the plan is not likely to be followed by the liquidation, or the need for further financial reorganization, of the debtor or any successor to the debtor under the plan, unless such liquidation or reorganization is proposed in the plan.

12. All fees payable under 28 U.S.C. § 1930, as determined by the Bankruptcy Court at the hearing on confirmation of the plan, have been paid or the plan provides for the payment of all such fees on the effective date of the plan.

13. The plan provides for the continuation after its effective date of payment of all retiree benefits, as that term is defined in section 1114 of the Bankruptcy Code, at the level established pursuant to subsection (e)(1)(B) or (g) of section 1114, at any time prior to confirmation of the plan, for the duration of the period the debtor has obligated itself to provide the benefits.

The Debtors believe that the Plan satisfies all of the statutory requirements of chapter 11 of the Bankruptcy Code, that the Debtors have complied or will have complied with all of the requirements of chapter 11, and that the Plan is proposed in good faith.

The Debtors believe that all holders of Asbestos Claims and all holders of Allowed Claims impaired under the Plan will receive payments under the Plan having a present value as of the Effective Date not less than the amounts they would likely receive if the Debtors were liquidated in a case under chapter 7 of the Bankruptcy Code. At the Confirmation Hearing, the Bankruptcy Court will determine whether holders of Allowed Claims would receive greater distributions under the Plan than they would have received in a liquidation under chapter 7 of the Bankruptcy Code.

C FEASIBILITY

The Bankruptcy Code requires that a debtor demonstrate that confirmation of a plan is not likely to be followed by liquidation or the need for further financial reorganization not proposed in the plan. The Debtors believe that the Plan satisfies the financial feasibility requirement imposed by the Bankruptcy Code. At the Confirmation Hearing, the Bankruptcy Court will determine whether the Plan is feasible.

D BEST INTERESTS TESTS

As described above, the Bankruptcy Code requires that each holder of an impaired Claim or Equity Interest either (i) accept the Plan or (ii) receive or retain under the Plan property of a value, as of the Effective Date, that is not less than the value such holder would receive if the Debtors were liquidated under chapter 7 of the Bankruptcy Code.

The first step in determining whether this test has been satisfied is to determine the dollar amount that would be generated from the liquidation of the Debtors' assets and properties in the context of a chapter 7 liquidation case. The gross amount of Cash that would be available for satisfaction of Claims and Equity Interests would be the sum of the proceeds resulting from the disposition of the unencumbered assets and properties of the Debtors, augmented by any unencumbered Cash held by the Debtors at the time of the commencement of the liquidation case.

The next step is to reduce that gross amount by the costs and expenses of the liquidation itself and by such additional administrative and priority Claims that are projected to result from the liquidation of the Debtors. Any remaining net Cash would be allocated to creditors and stockholders in strict priority in accordance with section 726 of the Bankruptcy Code. Finally, the present value of such allocations (taking into account the time necessary to accomplish the liquidation) are compared to the value of the property that is proposed to be distributed under the Plan on the Effective Date.

The Debtors' costs of liquidation under chapter 7 would include the fees payable to a trustee in bankruptcy, as well as those fees that might be payable to attorneys and other professionals that such a trustee might engage. Other liquidation costs include the expenses incurred during the chapter 11 cases Allowed in the chapter 7 case, such as compensation for attorneys, financial advisors, appraisers, accountants and other professionals for the Debtor, the Asbestos Claimants Committee and the Legal Representative, and costs and expenses of members of the Asbestos Claimants Committee, as well as other compensation Claims.

The foregoing types of Claims, costs, expenses, fees, and other similar charges that may arise in a liquidation case would be paid in full from the liquidation proceeds before the balance of those proceeds would be made available to pay pre-chapter 11 priority and Unsecured Claims.

The Debtors' liquidation analysis is an estimate of the proceeds that may be generated as a result of a hypothetical chapter 7 liquidation of the Debtors. The analysis is based on a number of significant assumptions which are described below. The liquidation analysis does not purport to be a valuation of the Debtors' assets and is not necessarily indicative of the values that may be realized in an actual liquidation.

E LIQUIDATION ANALYSIS

As noted above, the Debtors believe that under the Plan all holders of impaired Claims and Equity Interests will receive property with a value not less than the value such holder would receive in a liquidation of the Debtors under chapter 7 of the Bankruptcy Code. The Debtors' belief is based primarily on (i) consideration of the effects that a chapter 7 liquidation would have on the ultimate proceeds available for distribution to holders of impaired Claims and Equity Interests, including (a) the unavailability of a section 524(g) channeling injunction in chapter 7, without which the amount a buyer would pay for the stock of BMCA will likely diminish materially, (b) the increased costs and expenses of a liquidation under chapter 7 arising from fees payable to a chapter 7 trustee and professional advisors to the trustee, (c) the erosion in value of assets in a chapter 7 case in the context of the rapid liquidation required under chapter 7 and the "forced sale" atmosphere that would prevail, (d) the adverse effects on BMCA's businesses as a result of the likely departure of key employees and the probable loss of customers, (e) the substantial increases in Claims, such as estimated contingent Claims, which would be satisfied on a priority basis or on parity with the holders of impaired Claims and Equity Interests of the chapter 11 cases, (f) the reduction of value associated with a chapter 7 trustee's operation of the BMCA business, and (g) the substantial delay in distributions to the holders of impaired Claims and Equity Interests that would likely ensue in a chapter 7 liquidation and (ii) the liquidation analysis prepared by the Debtors which will be filed with the Bankruptcy Court prior to the Disclosure Statement Hearing (the "Liquidation Analysis").

The Debtors believe that any liquidation analysis is speculative, as such an analysis necessarily is premised on assumptions and estimates which are inherently subject to significant uncertainties and contingencies, many of which would be beyond the control of the Debtors. Thus, there can be no assurance as to values that would actually be realized in a chapter 7 liquidation, nor can there be any assurance that the Bankruptcy Court will accept the Debtors' conclusions or concur with their assumptions in making its determinations under section 1129(a)(7) of the Bankruptcy Code.

For example, the Liquidation Analysis necessarily contains an estimate of the amount of Claims which will ultimately become Allowed Claims. This estimate is based solely upon (a) the Asbestos Claimants Committee's and Legal Representative's estimate of the number and value of Asbestos Personal Injury Claims and Demands, and (b) for other claims, the Debtors' review of their books and records and the Debtors' estimates as to additional Claims that may be filed in the chapter 11 cases or that would arise in the event of a conversion of the case from chapter 11 to chapter 7. No order or finding has been entered by the Bankruptcy Court or any other court estimating or otherwise fixing the amount of Claims at the projected-amounts of Allowed Claims set forth in the Liquidation Analysis. The estimate of Asbestos Claims and Allowed Claims set forth in the Liquidation Analysis should not be relied on for any other purpose, including any determination of the value of any distribution to be made on account of such Claims under the Plan.

To the extent that confirmation of the Plan requires the establishment of amounts for the chapter 7 liquidation value of the Debtor, funds available to pay Claims, and the reorganization value of the Debtor, the Bankruptcy Court will determine those amounts at the Confirmation Hearing. Accordingly, the annexed Liquidation Analysis is provided solely to disclose to holders the effects of a hypothetical chapter 7 liquidation of the Debtor, subject to the assumptions set forth therein.

F SECTION 1129(B)

The Bankruptcy Court may confirm a plan over the rejection or deemed rejection of the plan by a class of claims or equity interests if the plan "does not discriminate unfairly" and is "fair and equitable" with respect to such class.

1. No Unfair Discrimination

This test applies to classes of Claims or Equity Interests that are of equal priority and are receiving different treatment under the Plan. The test does not require that the treatment be the same or equivalent, only that such treatment be "fair."

2. Fair and Equitable Test

This test applies to classes of different priority and status (e.g., Unsecured Claims and equity) and includes the general requirement that no class of Claims receive more than 100% of the Allowed amount of the Claims in such class. As to the treatment that must be afforded to each rejecting class, the test sets different standards, depending on the type of Claims or interests in such class:

- Secured Creditors. Each holder of an impaired secured Claim must either (i) retain its liens on the property, to the extent of the Allowed amount of its secured Claim and receive deferred Cash payments having a value, as of the effective date, of at least the Allowed amount of such Claim, or (ii) have the right to credit bid the amount of its Claim if its collateral security is sold and retain its liens against the proceeds of the sale (or if sold, on the proceeds thereof) or (iii) receive the "indubitable equivalent" of its Allowed secured Claim.

- Unsecured Creditors. Either (i) each holder of an impaired Unsecured Claim must receive or retain under the plan property of a value equal to the amount of its Allowed Claim or (ii) the holders of Claims and interests that are junior to the Claims of the dissenting class must not receive any property under the plan.

- Equity Interests. Either (i) each Equity Interest holder must receive or retain under the Plan property of a value equal to the greater of (a) the fixed liquidation preference or redemption price, if any, of such stock and (b) the value of the stock, or (ii) the holders of interests that are junior to the Equity Interests of the dissenting class must not receive or retain any property under the Plan.

The Debtors believe the Plan will satisfy the "fair and equitable" requirements.

XI. PROJECTIONS

A INTRODUCTION

This section includes projections for the Reorganized Debtors (as successor to the Debtors) based on information available at the time of the preparation of this Disclosure Statement.

The projections assume an Effective Date of December 31, 2008, with Allowed Claims and Asbestos Claims treated in accordance with the provisions set forth in the Plan. Expenses incurred as a result of the Chapter 11 Cases are assumed to be paid on the Effective Date.

It is important to note that the projections described below may differ from actual performance and are highly dependent on significant assumptions concerning the future operations of BMCA. These assumptions include the growth of certain lines of business, labor and other operating costs, inflation, and the level of investment required for capital expenditures and working capital. Please refer to Section IX for a discussion of many of the factors that could have a material effect on the information provided in this section.

B PROJECTIONS

A copy of G-I's pro forma balance sheet and other Debtor financial information is annexed hereto as Exhibit D.

XII. CERTAIN FEDERAL INCOME TAX CONSEQUENCES OF THE PLAN

The following discussion summarizes certain U.S. federal income tax consequences of the implementation of the Plan to the Debtors and to certain holders of Allowed Claims. The following summary does not address the federal income tax consequences to holders of Claims or Equity Interests that are either unimpaired under the Plan or deemed to reject the Plan or to entities having no tax consequences such as governmental holders of Priority Tax Claims.

The following summary is based on the Tax Code, Treasury regulations promulgated thereunder, judicial decisions, and published administrative rules and pronouncements of the Internal Revenue Service (the "IRS"), all as in effect on the date hereof. These rules are subject to change, possibly on a retroactive basis, and any such change could significantly affect the U.S. federal income tax consequences described below.

The federal income tax consequences of the Plan are complex and are subject to significant uncertainties. The Debtors have not requested a ruling from the IRS with respect to any of the tax aspects of the Plan, other than a ruling that the Asbestos Trust is a "qualified settlement fund" under Treasury Regulation section 1.468B-1 et seq. Thus, no assurance can be given as to the interpretation that the IRS will adopt. In addition, this summary addresses neither state, local, or foreign income or other tax consequences of the Plan, nor the federal income tax consequences of the Plan to special classes of taxpayers (such as foreign taxpayers, broker-dealers, banks, mutual funds, insurance companies, other financial institutions, small business investment companies, regulated investment companies, tax-exempt organizations, persons holding an equity interest as part of an integrated constructive sale or straddle, and investors in pass-through entities).

Accordingly, the following summary of certain federal income tax consequences is for informational purposes only and is not a substitute for careful tax planning and advice based upon the individual circumstances pertaining to a holder of a Claim.

To ensure compliance with Internal Revenue Service Circular 230, holders of Claims and Equity Interests are hereby notified that: (a) any discussion of federal income tax issues contained or reflected in this Disclosure Statement is not intended or written to be used, and cannot be used, by any holder for the purpose of avoiding penalties that may be imposed on the holder under the Internal Revenue Code; (b) such discussion is written to support the promotion or marketing of the transactions or matters addressed herein; and (c) holders should seek advice based on their particular circumstances from an independent tax advisor.

A. CONSEQUENCES TO DEBTORS

1. Treatment of the Asbestos Trust

The Asbestos Trust is intended to be a "qualified settlement fund" within the meaning of Treasury Regulation section 1.468B-1 et seq. In accordance with the Plan, the Debtors have requested a ruling from the IRS confirming such treatment with respect to the Asbestos Trust. Moreover, it is a condition to the effectiveness of the Plan (waivable by the Debtors, with appropriate consents) that a favorable ruling be obtained from the IRS with respect to the qualification of the Asbestos Trust as a "qualified settlement fund" or that the Debtors have received an opinion of counsel with respect to the tax status of the trust reasonably satisfactory to the Debtors, the Asbestos Claimants Committee, and the Legal Representative.

Assuming the Asbestos Trust is treated as a qualified settlement fund, the Debtors generally would be entitled to a current federal income tax deduction for all transfers of cash, stock, and other property (other than notes) to the Asbestos Trust to the same extent it would have been entitled to a deduction if such amounts had been paid directly to the holder of an Asbestos Claim.

The Debtors expect to obtain a substantial tax deduction upon the funding of the Asbestos Trust on the Effective Date and, consequently, to have substantial Net Operating Losses ("NOL") that may be carried back ten years. The Reorganized Debtors will only be entitled to a deduction with respect to the Trust Note contributed to the Asbestos Trust as and when payments are made on such note.

As a qualified settlement fund, the Asbestos Trust will be subject to a separate entity level tax at the maximum rate applicable to trusts and estates. In accordance with the Plan, the Debtors have requested a ruling from the IRS that: (a) any amounts transferred by the Debtors or the Reorganized Debtors to the Asbestos Trust to satisfy a liability for which the fund is established will be excluded from the trust's income; (b) any sale, exchange, or distribution of property by the Asbestos Trust generally will result in the recognition of gain or loss in an amount equal to the difference between the fair market value of the property on the date of disposition and the adjusted tax basis of the Asbestos Trust in such property; and (c) administrative costs (including state and local taxes) incurred by the Asbestos Trust will be deductible. In general, the adjusted tax basis of property received by the Asbestos Trust pursuant to the Plan will be its fair market value at the time of transfer to the trust.

2. Cancellation of Debt Income

Generally, the discharge of a debt obligation by a taxpayer for an amount less than its adjusted issue price (in most cases, the amount the debtor received on incurring the obligation, with certain adjustments) creates cancellation of debt ("COD") income, which must be included in the taxpayer's income. In an exception to this rule, a debtor in a bankruptcy case excludes COD income from taxable income if the debt discharge giving rise to it is granted by the court or occurs pursuant to a court-approved plan of reorganization. Instead, certain income tax attributes otherwise available and of value to the debtor are reduced, in most cases by the amount of the debt discharged.

In connection with the implementation of the Plan, the Debtors may recognize COD income. Such COD income should be excluded from taxable income under the bankruptcy exception contained in the Tax Code (except, perhaps, in connection with certain Claims of Affiliates), and will result in a reduction of certain tax attributes of the Debtors.

B. CONSEQUENCES TO HOLDERS OF CERTAIN CLAIMS.

1. Consequences to Holders of Certain Claims Receiving Cash

The holder of a Claim (other than Asbestos Claims, Asbestos Property Damage Claims, and Asbestos Property Damage Contribution Claims) that receives cash in satisfaction of the Claim will generally recognize gain or loss in an amount equal to the difference between the amount of cash received (other than cash allocable to interest on the Claim, which will be taxed as ordinary interest income) and the holder's basis in the Claim. Any gain or loss recognized will be capital or ordinary, depending on the status of the Claim in the holder's hands, including whether the Claim constitutes a market discount bond.

Gain or loss recognized by a holder of an Allowed Claim will be a long-term capital gain or loss if the Claim is a capital asset in the holder's hands and if the holder has held the Claim for more than one year, unless the holder has previously claimed a bad debt or worthless securities deduction or the holder has accrued market discount with respect to the Claim. All or part of the cash received by a holder of an Allowed Claim that has previously claimed a bad debt or worthless securities deduction with respect to the Claim may be ordinary income.

2. Distributions in Discharge of Accrued but Unpaid Interest

In general, a Claim holder that was not previously required to include in its taxable income any accrued but unpaid pre-Effective Date interest on the Claim will be required to take such amount into income as taxable interest.

3. Consequences to Holders of Asbestos Claims

Each Asbestos Personal Injury Claim will be liquidated and satisfied in cash (if payable under the Trust Distribution Procedures) solely from the Asbestos Trust, in accordance with the Asbestos Trust Distribution Procedures. The federal income tax treatment of a receipt of payments by a holder of such Claim generally will depend upon the nature of the Claim. Because the amounts received by the holder of an Asbestos Personal Injury Claim generally will be attributable to, and compensation for, such holder's personal physical injuries or sickness, within the meaning of section 104 of the Tax Code, any such amounts received by the holder should be nontaxable. Each holder of an Asbestos Claim should consult his or her own tax advisors as to the proper tax treatment of any amounts received with respect to such Claim.

4. Consequences to Holders of Asbestos Property Damage Claims and Property Damage Contribution Claims

Each Allowed Asbestos Property Damage Claim and Allowed Property Damage Contribution Claim will be satisfied in Cash in an amount equal to its Proportional Share of the PD Existing Insurance. The federal income tax treatment of a receipt of payments by a holder of such Claim generally will depend upon the nature of the Claim. If any amount received by such holder with respect to such Claim is used to restore damaged property to its original condition, such amount generally should be nontaxable to the holder. However, any amount received in respect of property that has been destroyed and will not be replaced by the holder generally should be treated as received in respect of a sale or exchange of such property and may give rise to gain or loss generally equal to the difference between (i) such amount and (ii) the adjusted tax basis of the holder in the destroyed property. To the extent the amount received is used to replace destroyed property with similar property, the holder may be able to avoid recognizing gain under section 1033 of the Tax Code (governing involuntary conversions). Because the tax treatment of any amount received by a holder under the Plan will depend on facts peculiar to each holder, all holders of Asbestos Property Damage Claims and Property Damage Contribution Claims should consult their own tax advisors as to the proper tax treatment of such receipts.

5. Information Reporting and Withholding

All distributions to holders of Allowed Claims under the Plan are subject to any applicable withholding (including employment tax withholding). Under federal income tax law, interest, dividends, and other reportable payments may, under certain circumstances, be subject to "backup withholding" at the then applicable rate (currently 28%). Backup withholding generally applies if the holder (a) fails to furnish its social security number or other taxpayer identification number ("TIN"), (b) furnishes an incorrect TIN, (c) fails properly to report interest or dividends, or (d) under certain circumstances, fails to provide a certified statement, signed under penalty of perjury, that the TIN provided is its correct number and that it is not subject to backup withholding. Certain persons are exempt from backup withholding, including, in certain circumstances, corporations and financial institutions. Backup withholding is not an additional tax but merely an advance payment, which may be refunded to the extent it results in an overpayment of tax and the appropriate information is supplied to the IRS.

The Treasury Regulations generally require disclosure by a taxpayer on its federal income tax return of certain types of transactions in which the taxpayer participated, including, among other types of transactions, the following: (i) certain transactions that result in the taxpayer claiming a loss in excess of specified thresholds; and (ii) certain transactions in which the taxpayer's book-tax differences exceed a specified threshold in any tax year. Holders are urged to consult their tax advisors regarding these regulations and whether the transactions contemplated by the Plan would be subject to these regulations and require disclosure on the holders' tax returns.

THE FOREGOING SUMMARY HAS BEEN PROVIDED FOR INFORMATIONAL PURPOSES ONLY. ALL HOLDERS OF CLAIMS ARE URGED TO CONSULT THEIR TAX ADVISORS CONCERNING THE FEDERAL, STATE, LOCAL AND OTHER TAX CONSEQUENCES APPLICABLE UNDER THE PLAN.

XIII. CONCLUSION

The Debtors believe the Plan is in the best interests of all creditors and urge the holders of impaired Claims to vote to accept the Plan and to evidence such acceptance by timely returning their Ballots.

- changes in labor conditions and difficulties in staffing and managing international operations;
- social plans that prohibit or increase the cost of certain restructuring actions;
- the potential for nationalization of enterprises or facilities; and
- unsettled political conditions and possible terrorist attacks against U.S. or other interests.

In addition, there are potential tax inefficiencies in repatriating funds from our non-U.S. subsidiaries.

These and other factors may have a material adverse effect on our international operations and, consequently, on our consolidated financial condition or results of operations.

If the Settlement agreement (as defined in Note 17, "Commitments and Contingencies") is not implemented, we will not be released from the various asbestos-related, fraudulent transfer, successor liability, and indemnification claims made against us arising from a 1998 transaction with Grace. We have no control over the timing of the cash payment required from us under the Settlement agreement. We are also a defendant in a number of asbestos-related actions in Canada arising from Grace's activities in Canada prior to the 1998 transaction.

On March 31, 1998, Sealed Air completed a multi-step transaction (the "Cryovac transaction") involving Grace which brought the Cryovac packaging business and the former Sealed Air Corporation's business under the common ownership of the Company. As part of that transaction, Grace and its subsidiaries retained all liabilities arising out of their operations before the Cryovac transaction (including asbestos-related liabilities), other than liabilities relating to Cryovac's operations, and agreed to indemnify the Company with respect to such retained liabilities. Since 2000, the Company has been served with a number of lawsuits alleging that, as a result of the Cryovac transaction, the Company is responsible for the alleged asbestos liabilities of Grace and its subsidiaries. While they vary, these suits all appear to allege that the transfer of the Cryovac business was a fraudulent transfer or gave rise to successor liability. On April 2, 2001, Grace and certain of its subsidiaries filed for Chapter 11 relief in the U.S. Bankruptcy Court for the District of Delaware (the "Bankruptcy Court"). In connection with Grace's Chapter 11 case, the Bankruptcy Court issued orders dated May 3, 2001 and January 22, 2002, staying all asbestos actions against the Company. However, the official committees appointed to represent asbestos claimants in Grace's Chapter 11 case (the "Committees") received the court's permission to pursue fraudulent transfer and other claims against the Company and its subsidiary Cryovac, Inc. based upon the Cryovac transaction. This proceeding was brought in the U.S. District Court for the District of Delaware (the "District Court") (Adv. No. 02-02210).

On November 27, 2002, we reached an agreement in principle with the Committees to resolve the fraudulent transfer proceeding and all current and future asbestos-related claims made against us and our affiliates in connection with the Cryovac transaction. The Settlement agreement will also resolve the fraudulent transfer claims and successor liability claims, as well as indemnification claims by Fresenius Medical Care Holdings, Inc. and affiliated companies in connection with the Cryovac transaction. The parties to the agreement in principle signed the definitive Settlement agreement as of November 10, 2003 consistent with the terms of the agreement in principle. On June 27, 2005, the Bankruptcy Court signed an order approving the definitive Settlement agreement. Although Grace is not a party to the Settlement agreement, under the terms of the order, Grace is directed to comply with the Settlement agreement subject to limited exceptions. On September 19, 2008, Grace, the Official Committee of Asbestos Personal Injury Claimants, the Asbestos PI Future Claimants' Representative (the "FCR"), and the Official Committee of Equity Security Holders (the "Equity Committee") filed, as co-proponents, a plan of reorganization (as filed and amended from time to time, the "PI Settlement Plan") and several exhibits and associated documents, including a disclosure statement (as filed and amended from time to time, the "PI Settlement Disclosure Statement"), with the Bankruptcy Court. As filed, the PI Settlement Plan would provide for the establishment of two asbestos trusts under Section 524(g) of the United States Bankruptcy Code to which present and future asbestos-related claims would be channeled. The PI Settlement Plan also contemplates that the terms of our definitive Settlement agreement will be incorporated into the PI Settlement Plan and that we will pay the amount contemplated by that agreement.

On January 31, 2011, the Bankruptcy Court entered a memorandum opinion (the "Bankruptcy Court Opinion") overruling certain objections to the PI Settlement Plan. On the same date, the Bankruptcy Court entered an order regarding confirmation of the PI Settlement Plan (the "Bankruptcy Court Confirmation Order"). As entered on January 31, 2011, the Bankruptcy Court Confirmation Order contained recommended findings of fact and conclusions of law, and recommended that the District Court approve the Confirmation Order, and that the District Court confirm the PI Settlement Plan and issue a channeling injunction under Section 524(g) of the Bankruptcy Code. Thereafter, on February 15, 2011, the Bankruptcy Court issued an order clarifying the Bankruptcy Court Opinion and the Bankruptcy Court Confirmation Order (the "Clarifying Order"). Among other things, the Clarifying Order provided that any references in the Bankruptcy Court Opinion and the Bankruptcy Court Confirmation Order to a recommendation that the District Court confirm the PI Settlement Plan were thereby amended to make clear that the PI Settlement Plan was confirmed and that the Bankruptcy Court was requesting that the District Court issue and affirm the Confirmation Order including the injunction under Section 524(g) of the Bankruptcy Code. On March 11, 2011, the Bankruptcy Court entered an order granting in part and denying in part a motion to reconsider the Bankruptcy Court Opinion filed by BNSF Railway Company (the "March 11 Order"). Among other things, the March 11 Order amended the Bankruptcy Court Opinion to clarify certain matters relating to objections to the PI Settlement Plan filed by BNSF.

Table of Contents

Various parties appealed or otherwise challenged the Bankruptcy Court Opinion and the Bankruptcy Court Confirmation Order, including without limitation with respect to issues relating to releases and injunctions contained in the PI Settlement Plan. On June 28 and 29, 2011, the District Court heard oral arguments in connection with appeals of the Bankruptcy Court Opinion and the Bankruptcy Court Confirmation Order. On January 30, 2012, the District Court issued a memorandum opinion (the "District Court Opinion") and confirmation order (the "District Court Confirmation Order") overruling all objections to the PI Settlement Plan and confirming the PI Settlement Plan in its entirety (including the issuance of the injunction under Section 524(g) of the Bankruptcy Code). On February 2, 2012, Garlock Sealing Technologies LLC ("Garlock") filed a motion (the "Garlock Reargument Motion") with the District Court requesting that the District Court grant reargument, rehearing, or otherwise amend the District Court Opinion and the District Court Confirmation Order insofar as they overrule Garlock's objections to the PI Settlement Plan. On February 13, 2012, the Company, Cryovac, and Fresenius Medical Care Holdings, Inc. filed a joint motion (the "Sealed Air/Fresenius Motion") with the District Court. The Sealed Air/Fresenius Motion does not seek to disturb confirmation of the PI Settlement Plan but requests that the District Court amend and clarify certain matters in the District Court Opinion and the District Court Confirmation Order. Also on February 13, 2012, Grace and the other proponents of the PI Settlement Plan filed a motion (the "Plan Proponents' Motion") with the District Court requesting certain of the same amendments and clarifications sought by the Sealed Air/Fresenius Motion. On February 27, 2012, certain asbestos claimants known as the "Libby Claimants" filed a response to the Sealed Air/Fresenius Motion and the Plan Proponents' Motion (the "Libby Response"). The Libby Response does not oppose the Sealed Air/Fresenius Motion or the Plan Proponents' Motion but indicates, among other things, that: (a) the Libby Claimants have reached a settlement in principle of their objections to the PI Settlement Plan but that this settlement has not become effective and (b) the Libby Claimants reserve their rights with respect to the PI Settlement Plan pending the effectiveness of the Libby Claimants' settlement. In addition, parties have appealed the District Court Opinion and the District Court Confirmation Order to the United States Court of Appeals for the Third Circuit (the "Third Circuit Court of Appeals"). By orders dated February 23, 2012, the Third Circuit Court of Appeals stayed appeals of the District Court Opinion and the District Court Confirmation Order pending disposition of motions filed in the District Court with respect to the District Court Opinion and the District Court Confirmation Order. The District Court has not ruled on the Garlock Reargument Motion, the Sealed Air/Fresenius Motion, or the Plan Proponents' Motion. In addition, on February 27, 2012, Garlock filed a motion (the "Garlock Stay Motion") requesting that the District Court stay the District Court Opinion and the District Court Confirmation Order until the later of 14 days after the disposition of the Garlock Reargument Motion or disposition of any timely appeal by Garlock of the District Court Opinion and the District Court Confirmation Order. The District Court has not ruled on the Garlock Stay Motion.

If it becomes effective, the PI Settlement Plan may implement the terms of the Settlement agreement, but there can be no assurance that this will be the case notwithstanding the confirmation of the PI Settlement Plan by the Bankruptcy Court and the District Court. The terms of the PI Settlement Plan remain subject to amendment. Moreover, the PI Settlement Plan is subject to the satisfaction of a number of conditions which are more fully set forth in the PI Settlement Plan and include, without limitation, the availability of exit financing and the approval of the PI Settlement Plan becoming final and no longer subject to appeal. Parties have appealed the District Court Confirmation Order to the Third Circuit Court of Appeals or otherwise challenged the District Court Opinion and the District Court Confirmation Order. Matters relating to the PI Settlement Plan, the Bankruptcy and District Court Opinions, and the Bankruptcy and District Court Confirmation Orders may be subject to further appeal, challenge, and proceedings before the District Court, the Third Circuit Court of Appeals, or other courts. Parties may designate various issues to be considered in challenging the PI Settlement Plan, the Bankruptcy and District Court Opinions, or the Bankruptcy and District Court Confirmation Orders, including, without limitation, issues relating to releases and injunctions contained in the PI Settlement Plan.

While the Bankruptcy Court and the District Court have confirmed the PI Settlement Plan, we do not know whether or when the Third Circuit Court of Appeals will affirm the District Court Confirmation Order or the District Court Opinion, whether or when the Bankruptcy and District Court Opinions or the Bankruptcy and District Court Confirmation Orders will become final and no longer subject to appeal, or whether or when a final plan of reorganization (whether the PI Settlement Plan or another plan of reorganization) will become effective. Assuming that a final plan of reorganization (whether the PI Settlement Plan or another plan of reorganization) is confirmed by the Bankruptcy Court and the District Court, and does become effective, we do not know whether the final plan of reorganization will be consistent with the terms of the Settlement agreement or if the other conditions to our obligation to pay the Settlement agreement amount will be met. If these conditions are not satisfied or not waived by us, we will not be obligated to pay the amount contemplated by the Settlement agreement. However, if we do not pay the Settlement agreement amount, we and our affiliates will not be released from the various claims against us.

If the Settlement agreement does not become effective, either because Grace fails to emerge from bankruptcy or because Grace does not emerge from bankruptcy with a plan of reorganization that is consistent with the terms of the Settlement agreement, then we and our affiliates will not be released from the various asbestos-related, fraudulent transfer, successor liability, and indemnification claims made against us and our affiliates noted above, and all of these claims would remain pending and would have to be resolved through other means, such as through agreement on alternative settlement terms or trials. In that case, we could face liabilities that are significantly different from our obligations under the Settlement agreement. We cannot estimate at this time what those differences or their magnitude may be. In the event these liabilities are materially larger than the current existing obligations, they could have a material adverse effect on our consolidated financial condition or results of operations.

Since November 2004, the Company and specified subsidiaries have been named as defendants in a number of cases, including a number of

In re: SPECIALTY PRODUCTS HOLDING CORP., et al.,[1] Debtors.	Chapter 11 Case No. 10-11780 (JKF) Jointly Administered Hearing Date: December 19, 2011 at 9:30 a.m. Objection Deadline: December 2, 2011 at 4:30 p.m.

MOTION OF THE OFFICIAL COMMITTEE OF ASBESTOS PERSONAL INJURY CLAIMANTS AND THE FUTURE CLAIMANTS' REPRESENTATIVE FOR ENTRY OF AN ORDER GRANTING LEAVE, STANDING AND AUTHORITY TO PROSECUTE CLAIMS ON BEHALF OF THE DEBTORS' ESTATES

The Official Committee of Asbestos Personal Injury Claimants (the "Committee") and Eric D. Green, the Future Claimants' Representative (the "FCR," and collectively, with the Committee, the "Movants"), hereby move for entry of an order authorizing Movants to prosecute certain claims on behalf of the Debtors' estates including, inter alia, claims for (i) avoidance and recovery of fraudulent transfers, (ii) damages proximately related to directors' and officers' breaches of fiduciary duties and RPM International's aiding and abetting those breaches, (iii) illegal dividends, and (iv) unjust enrichment. In Support of this Motion, Movants respectfully state as follows:

PRELIMINARY STATEMENT[2]

1. The Movants seek authority under Official Comm. of Unsecured Creditors of Cybergenics Corp. ex rel. Cybergenics Corp. v. Chinery, 330 F.3d 548, 568 (3d Cir. 2003) (en banc) ("Cybergenics II"), to file a complaint on behalf of the estates asserting claims arising out

---

[1] The last four digits of the debtors' taxpayer identification numbers follow in parentheses: Specialty Products Holding Corp. (0857) and Bondex RPM International, Inc. (4125). The Debtors' address is 4515 St. Clair Avenue, Cleveland, Ohio 44103.

[2] Capitalized terms used but not defined in this Preliminary Statement shall have the meanings assigned to them in the body of this Motion.

the improper and fraudulent transfer from Debtor Specialty Products Holding Corp. ("SPHC") of over 75% of SPHC's value but none of its liabilities (including substantial current and future asbestos-related liabilities to the persons represented by the Movants) to its now corporate parent, RPM International, Inc. ("International"). A draft of the proposed Complaint is being filed as an exhibit hereto under seal.[3]

2. Movants must assert these claims because the Debtors will not, and indeed cannot, credibly do so. First, the Debtors have already stated in open Court that following a purportedly "extensive" investigation, they have determined that International has no liability to the estates, and indeed intended to prosecute a declaratory judgment action (the "Declaratory Judgment Action") using the Debtors' resources solely for the benefit of International.[4] Second, SPHC's Board of Directors is not independent, having been hand-picked by International, with two of the three directors having previously served as officers of International and being putative defendants in the contemplated litigation. Third, one of the directors named in the Complaint is also SPHC's CEO, who is on leave from International and was only appointed to this position in the days immediately preceding the Debtors' bankruptcy filing. Fourth, the Debtors' special corporate counsel, whom Bondex paid at least $1.31 million[5] in the year preceding the Petition Date to advise the Debtors regarding their bankruptcy filing, is also a defendant in the contemplated litigation, having played an integral role in aiding and abetting the alleged fraud. Fifth, Debtors' bankruptcy counsel also represents International, and thus has conflicts of interest

[3] Because the Debtors have designated each and every page of their production – which includes numerous indisputably public documents – as "Confidential" under the Agreed Protective Order Governing Confidential Information [D.I. 471] in this proceeding, and because some of the allegations set forth in the draft Complaint derive from those documents, the exhibit is being filed under seal The Movants reserve all rights to challenge the propriety of Debtors' confidentiality designations and anticipate doing so in connection with any Complaint that is ultimately filed.

[4] Debtors' bankruptcy counsel billed the estate at least 131.3 hours for preparation of a complaint intended to commence the Declaratory Judgment Action.

[5] This amount includes the $735,000 retainer Bondex paid to Calfee in connection with these cases.

that prohibit it from pursuing the claims asserted in the Complaint for the benefit of the Debtors' estates. In short, the key decision makers for the Debtors are the very individuals who participated in transactions that isolated the majority of the assets of the RPM empire, in order to prevent asbestos victims from reaching all but a small fraction of the assets that should properly be available to satisfy their claims.

3. Indeed, the filing of these Bankruptcy Cases is the beginning of the final step in the scheme to protect International, the intended and primary beneficiary of the Debtors' bankruptcy filings. Since the bankruptcy itself is part of the scheme to protect International, the Debtors cannot be entrusted to investigate or pursue International and its cohorts properly and thoroughly.

4. Although International has not appeared in these cases – formally or informally – its influence cannot be understated. Relying on the Board and the CEO that International selected to pursue its agenda, the sole purpose of these cases is to fully and finally insulate International from all personal injury claims relating to the manufacture, sale, and/or distribution by the Debtors of asbestos and/or asbestos-containing products ("Bondex-related asbestos claims") against International. On the day that these cases were filed, International issued a public statement that emphasized the benefits that it would obtain through a section 524(g) injunction entered in these Bankruptcy Cases. While International has been enjoying the benefits of the section 105 injunction obtained at the very start of these case, the Debtors have been primarily engaged (and using their limited assets) in an effort to provide International with leverage to reduce its contribution to the desired section 524(g) injunction by pursuing a novel and aggressive estimation theory that, by definition, would result in a lower estimation of the Debtors' asbestos liabilities.

5. Most notably, acting completely at odds with the interests of their respective chapter 11 estates and contrary to their fiduciary duty to maximize the value of those estates, the Debtors intended to pursue litigation aimed at establishing that the Debtors have no claims against International. Their investigation of potential claims relating to the 2002 Restructuring appears to have been, at best, woefully deficient. The Debtors nevertheless repeatedly have represented to the Court that such investigation provides a basis to use estate resources to pursue the Declaratory Judgment Action in favor of International. As Debtors' counsel stated to the Court:

> You will not be surprised to learn that we've looked at [claims against the Parent] … But we've looked into it, we've extensively looked into it. We don't believe any claims exist … [and] what we're going to do in the next week or so, maybe two week[s], is we're going to file a declaratory judgment action on behalf of the debtors asking for a declaration that there are no such claims ….

(Hr'g Tr. July 14, 2010 [D.I. 236], at 33:1-16.) (emphasis supplied.)[6] But for the Court's expressed concern at the Debtors' intention to seek to cut off all claims against International through the prosecution of the Declaratory Judgment Action, the Debtors would have pursued that course.

6. When asked by Movants to produce those records upon which they relied, the Debtors took more than fifteen months to produce what appears to be only some of those records. Further, well more than one-half of these records were produced after the Debtors represented to the Movants and the Court that "[w]e've turned over literally everything that's been requested …." (Hr'g Tr. 3/28/11 at 40:7.) In fact, in the last month alone, the Debtors have produced over a third of the total documents produced. If a thorough investigation had been done, these records should have been available and produced immediately, with perhaps only a small delay to complete a privilege review. That they were not produced raises significant questions as to either the quality of the investigation itself or the Debtors' motives in delaying the Movants' efforts to properly evaluate these potential claims.

[6]The Debtors have not filed the Declaratory Judgment Action. At the March 28, 2011 hearing, the Debtors' counsel informed the Court and the Movants that the Debtors no longer intended to file the Declaratory Judgment Action, but reserved the Debtors' rights to revisit the issue. (Hr'g Tr. March 28, 2011 [D.I. 1135], at 73:25-74:8 ("Now, at this point, just by way of update, I would tell Your Honor that given where we are, we determined not to file a declaratory judgment action as we discussed in July and October and accordingly, I would just withdraw all the comments I made about that at both the July and October hearings. Having said that, we obviously reserve our right to revisit that issue as circumstances develop, but I wanted Your Honor to know by way of update that that's where we are at this point.").) To date, the Debtors have given no indication to the Movants that their position with respect to claims against International has changed.

7. Still more troubling is the recent revelation that International caused the destruction of numerous hard drives and computer equipment containing a vast amount of historical information regarding the 2002 Restructuring. Disclosed by the Debtors only within the last month, it appears that many of the documents requested by the Movants were destroyed in August 2009, nine months prior to the Debtors' bankruptcy filing and at a time when International admits it was contemplating options including this bankruptcy proceeding.[7] It is unclear whether the Debtors only recently learned of the destruction of the equipment and hard drives[8], or whether they concealed this from Movants. Either way, Movants' ability to obtain all of the information sought regarding the 2002 Restructuring has been significantly delayed and impeded. The Movants must now turn to non-party discovery with less than seven months

[7] It is also clear that International knew at the time of the destruction of this evidence of the potential that claims relating to the 2002 Restructuring would be asserted. Not only had similar claims been asserted by asbestos plaintiffs in the tort system, but also the Debtors were investigating these potential claims. International was named as a defendant for Bondex-related asbestos liabilities in state litigation as early as May, 2006. See Joseph and Sybil G. Baer v. Georgia-Pacific Corporation, et al., In the 98th Judicial District Court of Travis County, Texas, Trial Court Cause No. D-1-GN-04-003598. Indeed, the destruction of the hard drives and equipment occurred just two months after International was dismissed in a case in which it was sued, along with RPM, Inc. and Bondex International, for liability based on allegations of being the alter ego of the Debtors was concluded. See William and Sharon Willis v. 84 Lumber Company, et al. in the Circuit Court of the Seventh Judicial District, Sangamon County, State of Illinois at Case No. 2007-L-0327, and while a case was still pending in the MDL in the Eastern District of Pennsylvania. See Mark W. Stratmann v. Bondex International, et al., Civil Action No. 09-CV-80031.

[8] The failure of the Debtors' counsel to issue a litigation hold letter during its investigation and in anticipation of a bankruptcy filing is yet another indication of the lack of independence and diligence they have shown in connection with these claims.

remaining on the statute of limitations. These facts demonstrate that either the Debtors did not conduct the thorough investigation they claim, or deliberately acted to delay discovery of the facts. Either way, the investigation can no longer be controlled by the Debtors.

8. Despite these delays and roadblocks, the Movants, to the extent possible, have diligently investigated the Debtors' pre-petition transactions over the course of these bankruptcy cases in furtherance of their own fiduciary duties. Based upon their investigation to date, the Movants have concluded, inter alia, that the following claims should be brought on behalf of the Debtors' estates against International, its affiliates, its officers and directs, certain professionals and other third parties:[9] (i) avoidance of fraudulent transfers, actual and constructive, related to certain transactions in 1999 and 2002, together with punitive damages for wanton, malicious and willful misconduct; (ii) conspiracy related to the certain transactions in 1999 and 2002, together with punitive damages; (iii) unjust enrichment related to certain transactions in 1999 and 2002; (iv) fraudulent disregard of the corporate form between International and SPHC; (v) illegal dividends related to certain transactions in 2002 given the known asbestos-related liabilities then in existence; (vi) breach of fiduciary duty, including the duties of good faith, loyalty and to refrain from self-dealing and self-enrichment; (vii) aiding and abetting a breach of fiduciary duty; (viii) waste of corporate assets and facilitating the transfer of such assets for inadequate consideration; and (ix) spoliation/willful destruction of critical evidence despite knowledge of ongoing strategy decisions, litigation and associated document retention requests.

9. The Debtors are well aware of the Movants' efforts to discover and investigate these claims. These efforts have been the subject of numerous meetings, correspondence and formal discovery requests since the filing of these cases.

[9] Each of these claims is specified with more particularity in section I.A herein, as well as the draft Complaint attached hereto as Exhibit A.

10. The incestuous relationships among the Debtors and the targets of the Complaint, together with the Debtors' conduct thus far as regards these claims and the Movants' investigation thereof, clearly demonstrate that any demand on the Debtors to bring and prosecute this action would be futile.

11. Accordingly, as explained more fully below, the Movants request immediate authority to prosecute the Subject Claims, and any additional claims relating to the 2002 Restructuring that may be identified through further discovery.[10]

JURISDICTION

12. This Court has jurisdiction over this matter pursuant to 28 U.S.C. §§ 157 and 1334. Venue is proper pursuant to 28 U.S.C. §§ 1408 and 1409. This matter is a core proceeding pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 157(b)(2). The statutory predicates for the relief requested herein are 11 U.S.C. §§ 105(a), 1103(c)(5), 1107(a) and 1109(b).

FACTUAL BACKGROUND

A. Procedural Background

13. On May 31, 2010 (the "Petition Date"), SPHC and Bondex International, Inc. ("Bondex" collectively, with SPHC, the "Debtors") filed voluntary petitions for relief under chapter 11 of title 11 of the United States Code, 11 U.S.C. §§101-1532 (the "Bankruptcy Code"), commencing the above-captioned bankruptcy cases (the "Bankruptcy Cases"). The Debtors continue to operate their businesses and manage their properties as debtors-in-possession pursuant to sections 1107(a) and 1108 of the Bankruptcy Code.

[10] While a draft Complaint has been filed under seal to assist the Court in evaluating the claims identified to date, the Movants are continuing additional investigation and third party discovery and expect that any final Complaint that will be filed prior to the expiration of the statute of limitations, will reflect additional factual support for the Subject Claims set forth in the attached draft Complaint, as well as additional causes of action.

14. On June 10, 2010, the Office of the United States Trustee appointed the Committee pursuant to Bankruptcy Code section 1102 [D.I. 75]. The Committee was thereafter reconstituted by the UST on October 18, 2010 [D.I. 457], and again on December 14, 2010 [D.I. 666].

15. On September 10, 2010, the Debtors filed their Application for An Order Appointing Eric D. Green as Legal Representative for Future Asbestos Claimants [D.I. 374]. On October 18, 2010, this Court entered its Order Appointing Eric D. Green as Legal Representative for Future Claimants [D.I. 449].

B. Overview of the Complaint

16. The factual background related to the estate causes of action, including the corporate background, corporate restructurings, and historical asbestos liabilities, is set forth in detail in the proposed complaint attached hereto as Exhibit A (the "Complaint").

17. To briefly summarize, the Complaint details the facts behind a multinational, multibillion dollar corporation's decade-long plan to unfairly and fraudulently escape the asbestos-related legal obligations it owes to unwitting consumers and their families. Specifically, International, its subsidiaries, and officers and directors, with the assistance of their attorneys (collectively, the "Defendants"), undertook a course of conduct that ultimately resulted in the transfer of approximately 75% of the Debtors' assets to a Byzantine corporate structure consisting of a series of holding companies and subsidiaries (the "2002 Restructuring"). These same transactions condemned the Debtors as the corporate repository of the massive asbestos liability that Defendants knew they owed, and which far exceeded the value of the Debtors' remaining assets. The Defendants conceived and executed this reorganization when the RPM entities faced not only an explosion of asbestos related claims, but also the impending exhaustion of available insurance coverage.

18. In the years preceding their bankruptcy filing, the Debtors, acting in concert with International and the attorneys named herein, embarked on a course of conduct designed to fraudulently conceal the true purpose of the reorganization, by, inter alia: (1) paying the Debtors' asbestos liability settlements via pooled corporate accounts that concealed that the Debtors were not the real payors; (2) obfuscating the true relationship amongst the corporate entities as it related to those entities that manufactured and sold asbestos-containing products; (3) using numerous name changes involving entities all with various iterations of the initials RPM, until the eve of the bankruptcy filing when RPM, Inc. filed a name change to its current iteration "SPHC"; and (4) destroying the very electronic documents and communications that would have revealed their fraudulent purpose. It was only after the Defendants believed that the statute of limitations for the fraudulent transfers they obtained from Debtors SPHC had expired, that International, at the direction of its founding family, the Sullivans, and the company's officers and directors, put the Debtors into bankruptcy.

19. Through prosecution of the Complaint, the Movants seek to hold International, the Sullivan family, their fellow affiliated officers and directors, and others who participated in the scheme accountable for their role in attempting to prevent those victims from recovering the compensation to which they are entitled. To carry out their own fiduciary duties to the Debtors' estates, the Movants seek the authority to recover damages sufficient to compensate the thousands of victims of asbestos-related personal injury claims caused by exposure to the Debtors' asbestos products.

C. Movants' Efforts to Investigate Estate Claims

20. Since the inception of these chapter 11 proceedings, the Committee has made it a priority to investigate the Debtors' historical structure and in particular the 2002 Restructuring. Shortly after the Petition Date, the Debtors and the Committee agreed to expedited discovery as part of an agreed order entered in an adversary proceeding initiated by the Debtors. This particular adversary proceeding, also filed on the Petition Date,[11] sought entry of an order extending the automatic stay to International and its affiliates. Pursuant to the Agreed Order Regarding Debtors' Request for Extension or Application of the Automatic Stay to Non-Debtor Affiliates, Adv. Pr. No. 10-51085 [D.I. 19], the Committee served its first sets of Interrogatories and Requests for Production of Documents on June 25, 2010, and proposed a reasonable schedule for expedited discovery. The requests sought both paper records and electronically stored information in the possession or control of the Debtors relevant to the 2002 Restructuring. Documents the Debtors' presumably compiled and reviewed as part of their self-described "extensive" investigation.

21. In the more than 15 months that have passed since the "expedited" discovery was served, the Debtors have produced a relatively limited number of documents, over one-third (37%) of which were produced in the last month, and then only after repeated requests, demands and ultimately threats to resort to the Court for enforcement. And even then, the production appears to be deficient in quality and quantity of the production. The slow pace of this production has been outrageous in itself, and given that the Debtors announced in July 2010 that they had already thoroughly investigated potential claims against International, and their affiliates, and were certain that no valid claims existed, it is alarming. All of the documents relevant to investigating potential estate claims against International should have been identified, organized and reviewed by the Debtors prior to July 14, 2010, yet the Debtors have parsed out these materials to the Movants in sporadic productions over the past year.[12]

[11] See Main Case [D.I. 9]; Adv. Pro. No. 10-51085 [D.I. 1].

[12] On September 10, 2010, the agreed deadline for production of all responsive documents, the Debtors produced 266 documents that included only publicly-available documents, such as corporate press releases, annual reports, and SEC filings, and indicated more documents were to be on a rolling basis, without providing any timeframe. The

22. Most distressing of all, and despite specific discovery requests directed toward, and meet-and-confer sessions dedicated solely to, the discovery of electronically stored information ("ESI"), the Debtors informed the Movants just last month that International destroyed a substantial amount of ESI in August 2009, a mere nine months before the Debtors' bankruptcy filing. The Movants contend that the numerous hard drives and other computer hardware that were destroyed contained a vast amount of historical information of critical relevance to this proceeding[13]. And this was not a routine destruction: the Debtors' bankruptcy filing was already in the planning stages, and International had been sued in asbestos-related actions in the tort system under various theories including piercing the corporate veil and successor liability. (See Hr'g Tr. 7/14/10 at 33:2-4 (Mr. Gordon: "I mean, those issues have come up in the state court litigation for years, and there's been allegations that the parent has some responsibility for what happened here . . . .").)[14] The most troubling aspect of this critical fact is that the destruction either was withheld from the Movants for over 15 months, or was never uncovered by the Debtors, despite their purportedly "extensive" investigation.

23. The actions of the Debtors throughout the discovery process, including the failure to notify the Movants of the August 2009 destruction of the server, are indicative of the Debtors' failure to fulfill one of their most fundamental fiduciary duties – the evaluation of potential claims held by the estates. By doing so, the Debtors have allowed much of the two-year post-petition period for filing estate claims to dwindle away. The Movants have no choice at this point but to take complete control of the investigation and seek authority under Cybergenics to pursue any derivative claims arising out of the 2002 Restructuring.

Debtors continued to provide sporadic document productions in October, November, December 2010 and January and on February 1, 2011, what the Debtors' deemed to be their "final" production. The seven productions over this timeframe omitted complete financial information and internal communications and records necessary to investigate estate causes of action. After extensive correspondence from the Movants specifically identifying deficiencies with the Debtors' production, and several meet and confers, the Debtors resumed document production, with nine additional document productions between September 23 and November 9, 2011.

ARGUMENT

I. The Movants Clearly Satisfy the Cybergenics Standard for Derivative Standing

24. It is not reasonably disputable that derivative standing is warranted on the facts of this case. The Third Circuit has made plain that derivative standing is warranted in instances, such as the present case, where the debtor in possession is unable or unwilling to pursue estate claims. See Cybergenics II, 330 F.3d at 553 (finding that Bankruptcy Code evinces "Congress's approval of derivative avoidance actions by creditors' committees, and that bankruptcy courts' equitable powers enable them to authorize such suits as a remedy in cases where a debtor-in-possession unreasonably refuses to pursue an avoidance claim" and that such finding "is consistent with the received wisdom that '[n]early all courts considering the issue have permitted creditors' committees to bring actions in the name of the debtor in possession if the committee is able to establish' that a debtor is neglecting its fiduciary duty.") (quoting 7 Collier on Bankruptcy ¶ 1103.05[6][a] (15th rev. ed. 2002)); s*ee also In re Centaur, LLC*, No. 10-10799 (KJC), 2010 Bankr. LEXIS 3918, at *13 (Bankr. D. Del. Nov. 5, 2010) ("There is no dispute that under [Cybergenics II], the Third Circuit has held that bankruptcy courts can confer derivative standing upon creditors' committees to bring actions to recover property for the benefit of the estate.").

25. While Cybergenics II did not specifically set forth the procedures for allowing creditors derivative standing, "[t]he Third Circuit expressed its agreement with guidelines established by the Second and Seventh Circuits that entitlement to derivative standing requires:

(1) a colorable claim, (2) that the trustee unjustifiably refused to pursue the claim, and (3) permission of the bankruptcy court to initiate the action." Centaur, 2010 Bankr. LEXIS 3918, at *13 (citing Infinity Investors Ltd. v. Kingsborough (In re Yes! Entm't Corp.), 316 B.R. 141, 145 (D. Del. 2004)). As explained in detail herein, the estates have colorable and potentially extremely valuable claims, and the conflicting loyalties of the Debtors render them incapable of effectively evaluating or pursuing them.

A. The Subject Claims Are Colorable

26. The facts at bar, both set forth herein and in the attached draft Complaint, show a scheme designed and implemented to strip valuable assets away from these estates, with the sole purpose of moving these assets beyond the reach of the Debtors' tort claimants. If the Court accepts the factual allegations set forth in the draft Complaint as true – which it must at this stage of the proceedings – the Complaint undoubtedly states a "colorable claim."[15]

27. To establish a colorable claim, the "derivative standing test requires the Court to decide whether the Committee has asserted 'claims for relief that on appropriate proof would support a recovery.'" *G-I Holdings, Inc. v. 28. Based upon their investigation to date, the Movants have concluded, inter alia, that the following claims (collectively, the "Subject Claims") should be initiated on behalf of the Debtors' estates:

a. claims to avoid, as actual fraudulent transfers pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 544(b), 11 U.S.C. § 550(a), and applicable non-bankruptcy law, transfers and obligations made in 1999 (the "1999 Transfers and Obligations") and in 2002 (the "2002 Transfers and Obligations"), and to recover the property or value of the property transferred to International, their affiliates, or third parties for the benefit of International, with interest;

b. claims to avoid, as constructively fraudulent transfers pursuant to section 11 U.S.C. § 548(a)(1)(B),11 U.S.C. § 550(a), and applicable non-bankruptcy law, the 1999 Transfers and Obligations and the 2002 Transfers and Obligations, and to recover the property or value of the property transferred to International, their affiliate, or third parties for the benefit of International, with interest and to seek punitive damages for the fraudulent, wanton, malicious or willful conduct that is the basis for the constructively fraudulent transfers;

c. claims for compensatory and/or punitive damages based on International's conspiring with RPM, Inc. (now SPHC) to effectuate the fraudulent conveyance of the 1999 Transfers and Obligations and the 2002 Transfers and Obligations;

d. claims for appropriate restitution of International's unjust enrichment from the actual and/or constructive fraudulent transfers of the 1999 Transfers and Obligations and the 2002 Transfers and Obligations;

e. claims for disregard of the corporate form between International and SPHC, because the form was used as a sham to perpetrate a fraud on SPHC's creditors primarily for International's direct benefit;

f. claims for illegal dividends in the 2002 Transfers and Obligations, based on International's active procurement and participation in the declaration of RPM, Inc.'s (now SPHC's) dividends in 2002, when RPM, Inc.'s asbestos-related personal injury liabilities exceeded its assets and International knew that its receipt of the dividends was improper and yet reaped the benefits of the improper dividend;

g. claims for International's breach of fiduciary duties to RPM Inc. and RPM Inc.'s creditors by, among other things, orchestrating, authorizing, and carrying out the transfer of RPM, Inc.'s ownership of numerous profitable industrial and consumer market entities to International, and to recover monies International took for its own benefit and to the disadvantage of RPM Inc.'s creditors;

h. claims against one or more of RPM, Inc.'s officers and directors for breach of their fiduciary duties to RPM Inc. and RPM Inc's creditors, including the duty of good faith, the duty of loyalty to always act in RPM, Inc.'s and RPM, Inc.'s creditors' best interest, and the duty to avoid self-dealing and self-enrichment at RPM, Inc.'s and RPM, Inc.'s creditors' expense, by, among other things, orchestrating, authorizing, and carrying out the transfer of RPM, Inc.'s ownership of numerous profitable industrial and consumer market entities to International and recovery of the proximately caused damages from these breaches;

i. claims against International for aiding and abetting one or more of RPM, Inc.'s directors for breach of their fiduciary duties to RPM Inc. and RPM Inc's creditors, including the duty of good faith, the duty of loyalty to always act in RPM, Inc.'s and RPM, Inc.'s creditors' best interest, and the duty to avoid self-dealing and self-enrichment at RPM, Inc.'s and RPM, Inc.'s creditors' expense, by, among other things, orchestrating, authorizing, and carrying out the transfer of RPM, Inc.'s ownership of numerous profitable industrial and consumer market entities to International and recovery of the proximately caused damages from these breaches;

j. claims against one or more of RPM, Inc.'s officers and directors for waste of RPM, Inc.'s corporate assets, for facilitating the transfer of RPM, Inc.'s ownership of numerous profitable industrial and consumer market entities to International for inadequate consideration and for the improper purpose of segregating RPM, Inc.'s asbestos-related liabilities away from the company's profit centers;

k. claims against Calfee (as defined below) for aiding and abetting one or more of RPM, Inc.'s directors for breach of their fiduciary duties to RPM Inc. and RPM Inc's creditors, including the duty of good faith, the duty of loyalty to always act in RPM, Inc.'s and RPM, Inc.'s creditors' best interest, and the duty to avoid self-dealing and self-enrichment at RPM, Inc.'s and RPM, Inc.'s creditors' expense, by, among other things, orchestrating, authorizing, and carrying out the transfer of RPM, Inc.'s ownership of numerous profitable industrial and consumer market entities to International and recovery of the proximately caused damages from these breaches; and

l. claims against International for spoliation of evidence by, in August 2009, willfully causing the destruction of numerous computer hard drives and almost 7,000 pound of computer hardware containing a vast amount of Debtors' historical asbestos-related information, despite the Debtors' bankruptcy already being in the planning stages, and despite knowledge of ongoing asbestos-related litigation and associated document retention requirements

29. As described above, and as demonstrated by the well-pleaded allegations in the draft Complaint, the Subject Claims are sufficiently colorable for the Court to grant Movants authority to prosecute the Subject Claims on behalf of the Debtors' estates.

B. Any Demand on the Debtors to Bring the Subject Claims Would Be Futile

30. The overlapping relationships between the Debtors and the putative defendants render the Debtors incapable of effectively and credibly investigating and prosecuting the Subject Claims. The Debtors' own conduct also leaves no doubt of their unwillingness to prosecute the Subject Claims.

31. Movants are thus not required to make a demand that the Debtors themselves prosecute the Subject Claims.[16] As set forth more fully below, such demand is deemed futile because the Debtors and its officers, directors, and professionals are inextricably connected with International and its officers and directors, all of whom are named defendants in the Complaint. See In re La. World Exposition, 832 F.2d 1391, 1397-98 (5th Cir. 1987) (court would not remand so that committee could make formal demand upon debtor, where conflicts would likely prevent debtor from pursuing litigation adverse to its directors and officers); Official Comm. Of Unsecured Creditors of Nat'l Forge Co. v. Clark (In re Nat'l Forge Co.), 304 B.R. 214, 222 (Bankr. W.D. Pa. 2004) (demand presumptively futile where would-be defendants were employees and insiders of the debtor); Official Comm. Of Unsecured Creditors v. Cablevision Sys. Corp. (In re Valley Media, Inc.), Nos. 01-11353 & 02-04553, 2003 WL 21956410, at *3 (Bankr. D. Del. Aug. 14, 2003) (demand would be futile where debtor's counsel has conflict of interest sufficient to effectively disqualify counsel from pursuing the otherwise colorable action); In re First Capital Holdings Corp., 146 B.R. 7, 13 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 1992) (creditors' committee excused from making a demand on a debtor to pursue action against its officers, directors and controlling shareholders where such a demand would be futile).

i. The Extensive Conflicts of Interest of the Debtors' Officers and Directors Prevent Debtors' from Properly Discharging their Obligations as Debtors in Possession with Respect to the Subject Claims.

32. These Chapter 11 Cases present a quintessential example of the fox guarding the henhouse. Stephen Knoop, Michael D. Tellor, and Glenn R. Hasman, each appointed in 2010, are the only directors on the Boards of SPHC and Bondex.[17] The Debtors' directors' interests are clearly aligned with International[18] and the other putative defendants, which include two of the three directors on the Debtors' boards. Neither SPHC nor Bondex has a single director on its board of directors who is capable of independently investigating and analyzing the appropriateness of the Subject Claims. Cf. Katell v. Morgan Stanley Group, No. 12343, 1993 Del. Ch. LEXIS 5, *15-17 (Del. Ch. Jan. 14, 1993) (holding that for purposes of determining demand futility in a derivative action, the presumption of director disinterestedness is rebutted where a less than a majority of directors are disinterested transaction to be presumed disinterested) (citing Aronson v. Lewis, 473 A.2d 805, 812 (Del. 1984); Kaufman v. Beal, No. 6485, No. 6526, 1983 Del. Ch. LEXIS 391, *8-9 (Del. Ch. Feb. 25, 1983) (holding that "the controlling factor should be whether the demand would have been futile because a majority of the directors of the corporation could not have impartially considered the request") (internal citation omitted).

[16] Movants made a formal demand on October 12, 2011 on the Debtors to turn over prosecution of the Subject Claims to Movants. The Debtors have not consented as of the date hereof.

33. Each of the current board members of SPHC and Bondex was selected by International and the prior board of SPHC[19], which consisted of individuals who have served as officers of International and/or board members of other International affiliates, and who were also responsible for stripping Bondex of its assets and implementing the 2002 Restructuring.

Indeed, Debtors' current board members were selected at a time when the chapter 11 filings and potential fraudulent transfer actions were being contemplated.[20]

34. While SPHC claims to have three employees, Knoop, Hasman and Tellor,[21] Knoop and Tellor are not employees of either Debtor, but rather provide services to the Debtors pursuant to an administrative services agreement between International and SPHC as discussed below. Bondex has two employees, Hasman and John Fleming, who serve as Treasurer and President, respectively. Ironically, Mr. Fleming was removed from Bondex's board of directors on May 26, 2010, days before the Bankruptcy Cases were filed.[22]

35. Mr. Knoop, who is currently CEO and Director for both SPHC and Bondex, is also the Senior Vice President of Corporate Development for International.[23] Knoop served as Vice President of Corporate Development of SPHC until October, 2002 when, as part of the 2002 Restructuring, Knoop became Vice President of Corporate Development for International.[24] Prior to becoming Vice President of Corporate Development for SPHC in 1996, Knoop was a partner at Calfee, Halter & Griswold LLP ("Calfee"). As set forth in the Complaint, Mr. Knoop is one of the officers of SPHC against whom the Debtors' estates have colorable claims.

36. Mr. Hasman, the Vice President, Treasurer, Secretary and Director of SPHC and Secretary and Director of Bondex, was also involved in the implementation of the 2002 Restructuring. Hasman served as Vice President of Finance and Communications of SPHC prior to October of 2002 when, as part of the 2002 Restructuring, he became Vice President of Finance and Communications at International. Hasman now reports to Knoop in his multiple roles with both SPHC and Bondex. See 7/9/10 341 Transcript, at 20. As set forth in the Complaint, Mr. Hasman is one of the officers of SPHC against whom the Debtors' estates have colorable claims.

[20] As set forth in response to Question 9 of both the Bondex SOFA and SPHC SOFA, at least as early as June 2009, the Debtors were working with counsel related to a potential bankruptcy filing.

37. Mr. Tellor, who acts as President, Chief Operating Officer and Director of SPHC and Secretary and Director of Bondex, is also not an employee of either Debtor. See 7/9/10 341 Transcript, at 10. Tellor is an employee of non-debtor Kop-Coat, Inc.,[25] and simply acts as President of SPHC pursuant to the Administrative Services Agreement between International and SPHC. Tellor began with SPHC in August of 1985, became president of Rust-Oleum Corporation in 1994 and continued as President of Rust-Oleum till his retirement in 2008. As part of the 2002 Restructuring Tellor was one of three presidents of the consumer group. Accordingly, Tellor, like Knoop and Hasman, was involved in the implementation of the 2002 Restructuring. Tellor rejoined the RPM Entities in May 2010, likely in anticipation of the bankruptcy filing. With respect to Tellor's responsibilities at SPHC, he reports to Knoop and Hasman, and with respect to his responsibilities at Kop-Coat, to the COO of International. See 7/9/10 341 Transcript, at 20.

38. As discussed above, the Debtors' assertion at the beginning of these Chapter 11 cases that they intended to commence the Declaratory Judgment Action illustrates that the Debtors' directors do not possess the independence necessary to determine whether commencement and prosecution of the Subject Claims are in the best interest of the Debtors' estates.[26] In fact, this Court noted its concern regarding the inherent conflict in the Debtors' proposed declaratory action, cautioning the Debtors:

[26] The appointment of conflicts counsel to litigate the Subject Claims cannot cure the underlying infirmity presented by the lack of independence of the Debtors' officers and directors.

> Well, I think that is going to be an issue, Mr. Gordon. I mean the debtors do need to maximize the value of the estate, not to minimize it, and to the extent that somebody else thinks there's value there and the debtor is saying, No, there isn't, I mean the debtor doesn't have to be in all accord with everything that the creditors agree with, but nonetheless, to institute the action when somebody is looking at those issues is very curious.
> [T]he debtors' interests, if anything, it would seem, just without knowing the facts, but just as a legal matter, it would seem that the debtors' interest would be to look for contributions from its parent, not so say, My parent doesn't have anything to do with this.
> So, that is troubling, and I think it does raise some issues of conflict.

Hr'g Tr. 7/14/10 at 35:25-37:44.

39. In summary, the Debtors' Directors and Officers have conflicts of interest that prevent them from independently and fairly investigating, evaluating and pursuing causes of action relating to the 2002 Transaction.

40. As the only truly independent entities with fiduciary duties to maximize the value of the Debtors' estates, the Movants should be granted standing to prosecute the Subject Claims.

ii. Debtors' Counsel's Conflicts Disqualify them from Commencing an Action against International and/or its Officers and Directors.

41. Similar to their clients, the Debtors' attorneys have significant conflicts of interest that would prevent them from vigorously prosecuting the claims asserted in the Complaint.[27] See [27] See Hr'g Tr. 7/14/10 at 31:3-14 ("THE COURT: Alright, so, if I understand, to the extent that Jones Day or that the Committee, if not the debtor, or some entity, commences litigation against some or all of these entities, then I'm not going to be faced with a circumstance where Jones Day cannot either represent the debtor or the other side, whoever its going to be – Well, it can't be, I guess, the other side, the people who are sued. It will have to be representation of the debtor. If there's a conflict then conflicts counsel will be appointed. Is that the understanding? MS. RAMSEY: That has been my assumption from the conversations, Your Honor.").

[27] The Committee requested, in its Limited Objection of Committee of Asbestos Personal Injury Claimants to the Application of the Debtors to Retain and Employ Jones Day as Counsel, Nunc Pro Tunc as of the Petition Date [D.I. 159] (the "Limited Objection"), a supplemental representation that Jones Day's current representation of International will not prevent or otherwise limit its ability to advise and/or represent the Debtors in taking such adverse actions and/or commencing such litigation against the non-debtor subsidiaries of SPHC as appropriate for generally Valley Media, 2003 WL 21956410, at *2 (stating that demand would be futile where debtor's counsel has a conflict of interest sufficient to effectively disqualify counsel from pursuing the otherwise colorable action). In connection with these Bankruptcy Cases, the Debtors retained Calfee as special corporate counsel. Calfee presently advises International and continues to serve as its general outside counsel.[28] Calfee is the same firm that acted as counsel on behalf of all of the SPHC-related entities, International, and RPM Funding Corp[29] (collectively, the "RPM Entities") in the 2002 Restructuring. Upon information and belief, not only did Calfee play an integral role in devising and effectuating each of the transactions that were part of the 2002 Restructuring, but it was the only counsel involved in the 2002 Restructuring for any of the RPM Entities. Interestingly, Calfee's integral role in the 2002 Restructuring, including its role as counsel to the reorganizing entities, was not disclosed in its retention application (filed June 11, 2010) or Calfee's declaration in support of retention. See Declaration of Thomas F. McKee [D.I. 80], at ¶3(c) (stating only that Calfee "has represented or currently represents certain of the current and former officers and directors of the Debtors, International, the Nondebtor Affiliates and the Nondebtor SPHC Subsidiaries," and providing a non-exclusive list of 17 individuals among that group).

42. Moreover, the Debtors' general bankruptcy counsel, Jones Day, is also counsel to International. As recognized at the hearing on Jones Day's retention application, Jones Day concurrently represents International[30] on matters unrelated to this chapter 11 proceeding. The Court further recognized that if litigation were commenced against International, conflicts the Debtors' benefit. The Debtors' objected to this request [D.I. 191] and no averment on these issues has ever been made by Jones Day.

[28] According to the testimony of Mr. Knoop, Calfee essentially acts as Debtors and International's in-house legal department. See 7/9/10 341 Transcript, at 10-11.

[29] See Exhibit E and Exhibit F, attached hereto .

[30] See Application of the Debtors for an Order Authorizing them to Retain and Employ Jones Days as Counsel, Nunc Pro Tunc as of the Petition Date [D.I. 47], Ex. A.

counsel would have to be appointed.[31] Accordingly, if Jones Day cannot represent the Debtors in litigation against its current client, International,[32] it surely cannot, consistent with its duty of loyalty, effectively advise the Debtors regarding any potential litigation against International. The fact that Jones Day (and Calfee) represents International, also casts serious doubt on the manner in which the Debtors alleged investigation was conducted.

43. The facts at bar suggest that the litigation strategy employed here by International and the Debtors is to frustrate the Movants' ability to effectively conduct their own investigations of the 2002 Restructuring and to "run out the clock" on the prosecution of these claims on behalf of the estate. Under these facts, any demand that the Debtors pursue the Subject Claims would be futile.

C. The Underlying Policy Considerations for the Demand Requirement Have Been Satisfied Obviating the Need for Formal Demand

44. Policy considerations also support excusing Movants from making a formal demand with respect to the Subject Claims. As stated by the National Forge court, "[t]he policy concerns underlying the general requirement of a formal demand are to ensure that the debtor is (i) informed of the committee's intent to assert the subject claims and (ii) afforded an opportunity to explain its reasons, if any, for declining to pursue the claims itself." Official Comm. of Unsecured Creditors of Nat'l Forge Co. (In re Nat'l Forge), 326 B.R. 532, 544 (W.D. Pa. 2005).

45. Throughout the discovery process, in both meet-and-confer discussions as well as in correspondence, the Movants candidly discussed how their document requests specifically [31] See supra note 26.

[32] The Committee requested, in the Limited Objection, a supplemental representation that Jones Day's current representation of International will not prevent or otherwise limit its ability to advise and/or represent the Debtors in taking such adverse actions and/or commencing such litigation against the non-debtor subsidiaries of SPHC as appropriate for the Debtors' benefit. The Debtors' objected to this request [D.I. 191] and no averment on these issues has ever been made by Jones Day.

related to the potential estate claims they were investigating. In fact, the Movants explicitly described the potential claims they were investigating as well as initial evidence on those claims in the context of the Movants continued efforts to obtain relevant discovery from the Debtors in July 2011, to wit:

> Fraudulent Transfer
>
> The Committee and FCR are currently investigating transactions in both 1999 and 2002. In 1999, it appears that Bondex was stripped of substantial valuable assets and did not receive reasonably equivalent value. It also appears from the limited discovery produced to date that Bondex's own senior officers were unaware or had little, if any involvement, in the transactions. The Committee and FCR are also investigating whether as a result of the 2002 restructuring, RPM International received profitable operating subsidiaries amounting to approximately seventy-five percent of the pre-restructuring assets of RPM, Inc. while leaving that entity, k/n/a Specialty Holding Products Corporation ("SPHC"), with entities such as Bondex and Dryvit, that had no or limited assets to offset substantial present and future tort liability. We are also investigating whether the dividend related to the 2002 reincorporation may constitute a fraudulent conveyance.
>
> Conspiracy, Unjust Enrichment, Illegal Dividends, Alter Ego
>
> The Committee and FCR are investigating whether RPM International conspired to effectuate fraudulent conveyances by means of Delaware reincorporation. Based upon our review of the documents produced to date, there is some evidence to suggest that RPM International was unjustly enriched, at the Debtors' expense and that some dividends to RPM International may have been illegal. Furthermore, by causing SPHC to transfer profitable subsidiaries to RPM International, RPM International may be deemed SPHC's alter ego and responsible for payment of asbestos-related claims asserted against SPHC. The corporate form between RPM International and SPHC may be deemed disregarded if such form was used as a sham to perpetrate a fraud.
> Breach of Fiduciary Duty

> With respect to an investigation of potential claims for breach of fiduciary duty, there is evidence to suggest that RPM International dominated and controlled SPHC., and despite a fiduciary duty not to use its power to its personal advantage, it used such control to the detriment of SPHC's creditors…. Further, SPHC's officers and directors may have breached their fiduciary duties to SPHC. and its creditors by, among other things, orchestrating, authorizing, and carrying out the transfer of SPHC ownership of numerous profitable industrial and consumer market entities to RPM International.[33]

46. The policy considerations for the demand requirement have been met. The Movants previously informed the Debtors of their desire to assert the Subject Claims. The Movants also afforded the Debtors with numerous opportunities to substantiate the Debtors' oft-stated position that the Subject Claims are meritless.[34]

47. Coupled with the impending statute of limitations deadline, the clear pattern of continued delay, and the Debtors' inherent conflicts, seeking a formal refusal from the Debtors is futile and the unjustifiable refusal component of the derivative standing test is satisfied. Accordingly, the Court should exercise its equitable power and authorize Movants to pursue the estates' claims arising from and related to the 2002 Restructuring.

[33] See Letter from M. Sheppard to G. Gordon, dated July 8, 2011(copy attached as Exhibit G).

[34] While the Debtors have offered at various times to provide "a presentation explaining" the 2002 Restructuring (the "Presentation"), no such presentation has actually taken place and has been repeatedly rescheduled. The Debtors first offered to give the Presentation approximately a year ago. After repeated requests, the Presentation was finally scheduled for July 12, 2011, for the same date and location as the financial discovery documents meet-and-confer. Less than one month before the presentation meeting, the Debtors unilaterally cancelled, because the meeting was premature or unnecessary given the data requested by the Movants' financial advisors. Despite the Committee's response that it and the FCR continued to believe that a Presentation on July 12, 2011 could be beneficial, the Debtors continued to quash the presentation. The Debtors finally agreed to provide the long awaited Presentation during global case issue discussions that occurred at the end of September, 2011. But while the Movants worked with the Debtors in the beginning of October to schedule the Presentation before filing the instant motion, the Debtors could not supply a presentation date in advance of November 14, 2011 – the last day a motion could be filed to be heard at the December 19, 2011 omnibus hearing. The Presentation is currently rescheduled for November 29, 2011.

II. Conferring Derivative Standing Upon Movants To Bring The Subject Claims Will Benefit The Estates

48. The benefits to the estates warrant the Court permitting Movants to prosecute the Subject Claims. See Centaur, 2010 Bankr. LEXIS 3918, at *15 ("Here, the Committee has demonstrated that the Claims are colorable; however, whether the Committee should be allowed to prosecute the Claims turns on the outcome of the cost/benefit analysis."). When determining whether the potential cost and benefit renders it worth a committee pursuing litigation, courts within the Third Circuit will examine the following factors:

> 1. Whether the action is likely to benefit the reorganization estate; 2. The probabilities of legal success in the event the action is pursued; 3. Financial recovery in the event of success; 4. Whether appointment of a trustee or another party to bring the action would be preferable; and 5. The cost to the estate in proceeding with the action and the terms relative to any attorneys fees.

G-I Holdings, 2006 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 45510, at *40.

49. This standard is easily satisfied here. The potential recoveries from the Subject Claims and any other claims that may be identified as discovery proceeds represent a substantial pool of assets that may be used to satisfy the estates' liabilities to unsecured creditors. Given the large amounts at stake, even a relatively small chance of success would weigh strongly in favor of the Movants' pursuit of the Subject Claims. Here, the likelihood of the Movants prevailing is high. Successful prosecution of the Complaint could reasonably result in full payment of all of the asbestos creditors, both present and future, of these estates.

50. The costs and expenses to be incurred in connection with prosecuting the Subject Claims will not be excessive in relation to the potential recovery for the estates. Although litigation costs are a factor to consider, Movants must only provide the Court with "comfort that their litigation will be a sensible expenditure of estate resources."' See Adelphia Commc'ns

Corp. v. Bank of America, N.A. (In re Adelphia Commc'ns Corp.), 330 B.R. 364, 386 (Bankr. S.D.N.Y. 2005) ("[C]omfort … means, as a practical matter, providing the Court with a predicate for concluding that the claims will, if proven, provide a basis for recovery, and that the proposed litigation will not be a hopeless fling. It also means, as a practical matter, that the prospective rewards can reasonably be expected to be commensurate with the litigation's foreseeable cost.")[35]

51. In addition, because these are liquidating chapter 11 cases of non-operating Debtors, there is no particular need for the Debtors to remain in control of the Subject Claims. See Nat'l Forge, 304 B.R. at 218, 223 (finding in case with liquidating plan that there was "no risk that the Creditors' Committee is usurping the Debtor's role in bringing the Complaint. . . ." because "[a]ny funds that the Creditors' Committee expends in pursuit of the Complaint are funds that would otherwise be available for distribution to its constituents.").

52. Finally, the Movants are the only independent estate fiduciaries that did not participate in the subject transactions and are not conflicted; thus they are the only parties to this case that can fairly and impartially investigate and pursue the Subject Claims. As discussed above, undeniable conflicts exist that prevent the Debtors from prosecuting the Subject Claims.

[35] Unlike the Declaratory Judgment Action suggested by the Debtors at the outset of the case where the estates would have been charged the professional fees associated for both Debtors' counsel for defending the Declaratory Judgment Action (and therefore International's liabilities to the estates and any potential monetary recovery from it) and the Committee's and the FCR's counsel in opposition thereto, here the estates will only be charged with the expenses associated with prosecuting the claims (with potential for significant recovery) and International's defense costs will be paid by International (not these estates).

CONCLUSION

53. For the foregoing reasons, Movants have satisfied the requirements to obtain authority to prosecute, address, litigate, and, if appropriate, settle the Subject Claims, as well as any additional claims that may be identified through further investigation and discovery, and to pursue all other actions, objections and rights with respect to same. The Movants respectfully

IN RE:	:	Chapter 11

Debtor.[1]	:	Re: Docket No. 113

THE OFFICIAL COMMITTEE OF ASBESTOS PERSONAL INJURY CLAIMANTS' OPPOSITION TO THE UNITED STATES TRUSTEE'S MOTION TO APPOINT AN EXAMINER

The Official Committee of Asbestos Personal Injury Claimants ("Committee" or "ACC"), by and through its undersigned counsel, hereby opposes, for the reasons that follow, the United States Trustee's Motion for an Order Directing the Appointment of an Examiner (D.I. 113) ("Motion") filed by the United States Trustee for Regions 3 and 9 ("UST") on February 24, 2020.

PRELIMINARY STATEMENT

The Motion filed by the UST has two parts. The first is the assertion that an examiner should be appointed to examine the so-called Modernization Transaction ("Restructuring Transaction"). This request is premature at best and an inappropriate interference with the Committee's role in examining that same transaction. The Committee does not at this time, and may never, need the assistance of an examiner to review the Restructuring Transaction; the Committee is both statutorily authorized to, and has the professionals and resources to, investigate that transaction fully. Indeed, the Committee is the most motivated to do so, and has already commenced that investigation.

[1] The last four digits of the Debtor's federal tax identification number are 0822. The Debtor's mailing address is One Michael Owens Way, Perrysburg, Ohio 43551.

The second is that an examiner should be appointed to investigate the extent to which "the Debtor was paying questionable asbestos claims prior to bankruptcy." This is an inappropriate and unlawful misuse of the Bankruptcy Code's examiner provision, as explained below. The idea that the Debtor will not be vigilant enough in attacking its creditors, who in this case are dying asbestos victims or their survivors, and thus needs an examiner to be appointed to do so, is an absurd position for the UST to take here. Nor does the Court need to appoint an examiner to make plan objections that the government has made itself in other cases.

ARGUMENT

I. THIS COURT HAS THE DISCRETION TO DENY THE MOTION

In support of its Motion, the UST relies principally on 11 U.S.C. § 1104(c)(2) to contend that appointment of an examiner is mandatory. This argument is incorrect for at least two reasons.

A. This Court Has Discretion Over Whether an Investigation Is "Appropriate"

The Code does not, as the UST argues, mandate the appointment of an examiner. Statutes must be construed as a whole and not by cherry-picking individual words. United States v. Cooper, 396 F.3d 308, 313 (3d Cir. 2005) ("[W]hen 'interpreting a statute, the court will not look merely to a particular clause in which general words may be used, but will take in connection with it the whole statute. . . .'" (quoting Kokoszka v. Belford, 417 U.S. 642, 650 (1974))); see also Tavarez v. Klingensmith, 372 F.3d 188, 190 (3d Cir. 2004) (referencing the "cardinal rule that a statute is to be read as a whole, . . . since the meaning of statutory language, plain or not, depends on context" (internal quotation marks omitted) (quoting King v. St. Vincent's Hosp., 502 U.S. 215, 221 (1991))). Although § 1104(c) does include the words "the court shall order the appointment of an examiner," this language must be construed along with the remaining words of that sentence, "to conduct such an investigation of the debtor as is appropriate." § 1104(c) (emphasis added).

This interpretation of the statutory language is supported by the legislative history of the statute. The "standards for the appointment of an examiner are the same as those for the appointment of a trustee; the protection must be needed, and the costs and expenses must not be disproportionately high." H.R. REP. NO. 95-595, at 403 (1977), as reprinted in 1978 U.S.C.C.A.N. 5963, 6359; see also In re Table Talk, Inc., 22 B.R. 706, 712-13 (Bankr. D. Mass. 1982) ("The legislative history clearly states the standard [for appointing an examiner]: the protection must be needed and the costs must not be disproportionately high.").

Consistent with the statutory language and legislative history, this Court has often reached the conclusion that § 1104(c)(2) does not mandate the appointment of an examiner where such an examination would not be appropriate under the circumstances.[2] See, e.g., U.S. Bank Nat'l Ass'n v. Wilmington Tr. Co. (In re Spansion, Inc.), 426 B.R. 114, 128 (Bankr. D. Del. 2010) (denying motion to appoint examiner under § 1104(c)(2) because "as is appropriate" language afforded court discretion to deny appointment that would result in waste and delay); In re SRC Liquidation LLC, No. 15-10541 (BLS), 2019 Bankr. LEXIS 2851, at *16 (Bankr. D. Del. Sept. 12, 2019) ("[T]his Court will also decline to exercise its equitable authority to appoint an examiner."); Order Denying Motion to Appoint an Examiner with Access to and Authority to Disclose Privileged Materials, In [2] Delaware bankruptcy judges, among others, have thus rejected the Sixth Circuit's decision to the contrary in Revco and its progeny cited by the UST. Courts in other jurisdictions have reached similar conclusions. See, e.g., In re Residential Capital, LLC, 474 B.R. 112, 121 (Bankr. S.D.N.Y. 2012) (finding that examiner appointments are not mandated by § 1104(c) even where "fixed debts [are] in excess of $5 million" and should be denied "where the evidence establishes that the protection of an examiner is not needed under the facts and circumstances of the case"); In re Erickson Ret. Cmtys., LLC, 425 B.R. 309, 314 (Bankr. N.D. Tex. 2010) (denying examiner motion where the movant, per a subordination agreement, had waived his right to file any action until senior creditors were paid); In re Rutenberg, 158 B.R. 230, 233 (Bankr. M.D. Fla. 1993) (refusing to appoint examiner based on the "totality of the factors"); In re Shelter Res. Corp., 35 B.R. 304, 305 (Bankr. N.D. Ohio 1983) ("[T]o slavishly and blindly follow the so-called mandatory dictates of Section 1104[] is needless, costly and non-productive and would impose a grave injustice on all parties herein.").

re Allied Nevada Gold Corp., No. 15-10503 (MFW) (D. Del. Bankr. Sept. 15, 2015) (D.I. 995) (denying appointment of examiner), appeal dismissed, Ad Hoc Committee S'holders v. Allied Nev. Gold Corp. (In re Allied Nev. Gold Corp.), 565 B.R. 75 (D. Del. 2016), aff'd, 725 F. App'x 144 (3d Cir. 2018); Hr'g Tr. at 170:16-20, In re Visteon Corp., No. 09-11786 (CSS) (Bankr. D. Del. May 12, 2010) (D.I. 3145) (denying appointment of examiner and noting the "absurd result to find that in every case where the financial criteria is met and a party-in-interest asks, the Court must appoint an examiner"); Hr'g Tr. at 97:9-13, In re Wash. Mut. Inc., No. 08-12229 (MFW) (Bankr. D. Del. May 5, 2010) (D.I. 3699) (holding that, even though debtors owed more than $5 million in fixed debt, court had "discretion to determine what appropriate investigation of the debtor should occur and that, if the Court determines that there's no appropriate investigation that needs to be conducted, the Court has the discretion to deny the appointment of an examiner"); Hr'g Tr. at 76:9-12, In re Am. Home Mortg. Holdings, Inc., No. 07-11047 (CSS) (Bankr. D. Del. Oct. 31, 2007) (D.I. 1997) (rejecting mandatory interpretation of § 1104(c)(2) because financial threshold was only part of inquiry and "the other piece of the puzzle is that there has to be an investigation to perform that's appropriate," and denying motion to appoint examiner); Hr'g Tr. at 23:16-18, 82, In re SA Telecomm., Inc., No. 97-2395 (Bankr. D. Del. Mar. 27, 1999) (holding that "this Court has for years consistently viewed 1104(c)(2) as not being a mandatory provision"). The UST's position simply ignores governing principles of statutory construction, the clear legislative history, and this Court's many prior decisions to the contrary.

B. It Is Not Even Clear That the $5 Million Minimum Threshold Has Been Reached

In addition, Bankruptcy Code section 1104(c)(2) provides for the potential appointment of an examiner only if "the debtor's fixed, liquidated, unsecured debts . . . exceed $5,000,000." The words "fixed, liquidated, unsecured" carry separate meanings. The word fixed cannot be read as a synonym of liquidated because that would make the word fixed superfluous, and courts should not interpret statutes in such manner. See Hibbs v. Winn, 542 U.S. 88, 101 (2004) (stating that a "statute should be construed so that effect is given to all its provisions, so that no part will be inoperative or superfluous, void or insignificant" (internal quotation marks and citation omitted)); Disabled in Action of Pa. v. SEPTA, 539 F.3d 199, 210 (3d Cir. 2008) ("We assume . . . that every word in a statute has meaning and avoid interpreting one part of a statute in a manner that renders another part superfluous.").

For this reason, the bankruptcy court in In re Dewey & LeBoeuf LLP, 478 B.R. 627 (Bankr. S.D.N.Y. 2012), interpreted "fixed debt" to mean "[g]enerally, a permanent form of a debt commonly evidenced by a bond or debenture; long-term debt." Id. at 637 (alteration in original) (quoting Black's Law Dictionary at 463 (9th ed. 2009)). By contrast, the Dewey & LeBoeuf court found the term "liquidated debt" to mean a "debt whose amount has been determined by agreement of the parties or by operation of law." Id. (quoting Black's Law Dictionary at 463). The UST points solely to the settled but unpaid prepetition asbestos claims as the unsecured debt in excess of $5 million. But they do not appear to qualify as "fixed debt" because they are not "a permanent form of a debt commonly evidenced by a bond or debenture," nor are they "long-term debt" such as mortgage debt and bond debt. The UST thus cannot assert that appointment of an examiner is mandatory, as the UST has not demonstrated that the $5 million threshold has been met.

II. THIS COURT SHOULD DENY THE MOTION BECAUSE THE UST'S PROPOSED "INVESTIGATION" IS NEITHER APPROPRIATE NOR IN THE INTEREST OF CREDITORS AND OTHER STAKEHOLDERS

A. The ACC Should Be Permitted to Continue Unimpeded with Its Examination of the Restructuring Transaction

After appointing the ACC, the official creditors' committee in this case, the UST should not be permitted to sideline the ACC in favor of a new actor: an examiner. Section 1103(c) of the Bankruptcy Code, inter alia, expressly empowers the Committee to "investigate the acts, conduct, assets, liabilities, and financial condition of the . . . debtor's business . . . and any other matter relevant to the case or to the formulation of a plan." 11 U.S.C. § 1103(c)(2). Such investigation is thus part of the Committee's express statutory powers and duties and, as noted previously and expanded on below, the Committee has already begun its investigation of the Restructuring Transaction. There is no appropriate basis to interfere with this investigation at this juncture. See, e.g., Hr'g Tr. at 77:2-8, In re Am. Home Mort. Holdings, Inc., No. 07-11047 (CSS) (Bankr. D. Del. Oct. 31, 2007) (D.I. 1997) (noting that because there were already ongoing investigations, the Court did not "think . . . there would be anything to be gained by appointing an examiner"); In re Table Talk, Inc., 22 B.R. at 712 ("I cannot see how it is in the best interests of creditors to place another functionary [examiner] in this case when no one has satisfactorily explained what an examiner could do that present functionaries could not do.").

To be absolutely clear, the Restructuring Transaction, which purportedly separated asbestos and environmental liabilities from the operating assets of the O-I glass business, certainly warrants investigation. But such an investigation should be in the hands of the Committee and the future claimants' representative ("FCR"). The Restructuring Transaction transformed the Debtor from a publicly traded Fortune 500 company, earning billions of dollars in annual revenue, into a stripped down subsidiary holding real estate, which is expected to receive net rental income of less than $500,000 a year. See Declaration of David J. Gordon, President and Chief Restructuring Office of the Debtor in Support of Chapter 11 Petition and First Day Pleadings, ¶¶ 30-32 (D.I. 2). On this basis alone, the Restructuring Transaction has disadvantaged asbestos creditors, and it bears the hallmarks of a textbook fraudulent transfer. But there is more. The Restructuring Transaction converted the Debtor from the ultimate parent holding company to a sister subsidiary of the subsidiary, Owens-Illinois Group, Inc., that directly and indirectly holds the operating assets. See id. ¶ 22. This has enabled the Debtor's former glass business to bypass the Debtor and upstream cash to the new parent holding company, O-I Glass, Inc., which in turn has embarked on paying tens of millions of dollars in quarterly dividends to the Debtor's (former) public shareholders—the next round of quarterly dividends is scheduled to be paid on March 16, 2020. See O-I Glass Inc., Current Report (Form 8-K), Feb. 4, 2020. In other words, the Restructuring Transaction has effected an end-run around this Court's supervisory authority over estate assets and violated the absolute priority rule by allowing payments to shareholders ahead of asbestos creditors. Cf. In re Telegroup, Inc., 281 F.3d 133, 139 (3d Cir. 2002) ("Under the absolute priority rule, 'stockholders seeking to recover their investments cannot be paid before provable creditor claims have been satisfied in full.'" (citation omitted)). Indeed, it is similarly outrageous that the Debtor and its controlling affiliates are using this bankruptcy to attempt to preclude or delay payment of the many liquated asbestos settlements reached immediately before the filing, in an apparent attempt to gain leverage over the asbestos constituency.

The Restructuring Transaction has both clearly prejudiced asbestos claimants and represents an attempted abuse of the Bankruptcy Code. The Committee appropriately believes it not only has the right to pursue an appropriate examination of the Transaction, but also to unwind it and to pursue any other related relief it deems appropriate. An examiner, and the scope of the examination proposed by the UST, would interfere with this important work by the Committee.

The Committee is properly incentivized and equipped to get to the bottom of this prepetition restructuring, and the UST certainly has not supplied a factual basis to the contrary. See In re Gilman Servs., Inc., 46 B.R. 322, 327 (Bankr. D. Mass. 1985) (requiring a "factual basis supporting the need for an independent investigation") (emphasis added). Indeed, over the past few weeks, the Committee has engaged, for this very purpose, professionals who are experienced in investigating and examining prebankruptcy corporate restructurings. For example, on March 3, 2020, the Committee filed its application to employ Winston & Strawn LLP as special litigation counsel to support its investigation of the Restructuring Transaction. The Committee has also engaged FTI Consulting to provide financial analysis for the investigation. In addition, the Committee has already sought and received discovery about this prepetition restructuring from the Debtor and begun analyzing it, including performing legal and factual research regarding the transaction.

Based on discovery and investigations by parties in interest, including creditors' committees, courts have declined to appoint examiners. See, e.g., Spansion, Inc., 426 B.R. at 128 (denying appointment of examiner where "the Creditors Committee and various ad hoc committees have vigorously represented the interests of unsecured creditors" and "have had ample opportunity to conduct—and have conducted—extensive discovery, and to investigate the Debtors"); In re Mechem Fin. of Ohio, Inc., 92 B.R. 760, 761 (Bankr. N.D. Ohio 1988) (denying appointment of examiner where, among other things, creditors' committee was supervising debtor's activities, was authorized to perform investigations, and could pursue preference claims); In re Sletteland, 260 B.R. 657, 672 (Bankr. S.D.N.Y. 2001) (noting that the appointment of an examiner may be unwarranted where an official committee could appropriately perform the investigation); Hr'g Tr. at 98-99, In re Wash. Mut. Inc., No. 08-12229 (MFW) (Bankr. D. Del. May 5, 2010) (D.I. 3699) (rejecting examiner request based in part on investigations "conducted . . . by the debtor and the creditors' committee"); Hr'g Tr. at 72:19-25, In re Am. Home Mort. Holdings, Inc., No. 07-11047 (CSS) (Bankr. D. Del. Oct. 31, 2007) (D.I. 1997) (denying motion for examiner to investigate debtor's previous loan origination and servicing practices, inter alia, because "we have a Creditors Committee in the case" that is "watching the case very closely, and taking steps . . . in the best interest of creditors"). As in Spansion, Inc., an examiner here "would cause undue cost to the estate, which would be harmful to the Debtor[] and would delay the administration of this chapter 11 case." 426 B.R. at 128.

B. The UST's Proposed Investigation of Alleged "Abuse" in the Tort System Is Both Inappropriate and Irrelevant

In addition to the Restructuring Transaction, the UST seeks an examiner to investigate an alleged "disparity" between what the prepetition Debtor was paying in respect of tort claims and what the Debtor believed it should have been paying. The UST attempts to justify such an investigation by insinuating that this alleged "disparity is due to the payment of invalid or non-meritorious claims by the Debtor" and asserts that the "possibility of abusive claims need[s] to be examined." Motion ¶ 19.[3] Ironically, even the Debtor is not making those allegations at this time, and to the extent it ever attempts to do so in the future, the Committee will be fully prepared to respond. Any argument that the Debtor, and its legion of legal and financial professionals, would need an examiner's help in this regard is ludicrous. Moreover, the idea that it would be appropriate for the UST to appoint an examiner to attack asbestos victims and their survivors is appalling, and should be rejected by this Court.

Indeed, such appointment would also go beyond the clear language of § 1104(c), pursuant to which an examiner can only be ordered to "conduct such an investigation of the debtor as is appropriate, including an investigation of any allegations of fraud, dishonesty, incompetence, misconduct, mismanagement, or irregularity in the management of the affairs of the debtor of or by current or former management of the debtor." That provision says nothing about appointing an examiner to investigate creditors, much less former creditors, and under controlling principles of statutory construction, such an expansion of the statutory language is to be avoided.[4]

When considering motions to appoint an examiner, courts place the burden of proof on the movant to demonstrate that the appointment is proper under § 1104(c). See, e.g., Hr'g Tr. at 90-91, In re Allied Nevada Gold Corp., Case No. 15-10503 (MFW) (Bankr. D. Del. Sept. 11, 2015) ("Anybody who files a motion for appointment of an examiner has the burden of establishing that there is a reason for such appointment. It has to be in the interest of creditors and shareholders, and in determining that I also have to consider the cost and delay that would be inherent in the appointment of an examiner."); Hr'g Tr. at 196-97, In re EV Energy Partners, L.P., Case No. 18-10814 (CSS) (Bankr. D. Del. (May 16, 2018) ("[T]here has to be an actual examination that needs to be done, an appropriate inquiry that needs to be pursued and I think the Movant in a motion to appoint an examiner has the burden of proof of establishing something, some reason that it would be helpful to appoint an examiner"); Dewey & LeBoeuf LLP, 478 B.R. at 636 ("The moving party has the burden to prove that an examiner should be appointed."); Mechem Fin. of Ohio, Inc., 92 B.R. at 761 ("[T]he U.S. Trustee's application for appointment of an Examiner is denied, the U.S. Trustee having failed to meet his burden of proof that appointment is required or warranted."); In re Am. Bulk Transp. Co., 8 B.R. 337, 341 (Bankr. D. Kan. 1980) ("The principal issue in this matter is whether . . . [the movant] has met its burden of showing that an examiner should be appointed to investigate the debtor."). Yet, the UST fails to meet this burden, and his proposed investigation into alleged "abuse" is irrelevant here and would inflict substantial unnecessary costs and delay on the estate and its creditors.

The UST's proposed investigation into alleged past claiming "abuse" is irrelevant to what the Debtor seeks to accomplish, which is to resolve current and future asbestos claims under a plan that will provide for an settlement trust and channeling injunction under 11 U.S.C. § 524(g). To obtain such a trust and injunction, several prerequisites set forth in § 524(g) must be satisfied. According to the Third Circuit, these prerequisites "are designed to protect the interests of future claimants whose claims are permanently enjoined. Among these, the plan must be approved by a super-majority of current claimants . . . ." In re Combustion Eng'g, Inc., 391 F.3d 190, 237 (3d Cir. 2004), as amended (Feb. 23, 2005). Satisfying these prerequisites, including the supermajority support of current claimants, requires negotiation and, ultimately, consensus. See In re Thorpe Insulation Co., 671 F.3d 1011, 1027 (9th Cir. 2012) ("If . . . [the debtor] did not negotiate with asbestos claimants and their representatives to set a plan that they would support, a successful reorganization would not have been possible."). It is up to those parties—not an examiner—to figure out the extent of the Debtor's current and future asbestos liabilities, which in turn will inform whether the proposed funding of a 524(g) trust is adequate. Granting an examiner broad license to crisscross the country to unearth alleged "abuse" in past asbestos cases will not inform plan negotiations, and will thus prove to be costly and unhelpful.

The Debtor was in the tort system for decades, had sophisticated counsel defending it, and was resolving and paying claims in accordance with the claims handling agreements it had entered into. The suggestion that the Debtor was bamboozled into paying deficient or meritless claims in the tort system is nonsense. The Debtor's current and future asbestos liability is a confirmation issue that must be resolved between the Debtor on the one hand and the ACC and FCR on the other, not an examiner acting as some nationwide quasi-governmental roving commission expressing pro-defendant policy preferences. Courts have refused appointing examiners where the key issues in question pertain directly to plan confirmation and thus should be resolved by the key stakeholders in the case. See Spansion, Inc., 426 B.R. at 128 (denying appointment of examiner where, inter alia, where "the allegations of bad faith against the Debtors' management" provided "a classic confirmation dispute, rather than grounds for an investigation by an examiner"); Hr'g Tr. at 171-73, In re Visteon Corp., No. 09-11786 (CSS) (Bankr. D. Del. May 12, 2010) (D.I. 3145) (concluding that the "case does not need an examiner" where the issues gave rise to "a good old fashioned fight over a debtor that has some value," which should be contested and resolved at confirmation); see also Hr'g Tr. at 167:21-168:3, In re Innkeepers USA Trust, No. 10-13800 (Bankr. S.D.N.Y. Sept. 30, 2010) (D.I. 546) ("[C]ourts have quite understandably and properly, I believe, pushed back and declined to appoint an examiner to join an otherwise crowded fray, in which the many combatants are well armed and highly motivated.").

The UST asserts that an examiner's investigation of the tort system is necessary to determine "whether additional safeguards would be needed to protect recoveries of persons with valid claims against the Debtor, including in any plan to be proposed or in the operations of any asbestos trust to be created." Motion ¶ 15. What happens in the tort system is also logically separate from what happens under a claims settlement process such as that typically created in asbestos bankruptcies, as further described below. Consequently, supposed conclusions by an examiner about the tort system would be largely or entirely irrelevant.

In addition, any consensual 524(g) plan proposed in this case will be accompanied by proposed trust distribution procedures ("TDP") that will govern the resolution and payment of eligible asbestos claims going forward. Virtually every TDP proposed in an asbestos bankruptcy case includes medical criteria and exposure criteria that claimants must satisfy to receive a settlement offer from the trust. In other words, all TDPs have safeguards built into them to ensure that only eligible claims are paid. And the Third Circuit has made its view clear that "the trusts appear to have fulfilled Congress's expectation that they would serve the interests of both current and future asbestos claimants and corporations saddled with asbestos liability. In particular, observers have noted the trusts' effectiveness in remedying some of the intractable pathologies of asbestos litigation, especially given the continued lack of a viable alternative providing a just and comprehensive resolution." In re Federal-Mogul Glob. Inc., 684 F.3d 355, 362 (3d Cir. 2012).

In any event, if the UST were to determine that any TDP safeguards proposed in this case are inadequate, the UST could make an objection at the disclosure stage or, more appropriately, at confirmation, and this Court could decide that objection then. This has been the process followed in several other cases. For example, in the case of In re Kaiser Gypsum, Inc.,[5] before the very court that rendered the Garlock estimation opinion, the U.S. Department of Justice[6] objected to the debtors' disclosure statement, arguing, among other things, "[t]he [proposed] Trust Distribution Procedures authorize a black box of confidentiality that could facilitate fraud that is similar to the fraud that this Court recently uncovered in . . . [Garlock]."[7] In response, not only did the bankruptcy court overrule the Justice Department's objection, but also clarified its view of the Garlock estimation opinion and limited its application.[8] The court first noted that the estimation opinion "was written narrowly, but has been read broadly and it is, admittedly, based on a . . . limited number of instances of suppression of evidence by plaintiffs' firms, only 15 [out of hundreds of thousands]" and that "that case was settled and . . . [the estimation opinion was] never tested on appeal."[9] Moreover, the court questioned any reading of the estimation opinion "as an indictment of the tort system as a whole or a suggestion that all those good people in the state courts need this little bankruptcy court to protect them from fraud."[10]

[5] No. 16-31602 (Bankr. W.D.N.C.).

[6] The UST has no jurisdiction in the bankruptcy courts of North Carolina, which instead uses a "Bankruptcy Administrator" to perform the role of the UST. Consequently, the Department of Justice appeared in this case rather than any particular UST office.

[7] United States' Objection to Debtors' Motion for an Order (I) Approving Their Disclosure Statement, (II) Establishing Procedures for Solicitation and Tabulation of Votes to Accept or Reject Proposed Joint Plan of Reorganization and (III) Scheduling a Hearing on Confirmation of Proposed Joint Plan of Reorganization and Approving Related Notice Procedures, at 8-9, In re Kaiser Gypsum, Inc., No. 16-31602 (Bankr. W.D.N.C. Nov. 6, 2018) (D.I. 1299).

The UST in In re Duro Dyne National Corp.[11] also objected to confirmation of the chapter 11 plan on the ground that the plan and its related asbestos trust documents did not adequately safeguard against alleged potential fraud and abuse. The bankruptcy court summarily rejected those arguments and confirmed the plan over the UST's objection:

[9] Id. at 51:14-20.

[10] Id. at 51:21-24. In yet another case, In re Sepco Corp., the UST objected to the debtor's disclosure statement on the ground that the proposed plan was patently unconfirmable for its "lack of safeguards against fraudulent and abusive claims," again relying on the Garlock estimation opinion and academic articles about it to "evidence" such fraud and abuse. See, e.g., Objection of United States Trustee to Motion of Debtor for an Order Approving (I) the Disclosure Statement; (II) the Solicitation and Voting Procedures; (III) Forms of Ballots; (IV) Deadlines and Procedures to File Objections to the Disclosure Statement and the Plan; (V) a Hearing Date to Consider Confirmation of the Plan; and (VI) the Form, Scope, and Manner of Notice of the Plan and Confirmation Hearing, at 3-5, 20, In re Sepco Corp., No. 16-50058 (AMK) (Bankr. N.D. Ohio Aug. 7, 2019) (D.I. 620). The Sepco court similarly overruled the UST's objections and approved the disclosure statement. Order, In re Sepco Corp., No. 16-50058 (AMK) (Bankr. N.D. Ohio Dec. 16, 2019) (D.I. 669).

[11] No. 18-27963 (MBK) (Bankr. D.N.J.).

> As an initial matter, this Court observes that the UST's concerns are bottomed on alarms raised in industry studies and academic works. Indeed, apart from the Garlock case (which this Court deems to be premised on a different factual scenario and involved unrelated concerns), the UST has not been able to point to any concrete illustrations or to identify any actual harms which have manifested in the extended history of asbestos cases in our bankruptcy courts.[12]

There is no reason for this Court to, in effect, rule on a premature confirmation objection.

To launch now a wide-ranging investigation of the Debtor's asbestos history and experience in the tort system would be inappropriate, would not be conducive to reaching a consensual 524(g) plan, and would impose significant cost and delay. It is thus not in the interests of the Debtor's creditors, equity holder, or other interests in the estate, nor is it surprising, therefore, that no such stakeholders are requesting that such an examiner be appointed. The Motion should be denied.

CONCLUSION

For the reasons stated above, this Court should enter an order denying the UST's Motion and granting such other and further relief as this Court deems just and appropriate.

IN THE UNITED STATES BANKRUPTCY COURT FOR THE DISTRICT OF DELAWARE

In re:	Chapter 11
PADDOCK ENTERPRISES, LLC,[1]	Case No. 20-10028 (LSS)
Debtor.	Ref. Docket No. 113

OBJECTION OF FUTURE CLAIMANTS' REPRESENTATIVE TO THE UNITED STATES TRUSTEE'S MOTION FOR AN ORDER DIRECTING THE APPOINTMENT OF AN EXAMINER

James L. Patton, Jr., the proposed legal representative (the "Future Claimants' Representative") for persons who have not yet asserted an asbestos-related personal injury claim against the debtor and debtor-in-possession (the "Debtor") in the above-captioned chapter 11 case (the "Chapter 11 Case") but may in the future assert such a claim (the "Future Claimants"), by and through his undersigned counsel, hereby responds and objects (this "Objection") to the United States Trustee's Motion for an Order Directing the Appointment of an Examiner [Docket No. 113] (the "Examiner Motion") as follows:

PRELIMINARY STATEMENT[2]

The Examiner Motion should be denied because the relief requested under section 1104(c) of the Bankruptcy Code is neither mandatory nor appropriate in this case.

The Future Claimants' Representative and the UST-appointed ACC, in accordance with their statutory mandates and fiduciary obligations, have already undertaken the investigation the UST seeks related to the prepetition Corporate Transactions. Appointing an examiner to conduct the same investigation would not only result in increased costs and a fundamental duplication of efforts, but would also unnecessarily delay the Plan Process to the detriment of creditors. Because the UST has not alleged that the Future Claimants' Representative and the ACC are incapable of completing the requested investigation, the appointment of an examiner would impose significant delay and additional administrative burden without any discernable benefit.

[1] The last four digits of the Debtor's tax identification number are 0822. The Debtor's mailing address is One Michael Owens Way, Perrysburg, Ohio 43551.

Moreover, the Examiner Motion fails to account for the fact that the Future Claimants' Representative has a fundamental responsibility under section 524(g) of the Bankruptcy Code to negotiate a chapter 11 plan that is fair and equitable to Future Claimants, and includes appropriate trust distribution procedures, the terms of which will be subject to review by the Court and the UST. To be sure, the UST is well equipped to challenge the plan and trust distribution procedures at the appropriate time if he believes they are inadequate. See, e.g., In re Maremont, Case No. 19-10118 (KJC) (Bankr. D. Del. 2019) [Docket No. 112] (UST objection to plan and trust distribution procedures); In re Duro Dyne National Corp., Case No. 18-27963 (MBK) (Bankr. D. N.J. 2018) [Docket No. 753] (same).

Courts in this jurisdiction have made it clear that the appointment of an examiner is not mandatory, and this Court should exercise its discretion and deny the Examiner Motion, or otherwise adjourn the matter for at least ninety (90) days to provide the Future Claimants' Representative and the ACC the opportunity to continue their ongoing investigations and commence negotiations with the Debtor on the terms of a chapter 11 plan and trust distribution procedures for the benefit of all parties in interest.

BACKGROUND

1. On January 5, 2020 (the "Petition Date"), the Debtor filed a voluntary petition for relief under chapter 11 of title 11 of the United States Code, 11 U.S.C. §§ 101 et seq. (the "Bankruptcy Code").

2. On the Petition Date, the Debtor filed that certain Declaration of David J. Gordon, President and Chief Restructuring Officers of the Debtor, in Support of Chapter 11 Petition and First Day Pleadings [Docket No. 2] (the "First Day Declaration"). The First Day Declaration provides that the primary purpose of the Chapter 11 Case is to address and comprehensively resolve the Debtor's legacy asbestos-related liabilities by promptly negotiating and ultimately confirming a plan of reorganization pursuant to sections 524(g) and 1129 of the Bankruptcy Code (the "Plan Process"). First Day Declaration, ¶ 5.

3. The First Day Declaration further provides that, as part of the Debtor's prepetition out-of-court corporate restructuring (the "Corporate Transactions"), the Debtor became party to a support agreement that purportedly guarantees its solvency in the Chapter 11 Case. See First Day Declaration, ¶ 28 and Ex. B.

4. On January 16, 2020, the Office of the United States Trustee for the District of Delaware (the "UST") appointed the official committee of asbestos personal injury claimants (the "ACC") [Docket No. 47].

5. On January 22, 2020, the Debtor submitted to this Court a motion for entry of an order appointing James L. Patton, Jr. as the Future Claimants' Representative in the Chapter 11 Case, effective as of the Petition Date [Docket No. 58] (the "Proposed FCR Appointment").[3]

6. On February 24, 2020, the UST filed the Examiner Motion, seeking the appointment of an examiner pursuant to section 1104(c)(1), or alternatively, section 1104(c)(2) of the Bankruptcy Code.

[3] On March 4, 2020, the UST filed an objection to the Proposed FCR Appointment to allow time for an examination into whether the proposed Future Claimants' Representative had knowledge of the Corporate Transactions (as defined below) [Docket No. 126]. The proposed Future Claimants' Representative and his proposed counsel will file supplemental declarations confirming that neither had any knowledge whatsoever of the Corporate Transactions until publicly disclosed.

ARGUMENT

I. The Appointment of an Examiner Is Not in the Best Interests of Creditors or Other Parties in Interest Under Section 1104(c)(1).

7. The appointment of an examiner is not in the best interest of creditors and other parties in interest in this case for two primary reasons.

8. First, the UST's requested investigation of the Corporate Transactions would merely duplicate the investigation that is already underway by the Debtor's statutory constituents,[4] saddling the Debtor's estate with unnecessary administrative expense and delaying the Plan Process in a case where time is of the essence given the advanced age of many creditors. To suggest, at this early stage of the case, that an examiner is needed to investigate potentially fraudulent conveyances, which claims are subject to a two-year statute of limitations,[5] would needlessly usurp the rights of existing estate fiduciaries, imposing both strategic and economic costs on all respective constituencies without any corresponding benefit. Indeed, the Examiner Motion ignores the reality that the Future Claimants' Representative and the ACC are among the parties (not including an examiner) who would be responsible for pursuing any such avoidance claims to the extent necessary and appropriate.

9. Second, the Examiner Motion fails to account for the fact that the Future Claimants Representative has a duty to protect the interests of Future Claimants, as well as a seasoned ability to evaluate and negotiate appropriately tailored trust distribution procedures. An examination of the Debtor's past payment practices will not advance this case at all. The UST's

[4] See 11 U.S.C. §§ 524(g)(4)(B)(i) (requiring appointment of a legal representative for the purpose of protecting the rights of persons that might assert demand for payment from a trust created pursuant to a channeling injunction); 11 U.S.C. § 1103(c)(2) (providing that a statutorily appointed committee may investigate the acts, conduct, assets, liabilities, and financial condition of the debtor, the operation of the debtor's business and the desirability of the continuation of such business, and any other matters relevant to the case or to the formulation of a plan).

[5] 11 U.S.C. § 546.

well-worn narrative about the Garlock decision is misplaced and does not support the UST's allegation of ubiquitous abusive claims submissions practices. In any event, the Future Claimants' Representative is fully prepared to address any such issues through the negotiated terms of a chapter 11 plan and trust distribution procedures, which will be subject to Court approval on notice to parties in interest, including the UST.

10. Notably, the UST has not alleged that either the Future Claimants' Representative or the ACC is incapable of completing their ongoing investigations or pursuing any resulting causes of action. Absent such allegations, courts have declined to appoint an examiner when the same investigation can be more efficiently undertaken by a committee or other stakeholder. See, e.g., In re Spansion, Inc., 426 B.R. 114, 128 (Bankr. D. Del. 2010) (declining to appoint an examiner based, in part, on a finding that the ad hoc committee of equity security holders, while not an official committee, had been extraordinarily active in the chapter 11 proceeding and had advocated vigorously views of equity); In re Gliatech, Inc., 305 B.R. 832, 836 (Bankr. N.D. Ohio 2004) (denying motion to appoint an examiner where the creditor "can investigate the facts that would support . . . an objection on its own nickel"); In re Sletteland, 260 B.R. 657, 672 (Bankr. S.D.N.Y. 2001) (declining to appoint an examiner and noting that it would be inappropriate to impose the costs of an examiner on the estate where the committee could perform any necessary investigation); In re Bradlees Store, 209 B.R. 36, 39 (Bankr. S.D.N.Y. 1997) (declining to appoint an examiner where such would be "duplicative, needless and wasteful"); In re Shelter Res. Corp., 35 B.R. 304, 305 (Bankr. N.D. Ohio 1983) (denying a request for an examiner when it would "entail undue delay in the administration of this estate and most likely cause the debtor to incur substantial and unnecessary costs and expenses detrimental to the interests of creditors and parties in interest [when] [t]here [was] currently in place a [statutory committee] to carry on . . . an investigation as may be appropriate."); see also In re Wash. Mut. Inc., No. 08–12229 (MFW) (Bankr. D. Del. May 5, 2010), Hr'g Tr. at 98:12–100:21 [Docket No. 3699] (examiner motion denied where the debtor had been "investigated to death," and where the cost would be high with little ascertainable benefit to parties in the case)).

11. The Future Claimants' Representative and the ACC are well positioned to (i) investigate and pursue causes of action in connection with the Corporate Transactions, and (ii) negotiate appropriate trust distribution procedures to resolve asbestos claims. The estate need not bear the financial burden of a duplicative investigation that brings negotiations between the economic parties to a halt.

12. Indeed, the cases on which the UST relies are cases in which an economic party sought appointment of an examiner. No such request has been made here. See In re Caesars Entm't Op. Co., Inc., Case No. 15-00145 (ABG) (Bankr. N.D. Ill.) (debtors and official committee sought examiner appointment to investigate prepetition transactions that were the subject of pending litigation); In re Dynegy Holdings, LLC, Case No. 11-38111 (CGM) (Bankr. S.D.N.Y.) (indenture trustee for bondholders moved for appointment of an examiner to investigate Debtor's prepetition sale of its profitable coal-fired power plants, valued at $1.25 billion, to its parent company made in exchange for an illiquid, unsecured, highly unusual financial instrument called an "undertaking").

II. Appointment of an Examiner Under Section 1104(c)(2) is not Mandatory or Appropriate in the Chapter 11 Case.

13. The appointment of an examiner under section 1104(c)(2) of the Bankruptcy Code is not mandatory simply because certain financial criteria are met.[6] Rather, the appointment of an examiner must still be appropriate under the facts and circumstances of the case. To hold otherwise would require the appointment of an examiner in nearly every case filed in this district, without regard to whether such appointment is reasonable or necessary. As set forth above, appointment of an examiner is not reasonable or necessary here.

[6] The UST has not established that the Debtor's fixed, liquidated liabilities exceed $5 million.

14. The UST, however, relying on non-controlling case law,[7] asserts that the appointment of an examiner under section 1104(c)(2) is mandatory in this case because "it is highly likely that the Debtor's liquidated portion of the Debtor's unsecured liabilities (particularly in the form of liquidated but unpaid tort settlements) exceed $5 million, especially given the Debtor's representation that its total liabilities range from $100 million to $500 million." Examiner Motion, p. 13.

15. The UST is wrong in asserting that section 1104(c)(2) eliminates this Court's discretion to determine the appropriateness of examiner appointment. Such contention is both inconsistent with the language of the statute and with prior rulings of this Court.

16. By its very terms, section 1104(c)(2) calls for the appointment of an examiner, after "notice and a hearing," only "to conduct such an investigation of the debtor as is appropriate" into matters such as "fraud, dishonesty, incompetence, misconduct, mismanagement or irregularity" by the present or former management of the debtor. See 11 U.S.C. § 1104(c)(2) (emphasis added).

17. Moreover, this Court already addressed this specific issue in Spansion and declined to appoint an examiner, despite the fact that the statutory debt threshold of section 1104(c)(2) was met. See 426 B.R. 114. In his written opinion, Judge Carey held that the record did not provide sufficient evidence of conduct that would make an investigation of the Debtors "appropriate" and that the allegations of bad faith against the Debtors' management for rejecting a rights offering was a "classic confirmation dispute," rather than grounds for an investigation by a third party. Id. at 128. The Court expressly "[found] no sound purpose in appointing an examiner, only to significantly limit the examiner's role where there exists insufficient basis for an investigation[,]" and stated that, "to appoint an examiner with no meaningful duties strikes me as a wasteful exercise, a result that could not have been intended by Congress." Id. at 127.

III. Should the Court Decide, in Its Discretion, to Appoint an Examiner, It Should Exercise Its Unquestionable Discretion to Define an "Appropriate" Role, as well as the Timing and Duration, for the Examiner Under the Specific Facts and Circumstances of This Case.

18. The Future Claimants' Representative submits that the UST has failed to demonstrate that the appointment of an examiner "is in the best interests of such debtor's creditors, any security holders, and other interests of the estate" as required by section 1104(c)(1) of the Bankruptcy Code or that such appointment is mandatory or otherwise appropriate under section 1104(c)(2) of the Bankruptcy Code.

19. The Examiner Motion should be denied, or, at a minimum, adjourned for a period of no less than ninety (90) days to provide the Future Claimants' Representative and the ACC an opportunity to continue their investigations and commence negotiations with the Debtor. If there is an economic deal to be had that pays creditors in full and includes adequate funding for Future Claimants, then the Court and all parties in interest, including the UST, will have an opportunity to review such resolution in the form of a plan and trust distribution procedures.

20. If, however, that the Court is inclined to grant the relief requested in the Examiner Motion, the Future Claimants' Representative reserves any and all rights and arguments with respect to issues related to the examiner's duties and authority, including, but not limited to the scope, budget, timing and duration of the appointment.

CONCLUSION

WHEREFORE, the Future Claimants' Representative respectfully requests that the Court enter an Order denying the Examiner Motion, or alternatively, adjourning the hearing on the Examiner Motion for a period of at least ninety (90) days, and granting such other and further relief as the Court deems just and proper.

I. INTRODUCTION

Owens Corning, a Delaware corporation ("OCD"), certain of its direct and indirect Subsidiaries that are also debtors and debtors-in-possession (the "Subsidiary Debtors" and, together with OCD, the "Debtors") in the reorganization cases (the "Chapter 11 Cases") under Chapter 11 of the Bankruptcy Code ("Chapter 11"), James J. McMonagle, the Legal Representative for Future Claimants (the "Future Claimants' Representative"), and the Official Committee of Asbestos Claimants (the "Asbestos Claimants' Committee") (the Debtors, the Future Claimants' Representative, and the Asbestos Claimants' Committee, collectively, the "Plan Proponents") submit this disclosure statement (the "Disclosure Statement") pursuant to Section 1125 of Title 11 of the United States Code (the "Bankruptcy Code") for use in the solicitation of votes on the Sixth Amended Joint Plan of Reorganization for Owens Corning and its Affiliated Debtors and Debtors-in-Possession, dated as of June 5, 2006 (the "Plan"), as it may be further amended from time to time in accordance with its terms and in accordance with Section 1127 of the Bankruptcy Code and Bankruptcy Rule 3019, proposed by the Plan Proponents and filed with the United States Bankruptcy Court for the District of Delaware (the "Bankruptcy Court").

On May 10, 2006, the Debtors (subject to approval by the Bankruptcy Court), the Asbestos Claimants' Committee, the Future Claimants' Representative, the Official Representatives of Bondholders and Trade Creditors (the "Official Representatives"), the Ad Hoc Equity Holders' Committee, and the Ad Hoc Bondholders' Committee executed an agreement in principle setting forth the agreed upon key terms of a new plan of reorganization, to be proposed by Owens Corning, including the treatment to be provided to the various classes of creditors (the "Settlement Term Sheet"), which terms are now incorporated in the Plan and described in this Disclosure Statement. The Settlement Term Sheet assumes an enterprise value of Owens Corning of $5.858 billion, and fixes Owens Corning's asbestos personal injury claims at $7 billion. The Settlement Term Sheet further provides that under the Plan, the existing equity of OCD will be extinguished and 131.4 million shares of common stock of Reorganized OCD (or one of its affiliates) (the "New OCD Common Stock") will be issued. In addition, under the Plan, consistent with the Settlement Term Sheet, on or before the Effective Date, a $2.187 billion Rights Offering (as defined below) and a $1.8 billion Exit Facility shall have each been executed and consummated. The Settlement Term Sheet provides that the Plan must be effective no later than October 30, 2006, or such later date as the Plan Proponents shall unanimously agree. The Settlement Term Sheet is attached as Exhibit A to the Plan Support Agreement (defined below), which is attached hereto as Appendix G. A copy of the Plan is attached as Appendix A to this Disclosure Statement.

Additionally, on May 10, 2006, Owens Corning, the Asbestos Claimants' Committee, the Future Representative and certain holders of pre-petition bonds issued by Owens Corning (the "Supporting Holders") entered into a plan support agreement (the "Plan Support Agreement") with respect to the terms set forth in the Settlement Term Sheet. The Plan Support Agreement provides that the Supporting Holders have agreed to accept the treatment provided for their claims in the Settlement Term Sheet and, subject to the terms of the Plan Support Agreement and the Bankruptcy Code, to support a plan of reorganization consistent with the terms of the Settlement Term Sheet. The Plan Support Agreement also provides that Owens Corning and the other Plan Proponents shall prepare all documents needed to effectuate a plan of reorganization consistent with the terms of the Settlement Term Sheet and the Plan Support Agreement. On May 23, 2006, the Debtors filed the Motion for Order Authorizing the Debtors to Execute and Implement the Terms of the Plan Support Agreement Pursuant to 11 U.S.C. §§ 105(a) and 363(b) and Rule 9019 of the Federal Rules of Bankruptcy Procedure (the "PSA Motion") with the Bankruptcy Court. The Bankruptcy Court heard arguments on the PSA Motion at a hearing on June 19, 2006, and, at hearing on June 23, 2006, approved the motion in a bench ruling. The Bankruptcy Court entered a final order approving the PSA Motion on June 29, 2006. See discussion in Section V.I of this Disclosure Statement entitled "Agreement Among Major Constituencies and Settlement Term Sheet".

Consistent with the terms of the Settlement Term Sheet, on May 10, 2006, Owens Corning and J.P. Morgan Securities Inc. ("J.P. Morgan" or the "Investor") executed an equity commitment agreement (the "Equity Commitment Agreement"), which is subject to Bankruptcy Court approval. The Equity Commitment Agreement contemplates a $2.187 billion rights offering (the "Rights Offering"), whereby holders of eligible Class A5 Claims, Class A6-A Claims and Class A6-B Claims would be offered the opportunity to subscribe for up to their pro rata share of 72,900,000 shares of the New OCD Common Stock at a purchase price of $30.00 per share. The Equity Commitment Agreement provides for the Investor to purchase a number of shares of New OCD Common Stock equal to 72,900,000 minus the number of shares of New OCD Common Stock properly subscribed for pursuant to the Rights Offering on or before its expiration. The Equity Commitment Agreement provides for the Investor to receive a backstop fee of $100,000,000 from Owens Corning following approval of the Equity Commitment Agreement by the Bankruptcy Court in consideration of, among other things, the backstop commitment of the Investor through the Termination Date (October 31, 2006, unless extended up to December 15, 2006) to purchase any and all shares not properly subscribed for under the Rights Offering prior to its expiration. The Equity Commitment Agreement may be terminated by J.P Morgan if, among other things, it has not been approved by the Bankruptcy Court by June 30, 2006. The Bankruptcy Court has scheduled a hearing for June 19, 2006, on the Debtors' motion to approve the Equity Commitment Agreement. A copy of the Equity Commitment Agreement is attached as Exhibit O to the Plan. One June 29, 2006, the Bankruptcy Court entered an order approving the Equity Commitment Agreement. See discussion in Section V.I of this Disclosure Statement entitled "Agreement Among Major Constituencies and Settlement Term Sheet".

On May 10, 2006, the Debtors filed notices attaching the executed copies of the Settlement Term Sheet, Plan Support Agreement and Equity Commitment Agreement.

The steering committee of Bank Holders (the "Steering Committee") supports the Plan, pursuant to the terms of the letter, dated December 30, 2005, appended to the Disclosure Statement as Appendix K.

A. History and Description of Business

1. Introduction

OCD began as a glass fiber joint venture in the 1930's between Owens-Illinois and Corning Glass. At the end of 1938, the year in which it was incorporated, OCD reported sales of $2,555,000 and had 632 employees. Today, OCD, along with its approximately 90 direct and indirect subsidiaries in the United States and throughout the world (collectively, OCD and its subsidiaries are referred to as "OC" or the "Company") is a global leading producer of glass fiber materials used in composites and a leading building products company. For the year ended December 31, 2005, OC had over $6.3 billion in sales, approximately 20,000 employees around the world, and manufacturing, sales and research facilities, including joint venture and licensee relationships, in more than 30 countries. See Schedule XX to the Plan for a description of the anticipated corporate structure of the Reorganized Debtors after the Effective Date.

2. General Description of OC's Business

OC operates in two business segments: Building Materials Systems and Composite Solutions. In 2005, the Building Materials Systems segment accounted for approximately 80% of OC's total sales, while Composite Solutions accounted for the remainder. The products and systems provided by OC's Building Materials Systems segment are used in residential remodeling and repair, commercial improvement, new residential and commercial construction, and other related markets. The products and systems offered by OC's Composite Solutions segment are used in end-use markets such as building construction, automotive, telecommunications, marine, aerospace, energy, appliance, packaging and electronics. Many of OC's products are marketed under registered trademarks, including Cultured Stone®, Propink®, Advantex® and/or the color PINK.

OC has affiliate companies in a number of countries. Generally, affiliated companies' sales, earnings and assets are not included in either operating segment unless OC owns more than 50% of the affiliate and the ownership is not considered temporary.

Revenue from external customers, income from operations and total assets attributable to each of OC's operating segments and geographic regions, as well as information concerning the dependence of its operating segments on foreign operations, for each of the years 2005, 2004, and 2003, are contained in Note 3 to OC's Consolidated Financial Statements, entitled "Segment Data" contained in OC's Annual Report on Form 10-K for the year ended December 31, 2005. See also OC's Annual Report on Form 10-K for the year ended December 31, 2004, OC's Annual Report on Form 10-K for the year ended December 31, 2003, OC's Annual Report on Form 10-K for the year ended December 31, 2002, and OC's Annual Report on Form 10-K for the year ended December 31, 2001, copies of which may be obtained, free of charge, through OC's website at www.owenscorning.com. OC's Annual Report on Form 10-K for the year ended December 31, 2005, may also be obtained by sending a written request. See directions for obtaining this document in Appendix D.

(a) Building Materials Systems

Principal Products and Methods of Distribution. Building Materials Systems operates primarily in the United States and Canada. It also has a presence in Asia Pacific and Mexico. Building Materials Systems sells a variety of products and systems in two major categories: (i) insulating systems, including thermal and acoustical insulation, air ducts formed from glass wool fibers, and foam insulation; and (ii) exterior systems for the home, including roofing shingles, vinyl siding and accessories, windows and doors, manufactured stone veneer building products, and branded housewrap. These products are used primarily in the home improvement, new residential construction, manufactured housing and commercial construction markets.

Sales of building insulation systems, roofing shingles and accessories, housewrap, and vinyl siding are made primarily through home centers, lumberyards, retailers and distributors. Other channels of distribution for insulation systems in North America include insulation contractors, wholesalers, specialty distributors, metal building insulation laminators, mechanical insulation distributors and fabricators, manufactured housing producers and appliance, and automotive manufacturers. Foam insulation and related products are sold to distributors and retailers who resell to residential builders, remodelers and do-it-yourself customers; commercial and industrial markets through specialty distributors; and, in some cases, large contractors, particularly in the agricultural and cold storage markets. Some building materials products are also sold through the Company's retail distribution centers.

OC sells asphalt products that are used internally in the manufacture of residential roofing products and are also sold to other shingle manufacturers. In addition, asphalt is sold to roofing contractors and distributors for Built-Up Roofing Asphalt systems and to manufacturers in a variety of other industries, including automotive, chemical, rubber and construction.

In Latin America, OC sells building and mechanical insulation primarily through a subsidiary in Mexico, as well as exports from U.S. plants. In Asia Pacific, OC sells primarily insulation through joint venture businesses, including two majority owned insulation plants and an insulation fabrication center in China, a minority owned joint venture in Saudi Arabia, and licensees.

Seasonality. Sales of the Building Materials Systems segment tend to follow industry seasonal patterns in the home improvement, remodeling and renovation, and new construction markets. The peak season for home construction and remodeling generally corresponds with the second and third calendar quarters. Sales levels for the segment, therefore, are typically lower in the winter months.

Major Customers. No customer of the Building Materials Systems segment accounted for more than 7% of the segment's sales in 2005.

(b) Composite Solutions Segment

Principal Products and Methods of Distribution. Composite Solutions operates in North America, Europe, Latin America and Asia Pacific, with affiliates and licensees around the world.

OC is a leading producer of glass fiber materials used in composites. Composites are made up of two or more components (e.g., plastic resin and a fiber, traditionally a glass fiber) and are used in various applications to replace traditional materials, such as aluminum, wood, and steel. In addition to providing base glass reinforcement materials, OC is increasingly fabricating more specialized composite systems that are designed for a particular end-use application, and entail a material, a proprietary process and a fully assembled part or system. The global composites industry has thousands of end-use applications, and OC has selected strategic markets and end-users where OC provides integral solutions, such as the building construction and transportation markets.

Within the building construction market, OC sells glass fiber and/or mat directly to a small number of major shingle manufacturers, including its own roofing business. Tubs, showers and other related internal building components used for both remodeling and new construction are major applications of composite materials in the construction market. These end-use products are some of the first successful material substitution conversions normally encountered in developing countries. Glass fiber reinforcements and composite material solutions for these markets are sold to direct accounts, and to distributors around the world, who in turn service thousands of customers.

A significant portion of transportation-related composite solutions are used in automotive applications. Non-automotive transportation applications include heavy trucks, rail cars, shipping containers, refrigerated containers, trailers and commercial ships. Growth continues in automotive applications, as composite systems create new applications or displace other materials in existing applications. There are hundreds of composites applications, including body panels, door modules, integrated front-end systems, instrument panels, chassis and underbody components and systems, pick-up truck beds, and heat and noise shields. These composite parts are either produced by original equipment manufacturers or are purchased by original equipment manufacturers from first-tier suppliers.

The Composite Solutions segment also serves thousands of applications within the consumer, industrial and infrastructure markets, which include sporting goods and marine applications. OC sells composite materials to original equipment manufacturers and other finished goods manufacturers, both directly and through distributors.

Major Customers. No customer of the Composite Solutions segment accounted for more than 7% of the segment's sales in 2005.

(c) Business Realignment Preceding Commencement of Chapter 11 Cases

Prior to the commencement of the Chapter 11 Cases, OC consummated several significant acquisitions and divestitures of non-strategic businesses and realigned existing businesses.

During the period 1994 through 1996, OC made a number of acquisitions for its Building Materials Systems segment in the United States and Europe. The combined purchase price for the acquisitions totaled approximately $370 million. The largest of these acquisitions was the $110 million acquisition in 1994 of Pilkington Insulation Limited and Kitsons Insulation Products Limited, the United Kingdom-based insulation manufacturing and industrial supply businesses of Pilkington PLC.

On June 27, 1997, OC acquired Fibreboard Corporation ("Fibreboard"), a North American manufacturer of vinyl siding and accessories, and manufactured stone. At the time of the acquisition, Fibreboard was a leading producer of vinyl siding and accessories, with plants in Georgia, Missouri and North Carolina in the United States, and British Columbia and Ontario in Canada. Marketing products under the brand names Norandex and Vytec, Fibreboard also operated more than 130 company-owned distribution centers in 32 states. The purchase price of the acquisition totaled approximately $660 million, including assumed debt of $138 million.

On July 28, 1997, OC acquired Amerimark Building Products, Inc. ("Amerimark") (including its wholly-owned subsidiaries, Wolverine Coil Coating, Inc. and RBP, Inc.) for a purchase price of approximately $317 million. Amerimark was a specialty building products company serving the exterior residential housing industry. Major product lines included vinyl siding, vinyl windows and aluminum accessories for the exterior of the home.

In April 1998, OC completed the sale of its 50% interest in the Alpha/Owens Corning, L.L.C. joint venture, a manufacturer and marketer of unsaturated polyester and vinylester resins. OC sold its interest to the joint venture and Alpha Corporation of Tennessee. OC and Alpha Corporation of Tennessee had created the joint venture in 1994, combining their existing resin businesses to form the largest manufacturer of polyester resins in North America.

In September 1998, OC completed the formation of a joint venture with a U.S. subsidiary of Groupe Porcher Industries. The joint venture manufactured and sold yarns and specialty materials. OC contributed two manufacturing plants and certain proprietary technology to the joint venture, in return for a 49% interest in the joint venture. The remaining 51% interest in the joint venture was sold to the Groupe Porcher subsidiary for approximately $550 million. OC's 49% interest was extinguished as a result of a bankruptcy case filed by the joint venture.

In late 1999, certain OC entities, including Fibreboard, underwent an internal reorganization. On December 15, 1999, OCD approved the transfer of the assets and liabilities of Cultured Stone Corporation ("Cultured Stone"), a Fibreboard subsidiary, to OCD in exchange for the transfer by OCD of stock of Amerimark to Fibreboard. Effective December 31, 1999, Cultured Stone and Vytec Sales Corporation, also a Fibreboard subsidiary, merged with and into Fibreboard. On that same date, Fibreboard exchanged the Cultured Stone assets and liabilities for the Amerimark stock. Also on the same date, Fabwel, Inc. ("Fabwel"), a Fibreboard subsidiary, and the newly acquired Amerimark were merged with and into Norandex, Inc. ("Norandex"), a Fibreboard subsidiary, which then changed its name to Exterior Systems, Inc. ("Exterior Systems").

During 2000, OC implemented the first phase of a strategic restructuring program, which continued throughout 2001. On February 2, 2000, OC completed the sale of the assets of Falcon Foam, a producer of expanded polystyrene foam insulation in Michigan and California, to Atlas Roofing Corp. for net proceeds of approximately $50 million. On June 5, 2000, OC completed the sale of its European building materials business to Alcopor Owens Corning Holding AG ("Alcopor Owens Corning"), an unconsolidated joint venture between OC and Alcopor Holding AG, in which OC retained a 40% interest. Proceeds from the sale, net of OC's $34 million cash infusion into the joint venture, were $177 million.

3. Acquisitions, Divestitures and Business Realignments During the Pendency of the Chapter 11 Cases

(a) Business Realignments

Beginning in 2000, and continuing after the filing with the Bankruptcy Court of voluntary petitions for relief under Chapter 11 made by OCD and the Subsidiary Debtors (the "Filing"), OC reviewed its cost structures at that time as a response to the overall slowed economy in both the building materials and composites industries. As a result of that review, various restructuring programs were put into place as OC assessed cost structures of certain businesses and facilities as well as overhead expenditures for the entire company. One result of such assessments was the determination to exit certain businesses and consolidate in others, leading to significant restructuring charges as assets were written down to realizable value or other exit costs were recognized. In addition, a strategic review of OC's businesses resulted in additional restructuring charges in 2002.

By Order dated December 9, 2002, OC received Bankruptcy Court approval for the restructuring of two of OC's joint ventures in China, namely OC Shanghai and OC Guangzhou. The restructuring involved the extension of certain debt maturities and the reduction of principal by the China Lenders (as defined below), who were owed approximately $22 million, which debt was originally guaranteed by OCD. The restructuring, pursuant to the terms of the parties' "China Standstill Agreement", extended the debt maturities through December 31, 2005, and reduced the principal. The amounts due under this restructuring have been satisfied at an agreed discount. See Section V.F.4(b). In consideration for the maturity extensions and reduction in principal, OC agreed that the China Lenders have an Allowed unsecured guaranty Claim against the Estate in the aggregate amount of $22 million.

(b) Acquisitions

In June 2002, OC received Bankruptcy Court approval to consummate the restructuring of OC's Indian joint venture, Owens-Corning (India) Limited ("OCIL"), a producer of composite material. As part of the restructuring, OC, through its wholly-owned subsidiary, IPM Inc. ("IPM"), contributed approximately $3 million of cash into OCIL and agreed to allow a guaranty claim in the amount of approximately $19 million in its Chapter 11 proceedings in respect of OCIL's junior debt. In addition, OCIL's senior debt maturities were extended, and its junior debt was converted to approximately $7 million of redeemable convertible debentures. Through these restructuring efforts, OC's ownership interest in OCIL increased from approximately 50% to approximately 60%. OC began consolidating OCIL on July 1, 2002, when the restructuring was consummated by all of the parties to the restructuring and approved by the Indian Government.

As of the Petition Date, Owens Corning VF Holdings, Inc. ("OCVF"), a wholly-owned subsidiary of IPM, owned 40% of Vitro OCF, SA de C.V. ("VF"), a Mexican holding company for subsidiaries engaged in the manufacturing and selling of fiberglass insulation and reinforcements in Mexico, the United States, Central and South America and the Caribbean. The remaining 60% of VF was owned by Vitro Envases Norteamerica, S.A. de C.V. ("VENA"), a corporation organized under the laws of Mexico. By Order dated March 22, 2004, the Bankruptcy Court authorized Owens Corning and OCVF to consummate the terms of a Stock Purchase Agreement with VENA and VENA's corporate parent, Vitro, S.A. de C.V. ("Vitro"). Among other things, the Stock Purchase Agreement provided for OCVF to purchase VENA's 60% interest in VF for approximately $73 million. With approval of the Bankruptcy Court, OCVF obtained the funds necessary to purchase the stock via a sale of its preferred stock to Owens Corning Canada, Inc. ("OCC"), a wholly-owned, non-debtor, indirect subsidiary of IPM.

In September 2005, the Bankruptcy Court authorized Exterior Systems, Inc. to purchase substantially all of the assets of Wolverine Fabricating, Inc., a California corporation engaged in the business of supplying fabricated parts to customers in the recreational vehicle and cargo trailer industries. The purchase price for this acquisition was approximately $15 million, subject to certain adjustments and various terms and conditions. In connection with the transaction, the parties also executed lease, consulting, transition services and other agreements. This acquisition was designed to enable the Debtors to expand their recreational vehicle exterior business and operations to the West Coast, serve the recreation vehicle fabrication needs of California, Oregon and Washington and enable the Debtors to add new product lines to the Debtors' recreational vehicle exterior business.

On February 3, 2006, the Bankruptcy Court entered an order approving certain agreements regarding the acquisition by Owens Corning Japan Ltd. ("OC Japan"), a wholly-owned subsidiary of IPM, of the stock of a newly-formed company that owns certain composite-related assets previously owned by Asahi Fiber Glass Co., Ltd. Such agreements provided for the following: (a) Asahi Fiber Glass Co., Ltd.'s transfer of its reinforcement and compounding businesses to NewCo, a newly-formed, wholly-owned subsidiary of Asahi Fiber Glass Co., Ltd.; (b) OC Japan's purchase of 100% of the shares of NewCo; (c) NewCo's lease of certain buildings and land from Asahi Fiber Glass Co., Ltd.; (d) the lease of certain precious metals from Asahi Fiber Glass Co., Ltd.; and (e) the allocation among the parties of certain potential liabilities for specified environmental, health and safety obligation. Closing occurred on or about May 1, 2006.

(c) Divestitures

During the first quarter of 2001, OC completed the sale of the majority of its interest in Engineered Pipe Systems, Inc. ("EPS"), a producer of glass-reinforced plastic pipe with operations mostly in Europe. EPS and Saudi Arabian Amiantit Co. ("Amiantit") had entered into a Stock Purchase Agreement, dated February 28, 2001, pursuant to which EPS sold to Amiantit all of the capital stock of its wholly-owned subsidiaries, Flowtite A/S and Flowtite Technology A/S. Also pursuant to the Stock Purchase Agreement, Amiantit purchased from Norske EPS BOT A/S, its interest in Flowtite Botswana Ltd. The purchase price was $2 million. By letter dated May 29, 2001, the Official Committee of Unsecured Creditors (the "Unsecured Creditors' Committee") represented to the Debtors that it had no objection to the Stock Purchase Agreement, or the implementation of the transactions related to these agreements. Net proceeds from the sale were $22 million.

OC completed its divestiture of the pipe business with a sale of certain other operations to Amiantit pursuant to a Stock Purchase Agreement, dated November 21, 2001. The purchase price for the sale of these interests was $2.6 million. By letter dated November 29, 2001, the Unsecured Creditors' Committee represented to the Debtors that it had no objection to the Stock Purchase Agreement or the implementation of the transactions provided for under the agreement.

During the fourth quarter of 2001, OC sold its remaining 40% interest in Alcopor Owens Corning, an unconsolidated joint venture for net proceeds of $23 million. On October 29, 2001, OC received approval from the Bankruptcy Court to finalize the transaction, as modified.

During the first quarter of 2003, OC sold the assets of its metal systems and mineral wool businesses to ALSCO Metals Corporation. The purchase price for the sale of these assets was $56 million. The company received Bankruptcy Court approval to sell such assets on May 19, 2003. See Section V.F.18(g).

2. Pre-petition Indebtedness

As of the Petition Date, OCD, the Subsidiary Debtors and certain Non-Debtor Subsidiaries were parties to a Credit Agreement, dated as of June 26, 1997 (the "Credit Agreement"), with certain banks listed in Annex A thereto and with Credit Suisse First Boston, as agent for the lenders signatory thereto. The Credit Agreement initially provided a revolving credit line of up to $2 billion available in the form of revolving loans. The initial borrowers under the Credit Agreement were: OCD, European Owens-Corning Fiberglas S.A., N.V., Owens-Corning S.A., Owens-Corning Canada Inc., Owens-Corning UK Holdings Ltd. and Sierra Corp. (and Fibreboard as successor to Sierra Corp. after the merger of Sierra Corp. with Fibreboard). The Credit Agreement was amended by Amendment No. 1, dated as of February 20, 1998 ("Amendment No. 1"), pursuant to which Owens-Corning Fiberglas (U.K.) Ltd., Owens Corning Building Products (U.K.) Ltd., Owens Corning Polyfoam UK Ltd. and Owens-Corning Isolation France S.A. were added as borrowers under the credit facility. In addition, Amendment No. 1, among other things, reduced the maximum amount of the commitment under the credit facility to $1.8 billion. The Credit Agreement was again amended by Amendment No. 2, dated as of November 30, 1998, pursuant to which, among other things, certain financial covenants were modified to accommodate the National Settlement Program ("NSP") ("Amendment No. 2", and the Credit Agreement as amended by Amendment No. 1 and Amendment No. 2, the "1997 Credit Agreement"). The obligations under the 1997 Credit Agreement were guaranteed by certain Subsidiaries of OCD (collectively, the "Subsidiary Guarantors"). OCD was a guarantor, in addition to a borrower, under the 1997 Credit Agreement.

At the Petition Date, IPM, Vytec Corporation, Owens-Corning Fiberglas Sweden Inc., Falcon Foam Corporation, Integrex, Fibreboard, Exterior Systems, Inc., Owens-Corning Fiberglas Technology Inc., and Soltech, Inc. were Subsidiary Guarantors of the obligations under the 1997 Credit Agreement. As of the Petition Date, the principal amount outstanding under the 1997 Credit Agreement was $1,565,919,519 (including contingent liabilities for undrawn letters of credit in the amount of $250,919,519). Certain joint plans filed by the Plan Proponents which pre-dated the current Plan provided for substantive consolidation of the Debtors who were borrowers or guarantors under the 1997 Credit Agreement. Based on the proposed substantive consolidation, the Bank Holders would have had a single claim against the consolidated Debtors. Under the previously proposed plans, the Bank Holders would likely have not been paid in full and claims for postpetition interest would not have been Allowed.

On August 15, 2005, the United States Court of Appeals for the Third Circuit (the "Third Circuit") reversed the Memorandum and Order Concerning Substantive Consolidation (the "Substantive Consolidation Order") previously issued by the District Court. In the Substantive Consolidation Order, the District Court had granted the motion of OCD and certain of its subsidiaries for substantive consolidation. Petitions for rehearing were denied by the Third Circuit on September 28, 2005. Petitions for writ of certiorari filed by the Official Representatives and Future Claimants' Representative were denied by the Supreme Court on May 1, 2006. The Third Circuit's reversal of the District Court's Substantive Consolidation Order has resulted in significant modifications of the Plan and impacts the relative amounts ultimately payable to various creditor classes, including the extent to which post-petition interest and certain other post-petition fees are payable to the Bank Holders. See also Section V.F.11(b)(i).

As a result of the Third Circuit's reversal of the District Court's Substantive Consolidation Order and the Debtors' evaluation of the distributable values of OCD and its subsidiaries considered on a non-substantively consolidated basis, OC recorded, for the period ended December 31, 2005, expenses with respect to the obligations under the 1997 Credit Agreement for the period from October 5, 2000, the Petition Date, through December 31, 2005, in the amount of $747 million relating to post-petition interest and certain other post-petition fees, and an additional $54 million for the period January 1 through March 31, 2006. These expenses were accrued because the Debtors have determined that, based upon the Third Circuit's reversal of the Substantive Consolidation Order and the Debtors' resulting evaluation of the distributable values (considered on a non-substantively consolidated basis) of OCD and certain of its debtor and non-debtor subsidiaries, it is probable that such expenses will be payable by certain of the debtors and/or non-debtor subsidiaries which are either obligors under, or guarantors of, the 1997 Credit Agreement. The recorded amount of $801 million is the Debtors' best estimate of the potential liability for post-petition interest and certain other post-petition fees under the 1997 Credit Agreement through March 31, 2006, and, with respect to interest, reflects the application of the Base Rate plus 2% (as described below) applied on a compounding basis (compounded quarterly). However, this estimate is based on numerous factual and legal uncertainties, including the interpretation of contractual provisions concerning such interest and other fees, and the Debtors reserve the right to object, if and as appropriate in its judgment, to the ultimate entitlements to such interest and other fees and to the amount of such interest and other fees in the Chapter 11 cases (or other proceedings). Moreover, the actual amount of post-petition interest and fees, if any, that may be payable with respect to the 1997 Credit Agreement is subject to various factors, including the outcome of negotiations among various creditor constituencies and/or the resolution of litigation between various claimants regarding the liability of OCD and its subsidiaries for certain pre-petition liabilities. Absent developments that alter the Debtors' determination as to the probability that post-petition interest and other fees will be payable or the best estimate of the amount of post-petition interest and other fees that may be payable, and subject to the distributable values it estimates from time to time are available to satisfy such post-petition interest and other fees under the 1997 Credit Agreement on a non-substantively consolidated basis, the Debtors expect to continue to accrue interest on the obligations under the 1997 Credit Agreement in future periods, to the extent required under applicable law, at a rate equal to the Base Rate (as defined in the 1997 Credit Agreement) plus 2% applied on a compounding basis (compounded quarterly), and post-petition fees. The Base Rate (as defined in the 1997 Credit Agreement) is a floating rate equal to the higher of (i) the prime commercial lending rate of Credit Suisse First Boston and (ii) the Federal Funds Rate plus 0.50% per annum. The actual amounts of post-petition interest and other fees, to be payable under the 1997 Credit Agreement for the period from the petition date through the Effective Date of the Plan are estimated in Schedule XII to the Plan as it may be amended up to ten (10) Business Days prior to the Objection Deadline.

See Section V.F.11(b)(i) of this Disclosure Statement entitled "Substantive Consolidation Proceedings" and Section V.F.10 entitled "Implementation of Process for Resolution of Inter-Creditor Issues" and Section V.G. entitled "Avoidance Actions in the Chapter 11 Cases" of this Disclosure Statement, for further description of the litigation relating to the Subsidiary Guarantees.

Collectively, the debt securities listed above are referred to as the "Pre-petition Bonds". The amounts outstanding as stated above are based on the Debtors' books and records. Approval of this Disclosure Statement and solicitation of the Plan are without prejudice to the rights of the Pre-petition Indenture Trustees to assert a different amount is outstanding as of the Petition Date under any of the Pre-petition Bond Indentures. See Section VII.B.3.(c)(ii) of this Disclosure Statement for a description of the treatment of Bondholders Claims under the Plan.

In May 1995, Owens-Corning Capital L.L.C., a special purpose Delaware limited liability company, issued and sold four million shares of 6.5% Convertible Monthly Income Preferred Securities (the "MIPS") for aggregate gross proceeds of approximately $200 million. Owens-Corning Capital L.L.C. then lent the proceeds from the MIPS issuance, together with the proceeds from the issuance of common limited liability company interests, to OCD, which loan was evidenced by the issuance by OCD to Owens-Corning Capital L.L.C. of approximately $253 million in aggregate principal amount of OC's 6.5% Convertible Subordinated Debentures due 2002. As of December 31, 2004, $253,104,600 of these convertible subordinated debentures remained outstanding. Under the Plan, the term "MIPS Claims and Interests" are defined to mean all Claims directly or indirectly against OCD (or Interests to the extent any such Claims may be characterized as Interests) by the holders of the 6.5% Convertible Monthly Income Preferred Securities issued by Owens-Corning Capital L.L.C. or any Person (including any trustee) asserting such Claims derivatively or otherwise on behalf of such holders, including (i) the Claims of Owens-Corning Capital L.L.C. for approximately $253 million original aggregate principal amount arising from OCD's 6.5% Convertible Subordinated Debentures due 2002, issued pursuant to an indenture dated as of May 10, 1995, between OCD, Owens-Corning Capital L.L.C. and Harris Trust and Savings Bank, as trustee, (ii) Claims arising under the guarantee agreement, dated as of May 10, 1995, in respect of such Convertible Subordinated Debentures executed by OCD as guarantor, (iii) the Claim of The Bank of New York ("BONY"), as Special Trustee on behalf of the holders of the 6.5% Convertible Monthly Income Preferred Securities, and (iv) any Interests of the foregoing to the extent any rights of such holders may be characterized as OCD Interests. The rights against OCD under the Convertible Subordinated Debentures, to the extent they are Claims, are contractually subordinated to Senior Indebtedness Claims. As a result, under the Plan, the distributions which would otherwise be made to holders of the MIPS Claims, had the MIPS Claims not been subordinated, will be paid or issued to the holders of Allowed Claims in Classes A5 and A6-B (and, under certain circumstances, to holders of Allowed Class A4 Claims) in accordance with the subordination provisions of the agreements or instruments providing for the subordination. See Section VII.B.3(c)(ii) and VII.B.3(e)(ii) of this Disclosure Statement and Sections 3.3(c)(ii) and 3.3(e)(ii) of the Plan. Any Interests in OCD with respect to the MIPS, including, but not limited to, conversion rights to OCD stock, shall be cancelled, extinguished and retired. However, if Classes A5, A6-A, A6-B, A7, A10 and A11 all accept the Plan, the Class A11 Warrants shall be issued to the holders of Allowed Class A11 Claims on a Pro Rata basis. If Classes A5, A6-A, A6-B, A7, A10, A11 and A12-A all accept the Plan, the Class A12-A Warrants shall be issued to the holders of Allowed Class A12-A Interests (Existing OCD Common Stock) on a Pro Rata basis. For a discussion of the treatment of OCD Subordinated Claims, See Section VII.B.3__ of this Disclosure Statement entitled "Class A11: OCD Subordinated Claims." For a discussion of the treatment of OCD Interests, see Section VII.B.3(i) and (j)of this Disclosure Statement entitled "Class A12-A: Existing OCD Common Stock and Class A12-B: OCD Interests Other Than Existing OCD Common Stock.

BONY, as successor Trustee under the Indenture dated as of May 10, 1995, for the 6.5% Convertible Subordinated Debentures due 2002 (the "MIPS Indenture"), and certain holders of MIPS Claims and Interests have alleged several defects in prior plans with respect to its asserted claims and the rights of the holders of the MIPS. BONY and such holders have asserted: (a) that, to the extent the Plan's definition of "MIPS Claims" includes claims of BONY for fees and expenses, the Plan improperly classifies claims that are not subordinated with subordinated claims; and (b) that the Plan improperly discriminates between The Bank of New York's claim for fees and expenses and the claims of Pre-petition Indenture Trustees, by excluding the MIPS Indenture from the Plan's definition of Pre-Petition Bond Indentures. The Debtors disagree with each of these assertions. Although the Plan gives BONY, as trustee, different treatment, regarding fees and expenses, than it provides to Pre-petition Indenture Trustees (e.g., by not providing for BONY to retain its liens, if any, on any payments or distribution made to the holders of the MIPS Claims and Interests), the Debtors believe such disparate treatment is justified. Other than certain warrants, the holders of Subordinated Claims and the holders of Interests receive no distributions under the Plan and, as a consequence, BONY will not be disbursing any funds to such holders and there will be no property to which its lien could attach.

In 1991, OCD formed O. C. Funding B.V. ("O.C. Funding"), a closed company with limited liability organized under the laws of The Netherlands, as a wholly-owned subsidiary of OCD for the purposes of obtaining financing for OCD and its subsidiaries. O.C. Funding subsequently issued $150,000,000 aggregate principal amount of its 10% Guaranteed Debentures due 2001 (the "O.C. Funding B.V. Debentures"), which were guaranteed as to payment of principal and interest, on an unsubordinated basis, by OCD. The O.C. Funding B.V. Debentures were issued pursuant to an indenture dated as of May 15, 1991, between O.C. Funding, OCD and The Bank of New York, as trustee. The guarantee by OCD was issued pursuant to that indenture.

Substantially all of the net proceeds of the issuance of the O.C. Funding B.V. Debentures were lent by O.C. Funding to OCD pursuant to a loan agreement dated June 11, 1991. The intercompany loan was evidenced by a promissory note in the principal amount of $148,000,000 (the "Debentures Intercompany Note"). Payment on the intercompany loan was made subject to the terms of an attached schedule containing certain subordination provisions.

As of the Petition Date, $42,395,000 aggregate principal amount of the O.C. Funding B.V. Debentures remained outstanding. Wilmington Trust Company, as successor trustee, filed a proof of claim against OCD in the amount of $43,855,272 on account of the foregoing guaranty plus accrued interest.

KBC Bank Nederland N.V. ("KBC Bank") loaned $20 million to O.C. Funding under a Credit Agreement dated August 10, 1999, between O.C. Funding and KBC Bank (the "KBC Agreement"). The loan to O.C. Funding was guaranteed on an unsubordinated basis by OCD. O.C. Funding subsequently lent the proceeds of its borrowing under the KBC Agreement to OCD, which intercompany borrowing was represented by a promissory note in the principal amount of $20,000,000.

Westdeutsche Landesbank Girozentrale ("West LB") loaned $10 million to O.C. Funding under a Credit Facility dated February 24, 2000, between O.C. Funding and West LB (the "West LB Facility"). The loan to O.C. Funding was guaranteed on an unsubordinated basis by OCD. O.C. Funding subsequently lent the proceeds of its borrowing under the KBC Agreement to OCD, which intercompany borrowing was represented by a promissory note in the principal amount of $11,800,000.

As of the Petition Date, $20,379,264 (including accrued interest) was outstanding under the KBC Agreement, and $10,135,236 (including accrued interest) was outstanding under the West LB Facility. KBC Bank filed a proof of claim based on its guaranty from OCD in the amount of $20,379,264 and West LB filed a proof of claim based on its guaranty from OCD in the amount of $10,135,236, exclusive of postpetition interest.

In July 2003, certain holders of the outstanding O.C. Funding B.V. Debentures advised OCD that they were cooperating with the holders of the outstanding debt under the KBC Agreement and West LB Facility concerning the assertion of claims relating to the O.C. Funding B.V. Debentures, the KBC Agreement and the West LB Facility (collectively, the "O.C. Funding Creditors"). The O.C. Funding Creditors made a number of claims relating to the indebtedness under the O.C. Funding B.V. Debentures, including that the subordination provisions governing certain of the intercompany indebtedness were not enforceable. A holder of the O.C. Funding B.V. Debentures, in its capacity as a creditor of O.C. Funding, began court proceedings in The Netherlands seeking, among other relief, to compel O.C. Funding to assert its claim under such intercompany indebtedness on an unsubordinated basis. Although OCD believed that it had meritorious positions with respect to the assertions made by the O.C. Funding Creditors, OCD believed it was in the best interests of its creditors and the maintenance of undisrupted business operations to settle the O.C. Funding Creditors' claims by reaching an agreement as to the amount and priority of claims that OCD would support as allowed claims in the bankruptcy proceedings. Accordingly, OCD reached an agreement with the O.C. Funding Creditors pursuant to which there would be (i) Allowed Claims in Class A5 aggregating $43,855,272 in respect of the claims of the holders of the O.C. Funding B.V. Debentures, Allowed Claims in Class A6-B aggregating $20,387,333 under the KBC Agreement and Allowed Claims in Class A6-B aggregating $10,135,236 under the West LB Facility arising under the direct guarantees by OCD of each such obligation, (ii) Allowed Claims in Class A6-A aggregating $50,858,291 in respect of a negotiated portion of the claims of O.C. Funding against OCD under the intercompany notes entered into for financings relating to the loan of proceeds from the O.C. Funding B.V. Debentures, the KBC Agreement and the West LB Facility, and (iii) an Allowed Claim in Class A11 of $23,336,305 in respect of the remaining claims of O.C. Funding against OCD under the intercompany notes entered into for financings relating to the loan of proceeds from the O.C. Funding B.V. Debentures, the KBC Agreement and the West LB Facility (the "OCFBV Settlement Agreement"). The OCFBV Settlement Agreement was approved by the Bankruptcy Court by Order entered June 25, 2004.

OC's other indebtedness subject to compromise at the Petition Date and as of March 31, 2006, consisted of other long-term debt through 2012 at rates from 6.25% to 13.8% in an aggregate amount of $62 million and $92 million, respectively. For a description of other indebtedness, see OC's Annual Report on Form 10-K for the year ended December 31, 2005, OC's Quarterly Report on Form 10-Q for the quarter ended March 31, 2006, OC's Annual Report on Form 10-K for the year ended December 31, 2004, OC's Annual Report on Form 10-K for the year ended December 31, 2003, OC's Annual Report on Form 10-K for the year ended December 31, 2002, OC's Annual Report on Form 10-K for the year ended December 31, 2001, and OC's Annual Report on Form 10-K for the year ended December 31, 2000, copies of which may be obtained, free of charge, through OC's website at www.owenscorning.com. See directions for obtaining these documents in Appendix D.

3. Pre-petition Intercompany Debt

In addition to the foregoing pre-petition indebtedness, the Debtors' Amended and Restated Schedules reflected intercompany indebtedness as of the Petition Date. For a discussion of prepetition Intercompany Claims, see Section V.F.14(e).

4. Pre-petition Equity

Prior to the Petition Date, OCD's common stock, par value $0.10 per share (the "Existing OCD Common Stock") was listed on the New York Stock Exchange ("NYSE") under the ticker symbol "OWC." As of the Petition Date, OCD had 100 million shares of authorized common stock, of which 55,423,132 shares were outstanding. Effective January 30, 2003, OCD's common stock was removed from listing and registration on the NYSE for failing to meet certain continued listing standards of the NYSE. Effective December 19, 2002, OCD's common stock has been traded on the Over-The-Counter Bulletin Board under the ticker symbol "OWENQ."

OCD declared and paid regular dividends of $.075 per share of Existing OCD Common Stock for each of the first two quarters of 2000. OCD declared but did not pay, as a result of the Filing, the regular dividend for the third quarter of 2000. See Section V.G.3(a) of this Disclosure Statement entitled "Dividend Action" for a discussion of certain actions that have been filed in the Chapter 11 Cases to avoid certain dividends paid to certain of the Debtors' shareholders and to recover such dividends for the Debtors' Estates as a fraudulent conveyance.

As of January 31, 2006, there were 6,516 stockholders of record of the Existing OCD Common Stock.

See Section V.F.21 of this Disclosure Statement entitled "Notice Procedures and Transfer Restrictions on Trading of Equity Securities."

See Section VII.B.3(i) of this Disclosure Statement for a description of the treatment of the Existing OCD Common Stock under the Plan.

IV. BACKGROUND OF ASBESTOS-RELATED LITIGATION

A. Pre-Petition Claims Against OCD

Prior to the Petition Date, numerous claims had been asserted against OCD alleging personal injuries arising from inhalation of asbestos fibers. Virtually all of these claims arose out of OCD's manufacture, distribution, sale or installation of an asbestos-containing calcium silicate, high temperature insulation product, the manufacture and distribution of which was discontinued in 1972. OCD received approximately 18,000 asbestos personal injury claims during 2000, approximately 32,000 such claims during 1999 and approximately 69,000 such claims during 1998.

B. Pre-Petition Claims Against Fibreboard

Prior to 1972, Fibreboard manufactured asbestos-containing products, including insulation products. Fibreboard has since been named as a defendant in many thousands of personal injury claims for injuries allegedly caused by asbestos exposure. Fibreboard received approximately 22,000 asbestos personal injury claims during 2000.

1. The Fibreboard Insurance Settlement Trust

In an effort to deal with the financial impact of its existing and future asbestos-related personal liability in the early 1990's, Fibreboard entered into a settlement agreement with two of its insurers, ultimately resulting in the creation of a trust (the "Fibreboard Insurance Settlement Trust"). See Section IV.C.3(c) of this Disclosure Statement entitled "Insurance Settlement" for a discussion of the Insurance Settlement entered into by Fibreboard with respect to its asbestos-related liability.

During the fourth quarter of 1999, the Fibreboard Insurance Settlement Trust was funded with $1.873 billion in proceeds from the settlement referred to above. The terms of the Fibreboard Insurance Settlement Trust provided for the funds in the trust to be applied solely to the costs of resolving pending and future Fibreboard asbestos-related liabilities, whether incurred as a result of a judgment in litigation or a settlement, or otherwise.

During 2000 prior to the Petition Date, payments made out of the Fibreboard Insurance Settlement Trust for asbestos-related claims against Fibreboard totaled $820 million, including $45 million in defense, claims processing and administrative expenses. As a result of the Filing, no payments for such claims have been made from the Fibreboard Insurance Settlement Trust since the Petition Date.

The assets of the Fibreboard Insurance Settlement Trust are comprised of marketable securities. The Fibreboard Insurance Settlement Trust has received a ruling from the United States Internal Revenue Service ("IRS") that it is a "qualified settlement fund" for United States federal income tax purposes. At March 31, 2006, the fair value of assets in the Fibreboard Insurance Settlement Trust was $1.309 billion. In addition, there are approximately $127 million in Administrative Deposits held in settlement accounts to pay applicable Fibreboard asbestos claim settlements. See Section IV.C.4 of this Disclosure Statement entitled "NSP Administrative Deposits" for a discussion of these Administrative Deposits.

2. The Committed Claims Account

Fibreboard also has an interest of approximately $33 million in the balance of the account (the "Committed Claims Account") established by Fibreboard and Continental Casualty Company ("Continental") pursuant to the Agreement Between Fibreboard and Continental On Remaining Issues, dated December 13, 1999, which was the subject of a Stipulation and Agreed Order Between Debtors and Continental Casualty Company Regarding Status and Disposition of Funds in Committed Claims Account and Related Matters Under Buckets Agreement, entered by the Bankruptcy Court on June 27, 2001. Under the Plan, the Committed Claims Account is being transferred to the FB Sub-Account of the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust for the benefit of the holders of Allowed Claims in Class B8, FB Asbestos Personal Injury Claims. See Section VII.B.4(d)(iii) of this Disclosure Statement entitled "Impaired Classes of Claims — Class B8: FB Asbestos Personal Injury Claims —Funding of the FB Sub-Account."

C. National Settlement Program

1. General

Beginning in late 1998, OCD implemented the NSP to resolve personal injury asbestos claims through settlement agreements with individual plaintiffs' law firms (the "NSP Agreements").

The NSP was intended to better manage the asbestos liabilities of OCD and to help OCD better predict the timing and amount of indemnity payments for both pending and future asbestos claims. The number of law firms participating in the NSP expanded from approximately 50 when the NSP was established to approximately 120 as of the Petition Date. The NSP Agreements extended through at least 2008 and provided for the resolution of existing asbestos claims, including unfiled claims pending with the participating law firm at the time it entered into an NSP Agreement ("Initial Claims"). The NSP Agreements also established procedures and fixed payments for resolving, without litigation, claims against either OCD or Fibreboard, or both, arising after a participating firm entered into an NSP Agreement ("Future Claims").

Settlement amounts for both Initial Claims and Future Claims were negotiated with each firm participating in the NSP, and each firm was to communicate with its respective clients to obtain authority to settle individual claims. Payments to individual claimants were to vary based on a number of factors, including the type and severity of disease, age and occupation. All such payments were subject to delivery of satisfactory evidence of a qualifying medical condition and exposure to OCD's and/or Fibreboard's products, delivery of customary releases by each claimant, and other conditions. Certain claimants settling non-malignancy claims with OCD and/or Fibreboard were entitled to an agreed pre-determined amount of additional compensation if they later developed a more severe asbestos-related medical condition.

As to Future Claims, each participating NSP firm agreed (consistent with applicable legal requirements) to recommend to its future clients, based on appropriately exercised professional judgment, to resolve their asbestos personal injury claims against OCD and/or Fibreboard through an administrative processing arrangement, rather than litigation. In the case of Future Claims involving non-malignancy, claimants were required to present medical evidence of functional impairment, as well as the product exposure criteria and other requirements set forth above, to be entitled to compensation.

2. OCD's Experience with the NSP

(a) NSP Claims Against OCD

As of the Petition Date, the NSP covered approximately 239,000 Initial Claims against OCD, approximately 150,000 of which had satisfied all conditions to final settlement, including receipt of executed releases, or other resolution (the "Final NSP Settlements") at an average cost per claim of approximately $9,300. As of the Petition Date, approximately 89,000 of such Final NSP Settlements had been paid in full or otherwise resolved, and approximately 61,000 were unpaid in whole or in part. As of such date, the remaining balance payable under NSP Agreements in connection with these unpaid Final NSP Settlements was approximately $510 million. Through the Petition Date, OCD had received approximately 6,000 Future Claims under the NSP.

(b) Non-NSP Claims Against OCD

As of the Petition Date, approximately 29,000 asbestos personal injury claims were pending against OCD outside the NSP. This compares to approximately 25,000 such claims pending on December 31, 1999. The information needed for a critical evaluation of pending claims, including the nature and severity of disease and definitive identifying information concerning claimants, typically becomes available only through the discovery process or as a result of settlement negotiations, which often occur years after particular claims are filed. As a result, OCD has limited information about many of such claims.

OCD resolved (by settlement or otherwise) approximately 10,000 asbestos personal injury claims outside the NSP during 1998, 5,000 such claims during 1999 and 3,000 such claims during 2000 prior to the Petition Date. The average cost of resolution was approximately $35,900 per claim for claims resolved during 1998, $34,600 per claim for claims resolved during 1999, and $44,800 per claim for claims resolved during 2000 prior to the Petition Date. Generally, these claims were settled as they were scheduled for trial, and they typically involved more serious injuries and diseases. Accordingly, OCD does not believe that such average costs of resolution are representative of the value of the non-NSP claims then pending against OCD.

(c) Asbestos-Related Payments by OCD

As a result of the Filing, OCD has not made any asbestos-related payments since the Petition Date except for approximately $20 million paid on its behalf by third parties pursuant to appeal bonds issued prior to the Petition Date. During 1999 and 2000 (prior to the Petition Date), OCD made asbestos-related payments falling within four major categories: (1) settlements in respect of verdicts incurred or claims resolved prior to the implementation of the NSP; (2) NSP settlements; (3) non-NSP settlements covering cases not resolved by the NSP; and (4) defense, claims processing and administrative expenses, as follows:

	1999 (In millions of dollars)	2000 (through October 4)[1] (In millions of dollars)
Pre-NSP Settlements	$ 170	$ 51
NSP Settlements	570	538
Non-NSP Settlements	30	42
Defense, Claims Processing and Administrative Expenses	90	54
Total[2]	$ 860	$ 685

Prior to the Petition Date, OCD deposited certain amounts in settlement accounts to facilitate claims processing under the NSP ("Administrative Deposits"). See Section IV.C.4 of this Disclosure Statement entitled "NSP Administrative Deposits."

3. Fibreboard's Experience with the NSP

(a) NSP Claims Against Fibreboard

As described above, OCD acquired Fibreboard in 1997. Fibreboard executed the NSP Agreements and became a participant in the NSP effective in the fourth quarter of 1999. The NSP Agreements settled asbestos personal injury claims that had been filed against Fibreboard by participating plaintiffs' law firms and claims that could have been filed against Fibreboard by such firms following the lifting, in the third quarter of 1999, of an injunction which had barred the filing of asbestos personal injury claims against Fibreboard.

As of the Petition Date, the NSP covered approximately 206,000 Initial Claims against Fibreboard, approximately 118,000 of which had satisfied all conditions to final settlement, including receipt of executed releases, or other resolution as Final NSP Settlements at an average cost per claim of approximately $7,400. As of the Petition Date, approximately 62,000 of such Final NSP Settlements had been paid in full or otherwise resolved, and approximately 56,000 were unpaid in whole or in part. As of such date, the remaining balance payable under NSP Agreements in connection with these unpaid Final NSP Settlements was approximately $330 million. The NSP Agreements also provided for the resolution of Future Claims under the NSP against Fibreboard through the administrative processing arrangement described above. Through the Petition Date, Fibreboard had received approximately 6,000 Future Claims under the NSP.

1 Since the Petition date, all pre-petition asbestos claims and pending litigation against the Debtors, including, without limitation, claims under the NSP, have been automatically stayed.

2 Amounts shown are before tax and application of insurance recoveries.

(b) Non-NSP Claims Against Fibreboard

As of the Petition Date, approximately 9,000 asbestos personal injury claims were pending against Fibreboard outside the NSP. This compares to approximately 1,000 such claims pending on December 31, 1999. Fibreboard resolved (by settlement or otherwise) approximately 2,000 asbestos personal injury claims outside the NSP during 2000 prior to the Petition Date at an average cost of resolution of approximately $45,000 per claim. Generally, these claims were settled as they were scheduled for trial, and they typically involved more serious injuries and diseases. Accordingly, OC does not believe that such average costs of resolution are representative of the value of the non-NSP claims then pending against Fibreboard.

(c) Insurance Settlement

In 1993, Fibreboard entered into certain settlement arrangements in an attempt to address the financial impact of its existing and future asbestos-related personal injury liabilities. One such arrangement was an insurance settlement (the "Insurance Settlement") between Fibreboard and two of its insurers, Continental and Pacific Indemnity Company ("Pacific"). Under the terms of the Insurance Settlement, Continental and Pacific were, among other things, to provide up to $2 billion minus interim settlements, plus accrued interest, to resolve asbestos personal injury claims pending against Fibreboard as of August 27, 1993 and all future asbestos personal injury claims asserted against Fibreboard after such date, including defense costs. These funds were to be put into the Fibreboard Insurance Settlement Trust. See Section V.F.7of this Disclosure Statement entitled "Insurance" and OC's Annual Report on Form 10-K for the year ended December 31, 2005 (which is available free of charge from OC's website, www.owenscorning.com), for a further description of the Insurance Settlement. OC's Annual Report on Form 10-K for the year ended December 31, 2005, may also be obtained by sending a written request. See directions for obtaining this document in Appendix D.

The Insurance Settlement became effective in 1999 and, during the fourth quarter of 1999, Continental and Pacific funded the Fibreboard Insurance Settlement Trust with $1.873 billion.

(d) Asbestos-Related Payments by Fibreboard

As a result of the Filing, Fibreboard has not made any asbestos-related payments since the Petition Date. During 2000 (prior to the Petition Date), gross payments for asbestos-related claims against Fibreboard, all of which were paid/reimbursed by the Fibreboard Insurance Settlement Trust, fell within four major categories, as follows:

	2000 (through October 4, 2000)[3] (In millions of dollars)
Pre-NSP Settlements	$ 29
NSP Settlements	705
Non-NSP Settlements	41
Defense, Claims Processing and Administrative Expenses	45
Total	$ 820

The payments for settlements under the NSP include certain administrative deposits during the reporting period in respect of Fibreboard claims. [Of this, approximately $127 million remains in settlement accounts may be the subject of litigation to determine if any of these funds are recoverable for the benefit of the FB Sub-Account of the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust. See Section IV.C.4 of this Disclosure Statement entitled "NSP Administrative Deposits."

4. NSP Administrative Deposits

As referred to above, prior to the Petition Date, OCD and Fibreboard entered into settlement agreements with four law firms including Baron & Budd, P.C. ("B&B"), whereby OCD and Fibreboard would make certain Administrative Deposits to facilitate claims processing under the NSP Agreements. These Administrative Deposits were made to settlement accounts maintained by such law firms for the benefit of their clients under the NSP Agreements. Each of the NSP Agreements contemplated that clients of the four firms, who received written approval from OCD and/or Fibreboard that they qualified for settlement payments pursuant to the terms of the particular NSP Agreement, would receive their settlement distribution from the Administrative Deposits maintained by their law firm. B&B asserts that under some circumstances its clients may be entitled to receive their settlement distribution from the Administrative Deposits even without receipt of written approval from OCD and/or Fibreboard, while the Debtors contend that the written approval of OCD/Fibreboard was a requirement for disbursement under the NSP Agreements. B&B asserts that approval pursuant to the terms of the NSP Agreement with B&B would be deemed to have occurred after the passing of certain time-period without approval or disapproval and that the Debtors waived the right to approve payments by their inaction.

After the Petition Date, the Debtors did not authorize any further distributions from the Administrative Deposits. Nonetheless, at least one law firm, Waters & Kraus LLP, made distributions after the Petition Date in the amount of approximately $11.6 million. As of March 31, 2006, approximately $106 million of Administrative Deposits previously made by OCD, and approximately $127 million of Administrative Deposits previously made by Fibreboard had not been finally distributed to claimants and are reflected in OCD's consolidated balance sheet as restricted assets and have not been subtracted from OCD's or Fibreboard's reserve for asbestos personal injury claims.

[3] Only payments through October 4, 2000, are reflected. Since the Petition Date, all pre-petition asbestos claims and pending litigation against the Debtors, including, without limitation, claims under the NSP, have been automatically stayed.

The Administrative Deposits held by B&B have been the subject of litigation during the Chapter 11 Cases. Certain of the issues have been determined, but those matters are on appeal. See Section V.F.8 of this Disclosure Statement entitled "Baron & Budd Administrative Deposits."

D. Establishment of Financial Reserves for Asbestos Liability; Estimation of Asbestos Liability

1. Financial Statement Reserves for Asbestos Liability

For financial reporting purposes, OC has historically estimated a reserve in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles to reflect asbestos-related liabilities that have been asserted or are probable of assertion. Accounting principles require accruals with respect to contingent liabilities (including asbestos liabilities) only to the extent that such liabilities are both probable and reasonably estimable. With respect to such liabilities that are probable as to which a reasonable estimate can be made only in terms of a range (with no point within the range determined to be more probable than any other point in such range), such accounting principles require only the accrual of the amount representing the low point in such range.

As OC has discussed in its public filings, any estimate for financial reporting purposes of its liabilities for pending and expected future asbestos claims is subject to considerable uncertainty because such liabilities are influenced by numerous variables that are inherently difficult to predict. Prior to the Petition Date, such variables included, among others, the cost of resolving pending non-NSP claims; the disease mix and severity of disease of pending NSP claims; the number, severity of disease, and jurisdiction of claims filed in the future (especially the number of mesothelioma claims); how many future claimants were covered by an NSP Agreement; the extent, if any, to which individual claimants exercised a right to opt out of an NSP Agreement and/or engage counsel not participating in the NSP; the extent, if any, to which counsel not bound by an NSP Agreement undertook the representation of asbestos personal injury plaintiffs against OCD and Fibreboard; the extent, if any, to which OC exercised its right to terminate one or more of the NSP Agreements due to excessive opt-outs or for other reasons; and the success in controlling the costs of resolving future non-NSP claims. As discussed further below, such uncertainties significantly increased as a result of the Filing.

OCD's reserve in respect of asbestos-related liabilities was established through a charge to income in 1991 with additional charges to income of $1.1 billion in 1996, $1.4 billion in 1998, $1.0 billion in 2000 and $1.4 billion in 2002 and as of December 31, 2004, the reserve in respect of OCD asbestos-related liabilities was approximately $3.6 billion. As a result of the Filing, the difficulties of estimating the number and cost of resolution of present and future asbestos-related claims significantly increased. In order to obtain a Section 524(g) injunction that would channel funds for pending and future asbestos-related claims to a trust and protect the Debtor from asbestos-related litigation post-reorganization, it became necessary for OCD to make provisions for all of its asbestos liability, not just for the time period required for financial reporting, but through the year 2049, the time by which all claims are expected.

In response to the District Court's Memorandum and Order dated March 31, 2005 estimating OCD's total amount of contingent and unliquidated claims, including pending claims, future claims through the year 2049, and contract claims, at $7 billion, OCD increased its reserves for asbestos-related liability by $3.435 million for the period ended March 31, 2005, so that its recorded reserve equaled the level of asbestos liability estimated by the District Court. As of December 31, 2004, the aggregate reserve in respect of Fibreboard asbestos-related liabilities was approximately $2.3 billion. Although the District Court's Memorandum and Order did not specifically address the potential asbestos-related liability of Fibreboard, based upon the analysis that the District Court followed in estimating the asbestos liability for OCD, Fibreboard's recorded reserve for potential asbestos-related liability was increased by $907 million for the period ended March 31, 2005, bringing it to a total of approximately $3.2 billion. Thus, OC's aggregate reserve for potential asbestos-related liability was approximately $10.2 billion as of March 31, 2005. For additional information with respect to the establishment and amount of reserves for asbestos-related liability, see Note 19 of the Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements set forth in OC's Annual Report on Form 10-K for the year ended December 31, 2005, and Note 9 of the Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements set forth in OC's Quarterly Report on Form 10-Q for the quarter ended March 31, 2006, copies of which may be obtained, free of charge, through OC's website at www.owenscorning.com. Copies of OC's Annual Report on Form 10-K for the year ended December 31, 2005 and OC's Quarterly Report on Form 10-Q for the quarter ended March 31, 2006, may also be obtained by sending a written request in accordance with the directions set forth in Appendix D.

2. Estimation of Asbestos Liability for Plan Purposes

The estimation of asbestos-related liability for the purposes of determining the relative allocation of plan consideration is based upon an estimation of the number of Allowed Claims and their value, including all future claims through the year 2049.

In connection with establishing the number and estimated aggregate value of Asbestos Personal Injury Claims, and as a basis for establishing the alternative scenarios for creditor recoveries, the Debtors, the Unsecured Creditors' Committee, the Asbestos Claimants' Committee and the Future Claimants' Representative retained experts to assist them in estimating the number and value of OC Asbestos Personal Injury Claims and FB Asbestos Personal Injury Claims. Such estimates are necessary under Section 524(g) of the Bankruptcy Code, which, as noted, requires an estimate of the number of claims that will be filed against the Debtors in the future. These estimates, particularly in light of the extended length of the forecast period, necessarily result in more uncertainty than generally holds for estimates of other types of contingent liability. In addition, each of the experts made certain assumptions, including the propensity of asbestos claimants to file a claim against the Debtors, the timing and disease severity of those claims, and the appropriate average settlement value of claims, all of which add to the uncertainty and can result in significant variations in the final estimates.

Beginning on January 13, 2005, a six day claims estimation hearing was held before the District Court. The purpose of the hearing was to establish the amount of OCD's current and future asbestos liability to be allowed as claims in the Chapter 11 Cases. At the hearing, experts offered a range of estimates of OCD's asbestos liability from a low of $2.08 billion offered by the expert for the Bank Holders to a high of $11.1 billion provided by the expert for the Asbestos Claimants' Committee. Intermediate estimates were offered by experts retained by OCD and the Futures Claimants' Representative.

At the hearing, experts for the Asbestos Claimants' Committee, the Futures Claimants' Representative, and the Debtors offered estimates of Fibreboard's current and future asbestos liability. The Asbestos Claimants' Committee and the Future Claimants' Representative offered preferred forecasts of $7.5 billion and $6.49 billion respectively. Experts retained by the Debtors offered estimates of Fibreboard's present and future asbestos-related liability between $2.12 and $3.22 billion. The Bank Holders did not offer an estimate.

On March 31, 2005, the District Court issued the OCD Asbestos Personal Injury Estimation Order estimating the total amount of contingent and unliquidated claims against OCD for personal injury or death caused by exposure to asbestos (including pending claims, future claims and contract claims) at $7 billion. The OCD Asbestos Personal Injury Estimation Order contained no finding as to the amount of Fibreboard's asbestos liability. On April 13, 2005, the District Court denied a motion for reconsideration brought by Bank Holders and other parties. These parties appealed the District Court's ruling to the Third Circuit. Briefing has been completed under the schedule established by the Third Circuit and oral argument was scheduled for June 7, 2006. The Settlement Term Sheet provides that for purposes of the Plan, OCD's current and future asbestos liability would be deemed to be $7 billion and that within ten days after the execution of the Settlement Term Sheet, the Bank Steering Committee, the Ad Hoc Bondholders' Committee and the Ad Hoc Equity Holders' Committee shall take such steps as may be required to dismiss with prejudice the appeal pending before the Third Circuit of the Asbestos Personal Injury Estimation Order, subject to reinstatement by the the Ad Hoc Bondholders' Committee and the Ad Hoc Equity Holders' Committee, but only if reinstatement is permitted by the Third Circuit, if the asbestos personal injury claimants fail to accept the Plan by the percentages required by Section 524(g) and Section 1126(c) of the Bankruptcy Code. The appeal by CSFB on behalf of the Bank Holders is subject to reinstatement only if a plan of reorganization is not confirmed which provides the Bank Holders with the treatment provided in the Plan. On May 19, 2006, CSFB, as the agent for the lenders under the 1997 Credit Agreement ("CSFB"), the Ad Hoc Bondholders' Committee and the Ad Hoc Equity Holders' Committee filed dismissals of the appeal, subject to reinstatement as specified above, leaving only Century Indemnity Company and Central National Insurance Company as appellants of the Asbestos Personal Injury Estimation Order. On May 19, 2006, the Plan Proponents filed a Motion to Defer Appellate Argument and Disposition of Appeal with the Third Circuit, seeking to postpone any appeal so that, among other reasons, the confirmation of the Plan would render any such appeal moot. On May 22, 2006, Century Indemnity Company and Central National Insurance Company filed a response in which they stated that they did not oppose the postponement of the appellate argument. On May 25, 2006, the Third Circuit ordered that the appeals by CSFB, the Ad Hoc Bondholders' Committee and the Ad Hoc Equity Holders' Committee be held in abeyance until further notice. The Third Circuit also granted the motion to postpone oral argument with respect to the appeals of Century Indemnity Company and Central National Insurance Company, with the reservation of all rights by the appellants deemed subsumed within the deferral. With respect to all appeals of the OCD Asbestos Personal Injury Estimation Order, the Third Circuit ordered the parties to report on the status of the Chapter 11 Cases on the last Business Day of each two-month period commencing June 30, 2006.

The $7 billion amount pursuant to the OCD Asbestos Personal Injury Estimation Order has been incorporated into the Plan as the Class A7 Aggregate Amount. Upon rejection of the Plan by certain classes, this amount would be used to determine the share of distributions which would be made to the OC Sub-Account of Asbestos Personal Injury Trust. The Class A7 Aggregate Amount is adjusted from the $7 billion baseline to reflect payments from other sources: (i) the amount of any distribution made by Integrex on account of the Class I7 Claims (if any), (ii) the amounts in the OCD Insurance Escrow as of the Effective Date, (iii) the amounts then due under the AIG Settlement Agreement and the Affiliated FM Settlement Agreement, and (iv) the aggregate amount in the NSP Administrative Deposit Accounts in respect of OC Asbestos Personal Injury Claims less any OCD Reversions, as such amount in clause (iv) shall be estimated by the Bankruptcy Court or the District Court at or prior to the Confirmation Hearing. It is also a condition of the Effective Date that the rights of any and all members of Classes A4, A5, A6-A and A6-B to pursue, and receive any benefits of, from or under, the pending appeal of the OCD Asbestos Personal Injury Estimation Order shall be deemed to have been waived and released under the Plan and Confirmation Order to the fullest extent permissible under applicable law. However, the Plan Proponents have the right to waive this condition in their sole discretion based on their belief that the appeal of the OCD Asbestos Personal Injury Estimation Order shall be effectively mooted by the distribution of property under the Plan and all other relevant facts and circumstances. A decision by the Plan Proponents to waive this condition would not have the effect of supplanting a subsequent judicial determination concerning the issue of mootness of any appeal, but would merely be the decision of the Plan Proponents not to delay the Effective Date pending a determination of such mootness. The Plan Proponents may also waive this condition entirely.

V. CHAPTER 11 CASES

A. Events Leading to the Chapter 11 Filings

Since the adoption of its NSP in the fourth quarter of 1998, OC's strategy had been to use that program to avoid the costly and unpredictable traditional tort system and to quantify the amount of payments to asbestos claimants and control the timing of those payments to match the Company's ability to make such payments. The NSP achieved these goals in many respects and also facilitated the negotiation of the deferral of payments to NSP participants during 2000 prior to the Filing. As discussed in more detail below, however, OC's inability to obtain ongoing financing on acceptable terms, the lack of support for additional payment deferrals, the higher than anticipated number of asbestos-related claims (which adversely affected the Company's estimated liquidity needs through 2004), and the deterioration of OC's operations during 2000, resulted in the decision by OC to seek protection for the Debtors under Chapter 11 of the Bankruptcy Code.

During the third quarter of 2000, OC met on a number of occasions with CSFB to discuss a refinancing of its $1.8 billion credit facility under the 1997 Credit Agreement, which was scheduled to expire in June 2002. OC requested that the refinancing extend into 2005 and be increased to an amount sufficient to meet its expected liquidity needs, including the repayment on maturity of $300 million of debentures in 2005. Following extended negotiations, OC concluded at the end of the third quarter of 2000 that its lenders would not be willing to agree to a refinancing that would meet OC's needs. Moreover, OC concluded that the lenders would require, as a part of any refinancing, that OC pledge its assets to secure the loans and agree to limits on payments for asbestos liabilities that would be inconsistent with its anticipated asbestos payment obligations.

During the course of the third quarter of 2000, support for asbestos payment deferrals was adversely impacted by several factors. First, as a result of the downturn in the Company's operations in the third quarter of 2000 (discussed below), OC approached certain NSP firms to request additional payment deferrals. Based on those discussions, OC determined that it would not be feasible to obtain additional payment deferrals and that the likely terms of the refinancing would be unacceptable to the NSP participants. Second, the executive committee under the NSP and other participants in the NSP declined to agree to any deferral in payments due from Fibreboard. Finally, several NSP firms declined to grant the deferrals previously agreed upon in principle and initiated legal proceedings to enforce the terms of their respective NSP Agreements.

Prior to the Filing, OC noted several trends which indicated that it would likely be required to defer asbestos-related payments in excess of deferrals previously negotiated with law firms participating in the NSP. First, OC began to see evidence that a higher than anticipated number of new asbestos-related claims, particularly higher value claims, was being filed by non-NSP firms, including new firms (where the timing of resolution is uncertain and the amount and timing of payments may be determined by the traditional tort system). Second, OC noted a substantial increase in the rate of claims filed, particularly during September 2000. Approximately 7,800 asbestos-related claims were received by OC (excluding Fibreboard) during the third quarter of 2000, compared to approximately 3,400 and 4,200 claims received during the first and second quarters, respectively. While OC believed that this increase in claims filings represented an acceleration of claims from future periods as a result of the downgrading of OC's credit rating in mid-2000, rather than an increase in the total number of asbestos-related claims to be expected, this trend would have had the effect of accelerating the related settlement payments and increasing liquidity needs through 2004 and/or the need to negotiate further deferrals of asbestos payments.

OC's results of operations deteriorated significantly in the third quarter of 2000, with expectations for the quarter declining particularly during the last half of the period. As a result of, among other factors, the fall in demand for building materials, elevated energy and raw materials costs and the inability of OC to fully recapture these costs in price adjustments, OC's margins and income from operations were significantly reduced. As a result, OC's ability to service its ongoing asbestos payments and continue to comply with its pre-petition loan covenants was adversely affected. OC concluded at the end of the third quarter of 2000 that, unless it used a substantial portion of its cash to repay a portion of its debt under the 1997 Credit Agreement, OC would be in violation of the leverage ratio covenant under that agreement. Moreover, in view of reduced expectations concerning operating results in the fourth quarter of 2000 and beyond, OC concluded that its long-term liquidity needs (driven in large measure by asbestos payment obligations) could not likely be met by its cash and available credit under the 1997 Credit Agreement (which was limited by leverage ratio and other loan covenants).

As a result of the above factors, OC's management determined late in the third quarter that it was unlikely that OC would be able to meet its long-term liquidity needs, including agreed and other required asbestos payments and repayment of debt on maturity. While OC held $378 million of Cash and cash equivalents at the end of the third quarter of 2000, and OC's operations (excluding the effects of asbestos) were traditionally profitable and generated strong positive cash flow, management determined that a Chapter 11 filing in October would be in the best interest of all OC stakeholders.

B. The Chapter 11 Filings

On October 5, 2000, OCD and the Subsidiary Debtors filed voluntary petitions for relief under Chapter 11 of the Bankruptcy Code with the Bankruptcy Court. C. Continuation of Business; Stay of Litigation

Since the Petition Date, the Debtors have continued to operate their businesses as debtors-in-possession under the Bankruptcy Code. Pursuant to the Bankruptcy Code, the Debtors are required to comply with certain statutory reporting requirements, including the filing of monthly operating reports. As of the date hereof, the Debtors have complied with such requirements, and intend to continue to comply with such requirements. The Debtors are authorized to operate their businesses in the ordinary course of business, with transactions out of the ordinary course of business requiring Bankruptcy Court approval. In accordance with the Bankruptcy Code, the Debtors are not permitted to pay any claims or obligations that arose prior to the Petition Date unless specifically authorized by the Bankruptcy Court. Similarly, claimants may not enforce any Claims against the Debtors that arose prior to the Petition Date unless specifically authorized by the Bankruptcy Court. As debtors-in-possession, the Debtors have the right, under Section 365 of the Bankruptcy Code, subject to the Bankruptcy Court's approval, to assume or reject pre-petition executory contracts and unexpired leases in existence at the Petition Date. Parties to contracts or leases that are rejected may assert rejection damages claims as permitted by the Bankruptcy Code. See Section VII.E of this Disclosure Statement entitled "Treatment of Executory and Post-Petition Contracts and Unexpired Leases".

As a consequence of the Filing, all pending litigation against the Debtors was stayed automatically by Section 362 of the Bankruptcy Code and, absent further order of the Bankruptcy Court, no party may take any action to recover on pre-petition claims against the Debtors.

The OCP Order authorizes the Debtors to employ and compensate ordinary course professionals without additional approval from the Bankruptcy Court subject to certain limitations. Among other limitations, the OCP Order requires the Debtors to obtain approval under Sections 330 and 331 of the Bankruptcy Code if payments to the ordinary course professionals exceed an average of $35,000 per month for the professionals (with certain exceptions), and/or if the payments to all ordinary course professionals exceed a total of $3 million in any given month. In accordance with the terms of the OCP Order, every two months throughout the Chapter 11 Cases, the Debtors have submitted (and continue to submit) a statement with the Bankruptcy Court which reports the name of the ordinary course professionals, the amounts paid as compensation for services rendered and reimbursement of expenses incurred by each ordinary course professional during the previous two-month period, and a general description of the services rendered by each ordinary course professional.

4. Future Claimants' Representative

A key element of the Plan is the Asbestos Personal Injury Permanent Channeling Injunction, pursuant to which all current and future personal injury asbestos-related Claims and Demands against the Debtors and other covered Persons will be channeled to the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust established to equitably distribute available assets to holders of all such Allowed Claims and Demands. A channeling injunction is permitted by Section 524(g) of the Bankruptcy Code and may be issued if a number of specific conditions are met, including the appointment of a legal representative for the purpose of protecting the rights of persons that might subsequently assert future Demands against the Debtors. Specifically, Congress and the courts have recognized the need in Chapter 11 cases involving asbestos claims to protect and represent the interests of persons who may have claims and/or Demands against a debtor arising in the future, and have directed bankruptcy courts to appoint a legal representative (the "Future Claimants' Representative") for such claimants in cases where a channeling injunction is sought.

Shortly after the commencement of the Chapter 11 Cases, the Debtors began discussions with the Committees, and their respective legal and financial advisors, to consider the appointment of a Future Claimants' Representative. Following careful consideration of the potential candidates for Future Claimants' Representative, the Debtors determined that James J. McMonagle was well-qualified to represent the interests of any and all persons described in Section 524(g)(4)(B)(i) of the Bankruptcy Code who may assert Demands against one or more of the Debtors, and therefore, should be appointed as the Future Claimants' Representative for such persons in these Chapter 11 cases.

On September 28, 2001, the Court appointed James J. McMonagle, nunc pro tunc to June 12, 2001, as the Future Claimants' Representative of any and all persons described in Section 524(g)(4)(B)(i) of the Bankruptcy Code who may assert Demands for asbestos-related personal injury claims against one or more of the Debtors, including without limitation, OCD and Fibreboard.

The name and address of the Future Claimants' Representative and the professionals retained by him are set forth below:

5. Other Professionals and Advisors

(a) The Claims, Noticing and Balloting Agent

On October 6, 2000, the Bankruptcy Court appointed Robert L. Berger & Associates, Inc., n/k/a Omni Management Group, LLC, 16161 Ventura Blvd., PMB 517, Encino, CA 91436, as the claims, noticing and balloting agent ("Claims Agent" or "Voting Agent", as the context requires) in the Chapter 11 Cases, pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 156(c).

(b) Special Voting Agent

New York, NY 10022, as special noticing, balloting and tabulation agent to address notice issues related to securities. Upon the application of the Debtors, on December 20, 2004, the Bankruptcy Court vacated its Order authorizing the retention and employment of Innisfree M&A Incorporated and authorized the Debtors to retain, employ, compensate and reimburse Financial Balloting Group LLC, 757 Third Avenue, 3rd Floor, New York, NY 10017, as special noticing, balloting and tabulation agent.

On June 20, 2002, the Bankruptcy Court appointed Warren H. Smith & Associates, P.C., Republic Center, 325 N. St. Paul, Suite 4080, Dallas, Texas 75201, as the Fee Auditor, to act as a special consultant to the Bankruptcy Court for professional fee and expense review and analysis, nunc pro tunc to April 29, 2002.

E. "First Day" and Other Orders

On or about October 6, 2000, the Debtors filed a series of motions seeking relief by virtue of so-called "first day" orders. First day orders are intended to facilitate the transition between a debtor's pre-petition and post-petition business operations by approving certain regular business practices that may not be specifically authorized under the Bankruptcy Code or as to which the Bankruptcy Code requires prior approval by the Bankruptcy Court. These orders were designed to allow the Debtors to continue business operations with minimum disruptions and to ease the strain on the Debtors' relationships with their employees and other parties. The first day orders obtained in these cases are typical for large Chapter 11 cases. Set forth below is a brief summary of the significant first day orders and other orders relating to motions filed by the Debtors at or near the commencement of the Chapter 11 Cases. The descriptions of the relief sought or obtained in the Chapter 11 Cases set forth below and throughout this Disclosure Statement are summaries only and reference should be made to the actual pleadings and orders for their complete content.

The first day orders and other orders, entered at or near the commencement of the Chapter 11 Cases, provide for, among other things:

- the payment of employees' accrued pre-petition wages, salaries, commissions and reimbursable business expenses; the continuation of employee benefit plans and programs post-petition; and the direction for all banks to honor pre-petition checks for payment of employee obligations;
- the payment of certain pre-petition import obligations (including customs duties, freight, trucking charges and brokerage fees), shipping charges and related possessory liens;
- the payment of certain miscellaneous contractors in satisfaction of perfected or potential mechanics', materialmen's or similar liens;

- a prohibition on the Debtors' utility services providers from discontinuing services on account of outstanding pre-petition invoices and establishing procedures for utility providers to seek adequate assurance of the Debtors' future performance;
- the payment of certain pre-petition tax claims;
- the honoring of certain pre-petition obligations to customers under various warranty and other customer programs, and the continuation of warranty and customer programs post-petition;
- the payment of certain critical pre-petition trade vendors' claims;
- the joint administration of each of the Debtors' bankruptcy cases;
- confirming administrative expense treatment for obligations arising from post-petition delivery of goods, administrative expense treatment for certain holders of valid reclamation claims and a prohibition against third parties reclaiming goods or interfering with delivery of goods to the Debtors; and
- the extension of time for filing the Debtors' Schedules and Statement of Financial Affairs (the "SOFAS").

F. Significant Events During the Chapter 11 Cases

In addition to the first day relief sought and received in the Chapter 11 Cases, the Debtors have sought and received authority with respect to various matters designed to assist in the administration of the Chapter 11 Cases, to maximize the value of the Debtors' Estates and to provide the foundation for the Debtors' emergence from Chapter 11. Set forth below is a brief summary of the principal motions the Debtors have filed, and to which they have been granted relief by the Bankruptcy Court, during the pendency of the Chapter 11 Cases.

1. Employee Related Matters

In connection with the filing of the Chapter 11 Cases, the Debtors obtained authorization from the Bankruptcy Court to (a) pay employees pre-petition wages, salaries and other compensation, (b) continue certain employee benefit programs, including maintenance of self-insured workers' compensation programs, (c) adopt a Retention Program and a supplemental Severance Program (as defined in the Retention and Severance Motion described below), and (d) modify certain employee retirement benefits programs to provide limited enhancement to those programs and to bring them into compliance with certain provisions of the Tax Reform Act of 1986.

On December 22, 2000, the Debtors filed a Motion For Order Under 11 U.S.C. §§ 105, 363 and 365 Authorizing Continuation or Implementation of Employee Retention, Emergence, Severance, Incentive, 401(k) Contribution and Global Awards Programs

(the "Retention and Severance Motion"), which sought approval of various new or existing programs designed to prevent excessive turnover of key employees during the Chapter 11 Cases. On January 17, 2001, the Bankruptcy Court entered an Order approving in part the Retention and Severance Motion. Thereafter, on February 16, 2001, the Debtors filed a Supplement to the Retention and Severance Motion by which the Debtors sought an order approving and authorizing the continuation, modification and implementation of certain employee compensation programs. On March 26, 2001, following certain modifications, the Bankruptcy Court approved the remaining portion of the Retention and Severance Motion.

Pursuant to the January 17, 2001 and March 26, 2001 Orders approving the Retention and Severance Motion, the Debtors were authorized to continue or to implement the following programs: (a) an employee retention program under which the Debtors were authorized to pay retention bonuses at specified intervals to approximately 236 key employees; (b) a supplemental employee retention and emergence program, under which certain key employees were entitled to receive additional bonuses in the event that the Debtors emerged from bankruptcy by 2004; (c) continuation of the Debtors' existing employee severance programs consisting of a "Salaried Employee Separation Allowance Plan," which extends to all salaried employees in the United States except senior management, as well as individually negotiated severance agreements; (d) certain of the Debtors' existing incentive-based compensation programs, consisting of (i) the "Corporate Incentive Plan," which provides for discretionary performance-based incentive payments to approximately 1,250 of the Debtors' employees, and (ii) the "Officer Stretch Incentive Plan," an incentive program for approximately 59 of the Debtors' senior managers and key employees; (e) certain of the Debtors' existing 401(k)-related employee programs, consisting of (i) a 401(k) plan, a non-incentive based program pursuant to which the Debtors make matching contributions for the benefit of a broad cross-section of the Debtors' employees and (ii) the "Profit Sharing Contribution Plan," an incentive-based program pursuant to which the Debtors make additional cash contributions for the benefit of a broad cross-section of the Debtors' employees in an amount based on objective Company performance measures; and (f) the Debtors' "Global Awards Program," originally a stock-based employee incentive program, which, as modified, provides for additional cash awards to employees based on objective company performance measures.

On March 5, 2002, the Debtors filed a Motion to Authorize the Continuance of Employee Compensation Programs. On September 10, 2002, the Court entered an Order Authorizing Continuation, Modification and Implementation of Employee Compensation Programs. In addition, the Court authorized the Debtors to continue the employee compensation programs in the ordinary course of the Debtors' business without additional court approval, subject to a specific procedure identified in the motion. Specifically, court authority is unnecessary to continue the compensation programs; provided, however, that the Debtors advise the Committees and the Future Claimants' Representative of the Company's annual Business Plan and annual funding criteria for the employee compensation programs, including the data necessary to assess the reasonableness of the Debtors' business judgment as soon as possible after January 1 in any given year, but under no circumstances later than February 28. In the event that the Committees and/or the Future Claimants' Representative do not consent to the Debtors' proposed employee compensation programs, they are required, within 30 days after receipt of the annual program review, to provide written notice to the Debtors' counsel of their specific objections to the proposed employee compensation programs. If the parties are unable to resolve the objections, the Debtors are required to file the appropriate pleading with the Bankruptcy Court.

On April 28, 2003, the Bankruptcy Court approved a Stipulation and Order Regarding Employee Compensation Programs, by and between the Debtors, Committees, and Future Claimants' Representative, which authorized the continuation of the Employee Compensation Programs (as defined in the Stipulation), eliminated the Corporate Stretch Incentive Plan, and approved the implementation of the Long Term Incentive Plan by the Debtors. The Court's approval of the Stipulation was intended to constitute "shareholder approval" for the purposes of all applicable law, including, without limitation, Section 162(m) of the IRC.

Given the already expired and expiring programs for Tier 1, 2, 3 and 4 Participants under the supplemental employee retention program, and in light of the Debtors' continued need to retain its key employees, on February 11, 2004, the Debtors filed a motion for entry of an order authorizing the Debtors to implement a new retention program (the "New Retention Program") for its key managers and employees. The Unsecured Creditors' Committee objected to the motion, but certain changes were made to the New Retention Program which resolved the objection, in part, and on July 22, 2004, the Court signed an order approving the New Retention Program for Tier 2, 3 and 4 Participants. In order to obtain prompt approval of the New Retention Program for the approximately 270 participants other than the Debtors' top five most senior managers, the Debtors agreed to defer their request for approval of the program as related to the Tier 1 Participants.

On July 8, 2004, the Debtors filed a motion for authorization to implement the balance of their New Retention Program. Credit Suisse First Boston, as Agent, objected to the Motion. Following discovery, a hearing was held on the motion and, on October 12, 2004, the Court signed an order authorizing the Debtors to implement the New Retention Program for Tier 1 Participants for calendar years 2004 and 2005 as modified by the Court. On October 22, 2004, Credit Suisse First Boston, as Agent, appealed the Bankruptcy Court's Order to the District Court. To date, no further action has taken place on the appeal.

On September 14, 2005, the Debtors filed a motion for entry of an order authorizing Owens Corning to amend its Key Management Severance Agreements with its President and Chief Executive Officer, David T. Brown, and its Chairman of the Board of Directors and Chief Financial Officer, Michael H. Thaman (the "Severance Motion"). The Debtors sought approval of the amendments to the Key Management Severance Agreements as a valid exercise of the Debtors' business judgment, consistent with good corporate governance and succession planning. No objections were filed to the Severance Motion and the Bankruptcy Court entered an order approving the Severance Motion on January 26, 2006.

On December 29, 2005, the Debtors filed a motion for authority pursuant to Sections 105(a) and 363 of the Bankruptcy Code to implement the 2006 Retention Program (as defined in the motion) in an effort to minimize the turnover of the Debtors' Key Employees by (as defined in the motion) providing incentives for these employees to remain in the Debtors' employ and to work towards a successful resolution of the Chapter 11 Cases. Messrs. Brown and Thaman will not participate in the 2006 Retention Program. No objections were filed to this motion and the Bankruptcy Court entered an order approving this motion on January 26, 2006.

2. Vendor and Customer Issues

Immediately following the commencement of the Chapter 11 Cases, the Debtors received numerous inquiries from their vendors, customers, and other parties providing services to the Debtors concerning the Debtors' ability to satisfy debts incurred prior to the Petition Date and their continuing commitments. The Debtors believe that the maintenance of relationships with their vendors, customers and other business partners has been, and will continue to be, a critical factor in the continued viability of the Debtors' ongoing business operations and the ultimate success of their rehabilitation effort.

(a) Relief at Commencement of Chapter 11 Cases

In order to enable the Debtors to minimize the adverse effects of the Chapter 11 Cases, and in their efforts to maintain relationships and goodwill with certain of their vendors and customers, the Debtors obtained orders from the Bankruptcy Court that authorized them to:

(i) honor certain pre-petition obligations to customers under the Debtors' warranty and other customer programs (including product warranties, cash discounts, rebates, category management, preferred contractor incentive programs, and customer dispute resolution), and to continue and maintain such programs on a post-petition basis;

(ii) pay pre-petition claims of contractors (including mechanics, tradespersons and other contractors) in satisfaction of perfected or potential mechanics', materialmen's or similar liens or interests;

(iii) grant administrative expense status to vendors and suppliers for undisputed obligations arising from pre-petition purchase orders outstanding as of the Petition Date for products and goods received by the Debtors on or subsequent to the Petition Date;

(iv) pay vendors and suppliers for post-petition delivery of goods in the ordinary course of business;

(v) pay critical pre-petition trade claims (discussed below); and

(vi) grant administrative expense treatment for certain holders of valid reclamation claims; and prohibit third parties from reclaiming goods or interfering with the delivery of goods to the Debtors (discussed below).

(b) Critical Trade Vendors

Recognizing the importance of certain vendors to the Debtors' businesses, the Debtors included among their first day motions several motions for authorization to pay critical pre-petition trade vendors, which were granted by orders of the Bankruptcy Court dated October 6, 2000 (the "Critical Vendor Orders"). The Critical Vendor Orders authorized, but did not require, the Debtors to pay the pre-petition claims of certain critical suppliers of raw and processed materials, goods and services with whom the Debtors continued to do business and whose materials, goods and services were essential to the Debtors' business operations. In connection with the Critical Vendor Orders, the Debtors were authorized to pay critical vendors up to an aggregate amount of approximately $123 million. Such amount was comprised of certain elements: (a) $3.0 million for critical trade payments on account of customs duties, ocean freight, air freight and the like; (b) $25 million on account of amounts owed to commercial common carriers; (c) $48 million on account of amounts owed to critical materials vendors; (d) $19 million, on account of amounts owed to critical project vendors; (e) $23 million, on account of amounts owed to critical affiliated vendors; and (f) $5.0 million, on account of amounts owed to mechanics lien creditors. In return for receiving payment of these claims, the critical vendors were required to extend normalized trade credit terms to the Debtors for the duration of the Chapter 11 Cases. By order dated November 21, 2000, the Bankruptcy Court supplemented one of the Critical Vendor Orders and granted the Debtors authority to pay the pre-petition claims of foreign taxing authorities, foreign landlords and other foreign creditors, as necessary to facilitate the continued operation of the Debtors' foreign divisions.

The Debtors identified approximately 860 of its vendors and suppliers as "critical" vendors, many of which were freight carriers. The Debtors reached settlements with the critical vendors whereby, in general, the Debtors paid the vendors less than the total pre-petition amounts owed in satisfaction of claims those vendors may have held against the Debtors for pre-petition goods or services, and those vendors agreed to maintain or return to normal credit terms.

(c) Reclamation Claims

At the commencement of the Chapter 11 Cases, the Debtors anticipated that many of their vendors and suppliers would attempt to assert their right to reclaim goods delivered to the Debtors shortly before or soon after the Petition Date pursuant to Section 546(c) of the Bankruptcy Code and Section 2-702 of the Uniform Commercial Code. As part of their "first day" motions, the Debtors sought certain initial relief in connection with the treatment of reclamation claims, which relief was granted by order dated October 6, 2000 (the "Initial Reclamation Procedures Order"). The Initial Reclamation Procedures Order established preliminary reclamation procedures in order to facilitate the continued operation of the Debtors' businesses, to prevent distraction of the Debtors' management and professionals and to allow the Debtors the opportunity to conduct a thorough review and evaluation of the reclamation claims. Among other things, the Initial Reclamation Procedures Order provided that vendors would be entitled to administrative expense claims if and to the extent that the vendor made a valid, written reclamation demand for the goods at issue, and to the extent that such vendor proved the validity of its demand. The Initial Reclamation Procedures Order also prohibited vendors and other third-parties from reclaiming or interfering with the post-petition delivery of goods to the Debtors.

As anticipated, the Debtors received a large number of reclamation claims – approximately 220 claims, with an aggregate approximate amount of $34 million, exclusive of claims which did not specify an amount. The Debtors devoted substantial time and effort in reviewing and analyzing the claims, in order to determine which claims were valid reclamation claims.

Between February and September, 2002, the Debtors filed five separate motions (each of which addressed certain of the 220 reclamation claims), requesting orders approving their proposed allowance and/or disallowance of the reclamation claims, and approving their proposed treatment of the allowed reclamation claims (together, the "Reclamation Motions"). More specifically, in the Reclamation Motions, the Debtors requested orders: (i) granting administrative expense priority status for reclamation claims to the extent, and in the amounts, the Debtors determined such claims to be allowable pursuant to the applicable provisions of the Bankruptcy Code; (ii) denying administrative expense priority status for all other reclamation claims; and (iii) authorizing the Debtors to pay the Allowed amount of each valid reclamation claim. The Bankruptcy Court granted the Reclamation Motions and, upon Court approval of the Debtors' proposed treatment of the individual reclamation claims, the Debtors were authorized to pay the Allowed claims.

Approximately sixteen reclamation claimants filed objections and/or responses to the Reclamation Motions, and many other reclamation claimants contacted the Debtors concerning the Debtors' proposed treatment of their claims as described in the Reclamation Motions. Through discussions, negotiations and/or the exchange of documents and information between parties, the Debtors reached a consensual resolution with the majority of these claimants, either by entering a settlement stipulation or by the Bankruptcy Court's entry of a modified order.

As of the date of this Disclosure Statement, all but one reclamation claim have been resolved.

(d) Setoffs

Section 553 of the Bankruptcy Code recognizes the right of setoff of mutual, pre-petition obligations if certain criteria are met. However, Section 362(a)(7) of the Bankruptcy Code operates as a stay of the setoff of any debt owing to the debtor that arose pre-petition against any pre-petition claim against the debtor. Bankruptcy Rule 4001 allows parties to consensually modify the automatic stay provisions to allow for setoff in appropriate circumstances.

Throughout the Chapter 11 Cases, the Debtors have entered a number of stipulations (the "Setoff Stipulations") with various vendors and suppliers authorizing a modification of the automatic stay to effectuate the setoff of pre-petition mutual debts. The Debtors determined that entering the Setoff Stipulations would be in the best interest of the Debtors' estates and their creditors because, in general, among other reasons, the setoffs allowed the Debtors to reconcile their books and records without further dispute, maintain amicable relationships with their customers and vendors, and continue the free flow of goods and services from their customers and vendors.

3. Debtor-in-Possession Financing and the DIP Facility

In connection with the Filing, and in order to fund their on-going business operations during the pendency of the Chapter 11 Cases, the Debtors, excluding Jefferson Holdings, Inc., obtained a debtor-in-possession credit facility (the "DIP Facility") from a group of lenders (the "DIP Lenders") led by Bank of America, N.A., as administrative agent (the "DIP Agent"). On November 17, 2000, the Bankruptcy Court approved the Final Order Authorizing Post-Petition Financing on a Superpriority Administrative Claim Basis Pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 364(c)(1) and Granting Relief from the Automatic Stay Pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 362 (the "DIP Order"). The DIP Order authorized, among other things, (a) the Debtors to borrow from the DIP Lenders, on specified terms and conditions, post-petition financing of up to $500 million, including revolving loans and letters of credit, pursuant to an agreement among the Debtors and Lenders; (b) the execution by the Debtors of notes and other documents requested by the DIP Lenders evidencing the post-petition financing; and (c) the granting of certain protections to the DIP Agent and the DIP Lenders including without limitation a superpriority administrative claim over any and all administrative expenses of the kinds specified in Sections 503(b), 105, 326, 328, 330, 331, 506(c), 507(a), 546(c), 726 or 1112 of the Bankruptcy Code.

The DIP Facility also provided for unsecured post-petition financing from the DIP Lenders for general working capital and other general corporate purposes in an aggregate principal amount not to exceed $500 million. The amount available under the DIP Facility depends on a borrowing base of qualifying receivables and inventory of the Debtors. Borrowings under the DIP Facility bear interest at a floating rate equal to LIBOR plus a margin varying from 0.75% to 2.00%, based upon the average daily outstanding balance. In addition, a commitment fee is payable on unused portions of the aggregate commitment amount under the DIP Facility of 0.375% per annum and a letter of credit fee is payable based on the average daily maximum aggregate amount available to be drawn under all outstanding letters of credit and certain other expenses incurred by the DIP Lenders issuing the letters of credit. The DIP Facility contains covenants, representations and warranties, events of default, and other terms and conditions typical of credit facilities of a similar nature.

The DIP Facility was to expire on November 15, 2002, in accordance with its terms. On October 28, 2002, the DIP Lenders and the Debtors entered into an amendment to the DIP Facility, approved by the Bankruptcy Court, pursuant to which, among other things, the maximum available credit amount under the DIP Facility was reduced at the Debtors' request to $250 million and its term was extended through November 15, 2004.

The DIP Facility, as amended in 2002, was due to expire on November 15, 2004, in accordance with its terms. By Order entered October 28, 2004, the Bankruptcy Court approved an amendment to the DIP Facility by which the term of the DIP Facility was extended through November 15, 2006. Such amendment also replaced certain of the DIP Lenders with other lenders, and made certain other specified revisions to the DIP Facility. By Order entered July 13, 2005, the Bankruptcy Court approved various technical amendments to its prior Order regarding the DIP Facility, dated October 28, 2004.

The Debtors have never utilized the facility except for standby letter of credit and similar uses. As of November 30, 2005, approximately $150 million of availability under this facility was utilized for standby letters of credit and similar uses. As of the Effective Date, the Debtors expect to have no outstanding borrowings, but approximately $175 million in outstanding standby letters of credit and similar uses.

Obligations under the DIP Facility have "superpriority" claim status under Section 364(c)(1) of the Bankruptcy Code, meaning that such obligations have priority as to repayment over all administrative expenses, with certain limited exceptions. The claims of the DIP Lenders are subject to the fees and expenses of the Office of the United States Trustee (under Section 1930 of Title 28 of the United States Code) and the Clerk of the Bankruptcy Court, and are also subject to the payment of professional fees and disbursements (capped at $10 million upon the occurrence of an event of default under the DIP Facility) incurred by the borrowers under the DIP Facility and statutory committees approved under the Chapter 11 Cases.

4. Standstill Agreement with the Bank Holders

(a) The Standstill Agreement

Prior to the Petition Date, OCD, as borrower and guarantor, certain other borrowers and guarantors and Credit Suisse First Boston, as agent and lender (the "Pre-petition Agent") and approximately forty-six banks (including their assignees and participants, the "Bank Holders") entered into the 1997 Credit Agreement. On or about the Petition Date, certain of the Bank Holders imposed an administrative freeze on funds of certain Debtors and Non-Debtor Subsidiaries, including foreign Subsidiaries and Affiliates in the approximate amount of $46 million.

On the Petition Date, the Debtors filed a Verified Complaint for Declaratory and Injunctive Relief (the "Complaint") against the Bank Holders, commencing the adversary proceeding entitled Owens Corning, et al. v. Credit Suisse First Boston, et al., Adv. Pro. No. A-00-1575 (the "Standstill Adversary Proceeding"). By the Complaint, the Debtors sought to enjoin the Bank Holders from (i) exercising their purported rights of setoff under Section 13.06 of the 1997 Credit Agreement against money in bank accounts of the Debtors and Non-Debtor Subsidiaries held by the Bank Holders; (ii) declaring any Non-Debtor Subsidiaries in default under any separate banking agreements as a result of the Filings; (iii) accelerating the payments under any separate banking agreements as a result of the Filings; (iv) freezing, impairing or otherwise moving against the funds of Non-Debtor Subsidiaries that are held by the Bank Holders as a result of the Filings; and (v) declaring the rights and obligations of the parties under Section 13.06 of the 1997 Credit Agreement.

Concurrent with the filing of the Complaint, the Debtors filed a Motion for Temporary Restraining Order and Preliminary Injunction under Sections 105(a) and 362(a) of the Bankruptcy Code (the "TRO Motion"). By the TRO Motion, the Debtors requested an order that enjoined (i) the Bank Holders from calling, canceling, or revoking credit facilities of the Non-Debtor Subsidiaries solely as a result of the Debtors' seeking relief under Chapter 11 of the Bankruptcy Code; and (ii) the Bank Holders and their affiliates from setting off against funds deposited by the Non-Debtor Subsidiaries in bank accounts at the Bank Holders or their affiliates.

The purpose of the Standstill Adversary Proceeding and the TRO Motion was to protect the assets of the Non-Debtor Subsidiaries by preventing their assets from being used to satisfy all or a portion of the obligations under the 1997 Credit Agreement that had been guaranteed by certain Non-Debtor Subsidiaries.

On October 10, 2000, with the consent of the Bank Holders, the Bankruptcy Court entered a temporary restraining order ("TRO") enjoining and restraining the Bank Holders from exercising any enforcement right or remedy under the 1997 Credit Agreement against any Non-Debtor Subsidiaries, including any setoff rights, under any other agreement, or under applicable law. Notwithstanding the injunction, the TRO permitted the Bank Holders to impose an administrative freeze on any funds in accounts of the designated Non-Debtor Subsidiaries as of the Petition Date and to refuse to make additional loans or advances to the Non-Debtor Subsidiaries.

Following negotiations between counsel for the Debtors and the Bank Holders (except for the China Lenders as discussed below), and in order to preserve the status quo for the benefit of the Debtors' bankruptcy estates and their creditors, the Debtors and the Bank Holders entered into various modifications and extensions of the TRO, which were approved by the Court.

The Debtors and the Bank Holders continued to engage in discussions for the purpose of entering into an agreement pursuant to which the Bank Holders would stand still from exercising certain enforcement rights and remedies against the Non-Debtor Subsidiaries, waive certain rights and remedies under the 1997 Credit Agreement and certain credit facilities with the Non-Debtor Subsidiaries (the "Bilateral Facilities"), amend the 1997 Credit Agreement to release, discharge and waive all claims against certain Non-Debtor Subsidiaries, and resolve disputes regarding setoff rights. On May 30, 2001, after successful negotiations between the Debtors and the Bank Holders, the Debtors filed the Motion for Order Under 11 U.S.C. §§ 105(a), 362(a), and Fed. R. Bankr. P. 6004, 7065 and 9019 (i) Authorizing the Debtors to Enter Into, and to Take All Necessary or Appropriate Action to Effectuate the Terms of, a Standstill and Waiver Agreement with Certain Defendants, (ii) Terminating the Temporary Restraining Order Entered with Respect to Certain Defendants, (iii) Dismissing this Adversary Proceeding with Respect to Certain Defendants, (IV) Authorizing the Debtors to Compromise and Settle Setoff Rights Asserted by the Defendants and Terminating the Stay of 11 U.S.C. § 362(a) with Respect to Certain Setoff Rights, and (V) Releasing, Discharging, and Waiving Certain Claims of Defendants (the "Standstill Motion").

The Standstill Motion was approved by Court Order dated June 19, 2001 (the "Standstill Order"). The Standstill Order, among other things, authorized the Debtors to enter into the Standstill and Waiver Agreement among the Debtors, certain Non-Debtor Subsidiaries and the Bank Holders (the "Standstill Agreement"), authorized the Debtors to settle the setoff rights asserted by the Bank Holders, released, discharged and waived certain claims of the Defendants, and dismissed, without prejudice, the Standstill Adversary Proceeding and terminated the TRO with respect to all the Defendants except the China Lenders, as defined below.

Pursuant to the terms of the Standstill Agreement, the Bank Holders agreed not to exercise certain remedies against the Non-Debtor Subsidiaries during the Specified Period (the "Standstill Period") in consideration of certain undertakings of the Debtors and Non-Debtor Subsidiaries, including subjecting certain Non-Debtor Subsidiaries to affirmative and negative covenants. The Standstill Period would expire on the earliest to occur of (i) the date of filing of a plan or plans of reorganization, (ii) a termination due to an event of default under the Standstill Agreement, or (iii) a date no earlier than October 31, 2002 which is 45 days after written notice to the Debtors and their counsel by the Pre-petition Agent that the requisite number of Bank Holders (as determined in the 1997 Credit Agreement) elected to terminate the Standstill Period.

More specifically, the Standstill Agreement provides that, during the Standstill Period, the Bank Holders are not to exercise any right or remedy for the enforcement, collection or recovery of any of the guaranteed obligations under the 1997 Credit Agreement from any of the Non-Debtor Subsidiaries other than with respect to valid setoff rights in existence on the Petition Date. In addition, the Standstill Agreement precludes those Bank Holders that are parties to the Bilateral Facilities from exercising, as a result of any default under such facilities arising solely from the commencement of the Chapter 11 Cases (which default is waived during the Standstill Period), enforcement rights or remedies against such Non-Debtor Subsidiaries other than with respect to valid setoff rights existing as of the Petition Date. However, the Bank Holders are not required to make additional loans or advances under a Bilateral Facility nor are they prevented from exercising any other rights or remedies available to them under a Bilateral Facility.

The Standstill Agreement also provided that the Debtors, the Non-Debtor Subsidiaries and the Bank Holders would provide information to determine the validity of setoff rights and seek in good faith to resolve all disputes regarding setoff rights. Pending resolution of the setoff rights, the TRO remained in effect and all parties' rights with respect to the setoff issue were preserved.

Pursuant to the Standstill Agreement, OCD made a payment of $3 million to the Pre-petition Agent for and on behalf of the Bank Holders executing the Standstill Agreement (the "Participating Lenders") with each Participating Lender receiving a pro rata share of such fee based on such Participating Lender's outstanding commitment under the 1997 Credit Agreement. OCD also paid a fee of $200,000 to each of the Pre-petition Agent and Chase Manhattan Bank, in their respective capacities as co-chairs of the Steering Committee. OCD was also responsible for payment of certain fees and expenses of the Bank Holders, subject to certain monetary limits.

On November 25, 2002, the parties to the Standstill Agreement executed a Stipulation and Order to Amend the Standstill and Waiver Agreement (the "Standstill Amendment") to, among other things, extend the Standstill Period, which was approved by the Court on November 25, 2002. The Standstill Amendment provides, in part, that the extended Standstill Period will end on the earliest to occur of (i) a termination due to an event of default specified in the Standstill Amendment, or (ii) the date which is 45 days after written notice of intention to terminate the Standstill Agreement has been given to OCD or the Pre-petition Agent as provided in the Standstill Amendment. The Standstill Amendment also provides that the Pre-petition Agent approved of the first amendment to the DIP Facility and that the fraudulent conveyance actions filed on or about October 4, 2002, by the Debtors, as described in more detail below, or the appointment of a limited purpose trustee or examiner would not constitute an event of default under the Standstill Agreement.

With respect to the proceedings relating to the "Estimation of Asbestos Liability for Plan Purposes," see Section IV.D.2, the Debtors objected to requests for payments of attorneys fees for the Bank Holders for participating in such proceedings as unreasonable. At the same time, the Debtors and the Official Representatives agreed to extend the deadline to object to the fees of the attorneys for the Official Representatives for participating in proceedings concerning the estimation of Asbestos Personal Injury Claims. Because the Unsecured Creditors' Committee was representing the interests of all creditors not holding Asbestos Personal Injury Claims, the Debtors asserted that they were not required to pay attorneys fees and expenses of parties other than counsel for the Unsecured Creditors' Committee in such proceedings. In response to the Debtors' position, on April 16, 2004, CSFB filed a Motion to Compel Debtors' Compliance with the Standstill and Waiver Agreement. The Debtors filed an objection to this Motion on May 14, 2004, which objection was joined by the Asbestos Claimants' Committee and the Future Claimants' Representative. The parties resolved the issues regarding this dispute in December, 2004.

(b) The China Standstill Agreement

The Debtors were engaged as of the Petition Date in ongoing negotiations with Standard Chartered Bank ("SCB"), as agent and co-coordinating arranger for the Loan Facility Agreement, dated March 12, 1998 (the "Revolving Loan Facility") among SCB, Societe Generale ("Soc Gen") and KBC Bank, N.V. ("KBC" and, together with SCB and Soc Gen, the "China Lenders"), Owens Corning (China) Investment Company, Ltd. ("OCI"), Owens-Corning (Guangzhou) Fiberglas Co., Ltd. ("OC Guangzhou"), Owens-Corning (Shanghai) Fiberglas Co., Ltd. ("OC Shanghai"), as borrowers, and OCD as guarantor, to effectuate the continued servicing of the Revolving Loan Facility and to settle certain setoff rights asserted by SCB in the approximate amount of $7.8 million. Resolution of the issues surrounding the Revolving Loan Facility was necessary to settle the setoff rights asserted by SCB and would permit OC to realize future value and profits from OC Guangzhou and OC Shanghai, which provide valuable production support to OC's global insulation business and are strategically important to OC's long term business strategy in China.

Following negotiations, OCD, OC Guangzhou, OC Shanghai and the China Lenders reached agreement on the key terms of a Standstill and Amendment Agreement (the "China Standstill Agreement"). On October 16, 2002, the Debtors filed a motion for an order under 11 U.S.C. §§ 363 and 105, and Fed. R. Bankr. P. 6004 and 9019 authorizing and (i) approving execution of the China Standstill Agreement by and among OCD, OC Guangzhou, OC Shanghai, and the China Lenders; (ii) approving consummation of the transactions contemplated in the China Standstill Agreement; and (iii) granting the China Lenders an Allowed General Unsecured Claim against OCD in the amount of $22 million conditioned upon the closing of the China Standstill Agreement (the "China Standstill Motion"). The Bankruptcy Court approved the China Standstill Motion on December 9, 2002.

The China Standstill Agreement became effective and on January 27, 2003, the Bankruptcy Court entered a Stipulation and Order terminating the TRO and dismissing the Standstill Adversary Proceeding as related to the China Lenders.

Under the terms of the China Standstill Agreement, and among other things, the outstanding amounts under the Revolving Loan Facility – $12 million for OC Guangzhou and $5.6 for OC Shanghai – plus certain other amounts, were to become due and payable on December 31, 2005. In anticipation of this deadline, OC, OC Guangzhou and OC Shanghai entered into discussions which resulted in the China Lenders' agreement to accept, with respect to OC Guangzhou, 60% of the principal amount due under the Revolving Loan Facility, plus certain other amounts, in full satisfaction of OC Guangzhou's payment obligations under the Revolving Loan Facility. Under the terms of this agreement, OC Shanghai is to pay the China Lenders the full amount of its obligations under the Revolving Loan Facility. On November 9, 2005, OC filed a motion seeking authority for certain inter-company loans to OC Guangzhou, as required to fund this settlement. Such motion was approved by the Bankruptcy Court by Order dated December 20, 2005.

(c) Setoff of Bank Accounts

In connection with the consummation of the Standstill Agreement, the Debtors and the Bank Holders agreed to conduct discussions in an attempt to reach a consensual resolution with respect to the Bank Holders' setoff rights against both the Debtors and the Non-Debtor Subsidiaries. The dispute concerning the Bank Holders' potential setoff rights centered around the accounts upon which the Bank Holders had placed an administrative freeze after the commencement of the Chapter 11 Cases (as described above). In their efforts to reach a resolution, the parties to the Standstill Agreement exchanged information and documents which enabled them to stipulate to material facts regarding most of the frozen accounts. These facts were set forth in a Stipulation Concerning Debtors' Frozen Bank Accounts, which was filed in the Bankruptcy Court on February 15, 2002.

Contemporaneous with the filing of the factual stipulation, the Bank Holders filed a motion in the Bankruptcy Court, entitled Motion of Credit Suisse First Boston, as Agent, for an Order Modifying the Automatic Stay to Permit Setoff of Frozen Funds (the "Setoff Motion"). In the Setoff Motion, the Bank Holders requested relief from the automatic stay to exercise setoff rights against 22 frozen bank accounts of certain Debtors and Non-Debtor Subsidiaries, totaling approximately $35 million. The Debtors, as well as certain other creditor groups, objected to the Setoff Motion. In their objection, the Debtors disputed the amount of the Bank Holders' setoff rights and asserted, among other things, that the Bank Holders were wrongfully withholding the entire balance of many of the frozen accounts, and that the Bank Holders did not have valid setoff rights with respect to a substantial number of the frozen accounts.

After extensive settlement negotiations, the Debtors and the Bank Holders agreed to settle the Setoff Motion and the parties' competing claims to the bank accounts at issue, together with certain other bank accounts not covered by the Setoff Motion, which accounts totaled $36,779,719.99, plus interest earned after the Petition Date. The parties executed an agreement for the settlement of the Setoff Motion, the terms of which authorized the release of specified funds totaling $18,953,325.31 plus 51.532% of the interest accrued on the frozen funds to the Debtors and permitted the Bank Holders to exercise their setoff rights with respect to the balance of the frozen funds, $17,826,394.68 plus 48.468% of the accrued interest. The settlement agreement was approved by order of the Bankruptcy Court, dated June 20, 2002.

(d) Cash Management System

On October 6, 2000, the Debtors filed a motion for interim and final orders (i) authorizing (a) the maintenance of certain existing bank accounts, (b) the continued use of existing business forms, (c) the use of a modified cash management system and (d) the transfer of funds to Non-Debtor Subsidiaries and (ii) waiving certain investment and deposit requirements of Section 345(b) of the Bankruptcy Code (the "Cash Management Motion"). The Court granted the relief requested in the Cash Management Motion, as modified by an "Exhibit D-1" (which was introduced into evidence at the hearing on the Cash Management Motion), by "so ordering" the record, to be followed by the submission of an agreed-upon form of written order.

On June 19, 2001, the Bankruptcy Court approved the Agreed-Upon Interim Order Under 11 U.S.C. §§ 105, 345(b) and 363 (i) Authorizing (a) Maintenance of Certain Existing Bank Accounts, (b) Continued Use of Existing Business Forms, (c) Use of Modified Cash Management System, and (d) Transfer of Funds to Non-Debtor Subsidiaries; and (ii) Waiving, on an Interim Basis, Investment and Deposit Requirements of 11 U.S.C. § 345(b) (the "Interim CMO").

The Interim CMO originally had an expiration date of December 18, 2001. On December 17, 2001, the Court entered a Stipulation and Order that extended the expiration date of the Interim CMO until February 26, 2002. The Debtors and Creditors submitted and the Bankruptcy Court approved the final cash management order (the "Final CMO"), which became effective on February 25, 2002 and is to continue in effect until confirmation of the Plan.

Pursuant to the Final CMO, in accordance with Sections 105 and 363 of the Bankruptcy Code, the Debtors may (i) designate, maintain and continue to use all of their respective collection, collateral, operating, depository, payroll and other accounts existing at the Petition Date in accordance with existing account agreements, (ii) close any such accounts, and (iii) treat such accounts as accounts of the Debtors in their capacity as debtors-in-possession. The Final CMO provides that the Debtors and Non-Debtor Subsidiaries are permitted to utilize their cash management system existing prior to the Petition Date.

With certain allowed exceptions, the Final CMO prohibits the Debtors and Non-Debtor Subsidiaries from transferring funds to pay pre-petition intercompany indebtedness. However, the Final CMO permits transfers of funds among Debtors and Non-Debtor Subsidiaries in payment for goods and services provided to the payor after the Petition Date. The Final CMO also permits transfers of funds among Debtors and Non-Debtor Subsidiaries for capital expenditures, working capital and short-term liquidity as long as the transfers are evidenced as loans, within the appropriate monetary limits and properly recorded on applicable accounts, with additional limits on transfers of funds to negative net worth Debtors and Non-Debtor Subsidiaries. The Final CMO permits the Debtors and Non-Debtor Subsidiaries to invest and deposit funds in accordance with their established deposit and investment practices as of the Petition Date. The Final CMO also approved eight specific transactions as exceptions to the limitations set forth in the Final CMO.

5. B-Reader Litigation

In January of 2005, CSFB demanded that the Debtors commence litigation against physicians that it alleged had falsely and fraudulently diagnosed asbestos-related disease in the x-rays of thousands of individuals who subsequently asserted personal injury claims against the Debtors. The Debtors responded that they were not opposed to pursing the litigation in principle, however, there were serious concerns that the potential costs of the litigation would outweigh any benefits to the Debtors' estate. OCD had commenced similar fraud and RICO litigation against certain medical screening facilities in 1996 and 1997. At that time, it considered bringing lawsuits against individual physicians, but because of strategic considerations, it decided not to do so. The Debtors believed that the considerations applicable to the litigation in the late 1990s were also applicable to CSFB's 2005 proposal. These considerations included the fact that evidence of fraud was difficult to prove; the statute of limitations would pose a serious obstacle; and filing a lawsuit would subject the Debtors to the risk and expense of litigating against sizeable counterclaims. Also, the Debtors' experience in the earlier fraud and RICO litigation demonstrated that the attorneys' fees and costs incurred in pursuing such litigation were likely to substantially exceed any potential for recovery. CSFB agreed to advance attorneys' fees and costs in connection with the proposed litigation subject to potential reimbursement ordered by the Bankruptcy Court if such litigation was found to be beneficial to the estate, but refused to indemnify the Debtors against counterclaims. For that reason, the Debtors exercised their business judgment and declined to commence the litigation.

On January 12, 2005, CSFB filed a motion seeking an order authorizing CSFB to commence an adversary proceeding on behalf of the Debtors' estate against the B-readers. The Debtors opposed the motion for the reasons set forth above, but agreed to withdraw the opposition if CSFB agreed to indemnify the Debtors for liability and expenses related to potential counterclaims by the defendants in the proposed litigation. The matter was heard before the Bankruptcy Court on February 28, 2005. The Bankruptcy Court specifically credited the evidence behind the Debtors' business and legal decision not to pursue the litigation unless CSFB indemnified the estate for liability and expenses from potential counterclaims. At the hearing, CSFB agreed to provide the requested indemnity. A few days later, CSFB disavowed the agreement and insisted that it be permitted to proceed in the litigation without indemnifying the estate against counterclaims. On March 21, 2005, the Bankruptcy Court denied CSFB's motion. On appeal, the District Court affirmed the Bankruptcy Court's ruling. CSFB did not appeal the District Court's ruling and the time for appeal has expired.

6. Unexpired Leases and Executory Contracts

As of the Petition Date, the Debtors were party to thousands of unexpired leases and executory contracts, including, among others, real property leases, information technology agreements, equipment leases, plant-related service agreements, and supply agreements. During the pendency of the Chapter 11 Cases, the Debtors have evaluated the costs and potential benefits of these agreements, including the availability of alternate services and more profitable end-users for its products, all without disrupting core business operations.

Section 365 of the Bankruptcy Code authorizes a debtor, subject to approval of the Bankruptcy Court, to assume or reject unexpired leases and executory contracts. Under the Bankruptcy Code, a debtor has until confirmation of a plan of reorganization to assume or reject executory contracts and unexpired leases of residential real property or of personal property of the debtor. A debtor in a Chapter 11 case ordinarily must assume or reject unexpired leases of nonresidential real property within sixty (60) days after commencement of the case. If a debtor fails to assume this type of lease within the applicable time period, the lease is deemed rejected. The bankruptcy court may extend the relevant time periods for cause.

(a) Real Property Leases

As of the Petition Date, the Debtors were lessees under approximately 347 unexpired nonresidential real property leases. Most of the unexpired leases were for space used by the Debtors for conducting the production, warehousing, distribution, sales, sourcing, accounting and general administrative functions that comprise the Debtors' businesses. Given the size and complexity of the Chapter 11 Cases, the Debtors determined that they would be unable to complete their analyses of all nonresidential real property leases during the time limitation prescribed in Section 365(d)(4) of the Bankruptcy Code. Accordingly, the Debtors sought, and the Bankruptcy Court approved, extensions of the time by which the Debtors must assume or reject their unexpired leases of nonresidential real property. The latest extension was granted by the Bankruptcy Court on May 4, 2006, and expires on December 5, 2006.

Throughout the Chapter 11 Cases, the Debtors have been engaged in an ongoing review of the unexpired nonresidential real property leases to determine whether the rejection or assumption and assignment of the leases was in the best interest of their respective estates. Through the end of November, 2005, the Debtors had rejected approximately seventy-five (75) nonresidential real property leases; assumed twelve (12) nonresidential real property leases; and assumed and assigned nine (9) nonresidential real property leases. The Debtors continue their review and analysis of their unexpired nonresidential real property leases.

Generally, all unexpired nonresidential real property leases that have not previously been assumed or rejected by the Debtors will be assumed under the Plan, except for those leases specified on Schedule IV of the Plan, which must be filed at least ten (10) days prior to the Objection Deadline. See Section VII.E of this Disclosure Statement entitled "Treatment of Executory and Post-Petition Executory Contracts and Unexpired Leases."

(b) Executory Contracts and Unexpired Leases

Since the Petition Date, the Debtors have instituted an internal process to review all executory contracts and unexpired leases to evaluate the economic costs and benefits to each of them. Throughout the Chapter 11 Cases, the Debtors have successfully renegotiated or rejected numerous leases and executory contracts, resulting in a reduction in fixed costs. The Debtors also have assumed, assumed as modified, or assumed and assigned a number of executory contracts and unexpired personal property leases since the Petition Date. By their review process, the Debtors have realized significant savings without business interruption.

Generally, all unexpired nonresidential real property leases that have not previously been assumed or rejected by the Debtors will be assumed under the Plan, except for those leases specified on Schedule IV of the Plan, which must be filed at least ten (10) days prior to the Objection Deadline. See Section VII.E of this Disclosure Statement entitled "Treatment of Executory and Post-Petition Executory Contracts and Unexpired Leases."

The following is a description of the disposition of certain of the Debtors' executory contracts and unexpired leases throughout the Chapter 11 Cases:

(i) Enron. In January 2001, the Debtors, with Bankruptcy Court authority, assumed their various executory contracts with Enron Energy Services, Inc. and other Enron-related entities. Among other things, these contracts required Enron to provide to the Debtors certain commodities and commodity-related services, as well as certain energy, energy efficiency, and consultation services. Among the services provided by Enron were billing consolidation services, by which Enron would assemble and consolidate third-party energy bills for presentation to OCD. OCD would make payment on such bills to Enron, which was contractually obligated to convey the appropriate portion of such payments to the underlying third-party providers. In connection with the assumption of these contracts, the Debtors made a cure payment of approximately $20 million to Enron, on account of funds owed to Enron and/or to third-party energy providers. By order dated August 28, 2001, the Debtors obtained Bankruptcy Court approval to amend the previously-assumed Enron agreements so as to, among other things, expand the services provided thereunder to additional facilities of the Debtors. On December 2, 2001, Enron Corp. and certain of its affiliates filed Chapter 11 bankruptcy petitions in the United States Bankruptcy Court for the Southern District of New York. Prior to Enron Corp.'s bankruptcy filing, the Debtors sent one or more notices to Enron by which the Debtors terminated their various contractual agreements with Enron. Enron asserted significant post-petition claims against OCD as a result of the foregoing contract terminations. By motion filed on May 9, 2003, OCD sought Court approval of a settlement with Enron Corp. and certain of its affiliates that would resolve all disputes among the parties. Among other things, such settlement resolved the following issues: (i) the amount owed by OCD to Enron on account of OCD's purchase of commodities from Enron subsequent to the Petition Date; (ii) the amount owed by OCD in connection with certain projects under construction for OC by Enron or parties controlled by Enron, including incomplete projects; (iii) the amount owed by OCD on account of OCD's alleged cost savings from such projects; and (iv) invoices allegedly issued by Enron or affiliated parties in connection with uncompleted projects under construction for OCD; (v) the appropriate disposition of Owens Corning Energy LLC, a limited liability company owned by OCD and an Enron affiliate; (vi) whether OCD or any of its affiliates were entitled to an allowed claim against any of the Enron bankruptcy cases; (vii) whether any of the Enron debtors were entitled to an allowed administrative or other claim against OCD or any of the Debtors; (viii) the status and disposition of certain of the property leased to OCD pursuant to certain lease agreements among the parties; and (ix) which of the parties was entitled to certain natural gas stored at OCD's natural gas storage facilities.

Under the terms of such settlement, which was approved by Court Order dated June 13, 2003: (a) certain agreements among the parties were deemed to have been terminated as of December 1, 2001; (b) the master leases among the parties were terminated and the property leased to OCD thereunder was transferred to OCD "as is, where is and with all faults" with no representations or warranties and free and clear of the liens or encumbrances, other than certain excluded liens; (c) OCD paid to Enron Energy Services Operations, Enron Energy Services International Leasing, Inc. and Owens Corning Energy LLC $43.0 million in cash as follows: $13,805,312 to Owens Corning Energy LLC, $427,505 to Enron Energy Services International Leasing, Inc. and the remainder to Enron Energy Services Operations; (d) releases were exchanged among the parties; (e) certain other assets were transferred to OCD free and clear of all liens, claims and encumbrances, other than specified excluded liens; (f) OCD withdrew with prejudice any claims filed by it or any controlled affiliate in the Enron bankruptcy cases arising out of certain specified agreements and the transactions contemplated thereby; (g) Enron and certain affiliates are to withdraw with prejudice any proof of claim filed by them or any controlled affiliate against any of the Debtors arising out of specified agreements and the transactions contemplated thereby; (h) OCD assigned its interests in Owens Corning Energy LLC to Enron Energy Services Organization; and (i) Enron and specified affiliates transferred to OCD any natural gas currently stored at OCD's natural gas storage facilities.

(ii) Xerox Corp. OCD and Xerox Corp. were parties to a pre-petition services agreement pursuant to which Xerox Corp. was obligated to operate OCD's global documents management systems, the term of which expired on December 31, 2001. Prior to the expiration of the agreement, and after extensive negotiations, OCD and Xerox Corp. entered into a post-petition document services agreement, which was approved by order of the Bankruptcy Court dated July 16, 2001. OCD's execution of the post-petition document services agreement, which replaced the original agreement as of May 21, 2001, was necessary to the Debtors' ongoing business operations. In accordance with the entry of the post-petition agreement, Xerox Corp. became entitled to an allowed General Unsecured Claim against OCD in the approximate amount of $3 million, and became entitled to assert an additional General Unsecured Claim against OCD in the approximate amount of $892,000.

(iii) SAP America, Inc. With Bankruptcy Court approval in June 2001, OCD assumed, with certain modifications, its software license agreement with SAP America, Inc. Under the agreement, SAP America, Inc. licenses certain software to OCD, which software is fundamental to the Debtors' business operations. Upon the assumption of the agreement, OCD and SAP America, Inc. agreed to make modifications to the agreement in order to provide the Debtors with greater operational flexibility and to facilitate the Debtors' potential divestiture of certain assets and/or business units. In connection with the assumption of the agreement, OCD made a cure payment to SAP America, Inc. in the approximate amount of $6.3 million. In addition, SAP America, Inc. became entitled to an Allowed General Unsecured Claim against OCD in the approximate amount of $287,000.

(iv) Owens-Corning (India) Limited. In connection with the restructuring of OCD's Indian joint venture, Owens-Corning (India) Limited ("OCIL") (discussed in Section III.A.3(b) of this Disclosure Statement), OCD assumed, as amended and restated, several executory contracts between OCD and OCIL pursuant to which OCD provides OCIL with certain services and OCIL provides certain products to OCD. Assumption of the agreements, as modified (which included technology license agreements, a trademark and trade name license agreement, an alloy services agreement, an offtake contract, a shareholder agreement and an investment agreement), was part of the overall restructuring of OCIL, which provided significant benefit to OCD's estate. No cure payments were owed with respect to the assumption of the agreements. The Bankruptcy Court authorized OCD's assumption of the agreements by Order dated June 18, 2002.

(v) Owens Corning World Headquarters Restructuring. The Debtors maintain their World Headquarters in a 400,000 square foot facility located on a 42-acre tract of land in Toledo, Ohio. Approximately 1,100 of the Debtors' employees are located in the World Headquarters, including key management, business unit employees, customer service, sales support and business process personnel. As of the Petition Date, OCD leased the World Headquarters facility from the Toledo Lucas County Port Authority (the "Port Authority") pursuant to two leases. The payments due under the first lease primarily were used to pay principal, interest and other amounts owing under the Port Authority's $85.4 million Taxable World Headquarters Revenue Bonds, Series 1995 (the "Revenue Bonds"), as well as amounts due under the Port Authority's $10 million Taxable State Loan Revenue Note, payable to the State of Ohio. The Port Authority leases the ground underlying the World Headquarters facility pursuant to third-party ground leases that were scheduled to expire on May 31, 2030.

After negotiations with the necessary parties, the Debtors reached a comprehensive agreement to restructure the leases on the World Headquarters and resolve the underlying bond debt. By Order dated May 19, 2003, the Bankruptcy Court approved this proposed restructuring. The principal terms of the agreement consisted of the following: (a) OCD's purchase of the Revenue Bonds for $691.961 per $1,000 of the outstanding principal of such bonds (for a total purchase price of $32 million); (b) the allowance of General Unsecured Claims to the holders of the Revenue Bonds in the amount of $399.039 per $1,000 of outstanding principal amount of such bonds (for total allowed General Unsecured Claims of approximately $21.4 million); (c) the modification of OCD's second lease for the World Headquarters, to provide for (x) extensions through 2075, at Owens Corning's option, and (y) a more favorable purchase option; (d) the assumption of the second lease as modified; (e) the assumption of the Project Service and Indemnity Agreement between OCD and the Port Authority; and (f) modifications of the underlying ground leases with respect to the World Headquarters, through 2075, at OCD's option. The $5.0 million Taxable Development Revenue Bonds (Northwest Ohio Bond Fund) Series 1995A, which mature in 2015, are paid from OCD's obligations to the Port Authority under the assumed second lease and Project Service and Indemnity Agreement, are not Pre-petition Bonds and are not discharged and cancelled under the Plan.

(vi) Jackson, Tennessee Lease Assumption. By Order entered February 25, 2004, the Bankruptcy Court authorized Owens Corning to assume its Master Industrial Development Lease Agreement dated as of December 14, 1993 (the "Master Lease") with the Industrial Development Board of the City of Jackson, Tennessee (the "IDB") and its equipment Sublease Agreement dated as of December 15, 1993 with US Bank, as lessor, and Owens Corning, as lessee (as amended and supplemented by that certain Qualifying Addition Supplement to Sublease Agreement dated as of December 23, 1996, the "Sublease") and to exercise its purchase options thereunder. The relief granted by this Order permitted Owens

Corning to take title to a 199-acre facility in Jackson, Tennessee, at which the Debtors manufacture a fiberglass underlayment product that is a critical component in the production of roofing shingles, together with equipment and machinery located at such facility including a solid waste disposal and recycling facility. In connection with its exercise of purchase options with respect to these assets, Owens Corning made purchase and "cure" payments of approximately $29.6 million, inclusive of a final semi-annual rent payment under the Sublease of approximately $5.28 million.

(vii) Miscellaneous Equipment Lease Buy-Outs and Settlements. The Court has authorized the Debtors to exercise purchase options or otherwise buy out various equipment leases upon such leases' termination, including the following:

Lessor(s)	Date of Agreement	Equipment Leased	Purchase Terms
Pitney Bowes Credit Corporation	December 20, 1994	Office furniture and equipment and leasehold improvements at the facility in Granville, OH.	Pursuant to a Bankruptcy Court order dated November 15, 2002, OCD purchased the equipment subject to the lease for $330,335.83. Pursuant to such Order, Pitney Bowes Credit Corporation was allowed a General Unsecured Claim of $325,508.57.
Pitney Bowes Credit Corporation/John Hancock Life Insurance Company	December 31, 1996	Equipment used in the facilities in Huntington, PA, Anderson, SC, Aiken, SC, Summit, IL, Memphis, TN, Fairburn, GA and Newark, OH. Equipment in Aiken, SC was subleased to Advanced Glassfiber Yarns LLC.	Pursuant to a Bankruptcy Court Order dated December 17, 2001, OCD was authorized to purchase the equipment subject to the lease for $10,024,896 and to sell a portion of the equipment to Advanced Glassfiber Yarns LLC for $4,229,671.
Pitney Bowes Credit Corporation	December 31, 1997	• Equipment and machinery comprising an electrical substation at the Newark, OH facility. • Poly packaging equipment utilized at the Denver, CO and Atlanta, GA manufacturing facilities. • Automated packaging system used at the Amarillo, TX facility. • Vacuum treatment oven at the Aiken, SC facility.	Pursuant to a Bankruptcy Court Order dated December 12, 2003, OCD was authorized to purchase the equipment subject to the lease for $1,714,161.07. Pursuant to such Order, Pitney Bowes Credit Corporation was allowed a General Unsecured Claim of $206,634.72.
Medina 1997 Leasing Trust	September 30, 1997	Manufacturing machinery and equipment used at the roofing plant in Medina, OH	Pursuant to a Bankruptcy Court Order dated December 4, 2002, OCD was authorized to purchase the equipment subject to the lease for $8,942,504.33.
Carly 1995 Leasing Trust	December 15, 1995	Manufacturing, production and equipment used at the facilities in Denver, CO, Delmar, NY, Fairburn, GA, Newark, OH, Kansas City, KS, Aiken, SC, Amarillo, TX and Anderson, SC	Pursuant to the Bankruptcy Court's April 23, 2001 Order approving a stipulation between OCD and the Carly 1995 Leasing Trust by which the Debtors paid Carly $8,796,241.18, plus rent and other charges.
Dresdner Kleinwort Benson		Equipment used in the facilities in Medina, OH, Kearny, NJ, Jacksonville, FL, Amarillo, TX, Kansas City, KS and Fairburn, GA.	Pursuant to a Bankruptcy Court Order dated January 23, 2004, OCD was authorized to purchase the equipment subject to this lease for $13,353,792.

(viii) Aircraft. The Debtors have utilized corporate aircraft in their business operations for fifty years. As of the Petition Date, Owens Corning was the lessee under three separate aircraft lease agreements for the lease of two Raytheon Hawker 800 aircraft (the "Hawkers") and a Dassault Falcon 900 EX aircraft (the "Falcon"). The initial lessor under each of these lease agreements was Pitney Bowes Credit Corporation ("PBCC"). PBCC subsequently assigned all of its rights, interests, duties and obligations as lessor with respect to one of the Hawkers to Hitachi Capital America Corp., f/k/a Hitachi Credit America Corp. ("Hitachi"). The expiration dates for each of the aircraft agreements were as follows: for the Hawkers – November 30, 2005 and December 1, 2005, and for the Falcon – August 31, 2005.

In November 2001, Owens Corning and PBCC, and separately Owens Corning and Hitachi, entered into Stipulations by which, among other things, Owens Corning agreed to make monthly (as opposed to semi-annual) payments of the amounts due under the parties' lease agreements, and PBCC and Hitachi agreed, subject to certain conditions, not to take any action against the Debtors with respect to the aircraft. The Stipulations also provided that any determination with respect to the characterization of the respective aircraft agreements, or the allocation of any payments made pursuant to such agreements, was to be deferred.

In advance of the expiration of the aircraft agreements, Owens Corning undertook an evaluation of whether it should attempt to retain its existing aircraft or whether it should consider leasing or purchasing more efficient aircraft. Ultimately, Owens Corning determined to market, for the benefit of the lessors, its existing aircraft for sale to a third party and to lease new corporate aircraft. Pursuant to a Bankruptcy Court Order entered June 30, 2005, CDC Corporation was authorized to lease three Cessna Citation Sovereign aircraft from Canal Air LLC and to enter into a rental agreement with Owens Corning with respect to these aircraft. On August 23, 2005, the Bankruptcy Court entered an Order authorizing a procedure for the disposition of Owens Corning's existing aircraft and the distribution of the proceeds from such sales. Ultimately, the Hawkers and the Falcon were sold, via arms-length transactions, to separate third-party purchasers. The resulting aggregate excess net proceeds of sale realized by Owens Corning from the disposition of the aircraft was approximately $2 million.

(ix) Miscellaneous executory contracts and unexpired leases. Since the Petition Date and through the end of November, 2005, the Debtors have filed twelve (12) motions rejecting miscellaneous contracts and unexpired leases that no longer were required for the Debtors' business operations, and have filed numerous additional motions to reject specific contracts and leases, which have resulted in the rejection of such contracts and unexpired leases.

7. Insurance

(a) General

During the 20-year period prior to the initiation of the Chapter 11 Cases, billions of dollars of insurance proceeds were paid out by various insurers to directly fund or reimburse OCD for funding the settlement and defense of asbestos claims. During the pendency of the Chapter 11 Cases, the Debtors have been involved in litigation, arbitration and negotiation in which the Debtors have sought to establish asbestos-related coverage rights under policies that were not previously released in full with respect to asbestos claims. To date, OCD has reached settlements of such matters with solvent insurers involving payments either immediately or over time of more than $100 million in the aggregate into escrow accounts and/or as ultimately provided for by the Plan. These settlements have been finalized and approved by the Bankruptcy Court. During the pendency of the Chapter 11 Cases, OCD has also received substantial payments in respect of previously allowed claims from liquidators of insolvent insurers, and expects to receive significant additional amounts over the next several years in respect of distribution on asbestos claims previously allowed. OCD has also concluded two settlements during the pendency of the Chapter 11 Cases, both approved by the Bankruptcy Court, concerning the obligation of insolvent insurers with respect to asbestos and other claims, which settlements have involved and are expected to involve payments of significant amounts.

OCD also has other unconfirmed potential coverage rights for asbestos-related bodily injury claims against certain excess level carriers. Under the ADR procedures of the Wellington Agreement, OCD is seeking recovery for asbestos non-products claims in three ADR proceedings. OCD is also pursuing litigation against a state guaranty association on account of its responsibility for asbestos claims that would otherwise have been paid by a now-insolvent excess insurer. In addition, on June 27, 2001, the Court entered an Order approving the stipulation between Fibreboard and Continental, one of Fibreboard's insurers, resolving disputes relating to Continental's obligations under a certain settlement agreement and directing funds be transferred to the Fibreboard Insurance Settlement Trust. Prior to the Petition Date, Fibreboard and Continental had entered into an agreement (the "Buckets Agreement") that reapportioned their respective liabilities to certain asbestos personal injury claimants. The Buckets Agreement provided for, among other things, the payment of Committed Disputed Presently Settled Claims and Committed Unsettled Present Claims (collectively, the "Committed Claims") through a $44 million Committed Claims Account funded by Continental. Continental and Fibreboard further agreed that any money remaining in the Committed Claims Account after all Committed Claims have been paid pursuant to the Buckets Agreement would be transferred to the Fibreboard Insurance Settlement Trust. The Stipulation approved by the Court provides, among others, that no funds would be released from the Committed Claims Account while the Chapter 11 Cases were pending, and that Continental would have a first priority perfected security interest in the Committed Claims Account securing its rights under the Buckets Agreement to reimbursement or other payment in respect of Continental's payments under the Buckets Agreement. Approximately $33 million remains in the Committed Claims Account. The Plan provides that, pursuant to the Stipulation, the remaining funds in the Committed Claims Account will be transferred to the FB Sub-Account of the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust to compensate holders of Allowed FB Asbestos Personal Injury Claims.

(b) Insurance Coverage Issues

OCD has unconfirmed potential coverage rights for asbestos-related bodily injury claims against solvent excess level carriers and liquidators and others who now bear responsibility for insolvent carriers. OCD is actively pursuing insurance recoveries under these remaining excess policies in litigation, arbitration and otherwise.

(i) Litigation Against Non-Wellington Carriers

On October 26, 2001, OCD filed a lawsuit in Lucas County, Ohio, styled Owens Corning v. Birmingham Fire Insurance Co. et al., No. CI0200104929, against ten excess level insurance carriers for declaratory relief and damages for failure to make payments for asbestos non-products claims under excess policies issued in the period between June 18, 1974 and September 1, 1984. After extensive litigation but before trial, OCD settled its claims with all of these insurers, and they have been dismissed from the case. The five settlements with the ten insurer defendants have been approved by the Court.

(ii) Wellington ADR Proceedings

The Wellington Agreement is an agreement that was entered into in 1985 between certain asbestos producers (as defined therein), including OCD, and various insurers that, inter alia, (1) resolved certain insurance coverage disputes; and (2) established certain alternative dispute resolution ("ADR") procedures. The OC Asbestos Personal Injury Liability Insurance Assets include rights to coverage under certain insurance policies issued by insurers that are signatories to the Wellington Agreement. OCD has agreed that it will not reject the Wellington Agreement as an executory contract. The Reorganized Debtors intend to transfer the OC Asbestos Personal Injury Liability Insurance Assets to the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust. Certain insurer signatories to the Wellington Agreement assert that issues concerning the transfer of the OC Asbestos Personal Injury Insurance Assets to the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust cannot be resolved by the Bankruptcy Court (or the District Court); the Plan Proponents disagree with this assertion. Under the ADR procedures of the Wellington Agreement, OCD is seeking recovery for asbestos non-products claims under policies issued by Insurance Company of North America, INA Underwriters, Central National Insurance Company, Pacific Employers Insurance Company, Continental Insurance Company, Harbor Insurance Company, and London Guarantee & Accident Company. Owens Corning also has a claim for asbestos non-products coverage against Zurich. Those companies have reserved their rights with respect to coverage and/or denied coverage. During the earlier stages of the Chapter 11 Cases, OCD obtained Court approval of a settlement with a group of carriers as to which OCD was engaged in an ADR proceeding concerning asbestos non-products claims.

(iii) Proceedings Involving Policies Issued By Insolvent Carriers

OCD is pursuing litigation against the Mississippi Insurance Guaranty Fund ("MIGA"), in which OCD has asserted that MIGA is responsible for asbestos claims that would otherwise have been paid by a now-insolvent excess insurer. Following an adverse trial court ruling, that claim is now pending on appeal. MIGA contends that Mississippi law only permits Mississippi resident tort claimants to sue MIGA, as opposed to an insured headquartered outside of Mississippi. OCD also has a claim against Integrity Insurance Company In Liquidation ("Integrity") for asbestos non-products coverage; Integrity has disallowed the claim.

8. Baron & Budd Administrative Deposits

Prior to the Petition Date, B&B was the law firm of record for various plaintiffs in a number of asbestos-related personal injury lawsuits against OCD and Fibreboard who were participants in the NSP. Under a settlement agreement between OCD, Fibreboard and B&B, OCD and Fibreboard were required to pay Administrative Deposits into settlement accounts to be maintained by B&B for the benefit of its clients. The settlement agreement provided for payments to be made in each of 2000, 2001, and 2002. OCD made its first required payment of approximately $66 million on March 13, 2000. The first required Fibreboard payment of approximately $44 million was made on April 6, 2000 from funds obtained from the Fibreboard Insurance Settlement Trust. Prior to the Petition Date, and after receiving written approval from OCD and/or Fibreboard, B&B distributed approximately $23 million from the settlement accounts to its clients pursuant to the terms of the settlement agreement. Because of the Chapter 11 filings, the Debtors did not make the 2001 or 2002 payments to B&B and B&B did not make the 2001 or 2002 distributions to plaintiffs.

Under the settlement agreement, B&B was required to invest the funds held for the plaintiffs and maintain the funds in settlement accounts. Any income from the funds was designated as Investment Proceeds under the agreement ("Investment Proceeds"). It is the Debtors' position that all such Investment Proceeds are the property of either OCD or Fibreboard. B&B contends that at least a portion of the Investment Proceeds is properly considered property of the plaintiffs for whose benefit the funds were deposited with B&B.

After the Petition Date, B&B proposed to distribute the funds remaining in the settlement accounts to its various beneficiaries and, on September 12, 2001, filed a motion with the Bankruptcy Court for an order determining that the automatic stay does not apply to the undistributed settlement funds made by OCD and Fibreboard or, in the alternative, terminating the automatic stay. B&B argued that the settlement payments were not property of the Debtors' Estate because an enforceable trust had been created and the Debtors did not retain an equitable interest in the payments.

Numerous objections and/or responses were filed to B&B's motion, including by the Debtors, the Unsecured Creditors' Committee, the Asbestos Claimants' Committee, the Future Claimants' Representative and Plant Insulation Company ("Plant"). In their response, the Debtors disagreed with B&B's characterization that the settlement agreement created an express trust; instead, the Debtors argued that the agreement created an escrow account. On November 15, 2001, B&B filed an amended motion for relief from the stay (if the automatic stay were applicable). The parties currently dispute whether B&B changed its position that the settlement agreement created an express trust in the amended motion. B&B asserted if the funds were held in an escrow account, the Debtors were still not entitled to the funds under Texas escrow law. B&B asserted that whether the agreement created an express trust or an escrow account, the automatic stay did not apply to B&B's proposed disbursement of the funds.

The Future Claimants' Representative and the Unsecured Creditors' Committee disputed the existence of a trust or an escrow arrangement and asserted that the entire balance in each of the settlement accounts was property of OCD's and Fibreboard's respective estates.

After numerous hearings on the pleadings during 2001 and 2002, on June 20, 2002, the Bankruptcy Court issued an order granting B&B's amended motion in part and denying it in part. The Bankruptcy Court ordered, among other things, that: (a) the Investment Proceeds (approximately $8 million) were property of OCD and Fibreboard's respective estates and must be returned to OCD and Fibreboard; (b) as to those plaintiffs who received written notice of approval for payment pursuant to the agreement from OCD or Fibreboard, and who had received payment of the first installment of their settlement prior to the Petition Date (the "Qualifying OC and Fibreboard Plaintiffs"), B&B, OCD and Fibreboard had met the standards under Texas law to establish that the requirements of an escrow were fulfilled pre-petition as to the principal balance; (c) to the extent that the principal balance in the B&B settlement accounts of the settlement payments by OCD and Fibreboard represented amounts due under the settlement agreement to the Qualifying OC and Fibreboard Plaintiffs, then such balance (the "Qualifying OC and Fibreboard Balance," approximately $70 million) was not property of the Debtors' estates; (d) the Qualifying OC and Fibreboard Plaintiffs were entitled to receive the second and third installments of their settlement out of the Qualifying OC and Fibreboard Balance; and (e) the principal balance remaining in the B&B settlement account, after deducting the Qualifying OC and Fibreboard Balance (the "OC and Fibreboard Residual Balance", approximately $6 million) was property of the Debtors' estates and must be returned to OCD (amounts due under settlement agreements to Qualifying Fibreboard Plaintiffs would exhaust the remaining principal balance in the Fibreboard settlement account).

On June 27, 2002, B&B filed a motion to amend the judgment, requesting that the Bankruptcy Court amend its June 20, 2002 Order to clarify the method of calculating the Investment Proceeds and the OC and Fibreboard Residual Balance, or, in the alternative, for a new trial. In the motion, B&B asserted that the Qualifying OC and Fibreboard Plaintiffs were entitled to the payment of interest from the dates they were to have received their second and third installments. The Debtors, the Unsecured Creditors' Committee, the Future Claimants' Representative and Plant each filed objections to B&B's motion to amend the judgment.

On September 20, 2002, the Bankruptcy Court amended its Order of June 20, 2002 and ordered that the Investment Proceeds earned subsequent to June 20, 2002 and all interest and other earnings on the post-June 20, 2002 Investment Proceeds, should be allocated as follows: (i) the Investment Proceeds on the Qualifying OC and Fibreboard Balance should be allocated respectively to the Qualifying OC and Fibreboard Plaintiffs; and (ii) the Investment Proceeds on the OC and Fibreboard Residual Balance should be payable respectively to OCD and Fibreboard. The Bankruptcy Court further ordered that the Investment Proceeds, interest and other earnings on the Qualifying OC and Fibreboard Balance and the OC and Fibreboard Residual Balance earned prior to June 20, 2002, should be payable respectively to OCD and Fibreboard.

On October 2, 2002, B&B filed a notice of appeal of the Bankruptcy Court's September 20, 2002 Order. The Future Claimants' Representative and the Unsecured Creditors' Committee also filed notices of appeal from the June 20 and September 20, 2002 Orders. The appeals have been consolidated and the parties proceeded under a briefing schedule established by the District Court, by Order dated December 23, 2002. The briefing of the issues is complete and the appeal is pending before the District Court. The Plan Proponents express no opinion as to the outcome of the appeal. [However, the Plan now provides for a resolution of issues concerning the Admnistrative Deposits and Investment Proceeds. See Section ____ of the Disclosure Statement entiltled _____.

9. Coordination Between the Debtors, the Committees and the Future Claimants' Representative

Since their formation, the Committees and the Future Claimants' Representative have consulted with the Debtors concerning the administration of the Chapter 11 Cases. The Debtors have kept the Committees and the Future Claimants' Representative informed concerning their operations and have sought the concurrence of the Committees and the Future Claimants' Representative for actions outside the ordinary course of business.

10. Implementation of Process for Resolution of Inter-Creditor Issues

Shortly after the Petition Date, the Debtors' counsel began an extensive review of the facts and circumstances relating to certain potential inter-creditor issues (the "Inter-Creditor Issues"), including issues relating to the Guarantees (the "Subsidiary Guarantees") entered into by the Subsidiary Guarantors under the 1997 Credit Agreement, which include a number of the Debtors and certain Non-Debtor Subsidiaries. (See Section V.G.3(c) of this Disclosure Statement for further discussion of the adversary proceedings filed in the Chapter 11 Cases to avoid and set aside or equitably subordinate the Claims of the Bank Holders under the Subsidiary Guarantees as fraudulent conveyances.) The Inter-Creditor Issues include any and all claims, objections, motions, contested matters, adversary proceedings or any other proceedings involving, related to or affecting issues of the amount, validity, enforceability or priority of Claims by the Bank Holders against any of the Debtors or any Non-Debtor Subsidiary (to the extent the Bankruptcy Court has jurisdiction to affect the Claims against Non-Debtor Subsidiaries) which is a Subsidiary Guarantor of the Debtors' obligations to the Bank Holders, including without limitation: (a) any claims relating to substantive consolidation of the Debtors; (b) any claims relating to the validity, enforcement or priority of the Pre-petition Bonds; (c) any claims relating to the validity or enforceability of a License Agreement, dated as of October 1, 1991, by and between OCD and OCFT (as amended) and a License Agreement, dated as of April 27, 1999, by and between OCFT and Amerimark; (d) any claims regarding the amount, validity, enforceability or priority of the Subsidiary Guarantees; (e) any claims against any direct or indirect Subsidiary of OCD in respect of OCD's asbestos liability; and (f) any claims as to the amount, validity, enforceability, priority or avoidability of any intercompany transfers.

The Debtors' counsel advised the various creditor constituencies that the manner of resolution of Inter-Creditor Issues could materially impact their respective recoveries. To assist the various creditor constituencies in their analysis of the Inter-Creditor Issues, the Debtors proposed a process by which the corporate and financial interrelationships between the Subsidiary Debtors and the Non-Debtor Subsidiaries could efficiently be reviewed. The Debtors' goal was to inform the creditor constituencies about these issues in order to initiate negotiations and thus avoid a litigated resolution of the complex legal and factual issues, or in the event that a consensual resolution could not be reached, to provide an efficient manner for conducting factual discovery.

To facilitate a consensual resolution of the Chapter 11 Cases, in the spring of 2001, the Debtors voluntarily agreed to produce a documentary record that would aid in this review. During the period between July 2001 and October 2001, the Debtors produced a large volume of documents designed to be a compilation of relevant documents that would be useful in reviewing and investigating each Debtor or Subsidiary Guarantor's corporate history, major creditor relationships, and significant cash and value transfers (the "Inter-Creditor Project").

The Debtors established an information and document depository (the "Information Depository") at the offices of Skadden, Arps, Slate, Meagher & Flom LLP in New York City. Over four hundred-fifty thousand pages of information and materials have been deposited in the Information Depository, available to be reviewed by those who entered into a confidentiality agreement with the Company (the "Participating Parties"), which confidentiality agreements were necessary to assure the protection of privileged and confidential material included in the production of documents to the Information Depository.

In addition to the Information Depository, the Debtors also created a secure, web-enabled database by which the Participating Parties were able to access the same documents and materials located in the Information Depository.

After the initial production of the Debtors' documents and materials described above, the parties formalized the Inter-Creditor Project. On September 24, 2001, the Debtors proposed an "Inter-Creditor Stipulation and Order," which the Bankruptcy Court adopted on such date after hearing from the various creditor constituencies. The Inter-Creditor Stipulation and Order delineated a schedule for additional discovery regarding the investigation of the Inter-Creditor Issues. The Inter-Creditor Stipulation and Order also directed the Debtors to provide a report to the Court at each omnibus hearing regarding the status of compliance with the Inter-Creditor Stipulation and Order.

Pursuant to the Inter-Creditor Stipulation and Order, on October 20, 2001, the Debtors and the Participating Parties exchanged written discovery requests. The Debtors searched for documents potentially relevant to such requests at the Company's headquarters, at its off-site storage facility in Toledo, Ohio, at its off-site storage facility in Granville, Ohio, and at the offices of certain of the Debtors' outside professionals. Debtors' counsel responded to the request for documents.

In addition to the Debtors' production, in December, 2001, and January, 2002, the Participating Parties commenced document production in response to the requests received from the other Participating Parties.

In January and February, 2002, the Debtors and the Participating Parties met to discuss the results of their review and to share their views regarding the issues. The Debtors and other Participating Parties identified certain issues and entities for further investigation and resolution.

On February 19, 2002, the Pre-petition Agent under the 1997 Credit Agreement filed a statement (the "Statement") regarding the resolution of Inter-Creditor Issues. The Statement requested the implementation of a process designed to result in the efficient resolution of questions relating to the value of the Subsidiary Guarantors.

On February 22, 2002, the Debtors filed a Status Report recommending that the Inter-Creditor Project proceed. More specifically, the Debtors proposed that they develop proposed factual stipulations and proffer them to the other Participating Parties pursuant to a specific schedule. Further, the Debtors urged the continuance of the monthly meetings with the Participating Parties and the presentation of status reports to the Court.

By Order dated March 18, 2002 (the "Inter-Creditor Issues Order"), the Bankruptcy Court established a schedule for addressing the resolution of Inter-Creditor Issues. The schedule established the dates on which the Debtors were to submit to the Participating Parties certain proposed factual stipulations, generally concerning corporate history and governance, management and business operations, the financial condition of the entities, and relationships with Affiliates, the dates on which the Participating Parties were to provide the Debtors with responses and comments to the proposed factual stipulations, and the dates of the circulation by the Debtors of a revised version of the proposed factual stipulations. At a hearing on June 20, 2002, the Bankruptcy Court authorized the filing of the stipulations under seal if the parties so desired.

In June 2002, Blue Ridge Investments LLC ("Blue Ridge") moved, in part, to compel the Debtors to comply with the Inter-Creditor Stipulation and Order and the Inter-Creditor Issues Order and sought to be deemed a Participating Party. Following a hearing on Blue Ridge's motion, the Debtors and Blue Ridge agreed to a consensual resolution of the motion, which was approved by the Court on August 26, 2002, whereby upon executing a confidentiality agreement, Blue Ridge was granted full access to the Information Depository and was also entitled to receive and comment on the proposed Stipulations of Fact concerning Integrex. Blue Ridge was also entitled to receipt of the final stipulations of fact concerning OCFT, OCD, IPM and Fibreboard.

In response to the Inter-Creditor Issues Order, the Debtors submitted their proposed factual stipulations with respect to OCFT, IPM, OCD, Integrex and Fibreboard to the Participating Parties; the Participating Parties responded and commented on the proposed factual stipulations and the Debtors circulated revised versions of each of the proposed factual stipulations.

Pursuant to the Inter-Creditor Issues Order, with certain modified deadlines, the Debtors filed, under seal, the following Final Stipulations:

(1) On November 21, 2002, the Debtors filed, under seal, Stipulations and Objections to Proposed Stipulations of Fact Concerning OC, and Document Summaries.

(2) On November 21, 2002, the Debtors filed, under seal, Stipulations and Objections to Proposed Stipulations of Fact Concerning Integrex, and Document Summaries.

(3) On December 18, 2002, the Debtors filed, under seal, Stipulations and Objections to Proposed Stipulations of Fact Concerning IPM, Inc., and Document Summaries.

(4) On January 7, 2003, the Debtors filed, under seal, Stipulations and Objections to Proposed Stipulations of Fact Concerning Fibreboard Corporation.

(5) On January 16, 2003, the Debtors filed, under seal, Stipulations and Objections to Proposed Stipulations of Fact Concerning OCFT, and Document Summaries.

At the omnibus hearing on January 27, 2003, the Debtors' counsel advised the Court that, as a result of the Inter-Creditor Project, approximately 4,500 proposed stipulations had been filed with the Court.

11. Consolidation of Five Asbestos Bankruptcy Cases Before Judge Wolin, Subsequent Recusal of Judge Wolin, Deconsolidation of the Five Asbestos Bankruptcy Cases, and the Appointment of Judge Fullam

(a) Asbestos-Related Chapter 11 Cases in Delaware

On November 27, 2001, five asbestos-related Chapter 11 cases pending in the District of Delaware (the Chapter 11 Cases of the Debtors and the cases of Armstrong World Industries, Inc. ("Armstrong"), W.R. Grace & Co. ("Grace"), Federal-Mogul Global, Inc. ("Federal-Mogul"), and USG Corporation ("USG")) were ordered transferred from the Bankruptcy Court to the United States District Court for the District of Delaware and were assigned to the Honorable Alfred M. Wolin of the United States District Court for the District of New Jersey (sitting by designation) to facilitate development and implementation of a coordinated plan for management of the cases.

On December 10, 2001, the District Court entered an order referring these Chapter 11 Cases back to the Bankruptcy Court for resolution, subject to the District Court's ongoing right to withdraw such referral with respect to any proceedings or issues.

The case issues were allocated between the District Court and the Bankruptcy Court as follows:

District Court: Future and present asbestos claims, valuation and litigation analysis (if the parties were unable to consensually resolve them in an agreed-upon time frame); co-defendant asbestos issues; Section 524(g) trust and trust distribution provisions; asbestos automatic stay matters; and asbestos bar date matters.

Bankruptcy Court: Inter-Creditor Issues; retention, fee application, employee, environmental, cash management, tax, executory contract and lease matters, avoidance actions, utilities, asset acquisitions and dispositions, business operational matters, bank claims and litigation, intellectual property and licenses, non-asbestos automatic stay and claims matters, settlements of bonded asbestos appeals, and NSP settlement escrow issues.

(b) Withdrawal of the Reference

On December 23, 2002, Judge Wolin signed an order (the "Case Management Order") withdrawing the reference with respect to the adversary proceeding captioned Owens Corning, et al. v. Credit Suisse First Boston, et al., No. 02-5829 (the "Bank Holders Action", also referred to by Judge Wolin as the "Bank Guarantee Adversary") and the Debtors' Motion for Approval of Substantive Consolidation as Part of Proposed Chapter 11 Plan of Reorganization (the "Substantive Consolidation Motion"), which was filed on January 17, 2003. Under the Case Management Order, the Honorable Judith K. Fitzgerald was appointed settlement judge for the two matters for which the reference was withdrawn. Professor Francis McGovern was appointed mediator for those same matters and the parties were directed to appear for mediation. In addition, the Court appointed William A. Drier, Esquire, as Special Master for limited purposes related to discovery.

(i) Substantive Consolidation

The Court scheduled a hearing on the Substantive Consolidation Motion, as part of the proceedings concerning confirmation of the pending version of the plan of reorganization. The proceedings began on April 8, 2003, and concluded on May 2, 2003. The hearing on the Substantive Consolidation Motion was for the purpose of taking evidence regarding the positions of the Debtors, the Asbestos Claimants' Committee, the Future Claimants' Representative, the Unsecured Creditors' Committee, the Official Representatives, and CSFB with respect to the Bank Holders' opposition to the substantive consolidation provisions of the pending plan. Before issuing a decision, Judge Wolin recused himself from the Chapter 11 Cases. See Section V.F.11(e). On October 15, 2004, following a review of the transcripts and exhibits from the substantive consolidation proceedings before Judge Wolin, a review of post-hearing briefs, and oral argument, Judge Fullam issued the Substantive Consolidation Order granting the Substantive Consolidation Motion. On August 15, 2005, the Third Circuit reversed the Substantive Consolidation Order. Petitions for rehearing were denied by the Third Circuit on September 28, 2005. On or about December 16, 2005, the Official Representatives filed an Application to Extend Time to file the Petition for Writ of Certiorari, which was granted by the Supreme Court of the United States. On December 23, 2005, the Future Claimants' Representative filed a Petition for Writ of Certiorari with the Supreme Court. On January 26, 2006, the Official Representatives also filed a Petition for Writ of Certiorari with the Supreme Court. The response to the petitions were filed on March 29, 2006. On May 1, 2006, the petitions for writ of certiorari were denied by the Supreme Court.

(ii) Bank Holders Action

A hearing on the Bank Holders Action was scheduled to commence in April 2003, but was subsequently postponed. The Bank Holders Action was to include the taking of evidence regarding the positions of the parties on the validity, extent and value of the Subsidiary Guarantees for the purpose of determining any benefits and harms resulting from the substantive consolidation provisions of the Plan. No hearing has been scheduled on this matter as of the date of this Disclosure Statement. Under the Plan, effective as of the Confirmation Date, but subject to the occurrence of the Effective Date, the Bank Holders Action would be dismissed with prejudice.

(c) The Appointment of Consultants

By order dated December 28, 2001 (the "Consultants Order"), the District Court ordered that William A. Drier, Esq., David R. Gross, Esq., C. Judson Hamlin, Esq., John E. Keefe, Esq., and Professor Francis E. McGovern be designated as court appointed consultants (the "Court Appointed Consultants") to advise the District Court and to undertake, in connection with the Chapter 11 Cases of the Debtors and the cases of Armstrong World Industries, Inc., W.R. Grace & Co., Federal-Mogul Global, Inc., and USG Corporation, such responsibilities, including by way of example and not limitation, mediation of disputes, holding case management conferences, and consultation with counsel, as the District Court may delegate to them individually. The Consultants Order also provided that the District Court could, without further notice, appoint any of the Court-Appointed Consultants to act as a special master ("Special Master") to hear any disputed matter and to make a report and recommendation to the District Court on the disposition of such matter. By the same Order, the District Court ordered that the fees of the Court Appointed Consultants and Special Masters are to be borne by the Debtors in such manner and apportionment as the District Court or the bankruptcy court of each respective case may direct.

During the recusal proceedings, discussed below, the impartiality of certain of the Court Appointed Consultants was challenged based on their involvement in the Chapter 11 case of G-I Holdings, Inc. The Court Appointed Consultants as a group became functionally obsolete after May 2002, although Judge Wolin did not dismiss the Court Appointed Consultants by formal order.

(d) The Appointment of a Mediator

Consistent with the terms and purpose of the Consultants Order, on June 17, 2002, the Debtors filed a motion seeking an order appointing Professor Francis E. McGovern as mediator ("Mediator") nunc pro tunc to May 1, 2002, and directing the Mediator to report periodically to the District Court and Bankruptcy Court during the pendency of the Chapter 11 Cases on the status of the mediation process between the Committees. The Bankruptcy Court appointed Professor McGovern as Mediator, effective May 1, 2002, and ordered that the Mediator report periodically to the District Court and/or the Bankruptcy Court (as may be determined by the circumstances or by future orders of either court) on the status of the negotiations between the parties. The Bankruptcy Court further ordered that the Mediator not serve as Special Master to hear disputed matters and report to the Bankruptcy Court or the District Court on any matters on which he previously served as mediator, or on any matter materially related thereto, and not serve as Mediator on any disputed matter on which he previously heard and reported to the Bankruptcy Court or the District Court as a Special Master, or on any matter materially related thereto.

Pursuant to Judge Wolin's December 23, 2002 Order directing mediation, the Debtors, the Bank Holders, the Official Representatives, the Unsecured Creditors' Committee, the Asbestos Claimants' Committee and the Future Claimants' Representative reported for mediation.

On June 16, 2004, the Debtors filed a certification of counsel, together with a stipulation and order (the "Stipulation") terminating the services of the Mediator, effective June 30, 2004 on the basis that the Mediator's duties had been fulfilled in the Chapter 11 Cases, with the exception of the mediation of property damage claims. On June 25, 2004, Kensington International Limited and Springfield Associates LLC, and Angelo Gordon & Co., on behalf of certain managed funds and accounts, filed a statement with respect to the Stipulation, but did not object to the termination of Professor McGovern.

(e) Proceedings Leading to the Recusal of Judge Wolin

On or about October 10, 2003, Kensington International Limited ("Kensington") and Springfield Associates, LLC ("Springfield") (collectively, the "Petitioning Bank Holders"), two assignees of lenders under OC's 1997 Credit Agreement, filed a motion to recuse Judge Wolin from further participation in the Chapter 11 Cases. On October 28, 2003, the Petitioning Bank Holders filed a Petition for Writ of Mandamus with the Third Circuit, seeking an order from the Third Circuit compelling Judge Wolin to recuse himself. Motions for recusal and petitions for mandamus were also filed by various parties in Grace and USG. The Third Circuit stayed all proceedings before Judge Wolin, which stay remained in effect until the conclusion of the recusal proceedings. The Plan Proponents and other parties in the Chapter 11 Cases, as well as various parties in Grace and USG, opposed the petitions. On December 18, 2003, after briefing and argument, the Third Circuit issued an opinion sending the matters back to Judge Wolin for expedited discovery, briefing, argument and decision. On February 2, 2004, Judge Wolin denied the various motions seeking his recusal.

After further briefing and argument, on May 17, 2004, the Third Circuit entered an order requiring Judge Wolin to recuse himself from further participation in the Chapter 11 Cases, Grace and USG, and vacated the stay of proceedings in the District Court.

(f) Designation and Assignment of Judge Fullam

Following the recusal of Judge Wolin, on May 27, 2004, the Third Circuit designated and assigned Judge John P. Fullam of the United States District Court for the Eastern District of Pennsylvania to the Chapter 11 Cases. The Third Circuit designated and assigned other judges to preside over the other asbestos bankruptcy cases that had previously been consolidated under the terms of the administrative consolidation before Judge Wolin, effectively terminating the consolidation.

12. Extension of Exclusive Right to File and Confirm a Plan

Section 1121(b) of the Bankruptcy Code provides for an initial 120-day period after the Petition Date within which the Debtors have the exclusive right to file a plan of reorganization in their cases (the "Exclusive Period"). Section 1121(c) of the Bankruptcy Code further provides for an initial 180-day period after the Petition Date within which the Debtors have the exclusive right to solicit and obtain acceptances of a plan filed by the Debtors during the Exclusive Period (the "Solicitation Period," and together with the Exclusive Period, the "Exclusive Periods"). Pursuant to the provisions of Section 1121 of the Bankruptcy Code, the Debtors' Exclusive Period expired on February 2, 2001, and the Solicitation Period expired on April 3, 2001.

By motions filed with the Bankruptcy Court, the Debtors have requested multiple extensions of the Exclusive Periods. The Debtors requested such extensions in light of the unique procedural posture of these cases and to afford the Debtors additional time to develop, negotiate and propose a plan of reorganization. In certain instances, certain creditor groups lodged limited objections and/or responses to the Debtors' request for extensions.

On December 23, 2002 Judge Wolin issued an Order partially withdrawing the reference and directed the Debtors to file their plan of reorganization on or before January 17, 2003. On January 17, 2003, the Debtors, together with the Asbestos Claimants' Committee and the Future Claimants' Representative, filed a plan within the Exclusive Period. On March 7, 2003, the Debtors filed a motion seeking extension of the Solicitation Period through September 30, 2003. By Order dated May 12, 2003, the Court extended the Solicitation Period to November 30, 2003. On March 13, 2003, the Debtors filed a motion seeking an extension from March 14, 2003, until March 31, 2003, to file their proposed disclosure statement. By Order dated April 22, 2003, the Court further extended until March 31, 2003 the Debtors' time to file their disclosure statement. The proposed disclosure statement was filed on March 28, 2003. Several hearings on the disclosure statement were held from June, 2003 through November 2003. On December 2, 2003, the Bankruptcy Court entered an Order approving the disclosure statement, subject in part to "the issuance of an order by the District Court, or such other court with appropriate jurisdiction after notice, that the Disclosure Statement shall be circulated for voting …." Due to a series of events, including the issuance of a stay by the Third Circuit during the Recusal Proceedings, the litigation in the District Court regarding substantive consolidation and the subsequent appeal of the Substantive Consolidation Order, and asbestos claims estimation litigation, the previous disclosure statement and plan were not circulated for voting.

On September 29, 2005, the Debtors filed a request for an extension of the Exclusive Periods through and including January 31, 2006, without prejudice to the Debtors' right to seek further extensions. CSFB, as Agent, filed a limited objection to the motion and certain bondholders filed a response. By Order dated November 14, 2005, the Court extended the Exclusive Periods through and including January 31, 2006, without prejudice to (i) the Debtors' right to seek further extensions of the Exclusive Periods and (ii) the right of parties-in-interest to seek to terminate or modify the Exclusive Periods.

On December 31, 2005, the Debtors filed a request for a further extension of the Exclusive Periods, without prejudice to the Debtors' right to seek further extensions. Objections to this motion were filed by the Official Representatives, the Ad Hoc Bondholders Committee and the Ad Hoc Equity Holders' Committee. A hearing was held on January 30, 2006, and by order entered on February 13, 2006, the Court extended the Exclusive Periods through and including July 31, 2006, without prejudice to (i) the Debtors' right to seek further extensions of the Exclusive Periods and (ii) the right of parties-in-interest to seek to terminate or modify the Exclusive Periods. On February 23, 2006, the Ad Hoc Equity Holders' Committee filed an appeal of the order extending the Exclusive Periods. The appeal was docketed in the District Court on March 17, 2006 and had been fully briefed. In accordance with the Settlement Term Sheet, on May 18, 2006, a stipulation was filed by the parties requesting the dismissal of this appeal. On May 24, 2006 the Court approved the stipulation dismissing the appeal.

13. Extension of Time to Remove Actions

The Debtors are parties to numerous judicial and administrative proceedings currently pending in multiple forums throughout the country (collectively, the "Actions"). The Actions involve a wide variety of claims. Pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1452 and Bankruptcy Rule 9027(a)(2), the Bankruptcy Court has entered orders extending the time period within which the Debtors may review Actions and determine whether to remove them to the District Court or the Bankruptcy Court. The date by which the Debtors must file notices of removal under Bankruptcy Rule 9027(a)(2)(A) has been extended through and including the later of (a) thirty (30) days after confirmation of a plan of reorganization, or (b) thirty (30) days after the entry of an order terminating the automatic stay with respect to the particular action sought to be removed.

14. Summary of Claims Process and Bar Dates

(a) Schedules and Statements of Financial Affairs

As part of their first day motions, the Debtors filed a motion requesting additional time to file their SOFAS. Such motion was granted by Order of the Bankruptcy Court dated October 6, 2000, and the Debtors were granted an extension until November 24, 2000. On November 22, 2000, the Debtors filed separate SOFAS for OCD and each of the 17 Subsidiary Debtors. Among other things, the SOFAS set forth the Claims of known creditors against each of the Debtors as of the Petition Date, based upon the Debtors' books and records.

On November 20, 2001, the Debtors filed Amended and Restated Schedules of Assets and Liabilities (the "Amended Schedules") for OCD and each of the 17 Subsidiary Debtors. The Amended Schedules amended and wholly superseded the Schedules filed by the Debtors in November 2000. Revisions to the Amended Schedules were filed on January 30, 2002 for certain of the Debtors.

Exclusive of asbestos-related personal injury and wrongful death claims, the total amount of liabilities listed in the Debtors' Amended Schedules was approximately $8,470 million, consisting of $1,460 million of pre-petition bank debt; $1,338 million of pre-petition bond debt; $190 million of pre-petition trade debt; $10 million of pre-petition tax debt; and $5,270 million in pre-petition intercompany debt and $212 million in other pre-petition debt.

(b) General Claims Bar Date and Proofs of Claim

The Bankruptcy Court set April 15, 2002 as the last date by which holders of certain pre-petition Claims against the Debtors were required to file Proofs of Claim (the "General Bar Date"). The General Bar Date did not apply to certain claims, including intercompany claims, Asbestos Personal Injury Claims other than OC Indirect Asbestos PI Trust Claims and FB Indirect Asbestos PI Trust Claims. Pursuant to Order of the Bankruptcy Court dated November 27, 2001, any holder of a Claim that was required to but failed to file a Claim on or before the General Bar Date was barred from asserting such Claim against any of the Debtors and will not participate in any distribution in the chapter 11 Cases on account of such Claim.

Pursuant to notice procedures approved by the Bankruptcy Court, the Debtors sent approximately 204,000 Proof of Claim forms and notices of the General Bar Date to known claimants and their attorneys, and published notice of the General Bar Date twice in the national and (if applicable) international editions of The New York Times, The Wall Street Journal and USA Today; once in approximately 250 regional or local newspapers in the areas in which the Debtors had significant business operations at the time of publication; and once in approximately 35 trade publications in the primary lines of business in which the Debtors operate or formerly operated.

In response to the General Bar Date, approximately 25,000 Proofs of Claim, including late-filed claims, were filed with the Claims Agent and/or Bankruptcy Court, asserting approximately $16.6 billion of aggregate liabilities. The Debtors are investigating these claims to determine their validity. As to the obligations under the 1997 Credit Agreement, the claim total reflects only a single claim (in the amount of approximately $1.6 billion) although the holders have asserted this claim against Owens Corning and each of six other Debtors that issued a guarantee with respect to the 1997 Credit Agreement.

As of March 31, 2006, the Debtors had identified approximately 15,600 claims, asserting approximately $8.6 billion of aggregate liabilities, which they believed should be disallowed by the Bankruptcy Court, primarily because such claims appear to be duplicate or amended claims or claims that are not related to any of the Debtors' cases (the "Currently Disputed Claims"). Owens Corning has filed omnibus objections to certain of these Currently Disputed Claims and likely will file additional objections. As of March 31, 2006 approximately 12,800 of the Currently Disputed Claims totaling approximately $5.9 billion had either been disallowed by the Bankruptcy Court or withdrawn by the claimants. In addition, other Currently Disputed Claims had been voluntarily reduced by the claimants by approximately $1.8 billion. While the Bankruptcy Court will ultimately determine liability amounts, if any, that will be allowed as part of these Chapter 11 Cases, the Debtors believe that all or substantially all of these claims will be disallowed.

As of the date of the filing of this Disclosure Statement, the Debtors have filed forty-three omnibus claim objections, as well as individual objections to various other specific proofs of claim.

In addition to the Currently Disputed Claims described above, the remaining Proofs of Claim included approximately 9,400 claims, totaling approximately $8.0 billion. As of March 31, 2006 approximately 1,600 of the remaining claims totaling approximately $0.5 billion had either been withdrawn by the claimants, disallowed by the Bankruptcy Court, or otherwise resolved, and other such claims had been reduced by the claimants by approximately $0.3 billion. The remaining claims consisted of:

- Approximately 2,900 OC Indirect Asbestos PI Trust Claims and FB Indirect Asbestos PI Trust Claims, totaling approximately $1.4 billion of asserted liabilities.
- Approximately 100 OC Asbestos Property Damage Claims, OC Indirect Asbestos Property Damage Claims, FB Asbestos Property Damage Claims and FB Indirect Asbestos Property Damage Claims. Based upon their historic experience with respect to asbestos-related property damage claims, the Debtors do not anticipate significant liability from such claims. See discussion, below.
- Approximately 4,800 claims, totaling approximately $5.2 billion, alleging rights to payment for financial, environmental, trade and other matters (the "General Claims"). The Company has previously recorded approximately $3.5 billion in liabilities for these claims. The General Claims with the largest variance from the recorded amounts are: claims by the United States Department of Treasury, totaling approximately $534 million, in connection with taxes; a contingent claim for approximately $458 million by the Pension Benefit Guaranty Corporation (the "PBGC"); claims for contract rejections, totaling approximately $95 million, of which approximately $28 million are protective claims covering contracts which have not yet been rejected by the Debtors; a $275 million class action claim involving alleged problems with a specialty roofing product, which claim the Debtors do not believe is meritorious based upon their historic experience with servicing their warranty program for such product; and environmental claims, totaling approximately $109 million.

As indicated, the above-cited date reflects claim status as of March 31, 2006. See Appendix E-1, for claims data as of May 24, 2006.

(c) Asbestos Property Damage Claims

Holders of OC Asbestos Property Damage Claims were required to file Proofs of Claim by the April 15, 2002 General Bar Date. OCD received over 300 property damage Proofs of Claim. Of these, approximately 65 claims asserted aggregate damages of approximately $730 million, including the claim of the State of Louisiana in the amount of $582 million. The remaining claims did not provide a claimed amount and provided almost no documentation to support their claim or to allow the Debtors to estimate the value of their claim. On January 7, 2003, the Debtors filed a motion for an order establishing case management procedures for asbestos-related property damage claims requesting that property damage claimants be required to provide the Debtors with basic supporting evidence to enable the Debtors to value their claims. On March 31, 2003, the Bankruptcy Court entered an Order Establishing Case Management Procedures for Asbestos-Related Property Damage Claims (the "Asbestos-Related Property Damage Case Management Order") which required, in part, that each holder of an OC Asbestos Property Damage Claim provide the Debtors with certain supporting evidence within 120 days of the date of the Order to enable the Debtors to value their claims. Many OC Asbestos Property Damage claimants failed to respond to the Asbestos-Related Property Damage Case Management Order. Following the dismissals of those claims by the Bankruptcy Court, as well as voluntary withdrawals of numerous other OC Asbestos Property Damage Claims, approximately 35 claims remained against OCD.

On July 8, 2005, the Bankruptcy Court dismissed the OC Asbestos Property Damage Claim of the State of North Dakota on the grounds that it was barred by a North Dakota statute that required all State of North Dakota asbestos property damage claims to be brought by August 1, 1997. Since North Dakota's claims against Owens Corning were not brought until 2002, the Bankruptcy Court ruled that the claim was untimely. Claimant North Dakota appealed that order, which was affirmed by the District Court (Fullam, J.) on October 11, 2005. North Dakota filed a Notice of Appeal to the Third Circuit. Prior to the Third Circuit's issuance of a briefing schedule, the parties reached a settlement. By the settlement, Fibreboard settled the property damage claim against it for $84,000, to be paid entirely by Fibreboard's insurer within 60 days after entry of an order approving the proposed settlement; North Dakota released Fibreboard from all claims resolved under the Settlement; and North Dakota was allowed an unsecured claim against OC for $40,000. The Debtors filed a motion in the Bankruptcy Court seeking an order approving the compromise of the property damage claims. On April 4, 2006, the Bankruptcy Court entered an order approving the settlement motion.

On September 29, 2005, the Bankruptcy Court entered the Revised Order Establishing Case Management Procedures For Asbestos-Related Property Damage Claims (the "Revised Order Establishing Case Management Procedures For Asbestos-Related Property Damage Claims") which, in part, set deadlines for the production of supporting information by the remaining parties asserting OC Asbestos Property Damage Claims.

As a result of dismissals, reduced claim amounts, voluntary withdrawals and 20 settlements in principle for an aggregate value of $100,000, there are as of the date of this Disclosure Statement approximately four remaining OC Asbestos Property Damage Claims with a claimed value of $79.6 million. There also remain approximately 18 OC Indirect Asbestos Property Damage Claims with a claimed value of approximately $4 million. Prior to the Petition Date, OCD had six pending property damage claims, four of which had been dormant for several years, and had resolved 93% of all property damage claims against it for $0 per claim. The Debtors also note that in other asbestos bankruptcies in which hundreds of property damage claims were filed, such claims were resolved for substantially less than the claimed amounts. For example, Eagle-Picher Industries received 1,000 property damage proofs of claim asserting $11.5 billion and its plan of reorganization provided only $3 million to resolve such claims. More recently, Armstrong settled 360 property damage claims (four of which alone asserted claims in excess of $200 million), for $2 million. Given the lack of information, the remaining OC Asbestos Property Damage Claims at this time, the Debtors cannot estimate the likely amount of Allowed OC Asbestos Property Damage Claims with certainty, but believe that such claims will likely be allowed in the aggregate range between $5 million and $10 million. This estimated amount may be revised based on Debtors' analysis of the information provided pursuant to the Revised Order Establishing Case Management Procedures for Asbestos-Related Property Damage Claims.

Holders of FB Asbestos Property Damage Claims were required to file Proofs of Claim by the General Bar Date. Fibreboard received over 275 property damage Proofs of Claim, 26 of which collectively asserted damages in excess of $592 million. The Bankruptcy Court dismissed 11 of these claims after the Debtors filed objections. The remaining claims did not state a claimed amount and provided almost no documentation to support their claim or to enable Fibreboard to estimate the value of their claims. The Debtors filed a motion for a case management order requesting that property damage claimants be required to provide the Debtors with basic supporting evidence to enable the Debtors to value their claims. On March 31, 2003, the Court entered Asbestos-Related Property Damage Case Management Order which required, in part, that each holder of an FB Asbestos Property Damage Claim provide the Debtors with certain supporting evidence within 120 days of the date of the Order to enable the Debtors to value their claims. Many FB Asbestos Property Damage claimants failed to respond to the Asbestos-Related Property Damage Case Management Order. Following the dismissals of those claims by the Bankruptcy Court, as well as voluntary withdrawals of numerous other FB Property Damage Claims, approximately 30 claims remained against Fibreboard.

On July 8, 2005, the Bankruptcy Court dismissed the FB Asbestos Property Damage Claim of the State of North Dakota on the grounds that it was barred by a North Dakota statute that required all State of North Dakota asbestos property damage claims to be brought by August 1, 1997. Since North Dakota's claims against Fibreboard was not brought until 2002, the Bankruptcy Court ruled that the claim was untimely. Claimant North Dakota appealed that order, which was affirmed by the United States District Court for the Eastern District of Pennsylvania (Fullam, J.) on October 11, 2005. North Dakota filed a Notice of Appeal to the United States Court of Appeal for the Third Circuit. As described above, prior to the Third Circuit's issuance of a briefing schedule, the parties reached a settlement.

On September 29, 2005, the Bankruptcy Court entered the Revised Order Establishing Case Management Procedures For Asbestos-Related Property Damage Claims (the "Revised Order Establishing Case Management Procedures For Asbestos-Related Property Damage Claims") which, in part, set deadlines for the production of supporting information by the remaining parties asserting FB Asbestos Property Damage Claims.

As a result of dismissals, reduced claim amounts, voluntary withdrawals and 22 settlements in principle for an aggregate value of $105,000, there are as of the date of this Disclosure Statement approximately two remaining FB Asbestos Property Damage Claims with a claimed value of approximately $3.3 million. There also remain approximately 18 FB Indirect Asbestos Property Damage Claims with a claimed value of approximately $4.2 million. As of the Petition Date, only six property damage claims were pending against Fibreboard, four of which had been dormant for more than five years. Prior to the Petition Date, Fibreboard had resolved 92% of all property damage claims against it for $0 per claim. Fibreboard also notes that in other asbestos bankruptcies in which hundreds of property damage claims were filed, such claims were resolved for substantially less than the claimed amounts. For example, Eagle-Picher Industries received 1,000 property damage proofs of claim asserting $11.5 billion and its plan of reorganization provided only $3 million to resolve such claims. More recently, Armstrong World Industries settled 360 property damage claims (four of which alone asserted claims in excess of $200 million), for $2 million. Of these settled claims, 144 were also asserted against Fibreboard. Given the lack of information on the remaining FB Asbestos Property Damage Claims and Allowed FB Indirect Asbestos Property Damage Claims at this time, the Debtors cannot estimate the likely amount of Allowed FB Asbestos Property Damage Claims and FB Indirect Asbestos Property Damage Claims with certainty, but believe that such claims will likely be allowed in the aggregate range between $1 million and $3 million. This estimated amount may be revised based on Debtors' analysis of the information provided pursuant to the Revised Order Establishing Case Management Procedures for Asbestos-Related Property Damage Claims.

(d) Asbestos Personal Injury Claims Bar Date and Proofs of Claim

As indicated above, the General Bar Date did not apply to asbestos-related personal injury and asbestos-related wrongful death claims, although it did apply to asbestos property damage claims, OC Indirect Asbestos PI Trust Claims and FB Indirect Asbestos PI Trust Claims. A bar date for filing Proofs of Claim against the Debtors with respect to these types of Claims has not been set. Despite this, approximately 3,300 Proofs of Claim in addition to the Claims described above, totaling approximately $2.6 billion, were filed in response to the General Bar Date on account of asserted asbestos-related personal injury and asbestos-related wrongful death claims.

On April 11, 2003, the Unsecured Creditors' Committee filed a Motion for Order Establishing a Bar Date for Filing Proofs of Claim for Asbestos Claims ("Asbestos Bar Date Motion"), requesting an order establishing a bar date for Asbestos Personal Injury Claims. By Order dated April 25, 2003, Judge Wolin withdrew the reference with regard to the Asbestos Bar Date Motion. The proceedings with regard to the Motion were also stayed pending further Order of the District Court before responses were due. This matter was stayed when the Third Circuit issued an Order staying actions by the District Court during the pendency of the recusal proceedings. Following the designation and assignment of Judge Fullam, on July 27, 2004, CSFB filed a Joinder and Supplement to the Bar Date Motion and the Plan Proponents filed an Opposition.

In the Bar Date Motion and Joinder and Supplement, the supporters of the Bar Date Motion asserted that the Debtors should implement procedures requiring holders of Asbestos Personal Injury Claims to provide evidence with respect to the claims in the manner in which holders of OC Asbestos Property Damage Claims are required to file claims and provide evidence. The Plan Proponents asserted that there were valid reasons for the different approaches to these claims including the fact that prior to the Petition Date, OC had only six property damage claims, four of which had been dormant for over five years, while it faced hundreds of thousands of pending and future Asbestos Personal Injury Claims. In addition, the Plan Proponents noted that the OC Asbestos Property Damage Claims will not be channeled to a trust and will receive distributions as Class A6-A Claims. In order to resolve these claims and reduce reserves needed to be maintained for Disputed Claims, the Debtors commenced the process of analyzing the OC Asbestos Property Damage Claims as part of the claims review and objection process. Because the determination of Asbestos Personal Injury Claims will be governed by the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust Distribution Procedures after confirmation, as required by Section 524(g), the Plan Proponents contend that there is no valid reason for the Debtors to supplant the function of the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust Distribution Procedures.

On August 2, 2004, CSFB filed a motion seeking to withdraw the reference of the Chapter 11 Cases and to refer to the Bankruptcy Court only specified matters. The Debtors, the Future Claimants' Representative and the Asbestos Claimants' Committee filed oppositions to this motion. On August 19, 2004, the District Court (Fullam, J.) heard argument on CSFB's motion to withdraw the reference. On August 19, 2004, the District Court entered an order withdrawing the reference only with respect to the asbestos valuation process, including discovery and scheduling issues. That same day, the District Court entered a scheduling order for the claims estimation hearing which stated that data previously available including Debtors' claim history, its experience in other cases, viewed in light of the expert testimony at the scheduled hearing "should probably suffice" for claims estimation purposes. The Order by the District Court added that if it determined that additional information was needed, it would reconsider its Order. No such reconsideration occurred. A hearing on estimation commenced on January 13, 2005. The District Court issued an Order in the claims estimation hearing on March 31, 2005 without revisiting whether additional information was required. Thus, the issuance of a decision without reconsideration of its earlier ruling in effect denied the Asbestos Bar Date Motion.

(e) Claim Summaries

The Debtors have recorded liability amounts for those claims that can be reasonably estimated and which they believe are probable of being allowed by the Bankruptcy Court. At this time, it is impossible to reasonably estimate the value of all the claims that will ultimately be allowed by the Bankruptcy Court, due to the uncertainties of the Chapter 11 process, the in-progress state of the Debtors' investigation of submitted claims, and the lack of documentation submitted in support of many claims. The Debtors continue to evaluate claims filed in the Chapter 11 Cases and will make such adjustments as may be appropriate.

Although the Debtors' review of all Claims filed is anticipated to be completed after the Confirmation Date, based on their analysis of the Claims thus far, the Debtors have estimated the Claims that are likely to become Allowed Claims. Such estimates have been prepared on a Debtor-by-Debtor and Class-by-Class basis and are attached hereto as -Appendix E-1. As further described in Appendix E-1, the Debtors' assignment of Claims as the obligations of specific Debtors has been undertaken in light of the Third Circuit's reversal of the District Court's Substantive Consolidation Order, described in Section V.F.11(b)(i). The assignment has been made based upon the Debtors' books and records and the Debtors' review of the Claims. Nothing contained in Appendix E-1 is intended to restrict or otherwise affect any creditor's right to contest any objection by the Debtors to any Claim, including without limitation any objection seeking to have one or more Claims determined to be Allowed against a Debtor which is additional or different than the Debtor to which the Debtors have assigned the Claim.

In addition to Claim amounts discussed above, the Amended Schedules reflected approximately $5,270 million of pre-petition intercompany indebtedness owed by Debtors as of the Petition Date. This intercompany indebtedness is set forth on Appendix E-2 hereto. No bar date has been set for intercompany indebtedness and the Debtor, reserve the right to revise these amounts and/or amend their SOFAs. Moreover, the amounts set forth on Appendix E-2 may be revised on account of pre-petition intercompany indebtedness owed by Debtors for allocations of overhead or expenses, including without limitation, management cost and taxes, among the Debtors.

NOTWITHSTANDING THE DEBTORS' ESTIMATES, THE ACTUAL AMOUNT OF CLAIMS AGAINST THE DEBTORS THAT ULTIMATELY BECOME ALLOWED CLAIMS WITH RESPECT TO ANY DEBTOR OR ANY CLASS COULD MATERIALLY EXCEED THE AMOUNTS SET FORTH ON APPENDIX E-1 AND/OR E-2, AND IN SUCH EVENT, THE ESTIMATED PERCENTAGE RECOVERIES FOR HOLDERS OF SOME OR ALL CLAIMS COULD BE MATERIALLY LESS THAN AS ESTIMATED IN THIS DISCLOSURE STATEMENT.

15. Plant Insulation Company Motion to Appoint Examiner

On September 28, 2001, Plant filed a motion (the "Plant Motion") under Section 1104(c)(2) of the Bankruptcy Code for an order appointing a disinterested examiner to conduct an examination of Fibreboard, including an investigation as to whether Fibreboard assets were diverted to pay OCD debts. Plant alleged that funds which were purportedly set aside for payment of Fibreboard's asbestos liability had been diverted to pay for certain liability of OCD, or, that when OCD and Fibreboard entered into various joint settlements for liability, disproportionate liability was assessed to Fibreboard. Plant argued that the appointment of an examiner was mandatory pursuant to Section 1104(c)(2) of the Bankruptcy Code, which provides, in part, that "on request of a party in interest…the court shall order the appointment of an examiner to conduct… an investigation of the debtor as is appropriate…if…the debtor's fixed, liquidated, unsecured debts, other than debts for goods, services, or taxes, or owing to an insider, exceed $5,000,000." Plant argued that an examiner should be appointed because Fibreboard's fixed, liquidated, unsecured asbestos debts exceeded $5 million and because there was allegedly reason to believe that assets of the Fibreboard Insurance Settlement Trust had been diverted to help pay OCD's asbestos debts.

The Plant Motion was opposed by the Debtors, the Future Claimants' Representative, the Unsecured Creditors' Committee and the Asbestos Claimants' Committee, all of which filed an objection and/or response to the Plant Motion. A fundamental dispute between Plant and the responding parties was whether Section 1104(c)(2) of the Bankruptcy Code is a mandatory provision which allegedly requires the Bankruptcy Court to appoint an examiner if the $5 million debt threshold is satisfied, or whether the Court retains discretion to deny a request for the appointment of an examiner under these circumstances. The United States Trustee also filed a response to the Plant Motion, stating its position that if the $5 million debt threshold of Section 1104(c)(2) of the Bankruptcy Code is satisfied, the appointment of an examiner is mandatory.

Following a hearing, the Bankruptcy Court denied the Plant Motion for the appointment of an examiner without prejudice, by Order entered March 22, 2002.

On March 27, 2002, Plant filed a notice of appeal of the Bankruptcy Court's Order. By Order dated December 4, 2002, Judge Wolin granted Plant's appeal and further ordered that "the Order of the Bankruptcy Court denying Plant's application for the appointment of an examiner on the ground that no motion for a trustee had been denied by the Bankruptcy Court is hereby vacated solely on the ground upon which it was based…." The District Court remanded the matter to the Bankruptcy Court for further proceedings on Plant's motion for the appointment of an examiner.

On remand, the Bankruptcy Court directed the parties to file supplemental briefs and, following a hearing on April 8, 2003, the Court entered an Order for the Appointment of an Examiner. The Order directed the United States Trustee to appoint, subject to the Court's approval, one disinterested person to serve as an examiner and further ordered that "the examiner is not to perform any task or take up any duty or in any way perform any work or incur cost to the estate without further order of the Court."

On May 2, 2003, Plant filed an appeal of the Order appointing an examiner. On May 5, 2003, Shirley Gore, an individual asbestos claimant, also filed an appeal, although this appeal is not docketed in the District Court. The Debtors and the Futures Claimants' Representative are opposing the appeal. The Plant appeal was docketed in the District Court on October 20, 2003, shortly before the Third Circuit issued its stay of all proceedings before Judge Wolin in the recusal proceedings. Even though the Third Circuit's stay is no longer in effect, no further action has occurred with respect to these appeals. The Plan Proponents believe that upon the Effective Date, this appeal would be rendered moot and, if the appeal has not been voluntarily dismissed, the Debtors will move to dismiss this appeal.

16. Environmental Claims Arising Under Environmental Laws

The Debtors have been deemed by the United States Environmental Protection Agency ("EPA") to be a Potentially Responsible Party ("PRP") with respect to certain third-party sites under the Comprehensive Environmental Response, Compensation and Liability Act ("Superfund"). The Debtors have also been deemed a PRP under similar state or local laws. In other instances, other PRPs have made Claims against the Debtors as a PRP for contribution under such federal, state or local laws or under contractual agreements.

The Debtors have established reserves for their Superfund (and similar state, local and private action) contingent liabilities. In connection with the Filing, the Debtors initiated a program to identify and discharge contingent environmental liabilities as part of their Plan. Under the program, the Debtors sought settlements, subject to approval of the Bankruptcy Court, with various federal, state and local authorities, as well as private claimants. The Debtors will continue to review environmental reserves in light of such program and make such adjustments as may be appropriate.

The Debtors are involved with environmental investigation or remediation at a number of other sites at which they have not been designated a PRP, particularly sites that they formerly owned or operated. Environmental conditions at currently owned and/or operated sites are being addressed in the ordinary course of the Debtors' business.

As of the General Bar Date, approximately 100 Proofs of Claim asserting liabilities arising under environmental laws had been filed with the Bankruptcy Court and/or the Claims Agent. Many of such Proofs of Claim did not state a dollar amount. Many of the Proofs of Claim that did state an amount assert liabilities beyond which the Debtors believe they could reasonably be held liable, if any liability exists, in that (a) they seek recovery of the total costs of cleanup at sites where numerous parties other than the Debtors were also jointly and severally liable, or (b) they originated from multiple parties potentially liable at the same site. Claims arising under environmental laws relating to conduct of the Debtors before the Petition Date consisted of (a) Claims by the EPA against the Debtors for the costs of environmental investigation and clean up of sites that may have been contaminated as a result of releases of hazardous substances by the Debtors, including releases at third-party disposal sites used by the Debtors; (b) similar Claims by State and local environmental agencies; (c) Claims by private parties against the Debtors asserting contribution or indemnification claims with respect to cleanup costs under statutory law or contractual agreements; and (d) enforcement actions by federal, state and local environmental authorities with respect to alleged violations of environmental laws. The Debtors have been involved in negotiations to resolve as many of these Claims as possible. As of the present date, eighty-four percent of the Claims have been resolved. In addition, in some cases where a Proof of Claim has not been filed, but where regulatory authorities are likely to exercise their police and regulatory authority against the Debtors with respect to environmental conditions, such as sites currently or formerly owned by the Debtors, the Debtors have been negotiating with regulatory authorities regarding environmental investigation and remediation.

(a) Resolved as Allowed Class A6-A Claims

(i) EPA Claims

The Debtors and the EPA signed a proposed agreement to resolve EPA's Claims at most of the sites where waste materials of the Debtors were disposed before the Petition Date and, consequently, for which the Debtors may be liable for cleanup and related costs. The Environmental Settlement Agreement between the Debtors and the EPA quantifies liability at existing known sites as pre-petition Claims, with respect to some of which the EPA would have an Allowed Class A6-A Claim (the "Liquidated Sites"). The Environmental Settlement Agreement with the EPA also contains a provision that waste disposal sites, used by the Debtors before the Petition Date, that are not discovered until after confirmation of the Plan or where the Debtors' use of the site has been confirmed but an allocable share of liability cannot yet be determined (known as "Additional Sites"), will be paid by the Reorganized Debtors at the rate of distribution for Allowed Class A6-A Claims. The Environmental Settlement Agreement also contains work plans for limited removal actions by the Debtors at two Rhode Island sites. The United States lodged the Environmental Settlement Agreement with the Court and published a notice of the lodging in the Federal Register on June 5, 2003. On June 17, 2003, the Debtors filed a Motion for Approval of Settlement of Environmental Claims of the United States (the "EPA Settlement Motion"). On July 17, 2003, the United States filed a joinder in support of the EPA Settlement Motion. The Bankruptcy Court approved the EPA Settlement Motion on July 23, 2003. The Debtors completed the limited removal action required by the Environmental Settlement Agreement in September 2005.

Notwithstanding any provision to the contrary in the Plan or Confirmation Order, the provisions of the Environmental Settlement Agreement shall govern matters covered by such settlement.

(ii) State Claims

The Debtors have negotiated an Environmental Settlement Agreement similar to the Environmental Settlement Agreement with the EPA, discussed above, with the State of New York, where the Debtors conducted operations, which agreement covers only that State's costs at sites that are presently unknown. The Debtors also negotiated settlement agreements with the Texas Commission on Environmental Quality and the City of Tacoma. To date, the Debtors have been unable to negotiate a similar settlement agreement with the Ohio Environmental Protection Agency.

(iii) Private Party Claims

The Debtors have settled various Claims covering various formerly owned properties (Ashton, Rhode Island, Snyder Lumber Sites and Gardena, California) or prior waste disposal sites (GBF Site).

(iv) Enforcement Action Claims

The Debtors have resolved all prepetition environmental actions, including an Ohio air settlement ($201,633), a Colorado air settlement ($9,000) and a federal Clean Water settlement ($40,000).

(b) Claims Arising Under Environmental Laws Involving Formerly owned Properties Resolved as Administrative Claims

The Debtors resolved the following claims: Oregon Department of Environmental Quality for the former St. Helens Plant ($900,000) and Industry factory rental for the former Ashton Plant ($75,000).

(c) Unresolved Claims Arising Under Environmental Laws

(i) State Claims

The Debtors have entered into a settlement with the Rhode Island Department of Environmental Management ("RIDEM") regarding its Proof of Claim in the amount of $80 million with respect to five sites in Rhode Island where alleged releases of hazardous substances by the Debtors may have contributed to contamination. The settlement, which has been approved by the Court, required payment of $750,000 with respect to the five sites and contained provisions similar to the agreement with EPA with respect to sites presently unknown. The Court approved the order on July 22, 2004 and the payment to RIDEM resolving this claim was made on August 12, 2004.

The Debtors have also been engaged in extensive negotiations with the New Jersey Department of Environmental Protection ("NJDEP") regarding its Proof of Claim in the amount of approximately $74 million, concerning the BEMS landfill in Burlington, a multi-party waste disposal site used by the Debtors. Ongoing litigation will continue beyond the Debtors' emergence from bankruptcy. The Debtors are participating in an Alternative Dispute Resolution process to determine their share of BEMS liability. The ADR process is in the allocation stage and the Debtor is actively participating. The Debtors share of liability is expected to be under $3,000,000.

The Kansas Department of Health and Environment ("KDHE") has filed a Proof of Claim in the amount of approximately $1.9 million with respect to remedial costs at a landfill previously operated by the City of Kansas City and used for disposal by the Debtors and a number of other parties. The Debtors have been engaged in discussions with KDHE regarding this Claim and at this point, the Debtors expect that this Claim, and a related Claim by the Kansas National Guard, may require an estimation proceeding. Debtor's and KDHE are currently negotiating a remedial action agreement which will resolve Debtor's liability for an expected value of less than $300,000.

The State of California's Proof of Claim in the amount of $40 million with respect to costs at two disposal sites, Operating Industries, Inc. and the GBF landfill, has been disallowed on debtors' objection.

Liabilities arising from environmental conditions at properties currently owned and operated by the Debtors are not generally subject to discharge and may need to be satisfied as Administrative Claims or by the Debtors after emergence from bankruptcy. On that basis, the Oklahoma Department of Environmental Quality has withdrawn a protective Proof of Claim regarding site conditions at the Debtors' facility in Oklahoma City, which the Debtors expect to resolve.

(ii) Private Party Claims

At the request of a Berlin Borough official, the Debtors and Owens-Illinois agreed to investigate the New Freedom Rd. Landfill, a former waste site believed to have been used by both companies in the 1950's. A Proof of Claim in an undetermined amount filed by Owens-Illinois regarding cleanup costs which may be incurred has been disallowed.

Several other private parties have filed Proofs of Claim for alleged contribution obligations with respect to a few different sites, but none of these claims is for any material amount, even without taking into account the Debtors' grounds for objecting to them.

The following Claims by private parties arising under environmental laws have been disallowed on objection by the Debtors: a Proof of Claim based on contribution for cleanup costs with respect to the Dexter Quarry site in the amount of $5,000,000 by the estate of the former owner/operator; a Proof of Claim in the amount of $3,000,000 by Akzo Nobel Coatings, Inc. seeking indemnification for cleanup costs that it incurred with respect to the Mercer Drum site in Ohio; a Proof of Claim by GE Glegg alleging damages for soil and groundwater contamination in the vicinity of the Debtors' former Guelph, Ontario plant; a Proof of Claim by Bigge Investors in the amount of $350,000 regarding environmental conditions on property sold to it by the Debtors based on allegations of fraud in the sale; Proofs of Claim in the amount of approximately $4,000,000 by Wallace Development/Bezley based on allegations of fraud in the sale by Debtors of industrial real estate in California; and a Proof of Claim by Dr. and Mrs. Gregory Pharo alleging diminished value of their residence due to the nearby presence of Debtors' Aerohaven landfill.

17. IRS Claims

The Company's federal income tax returns typically are audited by the IRS in multi–year audit cycles. The audit for the years 1992–1995 was completed in late 2000. Due to the Filing, the IRS also accelerated and completed the audit for the years ended 1996–1999 by March of 2001. As the result of these audits and unresolved issues from prior audit cycles, the IRS is asserting claims for $305,210,712 in income taxes plus interest of $174,997,818.

Pending audit of the Company's federal income tax return for the year 2000, the IRS has also filed a protective administrative claim in the amount of $57,830,624, covering a tax refund received by the Company for such year, plus interest.

The United States Department of Treasury has filed Proofs of Claim totaling approximately $538 million, in connection with these tax claims. The United States Tax Court lifted its Stay of Proceedings regarding taxable years 1986—1988 on October 6, 2005, and entered its Decision on October 11, 2005. As a result, the IRS should be in a position to amend its claim for the taxable years 1982 - 1999 to reflect the actual, agreed to tax deficiencies. The interest on the deficiencies for this period has not yet been finalized by the IRS.

In accordance with generally accepted accounting principles, the Company maintains tax reserves to cover audit issues. While the Company believes that the existing reserves are appropriate in light of the audit issues involved, its defenses, its prior experience in resolving audit issues, and its ability to realize the benefit of certain challenged deductions in subsequent tax returns if the IRS is successful, there can be no assurance that such reserves will be sufficient. The Company will continue to review its tax reserves on a periodic basis and to make such adjustments as may be appropriate. Any such revision could be material to the Company's consolidated financial position and results of operations in any given period.

In this regard, the Company has negotiated a settlement of the United States federal income tax audits of the Company's taxable years 1982 - 1999 at the Appeals level of the IRS. The settlement was approved by the Bankruptcy Court by Order dated November 15, 2004, and by the Congressional Joint Committee on Taxation on May 17, 2005. The IRS is currently in the process of implementing the settlement, including performing its calculation of the interest component, which could vary from the amount of interest as calculated by the Company. As part of the implementation of the settlement described above, the filed Proofs of Claim will be amended appropriately.

18. Asset Dispositions

Section 363(f) of the Bankruptcy Code authorizes a debtor, under certain circumstances and subject to approval of the Bankruptcy Court, to sell property of the estate free and clear of liens, claims and encumbrances, with such liens, claims and encumbrances to attach to the proceeds of sale. Since the Petition Date, the Debtors have, pursuant to Section 363(f) of the Bankruptcy Code, sold certain property, including, but not limited to, the following assets.

(a) Sale of Bradenton, Florida Plant Assets

Exterior Systems, Inc. designed and manufactured aluminum windows and patio doors products at a plant located at 4504 30th Street, W., Bradenton, Florida. Unfortunately, due to a number of factors, including the older technology employed at the plant, Exterior Systems, Inc. was unable to operate the plant profitably. As a result, the Debtors contemplated selling the plant assets or, if a sale could not be consummated, closing the plant to limit their losses.

Throughout the year 2002, the Debtors contacted and solicited levels of interest for the purchase of the plant from potential purchasers that would have an interest in such assets. Simonton Building Products, Inc. was determined to be the only viable purchaser, and the parties entered into an Asset Sale and Purchase Agreement, dated December 17, 2002, with a sale price of $4,351,500, subject to certain adjustments and other calculations. The parties also agreed to enter into a lease agreement pursuant to which the plant will be leased to the buyer and to enter into a supply agreement.

On December 19, 2002, the Debtors filed a motion seeking authorization to sell the assets to Simonton Building Products, Inc. The motion was granted and the sale was approved by Order of the Bankruptcy Court, dated January 27, 2003.

(b) Sale of Real Property in South Gate, California

OCD owned an approximately 6.9 acre parcel of real property located at 4452 Ardine Street in South Gate, California, on which there was situated an outdated manufacturing facility. The Debtors' only use of the property was the storage of product manufactured at a nearby plant, for which they were in the process of securing other storage facilities. Accordingly, OCD engaged a broker and ultimately entered into Purchase and Sale Agreement, dated December 10, 2002, with Chan Hwa Trading Corporation, as buyer, for a sale price of $4,250,000.

On December 19, 2002, the Debtors filed a motion seeking authorization to sell the property to Chan Hwa Trading Corporation. The motion was granted and the sale was approved by Order of the Bankruptcy Court, dated January 27, 2003.

(c) Sale of Atlanta, Georgia Plant Assets

Exterior Systems, Inc. designed and manufactured vinyl siding and related products at leased facilities located at 5625, 5655 and 5675 Fulton Industrial Boulevard in Atlanta, Georgia. As part of an ongoing review of its business operations, Exterior Systems, Inc. decided to reduce the excess capacity in its vinyl siding operations and to reduce the number of competing brands offered. To that end, the Debtors made a formal announcement in the fall of 2002 to discontinue the manufacture and sale of the OC brand of vinyl siding products, which were manufactured only at the Atlanta plant. Several potential purchasers in the vinyl siding manufacturing business expressed an interest in acquiring the assets of the plant. Alcoa Home Exteriors, Inc. was the only party that submitted an offer to acquire the ongoing operations of the plant, including hiring essentially all of the plant's employees. The proposal also contemplated an assignment of the real estate leases of the subject premises. The parties ultimately entered into an Asset Purchase Agreement, dated January 15, 2003, for a sale price of $5.5 million.

On January 15, 2003, the Debtors filed a motion seeking authorization to sell the assets to Alcoa Home Exteriors, Inc. The motion was granted and the sale was approved by Order of the Bankruptcy Court, dated February 27, 2003.

(e) Sale of Real Property in Nappannee, Indiana

Exterior Systems owned real property located at 851 Tomahawk Drive, Nappannee, Indiana, at which the Debtors had ceased their equipment reconditioning activity. Before a brokerage firm could be engaged, an adjoining property owner expressed an interest in purchasing the property. Based on the opportunity for an immediate sale without the associated cost of a broker's commission and marketing time, Exterior Systems, Inc. negotiated and entered into a Purchase and Sale Agreement, dated March 17, 2003, with Dutch Real Estate Corp., as buyer, for a sale price of $476,000.

On March 19, 2003, the Debtors filed a motion seeking authorization to sell the property to Dutch Real Estate Corp. The Debtors also sought in the motion authorization to pay from the sale proceeds certain real estate taxes totaling approximately $14,196.73 in principal. The motion was granted and the sale was approved by Order of the Bankruptcy Court, dated April 24, 2003.

(f) Sale of Phenix City, Alabama Plant Assets

Owens Corning HT, Inc. ("OCHT") owned a plant located at 908 Owens Corning Drive, Phenix City, Alabama, at which it manufactured rock wool pipe, board and batts for use in insulation applications. As part of the Debtors' ongoing review of its business operations, the Debtors determined that the business at the facility was non-strategic and non-core. The business consistently under-performed financially and lost money at the gross margin level for the year 2002. Consequently, the Debtors decided to sell the assets of the Phenix City plant.

The Debtors undertook marketing efforts targeted to sell the assets of the Phenix City plant to commercial and industrial insulation competitors, as well as to manufacturers of other insulation materials. After negotiating with the two interested parties who had made acceptable preliminary offers, OCHT and OCD entered into an Agreement of Sale, dated March 18, 2003, with IIG Minwool, LLC ("IIG"). IIG agreed to purchase certain assets of the Phenix City plant for a purchase price of $6.7 million, $3.7 million of which was due at closing by wire transfer and $3 million of which was payable pursuant to a promissory note attached to the Agreement of Sale, which obligation was to be secured by security interests in all of the assets being acquired under the Agreement of Sale. On March 19, 2003, the Debtors filed a motion seeking authorization to sell the Phenix City plant assets. The Debtors also sought authorization to pay from the sale proceeds certain personal property taxes totaling approximately $121,069.18.

Subsequent to the filing of the motion, the other interested party, Fibrex Insulation, LLC ("Fibrex"), contacted the Debtors to propose a counteroffer to the offer by IIG as set forth in the Agreement of Sale. The Debtors conducted an auction on April 28, 2003. After spirited bidding by IIG and Fibrex, IIG emerged as the highest bidder with its final bid of $8 million in cash. A hearing was held before the Bankruptcy Court on April 28, 2003. The sale to IIG was approved, subject to the submission of a revised proposed sale order. On May 12, 2003, the Bankruptcy Court entered an Order approving the sale to IIG, nunc pro tunc to April 28, 2003.

(g) Sale of Owens Corning Metal Systems Assets

Owens Corning Metal Systems ("OCMS"), a division of Exterior Systems, Inc., was in the aluminum building products industry. As part of the Debtors' ongoing review of its business operations, the Debtors determined that the business of OCMS was non-strategic and non-core. Consequently, the Debtors decided to sell the assets utilized in the business of OCMS at auction.

The Debtors, through their investment banker, Goldsmith Agio Helms Securities, Inc., undertook solicitation and marketing efforts directed at potential strategic buyers and financial sponsors. After consideration of the proposals submitted by interested bidders in January 2003 and following on-going discussions with those interested bidders who had made acceptable proposals, the Debtors determined that the offer proposed by ALSCO Acquisition Corp., now known as ALSCO Metals Corporation ("ALSCO"), was the highest and best offer. Accordingly, Exterior Systems, Inc., Owens-Corning Fiberglas Technology, Inc. and, for limited purposes, Owens Corning, entered into an Asset Purchase Agreement, dated March 19, 2003, with ALSCO for the sale of certain assets, the assumption by ALSCO of certain liabilities, the execution and entry of a supply agreement and a transition services agreement and the Debtors' assumption and assignment to ALSCO of certain executory contracts and unexpired leases. The purchase price set forth in the Asset Purchase Agreement was $50 million in cash plus certain assumed liabilities. The Asset Purchase Agreement was subject to higher and better offers.

On March 19, 2003, the Debtors filed a motion to approve sale procedures and bidding protections. This Motion was granted by Order of the Bankruptcy Court, dated April 22, 2003. On March 19, 2003, the Debtors also filed a motion seeking authorization to sell the assets to ALSCO or to the successful bidder.

The Debtors conducted an auction on May 16, 2003. After spirited bidding by ALSCO and another bidder, MIC Acquisition Corp., ALSCO emerged as the highest bidder with its final bid of $53 million in cash and a $3 million note. A hearing was held before the Bankruptcy Court on May 19, 2003. The sale to ALSCO was approved by order by the Bankruptcy Court, dated May 19, 2003.

Such Purchase and Sale Agreement was approved by Order of the Bankruptcy Court dated July 23, 2003, but was not consummated because Golden Property Management LLC terminated the agreement when it was discovered that the roof at the facility needed to be replaced, at an estimated cost of $288,000.

Upon termination of the sale agreement with Golden Property Management LLC, the Debtors recommenced their efforts to sell the property. As a result of such efforts, OCD entered into a Purchase and Sale Agreement with River Valley Stone Co., with a purchase price of $825,000. On March 8, 2005, the Bankruptcy Court entered an Order approving the sale.

(i) Sale of Real Property in Lynchburg, Virginia

Exterior Systems initially entered into a Purchase and Sale Agreement with Home Depot USA, Inc. ("Home Depot") to sell the property for a sale price of $950,000. Such Purchase and Sale Agreement was approved by the Bankruptcy Court by Order dated October 23, 2003. The sale between Exterior Systems and Home Depot was not consummated because Home Depot exercised its contractual right to terminate the Purchase and Sale Agreement during an agreed-upon investigation period.

Upon termination of the sale agreement with Home Depot, the Debtors recommenced their efforts to sell the property. Ultimately, Exterior Systems entered into a Purchase and Sale Agreement with Hendricks Commercial Properties, LLC for a sale price of $900,000, which was approved by Order of the Bankruptcy Court dated June 23, 2004.

As of the Petition Date, OCD owned property located at 365 Cedar Run Road in Newark, Ohio, comprised of approximately 3.645 acres of land containing a single family dwelling. The property is adjacent to an OC landfill and served as a buffer between the landfill and properties owned by third parties. Because this property was not needed for OC's operations, it entered into an agreement to sell the property to a third party, Robert Arenz for $144,000, subject to certain adjustments. This agreement was approved by Bankruptcy Court Order dated September 30, 2005.

As of the Petition Date, OCD owned a second parcel in Newark, Ohio located at 422 Cedar Run Road. The sale of this property to Rick Cody, as authorized by the January 30, 2006 Bankruptcy Court order, was not consummated. Thereafter, on April 5, 2006, the Debtors filed a motion with the Bankruptcy Court seeking authority to sell the property to John Palmer and Marsha Palmer for $133,000 and, on May 4, 2006, the Bankruptcy Court entered an order authorizing the sale.

OCD entered into an Asset Purchase Agreement with Pelican Refining Company, LLC ("Pelican"), as buyer, for a purchase price of $3,150,000 and requested the Bankruptcy Court to approve such agreement. Upon objection by a potential purchaser who offered a higher price for the Channelview Facility, the Debtors conducted an auction sale of the property on June 24, 2005. At such auction, Pelican increased its offer to $4.75 million and was selected by the Debtors as the party making the highest and best offer for the Channelview Facility. The parties modified the Asset Purchase Agreement to reflect a purchase price of $4.75 million, which was approved by Bankruptcy Court Order dated June 27, 2005.

In connection with the asset sale, the parties also entered into a Supply Agreement which requires Dietze & Schell to supply OCD with certain equipment and a License Agreement which requires OCD to license to Dietze & Schell certain know-how related to equipment to be provided under the Supply Agreement. Certain of the buildings on the property, as well as a landfill and a settling pond, contained asbestos. Separately, the soil and groundwater at the property contained significant amounts of oils used in the Kaylo manufacturing process. With the exception of environmental remediation activity on the property, all activity at the property ceased and the Debtors no longer needed the property for their operations. Accordingly, OCD entered into a Purchase and Sale Agreement with Berlin Jackson LLC, which (subject to certain terms and conditions) agreed to take title to the property for $1 in exchange for assuming responsibility for the remediation of the property's environmental condition. The Bankruptcy Court approved the Purchase and Sale Agreement by Order dated September 26, 2005.

19. Certain Proposed Asbestos Legislation

On April 19, 2005, Senators Arlen Specter and Patrick Leahy introduced and co-sponsored an asbestos litigation reform bill (S-852) entitled the Fairness in Asbestos Resolution Act of 2005 (the "FAIR Act"), which proposes to establish an asbestos administrative claims resolution structure through which all asbestos claims would be channeled and reviewed. The FAIR Act would establish a national trust fund, supported through mandated contributions from defendant companies, insurance companies and existing trusts, that would be the source of compensation of all approved claims. Under the FAIR Act, companies like the Debtors that have filed for bankruptcy but have not yet emerged through a confirmed plan of reorganization, would be included as participants in the resolution structure. The FAIR Act was voted out of the Senate Judiciary Committee on May 26, 2005, and brought to the floor in early 2006. On February 14, 2006, the Senate voted on a motion to waive the Budget Act with respect to the FAIR Act, but the motion failed when the waiver failed to obtain the necessary 60 votes. Pursuant to this vote, the legislation has been recommitted to the Senate Committee on the Judiciary pursuant to Section 312-F of the Congressional Budget Act. On or about May 26, 2006, Senators Specter and Leahy introduced an amended version of the FAIR Act, entitled the Fairness in Asbestos Resolution Act of 2006, to incorporate certain amendments which had been offered with respect to the prior iteration of the bill. The FAIR Act has not been brought back up for reconsideration as of this time, and whether it will receive further consideration in this session of Congress is uncertain. At this point, it is impossible to determine if the proposed legislation will be enacted, and what the final terms of the legislation will be, if enacted. For a discussion of the impact on the distributions under the Plan if the FAIR Act is enacted and made law prior to the Trigger Date, see Section VII.A.18 of this Disclosure Statement entitled "FAIR Act."

20. Pension Claims

The Company has several defined benefit pension plans covering most employees. Under the plans, pension benefits are generally based on an employee's pay and number of years of service. Company contributions to these pension plans are determined by an independent actuary to meet or exceed minimum funding requirements. Plan assets consist primarily of equity securities with the balance in fixed income investments.

The pension plans are managed by an investment review committee that meets periodically to provide oversight, review long term investment strategies, assess plan and individual manager investment performance and evaluate the funding status of the plans. Over the last several years, various factors, such as the decline in asset value due to market conditions, the decrease in the discount rate, as well as the review of assumptions related to the valuation of pension plan liabilities have impacted the Company's long-term pension plan liability and funding.

Certain of the Company's pension plans have an accumulated benefit obligation in excess of the fair market value of plan assets. The accumulated benefit obligation and fair market value of plan assets for such plans are $1.338 billion and $1.062 billion, respectively, at October 31, 2005. Certain of the Company's pension plans are not funded. The portion of the total projected benefit obligation attributable to unfunded plans is approximately $12 million at October 31, 2005.

The Company also sponsors defined contribution plans available to substantially all United States employees. Company contributions reflect a matching of a percentage of employee savings up to a maximum savings level and certain profit sharing awards. The Company recognized expense of $25 million in 2005.

The "PBGC", an agency of the United States, filed a Claim on the General Bar Date in the amount of approximately $458 million, in connection with statutory liability for unfunded benefit liabilities of the Owens Corning Merged Retirement Plan (the "Merged Plan"). The Claim states that it is contingent upon termination of the Merged Plan. The Merged Plan is a tax-qualified defined benefit pension plan covered by and subject to Title IV of the Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974, as amended, 29 U.S.C. §§ 1301-1462 ("ERISA"). Pursuant to Title IV, each of the Debtors is a contributing sponsor of the Merged Plan or a member of a contributing sponsor's controlled group. 29 U.S.C. § 1301(a)(13)(14). The Plan specifically provides that OCD and any other of the Reorganized Debtors whose employees are covered by the Merged Plan shall assume and continue the Merged Plan, satisfy the minimum funding standards pursuant to 26 U.S.C. § 412 and 29 U.S.C. § 1082, and administer the Merged Plan in accordance with its terms and the provisions of ERISA. Further, nothing in the Plan of Reorganization shall be construed in any way as discharging, releasing or relieving the Debtors or the Debtors' successors, including the Reorganized Debtors, or any party, in any capacity, from liability imposed under any law or regulatory provision with respect to the Merged Plan or PBGC.

OCD is required to comply with ERISA's minimum funding requirements. Funding is generally in cash but may also be in stock or debt (in general, not exceeding 10% of the plan's assets). During these Chapter 11 Cases, with the Bankruptcy Court's approval, the Company has funded its pension obligations with approximately $600 million.

The 2006 pension payments will be made from cash on hand and operating cash flow. As a consequence, for purposes of this Disclosure Statement it is assumed for purposes of projections of future performance and projected distributions under the Plan that (1) the Merged Plan will not be terminated, (2) OCD will make all minimum funding payments and (3) the Pension Plan will be less than 100% funded at October 31, 2006, and (4) OCD will not be required to reserve assets in the Plan to fully fund the Pension Plan, but will be required to demonstrate its ability to adequately fund the Merged Plan in future periods.

21. Notice Procedures and Transfer Restrictions on Trading of Equity Securities

On February 23, 2005, the Debtors filed a motion in the Bankruptcy Court for the entry of interim and final orders pursuant to Sections 105(a), 362(a)(3) and 541 of the Bankruptcy Code to enable the Debtors to avoid limitations on the use of their tax net operating loss carry-forwards and certain other tax attributes by imposing certain notice procedures and transfer restrictions on the trading of equity securities of OCD. The Bankruptcy Court granted the requested interim order (the "Interim Equity Order") on March 1, 2005, and granted the requested final order (the "Final Equity Order") on April 15, 2005.

In general, the Final Equity Order applies to any person or entity that, directly or indirectly, beneficially owns (or would beneficially own as a result of a proposed transfer) at least 4.75% of the outstanding equity securities of OCD. Under the Final Equity Order, all persons or entities who at the time of the Final Equity Order or in the future beneficially own at least 4.75% of the outstanding equity securities of Owens Corning (each a "Substantial Equityholder") is required to file with the Bankruptcy Court and serve upon the Debtors and the Debtors' counsel a notice of such status. In addition, the Final Equity Order provides that a person or entity that would become a Substantial Equityholder by reason of a proposed acquisition of equity securities of OCD is also required to comply with the notice and service provisions before effecting that transaction. The Final Equity Order gives the Debtors the right to object in the Bankruptcy Court to certain acquisitions or sales of OCD common stock if the acquisition or sale would pose a material risk of adversely affecting the Debtors' ability to utilize such tax attributes.

Under the Final Equity Order, prior to any proposed acquisition of equity securities that would result in an increase in the amount of OCD equity securities owned by a Substantial Equityholder, or that would result in a person or entity becoming a Substantial Equityholder, such person, entity or Substantial Equityholder is required to file with the Bankruptcy Court, and serve on the Debtors and the Debtors' counsel, a Notice of Intent to Purchase, Acquire or Otherwise Accumulate an Equity Security. In addition, prior to effecting any disposition of OCD's equity securities that would result in a decrease in the amount of OCD equity securities beneficially owned by a Substantial Equityholder, such Substantial Equityholder is required to file with the Bankruptcy Court, and serve on the Debtors and the Debtors' counsel, a Notice of Intent to Sell, Trade or Otherwise Transfer Equity Securities.

Any purchase, sale or other transfer of OCD equity securities in violation of the restrictions of the Final Equity Order would be null and void ab initio as an act in violation of the Final Equity Order and would therefore confer no rights on a proposed transferee.

22. Glenview Stipulation and Private Letter Ruling

By Order entered May 12, 2005, the Bankruptcy Court approved a Stipulation (the "Glenview Stipulation") between and among OCD, Glenview Capital Partners, LP, ("GCP"), Glenview Institutional Partners, LP ("GIP"), and Glenview Capital Master Fund, Ltd. ("GCM" and with GCP and GIP, the "Glenview Funds"), which addressed certain issues arising under the Interim Equity Order and Final Equity Order. Specifically, the Stipulation addressed the acquisition of certain shares of OCD common stock by one or more of the Glenview Funds after the entry of the Interim Equity Order. Under the terms of the Glenview Stipulation, OCD agreed to seek a Private Letter Ruling from the IRS that would confirm that the Glenview Funds' acquisition of OCD common stock did not cause any one or more of the Glenview Funds to become a "5% shareholder" of OCD for purposes of section 382 of the IRC, so that the Glenview Funds' acquisition of Owens Corning stock would be disregarded in determining whether Owens Corning experienced an "ownership change" for purposes of Section 382. The Glenview Stipulation further provided, among other things, that in the event that such a Private Letter Ruling was not obtained, the Glenview Funds would unwind their relevant acquisitions and disposition of Owens Corning common stock in a manner reasonably acceptable to OCD. On October 28, 2005, the IRS issued the requested Private Letter Ruling, which confirmed that the Glenview Funds were separate entities for purposes of the Interim and Final Orders.

23. Harbinger Stock Sales

On March 23, 2005, Harbinger Capital Partners Master Fund I, Ltd. (f/k/a Harbert Distressed Investment Master Fund, Ltd.), Harbinger Capital Partners Offshore Manager, L.L.C. (f/k/a HMC Distressed Investment Offshore Manager, L.L.C.), HMC Investors, LLC, and Alpha US Sub Fund VI, LLC (collectively, "Harbinger") filed a Notice of Status as a Substantial Equityholder, pursuant to the terms of the Interim Order.

On March 2, 2006, Harbinger filed a Notice pursuant to the Interim and Final Equity Orders, by which Harbinger gave notice of its intention to sell, trade or otherwise transfer all or any part of its 5,525,000 shares of OCD's equity securities, to unidentified parties. On March 17, 2006, the Debtors submitted to the Court a Stipulation extending until March 22, 2006 the Debtors' deadline under the Final Equity Order to object to such Notice. On March 22, 2006, and with the consent and agreement of the Debtors, Harbinger filed an amended Notice pursuant to the Interim and Final Equity Orders, stating that any transfer by it of OCD equity securities would be made to persons whose identity Harbinger does not actually know. Such amended Notice also stated that Harbinger would give written notice to Owens Corning and its attorneys within three business days after the closing of the sale, transfer or other disposition of any Equity Securities, and that such notice would detail the number of shares sold and the date sold. Harbinger's amended Notice also stated that any person acquiring or proposing to acquire OCD equity securities would remain fully subject to the Final Equity Order, including, without limitation, the notice procedures set forth in the Final Equity Order and the attachments thereto. Pursuant to the terms of such amended Notice, and without objection of the Debtors, Harbinger has sold approximately 1,025,000 shares of OCD equity securities through April 30, 2006.

24. Rule 2019 Orders

By Orders dated August 27, 2004, October 22, 2004, and July 8, 2005, the Bankruptcy Court established certain procedures regarding the filing of Statements pursuant to Federal Rule of Bankruptcy Procedure 2019. Each party filing a Rule 2019 Statement is required to provide with such Statement certain specified information in a designated format, as further specified in such Orders.

25. The Trustee Motion

On October 17, 2003, the Unsecured Creditors' Committee filed a motion in the Bankruptcy Court requesting the appointment of a Chapter 11 trustee under Section 1104(a) of the Bankruptcy Code based upon an alleged breach of the Debtors' fiduciary duty of undivided loyalty to act in the best interest of all creditors. On October 29, 2003, such motion was dismissed by the Bankruptcy Court for failure to comply with local court rules. On October 30, 2003, the Unsecured Creditors' Committee re-filed such motion (the "Trustee Motion"), which was subsequently "supplemented" on May 28, 2004 (the "Supplemented Trustee Motion"). On July 13, 2004, Credit Suisse First Boston, as Agent, joined in the Trustee Motion and Supplemented Trustee Motion. In addition, Mt. McKinley Insurance Company and Century Indemnity Insurance Company filed responses in support of the Trustee Motion. Various filings in opposition to the Trustee Motion and Supplemented Trustee Motion were filed by the Debtors, the Futures Claimants' Representative, and the Asbestos Claimants' Committee. Further proceedings on this matter have been voluntarily continued by the movants on a monthly basis.

When the Supplemented Trustee Motion was filed, the Unsecured Creditors' Committee served on the Debtors its first set of amended interrogatories and the first amended request for production of documents generally seeking discovery of information related to either (1) the process, including all discussions and negotiations, by which the draft and filed plans of reorganization were created; (2) discovery related to the contacts between the parties and Judge Wolin or his former advisors, including Frances McGovern, the court-appointed mediator, during the period prior to Judge Wolin's recusal; (3) asbestos valuation and the process and means by which asbestos valuation should be determined, including the decision to oppose an asbestos bar date and claims objection process; and (4) the acts underlying the alleged claims against certain law firms concerning payments made under the National Settlement Program that the Court either stayed or which are the subject of tolling agreements authorized by the Court. The Debtors filed a motion for a protective order asserting that the requested discovery was inappropriate, threatens to waste the assets of the Debtors' bankruptcy estates, and seeks to circumvent the process by which the Court has determined issues in this case should be resolved.

CSFB filed an opposition to the motion for a protective order and the Ad Hoc Bondholders' Committee filed a joinder in the opposition. Further proceedings on this matter were voluntarily continued by the movant on a monthly basis.

The Debtors believed that the Trustee Motion and the Supplemental Trustee Motion were without merit and intended to vigorously oppose the Trustee Motion. In particular, the Debtors believed that the Trustee Motion and the Supplemented Trustee Motion were stale and were rendered moot by the filing of the Plan.

In accordance with the terms of the letter of CSFB's counsel, dated December 30, 2005, attached as Appendix K to the Disclosure Statement, on March 23, 2006, the Unsecured Creditors' Committee authorized the withdrawal of the motion and the withdrawal was filed on that date. Counsel for the Debtors and counsel for the Asbestos Claimants' Committee represented that they would not oppose withdrawal of the Trustee Motion and the Supplemental Trustee Motion on this basis.

26. The Bank Holders' Examiner Motion

On May 24, 2004, Credit Suisse First Boston, Kensington International Limited, Springfield Associates LLC and Angelo Gordon filed a motion in the Bankruptcy Court requesting the appointment of a Chapter 11 examiner under Section 1104(c) of the bankruptcy Code to examine (i) alleged improper conduct by management of the Debtors, (ii) alleged breaches of fiduciary duty by management of the Debtors resulting from the influence of the Futures Claimants' Representative and the Asbestos Claimants' Committee on the process of developing a Plan and the tort estimation process, (iii) alleged connections between the asbestos plaintiffs' interests, a Court appointed mediator, and the Debtors' asbestos liability estimation firm, and (iv) other alleged improper conduct (the "Bank Holders' Examiner Motion"). Owens Corning, the Futures Claimants' Representative, and the Asbestos Claimants' Committee have each filed responsive pleadings objecting to the Bank Holders' Examiner Motion. The Bankruptcy Court heard argument on the Bank Holders' Examiner Motion on June 21, 2004 and, on July 7, 2004, signed an Order continuing the Bank Holders' Examiner Motion until a final order is entered by the Bankruptcy Court with respect to the Trustee Motion.

The Debtors believe that the Bank Holders' Examiner Motion is without merit and intend to continue to vigorously oppose the Bank Holders' Examiner Motion. In particular, the Debtors believe that the Bank Holders' Examiner Motion are stale and are rendered moot by the filing of the Plan, and should therefore be dismissed with prejudice.

27. Section 965 Motion

By Order entered October 20, 2005, the Bankruptcy Court authorized the Company to implement a "foreign fund repatriation program" by which certain of Owens Corning's subsidiaries could repatriate to the United States and, specifically, to IPM approximately $220 million of excess cash. This program was implemented in order to take advantage of section 965 of the IRC, 26 U.S.C. § 965, which was enacted to provide a temporary reduction in the U.S. tax on repatriated dividends. Under section 965, certain dividends received by a U.S. corporation from controlled foreign corporations, to the extent in excess of certain threshold amounts, are eligible for an 85% dividends-received deduction. If applicable, this deduction results in a greatly reduced effective federal tax rate of 5.25% on the amount of the qualifying dividend. The excess cash was actually repatriated under the program to IPM on December 15, 2005. The sources of such excess cash were as follows: Owens Corning Canada Inc. ($165 million); Vytec Corporation ($25 million); and Owens Corning Veil Netherlands B.V. ($30 million).

28. Shareholder Motion for Appointment of an Equity Holders Committee

Shareholders made requests to the United States Trustee in 2003 and 2004 for the appointment of an official committee of equity security holders and in 2005 for the appointment of an official committee of preferred and equity security holders. Because the Debtors did not believe there was any reasonable prospect for recovery by shareholders or preferred security holders in the absence of enactment of asbestos litigation reform legislation, the Debtors opposed each such request. The United States Trustee agreed with the Debtors' position and in each instance declined such requests. On December 20, 2005, the Ad Hoc Equity Holders' Committee filed a motion seeking an order from the Bankruptcy Court directing the United States Trustee to appoint an official committee of preferred and equity security holders ("Shareholder Committee Motion"). The Shareholder Committee Motion was opposed by the United States Trustee, the Debtor, the Asbestos Claimants' Committee, and CSFB. At a hearing on January 30, 2006, the Bankruptcy Court denied the Shareholder Committee Motion for several reasons, including the lack of a cognizable economic stake for the preferred and equity security holders given the Debtors' financial condition. The Bankruptcy Court also rejected the Ad Hoc Equity Holders' Committee's contention that a preferred and equity security committee should be appointed based on uncertain contingencies, such as the potential enactment of federal legislation or the potential reversal of the OCD Asbestos Personal Injury Estimation Order. An order denying the Shareholder Committee Motion was entered on February 17, 2006. On February 27, the Ad Hoc Equity Holders' Committee filed a motion for leave to appeal. On March 9, 2006, the Debtors filed their opposition to the motion for leave to appeal. On May 18, 2006, in accordance with the Settlement Term Sheet, the Ad Hoc Equity Holders' Committee filed a stipulation of dismissal of this appeal. On May 24, 2006 the Court approved the stipulation dismissing the appeal.

29. Shareholder Motion Regarding Shareholders' Meeting

In addition to filing its motion for the appointment of an official committee of preferred and equity security holders, on December 20, 2005, the Ad Hoc Equity Holders' Committee filed the Motion for Entry of an Order (i) Confirming that Owens Corning Shareholders are Entitled to Prosecute an Action in Delaware Chancery Court to Compel a Shareholders' Meeting, or (ii) in the Alternative, Granting Stay Relief to Prosecute Such an Action. (the "Shareholder Meeting Motion") with the Bankruptcy Court. The Shareholder Meeting Motion alleged that OCD is required to hold annual shareholders' meetings and that the shareholders should be permitted to elect directors of OCD who will offer a plan that provides for a recovery to shareholders based upon, among other things, the potential enactment of the federal FAIR Act legislation. The Debtors filed an opposition to this motion. A hearing on this motion was held on January 30, 2006, at which time the Bankruptcy Court declined to grant the Shareholder Meeting Motion, but directed Debtors' counsel to continue the hearing from month to month until the prospects of the so-called FAIR Act could be more definitively determined. On February 28, 2006, the Ad Hoc Equity Holders' Committee filed with the District Court a Petition for Relief in the Nature of Mandamus in the District Court to direct the Bankruptcy Court to enter an order granting or denying the Shareholder Meeting Motion (the "Mandamus Petition"). On March 14, 2006, the Debtors filed an opposition to the Mandamus Petition. A reply was filed by the petitioners on March 21, 2006. On March 23, 2006, the District Court denied the petition. The Ad Hoc Equity Holders' Committee filed a notice of appeal of the denial of the petition. On May 16, 2006, in accordance with the Settlement Term Sheet, the Ad Hoc Equity Holders' Committee filed a motion to withdraw the appeal with prejudice. On May 22, 2006, the Third Circuit entered an order dismissing the appeal.

30. Summary of Certain Litigation

(a) John Hancock Litigation

Certain of OCD's current and former directors and officers, as well as certain underwriters, are named defendants in a class action lawsuit captioned John Hancock Life Insurance Company, et al. v. Goldman, Sachs & Co., et al., CA No. 01-10729-RWZ, pending in the United States District Court for the District of Massachusetts (the "Hancock Litigation"). The suit, commenced on or about April 30, 2001, is a securities-related class action on behalf of purchasers of securities pursuant to, or traceable to, two public offerings by OCD on or about April 30, 1998 and July 22, 1998. No Debtors are named as defendants in the lawsuit.

On or about April 27, 2001, a complaint was filed on behalf of purchasers of the $300 million aggregate principal amount of $550 Million Term Notes (First Series) issued by OCD due May 1, 2005 (consisting of 7.5% Term Notes) and the $250 million aggregate principal amount of $550 Million Term Notes (Second Series) issued by OCD due May 1, 2008 (consisting of 7.7% Term Notes) in offerings occurring on or about April 30, 1998. On or about July 5, 2001, an amended complaint was filed that added reference to the $400 million aggregate principal amount of $400 Million Debentures issued by OCD due August 1, 2018 (consisting of 7.5% Debentures), in an offering occurring on or about July 23, 1998.

By the amended complaint, the plaintiffs allege, among other things, that the defendants violated the Securities Act of 1933 in that the SEC Form S-3 registration statements, including the prospectus and prospectus supplements, pursuant to which the debt offerings were made, contained untrue and misleading statements of material fact and omitted to provide certain required material facts. In particular, the amended complaint alleges that the registration statements for the debt securities contained the following untrue and misleading statements of fact and omissions of material facts: (a) the representation that the debt securities would "rank equally with all other unsecured and unsubordinated indebtedness of the Company," (b) misleading representations concerning OCD's other unsecured indebtedness, (c) the failure to disclose that certain of OCD's other unsecured and unsubordinated indebtedness was guaranteed by one or more of OCD's Subsidiaries, (d) the failure to disclose that OCD had a substantial debt to one of its Subsidiaries, (e) the failure to disclose the existence of and the terms of certain promissory notes issued by OCD to one of its Subsidiaries, and (f) the failure to disclose the existence of and terms of an intellectual property licensing arrangement between OCD and one of its Subsidiaries. The amended complaint sought, among other things, an unspecified amount of damages or, where appropriate, rescission of the plaintiffs' purchases of the securities.

On November 14, 2001, and November 20, 2001, respectively, the underwriter defendants and the individual defendants filed motions to dismiss the amended complaint for failure to state a claim upon which relief can be granted. The individual defendants argued that the plaintiffs' action should be dismissed because the information that plaintiffs claim was omitted either was disclosed in OCD's filings with the SEC and incorporated by reference into the registration statements, or was not required to be disclosed under applicable SEC regulations. The individual defendants further argued that the plaintiffs' action was barred by the applicable statute of limitations because it was brought more than one year after the allegedly concealed facts were disclosed in public filings.

On January 28, 2002, the plaintiffs filed a combined opposition to the underwriter and individual defendants' motions to dismiss. On March 29, 2002, both the individual defendants and the underwriter defendants filed reply memoranda in further support of their respective motions. A hearing was held on the motions to dismiss on April 11, 2002.

On August 26, 2002, the United States District Court for the District of Massachusetts issued a memorandum of decision, wherein it determined that dismissal of the amended complaint is inappropriate because "several questions of fact remain," including: (i) "whether defendants' statement that the securities would 'rank equally with other unsecured and unsubordinated obligations of the Company,' was false or misleading when read in context with the rest of the information provided in the registration statement;" (ii) "whether the defendants' disclosures about intercompany licensing agreements and guarantees on other debt by OCD's subsidiaries were false or misleading with respect to the subordination rights of securities purchasers;" and (iii) "whether the registration statements provided plaintiffs with sufficient information to fully understand their rights relevant to other unsecured creditors." The Court further concluded that, contrary to the defendants' argument, the plaintiffs' claims were not time-barred. The Court, therefore, denied the defendants' motions to dismiss the amended complaint.

On March 9, 2004, the Court granted class certification as to those claims relating to written representations, but denied certification as to claims relating to alleged oral representations. Mediation was conducted on November 2, 2005, at which mediation the plaintiffs and the underwriter defendants agreed to settlement terms. A status conference on this matter was held on November 8, 2005. A trial is scheduled to commence in September, 2006, as to the director and officer defendants. Owens Corning believes that the claim is without merit.

The named defendants in this proceeding have each filed contingent indemnification claims with respect to this litigation against OC pursuant to the General Bar Date process.

Executive Risk Indemnity Inc. ("Executive Risk") issued to OCD Directors and Officers Liability Insurance Policy No. 8165-4021 for the policy period March 29, 2001 to March 29, 2002 (the "Policy"). Executive Risk received notice under the Policy relating to the Hancock Litigation and has indicated a willingness to pay on a current basis certain defense expenses, as that term is used in the Policy, incurred on or after March 29, 2002 under the Policy, subject to mutual reservations of rights, in connection with the Hancock Litigation to or on behalf of the insureds. A proposed Stipulation and Order Among Debtors, Executive Risk Indemnity Inc., Norman P. Blake, Jr., Gaston Caperton, Domenic Cecere, Leonard S. Coleman, Jr., William W. Colville, John H. Dasburg, Landon Hilliard, Glen H. Hiner, Sir Trevor Holdsworth, Jon M. Huntsman, Jr., Ann Iverson, W. Walker Lewis, Michael I. Miller, Furman C. Moseley, Jr., W. Ann Reynolds, and Steven J. Strobel was filed with the Bankruptcy Court providing inter alia that, notwithstanding the automatic stay of 11 U.S.C. § 362, Executive Risk shall be and hereby is authorized to make payments under the Policy to or for the benefit of the Insureds for Defense Expenses incurred in connection with the Hancock Litigation. The Bankruptcy Court approved the stipulation on March 25, 2003.

(b) Deloitte Litigation

On August 10, 2001, Deloitte Consulting, L.P. ("Deloitte") filed an Administrative Claim (the "Deloitte Administrative Claim") in the Chapter 11 Cases seeking not less than $2 million, on the theory that after the Petition Date, the Debtors had converted Deloitte's contributions to Debtors' HOMExperts home repair and inspection business. On February 5, 2002, Deloitte filed its adversary complaint against the Debtors, asserting copyright infringement, conversion, and post-petition use and benefit, seeking not less than $2 million in damages and/or administrative expenses (the "Deloitte Adversary Action"). The Debtors vigorously contested the Deloitte Administrative Claim and the Deloitte Adversary Action and moved to dismiss the Deloitte Administrative Claim.

The Debtors and Deloitte exchanged discovery requests, documents and written responses, and commenced depositions. After considerable negotiations, the Debtors and Deloitte reached a settlement resolving, without further litigation, all of Deloitte's claims related to HOMExperts, the Deloitte Administrative Claim, and the Deloitte Adversary Action. Pursuant to the terms of the settlement, Deloitte was allowed an administrative expense claim of $350,000 to be paid within 30 days after entry of the order approving the settlement; Deloitte was allowed an unsecured pre-petition claim against OCD in the net amount of $400,000 by reason of the matters asserted in the Deloitte Administrative Claim and the Deloitte Adversary Action against OCD, Integrex and HOMExperts LLC, which shall be treated in the Chapter 11 Cases and pursuant to applicable provisions of the Bankruptcy Code as an Allowed General Unsecured Claim; the Deloitte Adversary Action was automatically dismissed upon entry of the order approving the settlement; and Deloitte released the Debtors for all claims resolved under the settlement.

(c) Tobacco Litigation

OC has spent significant monies to resolve claims of asbestos claimants whose injuries were caused or exacerbated by cigarette smoking. OCD and Fibreboard were pursuing litigation against tobacco companies (discussed below) for restitution/unjust enrichment, fraud, and violations of state antitrust law to obtain payment of monetary damages (including punitive damages) for payments made by OCD and Fibreboard to asbestos claimants who developed smoking-related diseases.

In October 1998, the Circuit Court for Jefferson County, Mississippi granted leave to file an amended complaint in an existing action to add claims by OCD against seven tobacco companies and several other tobacco industry defendants. The action brought by OCD in the Circuit Court of Jefferson County, Mississippi is styled Ezell Thomas, et al. v. R.J. Reynolds Tobacco Company, et al. and Owens Corning v. R.J. Reynolds Tobacco Company, Docket No. 96-0065. On June 17, 2001, the Jefferson County court entered an Order dismissing OCD's case in response to the defendants' motion for summary judgment on the basis that OCD's injuries were indirect and thus too remote under Mississippi law to allow recovery. OCD appealed the dismissal to the Supreme Court of Mississippi. The Supreme Court of Mississippi issued an opinion upholding the dismissal on March 18, 2004.

In addition to the Mississippi lawsuit, in December 1997, OCD and Fibreboard brought a lawsuit in the Superior Court of California, County of Alameda, against the same tobacco companies. That lawsuit, which is currently pending, is styled Fibreboard Corp., et al. v. R.J. Reynolds Tobacco Company, et al., Case No. 791919-8 (the "California Litigation"). In August 2001, the defendants filed motions to dismiss OCD's and Fibreboard's claims on the basis of the decision in the Mississippi lawsuit as well as California law. After a hearing on these motions on November 20, 2001, the California court denied the motion to dismiss Fibreboard's claims on the basis of the decision in the Mississippi lawsuit and otherwise stayed the proceeding pending the outcome of the Mississippi suit.

Following the dismissal of the Mississippi lawsuit, on May 10, 2006, the Debtors filed a motion to approve, pursuant to Fed. R. Bankr. P. 9019, an agreement between the Debtors and the defendants in the California Litigation to dismiss the California Litigation and certain claims (as described in the motion) on the terms set forth in an Agreement to Dismiss Suit and Related Claims dated as of May 10, 2006. On June 16, 2006, the Court entered an order approving the settlement with the tobacco defendants to dismiss the California Litigation and related claims.

(d) Greenburg Class Action Securities Litigation

On or about January 27, 2003, certain of the Company's current and former directors and officers were named as defendants in a lawsuit captioned Robert Greenburg, et al. v. Glen Hiner, et al. in the United States District Court for the Northern District of Ohio, Western Division. Subsequent to January 27, 2003, three substantially similar actions, with named plaintiffs Nicholas Radosevich, Howard E. Leppla, and William Benanchietti, respectively, were filed against the same defendants in the same court. On July 30, 2003, the Court consolidated the four cases under the caption Robert Greenburg, et al. v. Glen Hiner, et al., and appointed as lead plaintiffs JKF Investment Co., Icarus Trading, Inc. and HGK Asset Management. An amended complaint was filed by the plaintiffs on or about September 8, 2003. Owens Corning was not named in the lawsuit. The suit purported to be a class action for securities fraud under sections 10(b) and 20(a) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, on behalf of a class comprised of persons who purchased stock of Owens Corning during the period from September 20, 1999, through October 4, 2000. The complaint sought an unspecified amount of damages and/or, where appropriate, rescission. On March 3, 2005, the Court granted the defendants' motion to dismiss the action, on the grounds that the plaintiffs' claims are time-barred under the applicable statute of limitations. The plaintiffs filed a notice of appeal of the dismissal to the Sixth Circuit. On February 24, 2006, the Sixth Circuit affirmed the dismissal.

(e) New York Packaging Corp.'s Administrative Claim

New York Packaging Corporation ("NYPC"), a supplier of plastic sheets to certain of the Debtors' manufacturing facilities, filed a motion for allowance of administrative expense on January 22, 2002. NYPC claimed that the Debtors owed it approximately $1.4 million in connection with an unpaid invoice for the purchase order of plastic sheets placed by the Debtors in or around April 2001. The Debtors filed an objection to the motion on March 25, 2002, wherein they contended that the invoice was incorrect and that the Debtors owe NYPC only $7,154 on account of the order. The parties engaged in discovery and a trial was held before the Bankruptcy Court on January 21, 2003. The primary issues before the Court were (i) whether the purchase order contained an obvious mistake such that the contract should be rescinded or reformed under New York law; (ii) whether the purchase order should be interpreted consistently with the parties' prior course of dealing in accordance with the Uniform Commercial Code; and (iii) whether Section 503 of the Bankruptcy Code limits NYPC's claim to the actual value to the Debtors' Estates.

On April 9, 2003, the Court issued a Memorandum Opinion finding that the purchase order contained an error in the price based upon a mistake of material fact. The Court reformed the contract and modified the price to avoid an unconscionable result. Having found that the Debtors previously paid the sum due, the Court determined that nothing further was owed to NYPC.

(f) Foreland Refining Corporation

Prior to the Petition Date, on or about April 5, 1999, OC and Foreland Refining Corporation ("Foreland") entered into a Joint Asphalt Production and Marketing Agreement (the "Foreland Agreement"). The Foreland Agreement provided that Foreland would produce certain quantities of asphalt that would be purchased by OC and that Foreland would act as OC's non-exclusive sales agent for the sale of the asphalt in certain geographic areas, and that OC would market, promote and sell the asphalt in other areas. On the Petition Date, Foreland was in possession of certain asphalt produced by Foreland for OC pursuant to the Foreland Agreement, to which both OC and Foreland claimed title. On or about July 18, 2001, the Debtors and Foreland entered into a Stipulation and Consent Order whereby the parties agreed to the consensual rejection of the Foreland Agreement.

After the Foreland Agreement was rejected, Foreland continued to sell asphalt product to Debtors. On or about March 6, 2002, Foreland filed an amended application alleging an administrative expense claim for the post-petition delivery of asphalt product to $104,853.93. The Debtors objected to the application. Thereafter, the Debtors and Foreland resolved the dispute and entered into a stipulation whereby Foreland withdrew its applications with prejudice subject to the Debtors payment of $75,000 in full and complete satisfaction of any and all claims asserted by Foreland with respect to the post-petition delivery of asphalt product, but without prejudice to other claims.

OC scheduled a general unsecured (non-priority) claim in favor of Foreland in the amount of $394,107. On August 16, 2001, Foreland filed proof of claim No. 3064 in the amount of $20,365,882.65. Foreland also alleged that the exclusive marketing provisions were an enforceable claim notwithstanding the rejection and gave rise to an administrative claim in excess of $11 million. The Debtors maintained that pursuant to Sections 101(5) and 365(g) of the Bankruptcy Code, the rejection rendered all damages for breach of the Foreland Agreement as general unsecured claims. On September 10, 2003, the Debtors filed an objection to the filed claim together with a counterclaim. On September 3, 2004, the Court granted summary judgment in favor of the Debtors and against Foreland as to the "Production Short Fall" and "Violation of Exclusive Territories Provisions" claims asserted by Foreland. Foreland represented that it intended to pursue an appeal.

On December 31, 2004, the Debtors and Foreland entered a settlement and release as to all remaining issues related to Foreland's pre-petition claim, its filed proof of claim, its alleged administrative claims and Debtors' counterclaim. The settlement provided, inter alia, that the filed claim be reduced and allowed as an unsecured, non-priority claim in the amount of $300,000 against OC, which would supersede the scheduled claim, and the counterclaim be deemed withdrawn with prejudice. Additionally the Debtors issued a wire transfer to Foreland in the amount of $100,000. On January 19, 2005, the Debtors filed a motion under Bankruptcy Rule 9019 seeking approval of the settlement and, by Order dated February 24, 2005, the Bankruptcy Court granted the motion.

(g) The ServiceLane Litigation

Owens Corning owns 54% of the stock in SL.com, the parent company of ServiceLane.com, Inc. ("ServiceLane"), an internet-based home repair and remodeling business. SL.com commenced a Chapter 7 bankruptcy case in the United States Bankruptcy Court for the Northern District of Texas, Case No. 01-36045. The Chapter 7 case was closed in July, 2002.

In July, 2001, ServiceLane also commenced a chapter 7 bankruptcy case in the United States Bankruptcy Court for the Northern District of Texas, Dallas Division, Case No. 01-36044-HCA-7 (B.J.). The ServiceLane case remains open. In early 2003, the ServiceLane Trustee engaged the counsel representing two former employees of ServiceLane, Michael Burchfield ("Burchfield") and R.Q. Whitmire ("Whitmire") to pursue claims on behalf of the ServiceLane estate. On July 24, 2003, Burchfield and Whitmire, along with the ServiceLane Trustee, brought suit against Michael H. Thaman ("Thaman") and Charles W. Stein ("Stein"), OCD officers, who also were directors of ServiceLane, in the United States District Court for the Northern District of Ohio, Western Division. In the complaint, entitled ServiceLane.com, Inc., et al. v. Stein, et al., Case No. 3:03CV7448 (Carr, J.), ServiceLane alleged a breach of fiduciary duty against both Thaman and Stein and Burchfield and Whitmire alleged fraud solely against Stein. Thaman and Stein were represented by their own counsel in this action. This lawsuit has been dismissed.

Prior to this lawsuit, Burchfield and Whitmire each filed a proof of claim against OCD in the Chapter 11 Cases, alleging fraud and misrepresentation, similar to the claim alleged against Thaman and Stein. On September 10, 2003, the Debtors filed the Debtors' Fourteenth Omnibus (Substantive) Objection to Proofs of Claim filed by Michael Burchfield and R.Q. Whitmire and Counterclaim, objecting to the Burchfield and Whitmire proofs of claim and asserting a counterclaim seeking declaratory relief that neither OCD, nor Thaman and Stein, harmed Burchfield and Whitmire. The objection and counterclaim was assigned Adv. No. 03- 55737. On October 10, 2003, Burchfield and Whitmire moved to dismiss Owens Corning's counterclaim, and the Company filed an opposition to that motion. That motion is pending.

On October 1, 2003, Thaman and Stein filed an adversary action against Burchfield and Whitmire in the Bankruptcy Court, Adv. No. 03-56302, seeking a declaratory judgment that neither Thaman nor Stein engaged in any wrongdoing with respect to Burchfield and Whitmire. Burchfield and Whitmire, individually and on behalf of the ServiceLane estate, counterclaimed, alleging fraud and misrepresentation. Thaman and Stein moved to dismiss this counterclaim. On December 21, 2005, the Bankruptcy Court issued a Memorandum Opinion and entered an Order dismissing all claims derivative of or on behalf of the ServiceLane estate with prejudice. With respect to the allegations of liability to Burchfield and Whitmire individually for the alleged fraud by Stein, the Bankruptcy Court found that the complaint "barely" met the pleading requirements of Rule 9(b) of Fed R. Civ. P. and denied the motion to dismiss on the claim without prejudice as to dispositive motions after discovery.

In October, 2005 the ServiceLane Trustee moved to abandon ServiceLane's claims against Owens Corning, Thaman and Stein. Owens Corning objected and offered to acquire those claims in order to extinguish them. Burchfield and Whitmire asked the Texas Bankruptcy Court to assign the estate's claims to them. After a hearing in December, 2005, the Texas Bankruptcy Court authorized the requested abandonment.

Owens Corning believes the remaining claims asserted by Burchfield and Whitmire are without merit.

(h) The New York Action

On or about September 2, 2003, certain of the Company's current and former directors and officers were named as defendants in a lawsuit captioned Kensington International Limited, et al. v. Glen Hiner, et al. in the Supreme Court of the State of New York, County of New York, Index No. 602748/03 (the "New York Action"). OCD is not named in the lawsuit. The suit, which was brought by Kensington International Limited ("Kensington") and Springfield Associates, LLC ("Springfield"), two assignees of lenders under the 1997 Credit Agreement, alleges causes of action (1) against all defendants for breach of fiduciary duty, and (2) against certain defendants for fraud in connection with certain loans made under the 1997 Credit Agreement. The complaint seeks an unspecified amount of damages. On October 6, 2003, the Debtors filed in the United States Bankruptcy Court for the District of Delaware, Adv. No. A-03-56359 (JKF), a Complaint for Temporary Restraining Order, Preliminary Injunction and Enforcement of the Automatic Stay, requesting a preliminary injunction against further prosecution of the suit until after confirmation of a plan of reorganization for the Debtors. By Order of the Bankruptcy Court entered May 3, 2004, the New York Action was preliminarily enjoined, with limited exceptions, until the earlier of the entry of an order confirming a plan of reorganization for the Debtors or further order of the Court.

On January 11, 2005, the Bankruptcy Court entered a further Consent Order enjoining the New York Action until the entry of an Order confirming a plan of reorganization, subject to the following exceptions: (1) Kensington and Springfield were permitted to amend their Complaint to add and serve certain additional defendants; (2) any defendant could respond to the Complaint, including by way of motion to dismiss, to which Kensington and Springfield could respond; and (3) the Supreme Court of the State of New York could rule upon any outstanding motion to dismiss. Following such a ruling the parties are to report the outcome to the Bankruptcy Court.

No new defendants were added to the New York Action. On February 7, 2005, all defendants filed a joint motion to dismiss, to which Kensington and Springfield responded. A hearing on the motion to dismiss was held on May 2, 2005. No decision has been issued.

OCD believes that the claim is without merit.

(i) Proposed Class Action Relating to MiraVista® Roofing Products

From 1996-2002, OCD manufactured and distributed specialty roofing products under the name MiraVista®. In response to the April 15, 2002 bar date, 12 proofs of claim were filed alleging product defects and resulting damages. Three of those 12 proofs of claim were brought by individuals acting for themselves and as representatives of a purported class of all purchasers of MiraVista® roofing products. The aggregate amount of their claims was $275 million although the claimants have stated in pleadings filed with the Bankruptcy Court that their claims total approximately $80 million. Claimants thereafter filed a motion for certification of a class of all pre-petition purchasers on April 2, 2004. In July of 2004, plaintiffs, in an already pending class action in California state court, amended their complaint to include claims against OCD arising from the purchase of MiraVista® products after the Petition Date. The complaint against OCD was removed from California state court to federal bankruptcy court in California. The matter was then transferred to the Bankruptcy Court. Both actions allege that MiraVista® products had an undue tendency to lift, warp and curl, break off and slide out of place, crack, leak, and/or discolor, resulting in inter alia weather damage to roofing paper, fasteners, flashing, underlayment, and wood substrate.

OCD believes that it has substantial defenses as to both the merits of the plaintiffs' claims and the propriety of class certification. Nonetheless, because class action litigation is costly and the results are difficult to predict, OCD has agreed, in principle, to enter into a settlement. The parties are in the process of drafting the settlement agreement, including the proposed plan of distribution and eligibility criteria for compensable claims. When the settlement documents are finalized (the "MiraVista Class Action Settlement Agreement"), they will be presented to the Bankruptcy Court and/or District Court for approval under Bankruptcy Rule 9019 and Rule 23 of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure as made applicable by Bankruptcy Rule 7023. As part of the notice process, class members will be permitted to opt out of the class settlement and pursue their claims individually. If the settlement class and notice procedures are approved, a fairness hearing will likely be conducted in the Fall of 2006. In its current form, the settlement will require OCD to pay $11 million in exchange for a release of all claims and potential claims by members of the proposed settlement class ("Settlement Class Members"). Under the MiraVista Class Action Settlement Agreement, OCD will have the right to withdraw from the settlement after the notice to the class upon the occurrence of certain conditions specified therein.

The Settlement Class Members are alleged to consist of persons whose claims arose both prepetition and postpetition, but the MiraVista Class Action Settlement Agreement would provide the same treatment for all Settlement Class Members. If the MiraVista Class Action Settlement Agreement is approved, some Settlement Class Members might receive treatment different than that which they would otherwise receive under the Plan. If (1) the MiraVista Class Action Settlement Agreement is approved under Bankruptcy Rule 9019, (2) the settlement is approved at the fairness hearing, and (3) OCD does not withdraw from the settlement, all class members who do not opt out of the class will be treated as provided in the MiraVista Class Action Settlement Agreement in the form approved at the fairness hearing. If the MiraVista Class Action Settlement Agreement is not approved or OCD withdraws from the settlement, Settlement Class Members will receive the treatment provided under the Plan, which includes OCD's right to object to the Allowance of Claims.

If the settlement agreement currently is not consummated, OCD reserves the right to enter into a further settlement agreement, subject to the approval of the Bankruptcy Court, before or after the Confirmation Date or the Effective Date. Such an agreement is a MiraVista Class Action Settlement Agreement under the Plan and will be treated under the Plan exactly as would the settlement agreement currently under discussion.

The distributions under the MiraVista Class Action Settlement Agreement are presently designed to occur independently of the distributions under the Plan. Provided the MiraVista Class Action Settlement Agreement receives the required court approvals and becomes effective, notwithstanding any provision to the contrary in the Plan or Confirmation Order, the provisions of the MiraVista Class Action Settlement Agreement shall govern matters covered by the settlement.

THE CHAPTER 11 CASES ARE ONGOING AND PARTIES WHO DESIRE CURRENT INFORMATION ON EVENTS WHICH MAY AFFECT THESE CASES SHOULD REGULARLY REVIEW THE DOCKETS AND PLEADINGS, WHICH ARE AVAILABLE FROM THE BANKRUPTCY COURT AND THE DISTRICT COURT, CONSULT WITH THEIR COUNSEL AND/OR ATTEND OR PARTICIPATE IN HEARINGS SCHEDULED IN THE CHAPTER 11 CASES, EITHER IN PERSON OR TELEPHONICALLY.

G. Avoidance Actions In the Chapter 11 Cases

1. General Background

The Bankruptcy Code creates certain "avoidance actions" which a debtor-in-possession or a trustee may pursue on behalf of the bankruptcy estate to recover funds transferred prior to and, in certain circumstances, after the filing of a debtor's bankruptcy petition. Included among such avoidance actions are "preferences" and "fraudulent conveyances."

Preferences. Pursuant to the Bankruptcy Code, a debtor may recover (or "avoid") as "preferential" payments of funds and other transfers of property that were (a) made to or for the benefit of a creditor, (b) made while the debtor was insolvent, (c) made on account of pre-existing debts and (d) made during the ninety (90) days immediately prior to the debtor's bankruptcy filing, but only to the extent such payment or transfer permitted the recipient to receive more than it would have received if (i) the transfer had not been made, (ii) the debtor had been liquidated under Chapter 7 of the Bankruptcy Code and (iii) the transferee was paid in accordance with applicable bankruptcy law. The ninety (90) day recovery period is extended to one year if the recipient of the preferential transfer is an "insider" of the debtor.

There are various defenses to preference actions. For example, transfers made in the ordinary course of the debtor's and the transferee's businesses, and made in accordance with ordinary business terms, may not be avoidable. Similarly, a transferee that extended credit subsequent to its receipt of an otherwise preferential transfer (and prior to the commencement of the debtor's bankruptcy case) for which the transferee was not repaid, is entitled to an offset/credit against an otherwise avoidable preference for the amount of such new value provided.

Fraudulent Conveyances. Under Sections 548 and 544 of the Bankruptcy Code and under various state laws, a debtor may recover, on a "fraudulent conveyance" theory, transfers of property made while the debtor was insolvent or which rendered the debtor insolvent if and to the extent the debtor received less than reasonably equivalent value for such transfer. A debtor also may be able to recover, as a fraudulent conveyance, transfers made with the actual intent to hinder, delay or defraud creditors.

2. Description of Avoidance Actions During Chapter 11 Cases

In accordance with their duties as debtors-in-possession, the Debtors undertook a review to determine the extent to which avoidance actions existed on behalf of their estates. The Debtors shared the results of their review with the Committees and the Future Claimants' Representative and discussed with them what avoidance actions should be commenced. The Debtors, the Committees and the Future Claimants' Representative generally agreed that the Debtors would (a) pursue actions against non-key vendors that received potential preferential transfers in the aggregate amount of $200,000 or more, to the extent tolling agreements could not be obtained, (b) obtain tolling agreements with each of their outside professionals that received potentially preferential payments exceeding $200,000, and (c) obtain tolling agreements from each of their present and former officers who received more than $200,000 of so-called "CIP" and/or "OSIP" incentive payments in September 2000. With the exception of three non-key vendors, the Debtors obtained each of the referenced tolling agreements. The Debtors commenced preference actions against the three vendors that did not execute tolling agreements, as described below.

An intercompany tolling agreement was also executed between and among each of the Debtors and their Non-Debtor Subsidiaries. Such tolling agreement expires thirty (30) days after the effective date of a plan of reorganization.

Because not all parties agreed as to which actions should be brought or which party should bring certain avoidance actions, the Unsecured Creditors' Committee, the Future Claimants' Representative and the Official Representatives filed motions to prosecute certain avoidance actions on behalf of the Debtors' estates.

(a) The Future Claimants' Representative's Motion

On September 6, 2002, the Future Claimants' Representative filed a motion (the "Future Claimants' Motion") for an order authorizing the Future Claimants' Representative (either alone or in combination with the other creditor constituencies) to commence certain avoidance actions on behalf of the Debtors' Estates under Sections 544, 545, 547, 548 and/or 553 of the Bankruptcy Code. The Future Claimants' Representative sought to bring avoidance actions against, among other parties, certain (i) trade vendors and outside professionals retained by the Debtors, and (ii) law firms holding NSP-related funds pursuant to the NSP Agreements. The Asbestos Claimants Committee joined in the Future Claimants' Motion.

(b) The Unsecured Creditors' Committee Motion

On September 10, 2002, the Unsecured Creditors' Committee filed a motion (the "Unsecured Committee Motion") for an order authorizing it to commence the following avoidance actions on behalf of the Debtors' Estates:

(i) an action under Sections 547 and 550 of the Bankruptcy Code seeking the return of approximately $115 million in preferential transfers made to NSP claimants and their law firms during the 90 days prior to the Petition Date;

(ii) an action under Sections 547 and 550 of the Bankruptcy Code seeking the return of approximately $290 million in preferential transfers made to NSP executive committee members and the NSP claimants represented by those members between approximately March 2000 and the Petition Date;

(iii) an action under Sections 547 and 550 of the Bankruptcy Code seeking the return of payments made to the Debtors' officers and directors within one year prior to the Petition Date (which included mid-year bonuses based on performance during the first six months of 2000);

(iv) an action under Sections 548, 544 and 550 of the Bankruptcy Code seeking the return of approximately $700 million in cash transferred by OCD and/or Fibreboard into the accounts of certain law firms participating in the NSP; and

(v) an action under Sections 548, 544 and 550 of the Bankruptcy Code seeking to avoid obligations incurred, and the return of funds transferred, by OCD pursuant to some or all NSP Agreements which OCD entered into after January 1, 2000 and agreements entered into earlier but allegedly converted or accelerated as a result of OCD's financial difficulties.

On September 17, 2002, the Unsecured Creditors' Committee filed a joinder and response to the Future Claimants' Motion, seeking authority to prosecute the claims identified in the Future Claimants' Motion, either with the Future Claimants' Representative, or independently, if the Future Claimants' Representative did not prosecute the claims.

The Debtors filed a response to the Unsecured Committee Motion, in which the Debtors asked the Bankruptcy Court to deny the motion on several grounds. Among other things, the Debtors stated that they were actively pursuing tolling agreements with the NSP firms specified in the Unsecured Committee Motion and, if the Debtors were able to obtain tolling agreements, the Unsecured Committee Motion would be largely mooted. Further, the Debtors requested that the Unsecured Committee Motion be denied on substantive grounds because the Unsecured Creditors' Committee had not met its burden of establishing that the claims it sought to assert were colorable.

Waters & Kraus LLP ("W&K") also filed a response in opposition to the Unsecured Committee Motion.

W&K has contested the claims on the grounds that the administrative deposit held by W&K came exclusively from the Fibreboard Insurance Settlement Trust under the NSP and that the Fibreboard Insurance Settlement Trust is an independent legal entity, separate from the Debtors. Therefore, W&K asserts that the property of the Fibreboard Insurance Settlement Trust was not property of Fibreboard on the Petition Date. Accordingly, W&K believes that the Debtors lack standing to pursue recovery of the administrative deposit held by W&K. As noted above, W&K made post-petition distributions from Administrative Deposits that it held in the amount of approximately $11.6 million without obtaining authorization from the Bankruptcy Court. W&K executed a tolling agreement and no action has been filed against W&K as of the date of this Disclosure Statement.

Under the Plan, all Avoidance Actions are tolled and stayed pending Plan confirmation, and shall be dismissed with prejudice on the Effective Date under the Plan unless otherwise provided for in Schedule XIV of the Plan with the agreement of the Debtors, the Asbestos Claimants' Committee and Future Claimants' Representative.

(c) The Official Representatives' Motion

On September 11, 2002, the Official Representatives filed a motion for an order authorizing them to commence the following avoidance actions on behalf of the Debtors' Estates in addition to the actions sought to be asserted by the Unsecured Committee's Motion (the "Official Representatives' Motion"):

(i) a fraudulent conveyance action pursuant to Section 544 of the Bankruptcy Code to avoid and set aside OCD's acquisition of Fibreboard's capital stock and related transactions. The Official Representatives sought recovery of the property transferred or the value of such property for the benefit of the Debtors' estates and for creditors, as well as other relief, including realignment of the allocation of the purported asbestos liabilities of the Debtors as between Fibreboard and its pre-acquisition affiliates, on the one hand, and the rest of the Debtors, on the other;

(ii) a fraudulent conveyance action pursuant to Section 544 of the Bankruptcy Code to avoid and set aside the claims of the Bank Holders against the Debtors and their Non-Debtor Subsidiaries under Subsidiary Guarantees supporting the Pre-petition loans made by the Bank Holders to certain of the Debtors or, alternatively, to equitably subordinate such claims; and

(iii) a fraudulent conveyance action pursuant to Sections 544 and 548 of the Bankruptcy Code to avoid dividends paid to the Debtors' shareholders between 1996 and 2000, and to recover such dividends for the Debtors' Estates.

(d) Subsequent Developments Relating to Motions Concerning Avoidance Actions

On September 20, 2002, several days before the hearing on the above-described motions and the expiration of the statute of limitations, the Third Circuit (in Official Comm. v. Chinery (In re Cybergenics Corp.), 304 F.3d 316 (3d Cir. 2002) reh'g en banc granted, op. vacated, 310 F.3d 785 (3d Cir. 2002), rev'd en banc, 330 F.3d 548 (3d Cir. 2003) determined that official creditors' committees in Chapter 11 cases cannot properly bring avoidance actions on behalf of a debtor and that such actions can only be prosecuted by a debtor-in-possession or trustee (the initial opinion, which was vacated and ultimately reversed, the "Cybergenics I Decision").

At a hearing held on September 24, 2002, the Bankruptcy Court, in accordance with the Cybergenics I Decision, denied the motions of the Future Claimants' Representative, the Unsecured Creditors' Committee and the Official Representatives to assert avoidance actions on behalf of the Debtors' Estates. By Order dated September 25, 2002, the Bankruptcy Court ordered that the Debtors file by September 27, 2002 a statement as to which Avoidance Actions they would not commence. It was further ordered that the Unsecured Creditors' Committee and any other interested party inform the Bankruptcy Court on October 1, 2002, based on the Debtors' September 27th statement: (i) whether it believed that the Debtors were unreasonably refusing to pursue any cause of action; and (ii) whether, as a result, such party sought the appointment of a trustee with special powers to bring any such avoidance action on behalf of the Estates.

The Court's September 25, 2002 Order also provided that, in the event any party believed the Debtors were unreasonably refusing to commence any Avoidance Action, a hearing would be held on October 3, 2002, to consider whether a "special trustee" should be appointed to commence such action on behalf of the Estates. The Bankruptcy Court noted that it would not permit actions to be filed to recover settlement payments made to individual asbestos claimants on any legal theory. The Bankruptcy Court also required the Debtors to obtain any tolling agreements by noon on October 3, 2002.

In accordance with the Bankruptcy Court's September 25, 2002 Order, the Debtors sent a letter to the Bankruptcy Court on September 27, 2002, which set forth their view that the alleged Avoidance Actions identified by the Unsecured Creditors' Committee should not be brought. Such letter concluded that, if the Bankruptcy Court were to find that the Unsecured Creditors' Committee's proposed Avoidance Actions stated a colorable claim as to particular NSP payments, the Debtors would file actions against named NSP firms that did not sign a tolling agreement.

By Order dated October 2, 2002, the Bankruptcy Court (i) directed the Debtors to obtain valid and enforceable tolling agreements from certain specified law firms, (ii) directed the Debtors to commence an avoidance action against any NSP law firm that had not executed a tolling agreement, (iii) directed the Debtors to commence appropriate actions against any asbestos plaintiff as to whom an NSP law firm failed to produce, prior to the payments, sufficient evidence that the plaintiff had satisfied the conditions precedent to the payment, unless a tolling agreement had been obtained, and (iv) canceled the hearing scheduled for October 3, 2002.

On November 18, 2002, the Third Circuit vacated the September 20, 2002 opinion and judgment in Cybergenics and granted rehearing en banc. On May 29, 2003, the Third Circuit, en banc, held that "bankruptcy courts can authorize creditors' committees to sue derivatively to avoid fraudulent transfers for the benefit of the estate."

3. Commencement of Avoidance Actions

(a) Dividend Action

On October 2, 2002, the Debtors filed a class action complaint with the Bankruptcy Court pursuant to Sections 105, 544, 548 and 550 of the Bankruptcy Code, Sections 2201(a) and 2202 of Title 28 of the United States Code and Bankruptcy Rules 7001 and 7023, against certain shareholders of OCD common stock who had each received at least $100,000 in total dividends from June 1996 through the Petition Date, seeking the return of up to approximately $62 million (the "Dividend Action"). The Debtors' complaint sought (i) a determination that the dividend payments constituted fraudulent transfers pursuant to bankruptcy and state law and were therefore voidable and (ii) the recovery of such transfers, or the value thereof, together with interest.

(b) Bank of America Action

On October 2, 2002, the Debtors filed a complaint against Bank of America Corp. with the Bankruptcy Court pursuant to Sections 105, 544 and 550 of the Bankruptcy Code, Sections 2201(a) and 2202 of Title 28 of the United States Code and Federal Rule of Bankruptcy Procedure 7001 seeking (i) a determination that the repayment of approximately $133 million of debt of Fibreboard to Bank of America Corp. in connection with the acquisition of Fibreboard was a fraudulent transfer and was therefore voidable and (ii) recovery of such transfer or the value thereof, with interest (the "Bank of America Action").

(c) Guarantee/Bank Holders Action

On October 3, 2002, the Debtors and certain Non-Debtors filed a complaint against the Bank Holders with the Bankruptcy Court entitled Owens Corning, et al. v. Credit Suisse First Boston, et al., A-02-5829, (i) to avoid the fraudulent incurrence of the obligations under the Subsidiary Guarantees; (ii) in the alternative, for declaratory relief to limit and determine respective amounts of such obligations; (iii) to avoid and recover preferential transfers; and (iv) to determine the allowed amount of claims of the Pre-petition Agent and certain lenders party to the 1997 Credit Agreement. The plaintiffs argued that, given the opinion in Official Committee of Asbestos Personal Injury Claimants v. Sealed Air Corporation (In re: W.R. Grace & Co.), 281 B.R. 852 (D. Del. 2002) ("Grace" or "Sealed Air") and the latency periods inherent in the continuing development of asbestos-related personal injuries, the entities subject to such asbestos-related claims may have been insolvent far earlier than previously understood and earlier than the entities themselves reasonably believed. The plaintiffs accordingly asserted, among other things, that (i) the Subsidiary Guarantors were insolvent or became insolvent and/or had unreasonably small capital in relation to their business or the transaction at the time or as a result of the guaranteed obligations incurred within a year of the Petition Date; (ii) within a year before the Petition Date, each Subsidiary Guarantor incurred guaranteed obligations for which they received less than reasonably equivalent value; and (iii) the obligations at issue could be avoided under applicable state law, including the Uniform Fraudulent Conveyance Act and the Uniform Fraudulent Transfer Act. In addition, the Debtors sought avoidance and recovery of transfers of certain payments made by OC during the 90-day period prior to the Petition Date to the Pre-petition Agent as "preferences" under Sections 547 and 550 of the Bankruptcy Code.

(d) Fibreboard Shareholders Action

On October 3, 2002, OCD and Fibreboard filed a class action complaint with the Bankruptcy Court seeking a determination that the tender offer and payment by OCD of up to approximately $515 million to Fibreboard's shareholders, through its wholly-owned subsidiary Sierra Corporation, for the acquisition of Fibreboard were fraudulent transfers pursuant to Section 544 of the Bankruptcy Code and applicable state law and seeking recovery of payments to those shareholders who received $198,000 or more (the "Fibreboard Shareholders Action"). OCD and Fibreboard sought to recover these transfers or their value pursuant to Section 550 of the Bankruptcy Code. In applying the rationale set out in the Sealed Air decision discussed above, OCD and Fibreboard asserted that OCD and Sierra Corporation were insolvent at the time of, or were rendered insolvent by, and/or had unreasonably small assets or capital in relation to their business or the transaction at the time or as a result of the tender offer or payment for the acquisition of Fibreboard, and Fibreboard was also insolvent at that time. OCD and Fibreboard accordingly asserted that the tender offer and payments at issue were voidable as fraudulent transfers by OCD and should be avoided pursuant to Section 544 of the Bankruptcy Code and applicable law, including the Uniform Fraudulent Conveyance Act and the Uniform Fraudulent Transfer Act.

(e) NSP Actions, Tolling Agreements, and the Resolution Incorporated in the Plan

The Debtors executed tolling agreements with approximately 104 of the approximately 115 law firms that entered into NSP or non-NSP Agreements with the Debtors on behalf of claimants asserting asbestos-related personal injury or wrongful death claims.

With respect to those law firms that did not sign tolling agreements, on October 4, 2002, OCD, Fibreboard and Integrex filed 11 complaints with the Bankruptcy Court, pursuant to Sections 544, 548 and 550 of the Bankruptcy Code, Sections 2201(a) and 2202 of Title 28 of the United States Code and Federal Rule of Bankruptcy Procedure 7001 ("NSP Actions"). These complaints sought declaratory relief determining, among other things, whether (i) the NSP Agreement with each respective defendant was a valid agreement enforceable in accordance with its terms, subject to applicable bankruptcy law; or (ii) the NSP payments made to each respective defendant were avoidable or recoverable as fraudulent transfers under applicable state and federal fraudulent conveyance law.

These complaints were filed as declaratory judgment actions to preserve certain allegations asserted by the Unsecured Creditors' Committee, but that do not reflect the views of the Debtors. In light of the Cybergenics I Decision, the Unsecured Creditors' Committee was named as a defendant in each of these actions to make it a party to permit it to present its own position on the allegations. In the event that the Bankruptcy Court determines that the NSP payments made to each respective defendant are avoidable or recoverable as fraudulent transfers under applicable state and federal fraudulent conveyance law, one or more claims will exist against each defendant to avoid and recover some or all of the NSP-related payments at issue.

On or before September 29, 2003, similar lawsuits were brought against 5 additional law firms whose tolling agreements were about to expire. The Unsecured Creditors' Committee was named as a defendant in all such lawsuits, solely with respect to the declaratory relief sought. During the first quarter of 2004, the lawsuit against one of the law firms was dismissed with consent of the Unsecured Creditors Committee and Bankruptcy Court approval. The Debtors requested a stay of the litigation pending the determination of the disposition of such litigation under the plan of reorganization. Pursuant to Court Order, the litigation has been stayed until August 31, 2006. On October 3, 2005, the Debtors brought additional adversary actions against Gertler, Gertler, Vincent & Ploktin, LLP, et al. and Murray Law Firm, et al. These two defendants, which had signed previous tolling agreements, were located in Louisiana and could not be contacted to extend the tolling agreements because of Hurricane Katrina. The Debtors moved to stay the Gertler and Murray adversary actions, so that the stay of the adversary actions would be consistent with the stay currently in place as to the other adversary actions, i.e., until August 31, 2006.

[Recoveries, if any, of funds held by attorneys under the NSP paid from the Fibreboard Insurance Settlement Trust are included in the definition of FB Reversions under the Plan. As such, any such recoveries would be transferred to the FB Sub-Account of the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust under the Plan.

Recoveries net of expenses of recovery, if any, of funds held by attorneys under the NSP paid by OCD constitute OCD Reversions under the Plan. OCD Reversions that are Cash as of the Effective Date are included as Available Cash to be distributed to creditors of OCD on the Initial Distribution Date under the Plan. Similarly, any such funds which are determined to constitute OCD Reversions after the Effective Date shall be included as Excess Available Cash to be distributed to creditors of OCD on the Final Distribution Date under the Plan.]

(f) Third-Party Preference Actions

The Debtors identified (i) approximately 44 non-affiliated parties that received potential preferences under Section 547 of the Bankruptcy Code, exceeding a threshold amount of $200,000; (ii) 12 present and former officers that received certain incentive payments exceeding a threshold of $200,000 in the aggregate per officer, in September 2000; (iii) one director that received a pre-petition pension payment in September 2000; and (iv) a joint venture affiliate of OC that received approximately $3.8 million in the one-year period prior to the commencement of the Chapter 11 proceedings. The Debtors executed tolling agreements with approximately 54 of the parties mentioned above, including some present and former officers, the director and the affiliate of OC. The officers and directors who executed tolling agreements each received amounts in excess of $200,000 in supplemental compensation within 90 days of the Petition Date; the Unsecured Creditors' Committee has alleged that such payments are either preferences or fraudulent conveyances.

Between September 30, 2002 and October 2, 2002, the Debtors commenced actions against three vendors who had not executed tolling agreements, seeking the return of potential preferential funds received by those parties in an amount totaling approximately $1.2 million.

The Debtors do not currently believe that the likely realizable value of pursuit of any of these actions described in (a) through (f) above is sufficiently great to materially enhance the distributions to creditors or influence a decision to vote to accept or reject the Plan. Pursuant to the Plan, all Avoidance Actions and other rights of action that have been brought by or on behalf of the Debtors shall also be dismissed with prejudice on the Effective Date, other than such actions which are specifically preserved under the Plan, unless otherwise provided for with the agreement of the Debtors, the Asbestos Claimants' Committee and Future Claimants' Representative in Schedule XIV of the Plan, which may be filed up to ten (10) business days prior to the Objection Deadline. Material Rights of Action will be retained and vest in the Reorganized Debtors unless specifically released by inclusion in Schedule XIII of the Plan.

Unless listed on Schedule XIV of the Plan, which may be filed up to ten (10) business days prior to the Objection Deadline, the Plan would release all Avoidance Actions. The Plan Proponents have not made a final determination whether to pursue pending or tolled Avoidance Actions, [but presently do not intend to pursue any such actions.] The Plan Proponents retain the right to release any such actions if, consistent with the Debtors' business judgment, the pursuit of such actions does not provide a material enhancement of distributions to creditors commensurate with the time, expense and disruption in pursuing such actions or is not otherwise in the best interests of the Debtors' estates.

(g) Turnover Action

On October 2, 2002, the Debtors commenced an action against The Northern Trust Company, styled Owens Corning v. The Northern Trust Company, Adv. No. 02-5818, seeking the turnover of approximately $65,400 that the Debtors believed had been improperly retained by the bank in October 2000, or improperly charged against Owens Corning's account, due to certain banking errors. Further investigation revealed that the bank's actions were largely appropriate, and the parties entered into a stipulation, approved by Bankruptcy Court Order entered August 23, 2005, that (a) required The Northern Trust Company to pay OCD $2,993.04 plus certain interest and (b) permitted The Northern Trust Company to retain the balance of the funds at issue.

4. Events Subsequent to Filing of Avoidance Actions

On October 16, 2002, the Debtors filed in each of the Avoidance Actions discussed above a Motion for Order Staying Adversary Actions Pending Introduction and Confirmation of Plan of Reorganization (the "Stay Motion"). In the Stay Motion, the Debtors asserted that staying the Avoidance Actions would (a) permit the Debtors and creditor constituencies to focus attention and resources on creating a consensual plan of reorganization, (b) allow the creditor constituencies to participate in the decision regarding whether and to what extent these claims are litigated and (c) maximize the efficient use of judicial and Debtor resources. Certain parties filed objections to the Stay Motion, including, among others, the Official Representatives, and CSFB, as Agent for the Bank Holders.

On January 13, 2003, the Bankruptcy Court entered an Order that stayed the Avoidance Actions until January 27, 2003 (with the exception of service of process). By further Orders of the Bankruptcy Court, the stay was further extended. Currently, the Avoidance Actions are stayed until August 31, 2006. Under the Plan, consistent with the Settlement Term Sheet, all Avoidance Actions are tolled and stayed pending Plan confirmation, and will be dismissed with prejudice on the Effective Date under the Plan unless otherwise provided for with the agreement of the Debtors, the Asbestos Claimants' Committee and Future Claimants' Representative.

(a) The Guarantee/Bank Holders Action, the Amended Cybergenics Motion and the Subordination Action

On November 7, 2002, the Official Representatives filed a cross-motion to intervene in the Bank Holders Action, to which CSFB, as Agent, filed an objection.

Pursuant to Judge Wolin's Case Management Order, dated December 23, 2002, the reference to the Bankruptcy Court was withdrawn with respect to the Bank Holders Action. In accordance with the terms of the order, on December 31, 2002, the Official Representatives filed an amended motion to intervene and a proposed complaint, which was amended on January 10, 2003. The Debtors and certain non-Debtors filed a partial opposition to the amended motion to intervene. Also on December 31, 2002, the Future Claimants' Representative and the Asbestos Claimants' Committee filed motions to intervene. On January 10, 2003, CSFB, as Agent, filed a motion to dismiss the Bank Holders Action, an objection to the Official Representatives' amended motion to intervene and a memorandum of law. The Debtors filed a memorandum of law in opposition to CSFB's motion to dismiss on January 16, 2003.

At the request of the Debtors and in an effort to limit the number of issues to be presented at trial, on January 20, 2003, the Future Claimants' Representative filed a notice of withdrawal of certain counts of its complaint in intervention, but reserved the right to pursue such claims in the future. Although a hearing was scheduled to commence April 2003, it was postponed and no decisions have been issued on any of the pending motions.

On December 5, 2005, the Official Representatives made written demand on the Debtors to vigorously prosecute to conclusion the fraudulent transfer and preference claims asserted in the original Bank Holders Action as modified in a proposed amended complaint (the "Proposed Complaint"). On January 20, 2006, the Official Representatives filed the Motion of the Official Representatives of the Bondholders and Trade Creditors of the Debtors (i) to Amend Prior Motion to Seek (a) Authority to Prosecute Existing Claims and Commence Others on Behalf of the Debtors' Estates, and (b) Leave to File a Complaint in the Amended Form Annexed, and (ii) For an Order Pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 362(d) Modifying the Automatic Stay to the Extent Necessary to Permit the Prosecution of the Claims Asserted in the Proposed Complaint (the "Amended Cybergenics Motion"). The Amended Cybergenics Motion seeks, among other things, to amend the Bank Holders Action in the form of the Proposed Complaint and to permit the Official Representatives to prosecute such complaint on behalf of the estate. The Proposed Complaint would amend the Bank Holders Action to include the following: (1) claims to recover alleged fraudulent transfers to subsidiaries of Owens Corning dating back as far as 1991, and related equitable relief; (2) a request to impose a constructive trust for the benefit of Owens Corning's estate on the assets transferred by Owens Corning to its subsidiaries as a remedy to address the alleged fraudulent transfers; and (3) claims challenging the validity of the guarantees given by Owens Corning's subsidiaries under the 1997 Credit Agreement. As part of its proposed amendments to the Bank Holders Action regarding fraudulent transfers and constructive trust, the Official Representatives proposed to add four additional Owens Corning subsidiaries as defendants: OCFT, Integrex, Exterior and Fibreboard.

On February 3, 2006, the Debtors filed a Motion to Refer Bank Adversary Action to the Bankruptcy Court (the "Referral Motion"). This Referral Motion sought to refer the Bank Holders Action back to the Bankruptcy Court. In the Referral Motion, the Debtors assert that the Bankruptcy Court could administer the Bank Holders Action and the issues raised by the Official Representatives as part of the proceedings on confirmation of the Plan. The Official Representatives filed an opposition to this Referral Motion and assert that such issues are properly determined in the separate pending Bank Holders Action.

On March 21, 2006, the Debtors and CSFB each filed an opposition to the Amended Cybergenics Motion, requesting the District Court, or the Bankruptcy Court if the Bank Holders Action is referred back to the Bankruptcy Court, to deny the Official Representatives the right to prosecute the Bank Holders Action on behalf of the estate or to amend the complaint.

Additionally, on January 6, 2006, the Official Representatives filed the adversary proceeding captioned The Official Representatives of the Bondholders and Trade Creditors of Debtors Owens Corning, et al. v. Credit Suisse First Boston, individually and in its capacity as Agent, et al. and IPM, Inc. et al., Adv. Proc. No. 06-50122 (JKF) (the "Subordination Action") and filed a motion to withdraw the reference to the Bankruptcy Court of the Subordination Action. The Subordination Action contains factual allegations substantially similar to the Proposed Complaint. In the Subordination Action, the Official Representatives seek to equitably subordinate the Bank Holders' claims against Owens Corning to those of the bondholders and trade creditors, to equitably subordinate in favor of Owens Corning the claims of the Bank Holders against the non-debtor guarantors, and to pierce the corporate veils of Owens Corning's non-Debtor guarantor subsidiaries, IPM, OC Sweden and Vytec, to make the assets of those subsidiaries part of Owens Corning's bankruptcy estate. The theory behind the cause of action to equitably subordinate the claim of the Bank Holders to those of the bondholders and trade creditors is based on the alleged false representations made by certain of the lenders under the 1997 Credit Agreement in OCD's bond prospectuses that OCD's bond debt would rank equally and ratably with OCD's debt under the 1997 Credit Agreement. On March 22, 2006, CSFB filed a Motion to Dismiss the Subordination Action. On March 28, 2006, the Defendant Subsidiaries, joined by OCD, filed a Motion to Dismiss or, in the Alternative, to Stay the Complaint.

Previously, on February 3, 2006, the Debtors and CSFB had filed separate oppositions to the Official Representatives' motion seeking withdrawal of the reference. The parties have also asserted differing views on the extent to which the record developed in the substantive consolidation proceedings would need to be supplemented and the extent to which additional discovery would be required to adjudicate the Bank Holders Action and Subordination Action in the separate adversary proceedings. The District Court has not yet ruled on whether to retain the Bank Holders Action or refer it to the Bankruptcy Court and whether to withdraw the reference of the Subordination Action or permit it to be adjudicated by the Bankruptcy Court.

Pursuant to the Settlement Term Sheet, under the Plan, the Bank Holders Action and Subordination Action are stayed pending confirmation and shall be dismissed with prejudice on the Effective Date. This would result in dismissal of the Official Representatives' Motion, the Amended Cybergenics Motion and any other motions with respect to the prosecution of these actions. Under the Plan, all Avoidance Actions and other causes of action commenced against the Bank Holders shall be released, waived and dismissed with prejudice as of and subject to the occurrence of the Effective Date. Similarly, all Avoidance Actions and other causes of action relating to successor liability and piercing the corporate veil (other than the Integrex Asbestos Personal Injury Claims to the extent preserved under Sections 3.3(c)(ii)(B)(3), 3.3(d)(ii)(B)(3), 3.3(d)(ii)(C)(3), 3.3(e)(ii)(B)(3) and 3.3(c)(ii)(C)(3)) shall be released, waived and dismissed with prejudice as of, and subject to the occurrence of the Effective Date.

(b) The Unsecured Creditors' Committee Motion to Intervene

On August 5, 2003, the Unsecured Creditors' Committee filed a motion to intervene as of right as a party plaintiff and to file complaints in the Avoidance Actions involving payments to law firms under NSP Agreements. This Motion also sought to lift the stay applicable to those actions, as well as an order authorizing the Committee to commence actions against all of the law firms with which the Debtors have entered into tolling agreements. The Unsecured Creditors' Committee also requested a hearing on its motion on shortened notice. The Debtors objected to the Unsecured Creditors' Committee's motion to shorten notice on August 18, 2003 and responded to the Unsecured Creditors' Committee's motion to intervene on September 9, 2003.

On August 19, 2003, the Bankruptcy Court entered an Order denying the Unsecured Creditors' Committee's motion to shorten notice. A hearing was held on the motion to intervene on September 22, 2003, and on September 24, 2003, the Bankruptcy Court entered two Orders addressing the motion. The first Order directed all law firms that had entered into NSP Agreements or non-NSP agreements with the Debtors, and their professionals, to preserve all records related to such NSP Agreements or non-NSP agreements. The second Order authorized the Unsecured Creditors' Committee, upon filing appropriate motions in the Avoidance Actions involving payments to law firms under NSP Agreements, to intervene in such actions. However, the Order did not authorize the Unsecured Creditors' Committee to file amended or other complaints in such actions and did not modify the stay in effect with respect to such actions. The second Order also directed the Debtors, on or before September 29, 2003, to either (a) obtain and file new tolling agreements, to the extent necessary, from the appropriate law firms, or (b) commence suits against such law firms. To the extent the Debtors did not obtain tolling agreements or file suits, the Unsecured Creditors' Committee was authorized by such Order to commence suits against such firms.

By September 29, 2003, the Debtors entered into approximately 79 new tolling agreements. With respect to those law firms that did not sign new tolling agreements, OCD, Fibreboard and Integrex filed five complaints with the Bankruptcy Court in substantially the same form as the complaints filed on October 4, 2002. See Section V.G.3.e of this Disclosure Statement entitled "NSP Actions, Tolling Agreements, and the Resolution Incorporated in the Plan." The Unsecured Creditors' Committee was named as defendant in all such lawsuits, solely with respect to declaratory relief sought. During the first quarter of 2004, the lawsuit against one of the law firms was dismissed with the consent of the Official Committee of Unsecured Creditors and Bankruptcy Court approval. Debtors later requested a stay of the litigation pending its disposition in a plan of reorganization. Pursuant to Bankruptcy Court order, the litigation has been stayed until August 31, 2006.

Under the Plan, all Avoidance Actions are tolled and stayed pending Plan confirmation, and shall be dismissed with prejudice on the Effective Date under the Plan unless otherwise provided for in Schedule XIV of the Plan with the agreement of the Debtors, the Asbestos Claimants' Committee and Future Claimants' Representative.

(c) Settlement of Preference Action against A.C. Leadbetter & Son, Inc.

Between September 30, 2002 and October 2, 2002, the Debtors commenced actions against three vendors who had not executed tolling agreements, seeking the return of potentially preferential funds received by those parties in an amount totaling approximately $1.2 million. One of these actions has been settled. By Order entered October 30, 2003, the Bankruptcy Court approved a stipulation between OCD and A.C. Leadbetter & Son, Inc. in Owens Corning v. A.C. Leadbetter & Son, Inc., Adv. No. 02-5810, in which, among other things, (a) OCD agreed to release its preference action against A.C. Leadbetter & Son, Inc., in the amount of $466,749 net of certain "subsequent new value," and (b) A.C. Leadbetter & Son, Inc. agreed to amend to $0.00 two secured proof of claims against OCD, each in the amount of $657,575.22 plus interest, costs and other charges.

H. Bank Holders Unimpairment Motion

On March 1, 2006, CSFB filed a Motion of Credit Suisse, as Agent, for Order Pursuant to Section 1124 of the Bankruptcy Code to Determine that the Classes of Bank Holders Claims are Unimpaired Under the Plan (the "Unimpairment Motion"). The Unimpairment Motion sought a determination that the Bank Holders will be unimpaired if they receive the treatment provided in the Fifth Amended Plan (which treatment is identical to that in the Plan). On March 22, 2006, an opposition was filed by the Official Representatives. The Debtors filed a response in which they asserted that, although they agreed with the underlying premise of the Unimpairment Motion that the Bank Holders are unimpaired, under the Debtors' previously filed voting procedures motion, the Debtors proposed to solicit votes from the Bank Holders in order to save the Debtors' estates potentially significant administrative costs, expenses and delay associated with the an unimpairment determination. Prior to the scheduled hearing, an agreement was reached among the Debtors, the Bank Holders and certain other parties to resolve the Unimpairment Motion and consent to a determination that the Bank Holders' Claims shall be deemed to be unimpaired if they receive the treatment provided in the Unimpairment Motion which was to be incorporated into Section 3.3(b)(ii)(A) of the Fifth Amended Plan (an which treatment is now contained in Section 3.3(b)(ii)(A) of the Plan). On April 7, 2006, the Bankruptcy Court entered an Interim Order Pursuant to Section 1124 of the Bankruptcy Code Determining that Treatment of Bank Claims Pursuant to Section 3.3(b)(ii)(A) of the Proposed Plan Satisfies Bank Claims in Full and Renders Bank Claims Unimpaired Under the Proposed Plan, Thereby Satisfying in Full All Bank Claims in Respect of the Credit Agreement Against the Debtors and Non-Debtors. The Debtors mailed and published a Notice of the Interim Order. Following a hearing on May 10, 2006, the Bankruptcy Court overruled various responses to the Interim Order becoming final and entered the Final Bank Unimpairment Order. Pursuant to the terms of the Final Bank Unimpairment Order, Bank Holders are conclusively presumed to have accepted the Plan in accordance with section 1126(f) of the Bankruptcy Code and will not vote.

I. Agreement Among Major Constituencies and Settlement Term Sheet

As discussed above, on May 10, 2006, the Debtors (subject to approval by the Bankruptcy Court), the Asbestos Claimants' Committee, the Future Claimants' Representative, the Official Representatives, the Ad Hoc Equity Holders' Committee, and the Ad Hoc Bondholders' Committee executed the Settlement Term Sheet outlining the agreed upon key terms of a revised plan of reorganization, to be proposed by Owens Corning, including the summary of treatment to be provided to the various classes of creditors. These terms are now incorporated in the Plan and described in this Disclosure Statement. The Settlement Term Sheet assumes an enterprise value of Owens Corning of $5.858 billion, and fixes the Class A7 Aggregate Amount at $7 billion. The Settlement Term Sheet further provides that under the Plan, the existing equity of OCD will be extinguished and 131.4 million shares of New OCD Common Stock will be issued. In addition, under the Plan, consistent with the Settlement Term Sheet, on or before the Effective Date, a $2.187 billion Rights Offering and a $1.8 billion Exit Facility shall have each been executed and consummated. The Settlement Term Sheet provides that the Plan must be effective no later than October 30, 2006, or such later date as the Plan Proponents shall unanimously agree.

Additionally, on May 10, 2006, Owens Corning, the Asbestos Claimants' Committee, the Future Representative and the Supporting Holders entered into the Plan Support Agreement with respect to the summary terms set forth in the Settlement Term Sheet. The Plan Support Agreement provides that the Supporting Holders have agreed to accept the treatment provided for their claims in the Settlement Term Sheet and, subject to the terms of the Plan Support Agreement and the Bankruptcy Code, to support a plan of reorganization consistent with the terms of the Settlement Term Sheet. The Plan Support Agreement also provides that Owens Corning and the other Plan Proponents shall prepare all documents needed to effectuate a plan of reorganization consistent with the terms of the Settlement Term Sheet and the Plan Support Agreement. On May 23, 2006, the Debtors filed the PSA Motion with the Bankruptcy Court. The Bankruptcy Court heard arguments on the PSA Motion at a hearing on June 19, 2006, and, at hearing on June 23, 2006, approved the motion in a bench ruling. The Bankruptcy Court entered a final order approving the PSA Motion on June 29, 2006.

Consistent with the terms of the Settlement Term Sheet, on May 10, 2006, Owens Corning and J.P. Morgan executed the Equity Commitment Agreement, subject to Bankruptcy Court approval. The Equity Commitment Agreement contemplates the Rights Offering, whereby holders of eligible Class A5 Claims, Class A6-A Claims and Class A6-B Claims would be offered the opportunity to subscribe for up to their pro rata share of 72,900,000 shares of the New OCD Common Stock at a purchase price of $30.00 per share. The Equity Commitment Agreement provides for the Investor to purchase a number of shares of New OCD Common Stock equal to 72,900,000 minus the number of shares of New OCD Common Stock properly subscribed for pursuant to the Rights Offering on or before its expiration. The Equity Commitment Agreement provides for the Investor to receive a backstop fee of $100,000,000 (the "Backstop Fee") from Owens Corning following approval of the Equity Commitment Agreement by the Bankruptcy Court in consideration of, among other things, the backstop commitment of the Investor through the Termination Date (October 31, 2006, unless extended up to December 15, 2006) to purchase any and all shares not properly subscribed for under the Rights Offering prior to its expiration. If, prior to October 30, 2006, the Debtors' Plan Co-Proponents, the ACC and the FCR, request that the Debtors seek, or consent to, the extension of the term of the Equity Commitment Agreement, or the Plan Support Agreement, from October 30, 2006 to December 15, 2006 pursuant to the terms and conditions of such agreements, then the Debtors have agreed to do so in accordance with such agreements. The Equity Commitment Agreement may be terminated by J.P Morgan if, among other things, it has not been approved by the Bankruptcy Court by June 30, 2006. A copy of the Equity Commitment Agreement is attached as Exhibit O to the Plan.

On May 23, 2006, the Debtors filed a Motion for an Order Pursuant to Sections 105(a), 363(b), and 1125(e) of the Bankruptcy Code (A) for Authority to Enter Into Equity Commitment Agreement, Pay Associated Fee and Expenses, and Furnish Related Indemnities and (B) Approving Related Syndication Agreement (the "ECA Motion") with the Bankruptcy Court. After hearings on June 23 and 29, 2006, the Bankruptcy Court approved the ECA Motion in an Order Pursuant to Sections 105(a), 363(b), and 1125(e) of the Bankruptcy Code (A) Authorizing the Debtors to Enter into Equity Commitment Agreement, Pay Associated Fees and Expenses, and Furnish Related Indemnities and (B) Approving Related Syndication Agreement (the "ECA Approval Order"). Pursuant to the ECA Approval Order, before payment of the Backstop Fee, the Debtors shall have filed on or before July 7, 2006, copies of the Collars and Registration Rights Agreement (as defined in Section 5(n) of the Equity Commitment Agreement) approved by the ACC and FCR and signed by the Company and the parties thereto. The ECA Approval Order provides that [(i) in the event that all of such documents are filed, then the ECA Approval Order shall have full force and effect commencing on July 10, 2006, and the Debtors shall pay the Backstop Fee no later than July 10, 2006, and (ii) in the event that such documents are not filed, then the ECA Approval Order shall not be enforceable and, among other things, J.P. Morgan and the Company shall have the right (but not the obligation) to terminate the Equity Commitment Agreement.]

To facilitate the Rights Offering, on June 8, 2006, the Debtors filed a Motion for Order Approving the (A) Rights Offering Subscription Procedures; (B) Form of Certain

Subscription Documents; (C) Fixing of Rights Participation Amounts; and (D) Supplementation of the Plan Voting/Solicitation Procedures. Several objections have been filed to this motion. A hearing on the motion is scheduled for July 10, 2006.

The Plan provides, as contemplated by the Settlement Term Sheet, that prior to the occurrence of the Effective Date, the Debtors shall have entered into and shall have credit availability under the Exit Facility in an amount sufficient to meet the needs of the Reorganized Debtors, as determined by the Plan Proponents. The Settlement Term Sheet contemplated that the amount drawn under the exit facility as of the Effective Date would be $1.8 billion. In furtherance of the Debtors' efforts to secure appropriate exit financing at soon as practicable, on June 29, 2006, the Debtors filed a Motion For an Order Pursuant to Sections 105(a) and 363(b) of the Bankruptcy Code for Authority to (A) Enter Into the Senior Credit Facilities Commitment Letter, Fee Letters, and Engagement Letter, and (B) to Pay Associated Fees and Expenses, and (C) Furnish Related Indemnities (the "Exit Facility Motion") with the Bankruptcy Court. Pursuant to the underlying Senior Credit Facilities Commitment Letter (the "Commitment Letter"), Citigroup Global Markets Inc. ("Citigroup"), Bank of America, N.A. and Banc of America Securities LLC (collectively, "BofA", and collectively with Citigroup, the "Commitment Parties") have undertaken, subject to the approval of the Bankruptcy Court, definitive credit documentation and the other terms and conditions therein, provide the Debtors with post-emergence financing, consisting of a $1.4 billion term loan facility (the "Term Facility") and a $1.0 billion revolving credit facility (the "Revolving Facility", together with the Facility, the "Exit Facility"). Additionally, the Exit Facility Motion seeks authority to enter into an Engagement Letter (the "Engagement Letter"), that would provide the Debtors with the capability to undertake one or more securities offerings (collectively, the "Securities Offerings") within six months after the Debtors' exit from bankruptcy.

The Debtors contemplate that the Exit Facility shall close and initially fund on the Effective Date, and that the proceeds of the Exit Facility shall be used to fund, among other things, certain distributions provided under the Sixth Amended Plan, potentially including payment of the Contingent Note. Consistent with the economic assumptions set forth in Appendix I to the Disclosure Statement, it is also contemplated that, as of the Effective Date, the aggregate Exit Facility Amount, whether drawn from under the Term Facility or the Revolving Facility or otherwise, shall not exceed $1.8 billion.

Pursuant to the terms of the Commitment Letter, the Commitment Parties reserve the right to syndicate all or a portion of their commitments to one or more other financial institutions (the "Lenders"), which will become parties to the definitive exit facility credit documents (the "Operative Documents"). The Debtors are advised that Citigroup and Banc of America Securities LLC intend to commence such syndication efforts as soon as practicable following approval of the Disclosure Statement. In addition, pursuant to the terms of the Commitment Letter, Citigroup's and BofA's commitments under the Commitment Letter shall terminate on the earliest of: (A) July 31, 2006 (or such later date as may be agreed to in writing by the Commitment Parties), unless the Bankruptcy Court has entered an order approving the Commitment Letter and various Fee Letters ancillary thereto, (B) the date the Operative Documents become effective, or (C) 364 days after the date of the Commitment Letter, unless the transactions have been consummated, the Operative Documents entered into, and the initial fundings have occurred. The Commitment Letter also contemplates that an underwriting fee based on the aggregate amount of the Senior Credit Commitment shall be due and payable on the date the Operative Documents are executed and delivered, which the Debtors contemplate shall occur on or about the Effective Date. In addition, if the Debtors ultimately consummate the transactions contemplated in the Commitment Letter with a financial institution other than the Commitment Parties before the Commitment Letter is terminated, the Underwriting Fee, less the amount of any upfront underwriting fees paid to the Commitment Parties in connection with such other transactions, will immediately be due to the Commitment Parties when such transactions occur. As set forth in greater detail in the Exit Facility Motion, a copy of the Commitment Letter has been filed with the Bankruptcy Court under seal and may be made available upon request to any party in interest upon the submission of an appropriate confidentiality agreement.

In addition to the financing contemplated in the Commitment Letter, the Engagement Letter contemplates that Citigroup will serve as the lead underwriter of, or joint lead placement agent for, or joint lead initial purchaser of, and joint lead book runner for any securities offerings contemplated by the Debtors pursuant to the Sixth Amended Plan. The potential transactions would consist of one or more offerings of securities prior to, concurrently with, or within six months after the Debtors' exit from bankruptcy. The offerings would be intended to generate gross cash proceeds of at least $400,000,000, with proceeds in excess of that amount to be used to repay or reduce the Term Facility contemplated as part of the Exit Facility. If Securities Offerings are consummated before termination of the Engagement Letter, the Debtors will pay an offering fee calculated as a percentage of gross proceeds of the Offerings (the "Offering Fee"). The Offering Fee is payable upon closing of the Securities Offerings and upon closing a Securities Offering for which Citigroup did not act in the roles described in the Engagement Letter with respect to such a Securities Offering. The Offering Fee is subject to certain reductions as set forth in the Engagement Letter. The Debtors will also reimburse Citigroup for all reasonable out-of-pocket costs and expenses incurred in connection with the preparation of the Engagement Letter, the Securities Offerings, or any other transactions contemplated by the Engagement Letter. As set forth in greater detail in the Exit Facility Motion, a copy of the Engagement Letter has also been filed with the Bankruptcy Court under seal.

In accordance with the Settlement Term Sheet, on June 5, 2006, the Debtors filed the Sixth Amended Plan consistent with the terms and conditions of the Settlement Term Sheet. The Court has scheduled a plan confirmation hearing for September 18, 2006, and the Debtors intend to seek confirmation and consummation of the Sixth Amended Plan at the earliest practicable time, however, if the Effective Date of the Sixth Amended Plan does not occur before December 31, 2006, and if the Plan Proponents of the Sixth Amended Plan (comprised of the Debtors, the ACC and the FCR) do not agree to extend the conditions precedent in the Sixth Amended Plan respecting the occurrence of the Effective Date beyond December 31, 2006, then the Debtors intend to seek confirmation of the Fifth Amended Plan filed with the Court on December 31, 2005 (as such Plan has been amended prior to the filing of the Sixth Amended Plan) at the earliest practicable date. Consistent with the terms of the Fifth Amended Plan, any substantive changes to the Fifth Amended Plan and related documents, including, without limitation, any registration rights agreement and terms respecting the composition of the Board of Directors of Reorganized OCD, will be subject to the reasonable consent of the Plan Proponents.

THE CHAPTER 11 CASES ARE ONGOING AND PARTIES WHO DESIRE CURRENT INFORMATION ON EVENTS THAT MAY AFFECT THESE CASES SHOULD REGULARLY REVIEW THE DOCKETS AND PLEADINGS, WHICH ARE AVAILABLE FROM THE BANKRUPTCY COURT AND THE DISTRICT COURT, AND/OR ATTEND OR PARTICIPATE IN HEARINGS SCHEDULED IN THE CHAPTER 11 CASES, EITHER IN PERSON OR TELEPHONICALLY.

VI. FUTURE BUSINESS OF THE REORGANIZED DEBTORS

A. Structure and Business of the Reorganized Debtors

Following the Effective Date, the Reorganized Debtors intend to continue to operate their businesses as they have been operated to date, with the exception of such reorganization, divestitures and other restructurings as may be contemplated by the Plan. In addition, the Reorganized Debtors reserve the right, subject to such approvals of their respective boards of directors or shareholders as shall be required by law, to entertain and implement such opportunities for acquisitions, divestitures, restructuring or other internal reorganizations as shall be deemed appropriate under the circumstances. OC intends to implement a restructuring plan that would reorganize OCD and its Subsidiaries along OC's major business lines. The planning for this restructuring is ongoing. A more detailed description of the Restructuring Transactions (including a summary of the corporate action necessary to accomplish the Restructuring Transactions) will be set forth in Schedule XX to the Plan to be filed no later than ten (10) Business Days prior to the Objection Deadline. On or prior to, or as soon as practicable after, the Effective Date, the Debtors or the Reorganized Debtors may take such steps as may be necessary or appropriate to effectuate Restructuring Transactions that satisfy the requirements set forth in Section 5.6 of the Plan.

4 Mr. High joined Owens Corning in January 2004.

5 In addition to payments under Owens Corning's annual Corporate Incentive Plan, the amounts shown for 2005 include payments under Owens Corning's Key Employee Retention Plan as follows: Mr. Brown, $750,000; Mr. Thaman, $650,000; Mr. Kiemle, $286,000; Mr. High, $325,000 and Mr. Johns, $276,000.

6 "Other Annual Compensation" includes perquisites and personal benefits, where such perquisites and personal benefits exceed the lesser of $50,000 or 10% of the Named Executive Officer's annual salary and bonus for the year, as well as certain other items of compensation. For the years shown, none of the Named Executive Officers received perquisites and/or personal benefits in excess of the applicable threshold. In 2004, Mr. High received $54,258 as payment of certain taxes on a sign-on bonus.

7 There were no restricted stock awards to any of the Named Executive Officers in 2003, 2004, or 2005.
At the end of 2005, Messrs. Brown and Thaman each held a total of 3,333 shares of restricted stock, valued at $9,999; Messrs. Kiemle and Johns each held a total of 1,333 shares of restricted stock, valued at $3,999; and Mr. High held no shares of restricted stock. The value of these aggregate restricted stock holdings was calculated by multiplying the number of shares held by the closing price of Owens Corning common stock on December 31, 2005 (as reported on the Over The Counter Bulletin Board). Dividends are paid by Owens Corning on restricted stock held by the Named Executive Officers if paid on stock generally.

8 No stock options or stock appreciation rights (SARs) were awarded to any of the Named Executive Officers in 2003, 2004, or 2005.

9 The amounts reflected in the LTIP Payouts column for 2003 and 2004 represent amounts payable pursuant to Owens Corning's Long Term Incentive Plan with respect to one-year transition performance period cycles adopted in connection with phase-in of the new plan, which became effective January 1, 2003.

10 The amount shown for each of the Named Executive Officers represents contributions made by Owens Corning to such officer's account in the Owens Corning Savings Plan during the year.

6. Compensation/Retirement Plans/Retirement Benefits

OC maintains a tax-qualified Cash Balance Plan covering certain of its salaried and hourly employees in the United States, including each of the Named Executive Officers, in lieu of the qualified Salaried Employees' Retirement Plan maintained prior to 1996 ("Prior Plan"), which provided retirement benefits primarily on the basis of age at retirement, years of service and average earnings from the highest three consecutive years of service. In addition, OC has a non-qualified Executive Supplemental Benefit Plan ("ESBP") to pay eligible employees leaving OC the difference between the benefits payable under OC's tax-qualified retirement plan and those benefits which would have been payable except for limitations imposed by the IRC. Named Executive Officers are eligible to participate in both the Cash Balance Plan and the ESBP.

Cash Balance Plan - Under the Cash Balance Plan, each covered employee's earned retirement benefit under the Prior Plan (including the ESBP) was converted to an opening cash balance. Each year, eligible employees earn a benefit based on a percentage of such employee's covered pay. Prior to July 1, 2003, the percentage was 2% for covered pay up to 50% of the Social Security Taxable Wage Base and 4% for covered pay in excess of such wage base; effective July 1, 2003, the percentage became 4% for all subsequent covered pay. For this purpose, covered pay includes base pay, and certain annual incentive bonuses payable during the year. Accrued benefits earn monthly interest based on the average interest rate for five-year U.S. treasury securities. Employees vest in the Cash Balance Plan on completion of five years of service. Vested employees may receive their benefit under the Cash Balance Plan as a lump sum or as a monthly payment when they leave OC.

For employees who were at least age 40 with 10 years of service as of December 31, 1995 ("Grandfathered Employees"), including Messrs. Brown and Kiemle, the credit percentages applied to covered pay are increased pursuant to a formula based on age and years of service on such date. In addition, Grandfathered Employees are entitled to receive the greater of their benefit under the Prior Plan frozen as of December 31, 2000, or under the Cash Balance Plan (in each case including the ESBP).

Supplemental Executive Retirement Plan - OC maintains a Supplemental Executive Retirement Plan ("SERP") covering certain employees, including Mr. High, who joined OC mid-career. The SERP provides for a lump sum payment following termination of employment equal to a multiple of the covered employee's Cash Balance Plan balance minus an offset equal to the present value of retirement benefits attributable to prior employment. The applicable multiplier for each covered employee ranges from 0.5 to 4.0 (determined by the covered employee's age when first employed by OC) and is 2.4 in the case of Mr. High.

Other Arrangements - Owens Corning has agreed to provide Mr. Dana a supplemental pension benefit, under Owens Corning's pension plan formula in existence on his employment date, determined as if he had earned 1 1/2 years of service for each year worked, provided that he remains an Owens Corning employee for no less than ten years following his November 15, 1995 employment date.

In 1992, OC established a Pension Preservation Trust for amounts payable under the ESBP as well as under the individual pension arrangements described above. The Compensation Committee determines the participants in and any amounts to be paid with respect to the Pension Preservation Trust, which may include a portion of benefits earned under the ESBP and the pension agreements described above. Amounts paid into the Trust and income from the Trust reduce the pension otherwise payable at retirement. During 2004, no payments were made to the Trust.

The Debtors have analyzed the Pension Preservation Trust and provided the Unsecured Creditors' Committee the documents relating to the Pension Preservation Trust and the SERP. According to the Debtors' analysis, the Pension Preservation Trust is a true or "secular" trust, which is not property of the estate.

The Compensation Committee continually reviews the nature of compensation and incentive plans available to officers and key employees and suggests revisions from time to time as it deems appropriate to reflect current trends in compensation programs and the needs of OC. To the extent that any changes in compensation programs are approved and proposed to be implemented, they will be described in an amendment to this Disclosure Statement.

7. Management Employment, Severance and Certain Other Agreements

On January 18, 2001, the Bankruptcy Court approved the Order Under 11 U.S.C. §§ 105, 363 and 365 Authorizing Continuation or Implementation of Employee, Emergence and Severance Programs. The Bankruptcy Court found that the reaffirmation of the Debtors' existing Employee Severance Program as defined in the Debtors' underlying motion was necessary to the Debtors reorganization efforts and specifically authorized the Debtors to provide severance benefits to their employees in accordance with the Employee Severance Program and in accordance with certain employment contracts identified in Exhibit D thereto. The Bankruptcy Court also authorized the filing of the exhibits to the motion under seal.

OC maintains a Corporate Incentive Plan under which participating employees, including each of the Named Executive Officers, are eligible to receive annual cash incentive awards based on their individual performance and on corporate performance against annual performance goals set by the Compensation Committee. For the 2004 and 2005 annual performance periods, the funding measures set by the Compensation Committee are based on "income from operations" (weighted at 75%) and "cash flow from operations" (weighted at 25%). Cash awards paid to the Named Executive Officers under the Corporate Incentive Plan for the 2004 performance period are reflected in the compensation table above.

Effective beginning with calendar year 2004, OC maintains a Key Employee Retention Incentive Plan ("KERP") to provide an incentive to designated key employees, including each of the Named Executive Officers, to remain in the employ of OC through the date of OC's emergence from Chapter 11. Under the KERP, each eligible employee is entitled to a cash payment equal to (1) a specified percentage of his or her annual base salary if such employee remains employed by OC through the end of the applicable calendar year or (2) a prorated portion of such specified percentage in the event of OC's emergence from Chapter 11 proceedings (or such employee's termination of employment due to death, disability, or termination other than for cause) prior to the end of the applicable calendar year. As of the current time, the Bankruptcy Court has approved the KERP for calendar years 2004 and 2005. Cash awards paid to the Named Executive Officers under the KERP for calendar year 2005 are reflected in the Summary Compensation Table above.

OC has entered into Key Management Severance Agreements with each of the Named Executive Officers (the "Severance Agreements"). Under the terms of the Severance Agreements, if the Named Executive Officer's employment is terminated without "cause" or if the Named Executive Officer terminates his or her employment due to "Constructive Termination," the Named Executive Officer is entitled to a payment in an amount equal to two times the sum of base salary and annual incentive bonuses (based on the greater of their average three-year target-level participation in the plan or their average actual awards), plus continuation of insurance benefits for a period of up to two years and, in the case of Messrs. Brown, Thaman and Kiemle, a payment equal to the additional lump sum pension benefit that would have accrued had such individuals been three years older, with three additional years of service, at the time of employment termination.

By order dated January 26, 2006, the Court authorized certain amendments to the Severance Agreements with Messrs Brown and Thaman (collectively the "Executives"), including: (a) the definitions were amended to provide that OC's emergence from bankruptcy shall not constitute a "Change of Control" for severance purposes; (b) the definitions were amended to make clear that a "Constructive Termination" shall be deemed to have occurred if: (i) the Executives involuntarily lose their positions as members of the Board of Directors, and in the case of Mr. Thaman, the involuntary loss of his position as Chairman of the Board; (ii) the Executives' eligibility under OC's incentive plans are reduced without the Executives' written consent; and (iii) Mr. Thaman does not succeed Mr. Brown as the Company's Chief Executive Officer; (c) a provision has been added to each of the Executives' Severance Agreements to provide for the full reimbursement by OC for any excise or similar taxes which the Executives may be required to pay as a result of payments made under the agreements; (d) Mr. Brown's agreement has been amended to make clear that, when Mr. Brown retires, the Compensation Committee of OC's Board of Directors will follow the plan document and exercise its discretion to allow Mr. Brown to remain eligible for a pro rata long term incentive plan award, if any; and (e) the Executives' Severance Agreements were changed to make clear that the agreements remain in effect after the two year period following a "Change of Control.

8. Directors' Compensation

Retainer and Meeting Fees - OC compensates each director who is not an OC employee pursuant to a standard annual retainer/meeting fee arrangement. Effective July 1, 2004, such arrangement provides each non-employee director an annual retainer of $100,000, a fee of $1,500 for attendance at each meeting of a Board Committee of which such director is a member, no fees for attendance at meetings of the Board of Directors, and a fee of $1,500 for each day's attendance at other functions in which directors are requested to participate. In addition, Chairmen of Board Committees receive an additional annual retainer of $7,500. Prior to July 1, 2004, OC paid each director who was not an OC employee an annual retainer of $35,000 and a fee of $1,200 for (a) attendance at one or more meetings of the Board of Directors on the same day, (b) attendance at one or more meetings of each Committee of the Board of Directors on the same day, and (c) each day's attendance at other functions in which directors were requested to participate. In addition, Committee Chairmen received an additional retainer of $4,000 each year.

Prior to December 2000, a director could elect to defer all or a portion of his or her annual retainer and meeting fees under the Directors' Deferred Compensation Plan, in which case his or her account was credited with the number of shares of common stock that such deferred compensation could have purchased on the date of payment. The account was also credited with the number of shares that dividends on previously credited shares could have purchased on dividend payment dates. The Deferred Compensation Plan provides that account balances are payable in cash based on the value of the account, which is determined by the then fair market value of OC common stock, at the time the participant ceases to be a director. Under the terms of the Deferred Compensation Plan, the claims of directors to the cash value of such deferred shares is effectively equivalent to a claim as a general unsecured creditor of OC. Although no assurance can be given as to the value, if any, that would be attributed to such a claim under any plan or plans of reorganization ultimately confirmed in the Chapter 11 proceedings, any value ascribed to such a claim may be greater than the value of the number of shares of Owens Corning common stock the receipt of which was deferred if, as anticipated, the outstanding Owens Corning common stock is cancelled as part of the implementation of such plan or plans of reorganization.

Stock Plan for Directors — OC has a pre-petition stockholder approved Stock Plan for Directors, applicable to each director who is not an OC employee. The plan provides for two types of grants to each eligible director: (1) a one-time non-recurring grant of options to each new outside director to acquire 10,000 shares of common stock at a per share exercise price of 100 percent of the value of a share of common stock on the date of grant, and (2) an annual grant of 500 shares of common stock on the fourth Friday in April.

Initial option grants become exercisable in equal installments over five years from date of grant, subject to acceleration in certain events, and generally expire ten years from date of grant. No grant may be made under the plan after August 20, 2007, and a director may not receive an annual grant of common stock in the same calendar year he or she receives an initial option grant. A director entitled to receive an annual grant may elect to defer receipt of the common stock until he or she leaves the Board of Directors.

Pursuant to action of the Board of Directors, additional option grants and annual grants under the Plan were suspended effective April 1, 2002, pending further action by the Board. No initial option grants or annual grants were made under the Plan during 2005.

Indemnity Agreements — OC has entered into an indemnity agreement with each member of the Board of Directors which provides that, if the director becomes involved in a claim (as defined in the agreement) by reason of an indemnifiable event (as defined in the agreement), OC will indemnify the director to the fullest extent authorized by OC's by-laws, notwithstanding any subsequent amendment, repeal or modification of the by-laws, against any and all expenses, judgments, fines, penalties and amounts paid in settlement of the claim.

The indemnity agreement also provides that, in the event of a potential change of control (as defined in the agreement), the director is entitled to require the creation of a trust for his or her benefit, the assets of which would be subject to the claims of OC's general creditors, and the funding of such trust from time to time in amounts sufficient to satisfy OC's indemnification obligations reasonably anticipated at the time of the funding request. For a discussion of the treatment of Indemnity Agreements under the Plan, see Section VI.B.4 entitled "Treatment of Director and Officer Indemnification Under the Plan," above and Section VII.E.6 entitled "Indemnification Obligations."

Charitable Award Program — To recognize the interest of Owens Corning and its directors in supporting worthy educational institutions and other charitable organizations, Owens Corning permits each director who joined the Board of Directors prior to December 31, 2001 (subject to certain vesting requirements) to nominate up to two organizations to share a contribution of $1 million to be made in ten annual installments after the death of the director. Owens Corning expects to fully fund its contributions (as well as insurance premiums) from the proceeds of life insurance policies that it maintains on directors. Directors will receive no financial benefit from this program, since the charitable deduction and insurance proceeds accrue solely to Owens Corning. Under the Plan, as stated in the Management Arrangements described in Exhibit F, the Debtors will continue to meet their obligations under this program.

9. Incentive Plans to be Implemented in Connection with Emergence from Chapter 11 Reorganization

The Plan Proponents have negotiated the principal terms and conditions of certain incentive plans to be made available to employees generally and to certain management employees in connection with the emergence of the Reorganized Debtors from reorganization under Chapter 11. These plans include a broad-based Employee Incentive Program and a Management Incentive Program. A summary of the terms of these programs is set forth below. The summaries set forth below are qualified in their entirety by reference to the terms of the plan documents, which will be filed up to ten (10) Business Days prior to the Objection Deadline, and to the terms of any individual agreements that may be entered into pursuant to those plan documents.

Employee Incentive Program. It is currently contemplated that all full-time employees and regular part-time employees of OCD and its Affiliates as of the Effective Date (excluding any employee who participates in the management incentive program described below, as of the Effective Date) shall be eligible to receive a grant of 100 shares of New OCD Common Stock, or appropriate equivalent interest, upon the Effective Date, as described in the Employee Arrangements set forth on Exhibit F, as it may be amended up to ten (10) Business Days prior to the Objection Deadline. Accordingly, OCD shall reserve 2,000,000 shares of New OCD Common Stock for issuance to such employees (assuming 20,000 eligible employees worldwide), which shares represent approximately 1.52% of the primary number of shares of New OCD Common Stock to be outstanding immediately after the Effective Date (assuming issuance of approximately 131.4 million shares on the Effective Date and excluding options issued on the Effective Date). Each award of 100 shares of New OCD Common Stock, or equivalent interest, will vest in its entirety on the third anniversary of the Effective Date, subject to accelerated vesting for OCD-approved retirements or in the event that OCD terminates the employee's employment without cause.

Management Incentive Program. It is currently contemplated that on the Effective Date, Reorganized OCD will adopt Management Arrangements, the terms and conditions of which shall be summarized in greater detail in Exhibit F to the Plan, as it may be amended up to ten (10) Business Days prior to the Objection Deadline.

The terms and conditions of the Management Arrangements are subject to approval by OCD's Board of Directors (through its compensation committee) in the ordinary course of business on or about April 13, 2006, and shall be more fully disclosed on Exhibit F no later than April 17, 2006. Subject to the foregoing, as part of such Management Arrangements, the Debtors currently contemplate that certain members of management will be granted awards upon emergence or thereafter consisting of a combination of restricted shares of New OCD Common Stock and options to purchase shares of New OCD Common Stock pursuant to a management incentive plan. The Debtors presently contemplate that the restricted stock and options to be awarded under the management incentive plan shall represent approximately 2.87% of the number of shares/options of New OCD Common Stock to be issued on the Effective Date on a fully-diluted basis (excluding shares/options authorized and held for future issuance). The relative percentages of restricted stock and options to be awarded shall be determined by the compensation committee. The Debtors presently contemplate that additional restricted stock and options representing approximately 2.19% of the number of shares of New OCD Common Stock on a fully-diluted basis shall be reserved and authorized for future issuance as shall be determined by the compensation committee of the Board of Directors of Reorganized OCD.

The terms and conditions of the Management Arrangements set forth on Exhibit F shall be subject to further modifications, revisions and supplementation as may be satisfactory in form and substance to the Debtors (and the other Plan Proponents) up to ten (10) days prior to the Objection Deadline.

On the Effective Date, management and designated employees of Reorganized OCD and the other Reorganized Debtors shall receive the benefits provided under such Management Arrangements on the terms and conditions provided for therein.

C. Terms of Certificate of Incorporation of Reorganized OCD

The Amended and Restated Certificate of Incorporation of Reorganized OCD and the Amended and Restated Bylaws of Reorganized OCD will include provisions (i) creating the New OCD Common Stock, and (ii) to the extent necessary or appropriate, effectuating the provisions of the Plan. The Amended and Restated Certificate of Incorporation of Reorganized OCD and the Amended and Restated Bylaws of Reorganized OCD shall be in substantially the forms of Exhibit A and Exhibit B to the Plan, to be filed at least ten (10) Business Days prior to the Objection Deadline.

D. Projected Financial Information

1. Responsibility For and Purpose of the Financial Projections

Appendix B to this Disclosure Statement sets forth certain financial information with respect to the projected future operations of OC ("Financial Projections"). As a condition to confirmation of a plan, the Bankruptcy Code requires, among other things, that the Bankruptcy Court determine that the plan is "feasible" (i.e., that confirmation is not likely to be followed by a liquidation or the need for further financial reorganization of the debtor) as set forth in Section 1129(a)(11) of the Bankruptcy Code. In connection with the development of the Plan, and for purposes of determining whether the Plan satisfies feasibility standards, OC's management has, through the development of financial projections, analyzed the ability of OC to meet its obligations under the Plan to maintain sufficient liquidity and capital resources to conduct its business. The Financial Projections were also prepared to assist each holder of a claim entitled to vote under the Plan in determining whether to accept or reject the Plan.

The Financial Projections indicate that the Reorganized Debtors should have sufficient cash flow to (a) make the payments required under the Plan, (b) repay service debt obligations, and (c) maintain operations on a going-forward basis. Accordingly, the Debtors believe that the Plan complies with Section 1129(a)(11) of the Bankruptcy Code. The Financial Projections should be read in conjunction with the assumptions, qualifications and footnotes to tables containing the projections set forth herein, the historical consolidated financial information (including the notes and schedules thereto) and the other information set forth in OC's Annual Report on Form 10-K for the year ended December 31, 2005, as well as OC's Annual Report on Form 10-Q for the quarter ended March 31, 2006, OC's Annual Report on Form 10-K for the year ended December 31, 2004, OC's Annual Report on Form 10-K for the year ended December 31, 2003, OC's Annual Report on Form 10-K for the year ended December 31, 2002, OC's Annual Report on Form 10-K for the year ended December 31, 2001, and OC's Annual Report on Form 10-K for the year ended December 31, 2000, copies of which may be obtained, free of charge, through OC's website at www.owenscorning.com. OC's Annual Report on Form 10-K for the year ended December 31, 2005, may also be obtained by sending a written request. See directions for obtaining this document in Appendix D. See the Disclaimer set forth below.

2. Summary of Significant Assumptions

The Debtors' management has developed the Financial Projections to assist holders of Claims and Interests in their evaluation of the Plan and to analyze its feasibility. The Financial Projections are based upon a number of significant assumptions, which along with the Financial Projections are set forth in Appendix B.

FURTHER, EVENTS AND CIRCUMSTANCES OCCURRING SUBSEQUENT TO THE DATE ON WHICH THESE FINANCIAL PROJECTIONS WERE PREPARED MAY BE DIFFERENT FROM THOSE ASSUMED OR, ALTERNATIVELY, MAY HAVE BEEN UNANTICIPATED, AND THUS THE OCCURRENCE OF THESE EVENTS MAY AFFECT FINANCIAL RESULTS IN A MATERIAL AND POSSIBLY ADVERSE MANNER. THE FINANCIAL PROJECTIONS, THEREFORE, MAY NOT BE RELIED UPON AS A GUARANTEE OR OTHER ASSURANCE OF THE ACTUAL RESULTS THAT WILL OCCUR. VII. SUMMARY OF THE PLAN OF REORGANIZATION

A. Introduction

THIS SECTION PROVIDES A SUMMARY OF THE STRUCTURE AND MEANS FOR IMPLEMENTATION OF THE PLAN, AND OF THE CLASSIFICATION AND TREATMENT OF CLAIMS AND INTERESTS UNDER THE PLAN, AND IS QUALIFIED IN ITS ENTIRETY BY REFERENCE TO THE PLAN (AS WELL AS THE EXHIBITS THERETO AND DEFINITIONS THEREIN), WHICH IS ATTACHED TO THIS DISCLOSURE STATEMENT AS APPENDIX A.

THE STATEMENTS CONTAINED IN THIS DISCLOSURE STATEMENT INCLUDE SUMMARIES OF THE PROVISIONS CONTAINED IN THE PLAN AND IN

DOCUMENTS REFERRED TO THEREIN. THE STATEMENTS CONTAINED IN THIS DISCLOSURE STATEMENT DO NOT PURPORT TO BE PRECISE OR COMPLETE STATEMENTS OF ALL THE TERMS AND PROVISIONS OF THE PLAN OR DOCUMENTS REFERRED TO THEREIN, AND REFERENCE IS MADE TO THE PLAN AND TO SUCH DOCUMENTS FOR THE FULL AND COMPLETE STATEMENTS OF SUCH TERMS AND PROVISIONS.

THE PLAN ITSELF AND THE DOCUMENTS REFERRED TO THEREIN WILL CONTROL THE ACTUAL TREATMENT OF CLAIMS AGAINST, AND INTERESTS IN, THE DEBTORS UNDER THE PLAN AND WILL, UPON THE EFFECTIVE DATE, BE BINDING UPON HOLDERS OF CLAIMS AGAINST, OR INTERESTS IN, THE DEBTORS, THE REORGANIZED DEBTORS AND OTHER PARTIES IN INTEREST. IN THE EVENT OF ANY CONFLICT BETWEEN THIS DISCLOSURE STATEMENT AND THE PLAN OR ANY OTHER OPERATIVE DOCUMENT, THE TERMS OF THE PLAN AND/OR SUCH OTHER OPERATIVE DOCUMENTS WILL CONTROL.

The Debtors, the Asbestos Claimants' Committee, and the Future Claimants' Representative are the proponents of the Plan within the meaning of Section 1129 of the Bankruptcy Code. The Steering Committee supports the Plan.

Although IPM, Inc., Vytec Corporation and Owens-Corning Fibreglas Sweden Inc. have not filed under Chapter 11 at the present time, OCD reserves the right to initiate Chapter 11 proceedings on behalf of some or all of such entities prior to the Confirmation Date, in the event OCD deems it necessary to do so in order to effectuate the terms of the Plan, in which case such entities would be included in the Plan. Certain other of OCD's Subsidiaries (including certain foreign entities and joint ventures) also have not commenced cases under Chapter 11 of the Bankruptcy Code, and accordingly continue to operate their businesses in the ordinary course. A list of the Non-Debtor Subsidiaries is attached to the Plan as Schedule II. Although the Non-Debtor Subsidiaries have not filed under Chapter 11 at the present time, one or more of the Non-Debtor Subsidiaries may file for reorganization under Chapter 11 in the future. The timing of any such filing would be determined at a later date, but any such filing would be made to permit the inclusion of such entities as part of the Plan. In the event of such filings, the Debtors reserve the right to file first day motions seeking authority to pay all trade creditors as critical vendors in order to avoid any potential disruption of OC's foreign operations. Moreover, the Plan will provide for full payment of all such trade creditors. In the event that any such additional filings are not required to effectuate the terms of the Plan, the Debtors reserve the right not to cause such entities to file for bankruptcy protection.

Subject to certain restrictions and requirements set forth in Section 1127 of the Bankruptcy Code and Bankruptcy Rule 3019 and Section 14.4 of the Plan, the Plan Proponents reserve the right to alter, amend, modify, revoke or withdraw the Plan prior to its substantial consummation.

(i) Treatment

On, or as soon as reasonably practicable after, the latest of (i) the Initial Distribution Date, (ii) the date on which such Other Priority Claim becomes an Allowed Other Priority Claim, or (iii) the date on which such Other Priority Claim becomes due and payable pursuant to any agreement between the Debtors and a holder of an Other Priority Claim, each holder of an Allowed Other Priority Claim shall receive in full satisfaction, settlement, release and discharge of and in exchange for such Allowed Other Priority Claim (a) Cash equal to the unpaid portion of such Allowed Other Priority Claim or (b) such other treatment as the Debtors and such holder shall have agreed in writing. defend against such Claim in the appropriate forum when and if such Claim is sought to be enforced by the holder of such Claim. Nothing in the Plan or elsewhere shall preclude the Debtors or Reorganized Debtors from challenging the validity of any alleged Encumbrance on any asset of a Debtor or Reorganized Debtor or the value of any collateral.

Each holder of an Allowed Other Secured Tax Claim shall retain the Encumbrances (or replacement Encumbrances as may be contemplated under nonbankruptcy law) securing its Allowed Other Secured Tax Claim as of the Effective Date until full and final payment of such Allowed Other Secured Tax Claim is made as provided in the Plan, and upon such full and final payment, such Encumbrances shall be deemed null and void and shall be unenforceable for all purposes.

(ii) Status

Nothing in the Plan or elsewhere shall preclude the Debtors or Reorganized Debtors from challenging the validity of any alleged Encumbrance on any asset of a Debtor or the value of any collateral.

(ii) Status

Other Secured Claims are Unimpaired. Holders of Other Secured Claims shall be deemed to have accepted the Plan, and accordingly are not entitled to vote to accept or reject the Plan.

3. OCD (Classes A3 through A12)

(a) Class A3: OCD Convenience Claims

(i) Treatment

On, or as soon as reasonably practicable after, the latest of (i) the Initial Distribution Date, (ii) the date on which such Class A3 Claim becomes an Allowed Class A3 Claim, or (iii) the date on which such Class A3 Claim becomes due and payable pursuant to any agreement between OCD and a holder of a Class A3 Claim, each holder of an Allowed Class A3 Claim shall receive in full satisfaction, settlement, release and discharge of and in exchange for such Allowed Class A3 Claim (a) Cash equal to the amount of such Allowed Class A3 Claim or (b) such other treatment as OCD and such holder shall have agreed in writing.

Any election made after the Voting Deadline shall not be binding on the Debtors unless the Voting Deadline is expressly waived in writing by the Debtors with respect to any such Claim. For the avoidance of doubt, any holder of a Convenience Claim, including, without limitation, any holder of a Claim in Class A6-A or A6-B that elects to have such Claim treated as a Convenience Claim, shall not be entitled to participate in the Rights Offering.

(iii) Status

Class A3 Claims are Impaired. To the extent and in the manner provided in the Voting Procedures Order, holders of the Claims in Class A3 shall be entitled to vote to accept or reject the Plan.

(b) Class A4: OCD Bank Holders Claims

(i) Allowance

The Class A4 Claims shall be Allowed in the amount of approximately $1.475 billion (excluding approximately $69 million of undrawn pre-petition letters of credit).[11]

---

[11] This estimate of Class A4 Claims represents the amount outstanding under the 1997 Credit Agreement as of the Petition Date, including certain amounts related to letters of credit drawn or expected to be drawn prior to the Effective Date, less the application of certain frozen funds. It does not include any amounts for post-petition interest or fees.

(ii) Treatment

(A) In full satisfaction, release and discharge of, and in exchange for their Allowed Claims against the various Debtors and claims against certain of the Non-Debtor Subsidiaries (including, without limitation, their Allowed Class A4 Claims), on or after the Effective Date, each holder of an Allowed Class A4 Claim shall receive such holder's Pro Rata share of Cash in an aggregate amount equal to the sum of the amount of the Allowed Class A4 Claims plus the Bank Default Interest and Fee Amount;[12] provided, however, that as a condition to obtaining such payment, each holder of an Allowed Class A4 Claim shall have executed a Bank Holder Release, as defined in the Final Bank Unimpairment Order, in a form reasonably satisfactory to the Debtors (or the Reorganized Debtors), the other Plan Proponents and CSFB releasing each of the Debtors, Reorganized Debtors and the Non-Debtor Subsidiaries from the Bank Holders Claims, which Bank Holder Release shall be binding upon each such holder of an Allowed Class A4 Claim and each of its affiliates, successors and assigns to the fullest extent of the law; and

(B) As of the Effective Date, the undrawn pre-petition letters of credit shall be cancelled or replaced by new letters of credit under the Exit Facility.

(C) As of the Effective Date but subject to the Debtors having made the Initial Bank Holders' Distribution, the rights of any and all Bank Holders to pursue, and receive any benefits of, from or under, the pending appeal of the OCD Asbestos Personal Injury Estimation Order shall be deemed to have been irrevocably waived and released under the Plan to the fullest extent permissible under applicable law (provided that such appeal has not otherwise been dismissed with prejudice on or prior to the Effective Date).

(iii) Status

In accordance with the terms of the Final Unimpairment Order, Class A4 Claims are Unimpaired, and holders of Class A4 Claims shall be deemed to have accepted the Plan, and accordingly are not entitled to vote to accept or reject the Plan.

[12] For purposes of distribution, the Bank Holders Claims shall be deemed to have been satisfied (a) first, against OCD to the fullest extent permissible under applicable law (except as otherwise provided in the Plan) and (b) second, against the various Debtor guarantors and, if applicable, non-Debtor guarantors up to an amount against each such guarantor that would still allow the holders of allowed third-party claims (x) against each such Debtor guarantor to be paid in full, as set forth herein, and (y) to retain their respective rights against each such non-Debtor guarantor under applicable non-bankruptcy law; provided, however, that, the Debtors and their financial advisors have concluded that the ultimate recovery of the Bank Holders Claims pursuant to Section 3.3(b)(ii) of the Plan and other applicable Bank Holder treatment sections in the Plan would not meaningfully change even if the foregoing assumptions regarding the sequencing of the Bank Holders' recovery were altered.

(c) Class A5: OCD Bondholders Claims

(i) Allowance

The Class A5 Claims shall be $1.389 billion, plus accrued but unpaid interest as of the Petition Date.[13]

(2) If Class A5 rejects the Plan, then:

(a) in full satisfaction, release and discharge of, and in exchange for, its Allowed Class A5 Claim, each holder of an Allowed Class A5 Claim who has complied with Section 8.8 of the Plan shall receive on, or as soon as reasonably practicable after, the later of the Initial Distribution Date or the date on which such Class A5 Claim becomes due and payable pursuant to any agreement between OCD and a holder of an Allowed Class A5 Claim, (i) such holder's Pro Rata share of the product of (w) the

[13] This amount of Class A5 Claims represents the principal amount and accrued interest outstanding under the Pre-petition Bond Indentures as of the Petition Date based upon OCD's books and records, and excludes any amounts for post-petition interest or fees. Approval of the Disclosure Statement or confirmation of the Plan is without prejudice to any rights of the Pre-petition Indenture Trustees to assert that a Claim under any Pre-petition Bond Indenture should be Allowed in an amount different from those based on OCD's books and records. The allowance of any Claim in Class A5 is governed by Section 1.19 and Article IX of the Plan, and the applicable provisions of the Bankruptcy Code and Bankruptcy Rules.

Combined OCD Distribution Package and (x) the Class A5 Initial Distribution Percentage, and, subject to Section 3.3(c)(ii)(B)(4) of the Plan, (ii) such holder's Pro Rata share of the product of (y) the Combined OCD Supplemental Distribution Package and (z) a fraction, the numerator of which is the total amount of Allowed Claims in Class A5, and the denominator of which is the aggregate amount of all Allowed Claims in Classes A4, A5 and A6-B;

(b) on, or as soon as reasonably practicable after, the Effective Date, each holder of an Allowed Class A5 Claim that has properly and timely exercised its Rights pursuant to the Subscription Documents shall receive those Rights Offering Shares to which it is entitled under the Subscription Documents;

(c) the rights of holders of Asbestos Personal Injury Claims, the Asbestos Claimants' Committee and the Future Claimants' Representative to assert Integrex Asbestos Personal Injury Claims against Integrex shall be reserved;

(d) the Asbestos Claimants' Committee and the Future Claimants' Representative shall have the right to seek a determination at the Confirmation Hearing that certain or all of the Class A11 Claims should be equitably subordinated or recharacterized; and

(e) the OC Sub-Account shall be funded in the manner set forth in Section 3.3(f)(iii)(A) and (C) of the Plan, irrespective of the outcome of the FAIR Act.

(B) Final Distribution

(1) On or as soon as reasonably practicable after the Final Distribution Date, each holder of an Allowed Class A5 Claim shall receive its Pro Rata share of:

(a) regardless of whether Class A5 rejects or accepts the Plan, (i) Cash in an amount equal to the Class A5 Final Distribution Percentage of the Excess Available Cash (if any) and (ii) shares of New OCD Common Stock in an aggregate number equal to the Class A5 Final Distribution Percentage of the Excess New OCD Common Stock (if any); and either

(b) if Class A5 and Class A6-B both accept the Plan, then Cash and New OCD Common Stock in an aggregate amount or number, in each case, equal to the product of (w) the Supplemental Excess Available Cash (if any) and the Supplemental Excess New OCD Common Stock (if any), respectively, and (x) a fraction, the numerator of which is the total amount of Allowed Claims in Class A5, and the denominator of which is the aggregate amount of all Allowed Claims in Classes A5 and A6-B; or

(c) if either Class A5 or Class A6-B rejects the Plan, then Cash and New OCD Common Stock in an aggregate amount or number, in each case, equal to the product of (w) the Supplemental Excess Available Cash (if any) and the Supplemental Excess New OCD Common Stock (if any), respectively, and (x) a fraction, the numerator of which is the total amount of Allowed Claims in Class A5, and the denominator of which is the aggregate amount of all Allowed Claims in Classes A4, A5 and A6-B.

(C) Indenture Trustee Fees

Holders of Class A5 Bondholder Claims may have their distributions under the Plan reduced to the extent that any of the Pre-petition Indenture Trustees exercises any applicable rights under the Pre-petition Bond Indentures to recover its Indenture Trustee Fees from the distributions to be paid to Holders of Class A5 Bondholder Claims under the Plan. Any payment of such costs or expenses shall commensurately reduce the recovery realized under the Plan by holders of Class A5 Bondholder Claims.

Certain of the Pre-petition Indenture Trustees may assert that the Plan should provide for the payment by the Debtors of Indenture Trustee Fees and/or fees for the making of distributions with respect to Bondholder Claims. If any such objection is filed and not resolved, the Bankruptcy Court will determine this dispute at the Confirmation Hearing.

The Securities and Exchange Commission (the "Commission") has asserted that fees and expenses of the Pre-petition Indenture Trustees should be subject to the review of the Bankruptcy Court for reasonableness even if paid from distributions to holders of Allowed Class A5 Claims and not paid by the Reorganized Debtors. The Commission reserves the right to object to the Plan to the extent the Plan does not provide for such review.

(iii) Status

Class A5 Claims are Impaired. To the extent and in the manner provided in the Voting Procedures Order, holders of the Claims in Class A5 shall be entitled to vote to accept or reject the Plan.

The FB Sub-Account Settlement Payment is a combination of Cash and New OCD Common Stock, with an aggregate value of $140 million as of the Effective Date. The FB/OC Asbestos Settlement Payment is a combination of Cash and New OCD Common Stock, with an aggregate value of $63 million as of the Effective Date.

The OCD/FB Settlement is premised in part upon the assumption that, prior to the acquisition of Fibreboard by OCD, additional assets were available to pay the FB Asbestos Personal Injury Claims, but the subsequent corporate restructuring, asset swaps, and guaranties of the 1997 Credit Agreement left Fibreboard without any material assets to pay FB Asbestos Personal Injury Claims other than the Existing Fibreboard Insurance Settlement Trust Assets, the FB Reversions and the Committed Claims Account. Thus, the FB Sub-Account Settlement Payment represents a settlement and compromise of any right of FB Asbestos Personal Injury Claims to assert direct claims against OCD, to the potential detriment of OCD creditors and interest holders.

In determining the amount of the FB Sub-Account Settlement Payment, the Debtors, the Asbestos Claimants' Committee and the Future Claimants' Representative reviewed various information including (1) the hypothetical enterprise value of Fibreboard and its operating subsidiaries, (2) the restructuring of Fibreboard and its subsidiaries and the asset swaps between Fibreboard and OCD subsequent to the acquisition by OCD (in particular the swap of the Cultured Stone business in 1999 for certain OCD assets), (3) the estimated claims against Fibreboard and its operating subsidiaries, both external claims and intercompany claims, and (4) administrative expenses and other obligations borne by the OCD estate on behalf of the Fibreboard estate. Accordingly, the parties analyzed the values that hypothetically might have been available to holders of FB Asbestos Personal Injury Claims (in addition to the Fibreboard Insurance Settlement Trust) had Fibreboard not been a part of the OC consolidated operation and guaranteed the obligations to the Bank Holders. The Plan Proponents view these factors as an appropriate basis for a payment to compensate the holders of FB Asbestos Personal Injury Claims to give up any direct claims against OCD.

Thus, the establishment of the OCD/FB Settlement is the product of negotiation and compromise concerning matters involving several factors which are difficult to quantify or value. The Plan Proponents believe the OCD/FB Settlement (including the FB Sub-Account Settlement Payment and the FB/OC Asbestos Settlement Payment) represents a fair and equitable resolution of all issues concerning the source of payment to the holders of FB Asbestos Personal Injury Claims and the agreement for these holders not to assert any claims against OCD (or any of its affiliates other than Fibreboard).

6. Confirmability and Severability of the Plan

(a) Consensual Confirmation

The Confirmation requirements of Section 1129(a) of the Bankruptcy Code must be satisfied separately with respect to each Debtor. Therefore, notwithstanding the combination of the separate plans of reorganization of all Debtors in the Plan for purposes of, among other things, economy and efficiency, the Plan shall be deemed a separate Chapter 11 plan for each such Debtor.

(b) Cramdown

With respect to any impaired Class of Claims or Interests that fails to accept the Plan in accordance with Section 1129(a) of the Bankruptcy Code, excluding Classes A7, I7 and B8 and including any classes that may be created pursuant to amendments to the Plan, the Plan Proponents request that the Court confirm the Plan in accordance with Section 1129(b) of the Bankruptcy Code with respect to such non-accepting classes, in which case or cases, the Plan shall constitute a motion for such relief.

(c) Reservation of Rights

The Plan Proponents reserve the right to modify or withdraw the Plan, any other plan, or the Plan in its entirety, for any reason, including, without limitation, in the event that any separate plan for a particular Debtor is not confirmed. In addition, should the Plan, or any individual Debtor's plan, fail to be accepted by the requisite number and amount of Claims and Interests voting, as required to satisfy Sections 524(g) (in the case of any Debtor subject to Asbestos Personal Injury Claims) and 1129 of the Bankruptcy Code, and notwithstanding any other provision of the Plan to the contrary, the Plan Proponents reserve the right to amend, modify or withdraw the Plan in its entirety.

The Restructuring Transactions (including a summary of the corporate actions necessary to accomplish the Restructuring Transactions) shall be summarized in Schedule XX of the Plan, which shall be in form and substance reasonably satisfactory to the Debtors and the other Plan Proponents, to be filed no later than ten (10) Business Days prior to the Objection Deadline.

The Charging Liens of the Pre-petition Indenture Trustees will be discharged solely upon payment in full of the Indenture Trustee Fees, and nothing in the Plan shall be deemed to impair, waive or discharge any Charging Lien for any fees and expenses not paid by the Reorganized Debtors.

(b) No Reorganized Debtor shall have any obligations to any Pre-petition Indenture Trustee, agent or service (or to any disbursing agent replacing a Pre-petition Indenture Trustee, agent or service) for any fees, costs or expenses, except as expressly provided in the Plan. Except as provided in any contract, instrument or other agreement or document entered into or delivered in connection with the Plan, on the Effective Date and immediately following the completion of distributions to holders of Claims in Class A5, the Pre-petition Indenture Trustees shall be released from all duties, without any further action on the part of the Debtors or Reorganized Debtors.

(b) Notwithstanding any other provision in the Plan, no Person that has held, currently holds or may hold a Claim or other obligation, suit, judgment, damages, Demand, debt, right, remedy, cause of action or liability or Interest or other right of an equity security holder, no person claiming by or through them, nor any of their respective Related Persons, shall have any Claim or right of action against any Claimant Released Party or any Released Party for any act or omission in connection with, relating to, or arising out of, the Chapter 11 Cases, formulating, negotiating or implementing the Plan, the Disclosure Statement, any of the Rights Offering Documents (including, without limitation, any of the Subscription Documents), the Class A11 Warrants, the Class A12-A Warrants or the Plan Support Agreement, solicitation of acceptances of the Plan, the pursuit of confirmation of the Plan, the consummation of the Plan or the Rights Offering, the confirmation of the Plan or the administration of the Plan or the property to be distributed under the Plan, except for willful misconduct or gross negligence.

(c) The foregoing exculpation and limitation on liability shall not, however, limit, abridge or otherwise affect the rights of the Reorganized Debtors to enforce, sue on, settle or compromise the rights, claims and other matters retained by Reorganized Debtors pursuant to Section 5.13 of the Plan.

(d) The foregoing exculpation and limitation on liability are an integral part of the Plan and are essential to its implementation. 6. Restructuring Transactions

On or after the Effective Date, any Reorganized Debtor may enter into Restructuring Transactions and may take such actions as may be necessary or appropriate to effect such Restructuring Transactions, as may be determined by such Reorganized Debtor to be necessary or appropriate. The actions to effect the Restructuring Transactions may include: (i) the execution and delivery of appropriate agreements or other documents of merger,

The Restructuring Transactions may include one or more mergers, consolidations, restructures, dispositions, liquidations or dissolutions, as may be determined by the Reorganized Debtors to be necessary or appropriate to result in substantially all of the respective assets, properties, rights, liabilities, duties and obligations of all or certain of the Reorganized Debtors vesting in one or more surviving, resulting or acquiring corporations. In each case in which the surviving, resulting or acquiring corporation in any such transaction is a successor to a Reorganized Debtor, such surviving, resulting or acquiring corporation will perform the obligations of the applicable Reorganized Debtor pursuant to the Plan to pay or otherwise satisfy the Allowed Claims against such Reorganized Debtor, except as provided in any contract, instrument or other agreement or document effecting a disposition to such surviving, resulting or acquiring corporation, which may provide that another Reorganized Debtor will perform such obligations. The Rights Offering shall commence on the Subscription Commencement Date and shall expire on the Subscription Expiration Time. After the Subscription Expiration Time, any and all unexercised Rights shall automatically terminate without further notice or order of Court, and any purported exercise of any such unexercised Rights by any Person shall be null and void. Reorganized OCD shall not (and shall have no obligation to) honor any such purported exercise received by the Subscription Agent after the Subscription Expiration Time, regardless of when the documents relating to such exercise were purportedly delivered or executed.

(d) Exercise of Rights

In order to exercise a Right, each holder of an Eligible Class A5 Claim, Eligible Class A6-A Claim and Eligible Class A6-B Claim entitled to exercise such Right shall: (i) return a duly completed and signed Subscription Agreement to the relevant Subscription Agent so that such documents are received by the Subscription Agent on or before the Subscription Expiration Time; and (ii) pay to the Subscription Agent (on behalf of the Debtors) on or before the Subscription Expiration Time in Cash in an amount equal to the aggregate Subscription Price for the Rights Offering Shares elected to be purchased by such holder, which payment shall be made by wire transfer in accordance with the wire instructions set forth on the Subscription Agreement. If, prior to the Subscription Expiration Time, the Subscription Agent for any reason has not received from a given holder of Rights (i) a duly completed and signed Subscription Agreement, and (ii) Cash, in an amount equal to such holder's aggregate Subscription Price for the Rights Offering Shares elected to be purchased by such holder, then such holder shall be deemed to have not validly exercised its Rights and to have relinquished and waived its ability to participate in the Rights Offering; provided, however, that the Unsubscribed Shares shall include those Rights Offering Shares corresponding to the Rights not validly exercised pursuant to the Rights Offering. Each holder shall execute the certificate set forth in the Subscription Agreement regarding such holder's ownership of the Claim giving rise to the Rights. The Purchase Price Proceeds shall be deposited by or on behalf of the Subscription Agent in the Rights Offering Account. In the event that the Rights Offering Account is held by an entity other than OCD (or any of its Affiliates), then the Purchase Price Proceeds shall be remitted to OCD on or before the Effective Date in such manner as may be reasonably satisfactory to OCD and the other Plan Proponents consistent with the Rights Offering Documents.

(e) Transfer Restriction; No Revocation

The Rights shall not be independently transferable (but may be transferred along with the underlying Class A5, Class A6-A or Class A6-B Claim). Additionally, once a holder of Rights has properly exercised its Rights pursuant to the Subscription Documents, such exercise cannot be revoked for any reason.

(f) Purchase by Investor of Unsubscribed Shares

As promptly as practicable, but in any event at least four (4) Business Days prior to the Effective Date, the Debtors shall give the Investor by electronic facsimile transmission the certification by an executive officer of OCD (conforming to the requirements specified in the Equity Commitment Agreement for such certification) of either (i) the number of Unsubscribed Shares and the aggregate purchase price therefor, calculated based upon a purchase price per Unsubscribed Share equal to the Subscription Price, or (ii) in the absence of any Unsubscribed Shares, confirmation that there are no Unsubscribed Shares and that the Backstop Commitment, as defined in the Equity Commitment Agreement, has been terminated. Pursuant to the terms of the Equity Commitment Agreement and provided that all conditions precedent set forth therein have been satisfied, the Investor shall purchase in Cash on the Effective Date any and all of the Unsubscribed Shares and shall pay to OCD or, if applicable, Reorganized OCD Cash in an amount equal to the aggregate purchase price set forth in the notice described in clause (i) of the immediately preceding sentence.

(g) Distribution of Rights Offering Shares

(i) On or as soon as reasonably practicable after the Effective Date, but no later than the Initial Distribution Date, Reorganized OCD shall issue the Rights Offering Shares to those holders of Eligible Class A5 Claims, Eligible Class A6-A Claims and Eligible Class A6-B Claims that properly exercised their Rights pursuant to the Subscription Documents, subject, in each case, to acceptance of the Plan by the applicable Class pursuant to Sections 3.3(c)(ii), 3.3(d)(ii) and 3.3(e)(ii) of the Plan.

(ii) Solely in the event there are any Unsubscribed Shares after the Subscription Expiration Time, on the Effective Date, Reorganized OCD shall issue and deliver to the account of the Investor (or such other accounts as the Investor may designate) the Unsubscribed Shares, and the Investor shall pay in Cash the aggregate purchase price for the Unsubscribed Shares as set forth in the notice described in clause (i) of Section 5.8(f) of the Plan by wire transfer of federal (same day) funds to the account specified by OCD to the Investor at least twenty-four (24) hours in advance, and otherwise in accordance with the terms of the Equity Commitment Agreement.

(h) Interest

In the event that any Rights Offering Purchase Price Proceeds are repaid or otherwise returned to any Person (including any holder of an Eligible Class A5 Claim, Eligible Class A6-A Claim or Eligible Class A6-B Claim) making such payment, such Rights Offering Purchase Price Proceeds shall be returned together with any simple interest actually earned thereon after the Subscription Expiration Time.

(i) Validity of Exercise of Rights

All questions concerning the timeliness, viability, form and eligibility of any exercise of Rights shall be determined by OCD in accordance with the Rights Offering Documents. Such determinations shall be final and binding. OCD, with the consultation of the relevant Subscription Agent, may waive any defect or irregularity, or permit a defect or irregularity to be corrected within such times as it may determine, or reject the purported exercise of any Rights. Subscription Agreements shall be deemed not to have been received or accepted until all irregularities have been waived or cured within such time as OCD, with the consultation of the Subscription Agent, determines. Neither OCD nor the Subscription Agent shall be under any duty to give notification of any defect or irregularity in connection with the submission of Subscription Agreements or incur any liability for failure to give such notification. For the avoidance of doubt, the Unsubscribed Shares shall include those Rights Offering Shares corresponding to the Rights not validly exercised pursuant to the Rights Offering.

(j) Return of Rights Offering Purchase Price Proceeds

In the event that the Plan Proponents revoke, withdraw or fail to consummate the Plan pursuant to Section 14.15 of the Plan, or the conditions precedent to the occurrence of the Effective Date shall not have been satisfied or waived in accordance with Section 12.2 of the Plan, the Subscription Agent, OCD or Reorganized OCD, as the case may be, shall, within five (5) Business Days of such event or failure to consummate the Plan, return to each Person that exercised a Right such Person's ratable portion of the Rights Offering Purchase Price Proceeds together with any simple interest actually earned thereon after the Subscription Expiration Time.

9. Offerings of Senior Notes

Reorganized OCD reserves the right to conduct offerings of Senior Notes prior to or after the Initial Distribution Date, as it may deem appropriate (subject to the reasonable consent of the other Plan Proponents).

OCD's rights and obligations under the Collar Agreements shall be, automatically and shall be deemed to be, assigned to the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust on the Effective Date pursuant to and in accordance with the terms and conditions of the Collar Agreements, except to the extent otherwise provided in such Collar Agreements, and the Confirmation Order shall so provide. In the event that the Reserved New OCD Shares are issued and delivered to the OC Sub-Account pursuant to Sections 3.24(b) or 3.24(c) of the Plan, then (i) the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust (or such other Persons reasonably satisfactory to the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust, the Backstop Providers and OCD) shall grant the Call Options to the Backstop Providers (or such other Persons reasonably satisfactory to the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust, the Backstop Providers and OCD), and (ii) the Backstop Providers (or such other Persons reasonably satisfactory to the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust, the Backstop Providers and OCD) shall grant the Put Options to the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust (or such other Persons reasonably satisfactory to the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust, the Backstop Providers and OCD) pursuant to the Collar Agreements.

On the Effective Date, (i) the Investor Registration Rights Agreement shall be deemed effective and binding upon OCD or Reorganized OCD, as the case may be, the Investor, and the Backstop Providers, and (ii) the Trust Registration Rights Agreement shall be deemed effective and binding upon Reorganized OCD and the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust, in each case with respect to shares of New OCD Common Stock received by each such Person pursuant to the Plan (whether as a direct distribution, pursuant to the exercise of Rights, pursuant to the exercise or exchange of the Call Options or the Put Options or otherwise), and as otherwise provided for in the applicable Registration Rights Agreement, on the terms set forth in the applicable Registration Rights Agreement.

11. Revesting of Assets

As of the Effective Date, all property of each Reorganized Debtor shall be free and clear of all Encumbrances, Claims and Interests, except as specifically provided in the Plan or the Confirmation Order. Without limiting the generality of the foregoing, each Reorganized Debtor may, without application to or approval by the Bankruptcy Court, pay fees that it incurs after the Effective Date for professional services and expenses.

E. TREATMENT OF EXECUTORY AND POST-PETITION CONTRACTS AND UNEXPIRED LEASES

1. Assumed Contracts and Leases

(a) Except as otherwise provided in the Plan, or in any contract, instrument, release, indenture or other agreement or document entered into in connection with the Plan, as of the Effective Date, each Debtor shall be deemed to have assumed each executory contract and unexpired lease to which it is a party, unless such contract or lease (i) was previously assumed or rejected by such Debtor, (ii) previously expired or terminated pursuant to its own terms, (iii) is the subject of a motion pending before the Bankruptcy Court as of the Confirmation Date to assume or reject such contract or lease or (iv) is listed on Schedule IV, to be filed at least ten (10) Business Days prior to the Objection Deadline, as being an executory contract or unexpired lease to be rejected; provided, however, that the Plan Proponents reserve the right, at any time prior to the Confirmation Date, to amend Schedule IV to add or delete any unexpired lease or executory contract. Moreover, except as otherwise provided in the Plan or an order of the Court entered prior to the Effective Date, as of the Effective Date, all of the Debtors' post-petition contracts and leases entered into by one or more of the Debtors after the Petition Date shall be treated as though they are executory contracts or unexpired leases that are assumed

[18] The Debtors reserve the right to propose an additional or other form of employee benefit or incentive program as part of the Employee Arrangements, the terms and conditions of which would be disclosed on Exhibit F, as it may be modified, revised and supplemented (as may be satisfactory in form and substance to the Reorganized Debtors and any other Plan Proponents) up to ten (10) Business Days prior to the Objection Deadline.

under the Plan. The Confirmation Order shall constitute an order of the Bankruptcy Court under Sections 365 and 1123 of the Bankruptcy Code, as applicable, approving the contract and lease assumptions described above, as of the Effective Date.

(b) Each executory contract and unexpired lease (including each post-petition contract and lease treated as an executory contract) that is assumed and relates to the use, ability to acquire, or occupancy of real property shall include (i) all modifications, amendments, supplements, restatements or other agreements made directly or indirectly by any agreement, instrument or other document that in any manner affect such executory contract or unexpired lease and (ii) all executory contracts or unexpired leases appurtenant to the premises, including all easements, licenses, permits, rights, privileges, immunities, options, rights of first refusal, powers, uses, usufructs, reciprocal easement agreements, vaults, tunnel or bridge agreements or franchises and any other interests in real estate or rights in rem related to such premises, unless any of the foregoing agreements has been rejected pursuant to an order of the Bankruptcy Court.

2. Payments Related to Assumption of Contracts and Leases

Any monetary amounts by which each executory contract and unexpired lease (including each post-petition contract and lease treated as an executory contract) to be assumed pursuant to the Plan is in default will be satisfied, under Section 365(b)(1) of the Bankruptcy Code, at the option of the Debtors or the assignee of a Debtor assuming such contract or lease, by Cure. If there is a dispute rebgarding (i) the nature or amount of any Cure, (ii) the ability of a Reorganized Debtor or any assignee to provide "adequate assurance of future performance" (within the meaning of Section 365 of the Bankruptcy Code) under the contract or lease to be assumed or (iii) any other matter pertaining to assumption, Cure will occur following the entry of a Final Order of the Bankruptcy Court resolving the dispute and approving the assumption or assumption and assignment, as the case may be. To the extent not previously provided by the Court, the Confirmation Order shall contain provisions for notices of proposed assumptions and proposed Cure amounts to be sent to applicable third parties and for procedures for objecting thereto and resolution of disputes by the Bankruptcy Court. If no proposed Cure amount is proposed by the Debtors, it shall be presumed that the Debtors are asserting that no Cure amount is required to be paid under Section 365(b)(1) of the Bankruptcy Code.

3. Assignments Related to the Restructuring Transactions

As of the effective time of an applicable Restructuring Transaction, any executory contract or unexpired lease (including any post-petition contract or lease treated as an executory contract) to be held by any Debtor or another surviving, resulting or acquiring corporation in an applicable Restructuring Transaction shall be deemed assigned to the applicable entity pursuant to section 105, 365 and/or 1123 of the Bankruptcy Code, as applicable.

4. Rejected Contracts and Leases

On the Effective Date, each executory contract and unexpired lease that is listed on Schedule IV, shall be rejected pursuant to Section 365 of the Bankruptcy Code. Each contract or lease listed on Schedule IV shall be rejected only to the extent that any such contract or lease constitutes an executory contract or unexpired lease. The Plan Proponents reserve their right, at any time prior to the Confirmation Date, to amend Schedule IV to delete any unexpired lease or executory contract therefrom or add any unexpired lease or executory contract thereto. To the extent that an executory contract or unexpired lease (i) is not listed on Schedule IV, (ii) has not been previously rejected or (iii) is not subject to a motion to reject at the time of the Confirmation Date, such executory contract or unexpired lease shall be deemed assumed. Listing a contract or lease on Schedule IV shall not constitute an admission by a Debtor nor a Reorganized Debtor that such contract or lease is an executory contract or unexpired lease or that such Debtor or Reorganized Debtor has any liability thereunder. Without limiting the foregoing, any agreement entered into prior to the Petition Date by or on behalf of the Debtors with a holder of an Asbestos Personal Injury Claim with respect to the settlement of any OC Asbestos Personal Injury Claim or FB Asbestos Personal Injury Claim shall be deemed rejected as of the Effective Date to the extent such settlement agreement is deemed to be an executory contract within the meaning of Section 365(a) of the Bankruptcy Code. The Confirmation Order shall constitute an order of the Bankruptcy Court approving such rejections as of the Effective Date, pursuant to Section 365 of the Bankruptcy Code.

5. Rejection Damages Bar Date

If the rejection by a Debtor, pursuant to the Plan, of an executory contract or unexpired lease results in a Claim, then such Claim shall be forever barred and shall not be enforceable against any Debtor or Reorganized Debtor, or the properties of any of them, unless a Proof of Claim is filed and served upon counsel to the Debtors, counsel to the Unsecured Creditors' Committee and counsel to the Asbestos Claimants' Committee, within thirty (30) days after service of the notice that the executory contract or unexpired lease has been rejected.

6. Indemnification Obligations

(a) Indemnification Obligations shall be deemed to be, and shall be treated as though they are, executory contracts that are assumed pursuant to Section 365 of the Bankruptcy Code under the Plan as of the Effective Date, and such obligations shall survive confirmation of the Plan, remain unaffected by the Plan and shall not be discharged or impaired by the Plan, irrespective of whether the indemnification or reimbursement obligation is owed in connection with an event occurring before, on or after the Petition Date, except as may otherwise be provided in Schedule XVII, to be filed no later than ten (10) Business Days prior to the Objection Deadline; provided, however, that, except as otherwise provided in the Plan, indemnification obligations that are not Indemnification Obligations shall be deemed to be, and shall be treated as though they are, executory contracts that are rejected pursuant to Section 365 of the Bankruptcy Code as of the Effective Date.

(b) In addition to the foregoing, as of the Effective Date, the Reorganized Debtors shall obtain and maintain in full force tail insurance covering such risks as are presently covered for the benefit of all Persons who are or were officers or directors of the Debtors on the Petition Date or thereafter, except as may otherwise be provided in Schedule XVII, to be filed no later than ten (10) Business Days prior to the Objection Deadline, in a minimum amount and for a minimum period as shall be set forth in Schedule XVIII, to be filed no later than ten (10) Business Days prior to the Objection Deadline.

(c) Each of the provisions set forth in Section 7.6 of the Plan is an integral part of the Plan and is essential to its implementation. Each Person entitled to indemnification and insurance pursuant to Section 7.6 shall have the right to independently seek the enforcement of each of the terms of Section 7.6 of the Plan.

If the Reorganized Debtors incur Indemnification Obligations which exceed any applicable insurance coverage, the Indemnification Obligations s would have the same priority and effect as Adminsitrative Expenses or post-petition obligations, even with respect to claims which otherwise would constitute pre-petition, non-priority claims. In the exercise of the Debtors' business judgment, with the support of the Plan Proponents, it has been determined that the assumption of the Indemnification Obligations is justifiied by the the contributuions of the indemnified officers and directors to the financial success of the Debtors,, the necessity of the Reorganized Debtors to retain the services of its officers and directors for contined success, and the critical need to continue to attract the best possible personnel to serve as officers and directors of Owens Corning.

7. Insurance Policies and Agreements

(a) Assumed Insurance Policies and Agreements.

The Debtors do not believe that the insurance policies issued to, or insurance agreements entered into by, the Debtors prior to the Petition Date (including, without limitation, any policies covering directors' or officers' conduct) constitute executory contracts (and, consequently, such insurance policies and agreements shall continue in effect after the Effective Date). To the extent that such insurance policies or agreements (including, without limitation, any policies covering directors' or officers' conduct) are considered to be executory contracts, then, notwithstanding anything contained in Section 7.1 or 7.3 of the Plan to the contrary, the Plan shall constitute a motion to assume such insurance policies and agreements (except for those set forth on Schedule XI in accordance with Section 7.7(b) of the Plan), and, subject to the occurrence of the Effective Date, the entry of the Confirmation Order shall constitute approval of such assumption pursuant to Section 365(a) of the Bankruptcy Code and a finding by the Bankruptcy Court that each such assumption is in the best interest of each Debtor, its Estate, and all parties in interest in the Chapter 11 Cases. Unless otherwise determined by the Bankruptcy Court pursuant to a Final Order or agreed to by the parties thereto prior to the Effective Date, no payments are required to cure any defaults of the Debtors existing as of the Confirmation Date with respect to each such insurance policy or agreement. To the extent that the Bankruptcy Court determines otherwise as to any such insurance policy or agreement, the Debtors reserve the right to seek rejection of such insurance policy or agreement or other available relief. In accordance with Sections 10.3 of the Plan, the rights of the Debtors under the insurance policies and agreements constituting the OC Asbestos Personal Injury Liability Insurance Assets shall, to the extent necessary, be deemed assigned to the OC Sub-Account of the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust as of the Effective Date and, pursuant to Section 365 of the Bankruptcy Code, the Debtors shall have no further liability thereunder from and after June 18, 2001.

(b) Rejected Insurance Policies and Agreements.

If the Wellington Agreement is determined to be an executory contract, OCD has agreed that it will not reject the Wellington Agreement as an executory contract. To the extent that any or all of the insurance policies and agreements set forth on Schedule XI, to be filed no later than ten (10) Business Days prior to the Objection Deadline, are considered to be executory contracts, then, notwithstanding anything contained in Section 7.1 or 7.3 of the Plan to the contrary, the Plan shall constitute a motion to reject the insurance policies and agreements set forth on Schedule XI, and the entry of the Confirmation Order shall constitute approval of such rejection pursuant to Section 365(a) of the Bankruptcy Code and a finding by the Bankruptcy Court that each such rejected insurance policy or agreement set forth on Schedule XI is burdensome and that the rejection thereof is in the best interest of each Debtor, its estate, and all parties in interest in the Chapter 11 Cases.

(c) Reservation of Rights.

With the exception of issues that are expressly resolved in the Plan or Confirmation Order including those specified in Section 3.3(f)(iii), 3.4(d)(iii), and 12.1(a)(xxiv) and (xxv) of the Plan relating to rights under insurance policies and insurance settlement agreements, and with the exception of issues that are expressly resolved by insurance settlement agreements approved by the Bankruptcy Court: (i) nothing contained in the Plan, including Section 7.7 of the Plan or in the Confirmation Order, shall preclude OCD, Fibreboard, or their insurers from asserting in any proceeding any and all claims, defenses, rights or causes of action that they have or may have under or in connection with any insurance policies issued to OCD or Fibreboard or any settlement agreements made with respect to such insurance policies; (ii) nothing in the Plan or Confirmation Order shall be deemed to waive any claims, defenses, rights, or causes of action that OCD, Fibreboard, or their insurers have or may have under the provisions, terms, conditions, defenses and/or exclusions contained in such insurance policies or settlement agreements, including, but not limited to, any and all claims, defenses, rights or causes of action based upon or arising out of Asbestos Personal Injury Claims, OC Property Damage Claims, or FB Property Damage Claims that are liquidated, resolved, discharged, channeled or paid in connection with the Plan; and (iii) nothing in the Confirmation Order or the Plan (including any other provision that purports to be preemptory or supervening), shall in any way operate to or have the effect of, impairing the insurers' legal, equitable or contractual rights, if any, in any respect, and the rights of insurers shall be determined under insurance policies and settlement agreements as applicable.

Century Indemnity Company (as successor to CCI Insurance Company, as successor to Insurance Company of North America); Central National Insurance Company of Omaha for policies issued through Cravens, Dargan & Co. Pacific Coast; and Pacific Employers Insurance Company and each of their respective affiliates: (i) reserve all of their rights and defenses under their respective insurance policies and related agreements which the Debtors may allege provide coverage to them or for any Claim; and (ii) reserve all of their rights to object to confirmation of the Plan and to all agreements, schedules, and documents relating to the Plan, including any aspect of the foregoing that purports to alter insurers' obligations or rights or to decide any matter adversely to them.

(d) Miscellaneous

The Asbestos Personal Injury Trust is obligated to honor and respect the benefits and protections, including, without limitation, the release and injunctive protections, conferred upon Affiliated FM and Allianz by the Affiliated FM Settlement Agreement and the Allianz Settlement Agreement, respectively, as if the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust were a signatory thereto. The express references to Affiliated FM and Allianz in the preceding sentence shall not give rise to any inference that other settling insurers are not entitled to similar protections.

F. PROVISIONS GOVERNING DISTRIBUTIONS

1. Distributions for Claims Allowed as of the Initial Distribution Date

Except as otherwise provided in the Plan or as ordered by the Bankruptcy Court, distributions to be made on account of Claims that are Allowed Claims as of the Effective Date shall be made on, or as soon as practicable after, the Initial Distribution Date. Notwithstanding anything in the Plan to the contrary, distributions on account of Administrative Claims that are Allowed Claims as of the Effective Date shall be made on, or as soon as practicable after, the Effective Date, with no action to enforce a right to such payment until at least thirty (30) days after the Effective Date. Notwithstanding anything in the Plan to the contrary, distributions on account of Class A7 and B8 Claims shall be made in accordance with the terms and conditions of the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust Agreement and the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust Distribution Procedures. Distributions on account of Claims that first become Allowed Claims after the Effective Date shall be made pursuant to Section 9.4 of the Plan. Notwithstanding the date on which any distribution of New OCD Securities is actually made to a holder of a Claim that is an Allowed Claim on the Effective Date, as of the date of the distribution such holder shall be deemed to have the rights of a holder of such securities distributed as of the Initial Distribution Date; provided, however, that for purposes of determining accrual of interest or rights in respect of any other payment from and after the Effective Date, the Rights Offering Shares to be issued under the Rights Offering pursuant to the Plan shall be deemed issued as of the Effective Date (or, if applicable, Initial Distribution Date) regardless of the date on which they are actually dated, authenticated or distributed.

2. Interest on Claims

Unless otherwise specifically provided for in the Plan, the Confirmation Order, or the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust Distribution Procedures, or required by applicable bankruptcy law, post-petition interest shall not accrue or be paid on Claims, and no holder of a Claim shall be entitled to interest accruing on or after the Petition Date on any Claim. Interest shall not accrue or be paid upon any Disputed Claim in respect of the period from the Petition Date to the date a final distribution is made thereon if and after such Disputed Claim becomes an Allowed Claim.

3. Distributions under the Plan

(a) The Disbursing Agent or, in the case of the Bondholders Claims, the appropriate Pre-petition Indenture Trustee, shall make all distributions required under the Plan, except to holders of Asbestos Personal Injury Claims. Asbestos Personal Injury Claims shall be satisfied in accordance with the distribution procedures described in the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust Agreement and the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust Distribution Procedures.

(b) If the Disbursing Agent is an independent third party designated by the Reorganized Debtors to serve in such capacity, such Disbursing Agent shall be entitled to receive, without further Bankruptcy Court approval, reasonable compensation for distribution services rendered pursuant to the Plan as well as reimbursement of reasonable out-of-pocket expenses incurred in connection with rendering such services from the Reorganized Debtors on terms acceptable to the Reorganized Debtors. No Disbursing Agent shall be required to give any bond or surety or other security for the performance of its duties unless otherwise ordered by the Bankruptcy Court.

4. Record Date for Distributions to Holders of Allowed Claims and Exisitng OCD Common Stock (Other Than Asbestos Personal Injury Claims)

At the close of business on the Distribution Record Date, the transfer records for Claims and Existing OCD Common Stock (other than Asbestos Personal Injury Claims), including the Bank Holders Claims and Bondholders Claims, shall be closed, and there shall be no further changes in the record holders of such Claims. None of the Reorganized Debtors, the Disbursing Agent, if any, CSFB, as agent for the Bank Holders nor the applicable Pre-petition Indenture Trustee under the Pre-petition Bond Indenture for the Bondholders shall have any obligation to recognize any transfer of Allowed Claims, including, without limitation, Allowed Bank Holders Claims or Allowed Bondholders Claims, as applicable, occurring after the Distribution Record Date, and they shall be entitled instead to recognize and deal for all purposes hereunder with only those record holders as of the close of business on the Distribution Record Date.

Distributions to holders of Bondholder Claims administered by the Pre-petition Indenture Trustees shall be made by means of book-entry exchange through the facilities of the Depository Trust Corporation ("DTC") in accordance with the customary practices of the DTC, as and to the extent practicable. In connection with such book-entry exchange, each Pre-petition Indenture Trustee shall deliver instructions to the DTC directing the DTC to effect distributions (net of Pre-petition Indenture Trustee fees and expenses) on a pro rata basis as provided under the Plan with respect to the Bondholder Claims upon which such Indenture Trustee acts as trustee.

5. Means of Cash Payment

Cash payments made pursuant to the Plan shall be in United States funds by means agreed to by the payor and the payee, including by check or wire transfer, or, in the absence of an agreement, such commercially reasonable manner as the Debtors, the Reorganized Debtors, the Disbursing Agent, or, as applicable, such other payor shall determine in their sole discretion.

6. Fractional New OCD Common Stock; Other Distributions

(a) No fractional shares of New OCD Common Stock shall be issued or distributed under the Plan. If any distribution pursuant to the Plan would otherwise result in the issuance of New OCD Common Stock that is not a whole number, the actual distribution of shares of such stock shall be rounded to the next higher or lower whole number as follows: (i) fractions of greater than one-half (1/2) shall be rounded to the next higher whole number, and (ii) fractions of one-half (1/2) or less shall be rounded to the next lower whole number. The total number of shares of New OCD Common Stock to be distributed pursuant to the Plan shall be adjusted as necessary to account for the rounding provided for in the Plan.

(b) No consideration shall be provided in lieu of fractional shares that are rounded down.

(c) In addition, the payment of fractions of dollars shall not be made. Whenever any payment of a fraction of a dollar under the Plan would otherwise be called for, the actual payment made shall reflect a rounding of the fraction to the nearest whole dollar (up and down), with half dollars rounded down.

(d) The Disbursing Agent, or any agent or servicer, as the case may be, shall not make any payment of less than one hundred dollars ($100.00) with respect to any Claim.

7. Delivery of Distributions

Distributions to holders of Allowed Claims in all Classes other than Classes A7 and B8 shall be made by the Disbursing Agent or the applicable Pre-petition Indenture Trustee, as the case may be. If any holder’s distribution is returned as undeliverable, no further distributions to such holder shall be made until the Disbursing Agent (or Pre-petition Indenture Trustee as applicable) is notified of such holder’s then current address, at which time all missed distributions shall be made to such holder without interest. Amounts in respect of undeliverable distributions made by the Disbursing Agent (or the Pre-petition Indenture Trustee as applicable) shall be returned to the Reorganized Debtors until such distributions are claimed. All the claims for undeliverable distributions made by the Disbursing Agent or the Pre-petition Indenture Trustee, as the case may be, must be made on or before the first (1st) anniversary of the Effective Date, after which date all unclaimed property shall revert to the Reorganized Debtors free of any restrictions thereon and the claim of any holder or successor to such holder with respect to such property shall be discharged and forever barred, notwithstanding any federal or state escheat laws to the contrary. Nothing contained in the Plan shall require the Debtors, Reorganized Debtors, any Disbursing Agent, the Administrative Agent for the Bank Holders or any Pre-petition Indenture Trustee to attempt to locate any holder of an Allowed Claim after the first (1st) anniversary of the Effective Date.

8. Surrender of Pre-petition Bonds

(a) Pre-petition Bonds

Except as provided in Section 8.8(b) of the Plan in connection with lost, stolen, mutilated or destroyed Pre-petition Bonds, each holder of an Allowed Claim evidenced by a Pre-petition Bond shall tender such Pre-petition Bond to the respective Pre-petition Indenture Trustee in accordance with written instructions to be provided in a letter of transmittal to such holders by the Pre-petition Indenture Trustee as promptly as practicable following the Effective Date. Such letter of transmittal shall specify that delivery of such Pre-petition Bonds will be effected, and risk of loss and title thereto will pass, only upon the proper delivery of such Pre-petition Bonds with the letter of transmittal in accordance with such instructions. Such letter of transmittal shall also include, among other provisions, customary provisions with respect to the authority of the holder of the applicable note or Pre-petition Bonds to act and the authenticity of any signatures required on the letter of transmittal. All surrendered Pre-petition Bonds shall be marked as cancelled and delivered by the respective Pre-petition Indenture Trustee to the Reorganized Debtors.

(b) Lost, Mutilated or Destroyed Pre-petition Bonds

In addition to any requirements under the applicable certificate or articles of incorporation or bylaws of the applicable Debtor, any holder of indebtedness or obligation of a Debtor evidenced by a Pre-petition Bond that has been lost, stolen, mutilated or destroyed shall, in lieu of surrendering the Pre-petition Bond, deliver to the Pre-petition Indenture Trustee (i) evidence satisfactory to the Pre-petition Indenture Trustee of the loss, theft, mutilation or destruction; and (ii) such indemnity as may be required by the Pre-petition Indenture Trustee to hold the Pre-petition Indenture Trustee harmless from any damages, liabilities or costs incurred in treating such individual as a holder of a Pre-petition Bond.

(c) Failure to Surrender Cancelled Pre-petition Bonds

Any holder of a Pre-petition Bond that fails to surrender or be deemed to have surrendered such Pre-petition Bond before the first (1st) anniversary of the Effective Date shall have its Claim for a distribution on account of such Pre-petition Bond discharged and shall be forever barred from asserting any such Claim against any Reorganized Debtor or their respective property.

(d) Distributions upon Receipt of Pre-petition Bonds

No distribution of property under the Plan shall be made to or on behalf of any such holders unless and until such Pre-petition Bond is received by the appropriate Pre-petition Indenture Trustee, or the unavailability of such Pre-petition Bond is established to the reasonable satisfaction of the appropriate Pre-petition Indenture Trustee or such requirement is waived by the Reorganized Debtors.

9. Withholding and Reporting Requirements

In connection with the Plan and all distributions thereunder, the Disbursing Agent shall, to the extent applicable, comply with all tax withholding and backup withholding and reporting requirements imposed by any federal, state, provincial, local or foreign taxing authority, and all distributions thereunder shall be subject to any such withholding and reporting requirements. The Disbursing Agent shall be authorized to take any and all actions that may be necessary or appropriate to comply with such withholding and reporting requirements.

10. Setoffs

The Debtors and the Reorganized Debtors may, but shall not be required to, pursuant to Section 553 of the Bankruptcy Code or applicable non-bankruptcy law, set off against any Allowed Claim and the payments or other distributions to be made pursuant hereto on account of such Claim (before any distribution is made on account of such Allowed Claim), the claims, equity interests, rights and causes of action of any nature whatsoever that the Debtors or the Reorganized Debtors may hold against the holder of such Allowed Claim; provided, however, that neither the failure to effect such a setoff nor the allowance of any Claim hereunder shall constitute a waiver or release by the Debtors or the Reorganized Debtors of any such claims, equity interests, rights and causes of action that the Debtors or the Reorganized Debtors may possess against any such holder, except as specifically provided in the Plan.

G. PROCEDURES FOR RESOLVING DISPUTED, CONTINGENT AND UNLIQUIDATED CLAIMS AND DISPUTED INTERESTS

1. Prosecution of Objections to Certain Claims

(a) Unless otherwise ordered by the Bankruptcy Court, only the Debtors, the Reorganized Debtors or the Disbursing Agent shall have the authority to file objections to settle, compromise, withdraw or litigate objections to Claims, other than with respect to (i) the applications for the allowance of compensation and reimbursement of expenses of professionals under Section 330 of the Bankruptcy Code, and (ii) Asbestos Personal Injury Claims, provided, however, that in the event the Disbursing Agent is not one of the Reorganized Debtors, then the Disbursing Agent shall reasonably consult with a designated representative of Reorganized OCD with respect to the settlement or compromise of the foregoing claims on such terms and conditions as may be mutually satisfactory to the Disbursing Agent and Reorganized OCD.

(b) From and after the Confirmation Date, the Reorganized Debtors or the Disbursing Agent may settle or compromise any Disputed Claim without approval of the Bankruptcy Court.

(c) All objections to Claims, other than Asbestos Personal Injury Claims, must be filed and served on the holders of such Claims by the Claims Objection Deadline. Nothing contained in the Plan, however, shall limit the Debtors' or Reorganized Debtors' right to object to any Claims, other than Asbestos Personal Injury Claims, filed or amended after the Claims Objection Deadline. If an objection has not been filed to a Proof of Claim or a scheduled Claim, other than Asbestos Personal Injury Claims, by the Claims Objection Deadline, the Claim to which the Proof of Claim or scheduled Claim relates will be treated as an Allowed Claim if such Claim has not been Allowed earlier.

(d) Notwithstanding anything contained in the Plan to the contrary, the Debtors shall not be required to take any further action with respect to any proofs of claim filed against any of the Debtors on account of asserted Asbestos Personal Injury Claims. As set forth in Sections 5.17(b), 10.4 and 11.4 of the Plan, all Asbestos Personal Injury Claims against any and all of the Debtors shall be exclusively channeled to the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust, and shall be subject to the Asbestos Personal Injury Channeling Injunction.

2. No Distributions Pending Allowance

Notwithstanding any other provision in the Plan, no payments or distributions shall be made with respect to all or any portion of a Disputed Claim unless and until all objections to such Disputed Claim have been settled or withdrawn or have been determined by Final Order, and the Disputed Claim, or some portion thereof, has become an Allowed Claim.

3. Disputed Distribution Reserve

(a) On, or as soon as practicable after, the Initial Distribution Date, the Reorganized Debtors shall transmit to the Disputed Distribution Reserve Cash in an amount equal to the sum of (i) the Face Amount of each Administrative Claim, Priority Tax Claim, Other Priority Claim, Other Secured Tax Claim, Other Secured Claim and Convenience Claim that is a Disputed Claim as of the Effective Date, or (ii) such lesser amount for any such Disputed Claim that may be agreed upon by the holder of such Disputed Claim and the Reorganized Debtors, or that may be approved by the Bankruptcy Court at or prior to the Confirmation Hearing. The Disbursing Agent shall reserve for the account of each holder of a Disputed Claim described in the immediately preceding sentence, Cash in the Face Amount thereof (or such lesser amount as such holder and the Reorganized Debtors may agree or as may be approved by the Bankruptcy Court at or prior to the Confirmation Hearing); provided, however, that the Cash transmitted to, and reserved by, the Disbursing Agent pursuant to Section 9.3(a) of the Plan may be held by the Disbursing Agent in a single interest bearing account, fund or reserve (provided further, however, that separate book entries for each Claim shall be maintained by the Disbursing Agent) to be established and maintained by the Disbursing Agent pending resolution of the Disputed Claims described in Section 9.3(a) of the Plan.

(b) In addition, on, or as soon as practicable after, the Initial Distribution Date, the Reorganized Debtors shall transmit to the Disputed Distribution Reserve:

(i) in the event Class A5 rejects the Plan, the Reserved OCD Distribution Package; or

(ii) in the event Class A5 accepts the Plan, (x) Cash in an amount equal to the Reserved OCD Distribution Amount, in the event either or both of Class A6-A and Class A6-B rejects the Plan; (y) the Reserved Class A6-A Aggregate Amount, in the event Class A6-A accepts the Plan; and (z) the Reserved Class A6-B Aggregate Amount, in the event Class A6-B accepts the Plan.

The Disbursing Agent shall reserve (from the Reserved OCD Distribution Package, the Reserved OCD Distribution Amount, the Reserved Class A6-A Aggregate Amount or the Reserved Class A6-B Aggregate Amount, as may be applicable) for the account of each holder of a Disputed Class A6-A or Class A6-B Claim Cash, New OCD Common Stock, or such other property which would otherwise be distributable to such holder on the Initial Distribution Date in accordance with the Plan were such Disputed Claim an Allowed Claim (in the Face Amount thereof) as of the Effective Date (or property of a lesser value as such holder and the Reorganized Debtors may agree or as may be approved by the Bankruptcy Court). Moreover, each of the Reserved OCD Distribution Package, the Reserved OCD Distribution Amount, the Reserved Class A6-A Aggregate Amount and the Reserved Class A6-B Aggregate Amount, to the extent applicable, shall be set aside and segregated from the property received by the Disbursing Agent pursuant to Sections 9.3(a) and 9.3(c) of the Plan; provided, however, that the Cash portion of any of the foregoing may be held by the Disbursing Agent in a single interest bearing account, fund or reserve (provided further, however, that separate book entries for each Claim shall be maintained by the Disbursing Agent) to be established and maintained by the Disbursing Agent pending resolution of the Disputed Claims described in Section 9.3(b) of the Plan. Without limiting the foregoing, at all times after the Initial Distribution Date, (i) the holders of Disputed Class A6-A and A6-B Claims shall have the sole right to the Reserved OCD Distribution Package or the Reserved OCD Distribution Amount, to the extent applicable, (ii) the holders of Disputed Class A6-A Claims shall have the sole right to the Reserved Class A6-A Aggregate Amount, to the extent applicable, and (iii) the holders of Disputed Class A6-B Claims shall have the sole right to the Reserved Class A6-B Aggregate Amount, to the extent applicable, in the Disputed Distribution Reserve. Moreover, the Disbursing Agent shall not disburse or distribute any portion of any such package or amount to any Person prior to the Final Distribution Date (subject to Section 9.5 of the Plan) other than to holders of Disputed Class A6-A or A6-B Claims that become Allowed in accordance with the terms of the Plan subsequent to the Effective Date, without further order of the court.

(c) In addition, on, or as soon as practicable after, the Initial Distribution Date, the Reorganized Debtors shall transmit to the Disputed Distribution Reserve Cash in an aggregate amount equal to the sum of (i) the Face Amount of each Class B6 through Class U6 Claim that is a Disputed Claim as of the Effective Date, or (ii) such lesser amount for any such Disputed Claim that may be agreed upon by the holder of such Disputed Claim and the Reorganized Debtors, or that may be approved by the Bankruptcy Court at or prior to the Confirmation Hearing. The Disbursing Agent shall reserve for the account of each holder of a Disputed Claim in each of the respective Classes B6-U6, Cash in an amount equal to (i) the Face Amount of such Disputed Claim, or (ii) such lesser amount for any such Disputed Claim that may be agreed upon by the holder of such Disputed Claim and the Reorganized Debtors, or that may be approved by the Bankruptcy Court at or prior to the Confirmation Hearing; provided, however, that the Cash transmitted to, and reserved by, the Disbursing Agent pursuant to Section 9.3(c) of the Plan may be held by the Disbursing Agent in a single interest bearing account, fund or reserve (provided further, however, that separate book entries for each Claim shall be maintained by the Disbursing Agent) to be established and maintained by the Disbursing Agent pending resolution of the Disputed Claims described in Section 9.3(c) of the Plan.

4. Distributions on Account of Disputed Claims Once They are Allowed

(a) On each Quarterly Distribution Date, the Disbursing Agent shall make payments and distributions from the Disputed Distribution Reserve to each holder of a Disputed Claim that has become an Allowed Claim during the preceding calendar quarter.

1. Conditions to Confirmation

The Plan shall not be confirmed, and the Confirmation Order shall not be entered, until and unless the Confirmation Conditions set forth below have been satisfied or waived by the Plan Proponents. These Confirmation Conditions, which are designed to, inter alia, ensure that the Asbestos Personal Injury Permanent Channeling Injunction shall be effective, binding and enforceable, are as follows:

(a) the Bankruptcy Court shall have made the following findings of fact and/or conclusions of law, among others, each of which shall be contained in the Confirmation Order in form and substance acceptable to the Plan Proponents:

(i) The Asbestos Personal Injury Permanent Channeling Injunction is to be implemented in connection with the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust and the Plan.

(x) The actual amounts, numbers, and timing of such Demands cannot be determined.

(xi) Pursuit of such Demands outside the procedures prescribed by the Plan is likely to threaten the Plan's purpose to deal equitably with Claims and Demands.

(xviii) The Plan complies in all respects with Section 524(g) of the Bankruptcy Code.

(xix) The Asbestos Personal Injury Trust is to use its assets and income to pay Asbestos Personal Injury Claims.

(xx) The Plan and its exhibits constitute a fair, equitable, and reasonable resolution of the liabilities of the Debtors for Asbestos Personal Injury Claims.

(xxi) The confirmation and consummation of the Plan, including the discharge of the Debtors pursuant to the Plan shall not provide the insurers a defense to liability for insurance coverage based upon the alleged elimination of the liability of the insured(s).

(b) any applicant who receives such an initial report and wishes to respond thereto shall respond within fifteen (15) days after the date of the initial report and shall serve upon the fee auditor via e-mail a response in an electronic format such as Microsoft Word, WordPerfect, or Excel, but not Adobe Acrobat;

(c) within seventy-five (75) days after the date on which the applicable application for compensation or reimbursement was served on the fee auditor, the fee auditor shall file with the Court a final report with respect to each such application for compensation or reimbursement; and

(d) within fifteen (15) days after the date of the final report, the subject applicant may file with the Court a response to such final report.

Nothing herein shall be construed as limiting the right of the United States Trustee to be heard under Section 307 or 502(a) of the Bankruptcy Code with regard to any Professional Fee Claims or other similar claims or requests for payment of administrative expenses.

2. Administrative Claims Bar Date

All requests for payment of an Administrative Claim (other than as set forth in Sections 3.1 and 14.1 of the Plan) must be filed with the Bankruptcy Court and served on counsel for the Debtors not later than forty-five (45) days after the Effective Date. Unless the Debtors object to an Administrative Claim within forty-five (45) days after receipt, such Administrative Claim shall be deemed Allowed in the amount requested. In the event that the Debtors object to an Administrative Claim, the Bankruptcy Court shall determine the Allowed amount of such Administrative Claim. Notwithstanding the foregoing, no request for payment of an Administrative Claim need be filed with respect to an Administrative Claim which is paid or payable by a Debtor in the ordinary course of business.

3. Payment of Statutory Fees

All fees payable pursuant to Section 1930 of title 28 of the United States Code, as determined by the Bankruptcy Court at the Confirmation Hearing, shall be paid on or before the Effective Date. After the Effective Date, the Reorganized Debtors shall pay all required fees pursuant to Section 1930 of title 28 of the United States Code or any other statutory requirement and comply with all statutory reporting requirements.

4. Modifications and Amendments

The Plan Proponents may alter, amend or modify the Plan or any exhibits or schedules thereto under Section 1127(a) of the Bankruptcy Code at any time prior to the Confirmation Date. After the Confirmation Date and prior to substantial consummation of the Plan, as defined in Section 1101(2) of the Bankruptcy Code, the Plan Proponents may, under Section 1127(b) of the Bankruptcy Code, institute proceedings in the Bankruptcy Court to remedy any defect or omission or reconcile any inconsistencies in the Plan, the Disclosure Statement, or the Confirmation Order, and to seek approval of such matters as may be necessary to carry out the purposes and effects of the Plan so long as such proceedings do not materially adversely affect the treatment of holders of Claims under the Plan; provided, however, that prior notice of such proceedings shall be served in accordance with the Bankruptcy Rules or order of the Bankruptcy Court.

5. Severability of Plan Provisions

If, prior to the Confirmation Date, any term or provision in the Plan is held by the Bankruptcy Court to be invalid, void or unenforceable, the Bankruptcy Court, at the request of the Plan Proponents, shall have the power to alter and interpret such term or provision to make it valid or enforceable to the maximum extent practicable, consistent with the original purpose of the term or provision held to be invalid, void or unenforceable, and such term or provision shall then be applicable as altered or interpreted. Notwithstanding any such holding, alteration or interpretation, the remainder of the terms and provisions in the Plan shall remain in full force and effect and shall in no way be affected, impaired or invalidated by such holding, alteration or interpretation. The Confirmation Order shall constitute a judicial determination and shall provide that each term and provision in the Plan, as it may have been altered or interpreted in accordance with the foregoing, is valid and enforceable pursuant to its terms.

6. Successors and Assigns

The rights, benefits and obligations of any Person named or referred to in the Plan shall be binding on, and shall inure to the benefit of, any heir, executor, administrator, successor, trustee or assign of such Person.

7. Compromises and Settlements

Pursuant to Federal Rule of Bankruptcy Procedure 9019(a), the Debtors may compromise and settle various Claims (other than Asbestos Personal Injury Claims) against them and/or claims that they may have against other Persons. The Debtors shall have the right (with Bankruptcy Court approval, following appropriate notice and opportunity for a hearing) to compromise and settle Claims against them and claims that they may have against other Persons up to and including the Effective Date. After the Effective Date, such right shall pass to the Reorganized Debtors pursuant to the provisions of Article V of the Plan.

8. Corrective Action

The Debtors are authorized to take such actions as necessary and appropriate to carry out the Plan, including the correction of mistakes or other inadvertent action. In making distributions or transfers under the Plan, the Debtors may seek return of transfers to the extent of any errors, notwithstanding that the transfer is otherwise irrevocable under the Plan.

9. Discharge of the Debtors

(a) Except as otherwise provided in the Plan or in the Confirmation Order, all consideration distributed under the Plan and the treatment of the Claims thereunder shall be, and shall be deemed to be, in exchange for, and in complete satisfaction, settlement, discharge, and release of, all Claims or other obligations, suits, judgments, damages, debts, rights, remedies, causes of action or liabilities (other than Demands), or Interests or other rights of an equity security holder, relating to any of the Debtors or the Reorganized Debtors or their respective Estates, and regardless of whether any property will have been distributed or retained pursuant to the Plan on account of such Claims or other obligations, suits, judgments, damages, debts, rights, remedies, causes of action or liabilities (other than Demands), or Interests or other rights of an equity security holder, and upon the Effective Date, the Debtors and the Reorganized Debtors shall (i) be deemed discharged under Section 1141(d)(1)(A) of the Bankruptcy Code and released from any and all Claims or other obligations, suits, judgments, damages, debts, rights, remedies, causes of action or liabilities or Interests or other rights of an equity security holder of any nature whatsoever, including, without limitation, liabilities that arose before the Confirmation Date, and all debts of the kind specified in Sections 502(g), 502(h) or 502(i) of the Bankruptcy Code, whether or not (a) a Proof of Claim based upon such debt is filed or deemed filed under Section 501 of the Bankruptcy Code, (b) a Claim based upon such debt is Allowed under Section 502 of the Bankruptcy Code, or (c) the holder of a Claim based upon such debt voted to accept the Plan and (ii) terminate all rights and interests of holders of OCD Interests and the Integrex Interests; provided, however, that the discharge provided in respect of the Bank Holders' Claims pursuant to clause (i) above shall become effective immediately upon the Debtors' delivery of the Initial Bank Holders' Distribution.

(b) As of the Confirmation Date, except as otherwise provided in the Plan or in the Confirmation Order, all Persons shall be precluded from asserting against each of the Debtors, the Reorganized Debtors and their respective Related Persons any other or further Claims or other obligations, suits, judgments, damages, debts, Demands, rights, remedies, causes of action or liabilities or Interests or other rights of an equity security holder relating to any of the Debtors or the Reorganized Debtors or their respective Estates based upon any act, omission, transaction or other activity of any nature that occurred prior to the Confirmation Date; provided, however, that the foregoing shall apply to the Bank Holders immediately upon the Debtors' delivery of the Initial Bank Holders' Distribution. In accordance with the foregoing, except as otherwise provided in the Plan or in the Confirmation Order, the Confirmation Order shall be a judicial determination of discharge of all such Claims or other obligations, suits, judgments, damages, debts, rights, remedies, causes of action or liabilities (other than Demands) or Interests or other rights of an equity security holder against the Debtors or the Reorganized Debtors or their respective Estates and termination of all OCD Interests and Integrex Interests, pursuant to Sections 524 and 1141 of the Bankruptcy Code, and such discharge shall void any judgment obtained against any of the Debtors or the Reorganized Debtors or their respective Estates at any time, to the extent that such judgment relates to a discharged Claim or terminated OCD Interest or Integrex Interest.

(c) Pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 1141(d)(1), the Debtors and the Internal Revenue Service agree that the confirmation of the Plan does not discharge any liabilities to the Internal Revenue Service that may be due from any of the Debtors after the Petition Date and prior to the Confirmation Date. Should any such tax liabilities be determined by the Internal Revenue Service to be due from any of the Debtors, such liabilities shall be determined administratively or in a judicial forum in the manner in which such liabilities would have been resolved had the Chapter 11 Cases not been commenced. Any resulting liabilities shall be paid as if the Chapter 11 Cases had not been commenced.

(d) The foregoing discharge, release and injunction is an integral part of the Plan and is essential to its implementation. Each of the Debtors and the Reorganized Debtors shall have the right to independently seek the enforcement of the discharge, release and injunction set forth in Section 14.9 of the Plan.

10. Non-Binding Effect of Estimation of Asbestos Personal Injury Claims in the Chapter 11 Cases on Certain OCD Insurers

(a) The estimation of the OC Asbestos Personal Injury Claims as set forth in the OCD Asbestos Personal Injury Estimation Order shall not be binding on, and shall have no collateral estoppel effect on, the Non-Participating Insurers and Century Indemnity regarding the insurance coverage obligations of the Non-Participating Insurers and Century Indemnity (or any of them) in any coverage dispute or coverage litigation. In addition, the estimation set forth in the OCD Asbestos Personal Injury Estimation Order shall not be offered into evidence or cited or argued to a jury (or other trier of fact in an alternative dispute resolution pursuant to the Wellington Agreement) by any of the Debtors, the Asbestos Claimants' Committee, the Future Claimants' Representatives or the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust in any coverage litigation, alternative dispute resolution, or other coverage proceeding with the Non-Participating Insurers or Century Indemnity. Further, none of the Debtors, the Asbestos Claimants' Committee, the Future Claimants' Representatives or the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust, nor any entities created pursuant to the Plan may argue or assert, in any court proceeding (or alternative dispute resolution pursuant to the Wellington Agreement) involving the Non-Participating Insurers or Century Indemnity an issues related to insurance coverage, that any findings or conclusions contained in the OCD Asbestos Personal Injury Estimation Order or referenced in any decision, order, finding, conclusion or judgment of the Bankruptcy Court or the District Court (including the Confirmation Order) constitutes a judgment, adjudication, final order, settlement, or finding of liability binding upon any Debtor for any purpose concerning insurance coverage under any policies issued by the Non-Participating Insurers or Century Indemnity for any Asbestos Personal Injury Claims. The District Court's findings in the OCD Asbestos Personal Injury Estimation Order, with respect to the Non-Participating Insurers or Century Indemnity, shall apply only to Plan confirmation issues and not to issues of insurance coverage.

(b) The provisions set forth in Section 14.10(a) of the Plan shall not apply in favor of any specific Non-Participating Insurer or Century Indemnity that argues in a coverage proceeding that a negative inference should be drawn from the failure of the Debtors, the Asbestos Claimants' Committee, the Future Claimants' Representatives or the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust to offer into evidence or to cite to a jury (or other trier of fact in an alternative dispute resolution pursuant to the Wellington Agreement) or argue to a jury (or other trier of fact in an alternative dispute resolution pursuant to the Wellington Agreement) an estimation decision from the Chapter 11 Cases.

11. Special Provisions for Warranty Claims, Distributorship Indemnification Claims and Product Coupon Claims and Mira Vista Claims

(a) The Debtors (or, as the case may be, the Reorganized Debtors) shall have the right after the Confirmation Date to fulfill any pre-Petition Date and pre-Confirmation Date warranty claims based on the Debtors' (or, as the case may be, the Reorganized Debtors') business judgment notwithstanding discharge of the Claims and release of the Debtors pursuant to the Bankruptcy Code and the Plan; provided, however, that neither the Debtors nor the Reorganized Debtors shall assume (or shall be deemed to have assumed) any warranty or other obligations, responsibilities, or liabilities relating to underground storage tanks.

(b) The Debtors (or as the case may be the Reorganized Debtors) shall have the right after the Confirmation Date to fulfill any pre-Petition Date product coupons issued in settlement of asbestos property damage actions based on the Debtors' (or, as the case may be, the Reorganized Debtors') business judgment notwithstanding discharge of the Claims and release of the Debtors pursuant to the Bankruptcy Code and the Plan.

(c) The Debtors shall have the right after the Confirmation Date to fulfill any pre-Petition Date and pre-Confirmation Date distributorship indemnification claims that are not Asbestos Personal Injury Claims based on the Debtors' business judgment notwithstanding discharge of the Claims and release of the Debtors pursuant to the Bankruptcy Code and the Plan.

(d) If the MiraVista Class Action Settlement Agreement is approved by the Bankruptcy Court and/or the District Court (as appropriate) and becomes effective, then the MiraVista Claims shall be resolved in accordance with the provisions of the MiraVista Class Action Settlement Agreement and any court orders or judgments relating thereto, notwithstanding any provision to the contrary in the Plan or the Confirmation Order. If the MiraVista Class Action Settlement Agreement is not approved by the Bankruptcy Court and/or the District Court (as appropriate) or otherwise does not become effective, then the MiraVista Claims shall receive the same treatment under the Plan as they would have received in the absence of the MiraVista Class Action Settlement Agreement.

12. Miscellaneous Settlement Agreements

(a) Notwithstanding any provision to the contrary in the Plan or Confirmation Order, the provisions of the Environmental Settlement Agreement shall govern matters covered by such settlement.

13. Committees and Future Claimants' Representative

(a) Committees

On the Effective Date, each of the Unsecured Creditors' Committee and the Asbestos Claimants' Committee shall dissolve, and its respective members shall be released and discharged from all duties and obligations arising from or related to the Chapter 11 Cases, except for the purpose of completing any matters, including, without limitation, litigation or negotiations, pending as of the Effective Date. The professionals retained by each of the Unsecured Creditors' Committee and the Asbestos Claimants' Committee and the respective members thereof shall not be entitled to compensation or reimbursement of expenses for any services rendered after the Effective Date, except (i) as authorized in the preceding sentence or (ii) to the extent such services are rendered in connection with the hearing on final allowances of compensation pursuant to Section 330 of the Bankruptcy Code.

(b) Future Claimants' Representative

On the Effective Date, the existence of the Future Claimants' Representative and his rights to ongoing reimbursement of expenses and the rights of his professionals to ongoing compensation and reimbursement of expenses shall continue after the Effective Date only for (i) the purposes set forth in the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust Agreement and the annexes thereto and (ii) the purposes of completing any matters, including, without limitation, litigation or negotiations, pending as of the Effective Date, and shall otherwise terminate on the Effective Date.

14. Binding Effect

The Plan shall be binding upon and inure to the benefit of each of the Debtors and Reorganized Debtors and their respective Estates and each of their respective Related Persons and any Person claiming by or through them, and any Person that has held, currently holds or may hold a Claim or other obligation, suit, judgment, damages, Demand, debt, right, remedy, cause of action or liability or Interest or any right of an equity security holder, against or in the Debtors whether or not such Person will receive or retain any property or interest in property under the Plan and each of their respective successors and assigns; in each case, including, without limitation, all parties-in-interest in the Chapter 11 Cases.

15. Revocation, Withdrawal, or Non-Consummation

The Plan Proponents reserve the right to revoke or withdraw the Plan at any time prior to the Confirmation Date and to file subsequent or further amended plans of reorganization. If the Plan Proponents revoke or withdraw the Plan, or if confirmation or consummation of the Plan does not occur, then (i) the Plan shall be null and void in all respects, (ii) any settlement or compromise embodied in the Plan (including the fixing or limiting to an amount certain any Claim or Class of Claims), assumption or rejection of executory contracts or leases effected by the Plan, and any document or agreement executed pursuant to the Plan shall be deemed null and void, and (iii) nothing contained in the Plan and no acts taken in preparation for consummation of the Plan, shall (a) constitute or be deemed to constitute a waiver or release of any Claims by or against, or any Interests in, any Debtor or any other Person, (b) prejudice in any manner the rights of the Plan Proponents, any Debtor or any Person in any further proceedings involving a Debtor, or (c) constitute an admission of any sort by the Plan Proponents, any Debtor or any other Person.

16. Plan Exhibits

Any and all exhibits to the Plan or other lists or schedules not filed with the Plan shall be filed with the Clerk of the Bankruptcy Court at least ten (10) Business Days prior to the Objection Deadline, unless the Plan provides otherwise. Upon such filing, such documents may be inspected in the office of the Clerk of the Bankruptcy Court during normal court hours. Holders of Claims or Interests may obtain a copy of any such document upon written request to the Debtors in accordance with Section 14.17 of the Plan, or the Company may make such documents available on the Company's website. The Plan Proponents explicitly reserve the right to modify or make additions to or subtractions from any schedule to the Plan and to modify any exhibit to the Plan prior to the Objection Deadline.

17. Term of Injunctions or Stays

If Classes A5, A6-A, A6-B, A7, A10, A11 and A12-A accept the Plan, then, on or as soon as practicable after the Effective Date, the reasonable professional fees and expenses incurred by the Ad Hoc Equity Holders' Committee shall be reimbursed or otherwise paid by OCD (or, if applicable, Reorganized OCD), subject to approval by the Bankruptcy Court, in recognition of the Ad Hoc Equity Holders' Committee's substantial contribution to the Debtors' reorganization pursuant to 11 U.S.C. §§ 503(b)(3)(D) and 503(b)(4).

VIII. THE ASBESTOS PERSONAL INJURY TRUST

The following summarizes the terms of the governing documents for the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust. These documents consist of the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust Agreement and the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust Distribution Procedures. The following is intended only to be a summary and is qualified in its entirety by reference to the full text of such documents. In the event of any inconsistency between the provisions of these documents and the summary contained in the Plan, the terms of such documents will control. Interested parties should therefore review the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust Agreement and the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust Distribution Procedures, copies of which are attached to the Plan as Exhibits D and D-1, respectively.

A. General Description of the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust

1. Purposes of the PI Trust

The Asbestos Personal Injury Trust will be established as a statutory trust under the laws of the State of Delaware pursuant to the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust Agreement. The purposes of the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust are: (a) to assume all liabilities of the Debtors, their successors in interest, and certain of their Affiliates with respect to OC and FB Asbestos Personal Injury Claims; (b) to use its assets and income to pay holders of valid OC and FB Asbestos Personal Injury Claims in accordance with the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust Distribution Procedures in such a way that such holders are treated fairly, equitably and reasonably in light of the limited assets available to satisfy such claims; and (c) to comply in all respects with the requirements for the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust that are described in section 524(g)(2)(B)(i) of the Bankruptcy Code.

2. The Trustees

The individuals who will serve as the initial Trustees of the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust will be identified, and a complete biography for each initial Trustee will be provided, to the Bankruptcy Court prior to the Confirmation Hearing. The Trustees will serve staggered initial terms of five (5), four (4) and three (3) years from the effective date of the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust Agreement. Thereafter each Trustee will serve a five-year term.

Each Trustee will serve until the end of the Trustee's term, his or her death, resignation or removal, or the termination of the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust. Any Trustee may be removed by the unanimous vote of the remaining Trustees and with the approval of the Bankruptcy Court, in the event he or she becomes unable to discharge his or her duties due to accident or physical or mental deterioration, or for good cause, including any substantial failure to comply with the general administration provisions of the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust Agreement. In the event of a vacancy in a Trustee position, the remaining Trustees will consult with the Trust Advisory Committee and the Future Claimants' Representative concerning appointment of a successor Trustee. The vacancy will be filled by the unanimous vote of the remaining Trustees unless a majority of the Trust Advisory Committee or the Future Claimants' Representative vetoes the appointment. In that event, the Bankruptcy Court will make the appointment.

The Trustees shall receive compensation from the PI Trust for their services as Trustees in the amount of $60,000.00 per annum, except that the Managing Trustee shall receive $75,000.00 per annum for his or her service. All Trustees shall also receive a per diem allowance for telephonic meetings or other Asbestos Personal Injury Trust business performed in the amount of $1,500.00 and a per diem allowance for in person meetings in the amount of $2,500.00. The Trustees shall also be reimbursed for out-of-pocket costs and expenses. The Trustees' annual and per diem compensation will be reviewed every year and appropriately adjusted for changes in the cost of living. Any other changes in compensation shall be made subject to the approval of the Bankruptcy Court.

The Trustees may sit on the Board of Directors of the Reorganized Debtors, but they will not receive additional compensation for their service on such board over and above the compensation they receive as Trustees. The Trustees will receive from the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust, however, the same per diem allowance as the Reorganized Debtors pay their directors for attendance at meetings. Subject to a number of limitations set forth in the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust Agreement, the Trustees have the power to take any and all actions that are necessary to fulfill the purposes of the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust and need not obtain Bankruptcy Court approval to do so.

3. The Trust Advisory Committee

The Asbestos Personal Injury Trust Agreement provides for the establishment of a Trust Advisory Committee ("TAC"). The initial members of the TAC will be Matthew Bergman, Russell W. Budd, John D. Cooney, James Ferraro, Theodore Goldberg, Steven Kazan, Joseph F. Rice, Armand J. Volta, Jr. and Perry Weitz. Each member of the TAC will serve until the earliest of (i) the end of his or her full term in office, (ii) his or her death, (iii) his or her resignation, (iv) his or her removal, or (v) the termination of the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust. Any TAC member may be removed by the remaining TAC members with the approval of the Bankruptcy Court in the event he or she becomes unable to discharge his or her duties due to accident or physical or mental deterioration, or for good cause, including any substantial failure to comply with the general administration provisions of the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust Agreement.

In the event of a vacancy caused by the resignation or death of a TAC member or the expiration of his or her term, the successor shall be pre-selected by such TAC member, or by his or her law firm in the event that such member has not pre-selected a successor. There is no limit on the number of terms a TAC member may serve. If neither the member nor the law firm exercises the right to make such a selection, the successor shall be chosen by a majority vote of the remaining TAC members. If a majority of the remaining members cannot agree, the Bankruptcy Court shall appoint the successor. In the event of a vacancy caused by the removal of a TAC member, the remaining members of the TAC by majority vote shall name the successor. If the majority of the remaining members of the TAC cannot reach agreement, the Bankruptcy Court shall appoint the successor.

The Trustees are required to consult with the TAC on the appointment of successor Trustees, the general implementation and administration of the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust and the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust Distribution Procedures, and on various other matters required by the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust Agreement. The Trustees must also obtain the consent of a majority of TAC members on a variety of matters, including amendments to the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust Agreement and the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust Distribution Procedures, acquisition, merger or participation with other claims resolution facilities, and termination of the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust under certain conditions specified in the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust Agreement.

The members of the TAC will be entitled to receive compensation from the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust for their services as TAC members in the form of a reasonable hourly rate set by the Trustees for attendance at meetings or other conduct of Asbestos Personal Injury Trust business. The members of the TAC will also be reimbursed promptly for all reasonable out-of-pocket costs and expenses incurred in connection with the performance of their duties hereunder.

4. The Future Claimants' Representative

The Asbestos Personal Injury Trust Agreement provides for the appointment of a Future Claimants' Representative, James J. McMonagle, Esq., who will serve in a fiduciary capacity, representing the interests of the holders of Demands against the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust for the purposes of protecting the rights of such persons.

The Future Claimants' Representative will serve until his death, resignation or removal, or the termination of the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust. The Future Claimants' Representative may resign at any time by written notice to the Trustees and may be removed by the Bankruptcy Court in the event he becomes unable to discharge his duties due to accident or physical or mental deterioration, or for good cause, including any substantial failure to comply with the general administration provisions of the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust Agreement.

A vacancy caused by death or resignation shall be filled with an individual nominated prior to the death or the effective date of the resignation by the deceased or resigning Future Claimants' Representative, and a vacancy caused by removal of the Future Claimants' Representative shall be filled with an individual nominated by the Trustees in consultation with the TAC, subject to the approval of the Bankruptcy Court. In the event a majority of the Trustees cannot agree, or a nominee has not been pre-selected, the successor shall be chosen by the Bankruptcy Court.

The Trustees are required to consult with the Future Claimants' Representative on the appointment of successor Trustees, the general implementation and administration of the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust and the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust Distribution Procedures, and on various other matters required by the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust Agreement. The Trustees must also obtain the consent of the Future Claimants' Representative on a variety of matters, including amendments to the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust Agreement and the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust Distribution Procedures, acquisition, merger or participation with other claims resolution facilities, and termination of the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust under certain conditions specified in the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust Agreement.

The Future Claimants' Representative will be entitled to receive compensation from the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust in the form of payment at the Future Claimants' Representative's normal hourly rate for services performed and will be reimbursed by the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust for all reasonable out-of-pocket costs and expenses incurred by the Future Claimants' Representative in connection with the performance of his duties hereunder.

5. Transfer of Assets to the PI Trust

On the Effective Date and on the Final Distribution Date, or as soon thereafter as is practicable, the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust will receive the consideration described in Sections 3.3 and 3.4 of the Plan.

On the Effective Date, or as soon thereafter as is practicable, at the sole cost and expense of the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust and in accordance with written instructions provided to the Reorganized Debtors by the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust, the Reorganized Debtors will transfer and assign, and will use all commercially reasonable efforts to cause the trustee of the Fibreboard Insurance Settlement Trust to transfer and assign, to the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust all books and records of the Debtors and the Fibreboard Insurance Settlement Trust that pertain directly to Asbestos Personal Injury Claims that have been asserted against the Debtors and/or the Fibreboard Insurance Settlement Trust. The Debtors will request that the Bankruptcy Court, in the Confirmation Order, rule that such transfers shall not result in the invalidation or waiver of any applicable privileges pertaining to such books and records.

The Reorganized Debtors shall cooperate with the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust and use commercially reasonable efforts to take or cause to be taken all appropriate actions and to do or cause to be done all things necessary or appropriate to effectuate the transfer of the OC Asbestos Personal Injury Liability Insurance Assets to the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust for allocation to the OC Sub-Account. By way of enumeration and not of limitation, the Reorganized Debtors shall be obligated (i) to provide the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust with copies of insurance policies and settlement agreements included within or relating to the OC Asbestos Personal Injury Liability Insurance Assets; (ii) to provide the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust with information necessary or helpful to the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust in connection with its efforts to obtain insurance coverage for Asbestos Personal Injury Claims; (iii) to execute further assignments or allow the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust to pursue claims relating to the OC Asbestos Personal Injury Liability Insurance Assets in its name (subject to appropriate disclosure of the fact that the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust is doing so and the reasons why it is doing so), including by means of arbitration, alternative dispute resolution proceedings or litigation, to the extent necessary or helpful to the efforts of the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust to obtain insurance coverage under the OC Asbestos Personal Injury Liability Insurance Assets for Asbestos Personal Injury Claims; and (iv) to pursue and recover insurance coverage in its own name or right to the extent that the transfer and assignment of the OC Asbestos Personal Injury Liability Insurance Assets to the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust is not able to be fully effectuated. The Asbestos Personal Injury Trust shall be obligated to compensate Reorganized OCD for costs reasonably incurred in connection with providing assistance to the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust pursuant to the Plan, including, without limitation, out-of-pocket costs and expenses, consultant fees, and attorneys' fees.

6. Establishment of the OC Sub-Account and the FB Sub-Account

On the Effective Date or as soon thereafter as is practicable, the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust will establish two Sub-Accounts, the OC Sub-Account and the FB Sub-Account, and will transfer to the OC Sub-Account the consideration described in Section 3.3(f)(iii) of the Plan, and will transfer to the FB Sub-Account the consideration described in Section 3.4(d)(iii) of the Plan.

All OC Asbestos Personal Injury Claims (which includes OC Indirect Asbestos Personal Injury Claims and Unpaid OC Resolved Asbestos Personal Injury Claims) and all OC Resolved Asbestos Personal Injury Claims shall be payable from the assets of the OC Sub-Account. All FB Asbestos Personal Injury Claims (which include FB Indirect Asbestos Personal Injury Claims and Unpaid FB Resolved Asbestos Personal Injury Claims) and all FB Resolved Asbestos Personal Injury Claims shall be payable from the assets of the FB Sub-Account. In all cases, such payments shall be made pursuant to the terms of the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust Distribution Procedures.

7. Asbestos Personal Injury Trust Termination Provisions

The Asbestos Personal Injury Trust is irrevocable, but will dissolve ninety (90) days after the first to occur of any of the following events:

- the Trustees decide to dissolve the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust because (a) they deem it unlikely that new asbestos claims will be filed against the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust, (b) all OC and FB Asbestos Personal Injury Claims duly filed with the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust have been liquidated and paid to the extent provided in the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust Agreement and the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust Distribution Procedures or disallowed by a final, non-appealable order, to the extent possible based upon the funds available through the Plan, and (c) twelve (12) consecutive months have elapsed during which no new asbestos claim has been filed with the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust; or

- if the Trustees have procured and have in place irrevocable insurance policies and have established claims handling agreements and other necessary arrangements with suitable third parties adequate to discharge all expected remaining obligations and expenses of the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust in a manner consistent with this Asbestos Personal Injury Trust Agreement and the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust Distribution Procedures, the date on which the Bankruptcy Court enters an order approving such insurance and other arrangements and such order becomes a final order; or
- to the extent that any rule against perpetuities will be deemed applicable to the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust, twenty-one (21) years less ninety-one (91) days pass after the death of the last survivor of all of the descendents of the late Joseph P. Kennedy, Sr., father of the late President John F. Kennedy, living on the date hereof.

On the dissolution date or as soon as reasonably practicable, after the wind-up of the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust's affairs by the Trustees and payment of all the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust's liabilities have been provided for as required by applicable law, all monies remaining in the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust estate will be given to such organization(s) exempt from federal income tax under Section 501(c)(3) of the IRC, which tax-exempt organization(s) will be selected by the Trustees using their reasonable discretion; provided, however, that (i) if practicable, the activities of the selected tax-exempt organization(s) will be related to the treatment of, research on, or the relief of suffering of individuals suffering from asbestos-related lung disease or disorders, and (ii) the tax-exempt organization(s) will not bear any relationship to Reorganized Debtors within the meaning of Section 468(d)(3) of the IRC. The Plan Proponents believe that the likelihood of any monies remaining in the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust after the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust terminates is extremely remote.

Following the dissolution and distribution of the assets of the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust, the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust shall terminate and the Trustees, or any one of them, shall execute and cause a Certificate of Cancellation of the Certificate of Trust of the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust to be filed with the State of Delaware. The existence of the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust as a separate legal entity shall continue until the filing of the Certificate of Cancellation.

8. Amendment of the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust Documents

The Trustees, subject to the TAC's and the Future Claimants' Representative's consent, may modify or amend certain provisions of the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust Agreement or any document annexed thereto. However, the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust provisions may not be modified or amended in any way that could jeopardize, impair, or modify the applicability of Section 524(g) of the Bankruptcy Code, the efficacy or enforceability of the injunction entered thereunder, or the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust's qualified settlement fund status within the meaning of Treasury Regulations Section 1.468B-1, et seq., promulgated under Section 468B of the IRC.

B. Asbestos Personal Injury Trust Distribution Procedures

1. Asbestos Personal Injury Trust Goals

The Trustees will implement and administer the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust Distribution Procedures, which are attached to the Plan as Exhibit D-1. These procedures have been adopted after lengthy negotiations between and among the Asbestos Claimant's Committee, the Future Claimants' Representative and the Debtors. Nothing approaching full payment of all OC and FB Asbestos Personal Injury Claims is possible in light of the value of all such claims that could be filed against the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust, both currently and in the future, and the value of the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust assets.

The goal of the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust is to treat all claimants equitably. The Asbestos Personal Injury Trust Distribution Procedures further that goal by setting forth procedures for processing and paying claims generally on an impartial, first-in-first-out ("FIFO") basis, with the intention of paying all claimants over time as equivalent a share as possible of the value of their claims based on historical values for substantially similar claims in the tort system.[19]

To this end, the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust Distribution Procedures establish for both OC Asbestos Personal Injury Claims and FB Asbestos Personal Injury Claims a schedule of eight asbestos-related diseases ("Disease Levels"), all of which have presumptive medical and exposure requirements ("Medical/Exposure Criteria"). The Asbestos Personal Injury Trust Distribution Procedures also establish two separate schedules with liquidated values ("Scheduled Values"), anticipated average values ("Average Values"), and caps on liquidated values ("Maximum Values") for the various Disease Levels. These separate schedules or matrices of values are applicable to OC and FB Asbestos Personal Injury Claims, respectively.

The Disease Levels, Medical/Exposure Criteria, Scheduled Values, Average Values and Maximum Values have all been selected and derived with the intention of achieving a fair allocation of the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust funds among claimants suffering from different disease processes in light of the best available information considering the settlement history of OCD or Fibreboard and the rights claimants would have in the tort system absent the bankruptcy.

A claimant may assert separate claims against the OC Sub-Account and the FB Sub-Account based on separate exposures to asbestos or asbestos-containing products manufactured or distributed by OCD and Fibreboard, respectively ("Multiple Exposure

[19] As used in the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust Distribution Procedures, the phrase "in the tort system" shall include only claims asserted by way of litigation and not claims asserted against a trust established pursuant to Section 524(g) and/or Section 105 of the Bankruptcy Code or any other applicable law.

Claims"); however, all such Multiple Exposure Claims must be filed by the claimant at the same time. To the extent a Sub-Account has separate liabilities to a claimant based on multiple exposure, the Sub-Account shall pay the claimant its several share of the liquidated value of the separate claim or claims for which it is liable, subject to applicable Payment Percentage, Maximum Annual Payment and Claims Payment Ratio limitations described below. Under no circumstances, however, shall any claimant receive more than the full liquidated value of his or her claim.

The Asbestos Personal Injury Trust Distribution Procedures provide that the Trustees, with the consent of the Future Claimants Representative and the TAC, may adjust the Initial Payment Percentage (defined below) upward or downward depending on a multitude of factors. Therefore, no assurance can be given that some holders of Asbestos Personal Injury Claims may not be subject to a payment percentage that is higher or lower than the Initial Payment Percentage.

2. Disease Levels, Scheduled Values and Medical/Exposure Criteria Set Forth in the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust Distribution Procedures

The eight Disease Levels covered by the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust Distribution Procedures, together with the Medical/Exposure Criteria for each and the Scheduled Values for the seven Disease Levels eligible for Expedited Review, are set forth below. These Disease Levels, Scheduled Values, and Medical/Exposure Criteria will apply to all OC and FB Asbestos Personal Injury Trust Voting Claims (other than Unpaid OC and FB Resolved Asbestos Personal Injury Claims) filed with the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust on or before the Initial Claims Filing Date (defined below) for which the claimant elects the Expedited Review Process.

Thereafter, with the consent of the TAC and the Future Claimants' Representative, the Trustees may add to, change, or eliminate Disease Levels, Scheduled Values, or Medical/Exposure Criteria; develop subcategories of Disease Levels, Scheduled Values or Medical/Exposure Criteria; or determine that a novel or exceptional asbestos personal injury claim is compensable even though it does not meet the Medical/Exposure Criteria for any of the then current Disease Levels.

Disease Level	Scheduled Value	Medical/Exposure Criteria
Mesothelioma (Level VIII)	OC: $215,000 FB: $135,000	(1) Diagnosis of mesothelioma; and (2) credible evidence of OC or Fibreboard Exposure.[20]
Lung Cancer 1 (Level (VII)	OC: $40,000	(1) Diagnosis of a primary lung cancer plus evidence of an underlying Bilateral Asbestos-Related Nonmalignant Disease,[21]

[20] As defined in the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust Distribution Procedures.

Disease Level	Scheduled Value	Medical/Exposure Criteria
	FB: $27,000	(2) six months OC or Fibreboard Exposure prior to December 31, 1982, (3) Significant Occupational Exposure[22] to asbestos, and (4) supporting medical documentation establishing asbestos exposure as a contributing factor in causing the lung cancer in question.
Lung Cancer 2 (Level VI)	None	(1) Diagnosis of a primary lung cancer; (2) OC or Fibreboard Exposure prior to December 31, 1982, and (3) supporting medical documentation establishing asbestos exposure as a contributing factor in causing the lung cancer in question. Lung Cancer 2 (Level VI) claims are claims that do not meet the more stringent medical and/or exposure requirements of Lung Cancer (Level VII) claims. All claims in this Disease Level will be individually evaluated. The estimated likely average of the individual evaluation awards for this category is $20,000 for OCD and $12,000 for Fibreboard, with such awards capped at $50,000 for OCD and $30,000 for Fibreboard, unless the claim qualifies for Extraordinary Claim treatment. Level VI claims that show no evidence of either an underlying Bilateral Asbestos-Related Non-malignant Disease or Significant Occupational Exposure may be individually evaluated, although it is not expected that such claims will be treated as having any significant value, especially if the claimant is also a smoker. In any event, no presumption of validity will be available for any claims in this category.
Other Cancer (Level V)	OC: $22,000 FB: $12,000	(1) Diagnosis of a primary colo-rectal, laryngeal, esophageal, pharyngeal, or stomach cancer, plus evidence of an underlying Bilateral Asbestos-Related Nonmalignant Disease, (2) six months OC or Fibreboard Exposure prior to December 31, 1982, (3) Significant Occupational Exposure to asbestos, and (4) supporting medical documentation establishing asbestos exposure as a contributing factor in causing the other cancer in question.

[22] As defined in the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust Distribution Procedures.

Disease Level	Scheduled Value	Medical/Exposure Criteria
Severe Asbestosis (Level IV)	OC: $42,000 FB: $29,000	(1) Diagnosis of asbestosis with ILO of 2/1 or greater, or asbestosis determined by pathological evidence of asbestos, plus (a) TLC less than 65%, or (b) FVC less than 65% and FEV1/FVC ratio greater than 65%, (2) six months OC or Fibreboard Exposure prior to December 31, 1982, (3) Significant Occupational Exposure to asbestos, and (4) supporting medical documentation establishing asbestos exposure as a contributing factor in causing the pulmonary disease in question.
Asbestos/Pleural Disease (Level III)	OC: $19,000 FB: $11,500	Diagnosis of Bilateral Asbestos-Related Nonmalignant Disease, plus (a) TLC less than 80%, or (b) FVC less than 80% and FEV1/FVC ratio greater than or equal to 65%, and (2) six months OCD or Fibreboard Exposure prior to December 31, 1982, (3) Significant Occupational Exposure to asbestos, and (4) supporting medical documentation establishing asbestos exposure as a contributing factor in causing the pulmonary disease in question.
Asbestosis/Pleural Disease (Level II)	OC: $8,000 FB: $4,500	(1) Diagnosis of a Bilateral Asbestos-Related Nonmalignant Disease, and (2) six months OC or Fibreboard Exposure prior to December 31, 1982, and (3) five years cumulative occupational exposure to asbestos.
Other Asbestos Disease (Level I – Cash Discount Payment)	OC: $400 FB: $240	(1) Diagnosis of a Bilateral Asbestos- Related Nonmalignant Disease or an asbestos-related malignancy other than mesothelioma, and (2) OC or Fibreboard Exposure prior to December 31, 1982.

3. Claims Liquidation Procedures

OC and FB Asbestos Personal Injury Claims will be processed based on their place in the FIFO Processing Queue (defined below) to be established pursuant to the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust Distribution Procedures for each of the OC and FB Sub-Accounts. The Asbestos Personal Injury Trust will take all reasonable steps to resolve all Asbestos Personal Injury Claims that meet the presumptive Medical/Exposure Criteria of Disease Levels I–V, VII and VIII efficiently and expeditiously under the Expedited Review described below.

Claims involving Disease Levels I–V, VII and VIII that do not meet the presumptive Medical/Exposure Criteria for the relevant Disease Level may undergo the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust's Individual Review Process described below. In such a case, notwithstanding that the claim does not meet the presumptive Medical/Exposure Criteria for the relevant Disease Level, the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust can offer the claimant an amount up to the Scheduled Value of that Disease Level if the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust is satisfied that the claimant has presented a claim that would be cognizable and valid in the tort system.

In lieu of liquidating an OC or FB Asbestos Personal Injury Claim under the Expedited Review Process, OC and Fibreboard claimants holding claims involving Disease Levels II-VIII may alternatively seek to establish a liquidated value for the claim that is greater than its Scheduled Value by electing the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust's Individual Review Process. However, the liquidated value of a more serious Disease Level II-VIII claim that undergoes the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust's Individual Review Process for valuation purposes may be determined by the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust to be less than its Scheduled Value, and in any event may not exceed the Maximum Value for the relevant Disease Level, unless the claim qualifies as an Extraordinary Claim (defined below), in which case its liquidated value cannot exceed the Maximum Value specified in that provision for such claims. Level VI (Lung Cancer 2) claims and Foreign Claims (as defined in the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust Distribution Procedures) may be liquidated only pursuant to the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust's Individual Review Process.

All unresolved disputes over a claimant's medical condition, exposure history and/or the liquidated value of the claim will be subject to mandatory pro bono evaluation and mediation and then to binding or non-binding arbitration at the election of the claimant. OC and FB Asbestos Personal Injury Claims that are the subject of a dispute with the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust that cannot be resolved by non-binding arbitration may enter the tort system. However, if and when a claimant obtains a judgment in the tort system, the judgment will be payable from the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust subject to the Payment Percentage, Maximum Available Payment, and Claims Payment Ratio provisions set forth below.

4. Payment Percentage

After the liquidated value of an OC or FB Asbestos Personal Injury Claim other than a claim involving Other Asbestos Disease (Disease Level I – Cash Discount Payment) is determined by the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust, the claimant will receive a pro-rata share of that value based on a payment percentage (the "Payment Percentage").

With respect to OC Asbestos Personal Injury Trust Voting Claims, the Initial Payment Percentage has been set at % (the "OC Initial Payment Percentage"), and will apply to all OC Asbestos Personal Injury Trust Voting Claims accepted as valid by the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust, unless adjusted by the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust with the consent of the TAC and the Future Claimants' Representative. With respect to FB Asbestos Personal Injury Trust Voting Claims, the initial Payment Percentage has been set at __% (the "Fibreboard Initial Payment Percentage", and together with the OC Initial Payment Percentage, the "Initial Payment Percentage") and will apply to all FB Asbestos Personal Injury Trust Voting Claims accepted as valid by the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust, unless adjusted by the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust with the consent of the TAC and the Future Claimants' Representative. The term "Asbestos Personal Injury Trust Voting Claims" includes (i) Unpaid OC and FB Resolved Asbestos Personal Injury Claims (as defined in the Plan and described); (ii) claims filed against OCD or Fibreboard in the tort system or actually submitted to OCD or Fibreboard pursuant to an administrative settlement agreement prior to the Petition Date; and (iii) all claims filed against another defendant in the tort system prior to the date the Plan was filed with the Bankruptcy Court (the "Plan Filing Date"); provided, however, that (1) the claim described in subsection (i), (ii) or (iii) above actually voted to accept or reject the Plan pursuant to the voting procedures established by the Bankruptcy Court unless such holder certifies to the satisfaction of the Trustees that he or she was prevented from voting in this proceeding as a result of circumstances resulting in a state of emergency affecting, as the case may be, the holder's residence, principal place of business or legal representative's principal place of business at which the holder or his or her legal representative receives notice and/or maintains material records relating to his or her claim and (2) the claim was subsequently filed with the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust on or before the date six months after the date that the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust first makes available proof of claim forms and other claim materials required to file a claim with the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust (the "Initial Claims Filing Date"). The Initial Payment Percentage has been calculated, inter alia, on the assumption that the Average Values will be achieved with respect to existing present claims and projected future claims involving Disease Levels II – VIII.

The Payment Percentage may be adjusted upwards or downwards from time to time by the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust with the consent of the TAC and the Future Claimants' Representative to reflect then-current estimates of the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust's assets and its liabilities, as well as then-estimated values of then-pending and future claims. If the Payment Percentage is increased over time, claimants whose claims were liquidated and paid in prior periods under the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust Distribution Procedures will receive additional payments only as provided in the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust Distribution Procedures. Because there is uncertainty in the prediction of both the number and severity of future claims, and the amount of the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust's assets, no guarantee can be made of any Payment Percentage of an Asbestos Personal Injury Claim's liquidated value other than other than the Initial Payment Percentage of an Asbestos Personal Injury Trust Voting Claim.

5. Maximum Annual Payment and Maximum Available Payment

The Asbestos Personal Injury Trust will estimate or model the amount of cash flow anticipated to be necessary over its entire life to ensure that funds will be available to treat all present and future claimants as similarly as possible. In each year, the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust will be empowered to pay out all of the income earned during the year (net of taxes payable with respect thereto), together with a portion of its principal, calculated so that the application of Asbestos Personal Injury Trust funds over its life will correspond with the needs created by the anticipated flow of claims (the "Maximum Annual Payment"). The Asbestos Personal Injury Trust's distributions to all claimants for that year may not exceed the Maximum Annual Payment determined for that year.

In distributing the Maximum Annual Payment, the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust will first allocate the amount in question to outstanding Unpaid OC and FB Resolved Asbestos Personal Injury Claims and to liquidated OC and FB Asbestos Personal Injury Claims involving Disease Level I (Cash Discount Payment), in proportion to the aggregate value of each group of claims. The remaining portion of the Maximum Annual Payment (the "Maximum Available Payment"), if any, will then be allocated and used to satisfy all other liquidated OC and FB Asbestos Personal Injury Claims, subject to the Claims Payment Ratio (discussed below).

6. Claims Payment Ratio

Based upon OCD's and Fibreboard's claims settlement history and analysis of present and future claims, a Claims Payment Ratio has been determined which, as of the Effective Date, will be set at sixty-five percent (65%) for Category A claims, which consist of OC and FB Asbestos Personal Injury Claims involving severe asbestosis and malignancies (Disease Levels IV – VIII) that were unliquidated as of the Petition Date, and at forty percent (40%) for Category B claims, which are OC and FB Asbestos Personal Injury Claims involving non-malignant Asbestosis or Pleural Disease (Disease Levels II and III) that were similarly unliquidated as of the Petition Date. The Claims Payment Ratio will not apply to any Unpaid OC or FB Resolved Asbestos Personal Injury Claims or to any claims for Other Asbestos Disease (Disease Level I - Cash Discount Payment). In each year, after the determination of the Maximum Available Payment, sixty-five percent (65%) of that amount will be available to pay Category A claims and thirty-five percent (35%) will be available to pay Category B claims.

The 65%/35% Claims Payment Ratio will apply to all OC and FB Asbestos Personal Injury Trust Voting Claims and will not be amended until the third anniversary of the date the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust first accepts for processing proof of claims forms and other materials required to file a claim with the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust. Thereafter, the Claims Payment Ratio will be continued absent circumstances, such as a significant change in law or medicine, necessitating an amendment to avoid a manifest injustice.

In any event, no amendment to the Claims Payment Ratio to reduce the percentage allocated to Category A claims may be made without the unanimous consent of the TAC Members and the consent of the Future Claimants' Representative, and the percentage allocated to Category A claims may not be increased without the consent of the TAC and the Future Claimants' Representative. However, the Trustees, with the consent of the TAC and the Future Claimants' Representative, may offer the option of a reduced Payment Percentage to holders of claims in either Category A or Category B in return for prompter payment (the "Reduced Payment Option").

7. Indemnity and Contribution Claims

OC and FB Indirect Asbestos Personal Injury Claims for indemnity and contribution, if any, will be subject to the same categorization, evaluation, and payment provisions of these Asbestos Personal Injury Trust Distribution Procedures as all other OC and FB Asbestos Personal Injury Claims, subject to certain conditions and procedures germane to claims for indemnity and contribution.

Plant has asserted that various such special provisions of the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust Distribution Procedures were improper. Specifically, Plant alleged that two of the preconditions for processing and payment of OC Indirect Asbestos PI Trust Claims and FB Indirect Asbestos PI Trust Claims cannot be met in a substantial percentage of its cases, thus barring the payment of valid claims. Plant alleged that the requirement that the claimant establish that it has paid in full the liability and obligations of the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust to the individual claimant will be impossible to fulfill in a substantial number of cases involving Plant, because Plant's liability to the holder of the direct claim is allegedly less than Fibreboard's liability in many such cases. Plant also asserted that the requirement that holders of the OC

Indirect Asbestos PI Trust Claims and FB Indirect Asbestos PI Trust Claims prove that the individual claimant has fully released the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust from all liability cannot be met in many cases due to the death of the claimant. Plant alleged that the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust Distribution Procedures should contain procedures for the processing of OC Indirect Asbestos PI Trust Claims and FB Indirect Asbestos PI Trust Claims and should not leave the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust with the discretion to formulate procedures, including forms for proofs of claim in addition to those they filed by the Bar Date of April 15, 2002. Plant objected to the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust Distribution Procedures based on other alleged ambiguities in the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust Distribution Procedures language that the Plan Proponents believe assures that holders of OCD Indirect Asbestos PI Trust Claims and FB Indirect Asbestos PI Trust Claims are not granted rights superior to the holders of the direct claims.

The Plan Proponents made several changes to the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust Distribution Procedures to address the Plant objections. The Asbestos Personal Injury Trust Distribution Procedures now provide for individual consideration and evaluation of any OC Indirect Asbestos PI Trust Claim and FB Indirect Asbestos PI Trust Claim that fails to meet the requirements for presumptive validity, including those requirements objected to by Plant. The review shall determine whether the indirect claimant can establish under applicable state law that it has paid a liability or obligation that the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust would otherwise have to the direct claimant. Any unresolved disputes are subject to non-binding arbitration procedures set forth in the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust Distribution Procedures and, if not resolved by arbitration, resolution through litigation in the tort system. See Section VIII.B.26 of this Disclosure Statement entitled “Suits in the Tort System.” Plant previously asserted that, despite these modifications to the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust Distribution Procedures, the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust Distribution Procedures are ambiguous as to whether holders of indemnity claims are precluded from the recovering on account of claims for attorneys’ fees and interest, allegedly recoverable under certain conditions pursuant to the laws of most states, including California.

The Plan Proponents contend that the conditions and other limitations in the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust Distribution Procedures concerning payment of OC Indirect Asbestos PI Trust Claims and FB Indirect Asbestos PI Trust Claims are consistent with both state law and bankruptcy law, including Sections 502(e) and 509(c) of the Bankruptcy Code. Plant’s objections to the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust Distribution Procedures will be resolved, if necessary, by the Bankruptcy Court or District Court as part of the Confirmation Hearing.

Plant and the Debtors have had a longstanding dispute with respect to the alleged claims of Plant. The Debtors have consistently maintained that Plant’s claims are not valid and the Debtors may file objections to the majority of Plant’s claims under both applicable state law and the Bankruptcy Code. The Debtors assert that is well established under California law that Plant does not have a right to contractual indemnity against Fibreboard. Plant asserts that it is entitled to indemnification from Fibreboard under California law.

8. Ordering of Claims

The Asbestos Personal Injury Trust will order claims that are sufficiently complete to be reviewed for processing purposes on a FIFO basis except as otherwise provided in the Plan (the "FIFO Processing Queue"). For all claims filed on or before the Initial Claims Filing Date, a claimant's position in the FIFO Processing Queue will be determined as of the earliest of (i) the date prior to the Petition Date (if any) that the specific claim was either filed against OCD or Fibreboard in the tort system or was actually submitted to OCD or Fibreboard pursuant to an administrative settlement agreement; (ii) the date before the Petition Date that a claim was filed against another asbestos defendant in the tort system if at the time the claim was subject to a tolling agreement with OCD or Fibreboard; (iii) the date after the Petition Date but before the Initial Claims Filing Date that the claim was filed against another defendant in the tort system; (iv) the date after the Petition Date but before the Effective Date the claimant filed a proof of claim form in OCD's and/or Fibreboard's Chapter 11 proceeding; or (v) the date after the Petition Date the claimant submitted a ballot in for purposes of voting on the Plan pursuant to the voting procedures approved by the Bankruptcy Court.

Following the Initial Claims Filing Date, the claimant's position in the FIFO Processing Queue will be determined by the date the claim was filed with the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust.

9. Effect of Statutes of Limitations and Repose

All unliquidated Asbestos Personal Injury Claims must meet either (i) for claims first filed in the tort system against OCD or Fibreboard prior to the Petition Date, the applicable federal, state and foreign statute of limitation and repose that was in effect at the time of the filing of the claim in the tort system, or (ii) for claims not filed against OCD or Fibreboard in the tort system prior to the Petition Date, the applicable statute of limitation that was in effect at the time of the filing with the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust. However, the running of the relevant statute of limitation will be tolled for purposes of the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust as of the earliest of (a) the actual filing of the claim against OCD or Fibreboard prior to the Petition Date, whether in the tort system or by submission of the claim to OCD or Fibreboard pursuant to an administrative settlement agreement; (b) the filing of the claim against another defendant in the tort system prior to the Petition Date if the claim was tolled against OCD or Fibreboard at the time by an agreement or otherwise; (c) the filing of a claim after the Petition Date but prior to the Initial Claims Filing Date against another defendant in the tort system; (d) the date after the Petition Date but before the Effective Date that a proof of claim was filed against OCD or Fibreboard in OCD's and/or Fibreboard's Chapter 11 proceeding; (e) the date a ballot was submitted by the claimant in OCD's and/or Fibreboard's Chapter 11 proceeding for purposes of voting on the Plan; or (F) the filing of a proof of claim with the requisite supporting documentation with the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust after the Initial Claims Filing Date.

If an OC or FB Asbestos Personal Injury Claim meets any of the tolling provisions described in the preceding sentence and the claim was not barred by the applicable statute of limitation at the time of the tolling event, it will be treated by the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust as timely filed if it is actually filed with the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust within three (3) years after the Initial Claims Filing Date. In addition, any claims that were first diagnosed after the Petition Date, irrespective of the application of any relevant statute of limitation or repose, may be filed with the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust within three (3) years after the date of diagnosis or within three (3) years after the Initial Claims Filing Date, whichever occurs later. However, the processing of any OC or FB Asbestos Personal Injury Claim by the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust may be deferred at the election of the claimant.

10. Payment of Claims

Asbestos Personal Injury Claims that have been liquidated by the Expedited Review Process (described below), by the Individual Review Process (described below), by arbitration or by litigation in the tort system, will be paid in FIFO order based on the date their liquidation became final (the "FIFO Payment Queue").

11. Resolution of Unpaid OC and FB Resolved Asbestos Personal Injury Claims

As soon as practicable after the Effective Date, the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust will pay, upon submission by the claimant of the appropriate documentation, all Unpaid OC and FB Resolved Asbestos Personal Injury Claims as defined in the Plan.

The liquidated value of an Unpaid OC or FB Resolved Asbestos Personal Injury Claims will not include any punitive or exemplary damages. In the absence of a Final Order of the Bankruptcy Court determining whether an OC or FB Asbestos Personal Injury Claim is an Unpaid OC or FB Resolved Asbestos Personal Injury Claim, a dispute between the claimant and the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust over this issue will be resolved pursuant to the same procedures that are provided in the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust Distribution Procedures for resolving the validity and/or liquidated value of an OC or FB Asbestos Personal Injury Claim.

Unpaid OC and FB Resolved Asbestos Personal Injury Claims will be processed and paid by the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust in accordance with their order in a separate FIFO queue to be established by the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust based on the date the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust received all required documentation for the particular claim; provided, however, the amounts payable with respect to such claims will not be subject to or taken into account in consideration of the Claims Payment Ratio, but will be subject to the Maximum Annual Payment and Payment Percentage provisions set forth above.

12. Resolution of Unresolved OC and FB Asbestos Personal Injury Claims

Within six months after the establishment of the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust, the Trustees, with the consent of the TAC and the Future Claimants' Representative, are required to adopt procedures for reviewing and liquidating all unresolved Asbestos Personal Injury Claims, which will include deadlines for processing such claims. Such procedures will also require that claimants seeking resolution of unresolved Asbestos Personal Injury Claims must first file a proof of claim form, together with the required supporting documentation. It is anticipated that the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust will provide an initial response to the claimant within six months of receiving the proof of claim form.

The proof of claim form will require the claimant to assert his or her claim for the highest Disease Level for which the claim qualifies at the time of filing. Irrespective of the Disease Level alleged on the proof of claim form, all claims will be deemed by the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust Distribution Procedures to be a claim for the highest Disease Level for which the claim qualifies at the time of filing, and all lower Disease Levels for which the claim may also qualify at the time of filing or in the future will be treated as subsumed into the higher Disease Level for both processing and payment purposes.

Upon filing of a valid proof of claim form with the required supporting documentation, the claimant will be placed in the FIFO Processing Queue in accordance with the ordering described above. The Asbestos Personal Injury Trust shall provide the claimant with six months notice of the date by which it expects to reach the claim in the FIFO Processing Queue, following which the claimant shall promptly (i) advise the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust whether the claim should be liquidated under the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust's Expedited Review Process or, in certain circumstances, under the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust's Individual Review Process (both of which are described below), (ii) provide the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust with any additional medical and/or exposure evidence that was not provided with the original claim submission and (iii) advise the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust of any change in the claimant's Disease Level. If a claimant fails to respond to the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust's notice prior to the reaching of the claim in the FIFO Processing Queue, the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust will process and liquidate the claim under the Expedited Review Process based upon the medical/exposure evidence previously submitted by the claimant, although the claimant shall retain the right to request Individual Review.

13. Expedited Review

The Asbestos Personal Injury Trust's Expedited Review Process ("Expedited Review") is designed primarily to provide an expeditious, efficient and inexpensive method for liquidating all claims (except Foreign Claims and those involving Lung Cancer 2 - Disease Level VI) where the claim can easily be verified by the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust as meeting the presumptive Medical/Exposure Criteria for the relevant Disease Level. Expedited Review thus provides claimants with a substantially less burdensome process for pursuing Asbestos Personal Injury Claims than does the Individual Review Process. Expedited Review is also intended to provide qualifying claimants a fixed and certain claims payment.

Thus, claims that undergo Expedited Review and meet the presumptive Medical/Exposure Criteria for the relevant Disease Level will be paid the Scheduled Value for such Disease Level. However, except for claims involving Other Asbestos Disease (Disease Level I), all claims liquidated by Expedited Review will be subject to the applicable Payment Percentage, the Maximum Available Payment, and the Claims Payment Ratio limitations set forth above. Claimants holding claims that cannot be liquidated by Expedited Review because they do not meet the presumptive Medical/Exposure Criteria for the relevant Disease Level may elect the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust's Individual Review Process.

14. Claims Processing Under Expedited Review

All claimants seeking liquidation of their claims pursuant to Expedited Review must file the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust's proof of claim form. As a proof of claim form is reached in the FIFO Processing Queue, the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust will determine whether the claim described therein meets the Medical/Exposure Criteria for one of the seven Disease Levels eligible for Expedited Review, and will advise the claimant of its determination. If a Disease Level is determined, the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust will tender to the claimant an offer of payment of the Scheduled Value for the relevant Disease Level multiplied by the applicable Payment Percentage, together with a form of release approved by the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust.

15. Individual Review Process

The Asbestos Personal Injury Trust's Individual Review Process provides a claimant with an opportunity for individual consideration and evaluation of an OC or FB Asbestos Personal Injury Claim that fails to meet the presumptive Medical/Exposure Criteria for Disease Levels I – V, VII and VIII. In such a case, the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust will either deny the claim, or, if the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust is satisfied that the claimant has presented a claim that would be cognizable and valid in the tort system, the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust can offer the claimant a liquidated value amount up to the Scheduled Value for that Disease Level, unless the claim qualifies as an Extraordinary Claim, in which case its liquidated value cannot exceed the Maximum Value for such a claim.

Claimants holding claims involving Disease Levels II – VIII will also be eligible to seek Individual Review of the liquidated value of their claims, as well as of their medical/exposure evidence. The Individual Review Process is intended to result in payments equal to the full liquidated value for each claim multiplied by the Payment Percentage; however, the liquidated value of any OC or FB Asbestos Personal Injury Claim that undergoes Individual Review may be determined to be less than the Scheduled Value the claimant would have received under Expedited Review. Moreover, the liquidated value for a claim involving Disease Levels II – VIII may not exceed the Maximum Value for the relevant Disease Level, unless the claim meets the requirements of an Extraordinary Claim, in which case its liquidated value cannot exceed the Maximum Value set forth in that provision for such claims. Because the detailed examination and valuation process pursuant to Individual Review requires substantial time and effort, claimants electing to undergo the Individual Review Process may be paid the liquidated value of their OC or FB Asbestos Personal Injury Claims later than would have been the case had the claimant elected the Expedited Review. Subject to the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust's claims audit procedures, the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust shall devote reasonable resources to the review of all claims to ensure that there is a reasonable balance maintained in reviewing all classes of claims.

The liquidated value of all Foreign Claims shall be established pursuant to the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust's Individual Review Process. OC and FB Asbestos Personal Injury Claims of individuals exposed in Canada who were resident in Canada when such claims were filed shall not be considered Foreign Claims and shall be eligible for liquidation under the Expedited Review Process.

16. Valuation Factors to be Considered in Individual Review

The Asbestos Personal Injury Trust will liquidate the value of each OC or FB Asbestos Personal Injury Claim that undergoes Individual Review based on the historic liquidated values of other similarly situated claims in the tort system for the same Disease Level. The Asbestos Personal Injury Trust will thus take into consideration all of the factors that affect the severity of damages and values within the tort system including, but not limited to credible evidence of (i) the degree to which the characteristics of a claim differ from the presumptive Medical/Exposure Criteria for the Disease Level in question; (ii) factors such as the claimant's age, disability, employment status, disruption of household, family or recreational activities, dependencies, special damages, and pain and suffering; (iii) whether the claimant's damages were (or were not) caused by asbestos exposure, including exposure to an asbestos-containing product or to conduct for which OC or Fibreboard has legal responsibility prior to December 31, 1982, (for example, alternative causes, and the strength of documentation of injuries); (iv) the industry of exposure; (v) settlements and verdict histories in the claimant's jurisdiction for similarly situated claims; and (vi) settlement and verdict histories for the claimant's law firm for similarly situated claims.

17. Scheduled, Average and Maximum Values

The Scheduled, Average and Maximum Values for claims involving Disease Levels I – VIII are the following:

OC SUB-ACCOUNT

Scheduled Disease	Scheduled Value	Average Value	Maximum Value
Mesothelioma (Level VIII)	$215,000	$270,000	$650,000
Lung Cancer 1 (Level VII)	$ 40,000	$ 50,000	$150,000

Mesothelioma (Level VIII)	$135,000	$180,000	$450,000
Lung Cancer 1 (Level VII)	$ 27,000	$ 35,000	$ 90,000
Lung Cancer 2 (Level VI)	None	$ 12,000	$ 30,000
Other Cancer (Level V)	$ 12,000	$ 15,000	$ 36,000

Asbestos/Pleural Disease (Level II)	$ 4,500	$ 5,400	$ 12,000
Other Asbestos Disease (Cash Discount Payment) (Level I)	$ 240	None	None

These Scheduled Values, Average Values and Maximum Values will apply to all OC and FB Asbestos Personal Injury Trust Voting Claims filed with the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust on or before the Initial Claims Filing Date. Thereafter, the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust, with the consent of the TAC and the Future Claimants' Representative, may change these valuation amounts for good cause and consistent with other restrictions on the amendment power.

18. Extraordinary and/or Exigent Hardship Claims

"Extraordinary Claim" means an OC or FB Asbestos Personal Injury Claim that otherwise satisfies the Medical Criteria for Disease Levels II - VIII, and that is held by a claimant whose exposure to asbestos (i) occurred predominately as a result of working in a manufacturing facility of OCD or Fibreboard during a period in which OCD or Fibreboard was manufacturing asbestos-containing products at that facility, or (ii) was at least 75% the result of exposure to an asbestos-containing product or conduct for which OCD or Fibreboard has legal responsibility, and in either case there is little likelihood of a substantial recovery elsewhere. All such Extraordinary Claims will be presented for Individual Review and, if valid, will be entitled to an award of up to a Maximum Value of five (5) times the Scheduled Value for claims qualifying for Disease Levels II -V, VII and VIII, and five (5) times the Average Value for claims in Disease Level VI, multiplied by the applicable Payment Percentage. An Extraordinary Claim, following its liquidation, will be placed in the FIFO Queue ahead of all other OC and FB Asbestos Personal Injury Claims except Unpaid OC and FB Resolved Asbestos Personal Injury Claims, Disease Level I (Other Asbestos Disease) Claims and Exigent Hardship Claims, which will be first in that order in said FIFO Queue, based on its date of liquidation, subject to the Maximum Available Payment and Claims Payment Ratio described above.

At any time the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust may liquidate and pay certain OC or FB Asbestos Personal Injury Claims that qualify as Exigent Hardship Claims. Such claims may be considered separately by the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust no matter what the order of processing otherwise would have been under the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust Distribution Procedures. An Exigent Hardship Claim, following its liquidation, will be placed first in the FIFO Payment Queue ahead of all other liquidated OC or FB Asbestos Personal Injury Claims except Unpaid OC and FB Resolved Asbestos Personal Injury Claims and Disease Level I (Other Asbestos Disease) Claims, subject to the Maximum Available Payment and Claims Payment Ratio described above.

An OC or FB Asbestos Personal Injury Claim will qualify for payment as an Exigent Hardship Claim if the claim meets the Medical/Exposure Criteria for Severe Asbestosis (Disease Level IV) or an asbestos-related malignancy (Disease Levels V-VIII), and the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust, in its sole discretion, determines (a) that the claimant needs financial assistance on an immediate basis based on the claimant's expenses and all sources of available income, and (b) that there is a causal connection between the claimant's dire financial condition and the claimant's asbestos-related disease.

19. Secondary Exposure Claims

If a claimant alleges an asbestos-related disease resulting solely from exposure to an occupationally exposed person, such as a family member, the claimant may seek Individual Review of his or her claim. In such a case, the claimant will be required to establish that the occupationally exposed person would have met the exposure requirements under the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust Distribution Procedures that would have been applicable had that person filed a direct claim against the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust. In addition, the claimant with secondary exposure must establish that he or she is suffering from one of the eight Disease Levels above, or an asbestos-related disease otherwise compensable under the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust Distribution Procedures, that his or her own exposure to the occupationally exposed person occurred within the same time frame as the occupationally exposed person was exposed to an asbestos-containing product or to conduct for which OC or Fibreboard has legal responsibility, and that such secondary exposure was a cause of the claimed disease. The proof of claim form will contain an additional section for Secondary Exposure Claims. All other liquidation and payment rights and limitations under the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust Distribution Procedures will be applicable to such claims.

20. Evidentiary Requirements

(a) Medical Evidence

The Asbestos Personal Injury Trust Distribution Procedures require that all diagnoses of a Disease Level presented to the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust be accompanied by either (i) a statement by the physician providing the diagnosis that at least 10 years have elapsed between the date of first exposure to asbestos or asbestos-containing products and the diagnosis, or (ii) a history of the claimant's exposure sufficient to establish a 10-year latency period. A finding by a physician after the Petition Date that a claimant's disease is "consistent with" or "compatible with" asbestosis will not alone be treated by the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust as a diagnosis.

Except for claims filed against OC, Fibreboard or another asbestos defendant in the tort system prior to the Petition Date, all diagnoses of a non-malignant asbestos-related disease (Disease Levels I-IV) submitted to the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust must be based in the case of a claimant who was living at the time the claim was filed, upon a physical examination of the claimant by the physician providing the diagnosis of the asbestos-related disease. In addition, all living claimants must provide (i) for Disease Levels I - III, evidence of Bilateral Asbestos-Related Nonmalignant Disease (as defined in Footnote 3 of the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust Distribution Procedures), and (ii) for Disease Level IV, an ILO reading of 2/1 or greater or pathological evidence of asbestosis, and (iii) for Disease Levels III and IV, pulmonary function testing. In the case of a claimant who was deceased at the time the claim was filed, all diagnoses of a non-malignant asbestos-related disease (Disease Levels I-IV) shall be based upon either (i) a physical examination of the claimant by the physician providing the diagnosis of the asbestos-related disease, (ii) pathological evidence of the non-malignant asbestos-related disease, (iii) for Disease Levels I - III, evidence of Bilateral Asbestos-Related Nonmalignant Disease (as defined in Footnote 3 of the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust Distribution Procedures), and for Disease Level IV, either an ILO reading of 2/1 or greater or pathological evidence of asbestosis, or (iv) for either Disease Level III or IV, pulmonary function testing.

All diagnoses of an asbestos-related malignancy (Disease Levels V – VIII) submitted to the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust must be based upon either (i) a physical examination of the claimant by the physician providing the diagnosis of the asbestos-related disease, or (ii) on a diagnosis of such a malignant Disease Level by a board-certified pathologist.

If the holder of an OC or FB Asbestos Personal Injury Claim that was filed against OCD, Fibreboard or another defendant in the tort system prior to the Petition Date has available a report of a diagnosing physician engaged by the holder or his or her law firm who conducted a physical examination of the holder as described in the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust Distribution Procedures, or if the holder has filed such medical evidence and/or a diagnosis of the asbestos-related disease by a physician not engaged by the holder or his or her law firm who conducted a physical examination of the claimant with another asbestos-related personal injury settlement trust that requires such evidence, without regard to whether the diagnosing physician was engaged by the holder or his or her law firm, the holder shall provide such medical evidence to the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust notwithstanding the exception to the contrary.

21. Credibility of Medical Evidence

The Asbestos Personal Injury Trust must have reasonable confidence that the medical evidence provided in support of the claim is credible and consistent with recognized medical standards before making any payment to a claimant. The Asbestos Personal Injury Trust may require the submission of x-rays, CT scans, detailed results of pulmonary function tests, laboratory tests, tissue samples, results of medical examination or reviews of other medical evidence, and may require that medical evidence submitted comply with recognized medical standards regarding equipment, testing methods and procedure to assure that such evidence is reliable. Medical evidence (i) that is of a kind shown to have been received in evidence by a state or federal judge at trial, (ii) that is consistent with evidence submitted to OC or Fibreboard to settle for payment similar disease cases prior to OC or Fibreboard's bankruptcy, or (iii) that is a diagnosis by a physician shown to have previously qualified as a medical expert with respect to the asbestos-related disease in question before a state or federal judge, is presumed by the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust to be reliable, although the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust may seek to rebut the presumption.

In addition, claimants who otherwise meet the requirements of the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust Distribution Procedures for payment of an OC or FB Asbestos Personal Injury Claim will be paid by the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust irrespective of the results in any litigation at any time between the claimant and any other defendant in the tort system. However, the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust Distribution Procedures contemplate that any relevant evidence submitted in a proceeding in the tort system, other than any findings of fact, a verdict, or a judgment, involving another defendant may be introduced by either the claimant or the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust in any Individual Review proceeding or any Extraordinary Claim proceeding conducted by the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust.

22. Exposure Evidence

To qualify for any Disease Level, the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust Distribution Procedures require that the claimant demonstrate some exposure to an OC or Fibreboard asbestos-containing product or conduct for which OC or Fibreboard has legal responsibility. Claims based on conspiracy theories that involve no such OC or FB Exposure or conduct are not compensable under the Procedures. To meet the presumptive exposure requirements of Expedited Review, the claimant must show (i) for all Disease Levels, OC or FB Exposure as defined below prior to December 31, 1982; (ii) for Asbestos/Pleural Disease Level II, six months OC or FB Exposure prior to December 31, 1982, plus five years cumulative occupational asbestos exposure; and (iii) for Asbestosis/Pleural Disease (Disease Level III), Severe Asbestosis (Disease Level IV), Other Cancer (Disease Level V) or Lung Cancer 1 (Disease Level VII), the claimant must show six months OC or FB Exposure prior to December 31, 1982, plus Significant Occupational Exposure to asbestos. If the claimant cannot meet the relevant presumptive exposure requirements for a Disease Level eligible for Expedited Review, the claimant may seek Individual Review of his or her claim based on exposure to an asbestos-containing product or conduct for which OC or Fibreboard has legal responsibility.

To recover from the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust, the claimant must demonstrate meaningful and credible exposure to asbestos or asbestos-containing products for which OC or Fibreboard has legal responsibility. For these purposes, the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust will consider meaningful and credible evidence to be established by an affidavit or sworn statement of the claimant, by an affidavit or sworn statement of a co-worker or the affidavit or sworn statement of a family member in the case of a deceased claimant (providing the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust finds such evidence reasonably reliable), by invoices, employment, construction or similar records, or by other credible evidence. The Asbestos Personal Injury Trust may also require submission of other or additional evidence of exposure when it deems such to be necessary. The specific exposure information required by the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust to process a claim under either Expedited or Individual Review shall be set forth on the proof of claim form to be used by the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust. The Asbestos Personal Injury Trust may also require submission of other or additional evidence of exposure when it deems such to be necessary.

23. Second Disease (Malignancy) Claims

The Asbestos Personal Injury Trust Distribution Procedures allow the holder of an OC or Fibreboard Asbestos Personal Injury Claim involving a non-malignant asbestos-related disease (Disease Levels I through IV) to assert a new OC or FB Asbestos Personal Injury Claim against the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust for a malignant disease (Disease Levels V – VIII) that is subsequently diagnosed. The Asbestos Personal Injury Trust will not reduce any additional payments to which such claimant may be entitled with respect to such malignant asbestos-related disease by the amount paid for the non-malignant asbestos-related disease, provided that the malignant disease had not been diagnosed at the time the claimant filed his or her original claim involving the non-malignant disease.

24. Punitive Damages

Except as provided in the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust Distribution Procedures for claims asserted under the Alabama Wrongful Death Statute, in determining the value of any OC or FB Asbestos Personal Injury Claim, punitive or exemplary damages, i.e., damages other than compensatory damages, will not be considered or allowed, notwithstanding their availability in the tort system.

25. Interest

Except for an OC or FB Asbestos Personal Injury Claim involving Other Asbestos Diseases (Disease Level I – Cash Discount Payment) and subject to the limitations set forth below, the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust Distribution Procedures provide that interest will be paid on all OC and FB Asbestos Personal Injury Claims with respect to which the claimant has had to wait a year or more for payment, provided, however, that no claimant will receive interest for a period in excess of seven (7) years. The interest rate for each year shall be the coupon issue yield equivalent (as determined by the Secretary of the Treasury) of the average accepted auction price for the first auction of 5-year Treasury Notes occurring in such year.

Interest is payable on the Scheduled Value of any unresolved OC or FB Asbestos Personal Injury Claim that meets the requirements of Disease Levels II –V, VII and VIII, whether the claim is liquidated under Expedited Review, Individual Review, or by arbitration. No interest shall be paid on any claim involving Disease Level I or on any claim liquidated in the tort system pursuant to the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust Distribution Procedures. Interest on an unresolved OC or FB Asbestos Personal Injury Claim that meets the requirements of Disease Level VI will be based on the Average Value of such a claim. Interest on all such unresolved claims will be measured from the date of payment back to the earliest of the date that is one year after the date on which (a) the claim was filed against OC or Fibreboard prior to the Petition Date; (b) the claim was filed against another defendant in the tort system on or after the Petition Date but before the Effective Date; or (c) the claim was filed with the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust after the Effective Date.

Interest is also payable on the liquidated value of all Unpaid OC or FB Resolved Asbestos Personal Injury Claims. In the case of such claims liquidated by verdict or judgment, interest will be measured from the date of payment back to the date that is one year after the date that the verdict or judgment was entered. In the case of such claims liquidated by a binding, judicially enforceable settlement, interest will be measured from the date of payment back to the date that is one year after the Petition Date.

26. Suits in the Tort System

If the holder of a disputed claim disagrees with the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust's determination regarding the Disease Level of the claim, the claimant's exposure history or the liquidated value of the claim, and if the holder has first submitted the claim to non-binding arbitration, the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust Distribution Procedures contemplate that the holder may file a lawsuit in the claimant's jurisdiction. All defenses (including, with respect to the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust, all defenses which could have been asserted by OC or Fibreboard) will be available to both sides at trial; however, the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust may waive any defense and/or concede any issue of fact or law. If the claimant was alive at the time the initial pre-petition complaint was filed or on the date the proof of claim was filed, the case will be treated as a personal injury case with all personal injury damages to be considered even if the claimant has died during the pendency of the claim.

If and when a claimant obtains a judgment in the tort system, the claim will be placed in the FIFO Payment Queue based on the date on which the judgment became final. Thereafter, the claimant will receive from the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust an initial payment (subject to the applicable Payment Percentage, the Maximum Available Payment, and the Claims Payment Ratio provisions set forth above) of an amount equal to one-hundred percent (100%) of the greater of (i) the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust's last offer to the claimant or (ii) the award that the claimant declined in non-binding arbitration. The claimant will receive the balance of the judgment, if any, in five equal installments in years six (6) through ten (10) following the year of the initial payment (also subject to the applicable Payment Percentage, the Maximum Available Payment and the Claims Payment Ratio provisions above in effect on the date of the subject installment).

In the case of non-Extraordinary Claims involving Disease Levels II—VIII, the total amounts paid with respect to such claims may not exceed the Maximum Values for such Disease Levels. In the case of Extraordinary Claims, the total amounts paid with respect to such claims may not exceed the Maximum Value for such claims. In the case of claims involving Disease Level I, the total amounts paid shall not exceed the Scheduled Value of such claims. Under no circumstances will interest be paid on any judgments obtained in the tort system.

27. Objections concerning the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust Distribution Procedures

Certain insurers assert that the Bankruptcy Court cannot make a finding that the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust Distribution Procedures are fair and equitable as to them, and that any payments made thereunder are not binding on any Insurer(s) absent an adjudication of coverage issues as respects any relevant asbestos claims in proceedings in a separate and appropriate forum. The Insurers assert that the foregoing procedures, as presently disclosed, do not properly protect their contractual rights regarding the defense or settlement of any Asbestos Personal Injury Claims for which coverage is sought and that the result may be that any otherwise available coverage is voided as to such claims. The Debtors disagree with this assertion; the outcome of this dispute cannot be regarded as certain. The Plan Proponents believe that the provisions of the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust Distribution Procedures are fair, equitable and provide appropriate procedures for the allowance of Asbestos Personal Injury Claims, including Disease Levels and values that are fair, equitable and appropriate. Any objections to the provisions of the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust Distribution Procedures shall be ruled upon by the Bankruptcy Court or District Court at the confirmation hearing.

IX. [INTENTIONALLY OMITTED]

X. REGISTRATION RIGHTS/RESTRICTIONS ON TRANSFERS OF CORPORATE SECURITIES AND CERTAIN CLAIMS AND COLLAR AGREEMENTS

As contemplated by the Settlement Term Sheet and the Plan, and pursuant to the terms of the Equity Commitment Agreement, on June 30, 2006, the Debtors filed with the Court a draft form of Registration Rights Agreement as Exhibit P to the Plan (the "Investor Registration Rights Agreement") between the Company and J.P. Morgan, as well as the form of joinder agreement attached to that Registration Rights Agreement which is expected to be signed by various Backstop Providers (together with J.P. Morgan, collectively, the "Investors"). It is contemplated that a second registration rights agreement will be executed by and among the Company and the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust in substantially the same form as the Investor Registration Rights Agreement (the "Trust Registration Rights Agreement", together with the Investor Registration Rights Agreement, the "Registration Rights Agreements"). The Form of the Trust Registration Rights Agreement shall be appended to the Plan as Exhibit Q.

In sum, the Registration Rights Agreements provide that upon the Effective Date the Debtors will grant registration rights to the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust and the Investors to permit the registered resale of securities. The Debtors currently believe that no other Person will receive under or in connection with the Plan any securities of OCD that will not be exempt under Section 1145 of the Bankruptcy Code or any applicable federal or state securities law to the fullest extent possible under applicable non-bankruptcy law and under bankruptcy law. As contemplated by the Registration Rights Agreements, and as more fully described in Exhibit H to the Plan (the Principal Terms and Conditions of the New OCD Common Stock), the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust and the Investors shall have registration rights after the Effective Date in respect of the New OCD Common Stock. For a more detailed description of the terms and conditions of the Registration Rights Agreements, please refer to the draft form of agreement appended to the Plan as Exhibit P.

Additionally, on June 30, 2006, pursuant to the Settlement Term Sheet and the Plan, and as contemplated by the Equity Commitment Agreement, the Debtors filed with the Court as Exhibit J to the Plan a draft form of Collar Agreement by and between the Company and J.P. Morgan. It is contemplated that in accordance with the ECA Approval Order, the Company shall enter into Collar Agreements (the "Collars"), similar in form to Exhibit J and covering all of the 28.2 million Reserved New OCD Shares, with J.P. Morgan and certain other financial institutions (collectively, the "Dealers"). Pursuant to the terms of the Collars, at the "Assignment Effective Date" (as defined therein), the Company's rights and obligations, as agreed to under the Collars, shall be assigned to the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust. Consistent with the Settlement Term Sheet, it is contemplated that, under the Collars, the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust shall grant to each of the Dealers options to purchase – or call, severally, a portion of all of the shares held by the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust, for $37.50 per share, which options shall expire twelve (12) months after the date the shares of New OCD Common Stock are issued to the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust (the "Issuance Date"), in accordance with the terms of the Plan. Similarly, as consistent with the Settlement Term Sheet, it is contemplated that, under the Collars, each of the Dealers shall grant, severally, to the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust options to sell – or put – a portion of all of its shares to such dealer, for $25.00 per share, which options shall expire three (3) months after the Issuance Date, in accordance with the terms of the Plan. Before payment of the Backstop Fee, the Debtors shall have filed on or before July 7, 2006, copies of the Collars and Registration Rights Agreement (as defined in Section 5(n)) approved by the ACC and FCR and signed by the Company and the counterparties thereto. For a more detailed description of the terms and conditions of the Collars, a copy of the form of the Collars is attached as Exhibit J to the Plan.

XI. APPLICABILITY OF FEDERAL AND OTHER SECURITIES LAWS

It is not currently expected that any registration statement will be filed under the Securities Act or any state securities laws with respect to the issuance or distribution of the New OCD Securities under the Plan, except any registration statement that may be filed in connection with the employee incentive and management plans described above and as contemplated by Section X of the Disclosure Statement and Section XI. The Debtors believe that, subject to certain exceptions, including those described below, various provisions of the Securities Act, the Bankruptcy Code and state securities laws exempt from federal and state securities registration requirements (a) the offer and the sale of such securities pursuant to the Plan, and (b) subsequent transfers of such securities. Nonetheless, for reasons described below, the Debtors currently contemplate that they will, at or prior to the Effective Date, file a registration statement under the Securities Act with respect to the subsequent transfer or resale of New OCD Securities issued under the Plan.

A. Offer and Sale of New OCD Securities Pursuant to the Plan: Bankruptcy Code Exemption from Registration Requirements

Holders of Allowed Claims or Interests, as the case may be, in Classes A5, A6-A and A6-B, A-11 and A-12, and current OCD employees and the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust may receive New OCD Securities including, without limitation, the New OCD Common Stock (including, without limitation, the Rights Offering Shares, the Unsubscribed Shares, the Reserved New OCD Shares and any shares issued upon exercise or exchange of the Class A11 Warrants or Class A12-A Warrants), the Class A11 Warrants and the Class A12-A Warrants pursuant to the Plan. Section 1145(a)(1) of the Bankruptcy Code provides that the registration requirements of federal and state securities laws do not apply to the offer or sale of securities under a plan of reorganization if three principal requirements are satisfied: (1) the securities must be issued "under a plan" of reorganization by the debtor or its successor under a plan or by an affiliate participating in a joint plan of reorganization with the debtor; (2) the recipients of the securities must hold a pre-petition or administrative expense claim against the debtor or an interest in the debtor; and (3) the securities must be issued entirely in exchange for the recipient's claim against or interest in the debtor, or "principally" in such exchange and "partly" for cash or property. In reliance upon this exemption, the Debtors believe that the offer and sale of the New OCD Securities including, without limitation, the New OCD Common Stock (including, without limitation, the Rights Offering Shares, the Unsubscribed Shares, the Reserved New OCD Shares and any shares issued upon exercise or exchange of the Class A11 Warrants or Class A12-A Warrants), the Class A11 Warrants and the Class A12-A Warrants under the Plan will be exempt from registration under the Securities Act and state securities laws. Indeed, the Plan provides that the issuance and distribution of any and all of (i) the New OCD Securities, including, without limitation, any and all of the Unsubscribed Shares, the Rights Offering Shares, the Reserved New OCD Shares, the Class A11 Warrants, the Class A12-A Warrants and any shares of New OCD Common Stock issued upon exercise or exchange of the Class A11 Warrants or the Class A12-A Warrants, (ii) the Rights (if, and to the extent, applicable), (iii) any and all New OCD Common Stock (or appropriate equivalent interests) and options to purchase shares of New OCD Common Stock granted under or in connection with the Employee Arrangements and Management and Director Arrangements, and (iv) any other stock, options, warrants, conversion rights, rights of first refusal or other related rights, contractual, equitable or otherwise, issued, authorized or reserved under or in connection with the Plan, shall be, and shall be deemed to be, exempt from registration under any applicable federal or state securities law to the fullest extent permissible under Section 1145 of the Bankruptcy Code, section 4(2) of the Securities Act, or any applicable non-bankruptcy law and under bankruptcy law. In addition, the Debtors will seek to obtain, as part of the Confirmation Order, a provision confirming such exemption. Accordingly, such securities may be resold without registration under the Securities Act or other federal securities laws pursuant to an exemption provided by Section 4(1) of the Securities Act, unless the holder is an "underwriter" with respect to such securities, as that term is defined under the Bankruptcy Code or an "affiliate" of Reorganized OCD (see discussion below in Section XI.B). However, recipients of securities issued under the Plan are advised to consult with their own legal advisors as to the availability of any such exemption from registration under state law in any given instance and as to any applicable requirements or conditions to such availability.

B. Subsequent Transfers of New OCD Securities

Section 1145(b) of the Bankruptcy Code defines the term "underwriter" for purposes of the Securities Act as one who, except with respect to "ordinary trading transactions" of an entity that is not an "issuer," (1) purchases a claim against, interest in, or claim for an administrative expense in the case concerning, the debtor, if such purchase is with a view to distributing any security received in exchange for such a claim or interest; (2) offers to sell securities offered or sold under a plan for the holders of such securities; (3) offers to buy securities offered or sold under the plan from the holders of such securities, if the offer to buy is: (a) with a view to distribution of such securities; and (b) under an agreement made in connection with the plan, with the consummation of the plan, or with the offer or sale of securities under the plan; or (4) is an "issuer" with respect to the securities, as the term "issuer" is defined in Section 2(11) of the Securities Act.

Section 4(2) of the Securities Act is "the exemption from registration for transactions by an issuer not involving any public offering. The term "issuer" is defined in Section 2(4) of the Securities Act; however, the reference contained in Section 1145(b)(1)(D) of the Bankruptcy Code to Section 2(11) of the Securities Act purports to include as statutory underwriters all persons who, directly or indirectly, through one or more intermediaries, control, are controlled by, or are under common control with, an issuer of securities. "Control" (as such term is defined in Rule 405 of Regulation C under the Securities Act) means the possession, direct or indirect, of the power to direct or cause the direction of the policies of a person, whether through the ownership of voting securities, by contract, or otherwise. Accordingly, an officer or director of a reorganized debtor (or its successor) under a plan of reorganization may be deemed to be a "control person," particularly if such management position is coupled with the ownership of a significant percentage of the debtor's (or successor's) voting securities. Moreover, the legislative history of Section 1145 of the Bankruptcy Code suggests that a creditor who owns at least 10% of the securities of a reorganized debtor may be presumed to be a "control person."

To the extent that persons deemed to be "underwriters" receive New OCD Securities pursuant to the Plan, resales by such persons would not be exempted by Section 1145 of the Bankruptcy Code from registration under the Securities Act or other applicable law. Such persons would not be permitted to resell such New OCD Securities unless such securities were registered under the Securities Act or an exemption from such registration requirements were available. Entities deemed to be statutory underwriters for purposes of Section 1145 of the Bankruptcy Code may, however, be able, at a future time and under certain conditions described below, to sell securities without registration pursuant to the resale provisions of Rule 144 and Rule 144A under the Securities Act.

Rule 144A provides a non-exclusive safe harbor exemption from the registration requirements of the Securities Act for resales to certain "qualified institutional buyers" of securities that are "restricted securities" within the meaning of the Securities Act, irrespective of whether the seller of such securities purchased his, her or its securities under the provisions of Rule 144A. Under Rule 144A, a "qualified institutional buyer" is defined to include, among other persons (e.g., "dealers" registered as such pursuant to Section 15 of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended (the "Exchange Act") and "banks" as defined in Section 3(a)(2) of the Securities Act), any entity that purchases securities for its own account or for the account of another qualified institutional buyer and that (in the aggregate) owns and invests on a discretionary basis at least $100 million in the securities of unaffiliated issuers. Subject to certain qualifications, Rule 144A does not exempt the offer or sale of securities that, at the time of their issuance, were securities of the same class of securities then listed on a national securities exchange (registered under Section 6 of the Exchange Act) or quoted in a U.S. automated interdealer quotation system (e.g., NASDAQ). For so long as none of the New OCD Securities to be issued under the Plan are not also listed or quoted as described above, holders of New OCD Securities who are deemed to be "underwriters" within the meaning of Section 1145(b)(1) of the Bankruptcy Code or who may be otherwise deemed to be "affiliates" or "control persons" of Reorganized OCD within the meaning of Rule 405 of Regulation C under the Securities Act, and holders of securities whose securities will be "restricted securities" within the meaning of the Securities Act should, assuming that all other conditions of Rule 144A are met, be entitled to avail themselves of the safe harbor resale provisions thereof.

To the extent that Rule 144A is unavailable, such holders may be entitled to resell their securities pursuant to the limited safe harbor resale provisions of Rule 144. Generally, Rule 144 provides that, if certain conditions are met (e.g., the availability of current public information with respect to the issuer, volume of sale limitations, and notice and manner of sale requirements), specified persons who resell "restricted securities" or who resell securities that are not restricted but such persons are "affiliates" of the issuer, will not be deemed to be "underwriters" as defined in Section 2(11) of the Securities Act.

Pursuant to the Plan, certificates evidencing New OCD Securities received by a holder of 10% or more of the outstanding New OCD Common Stock (which will include the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust) will bear a legend substantially in the form below:

THE SECURITIES EVIDENCED BY THIS CERTIFICATE HAVE NOT BEEN REGISTERED UNDER THE SECURITIES ACT OF 1933, AS AMENDED, OR UNDER THE SECURITIES LAWS OF ANY STATE OR OTHER JURISDICTION AND MAY NOT BE SOLD, OFFERED FOR SALE, OR OTHERWISE TRANSFERRED UNLESS REGISTERED OR QUALIFIED UNDER SAID ACT AND APPLICABLE STATE SECURITIES LAWS OR UNLESS THE COMPANY RECEIVES AN OPINION OF COUNSEL REASONABLY SATISFACTORY TO IT THAT SUCH REGISTRATION OR QUALIFICATION IS NOT REQUIRED.

Whether or not any particular person would be deemed to be an "underwriter" of New OCD Securities to be issued pursuant to the Plan, or an "affiliate" of Reorganized OCD, would depend upon various facts and circumstances applicable to that person. Accordingly, OCD expresses no view as to whether any such person would be such an "underwriter" or "affiliate."

The Debtors currently contemplate that, in the exercise of their reasonable business judgment, on or prior to the Effective Date they will file a registration statement under the Securities Act with respect to the transfer or resale of New OCD Securities in order to (i) satisfy the Debtors' obligations with respect to the Registration Rights Agreement and (ii) facilitate the resale of such New OCD Securities held by any person deemed to be an "underwriter" of New OCD Securities issued pursuant to the Plan or an "affiliate" or "control person" or Reorganized OCD.

THE FOREGOING SUMMARY DISCUSSION IS GENERAL IN NATURE AND HAS BEEN INCLUDED IN THIS DISCLOSURE STATEMENT SOLELY FOR INFORMATIONAL PURPOSES. THE DEBTORS MAKE NO REPRESENTATIONS CONCERNING, AND DO NOT HEREBY PROVIDE ANY OPINION OR ADVICE WITH RESPECT TO, THE SECURITIES LAW AND BANKRUPTCY LAW MATTERS DESCRIBED ABOVE. IN LIGHT OF THE COMPLEX AND SUBJECTIVE INTERPRETIVE NATURE OF WHETHER A PARTICULAR RECIPIENT OF NEW DEBT SECURITIES OR NEW OCD COMMON STOCK MAY BE DEEMED TO BE AN "UNDERWRITER" WITHIN THE MEANING OF SECTION 1145(b)(1) OF THE BANKRUPTCY CODE AND/OR AN "AFFILIATE" OR "CONTROL PERSON" UNDER APPLICABLE FEDERAL AND STATE SECURITIES LAWS AND, CONSEQUENTLY, THE UNCERTAINTY CONCERNING THE AVAILABILITY OF EXEMPTIONS FROM THE REGISTRATION REQUIREMENTS OF THE SECURITIES ACT AND EQUIVALENT STATE SECURITIES AND "BLUE SKY" LAWS, OCD ENCOURAGES EACH CLAIMANT TO CONSIDER CAREFULLY AND CONSULT WITH HIS, HER, OR ITS OWN LEGAL ADVISORS WITH RESPECT TO SUCH (AND ANY RELATED) MATTERS.

XII. CERTAIN UNITED STATES FEDERAL INCOME TAX CONSEQUENCES OF THE PLAN

The following discussion is a summary of certain United States federal income tax aspects of the Plan, for general information purposes only, and should not be relied upon for purposes of determining the specific tax consequences of the Plan with respect to a particular holder of a Claim or Interest. This discussion does not purport to be a complete analysis or listing of all potential tax considerations.

This discussion is based on existing provisions of the IRC, existing and proposed Treasury Regulations promulgated thereunder, and current administrative rulings and court decisions. Legislative, judicial, or administrative changes or interpretations enacted or promulgated after the date hereof could alter or modify the analyses set forth below with respect to the United States federal income tax consequences of the Plan. Any such changes or interpretations may be retroactive and could significantly affect the United States federal income tax consequences of the Plan.

The Debtors currently intend to request a private letter ruling from the IRS with respect to certain tax aspects of the Plan, including those discussed in Sections XII.A.1, A.2, A.3, A.4 and B.2, and the Debtors have received a private letter ruling from the IRS with respect to certain issues discussed in Section XII.B.2 below. Receipt of a private letter ruling from the IRS is not a condition to consummation of the Plan, and no assurance can be give that the IRS will issue a private letter ruling or that, if one is received, it will be received before the Plan Confirmation Date. No opinion of counsel has been sought or obtained with respect to the issues intended to be addressed in the private letter ruling request. No representations or assurances are being made to the holders of Claims or Interests with respect to the United States federal income tax consequences described herein.

Any discussion of U.S. federal tax issues set forth in this Disclosure Statement is written solely in connection with the confirmation of the Plan to which the transactions described in this Disclosure Statement are ancillary. Such discussion is not intended or written to be legal or tax advice to any person and is not intended or written to be used, and cannot be used, by any person for the purpose of avoiding any U.S. federal tax penalties that may be imposed on such person. Each holder of a Claim or Interest should seek advice based on its particular circumstances from an independent tax advisor.

A. Federal Income Tax Consequences to the Debtors

1. Cancellation of Indebtedness Income

Under the IRC, a taxpayer generally must recognize income from the cancellation of debt ("COD Income") to the extent that its indebtedness is discharged during the taxable year. Section 108(a)(1)(A) of the IRC provides an exception to this rule, however, where a taxpayer is in bankruptcy and where the discharge is granted, or is effected pursuant to a plan approved, by the bankruptcy court. In this case, instead of recognizing income, the taxpayer is required, under Section 108(b) of the IRC, to reduce certain of its tax attributes by the amount of COD Income. The attributes of the taxpayer are to be reduced in the following order: net operating losses ("NOLs"), general business and minimum tax credit carryforwards, capital loss carryforwards, the basis of the taxpayer's assets, and finally, foreign tax credit tax carryforwards (collectively, "Tax Attributes"). Section 108(b)(5) of the IRC permits a taxpayer to elect to first apply the reduction to the basis of the taxpayer's depreciable assets, with any remaining balance applied to the taxpayer's other Tax Attributes in the order stated above. In addition to the foregoing, Section 108(e)(2) of the IRC provides a further exception to the realization of COD Income upon the discharge of debt, providing that a taxpayer will not recognize COD Income to the extent that the taxpayer's satisfaction of the debt would have given rise to a deduction for United States federal income tax purposes. The effect of Section 108(e)(2) of the IRC, where applicable, is to allow a taxpayer to discharge indebtedness without recognizing income and to avoid any reduction of its Tax Attributes.

As a result of having their debt reduced in connection with their bankruptcy, the Debtors generally will not recognize COD Income from the discharge of indebtedness pursuant to the Plan; however, certain Tax Attributes of the Debtors will be reduced or eliminated. The Debtors do not currently anticipate that they will make the election under the IRC to apply any required attribute reduction first to the basis of the Debtors' depreciable property, with any excess next applied to reduce their NOLs, and then to reduce the Debtors' other Tax Attributes. To the extent that the discharge is of amounts that the Debtors would have been entitled to deduct if the Debtors had paid such amounts, no COD Income will be recognized and no reduction of Tax Attributes will occur pursuant to Section 108(e)(2) of the IRC. The Debtors presently intend to request a private letter ruling from the IRS that, among other rulings, would confirm that the discharge of indebtedness arising from settlement of OC Asbestos Personal Injury Claims (other than OC Indirect Asbestos PI Trust Claims) will satisfy the requirements of Section 108(e)(2) of the IRC and, therefore, will not result in any reduction of the Debtors' Tax Attributes. It is also expected that the settlement of certain claims in Classes A7 and B8, all of which should give rise to deductions for United States federal income tax purposes, will satisfy the requirements of Section 108(e)(2) of the IRC and, therefore, will not result in any realization of COD Income or reduction of the Debtors' Tax Attributes.

To the extent that the Debtors are required to reduce their Tax Attributes, the mechanics of such attribute reduction will be governed by Treasury Regulation §1.1502-28, which contains rules that apply where the debtor corporation is a member of a group filing a consolidated return. These rules generally provide that the Tax Attributes attributable to the debtor corporation are the first to be reduced. For this purpose, Tax Attributes attributable to the debtor member include consolidated Tax Attributes (such as consolidated NOLs) that are attributable to the debtor member pursuant to the consolidated return regulations, and also include the basis of property of the debtor (including subsidiary stock), all of which are reduced in the order described above. To the extent that the COD Income of the debtor member exceeds the Tax Attributes attributable to it, the consolidated Tax Attributes attributable to other members of the consolidated group must be reduced. In the case of a consolidated group with multiple debtor members, each debtor member's Tax Attributes must be reduced before such member's COD Income can be reduced by Tax Attributes attributable to other members of the consolidated group. In addition, to the extent that the debtor corporation is required to reduce its basis in the stock of another group member, the lower-tier member also must reduce its Tax Attributes, including the consolidated Tax Attributes attributable to that lower-tier member. Any required attribute reduction will take place after the Debtors have determined their taxable income, and any federal income tax liability, for the taxable year in which the Effective Date occurs.

2. Net Operating Losses and Other Attributes

Following the Effective Date, the Debtors expect to have NOLs. The Debtors currently have NOLs, and the Debtors will generate NOLs on the Effective Date to the extent that the Debtors have generated deductions for United States federal income tax purposes that are not offset by income and/or gain and are not eliminated by the attribute reduction rules of Section 108(b) of the IRC discussed above. In addition, the Debtors may generate NOLs in future taxable years to the extent payments required under the Plan generate deductions that exceed their income and gain in those years. In this regard, the Debtors currently intend to request a private letter ruling from the IRS that, among other rulings, would confirm that (i) the Debtors will be entitled to a current year deduction for all transfers of Cash and property other than the Contingent Note and the contingent obligation of the Debtors to deliver the Reserved New OCD Shares to the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust, (ii) the Debtors will be entitled to a deduction for any payment of principal on the Contingent Note in the taxable year in which such payment is made to the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust and (iii) the Debtors will be entitled to a deduction for delivery of any Reserved New OCD Shares to the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust in the taxable year such reserved New OCD Shares are issued and delivered to the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust. If, as is currently expected, the IRS confirms that the Debtors are entitled to such deductions, the amount of the aggregate deductions to which the Debtors may be entitled on (or after) the Effective Date will likely equal the sum of the Cash and the fair market value of the other property (excluding the Contingent Note and the obligation to deliver the Reserved New OCD Shares) transferred to the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust, and, assuming the conditions to payment and delivery are satisfied in 2007, the amount of the aggregate deductions to which the Debtors will be entitled in 2007 with respect to the Contingent Note and obligation to deliver the Reserved New OCD Shares will equal the sum of the principal amount of the Contingent Note and the fair market value of the Reserved New OCD Shares at the time they are issued and delivered to the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust. It should be noted, however, that no deduction for transfers to the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust will be allowed to the extent that the transferred amounts represent amounts received from the settlement of insurance claims, which amounts were not included in the Debtors' gross income. Accordingly, the Debtors will not be entitled to a deduction for transfers to the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust to satisfy Asbestos Personal Injury Claims to the extent such transfers are of insurance proceeds, including any transfer of Existing Fibreboard Insurance Settlement Trust Assets.

After taking into account the foregoing rules and applying the deductions against the income and gain of the Debtors recognized during the taxable year in which the Effective Date occurs, the Debtors anticipate that their NOLs will increase and that they will likely generate additional NOLs in 2007 if payment is required under the Contingent Note and the Debtors are obligated to deliver the Reserved New OCD Shares in 2007. As explained above, however, the Debtors' NOLs and other Tax Attributes in existence in the taxable year in which the Effective Date occurs may be reduced or eliminated as of the beginning of the taxable year following the year in which the Effective Date occurs as a result of the COD Income expected to be realized on implementation of the Plan. Accordingly, there can be no assurance that Reorganized OCD will have NOLs following the year in which the Plan is implemented.

As a general rule, an NOL incurred by a taxpayer during a taxable year can be carried back and deducted from its taxable income generated within the two preceding taxable years and the remainder can be carried forward and deducted from the taxpayer's taxable income over the 20 succeeding taxable years. NOLs attributable to certain tort liability losses, however, may be carried back for ten years. It is expected that the transfer of Cash and other property and, if applicable, payments of principal on the Contingent Note and the delivery of the Reserved New OCD Shares to the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust with respect to OC Asbestos Personal Injury Claims and FB Asbestos Personal Injury Claims will generate deductions that relate to a qualifying tort liability and, therefore, any resulting NOLs will be eligible to be carried back for ten years. However, the Debtors have not realized significant amounts of taxable income during the previous ten year period, and, accordingly, it is not currently expected that Reorganized OCD will be entitled to material amounts of tax refunds in respect of that period.

3. Annual Section 382 Limitation on Use of NOLs

With respect to any NOLs of the Debtors remaining after confirmation of the Plan and any required attribute reduction, Section 382 of the IRC contains certain rules limiting the amount of NOLs a corporate taxpayer can utilize in the years following an "ownership change" (the "Annual Section 382 Limitation"). An "ownership change" generally is defined as a more than 50 percentage point change in ownership of the value of the stock of a "loss corporation" (a corporation with NOLs) that takes place during the three year period ending on the date on which such change in ownership is tested. The Debtors will undergo an ownership change on the Effective Date.

As a general rule, a loss corporation's Annual Section 382 Limitation equals the product of the value of the stock of the corporation (with certain adjustments) immediately before the ownership change and the applicable "long-term tax-exempt rate," a rate published monthly by the Treasury Department (4.45% for ownership changes that occur during June, 2006). Any unused portion of the Annual Section 382 Limitation generally is available for use in subsequent years. If a loss corporation does not continue its historic business or use a significant portion of its assets in a new business for two years after the ownership change, the corporation's Annual Section 382 Limitation is zero. The Annual Section 382 Limitation is increased if the loss corporation has net unrealized built-in gains, i.e., gains economically accrued but unrecognized at the time of the ownership change, in excess of a threshold amount. Such a corporation can use NOLs in excess of its Annual Section 382 Limitation to the extent that it realizes those net unrealized built-in gains for United States federal income tax purposes in the five years following the ownership change. A correlative rule applies to a corporation that has net unrealized built in losses, i.e., losses economically accrued but unrecognized as of the date of the ownership change in excess of a threshold amount. Such a corporation's ability to deduct its built-in losses (in addition to its NOLs) following an ownership change is limited. In this regard, the Debtors currently intend to request a private letter ruling from the IRS that, among other rulings, would confirm that the deduction attributable to the transfer of Cash and property (including any deduction attributable to payments of principal on the Contingent Note and the delivery of the Reserved New OCD Shares) to the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust will not be taken into account for purposes of determining whether the Debtors have a net unrealized built-in gain or net unrealized built-in loss as of the Effective Date.

Section 382(l)(5) of the IRC provides an exception to the application of the Annual Section 382 Limitation when a corporation is under the jurisdiction of a court in a Title 11 case (the "382(l)(5) Bankruptcy Exception"). The 382(l)(5) Bankruptcy Exception provides that where an ownership change occurs pursuant to a bankruptcy reorganization or similar proceeding, the Annual Section 382 Limitation will not apply if the pre-change shareholders and/or "qualified creditors" (as defined by applicable Treasury Regulations) own at least 50 percent of the stock of the reorganized corporation immediately after the ownership change. However, under the 382(l)(5) Bankruptcy Exception, a corporation's pre-change losses and excess credits that may be carried over to a post-change year must be reduced to the extent attributable to any interest paid or accrued on certain debt converted to stock in the reorganization. In addition, if the 382(l)(5) Bankruptcy Exception applies, a second ownership change of the corporation within a two-year period will cause the corporation to forfeit all of its unused NOLs that were incurred prior to the date of the second ownership change.

If a corporation qualifies for the 382(l)(5) Bankruptcy Exception, the use of its NOLs will be governed by that exception unless the corporation affirmatively elects for the provisions not to apply. If a corporation that is eligible for the 382(l)(5) Bankruptcy Exception elects out of that provision, a special rule under Section 382(l)(6) of the IRC will apply in calculating the Annual Section 382 Limitation. Under this special rule, the Annual Section 382 Limitation will be calculated by reference to the lesser of the value of the corporation's stock (with certain adjustments) immediately after the ownership change (as opposed to immediately before the ownership change, as discussed above) or the value of the Debtor's assets (determined without regard to liabilities) immediately before the ownership change.

It is currently expected that Reorganized OCD will qualify for the 382(l)(5) Bankruptcy Exception. The Debtors are currently analyzing whether to affirmatively elect out of the 382(l)(5) Bankruptcy Exception and instead rely on the special rule described above under Section 382(l)(6) of the IRC. One reason the Debtors may choose to elect out of the 382(l)(5) Bankruptcy Exception is the rule described above that a second ownership change within two years of the Effective Date will cause Reorganized OCD to forfeit any NOLs incurred prior to the date of the second ownership change. Under the terms of the Plan, there can be no assurance that Reorganized OCD will not undergo a second ownership change within two years of the Effective Date. If, because of a potential second ownership change, the Debtors choose to elect out of the Bankruptcy Exception, Reorganized OCD's use of its NOLs will be subject to the Annual Section 382 Limitation following confirmation of the Plan, calculated under the special rule of Section 382(l)(6) of the IRC described above. However, any NOLs generated after the taxable year in which the Effective Date occurs (including any NOLs generated as a result of deductions arising from payments of principal on the Contingent Note and delivery of the Reserved New OCD Shares to the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust) should not be subject to this limitation.

4. Consequences of the Restructuring Transactions

In connection with the Restructuring Transactions to be set forth in Schedule XX to the Plan, the Debtors currently intend to request a private letter ruling from the IRS that, among other rulings, would confirm that (i) the affiliated group of which the OCD is currently the common parent will remain in existence for U.S. federal consolidated tax return purposes, (ii) Reorganized OCD will become the common parent of the affiliated group as a result of the Restructuring Transactions, and (iii) the U.S. federal consolidated tax group of which Reorganized OCD is the common parent will not be required to close its taxable year as a result of the Restructuring Transactions.

5. Accrued Interest

To the extent that the consideration issued to holders of Claims pursuant to the Plan is attributable to accrued but unpaid interest, the Debtors should be entitled to interest deductions in the amount of such accrued interest, but only to the extent the Debtors have not already deducted such amount. The Debtors should not have COD Income from the discharge of any accrued but unpaid interest pursuant to the Plan to the extent that the payment of such interest would have given rise to a deduction pursuant to Section 108(e)(2) of the IRC, as discussed above.

6. Federal Alternative Minimum Tax

A corporation may incur alternative minimum tax liability even where NOL carryovers and other tax attributes are sufficient to eliminate its taxable income as computed under the regular corporate income tax. It is possible that Reorganized OCD will be liable for the alternative minimum tax.

B. Federal Income Tax Consequences to Claim Holders

The United States federal income tax consequences of the transactions contemplated by the Plan to Claim holders that are United States Persons will depend upon a number of factors. For purposes of the following discussion, a "United States Person" is any person or entity (1) who is a citizen or resident of the United States, (2) that is a corporation or partnership created or organized in or under the laws of the United States or any state thereof, (3) that is an estate, the income of which is subject to United States federal income taxation regardless of its source or (4) that is a trust (a) the administration over which a United States person can exercise primary supervision and all of the substantial decisions of which one or more United States persons have the authority to control; or (b) that has elected to continue to be treated as a United States Person for United States federal income tax purposes. In the case of a partnership, the tax treatment of its partners will depend on the status of the partner and the activities of the partnership. United States Persons who are partners in a partnership should consult their tax advisors. A "Non-United States Person" is any person or entity that is not a United States Person. For purposes of the following discussion and unless otherwise noted below, the term "Holder" shall mean a "holder of a Claim that is a United States Person." The general United States federal income tax consequences to Claim holders that are Non-United States Persons are discussed below under Section XII.B.1(j) of this Disclosure Statement.

The United States federal income tax consequences to Holders and the character and amount of income, gain or loss recognized as a consequence of the Plan and the distributions provided for thereby will depend upon, among other things, (1) the manner in which a Holder acquired a Claim; (2) the length of time the Claim has been held; (3) whether the Claim was acquired at a discount; (4) whether the Holder has taken a bad debt deduction with respect to the Claim (or any portion thereof) in the current or prior years; (5) whether the Holder has previously included in income accrued but unpaid interest with respect to the Claim; (6) the method of tax accounting of the Holder; (7) whether the Claim is an installment obligation for United States federal income tax purposes; and (8) whether the Claim constitutes a "security" for United States federal income tax purposes. The definition of the term "security" for United States federal income tax purposes is discussed under the heading "Definition of 'Security'", below. Certain holders of Claims (such as foreign persons, S corporations, regulated investment companies, insurance companies, financial institutions, small business investment companies, broker-dealers and tax-exempt organizations) may be subject to special rules not addressed in this summary of United States federal income tax consequences. There also may be state, local, and/or foreign income or other tax considerations or United States federal estate and gift tax considerations applicable to holders of Claims, which are not addressed herein. EACH HOLDER OF A CLAIM OR INTEREST AFFECTED BY THE PLAN IS STRONGLY URGED TO CONSULT ITS TAX ADVISOR REGARDING THE SPECIFIC TAX CONSEQUENCES OF THE TRANSACTIONS DESCRIBED HEREIN AND IN THE PLAN.

1. United States Federal Income Tax Consequences

(a) General

A Holder who receives Cash or other consideration (including, without limitation, stock) in satisfaction of its Claims may recognize ordinary income or loss to the extent that any portion of such consideration is characterized as accrued interest. A Holder who did not previously include in income accrued but unpaid interest attributable to its Claim, and who receives a distribution on account of its Claim pursuant to the Plan, will be treated as having received interest income to the extent that any consideration received is characterized for United States federal income tax purposes as interest, regardless of whether such Holder realizes an overall gain or loss as a result of surrendering its Claim. A Holder who previously included in its income accrued but unpaid interest attributable to its Claim should recognize an ordinary loss to the extent that such accrued but unpaid interest is not satisfied, regardless of whether such Holder realizes an overall gain or loss as a result of the distribution it may receive under the Plan on account of its Claim. Although the manner in which consideration is to be allocated between accrued interest and principal for these purposes is unclear under present law, the Debtors reserve the right, to the extent, consistent with the Plan, to allocate for United States federal income tax purposes the consideration paid pursuant to the Plan with respect to a Claim, first to the principal amount of such Claim as determined for United States federal income tax purposes and then to accrued interest, if any, with respect to such Claim. Accordingly, in cases where a Holder receives less than the principal amount of its Claim, the Debtors intend to allocate the full amount of consideration transferred to such Holder to the principal amount of such obligation and to take the position that no amount of the consideration to be received by such Holder is attributable to accrued interest. There is no assurance that such allocation will be respected by the IRS for United States federal income tax purposes.

If not otherwise so required, a Holder who receives New OCD Common Stock in exchange for its Claim will be required to treat gain recognized on a subsequent sale or other taxable disposition of the New OCD Common Stock as ordinary income to the extent of (i) any bad debt deductions taken with respect to the Claim and any ordinary loss deductions incurred upon satisfaction of the Claim, less any income (other than interest income) recognized by the Holder upon satisfaction of its Claim, and (ii) any amounts which would have been included in a Holder's gross income if the Holder's Claim had been satisfied in full, but which was not included in income because of the application of the cash method of accounting.

(b) Holders of Class A4, B4, B6, C4, C6, D4, D6, E4, E6, F4, F6, G4, G6, H4, H6, I4, I6, J6, K6, L6, M6, N6, O6, P6, Q6, R6, S6, T6 and U6 Claims (Bank Holders Claims and General Unsecured Claims)

The Holders of the Class A4, B4, B6, C4, C6, D4, D6, E4, E6, F4, F6, G4, G6, H4, H6, I4, I6, J6, K6, L6, M6, N6, O6, P6, Q6, R6, S6, T6 and U6 Claims (the "Debt Claims," and Holders of such Claims, "Debt Claim Holders") will generally realize gain or loss for United States federal income tax purposes as a result of the consummation of the Plan equal to the difference between their adjusted tax bases in their Claims immediately prior to the Effective Date and the amount of Cash they receive pursuant to the Plan. A Debt Claim Holder will generally be required to recognize for United States federal income tax purposes the full amount of gain or loss it realized as a result of the consummation of the Plan. In general, if the Debt Claim Holder held its Debt Claim as a capital asset, any gain or loss will be treated as a gain or loss from the sale or exchange of such capital asset. Capital gain or loss will be long-term if the Debt Claim was held by the Debt Claim Holder for more than one year and otherwise will be short-term. Any capital losses realized generally may be used by a corporate Debt Claim Holder only to offset capital gains, and by an individual Debt Claim Holder only to the extent of capital gains plus $3,000 of other income.

(c) Holders of Class A5, A6-A and A6-B Claims (OCD Bondholders Claims, OCD General Unsecured Claims and OCD General Unsecured/Senior Indebtedness Claims)

The Holders of the Class A5, A6-A and A6-B Claims (the "OCD Debt Claims," and Holders of such Claims, "OCD Debt Claim Holders") will generally realize gain or loss for United States federal income tax purposes as a result of the consummation of the Plan equal to the difference between their adjusted tax bases in their Claims immediately prior to the Effective Date and the sum of (i) the amount of Cash, (ii) the fair market value of the Rights, and (iii) the fair market value of the New OCD Common Stock they receive pursuant to the Plan.

The tax consequences to an OCD Debt Claim Holder depend on whether its OCD Debt Claim is a "security" for United States federal income tax purposes. See "Definition of 'Security'" below. If an OCD Debt Claim does not constitute a "security" for United States federal income tax purposes, then the exchange of the OCD Debt Claim will be a taxable transaction, and the Holder of such Claim will be required to recognize gain or loss equal to the full amount of its gain or loss realized on the exchange. An OCD Debt Claim Holder's initial tax basis in the property it receives in exchange for its OCD Debt Claim should equal the fair market value of such property when received. An OCD Debt Claim Holder's holding period in property it receives in the exchange should commence on the day following receipt.

If an OCD Debt Claim constitutes a "security" for United States federal income tax purposes, then the exchange of the OCD Debt Claim will be treated as a tax-free transaction for United States federal income tax purposes. In such case, an OCD Debt Claim Holder that realizes a loss on the exchange will not be permitted to recognize such loss, and an OCD Debt Claim Holder that realizes gain on the exchange will be required to recognize the lesser of (i) the amount of gain realized and (ii) the amount of Cash it receives. An OCD Debt Claim Holder's initial tax basis in the property it receives in exchange for its OCD Debt Claim should equal the sum of (i) its adjusted tax bases in such OCD Debt Claim and (ii) the amount of gain it recognizes on the exchange, reduced by the amount of Cash it receives in the exchange. Such basis will be allocated among the Rights and New OCD Common Stock it receives based on their relative fair market values. An OCD Debt Claim Holder's holding period in the Rights and New OCD Common Stock it receives will include the holding period in the OCD Debt Claim surrendered.

See "Federal Income Tax Consequences of Holding Rights and Warrants," below for a discussion of the tax consequences of exercising, and expiration of, the Rights.

There is no authority that directly addresses the treatment of the receipt of the right to receive a portion of the Excess Available Cash and Excess New OCD Common Stock a (the "Excess Recoveries"). Debt Claim Holders that receive such rights may be permitted to claim that the fair market value of those rights is speculative as of the Effective Date and that the receipt of such rights should be subject to "open transaction" treatment and taken into account only when such amounts are actually determined. In such case, however, a Debt Claim Holder that realizes a loss may not be permitted to recognize such loss until the amount of the Excess Recoveries to be distributed to such Holder is finally determined.

The Debtors currently intend to treat the Disputed Distribution Reserve as a grantor trust for United States federal income tax purposes. Accordingly, it is intended that each Holder of a Disputed Claim will be treated as if such Holder had received a distribution of Cash and other property (including, without limitation, stock) in exchange for its Claim and then contributed such cash and property to the Disputed Distribution Reserve. If such treatment is respected, a Holder of a Disputed Claim will be subject to United States federal income tax on its proportionate share of any income earned with regard to the assets in the Disputed Distribution Reserve. There can, however, be no assurance that the IRS will agree with such treatment.

(d) Holders of OC Asbestos Personal Injury and FB Asbestos Personal Injury Claims

To the extent that payments from the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust to Holders of OC Asbestos Personal Injury Claims and FB Asbestos Personal Injury Claims represent damages on account of personal physical injuries of such Holders, such Holders should not recognize gross income under Section 104 of the IRC, except to the extent that such payments are attributable to medical expense deductions allowed under Section 213 of the IRC for a prior taxable year.

(e) Holders of Class A12-A Interests (Exisitng OCD Common Stock)

If Holders of Class A12-A Interests receive warrants to obtain New OCD Common Stock ("Warrants") pursuant to the Plan, then such Holders will generally recognize gain or loss on the receipt of the Warrants equal to the difference between (i) the Holder's tax basis in its Class A12-A Interest and (ii) the fair market value of the Warrants it receives in the exchange. A Holder's initial tax basis in the Warrants it receives in the exchange will equal the fair market value of such Warrants on the Effective Date. A Holder's holding period in its Warrants would commence on the day after the Effective Date. See "Federal Income Tax Consequences of Holding Rights and Warrants," below for a discussion of the tax consequences of exercising, selling, and expiration of, the Warrants.

If, alternatively, Holders of Class A12-A Interests receive nothing in exchange for their Class A12 Interests pursuant to the Plan, then each Holder of a Class A12-A Interest generally should recognize a loss equal to the holder's tax basis in its Class A12-A Interest unless the Holder previously claimed a loss with respect to such Class A12-A Interest under its regular method of accounting.

In either case, if the Holder held its Class A12-A Interest as a capital asset, then gain or loss on the Class A12-A Interest will be treated as gain or loss from the sale or exchange of such capital asset. Capital gain or loss will be long-term if the Class A12-A Interest was held by the Holder for more than one year and otherwise will be short-term. Any capital losses realized generally may be used by a corporate holder only to offset capital gains, and by an individual holder only to the extent of capital gains plus $3,000 of other income.

(f) Holders of Class A12-B Interests (OCD Interests Other Than Existing OCD Common Stock)

Pursuant to the Plan, all Class A12-B Interests shall be deemed cancelled and extinguished, and Holders of Class A12-B Interests will receive nothing in exchange for such Interests. As a result, each Holder of a Class A12-B Interest generally should recognize a loss equal to the Holder's tax basis in its Class A12-B Interest extinguished under the Plan unless the Holder previously claimed a loss with respect to such stock under its regular method of accounting. In general, if the Holder held its Class A12-B Interest as a capital asset, the loss will be treated as a loss from the sale or exchange of such capital asset. Capital loss will be long-term if the Class A12-B Interest was held by the holder for more than one year and otherwise will be short-term. Any capital losses realized generally may be used by a corporate holder only to offset capital gains, and by an individual holder only to the extent of capital gains plus $3,000 of other income.

(g) Holders of Integrex Interests

Pursuant to the Plan, all Integrex Interests shall be deemed cancelled and extinguished, and holders of the Integrex Interests will receive nothing in exchange for such Interests. As a result, each holder of an Integrex Interest generally should recognize a loss equal to the holder's tax basis in its Integrex Interest extinguished under the Plan unless the holder previously claimed a loss with respect to such stock under its regular method of accounting. In general, if the holder held its Integrex Interest as a capital asset, then the loss will be treated as a loss from the sale or exchange of such capital asset. Capital loss will be long-term if the Integrex Interest was held by the holder for more than one year and otherwise will be short-term. Any capital losses realized generally may be used by a corporate holder only to offset capital gains, and by an individual holder only to the extent of capital gains plus $3,000 of other income

(h) Market Discount

The market discount provisions of the IRC may apply to Holders of certain Claims. In general, a debt obligation that is acquired by a holder in the secondary market is a "market discount bond" as to that holder if its stated redemption price at maturity (or, in the case of a debt obligation having original issue discount, its adjusted issue price) exceeds, by more than a statutory de minimis amount, the tax basis of the debt obligation in the holder's hands immediately after its acquisition. If a Holder has accrued market discount with respect to its Claims and such Holder realizes gain upon the exchange of its Claims for property pursuant to the Plan, such Holder may be required to include as ordinary income the amount of such accrued market discount to the extent of such realized gain. A Holder who realizes loss on such exchange generally will not be required to include the amount of any such accrued market discount in income. A Holder who receives Senior Notes in an exchange pursuant to the Plan that constitutes a "recapitalization" for United States federal income tax purposes may not be required immediately to include in income the accrued market discount to the extent such accrued market discount is allocable to the Senior Notes. In this event, such portion of the accrued market discount should carry over to the Senior Notes. Holders who have accrued market discount with respect to their claims should consult their tax advisors as to the application of the market discount rules to them in view of their particular circumstances.

(i) Definition of "Security"

Whether an instrument constitutes a "security" for United States federal income tax purposes is determined based on all of the facts and circumstances. Certain authorities have held that one factor to be considered is the length of the initial term of the debt instrument. These authorities have indicated that an initial term of less than five years is evidence that the instrument is not a security, whereas an initial term of ten years or more is evidence that it is a security. Treatment of an instrument with an initial term between five and ten years is generally unsettled. Numerous factors other than the term of an instrument could be taken into account in determining whether a debt instrument is a security, including, but not limited to, whether repayment is secured, the level of creditworthiness of the obligor, whether or not the instrument is subordinated, whether the holders have the right to vote or otherwise participate in the management of the obligor, whether the instrument is convertible into an equity interest, whether payments of interest are fixed, variable or contingent and whether such payments are made on a current basis or are accrued.

(j) Non-United States Persons

A holder of a Claim that is a Non-United States Person generally will not be subject to United States federal income tax with respect to property (including money) received in exchange for such Claim pursuant to the Plan, unless (i) such holder is engaged in a trade or business in the United States to which income, gain or loss from the exchange is "effectively connected" for United States federal income tax purposes, or (ii) if such holder is an individual, such holder is present in the United States for 183 days or more during the taxable year of the exchange and certain other requirements are met.

(k) Information Reporting and Backup Withholding

Certain payments, including the payments with respect to Claims pursuant to the Plan, may be subject to information reporting by the payor (the relevant Debtor) to the IRS. Moreover, such reportable payments may be subject to backup withholding (currently at a rate of 28%) under certain circumstances. Backup withholding is not an additional tax. Amounts withheld under the backup withholding rules may be credited against a Holder's United States federal income tax liability, and a Holder may obtain a refund of any excess amounts withheld under the backup withholding rules by filing an appropriate claim for refund with the IRS (generally, a United States federal income tax return).

2. Taxation of the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust

The Debtors currently intend to request a private letter ruling from the IRS that, among other rulings, would confirm that, as expected, the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust will constitute a "qualified settlement fund" within the meaning of Section 468B of the IRC and the Treasury Regulations promulgated thereunder. In addition, Fibreboard received a private letter ruling from the IRS that the Fibreboard Insurance Settlement Trust constitutes a "qualified settlement fund" within the meaning of such provisions. The receipt of property, including Cash and New OCD Common Stock by the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust from the Debtors will not constitute taxable income to the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust, the adjusted tax basis of the assets transferred by the Debtors to the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust should be the fair market value of those assets at the time of receipt, and the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust will likely be taxed on modified gross income as defined within the Treasury Regulations (generally at the highest rate applicable to estates and trusts). The transfer of Existing Fibreboard Insurance Settlement Trust Assets to the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust should not result in net taxable income to the Debtors or the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust.

C. Federal Income Tax Consequences of Holding Rights and Warrants

1. Exercise or Exchange of Rights or Warrants

A Holder of Rights or Warrants will generally not recognize gain or loss for United States federal income tax purposes on the exercise or exchange of its Rights or Warrants received pursuant to the Plan. The Holder's tax basis in the New OCD Common Stock acquired through exercise or exchange of the Rights or Warrants will equal the sum of the exercise price and the Holder's tax basis in the Rights or Warrants, determined as described above. The Holder's holding period in the New OCD Common Stock acquired through exercise will generally begin on the exercise date.

2. Sale of Warrants

A Holder of Warrants will generally recognize gain or loss for United States federal income tax purposes on the sale of its Warrants received pursuant to the Plan in an amount equal to the difference between the amount realized on the sale and the Holder's tax basis in the Warrants, determined as described above. Gain or loss will be capital if the Warrants are capital assets in the Holder's hands. If the Holder's holding period in the Warrants, determined as described above, is more than one year, then the gain or loss will be long-term capital gain or loss.

3. Expiration of Rights or Warrants

A Holder that allows its Rights or Warrants to expire will generally recognize loss for United States federal income tax purposes to the extent of the Holder's tax basis in the Rights or Warrants, determined as described above.

D. Importance of Obtaining Professional Tax Assistance

THE FOREGOING DISCUSSION IS INTENDED ONLY AS A SUMMARY OF CERTAIN INCOME TAX CONSEQUENCES OF THE PLAN AND IS NOT A SUBSTITUTE FOR CAREFUL TAX PLANNING WITH A TAX PROFESSIONAL. THE ABOVE DISCUSSION IS FOR INFORMATIONAL PURPOSES ONLY AND IS NOT TAX ADVICE. THE TAX CONSEQUENCES ARE IN MANY CASES UNCERTAIN AND MAY VARY DEPENDING ON A CLAIM HOLDER'S PARTICULAR CIRCUMSTANCES. ACCORDINGLY, CLAIM HOLDERS ARE URGED TO CONSULT THEIR TAX ADVISORS ABOUT THE UNITED STATES FEDERAL, STATE AND LOCAL, AND APPLICABLE FOREIGN INCOME AND OTHER TAX CONSEQUENCES OF THE PLAN.

E. Reservation of Rights

This tax section is subject to change (possibly substantially) based on subsequent changes to other provisions of the Plan. The Debtors and their advisors reserve the right to further modify, revise or supplement this Scrion XII of the Disclosure Statement up to five (5) Business Days prior to the Disclosure Statement Hearing and the tax related sections of the Plan up to ten (10) days prior to the Objection Deadline.

XIII. FEASIBILITY OF THE PLAN AND BEST INTERESTS OF CREDITORS

A. Feasibility of the Plan

In connection with confirmation of the Plan, the Bankruptcy Court will have to determine that the Plan is feasible pursuant to Section 1129(a)(11) of the Bankruptcy Code, which means that the confirmation of the Plan is not likely to be followed by the liquidation or the need for further financial reorganization of the Debtors.

To support their belief in the feasibility of the Plan, the Debtors have relied, among other things, upon the Financial Projections, which are annexed to this Disclosure Statement as Appendix B.

The Financial Projections indicate that the Reorganized Debtors should have sufficient cash flow to pay and service their debt obligations, including the Exit Facility, and to fund their operations as contemplated by the Business Plan. Accordingly, the Debtors believe that the Plan complies with the financial feasibility standard of Section 1129(a)(11) of the Bankruptcy Code.

The Financial Projections were not prepared with a view toward compliance with the published guidelines of the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants or any other regulatory or professional agency or body or generally accepted accounting principles. Furthermore, the Debtors' independent certified public accountants have not compiled or examined the Financial Projections and accordingly do not express any opinion or any other form of assurance with respect thereto and assume no responsibility for the Financial Projections.

The Financial Projections assume that (1) the Plan will be confirmed and consummated in accordance with its terms, (2) there will be no material change in legislation or regulations, or the administration thereof, including environmental legislation or regulations, that will have an unexpected effect on the operations of the Reorganized Debtors, (3) there will be no change in United States generally accepted accounting principles that will have a material effect on the reported financial results of the Reorganized Debtors, and (4) there will be no material contingent or unliquidated litigation or indemnity claims applicable to the Reorganized Debtors. To the extent that the assumptions inherent in the Financial Projections are based upon future business decisions and objectives, they are subject to change. In addition, although they are presented with numerical specificity and are considered reasonable by the Debtors when taken as a whole, the assumptions and estimates underlying the Financial Projections are subject to significant business, economic and competitive uncertainties and contingencies, many of which will be beyond the control of the Reorganized Debtors. Accordingly, the Financial Projections are speculative in nature. It should be expected that some or all of the assumptions in the Financial Projections will not be realized and that actual results will vary from the Financial Projections, which variations may be material and may increase over time. The Financial Projections should therefore not be regarded as a representation by the Debtors or any other person that the results set forth in the Financial Projections will be achieved. In light of the foregoing, readers are cautioned not to place undue reliance on the Financial Projections. The Financial Projections should be read together with the information in Section VI of this Disclosure Statement entitled "Future Business of the Reorganized Debtors," which summarizes the Business Plan and certain assumptions underlying the Financial Projections, as well as Section XIV of the Disclosure Statement entitled "Certain Risk Factors to be Considered," which sets forth important factors that could cause actual results to differ from those in the Financial Projections.

OC is subject to the informational requirements of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended, and in accordance therewith files periodic reports and other information with the SEC relating to its business, financial statements and other matters. Such filings will not include projected financial information. The Debtors do not intend to update or otherwise revise the Financial Projections, including any revisions to reflect events or circumstances existing or arising after the date of this Disclosure Statement or to reflect the occurrence of unanticipated events, even if any or all of the underlying assumptions do not come to fruition. Furthermore, the Debtors do not intend to update or revise the Financial Projections to reflect changes in general economic or industry conditions.

SAFE HARBOR STATEMENT UNDER THE PRIVATE SECURITIES LITIGATION REFORM ACT OF 1995: The Financial Projections contain statements which constitute "forward-looking statements" within the meaning of the Securities Act of 1933 and the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended by the Private Securities Litigation Reform Act of 1995. “Forward-looking statements” in the Financial Projections include the intent, belief or current expectations of OC and members of its management team with respect to the timing, completion and scope of the current restructuring, reorganization plan, Business Plan, bank financing, and debt and equity market conditions and OC’s future liquidity, as well as the assumptions up on which such statements are based. While OC believes that the expectations are based on reasonable assumptions within the bounds of its knowledge of its business and operations, parties in interest are cautioned that any such forward-looking statements are not guarantees of future performance, and involve risks and uncertainties, and that actual results may differ materially from those contemplated by such forward-looking statements. Important factors currently known to management that could cause actual results to differ materially from those contemplated by the forward-looking statements in the Financial Projections include, but are not limited to, further adverse developments with respect to the liquidity position of OC or operations of the various businesses of OC, adverse developments in the bank financing or public or private markets for debt or equity securities of OCD, adverse developments in the timing or results of the implementation of the Business Plan (including the time line to emerge from Chapter 11), the difficulty in controlling industry costs and integrating new operations, the ability of the OC to realize the anticipated general and administrative expense savings and overhead reductions contemplated in the Financial Projections, the ability of OC to maintain profitability of their operations, the level and nature of any restructuring and other one-time charges, the difficulty in estimating costs relating to exiting certain markets and consolidating and closing certain operations, and the possible negative effects of a change in applicable legislation.

B. Acceptance of the Plan

As a condition to confirmation, the Bankruptcy Code requires that each Class of Impaired Claims vote to accept the Plan, except under certain circumstances.

Section 1126(c) of the Bankruptcy Code defines acceptance of a plan by a class of impaired claims as acceptance by holders of at least two thirds (2/3) in dollar amount and more than one half (50%) in number of claims in that class, but for that purpose counts only those who actually vote to accept or to reject the plan. Thus, each of Classes A3-U3, A5, A6-A, A6-B, B6-U6, A7, B8, A10-U10 and A11 will have voted to accept the Plan only if two-thirds (2/3) in dollar amount and a majority in number actually voting in each Class cast their Ballots in favor of acceptance. Holders of Claims who fail to vote are not counted as either accepting or rejecting the Plan.

Section 1126(d) of the Bankruptcy Code defines acceptance of a plan by a class of impaired interests as acceptance by holders of at least two-thirds (2/3) in amount, but for that purpose counts only those who actually vote to accept or reject the plan. Thus Class A12-A will have voted to accept the Plan only if two-thirds (2/3) of the holders of Exisiting OCD Common Stock who vote cast their Ballots in favor of the Plan. Holders of Interests who fail to vote are not counted as either accepting or rejecting the Plan.

In order to satisfy the requirements of Section 524(g)(2)(B)(ii)(IV)(bb) of the Bankruptcy Code, seventy-five (75%) percent of each of Classes A7 and B8, covering the respective holders of the OC Asbestos Personal Injury Claims and FB Asbestos Personal Injury Claims actually voting must vote in favor of the Plan in order for the Reorganized Debtors to obtain the benefits of Section 524(g) of the Bankruptcy Code.

The Voting Procedures provide certain special rules concerning the calculation of the amount of Claims voting in a Class of Claims (for further information regarding voting procedures see Section XVI of this Disclosure Statement entitled "The Solicitation; Voting Procedure.") The following special rules concerning calculation of the amount of Claims are for illustrative purposes.

A Ballot will not be counted if a Claim has been disallowed or an objection is pending to the Claim as of the _____, and the claimant has not obtained, on or before the Voting Deadline, a Bankruptcy Court order allowing such Claim, either in whole or in part, for all purposes or for voting purposes only.

IN ORDER FOR YOUR VOTE TO BE COUNTED, YOUR BALLOT (OR THE MASTER BALLOT CAST ON YOUR BEHALF) MUST BE PROPERLY COMPLETED AS SET FORTH ABOVE AND IN ACCORDANCE WITH THE VOTING PROCEDURES ON THE BALLOT AND RECEIVED NO LATER THAN THE VOTING DEADLINE BY THE VOTING AGENT OR THE SPECIAL VOTING AGENT. DO NOT RETURN ANY STOCK CERTIFICATES OR DEBT INSTRUMENTS WITH YOUR BALLOT. In addition, a vote may be disregarded if the Bankruptcy Court determines, after notice and a hearing, that such acceptance or rejection was not solicited or procured in good faith or in accordance with the provisions of the Bankruptcy Code.

C. Best Interests Test

As noted above, even if a plan is accepted by the holders of each class of claims and interests, the Bankruptcy Code requires a bankruptcy court to determine that the plan is in the best interests of all holders of claims or interests that are impaired by the plan and that have not accepted the plan. The "best interests" test, as set forth in Section 1129(a)(7) of the Bankruptcy Code, requires a bankruptcy court to find either that all members of an impaired class of claims or interests have accepted the plan or that the plan will provide a member who has not accepted the plan with a recovery of property of a value, as of the effective date of the plan, that is not less than the amount that such holder would recover if the debtor were liquidated under Chapter 7 of the Bankruptcy Code.

To calculate the probable distribution to holders of each impaired class of claims and interests if the Debtors were liquidated under Chapter 7, a bankruptcy court must first determine the aggregate dollar amount that would be generated from a debtor's assets if its Chapter 11 cases were converted to Chapter 7 cases under the Bankruptcy Code. This "liquidation value" would consist primarily of the proceeds from a forced sale of the debtor's assets by a Chapter 7 trustee.

The amount of liquidation value available to unsecured creditors would be reduced by, first, the claims of secured creditors to the extent of the value of their collateral, and, second, by the costs and expenses of liquidation, as well as by other administrative expenses and costs of both the Chapter 7 cases and the Chapter 11 cases. Costs of liquidation under Chapter 7 of the Bankruptcy Code would include the compensation of a trustee, as well as of counsel and other professionals retained by the trustee, asset disposition expenses, all unpaid expenses incurred by the debtor in its Chapter 11 cases (such as compensation of attorneys, financial advisors and accountants) that are allowed in the Chapter 7 cases, litigation costs, and claims arising from the operations of the debtor during the pendency of the Chapter 11 cases. The liquidation itself would trigger certain priority payments that otherwise would be due in the ordinary course of business. Those priority claims would be paid in full from the liquidation proceeds before the balance would be made available to pay general claims or to make any distribution in respect of equity interests. The liquidation would also prompt the rejection of a large number of executory contracts and unexpired leases and thereby significantly enlarge the total pool of unsecured claims by reason of resulting rejection claims.

Once the court ascertains the recoveries in liquidation of secured creditors and priority claimants, it must determine the probable distribution to general unsecured creditors and equity security holders from the remaining available proceeds in liquidation. If such probable distribution has a value greater than the distributions to be received by such creditors and equity security holders under the plan, then the plan is not in the best interests of creditors and equity security holders.

D. Liquidation Analysis

In order to determine the amount of liquidation value available to creditors, the Debtors, with the assistance of their financial advisor, Lazard, prepared a liquidation analysis, annexed hereto as Appendix C (the "Liquidation Analysis"), which concludes that in a Chapter 7 liquidation, holders of Allowed Claims in the impaired classes of each of the Debtors would receive less than under the Plan. This conclusion is premised upon the assumptions set forth in Appendix C hereto, which the Debtors and Lazard believe are reasonable.

Notwithstanding the foregoing, the Debtors believe that any liquidation analysis with respect to the Debtors is inherently speculative. The liquidation analysis for the Debtors necessarily contains estimates of the net proceeds that would be received from a sale of assets and/or business units, as well as the amount of Claims that will ultimately become Allowed Claims. Claims estimates are based solely upon the Debtors' incomplete review of any Claims filed and the Debtors' books and records. No Order or finding has been entered by the Bankruptcy Court estimating or otherwise fixing the amount of Claims at the projected amounts of Allowed Claims set forth in the liquidation analysis. In preparing the liquidation analysis, the Debtors have projected an amount of Allowed Claims that is at the lowest end of a range of reasonableness such that, for purposes of the liquidation analysis, the largest possible Chapter 7 liquidation dividend to holders of Allowed Claims can be assessed. The estimate of the amount of Allowed Claims set forth in the liquidation analysis should not be relied on for any other purpose, including, without limitation, any determination of the value of any distribution to be made on account of Allowed Claims under the Plan. The estimate of Allowed Claims is based upon different assumptions and formula for different purposes than the estimates of Allowed Claims set forth in other sections of this Disclosure Statement.

The Plan Proponents and Lazard have assumed that a Chapter 7 trustee would be forced to sell assets in a traditional "bricks and mortar" liquidation with the loss of most if not all "going-concern" value attributable to the Debtors' assets. For purposes of this analysis, the Plan

Proponents and Lazard have also assumed that future asbestos claimants would participate in distributions in a Chapter 7 liquidation, rather than make a speculative assumption to the contrary, including speculation as to the priority of asbestos claims which accrue under state law during the bankruptcy case (after the Petition Date or conversion date and before the case were closed). As a result of the foregoing, the Plan Proponents and Lazard assert that holders of Allowed Claims in each of the impaired classes would receive less in a Chapter 7 liquidation than under the Plan.

For a more detailed discussion of this liquidation analysis and the dispute with the Unsecured Creditors' Committee, see Appendix C to this Disclosure Statement. The Bankruptcy Court or the District Court will determine, in conjunction with confirmation, whether the Plan satisfies the "best interests test" of Section 1129(a)(7).

E. Valuation of the Reorganized Debtors

THE VALUATION INFORMATION CONTAINED IN THIS SECTION WITH REGARD TO THE REORGANIZED DEBTORS IS NOT A PREDICTION OR GUARANTEE OF THE ACTUAL MARKET VALUE THAT MAY BE REALIZED THROUGH THE SALE OF ANY SECURITIES TO BE ISSUED PURSUANT TO THE PLAN.

1. Overview

The Debtors have been advised by Lazard, its financial advisor, with respect to the consolidated Enterprise Value (as hereinafter defined) of the Reorganized Debtors (which consists of the aggregate enterprise value of Reorganized OCD and its direct and indirect Subsidiaries, including both Debtor and Non-Debtor Subsidiaries) on a going-concern basis. The consolidated total value available for distribution (the "Total Distributable Value") to holders of Allowed Claims and Interests is comprised of the following components: (a) the estimated value of the Reorganized Debtors' operations on a going concern basis (the "Enterprise Value," as identified above), (b) the value of net operating loss tax carryforwards (the "NOL Value") as of an assumed Effective Date of October 30, 2006, with which the Debtors will emerge from bankruptcy, and (c) the estimated amount of cash-on-hand in excess of that which is required to operate the business ("Excess Cash") as of an assumed Effective Date of October 30, 2006.

For purposes of the Plan, and based on terms negotiated by holders of Allowed Claims and Interests, the Enterprise Value plus NOL Value was assumed to be $5.858 billion and the Total Distributable Value of the Reorganized Debtors was assumed to be approximately $7.258 billion as of an assumed Effective Date of October 30, 2006. This estimated Total Distributable Value includes no less than $200 million associated with the expected utilization of NOLs created as part of the Plan[23] and $1.400 billion deemed to be Excess Cash.

[23] The Debtors and their advisors continue to analyze, and conduct due diligence with respect to, the Debtors' available NOLs as of the projected Effective Date, and anticipate completing their analysis and further updating such NOL estimate no later than ten (10) Business Days prior to the Objection Deadline, which estimate may vary from, and may potentially be greater than, the estimate set forth herein.

THE ASSUMED TOTAL DISTRIBUTABLE VALUE, AS OF AN ASSUMED EFFECTIVE DATE OF OCTOBER 30, 2006, REFLECTS INFORMATION IN RESPECT OF THE BUSINESS AND ASSETS OF THE DEBTORS AVAILABLE AS OF MAY 2006. IT SHOULD BE UNDERSTOOD THAT, ALTHOUGH SUBSEQUENT DEVELOPMENTS MAY AFFECT THESE VALUES, NEITHER THE DEBTORS NOR LAZARD SHALL HAVE ANY OBLIGATION TO UPDATE, REVISE OR REAFFIRM THESE ESTIMATES.

For purposes of the Plan, Lazard prepared the following hypothetical range of the Enterprise Value of the Reorganized Debtors. Based upon an assumed range of the Enterprise Value of the Reorganized Debtors plus NOL Value of between $5.4 billion and $6.4 billion, less an assumed total debt of $1.916 billion as of an assumed Effective Date of October 30, 2006 (including approximately $55 million of existing debt, $1.8 billion of Exit Financing and approximately $61 million principal amount of debt issued to the IRS for its Allowed Priority Tax Claim), Lazard imputed an estimated range of equity values for the Reorganized Debtors of between $3.484 billion and $4.484 billion. Assuming a distribution of 131.4 million shares of New OCD Common Stock pursuant to the Plan, the imputed estimate of the range of equity values on a per share basis is between $26.51 and $34.13 per share. For purposes of the Plan, assuming an Enterprise Value plus NOL Value of $5.858 billion and an imputed equity value of $3.942 billion, the imputed equity value on a per share basis is $30.00 per share. Lazard's estimate of the hypothetical range of Enterprise Value does not constitute an opinion as to fairness from a financial point of view of the consideration to be received under the Plan or of the terms and provisions of the Plan.

The equity value of $30.00 per share does not give effect to the potentially dilutive impact of any stock options that may be granted under a management incentive plan. At this time, it is anticipated that any stock options issued as of the Effective Date would be granted with an exercise price equal to the $30.00 per share Plan value. In addition, the equity value of $30.00 per share does not give effect to the potentially dilutive impact of the Warrants which are expected to be issued pursuant to the Plan. The Class A11 Warrants shall consist of Warrants to obtain approximately 17.5 million shares of New OCD Common Stock (11.167% on a fully diluted basis before any management stock) with an exercise price of $43.00 per share. The Class A12-A Warrants shall consist of Warrants to obtain approximately 7.8 million shares of New OCD Common Stock (5% on a fully diluted basis before any management stock options) with an exercise price of $45.25 per share.

With respect to the Financial Projections prepared by the management of the Debtors and included as Appendix B to this Disclosure Statement, Lazard assumed that such Financial Projections were reasonably prepared in good faith and on a basis reflecting the most accurate currently available estimates and judgments of the Debtors as to the future operating and financial performance of the Reorganized Debtors. Lazard's estimate of a range of Enterprise Value assumes that operating results projected by the Debtors will be achieved by the Reorganized Debtors in all material respects, including revenue growth and improvements in operating margins, earnings and cash flow. If the business performs at levels below those set forth in the Financial Projections, such performance may have a material impact on Enterprise Value.

In estimating the hypothetical range of the Enterprise Value and equity value of the Reorganized Debtors, Lazard (a) reviewed certain historical financial information of OC for recent years and interim periods; (b) reviewed certain internal financial and operating data of OC, including the Financial Projections as described in Section VI.D of this Disclosure Statement, which data was prepared and provided to Lazard by the management of OC and which relate to OC's business and its prospects; (c) met with certain members of senior management of OC to discuss OC's operations and future prospects; (d) reviewed publicly available financial data and considered the market value of public companies that Lazard deemed generally comparable to the operating business of OC; (e) considered relevant precedent transactions in the building products industry; (f) considered certain economic and industry information relevant to the operating business; and (g) conducted such other studies, analysis, inquiries, and investigations as it deemed appropriate. Although Lazard conducted a review and analysis of OC's business and the Reorganized Debtors' business plan, it assumed and relied on the accuracy and completeness of all financial and other information furnished to it by OC, as well as publicly available information.

Lazard did not independently verify management's projections in connection with such estimates of the Enterprise Value and equity value, and no independent valuations or appraisals of OC were sought or obtained in connection herewith. In the case of the Reorganized Debtors, the estimates of the Enterprise Value prepared by Lazard represent the hypothetical reorganization value of the Reorganized Debtors. Such estimates were developed solely for purposes of the Plan and the analysis of implied relative recoveries to creditors thereunder. Such estimates reflect computations of the range of the estimated Enterprise Value of the Reorganized Debtors through the application of various valuation techniques and do not purport to reflect or constitute appraisals, liquidation values or estimates of the actual market value that may be realized through the sale of any securities to be issued pursuant to the Plan, which may be significantly different than the amounts set forth herein.

The value of an operating business is subject to numerous uncertainties and contingencies that are difficult to predict and will fluctuate with changes in factors affecting the financial condition and prospects of such a business. As a result, the estimate of the range of the Enterprise Value of the Reorganized Debtors set forth herein is not necessarily indicative of actual outcomes, which may be significantly more or less favorable than those set forth herein. Because such estimates are inherently subject to uncertainties, neither OC, Lazard, nor any other person assumes responsibility for their accuracy. In addition, the valuation of newly issued securities is subject to additional uncertainties and contingencies, all of which are difficult to predict. Actual market prices of such securities at issuance will depend upon, among other things, prevailing interest rates, conditions in the financial markets, the anticipated initial securities holdings of pre-petition creditors, some of whom may prefer to liquidate their investment rather than hold it on a long-term basis, and other factors that generally influence the prices of securities.

As noted above, this valuation consists of the aggregate enterprise value of Reorganized OCD and its direct and indirect Subsidiaries, including both Debtor and Non-Debtor Subsidiaries) on a going-concern basis. The Plan is premised upon complete deconsolidation of the Debtor entities. As such, the values of the separate Debtor and Non-Debtor Subsidiaries and the Claims against the Debtors and liabilities of the Non-debtor Subsidiaries may affect what is available for distribution to the creditors of each separate Debtor. The assumptions for purposes of estimation of distributions in this Disclosure Statement may be found in Schedule XII to the Plan and Appendix I to this Disclosure Statement, entitled "Distribution Assumptions".

2. Additional Assumptions Regarding the Reorganized Debtors

With respect to the valuation of the Reorganized Debtors, in addition to the foregoing, Lazard has relied upon the following assumptions:

- The Reorganized Debtors' Enterprise Value consists of the aggregate enterprise value of Reorganized OCD and its direct and indirect Subsidiaries, including the Non-Debtor Subsidiaries.
- The Enterprise Value of the Reorganized Debtors assumes the pro forma debt levels (as set forth in the Financial Projections) adjusted for ownership percentages in order to calculate a range of equity value.
- The projections for the Reorganized Debtors are predicated upon the assumption that Reorganized OCD will be able to obtain all necessary financing, as described herein, and that no asset sales other than those contemplated to be consummated by the Company prior to the Effective Date, or assumed in the Financial Projections, will be required to meet the Reorganized Debtors' ongoing financial requirements. Lazard makes no representations as to whether the Company will obtain financing or consummate such asset sales or as to the terms upon which such financing may be obtained or such asset sales may be consummated.
- The present senior management of OC will continue following consummation of the Plan, and general financial and market conditions as of the assumed Effective Date of the Plan will not differ materially from those conditions prevailing as of the date of this Disclosure Statement.

Lazard's valuation represents a hypothetical value that reflects the estimated intrinsic value of the Company derived through the application of various valuation techniques. Such analysis does not purport to represent valuation levels which would be achieved in, or assigned by, the public markets for debt and equity securities or private markets for corporations. Estimates of Enterprise Value do not purport to be appraisals or necessarily reflect the values which may be realized if assets are sold as a going concern, in liquidation, or otherwise.

3. Valuation Methodology

The following is a brief summary of certain financial analyses performed by Lazard to arrive at its estimation of the Enterprise Value and Total Distributable Value of the Reorganized Debtors. Lazard performed certain procedures, including each of the financial analyses described below, and reviewed the assumptions with the management of OC on which such analyses were based and other factors, including the projected financial results of the Reorganized Debtors. Lazard's estimate of Enterprise Value must be considered as a whole and selecting just one methodology or portions of the analysis, without considering the analysis as a whole, could create a misleading or incomplete conclusion as to Enterprise Value.

Under the valuation methodologies summarized below, Lazard derived a range of Enterprise Values assuming the Reorganized Debtors are full taxpayers. Lazard separately analyzed the value of the Debtors' tax attributes, including NOLs, as of the assumed Effective Date and added this value and the Excess Cash to the Enterprise Value range to calculate a Total Distributable Value range. A discussion of Lazard's analysis of such tax attributes, including the methodology used to value them, is presented below in Section XIII.E.3(d).

(a) Discounted Cash Flow Analysis

The Discounted Cash Flow ("DCF") analysis is a forward-looking enterprise valuation methodology that relates the value of an asset or business to the present value of expected future cash flows to be generated by that asset or business. Under this methodology, projected future cash flows are discounted by the business' weighted average cost of capital (the "Discount Rate"). The Discount Rate reflects the estimated blended rate of return that debt and equity investors would require to invest in the business based on its capital structure. This DCF analysis has two components: the present value of the projected un-levered after-tax free cash flows for a determined period and the present value of the terminal value of cash flows (representing firm value beyond the time horizon of the projections).

As the estimated cash flows, estimated Discount Rate and expected capital structure of the Reorganized Debtors are used to derive a potential value, an analysis of the results of such an estimate is not purely mathematical, but instead involves complex considerations and judgments concerning potential variances in the projected financial and operating characteristics of the Reorganized Debtors, as well as other factors that could affect the future prospects and cost of capital considerations for the Reorganized Debtors.

The DCF calculation was performed based on un-levered after-tax free cash flows for the projection period 2007 to 2014. Lazard utilized management's detailed financial projections for the period 2006 to 2008 as the primary input. Management assisted Lazard with the development of projections for the extended period of 2009 to 2014, which period includes a downturn in the business cycle. Beginning with earnings before interest and taxes ("EBIT"), the analysis taxes this figure at an assumed rate of 40% to calculate an un-levered net income figure. The analysis then adds back the non-cash operating expense of depreciation and amortization. In addition, other factors affecting free cash flow are taken into account, such as the change in working capital and capital expenditures, all of which do not affect the income statement and therefore require separate adjustments in the calculation.

In performing the calculation, Lazard made assumptions for the Discount Rate, which is used to value future cash flows based on the riskiness of the projections, and the exit multiple of earnings before interest, taxes, depreciation and amortization ("EBITDA"), which is used to determine the future value of the enterprise after the end of the projected period. To estimate the Discount Rate, Lazard used the cost of equity and the after-tax cost of debt for the Reorganized Debtors, assuming a range of targeted long-term capital structure of approximately 30% to 40% debt to total capital.

Lazard estimated the cost of equity based on the Capital Asset Pricing Model, which assumes that the required equity return is a function of the risk-free cost of capital and the correlation ("Beta") of a publicly traded stock's performance to the return on the broader market. Lazard used Betas from comparable companies on an un-levered basis to determine a composite un-levered Beta. In estimating the Reorganized Debtors' cost of debt, Lazard considered a number of factors including the likely interest associated with the Reorganized Debtors' post-emergence financing, the expected term of such financing, and the effective yield for publicly traded debt securities for comparable companies in the industry. Lazard's DCF valuation was based upon a range of Discount Rates between 10.5% and 11.5%, with a mid-point of 11.0%. In determining an EBITDA exit multiple, Lazard relied upon various analyses including a review of current and historical EBITDA trading multiples for the Debtors and comparable companies operating in the building products sector. Lazard's terminal value was based upon a range of EBITDA multiples between 7.0x and 8.0x, with a mid-point of 7.5x. Lazard believes that this range of EBITDA multiples is consistent with the observed multiples for companies similar to the Debtors that operate in cyclical industry sectors.

(b) Publicly Traded Company Analysis

A publicly traded company analysis estimates value based on a comparison of the target company's financial statistics with the financial statistics of public companies that are similar to the target company. The analysis establishes a benchmark for asset valuation by deriving the value of "comparable" assets, standardized using a common variable such as EBIT and EBITDA. The analysis includes a detailed multi-year financial comparison of each company's income statement, balance sheet, and cash flow statement. In addition, each company's performance, profitability, margins, leverage and business trends are also examined. Based on these analyses, a number of financial multiples and ratios are calculated to gauge each company's relative performance and valuation.

A key factor to this approach is the selection of companies with relatively similar business and operational characteristics to the target company. Criteria for selecting comparable companies for the analysis include, among other relevant characteristics, similar lines of businesses, business risks, growth prospects, maturity of businesses, market presence, size, and scale of operations. The selection of truly comparable companies is often difficult and subject to limitations due to sample size and the availability of meaningful market-based information. However, the underlying concept is to develop a premise for relative value, which, when coupled with other approaches, presents a foundation for determining firm value.

In performing the Comparable Public Company Analysis, the following publicly traded companies ("Peer Group") deemed generally comparable to the Debtors in one or more of the factors described above, were selected: American Woodmark, Black & Decker, CRH, Elkcorp, Griffon, James Hardie, Masco, NCI Building Systems, Owens Illinois, PPG Industries, and Sherwin Williams. Lazard excluded several building products manufacturers that were deemed not comparable because of size, specific product comparability and/or status of comparable companies (e.g., currently in a chapter 11).

Lazard primarily observed valuation ratios as a function of enterprise value of each company as indicated by the book value of debt less cash plus the equity market capitalization. Lazard calculated multiples for the Peer Group of enterprise value to various historical and projected earnings measures, including EBIT and EBITDA. To calculate the multiple of enterprise value to EBITDA, Lazard divided the enterprise values of each comparable company by their last twelve months ("LTM") EBITDA and projected EBITDA for 2006 and 2007 (as estimated in current equity research and I/B/E/S data services). This analysis produced multiples of enterprise value as follows:

- LTM EBITDA multiple ranging from a low of approximately 6.9x to a high of 9.3x, with a mean of approximately 8.1x;
- Estimated 2006 EBITDA multiple ranging from a low of approximately 6.2x to a high of approximately 9.1x, with a mean of approximately 7.4x;
- Estimated 2007 EBITDA multiple ranging from a low of approximately 5.1x to a high of approximately 7.6x, with a mean of approximately 6.8x.

Having calculated these statistics and other similar statistics, Lazard then applied a range of multiples to the Debtors' financial results and forecasts, including LTM EBITDA ($825 million) and forecasted 2006 and 2007 EBITDA ($865 million and $925 million, respectively) to determine a range of Enterprise Values. Lazard's application of these multiples to the Reorganized Debtors' financial results took into account a variety of factors, both quantitative and qualitative, in an effort to consider the relative valuation which the Reorganized Debtors would command given the availability of alternative investments. It should be noted that these multiples are based upon profitability metrics which could generally be described as representing a possible "peak" of the business cycle. In addition, the observed multiples are generally higher than historical averages.

(c) Precedent Transactions Analysis

Precedent transactions analysis estimates value by examining public merger and acquisition transactions. An analysis of a company's transaction value as a multiple of various operating statistics provides industry-wide valuation multiples for companies in similar lines of businesses to the Debtors. These transaction multiples were calculated based on the purchase price (including any debt assumed, less cash) paid to acquire companies that are comparable to the Debtors. These multiples were then applied to the Reorganized Debtors' key operating statistics, to determine the total enterprise value or value to a potential strategic buyer. Lazard evaluated each of these multiples and made judgments as to their relative significance in determining the Reorganized Debtors' range of reorganization value.

Unlike the comparable public company analysis, the valuation in this methodology includes a "control" premium, representing the purchase of a majority or controlling position in a company's assets. Thus, this methodology generally produces higher valuations than the comparable public company analysis. Other aspects of value that manifest itself in a precedent transaction analysis include the following: (a) circumstances surrounding a merger transaction may introduce idiosyncratic factors into the analysis (e.g., an additional premium may be extracted from a buyer in the case of a competitive bidding contest); (b) the market environment is not identical for transactions occurring at different periods of time; and (c) circumstances pertaining to the financial position of a company may have an impact on the resulting purchase price (e.g., a company in financial distress may receive a lower price due to perceived weakness in its bargaining leverage).

As with the comparable company analysis, because no acquisition used in any analysis is identical to a target transaction, valuation conclusions cannot be based solely on quantitative results. The reasons for and circumstances surrounding each acquisition transaction are specific to such transaction, and there are inherent differences between the businesses, operations and prospects of each. Therefore, qualitative judgments must be made concerning the differences between the characteristics of these transactions and other factors and issues that could affect the price an acquirer is willing to pay in an acquisition. The number of completed transactions over the prior three years for which public data is available also limits this analysis. Because the precedent transaction analysis explains other aspects of value besides the inherent value of a company, there are limitations as to its use in the Reorganized Debtors' valuation.

Lazard evaluated various merger and acquisition transactions that have occurred in the building products industry between 2000 and 2006. Lazard calculated multiples of Transaction Value (as hereinafter defined) to the latest twelve months' ("LTM") EBITDA and EBIT of the target companies by dividing the disclosed purchase price of the target's equity, plus any debt assumed as part of the transaction (the "Transaction Value," as identified above), by disclosed LTM EBITDA and EBIT. This analysis produced multiples of Transaction Value to LTM EBITDA ranging from a low of approximately 4.4x to a high of approximately 9.9x, with a mean of approximately 7.0x. Lazard then applied a range of multiples to the Debtors' LTM EBITDA and EBIT to determine a range of Enterprise Values.

(d) Analysis of Post-Emergence Tax Attributes

The Reorganized Debtors expect to have NOLs following their emergence from bankruptcy. It is expected that the Debtors NOLs as of the filing date, plus the NOLs created through the funding of the 524(g) Trust, will exceed cancellation of debt income (COD). Lazard has valued these NOLs of the Reorganized Debtors by calculating the present value of the tax savings they would be expected to provide relative to the taxes the Reorganized Debtors would otherwise pay absent the availability of such attributes. Lazard assumed that the cash flows resulting from the benefit of Reorganized Debtors' tax attributes will be subject to an annual utilization limitation, per Section 382(l)(6) of the Tax Code, of approximately [$170] million. These cash flows were then discounted at a range of discount rates, based on the Reorganized Debtors' cost of capital. Furthermore, Lazard took into account a variety of qualitative factors in estimating the value of the NOLs at no less than $200 million, including such factors as implementation and utilization risk.[24]

(e) Analysis of Class 11 and Class 12 Warrants

Pursuant to the Plan, the Reorganized Debtors will issue the Class A11 Warrants and the Class A12-A Warrants. The Class A11 Warrants shall consist of Warrants to obtain approximately 17.5 million shares of New OCD Common Stock (11.167% on a fully diluted basis before any management stock) with an exercise price of $43.00 per share. The Class A12-A Warrants shall consist of Warrants to obtain approximately 7.8 million shares of New OCD Common Stock (5% on a fully diluted basis before any management stock options) with an exercise price of $45.25 per share. While the intrinsic value of the Warrants is zero given that the Warrants are "out-of-the-money" assuming a $30.00 share price, it is very likely that the Warrants will have market value. Using a Black-Scholes valuation methodology, the theoretical value range of the Class 11 Warrants could be expected to be between $6.20 and $9.20 per Warrant and the Class 12 Warrants could be expected to be between $5.60 and $8.60 per Warrant. The key assumptions for this valuation methodology include the following: risk-free rate of 5.0%, volatility of between 20% to 30%, 0% dividend policy, time to expiration of seven years, stock price equal to the Plan value of $30.00, and exercise price of $43.00 for Class A11 Warrants and $45.25 for Class A12-A Warrants.

THE SUMMARY SET FORTH ABOVE DOES NOT PURPORT TO BE A COMPLETE DESCRIPTION OF THE ANALYSES PERFORMED BY LAZARD. THE PREPARATION OF AN ESTIMATE INVOLVES VARIOUS DETERMINATIONS AS TO THE MOST APPROPRIATE AND RELEVANT METHODS OF FINANCIAL ANALYSIS AND THE APPLICATION OF THESE METHODS IN THE PARTICULAR CIRCUMSTANCES AND, THEREFORE, SUCH AN ESTIMATE IS NOT READILY SUSCEPTIBLE TO SUMMARY DESCRIPTION. IN PERFORMING THEIR ANALYSES, LAZARD AND THE DEBTORS MADE NUMEROUS ASSUMPTIONS WITH RESPECT TO INDUSTRY PERFORMANCE, BUSINESS AND ECONOMIC CONDITIONS AND OTHER MATTERS. THE ANALYSES PERFORMED BY LAZARD ARE NOT NECESSARILY INDICATIVE OF ACTUAL VALUES OR FUTURE RESULTS, WHICH MAY BE SIGNIFICANTLY MORE OR LESS FAVORABLE THAN SUGGESTED BY SUCH ANALYSES.

F. Application of the "Best Interests" of Creditors Test to the Liquidation Analysis and the Valuation

It is impossible to determine with any specificity the value each creditor will receive as a percentage of its Allowed Claim. This difficulty in estimating the value of recoveries is due to, among other things, the lack of any public market for the New OCD Common Stock.

[24] The Debtors and their advisors continue to analyze, and conduct due diligence with respect to, the Debtors' available NOLs as of the projected Effective Date, and anticipate completing their analysis and further updating such NOL estimate no later than ten (10) Business Days prior to the Objection Deadline, which estimate may vary from, and may potentially be greater than, the estimate set forth herein.

Notwithstanding the difficulty in quantifying recoveries to holders of Allowed Claims with precision, the Debtors believe that the financial disclosures and projections contained herein imply a greater or equal recovery to holders of Claims in Impaired Classes than the recovery available in a Chapter 7 liquidation. As set forth below, the Debtors have set forth an estimate of the comparative distributions between a Chapter 7 liquidation and the Plan.

Accordingly, the Debtors believe that the "best interests" test of Section 1129 of the Bankruptcy Code is satisfied.

Because the Unsecured Creditors' Committee previously contended that the liquidation analysis is not permitted to assume any payment to future asbestos claimants in a Chapter 7 liquidation, and based on certain other assumptions, the Unsecured Creditors' Committee contended that creditors would receive more in a Chapter 7 liquidation than under the Plan. Therefore, the Unsecured Creditors' Committee contended that the plans filed prior to the Plan failed to satisfy the "best interests test" of Section 1129(a)(7). The Plan Proponents and Lazard disagree with this analysis. For a more detailed discussion of this dispute, see Section XIII.D of this Disclosure Statement entitled "Liquidation Analysis" and the Liquidation Analysis contained in Appendix C. The Bankruptcy Court or the District Court will determine, in conjunction with confirmation, whether the Plan satisfies the "best interests test" of Section 1129(a)(7).

G. Confirmation Without Acceptance of All Impaired Classes: "Cramdown"

The Debtors will request confirmation of the Plan, as it may be modified from time to time, under Section 1129(a) of the Bankruptcy Code, and have reserved the right to modify the Plan to the extent, if any, that confirmation pursuant to Section 1129(b) of the Bankruptcy Code requires modification.

Section 1129(b) of the Bankruptcy Code provides that a plan can be confirmed even if it is not accepted by all impaired classes of claims and interests, as long as at least one impaired class of claims has accepted the plan. The Bankruptcy Court may confirm a plan notwithstanding the rejection or deemed rejection of an impaired class of claims or interests if the plan "does not discriminate unfairly" and is "fair and equitable" as to each impaired class that has rejected, or is deemed to have rejected, the plan.

A plan does not discriminate unfairly within the meaning of the Bankruptcy Code if a rejecting impaired class is treated equally with respect to other classes of equal rank. The Bankruptcy Code establishes different standards for what is "fair and equitable" for holders of unsecured claims, and equity interests.

A plan is fair and equitable as to a class of unsecured claims that rejects the plan if, among other things, the plan provides (1) that each holder of a claim in the rejecting class will receive or retain on account of its claim property that has a value, as of the effective date of the Plan, equal to the allowed amount of the claim or (2) that no holder of a claim that is junior to the claims of the rejecting class will receive or retain under the plan any property on account of such junior claim.

With respect to equity interests, a plan is fair and equitable as to a class of equity interests that rejects the plan if, among other things, the plan provides (1) that each holder of an equity interest in the rejecting class will receive or retain on account of such interest property that has a value, as of the effective date of the plan, equal to the greatest of the allowed amount of any fixed liquidation preference to which such holder is entitled, any fixed redemption price to which such holder is entitled, or the value of such interest; or (2) that the holder of any interest that is junior to the interest of such class will not receive under the plan any property on account of such junior interest.

The Debtors believe that the Plan may be confirmed pursuant to the above-described "cramdown" provisions, over the dissent of certain Classes of Claims and Interests, including Class I12 (which is deemed to have rejected the Plan) in view of the treatment proposed for such Classes. The Debtors would seek confirmation of the Plan pursuant to the above-described "cramdown" provisions over the dissent of any Class other than Classes A7 and B8. In addition, the Debtors do not believe that the Plan unfairly discriminates against, or is otherwise unfair or inequitable, with respect to any Class who may vote to reject the Plan.

Various objectors have stated that they will object to confirmation and that the Plan does not meet certain requirements for confirmation under Section 1129 of the Bankruptcy Code. The Plan Proponents believe the Plan in confirmable under Section 1129. Any such objections will be adjudicated by the Bankruptcy Court at the Confirmation Hearing.

XIV. CERTAIN RISK FACTORS TO BE CONSIDERED

A. Certain Factors Relating to the Chapter 11 Proceedings

1. A single holder or a small group of holders may own a majority of the outstanding shares of New OCD Common Stock and might thereby be able to control Reorganized OCD.

Under certain conditions, the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust could beneficially own more than 50% of the issued and outstanding shares of New OCD Common Stock. Alternatively, under certain conditions a small number of holders with significant holdings could, in the aggregate, beneficially own more than 50% of the issued and outstanding shares of New OCD Common Stock. In such circumstances, either the Asbestos Personal Injury Trust (acting alone) or such small group of significant holders (acting together) would potentially have significant control over Reorganized OCD and eventually might have the power to elect the majority of the Reorganized OCD directors. By virtue of this ability to elect a majority of directors, such holders would potentially have the power to appoint new management and approve many actions requiring the approval of the holders of New OCD Common Stock, including adopting certain amendments to the Amended and Restated Certificate of Incorporation and approving mergers or sales of all or substantially all of Reorganized OCD's assets. Accordingly, it is possible that either a single majority holder or a small group of significant stakeholders choosing to act together could effectively control the strategic direction and significant corporate transactions of Reorganized OCD, and their respective interests in these matters may conflict with the interests of Reorganized OCD's other stakeholders. As a result, such majority holders could cause Reorganized OCD to take actions the other stakeholders do not support. This concentration of ownership could also facilitate or hinder a negotiated change of control of Reorganized OCD, and, consequently, could have an impact upon the value of the New OCD Common Stock.

2. There can be no assurance that the Plan will be consummated as proposed.

The Plan sets forth a method, determined by negotiation between OC and certain of its creditor constituencies, for resolving Claims and reorganizing the Debtors. However, the Plan has not been approved by all of the Debtors' creditor constituencies and, as a result, there remains significant uncertainty as to whether the proposed resolution of Claims as described herein (including the amount and form of recoveries) will be effected. Although it is possible under applicable bankruptcy law to approve and confirm a plan of reorganization over the objection of various creditor groups, no assurance can be given that such a resolution will be achievable in this instance. Claimants who object to the terms of the Plan may be expected to challenge it in court proceedings and there can be no assurance that any such proceedings will be resolved favorably to the Debtors or that such proceedings, or further negotiations, will not result in significant changes to the terms of the Plan, including the amount and form of recoveries.

The proposed relative amounts of recovery by holders of Claims and Interests is the result of negotiation among various of the constituencies of claimants with the Company, as well as the application of legal principles regarding ranking of Claims and Interests, and other matters. While the Company believes that the overall treatment of Claims and Interests under the Plan is fair and reasonable, not all Claims and Interests are treated equally, and certain Claims and Interests receive no distributions pursuant to the Plan.

The ultimate recoveries under the Plan to holders of Claims (other than holders whose entire Distribution is paid in Cash under the Plan) depend upon the realizable value of the Senior Notes and the New OCD Common Stock, which are subject to a number of material risks, including, but not limited to, those specified below under the caption "Certain Factors Relating to Securities to be Issued Pursuant to the Plan." In addition, changes to the terms of the Plan, including to the form and amount of recoveries, may significantly affect the nature of recoveries, or may make further distinctions between the recoveries applicable to different classes of creditors.

3. Even if holders of Claims vote to approve the Plan, there can be no assurance that the Plan will be confirmed by the Bankruptcy Court and consummated.

Even if all Impaired Classes entitled to vote in fact vote in favor of the Plan and, with respect to any Impaired Class deemed to have rejected the Plan, the requirements for "cramdown" are met, the Bankruptcy Court, which as a court of equity may exercise substantial discretion, may choose not to confirm the Plan. Section 1129 of the Bankruptcy Code requires, among other things, a showing that confirmation of the Plan will not be followed by liquidation or the need for further financial reorganization of the Debtors (see Section XIII.A of this Disclosure Statement), and that the value of distributions to dissenting holders of Claims and Interests may not be less than the value such holders would receive if the Debtors were liquidated under Chapter 7 of the Bankruptcy Code. See Section XIII.C of this Disclosure Statement. Although the Debtors believe that the Plan will meet such tests, there can be no assurance that the Bankruptcy Court will reach the same conclusion. See Appendix C annexed hereto for a liquidation analysis of the Debtors. The Bankruptcy Court or the District Court will determine, in conjunction with confirmation, whether the Plan satisfies the "best interests test" of Section 1129(a)(7).

The Plan provides for certain conditions that must be fulfilled prior to confirmation of the Plan and the Effective Date. As of the date of this Disclosure Statement, there can be no assurance that any or all of the conditions in the Plan will be met (or waived), that other conditions to consummation, if any, will be satisfied, or that supervening factors will not prevent the Plan from being consummated. Accordingly, even if the Plan is confirmed by the Bankruptcy Court, there can be no assurance that the Plan will be consummated. If a liquidation or protracted reorganization were to occur, there is a substantial risk that the value of the Debtors' enterprise would be substantially eroded to the detriment of all stakeholders.

B. Certain Factors Relating to Securities to be Issued Pursuant to the Plan

The Senior Notes and the shares of New OCD Common Stock that will be issued pursuant to the Plan are securities for which there is currently no market. While the Debtors may apply to list the Senior Notes or the New OCD Common Stock, or both, on a securities exchange, or to have them included in an interdealer quotation system, no determination to do so has been made. Accordingly, there can be no assurance as to the development or liquidity of any market for the Senior Notes or the shares of New OCD Common Stock. If a trading market does not develop or is not maintained, holders of Senior Notes or shares of New OCD Common Stock may experience difficulty in reselling such securities or may be unable to sell them at all. Even if such market were to exist, such securities could trade at prices higher or lower than the value attributed to such securities in connection with their distribution under the Plan, depending upon many factors, including, without limitation, prevailing interest rates, markets for similar securities, industry conditions and the performance of, and investor expectations for, the Reorganized Debtors. In addition, some persons who receive Senior Notes and shares of New OCD Common Stock may prefer to liquidate their investment in the near term rather than hold such securities on a long-term basis. Accordingly, any market for such securities may be volatile, at least for an initial period following the Effective Date, and may be depressed until the market has had time to absorb any such sales and to observe the performance of the Reorganized Debtors.

C. Certain Factors Relating to the Reorganized Debtors

1. The financial projections are inherently uncertain.

The Financial Projections set forth in Appendix B hereto cover the Debtors' projected future operations through fiscal 2008. The Financial Projections contain statements which constitute "forward-looking statements" within the meaning of the Securities Act of 1933 and the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended by the Private Securities Litigation Reform Act of 1995. "Forward-looking statements" in the Financial Projections include the intent, belief or current expectations of OC and members of its management team with respect to the timing and completion of the implementation of the Plan, the feasibility of the Business Plan, the availability of bank and other financing, the conditions of the debt and equity markets, the state of general business and economic conditions, and OC's future liquidity, as well as the assumptions upon which such statements are based. While OC believes that these expectations are based on reasonable assumptions within the bounds of its knowledge of its business and operations, parties in interest are cautioned that any such forward-looking statements are not guaranties of future performance, and involve risks and uncertainties, and that actual results are likely to differ materially from those contemplated by such forward-looking statements.

Important factors currently known to OC's management that could cause actual results to differ materially from those contemplated by the forward-looking statements in the Financial Projections include, but are not limited to, adverse developments with respect to the liquidity position of OC or operations of the various businesses of OC, adverse developments in the bank financing or public or private markets for debt or equity securities of OCD, adverse developments in the timing or results of the implementation of the Business Plan (including the time to emerge from Chapter 11), the difficulty in controlling industry costs and integrating new operations, the ability of the OC to realize the anticipated general and administrative expense savings and overhead reductions contemplated in the Financial Projections, the ability of OC to maintain profitability of their operations, the level and nature of any restructuring and other one-time charges, the difficulty in estimating costs relating to exiting certain markets and consolidating and closing certain operations, and the possible negative effects of a change in applicable legislation. See Section VI.D of this Disclosure Statement.

2. There can be no assurance that the Reorganized Debtors will be able to refinance certain indebtedness.

Following the Effective Date of the Plan, the Debtors' working capital needs and letter of credit requirements are anticipated to be funded under the new Exit Facility. See Section VII.D.19 of this Disclosure Statement. Obtaining the Exit Facility is a condition precedent to the Effective Date. There can be no assurance, however, that the Reorganized Debtors will be able to obtain replacement financing for such facility to fund future working capital needs and letters of credit, or that replacement financing, if obtained, would be on terms equally as favorable to the Reorganized Debtors. Furthermore, there can be no assurance that the Reorganized Debtors will be able to refinance the Senior Notes upon their maturity, should such a need arise.

3. Retention of key management and technical personnel may be important to the future performance of the Reorganized Debtors.

Many aspects of the business of the Debtors require personnel with significant experience or technical expertise. In addition, the past business performance of the Debtors has been achieved, in part, by the skills of key management personnel who possess very particular knowledge and expertise relating to the Debtors' business. There can be no assurance that such personnel can be retained or, that if any such personnel do not continue in the employ of the Reorganized Debtors, that the Reorganized Debtors will be able to replace such key personnel.

4. There can be no assurance that Reorganized OCD will pay dividends.

The Debtors cannot anticipate whether Reorganized OCD will pay any dividends on the New OCD Common Stock in the foreseeable future. In addition, restrictive covenants in certain debt instruments to which Reorganized OCD will be a party, including the Exit Facility, may limit the ability of Reorganized OCD to pay dividends.

5. The Reorganized Debtors are subject to environmental regulation and failure to comply with environmental regulation could harm its business.

The Reorganized Debtors will remain subject to a variety of environmental laws and regulations governing, among other things, discharges to air and water, the handling, storage, and disposal of hazardous or solid waste materials, and may also be required to undertake the remediation of contamination associated with releases of hazardous substances. Such laws and regulations and the risk of attendant litigation can cause significant delays and add significantly to the cost of operations. Violations of these environmental laws and regulations could subject the Reorganized Debtors and their management to civil and criminal penalties and other liabilities based on their post-petition conduct. There can be no assurance that such laws and regulations will not become more stringent, or more stringently implemented, in the future.

Various federal, state and local environmental laws and regulations, as well as common law, may impose liability for property damage and costs of investigation and cleanup of hazardous or toxic substances on property currently or previously owned by the Debtors or arising out of the Debtors' waste management activities. Such laws may impose responsibility and liability without regard to knowledge of or causation of the presence of the contaminants, and the liability under such laws is joint and several. The Debtors have potential liabilities associated with their past waste disposal activities and with their current and prior ownership of certain property. In general, the Debtors believe that the likely amount of such liabilities will not be material, because the Debtors may have a valid defense to liability with respect to a given site or the Debtors should only be responsible for a small percentage of the total cleanup costs with respect to a given site. However, because liability under such laws is joint and several, no assurances can be given that the Reorganized Debtors will not eventually be responsible for all or a substantial portion of the liabilities associated with one or more of these sites, which liabilities could be material either individually or in the aggregate.

6. OC's tax reserves may be insufficient and any revision to these reserves may adversely affect OC's financial position.

In accordance with generally accepted accounting principles, OC maintains tax reserves to cover audit issues. While OC believes that the existing reserves are appropriate in light of the audit issues involved, its defenses, its prior experience in resolving audit issues, and its ability to realize certain challenged deductions in subsequent tax returns if the IRS were successful, there can be no assurance that such reserves will be sufficient. OC will continue to review its tax reserves on a periodic basis and make such adjustments as may be appropriate. Any such revision could be material to OC's consolidated financial position and results of operations in any given period.

7. The performance of OC's business reflects the impact of business cycles.

Sales of OC's products are correlated to business activity in the new construction and remodeling markets, which are highly sensitive to national and regional economic conditions. From time to time, the construction industry has been adversely affected in various parts of the country by unfavorable economic conditions, low use of manufacturing capacity, high vacancy rates, changes in tax laws affecting the real estate industry, high interest rates and the unavailability of financing. In addition, sales of OC's products may be adversely affected by weakness in demand within particular customer groups or a recession in the general construction industry or in particular geographic regions. OC cannot predict the timing or severity of future economic or industry downturns. Any economic downturn, particularly in states where many of OC's sales are made, could have a material adverse effect on its results of operations and financial condition.

8. Particular risks involving international operations may affect the performance of the Reorganized Debtors.

OC pursues project opportunities throughout the world through foreign and domestic subsidiaries as well as agreements with foreign joint-venture partners. These foreign operations are subject to special risks, including: uncertain political and economic environments, potential incompatibility with foreign joint-venture partners, foreign currency controls and fluctuations, war and military operations, civil disturbances and labor strikes.

XV. ALTERNATIVES TO CONFIRMATION AND CONSUMMATION OF THE PLAN

The Debtors believe that the Plan affords holders of Claims the potential for the greatest realization on the Debtors' assets and, therefore, is in the best interests of such holders.

If, however, the requisite acceptances are not received, or the Plan is not subsequently confirmed and consummated, the theoretical alternatives include: (a) formulation of an alternative plan or plans of reorganization, or (b) liquidation of the Debtors under Chapter 7 or 11 of the Bankruptcy Code.

A. Alternative Plan(s) of Reorganization or Liquidation

If the requisite acceptances are not received by the Voting Deadline or if the Plan is not confirmed, the Debtors (or, if the Debtors' exclusive periods in which to file and solicit acceptances of a plan of reorganization have expired, any other party-in-interest) could attempt to formulate and propose a different plan or plans of reorganization. Such a plan or plan(s) might involve either a reorganization and continuation of the Debtors' businesses or an orderly liquidation of the Debtors' assets.

With respect to an alternative plan, the Debtors have explored various alternatives in connection with the formulation and development of the Plan. The Debtors believe that the Plan enables the holders of Claims against the Debtors to realize the greatest possible value under the circumstances, and that, as compared to any alternative plan of reorganization, the Plan has the greatest chance to be confirmed and consummated.

B. Liquidation Under Chapter 7 or Chapter 11

If no plan is confirmed, the Chapter 11 Cases may be converted to cases under Chapter 7 of the Bankruptcy Code, pursuant to which one or more trustees would be elected or appointed to liquidate the Debtors' assets for distribution to claimants in accordance with the priorities established by the Bankruptcy Code. It is impossible to predict precisely how the proceeds of the liquidation would be distributed to the respective holders of Claims against or Interests in the Debtors.

The Debtors believe that in a liquidation under Chapter 7, before claimants receive any distribution, additional administrative expenses arising from the appointment of a trustee or trustees and attorneys, accountants and other professionals to assist such trustees would cause a substantial diminution in the value of the Debtors' Estates. The assets available for distribution to claimants would be reduced by such additional expenses and by Claims, some of which would be entitled to priority, arising by reason of the liquidation and from the rejection of leases and other executory contracts in connection with the cessation of operations and the failure to realize the greater going concern value of the Debtors' Estates.

The Debtors could also be liquidated pursuant to the provisions of a Chapter 11 plan of reorganization. In a liquidation under Chapter 11, the Debtors' assets could be sold in an orderly fashion over a more extended period of time than in a liquidation under Chapter 7. Thus, a Chapter 11 liquidation might result in larger recoveries than in a Chapter 7 liquidation, but the delay in distributions could result in lower present values received and higher administrative costs. Because a trustee is not required in a Chapter 11 case, expenses for professional fees could be lower than in a Chapter 7 case, in which a trustee must be appointed. Any distribution to the holders of Claims under a Chapter 11 liquidation plan probably would be delayed substantially. Moreover, without the support of the holders of Asbestos Personal Injury Claims, the purchaser or purchasers of assets from the Debtors would not be assured the protection from liability for asbestos-related claims available under Section 524(g) of the Bankruptcy Code, thus potentially diminishing the value of such assets in a sale under Chapter 11.

The Debtors believe that any alternative liquidation under Chapter 11, if feasible at all, is a much less attractive alternative to creditors than the Plan. THE COMPANY BELIEVES THAT THE PLAN AFFORDS SUBSTANTIALLY GREATER BENEFITS TO CREDITORS THAN WOULD A LIQUIDATION UNDER CHAPTER 7 OR CHAPTER 11 OF THE BANKRUPTCY CODE.

The Liquidation Analysis, prepared by the Debtors with the assistance of Lazard, is premised upon a liquidation in a Chapter 7 case. In the analysis, the Debtors have taken into account the nature, status, and underlying value of their assets, the ultimate realizable value of such assets, and the extent to which the assets are subject to liens and security interests.

The likely form of any liquidation would be the sale of individual assets. Based on this analysis, it is likely that a liquidation of the Debtors' assets would produce less value for distribution to creditors than that recoverable in each instance under the Plan. In the Debtors' opinion, the recoveries projected to be available in liquidation are not likely to afford holders of Claims as great a realization potential as does the Plan.

For a more detailed discussion, see Appendix C to this Disclosure Statement. The Bankruptcy Court or the District Court will determine, in conjunction with confirmation, whether the Plan satisfies the "best interests test" of Section 1129(a)(7).

XVI. THE SOLICITATION; VOTING PROCEDURE

The Bankruptcy Court may confirm the Plan only if it determines that the Plan complies with the technical requirements of Chapter 11 of the Bankruptcy Code and that the disclosures by the Debtors concerning the Plan have been adequate and have included information concerning all payments made or to be made in connection with the Plan and the Chapter 11 Cases. In addition, the Bankruptcy Court must determine that the Plan has been proposed in good faith and not by any means forbidden by law and, under Rule 3020(b)(2) of the Bankruptcy Rules, it may do so without receiving evidence if no objection is timely filed.

In particular, the Bankruptcy Code requires the Bankruptcy Court to find, among other things, that (a) the Plan has been accepted by the requisite votes of the Classes of Impaired Claims, unless approval will be sought under Section 1129(b) of the Bankruptcy Code despite the dissent of one or more such classes, which will be the case under the Plan, (b) the Plan is "feasible," which means that there is a reasonable probability that confirmation of the Plan will not be followed by liquidation or the need for further financial reorganization, and (c) the Plan is in the "best interests" of all holders of Claims and Interests, which means that such holders will receive at least as much under the Plan as they would receive in a liquidation under Chapter 7 of the Bankruptcy Code. The Bankruptcy Court must find that all conditions mentioned above are met before it can confirm the Plan. Thus, even if all Classes of Impaired Claims and Interests accept the Plan by the requisite votes, the Bankruptcy Court must make an independent finding that the Plan conforms to the requirements of the Bankruptcy Code, that the Plan is feasible, and that the Plan is in the best interests of the holders of Claims against, and Interests in, the Debtors. These statutory conditions to confirmation are discussed above.

By Order dated June 20, 2006, (the "Voting Procedures Order"), the Court has approved certain Voting Procedures which govern, among other things, the manner in which votes on the Plan will be solicited and Ballots and Master Ballots on the Plan tabulated. A copy of the Voting Procedures accompanies this Disclosure Statement. For further information regarding Voting Procedures and rules concerning the calculation of the amount of Claims voting in a Class of Claims, see Section XIII.B of this Disclosure Statement entitled "Feasibility of the Plan and Best Interests of Creditors—Acceptance of the Plan."

A. Parties in Interest Entitled to Vote

Under Section 1124 of the Bankruptcy Code, a class of claims or interests is deemed to be impaired under a Plan unless (1) the Plan leaves unaltered the legal, equitable, and contractual rights to which such claim or interest entitles the holder thereof or (2) notwithstanding any legal right to an accelerated payment of such claim or interest, the plan cures all existing defaults (other than defaults resulting from the occurrence of events of bankruptcy) and reinstates the maturity of such claim or interest as it existed before the default.

In general, a holder of a claim or interest may vote to accept or to reject a plan if (1) the claim or interest is allowed, which means generally that no party in interest has objected to such claim or interest, and (2) the claim or interest is impaired by the plan. If the holder of an impaired claim or interest will not receive or retain any distribution under the plan in respect of such claim or interest, the Bankruptcy Code deems such holder to have rejected the plan. If the claim or interest is not impaired, the Bankruptcy Code deems that the holder of such claim or interest has accepted the plan and the plan proponent need not solicit such holder's vote.

The holder of a Claim against a Debtor that is Impaired under the Plan is entitled to vote to accept or reject the Plan if (i) the Plan provides a distribution in respect to such Claim and (ii) (a) the Claim has been Scheduled by the Debtors (and such claim is not Scheduled at zero or as disputed, contingent, or unliquidated) or (b) it has filed a Proof of Claim on or before the bar date applicable to such holder, pursuant to Sections 502(a) and 1126(a) of the Bankruptcy Code and Bankruptcy Rules 3003 and 3018. Any Claim as to which an objection has been timely filed and has not been withdrawn or dismissed or denied by Final Order is not entitled to vote unless the Bankruptcy Court, pursuant to Federal Rule of Bankruptcy Procedure 3018(a), upon application of the holder of the Claim with respect to which there has been objection, temporarily allows the Claim in an amount that the Bankruptcy Court deems proper for the purpose of accepting or rejecting the Plan.

A vote may be disregarded if the Bankruptcy Court determines, pursuant to Section 1126(e) of the Bankruptcy Code, that it was not solicited or procured in good faith or in accordance with the provisions of the Bankruptcy Code. The Voting Procedures Order also sets forth assumptions and procedures for tabulating Ballots that are not completed fully or correctly.

B. Classes Impaired under the Plan

To the extent and in the manner provided in the Voting Procedures Order, Classes A3-U3, A5, A6-A, A6-B, B6-U6, A7, I7, B8, A10-U10, A11 and A12-A are entitled to vote to accept or reject the Plan.

In Classes A7 and B8, only holders of present Asbestos Personal Injury Claims will vote on the Plan. By operation of law, each Unimpaired Class of Claims is deemed to have accepted the Plan and, therefore, is not entitled to vote to accept or reject the Plan. By operation of law, Class A12-B and I12 are deemed to have rejected the Plan and therefore is not entitled to vote to accept or reject the Plan.

C. Waivers of Defects, Irregularities, etc.

Unless otherwise directed by the Bankruptcy Court, all questions as to the validity, form, eligibility (including time of receipt), acceptance, and revocation or withdrawal of Ballots or Master Ballots will be determined by the Voting Agent or the Special Voting Agent, as applicable, and the Debtors in accordance with the Voting Procedures in their sole discretion, which determination will be final and binding. The Debtors also reserve the right to reject any and all Ballots and Master Ballots not in proper form, the acceptance of which would, in the opinion of the Debtors or their counsel, be unlawful. The Debtors further reserve the right to waive any defects or irregularities or conditions of delivery as to any particular Ballot or Master Ballot.

D. Withdrawal of Ballots; Revocation

Any party who has delivered a valid Ballot or Master Ballot for the acceptance or rejection of the Plan may withdraw such acceptance or rejection by delivering a written notice of withdrawal to the Voting Agent or Special Voting Agent, as applicable, at any time prior to the Voting Deadline in accordance with the Voting Procedures. The Debtors intend to consult with the Voting Agent or Special Voting Agent to determine whether any withdrawals of Ballots or Master Ballots were received and whether the requisite acceptances of the Plan have been received. As stated above, the Debtors expressly reserve the absolute right to contest the validity of any such withdrawals of Ballots and Master Ballots.

E. Further Information; Additional Copies

If you have any questions about (1) the Voting Procedures for voting your Claim or Interest or with respect to the packet of materials that you have received or (2) the amount of your Claim, or if you wish to obtain, at your own expense, unless otherwise specifically required by Federal Rule of Bankruptcy Procedure 3017(d), an additional copy of the Plan, this Disclosure Statement or any appendices or Exhibits to such documents, please contact:

XVII. RECOMMENDATION AND CONCLUSION

For all of the reasons set forth in this Disclosure Statement, the Plan Proponents believe that confirmation and consummation of the Plan is preferable to all other alternatives. Consequently, the Plan Proponents urge all holders of Allowed Claims in Impaired Classes to vote to ACCEPT the Plan, and to complete and return their Ballots or Master Ballots so that they will be actually RECEIVED by the Voting Agent or Special Voting Agent, as applicable, on or before 4:00 p.m. prevailing Eastern Time on the Voting Deadline.

ARTICLE I.
INTRODUCTION

Duro Dyne National Corp. ("Duro Dyne"), Duro Dyne Machinery Corp. ("Duro Dyne Machinery"), Duro Dyne Corporation ("Duro Dyne Corp."); Duro Dyne West Corp. ("Duro Dyne West"); and Duro Dyne Midwest Corp. ("Duro Dyne Midwest"), as debtors and debtors-in-possession (collectively, the "Company", "Debtors" or "Debtors-in-Possession"), pursuant to the provisions of chapter 11 of title 11 of the United States Code, 11 U.S.C. §§ 101 et seq. (as amended) (the "Bankruptcy Code"), submit this Disclosure Statement (the "Disclosure Statement") for their Prenegotiated Plan of Reorganization (the "Plan") [2] for the resolution of their outstanding Claims and Equity Interests (as those terms are defined herein).

On September 7, 2018, each of the Debtors commenced a bankruptcy case (collectively, the "Chapter 11 Cases") by filing a voluntary chapter 11 petition with the United States Bankruptcy Court for the District of New Jersey (the "Bankruptcy Court"). Chapter 11 of the Bankruptcy Code allows a debtor to propose a plan of reorganization or liquidation. On the same date, the Debtors filed their Plan, as may be amended or modified from time to time, with the Bankruptcy Court. A copy of the Plan is attached hereto as Exhibit A. This document is the Disclosure Statement for the Plan.

The Plan constitutes a chapter 11 plan of reorganization. Except as set forth in the Plan or otherwise provided by order of the Bankruptcy Court, Distributions will occur on the Effective Date or as soon thereafter as is practicable and at various intervals thereafter.

In the Debtors' opinion, the treatment of Claims under the Plan provides a greater recovery for Creditors than that which is likely to be achieved under other alternatives. Accordingly, the Debtors believe that Confirmation of the Plan is in the best interests of all creditors and, therefore, urge all creditors to vote to accept the Plan.

ARTICLE II.
PURPOSE OF THIS DISCLOSURE STATEMENT

This Disclosure Statement summarizes what is in the Plan and describes certain information relating to the Plan and the process the Bankruptcy Court will follow in determining whether or not to confirm the Plan. This Disclosure Statement contains the following exhibits:

- The Plan (Exhibit A)
- Financial Projections and Liquidation Analysis (Exhibit B)

Please read this Disclosure Statement and the Exhibits carefully as they discuss, among other things:

a. Who can vote to accept or reject the Plan;

[2] All capitalized terms not defined in this Disclosure Statement shall have the same meanings set forth in the Plan.

b. The proposed treatment of claims (i.e., what creditors will receive on account of their claims if the Plan if confirmed), and how this treatment compares to what creditors would receive if the Chapter 11 Cases were converted to Chapter 7 bankruptcy cases;

c. What the Bankruptcy Court will consider when deciding whether to confirm the Plan; and

d. The effect of confirmation of the Plan.

This Disclosure Statement cannot tell creditors everything about their rights. A creditor should consider consulting his or her own lawyer to obtain more specific advice on how the Plan will affect the creditor and what is the best course of action for the creditor.

Creditors should be sure to read the Plan as well as the Disclosure Statement. If there are any inconsistencies between the Plan and the Disclosure Statement, the Plan provisions will govern. Bankruptcy Code § 1125 requires a Disclosure Statement to contain "adequate information" concerning the Plan. The term "adequate information" is defined in Bankruptcy Code § 1125(a) as "information of a kind, and in sufficient detail," about a debtor "that would enable a hypothetical reasonable investor typical of holders of claims or interests" of a debtor to make an informed judgment about accepting or rejecting the Plan.

This Disclosure Statement has been approved by Order of the Bankruptcy Court dated _____, 2018. Approval of this Disclosure Statement by the Bankruptcy Court does not constitute an endorsement of the Plan by the Bankruptcy Court.

ARTICLE III.
PLAN VOTING PROCEDURES AND CONFIRMATION OF PLAN

THE COURT HAS NOT YET CONFIRMED THE PLAN DESCRIBED IN THIS DISCLOSURE STATEMENT. IN OTHER WORDS, THE TERMS OF THE PLAN ARE NOT YET BINDING ON ANYONE. IF THE COURT LATER CONFIRMS THE PLAN, THEN THE PLAN WILL BE BINDING ON THE DEBTORS AND ON ALL HOLDERS OF CLAIMS AND EQUITY INTERESTS IN THE CHAPTER 11 CASES.

If the Plan is confirmed, the Distributions provided for in the Plan will be in exchange for, and in complete satisfaction, discharge and release of, all Claims against the Debtors or any of their assets or properties, including all Asbestos Claims and Demands and any Claim accruing after the Petition Date and before the Confirmation Date to the fullest extent permitted by law. As of the Effective Date of the Plan, all holders of Claims and Equity Interests will be precluded from asserting any Claim against the Debtors or their assets or other interests in the Debtors based on any transaction or other activity of any kind that occurred before the Confirmation Date except as otherwise provided in the Plan.

A. Requirements for Confirmation

The Bankruptcy Court will confirm the Plan only if it meets all of the applicable requirements of section 1129 of the Bankruptcy Code. Among the requirements for confirmation in these Chapter 11 Cases are that the Plan (a) is accepted by Class 6 or Class 7, which are the only Impaired Classes with the right to vote; and (b) the Plan is feasible. The Bankruptcy Court must also find that:

1. the Plan has classified Claims and Equity Interests in a permissible manner;

2. the Plan complies with the technical requirements of Chapter 11 of the Bankruptcy Code; and

3. the Plan has been proposed in good faith. See 11 U.S.C. §§ 1123, 1129.

B. Persons Potentially Eligible to Vote on the Plan

Pursuant to section 1126 of the Bankruptcy Code, only the holders of Claims in Classes impaired by the Plan and receiving a payment or Distribution under the Plan may vote on the Plan. Pursuant to section 1124 of the Bankruptcy Code, a Class of Claims may be "impaired" if the Plan alters the legal, equitable or contractual rights of the holders of such Claims or Equity Interests in such Class.

Classes 1, 2, 3, 4, 5 and 8 are Unimpaired under the Plan, and, pursuant to Section 1126(f) of the Bankruptcy Code, are conclusively presumed to have accepted the Plan.

Classes 9, 10, 11 and 12 are claims of Insiders and/or Affiliates and are not entitled vote on the Plan.

The following are the Unclassified Claims: General Administrative Expense Claims, Professional Fee Claims, Priority Tax Claims and Statutory Fees. Each holder of an Unclassified Claim is conclusively presumed to have accepted the Plan and, therefore, is not entitled to vote to accept or reject the Plan.

Classes 6 and 7 are Impaired under the Plan and are entitled to vote on the Plan. The Plan can be confirmed by the Bankruptcy Court and thereby made binding on creditors if it is accepted by at least two-thirds (2/3) in dollar amount and more than one-half (1/2) in number of the holders of Class 6 Claims actually voting on the Plan, and by at least two-thirds (2/3) in dollar amount and more than seventy-five percent (75%) in number of the holders of Class 7 Claims that have voted on the Plan. Acceptance of the Plan by Class 7 shall also be determined in accordance with section 524(g)(2)(B)(ii)(IV)(bb) of the Bankruptcy Code and Section 6.04 of the Plan. In the event that Class 7 votes to accept the Plan and Class 6 votes to reject the Plan, the Plan Proponents reserve the right to seek confirmation of the Plan under § 1129(b) of the Bankruptcy Code.

C. Solicitation and Confirmation Hearing Notice

All holders of Claims in Classes 6 and 7 (as well as the other Notice Parties) will receive a package (the "Solicitation Package") consisting of a USB flash drive containing:

1. the Disclosure Statement (with the Plan attached as an exhibit);

2. the Solicitation Order (with the Voting Procedures attached as an exhibit); and

3. any other materials ordered by the Court to be disseminated.

The Solicitation Package shall also include:

1. a cover letter describing the contents of the Solicitation Package, and instructions for obtaining (free of charge) a printed copy of the Solicitation Package;

2. the Confirmation Hearing Notice;

3. solely for the holders of claims entitled to vote on the Plan, appropriate ballots and voting instructions for the same; and

4. solely for the holders of claims entitled to vote on the Plan, pre-addressed, return envelopes for completed ballots.

All other creditors and parties in interest not entitled to vote on the Plan will receive a copy of the Confirmation Hearing Notice and a Notice of Non-Voting Status.

Creditors may also obtain copies of the Solicitation Package on the website of BMC Group, the Debtors' Claims and Noticing Agent (the "Claims and Noticing Agent"), at www.bmcgroup.com/DuroDyne. Copies of the Plan and the Disclosure Statement also may be examined by interested parties between the hours of 9:00 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. (prevailing Eastern Time) at the office of the Clerk of the Bankruptcy Court, United States Bankruptcy Court for the District of New Jersey, Clarkson S. Fisher US Courthouse, 402 East State Street, Trenton, NJ 08608. To the extent any portion of this notice conflicts with the Plan or the Disclosure Statement, the terms of those documents shall control over this notice.

The Ballots received by holders of Claims in Classes 6 and 7 do not constitute a proof of claim. If a creditor is uncertain whether its claim has been correctly scheduled, the creditor should check the Debtors' Schedules, which are on file at the Office of the Clerk of the Bankruptcy Court located at: United States Bankruptcy Court for the District of New Jersey, 402 East State Street, Trenton, New Jersey, 08608. The Clerk of the Bankruptcy Court will not provide this information by telephone.

D. Deadline for Voting to Accept or Reject the Plan

In order for a Ballot to count, the creditor or its representative must (1) complete, date and properly execute the Ballot and (2) properly deliver the Ballot to the Claims and Noticing Agent by either mail or overnight courier to the Claims and Noticing Agent at the following address:

ARTICLE IV.
BACKGROUND AND SUMMARY OF CHAPTER 11 CASES

A. The Debtors' Business and Corporate Structure

1. Overview and Nature of the Debtors' Business

In 1952 Milton Hinden founded the Company which did business under the name Duro-Dyne Corporation. Over the span of 60 years, the Company has evolved into the leading manufacturer of sheet metal accessories and equipment for the heating, ventilating, and air conditioning (HVAC) industry. The Company' operations are conducted though Duro Dyne, Duro Dyne Machinery, Duro Dyne Corp., Duro Dyne Midwest and Duro Dyne West.

Duro Dyne is a holding company whose primary asset is all of the issued and outstanding capital stock of the other Debtors. Duro Dyne is owned by members of the Hinden family and various trusts for the benefit of Hinden family members.

The Company has sales offices and over 200,000 square feet of manufacturing and warehousing facilities in facilities in Trenton, New Jersey, Bay Shore, New York, Fairfield, OH and Fontana, CA (Los Angeles area). In addition to the U.S. operations, the Company has a Canadian affiliate located in Quebec[3] and a licensee that manufactures under the Duro Dyne label located in the United Arab Emirates.

Duro Dyne Machinery manufactures machines for the sheet metal industry which are sold to third party customers. Duro Dyne Corp. manufactures and sells sheet metal parts and tools on the east coast of the United States. Duro Dyne Midwest manufactures and sells sheet metal parts in the Midwestern part of the United States, and Duro Dyne West sells sheet metal parts and tools on the west coast of the United States. The Debtors operate as a consolidated and integrated entity.

In addition to manufacturing, the Company also engages in the research and development of HVAC products. The Company's extensive research and development program has introduced more new products and processes than any other company in this industry, and their ingenuity and technical advances are unmatched in the industry. The Company's innovations continue to lead to the development of an increasing number of diverse items in their product line. The Flexible Duct Connector, the Vane Rail, FGMH Auto Shift Multi-Head Pinspotter System and Blade Kits for multi-blade dampers were originally developed by the Company. Other products that have now become standard in the sheet metal fabrication field such as self-drilling sheet metal screws were likewise developed by the Company. The Company's products also include, among other things, manual and mechanical air dampers, multi-zone control systems, ductwork suspension kits, insulation fasteners, ductwork connecting systems, sealants, and the machinery and tools needed to install it all.

[3] Duro Dyne Corp. owns all the stock of Duro Dyne Canada Inc., a Canadian Corporation, which manufactures and distributes the most complete line of sheet metal accessories and equipment for the heating, ventilating and air conditioning industry in Canada. Duro Dyne Canada is not a Debtor in these proceedings.

The Company sells its products to national, regional and independent HVAC distributors as well as HVAC equipment manufacturers. The distributors stock and sell Company's products to HVAC contractors and other end users.

Prior to the first quarter of 2018, Debtors sales and profits rose steadily as steel prices fell to historic lows and construction activity improved significantly. Most recently, in 2017, the Company's sales were approximately $69 million, and earnings before interest, taxes, depreciation and amortization ("EBITDA") was approximately $5.2 million after adjustments for legal and other fees related to the Company's asbestos and insurance issues, which are discussed further below. Steel prices rose throughout 2017 due to the strongest increase in worldwide steel demand since 2013, which directly impacted the Company's gross margins. In 2018, steel prices have increased dramatically due to uncertainty regarding potential US tariffs on imported steel, with some of the Company's steel vendors raising prices by as much as 25%. To offset this increase in steel costs, the Company announced a price increase effective May 1, 2018. The Company remains profitable and estimates that sales and EBITDA (after adjusting for costs related to this bankruptcy proceeding) for 2018 will be approximately $73.6 million and $5.2 million, respectively. As set forth in detail below, the primary reason for the Company's bankruptcy filings is to address the Company's liability for asbestos related claims.

The Company employs approximately 170 people with sales and distribution channels throughout the United States, Canada and internationally. The Company will from time to time supplement its production, shipping and accounting workforces with temporary employees.

Within the Company's workforce are employees who are or were members of several different unions. Approximately 27 employees of Duro Dyne Midwest are currently members of the International Association of Sheet Metal, Air, Rail and Transportation Workers ("SMART"), Local Union No. 24 of the Sheet Metal Workers' International Union. In November 2017, the New York members of the Warehouse & Production Employees Union, AFL-CIO, Local Union 210 ("Local 210") voted to decertify Local Union 210. Prior to June 2018, Duro Dyne West operated a warehouse in Fontana, California which employed six members of SMART Local Union No. 170 of the Sheet Metal Workers' International Union. Those operations were closed and the employees were terminated on June 15, 2018.

2. The Debtors' Current Business, Officers and Directors

The Officers of Duro Dyne are:

TITLE	NAME
Chief Executive Officer	Randall Hinden
President	Patrick Rossetto
Vice President-Sales & New Product Development	David Krupnick
Vice President-Controller	Leo White
Secretary and Treasurer	Patrick Rossetto

The members of the Board of Directors for Duro Dyne National are Randall Hinden, Wendy Hinden, Irene Hinden, Patrick Rossetto and David Krupnick.

Pursuant to the terms of the Plan, each officer of Duro Dyne will continue to hold office following the Effective Date, and likewise the Board of Directors will remain unchanged following the Effective Date.

3. The Debtors' Equity Structure

Duro Dyne is authorized to issue 5,000 shares of Class B Voting Stock, par value $100.00 per share. Currently, there are 3 shares of Class B voting stock issued. Randall Hinden, Wendy Hinden and Irene Hinden each own one share of the Class B Stock.

Duro Dyne is also authorized to issue 40,000 shares of Class A Non-Voting Stock, par value $1.00 per share. There are 20,903 shares of Class A non-voting stock issued, which are held by the Hinden Family Members and by trusts for the benefit of other members of the Hinden family.

Duro Dyne holds all of the outstanding shares of all of the other Debtors.

Pursuant to the Plan, upon the Effective Date Duro Dyne Machinery, Duro Dyne Corp., Duro Dyne West and Duro Dyne Midwest shall be merged into Duro Dyne, and the shareholders of Duro Dyne shall retain their interests in Duro Dyne. There is no public market for the equity securities of the Debtors.

On the Effective Date, Duro Dyne shall amend its Certificate of Incorporation to:

i. remove from the authorized shares of the corporation a total of 21,097 unissued shares, consisting of (1) 19,097 unissued Class A Non-Voting Common Shares, par value $1.00 per share and (2) 2,000 unissued Class B Voting Common Shares, par value $1.00 per share;

ii. change 3 authorized Class B Voting Common Shares into 3,000 issued Class B Voting Common Shares; and

iii. add a provision prohibiting the further issuance of non-voting equity securities to the extent prohibited by Section 1123(a)(6) of Title 11 of the United States Code as in effect on the date of the filing of this restated certificate of incorporation by the Department of State.

iv. The Debtors' Existing Capital Structure

4. Prepetition Secured Debt.

Duro Dyne is party to a revolving credit note dated February 3, 2003 (as amended) with a non-debtor affiliate, 4 Site, LLC (the "Prepetition Lender") pursuant to which the Prepetition Lender extended a revolving credit facility to Duro Dyne in the principal sum of five million dollars ($5,000,000.00) (the "Prepetition Loan"). As of the Petition Date, the total outstanding balance due on the Prepetition Loan is approximately $1,290,000.00.

The Prepetition Loan was advanced to the Company in several tranches between 2003 and 2015. As of the Petition Date, the tranches distributed in 2009, 2011, 2012, 2014 and 2015 remain outstanding. Each tranche has a 10-year maturity date ranging from 2019 until 2025.

Payments on the Prepetition Loan are due on a quarterly basis each March 31, June 30, September 30 and December 31, and each quarter Duro Dyne pays the Prepetition Lender a total of $82,100.00 on the six outstanding tranches. The Debtors are current on the Prepetition Loan.

As an inducement for the Prepetition Lender to make the Prepetition Loan, Duro Dyne also executed a security agreement dated February 3, 2003 (the "Security Agreement"), pursuant to which the Prepetition Lender was granted a continuing security interest in "all personal property and fixtures in which the debtor has an interest, now or hereafter existing or acquired, and wherever located, tangible or intangible, including but not limited to, all present and hereafter existing or acquired accounts, contract rights, leases, general intangibles, equipment, goods, inventory (raw materials, components, work-in process, finished merchandise, and packing and shipping materials), personal property made available to the debtor by the secured party (or its agent or bailee) pursuant to a trust receipt or other security agreement the effect of which is to continue the secured party's security interest herein, money, instruments, books, records, documents, chattel paper, securities, deposits, credits, claims and demands, together with all proceeds, products, returns, additions, accessions and substitutions of and to any of the foregoing."

As further inducement for the Prepetition Lender to make the Prepetition Loan, the Prepetition Loan is guaranteed and secured by liens on the assets of Debtors Duro Dyne Corp., Duro Dyne Machinery, Duro Dyne Midwest and Duro Dyne West.

The Prepetition Lender has consented to the Debtors' use of cash collateral, subject to certain agreed upon terms and conditions contained in the cash collateral order. The Prepetition Lender has also agreed to a carve-out to fund the administrative costs of these chapter 11 cases.

5. Leases

The Debtors lease certain real estate, machinery and equipment from non-debtor affiliates. Rent payments and other obligations due under these leases are paid in the ordinary course of business. The Debtors' liabilities to non-debtor related parties include:

Lessor	Property	Agreement Date	Monthly Payment	Maturity Date
PROFORMA	Equipment	8/01/2005	$12,328.37	12/31/2019
PROFORMA II	Equipment	6/27/2006	$3,618.28	5/31/2018
ISWR Ohio	Real Property	1/08/2011	$16,258.73	7/31/2021
Spence	Real Property	6/01/2015	$82,546.42	5/312020

6. Trade Debt

Exclusive of Asbestos Claim liability, as of the Petition Date, the Debtors also owe approximately $7.6 million on an unsecured basis to trade creditors, including nearly $2.6 million in 11 U.S.C. §503(b)(9) claims. The Debtors also have unliquidated pension and withdrawal liabilities as explained in detail below.

B. Duro Dyne Pension Plan Obligations

1. Duro Dyne Pension Plan

Duro Dyne sponsors and maintains the Duro Dyne Pension Plan (the "Duro Dyne Pension Plan"), a frozen defined benefit single-employer pension plan for non-union employees. The Duro Dyne Pension Plan is governed by the provisions of Title IV of the Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974, as amended 29 U.S.C. section 1301 et seq. ("ERISA"), and the Internal Revenue Code. The Pension Benefit Guaranty Corporation ("PBGC"), a United States Government corporation, guarantees the payment of certain pension benefits upon termination of a pension plan covered by Title IV of ERISA.

Upon confirmation of the Plan, the Reorganized Debtor will continue to maintain the Duro Dyne Pension Plan, and will contribute to the Duro Dyne Pension Plan the amount necessary to satisfy the minimum funding standards under sections 302 and 303 of ERISA, 29 U.S.C. §§ 1082 and 1083, and sections 412 and 430 of the Internal Revenue Code, 26 U.S.C. §§ 412 and 430.

Nothing in the Plan will be construed as discharging, releasing or relieving the Reorganized Debtor from any liability imposed under any law or legally valid regulatory provision with respect to the Duro Dyne Pension Plan. Neither the PBGC nor the Duro Dyne Pension Plan will be enjoined or precluded from enforcing such liability as a result of any provision of the Plan or the Confirmation Order. Any Claims or liabilities owed on account of or to the Duro Dyne Pension Plan will be deemed Employee Benefit Claims, which Claims are classified in Class 3 of the Plan and shall be unimpaired and reinstated on the Effective Date. Because the Debtors through the Effective Date and Reorganized Debtor from and after the Effective Date will continue to maintain the Duro Dyne Pension Plan and satisfy any unpaid minimum funding contributions and other obligations that may be owed to the Duro Dyne Pension Plan, the Debtors believe that no PBGC Claims shall arise in connection with the Duro Dyne Pension Plan and thus any claims asserted by the PBGC on account of the Duro Dyne Pension Plan shall not be entitled to any distribution under the Plan.

2. Decertification of Local 210, Warehouse & Production Employees Union, AFL-CIO and Assertion of Withdrawal Liability Claims by the Local 210 Unity Pension Fund

Until November 2017, pursuant to a collective bargaining agreement with Warehouse & Production Employees Union, AFL-CIO, Local 210 ("Local 210"), Debtors Duro Dyne Corp. and Duro Dyne Machinery were obligated to contribute to the Local 210 Unity Pension Fund on behalf of eligible bargaining unit members. However, an election was conducted pursuant to the National Labor Relations Board's Rules and Regulations and the employees of Duro Dyne Corp.

and Duro Dyne Machinery located at 81 Spence Street, Bay Shore, New York (the "Bay Shore Employees") voted not to select a collective-bargaining representative (the "Decertification Vote"). Accordingly, on or about November 28, 2017, the National Labor Relation Board decertified Local 210 as the exclusive collective-bargaining representative of the Bay Shore Employees.

Following the Decertification Vote, by letter dated December 1, 2017, the board of trustees of the Local 210 Unity Pension Fund sent a notice and demand letter to Duro Dyne Corp. and Duro Dyne Machinery asserting that as a result of the Decertification Vote, Duro Dyne Corp. and Duro Dyne Machinery "effected a complete withdrawal from the Local 210 Unity Pension Fund within the meaning of Section 4203(a) of ERISA and are subject to the payment of Withdrawal Liability Claims (as defined in the Plan) in the estimated amount of $1,466,510" and further asserting that "Payment shall be made in seventy-eight (78) quarterly installment payments of $31,573 and a final payment in the amount of $11,899." Prior to the Petition Date, the Debtors disputed the asserted amount of the Withdrawal Liability Claims related to the Local 210 Unity Pension Fund by: (a) by letter dated February 22, 2018, timely filing a request for review pursuant to Section 4219(b)(2)(A) of ERISA; and (b) by letter dated May 1, 2018, timely demanding arbitration pursuant to Section 4221 of ERISA. The amount of the Withdrawal Liability Claim asserted by the Local 210 Unity Pension Fund remains subject to a pending arbitration proceeding (which proceeding has been stayed by the filing of these Chapter 11 Cases). By email dated May 1, 2018, the Local 210 Unity Pension Fund issued a revised demand for withdrawal liability in the amount of $1,337,594, payable in sixty-six (66) quarterly installment payments of $31,573 and a final payment in the amount of $2,097. Subject to the determination by the arbitrator (and by a court of competent jurisdiction, as applicable) of the Allowed amount (if any) of the asserted Withdrawal Liability Claim related to the Local 210 Unity Pension Fund, any Withdrawal Liability Claims related to the Local 210 Unity Pension Fund shall be deemed an Employee Benefit Claim which Claims are unimpaired under the Plan. Any such Allowed Withdrawal Liability Claims related to the Local 210 Unity Pension Fund will be paid in quarterly installment payments pursuant to the demand letters issued by the Local 210 Unity Pension Fund, the terms of the Local 210 Unity Pension Fund's governing plan and trust documents and applicable law.

3. Collective Bargaining Agreements with SMART Local Union No. 24 of Sheet Metal Workers' International Union and SMART Local Union No. 170 of the Sheet Metal Workers' International Union and Participation in Sheet Metal Workers' National Pension Fund

The Debtors are party to two collective bargaining agreements (and related amendments) with SMART Local Union No. 24 of Sheet Metal Workers' International Union (collectively, the "Ohio CBAs"), which govern the Debtors' employment of their employees at their facilities located in Ohio. Until June 2018, Duro Dyne West was party to a separate collective bargaining agreement (the "California CBA") with SMART Local Union No. 170 of the Sheet Metal Workers' International which governed the Debtors' employment of employees at the facility located in California. On June 15, 2018, the Debtors' terminated all remaining Local 170 union employees thereby terminating the Debtors' obligations under the California CBA, including any obligations to make contributions on behalf of the Debtors' California employees to the Sheet Metal Workers' National Pension Fund (as defined in the Plan), a multiemployer pension plan. Pursuant to the Ohio CBAs and the California CBA (prior to termination), the Debtors were obligated to contribute to the Sheet Metal Workers' National Pension Fund. The Debtors and Reorganized Debtor will continue to make all required contributions owed pursuant to the Ohio CBAs to the Sheet Metal Workers' National Pension Fund, and any Claims or liabilities owed on account of or to the Sheet Metal Workers' National Pension Fund to the extent related to the Ohio CBAs or Withdrawal Liability Claims related to the Sheet Metal Workers' National Pension Fund (if and solely to the extent Allowed) will be deemed Employee Benefit Claims, which Claims are classified in Class 3 of the Plan and shall be unimpaired and reinstated on the Effective Date. Any such Allowed Withdrawal Liability Claims related to the Sheet Metal Workers' National Pension Fund will be paid in quarterly installment payments as for provided pursuant to Title IV of ERISA.

C. Asbestos Litigation

The primary reason for the filing of the Debtors' Chapter 11 Case is the need to address the Debtor's asbestos liability. As of the Petition Date, the Debtors are named as defendants in approximately 956 pending personal injury cases stemming from alleged asbestos exposure (the "Asbestos Personal Injury Claims"). Prior to the Petition date, the Debtors settled more than 650 asbestos claims that had been filed against them. There were also over 8,100 asbestos claims dismissed. These claims have been asserted in various jurisdictions, including Michigan, Illinois, Massachusetts, Missouri and West Virginia.

The alleged asbestos liability arose as a result of the Debtors having sold products that allegedly contained asbestos beginning in approximately 1952 until about 1978. Among the asbestos based products that the Debtors are alleged to have sold are a flexible duct connector and a sealant manufactured by Bordon Chemical. In addition, the Debtors are alleged to have sold fibers or asbestos containing products purchased from Ray Bestos Manhattan, US Rubber, Uniroyal, and HK Porter, among other companies.

Since the first asbestos claims were filed against the Debtors in 1988, the Debtors have worked with their insurance carriers to seek dismissal of a large portion of the Asbestos Personal Injury Claims and to settle the remaining Asbestos Personal Injury Claims in advance of trial.

At the rate the Asbestos Personal Injury Claims were being filed and settled by the Debtors and their insurance carriers, it originally appeared that the Debtors would be able to address all of the claims through proceeds of insurance and cash flow from operations. However in recent years, the Debtors have been forced to bear an increasing share of settlements and defense costs due to the insolvency of one of the Debtors' insurance carriers, the exhaustion of the Debtors' primary insurance coverage, and disputes with insurance carriers providing excess level coverage.

D. Insurance Coverage

Beginning at least as early as 1968, the Company maintained comprehensive general liability insurance coverage applicable to asbestos personal injury claims. The Company purchased primary general liability policies from North River Insurance Company ("North River"), Hartford Accident & Indemnity Company ("Hartford"), Federal Insurance Company ("Federal"), Aetna Insurance Company of Connecticut ("Aetna"), and Insurance Company of North America ("INA") covering the policy periods from August 1, 1968 through June 23, 1991. Additionally, Duro Dyne purchased umbrella or excess insurance policies from Hartford, North River, Federal, MidStates Reinsurance Corporation ("MidStates"), Munich Reinsurance America, Inc., ("Munich") and Great Atlantic Insurance Company of Delaware ("GAIC") covering the policy periods from May 15, 1972 through June 23, 1989.

The comprehensive general liability insurance policies described above are "occurrence-based" policies which, subject to other policy terms, generally insure against liability arising from bodily injury or property damage during the policy period, even if the injury or damage does not manifest itself until after the policy period. The Company's pre-1991 "occurrence" policies provide insurance coverage for asbestos and other "long tail" claims, which are commonly asserted years or decades after the underling injuries are alleged to have occurred. After 1991, the policies purchased by the Company contain various exclusions for asbestos and asbestos-related claims.

In total, from 1968 through 1991, the Company purchased comprehensive general liability policies with combined limits of liability of approximately $82.5 million. All of the policies impose a duty on the insurer to indemnify the Company for settlements or judgments. The primary and umbrella policies also require the insurer to pay to defend the Company in potentially covered claims. Although there are limits of liability that apply to indemnity payments in all of the policies, some of the Company's primary and umbrella policies provide for the payment of an unlimited amount of defense costs in the event a potentially covered claim is asserted against the Company. As a general matter, primary policies respond to claims first, followed by umbrella and excess policies.

Beginning in the mid to late 1980s, the Company was sued on account of Asbestos Personal Injury Claims in various jurisdictions alleging liability for bodily injury allegedly sustained as a result of exposure to products containing asbestos allegedly manufactured and/or distributed by the Company from the 1950s through the 1970s. The Company made a claim under its insurance policies for insurance coverage in connection with the Asbestos Personal Injury Claims. Pursuant to an agreement under which the parties reserved certain rights, and a later court order, the Company's insurers have for decades been paying 100% of the Company's defense costs in connection with the Asbestos Personal Injury Claims, and the insurers and the Company each pay a share of indemnity costs for settlements or judgments. As a result of these payments, some of the primary comprehensive general liability insurance policies purchased by the Company have been exhausted, and the limits of liability of other policies may be significantly impaired. Moreover, approximately $13 million in coverage was underwritten by MidStates which now is in runoff, and approximately $2 million in coverage was underwritten by GAIC which is also insolvent.

Thus, taking into account probable exhaustion and the coverage sold by insolvent GAIC, it appears that nearly $57 million of solvent primary, umbrella, and excess coverage is available to respond to asbestos bodily injury claims, depending on how the policies are interpreted.

1. The Insurance Coverage Litigation

On September 19, 2013, North River commenced an action against the Company and the Company's other primary and umbrella/excess insurance companies in New York state court seeking to limit its coverage obligations to the Company in connection with the Asbestos Personal Injury Claims. That action remains pending. To date, the parties have not undertaken any discovery but have filed motions for summary judgment on a variety of presently known legal issues. Critical issues in the coverage case include the insurance companies' argument, contested by the Company, that the Company is obligated to reimburse insurers for a share of its defense and indemnity costs in the Asbestos Personal Injury Claims (and should reimburse the insurers for more than $1 million in past defense costs), and an argument by North River that one of its policies contains an absolute exclusion for asbestos liability.

2. Factors That May Reduce Available Insurance Coverage

There are several factors that may reduce the amount of insurance coverage potentially available to the Company on account of the Asbestos Personal Injury Claims.

a. The Existence of Pending Litigation

Although the Company believes that the insurers' arguments in the coverage litigation have no merit, the outcome of any litigation is uncertain. Depending on how the court interprets the insurance policies at issue, the value of the coverage could be compromised.

b. The Keyspan[4] Decision

A recent decision by the highest New York state court may reduce the value of the Company's coverage if it is interpreted in the manner suggested by the insurers, which would allocate a pro rata share of all defense and indemnity costs to the Company for all "uninsured" years, including years where asbestos coverage was not available. This share of costs could be substantial. For instance, under the insurers' argument, if asbestos bodily injury is alleged to have occurred between the period 1981 and 2011, a 30-year period, insurers would be responsible for one-third of defense and indemnity costs, with the Company responsible for the remaining two-thirds. The Company contends that the Keyspan decision is not applicable because it involved different insurance policy language, among other reasons, and it does not apply in any event to defense costs.

c. Insolvent and Financially Troubled Insurers

Another factor that may reduce available insurance coverage is the insolvency of any insurer. As noted above, MidStates is in run-off and GAIC is insolvent, and it is impossible to predict the financial strength of any other insurer in the future. Recovery under policies issued by now-insolvent insurers in liquidation or rehabilitation is subject to uncertainties that result from the insolvent insurer's liquidation or rehabilitation plan. Therefore, it is not possible at this time to predict amounts, if any, that ultimately may be recovered from insolvent or financially troubled insurers.

d. Asbestos Exclusions

As noted above, North River contends that one of its policies contains an absolute asbestos exclusion. This creates uncertainty as to the total limits available to satisfy asbestos bodily injury claims.

e. Other Disputed Issues

In addition to the issues identified above, the insurers have raised a host of other arguments that they contend limit or eliminate their coverage obligations. Those arguments include, but are not limited to, assertions that certain insurers' obligations to pay defense costs are limited or non-existent, that the Company has not properly exhausted the primary policies, and that insurers who issued policies in multiple years are obligated only to provide coverage up to the limits of a single year's policy. The Company disputes these arguments and believes that they lack merit.

E. PREPETITION SETTLEMENT NEGOTIATIONS

As detailed above, the cost of defending and resolving Asbestos Personal Injury Claims asserted against the Company has been and continues to be substantial. In addition, the amount of insurance coverage remaining to the Company has continued to decline.

In light of these circumstances, the Company determined that it may be necessary to commence a case under Chapter 11 of the Bankruptcy Code to preserve its remaining assets and to confirm a plan of reorganization that would allow the Company to satisfy its Asbestos Personal Injury Claims in accordance with the requirements of section 524(g) of the Bankruptcy Code. Section 524(g) provides for the creation of a trust to "assume the liabilities of a debtor which at the time of entry of the order for relief has been named as a defendant in personal injury, wrongful death, or property-damage actions seeking recovery for damages allegedly caused by the presence of, or exposure to, asbestos or asbestos-containing products ...." 11 U.S.C. § 524(g)(2)(B)(i)(I). Section 524(g) further provides for a "channeling" injunction that directs all present and future asbestos-related "demands" to the trust for liquidation and satisfaction of allowed amounts. 11 U.S.C. 524(g)(1). This channeling injunction, however, is only valid and enforceable against future asbestos claimants if, "as part of the proceedings leading to issuance of such injunction, the court appoints a legal representative for the purpose of protecting the rights of persons that might subsequently assert [asbestos-related personal injury or wrongful death claims against the debtor] .... " 11 U.S.C. § 524(g)(4)(B)(i).

The Company believes that it is necessary for any such channeling injunction to cover all asbestos-related personal injury or wrongful death Claims and future Demands based on the conduct or products of the Company, against the Company and parties related to the Company including, but not limited to, past and present affiliates of the Company, past and present officers and directors of the Company, predecessors in interest to the Company, and any entity that owned a financial interest in the Company or its affiliates or predecessors.

Accordingly, the Company commenced negotiations with the holders of asbestos- related personal injury and wrongful death Claims arising out of the conduct or products of the Company in order to establish a consensus on the framework for a Chapter 11 plan of reorganization that would satisfy the requirements of section 524(g) of the Bankruptcy Code and treat all present and future claimants fairly and equitably.

F. The Company's Prepetition Discussions with Representatives of Current Holders of Asbestos Personal Injury Claims and with the Legal Representative

1. The Asbestos Claimants Committee Representing Current Asbestos Personal Injury Claimants.

In July 2015, the Company began discussions with counsel for the holders of Asbestos Personal Injury Claims against the Company in order to explore the feasibility of and the potential for a prenegotiated Chapter 11 plan of reorganization that would include a trust for present and future asbestos personal injury claimants and a channeling injunction pursuant to section 524(g) of the Bankruptcy Code. Counsel for holders of Asbestos Personal Injury Claims formed an ad hoc committee of asbestos plaintiffs to represent present asbestos claimants (the "Ad Hoc Committee"). The Ad Hoc Committee consisted of the following law firms: Brayton Purcell, LLP; Cooney & Conway; Early Lucarelli Sweeney & Meisenkothen; The Ferraro Law Firm; Gori Julian & Associates, PC; Simmons Hanly Conroy LLC; and Weitz & Luxenberg PC.

The Ad Hoc Committee selected the law firm of Caplin & Drysdale, Chartered as its bankruptcy counsel, the law firm of Gilbert, LLP as its insurance counsel, and Charter Oak Financial Consultants, LLC as its financial advisors.

2. The Pre-Petition Future Claimants' Representative

In addition, to satisfy the requirements of section 524(g) of the Bankruptcy Code with regard to obtaining a channeling injunction, the Company determined that it was necessary and appropriate to engage an independent third-party representative for the purpose of protecting the rights of persons that might subsequently assert asbestos-related personal injury or wrongful death Claims against the Company (the "Pre-Petition Future Claimants' Representative").

The Company commenced a search for an individual to serve as the Pre-Petition Future Claimants' Representative for the holders of future Asbestos Demands against the Company. In conducting its search for possible candidates to serve as the Pre-Petition Future Claimants' Representative, the Company focused on persons with reputations of high integrity and with recognized experience and expertise in dealing with mass torts, particularly asbestos, and who would not have any actual or perceived conflict of interest.

Following the search, the Company asked Lawrence Fitzpatrick whether he would be willing to serve as the Pre-Petition Future Claimants' Representative and, if appointed by the Court, continue to serve as the post-petition Legal Representative for future Asbestos Demands. The Company chose Mr. Fitzpatrick based on his reputation for integrity, renown in the field of complex mass tort proceedings, and extensive experience with asbestos-related personal injury litigation. Mr. Fitzpatrick has over 38 years of experience handling asbestos bankruptcy matters. Mr. Fitzpatrick has served as vice president, law for the asbestos claims facility and the president and chief executive officer of the Center for Claims Resolution, Inc., which handled asbestos related claims on behalf of their member companies and their insurers from 1986 to 1998. Mr. Fitzpatrick has also served as the future claimants' representative numerous large and complex asbestos bankruptcy cases pursuant to Section 524(g) of the Bankruptcy Code, including In re Kaiser Gypsum Co., Case No. 16-31602 (JCW) (Bankr. W.D.N.C. 2016); In re Sepco Corp., Case No. 16-50058 (Bankr. N.D. Ohio); In re Rapid-American Corp., Case No. 13-10687 (SMB) (Bankr. S.D.N.Y.); In re Metex Mfg. Corp., Case No. 12-14554 (BRL) (Bankr. S.D.N.Y.); In re Durabla Mfg. Co., Case No. 09-14415 (MFW) (Bankr. D. Del.); In re Global Indus. Technologies, Inc., Case No. 02-21626 (JKF) (Bankr. W.D. Pa.); In re ACandS, Inc., Case No. 02-12687 (KG) (Bankr. D. Del.); In re North Am. Refractories Co., Case No. 02-20198 (JKF) (Bankr. W.D. Pa.); and In re Pittsburgh Corning Corp., Case No. 00-22876 (JKF) (Bankr. W.D. Pa.). Mr. Fitzpatrick currently serves as the legal representative for future claimants in the pending bankruptcy cases of Rapid American Corporation, Kaiser Gypsum Co., and Sepco Corp. Additionally, Mr. Fitzpatrick serves as legal representative in connection with the asbestos claims settlement trusts established in the bankruptcy cases of ACandS, Durabla Manufacturing Company, Global Industrial Technologies, Metex Manufacturing Corporation, North American Refractories Company, and Pittsburgh Corning Corporation

Prior to assuming the role of Pre-Petition Future Claimants' Representative, Mr. Fitzpatrick had no association or relationship with, or other connection to, the Company or any affiliate of the Company, and had never represented any plaintiff, defendant, or insurer in any asbestos-related litigation against the Company.

Mr. Fitzpatrick selected Young, Conaway, Stargatt & Taylor LLP as his counsel.

3. Due Diligence and Plan Negotiations

The Ad Hoc Committee and the Pre-Petition Future Claimants' Representative, personally and/or through their various representatives, conducted extensive due diligence concerning the background, nature, and scope of the Company's liability for Asbestos Personal Injury Claims and Demands. This investigation has included, among other things, careful review of the facts concerning the Company's historical involvement with asbestos; the nature and extent of past and pending asbestos litigation against the Company, including the types of claims asserted and the legal issues raised; the projected value of present Asbestos Personal Injury Claims and Demands, and the extent to which insurance and other Company assets might be available to satisfy these liabilities in whole or in part. The Ad Hoc Committee and the Pre-Petition Future Claimants' Representative have also examined the potential for recovery by claimants asserting Asbestos Claims against the Company, and their affiliates, based upon a variety of legal theories, including derivative liability theories such as alter ego, successor liability, and/or fraudulent conveyance.

That due diligence process included the review of numerous documents and electronic files relating to the Company. The Company also provided detailed presentations to Ad Hoc Committee and the Pre-Petition Future Claimants' Representative on relevant factual and legal issues.

Following the extensive due diligence process described above, representatives of the Company, the Ad Hoc Committee and the Pre-Petition Future Claimants' Representative spent considerable time negotiating over the terms of a possible Plan of Reorganization for the Company. These negotiations addressed all of the material provisions of the Plan, including without limitation the funding for the Trust to be established by the Plan, the contributions to be made by the Company, the terms of the Channeling Injunction, the issues relating to insurance coverage, and the indemnification provisions. Ultimately, the Company, the Ad Hoc Committee and the Pre-Petition Future Claimants' Representative reached an agreement on the terms for a proposed Plan of Reorganization for the Company. For a detailed description of those terms, please see the summary of the Plan provided at the beginning of this Disclosure Statement.

ARTICLE V.
SUMMARY OF THE PLAN

The following is a summary of the significant elements of the Plan. This Disclosure Statement is qualified in its entirety by reference to the Plan. This summary does not describe every element of the Plan and is not a substitute for a complete review of the Plan. All parties are encouraged to review the Plan in its entirety for a full understanding of its provisions and impact on creditors and interest holders. If there are any inconsistencies between the provisions of this Disclosure Statement and the provisions of the Plan, the provisions of the Plan will control.

A. General

In general, a chapter 11 plan divides claims and equity interests into separate classes, specifies the treatment of such classes under the plan and contains other provisions necessary to the reorganization, or in some cases case, liquidation, of the debtor. The Debtors are proposing a plan of reorganization and not a plan of liquidation. Under the Bankruptcy Code, creditors (including equity interest holders) may hold claims or interests in more than one class.

The Plan segregates the various Claims and Equity Interests into different classes taking into account the different nature and priority of such respective Claims and Equity Interests.

A chapter 11 plan may specify that certain classes of claims or interests are either to be paid in full upon the effectiveness of the plan or that the plan does not alter the legal, equitable and contractual rights of such classes. Such classes are referred to as "unimpaired" and, because of such favorable treatment, are deemed to have accepted the plan. Accordingly, the Bankruptcy Code conclusively presumes the acceptance of a plan by unimpaired classes and it is not necessary to solicit votes from the holders of claims or interests in unimpaired classes.

The Plan is predicated upon the principal terms and conditions of a comprehensive compromise and settlement between: (a) the Debtors; (b) Randall Hinden, Wendy Hinden, Irene Hinden, David Brett Krupnick, Lindsay Jill Trant, Tobey Hinden Parker Geller, Joshua Blumenthal, Jessie Geller Cawley, Abby Beth Wein, Hayley Rebekah Geller, and Max Hinden (together, the "Hinden Family Members"); (c) Duro Dyne Canada, Inc., 4 Site LLC, Rize LLC, Rize Enterprises Canada Inc., Pro4ma LLC, Pro4ma II LLC, Foma LLC, ISWR Ohio LLC, Duro Dyne Spence LLC, The Irene Lee Hinden Trust, The Wendy Lynn Geller Trust, The Randall Scott Hinden Trust, The Hinden Grandchildren Trust, the estate of Sheryl Blumenthal, and the trusts created under the will of Sheryl Blumenthal (collectively, the "Hinden Family Entities"; (d) the law firms that were members of the Ad Hoc Committee, which represent clients holding present claims against one or more of the Debtors for asbestos-related personal injury or wrongful death; and (e) Pre-Petition Future Claimants' Representative.

Pursuant to the Plan, a trust will be established that satisfiesSection 524(g) and other applicable provisions of the Bankruptcy Code (the "Asbestos Trust"). The Plan shall provide for the issuance, on the Effective Date and on condition of the delivery of the Trust Funding set out below, of a permanent injunction channeling all Asbestos Claims and Demands to the Trust in accordance with § 524(g) of the Bankruptcy Code ("Asbestos Permanent Channeling Injunction"). The Asbestos Trust will assume sole responsibility to process, resolve, and pay all Asbestos Claims and Demands, in accordance with the Plan and the Plan-related documents.

B. Trust Funding

Pursuant to the Plan, the Asbestos Trust shall be funded by:

1. a cash contribution by the Debtors in the amount of $7,500,000, to be made on the Effective Date, and made available through an asset-based lending facility to be provided by Bank of America, N.A. which will be secured by a first lien on substantially all assets of the Reorganized Debtor;

2. a cash contribution by or on behalf of the Hinden Family Members and the Hinden Family Entities in the total amount of $3,000,000, to be made on the Effective Date;

3. the Trust Note to be delivered on the Effective Date, together with all liens, security interests, and collateral securing payment of and performance under the Trust Note;

4. the Earn Out Amount; and,

5. an assignment and contribution by the Debtors of all rights to insurance coverage responsive or potentially responsive to asbestos personal injury claims, and any and all proceeds of or from such rights, regardless of whether such rights and proceeds arise or result from insurance policies, settlement agreements, or other insurance-related agreements.

C. Classification of Claims and Interests

Pursuant to section 1122 of the Bankruptcy Code, set forth below is the designation of Classes of Claims and Equity Interests under the Plan. A Claim or Equity Interest is placed in a particular Class for the purpose of voting on the Plan and receiving distributions pursuant to the Plan only to the extent that such Claim or Equity Interest has not been paid, released, withdrawn, or disallowed before the Effective Date.

As set forth in Articles II and III of the Plan, the Plan classifies the various Claims against, and Equity Interests in, the Debtors and specifies their treatment pursuant to sections 1122 and 1123(a) of the Bankruptcy Code. A Claim or Equity Interest is placed in a particular Class only to the extent that the Claim or Equity Interest falls within the description of that Class and is classified in other Classes to the extent that any portion of such Claim or Interest falls within the description of such other Classes. A Claim or Equity Interest is also placed in a particular Class for the purpose of receiving distributions pursuant to the Plan only to the extent that such Claim or Interest is an Allowed Claim or Allowed Interest in that Class and such Claim has not been Disputed, paid, discharged, released or otherwise settled prior to the Effective Date.

Under the Plan, all Claims and all Equity Interests, the Professional Fee Claims, the General Administrative Expense Claims, the Statutory Fees, and the Priority Tax Claims are placed into the Classes set forth below. The Plan provides for the division of holders of Claims and Equity Interests as follows:

1. Unclassified Claims.

Pursuant to Bankruptcy Code section 1123(a)(1), the Professional Fee Claims, the General Administrative Expense Claims, the Statutory Fees, and the Priority Tax Claims are not classified in the Plan (the "Unclassified Claims"). Except for Priority Tax Claims, which are impaired only to the extent permitted by the Bankruptcy Code, unclassified Claims are not impaired by the Plan. Each holder of an Unclassified Claim is conclusively presumed to have accepted the Plan and, therefore, is not entitled to vote to accept or reject the Plan. The Professional Fee Claims, the General Administrative Expense Claims, the Statutory Fees, and the Priority Tax Claims are the only types of Claims that are unclassified in the Plan.

2. Unimpaired Classes of Claims

Each holder of an Allowed Claim in the following classes is unimpaired and deemed to have accepted the Plan and, therefore, is not entitled to vote to accept or reject the Plan:

- Class 1: Priority Non-Tax Claims
- Class 2: Secured Claims

- Class 3: Employee Benefit Claims
- Class 4: Worker Compensation Claims
- Class 5: General Unsecured Claims

3. Impaired Classes of Claims.

Each holder of an Allowed Claim in the following classes is impaired and entitled to vote to accept or reject the Plan:

- Class 6: Prepetition Defense-Cost Contribution Claims
- Class 7: Channeled Asbestos Claims

4. Insider Classes of Claims and Equity Interests.

Holders of Allowed Claims or Equity Interests in the following Classes are Insiders or Affiliates of the Debtors and, as a result, are not entitled vote to accept or reject the Plan:

- Class 9: Intercompany Claims
- Class 10: Related Party Claims
- Class 11: Equity Interests in Duro Dyne National Corp.

g. Class 7 – Channeled Asbestos Claims

Classification: Class 7 shall consist of all Channeled Asbestos Claims.

Treatment: All Class 7 Channeled Asbestos Claims shall be resolved in accordance with the terms, provisions, and procedures of the Asbestos Trust Agreement and the TDP. All Class 7 Channeled Asbestos Claims that are eligible for payment shall be paid by the Asbestos Trust out of the Asbestos Trust Assets, as and to the extent provided in the Asbestos Trust Agreement and the TDP.

h. Class 8– Bonded Claims

Classification: Class 8 shall consist of all Bonded Claims.

Treatment: On the later of (A) the Effective Date or (B) the date on which a Bonded Claim becomes an Allowed Bonded Claim, or as soon thereafter as is reasonably practicable, each holder of an Allowed Bonded Claim shall receive in full and final satisfaction of such Allowed Bonded Claim, Cash in the Allowed Amount of the Allowed Bonded Claim; provided, however, that (1) in no event shall such Cash distribution exceed the amount of the bond or other payment assurance securing such Allowed Bonded Claim and (2) each such holder of an Allowed Bonded Claim shall look solely to the bond or other payment assurance securing its Claim for such Cash distribution with respect to such Allowed Bonded Claim, and shall receive no property or Distribution from the applicable Debtor, the Reorganized Debtor, or the Asbestos Trust on account of such Allowed Bonded Claim. If (x) the holder of a Bonded Asbestos Personal Injury Claim and the Plan Proponents or (y) the holder of a Bonded Non-Asbestos Claim and the applicable Debtor or Reorganized Debtor, do not agree on the Allowed Amount of such Bonded Claim, the Bankruptcy Court or other court of competent jurisdiction shall determine the Allowed Amount of such Claim.

Impairment and Voting: Class 8 Bonded Claims are Unimpaired, and holders of Class 8 Bonded Claims are deemed to have accepted the Plan pursuant to section 1126(f) of the Bankruptcy Code. Therefore, holders of Class 8 Bonded Claims are not entitled to vote to accept or reject the Plan, and their votes will not be solicited.

i. Class 9 – Intercompany Claims

Classification: Class 9 shall consist of all Intercompany Claims.

Treatment: Intercompany Claims shall be expunged and no Distributions shall be made on account of any Allowed Intercompany Claim Impairment and Voting: Class 9 is Impaired by the Plan. Because the holders of Allowed Class 9 Intercompany Claims are Insiders of the Debtors, Class 9 is not entitled to vote to accept or reject the Plan.

j. Class 10 – Related-Party Claims

Classification: Class 10 shall consist of all Related-Party Claims.

Any personal property or equipment securing any Related-Party Claim as of the Effective Date shall revert to, or be held by, the Reorganized Debtor free and clear of any Lien, interest, or other encumbrance, upon the maturity or satisfaction of such Related-Party Claim.

Impairment and Voting: Class 10 is Impaired by the Plan. Because holders of Class 10 Related-Party Claims are Insiders of the Debtors, Class 10 is not entitled to vote to accept or reject the Plan.

l. Class 12 – Equity Interests in Duro Dyne Corporation, Duro Dyne West Corp., Duro Dyne Midwest Corp., and Duro Dyne Machinery Corp.

Classification: Class 12 shall consist of all Equity Interests in Duro Dyne Corporation, Duro Dyne West Corp., Duro Dyne Midwest Corp., and Duro Dyne Machinery Corp.

Impairment and Voting: Class 12 Equity Interests are Impaired by the Plan. Because each holder of Class 12 Equity Interests is an Insider, holders of Class 12 Equity Interests are not entitled to vote to accept or reject the Plan.

The Debtors reserve the right to modify the treatment of any Allowed Claim or Interest in any manner adverse only to the holder of such Claim or Interest at any time after the Effective Date upon the consent of the holder of the Claim or Interest whose Allowed Claim or Interest, as the case be, is being adversely affected, or as allowed by Court Order, through the Effective Date.

ARTICLE VIII.
THE ASBESTOS TRUST

A. Creation and Purposes of the Asbestos Trust.

Effective upon Consummation, the Asbestos Trust shall be created and established without further notice, action, or deed, except as provided in the Plan Documents. The Asbestos Trust shall be a "qualified settlement fund" within the meaning of 26 U.S.C. § 468B. The purposes of the Asbestos Trust shall be, inter alia, (a) to assume and succeed to all liabilities and responsibility for Channeled Asbestos Claims; (b) to direct the processing, resolution, liquidation, and payment of all Channeled Asbestos Claims in accordance with section 524(g) of the Bankruptcy Code, the Plan, the Asbestos Trust Agreement, the TDP, and the Confirmation Order; (c) to preserve, hold, manage, and maximize the Asbestos Trust Assets for use in paying or satisfying Channeled Asbestos Claims; and (d) to comply in all respects with the requirements of a trust set forth in section 524(g)(2)(B) of the Bankruptcy Code, all in accordance with the Plan and the Asbestos Trust Agreement. On the Effective Date, except as provided in Sections 4.13 and 4.14 of the Plan, all Channeled Asbestos Claims shall be channeled to the Asbestos Trust pursuant to the Asbestos Permanent Channeling Injunction, and shall be resolved, liquidated, and (if entitled to payment) paid in accordance with the Asbestos Trust Agreement and the TDP.

B. The Asbestos Trust Distribution Procedures.

The goal of the Asbestos Trust is to treat all present and future holders of Asbestos Claims in substantially the same manner and in accordance with the requirements of section 524(g) of the Bankruptcy Code. To further that goal, the Asbestos Trust will resolve Channeled Asbestos Claims in accordance with the Asbestos Trust Distribution Procedures ("TDP"), the form of which is attached to the Plan as Exhibit B and is incorporated herein by reference. The Asbestos Trust Agreement provides that the Asbestos Trust will make payments to holders of eligible Asbestos Claims pursuant to the TDP while maintaining sufficient resources to pay eligible future Asbestos Claims in substantially the same manner.

Historically, the Debtors resolved only a few dozen asbestos cases annually on a national basis. The vast majority of those cases were based on claims by sheet metal workers who worked directly with the Debtors' asbestos-containing specialty products and who were installing such products personally. Because of the specialized nature of those products and the very limited resources of the Asbestos Trust, the TDP provides for the payment by the Asbestos Trust of eligible Asbestos Claims based only on certain diseases, and it is anticipated that the Debtors' historical experience will be reflected in the claims approval process of the Asbestos Trust. The Asbestos Trustee will supervise the review of filed Asbestos Claims with the goal of limiting the approval of Asbestos Claims to those claims that provide evidence of the type of exposure patterns that were required by the Debtors for payment of claims in the tort system. To that end, the Asbestos Trust may make reasonable inquiries of claimants or co-workers as to the nature and extent of their exposure to the Debtors' asbestos-containing products.

The TDP establishes a schedule of five (5) asbestos-related diseases ("Disease Levels"): Mesothelioma, Lung Cancer 1, Lung Cancer 2, Other Cancer, and Severe Asbestosis.

To qualify for payment, claimants must submit specific medical and exposure evidence as provided in the TDP. Claimants who do not meet those criteria will not receive a settlement offer from the Asbestos Trust. Non-malignant asbestos-related diseases that do not qualify as Severe Asbestosis under the criteria set forth in the TDP will not be compensable by the Asbestos Trust. However, claimants with non-malignant asbestos-related diseases who are subsequently diagnosed with Severe Asbestosis or a malignant disease will be able to seek compensation from the Asbestos Trust.

In addition to meeting the other medical and exposure requirements of the TDP, in order for a claim to be approved by the Asbestos Trust, the claimant must either (a) establish that the injured party worked in one of the occupations identified below ("Presumptive Occupations") and demonstrate to the Asbestos Trust's satisfaction that such injured party worked directly with Duro Dyne asbestos-containing flexible duct connectors or (b) if the injured party did not work in one of the Presumptive Occupations, demonstrate the injured party's requisite direct exposure to Duro Dyne asbestos-containing flexible duct connectors. The Presumptive Occupations are sheet metal mechanic, sheet metal worker, sheet metal apprentice, HVAC repairman, HVAC installer, HVAC technician, duct installer, and furnace installer.

The Asbestos Claim values for each Disease Level are set forth below.[5]

Level	Disease Category	Scheduled Value
V	Mesothelioma	$140,000
IV	Lung Cancer 1	$50,000
III	Lung Cancer 2	$25,000
II	Other Cancer	$20,000
I	Severe Asbestosis	$34,000

The TDP provides that claims generally will be processed in "First In, First Out" ("FIFO") order so that the oldest claims will be processed first.

[5] The figures presented here represent claim values for settlement purposes only. The parties reserve all rights with respect to actual claim values in the event the Plan is not confirmed.

Asbestos Claims will be processed through the TDP's Expedited Review Process, which is designed to provide an expeditious, efficient, and inexpensive method for resolving and liquidating Asbestos Claims based on the assigned, disease-specific "Scheduled Value" applicable to the Asbestos Claim, as set forth in the schedules contained in the TDP and in the table above.

Claimants will be required to submit a filing fee of $50 to have an Asbestos Claim processed by the Asbestos Trust. This fee will be refunded in full to claimants who receive and accept payment of a settlement offer from the Asbestos Trust.

After they have completed the Expedited Review Process, claimants will have the option of engaging in binding or nonbinding arbitration to resolve disputes concerning whether the Asbestos Trust's outright rejection or denial of a claim was proper, or whether the claimant's medical condition or exposure history meets the requirements of the TDP for purposes of categorizing a claim involving Disease Levels I-V.

All arbitration will be conducted in accordance with Alternative Dispute Resolution Procedures that the Asbestos Trust is expected to adopt after the Effective Date. The arbitrator may return awards only in accordance with the values set forth in the TDP. Only if a claimant elects nonbinding arbitration and rejects the arbitration award may the claimant then litigate in court against the Asbestos Trust to establish its claim. Awards in litigation will be paid as specifically provided in the TDP.

As a condition to making payment to a claimant with respect to an Asbestos Claim, the Asbestos Trust will obtain, for the benefit of the Asbestos Trust and the Protected Parties, a release of liability with respect to the claimant's Asbestos Claim.

Prior to receiving a distribution from the Asbestos Trust, a claimant will also be asked to certify that the claimant will provide for the payment or resolution of any obligations owing or potentially owing under 42 U.S.C. § 1395y(b), or related rules or regulations, or guidelines, in connection with, or relating to, such Asbestos Claim, as required by the Medicare, Medicaid and SCHIP Extension Act of 2007.

All Asbestos Claims paid by the Asbestos Trust will be subject to a payment percentage. The payment percentage is the percentage of the full liquidated value of a claim that claimants will receive from the Asbestos Trust. Eligible claimants will each receive a payment equal to the liquidated value of their claim multiplied by the payment percentage.

There can be no certainty as to the precise amounts that will be distributed by the Asbestos Trust in any particular time period or when eligible Asbestos Claims will be paid by the Asbestos Trust. Payments that will be made on eligible Asbestos Claims will be determined under the TDP and will be based, on the one hand, on estimates of the number, types, and amount of current Asbestos Claims and expected future Demands, and on the other hand, on the value of the assets of the Asbestos Trust, the liquidity of the Asbestos Trust, the Asbestos Trust's expected future income and expenses, and other matters that are likely to affect the sufficiency of funds to pay all holders of Asbestos Claims.

The initial payment percentage will be determined after the Effective Date by comparing the anticipated assets of the Asbestos Trust against its projected liability for Asbestos Claims and Asbestos Trust Expenses. The Asbestos Trust's projected assets and liabilities will be based on a number of assumptions. Should any assumption from which a payment percentage is developed prove to be materially inaccurate based on the Asbestos Trust's actual experience, the Asbestos Trust may have to adjust the payment percentage upwards or downwards from time to time, pursuant to the Asbestos Trust Agreement and the TDP, to reflect current estimates of the Asbestos Trust's assets and liabilities.

Aggregate distributions to claimants in each year will not exceed a "Maximum Annual Payment" amount determined for that year. After determining the payment percentage, the Asbestos Trust will determine the Maximum Annual Payment for each year by modeling the cash flow, principal, and income year-by-year to be paid over the Asbestos Trust's entire life in a manner designed to ensure that all present and future holders of Asbestos Claims are compensated in an amount equal to the liquidated value of their respective Asbestos Claims multiplied by the payment percentage.

Based upon the Debtors' claims settlement history and an analysis of present and future claims, a Claims Payment Ratio has been determined which will be set, as of the Effective Date, at 90% for Asbestos Claims involving mesothelioma (Disease Level V) ("Category A") and at 10% for Asbestos Claims involving all other diseases (Disease Levels I-IV) ("Category B"). In each year, after the determination of the Maximum Annual Payment, 90% of that amount shall be available to pay Category A Asbestos Claims, and 10% shall be available to pay Category B Asbestos Claims that have been liquidated since the Petition Date. Asbestos Claims for which there are insufficient funds allocated to the relevant Category shall be carried over for priority payment in the next year.

C. Appointment of Asbestos Trustee.

Alan B. Rich, Esquire, has been proposed as the initial Asbestos Trustee pursuant to the terms of the Asbestos Trust Agreement.

Mr. Rich practices civil appellate law, complex civil litigation, and toxic-tort-related bankruptcy law. He is the Managing Trustee of the G-I Holdings, Inc. Asbestos Personal Injury Settlement Trust, and the Trustee of the APG Asbestos Trust, the Christy Refractories Company, LLC Asbestos Personal Injury Trust, the Geo. V. Hamilton, Inc. Asbestos Trust, and the United Gilsonite Laboratories Asbestos Personal Injury Trust. Mr. Rich has received nine Pro Bono Legal Service Awards from the Dallas Bar Association and Legal Services of North Texas, including the Meritorious and the Distinguished Pro Bono Service Awards. He has been practicing law for more than thirty years.

Mr. Rich's appointment shall be effective as of the Effective Date. Upon termination of the Asbestos Trust, or as otherwise provided in the Asbestos Trust Agreement, the Asbestos Trustee's employment shall be deemed terminated, and the Asbestos Trustee shall be released and discharged of and from all further authority, duties, responsibilities, and obligations with respect to or in connection with the Asbestos Trust and the Chapter 11 Cases.

D. Appointment of Delaware Trustee.

The Entity that will serve as the initial Delaware Trustee shall be selected by agreement of the Asbestos Claimants Committee and the Legal Representative, and will be identified in the Asbestos Trust Agreement and appointed pursuant to the Confirmation Order. All subsequent Delaware Trustees shall be appointed in accordance with the terms of the Asbestos Trust Agreement.

E. Trust Advisory Committee.

On the Effective Date, the Trust Advisory Committee ("TAC") shall be established pursuant to the terms of the Asbestos Trust Agreement. The TAC shall have [insert number] members and shall have the functions, duties, and rights provided in the Asbestos Trust Agreement. The [insert number] initial members of the TAC shall be selected by the Asbestos Claimants Committee. Upon termination of the Asbestos Trust, or as otherwise provided in the Asbestos Trust Agreement, the TAC shall be deemed dissolved and discharged of and from all further authority, duties, responsibilities, and obligations with respect to or in connection with the Asbestos Trust and the Chapter 11 Cases.

F. Legal Representative for Demand Holders.

Effective on the Effective Date, the Legal Representative shall serve in such capacity under the terms of the Asbestos Trust Agreement, and shall have the functions, duties, and rights provided in the Asbestos Trust Agreement. Upon termination of the Asbestos Trust, or as otherwise provided in the Asbestos Trust Agreement, the Legal Representative shall be discharged of and from all further authorities, duties, responsibilities, and obligations with respect to or in connection with the Asbestos Trust and the Chapter 11 Cases.

G. Assumption of Certain Liabilities by the Asbestos Trust.

On the Effective Date, subject to the terms of the Plan Documents and in accordance with sections 524(g) and 1141 of the Bankruptcy Code, the Asbestos Trust shall assume and succeed to all liability and responsibility for all Channeled Asbestos Claims. Notwithstanding the Asbestos Trust's assumption of liability and responsibility for all Channeled Asbestos Claims, such assumption shall not itself operate or be construed as a release, accord, or novation of each Debtor's obligations on account of such Claims for purposes of any Asbestos Insurance Rights solely to the extent of suits against the Reorganized Debtor directly in accordance with Section 4.13 the Plan (subject, however, to the discharge of any "personal liability" of the Debtors as that term is used in section 524(a) of the Bankruptcy Code and as provided in Section 9.03 the Plan).

H. Transfer of Asbestos Insurance Rights.

On the Effective Date, by virtue of Confirmation, without further notice, action, or deed, the Asbestos Insurance Rights shall be automatically transferred to, and indefeasibly vested in, the Asbestos Trust, and the Asbestos Trust shall thereby become the estate representative pursuant to section 1123(b)(3)(B) of the Bankruptcy Code, with the exclusive right to enforce any and all of the Asbestos Insurance Rights against any Entity, and the Proceeds of the recoveries of any such Asbestos Insurance Rights shall be the property of, and shall be deposited in, the Asbestos Trust. The Asbestos Insurance Rights shall be vested in the Asbestos Trust free and clear of all Liens, encumbrances, interests, claims, and causes of action of any Entity.

If a court of competent jurisdiction determines the transfer of the Asbestos Insurance Rights pursuant to Section 4.07(a) of the Plan to be invalid, non-binding, or unenforceable, in whole or in part, then the Reorganized Debtor shall (1) upon request by the Asbestos Trust and at the reasonable expense of the Asbestos Trust, take all reasonable actions to pursue any of the Asbestos Insurance Rights for the benefit of, and to the extent required by, the Asbestos Trust; and (2) immediately transfer any Proceeds or property recovered under or on account of any Asbestos Insurance Rights to the Asbestos Trust; provided, however, that while any such Proceeds or property are held by or under the control of the Reorganized Debtor, such amounts shall be held in trust solely for the benefit of the Asbestos Trust.

I. Funding of the Asbestos Trust.

1. On the Effective Date, the Debtors shall pay in full and in Cash the Debtors' Contribution to the Asbestos Trust.

2. On the Effective Date, the Hinden Contribution shall be paid in full and in Cash to the Asbestos Trust by or on behalf of the Hinden Family Entities and the Hinden Family Members.

3. On the Effective Date, any Proceeds held by the Debtors on account of Asbestos Insurance Rights shall be paid in full and in Cash to the Asbestos Trust.

4. On the Effective Date, the Reorganized Debtor shall issue and deliver the Trust Note to the Asbestos Trust.

5. Effective on the Effective Date, by virtue of Confirmation, any and all other Asbestos Trust Assets shall be transferred to and be vested in the Asbestos Trust, without further notice, deed, or order.

J. Securing Payment and Performance Under the Trust Note.

1. Effective on the Effective Date, the Trust Note shall be secured by the RDD Pledge, the DDC Pledge, the Bay Shore Mortgage, and the Fairfield Mortgage.

2. The Bay Shore Mortgage shall be a recorded and first-priority Lien on the Bay Shore Property. The Fairfield Mortgage shall be a recorded and first-priority Lien on the Fairfield Property.

3. The DDC Pledge shall be a first-priority Lien and perfected in a manner such that it will not be subordinate to, or parri passu with, any other Lien, security interest, pledge, hypothecation, or other encumbrance or interest prior to the release of the DDC Pledge pursuant to the terms of the Pledge and Security Agreement. On the Effective Date, Duro Dyne Canada shall deliver certificates representing 50.1% of the Duro Dyne Canada Stock, together with stock power executed in blank, to the Asbestos Trust to be held by the Asbestos Trustee in accordance with the Pledge and Security Agreement.

4. The RDD Pledge shall be a first-priority Lien and perfected in a manner such that it will not be subordinate to, or parri passu with, any other Lien, security interest, pledge, hypothecation, or other encumbrance or interest prior to the release of the RDD Pledge pursuant to the terms of the Pledge and Security Agreement. On the Effective Date, the Reorganized Debtor shall deliver certificates representing 50.1% of the Reorganized Duro Dyne Stock, together with stock power executed in blank, to the Asbestos Trust to be held by the Asbestos Trustee in accordance with the Pledge and Security Agreement.

K. Vesting of Asbestos Trust Assets.

Upon the transfer of the Asbestos Trust Assets to the Asbestos Trust, all right, title, and interest in and to the Asbestos Trust Assets, and any proceeds thereof under the Plan, shall be indefeasibly and irrevocably vested in the Asbestos Trust free and clear of all Claims, Demands, Liens, Equity Interests, other interests, and causes of action of any Entity, without any further action of the Bankruptcy Court or any Entity, subject to the Asbestos Permanent Channeling Injunction and other provisions of the Plan; provided, however, that to the extent that certain Asbestos Trust Assets, because of their nature or because they will accrue subsequent to the Effective Date, cannot be transferred to and vested in the Asbestos Trust on the Effective Date, such Asbestos Trust Assets shall be transferred to and irrevocably and indefeasibly vested in the Asbestos Trust, free and clear of Claims, Demands, Liens, Equity Interests, other interests, and causes of action of any Entity, as soon as practicable after the Effective Date.

L. Earn Out Payments.

The Reorganized Debtor shall annually pay to the Asbestos Trust, by no later than March 31 of each year, a sum of Cash equal to thirty percent (30%) of the amount of LTM Adjusted EBITDA (as measured at December 31 that is in excess of the Earn Out Threshold (as defined in the Plan), subject to and in accordance with the terms of Section 4.11 of the Plan.

1. For purposes of this Section, the term "Total Scheduled Rent" means the total amount of rent scheduled under the Bay Shore Lease and the Fairfield Lease and paid on account of the Bay Shore Lease and the Fairfield Lease during the twelve (12) calendar months immediately preceding January 1 of each year; and the term "Earn Out Threshold" means an amount equal to $3,000,000 plus Total Scheduled Rent.

2. For purposes of calculating the Earn Out Payments under this section, LTM Adjusted EBITDA and Total Scheduled Rent shall be measured at December 31 of the same calendar year.

3. By way of illustration and not limitation, if LTM Adjusted EBITDA, as measured at December 31 of a given year, is $7,000,000, and if Total Scheduled Rent, as measured at December 31 of the same year, is $1,100,000, then the Reorganized Debtor shall pay to the Asbestos Trust the sum of $870,000 (i.e., 30% ($7,000,000 less ($3,000,000 plus $1,100,000)) by March 31 of the same year.

4. If the amount of LTM Adjusted EBITDA, as measured at December 31 of a given year, is equal to or less than the Earn Out Threshold, as calculated at December 31 of the same year, there shall be no Earn Out Payment in that same year.

5. If a Catch-Up Payment and an Earn Out Payment are due and payable on the same Semiannual Payment Date, then the Reorganized Debtor shall pay the holder of the Trust Note the greater of the Catch-Up Amount and the amount of the Earn Out Payment, and such payment shall be applied first to any accrued and unpaid interest and outstanding Deferral Amounts in accordance with section 3(b)(5) of the Note Issuance Agreement and then, after such interest and Deferral Amounts have been paid in full in accordance with such section, to the amount of the Earn Out Payment that is outstanding. To the extent all or part of the Earn Out Payment would have been paid to the Asbestos Trust but for the application of the Catch-Up Payment to the unpaid accrued interest and Deferral Amount in accordance with this subsection (e), such unpaid Earn Out Payment shall be deemed a "Deferred Earn Out Amount," and no Related-Party Payments shall be made unless and until the Deferred Earn Out Amount is indefeasibly paid in Cash and in full to the Asbestos Trust.

6. Notwithstanding any provision in this Section, the Reorganized Debtor shall have no duty or obligation to pay an Earn Out Payment on March 31, 2019 based on LTM Adjusted EBITDA measured at December 31, 2018.

7. Once the cumulative total of Earn Out Payments irrevocably and indefeasibly paid to the Asbestos Trust equals $2,000,000, the Reorganized Debtor shall have no duty or obligation to pay further Earn Out Payments to the Asbestos Trust.

8. Unless and until the cumulative total of Earn Out Payments irrevocably and indefeasibly paid to the Asbestos Trust equals $2,000,000, the Reorganized Debtor shall not (1) transfer any assets to a Related Party (other than payments authorized under any of the Plan Documents or payments in the ordinary course of the Reorganized Debtor's business to Duro Dyne Canada in exchange for reasonably equivalent value) or to any Entity, the majority of whose Equity Interests are owned directly or indirectly by the Reorganized Debtor or one or more of the Related Parties; (2) acquire a business, division, or substantially all the assets of any Entity; or (3) acquire fifty percent (50%) or more of the Equity Interests in any Entity, unless, before any asset transfer or acquisition is effectuated, such Related Party or Entity (i) expressly assumes joint and several liability for the Earn Out Payments, (ii) agrees in writing that its books, records, and financial statements, including the calculation of LTM Adjusted EBITDA under this Section, shall be kept and done on a consolidated basis with the Reorganized Debtor and Duro Dyne Canada, (iii) executes and delivers to the Asbestos Trust an assumption agreement that is satisfactory in form and substance to the Asbestos Trust, and (iv) takes all other actions as the Asbestos Trust deems appropriate to ensure payment of the Earn Out Payments hereunder

M. Financial Reporting and Disclosures.

On and after the Effective Date, and up to and through the maturity date of the Trust Note, the Reorganized Debtor shall furnish the Asbestos Trust with all financial reporting in the same form and at the same time as required by the lender under the Secured Lending Facility or any secured credit agreement in replacement thereof, and any additional information reasonably required to monitor Adjusted EBITDA for purposes of payments under the Trust Note and the Earn Out Payments. All such financial reporting and additional information shall conform to generally accepted accounting principles, consistently applied in each period in which a calculation is performed, if such conformity is not required by the lender under the Secured Lender Facility or any secured credit agreement in replacement the Plan. If the Secured Lending Facility is terminated or not renewed or replaced, the Reorganized Debtor shall furnish the Asbestos Trust with such financial reporting at the same time and with the same level of detail and disclosure previously required under the Secured Lending Facility.

N. Actions Against the Reorganized Debtor to Obtain the Benefits of Asbestos Insurance Coverage.

In addition to the potential for recoveries from the Asbestos Trust under the TDP, and not as an alternative thereto, Channeled Asbestos Claimants shall have the right to commence an action against the Reorganized Debtor and pursue their claims in the tort system to obtain the benefit of Asbestos Insurance Coverage, subject to the applicable provisions of section 5.10 of the TDP. If a holder of a Channeled Asbestos Claim commences such an action on account of such Claim, any complaint commencing such an action shall name the Reorganized Debtor as a defendant, in lieu of the Debtors, provided, however, that, consistent with the Injunctions, no party may identify the Reorganized Debtor using the term "Duro Dyne" or any variation the Plan in the caption of any pleading or other filing in connection with the action commenced by such complaint and shall only identify the Reorganized Debtor in such caption as "RDD Company" or such other name for the Reorganized Debtor as may be specified in the Confirmation Order. Such action may be filed in any court where any Debtor was subject to in personam jurisdiction as of the Petition Date and shall be deemed by operation of law to be an action against the Debtors, except that any judgment that may be obtained in such action may not be enforced against the assets of the Reorganized Debtor or the Asbestos Trust, other than the Asbestos Insurance Policies. Any such action may be served on the Asbestos Trust, who shall tender such actions to Non-Settling Asbestos Insurers. The Reorganized Debtor shall have no obligation to defend or otherwise appear or incur any costs or expenses in connection with any action brought under Section 4.13 of the Plan, and the Reorganized Debtor shall not incur liability to any Person, including but not limited to any Channeled Asbestos Claimant or any Asbestos Insurer in connection with any action commenced pursuant to Section 4.13 of the Plan. The Asbestos Trust shall continue to process the Channeled Asbestos Claim of any Channeled Asbestos Claimant who brings an action under Section 4.13 of the Plan, including by making payment thereon to such Channeled Asbestos Claimant as and when provided under the TDP. Subject to the Injunctions, nothing in Section 4.13 of the Plan is intended to bar any cause of action, or right to bring a cause of action, held by any Channeled Asbestos Claimant directly against any Asbestos Insurer if a Channeled Asbestos Claimant obtains a judgment in any action permitted under Section 4.13 of the Plan, with such actions governed by the procedures set forth in Section 4.14 of the Plan.

O. Actions Against Non-Settling Asbestos Insurers to Obtain the Benefits of Asbestos Insurance Coverage.

Any Channeled Asbestos Claimant that has obtained a judgment against the Reorganized Debtor pursuant to Section 4.13 of the Plan, or that would otherwise have the right under applicable nonbankruptcy law to join or substitute an Asbestos Insurer in an action filed on account of his Channeled Asbestos Claim, may, in order to obtain the benefits of Asbestos Insurance Coverage, make a request to the Asbestos Trust that the Asbestos Insurer Injunction be lifted so as to permit such Claimant to commence a judgment-enforcement action or direct action against a Non-Settled Asbestos Insurer (an "Enforcement Request"). Such an Enforcement Request shall be made in the form of a written request directed to the Asbestos Trust, containing such information as the Asbestos Trust may, in its sole discretion, require as part of any such request. The Asbestos Trust may require or impose appropriate terms and conditions on Channeled Asbestos Claimants in exchange for the Asbestos Trust's agreement to lift the Asbestos Insurer Injunction with respect to their claims; provided, however, that to the extent a Channeled Asbestos Claimant makes an Enforcement Request, the Asbestos Trust shall not lift the Asbestos Insurer Injunction unless the Channeled Asbestos Claimant agrees in writing to stipulate and agree to the following conditions:

1. Judgment Reduction

If any Non-Settling Asbestos Insurer against whom a judgment-enforcement action or direct action is brought asserts as a defense that it would have an Asbestos Insurance Policy Claim as a result of contribution rights against one or more Settling Asbestos Insurers with respect to the Channeled Asbestos Claimant's claim that it could have asserted but for the Injunctions (hereinafter, "Contribution Claims"), the liability, if any, of the Non-Settling Asbestos Insurer to the Channeled Asbestos Claimant shall be reduced dollar-for-dollar by the amount, if any, of any judgment establishing the Contribution Claims in accordance with Section 4.14(b) of the Plan; and

2. Assertion of Settling Asbestos Insurers' Rights

In determining the amount of any Contribution Claim that operates to reduce the amount of liability of a Non-Settling Asbestos Insurer in a judgment-enforcement action or direct action, the Channeled Asbestos Claimant may assert the legal or equitable rights, if any, of the Settling Asbestos Insurers with respect to such Contribution Claims, provided that the Channeled Asbestos Claimant shall not be permitted to argue that any Contribution Claims are not properly asserted against the Channeled Asbestos Claimant, or that the Injunctions bar or affect in any way such Contribution Claims in connection with the Channeled Asbestos Claimant's claim against a Non-Settling Asbestos Insurer.

P. Limitations on Recoveries of Insurance Coverage from Non-Settling Asbestos Insurers.

1. No Coverage for Trust Payments or Claims Resolutions. No Non-Settling Asbestos Insurer that has paid a Channeled Asbestos Claim pursuant to the provisions of Section 4.13 or Section 4.14 of the Plan shall be required or requested by the Asbestos Trust, the Debtors, the Reorganized Debtor, or any other Entity to make any payment whatsoever, based on or for (i) amounts paid by the Asbestos Trust to that Channeled Asbestos Claimant in accordance with the TDP or otherwise; (ii) the liquidated value of that Channeled Asbestos Claim resolved by the Asbestos Trust, whether or not paid in whole or in part by the Asbestos Trust; (iii) any amounts that the Asbestos Trust promises or proposes to pay to that Channeled Asbestos Claimant under the TDP or otherwise; or (iv) the amounts set forth in the scheduled values matrix of the TDP that would otherwise be applicable to the paid Channeled Asbestos Claim. For the avoidance of doubt, this Section does not preclude actions, or recoveries or payments from actions authorized by Section 4.13 or Section 4.14 of the Plan, and all Asbestos Insurance

Litigation and Asbestos Insurance Policy Claims (including all claims for contribution, reimbursement, indemnity, or subrogation against Non-Settling Asbestos Insurers) are subject to the preceding two sentences of this subsection and to Section 4.14(b) of the Plan. No Non-Settling Asbestos Insurer may argue or contend, in any action authorized by Section 4.13 or Section 4.14 the Plan, that a Channeled Asbestos Claimant is barred by this Section from obtaining the benefits of Asbestos Insurance Coverage simply because such Claimant either could or did have his Channeled Asbestos Claim resolved, valued, or paid by the Asbestos Trust.

Q. Determination of Credit, Reduction, or Offset.

1. The amount of any payments actually received by a Channeled Asbestos Claimant from the Asbestos Trust on account of his Channeled Asbestos Claim shall be credited dollar-for-dollar against the liability of the Reorganized Debtor in any action brought by such Channeled Asbestos Claimant under Section 4.13 of the Plan, and following the full satisfaction of a judgment obtained in such an action or in an action brought under Section 4.14 of the Plan, the Entities that pay such a judgment shall be deemed to have been assigned the right to payment of any further amounts due from the Asbestos Trust to such Channeled Asbestos Claimant.

2. Notwithstanding anything in the Plan to the contrary, if a Non-Settling Asbestos Insurer asserts a claim that it is entitled to a credit, offset, or reduction of damages based on any payment made by the Asbestos Trust or any Debtor, then nothing in the Plan or the TDP shall restrict any right of such Non-Settling Asbestos Insurer to introduce in any action otherwise admissible evidence in support of such claim. All parties' rights to make arguments as to the admissibility of such evidence under the applicable rules of evidence are reserved.

R. Subordination of Related-Party Payments and Related-Party Claims.

Upon the occurrence and continuance of a default under the Trust Note or an "Event of Default" as defined in the Note Issuance Agreement or in the Pledge and Security Agreement, (a) all obligations under the Trust Note, including principal and accrued interest, shall be paid in Cash and in full before any Related-Party Payment or any payment, whether in cash, property, or securities, on account of a Related-Party Claim is made; and (b) any Related Party receiving a Related-Party Payment or any payment, whether in cash, property, or securities, made on account of a Related-Party Claim shall be paid or delivered directly to the holder of the Trust Note for application in payment of the same unless and until all obligations under the Trust Note, including principal and accrued interest, are paid in Cash and in full.

S. Preservation of Asbestos-Related Defenses.

In any action commenced against the Reorganized Debtor under Section 4.13 of the Plan or against a Non-Settling Asbestos Insurer under Section 4.14, (a) subject to Section 4.15(b) of the Plan, any payments made by the Asbestos Trust to the Channeled Asbestos Claimant commencing such action shall be taken into account in such action in accordance with rule of law or evidence related to any credit, offset, or reduction of damages allowed by applicable nonbankruptcy law; and (b) nothing pertaining to the Plan, the confirmation of the Plan, the entry of the Confirmation Order, the creation of the Asbestos Trust, and the implementation of the TDP shall be construed as a waiver or admission with respect to any Asbestos-Related Defenses, and all parties (including the Asbestos Insurers) shall be free to make any contention permitted by applicable nonbankruptcy law with respect to such defenses.

T. Books and Records.

On the Effective Date, the Cooperation Agreement shall become effective, and the Asbestos Records (as defined in the Cooperation Agreement) shall be treated in accordance therewith.

ARTICLE IX.
IMPLEMENTATION OF THE PLAN

A. Substantive Consolidation

1. Confirmation shall constitute approval, pursuant to sections 105(a) and 1123(a)(5) of the Bankruptcy Code, effective upon Consummation, of the substantive consolidation and merger of each of the Debtors and their respective Estates with and into Debtor Duro Dyne National Corp. such that the Reorganized Debtor shall be the surviving Entity on the Effective Date. As a result of such substantive consolidation and merger,

(i) the assets and liabilities of the Debtors will be deemed to be the assets and liabilities of the Reorganized Debtor;

(ii) each and every Claim listed on the Schedules or filed in the Chapter 11 Cases against any Debtor shall be considered filed against the Reorganized Debtor and shall be considered one Claim against and obligation of the Reorganized Debtor on and after the Effective Date;

(iii) all joint obligations of two or more Debtors, and all multiple Claims against such Entities on account of such joint obligations, shall be considered a single Claim against the Reorganized Debtor;

(iv) all guaranties by any of the Debtors of the obligations of any Debtor arising prior to the Effective Date shall be deemed cancelled and eliminated under the Plan so that any Claim against any Debtor and any guaranty executed by any other Debtor and any joint and several liability of any of the Debtors shall be deemed to be one obligation of the Reorganized Debtor; and

(v) all Equity Interests in Duro Dyne Corporation, Duro Dyne West Corp., Duro Dyne Midwest Corp., and Duro Dyne Machinery Corp. shall be cancelled and extinguished on the Effective Date in accordance with Section 3.03(k)(ii); and

(vi) all Intercompany Claims shall be cancelled and extinguished on the Effective Date.

2. Notwithstanding the terms and provisions of Section 5.01(a), such substantive consolidation and merger shall not (other than for purposes related to funding Distributions under the Plan) affect (i) executory contracts or unexpired leases that were entered into during the Chapter 11 Cases or that have been or will be assumed, assumed and assigned, or rejected; (ii) any agreements entered into by the Reorganized Debtor on or after the Effective Date; and (iii) the Debtors' or the Reorganized Debtor's ability to subordinate or otherwise challenge Claims on an entity-by-entity basis.

B. Corporate Governance.

1. Amendment of Certificate of Incorporation of the Reorganized Debtor. The certificate of incorporation of each Reorganized Debtor that is a corporation on the Effective Date shall, as of the Effective Date, be amended in its entirety to read substantially in the form that will be included as Schedule 5.02(a) of the Plan Supplement. Consistent with, but only to the extent required by, section 1123(a)(6) of the Bankruptcy Code, the amended certificates of incorporation of such Reorganized Debtor shall, inter alia, prohibit the issuance of non-voting equity securities.

2. Amendment of Bylaws of the Reorganized Debtor. The bylaws of the Reorganized Debtor shall be amended as of the Effective Date to read substantially in the form that will be included as Schedule 5.02(b) of the Plan Supplement and, inter alia, to effectuate the provisions of the Plan.

3. Exchange of Equity Interests in Duro Dyne National Corp. Prior to the Effective Date, each of the three outstanding shares of voting stock in Debtor Duro Dyne National Corp. shall be exchanged for 1,000 shares of voting stock in Debtor Duro Dyne National Corp., so as to result in a total of 3,000 outstanding shares of voting stock in Debtor Duro Dyne National Corp., and the three holders of voting shares in Duro Dyne National Corp. shall each receive certificates evidencing a total of 1,000 shares of such voting stock.

4. Management of the Reorganized Debtor. On and after the Effective Date, the business affairs of the Reorganized Debtor will be managed by the Entity or Entities identified on Schedule 5.02(c) of the Plan Supplement.

5. Effectuating Documents and Further Transactions. Each of the officers of the Reorganized Debtor is authorized, in accordance with his or her authority under the resolutions of the applicable governing body of such Reorganized Debtor, to execute, deliver, file, or record such contracts, instruments, releases, indentures, and other agreements or documents, and to take such action as may be necessary or appropriate to effectuate and further evidence the terms and conditions of the Plan and the other Plan Documents.

6. Corporate Action. All matters provided for under the Plan involving the corporate structure of the Debtors or Reorganized Debtor, or any corporate or limited liability company action to be taken by, or required of the Debtors or Reorganized Debtor, shall be deemed to have occurred and be effective as provided herein, and shall be authorized and approved in all respects without any requirement for further action by or notice to the holders of Equity Interests in, or the directors or managers of, any of the Debtors or the Reorganized Debtor.

C. Supersedeas Bonds and Payment Assurances

1. Preserved Actions. All Supersedeas Bond Actions and the rights and Claims asserted or to be asserted therein shall be preserved and shall be prosecuted or defended, as the case may be, by the Reorganized Debtor on and after the Effective Date.

2. Assumption by the Asbestos Trust. As of the Effective Date, the Asbestos Trust shall assume, and shall have exclusive liability for, any deficiency portion of a Bonded Asbestos Personal Injury Claim remaining after crediting the proceeds of any supersedeas bond or other payment assurances to which the holder of such Claim is determined by Final Order or agreement of the parties to be entitled. To the extent the Reorganized Debtor successfully prosecutes or defends against a Supersedeas Bond Action resulting in the discharge or release of the relevant supersedeas bond or other payment assurance provided in connection therewith, any such recoveries shall inure to the benefit of such Reorganized Debtor.

3. Reservation of Rights of Issuers and Insurers of Payment Assurances. Notwithstanding anything to the contrary contained herein, nothing in the Plan shall be deemed to impair, prejudice, compromise, or otherwise affect any defense or counterclaim asserted by an issuer or insurer of any supersedeas bond or other payment assurance issued on behalf of any of the Debtors, including any defense based on an asserted right of setoff or recoupment, or other defense under applicable nonbankruptcy law. Any right of setoff or recoupment shall be satisfied out of the assets in the possession of the sureties or insurers providing such supersedeas bond or payment assurance.

4. Compromise and Settlement. The Reorganized Debtor shall be entitled to compromise or settle any of the Supersedeas Bond Actions; provided, however, that any such compromise or settlement shall require the consent of the Asbestos Trust to the extent the compromise or settlement results in a deficiency portion of a Bonded Asbestos Personal Injury Claim after applying the proceeds of any supersedeas bond or equivalent form of payment assurance.

5. Withholding of Taxes. The Reorganized Debtor or the Asbestos Trust, as applicable, shall withhold from any assets or property distributed under the Plan any assets or property that must be withheld for foreign, federal, state, or local taxes payable with respect thereto or payable by the Entity entitled to such assets or property to the extent required by applicable law.

6. Transfer Taxes. The issuance, transfer, or exchange of any of the securities issued under, or the transfer of any other assets or property pursuant to or in connection with the Plan, or the making or delivery of an instrument of transfer under or in connection with the Plan shall not, pursuant to section 1146 of the Bankruptcy Code, be taxed under any law imposing a stamp tax, transfer tax, or other similar tax.

7. Recordable Order. Upon Confirmation, the Confirmation Order shall be deemed to be in recordable form, and shall be accepted by any recording officer for filing and recording purposes without further or additional orders, certifications, or other supporting documents.

8. Authority of the Debtors. Effective on the Confirmation Date, the Debtors shall be empowered and authorized to take or cause to be taken, prior to the Effective Date, all actions necessary to enable them to implement their respective obligations under the Plan and the other Plan Documents.

ARTICLE X.
VOTING AND DISTRIBUTIONS UNDER THE PLAN GENERALLY

A. Classes Eligible to Vote.

1. Deemed Acceptance of Plan by Unimpaired Classes. Class 1 Priority Non-Tax Claims, Class 2 Secured Claims, Class 3 Employee Benefit Claims, Class 4 Worker Compensation Claims, Class 5 General Unsecured Claims and Class 8 Bonded Claims are Unimpaired under the Plan and are conclusively presumed to have accepted the Plan pursuant to section 1126(f) of the Bankruptcy Code. Therefore, solicitation of votes of holders of Claims in Classes 1, 2, 3, 4, 5 and 8 is not required.

2. Insider Claims Not Entitled to Vote. Class 9 Intercompany Claims, Class 10 Related Party Claims, Class 11 Equity Interests in Duro Dyne National Corp., and Class 12 Equity Interests in Duro Dyne Corporation, Duro Dyne West Corp., Duro Dyne Midwest Corp., and Duro Dyne Machinery Corp. are Claims of Insiders and are not entitled to vote on the Plan. Therefore, solicitation of votes of holders of Claims in Classes 9, 10 and 11 is not required.

3. Only Class 6 Prepetition Defense-Cost Contribution Claims and Class 7 Channeled Asbestos Claims Are Eligible to Vote. Class 6 Prepetition Defense-Cost Contribution Claims and Class 7 Channeled Asbestos Claims are Impaired under the Plan. Only holders of Class 6 and Class 7 Claims are entitled to vote to accept or reject the Plan. Accordingly, the solicitation of votes of holders of Prepetition Defense-Cost Contribution Claims in Class 6 and Asbestos Claims in Class 7 is required.

B. Class 6 and 7 Acceptance Requirements.

Class 6 shall have accepted the Plan if the Plan is accepted by at least two-thirds (2/3) in dollar amount and more than one-half (1/2) in number of the holders of Class 6 Claims actually voting on the Plan. Class 7 shall have accepted the Plan if the Plan is accepted by at least two-thirds (2/3) in dollar amount and more than seventy-five percent (75%) in number of the holders of Class 7 Claims that have actually voted on the Plan. Acceptance of the Plan by Class 7 shall also be determined in accordance with section 524(g)(2)(B)(ii)(IV)(bb) of the Bankruptcy Code and Section 6.04 of the Plan.

C. Voting on Basis of Substantive Consolidation.

Voting on the Plan shall be conducted on a substantively consolidated basis with respect to the Debtors, consistent with Section 5.01 the Plan. If the Bankruptcy Court authorizes the Debtors to substantively consolidate less than all of the Debtors' Estates, (a) the Plan shall be treated as a separate plan of reorganization for each Debtor not substantively consolidated, and (b) the Debtors shall not be required to resolicit votes with respect to the Plan. Notwithstanding the foregoing, the Debtors reserve the right to seek confirmation of the Plan on an Entity-by-Entity basis.

D. Issuance of Asbestos Permanent Channeling Injunction Pursuant to Section 524(g) of the Bankruptcy Code.

The Bankruptcy Court or the District Court, as applicable, shall be asked to issue the Asbestos Permanent Channeling Injunction if at least seventy-five present (75%) in number of the holders of Class 7 Claims that have voted on the Plan have voted in favor of the Plan in accordance with section 524(g)(2)(B)(ii)(IV)(bb) of the Bankruptcy Code and Section 6.02 of the Plan.

E. Nonconsensual Confirmation.

If any Impaired Class of Claims or Equity Interests, other than Class 7, fails to accept this Plan in accordance with sections 1126 and 1129 of the Bankruptcy Code, the Plan Proponents will request, to the extent consistent with applicable law, that the Bankruptcy Court confirm this Plan in accordance with section 1129(b) of the Bankruptcy Code with respect to such non-accepting Class of Claims or Equity Interests (other than Class 7), and the Plan constitutes a motion for such relief.

F. Distributions Under the Plan.

Whenever any Distribution to be made under the Plan shall be due on a day other than a Business Day, such Distribution shall instead be made, without interest, on the immediately succeeding Business Day, but shall be deemed to have been made on the date due. The Distributions shall be made to the holders of Allowed Claims as of the Record Date and the Debtors and the Reorganized Debtor shall have no obligation to recognize any transfer of a Claim occurring after the Record Date.

1. Distribution Deadlines. Any Distribution to be made by the Disbursing Agent pursuant to the Plan shall be deemed to have been timely made if made within twenty-one (21) calendar days after the time therefor specified in the Plan or such other agreements. No interest shall accrue or be paid with respect to any Distribution as a consequence of such Distribution not having been made on the Effective Date.

2. Distributions with Respect to Allowed Claims. Subject to Bankruptcy Rule 9010, all Distributions under the Plan to holders of Allowed Claims shall be made by the Disbursing Agent to the holder of each Allowed Claim in such Classes at the address of such holder as noted on the Schedules as of the Record Date, unless the Debtors or, on and after the Effective Date, the Reorganized Debtor have been notified in writing of a change of address, including by the timely filing of a proof of claim by such holder that provides an address for such holder different from the address noted on the Schedules. If any Distribution to any such holder is returned as undeliverable, then no further Distributions to such holder shall be made unless and until the Reorganized Debtor is notified of such holder's then current address, at which time all missed Distributions shall be made to such holder without interest. At the expiration of six (6) calendar months after the date on which an undeliverable Distribution was originally sent, mailed, or otherwise transmitted, such undeliverable Distribution will be deemed unclaimed property under section 347(b) of the Bankruptcy Code and will revest in the Reorganized Debtor, and any entitlement of a holder of any Claim to the re-vested Distribution shall be extinguished, discharged, and forever barred. Nothing contained in the Plan shall require the Reorganized Debtor or the Disbursing Agent to attempt to locate any holder of an Allowed Claim.

3. Responsibility for Transfers and Distributions. The Reorganized Debtor and the Disbursing Agent shall be responsible for Distributions required by the Plan, other than distributions to holders of Class 7 Channeled Asbestos Claims. The Asbestos Trust and only the Asbestos Trust shall be responsible for resolving, liquidating, and paying Class 7 Channeled Asbestos Claims in accordance with the Asbestos Trust Agreement and the TDP, except as provided in Sections 4.13 and 4.14 the Plan.

4. Manner and Method of Payment Under the Plan. Unless the Entity entitled to receive a Distribution agrees otherwise, any payment of such Distribution in Cash shall be made by a check drawn from a domestic bank or wire transfer from a domestic bank; provided, however, that no Cash payment of less than one hundred dollars ($100) shall be made to a holder of an Allowed Claim unless a request therefor is made in writing to the Disbursing Agent.

G. Time Bar to Distributions by Check.

Checks issued by the Reorganized Debtor in respect of Distributions on account of Allowed Claims shall be null and void if not presented for payment within ninety (90) calendar days after the date of issuance the Plan. Requests for reissuance of any check shall be made in writing to the Disbursing Agent by the holder of the Allowed Claim to whom such check originally was issued on or before thirty (30) calendar days after the expiration of the ninety (90) day period following the date of issuance of such check. After the expiration of the thirty (30) day period, all funds held on account of such void check shall be used to satisfy the costs of administering and fully consummating the Plan or become the property of the Reorganized Debtor, and the Claim of any holder to such Distributions shall be extinguished, discharged, and forever barred.

H. Distributions After the Effective Date.

Distributions made after the Effective Date to holders of Claims that are not Allowed Claims as of the Effective Date, but which later become Allowed Claims, shall be deemed to have been made in accordance with the terms and provisions of the Plan.

I. Setoffs.

Pursuant to applicable nonbankruptcy law, and before any Distribution is made on account of any Allowed Claim, the Reorganized Debtor may, but shall not be required to, setoff the claims, rights, and causes of action of any nature that the Reorganized Debtor holds against the holder of such Allowed Claim, other than a Channeled Asbestos Claim, against any Allowed Claims and the Distributions to be made pursuant to the Plan on account the Plan; provided, however, that neither the failure to effect such a setoff nor the allowance of any Claim hereunder shall constitute a waiver or release by the Reorganized Debtor of any such claims, rights, and causes of action that the Reorganized Debtor may possess on and after the Effective Date against such holder.

J. Cancellation of Existing Securities and Agreements.

On the Effective Date, any document, agreement, or instrument evidencing any Claim, other than an Asbestos Claim or any Claim that is Unimpaired, shall be deemed cancelled without further act or action under any applicable agreement, law, regulation, order, or rule, and the obligations of the Debtors under such documents, agreements, or instruments evidencing such Claims and Equity Interests, as the case may be, shall be discharged.

K. Allocation of Plan Distributions Between Principal and Interest.

To the extent that an Allowed Claim entitled to a Distribution under the Plan is comprised of indebtedness and accrued but unpaid interest thereon, such Distribution shall be allocated first to the principal amount of the Claim (as determined for federal income tax purposes) and then, to the extent the consideration exceeds the principal amount of the Claim, to accrued but unpaid interest.

L. Tax Obligations and Reporting Requirements.

Notwithstanding any provision herein, each holder of an Allowed Claim that is to receive a Distribution under the Plan shall have the sole and exclusive responsibility for the satisfaction and payment of any tax obligations imposed by any Governmental Unit, including income, withholding, and other tax obligations, on account of such Distribution. Any Entity issuing any instrument or making any Distribution under the Plan has the right, but not the obligation, to refrain from making a Distribution, until such holder has made arrangements satisfactory to such Entity for payment of any such tax obligations.

ARTICLE XI.
TREATMENT OF DISPUTED, CONTINGENT, OR UNLIQUIDATEDNON-ASBESTOS CLAIMS UNDER THE PLAN

A. Objections to Claims; Prosecution of Disputed Claims.

The Reorganized Debtor shall object to the allowance of Claims (other than Channeled Asbestos Claims) filed with the Bankruptcy Court or with a duly appointed claims agent, as applicable, with respect to which the Reorganized Debtor, disputes, in whole or in part, liability or the amount of the Claim. All objections filed by the Reorganized Debtor as provided herein shall be litigated to Final Order by the Reorganized Debtor, as applicable; provided, however, that the Reorganized Debtor may compromise, settle, or resolve by any other method any objections to Claims, subject to approval of the Bankruptcy Court. Unless otherwise provided herein or ordered by the Bankruptcy Court, all objections to Claims shall be served and filed on or before the later of (a) one hundred and eighty (180) calendar days after the Effective Date, or (b) such date as may be fixed by the Bankruptcy Court, after notice and hearing, whether fixed before or after the date specified in clause (a) above.

B. Estimation of Individual Claims.

Unless otherwise limited by an order of the Bankruptcy Court, the Reorganized Debtor may at any time request that the Bankruptcy Court estimate for final Distribution purposes any contingent, unliquidated, or disputed Claim (other than Channeled Asbestos Claims) pursuant to section 502(c) of the Bankruptcy Code or other applicable law, regardless of whether any of the Debtors or the Reorganized Debtor previously objected to such Claim or whether the Bankruptcy Court has ruled on such objection, and the Bankruptcy Court will retain jurisdiction to consider any such request at any time, including during the pendency of any appeal relating to an objection to any Claim. Unless otherwise provided in an order of the Bankruptcy Court, in the event that the Bankruptcy Court estimates any contingent, unliquidated, or disputed Claim (other than Channeled Asbestos Claims), the estimated amount shall constitute either the Allowed Amount of such Claim or a maximum limitation on such Claim, as determined by the Bankruptcy Court; provided, however, that, if the estimate constitutes the maximum limitation on such Claim, the Reorganized Debtor may elect to pursue supplemental proceedings to object to any ultimate allowance of such Claim; and provided further that the foregoing is not intended to limit the rights granted by section 502(j) of the Bankruptcy Code.

C. Cumulative Remedies.

All of the aforementioned Claims objection, motion, estimation, and resolution procedures are cumulative and not necessarily exclusive of one another.

D. No Distributions Pending Allowance or Motion.

Notwithstanding any provision the Plan, if any portion of a Claim is disputed, contingent, or unliquidated, no Distribution provided for hereunder shall be made on account of any portion of such Claim unless and until such disputed, contingent, or unliquidated Claim becomes an Allowed Claim. No interest shall be paid on account of disputed, contingent, or unliquidated Claims that later become Allowed except to the extent that payment of interest is required under section 506(b) of the Bankruptcy Code.

E. Distributions After Allowance.

To the extent a disputed, contingent, or unliquidated Claim ultimately becomes an Allowed Claim, a Distribution shall be made to the holder of such Allowed Claim in accordance with the provisions of the Plan. As soon as reasonably practicable after the date that the order or judgment of the Bankruptcy Court or other applicable court of competent jurisdiction (including any appeal therefrom) allowing any previously disputed, contingent, or unliquidated Claim becomes a Final Order, the Disbursing Agent shall provide to the holder of such Allowed Claim the Distribution to which such holder is entitled hereunder on account of or in exchange for such Allowed Claim.

ARTICLE XII.
TREATMENT OF EXECUTORY CONTRACTS AND UNEXPIRED LEASES

A. General Treatment.

The Debtors shall assume, as of the Effective Date, all executory contracts to which they are a party, respectively, except for (a) the executory contracts specifically listed on Schedule 8.01 of the Plan Supplement; or (b) the executory contracts or unexpired leases specifically addressed herein or pursuant to a Final Order of the Bankruptcy Court entered on or before the Effective Date. The Debtors may, at any time on or before the Effective Date, amend Schedule 8.01 to delete therefrom, or add thereto, any executory contract or unexpired lease. The Debtors shall provide notice of any such amendments to the parties to the executory contract or unexpired lease affected thereby and to parties on any master service list established by the Bankruptcy Court in the Chapter 11 Cases. The fact that any contract or lease is listed in Schedule 8.01 shall not constitute or be construed to constitute an admission that such contract or lease is an executory contract or unexpired lease within the meaning of section 365 of the Bankruptcy Code or that any of the Debtors or any successors in interest to the Debtors (including the Reorganized Debtor) has any liability thereunder. The Plan shall constitute a motion to assume the executory contracts and unexpired leases not listed in Schedule 8.01 and to reject those executory contracts and unexpired leases that are listed on Schedule 8.01. Any and all claims held by a Related Party against the Reorganized Debtor that are based on, arise from, or are attributable to a contract or lease assumed under this Section shall be subject to Section 4.16 and Section 8.06 of the Plan.

B. Assumption of Insurance Policies.

Notwithstanding anything contained in the Plan to the contrary, to the extent any Debtor's insurance policies and any agreements, documents, or instruments relating thereto, including Asbestos Insurance Policies or prepetition Asbestos Insurance Settlements, are executory contracts, such policies, agreements, documents, or instruments shall be treated as executory contracts under the Plan and shall be assumed pursuant to the Plan, effective as of the Effective Date, regardless of whether any such policy, agreement, document, or instrument is listed on Schedule 8.01 of the Plan Supplement. The Plan shall constitute a motion to assume such policies, agreements, documents, and instruments. Nothing contained in Section 8.02 of the Plan shall constitute or be deemed a waiver of any cause of action that the Debtors, the Reorganized Debtor, or the Asbestos Trust may hold against any Entity, including the insurer, under any Asbestos Insurance Policy or prepetition Asbestos Insurance Settlements, or any of the Debtors' policies of insurance or insurance-related agreements.

C. Letters of Credit, Surety Bonds, and Guaranties.

1. Assumption Under Section 365(a). Unless otherwise designated by the Plan Proponents in Schedule 8.03 of the Plan Supplement, agreed to in writing by the affected parties, or modified by order of the Bankruptcy Court, the Debtors' obligations under letters of credit, surety bonds, guaranties (which, for purposes of this Section include contingent liabilities arising in connection with assigned executory contracts and unexpired leases), or written indemnity agreements with respect to letters of credit, surety bonds, or guaranties existing as of the Effective Date shall be deemed to be, and shall be treated as though they are, executory contracts that are assumed under this Plan, effective as of the Effective Date. In addition, the Debtors' obligations under such letters of credit, surety bonds, guaranties, and written indemnity agreements shall be deemed assumed pursuant to section 365(a) of the Bankruptcy Code, effective as of the Effective Date. The Plan shall constitute a motion to assume such letters of credit, surety bonds, guaranties, and written indemnity agreements.

2. Reservation of Rights. The Plan Proponents reserve the right, at any time prior to the Effective Date, to amend or modify the list included in Schedule 8.03 of the Plan Supplement to add or remove letters of credit, surety bonds, guaranties, and indemnity agreements with respect to letters of credit, surety bonds, or guaranties existing as of the Effective Date, provided that the Plan Proponents shall file a notice with the Bankruptcy Court and serve each affected party with such notice.

D. Cure of Defaults and Survival of Contingent Claims.

Except as may otherwise be agreed to by the applicable parties, on or before the thirtieth (30th) calendar day after the Effective Date, provided the non-Debtor party to any executory contract or unexpired lease that is assumed pursuant to Article VIII of the Plan has filed a proof of claim with respect to a cure amount, the Reorganized Debtor shall cure any and all undisputed defaults under each executory contract or unexpired lease assumed pursuant to this Plan, in accordance with section 365(b) of the Bankruptcy Code. All disputed defaults required to be cured shall be cured either within thirty (30) days of the entry of a Final Order determining the amount, if any, of a Reorganized Debtor's liability with respect thereto, or as may otherwise be agreed to by the applicable parties. Unless a proof of claim was timely filed with respect thereto, all cure amounts and all contingent reimbursement or indemnity claims for prepetition amounts expended by the non-Debtor parties to assumed executory contracts and unexpired leases shall be discharged upon Consummation.

E. Deadline for Filing Rejection Damages Claims.

If the rejection of a contract or lease pursuant to Section 8.01 or Section 8.03 of the Plan results in damages to the non-Debtor party to such contract or lease, any claim for such damages, if not heretofore evidenced by a filed proof of claim, shall forever be barred and shall not be enforceable against the Debtors, or their respective properties, agents, successors, or assigns, unless a proof of claim is filed with the Bankruptcy Court or with a duly appointed claims agent, as applicable, and served upon the Debtors or the Reorganized Debtor on or before thirty (30) calendar days after the later to occur of (a) the Confirmation Date, or (b) the date of entry of an order by the Bankruptcy Court authorizing rejection of such contract or lease.

F. Contracts and Leases with Related Parties.

1. The Reorganized Debtor shall not make any Related Party Payments if there is any arrearage, breach, or default with respect to any debt or obligation of the Reorganized Debtor.

2. Any contract or personal-property lease with a Related Party, including the contracts and leases assumed under Section 8.01 or listed on Schedule 8.06 of the Plan Supplement, shall terminate in accordance with their respective terms, including on the dates noted on Schedule 8.06 of the Plan Supplement, and shall not be renewed. Any personal property or equipment that is the subject of such contracts or personal-property leases shall, upon the aforesaid termination, be transferred or delivered to the Reorganized Debtor, which shall thereupon assume or acquire ownership of such personal property or equipment, free and clear of any Lien, interest, or other encumbrance.

3. The Reorganized Debtor shall not enter into any contract or personal-property lease (whether an operating lease or a capital lease) with a Related Party that pertains to personal property or equipment, unless such contract or personal-property lease provides that the Reorganized Debtor shall own such personal property or equipment free and clear of any Lien, interest, or other encumbrance after such Related Party has recouped its investment in such personal property or equipment, plus an eight-percent (8%) return.

G. Effect of Confirmation.

Entry of the Confirmation Order shall constitute approval of the (a) rejections, (b) assumptions, or (c) assumptions and assignments, as the case may be, that are provided for in Article VIII of the Plan, in accordance with sections 365 and 1123 of the Bankruptcy Code as of the Effective Date, and a finding by the Bankruptcy Court that each such rejection, assumption, or assumption and assignment is in the best interests of the Debtors, their Estates, and all parties in interest in the Chapter 11 Cases.

ARTICLE XIII.
DISCHARGE, RELEASES, AND INJUNCTIONS

1. Binding Effect. The Plan shall be binding upon, and enforceable against, the Debtors and all holders of Claims, Demands, Equity Interests, or other interests (regardless of whether such holders agree to the Plan or whether such Claims, Demands, Equity Interests or other interests are impaired by the Plan), and their respective successors and assigns, including the Reorganized Debtor.

2. Title to Assets. Upon the Effective Date, pursuant to sections 1141(b) and (c) of the Bankruptcy Code, all property of the Estates shall vest in the Reorganized Debtor free and clear of all Claims, Liens, encumbrances, charges, and other interests created prior to the Effective Date, except as provided in the Plan and the other Plan Documents. b. Reservations. The provisions of this Asbestos Insurer Injunction shall not preclude the Reorganized Debtor or the Asbestos Trust, to the extent either has the right to do so, from pursuing any claim for Asbestos Insurance Coverage or any claim that may exist under any Asbestos Insurance Policy against any Asbestos Insurer. The provisions of this Asbestos Insurer Injunction shall not bar, impair, or affect (i) any Asbestos Insurance Litigation brought by the Asbestos Trust or any Debtor against any Asbestos Insurer, by the Asbestos Trust on behalf of the Reorganized Debtor, or by the Reorganized Debtor on behalf of the Asbestos Trust; (ii) any Asbestos Insurance Rights held or acquired by the Asbestos Trust or the Reorganized Debtor; or (iii) the rights of the Asbestos Trust to tender any Channeled Asbestos Claim or any action commenced under Section 4.13 of the Plan to a Non-Settled Asbestos Insurer for coverage, indemnity, or defense, or otherwise to invoke Asbestos Insurance Coverage with respect to a Non-Settled Asbestos Insurer. Except for the penultimate sentence of section 9.07(b) of the Plan, the provisions of this Asbestos Insurer Injunction are not issued for the benefit of any Asbestos Insurer and no such insurer is a third-party beneficiary of this Asbestos Insurer Injunction. The Asbestos Trust shall have the sole and exclusive authority at any time, upon written notice to any affected Asbestos Insurer, to terminate, or reduce or limit the scope of this Asbestos Insurer Injunction with respect to any Asbestos Insurer, including for the purpose of allowing any Channeled Asbestos Claimant to bring any Asbestos Insurance Policy Claim or Channeled Asbestos Claim against such Asbestos Insurer; provided, however, that the Asbestos Trust may not permit the assertion of any Asbestos Insurance Policy Claim or Channeled Asbestos Claim by a Channeled Asbestos Claimant against a Non-Settling Asbestos Insurer unless and until such Channeled Asbestos Claimant agrees in writing to stipulate to and be bound by the provisions of Section 4.14 of the Plan pertaining to the right of Non-Settling Asbestos Insurers to obtain a dollar-for-dollar reduction of any liability to such Channeled Asbestos Claimant based on the Non-Settling Asbestos Insurer's Asbestos Insurance Policy Claims against any and all Settling Asbestos Insurers that could have been asserted against such Settling Asbestos Insurers but for the Injunctions. For the avoidance of doubt, the provisions of this Asbestos Insurance Injunction shall not impair or affect any claims between or among Non-Settling Asbestos Insurers. Notwithstanding any provision of the Plan to the contrary, including this Asbestos Insurer Injunction, no new equitable contribution rights are created in favor of the Non-Settling Asbestos Insurers.

8. Term of Existing Injunctions or Stays. Unless otherwise provided in the Plan, all injunctions or stays issued or rendered in the Chapter 11 Cases, or in any adversary proceeding relating thereto, pursuant to section 105 or section 362 of the Bankruptcy Code, or otherwise, and in existence on the Confirmation Date, shall remain in full force and effect until the Effective Date.

9. Injunction Against Interference with Plan of Reorganization. Pursuant to sections 105(a) and 1142 of the Bankruptcy Code, on and after the Confirmation Date, all holders of Claims and Equity Interests, Affiliates, and other parties in interest, along with their respective present or former Agents shall be enjoined from taking any action to interfere with the implementation and Consummation of the Plan, except for actions necessary to attain judicial review.

10. Exculpation. None of the Plan Proponents, the members of the Asbestos Claimants Committee, or any of their respective employees, advisors, attorneys, financial advisors, accountants, agents, or other professionals retained with Bankruptcy Court approval, in their capacities as such, shall have or incur any liability to any Entity for any act or omission in connection with or arising out of the Chapter 11 Cases, including the negotiation of the Plan, pursuit of confirmation of the Plan, the Consummation of the Plan, the administration of the Plan, or the property to be distributed under the Plan, except for gross negligence or willful misconduct, and in all respects shall be entitled to rely upon the advice of counsel with respect to their duties and responsibilities under, or in connection with, the Plan.

11. Settlement and Release of Certain Avoidance Actions and Estate Causes of Action. Effective upon Consummation, each Debtor and the Reorganized Debtor hereby settle and fully, finally, and forever release, relinquish, and discharge (a) each and every Avoidance Action against a Protected Party; (b) each and every Avoidance Action against any holder of a Channeled Asbestos Claim (satisfied or pending) or any such holder's Agents; and (c) each and every Avoidance action against holders of Class 5 claims; and (d) any and all Estate Causes of Action against any Protected Party, holder of a Channeled Asbestos Claim (satisfied or pending), or any Agent of such holder. Such released Claims and Avoidance Actions shall in no event be asserted against or paid by the Asbestos Trust. The Plan constitutes a motion to approve the settlement of the foregoing Claims and Avoidance Actions pursuant to Bankruptcy Rule 9019(a).

12. Reservation of Rights. Except as otherwise specifically provided in the Plan, nothing herein shall constitute or be deemed a waiver of any claim, right, or cause of action that the Debtors, the Reorganized Debtor, or the Asbestos Trust may have against any Entity other than a Protected Party in connection with or arising out of a Channeled Asbestos Claim, and the Injunctions shall not apply to the assertion of any such claim, right, or cause of action by the Debtors, the Reorganized Debtor, or the Asbestos Trust.

ARTICLE XVI.
RISK FACTORS

Holders of Claims and Equity Interests should read and consider carefully the risk factors set forth below, as well as the other information set forth in this Disclosure Statement and the documents delivered together herewith, referred to or incorporated by reference herein, before voting to accept or reject the Plan. Although these risk factors are many, these factors should not be regarded as constituting the only risks present in connection with the Debtors' business or the Plan and their implementation.

A. Bankruptcy Considerations.

1. Failure to Receive Requisite Accepting Votes

In order for the Plan to be accepted, it must be accepted at least two-thirds (2/3) in dollar amount and more than one-half (1/2) in number of the holders of Class 6 Claims actually voting on the Plan, and by at least two-thirds (2/3 in dollar amount and seventy-five percent (75%) in number of the holders of Class 7 Claims that have voted on the Plan. If the requisite votes are not received from holders of Class 6 to accept the Plan, the Debtors may seek to confirm the Plan pursuant to section 1129(b) of the Bankruptcy Code. If sufficient votes are not received from holders of Class 6 Claims or Class 7 Claims, the Debtors may also seek to liquidate Debtors' bankruptcy estates in accordance with chapter 7 of the Bankruptcy Code. There can be no assurance that the terms of a liquidation under chapter 7 of the Bankruptcy Code would be similar to or as favorable to holders of Claims and Equity Interests as those proposed in the Plan. The Debtors believe that the financial results would not be as favorable to such holders in a proceeding under chapter 7 of the Bankruptcy Code. Significantly, the projected dividend payable to the holders of Allowed Claims under the Plan would be substantially diminished by virtue of weight of administrative expense claims against the estates. In addition, the effectiveness of the Plan is conditioned on closing an exit financing facility with Bank of America in order to fund the Debtors' payment to the Asbestos Trust and for working capital which would not be available in a chapter 7. Effectiveness of the Plan is also conditioned on the Hinden Family Members and Hinden Family Entities making a cash contribution to the Asbestos Trust, the Reorganized Debtor executing and delivering the Trust Note to the Asbestos Trust and affiliates of the Debtors executing and delivering mortgages on certain real estate to secure the Trust Note. None of these accommodations would be available in a chapter 7 liquidation.

2. Risk of Non-Confirmation of the Plan.

Although the Debtors believe that the Plan satisfies all legal requirements necessary for confirmation by the Bankruptcy Court, there can be no assurance that the Bankruptcy Court will confirm the Plan as proposed. There can also be no assurance that modifications of the Plan will not be required for confirmation or that such modifications would not necessitate a solicitation of votes to accept or reject the Plan. If the Plan is not confirmed and consummated, there can be no assurance that the Chapter 11 Cases will continue rather than be converted to a chapter 7 liquidation. The Bankruptcy Court, which sits as a court of equity, may exercise substantial discretion with respect to the affairs of the Debtors during the Chapter 11 Cases. Section 1129 of the Bankruptcy Code sets forth the requirements for confirmation of a plan and requires, among other things, that the value of distributions to dissenting creditors and shareholders not be less than the value of distributions such creditors and shareholders would receive if the Debtors were liquidated under chapter 7 of the Bankruptcy Code. Although the Debtors believe that the Plan will meet such tests, there can be no assurance that the Bankruptcy Court will reach the same conclusion.

Furthermore, although the Debtors believe that the Effective Date will occur soon after the Confirmation Date, there can be no assurance as to such timing. In addition, the Debtors could experience material adverse changes in their liquidity as a result of such delay. Moreover, the occurrence of the Effective Date is conditioned on the satisfaction (or waiver) of the conditions precedent specified herein, and there can be no assurance that such conditions will be satisfied or waived. In the event such conditions precedent have not been satisfied or waived (to the extent possible hereunder), then the Confirmation Order may be vacated, no Distributions will be made pursuant to the Plan, and the Debtors and all holders of Claims and Equity Interests will be restored to the status quo ante as of the day immediately preceding the Confirmation Date as though the Confirmation Date had never occurred.

3. The Debtors may object to the amount or classification of a Claim.

Except as otherwise provided in the Plan, the Debtors reserve the right to object to the amount or classification of any Claim under the Plan (except Channeled Asbestos Claims, which will be channeled and resolved by the Asbestos Trust.). The estimates set forth in this Disclosure Statement cannot be relied on by any holder of a Claim where such Claim is subject to an objection. Any holder of a Claim that is subject to an objection thus may not receive their expected share of the estimated distributions described in this Disclosure Statement.

4. Risk of Additional or Larger Claims.

The Disclosure Statement and its attached exhibits necessarily include estimates, including forecasts of future events. These estimates include, but are not limited to, estimates of future income and expenses, estimates as to the total amount of Claims that will be asserted against the Debtors and the outcome of Disputed Claims. The Debtors believe that the estimates presented are reasonable and appropriate under the circumstances. Nevertheless, there is a risk that unforeseen future events may cause one or more of these estimates to be materially inaccurate. Among the potential risks is additional Administrative Expense Claims may be asserted, that Disputed Claims may be resolved at higher amounts than expected or that the resolution of such Claims may require the expenditure of unanticipated professional fees. If one or more of these estimates proves to be inaccurate, the amount of funds available for Distribution pursuant to the Plan may be reduced.

B. Business Considerations

As a result of the consummation of the Plan and the transactions contemplated thereby, the financial condition and results of operations of the Reorganized Debtor from and after the Effective Date may not be comparable to the financial condition or results of operations reflected in the Debtors' historical financial statements.

C. Risks Related to Financial Information

The financial information is based on the Debtors' books and records and, unless otherwise stated, no audit was performed. This Disclosure Statement contains various projections concerning the financial results of the Reorganized Debtor; operations that are, by their nature, forward looking, and which projections are necessarily based on certain assumptions and estimates. Should any or all of these assumptions or estimates ultimately prove to be incorrect, the actual future experiences of the Reorganized Debtor may turn out to be different from the financial projections. Specifically, the projected financial results contained in this Disclosure Statement reflect numerous assumptions concerning the anticipated future performance of Reorganized Debtor, some of which may not materialize, including, without limitation, assumptions concerning: (a) the timing of Confirmation and Consummation of the Plan in accordance with their terms; (b) Reorganized Debtor's ability to maintain or increase revenues and gross margins, control future operating expenses or make necessary capital expenditures; (c) general business and economic conditions; (d) overall industry performance and trends; and (e) the Debtors' ability to maintain the loyalty of their customers.

The distribution projections and other information contained herein and attached hereto are estimates only. Therefore, any analyses, estimates or recovery projections may or may not turn out to be accurate. In addition, unanticipated events and circumstances occurring after the date the Plan may materially affect the actual financial results of the Reorganized Debtor's operations. These variations may be material and may adversely affect the ability of the Reorganized Debtor to make payments with respect to its indebtedness. Because the actual results achieved may vary from projected results, perhaps significantly, the projections should not be relied upon as a guaranty or other assurance of the actual results that will occur.

The contents of this Disclosure Statement should not be construed as legal, business or tax advice to any person. Each holder of a Claim or an Equity Interest should consult his or her own legal counsel and accountant with regard to any legal, tax and other matters concerning his or her Claim or Interest. This Disclosure Statement may not be relied upon for any purpose other than to determine how to vote on the Plan or whether to object to Confirmation of the Plan.

The information and statements contained in this Disclosure Statement will neither (a) constitute an admission of any fact or liability by any Entity (including, without limitation, any Debtor) nor (b) be deemed evidence of the tax or other legal effects of the Plan on the Debtors, the Reorganized Debtors, holders of Allowed Claims, Equity Interests or any other parties in interest.

No reliance should be placed on the fact that a particular litigation claim or projected objection to a particular Claim or Equity Interest is, or is not, identified in this Disclosure Statement. The Debtors or the Reorganized Debtor may seek to investigate, File and prosecute Claims and Interests and may object to Claims after the Confirmation or Effective Date of the Plan irrespective of whether the Disclosure Statement identifies such Claims or objections to Claims.

Counsel to and other advisors retained by the Debtors have relied upon information provided by the Debtors in connection with the preparation of this Disclosure Statement. Although counsel and other advisors retained by the Debtors have performed certain limited due diligence in connection with the preparation of this Disclosure Statement, they have not verified independently the information contained herein.

No representations concerning or relating to the Debtors, the Chapter 11 Cases or the Plan are authorized by the Bankruptcy Court or the Bankruptcy Code, other than as set forth in this Disclosure Statement. Any representations or inducements made to secure a creditor's acceptance or rejection of the Plan that are other than as contained in, or included with, this Disclosure Statement, should not be relied upon by the creditor in arriving at his or her decision. Creditors should promptly report unauthorized representations or inducements to counsel to the Debtors and the Office of the United States Trustee for the District of New Jersey.

D. No Duty to Update Disclosures

The Debtors have no duty to update the information contained in the Plan as of the date the Plan, unless otherwise specified herein, or unless the Debtors are required to do so pursuant to an Order of the Bankruptcy Court. Delivery of the Plan after the date of the Plan does not imply that the information contained herein has remained unchanged.

E. Alternatives to Confirmation and Consummation of the Plan

1. Alternate Plan

If the Plan is not confirmed, the Debtors or any other party in interest (if, pursuant to section 1121 of the Bankruptcy Code, the Debtors have not filed a plan within the time period prescribed under the Bankruptcy Code) could attempt to formulate and propose a different plan. Such a plan likely would result in additional costs, including, among other things, additional professional fees or potential asserted substantial contribution claims, all of which would likely constitute Administrative Expense Claims (subject to allowance). The additional costs may be so significant that one or more parties in interest could request that the Chapter 11 Cases be converted to chapter 7 of the Bankruptcy Code or dismissed. As discussed below, the Debtors believe holders of Claims will receive more under the Plan than they would under chapter 7 or if the Chapter 11 Cases were dismissed. Accordingly, the Debtors believe that the Plan enables creditors to realize the best return under the circumstances.

2. Chapter 7 Liquidation

If a plan pursuant to chapter 11 of the Bankruptcy Code is not confirmed by the Bankruptcy Court, the Chapter 11 Cases may be converted to liquidation cases under Chapter 7 of the Bankruptcy Code in which a trustee would be elected or appointed, pursuant to applicable provisions of Chapter 7 of the Bankruptcy Code, to liquidate the assets of the Debtors for distribution in accordance with the priorities established by the Bankruptcy Code. The Debtors believe that liquidation under Chapter 7 of the Bankruptcy Code of the Debtors' assets would result in substantial diminution in the value to be realized by holders of Claims as compared to distributions contemplated under the Plan. This is so because the Asbestos Claims against the Debtors could exceed the value of the Debtors' assets. Under the terms of the Plan, however, there will be substantially more assets available to pay claimants than there would be if there was no Plan and the Company was forced to pay Claims solely from its own assets. This is because the Hinden Family Entities and Hinden Family Members are contributing substantial assets to the Asbestos Trust as part of the Plan on behalf of themselves and other Protected Parties, in exchange for the protections provided to these parties under the Plan, which would not be contributed otherwise. Moreover, without the settlements and distribution procedures contained in the Plan and the Trust Distribution Procedures, there likely would be years of costly and time-consuming litigation which would further drain and any available assets.

ARTICLE XVII.
FEASIBILITY OF THE PLAN

As a condition to Confirmation, section 1129(a)(11) of the Bankruptcy Code requires that the Debtors show that confirmation is not likely to be followed by the liquidation of the Debtors or the need for further financial reorganization, unless such liquidation or reorganization is a component of the Plan. Based on the financial projections annexed hereto as Exhibit B, the Debtors believe that the Plan is feasible because, among other things, (i) the Debtors will be able to satisfy all of their obligations under the Plan, (ii) the Debtors' revenue from continuing operations will be sufficient to satisfy all ordinary course business expenses as such expenses come due, and (iii) Reorganized Debtor will be profitable and well capitalized as a result of the Senior Lending Facility and channeling of Asbestos Claims and Demands to the Asbestos Trust.

ALTHOUGH EVERY EFFORT WAS MADE TO BE ACCURATE, THE PROJECTIONS WERE NOT PREPARED WITH A VIEW TOWARD COMPLIANCE WITH THE GUIDELINES ESTABLISHED BY THE AMERICAN INSTITUTE OF CERTIFIED PUBLIC ACCOUNTS OR IN ACCORDANCE WITH GENERALLY ACCEPTED ACCOUNTING PRINCIPALS IN THE UNITED STATES, THE FINANCIAL ACCOUNTING STANDARDS BOARD, OR THE RULES AND REGULATIONS OF THE SECURITIES AND EXCHANGE COMMISSION REGARDING PROJECTIONS. FURTHERMORE, NEITHER THE DEBTORS' ACCOUNTANTS, NOR ANY OTHER ACCOUNTANTS, HAVE COMPILED, EXAMINED, OR PERFORMED ANY PROCEDURES WITH RESPECT TO THE PROJECTIONS CONTAINED HEREIN, NOR HAVE THEY EXPRESSED ANY OPINION OR ANY OTHER FORM OF ASSURANCE ON SUCH INFORMATION OR ITS ACHIEVABILITY, AND ASSUME NO RESPONSIBILITY FOR, AND DISCLAIM ANY ASSOCIATION WITH, THE PROSPECTIVE FINANCIAL INFORMATION. WHILE PRESENTED WITH NUMERICAL SPECIFICITY, THE PROJECTIONS ARE BASED ON A VARIETY OF ASSUMPTIONS, WHICH MAY NOT BE REALIZED, AND ARE SUBJECT TO SIGNIFICANT BUSINESS, ECONOMIC AND COMPETITIVE UNCERTAINTIES AND CONTINGENCIES, WHICH ARE BEYOND THE CONTROL OF THE DEBTORS. CONSEQUENTLY, THE PROJECTIONS SHOULD NOT BE REGARDED AS A REPRESENTATION OR WARRANTY BY ANY OF THE DEBTORS, OR ANY OTHER PERSON, THAT THE PROJECTIONS WILL BE REALIZED. ACTUAL RESULTS MAY VARY MATERIALLY FROM THOSE PRESENTED IN THE PROJECTIONS. HOLDERS OF CLAIMS MUST MAKE THEIR OWN DETERMINATION AS TO THE REASONABLENESS OF SUCH ASSUMPTIONS AND THE RELIABILITY OF THE PROJECTIONS IN REACHING THEIR DETERMINATIONS OF WHETHER TO ACCEPT OR REJECT THE PLAN. THE DEBTORS' FINANCIAL ADVISORS HAVE NOT EXPRESSED AN OPINION ON OR MADE A REPRESENTATION REGARDING THE ACHIEVABILITY OF THE FINANCIAL PROJECTIONS.

ARTICLE XVIII.
BEST INTERESTS TEST

Often called the "best interests of creditors" test, section 1129(a)(7) of the Bankruptcy Code requires that a Bankruptcy Court find, as a condition to confirmation of a chapter 11 plan, that the plan provides, with respect to each impaired class, that each holder of a claim or an interest in such class either (i) has accepted the plan or (ii) will receive or retain under the plan property of a value that is not less than the amount that such holder would receive or retain if the debtor liquidated under chapter 7 on the Effective Date. To make these findings, the Bankruptcy Court must: (a) estimate the cash liquidation proceeds that a chapter 7 trustee would generate if the Chapter 11 Case was converted to a chapter 7 case on the Effective Date and the assets of the Debtors' Estates were liquidated; (b) determine the liquidation distribution that each non-accepting holder of a Claim or an Interest would receive from such liquidation proceeds under the priority scheme dictated in chapter 7; and (c) compare the holder's liquidation distribution to the distribution under the Plan that the holder would receive if the Plan were confirmed and consummated.

A. The Liquidation Analysis

Amounts that holders of Claims in Impaired Classes would receive in a hypothetical chapter 7 liquidation are discussed in the liquidation analysis of the Debtors prepared by the Debtors' management with the assistance of their advisors (the "Liquidation Analysis"), which is attached hereto as Exhibit B.

As described in the Liquidation Analysis, the Debtors developed the Liquidation Analysis for the Debtors based on the unaudited book values as of August 31, 2018, unless otherwise noted in the Liquidation Analysis. The recoveries may change based on further refinements of Allowed Claims, as the Debtors' claim objection and reconciliation process continues.

As described in the Liquidation Analysis, underlying the analysis are a number of estimates and assumptions that, although developed and considered reasonable by the Debtors' management and advisors, are inherently subject to significant economic and competitive uncertainties and contingencies beyond the control of the Debtors and their management. The Liquidation Analysis is based on assumptions with regard to liquidation decisions that are subject to change. Accordingly, the values reflected in the Liquidation Analysis might not be realized if the Debtors were, in fact, to undergo a liquidation.

This Liquidation Analysis is solely for the purposes of (i) providing "adequate information" under section 1125 of the Bankruptcy Code to enable the holders of Claims and Interests entitled to vote under the Plan to make an informed judgment about the Plan and (ii) providing the Bankruptcy Court with appropriate support for the satisfaction of the "Best Interests Test" pursuant to section 1129(a)(7) of the Bankruptcy Code, and should not be used or relied upon for any other purpose, including the purchase or sale of securities of, or Claims or Interests in, the Debtors or any of their Affiliates.

Events and circumstances occurring subsequent to the date on which the Liquidation Analysis was prepared may be different from those assumed, or, alternatively, may have been unanticipated, and thus the occurrence of these events may affect financial results in a materially adverse or materially beneficial manner. The Debtors and the Combined Company do not intend to and do not undertake any obligation to update or otherwise revise the Liquidation Analysis to reflect events or circumstances existing or arising after the date the Liquidation Analysis is initially filed or to reflect the occurrence of unanticipated events. Therefore, the Liquidation Analysis may not be relied upon as a guarantee or other assurance of the actual results that will occur.

In deciding whether to vote to accept or reject the Plan, holders of Claims must make their own determinations as to the reasonableness of any assumptions underlying the Liquidation Analysis and the reliability of the Liquidation Analysis.

In this case, the Debtors' liquidation value would consist primarily of existing Non-Trust sources, i.e., the unencumbered and unrestricted Cash held by the Debtors at the time of the conversion to a chapter 7 liquidation and the proceeds resulting from the sale of the Debtors' remaining unencumbered assets and properties by a chapter 7 trustee. The gross Cash available for distribution would be reduced by the costs and expenses of the chapter 7 liquidation and any additional Administrative Claims that might arise as a result of the chapter 7 cases. Costs and expenses incurred as a result of the chapter 7 liquidation would further include, among other things, the fees payable to a trustee in bankruptcy and the fees payable to attorneys and other professionals engaged by such trustee. Additional Administrative Claims could arise by reason of the breach or rejection of obligations incurred and leases and executory contracts assumed or entered into by the Debtors during the pendency of the Chapter 11 Cases. Such Administrative Claims and Other Administrative Claims that might arise in a liquidation case or result from the pending Chapter 11 Cases, such as compensation for attorneys, financial advisors and accountants, would be paid in full from the liquidation proceeds before the balance of those proceeds would be made available to pay prepetition claims.

To determine if the Plan is in the best interests of each Impaired Class, the present value of the distributions from the proceeds of a liquidation of the Debtors' unencumbered assets and properties, after subtracting the estimated amounts attributable to the costs, expenses and Administrative Claims associated with a chapter 7 liquidation, must be compared with the value offered to such Impaired Classes under the Plan. If the hypothetical liquidation distribution to holders of Claims or Interests in any Impaired Class is greater than the distributions to be received by such parties under the Plan, then the Plan is not in the best interests of the holders of Claims or Interests in such Impaired Class.

B. Application of the Best Interests Test

The Debtors believe that the funding of the Asbestos Trust to be established by the Plan, the contributions to be made by the Company, the terms of the Channeling Injunction, the issues relating to insurance coverage, the indemnification provisions and the ,continued operation of the Debtors as a going concern satisfies the Best Interests Test for the Impaired Classes. Notwithstanding the difficulties in quantifying recoveries to holders of Claims and Interests with precision, the Debtors believe that, based on the Liquidation Analysis, the Plan meets the Best Interests Test. As the Plan and the Liquidation Analysis indicate, confirmation of the Plan will provide each holder of an Allowed Claim in an Impaired Class with a greater recovery than the value of any distributions if the Chapter 11 Cases were converted to cases under chapter 7 of the Bankruptcy Code.

Although the Debtors believe that the Plan meets the "best interests test" of section 1129(a)(7) of the Bankruptcy Code, there can be no assurance that the Bankruptcy Court will determine that the Plan meets this test.

ARTICLE XIX.
TAX CONSEQUENCES

CIRCULAR 230 DISCLAIMER

To ensure compliance with requirements imposed by the Internal Revenue Service (the "IRS"), the Debtors inform all creditors that any U.S. federal tax advice contained in this communication (including any attachments) is not intended or written to be used, and cannot be used, for the purpose of (i) avoiding tax-related penalties under the Internal Revenue Code or (ii) promoting, marketing or recommending to another party any transaction or tax-related matter(s) addressed herein

Confirmation may have federal income tax consequences for the Debtors and holders of Claims or Equity Interests. The Debtors have not obtained and do not intend to request a ruling from the Internal Revenue Service, nor have the Debtors obtained an opinion of counsel with respect to any tax matters. Any federal income tax matters raised by Confirmation of the Plan are governed by the Internal Revenue Code and the regulations promulgated thereunder. The following is intended to be a summary only and not a substitute for careful tax planning with a tax professional. The federal, state and local tax consequences of the Plan may be complex in some circumstances and, in some cases, uncertain. Accordingly, each holder of a Claim or Interest is strongly urged to consult with his or her own tax advisor regarding the federal, state, local and foreign tax consequences of the Plan.

A. Compliance with Tax Requirements.

In connection with the Plan, the Debtors will comply with all withholding and reporting requirements imposed by Federal, State, local or foreign taxing authorities. Under section 1146(a) of the Bankruptcy Code and applicable New Jersey State law, the issuance, transfer, or exchange of a security, or the making or delivery of an instrument of transfer under the Plan will not be taxed under any law imposing a stamp tax or similar tax. Upon request, Claim holders must provide the Reorganized Debtors with a tax identification number or similar information.

B. Tax Consequences to the Debtors.

The Debtors may not recognize income as a result of the discharge of debt pursuant to the Plan because section 108 of the Internal Revenue Code provides that taxpayers in bankruptcy proceedings do not recognize income from the discharge of debt. However, a taxpayer is required to reduce its "tax attributes" by the amount of the debt discharged. Tax attributes are reduced in the following order: (i) net operating losses; (ii) general business credits; (iii) capital loss carryovers; (iv) basis in assets; and (v) foreign tax credits.

C. Tax Consequences to Holders of Claims or Equity Interests.

The confirmation and consummation of the Plan may have tax consequences to holders of Claims and Equity Interests. The Debtors do not offer an opinion as to any federal, state, local or other tax consequences to holders of Claims and Equity Interests as a result of the confirmation of the Plan. All holders of Claims and Equity Interests are urged to consult with their own tax advisors to ascertain the federal, state, local and foreign tax consequences of the Plan. The Plan is not intended, and should not be construed, as legal or tax advice to any Creditor, Interest holder, or any other party in interest.

DISCLAIMER

Holders of Claims or Interests should not rely on this Disclosure Statement with respect to the tax consequences of the Plan. Creditors should consult with their own tax counsel or advisor. The discussion of tax consequences in this Disclosure Statement is not intended as a complete discussion or analysis of all tax consequences of the Plan.

11. Reservation of Rights. If the Plan is not confirmed by a Final Order, or if the Plan is confirmed and does not become effective, the rights of all parties in interest in the Chapter 11 Cases are and shall be reserved in full. Any concessions or settlements reflected herein, if any, are made for purposes of the Plan only, and if the Plan does not become effective, no party in interest in the Chapter 11 Cases shall be bound or deemed prejudiced by any such concession or settlement. Moreover, if the Plan does not become effective, no party in interest in the Chapter 11 Cases shall be bound or prejudiced by any representation, written or oral, made by any party in connection with the Plan or the negotiation or prosecution of the Plan, including the representations made in the Plan, the Disclosure Statement, the other Plan Documents, or the Confirmation Order.

12. Further Assurances. The Debtors, the Reorganized Debtor, the Protected Parties, the Asbestos Trust, all Entities receiving Distributions under the Plan, and all other parties in interest shall, and shall be authorized to, from time to time, prepare, execute, and deliver any agreements or documents and take any other action consistent with the terms of the Plan as may be necessary to effectuate the provisions and intent of the Plan, with each such Entity to bear its own costs incurred after the Effective Date in connection therewith.

On and after the Effective Date, the Reorganized Debtor and the Asbestos Trust may seek such orders, judgments, injunctions, and rulings that any of them deem necessary to carry out further the intentions and purposes of, and to give full effect to the provisions of, the Plan or any of the other Plan Documents, with each such Entity to bear its own costs in connection therewith.

ARTICLE XXI.
RECOMMENDATION

THE DEBTORS RECOMMEND THAT CREDITORS VOTE TO "ACCEPT" THE PLAN. THE DEBTORS BELIEVE THAT CONFIRMATION OF THE PLAN IS PREFERABLE TO ANY OF THE ALTERNATIVES DESCRIBED ABOVE AND THAT THE PLAN IS DESIGNED TO PROVIDE GREATER RECOVERIES THAN THOSE AVAILABLE IN ANY OTHER FORM OF LIQUIDATION. ANY OTHER ALTERNATIVE WOULD CAUSE SIGNIFICANT DELAY AND UNCERTAINTY, AS WELL AS ADDITIONAL ADMINISTRATIVE COSTS.

FINANCIAL PROJECTIONS AND LIQUIDATION ANALYSIS

EXHIBIT __

LIQUIDATION ANALYSIS

The Debtors prepared this Liquidation Analysis in connection with the Disclosure Statement for the purpose of evaluating whether the Plan meets the "best interest of creditors" test of section 1129(a)(7) of the Bankruptcy Code. The Debtor believes that the Plan meets this test and that the members of each impaired class of Claims and Interests that have not voted to accept the Plan or that are deemed to have rejected the Plan will receive under the Plan at least as much as they would if the Debtor was liquidated under chapter 7 of the Bankruptcy Code.

In determining whether the best interests of creditors test has been met, the first step is to estimate the amount of proceeds that would be realized if the Debtor was liquidated in accordance with chapter 7 of the Bankruptcy Code. The second step is to reduce the available proceeds by (i) the various costs and expenses of liquidation, including the statutory fees of the chapter 7 trustee and the fees and expenses of the trustee's professionals, (ii) the amount of any Secured Claims, and (iii) the amount of such additional administrative expenses and priority claims that may exist or result from the termination of the Chapter 11 Case and liquidation under chapter 7 of the Bankruptcy Code. After these various reductions, any remaining funds would be allocated to holders of Claims and Interests in strict priority in accordance with section 726 of the Bankruptcy Code.

Conversion to chapter 7 would substantially impact the costs and efficiency of administering the Asbestos Claims compared to the Asbestos Trust proposed in the Plan. Chapter 7 of the Bankruptcy Code contains no provision for establishing a trust or other efficient means to resolve the Asbestos Claims. Under chapter 7, the Asbestos Claims would need to be resolved through litigation, and the trustee would need to engage litigation counsel to defend and liquidate those claims. This differs significantly from the Plan, which proposes to establish the Asbestos Trust to resolve such claims through the Asbestos Trust Distribution Procedures. Since personal injury tort claims cannot be resolved in the Bankruptcy Court, the Asbestos Claims would have to be litigated in one or more other courts. The resulting litigation to resolve the various Asbestos Claims is likely to be more costly and time-consuming than the Asbestos Trust to be established under the Plan.

In all likelihood, conversion to chapter 7 would result in a considerably longer process for resolving all of the Asbestos Claims and in substantially less funds being available to distribute to creditors after paying for (i) litigation counsel to defend the Asbestos Claims, (ii) insurance coverage professionals to monetize the Asbestos Insurance Rights, (iii) the chapter 7 trustee's statutory fees and expenses, and (iv) other chapter 7 costs of administration. Based upon the foregoing, the Debtor believes that the Plan offers more value to holders of Asbestos Claims than would result from a liquidation under chapter 7 of the Bankruptcy Code.

Debtor.	)	Honorable Jack B. Schmetterer

DECLARATION OF BRIAN BASTIEN,
PRESIDENT AND CHIEF EXECUTIVE OFFICER FOR THE DEBTOR, IN SUPPORT OF FIRST DAY PLEADINGS

I, Brian Bastien, hereby declare under penalty of perjury under the laws of the United States, pursuant to 28 U.S.C. §1746, that the following is true and correct (the "Declaration"):

1. I am the President, Treasurer, Assistant Secretary, and Chief Executive Officer for The Budd Company, Inc. ("Budd", or the "Debtor"), a Michigan corporation headquartered in Chicago, Illinois. I am one of three members of the Board of Directors (the "Board") of the Debtor. I am generally familiar with the Debtor's assets, business and financial affairs, and books and records.

2. Except as otherwise indicated, all facts set forth herein are based upon: (a) my personal knowledge; (b) information learned from my review of relevant documents; or (c) information supplied to me by other members of the Debtor's management, the Debtor's advisors, the Debtor's professionals, or advisors, employees, or professionals of certain of the Debtor's affiliates. I am authorized to submit this Declaration on behalf of the Debtor, and, if called upon to testify, I could and would testify competently to the facts set forth herein.

3. The Debtor has a long history of manufacturing related to the automobile and other industries. However, the Debtor ceased all manufacturing activity in 2006, divested itself of its last operating subsidiary in 2012, and no longer generates revenue (directly or indirectly) from manufacturing or other operations.

4. The Debtor has no employees, and its ordinary course of business currently consists of satisfying legacy and other liabilities. The Debtor has approximately $384 million in cash, is current on all of its current liabilities, and pays its obligations as they come due.

5. Although the Debtor has some environmental and asbestos related liabilities, the vast majority of the Debtor's creditors are its former employees, and the vast majority of the Debtor's liabilities (by dollar amount) arise from medical, pension, and other post-retirement obligations owed to its former employees. Net of applicable insurance (discussed below), Budd had, as of September 30, 2013, approximately $1.2 billion in book-value liabilities on its books, consisting substantially of the following:

Type of Liability	Approximate Number of Creditors	Approximate Amount of Liabilities
Retiree Pension / SERP	10,000[2]	$211 million
Retiree Medical and OPEB	5,900	$933 million
Product Liability / Asbestos	356	$23 million (net of insurance)
Environmental	10	$8 million
Workers Compensation[3]	66	$4.5 million

6. The Debtor commenced this case (the "Chapter 11 Case") to liquidate in a manner that will provide its stakeholders with transparency, serve the best interests of its creditors, and provide fair and equitable treatment to all of its creditors. The Debtor commenced this Chapter

[2] This includes approximately 8,000 retirees currently receiving pension payments, the remainder of which are vested, but not yet receiving payments.

[3] As described below, ThyssenKrupp North America, Inc. ("TKNA"), an Affiliate, recently assumed all of the Debtor's workers' compensation liabilities under the Prepetition Agreement (as defined below).

11 Case principally because it realized that its significant cash assets likely will be insufficient to satisfy its long-term liabilities, the vast majority of which are owed to its retirees.

7. A principal benefit of the Debtor liquidating in chapter 11 is the treatment afforded to retirees by chapter 11. As described below: (a) the Company is seeking appointment of a Retirees Committee (as defined below) to represent the interest of its retirees; (b) the Company expects that it will pay the costs of the Retirees Committee, pursuant to order of the Court; and (c) the Company will continue to pay benefits to its retirees as required by Section 1114 of the Bankruptcy Code until order of the Court to the contrary.

8. The Debtor believes that all unsecured creditors (including retirees) will significantly benefit from a settlement agreement (the "Settlement Agreement") that the Debtor negotiated with its Affiliates (used herein as defined in the Settlement Agreement) prior to the Petition Date (defined below), and of which the Debtor currently is seeking approval of this Court. The Settlement Agreement provides for, among other things, the Debtor's Affiliates to assume all of the Debtor's pension plan liabilities. The Settlement Agreement is attached as an exhibit to the Settlement Motion (defined below), and the Settlement Agreement (and its expected benefits to the Debtor's estate) are described in greater detail in both: (a) the Settlement Motion; and (b) the declaration of Mr. Charles Moore, Chief Restructuring Officer (the "CRO") of the Debtor, attached to the Settlement Motion.

9. The CRO estimates that the Settlement Agreement, if approved by the Court, will result in significant benefit to unsecured creditors, perhaps increasing unsecured creditor recoveries in this case by up to 50%. As described in the Settlement Motion, the Settlement Agreement provides for the Debtor's Affiliates (in addition to assuming the Debtor's pension plan liabilities) to pay the Debtor $10.3 million and release the Debtor of claims that the independent CRO believes are worth tens of millions of dollars.

10. To enable the Debtor to commence the tasks relating to the administration of this Chapter 11 Case, to facilitate creditor participation in the Chapter 11 Case, and to maximize recoveries on account of the Debtor's assets, the Debtor has requested various types of relief in "first day" pleadings and applications (each, a "First Day Pleading") described below.[4] I am familiar with the contents of each First Day Pleading (including the exhibits and schedules thereto) and I believe that the relief sought in each First Day Pleading best serves the Debtor's estate and the interests of its creditors.

I. Commencement of the Chapter 11 Case

11. On the date hereof (the "Petition Date"), the Debtor filed a voluntary petition for relief under chapter 11 of title 11 of the United States Code (11 U.S.C. §§ 101 et seq., the "Bankruptcy Code"), commencing the Chapter 11 Case.

II. Budd's Corporate History and Relationship with its Affiliates

12. In 1978, ThyssenKrupp AG ("TKAG") acquired Budd. Budd currently is a wholly owned subsidiary of ThyssenKrupp North America, Inc. ("TKNA"), which is a direct subsidiary of TKAG. Thus, Budd is a member of the global TKAG group. The TKAG group operates in almost 80 countries, employs over 150,000 people world-wide, and generates sales of approximately $50 billion annually. TKNA and its approximately 37 subsidiaries located in the United States generate annual revenue of over $7 billion.

13. As a member of the TKAG group, Budd has a number of operational ties to Affiliates. Historically, three primary agreements governed the operational relationships between Budd and its Affiliates:

[4] Capitalized terms used but not otherwise defined herein shall have the meanings ascribed to them in the relevant First Day Pleading.

a. The Special Services Agreement dated as of March 31, 2007, by and between ThyssenKrupp USA, Inc. ("TK USA", predecessor to TKNA) and Budd (the "Services Agreement"), and as amended and restated on or about March 26, 2014 in connection with the Prepetition Agreement (the "Amended Services Agreement");

b. The Revolving Credit and Short-Term Borrowing Agreement dated as of September 1, 2007, by and between ThyssenKrupp Finance USA, Inc. ("TK Finance") and Budd (the "Cash Management Agreement"); and

c. The Tax Sharing Agreement made and effective as of October 1, 2004, by and among Budd and certain Affiliates (the "Tax Sharing Agreement"), and as amended as to Budd on or about March 26, 2014 in connection with the Prepetition Agreement (the "Amended Tax Sharing Agreement").

14. Budd and the Affiliates also have consolidated operational responsibility for certain of their pension obligations. Budd sponsors the following pension plans:

a. The Budd-UAW Consolidated Retirement Benefit Plan (the "UAW Plan");

b. The Budd Company Pension Plan for Executive and Administrative Employees (the "E&A Plan", and together with the UAW Plan, the "ERISA Pension Plans"); and

c. a supplemental non-ERISA[5] pension plan, The Budd Company Supplemental Pension Plan (the "SERP" and, together with the ERISA Pension Plans, the "Pension Plans").

15. The assets for the ERISA Pension Plans are held in a master trust, with trust assets on deposit at Bank of New York Mellon. The ERISA Pension Plans hold an allocable interest in the assets of the master trust. Budd and certain of the Affiliates, including TKNA, are members of the same controlled group for determining liability under ERISA. As a result, if the ERISA Pension Plans are terminated, those Affiliates would become jointly and severally liable for underfunding of the ERISA Pension Plans. Controlled group liability would not apply to the non-ERISA qualified SERP in the event of its termination.

[5] The Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974 (ERISA), 29 U.S.C.A. § 1001 et seq. (1974).

16. In 2006, Budd sold and/or closed substantially all of its operations, including by: (a) selling its subsidiary, ThyssenKrupp Stahl (aluminum foundries) to Speyside Equity, LLC; (b) selling its plastics materials manufacturing and molding operations to Continental Structural Plastics Inc.; (c) selling its North American automotive body and chassis operations to Martinrea International Inc.; and (d) closing its Detroit plant.

17. In 2012, Budd sold stock of its sole remaining operating facility, the Waupaca foundry operations, to KPS Capital Partners LP. In connection with and after the sale of the Waupaca facility, Budd reviewed its books and analyzed its financial ability to satisfy its legacy liabilities. It was this review that led to Budd's Investigation (discussed below) and, ultimately, commencement of the Chapter 11 Case.

III. Commencement of the Investigation

18. To determine the most effective method of completing Budd's controlled liquidation, in the Spring of 2013, the Board: (a) determined an investigation was an appropriate exercise of its fiduciary duties; and (b) commenced an independent investigation (the "Investigation") into claims and causes of action between Budd, on the one hand, and the Affiliates, on the other hand (the "Affiliate Claims"). To avoid any actual or potential conflict of interest, or even the perception of a possible conflict of interest, the Board put into place a number of measures to ensure the independence and integrity of the Investigation.

19. In May 2013, the Board tasked Mr. Moore as CRO to head the Investigation, and authorized the utilization of Conway MacKenzie Management Services, LLC ("Conway") as crisis manager to assist the CRO in the Investigation. The Board authorized the retention of Dickinson Wright PLLC ("Dickinson") as independent special counsel for purposes of assisting the CRO to conduct the Investigation. Neither Conway, Mr. Moore, nor Dickinson has a meaningful relationship with any Affiliate, other than by virtue of their work for Budd.

20. Budd also instituted significant governance changes. On May 22, 2013, Budd appointed Charles Sweet as independent director to the Board (the "Independent Director"). Mr. Sweet had no previous connections with Budd or any Affiliate. The Board also issued a unanimous resolution requiring the approval and consent of the Independent Director to: (a) negotiate, settle, compromise, or otherwise resolve any claim or cause of action between Budd, on the one hand, and the Affiliates, on the other; (b) commence the prosecution of any cause of action against the Affiliates; or (c) waive the attorney-client privilege with respect to any cause of action against the Affiliates.

21. The CRO commenced the Investigation in or around May 2013. The Investigation led the CRO to negotiate the Settlement Agreement and a related Prepetition Agreement (used herein as defined in the Settlement Motion), which the CRO recommended that the Board approve.

22. On May 26, 2013, the Board (including with the affirmative approval and consent of the Independent Director): (a) approved the Settlement Agreement and the Prepetition Agreement, which was negotiated and executed in connection with the Settlement Agreement; and (b) authorized and directed that the Prepetition Agreement be executed and performed.

23. The Prepetition Agreement became effective on May 26, 2014 and has been consummated. Between March 26th and the Petition Date, I coordinated Budd's receipt of approximately $384 million of cash from TK Finance, as required by the Prepetition Agreement.

24. The scope and results of the Investigation, as well as the benefits of the Prepetition Agreement and the Settlement Agreement, are described in great detail in the Settlement Motion and the CRO declaration attached thereto.

IV. The Debtor's Current Operations

25. Largely because it does not engage in manufacturing operations, the Debtor currently has no employees. The Debtor is directed by its Board, which currently consists of: (a) me; (b) Heinz Hense, an employee of the TK group who is based in Germany; and (c) Charles Sweet, the Independent Director. In addition to my role at Budd, I currently am employed by Component Technologies, which is an Affiliate.

26. Because the Debtor has no employees, to conduct its day to day operations it relies upon: (a) employees of Affiliates working under the Amended Services Agreement; and (b) a variety of ordinary course professionals and vendors.

27. The individuals who provide services to the Debtor pursuant to the Amended Services Agreement have significant operational and historical knowledge of the Debtor, including as to the Debtor's legacy and other liabilities. If the Debtor did not receive services under the Amended Services Agreement, I would have to hire multiple employees or retain multiple different professionals or professional services in order to operate the Debtor in the ordinary course of business, and to administer this Chapter 11 Case.

28. The professionals, vendors, and service providers that the Debtor uses in the ordinary course of its business consist substantially of the following: (a) Towers Watson, who provides actuarial services to the Debtor; (b) Benefits Outsourcing Solutions, who administers certain of the Debtor's retiree benefits; (c) Blue Cross Blue Shield of Michigan, who administers retiree medical benefits to the Debtor's retirees; (d) Unicare Life and Health Insurance Company, who administers life, dental, vision, and hearing retiree benefits; (e) CVS Caremark, who provides prescription benefits services to the Debtor's retirees; (f) Silverscript Insurance Company, who provides retiree prescription drug plans; (g) the law firm of Stevenson Keppelman and Associates, who represents the Debtor with respect to pension, ERISA, and other issues; (h) the law firm Montgomery, McCracken, Walker & Rhoades, who represents the Debtor with respect to its environmental claims and remediation obligations; (i) the law firm Butzel Long, a Professional Corporation, that represents the Debtor in asbestos related lawsuits and coordinates the Debtor's asbestos litigation strategy and its asbestos attorneys nationwide; and (j) a variety of law firms across the country who represent the Debtor in asbestos related lawsuits.

29. Prior to TKNA assuming the Debtor's workers' compensation claims, the Debtor used Gallagher Bassett Services, Inc. to administer its workers' compensation obligations.

30. The Debtor generally spends between $4 million and $5 million per month on retiree benefits and payment to the vendors, professionals, and benefits providers described above. Other than contribution payments required under or in connection with the Pension Plans, these payments constitute materially all of Budd's ordinary course expenditures.

V. The Debtor's Assets

31. As of the Petition Date, substantially all of the Debtor's material assets consist of: (a) approximately $384 million cash; (b) a long term tax attribute recorded on the Debtor's balance sheet (the "Tax Attribute"), which I believe has no actual value; (c) interests in insurance policies, including substantial insurance policies to cover asbestos liability claims; and (d) the Debtor's interests in the Settlement Agreement.

32. A substantial portion of the Debtor's ordinary course expenditures are payment of retiree benefits, and thus are deductible under applicable provisions of the Internal Revenue Code (the "Tax Code"). In the past, when the Debtor generated income from operations, the Debtor was able to deduct from its otherwise taxable income portions of payments made on account of retiree benefits, and thus recognize value on account of the Tax Attribute (as it existed at any point in time). At some points in the past, even if the Debtor did not have income from operations against which losses could be offset, Affiliates were able to use the Debtor's tax attributes under the Tax Sharing Agreement, and would pay Budd in cash on account of their use of the Debtor's tax attributes. Under current facts and circumstances (i.e., because (a) the Debtor no longer generates a meaningful amount of taxable income, (b) the Debtor will not in the future generate a meaningful amount of taxable income, (c) the amount of losses already available to Affiliates that would have to be exhausted before Affiliates could attempt to recognize value on account of the Tax Attribute, and (d) by operation of the Tax Sharing Agreement) the Tax Attribute has little or no actual value to the Debtor. The Tax Sharing Agreement is discussed in the Settlement Motion.

33. The value of the Settlement Agreement is described in great detail in the Settlement Motion.

VI. The Debtor's Liabiities

34. As summarized in the chart above, the Debtor has approximately $1.2 billion of known liabilities.

35. The Debtor currently provides health care and other benefits (the "Retiree Benefits") to approximately 5,900 of its retired employees and/or their respective spouses, surviving spouses, domestic partners, and dependents (collectively, the "Retirees") pursuant to certain ERISA qualified welfare plans. The actuarial value of liabilities associated with the Budd Retire Benefits is approximately $933 million, as set forth in greater detail below and in the Retirees Committee Motion (defined below).

36. Approximately 10,000 former employees are vested to participate in the Pension Plans. Budd is current on all of its funding obligations under the Pension Plans. However, as of February 28, 2014: (a) the book value of the ERISA Pension Plans' underfunding was approximately $197 million (on a going concern basis); and (b) the Debtor had an estimated book-value liability under the SERP of approximately $12 million. Each month, the Debtor pays approximately $95,000 in benefits under the SERP. The Debtor's next minimum funding contribution payment under the ERISA Pension Plans is due July 15, 2014 in the amount of approximately $3.9 million. As described in detail in the Settlement Motion, TKNA will assume all of the Debtor's sponsorship, administrative, and payment obligations under the Pension Plans if the Settlement Agreement is approved and becomes effective.

37. As a result of its historic manufacturing operations, the Debtor has known (and perhaps unknown) environmental liabilities: (a) arising under the federal Superfund law ("CERCLA") and/or under various state and local environmental laws and regulations (possibly including common law); and (b) arising under and/or memorialized by consent decrees, cost sharing agreements, consent orders, settlement agreements, and other documents executed by or otherwise binding upon the Debtor. The Debtor is not currently engaged in any manufacturing activities, does not own or lease any real property, and believes that it is current on all of its known environmental liability obligations. Accordingly, the Debtor believes that all of its environmental liabilities are contingent, unliquidated, and/or disputed.

38. As of the Petition Date, the Debtor was a defendant in approximately 356 actions pending before state and federal district courts asserting claims based upon asbestos-related diseases or conditions. In the ordinary course of business, new asbestos-related suits are filed against Budd. The Debtor has interests in myriad insurance policies, some dating back decades,[6] that provide varying levels of coverage against asbestos-related claims, and uses its cash assets and insurance interests to both: (a) aggressively defend itself from asbestos-related suits; and (b) pay asbestos-related judgments and settlements. Historically, (a) a significant majority of the asbestos-related lawsuits filed against the Debtor have been withdrawn, dismissed, or otherwise resulted in no liability for the Debtor; and (b) the remaining have been resolved for a relatively small amount.

39. The Debtor has now and may in the future incur obligations to former employees that were injured in the course of employment for the Debtor (whether liquidated, known, unknown, or otherwise, collectively "Workers Compensation Claims"). As of March 1, 2014, Workers Compensation Claims known to Budd consisted of approximately 66 claims arising under laws of the States of Kentucky, Michigan, Ohio, Pennsylvania, and Tennessee having a book-value liability of approximately $4.5 million. Amounts drawn under the letters of credit could have been offset against Budd's cash, under the terms of the Cash Management Agreement. Under the Prepetition Agreement, TKNA: (a) on account of the Workers' Compensation Claims, reduced by $4.5 million the Short Term Borrowings (cash) remitted to Budd and, in connection therewith; (b) assumed all Workers Compensation Claims; (c) agreed to make all payments due on account of Workers Compensation Claims in the ordinary course of its business; and (d) agreed to indemnify and hold harmless Budd, its officers, directors, agents, professionals, and legal representatives to the fullest extent permitted by law from and against any losses, claims, damages, obligations, penalties, judgments, awards, fees (including legal fees), costs, disbursements or liabilities relating to or arising out of Workers Compensation Claims.

VII. Events Leading to Commencement of the Chapter 11 Case and Purpose for Filing

40. Shortly after approval of the Settlement Agreement and execution and performance of the Prepetition Agreement, the Board determined that the best interests of the Debtor's creditors would be served by the Debtor commencing the Chapter 11 Case to, among other things: (a) prosecute the Settlement Motion; (b) file the Retirees Committee Motion in order to negotiate with retiree representatives regarding modification of certain retiree obligations; and (c) subsequently seek to negotiate and confirm a chapter 11 plan to provide fair and equitable treatment to all of the Debtor's creditors.

41. The Debtor will continue to honor without interruption obligations to its Retirees in accordance with section 1114 of the Bankruptcy Code, and at this time does not expect to modify those obligations prior to the effective date of a chapter 11 plan. The Debtor believes that this is a favorable outcome for Retirees, who will continue to receive benefits uninterrupted while a Retirees Committee (expenses of which Budd expects to pay in accordance with any orders of the Court) negotiates on their behalf. By commencing the Chapter 11 Case now, while the Debtor has approximately $384 million in cash, the Debtor hopes to provide Retirees and other creditors with significant cash distributions on account of their allowable claims. Among other things, this will allow Retirees to use that cash (or any other form of consideration they may receive under a chapter 11 plan) to make informed decisions about their health care and retirement.

42. It is for this reason that the Debtor believed it prudent, if not essential, to commence this Chapter 11 Case now. The Debtor anticipates that the structure and transparency of the Chapter 11 Case will provide a forum to achieve equitable and expedient resolutions of all of its outstanding issues.

43. The Debtor hopes and expects that discussions regarding a consensual chapter 11 plan will proceed productively and in good faith so that a chapter 11 plan that fairly and equitably treats all creditors can be confirmed.

VIII. Retirees Committee Motion

44. Concurrently with the Petition, the Debtor filed the Debtor's Motion For Entry of an Order: (1) Directing the United States Trustee to Appoint a Retirees Committee; and (2) Approving Retirees Committee Selection Procedures (the "Retirees Committee Motion").

45. For purposes of the Retires Committee Motion, the Retirees are categorized into two groups: (a) former employees, or their respective spouses, surviving spouses, domestic partners, and dependents (the "UAW Retirees"), who worked in an employment unit covered by a collective bargaining agreement ("CBA") and/or a plant closing agreement between the Debtor and the International Union, United Automobile, Aerospace and Agricultural Implement Workers of America and its Local Unions ("UAW"); and (b) former full-time management and other salaried individuals who did not work in an employment unit covered by a CBA between the Debtor and the UAW, and their respective spouses, surviving spouses, domestic partners, and dependents (the "Non-Union Retirees").

46. As of the Petition Date: (a) approximately 4,691, or approximately 80%, of the Retirees were UAW Retirees; and (b) the actuarial value of the Retiree Benefits owed to the UAW Retirees was approximately $830.5 million.

47. Pursuant to certain CBAs and national insurance plans (together, the "National Insurance Plans") which are attached as exhibits to, and explicitly incorporated by reference within, each respective national collective bargaining agreement (together, the "National Agreements"), the UAW Retirees receive the following benefits: (a) medical, prescription-drug, dental, vision, and hearing benefits; and (b) life insurance, which constitute welfare benefits under ERISA.

48. The National Agreements, along with each corresponding National Insurance Plan, were negotiated so as to continue in effect for periods ranging from three to five years.

Around the expiration of each National Agreement, the terms and conditions of the subsequent National Agreement were re-negotiated. This process continued until 2001, when the Debtor and UAW entered into the last National Agreement, which was given an expiration date of October 28, 2005. All of Budd's CBAs have expired by their own terms.

49. As of the Petition Date: (a) approximately 1,209, or approximately 20%, of the Retirees were Non-Union Retirees; and (b) the actuarial value of the Retiree Benefits owed to Non-Union Retirees was approximately $101.5 million.[7] The Non-Union Retirees life insurance, as well as medical, prescription-drug, dental, vision, and hearing benefits pursuant to benefits plans that constitute welfare plans under ERISA

50. The Debtor strongly believes that it is in the best interests of the Debtor's estate, the Retirees, and judicial economy that the Debtor engage in discussions regarding modification of Retiree Benefits with authorized representatives of both UAW Retirees and Non-Union Retirees (if not together, then on parallel tracks). Moreover, the Debtor believes there is no reason to delay these discussions, which should begin as soon as practicable, and that there is potential prejudice to Retirees if discussions are significantly delayed.

51. I believe that the Selection Procedures are useful and appropriate.

IX. Motion to Approve Settlement Agreement

52. Concurrently with the Petition, the Debtor filed the Debtor's Motion to Approve Affiliate Settlement Agreement Pursuant to Section 105 of the Bankruptcy Code and Rule 9019 of the Federal Rules of Bankruptcy Procedure (the "Settlement Motion").

53. The Settlement Agreement is one of two agreements memorializing a global settlement (the "Settlement") between Budd, on the one hand, and TKNA, on behalf of TKNA and the other Affiliates, on the other hand. Budd and the Affiliates also are party to the Prepetition Agreement, which is the second agreement memorializing the Settlement.

54. The Settlement was negotiated on behalf of Budd by the CRO and approved by the Board, including by the affirmative vote of the Independent Director. The Settlement Agreement and the Prepetition Agreement were negotiated and executed at the same time and in connection with each other, and provide Budd and its estate with significant value.

X. Cash Management Motion

55. Concurrently with the Petition, the Debtor filed the Debtor's Motion for Entry of Interim and Final Orders Authorizing Maintenance of Existing Bank Accounts, Continued Use of Existing Business Forms, Continued Use of Existing Cash Management System and For Related Relief (the "Cash Management Motion").

56. As of the Petition Date, the Debtor's centralized cash management system (the "Cash Management System") consists of: (a) an investment account (the "Investment Account") at Fidelity Brokerage Services, LLC, opened in advance of the Petition Date in anticipation of the Debtor's receipt of its cash under the Prepetition Agreement and its chapter 11 filing, (b) a concentration account (the "Concentration Account") at Citibank, N.A. ("Citibank") and (c) three disbursing accounts, as identified on Exhibit A to the Cash Management Motion (the "Disbursing Accounts" and, collectively, with the Investment Account and the Concentration Account, the "Bank Accounts"), at Citibank and J.P. Morgan Chase Bank, N.A.

57. The Investment Account is invested in certain mutual funds that, in turn, invest principally in: (a) short-term U.S. Treasury securities; (b) U.S.-dollar-denominated money market securities of domestic and foreign issuers rated in the highest category by at least two nationally recognized rating services; or (c) U.S. Government securities and repurchase agreements for those securities. As needed to satisfy the Debtor's obligations, the Debtor intends to move cash from the Investment Account to the Concentration Account.

58. From the Concentration Account, cash is disbursed through either: (a) one dedicated account for Unicare Life and Health Insurance Company, one of the Debtor's benefits administrators, from which payments are made on account of the Debtor's retiree obligations; or (b) a general accounts payable account from which the Debtor pays its vendors and makes other payments to benefits administrators, ultimately for the benefit of the Retirees.

59. The Cash Management System is set forth in the cash flow diagram attached to the Cash Management Motion as Exhibit B.

60. As of the Petition Date, the Debtor had very few, if any, outstanding checks. Strict enforcement of the UST's requirements that the Bank Accounts be closed and new postpetition accounts opened would cause undue disruption to the Debtor's operations, namely the continued payment of the Debtor's retiree medical obligations, which the Debtor is obligated to continue to make pursuant to section 1114(e) of the Bankruptcy Code.

61. The Debtor maintains current and accurate accounting records of daily cash transactions and submits that maintenance of its Cash Management System will prevent undue disruption to the Debtor's operations, while protecting the Debtor's cash for the benefit of its estate.

62. The Concentration Account and the Disbursing Accounts are maintained at financial institutions that are authorized depositories in this jurisdiction. Moreover, the cash in the Investment Account is invested only in extremely low-risk investments.

XI. Application to Retain Proskauer

63. The Debtor has filed the Debtor's Application for Entry of Order Authorizing and Approving Retention of Proskauer Rose LLP as Chapter 11 Counsel. The Debtor selected

Proskauer because its attorneys have extensive experience, knowledge and resources in the area of debtors' and creditors' rights and the restructuring and liquidation of large, complex companies under the Bankruptcy Code. Proskauer is well suited to represent the Debtor in its Chapter 11 Case.

64. Proskauer has vast experience in bankruptcy and restructuring matters. Proskauer has the ability to commit substantial resources to legal problems on an urgent basis. The Debtor, therefore, believes that Proskauer is well qualified to represent the Debtor in this Chapter 11 Case.

65. Moreover, Proskauer's prepetition representation of the Debtor has given it extensive knowledge of the Debtor's assets and liabilities. Proskauer's attorneys and other professionals have become intimately familiar with the complex factual and legal issues that will have to be addressed in the Debtor's Chapter 11 Case. The retention of Proskauer, with its knowledge of and experience with the Debtor, its assets and obligations, will assist in the efficient administration of the estate, thereby minimizing the expense to the estate.

66. Proskauer provided the Debtor with a Budget setting forth the aggregate fees and expenses it expects to incur, and a general Staffing Plan setting forth some of the tasks it anticipates undertaking and the Proskauer professionals primarily responsible for those tasks, during the ninety-day period following the Petition Date. Proskauer's Budget and Staffing Plan has been approved by the Debtor.

67. The Debtor understands and has agreed that Proskauer will apply to the Court for allowance of compensation and reimbursement of expenses in accordance with sections 330 and 331 of the Bankruptcy Code, the Bankruptcy Rules, the Local Rules and any further orders of the Court for all professional services performed and expenses incurred after the Petition Date.

68. The Debtor has reviewed and approved Proskauer's standard rate structure and determined that it is appropriate and is not significantly different from: (a) the rates that Proskauer charges for other non-bankruptcy representations; or (b) the rates of other comparably-skilled professionals. The Debtor believes that Proskauer's rates and policies stated in the Marwil Declaration are reasonable.

69. To the best of the Debtor's knowledge: (a) Proskauer is a "disinterested person" within the meaning of section 101(14) of the Bankruptcy Code, as required by section 327(a) of the Bankruptcy Code and does not hold or represent any interest adverse to the Debtor's estate; and (b) Proskauer has no connection to the Debtor, its creditors or related parties, except as may be disclosed in the Marwil Declaration.

70. The Debtor believes that for all the reasons stated above and in the Marwil Declaration, the retention of Proskauer as counsel is warranted and satisfies Bankruptcy Rule 2014(a).

71. The Debtor believes that the employment of Proskauer is in the best interests of the Debtor and its estate and desires to employ Proskauer, effective as of the Petition Date, with compensation to be approved upon application to this Court. Were the Debtor required to engage counsel other than Proskauer in connection with this Chapter 11 Case, the Debtor, its estate and all parties in interest would be unduly prejudiced by the time and expense necessarily attendant to such counsel's familiarization with the intricacies of the Debtor's circumstances and financial affairs.

XII. Application to Retain Dickinson Wright

72. The Debtor has filed the Debtor's Application for Entry of Order Authorizing and Approving Retention of Dickinson Wright PLLC as Special Counsel.

73. Prior to the Petition Date, the Debtor retained Dickinson as counsel to provide advice and assistance in connection with the Investigation and the evaluation, analysis and negotiation of a resolution of Affiliate Claims. Dickinson's continued retention will be required to: (a) obtain Court approval of the Settlement; (b) respond to inquiries and discovery requests from parties in interest regarding the Investigation and the terms of the Settlement; and (c) further prosecute and defend against Affiliate Claims, if necessary.

74. The Debtor has determined that it is necessary to retain special counsel to represent the Debtor in connection with the Settlement and the Affiliate Claims to ensure the appearance of independence of the Investigation.

75. The Debtor believes that retaining Dickinson is reasonable and necessary for the Debtor to pursue approval of the Settlement and to discharge its responsibilities to its estate and creditors.

76. The Debtor originally selected Dickinson because its attorneys have expertise, experience and knowledge in the field of litigation, including bankruptcy-related litigation, as well as other areas of the law where the Debtor may need legal services relating to the Settlement and the Affiliate Claims. The Debtor believes that Dickinson is well qualified to represent it with respect to the Settlement and Affiliate Claims, especially in light of the fact that Dickinson was prepetition counsel responsible for assisting the Debtor's chief restructuring officer in conducting the Investigation and negotiating the Settlement. Dickinson has performed substantial work on this matter and is highly knowledgeable regarding the Affiliate Claims, the Investigation, the Settlement, and the Debtor's litigation strategy.

77. Rather than resulting in any extra expense to the Debtor's estate, the retention of Dickinson as special counsel for the limited purpose of pursuing approval of the Settlement (including responding to inquiries and discovery requests from parties in interest regarding the Investigation and the terms of the Settlement) and further prosecuting and defending against Affiliate Claims, if necessary, will promote the effective and economical representation of the Debtor in this Chapter 11 Case. It would be wasteful if the Debtor were to terminate its engagement of Dickinson and retain a new firm to handle these matters. Dickinson will coordinate its efforts to ensure that the legal services it provides to the Debtor are not duplicative of services being provided by Proskauer.

78. The Debtor understands that Dickinson intends to apply for compensation for professional services rendered in connection with this Chapter 11 Case, subject to the Court's approval and in compliance with applicable provisions of the Bankruptcy Code, Bankruptcy Rules, the Local Rules, any order of this Court governing professional compensation and further orders of this Court. Dickinson shall submit with its fee applications detailed daily time entries for each individual in one-tenth (.10) of an hour increments explaining the services provided, as well as a categorized summary of all disbursements and expenses for which Dickinson is seeking reimbursement.

79. To the best of the Debtor's knowledge, and except as disclosed in the Sylwestrzak Declaration, Dickinson does not hold or represent any interests adverse to the Debtor's estate as it relates to the work for which it is being engaged. Dickinson's employment is necessary and in the best interests of the Debtor and the Debtor's estate.

XIII. Motion to Approve Agreement With Conway MacKenzie

80. The Debtor has filed the Debtor's Motion for Approval of Agreement With Conway MacKenzie Management Services, LLC to Provide the Services of Charles M. Moore as Chief Restructuring Officer and Other Support Personnel (the "Conway Motion").

81. Conway is a leading advisory services firm with extensive experience in chapter 11 cases and assisting clients in negotiations with lenders, debt holders, creditors, chapter 11 committees and other constituencies. Conway's and Mr. Moore's prepetition service to the Debtor has given it and him extensive knowledge of the Debtor's assets and liabilities. Mr. Moore has become intimately familiar with the complex issues that will have to be addressed in the Debtor's Chapter 11 Case. Mr. Moore is well-qualified to serve as CRO of the Debtor in this Chapter 11 Case.

82. The Debtor understands that the hourly rates set forth in the Conway Motion are subject to periodic adjustments to reflect economic and other conditions.

83. The Debtor does not believe that Conway is a "professional" whose retention is subject to approval under section 327 of the Bankruptcy Code.

84. The terms and conditions of the Engagement Letter were negotiated by the Debtor and Conway at arm's-length and in good faith.

85. The Debtor submits that the employment of Conway is a sound exercise of its business judgment and satisfies section 363 of the Bankruptcy Code as Conway services are necessary and essential to the compromise or prosecution and recovery of causes of action that constitute significant assets of the Debtor.

XIV. Application to Retain Epiq as Claims Agent

86. The Debtor has filed the Debtor's Application for Order Authorizing and Approving the Retention of Epiq Bankruptcy Solutions, LLC as Noticing, Claims and Balloting Agent for the Court.

87. The Debtor has thousands of creditors, holding claims against the Debtor in excess of $1 billion. Given the size of the Debtor's creditor body, it will be more efficient and less burdensome on the Clerk of the Court to have Epiq undertake the tasks associated with noticing the Debtor's creditors and parties in interest and processing proofs of claim that may be filed. The process of receiving, docketing, maintaining, photocopying and transmitting proofs of claim and related notices in this case can be effectively served by engaging an independent third party to act as agent for the Court. Moreover, the Debtor requires a balloting and voting agent to assist the Debtor with the solicitation and voting in respect of any chapter 11 plan.

88. Epiq is one of the nation's leading providers of noticing, claims administration and balloting services in large and complex chapter 11 cases. Epiq specializes in claims and balloting agent and noticing services, and has a proprietary claims management system in which claims are effectively managed for the Clerk of the Court. The Debtor has selected Epiq as its claims, balloting and noticing agent because of the firm's experience in serving in such capacity in chapter 11 cases of this size and the reasonableness of its fees. The Debtor believes that Epiq is both well-qualified and uniquely able to serve as the claims, balloting and noticing agent in this Chapter 11 Case. In short, engaging Epiq to serve designated notices, manage the plan balloting process and manage claims files and maintain the claims register will expedite service of Bankruptcy Code Rule 2002 notices, streamline the claims administration process and permit the Debtor to focus its efforts on confirming a chapter 11 plan.

89. Epiq will perform the balloting agent and claims management function of its employment at the direction of the Debtor, and the noticing agent function at the direction of the Clerk of the Court.

90. Epiq has represented to the Debtor, among other things, that:

a. Epiq will not consider itself employed by the United States Government and shall not seek any compensation from the United States Government in its capacity as the Claims Agent in this Chapter 11 Case;

b. by accepting appointment in this Chapter 11 Case, Epiq waives any rights to receive compensation from the United States Government;

c. in its capacity as the Claims Agent in this Chapter 11 Case, Epiq will not be an agent of the United States and will not act on behalf of the United States;

d. in its capacity as the Claims Agent in this Chapter 11 Case, Epiq will not misrepresent any fact to any person; and

e. Epiq will not employ any past or present employees of the Debtor in connection with its work as the Claims Agent in this Chapter 11 Case.

91. Epiq has further represented to the Debtor that the officers and employees of Epiq do not have any connection with, or any interest adverse to, the Debtor's estate or creditors, except as set forth herein and in the Schneider Declaration.

92. The Debtor firmly believes that Epiq is appropriately qualified to serve in the capacity as claims, noticing and balloting agent.

93. The terms of Epiq's compensation under the Services Agreement stem from a competitive process in which the Debtor interviewed and received quotes from multiple potential notice and claims agents. During this process, the Debtor negotiated price and cost reductions with Epiq.

94. The Debtor submits that the retention of Epiq will inure to the benefit of the Debtor, its estate and all parties in interest by expediting the claims docketing and reconciliation process, as well as the plan solicitation process, by permitting them to be conducted in a cost-effective manner by a firm with proven abilities in providing such services.

I declare under penalty of perjury that the foregoing is true and correct.

INTRODUCTION

A. Purpose of the Disclosure Statement

On September 30, 2014 (the "Petition Date"), Reichhold Holdings US, Inc., Reichhold Liquidation, Inc. (f/k/a Reichhold, Inc.), Canadyne Corporation and Canadyne-Georgia Corporation (together, the "Debtors") filed voluntary petitions for relief (together, the "Chapter 11 Cases") under chapter 11 of title 11 of the United States Code, 11 U.S.C. §§ 101-1532 (the "Bankruptcy Code"), in the United States Bankruptcy Court for the District of Delaware (the "Court").

The Debtors have filed the Plan Of Liquidation Pursuant To Chapter 11 Of The Bankruptcy Code Proposed By The Debtors (including all exhibits thereto, and as may be amended, altered, modified or supplemented from time to time, the "Plan") with the Court. A copy of the Plan is attached hereto as Exhibit A.

Capitalized terms used but not otherwise defined herein shall have the meanings ascribed to such terms in the Plan; provided, however, that any capitalized term used herein that is not defined herein or in the Plan, but is defined in the Bankruptcy Code or the Federal Rules of Bankruptcy Procedure (the "Bankruptcy Rules") will have the meaning ascribed to that term in the Bankruptcy Code or the Bankruptcy Rules, as applicable.

The Debtors submit this disclosure statement (as may be amended, altered, modified or supplemented from time to time, the "Disclosure Statement") pursuant to section 1125 of the Bankruptcy Code to Holders of Claims against the Debtors in connection with (i) the solicitation of acceptances of the Plan and (ii) the hearing to consider confirmation of the Plan.

The purpose of this Disclosure Statement is to describe the Plan and its provisions and to provide certain information, as required under section 1125 of the Bankruptcy Code, to creditors who will have the right to vote on the Plan so they can make informed decisions in doing so. Creditors entitled to vote to accept or reject the Plan will receive a Ballot (as defined herein) together with this Disclosure Statement to enable them to vote on the Plan.

This Disclosure Statement includes, among other things, information pertaining to the Debtors' prepetition business operations and financial history and the events leading to the filing of the Chapter 11 Cases. This Disclosure Statement also contains information regarding significant events that have occurred during the Chapter 11 Cases. In addition, an overview of the Plan is included, which overview sets forth certain terms and provisions of the Plan, the effects of confirmation of the Plan, certain risk factors associated with the Plan, and the manner in which distributions will be made under the Plan. This Disclosure Statement also discusses the confirmation process and the procedures for voting, which procedures must be followed by the Holders of Claims entitled to vote under the Plan for their votes to be counted.

B. Disclosure Statement Enclosures

Accompanying this Disclosure Statement are:

1. Order Approving the Disclosure Statement. A copy of the Court's order (without exhibits) (the "Solicitation Procedures Order") approving this Disclosure Statement and, among other things, establishing procedures for voting on the Plan, setting the deadline for objecting to the Plan and scheduling the Confirmation Hearing.

2. Ballot. A ballot (the "Ballot") for voting to accept or reject the Plan, if you are the record Holder of a Claim in a Class entitled to vote on the Plan (each, a "Voting Class").

3. Notice. A notice setting forth: (i) the deadline for casting Ballots either accepting or rejecting the Plan; (ii) the deadline for filing objections to confirmation of the Plan; and (iii) the date, time and location of the Confirmation Hearing (the "Notice").

4. Committee Support Letter. A letter from the Committee, recommending that creditors in a Voting Class vote to accept the Plan.

C. Final Approval of the Disclosure Statement and Confirmation of the Plan

1. Requirements. The requirements for confirmation of the Plan are set forth in section 1129 of the Bankruptcy Code. The requirements for what must be included in the Disclosure Statement are set forth in section 1125 of the Bankruptcy Code.

2. Approval of the Plan and Confirmation Hearing. To confirm the Plan, the Court must hold a hearing to determine whether the Plan meets the requirements of section 1129 of the Bankruptcy Code.

3. Effect of Confirmation. Except as otherwise provided in the Plan or in the order confirming the Plan (the "Confirmation Order"), confirmation will affect the distribution of the Debtors' remaining assets. Confirmation serves to make the Plan binding upon the Debtors and all Creditors, Interest Holders and other parties in interest, regardless of whether they cast a Ballot to accept or reject the Plan.

4. Only Impaired Classes Vote. Pursuant to the provisions of the Bankruptcy Code, only classes of claims or interests that are "impaired" under a plan may vote to accept or reject such plan. Generally, a claim or interest is impaired under a plan if the holder's legal, equitable or contractual rights are changed under such plan. In addition, if the holders of claims or interests in an impaired class do not receive or retain any property under a plan on account of such claims or interests, such impaired class is deemed to have rejected such plan under section 1126(g) of the Bankruptcy Code and, therefore, such holders do not need to vote on such plan.

Under the Plan, Holders of Claims in Classes 1 (Secured Claims) and 2 (Priority Non-Tax Claims) are Unimpaired and therefore deemed to accept the Plan.

Under the Plan, Holders of Claims in Classes 3 (General Unsecured Claims) and 4 (Convenience Claims) are Impaired and are entitled to vote on the Plan.

Under the Plan, Holders of Claims and Interests in Classes 5 (Intercompany Claims) and 6 (Interests) are deemed to reject the Plan and are not entitled to vote on the Plan.

ACCORDINGLY, A BALLOT FOR ACCEPTANCE OR REJECTION OF THE PLAN IS BEING PROVIDED ONLY TO HOLDERS OF CLAIMS IN CLASSES 3 AND 4.
