"Law" means the Companies Law (as amended) of the Cayman Islands;

"Memorandum of Association" means the memorandum of association of the Company, as amended or substituted from time to time;

"Office" means the registered office of the Company as required by the Law;

"Ordinary Resolution" means a resolution:

(a) passed by a simple majority of such Shareholders as, being entitled to do so, vote in person or, where proxies are allowed, by proxy at a general meeting of the Company and

where a poll is taken regard shall be had in computing a majority to the number of votes to which each Shareholder is entitled; or

(b) approved in writing by all of the Shareholders entitled to vote at a general meeting of the Company in one or more instruments each signed by one or more of the Shareholders and the effective date of the resolution so adopted shall be the date on which the instrument, or the last of such instruments, if more than one, is executed;

"paid up" means paid up as to the par value in respect of the issue of any Shares and includes credited as paid up;

"Person" means any natural person, firm, company, joint venture, partnership, corporation, association or other entity (whether or not having a separate legal personality) or any of them as the context so requires;

"Register" means the register of Members of the Company required to be kept pursuant to the Law;

"Seal" means the common seal of the Company (if adopted) including any facsimile thereof;

"Secretary" means any Person appointed by the Directors to perform any of the duties of the secretary of the Company;

"Share" means a share in the capital of the Company. All references to "Shares" herein shall be deemed to be Shares of any or all Classes as the context may require. For the avoidance of doubt in these Articles the expression "Share" shall include a fraction of a Share;

"Shareholder" or "Member" means a Person who is registered as the holder of Shares in the Register and includes each subscriber to the Memorandum of Association pending entry in the Register of such subscriber;

"Share Premium Account" means the share premium account established in accordance with these Articles and the Law;

"signed" means bearing a signature or representation of a signature affixed by mechanical means; and

"Special Resolution" means a special resolution of the Company passed in accordance with the Law, being a resolution:

(a) passed by a majority of not less than two-thirds of such Shareholders as, being entitled to do so, vote in person or, where proxies are allowed, by proxy at a general meeting of the Company of which notice specifying the intention to propose the resolution as a special resolution has been duly given and where a poll is taken regard shall be had in computing a majority to the number of votes to which each Shareholder is entitled; or

(b) approved in writing by all of the Shareholders entitled to vote at a general meeting of the Company in one or more instruments each signed by one or more of the Shareholders and the effective date of the special resolution so adopted shall be the date on which the instrument or the last of such instruments, if more than one, is executed.

2. In these Articles, save where the context requires otherwise:

(a) words importing the singular number shall include the plural number and vice versa;

(b) words importing the masculine gender only shall include the feminine gender and any Person as the context may require;

(c) the word "may" shall be construed as permissive and the word "shall" shall be construed as imperative;

(d) reference to a dollar or dollars (or $) and to a cent or cents is reference to dollars and cents of the United States of America;

(e) reference to a statutory enactment shall include reference to any amendment or re-enactment thereof for the time being in force;

(f) reference to any determination by the Directors shall be construed as a determination by the Directors in their sole and absolute discretion and shall be applicable either generally or in any particular case; and

(g) reference to "in writing" shall be construed as written or represented by any means reproducible in writing, including any form of print, lithograph, email, facsimile, photograph or telex or represented by any other substitute or format for storage or transmission for writing or partly one and partly another.

3. Subject to the last two preceding Articles, any words defined in the Law shall, if not inconsistent with the subject or context, bear the same meaning in these Articles.

PRELIMINARY

4. The business of the Company may be commenced at any time after incorporation.

5. The Office shall be at such address in the Cayman Islands as the Directors may from time to time determine. The Company may in addition establish and maintain such other offices and places of business and agencies in such places as the Directors may from time to time determine.

6. The expenses incurred in the formation of the Company and in connection with the offer for subscription and issue of Shares shall be paid by the Company. Such expenses may be amortised over such period as the Directors may determine and the amount so paid shall be charged against income and/or capital in the accounts of the Company as the Directors shall determine.

7. The Directors shall keep, or cause to be kept, the Register at such place as the Directors may from time to time determine and, in the absence of any such determination, the Register shall be kept at the Office.

SHARES

8. Subject to these Articles, all Shares for the time being unissued shall be under the control of the Directors who may:

(a) issue, allot and dispose of the same to such Persons, in such manner, on such terms and having such rights and being subject to such restrictions as they may from time to time determine; and

(b) grant options with respect to such Shares and issue warrants or similar instruments with respect thereto;

and, for such purposes, the Directors may reserve an appropriate number of Shares for the time being unissued.

9. The Directors may authorise the division of Shares into any number of Classes and the different Classes shall be authorised, established and designated (or re-designated as the case may be) and the variations in the relative rights (including, without limitation, voting, dividend and redemption rights), restrictions, preferences, privileges and payment obligations as between the different Classes (if any) may be fixed and determined by the Directors.

10. The Company may insofar as may be permitted by law, pay a commission to any Person in consideration of his subscribing or agreeing to subscribe whether absolutely or conditionally for any Shares. Such commissions may be satisfied by the payment of cash or the lodgement of fully or partly paid-up Shares or partly in one way and partly in the other. The Company may also pay such brokerage as may be lawful on any issue of Shares.

11. The Directors may refuse to accept any application for Shares, and may accept any application in whole or in part, for any reason or for no reason.

MODIFICATION OF RIGHTS

12. Whenever the capital of the Company is divided into different Classes the rights attached to any such Class may, subject to any rights or restrictions for the time being attached to any Class, only be materially adversely varied or abrogated with the consent in writing of the holders of not less than two-thirds of the issued Shares of the relevant Class, or with the sanction of a resolution passed at a separate meeting of the holders of the Shares of such Class by a majority of two-thirds of the votes cast at such a meeting. To every such separate meeting all the provisions of these Articles relating to general meetings of the Company or to the proceedings thereat shall, mutatis mutandis, apply, except that the necessary quorum shall be one or more Persons at least holding or representing by proxy one-third in nominal or par value amount of the issued Shares of the relevant Class (but so that if at any adjourned meeting of such holders a quorum as above defined is not present, those Shareholders who are present shall form a quorum) and that, subject to any rights or restrictions for the time being attached to the Shares of that Class, every Shareholder of the Class shall on a poll have one vote for each Share of the Class held by him. For the purposes of this Article the Directors may treat all the Classes or any two or more Classes as forming one Class if they consider that all such Classes would be affected in the same way by the proposals under consideration, but in any other case shall treat them as separate Classes.

13. The rights conferred upon the holders of the Shares of any Class issued with preferred or other rights shall not, subject to any rights or restrictions for the time being attached to the Shares of that Class, be deemed to be materially adversely varied or abrogated by, inter alia, the creation, allotment or issue of further Shares ranking pari passu with or subsequent to them or the redemption or purchase of any Shares of any Class by the Company.

CERTIFICATES

14. No Person shall be entitled to a certificate for any or all of his Shares, unless the Directors shall determine otherwise.

FRACTIONAL SHARES

15. The Directors may issue fractions of a Share and, if so issued, a fraction of a Share shall be subject to and carry the corresponding fraction of liabilities (whether with respect to nominal or par value, premium, contributions, calls or otherwise), limitations, preferences, privileges, qualifications, restrictions, rights (including, without prejudice to the generality of the foregoing, voting and participation rights) and other attributes of a whole Share. If more than one fraction of a Share of the same Class is issued to or acquired by the same Shareholder such fractions shall be accumulated.

LIEN

16. The Company has a first and paramount lien on every Share (whether or not fully paid) for all amounts (whether presently payable or not) payable at a fixed time or called in respect of that Share. The Company also has a first and paramount lien on every Share registered in the name of a Person indebted or under liability to the Company (whether he is the sole registered holder of a Share or one of two or more joint holders) for all amounts owing by him or his estate to the Company (whether or not presently payable). The Directors may at any time declare a Share to be wholly or in part exempt from the provisions of this Article. The Company's lien on a Share extends to any amount payable in respect of it.

17. The Company may sell, in such manner as the Directors in their absolute discretion think fit, any Share on which the Company has a lien, but no sale shall be made unless an amount in respect of which the lien exists is presently payable nor until the expiration of fourteen days after a notice in writing, demanding payment of such part of the amount in respect of which the lien exists as is presently payable, has been given to the registered holder for the time being of the Share, or the Persons entitled thereto by reason of his death or bankruptcy.

18. For giving effect to any such sale the Directors may authorise some Person to transfer the Shares sold to the purchaser thereof. The purchaser shall be registered as the holder of the Shares comprised in any such transfer and he shall not be bound to see to the application of the purchase money, nor shall his title to the Shares be affected by any irregularity or invalidity in the proceedings in reference to the sale.

19. The proceeds of the sale after deduction of expenses, fees and commission incurred by the Company shall be received by the Company and applied in payment of such part of the amount in respect of which the lien exists as is presently payable, and the residue shall (subject to a like lien for sums not presently payable as existed upon the Shares prior to the sale) be paid to the Person entitled to the Shares immediately prior to the sale.

CALLS ON SHARES

20. The Directors may from time to time make calls upon the Shareholders in respect of any moneys unpaid on their Shares, and each Shareholder shall (subject to receiving at least fourteen days' notice specifying the time or times of payment) pay to the Company at the time or times so specified the amount called on such Shares.

21. The joint holders of a Share shall be jointly and severally liable to pay calls in respect thereof.

22. If a sum called in respect of a Share is not paid before or on the day appointed for payment thereof, the Person from whom the sum is due shall pay interest upon the sum at the rate of eight percent per annum from the day appointed for the payment thereof to the time of the actual payment, but the Directors shall be at liberty to waive payment of that interest wholly or in part.

23. The provisions of these Articles as to the liability of joint holders and as to payment of interest shall apply in the case of non-payment of any sum which, by the terms of issue of a Share, becomes payable at a fixed time, whether on account of the amount of the Share, or by way of premium, as if the same had become payable by virtue of a call duly made and notified.

24. The Directors may make arrangements on the issue of partly paid Shares for a difference between the Shareholders, or the particular Shares, in the amount of calls to be paid and in the times of payment.

25. The Directors may, if they think fit, receive from any Shareholder willing to advance the same all or any part of the moneys uncalled and unpaid upon any partly paid Shares held by him, and upon all or any of the moneys so advanced may (until the same would, but for such advance, become presently payable) pay interest at such rate (not exceeding without the sanction of an Ordinary Resolution, eight percent per annum) as may be agreed upon between the Shareholder paying the sum in advance and the Directors.

FORFEITURE OF SHARES

26. If a Shareholder fails to pay any call or instalment of a call in respect of partly paid Shares on the day appointed for payment, the Directors may, at any time thereafter during such time as any part of such call or instalment remains unpaid, serve a notice on him requiring payment of so much of the call or instalment as is unpaid, together with any interest which may have accrued.

27. The notice shall name a further day (not earlier than the expiration of fourteen days from the date of the notice) on or before which the payment required by the notice is to be made, and shall state that in the event of non-payment at or before the time appointed the Shares in respect of which the call was made will be liable to be forfeited.

28. If the requirements of any such notice as aforesaid are not complied with, any Share in respect of which the notice has been given may at any time thereafter, before the payment required by notice has been made, be forfeited by a resolution of the Directors to that effect.

29. A forfeited Share may be sold or otherwise disposed of on such terms and in such manner as the Directors think fit, and at any time before a sale or disposition the forfeiture may be cancelled on such terms as the Directors think fit.

30. A Person whose Shares have been forfeited shall cease to be a Shareholder in respect of the forfeited Shares, but shall, notwithstanding, remain liable to pay to the Company all moneys which at the date of forfeiture were payable by him to the Company in respect of the Shares forfeited, but his liability shall cease if and when the Company receives payment in full of the amount unpaid on the Shares forfeited.

31. A statutory declaration in writing that the declarant is a Director, and that a Share has been duly forfeited on a date stated in the declaration, shall be conclusive evidence of the facts in the declaration as against all Persons claiming to be entitled to the Share.

32. The Company may receive the consideration, if any, given for a Share on any sale or disposition thereof pursuant to the provisions of these Articles as to forfeiture and may execute a transfer of the Share in favour of the Person to whom the Share is sold or disposed of and that Person shall be registered as the holder of the Share, and shall not be bound to see to the application of the purchase money, if any, nor shall his title to the Shares be affected by any irregularity or invalidity in the proceedings in reference to the disposition or sale.

33. The provisions of these Articles as to forfeiture shall apply in the case of non-payment of any sum which by the terms of issue of a Share becomes due and payable, whether on account of the amount of the Share, or by way of premium, as if the same had been payable by virtue of a call duly made and notified.

TRANSFER OF SHARES

34. The instrument of transfer of any Share shall be in any usual or common form or such other form as the Directors may, in their absolute discretion, approve and be executed by or on behalf of the transferor and if in respect of a nil or partly paid up Share, or if so required by the Directors, shall also be executed on behalf of the transferee and shall be accompanied by the certificate (if any) of the Shares to which it relates and such other evidence as the Directors may reasonably require to show the right of the transferor to make the transfer. The transferor shall be deemed to remain a Shareholder until the name of the transferee is entered in the Register in respect of the relevant Shares.

35. The Directors may in their absolute discretion decline to register any transfer of Shares without assigning any reason therefor.

36. The registration of transfers may be suspended at such times and for such periods as the Directors may from time to time determine.

37. All instruments of transfer that are registered shall be retained by the Company, but any instrument of transfer that the Directors decline to register shall (except in any case of fraud) be returned to the Person depositing the same.

TRANSMISSION OF SHARES

38. The legal personal representative of a deceased sole holder of a Share shall be the only Person recognised by the Company as having any title to the Share. In the case of a Share registered in the name of two or more holders, the survivors or survivor, or the legal personal representatives of the deceased survivor, shall be the only Person recognised by the Company as having any title to the Share.

39. Any Person becoming entitled to a Share in consequence of the death or bankruptcy of a Shareholder shall upon such evidence being produced as may from time to time be required by the Directors, have the right either to be registered as a Shareholder in respect of the Share or, instead of being registered himself, to make such transfer of the Share as the deceased or bankrupt Person could have made; but the Directors shall, in either case, have the same right to decline or suspend registration as they would have had in the case of a transfer of the Share by the deceased or bankrupt Person before the death or bankruptcy.

40. A Person becoming entitled to a Share by reason of the death or bankruptcy of a Shareholder shall be entitled to the same dividends and other advantages to which he would be entitled if he were the registered Shareholder, except that he shall not, before being registered as a Shareholder in respect of the Share, be entitled in respect of it to exercise any right conferred by membership in relation to meetings of the Company.

ALTERATION OF SHARE CAPITAL

41. The Company may from time to time by Ordinary Resolution increase the share capital by such sum, to be divided into Shares of such Classes and amount, as the resolution shall prescribe.

42. The Company may by Ordinary Resolution:

(a) consolidate and divide all or any of its share capital into Shares of a larger amount than its existing Shares;

(b) convert all or any of its paid up Shares into stock and reconvert that stock into paid up Shares of any denomination;

(c) subdivide its existing Shares, or any of them into Shares of a smaller amount provided that in the subdivision the proportion between the amount paid and the amount, if any, unpaid on each reduced Share shall be the same as it was in case of the Share from which the reduced Share is derived; and

(d) cancel any Shares that, at the date of the passing of the resolution, have not been taken or agreed to be taken by any Person and diminish the amount of its share capital by the amount of the Shares so cancelled.

43. The Company may by Special Resolution reduce its share capital and any capital redemption reserve in any manner authorised by law.

REDEMPTION AND PURCHASE OF SHARES

44. Subject to the Law, the Company may:

(a) issue Shares on terms that they are to be redeemed or are liable to be redeemed at the option of the Company or the Shareholder on such terms and in such manner as the Directors may, before the issue of such Shares, determine;

(b) purchase its own Shares (including any redeemable Shares) on such terms and in such manner as the Directors may determine and agree with the Shareholder; and

(c) make a payment in respect of the redemption or purchase of its own Shares in any manner authorised by the Law, including out of its capital, profits or the proceeds of a fresh issue of Shares.

45. Any Share in respect of which notice of redemption has been given shall not be entitled to participate in the profits of the Company in respect of the period after the date specified as the date of redemption in the notice of redemption.

46. The redemption or purchase of any Share shall not be deemed to give rise to the redemption or purchase of any other Share.

47. The Directors may when making payments in respect of redemption or purchase of Shares, if authorised by the terms of issue of the Shares being redeemed or purchased or with the agreement of the holder of such Shares, make such payment either in cash or in specie.

GENERAL MEETINGS

48. The Directors may, whenever they think fit, convene a general meeting of the Company.

49. General meetings shall also be convened on the requisition in writing of any Shareholder or Shareholders entitled to attend and vote at general meetings of the Company holding at least ten percent of the paid up voting share capital of the Company deposited at the Office specifying the objects of the meeting for a date no later than 21 days from the date of deposit of the requisition signed by the requisitionists, and if the Directors do not convene such meeting for a date not later than 45 days after the date of such deposit, the requisitionists themselves may convene the general meeting in the same manner, as nearly as possible, as that in which general meetings may be convened by the Directors, and all reasonable expenses incurred by the requisitionists as a result of the failure of the Directors to convene the general meeting shall be reimbursed to them by the Company.

50. If at any time there are no Directors, any two Shareholders (or if there is only one Shareholder then that Shareholder) entitled to vote at general meetings of the Company may convene a general meeting in the same manner as nearly as possible as that in which general meetings may be convened by the Directors.

NOTICE OF GENERAL MEETINGS

51. At least seven days' notice in writing counting from the date service is deemed to take place as provided in these Articles specifying the place, the day and the hour of the meeting and, in case of special business, the general nature of that business, shall be given in the manner hereinafter provided or in such other manner (if any) as may be prescribed by the Company by Ordinary Resolution to such Persons as are, under these Articles, entitled to receive such notices from the Company, but with the consent of all the Shareholders entitled to receive notice of some particular meeting and attend and vote thereat, that meeting may be convened by such shorter notice or without notice and in such manner as those Shareholders may think fit.

52. The accidental omission to give notice of a meeting to or the non-receipt of a notice of a meeting by any Shareholder shall not invalidate the proceedings at any meeting.

PROCEEDINGS AT GENERAL MEETINGS

53. All business carried out at a general meeting shall be deemed special with the exception of sanctioning a dividend, the consideration of the accounts, balance sheets, any report of the Directors or of the Company's auditors, the appointment and removal of Directors and the fixing of the remuneration of the Company's auditors. No special business shall be transacted at any general meeting without the consent of all Shareholders entitled to receive notice of that meeting unless notice of such special business has been given in the notice convening that meeting.

54. No business shall be transacted at any general meeting unless a quorum of Shareholders is present at the time when the meeting proceeds to business. Save as otherwise provided by these Articles, one or more Shareholders holding at least a majority of the paid up voting share capital of the Company present in person or by proxy and entitled to vote at that meeting shall form a quorum.

55. If within half an hour from the time appointed for the meeting a quorum is not present, the meeting, if convened upon the requisition of Shareholders, shall be dissolved. In any other case it shall stand adjourned to the same day in the next week, at the same time and place, and if at the adjourned meeting a quorum is not present within half an hour from the time appointed for the meeting the Shareholder or Shareholders present and entitled to vote shall form a quorum.

56. If the Directors wish to make this facility available for a specific general meeting or all general meetings of the Company, participation in any general meeting of the Company may be by means of a telephone or similar communication equipment by way of which all Persons participating in such meeting can communicate with each other and such participation shall be deemed to constitute presence in person at the meeting.

57. The chairman, if any, of the Directors shall preside as chairman at every general meeting of the Company.

58. If there is no such chairman, or if at any general meeting he is not present within fifteen minutes after the time appointed for holding the meeting or is unwilling to act as chairman, any Director or Person nominated by the Directors shall preside as chairman, failing which the Shareholders present in person or by proxy shall choose any Person present to be chairman of that meeting.

59. The chairman may with the consent of any general meeting at which a quorum is present (and shall if so directed by the meeting) adjourn a meeting from time to time and from place to place, but no business shall be transacted at any adjourned meeting other than the business left unfinished at the meeting from which the adjournment took place. When a meeting, or adjourned meeting, is adjourned for fourteen days or more, notice of the adjourned meeting shall be given as in the case of an original meeting. Save as aforesaid it shall not be necessary to give any notice of an adjournment or of the business to be transacted at an adjourned meeting.

60. The Directors may cancel or postpone any duly convened general meeting at any time prior to such meeting, except for general meetings requisitioned by the Shareholders in accordance with these Articles, for any reason or for no reason, upon notice in writing to Shareholders. A postponement may be for a stated period of any length or indefinitely as the Directors may determine.

61. At any general meeting a resolution put to the vote of the meeting shall be decided on a show of hands, unless a poll is (before or on the declaration of the result of the show of hands) demanded by the chairman or one or more Shareholders present in person or by proxy entitled to vote, and unless a poll is so demanded, a declaration by the chairman that a resolution has, on a show of hands, been carried, or carried unanimously, or by a particular majority, or lost, and an entry to that effect in the book of the proceedings of the Company, shall be conclusive evidence of the fact, without proof of the number or proportion of the votes recorded in favour of, or against, that resolution.

62. If a poll is duly demanded it shall be taken in such manner as the chairman directs, and the result of the poll shall be deemed to be the resolution of the meeting at which the poll was demanded.

63. In the case of an equality of votes, whether on a show of hands or on a poll, the chairman of the meeting at which the show of hands takes place or at which the poll is demanded, shall be entitled to a second or casting vote.

64. A poll demanded on the election of a chairman of the meeting or on a question of adjournment shall be taken forthwith. A poll demanded on any other question shall be taken at such time as the chairman of the meeting directs.

VOTES OF SHAREHOLDERS

65. Subject to any rights and restrictions for the time being attached to any Share, on a show of hands every Shareholder present in person and every Person representing a Shareholder by proxy shall, at a general meeting of the Company, each have one vote and on a poll every Shareholder and every Person representing a Shareholder by proxy shall have one vote for each Share of which he or the Person represented by proxy is the holder.

66. In the case of joint holders the vote of the senior who tenders a vote whether in person or by proxy shall be accepted to the exclusion of the votes of the other joint holders and for this purpose seniority shall be determined by the order in which the names stand in the Register.

67. A Shareholder of unsound mind, or in respect of whom an order has been made by any court having jurisdiction in lunacy, may vote in respect of Shares carrying the right to vote held by him, whether on a show of hands or on a poll, by his committee, or other Person in the nature of a committee appointed by that court, and any such committee or other Person, may vote in respect of such Shares by proxy.

68. No Shareholder shall be entitled to vote at any general meeting of the Company unless all calls, if any, or other sums presently payable by him in respect of Shares carrying the right to vote held by him have been paid.

69. On a poll votes may be given either personally or by proxy.

70. The instrument appointing a proxy shall be in writing under the hand of the appointor or of his attorney duly authorised in writing or, if the appointor is a corporation, either under Seal or under the hand of an officer or attorney duly authorised. A proxy need not be a Shareholder.

71. An instrument appointing a proxy may be in any usual or common form or such other form as the Directors may approve.

72. The instrument appointing a proxy shall be deposited at the Office or at such other place as is specified for that purpose in the notice convening the meeting no later than the time for holding the meeting or, if the meeting is adjourned, the time for holding such adjourned meeting.

73. The instrument appointing a proxy shall be deemed to confer authority to demand or join in demanding a poll.

74. A resolution in writing signed by all the Shareholders for the time being entitled to receive notice of and to attend and vote at general meetings of the Company (or being corporations by their duly authorised representatives) shall be as valid and effective as if the same had been passed at a general meeting of the Company duly convened and held.

CORPORATIONS ACTING BY REPRESENTATIVES AT MEETINGS

75. Any corporation which is a Shareholder or a Director may by resolution of its directors or other governing body authorise such Person as it thinks fit to act as its representative at any meeting of the Company or of any meeting of holders of a Class or of the Directors or of a committee of Directors, and the Person so authorised shall be entitled to exercise the same powers on behalf of the corporation which he represents as that corporation could exercise if it were an individual Shareholder or Director.

DIRECTORS

76. The name(s) of the first Director(s) shall either be determined in writing by a majority (or in the case of a sole subscriber that subscriber) of, or elected at a meeting of, the subscribers of the Memorandum of Association.

77. The Company may by Ordinary Resolution appoint any natural person or corporation to be a Director.

78. Subject to these Articles, a Director shall hold office until such time as he is removed from office by Ordinary Resolution.

79. The Company may by Ordinary Resolution from time to time fix the maximum and minimum number of Directors to be appointed but unless such numbers are fixed as aforesaid the minimum number of Directors shall be one and the maximum number of Directors shall be unlimited.

80. The remuneration of the Directors may be determined by the Directors or by Ordinary Resolution.

81. There shall be no shareholding qualification for Directors unless determined otherwise by Ordinary Resolution.

82. The Directors shall have power at any time and from time to time to appoint a natural person or corporation as a Director, either as a result of a casual vacancy or as an additional Director, subject to the maximum number (if any) imposed by Ordinary Resolution.

ALTERNATE DIRECTOR OR PROXY

83. Any Director may in writing appoint another Person to be his alternate and, save to the extent provided otherwise in the form of appointment, such alternate shall have authority to sign written resolutions on behalf of the appointing Director, but shall not be required to sign such written resolutions where they have been signed by the appointing Director, and to act in such Director's place at any meeting of the Directors at which he is unable to be present. Every such alternate shall be entitled to attend and vote at meetings of the Directors as a Director when the Director appointing him is not personally present and where he is a Director to have a separate vote on behalf of the Director he is representing in addition to his own vote. A Director may at any time in writing revoke the appointment of an alternate appointed by him. Such alternate shall not be an officer of the Company. The remuneration of such alternate shall be payable out of the remuneration of the Director appointing him and the proportion thereof shall be agreed between them.

84. Any Director may appoint any Person , whether or not a Director, to be the proxy of that Director to attend and vote on his behalf, in accordance with instructions given by that Director, or in the absence of such instructions at the discretion of the proxy, at a meeting or meetings of the Directors which that Director is unable to attend personally. The instrument appointing the proxy shall be in writing under the hand of the appointing Director and shall be in any usual or common form or such other form as the Directors may approve, and must be lodged with the chairman of the meeting of the Directors at which such proxy is to be used, or first used, prior to the commencement of the meeting.

POWERS AND DUTIES OF DIRECTORS

85. Subject to the Law, these Articles and to any resolutions passed in a general meeting, the business of the Company shall be managed by the Directors, who may pay all expenses incurred in setting up and registering the Company and may exercise all powers of the Company. No resolution passed by the Company in general meeting shall invalidate any prior act of the Directors that would have been valid if that resolution had not been passed.

86. The Directors may from time to time appoint any natural person or corporation , whether or not a Director to hold such office in the Company as the Directors may think necessary for the administration of the Company, including but not limited to, the office of president, one or more vice-presidents, treasurer, assistant treasurer, manager or controller, and for such term and at such remuneration (whether by way of salary or commission or participation in profits or partly in one way and partly in another), and with such powers and duties as the Directors may think fit. Any natural person or corporation so appointed by the Directors may be removed by the Directors or by the Company by Ordinary Resolution. The Directors may also appoint one or more of their number to the office of managing director upon like terms, but any such appointment shall ipso facto determine if any managing director ceases from any cause to be a Director, or if the Company by Ordinary Resolution resolves that his tenure of office be terminated.

87. The Directors may appoint any natural person or corporation to be a Secretary (and if need be an assistant Secretary or assistant Secretaries) who shall hold office for such term, at such remuneration and upon such conditions and with such powers as they think fit. Any Secretary or assistant Secretary so appointed by the Directors may be removed by the Directors or by the Company by Ordinary Resolution.

88. The Directors may delegate any of their powers to committees consisting of such member or members of their body as they think fit; any committee so formed shall in the exercise of the powers so delegated conform to any regulations that may be imposed on it by the Directors.

89. The Directors may from time to time and at any time by power of attorney (whether under Seal or under hand) or otherwise appoint any company, firm or Person or body of Persons, whether nominated directly or indirectly by the Directors, to be the attorney or attorneys or authorised signatory (any such person being an "Attorney" or "Authorised Signatory", respectively) of the Company for such purposes and with such powers, authorities and discretion (not exceeding those vested in or exercisable by the Directors under these Articles) and for such period and subject to such conditions as they may think fit, and any such power of attorney or other appointment may contain such provisions for the protection and convenience of Persons dealing with any such Attorney or Authorised Signatory as the Directors may think fit, and may also authorise any such Attorney or Authorised Signatory to delegate all or any of the powers, authorities and discretion vested in him.

90. The Directors may from time to time provide for the management of the affairs of the Company in such manner as they shall think fit and the provisions contained in the three next following Articles shall not limit the general powers conferred by this Article .

91. The Directors from time to time and at any time may establish any committees, local boards or agencies for managing any of the affairs of the Company and may appoint any natural person or corporation to be a member of such committees or local boards and may appoint any managers or agents of the Company and may fix the remuneration of any such natural person or corporation.

92. The Directors from time to time and at any time may delegate to any such committee, local board, manager or agent any of the powers, authorities and discretions for the time being vested in the Directors and may authorise the members for the time being of any such local board, or any of them to fill any vacancies therein and to act notwithstanding vacancies and any such appointment or delegation may be made on such terms and subject to such conditions as the Directors may think fit and the Directors may at any time remove any natural person or corporation so appointed and may annul or vary any such delegation, but no Person dealing in good faith and without notice of any such annulment or variation shall be affected thereby.

93. Any such delegates as aforesaid may be authorised by the Directors to sub-delegate all or any of the powers, authorities, and discretion for the time being vested in them.

BORROWING POWERS OF DIRECTORS

94. The Directors may exercise all the powers of the Company to borrow money and to mortgage or charge its undertaking, property and uncalled capital or any part thereof, to issue debentures, debenture stock and other securities whenever money is borrowed or as security for any debt, liability or obligation of the Company or of any third party.

THE SEAL

95. The Seal shall not be affixed to any instrument except by the authority of a resolution of the Directors provided always that such authority may be given prior to or after the affixing of the Seal and if given after may be in general form confirming a number of affixings of the Seal. The Seal shall be affixed in the presence of a Director or a Secretary (or an assistant Secretary) or in the presence of any one or more Persons as the Directors may appoint for the purpose and every Person as aforesaid shall sign every instrument to which the Seal is so affixed in their presence.

96. The Company may maintain a facsimile of the Seal in such countries or places as the Directors may appoint and such facsimile Seal shall not be affixed to any instrument except by the authority of a resolution of the Directors provided always that such authority may be given prior to or after the affixing of such facsimile Seal and if given after may be in general form confirming a number of affixings of such facsimile Seal. The facsimile Seal shall be affixed in the presence of such Person or Persons as the Directors shall for this purpose appoint and such Person or Persons as aforesaid shall sign every instrument to which the facsimile Seal is so affixed in their presence and such affixing of the facsimile Seal and signing as aforesaid shall have the same meaning and effect as if the Seal had been affixed in the presence of and the instrument signed by a Director or a Secretary (or an assistant Secretary) or in the presence of any one or more Persons as the Directors may appoint for the purpose.

97. Notwithstanding the foregoing, a Secretary or any assistant Secretary shall have the authority to affix the Seal, or the facsimile Seal, to any instrument for the purposes of attesting authenticity of the matter contained therein but which does not create any obligation binding on the Company.

DISQUALIFICATION OF DIRECTORS

98. The office of Director shall be vacated, if the Director:

(a) becomes bankrupt or makes any arrangement or composition with his creditors;

(b) dies or is found to be or becomes of unsound mind;

(c) resigns his office by notice in writing to the Company;

(d) is removed from office by Ordinary Resolution;

(e) is removed from office by notice addressed to him at his last known address and signed by all of his co-Directors (not being less than two in number); or

(f) is removed from office pursuant to any other provision of these Articles.

PROCEEDINGS OF DIRECTORS

99. The Directors may meet together (either within or without the Cayman Islands) for the despatch of business, adjourn, and otherwise regulate their meetings and proceedings as they think fit . Questions arising at any meeting shall be decided by a majority of votes. In case of an equality of votes the chairman shall have a second or casting vote. A Director may, and a Secretary or assistant Secretary on the requisition of a Director shall, at any time summon a meeting of the Directors.

100. A Director may participate in any meeting of the Directors, or of any committee appointed by the Directors of which such Director is a member, by means of telephone or similar communication equipment by way of which all Persons participating in such meeting can communicate with each other and such participation shall be deemed to constitute presence in person at the meeting.

101. The quorum necessary for the transaction of the business of the Directors may be fixed by the Directors, and unless so fixed, if there be two or more Directors the quorum shall be two, and if there be one Director the quorum shall be one. A Director represented by proxy or by an alternate Director at any meeting shall be deemed to be present for the purposes of determining whether or not a quorum is present.

102. A Director who is in any way, whether directly or indirectly, interested in a contract or proposed contract with the Company shall declare the nature of his interest at a meeting of the Directors. A general notice given to the Directors by any Director to the effect that he is a member of any specified company or firm and is to be regarded as interested in any contract which may thereafter be made with that company or firm shall be deemed a sufficient declaration of interest in regard to any contract so made. A Director may vote in respect of any contract or proposed contract or arrangement notwithstanding that he may be interested therein and if he does so his vote shall be counted and he may be counted in the quorum at any meeting of the Directors at which any such contract or proposed contract or arrangement shall come before the meeting for consideration.

103. A Director may hold any other office or place of profit under the Company (other than the office of auditor) in conjunction with his office of Director for such period and on such terms (as to remuneration and otherwise) as the Directors may determine and no Director or intending Director shall be disqualified by his office from contracting with the Company either with regard to his tenure of any such other office or place of profit or as vendor, purchaser or otherwise, nor shall any such contract or arrangement entered into by or on behalf of the Company in which any Director is in any way interested, be liable to be avoided, nor shall any Director so contracting or being so interested be liable to account to the Company for any profit realised by any such contract or arrangement by reason of such Director holding that office or of the fiduciary relation thereby established. A Director, notwithstanding his interest, may be counted in the quorum present at any meeting of the Directors whereat he or any other Director is appointed to hold any such office or place of profit under the Company or whereat the terms of any such appointment are arranged and he may vote on any such appointment or arrangement.

104. Any Director may act by himself or his firm in a professional capacity for the Company, and he or his firm shall be entitled to remuneration for professional services as if he were not a Director; provided that nothing herein contained shall authorise a Director or his firm to act as auditor to the Company.

105. The Directors shall cause minutes to be made in books or loose-leaf folders provided for the purpose of recording:

(a) all appointments of officers made by the Directors;

(b) the names of the Directors present at each meeting of the Directors and of any committee of the Directors; and

(c) all resolutions and proceedings at all meetings of the Company, and of the Directors and of committees of Directors.

106. When the chairman of a meeting of the Directors signs the minutes of such meeting the same shall be deemed to have been duly held notwithstanding that all the Directors have not actually come together or that there may have been a technical defect in the proceedings.

107. A resolution in writing signed by all the Directors or all the members of a committee of Directors entitled to receive notice of a meeting of Directors or committee of Directors, as the case may be (an alternate Director, subject as provided otherwise in the terms of appointment of the alternate Director, being entitled to sign such a resolution on behalf of his appointer), shall be as valid and effectual as if it had been passed at a duly called and constituted meeting of Directors or committee of Directors, as the case may be. When signed a resolution may consist of several documents each signed by one or more of the Directors or his duly appointed alternate.

108. The continuing Directors may act notwithstanding any vacancy in their body but if and for so long as their number is reduced below the number fixed by or pursuant to these Articles as the necessary quorum of Directors, the continuing Directors may act for the purpose of increasing the number, or of summoning a general meeting of the Company, but for no other purpose.

109. The Directors may elect a chairman of their meetings and determine the period for which he is to hold office but if no such chairman is elected, or if at any meeting the chairman is not present within fifteen minutes after the time appointed for holding the meeting, the Directors present may choose one of their number to be chairman of the meeting.

110. Subject to any regulations imposed on it by the Directors, a committee appointed by the Directors may elect a chairman of its meetings. If no such chairman is elected, or if at any meeting the chairman is not present within fifteen minutes after the time appointed for holding the meeting, the committee members present may choose one of their number to be chairman of the meeting.

111. A committee appointed by the Directors may meet and adjourn as it thinks proper. Subject to any regulations imposed on it by the Directors, questions arising at any meeting shall be determined by a majority of votes of the committee members present and in case of an equality of votes the chairman shall have a second or casting vote.

112. All acts done by any meeting of the Directors or of a committee of Directors, or by any Person acting as a Director, shall notwithstanding that it be afterwards discovered that there was some defect in the appointment of any such Director or Person acting as aforesaid, or that they or any of them were disqualified, be as valid as if every such Person had been duly appointed and was qualified to be a Director.

DIVIDENDS

113. Subject to any rights and restrictions for the time being attached to any Shares, the Directors may from time to time declare dividends (including interim dividends) and other distributions on Shares in issue and authorise payment of the same out of the funds of the Company lawfully available therefor.

114. Subject to any rights and restrictions for the time being attached to any Shares, the Company by Ordinary Resolution may declare dividends, but no dividend shall exceed the amount recommended by the Directors.

115. The Directors may, before recommending or declaring any dividend, set aside out of the funds legally available for distribution such sums as they think proper as a reserve or reserves which shall, in the absolute discretion of the Directors be applicable for meeting contingencies, or for equalising dividends or for any other purpose to which those funds may be properly applied and pending such application may in the absolute discretion of the Directors, either be employed in the business of the Company or be invested in such investments as the Directors may from time to time think fit.

116. Any dividend may be paid in any manner as the Directors may determine. If paid by cheque it will be sent through the post to the registered address of the Shareholder or Person entitled thereto, or in the case of joint holders, to any one of such joint holders at his registered address or to such Person and such address as the Shareholder or Person entitled, or such joint holders as the case may be, may direct. Every such cheque shall be made payable to the order of the Person to whom it is sent or to the order of such other Person as the Shareholder or Person entitled, or such joint holders as the case may be, may direct.

117. The Directors when paying dividends to the Shareholders in accordance with the foregoing provisions of these Articles may make such payment either in cash or in specie.

118. Subject to any rights and restrictions for the time being attached to any Shares, all dividends shall be declared and paid according to the amounts paid up on the Shares, but if and for so long as nothing is paid up on any of the Shares dividends may be declared and paid according to the par value of the Shares.

119. If several Persons are registered as joint holders of any Share, any of them may give effectual receipts for any dividend or other moneys payable on or in respect of the Share.

120. No dividend shall bear interest against the Company.

ACCOUNTS, AUDIT AND ANNUAL RETURN AND DECLARATION

121. The books of account relating to the Company's affairs shall be kept in such manner as may be determined from time to time by the Directors.

122. The books of account shall be kept at the Office, or at such other place or places as the Directors think fit, and shall always be open to the inspection of the Directors.

123. The Directors may from time to time determine whether and to what extent and at what times and places and under what conditions or regulations the accounts and books of the Company or any of them shall be open to the inspection of Shareholders not being Directors, and no Shareholder (not being a Director) shall have any right of inspecting any account or book or document of the Company except as conferred by law or authorised by the Directors or by Ordinary Resolution.

124. The accounts relating to the Company's affairs shall only be audited if the Directors so determine, in which case the financial year end and the accounting principles will be determined by the Directors.

125. The Directors in each year shall prepare, or cause to be prepared, an annual return and declaration setting forth the particulars required by the Law and deliver a copy thereof to the Registrar of Companies in the Cayman Islands.

CAPITALISATION OF RESERVES

126. Subject to the Law, the Directors may, with the authority of an Ordinary Resolution:

(a) resolve to capitalise an amount standing to the credit of reserves (including a Share Premium Account, capital redemption reserve and profit and loss account), whether or not available for distribution;

(b) appropriate the sum resolved to be capitalised to the Shareholders in proportion to the nominal amount of Shares (whether or not fully paid) held by them respectively and apply that sum on their behalf in or towards:

(i) paying up the amounts (if any) for the time being unpaid on Shares held by them respectively, or

(ii) paying up in full unissued Shares or debentures of a nominal amount equal to that sum, and allot the Shares or debentures, credited as fully paid, to the Shareholders (or as they may direct) in those proportions, or partly in one way and partly in the other, but the Share Premium Account, the capital redemption reserve and profits which are not available for distribution may, for the purposes of this Article, only be applied in paying up unissued Shares to be allotted to Shareholders credited as fully paid;

(c) make any arrangements they think fit to resolve a difficulty arising in the distribution of a capitalised reserve and in particular, without limitation, where Shares or debentures become distributable in fractions the Directors may deal with the fractions as they think fit;

(d) authorise a Person to enter (on behalf of all the Shareholders concerned) into an agreement with the Company providing for either:

(i) the allotment to the Shareholders respectively, credited as fully paid, of Shares or debentures to which they may be entitled on the capitalisation, or

(ii) the payment by the Company on behalf of the Shareholders (by the application of their respective proportions of the reserves resolved to be capitalised) of the amounts or part of the amounts remaining unpaid on their existing Shares,

and any such agreement made under this authority being effective and binding on all those Shareholders; and

(e) generally do all acts and things required to give effect to the resolution.

SHARE PREMIUM ACCOUNT

127. The Directors shall in accordance with the Law establish a Share Premium Account and shall carry to the credit of such account from time to time a sum equal to the amount or value of the premium paid on the issue of any Share .

128. There shall be debited to any Share Premium Account on the redemption or purchase of a Share the difference between the nominal value of such Share and the redemption or purchase price provided always that at the discretion of the Directors such sum may be paid out of the profits of the Company or, if permitted by the Law, out of capital.

NOTICES

129. Any notice or document may be served by the Company or by the Person entitled to give notice to any Shareholder either personally, or by posting it airmail or air courier service in a prepaid letter addressed to such Shareholder at his address as appearing in the Register, or by electronic mail to any electronic mail address such Shareholder may have specified in writing for the purpose of such service of notices, or by facsimile should the Directors deem it appropriate. In the case of joint holders of a Share, all notices shall be given to that one of the joint holders whose name stands first in the Register in respect of the joint holding, and notice so given shall be sufficient notice to all the joint holders.

130. Any Shareholder present, either personally or by proxy, at any meeting of the Company shall for all purposes be deemed to have received due notice of such meeting and, where requisite, of the purposes for which such meeting was convened.

131. Any notice or other document, if served by:

(a) post, shall be deemed to have been served five days after the time when the letter containing the same is posted;

(b) facsimile, shall be deemed to have been served upon production by the transmitting facsimile machine of a report confirming transmission of the facsimile in full to the facsimile number of the recipient;

(c) recognised courier service, shall be deemed to have been served 48 hours after the time when the letter containing the same is delivered to the courier service; or

(d) electronic mail, shall be deemed to have been served immediately upon the time of the transmission by electronic mail.

In proving service by post or courier service it shall be sufficient to prove that the letter containing the notice or documents was properly addressed and duly posted or delivered to the courier service.

132. Any notice or document delivered or sent by post to or left at the registered address of any Shareholder in accordance with the terms of these Articles shall notwithstanding that such Shareholder be then dead or bankrupt, and whether or not the Company has notice of his death or bankruptcy, be deemed to have been duly served in respect of any Share registered in the name of such Shareholder as sole or joint holder, unless his name shall at the time of the service of the notice or document, have been removed from the Register as the holder of the Share, and such service shall for all purposes be deemed a sufficient service of such notice or document on all Persons interested (whether jointly with or as claiming through or under him) in the Share.

133. Notice of every general meeting of the Company shall be given to:

(a) all Shareholders holding Shares with the right to receive notice and who have supplied to the Company an address for the giving of notices to them; and

(b) every Person entitled to a Share in consequence of the death or bankruptcy of a Shareholder, who but for his death or bankruptcy would be entitled to receive notice of the meeting.

No other Person shall be entitled to receive notices of general meetings.

INDEMNITY

134. Every Director (including for the purposes of this Article any alternate Director appointed pursuant to the provisions of these Articles), Secretary, assistant Secretary, or other officer for the time being and from time to time of the Company (but not including the Company's auditors) and the personal representatives of the same (each an "Indemnified Person") shall be indemnified and secured harmless against all actions, proceedings, costs, charges, expenses, losses, damages or liabilities incurred or sustained by such Indemnified Person, other than by reason of such Indemnified Person's own dishonesty, wilful default or fraud, in or about the conduct of the Company's business or affairs (including as a result of any mistake of judgment) or in the execution or discharge of his duties, powers, authorities or discretions, including without prejudice to the generality of the foregoing, any costs, expenses, losses or liabilities incurred by such Indemnified Person in defending (whether successfully or otherwise) any civil proceedings concerning the Company or its affairs in any court whether in the Cayman Islands or elsewhere.

135. No Indemnified Person shall be liable:

(a) for the acts, receipts, neglects, defaults or omissions of any other Director or officer or agent of the Company; or

(b) for any loss on account of defect of title to any property of the Company; or

(c) on account of the insufficiency of any security in or upon which any money of the Company shall be invested; or

(d) for any loss incurred through any bank, broker or other similar Person; or

(e) for any loss occasioned by any negligence, default, breach of duty, breach of trust, error of judgement or oversight on such Indemnified Person's part; or

(f) for any loss, damage or misfortune whatsoever which may happen in or arise from the execution or discharge of the duties, powers, authorities, or discretions of such Indemnified Person's office or in relation thereto; unless the same shall happen through such Indemnified Person's own dishonesty, wilful default or fraud.

NON-RECOGNITION OF TRUSTS

136. Subject to the proviso hereto, no Person shall be recognised by the Company as holding any Share upon any trust and the Company shall not, unless required by law, be bound by or be compelled in any way to recognise (even when having notice thereof) any equitable, contingent, future or partial interest in any Share or (except only as otherwise provided by these Articles or as the Law requires) any other right in respect of any Share except an absolute right to the entirety thereof in each Shareholder registered in the Register, provided that, notwithstanding the foregoing, the Company shall be entitled to recognise any such interests as shall be determined by the Directors.

WINDING UP

137. If the Company shall be wound up the liquidator shall apply the assets of the Company in such manner and order as he thinks fit in satisfaction of creditors' claims.

138. If the Company shall be wound up, the liquidator may, with the sanction of an Ordinary Resolution divide amongst the Shareholders in specie or kind the whole or any part of the assets of the Company (whether they shall consist of property of the same kind or not) and may, for such purpose set such value as he deems fair upon any property to be divided as aforesaid and may determine how such division shall be carried out as between the Shareholders or different Classes. The liquidator may, with the like sanction, vest the whole or any part of such assets in trustees upon such trusts for the benefit of the Shareholders as the liquidator, with the like sanction shall think fit, but so that no Shareholder shall be compelled to accept any assets whereon there is any liability.

AMENDMENT OF ARTICLES OF ASSOCIATION

139. Subject to the Law and the rights attaching to the various Classes, the Company may at any time and from time to time by Special Resolution alter or amend these Articles in whole or in part.

CLOSING OF REGISTER OR FIXING RECORD DATE

140. For the purpose of determining those Shareholders that are entitled to receive notice of, attend or vote at any meeting of Shareholders or any adjournment thereof, or those Shareholders that are entitled to receive payment of any dividend, or in order to make a determination as to who is a Shareholder for any other purpose, the Directors may provide that the Register shall be closed for transfers for a stated period which shall not exceed in any case 40 days. If the Register shall be so closed for the purpose of determining those Shareholders that are entitled to receive notice of, attend or vote at a meeting of Shareholders the Register shall be so closed for at least ten days immediately preceding such meeting and the record date for such determination shall be the date of the closure of the Register.

141. In lieu of or apart from closing the Register, the Directors may fix in advance a date as the record date for any such determination of those Shareholders that are entitled to receive notice of, attend or vote at a meeting of the Shareholders and for the purpose of determining those Shareholders that are entitled to receive payment of any dividend the Directors may, at or within 90 days prior to the date of declaration of such dividend, fix a subsequent date as the record date for such determination.

142. If the Register is not so closed and no record date is fixed for the determination of those Shareholders entitled to receive notice of, attend or vote at a meeting of Shareholders or those Shareholders that are entitled to receive payment of a dividend, the date on which notice of the meeting is posted or the date on which the resolution of the Directors declaring such dividend is adopted, as the case may be, shall be the record date for such determination of Shareholders. When a determination of those Shareholders that are entitled to receive notice of, attend or vote at a meeting of Shareholders has been made as provided in this Article, such determination shall apply to any adjournment thereof.

REGISTRATION BY WAY OF CONTINUATION

143. The Company may by Special Resolution resolve to be registered by way of continuation in a jurisdiction outside the Cayman Islands or such other jurisdiction in which it is for the time being incorporated, registered or existing. In furtherance of a resolution adopted pursuant to this Article, the Directors may cause an application to be made to the Registrar of Companies to deregister the Company in the Cayman Islands or such other jurisdiction in which it is for the time being incorporated, registered or existing and may cause all such further steps as they consider appropriate to be taken to effect the transfer by way of continuation of the Company.

DISCLOSURE

144. The Directors, or any authorised service providers (including the officers, the Secretary and the registered office agent of the Company), shall be entitled to disclose to any regulatory or judicial authority, or to any stock exchange on which the Shares may from time to time be listed, any information regarding the affairs of the Company including, without limitation, information contained in the Register and books of the Company.

AMENDED AND RESTATED EXEMPTED LIMITED PARTNERSHIP AGREEMENT OF CHARITABLE DAF FUND, LP

THIS AMENDED AND RESTATED EXEMPTED LIMITED PARTNERSHIP AGREEMENT (the "Agreement") is made on November 7, 2011

BETWEEN

(1) Charitable DAF GP, LLC, a Delaware limited liability company registered as a foreign company in the Cayman Islands and having its registered office at Walkers Corporate Services Limited, Walker House, 87 Mary Street, George Town, Grand Cayman KY1-9005, Cayman Islands as general partner (the "General Partner"); and

(2) Charitable DAF HoldCo, Ltd, a Cayman Islands exempted Company having its registered office at Walkers Corporate Services Limited, Walker House, 87 Mary Street, George Town, Grand Cayman KY1-9005, Cayman Islands as limited partner (the "Limited Partner"); and

(3) Each individual, partnership, corporation, limited liability company, trust or other entity (each, a "Person") admitted as a limited partner or general partner (collectively, the "Partners") of the Partnership (as defined below) in accordance with this Agreement, including any Persons hereafter admitted as Partners in accordance with this Agreement and excluding any Persons who cease to be Partners in accordance with this Agreement; and

(4) Walkers Nominees Limited having its registered office at Walkers Corporate Services Limited, Walker House, 87 Mary Street, George Town, Grand Cayman, KY1-9005, Cayman Islands as the initial limited partner (the "Initial Limited Partner") solely for the purposes of withdrawing as such.

WHEREAS, Charitable DAF Fund, LP (the "Partnership") was formed and registered as an exempted limited partnership pursuant to and in accordance with the Exempted Limited Partnership Law (as amended) of the Cayman Islands (the "Law"), and since its formation has been governed by the Initial Limited Partnership Agreement of the Partnership, dated October 25, 2011 (the "Initial Agreement"); and

WHEREAS, the Partnership was formed in order to own, operate and make certain investments directly or indirectly on behalf of certain entities exempt from taxation under Section 501(c)(3) of the U.S. Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended (the "Code") and the parties hereto desire for the Partnership to be for the economic benefit of the Limited Partner and its Indirect Charitable Owners (as defined below) as set forth herein; and

WHEREAS, the parties hereto wish to amend and restate the Initial Agreement in its entirety and enter into this Agreement.

NOW THEREFORE, in consideration of the premises and other good and valuable consideration, the receipt of which is hereby acknowledged, the parties hereto hereby adopt this Agreement to be their Limited Partnership Agreement, as follows:

IT IS AGREED:

ARTICLE I
GENERAL PROVISIONS; COMPENSATION AND EXPENSES

1.1 Continuation. The parties hereto continue the Partnership as an exempted limited partnership formed on October 25, 2011 pursuant to the Law.

1.2 Name. The business of the Partnership shall be carried on under the name of Charitable DAF Fund, LP.

1.3 Purpose and Powers. The purpose of the Partnership shall be to invest and trade, directly or indirectly, in securities of all types and other investment vehicles and instruments. At least initially, a majority of the Partnership's assets shall be invested in shares of CLO HoldCo, Ltd., a Cayman Islands exempted company ("CLO HoldCo"), but the Partnership may make investments in other types of securities, investment vehicles and instruments in the sole discretion of the General Partner for the purpose of benefitting, directly or indirectly, the Indirect Charitable Owners.

1.4 Registered Office. The registered office of the Partnership is c/o Walkers Corporate Services Limited, Walker House, 87 Mary Street, George Town, Grand Cayman KY1-9005, Cayman Islands.

1.5 Partners. The name and addresses of the Partners are as follows:

Name	Address
Charitable DAF GP, LLC	c/o Walkers Corporate Services Limited Walker House 87 Mary Street George Town Grand Cayman KY1-9005, Cayman Islands
Charitable DAF HoldCo Ltd (Limited Partner)	c/o Walkers Corporate Services Limited Walker House 87 Mary Street George Town Grand Cayman KY1-9005, Cayman Islands

1.6 Powers.

(a) Subject to the terms and conditions of this Agreement, the General Partner shall have full, exclusive and complete discretion in the management and control of the business and affairs of the Partnership, shall make all decisions regarding the business of the Partnership, and shall have all of the rights, powers and obligations of a general partner of a limited partnership under the laws of the Cayman Islands. Except as otherwise expressly provided in this Agreement, the General Partner is hereby granted the right, power and authority to do on behalf of the Partnership all things which, in the General Partner's sole discretion, are necessary or appropriate to manage the Partnership's affairs and fulfill the purposes of the Partnership; provided, however that the Partnership's assets and investments shall be for the benefit of the Limited Partners and not for the economic benefit of the General Partner.

(b) Except as otherwise provided herein, the Limited Partners, in their capacity as Limited Partners, shall not participate in the management of or have any control over the Partnership's business nor shall the Limited Partners have the power to represent, act for, sign for or bind the General Partner or the Partnership. The Limited Partners hereby consent to the exercise by the General Partner of the Powers conferred on it by this Agreement.

1.7 Term. The Partnership was established on October 25, 2011 and shall continue until terminated in accordance with this Agreement or any amendment or modification thereof.

1.8 Admission of New Partners. The General Partner may at any time admit one or more new Partners on such terms as it may determine in its sole discretion; provided that any such new Limited Partner shall have as its equity owners solely Indirect Charitable Owners.

1.9 Taxable Year. The Taxable Year of the Partnership shall be a calendar fiscal year, or such other fiscal year as the General Partner shall determine in their sole discretion from time to time.

1.10 Liability of Partners.

(a) The General Partner shall be liable for all of the debts, liabilities and obligations of the Partnership.

(b) Except to the extent otherwise required by law or this Agreement, a Limited Partner shall not be personally liable for any obligations of the Partnership to third parties nor for the return of any distributions from the Partnership to the Limited Partner. A Limited Partner may be liable for the tax audit and related expenses referred to in Section 6.1.

1.11 Limitation on Assignability of Partners' Interests.

(a) A Limited Partner may not assign his interest in whole or in part to any person, without the prior written consent of the General Partner, except by operation of law, nor shall he be entitled to substitute for himself as a Limited Partner any other person, without the prior written consent of the General Partner, which in either case may be given or withheld in the sole discretion of the General Partner. Any attempted assignment or substitution not made in accordance with this section shall be void ab initio.

(b) The General Partner may not assign their interests in the Partnership to any entity that is not under common control with the General Partner without the consent of a majority-in-interest of the Limited Partners. Notwithstanding the foregoing, the General Partner may freely assign their economic interest in the Partnership in whole or in part.

1.12 Definitions. For the purpose of this Agreement, unless the context otherwise requires:

(a) General Partner. The term "General Partner" shall refer to Charitable DAF GP, LLC, and each other person subsequently admitted as a general partner pursuant to the terms of this Agreement. The General Partner shall give each Limited Partner notice of any change in control of the General Partner. The General Partner shall give each Limited Partner notice of the admission of any additional general partner to the Partnership.

(b) Indirect Charitable Owners. The term "Indirect Charitable Owner" shall refer to the indirect equity owners of the Limited Partners, which shall at all times be entities or organizations exempt from taxation under Section 501(c)(3) of the Code or entities or organizations whose sole beneficiaries are entities or organizations exempt from taxation under Section 501(c)(3) of the Code.

(c) Limited Partner. The term "Limited Partner" shall refer to Charitable DAF HoldCo Ltd (and each person subsequently admitted as a limited partner by the General Partner pursuant to the terms of this Agreement).

(d) Partner. The term "Partner" shall refer to the General Partner or the Limited Partner.

1.13 Service Providers. The General Partner may engage one or more Persons to act, or remove any one or more Persons from so acting, as service providers to the Company (including, without limitation, as manager, administrator, custodian, registrar and transfer agent, investment manager, investment adviser, sponsor and/or prime broker, auditors and legal counsel to the Partnership) in its sole discretion; provided, that any compensation paid to any such service provider that is affiliated with the General Partner shall be in an amount customary for services of a similar nature.

1.14 Partnership Expenses. The Partnership will bear its own operating, administrative, trading and other expenses, including interest expense, brokerage commissions, management fees (if any), taxes, research costs, legal and accounting expenses and other operating expenses. In addition, the Partnership will bear its pro rata share of CLO HoldCo's operating, administrative, trading and other expenses, including interest expense, brokerage commissions, management fees, taxes, research costs, legal and accounting expenses and other operating expenses. The Partnership will also bear (or reimburse the General Partner for) its organizational fees and expenses. To the extent the Partnership shares trading expenses with other accounts that may be managed by the General Partner or any affiliates, it will bear a proportionate share of the associated costs. In no event shall the General Partner receive any compensation from the Partnership.

1.15 Withdrawal of Initial Limited Partner. The Initial Limited Partner hereby withdraws as a limited partner immediately following the admission of the Limited Partners and thereafter shall have no further rights, liabilities or obligations under or in respect of this Agreement in its capacity as Initial Limited Partner.

ARTICLE II
POWERS

2.1 Partnership Powers. The Partnership shall have the following powers:

(a) To purchase, sell, invest and trade, directly or indirectly, on margin or otherwise, in all types of securities and other financial instruments of United States and non-U.S. entities, including, without limitation, capital stock; all manner of equity securities (whether registered or unregistered, traded or privately offered, American Depository Receipts, common or preferred); physical commodities; shares of beneficial interest; partnership interests, limited liability company interests and similar financial instruments; secured and unsecured debt (both corporate and sovereign, bank debt, syndicated debt, vendor claims and/or other contractual claims); bonds, notes and debentures (whether subordinated, convertible or otherwise); currencies; interest rate, currency, equity and other derivative products, including, without limitation, (i) future contracts (and options thereon) relating to stock indices, currencies, United States Government securities, securities of non-U.S. governments, other financial instruments and all other commodities, (ii) swaps and contracts for difference, options, swaptions, rights, warrants, when-issued securities, caps, collars, floors, forward rate agreements, and repurchase and reverse repurchase agreements and other cash equivalents, (iii) spot and forward currency transactions and (iv) agreements relating to or securing such transactions; leases, including, without limitation, equipment lease certificates; equipment trust certificates; mortgage-backed securities and other similar instruments (including, without limitation, fixed-rate, pass-throughs, adjustable rate mortgages, collateralized mortgage obligations, stripped mortgage-backed securities and REMICs); loans; credit paper; accounts and notes receivable and payable held by trade or other creditors; trade acceptances and claims; contract and other claims; statutory claims; royalty claims; executory contracts; participations; mutual funds, exchange traded funds and similar financial instruments; money market funds and instruments; obligations of the United States, any state thereof, non-U.S. governments and instrumentalities of any of them; commercial paper; certificates of deposit; bankers' acceptances; trust receipts; letters of credit; choses in action; puts; calls; other obligations and instruments or evidences of indebtedness of whatever kind or nature; and real estate and any kind of interests in real estate; in each case, of any person, corporation, government or other entity whatsoever, whether or not publicly traded or readily marketable (all such items being called herein a "Financial Instruments"), and to sell Financial Instruments short and cover such sales;

(b) To possess, transfer, mortgage, pledge or otherwise deal in, and to exercise all rights, powers, privileges and other incidents of ownership or possession with respect to, Financial Interests held or owned by the Partnership with the ultimate objective of the preservation, protection, improvement and enhancement in value thereof and to hold such Financial Interests in the name of the Partnership, in the name of any securities broker or firm, in the name of any nominee of such firm, or in the name of any other nominee or any other street name, or any combination thereof;

(c) To lend, either with or without security, any Financial Instruments, funds or other properties of the Partnership, including by entering into reverse repurchase agreements, and, from time to time, undertake leverage on behalf of the Partnership;

(d) To borrow or raise moneys and, from time to time, without limit as to amount, to issue, accept, endorse and execute promissory notes, drafts, bills of exchange, warrants, bonds, debentures and other negotiable or non-negotiable instruments and evidences of indebtedness, and to secure the payment of any of the foregoing instruments and of the interest thereon by mortgage upon or pledge, conveyance or assignment in trust of the whole or any part of the property of the Partnership, whether at the time owned or thereafter acquired, and to sell, pledge or otherwise dispose of such bonds or other obligations of the Partnership for its purposes;

(e) To have and maintain one or more offices within or without the Cayman Islands and in connection therewith to rent or acquire office space, engage personnel and do such other acts and things as may be necessary or advisable in connection with the maintenance of such office or offices;

(f) To open, maintain and close bank accounts and brokerage accounts, including the power to draw checks or other orders for the payment of monies; and

(g) To enter into, make and perform all contracts, agreements and other undertakings as may be necessary or advisable or incidental to the carrying out of the foregoing objects and purposes.

2.2 Rights, Powers, Limitations on Liability and Indemnification of General Partner.

(a) Whether or not herein expressly so provided, every provision of this Agreement relating to the conduct or affecting the liability of or affording protection to the General Partner, its members or any of their respective affiliates and their respective partners, members, officers, directors, employees, shareholders and agents (including members of any committee and parties acting as agents for the execution of transactions) (each, a "Covered Person" and collectively, "Covered Persons") shall be subject to the provisions of this Section.

(b) To the fullest extent permitted by law, no Covered Person shall be liable to the Partnership or anyone for any reason whatsoever (including but not limited to (i) any act or omission by any Covered Person in connection with the conduct of the business of the Partnership, that is determined by such Covered Person in good faith to be in or not opposed to the best interests of the Partnership, (ii) any act or omission by any Covered Person based on the suggestions of any professional advisor of the Partnership whom such Covered Person believes is authorized to make such suggestions on behalf of the Partnership, (iii) any act or omission by the Partnership, or (iv) any mistake, negligence, misconduct or bad faith of any broker or other agent of the Partnership selected by Covered Person with reasonable care), unless any act or omission by such Covered Person constitutes willful misconduct or gross negligence by such Covered Person (as determined by a non-appealable judgment of a court of competent jurisdiction).

(c) Covered Person may consult with legal counsel or accountants selected by such Covered Person and any act or omission by such Covered Person on behalf of the Partnership or in furtherance of the business of the Partnership in good faith in reliance on and in accordance with the advice of such counsel or accountants shall be full justification for the act or omission, and such Covered Person shall be fully protected in so acting or omitting to act if the counsel or accountants were selected with reasonable care.

(d) To the fullest extent permitted by law, the Partnership shall indemnify and save harmless Covered Persons (the "Indemnitees"), from and against any and all claims, liabilities, damages, losses, costs and expenses, including amounts paid in satisfaction of judgments, in compromises and settlements, as fines and penalties and legal or other costs and expenses of investigating or defending against any claim or alleged claim, of any nature whatsoever, known or unknown, liquidated or unliquidated, that are incurred by any Indemnitee and arise out of or in connection with the business of the Partnership, any investment made under or in connection with this Agreement, or the performance by the Indemnitee of Covered Person's responsibilities hereunder and against all taxes, charges, duties or levies incurred by such Covered Person or any Indemnitee in connection with the Partnership, provided that an Indemnitee shall not be entitled to indemnification hereunder to the extent the Indemnitee's conduct constitutes willful misconduct or gross negligence (as determined by a non-appealable judgment of a court of competent jurisdiction). The termination of any proceeding by settlement, judgment, order or upon a plea of nolo contendere or its equivalent shall not, of itself, create a presumption that the Indemnitee's conduct constituted willful misconduct or gross negligence.

(e) Expenses incurred by an Indemnitee in defense or settlement of any claim that shall be subject to a right of indemnification hereunder, shall be advanced by the Partnership prior to the final disposition thereof upon receipt of an undertaking by or on behalf of the Indemnitee to repay the amount advanced to the extent that it shall be determined ultimately that the Indemnitee is not entitled to be indemnified hereunder.

(f) The right of any Indemnitee to the indemnification provided herein shall be cumulative of, and in addition to, any and all rights to which the Indemnitee may otherwise be entitled by contract or as a matter of law or equity and shall be extended to the Indemnitee's successors, assigns and legal representatives.

(g) The provisions of this Section are expressly intended to confer benefits upon Covered Persons and such provisions shall remain operative and in full force and effect regardless of the expiration or any termination of this Agreement.

(h) Notwithstanding anything in this Agreement to the contrary, the aggregate maximum amount that a Covered Person may be liable to the Partnership and/or any of the Partners pursuant to this Agreement shall, to the extent not prohibited by law, never exceed the amount of management and incentive fees received by such Covered Person from the Partnership under this Agreement prior to the date that the acts or omissions giving rise to a claim for indemnification or liability shall have occurred. In no event shall any Covered Person be liable for special, exemplary, punitive, indirect, or consequential loss, or damage of any kind whatsoever, including without limitation lost profits. No Covered Person shall incur any liability for interest on any monies at any time received by such Covered Person or any investment loss or other charge resulting therefrom with respect to amounts invested hereunder.

(i) WAIVER OF CONSUMER RIGHTS: The Partnership and each of the Limited Partners waive all of their respective rights, if any, under the Deceptive Trade Practices-Consumer Protection Act, Section 17.41 et seq., Texas Business & Commerce Code ("DTPA"), a law that gives consumers special rights and protections. After consultation with an attorney of Partnership's own selection, Partnership voluntarily consents to this waiver. This waiver includes any right to recover attorneys' fees under the DTPA. Further, Partnership waives all of its rights to any and all protections afforded by any other state or federal Consumer Protection Acts, including the recovery of attorneys' fees.

(j) No Covered Person shall be liable hereunder for any settlement of any action or claim effected without its written consent thereto.

Pursuant to the foregoing indemnification and exculpation provisions applicable to each Covered Person, the Partnership (and not the applicable Covered Person) shall be responsible for any losses resulting from trading errors and similar human errors, absent gross negligence or reckless or intentional misconduct of any Covered Person. Given the volume of transactions executed on behalf of the Partnership, Limited Partners acknowledge that trading errors (and similar errors) will occur and that the Partnership shall be responsible for any resulting losses, even if such losses result from the negligence (but not gross negligence) of any Covered Person.

(k) This Section 2.2 shall survive a Limited Partner's withdrawal as a limited partner of the Partnership and any termination of this Agreement.

ARTICLE III
CAPITAL ACCOUNTS AND DIVISION OF PROFITS AND LOSSES

3.1 Capital Contributions.

(a) Each Partner has made the capital contributions to the Partnership in the amount set forth in the records of the Partnership. The Limited Partner has contributed to the Partnership all of the outstanding equity interests of CLO HoldCo.

3.2 Capital Account; Allocation of Profits and Losses.

(a) There shall be established for each Partner on the books of the Partnership as of the first day of the fiscal period during which such Partner was admitted to the Partnership a capital account for such Partner in an amount equal to his capital contribution to the Partnership.

(b) Since the General Partner's capital account and contributions shall be the minimum required by Law, all income, deductions, gains, losses and credits of the Partnership shall be allocated shall be for the benefit of the Limited Partner, except as may otherwise be required by law. In the event any valuation of assets is necessary or appropriate, the General Partner shall determine such value in any reasonable manner determined by the General Partner in its sole discretion consistent with relevant accounting principles and applicable law.

(c) For purposes of determining the share of any items allocated to any period during the relevant Taxable Year of the Partnership, such shares shall be determined by the General Partner using any method permitted by the Code and the regulations thereunder. All allocations to be made by the General Partner may be overridden if necessary to comply with the Code, the regulations thereunder or other applicable law.

(d) To the extent that the Partnership pays withholding taxes as to a Partner, such amounts shall be charged to the applicable Partner's capital account; provided, however, that any such amounts may be treated as an advance to the Partner with interest to be charged to that Partner's capital account at a rate determined by the General Partner.

(e) Each Partner agrees not to treat, on any tax return or in any claim for a refund, any item of income, gain, loss, deduction or credit in a manner inconsistent with treatment of such item by the Partnership.

ARTICLE IV
LEGAL INTERESTS, DISTRIBUTIONS AND PARTIAL WITHDRAWALS FROM CAPITAL ACCOUNT

4.1 Legal Interest. Each Partner shall have and own during any Taxable Year an undivided interest in the Partnership equal to his opening capital account for such period.

4.2 Distributions.

(a) Distributions shall be made to the Limited Partner at the times, in a manner (including in kind) and in the aggregate amounts determined by the General Partner, after taking into consideration available cash and the needs of the Indirect Charitable Owners of the Limited Partner for funds to cover their administrative and operating expenses. In determining the amount of cash or securities available for distribution, the General Partner may retain reasonable reserves in such amounts as it determines may be necessary to cover expenses, contingencies and losses. Notwithstanding the foregoing, distributions made in connection with a sale of all or substantially all of the Partnership's assets or a liquidation of the Partnership shall be made in accordance with the capital account balances of the Partners within the time period set forth in Treasury Regulations Section 1.704-1(b)(2)(ii)(b)(3).

(b) The General Partner may withhold and pay over to the U.S. Internal Revenue Service (or any other relevant taxing authority) such amounts as the Partnership is required to withhold or pay over, pursuant to the Code or any other applicable law, on account of a Partner's distributive share of the Partnership's items of gross income, income or gain.

For purposes of this Agreement, any taxes so withheld or paid over by the Partnership with respect to a Partner's distributive share of the Partnership's gross income, income or gain shall be deemed to be a distribution or payment to such Partner, reducing the amount otherwise distributable to such Partner pursuant to this Agreement and reducing the capital account of such Partner. If the amount of such taxes is greater than any such distributable amounts, then such Partner and any successor to such Partner's interest shall pay the amount of such excess to the Partnership, as a contribution to the capital of the Partnership.

4.3 Withdrawal. Without the consent of the General Partner, no Partner may withdraw as a Partner or make withdrawals from such Partner's capital account. In the event the General Partner permits any such withdrawal, the withdrawal shall be on such terms and conditions as the General Partner shall determine in its sole discretion. The General Partner may terminate all or any part of the interest of any Limited Partner at any time for any reason or no reason by written notice; provided that any new or additional Limited Partner shall be directly or indirectly an entity or organization exempt from taxation under Section 501(c)(3) of the Code.

ARTICLE V
DURATION OF PARTNERSHIP

5.1 Termination. The Partnership shall be required to be wound up and dissolved upon:

(a) the service of a notice by the General Partner on the other Partners requiring that the Partnership be wound up and dissolved; or

(b) the withdrawal by or resignation of the General Partner as general partner of the Partnership; or

(c) the withdrawal of all Limited Partners.

Upon the occurrence of any such event, the Partnership's affairs shall be wound up by the General Partner or such other Person as the General Partner shall appoint.

5.2 Winding Up. Upon the Partnership being required to be wound up and dissolved, the General Partner shall proceed with the liquidation and distribution of the assets of the Partnership, and upon completion of the winding up of the Partnership, shall have the authority to and shall execute and file a dissolution notice and such other documents required to effect the dissolution and termination of the Partnership in accordance with the Law. Before the distribution of all the assets of the Partnership, the business of the Partnership and the affairs of the Partners, as such, shall continue to be governed by this Agreement. The winding up of the Partnership and payment of creditors shall be effected in accordance with the Law.

ARTICLE VI
MISCELLANEOUS

6.1 Tax Matters Partner. The General Partner shall at all times constitute, and have full powers and responsibilities, as the Tax Matters Partner of the Partnership. In the event the Partnership shall be the subject of an income tax audit by any Federal, state or local authority, to the extent the Partnership is treated as an entity for purposes of such audit, including administrative settlement and judicial review, the Tax Matters Partner shall be authorized to act for, and his decision shall be final and binding upon, the Partnership and each Partner thereof, and the Tax Matters Partner shall be indemnified and held harmless by the Partnership and each Partner for any action so taken by him in good faith. All expenses incurred in connection with any such audit, investigation, settlement or review shall be borne by the Partnership to the extent of available Partnership funds, and any excess shall be paid by the Partners individually in proportion to their percentage interests in the Partnership.

6.2 Right to Hire.

(a) Nothing herein shall preclude the General Partner from engaging on behalf of the Partnership the services of any person or firm, whether or not affiliated with the General Partner, including the General Partner, to render for compensation such services to the Partnership as may be necessary to implement the business purposes of the Partnership.

(b) Each of the Partners consents that the General Partner, the Investment Manager or any Limited Partner or any affiliate (as defined in the Securities Act of 1933, as amended, and the regulations thereunder) of any of them, including without limitation the investment manager of the CLO HoldCo, may engage in or possess an interest in directly or indirectly, any other present or future business venture of any nature or description for his own account, independently or with others, including but not limited to, any aspect of the securities business or any other business engaged in by the Partnership, and may become the general partner in other partnerships; and neither the Partnership nor any Partner shall have any rights in or to such independent venture or the income or profits derived therefrom.

(c) The General Partner, the Investment Manager and any affiliate or employee of such General Partner or Investment Manager, may hereafter render investment advisory services to other investors with respect to, and/or may own, purchase or sell, securities or other interests in property the same as or similar to those which the General Partner may purchase, hold or sell on behalf of the Partnership.

6.3 Applicable Law, etc. This Limited Partnership Agreement: (i) shall be binding on the executors, administrators, estates, heirs and legal successors of the Partners; (ii) shall be governed by, and construed in accordance with, the laws of the Cayman Islands; and (iii) may be executed in more than one counterpart with the same effect as if the parties executing the several counterparts had all executed one counterpart as of the day and year first above written; provided, however, that in the aggregate, they shall have been signed by all of the Partners. All pronouns and any variations thereof shall be deemed to refer to the masculine, feminine or neuter, singular or plural as the identity of the person may require. The term "gross negligence" and its cognates shall be interpreted in accordance with the laws of the State of Delaware.

6.4 Power of Attorney. Each of the undersigned does hereby constitute and appoint the General Partner, with full power of substitution, his true and lawful representative and attorney in-fact, in his name, place and stead to make, execute, sign and file this Agreement and any amendment to this Agreement authorized by the terms of this Agreement, and all such other instruments, documents and certificates (and any amendments thereto) which may from time to time be required by the laws of the Cayman Islands, the United States of America, or any state in which the Partnership shall determine to do business, or any political subdivision or agency thereof, to effectuate, implement and continue the valid and subsisting existence of the Partnership and to take any further action that the General Partner considers advisable in its sole discretion in connection with the exercise of its authority pursuant to this Agreement. This power of attorney is intended to secure an interest in property and, in addition, the obligations of each relevant Limited Partner under this Agreement and shall be irrevocable.

6.5 Tax Elections Under the Internal Revenue Code. The General Partner shall have the authority to make all tax elections and determinations on behalf of the Partnership under the Internal Revenue Code, the regulations promulgated thereunder or other applicable law to effect any elections, determinations or capital allocations.

6.6 Amendments to Partnership Agreement. The terms and provisions of this Agreement may be modified or amended at any time and from time to time with the consent of the General Partner together with the consent of a majority in interest of the Limited Partners, insofar as is consistent with the laws governing this Agreement. Notwithstanding the foregoing, the General Partner shall have the right to effect amendments to this Agreement without the consent of any Limited Partner, including without limitation, to reflect: a change in the location of the Partnership's principal place of business; a change in the registered office or registered agent; a change in the name of the Partnership; admission of Partners in accordance with this Agreement; a change that is necessary to qualify the Partnership as a limited partnership under the laws of any state or that is necessary or advisable in the opinion of the Tax Matters Partner to ensure that the Partnership will not be treated as an association taxable as a corporation for Federal income tax purposes; a change of the provisions relating to the management fee or other compensation to the Investment Manager or the General Partner so that such provisions conform to any applicable requirements of the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission and other regulatory authorities; a change (i) that is necessary or desirable to satisfy any requirements, conditions or guidelines contained in any opinion, directive, order, ruling or regulation of any Federal or state agency or contained in any Federal or state statute, compliance with any of which the General Partner deems to be in the best interests of the Partnership and the Limited Partners, (ii) that is required or contemplated by this Agreement, or (iii) that is necessary or desirable to implement new regulations published by the Internal Revenue Service with respect to partnership allocations of income, gain, loss, deduction and credit; a change to cure any ambiguity, to correct or supplement any provision herein which may be inconsistent with any other provision herein, or to make any other provision with respect to the matters or questions arising under this Agreement which will not be inconsistent with the provisions hereof; or a change that does not adversely affect the Limited Partners in any material respect; provided, that in no event shall the General Partner effect any amendment to this Agreement that has the effect of giving the General Partner any economic benefits in the assets of the Partnership; provided further, that the General Partner shall give notice to the Limited Partners of any such amendment.

6.7 Investment Representation. Each Partner hereby acknowledges and represents that it acquired its interest in the Partnership for investment purposes only and not with a view to its resale or distribution.

6.8 Notices. All notices, requests or approvals that any party hereto is required or desires to give to any Partner or to the Partnership shall be in writing signed by or on behalf of the party giving the same and delivered personally or sent overnight express mail by a reputable private carrier or by prepaid registered or certified mail, return receipt requested, addressed (i) to the Limited Partner at the addresses set forth beneath his signature to this Agreement; (ii) to the Partnership at the principal place of business of the Partnership with a copy of each such notice sent simultaneously to the General Partner and the Investment Manager at Nextbank Tower, 13455 Noel Road, 8th Floor, Dallas, Texas 75240; or (iii) to the respective party at such other address or addresses as the party may specify from time to time in a writing given to the Partnership in the manner provided in this Section 6.8 of ARTICLE VI. Notice shall be deemed to have been duly given and received (i) on the date of delivery, if personally delivered, (ii) on the next business day subsequent to sending by overnight express mail as aforesaid, or (iii) on the third day subsequent to mailing if mailed as aforesaid; provided that any withdrawal notices shall not be deemed to have been given until actually received by the Partnership.

6.9 General Partner Determinations. Any determinations or calculations made by the General Partner shall, if made in good faith and in the absence of manifest error, be binding upon the Partnership and its Limited Partners.

6.10 Dispute Resolution. The following procedures shall be used to resolve any controversy or claim ("Dispute") arising out of, relating to or in connection with the Agreement or otherwise involving the Partnership, its Partners and/or any Covered Person. If any of these provisions are determined to be invalid or unenforceable, the remaining provisions shall remain in effect and binding on the parties to the fullest extent permitted by law.

(a) Mediation.

(1) Any Dispute shall be submitted to mediation by written notice to the other party or parties. In the mediation process, the parties will try to resolve their differences voluntarily with the aid of an impartial mediator, who will attempt to facilitate negotiations. The mediator will be selected by agreement of the parties. If the parties cannot agree on a mediator, a mediator shall be designated by JAMS/Endispute at the request of a party using, if necessary, strike and rank procedures then in effect.

(2) The mediation will be conducted as specified by the mediator and agreed upon by the parties. The parties agree to discuss their differences in good faith and to attempt, with the assistance of the mediator, to reach an amicable resolution of the dispute.

(3) The mediation will be treated as a settlement discussion and therefore will be confidential. The mediator may not testify for either party in any later proceeding relating to the dispute. No recording or transcript shall be made of the mediation proceedings.

(4) Each party will bear its own costs in the mediation. The fees and expenses of the mediator will be shared equally by the parties.

(b) Arbitration. If a Dispute has not been resolved within 90 days after the written notice beginning the mediation process (or a longer period, if the parties agree to extend the mediation), the mediation shall terminate and the dispute will be settled by arbitration. A party who files a suit in court regarding a Dispute rather than in arbitration waives its claim and must pay all attorney's fees and costs incurred by the other party in seeking to have such suit dismissed. Under no circumstances will a party maintain its right to pursue his/her/its Dispute if that party initiates a judicial suit instead of complying with the mediation and arbitration provisions herein. The arbitration will be conducted through JAMS/Endispute in accordance with the procedures in this document and the commercial dispute arbitration rules then in effect ("Arbitration Rules"). In the event of a conflict, the provisions of this document will control.

(1) The arbitration will be conducted before a panel of three arbitrators, regardless of the size of the dispute, to be selected as provided in the Arbitration Rules. Any issue concerning the extent to which any dispute is subject to arbitration, or concerning the applicability, interpretation, or enforceability of these procedures, including any contention that all or part of these procedures are invalid or unenforceable, shall be governed by the Federal Arbitration Act ("FAA"), and resolved by the arbitrators, provided, however, that the Partnership or such applicable affiliate thereof may pursue a temporary restraining order and/or preliminary injunctive relief in connection with confidentiality covenants or agreements binding on any party, with related expedited discovery for the parties, in a court of law, and, thereafter, require arbitration of all issues of final relief. Under no circumstances will a state arbitration act preclude application of the FAA, including any choice of law provisions in this agreement, or any other agreement. No potential arbitrator may serve on the panel unless he or she has agreed in writing to abide and be bound by these procedures.

(2) The arbitrators may not award non-monetary or equitable relief of any sort. They shall have no power to award punitive damages or any other damages not measured by the prevailing party's actual damages, and the parties expressly waive their right to obtain such damages in arbitration or any in other forum. In no event, even if any other portion of these provisions is held to be invalid or unenforceable, shall the arbitrators have power to make an award or impose a remedy that could not be made or imposed by a court deciding the matter in the same jurisdiction. The arbitrator(s) shall be required to state in a written opinion all facts and conclusions of law relied upon to support any decision rendered. Any dispute over whether the arbitrator(s) has failed to comply with the foregoing will be resolved by summary judgment in a court of law.

(3) The party initiating arbitration shall pay all arbitration costs and arbitrator's fees, subject to a final arbitration award on who should bear costs and fees. All proceedings shall be conducted in Dallas, Texas, or another mutually agreeable site. Each party shall bear its own attorneys fees, costs and expenses, including any costs of experts, witnesses and/or travel, subject to a final arbitration award on who should bear costs and fees. The duty to arbitrate described above shall survive the termination of this Agreement. This provision is intended to supersede any rights under Texas Civil Practices and Remedies Code § 38.001(8), which rights the parties expressly waive.

(4) No discovery will be allowed in connection with the arbitration unless the arbitration panel, upon a showing of substantial need, expressly authorizes it. In any event, there shall be no more than (i) two party depositions of six hours each. Each deposition is to be taken pursuant to the Texas Rules of Civil Procedure; (ii) one non-party deposition of six hours; (iii) twenty-five interrogatories; (iv) twenty-five requests for admission; (v) ten requests for production. In response, the producing party shall not be obligated to produce in excess of 5,000 total pages of documents. The total pages of documents shall include electronic documents; (vi) one request for disclosure pursuant to the Texas Rules of Civil Procedure. Any discovery not specifically provided for in this paragraph, whether to parties or non-parties, shall not be permitted.

(5) All aspects of the arbitration shall be treated as confidential, including its institution and/or settlement. Neither the parties nor the arbitrators may disclose the existence, content or results of the arbitration, except as necessary to comply with legal or regulatory requirements. Before making any such disclosure, a party shall give written notice to all other parties and shall afford such parties a reasonable opportunity to protect their interests. In the event a party who recovered monies by settlement, award by the arbitration panel, or otherwise in connection with the Dispute violates this confidentiality term, he, she, or it shall refund all such sums recovered. The parties expressly intend to waive the right to retain any monies received through settlement, award by the arbitration panel, or otherwise in connection with the Dispute in the event that that party violates the aforementioned confidentiality term.

(6) The result of the arbitration will be binding on the parties, and judgment on the arbitrators' award may be entered in any court having jurisdiction.

6.11 Successors and Assigns. Subject to the limitations set forth in Section 1.11, this Agreement shall inure to the benefit of and be binding upon the parties and to their respective heirs, executors, administrators, successors and permitted assigns. For the avoidance of doubt, any Limited Partner who becomes a former Limited Partner shall remain bound to all terms and conditions of this Agreement.

6.12 Severability. Every provision of this Agreement is intended to be severable. If any term or provision hereof is illegal or invalid for any reason whatsoever, such term or provision will be enforced to the maximum extent permitted by law and, in any event, such illegality or invalidity shall not affect the validity of the remainder of the Agreement.

6.13 No Third Party Rights. Except for rights expressly granted hereunder to the Covered Persons, this Agreement is intended solely for the benefit of the parties hereto and is not intended to confer any benefits upon, or create any rights in favor of, any Person other than the parties hereto.

6.14 No Right to Partition. Each of the Partners, on behalf of themselves and their shareholders, partners, principals, members, successors and assigns, if any and as permitted hereunder, hereby specifically renounce, waive and forfeit all rights, whether arising under contract or statute or by operation of law, except as otherwise expressly provided in this Agreement, to seek, bring or maintain any action in any court of law or equity for partition of the Partnership or any asset of the Partnership, or any interest which is considered to be Partnership property, regardless of the manner in which title to such property may be held.

THE COMPANIES LAW (AS AMENDED)

COMPANY LIMITED BY SHARES

AMENDED AND RESTATED

ARTICLES OF ASSOCIATION

OF

CHARITABLE DAF HOLDCO, LTD

(ADOPTED BY SPECIAL RESOLUTION DATED 19 JANUARY 2015)

TABLE A

The Regulations contained or incorporated in Table 'A' in the First Schedule of the Law shall not apply to Charitable DAF HoldCo, Ltd (the "Company") and the following Articles shall comprise the Articles of Association of the Company.

INTERPRETATION

1. In these Articles the following defined terms will have the meanings ascribed to them, if not inconsistent with the subject or context:

"Articles" means these articles of association of the Company, as amended or substituted from time to time.

"Branch Register" means any branch Register of such category or categories of Members as the Company may from time to time determine.

"Class" or "Classes" means any class or classes of Shares as may from time to time be issued by the Company.

"Directors" means the directors of the Company for the time being, or as the case may be, the directors assembled as a board or as a committee thereof.

"Gross Negligence" has the meaning ascribed under the laws of the State of Delaware in the United States.

"Law" means the Companies Law (as amended) of the Cayman Islands.

"Management Share" means a voting non-participating share in the capital of the Company of $0.01 nominal or par value, that shall be non-redeemable at the option of the holder but redeemable by the Company in accordance with these Articles, and issued subject to and in accordance with the provisions of the Law and these Articles and having the rights and being subject to the restrictions as provided for under these Articles with respect to such Shares.

"Memorandum of Association" means the memorandum of association of the Company, as amended or substituted from time to time.

Filed: 04-Feb-2015 09:13 EST

"Office" means the registered office of the Company as required by the Law.

"Ordinary Resolution" means a resolution:

(a) passed by a simple majority of such Shareholders as, being entitled to do so, vote in person or, where proxies are allowed, by proxy at a general meeting of the Company and where a poll is taken regard shall be had in computing a majority to the number of votes to which each Shareholder is entitled; or

(b) approved in writing by all of the Shareholders entitled to vote at a general meeting of the Company in one or more instruments each signed by one or more of the Shareholders and the effective date of the resolution so adopted shall be the date on which the instrument, or the last of such instruments, if more than one, is executed.

"paid up" means paid up as to the par value in respect of the issue of any Shares and includes credited as paid up.

"Participating Share" means a non-voting, participating, non-redeemable share in the capital of the Company of $0.01 nominal or par value issued subject to and in accordance with the provisions of the Law and these Articles, and having the rights and being subject to the restrictions as provided for under these Articles with respect to such Share. All references to "Participating Shares" herein shall be deemed to be Participating Shares of any or all Classes or Series as the context may require. For the avoidance of doubt, in these Articles the expression "Participating Share" shall include a fraction of a Participating Share.

"Person" means any natural person, firm, company, joint venture, partnership, corporation, association or other entity (whether or not having a separate legal personality) or any of them as the context so requires.

"Principal Register", where the Company has established one or more Branch Registers pursuant to the Law and these Articles, means the Register maintained by the Company pursuant to the Law and these Articles that is not designated by the Directors as a Branch Register.

"Register" means the register of Members of the Company required to be kept pursuant to the Law and includes any Branch Register(s) established by the Company in accordance with the Law.

"Restricted Person" means any Person holding Participating Shares:

(a) in breach of the law or requirements of any country or governmental authority;

(b) that is not an entity or organisation exempt from taxation under Section 501(c)(3) of the US Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended (the "Code") or an entity or organisation all of whose beneficiaries are exempt under Section 501(c)(3) of the Code; or

(c) in circumstances (whether directly or indirectly affecting such Person and whether taken alone or in conjunction with any other Person, connected or not, or any other circumstances) which, in the opinion of the Directors, might result in the Company incurring any liability to taxation or suffering any other pecuniary, legal, regulatory or administrative disadvantage which the Company might not otherwise have incurred or suffered.

"Seal" means the common seal of the Company (if adopted) including any facsimile thereof.

"Secretary" means any Person appointed by the Directors to perform any of the duties of the secretary of the Company.

"Share" means a Management Share or Participating Share or both as the context so requires.

"Shareholder" or "Member" means a Person who is registered as the holder of Shares in the Register and includes each subscriber to the Memorandum of Association pending entry in the Register of such subscriber

"Share Premium Account" means the share premium account established in accordance with these Articles and the Law.

"signed" means bearing a signature or representation of a signature affixed by mechanical means.

"Special Resolution" means a special resolution of the Company passed in accordance with the Law, being a resolution:

(a) passed by a majority of not less than two-thirds of such Shareholders as, being entitled to do so, vote in person or, where proxies are allowed, by proxy at a general meeting of the Company of which notice specifying the intention to propose the resolution as a special resolution has been duly given and where a poll is taken regard shall be had in computing a majority to the number of votes to which each Shareholder is entitled; or

(b) approved in writing by all of the Shareholders entitled to vote at a general meeting of the Company in one or more instruments each signed by one or more of the Shareholders and the effective date of the special resolution so adopted shall be the date on which the instrument or the last of such instruments, if more than one, is executed.

"Treasury Shares" means Shares that were previously issued but were purchased, redeemed, surrendered or otherwise acquired by the Company and not cancelled.

"United States" means the United States of America (including the District of Columbia), its states, territories and possessions.

In these Articles, save where the context requires otherwise:

(a) words importing the singular number shall include the plural number and vice versa;

(b) words importing the masculine gender only shall include the feminine gender and any Person as the context may require;

(c) the word "may" shall be construed as permissive and the word "shall" shall be construed as imperative;

(d) reference to a dollar or dollars or USD (or $) and to a cent or cents is reference to dollars and cents of the United States of America;

(e) reference to a statutory enactment shall include reference to any amendment or re-enactment thereof for the time being in force;

(f) reference to any determination by the Directors shall be construed as a determination by the Directors in their sole and absolute discretion and shall be applicable either generally or in any particular case; and

(g) reference to "in writing" shall be construed as written or represented by any means reproducible in writing, including any form of print, lithograph, email, facsimile, photograph or telex or represented by any other substitute or format for storage or transmission for writing or partly one and partly another.

2. Subject to the preceding Articles, any words defined in the Law shall, if not inconsistent with the subject or context, bear the same meaning in these Articles.

PRELIMINARY

3. The business of the Company may be commenced at any time after incorporation.

4. The Office shall be at such address in the Cayman Islands as the Directors may from time to time determine. The Company may in addition establish and maintain such other offices and places of business and agencies in such places as the Directors may from time to time determine.

5. The expenses incurred in the formation of the Company and in connection with the offer for subscription and issue of Participating Shares shall be paid by the Company. Such expenses may be amortised over such period as the Directors may determine and the amount so paid shall be charged against income and/or capital in the accounts of the Company as the Directors shall determine.

6. The Directors shall keep, or cause to be kept, the Register at such place or (subject to compliance with the Law and these Articles) places as the Directors may from time to time determine. In the absence of any such determination, the Register shall be kept at the Office. The Directors may keep, or cause to be kept, one or more Branch Registers as well as the Principal Register in accordance with the Law, provided always that a duplicate of such Branch Register(s) shall be maintained with the Principal Register in accordance with the Law.

SHARES

7. Subject to these Articles, all Shares for the time being unissued shall be under the control of the Directors who may:

(a) issue, allot and dispose of the same to such Persons, in such manner, on such terms and having such rights and being subject to such restrictions as they may from time to time determine; and

(b) grant options with respect to such Shares and issue warrants or similar instruments with respect thereto;

and, for such purposes, the Directors may reserve an appropriate number of Shares for the time being unissued.

8. The Directors, or the Shareholders by Ordinary Resolution, may authorise the division of Participating Shares into any number of Classes and the different Classes shall be authorised, established and designated (or re-designated as the case may be) and the variations in the relative rights (including, without limitation, voting, dividend and redemption rights), restrictions, preferences, privileges and payment obligations as between the different Classes (if any) may be fixed and determined by the Directors or the Shareholders by Ordinary Resolution.

9. The Company may insofar as may be permitted by law, pay a commission to any Person in consideration of his subscribing or agreeing to subscribe whether absolutely or conditionally for any Shares. Such commissions may be satisfied by the payment of cash or the lodgement of fully or partly paid-up Shares or partly in one way and partly in the other. The Company may also pay such brokerage as may be lawful on any issue of Shares.

10. The Directors may refuse to accept any application for Shares, and may accept any application in whole or in part, for any reason or for no reason.

MANAGEMENT SHARES

11. The Management Shares shall be issued at par value and shall carry the right to receive notice of and to attend, to speak at and to vote at any general meeting of the Company. In the event of a winding up or dissolution of the Company, whether voluntary or involuntary or for the purposes of a reorganisation or otherwise or upon any distribution of capital, the entitlement of the holders of Management Shares shall be determined in accordance with these Articles. Management Shares confer no other right to participate in the profits or assets of the Company.

12. Any Management Shares held by Grant Scott will be automatically redeemed by the Company upon his death or upon the Company receiving written notice from two board certified physicians confirming that he is of unsound mind or otherwise incapacitated ("Automatic Redemption").

13. If at the time of an Automatic Redemption, Grant Scott is the sole Director of the Company, such office will be automatically vacated by Grant Scott.

14. Upon an Automatic Redemption, the Company shall issue 100 Management Shares to a successor management shareholder ("Successor Management Shareholder") designated by James Dondero ("Designator"), or, if he is unable or declines to act, by an individual or individuals designated by James Dondero ("Successor Designator"), in either case within 15 days of the Automatic Redemption. If the Designator is:

(a) deceased and has not named a Successor Designator, or if each named Successor Designator is unable or declines to act, the designation of the Successor Management Shareholder shall be made in accordance with the provisions of the Designator's will, or if his will contains no such provisions, by the qualified personal representative of his estate (the "Designator's Personal Representative"); or

(b) otherwise incapacitated and has not previously designated a Successor Designator, or if each named Successor Designator is unable or declines to act, the designation of the Successor Management Shareholder shall be made by the Designator's attorney-in-fact appointed for such purpose, under a valid, effective power of attorney instrument (the "Designator's Attorney").

15. Any designation of a Successor Management Shareholder must be notified to the Company in writing and signed by either the Designator, the Successor Designator, the Designator's Personal Representative, or the Designator's Attorney, as appropriate, and accompanied by a consent to become a Shareholder signed by the Successor Management Shareholder ("Issue Notice"). The issue of the 100 Management Shares to the Successor Management Shareholder shall take effect upon receipt by the Company of the Issue Notice and the Register will be updated accordingly.

16. The Designator may name a Successor Designator (including an individual, or a series of individuals) at any time pursuant to a written notice delivered to the Company during his lifetime or by a provision in his will. Each Successor Designator upon succeeding and replacing the Designator or a prior Successor Designator, may in the same manner as set out above, designate an individual, or a series of individuals, to succeed him as Successor Designator. In the event of a conflict between such instruments, the one bearing the latest date shall control. A Successor Designator will assume such office upon consenting to so act.

17. The Successor Management Shareholder may not be a "disqualified person" (as that term is defined in Section 4946 of the United States Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended), other than a foundation manager, with respect to Highland Dallas Foundation, Inc., Highland Santa Barbara Foundation, Inc., or Highland Kansas City Foundation, Inc.

18. In connection with the appointment of the Successor Management Shareholder, the Company and its registered office service provider will be entitled to rely on the advice of counsel confirming that the designation of the Successor Management Shareholder has been made in accordance with the procedures set out in these Articles.

PARTICIPATING SHARES

19. Participating Shares shall confer upon a Shareholder no right to receive notice of, to attend, to speak at nor to vote at general meetings of the Company but shall confer upon the Shareholders rights in a winding-up or repayment of capital and the right to participate in the profits or assets of the Company in accordance with these Articles.

MODIFICATION OF RIGHTS

20. Whenever the capital of the Company is divided into different Classes the rights attached to any such Class may, subject to any rights or restrictions for the time being attached to any Class, only be materially adversely varied or abrogated with the consent in writing of the holders of not less than two-thirds of the issued Participating Shares of the relevant Class or with the sanction of a resolution passed at a separate meeting of the holders of the Participating Shares of such Class by a majority of two-thirds of the votes cast at such a meeting. To every such separate meeting all the provisions of these Articles relating to general meetings of the Company or to the proceedings thereat shall, mutatis mutandis, apply, except that the necessary quorum shall be one or more Persons at least holding or representing by proxy one-third in nominal or par value amount of the issued Participating Shares of the relevant Class (but so that if at any adjourned meeting of such holders a quorum as above defined is not present, those Shareholders who are present shall form a quorum) and that, subject to any rights or restrictions for the time being attached to the Participating Shares of that Class, every Shareholder of the Class shall on a poll have one vote for each Share of the Class held by him. For the purposes of this Article the Directors may treat all the Classes or any two or more Classes as forming one Class if they consider that the variation or abrogation of the rights attached to such Classes proposed for consideration is the same variation or abrogation for all such relevant Classes, but in any other case shall treat them as separate Classes.

21. The rights conferred upon the holders of the Participating Shares of any Class issued with preferred or other rights shall not, subject to any rights or restrictions for the time being attached to the Participating Shares of that Class, be deemed to be materially adversely varied or abrogated by, inter alia, the creation, allotment or issue of further Participating Shares ranking pari passu with or subsequent to them or the redemption or purchase of any Participating Shares of any Class by the Company.

CERTIFICATES

22. No Person shall be entitled to a certificate for any or all of his Shares, unless the Directors shall determine otherwise.

FRACTIONAL SHARES

23. The Directors may issue fractions of a Share and, if so issued, a fraction of a Share shall be subject to and carry the corresponding fraction of liabilities (whether with respect to nominal or par value, premium, contributions, calls or otherwise), limitations, preferences, privileges, qualifications, restrictions, rights (including, without prejudice to the generality of the foregoing, voting and participation rights) and other attributes of a whole Share. If more than one fraction of a Share of the same Class is issued to or acquired by the same Shareholder such fractions shall be accumulated.

TRANSFER OF SHARES

24. The instrument of transfer of any Share shall be in any usual or common form or such other form as the Directors may, in their absolute discretion, approve and be executed by or on behalf of the transferor and if in respect of a nil or partly paid up Share, or if so required by the Directors, shall also be executed on behalf of the transferee and shall be accompanied by the certificate (if any) of the Shares to which it relates and such other evidence as the Directors may reasonably require to show the right of the transferor to make the transfer. The transferor shall be deemed to remain a Shareholder until the name of the transferee is entered in the Register in respect of the relevant Shares.

25. The Directors may in their absolute discretion decline to register any transfer of Shares without assigning any reason therefor including any purported transfer that does not comply with applicable securities or tax laws.

26. The registration of transfers may be suspended at such times and for such periods as the Directors may from time to time determine.

27. All instruments of transfer that are registered shall be retained by the Company, but any instrument of transfer that the Directors decline to register shall (except in any case of fraud) be returned to the Person depositing the same.

28. If it comes to the notice of the Directors that any Shares are held by a Restricted Person the Directors may by notice in writing require the transfer of such Shares in exercise of their powers under these Articles.

TRANSMISSION OF SHARES

29. The legal personal representative of a deceased sole holder of a Share shall be the only Person recognised by the Company as having any title to the Share. In the case of a Share registered in the name of two or more holders, the survivors or survivor, or the legal personal representatives of the deceased holder of the Share, shall be the only Person recognised by the Company as having any title to the Share.

30. Any Person becoming entitled to a Share in consequence of the death or bankruptcy of a Shareholder shall upon such evidence being produced as may from time to time be required by the Directors, have the right either to be registered as a Shareholder in respect of the Share or, instead of being registered himself, to make such transfer of the Share as the deceased or bankrupt Person could have made, but the Directors shall, in either case, have the same right to decline or suspend registration as they would have had in the case of a transfer of the Share by the deceased or bankrupt Person before the death or bankruptcy.

31. A Person becoming entitled to a Share by reason of the death or bankruptcy of a Shareholder shall be entitled to the same dividends and other advantages to which he would be entitled if he were the registered Shareholder, except that he shall not, before being registered as a Shareholder in respect of the Share, be entitled in respect of it to exercise any right conferred by membership in relation to meetings of the Company.

ALTERATION OF SHARE CAPITAL

32. The Company may from time to time by Ordinary Resolution increase the share capital by such sum, to be divided into Shares of such Classes and amount, as the resolution shall prescribe.

33. The Company may by Ordinary Resolution:

(a) consolidate and divide all or any of its share capital into Shares of a larger amount than its existing Shares;

(b) convert all or any of its paid up Shares into stock and reconvert that stock into paid up Shares of any denomination;

(c) subdivide its existing Shares, or any of them into Shares of a smaller amount provided that in the subdivision the proportion between the amount paid and the amount, if any, unpaid on each reduced Share shall be the same as it was in case of the Share from which the reduced Share is derived; and

(d) cancel any Shares that, at the date of the passing of the resolution, have not been taken or agreed to be taken by any Person and diminish the amount of its share capital by the amount of the Shares so cancelled.

34. The Company may by Special Resolution reduce its share capital and any capital redemption reserve in any manner authorised by law.

REDEMPTION, PURCHASE AND SURRENDER OF SHARES

35. Subject to the Law, the Company may:

(a) issue Shares on terms that they are to be redeemed or are liable to be redeemed at the option of the Company or the Shareholder on such terms and in such manner as the Directors may determine;

(b) purchase its own Shares (including any redeemable Shares) on such terms and in such manner as the Directors may determine and agree with the Shareholder;

(c) make a payment in respect of the redemption or purchase of its own Shares in any manner authorised by the Law; and

(d) accept the surrender for no consideration of any paid up Share (including any redeemable Share) on such terms and in such manner as the Directors may determine.

36. Any Share in respect of which notice of redemption has been given shall not be entitled to participate in the profits of the Company in respect of the period after the date specified as the date of redemption in the notice of redemption.

37. The redemption, purchase or surrender of any Share shall not be deemed to give rise to the redemption, purchase or surrender of any other Share.

38. The Directors may when making payments in respect of redemption or purchase of Shares, if authorised by the terms of issue of the Shares being redeemed or purchased or with the agreement of the holder of such Shares, make such payment either in cash or in specie.

TREASURY SHARES

39. Shares that the Company purchases, redeems or acquires (by way of surrender or otherwise) may, at the option of the Company, be cancelled immediately or held as Treasury Shares in accordance with the Law. In the event that the Directors do not specify that the relevant Shares are to be held as Treasury Shares, such Shares shall be cancelled.

40. No dividend may be declared or paid, and no other distribution (whether in cash or otherwise) of the Company's assets (including any distribution of assets to members on a winding up) may be declared or paid in respect of a Treasury Share.

41. The Company shall be entered in the Register as the holder of the Treasury Shares provided that:

(a) the Company shall not be treated as a member for any purpose and shall not exercise any right in respect of the Treasury Shares, and any purported exercise of such a right shall be void;

(b) a Treasury Share shall not be voted, directly or indirectly, at any meeting of the Company and shall not be counted in determining the total number of issued shares at any given time, whether for the purposes of these Articles or the Law, save that an allotment of Shares as fully paid bonus shares in respect of a Treasury Share is permitted and Shares allotted as fully paid bonus shares in respect of a treasury share shall be treated as Treasury Shares.

42. Treasury Shares may be disposed of by the Company on such terms and conditions as determined by the Directors.

GENERAL MEETINGS

43. The Directors may, whenever they think fit, convene a general meeting of the Company.

44. The Directors may cancel or postpone any duly convened general meeting at any time prior to such meeting, except for general meetings requisitioned by the Shareholders in accordance with these Articles, for any reason or for no reason at any time prior to the time for holding such meeting or, if the meeting is adjourned, the time for holding such adjourned meeting. The Directors shall give Shareholders notice in writing of any postponement, which postponement may be for a stated period of any length or indefinitely as the Directors may determine.

45. General meetings shall also be convened on the requisition in writing of any Shareholder or Shareholders entitled to attend and vote at general meetings of the Company holding at least ten percent of the paid up voting share capital of the Company deposited at the Office specifying the objects of the meeting for a date no later than 21 days from the date of deposit of the requisition signed by the requisitionists, and if the Directors do not convene such meeting for a date not later than 45 days after the date of such deposit, the requisitionists themselves may convene the general meeting in the same manner, as nearly as possible, as that in which general meetings may be convened by the Directors, and all reasonable expenses incurred by the requisitionists as a result of the failure of the Directors to convene the general meeting shall be reimbursed to them by the Company.

46. If at any time there are no Directors, any two Shareholders (or if there is only one Shareholder then that Shareholder) entitled to vote at general meetings of the Company may convene a general meeting in the same manner as nearly as possible as that in which general meetings may be convened by the Directors.

NOTICE OF GENERAL MEETINGS

47. At least seven clear days' notice in writing counting from the date service is deemed to take place as provided in these Articles specifying the place, the day and the hour of the meeting and, in case of special business, the general nature of that business, shall be given in the manner hereinafter provided or in such other manner (if any) as may be prescribed by the Company by Ordinary Resolution to such Persons as are, under these Articles, entitled to receive such notices from the Company, but with the consent of all the Shareholders entitled to receive notice of some particular meeting and attend and vote thereat, that meeting may be convened by such shorter notice or without notice and in such manner as those Shareholders may think fit.

48. The accidental omission to give notice of a meeting to or the non-receipt of a notice of a meeting by any Shareholder shall not invalidate the proceedings at any meeting.

PROCEEDINGS AT GENERAL MEETINGS

49. All business carried out at a general meeting shall be deemed special with the exception of sanctioning a dividend, the consideration of the accounts, balance sheets, any report of the Directors or of the Company's auditors, and the fixing of the remuneration of the Company's auditors. No special business shall be transacted at any general meeting without the consent of all Shareholders entitled to receive notice of that meeting unless notice of such special business has been given in the notice convening that meeting.

50. No business shall be transacted at any general meeting unless a quorum of Shareholders is present at the time when the meeting proceeds to business. Save as otherwise provided by these Articles, one or more Shareholders holding at least a majority of the paid up voting share capital of the Company present in person or by proxy and entitled to vote at that meeting shall form a quorum.

51. If within half an hour from the time appointed for the meeting a quorum is not present, the meeting, if convened upon the requisition of Shareholders, shall be dissolved. In any other case it shall stand adjourned to the same day in the next week, at the same time and place, and if at the adjourned meeting a quorum is not present within half an hour from the time appointed for the meeting the Shareholder or Shareholders present and entitled to vote shall form a quorum.

52. If the Directors wish to make this facility available for a specific general meeting or all general meetings of the Company, participation in any general meeting of the Company may be by means of a telephone or similar communication equipment by way of which all Persons participating in such meeting can communicate with each other and such participation shall be deemed to constitute presence in person at the meeting.

53. The chairman, if any, of the Directors shall preside as chairman at every general meeting of the Company.

54. If there is no such chairman, or if at any general meeting he is not present within fifteen minutes after the time appointed for holding the meeting or is unwilling to act as chairman, any Director or Person nominated by the Directors shall preside as chairman, failing which the Shareholders present in person or by proxy shall choose any Person present to be chairman of that meeting.

55. The chairman may adjourn a meeting from time to time and from place to place either:

(a) with the consent of any general meeting at which a quorum is present (and shall if so directed by the meeting); or

(b) without the consent of such meeting if, in his sole opinion, he considers it necessary to do so to:

(i) secure the orderly conduct or proceedings of the meeting; or

(ii) give all persons present in person or by proxy and having the right to speak and / or vote at such meeting, the ability to do so,

but no business shall be transacted at any adjourned meeting other than the business left unfinished at the meeting from which the adjournment took place. When a meeting, or adjourned meeting, is adjourned for fourteen days or more, notice of the adjourned meeting shall be given in the manner provided for the original meeting. Save as aforesaid, it shall not be necessary to give any notice of an adjournment or of the business to be transacted at an adjourned meeting.

56. At any general meeting a resolution put to the vote of the meeting shall be decided on a show of hands, unless a poll is (before or on the declaration of the result of the show of hands) demanded by the chairman or one or more Shareholders present in person or by proxy entitled to vote, and unless a poll is so demanded, a declaration by the chairman that a resolution has, on a show of hands, been carried, or carried unanimously, or by a particular majority, or lost, and an entry to that effect in the book of the proceedings of the Company, shall be conclusive evidence of the fact, without proof of the number or proportion of the votes recorded in favour of, or against, that resolution.

57. If a poll is duly demanded it shall be taken in such manner as the chairman directs, and the result of the poll shall be deemed to be the resolution of the meeting at which the poll was demanded.

58. In the case of an equality of votes, whether on a show of hands or on a poll, the chairman of the meeting at which the show of hands takes place or at which the poll is demanded, shall be entitled to a second or casting vote.

59. A poll demanded on the election of a chairman of the meeting or on a question of adjournment shall be taken forthwith. A poll demanded on any other question shall be taken at such time as the chairman of the meeting directs.

VOTES OF SHAREHOLDERS

60. On a show of hands every holder of Management Shares present in person and every Person representing such a Shareholder by proxy shall have one vote, and on a poll every holder of Management Shares present in person and every Person representing such Shareholder by proxy shall be entitled to one vote in respect of each of the Management Shares held by them.

61. In the case of joint holders the vote of the senior who tenders a vote whether in person or by proxy shall be accepted to the exclusion of the votes of the other joint holders and for this purpose seniority shall be determined by the order in which the names stand in the Register.

62. A Shareholder of unsound mind, or in respect of whom an order has been made by any court having jurisdiction in lunacy, may vote in respect of Shares carrying the right to vote held by him, whether on a show of hands or on a poll, by his committee, or other Person in the nature of a committee appointed by that court, and any such committee or other Person, may vote in respect of such Shares by proxy.

63. No Shareholder shall be entitled to vote at any general meeting of the Company unless all calls, if any, or other sums presently payable by him in respect of Shares carrying the right to vote held by him have been paid.

64. On a poll votes may be given either personally or by proxy.

65. The instrument appointing a proxy shall be in writing under the hand of the appointor or of his attorney duly authorised in writing or, if the appointor is a corporation, either under Seal or under the hand of an officer or attorney duly authorised. A proxy need not be a Shareholder.

66. An instrument appointing a proxy may be in any usual or common form or such other form as the Directors may approve.

67. The instrument appointing a proxy shall be deposited at the Office or at such other place as is specified for that purpose in the notice convening the meeting no later than the time for holding the meeting or, if the meeting is adjourned, the time for holding such adjourned meeting.

68. The instrument appointing a proxy shall be deemed to confer authority to demand or join in demanding a poll.

69. A resolution in writing signed by all the Shareholders for the time being entitled to receive notice of and to attend and vote at general meetings of the Company (or being corporations by their duly authorised representatives) shall be as valid and effective as if the same had been passed at a general meeting of the Company duly convened and held.

CORPORATIONS ACTING BY REPRESENTATIVES AT MEETINGS

70. Any corporation which is a Shareholder or a Director may by resolution of its directors or other governing body authorise such Person as it thinks fit to act as its representative at any meeting of the Company or of any meeting of holders of a Class or of the Directors or of a committee of Directors, and the Person so authorised shall be entitled to exercise the same powers on behalf of the corporation which he represents as that corporation could exercise if it were an individual Shareholder or Director.

DIRECTORS

71. The name(s) of the first Director(s) shall either be determined in writing by a majority (or in the case of a sole subscriber that subscriber) of, or elected at a meeting of, the subscribers of the Memorandum of Association.

72. The Company may by Ordinary Resolution appoint any natural person or corporation to be a Director.

73. Subject to these Articles, a Director shall hold office until such time as he is removed from office by Ordinary Resolution.

74. The Company may by Ordinary Resolution from time to time fix the maximum and minimum number of Directors to be appointed but unless such numbers are fixed as aforesaid the minimum number of Directors shall be one and the maximum number of Directors shall be unlimited.

75. The remuneration of the Directors may be determined by the Directors or by Ordinary Resolution.

76. There shall be no shareholding qualification for Directors unless determined otherwise by Ordinary Resolution.

77. The Directors shall have power at any time and from time to time to appoint a natural person or corporation as a Director, either as a result of a casual vacancy or as an additional Director, subject to the maximum number (if any) imposed by Ordinary Resolution.

ALTERNATE DIRECTOR

78. Any Director may in writing appoint another Person to be his alternate and, save to the extent provided otherwise in the form of appointment, such alternate shall have authority to sign written resolutions on behalf of the appointing Director, but shall not be required to sign such written resolutions where they have been signed by the appointing Director, and to act in such Director's place at any meeting of the Directors at which he is unable to be present. Every such alternate shall be entitled to attend and vote at meetings of the Directors as a Director when the Director appointing him is not personally present and where he is a Director to have a separate vote on behalf of the Director he is representing in addition to his own vote. A Director may at any time in writing revoke the appointment of an alternate appointed by him. Such alternate shall not be deemed to be an officer of the Company solely as a result of his appointment as an alternate. The remuneration of such alternate shall be payable out of the remuneration of the Director appointing him and the proportion thereof shall be agreed between them.

79. Any Director may appoint any Person , whether or not a Director, to be the proxy of that Director to attend and vote on his behalf, in accordance with instructions given by that Director, or in the absence of such instructions at the discretion of the proxy, at a meeting or meetings of the Directors which that Director is unable to attend personally. The instrument appointing the proxy shall be in writing under the hand of the appointing Director and shall be in any usual or common form or such other form as the Directors may approve, and must be lodged with the chairman of the meeting of the Directors at which such proxy is to be used, or first used, prior to the commencement of the meeting.

80. Subject to the Law, these Articles and to any resolutions passed in a general meeting, the business of the Company shall be managed by the Directors, who may pay all expenses incurred in setting up and registering the Company and may exercise all powers of the Company. No resolution passed by the Company in general meeting shall invalidate any prior act of the Directors that would have been valid if that resolution had not been passed.

81 The Directors may from time to time appoint any natural person or corporation , whether or not a Director to hold such office in the Company as the Directors may think necessary for the administration of the Company, including but not limited to, the office of president, one or more vice-presidents, treasurer, assistant treasurer, manager or controller, and for such term and at such remuneration (whether by way of salary or commission or participation in profits or partly in one way and partly in another), and with such powers and duties as the Directors may think fit. Any natural person or corporation so appointed by the Directors may be removed by the Directors or by the Company by Ordinary Resolution. The Directors may also appoint one or more of their number to the office of managing director upon like terms, but any such appointment shall ipso facto determine if any managing director ceases from any cause to be a Director, or if the Company by Ordinary Resolution resolves that his tenure of office be terminated.

82. The Directors may appoint any natural person or corporation to be a Secretary (and if need be an assistant Secretary or assistant Secretaries) who shall hold office for such term, at such remuneration and upon such conditions and with such powers as they think fit. Any Secretary or assistant Secretary so appointed by the Directors may be removed by the Directors or by the Company by Ordinary Resolution.

83. The Directors may delegate any of their powers to committees consisting of such member or members of their body as they think fit; any committee so formed shall in the exercise of the powers so delegated conform to any regulations that may be imposed on it by the Directors.

84. The Directors may from time to time and at any time by power of attorney (whether under Seal or under hand) or otherwise appoint any company, firm or Person or body of Persons, whether nominated directly or indirectly by the Directors, to be the attorney or attorneys or authorised signatory (any such person being an "Attorney" or "Authorised Signatory", respectively) of the Company for such purposes and with such powers, authorities and discretion (not exceeding those vested in or exercisable by the Directors under these Articles) and for such period and subject to such conditions as they may think fit, and any such power of attorney or other appointment may contain such provisions for the protection and convenience of Persons dealing with any such Attorney or Authorised Signatory as the Directors may think fit, and may also authorise any such Attorney or Authorised Signatory to delegate all or any of the powers, authorities and discretion vested in him.

85. The Directors may from time to time provide for the management of the affairs of the Company in such manner as they shall think fit and the provisions contained in the three next following Articles shall not limit the general powers conferred by this Article.

86. The Directors from time to time and at any time may establish any committees, local boards or agencies for managing any of the affairs of the Company and may appoint any natural person or corporation to be a member of such committees or local boards and may appoint any managers or agents of the Company and may fix the remuneration of any such natural person or corporation.

87. The Directors from time to time and at any time may delegate to any such committee, local board, manager or agent any of the powers, authorities and discretions for the time being vested in the Directors and may authorise the members for the time being of any such local board, or any of them to fill any vacancies therein and to act notwithstanding vacancies and any such appointment or delegation may be made on such terms and subject to such conditions as the Directors may think fit and the Directors may at any time remove any natural person or corporation so appointed and may annul or vary any such delegation, but no Person dealing in good faith and without notice of any such annulment or variation shall be affected thereby.

88. Any such delegates as aforesaid may be authorised by the Directors to sub-delegate all or any of the powers, authorities, and discretion for the time being vested in them.

BORROWING POWERS OF DIRECTORS

89. The Directors may exercise all the powers of the Company to borrow money and to mortgage or charge its undertaking, property and uncalled capital or any part thereof, to issue debentures, debenture stock and other securities whenever money is borrowed or as security for any debt, liability or obligation of the Company or of any third party.

THE SEAL

90. The Seal shall not be affixed to any instrument except by the authority of a resolution of the Directors provided always that such authority may be given prior to or after the affixing of the Seal and if given after may be in general form confirming a number of affixings of the Seal. The Seal shall be affixed in the presence of a Director or a Secretary (or an assistant Secretary) or in the presence of any one or more Persons as the Directors may appoint for the purpose and every Person as aforesaid shall sign every instrument to which the Seal is so affixed in their presence.

91. The Company may maintain a facsimile of the Seal in such countries or places as the Directors may appoint and such facsimile Seal shall not be affixed to any instrument except by the authority of a resolution of the Directors provided always that such authority may be given prior to or after the affixing of such facsimile Seal and if given after may be in general form confirming a number of affixings of such facsimile Seal. The facsimile Seal shall be affixed in the presence of such Person or Persons as the Directors shall for this purpose appoint and such Person or Persons as aforesaid shall sign every instrument to which the facsimile Seal is so affixed in their presence and such affixing of the facsimile Seal and signing as aforesaid shall have the same meaning and effect as if the Seal had been affixed in the presence of and the instrument signed by a Director or a Secretary (or an assistant Secretary) or in the presence of any one or more Persons as the Directors may appoint for the purpose.

92. Notwithstanding the foregoing, a Secretary or any assistant Secretary shall have the authority to affix the Seal, or the facsimile Seal, to any instrument for the purposes of attesting authenticity of the matter contained therein but which does not create any obligation binding on the Company.

DISQUALIFICATION OF DIRECTORS

93. The office of Director shall be vacated, if the Director:

(a) becomes bankrupt or makes any arrangement or composition with his creditors;

(b) dies or is found to be or becomes of unsound mind;

(c) resigns his office by notice in writing to the Company;

(d) is removed from office by Ordinary Resolution;

(e) is removed from office by notice addressed to him at his last known address and signed by all of his co-Directors (not being less than two in number); or

(f) is removed from office pursuant to any other provision of these Articles, including without limitation, in the circumstance set out in Article 13.

PROCEEDINGS OF DIRECTORS

94. The Directors may meet together (either within or without the Cayman Islands) for the despatch of business, adjourn, and otherwise regulate their meetings and proceedings as they think fit. Questions arising at any meeting shall be decided by a majority of votes. In case of an equality of votes the chairman shall have a second or casting vote. A Director may, and a Secretary or assistant Secretary on the requisition of a Director shall, at any time summon a meeting of the Directors.

95. A Director may participate in any meeting of the Directors, or of any committee appointed by the Directors of which such Director is a member, by means of telephone or similar communication equipment by way of which all Persons participating in such meeting can communicate with each other and such participation shall be deemed to constitute presence in person at the meeting.

96. The quorum necessary for the transaction of the business of the Directors may be fixed by the Directors, and unless so fixed, if there be two or more Directors the quorum shall be two, and if there be one Director the quorum shall be one. A Director represented by proxy or by an alternate Director at any meeting shall be deemed to be present for the purposes of determining whether or not a quorum is present.

97. A Director who is in any way, whether directly or indirectly, interested in a contract or proposed contract with the Company shall declare the nature of his interest at a meeting of the Directors. A general notice given to the Directors by any Director to the effect that he is a member of any specified company or firm and is to be regarded as interested in any contract which may thereafter be made with that company or firm shall be deemed a sufficient declaration of interest in regard to any contract so made. A Director may vote in respect of any contract or proposed contract or arrangement notwithstanding that he may be interested therein and if he does so his vote shall be counted and he may be counted in the quorum at any meeting of the Directors at which any such contract or proposed contract or arrangement shall come before the meeting for consideration.

98. A Director may hold any other office or place of profit under the Company (other than the office of auditor) in conjunction with his office of Director for such period and on such terms (as to remuneration and otherwise) as the Directors may determine and no Director or intending Director shall be disqualified by his office from contracting with the Company either with regard to his tenure of any such other office or place of profit or as vendor, purchaser or otherwise, nor shall any such contract or arrangement entered into by or on behalf of the Company in which any Director is in any way interested, be liable to be avoided, nor shall any Director so contracting or being so interested be liable to account to the Company for any profit realised by any such contract or arrangement by reason of such Director holding that office or of the fiduciary relation thereby established. A Director, notwithstanding his interest, may be counted in the quorum present at any meeting of the Directors whereat he or any other Director is appointed to hold any such office or place of profit under the Company or whereat the terms of any such appointment are arranged and he may vote on any such appointment or arrangement.

99. Any Director may act by himself or his firm in a professional capacity for the Company, and he or his firm shall be entitled to remuneration for professional services as if he were not a Director; provided that nothing herein contained shall authorise a Director or his firm to act as auditor to the Company.

100. The Directors shall cause minutes to be made in books or loose-leaf folders provided for the purpose of recording:

(a) all appointments of officers made by the Directors;

(b) the names of the Directors present at each meeting of the Directors and of any committee of the Directors; and

(c) all resolutions and proceedings at all meetings of the Company, and of the Directors and of committees of Directors.

101. When the chairman of a meeting of the Directors signs the minutes of such meeting the same shall be deemed to have been duly held notwithstanding that all the Directors have not actually come together or that there may have been a technical defect in the proceedings.

102. A resolution in writing signed by all the Directors or all the members of a committee of Directors entitled to receive notice of a meeting of Directors or committee of Directors, as the case may be (an alternate Director, subject as provided otherwise in the terms of appointment of the alternate Director, being entitled to sign such a resolution on behalf of his appointer), shall be as valid and effectual as if it had been passed at a duly called and constituted meeting of Directors or committee of Directors, as the case may be. When signed a resolution may consist of several documents each signed by one or more of the Directors or his duly appointed alternate.

103. The continuing Directors may act notwithstanding any vacancy in their body but if and for so long as their number is reduced below the number fixed by or pursuant to these Articles as the necessary quorum of Directors, the continuing Directors may act for the purpose of increasing the number, or of summoning a general meeting of the Company, but for no other purpose.

104. The Directors may elect a chairman of their meetings and determine the period for which he is to hold office but if no such chairman is elected, or if at any meeting the chairman is not present within fifteen minutes after the time appointed for holding the meeting, the Directors present may choose one of their number to be chairman of the meeting.

105. Subject to any regulations imposed on it by the Directors, a committee appointed by the Directors may elect a chairman of its meetings. If no such chairman is elected, or if at any meeting the chairman is not present within fifteen minutes after the time appointed for holding the meeting, the committee members present may choose one of their number to be chairman of the meeting.

106. A committee appointed by the Directors may meet and adjourn as it thinks proper. Subject to any regulations imposed on it by the Directors, questions arising at any meeting shall be determined by a majority of votes of the committee members present and in case of an equality of votes the chairman shall have a second or casting vote.

107. All acts done by any meeting of the Directors or of a committee of Directors, or by any Person acting as a Director, shall notwithstanding that it be afterwards discovered that there was some defect in the appointment of any such Director or Person acting as aforesaid, or that they or any of them were disqualified, be as valid as if every such Person had been duly appointed and was qualified to be a Director.

DIVIDENDS

108. Subject to any rights and restrictions for the time being attached to any Shares, or as otherwise provided for in the Law and these Articles, the Directors may from time to time declare dividends (including interim dividends) and other distributions on Shares in issue and authorise payment of the same out of the funds of the Company lawfully available therefor.

109. Subject to any rights and restrictions for the time being attached to any Shares, the Company by Ordinary Resolution may declare dividends, but no dividend shall exceed the amount recommended by the Directors.

110. The Directors may, before recommending or declaring any dividend, set aside out of the funds legally available for distribution such sums as they think proper as a reserve or reserves which shall, in the absolute discretion of the Directors be applicable for meeting contingencies, or for equalising dividends or for any other purpose to which those funds may be properly applied and pending such application may in the absolute discretion of the Directors, either be employed in the business of the Company or be invested in such investments as the Directors may from time to time think fit.

111. Any dividend may be paid in any manner as the Directors may determine. If paid by cheque it will be sent through the post to the registered address of the Shareholder or Person entitled thereto, or in the case of joint holders, to any one of such joint holders at his registered address or to such Person and such address as the Shareholder or Person entitled, or such joint holders as the case may be, may direct. Every such cheque shall be made payable to the order of the Person to whom it is sent or to the order of such other Person as the Shareholder or Person entitled, or such joint holders as the case may be, may direct.

112. The Directors when paying dividends to the Shareholders in accordance with the foregoing provisions of these Articles may make such payment either in cash or in specie.

113. Subject to any rights and restrictions for the time being attached to any Participating Shares, all dividends shall be declared and paid in such amounts as may be declared by the Director's in their sole and absolute discretion without a requirement to pay such dividends on a pro-rata basis as to the paid-up or par value of the Shares.

114. If several Persons are registered as joint holders of any Share, any of them may give effectual receipts for any dividend or other moneys payable on or in respect of the Share.

115. No dividend shall bear interest against the Company.

ACCOUNTS, AUDIT AND ANNUAL RETURN AND DECLARATION

116. The books of account relating to the Company's affairs shall be kept in such manner as may be determined from time to time by the Directors.

117. The books of account shall be kept at the Office, or at such other place or places as the Directors think fit, and shall always be open to the inspection of the Directors.

118. The Directors may from time to time determine whether and to what extent and at what times and places and under what conditions or regulations the accounts and books of the Company or any of them shall be open to the inspection of Shareholders not being Directors, and no Shareholder (not being a Director) shall have any right of inspecting any account or book or document of the Company except as conferred by law or authorised by the Directors or by Ordinary Resolution.

119. The accounts relating to the Company's affairs shall only be audited if the Directors so determine, in which case the financial year end and the accounting principles will be determined by the Directors.

120. The Directors in each year shall prepare, or cause to be prepared, an annual return and declaration setting forth the particulars required by the Law and deliver a copy thereof to the Registrar of Companies in the Cayman Islands.

CAPITALISATION OF RESERVES

121. Subject to the Law and these Articles, the Directors may:

(a) resolve to capitalise an amount standing to the credit of reserves (including a Share Premium Account, capital redemption reserve and profit and loss account), whether or not available for distribution;

(b) appropriate the sum resolved to be capitalised to the Shareholders in proportion to the nominal amount of Participating Shares (whether or not fully paid) held by them respectively and apply that sum on their behalf in or towards:

(i) paying up the amounts (if any) for the time being unpaid on Participating Shares held by them respectively; or

(ii) paying up in full unissued Participating Shares or debentures of a nominal amount equal to that sum, and allot the Participating Shares or debentures, credited as fully paid, to the Shareholders (or as they may direct) in those proportions, or partly in one way and partly in the other, but the Share Premium Account, the capital redemption reserve and profits which are not available for distribution may, for the purposes of this Article, only be applied in paying up unissued Participating Shares to be allotted to Shareholders credited as fully paid;

(c) make any arrangements they think fit to resolve a difficulty arising in the distribution of a capitalised reserve and in particular, without limitation, where Participating Shares or debentures become distributable in fractions the Directors may deal with the fractions as they think fit;

(d) authorise a Person to enter (on behalf of all the Shareholders concerned) into an agreement with the Company providing for either:

(i) the allotment to the Shareholders respectively, credited as fully paid, of Participating Shares or debentures to which they may be entitled on the capitalisation, or

and any such agreement made under this authority being effective and binding on all those Shareholders; and

(e) generally do all acts and things required to give effect to any of the actions contemplated by this Article.

SHARE PREMIUM ACCOUNT

122. The Directors shall in accordance with the Law establish a Share Premium Account and shall carry to the credit of such account from time to time a sum equal to the amount or value of the premium paid on the issue of any Share.

123. There shall be debited to any Share Premium Account on the redemption or purchase of a Share the difference between the nominal value of such Share and the redemption or purchase price provided always that at the discretion of the Directors such sum may be paid out of the profits of the Company or, if permitted by the Law, out of capital.

NOTICES

124. Any notice or document may be served by the Company or by the Person entitled to give notice to any Shareholder either personally, or by posting it airmail or air courier service in a prepaid letter addressed to such Shareholder at his address as appearing in the Register, or by electronic mail to any electronic mail address such Shareholder may have specified in writing for the purpose of such service of notices, or by facsimile should the Directors deem it appropriate. In the case of joint holders of a Share, all notices shall be given to that one of the joint holders whose name stands first in the Register in respect of the joint holding, and notice so given shall be sufficient notice to all the joint holders.

125. Any Shareholder present, either personally or by proxy, at any meeting of the Company shall for all purposes be deemed to have received due notice of such meeting and, where requisite, of the purposes for which such meeting was convened.

126. Any notice or other document, if served by:

(a) post, shall be deemed to have been served five clear days after the time when the letter containing the same is posted;

(b) facsimile, shall be deemed to have been served upon production by the transmitting facsimile machine of a report confirming transmission of the facsimile in full to the facsimile number of the recipient;

(c) recognised courier service, shall be deemed to have been served 48 hours after the time when the letter containing the same is delivered to the courier service; or

(d) electronic mail, shall be deemed to have been served immediately upon the time of the transmission by electronic mail.

In proving service by post or courier service it shall be sufficient to prove that the letter containing the notice or documents was properly addressed and duly posted or delivered to the courier service.

127. Any notice or document delivered or sent by post to or left at the registered address of any Shareholder in accordance with the terms of these Articles shall notwithstanding that such Shareholder be then dead or bankrupt, and whether or not the Company has notice of his death or bankruptcy, be deemed to have been duly served in respect of any Share registered in the name of such Shareholder as sole or joint holder, unless his name shall at the time of the service of the notice or document, have been removed from the Register as the holder of the Share, and such service shall for all purposes be deemed a sufficient service of such notice or document on all Persons interested (whether jointly with or as claiming through or under him) in the Share.

128. Notice of every general meeting of the Company shall be given to:

(a) all Shareholders holding Shares with the right to receive notice and who have supplied to the Company an address for the giving of notices to them; and

(b) every Person entitled to a Share in consequence of the death or bankruptcy of a Shareholder, who but for his death or bankruptcy would be entitled to receive notice of the meeting.

No other Person shall be entitled to receive notices of general meetings.

NON-RECOGNITION OF TRUSTS

129. Subject to the proviso hereto, no Person shall be recognised by the Company as holding any Share upon any trust and the Company shall not, unless required by law, be bound by or be compelled in any way to recognise (even when having notice thereof) any equitable, contingent, future or partial interest in any Share or (except only as otherwise provided by these Articles or as the Law requires) any other right in respect of any Share except an absolute right to the entirety thereof in each Shareholder registered in the Register, provided that, notwithstanding the foregoing, the Company shall be entitled to recognise any such interests as shall be determined by the Directors.

WINDING UP

130. If the Company shall be wound up the liquidator shall apply the assets of the Company in such manner and order as he thinks fit in satisfaction of creditors' claims.

131. Subject to any rights and restrictions for the time being attributed to any Class or Series, the assets available for distribution among the Shareholders shall then be applied in the following priority:

(a) first, in the payment to the holders of Participating Shares and Management Shares, pari passu, of a sum equal to the par value of the Participating Shares or Management Shares held by them; and

(b) second, in the payment of any balance to holders of Participating Shares, such payment being made in proportion to the number Participating Shares of the relevant Class and Series held.

132. If the Company shall be wound up, the liquidator may, with the sanction of an Ordinary Resolution divide amongst the Participating Shareholders in specie or kind the whole or any part of the assets of the Company (whether they shall consist of property of the same kind or not) and may, for such purpose set such value as he deems fair upon any property to be divided as aforesaid and may determine how such division shall be carried out as between the Participating Shareholders or different Classes. The liquidator may, with the like sanction, vest the whole or any part of such assets in trustees upon such trusts for the benefit of the Participating Shareholders as the liquidator, with the like sanction shall think fit, but so that no Shareholder shall be compelled to accept any assets whereon there is any liability.

AMENDMENT OF ARTICLES OF ASSOCIATION

133. Subject to the Law and the rights attaching to the various Classes, the Company may at any time and from time to time by Special Resolution alter or amend these Articles in whole or in part.

CLOSING OF REGISTER OR FIXING RECORD DATE

134. For the purpose of determining those Shareholders that are entitled to receive notice of, attend or vote at any meeting of Shareholders or any adjournment thereof, or those Shareholders that are entitled to receive payment of any dividend, or in order to make a determination as to who is a Shareholder for any other purpose, the Directors may provide that the Register shall be closed for transfers for a stated period which shall not exceed in any case 40 days. If the Register shall be so closed for the purpose of determining those Shareholders that are entitled to receive notice of, attend or vote at a meeting of Shareholders the Register shall be so closed for at least ten days immediately preceding such meeting and the record date for such determination shall be the date of the closure of the Register.

135. In lieu of or apart from closing the Register, the Directors may fix in advance a date as the record date for any such determination of those Shareholders that are entitled to receive notice of, attend or vote at a meeting of the Shareholders and for the purpose of determining those Shareholders that are entitled to receive payment of any dividend the Directors may, at or within 90 days prior to the date of declaration of such dividend, fix a subsequent date as the record date for such determination.

136. If the Register is not so closed and no record date is fixed for the determination of those Shareholders entitled to receive notice of, attend or vote at a meeting of Shareholders or those Shareholders that are entitled to receive payment of a dividend, the date on which notice of the meeting is posted or the date on which the resolution of the Directors declaring such dividend is adopted, as the case may be, shall be the record date for such determination of Shareholders. When a determination of those Shareholders that are entitled to receive notice of, attend or vote at a meeting of Shareholders has been made as provided in this Article, such determination shall apply to any adjournment thereof.

REGISTRATION BY WAY OF CONTINUATION

137. The Company may by Special Resolution resolve to be registered by way of continuation in a jurisdiction outside the Cayman Islands or such other jurisdiction in which it is for the time being incorporated, registered or existing. In furtherance of a resolution adopted pursuant to this Article, the Directors may cause an application to be made to the Registrar of Companies to deregister the Company in the Cayman Islands or such other jurisdiction in which it is for the time being incorporated, registered or existing and may cause all such further steps as they consider appropriate to be taken to effect the transfer by way of continuation of the Company.

MERGERS AND CONSOLIDATION

138. The Company may by Special Resolution resolve to merge or consolidate the Company in accordance with the Law.

DISCLOSURE

139. The Directors, or any authorised service providers (including the officers, the Secretary and the registered office agent of the Company), shall be entitled to disclose to any regulatory or judicial authority, or to any stock exchange on which the Shares or any Class or Series may from time to time be listed, any information regarding the affairs of the Company including, without limitation, information contained in the Register and books of the Company.

INDEMNITY

140. To the fullest extent permitted by law, no Director, Secretary, Assistant Secretary, committee member or other officer for the time being and from time to time of the Company (each, a "Covered Person" and collectively, "Covered Persons") shall be liable to the Company or anyone for any reason whatsoever (including but not limited to (i) any act or omission by any Covered Person in connection with the conduct of the business of the Company, that is determined by such Covered Person in good faith to be in or not opposed to the best interests of the Company, (ii) any act or omission by any Covered Person based on the suggestions of any professional advisor of the Company whom such Covered Person believes is authorized to make such suggestions on behalf of the Company, (iii) any act or omission by the Company, or (iv) any mistake, negligence, misconduct or bad faith of any broker or other agent of the Company selected by Covered Person with reasonable care), unless any act or omission by such Covered Person constitutes willful misconduct or Gross Negligence by such Covered Person (as determined by a non-appealable judgment of a court of competent jurisdiction).

141. Covered Person may consult with legal counsel or accountants selected by such Covered Person and any act or omission by such Covered Person on behalf of the Company or in furtherance of the business of the Company in good faith in reliance on and in accordance with the advice of such counsel or accountants shall be full justification for the act or omission, and such Covered Person shall be fully protected in so acting or omitting to act if the counsel or accountants were selected with reasonable care.

142. To the fullest extent permitted by law, the Company shall indemnify and save harmless Covered Persons (the "Indemnitees"), from and against any and all claims, liabilities, damages, losses, costs and expenses, including amounts paid in satisfaction of judgments, in compromises and settlements, as fines and penalties and legal or other costs and expenses of investigating or defending against any claim or alleged claim, of any nature whatsoever, known or unknown, liquidated or unliquidated, that are incurred by any Indemnitee and arise out of or in connection with the business of the Company, any investment made, or the performance by the Indemnitee of Covered Person's responsibilities hereunder and against all taxes, charges, duties or levies incurred by such Covered Person or any Indemnitee in connection with the Company, provided that an Indemnitee shall not be entitled to indemnification hereunder to the extent the Indemnitee's conduct constitutes willful misconduct or Gross Negligence (as determined by a non-appealable judgment of a court of competent jurisdiction). The termination of any proceeding by settlement, judgment, order or upon a plea of nolo contendere or its equivalent shall not, of itself, create a presumption that the Indemnitee's conduct constituted willful misconduct or Gross Negligence.

143. Expenses incurred by an Indemnitee in defense or settlement of any claim that shall be subject to a right of indemnification hereunder, shall be advanced by the Company prior to the final disposition thereof upon receipt of an undertaking by or on behalf of the Indemnitee to repay the amount advanced to the extent that it shall be determined ultimately that the Indemnitee is not entitled to be indemnified hereunder.

144. The right of any Indemnitee to the indemnification provided herein shall be cumulative of, and in addition to, any and all rights to which the Indemnitee may otherwise be entitled by contract or as a matter of law or equity and shall be extended to the Indemnitee's successors, assigns and legal representatives.

DISPUTE RESOLUTION

145. The following procedures shall be used to resolve any controversy or claim ("Dispute") arising out of, relating to or in connection with these Articles or otherwise involving the Company, its Shareholders and/or any Covered Person. If any of these provisions are determined to be invalid or unenforceable, the remaining provisions shall remain in effect and binding on the parties to the fullest extent permitted by law.

(a) Mediation:

(i) any Dispute shall be submitted to mediation by written notice to the other party or parties. In the mediation process, the parties will try to resolve their differences voluntarily with the aid of an impartial mediator, who will attempt to facilitate negotiations. The mediator will be selected by agreement of the parties. If the parties cannot agree on a mediator, a mediator shall be designated by JAMS/Endispute at the request of a party using, if necessary, strike and rank procedures then in effect;

(ii) the mediation will be conducted as specified by the mediator and agreed upon by the parties. The parties agree to discuss their differences in good faith and to attempt, with the assistance of the mediator, to reach an amicable resolution of the dispute;

(iii) the mediation will be treated as a settlement discussion and therefore will be confidential. The mediator may not testify for either party in any later proceeding relating to the dispute. No recording or transcript shall be made of the mediation proceedings; and

(iv) each party will bear its own costs in the mediation. The fees and expenses of the mediator will be shared equally by the parties,

(b) Arbitration:

if a Dispute has not been resolved within 90 days after the written notice beginning the mediation process (or a longer period, if the parties agree to extend the mediation), the mediation shall terminate and the dispute will be settled by arbitration. A party who files a suit in court regarding a Dispute rather than in arbitration waives its claim and must pay all attorney's fees and costs incurred by the other party in seeking to have such suit dismissed. Under no circumstances will a party maintain its right to pursue his/her/its Dispute if that party initiates a judicial suit instead of complying with the mediation and arbitration provisions herein. The arbitration will be conducted through JAMS/Endispute in accordance with the procedures in these Articles and the commercial dispute arbitration rules then in effect ("Arbitration Rules"). In the event of a conflict, the provisions of these Articles will control:

(i) the arbitration will be conducted before a panel of three arbitrators, regardless of the size of the dispute, to be selected as provided in the Arbitration Rules. Any issue concerning the extent to which any dispute is subject to arbitration, or concerning the applicability, interpretation, or enforceability of these procedures, including any contention that all or part of these procedures are invalid or unenforceable, shall be governed by the United States Federal Arbitration Act ("FAA"), and resolved by the arbitrators, provided, however, that the Company or such applicable affiliate thereof may pursue a temporary restraining order and/or preliminary injunctive relief in connection with confidentiality covenants or agreements binding on any party, with related expedited discovery for the parties, in a court of law, and, thereafter, require arbitration of all issues of final relief. Under no circumstances will a State arbitration act of the United States preclude application of the FAA, including any choice of law provisions in this agreement, or any other agreement. No potential arbitrator may serve on the panel unless he or she has agreed in writing to abide and be bound by these procedures;

(ii) the arbitrators may not award non-monetary or equitable relief of any sort. They shall have no power to award punitive damages or any other damages not measured by the prevailing party's actual damages, and the parties expressly waive their right to obtain such damages in arbitration or any in other forum. In no event, even if any other portion of these provisions is held to be invalid or unenforceable, shall the arbitrators have power to make an award or impose a remedy that could not be made or imposed by a court deciding the matter in the same jurisdiction. The arbitrator(s) shall be required to state in a written opinion all facts and conclusions of law relied upon to support any decision rendered. Any dispute over whether the arbitrator(s) has failed to comply with the foregoing will be resolved by summary judgment in a court of law;

(iii) the party initiating arbitration shall pay all arbitration costs and arbitrator's fees, subject to a final arbitration award on who should bear costs and fees. All proceedings shall be conducted in Dallas, Texas, or another mutually agreeable site. Each party shall bear its own attorneys fees, costs and expenses, including any costs of experts, witnesses and/or travel, subject to a final arbitration award on who should bear costs and fees. This provision is intended to supersede any rights under Texas Civil Practices and Remedies Code § 38.001(8), which rights the parties expressly waive;

(iv) no discovery will be allowed in connection with the arbitration unless the arbitration panel, upon a showing of substantial need, expressly authorizes it. In any event, there shall be no more than (i) two party depositions of six hours each. Each deposition is to be taken pursuant to the Texas Rules of Civil Procedure; (ii) one non-party deposition of six hours; (iii) twenty-five interrogatories; (iv) twenty-five requests for admission; (v) ten requests for production. In response, the producing party shall not be obligated to produce in excess of 5,000 total pages of documents. The total pages of documents shall include electronic documents; (vi) one request for disclosure pursuant to the Texas Rules of Civil Procedure. Any discovery not specifically provided for in this paragraph, whether to parties or non-parties, shall not be permitted;

(v) all aspects of the arbitration shall be treated as confidential, including its institution and/or settlement. Neither the parties nor the arbitrators may disclose the existence, content or results of the arbitration, except as necessary to comply with legal or regulatory requirements. Before making any such disclosure, a party shall give written notice to all other parties and shall afford such parties a reasonable opportunity to protect their interests. In the event a party who recovered monies by settlement, award by the arbitration panel, or otherwise in connection with the Dispute violates this confidentiality term, he, she, or it shall refund all such sums recovered. The parties expressly intend to waive the right to retain any monies received through settlement, award by the arbitration panel, or otherwise in connection with the Dispute in the event that that party violates the aforementioned confidentiality term; and

(vi) the result of the arbitration will be binding on the parties, and judgment on the arbitrators' award may be entered in any court having jurisdiction.

CERTIFICATE OF INCORPORATION

HIGHLAND DALLAS FOUNDATION, INC.

FIRST: The name of the corporation is Highland Dallas Foundation, Inc. (sometimes hereinafter referred to as the "corporation").

SECOND: The corporation is organized and shall be operated exclusively for charitable, educational and scientific purposes within the meaning of Section 501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended (the "Code"). Within the scope of the foregoing purposes, the corporation is organized and operated exclusively to support and benefit The Dallas Foundation, a Texas nonprofit corporation that is exempt from federal income taxation under section 501(a) of the Code as an organization described in section 501(c)(3) of the Code, and a public charity described in section 509(a)(1) of the Code. In furtherance of these purposes, the corporation shall be controlled by The Dallas Foundation within the meaning of Section 509(a)(3)(B)(i) of the Code. The corporation shall possess and exercise all the powers and privileges granted by the Delaware General Corporation Law (the "Law") or by any other law of the State of Delaware or by this Certificate of Incorporation together with any powers incidental thereto, so far as such powers and privileges are necessary or convenient to the conduct, promotion or attainment of the purposes of the corporation. Notwithstanding the foregoing, the corporation shall carry on only those activities permitted to be carried on by an organization that is exempt from taxation under section 501(c)(3) of the Code and an organization that is described in section 509(a)(3) of the Code.

THIRD: The address of the corporation's registered office in the State of Delaware is 1209 Orange Street, New Castle County, Wilmington, Delaware 19801. The name of the corporation's registered agent at such address is The Corporation Trust Company.

FOURTH: The corporation shall be a nonprofit nonstock corporation, and it is not authorized to issue any capital stock. The directors of the corporation shall be elected in the manner and for the terms provided in the corporation's bylaws; provided, however, that the number of directors shall not be fewer than three (3). Unless and except to the extent that the bylaws of the corporation shall so require, the election of directors of the corporation need not be by written ballot.

FIFTH: No part of the net earnings of the corporation shall inure to the benefit of, or be distributable to, the corporation's directors, officers, or other private persons, except that the corporation shall be authorized and empowered to pay reasonable compensation for services rendered and to make grants, loans and similar payments in furtherance of the purposes set forth in Article SECOND hereof unless such compensation, grant, loan or similar payment would constitute an excess benefit transaction as that term is defined in either section 4958(c)(1) or section 4958(c)(3) of the Code. No part of the activities of the corporation shall be the carrying on of propaganda, or otherwise attempting to influence legislation. The corporation shall not participate in, or intervene in (including the publishing or distribution of statements), any political campaign on behalf of any candidate for public office. Notwithstanding any other provision of this Certificate of Incorporation, the corporation shall not carry on any activities not permitted to be carried on by (i) a corporation exempt from federal income tax under section 501(c)(3) of the Code, (ii) a corporation contributions to which are deductible under section 170 of the Code, or (iii) a supporting organization described in section 509(a)(3) of the Code.

SIXTH: The corporation shall have perpetual existence.

SEVENTH: To the fullest extent permitted by Law, no director of the corporation shall be liable to the corporation or any member for monetary damages for breach of fiduciary duty as a director, except for liability for (i) any breach of the director's duty of loyalty to the corporation or its members, (ii) acts or omissions not in good faith or which involve intentional misconduct or a knowing violation of law, including but not limited to section 4958 of the Code, or (iii) any transaction from which the director derived an improper personal benefit. If the Law is amended to authorize corporate action further eliminating or limiting the personal liability of directors, then the liability of a director of the corporation shall be eliminated or limited to the fullest extent permitted by the Law, as so amended. To the fullest extent permitted by Law, the corporation shall indemnify and may purchase and maintain insurance or other arrangements on behalf of any and all of the directors and officers of the corporation whom it may lawfully indemnify and insure to the maximum extent permitted by the Law, as amended from time to time, or by the laws of the State of Delaware, as in effect from time to time, in each case subject to the requirements of section 4958 of the Code. Any repeal or modification of this Article SEVENTH shall not adversely affect any right or protection of a director or officer of the corporation existing at the time of such repeal or modification.

EIGHTH: Upon the dissolution of the corporation, the corporation's assets shall be distributed for one or more exempt purposes within the meaning of section 501(c)(3) of the Code to The Dallas Foundation. If The Dallas Foundation is no longer described in section 501(c)(3) of the Code at the time of the distribution or is then no longer in existence, the corporation's assets shall be distributed to one or more organizations organized exclusively for charitable, educational, scientific or other exempt purposes and qualified as exempt under section 501(c)(3) of the Code, as shall be determined by the members of the corporation.

NINTH: In furtherance and not in limitation of the powers conferred by the laws of the State of Delaware, the members of the corporation are expressly authorized to make, alter and repeal the bylaws of the corporation.

TENTH: The incorporator is James Dondero whose mailing address is Two Galleria Tower, 13455 Noel Road, Suite 800, Dallas, Texas 75240.

I, THE UNDERSIGNED, being the incorporator, for the purpose of forming a corporation under the laws of the State of Delaware do make, file and record this Certificate of Incorporation, and, accordingly, have hereto set my hand this 22nd day of November, 2011.

Dear Applicant:

We are pleased to inform you that upon review of your application for tax exempt status we have determined that you are exempt from Federal income tax under section 501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code. Contributions to you are deductible under section 170 of the Code. You are also qualified to receive tax deductible bequests, devises, transfers or gifts under section 2055, 2106 or 2522 of the Code. Because this letter could help resolve any questions regarding your exempt status, you should keep it in your permanent records.

Organizations exempt under section 501(c)(3) of the Code are further classified as either public charities or private foundations. We determined that you are a public charity under the Code section(s) listed in the heading of this letter.

Specifically, we have determined that you are a Type I supporting organization under section 509(a)(3). A Type I supporting organization is operated, supervised, or controlled by one or more publicly supported organizations.

Please see enclosed Publication 4221-PC, Compliance Guide for 501(c)(3) Public Charities, for some helpful information about your responsibilities as an exempt organization.

Part IV Narrative Description of Activities

The Applicant is organized and will be operated exclusively as a supporting organization within the meaning of section 509(a)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended (the "Code"), to support and benefit The Dallas Foundation ("TDF"), a Texas nonprofit corporation. TDF is exempt from federal income taxation under section 501(a) of the Code as an organization described in section 501(c)(3) of the Code and a public charity described in section 509(a)(1) of the Code.

The Applicant received its funding as one of three charitable remainder beneficiaries of a charitable remainder trust created by James Dondero, which terminated on November 30, 2011. As the attached Schedule D reflects, the Applicant qualifies as a Type I supporting organization within the meaning of section 509(a)(3)(B)(i) because a majority of its board is elected by TDF.

The Applicant's supported organization, TDF, is the oldest community foundation in Texas and serves donors and nonprofit agencies throughout North Texas. As a community foundation, TDF offers a range of ways for local philanthropists to assist the community, including donor advised funds, designated and agency endowment funds, field of interest funds, scholarship funds, and unrestricted funds. TDF focuses on challenges facing North Texas and searches for nonprofit agencies that address these issues most efficiently and effectively, and it assists in connecting donors to causes they care about. In 2010, TDF paid out $31,408,988 in grants to charitable organizations in North Texas. The Applicant will support and benefit TDF by making grants directly to TDF in support of its charitable purposes. In addition, upon the direction and on behalf of TDF, the Applicant may make grants to such other public charities that TDF wishes to benefit in furtherance of TDF's exempt purposes. The total annual grants from the Applicant to or on behalf of TDF are expected to average approximately $1,000,000 per year.

BYLAWS

HIGHLAND DALLAS FOUNDATION, INC.

OFFICES

Section 1.1 Registered Office. The registered office of Highland Dallas Foundation, Inc. (the "Corporation") shall be maintained in the County of New Castle, State of Delaware, and the registered agent in charge thereof is The Corporation Trust Company.

Section 1.2 Other Offices. The Corporation may also have an office in the City of Dallas, State of Texas, and also offices at such other places as the Board of Directors may from time to time determine or the business of the Corporation may require.

MEMBERSHIP

Section 2.1 Classes and Number. The Corporation shall have two classes of members and one member in each such class: the Institutional Member, which shall be The Dallas Foundation, and the Individual Member, which shall be James Dondero or an individual designated as the Individual Member in accordance with these Bylaws.

Section 2.2 Voting. Except as otherwise provided in these Bylaws, the Institutional Member shall be entitled to two (2) votes upon each matter submitted to a vote of the members, and the Individual Member shall be entitled to one (1) vote upon each matter submitted to a vote of the members. In addition to any voting rights provided in these Bylaws, members shall be entitled to vote upon any matter with respect to which the General Corporation Law of the State of Delaware, or its successor statute, as amended (the "Law"), requires a vote of the members.

Section 2.3 Transfer of Membership. Institutional Membership in the Corporation is not transferable or assignable. The Individual Membership is transferable or assignable as provided herein only upon the approval of the Institutional Member, with such approval not to be unreasonably withheld by the Institutional Member. Subject to the approval of the Institutional Member, Mr. Dondero, as the initial Individual Member, may at any time pursuant to a written notice delivered to the Institutional Member during his lifetime or by a provision in his Will or other testamentary document, transfer his Individual Member interest to an individual, or designate an individual, or series of individuals, to whom such Individual Member interest is to be transferred upon the occurrence of a future contingency, such as the death or failure to act of a current or future Individual Member. Each successor Individual Member shall succeed to the rights of the initial Individual Member. Subject to the approval of the Institutional Member, each successor Individual Member may in the same manner transfer his Individual Member interest to an individual, or designate an individual, or series of individuals, to whom such Individual Member interest is to be transferred upon the occurrence of a future contingency, such as the death or failure to act of a current or future Individual Member. In the event of a conflict between such transfer documents, the one bearing the latest date shall control. Each Individual Member may at any time revoke his transfer document that is to be effective in the future, in whole or in part, by written notice delivered to the Institutional Member. If at any time an Individual Member shall be disabled and no transfer of such member's interest is to occur as a result of such disability in accordance with the foregoing provisions of this Section, then such member's attorney-in-fact under a valid, effective power of attorney instrument may act for such member hereunder. In the event of the death of an Individual Member, such member's personal representative of his estate, or trustee of a trust to which the Individual Member transferred his interest, may, if necessary, act as the Individual Member hereunder until such time as the Individual Member interest is transferred from the estate or trust.

Section 2.4 Resignation of Member. A member may resign at any time upon written notice to the Secretary.

Section 2.5 Place of Meetings. All meetings of the members be held shall by means of remote communication as authorized by the Law, unless the Board of Directors decides to hold such a meeting by another permitted means.

Section 2.6 Annual Meetings. Except as otherwise provided by these Bylaws, annual meeting of the members, commencing with the year 2012, shall be held at such date and time in the month of December as shall be provided by resolution of the Board of Directors, at which the members shall elect a Board of Directors, and transact such other business as may properly be brought before the meeting. The Secretary shall provide notice of each such meeting to each member consistent with the requirements of Section 2.8 below.

Section 2.7 Special Meetings. Special meetings of the members, for any purpose or purposes, unless otherwise prescribed by the Law or by the Certificate of Incorporation, may be called by the President and shall be called by the Secretary at the request of a majority of the Board of Directors, or at the request in writing of a member entitled to vote at such meeting. Such request shall state the purpose or purposes of the proposed meeting. The Secretary shall provide notice of each such meeting to each member consistent with the requirements of Section 2.8 below.

Section 2.8 Notice of Meetings of Members. When notice is required to be given for a meeting of the members, such notice shall specify the date, time, and location of the meeting and shall be given to each member at least ten (10) days prior to the meeting (at least three (3) days in the case of a special meeting). Notice shall be given (a) by written notice delivered personally, (b) by written notice sent by mail, email, or facsimile to the member's mailing address, email address, or facsimile number as shown by the records of the Corporation, or (c) by telephone. If mailed, such notice shall be deemed to be delivered when deposited in the United States mail so addressed, with postage thereon prepaid. If notice is delivered by email, such notice shall be deemed to be delivered when the email is sent, provided that the sender does not subsequently receive notice that the email transmission was not delivered to the designated email address. If delivered by facsimile, such notice shall be deemed to be delivered when the facsimile transmission indicates that the facsimile has been sent without error to the designated facsimile number. If delivered by telephone, such notice shall be deemed to be given at the time the telephone message shall reach and be communicated to a responsible individual at the phone number listed for a member's residence or place of business.

Section 2.9 Quorum. Both the Institutional Member and the Individual Member must be present in person or represented by proxy in order to constitute a quorum at all meetings of the members for the transaction of business, except as otherwise required by Law, the Certificate of Incorporation or these Bylaws. If, however, such quorum shall not be present or represented at any meeting of the members, the member entitled to vote thereat, present in person or represented by proxy, shall have the power to adjourn the meeting from time to time, without notice other than announcement at the meeting, of the place, date and hour of the adjourned meeting, until a quorum shall be present or represented by proxy. At the adjourned meeting at which a quorum shall be present or represented by proxy, the Corporation may transact any business which might have been transacted at the original meeting. If the adjournment is for more than 30 days, a notice of the adjourned meeting shall be given to each member of record entitled to vote at the meeting.

Section 2.10 Voting. When a quorum is present at any meeting, the vote of a majority of the number of votes held by the members, present in person or represented by proxy, shall be the act of the members, unless the act of a greater number is required by Law or expressly by these Bylaws.

Section 2.11 Proxies. At any meeting of the members, any member entitled to vote, consent or approve any action or matter may do so in person or by proxy authorized by an instrument in writing or by a transmission permitted by law. Any member represented by proxy shall be counted as present at such meeting for all purposes. Any copy, facsimile telecommunication or other reliable reproduction of the writing or transmission created pursuant to these Bylaws may be substituted or used in lieu of the original writing or transmission that could be used, provided that the copy, facsimile telecommunication or other reproduction shall be a complete reproduction of the entire original writing or transmission.

Section 2.12 Action by Written Consent. Any action required to be, or which may be, voted on, consented to or approved by the members may be taken without a meeting, without prior notice and without taking a vote if a consent or consents in writing, setting forth the action so taken, are signed by the member(s) holding the number of votes necessary to authorize or take such action at a meeting at which all members entitled to vote thereon were present and voted. A consent transmitted by electronic transmission shall be deemed to be written and signed for purposes of this Section 2.12. Prompt notice of the taking of an action by the members without a meeting by less than unanimous written consent shall be given to each member who did not consent in writing to the action. Each such consent must state the date of each member's signature. Such consent shall be placed in the minute book of the Corporation, and shall have the same force and effect as if approved by vote of the members at an actual meeting.

DIRECTORS

Section 3.1 General Powers. The business and affairs of the Corporation shall be managed by or under the direction of the Board of Directors, which may exercise all such powers of the Corporation and do all such acts and things as are not by the Law, the Certificate of Incorporation or these Bylaws directed or required to be exercised or done by the members, so long as the exercise of such powers and doing of such acts are consistent with the Corporation's prescribed purposes.

Section 3.2 Number of Directors. The number of Directors that shall constitute the Board of Directors shall be three (3). Two (2) Directors (the "Institutional Directors") shall be elected annually by the Institutional Member and one (1) Director (the "Individual Director") shall be elected annually by the Individual Member. Each Director shall hold office until such Director's successor is elected and qualified or until such Director's earlier death, resignation, retirement, disqualification or removal.

Section 3.3 Vacancies. If the office of any Director becomes vacant by reason of death, resignation, retirement, disqualification, removal from office, or otherwise, then (i) with respect to a vacancy of an Institutional Director seat, the Institutional Member shall elect a person to fill such vacancy, and (ii) with respect to a vacancy of an Individual Director seat, the Individual Member shall elect a person to fill such vacancy. If at any time there is no Individual Member who is able to fill a vacancy of an Individual Director seat, then the Institutional Member shall elect a successor Individual Director. Each Director elected to fill a vacancy shall hold office for the unexpired term of such Director's predecessor in office.

Section 3.4 Place of Meetings. The Board of Directors may hold its meetings outside of the State of Delaware, at the office of the Corporation or at such other places as they may from time to time determine, or as shall be fixed in the respective notices or waivers of notice of such meetings.

Section 3.5 Committees of Directors. The Corporation shall have no committees unless the Board of Directors, by resolution or resolutions passed by the unanimous vote of the Board, designates one or more committees.

Section 3.6 Compensation of Directors. Except to the extent prohibited by section 4958(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 (the "Code"), Directors, as such, may receive such stated salary for their services and/or such fixed sums and expenses for attendance at each regular or special meeting of the Board of Directors as may be established by resolution of the Board; provided that nothing contained in this Section shall be construed to preclude any Director from serving the Corporation in any other capacity and receiving compensation therefor.

Section 3.7 Annual Meeting. The annual meeting of the Board of Directors shall be held at such place and at such time as may be determined by the Board of Directors. If the date, time and location of the annual meeting are specified by a resolution adopted by the Board of Directors, no further notice of such annual meeting shall be required. If the date, time and location of an annual meeting are specified in another manner, then notice shall be provided consistent with the requirements of Section 3.10 below.

Section 3.8 Additional Regular Meetings. The Board of Directors may hold additional regular meetings for the purpose of taking any action and conducting any business that may properly come before the Board of Directors. If the date, time and location of the regular meeting are specified by a resolution adopted by the Board of Directors, no further notice of such regular meeting shall be required. If the date, time and location of a regular meeting are specified in another manner, then notice shall be provided consistent with the requirements of Section 3.10 below.

Section 3.9 Special Meetings. Special meetings of the Board of Directors may be held at any time on the call of the President or at the request in writing of any one or more Directors upon not less than three (3) days notice to each director. The person or persons calling a special meeting of the Board of Directors shall fix a date, time and location for holding such special meeting, which shall be specified in a notice provided for such special meeting consistent with the requirements of Section 3.10 below.

Section 3.10 Method and Timing of Notice. Unless otherwise provided herein, when notice is required to be given for a meeting of the Board of Directors, such notice shall be given to each Director at least ten (10) days prior to the meeting. Any notice given herein shall specify the date, time, and location of the meeting. Notice shall be given (a) by written notice delivered personally, (b) by written notice sent by mail, email, or facsimile to the Director's mailing address, email address, or facsimile number as shown by the records of the Corporation, or (c) by telephone. If mailed, such notice shall be deemed to be delivered when deposited in the United States mail so addressed, with postage thereon prepaid. If notice is delivered by email, such notice shall be deemed to be delivered when the email is sent, provided that the sender does not subsequently receive notice that the email transmission was not delivered to the designated email address. If delivered by facsimile, such notice shall be deemed to be delivered when the facsimile transmission indicates that the facsimile has been sent without error to the designated facsimile number. If delivered by telephone, such notice shall be deemed to be given at the time the telephone message shall reach and be communicated to a responsible individual at the phone number listed for a Director's residence or place of business.

Section 3.11 Purpose not Required in Notice. Unless specifically required by the Law or these Bylaws for a particular action, the purpose of and business to be transacted at a meeting need not be specified in the notice of such meeting or in a waiver of notice of such meeting.

Section 3.12 Waiver of Notice. Any Director may waive notice of any meeting by a writing signed by the Director, whether signed before or after the holding of such meeting, and such signed written waiver shall be deemed the equivalent of the Director having received notice. A Director's attendance at any meeting shall constitute a waiver of notice of such meeting, except where a Director attends a meeting for the express purpose of objecting to the transaction of any business of such meeting on the ground that the meeting is not lawfully called or convened.

Section 3.13 Action by Written Consent. Any action required to be, or which may be, voted on, consented to or approved by the Board of Directors may be taken without a meeting if a consent or consents in writing, setting forth the action so taken, are signed by all of the then-serving Directors. A consent transmitted by electronic transmission shall be deemed to be written and signed for purposes of this Section 3.13. Such consent shall be placed in the minute book of the Corporation, and shall have the same force and effect as if approved by vote of the Board of Directors at an actual meeting.

Section 3.14 Validation of Action by Consent. All actions taken at a meeting of the Board of Directors which is not regularly called or noticed shall be valid as if taken at a meeting regularly called and noticed if each Director either consents in writing or is present at such meeting and does not object to the meeting being held. At such meeting any business may be transacted which is not excepted from the written consent or which is not objected to at such meeting for want of notice. If any meeting of the Board of Directors is irregular for want of notice, the proceedings of such meeting may be ratified, approved and rendered valid, and the irregularity or defect therein waived, by a writing signed by all Directors, provided a quorum was present at such meeting.

Section 3.15 Quorum and Manner of Acting. A quorum for the transaction of business at any meeting of the Board of Directors shall consist of a majority of the then serving Directors. Except as otherwise provided by the Law, the Certificate of Incorporation or these Bylaws, the vote of a majority of the Directors present at any meeting at which a quorum is present shall be the act of the Board of Directors. Any Director may participate in a meeting of the Board of Directors or committee by means of conference telephone or other communications equipment by means of which all persons participating in the meeting can hear each other and such participation shall constitute presence in person at the meeting. In the absence of a quorum, a majority of the Directors present may adjourn the meeting from time to time until a quorum shall be present. Notice of any adjourned meeting need not be given, except that notice shall be given to all Directors if the adjournment is for more than thirty days.

Section 3.16 Resignation and Removal of Directors. Each Director may resign at any time by written notice delivered to the member that appointed such Director and to the President and Secretary of the Corporation. A resignation is effective when the resignation is delivered unless the resignation specifies a later effective date or an effective date determined upon the happening of an event or events. A resignation that is conditioned upon the director failing to receive a specified vote for reelection as a director may provide that it is irrevocable. The Institutional Member may remove an Institutional Director at any time, with or without cause. The Individual Member may remove an Individual Director at any time, with or without cause.

OFFICERS

Section 4.1 Officers. The officers of the Corporation shall include a President and a Secretary, and may include a Chairman and a Chief Financial Officer. A person may hold multiple offices.

Section 4.2 Election, Term of Office and Eligibility. The officers of the Corporation shall be elected annually by the Board of Directors at its annual meeting or at a special meeting held in lieu thereof. Each officer, except such officers as may be appointed in accordance with the provisions of Section 4.3, shall hold office until such officer's successor shall have been duly elected and qualified or until such officer's death, resignation or removal. None of the officers other than the Chairman need be members of the Board of Directors.

Section 4.3 Subordinate Officers. The Board of Directors may appoint such Vice Presidents, Assistant Secretaries, Assistant Chief Financial Officers, Controller and other officers, and such agents as the Board may determine, to hold office for such period and with such authority and to perform such duties as the Board of Directors may from time to time determine. The Board of Directors may, by specific resolution, empower the President or another officer of the Corporation to appoint any such subordinate officers or agents.

Section 4.4 Removal. The President, the Secretary, the Chairman and/or the Chief Financial Officer may be removed at any time by the Board of Directors with or without cause. Any subordinate officer appointed pursuant to Section 4.3 may be removed at any time, with or without cause, by the Board of Directors or by the person holding the officer position by which the subordinate officer was appointed.

Section 4.5 The President. The President shall be the chief executive officer of the Corporation. He or she shall have executive authority to see that all orders and resolutions of the Board of Directors are carried into effect and, subject to the control vested in the Board of Directors by the Law, the Certificate of Incorporation, or these Bylaws, shall administer and be responsible for the management of the business and affairs of the Corporation. In general the President shall perform all duties incident to the office of the President and such other duties as from time to time may be assigned to him or her by the Board of Directors.

Section 4.6 The Secretary. The Secretary shall:

(a) keep the minutes of the meetings of the members and of the Board of Directors;

(b) see that all notices are duly given in accordance with the provisions of these Bylaws or as required by law;

(c) be custodian of the records and of the seal of the Corporation and see that the seal or a facsimile or equivalent thereof is affixed to or reproduced on all documents, the execution of which on behalf of the Corporation under its seal is duly authorized; and

(d) in general, perform all duties incident to the office of Secretary, and such other duties as are provided by these Bylaws and as from time to time are assigned to him or her by the Board of Directors or by the President of the Corporation.

Section 4.7 The Assistant Secretaries. If one or more Assistant Secretaries shall be appointed pursuant to the provisions of Section 4.3 respecting subordinate officers, then, at the request of the Secretary, or in his or her absence or disability, the Assistant Secretary designated by the Secretary (or in the absence of such designations, then any one of such Assistant Secretaries) shall perform the duties of the Secretary and when so acting shall have all the powers of, and be subject to all the restrictions upon, the Secretary.

Section 4.8 Chairman. The Chairman, if any, shall preside when present at meetings of the Board of Directors; advise and counsel the other officers of the Corporation; and shall perform such other duties as may be prescribed by the Board of Directors from time to time.

Section 4.9 The Chief Financial Officer. The Chief Financial Officer, if any, shall:

(a) receive and be responsible for all funds of and securities owned or held by the Corporation and, in connection therewith, among other things: keep or cause to be kept full and accurate records and accounts for the Corporation; deposit or cause to be deposited to the credit of the Corporation all moneys, funds and securities so received in such bank or other depository as the Board of Directors or an officer designated by the Board may from time to time establish; and disburse or supervise the disbursement of the funds of the Corporation as may be properly authorized;

(b) render to the Board of Directors at any meeting thereof, or from time to time whenever the Board of Directors or the chief executive officer of the Corporation may require, financial and other appropriate reports on the condition of the Corporation; and

(c) in general, perform all the duties incident to the office of Chief Financial Officer and such other duties as from time to time may be assigned to the Chief Financial Officer by the Board of Directors or by the chief executive officer of the Corporation.

Section 4.10 The Assistant Chief Financial Officers. If one or more Assistant Chief Financial Officers shall be appointed pursuant to the provisions of Section 4.3 respecting subordinate officers, then, at the request of the Chief Financial Officer, or in the Chief Financial Officer's absence or disability, the Assistant Chief Financial Officer designated by the Chief Financial Officer (or in the absence of such designation, then any one of such Assistant Chief Financial Officers) shall perform all the duties of the Chief Financial Officer and when so acting shall have all the powers of and be subject to all the restrictions upon, the Chief Financial Officer.

Section 4.11 Delegation of Duties. In case of the absence of any officer of the Corporation or for any other reason which may seem sufficient to the Board of Directors, the Board of Directors may, for the time being, delegate his powers and duties, or any of them, to any other officer or to any director.

BOOKS AND RECORDS

Section 5.1 Location. The books, accounts and records of the Corporation may be kept at such place or places within or without the State of Delaware as the Board of Directors may from time to time determine.

Section 5.2 Inspection. The books, accounts, and records of the Corporation shall be open to inspection at all times by any member and by any member of the Board of Directors.

ARTICLE VI

MISCELLANEOUS PROVISIONS

Section 6.1 Fiscal Year. The fiscal year of the Corporation shall be the calendar year unless changed by the Board of Directors.

Section 6.2 Depositories. The Board of Directors or an officer designated by the Board shall appoint banks, trust companies, or other depositories in which shall be deposited from time to time the money or securities of the Corporation.

Section 6.3 Checks, Drafts and Notes. All checks, drafts, or other orders for the payment of money and all notes or other evidences of indebtedness issued in the name of the Corporation shall be signed by such officer or officers or agent or agents as shall from time to time be designated by resolution of the Board of Directors or by an officer appointed by the Board of Directors.

Section 6.4 Contracts and Other Instruments. The Board of Directors may authorize any officer, agent or agents to enter into any contract or execute and deliver any instrument in the name and on behalf of the Corporation and such authority may be general or confined to specific instances.

Section 6.5 Conflicts of Interest. No contract or agreement may be entered into by and between the corporation and any of the following: (a) a Director, officer, or employee of the corporation (hereinafter an "Insider"); or (b) any corporation, partnership, trust, sole proprietorship or any other entity (hereinafter an "Entity") in which an interest is owned or held, directly or indirectly, by or for the benefit of an Insider, unless (i) the transaction is approved in accordance with Section 144 of the Delaware General Corporation Law to the extent such provision is applicable to the transaction; and (ii) if one or more of the parties to the contract or transaction is a "disqualified person" with respect to the corporation within the meaning of Section 4958 of the Code, either (x) such transaction is reviewed and approved in accordance with the "rebuttable presumption safe harbor" provisions set forth in the regulations promulgated under Section 4958 of the Code or (y) the Board of Directors determines that such procedures are not necessary for the transaction involved and records its specific findings for making such determination; provided, however, that the following contracts and agreements shall not be subject to the foregoing prohibition: a gratuitous transfer of assets or promise to transfer assets to the corporation of any kind, including but not limited to, (i) a gift annuity, charitable remainder trust, charitable lead trust or similar split-interest arrangement which benefits both the Insider and the corporation; or (ii) a loan, lease, agreement of sale or purchase, pledge, guarantee, assumption of liability, bailment, or consignment. All Insiders shall, as a condition of qualifying and continuing to qualify as a Director, officer, and/or employee of the corporation, abide by such conflict of interest policies as the Board of Directors may adopt from time to time.

Section 6.6 Waivers of Notice. Whenever any notice is required to be given under the provisions of the Law or of the Certificate of Incorporation or of these Bylaws, a waiver thereof in writing signed by the person or persons entitled to said notice, whether before or after the time stated therein, shall be deemed equivalent to notice. Attendance of a person at a meeting shall constitute a waiver of notice of such meeting, except when the person attends a meeting for the express purpose of objecting, at the beginning of the meeting, to the transaction of any business because the meeting is not lawfully called or convened. Neither the business to be transacted at, nor the purpose of, any regular or special meeting of the members, Directors or members of a committee of directors need be specified in any written waiver of notice.

Section 6.7 Ownership Interests in Other Entities. Any ownership interests (e.g., shares of stock in any other corporation which may from time to time be held by this Corporation) may be represented and voted at any meeting of owners of such entity by the President, or by any other person or persons thereunto authorized by the Board of Directors, or by any proxy designated by written instrument of appointment executed in the name of this Corporation by its President.

Section 6.8 Indemnification.

(a) Each person who was or is a party or is threatened to be made a party to or is involved in any action, suit or proceeding, whether civil, criminal, administrative or investigative (hereinafter a "proceeding"), by reason of the fact that the person is or was a Director or officer of the Corporation or is or was a Director or officer of the Corporation who is or was serving at the request of the Corporation as a director, officer, employee or agent of another corporation or of a partnership, joint venture, trust or other enterprise, including service with respect to employee benefit plans, shall be indemnified and held harmless by the Corporation to the fullest extent authorized by the laws of Delaware as the same now or may hereafter exist (but, in the case of any change, only to the extent that such change authorizes the Corporation to provide broader indemnification rights than said law permitted the Corporation to provide prior to such change) against all costs, charges, expenses, liabilities and losses (including attorneys' fees, judgments, fines, ERISA excise taxes or penalties and amounts paid or to be paid in settlement) reasonably incurred or suffered by such person in connection therewith and such indemnification shall continue as to a person who has ceased to be a Director or officer and shall inure to the benefit of the person's heirs, executors and administrators. The right to indemnification conferred in this Section shall be a contract right and shall include the right to be paid by the Corporation the expenses incurred in defending any such proceeding in advance of its final disposition upon receipt by the Corporation of an undertaking, by or on behalf of such director or officer, to repay all amounts so advanced if it shall ultimately be determined that the director or officer is not entitled to be indemnified under this Section or otherwise. The Corporation may, by action of its Board of Directors, provide indemnification to employees and agents of the Corporation with the same scope and effect as the foregoing indemnification of Directors and officers.

(b) If a claim under subsection (a) of this Section is not paid in full by the Corporation within thirty days after a written claim has been received by the Corporation, the claimant may at any time thereafter bring suit against the Corporation to recover the unpaid amount of the claim and, if successful in whole or in part, the claimant shall also be entitled to be paid the expense of prosecuting such claim. It shall be a defense to any action (other than an action brought to enforce a claim for expenses incurred in defending any proceeding in advance of its final disposition where the required undertaking has been tendered to the Corporation) that the claimant has failed to meet a standard of conduct which makes it permissible under Delaware law for the Corporation to indemnify the claimant for the amount claimed, but the burden of proving such defense shall be on the Corporation. Neither the failure of the Corporation (including its Board of Directors, independent legal counsel, or its members) to have made a determination prior to the commencement of such action that indemnification of the claimant is permissible in the circumstances because the claimant has met such standard of conduct, nor an actual determination by the Corporation (including its Board of Directors, independent legal counsel, or its members) that the claimant has not met such standard of conduct, nor the termination of any proceeding by judgment, order, settlement, conviction or upon a plea of nolo contendere or its equivalent, shall be a defense to the action or create a presumption that the claimant has failed to meet the required standard of conduct.

(c) The right to indemnification and the payment of expenses incurred in defending a proceeding in advance of its final disposition conferred in this Section shall not be exclusive of any other right which any person may have or hereafter acquire under any statute, provision of the Certificate of Incorporation, these Bylaws, agreement, vote of members or disinterested Directors or otherwise.

(d) The Corporation may maintain insurance, at its expense, to protect itself and any Director, member, officer, employee or agent of the Corporation or another corporation, partnership, joint venture, trust or other enterprise against any expense, liability or loss, whether or not the Corporation would have the power to indemnify such person against such expense, liability or loss under Delaware law.

(e) To the extent that any Director, officer, employee or agent of the Corporation is by reason of such position, or a position with another entity at the request of the Corporation, a witness in any proceeding, such person shall be indemnified against all costs and expenses actually and reasonably incurred by such person or on such person's behalf in connection therewith.

(f) Any amendment, repeal or modification of any provision of this Section by the members or the Directors of the Corporation shall not adversely affect any right or protection of a Director or officer of the Corporation existing at the time of such amendment, repeal or modification.

(g) The provisions of this Section 6.7, and the limitations on liability and indemnification provided in such Section, shall survive the winding up and termination of the Corporation to the extent permitted by applicable law.

Section 6.9 Amendment of Bylaws. Only the members, by the affirmative unanimous vote of the members entitled to vote, may adopt, amend, or repeal these Bylaws, and alterations or amendments of these Bylaws made by the members shall not be altered or amended by the Board of Directors to the extent such alteration or amendment expressly states that it can only be altered or amended by the members.

OF

HIGHLAND SANTA BARBARA FOUNDATION, INC.

FIRST: The name of the corporation is Highland Santa Barbara Foundation, Inc. (sometimes hereinafter referred to as the "corporation").

SECOND: The corporation is organized and shall be operated, exclusively for charitable, educational and scientific purposes within the meaning of Section 501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended (the "Code"). Within the scope of the foregoing purposes, the corporation is organized and operated exclusively to support and benefit Santa Barbara Foundation, a California nonprofit corporation that is exempt from federal income taxation under section 501(a) of the Code of 1986 as an organization described in section 501(c)(3) of the Code, and a public charity described in section 509(a)(1) of the Code. In furtherance of these purposes, the corporation shall be controlled by Santa Barbara Foundation within the meaning of Section 509(a)(3)(B)(i) of the Code. The corporation shall possess and exercise all the powers and privileges granted by the Delaware General Corporation Law (the "Law") or by any other law of the State of Delaware or by this Certificate of Incorporation together with any powers incidental thereto, so far as such powers and privileges are necessary or convenient to the conduct, promotion or attainment of the purposes of the corporation. Notwithstanding the foregoing, the corporation shall carry on only those activities permitted to be carried on by an organization that is exempt from taxation under section 501(c)(3) of the Code and an organization that is described in section 509(a)(3) of the Code.

THIRD: The address of the corporation's registered office in the State of Delaware is 1209 Orange Street, New Castle County, Wilmington, Delaware 19801. The name of the corporation's registered agent at such address is The Corporation Trust Company.

FOURTH: The corporation shall be a nonprofit nonstock corporation, and it is not authorized to issue any capital stock. The directors of the corporation shall be elected in the manner and for the terms provided in the corporation's bylaws; provided, however, that the number of directors shall not be fewer than three (3). Unless and except to the extent that the bylaws of the corporation shall so require, the election of directors of the corporation need not be by written ballot.

FIFTH: No part of the net earnings of the corporation shall inure to the benefit of, or be distributable to, the corporation's directors, officers, or other private persons, except that the corporation shall be authorized and empowered to pay reasonable compensation for services rendered and to make grants, loans and similar payments in furtherance of the purposes set forth in Article SECOND hereof unless such compensation, grant, loan or similar payment would constitute an excess benefit transaction as that term is defined in either section 4958(c)(1) or section 4958(c)(3) of the Code. No part of the activities of the corporation shall be the carrying on of propaganda, or otherwise attempting to influence legislation. The corporation shall not participate in, or intervene in (including the publishing or distribution of statements), any political campaign on behalf of any candidate for public office. Notwithstanding any other provision of this Certificate of Incorporation, the corporation shall not carry on any activities not permitted to be carried on by (i) a corporation exempt from federal income tax under section 501(c)(3) of the Code, (ii) a corporation contributions to which are deductible under section 170 of the Code, or (iii) a supporting organization described in section 509(a)(3) of the Code.

SIXTH: The corporation shall have perpetual existence.

SEVENTH: To the fullest extent permitted by Law, no director of the corporation shall be liable to the corporation or any member for monetary damages for breach of fiduciary duty as a director, except for liability for (i) any breach of the director's duty of loyalty to the corporation or its members, (ii) acts or omissions not in good faith or which involve intentional misconduct or a knowing violation of law, including but not limited to section 4958 of the Code, or (iii) any transaction from which the director derived an improper personal benefit. If the Law is amended to authorize corporate action further eliminating or limiting the personal liability of directors, then the liability of a director of the corporation shall be eliminated or limited to the fullest extent permitted by the Law, as so amended. To the fullest extent permitted by Law, the corporation shall indemnify and may purchase and maintain insurance or other arrangements on behalf of any and all of the directors and officers of the corporation whom it may lawfully indemnify and insure to the maximum extent permitted by the Law, as amended from time to time, or by the laws of the State of Delaware, as in effect from time to time, in each case subject to the requirements of section 4958 of the Code. Any repeal or modification of this Article SEVENTH shall not adversely affect any right or protection of a director or officer of the corporation existing at the time of such repeal or modification.

EIGHTH: Upon the dissolution of the corporation, the corporation's assets shall be distributed for one or more exempt purposes within the meaning of section 501(c)(3) of the Code to Santa Barbara Foundation. If Santa Barbara Foundation is no longer described in section 501(c)(3) of the Code at the time of the distribution or is then no longer in existence, the corporation's assets shall be distributed to one or more organizations organized exclusively for charitable, educational, scientific or other exempt purposes and qualified as exempt under section 501(c)(3) of the Code, as shall be determined by the members of the corporation.

NINTH: In furtherance and not in limitation of the powers conferred by the laws of the State of Delaware, the members of the corporation are expressly authorized to make, alter and repeal the bylaws of the corporation.

TENTH: The incorporator is James Dondero whose mailing address is Two Galleria Tower, 13455 Noel Road, Suite 800, Dallas, Texas 75240.

I, THE UNDERSIGNED, being the incorporator, for the purpose of forming a corporation under the laws of the State of Delaware do make, file and record this Certificate of Incorporation, and, accordingly, have hereto set my hand this 21st day of November, 2011.

WE ASSIGNED YOU AN EMPLOYER IDENTIFICATION NUMBER

Thank you for applying for an Employer Identification Number (EIN). We assigned you EIN [redacted]2008. This EIN will identify you, your business accounts, tax returns, and documents, even if you have no employees. Please keep this notice in your permanent records.

When filing tax documents, payments, and related correspondence, it is very important that you use your EIN and complete name and address exactly as shown above. Any variation may cause a delay in processing, result in incorrect information in your account, or even cause you to be assigned more than one EIN. If the information is not correct as shown above, please make the correction using the attached tear off stub and return it to us.

Assigning an EIN does not grant tax-exempt status to non-profit organizations. Publication 557, Tax Exempt Status for Your Organization, has details on the application process, as well as information on returns you may need to file. To apply for formal recognition of tax-exempt status, most organizations will need to complete either Form 1023, Application for Recognition of Exemption Under Section 501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code, or Form 1024, Application for Recognition of Exemption Under Section 501(a). Submit the completed form, all applicable attachments, and the required user fee to:

Honorable Stacy G. C. Jernigan
United States Bankruptcy Judge
Northern District of Texas

Re: Highland Dallas Foundation, Inc.

Dear Judge Jernigan:

The Santa Barbara Foundation ("SBF") is a community foundation incorporated in 1928 under the laws of the state of California as a nonprofit corporation to enrich the lives of the people of Santa Barbara County through philanthropy. The mission of SBF is to mobilize collective wisdom and philanthropic capital to build empathetic, inclusive, and resilient communities. Working in partnership with individuals, families, community organizations, nonprofits, businesses, and government, SBF funds a wide range of initiatives, projects, and organizations. SBF has supported nearly every Santa Barbara County nonprofit organization and essential community project during its 93-year history and continues to serve as one of the largest private funding sources for area nonprofits, agencies, and college-bound students.

In 2020, SBF awarded $31 million in grants, received $36 million in contributions, and had $514 million in assets. Nonprofit support included annual grant programs (behavioral health, health care, food, shelter & safety, and child care), laying the groundwork for workforce development strategies, and creating the Collaboration for Social Impact to help nonprofits with capacity building and leadership development. Additionally, SBF co-organized and co-led the countywide COVID-19 Joint Response Effort, broadened its grantmaking to include small businesses through the Santa Barbara Better Together Fund, co-led the 2020 census efforts with the County of Santa Barbara, sponsored and produced educational events to promote diversity, equity, inclusion and access, and continued its annual funding of the Scholarship Foundation of Santa Barbara. Grants are made through SBF from various types of funds, including donor advised, donor designated, and field of interest. Discretionary grants, totaling over $7 million in 2020, are also supported by SBF's unrestricted contributions and investment income.

SBF works with entities organized under Section 509(a)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code as supporting organizations to SBF for the specific and primary purpose of benefiting, performing functions of, and engaging in activities consistent with SBF's charitable purposes. SBF appoints a majority of the members of the governing boards of the supporting organizations. Each governing board may create its own investment policy and grant guidelines. Each organization is a separate legal entity required to file its own IRS Form 990, "Return of Organization Exempt from Income Tax". SBF and its supporting organizations are considered under SBF's control and thus consolidated in SBF's audited financial statements.

Overview of Highland Santa Barbara Foundation, Inc.

Highland Santa Barbara Foundation, Inc. (HSBF) was formed in November 2011 as a Delaware nonprofit nonstock corporation to operate exclusively for the benefit of, to perform the functions of, or carry out the purposes of SBF. HSBF is a Type I supporting organization under Section 509(a)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code. SBF is a supported organization under Section 509(a)(1) of the Internal Revenue Code.

The Bylaws of HSBF describe the governance of HSBF by its members, directors, and officers. HSBF has two classes of members, institutional and individual, and one member in each class. SBF is the institutional member. James Dondero is the individual member. HSBF has three directors, two elected by SBF and one elected by James Dondero. The president, secretary, and any other officers of HSBF are elected by the three directors.

SBF and HSBF have an operating agreement whereby SBF provides grant administration and other services to HSBF and HSBF pays support fees to SBF. The fees are calculated using a tiered schedule based on the fair market value of 100 participation shares of Charitable DAF HoldCo, Ltd., which is the primary asset of HSBF. The fair market value is determined by an independent valuation firm at least annually.

Relationship and Mission Advancement

SBF meets annually with HSBF to discuss SBF activities, alignment of SBF priorities and focus areas with HSBF philanthropic objectives, and proposed HSBF funding for the upcoming year. Since its inception, HSBF has funded over $5 million of the grants awarded by SBF, including nearly $3 million in Santa Barbara County. See HSBF, Inc. History, attached.

HSBF has augmented SBF's discretionary grants in the areas of: early childhood, youth, and workforce development and education; scholarships; veterans and military education and job training; Community Caregiving Initiative; and Food Action Plan. HSBF has also funded grants to specific organizations, including: $400,000 to Children's Museum of Santa Barbara d.b.a. MOXI - The Wolf Museum of Exploration and Innovation; $90,000 to Reasoning Mind, Inc. for identified local schools to participate in a math literacy program; and $30,000 to Boy Scouts of America - Los Padres Council for rebuilding of Camp Rancho Alegre following the Whittier Fire.

Thank you.

OF

HIGHLAND KANSAS CITY FOUNDATION, INC.

FIRST: The name of the corporation is Highland Kansas City Foundation, Inc. (sometimes hereinafter referred to as the "corporation").

SECOND: The corporation is organized and shall be operated exclusively for charitable, educational and scientific purposes within the meaning of Section 501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended (the "Code"). Within the scope of the foregoing purposes, the corporation is organized and operated exclusively to support and benefit the Greater Kansas City Community Foundation, a Missouri nonprofit corporation that is exempt from federal income taxation under section 501(a) of the Code as an organization described in section 501(c)(3) of the Code, and a public charity described in section 509(a)(1) of the Code. In furtherance of these purposes, the corporation shall be controlled by the Greater Kansas City Community Foundation within the meaning of Section 509(a)(3)(B)(i) of the Code. The corporation shall possess and exercise all the powers and privileges granted by the Delaware General Corporation Law (the "Law") or by any other law of the State of Delaware or by this Certificate of Incorporation together with any powers incidental thereto, so far as such powers and privileges are necessary or convenient to the conduct, promotion or attainment of the purposes of the corporation. Notwithstanding the foregoing, the corporation shall carry on only those activities permitted to be carried on by an organization that is exempt from taxation under section 501(c)(3) of the Code and an organization that is described in section 509(a)(3) of the Code.

THIRD: The address of the corporation's registered office in the State of Delaware is 1209 Orange Street, New Castle County, Wilmington, Delaware 19801. The name of the corporation's registered agent at such address is The Corporation Trust Company.

FOURTH: The corporation shall be a nonprofit nonstock corporation, and it is not authorized to issue any capital stock. The directors of the corporation shall be elected in the manner and for the terms provided in the corporation's bylaws; provided, however, that the number of directors shall not be fewer than three (3). Unless and except to the extent that the bylaws of the corporation shall so require, the election of directors of the corporation need not be by written ballot.

FIFTH: No part of the net earnings of the corporation shall inure to the benefit of, or be distributable to, the corporation's directors, officers, or other private persons, except that the corporation shall be authorized and empowered to pay reasonable compensation for services rendered and to make grants, loans and similar payments in furtherance of the purposes set forth in Article SECOND hereof unless such compensation, grant, loan or similar payment would constitute an excess benefit transaction as that term is defined in either section 4958(c)(1) or section 4958(c)(3) of the Code. No part of the activities of the corporation shall be the carrying on of propaganda, or otherwise attempting to influence legislation. The corporation shall not participate in, or intervene in (including the publishing or distribution of statements), any political campaign on behalf of any candidate for public office. Notwithstanding any other provision of this Certificate of Incorporation, the corporation shall not carry on any activities not permitted to be carried on by (i) a corporation exempt from federal income tax under section 501(c)(3) of the Code, (ii) a corporation contributions to which are deductible under section 170 of the Code, or (iii) a supporting organization described in section 509(a)(3) of the Code.

SIXTH: The corporation shall have perpetual existence.

SEVENTH: To the fullest extent permitted by Law, no director of the corporation shall be liable to the corporation or any member for monetary damages for breach of fiduciary duty as a director, except for liability for (i) any breach of the director's duty of loyalty to the corporation or its members, (ii) acts or omissions not in good faith or which involve intentional misconduct or a knowing violation of law, including but not limited to section 4958 of the Code, or (iii) any transaction from which the director derived an improper personal benefit. If the Law is amended to authorize corporate action further eliminating or limiting the personal liability of directors, then the liability of a director of the corporation shall be eliminated or limited to the fullest extent permitted by the Law, as so amended. To the fullest extent permitted by Law, the corporation shall indemnify and may purchase and maintain insurance or other arrangements on behalf of any and all of the directors and officers of the corporation whom it may lawfully indemnify and insure to the maximum extent permitted by the Law, as amended from time to time, or by the laws of the State of Delaware, as in effect from time to time, in each case subject to the requirements of section 4958 of the Code. Any repeal or modification of this Article SEVENTH shall not adversely affect any right or protection of a director or officer of the corporation existing at the time of such repeal or modification.

EIGHTH: Upon the dissolution of the corporation, the corporation's assets shall be distributed for one or more exempt purposes within the meaning of section 501(c)(3) of the Code to the Greater Kansas City Community Foundation. If the Greater Kansas City Community Foundation is no longer described in section 501(c)(3) of the Code at the time of the distribution or is then no longer in existence, the corporation's assets shall be distributed to one or more organizations organized exclusively for charitable, educational, scientific or other exempt purposes and qualified as exempt under section 501(c)(3) of the Code, as shall be determined by the members of the corporation.

NINTH: In furtherance and not in limitation of the powers conferred by the laws of the State of Delaware, the members of the corporation are expressly authorized to make, alter and repeal the bylaws of the corporation.

TENTH: The incorporator is James Dondero whose mailing address is Two Galleria Tower, 13455 Noel Road, Suite 800, Dallas, Texas 75240.

I, THE UNDERSIGNED, being the incorporator, for the purpose of forming a corporation under the laws of the State of Delaware do make, file and record this Certificate of Incorporation, and, accordingly, have hereto set my hand this 22nd day of November, 2011.

GREATER KANSAS CITY COMMUNITY FOUNDATION℠

July 7, 2021

To Whom It May Concern:

Thank you for this opportunity to share our experience working with the Highland Kansas City Foundation, Inc.

I represent the Greater Kansas City Community Foundation, which exists to serve philanthropic donors by providing vehicles for their charitable giving. The Community Foundation was founded in 1978, and now has an asset base of more than $4 billion, housing thousands of donor-advised funds, scholarship funds, supporting organizations and other charitable funds and accounts established by individuals, families and businesses. In 2020, the Community Foundation's donors used their charitable dollars to grant over $550 million to their favorite causes across the country.

The Community Foundation currently works with 18 supporting organizations, one of which is the Highland Kansas City Foundation, established in 2011. Supporting organizations operate under their own legal entities but require the Community Foundation's active oversight and involvement. The Community Foundation's Board of Directors controls the Board of the Highland Kansas City Foundation. The Community Foundation oversees all of the Highland Kansas City Foundation's grants, ensuring every dollar is distributed for charitable purposes.

Since 2011, the Highland Kansas City Foundation has granted more than $9 million to support education and college preparation, historical preservation, medical research, veterans, the arts, the environment and more.

The Community Foundation's mission is to increase philanthropy and connect donors to the causes they care about, and we are honored to further the Highland Kansas City Foundation's generosity through significant annual distributions to important causes in our country.

Sincerely,

Deborah L. Wilkerson

OF

HIGHLAND KANSAS CITY FOUNDATION, INC.

OFFICES

Section 1.1 Registered Office. The registered office of Highland Kansas City Foundation, Inc. (the "Corporation") shall be maintained in the County of New Castle, State of Delaware, and the registered agent in charge thereof is The Corporation Trust Company.

Section 1.2 Other Offices. The Corporation may also have an office in the City of Dallas, State of Texas, and also offices at such other places as the Board of Directors may from time to time determine or the business of the Corporation may require.

ARTICLE II

MEMBERSHIP

Section 2.1 Classes. The Corporation shall have two classes of members, the Institutional Member, which shall be the Greater Kansas City Community Foundation, and the Individual Member, which shall be James Dondero or an individual designated as the Individual Member in accordance with these Bylaws.

Section 2.2 Voting. Except as otherwise provided in these Bylaws, each member shall be entitled to one vote upon each matter submitted to a vote of the members. In addition to any voting rights provided in these Bylaws, members shall be entitled to vote upon any matter with respect to which the General Corporation Law of the State of Delaware, or its successor statute, as amended (the "Law"), requires a vote of the members.

Section 2.3 Transfer of Membership. Institutional Membership in the Corporation is not transferable or assignable. Mr. Dondero, as the initial Individual Member, may at any time pursuant to a written notice delivered to the Institutional Member during his lifetime or by a provision in his Will or other testamentary document designate an individual, or series of individuals, to serve as a successor Individual Member, and such designation may be a current appointment or an appointment to take effect upon the occurrence of a future contingency, such as the death or failure to act of a current or future Individual Member. Each successor Individual Member shall succeed to the rights of the initial Individual Member. Each successor Individual Member may in the same manner designate an individual, or series of individuals, to serve as successor Individual Member, and such designation may be a current appointment or an appointment to take effect upon the occurrence of a future contingency such as the death or failure to act of a current or future Individual Member. In the event of a conflict between such appointments, the one bearing the earliest date shall control. Each Individual Member may at any time revoke his or her appointment notice or other document in whole or in part by written notice delivered to the Institutional Member. If at any time there is no Individual Member and no individual has been designated in accordance with the foregoing provisions of this Section to act as such, then the Individual Member shall be the individual designated by a majority of the eldest generation of then living descendants of James Dondero that has at least one descendant then living.

Section 2.4 Resignation of Member. A member may resign at any time upon written notice to the Secretary.

Section 2.5 Place of Meetings. All meetings of the members shall by means of remote communication as authorized by the Law, unless the Board of Directors decides to hold such a meeting by another permitted means.

Section 2.6 Annual Meetings. An annual meeting of the members, commencing with the year 2012, shall be held at such date and time in the month of December as shall be provided by resolution of the Board of Directors, at which the members shall elect a Board of Directors, and transact such other business as may properly be brought before the meeting. The Secretary shall provide notice of each such meeting to each member consistent with the requirements of Section 2.9 below.

Section 2.7 Special Meetings. Special meetings of the members, for any purpose or purposes, unless otherwise prescribed by the Law or by the Certificate of Incorporation, may be called by the President and shall be called by the Secretary at the request of a majority of the Board of Directors, or at the request in writing of a member entitled to vote at such meeting. Such request shall state the purpose or purposes of the proposed meeting. The Secretary shall provide notice of each such meeting to each member consistent with the requirements of Section 2.9 below.

Section 2.8 Members' List. At least ten days before every meeting of members, a complete list of the members entitled to vote at said meeting, arranged in alphabetical order, shall be prepared by the Secretary. Such list shall be open to the examination of any member, for any purpose germane to the meeting, during ordinary business hours, for a period of at least ten days prior to the meeting at the place where the meeting is to be held. The list shall also be produced and kept at the time and place of the meeting during the whole time thereof, and may be inspected by any member who is present.

Section 2.9 Notice of Meetings of Members. When notice is required to be given for a meeting of the members, such notice shall specify the date, time, and location of the meeting and shall be given to each member at least ten (10) days prior to the meeting. Notice shall be given (a) by written notice delivered personally,

(b) by written notice sent by mail, email, or facsimile to the member's mailing address, email address, or facsimile number as shown by the records of the Corporation, or (c) by telephone. If mailed, such notice shall be deemed to be delivered when deposited in the United States mail so addressed, with postage thereon prepaid. If notice is delivered by email, such notice shall be deemed to be delivered when the email is sent, provided that the sender does not subsequently receive notice that the email transmission was not delivered to the designated email address. If delivered by facsimile, such notice shall be deemed to be delivered when the facsimile transmission indicates that the facsimile has been sent without error to the designated facsimile number. If delivered by telephone, such notice shall be deemed to be given at the time the telephone message shall reach and be communicated to a responsible individual at the phone number listed for a member's residence or place of business.

Section 2.10 Quorum. Both the Institutional Member and the Individual Member must be present in person or represented by proxy in order to constitute a quorum at all meetings of the members for the transaction of business except as otherwise provided by Law, the Certificate of Incorporation or these Bylaws. If, however, such quorum shall not be present or represented at any meeting of the members, the member entitled to vote thereat, present in person or represented by proxy, shall have the power to adjourn the meeting from time to time, without notice other than announcement at the meeting, of the place, date and hour of the adjourned meeting, until a quorum shall again be present or represented by proxy. At the adjourned meeting at which a quorum shall be present or represented by proxy, the corporation may transact any business which might have been transacted at the original meeting. If the adjournment is for more than 30 days, a notice of the adjourned meeting shall be given to each member of record entitled to vote at the meeting.

Section 2.11 Voting. When a quorum is present at any meeting, the vote of a majority of the members, present in person or represented by proxy, shall be the act of the members, unless the act of a greater number is required by Law or expressly by these Bylaws.

Section 2.12 Proxies. At any meeting of the members, a member is entitled to be counted as present and to vote by written proxy executed by that member or his or her duly authorized attorney-in-fact. No proxy shall be valid after three (3) months from the date of its execution.

Section 2.13 Action by Written Consent. Any action required to be, or which may be, voted on, consented to or approved by the members may be taken without a meeting, without prior notice and without taking a vote if a consent or consents in writing, setting forth the action so taken, are signed by that number of members necessary to authorize or take such action at a meeting at which all members entitled to vote thereon were present and voted. A consent transmitted by electronic transmission shall be deemed to be written and signed for purposes of this Section 2.13. Prompt notice of the taking of an action by the members without a meeting by less than unanimous written consent shall be given to each member who did not consent in writing to the action. Each such consent must state the date of each member's signature. Such consent shall be placed in the minute book of the Corporation, and shall have the same force and effect as if approved by vote of the members at an actual meeting.

ARTICLE III

DIRECTORS

Section 3.1 General Powers. The business and affairs of the Corporation shall be managed by or under the direction of the Board of Directors, which may exercise all such powers of the Corporation and do all such acts and things as are not by the Law, the Certificate of Incorporation or these Bylaws directed or required to be exercised or done by the members, so long as the exercise of such powers and doing of such acts are consistent with the Corporation's prescribed purposes.

Section 3.2 Number of Directors. The number of Directors that shall constitute the Board of Directors shall be three (3). Two (2) Directors (the "Institutional Directors") shall be elected annually by the Institutional Member and one (1) Director (the "Individual Director") shall be elected annually by the Individual Member. Each Director shall hold office until such Director's successor is elected and qualified or until such Director's earlier death, resignation, retirement, disqualification or removal.

Section 3.3 Vacancies. If the office of any Director becomes vacant by reason of death, resignation, retirement, disqualification, removal from office, or otherwise, then (i) with respect to a vacancy of an Institutional Director seat, the Institutional Member shall elect a person to fill such vacancy, and (ii) with respect to a vacancy of an Individual Director seat, the Individual Member shall elect a person to fill such vacancy. If at any time there is no Individual Member who is able to fill a vacancy of an Individual Director seat, then the Institutional Member shall elect a successor Individual Director. Each Director elected to fill a vacancy shall hold office for the unexpired term of such Director's predecessor in office.

Section 3.4 Place of Meetings. The Board of Directors may hold its meetings outside of the State of Delaware, at the office of the Corporation or at such other places as they may from time to time determine, or as shall be fixed in the respective notices or waivers of notice of such meetings.

Section 3.5 Committees of Directors. The Corporation shall have no committees unless the Board of Directors, by resolution or resolutions passed by the unanimous vote of the Board, designates one or more committees.

Section 3.6 Compensation of Directors. Except to the extent prohibited by section 4958(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 (the "Code"), Directors, as such, may receive such stated salary for their services and/or such fixed sums and expenses for attendance at each regular or special meeting of the Board of Directors as may be established by resolution of the Board; provided that nothing contained in this Section shall be construed to preclude any Director from serving the Corporation in any other capacity and receiving compensation therefor.

Section 3.7 Annual Meeting. The annual meeting of the Board of Directors shall be held at such place and at such time as may be determined by the Board of Directors. If the date, time and location of the annual meeting are specified by a resolution adopted by the Board of Directors, no further notice of such annual meeting shall be required. If the date, time and location of an annual meeting are specified in another manner, then notice shall be provided consistent with the requirements of Section 3.10 below.

Section 3.8 Additional Regular Meetings. The Board of Directors may hold additional regular meetings for the purpose of taking any action and conducting any business that may properly come before the Board of Directors. If the date, time and location of the regular meeting are specified by a resolution adopted by the Board of Directors, no further notice of such regular meeting shall be required. If the date, time and location of a regular meeting are specified in another manner, then notice shall be provided consistent with the requirements of Section 3.10 below.

Section 3.9 Special Meetings. Special meetings of the Board of Directors may be held at any time on the call of the President or at the request in writing of any one or more Directors. The person or persons calling a special meeting of the Board of Directors shall fix a date, time and location for holding such special meeting, which shall be specified in a notice provided for such special meeting consistent with the requirements of Section 3.10 below.

Section 3.10 Method and Timing of Notice. When notice is required to be given for a meeting of the Board of Directors, such notice shall specify the date, time, and location of the meeting and shall be given to each Director at least ten (10) days prior to the meeting. Notice shall be given (a) by written notice delivered personally, (b) by written notice sent by mail, email, or facsimile to the Director's mailing address, email address, or facsimile number as shown by the records of the Corporation, or (c) by telephone. If mailed, such notice shall be deemed to be delivered when deposited in the United States mail so addressed, with postage thereon prepaid. If notice is delivered by email, such notice shall be deemed to be delivered when the email is sent, provided that the sender does not subsequently receive notice that the email transmission was not delivered to the designated email address. If delivered by facsimile, such notice shall be deemed to be delivered when the facsimile transmission indicates that the facsimile has been sent without error to the designated facsimile number. If delivered by telephone, such notice shall be deemed to be given at the time the telephone message shall reach and be communicated to a responsible individual at the phone number listed for a Director's residence or place of business.

Section 3.11 Purpose not Required in Notice. Unless specifically required by the Law or these Bylaws for a particular action, the purpose of and business to be transacted at a meeting need not be specified in the notice of such meeting or in a waiver of notice of such meeting.

Section 3.12 Waiver of Notice. Any Director may waive notice of any meeting by a writing signed by the Director, whether signed before or after the holding of such meeting, and such signed written waiver shall be deemed the equivalent of the Director having received notice. A Director's attendance at any meeting shall constitute a waiver of notice of such meeting, except where a Director attends a meeting for the express purpose of objecting to the transaction of any business of such meeting on the ground that the meeting is not lawfully called or convened.

Section 3.13 Action by Written Consent. Any action required to be, or which may be, voted on, consented to or approved by the Board of Directors may be taken without a meeting, without prior notice and without taking a vote if a consent or consents in writing, setting forth the action so taken, are signed by that number of Directors necessary to authorize or take such action at a meeting at which all Directors entitled to vote thereon were present and voted. A consent transmitted by electronic transmission shall be deemed to be written and signed for purposes of this Section 3.13. Prompt notice of the taking of an action by the Board of Directors without a meeting by less than unanimous written consent shall be given to each Director who did not consent in writing to the action. Each such consent must state the date of each Director's signature. Such consent shall be placed in the minute book of the Corporation, and shall have the same force and effect as if approved by vote of the Board of Directors at an actual meeting.

Section 3.14 Validation of Action by Consent. All actions taken at a meeting of the Board of Directors which is not regularly called or noticed shall be valid as if taken at a meeting regularly called and noticed if each Director either consents in writing or is present at such meeting and does not object to the meeting being held. At such meeting any business may be transacted which is not excepted from the written consent or which is not objected to at such meeting for want of notice. If any meeting of the Board of Directors is irregular for want of notice, the proceedings of such meeting may be ratified, approved and rendered valid, and the irregularity or defect therein waived, by a writing signed by all Directors, provided a quorum was present at such meeting.

Section 3.15 Quorum and Manner of Acting. Except as otherwise provided in these Bylaws, a quorum for the transaction of business at any meeting of the Board of Directors shall consist of all three of the then serving Directors. Except as otherwise provided by the Law, the Certificate of Incorporation or these Bylaws, the vote of a majority of the Directors present at any meeting at which a quorum is present shall be the act of the Board of Directors. A Director shall be considered present at any meeting of the Board of Directors if the Director participates in person or by proxy or if during the meeting he or she can communicate with all other persons participating in the meeting by using conference telephone or another suitable electronic communications system. In the absence of a quorum, a majority of the Directors present may adjourn the meeting from time to time until a quorum shall be present. Notice of any adjourned meeting need not be given, except that notice shall be given to all Directors if the adjournment is for more than thirty days.

Section 3.16 Resignation and Removal of Directors. Each Director may resign at any time by written notice delivered to the member that appointed such Director and to the President and Secretary of the Corporation. The Institutional Member may remove an Institutional Director at any time, with or without cause. The Individual Member may remove an Individual Director at any time, with or without cause.

Section 3.17 Chairman Presiding. If a Chairman is appointed by the Board of Directors, the Chairman shall preside at all meetings of the Board of Directors and in general shall perform all duties incident to a nonexecutive chairman of a board of directors.

ARTICLE IV

OFFICERS

Section 4.1 Officers. The officers of the Corporation shall be a President, a Secretary and a Chief Financial Officer. One person may hold any number of said offices.

Section 4.2 Election, Term of Office and Eligibility. The officers of the Corporation shall be elected annually by the Board of Directors at its annual meeting or at a special meeting held in lieu thereof. Each officer, except such officers as may be appointed in accordance with the provisions of Section 4.3, shall hold office until such officer's successor shall have been duly elected and qualified or until such officer's death, resignation or removal. None of the officers need be members of the Board of Directors.

Section 4.3 Subordinate Officers. The Board of Directors may appoint such Assistant Secretaries, Assistant Chief Financial Officers, Controller and other officers, and such agents as the Board may determine, to hold office for such period and with such authority and to perform such duties as the Board of Directors may from time to time determine. The Board of Directors may, by specific resolution, empower the President or another officer of the Corporation to appoint any such subordinate officers or agents.

Section 4.4 Removal. The President, the Secretary and/or the Chief Financial Officer may be removed at any time by the Board of Directors with or without cause. Any subordinate officer appointed pursuant to Section 4.3 may be removed at any time, with or without cause, by the Board of Directors or by the person holding the officer position by which the subordinate officer was appointed.

Section 4.5 The President. The President shall be the chief executive officer of the Corporation. He or she shall have executive authority to see that all orders and resolutions of the Board of Directors are carried into effect and, subject to the control vested in the Board of Directors by the Law, the Certificate of Incorporation, or these Bylaws, shall administer and be responsible for the management of the business and affairs of the Corporation. In general the President shall perform all duties incident to the office of the President and such other duties as from time to time may be assigned to him or her by the Board of Directors.

Section 4.6 The Secretary. The Secretary shall:

(a) Keep the minutes of the meetings of the members and of the Board of Directors;

(b) See that all notices are duly given in accordance with the provisions of these Bylaws or as required by law;

(c) Be custodian of the records and of the seal of the Corporation and see that the seal or a facsimile or equivalent thereof is affixed to or reproduced on all documents, the execution of which on behalf of the Corporation under its seal is duly authorized;

(d) In general, perform all duties incident to the office of Secretary, and such other duties as are provided by these Bylaws and as from time to time are assigned to him or her by the Board of Directors or by the President of the Corporation.

Section 4.7 The Assistant Secretaries. If one or more Assistant Secretaries shall be appointed pursuant to the provisions of Section 4.3 respecting subordinate officers, then, at the request of the Secretary, or in his or her absence or disability, the Assistant Secretary designated by the Secretary (or in the absence of such designations, then any one of such Assistant Secretaries) shall perform the duties of the Secretary and when so acting shall have all the powers of, and be subject to all the restrictions upon, the Secretary.

Section 4.8 The Chief Financial Officer. The Chief Financial Officer shall:

(a) Receive and be responsible for all funds of and securities owned or held by the Corporation and, in connection therewith, among other things: keep or cause to be kept full and accurate records and accounts for the Corporation; deposit or cause to be deposited to the credit of the Corporation all moneys, funds and securities so received in such bank or other depository as the Board of Directors or an officer designated by the Board may from time to time establish; and disburse or supervise the disbursement of the funds of the Corporation as may be properly authorized;

(b) Render to the Board of Directors at any meeting thereof, or from time to time whenever the Board of Directors or the chief executive officer of the Corporation may require, financial and other appropriate reports on the condition of the Corporation;

(c) In general, perform all the duties incident to the office of Chief Financial Officer and such other duties as from time to time may be assigned to the Chief Financial Officer by the Board of Directors or by the chief executive officer of the Corporation.

Section 4.9 The Assistant Chief Financial Officers. If one or more Assistant Chief Financial Officers shall be appointed pursuant to the provisions of Section 4.3 respecting subordinate officers, then, at the request of the Chief Financial Officer, or in the Chief Financial Officer's absence or disability, the Assistant Chief Financial Officer designated by the Chief Financial Officer (or in the absence of such designation, then any one of such Assistant Chief Financial Officers) shall perform all the duties of the Chief Financial Officer and when so acting shall have all the powers of and be subject to all the restrictions upon, the Chief Financial Officer.

Section 4.10 Delegation of Duties. In case of the absence of any officer of the Corporation or for any other reason which may seem sufficient to the Board of Directors, the Board of Directors may, for the time being, delegate his powers and duties, or any of them, to any other officer or to any director.

ARTICLE V

BOOKS AND RECORDS

Section 5.1 Location. The books, accounts and records of the Corporation may be kept at such place or places within or without the State of Delaware as the Board of Directors may from time to time determine.

Section 5.2 Inspection. The books, accounts, and records of the Corporation shall be open to inspection by any member of the Board of Directors at all times; and open to inspection by the members at such times, and subject to such regulations as the Board of Directors may prescribe, except as otherwise provided by statute.

ARTICLE VI

MISCELLANEOUS PROVISIONS

Section 6.1 Fiscal Year. The fiscal year of the Corporation shall be the calendar year unless changed by the Board of Directors.

Section 6.2 Depositories. The Board of Directors or an officer designated by the Board shall appoint banks, trust companies, or other depositories in which shall be deposited from time to time the money or securities of the Corporation.

Section 6.3 Checks, Drafts and Notes. All checks, drafts, or other orders for the payment of money and all notes or other evidences of indebtedness issued in the name of the Corporation shall be signed by such officer or officers or agent or agents as shall from time to time be designated by resolution of the Board of Directors or by an officer appointed by the Board of Directors.

Section 6.4 Contracts and Other Instruments. The Board of Directors may authorize any officer, agent or agents to enter into any contract or execute and deliver any instrument in the name and on behalf of the Corporation and such authority may be general or confined to specific instances.

Section 6.5 Waivers of Notice. Whenever any notice is required to be given under the provisions of the statutes or of the Certificate of Incorporation or of these Bylaws, a waiver thereof in writing signed by the person or persons entitled to said notice, whether before or after the time stated therein, shall be deemed equivalent to notice. Attendance of a person at a meeting shall constitute a waiver of notice of such meeting, except when the person attends a meeting for the express purpose of objecting, at the beginning of the meeting, to the transaction of any business because the meeting is not lawfully called or convened. Neither the business to be transacted at, nor the purpose of, any regular or special meeting of the members, Directors or members of a committee of directors need be specified in any written waiver of notice.

Section 6.6 Ownership Interests in Other Entities. Any ownership interests (e.g., shares of stock in any other corporation which may from time to time be held by this Corporation) may be represented and voted at any meeting of owners of such entity by the President, or by any other person or persons thereunto authorized by the Board of Directors, or by any proxy designated by written instrument of appointment executed in the name of this Corporation by its President.

Section 6.7 Indemnification.

(a) Each person who was or is a party or is threatened to be made a party to or is involved in any action, suit or proceeding, whether civil, criminal, administrative or investigative (hereinafter a "proceeding"), by reason of the fact that the person is or was a Director or officer of the Corporation or is or was a Director or officer of the Corporation who is or was serving at the request of the Corporation as a director, officer, employee or agent of another corporation or of a partnership, joint venture, trust or other enterprise, including service with respect to employee benefit plans, shall be indemnified and held harmless by the Corporation to the fullest extent authorized by the laws of Delaware as the same now or may hereafter exist (but, in the case of any change, only to the extent that such change authorizes the Corporation to provide broader indemnification rights than said law permitted the Corporation to provide prior to such change) against all costs, charges, expenses, liabilities and losses (including attorneys' fees, judgments, fines, ERISA excise taxes or penalties and amounts paid or to be paid in settlement) reasonably incurred or suffered by such person in connection therewith and such indemnification shall continue as to a person who has ceased to be a Director or officer and shall inure to the benefit of the person's heirs, executors and administrators. The right to indemnification conferred in this Section shall be a contract right and shall include the right to be paid by the Corporation the expenses incurred in defending any such proceeding in advance of its final disposition upon receipt by the corporation of an undertaking, by or on behalf of such director or officer, to repay all amounts so advanced if it shall ultimately be determined that the director or officer is not entitled to be indemnified under this Section or otherwise. The Corporation may, by action of its Board of Directors, provide indemnification to employees and agents of the Corporation with the same scope and effect as the foregoing indemnification of Directors and officers.

(b) If a claim under subsection (a) of this Section is not paid in full by the Corporation within thirty days after a written claim has been received by the Corporation, the claimant may at any time thereafter bring suit against the Corporation to recover the unpaid amount of the claim and, if successful in whole or in part, the claimant shall also be entitled to be paid the expense of prosecuting such claim. It shall be a defense to any action (other than an action brought to enforce a claim for expenses incurred in defending any proceeding in advance of its final disposition where the required undertaking has been tendered to the Corporation) that the claimant has failed to meet a standard of conduct which makes it permissible under Delaware law for the Corporation to indemnify the claimant for the amount claimed, but the burden of proving such defense shall be on the Corporation. Neither the failure of the Corporation (including its Board of Directors, independent legal counsel, or its members) to have made a determination prior to the commencement of such action that indemnification of the claimant is permissible in the circumstances because the claimant has met such standard of conduct, nor an actual determination by the Corporation (including its Board of Directors, independent legal counsel, or its members) that the claimant has not met such standard of conduct, nor the termination of any proceeding by judgment, order, settlement, conviction or upon a plea of nolo contendere or its equivalent, shall be a defense to the action or create a presumption that the claimant has failed to meet the required standard of conduct.

(c) The right to indemnification and the payment of expenses incurred in defending a proceeding in advance of its final disposition conferred in this Section shall not be exclusive of any other right which any person may have or hereafter acquire under any statute, provision of the Certificate of Incorporation, these Bylaws, agreement, vote of members or disinterested Directors or otherwise.

(d) The Corporation may maintain insurance, at its expense, to protect itself and any Director, officer, employee or agent of the Corporation or another corporation, partnership, joint venture, trust or other enterprise against any expense, liability or loss, whether or not the Corporation would have the power to indemnify such person against such expense, liability or loss under Delaware law.

(e) To the extent that any Director, officer, employee or agent of the Corporation is by reason of such position, or a position with another entity at the request of the Corporation, a witness in any proceeding, such person shall be indemnified against all costs and expenses actually and reasonably incurred by such person or on such person's behalf in connection therewith.

(f) Any amendment, repeal or modification of any provision of this Section by the members or the Directors of the Corporation shall not adversely affect any right or protection of a Director or officer of the Corporation existing at the time of such amendment, repeal or modification.

(g) The provisions of this Section 6.7, and the limitations on liability and indemnification provided in such Section, shall survive the winding up and termination of the Corporation to the extent permitted by applicable law.

Section 6.8 Amendment of Bylaws.

(a) The members, by the affirmative unanimous vote of the members entitled to vote, may, at any annual or special meeting if notice of such alteration or amendment of the Bylaws is contained in the notice of such meeting, adopt, amend, or repeal these Bylaws, and alterations or amendments of these Bylaws made by the members shall not be altered or amended by the Board of Directors.

(b) The Board of Directors, by unanimous vote, may adopt, amend, or repeal these Bylaws at any meeting, except as provided in Section 6.8(a), above. Any alterations or amendments to these Bylaws made by the Board of Directors may be altered or repealed by the members.

Re: Highland Capital Management Partners Charitable Trust #2

Dear Debbie:

In accordance with your request during our telephone conversation last week, the paragraphs below describe briefly the proposed distribution of assets from Highland Capital Management Partners Charitable Trust #2 (the "Trust") to a to-be-formed supporting organization (i.e., Highland Kansas City Foundation, Inc.) with respect to which the Greater Kansas City Community Foundation ("GKCCF") is the supported organization.

1. The Trust. As you know, James Dondero, as the Settlor, and Grant Scott, as the Trustee, established the Trust by a trust agreement dated December 1, 2006 (the "Trust Agreement"). Under the terms of the Trust Agreement, Mr. Dondero, as Settlor, is entitled to name remainder beneficiaries and substitute new remainder beneficiaries from time to time until the remainder interest is ultimately distributed.

2. Assets of the Trust/Cayman Islands Company. The remainder interest will be comprised solely of one hundred percent (100%) of the non-voting shares (the "Shares") of Charitable DAF HoldCo, Ltd., a Cayman Islands corporation ("HoldCo"). Highland Kansas City Foundation, Inc. will receive one-third (1/3) of the Shares. HoldCo will own one hundred percent (100%) of the limited partner interests in Charitable DAF Fund, LP, a Cayman Island limited partnership, which, in turn, will own one hundred percent (100%) of the shares of CLO Holdco, Ltd., a Cayman Islands exempted company, which, in turn, owns minority equity interests in Cayman Islands investment companies that own portfolios of debt instruments issued by various public companies.

HUNTON& WILLIAMS

3. The Supporting Organizations. Mr. Dondero intends to name as the remainder beneficiaries of the Trust three supporting organizations (each an "SO", collectively, the "SOs"), each of which will support one of three separate community foundations. Each SO will receive an equal number of HoldCo Shares. Highland Capital Management, L.P. currently receives management fees from the companies that own the corporate debt portfolios and will continue to receive those fees under existing agreements with those companies after the Holdco Shares are transferred to the SOs.

4. Use of Multiple Supporting Organizations. Rather than the remainder interest being distributed in its entirety to just one or two SOs, the remainder interest is being distributed in equal shares to the three SOs out of an abundance of caution in light of the excess benefit transaction rules under Section 4958(c)(3) of the Code, such that no SO will own more than fifty percent (50%) of the stock of HoldCo.

Please let me know if you have additional questions regarding this matter.

Very truly yours,

Andrew W. Lawrence

Charitable Giving Overview

GRANT SUMMARY : 2012-2020

Highlights

The following provides an overview of philanthropic activities across the group of charitable entities that operate as supporting organizations to community foundation: the Highland Dallas Foundation, Inc., the Highland Santa Barbara Foundation, Inc., and the Highland Kansas City Foundation, Inc. (together the "Supporting Organizations" or "we").

Each of the entities within the Supporting Organizations has its own independent board, which provides oversight for the organization's grantmaking activity.

Data represents activity between January 1, 2012, and December 31, 2020 unless otherwise noted.

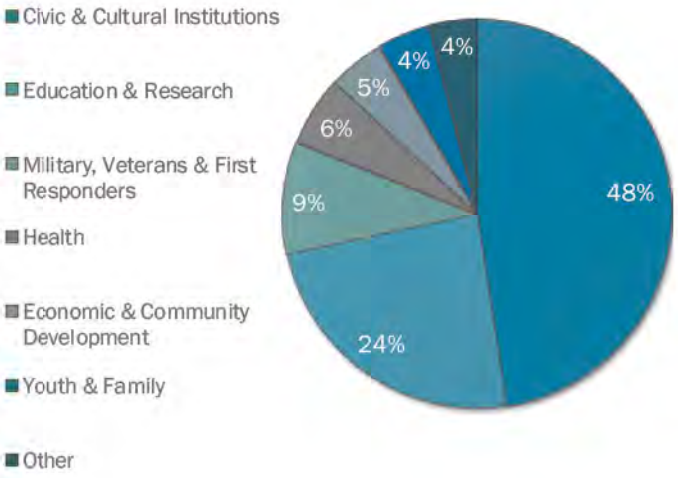
$42M+ Since 2012, the Supporting Organizations have committed over $42 million to nonprofit organizations operating across a range of issue areas.

$32M+ We have funded over $32 million of our total commitments; remaining commitments are comprised of future scheduled installments of multiyear grants.

$3.7M Average annual grant payments total $3.7 million.

275+ The Supporting Organizations have made donations to more than 275 individual organizations.

2029 Through our multiyear grants we have over $10 million in funds committed through 2029.



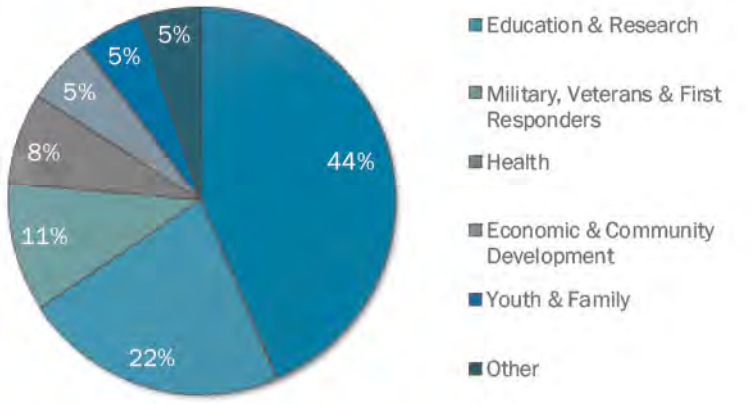
GRANTS OVERVIEW

Total committed: $42.7 million[1]

The Supporting Organizations have committed $42,688,403 in grants to nonprofits across a range of issue areas, with a focus on:

- civic and cultural institutions in the Dallas-Ft. Worth area;
- education;
- support for military, veterans, and first responders;
- health and medical research;
- economic and community development initiatives; and
- youth and family.

GRANT COMMITMENTS BY ISSUE AREA[2]



1. As of 12/31/2020. Figures rounded to the nearest hundred thousand. 2. Represents amount committed in grants since 2012 (inclusive of funded and unfunded commitments). Unfunded commitments represent installment payments for multiyear grants to be paid at future dates following a schedule included in the grant agreement. Issue areas defined by HCP. Grants categorized by purpose and/or use of funds. "Other" category inclusive of grants related to the following issue areas: Animals & Environments; Arts, Culture & Humanities; Faith-Based Causes; and Global Affairs.

GRANTS OVERVIEW

1. As of 12/31/2020. Figures rounded to the nearest hundred thousand. 2. Represents amount paid in grants and/or grant installments during each calendar year. Not inclusive of grants committed but not funded.

GRANTS OVERVIEW

Highlights of grants' impact

Supporting 4,000 military and law enforcement members

Grants to the Center for BrainHealth helped provide training and other programming to members of the military, veterans, and local law enforcement that aims to improve the cognitive health—all at no cost.

Providing a path to safety for 11,000 victims of family violence

Grants to The Family Place helped the organization serve more than 11,000 clients in 2019, including providing more than 62,000 days of Emergency Shelter.

Enabling 1.2M visitors to make memorable experiences with wildlife

Grants funding the construction of the new hippo exhibit and providing support for the organization's membership program helped the Dallas Zoo draw a record-breaking 1.2 million visitors in 2017.

Supporting and defending 8,000 abused children

Grants to the Dallas Children's Advocacy Center helped the organization serve over 8,000 children who have been abused each year,

Providing educational opportunities for 600 low-income students in southeast Dallas

Grants to expand the Cristo Rey Dallas campus in Pleasant Grove enable the school to accommodate up to 600 students. 95% of CRD students are the first in their families to attend college, and with a 100% college acceptance rate, the expansion will help create an estimated 570 first-generation college students every four years.

GRANT HIGHLIGHT

Dallas Zoo

About the Dallas Zoo

The Dallas Zoological Society (the "Zoo"), the largest zoological park in Texas, has become a staple in the Dallas community over its 130-year history. Home to over 430 different species, the Dallas Zoo engages and educates visitors, while seeking to create a better world for animals.

Promoting Visitor Engagement: Grant to Support Zoo Membership

The Supporting Organizations have supported the Zoo's membership program since 2014 through a series of multiyear grants that help the Dallas Zoo continue to reach new audiences. In the first full year of the grant, the Zoo welcomed a record 600,000 guests, and that number has steadily increased since. With our support, the Zoo continues to find new ways to deliver unforgettable experiences. As a result, it regularly ranks in the top-10 zoos in the U.S. by USA Today.

Increasing Community Access: Grant to Support Discounted Admission

The Supporting Organizations pursue grant opportunities that increase community access to local civic and cultural institutions. With this goal, we expanded our support of the Zoo in 2017 to include the annual sponsorship of the "Penguin Days" program. The grant enables the Zoo to reduce the price of general admission to $7 on select days from December-February, making the Zoo more accessible to the North Texas Community and allowing families who might not otherwise visit the Zoo to do so in an affordable way.

Opening a New Exhibit: Grant to Support Construction of an Educational/Event Space at the Hippo Exhibit

The Zoo announced in early 2016 that it was planning to break ground on a new exhibit that would bring hippos to the Zoo for the first time in 16 years. The project also marked the first major exhibit opening at the Zoo since 2010. The Supporting Organizations contributed to this project through a grant that helped establish a 4,485-square-foot indoor/outdoor multipurpose event space, which engages visitors in interactive activities that further the Zoo's animal education mission. Currently, the space is a walkthrough exhibit highlighting conservation efforts of hippo habitats around the world. This exhibit helped increase attendance to a record-breaking 1.2 million visitors in 2017.

George W. Bush Presidential Center

About the George W. Bush Presidential Center

The George W. Bush Presidential Center (the "Bush Center") is comprised of the George W. Bush Presidential Library and Museum, which houses the official records of the presidency of George W. Bush, and the George W. Bush Institute, an action-oriented, nonpartisan policy organization. Through these dual operations, the Bush Center works to both preserve history and shape the future. The Bush Center is uniquely equipped to promote leadership development, advance policy initiatives, and inspire action on a local, national, and global scale. Its work covers three major Impact Centers: Domestic Excellence; Global Leadership; and Engagement. Through these Impact Centers, the Bush Center is dedicated to solving some of today's most pressing challenges.

Driving a Local Institution's Ambitious Global Agenda: Grant Supporting the Construction of the Bush Center in Dallas

In 2008, the Bush Center officially selected Dallas as its permanent home, announcing plans to construct its building on the campus of SMU. The Supporting Organizations helped make the vision of the Bush Center's Dallas home a reality, making a grant to help complete construction and design for the building. On May 1, 2013, the Bush Center opened its doors to the public. In its first five years after opening, the Bush Center welcomed over $1.6 million visitors.

Securing a Legacy and Driving Engagement: Grant Supporting the Center's Long-term Operations and Engagement Agenda

In 2018, the Bush Center launched an important fundraising initiative to ensure its mission endures for generations to come. With its "A Charge to Keep" capital campaign, the Bush Center aimed to raise funds that would sustain its operations beyond the lifetimes of President and Mrs. Bush.

The Supporting Organizations made a grant to help ensure the Bush Center can continue its important work well into the future. The grant specifically focused on the public speaker series, Engage at the Bush Center. The series brings newsmakers, thought leaders, and authors to the Bush Center for thought-provoking panel discussions and keynote conversations that allow guests to connect with the Bush Center in a meaningful way and dive deeper into many of today's most pressing policy areas and issues.

GRANT HIGHLIGHT

Perot Museum

About the Perot Museum

The Perot Museum of Nature and Science (the "Perot") promotes science and education in the North Texas community through hands-on exhibits, educator resources, unique films, and other special programming that engages audiences of all ages.

Helping Establish a World Class Museum in Downtown Dallas: Grant to Support Construction of the New Perot Museum:

With support from Dallas' philanthropic community, the Perot Museum opened a new building in December 2012. With its bold architectural design, it quickly became a fixture in its new location in Dallas' Victory Park. The project also sparked a renewed commitment to inspire minds and improve community achievement, giving rise to new initiatives that promote science learning.

The Supporting Organizations contributed to the project by issuing a challenge grant, which matched donations, inciting additional giving and helping complete the project's capital campaign. Since then, we have contributed additional funding to support ongoing educational programming, special exhibitions, and community engagement initiatives.

Increasing Community Access: Grant to Support the Perot's Traveling Exhibition Programs

In 2014, the Supporting Organizations began issuing a series of grants to support the traveling exhibitions program. The initial exhibition, the "The World's Largest Dinosaurs" exhibition, educated audiences on the gigantic sauropods that once roamed the earth, drawing nearly 200,000 visitors to the museum. Since then, our grants have made possible the many captivating exhibitions that have been hosted by the Perot, covering a range of subject areas. With two special exhibitions held each year, the grants enable the museum to deliver new experiences that give visitors a reason to keep coming back and serve as a complement to the museum's 11 permanent exhibit halls. The program draws exhibitions from around the globe to the Perot, providing the North Texas community with access to world-class educational experiences. All the special exhibition grants include funding that allows the Perot to make all traveling exhibitions bilingual (with programming in both English and Spanish). These exhibits have helped increase community access to the North Texas Hispanic population.

Cristo Rey Dallas

About Cristo Rey Dallas

Cristo Rey Dallas College Prep ("CRD") is a private, independent Catholic high school located in the Pleasant Grove area of Southeast Dallas. The Cristo Rey Network's formula for success is a proven, revolutionary model of college preparatory high school curriculum accessible to those of limited financial resources. It integrates rigorous college preparatory academics with professional work experience through the Corporate Work Study Program—a key component of the fiscal sustainability of the Cristo Rey model. Through the Work Study Program, students work in a professional setting five days per month to earn the majority of their tuition. The 144 job partners include some of Dallas's most prominent companies.

The Cristo Rey model is proven, with 100% of graduates gaining acceptance to a two- or four-year college and 90% matriculating. For students in Pleasant Grove—where only 4% of the population graduated from college—CRD offers access and opportunity that can change their trajectory.

Building Space for Innovation: Grant to Support CRD Campus Expansion and Renovations

The 30th school in the nationwide Cristo Rey network, CRD opened in August 2015, operating out of an old elementary school and aging gymnasium. They quickly outgrew the space and had to begin turning away prospective students. In 2019, CRD launched a $15 million capital campaign to expand the campus, adding new academic and athletic buildings and conducting much needed renovations on the existing buildings.

The Supporting Organizations issued the campaign's lead grant, helping build a new 37,000 sq. ft. Innovation Center, which boasts spaces for fine arts and counseling. The campaign also created a new cafeteria and gymnasium, as well as a new soccer field – something the school never had before. The new buildings opened in time for the 2020 school year.

The Supporting Organizations also helped provide space for CRD students off campus in a centrally located office building near Downtown Dallas. The space gave students a place to study and complete work study programs that were moved to Work From Home due to the pandemic.

Education Is Freedom

About Education Is Freedom

Education Is Freedom ("EIF") is committed to transforming students' lives through education. With a focus on college planning, the organization provides underserved students in the North Texas community with a range of resources to ensure every student has the opportunity to pursue a college education.

EIF's higher education advisors work onsite at public high schools across the region, helping students and their families navigate the college process. In 20XX, EIF helped high school seniors complete 21,000 college applications and receive over $132 million in scholarships.

In addition to their college planning initiatives, EIF operates a number of supplementary programs to enhance access to postsecondary education and promote workforce readiness.

Developing a Skilled and Educated Workforce: Grant Supporting the Mayor's Intern Fellows Program

In 2008, EIF worked with the Mayor's Office to create the Mayor's Intern Fellows Program ("MIFP"), an initiative to provide workforce readiness. The program provides Dallas high school students with internship opportunities at local companies, nonprofits, and government entities. Through the eight-week, paid internship, students gain real-world experience and insight into the professional opportunities available to them. Not only does the program prepare students for future careers, but it also connects local businesses with the future workforce, promoting collaboration to strengthen the pipeline of talent.

The Supporting Organizations have issued grants to EIF to support the MIFP. The grants have helped EIF put on the program's annual Job Fair. Held in the spring, the Job Fair provides an opportunity for students to interview with prospective employers in the hopes of securing an internship for the summer. Education Is Freedom conducts extensive training with the students throughout the program, offering workshops and coaching on everything from interview preparation to professional etiquette.

In 2018, over 2,400 students from 52 high schools applied for the program. Of those applicants, 1,050 were selected to attend the Job Fair. At the 2018 Job Fair, over 200 employers from across the Dallas-Fort Worth region interviewed internship candidates, ultimately offering positions to 395 students for the summer. In addition to the Job Fair, our grants have funded internships at various nonprofit partners, covering the cost for organizations that might not otherwise be able to hire paid interns.

SMU Tower Center

About the SMU Tower Scholars Program

The Southern Methodist University ("SMU") Tower Scholars Program provides top undergraduate students with an opportunity to integrate public policy and international affairs into their studies through a dedicated curriculum of academic coursework and real-world experiences. Students in the program receive a minor in public policy and international affairs, offered through SMU's John Goodwin Tower Center for Political Studies (the "Tower Center").

> "The Tower Scholar Program's resources and curriculum allow me to not only learn public policy principles through lectures, but also gain tactile experience with practicums and classes taught by policy practitioners. Without this program, I would have been unable to experience and explore my interest in public policy."

Investing in the Next Generation of Policymakers: Grant to Endow the Tower Scholars Undergraduate Program at SMU

In 2014, the Supporting Organizations worked with the Tower Center to create a dedicated undergraduate program that carries out the center's mission of bridging the gap between the scholarship and practice of politics and striving to inspire ethical public service. The grant established an endowment that provides long-term funding for the Tower Scholars Program.

A hallmark of the program is its interdisciplinary focus. Over 75% of the Tower Scholars either earned or are pursuing more than one major—and that is in addition to the minor they earn in the program. Outside the classroom, each student is involved in multiple on-campus organizations, many in leadership positions.

The Supporting Organizations' grant makes possible the unique academic experiences—from meeting with global leaders, to working on real policy issues for major corporations—offered to the Tower Scholars. The program accepts 10 students each year, and recently welcomed its eighth cohort.

Center for BrainHealth

About the Center for BrainHealth

The Center for BrainHealth ("CBH"), part of The University of Texas at Dallas, is a research institute committed to enhancing, protecting and restoring brain health across the lifespan. CBH is composed of independent labs that are responsible for more than 60 fully funded research projects that investigate brain health, injury, and disease. Many of the center's programs use functional and structural neuroimaging techniques to better understand the neurobiology supporting cognition and emotion in health and disease. Areas of research include addiction, aging, Alzheimer's disease, autism, multiple sclerosis, social cognition, and traumatic brain injuries.

Applying Innovative Research to Improve the Lives of Post-9/11 Veterans and First Responders: Grant Supporting the Warriors Program Through the Brain Performance Institute

In 2015, CBH broke ground on new building dedicated to translating leading-edge science to scalable solutions for the public at large. Through construction of the Brain Performance Institute, CBH sought to extend the reach and applications of its research, providing solutions to the public to maximize brain performance in health, injury, and disease.

The Supporting Organizations made a grant to help fund the construction of the Brain Performance Institute and expand CBH's Warrior Initiative, which that focused on translating research into cognitive therapies for former military personnel. The Warrior Initiative was established to provide high performance brain training to current and former military service men and women and their families.

The goal of the Warrior Initiative program is to arm veteran and active-duty service members with the necessary tools to achieve successful, enriching, and fulfilling lives by proactively optimizing brain performance, building resilience in cognitive brain function, and reversing losses in cognitive capacity. The program was expanded in 2016 to support first responders, specifically focusing on local law enforcement.

The grant help create a space in the Brain Performance Institute building specifically for veterans, first responders, and their families, where these groups are able to come together in a safe, relaxing environment and get to know other members of service before and after training sessions.

Friends of the Dallas Police

About Friends of the Dallas Police

The Friends of Dallas Police was founded in 1982 to recognize the commitment that the employees of the Dallas Police Department make to better the city and its residents' quality of life. The organization's mission is to raise and provide funds to be used to host a major awards banquet each year honoring Dallas Police Department personnel for outstanding performance in the line of duty. Over the years, approximately 4,400 awards have been presented to officers and civilian staff, and more than $43,000 in educational scholarships have been awarded to their children.

Helping Show Appreciation and Recognition to Local Law Enforcement: Grant Supporting the Annual Awards Program

The Supporting Organizations have provided grants to help the Friends of the Dallas Police show appreciation to the men and women of the Dallas Police Department who risk their lives every day to make Dallas a safer city. Our grants have helped fund the annual awards event hosted by the Friends of the Dallas Police, which honors and recognizes outstanding employees throughout the Dallas Police Department.

Through our grants, the Supporting Organizations have facilitated the production of the annual awards program, enabled sworn and non-sworn employees and their spouses to attend the event, and provided educational sponsorships for children of police officers.

The Supporting Organizations have also drawn on its philanthropic network to provide gifts to award recipients and their families, including tickets to visit organizations like the Dallas Zoo, George W. Bush Presidential Center, and Perot Museum.

Snowball Express

About Snowball Express

Snowball Express (now part of the Gary Sinise Foundation) serves the children of fallen military heroes. By providing events and other experiences in a stress-free environment, the organization is creating a community to learn, grow, and make lasting memories with new friends.

The organization hosts an annual five-day experience for 1,750+ children of the fallen and their surviving parent or guardian. As a therapeutic retreat with a blend of fun and inspiring programs, these families can lean on their peers for support. The organization also hosts community-driven events for these families all year long. From baseball games, to arts and educational opportunities, to camping trips, the events strengthen the local networks of Gold Star families, helping children and surviving spouses to build bonds with the only people who can truly understand their loss: each other.

Supporting Families of Fallen Service Members: Grant to Support Programming for Gold Star Children

In 2014, Myles Eckert, the nine-year-old son of U.S. Army Sergeant was killed in Iraq on active duty, gave a $20 bill that he found to a veteran in a pay-it-forward act of kindness towards our military. Myles's story was shared widely online, and the gift quickly received national attention.

In honor of Myles Eckert's gift, the Supporting Organizations issued a challenge grant to Snowball Express to support the organization's programming for children that have lost one or both parents during active service.

The grant inspired significant giving from individuals and organizations around the world, enabling Snowball Express to expand its services for Gold Star children and their families.

Snowball Express used the proceeds from the challenge grant to provide services to over 8,000 Gold Star children in 2014—almost 6,000 more than the year before and a new record for the organization.

Dallas Children's Advocacy Center

About Dallas Children's Advocacy Center

Dallas Children's Advocacy Center ("DCAC") is the only agency of its kind in Dallas County, working in agreement with public and private agencies to investigate, prosecute, and provide healing services for child abuse cases in Dallas County. DCAC reduces the re-victimization of the child, removes barriers to investigation and treatment, and enhances criminal prosecution with its distinctive multidisciplinary approach to these complex and severe cases.

Fostering Crucial Collaboration: Grant to Support DCAC's Operations and Strengthen Collaboration Among Agencies Involved in Child Abuse Cases

The Supporting Organizations have been a longtime partner of the Dallas Children's Advocacy Center ("DCAC"), issuing annual grants that provide funding for a range of operating costs. The grants help DCAC serve over 8,000 children (and their non-offending family members) each year who were sexually abused, severely physically abused, or who had witnessed a violent crime. DCAC's average client is a 9-year-old girl, sexually abused by someone she knows and trusts.

The grants also support DCAC in its efforts to foster crucial collaboration across government agencies and other organizations involved in child abuse cases. The DCAC building houses the Child Abuse Unit of the Dallas Police Department, six units of CPS, and a Dallas County Assistant District Attorney. Having all of these professionals under one roof drives collaboration and communication in the very sensitive cases that DCAC coordinates.

Not only have the Supporting Organizations been a long-time financial supporter of DCAC, we have also provided support in other ways, leveraging connections with our network of nonprofit partners. Most recently, we worked with the Dallas Zoo to provide animal encounter demonstrations during DCAC's summer camps, which serve as a way to deliver ongoing support to—and help build a community for—children who have experienced trauma.

The Family Place

About The Family Place

The Family Place was founded in 1978 and has grown to become the largest family violence prevention agency in North Texas, providing shelter and assistance to victims across the region along with counseling and education. Since its founding, the organization has served over 839,000 clients through counseling, shelter, and hotline responses.

In 2019, The Family Place served nearly 12,000 clients, providing over 62,000 days of emergency shelter, over 36,000 days of transitional housing, and over 18,000 hours of counseling to nonresidential clients, and over 8,000 hours of counseling to batterers. All services are in Spanish and in English.

Providing Support for Victims of Family Violence Across North Texas

The Family Place empowers victims of family violence by providing safe housing, counseling, and skills that create independence while building community engagement and advocating for social change to stop family violence.

While The Family Place supports clients in several different ways, its Residential Services, which provide safe shelter for families affected by violence, are one of crucial components of its work. These services include the Emergency Shelter Services, which provide immediate shelter for families escaping abuse, and the Supportive Living Program, which provides long-term housing for families as they rebuild their lives. Not only does the organization provide necessities like food, clothing, and transportation, but it also offers childcare, legal services, counseling, and case management.

As The Family Place expanded, its Residential Services were constrained by the capacity of its emergency shelters, and at many times the organization had to house clients in hotels and other temporary housing in order to meet demand.

In 2016, the Supporting Organizations issued a challenge grant to help The Family Place build a new shelter facility to expand its Residential Services. The new facility provides space and support services for over 2,000 victims per year. It also includes onsite Medical and Dental Clinics and even an Animal Kennel so families can bring their beloved pets with them to safety. The shelter has been operating at full capacity since October 2017. With the new facility, The Family Place now has three emergency shelters, providing 177 shelter beds each night, and three counseling centers.

Where family violence stops

July 7, 2021

To Whom It May Concern:

I am pleased to write this letter outlining the relationship between The Family Place and the Highland Dallas Foundation. The Family Place empowers victims of family violence by providing safe housing, counseling and skills that create independence while building community engagement and advocating for social change to stop family violence. Our agency provides emergency shelter, individual and group counseling, case management, transitional housing as well as other essential services to help those seeking refuge from family violence. The Family Place provides free, comprehensive services in both Spanish and English that prevent violence and fully support women, children, and men on their path from fear to safety.

In 2020, The Family Place successfully navigated through COVID-19 and the barriers it presented, serving 11,933 unduplicated clients across our programs. Our emergency shelters served 678 women, 886 children and 58 men for a total of 62,118 shelter nights. 98% of our shelter clients did not return to their abuser after exiting one of our shelters. In our counseling programs, we served 2,258 clients, an 11.5% increase over 2019. 98% of our counseling clients reported feeling safer after attending counseling at The Family Place. At our on-site medical and dental clinics, we treated 778 clients and referred 571 clients to more intensive medical and dental services.

The Highland Dallas Foundation has been a long-standing partner with The Family Place in providing services to domestic violence clients. In 2016, The Family Place launched a 5-year, $16.5 million dollar capital campaign to build a new facility specifically designed to provide all necessary services for victims seeking shelter and counseling. The Family Place successfully reached our capital campaign goal due in large part to the commitment of a $1 million matching grant by the Highland Dallas Foundation. In December 2016, the Highland Dallas Foundation donated $13,950 for Christmas gifts for our clients. In 2017, when the Highland Hippo Hut was opened at the Dallas Zoo, the Highland Dallas Foundation generously invited our shelter clients to a special Mother's Day luncheon.

The collaboration between the Highland Dallas Foundation and The Family Place has been instrumental in providing community exposure and awareness of domestic violence in our community as well as providing essential services to family violence victims. With our new facility, completed in 2017, The Family Place has been able to expand programs and execute on the long-range plans developed for these programs. For victims of family violence, The Family Place is the Dallas area's leading organization delivering proven programs that address emotional and physical abuse and incest. Without the ongoing support of the Highland Dallas Foundation, The Family Place would not be able to successfully serve our domestic violence clients who are in desperate need of support.

Sincerely,

Paige Flink

DALLAS COLLEGE PREP

Cristo Rey Dallas Update

Cristo Rey Dallas (CRD) is incredibly grateful for the gifts from Highland Dallas Foundation, Inc. CRD is excited to have the Highland Capital Academic Center and the NexBank Gymnasium in the Innovation Center on our campus. These naming rights were given as the result of a donation that Highland Dallas Foundation, Inc.made to our Innovation Center Capital Campaign. These facilities truly impact our students and allow us to provide our services to our population of 465 students.

CRD also receives support from Highland Dallas Foundation, Inc. through the Corporate Work Study Program (CWSP). Cornerstone Healthcare and NexBank both currently have one job team (a team of 4 students) that work in their offices. In the upcoming year, NexBank will host two teams of students. One team is funded through the gift from Highland Dallas Foundation, Inc. and the other is supported by NexBank. The work study program allows students to earn about 60% percent of their tuition to CRD, and the involvement in the work study program makes such a difference in the lives of the 8 students that work in those businesses.

Finally, CRD is incredibly thankful for the remote workspace at Cityplace Tower. CWSP has been greatly affected by COVID-19. This year, many partners were unable to host students in their offices. The space at Cityplace Tower allows 30 students to work remotely for their job partners each day which means that about 120 students benefit from the offices each week. Without this space, CRD would not have the capacity to allow these students to work remotely.

The support of Highland Dallas Foundation, Inc. has meant so much to us at CRD. We are so appreciative, and we look forward to continuing our partnership for many years.

Dallas Children's Advocacy Center
PROVIDING JUSTICE • RESTORING HOPE

Dallas Children's Advocacy Center (DCAC)
Partnership with Highland Dallas Foundation, Inc.

Organization Mission and History
The mission of DCAC is to improve the lives of abused children in Dallas County and to provide national leadership on child abuse issues. Since opening its doors in 1991, DCAC has served more than 60,000 of the most severely abused children and their non-offending family members in Dallas County. In FY2021, DCAC will serve 8,400 children and their non-offending family members.

DCAC was created to coordinate the investigation of child abuse cases that rise to the criminal level in a seamless, collaborative process. We facilitate a coordinated approach to child abuse cases that results in more successful investigation and prosecution outcomes and provides a less traumatic response to child victims and families. DCAC partners with 39 organizations to form a Multidisciplinary Team (MDT) that includes medical, legal, and law enforcement and is designed to ensure child clients receive the appropriate services for healing and safety.

In 2015 DCAC's Partner Relations Team began reading all reports of abuse and neglect made to DFPS in Dallas County as part of a state-wide effort to ensure every child who needs services from a children's advocacy center (CAC) gets them. In FY2019 we read 28,131 reports of child abuse for Dallas County. At the beginning of March 2020 before COVID-19 safety measures were implemented, we had experienced a 15% increase in the number of cases read. While case reports went down during quarantine, we have projected and experienced a dramatic increase in cases; at the end of February 2021, we had experienced a 35% increase in cases read year-over-year.

In addition to supportive services provided by the MDT, DCAC also provides the following Core Programs at no cost to our clients. Please note, for the second half of FY2020, DCAC provided therapy and family advocacy services via a HIPPA-approved telehealth platform, Doxy.me. Forensic interviews were always conducted on-site during quarantine. Below you will find details and outcomes for FY 2020.

Forensic Interview Program
Trained DCAC forensic interviewers conduct interviews of children, both as a first step in the child's healing process and as a vital component of the investigation and prosecution of alleged perpetrators. The result is a legally defensible investigative interview of each alleged child victim. During FY2020, DCAC conducted 1,921 forensic interviews.

Family Advocacy Program
The Family Advocacy Team is committed to helping each family navigate the complex process of investigation, prosecution and healing after a child makes an outcry of abuse. The team helps the family learn about their rights and resources available to them during crisis as well as provides tangible, critical needs items like clothing, toiletries, and financial assistance on an as-needed basis. During FY 2020, the Family Advocacy Program supported 7,431 children and their non-offending family members.

Evidence-Based Therapy Program

Dallas Children's Advocacy Center
PROVIDING JUSTICE • RESTORING HOPE

The Evidence-Based Therapy Program provides clients and their non-offending caregivers with cutting-edge, no-cost therapeutic services. Treatment is informed by an initial assessment to enhance engagement between families and therapists toward the recovery of children. When clients are assessed at the end of treatment, over 70% report a reduction in trauma symptoms. During FY 2020, the DCAC Therapy Program provided services to 2,498 clients.

Education Program

DCAC has pioneered a comprehensive, multi-part training curriculum that provides holistic responses to Texas child abuse reporting laws. In the past year, 100,405 people were educated in our curriculum by means of in-person instruction or online learning. In addition to our cutting-edge curriculum, we also host a Lecture Series at the Center. Lecture Series topics are designed to provide continuing education for medical, legal, clinical, law enforcement and other children's advocacy professionals. Since the start of the pandemic, we moved all lecture series' online; we continue to provide this education virtually and as such have discovered we can reach even more professional.

Partnership with Highland Dallas Foundation, Inc.

Since 2016, Highland Dallas Foundation, Inc. has supported DCAC through yearly, general operating investments towards our mission. We have received over $85,000 over the past five years through sponsorship of our Art for Advocacy event as well as from a golf tournament where DCAC was the dedicated beneficiary. This funding has been critical to the sustainability of our programs and each dollar allows us to serve our clients with transformative services at no cost to them. Alongside the financial commitment, Highland Dallas Foundation, Inc. has gone above and beyond in introducing us to additional community advocates who individually support our efforts as well. The ripple effect of our partnership with Highland Dallas Foundation, Inc. is invaluable and for that we are so grateful.

ORIGINAL COMPLAINT

I.

INTRODUCTION

This action arises out of the acts and omissions of Defendant Highland Capital Management, L.P. ("HCM"), which is the general manager of Highland HCF Advisor, Ltd. ("HCFA"), both of which are registered investment advisers under the Investment Advisers Act of 1940 (the "Advisers Act"),[1] and nominal Defendant Highland CLO Funding, Ltd. ("HCLOF") (HCM and HCFA each a "Defendant," or together, "Defendants"). The acts and omissions which have recently come to light reveal breaches of fiduciary duty, a pattern of violations of the Advisers Act's anti-fraud provisions, and concealed breaches of the HCLOF Company Agreement, among others, which have caused and/or likely will cause Plaintiffs damages.

[1] https://adviserinfo.sec.gov/firm/summary/110126

At all relevant times, HCM was headed by CEO and potential party James P. Seery ("Seery"). Seery negotiated a settlement with the several Habourvest[2] entities who owned 49.98% of HCLOF. The deal had HCM (or its designee) purchasing the Harbourvest membership interests in HCLOF for $22.5 million. Recent revelations, however, show that the sale was predicated upon a sales price that was vastly below the Net Asset Value ("NAV") of those interests. Upon information and belief, the NAV of HCLOF's assets had risen precipitously, but was not disclosed to Harbourvest nor to Plaintiffs.

Under the Advisers Act, Defendants have a non-waivable duty of loyalty and candor, which includes its duty not to inside trade with its own investors, i.e., not to trade with an investor to which HCM and Seery had access to superior non-public information. Upon information and belief, HCM's internal compliance policies required by the Advisers Act would not generally have allowed a trade of this nature to go forward—meaning, the trade either was approved in spite of compliance rules preventing it, or the compliance protocols themselves were disabled or amended to a level that leaves Defendants HCM and HCLOF exposed to liability. Thus, Defendants have created an unacceptable perpetuation of exposure to liability.

Additionally, Defendants are liable for a pattern of conduct that gives rise to liability for their conduct of the enterprise consisting of HCM in relation to HCFA and HCLOF, through a pattern of concealment, misrepresentation, and violations of the securities rules. In the alternative, HCFA and HCM, are guilty of self-dealing, violations of the Advisers Act, and tortious interference by (a) not disclosing that Harbourvest had agreed to sell at a price well below the current NAV, and (b) diverting the Harbourvest opportunity to themselves.

For these reasons, judgment should be issued in Plaintiffs' favor.

II.

PARTIES

1. Plaintiff CLO Holdco, Ltd. is a limited company incorporated under the laws of the Cayman Islands.

2. Plaintiff Charitable DAF Fund, L.P., ("DAF") is a limited partnership formed under the laws of the Cayman Islands.

3. Defendant Highland Capital Management, L.P. is a limited partnership with its principal place of business at 300 Crescent Court, Suite 700, Dallas, Texas 75201. It may be served at its principal place of business or through its principal officer, James P. Seery, Jr., or through the Texas Secretary of State, or through any other means authorized by federal or state law.

4. Defendant Highland HCF Advisor, Ltd. is a limited company incorporated under the laws of the Cayman Islands. Its principal place of business is 300 Crescent Court, Suite 700, Dallas, Texas 75201. It is a registered investment adviser ("RIA") subject to the laws and regulations of the Investment Advisers Act of 1940 (the "Adviser's Act"). It is a wholly-owned subsidiary of Highland Capital Management, L.P.

5. Nominal Defendant Highland CLO Funding, Ltd. is a limited company incorporated under the laws of the Island of Guernsey. Its registered office is at First Floor, Dorey Court, Admiral Park, St. Peter Port, Guernsey GY1 6HJ, Channel Islands. Its principal place of business is 300 Crescent Court, Suite 700, Dallas, Texas 75201.

6. Potential party James P. Seery, Jr. ("Seery") is an officer and/or director and/or control person of Defendants Highland Capital Management, L.P., Highland CLO Funding, Ltd., and Highland HCF Advisor, Ltd., and is a citizen of and domiciled in Floral Park, New York.

III.

JURISDICTION AND VENUE

7. This Court has subject matter jurisdiction over this dispute under 28 U.S.C. § 1331 as one or more rights and/or causes of action arise under the laws of the United States. This Court has supplemental subject matter jurisdiction over all other claims under 28 U.S.C. § 1367.

8. Personal jurisdiction is proper over the Defendants because they reside and/or have continual contacts with the state of Texas, having regularly submitted to jurisdiction here. Jurisdiction is also proper under 18 U.S.C. § 1965(d).

9. Venue is proper in this Court under 28 U.S.C. § 1391(b) and (c) because one or more Defendants reside in this district and/or a substantial part of the events or omissions giving rise to the claim occurred or a substantial part of property that is the subject of the action is situated in this district. Venue in this district is further provided under 18 U.S.C. § 1965(d).

IV.

RELEVANT BACKGROUND

HCLOF IS FORMED

10. Plaintiff DAF is a charitable fund that helps several causes throughout the country, including providing funding for humanitarian issues (such as veteran's welfare associations and women's shelters), public works (such as museums, parks and zoos), and education (such as specialty schools in underserved communities). Its mission is critical.

11. Since 2012, DAF was advised by its registered investment adviser, Highland Capital Management, L.P., and its various subsidiaries, about where to invest. This relationship was governed by an Investment advisory Agreement.

12. At one point in 2017, HCM advised DAF to acquire 143,454,001 shares of HCLOF, with HCFA (a subsidiary of HCM) serving as the portfolio manager. DAF did so via a holding entity, Plaintiff CLO Holdco, Ltd.

13. On November 15, 2017, through a Subscription and Transfer Agreement, the DAF entered into an agreement with others to sell and transfer shares in HCLOF, wherein the DAF retained 49.02% in CLO Holdco.

14. Pursuant to that agreement, Harbourvest acquired the following interests in the following entities:

Harbourvest Dover Street IX Investment, L.P., acquired 35.49%;

Harbourvest 2017 Global AIF, L.P., acquired 2.42%;

Harbourvest 2017 lobal Fund, L.P., acquired 4.85%;

HV International VIII Secondary, L.P., acquired 6.5%; and for a total of 49.98% (altogether, the "Harbourvest interests").

15. On or about October 16, 2019, Highland Capital Management filed for Chapter 11 bankruptcy in Delaware Bankruptcy Court, which was later transferred to the Northern District of Texas Bankruptcy Court, in the case styled In Re: Highland Capital Management, L.P., Debtor, Cause No. 19-34054, (the "HCM Bankruptcy" and the Court is the "Bankruptcy Court").

The Harbourvest Settlement with Highland Capital Management in Bankruptcy

16. On April 8, 2020, Harbourvest submitted its proofs of claim in the HCM bankruptcy proceeding. Annexed to its proofs of claims was an explanation of the Proof of Claim and the basis therefor setting out various pre-petition allegations of wrongdoing by HCM. See, e.g., Case No. 19-bk-34054, Doc. 1631-5.

17. The debtor, HCM, made an omnibus response to the proofs of claims, stating they were duplicative of each other, overstated, late, and otherwise meritless.

18. Harbourvest responded to the omnibus objections on September 11, 2020. See Cause No. 19-bk-34054, Doc. 1057.

19. Harbourvest represented that it had invested in HCLOF, purchasing 49.98% of HCLOF's outstanding shares.

20. Plaintiff CLO Holdco was and is also a 49.02% holder of HCLOF's member interests.

21. In its Omnibus Response, Harbourvest explained that its claims included unliquidated legal claims for fraud, fraud in the inducement, RICO violations under 18 U.S.C. 1964, among others (the "Harbourvest Claims"). See Cause No. 19-bk-34054, Doc. 1057.

22. The Harbourvest Claims centered on allegations that when Harbourvest was intending to invest in a pool of Collateralized Loan Obligations, or CLOs, that were then-managed by Acis Capital Management ("Acis"), a subsidiary of HCM, HCM failed to disclose key facts about ongoing litigation with a former employee, Josh Terry.

23. Harbourvest contended that HCM never sufficiently disclosed the underlying facts about the litigation with Terry, and HCM's then-intended strategy to fight Terry caused HCLOF to incur around $15 million in legal fees and costs. It contended that had it known the nature of the lawsuit and how it would eventually turn out, Harbourvest never would have invested in HCLOF. See Cause No. 19-bk-34054, Doc. 1057.

24. HCLOF's portfolio manager is HCFA. HCM is the parent of HCFA and is managed by its General Partner, Strand Management, who employs Seery and acts on behalf of HCM.

25. Before acceding to the Harbourvest interests, HCM was a 0.6% holder of HCLOF interests.

26. While even assuming Harbourvest's underlying claims were valid as far as the lost $15 million went, the true damage of the legal fees to Harbourvest would have been 49.98% of the HCLOF losses (i.e., less than $7.5 million). Harbourvest claimed that it had lost over $100 million in the HCLOF transaction due to fraud, which, after trebling under the racketeering statute, it claimed it was entitled to over $300 million in damages.

27. In truth, as of September 2020, Harbourvest had indeed lost some $52 million due to the alleged diminishing value of the HCLOF assets (largely due to the underperformance of the Acis entities[3])—and the values were starting to recover.

28. HCM denied the allegations in the Bankruptcy Court. Other than the claim for waste of corporate assets of $15 million, HCM at all times viewed the Harbourvest legal claims as being worth near zero and having no merit.

29. On December 23, 2020, HCM moved the Court to approve a settlement between itself and Harbourvest. No discovery had taken place between the parties, and Plaintiff did not have any notice of the settlement terms or other factors prior to the motion's filing (or even during its pendency) in order to investigate its rights.

30. HCM set the hearing right after the Christmas and New Year's holidays, almost ensuring that no party would have the time to scrutinize the underpinnings of the deal.

31. On January 14, 2021, the Bankruptcy Court held an evidentiary hearing and approved the settlement in a bench ruling, overruling the objections to the settlement.

[3] Acis was being managed by Joshua Terry. JP Morgan had listed the four ACIS entities under his management as the four worst performers of the 1200 CLOs it evaluated.

32. An integral part of the settlement was allowing $45 million in unsecured claims that, at the time of the agreement, were expected to net Harbourvest around 70 cents on the dollar. In other words, Harbourvest was expected to recover around $31,500,000 from the allowed claims.

33. As part of the consideration for the $45 million in allowed claims, Harbourvest agreed to transfer all of its interests in HCLOF to HCM or its designee.

34. HCM and Seery rationalized the settlement value by allocating $22.5 million of the net value of the $45 million in unsecured claims as consideration to purchase Harbourvest's interests in HCLOF, meaning, if 70% of the unsecured claims—i.e., $31.5 million—was realized, because $22.5 million of that would be allocated to the purchase price of the Harbourvest interests in HCLOF, the true "settlement" for Harbourvest's legal claims was closer to $9 million.

35. Plaintiffs here are taking no position at this time about the propriety of settling the Harbourvest legal claims for $9 million. That is for another day.

36. At the core of this lawsuit is the fact that HCM purchased the Harbourvest interests in HCLOF for $22.5 million knowing that they were worth far more than that.

37. It has recently come to light that, upon information and belief, the Harbourvest interests, as of December 31, 2020, were worth in excess of $41,750,000, and they have continued to go up in value.

38. On November 30, 2020, which was less than a month prior to the filing of the Motion to Approve the Settlement, the net asset value of those interests was over $34.5 million. Plaintiffs were never made aware of that.

39. The change is due to how the net asset value, or NAV, was calculated. The means and methods for calculating the "net asset value" of the assets of HCLOF are subject to and governed by the regulations passed by the SEC pursuant to the Adviser's Act, and by HCM's internal policies and procedures.

40. Typically, the value of the securities reflected by a market price quote.

41. However, the underlying securities in HCLOF are not liquid and had not been traded in a long while.

42. There not having been any contemporaneous market quotations that could be used in good faith to set the marks[4] meant that other prescribed methods of assessing the value of the interests, such as the NAV, would have been the proper substitutes.

43. Seery testified that the fair market value of the Harbourvest HCLOF interests was $22.5 million. Even allowing some leeway there, it was off the mark by a mile.

44. Given the artifice described herein, Seery and the entity Defendants had to know that the representation of the fair market value was false. But it does not appear that they disclosed it to Harbourvest to whom they owed fiduciary duties as the RIA in charge of HCLOF, and they certainly did not disclose the truth to the Plaintiff.

45. It is either the case that (i) Defendants conducted the proper analysis to obtain a current value of the assets but decided to use a far lower valuation in order to whitewash the settlement or enrich the bankruptcy estate; or (ii) Defendants never conducted the proper current valuation, and therefore baselessly represented what the current value of the assets was, despite knowingly having no reasonable basis for making such a claim.

46. For years HCM had such internal procedures and compliance protocols. HCM was not allowed by its own compliance officers to trade with an investor where HCM had superior knowledge about the value of the assets, for example. While Plaintiff has no reason to believe that those procedures were scrapped in recent months, it can only assume that they were either overridden improperly or circumvented wholesale.

47. Upon finalizing the Harbourvest Settlement Agreement and making representations to the Bankruptcy Court to the Plaintiffs about the value of the Harbourvest Interests, Seery and HCM had a duty to use current values and not rely on old valuations of the assets or the HCLOF interests.

48. Given Defendants' actual or constructive knowledge that they were purchasing Harbourvest's Interests in HCLOF for a less than 50% of what those interests were worth—Defendants owed Plaintiff a fiduciary duty not to purchase them for themselves.

49. Defendants should have either had HCLOF repurchase the interests with cash, or offer those interests to Plaintiff and the other members pro rata, before HCM agreed to purchase them all lock, stock and barrel, for no up-front cash.

50. Indeed, had Plaintiff been offered those interests, it would have happily purchased them and therefore would have infused over $20 million in cash into the estate for the purpose of executing the Harbourvest Settlement.

51. That Defendants (and to perhaps a lesser extent, the Unsecured Creditors Committee (the "UCC")) agreed to pay $22.5 million for the HCLOF assets, where they had previously not consented to any such expenditure by the estate on behalf of HCLOF, strongly indicates their awareness that they were purchasing assets for far below market value.

52. The above is the most reasonable and plausible explanation for why Defendants and the UCC forwent raising as much as $22.5 million in cash now in favor of hanging on to the HCLOF assets.

53. Indeed, in January 2021 Seery threatened Ethen Powell that "[Judge Jernigan] is laughing at you" and "we are coming after you" in response to the latter's attempt to exercise his right as beneficial holder of the CLO, and pointing out a conflict of interest in Seery's plan to liquidate the funds.

54. HCM's threat, made by Seery, is tantamount to not only a declaration that he intends to liquidate the funds regardless of whether the investors want to do so, and whether it is in their best interests, but also that HCM intends to leverage what it views as the Bankruptcy Court's sympathy to evade accountability.

CAUSES OF ACTION

FIRST CAUSE OF ACTION
Breaches of Fiduciary Duty

55. Plaintiffs respectfully incorporate the foregoing factual averments as if fully set forth herein and further alleges the following:

56. HCM is a registered investment advisor and acts on behalf of HCFA. Both are fiduciaries to Plaintiffs.

57. The Advisers Act establishes an unwaivable federal fiduciary duty for investment advisers.[5]

[5] See e.g, SEC v. Capital Gains Research Bureau, Inc., 375 U.S. 180, 194 (1963); Transamerica Mortg. Advisors (tama) v. Lewis, 444 U.S. 11, 17 (1979) ("§ 206 establishes 'federal fiduciary standards' to govern the conduct of investment advisers."); Santa Fe Indus, v. Green, 430 U.S. 462, 471, n.11 (1977) (in discussing SEC v. Capital Gains, stating that the Supreme Court's reference to fraud in the "equitable" sense of the term was "premised on its recognition that Congress intended the Investment Advisers Act to establish federal fiduciary standards for investment advisers"). See also Investment Advisers Act Release No. 3060 (July 28, 2010) ("Under the Advisers Act, an adviser is a fiduciary whose duty is to serve the best interests of its clients, which includes an obligation not to subrogate clients' interests to its own") (citing Proxy Voting by Investment Advisers, Investment Advisers Act Release No. 2106 (Jan. 31, 2003)).

58. HCM and the DAF entered into an Amended and Restated Investment Advisory Agreement, executed between them on July 1, 2014 (the "RIA Agreement"). It renews annually and continued until the end of January 2021.

59. In addition to being the RIA to the DAF, HCM was appointed the DAF's attorney-in-fact for certain actions, such as "to purchase or otherwise trade in Financial Instruments that have been approved by the General Partner." RIA Agreement ¶ 4.

60. The RIA Agreement further commits HCM to value financial assets "in accordance with the then current valuation policy of the Investment Advisor [HCM], a copy of which will provided to the General Partner upon request." RIA Agreement ¶ 5.

61. While HCM contracted for the recognition that it would be acting on behalf of others and could be in conflict with advice given the DAF, (RIA Agreement ¶ 12), nowhere did it purport to waive the fiduciary duties owed to the DAF not to trade as a principal in a manner that harmed the DAF.

62. HCFA owed a fiduciary duty to Holdco as an investor in HCLOF and to which HCFA was the portfolio manager. HCM owed a fiduciary duty to the DAF (and to Holdco as its subsidiary) pursuant to a written Advisory Agreement HCM and the DAF had where HCM agreed to provide sound investment advice and management functions.

63. As a registered investment adviser, HCM's fiduciary duty is broad and applies to the entire advisor-client relationship.

64. The core of the fiduciary duty is to act in the best interest of their investors—the advisor must put the ends of the client before its own ends or the ends of a third party.

65. This is manifested in a duty of loyalty and a duty of utmost care. It also means that the RIA has to follow the terms of the company agreements and the regulations that apply to the investment vehicle.

66. The fiduciary duty that HCM and Seery owed to Plaintiff is predicated on trust and confidence. Section 204A of the Advisers Act requires investment advisors (whether SEC-registered or not) to establish, maintain, and enforce written policies and procedures reasonably designed to prevent the RIA from trading on material, non-public information. See 17 C.F.R. § 275.206(4)-7. That means that Plaintiff should be able to take Defendants at their word and not have to second guess or dig behind representations made by them.

67. The simple thesis of this claim is that Defendants HCFA and HCM breached their fiduciary duties by (i) insider trading with Harbourvest and concealing the rising NAV of the underlying assets—i.e., trading with Harbourvest on superior, non-public information that was neither revealed to Harbourvest nor to Plaintiff; (ii) concealing the value of the Harbourvest Interests; and (iii) diverting the investment opportunity in the Harbourvest entities to HCM (or its designee) without offering it to or making it available to Plaintiff or the DAF.

68. HCM, as part of its contractual advisory function with Plaintiffs, had expressly recommended the HCLOF investment to the DAF. Thus, diverting the opportunity for returns on its investment was an additional breach of fiduciary duty.

69. This violated a multitude of regulations under 27 C.F.R. part 275, in addition to Rules 10b-5 and 10b5-1. 17 CFR 240.10b5-1 ("Rule 10b5-1") explains that one who trades while possessing non-public information is liable for insider trading, and they do not necessarily have to have used the specific inside information.

70. It also violated HCM's own internal policies and procedures.

71. Also, the regulations impose obligations on Defendants to calculate a current valuation when communicating with an investor, such as what may or may not be taken into account, and what cannot pass muster as a current valuation. Upon information and belief, these regulations were not followed by the Defendants.

72. HCM's internal policies and procedures, which it promised to abide by both in the RIA Agreement and in its Form ADV SEC filing, provided for the means of properly calculating the value of the assets.

73. HCM either did not follow these policies, changed them to be out of compliance both with the Adviser Act regulations and its Form ADV representations, and/or simply misrepresented or concealed their results.

74. In so doing, because the fiduciary duty owed to Plaintiff is a broad one, and because Defendants' malfeasance directly implicates its relationship with Plaintiff, Defendants have breached the Advisers Act's fiduciary duties owed to Plaintiff as part of their fiduciary relationship.[6]

75. At no time between agreeing with Harbourvest to the purchase of its interests and the court approval did Defendants disclose to either Harbourvest or to Plaintiff (and the Bankruptcy Court for that matter) that the purchase was at below 50% the current net asset value as well, and when they failed to offer Plaintiff (and the other members of HCLOF) their right to purchase the interests pro rata at such advantageous valuations. Plaintiff's lost opportunity to purchase has harmed Plaintiff. Plaintiff had been led to believe by the Defendants that the value of what was being purchased in the Harbourvest settlement by HCM (or its designee) was at fair market value. This representation, repeated again in the Bankruptcy Court during the Harbourvest confirmation, implicitly suggested that a proper current valuation had been performed.

76. Defendant's principal, Seery, testified in January 2021 that the then-current fair market value of Habourvests's 49.98% interest in HCLOF was worth around $22.5 million. But by then, it was worth almost double that amount and has continued to appreciate. Seery knew or should have known that fact because the value of some of the HCLOF assets had increased, and he had a duty to know the current value. His lack of actual knowledge, while potentially not overtly fraudulent, would nonetheless amount to a breach of fiduciary duty for acting without proper diligence and information that was plainly available.

77. Furthermore, HCLOF holds equity in MGM Studios and debt in CCS Medical via various CLO positions. But Seery, in his role as CEO of HCM, was made aware during an advisors meeting in December 2020 that Highland would have to restrict its trading in MGM because of its insider status due to activities that were likely to apply upward pressure on MGM's share price.

78. Furthermore, Seery controlled the Board of CCS Medical. And in or around October 2020, Seery was advocating an equatization that would have increased the value of the CCS securities by 25%, which was not reflected in the HCM report of the NAV of HCLOF's holdings.

79. Seery's knowledge is imputed to HCM.

80. Moreover, it is a breach of fiduciary duty to commit corporate waste, which is effectively what disposing of the HCLOF assets would constitute in a rising market, where there is no demand for disposition by the investors (save for HCM, whose proper 0.6% interest could easily be sold to the DAF at fair value).

81. As holder of 0.6% of the HCLOF interests, and now assignee of the 49.98% Harbourvest Interests), HCM has essentially committed self-dealing by threatening to liquidate HCLOF now that it may be compelled to do so under its proposed liquidation plan, which perhaps inures to the short term goals of HCM but to the pecuniary detriment of the other holders of HCLOF whose upside will be prematurely truncated.

82. Seery and HCM should not be allowed to benefit from the breach of their fiduciary duties because doing so would also cause Plaintiffs irreparable harm. The means and methods of disposal would likely render the full scope of damages to the DAF not susceptible to specific calculation—particularly as they would relate to calculating the lost opportunity cost. Seery and HCM likely do not have the assets to pay a judgment to Plaintiffs that would be rendered, simply taking the lost appreciation of the HCLOF assets.

83. Defendants are thus liable for diverting a corporate opportunity or asset that would or should have been offered to Plaintiff and the other investors. Because federal law makes the duties invoked herein unwaivable, it is preposterous that HCM, as a 0.6% holder of HCLOF, deemed itself entitled to the all of the value and optionality of the below-market Harbourvest purchase.

84. Defendants cannot rely on any contractual provision that purports to waive this violation. Nothing in any agreement purports to permit, authorize or otherwise sanitize Defendants' self-dealing. All such provisions are void.

85. In the fourth quarter of 2020, Seery and HCM notified staff that they would be terminated on December 31, 2020. That termination was postponed to February 28, 2021.

Purchasing the Harbourvest assets without staffing necessary to be a functioning Registered Investment Advisor was a strategic reversal from prior filings that outlined canceling the CLO management contracts and allowing investors to replace Highland as manager.

86. Seery's compensation agreement with the UCC incentivizes him to expedite recoveries and to prevent transparency regarding the Harbourvest settlement.

87. What is more, Seery had previously testified that the management contracts for the funds—HCLOF included—were unprofitable, and that he intended to transfer them. But he later rejected offers to purchase those management contracts for fair value and instead decided to continue to manage the funds—which is what apparently gave rise to the Harbourvest Settlement, among others. He simultaneously rejected an offer for the Harbourvest assets of $24 million, stating that they were worth much more than that.

88. Because of Defendants' malfeasance, Plaintiffs have lost over $25 million in damages—a number that continues to rise—and the Defendants should not be able to obtain a windfall.

89. For the same reason, Defendants' malfeasance has also exposed HCLOF to a massive liability from Harbourvest since the assignment of those interests is now one that is likely unenforceable under the Advisers Act, Section 47(b), if there was unequal information.

90. HCM and HCFA are liable as principals for breach of fiduciary duty, as are the principals and compliance staff of each entity.

91. Plaintiffs seek disgorgement, damages, exemplary damages, attorneys' fees and costs. To the extent the Court determines that this claim had to have been brought derivatively on behalf of HCLOF, then Plaintiffs represent that any pre-suit demand would have been futile since asking HCM to bring suit against its principal, Seery, would have been futile.

SECOND CAUSE OF ACTION
Breach of HCLOF Company Agreement
(By Holdco against HCLOF, HCM and HCFA)

92. Plaintiffs respectfully incorporate the foregoing factual averments as if fully set forth herein and further alleges the following:

93. On November 15, 2017, the members of HCLOF, along with HCLOF and HCFA, executed the Members Agreement Relating to the Company (the "Company Agreement").

94. The Company Agreement governs the rights and duties of the members of HCLOF.

95. Section 6.2 of HCLOF Company Agreement provides that when a member "other than … CLO Holdco [Plaintiff] or a Highland Affiliate," intends to sell its interest in HCLOF to a third party (i.e., not to an affiliate of the selling member), then the other members have the first right of refusal to purchase those interests pro rata for the same price that the member has agreed to sell.

96. Here, despite the fact that Harbourvest agreed to sell its interests in HCLOF for $22.5 million when they were worth more than double that, Defendants did not offer Plaintiff the chance to buy its pro rata share of those interests at the same agreed price of $22.5 million (adjusted pro rata).

97. The transfer and sale of the interests to HCM were accomplished as part of the Harbourvest Settlement which was approved by the Bankruptcy Court.

98. Plaintiff was not informed of the fact that Harbourvest had offered its shares to Defendant HCM for $22.5 million—which was under 50% of their true value.

99. Plaintiff was not offered the right to purchase its pro rata share of the Harbourvest interests prior to the agreement being struck or prior to court approval being sought.

100. Had Plaintiff been allowed to do so, it would have obtained the interests with a net equity value over their purchase price worth in excess of $20 million.

101. No discovery or opportunity to investigate was afforded Plaintiff prior to lodging an objection in the Bankruptcy Court.

102. Plaintiff is entitled to specific performance or, alternatively, disgorgement, constructive trust, damages, attorneys' fees and costs.

THIRD CAUSE OF ACTION
Negligence
(By the DAF and CLO Holdco against HCM and HCFA)

103. Plaintiffs respectfully incorporate the foregoing factual averments as if fully set forth herein, and further alleges the following:

104. Plaintiffs incorporate the foregoing causes of action and note that all the foregoing violations were breaches of the common law duty of care imposed by law on each of Seery, HCFA and HCM.

105. Each of these Defendants should have known that their actions were violations of the Advisers Act, HCM's internal policies and procedures, the Company Agreement, or all three.

106. Seery and HCM owed duties of care to Plaintiffs to follow HCM's internal policies and procedures regarding both the propriety and means of trading with a customer [Harbourvest], the propriety and means of trading as a principal in an account but in a manner adverse to another customer [the DAF and Holdco], and the proper means of valuing the CLOs and other assets held by HCLOF.

107. It would be foreseeable that failing to disclose the current value of the assets in the HCLOF would impact Plaintiffs negatively in a variety of ways.

108. It would be reasonably foreseeable that failing to correctly and accurately calculate the current net asset value of the market value of the interests would cause Plaintiffs to value the Harbourvest Interests differently.

109. It would be reasonably foreseeable that referring to old and antiquated market quotations and/or valuations of the HCLOF assets or interests would result in a mis-valuation of HCLOF and, therefore, a mis-valuation of the Harbourvest Interests.

110. Likewise, it would have been foreseeable that Plaintiff's failure to give Plaintiff the opportunity to purchase the Harbourvest shares at a $22.5 million valuation would cause Plaintiff damages. Defendants knew that the value of those assets was rising. They further knew or should have known that whereas those assets were sold to HCM for an allowance of claims to be funded in the future, selling them to Plaintiff would have provided the estate with cash funds.

111. Defendants' negligence foreseeably and directly caused Plaintiff harm.

112. Plaintiff is thus entitled to damages.

FOURTH CAUSE OF ACTION
Racketeering Influenced Corrupt Organizations Act
(CLO Holdco and DAF against HCM)

113. Plaintiffs respectfully incorporate the foregoing factual averments as if fully set forth herein, and further alleges the following:

114. Defendants are liable for violations of the Racketeer Influenced and Corrupt Organizations ("RICO") Act, 18 U.S.C. § 1961 et seq., for the conduct of an enterprise through a pattern of racketeering activity.

115. HCLOF constitutes an enterprise under the RICO Act. Additionally, or in the alternative, HCM, HCLA, and HCLOF constituted an association-in-fact enterprise. The purpose of the association-in-fact was the perpetuation of Seery's position at HCM and using the Harbourvest settlement as a vehicle to enrich persons other than the HCLOF investors, including Holdco and the DAF, and the perpetuation of HCM's holdings in collateralized loan obligations owned by HCLOF, while attempting to deny Plaintiffs the benefit of its rights of ownership.

116. The association-in-fact was bound by informal and formal connections for years prior to the elicit purpose, and then changed when HCM joined it in order to achieve the association's illicit purpose. For example, HCM is the parent and control person over HCFA, which is the portfolio manager of HCLOF pursuant to a contractual agreement—both are registered investment advisors and provide advisory and management services to HCLOF.

117. Defendants injured Plaintiffs through their continuous course of conduct of the HCM-HCLA-HCLOF association-in-fact enterprise. HCM's actions (performed through Seery and others) constitute violations of the federal wire fraud, mail fraud, fraud in connection with a case under Title 11, and/or securities fraud laws, pursuant to 18 U.S.C. § 1961(1)(B) and (D).

118. HCM operated in such a way as to violate insider trading rules and regulations when it traded with Harbourvest while it had material, non-public information that it had not supplied to Harbourvest or to Plaintiffs.

119. In or about November 2020, HCM and Harbourvest entered into discussions about settling the Harbourvest Claims. Seery's conduct of HCLOF and HCLA on behalf of HCM through the interstate mails and/or wires caused HCM to agree to the purchase of Harbourvest's interests in HCLOF.

120. On or about each of September 30, 2020, through December 31, 2020, Seery, through his conduct of the enterprise, utilized the interstate wires and/or mails to obtain or arrive at valuations of the HCLOF interests. Seery's conduct of the enterprise caused them to cease sending the valuation reports to Plaintiffs, which eventually allowed Plaintiffs to be misled into believing that Seery had properly valued the interests.

121. On or about September 30, 2020, Seery transmitted or caused to be transmitted though the interstate wires information to HCLOF investors from HCM (via HCFA), including Harbourvest, regarding the value of HCLOF interests and underlying assets.

122. Additionally, Seery operated HCM in such a way that he concealed the true value of the HCLOF interests by utilizing the interstate wires and mails to transmit communications to the court in the form of written representations on or about December 23, 2020, and then further transmitted verbal representations of the current market value (the vastly understated one) on January 14, 2021, during live testimony.

123. However, Harbourvest was denied the full picture and the true value of the underlying portfolio. At the end of October and November of 2020, HCM had updated the net asset values of the HCLOF portfolio. According to sources at HCM at the time, the HCLOF assets were worth north of $72,969,492 as of November 30, 2020. Harbourvest's share of that would have been $36,484,746.

124. The HCLOF net asset value had reached $86,440,024 as of December 31, 2021, which means that by the time Seery was testifying in the Bankruptcy Court on January 14, 2021, the fair market value of the Harbourvest Assets was $22.5 million, when it was actually closer to $43,202,724. Seery, speaking on behalf of HCM, knew of the distinction in value.

125. On January 14, 2021, Seery also testified that he (implying HCM, HCLA and HCLOF) had valued the Harbourvest Assets at their current valuation and at fair market value. This was not true because the valuation that was used and testified to was ancient. The ostensible purpose of this concealment was to induce Plaintiff and other interest holdings to take no action.

126. In supporting HCM's motion to the Bankruptcy Court to approve the Harbourvest Settlement, Seery omitted the fact that HCM was purchasing the interests at a massive discount, which would violate the letter and spirit of the Adviser's Act.

127. Seery was informed in late December 2020 at an in-person meeting in Dallas to which Seery had to fly that HCLOF and HCM had to suspend trading in MGM Studios' securities because Seery had learned from James Dondero, who was on the Board of MGM, of a potential purchase of the company. The news of the MGM purchase should have caused Seery to revalue the HCLOF investment in MGM.

128. In or around October 2020, Seery (who controls the Board of CSS Medical) was pursuing "equatization" of CSS Medical's debt, which would have increased the value of certain securities by 25%. In several communications through the U.S. interstate wires and/or mails, and with Plaintiffs, and the several communications with Harbourvest during the negotiations of the settlement, Seery failed to disclose these changes which were responsible in part for the ever-growing value of the HCLOF CLO portfolio.

129. Seery was at all relevant times operating as an agent of HCM.

130. This series of related violations of the wire fraud, mail fraud, and securities fraud laws, in connection with the HCM bankruptcy, constitute a continuing pattern and practice of racketeering for the purpose of winning a windfall for HCM and himself--a nearly $30,000,000 payday under the confirmation agreement.

131. The federal RICO statute makes it actionable for one's conduct of an enterprise to include "fraud in connection with a [bankruptcy case]". The Advisers' Act antifraud provisions require full transparency and accountability to an advisers' investors and clients and does not require a showing of reliance or materiality. The wire fraud provision likewise is violated when, as here, the interstate wires are used as part of a "scheme or artifice … for obtaining money or property by means of false … pretenses, [or] representations[.]"

132. Accordingly, because Defendants' conduct violated the wire fraud and mail fraud laws, and the Advisers' Act antifraud provisions, and their acts and omissions were in connection with the HCM Bankruptcy proceedings under Title 11, they are sufficient to bring such conduct within the purview of the RICO civil action provisions, 18 U.S.C. § 1964.

133. Plaintiffs are thus entitled to damages, treble damages, attorneys' fees and costs of suit, in addition to all other injunctive or equitable relief to which they are justly entitled.

FIFTH CAUSE OF ACTION
Tortious Interference
(CLO Holdco against HCM)

134. Plaintiff respectfully incorporates the foregoing factual averments as if fully set forth herein and further alleges the following:

135. At all relevant times, HCM owned a 0.6% interest in HCLOF.

136. At all relevant times, Seery and HCM knew that Plaintiff had specific rights in HCLOF under the Company Agreement, § 6.2.

137. Section 6.2 of HCLOF Company agreement provides that when a member "other than … CLO Holdco [Plaintiff] or a Highland Affiliate," intends to sell its interest in HCLOF to a third party (i.e., not an affiliate of the member), then the other members have the first right of refusal to purchase those interests pro rata for the same price that the member has agreed to sell.

138. HCM, through Seery, tortiously interfered with Plaintiff's contractual rights with HCLOF by, among other things, diverting the Harbourvest Interests in HCLOF to HCM without giving HCLOF or Plaintiff the option to purchase those assets at the same favorable price that HCM obtained them.

139. HCM and Seery tortiously interfered with Plaintiff's contractual rights with HCLOF by, among other things, misrepresenting the fair market value as $22.5 million and concealing the current value of those interests.

140. But for HCM and Seery's tortious interference, Plaintiff would have been able to acquire the Harbourvest Interests at a highly favorable price. HCM and Seery's knowledge of the rights and intentional interference with these rights has caused damage to Plaintiff CLO Holdco.

141. Plaintiff is therefore entitled to damages from HCM and Seery, as well as exemplary damages.

VI.

JURY DEMAND

142. Plaintiff demands trial by jury on all claims so triable.

VII.

PRAYER FOR RELIEF

143. Wherefore, for the foregoing reasons, Plaintiffs respectfully pray that the Court enter judgment in its favor and against Defendants, jointly and severally, for:

a. Actual damages;

b. Disgorgement;

c. Treble damages;

d. Exemplary and punitive damages;

e. Attorneys' fees and costs as allowed by common law, statute or contract;

f. A constructive trust to avoid dissipation of assets;

g. All such other relief to which Plaintiff is justly entitled.

Dated: April 12, 2021

Respectfully submitted,

DALLAS, TEXAS - JUNE 8, 2021 - 9:30 A.M.

THE COURT: All right. We have settings in Highland this morning. We have three settings. We have the show cause hearing with regard to a lawsuit filed in the District Court. We have a couple of more, I would say, ministerial matters, although I think we do have objections. I know we have objections. We have a motion to extend the removal period in this case as well as a motion to modify the order authorizing Mr. Seery's retention.

So let's go ahead and start out by getting appearances from the lawyers who are participating today. I'll get those now.

MR. MORRIS: Good morning, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Good morning.

MR. MORRIS: John Morris from Pachulski, Stang, Ziehl & Jones for the Debtor. I'm joined with me this morning by my colleagues, Jeffrey Pomerantz, Greg Demo, and Zachery Annable.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. MORRIS: We do have a proposal on how to proceed today, a substantial portion of which is in agreement with the Respondents.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. MORRIS: So, at the appropriate time, I'd be happy to present that to the Court.

THE COURT: All right. Well, let's get all the appearances and then I'll hear from you on that.

MR. SBAITI: Your Honor, my name is -- would you like me to approach, Your Honor?

THE COURT: Yes, please.

MR. SBAITI: It's my first time appearing in Bankruptcy Court, Your Honor. My name is Mazin Sbaiti. I'm here on behalf of the charitable DAF Fund, CLO Holdco, and the Respondents to the show cause hearing. We are also representing them as the Movants on the motion to modify the Court's order appointing Mr. Seery.

THE COURT: All right. Thank you.

MR. BRIDGES: Jonathan Bridges, Your Honor, with Mr. Sbaiti, also representing the Charitable DAF and CLO Holdco, as well as our firm that is named in the show cause order.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. BRIDGES: Thank you, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Thank you.

MR. PHILLIPS: Good morning, Your Honor. Louis M. Phillips from Kelly Hart Hallman here on behalf of Mark Patrick in the show cause matter. I'm joined with my colleague Michael Anderson from the Kelly Hart firm here in Fort Worth. And that's the matter that we're involved in, the show cause auction.

THE COURT: All right. Thank you, Mr. Phillips.

MR. TAYLOR: Good morning, Your Honor. Clay Taylor of Bonds Ellis Eppich Schafer Jones here on behalf of Jim Dondero. I have Mr. Will Howell here with me from my firm.

THE COURT: All right. Thank you.

MR. CLEMENTE: Good morning, Your Honor. Matthew Clemente from Sidley Austin on behalf of the Committee. I'm here with my partner, Paige Montgomery.

THE COURT: Okay. Thank you.

MR. CLEMENTE: Good morning.

THE COURT: All right. Just to remind people, we do have participants on the WebEx, but in setting the hearing I made clear that participants today needed to be here live in the courtroom. So the WebEx participants are going to be only observers.

We have a camera on the screen here that is poised to capture both the lawyer podium as well as the witness box, and then another camera on the bench.

So, please be mindful. We want the lawyers to speak from the podium so that they are captured and heard by the WebEx. And so hopefully we don't have any cords you will trip over. We've worked hard to make it easy to maneuver around the courtroom.

All right. So, Mr. Morris, you had a proposal on how we would approach this today?

MR. MORRIS: I do, Your Honor. And it's rather brief, but I think it makes a lot of sense.

There are three motions on the calendar for today, --

THE COURT: Uh-huh.

MR. MORRIS: -- only one of which required the personal appearance of certain parties.

THE COURT: Uh-huh.

MR. MORRIS: And for that reason, and because, frankly, it was the first of the three motions filed, we believe that that ought to go first.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. MORRIS: And then it can be followed by the motion for reconsideration of the July order, assuming time permits, and then the motion to extend the removal deadline.

And with respect to the contempt motion, Your Honor, the parties have agreed that each side shall have a maximum of three hours to make opening statements, closing arguments, direct and cross-examination of witnesses.

You know, I did point out to them that from time to time Your Honor has used the Court's discretion to adjust the time --

THE COURT: Uh-huh.

MR. MORRIS: -- if the Court is making inquiries, and I guess we'll deal with that matter as it comes. But as a general matter, that is what we've agreed to. And I would propose that, unless anybody has any objections, that we just proceed on that basis.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. MORRIS: And I could -- I could go right forward.

THE COURT: So, three hours in the aggregate?

MR. MORRIS: Uh-huh.

THE COURT: It doesn't matter how people spend it -- with argument, examination, cross -- three hours in the aggregate?

MR. MORRIS: Correct.

THE COURT: Okay. So, Nate, you'll be the timer on that.

MR. MORRIS: Yeah. We thought it was very important to get this done today, with people coming in from out of town.

THE COURT: Okay. Sounds fine.

MR. MORRIS: So does the Court want to inquire if anybody has any questions or comments?

THE COURT: I do. Well, I see Mr. Bridges getting up. You confirm that that's agreeable?

MR. BRIDGES: Thank you, Your Honor. Yes, that's agreeable. We have one slight difference in our proposal. We would suggest to Your Honor that the motion for modification, if Your Honor decides our way, would moot the entire motion for contempt. And we'd suggest, if that possibility is realistic, that we would go first with that motion, perhaps obviate having to have the evidence presented and the lengthy hearing.

The motion for modification, Your Honor, asks the Court to reconsider -- to modify that order because of jurisdictional and other shortcomings in it that make the order unenforceable. And because that's the order that is the subject of the contempt motion, we'd ask Your Honor to consider putting that motion first.

THE COURT: Okay. Or second? Ahead of the contempt matter?

MR. BRIDGES: Ahead of the contempt matter, --

THE COURT: Uh-huh.

MR. BRIDGES: -- because it has a possibility --

THE COURT: We have the removal matter, which I think is the shortest. All right.

MR. BRIDGES: No objection to that, Your Honor. That's correct.

THE COURT: Okay. So, Mr. Morris, that's fine by you?

MR. MORRIS: Your Honor, that doesn't make a lot of sense to us. We don't believe there's any basis for the Court to reconsider, modify, or amend in any way the July order. But even if we were wrong about that, that would not retroactively validate conduct which was otherwise wrongful at the time it was committed.

The contempt motion needs to go first. The other motion will have no impact on whether or not there is a finding of contempt of court.

THE COURT: All right. And update me on this. There was something filed yesterday, a notice of a proposed form of order that the Debtor had proposed, that I think was not agreed to, where there would be a change about any action that goes forward, the cause of action would be in the sole jurisdiction of the Court, and you all agreed to change that part of the order, correct?

MR. MORRIS: So, just as a division of labor for Your Honor, I'm doing the contempt motion.

THE COURT: Okay. That's Mr. Pomerantz's?

MR. MORRIS: Mr. Pomerantz is going to take care of that.

MR. POMERANTZ: Yes, Your Honor. Good morning. Good to see you again.

THE COURT: Good to see you.

MR. POMERANTZ: Yes, Your Honor, that's correct. If Your Honor recalls, there's really three aspects of the January 9th and the July 16th order. First, requiring people to come to Bankruptcy Court before commencing or pursuing an action. Second, for the Bankruptcy Court to have the sole and exclusive authority to determine whether the claim is a colorable claim of willful negligence or gross misconduct. And then third, if Your Honor passed the claim through the gate, whether you would have jurisdiction.

In Your Honor's January 9th and July 16th orders, you said you would have exclusive jurisdiction. In the motion for reconsideration, and particularly the reply, Movants said, if you just change that and say that if passes through the gate that you'd have jurisdiction only to the extent you would otherwise have it, that would resolve the motion, in the same way that the plan of reorganization was amended.

We proposed that. They rejected it. We put it before Your Honor. So we believe that it moots out a good portion -- actually, we think it should moot out the entire motion. They obviously disagree. But we definitely agree it moots out the most significant portion of their motion, which is that Your Honor would take jurisdiction to adjudicate a matter on an exclusive basis when you might not otherwise have jurisdiction on an exclusive basis.

THE COURT: Okay. Well, --

MR. BRIDGES: Your Honor, may I respond to that?

THE COURT: You may. And --

MR. BRIDGES: Thank you, Your Honor.

THE COURT: -- why -- could you clarify why you think it would moot out the entire show cause matter? I wouldn't be retroactively changing my order. Is that what you're proposing?

MR. BRIDGES: Your Honor, with all respect, we believe the order is defective and unenforceable and has to be modified in order to fix it. And because of the defects, we're -- we're actually arguing, Your Honor, that it is unenforceable in a contempt proceeding. That is exactly what our argument is.

THE COURT: Okay. I think I'm getting way farther down this road than maybe I want to right now. But I guess here's the elephant in the room, I feel like: Republic Supply versus Shoaf.

MR. BRIDGES: Uh-huh.

THE COURT: The U.S. Supreme Court Espinosa case, for that matter. If I accept your argument that maybe there was a flaw in those orders, that maybe they went too far, don't you have a problem with those two cases?

MR. BRIDGES: Your --

THE COURT: The orders weren't appealed.

MR. BRIDGES: I understand completely, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Uh-huh.

MR. BRIDGES: And I think the answer is no because of the Applewood case from the Fifth Circuit. The Applewood case cited in our reply brief explains that in order for an order, a final order of the Bankruptcy Court to have exculpatory effect, in order for it to release claims, for example, that the claims at issue must be enumerated in the order. It's not enough to have a blanket statement like the order, the July order has, like the January order has, saying that Mr. Seery's claims -- claims cannot be brought against him for ordinary negligence at all. The -- Your Honor, we're delving into my argument.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. BRIDGES: And I was hoping to do this on a preliminary basis.

THE COURT: Right.

MR. BRIDGES: I don't mean to bog you down with that. But Your Honor, no, mandatory authority from the Fifth Circuit after Shoaf limits Shoaf's application and says that it does not extinguish the claims that are not specifically enumerated in the order. And the reason for that is because it doesn't give the kind of notice to the parties that they would need to make an appearance and object to those orders at the time. It actually helps to stem the amount of litigation at the time rather than to encourage it.

THE COURT: All right. Well, you'll get your opportunity to make your full argument on this. But I'm not convinced, preliminarily, at least, to affect my decision on the sequence, okay? So even if it potentially wastes time under your view of the law, I am going to do the removal matter first -- the extension of time request, I should say -- and then the show cause and then the motion to modify. And I realize, those last two matters, everything is kind of interrelated. All right?

MR. BRIDGES: Yes, Your Honor.

THE COURT: All right. So, with that decided, is there a desire on the part of the lawyers to make opening statements, or shall we just go to the motions? And, of course, people can use their three hours for oral argument, however much they want to use for oral argument.

MR. MORRIS: Your Honor, the -- to be clear, the six-hour time limit only applies to the contempt proceeding.

THE COURT: Oh, yes. Yes. Uh-huh.

MR. MORRIS: And I do want to make an opening statement.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. MORRIS: So, as the Movant, I'd like to go first.

THE COURT: You want to make opening statements?

MR. BRIDGES: Yes. Yes, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Okay. Okay.

MR. BRIDGES: I believe we've got a PowerPoint prepared that I think can lay out our side of it.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. BRIDGES: I don't think we're participating in the motion to extend the removal time.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. BRIDGES: That's going first.

THE COURT: All right.

MR. BRIDGES: So we'll wait until that is --

THE COURT: Well, so we don't get confused on the timing, let's just do the motion to extend right now. And I think we only had one objection. As Mr. Sbaiti just pointed out, they're not objecting on that one. We have a Dondero objection. So let's, without starting the timer, hear that one. Okay?

MR. DEMO: Good morning, Your Honor. Greg Demo; Pachulski, Stang, Ziehl & Jones.

THE COURT: Good morning.

MR. DEMO: I'll be arguing the removal motion and then turn it over.

It's fairly basic and straightforward, Your Honor. We're asking for a further extension of the statutory deadline to remove cases until December 14th, 2021. The deadline is procedural only. As Your Honor is well aware, there's a lot of moving parts in this case. You know, we don't know to this date, really, the full universe of what could actually be out there. So we're just asking for a short extension of the removal period to cover through December.

I know that there was an objection from Mr. Dondero. I know that he argues that 9006 does not allow us to extend that deadline past the effective date of the plan, and he cites one case for that purpose, which is Health Support. I think it's out of Florida. That case dealt with the extension of the two-year extension of the statute of limitations and was very clear that you can't use 9 --

THE COURT: You mean the 546 deadline?

MR. BRIDGES: Yes. Yes.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. BRIDGES: That you can't use 9006 to extend non-bankruptcy deadlines. That's not what we're doing here, Your Honor. We're using 9006 to extend the bankruptcy deadline to remove the cases.

THE COURT: Uh-huh.

MR. DEMO: And we'd just ask Your Honor for the extension through December.

THE COURT: Okay. I'll hear Mr. Dondero's counsel.

MR. HOWELL: Good morning, Judge. Will Howell for Mr. Dondero.

So, the argument here is not that the Court can't do this. I was just pointing that there is an outside limit to what we're doing. And so if you look at the cases that the Debtor cites in support of this motion, the one that is most apt was when Judge Nelms did a fourth extension of time. But those were all 90-day extensions. Here, we're in a situation where the Debtor is asking for a fourth 180-day extension of time, and this is really where the, you know, objection came -- or, the response in opposition came from. They specifically asked that it be without prejudice to further extensions.

And so, at some point, you know, does 9006 have an outside limit? You know, do we need to see some sort of a light at the end of the tunnel here?

So we would ask that the motion, at a minimum, be denied in part with respect to this open-ended request for extension beyond two years for a 90-day period. The other cases that they cite, they have one extension here, one extension there, 120 days here, but not 180 days after 180 days after 180 days, and then asking specifically for without prejudice to further extensions beyond two years. So that's -- that's where this comes from.

THE COURT: All right. Do you think it matters that this is a very complex case?

MR. BRIDGES: I --

THE COURT: There's litigation here, there, and everywhere.

MR. HOWELL: I also think, you know, Mirant was complex. I think Pilgrim's Pride was complex. I think, you know, it is not out of bounds for the Court to grant a fourth extension.

THE COURT: Uh-huh.

MR. BRIDGES: But to -- you know, at some point -- you know, maybe the Court could grant a 90-day extension and make them come back a little more frequently to kind of corral this thing, rather than just saying "This grant of 180 days, the fourth time, is going to be without prejudice to further extensions." It just gets kind of large.

THE COURT: Okay. Mr. Demo, your motion. You get the last word.

MR. DEMO: Your Honor, I mean, it is without prejudice for further extensions, but that doesn't mean that Your Honor is granting the further extensions now. It means we'll have to come back. We'll have to make our case for why an extension is necessary. And, you know, if Your Honor doesn't want to give us another extension past December 2021, Your Honor doesn't have to. This is not an order saying that it's a limitless grant.

You know, I'd also ask, you know, quite honestly, why Mr. Dondero has such an issue with this. He hasn't said that any of these cases involve him. He hasn't given any reasons why this affects him. He hasn't given any reason why this damages him at all. So I do, I guess, wonder as an initial matter kind of why we're here, you know, why we're responding to Mr. Dondero's request, when that request really has no impact on him.

And then, Your Honor, to the extent that you are inclined to limit this, I would say, you know, we would ask for a reasonable extension of time. We do think an extension of time, because of the complexity of this case, through December is warranted. But if Your Honor for some reason does agree that a shorter extension is necessary under 9006 -- I don't think it is -- we'd just ask that Your Honor grant us leave to come back for further extensions of time.

THE COURT: Okay. All right. I will -- I'll grant a 90-day extension, without prejudice for further extensions.

MR. DEMO: Thank you, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Maybe in 90 days we'll be farther down the road and we won't need any more extensions, but you'll have the ability to argue for more if you think it's really necessary. All right. So that will bring us to around September 14th, I guess.

All right. Well, let's go ahead and hear opening statements with regard to the show cause matter. And again, if you want to roll in arguments about the -- well, no, you said the six hours only applies to show cause, so we'll not hear opening statements with regard to the Seery retention modification, just show cause.

MR. MORRIS: All right. Before I begin, Your Honor, I have a small deck to guide --

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. MORRIS: -- to guide my opening statement.

THE COURT: All right.

MR. MORRIS: Can I approach the bench?

THE COURT: You may. And is your legal assistant going to share her content --

MR. MORRIS: Yes.

THE COURT: -- so people on the WebEx will see? Okay.

MR. MORRIS: That's the intention, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. MORRIS: All right. Are you ready for me to proceed?

THE COURT: I am. And obviously, everyone has a copy?

MR. MORRIS: Yes.

THE COURT: Your opponents have a copy of this?

MR. MORRIS: Yep.

THE COURT: Okay. Although we hope to see it on the screen.

OPENING STATEMENT ON BEHALF OF THE DEBTOR

MR. MORRIS: Good morning, Your Honor. John Morris; Pachulski, Stang, Ziehl & Jones; for the Debtor.

We're here today on the Debtor's motion to hold certain entities and individuals in contempt of court for violating a very clear and specific court order. I hope to be relatively brief in my opening here, Your Honor, and I'd like to begin where I think we must, and that is, how do we -- how do we prove this and what do we have to prove?

The elements of a claim for contempt of court are really rather straightforward. The Movant must establish by clear and convincing evidence three things.

THE COURT: Let me stop you and stop the clock. We're not seeing the shared content.

MR. MORRIS: Uh-huh.

THE COURT: Did you want her to go ahead and share her content?

MR. MORRIS: I did.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. MORRIS: I was hoping that she'd do that.

THE COURT: All right. It says it's receiving content.

MR. MORRIS: There we go. It's on my screen, anyway.

THE COURT: Oh, here it is. I don't know why it's not on my Polycom. Can you all see it out there?

(Chorus of affirmative replies.)

THE COURT: Okay. Very good.

MR. MORRIS: Okay.

THE COURT: You may proceed.

MR. MORRIS: Thank you, Your Honor.

So, there's three elements to the cause of action for contempt, for civil contempt. We have to prove by clear and convincing evidence that a court order was in effect; that the order required certain conduct by the Respondents; and that the Respondent failed to comply with the Court's order.

We've cited in the footnote the applicable case law from the Fifth Circuit, and I don't believe that there's any dispute that is indeed the legal standard.

The intent of the Respondents as to liability is completely irrelevant. It doesn't matter if they thought they were doing the right thing. It doesn't matter if they believed in their heart of hearts that the court order was invalid. These are the three elements, and we will be able to establish these elements not by clear and convincing evidence, but if we ever had to, beyond reasonable doubt.

If we can go to the next slide, please.

We begin with the Court's order, the Court's July 9 order. And that order states very clearly what conduct was required. And the conduct that was required was that no entity could commence or pursue -- those are really the magic words -- commence or pursue a claim against Mr. Seery without the Bankruptcy Court doing certain things. And we've referred to this as the gatekeeper. And the only question I believe the Court has to ask today is whether the Respondents commenced or pursued a claim against Mr. Seery without seeking Bankruptcy Court approval, as set forth in this order.

I'll dispute that there's anything ambiguous about this. I'll dispute that it could not be clearer what conduct was prohibited. It could not be clearer. The only question is whether the conduct constitutes the pursuit of a claim.

Let's see what they did. If we could go to the next slide. There will be no dispute about what they did. And what they did is, a week after filing a lawsuit against the Debtor and two others arising out of the HarbourVest settlement, a settlement that this Court approved, after notice and a hearing and participation by the Respondents, after they had the opportunity to take discovery, after they had the opportunity to examine Mr. Seery about the value of HarbourVest's interest in HCLOF, after all of that, they brought a lawsuit after Mr. Patrick took control of the DAF and CLO Holdco. And that lawsuit related to nothing but the HarbourVest suit, and it named in Paragraph 2, right up above, Mr. Seery as a potential party. And a week later, Your Honor, they filed what we call the Seery Motion, and it was a motion for leave to amend their complaint to add Mr. Seery as a defendant.

We believe that that clearly violates the Court's July 7 order. And indeed, again, these are facts. They're not -- they're not in dispute. Just look at the first sentence of their motion. The purpose of the motion was to name James Seery as a defendant. That was the purpose of the motion. And the way that they made the motion, Your Honor -- and these are undisputed facts -- the way they made the motion, Your Honor, shows contemptuous intent. We don't have to prove intent, but I think it might be relevant when you get to remedies. Okay?

And so how do I -- why do I say that? Because they made this motion, Your Honor, and they didn't have to. Everybody knows that under Rule 15 they could have amended the complaint if they wanted to. If they wanted to, they didn't need the Court's permission. What they wanted to do was try to get the District Court to do what they knew they couldn't. And that's contemptuous.

And they did it, Your Honor, without notice to the Debtor. Even after the Debtor had accepted service of the complaint, even after we told them, if you go down this path, we're going to file a motion for contempt, they did it anyway. They didn't serve the Debtor. They didn't give the Debtor a courtesy copy. They didn't notify the Debtor. The only thing that happened was the next day, when the District Court dismissed it without prejudice, they sent us a copy of that notice. And within three days, we were here.

A court order was in effect. Mr. Patrick is going to admit to that. There's not going to be any dispute about that. The order required that the Respondents come to this Court before they pursue a claim against Mr. Seery, and they failed to comply with that order. The facts, again -- if we can go to the next slide. We can look at some of the detail, because the timeline is mindboggling.

Mr. Patrick became the Plaintiffs' authorized representative on March 24th. And folks, when I took their depositions, weren't specific about dates, and that's why some of the entries here refer to sometime after, but there's no question that the order of events is as presented here and as the evidence will show today.

The evidence will show that sometime after Patrick became the Plaintiffs' authorized representative, Mr. Dondero informed Mr. Patrick that Highland had usurped an investment opportunity from the Plaintiffs. Mr. Patrick is going to testify to that. Mr. Patrick is also going to testify that, without prompting, without making a request, D.C. Sauter, the general counsel of NexPoint Advisors, recommended the Sbaiti firm to Mr. Patrick. Mr. Patrick considered nobody else.

Mr. Patrick retained the Sbaiti firm in April. In other words, within 12 days of the filing of the complaint. They're retained and they conduct an investigation. You're going to hear the assertion of the attorney-client and the common interest privilege every time I ask Mr. Dondero what he and Mr. Sbaiti talked about and whether they talked about naming Jim Seery as a defendant. But with Patrick's authorization, the Sbaiti firm filed the complaint on April 12th, just days after they were retained.

It's like a -- it's an enormous complaint. I don't know how they did that so quickly. But in any event, the important point is that they all worked together. None of this happened until Mr. Patrick became the authorized representative.

Mr. Patrick is going to tell you, Your Honor, he's going to tell you that he had no knowledge of any wrongdoing by Mr. Seery prior to the time he assumed the rein of the DAF and the CLO Holdco. He had no knowledge, Your Honor, of any claims that the DAF and CLO Holdco had against the Debtor until he became the Plaintiffs' authorized representative and Mr. Dondero spoke to him.

If we can flip to the next page. Mr. Dondero has effective control of the DAF. He has effective control of CLO Holdco. You're going to be bombarded with corporate documents today, because they're going to show you -- and they want you to respect the corporate form, they really want you to follow the rules and respect the corporate form, because only Mr. Scott was responsible for the DAF and CLO Holdco until he handed the reins on March 24th to Mr. Patrick. Mr. Dondero has nothing to do with this. He's going to tell you. He's going to tell you he had nothing to do with the selection of Mr. Patrick as Mr. Scott's replacement.

The facts are going to show otherwise, Your Honor. The DAF is a $200 million charitable organization that is funded almost exclusively with assets derived from Highland or Mr. Dondero or the Get Good Trust or the Dugaboy Trust. The evidence is going to show that at all times these entities had shared services agreements and investment advisory agreements with HCMLP. The evidence will show that HCMLP at all times was controlled by Mr. Dondero.

And it made sense. The guy put in an awful lot of money for charitable usage. Is he really just going to say, I don't really care who runs it? The evidence is going to show that between October 2020 and January 2021, Grant Scott actually exercised independence. Grant Scott was Mr. Dondero's childhood friend. They went to UVA together. They were roommates. Mr. Scott was the best man at Mr. Dondero's wedding. But we were now in bankruptcy court. We're now in the fishbowl. And I will -- this may be a little argument, but there's no disputing the facts that Mr. Scott acted independently, and he paid the price for it. Mr. Scott did it three times.

He did it when he amended CLO Holdco's proof of claim to take it down to zero. He did it again after he withdrew the objection to the HarbourVest settlement motion. And he did it again when he settled the lawsuit that the Debtors had brought against CLO Holdco. And that -- and on each of those three occasions, the evidence will show that Mr. Scott did not communicate with Mr. Dondero in advance, that Mr. Dondero found out about these acts of independence after the fact, and that each time he found out about it he had a little conversation with Mr. Scott.

Mr. Dondero is going to tell you about it, and he's going to tell you that he told Mr. Scott each act was inappropriate.

You may have heard that word before. Each act was not in the best interests of the DAF.

The last of those conversations happened either on or just after January 26th. And by January 31st, Mr. Scott gave notice of his resignation. And you're going to see that notice of resignation. And he asks for releases.

Mr. Patrick becomes, almost two months later, the successor to Mr. Scott. Mr. Dondero is going to say he has no idea how that happened. He was just told after the fact that Mr. Patrick and Mr. Scott had an agreement. He's going to tell you they had an agreement and he just heard about it afterwards. He didn't really -- for two months, I guess, he sat there after Mr. Scott told him that he wanted out and did nothing to try to find out who's going to take control of my charitable foundation with $200 million. He wasn't interested.

But here's the thing, Your Honor. If we go to the next slide. Let's see what Mr. Scott said at his deposition last week. Question, "Do you know who selected Mark?" Answer, "I do not." Question, "Do you know how Mark was selected?" Mark is a reference to Mark Patrick. "I do not." "Did you ever ask Mark how he was selected?" "I did not." "Did you ever ask Mark who selected him?" "I did not." "Did you ever ask anybody at any time how Mr. Patrick was selected to succeed you?" "No, I did not." "Did you ever ask anybody at any time as to who made the decision to select Mr. Patrick to succeed you?" "No, I did not."

So I don't know what happened between Mr. Patrick and Mr. Dondero when Mr. Patrick supposedly told Mr. Dondero that there was an agreement with Mr. Scott, but that is news to Mr. Scott. He had no idea.

Your Honor, we are going to prove by clear and convincing evidence that each of the Respondents violated a very clear and specific court order. And unless the Court has any other questions, I'll stop for now.

THE COURT: No questions.

MR. MORRIS: Thank you, Your Honor.

THE COURT: All right. Who is making the argument for the Respondents?

MR. SBAITI: Your Honor, I am. I'm just trying to put the PowerPoint up on the WebEx.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. SBAITI: Sorry about that.

MR. MORRIS: Your Honor, I'll try not to make this a practice, but can I inquire as to how much time I used?

THE COURT: Oh. Nate?

THE CLERK: About thirteen minutes.

THE COURT: Thirteen minutes?

MR. MORRIS: Thank you very much.

THE COURT: Okay. All right.

MR. SBAITI: Your Honor, our PowerPoint is a little bit longer than that one. May I approach with a copy?

THE COURT: You may. Uh-huh.

(Pause.)

MR. SBAITI: Your Honor, it does feel good to be back in the courtroom.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. SBAITI: It's been a long time.

THE COURT: Yes. For us, too.

MR. SBAITI: Jut wish it wasn't under a circumstance where someone is trying to sanction me.

But we're going to be dividing up this oral argument a little bit. Also, to just kind of break up a little bit of the monotony, because I think we have a lot to cover at the opening stage of this. And I'll try to be as expeditious as I can be.

OPENING STATEMENT ON BEHALF OF THE SHOW CAUSE RESPONDENTS

MR. SBAITI: Your Honor, the thing we -- the thing we open with is the due process issue that we raised in our brief. And where this really arises from is the Court's show cause order calls us violators before we've had a chance to respond to the allegations and before we've obviously been able to approach this hearing. And the word violators means something to us, Your Honor, because I've been a lawyer for a long time, my partner has been a lawyer for a long time, our clients have never been sanctioned, we've never been sanctioned, and for us to be labeled violators first by counsel and then in a court order makes us wonder whether or not this process is already prejudged or predetermined.

THE COURT: I actually want to address that. Turn off the clock.

Just so you know, I looked this up a while back, because we gave a bankruptcy judges panel at some CLE. The average bankruptcy judge in our district, back when I looked, signs over 200 orders a week.

MR. SBAITI: Sure.

THE COURT: Many of those -- in fact, most of them -- are submitted by lawyers. So, you know, a big chunk of my week is signing orders. And I obviously give more scrutiny to those that are substantive in nature. Okay? If someone submits to me a 50-page debtor-in-possession financing order, I will look at that much more carefully than what I consider a mere procedural order setting a hearing.

So I regret that that word was used, but I can assure you I fairly quickly set that -- signed that, I should say -- regarding it as a merely procedural order setting a hearing. Okay? So it's as simple as that. There was no hmm, I like that word, violator. I had a stack, if you will, an electronic stack of probably 200 orders in front of me the day I signed that. Okay?

So, if that makes anyone feel any better, I don't know, but that's the reality.

Okay. You can start the clock again.

MR. SBAITI: And I appreciate Your Honor saying that. It does make us feel better, both about where the -- the genesis of the order and the impact and its reflection on what Your Honor thinks in terms of going into this.

The other thing that obviously raised concerns, and I assume this comes from the same place, was four days ahead of that order counsel told us the Court was going to order everyone to be in person, and they had advance notice of that, and we weren't sure how they had advance notice of that. I guess they assumed --

THE COURT: I can assure you right here on the record I never had ex parte communications with any lawyer in this case, on this matter or any other matter. Okay? Again, those are pretty strong words to venture out there with, which your pleading did venture out there with those words.

My courtroom deputy, Traci, I think answers her phone 24 hours a day. So I'm quite sure she had communications with the lawyers about this, just like she probably had communications with you and your firm and every other firm in this case. Okay?

MR. SBAITI: Like I said, Your Honor, we appreciated what Your Honor -- appreciate what Your Honor said, but that issue obviously stuck out -- stuck out to us, in combination. So I'll move on from that issue.

This has to do with the lawsuit that was filed, and the lawsuit, the genesis of the lawsuit, I think it's important to say, because the argument has been raised in the briefing and we wanted to address it upfront, why the lawsuit comes about. And it comes about because of the Advisers Act and the responsibilities that the Debtor has to the assets of the funds that it manages. And the Advisers Act imposes a duty not only on Highland but obviously on its control people and its supervised people. And the lawsuit has to do with HCLOF, which is what HarbourVest owned a piece of. And Highland, as the advisor to HCLOF and the advisor to the DAF, owed fiduciary duties to CLO Holdco, which is the DAF's holding entity of its assets in HCLOF, but Highland Capital was also an advisor, a registered investment advisor to the DAF directly at the time. And so those federally-imposed fiduciary duties lie at the crux of that lawsuit.

Moving on, Mr. Seery testified at the hearing that was in this Court to be -- to get him appointed, and this was Exhibit 2 that was presented by the Debtor, and on Page 16 at the bottom he says -- of the transcript, he says, I think, from a high level, the best way to think about the Debtor is that it's a registered investment advisor. As a registered investment advisor, which is really any advisor of third-party money over $25 million, it has to register with the SEC, and it manages funds in many different ways.

In the middle of the next page he says, In addition, the Debtor manages about $2 billion, $2 billion in total managed assets, around $2 billion in CLO assets, and then other securities, which are hedge funds -- other entities, rather, which are hedge funds or PE style. Private equity style.

On Page 23 towards the bottom he says, As I said, the Investment Advisers Act puts a fiduciary duty on Highland Capital to discharge its duty to the investors. So while we have duties to the estate, we also have duties, as I mentioned in my last testimony, to each of the investors in the funds. CLO Holdco would be an investor in one of those funds, HCLOF.

He goes on to say, Some of them are related parties, and those are a little bit easier. Some of them are owned by Highland. HCLOF was not owned by Highland. But there are third-party investors in these funds who have no relation whatsoever to Highland, and we owe them a fiduciary duty both to manage their assets prudently but also to seek to maximize value.

Now, the lawsuit alleges that Seery testified that the HarbourVest portion of Highland CLO Funding was worth $22-1/2 million. Now, Mr. Morris wants the Court to hinge on the fact that, well, no one asked him whether he was lying. But that's not really the standard, and it certainly isn't the standard when someone's an investment advisor and owes fiduciary duties, which include fiduciary duties to be transparent with your investors.

It also includes fiduciary duties not to self-deal.

The lawsuit also alleges that, in reality, those assets were worth double that -- double that amount at the time. We found out just, you know, in late March/early April that a third -- from a third party who had access to the underlying valuations at the time that those values were actually double and that there was a misrepresentation, giving rise to the lawsuit. That change in circumstance is the key issue behind the lawsuit.

We allege that Mr. Seery and the Debtor, as RIAs, had a duty to not self-deal and be fully transparent with that information, and we think both of those things were violated under the Advisers Act.

We don't allege that the HarbourVest settlement should be undone or unwound. We can't unscramble that egg. We do seek damages, as I believe is our right, arising out of the wrongdoing and the process of pushing forth the settlement.

I think one of the allegations in the actual motion for the show cause order was that this was going to undo all of the hard work that Court had done and basically unwind and try to re-piece Humpty Dumpty back together again. But that's simply not the case. Nowhere in our allegations or in the relief that we request are we trying to undo the HarbourVest settlement as such.

Now, whether the lawsuit should be dismissed under the affirmative defenses that they bring up -- res judicata, waiver, release -- all of those are questionable under the Advisers Act, given the change of circumstance, and therefore are also questions on the merits. They don't go to the colorability of the underlying claims in and of themselves, which I think is important.

So we asked for leave to amend from the Court. And what they want us to do, Your Honor, is they want to sanction us for asking. They're saying asking for leave to amend is the same thing as pursuing a claim. And I'll get to the specifics on that in a little bit. But that's the frame. Can we be sanctioned for asking a court, any court, even if it's the wrong court, for permission to bring the lawsuit? They don't cite a single case that says that that, in and of itself, is sanctionable conduct, us asking.

So I'd like to introduce some of the Respondents.

Your Honor, may I have one of these waters?

THE COURT: Certainly.

MR. SBAITI: Thank you.

THE COURT: That's why they're there, by the way.

MR. SBAITI: I didn't know if they belonged to somebody else.

THE COURT: We've scattered water bottles around for people.

MR. SBAITI: I appreciate it. Thank you, Your Honor.

THE COURT: So if you see these little ones, that's for anyone.

MR. SBAITI: So, this is an org chart, and you'll see it as -- the exhibits that the Debtor's going to bring up. And when we talk about the DAF, Your Honor -- I don't know if that's visible to you. We're on Slide 19, if you're looking at it on paper. There's a little number at the lower right-hand corner. The charitable DAF GP, LLP and then the Charitable DAF Holdco, Ltd. together are the principles of the Charitable DAF Fund, LP. And so when we refer to the DAF or the Charitable DAF, that's really the entity structure that we're referring to. And then the GP and Holdco Ltd. have a managing member. It used to be Grant Scott at the time this was done. Today, it's Mr. Mark Patrick, who's in the room, sitting next to Mr. Bridges.

The DAF is a charitable fund. It's funded over $32 million, as the evidence will show, including Dallas-Fort Worth organizations, The Family Place, Dallas Children's Advocacy, Center for Brain Health, the Crystal Ray Initiative, Friends of the Dallas Police, Snowball Express, various community and education initiatives, Dallas Arts, museums, the Perot Museum, Dallas Zoo. That evidence is undisputed, Your Honor. The DAF is a real fund. It is a real charitable fund. It does real good in the community.

Now, Respondents -- Holdco, which you will see at the bottom of that chart, is essentially the investment arm. There are assets that the DAF owns in various pots, and Holdco is the actual business engine that generates the money from those assets that then -- that then gets passed up to the charitable -- the four charitable foundations at the top.

I'll go back to Slide 21. And if you look at the top, Your Honor, the Dallas Foundation, Greater Kansas City Community, Santa Barbara Foundation, The Community Foundation of North Texas: Those are the charities that then themselves bestow the funds onto the actual recipients. So the money flows up as dividends or distributions, and then gets contributed.

CLO Holdco invests those assets, and it's an important part of the business model, so that you're not sending out principal. It's the money that CLO makes, the profits, if you will, that it is able to generate that gets donated and makes its way into the community.

So there's an important feature to the structure in that it has to be able to generate money. It's not just money that sits there and waits to be distributed. There's active investing going on.

Mr. Mark Patrick owns the control shares of the entities comprising the DAF and CLO Holdco, as I showed you, and the beneficiary charitable foundations hold what we call beneficial interests, where they just get money. They don't have a vote.

Mr. Patrick cares about the public service the DAF engages in. He's been an advisor to the DAF, CLO Holdco, and its predecessor, Mr. Scott, since its inception. He receives no compensation for the job he's doing today. And you'll hear how he became -- how he inured to the control position of the DAF and CLO Holdco from him, but it doesn't involve Mr. Dondero, and the absence of someone saying that it did, I think, is going to be striking by the end of the presentation of evidence.

Their only argument against you, Your Honor, is going to be you just can't believe them. But not believing witnesses is not a substitute for the lack of affirmative evidence.

Mr. Patrick has said all along he authorized the filing of the motion for leave to add Mr. Seery to the lawsuit in District Court. He doesn't believe the motion to amend violated this Court's orders, for the reasons stated in our responsive filings to the motions for contempt and show cause order. That's why he authorized it.

My firm, Sbaiti & Company, we're a small Dallas litigation boutique retained by the DAF and CLO Holdco to file the lawsuit. We did an investigation. I'm tickled to death that

Mr. Morris loved our complaint so much and gave us the compliment that we got it done in a short amount of time, but we did get it done in a short amount of time, because, in the end, it's a rather simple issue, as I was able to lay it out in about three or four bullet points in a previous slide.

The written aspect of that doesn't take that long, as Your Honor knows, but the idea that there's a suspicion that we didn't write it or someone else wrote it and ghost-wrote it and gave it to us, which I think is the insinuation he was making, is completely unfounded. There's no evidence of that.

We carefully read Your Honor's orders. We developed a good-faith basis, as required by Rule 11, that the lawsuit and the motion to add Mr. Seery were not filed in bad faith or for an improper purpose. We don't think they're frivolous. We don't think they're in violation of Your Honor's orders, given the current state of the law.

Mr. Dondero is one of the settlors of the CRT, of the Charitable Remainder Trust that ultimately provided assets to CLO Holdco and the DAF. He does care about the DAF's mission. I think Mr. Morris hit the nail on the head. Of course Mr. Dondero cares about what happens to it. He's one of the settlors, and it was his funds that initially were put into it, so he's allowed to care. And I don't think him caring is insidious, and him caring doesn't mean he has control and doesn't mean he's the driving force behind some insidious conspiracy that they're trying to insinuate exists.

He is an advisor to the DAF and CLO Holdco. It is a lot of money and it needs advice, and he's an advisor to Mr. Patrick. We don't run away from any of those facts, Your Honor.

We also don't run away from the fact that he was the source of some of the information that came in to that complaint and that he relayed some of that information. The content, we do claim work product privilege and attorney-client privilege, because he's an agent of our client, and as lawyers doing an investigation, the content of our communications is protected under the attorney-client and work product privileges, as well as the joint interest privilege. But the fact that we admit that those communications happened, we're not running away from that fact.

So, what does he have to do with this? It's interesting that that opening argument you just heard spent about three minutes on contempt and the other fourteen or fifteen minutes or so on Mr. Dondero. And only on Mr. Dondero. There's a negative halo effect, I believe, that they're trying to get this Court to abide by. They want to inflame Your Honor and hopefully capture -- cultivate and then capitalize on whatever antipathy you might have for Mr. Dondero, and then sweep us all in under that umbrella and sanction everybody just because he had some involvement.

But whatever involvement he has, which we admit he had some involvement in helping us marshal the facts, that's not a basis for us to be sanctioned if there isn't an actual sanctionable conduct that -- as we say there isn't.

We think there's an ulterior motive. That's why Mr. Morris just announced to Your Honor, Mr. Dondero controls it all. The ulterior motive, I believe, is, down the line, when they want to argue some kind of alter ego theory, they want to lay that foundation here. I don't think this is the appropriate time for that foundation, and I don't think any of the information and the evidence they're trying to marshal in front of you is really going to be relevant to the very specific question that's before Your Honor: Does our motion asking the District Court to add Mr. Seery violate your order, or violate it in a way that can be -- that we can be sanctioned for? We don't believe it violates it.

So, the three core standards that have to be met. First of all, civil contempt requires a valid, enforceable order. It's not debatable and it's not -- I don't think that's a shocking statement. Then they have to have clear and convincing evidence of a violation of a specific unambiguous term therein. Mr. Morris wants his version of the word pursue to be unambiguous, and I think the word pursue is unambiguous. But the way he wants you to construe it makes it completely ambiguous, and we'll -- I'll get to that in a moment.

Now, for sanctioning counsel, the Fifth Circuit has held you have to find bad faith. We're adjudged under a slightly separate standard under the Fifth Circuit law. So the contempt motion, though, to the extent it seeks to impose double and treble attorney's fees, those are in punitive fines. They are not compensatory. So criminal contempt standards are raised, and so they have to show a violation in bad faith. In other words, our arguments that we're making have to be bad faith, not simply that we're wrong, and they have to show beyond a reasonable doubt, usually in front of a jury. The U.S. Supreme Court explained the difference and the different procedural protections that have to be involved if they're really going to seek double and treble compensatory damages.

Now, he's right. Saying we intended -- saying that we didn't mean to violate it isn't necessarily a defense. But what you're actually going to hear from him is the opposite argument, that even though we didn't violate it, we wanted to. That's what he says. That's why he quoted you the opening section of our motion asking for permission to sue Mr. Seery, because that's a statement of purpose. And he says you should sanction them right there. That's literally what he said. It's right there, their purpose. If intent is irrelevant to them, it's irrelevant as to us. The fact that we wanted to sue Seery is fully admitted. We don't deny the fact that we believe Mr. Seery should be a defendant in this lawsuit. But the fact that we didn't sue him is why we didn't violate the order. And they can't say that the fact that we eventually wanted to sue him means we did violate the order. That door swings both ways, Your Honor.

We don't think any element is met. The order, while writ large, prohibits suing Mr. Seery without permission, and we did not sue James Seery, pure and simple. The July 12 -- 14th, 2020 order purports to reserve exclusively to this Court that which, according to the statutes and the case law, we believe the Court can't exclusively reserve to itself. And Your Honor, the order prohibits commencing and pursuing a claim against Jim Seery without coming here first to decide the colorability of such a claim.

They, I believe, admit that we didn't commence a claim against Jim Seery. I think they've admitted that now. So now we're talking about what does pursue mean? We didn't pursue a claim against Jim Seery. Is asking for leave to bring suit the same thing as pursuing a claim? That's the question that's really before Your Honor. Lawyers never talk of pursuing a claim that hasn't been filed. We don't say, I'm pursuing a claim and I'm going to file it next week or next year. Usually, that type of language is in an order, because when the order happens, there may already be claims against Mr. Seery. And so the pursuit of claim is supposed to attack those cases, to come here and show colorability, presumably, before they continue on with those lawsuits. It doesn't mean asking for permission.

If it did mean asking for permission, then complying with Your Honor's order would be a violation. If the motion for leave is a violation because it is pursuing a claim, if I had filed that motion in this Court, it would still be pursuing a claim without Your Honor's permission. I'd have to get permission just to ask for permission. It puts us in this endless loop of, well, if asking for permission is pursuing a claim, and pursuing a claim is without permission violates the Court's order, we'd always be in violation of the Court's order just for asking, just for following Your Honor's edict.

THE COURT: I'm just, I'm going to interject. You were supposed to, under the order, file a motion in this Court.

MR. SBAITI: I understand that, Your Honor, and I think that we can get to the specifics on why we disagree with how the motion went, Your Honor. We hadn't sued Mr. Seery. So as long as we dealt with the order, which is what our position is, then we don't believe we violated the order.

THE COURT: You think the order was ambiguous, requiring a motion to be filed in the Bankruptcy Court?

MR. SBAITI: Your Honor, what we believe is that the order was ambiguous in terms of whether us asking for permission in the District Court was in and of itself a violation of the order. We don't think it was. Actually, we don't think the order's ambiguous to that extent. The second we file a suit against Mr. Seery and we don't have some resolution of the issue, then I think the question of sanctionability comes in. But we never filed suit, Your Honor.

The Court doesn't say I can't seek permission in the District Court or that we can't go to the District Court with -- which has general jurisdiction over this case, and has jurisdiction, we believe, over the actual case and controversy that's being raised. But the idea of pursuit being a violation of the order, of the letter of that order, is nonsensical under that, it leads to an absurd result, and it's plainly vague and ambiguous, Your Honor.

Asking Judge Boyle or asking a District Court for permission is not a violation of this Court's order, not the way it was written and not -- and I don't even believe it was a violation necessarily of the Court's -- of the language that the Court has. We -- it doesn't unambiguously prevent us from asking the District Court for leave.

The Court's order yesterday, Your Honor, applied this very rule. The TRO -- you said the TRO did not specifically state, Turn your cell phone over. And you denied motion for sanctions on that. That's basically the argument we're making here, Your Honor. We think that was the correct ruling, and we think the same type of ruling applies here.

Your order yesterday also determined that the Court ultimately believes that hiring lawyers to file motions should not be viewed as having crossed the line into contemptuous behavior. That's essentially the argument they want you to buy, that there's somehow a vindictiveness behind this and an insidious plan to violate court orders, Your Honor. We don't have any evidence of that.

THE COURT: Okay. Take the words vindictiveness and insidious out of the equation. That's making things personal, and I don't like that. The key is the literal wording of the order, is it not?

MR. SBAITI: Your Honor, the key, I believe, is the --

THE COURT: No entity may commence or pursue a cause of action of any kind against Mr. Seery relating in any way to his role as the chief executive officer and chief restructuring officer of the Debtor without the Bankruptcy Court first determining, after notice, that such claim or cause of action represents a colorable claim of willful misconduct or gross negligence against Mr. Seery and specifically authorizing such entity to bring such a claim. So I'm trying to understand why you argue that filing a motion asking the District Court for permission is not inconsistent with this order.

MR. SBAITI: Because it's not commencing a claim, Your Honor. It's not commencing a claim against him.

THE COURT: Okay. So is your argument that if Judge Boyle authorizes amendment of the pleading to add Mr. Seery and then you do it, at that point they may have grounds for a motion for contempt, but not yet, because she has not actually granted your motion?

MR. SBAITI: Correct, Your Honor. I mean, in a nutshell. In fact, that's one of -- I think that's probably our next argument. We think, in a sense, this argument is incredibly premature. There is three ways that this -- well, I'd like to address this, so I've got -- I've got a diagram that I think will actually help elucidate what our thought process was.

There's three things she could have done. She could have referred -- referred it to Your Honor, which is what we expected was likely to happen.

THE COURT: But you didn't file a motion for referral of the motion before her.

MR. SBAITI: Well, no, I don't mean in respect of enforcing the reference. The referral we thought was most likely going to happen because it's an associated case, and we actually put those orders in front of her, so we expected that those orders would end up -- that the question would ultimately end up in front of Your Honor on that basis.

She could have denied our motion outright, in which case we haven't filed a claim, we haven't violated it, or she could have granted our motion and done one of two things. She could have granted it to the extent that she thought leave would be proper but then referred it down, or she could have decided -- taken the decision as the court with general jurisdiction and simply decided it all on her own. She had all of those options, Your Honor, and none of them results in a claim being commenced or pursued without the leave of this Court, if leave is absolutely necessary, Your Honor. And that's the point that we were trying to make.

Your Honor, the -- there's -- you know, there's no evidence that, absent an order from a court with jurisdiction, that we were going to file a claim against Mr. Seery, that we were going to commence or pursue a claim against Mr. Seery. We were cognizant of Your Honor's order. We considered that. And the reason we filed them the way we did is because, according to the statutes and the case law, this is the type of case that would be subject to a mandatory withdrawal of the reference.

And so there's this paradox that arises, Your Honor. And the paradox that arises is that we show up and immediately go, well, we need to be back in the District Court. So we filed our motion there, and I don't think that was contemptuous, it wasn't intended to be contemptuous of the Court, but we showed the orders to the Court, made the same arguments that we have been making here, that we believe that there's problems with the order, we believe the order oversteps its jurisdiction and maybe is unenforceable, and it's up to that District Court, as it has been in almost all of these other gatekeeper order cases that get filed. None of them result in sanctions, Your Honor. What they result in is a District Court deciding, well, either they refer it or they decide I don't need to refer it. But I don't think that that is the same thing as commencing or pursuing a claim in the end, Your Honor, because all we did was ask for permission, and permission could have been denied or granted or granted in part.

Your Honor, they haven't cited an injury. You've heard the testimony, Your Honor, that they -- the first time they knew we had filed a motion -- which I don't understand why that's the first time they knew we had filed a motion; we told them we were going to file the motion -- was when I forwarded an email saying that it's been denied without prejudice, Your Honor. Well, that means they didn't have to do any work to respond to the motion. They didn't have to do any work to do any of the other things.

And one hundred percent of the damages that they're going to say they incurred is the litigation of this contempt hearing or this sanction motion, as opposed to some other simpler remedy, like going in to Judge Boyle and saying, Your Honor, all that needs to go, which is what they eventually did. But they would have had to incur those costs anyway because they're now moving to enforce the reference. They filed a 12(b)(6). That briefing would have existed regardless of whether or not we had filed our motion, regardless of whether the sanctions hearing had commenced.

Your Honor, I'm going to let my partner, Mr. Bridges, address this part of it, if I could. I think that gets into more of the questions that you asked, and I think he can answer them a lot better than I can.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. SBAITI: Thank you.

THE COURT: That's fine.

MR. BRIDGES: Thank you, Your Honor. And I do want to address pointedly the questions that you're asking. First, though, I was hoping to back up to some preliminary remarks that you made and say that I find the 200 orders a week just mindboggling. It amazes me, and puts the entire hearing in a different perspective for me. I'm grateful that you shared that with us.

Your expression of regret about naming us violators was very meaningful to me. It causes me -- well, the strong words in our brief were mine. I wrote them. And your expression of regret causes me to regret some of those words. I'm hopeful that you can understand, at least in part, our reaction out of concern.

And Your Honor, it's awkward for me to talk about problems with your order, and that's the task that's come to me, to list and talk through four of them and why we think they put us in a really awkward position in deciding what to do in this case, in the filing of it, in where we filed it, and in how we sought leave to go forward against Mr. Seery. That was awkward and difficult for us, and I'm hopeful that I can explain that and that you'll understand, if I'm blunt about problems with the order, that I mean it very respectfully. Two hundred orders a week is still very difficult for me to get my mind around.

The four issues in the order start with the gatekeeping. Then, secondly, in the preliminary remarks, I made mention of the Applewood case and the notice that the order releases some claims. Its effect of --

THE COURT: And by the way, I mean, you might elaborate on the facts and holding of Applewood, because I came into this thinking Republic Supply v. Shoaf, and for that matter, as I said, Espinosa, were much more germane. And so, you know, you'll have to elaborate on Applewood. I remember that case, but it's just not one people cite as frequently as those two.

MR. BRIDGES: Yes, Your Honor. And our reply brief devotes a page to the case, and I'm hopeful that I can remember it well enough to give you what you're looking for about it, but I would point you to our reply brief on that topic as well.

The Shoaf case that Applewood quotes from and distinguishes and expressly limits, the Shoaf case actually has been cautioned and limited and distinguished numerous times, if you Shepardize it, and the Applewood case is the leading case, and it also is from the Fifth Circuit, that describes and cabins the effects of Shoaf. And in Applewood, what happened is a bankruptcy confirmation order became final with releases in it, and the court held that exculpatory orders in a final order from the Bankruptcy Court do not have res judicata effect and do not release claims unless those claims are enumerated in the exculpatory order. And --

THE COURT: Okay. So it was about specificity more than anything else, right?

MR. BRIDGES: Yes, Your Honor. It was a --

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. BRIDGES: -- a blanket release, a blanket --

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. BRIDGES: -- exculpatory order that didn't specify what claims were released by what parties, and therefore the parties didn't have the requisite notice.

In my mind, Your Honor, it's comparable to the Texas

Supreme Court's holdings on what's required in a settlement release in terms of a disclaimer of reliance, --

THE COURT: Okay. But, again, --

MR. BRIDGES: -- that if you aren't --

THE COURT: -- it's about specificity --

MR. BRIDGES: Yes, Your Honor.

THE COURT: -- more than anything else? And then we've got the U.S. Supreme Court Espinosa case subsequent.

MR. BRIDGES: Okay. Your Honor, I'm not sure what Espinosa you're referring to. Can you tell me why that applies?

THE COURT: Well, it was a confirmation order. It was in a Chapter 13 context. And there were provisions that operated to discharge student loan debt, --

MR. BRIDGES: Uh-huh.

THE COURT: -- which, of course, cannot be discharged without a 523 action, a separate adversary proceeding. Nevertheless, the confirmation order operated to do what 523 suggests you cannot do, discharge student loan debt through a plan confirmation order.

The U.S. Supreme Court says, well, that's unfortunate that the confirmation order did something which it doesn't look like you can do, but no one ever objected or appealed. That's my recollection of Espinosa. So it seems to be the same holding as Republic Supply v. Shoaf. And what I -- why I asked you to elaborate on Applewood is because it does seem to deal with the specificity of the order versus the enforceability, no?

MR. BRIDGES: Your Honor, if it's not obvious already, I'm not prepared to argue Espinosa. And your explanation of it is very helpful to me. I think you're right that the specificity issue from Applewood is what we're relying on. And it sounds like --

THE COURT: Okay. So, that being the case, how was this order not specific? Okay?

MR. BRIDGES: That's easy, Your Honor, because it doesn't say which parties are releasing which claims. And what we're talking specifically about there -- as we go through the order, I can show you the language -- but what we're talking about specifically are the ordinary negligence and breach of fiduciary duty claims that your order doesn't provide for at all. Rather, it says colorability of gross negligence or willful wrongdoing, if I remember the words precisely, that's what must be shown to pursue a case -- a cause of action against Mr. Seery, thereby -- thereby indicating that claims for mere negligence, not gross negligence, or breach of fiduciary duty, which is an even lesser standard, that those claims are prohibited entirely.

And by having that kind of general all-encompassing release or exculpation for potential liability involving negligence, and most importantly, fiduciary duty breach under the Advisers Act, that that kind of exculpation under Applewood is not enforceable and has no res judicata effect because it wasn't -- those claims weren't enumerated in the order.

That for it to have the intended exculpatory effect, if that was what was intended, that the fiduciary duty claims and the parties who those claims may belong to would have to have been enumerated.

And indeed, that kind of specificity, what was required in Applewood, isn't even possible for a claim that hasn't yet occurred for future conduct. It's not possible to enumerate the details, any details, of a future claim, because the underlying act -- if the underlying basis, facts for that claim, haven't yet happened. It's something to happen in the future.

And here, that's what we're dealing with. We're dealing with conduct that took place well after the January and July 2020 orders that had that exculpatory effect. Is -- is that clear?

THE COURT: Understood.

MR. BRIDGES: Thank you, Your Honor. So, the four areas of the order, the four functions that the order does that are problematic to us that led us to do what we have done are the gatekeeping function; the release; the fact that by stating sole jurisdiction, that it had a jurisdiction-stripping effect; and then, finally, jurisdiction asserting, where, respectfully, Your Honor, we think to some extent the order goes beyond what this Court's jurisdiction is. And so that not only claiming exclusive jurisdiction, but claiming jurisdiction over all actions against Mr. Seery, as described in the order, is going too far.

And those are the four issues I want to talk about one at a time, and here -- I went two screens instead of one. There we go. And here's the order. I have numbered the highlights here out of sequence because this is the sequence that I wish to talk about them and that I think their significance to our decision applies.

Before we get into the words of this July 16, 2020 order, I want to mention the January order as well. Although the motion for contempt recites both orders, we don't actually think the January order applies to us, because our lawsuit against Mr. Seery is not about his role as a director at Strand in any way. We didn't make an issue of that, other than in a footnote in our brief, because we don't think that distinction matters much since the orders essentially say the same things.

I'm not sure that it matters whether we have potentially violated one order or two. If Your Honor finds we've violated one, I think we're on the hook regardless. If Your Honor finds that we didn't violate the July order, I don't think you will find that we violated the January order, either. So my focus is on the July order.

The gatekeeping function comes from the preliminary language about commencing or pursuing a claim or cause of action against Mr. Seery. And it says what you want us to do first before bringing such a claim.

The second issue of the release comes a little bit later. It's the colorable claim of willful misconduct or gross negligence language. In other words, because only claims of willful misconduct or gross negligence can pass the bar, can pass muster under this order, that lesser claims -- ordinary negligence and breach of fiduciary duty -- that those claims are released by this order. That's the second argument.

Third is your reference to sole jurisdiction and the effect that that has of attempting to say that other courts, courts of original jurisdiction, do not have jurisdiction because it solely resides here. That's the third thing I want to address.

And then the fourth is the notion that we have to come to this Court first for any action that fits the description of an action against Mr. Seery, when some actions are, through acts of Congress, removed from what this Court has the power to address. Under 157(d) of Title 28, Your Honor, there are some kinds of actions which withdrawal of the reference is mandatory, and therefore this court lacks jurisdiction to address those.

And so those are the four issues I want to tackle, starting with the first, the gatekeeping. Your Honor, Section 28 -- Section 959 of Title 28 appears to be precisely on point. It calls -- it is called by some courts an exception to the Barton Doctrine, which we believe is the only basis, the Barton Doctrine, for this Court to claim that it has jurisdiction or sole jurisdiction and can require us to come here first. We think the Barton Doctrine is the only basis for that. We haven't seen anything in the briefing from opposing counsel indicating there was another basis for it. We think we're talking about the Barton Doctrine here as the basis for that.

959 is exception to the Barton Doctrine, and we think it explicitly authorizes what we have done.

Secondly, Your Honor, the order, the gatekeeping functions of the order are too broad because of its incorporation of the jurisdictional problems and the release problem that we'll talk about later. But for problem number one, the key issue that we're talking about is 959 as an exception to the Barton Doctrine. And I went the wrong way.

THE COURT: So, we could go down a lot of rabbit trails today, and I'm going to try not to do that, but are you saying the very common practice of having gatekeeping provisions in Chapter 11 cases is just defective law under 28 U.S.C. § 959(a)?

MR. BRIDGES: Can I say yes and no?

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. BRIDGES: Yes, to some extent, for some claims. No as to other claims to another extent. We are not saying gatekeeping orders are altogether wrong, --

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. BRIDGES: -- no.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. BRIDGES: There are problems with gatekeeping orders that do more than what the law, Section 959 in particular, allows them to do.

THE COURT: Okay. Be more explicit. I'm not -- I think you're saying, no, except when certain situations exist, but I don't know what the certain situations are.

MR. BRIDGES: And Your Honor, you're exactly right. It's complicated, and it takes a long explanation. Let me start --

THE COURT: Okay. I really want to know, --

MR. BRIDGES: Yeah, me, too.

THE COURT: -- since I do these all the time, and most of my colleagues do.

MR. BRIDGES: Thank you, Your Honor. And 959 is on the screen. Managers of any property --

THE COURT: Uh-huh.

MR. BRIDGES: -- is what we're talking about, including debtors in possession. Now, it starts off by saying trustees, receivers. I mean, this is exactly what the Barton Doctrine is about, right? We're talking about trustees and receivers, but not just them. We're also talking about managers of any property, including debtors in possession, --

THE COURT: Uh-huh.

MR. BRIDGES: -- may be sued without leave of the court appointing that. That's contrary to the Barton Doctrine so far.

With respect to what I've numbered five here -- these numbers are mine -- the quote is directly verbatim out of the U.S. Code, but the numbering one through five is mine. With respect to what acts or transactions in carrying on business connected with such property.

And so, Your Honor, what we're talking about isn't Barton Doctrine is inapplicable, or you can't have a gatekeeping order for any claims, but it's about managers of property. And one of the hornbook examples of this is the grocery store that files for bankruptcy and then, when --

THE COURT: Slip-and-fall.

MR. BRIDGES: You've got it, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Uh-huh.

MR. BRIDGES: And because they're managing property,

--

THE COURT: So your cause of action, if it went forward, is the equivalent of a slip-and-fall --

MR. BRIDGES: Yes, Your Honor.

THE COURT: -- in a grocery store?

MR. BRIDGES: Yes, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Okay. Let me skip ahead. What about the last sentence of 959(a)?

MR. BRIDGES: 959(b)? Or 959(a)?

THE COURT: No, of 959(a).

MR. BRIDGES: What we're looking at here?

THE COURT: That's the sentence that I have always thought was one justification for a gatekeeper provision. And I know, you know, a lot of others feel the same.

MR. BRIDGES: Are we talking about what I have listed in number five here?

THE COURT: No. I'm talking about the last sentence of 959(a). Such actions, okay, shall be subject to the general equity power of such court, you know, meaning the Bankruptcy Court, so far as the same may be necessary to the ends of justice, but this shall not deprive a litigant of his right to a trial by jury.

Isn't that one of the provisions that lawyers sometimes rely on in arguing a gatekeeper provision is appropriate?

MR. BRIDGES: Certain --

THE COURT: You, Bankruptcy Judge, have the power, the general equity power, so far as the same may be necessary to the ends of justice?

MR. BRIDGES: Your Honor, you bet. Absolutely, there is equitable power to do more. There's no doubt that there are reliance -- there is reliance on that in many instances. So I'm not sure -- I'm not sure I'm responding to your point.

THE COURT: Well, again, I think this is the third or fourth argument down the line that really you start with in the analytical framework here, but I guess I'm just saying I always thought a gatekeeping provision was consistent, entirely consistent with 28 U.S.C. § 959(a), the last sentence.

MR. BRIDGES: When you're dealing --

THE COURT: You disagree with that?

MR. BRIDGES: I do, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. BRIDGES: And it's not that the Court lacks equitable powers to do more. It's that those equitable powers are affected by when management of other parties, third parties' property is at issue.

What we're talking about is similar to yesterday's contempt order. When you set the basis of describing what it is that Highland's business is, that they're a registered investment advisor in the business of buying, selling, and managing assets -- assets, of course, are property, and that property is not just Highland's, but it's third-party property, as if a railroad loses luggage belonging to its customers. Rather than the railroad with a trustee appointed having mismanaged railroad property, we're talking about third-party property here, third-party property that belongs to the CLOs, about a billion dollars of assets in these CLO SPEs that Highland manages.

And again, the slide that Mr. Sbaiti showed you showing Highland, yes, they manage their own assets, the assets of the Debtor, but also of the third parties, including the Charitable DAF and CLO Holdco, and that the Advisers Act imposes fiduciary duties on them that are unwaivable when they're doing that.

In Anderson, the Fifth Circuit called 959 an exception to the rule requiring court's permission for leave to sue. In Hoffman v. City of San Diego much more recently, relying on this statute again, the court rejected a Barton challenge and called it a statutory exception. And in Barton itself, from a century ago, the U.S. Supreme Court even acknowledged there that where a receiver misappropriated the property of another -- not the debtor's property, the property of another -- that the receiver could still be sued personally, without leave of court.

Absent Barton, absent applicability of the Barton

Doctrine, Your Honor, the gatekeeper order is problematic.

Barton applies where a court has appointed a trustee, and I don't think, Your Honor, under the circumstances in this case, that it is fair to say Mr. Seery was appointed, as opposed to approved by this Court. And it involves a trustee's actions under the powers conferred on him. The Barton Doctrine is not about a broader exculpation of the trustee.

Here, what the Debtor asked for in its motion for approval, approval of hiring Mr. Seery, what it asked for specifically in the motion was that the Court not interfere with corporate decisions absent a showing of bad faith, self-interest, or gross negligence, and asking the Court to uphold the board's decision to appoint Mr. Seery as the CEO as long as they are attributable to any rationale business purpose.

At the hearing, Your Honor, at the hearing, we've quoted your comments saying that the evidence amply shows a sound business justification and reasonable business judgment on the part of the Debtor in proposing that Mr. Seery be CEO and CRO. Your Honor, respectfully, those words don't sound like the judge using its discretion to choose -- appoint a trustee. They sound like the Court exercising deference to the business judgment of a business. And appropriately so. We don't have trouble with application of the business judgment rule. Our problem is with application of it and the Barton Doctrine.

Those two do not go together. A trustee has protection because it's acting under color of the court that appointed it. A court that merely deferred to someone else's appointment, that's not what the Barton Doctrine is about. The Barton Doctrine is about the court's function that the trustee takes on, not deference to the business judgment of the debtor in possession or the other fiduciary appointed by the court.

Problem one was the gatekeeping. Problem two is about the release and the Applewood case. Your Honor, again, ordinary negligence and ordinary fiduciary duty breaches do not rise to the level of gross negligence and willful misconduct. And because of that, the language of this order appears to be barring them entirely. No entity may bring a lawsuit against Mr. Seery in certain circumstances without the Bankruptcy Court doing what? Determining that the cause of action represents a colorable claim of willful misconduct or gross negligence against Mr. Seery.

A breach of fiduciary duty under the Advisers Act can be unintentional, it can fall short of gross negligence by miles, and to exculpate Mr. Seery from those kinds of claims entirely is to make him no longer a fiduciary. A fiduciary duty that is unenforceable makes someone not a fiduciary. That's plainly not what Mr. Seery thinks his role is. It's inconsistent with the Advisers Act. And Your Honor, the notion that he would not owe his clients fiduciary duties as he manages their assets would require disclosures under the SEC regulations. It creates all kinds of problems to state that a fiduciary under the Advisers Act does not have enforceable fiduciary duties. The order appears to be releasing all of those. But for Applewood's specificity requirement, it would be doing that.

As an asset manager under the Advisers Act, Mr. Seery is managing assets belonging to CLO Holdco and The Charitable DAF. That's precisely what the District Court action is about, those fiduciary duties. And Mr. Seery, in describing these recently in testimony here -- forgive me for reading through this, Your Honor, but it is pretty short -- Mr. Seery testifies, I think, from a high level, the best way to think about the Debtor is that it's a registered investment advisor. As a registered investment advisor, which is really any advisor of third-party money over $25 million, it has to register with the SEC and it manages funds in many different ways. The Debtor manages approximately $200 million current values -- it was more than that of the start of the case -- of its own assets.

I'm pausing there, Your Honor. $200 million of its own assets, but we're about to talk about third-party assets.

It doesn't have to be a registered investment advisor for those assets, but it does manage its own assets, which include directly-owned securities, loans, from mostly related entities but not all, and investments in certain funds, which it also manages.

And then here it comes: In addition, the manager -- the Debtor manages about roughly $2 billion, $2 billion in total managed assets, around $2 billion in CLO assets, and then other entities, which are hedge funds or PE style.

We also had to get a very good understanding of each of the funds that we manage. And as I said, the Investment Advisers Act puts a fiduciary duty on Highland Capital to discharge its duty to the investors. So while we have duties to the estate, we also have duties, as I mentioned in my last testimony, to each of the investors in the funds.

Now, some of them are related parties, and those are a little bit easier. Some of them are owned by Highland. But there are third-party investors in these funds who have no relation whatsoever to Highland, and we owe them a fiduciary duty both to manage their assets prudently but also to seek to manage -- maximize value.

Those duties do not require -- requires the opposite of what I mean. They don't merely require avoiding gross negligence or willful wrongdoing. When you're managing assets of others, the fiduciary duties that you owe are far stricter than that. The highest duty known to law is a fiduciary duty.

The order is inconsistent with that testimony, acknowledging the fiduciary duties owed to The Charitable DAF and to CLO Holdco. It appears to release the Debtor -- maybe not the Debtor. My slide may be wrong about that. It appears to release Seery from having to uphold these duties.

In addition to problems with the gatekeeping under the Barton Doctrine, in addition to the release problem and Applewood and the unwaivable fiduciary duties under the Advisers Act, there's also a problem with telling other courts that they lack jurisdiction. Your Honor knows bankruptcy court law -- bankruptcy -- and the Bankruptcy Code far better than I do, I'm certain. But a first principle, I believe, of bankruptcy law is that this Court's jurisdiction is derivative of the District Court's. And the only doctrine I've heard of that can allow this Court to exercise exclusive jurisdiction of the District Court that it sits in is the Barton Doctrine, which, again, is very problematic to apply in this case, for the reasons we've discussed already.

By claiming to have -- by stating in the order that this Court has sole jurisdiction, it appears to either be inclusive of the District Court, which I understand Your Honor doesn't think her order can be read that way, but if it's not read that way, then it results in telling the District Court that it doesn't have the original jurisdiction that Congress has given it. And that's problematic in the order as well.

THE COURT: Let me ask you. If you think the word

"power" had been used, or "authority," versus "jurisdiction," that would have cured it?

MR. BRIDGES: I think there would still have been other problems. Would it have cured this? I don't think so, Your Honor, because, again, I think the only basis for that power is the Barton Doctrine.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. BRIDGES: To listen to opposing counsel, you'd think that our jurisdictional argument was entirely about the jurisdiction stripping. It's not. Frankly, Your Honor, that's maybe even a lesser point. A key problem here to is the assertion of jurisdiction, not over any of the claims, but over all of the claims, because of 157(d), Your Honor, because some claims, some causes of action, have been put outside the reach of bankruptcy, the Bankruptcy Court, and those actions may in some instances fit within your description of the cases that are precluded here.

That's a problem jurisdictionally with this Court's ability to say it retains jurisdiction or that it has, that it asserts jurisdiction. Over what? Any kind of claim or cause of action against Mr. Seery relating in any way to his role as the chief executive officer and chief restructuring officer of the Debtor.

Some claims that fit into that bucket also fit into the description in 157(d) of cases that require both consideration of bankruptcy law and federal laws affecting interstate commerce or regulating it. Right? Some cases must fall into -- under 157(d), despite having something to do with Mr. Seery's role as a chief executive officer. And Your Honor, the Advisers Act fiduciary duty claims asserted by Respondents in the District Court are such claims. They cannot be decided without considering the Advisers Act.

There are also RICO claims that, of course, require consideration of the RICO statute. But the Advisers Act claims absolutely require consideration of both bankruptcy law and this Court's order exonerating -- exculpating Mr. Seery from some liability, in addition to the unwaivable fiduciary duties imposed by the Advisers Act.

The assertion of jurisdiction here blanketed, in a blanket manner, over all claims against Mr. Seery in any way related to his CEO role is a 157(d) problem that the order has no -- has no solution for and we see no way around. 157(d) requires withdrawal of the reference, makes it mandatory, when a case requires considerations of federal law implicating interstate commerce.

Your Honor, we think we had to do it the way we did, filing in the District Court instead of filing here, in order to preserve our jurisdictional arguments. To come to this Court with a motion and then what? Immediately file a motion to withdraw the reference on our own motion here? To come here and ask for a decision on colorability, when first colorability would exclude the claims that we're trying to bring, at least some of them, the mere negligence, mere fiduciary duty breaches, because they don't rise to the level necessarily of gross negligence or willful wrongdoing.

Your Honor, coming here and asking this Court to rule on that may well have waived our jurisdictional objections. Coming here to this Court and doing that and immediately filing a motion --

THE COURT: I don't get it.

MR. BRIDGES: The ordinary --

THE COURT: Subject matter jurisdiction, if it's a problem, it's not waivable.

MR. BRIDGES: The ordinary issue -- the ordinary waiver rule, Your Honor, is that when you come and ask for a court to rule on something, that you waive your right to -- to later -- you're estopped judicially from taking the contrary position.

THE COURT: Okay. Well, again, I don't get it. If you filed your motion and I ruled in a way you didn't like, you would appeal to the District Court.

MR. BRIDGES: Yes, Your Honor. An appeal to the District Court, we would be entitled to do. I understand, no matter what happens here, we can appeal to the District Court. That's different from whether or not, by coming here first, have we waived or have we created an estoppel situation, in terms of arguing jurisdiction.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. BRIDGES: Because of the problems with the order, we thought we were in a situation where coming here would waive rights that we could avoid waiving by asking in the District Court.

In other words, there was a jurisdictional paradox: How does a party ask a court to do something it believes the court lacks the power to do? That's the spot we found ourselves in. What were we supposed to do?

Your Honor, it is definitely a complex case. And coming into this matter with over 2,000 filings on the docket before I had ever heard of Highland was a very daunting thing, coming into this case. And whether or not there's something that we missed is certainly possible, but these orders that are the subject of the contempt motion, these orders are not things that we overlooked. These are things that we studied carefully, that we did not ignore or have disdain for, but that affected and changed our actions.

And in the Slide #3 from Mr. Morris's -- from Mr. Morris's presentation, in his third slide, he quotes from the first page of our motion for leave, the motion that he says exhibits our contemptuous behavior.

The second paragraph is kind of tiny print there, Your Honor, and it's not highlighted, but I'd like to read it. Seery is not named in the original complaint, but this is only out of an abundance of caution due to the Bankruptcy Court in HCM's pending Chapter 11 proceeding having issued an order prohibiting the filing of any causes of action against Seery in any way related to his role at HCM, subject to certain prerequisites. In that order, the Bankruptcy Court also asserts sole jurisdiction over all such causes of action.

Your Honor, our intent was not to violate the order. Our intent was to be cautious about how we proceeded, to fully disclose what we were doing, and to do it in a District Court that absolutely could refer the matter here to this Court for a decision, but to do it in a way that didn't waive our jurisdictional arguments, that didn't waive our arguments regarding the release of the very claims we were trying to bring, by first having to prove that they were colorful claims of willful misconduct or gross negligence, when we were trying to assert claims that weren't willful negligence or gross -- gross negligence or willful misconduct. That was what I was trying to say.

Your Honor, this was not disregard of your order. If we're wrong on the law, we're wrong on the law, but it's not that we disregarded your order or lacked respect for it. We disclosed it.

Mr. Morris has argued in the briefs that we attempted to do this on an ex parte basis. Your Honor, we did not attempt to do this on an ex parte basis. And if there are errors, they probably are mine. I know one error is mine. On the civil cover sheet in the filing in the District Court, I noted and passed on that we should check the box for related case and list this case on there. I did not follow up to make sure that it happened, and administratively, it didn't happen. We did not check the box on the civil cover sheet. Mr. Morris is correct that we failed to do that. He's incorrect that that was sneaky or intentional. It was my error, having noticed it but not followed up.

Your Honor, similarly, the argument that we didn't serve them with the motion I think is disingenuous. What happened, Your Honor, is that counsel for the Debtor had agreed to accept service of the complaint itself against the Debtor before the motion for leave, and after accepting service, I was under the impression that they'd be monitoring the docket, especially when I emailed them, informed them that we were filing the motion for leave to amend, because I was required to submit a certificate of conference on that motion. I informed them in a polite email. The polite email is not quoted in their brief. It is included in the record, and it's quoted in full in our brief.

The email exchange indicates to them, Thank you for pointing out the Court's orders. We've carefully studied them and we don't think what we're doing is a violation of those orders.

That we didn't serve them is because we thought they already knew that the motion was coming and would be monitoring the docket, and we didn't know which lawyers they were going to have make an appearance in that case, so we wouldn't have known who to serve. But if not serving them -- first, the Rules do not require that service. But if not serving them out of politeness --

THE COURT: Mr. Morris is standing up. Did --

MR. MORRIS: I move to strike all of this, Your Honor. If Counsel wants to take the stand and raise his hand, he should testify under oath. I'm just going to leave it at that. He's not on their witness list.

THE COURT: All right. I overrule. You can continue.

MR. BRIDGES: Thank you, Your Honor.

If failure to serve them was an error, it was mine. I know of no rule that requires it.

THE COURT: Can I ask you, you were talking about the cover sheet mistake in not checking the box. What about your jurisdictional statement in the actual complaint not mentioning 28 U.S.C. § 1334 as a possible basis for subject matter jurisdiction? Do you think that was a mistake as well, or was that purposeful, not necessary?

MR. BRIDGES: Candidly, Your Honor, standing here right now, I have no recollection whatsoever of it.

THE COURT: You mention 28 U.S.C. § 1331, and then 1367 supplemental jurisdiction, but you don't mention 1334.

MR. BRIDGES: I suspect it's true, but Mr. Sbaiti would have written that.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. BRIDGES: I have no recollection of --

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. BRIDGES: -- making any decision at all --

THE COURT: All right.

MR. BRIDGES: -- with regards to that.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. BRIDGES: Your Honor, you've been very patient with a very long opening argument, and I'm very grateful for that. Please know that we take this Court's order seriously. We voluntarily appeared here before the Court ordered us to do so by filing our motion asking for a modification of the order we're accused now of having been in violation of.

And the last thing I'd like to say, Your Honor, Mr. Morris's brief claims that the first he knew of the motion, the motion seeking leave to add Mr. Seery to the District Court claim, the first he knew of that was when Mr. Sbaiti forwarded him the District Court's order dismissing that motion, denying that motion without prejudice.

Your Honor, in a civil contempt proceeding, where the issue is compensating, not punishing, if the aggrieved party didn't even know about the action until it had been denied by the District Court, we submit that there can be no harm from that having taken place.

That's all I have for opening. Thank you, Your Honor.

THE COURT: All right. Thank you.

Before we give you a time check, do we have other opening statements?

MR. ANDERSON: Yes. Yes, Your Honor. Michael Anderson on behalf of Mr. Patrick. If we need to take a break, that's fine, too.

THE COURT: Well, how long do you plan to use?

MR. ANDERSON: No more than ten minutes, for sure.

THE COURT: Let's go ahead and do that, and then we'll take a break.

MR. POMERANTZ: Your Honor, after, I would ask the opportunity to respond to Mr. Bridges' argument. Probably another ten minutes.

THE COURT: All right. Let's go ahead and take a ten-minute break. And Mr. Taylor, you're going to have something, because you --

MR. TAYLOR: Five.

THE COURT: Okay. We'll take a ten-minute break. And Nate, can you give them a time?

THE CLERK: I'm showing it was about 59-1/2 minutes.

THE COURT: Fifty-nine and a half? And is that subtracting some for my questioning?

THE CLERK: I stopped whenever you talked, maybe a little over --

THE COURT: Okay. So he stopped it whenever I asked questions and you answered, so 59 minutes has been used by the Respondents.

All right. We'll take a ten-minute break. We'll come back at 11:35.

THE CLERK: All rise.

(A recess ensued from 11:25 a.m. to 11:37 a.m.)

THE COURT: All right. We're going back on the record in the Highland matter. We have further opening statements. Counsel, you may proceed.

OPENING STATEMENT ON BEHALF OF MARK PATRICK, RESPONDENT

MR. ANDERSON: Thank you. May it please the Court, Counsel. Michael Anderson on behalf of Respondent, Mark Patrick.

Your Honor, after listening to this and looking at the filings in this case, this issue of whether there's contempt -- and I would argue there's not -- is ripe for decision. We have no real undisputed facts for purposes of the contempt issue. We have your Court's July order, the subject of Mr. Bridge's arguments. We have the Plaintiffs in the underlying lawsuit at issue. They commenced the lawsuit in April of this year. There's absolutely nothing improper about that filing. It's not subject to the contempt. A week later, there is a motion for leave to add Mr. Seery. That's the issue. There's no dispute over that. There's no dispute that Mr. Patrick authorized the filing of the motion for leave.

And so then the question becomes we look at the Court's July order, did a motion for leave, did that violate the terms of the order? The motion for leave is not commencing a lawsuit. It's also not pursuing a claim, because whether or not the Court grants the motion, denies the motion, or whatever the Court does, nothing happened, because the day after the motion for leave was filed it was dismissed sua sponte without prejudice because not all parties had been served in the case.

It was permission asked one day. The matter was mooted the following day by the District Court. And so that is completely undisputed.

And so the question is, is asking permission, is that commence? I think everybody says there's no way that's commencing a lawsuit because you have asked permission. The question, then, is it pursuing a claim? And the argument, well, no, that's not pursuing a claim; it's asking permission.

And I think it's also important to note that when the motion for leave was filed, there were no secrets there. I mean, I'm coming in this after the fact, representing Mr. Patrick. You look at a motion for leave, and right there on Page 1 it talks about Your Honor's order. Page 2, it quotes the order and it gives the reasons, there's arguments being made as to why that order doesn't bar adding Mr. Seery as a defendant in the lawsuit, many of the arguments that Mr. Bridges made.

So that's where we are. And so when I hear, hey, we've got six hours, three hours and three hours, and we're going to split this up, you know, maybe too simplistic from Fort Worth, but I'm like, wait a second, this is all undisputed. It's totally undisputed. The -- whether or not the prior order is enforceable or not enforceable, those are all legal arguments. You know, no witnesses are necessary for that. And as I understood, right before we broke, counsel stood up and he's going to do what generally doesn't happen in opening statements, which is respond to opening statements, which shows that that's a legal issue.

And so it really does come down to undisputed facts. There's no testimony. No -- nothing is necessary. And a lot of what this comes down to is the old statement, you know, is it better to ask forgiveness or permission? And usually that statement comes up when somebody has already done something: Hey, I'm going to go do it anyway and I'll ask for forgiveness later. Well, what the Plaintiffs in the underlying case did was ask permission. Motion for leave. That is not contemptuous. And there's literally no damages. As was pointed out, by the time counsel found out, it had already been dismissed.

The last thing I want to point out, Your Honor, is that the argument from opposing counsel was, well, under Rule 15 of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, since parties hadn't answered yet, the Plaintiffs in the underlying case could have just simply added Mr. Seery as a defendant and moved on that way, but then that would be another ball of wax and then we would be addressing issues as far as whether or not there is a violation of the Court's order, notwithstanding Mr. Bridge's arguments. But then we would have those issues. But that's not what happened. Everybody knows that's not what happened. It was a motion for leave that was resolved the following day.

And so, Your Honor, for those reasons, and those undisputed reasons, we would request that the Court at the end of this hearing deny the request for sanctions and a contempt finding against our client, Mr. Patrick.

Mr. Phillips is going to address one brief issue bankruptcy-wise I believe that was raised earlier.

THE COURT: Okay. Mr. Phillips?

MR. PHILLIPS: Your Honor, thank you very much. Louis M. Phillips on behalf of Mark Patrick.

The only thing that I would point out, Your Honor, and I'm going to do -- try to simplistically, because that's about the level at which I operate, boil down the questions about the order.

This order was an employment order. The problem that Mr. Bridges has elucidated to Your Honor is that the precise effect, one of the precise effects of that order is to bar the claims of third parties that arise into the future on the basis of the employment of Mr. Seery, because the order required that all claims asserting gross negligence or willful misconduct need to be brought before you to determine that they're colorable.

One question I have is, does it apply to the lawsuit that was filed? Doesn't apply unless the effect of the order was to release those claims and preclude any party from bringing those claims at all. And while you can say correctly that this Court issues gatekeeper orders all of the time, one thing I cannot imagine that you would say is that in employment orders you release claims of third parties existing and as may arise in the future that could be brought against the party employed to be a CRO of a debtor, who, by his own testimony, says we do all kinds of stuff in the billions of dollars for third parties that we owe fiduciary duties to.

There's no way, Your Honor, that you were considering your July order to bar third-party claims arising from breach of fiduciary duties by Mr. Seery to third parties who held third-party claims that did not involve some assertion that, in his capacity as CRO, he was in some way acting within the scope of his authority as CRO for the Debtor and yet committed negligence against the Debtor.

Now, if the order was asserting that you know what a lot of people in this courtroom know, that the standard of liability for a CRO doing work for a debtor, just like the standard of liability for the president of a corporation or an officer of the corporation, is as long as you're within the course and scope of your employment, your actions for the corporation have -- can -- the corporation takes care of you because there's no personal claim unless you're outside the scope, and you're outside the scope if you commit gross negligence or willful misconduct.

That, if you're restating the standard of care and standard of liability for a CRO, we have no problem with that, because Mr. Patrick did not authorize a cause of action arising against Mr. Seery against the Debtors for damage to the Debtors. He authorized the filing of a complaint in the District Court with jurisdiction for a third-party claim for breach of a fiduciary duty to a third party that Mr. Seery admits he owes, and then sought leave because they didn't understand the order that Your Honor issued. It couldn't have been to release the breach of fiduciary duty claims that wouldn't rise to gross negligence or willful misconduct, it couldn't be that, but it might be. But if it did, under an employment order? That's very different from Espinosa, that's very different from Shoaf, when you're at the end of a case in a confirmation of a plan and you're talking about matters arising in the past.

This order, if it has the effect it could be read to have, precludes any third party from asserting a breach of fiduciary duty against Seery for actions that violate the duty to that third party, when Seery's biggest job, it looks to us like, is running third-party money. That could not have been what Your Honor was thinking.

And so all I'm pointing out is I'm trying to distill down. The lawsuit doesn't involve gross negligence or willful misconduct allegations. It involves breach of fiduciary duty, breach of the Advisers Act, et cetera, et cetera. Mr. Patrick authorized that lawsuit.

Now, what we're here for today is to determine whether the complaint, which was not against the Debtor -- which was not against Seery, the motion for leave, which did not -- all they did was ask for permission, not forgiveness. And we can't understand how the Debtor should be saying, all they had to do was amend. Well, if they amended, would we be in hotter water than we are today for asking for permission to sue? I think we would have been, that should have been the prescribed course, when we are more concerned and we are more risk-averse by asking for leave rather than just amending by right. Absolutely, that makes no sense. We can't be held to be more contemptuous because we asked for permission, when we could have just sued him, because they're saying asking for permission was wrong. Certainly, suing him would have been wrong. That would have been easier.

THE COURT: But Mr. Phillips, the issue is you all didn't come to the Bankruptcy Court and ask permission.

MR. PHILLIPS: Look at your order, Your Honor.

THE COURT: It's right in front of me.

MR. PHILLIPS: Right. That order either doesn't apply to the claims that were brought or it released the claims that were brought. That's our point. It couldn't have released them. Does it apply to them? Thank you.

THE COURT: Okay. Mr. Taylor?

MR. TAYLOR: Good morning.

THE COURT: Good morning.

OPENING STATEMENT ON BEHALF OF JAMES DONDERO

MR. TAYLOR: Your Honor, Clay Taylor on behalf of Jim Dondero. I'll be very brief because I know we've already spent a lot of time on opening argument. But I do think it is appropriate to, one, first look at who brought the lawsuit, CLO Holdco & DAF. That was authorized -- it's undisputed it was authorized by Mr. Patrick. There is no dispute about that. There's no dispute who the Plaintiffs are. But yet my client is up here as an alleged violator.

I think it's very clear, as all the parties have said, there's no dispute as to there's an order, there was a complaint, and there was a motion for leave.

It seems to me that the rest of the evidentiary hearing that you may be about to go through is going to be about pin the blame on Mr. Dondero. It is undisputed that he is not a control person for the DAF or CLO Holdco. The only type of evidence you will hear is going to be insinuation that he somehow controls Mr. Patrick and used to control Mr. Scott. There will be no direct evidence that he authorized this or that he's the control person and the proper corporate authorized representative that signed off on the --

It seems to me, Your Honor, first of all, that's a discrete issue that should be able to be decided separately from this, and the first gating issue is, was there indeed a violation of this Court's order? It would seem to me that there is no disputes about those facts and that we should bifurcate that, and if you then find that there is a violation and find that there is any even need to move into who the alleged violators are, that then we could have that evidentiary portion. But there is no reason to do that now before there's even been found to be a violation.

THE COURT: All right. Thank you.

All right. Well, someone made the point rebuttals in opening statements are not very common, --

MR. POMERANTZ: Your -- Your --

THE COURT: -- but you can use your three hours however you want.

OPENING STATEMENT ON BEHALF OF THE DEBTOR

MR. POMERANTZ: Your Honor, I didn't intend to stand up.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. POMERANTZ: I also didn't intend to have the motion to modify the sealing order presented to Your Honor, which it was in the course of that opening argument. And despite your comments at the beginning of the hearing, the Movants have taken Your Honor down a series of rabbit holes that have really no relevance to the contempt motion. And notwithstanding, as I said, your ruling that basically the contempt would go first and the modification would go second, there they were, persistent in making all the arguments why this Court should modify the order.

They're just really trying to obfuscate the simple issue that Mr. Morris presented and raised at the beginning of the hearing: Did they violate the order by pursuing a claim? We think the answer is undoubtedly yes.

I'm not going to try to address each of the issues they raised in connection with the modification motion in detail. I have a lengthy presentation. I'll do it at the appropriate time. But there are a few issues I want to address. I want to address one of the last points Mr. Bridges raised first. If they thought that the order was a problem, they could have filed their motion to modify that order before Your Honor. They could have had that heard first. There was no statute of limitations issue in connection with the HarbourVest matter. They could have come to Your Honor to do that. But no, they didn't. They went to the District Court first, and it was only after we filed our contempt motion that they came back and said, well, Your Honor, you should modify the order. Their argument that if they did that there would have been waiver and estoppel is just an after-the-fact justification for what they did and what they tried to do, which was unsuccessful. They tried to have the District Court make the decision.

And why? Your Honor, they've filed motions to recuse before Your Honor. They -- they -- it's no secret the disdain they have for Your Honor's rulings as it relates to them. They wanted to be out of this courtroom and in another courtroom.

And their belated argument, Mr. Bridges falling on the sword, that they failed to check the box, inadvertent, it's on me, it's very curious. Because if they had done so and had referred to the correct 1334 jurisdictional predicate, as Your Honor had mentioned, the complaint would have been referred to this Court and the entire trajectory of the proceedings would have been different. They would have had the opportunity to take their shot to go to District Court and argue that your order didn't apply.

Your Honor, they say the January 9th order is not relevant. It is entirely relevant. It covered the independent directors and their agents. Yes, Mr. Seery is an independent director, but he was also an agent of the independent directors and carried out the duties. You heard argument at the July 16th hearing that Mr. Seery had been acting as the chief executive officer for several months. And why is it important? Mr. Bridges said, well, if we violated one order, we violated the other. It's important because, Your Honor, number one, Mr. Dondero supported that order. We would never have had an independent board in this case if Mr. Dondero, the decision-making -- of the Debtor at that time, supported that order and supported the exculpations that are now claimed to have been invalid.

And also Your Honor heard testimony at the confirmation hearing that the independent directors would never have taken this job, would never have taken this job because of the potential for litigation, litigation that we've now had to endure for several months. So to come back 16 months later and say, well, you know, you couldn't really exculpate them, it's really an employment order: It was an employment order.

They know it. We know it. Your Honor knows it. It was a resolution of corporate governance issues that changed the whole trajectory of the case, and luckily it -- luckily, Your Honor approved it.

The question just is whether they violated the order, period. And I'll have a lot to say about res judicata, but I won't go in too much in detail, but I will just briefly address their arguments. They're correct and the Court is correct that there's a difference between Applewood and Shoaf. And Your Honor got the exact difference. In one case, a release was not specific, Applewood. In one case it was. Shoaf hasn't been discredited by Applewood. It was different facts. In fact, Shoaf relied on two Supreme Court cases, the Stoll case and the Chicot case, both for the propositions that a court that enters an order, a clear order, even if it didn't have jurisdiction, that cannot be attacked in res judicata. So here what we have is clear, unambiguous, you come to this Court before commencing or pursuing a claim. That's the clarity. The focus on the releases, that's not what we're here for today, that's not what we're here for on a contempt motion, on whether the release covered them or it didn't cover them. We're here on the clear issue of did they violate the language, and we submit that they did.

And similarly, Espinosa applies. Your Honor, just to quote some language, "Appellees could have moved to remand the action to state court after it improperly -- after its improper removal to the federal court or challenge the district court's exercise in jurisdiction on direct appeal. Because they did neither, they are now barred by principles of res judicata."

Res judicata actually does apply, and I will speak about it in much more detail in the modification motion.

With respect to Barton, Your Honor, we disagree with their argument that Mr. Seery is not a court-appointed agent. We've briefed it extensively in our motion to modify. Barton applies to debtors in possession. Barton applies to general partners of the debtor. Barton applies to chief restructuring orders -- officers who are approved by the debtor. And it applies to general counsel who are appointed by the chief restructuring order. Officer.

So the argument that Barton is somehow inapplicable is just wrong. Your Honor knows that. Your Honor has written extensively on Barton in connection with your Ondova opinion.

Some of the argument about 959 is all wrong, as well. Your Honor got it right that 959 applies to slip-and-fall cases or torts, injuries to parties that are strangers to this process. There is a legion of cases that I will cite to Your Honor in connection with argument. 959 does not apply here. There's nothing more core to this case than the transactions surrounding the resolution of the HarbourVest claims.

We also disagree, Your Honor, that the complaint is subject to mandatory withdrawal of the reference. We've -- one of our exhibits in the motion to modify is our motion to enforce the reference. We think Movants have it completely wrong. This is not the type of case that will be subject to withdrawal -- mandatory withdrawal of the reference, and in any event, for this contempt motion, it's irrelevant.

And they argue -- one of the other points Mr. Bridges raises is that, because this Court would not have had jurisdiction under 157 because of the mandatory withdrawal, then Your Honor could not legally act as a gatekeeper. But they haven't addressed Villegas v. Schmidt. We've raised it throughout this case. And again, in these series of pleadings, they don't even address it. And Villegas v. Schmidt was a Barton case. It was a Barton case where the -- where the argument was that Barton does not apply because it's a Stern claim and the Bankruptcy Court would not have jurisdiction. And Villegas said no, it does apply. And Your Honor even cited that in your Ondova case. And why does it apply? Because there's nothing inconsistent with a Bankruptcy Court having exclusive decision to make a Barton determination.

In fact, in that case Villegas said, you can't go to the District Court for that decision, it is the Bankruptcy Court's decision.

So, again, it's a red herring, Your Honor. Your Honor had the ability to act as an exclusive gatekeeper for these types of actions.

With that, Your Honor, I'll leave the rest of my argument for the next motion.

THE COURT: All right. Thanks.

All right. Nate, let's give everyone their time.

THE CLERK: That was just about eight and a half additional from the Debtor, and then altogether the other ones were just shy of fourteen minutes. Thirteen minutes and fifty seconds for the other three combined. Do you want me to --

THE COURT: Yes, I meant for Debtor combined versus --

THE CLERK: Oh. Oh.

THE COURT: Respondents combined.

THE CLERK: So that would be twenty one and a half the Debtor. Let me do the math on the other one. Be an hour twelve minutes and fifty seconds for --

THE COURT: Okay. All right. Got that? Debtors used a total of twenty one and a half minutes; Responders have used an hour twelve minutes and fifty seconds.

All right. Mr. Morris, you may call your first witness.

MR. MORRIS: Thank you very much, Your Honor. The Debtor calls Mark Patrick.

THE COURT: All right. Mr. Patrick? Please approach our witness stand and I'll swear you in. Please raise your right hand.

(The witness is sworn.)

THE COURT: All right. Please take a seat.

MARK PATRICK, DEBTOR'S WITNESS, SWORN

DIRECT EXAMINATION

BY MR. MORRIS:

Q Good afternoon, Mr. Patrick.

A Good afternoon.

Q Can you hear me okay?

A Yes, I can.

Q Okay. You have before you several sets of binders. They're rather large. But when I deposed you on Friday, we did that virtually. Now, I may direct you specifically to one of the binders or one of the documents from time to time, so I just wanted you to know that those were in front of you and that I may be doing that.

Mr. Patrick, since March 1st, 2001 [sic], you've been employed by Highland Consultants, right?

A I believe the name is Highgate Consultants doing business as Skyview Group.

Q Okay. And that's an entity that was created by certain former Highland employees, correct?

A That is my understanding, correct.

Q And your understanding is that Mr. Dondero doesn't have an ownership interest in that entity, correct?

A That he does not. That is correct.
Q And your understanding is that he's not an employee of that -- of Skyview, correct?
A That is correct.
Q Prior to joining Skyview on March 1st, you had worked at Highland Capital Management, LP for about 13 years, correct?
A Correct.
Q Joining in, I believe, early 2008?
A Correct.
Q Okay. I'm going to refer to Highland Capital Management, LP from time to time as HCMLP. Is that okay?
A Yes.
Q While at HCMLP, you served as a tax counselor, correct?
A No, I would like to distinguish that. I did have the title tax counsel. However, essentially all my activities were in a non-lawyer capacity, being the client representative. I would engage other outside law firms to provide legal advice.
Q Okay. So you are an attorney, correct?
A Yes, I am.
Q But essentially everything you did at Highland during your 13 years was in a non-lawyer capacity, correct?
A Correct.
Q In fact, you didn't even work in the legal department; is that right?

A That is correct. I worked for the tax department.
Q Okay. Let's talk about how you became the authorized representative of the Plaintiffs. You are, in fact, authorized representative today of CLO Holdco, Ltd. and Charitable DAF, LP, correct?
A Charitable DAF Fund, LP. Correct.
Q And those are the two entities that filed the complaint in the United States District Court against the Debtor and two other entities, correct?
A Correct.
Q And may I refer to those two entities going forward as the Plaintiffs?
A Yes.
Q You became the authorized representative of the Plaintiffs on March 24th, 2021, the day you and Mr. Scott executed certain transfer documents, correct?
A Correct.
Q And you had no authority to act on behalf of either of the Plaintiffs before March 24th, correct?
A Correct.
Q The DAF controls about $200 million in assets, correct?
A The Plaintiffs, you mean? CLO Holdco and Charitable DAF Fund, LP.
Q Yes.

A Around there.
Q Okay. Let me try and just ask that again, and thank you for correcting me. To the best of your knowledge, the Plaintiffs control about $200 million in assets, correct?
A Net assets, correct.
Q Okay. And that asset base is derived largely from HCMLP, Mr. Dondero, or Mr. Dondero's trusts, correct?
A Can you restate that question again, Mr. Morris?
Q Sure. The asset base that you just referred to is derived largely from HCMLP, Mr. Dondero, or donor trusts?
A The way I would characterize it -- you're using the word derived. I would characterize it with respect to certain charitable donations --
Q Uh-huh.
A -- that were -- that were made at certain time periods, where the donors gave up complete dominion and control over the respective assets and at that time claimed a federal income tax deduction for that.

I do -- I do believe that, as far as the donor group, as you specified, Highland Capital Management, I recall, provided a donation to a Charitable Remainder Trust that eventually had expired and that eventually such assets went into the supporting organizations. And then I do believe Mr. Dondero also contributed to the Charitable Remainder Trust No. 2, which seeded substantial amounts of the original assets that were eventually composed of the $200 million. And then from time to time I do believe that Mr. Dondero's trusts made charitable donations to their respective supporting organizations.

Q Okay. Thank you.

A Is that responsive?

Q It is. It's very responsive. Thank you very much. So, to the best of your knowledge, the charitable donations that were made that form the bases of the assets came from those three -- primarily from those three sources, correct?

A Well, you know, there's two different trusts. There's the Dugaboy Trust and the Get Good Trust.

Q Okay.

A Then you have Mr. Dondero and Highland Capital Management. So I would say four sources.

Q Okay. All right. Thank you. Prior to assuming your role as the authorized representative of the Plaintiff, you had never had meaningful responsibility for making investment decisions, correct?

A I'm sorry. You kind of talk a little bit fast. Please slow it down --

Q That's okay.

A -- and restate it. Thank you.

Q And I appreciate that. And any time you don't understand what I'm saying or I speak too fast, please do exactly what you're doing. You're doing fine.

Prior to assuming your role as the authorized representative of the Plaintiffs, you never had any meaningful responsibility making investment decisions. Is that correct?

A To whom?

Q For anybody.

A Well, during my deposition, I believe I testified that I make investment decisions with respect to my family. Family and friends come to me and they ask me for investment decisions. I was -- in my deposition, I indicated to you that I was a board member of a nonprofit called the 500, Inc. They had received a donation of stock in Yahoo!, and the members there looked to me for financial guidance. As an undergrad at the University of Miami, I was a -- I was a finance major, and so I do have a variety of background with respect to investments.

Q Okay. So you told me that from time to time friends and family members come to you for investing advice. Is that right?

A That is correct.

Q And when you were a young lawyer you were on the board of a nonprofit that received a donation of Yahoo! stock and the board looked to you for guidance. Is that correct?

THE COURT: Just a moment. I think there's an objection.

MR. MORRIS: Uh-huh.

THE COURT: Go ahead.

MR. ANDERSON: So far -- relevance, Your Honor. This is way out of the bounds of the contempt proceeding. You know, what he did as a young person with Yahoo! stock. We're here to -- he authorized the lawsuit. They filed the lawsuit. That's it. Getting into all this peripheral stuff is completely irrelevant.

THE COURT: Your response?

MR. MORRIS: My response, Your Honor, is very simple. Mr. Patrick assumed responsibility, and you're going to be told that he exercised full and complete authority over a $200 million fund that was created by Mr. Dondero, --

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. MORRIS: -- that funds -- that is funded virtually by Mr. Dondero, and for which -- Mr. Patrick is a lovely man, and I don't mean to disparage him at all -- but he has no meaningful experience in investing at all.

THE COURT: All right. Counsel, I overrule. I think there's potential relevance.

And may I remind people that when you're back at counsel table, please make sure you speak your objections into the microphone. Thank you.

BY MR. MORRIS:

Q When you were a young lawyer, sir, you were on the board of a nonprofit that received a donation of Yahoo! stock and the board looked to you for guidance, correct?

A Yes, correct.

Q And -- but during your 13 years at Highland, you never had formal responsibility for making investment decisions, correct?

A That is correct.

Q Yeah. In fact, other than investment opportunities that you personally presented where you served as a co-decider, you never had any responsibility or authority to make investment decisions on behalf of HCMLP or any of its affiliated entities, correct?

A That is correct.

Q And at least during your deposition, you couldn't identify a single opportunity where you actually had the authority and did authorize the execution of a transaction on behalf of HCMLP or any of its affiliates, correct?

A Correct.

Q And yet today you are now solely responsible for making all investment decisions with respect to a $200 million charitable fund, correct?

A Yes, but I get some help. I've engaged an outside third party called ValueScope, and they have been as -- effectively working as a "gatekeeper" for me, and I look to them for investment guidance and advice, and I informally look to Mr.

Dondero since the time period of when I took control on March 24th for any questions I may have with respect to the portfolio. So I don't feel like I'm all by myself in making decisions.

Q Okay. I didn't mean to suggest that you were, sir, and I apologize if you took it that way. I was just asking the question, you are the person now solely responsible for making the investment decisions, correct?

A Yes.

Q Okay. Let's talk about the circumstances that led to the filing of the complaint for a bit. On April 12, 2021, you caused the Plaintiffs to commence an action against HCMLP and two other entities, correct?

A Correct.

Q Okay. One of the binders -- you've got a couple of binders in front of you. If you look at the bottom, one of them says Volume 1 of 2, Exhibits 1 through 18. And if you could grab that one and turn to Exhibit 12. Do you have that, sir?

A It says -- it says the original complaint. Is that the right one?

Q That is the right one. And just as I said when we were doing this virtually last Friday, if I ask you a question about a particular document, you should always feel free to review as much of the document as you think you need to competently and fully answer the question. Okay?

A Okay. Thank you.
Q All right. You instructed the Sbaiti firm to file that complaint on behalf of the Plaintiffs, correct?
A Correct.
Q And to the best of your recollection, the Plaintiffs returned -- retained the Sbaiti firm in April, correct?
A Correct.
Q So the Sbaiti firm was retained no more than twelve days before the complaint was filed, correct?
A Correct.
Q You personally retained the Sbaiti firm, correct?
A Correct.
Q And the idea of filing this complaint originated with the Sbaiti firm, correct?
A Correct.
Q Before filing -- withdrawn. Before becoming the Plaintiffs' authorized representative, you hadn't had any communications with anyone about potential claims that might be brought against the Debtor arising out of the HarbourVest settlement, correct?
A That is correct.
Q Now, after you became the Plaintiffs' authorized representative, Mr. Dondero communicated with the Sbaiti firm about the complaint that's marked as Exhibit 12, correct?

A Yes. After he brought certain information to myself and then that I engaged the Sbaiti firm to launch an investigation, I also wanted Mr. Dondero to work with the Sbaiti firm with respect to their investigation of the underlying facts.

Q Okay. Mr. Dondero did not discuss the complaint with you, but he did communicate with the Sbaiti firm about the complaint, correct?

A I believe -- yeah. I heard you slip in at the end "the complaint." I know he communicated with the Sbaiti firm. I can't -- I can't say what he said or didn't say with respect to the -- the actual complaint.

Q Okay. But Mr. Dondero got involved in the process initially when he brought some information to your attention concerning the HarbourVest transaction, correct?

A Correct.

Q And he came to you with the HarbourVest information after you assumed your role as the authorized representative of the Plaintiffs on March 24th, correct?

A That is correct.

Q At the time he came to you, you did not have any specific knowledge about the HarbourVest transaction, correct?

A I did not have specific knowledge with respect to the allegations that were laid out and the facts with respect to the original complaint. I think I had just had a general awareness that there was a HarbourVest something or other, but the specific aspects of it, I was unaware.

Q Okay. And you had no reason to believe that Mr. Seery had done anything wrong with respect to the HarbourVest transaction at the time you became the Plaintiffs' authorized representative, correct?

A That is correct.

Q But you recall very specifically that some time after March 24th Mr. Dondero told you that an investment opportunity was essentially usurped or taken away, to the Plaintiffs' harm and for the benefit of HCMLP, correct?

A That is correct.

Q And after Mr. Dondero brought this information to your attention, you hired the Sbaiti firm to launch an investigation into the facts, correct?

A Correct.

Q You had never worked with the Sbaiti firm before, correct?

A That is correct.

Q And you had hired many firms as a tax counselor at HCMLP, but not the Sbaiti firm until now. Correct?

A That is correct.

Q You got to the Sbaiti firm through a recommendation from D.C. Sauter, correct?

A Correct.

Q Mr. Sauter is the in-house counsel, the in-house general counsel at NexPoint Advisors, correct?

A Correct.
Q You didn't ask Mr. Sauter for a recommendation for a lawyer; he just volunteered that you should use the Sbaiti firm. Correct?
A That is correct.
Q And you never used -- considered using another firm, did you?
A When they were presented to me, they appeared to have all the sufficient skills necessary to undertake this action, and so I don't recall interviewing any other firms.
Q Okay. Now, after bringing the matter to your action, Mr. Dondero communicated directly with the Sbaiti firm in relation to the investigation that was being undertaken. Correct?
A That is correct.
Q But you weren't privy to the communications between Mr. Dondero and the Sbaiti firm, correct?
A I did not participate in those conversations as the -- what I, again, considered Mr. Dondero as the investment advisor to the portfolio, and he was very versant in the assets. I wanted him to participate in the investigation that the Sbaiti firm was undertaking prior to the filing of this complaint.
Q Let's talk for a minute about the notion of Mr. Dondero being the investment advisor. Until recently, the entity known as the DAF had an investment advisory committee with HC -- an investment advisory agreement with HCMLP. Correct?

A It's my understanding that the investment advisory agreement existed with the Plaintiffs, CLO Holdco, as well as Charitable DAF Fund, LP, up and to the end of February, throughout the HarbourVest transaction.

Q Okay. And since February, the Plaintiffs do not have an investment advisory agreement with anybody, correct?

A That is correct.

Q Okay. So Mr. Dondero, if he serves as an investment advisor, it's on an informal basis. Is that fair?

A After I took control, he serves as an informal investment advisor.

Q Okay. So there's no contract that you're aware of between either of the Plaintiffs and Mr. Dondero pursuant to which he is authorized to act as the investment advisor for the Plaintiffs, correct?

A That is correct.

Q Okay. When you communicated with Grant Scott -- withdrawn. You know who Grant Scott is, right?

A Yes, I do.

Q He's the gentleman who preceded you as the authorized representative of the Plaintiffs, correct?

A Yes.

Q Okay. You communicated with Mr. Scott from time to time during February and March 2021, correct?

A February and March are the dates? Yes.

Q Yeah. And from February 1st until March 21st -- well, withdrawn. Prior to March 24th, 2021, Mr. Scott was the Plaintiffs' authorized representative, correct?

A Correct.

Q And you have no recollection of discussing with Mr. Scott at any time prior to March 24th any aspect of the HarbourVest settlement with Mr. Scott. Correct?

A Correct.

Q And you have no recollection of discussing whether the Plaintiffs had potential claims that might be brought against the Debtor. Correct? Withdrawn. Let me ask a better question.

You have no recollection of discussing with Mr. Scott at any time prior to March 24th whether the Plaintiffs had potential claims against the Debtor. Correct?

A That is correct.

Q You and Mr. Scott never discussed whether either of -- either of the Plaintiffs had potential claims against Mr. Seery. Correct?

A Correct.

Q Okay. At the time that you became their authorized representative, you had no knowledge that the Plaintiffs would be filing a complaint against the Debtors relating to the HarbourVest settlement less than three weeks later, correct?

A That is correct.
Q Okay. Now, if you look at Page 2 of the complaint, you'll see at the top it refers to Mr. Seery as a potential party. Do you see that?
A Yes, I do.
Q Okay. You don't know why Mr. Seery was named -- withdrawn. You don't know why Mr. Seery was not named as a defendant in the complaint, correct?
A No, I -- that's correct. I do not know why he was not named. That's in the purview of the Sbaiti firm.
Q Okay. And the Sbaiti firm also made the decision to name Mr. Seery on Page 2 there as a potential party when drafting the complaint, correct?
A That's what the document says.
Q And you weren't involved in the decision to identify Mr. Seery as a potential party, correct?
A That is correct. Again, I rely on the law firm to decide what parties to bring a suit to -- against.
Q Okay. Okay. Do you recall the other day we talked about a document called the July order?
A Yes.
Q Okay. That's in -- that's in Tab 16 in your binder, if you can turn to that. And take a moment to look at it, if you'd like. And my first question is simply whether this is the July order, as you understand it.

(Pause.)

A Yes, it is. I was just looking for the gatekeeper provision. It looks like it's Paragraph 5. So, --

Q Okay. Thank you for that. About a week after the complaint was filed, you authorized the Plaintiffs to file a motion in the District Court for leave to amend the Plaintiffs' complaint to add Mr. Seery as a defendant. Correct?

A I authorized the filing of a motion in Federal District Court that would ask the Federal District Court whether or not Jim Seery could be named in the original complaint with respect to the gatekeeper provision cited in that motion and with respect to the arguments that were made in that motion.

Q Okay. Just to be clear, if you turn to Exhibit 17, the next tab, --

A I'm here.

Q -- do you see that document is called Plaintiffs' Motion for Leave to File First Amended Complaint?

A Yes.

Q And that's the document that you authorized the Plaintiffs to file on or about April 19th, correct?

A Correct.

Q Okay. And can we refer to that document as the motion to amend?

A Yes.
Q Okay. You were aware of the July order at Tab 16 before you authorized the filing of the motion to amend. Correct?
A Yes, because it's cited in the motion itself.
Q Okay. And at the time that you authorized the filing of the motion to amend, you understood that the July order was still in effect. Correct?
A Yes, because it was referenced in the motion, so my assumption would be it would still be in effect.
Q Okay. Before the motion to amend was filed, you're -- you are aware that my firm and the Sbaiti firm communicated by email about the propriety of filing the motion to amend?
A Before it was filed? Communications between your firm and the Sbaiti firm? I would have to have my recollection refreshed.
Q I'll just ask the question a different way. Did you know before you authorized the filing of the motion to amend that my firm and the Sbaiti firm had engaged in an email exchange about the propriety of filing the motion to amend in the District Court?
A It's my recollection -- and again, I could be wrong here -- but I thought the email exchange occurred after the fact, not before. But again, I -- I just -- Q Okay. In any event, on April 19th, the motion to amend was filed. Correct?

A Correct.
Q That's the document that is Exhibit 17. And you personally authorized the Sbaiti firm to file the motion to amend on behalf of the Plaintiffs, correct?
A Correct.
Q And you authorized the filing of the motion to amend with knowledge -- withdrawn.
Can you read the first sentence of the motion to amend out loud, please?
A Yeah. (reading) Plaintiffs submit this motion under Rule 15 of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure for one purpose: to name as defendant one James P. Seery, Jr., the CEO of defendant Highland Capital Management, LP (HCM) and the chief perpetrator of the wrongdoing that forms the basis of the Plaintiffs' causes of action.
Q And does that fairly state the purpose of the motion?
MR. SBAITI: Objection, Your Honor. Asks him to make a legal conclusion about the purpose of the legal motion filed in court that he didn't draft.
THE COURT: Okay. I overrule. You can answer if you have an answer.
THE WITNESS: It's always been my general understanding that the purpose of filing this motion was to go to the Federal District Court and ask that Court of reference to this Court whether or not Mr. Seery could be named with respect to the original complaint, citing again the gatekeeper provisions and citing the various arguments that we've heard much earlier.

BY MR. MORRIS:

Q Okay. You personally didn't learn anything between April 9th, when the complaint was filed, and April 19th, when the motion to amend was filed, that caused you to authorize the filing of the motion to amend, correct?

A That is correct.

Q In fact, you relied on the Sbaiti firm with respect to decisions concerning the timing of the motion to amend. Correct?

A Correct.

Q And you had no knowledge of whether anyone acting on behalf of the Plaintiffs ever served the Debtor with a copy of the motion to amend. Correct?

A Yes. I have no knowledge.

Q Okay. And you have no knowledge that the Sbaiti firm ever provided my firm with a copy of the motion to amend. Correct?

A I cannot recall one way or another.

Q Okay. You never instructed anyone on behalf -- acting on behalf of the Plaintiffs to inform the Debtor that the motion to amend had been filed, correct?

A That is correct.

Q And that's because you relied on the Sbaiti firm on procedural issues, correct?

A That is correct.
Q You didn't consider waiting until the Debtor --
(Interruption.)
Q -- had appeared in the action before authorizing the filing of the motion --
A Yeah, --
THE COURT: Yes. Y'all are being a little bit loud. Okay.
A VOICE: Sorry.
MR. MORRIS: No problem.
MR. PHILLIPS: I've heard that before, Your Honor, and I apologize.
THE COURT: I bet you have. Thank you.
MR. MORRIS: Admonish Mr. Phillips, please.
THE COURT: Okay.
MR. MORRIS: He's always the wild card.
MR. PHILLIPS: I admonish --
MR. MORRIS: He's always the wild card.
MR. PHILLIPS: I admonish myself.
THE COURT: All right. I think he got the message. Continue.
BY MR. MORRIS:
Q You didn't consider waiting until the Debtor had appeared in the action before filing the motion to amend, correct?

A Again, I am the client and I rely upon the law firm that's engaged with respect to making legal decisions as to the timing and notice and appearance and what have you. I'm a tax lawyer.

Q Okay. You wanted the District Court to grant the relief that the Plaintiffs were seeking. Correct?

A I wanted the District Court to consider, under the gatekeeper provisions of this Court, whether or not Mr. Seery could be named in the original complaint. That's -- that, from my perspective, is what was desired.

Q All right. You wanted the District Court to grant the relief that the Plaintiffs were seeking, correct?

MR. SBAITI: Objection, Your Honor. Asked and answered.

THE COURT: Overruled.

THE WITNESS: Again, I would characterize this motion as not necessarily asking for specific relief, but asking the Federal District Court whether or not, under the gatekeeper provision, that Mr. Seery could be named on there. What happens after that would be a second step. So I kind of -- I dispute that characterization.

BY MR. MORRIS:

Q All right. I'm going to cross my fingers and hope that Ms. Canty is on the line, and I would ask her to put up Page 57 from Mr. Patrick's deposition transcript.

THE COURT: There it is.

MR. MORRIS: There it is. It's like magic. Can we go down to Lines 18 through 20?

BY MR. MORRIS:

Q Mr. Patrick, during the deposition on Friday, did I ask you this question and did you give me this answer? Question, "Did you want the Court to grant the relief you were seeking?" Answer, "Yes."

A I -- and it was qualified with respect to Lines 12 through 17. In my view, when I answered yes, I was simply restating what I stated in Line 12. I wanted the District Court to consider this motion as to whether or not Mr. Seery could be named in the original complaint or the amended complaint pursuant to the existing gatekeeper rules and the arguments that were made in that motion. That's -- that's what I wanted. And so then when I was asked, did you want the Court to grant the relief that you were seeking, when I answered yes, it was from that perspective.

Q Okay. Thank you very much. If the District Court had granted the relief that you were seeking, you would have authorized the Sbaiti firm to file the amended complaint naming Mr. Seery as a defendant if the Sbaiti firm recommended that you do so. Correct?

A If the Sbaiti firm recommended that I do so. That is correct.

Q Okay. Let's talk for a little bit about the line of succession for the DAF and CLO Holdco. Can we please go to Exhibit 25, which is in the other binder? It's in the other binder, sir.

(Pause.)

Q I guess you could look on the screen or you can look in the binder, whatever's easier for you.

A Yeah. I prefer the screen. I prefer the screen.

Q Okay.

A It's much easier.

Q All right. We've got it in both spots. But do you have Exhibit 25 in front of you, sir?

A Yes, I do.

Q All right. Do you know what it is?

A This is the organizational chart depicting a variety of charitable entities as well as entities that are commonly referred to the DAF. However, when I look at this chart, I do not look at and see just boxes, what I see is the humanitarian effort that these boxes represent.

MR. MORRIS: Your Honor, may I interrupt?

THE COURT: You may.

MR. MORRIS: Okay.

BY MR. MORRIS:

Q I appreciate that, and when your lawyers get up to ask you questions, I bet they'll want to know just what you were about to tell me. But I just want to understand what this chart is. This chart is the DAF, CLO Holdco, structure chart. Correct?

A Correct.

Q Okay. And you were personally involved in creating this organizational structure, correct?

A I -- yes.

Q Okay. And from time to time, the Charitable DAF Holdco Limited distributes cash to the foundations that are above it. Correct?

A Correct.

Q All right. I want to talk a little bit more specifically about how this happens. The source of the cash distributed by Charitable DAF Holdco Limited is CLO Holdco, Ltd., that entity, the Cayman Islands entity near the bottom. Correct?

MR. ANDERSON: Your Honor, I have an objection. Completely irrelevant. I'm objecting on relevance grounds. This has nothing to do with the contempt proceeding. We've already gone over that he authorized the filing of the complaint, that he authorized the filing of the motion to amend. It's all in the record. This is completely irrelevant at this point.

THE COURT: Okay. Relevance objection. Your response?

MR. MORRIS: I believe that it's relevant to the Debtor's motion to hold Mr. Dondero in contempt for pursuing claims against Mr. Seery, in violation of the July 7 order. I think an understanding of what the Plaintiffs are, how they're funded, and Mr. Dondero's interest in pursuing claims on behalf of those entities is relevant to the -- to the -- just -- it's just against him. It's not against their clients, frankly. It's just against Mr. Dondero.

THE COURT: I overrule.

MR. MORRIS: I'll try and -- I'll try and make this quick, though.

BY MR. MORRIS:

Q CLO Holdco had two primary sources of capital. Is that right?

A Two primary sources of capital?

Q Let me ask it differently. There was a Charitable Remainder Trust that was going to expire in 2011, correct?

A That is correct.

Q And that Charitable Remainder Trust had certain CLO equity assets, correct?

A Correct.

Q And the donor to that Charitable Remainder Trust was Highland Capital Management, LP. Correct?

A Not correct. After my deposition, I refreshed my memory. There were two Charitable Remainder Trusts that existed, which I think in my mind caused a little bit of confusion. The Charitable Remainder Trust No. 2, which is the one that expired in 2011, was originally funded by Mr. Dondero.

Q Okay. So, so the Charitable Remainder Trust that we were talking about on Friday wasn't seeded with capital from Highland Capital Management, it came from Mr. Dondero personally?
A That is correct.
Q Okay. Thank you. And the other primary source of capital was the Dallas Foundation, the entity that's in the upper left-hand corner of the chart. Is that correct?
A No.
Q The -- you didn't tell me that the other day?
A You said -- you're pointing to the Dallas Foundation. That's a 501(c)(3) organization.
Q I apologize. Did you tell me the other day that the Dallas Foundation was the second source of capital for HCLO Hold Company?
A No, I did not. You --
(Pause.)
Q Maybe I know the source of the confusion. Is the Highland Dallas Foundation something different?
A Yes. On this organizational chart, you'll see that it has an indication, it's a supporting organization.
Q Ah, okay. So, so let me restate the question, then. The second primary source of capital for CLO Holdco, Ltd. is the Highland Dallas Foundation. Do I have that right?

A Yes.
Q Okay. And the sources of that entity's capital were grantor trusts and possibly Mr. Dondero personally. Correct?
A In addition -- per my refreshing my recollection from our deposition, the other Charitable Remainder Trust, I believe Charitable Remainder Trust No. 1, which expired later, also sent a donation, if you will, or assets to -- and I cannot recall specifically whether it was just the Highland Dallas Foundation or the other supporting organizations that you see on this chart.
Q But the source of that -- the source of the assets that became the second Charitable Remainder Trust was Highland Capital Management, LP. Is that right?
A I think that is accurate from my recollection. And again, I'm talking about Charitable Remainder Trust No. 1.
Q Okay. So is it fair to say -- I'm just going to try and summarize, if I can. Is it fair to say that CLO Holdco, Ltd. is the investment arm of the organizational structure on this page?
A Yes.
Q And is it fair to say that nearly all of the assets that are in there derived from either Mr. Dondero, one of his trusts, or Highland Capital Management, LP?
A Yes. It's like the Bill Gates Foundation or the Rockefeller Foundation. These come from the folks that make their donations and put their name on it.

Q Okay.

MR. MORRIS: Now, now, Your Honor, I'm going to go back just for a few minutes to how Mr. Scott got appointed, because I think that lays kind of the groundwork for his replacement. It won't take long.

THE COURT: Okay. I have a question either --

MR. MORRIS: Sure.

THE COURT: -- for you or the witness. I'm sorry, but --

MR. MORRIS: Sure. Yeah.

THE COURT: -- the organizational chart, it's not meant to show everything that might be connected to this substructure, right? Because doesn't CLO Holdco, Ltd. own 49.02 percent of HCLOF, --

MR. MORRIS: That --

THE COURT: -- which gets us into the whole HarbourVest transaction issue?

MR. MORRIS: You're exactly right, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. MORRIS: But that's just an investment that HCLO Holdco made.

THE COURT: Right.

MR. MORRIS: Right? And so I -- let me ask the witness, actually.

THE COURT: Okay. Thank you. Thank you.

MR. MORRIS: Let me ask the witness. Yeah.

THE COURT: I just want my brain --

MR. MORRIS: Right.

THE COURT: -- to be complete on this chart.

BY MR. MORRIS:

Q Mr. Patrick, there are three entities under CLO Holdco, Ltd. Do you see that?

A Yes.

Q And does CLO Holdco, Ltd. own one hundred percent of the interests in each of those three entities?

A Yes.

Q Do you know why those three entities are depicted on this particular chart? Is it because they're wholly-owned subsidiaries?

A Correct.

Q Okay. And CLO Holdco, Ltd. has interests in other companies. Isn't that right?

A It has other investments. That is correct.

Q And the reason that they're not depicted on here is because they're not wholly-owned subsidiaries, they're just investments; is that fair?

A That is fair.

MR. MORRIS: Does that--?

THE COURT: Yes.

MR. MORRIS: Okay.

THE COURT: Uh-huh.

BY MR. MORRIS:

Q So, so let's go back to Mr. Grant for a moment. Mr. Scott, rather. Mr. Dondero was actually the original general partner. If you look at this chart, while it's still up here, you see on the left there's Charitable DAF GP, LLC?

A Yes.

Q And the Charitable DAF GP, LLC is the general partner of the Charitable DAF Fund, LP. Correct?

A Correct.

Q And on this chart, Grant Scott was the managing member of Charitable DAF GP, LLC. Right?

A Correct.

Q Okay. But Mr. Dondero was the original general partner of that entity, correct?

A That is correct. But I do want to point out, I just note that the GP interest is indicating a one percent interest and the 99 interest to Charitable DAF Holdco. I believe that's incorrect. It's a hundred percent by Charitable DAF Holdco, Ltd., and the Charitable DAF GP interest is a noneconomic interest. So that should actually reflect a zero percent to the extent it may indicate some sort of profits or otherwise.

Q Okay. Thank you for the clarification. Can you turn to Exhibit 26, please, in your binder? And is it your understanding that that is the amended and restated LLC agreement for the DAF GP, LLC?

A Yes.

Q Okay. And this was amended and restated effective as of January 1st, 2012, correct?

A Yes.

Q And if you go to the last page, you'll see there are signatures for Mr. Scott and Mr. Dondero, correct?

A Yes.

Q And Mr. Dondero is identified as the forming -- former managing member and Mr. Scott is identified as the new managing member. Correct?

A Correct. That's what the document says.

Q And it's your understanding that Mr. Dondero had the authority to select his successor. Correct?

A Correct.

Q In fact, it's based on your understanding of documents and your recollection that Mr. Dondero personally selected Mr. Scott as the person he was going to transfer control to, correct?

A Upon advice of Highland Capital Management's tax compliance officer, Mr. Tom Surgent.

Q What advice did Mr. Surgent give?

A He gave advice that, because Mr. Dondero -- and this is what I came to an understanding after the fact of this transaction, because I was not a part of it -- that by Mr. Dondero holding that GP interest, that it would be -- the Plaintiffs, if you will, would be an affiliate entity for regulatory purposes, and so he advised that if he -- if Mr. Dondero transferred his GP interest to Mr. Scott, it would no longer be an affiliate, is my recollection.

Q Okay. You didn't appoint Mr. Scott, did you?

A No.

Q That was Mr. Dondero. Is that right?

A Yes.

Q Okay. Let's go to 2021. Let's come back to the current time. Sometime in February, Mr. Scott called you to ask about the mechanics of how he could resign. Correct?

A That is correct.

Q But the decision to have you replace Mr. Scott was not made until March 24th, the day you sent an email to Mr. Scott with the transfer documents. Correct?

A That is correct.

Q And it's your understanding that he could have transferred the management shares and control of the DAF to anyone in the world. Correct?

A Correct.

Q That's what the docu... that he had the authority under the documentation, as you understood it, to freely trade or transfer the management shares. Correct?

A Wait. Now, let's be precise here.
Q Okay.
A Are you talking about the GP interests or the management shares held by Charitable DAF Holdco, Ltd.?
Q Let's start with the management shares. Can you explain to the Court what the management shares are?
MR. ANDERSON: Your Honor? Hang on one second. Your Honor, I want to object again on relevance. We're going way beyond the scope of the contempt issue, whether or not --
MR. MORRIS: This is about control.
MR. ANDERSON: -- the motion to amend somehow violated the prior order of this Court. Getting into the management structure, transfer of shares, that's way outside the bounds. I object on relevance.
THE COURT: Okay. Relevance objection?
MR. MORRIS: Your Honor, they have probably 30 documents, maybe 20 documents, on their exhibit list that relate to management and control. I'm asking questions about management and control. Okay? This is important, again, to (a) establish his authority, but (b) the circumstances under which he came to be the purported control person.
THE COURT: Okay. Overruled. Go ahead.
THE WITNESS: It might be helpful to look at the organizational chart, but if not -- but I'll describe it to you again. With respect to the entity called --

MR. MORRIS: Hold on one second. Can we put up the organizational chart again, Ms. Canty, if you can? There you go.

THE WITNESS: Okay. So with respect to the Charitable DAF Holdco, Ltd., it is my understanding that Mr. Scott, he organized that entity when he was the independent director of the Charitable Remainder Trust, and he caused the issuance of the management shares to be issued to himself. And then those are, again, noneconomic shares, but they are control shares over that entity.

And I think, to answer your question, is -- it -- he alone decides who he can transfer those shares to.

BY MR. MORRIS:

Q Do I have this right, that whoever holds the noneconomic management shares has the sole authority to appoint the representatives for each of the Charitable DAF entities and CLO Holdco? It's kind of a magic ticket, if you will?

A It -- I think there's a -- the answer really is no from a legal standpoint, because Charitable DAF Holdco is a limited partner in Charitable DAF Fund, LP, so it does not have authority -- authority under all -- the respective entities underneath that. It could cause a redemption, if you will, of Charitable DAF Fund. And so, really, the authority -- the trickle-down authority that you're referencing is with respect to his holding of the Charitable DAF GP, LLC interest. It's a member-managed Delaware limited liability company. And from that, he -- that authority kind of trickles down to where he can appoint directorships.

Q All right. I think I want to just follow up on that a bit. Which entity is the issuer of the manager shares, the management shares?

A Yeah, the -- per the organizational chart, it is accurate, it's the Charitable DAF Holdco, Ltd. which issued the management shares to Mr. Scott.

Q Okay. And that's why you have the arrow from Mr. Scott into that entity?

A Correct.

Q And do those -- does the holder of the management shares have the authority to control the Charitable DAF Holdco, Ltd.?

A Yes.

Q Okay. And as the control person for the Charitable DAF Holdco, Ltd., they own a hundred -- withdrawn. Charitable DAF Holdco Limited owns a hundred percent of the limited partnership interests of the Charitable DAF Fund, LP. Correct?

A Correct.

Q And so does the holder of that hundred percent limited partnership interest have the authority to decide who acts on behalf of the Charitable DAF Fund, LP?

A I would say no. I mean, you know, just -- I would love to read the partnership agreement again. But I, conceptually, what I know with partnerships, I would say the limited partner would not. It would be through the Charitable DAF GP, LLC interest.

Q The one on the left, the general partner?

A The general partner.

Q I see. So when Mr. Scott transferred to you the one hundred percent of the management shares as well as the title of the managing member of the Charitable DAF GP, LLC, did those two events give you the authority to control the entities below it?

A Yes.

Q Thank you. And so prior to the time that he transferred those interests to you, is it your understanding that Mr. Scott had the unilateral right to transfer those interests to anybody in the world?

A Yes.

Q Okay. And you have that right today, don't you?

A Yes, I do.

Q If you wanted, you could transfer it to me, right?

A Yes, I could.

Q Okay. But of all the people in the world, Mr. Scott decided to transfer the management shares and the managing member title of the DAF GP to you, correct?

A Restate that question again?

Q Of all the people in the world, Mr. Scott decided to transfer it to you, correct?
A Yeah. Mr. Scott transferred those interests to me.
Q Okay. And you accepted them, right?
A Yes.
Q You're not getting paid anything for taking on this responsibility, correct?
A I am not paid by any of the entities depicted on this chart.
Q And Mr. Scott used to get $5,000 a month, didn't he?
A I believe that's what he testified to.
Q Yeah. But you don't get anything, right?
A Correct.
Q In fact, you get the exact same salary and compensation from Skyview that you had before you became the authorized representative of the DAF entities and CLO Holdco. Correct?
A Correct.

MR. MORRIS: Okay. Your Honor, if I may just take a moment, I may be done.

THE COURT: Okay.

(Pause.)

MR. MORRIS: Your Honor, I have no further questions.

THE COURT: All right. Pass the witness. Any examination of the witness?

CROSS-EXAMINATION

BY MR. ANDERSON:

Q Mr. Patrick, I just had a few follow-up questions. When you authorized the filing of the lawsuit against Highland Capital Management, LP, Highland HCF Advisor Limited, and Highland CLO Funding, Limited, when that lawsuit was filed in April of this year, was Mr. Seery included as a defendant?

A No.

Q Have the two Plaintiffs in that lawsuit, have they commenced any lawsuit against Mr. Seery?

A No.

Q Have they pursued any lawsuit against Mr. Seery?

A No.

Q Have they pursued a claim or cause of action against Mr. Seery?

A No.

Q At most, did the Plaintiffs file a motion for leave to add Mr. Seery as a defendant?

MR. MORRIS: Objection, Your Honor. To the extent that any of these questions are legal conclusions, I object. He's using the word pursue. If he's trying -- if he's then going to argue that, But the witness testified that he didn't pursue and that's somehow a finding of fact, I object.

THE COURT: Okay. I understand.

MR. MORRIS: Yeah.

THE COURT: But I overrule. He can answer.

MR. MORRIS: That's fine.

THE WITNESS: Can you restate the question again?

BY MR. ANDERSON:

Q Sure. On behalf of the Plaintiffs -- well, strike that. Did the Plaintiffs pursue a claim or cause of action against Mr. Seery?

A No.

Q At most, did the Plaintiffs file a motion for leave to file an amended complaint regarding Mr. Seery?

A Yes. But, again, I viewed the motion as simply asking the Federal District Court whether Mr. Seery could or could not be named in a complaint, and then the next step might be how the Federal District Court might rule with respect to that.

Q And we have -- it's Tab 17 in the binders in front of you. That is Plaintiffs' motion for leave. If you could turn to that, please.

A Yes. I've got it open.

Q Is the Court's July order, the Bankruptcy Court's July order, is it mentioned on the first page and then throughout the motion for leave to amend?

A Yes, it is. I see it quoted verbatim on Page 2 under Background.

Q Was the Court's order hidden at all from the District Court?

A The document speaks for itself. It's very transparent.

Q Was there any effort whatsoever to hide the prior order of the Bankruptcy Court?
A No.
MR. ANDERSON: Pass the witness.
THE COURT: Okay. Other examination?
MR. SBAITI: Yes, Your Honor. Just a couple of questions.

CROSS-EXAMINATION

BY MR. SBAITI:
Q Do you mind flipping to Exhibit 25, which I believe is the org chart, the one that you were looking at before?
A Okay.
Q It'll still be in --
A Okay. Yeah.
Q -- the defense binder. No reason to swap out right now.
A I've got the right binders. Some of them are repeatable exhibits, so --
Q Yeah.
A -- I have to grab the right binder. Yes.
Q As this org chart would sit today, is the only difference that Grant Scott's name would instead be Mark Patrick?
A Yes.
Q Was there ever a period of time where Jim Dondero's name would sit instead of Grant Scott's name prior?
A Yes, originally, when this -- yes.

Q So did Mr. Dondero both have the control shares of the GP, LLC and DAF Holdco Limited?
A No, I believe not. I believe he only held the Charitable DAF GP interest and that Mr. Scott at all times held the Charitable DAF Holdco, LTD interest, until he decided to transfer it to me.
Q Can you just tell us how Mr. Scott came to hold the control shares of the Charitable DAF Holdco, LTD?
A When he was the independent trustee of the Charitable Remainder Trust, he caused that -- the creation of that entity, and that's how he became in receipt of those management shares.
Q And does the Charitable DAF GP, LLC have any control over Charitable DAF Fund, LP's actions or activities?
A Yes, it does.
Q What kind of control is that?
A I would describe complete control. It's the managing member of that entity and can -- and effectively owns, you know, the hundred percent interest in the respective subsidiaries, and so the control follows down.
Q And when did Mr. Scott replace Mr. Dondero as the GP -- managing member of the GP?
A Well, I think as the -- and Mr. Morris had shown me with respect to that transfer occurring on March 2012.
Q So nine years ago?

A Yes.
Q Does Mr. Dondero today exercise any control over the activities of the DAF Charitable -- the Charitable DAF, GP or the Charitable DAF Holdco, LTD?
A No.
Q Is he a board member of sorts for either of those entities?
A No.
Q Is he a board members of CLO Holdco?
A No.
Q Does he have any decision-making authority at CLO Holdco?
A None.
Q The decision to authorize the lawsuit and the decision to authorize the motion that you've been asked about, who made that authorization?
A I did.
Q Did you have to ask for anyone's permission?
A No.

MR. SBAITI: No more questions, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Okay. Any -- I guess Mr. Taylor, no. All right. Any redirect?

REDIRECT EXAMINATION

BY MR. MORRIS:
Q Since becoming the authorized representative of the Plaintiffs, have you ever made a decision on behalf of those entities that Mr. Dondero disagreed with?

A I have made decisions that were adverse to Mr. Dondero's financial -- financial decision. I mean, financial interests. Whether he disagreed with them or not, I don't -- he has not communicated them to me. But they have been adverse, at least two very strong instances.

Q Have you ever -- have you ever talked to him about making a decision that would be adverse to his interests? Did he tell -- did --

A I didn't -- I don't -- I did not discuss with him prior to making the decisions that I made that were adverse to his economic interests.

MR. MORRIS: Okay. No further questions, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Any further examination? Recross on that redirect?

MR. ANDERSON: No further questions.

MR. SBAITI: No further questions, Your Honor.

MR. ANDERSON: Sorry.

THE COURT: Nothing?

MR. ANDERSON: I think we're good.

THE COURT: Okay. I have one question, Mr. Patrick. My brain sometimes goes in weird directions.

EXAMINATION BY THE COURT

THE COURT: I'm just curious. What are these Cayman Island entities, charitable organizations formed in the Cayman Islands?

THE WITNESS: Yeah. I'll keep it as simple as I can, even though I'm a tax lawyer, so I won't get into the tax rules, but the Cayman structure is modeled after what you typically see in the investment management industry, and so I -- and I won't reference specific entities here with respect to the Highland case, but I think you'll note some similarities, if you think about it. They're -- it's described as an offshore master fund structure where you have a -- and that would be the Charitable DAF Fund that's organized offshore, usually in the Cayman or Bermuda Islands, where the general partner, typically, in the industry, holds the management --

THE COURT: Yeah. Let --

THE WITNESS: Okay.

THE COURT: -- me just stop you. I've seen this enough --

THE WITNESS: Yeah, it's

THE COURT: -- to know that it happens in the investment world. But in --

THE WITNESS: Yeah.

THE COURT: You know, usually, I see 501(c)(3), you know, domestically-created entities for charitable purposes, so I'm just curious.

THE WITNESS: Yes.

THE COURT: Uh-huh.

THE WITNESS: The offshore master fund structure typically will have two different types of -- they call it foreign feeder funds. One foreign feeder fund is meant to accommodate foreign investors; the other foreign feeder fund is meant to accommodate U.S. tax-exempt investors.

Why, why is it structured that way? In order to avoid something called -- I was trying not to be wonkish -- UBTI. That's, let's see, Un -- Unrelated Trader Business Income. I probably have that slightly wrong. But it's essentially, it's a means to avoid active business income, which includes debt finance income, which is what these CLOs tend to be, that would throw off income that would be taxable normally if the exempts did not go through this foreign blocker, and it converts that UBTI income -- it's called (inaudible) income -- into passive income that flows -- that flows up to the charities.

And so it's very typical that you'll have a U.S. tax-exempt investor, when they make an investment in a fund, prefer to go through an offshore feeder fund, which is actually Charitable DAF Holdco, LTD. That's essentially what, from a tax perspective, represents as a UBTI blocker entity. And then you have the offshore investments being held offshore because there's a variety of safe harbors where the receipt of interest, the portfolio interest exception, is not taxable.

The creation of capital gains or losses under the -- they call it the trading, 864(b) trading safe harbor, is not taxable. So that's why you'll find these structures operating offshore to rely on those safe harbor provisions as well as -- as well as what I indicated with respect to the two type blocker entities. It's very typical and industry practice to organize these way. And so when this was set --

THE COURT: It's very typical in the charitable world to --

THE WITNESS: In the investment management --

THE COURT: -- form this way?

THE WITNESS: In the investment management world, when you have charitable entities that are taking some exposure to assets that are levered, to set this structure up in this way. It was modeled after -- they just call them offshore master fund structures. They're known as Mickey Mouse structures, where you'll have U.S. investors --

THE COURT: Yes. I -- yes, I --

THE WITNESS: -- enter through a U.S. partnership, and the foreign investors enter through a blocker.

THE COURT: It was really just the charitable aspect of this that I was --

THE WITNESS: Yeah. Yeah.

THE COURT: -- getting at.

THE WITNESS: Yeah. No, but I'm just trying to emphasize if --

THE COURT: All right. It's --

THE WITNESS: Yeah.

THE COURT: -- neither here nor there. All right.

MR. SBAITI: Your Honor, may I ask a slightly clarifying leading question on that, because I think I understand what he was trying to say, just for the record?

THE COURT: Well, --

MR. MORRIS: I object.

THE COURT: -- I tell you what. Anyone who wants to ask one follow-up question on the judge's question can do so. Okay? You can go first.

MR. SBAITI: I'll approach, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Okay.

RECROSS-EXAMINATION

BY MR. SBAITI:

Q Would it be a fair summary of what you were saying a minute ago that the reason the bottom end of that structure is offshore is so that it doesn't get taxed before the money reaches the charities on the U.S. side?

A Tax -- it converts the nature of the income that is being thrown off by the investments so that it becomes a tax friendly income to the tax-exempt entity. Passive income. That's --

Q So, essentially, --

THE COURT: Okay. Okay.

MR. SBAITI: -- so it doesn't get taxed before it hits the --

THE COURT: I said one question.

MR. SBAITI: Sorry, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Okay. He answered it.

MR. PHILLIPS: And I have one question, Your Honor

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. PHILLIPS: I don't know if I need to ask this question, but I'd rather not ask you if I need to ask it.

THE COURT: Go ahead.

MR. PHILLIPS: But if I do, you know, I could --

THE COURT: Go ahead.

MR. PHILLIPS: Well, okay.

RECROSS-EXAMINATION

BY MR. PHILLIPS:

Q We've talked about the offshore structure. Are the foundations in the top two tiers of the organizational chart offshore entities?

A No.

Q They're --

A They're onshore entities. They're tax-exempt entities.

Q Thank you.

A The investments are offshore.

Q Thank you.

THE COURT: Mr. Morris? One question.

FURTHER REDIRECT EXAMINATION

BY MR. MORRIS:

Q Do you hold yourself out as an expert on the organizational structures in the Caribbean for charitable organizations?

A I hold myself out as a tax professional versant on setting up offshore master fund structures. It's sort of a bread-and-butter thing. But there are plenty of people that can testify that this is very typical.

Q Uh-huh. Okay.

THE COURT: Okay. Thank you.

All right. You are excused, Mr. Patrick. I suppose you'll want to stay around. I don't know if you'll potentially be recalled today.

(The witness steps down.)

THE COURT: All right. We should take a lunch break. I'm going to put this out for a democratic vote. Forty-five minutes? Is that good with everyone?

MR. SBAITI: Do we have to leave the building to eat, Your Honor, or is there food in the building?

THE COURT: I think --

MR. SBAITI: I'm sorry to ask that question, but --

THE COURT: Yes. You know what, there used to be a very bad cafeteria, but I think it closed. Right, Mike? So, you know, --

MR. SBAITI: Sorry I asked that.

A VOICE: Hate to miss that one.

THE COURT: Is 45 minutes not enough since you have to go off campus? I'll give you an hour. It just means we stay later tonight.

A VOICE: Can we just say 2:00 o'clock?

MR. SBAITI: That's fine with us, Your Honor.

THE COURT: 2:00 o'clock. That's 50 minutes. See you then.

MR. SBAITI: Thank you.

A VOICE: Your Honor, can we just get a time check?

THE COURT: Okay.

THE CLERK: Yeah. The Debtors are at an hour and eleven minutes. Respondents at an hour nineteen.

THE COURT: And hour and eleven and an hour and nineteen.

A VOICE: Wait, that's not right.

A VOICE: That can't be right.

A VOICE: Two hours? We started at --

THE COURT: Okay. So, again, their side, the collective Respondents?

THE CLERK: An hour and eleven, responding to your questions, --

A VOICE: Yeah, he's not recording --

THE CLERK: So an hour and eleven and an hour and nineteen.

THE COURT: But they were already over an hour --

A VOICE: Yeah. It's been over three hours.

THE COURT: -- with opening statements.

THE CLERK: An hour and twelve. Yes. They were very short with the questioning. It was only like --

THE COURT: Okay. We'll double-check that over the break with the court reporter.

A VOICE: All right. Thank you, Your Honor.

THE COURT: We'll double-check and let you know.

THE COURT: All rise.

(A luncheon recess ensued from 1:09 p.m. until 2:03 p.m.)

THE COURT: All right. Please be seated. We're going back on the record in Highland after our lunch break. I'm going to confirm time. We've had the Debtor an aggregate of an hour and eleven minutes. The Respondents, an aggregate of an hour and twenty minutes. Okay? So we've gone two hours and thirty-one minutes.

If it seems like we've been going longer, it's because we did not do the clock on the opening matters regarding removal, extension of time. And then when I interjected with questions, we stopped the clock. All right? So let's go.

You may call your next witness, Mr. Morris.

MR. MORRIS: Thank you, Your Honor. The Debtor calls

James Dondero.

THE COURT: All right.

A VOICE: He had to step down the hall. We had a little trouble getting through security. Let me --

THE COURT: All right. Mr. Dondero, you've been called as the next witness. So if you'll approach our witness stand, please. All right. Please raise your right hand.

(The witness is sworn.)

THE COURT: All right. Please be seated.

JAMES D. DONDERO, DEBTOR'S WITNESS, SWORN

DIRECT EXAMINATION

BY MR. MORRIS:

Q Good afternoon, Mr. Dondero.

A Good afternoon.

Q Can you hear me?

A Yes.

Q Okay. So, you were here this morning, correct?

A Yes.

Q All right. So, we're going to put up -- we'll put it up on the screen, but if you'd prefer to look at a hard copy in the binder that's marked Volume 1 of -- 2 of 2, I'd ask you to turn to Exhibit 25. Or you could just follow on the screen. And this is a one-page document, so maybe that's easier.

A Sure.

Q Do you have it? All right.

A Yes.
Q This is the organizational chart for what's known as the DAF, correct?
A Yes.
Q And Mark Patrick set up this structure, correct?
A I believe he coordinated. I believe it was set up by third-party law firms. I believe it was Hutton or a firm like that.
Q Mr. Patrick participated in the creation of this structure because you gave him the task of setting up a charitable entity for Highland at that time, correct?
A Yes.
Q And you approved of this organizational structure, correct?
A Yes.
Q And Grant Scott was the Trustee of the DAF for a number of years, correct?
A I often use that word, trustee, but technically I think it's managing member.
Q That's right. I appreciate that. I was using your word from the deposition. But is it fair to say that, to the best of your knowledge, Grant Scott was the sole authorized representative of the entity known as the DAF from 2011 until just recently?
A Sole -- I would describe it more he was in a trustee function.

Q Uh-huh.
A Advice was being provided by Highland on the investment side. He wasn't expected to be a financial or an investment expert. And then accounting, tax, portfolio, tracking, you know, compliance with all the offshore formation documents, that was all done by Highland as part of a shared services agreement.
Q Okay. I appreciate that, but listen carefully to my question. All I asked you was whether he was the authorized representative, the sole authorized representative for the ten-year period from 2011 until recently.
A Yes.
Q Okay.
A I believe so.
Q Thank you. You served as the managing member of the DAF GP, LLC before Mr. Scott, correct?
A Yes.
Q Okay. And if you turn to Exhibit 26 in your binder, that's the amended and restated limited liability company agreement for the DAF GP, LLC, correct?
A Yes.
Q And on the last page, that's your signature line, right?
A Yes.
Q And you stepped down as the managing member on March 12, 2012, and were replaced by Mr. Scott, correct?

A Yes.

Q And as you recall it, Mr. Scott came to be appointed the trustee of the DAF based on your recommendation, right?

A Based on my recommendation? Yes, I would say that's fair.

Q And you made that recommendation to Mr. Patrick, right?

A I -- I don't remember who I made the recommendation to. But I would echo the testimony of Mark Patrick earlier that the purpose of stepping down was to make the DAF unaffiliated or independent versus being in any way affiliated.

MR. MORRIS: I move to strike.

BY MR. MORRIS:

Q And I'd ask you to listen carefully to my question.

THE COURT: Sustained.

BY MR. MORRIS:

Q You made the recommendation to Mr. Patrick, correct?

A I would give the same answer again.

Q Okay.

MR. MORRIS: Can we please put up Mr. Dondero's deposition transcript from last Friday at Page 297?

I believe, Your Honor, that the court reporter thought that this was a continuation of a prior deposition, and that's why the pages begin in the, you know, high in the 200s and not at Page 1. Just to avoid any confusion.

BY MR. MORRIS:

Q Mr. Dondero, do you see the transcript in front of you?
A Yes.
Q Okay. Were you asked this question and did you give this answer? "Who did you make the" -- question, "Who did you make the recommendation to?" Answer, "It would have been Mark Patrick."
A I don't recall right now as I sit here, and it seems like I was speculating when I answered, but it -- it probably would have been Mark Patrick. I just don't have a specific recollection.
Q You made the recommendation to Mr. Patrick because he was responsible for setting up the overall structure, correct?
A I -- I can't testify to why I did something I don't remember. I think that would be -- Q Can we --
A -- speculative.
Q Are you finished, sir?
A Yeah.
Q Okay.

MR. MORRIS: Can we go to Page 299, please?

BY MR. MORRIS:
Q Lines 6 through 10. Did I ask this question and did you give me this answer? Question, "But why did you select Mr. Patrick as the person to whom to make your recommendation?" Answer, "Because he was responsible for setting up the overall structure."

Were you asked that question and did you give that answer last Friday?

A Yes.

Q Thank you. But it's your testimony that you don't really know what process led to Mr. Scott's appointment, correct?

A No, I -- I said I was refreshed by Mark Patrick's testimony earlier.

Q Yeah. Were you refreshed that, in fact, you specifically had the authority to and did appoint Grant Scott as the managing member of the DAF GP, LLC?

A I -- I don't know.

Q Well, you're referring to Mr. Patrick's testimony and I'm asking you a very specific question. Did you agree -- is your memory refreshed now that you're the person who put Grant Scott in the position in the DAF?

A I -- I don't know if I owned those secret shares that -- well, they're not secret, but shares that could appoint anybody on the planet. I guess if I was in that box at that time before Grant, then I would have had that ability. I'm not denying at all that I recommended Grant. I'm just saying I don't -- I don't remember if I went specifically to him or if it was Thomas Surgent that was orchestrating it at the time. I don't remember.

Q Do you deny that you had the authority to and that you did appoint Grant Scott as your successor?

MR. TAYLOR: Your Honor, objection to the extent it calls for a legal conclusion. I can't get close to a mic, so --

THE COURT: I overrule the objection.

THE WITNESS: Can you repeat the question for me?

BY MR. MORRIS:

Q Do you deny that you had the authority to and that you did, in fact, appoint Grant Scott as your successor?

A It'd be better to say I don't -- I don't -- no, I don't remember or I didn't know the details at the time. But, again, I -- I assume I owned those shares. And, again, I do remember recommending Grant and -- but exactly how it happened, I don't remember.

Q Did you hear Mark Patrick say just an hour ago that you appointed Grant Scott as your successor?

MR. SBAITI: Objection, Your Honor. Misstates testimony. The witness testified he transferred shares. That's different than an appointment power.

THE COURT: Response? I can't remember the exact way you worded it, to be honest.

MR. MORRIS: Neither can I, but I'll even take it that way.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. MORRIS: I think he's wrong, but I'll even take it that way.

THE COURT: Okay.

BY MR. MORRIS:

Q Mr. Dondero, did you listen to Mark Patrick say that you are the person who made the decision to transfer the shares to Mr. Scott in 2012?

A Yes, I heard him say that.

Q Okay. So, do you -- do you dispute that testimony?

A I -- I don't have any better knowledge to dispute or confirm.

Q You and Mr. Scott have known each other since high school, correct?

A Yes.

Q You spent a couple of years at UVA together, correct?

A Yes.

Q You were housemates together, correct?

A Yes.

Q He was the best man at your wedding, correct?

A Yes.

Q He's a patent lawyer, correct?

A Yes.

Q He had no expertise in finance when -- when he was appointed as your successor to the DAF, correct?

A Correct.

Q To the best of your knowledge, at the time Mr. Scott assumed his position, he had never made any decisions concerning collateralized loan obligations, correct?

A Correct, but he wasn't hired for that. That wasn't his position.

Q Was he the person who was going to make the decisions with respect to the DAF's investments?

A My understanding on how it was structured was the DAF was paying a significant investment advisory fee to Highland. Highland was doing portfolio construction and the investment selection of -- or the investment recommendations for the portfolio. There is an independent trustee protocol that I believe was adhered to, but it was never my direct involvement. It was always the portfolio managers or the traders.

You have to provide three similar or at least two other alternatives, and then with a rationale for each of them, but a rationale for why you think one in particular is better. And the trustee looks at the three, evaluates them. And the way I understand it always worked, that it works at pretty much every charitable trust or trust that I'm aware of, they generally, if not always, pick alongside the -- or, pick the recommendation of their highly-paid investment advisory firm.

Q And are you the highly-paid investment advisory firm?

A Highland was at the time, yes.

Q And you controlled Highland, right?

A Yes.
Q Okay. But at the end of the day, is it your understanding that Mr. Scott had the exclusive responsibility for making actual decisions on behalf of the charitable trust that you had created?
A Yeah, I mean, subject to the protocol I just described.
Q Yeah, okay, so let's keep going. Mr. Scott had no experience or expertise running charitable organizations at the time you decided to transfer the shares to him, correct?
A Yes, I believe that's correct.
Q Okay. You didn't recommend Mr. Scott to serve as the DAF's investment advisor, did you?
A No.
Q And until early 2021, as you testified, I believe, already, HCMLP served as the DAF's investment advisor, correct?
A Yes.
Q And until early 2021, all of the DAF's day-to-day operations were conducted by HCMLP pursuant to a shared services agreement, correct?
A Yes.
Q And from the time the DAF was formed until January 9, 2020, you controlled HCMLP, correct?
A Yes.
Q You can't think of one investment decision that HCMLP recommended that Mr. Scott ever rejected in the ten-year period, correct?

MR. SBAITI: Objection, Your Honor. Lacks foundation.

THE COURT: Response?

MR. MORRIS: I'm not quite sure what to say, Your Honor. The witness has already testified that HCMLP was the investment advisor, made recommendations to Mr. Scott, and that Mr. Scott was the one who had to make the investment decisions at the end of the day.

MR. SBAITI: He's not here as a witness for HCMLP. He's here in his personal capacity. There's no foundation he'd have personal knowledge of which specific investments were proposed, which ones were rejected or accepted. He said it was done by the portfolio manager.

THE COURT: Okay. I overrule. He can answer if he has an answer.

BY MR. MORRIS:

Q Sir, you can't think of one investment decision that HCMLP ever recommended to Mr. Scott that he rejected, correct?

A I can't think of one, but I would caveat with I wouldn't have expected there to be any.

Q So you expected him to just do exactly what HCMLP recommended, correct?

A No. I would expect him to sort through the various investments when he was given three or four to choose from and be able to discern that, just as we had with our expertise, which was much greater than his, discern which one was the best and most suitable investment, the best risk-adjusted investment, that he would come to the same conclusion.

Q Okay. You can't think of an investment that Mr. Scott ever made on behalf of the DAF that didn't originate with HCMLP, correct?

A Again, no, but I wouldn't expect there to be.

Q Okay. And that's because you expected all of the investments to originate with the company that you were controlling, correct?

A We were the hired investment advisor with fiduciary responsibility --

Q Uh-huh.

A -- and with a vested interest in making sure the DAF performance was the best it could be.

Q Okay. Let --

A He was, as you said, a patent attorney. It would have been unusual for him to second-guess. I'm sure, in any private investment or any investment that was one off or didn't have comps, you know, he probably sought third-party valuations. But you would have to talk to him about that, or the people at Highland that did that.

MR. MORRIS: I move to strike. It's a very simple question.

THE COURT: Sustained.

BY MR. MORRIS:

Q Sir, you can't think of one investment that Mr. Scott made on behalf of the DAF that did not originate with HCMLP, correct?

A I'm going to give the same answer.

Q Okay. Let's go to Page 371 of the transcript, please. Lines 7 through 11.

Oh, I apologize. I think I might -- I think I meant 317. I think I got that inverted. Yeah.

Did I ask this question and did you give this answer: "Can you think of any investment that Mr. Scott made on behalf of the DAF that didn't original with HCMLP?" Answer, "He wasn't the investment advisor, but no, I don't -- I don't recall."

Is that the answer you gave on Friday?

A Yes.

Q Thank you. Let's --

MR. SBAITI: Just for clarification, Your Honor, --

THE COURT: Pardon?

MR. SBAITI: -- the deposition was last Tuesday, not on Friday.

MR. MORRIS: I stand corrected, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. MORRIS: I apologize.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. MORRIS: I apologize if the Court thinks I misled it.

BY MR. MORRIS:

Q Let's talk about Mr. Scott's decision during the bankruptcy case that preceded his resignation. After HCMLP filed for bankruptcy, CLO Holdco, Ltd. filed a proof of claim, correct?

MR. ANDERSON: Your Honor, I haven't objected yet, but we literally haven't covered anything that deals with commencing or pursuing a claim or cause of action. I'm going to object. This is way outside, again, the bounds of the contempt hearing. It's -- otherwise, it's other discovery for something else. It literally has nothing to do with pursue a claim or cause of action.

THE COURT: We have another relevance objection. Your response?

MR. MORRIS: Your Honor, the evidence is going to show that Mr. Dondero told Mr. Scott on three separate occasions that his conduct, which were acts of independence, were inappropriate and were not in the best interests of the DAF. Within days of the third strike, he resigned. Okay?

I think it's relevant to Mr. Dondero's control of the DAF. I think that the moment that Mr. -- this is the argument I'm going to make. I'll make it right now. You want me to make it now, I'll make it now. The moment that Mr. Scott exercised independence, Mr. Dondero was all over him, and Mr. Scott left. That's what happened. The evidence is going to be crystal clear.

And I think that that control of the DAF is exactly what led to this lawsuit. And what led -- and I'm allowed to make my argument. So that's why it's relevant, Your Honor, because I think it shows that Mr. Scott -- Mr. Scott, after exercising independence, was forced out.

MR. ANDERSON: That doesn't move the needle one bit as to whether a lawsuit was commenced or a claim or cause of action was pursued, which is the subject of the contempt motion. It doesn't move the needle one bit as to those two issues, as to whether that has any bearing on was it commenced or was it pursued.

MR. MORRIS: Your Honor, I appreciate the very narrow focus that counsel for a different party is trying to put on this, but it is absolutely relevant to the question of whether Mr. Dondero was involved in the pursuit of these claims. All right? That's what the order says. Pursue.

THE COURT: All right. Overruled.

BY MR. MORRIS:

Q After HCMLP filed for bankruptcy, CLO Holdco filed a proof of claim, correct?

A I believe so.
Q And in the fall of 2020, Mr. Scott amended the proof of claim to effectively reduce it to zero, correct?
A I -- I guess.
Q And Mr. Scott made that decision without discussing it with you in advance, correct?
A Yes.
Q But you did discuss it with him after you learned of that decision, correct?
A I don't -- I don't recall. I'm willing to be refreshed, but I don't remember.
Q Well, you told him specifically that he had given up bona fide claims against the Debtor, correct?
A Let me state or clarify my testimony this way. Um, --
MR. MORRIS: Your Honor, it's really just a yes or no question. His counsel can ask him if he wants to clarify, but it's really just a yes or no question.
BY MR. MORRIS:
Q You told Mr. Scott that he gave up bona fide claims against the Debtor, correct?
THE COURT: Okay.
THE WITNESS: I don't know if I told him then with regard to those claims.
BY MR. MORRIS:
Q Okay. Can we go to Page 321 of the transcript? At the bottom, Line 21? 22, I apologize.

Did I ask this question and did you give this answer? "And what do you" -- Question, "And what do you recall about your discussion with Mr. Scott afterwards?" Answer, "That he had given up bona fide claims against the Debtor and I didn't understand why."

Did I ask that question and did you give that answer last Tuesday?

A Yes.

Q Okay. A short time later, in December, the Debtor filed notice of their intention to enter into a settlement with HarbourVest, correct?

A Yes.

Q And CLO Holdco, under Mr. Scott's direction, filed an objection to that settlement, correct?

A Yes.

Q And that settlement, the substance of that settlement was that the Debtor did not have the right to receive HarbourVest's interests in HCLOF at the time, correct?

A I don't remember the exact substance of it.

Q Okay. But you do remember that you learned that Mr. Scott caused CLO Holdco to withdraw the objection, correct?

A Yes, ultimately.

Q Okay. And again, Mr. Scott did not give you advance notice that he was going to withdraw the HarbourVest objection, correct?

A No, he -- he did it an hour before the hearing. He didn't give anybody notice.

Q You learned that Mr. Scott caused CLO Holdco to withdraw its objection to the HarbourVest settlement at the hearing, correct?

A Yes.

Q And you were surprised by that, weren't you?

A I believe everybody was.

Q You were sur... you were surprised by that, weren't you, sir?

A Yes.

Q And you were surprised by that because you believed Mr. Scott's decision was inappropriate, right?

A Partly inappropriate, and partly because 8:00 o'clock the night before he confirmed that he was going forward with the objection. And I think the DAF's objection was scheduled to be first, I think.

Q After you learned that Mr. Scott instructed his attorneys to withdraw the CLO Holdco objection to the HarbourVest settlement, you again spoke with Mr. Scott, correct?

A Yes.

Q And that conversation took place the day of the hearing or shortly thereafter, correct?

A Yes.

Q And during that conversation, you told Mr. Scott that it was inappropriate to withdraw the objection, correct?
A Yes.
Q And in response, Mr. Scott told you that he followed the advice of his lawyers, correct?
A Yes.
Q But that didn't -- that explanation didn't make sense to you, right?
A Yes.
Q In fact, you believed that Mr. Scott failed to act in the best interests of the DAF and CLO Holdco by withdrawing its objection to the HarbourVest settlement, correct?
A Yes.
Q And while you didn't specifically use the words fiduciary duty, you reminded Mr. Scott in your communications with him that he needed to do what was in the best interests of the DAF, correct?
A Yes.
Q You're the founder of the DAF, correct?
A I put it -- I put it in motion. Yeah. I tasked Mark Patrick and third-party law firms to do it, but if that boils down to founder, I guess yes.
Q Uh-huh. And you're the primary donor to the DAF, correct?
A Yes.
Q You're the investment advisor to the DAF, or at least you were at that time?

A Yes.
Q And because you served in these roles, you expected Mr. Scott to discuss his decision to withdraw the HarbourVest objection in advance, correct?
A Yes, I -- I think it was even broader than that. I mean, he was having health and anxiety issues, and to the extent he felt overwhelmed, I -- you know, yeah, you should do what's in the best interests at all times, but -- but yes, I thought it would be helpful if he conferred with me or Mark Patrick or whoever he was comfortable with.
Q Mr. Dondero, you specifically believed that Mr. Scott's failure to tell you that he was going to withdraw the HarbourVest objection in advance was inappropriate, right?
A Yes.
Q Even though he was the sole authorized representative, you believed that, because you were the founder of the DAF, the primary donor of the DAF, and the investment advisor to the DAF, he should have discussed that before he actually made the decision, correct?
A No. What I'm saying is at 8:00 o'clock at night, when he confirms to numerous people he's ready to go first thing with his objection, and then he or counsel or some combination of them change their mind and don't tell anybody before the hearing, that's odd and inappropriate behavior.

MR. MORRIS: Can we go to Page 330 of the transcript, please?

And Your Honor, before I read the testimony, there is an objection there. So I'd like you to rule --

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. MORRIS: -- before I do that. It can be found at -- on Page 330 at Line 21.

(Pause.)

MR. MORRIS: Here we go. Page 30, beginning at Line 19. 330, rather.

THE COURT: Okay.

(Pause.)

THE COURT: Okay. I overrule that objection.

BY MR. MORRIS:

Q Mr. Dondero, were you asked this question and did you give this answer last Tuesday? Question, "Do you believe that he had an obligation to inform you in advance?" Answer, "I don't know if I would use the word obligation, but, again, as the founder or the primary donor and continued donor to the DAF, and as the investment advisor fighting for above-average returns on a daily basis for the fund, significant decisions that affect the finances of the fund would be something I would expect typically a trustee to discuss with the primary donor."

Did you give that answer the other day, sir?

A Yes.
Q If Mr. Patrick decides tomorrow to withdraw the lawsuit that's in District Court, does he have an the obligation to tell you in advance?
A Again, I wouldn't use the word obligation. But something that I think ultimately is going to be a $20 or $30 million, if not more, benefit to the DAF, to the detriment of Highland, if you were to give that up, I would expect him to have a rationale and I would expect him to get other people's thoughts and opinions before he did that.
Q Okay. But does he have to get your opinion before he acts?
A No, he does not.
Q Okay. So he -- Mr. Patrick could do that tomorrow, he could settle the case, and if he doesn't come to you to discuss it in advance, you won't be critical of him, right?
A He doesn't have the obligation, but there's -- there's a reasonableness in alignment of interests. I -- a growing entrepreneur sets up a trust, a lot of times they'll put their wife in charge of it, and she hires investment advisers and whatever, but they've got the best interests at mind for the charity or the children or whatever.

You know, people who go rogue and move in their own self-interest or panic, that stuff can happen all the time. It doesn't make it appropriate, though.

Q A couple of weeks after Mr. Scott withdraw the objection to the HarbourVest settlement, he entered into a settlement agreement with the Debtor pursuant to which he settled the dispute between the Debtor and CLO Holdco, correct?
A Yes.
Q Okay. You didn't get advance notice of that third decision, correct?
A No.
Q Can we go to Page -- Exhibit 32 in your binder? And this is the settlement agreement between CLO Holdco and the Debtor, correct? Attached as the exhibit. I apologize.
A Yes.
Q And do you understand that that's Mr. Scott's signature on the last page?
A Yep.
Q And you learned about this settlement only after it had been reached, correct?
A Yep.
Q And you believed Mr. Scott's decision not to pursue certain claims against the Debtor or to remove HCMLP as the manager of the CLOs was not in the best interests of the DAF, correct?
A Correct.
Q And you let Mr. Scott know that, correct?
A Yes.

Q After learning about the settlement agreement on January 26th, you had one or two conversations with Mr. Scott on this topic, correct?
A Yes.
Q And your message to Mr. Scott was that the compromise or settlement wasn't in the DAF's best interest, correct?
A It was horrible for the DAF.
Q Uh-huh. And you told him that, right?
A Yes.
Q Okay. From your perspective, any time a trustee doesn't do what you believe is in the trust's best interest, you leave yourself open to getting sued, correct?
A Who is "you" in that question?
Q You. Mr. Dondero.
A Can you repeat the question, then, please?
Q Sure. From your perspective, any time you're a trustee and you don't believe that the trustee is doing what's in the best interests of the fund, the trustee leaves himself open to getting sued, correct?
A I don't know who the trustee leaves himself open to, but as soon as you go down a path of self-interest or panic, you -- you potentially create a bad situation. But I don't know who holds who liable.
Q Did you believe that Mr. Scott was acting out of self-interest or panic when he decided to settle the dispute with the Debtor on behalf of CLO Holdco?

A Yes.
Q Did you tell him that?
A He told me that.
Q He told you that he was acting out of panic or desperation? With self-int... withdrawn. Withdrawn. Did he tell you that he was acting out of self-interest?
A He was having health problems, anxiety problems, and he didn't want to deal with the conflict. He didn't want to testify. He didn't want to come to court. He didn't want to do those things. And I told him I didn't think the settlement was going to get him out of that stuff. I think, you know, it got him out of some issues, but I think you guys are going to go after him for other stuff. But he -- he panicked.
MR. MORRIS: I move to strike the latter remark.
THE COURT: Sustained.
BY MR. MORRIS:
Q Shortly after you had the conversation with Mr. Scott, he sent you notice of his intent to resign from his positions at the DAF and CLO Holdco, correct?
A Yes.
Q Okay. Let's take a look at that, please. Exhibit 29. This is Mr. Scott's notice of resignation, correct?
A Yes.
Q He sent it only to you, correct?

A Yes.
Q A couple of days before he sent this, he told you he was considering resigning; isn't that right?
A Yes.
Q Okay. And he told you he was considering resigning because he was suffering from health and anxiety issues regarding the confrontation and the challenges of administering the DAF given the bankruptcy, correct?
A Yes.
Q He didn't tell you that he made the decision -- withdrawn. Did you tell him in this same conversation -- withdrawn. Is this the same conversation where you conveyed the message that the compromise or settlement wasn't in the best interests of the DAF?
A You mean the conversation -- or the resignation? Is that -- can you rephrase the question, please?
Q Yeah, I apologize. It's my fault, sir. You testified that after the January 26th hearing you had a conversation with Mr. Scott where you told him that the compromise or settlement was not in the best interests of the DAF, correct?
A Yes.
Q Okay. Did Mr. Scott share with you his concerns about anxiety and health issues in that same conversation, or was it in a subsequent conversation?
A It was at or around that time. I -- I don't remember which conversation.

Q Okay.
A But it was right at or around that time.
Q All right. You never asked Mr. Scott to reconsider, did you?
A No.
Q You don't recall sending this notice of resignation to anyone, do you?
A No.
Q You don't remember notifying anyone that you'd received notice of Mr. Scott's intent to resign from the DAF, do you?
A It was -- yeah, no, I -- I don't remember. It was a busy time around that time and this was a secondary issue.
Q Okay. So the fact that the person who has been running the DAF for a decade gives you and only you notice of his intent to resign was a secondary issue in your mind?
A Yes, because when I talked to him at about that time, I said, okay, well, it's going to take a while. I don't even know how the mechanism works. But don't do anything adverse to the DAF, don't do anything else until, you know, you've figured out transition.
Q Uh-huh.
A And so once he had confirmed he wouldn't do anything outside normal course until he transitioned, I didn't worry about this. I had bigger issues to worry about at the time.

Q In the third paragraph of his email to you, he wrote that his resignation will not be effective until he approves of the indemnification provisions and obtains any and all necessary releases. Do you see that?
A Yes.
Q And that was the condition that on January 31st Mr. Scott placed on the effectiveness of his resignation, correct?
A Condition? Yeah, I -- I think he's trying to state the timing will happen after that.
Q After he gets the release, right?
A Yes.
Q And he wanted the release because you'd told him three different times that he wasn't acting in the best of the DAF, correct?
MR. TAYLOR: Objection, Your Honor.
MR. SBAITI: Objection. Calls for --
MR. TAYLOR: Objection. Calls for speculation.
THE WITNESS: Yeah, I --
THE COURT: Sustained.
THE WITNESS: I can't take that jump. Yeah.
BY MR. MORRIS:
Q In response to this email from your lifelong friend, you responded, if we could scroll up, about whether divest was a synonym -- if we can look at the first one -- whether divest is a synonym for resigned. Do I have that right?

A (no immediate response)
Q If you will look at your response on Monday morning at 9:50.
A Yes.
Q Okay. And then after Mr. Scott responds, you respond further, if we can scroll up, and you specifically told him, "You need to tell me ASAP that you have no intent to divest assets." Correct?
A Yes.
Q And you wrote that because you believed some of his behavior was unpredictable, right?
A I think I wrote that because the term divest in investment terms means sale or liquidate, but I guess it had a different legal term in the way he was looking at it. I wasn't aware at that time of the shares that could be bequeathed to anybody, and I think the divest refers to that, but I wasn't aware that that's how the structure worked at that time, and I was worried that divest could be the investment term and I -- it wouldn't have been appropriate for him to liquidate the portfolio.
Q So, and you wanted to make sure he wasn't liquidating or intending to liquidate any of the CLOs, correct?
A Correct.
Q Okay. So he's still the authorized, the sole authorized representative, but you wanted to make sure that he didn't do anything that you thought was inappropriate. Fair?

A It's because I had talked to him before this and he said he wasn't going to do anything outside normal course, and then the word divest scared me, but I didn't realize it was a legal term in this parlance here.
Q And so after he explained, you still wanted to make sure that he wasn't divesting any assets, correct?
A Yes.
Q Okay. Since February 1st, you've exchanged exactly one text messages with Mr. Scott; is that right?
A I think there've been several, several text messages. But one on his birthday.
Q Yeah. And you haven't spoken to him in months, correct?
A In a couple months, yes.
Q All right. Let's talk about the replacement of Mr. Scott. With -- with Mr. Scott's notice, someone needed to find a replacement, correct?
A Yes.
Q And the replacement was going to be responsible for managing a charitable organization with approximately $200 million of assets, most of which was seeded directly or indirectly through you, correct?
A Yes.
Q And the replacement was going to get his and her -- his or her investment advice from you and NexPoint Advisors; do I have that right?

A That was the plan.
Q Okay. Ultimately, Mr. Patrick replaced Mr. Scott, correct?
A Yes.
Q But it's your testimony that you had no knowledge that Mr. Patrick was going to replace Mr. Scott until after it happened on March 24, 2021. Correct?
A That's correct. I believe it happened suddenly.
Q So, for nearly two months after you had received notice of Mr. Scott's intent to resign, you were uninvolved in the process of selecting his replacement, correct?
A I was uninvolved. I'd say the process was dormant for an extended period of time until Mark Patrick came on board, and then Mark Patrick ran the process of interviewing multiple potential candidates.
Q Mark Patrick didn't have any authority prior to March 24th, correct?
A Is March 24th the date that he transitioned the shares to himself from Grant Scott?
Q Yep.
A That's when he then became the trustee of the DAF, yes.
Q Do you know -- do you know who was instructing Mr. Patrick on who to interview or how to carry the process out?
A He was doing that on his own with, I think, recommendations from third-party tax firms.

Q So Mr. Patrick was trying to find a successor to Mr. Scott, even though he had no authority to do that, and you were completely uninvolved in the whole process? Do I have that right?

A I was uninvolved, yes. He was trying to facilitate it for the benefit of his friendship with Grant Scott and knowing that it -- it -- with his resignation, it had to transition to somebody. And he enjoys working on the DAF, he enjoys the charitable stuff in the community, and he was the most appropriate person to work on helping Grant transition.

MR. MORRIS: All right. I move to strike, Your Honor. It's hearsay.

THE COURT: Sustained.

BY MR. MORRIS:

Q You're aware that Mr. Seery was appointed the Debtor's CEO and CRO last summer, correct?

A Yes.

Q And you're aware that Mr. Seery's appointment was approved by the Bankruptcy Court, correct?

A Yes.

Q And you were aware of that at the time it happened, correct?

A Yes.

Q And even before that, in January of 2020, you consented to a settlement where you gave up control of the Debtor. Correct?

A To the independent board for a consensual Chapter 11 restructuring that would leave Highland intact.

Q And do you understand that the gatekeeper provision in the July order is exactly like the one that you agreed to in January except that it applies to Mr. Seery instead of the independent directors?

A I -- I learned a lot about that today, but I don't think it's appropriate to move what applied to the board to the CEO of a registered investment advisor.

Q Okay. I'm just asking you, sir. Listen carefully to my question. Were you aware in January 2020 that you agreed to a gatekeeper provision on behalf of the independent board?

A Generally, but not specifically.

Q Okay.

A Not -- not like what we've been going over today.

Q Okay. And you knew that Mr. Seery had applied to be appointed CEO subject to the Court's approval, correct?

A Wasn't it backdated to March? I -- I think the hearing was in June, but it was backdated for -- for money and other purposes, right? I -- that's my recollection. I don't remember otherwise.

Q You do remember that Mr. Seery got -- he got -- his appointment got approved by the Court, right?

A Yes. But, as far as the dates are concerned, I thought it was either in March or retroactive to March. Maybe it was June or July.
Q And you --
A But I don't remember.
Q Did you have your lawyers review the motion that was filed on behalf of the Debtor?
A I'm -- I assume they do their job. I -- if they didn't, I don't know.
Q Okay. That's what you hired them to do; is that fair?
A Yes.
Q Okay. Can we go to Exhibit 12, please? I think it's in Binder 1. You've seen this document before, correct?
A Yes.
Q In fact, you saw versions of this complaint before it was filed, correct?
A Yes, I saw one or two versions towards the end. I don't know if I saw the final version, but --
Q Sir, you participated in discussions with Mr. Sbaiti concerning the substance of this complaint before it was filed, correct?
A Some. I would just use the word some.
Q Okay. Can you describe for me all of your conversations with Mr. Sbaiti concerning the substance of this complaint?
MR. SBAITI: Your Honor, I would object on the basis of work product privilege and attorney-client communications. He was an agent for my client, the DAF, at the time he was having these discussions with us, and our discussions with him were work product. So to the extent he can reveal the conversations without discussing the actual content, we would raise privilege objection, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Mr. Morris?

MR. MORRIS: Your Honor, there is no privilege here. That's exactly why I asked Mr. Patrick the questions earlier today. Mr. Dondero is not party to any agreement with the DAF today. It's an informal agreement, perhaps, but there is no contractual relationship, there is no privity any longer between Mr. Dondero or any entity that owns and controls in the DAF, as far as I know. If they have evidence of it, I'm happy to listen, but that -- that's exactly why I asked those questions of Mr. Patrick earlier today.

THE COURT: All right.

MR. SBAITI: Your --

THE COURT: That was the testimony. There's an informal arrangement, at best.

MR. SBAITI: Well, Your Honor, I would suggest that that doesn't necessarily mean that he isn't an agent of the DAF. It doesn't have to be a formal agreement for him to be an agent of the DAF.

Everyone's agreed he was an advisor. Everyone's agreed he was helping out. That is an agency relationship. It doesn't have to be written down. It doesn't have to be a formal investment advisory relationship. He's still an agent of the DAF. He was requested to do something and agreed to do it under the expectation that all of us had that those would be privileged, Your Honor. That is -- that is sufficient -- that is sufficient, I would argue, to get us where we need to be. The privilege should apply, Your Honor, and they don't have a basis for, I would say, invading the privilege, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Well, do you have any authority? Because it just sounds wrong. He's not an employee of your client. He doesn't have any contractual arrangement with your client.

MR. SBAITI: Your Honor, I would dispute the idea that he has no contractual arrangement with my client. The question was asked, do you have a -- do you have a written agreement, and then the question was, so you don't have a contract, and the answer was no, I don't have a contract, building upon that first -- that first question. But the testimony as he just recounted is that there is an agreement that he would advise Mr. Patrick and he would advise the DAF.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. SBAITI: That's -- that's a contract.

THE COURT: Okay. My question was, do you have any legal authority? That's what I meant when I said authority. Any legal authority to support the privilege applying in this kind of --

MR. SBAITI: In an informal arrangement, Your Honor? I don't have one at my fingertips at the moment, Your Honor, but I don't know that that should be a reason to invade the privilege.

And I would just add, Your Honor, I would just add, we've already -- because of the purpose of these questions, you've heard Mr. Morris state several times that the purpose is to show that Mr. -- that Mr. Dondero had some role in advising and participating in the creation of this complaint. That's been conceded by myself. I believe it was conceded by Mr. Dondero.

The actual specific facts, the actual specific conversations, Your Honor, shouldn't be relevant at this point and they shouldn't be admissible, given -- given the relevancy, given the perspective of the privilege.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. MORRIS: If I might --

THE COURT: I overrule your objection. I don't think a privilege has been shown here --

MR. SBAITI: And Your Honor, --

THE COURT: -- and I think it's relevant.

MR. SBAITI: -- I would ask if we could voir dire the witness on the basis of the privilege, if that's --

THE COURT: All right. You may do so.

VOIR DIRE EXAMINATION

BY MR. SBAITI:

Q Mr. Dondero, do you have a relationship with the DAF?

A Yes.

Q How would you describe that relationship?

A I view myself and my firm as the investment advisor. I was actually surprised by the testimony today that there wasn't a contract in place, but there should be one. There should be one soon, in my opinion.

Q Have you -- did you hear Mr. Patrick testify earlier that he comes to you for advice?

A Yes.

Q Is that --

A As he should. Yeah.

Q Is that true?

A Yes.

Q When you render that advice, do you render that advice with some expectation about him following or listening to that advice?

A Okay, I think there's only been one investment or one change in the DAF portfolio since Mark Patrick's been involved, only one, and it was a real estate investment that I wasn't directly involved in. And so the people who put that investment forward worked with Mark without my involvement, and then I think Mark got third-party appraisal firms and third-party valuation firms involved to make sure he was comfortable, which was a good process.

Q When you supplied information to Mr. Patrick, do you do so under the belief that there is a contractual, informal or formal, relationship?

MR. MORRIS: Objection to the form of the question.

THE COURT: Overruled.

MR. SBAITI: What specific form?

THE COURT: Overruled.

MR. SBAITI: Thank you.

THE WITNESS: Yes. I believe it -- it's a relationship that can and should be papered as -- soon. That's my -- I mean, unless I get some reason from counsel not to, I think it's something that should be memorialized.

BY MR. SBAITI:

Q And when you have that -- in that relationship, when you communicate with Mr. Patrick about matters, investment or otherwise, is there an expectation of privacy?

A Yes.

Q When Mr. Patrick -- did Mr. Patrick request that you interface with my firm and myself, as he testified earlier?

A Yes.

Q And when he did so, did he ask you to do so in an investigatory manner?

MR. MORRIS: Objection to the form of the question.

THE COURT: Sustained. Rephrase.

BY MR. SBAITI:

Q Did he tell you why he wanted you to talk to us?

A Yeah. At that point, he had started an investigation into the HarbourVest transaction.

Q And -- and when he -- when you were providing information to us, did he tell you whether he wanted you to help the Sbaiti firm conduct the investigation?

A The -- overall, the financial numbers and tables in there were prepared by not myself, but I -- I did -- I did help on -- on the -- some of the registered investment advisor issues as I understood them.

Q Okay. And the communications that you had with us, was that part of our investigation?

MR. MORRIS: Objection to the form of the question.

THE COURT: Overruled.

THE WITNESS: Yes.

BY MR. SBAITI:

Q And did you understand that we had been retained by Mr. Patrick on behalf of the DAF and CLO Holdco?

A Yes.

Q And did you appreciate or have any understanding of whether or not you were helping the law firm perform its legal function on behalf of the DAF and CLO Holdco?

A Perform its legal function? I was just helping with regard to the registered investment advisor aspects of the overall, you know, like that.

Q Let me ask a more simple question. Did you -- did you appreciate that you were assisting a law firm in its representation of the DAF?

A Yes.

Q And you were helping the law -- and were you helping the law firm develop the facts for a complaint?

A Yes. I would almost say, more importantly, I wanted to make sure that there weren't errors in terms of understanding either how CLOs worked or how the Investment Advisers Act worked. So I was -- it was almost more of a proofing.

MR. SBAITI: Your Honor, based upon that, I mean, he's helping a law firm perform its function for the client. That's an agency relationship that gets cloaked. You can call him a consulting expert. You can call him, to a certain extent, a fact witness, Your Honor. If we want to take a break, I'm sure we could find authority on that basis for a work product privilege pretty easily.

But he's an agent of the DAF. Even if it's an informal agency relationship, that's still agency. He's in some respects, I guess, an agent of the law firm, to the extent he's helping us perform our legal work. And it seems like invading that privilege at this juncture is (a) unnecessary, because we've already conceded that there's been conversations, which I think is the relationship they wanted to establish. And it's not unusual for a law firm to use someone with specialized knowledge to understand some of the intricacies of the actual issues that they're -- that they're getting ready to litigate.

THE COURT: Okay. I find no privilege. All right. That's the ruling.

MR. BRIDGES: Your Honor, may I add one thing to the objection for the record?

THE COURT: Okay, we have a rule, one lawyer per witness. Okay? So, thank you. A District Court rule, by the way, not mine.

MR. SBAITI: Your Honor, may we take a short recess, given the Court's ruling?

THE COURT: Well, I'd really like to finish this witness. How much longer do you have?

MR. MORRIS: About eight more questions.

THE COURT: All right. We'll take a break after the direct, okay?

MR. SBAITI: Your Honor, I would ask that we -- if he's going to ask him more questions about the content of the communications, I ask respectfully for a recess so we can figure out what to do about that. Because, right now, there's a ruling that he's going to have to reveal privileged information, and we don't have a way to go around and figure out how to resolve that issue if we needed to.

THE COURT: Okay. I've ruled it's not privilege. Okay?

MR. SBAITI: I understand that, Your Honor, but --

THE COURT: Your client is CLO Holdco and the DAF.

MR. SBAITI: Yes, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Representative, Mark Patrick. No contract with Mr. Dondero. The fact that he may be very involved I don't think gives rise to a privilege. That's my ruling.

MR. SBAITI: I understand, Your Honor. I understand, Your Honor, but I'm asking for a recess so that we can at least undertake to provide Your Honor with some case law on a reconsideration before we go there, because that bell can't be unrung.

MR. MORRIS: Your Honor, if I may?

MR. SBAITI: And it's --

THE COURT: Uh-huh.

MR. MORRIS: I'm happy to give them ten minutes, Your Honor, as long as they don't talk to the witness.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. MORRIS: I want to give them the opportunity. Go right ahead.

THE COURT: All right. We'll take a ten-minute break.

MR. SBAITI: Thank you.

THE COURT: It's 3:05.

THE CLERK: All rise.

(A recess ensued from 3:03 p.m. until 3:17 p.m.)

THE CLERK: All rise.

THE COURT: Okay. Please be seated. Going back on the record in Highland. Mr. Sbaiti?

MR. SBAITI: Yes, Your Honor. May I approach?

THE COURT: You may.

MR. SBAITI: Your Honor, we have some authority to support the position we'd taken. We'd ask the Court to reconsider your ruling on the privilege.

The first bit of authority is Section 70 of the Restatement (Third) of Law Governing Lawyers. Privileged persons within the meaning of Section 68, which governs the privilege, says that those persons include either agents of either the lawyer or the client who facilitate communications between the two in order for the lawyers to perform their function.

Another case that we found is 232 F.R.D. 103 from the Southern District of New York, 2005. It's Express Imperial Bank of U.S. v. Asia Pulp Company. And in that case, Your Honor, the consultant was a -- had a close working relationship with the company and performed a similar role to that of the employee and was assisting the law firm in performing their functions, and the court there found that the work product privilege -- actually, the attorney-client privilege -- attached in what they called a Functional Equivalents Doctrine, Your Honor.

And here we have pretty much the same set of facts that's pretty much undisputed. The fact that there -- and the fact that there isn't a written agreement doesn't mean there isn't a contractual arrangement for him to have rendered services and advice. And the fact that he's, you know, recruited by us to help us perform our functions puts him in the realm, as I said, of something of a consulting expert.

Either way, the work product privilege, Your Honor, should apply, and we'd ask Your Honor not to invade that privilege at this point, Your Honor. And I'll ask you to reconsider your prior ruling.

Furthermore, I believe Mr. Morris, you know, in making his argument, is trying to create separation. The fact that he has no relationship, that the privilege can be invaded, seems to defeat the whole premise of his whole line of questioning.

So, once again, Your Honor, I just -- it's a tit for a tat there, and it seems to kind of eat itself. Either he is working with us, which we've admitted he is working with us, us being the law firm, and helping us do our jobs, or he's not. And if he's not, then this should be done.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. MORRIS: Your Honor, briefly?

THE COURT: Well, among other things, what do you want me to do? Take a break and read your one sentence from the Restatements and your one case? And could you not have anticipated this beforehand?

MR. SBAITI: Your Honor, --

THE COURT: This is not the way we work in the bankruptcy courts, okay? We're business courts. We have thousands of cases. We expect briefing ahead of time.

MR. SBAITI: Your Honor, this has been a rather rushed process anyway. And to be honest, --

THE COURT: When was the motion filed?

MR. SBAITI: Your Honor, --

THE COURT: More than a month ago.

MR. SBAITI: -- his deposition was a week ago.

THE COURT: Well, okay. So you could not have anticipated this issue until his deposition one week ago?

MR. SBAITI: Your Honor, this issue arose at the deposition, obviously, because that's what he's quoting from. However, at least to us, this is such a well-settled area, and to be honest, --

THE COURT: Such a well-settled area that you have one sentence from the Restatement and one case from the Southern District of New York?

MR. SBAITI: No, Your Honor. I think the work product privilege lexicon -- we had ten minutes to try to find something more on point than the general case law that applies the work product privilege to people that work with lawyers, consultants who work with lawyers, employees who work with lawyers, even low-down employees who normally wouldn't enjoy the privileges that attach to the corporation, when they work with the company for -- when they work with the company lawyers, it typically attaches.

THE COURT: You know, obviously, I know a few things about work product privilege, but he doesn't check any of the boxes you just listed out.

MR. SBAITI: I disagree, Your Honor.

THE COURT: He's not an employee. He's not a low-level employee.

MR. SBAITI: He's a consultant.

THE COURT: With no agreement.

MR. SBAITI: With a verbal agreement. He's an advisor. And he was recruited by us, and at the request of the DAF, of the head of the DAF, Mr. Patrick, to help us do our job for the DAF. I don't --

THE COURT: Okay. Mr. Morris, what do you want to say?

MR. MORRIS: Just briefly, Your Honor. This issue has been ripe since last Tuesday. They directed him not to answer a whole host of questions about his involvement at the deposition last Tuesday, so they've actually had six days to deal with this. That's number one.

Number two, there's absolutely nothing inconsistent with the Debtor's position that Mr. Dondero is participating in the pursuit of claims and at the same time saying that his communications with the Sbaiti firm are not privileged. There's nothing inconsistent about that.

So the argument that he just made, that somehow because we're trying to create separation, that that's inconsistent with our overall arching theme that Mr. Dondero is precisely engaged in the pursuit of claims against Mr. Seery, I think that takes care of that argument.

Finally, your Honor, with respect to this consultancy arrangement, not only isn't there anything in writing, but either you or Mr. Sbaiti or I, I think, should ask Mr. Dondero the terms of the agreement. Is he getting paid? Is he doing it for free? Who retained him? Was it Mr. -- because the -- there's no such thing. There's no such thing.

The fact of the matter is what happened is akin to I have a slip-and-fall case and I go to a personal injury lawyer and I bring my brother with me because I trust my brother with everything. It's not privileged. Any time you bring in somebody who is not the attorney or the client, the privilege is broken. It's really quite simple. Unless there's a common interest. They can't assert that here. There is no common interest. So --

THE COURT: Okay. Mr. Sbaiti, I'll give you up to three more minutes to voir dire Mr. Dondero to try to establish some sort of agency relationship or other evidence that you think might be relevant.

VOIR DIRE, RESUMED

BY MR. SBAITI:

Q Mr. Dondero, when you provided information to the law firm, were you doing so under an agency relationship? Do you know what an agency relationship is?

A Generally. When you're working on the -- or why don't you tell me?

Q Tell me your understanding, so we can use --

A That you're working for the benefit or as a proxy for the other entity or the other firm or the other person.

Q Right. So you're working for the DAF?

A Yes.

Q Do you do work for the DAF?

A Yes. As I stated, I'm surprised there isn't -- when we reconstituted after leaving Highland, we put in shared services agreements in place and asset management agreements in place and tasked people with doing that for most of the entities. There might be still a few contracts that are being negotiated, but I thought most of them were in place.

So I would imagine that there'll be an asset management agreement with the DAF back to NexPoint sometime soon, so it -- it's --

Q Let me ask you this question. When you were providing information to us and having conversations with us, were you doing that as an agent of the DAF, the way you described it, --

A Yes.

Q -- on their behalf?

A Yes.

Q Were you also doing it to help us do our jobs for the DAF?

A Yes.

Q Did you respond to requests for information from myself?

A Yes.

Q Did you help coordinate other -- finding other witnesses or sources of information at my request?

A Yes.

Q Did you do so based upon any understanding that I was working on behalf of the DAF for that?

A Yes. I knew -- I knew you were working for the DAF. No one else, yeah.

Q And so -- and so did you provide any expertise or any in-depth understanding to myself in helping me prepare that complaint?

A I think so, but I give a lot of credit to your firm for researching things that I -- I knew reasonably well but then you guys researched in even more depth.

MR. MORRIS: I'd move to strike the answer as nonresponsive.

THE COURT: Sustained.

BY MR. SBAITI:

Q Let me ask the question again. When you were providing us information and expertise, were you doing so knowing you were working -- helping us work for the DAF?

A Yes.

Q Now, did you demand any compensation for that?

A No.

Q Do you require compensation necessarily to help the DAF?

A No.

Q Do you do other things for the DAF sometimes without compensation?

A Right. We do the right thing, whether we get paid for it or not. Yes.

Q Had you known that our communications were not necessarily part of an agency relationship with the DAF, as you understood it, that you were just some guy out on the street, would you have had the same conversations with us?

A (sighs)

Q Let me ask a better question. If I had come to you working for someone that wasn't the DAF, you didn't already have a relationship with, would you have given us the same help?

A I wouldn't have been involved if it was somebody else.
Q Is the reason you got involved because we were the lawyers for the DAF?
A Correct.
MR. MORRIS: Objection. It's just leading. This is all leading.
THE WITNESS: Correct.
THE COURT: Sustained.
MR. SBAITI: Can --
THE WITNESS: Yeah. Sorry.
BY MR. SBAITI:
Q Do you get -- do -- did you -- did you do work for the -- did you provide the help for the DAF laboring under the understanding that there was an agreement?
MR. MORRIS: Objection; leading.
THE COURT: Sustained.
BY MR. SBAITI:
Q Earlier you testified you believed there was an agreement?
A I thought that was an agreement, and I thought there will be one shortly if there isn't one, yes.
Q Okay.
A And so we -- I've been operating in a bona fide way in the best interests of the DAF throughout -- assuming there was an agreement, but even if there wasn't a formal one, I would still be moving in the best interests of the DAF and helping your firm out or --

Q And you did that because you believed there was an agreement or soon would be?

A Yes.

MR. SBAITI: Your Honor, I mean, I believe we've established a dual role here, both as an agent of the DAF and as an agent of the law firm, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Okay. Just a minute. I'm looking at Texas authority on common interest privilege to see if there's anything that --

(Pause.)

THE COURT: All right. Again, it would have been very nice to get briefing ahead of time. I think this absolutely could have been anticipated.

I do not find the evidence supports any sort of protection of this testimony under work product privilege, common interest privilege. I just haven't been given authority or evidence that supports that conclusion. So the objections are overruled.

Mr. Morris, go ahead.

DIRECT EXAMINATION, RESUMED

BY MR. MORRIS:

Q Can you describe for the Court the substance of your communications with Mr. Sbaiti concerning the complaint?

A As I've stated, directing him toward the Advisers Act and then largely in a proofing function regarding CLO nomenclature and some of the other fund nomenclature that sometimes gets chaotic in legal briefs.

Q Did you communicate in writing at any time with anybody at the Sbaiti firm regarding any of the matters that are the subject of the complaint?

A I can't remember anything in writing. Almost everything was verbal, on the phone.

Q You don't tend to write much, right?

A Periodically.

Q Did you communicate with Mr. Patrick? Did you communicate with anybody in the world in writing regarding the substance of anything having to do with the complaint?

MR. SBAITI: Objection, Your Honor. Argumentative.

THE COURT: Overruled.

THE WITNESS: I --

MR. SBAITI: Your Honor, may I just -- one housekeeping. Rather than raise the same objection, may we have a standing objection, just so we're not disruptive, as to the privilege, just for preservation purposes, on the content of these communications? Otherwise, I'll just make the same objections and we can go through it.

THE COURT: Well, disruptive as it may be, I think you need to object to every --

MR. SBAITI: Okay.

THE COURT: -- question you think the privilege applies to.

MR. SBAITI: I will do so. Thank you, Your Honor. Uh-huh.

BY MR. MORRIS:

Q Mr. Dondero, the question was whether you've ever communicated with anybody in the world in writing concerning anything having to do with the complaint?

A Not that I remember.

Q Okay.

MR. MORRIS: I will point out, Your Honor, that last week, when the privilege was asserted, I had requested the production of a privilege log. I was told -- I forget exactly what I was told, but we never received one. I'll just point that out as well.

THE COURT: Okay.

BY MR. MORRIS:

Q You provided comments to the drafts of the complaint before it was filed, correct?

A Yes, a few.

Q Can you describe for the Court all of the comments that you provided to earlier drafts of the complaint?

MR. SBAITI: Your Honor, we object on the basis of privilege and work product and joint -- joint interest privilege.

THE COURT: Overruled.

THE WITNESS: It's along the lines of things I've said in this court several times. The obligations under the Advisers Act cannot be negotiated away and they cannot be waived by the people involved, full stop. I remember giving the -- Mazin the example of the only reason why we're in a bankruptcy is from an arbitration award that, even though we did what was in the best interests of the investors, we got the investors out more than whole over an extended period of time, they got an arbitration award that said when we purchased some of the secondary interests we should have offered them up to the other 800 members in the committee besides the -- the 800 investors in the fund besides the eight people on the committee who had approved it and that the committee couldn't approve a settlement that went against the Advisers Act and the Advisers Act stipulates specifically that you have to offer it up to other investors before you take an opportunity for yourself. And someday, hell or high water, in this court or some other, we will get justice on that. And that was the primary point that I reminded Mazin about.

BY MR. MORRIS:

Q And that's exactly the conversation you had with Mark Patrick that started this whole thing, correct?

A No.

Q You told Mark Patrick that you believe the Debtor had usurped a corporate opportunity that should have gone to the DAF, didn't you?
A That was not our conversation.
Q So when Mr. Patrick testified to that earlier today, he just got it wrong, right?
A Well, maybe later on, but it wasn't that in the beginning. The beginning, any conversation I had with Mark Patrick in the beginning was smelling a rat in the way that the Debtor had priced the portfolio for HarbourVest.
Q Hmm. So you're the one, again, who started that piece of the discussion as well, correct?
A Started the -- I -- I guess I smelled a rat, but I put the person who could do all the numbers in touch with the Sbaiti firm.
Q And was the rat Mr. Seery?
A Was the rat Mr. Seery? Or the independent board. Or a combination thereof. I believe the independent board knew exactly what Seery was doing with -- Q Do you have any idea --
A -- HarbourVest.
Q Do you have any idea why, why the Sbaiti firm didn't name the whole independent board in the -- in the motion for leave to amend?
A I don't know. Maybe they will at some point.

Q Yeah.
A I don't know.
Q But did you tell the Sbaiti firm that you thought the whole independent board was acting in bad faith and was a rat?
MR. SBAITI: Your Honor, I object on the basis of privilege.
THE COURT: Overruled.
MR. SBAITI: All three.
THE WITNESS: I knew Jim Seery was and I knew Jim Seery had weekly meetings with the other independent board members, so the HarbourVest settlement was significant enough that it would have been approved, but I don't have direct knowledge of their involvement.
BY MR. MORRIS:
Q And so you -- but you believed Jim Seery was certainly a rat, right?
A Oh, I -- there was a defrauding of third-party investors to the tune of not insignificant 30, 40, 50 million bucks, and it was obfuscated, it was -- it was highly obfuscated in the 9019.
Q Did you think Mr. Seery was a rat, sir? Yes or no?
A I believe he had monthly financials. He knew that the numbers presented in the 9019 were wrong. And if that makes him a rat, that makes him a rat. Or maybe he's just being aggressive for the benefit of his incentive or for the estate.

But I -- I believe those things wholeheartedly.

Q Did you tell the Sbaiti firm you thought Jim Seery was a rat?

MR. SBAITI: Objection, Your Honor. Privilege.

THE COURT: Overruled.

THE WITNESS: I -- I don't remember using those words.

BY MR. MORRIS:

Q Did you tell the Sbaiti Firm that you thought Jim Seery had engaged in wrongful conduct?

MR. SBAITI: Your Honor, objection. Privilege.

THE COURT: Overruled.

THE WITNESS: I believe he violated the Advisers Act, and I was clear on that throughout.

BY MR. MORRIS:

Q Listen carefully to my question. Did you tell the Sbaiti firm that you believed that Jim Seery engaged in wrongful conduct?

MR. SBAITI: Objection, Your Honor. Calls for privileged communications.

THE COURT: Overruled.

THE WITNESS: I think I gave the answer. I'll give the same answer. I believe he violated the Advisers Act.

BY MR. MORRIS:

Q What other wrongful conduct did you tell the Sbaiti firm you thought Mr. Seery had engaged in?

MR. SBAITI: Same objection, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Overruled.

MR. SBAITI: Calls for privileged communications.

THE COURT: Overruled.

THE WITNESS: I -- I just remember the obfuscating and mispricing portfolio violations of the Advisers Act was all I discussed with the Sbaiti firm regarding Seery's behavior.

BY MR. MORRIS:

Q Did you talk to them about coming to this Court under the gatekeeper order to see if you could get permission to sue Mr. Seery?

A I --

MR. SBAITI: Objection, Your Honor. Calls for privileged communication.

THE COURT: Overruled.

THE WITNESS: I wasn't involved in any of the --

BY MR. MORRIS:

Q Did you --

A -- tactical stuff on who to sell or -- who to sue or when or whatever.

Q Did you tell the Sbaiti firm that you thought they should sue Mr. Seery?

MR. SBAITI: Objection, Your Honor. Calls for privileged communication.

THE COURT: Overruled.

MR. SBAITI: I'll also say, Your Honor, the question is getting a little argumentative.

THE WITNESS: I didn't get directly --

THE COURT: Overruled.

THE WITNESS: I didn't get directly involved in who was -- who was specifically liable.

BY MR. MORRIS:

Q How many times did you speak with the Sbaiti firm concerning the complaint?

A Half a dozen times, maybe.

Q Did you ever meet with them in person?

A I've only met with them in person a couple, three times. And I don't think any of them -- no, it was, excuse me, it was on deposition or other stuff. It wasn't regarding this.

Q Did you send them any information that was related to the complaint?

A I did not.

Q Did you ask anybody to send the Sbaiti firm information that related to the complaint?

A I did not. I -- I was aware that Hunter Covitz was providing the historic detailed knowledge to the firm, but it -- it wasn't -- I don't believe it was me who orchestrated that.

Q Did you talk to anybody at Skyview about the allegations that are contained in the complaint before it was filed?
A I don't -- I don't remember.
Q Have you ever talked to Isaac Leventon or Scott Ellington about the allegations in the complaint?
A No. They weren't involved.
Q How about -- how about D.C. Sauter? You ever speak to him about it?
A I don't --

MR. TAYLOR: Objection, Your Honor.

THE WITNESS: I don't remember.

MR. TAYLOR: At this point, D.C. Sauter is indeed an employee of Skybridge and is a general counsel for some of the entities which he worked for. And to the extent he's trying to ask for those communications, that would be invasion of the privilege.

MR. MORRIS: I'll withdraw it, Your Honor. That's fair.

THE COURT: Okay

MR. MORRIS: That's fair.

THE COURT: Question withdrawn.

THE WITNESS: I thought you only had eight more questions.

MR. MORRIS: Opened the door.

BY MR. MORRIS:

Q Can you describe the general fact -- withdrawn. You provided facts and ideas to the Sbaiti firm in connection with your review of the draft complaint, correct?
A Ideas and proofreading.
Q Anything beyond what you haven't described already?
A Nope.
Q Okay. Who is your primary contact at the Sbaiti firm, if you had one?
A Mazin.
Q Okay. Did you suggest to Mr. Sbaiti that Mr. Seery should be named as a defendant in the lawsuit before it was filed?
MR. SBAITI: Your Honor, calls for privileged communication. We object --
THE COURT: Overruled.
MR. SBAITI: -- to that answer.
MR. SBAITI: Okay.
THE WITNESS: Again, no. I wasn't involved with the tactics on who would be defendants and when or if other people would be added.
BY MR. MORRIS:
Q Did you -- are familiar with the motion to amend that was filed by the Sbaiti firm?
A I'm more familiar with it after today --
Q Right.
A -- than I was before.

Q And were you aware that that motion was going to be filed prior to the time that it actually was filed?
A I -- I don't remember. Probably.
Q And who would have been the source of that information? Would that have been Mr. Sbaiti?
A Yes.
Q Okay. And did you express any support for the decision to file the motion for leave to amend in the District Court?
A I -- I wasn't involved. It was very complicated legal preservation conver... -- I wasn't involved. I knew the conversations were going on between different lawyers, but I wasn't involved in the ultimate decision. I didn't encourage, applaud, or even know exactly what court it was going to be filed in.

MR. MORRIS: All right. I have no further questions, Your Honor.

THE COURT: All right. Pass the witness.

MR. ANDERSON: We have no questions, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Okay. Any questions from Respondents?

MR. SBAITI: No questions.

THE COURT: Okay. Mr. Taylor?

CROSS-EXAMINATION

BY MR. TAYLOR:
Q Mr. Dondero, --

A Yes, sir.
Q -- you are not the authorized representative of CLO Holdco, are you?
A No.
Q You're not the authorized representative for the DAF, are you?
A No.
Q Do you know who that person is as we sit here today?
A Yes.
Q Who is that?
A Mark Patrick.
Q Thank you.

MR. TAYLOR: No further questions.

THE COURT: Any redirect on that cross?

MR. MORRIS: I do not, Your Honor. I would just like to finish up the Debtor's case in chief by moving my exhibits into evidence.

THE COURT: Okay. Mr. Dondero, you're excused.

(The witness steps down.)

THE COURT: All right. So you have no more witnesses; you're just going to offer exhibits?

MR. MORRIS: Yes, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. MORRIS: So, at Docket #2410, --

THE COURT: Uh-huh.

MR. MORRIS: -- the Court will find Exhibits 1 through 53.

THE COURT: Uh-huh.

MR. MORRIS: In advance, Your Honor, I've conferred with the Respondents' counsel. They had previously objected to Exhibits 15 and 16, which I believe were the Grant Scott deposition transcripts. They objected to them on the grounds of lack of completeness because I had taken the time to make deposition designations, but I'm happy to put the entirety of both transcripts into evidence, and I hope that that will remove the objections to Exhibits 15 and 16.

THE COURT: All right. Before we confirm, let's just make sure we have the right one.

MR. MORRIS: Oh, I apologize.

THE COURT: I have 16 as the July order.

MR. MORRIS: I apologize. You're absolutely right, Your Honor. What I was referring to was -- oh, goodness. One second. (Pause.) I was referring to Exhibits 23 and 24. Those are Mr. Scott's deposition designations. They had lodged an informal objection with me on grounds of completeness. And in order to resolve that objection, we're happy to put the entirety of both transcripts in.

THE COURT: All right. So if our Respondents could confirm with the agreement to put in the entire depos at 23 and 24, you stipulate to 1 through 53?

MR. PHILLIPS: We also -- Your Honor, --

MR. MORRIS: Yeah, I was going to take them one at a time. Just take those two.

MR. PHILLIPS: Yeah, can we just take those two? Confirmed?

MR. MORRIS: Okay.

THE COURT: Oh, okay.

MR. PHILLIPS: Because there are other -- there are other -- we exchanged objections to each other's witness and exhibit lists. And so I think you can handle the rest of them kind of in a bunch, right?

MR. MORRIS: Yeah. Yeah, there's two bunches, actually.

MR. PHILLIPS: Yeah.

THE COURT: Okay. So you have just now stipulated to 23 and 24 being admitted --

MR. MORRIS: Correct.

THE COURT: -- with the full depos? Okay.

MR. PHILLIPS: Yes, ma'am. Thank you.

THE COURT: All right.

(Debtor's Exhibits 23 and 24 are received into evidence.)

MR. MORRIS: And then the next two that they objected to are Exhibits 15 and 16. 15 is the January order and 16 is the July order. They objected on relevance grounds. I think 16 -- these are the two orders that the Debtors contend the Respondents have violated, so I don't understand the relevance objection, but that's what it was and that's my response.

MR. PHILLIPS: Resolved, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Okay. 15 and 16 are admitted.

(Debtor's Exhibits 15 and 16 are received into evidence.)

MR. MORRIS: Okay. And then the last objection relates to a group of exhibits. They're Exhibits 1 through 11. Those exhibits I think either come in together or stay out together. They are exhibits that relate to the HarbourVest proceedings, including deposition notices, including I think the transcript from the hearing, the Court's order, the motion that was filed.

The Debtor believes that those documents are relevant because they go right to the issue of the gatekeeper order and had they filed, had the Respondents followed the gatekeeper order, this is -- this is why they didn't do it. You know what I mean? That's the argument, is that the Respondents, one of the reasons the Respondents -- argument -- one of the reasons the Respondents didn't come to this Court is because they knew this Court had that kind of record before it. And I think that's very relevant.

THE COURT: All right. Response?

MR. PHILLIPS: Your Honor, we think that these exhibits are not relevant. We have a very focused, we think, -- we have the Court's order. Those objections are withdrawn.

We have the complaint. We have the motion to amend. And the issue is whether the motion to amend, which was dismissed one day, or the next day after it was filed, constitutes criminal -- constitutes contempt.

So we think the prior proceedings go to their underlying argument, which is the lawsuit or the complaint is no good, and that has nothing to do with -- there's been no foundation laid and it's not relevant what happened in connection with the HarbourVest settlement. It is what it is, and there's no dispute that it is what it is, but it's not relevant to establish any type of -- they've even said intent is not even relevant here. So we -- that's -- we think all of that goes out and simplifies the record, because it has nothing to do with whether or not there was a contempt.

THE COURT: Response?

MR. MORRIS: We withdraw the exhibits, Your Honor. I'm just going to make it simple for the Court.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. MORRIS: I'm just going to make it simple for the Court.

THE COURT: 1 through 11 are withdrawn.

(Debtor's Exhibits 1 through 11 are withdrawn.)

MR. MORRIS: So, the balance, there was no objection. So all of the Debtor's exhibits on Docket #2410 -- let me restate that. Exhibits 12 through 53 no longer have an objection. Is that correct?

MR. PHILLIPS: Yes.

MR. MORRIS: Okay. And then --

MR. PHILLIPS: Confirmed.

THE COURT: Okay.

(Debtor's Exhibits 12 through 53 are received into evidence.)

MR. MORRIS: Okay. Thank you. And then we filed an amended list, I believe, yesterday --

THE COURT: Uh-huh.

MR. MORRIS: -- to add Exhibits 40 -- 54 and 55.

THE COURT: Uh-huh.

MR. MORRIS: And those exhibits are simply my firm's billing records.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. MORRIS: You know, we added Mr. Demo to the witness list in case there was a need to establish a foundation. That's the only thing he would testify to. I don't know if there's an objection to those two exhibits, because we hadn't had an opportunity to confer.

THE COURT: Any objection?

MR. PHILLIPS: Your Honor, we're not going to require authenticity and foundation for -- we have the right, we think, to say that they're not a ground -- we're not going to challenge that they are the bills, and the bills say what they say. We don't need Mr. -- we don't need a witness to authenticate those exhibits. But we reserve all substantive rights with respect to the effect of those exhibits.

THE COURT: All right. 54 and 55 are admitted.

(Debtor's Exhibits 54 and 55 are received into evidence.)

MR. MORRIS: And with that, Your Honor, the Debtor rests.

THE COURT: Okay. All right. Respondents?

(Counsel confer.)

MR. PHILLIPS: If I could have a second?

THE COURT: Okay.

A VOICE: Sorry, Your Honor.

(Pause.)

MR. PHILLIPS: Your Honor, we have filed in our witness and exhibit list, and I have to say I don't have the number, but we'll get the docket entry number, but we have 44 exhibits. There's an objection to Exhibit #2, which is -- thank you -- it's Document 2411, Your Honor. Thank you.

THE COURT: Uh-huh.

MR. PHILLIPS: There is a pending objection to Exhibit #2 which we have not resolved. There's no objection to any other exhibit. But in reviewing our exhibit list, I found that we had some -- some mistakes and duplications.

So, with respect to 2411, we would withdraw Exhibit 13, 14, and 29, and we would offer Exhibit 1, and then 30 through 44, with 13, 14, and 29 deleted.

THE COURT: Okay. So 1, 3 through 12, --

MR. PHILLIPS: Yes.

THE COURT: -- 15 through 28, and then 30 --

MR. PHILLIPS: And then 30 through 44.

THE COURT: -- through 44? Do you confirm, Mr. Morris?

MR. MORRIS: Yes, Your Honor. The only objection we have is to Exhibit #2.

THE COURT: And that's -- he's not offering that?

MR. MORRIS: Yeah.

MR. PHILLIPS: Not at this time, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. PHILLIPS: We would have to have testimony about that.

THE COURT: Okay. All right. So those are admitted.

MR. PHILLIPS: Okay.

(Mark Patrick's Exhibits 1, 3 through 12, 15 through 28, and 30 through 44 are received into evidence.)

THE COURT: By the way, it looks like Exhibit 44 is at a different docket number, Docket 2420. Correct? You have --

MR. SBAITI: Your Honor, I believe Exhibit 44 is the hearing transcript from the July approval hearing. At least that's what it's supposed to be.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. SBAITI: It was Exhibit 2 on the Debtor's list, and then I think they took it off, so we had to add it.

MR. PHILLIPS: Oh, okay. I was looking -- oh, that's right. They -- that's correct, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. PHILLIPS: Exhibit 44 was added --

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. PHILLIPS: -- because the Debtor's withdrew it, and so it was added in the second -- in the supplemental and amended list. The -- the one that I was talking about was the prior list.

THE COURT: Okay. So that's at Docket 2420?

MR. PHILLIPS: Yes.

THE COURT: You're not offering 45 or 46?

MR. PHILLIPS: No, I think we'd offer 45 and 46 as well. I'm sorry.

THE COURT: Okay. Any objections, Mr. Morris?

MR. MORRIS: No, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Okay. So 45 and 46 are admitted as well. They're at Docket Entry 2420.

(Mark Patrick's Exhibits 45 and 46 are received into evidence.)

THE COURT: All right. Your witnesses?

MR. PHILLIPS: Your Honor, could we have five minutes to just see what we're -- our plan is, and then we'll be back at 4:00?

THE COURT: Okay. We'll be back at 4:00.

MR. PHILLIPS: Thank you.

THE CLERK: All rise.

(A recess ensued from 3:55 p.m. until 4:04 p.m.)

THE CLERK: All rise.

THE COURT: Please be seated. All right. Back on the record in Highland. Mr. Phillips?

MR. PHILLIPS: Your Honor, with the introduction of the Respondents -- CLO Holdco, DAF Fund, LP, and Mark Patrick, those Respondents, and we consider Mark Patrick a Respondent although not formally named as a Respondent because he is the party who authorized the filing of the Seery motion -- we rest.

THE COURT: You rest? Okay. Well, Mr. Morris, closing arguments?

MR. MORRIS: How much time do I have?

THE COURT: You've got a lot more time than you probably thought you were going to. You're under an hour.

MR. MORRIS: 42 minutes?

THE COURT: How much?

THE CLERK: 42 minutes.

THE COURT: 42 minutes? Feel free not to use it all.

MR. SBAITI: Out of curiosity, how long do we have?

THE COURT: You have a lot of time, which I hope you won't use.

THE CLERK: Hour and twenty-five minutes or so.

MR. SBAITI: I was afraid it was going to be an hour and twenty, so --

MR. PHILLIPS: No, not either.

MR. MORRIS: I don't suspect I'll use all the time.

THE COURT: Okay. Thank you.

MR. MORRIS: May I proceed?

THE COURT: You may.

CLOSING ARGUMENT ON BEHALF OF THE DEBTOR

MR. MORRIS: Good afternoon, Your Honor. John Morris; Pachulski Stang Ziehl & Jones; for the Debtor. I'd like to just make some closing remarks after the evidence has closed.

This is a very, very important motion, Your Honor. I take this stuff seriously. It's only the second contempt motion I've ever brought in my life. I've never gone after another law firm. But these facts and circumstances require it, because my client is under attack, and these orders were entered to prevent that.

It is serious stuff. There's no question in my mind, there's no question the evidence showed, clear and convincingly, beyond reasonable doubt, that they violated this Court's order.

I started off with three very simple prongs. So simple you'd think I'd remember them. Number one, was a court order in effect? There is no dispute. The court order was in effect.

Number two, did the order require certain conduct by the Respondent? We believe it did. We heard an hour-long argument styled as an opening statement, but it was really argument and not an opening statement, about all the defects in the order. But the one thing that is crystal clear in the order are the words commence or pursue. You've been told many times by the Respondent that nobody has commenced an action against Mr. Seery. That is true. We all know what the word commence means. We all know what the word pursue means.

I heard argument this morning that pursue means after a claim is filed you pursue a case. That's the way lawyers talk about it. But that doesn't make any sense, Your Honor, because once you've commenced the action you've violated the order. It's commence or pursue, it's in the disjunctive, and you can't read out of the order the concept of pursuit by making it an event that happens after the commencement, because that's exactly what they're trying to do. They're trying to read out of the order the word pursuit.

And I ask you to use very simple common sense. If filing a motion for leave to amend a complaint to add Mr. Seery as a defendant is not pursuit, what is? What is? There's nothing left. You commence an action or you do something less than commencing an action when you're going after the man. That's what pursuit means. They're going after the man. And they asked the District Court to do what they knew they couldn't.

Mr. Phillips is exactly right. I made the point about Rule 15 because they knew they couldn't do it. I'm not suggesting that they should have. I'm suggesting that the reason that they didn't is because they knew they were -- they were in a bad place. Because if they really just wanted to name Mr. Seery as a defendant, they wouldn't have done it. They knew commence was crystal clear.

What they're trying to do is claim that somehow there's an ambiguity around the word pursuit. Does that make any sense at all? Filing a motion for leave to amend the complaint. And Mr. Patrick, to his credit, candidly admitted that if the motion was granted, they were suing, yeah, as long -- as long as the Sbaiti firm, you know, recommended it. That's what would have happened.

Those orders that you signed, nothing, absolutely meaningless from their point of view. They believed they were wrong. They believed that they were overbroad. They believed they were too narrow. They believed they were vague. They believed they were without authority. They don't get to be the gatekeeper. They want to be the gate -- that's this Court's decision. That's why we went through all of the processes that we did. And they just flagrantly said, I don't agree. I don't agree because it's wrong this way and it's wrong that way and it's wrong the other way, and therefore let me go find a higher authority to validate my thinking. That's not the way this process is supposed to work.

The independent directors and Mr. Seery relied on the gatekeeper in accepting their positions. It was a quid pro quo. Mr. Dondero agreed to the exact same provision, the exact same gatekeeper provision in the January order that he now complains about today, that the DAF complains about today. Where were these people?

As the Court knows, nobody appealed either order. The Debtor, the independent board, Mr. Seery expected that the plain and unambiguous words would be honored and enforced. I think that's fair. I think that's the way the process is supposed to work.

Instead, we have games. We have these linguistic gymnastics. We have statements that are too cute by half. Mr. Dondero won't even admit that he appointed Mr. Scott back in 2012. I couldn't even get him to do that, really, even though the documents say it, even though Mr. Patrick says it.

I'll take the Respondents one at a time in a moment, but I just want to deal with some of the more interesting arguments they make. The order was vague because it didn't say you can't seek leave from the District Court to amend your complaint to add Mr. Seery. They said that that's what makes the order vague.

Your Honor, if you had thought to put that language in, you know what they would have done? They would have sued Mr. Seery in New York State Supreme Court, where he lives, and said, the order didn't say I couldn't do that. Where does it end?

There's a reason why the order was crafted broadly to say no commencement or pursuit without Bankruptcy Court approval. You have to bring a colorable claim.

We heard an argument this morning that they couldn't possibly have brought that motion for reconsideration first. You know, the one they filed about eight hours after we filed the contempt motion. They couldn't possibly have brought that motion before the motion for leave to amend because somehow they would have been estopped or they would have been found to have waived some right.

How could it be that anybody reasonably believes that complying with a court order results in a waiver of some right? It just -- these are games. These are not good arguments. And they certainly don't carry the day on a contempt motion.

We've heard repeatedly, the District Court denied the motion without prejudice, how have you been harmed? They shouldn't be able to rely on the District Court's prudence to protect themselves. The question shouldn't be, have you been harmed since the District Court didn't grant the motion? No. The question should be, were we harmed by the attempt to name Mr. Seery a defendant, in violation of court orders, without notice? Without notice.

I'm told they assumed that I'd be checking the dockets. I wasn't checking the docket, Your Honor. I hadn't filed an appearance in the case. And, in fact, if you look at the exhibits, because I could pull it out, but we put in the communications between the lawyers. The last communication was from Mr. Pomerantz, and the last communication from Mr. Pomerantz said, Don't do it or we're going to file a motion for contempt. That's now in the evidence.

So, having sent that message, I wasn't going to check the docket to see if they really were going to go ahead and do it. I didn't think they would. And if they did, I certainly thought I'd get notice of it. Nothing.

And, again, I don't really need to establish intent at all in order to meet my burden of clear and convincing evidence of a contempt of court, but I think it is relevant when the Court hopefully finds liability and is considering damages, because that's really the most important point I have to make right now, is the Court needs to enforce its own orders, because if the Court doesn't, or doesn't impose a penalty that's meaningful, this is just going to continue. And Your Honor, it's all in the record. Your Honor knows this. Mr. Daugherty has gone through it. Right? Mr. Terry went through it. UBS went through it. You've seen litigation now for a year and a half. It's happening in New York, right, the Sbaiti firm is reopening the Acis case. we've got this other lawsuit that's filed by an entity with like a five-tenths of one percent interest who's complaining about the SSP transaction that Mr. -- that the Debtor engaged in. There's no end here.

We need the Court to pump the brakes. We need the Court to exercise its authority. We need the Court to protect the estate fiduciary that it approved.

It is true, Mr. Seery is not a trustee. But it is also true that he is a third-party outsider who came into this case with the expectation and the promise in an order that he wouldn't be subjected to frivolous litigation, that this Court would be the arbiter of whether claims could be pursued against him. That was the code of conduct. That was the quid pro quo. That was the deal that Mr. Seery made. It's the deal that the board members made.

What gives these people the right to just say, your order is wrong, and because I think your order is wrong I'm going to go to the District Court, and if the District Court agrees, too bad, and if the District Court doesn't agree, we'll be back before Your Honor, and no harm, no foul? No. It can't be. It can't be that that's the way this process works. It just can't.

So, Your Honor, let me take the Defendants one at a time, the Respondents one at a time. CLO Holdco and the DAF are corporate entities. They've done what they've done. Mr. Patrick, bless him, I think he's a lovely man. I don't think he quite bargained for what he's getting right now, but nevertheless he is where he is and he's willing to stand up and be counted, and for that, at least, I admire his courage. He's willing to say, I authorized those. But you know what? It's a violation of the law, it's a violation of this Court's order to file that motion, and so he has -- and he was very candid today. He knew of the order. Right? He knew it was in effect. He pointed out that it was in their papers. Right?

They're trying to be cute, they're trying to thread this needle, but it has no hole in it. They keep -- they keep doing this. Well, maybe if we do it this way, maybe if we do it -- no. The order was crystal clear.

The Sbaiti firm. They're probably fathers and husbands and good people and I wish them no ill will, but this is wrong. This is wrong. To come into a court you've never been in before and in less than twelve days to jump the shark like this in twelve -- in less than twelve days, because Mr. Patrick said they weren't hired until April, and the complaint was filed on the 12th.

We're told that they understood this was an overwhelming case with two -- why don't you take your time? What was the rush? Why not wait until the Defendant -- the Debtor appeared in the action before rushing to do this?

It's bad conduct, Your Honor, and that's really a very important point that I have to make, is that there's lots of lawyers who are engaging in highly-questionable conduct here that, from my perspective, goes well beyond the bounds of zealous advocacy.

It's not aggressive lawyering. I love aggressive lawyering. I really do. Respectful, honest -- and I don't, you know, I don't want to say that they're dishonest people. I don't mean to do that. But I think, I think they made a gross error in judgment, and there's no question that they violated this Court's order.

And then that leaves Mr. Dondero. I don't even know what to say about his testimony, Your Honor. He pursued claims against Mr. Seery. He thinks he's a rat. He's the one who started the whole process. He's the one who put the bug in Mark Patrick's ear. All of this is uncontested. Right? Uncontested.

I don't have to go back in time. We can talk about what happened to Grant Scott. It's a very sad story. Mr. Scott, I think, did his honest best to do what he believed, on the advice of counsel, was in the best interest of the DAF. And

Mr. Dondero, as you hear time and time again when he speaks about Mr. Seery, it was inappropriate. He's the arbiter of what's in the best interest of entities that other people control. And they pay a price. And they pay a price. And so Mr. Dondero felt it was his job, even though he tries to distance himself from the DAF -- I have no responsibility, I don't -- I'm not involved -- until, until somebody wants to sue Seery and the Debtor. Then he'll go all in on that, no matter how specious the claim may be.

The Debtor's not going to fold its tent because a motion for leave to amend was denied without prejudice. That's not the point. The point is that people need to respect this Court, people need to respect the Court's orders, and those that aid and abet or otherwise support the violation of court orders ought to be held to account, Your Honor.

I have nothing further.

THE COURT: All right. Thank you. Respondents?

CLOSING ARGUMENT ON BEHALF OF THE RESPONDENTS

MR. SBAITI: Your Honor, the fact that we're here on a motion for leave, and the motion for leave is what they're saying is pursuing a claim under the Court's order, and then you hear that the mere act of investigating a claim against Mr. Seery is also pursuing a claim, this goes to the infinite regression problem with this word pursue the way they want to construe it, Your Honor. Asking for permission is not pursuing a claim and can't be the definition of pursuing a claim because it's not doing anything other than asking for permission.

We didn't file a suit. We didn't commence a suit. I think that's established. We did not pursue a claim. Mr. Morris ignores, I think, the very commonsensical aspect that we put out in the opening, which is that the reason pursue -- and sometimes the language in these types of orders is, instead of pursue, it's maintain -- but the reason that word is there is because sometimes the case has already been started when the order is entered. And so to pursue a claim, i.e., one that's already been filed as of the date of the order, that would be lost if the commencement of that claim hadn't happened until after the -- until the -- if the commencement happened before the order was filed. That's the --

THE COURT: Okay. So are you saying it's a sequential thing?

MR. SBAITI: I'm not sure I understood your question, Your Honor. I'm sorry.

THE COURT: Well, I'm trying to understand what it is you're saying about how pursue should be interpreted.

MR. SBAITI: Sure.

THE COURT: I think you're saying you have to -- you can either have -- well, we've got a prohibition on commencing an action.

MR. SBAITI: Yes.

THE COURT: And then the separate word pursue, I think you're saying that must refer to you already have an action that's been commenced and you're continuing on with it. Is that what you're saying?

MR. SBAITI: Yes, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Then why not use the word continue?

MR. SBAITI: Well, Your Honor, the choice of --

THE COURT: Kind of like 362(a) of the Bankruptcy Code, you know, is worded.

MR. SBAITI: Well, Your Honor, the choice of the wording of pursue at that point, Your Honor, I believe ends up being ambiguous, because by filing the motion here that would be pursuing a claim under that definition. So before I got permission to pursue a claim, I've got to pursue a claim. That's the problem that they have with the words that they're trying to get you to adopt, or the meaning of the words they're trying to get you to adopt.

If I came to this Court and said, Judge, I need permission, I need leave to file suit against Mr. Seery, and then the question is, well, you're not allowed to seek leave because that's pursuing the claim, it's infinitely regressive. And in fact, his closing argument just proved how it's infinitely regressive.

THE COURT: Okay. Let me -- I'm not following this infinitely regressive or whatever the term was.

MR. SBAITI: Yes.

THE COURT: Just answer this very direct question. Why did you not file a motion for leave in the Bankruptcy Court? That would have clearly, clearly complied with the July order.

MR. SBAITI: Your Honor, I believe we explained this in the opening. I took a stab at it. Mr. Bridges took a stab at it. We did not believe coming here and asking for leave and asking for -- for Your Honor to do what we don't believe Your Honor can do, would effectuate an estoppel or a waiver, which we didn't think was in the best interest of our client to have. Your Honor, this happens -- I don't believe this is the --

THE COURT: Okay. Connect the dots. Make that clear as clear can be for me. You file a motion for leave --

MR. SBAITI: Yes.

THE COURT: -- to file this District Court action against the Debtor and Seery, and if I say yes, everything is fine and dandy from your perspective. If I say no, tell me again what your estoppel argument is.

MR. SBAITI: Your Honor, the key question is whether us putting the Court's ability to decide colorability and the Court's gatekeeper functions, for us to invoke those functions concerned us because there's case law that says that that effectuates an estoppel. And so we don't get our chance in front of an Article III judge to make that in the first instance.

THE COURT: Okay. Tell me what cases you're talking about and the exact context of those cases.

MR. SBAITI: Your Honor, I would have to defer to my partner on this one, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. SBAITI: So, --

THE COURT: Because I'm just letting you know --

MR. SBAITI: Yes.

THE COURT: -- I am at a complete loss. I'm at a complete loss understanding what you're saying. I am.

MR. SBAITI: Well, Your Honor, the --

THE COURT: I don't understand. If you have followed the order to the letter and I tell you no, --

MR. SBAITI: Then --

THE COURT: -- what, you're saying you were worried you'd be estopped from appealing my order to the District Court and saying abuse of discretion or invalid order in the first place? You'd be estopped from taking an appeal?

MR. SBAITI: No, Your Honor. We wouldn't be estopped from taking an appeal.

THE COURT: Then why didn't you follow the letter of the order?

MR. SBAITI: For one thing, Your Honor, asking the District Court made sense to us, given the order and given our understanding of the law. Certainly, we had other options, as Your Honor is pointing out. We could have come here. Our read of the law, our understanding of what we were doing, made it -- put us in, like I said, put us in the sort of jurisdictional and paradoxical position.

THE COURT: This is your chance to tell me exactly which law you think applies here. What case? What statute?

MR. SBAITI: Your Honor, like I said, I don't have those at the moment.

THE COURT: Why not? Your whole argument rides on this, apparently.

MR. SBAITI: Well, Your Honor, I don't know that our whole argument rides on that.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. SBAITI: I mean, our argument rides on we don't think we violated the letter of the order. I think that's really what I'm -- what we're here to say, is that we didn't commence a lawsuit and we didn't pursue a claim by filing for leave in the District Court, just like filing for leave in this Court would not be pursuing a claim. It would be filing for leave.

THE COURT: I agree. Filing a motion for leave in this Court would be exactly what the order contemplated.

MR. SBAITI: I understand, Your Honor.

THE COURT: What you did is not exactly what the order contemplated.

MR. SBAITI: Your Honor, but we're -- we're moving back and forth between two concepts. One, your question is why didn't we file for leave?

THE COURT: Uh-huh.

MR. SBAITI: And the answer to that, I've tried to explain. And if we -- if you'd like us to bring up the case law or to give you a better articulation of our concern, I'm happy to defer to my partner.

What I'm really here to say, Your Honor, is a very simple point, though. Just because we didn't file for leave here and we filed for leave in the District Court doesn't mean we violated your order, and that's the point I'm trying to make, Your Honor. And I think that's the simplest point I can make. Asking the Article III judge for leave to amend, for leave to amend to add Mr. Seery, doesn't violate, facially, at least as we read it, Your Honor's order. It's not commencing a suit and it's not -- it's not pursuing a claim against him. It's all preliminary to pursuing a claim against him, because a claim hasn't even been filed.

The judge could have -- the judge could have -- the District Court could have denied it, the District Court could have referred it down here, the District Court could have decided part of it and then asked Your Honor to rule on some portion of it. There are innumerable ways that could have gone. That fork -- those forks in the road is precisely why we say this is not pursuing the claim. Otherwise, where does it stop?

Does pursuing a claim happen just when we file the motion for leave? Why didn't it happen when we started the investigation? If pursuing a claim means having the intent and taking steps towards eventually filing a lawsuit, that's the point that I'm making that it is infinitely regressive, and that's exactly what Mr. Morris argued to you.

He said Mr. Dondero, by merely speaking to me, is pursuing a claim and that violates your order. Speaking to me. Even if we had never filed it. Speaking is pursuing a claim.

THE COURT: I don't agree with that, for what it's worth.

MR. SBAITI: Okay. But that was his argument. I'm just responding to it.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. SBAITI: And if that's not pursuing a claim, filing a motion for leave likewise wouldn't be pursuing a claim. I understand it's an official act in a court, but we did it in a Court that is an adjutant to this Court. This Court is an adjutant to that Court. It's the Court with original jurisdiction over the matter. So we didn't go to New York. We didn't go to the state court in New York where I learned Mr. Seery lives. We came to the Northern District of Texas, understanding that this Court and this Court's orders had to be -- had to be addressed. And that's the very first thing we did. We asked the Court to address it.

That judge could either decide to send it down here, which is normally what I think -- what we understood would happen. So it's not like we were avoiding it. But we wanted to invoke the jurisdiction which we, as the Plaintiff, we believe we had the right to invoke. We're allowed to choose our forum. So that's the forum we chose for the primary case, which there's not a problem, no one's raised an issue with us filing the underlying lawsuit.

Adding Mr. Seery to that lawsuit and filing a motion for leave in the same court where we actually had the lawsuit, knowing that it might get -- that might get decided or referred in some way, doesn't strike me as being anything improper, because he didn't get sued and we don't know what Judge Boyle would have said had the motion gone forward. And for them to speculate and to say that, well, this is exactly the type of thing you have to protect against, I completely disagree.

The case law that they cited for you on these -- on most of these orders really do discuss the fact that you have somebody who is actually protecting the underlying property of the Debtor. This claim comes from a complete third party that Mr. Seery himself has admitted under oath he owes a fiduciary duty to. Two third parties. One is an investor of a fund that he manages, and one to a fund that the Debtor, with Mr. Seery as the head of it, was an advisor for up until recently.

Those fiduciary duties exist. We felt like there was a valid claim to be brought against Mr. Seery. And the only reason -- and he says this like it's a negative; I view it as a positive -- the reason he wasn't named is because of Your Honor's orders. And so we asked a Court, the Court with general jurisdiction, to address it for us or to tell us what to do. And I don't see how that is a violation of this Court's order, nor is it contemptuous of this Court's order.

If every time one of these issues came up it was a contempt of the court that appointed a trustee, we'd see a lot more contempt orders.

Interestingly, the cases that were thrown out to you in the opening argument by the other side, for example, Villages [sic] v. Schmidt, was a trustee case, but not one that involved a sanction. And the trustee case specifically in that case held that the Barton Doctrine didn't have an exception for Stern cases, whereas the cases we cited to you, Anderson, for example, in the Fifth Circuit, which is 520 F.2d 1027, expressly held that Section 959 is an exception to the Barton Doctrine.

And my partner, Mr. Bridges, can walk through the issues that we had on the enforceability of the order, but all -- to me, all of that is sort of a secondary issue because, prima facie, we didn't violate this order. I understand it may irritate the Debtor and may raise questions about why the motion wasn't filed here versus the District Court. But it was a motion for leave. In order to sanction us, Your Honor would have to find that asking for permission is sanctionable conduct in the gatekeeper order. Even if we ask the wrong court. Simply asking the wrong court is sanctionable, not knowing what that court would have done, not knowing what that court's mindset was, not even having the benefit of the argument. And that's, I guess, where this bottom -- the bottom line is for me.

The evidence that they put on for you, Your Honor. Everything you heard was evidence in the negative. You know, they talk about the transition from Mr. Dondero to Mr. Scott and Mr. Scott to Mr. Patrick, but if you actually look at the evidence he wants you to see and he wants you to rule on, it's the evidence that wasn't there. It's the evidence that Mr. Dondero had no control. In fact, I believe that was the basis he argued for why there should be no privilege. And all he said is that he was promoting it.

But the fact of the matter is, like I said, all of that is secondary to the core issue that we didn't violate the order. We didn't take steps to violate the order. We took steps to try to not violate the order. And they want you to punish us to send a message. Even used words like the Court needs to enforce its own orders. And he did that as a transition away from the idea that there were no damages, Your Honor, and I think that has implications.

And then he said you have to enforce a meaningful penalty. Well, Your Honor, I don't think that is the purpose of these sanctions. These sanctions are supposed to be remedial, according to the case law, according to the case law that they cite. So a meaningful --

THE COURT: Coercive or remedial.

MR. SBAITI: Sorry?

THE COURT: Coercive or remedial. Civil contempt.

MR. SBAITI: Sure, Your Honor. But usually coercive sanctions require someone to do something or they are sanctioned until they do it.

THE COURT: Coerced compliance. Coerced compliance --

MR. SBAITI: Yes.

THE COURT: -- with an existing order.

MR. SBAITI: Yes.

THE COURT: Uh-huh.

MR. SBAITI: The last thing, he says you have to protect the estate of the fiduciary and his expectation -- I believe he's talking about Mr. Seery -- his expectation that the Court would be the gatekeeper. And Your Honor, that argument rings a little bit hollow here, given that what they're really saying is that we should have come here first and asked for permission. But that insinuates that, by coming here, the case is dead on arrival, which I don't think is the right argument.

I think the issue for us has been, who do we have to ask and who can we ask to deal with the Court's gatekeeper order? I believe we chose a court, a proper court, a court with jurisdiction, to hear the issue and decide the issue. Your Court's -- Your Honor's indication of the jurisdiction of this Court we believed invoked the District Court's jurisdiction at the same time.

And so the last thing is he said -- the last thing, and getting back to the core issue, is Mr. Morris wants you to believe that we intended to violate the order, and now, as an afterthought, we're using linguistic gymnastics to get around all of that. But it's not linguistic gymnastics. Linguistic gymnastics is saying that pursue means doing anything in pursuit of a claim. That's a little -- I believe that's almost a direct quote. They're chasing the man. Well, that's the infinite regression that I talked about, Your Honor, that it's going to be impossible in any principled way to reconcile

Mr. Morris's or the Debtor's definition of pursue with any logical, reasonable limitation that is readable into the order, Your Honor.

And I'm going to defer to my partner, Mr. Bridges -- oh, go ahead.

THE COURT: I'm going to stop you. I mean, we have the linguistic argument. But how do you respond to this?

MR. SBAITI: Sure.

THE COURT: What if I tell you, in my gut, this appears to be an end run? An end run. I mean, I'm stating something that should be obvious, right? An end run around this Court. This Court spent hours, probably, reading a motion to compromise issues with HarbourVest, issues between the Debtor and HarbourVest. I had objections. An objection from CLO Holdco that was very document-oriented, as I recall. Right of first refusal. HarbourVest can't transfer its 49.98 percent interest in HCLOF, right? Talk about alphabet soup. We definitely have it.

MR. SBAITI: Yes.

THE COURT: Without giving CLO Holdco the first right to buy those assets. Read pleadings. Law clerk and I stay up late. And then, you know, we get to the hearing and there's the withdrawal -- we heard a little bit about that today -- withdrawal of the objection. We kind of confirmed that two or three different ways on the record. And then I remember going to Mr. Draper, who represents the Dugaboy and Get Good Trusts. You know, are you challenging the legal propriety of doing this? And he backed off any objection.

So the Court ended up having a hearing where we went through what I would call the standard 9019 prove-up, where we looked at was it in the best interest, was it fair and equitable given all the risks, rewards, dah, dah, dah, dah. You know, HarbourVest had initially, you know, started at a $300 million proof of claim, eye-popping, but this all put to bed a very complicated claim.

MR. SBAITI: Yeah.

THE COURT: Tell me something that would make me feel better about what is, in my core, in my gut, that this is just a big, giant end run around the Bankruptcy Court approval of the HarbourVest settlement, which is not on appeal, right? There are a gazillion appeals in this case, but I don't think the HarbourVest --

A VOICE: It is on -- it is on appeal, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Is it? Oh, it is on appeal? Okay. So I may be told --

MR. SBAITI: I didn't know.

THE COURT: I may be told, gosh, you got it wrong, Judge. You know, that happens sometimes.

So, this feels like an end run. You know, the appeal is either going to prevail or not. If it's successful, then, you know, do you really need this lawsuit? You know, I don't -- okay. Your chance.

MR. SBAITI: Thank you, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Uh-huh.

MS. SBAITI: Your Honor, this wouldn't be the first case where finality or where there was a settlement -- I'm not familiar as well with bankruptcy, but certainly in litigation -- where the settlement then reveals -- well, after a settlement is done, after everyone thinks it's done, some new facts come to light that change people's views about what happened before the settlement or before the resolution. And that's what happened here, Your Honor. This is what we've pled. And this is what we understand.

There were the instances of Mr. Seery's testimony where he testified to the value of the HarbourVest assets. I believe, as I recall, he testified in I believe it's the approval hearing that Your Honor is talking about that the settlement gave HarbourVest a certain amount of claims of I think it's, Series 8 and then Series 9 claims, and that those were discounted to a certain dollar value that he quantified as about $30, $31 million. And the way he ratified and justified the actual settlement value, the actual money or value he was conferring on HarbourVest, given the critique of HarbourVest claims that he was settling, is he explained it this way. He said $22-1/2 million of this whole pot that I'm giving them pays for the HarbourVest -- HarbourVest's interests in HCLOF -- it's alphabet soup again -- and Highland CLO Funding, Limited. And so it's the other $9 million that's really settling their claims. And given the amount of expense it's going to take, so on and so forth, $9 million seems like a reasonable amount to settle them with, especially since we're just giving them claims.

So that $22-1/2 million everyone apparently took to the bank as being the value, including CLO Holdco at the time, because they didn't have the underlying valuations. Highland was supposed to give the updated valuations.

So, fast-forward a couple of months -- and this is what we've played in our lawsuit, Your Honor; this is why I don't think it's an end run -- we pled in our lawsuit just a couple months later Highland -- I believe some of the people that worked at Highland started leaving, according to some mechanisms that I saw where Highland didn't want to keep all the staff and so the staff was migrated to other places. And one of those gentlemen, I believe Mr. Dondero referred to him as a gentleman named Hunter Covitz, and Hunter Covitz, who's also an investor in HCLOF, he owns a small piece of HCLOF, he had the data, he had some of the information that showed that, actually, in January, when Mr. Seery said that the HarbourVest settlement was worth 22 -- excuse me, the HarbourVest interests in HCLOF were worth $22-1/2 million, that they're actually worth upwards of $45 million.

And so that information, Your Honor, we believe gives us a different -- a different take on what happened and what was supposed to happen. This is strictly about the lack of transparency.

THE COURT: Okay. Assuming --

MR. SBAITI: Yeah.

THE COURT: -- I buy into your argument that this is newly-discovered evidence --

MR. SBAITI: Yes.

THE COURT: -- CLO Holdco would not have had reason to know -- I guess that's what you're saying, right?

MR. SBAITI: I'm saying they -- they didn't know.

THE COURT: That they didn't know.

MR. SBAITI: Uh-huh.

THE COURT: And didn't have reason to know. I'm trying to figure out who's damaged here.

MR. SBAITI: Well, CLO Holdco, my client, is damaged, Your Honor.

THE COURT: How?

MR. SBAITI: Because one of the aspects of the -- of Highland, one of the issues under, excuse me, of Highland's advisory, is that it has a fiduciary duty. And that fiduciary duty, at least here, entails two, if not, three prongs. The first prong is they have to be transparent. You can't say --

THE COURT: How is -- you know, I know a lot about fiduciary duties, believe it or not. How is CLO Holdco harmed and the DAF harmed?

MR. SBAITI: Because, Your Honor, they lost out on an investment opportunity to buy the piece of -- the HarbourVest piece. They would have been able to go out and raise the money. They had the opportunity --

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. SBAITI: They would have had the opportunity to make a different argument.

THE COURT: What you're saying, you're saying, if they had known what they didn't have reason to know, that it was worth, let's say, $45 million, that they would have gone out and raised money and said, oh, we do want to exercise this right of first refusal that we decided we didn't have and gave in on, we're going to press the issue and then outbid the $22 million, because we know it's worth more? Is that where you're going? I'm trying to figure out where the heck you're going, to be honest.

MR. SBAITI: That's -- Your Honor, I'd push back on a little of the phrasing, only because the way these duties -- the way we understand the SEC's duties work when you're an investment advisor is you have a transparency obligation and an obligation --

THE COURT: Yes. Yes.

MR. SBAITI: -- not to divert these. So, yes, CLO Holdco would have at least had the opportunity and been offered the opportunity, which it could have taken advantage of, to, if the assets were really on the block for $22-1/2 million, they should have been able to buy their percentage pro rata share of that $22-1/2 million deal. I mean, in a nutshell, that's -- that's where we believe we've been harmed. And we believe that the obfuscation of those values and, to a certain extent, the misrepresentation of those values in the settlement is not cleansable by the argument, well, you should have asked.

Well, you should have asked is fine in normal litigation, but when the person you should have asked actually owes you a positive duty to inform, we believe that the should-have-asked piece doesn't really apply and there's -- and that's, that's the basis of our case.

So it's not an end run around the settlement, Your Honor. I think I opened with we're not trying to undo the settlement. We're not saying HarbourVest has to take its interest back. We're not saying the settlement has to go on. We're not even saying any of the things that happened in Bankruptcy Court need to change. But Section 959 is pretty clear that this is management of third-party property --

THE COURT: I guess -- okay. Again, rabbit trail, maybe. But CLO Holdco still owns its same 49.02 percent interest that it did before this transaction. So if there's value galore in HCLOF, it still has its 49.02 percent interest. What am I missing?

MR. SBAITI: Oh, I think Your Honor's assuming that HCLOF bought the piece back from HarbourVest. It didn't.

THE COURT: No, I'm not.

MR. SBAITI: Oh.

THE COURT: I'm not assuming that.

MR. SBAITI: Well, --

THE COURT: I know that now the Debtor has, what, fifty point, you know, five percent of HCLOF, whereas it only had, you know, a fraction.

MR. SBAITI: Point six-ish. Yeah.

THE COURT: Point six-ish, and HarbourVest had 49.98.

MR. SBAITI: Right.

THE COURT: So, again, please educate me. I'm really trying to figure out how this lawsuit isn't just some crazy end run around a settlement I approved. And moreover, what's the damages?

MR. SBAITI: Well, Your Honor, --

THE COURT: What's the damages? CLO Holdco still has its 49.02 percent interest in HCLOF.

MR. SBAITI: Your Honor, again, --

THE COURT: What am I missing? I must be missing something.

MR. SBAITI: I think so, Your Honor.

THE COURT: What?

MR. SBAITI: The damages is the lost opportunity, the lost opportunity to own more of HCLOF.

THE COURT: Oh, it could have owned the whole darn thing?

MR. SBAITI: I could have owned 90 -- whatever 49 plus 49.98, 98.98 percent.

THE COURT: But --

MS. SBAITI: Or some pro rata portion.

THE COURT: But Mr. Seery had some information that you think he was holding back from CLO Holdco that CLO Holdco had no reason to know?

MR. SBAITI: Yes, Your Honor. The -- the -- what he testified to that the value of those assets, excuse me, the value of the HarbourVest interests in HCLOF or its share of the underlying assets being $22-1/2 million was either, one, intentionally obfuscated, or, two, and I don't think this excuses it at all, he simply used ancient data and simply never updated himself, not for the Court and not for any representations to the investors, who he himself testified under oath in this Court that he has a fiduciary duty to under the Investment Advisers Act.

THE COURT: This could get very --

MR. SBAITI: So that's injury to my client, Your Honor.

THE COURT: This could get really dangerous. Maybe --

MR. SBAITI: I'm sorry.

THE COURT: This could get really dangerous. Maybe I should cut off where I'm going on this.

MR. SBAITI: Okay.

THE COURT: Of course, someone dangled it out there in a pleading. You know where I'm going, right?

MR. SBAITI: I'm not sure I do, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Hmm. I do read the newspaper, but someone put it in a pleading. HCLOF owns MGM stock, right? Is that what this is all about? Is that what this is all about? Or shall we not do this on the record?

MR. SBAITI: Well, Your Honor, this has nothing -- I don't -- I don't think this has anything to do with the MGM stock one way or the other.

THE COURT: You don't? OH?

MR. SBAITI: Your Honor, my charge as a counsel for the DAF is pretty straightforward. We looked at the claims. We looked at the newly-discovered information. We talked to the people who had it, Your Honor. That was our investigation. We put together a complaint. We believed that we had a good basis to file suit, despite Your Honor's -- the settlement approval. We expressly, because we understand how finality is so critical in a bankruptcy context, we expressly didn't ask for rescission. We expressly didn't ask for anything that would undo the settlement.

Asking for damages because of how the settlement happened, through no fault of the Court's, of course, but asking for damages is not, at least not as I see it, an end run around the Court's settlement, and it's a legitimate claim. And I don't think this is far from the first time that new evidence has come up that's allowed someone to question how something was done that actually -- that actually damaged them.

THE COURT: Usually, they come in for a motion to reopen evidence to the court who issued the order approving the settlement.

MR. SBAITI: Well, Your Honor, I mean, that's --

THE COURT: Newly-discovered evidence.

MR. SBAITI: That would be the case in a final judgment, Your Honor. But, you know, our understanding of the way the settlement worked was that that was not necessarily going to be -- not the direction anybody wanted to go, but seeking damages on a straight claim for damages, which we're allowed to seek, which I think is our prerogative to seek, we went that direction.

THE COURT: Okay. Okay.

MR. SBAITI: But this --

THE COURT: My last question.

MR. SBAITI: Yes, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Again, I have to know. You have filed some sort of pleading to reopen litigation against Acis in New York? I'm only asking this because it's part of what's going on here. What is going on here?

MR. SBAITI: Your Honor, that's a -- that's a separate lawsuit, and it's not to reopen litigation against Acis. It deals with post-plan confirmation mismanagement by Acis.

THE COURT: Oh, okay. Okay.

MR. SBAITI: Yeah.

THE COURT: All right.

MR. SBAITI: But I believe there's a motion in front of Your Honor, just to -- that gave notice that the suit was filed, but I believe Mr. -- well, a bankruptcy lawyer filed it. I don't know.

THE COURT: A motion or a notice? I don't know.

MR. SBAITI: I don't know, Your Honor. That's above my paygrade.

THE COURT: I have not seen it. Okay?

MR. SBAITI: Okay.

THE COURT: Maybe it's there, but no one has called it to my attention.

MR. SBAITI: With the Court's permission, I'm going to yield time to Mr. Bridges.

THE COURT: Okay. Mr. Bridges?

CLOSING ARGUMENT ON BEHALF OF THE RESPONDENTS

MR. BRIDGES: Thank you, Your Honor. I'm grateful that you asked most of those questions to Mr. Sbaiti. I would not have been able to answer them. The one I can answer is the one about judicial estoppel. Apparently, I did a pretty lousy job earlier. I think I'm prepared to do a better job now.

The case law I'd like to refer you to is the Texas Supreme Court's 2009 decision in Ferguson v. Building Materials, 295 S.W.3d 642. And this was my concern and my issue, perhaps because I used to teach it and so it was at the front of my mind. But contrary to what you would think and what you said earlier, it's not your ruling against us that would create a judicial estoppel problem. It's if you ruled in our favor. And I know that seems weird. Let me explain.

The two things that have to take place for there to be judicial estoppel are, first, successfully maintaining a position in one proceeding, and then taking an inconsistent position in another. And Your Honor, what we talked about earlier is the notion that your July order forecloses the key claim that Mr. Sbaiti was just describing, that Mr. Seery should have known. Not that he was grossly negligent or did intentional wrong, but that he breached fiduciary duties because he should have known and should have disclosed.

And if your order forecloses that and we come and convince you that we nonetheless have colorable claims, colorable claims of gross negligence or willful wrongdoing, that we ultimately are unable to prove, our lawsuit could fail, even though we had proved -- in the lawsuit we had proved he should have known and that he breached fiduciary duties, but we would be estopped, having succeeded from coming here and asking in compliance with the order and its colorability rule, that we would be estopped from then saying that this Court lacked the authority to have issued that order in the first place, to have released the claim on the mere breach of fiduciary duty or ordinary negligence. That's the inconsistency that I was concerned about.

By coming here rather than trying to make our objection and our position known without submitting to the foreclosure of that claim that is, in many ways, the most important, the headliner from our District Court complaint, is the concern, Your Honor. And frankly, if Your Honor's order does foreclose that, then we're in serious trouble. That's the claim that we're trying to preserve.

But Your Honor, I don't think it was in anyone's contemplation in July of 2000 that what that order would do is terminate -- 2020; sorry, Your Honor -- in July of 2020, that that order would terminate future claims that might arise based on future conduct that had not yet happened in Mr.

Seery's role. Not in his role as a manager of the Debtor's property, but in his role as a registered investment advisor on behalf of his clients and their property. And that is the concern that the judicial estoppel argument is about.

THE COURT: I still don't understand. I'm very well aware of judicial estoppel, the old expression, you can't play fast and loose with the court. Take one position in one court, you're successful, and then take another position in another court. That's the concept.

MR. BRIDGES: Coming here --

THE COURT: How is this judicial estoppel if you had done what I think the order required and asked this Court for leave? What -- and I said fine, you have leave. Where's the judicial estoppel problem?

MR. BRIDGES: If you say fine, you have leave, but that leave is only, as the order states, because we have colorable claims of gross negligence, colorable claims of intentional wrongdoing, what happens to our mere negligence and mere breach of fiduciary duty claims? Are they foreclosed? The order on its face --

THE COURT: Well, I would interpret the order to be yes, and then you could appeal me, and the Court would either say it's too late to appeal that because you didn't appeal it in July 2020, or fine, I'll hear your appeal. Where's the estoppel?

MR. BRIDGES: Your Honor, our claims that this Court lacks the authority either to have made that order in the first place or the jurisdiction to rule on colorability now because of Section -- the mandatory abstention provision, whose section number I've now lost. That if we come to you and ask you to rule on those things, have we not thereby waived on appeal our claim that you couldn't rule in the first place on those things?

That is what our motion for leave in the District Court argues, is that there's -- there are jurisdictional shortcomings with your ability to decide what we're asking that Court to decide. And Your Honor, by coming here first and then appealing, that's what we fear we would have lost. And instead of coming here and appealing, what we -- what we would have done, in the alternative, I guess, would be to come here and ask you not to rule but move to withdraw the reference of our own motion.

That two-step, filing here and filing a motion to withdraw the reference on the thing we filed here, we didn't think was required, nor could we find any case law or rule saying that that was appropriate.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. BRIDGES: These are not games, Your Honor. We were not trying to play games. We aren't bankruptcy court lawyers. We're not regularly in front of the Bankruptcy Court. So the notion why didn't we come here first isn't exactly at the top of our mind. The question for trial lawyers typically is, where can we file this, what are the permissible venues, not why don't we come to Bankruptcy Court? Especially when your order appears to say that causes of action that don't rise to the level of gross negligence or intentional wrongdoing are already foreclosed.

Your Honor, the January order, I think I have to just briefly address again, even though I don't understand why it makes a difference. Apparently, counsel thinks it makes a difference because Mr. Dondero apparently supported it in some way. Our position is, for whatever difference it makes, the January versus the July, we don't believe there's anything in the District Court complaint putting at issue Mr. Seery's role as a director, so we don't understand how that order is implicated.

Again, I'm not sure that matters at all. I'm not raising it as a defense. I'm just telling Your Honor this is all about the July order, from our perspective. Certainly, the July order puts his role as a CEO -- certainly, the District Court case puts his role as a CEO at issue, and that's what the July order is about.

Your Honor, the Applewood case requires specifics in order to terminate our rights to sue and to bring certain causes of action, and without that kind of specificity, Your Honor, we believe that that order fails to preclude, fails to have preclusive effect as to these later-arising claims. And we would submit not only that it was not contemplated, but that it was not intended to have that effect, and that even Mr. Seery's testimony suggests that that's not how he understood that order to be effective.

Counsel argued that the Barton Doctrine does apply here and rattled off the names of cases that don't -- to my knowledge, no case, no case that I can find deals with this type of deferential order where someone is asked -- where a court is asked to defer to the business judgment of an entity in approving an appointment, and nonetheless deciding that the Barton Doctrine applies. That's not what Villegas holds. That's not what Espinosa holds. I don't think Barton is applicable in a situation like that. Certainly, it's outside of the context of what Barton anticipated itself over a century ago when it was decided.

Your Honor, if we're wrong, please know we're wrong in earnest. These are not games. These are not sneakiness. No such motivation is at issue here. I was hopeful that that would be plain from the text of the motion for leave itself. If it's not, I'd offer this in addition. The docket at the District Court shows that immediately upon filing the motion for leave, a proposed order was filed with it asking to have the proposed complaint deemed filed, which as soon as I saw I asked us to immediately retract it and to substitute a new proposed order that does not ask for the amended complaint to be deemed filed. That is not what we wanted.

And the fear was what if our motion is granted because the District Court says you have the right, you don't even need leave, but as to the Bankruptcy Court, you're on your own, this is at your own risk, I'm not going to rule on any of the jurisdictional questions that you attempt to raise? We did not want our complaint deemed filed for that reason. What we did want was for a court where we did not risk judicial estoppel to decide whether or not our key claim under the Advisers Act had been foreclosed by your July order, and that was the key and motivating factor.

On top of that, Your Honor, instead of arguing the meaning of the word pursue, let me just say this. We understood pursue in that context to refer to claims or causes of action, not potential, unfiled, unasserted, contemplated claims or causes of action. That until a claim or cause of action is actually asserted in some way, that it can't be pursued, and that the reference here was to two kinds of action, those that had not yet been commenced -- and your order foreclosed the commencing of them without permission -- and those that had been commenced. And your order couldn't foreclose the commencing of them because they hadn't been commenced yet, but your order did foreclose pursuing them.

And that was my reading of what that order said. And it fits with this notion that a claim or cause of action isn't something you're considering or even researching. It didn't dawn on us that researching or talking to a client about a potential claim could violate the order because in some respect that conversation could be in pursuit of the claim.

By the same notion, we didn't think asking a court with original jurisdiction according to Congress, asking a court to decide whether or not we were foreclosed from bringing our claims in a motion for leave was violating your order.

We don't have much else, Your Honor. In terms of the need to enforce compliance with your orders, if we understand them, we sure as heck are going to follow them. And if we've misconstrued the term pursue, I'm certainly very sorry about that.

I appreciate counsel saying he thinks we're probably good people. I did not think what we did was any kind of gross error in judgment. I thought that what we were doing was preserving our clients' rights, going to a court of competent jurisdiction, and asking the question, can we do what we think we ought to be able to do, but is -- frankly, Your Honor, we're a bit confused about because of the order that seems on its face to foreclose the very lawsuit that we think we should be bringing on behalf on this charitable organization that foreclosed it months before the conduct at issue that gave rise to the complaint. And with that conundrum, knowing what to do was not obvious or easy for the lawyers or for the client who was dependent on his lawyers to give him good, sound advice.

I'm very grateful for you giving us the time and for your very pointed questions. Thank you, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Thank you. All right. Who's next?

CLOSING ARGUMENT ON BEHALF OF MARK PATRICK

MR. ANDERSON: May it please the Court, Michael Anderson on behalf of Mr. Patrick, Mark Patrick.

You know, this is a contempt proceeding. It's very serious. And, you know, my stomach aches for the people here.

THE COURT: Mine does, too, by the way.

MR. ANDERSON: It truly aches.

THE COURT: Uh-huh.

MR. ANDERSON: And I mean what I said when I did opening, when I said we don't need a hearing, an evidentiary hearing. And I still don't believe we did, because it comes down to what does the word pursue mean, because there's already been an acknowledgement --

THE COURT: Do you all want to withdraw all your exhibits? I've got a lot of exhibits that I now need to go through. If I admit them into evidence, I'm going to read them.

MR. ANDERSON: No, I understand.

THE COURT: Uh-huh.

MR. ANDERSON: But it does come down to the word pursue. Counsel has already said commence doesn't do it, and so then it's pursue.

And I could ask Your Honor, what did you mean when you said pursue in the July order, but I'm not going to say that. And I asked my client on the stand, you know, did you pursue a claim or cause of action? And then it was very telling. What happened with counsel? He stood up and objected to me even asking if it was pursued. And it dawned on me, if he's going to object, does pursue have some sort of legal -- that was his objection. It was he objected on legal grounds. Does that have some sort of legal meaning?

This is contempt. You can't be held in contempt unless it is bright-line clear that you have deviated from a standard of conduct and there's no ambiguity. Well, clearly, there is ambiguity, because over on this side of the room we say filing a motion for leave can't be pursue. We can look at the order and we know it doesn't mean pursue because I just heard Your Honor say you should have filed a motion for leave in this Court before doing anything. All right? So if that -- if that is what without the Bankruptcy Court first determining, if that's what the motion for leave is, well, then if we go up to the first sentence, No entity may commence or pursue a claim or cause of action, then it has this, without the Bankruptcy Court first determining, that means -- if pursue means a motion for leave, if that's what that means, then that order says you can't commence or file a motion for leave before you file a motion for leave. Because that's what it means. If pursue means motion for leave and you've said you should have come here and filed a motion for leave because it says, Debtor, without the Bankruptcy Court first determining that notice that such claim or cause of action represents a colorable claim, and specifically authorizing. The vehicle to do that would be a motion for leave, right? And you can't pursue anything until a motion for leave has been filed.

Now, where was the motion for leave? And I understand, Your Honor, you know, no expert at reading the room, obviously, you're frustrated that the motion for leave was filed in the District Court and not in this Court. But it doesn't change the fact, and neither did any of the evidence, change anything, is what does pursue mean?

And if someone says, well, it's obviously clear it means x, well, is it really obviously clear it means filing a motion for leave? Because nobody on my side, when you read it, when you say pursue, can read it that way. And if we're going to have contempt sanctions being posed, and there has to be clear and convincing evidence or beyond reasonable doubt, depending upon, you know, I don't think you have to get to that part, but clear --

THE COURT: This is not criminal contempt.

MR. ANDERSON: Clear and convincing is the civil standard for contempt.

THE COURT: Right.

MR. ANDERSON: And if pursue is open to that much interpretation, it's not the kind of thing that can be held in contempt on. And I understand the frustration. I hear the frustration. I hear counsel talk about that was not their intent when they filed it. You know, I heard Mr. Patrick get up there. I heard counsel say, hey, Mr. Patrick's doing his job, he's a good guy, seems like a good guy. Well, Mr. Patrick's up there. Look, they filed the underlying lawsuit. Nobody -- there's no motion for that in this Court about the underlying lawsuit. It's only about the motion for leave. That's all we're here about.

And so you go to that, and we've heard all these arguments about it, and we've been here almost as long as the motion for leave was actually on file before it was sua sponte dismissed without prejudice.

And so I go back to that and I say that, if pursue means filing a motion for leave, then that order would require an order for anyone to violate -- it would be violated upon the filing of a motion for leave, because you can't pursue something until the Bankruptcy Court has already first determined, after notice, that such claim or cause of action represents a colorable claim and specifically authorizing the entity to bring such a claim. Because that -- we already know that's a motion for leave in and of itself. Therefore, pursue, just simply filing a motion for leave will put you in that.

But that gets into all these -- we don't need to be having this discussion about, you know, is a motion for leave pursue? Is pursue a motion for leave? I've heard both arguments here. It doesn't justify contempt. And I know -- and so certainly with respect to my side, I, you know -- given that, I would request that the Court deny the request for contempt.

And again, I want to say, too, look, we hear you. Absolutely hear you. Understand the frustration. Totally hear you on that.

I'm going to turn over the balance of my time to Mr. Phillips, --

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. ANDERSON: -- unless you have any questions, Your Honor. I appreciate it.

THE COURT: Okay. I do not.

CLOSING ARGUMENT ON BEHALF OF MARK PATRICK

MR. PHILLIPS: Your Honor, Louis M. Phillips, and I'll be brief. I'm going to try to bring it down to -- I was not involved. We are -- we are here because of the indemnification provisions of CLO Holdco representing Mr.

Patrick individually. My firm was not involved in the litigation. We were hired to represent CLO Holdco and some of the defendants in the UCC litigation, and our role has expanded to do some other stuff, particularly represent Mr. Patrick because of the indemnification provisions of the Holdco entity documents. He's entitled to indemnification and we're providing a defense for him. That's why we're here.

So I come way after the order. We have not been involved in anything. But I think I'm just going to try to distill everything about the order and about the concern and about the litigation, because the Court is asking about is this an end run on the settlement? The Court is also saying, all you had to do was come here first.

But let's look. We're here about one thing, the motion for leave. And as Mr. Anderson pointed out, the commence or pursue a claim, according to the order, commence or pursue can only occur after the Court has authorized the litigation. Okay. So that's what the order says. You can't commence or pursue.

Counsel for the Debtors says, well, it can't be after commencement because you've already commenced the action. So pursue has to mean something before the commencement of the action. It would mean something before the commencement of the action under this order.

But it doesn't mean something before the Court approves the commencement of the action, because commence or pursue under this order does not occur before the Court has acted. That's the language of the order. It only occurs after the Court has authorized it. That's the context in which commence or pursue exists, after this Court has authorized.

Okay. So it can't be pursuit before the Court has authorized without commencement because it only is triggered by the Court's authorization of the action, which means, before you commence it, actions in time take time, before you commence the action, you have to pursue the action to commence it. But you can't do that until you've approved it. All right?

That's the temporal concern and why we say the motion for leave can't be pursuit of an action under this order. It might be pursuit under another definition or another order. In other words, maybe an order could be issued saying, you can't file a motion for leave in any other court but this one. I don't know whether it'd be a good order, but the order could say that. But when you say all you had to do was file a motion for leave in this Court and everything would be okay, no. The motion for leave is not, under this order, pursuit. Pursuit only occurs under this order after you've done something, after Your Honor has done something.

So if a motion for leave is violative at the District Court, the motion for leave would be violative here, because it occurs before Your Honor has taken action.

Now, clearly, you want people to ask, but just as clearly, and this was the point of my remarks earlier at the tail-end of opening, just as clearly, I have a question, because frankly, I understand what these guys are saying. These guys haven't really said it. They're a little shame-faced at what these guys are asking. Because what these guys are asking is whether or not an employee Seery, as the CRO -- and we heard, oh, he bargained for it, he wouldn't have done it without getting the order and the protections because -- did he bargain for not having to comply with the Investor Advisory Act? Did he bargain for not having a fiduciary duty to third parties? Because the one thing that Mr. Bridges has been trying to tell you is that, under this order, if it's interpreted one way, you would never authorize a violation of the Investment Advisory Act because it wouldn't necessarily be gross negligence or willful misconduct.

In other words, in employing Seery, did the Debtor go out in this disclosure statement and say, we are advisor to $1.2 billion of third-party money, and guess what, our CRO has no fiduciary duty to you? We have forestalled any claim under the Investment Advisory Act in our employment order. Did that happen?

Because if that happened, I don't know if the Court was really thinking that way, because that -- that can't happen in a confirmation order before, under the Fifth Circuit authority, after disclosure statement, plan, et cetera, et cetera, because that's a third party release of claims that may -- that haven't occurred yet. You would be releasing because you would be saying you have no right. You have no right. This is not temporal. This is saying you have no right, if it's saying that, to bring an Investment Advisory -- Investment Advisory Act or a Breach of Fiduciary Duty Act that's not gross negligence or willful misconduct forever upon an employment order.

Now, if that's not what it means, then we have another conundrum. The other conundrum -- and I'm new to this, maybe this has been thought out by everybody, but I don't think so. The other conundrum is this order doesn't apply to actions that don't involve willful -- gross negligence or willful misconduct. It only applies to those types of actions. So, frankly, I don't know what the order does.

I think the problem -- I probably shouldn't be the purviewer of who ought to know because my standard's probably really low, given my capacity here. But I'm a guy off the street. Seery gets hired to run the Debtor. Seery testifies and he admits, we've got Investment Advisory Act all over the place. We're making lots of fees out of administering all this third-party money. Do they know? Do they know he's immune? Do the third parties know?

Now, a standard about managing the Debtor? Absolutely. That's just pure D Chapter 11, pure D corporate, pure D standard liability if you're operating an entity. You're not liable for gross negligence or willful misconduct. You're not. And so any claim for damage to the Debtor or to the estate by actions taken in the CRO capacity, absolutely. Absolutely. You don't want a bunch of yoyos suing, you did something against the Debtor and the Debtor is now worth $147 less than it was because you did something, you were negligent and you forgot to put the dog out. No. It's got to be gross negligence or willful misconduct if you are talking about running the Debtor and running the estate.

But that's not what we have here. And you can ask all the questions you want about whether the lawsuit's any good, but that's not what's up before the Court. What's up before the Court is whether filing a motion for leave is contempt. And under this order, you're saying, all you had to do is come here. Well, in one reading of it, you'd have never got relief because you can't bring the kind of action. I foreclosed it by employing Seery. He no longer has a fiduciary duty and is no longer bound by the Investment Advisory Act. Case closed. Get out of here. Unless you can formulate something around so that you can establish gross negligence or willful misconduct, I've done away with all those causes of action.

I don't think that's what happened. And if that's not what happened, this doesn't apply because it shouldn't apply to third-party actions. It should apply to actions for damage to the estate by creditors of the estate for whom Seery is acting as CRO of the Debtor, who is the -- in possession of the estate. That makes perfect sense. Perfect sense. And nobody would say that you shouldn't have sole authority to determine whether a CRO who's acting for the estate and damages the estate -- because that'd be a claim against the estate. That would be an administrative claim against the estate. That is just hornbook law.

That's the way I see this order. And I admit I didn't write it. I admit I didn't submit it. I admit I didn't litigate it. I admit I'm coming in late. But sometimes maybe a fresh pair of elderly, trifocal-assisted eyes doesn't hurt. Because I will tell you, Judge, on one read this Court says don't bother coming here because you don't have the kind of claim that can be brought, even if you're a third party. And the only way that happens is if Seery's released from any obligation under the Investment Advisory Act, and I think everybody would like to know that. And he can't be sued for breach of fiduciary duty to third parties that he admits he owes. I think people would like to know that.

And if it doesn't, then this is not -- this order is not about that. But the fact -- I've been at this 40 years, and I usually don't want to talk about myself. There's really not a lot to talk about. But I hear Mr. Morris how he's never done this, he's never done that. I hear this, I'm a good -- you know, whatever. I'm confused. I've been doing this 41 years. Bankruptcy, 39.7. I must be crazy, but that's what I've been doing. And I'm confused because I don't even know if they needed to come here. I don't even know if, had they come here, if they could have even presented an action for gross -- for negligence or breach of fiduciary duty, could have -- gross negligence or willful misconduct? I don't know whether this order just applies to Seery's duties as CRO vis-a-vis creditors of the estate and property of the estate and damage to the estate. Because that's not what we're dealing with here.

The point is, Judge, this is contempt. And I understand Your Honor knows all about contempt. Your Honor knows about Matter of Hipp. Your Honor knows about civil contempt authorization for bankruptcy courts. Your Honor knows that you can't operate without the right to impose civil contempt sanctions. And Your Honor knows, and I agree with Your Honor, that civil contempt is both remedial and coercive.

But how do you coerce around my questions? Maybe I am all wet, but if I am, I don't think I am, and I don't understand that I am, and that's why I'm concerned about going off into this contempt wilderness and millions in fees, when the motion for leave was dismissed and when the lawsuit doesn't ask for or includes most of its claims. I don't even -- I have not studied the lawsuit. I wasn't involved in it. But if it's a breach of fiduciary duty and Advisory Act and it says what you've been told it says, that he should have pulled up different stuff, that the valuation metrics were different, that he shouldn't have used it, I don't know that they're saying fraud. I don't know that they're saying he knew he was doing -- I think they're saying he breached the Investment Advisory Act. And that's not gross negligence or willful misconduct. Then does this order apply or this order -- does this order foreclose that?

The fact is, I think we could have decided this on the pleadings and on the order. We didn't. The fact that Mr. Dondero did A, B, C. And I will tell you this. Mr. Patrick has stood up. He's going to get a harpoon, he's going to get a harpoon, subject to his right to appeal. But he has told this Court. We represent him. We're not trying to get him out of having authorized the order. It's very important for this Court to understand. Mr. Patrick is one of these entities. Mr. Dondero can holler and scream all he wants to. Mr. -- and look, did he terminate Grant Scott? If I'm Grant Scott, and this is my best friend and I was in his wedding and I was his roommate and I was his best friend and I'm doing this stuff for $5,000 and I do something and $5,000 a month and I do something and I get hollered at and I've got a full a law practice, I'm an IP lawyer, why don't I just tell him to go jump in a lake, which is the other way you could look at Grant Scott leaving. I want you to jump in a lake. I'm out of here. I don't need this.

Thank you.

THE COURT: All right. Thank you.

MR. DEMO: Your Honor, how much time do they have left, --

THE COURT: Um, --

MR. DEMO: -- to be honest?

THE COURT: Nate, are you -- 26 minutes? All right.

MR. TAYLOR: I'll go way under, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Okay.

CLOSING ARGUMENT ON BEHALF OF JAMES DONDERO

MR. TAYLOR: Your Honor, Clay Taylor. I'm here on behalf of Mr. Dondero. He was named as an individual alleged violator within the order.

THE COURT: Okay. I'm getting lawyers mixed up. Mr. Anderson, who did you represent?

MR. ANDERSON: Mr. Patrick. Mr. Phillips and I represent --

THE COURT: You're Mr. Patrick?

MR. PHILLIPS: We're Mr. Patrick.

THE COURT: You're both --

MR. PHILLIPS: Mr. Patrick.

THE COURT: Okay. I'm sorry. I'm getting my Fort Worth law firms mixed up. Okay.

MR. TAYLOR: That's quite all right. Clay Taylor from Bonds Ellis here on behalf of Mr. Dondero. And we're here because he was named in the alleged violator motion within the order as an alleged violator. We don't think that he is, for the reasons that we're about to explain, but we were ordered to appear --

A VOICE: No.

MR. TAYLOR: -- and so therefore we are appearing and telling you why we're not an alleged violator.

First of all, for all the reasons that Mr. Sbaiti and Mr. Bridges and Mr. Phillips and Mr. Anderson said, the court order was in effect. We agree with that. It required certain conduct to be done. Yes, it did. It said you couldn't commence something. It said you couldn't pursue it. I think we have gone through what the pursuit and commence. Nobody is arguing that anything was commenced. It comes down to pursuit.

But let's talk about what the evidence shows about Mr. Dondero. It shows that Mr. Dondero believes that there have been breaches of fiduciary duty. He thinks that there has been negligence committed. He believes that actions should be taken. We don't run away from that. He, frankly, told you that.

But here, he didn't take any action to pursue it. The DAF did. CLO Holdco did. It's undisputed that he's not an officer, director, or control person for either of those entities. The act we're here on is a motion for leave to file an amended complaint to include Mr. Seery. That's -- Mr. Dondero didn't take any of those acts. He believes it should have been done, but he's not the authorizing person.

He might have -- let's just pretend that he thought he was authorizing something. It doesn't matter that he thought he could authorize something or that he was trying to push for it. The fact remains he can't authorize it. You know, he can say, I declare war on Afghanistan. Well, he can't. Congress can't. He can write a letter to his Congressman. He already wrote a letter to his Congressman. He talked. He talked with the head of the acting CLO -- CLO Holdco and he said, I think there's something wrong here. I think you should be looking into it. You know what, he goes, you might be right. Go talk with Mazin about it. Give him some data. Conduct an investigation. They did. And then they went to the authorizing person and they filed a motion for leave to include Mr. Seery. Mr. Dondero did nothing wrong in that.

Now, there is some personal animosity. I think that Your Honor has probably seen there seems to be some personal animosity between Mr. Seery and Mr. Dondero, and that's unfortunate. But just because there's some personal animosity doesn't mean that maybe something wasn't done wrong. Maybe that Mr. Dondero -- he's certainly allowed to at least tell people, well, I think there was something done wrong. And if there is an action to be had, then those appropriate entities can take it. But he didn't do those things.

And so even if he says, just like Michael Scott, "I declare bankruptcy," it doesn't matter. You have to take the certain actions.

THE COURT: I got it. I don't know if everyone did.

MR. TAYLOR: Yes, well, yeah, you have to be a The Office fan.

But so that's where we stand. And for all the reasons the prior people have discussed, I don't think that there was any violation of this Court's order. But even if there was, Mr. Dondero in this situation was not the one. We're going to have to deal with the other order that came out yesterday in due course, but for this discrete issue that is before this Court today, Mr. Dondero didn't violate anything.

Thank you.

THE COURT: All right. Mr. Morris, you get the last word.

REBUTTAL CLOSING ARGUMENT ON BEHALF OF THE DEBTOR

MR. MORRIS: Thank you, Your Honor. These are going to be discrete points because it's truly rebuttal. I'm going to try to respond to certain points.

Mr. Bridges and Mr. Phillips made extensive arguments about why they believe the order is wrong, why it's overreaching. They tried to get into your head to think about what you intended or what you thought. The fact of the matter is, the answer to all of those questions -- first of all, none of it's relevant to this motion because we've got the order -- but the answer is very simple. Forget about coming here to seek leave to amend to add Mr. Seery. We can avoid Mr. Sbaiti's concerns about judicial estoppel or something. Why didn't they just file the motion for reconsideration? They filed that after they filed the motion for leave to amend, after we filed the motion for contempt. Only then did they file the motion for reconsideration.

Now, we think it's ill-thought-out. We think it's problematic. Probably not today, is my guess, we'll argue to you as to why we think that motion ought to be denied. But if they truly believed that the order was infirm in any way, wouldn't the proper thing to have been to come here and tell you that? Wouldn't the proper thing to be to come to the court that issued the order that you have a problem with and ask the court to review it again? And if Your Honor overruled the motion, to appeal it.

Why are we even doing this? Why did they do it? It's not we. Why did they do it? Right? And that solves almost everything they've said. That's point one.

Point two, the January order. The January order is very important. It's important not just because it applies to directors, but it's important because Mr. Dondero agreed to it, and it also applies -- I want to get it -- Paragraph 10. It's Exhibit 15. It applies to the independent directors and the independents directors' agents. If a CEO is not an agent of an independent director, I'm not sure what is. The independent directors are the body that appointed the CEO. The CEO, Mr. Seery, is acting on behalf of the board. This is the order that Mr. Dondero agreed to. It's the order -- take out the word independent director; put in Mr. Seery -- it's the order everybody's complaining about. But even the January order certainly applied to Mr. Seery. That's point two.

Point three. I've heard a lot of concerns about the slippery slope and what does pursuit mean and does talking to a lawyer mean pursuit and doing an investigation being pursuit. I don't know, Your Honor, and I don't care, because that's not what we're here to talk about. We're here to talk about a specific act -- not a hypothetical, not a slippery slope. We're talking about the filing of a motion for leave to amend a complaint to add Mr. Seery as a defendant. That's all we're talking about. So, you know, the rest of it, it's just noise. And the only question is whether, and I think it's pretty clear, that means pursuit.

Another version on the theme of was there any alternative to filing the motion in the District Court, I think there was. The Sbaiti firm did file that suit against Acis in New York. And if Your Honor checks the docket in the Acis bankruptcy, I think you'll find that there's a motion from Mr. Rukavina, for a comfort order, basically, saying that -- asking the court to declare that the filing of the complaint in New York against Acis didn't violate the plan injunction. I think I have that right.

But I point that out, Your Honor -- it's not evidence in the record, but the Court can certainly take judicial notice of what's on its docket -- I point that out because there's another example of a lawyer who is very active in this case who actually -- now, he already commenced the suit, so he did -- they did both simultaneously, so I don't want to suggest that that's the perfect thing to have done, but at least he's here asking for -- he's bringing it to your attention, he's telling you it's happened, he's asking for a comfort order, and someday Your Honor may rule on it. I don't know.

Number six, what's with the pursuit of Mr. Seery? What is with the pursuit of Mr. Seery? Is there any doubt in anybody's mind that the Debtor is going to have to indemnify Mr. Seery and will bring in another law firm? And while I don't think it will ever happen in a hundred billion years, if there is a judgment against Mr. Seery, isn't that going to be the Debtor's responsibility? Why are they even bothering to do this? I think it's a fair question for the Court to ask.

I think Mr. Taylor came up and talked about animosity. How do you explain going after Jim Seery? How do you do it? He's going to be indemnified. It's in -- it's in like three different orders. It's in the confirmation order. It's in the CEO order. It's -- it's probably as a matter of law. It's in the Strand partnership agreement. It's -- he's been indemnified like 12 different times. What is the purpose, other than to make Mr. Seery's life miserable? There is none. You'll never hear a rational explanation for why they're doing this.

THE COURT: Just so you know, I've not looked at any of the pleadings in the District Court --

MR. MORRIS: And I'm not asking you to.

THE COURT: -- other than what has been presented to me today.

MR. MORRIS: Yeah. That's fine, Your Honor.

THE COURT: But I'm very flipped out about the causes of action against the Debtor, --

MR. MORRIS: Yeah.

THE COURT: -- who hasn't reached an effective date.

MR. MORRIS: Well, --

THE COURT: And I'm most interested to know what the defenses, motions --

MR. MORRIS: We'll get to that.

THE COURT: -- are going to be raised in that regard.

MR. MORRIS: We will get to that in due course.

I do want to point out, just to be clear, because we keep hearing that they learned about, you know, all of these horrible things after the fact. In the complaint, which I think is Exhibit 12, --

THE COURT: I'm there.

MR. MORRIS: -- at Paragraph 127, the Plaintiffs allege, "Mr. Seery was informed in late December 2020 at an in-person meeting in Dallas, to which Mr. Seery had to fly, that HCO" -- excuse me "HCLF and HCM had to suspend trading in MGM Studios' securities because Seery had learned from James Dondero, who was on the board, of a potential purchase of the company. The news of the MGM purchase should have caused Seery to revalue."

I cannot begin to tell you the problems with that paragraph. We're not going to discuss them today. I made a promise to these folks that we wouldn't get into the merits of the complaint. But Your Honor was onto something before, and those issues, you know, may see the light of day one day. And if they do, folks are going to have to deal with it. But I will point out that at the time the communication was made, the other TRO was in effect. We didn't bring that one to the Court's attention. But the important point there, Your Honor, is December 2020. It is December 2020. That is the allegation that's being made against Mr. Seery. And the fact of the matter is, because I've done the research myself, the Court will find that on December 23rd, the day the HarbourVest settlement motion was filed, it was fully public knowledge that Amazon and Apple, I think, had shut down negotiations with MGM at that time. Right? So the big secret information, it was in the public domain on December 23rd.

There will also never be any evidence ever that Mr. Seery got on a plane and flew to Dallas in December 2020, but that's a minor point.

I'd like to just conclude, Your Honor, by saying I've heard pleas that they understand. They understand, Your Honor, now they understand. It would be good if they promised the Court that they won't seek to assert claims against Mr. Seery anywhere but in this Court and comply with the order as it's written. That, that, that would be taking a little bit of responsibility.

I have nothing further, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Okay. Thank you.

All right. Let me give you some clue of when I'm going to be able to rule. I've been glancing at my email in hopes that something set tomorrow would go away, but that's not happening. I've got a hearing that I've been told will take all day tomorrow on a case involving a half-built hotel, luxury hotel in Palm Springs, California. So I have to spend the next I don't know how long getting ready for that hearing tomorrow, and then I have what looks like a full day of hearings Thursday, including you people coming back on something.

MR. POMERANTZ: Your Honor, I was going to address that. We have Dugaboy's motion to enforce compliance on the 2015(3) reports.

THE COURT: That's what it was.

MR. POMERANTZ: Since we haven't gotten to the motion to modify the Seery order, my suggestion would be we use that time -- of course, Dugaboy, I'm not sure if they're on the phone. They're not here. I'm not sure that's time sensitive. But if Your Honor wanted to have a hearing on that motion, which was contemplated to take place today, the Debtor would be okay having that motion heard on Thursday, perhaps by WebEx, unless Your Honor wants us to stay here, which we would if you do, and then reschedule the 2015(3) motion.

But again, that wasn't my motion. It's Dugaboy's. I'm not sure Mr. Draper is on. But we obviously have some calendar issues.

MR. MORRIS: And Your Honor, just to complete it, I think also on Thursday the Court is supposed to hear HCRE and Highland Capital Management Services motions for leave to amend their complaint in the promissory note litigation against each of them. I think that's also on the calendar for Thursday. I don't expect that -- I hope that doesn't take very long, but that's also, I believe, on the calendar.

THE COURT: Okay. Mr. Draper, are you out there?

MR. PHILLIPS: I didn't see him on the list, Your Honor. I was just looking. But --

THE COURT: Okay. All right. Well, --

MR. PHILLIPS: What is the question? I can send him a text real quick.

THE COURT: Well, just have -- if you all could follow up with Traci Ellison, my courtroom deputy, tomorrow, I am perfectly happy to continue the motion to modify the Seery order to Thursday morning at 9:30 if Draper is willing to continue the 2015 motion.

MR. POMERANTZ: I know, if I was him, my first question would be is what times does the Court have available? We could work that through Ms. Ellison.

THE COURT: Yes. And I'm just letting you know -- talk to her. Okay. Number one, I'll do these by video, okay? WebEx. But I know I don't have any time Wednesday, and Thursday's a busy day.

We have court Friday morning at 9:30 in--?

THE CLERK: Cici's Pizza.

THE COURT: Cici's Pizza? That's not going to take very long, right?

THE CLERK: I don't think so.

THE COURT: I can potentially do something, you know, 10:00 o'clock Friday morning. Other than that, then you've got to wait a while, because I have a seven-day trial, live human beings in the courtroom starting next Monday. And so my point is mainly to tell you, as much as I would like to rule very, very fast, it's going to be, it looks like, a couple of weeks or so before I can give you a ruling on this.

MR. BRIDGES: Your Honor?

THE COURT: Yes?

MR. BRIDGES: May I? It's our motion. I would propose, if counsel would agree, that we just submit it on the papers.

THE COURT: Everybody good with that? I'm certainly good with that.

MR. POMERANTZ: Your Honor, I'd like there to be argument. I have a lengthy argument. I think I'd like to address a number of the things that -- Mr. Bridges made his argument today. Okay?

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. POMERANTZ: His deck, it was entitled, Motion to Modify.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. POMERANTZ: So that's very nice of him, but I would like to make my argument.

THE COURT: Okay. Let's try to nail this down right now. Friday at 10:00 o'clock, can we do the oral argument WebEx?

MR. POMERANTZ: On that one, yes, Your Honor.

THE COURT: On that one? Everybody good? Okay. So we'll come back Friday, 10:00 o'clock, WebEx, for that motion.

You know, I'm going to say a couple of things where -- I've leaned toward thinking this is a pretty simple motion before me, the motion for contempt, but when people offer into evidence documents, I read your documents. Okay? That's my duty. And so I have however many exhibits I admitted today that I am going to look at and see how they sway me one way or another on this issue. But I will tell you that my gut is there has been contempt of court. Okay? I don't see anything ambiguous at all about Paragraph 5 of my July 16th, 2020 order. Somebody may think I overreached, but if that was the case, someone should have argued at the time I was overreaching. Someone should have appealed the order. And I think it's a Shoaf/Espinosa problem at this point for anyone to argue about the enforceability of that order.

I think there's nothing ambiguous in the wording. Pursue is not ambiguous. There's nothing confusing about the requirement that any entity who wanted to sue or pursue a claim, you know, commence claim, pursue a claim against Mr. Seery, had to come to the Bankruptcy Court. Standard-fare gatekeeping order.

So what I'm going to be looking at is, do these documents I admitted into evidence change my view on that, and then the harder question is who of the alleged contemnors am I going to think it's clear and convincing committed contempt and -- who are the contemnors, and then, of course, what are the damages? Coercive or compensatory damages?

So, again, you know how I feel, to the extent that's helpful in your planning purposes. I'm pretty convinced contempt of court has occurred. It's just a matter of who's a contemnor and what are the damages.

I'll say a couple of remaining things. I continue to be frustrated, I think was the word people used, about unproductive ways we all spend our time. I am going to spend I don't know how many more hours drafting another ruling on a contempt motion, and attorneys' fees are through the roof. And, you know, I dangled out there a question I couldn't resist about MGM.

And I will tell you, I mean, someone mentioned about their stomach aching. Personal story, I could hardly sleep the night it became public about the Amazon purchase, because, silly me, maybe, I'm thinking game-changer. This is such potentially a windfall, an economic windfall. Maybe this could be the impetus to make everyone get in a room and say look, we've got this wonderful windfall of money. I don't know how much is owned directly or indirectly by the Debtor of MGM stock. I don't know how much the Debtor manages. I don't know how much, you know, some other entity. I know it's probably spread out in many different entities. But I know, I know because I listen, that one or more of the Highland-managed CLOs has some of this, and I think I read -- remember that HCLOF, which now Highland owns more than 50 percent of, has some of this stock. Right?

MR. DONDERO: Do you want to know what happened?

THE COURT: Oh.

A VOICE: No.

THE COURT: Well, okay. So, you know, I can understand I'm getting into maybe uncomfortable territory in a public proceeding, so I'll stop.

But, you know, do we need to set up a status conference? Do you all need to like talk about this? Am I just being naïve? Couldn't this be a game-changer, where maybe it would give new incentive to --

MR. POMERANTZ: Your Honor, I would -- he's been pretty quiet through the whole hearing, Mr. Clemente. He has the Committee, that a couple of people you've heard have sold claims. They're now held by other parties.

You know, the door is always open. I don't think this is going to be game-changer, unfortunately. We would like nothing more, as Debtor's counsel. We don't enjoy coming to Your Honor for contempt hearings.

Mr. Clemente said that it was productive. We would sure participate. But right now, we have creditors who are very angry that millions and millions of dollars have been spent on really a waste of time and a waste of the Court's time and a waste of everyone's time and eating into the creditors' money. So I would ask Mr. Clemente to address that.

MR. CLEMENTE: I'm here.

THE COURT: Yes, he's way in the back, hoping to be ignored.

MR. CLEMENTE: It's too cold, Your Honor, where I was sitting. For the record, Your Honor, --

THE COURT: I noticed some entity called Muck Holdings bought HarbourVest, according to the docket.

MR. CLEMENTE: That's correct. Muck Holdings bought HarbourVest, and I believe also the Acis claim, and then there's a different entity that bought the Redeemer claim.

THE COURT: Uh-huh.

MR. CLEMENTE: So, as we mentioned in our -- one of our pleadings, I think it was the retention pleading for Teneo, the Committee consists of two members currently, Meta-e and UBS.

THE COURT: Uh-huh.

MR. CLEMENTE: Obviously, Your Honor just approved the UBS settlement recently. The U.S. Trustee is aware of the make-up of the Committee, and is currently comfortable with the Committee maintaining a two-person membership at this point.

In terms of whether the MGM transaction is a game-changer, we've not yet seen, to Your Honor's point, how all of that rolls up through the various interests that the Debtor may or -- you know, may have --

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. CLEMENTE: -- that would be implicated by the MGM transaction. If ultimately the MGM transaction has to actually occur, right? I mean, so, you know, just based on what I read in the public documents, we're not sure when that transaction may actually happen. But obviously it's a good thing for the Debtor's estate because it's going to recognize value for the estate.

In terms of whether it ultimately changes how Mr. Dondero, you know, wishes to proceed, that's entirely up to him, Your Honor. But we don't see it as something at this point that would suggest that there's an overall back to let's talk about a pot plan because of where the MGM transaction might ultimately come out.

So I don't know if that's helpful to Your Honor, but those are -- that's my perspective.

THE COURT: Well, and I'm not trying to, you know, push a pot plan on anyone.

MR. CLEMENTE: No, I understand.

THE COURT: I'm just saying it looked like an economic windfall. I just -- I don't know how much is Highland versus other entities in the so-called byzantine complex, but, gosh, I just hoped that there might be something there to change the dynamic of, you know, lawsuit, lawsuit, lawsuit, lawsuit, motion for contempt, motion for contempt.

MR. CLEMENTE: Agreed, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Uh-huh.

MR. CLEMENTE: And like I said, it was a very positive development obviously for the creditors for the Debtor. But whether it's the game-changer that Your Honor would envision, I'm not sure that I can suggest at this point that it is.

I think that, you know, obviously, we don't like to see these lawsuits continue to be filed. That's the whole point of the gatekeeper order, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Uh-huh.

MR. CLEMENTE: I didn't say anything during the hearing, but obviously the January 9th order, as Your Honor has said many times, was in the context of a trustee being appointed.

THE COURT: Right. Right.

MR. CLEMENTE: Right? So, and the July 16th order, very similar vein, it's an outshoot of that. In fact, it was contemplated in the January 9th settlement that a CEO could be appointed.

So I think, again, it's just -- it's important, the context in which that January 9th order came into play, for this very reason, so we could avoid this type of litigation, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Uh-huh.

MR. CLEMENTE: And so again, I didn't -- I obviously didn't rise to mention that during the hearing, but Your Honor is already aware of that. I didn't need to remind Your Honor of that.

THE COURT: Uh-huh. Okay.

MR. CLEMENTE: Anything else for me, Your Honor?

THE COURT: No. Thank you.

MR. CLEMENTE: Okay, then, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Sorry I picked on you. But, all right. Well, again, I hope the message has landed in the way I hope will matter, and that is I'm going to look at your documents but I feel very strongly that, unless there's something in there that, whoa, is somehow eye-opening, I'm going to find contempt of court. It's just a matter of who and what the damages are. There's just not a thing in the world ambiguous about Paragraph 5 of the July 9th, 2020 order. So I'll get to it as soon as we humanly can get to it.

Mr. Morris, anything else?

MR. MORRIS: Nothing. No, thank you.

THE COURT: I guess I'll see you Thursday on the WebEx. Thank you.

THE CLERK: All rise.

DALLAS, TEXAS - JUNE 8, 2023 - 9:42 A.M.

THE CLERK: All rise. United States Bankruptcy Court for the Northern District of Texas, Dallas Division, is now in session, The Honorable Stacey Jernigan presiding.

THE COURT: Good morning. Please be seated. All right. We are here this morning for a setting in Highland. This is on a motion of Hunter Mountain for leave to file an adversary proceeding. I will start out by getting appearances from lawyers in the courtroom.

MR. MCENTIRE: Yes, Your Honor. Sawnie McEntire along with my partner Roger McCleary and Tim Miller on behalf of Hunter Mountain Investment Trust, Ltd.

THE COURT: Thank you.

MR. MORRIS: Good morning, Your Honor. John Morris, Pachulski Stang Ziehl & Jones, for the Reorganized Highland, for the Highland Claimant Trust. I'm joined by Mr. Pomerantz, Mr. Demo, and Ms. Winograd.

THE COURT: Good morning.

MR. STANCIL: Good morning, Your Honor. Mark Stancil from Willkie Farr & Gallagher for Mr. Seery. I'm joined by my colleague Josh Levy.

THE COURT: Good morning.

MR. MCILWAIN: Good morning, Your Honor. Brent McIlwain from Holland & Knight here for Muck Holding, LLC, Jessup Holdings, LLC, Farallon Capital Management, LLC, and Stonehill Capital Management, LLC.

THE COURT: Thank you. All right. Is that all of our lawyer appearances? I know we have observers on the WebEx, but I assume you are just observers. We scheduled this to be a live hearing for participants.

All right. Well, we had some ground rules for how this would go forward today. We, of course, have had two -- I call them hearings on what kind of hearing we're going to have. We've had two status conferences. And so our ground rules were set. Three hours of total presentation time for each the Movant and the aggregate Respondents. We also had an order regarding what discovery would or would not be allowed.

And to my surprise, there were a flurry of pleadings. We're a few minutes late getting out here because we were trying to digest what was filed late yesterday and into the night.

So I understand we have a controversy about a couple of expert witnesses who were listed on Monday on the Movants' exhibit and witness list. And I've seen a motion to exclude the expert witnesses' testimony. And I think we need to address that right off the bat. I don't want to take too much time on this, because, again, we're going to finish today, and I won't let this housekeeping matter eat into our three hours, but I want to get going. So I'll hear from Movant, Mr. McEntire.

MR. STANCIL: Your Honor, may --

THE COURT: Go ahead.

MR. STANCIL: We moved to exclude, so I would propose that my colleague, Mr. Levy, address this motion very briefly if --

THE COURT: Well, I guess --

MR. STANCIL: Or I will do as --

THE COURT: -- that actually makes sense.

MR. STANCIL: Okay.

THE COURT: I was thinking Mr. McEntire teed up the issue, but I suppose you did with the motion to exclude. So, Counsel?

MR. LEVY: Thank you, Your Honor. Josh Levy on behalf of Mr. Seery.

So, we think our papers largely speak for themselves, but two additional points we'd like to raise. In the response filed by Hunter Mountain this morning, and this is Docket Entry 3828, in Paragraph 11, they argue that this is a bench hearing on colorability, not a trial where junk science is a concern. But junk science is precisely what they're trying to introduce here. They have raised two expert witnesses, one who purports to be an expert in compensation but has no experience whatsoever in evaluating compensation, and they provide no methodology for their conclusion.

For example, they claim to have identified red flags.

They never explain what those red flags are, why they are red flags, or how they determined they were red flags. This is junk science, precisely what the Federal Rules are designed to exclude.

But that shouldn't detract from the broader procedural point that this is the first time we're hearing about expert witnesses, at 10:00 p.m. three days before the hearing. This is a trial by ambush. This motion was filed in March, we've been litigating this motion for over two months now, and this is the first time we're hearing about any expert witnesses.

As Your Honor noted, we've had multiple conferences. We've had rules setting the ground rules for this hearing. We've had orders setting the scope of discovery. But now Hunter Mountain is trying to pull a bait-and-switch. After never mentioning any experts, after obtaining orders limiting the scope of discovery, they then wait until right before the hearing to disclose their experts, ensuring that these experts are insulated from any kind of discovery and can ambush us at the hearing.

I'm happy to answer any other questions, but we believe they should be excluded and the accompanying exhibits should also be excluded.

THE COURT: All right. Thank you. And the accompanying exhibits, I don't review exhibits before a trial or a hearing because I don't know what's going to be objected to and admitted. So do you want to point out, were there expert reports in the proposed exhibits?

MR. LEVY: These were charts and analyses prepared by their experts, not actual expert reports.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. LEVY: In their witness and exhibit list, Hunter Mountain included several paragraphs that I guess serves as what would be their expert reports. And then it would be Exhibits 39 through 52, which consist of CVs, materials reviewed, and then what they term "data charts" prepared by their experts.

THE COURT: 39 through 52? Oh, I'm looking at the wrong exhibit notebook. Oh.

(Pause.)

THE COURT: Okay. Here we go. All right. No questions at this time.

Mr. McEntire?

MR. MCENTIRE: Yes, Your Honor. May I proceed?

THE COURT: You may.

MR. MCENTIRE: Again, my presentation and response is subject to our objection concerning that any evidence is being admitted for any purpose, other than what we believe is the proper standard of review. So my response and our offer of these experts is subject to that objection.

With that said, Mr. Levy's argument he just presented to the Court presupposes that my client has a duty under 9014 to provide a report, which we do not; to provide detailed disclosures, which we do not, because 9014 is specifically exempted from the scope of Rule 26. What we did, we didn't have to do. What we did, and I made the decision to provide them some disclosure and identification of who they were, their backgrounds, and --

THE COURT: Well, let me stop you.

MR. MCENTIRE: Certainly.

THE COURT: "What we did, we didn't have to do." The Local Rules, first of all, do require an exhibit and witness list. And --

MR. MCENTIRE: We've provided that.

THE COURT: I know. I know. But you -- I thought I heard you --

MR. MCENTIRE: No, no.

THE COURT: -- saying you didn't have to do that. You do have to do that.

MR. MCENTIRE: No, no, no.

THE COURT: But I guess what you're saying is --

MR. MCENTIRE: What we provided was more than what the Local Rules require.

THE COURT: How so?

MR. MCENTIRE: We provided CVs. We provided their backgrounds. We disclosed in the actual witness description who they were and the key components of their opinions. And we refer to their data charts. That is not something that the Local Rule requires.

THE COURT: Okay. Well, let me back up. We have our Local Rules, but then we had our two status conferences --

MR. MCENTIRE: Yes.

THE COURT: -- on what the format of the hearing --

MR. MCENTIRE: Yes.

THE COURT: -- would be.

MR. MCENTIRE: Yes.

THE COURT: And, of course, there was extensive discussion, evidence or no evidence? What did the legal standard, colorability, require?

MR. MCENTIRE: Yes.

THE COURT: And I came out in the end and said, if people want to put on witnesses, they're entitled to put on witnesses. I think there may be a mixture of a fact question and law question on colorability. So, and then I set a three-hour time limit and I said, if someone wants to depose Mr. Seery and Mr. Dondero, they can, but no more discovery other than that. Okay?

MR. MCENTIRE: I understand.

THE COURT: Why then did you not say, well, wait, Judge, if it's going to be evidence, we're just letting you know, in full disclosure, we might call a couple of experts, and this may impact your decision on what kind of discovery can happen. And this may impact your decision on whether three hours each side is enough.

MR. MCENTIRE: Well, Your Honor, in fairness, I don't think we had made a final decision to actually designate any experts. And at the time, the focus was on other witnesses. But there was no exclusion, there was no limitation at all on my right to bring an expert. And the Rules are very clear. And the Court's --

THE COURT: But I specifically limited discovery, and it was on your motion. It was on your motion we set the hearing on --

MR. MCENTIRE: Actually, --

THE COURT: You know, did you need a continuance, because if we were going to have evidence, maybe you needed a continuance. And then there was a discovery issue raised.

MR. MCENTIRE: To be clear, Your Honor, I'm looking at your orders.

THE COURT: Got them in front of me.

MR. MCENTIRE: Your order of May 26, 2023. You said, You can put on your witnesses and the Court is going to rule. You made no limitations as to who the witnesses would be. Your order did not limit the scope of witnesses to simply Mr. Seery or Mr. Dondero. In fact, any suggestion that you did limit the witnesses is contrary --

THE COURT: Now, which order are you looking at?

MR. MCENTIRE: I'm looking at the May 26, 2023 order, Page 51, Lines 3 through 14.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. MCENTIRE: You also stated --

THE COURT: I have -- have I entered three orders on this? I've got a May 10th order. I've got a May 22nd order.

MR. MCENTIRE: And I would also point out, Your Honor, --

THE COURT: Could you answer my question? I want to look at what you're looking at.

MR. MCENTIRE: Certainly.

THE COURT: Here we -- this is the one. Okay. Aha. Okay. May 26.

MR. MCENTIRE: Page 51, Lines 3 through 14.

THE COURT: I've entered three orders on what kind of hearing we're going to have. Okay. So you're looking where?

MR. MCENTIRE: Page 51, Lines 3 through 14. "You can put on your witnesses."

THE COURT: Page 51?

MR. MCENTIRE: Yes, ma'am.

THE COURT: Oh. You're looking at a transcript, not the order.

MR. MCENTIRE: That's right. I apologize.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. MCENTIRE: Yeah, I'm looking at the transcript from the hearing.

THE COURT: Okay. Well, I'm looking at my order.

MR. MCENTIRE: And the order, the order also specifies no limitation at all in connection with the -- the --

THE COURT: But my order was based on what was discussed that day.

MR. MCENTIRE: And what was --

THE COURT: If you had said, hmm, Judge, if you're going to allow evidence, we may call a couple of experts, then there would have been a whole discussion about that and did I need to limit the discovery, as I did. And there would have been a whole discussion of, well, three hours, three hours each side, is that going to be enough if we have experts?

MR. MCENTIRE: The discovery ruling that you made was on my motion, and at the time I was not seeking to take any expert depositions. And you denied my request to take ample discovery. You limited my right to take only one deposition, without documents.

The issue of taking expert discovery was not even on the table. However, you made it very --

THE COURT: Well, that's my point precisely. The whole purpose of the hearing was, what kind of hearing are we going to have on June 8th?

MR. MCENTIRE: I understand. And our position --

THE COURT: We had already had one status conference on argument only versus evidence. And I allowed you all to file some briefing, which you did. And then I issued an order after the briefing, saying, I think I should allow evidence on the colorability question. I'm not forcing anyone to put on evidence, but if you want to put on evidence, you can.

And then you filed your motions and we had the next status conference on what kind of hearing we're going to have. And there was more argument: We don't think the evidence is appropriate, but if evidence is appropriate, we want you to continue the hearing to allow all kinds of discovery. I don't know what. And it was right before Memorial Day, and I hated the fact that a bunch of subpoenas were going to go out and ruin people's holidays. But there was no discussion then of, okay, but just so you know, since you have made the ruling that evidence can come in, we're going to have a couple of experts.

MR. MCENTIRE: As I've already mentioned, Your Honor, we had not made a decision to call experts at that time. We made a decision to call the experts shortly before we filed our designations.

The point here is this. The Rules do not require me to provide any more disclosure than I have. I have gone over and above the Local Rules.

If the Court believes that it would have allowed more time for this hearing, I would advise the Court that opposing counsel vehemently opposed any type of postponement or continuance. The discovery that I was requesting was discovery from fact witnesses. Experts were not at issue at that time. Experts are --

THE COURT: Because --

MR. MCENTIRE: -- at issue now.

THE COURT: -- nobody knew that experts might be called.

MR. MCENTIRE: I have a right to call experts, Your --

THE COURT: It changes the whole complexion.

MR. MCENTIRE: But I have a right to call experts, under the Rules. I have a right, a fundamental due process -- let me -- may I finish, Your Honor? A fundamental due process right to call experts. Their attempt to charge some type of Daubert challenge is nothing but a shotgun blast on the wall, having no meaning at all. At a minimum, I have a right to put the witnesses on the stand and we'll have a Daubert hearing.

If they want more time, they need to ask for it. They didn't ask for it. Their solution is to strike my experts, which is improper. It would be improper for this Court to strike my experts when they have been properly tendered under the Local Rules. They have not cited an alternative remedy.

If they want the alternative remedy, they need to ask the Court.

THE COURT: My next question is: How do you propose to get this all done in only three hours?

MR. MCENTIRE: We intend to move quickly.

THE COURT: But, see, now they, I'm guessing, prepared their case assuming there weren't going to be experts. And they, if they're good lawyers, which I know you all are, they have their script of the kind of things they were going to ask the witnesses.

MR. MCENTIRE: Well, did they have a --

THE COURT: And now they've got to carve out time for two last-minute experts?

MR. MCENTIRE: They had an option. And one of the options was they could have called me up on Tuesday and asked for their depositions and I probably would have agreed.

THE COURT: I already said no depositions except Seery and Dondero.

MR. MCENTIRE: Then they could have come and filed a different kind of motion with the Court.

Their only remedy that they're seeking is a draconian one. There are other options that are more consistent with the implementation of due process here, Your Honor, not striking my experts, which were properly identified under the Local Rules.

If the Court is going to strike my experts, note our objection. We are tendering our experts. We will put -- like to put a proffer on for the Fifth Circuit or for the appellate process. But if the Court is going to strike our experts, then it needs to do so. We object because we have done everything correctly.

THE COURT: Okay. Here's another problem. I have not had time to process their motion to exclude. Beyond the procedural issues, they are saying junk science, that there's inadequate expertise on the part of I guess at least one of them regarding executive compensation. I haven't had -- they filed their motion to exclude at 4:00-something yesterday. Okay?

MR. MCENTIRE: I understand.

THE COURT: Now, yeah, I could have stayed up all night. I stayed up pretty late anyway, by the way. But --

MR. MCENTIRE: Well, first of all, --

THE COURT: -- I haven't even had the time to process and intelligently rule on their motion --

MR. MCENTIRE: I appreciate that, and I'll respect --

THE COURT: -- as far as the --

MR. MCENTIRE: I'll respect the Court's statement.

THE COURT: -- junk science argument.

MR. MCENTIRE: I'll respect the Court's statement. Their process and the procedure they've adopted is improper, because if you're going to have a Daubert hearing, that's a live hearing. Or they're going to have to have evidence to support their challenge. This is simply a conclusory shotgun blast on the wall, Your Honor.

If you even want to consider a Daubert challenge, the proper procedure is to put the witnesses on the stand and have an opportunity to have a proffer of evidence and a cross-examination. That's the proper procedure. Throwing something and innuendo and rhetoric and conclusions is not a proper Daubert motion at all. The Court could deny their Daubert motion just on those grounds.

THE COURT: I'm not going to rule on a motion that I've barely had a chance to read, not to mention your response that was filed at 8:00-something this morning.

MR. MORRIS: It was.

MR. MCENTIRE: It was. Well, then the option is you need to continue the proceeding to allow the experts to take the stand.

THE COURT: Well, I know you have thought on that, but here is something I'm contemplating doing. We'll go forward with the hearing in the manner my order said we would go forward with it. My, I guess, Order #3 of my three orders. And at the end of the evidence, you can argue in closing, each of you, why we should keep the evidence open to come back another day on only the experts. But time matters. If you've all already used your three hours on each side, then are we going to come back for five minutes on each of them? I mean, I don't know.

And then, of course, I would have to, if I ruled in that way, I believe I would have to give them a chance to depose these people.

MR. MCENTIRE: I think that would be reasonable.

THE COURT: Okay. But you think you can get all of your evidence in, other than your experts, and your opening statement, if any, your closing argument, if any, in three hours?

MR. MCENTIRE: I'll do my best.

THE COURT: Well, if you -- it's not a matter of -- I'm just saying this may all be an academic argument, because I'm not increasing this to more than three hours each. We've fully vetted that.

MR. MCENTIRE: Well, what the Court is then doing by virtue of your ruling is that you're making me actually present my evidence in a shortened form today, two hours, two and a half hours, not knowing how -- whether or not you are actually going to allow experts.

So, without the certainty, I will have to abbreviate my entire presentation, giving them the advantage of putting more evidence on than I, in an effort to anticipate a positive ruling, which you're not prepared to provide yet. And so I'm actually being penalized.

THE COURT: Counsel, we had two status conferences on what kind of hearing we were going to have.

MR. MCENTIRE: I understand.

THE COURT: Now, the fact that you had not decided your strategy for this hearing, that's not my fault. Again, we had two hearings on what kind of hearing we were going to have today. We could have fully vetted this. I could have heard about the experts, I could have decided if we were going to continue the hearing past June 8th, could have decided if we were going to allow more depositions.

MR. MCENTIRE: Your Honor, --

THE COURT: I could have fully studied the merits of the motion to exclude and decided if this is junk science or not.

MR. MCENTIRE: I would request a ruling at this time, Your Honor, on the experts. If you are not inclined to provide a ruling to me on the experts at this time, I would effectively be penalized on my time limits. I will have to set aside enough time to put the experts on, not knowing, not knowing whether you're going to give me the opportunity to do so until the end of the day. And that would be -- that would be punishment.

THE COURT: Isn't this going to be just preparing your case you would have -- I mean, going forward with your case the way you would have?

MR. MCENTIRE: No, I don't -- really don't think so. I think there's --

THE COURT: I mean, --

MR. MCENTIRE: There's a difference.

THE COURT: -- you did not prepare your witnesses and your possible cross-examination with the expectation of I'll get my two experts in?

MR. MCENTIRE: My -- of course. But the point is, then I'm going to have to set aside a half an hour or maybe even longer from my other witness preparations, not knowing whether you'll even give me that time.

THE COURT: Isn't the other side going to have to do the very same thing?

MR. MCENTIRE: No.

THE COURT: Why not? They don't know how I'm going to rule. I don't know how I'm going to rule. I have not studied the motion to exclude the way I should.

MR. MCENTIRE: Okay. Well, Your Honor, we request a ruling now. But if the Court is not inclined to do so, please note our objection.

THE COURT: All right. I'll give the Movants the last word. And I say "Movants" plural. I'm trying to remember where I saw a joinder and when I did not. Did I see a joinder? I can't remember.

MR. MORRIS: Can we just have a moment, Your Honor?

THE COURT: Okay. Okay.

MR. MCILWAIN: Your Honor, my clients did file a joinder, but --

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. MCILWAIN: -- I'm going to let them handle this.

THE COURT: Okay.

(Pause.)

THE COURT: Counsel?

MR. LEVY: Thank you, Your Honor. Two brief points we'd like to make. The first is on the Rules. So, Hunter Mountain is focused on Rule 26(a) regarding reports. However, Rule 26(b) applies to contested matters under Rule 9014. And as we explain in Paragraph -- we explain in our brief, that -- or, in Paragraph 19 of our brief, that under Rule 26(b) we're entitled to depose the experts.

And so we agree with Your Honor's suggestion that if there's going to be any sort of experts, then we need the opportunity to depose them. This is Rule 26(b)(4)(A), which expressly does apply to contested matters under Bankruptcy Rule 9014(b).

The second point is we agree with the approach Your Honor has proposed. We think, for today, both sides can put on their full cases without expert witnesses. Both sides can have the full three hours, which should address Hunter Mountain's concern. And if Your Honor decides at the conclusion of the hearing that expert testimony would be helpful, then we could take the opportunity to depose their experts and then come back for an additional half-hour for each side to address any expert testimony that Your Honor believes would be helpful.

THE COURT: Okay. Is your proposal that you each today would be limited to two and a half/two and a half? Or three/three, and then another hour, 30 minutes/30 minutes, if I --

MR. LEVY: Three/three.

THE COURT: -- decide to allow any experts?

MR. LEVY: Yeah. Three. Three and three for each side, the hearing contemplated by Your Honor's orders, today. And if Your Honor decides that expert testimony would be helpful, we could come back for an hour, for half an hour on each side, regarding experts.

THE COURT: All right. Mr. McEntire, what about that?

Oh, I'm sorry, did you --

MR. STANCIL: Oh, I'm sorry. Just one additional point, Your Honor. We would ask that Your Honor's ruling on the ultimate admissibility of this be limited to what they've actually put in front of us. The day for the hearing is today, so I think I'd like -- I'd suspect Your Honor would like to avoid another raft of submissions. So we would just ask that they live or die with what they've said in the way of methodology, disclosures, and the like.

THE COURT: Okay. Mr. McEntire, this seems like the best of all worlds, maybe.

MR. MCENTIRE: Well, it may be the best of the worlds in which we're operating.

My first position is that the experts are admissible, period. And the Rules do not require anything more than what we've already done. In fact, we've done more than we were supposed to.

THE COURT: What is your argument about 26(b)(4), which --

MR. MCCLEARY: If they want to take a deposition, they could have called me up and asked for it.

MR. STANCIL: Your Honor, I was --

THE COURT: Wait a second. They were under a court order. Okay?

MR. MCENTIRE: They could have -- they could have sought --

THE COURT: They were under my order. Okay? They would have been violating my order if they had done it.

MR. STANCIL: I was also, Your Honor, I was in a --

THE COURT: Not to mention that it was --

MR. STANCIL: I was in an airplane from 9:00 a.m.

Tuesday until 9:00 p.m. Tuesday.

THE COURT: I'm surprised a lot of you got here, with the Martian atmosphere that I saw pictures of.

Yes. That's not realistic, to think that you disclose an expert on Monday for a Thursday hearing and they can call you up and --

MR. MCENTIRE: The other --

THE COURT: -- quickly put together a deposition. So, --

MR. MCENTIRE: Sure. The other option, --

THE COURT: Uh-huh.

MR. MCENTIRE: -- of course, Your Honor, as I mentioned before, and I'm not going to repeat myself, is they -- there's other forms of relief they could seek. But under the circumstances, and in light of your apparent leaning on the issue, then this is the best under the circumstances that they've suggested. We'd like an hour each.

I would also point out that -- well, anyway, that's it, Your Honor. Thank you.

THE COURT: All right. So we are going to go forward as planned, three hours/three hours. No experts today. In making your closings -- well, this is kind of awkward. I'm trying to think if we really have closing arguments, when you don't know if it's -- it doesn't seem to make sense. Like, I guess we could have closing arguments if you want, subject to supplementing your closing arguments if we come back a second day with the experts. Okay?

And I'm not making a ruling today on the motion to exclude. I'm going to hear what I hear. And maybe what we'll do is I'll give you a placeholder hearing if we're going to come back on the experts. Then I'll go back and read the motion, the response, and make my ruling on are we coming back for another day of experts. Okay? Got it?

And with regard to the comment about not adding to, I think that's a fair point. You can't add new exhibits that the expert might talk about or that you might want me to consider between now and whenever the tentative day two is.

MR. MCENTIRE: Understand. We agree with that.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. MCCLEARY: Your Honor, there is one -- one exhibit that has a small typo transcription of a number on it. So we would like to substitute for that. It's a minor detail. But I'll provide opposing counsel with that. But it's very minor.

THE COURT: You have it today, I presume?

MR. MCCLEARY: Yes, we have it.

THE COURT: Okay. So as long as you hand it to them today.

MR. STANCIL: No objection, Your Honor. We do -- I think someone is back at the office working on a short reply on our motion, which I assume we could file in support of -- I mean, we filed our motion. They filed an opposition. I assume we would be entitled under the Rules to file a short reply on the actual exclusion issue.

THE COURT: That is fair, but let's talk about timing. You said someone is back at the office working on it. Could you get it on file by Monday?

MR. STANCIL: Yes, ma'am.

THE COURT: Okay. Then that'll be allowed if it's filed by the end of the day Monday.

MR. MCCLEARY: Your Honor, I'm providing a copy of Exhibit 43 to opposing counsel, which is the substitute exhibit.

And obviously, we'd like to have an opportunity to respond to what their filing is on Monday.

THE COURT: No. I mean, motion, response, reply. That's all our Rules permit. Okay? Motion, response, reply. Okay.

MR. MCCLEARY: Yes, Your Honor.

THE COURT: All right. Well, with that, do the parties want to make opening statements? If so, Mr. McEntire, you go first.

MR. MCENTIRE: Yes, Your Honor. We have a PowerPoint I would like to utilize, if I could.

THE COURT: You may.

MR. MORRIS: Your Honor, before we get to that, the Plaintiff has objected to virtually every single exhibit that we have. Should we deal with the evidence first, because I don't want to refer to documents or evidence in my opening that they're objecting to. They've literally objected to every single exhibit except one, although I think they're withdrawing certain of those objections.

I don't -- I don't know if the Court has had an opportunity to see the objection that was filed to the exhibits.

THE COURT: That was what was filed like at 11:00 last night or so?

MR. MORRIS: That's right.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. MORRIS: And so at 2:00, 3:00, 4:00, 5:00 o'clock this morning, I actually typed out a response that I'd like to hand up to the Court. But we've got to resolve the evidentiary issues before we get to this.

THE COURT: Okay. Well, --

MR. MORRIS: And I don't know what their position is going to be --

THE COURT: -- as a housekeeping matter, let's do that first. And let's start with the Movants' exhibits. Do we have any stipulations on admissibility of Movants' exhibits?

MR. MORRIS: So, if I understand correctly, Your Honor, you'd like to know if we object to any of their exhibits first?

THE COURT: Yes. And --

MR. MORRIS: Okay.

THE COURT: -- we'll hold --

MR. MORRIS: Because we have very limited objections.

THE COURT: Yes. We're going to keep on hold for now your exhibits to the expert-related, --

MR. MORRIS: Yes.

THE COURT: -- your objections to the expert-related ones.

MR. MORRIS: Right. I think -- I think --

THE COURT: So let's not talk about, for this moment, --

MR. MORRIS: 39 --

THE COURT: -- 39 through 52.

MR. MORRIS: Okay.

THE COURT: But as for 1 through 38 or 53 through 80, do the Respondents have objections?

MR. LEVY: Yes, Your Honor. We have very limited objections.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. LEVY: So, the three to which we object in their entirety are Exhibits 24, 25, and 76, all of which we object to on relevance grounds.

Exhibits 24 and 25 are email correspondence between counsel in an unrelated state court matter where Mr. Seery is responding to a third-party subpoena regarding the preservation of his text messages on his iPhone. This has absolutely nothing to do with whether or not the Movants have stated a colorable claim for breach of fiduciary duties.

What this appears to be is related to an entirely separate motion raised by Dugaboy regarding the preservation of Mr. Seery's iPhone. So we object to Exhibits 24 and 25 because they have simply nothing to do with the issues in this hearing.

We also object to Exhibit 76, which is a filing from two years ago in a different bankruptcy matter, from Acis, regarding an injunction in place in that -- in that plan about issues that -- that occurred before the bankruptcy was in place. So this is just an entirely different case from issues that arose many, many years ago that, again, has nothing to do with this case.

THE COURT: This was whether the Acis plan injunction barred some lawsuit?

MR. LEVY: Exactly.

THE COURT: Okay. Okay. Is that all?

MR. LEVY: We also have limited objections to certain exhibits that we think are admissible for the -- for the fact they're said, but not the truth of the matter asserted.

For example, Exhibits 1 and 2 are complaints filed in those actions. We have no objection to those coming in, but not for the truth of the matter asserted. These are advocacy pieces and pleadings. They're not actually substantive evidence.

And we would have similar -- similar objections to Exhibits 4, 6, 11, --

THE COURT: Wait. 4 is James Dondero Handwritten Notes, May 2021.

MR. LEVY: Yes.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. LEVY: So, we have no objection to that coming into evidence.

THE COURT: Uh-huh.

MR. LEVY: But there are -- those are hearsay. They're not admissible standing by themselves for the truth of the matter asserted.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. LEVY: And Exhibit 6 are news articles. Similarly, they're hearsay, but we have no objection to them coming in. They're admissible for the fact that they're published, but not the truth of the matter asserted.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. LEVY: Exhibit 11, which is a motion filed by the Debtor. Similarly, it's for -- we have no objection to anything on the docket coming in, but anything that's an advocacy piece, like a motion as opposed to an order, we think is not admissible for the truth of the matter asserted.

And that would be a similar objection, then, for Exhibit 58, which is a complaint.

Exhibits 59, 60, and 61 are -- are letters by counsel for Mr. Dondero to the U.S. Trustee's Office. We similarly have no objection to that coming in, but not for the truth of the matter asserted.

And Exhibits 62 and 63, Exhibit 62 is an attorney declaration attaching, similarly, documents that are -- that are advocacy pieces.

And Exhibit 63 appears to be an asset chart prepared by counsel. So it would be a similar objection.

And Exhibit 66 also is a declaration attaching documents.

No objections to those coming in, but not for the truth of the matter asserted.

Exhibits 72, 73, and 74 are all -- well, 72 are press articles. 73 and 74 are briefs. We don't object to that coming in, but we object to it being admitted for the truth of the matter asserted.

And similarly, Exhibit 80 is a pleading in an SDNY bankruptcy. We have no objection to that coming in, but not for the truth of the matter asserted.

And finally, Exhibits 81, 82, 83 don't specify particular documents. They appear to largely be reservations of rights. And so we would likewise reserve our right to object once we see any specific documents --

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. LEVY: -- admitted under these exhibits.

THE COURT: Okay. Mr. --

MR. LEVY: And I understand my colleague has an objection to Exhibit 5.

MR. MORRIS: Exhibit 5, which is the subject, I believe, of an unopposed sealing motion. That document has to do with purported restrictions on certain securities. Since it's subject to a sealing motion, I don't want to say too much more than that, other than that -- we don't think it should be admitted, because you can just see from the information on the document that it was created after the termination of a shared services agreement.

However, I'm hopeful that we can resolve the issue by simply stipulating that in December 2020 MGM was on a restricted list. What that means, what the consequences of it, the rest of it can be the subject of discussion. But if they're trying to get that document in for that particular fact, we would stipulate to it in order to resolve that dispute.

THE COURT: All right. Well, that's lots to respond to, Mr. McCleary. Why don't we start with the outright objections: 24, 25. It's apparently text messages related to Mr. Seery's iPhone. I know we've got another motion pending out there that's not set today regarding Mr. Seery's iPhone.

MR. MCCLEARY: Yes, Your Honor. Well, as the Court is aware, we've attempted to get discovery from Mr. Seery in relation to the allegations in this lawsuit. And by the way, all of our exhibits that we're tendering are subject to our objections that this should not be an evidentiary hearing. I just want to make that clear.

THE COURT: Understood.

MR. MCCLEARY: Okay. Thank you. So, we're not waiving that.

The Exhibits 24 and 25 are relevant to the fact that he's -- he's not preserving information that is relevant to the claims in this lawsuit. And that also is something that is a factor in the colorability of our claims in this case.

THE COURT: How?

MR. MCCLEARY: Well, there is an effort, we believe, underway to not have information available for us to discover. And it reflects that they have been involved in providing -- we think supports -- providing material nonpublic information to other people that would be in his phone. And we want him to preserve it. And we think the fact that he is not is evidence that supports the colorability of our claims.

THE COURT: So, --

MR. MCENTIRE: Your Honor, this --

THE COURT: No. No. I'm processing that. You're wanting the Court to receive into evidence a text that may say something like, I delete messages periodically on my phone, to support your claim that you have a colorable claim that some sort of improper insider disclosure of information and insider trading is going on? He said he had an automatic delete feature on his phone; therefore, he -- that must be evidence of a colorable claim for insider trading. That's the argument?

MR. MCENTIRE: May I add to it, supplement, Your Honor? Mr. Seery, in his deposition, indicated that he did receive a text message that he had recently reviewed from Stonehill in February of 2021. To the extent, however, that is inconsistent with the fact that he has an automatic delete button, suggesting to me that certain text messages have been selectively saved and some other messages have been not selectively saved.

THE COURT: We don't have that motion set today.

MR. MCENTIRE: This is not -- that has nothing to do with the motion. It has to do with the fact that what is being presented to the Court in response, the Respondents' argument, is a selected window, a selected picture, that is -- distorts the reality of what we think has been destroyed evidence.

Mr. Seery can't save one message that may be helpful to them and not save others that may not be. And it is inconsistent with the notion that this automatic delete button was already in effect, so why does he have one favorable message? That's why it's relevant.

THE COURT: Maybe he stopped using the automatic delete after --

MR. MCENTIRE: No, he didn't at this time, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Well, --

MR. MCENTIRE: That's the relevance.

THE COURT: So, --

MR. MCCLEARY: And he should never have used it, Your Honor, given his role and responsibilities.

THE COURT: We don't have that motion set today. What is the content of these emails? February 16th, March 10th, 2023? What is the content, for me to really zero in --

MR. LEVY: I have --

THE COURT: -- on relevance or not.

MR. LEVY: -- copies of the emails, if that would be helpful --

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. LEVY: -- to Your Honor.

THE COURT: Well, you know, now I'm seeing them, so I don't know what the big deal is if --

MR. LEVY: As Your Honor can see, these are emails between counsel regarding preservation, which has nothing to do with whether there are colorable claims for fiduciary duties.

I'll add that -- and to show that this has nothing to do with this case and it is an attempt to generate a fishing expedition for documents in an entirely unrelated motion, we had a meet-and-confer where we represented to the counsel bringing that motion that we have been able to recover the text messages from the iCloud.

And so this is really just a sideshow. It has nothing to do with the issues of the colorability of claims for breach of fiduciary duties. It should not be introduced into evidence in this hearing.

THE COURT: All right. I'm going to sustain the objection, but this is without prejudice to you re-urging admission of these messages at the hearing on the motion regarding Mr. Seery's phone. Okay? Now, --

MR. MCCLEARY: That's as to 24 and 25, Your Honor?

THE COURT: Correct. And let's go now to the other one, the Exhibit 76, the Acis-related document, the relevance of that. Statement of Interested Party in Response to Motion of NexPoint to Confirm Discharge or Plan Injunction Does Not Bar Suit, or Alternatively, for Relief from All Applicable

Injunctions.

What is the relevance for today's matter?

MR. MCCLEARY: Your Honor, this is background of pleadings and just background information generally to support the allegations made in the case and the background.

THE COURT: What do you mean, background?

MR. MCCLEARY: Kind of the history relative to the claims trading and relative to the claims of the use of insider information.

THE COURT: Okay. Be more specific, because I certainly have a background education on Acis litigation.

(Pause.)

MR. MCCLEARY: Yeah. Your Honor, this is a data point that is referred to in one of our experts' data charts, I believe, so --

THE COURT: All right. So let's just carry that to --

MR. MCCLEARY: Yes.

THE COURT: I'm just going to mark it as carried along with 39 through 62, related to the experts.

(HMIT's Exhibits 39 through 62 and Exhibit 76 carried.)

THE COURT: Okay. What about all of these objections that we don't object per se but we want it clear that the documents are not being offered for the truth of the matter asserted because there's hearsay?

MR. MCENTIRE: Your Honor, I'll let Mr. McCleary address all of those.

I want to point out one exception, and that is Exhibit #4, which are handwritten notes from Mr. Jim Dondero. Those are not -- they are being offered for the truth of the matter asserted because it's an admission of a party opponent in these proceedings, and that's Farallon. They reflect significant statements and admissions by Farallon, which are not hearsay. It's an exception to the hearsay rule. And they're being offered for more -- they are being offered for the truth of the matter asserted, because -- and it's admissible in that format.

THE COURT: But are you referring to hearsay within hearsay? Because there would be, I guess -- I guess the handwritten notes of Mr. Dondero are his hearsay, and then you're saying there's --

MR. MCENTIRE: So, this is reflecting statements made to Mr. Dondero that are admissions of a party opponent.

MR. LEVY: None of that has been established. These are not notes from anybody at Farallon or Stonehill which could potentially be a party admission. These are notes by Mr. Dondero about what was purportedly said by somebody else, and there's no evidence that these were kept in the regular course of business.

This is hearsay and hearsay within hearsay. And this could be established in testimony, but it can't be admitted -- the document can't be admitted to speak on behalf of a third person who's not here.

MR. MCENTIRE: Well, first of all, I agree, we'd need to lay a foundation. But that's not the purpose of this discussion right now. I am simply advising the Court that once I lay a foundation, it comes in for all purposes. It comes in as an admission of a party opponent.

MR. LEVY: It is not an admission of a party opponent. It is not notes or statements by any actual defendant. These are notes by Mr. Dondero being introduced for his own benefit. It is not a party admission.

THE COURT: Okay. I'm going to carry that one. If one of the witnesses that's on the witness stand -- well, presumably Mr. Dondero will be called -- we can get context at that time and decide if it's appropriate to let it in and let you cross-examine him on them if that's going to come in. All right? So we'll carry this one.

Anything else, though, unique, or can we consider as a batch all these other objections to -- most of them being pleadings, not all of them but a lot of them -- that the Respondents just want it clear that they're not being offered for the truth of the matter asserted? Your response?

MR. MCCLEARY: They're, again, largely data points relied on by experts in the course of coming up with their opinions and just setting the background and history of the claims trading.

THE COURT: Well, then which ones are data points? Because I just need to carry those, right? If they're not being offered for any other reason.

MR. MCCLEARY: Well, I would have to -- we would have to refer to the charts of the experts, Your Honor, to determine that on all of them.

MR. MCENTIRE: In order to facilitate this, may I make a suggestion, Your Honor? We'll agree that if we're going to offer anything that he's identified other than for the purposes indicated, we will advise the Court. Otherwise, we'll accept the limitations imposed. And as we go through, if we offer an exhibit that is more than the truth -- if we are offering it for the truth of the matter asserted, we will advise the Court, and then we could take it up then. I'm just trying to get the ball rolling.

THE COURT: Okay. Well, that's still going to be a time-consuming thing, maybe. But, okay. Just, when we start the clock here -- very shortly, I hope -- I want people clear that when you make objections, that counts against your three hours. Okay? All right?

MR. LEVY: Okay. Understood, Your Honor.

MR. MCCLEARY: Your Honor, we have certainly made objection to some of their exhibits.

THE COURT: All right. Well, shall we turn to those now?

MR. MCCLEARY: Yes, Your Honor.

MR. MORRIS: Your Honor, they objected to every single exhibit except one, so let's be clear.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. MORRIS: If they're withdrawing them, that's fine.

MR. MCCLEARY: Well, --

MR. MORRIS: But let's be clear.

MR. MCCLEARY: -- we are not withdrawing our general objection to all the evidence, of course. Just --

THE COURT: Okay. Let me just say for the record right now, I understand and you are preserving for all purposes your ability to argue on appeal that it was error for the Court to consider any evidence. Okay? You have not waived that argument by --

MR. MCCLEARY: Thank you.

THE COURT: -- now --

MR. MCCLEARY: Thank you. We can have --

THE COURT: -- agreeing to the admission of anybody's exhibit or offering your own exhibits.

MR. MCCLEARY: And we could have a running objection on that basis, on relevance to all the witnesses and the evidence that they offer on that basis. I would request that.

THE COURT: Well, okay, let me be clear. Relevance. Your argument is that no evidence is relevant because the Court doesn't need to consider any evidence --

MR. MCCLEARY: Yes, Your Honor.

THE COURT: -- on the colorability issue. You've got a running objection. It's not destroyed for appeal purposes. Okay?

MR. MCCLEARY: Thank you, Your Honor. Then, subject to that, in terms --

MR. MORRIS: I'm sorry to interrupt, but --

MR. MCCLEARY: Sure.

MR. MORRIS: -- would it be helpful if I gave the Court my list so she can see --

MR. MCCLEARY: Sure.

MR. MORRIS: -- what the --

MR. MCCLEARY: Sure.

MR. MORRIS: Okay. May I approach, Your Honor?

THE COURT: You may. I'm not sure, if everything has been objected to, I'm not sure how --

MR. MORRIS: Because I've tried -- I've tried to organize it in a way that would be helpful.

THE COURT: Okay.

(Pause.)

MR. MCCLEARY: Okay. Your --

THE COURT: I'm ready.

MR. MCCLEARY: -- Honor, yes.

THE COURT: Uh-huh.

MR. MCCLEARY: So, we are withdrawing our objections, other than the general objections to relevance based on the evidentiary nature of the proceeding, to Exhibits 1 and 2.

With respect to 3, this is a verified petition to take deposition for suit and seek documents filed on July 22, 2021. We object on the grounds of relevance and hearsay to that. Is that --

THE COURT: Well, --

MR. MORRIS: I don't -- I don't understand this one.

THE COURT: This --

MR. MCCLEARY: Is that, I'm sorry, is that your #11?

MR. MORRIS: Yeah.

MR. MCCLEARY: All right. We withdraw our objection to #3, subject to our general objection.

On Exhibit 4, we object to relevance and hearsay on a verified amended petition to take deposition before suit and seek documents.

THE COURT: Okay. This is my time to hear your argument. And we're going to be here --

MR. MORRIS: Can I -- can I do this here? It's going to be much quicker.

THE COURT: What do you mean? Do what here?

MR. MORRIS: So, if you just follow the chart that I gave the Court, --

THE COURT: Uh-huh.

MR. MORRIS: -- Section A is a list of exhibits that they've objected to. Those exhibits are in the right-hand column.

At the same time, they are offering the exact same exhibits into evidence on their exhibit list. I don't understand how they can offer their exhibits and object to ours.

MR. MCCLEARY: Counsel. I'm sorry. We've already told them that, subject to our general objection, we'll withdraw the objections to those exhibits.

MR. MORRIS: Right. So can we agree that all objections to Section A are withdrawn?

MR. MCCLEARY: Subject to the general objection, yes.

MR. MORRIS: Thank you.

THE COURT: Okay. So, --

MR. MORRIS: That's going to be much quicker.

THE COURT: -- 11, 34, 2, 46, 42, 38, 41, 39, 40, and various attachments to Highland Exhibits 5 are withdrawn. So, admitted by stipulation.

(Debtors' Exhibits 2, 11, 34, 38, 39, 40, 41, 42, 46 are received into evidence. Certain attachments to Debtors' Exhibit 5 are received into evidence.)

MR. MORRIS: And to make this easy, Your Honor, at some point I hope later today, but perhaps tomorrow, we'll slap a caption on this, we'll file it on the docket, so that, you know, an appellate court, if necessary, can follow along. But I think that we've just stipulated that all of the exhibits identified in Section A of this document are -- the objections have been withdrawn.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. MCCLEARY: Subject to the general objections.

MR. MORRIS: Right. That gets us -- I'm going to jump to Section C, because I think the same is true. Section C identifies all exhibits that each party has taken from the docket. And you can see from Footnote 4, the Court can take judicial notice under Federal Rule of Evidence 201, we've just had the discussion about whether or not any of them would be limited for purposes of the truth of the matter asserted, but all of the exhibits identified in Section C I think the Court can take judicial notice of because they're on a docket.

THE COURT: Response?

MR. MORRIS: And so I would respectfully request that they withdraw their objections to anything in Section C.

THE COURT: Response, Mr. McCleary?

MR. MCCLEARY: I understand the Court can take judicial notice of those, Your Honor, but they do contain irrelevant and hearsay information also.

MR. MORRIS: The hearsay, I think that we just had the discussion. I mean, if there's something that he wants to really point out at this point that I can respond to. But we would agree that advocacy pieces shouldn't be offered for the truth of the matter asserted. Court orders, on the other hand, are law of the case.

THE COURT: So, I mean, it's the very same situation we just addressed with your own exhibits. You have a lot of court filings. And they didn't have a problem with it, as long as everyone knew advocacy was not being accepted for the truth of the matter asserted.

MR. MCCLEARY: Well, --

THE COURT: Isn't this the same thing?

MR. MCCLEARY: -- they're not offering it for the truth of the matter asserted. That's one thing. And certainly the Court can take judicial notice. We do object to the extent they're offering Exhibits 6 through 10 for the truth of the matter asserted.

MR. MORRIS: Well, let me check those.

THE COURT: Well, --

MR. MCCLEARY: I'm sorry. 6, 7, uh -- (pause).

THE COURT: Those are orders of --

MR. MORRIS: Yeah.

THE COURT: -- courts.

MR. MORRIS: Yeah. They're orders of the Court.

MR. MCCLEARY: The orders are not relevant, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Explain.

MR. MCCLEARY: Well, they have not demonstrated that the orders that they seek to introduce are relevant. They have orders regarding, for example, the contempt proceedings that are irrelevant to these proceedings. And prejudicial under 403.

THE COURT: All right. Shall I take a five- or ten-minute break? Let me -- I think I've been very generous by not starting the clock yet on the three hours/three hours.

MR. MCCLEARY: Appreciate that.

THE COURT: But here's how we do things in bankruptcy court. And I don't mean to talk down to anyone. I don't know, you may appear in bankruptcy court every day of your life. But we expect counsel to get together ahead of time and stipulate to the admissibility of as many exhibits as you can. If there's a preservation of rights here and there, fine. But we --

MR. MCCLEARY: Maybe if we take --

THE COURT: You know, --

MR. MCCLEARY: We can try to --

THE COURT: -- helping everyone to understand, --

MR. MCCLEARY: Sure.

THE COURT: -- we have thousands of cases in our court.

MR. MCCLEARY: Sure.

THE COURT: And this is just something we have to do to give all parties their day in court when they need time. And so --

MR. MCCLEARY: If you'd like us to take ten minutes and try to narrow this, we certainly --

THE COURT: Okay. With everybody understanding you should have taken the ten minutes before we got here. But, again, when I say three hours, --

MR. MORRIS: Yeah.

THE COURT: -- that's what I meant. Okay?

MR. MCCLEARY: Yes, Your Honor.

THE COURT: So we'll take a ten-minute break.

THE CLERK: All rise.

(A recess ensued from 10:42 a.m. until 10:54 a.m.)

THE CLERK: All rise.

THE COURT: All right. Please be seated. Have we reached agreements on some of these exhibits?

MR. MCCLEARY: Your Honor, we have agreed on the ones that we can agree on, and we announced that to the Court with respect to the Paragraph A items that the Court's already ruled on.

I would like to point out to the Court that we just got their objections handed to us right before the hearing. We filed ours last night. So we didn't --

THE COURT: At 11:00-something, right?

MR. MCCLEARY: Yes, Your Honor, but we did --

THE COURT: Okay. Well, okay. So I guess your point is you want to make sure I'm annoyed with everyone, not just selective of you.

MR. MCCLEARY: Well, --

THE COURT: I mean, exhibit lists were filed Monday. So I don't know why on Tuesday people were not on the phone saying, you know, or Wednesday morning at the latest.

MR. MCCLEARY: Sure. And we haven't had much of an opportunity, in fairness, to consider their objections and respond because we just received them right at the time of the hearing, just before the hearing started.

Your Honor, we would urge our objections to Exhibit #4. We've objected to this petition to take deposition before suit and seek documents on the basis of relevance and hearsay. They have a number of pleadings in other matters that have nothing to do with, frankly, the colorability standard in this case. And this is an example.

THE COURT: Okay. This is the time for me to hear specific objections and what the basis is, and not just --

MR. MORRIS: Can we go back --

THE COURT: -- a category.

MR. MCCLEARY: Yeah.

MR. MORRIS: Can we go back to my way? Because it's just going to be much faster. It really will be. Right? We -- Category 1, A and C, we dealt with. Category B, --

THE COURT: Well, we dealt with A.

MR. MORRIS: Right. And --

THE COURT: All of those are withdrawn, and they are admitted by stipulation.

MR. MORRIS: Right.

MR. MCCLEARY: Subject to --

THE COURT: Category C, --

MR. MCCLEARY: -- the general objections.

THE COURT: -- I'm not sure we're to closure on.

MR. MORRIS: Um, --

THE COURT: Are we to closure on C? Are you stipulating?

MR. MCCLEARY: No. We are not stipulating on C.

MR. MORRIS: Let's do them one at a time.

MR. MCCLEARY: I have not had an opportunity to -- to --

MR. MORRIS: Let's do them one at a time.

MR. MCCLEARY: Have not had an opportunity to look at each and every one of these, Your Honor. Because we did just get these.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. MCCLEARY: But generally --

THE COURT: If we have not wrapped this up in 15 minutes, we're just going to start, and you can object the old-fashioned way. But I'm telling all lawyers here, objections count against your time. Okay?

MR. MORRIS: And I'd move for the admission of all of our exhibits right now, then.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. MORRIS: So let him -- let -- put him on the clock and let's go.

THE COURT: Okay. So, 15 minutes. Let start going through everything except Category A.

MR. MORRIS: Number 4?

MR. MCCLEARY: Number 4, Your Honor, we object on the basis of relevance and hearsay.

MR. MORRIS: Okay. My response to that, Your Honor, and this will be my response -- this is in Section B of my outline --

THE COURT: Uh-huh.

MR. MORRIS: Okay? They object to Exhibits 3, 4, 5, and 9. These are Mr. Dondero's prior sworn statements. You just heard his lawyer stand here and tell the Court that somehow his handwritten notes should be admissible as an admission. You know what he did? He testified four different times under oath. That's Exhibits 3, 4, 5, and 9. Sworn statements.

They come into evidence not as hearsay but under Federal

Rule of Evidence 801(d)(1). It's beyond -- the notion that they can prove a colorable claim and that it's not relevant that he's got diametrically different -- he's got four different statements, now five with his notes, he's got five different statements. Doesn't that go to the colorability of these claims?

We believe it does. That's the basis for the introduction of these documents into evidence.

THE COURT: Okay. Mr. McCleary, your response?

MR. MCCLEARY: Well, it's a verified amended petition, Your Honor, in another matter, to -- before suit to seek documents. Has nothing to do with the merits of this case and our motion for leave. So we object on the grounds of relevance and hearsay.

THE COURT: Well, since they're prior sworn statements of Mr. Dondero, --

MR. MCCLEARY: Well, then they might -- if they want to use it later to impeach, they can try to do that, but they have to lay the foundation.

THE COURT: What about 801(d)(1)?

MR. MCCLEARY: Again, relevance, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Okay. I overrule. Those are --

MR. MCCLEARY: And Mr. --

MR. MORRIS: Okay.

THE COURT: Those are going to be admitted.

MR. MCCLEARY: By the way, on hearsay, Mr. Dondero is not Hunter Mountain. So when he argues that these are admissions, they're not admissions by Hunter Mountain.

MR. MORRIS: Your Honor, the only piece of evidence, literally the only piece of evidence they have are the words out of Mr. Dondero's mouth. There is no evidence, there will be no evidence of a quid, a pro, or a quo. There will be no evidence other than what Mr. Dondero testifies to --

MR. MCCLEARY: Well, --

MR. MORRIS: -- about what he was told. There will be no evidence that there was a meaningful relationship between Mr. Seery and Ms. -- and Farallon and Stonehill. There will be no evidence, none, that Farallon and Stonehill rubber-stamped Mr. Seery's compensation package. Nothing. The only thing we have are going to be the words out of Mr. Dondero's mouth and these notes that just showed up. And these statements --

MR. MCCLEARY: Your Honor?

THE COURT: Okay. Counsel, I mean, it just feels like --

MR. MORRIS: It's --

THE COURT: -- if notes get in, then sworn statements of Mr. Dondero should get in. Right?

MR. MCCLEARY: Your Honor, he's making arguments, closing arguments, opening arguments, trying to run out the clock. We objected to relevance, and we stand on our objection.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. MCCLEARY: And on hearsay.

THE COURT: I'll admit 3, 4, 5, and 9.

(Debtors' Exhibits 3, 4, 5, and 9 are received into evidence.)

MR. MORRIS: Section E.

MR. MCCLEARY: I'm sorry. So our objections are overruled?

THE COURT: They are overruled.

MR. MCCLEARY: On 3, 4, 5?

THE COURT: And 9.

MR. MORRIS: Section E of my outline.

MR. MCCLEARY: What about 6?

THE COURT: That's not --

MR. MORRIS: Well, --

THE COURT: Well, I don't --

MR. MORRIS: -- it would -- it would --

THE COURT: Let's go back to C. I'm not clear if we're to closure on Section C.

MR. MORRIS: I'll let Counsel go through --

THE COURT: And 6 is within Section C.

MR. MORRIS: I'll let Counsel go through each one, one at a time.

MR. MCCLEARY: No. That's all right. If you want to go through, you have them lumped in. Yeah, I think it'd probably be quickest if, frankly, we just go down the list, Your Honor. Frankly.

THE COURT: Well, you've got ten minutes left.

MR. MCCLEARY: Okay. We object to #6, memorandum and opinion order granting Dondero's motion to remand, on the basis of relevance and hearsay.

THE COURT: Overruled. I can take judicial notice under 201 of that. So 6 is admitted.

(Debtors' Exhibit 6 is received into evidence.)

MR. MCCLEARY: We object to Exhibits 7 and 8 on the grounds of relevance. 7 on relevance and hearsay, and 8 on relevance.

MR. MORRIS: I'll take 7 first, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. MORRIS: It's an order dismissing Mr. Dondero's 202 petition. That 202 petition sought discovery on the basis of the exact same so-called insider trading claims that Hunter Mountain is asserting today.

I think it's not only relevant, it's almost dispositive that a Texas state court heard the exact same -- or, actually, not the exact same, because Mr. Dondero changed his story so many times -- but heard a version, I think Versions 1, 2, and 3, of this insider trading and would not even give them discovery.

So when the Court considers whether or not there's a colorable claim here, I think it ought to think about what a Texas state court decided on not whether or not they have colorable claims, whether or not they're even entitled to discovery. I think it's very relevant. Move for its admission right now.

MR. MCCLEARY: Your Honor, it's ironic, because at that hearing counsel for the Respondents was arguing that it ought to be this Court that considers what discovery is appropriate.

THE COURT: Okay. Well, obviously, you can argue about that, but, again, I think I can take judicial notice of this. Right?

MR. MCCLEARY: Well, we argue that it's not relevant, Your Honor, and it is the --

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. MCCLEARY: 7 is not relevant and is hearsay.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. MORRIS: Number 8, --

THE COURT: Objection is overruled.

MR. MCCLEARY: Overruled?

THE COURT: And so 7 is admitted.

(Debtors' Exhibit 7 is received into evidence.)

MR. MCCLEARY: 8 is our verified petition. And we object on the grounds of relevance.

MR. MORRIS: You know, Your Honor, if I really had the time and the patience to do this, I think I'd find this document attached to Mr. McEntire's affidavit that's on their exhibit list.

But to speed this up just a little bit, how could their 202 petition that sought discovery on the basis of the very same insider trading allegation not be relevant? It's a judicial order. You can take notice of it. And it's incredibly relevant that a second Texas state court heard the same allegations that they're presenting to you as colorable and said no, you're not getting discovery.

MR. MCCLEARY: We don't know why they made that order, Your Honor. They could have simply accepted the opposition's arguments that this Court had jurisdiction and should consider what discovery ought to be done.

THE COURT: Overruled.

MR. MCCLEARY: It's not relevant to our --

THE COURT: I admit 8.

MR. MORRIS: Next?

MR. MCCLEARY: Overruled?

THE COURT: Yes.

(Debtors' Exhibit 8 is received into evidence.)

MR. MCCLEARY: The declaration of James Dondero. I think we withdrew the Dondero --

THE COURT: Right.

MR. MCCLEARY: -- declarations. If it --

THE COURT: It's --

MR. MCCLEARY: Numbered -- I'm sorry, #9.

THE COURT: 9. I've already checked it as admitted.

MR. MCCLEARY: If you want to -- if you want to offer #9, they can offer it.

THE COURT: It's admitted. I've already --

MR. MCCLEARY: Okay.

THE COURT: -- said.

MR. MCCLEARY: Number 10. It's an order denying our second Rule 202 petition. And we object to it on relevance, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Same objection. It's overruled. It's admitted.

(Debtors' Exhibit 10 is received into evidence.)

MR. MCCLEARY: Number 12, 13, and -- 12 and 13 are correspondence regarding resignation letters. We object on grounds of relevance.

THE COURT: Wait. Did we skip 11 for a reason?

MR. MCCLEARY: Pardon me?

THE COURT: Did we skip 11 for a reason?

MR. MCCLEARY: We only have it --

THE COURT: Oh, wait. It's already admitted by stipulation.

MR. MCCLEARY: Yeah, and we have --

MR. MORRIS: That's the one --

MR. MCCLEARY: We have our general objection.

MR. MORRIS: That's the one exhibit that they didn't object to.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. MCCLEARY: We only had our general objection with respect to that.

THE COURT: Okay. Thank you. Thank you.

MR. MCCLEARY: On 12 --

THE COURT: Uh-huh.

MR. MCCLEARY: -- and 13, those are correspondence regarding resignations. We object on the grounds of relevance.

MR. MORRIS: So, the relevance of that, Your Honor, is to show that when Mr. Dondero sent this email to Mr. Seery in December 2020, he had absolutely no relationship to Highland, had absolutely no duty to Highland, had absolutely no reason to send this email to Highland. He wasn't in control of Highland. He wasn't --

If they'll stipulate to this, that's fine. He wasn't in control. He had no authority to do anything. He couldn't effectuate trades. He wasn't there. And that's what these documents are intended to prove.

THE COURT: Okay. Why are we -- this is --

MR. MCCLEARY: Because there are --

THE COURT: Some of this stuff, I mean, --

MR. MCCLEARY: There are other agreements.

THE COURT: -- is no big deal. Right?

MR. MCCLEARY: Sub-advisory agreements, other agreements that he had under which he had a responsibility to make the communications regarding material nonpublic information that he made. So this is simply irrelevant, Your Honor.

THE COURT: I overrule. I mean, again, I don't --

MR. MCCLEARY: Okay.

(Debtors' Exhibits 12 and 13 are received into evidence.)

MR. MCCLEARY: Number 14, --

THE COURT: You're both giving me just a lot of background that I already have, but of course a Court of Appeals --

MR. MORRIS: That's why we --

THE COURT: -- isn't going to have it.

MR. MORRIS: Yep.

MR. MCCLEARY: Well, #14, Exhibit 14, we object on the grounds of relevance and hearsay.

THE COURT: Okay. Wait a minute. We skipped 13 because -- why? Oh, wait, that was, I'm sorry, 12 and 13 --

MR. MORRIS: Yes.

THE COURT: -- where I've overruled the objection and admitted.

Okay. Go ahead.

MR. MCCLEARY: 14, we object on the grounds of relevance and hearsay, Your Honor.

MR. MORRIS: I'm just going to make this real quick, Your Honor. Here's the thing. This Court knows it. It's actually facts that cannot be disputed because they're subject of court orders.

As the Court will recall, beginning in late November 2020 continuing through late December 2020, Mr. Dondero was engaged in a continuous pattern of interference with Highland's business and trading. It was the subject of the TRO, which is why the TRO is relevant.

Your Honor will recall that at the end of November Mr. Dondero attempted to stop Mr. Seery from trading in Avaya stock. On December 3rd is when he sent this threatening email, text message, to Mr. Dondero [sic]. It caused us to get the TRO.

Your Honor will recall on December 16, 2020, that's when we had the hearing on Mr. Dondero's motion to try to stop Mr. Seery from trading in the CLOs that the Court dismissed as frivolous and granted the directed verdict of Highland.

So, that's December 16. He sends this email about MGM on December 17th. And what happens on December 18th? More interference with Highland's business. It's a matter of -- beyond dispute. It's law of the case at this point because that's the subject of the contempt order. And the Court found that, after -- after hours, on December 18th, Hunter Covitz told Mr. Dondero that Mr. Seery was again trying to trade in Avaya stock, and within a day or two Mr. Dondero was again interfering it, and that's what led to the second -- to the first contempt order.

So all of these documents are relevant to show motive and what was happening. This email was not sent for any legitimate purpose. The evidence is just overwhelming. And it's not -- it's not like, oh, that's an argument we're making. Between the TRO and the contempt order, it's law of the case. He was interfering with Highland's business nonstop for thirty days, including the day before he sent this email and the day after he sent the email.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. MCCLEARY: Your Honor, this is a lawsuit or an effort to file a lawsuit on behalf of Hunter Mountain Investment Trust, not James Dondero. And as much as Counsel wants to make this about Jim Dondero and attack him, this is a different case. So this exhibit has nothing to do with the claims in this lawsuit. It's not relevant. And hearsay.

MR. MORRIS: The only evidence is Mr. Dondero. It's -- could not be more relevant.

THE COURT: Okay. I overrule. I'm admitting this.

And so we're --

MR. MCCLEARY: Uh, --

THE COURT: It's 14. It's -- how far?

MR. MCCLEARY: 14. Exhibit 15 is where we are, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Okay.

(Debtors' Exhibit 14 is received into evidence.)

THE COURT: 15.

MR. MORRIS: Oh, that's -- that's the contempt order. And so these contain the judicial findings that are now beyond dispute that Mr. Dondero was engaged in interfering with Highland's business after the TRO was entered on December 10th.

THE COURT: Okay. Again, my own orders, --

MR. MCCLEARY: Your Honor, it's not --

THE COURT: -- I can take judicial notice of --

MR. MCCLEARY: It's --

THE COURT: -- under the Federal Rules of Evidence.

MR. MCCLEARY: It's --

THE COURT: 201.

MR. MCCLEARY: We simply object as not relevant. We object based on Federal Rule of Evidence 403. Any possible relevance is outweighed by the prejudice. And we object on the grounds of hearsay, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Prejudice? Prejudice? They're orders I issued. I'm going to be prejudiced by my own orders?

MR. MCCLEARY: Uh, well, --

THE COURT: I don't --

MR. MCCLEARY: -- Hunter Mountain will be.

THE COURT: Okay. I'll overrule.

(Debtors' Exhibit 15 is received into evidence.)

THE COURT: I'll tell you what. We're out of our -- well, we've get probably 30 seconds left. Anything that we can maybe knock out to not have eat into your three hours? Both of you?

MR. MCCLEARY: Your Honor, we filed written objections to all of these exhibits. We urge those objections. 16.

THE COURT: I know, but this is your chance to argue why your objections have merit. I can -- we can just --

MR. MCCLEARY: Because, well, obviously, we're talking about pleadings and filings in other matters. The evidence that they're trying to use to impugn Jim Dondero, which has nothing to do with the merits of HMIT's claims and allegations of insider trades.

THE COURT: Okay. A lot of this is articles. Articles, articles, articles about MGM.

MR. MCCLEARY: On the articles, Your Honor, subject to our general objection, we'll withdraw the objections to the articles if they'll agree to the articles that we've offered.

MR. MORRIS: Your Honor, we didn't lodge an objection to their articles.

MR. MCCLEARY: Okay.

MR. MORRIS: And just so, if anybody is keeping track at home, this is Item B on the list that I created earlier this morning.

THE COURT: Okay. So, 25 through 30 are articles. Those are admitted by stipulation. Nothing is about the truth of the matter asserted. They're just articles that were out there for --

MR. MORRIS: Right. I would just --

MR. MCCLEARY: Yes.

THE COURT: -- the world.

MR. MORRIS: Just so we're clear, it's Exhibits 25, 6 -- 25, 26, 27, 28, 29, and 30.

THE COURT: Right.

(Debtors' Exhibits 25 through 30 are received into evidence.)

MR. MORRIS: And so, yes, those are all articles. They have their articles. Exhibit 72.

THE COURT: Oh, and 34 is another one. So that's admitted as well.

MR. MORRIS: Yes.

MR. MCCLEARY: Yes, Your Honor.

(Debtors' Exhibit 34 is received into evidence.)

THE COURT: Okay. Well, we're out of time, so as for the others, they can offer them the old-fashioned way if they want to, you can object the old-fashioned way, and it eats into both of your three hours.

MR. MCCLEARY: Yes, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Okay. Let's hear opening statements. And by the way, before we wrap up today, I'm going to say out loud everything I've admitted so we're all crystal clear on what's in the record. This has been a bit chaotic.

MR. MCCLEARY: Okay. Understood.

THE COURT: So, Caroline is going to be the keeper of our time over here. And if the judge ever interrupts you, she's going to stop the timer. Okay?

MR. MCENTIRE: Thank you.

THE COURT: I hope I won't any more, but you may proceed.

MR. MCENTIRE: No, I appreciate it. Thank you. Can you see it, Your Honor?

THE COURT: I can, yes. Thanks.

MR. MCENTIRE: Can opposing counsel see it?

MR. MORRIS: Yes, sir.

MR. MCENTIRE: All right.

THE COURT: And I'm just going to ask everyone who has a PowerPoint today, can I get a hard copy --

MR. MCENTIRE: Certainly.

THE COURT: -- before we close?

MR. MCENTIRE: Certainly.

THE COURT: Okay. Thank you.

OPENING STATEMENT ON BEHALF OF HUNTER MOUNTAIN INVESTMENT TRUST

MR. MCENTIRE: May it please the Court, Your Honor, at this time I'll be providing the opening statement on behalf of Hunter Mountain Investment Trust. It is a Delaware trust. Mark Patrick, who's in the courtroom, is the Administrator. He will be one of the witnesses that you'll hear today.

Hunter Mountain Investment Trust is the former 99.5 percent equity holder, currently classified as a Class 10 contingent beneficiary under the Claimant Trust Agreement. It is active in supporting various entities that in turn support charities throughout North Texas.

Your Honor, this is not an ordinary claims-trading case. I know the Court made those references in one of the hearings, and I wanted to more clearly respond. This has different indicia. An ordinary claims-trading case is normally outside the purview of the bankruptcy court. What makes this different is that we're involving, we believe and allege, breaches of fiduciary duty of the Debtor-in-Possession's CEO and the Trustee.

It involves also aiding and abetting by the entities that actually acquired the claims. And that falls into the category of willful misconduct.

It also involves injury to the Reorganized Debtor and to the Claimant Trust. Ordinarily, a claims trade would not involve injury to the estate or the reorganized debtor. Here, we have alleged that it has. And the injury takes the form of unearned excessive fees that Mr. Seery has garnered as a result of his relationship and arrangements, as we have alleged, with the Claims Purchasers.

During the course of my presentation today, I'll be referring to the Claims Purchasers as the collective of Farallon, Stonehill, Muck, and Jessup.

I would like to briefly discuss some of the issues that have already been presented to the Court, just to make sure that this record is clear.

Can you please continue?

We don't believe the Barton Doctrine is applicable. I believe that precedent is very clear that the Barton Doctrine deals with proceedings in other courts, and the various standards and requirements of Barton do not apply if in fact we're coming to the Court and filing the proceeding in the court where the Trustee was actually appointed.

And so I think that the law is clear. And this is Judge Houser here in the Northern District of Texas in the case In re Provider Meds. And she makes very clear that the standard for granting leave to sue here is actually less stringent than a 12(b)(6) plausibility standard. So if there is any issue as to what standard this Court should be applying to the -- to this process, we believe it's a 12(b)(6) standard, confined to the four corners of the document.

If the Court wishes to consult the documents that are referred to in the four corners of the petition or complaint, it may do so.

But the standard here is even more flexible than a standard plausibility. Our evidence, though, achieves the standard of plausibility as well.

The In re Deepwater Horizon case is another important case. That's a Fifth Circuit case. A plaintiff's claim is colorable if it can allege standing and the elements necessary to state a claim on which relief could be granted. Defining a colorable claim as one with some possible validity. I don't have to prove my case today. I didn't have to prove my case in the prior hearings. I have to prove sufficient allegations, not evidence, but sufficient allegations to show that it has some possible basis of validity.

Possible basis of validity. We're not here talking about likelihoods. We're not here talking about prima facie evidence. We're not here talking about probabilities. We're talking about something less than plausibility. But, again, we achieve plausibility.

A colorable claim is defined as one which is plausible or not without merit. These are various cases from around the country. The colorable claim requirement is met if a committee has asserted claims for relief that, on appropriate proof, would allow recovery. On appropriate proof. We're not required to put on that proof today, Your Honor.

Courts have determined that a court need not conduct an evidentiary hearing, but must ensure that the claims do not lack any merit whatsoever. We submit that our claims have substantial merit and deserve the opportunity to initiate our proceedings, have an opportunity to conduct discovery. And if they want to file a 12(b)(6) motion before this judge, before you, they can do so. If they want to file a motion for summary judgment, they can do so. But at this juncture, they cannot, and at this juncture this Court should not consider evidence in making its determination.

Standing under Delaware law. The Funds have collectively really hit the standing issue hard. I think it's easily resolved. First of all, it's clear that a beneficial owner has standing to bring a derivative action. Under Delaware law, a beneficial owner has a right to bring a derivative action on behalf of the -- against the trustee.

So the issue is, am I a beneficial owner? As a contingent beneficiary in Class 10, and that's the Court's inquiry here, do I qualify as a beneficial owner? And I think that Delaware law is clear that, by not limiting it to only vested interests, by not limiting it only to immediate beneficiaries, they are not -- they are not extending the scope of the statute to contingent beneficiaries. And this is consistent with the laws around the country, because even Texas recognizes that an unvested contingent beneficiary has a property right to protect.

Even Mr. Seery admitted in his deposition that a unvested contingent interest is in the nature of a property right. If you have a property right, that property right can be abused. If you have a property right, that property right, whether it's inchoate or not, it can be abused, it can be misappropriated, and you could become aggrieved. And that is the constitutional standard for standing: Is Hunter Mountain Investment Trust aggrieved? And the answer is yes.

Contingent beneficiaries from around the country, in addition to Mr. Seery's admission that we have a property interest, contingent beneficiary has standing. This is the Smith v. Clearwater case on Slide 11. Very clearly, they say that even if it's subject to a future event. Their argument is that Mr. Seery has not certified Hunter Mountain as in the money. We believe we are in the money. That's a different issue. We believe he should certify, in the discharge of his duties. That's a different issue.

But even assuming his case -- his argument for a moment, their argument is that since he's not done that act, which we also challenge and criticize that he's not done that act, that we can't qualify to bring this case. Well, that's not what the law is, that even an unvested interest, a contingent interest, has a right.

Slide 12. This is the State of Illinois. Despite the fact that interest is contingent and may not vest in possession, you still have a right to protect what you have. And you have standing to bring a cause of action.

The Claimant Trust Agreement, by the way, suggests that we have no vested interest, and they'll likely argue that point. But the point there is the law says that's irrelevant. If it's an inchoate interest, if it's potentially vested in the future, that's what imbues you with standing.

And in any event, the Claimant Trust Agreement is subject to Delaware trust law, and they can't get around that. They can say whatever they want to say in the agreement to try to block us from participation, but it's still subject to Delaware trust law, and Delaware trust law does not draw a distinction between vested or unvested.

The State of Missouri: There is no dispute in this case that the future -- that future beneficiaries have standing to bring an accounting action, whether they're vested or contingent. The Bucksbaum case. Article III standing exists, constitutional standing, including discretionary beneficiaries, have long been permitted to bring suits to redress trustees' breaches of trust. This applies not only to our standing as an individual plaintiff, which we've brought, but also in our standing -- in our capacity seeking to bring a derivative action to benefit the Claimant Trust of the Reorganized Debtor. Both are permitted under this law under these cases.

An interest -- in the Mayfield case, an interest is any interest, whether legal or equitable or both, vested, contingent, defeasible, or indefeasible. So the unilateral self-serving wording of the Claimant Trust does not abrogate our right to bring the claim.

I'd like to talk briefly about fiduciary duties. We know that Mr. Seery has fiduciary duties to the estate when he was the CEO prior to the effective date. We allege that he breached those fiduciary duties, and that gives us standing to bring the claim that we have brought for breaching fiduciary duties, causing damages that are accruing post-effective date.

In the Xtreme Power case, again, the directors can either appear on both sides of the transaction or expect to derive any personal financial benefit. We are alleging that Mr. Seery engaged in self-dealing. We allege that he engaged in self-dealing by arriving at an understanding where he could put business allies -- whether you call them friends, business allies, close acquaintances -- on the committee, the Oversight Board that would ultimately oversee his compensation, which, in the context of this case, makes no sense and it is excessive.

Muck is a specially -- special-purpose entity of Farallon. Farallon acquired the claims, created Muck to do the job. Muck is now on the Oversight Board.

Jessup. Jessup is a special-purpose entity, a shell created by Stonehill. Stonehill bought the claims, funneled the money through Jessup. Jessup is now on the Oversight Board. Jessup and Muck -- and by the way, the principals in Farallon are actually the representatives from Muck on the Oversight Board. So there's no suggestion that there's really a distinct corporate relationship here.

Michael Linn, who is a principal at Farallon. You'll hear his name today, throughout today. He actually is a representative of the Oversight Board, dealing with Mr. Seery and negotiating Mr. -- I put negotiation in quotes -- negotiating Mr. Seery's compensation.

I'd like to talk very briefly about background. We took Mr. Seery's deposition. I was unaware of this. I now know it. Perhaps the Court was already aware of it. This is Mr. Seery's first job as a CEO of any debtor. This is the first time Mr. Seery has ever been a chief restructuring officer. This is the first time Mr. Seery has ever been the CEO of a reorganized debtor. This is the first time that he's served as a trustee post-effective date. However, his compensation is excessive and not market-driven, and there's a reason for that. We believe and we allege that it's a quid pro quo because of prior relationships with Farallon and Stonehill.

Farallon and Stonehill are hedge funds, Your Honor. They created their special-purpose entities on the eve of this transaction simply to take the title to the claims, but the money is going upstream.

Seery has a relationship with Farallon. Do we know the full extent of that relationship? No. We have been deprived of discovery. We attempted to get the discovery in the state court 202 process. We were denied for reasons not articulated in the court's order.

We attempted to get the discovery here that the Court refused under the last hearing about these relationships.

So what we do have begins to put the pieces of the puzzle together. And sufficient is more than plausible. It is more than colorable.

We know that Mr. Seery went on a meet-and-greet trip to Farallon's offices in 2017. Didn't have to. He was trying to cultivate a business relationship. Farallon was important to him.

We know that in 2019 he was no longer with Guggenheim Securities. He goes out to Farallon's offices for another meet-and-greet and he specifically meets with the two principals who are reflected in Mr. Dondero's notes, Raj Patel and Michael Linn.

We know that in June 2020 Farallon emailed Seery. This is after Mr. Seery becomes the CEO. He says, "Congratulations. We're monitoring what you're doing."

Seery's relationship with Stonehill. These are all -- this is all before what we believe to be the events that are at issue in this case. We believe that -- represented Stonehill in the Blockbuster bankruptcy proceeding. There was an objection to a document. Mr. Seery was involved in the Blockbuster proceedings. Stonehill was one of his many clients on the committee that he represented.

We know that Stonehill is actively involved in one of Mr. Seery's charities in New York. We know that he sent text messages to Mr. Seery in February of 2021, wanting to know how to get involved in this bankruptcy.

Farallon and Stonehill were strangers to this bankruptcy. They weren't creditors. They were encouraged and they came into this process.

Farallon and Stonehill have not denied any of our allegations. They are not putting any evidence on today. We allege that these relationships was based and founded upon a quid pro quo. I'll scratch your back; you scratch mine. You give me some information; I want to evaluate these claims. And, by the way, we're going to be on the Oversight Board, or you're going to put us on the Oversight Board, or by default we'll be on the Oversight Board, and we'll work out your compensation agreement.

Mr. Seery also has an established relationship with Stonehill.

I like to have a timeline of certain events. This is not all of the relevant events, but this can give you a quick picture. We know that Mr. Dondero sent an email to Mr. Seery in December of 2020 relating to MGM. It is undisputed that Mr. -- that Farallon emailed Seery, Mr. Seery, in January of 2021 if there was a path to get information regarding the claims for sales. Mr. Seery says he never responded to it, but we know that this entity, Farallon, got deeply involved in buying these claims shortly after this email.

We have the Claimant Trust Agreement suddenly being amended to not have a base fee, but now we're going to incorporate a success participation fee. As part of a plan, we're not criticizing that, but suddenly the vehicle for post-effective date bonuses is being created.

The Debtors' analysis comes out in association with the plan confirmation. It projects a 71.32 percent recovery for Class 8 and Class 9, and those are the principal classes we're talking about. 95 percent -- 98 percent of all of the claims here are in Class 8 and Class 9, until you get to us, Class 10.

71.32 percent of Class 8 means that Farallon and Stonehill will get less than about a six percent internal rate return on their $163 million investment, which they have never denied. That is not a hedge fund investment goal. Investment -- hedge funds like these companies, they go for 38, 40, 50 percent of returns. Who would ever invest $163 million on a distressed asset that's not collateralized with only an expectation of an internal rate of turn of six percent? But that's going to be the evidence before the Court. That does not make any financial, rational wisdom at all.

The plan is confirmed. It's undisputed that Stonehill contacts Seery after the plan is confirmed to want to know how to get involved. They have phone calls after this text message. Muck is created on March 9. We know from Mr. Seery's deposition that Farallon told Seery that six days later they bought the claims. All the claims, by the way, when I say bought the claims, it's everything except UBS. To our knowledge. They may have negotiated the paperwork back then, but the claims transfers did not occur until the summer. All the other claims involved, the claims transfers were filed with this Court in mid-April and at the end of April.

Tim Cournoyer removes MGM from the restricted list. Tim Cournoyer is an employee of Highland. Well, it tells us that MGM was on the restricted list and there should be no discussion about MGM, but there was. There was discussions about MGM, and Mr. Dondero is going to testify to that.

And we also know that the HarbourVest settlement was consummated during this period of time. If it had been on the restricted list, as it was, that transaction should never have occurred. But it did occur. This Court ordered it. It approved it. And I'm not challenging -- we're not challenging that settlement. It is done. That is done. What we are challenging is the fact that Mr. Seery is actively involved in using inside material nonpublic information.

Jessup Holdings is created shortly thereafter, on April 8th. We have claims settling on April 30th. The Acis claim is transferred to Muck -- that's Farallon -- on April 16. The Redeemer and Crusader are all transferred on April 30th.

Stonehill and Farallon never deny that they did no due -- that they failed to do due diligence. We allege that there was no due diligence. And that relies in significant part upon Mr. Dondero. But now, because we have Mr. Seery's deposition, it also relies upon Mr. Seery's admissions in deposition, because he says he never opened up a data room, he doesn't know what due diligence they did. Farallon says the only due diligence they did is they talked to Jim Seery. And how do you invest $163 million, or $10 million or $50 million, whatever the part is, with an internal rate of return six percent, only on the advice of Mr. Seery, who's never been a trustee or a CEO before, unless there's something going on?

Your Honor, public announcement of MGM on May 26th. On May 28th, two days later, Mr. Dondero calls Farallon. It took Mr. Dondero or his group a few days, a week or so, to even understand who -- that Farallon was involved, because the registrations for Muck and Jessup did not disclose their principals, did not even disclose addresses. They were shell -- they were companies that came in in the last minute to buy these claims incognito, frankly.

They found out that Farallon was involved. They had a call initially with Raj Patel, who is the principal of Farallon. He has three conversations total: One with Mr. Patel and two with Michael Linn. Michael Linn was the one responsible for these claim purchases. Patel admitted that Farallon relied exclusively on Seery and did no due diligence. Linn rejected the premium to sell. The evidence you'll hear today, that Mr. Linn rejected a premium up to 40 percent to sell the claims. He actually said he would not sell at all because he was told by Mr. Seery that the claims were too valuable.

That is evidence of insider trading. Specifically, they said they were very optimistic about MGM and they were unwilling to sell because Seery said too valuable.

We have -- these are the purchases. This is where the Class 9 claims fall. And keep in mind -- Tim, go back -- that $95 million of this upside potential is being told, at least to the publicly available information, that you're never going to get there. Yet 95 -- $95 million is allocated to this category. So Class 8 is $275 million. Class 9 is 29 -- $95 million.

Next.

So we have the evidence that you'll hear today. Farallon admitted the timing. No due diligence, never denied by the Claim Purchasers. Based upon material nonpublic information. That's our allegation. Purchased over $160 million. This is never denied by the Claims Purchasers. They purchased claims when the return on investment was highly doubtful. Maximum expected annual rate of return, assuming publicly-available information, was approximately six percent, and that is totally atypical of what a hedge fund would seek.

Insider information. We're not talking about just MGM. The Respondents want to narrow the Court's inquiry. This is much larger than MGM. MGM is a part of it, it's a big part of it, but it's not the only part of it. It's other assets. Portfolio companies. Other invested assets. There's a lot of money out there, and it was never disclosed during the ordinary course of the bankruptcy, for reasons that the Court already knows, in terms of asset values. How does someone come in and purchase distressed assets, claims, without any understanding of what assets are backing those claims, when there's no publicly-available information there to do it and there's no evidence, no indication, no statement that actually due diligence was done?

That right there, without anything else, makes our claims plausible. You don't have to prove insider trading by direct evidence. Nobody's going to admit that they did something wrong. You prove it circumstantially, and we've cited cases and we'll give you cases to that effect.

Next.

We have material nonpublic information. It is very clear that Mr. Dondero on December 17th sent this email, not just to Mr. Seery but to several other individuals, including lawyers. It states that he'd just gotten off a board call. A pre-board call. The update, he provides the update. Active diligencing. It's probably a first-quarter event. We can scour all of the other media documents that are in evidence, both from us and them, and you're not going to find any indication anywhere that a board member has said, guys, gals, it's going to be a probable first-quarter event. That's material nonpublic information.

THE COURT: By the way, you all objected to this exhibit.

MR. MCENTIRE: No, this is my exhibit.

THE COURT: We spent --

MR. MCENTIRE: I did not. They objected to this.

MR. MORRIS: Your Honor, we didn't object to it, and that is the one exhibit that they did not object to.

THE COURT: Oh, it is?

MR. MORRIS: Nobody objected to this exhibit.

MR. MCENTIRE: I'm not going to object to this exhibit, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Okay. It's a different version.

MR. MCENTIRE: Fair enough.

THE COURT: Okay. It was a different email around that same time frame.

MR. MCENTIRE: So just --

THE COURT: Apologies. We stopped the clock.

MR. MCENTIRE: This -- my next exhibit is simply a demonstrative, but I just want the Court to understand that MGM is no small matter here and Mr. Seery did testify in deposition that it probably made up $450 million. He was pretty close.

MR. MORRIS: Your Honor, I object to this demonstrative. There is no evidence in the record. It's not cited to anything. We're not just going to start putting up stuff on the screen that we like.

MR. MCENTIRE: Excuse me. I'm not offering this document into evidence.

MR. MORRIS: I don't care. The Court shouldn't be seeing a demonstrative exhibit that contains matters that are never going to be in the record.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. MCENTIRE: I disagree. I can put the data in the record.

May I proceed?

MR. MORRIS: But you didn't.

THE COURT: Okay. I'm not considering the truth of this until and unless I get evidence of this.

MR. MCENTIRE: Fair enough. But the point is this, Mr. Seery has conceded in deposition that between the institutional funds and the CLOs, there's a lot of MGM securities and stock. We're talking a lot of money. We're not talking about just Highland Capital's investment.

You can skip the next slide. Skip.

So, rumors versus material nonpublic information. They can talk all day long, and if they want to use their time doing this, they can. There's a difference between rumor and actual material nonpublic information. Rumor from undocumented sources, lack of clarity, lack of timing. There is no -- there's no debate that a lot of people knew that maybe MGM might be for sale. Maybe they wouldn't. Sometimes it falls apart, you know. But the point is a board member is telling someone that there's a probable event in the first quarter of 2021. That is definite, specific, and it comes from the highest authority. That is -- if that's not material and public information, I don't know what could be.

Classic indications of insider trading. You have to have a tipper with access to MNPI. Here, we know that Mr. Seery, if he's the tipper, we allege he's the tipper -- and these are words of art out of case law, by the way -- he has access to information about MGM. He has access about asset values, projected values. He has a relationship. We believe he has a very strong relationship. It's more than just social acquaintances. He's giving congratulatory emails. He's getting solicitations. He's solicited. Benefits received. We know what the benefits are. They get the opportunity to invest money with huge upside.

There was a point mentioned some time ago that, well, only -- only the sellers really have the grievance. Well, Your Honor, we have a right to start our lawsuit and do some discovery, because, frankly, a lot of sellers have big-boy agreements. They say, you don't sue me if I have MNPI. I don't sue you if you have MNPI. We have mutual releases. Let's go by our way. Everybody's happy. We're not going to come back and see each other ever again.

That's one of the things we're being deprived of here. But otherwise, what we have here is a colorable plan. We've asked for the communications with the sellers. We can't get it. We have here an email.

Next.

We have here an email. This actually -- you'll hear Mr. Dondero say this actually reflects three communications. Raj

Patel, Farallon, bought it because of Seery. Mr. Dondero contacted Mr. Patel and says, Raj Patel bought it because of Seery. 50 to 70 percent's not compelling. Class 8. 50 percent, 70 percent. Give you a 30 percent to 40 percent premium. Not compelling. I ain't going to sell. Ask what would be compelling. Nothing. No offer. Bought in February/March. We now know the time frame. We know that Stonehill is communicating with them and we know that Farallon has been just communicating with Mr. Seery. Bought assets with claims. It's not just the MGM. It's not just the portfolio companies and other assets. It's also the claims.

Well, what are the claims? It's the claims against Mr. Dondero. Well, how would they know about all this if there's no due diligence and there's no evidence of any due diligence before you? 130 percent of costs, not compelling, no counter. Mr. Dondero's angry. Discovery is coming.

Atypical behaviors are also circumstantial evidence of insider trading. We have strange behaviors here, Judge. We have a vast majority of the claim value is acquired by only two entities post-confirmation. Most significant claims are only owned by two entities who were strangers to the whole process.

The removal of -- and Mr. Morris offered to stipulate. The sudden removal of MGM from the compliance list in April of 2021 -- by the way, the removal doesn't cleanse the MNPI. If you have material nonpublic information because you received it from Mr. Dondero, the fact that Mr. Dondero's no longer employed by Highland Capital or no longer directly or formally affiliated doesn't cleanse the MNPI.

We have no due diligence, regardless of the significant nine-digit numbers, and we have no rational explanation of why this kind of money would be invested when they're projecting an actual loss, if -- a modest return at best for Class 8 and a loss for Class 9.

Insider trading can be proved by circumstantial evidence, Your Honor. No fraudster, no person who's done wrong is going to admit to it, so you look for the classic -- you look for the classic elements. And that's what we had here. And we have alleged all of this in our pleadings. Not in extraneous evidence. Within the four corners of our pleadings. And that's why we have a plausible claim.

You know, I believe it's Rule 8, Rule 9 of the Federal -- you have to require specificity in a fraud claim. Well, this is not a fraud claim. This is a different claim. But we have provided specificity that passes the smell test of colorability. We have provided specificity that would satisfy even more stringent requirements under 12(b)(6).

The plan analysis. This is a, I think, a document admitted by everyone. Mr. Seery has testified that this projection of 71.32 percent for Class 8 came out in February of 2021 and never changed, all the way up to the effective date.

So this is what the public believed. This is what the public knew. And if this was all that Farallon and if is all that Stonehill had access to, that means that they were going to lose their entire investment on Class 9. They bought UBS at a loss to begin with. And on the other three investments, they were going to get a very, very modest, minor return, six percent over three years, or even less. That is not what hedge funds do.

Seery's excessive post-effective date compensation. We have obtained no discovery from Farallon or Stonehill in this regard, but we know that he had no prior experience. We know that the award that was given him was not market-based, even though the self-serving documents that have been produced and that are attached to their exhibit list suggests a robust negotiation. Well, they were robust without any kind of reality check in the real world about whether it was market-supported. None. Mr. Seery has admitted to that.

It was not lowered. He's making $1.8 million a year right now, with most -- a lot of the assets already sold, the reorganization done. All they're doing now is monetizing assets. He's getting $1.8 million. He's got 11 people working for him. And then he has a bonus, a bonus that is -- increases significantly with his ability to recover for Muck, Jessup, Farallon, and Stonehill.

And in the absence of -- if we were really dealing with uncertainty and risk, then that may be another issue, but here we're dealing with entities that already know that they're going to get a payday and they already have. They've already made about a $170 million return -- 170 percent return, excuse me -- over and above the original investment, when they were projected to actually lose money.

Just so you know, we have over $534 million of cash that has been basically monetized, and out of that, $203 million in total expenses -- $277 million to Class 8 and -- and -- 1 through 7, and Class 8 distributors. Excuse me, creditors. Even if you take -- if you take out the alleged obligations of Mr. Dondero on the promissory note cases, that still leaves over $100 million available, which puts us in the money. Puts us in the money. And the fact that you have $203 million of expenses in a case of this nature is part of our claim, is that we have delay actions. We have a situation where Mr. Seery is continuing to receive $1.8 million a year on a slow pace to monetize, paying other professionals, when this could have been over a long time ago. That's part of our allegations. It's not part of any valuation motion. It's actually in our allegations.

I'm going to reserve the rest. I think that's my opening statement, Your Honor. I'm going to reserve the rest for my closing. And let me see. Yes, that's right. And thank you for your time.

THE COURT: All right. Caroline, how much time was that?

THE CLERK: Thirty-four minutes and 27 seconds.

THE COURT: Thirty-four minutes and 37 seconds. Okay.

THE CLERK: Twenty-seven.

THE COURT: Oh, 27. Okay.

MR. MCENTIRE: Thirty-four minutes?

MR. MCCLEARY: Thirty-four minutes.

MR. MORRIS: Your Honor, I do have hard copies of my short slide presentation.

THE COURT: All right. You may approach.

And Mr. McEntire, are you going to give me your PowerPoint later, hard copies later?

MR. MCENTIRE: Yes, Your Honor. I found one typo and I'd like to fix one typo and then we'll give it to you.

THE COURT: Okay.

OPENING STATEMENT ON BEHALF OF THE DEBTORS

MR. MORRIS: Good morning, Your Honor. John Morris, Pachulski Stang Ziehl & Jones, for Highland Capital Management and the Claimant Trust.

I want to be fairly brief because I really want to focus on the evidence. I look forward to Your Honor hearing from

Mr. Seery so that he could clear up a lot of the misleading statements that were just made.

The Court is here today on a gatekeeper function, and we're delighted that the gatekeeper exists. We're delighted that the Court will have an opportunity, after considering evidence, to determine whether or not these claims are actually colorable.

There's -- there were a lot of conclusory statements I just heard. There were a lot of assumptions that were made. There were a lot of misleading statements that were made. At the end of the day, what the Court is going to be asked to do is to decide whether, in light of the evidence, do these claims stand up on their own? And they do not.

And let me begin by saying that I made a mistake a couple of weeks ago. If we can go to Slide 1. I told Your Honor that you were the sixth body to consider these insider trading claims. Based on Hunter Mountain's exhibit list, there is actually one more, and I'll get to that in a moment. So you're actually -- this is the seventh attempt to peddle these claims to one body or another.

The first was Mr. Dondero's 202 petition.

Everything I have here, Your Honor, is footnoted to evidence. Okay?

So, Footnote 1, you can look in the paragraphs of Mr. Dondero's petition, his amended petition, his declaration, where he makes the same allegations. Again, I misspeak. Not the same allegations. Different versions of the allegations that are being presented today concerning insider trading.

He did it three times. The Texas state court said no discovery. In October of 2021, Douglas Draper wrote an extensive letter to the U.S. Trustee, setting forth the same allegations. You can find them at our Exhibit 5. It's attachment Exhibit A, Pages 6 through 11. Compare them to the allegations that are being made by Hunter Mountain today. The U.S. Trustee's Office took no action.

Mr. Rukavina followed up with the same thing to the same body in November of 2021. You can see where his allegations of insider trading are made and quid pro quo and all the rest of it. Again, they took no action.

The one that I don't have on this chart because I didn't -- I made the chart last week and then was unavailable. Mr. Rukavina sent a second letter. And you can find that at Plaintiffs' Exhibit 61. And in Plaintiffs' Exhibit 61, you'll see that Mr. Rukavina sent yet another letter to the U.S. Trustee's Office on May 11, 2022.

And these are all really important, right? The U.S. Trustee's Office has oversight responsibility for matters including claims trading. That's their job. They took three different swings at this. And these are pages of allegations. 6 to 11. 9 to 13. We think it's very important that the Court look at what was told to the U.S. Trustee's Office. And you're going to hear Mr. Seery testify that Highland has never heard from the U.S. Trustee's Office concerning any of these allegations or any of the other allegations that are set forth in Mr. Rukavina and Mr. Draper's letter. Never. Declined to even initiate an investigation.

Hunter Mountain filed its own 202 petition. It boggles my mind that they try to create distance with Mr. Dondero, because the whole petition, like this whole complaint, is based on Mr. Dondero. He submitted a declaration alleging the same insider trading case, and a second Texas state court said I'm not even giving you discovery. We know that's the result.

But the best is the Texas State Securities Board. I think we're going to hear testimony that Mr. Dondero or somebody under his control is the one who filed the complaint with the Texas State Securities Board. Who would be the better body to assess whether or not there's insider trading than a securities board? I can't imagine there's a better body. They did an investigation. Mr. Dondero could have told them anything he wanted. I'm sure he did. And they wrote in their motion in Paragraph 37 one of the reasons they have colorable claims is the investigation is ongoing.

Much to their dismay, I'm sure, two days before our opposition was due, the Texas State Securities Board said, we've looked at the complaint, we've done our investigation, and we're not taking any action. You can find that, Your Honor, Footnoted 5 at Exhibit 33.

You are now the seventh body who's being asked -- and you're being asked to do substantially more than any of the other prior bodies were. The Texas state courts were being asked, just let them have discovery. They said no. The U.S. Trustee's Office, charged with the responsibility of looking at claims trading, said, I'm not going to investigate. I know what you've told me. No. The Texas State Securities Board. Insider trading, insider trading. I'm not doing an investigation. I'm not doing anything. And now they want to come here and engage in, you know, in expensive, long litigation over the same claims nobody else would touch.

Can we go to the next slide?

Mr. Dondero's email. Good golly. "Amazon and Apple are in the data room." There's a hundred articles out there that they're putting into evidence that say that. "Both continue to express material interest." There's a hundred articles out there that say that. "Probably a first-quarter event. Will update as facts change."

There will not be any evidence that he ever updated anybody, because that wasn't the purpose of this, as Your Honor will recall. He had an axe to grind.

And I direct your -- I don't direct the Court to do anything -- I ask the Court to take a look at our opposition to the motion, in Paragraphs 23 to 25, where we cite to extensive evidence, all of which is now part of the record, showing just what was happening, from the moment he got fired on October 10th until the end of the year, with the interference, with the interference, with the threats, with the TRO. It was nonstop.

Was this email sent in good faith by somebody who owed no duty to anybody? Or was it really just another attempt -- and this is why the gatekeeper is so important, because I think that's exactly what this Court is supposed to do: Is this a good-faith claim? Is this a claim that's made in good faith? It can't be. And you know why? You know what's -- you know what's -- I'll just say it now. I won't even save it for cross.

Remember the HarbourVest settlement that they're making so much, you know, about? Mr. Dondero is the tipper. According to him, he gave Mr. Seery inside information. According to him, Mr. Seery abused it by engaging in the HarbourVest transaction. But Mr. Dondero filed an extensive objection to the HarbourVest settlement and never said a word about this, because that wasn't on his mind at the time. The email was sent in order to interfere. And when that failed, he's trying to play gotcha now. It's ridiculous.

He owed no duty to Highland. It would have been a breach of his own duty to MGM to share that information at that period of time.

The shared services agreement. They don't help him. Mr. Dondero has nothing to do with that. Highland is providing services. He's not providing services to Highland. Highland was providing. We had already given notice of termination. We had already had our plan and disclosure -- we had already had our disclosure statement approved. We were weeks away from confirmation. Please.

And the Wall Street Journal article on December 21st at Exhibit 27, that's not your garden-variety Wall Street Journal article, because it specifically says that investment bankers were engaged to start a formal process. The investment bankers are identified by name. Something has changed. Anybody could see that.

Yes, there were rumors for a long time. Nobody had ever said there was a formal process. Nobody had ever said investment bankers had ever been hired. Nobody had ever identified those investment bankers. Right? I mean, just the world changed.

If you can go to the next slide.

You know, before I get to the next slide in too much detail, quid pro quo. We look at it as quid. Did he -- is there any evidence that he actually gave anybody material nonpublic inside information? The answer is going to be no. The quo is the relationship. And I'm not going to spend too much time on that now. But wait until you hear Mr. Seery testify as to the actual facts about his relationship. Because some of what we just heard is mind-boggling, that little -- that little page from the Blockbuster case, like, 14 years ago, where Farallon was one of a group of people who Jim Seery never met. Like, the stretch, what they're trying to do is beyond the pale. But I'm delighted to have Mr. Seery sit in the box and answer all the questions they want to ask him about his relationship with Farallon and Stonehill.

But getting to the point, the quid pro quo. The quo is they fixed his compensation? Are you kidding me? They rubber-stamped his compensation? Highland and Mr. Seery and the board are alleged to have negotiated? There's nothing alleged. There are facts. There is evidence. It is beyond dispute. If you look, just for example, right, they take issue with his salary? The salary was fixed by this Court in 2020. Without objection. He's getting the exact same salary that he ever got.

You'll hear that it's a full-time job. Your Honor knows better than anybody in this courtroom, other than me, perhaps, the litigation burden that's been placed on this man. He has no other income. He doesn't do anything else. This is a full-time job. It's the exact same job that he had when Your Honor approved his compensation package three years ago, without a raise. They didn't give him a nickel more. Not one nickel. It's outrageous.

The balance of his compensation, of which he has not yet received a nickel, is exactly what this Court would want somebody in Mr. Seery's position to do. It aligns his interests with his constituency. Not with Stonehill. Not with Farallon. With all creditors. The greater the recovery, the greater the bonus. Outrageous, right? Remarkable, isn't it? Only in their world.

If Your Honor can go back to Mr. Rukavina's letter, because this is where it all -- that's where it all starts from. Like, excessive compensation. Mr. Rukavina, I don't know how he did this, why he did it, what it was based on. He actually told the U.S. Trustee's Office that they thought Mr. Seery made $50 million. It's in the letter. $50 million, they told the U.S. Trustee's Office he made. It's footnoted, so you can go find it. It's right there, at Page 14. Quote, Seery's success fee could approximate $50 million.

$8.8 million is what he's making. They think that's excessive? What do they think he should make? Three? Five? We're not going to hear that. But that's what this case is about. You just heard counsel in his opening statement. He literally said the only thing at issue is his compensation. And that has to be the case, because if there was -- if there was no claims trading, UBS and HarbourVest and Acis, right, the Redeemer Committee, they would all still be holding these claims today.

When Stonehill and Farallon acquired the claims, they were all allowed. There was no debate about what the claims were. If they held the claims today, they would be worth the exact same amount of money, only a different person would be benefitting from it.

So the case actually is only about Mr. Seery's compensation. And they've moved the goalposts, as often happens in this courtroom, from rubber-stamping -- I'll give you what you want. When I hear rubber-stamp, I hear, you make a demand and I'll give it to you. And now they realize, when they see the negotiation -- because it's in evidence, it's just the documents, you can see the board minutes -- what do we, doctor the board minutes and they should get discovery because we doctored the board minutes? The board minutes show a four-month negotiation with an Independent Board member fully involved. It's mind-boggling. It's actually -- well, I'll just leave it at that.

Next slide. Last slide. Let me finish up. Three of the four sellers were former Committee members. Mr. Dondero agreed that Committee members would have access to special nonpublic inside information as part of the protocols, as part of the corporate governance settlement. He agreed to that. These are the people who got abused? These are the people who didn't know what was happening? Committee members and HarbourVest, probably one of the biggest and most sophisticated funds in the world, didn't know what was happening? They got abused? Stonehill and Farallon took advantage of them?

If you read their pleadings closely, they actually allege, and I don't -- I don't know if there'll ever be any evidence of this -- but they actually allege that -- I forget which -- oh, somebody is an investor in Stonehill and Farallon, and so the theory is one of the sellers is an investor in Farallon. So not only did they abuse, they abused one of their own investors. Like, this is not a colorable claim. This is ridiculous.

None of the claims sellers are here. Sophisticated people who -- who -- right? Mr. Dondero could pick up the phone and say, hey, guys, you got ripped off. You sold your claims when you shouldn't have. They had an unfair advantage.

Nobody's here. Where is anybody complaining? They're not going to because they cut a deal that they thought was good for them at the time. In hindsight, maybe they have regrets. Right? We all have regrets sometimes in hindsight. But that doesn't create a claim.

We've heard so much about what hedge funds would get and how much and is this rational? The fact of the matter is, at the time Mr. Dondero had his phone call on May 28th, UBS had not been purchased, although MGM had already been announced.

So when they talk about MGM, maybe it's the fact -- and this is in evidence -- maybe it's the fact that, two days before, the MGM-Amazon deal actually was publicly announced. It actually was. So maybe when they say, hey, yeah, we like MGM, because, you know, that just -- that just got announced. Maybe that happened.

But at the end of the day, the claims that they bought, if you just look at the claims that were purchased at the time he had the conversation, all Mr. Seery had to do was meet projections and they were going to get $33 million in two years. A 30 percent return in two years. I don't know. That doesn't -- that doesn't sound crazy to me. Doesn't sound crazy to me. It certainly doesn't create a colorable claim, just because they think that Farallon or Stonehill -- there's not going to be any evidence of Farallon or Stonehill's risk profile. There's not going to be any evidence of Farallon or Stonehill's, you know, expected returns. There's not going to be any evidence at all about what due diligence they did or didn't do, other than what comes out of Mr. Dondero's mouth, as usual.

Mr. Dondero -- and let's look at what's going to come out of Mr. Dondero's mouth. He has multiple sworn statements. I'm going to take his notes and they're going to become mine. I'll put him on notice right now. Because those notes bear no relationship to the evolution of his sworn statements over time.

The first time he mentions MGM in a sworn statement is two years after the fact in Version #5. That's a colorable claim? You want -- you want to oversee a litigation, or maybe it gets removed to the district court, maybe I get lucky to be in front of a jury, and I'll have Mr. Dondero explain how it took him five tries before he could write down the letters MGM. Not a colorable claim. No evidence against Stonehill whatsoever. Zero. Zero. Never spoke to them. There's no colorable claim here, Your Honor.

I'm going to turn the podium over to Mr. Stancil to talk about the law.

THE COURT: Okay.

OPENING STATEMENT ON BEHALF OF JAMES P. SEERY, JR.

MR. STANCIL: Thank you, Your Honor. Mark Stancil, counsel for Mr. Seery. But I'm going to just very briefly address a few legal points. And I actually mean briefly.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. STANCIL: I'll come back to a good bit of this in closing as time permits.

I heard Mr. McEntire say Barton doesn't apply. I would encourage him to start with what the gatekeeping order actually says. Here it is. This is in -- it's in the plan. Your Honor has confirmed it. The question we have in terms of what standard applies is, what does this order mean? Well, we think that's going to be clear. It's not what they think the word "colorable" would mean in other contexts. It's not what they think they should have to satisfy now that they have a theory. It's, what does this mean?

And we'll get into some of the additional evidence from Your Honor's order at the time, later in closing.

Next slide, please.

But let me just start to say I'm awfully surprised to hear him say that he doesn't believe Barton applies, because the order says that it does. This is Paragraph 80 of the confirmation order. It says that the Court has statutory authority to approve the gatekeeper provision under these sections of the Bankruptcy Code. The gatekeeper provision is also within the spirit of the Supreme Court's Barton Doctrine. The gatekeeper provision is also consistent with the notion of a pre-filing injunction to deter vexatious litigants that has been approved by the Fifth Circuit in such cases as Baum v. Blue Moon Ventures.

So I think it is impossible, and respectfully, Your Honor, it's law of the case. This is what the order is based on. The day for objecting to what's in the confirmation order is long gone.

So let me come back, then -- first slide, please -- and I'll just very briefly give you a little legal framework for what we're going to be arguing to you later in closing.

So, Barton does require a prima facie showing. That is Vistacare and plenty of other cases. That is more than a 12(b)(6) standard, Your Honor. Numerous courts agree. And in fact, as you'll hear us discuss later, Judge Houser's opinion is not to the contrary, because she said explicitly, I'm not applying Barton. So anything that they're relying on for what Barton requires from that opinion is dicta. But we can show you case after case after case, and we will, to show that Barton requires evidentiary hearings.

Here's a point, this third bullet here is something I have not heard a single word in all of the briefing and ink that has been spilled and in as long as we've been here this morning, is what is a gatekeeping order doing if all it does is reproduce a 12(b)(6) standard? That's what they say. In fact, they're actually saying it's even lower. Now I think I heard them say it's even lower than a 12(b)(6) standard.

That makes no sense whatsoever. We've just shown you that this gatekeeping order was imposed consistent with Barton and vexatious litigant principles. Later I will walk Your Honor through factual findings that you made detailing the vexatious litigation, detailing the abuses. The notion that the gate is the same gate that every other litigant who hasn't demonstrated that record of bad faith is absurd, and it serves no purpose.

And as Mr. Morris described, Hunter Mountain woefully, woefully violates any prima facie showing. And we'll get into a little bit more exactly how that works.

We are going to ask this Court, in addition to ruling that Barton applies and that they've failed it, we're going to ask this Court, respectfully, to please consider ruling on multiple independent grounds as well. We know there's a penchant for appeals and appeals upon appeals. So we will argue to Your Honor, although we will largely spare you another rehash of our briefs, but we will explain to Your Honor why they do lack standing to bring this claim as a matter of Delaware law. And there was a lot of fuzzing up about constitutional standing and Delaware law. Not necessary.

If -- we will be happy to rely on our pleadings here, but on Page 27 of the Claimant Trust Agreement, that's what defines their rights under Delaware law, and they were talking about how beneficial owners under Delaware law have standing. Well, are they beneficial owners? They are not. Equity holders -- this is in Paragraph C, Page 27 of the Claimant Trust Agreement -- Equity holders will only be deemed beneficiaries under this agreement upon the filing of a payment certification with the bankruptcy court, at which time the contingent trust interests will vest and be deemed equity trust interests.

They are not beneficial owners of squat. That has not happened.

And last, Your Honor, we will -- and I will organize this for Your Honor in closing as well -- we would ask you to rule on a straight-up 12(b)(6) standard as an alternative, because we know what's coming on appeal and we think their complaint collapses under its own weight. You heard Mr. Morris detailing their own math shows significant returns. You'll also hear us describe how they have nothing but mere conclusions and naked assertions upon information and belief but unsupported.

Iqbal and Twombly would still apply under their 12(b)(6) standard, especially, and perhaps even more with a heightened standard under Rule 9(b), because they're essentially alleging some version of fraud, it sounds like.

They're never going to get there, Your Honor. All we would ask is for a full record to take inevitably, unfortunately, to the Court of Appeals.

And I think Mr. -- I'm not sure which of my colleagues will be speaking briefly for Holland & Knight, but I'll just turn it over to them.

THE COURT: All right. Mr. McIlwain?

OPENING STATEMENT ON BEHALF OF THE CLAIM PURCHASERS

MR. MCILWAIN: Thank you, Your Honor. I'll be even briefer. Brent McIlwain here for the Claim Purchasers.

Your Honor, Mr. McEntire stated to this Court that my clients have never denied any of this. In fact, in his reply, he says, The Claim Purchasers do not deny that they invested over $163 million. We do not deny that we did not due diligence, we do not deny that we refused to sell our claims at any price, and we do not deny that we invested the claims at what is, at best, a low ROI.

We had no duty to answer to HMIT or Mr. McEntire. We had no duty when we bought these claims to -- we had no duties to any creditor. We had -- it was a bilateral agreement with a third party. And frankly, Your Honor, it's not Mr. Dondero's or HMIT's business what due diligence we did and what information that we obtained.

But I will tell you right now, Your Honor, we were very careful in our pleadings to not bring issues of fact, because this -- HMIT has been chasing my clients, obviously, based on the notes that were presented in the initial PowerPoint, it was a -- it's retribution. It's retribution for not agreeing to sell the claims to Mr. Dondero when he offered to purchase at a 40 percent premium.

And Your Honor, when I look at that note, it's interesting, because I hadn't seen the note, obviously, until it showed up on the exhibit list. When you look at that note, I think it's -- I think it's very interesting. To the extent it was contemporaneous, I don't know. But what it shows, it shows that if you're a hammer, everything's a nail. And Mr.

Dondero is a vexatious litigator. And what did he write down? Discovery to follow.

But my question is this. Who was trying to trade on inside information? Mr. Dondero was offering a 40 percent premium, allegedly, on the cost. What information did he have? Certainly, he had inside information.

My client owed no duty to Mr. Dondero. My client owed no duty to anybody in this estate at the time of these claims purchase.

And Your Honor, we talk a lot about -- or, it's been talked a lot of insider trading. These are claims trades. I think the Court honed in on this from the very get-go. The Court does not have a role in claims trades. There's a 3001 notice that's filed post-claims trade, but there's no requirement that there's Court approval.

And these aren't securities. It's not as if we're trading claims and it could benefit or hurt you based on some equity position that you're going to obtain. We obtained claims that had been settled, they were litigated heavily, and the most that we can obtain is the amount of the claim. And that is, as Mr. Morris stated, all that changed was the name of the claimant. That's all. Because the claims didn't increase in value based on the trade.

Your Honor, our pleadings, I think, speak for themselves in terms of you really -- you really don't have to consider evidence, from our perspective, to determine that this proposed complaint has no merit and is not plausible and presents no colorable claims.

The gatekeeper provision, and we're going to talk a lot about that today, obviously, right, requires that Mr. Dondero establish a prima facie case that the claims have some plausibility. If you can simply write down allegations, file a motion for leave and attach those allegations and say, Your Honor, you have to take all these as true, the gatekeeper has no meaning. There's no point in having a gatekeeper provision.

And in summary, Your Honor, what -- and I think Mr. Morris honed in on this specifically -- this really comes down to compensation. Right? Because this -- the allegation is that my clients purchased claims, presumably at a discount, right, based on some inside information, which we obviously deny, but we don't have to put that at issue today. For what purpose? For what purpose? So we got inside information from Mr. Seery so that we could then scratch his back on compensation on the back-end?

Your Honor, there is no reason that my clients need to be involved in this litigation. If HMIT thinks that this -- that they have a claim against Mr. Seery for excessive compensation, they can -- they could have brought such a gatekeeper motion, or a motion for leave under the gatekeeper provision, without including my clients. Why did they include my clients? They included my clients because my clients did not sell to Mr. Dondero when he called, unsolicited, to try to get information. It's retribution. And that's what a vexatious litigator does, and that's why the gatekeeper provision is in place.

I'll reserve the rest for closing, Your Honor.

THE COURT: All right. Caroline, what was the collective time of the Respondents?

THE CLERK: Twenty-eight minutes and 37 seconds.

THE COURT: Twenty-eight minutes, 37 seconds.

All right. Well, let's talk about should we take a lunch break now? I'm thinking we should, because any witness is going to be, I'm sure, more than an hour. So can you all get by with 30 minutes, or do you need 45 minutes? I'll go with the majority vote on this.

(Counsel confer.)

MR. MCENTIRE: 1:00 o'clock. 45 minutes.

MR. MORRIS: 40 minutes, whatever. 1:00 o'clock?

THE COURT: We'll come back at 1:00 o'clock.

MR. MORRIS: Thank you, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Okay. Thank you.

THE CLERK: All rise.

(A luncheon recess ensued from 12:19 p.m. until 1:05 p.m.)

THE CLERK: All rise.

THE COURT: All right. Please be seated. We're going back on the record in the Highland matter, the Hunter Mountain motion for leave to file lawsuit.

I'll just let you know that at 1:30 we're going to take probably what will be a five-minute break, maybe ten minutes at the most, because I have a 1:30 motion to lift stay docket. Just looking at the pleadings, I really think maybe one is going to be resolved and it won't be more than five or ten minutes. So whoever is on witness stand can either just stay there, because I think we won't be finished, or you can take a bathroom break or whatever. All right? So, it's video, the 1:30 docket.

All right. So, Mr. McEntire, are you ready to call your first witness?

MR. MCENTIRE: I am, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. MCENTIRE: May I proceed?

THE COURT: You may.

MR. MCENTIRE: At this time, Hunter Mountain calls Mr. James Dondero.

THE COURT: All right. Mr. Dondero, welcome. If you could find your way to the witness box, I will swear you in once you're there. It looks like you've got lots of notebooks there. Please raise your right hand.

(The witness is sworn.)

THE COURT: All right. Thank you. You may be seated.

MR. MCENTIRE: I'm not familiar with your procedure. Should I approach the -- here to --

THE COURT: If you would, unless you're having --

MR. MCENTIRE: That's fine.

THE COURT: -- any kind of --

MR. MCENTIRE: That's fine. I'm not.

THE COURT: -- knee issues or, you know, sometimes people want to stay seated for that reason.

MR. MCENTIRE: Your Honor, again, my tender of Mr. Dondero as a witness is subject to our running objection on the evidentiary format.

THE COURT: Understood.

JAMES DAVID DONDERO, HUNTER MOUNTAIN INVESTMENT TRUST'S WITNESS, SWORN

DIRECT EXAMINATION

BY MR. MCENTIRE:

Q Mr. Dondero, would you state your full name for the record, please?

A James David Dondero.

Q With whom are you currently -- what company are you currently affiliated with?

A Founder and president of NexPoint.

Q All right. And I think the Court is well aware, but would you just briefly describe your prior affiliation with -- was it Highland Capital?

A Yes.

Q What was that affiliation?

A President and founder for 30 years, and then to facilitate an expeditious resolution of the estate I handed the reins to three Independent Board members and I became a portfolio manager until October of -- I was an unpaid portfolio manager until October of '20.

Q Thank you, sir. Do you have any current official position with Hunter Mountain Investment Trust?

A No.

Q Can you describe for us, sir, any actual or control you attempt to exercise on the business affairs of Hunter Mountain Investment Trust?

A None.

Q Are you -- do you have any official legal relationship with Hunter Mountain Investment Trust where you can attempt to exercise either direct or indirect control over Hunter Mountain Investment Trust?

A I do not.

Q Did you participate -- personally participate in the decision of whether or not to file the proceedings that are currently pending before Judge Jernigan?

A I did not.

Q As the former CEO of Highland Capital, are you familiar with the types of assets that Highland Capital owned? On the petition date?

A Yes.

Q And have you been monitoring these proceedings and the disclosures in these proceedings since the petition date?

A Yes.

Q Okay. Can you describe generally for me the types of assets on the petition date that Highland Capital owned? The types of assets? Describe the types of assets -- companies, stocks, securities, whatever, whatever you -- however you would describe it.

A There were some securities, but it was primarily investments in private equity companies and interests in funds.

Q Okay. I've heard the term portfolio company. What is a portfolio company?

A A portfolio company would be a private equity company that we controlled a majority of the equity and appointed and held accountable the management teams.

Q Would there be separate management, separate boards, for those portfolio companies?

A Yes.

Q All right. How many portfolio companies were there on the petition date, if you're aware? If you recall?

A Half a dozen, of different sizes.
Q Can you identify the names, if you recall?
A Yes.
Q What are those names?
A Trussway, Cornerstone, some small -- Carey International, CFA, SSP Holdings. Yeah, to a lesser extent, OmniCare.
Q All right.
A Or, um, --
Q In addition to the portfolio --
A Sorry.
Q -- of companies in which Highland Capital would own interests, did Highland also have interests in various funds?
A Yes. I said OmniCare. I meant OmniMax, I think was the name.
Q What type of funds?
A I'm sorry. The funds were usually funds that we were invested in or seeded or managed. So they're things like Multistrat, Restoration, a Korea fund, PetroCap.
Q Are these managed funds by Highland Capital? Or were they?
A Yes. Pretty much, with the exception of PetroCap. We were a minority -- a minority -- a large -- a large minority investor with a sub-advisor.
Q Did Highland Capital Management on the petition date own an interest, a direct security interest in MGM?

A Yes. And I -- yes.
Q Did the various portfolio companies that you've identified, did one or more of those portfolio companies also own MGM stock?
A Yes.
Q Did the various funds that you've identified, did one or more of those funds also own MGM stock?
A Yes. Between -- yes. Between the CLOs, the funds, Highland directly, it was about $500 million that eventually got taken out for about a billion dollars.
Q Okay. $500 million is what you said?
A Approximately. Depending on what mark, what time frame. But ultimately they got taken out for about a billion dollars.
Q Okay. And as a consequence of these investments, significant investment -- first of all, how would you describe that magnitude of investments? Is that a significant investment from the perspective of MGM?
A Yes.
Q As a consequence, what role, if any, did you play in terms of MGM's governance? Were you -- did you become a member of the board of directors?
A Yes. I was a board member for approximately ten years, and myself and the president of Anchorage, between our two entities, we had a majority of the equity in MGM.
Q Okay. If there was a third party, not familiar with the management of Highland Capital, who had been monitoring these bankruptcy proceedings as you have, was there any way that a third-party stranger to this bankruptcy proceeding could, from your perspective, actually appreciate or identify the -- all the details of the investments that Highland Capital had?

MR. MORRIS: Objection to the form of the question. It calls for speculation. He's not here as an expert today. He shouldn't be allowed to testify what a third party would or wouldn't have thought or known.

MR. MCENTIRE: Well, I'll --

THE COURT: I'll overrule.

BY MR. MCENTIRE:

Q Mr. Dondero?

A The disclosures in the Highland bankruptcy were scant. I think there was six or eight line items listed, the descriptions of which were limited. But it didn't include -- it didn't include a broad listing of all the funds, and it didn't include subsidiaries or any net value or any offsetting liabilities or risks of any of the underlying companies or investments, either.

MR. MCENTIRE: Would you put up Exhibit 3, please?

BY MR. MCENTIRE:

Q Mr. Dondero, we're going to -- do you have a screen in front of you as well?

A Yes.

Q We're going to put up Exhibit 3, and I'm going to ask you some questions about it. First of all, would you identify Exhibit 3?

A It didn't come up on my screen yet.

Q Still not up there?

A Yes. Now it is.

Q Can you identify Exhibit 3, please?

(Discussion.)

Q There we go. Mr. Dondero, would you identify Exhibit 3, please?

A This was an email I sent to Compliance and relevant people to put -- to put MGM on the restricted list.

Q It indicates it was on December 17, 2020. Did you personally author this email?

A Yes.

Q You sent it to multiple individuals, including Mr. Surgent. Was Mr. Surgent an attorney at Highland Capital at the time?

A He was head of compliance for both organizations.

Q Scott Ellington? Is he an attorney? Was he an attorney at the time?

A He's the general counsel of Highland.

Q You also sent it to someone at NexPoint Advisors, Jason Post. Who is Mr. Post?

A Mr. Post was head of compliance at NexPoint Advisors and a subordinate of Thomas Surgent's.

Q Jim Seery. Mr. Seery, of course. You also addressed it to Mr. Seery?

A Yes.

Q It says, Trading Restrictions Re: MGM Material Nonpublic Information. What did you mean by the term "material nonpublic information"?

A Material nonpublic information is when you have material nonpublic information that the public does not have, and it essentially makes you an insider and restricts you from trading.

Q All right. It says, Just got off a pre-board call.

First of all, you generated this in the ordinary course of your business, did you not?

A Um, --

Q This email.

A Yes.

Q Okay.

A Yes.

Q And --

A Any restricted list. Restricted list items happen all the time in the normal course of business.

Q And you've maintained a copy of this email as well, have you not?

A I'm sure we have one. I don't have it personally.

Q Fair enough. But you're -- you have -- you have access and custody over emails, correct?
A Not any of my Highland emails.
Q But those were left. Right?
A Yes. Yes.
MR. MORRIS: Your Honor, I mean, he's leading the witness at this point, so I'm just --
MR. MCENTIRE: That's fine.
MR. MORRIS: I'm just --
THE COURT: Okay. Sustained.
MR. MORRIS: -- going to be sensitive to it.
THE COURT: Sustained.
BY MR. MCENTIRE:
Q Mr. -- this is a true and accurate copy of the email that you sent, is it not?
A It appears to be.
MR. MCENTIRE: At this time, I would offer Exhibit 3 into evidence, Your Honor.
THE COURT: Okay. I'm looking through what we admitted earlier. Did we not --
MR. MCENTIRE: This already may be in evidence.
THE COURT: Yes. I'm --
MR. MCENTIRE: I don't --
THE COURT: Was there any objection?
MR. MORRIS: There wasn't. I mean, --

THE COURT: I think there was an objection that I overruled.

MR. MORRIS: No. There wasn't. I mean, unfortunately, we've gotten the short end of the stick here, because all of their documents are in evidence, and I got caught short because I'm going to have to do it the old-fashioned way. But yes, this is in evidence.

MR. MCENTIRE: Okay. Fair enough.

MR. MORRIS: Because -- actually got through all of their documents.

MR. MCENTIRE: Fair enough.

THE COURT: Okay. All right.

BY MR. MCENTIRE:

Q So, Mr. --

THE COURT: So it's in evidence.

BY MR. MCENTIRE:

Q -- Dondero, going back to Exhibit 3, it says, Just got off a pre-board call.

Is that the MGM board, a pre-board call?

A Yes.

Q What is a pre-board call?

A It's a pre-board call that usually sets the agenda. And, again, myself and the Anchorage guys, we would move in locksteps, in a coordinated fashion, generally, in terms of agenda and company policy.

Q It says, Update is as follows. Amazon and Apple actively diligencing in the data room.

What was your understanding of -- of -- what was your intent in conveying that information to the recipients?

A The intent was really in the last sentence, or second-to-last sentence, that the transaction was likely to close. Amazon had come back. We had turned Amazon away earlier in the year at $120 a share, and they said they wouldn't be willing to pay more. And --

THE COURT: Is there an objection?

MR. MORRIS: There is an objection. None of this was shared with Mr. Seery, all of this background that we're -- that we're doing. He -- I would request that we stick with the -- only the information that was given to Mr. Seery, like -- like he's talking about his intent. Like, who cares at this point?

MR. MCENTIRE: Well, --

MR. MORRIS: This is what Mr. Seery got.

THE COURT: Okay. What is your response to that?

MR. MCENTIRE: I have a response to -- well, they've -- they've questioned his intent in sending this in his opening statement.

MR. MORRIS: Ah.

MR. MCENTIRE: And I'm trying to make it clear what his intent was.

MR. MORRIS: So, you know what, Your Honor? Quid pro quo. Now we're going to do a real quid pro quo. He can ask him about his intent, and then he can't object to all of the other documents and exhibits that I say prove that this was here only to interfere with Mr. Seery's trading activity. I'll do that quid pro quo.

MR. MCENTIRE: May I proceed, Your Honor?

THE COURT: You may. Objection is overruled.

BY MR. MCENTIRE:

Q Mr. Dondero, what was your intent in communicating --

A Okay.

Q -- that probably a first-quarter event? What was your understanding?

A After 30 years of compliance education: Taint one, taint all. We were all sitting together. I -- the trading desk was right outside my desk. All the employees of Highland that would eventually move to NexPoint, all the ones that would eventually move to Skyview, all the ones that eventually moved to Jim Seery, were all within 30 feet of my desk.

Q What do you mean by "Taint one, taint all"?

A That's a compliance concept that, as a professional, you have a responsibility, when you are in possession of material nonpublic information, to put something on the restricted list so that it's not traded. Okay? And you can't -- one person can't sit in their cube and say they know something and not tell anybody else, such that the rest of the organization trades. That's not the way compliance works.

Q It says also no -- also, any sales are subject to a shareholder agreement.

What was the meaning of that or the intent of that?

A There was a stringent shareholder agreement, particularly among the board members, that no shares could be bought or sold without approval of the company.

Q The company here being MGM?

A MGM, yes.

Q What is a restricted list?

A A restricted list is when you believe as an investment professional that you have material nonpublic information, you notify Compliance, and then Compliance notifies the entire organization and prevents any trading in that security.

Q You mentioned the doctrine taint one, taint all. If an individual or -- if an individual within a company setting is found to have traded on material nonpublic information, what is the potential consequence or sanction?

MR. MORRIS: Objection, Your Honor. This is like a legal conclusion. He's not a law enforcement officer. He's not a securities officer. What are we doing?

MR. MCENTIRE: I can rephrase.

THE COURT: Okay. He's going to rephrase.

BY MR. MCENTIRE:

Q Based upon your years -- based upon your years of experience as a board member of MGM, based upon your years of experience as a CEO of Highland Capital and an executive that trades in securities and has sold securities, what is your understanding, from a non-legal perspective, of what the risks are associated with trading on material nonpublic information?
A You could be -- you would be fired from the organization if you did. You could be banned from the securities industry. The industry can shut down the -- or, the SEC can shut down the advisor or they can fine the advisor.
Q Do you know what a compliance log is?
A Yes.
Q Should MGM have been placed on a compliance log at NexPoint?
A Throughout the organization -- throughout the organization, it should -- it should and it was on all -- at all organizations, yes.
Q Should it have been placed on a -- on a compliance log to Highland Capital, from your perspective?
A Yes.
Q Can you give us any explanation of why, to your knowledge, why MGM would be taken off the restricted list in April of 2021 at Highland Capital?
A When an investment professional puts something on the restricted list, in order for it to come off the restricted list, the material nonpublic information has to be public. So there has to be a cleansing that occurs by the company.

Q To the extent that you were no longer affiliated with Highland Capital in the early portion, the first quarter of 2021, does that somehow cleanse the material nonpublic information that you identified?

A It does not.

Q Why not?

A Because the -- it -- the company hasn't -- the company didn't come out and make public the information that we knew from a private perspective that the transaction was about to go through.

Q You sat here during opening statements when Mr. Morris referred to the various news coverage and media coverage concerning MGM and the fact that people had expressed interest in buying in the past?

A Yes. And at the board level, we had entertained numerous ones. There were rumors that had no basis in fact, and there were negotiations we had with people that were never in the news. But none of them got to this degree of certainty where it was going to close within a couple months.

Q From your perspective as an investment professional, with the years of experience that you described for the Court, what is the difference between receiving an email from a board member such as yourself and rumors or suggestions of possible sale in the media?

A I knew with certainty from the board level that Amazon had hit our price, agreed to hit our price, and it was going to close in the next couple months.
Q That's not rumor or innuendo; that's hard information from a member of the MGM board?
A Correct.
MR. MCENTIRE: All right. You can take that down, please, Tim.
BY MR. MCENTIRE:
Q I want to talk a little bit about due diligence. When you were the chief executive officer of Highland Capital, --
A Yes.
Q -- can you tell us whether Highland Capital ever involved itself in the acquisition of distressed assets?
A Yes. We did a fair amount of investing in distressed assets.
Q What is a distressed asset?
A It's something that trades at a discount, where the certainty and the timing of realizations or contractual obligations is uncertain.
Q Is a -- well, let me back up. Has Highland -- did Highland Capital ever invest in unsecured claims in connection with bankruptcy proceedings?
A Yes.

Q And in terms of the -- on the spectrum of risk, where does an unsecured creditor claim in a bankruptcy proceeding kind of rank in terms of the uncertainties or risk, from your perspective?

A It's high risk. It's a -- yeah, it would be highly-distressed, generally.

Q Explain to us -- I know the Court is very familiar with claims trading. Explain to us from your perspective as an investment -- a seasoned investment expert or executive what those risks are. What types of risk are associated with such an investment?

A You have to evaluate the assets tied to the claim specifically. Or if it's an unsecured in general, the assets in general in the estate.

You have to handicap the realization that a distressed seller might not get full value for something. You have to handicap the likelihood around that. And then you have to handicap the timing, and then you have to handicap the expenses and the other obligations of the estate, and then handicap risk items that aren't known or that are difficult if not impossible to underwrite, like unknown litigation or last-minute litigation or claims or something.

Q And all these handicapping, this handicapping process, how does that impact the price or the investment that you're willing to make? Generally?

A Generally, you put a much higher discount rate. You know, like if you would do debt at 10 percent and a normal public equity at a 15 percent return, you would do distressed or private equity investing at a 20, 25 percent return expectation to offset the risk and the unknowns.

Q In order to handicap an investment in an unsecured creditor's claim appropriately to reach an informed decision, what type of data would you need to have access to?

MR. MORRIS: Objection to the form of the question. He's not here as an expert. He's here as a fact witness. He should -- he should limit himself to that instead of talking about what investors should be doing.

MR. MCENTIRE: Well, Your Honor, with all due respect, he's here as the former CEO of Highland Capital. He has experience, firsthand knowledge experience, and he also has expertise because of his education, his career, and training.

And again, there's no limitation here under the Rules about what type of information I can elicit from him in this proceeding. This is, whether you call it expert testimony, I call it personal knowledge, but it has some expert aspects to it, but I think that's fair and appropriate.

THE COURT: Well, I think you can ask what kind of data would you rely on, would Highland Capital or entities he's been in charge of rely on, --

MR. MCENTIRE: I understand.

THE COURT: -- but not what would people rely on. So I sustain the objection partially.

MR. MCENTIRE: All right.

BY MR. MCENTIRE:

Q Mr. Dondero, I'll rephrase the question. When you were the chief executive officer of Highland Capital before Mr. Seery took the reins, and you, your company, Highland Capital, was investing in an unsecured creditor's claims, what due diligence, what type of information would you expect your team to explore and investigate?

A Sure. Distressed investment in a trade claim would be among our thickest folders, it would be among our most diligenced items, because you have those three buckets, the value of the assets, again, and the ability and timing of monetization of those as a not strong -- as a weak seller, and then you would have the litigation or claims against those, and then you would have to also have a third section of analysis for the litigation risk of the estate overall.

Q What type of legal analysis or legal due diligence would you have required as the CEO of Highland Capital?

A At Highland, we would have had third-party law firms, in addition to our own legal staff, in addition to our own business professionals, reviewing all the analysis and the assumptions.

Q With regard to a financial analysis, what types of financial due diligence would you have required?
A It would have been a detailed -- a detailed analysis of all the cash flows on the particular underlying investments, and an evaluation and valuation of what those companies or investments were worth.
Q Why is it important to look at the underlying value of the asset?
A Because that -- those are what will be monetized in order to give you a return on the claims or securities that you buy in a distressed situation.

MR. MCENTIRE: Tim, would you please put up Exhibit 4?

MR. MORRIS: Your Honor, I don't mean to be monitoring your time, but we're at the 1:30 --

THE COURT: I was just checking the clock here. Let's do take a break. So, --

MR. MCENTIRE: All right.

MR. MORRIS: Your Honor, can we have an instruction to the witness not to --

THE COURT: Yes.

MR. MORRIS: -- look at his phone and not to confer with anybody? Because we had that incident once before.

THE COURT: Okay. Well, I don't --

THE WITNESS: I don't have my phone.

THE COURT: Okay.

THE WITNESS: My phone's at the front desk.

THE COURT: So, no discussions with your lawyers or -- I guess he doesn't have his phone -- during this break.

MR. MORRIS: Thank you, Your Honor.

THE COURT: All right. So, I really think this will take five minutes, so don't go far.

(Off the record, 1:33 p.m. to 1:47 p.m.)

THE COURT: Okay. We will go back on the record, then, in the Highland matter.

MR. MCENTIRE: I'm just going to grab him right now.

THE COURT: Okay. We are, for the record, waiting on Mr. Dondero to take his place again on the witness stand.

(Pause.)

THE COURT: All right, Mr. Dondero. We're ready for you to resume your testimony.

All right. Mr. McEntire, you may proceed.

MR. MCENTIRE: Thank you, Your Honor.

DIRECT EXAMINATION, RESUMED

BY MR. MCENTIRE:

Q Mr. Dondero, when we left off, I was just putting up what I requested as Exhibit 4.

MR. MCENTIRE: And Tim, if you can put that back up, please.

BY MR. MCENTIRE:

Q Mr. Dondero, can you identify Exhibit #4, please?
A Yes. These are notes I took contemporaneous with three conversations with guys at Farallon.
Q I didn't quite hear you. Did you say contemporaneous?
A Yes.
Q So, you say with three conversations. Who were the conversations with?
A One was with Raj Patel that was fairly short, and he deflected me to Mike Linn, who was the portfolio manager in charge and had done the transactions.
Q Which transactions?
A The buying of the claim, the Highland claims.
Q All right. And what was your purpose in making these notes?
A We'd been trying nonstop to settle the case for two-plus years. We'd been counseled that it was a Kabuki dance that would just, you know, all settle at the end, and it never quite happened that way. And when we heard the claims traded, we realized there were new parties to potentially negotiate to resolve the case.

The ownership was initially hidden, but we were able to find out pretty quickly that Farallon was Muck. So I reached out the Farallon guys.
Q All right. And were you ever able at that time to determine who was affiliated with Jessup, the other special-purpose entity?

A We -- initially, we thought Farallon was all of the entities. We didn't find out about Stonehill -- it was more difficult and they had taken more efforts to hide the ownership in Stonehill. We didn't find out for two more months.

Q So your first conversation was with Mr. Patel?

A Yes.

Q And did you call him?

A Yes.

Q Your first entry, there's a 28 on the left-hand side. What does that 28 refer to, if you recall?

A That was the date, I believe.

Q Do you believe it was May 28th?

A Yes.

Q What makes you believe that?

A That's what it says.

Q Okay. Raj Patel --

THE COURT: Is there a way you can show the words that are cut off?

MR. MCENTIRE: On this particular one, I can't, Your Honor. We tried, but we can't. No.

THE COURT: If I look in the notebook, can I see it?

MR. MCENTIRE: I don't think so. I think this is -- what you see is exactly what's in the notebook. It's the same document. This is how -- how we -- this is how we have it.

BY MR. MCENTIRE:

Q Mr. Patel. Who is Mr. Patel?

A He's Mike Linn's boss. He's head of -- I believe head of credit at Farallon.

Q Okay. And Farallon is based where, if you know?

A San Francisco.

Q And what kind of company is Farallon, if you know?

A They -- they look a lot like Highland. Well, they do real estate. They do hedge funds. They do -- they don't do as many 40 Act or retail funds, but they're -- they're an investor.

Q Mr. Patel. What did he tell you during this phone call?

A That he bought it because Seery told him to buy it and they had made money with Seery before.

Q All right. And how long did the call last?

A Not long.

Q Okay. You said he referred you to Mr. -- who was the person?

A To Mike Linn.

Q Who is Mike Linn?

A Mike Linn is a portfolio manager that works for Mr. Patel.

Q And did you call Mr. Linn?

A Yes.

Q All right. The notes here, do these reflect several conversations?

A The first one reflects a conversation with Raj Patel, and then the rest of it reflects two conversations with Mike Linn.
Q All right. Where does the first conversation with Mike Linn start and where does it end?
A It ends -- it begins at the 50, 70 cents. We knew that they had -- that the claims had traded around 50 cents. And I said we'd be willing to pay 70 cents. We'd like to prevent the $5 million-a-month burn. We'd like to buy your claims.
Q Why 70 cents? What was -- what was that all about?
A I was trying to give them a compelling premium that was still less than I had offered the UCC three months earlier.
Q And so you have: Not compelling, Class 8. What does that mean?
A He said that was -- he just said 70 cents wasn't compelling.
Q There's a reference to: Asked what would be compelling. Was that a question you asked him?
A Yes.
Q And what was his response?
A He said he had no offer. And he -- we had heard he paid 50 cents and I offered him 70 cents and then -- but he was clear to me that he wouldn't tell me what he paid. And so the next time I called him I -- I -- instead of just making it cents on the dollar, I said I'd pay 130 percent of whatever he did pay. You don't have to tell me what you paid, but I'll pay you 30 percent more than you paid, you know, a couple months ago. And -- or we thought they notified the Court when they just bought it, but they had actually negotiated buying it back in February. January or February. So --

Q Who told you that they bought it in February or March time frame?

A He did.

Q Okay. Was this during the first or the second phone --

MR. MORRIS: I apologize for interrupting. Who's the "he"?

MR. MCENTIRE: Mike Linn.

THE WITNESS: Mike Linn.

MR. MORRIS: Thank you so much.

MR. MCENTIRE: I'll make sure the record --

BY MR. MCENTIRE:

Q Mike Linn --

A Yes.

Q -- told you that Farallon had bought their interest in the claims back in the February or March time frame?

A Yes.

Q All right. Bought assets with claims. What does that refer to?

A He said it wasn't compelling because he said Seery told him it would be worth a lot more. He -- he confirmed what Raj said, that -- I said, do you realize the estate is spending $5 million a month on legal fees? That, you know, you should want to sell this thing. And he said Seery told him it was worth a lot more and there were claims and litigation beyond the asset value.

Q You offered him 40 to 50 percent premium. What is that?

A That's what the 70 cents on the 50 cents represents. And then I changed the dialogue to I'll pay you 130 percent of whatever your cost was. And he said, not compelling. And then I, both -- both calls, I pressed him, what price would he offer at? And he said he had no offer, he wasn't willing to sell.

Q The 130 percent of cost, not compelling, was that in the second or the third call with Mr. Linn?

A It was at my third and final call with Farallon. My second call with Mike Linn was the 130 percent of cost.

Q And he said not compelling? You put it in quotation marks?

A Yep.

Q And then you said, no counter. What does that mean?

A He wouldn't -- he wouldn't give an offer, he wouldn't give a price at which he would sell.

Q What did Mike Linn tell you, in effect, with regard to his due diligence that Farallon had undertaken?

A When I -- when I told him about the risks and the litigation and the burn, he said he wasn't following the case, he wasn't aware of it, he was depending on Jim Seery.

Q What, if anything, did Michael Linn tell you about MGM?

A That was more the initial Raj Patel call, where he said we bought it because he was very optimistic regarding MGM.

Q Okay. Did you have any understanding when he first got his optimism about MGM?

A No. He just said that's why they had bought it initially, they were very optimistic about MGM.

Q That's why they had bought it initially?

A Yes.

Q And they had bought it initially in the February-March time frame?

A Yes.

Q And that -- would you -- does that predate the public disclosure of the MGM sale to Amazon?

A Yes.

Q Substantially by a couple of months?

A Yes.

Q I'd like to turn your attention now to a different topic.

MR. MCENTIRE: And Tim, if you could pull up Exhibit 8, please.

I believe this document is already in evidence, Your Honor.

THE COURT: 8 is?

MR. MCENTIRE: Oh, by the way, I offer Exhibit 4 into evidence.

BY MR. MCENTIRE:

Q Let me ask you a couple quick questions.

THE COURT: Is there an objection?

MR. MORRIS: Nope.

THE COURT: Okay. 4 is admitted.

(Hunter Mountain Investment Trust's Exhibit 4 is received into evidence.)

BY MR. MCENTIRE:

Q Exhibit 8.

MR. MORRIS: I apologize, Your Honor. Just one caveat. It's not for the truth of the matter asserted; it's for what his impressions were at the time.

MR. MCENTIRE: Well, --

MR. MORRIS: This is what he wrote down. I don't --

MR. MCENTIRE: I'm offering it for the truth of the matter asserted.

MR. MORRIS: Okay. And I object to that extent. This --

MR. MCENTIRE: Let me --

MR. MORRIS: Can I voir dire? Can I voir dire? May I do --

MR. MCENTIRE: May I finish my statement that I was --

THE COURT: Let him finish, and then --

MR. MCENTIRE: Thank you.

THE COURT: -- you can.

MR. MCENTIRE: I am offering it for the truth of the matter asserted because these are documents that were prepared contemporaneously, it's an exception to the hearsay rule and reflects admissions of a -- of an adverse party. Admissions that are adverse to their interests. Declarations of interest adverse to their interest and admissions of an adverse party contemporaneously recorded. And so that's why I'm offering it.

MR. MORRIS: For all purposes?

THE COURT: Okay. Let me have you point me to the exact hearsay exception. I understand this hearsay exception you're arguing for the hearsay within the hearsay, the party opponent exception. But it's technically hearsay of Mr. Dondero, even though he's here on the stand.

MR. MCENTIRE: Well, I could lay a foundation, then.

BY MR. MCENTIRE:

Q Mr. Dondero, --

THE COURT: Well, no. I'm asking for what your --

MR. MCENTIRE: It's --

THE COURT: -- rule reference is.

MR. MCENTIRE: I don't have the Rules with me right this second. It's 803(1) --

(Discussion.)

MR. MCENTIRE: All right. Well, it's -- it's admissible under several categories. It's not hearsay because it's an admission of a party opponent. It's also an admission under 803(1), present sense impression. It's also admissible --

THE COURT: So you say it's Mr. Dondero's statement describing or explaining an event --

MR. MCENTIRE: Yes.

THE COURT: -- or admission made while or immediately after the declarant perceived it?

MR. MCENTIRE: Yes. It's also a record of a regularly-conducted activity, which is 803(6). And I think it's also not technically hearsay because it's also an admission of a party. So, this --

THE COURT: Well, that's the hearsay within the hearsay.

MR. MORRIS: Yeah.

THE COURT: But I'm -- I'm --

MR. MORRIS: That can't possibly be right. I can't go back to my hotel right now and write down that he told me that he did a bad thing and come in here tomorrow and say he admitted he did a bad thing because it's in my notes.

MR. MCENTIRE: Well, --

MR. MORRIS: That's can't possibly be the law.

MR. MCENTIRE: Well, --

MR. MORRIS: That's not the law.

MR. MCENTIRE: There are two hearsay issues here. One is whether this is a business record or otherwise qualifies as an exception to the hearsay rule, and then there's an internal hearsay issue of whether or not what Mr. Patel and Mr. --

THE COURT: You haven't established the business record exception. Okay?

MR. MCENTIRE: I'm prepared to lay the foundation right this second. At this moment.

THE COURT: You may proceed.

BY MR. MCENTIRE:

Q Mr. Dondero, is this a document that was generated by you in the ordinary course of your business?

A Yes.

Q Did you have personal knowledge when you recorded this document?

A Yes.

Q You personally recorded this document, correct?

A Yes.

Q And you have had custody of this document. Correct?

A Yes.

Q And this is --

MR. MCENTIRE: That's a -- that's a business record,

Your Honor.

MR. MORRIS: May I, Your Honor?

THE COURT: You may.

MR. MORRIS: Okay.

VOIR DIRE EXAMINATION

BY MR. MORRIS:

Q Where's the document now? How come it's -- how come it's cut off?

A I don't know.

Q Do you have the document today? How come we're looking at a document that's cut off?

A I'm sure we have it somewhere. I don't have it.

MR. MORRIS: So, number one, Your Honor, we don't have the actual document. We have a partial document.

Number two, let's talk about it for a second.

BY MR. MORRIS:

Q You say that you do this in the ordinary course of business. What's the purpose of taking these notes?

A When I'm starting negotiation with somebody new on something complicated and I don't know what their concerns or rationale is going to be, I take little notes like this.

Q And is it -- is it the purpose of it to capture the important things that are going on in the conversation?

A So I know next time how to address it differently, you know.

Q That's not my question. My question is, is the purpose of taking notes so that you have a written record of the important points that you discussed?
A Yes, so I know how to address it the next time.
Q Okay. And among the important points that you never put down on these notes was the letters MGM. Is that correct?
A Correct.
Q Okay. And you never put down here that Michael Linn told you he wasn't following the case, correct?
A No, I did not.
Q Okay.
A But it was --
Q And --
A Yeah. But I --
Q That --

MR. MORRIS: Your Honor, if this is --

MR. MCENTIRE: (faintly) This is voir dire of the witness for a business record exception.

MR. MORRIS: No, because --

THE COURT: Overruled.

MR. MORRIS: Thank you.

BY MR. MORRIS:
Q Mr. Patel wouldn't tell you how much he paid and that's why you didn't write it down, right?
A Mr. Patel told me he bought it because of Seery. My conversation was very short with him. That was one of the few things he said. Linn said he wouldn't sell it because he didn't find it compelling.

Q Okay.

A And Linn was the one who wouldn't tell me --

Q Okay.

A -- the price.

Q But -- but even though you took these notes to write down things that you thought were important, you didn't write down MGM. Correct?

A Yes.

Q And you didn't write down that anybody was very optimistic about MGM. Correct?

A No, I did not.

Q And you didn't write down that Mr. Linn told you he wasn't following the case. Correct?

A Well, he said the same thing Patel said about he bought it because of Seery. He did confirm that. I didn't see any reason to write that again.

Q You didn't -- you never wrote it down. Not once. Not -- there's nothing about again, right. You never wrote down that --

A No, I did write --

Q -- anybody ever told you they weren't following the case. Correct?

A Correct.
Q Okay.
A But I wrote down that he bought it because of Seery.
Q Okay.

MR. MORRIS: Your Honor, no objection. It can go in.

MR. MCENTIRE: Okay.

THE COURT: Wait. Did you just say no objections?

MR. MORRIS: Except -- except for the hearsay on hearsay. It can't possibly be an admission. It's his -- it's his notes. This is what he wrote. It can come in for that purpose. It's -- it's a -- that's what he's testified to, and I can't object to that. But it can't possibly come in as an admission against Farallon.

MR. MCENTIRE: Well, I disagree.

MR. MORRIS: That's the point.

MR. MCENTIRE: Well, first of all, I disagree. This is otherwise admissible, and it can come. I think that's really, Your Honor, that's really the weight it's going to be given. It comes in. He's not making an objection to its admissibility. And if he wants to argue the weight of the document, that's a different issue.

MR. STANCIL: Your Honor, if I may.

THE COURT: You may.

MR. STANCIL: The second layer of hearsay goes to whether this is a statement by Farallon. It is a statement by Mr. Dondero of what he heard, what he says he heard Farallon say. 801(d) refers to, when they're talking about an opposing party statement, made by the party, not made by a listener who says he heard the party. This is classic hearsay within hearsay. It's not admissible for that purpose.

THE COURT: Okay. I sustain the objection, and -- but I'm still struggling to understand what the Respondents have agreed to. Because --

MR. MORRIS: That -- that this is what he claims to have written down. I mean, right? So, so --

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. MORRIS: -- a present sense impression.

THE COURT: So, it is admitted as Mr. Dondero's present sense impression, but it's not admitted as to the truth of anything that Claims Purchasers may have said.

MR. MORRIS: And -- and the --

THE COURT: That's what you're saying?

MR. MORRIS: Yes. And the most important thing is that he's testified that the purpose of the notes was to capture the things that were important that he was told. And we've established what he wasn't told.

MR. MCENTIRE: Okay. I believe the document is in evidence, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Exhibit 4 is in evidence. But, again, there's no admission in here as to what Claims Purchasers testified as to.

MR. MCENTIRE: Well, they haven't testified yet because --

THE COURT: This is what he --

THE DEFENDANT: I understand. I understand.

THE COURT: -- he says he remembers.

MR. MCENTIRE: Okay. So, --

THE COURT: It's sort of an --

MR. STANCIL: Your Honor, just so we're clear for our record, this is not admitted for the truth of what Farallon is purported to have said.

MR. MCENTIRE: Correct.

THE COURT: Correct.

MR. MCENTIRE: This --

MR. STANCIL: Thank you.

MR. MCENTIRE: This is offered for the truth of what Mr. -- Mr. Dondero recalls them saying.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. MCENTIRE: In part.

THE COURT: I think -- I think we're on the same page now. I think. I think.

(Hunter Mountain Investment Trust's Exhibit 4 is received into evidence.)

MR. MCENTIRE: All right. May I proceed, Your Honor?

THE COURT: You may.

MR. MCENTIRE: Can you please put up Exhibit 8, please? And I believe this document has been put into evidence --

THE COURT: It is.

MR. MCENTIRE: Thank you.

BY MR. MCENTIRE:

Q Mr. Dondero, this document is a -- part of a -- the Court's docket. It was filed on February 1, 2021, if you could go to the top upper banner. It's Debtors' Notice of Filing of Plan Supplement of the Fifth Amended Plan of Reorganization of Highland Capital Management, as Modified.

Do you see that?

A Yes.

Q I'll direct your attention, --

MR. MCENTIRE: If you could go to Page 4, please, for me, Tim.

BY MR. MCENTIRE:

Q Page 4 has a schedule, a plan analysis and a liquidation analysis. Do you see that?

A Yes.

Q All right. For Class 8, what does it identify that is being projected for distributions to the general unsecured claims for Class 8?

A 71.3 percent.

Q What percentage is being identified that will be distributed to Class 9?

A 9, no distribution.

Q No distribution? All right. Mr. Dondero, in Paragraph -- I'm going to give you a piece of paper.

MR. MCENTIRE: Can you just give me a piece of paper real quick?

BY MR. MCENTIRE:

Q I'm handing you a piece of paper and I'm --

A Okay. Thank you.

Q Mr. Dondero, in our complaint in this case, the proposed complaint in this case, we allege that Class 8 had a total of $270 million, the claims that were purchased by Farallon and Stonehill had a face value in Class 8 of $270 million. Would you write that number down?

And assuming that this was public information that was available in February of 2021 at 71.32 percent, --

MR. MORRIS: Objection, Your Honor. That's an assumption not in evidence. He hasn't laid a foundation for what was available in February in 2021.

BY MR. MCENTIRE:

Q Mr. Dondero, according to --

THE COURT: Wait. Are you going to respond, or are you just going to --

MR. MCENTIRE: I'll rephrase the question.

THE COURT: -- rephrase? Okay.

BY MR. MCENTIRE:

Q According to the document that is identified as Exhibit #8 that says that 71.32 percent is the anticipated projected payout on Class 8 claims, what is 71.32 percent of the face value of the claims that were purchased?

A About $192 million.

Q $192 million? And assuming for a moment that, as alleged by Hunter Mountain in this case, that $163 million was actually used to purchase the Class 8 claims, what is the difference?

A About $30 million.

Q A little less than that, isn't it? Or is the number --

A Yeah. $28 million or whatever.

Q $28 million? And based upon your years of experience in running Highland Capital, being involved in the purchase of unsecured claims, being involved in investigating and acquiring distressed assets, that return over a two-year period, is that the kind of return that a hedge fund would typically -- you would expect to receive?

MR. MORRIS: I just want to make sure that -- because the question changed a little bit in the middle. If he wants to ask him if he would have made the investment, that's fine. But he should not be permitted to testify as to what any other investor, including the ones who purchased these claims, would have done. Every -- there's different risk profiles. He can testify to whatever he wants about himself.

THE COURT: Sustained.

BY MR. MCENTIRE:

Q Go ahead. Based upon your experience at Highland Capital, would Highland Capital have ever acquired those claims based upon that kind of return over two years? For a distressed asset such as this?

A No.

Q Why not?

A It's below a debt level return that you could get on high-rated assets with certainty. It's --

Q What do you mean by it's below -- below a debt return that you could get on collateralized assets? What do you mean by that?

A I think in this case the debt that the Debtor put in place paid 12, 13 percent and was triple secured or whatever. So no one would buy the residual claims for an 8 percent compounded, whatever that $28 million works out to.

MR. MORRIS: I move to strike, Your Honor. He shouldn't be talking about or testifying to what other people might do.

THE WITNESS: Well, we --

THE COURT: This is --

THE WITNESS: We would never have done that.

THE COURT: This is --

MR. MCENTIRE: He would not have.

THE COURT: -- Highland, not nobody. Okay.

BY MR. MCENTIRE:

Q Mr. Dondero, and what is it about the fact that these claims are not collateralized that impacts the decision-makers, from your perspective?

A You have all the risk that the $205 million of expenses this estate has currently paid grows to $300 or $400 million. You know, you have the risk that other litigation regarding Seery violating the Advisers Act --

MR. MORRIS: I move to strike, Your Honor.

THE WITNESS: -- results in --

THE COURT: Sustained.

THE WITNESS: -- expenses.

BY MR. MCENTIRE:

Q Just respond to my question, sir. What does the fact about not being collateralized, how does that impact the decision-maker's --

A Well, I was trying to answer it. You just have all kinds of residual risk of bad acts that have happened at the estate or expenses increasing or whatever.

MR. MORRIS: I move to strike the phrase "bad acts," Your Honor.

THE COURT: Overruled.

BY MR. MCENTIRE:

Q What did you mean by that? What did you mean by "bad acts"?

A We've highlighted it in a lot of complaints. There's been several violations of the Advisers Act.

MR. MORRIS: Move to strike, Your Honor. It's a legal conclusion.

THE COURT: Sustained.

BY MR. MCENTIRE:

Q Mr. Dondero, are you familiar with an entity known as NHF?

A Yes.

Q What is NHF?

A A NexPoint hedge fund. It was a closed-in fund that we manage still to this day at NexPoint. The name has changed to NXDT.

Q Was NHF publicly traded?

A It -- yeah, it's a publicly-traded equity. It's a closed-in fund, technically, but it's a publicly-traded security.

Q What -- what is your affiliation with NHF?

A I'm the portfolio manager.

Q And, again, what are your responsibilities as the portfolio manager?

A To optimize the portfolio and hopefully exceed investor expectations.

Q Have you become aware that Stonehill was purchasing MGM stock in the first quarter of 2021? And NHF?

A Yes. We believe -- we're able to demonstrate from Bloomberg records, on the Bloomberg terminal, they show up as holders and purchasers in the -- in the first few months of 2021.

Q What magnitude?

A I think it was one of their top equity positions. It was about six million bucks.

MR. MCENTIRE: Can you put up the chart? This is for demonstrative purposes only.

I'm not offering this chart into evidence, Your Honor. It's simply a demonstration. Or a demonstrative.

MR. MORRIS: Your Honor, there's no such thing.

MR. MCENTIRE: There is.

MR. MORRIS: A demonstrative has to be based on evidence. A demonstrative is supposed to summarize evidence. You don't put up a demonstrative until --

THE COURT: All right. What's your response to that?

MR. MCENTIRE: That I'm about to walk through some points where he can establish as a point of evidence, and then we can talk about it. Demonstratives, demonstratives are used all the time, Your Honor.

MR. MORRIS: It's to --

THE COURT: Well, they summarize evidence.

MR. MORRIS: It's to summarize evidence.

THE COURT: Yes. So, --

MR. MCENTIRE: Well, this is --

THE COURT: -- you can elicit the evidence, and then if this chart seems to summarize whatever he testifies as to, then --

MR. MCENTIRE: All right.

THE COURT: -- then I think maybe you can put it up.

MR. MCENTIRE: Mr. -- you can take it down, Tim.

BY MR. MCENTIRE:

Q Mr. Dondero, do you have an understanding of how much total distributions have been paid to date in the Highland bankruptcy?

A I believe the Class 8 -- the 1 through 7 was only about $10 million. I believe Class 8 got $260 or $270 million so far.

Q All right. And do you have an understanding of what the total amount of expenses are?

A Total expenses paid to date was $203 million. $205 million.

Q So the -- the -- there's a rough approximation between the professional expenses and the actual all proofs of claim; is that correct?

A There is, yeah, a ratio, and -- yes.

Q The total cash flow, if you add those two together, what are they? What are they approximately?

A $470 million.

Q $470 million? And do you understand that the -- that the Reorganized Debtor and the Claimant Trust would have more than sufficient assets to reach Class 10 where Hunter Mountain is currently located, even setting aside the claims against you?

A Correct. There's $57 million of cash on the balance sheet, net of a couple million today, I guess. And then there's $100 million of other assets.

MR. MCENTIRE: Reserve the rest of my questions. Reserve the rest of my questions, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Okay. Pass the witness.

MR. MCENTIRE: Could I have my time estimate?

THE COURT: Yes. Caroline?

THE CLERK: (faintly) As of right now, we are at 81 minutes, so --

MR. MCENTIRE: Thank you.

THE COURT: That was 81 minutes total?

THE CLERK: Yes.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. MORRIS: May I proceed, Your Honor?

THE COURT: You may.

CROSS-EXAMINATION

BY MR. MORRIS:

Q Good afternoon, Mr. Dondero.

A Good to see you.

Q My pleasure. Do you know an attorney named Ronak

(phonetic) Patel?
A Is that Rakhee that they call --
Q Could be. Do you know an attorney named Rakhee Patel?
A There was a Rakhee Patel, I believe, early in the Acis case.
Q Let me try --
A I'm not -- I've never met her.
Q Let me try this differently.
A Okay.
Q Did you ever meet with the Texas State Securities Board?
A No.
Q Did anybody acting on your behalf ever file a complaint with the Texas State Securities Board?
A No.
Q Do you know if anybody's filed a complaint with the Texas State Securities Board? About Highland?
A I believe you covered it earlier. Mark Patrick.
Q Mark Patrick what?
A I guess he did, or Hunter Mountain did, or the DAF did. I don't -- I don't know.
Q Did you ever speak with Mark Patrick about a TSSB investigation of Highland?
A No.
Q Okay. Why do you think Mark Patrick knows about the TSSB investigation of Highland?

MR. MCENTIRE: Objection to form. Calls for speculation. He's just established that he's never --

THE WITNESS: I don't know.

MR. MCENTIRE: -- talked to Mark Patrick.

MR. MORRIS: Okay.

THE COURT: Okay. Sustained.

MR. MORRIS: Okay.

BY MR. MORRIS:

Q Have you ever seen the draft Hunter Mountain complaint in this case?

A No.

Q Okay. I think you testified a moment ago that Amazon had hit MGM's price by December 17th. Do I have that right?

A Yes.

Q Okay. Then how come you didn't say that in your email to Mr. Seery?

A Your best practices and typical practices, when you put it on the restricted list, is to just give as little information as possible so that the inside information isn't promulgated specifically throughout the organization and leaked --

Q So, --

A -- throughout the organization.

Q So, even though your intent was to convey information to Mr. Seery, you didn't actually tell him the truth, right? You didn't tell him that Amazon had actually hit the stock price.

Right?
A I wouldn't characterize it that way.
Q Okay. In fact, all you told him was that they were interested. Isn't that right?
A I wasn't telling him anything. I was telling Compliance, as an investment professional, that it needed to be on the restricted list because we were in possession of material nonpublic information regarding a merger that was going to go through shortly. Or in the next few months.
Q Is it your testimony that, as of December 17th, Amazon had made an offer that was acceptable to MGM?
A Yeah, we were going into -- that's what the board meeting was. We were going into exclusive negotiations to culminate the merger with them.
Q Okay. I think you have a binder there of our exhibits. If you can go to #11.
A Which one?
MR. MORRIS: May I approach?
THE WITNESS: Sure.
(Pause.)
BY MR. MORRIS:
Q That's your email, sir, right?
A Yes.
Q Okay. It doesn't say anything about Amazon hitting the price, right?

A It doesn't need to.
Q In fact, it still mentions Apple, doesn't it? Why did you feel the need to mention Apple if Amazon had already hit the price?
A The only way you generally get something done at attractive levels in business is if two people are interested.
Q But why weren't you -- why were you creating a story for the Compliance Department when the whole idea was to be transparent so they would understand what was happening? Why would you create a story that differed from the facts?
A It didn't differ from the facts, and it's not a story. It's a, we have material nonpublic information. Please put this on the restricted list. And --
Q But that -- but you said Amazon and Apple are actively diligencing and they're in the data room. Do you see that?
A That's true.
Q So, even though -- you know what, I'll move on. But this -- this doesn't say what you testified to earlier, that Apple hit the -- that Amazon hit the price. Right? Can we just agree on that?
A Well, agree that it doesn't have to and it's not supposed to.

MR. MORRIS: I move to strike. I just want --

THE COURT: Sustained.

BY MR. MORRIS:

Q -- you to -- I want you to just work with me here. You did not tell the Compliance Department that Apple -- that Amazon had hit the strike price. Right? Isn't that correct? That's not what this email says?

A The -- you can pull up a hundred of these type emails. They're not specific.

MR. MORRIS: I'm going to move to strike and I'm just going to ask you, --

THE COURT: Sustained.

BY MR. MORRIS:

Q -- because you testified to one thing, and I just want to make clear that you told the Compliance Department something different. Can we just agree on that?

MR. MCENTIRE: Well, Your Honor, may I respond to his motions to strike? I think he's becoming argumentative.

THE COURT: Could you speak into the mic, --

MR. MCENTIRE: I can.

THE COURT: -- please.

THE COURT: He's becoming argumentative. And I think it's very clear that, if he asks a question, the witness has a right to respond. I think his answers are totally responsive. And I don't think anything should be struck.

THE COURT: Okay. Your question was you didn't put in there anything about it hit the strike price --

MR. MORRIS: He didn't --

THE COURT: -- or whatever?

MR. MORRIS: He didn't -- he didn't tell the Compliance Department what he just testified to. In fact, he told the Compliance Department something very different. That's all I'm asking.

THE COURT: And I think that's just a yes or no.

MR. MORRIS: Okay.

BY MR. MORRIS:

Q Yes or no? You told the Compliance Department something different than what was actually happening?

A That's not true.

Q Oh.

A Exactly what was here, what was happening. I didn't give more detail, which is more hearsay.

Q Okay. If somebody was filing -- following the Highland bankruptcy, they would have known that MGM was very important, right?

A You'd have to show me where. I don't -- I don't see it in any of the bankruptcy --

Q You don't think that that's true?

A I didn't see it in any of the public filings.

Q Do you remember we were here two years ago on this very day, June 8, 2021, for the second contempt hearing? You sat in that very witness box during the second contempt hearing? Remember that? That was two years ago.

A I remember sitting in the box. What are you asking?
Q And do you remember that that was just a few days after MGM had announced its deal with Amazon?
A I -- I don't remember -- I -- was that the day the judge was hopeful that would lead to a resolution of the case?
Q Exactly. So, --
A Okay.
Q -- Judge Jernigan certainly knew that MGM was important. Right?
A Yes.
Q And she's a bankruptcy judge, right?
A Yes.
Q And she was overseeing the bankruptcy case, right? Correct?
A Yes.
Q And the very first thing when she walked in the door two years ago on this day was, oh my goodness, MGM, they have a deal, maybe we can finally get to a settlement. Right?
A And I wish she had pushed on that.
Q Do you --
A And I remember you guys dismissing it.
Q Do you think she had material nonpublic inside information?
A No, I don't think so.
Q She probably learned it in the bankruptcy case, right?

A Yeah.
Q Okay. Do you believe Mr. Seery sold any MGM securities between the day you sent your email and the day the Amazon deal was announced on May 26th?
A I don't know.
Q Do you -- so you have no knowledge? Let's do this a different way. You have no basis to say that Mr. Seery sold any MGM securities between the moment you sent this email on December 17th and the day the Amazon deal was announced on May 26th. Correct?
A I'm sorry. Just to clarify, you're saying sold, not bought, right? You're not asking me if -- Q I'll do either way.
A Okay.
Q Fair point.
A Sure.
Q Very fair point.
A Okay.
Q Do you believe that Mr. Seery engaged in any transactions of MGM securities between those two relevant data points?
A Yes.
Q Okay. What do you think he did?
A The HarbourVest transaction.
Q Okay. So, you learned about the HarbourVest transaction when?

A When it was filed.
Q And that was on December 23rd. Do you remember that?
A Yes.
Q It was just less than a week after you sent your email, right?
A Yes.
Q And do you remember that you filed an objection to the HarbourVest settlement?
A Yes.
Q And you're the one who gave Mr. Seery this material nonpublic inside information, right?
A Yes.
Q Did you object to the HarbourVest settlement on the basis that Mr. Seery was engaging in insider trading?
A Not then, I don't think. I believe --
Q You didn't, right? Even though it was happening at the exact same moment, the very -- within a week of you giving him this information. He's announcing that he's doing this settlement and you don't say a word. Isn't that right?
A Because I delegated the responsibility to Compliance by notifying them of material nonpublic information, and Compliance should hold the organization accountable. Compliance is separate and discrete from management. Compliance reports to the SEC.
Q You filed a 15-page objection to the settlement, didn't you?

A I don't -- I don't know.
Q Did you tell Judge Jernigan that Mr. Seery was doing bad?
A Not then. I think a month later, two months later.
Q Even though you knew what was happening, you didn't say anything, right?
A I -- I'm not responsible for all the filings. I --
Q Even though it's under your name?
A Correct.
Q How about -- how about CLO Holdco? Did CLO Holdco file an objection to the HarbourVest settlement?
A I -- I don't know which entities did, but it -- whatever entities that were in control that could did, eventually, when they found out, you know, and -- but did -- did they, within a week or contemporaneously? No. It was right around the holidays. A lot of people weren't paying attention. You guys were trying to rush the HarbourVest thing through.
Q Sir, CLO Holdco filed an objection, claiming that it was entitled to purchase the HarbourVest interests in HCLOF because it had a right of first refusal, right? Isn't that right?
A Okay. I -- what ultimately governs the --
Q Isn't that right?
A I don't -- okay.
Q It's really just yes or no.

A I don't know.

Q If you don't remember, that's fine.

A I don't remember, yeah.

MR. MCENTIRE: Your Honor, would he please give the witness an opportunity to answer? He's interrupted three times in less than five seconds. Give the witness an opportunity to respond.

MR. MORRIS: This is real easy stuff.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. MORRIS: I'm trying to cross him here.

MR. MCENTIRE: Your Honor, with all due respect, he's making it very difficult because he's being very aggressive --

MR. MORRIS: Nah.

MR. MCENTIRE: -- and he's interrupting the witness.

MR. MORRIS: I would never.

THE COURT: Okay. I don't feel the need to do that right now, but I will -- I will consider your request.

THE WITNESS: Can I give a complete answer to his last question, or one that I'd like to be my answer on the record?

THE COURT: Go ahead.

THE WITNESS: The governing responsibility as a registered investment advisor is you're not allowed to buy back from investors fund interests or investments unless you offer it to everybody else, in writing, in that fund first.

That's the Investment Advisers Act as I understand it, and that is what was improper in the HarbourVest transaction. I mean, besides the fact that the pricing was wrong, they misled HarbourVest. And I know HarbourVest hasn't complained, but just because your investors don't complain doesn't mean you can rip them off.

MR. MORRIS: I'd really move to strike the entirety of the answer, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Granted.

BY MR. MORRIS:

Q Mr. Dondero, HC --

A I'm not going to -- I'm not answering any more questions unless I can answer that question with that answer, --

Q Mr. Dondero, do you --

A -- because I believe it's responsive.

Q Do you remember that CLO Holdco withdrew their objection?

A I --

Q To the HarbourVest settlement?

A I don't remember.

Q Do you remember that's really when Grant Scott left the scene?

A I don't --

Q He thought it was inappropriate for them to withdraw, right?

A I don't remember all the details. I know they made some mistakes, and there's a tolling agreement against Kane's (phonetic) firm for making mistakes, and, you know, whatever. But I -- I don't remember all the details.

Q And a couple of months later, you conspired with Mr. Patrick to try to sue Mr. Seery in order to try to get that very same interest in HCLOF, right?

MR. MCENTIRE: Your Honor, I have to object. There's no foundation and it's also highly argumentative and I move to object. That's a -- that's a question asked in bad faith.

THE WITNESS: I deny any conspiring.

MR. MORRIS: Okay.

THE COURT: Sustained.

BY MR. MORRIS:

Q In April, Mr. Patrick filed a lawsuit on behalf of CLO Holdco a couple of weeks after getting appointed as the head of CLO Holdco and the DAF about the HarbourVest settlement. Isn't that right?

A I believe so.

Q Okay. And you worked with him on that, right?

A I -- I did not work with him on that. I was very just tangentially aware.

Q Okay.

MR. MORRIS: I'm just going to refer the Court -- I'm going to move for the admission into evidence of the second contempt order.

THE COURT: Exhibit what?

MR. MORRIS: Just one moment, Your Honor.

(Pause.)

MR. MORRIS: You know what, I don't know that I have it on the list. I'm just going to ask the Court to take judicial notice. We had a hearing two years ago to this day, and the Court found in the order that it entered at the conclusion of that hearing that Mr. Patrick had abdicated his responsibility to Mr. Seery. It's one of the reasons why Mr. Seery wasn't held in contempt of Court. And I'd like -- I'd like Counsel to address it now.

MR. MCENTIRE: Yeah, I'll -- you said Seery, didn't you?

MR. MORRIS: Oh, sorry. I said Seery. I meant Dondero.

MR. MCENTIRE: (faintly) Also, I believe it's entirely irrelevant. Judicial -- taking judicial --

THE COURT: Would you speak in the microphone, please?

MR. MCENTIRE: I'm sorry. Taking judicial notice of something that is utterly irrelevant is not necessary, not appropriate. What this Court did two years ago roughly to the day -- and I assume he's correct -- has no bearing on anything before the Court today. Nothing. This has zero connection, nexus, under any analysis, any fair scrutiny, dealing with the colorability of the claim that Hunter Mountain, who was not involved in those proceedings, is trying to advance here. And it would be -- it would be improper for this Court to even take it under judicial notice.

THE COURT: Okay. Response?

MR. MORRIS: Can I respond?

THE COURT: Uh-huh.

MR. MORRIS: Okay. So, Your Honor, I'm going to move for the introduction into evidence of Exhibit 45. It is the Charitable DAF complaint that was filed in the federal district court on April 12, 2021, under the direction of Mark Patrick, who today stands here as the representative of Hunter Mountain.

This was the complaint, if Your Honor will recall, that they tried to amend and we had a hearing here about the circumstances, because that amendment was going to name Mr. Seery personally, in violation of the gatekeeper order. Right?

THE COURT: Uh-huh.

MR. MORRIS: And so it is all tied together. If you go to Paragraph 77 of this exhibit, it says, HCLOF holds equity in MGM Studio. This is the exact same transaction, right? So, so Mr. Dondero says, I gave Mr. Seery inside information, he violated all of these things in the HarbourVest transaction, even though he didn't say a word then, and here, while it's still on the restricted list, before the Amazon deal is announced, they're actually in court saying that they should be entitled to acquire that same asset that Mr. Seery supposedly acquired improperly. He wants it for himself.

I mean, are you kidding me? It's not relevant?

THE COURT: I overrule the relevance objection. It's admitted.

MR. MORRIS: Thank you. And 45 is admitted, Your Honor?

THE COURT: 45 is admitted.

MR. MORRIS: Okay.

(Debtors' Exhibit 45 is received into evidence.)

MR. MCENTIRE: Just, Your Honor, I was identifying my objection in connection with his original request that you take something under --

THE COURT: Would you speak in the microphone? Again, we --

MR. MCENTIRE: Yes. My original objection was addressing his request of you, Your Honor, to take something under judicial notice. I want to make sure my objection is also lodged with regard to Exhibit 45, which I understand you've overruled.

THE COURT: Correct.

MR. MCENTIRE: Okay.

THE COURT: It is so noted.

MR. MORRIS: Okay.

THE COURT: You've objected and I've admitted it.

MR. MORRIS: And I think I've said this already, but the reason that we're requesting the Court take judicial notice of its order on the second contempt proceeding is because it shows that Mr. Dondero and Mr. Patrick worked together, in violation of the gatekeeper, to try to suit Mr. Seery to obtain the interest in HCLOF that he is sitting here today saying somehow that Mr. Seery wrongfully acquired, even though he didn't say a word at the time.

THE COURT: Okay. So now we're talking about not Exhibit 45 --

MR. MORRIS: Yes.

THE COURT: -- but the order that was entered --

MR. MORRIS: Correct.

THE COURT: -- regarding the filing of Exhibit 45?

MR. MORRIS: Exactly.

THE COURT: Someone is going to need to give me a docket entry number before we're done here.

MR. MORRIS: Okay.

THE COURT: I can and will take judicial notice of that, but I need to have it --

MR. MCENTIRE: So I assume, for the record, my objection is overruled?

THE COURT: Your objection is overruled.

MR. MCENTIRE: Thank you.

MR. MORRIS: All right.

BY MR. MORRIS:

Q You mentioned something about, I think, was it NXDT or NHF?

A Yes.

Q And just let me see if I can do it this way. Right? So there used to be a fund known as the NexPoint Strategic Opportunities Fund, right?

A Yes.

Q Okay. And in 2020 that was a closed-in fund. Correct?

A Yes.

Q And it traded under the ticker symbol NHF, correct?

A Yes.

Q And then late in 2021 the name of the fund was changed to NexPoint Diversified Real Estate Trust, correct?

A Yes.

Q And the ticker symbol changed from NHF to NXDT, correct?

A Yes.

Q And then it became a REIT the following year, right?

A Yes.

Q And I'm just going to refer to these letters as the Fund; is that fair?

A That's fine.

Q For purposes of these questions. And you were the Fund's portfolio manager, the president, the principal executive officer, correct?
A Yes.
Q And another entity that you controlled, NexPoint Advisors, provided advisory services to the Fund, correct?
A Yes.
Q And you controlled NexPoint Advisors at all times, correct?
A Yes.
Q Okay. And the Fund was publicly traded, right?
A Yes.
Q And the Fund owned shares of MGM at the end of 19 -- at the end of 2020, correct?
A Yes.
Q In fact, as of December 2020, MGM was one of the Fund's ten largest holdings, with -- valued at over $25 million. Isn't that right?
A Yes.
Q And by the end of 2021, MGM was the Fund's fifth largest holding, with assets -- with a value of over $40 million. Correct?
A Yes.
Q And the Fund also held MGM common stock indirectly; isn't that right?

A Yes.
Q In fact, when the Amazon deal closed at the -- in March of 2022, the Fund issued a press release disclosing that it stood to receive over $125 million on the MGM shares that it held directly and indirectly. Correct?
A We issued several press releases. I don't remember --
Q Okay. Do you remember that, that as a result of the MGM sale, the Fund was expected to receive approximately $126 million?
A Yes.
Q Okay.
A Roughly.
Q All right. In October 2020, just a few weeks before you sent your email, the Fund announced the commencement of a tender offer to acquire outstanding shares at a certain price. Correct?
A Yeah, I believe so.
Q And you authorized that, right?
A Yes.
Q And when a fund acquires shares and then retires them, the shareholders who did not tender consequently own a larger percentage of the fund than they did before the tender, correct?
A Yes.
Q Okay. And the tender was completed in January, in the first week of January 2001 [sic], correct?

A I don't remember when it was complete.
Q It started at the end of October 2020, and it ended sometime in January '21. Is that fair?
A Okay. I don't remember. Okay.
Q Do you want me to refresh your recollection?
A I'm just saying I don't remember.
Q Yeah, okay.
A I'm not dis...
Q Okay.
A -- denying it. I just don't remember the exact dates.
(Discussion.)
MR. MORRIS: Your Honor, can I mark for identification purposes Plaintiffs' Exhibit -- I'm just going to call it 100, to see if it refreshes the witness's recollection?
THE COURT: You may mark it.
MR. MORRIS: Okay.
THE COURT: We'll see where it goes from there.
(Debtors' Exhibit 100 is marked for identification.)
BY MR. MORRIS:
Q So, I've put --
MR. MCENTIRE: Hold it. Your Honor, I think we're now marking exhibits that we haven't put on an exhibit list.
MR. MORRIS: I'm trying to refresh his recollection.

MR. MCENTIRE: Okay.

MR. MORRIS: Yeah.

MR. MCENTIRE: Well, --

THE COURT: Yes.

MR. MORRIS: Okay? I haven't offered it in -- I haven't offered it --

THE COURT: I've not admitted -- I don't know what it is. I haven't admitted it yet. I'm waiting.

MR. MORRIS: I haven't offered it into evidence. He said he doesn't remember, --

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. MORRIS: -- I've got an SEC document here, and I'm going to try and refresh his recollection.

THE COURT: Okay.

BY MR. MORRIS:

Q You're familiar with these forms, right?

A Generally.

Q In fact, in fact, you sign them in your capacity as the fund portfolio manager, right? Your signature is put on it, anyway?

A Generally.

Q Yeah. And do you see that this is the Form N-CSR that was filed with the SEC at the end of 2001 [sic] on behalf of NexPoint Diversified Real Estate Trust?

A Yes.

Q Okay. So if you just turn to Page 16. And the numbers are kind of at the bottom in the middle of the page. You'll see the notes to the consolidated financial statements.

A Yes.

Q Okay. And Note 1 discusses the organization. Do you see that?

A Yes.

Q And at the bottom of the left-hand column, it says, On January 8, 2021, the company announced the final result of its exchange offer pursuant to which the company purchased the company's outstanding -- the company's common shares in exchange for certain consideration.

Do you see that?

A Yes.

Q That's a reference to the tender offer that you authorized at the end of October, correct?

A Yes.

Q And then at the bottom it says, The company share -- company -- excuse me. I strike that. It says, quote, The common shares at a price of $12 per common share, for an aggregate purchase price of approximately $125 -- $105 million. Upon retirement of the repurchased shares, the net asset value was $152 million, or $17.41 million.

Do you see that?

A Yes.

Q Does that refresh your recollection that the tender offer was completed at the beginning of January?
A Yes.
Q And that's with all of the MGM stock that the Fund still owned at that time, right?
A Yeah. We -- we didn't -- we didn't violate --
Q You didn't --
A We didn't -- we didn't violate like Seery did. We didn't sell any shares or buy shares.
Q Okay.
MR. MORRIS: I'm going to move to strike that, Your Honor.
THE COURT: So granted.
MR. MCENTIRE: Well, Your Honor, I've actually got a response to his motion to strike. This entire inquiry is irrelevant.
MR. MORRIS: Not --
MR. MCENTIRE: This has no relevance at all in connection with the allegations that we're making in this case.
THE COURT: Your response?
MR. MORRIS: My response, Your Honor, if you ask me -- let me just get a few more questions. He personally owned shares in the Fund. The Fund owned shares in MGM. And notwithstanding the restricted material, this is the insider, and he is benefiting from himself through the Fund's repurchase of these shares in the tender offer, and he went and he had substantial holdings. I'll get to that in a minute.

So he is actually doing something worse than what Mr. Seery -- what he accuses Mr. Seery of, because he's buying shares for his own personal benefit. Right? He's the insider. Right? And the Fund owns the shares directly. There's never going to be an allegation that HCLOF ever owned any MGM stock. Never.

THE COURT: Okay. I'm going to allow this. Obviously, on redirect, you can further question on this --

MR. MCENTIRE: Well, --

THE COURT: -- to --

MR. MCENTIRE: Well, first of all, his suggestions and his accusations are purely argumentative.

THE COURT: Would you please speak in the microphone? We --

MR. MCENTIRE: Well, he's standing in the way, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Well, --

MR. MCENTIRE: It's irrelevant.

THE COURT: There are two. There's room for both of you.

Continue. Go ahead.

MR. MCENTIRE: It's entirely irrelevant, and it's argumentative.

THE COURT: Okay. Overruled. You can continue.

BY MR. MORRIS:

Q You did own an awful lot of the Fund's shares, didn't you?

A I owned some.

Q You owned some? You owned millions, right?

A Yes.

Q Okay. And as a result of the tender, you owned a greater interest of the Fund, right?

A Yes.

Q And therefore you owned a greater number -- a greater portion of the MGM stock, the $125 million of MGM stock that was owned directly and indirectly by the Fund, correct?

A You do know insiders weren't permitted to participate in the tender, which would have kept my percentage the same.

Q Sir, you benefitted -- you didn't stop the tender, right? You didn't say, now I know what's going to happen, I should stop it? You benefitted from the tender. Can we just agree on that?

A I did everything I was supposed to do, notifying Compliance. If they thought it was material, they would have -- it was in their hands once I notified Compliance of the material --

Q Okay.

A -- nonpublic information.
Q I appreciate that. I just want --
A It wasn't my responsibility to do Compliance's job to call you or call --
Q Okay.
A -- the SEC or call anybody else.
Q But you will agree that, even though you had material nonpublic inside information, you didn't take any steps to stop the tender, correct?
A The tender was for a relatively small amount of the stock. But I did -- I would -- it would not be my responsibility to change or adjust the tender --
Q Okay.
A -- or what was happening.
Q Okay. And then the last question is, you benefitted from the tender because the Fund repurchased shares, which increased your percentage ownership of the Fund, and therefore your percentage ownership of the MGM shares that were held directly and indirectly. Is that fair?
A Marginally, I guess. Yes.
Q Okay. From the -- from the millions of shares, you would describe it as marginal? Okay.

Let me move on. You've testified now that you spoke with representatives of Farallon in the late spring, I guess beginning on May 28th. Right?

A Yes.
Q And that was two days after the MGM deal was publicly announced, correct?
A Yes.
Q Okay. And had you ever communicated with Mr. Patel before that phone call?
A I don't believe so.
Q And then you spoke with Mr. Linn shortly after?
A Yes.
Q Had you ever spoken with Mr. Linn before that phone call with Mr. Linn?
A I don't believe so.
Q So these phone calls were the very first time that you ever spoke to either one of these gentlemen. Is that right?
A That I can remember.
Q Okay.
A If I ran into them at --
Q Uh-huh.
A -- a conference a decade ago, I don't know, but --
Q And they told you that they bought the shares in the February-March time frame, right?
A Yes.
Q And you have no reason to dispute that, correct?
A Correct.
Q Okay. And you didn't know how much they had paid for the claims as a result of these conversations, correct?

A They did not admit a price.
Q Okay. And it's your testimony that there wasn't sufficient information in the public for them to buy -- this is your view -- that there wasn't sufficient information in the public to justify their purchases. Is that your view?
A Correct.
Q And even though you didn't think there was sufficient information in the public, you were prepared to pay 30 percent more than they did, right?
A Yes.
Q And is that because you were 30 percent more irrational than them or because you had material nonpublic inside information?
MR. MCENTIRE: Objection. Argumentative, Your Honor.
THE COURT: Overruled.
THE WITNESS: Even at a 30 percent premium, it was less than I offered the UCC several months earlier, number one.
Number two, I was still under the illusion there was a desire to resolve the place, not burn it down. You know, there was -- all the original members were happy to sell at $150 million. It was a $500 or $600 million estate. There should be $400 or $500 million of residual value. It shouldn't all be going out the door to lawyers and others.

BY MR. MORRIS:

Q You were willing to pay 30 percent more for an unknown purchase price, 30 percent more of an unknown purchase price, at a moment that you didn't believe there was sufficient information to buy the claims, correct?

A You have a couple misstatements in there. The Grosvenor piece was public. The Grosvenor piece traded at $67 million. So we knew that piece trade at around 50 cents. We knew from people in the marketplace the other pieces were trading right around that level.

So I wasn't just offering 30 percent on any willy-nilly number, 130 percent of any willy-nilly number. I knew they had paid around 50, 60 cents. And so I was offering 30 percent more than that. Thirty percent more than $150 million, call it $200 million. I had offered $230 or $240 million to resolve the whole estate before the plan went effective, and I got no response from the original UCC members.

Q So why didn't you just try to settle the case with them? Why did you try to buy the claim? Why, if you had these new people, and your good intentions were to finally get to a settlement of the case, why didn't you say, hey, guys, how do we resolve the case? Why did you want to buy the claims at a 30 percent premium over what they paid with no knowledge and no diligence, according to you? Can you explain that to Judge

Jernigan?

A Because Seery told them to hold on, don't worry, they were going to make $270 million.

Q That doesn't answer my question. Why didn't you try -- you had new owners. Why didn't you try to settle with them?

A When someone owns an asset, buying their asset is settling with them. What claim does Farallon have against us? At that point, they had no claims against us.

Q It doesn't settle the case, does it?

A But if we owned all the claims, it would settle the case. Just like if Seery had objected to the claims trading that they were supposed to give written notice to the Court, he had enough cash on the balance sheet to buy and retire all the claims.

Q All right. Let's go back, I apologize, to that Exhibit 11. No, it's not Exhibit 11. I think it's their Exhibit 4, your notes.

MR. MORRIS: Your Honor, may I have -- just have one moment?

THE COURT: You may.

MR. MORRIS: Can you tell me how long I've been going? That's really my question.

THE CLERK: So, on cross, --

MR. MORRIS: Yeah.

THE CLERK: -- you've been going for 32 minutes.

MR. MORRIS: Okay. Trying to speed this up.

BY MR. MORRIS:

Q All right. So, do we have your handwritten notes, which are Exhibit 4, in this binder? Oh.

THE COURT: Do you want to put it up again on the screen?

MR. MORRIS: Ms. Canty, if you're listening and you can do that, that would be great. If not, --

(Discussion.)

MS. CANTY: One second, John.

MR. MORRIS: All right. He -- he's got it.

THE COURT: Okay.

BY MR. MORRIS:

Q Okay. So, I just -- I just want to make -- you know, follow up on a few questions I asked you earlier on voir dire. So, these are your notes, right, and you said you write down the important stuff. Correct?

A I write down, yeah, the stuff I thought I would need for the next call.

Q Okay. And, you know, again, just so we have it all in one spot, it doesn't say anything about MGM. Correct?

A It does not.

Q It doesn't say anything about a quid pro quo, correct?

A Quid pro? Uh, no, it does not.

Q It doesn't say anything at all about Mr. Seery's compensation, correct?

A It does not.
Q It doesn't say anything about the sharing of material nonpublic inside information, correct?
A When I told them discovery was coming, that was my response to I knew they had traded on material nonpublic information.
Q Okay. That -- you told them that?
A Yes.
Q Is that what you're saying now?
A Yes.
Q Oh, so that's what you told them? They didn't tell you that; that's what you told them?
A Yes.
Q And that's why you wanted discovery, right?
A I thought it would be a lot easier to get discovery on a situation like this than it has been for the last two years, yes.
Q Okay. Um, --
A In fact, I told them that it would be coming in the next few weeks. And this has been a couple years.
Q And that's exactly what you did, right?
A Well, we've been trying for two years to get --
Q Right.
A -- discovery in this.

Q Okay. So you filed your Texas 202, right?
A I don't know who filed what.
Q That was the one by Mr. Sbaiti that was filed under your name? Do you remember that?
A Generally.
Q Okay. Let's take a quick look at that document. It's #3 in our binder.
A Binder #3?
(Discussion.)
MR. MORRIS: Okay. I think #3 is in evidence, Your Honor.
THE WITNESS: Number 3 is in evidence.
THE COURT: Yes.
MR. MORRIS: Okay.
THE COURT: It is.
BY MR. MORRIS:
Q And if you can turn to the last page, Mr. Dondero. Page 8.
A Yes.
Q Okay. And that's your signature, right?
A Yes.
Q And you verified that this document was true and correct within the best of your personal knowledge, correct?
A Yes.
Q Did you read it before you signed it?

A Probably.
Q You don't recall doing that?
A Not at this moment.
Q And you may not have. Is that fair?
A No, I probably did. Do you have a question?
Q I'm just wondering if you signed it or not.
A I did sign it.
Q Okay. Good. So, can you go to Paragraph 21? Well, let's start at Paragraph 20. It says that Mr. Seery, quote, has an age-old connection to Farallon, and upon information and belief, advised Farallon to purchase the claims.

Do you see that?
A Yes.
Q And then the next paragraph you refer to the telephone call that you had with Michael Linn, right?
A Yes.
Q It doesn't refer to any phone call with Mr. Patel, correct?
A It does not.
Q And the only reason that you swore under oath you were told that Farallon purchased the claims was because of Farallon's, quote, prior dealings with Mr. Seery. Correct? In Paragraph 21, it says, Relying entirely on Mr. Seery's advice solely because of their prior dealings?
A Yes.

Q Okay. You didn't -- you didn't swear under oath at that time that you were told that they bought the claims because of MGM. Right?

A If you're asking if this is -- it seems like it's not complete, if that's what you're asking me.

Q I'm not asking you that. I'm asking you what -- I'm asking you to confirm that you swore under oath to the Texas state court, just weeks after you had these conversations, about what you were told concerning Farallon's purchase of the claims.

I'm focused on Paragraph 21. The only reason that you gave, that you told the Texas state court under oath, was that Farallon told you they bought their claims because of their prior dealings with Seery. Right?

A Yeah. And that's true. And that's consistent with what I've said.

Q Okay. You didn't say anything about MGM, correct?

A Correct.

Q You didn't say anything about a quid pro quo, correct?

A Correct.

Q You didn't say anything about Mr. Seery's compensation. Correct?

A I did not.

Q You didn't say anything about the sharing of material nonpublic inside information, correct?

A Different document, different purposes.
Q Well, but that's now two documents. You have your notes and you had this document, neither one of which say any of those things. Fair?
A Different documents, different purposes. I don't know if that's --
Q Is it fair that neither one of those documents say any of those things?
A It's fair that they don't all match.
Q Okay. Okay. Well, that's a fair statement. Let's go to the next one. Do you remember the next year you filed an amended petition?
A What tab?
Q That's -- I appreciate that. It's Tab 4. Do you see at the last page you've again signed a verification?
A Yep.
Q And do you see this one's filed with the Texas state court on May 2, 2022?
A Yes.
Q And you swore under oath that this statement was complete, true, and accurate to the best of your knowledge, correct?
A Yes.
Q Okay. Can you go to Page 5, please?
A Yes.
Q Directing your attention to Paragraph 23, do you see where you say now that Farallon was relying, quote, on Mr. Seery's say-so because they had made so much money in the past when Mr. Seery told them to purchase claims.

Do you see that?

A Yes.

Q Again, you don't say anything about MGM, correct?

A Correct.

Q Again, you don't say anything about material nonpublic inside information, correct?

A Well, on 24 it does. Right? Mr. Seery had inside information on the price and value of claims. So, you've got to look at all of the bullet points.

Q But that's not the paragraph where you're talking -- that's -- it says, in other words. That's not the paragraph where you're describing your conversation with Farallon. That's your interpretation of it, correct, just as you just said?

A (no immediate response)

Q You told -- I'm sorry. I should let you finish the answer. That's your interpretation of it, correct?

A Well, I'm reading all the bullets in aggregate, and it's -- it's a picture of material information shared by Seery, not just MGM or one particular investment, but on all the other assets that aren't detailed in any of the public filings, also.

Q The only -- the only point I want to make, I think we can agree on this --
A Okay.
Q -- is that you believed that Mr. Seery gave them material nonpublic inside information. Farallon never told you that. Isn't that true? That's why you wanted discovery?
A They said they relied on him and did no diligence of their own. They were very express -- explicit about that.
Q Okay. Can you answer my question now?
A Which -- I thought -- that does, --
Q You concluded --
A -- yes.
Q -- that Mr. Seery gave them material nonpublic inside information. They never told you that. Fair?
A They said they relied on -- solely on Seery, didn't buy it for any other reason, and they did no due diligence of their own.
Q Okay. Let's go to the next one. Now, the no-due-diligence part, that's not in any version we've seen, right? That's something that you just --
A No, no, --
Q -- that you're just testifying to now? That's not in your notes, it's not in Version 1, and it's not in this version, correct?
A Well, let's go back to the Linn one, because when I was going back and forth and he wouldn't give a price, he kept saying, Seery told us it's worth a lot more. And I kept saying, you've got to look at the burn, you've got to look at the professionals. And --

Q Okay.

A -- that's --

Q Shortly after this, you filed yet another declaration, right?

A Yes.

Q Uh-huh. Can you turn to #5? And this is another version of your recollection of what you were told, correct? In Paragraph 2?

A These are all -- I don't know why you're saying they're different. They're all the same. They're just slightly different verbiage. What's the major difference between any of them?

Q I'll ask, I'll ask you the question. The question is, you had never written in any of the prior versions that they didn't do any due diligence; isn't that right? You never -- you never talked about their due diligence in any prior version, correct?

A It's all -- it's all the same version. I don't -- some versions --

Q Can you answer my question?

A I don't know. I don't know --

Q Which --

A -- which ones included which -- I don't --

Q We've just looked at them. Do you want to look at them again?

A I just looked at one page in the other one and it was five pages. I just looked at the one page and I found two or three things --

Q Your notes --

A -- it didn't include, but --

MR. MORRIS: You know what. I don't want to argue. They say what they say, Your Honor, and I would ask the Court to look carefully at our objection to the motion because we lay all of this out.

Your Honor can -- here's the point, because I do want to finish up right now. There are five different versions of this conversation. They're laid out in the brief. And the question that you have to ask yourself, Your Honor, is, if you allow this case to go forward, how do they make a colorable claim when the story keeps changing?

And I'll just leave it at that, because, you know, the last version says MGM for the first time. Like, it comes out of nowhere. This -- his notes don't say it, he hasn't testified that that's what he was told, but somehow that's in his sworn statement.

So I'm just going to rest on the papers, because this is

-- I don't want to be argumentative.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. MCENTIRE: Well, I'll object to the argument of counsel. He's just doing another opening statement here, and it's inappropriate and not proper.

THE COURT: Okay. I agree. This is Q and A.

MR. MORRIS: Okay.

THE COURT: So, --

BY MR. MORRIS:

Q Do you know -- do you have any knowledge or information as to how Mr. Seery's compensation was established?

A Uh, --

Q Withdrawn. I'm talking now not in his capacity as an independent director or the CEO of the Debtor. I'm only talking about in his capacity as the CEO of the Reorganized Debtor and the Claimant Trustee. Do you have any personal knowledge as to how his compensation was established?

A The knowledge I have is that the Claimant Trust gives full latitude to change it at almost any time they want. Add more to it, add more than that we've seen, double it in the future if reserves are reversed. It can do anything it wants. And I guess we've seen some redacted partial statements of his compensation, but that's all I know.

Q Okay. You have no knowledge about how Mr. Seery's compensation package was determined, correct?

A I was not involved.

Q Okay. You've never -- I'll just leave it at that.

MR. MORRIS: I have nothing further, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Okay. Pass the witness. I'm sorry, I guess I should ask, do any of the other responding parties have examination?

MR. STANCIL: No, Your Honor.

THE COURT: No? Okay. Redirect?

MR. MCENTIRE: Just very briefly, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. MCENTIRE: Thank you, Your Honor.

REDIRECT EXAMINATION

BY MR. MCENTIRE:

Q Mr. Dondero, you remember the questions about Judge Jernigan walking into the courtroom on June 8 two years ago saying, MGM is sold, maybe we can settle this case? Do you recall those questions?

A Yes.

Q And do you remember Mr. Morris's dramatic suggestion that, well, how did Judge Jernigan know, or to that effect?

A Yes.

Q Well, that had already been announced, had it not, publicly?

A Yes.

Q Several weeks before?

A Yes.
Q I'd like to direct your attention -- do you still have Exhibit 4 that he handed you? Do you have Exhibit 4 there?
A Uh, --
Q His exhibit?
A Is that the notes?
Q No, it's -- Exhibit 4 is the verified amended petition to take deposition before suit -- take -- in the state court. To -- deposition.
A You've got to give me more of a clue. I'm sorry. There's like six binders.
MR. MCENTIRE: Mr. Morris, can you show us where the exhibit --
MR. MORRIS: Sure. Which one is it?
MR. MCENTIRE: It's Exhibit 4. I'm going to talk to him about Exhibit 4 (inaudible) that you've have used with this witness.
BY MR. MCENTIRE:
Q I assume -- Mr. Dondero, were you assuming from the tone and the substantive content of his questions that Mr. Morris is suggesting that your notes are not reliable?
A He was trying to make it seem like the versions were different. They were all 90 percent the same. Different -- it seemed like different emphasis for different purposes. And then you have to remember we learned more about Farallon and Stonehill over time. Like, in the beginning, when I had -- when I -- we didn't even know Stonehill was involved when I --

Q Sure.

A -- first talked to -- when --

Q Well, he made the big suggestion about you never talked about due diligence before. Turn to Exhibit 4, Paragraph 23, which he did not address with you. Can you turn to Paragraph 23 of Exhibit 4? Mr. Morris omitted to refer you to this particular paragraph.

A 23? Go ahead.

Q Would you read it into the record?

A (reading) On a telephone call between Petitioner and Michael Linn, a representative of Farallon, Michael Linn informed the Petitioner Farallon had purchased the claim sight-unseen and with no due diligence, a hundred percent relying on Mr. Seery's say-so, because they had made so much in the past with Mr. -- when Mr. Seery had (overspoken).

Q Now, since you've an opportunity to see other paragraphs and other -- that he was otherwise not selecting, you did refer to the -- to what Mr. Linn had told you about in May of 2021?

A Yes. I've been very consistent. Listen, I believe Farallon tapes all their conversations. So, eventually, as this goes further, I purposefully --

Q Well, let's --

MR. MORRIS: I move to strike, Your Honor.

THE WITNESS: Okay.

THE COURT: Sustained.

BY MR. MCENTIRE:

Q He also did not direct your attention or the Court's attention to Paragraph 27 of Exhibit 4, selecting -- presumably strategically selecting not to refer to that paragraph. Do you see Paragraph 27?

A Yes.

Q Could you read that into the record, please?

A (reading) However, Mr. Seery is privy to material nonpublic information, inside information of many of the securities that Highland deals in, as well as the funds that Mr. Seery manages through Highland. One of these assets was a publicly-traded security that Highland was an insider of, and therefore should not have traded, whether directly or indirectly, given its possession of insider information.

Q Isn't that paragraph just basically addressing MGM?

A Yeah, that's the only major position we had that that would apply to.

Q So the suggestion that you're just making this MGM stuff up is not true. It's consistent with what you've (inaudible) in other courts as well, correct?

A Yes. I believe it's disingenuous to say that there's different versions of my story.

Q Well, let's continue with Mr. Morris's strategy. Go to Exhibit 3, please. Mr. Morris suggested that there's no reference at all in any of these prior pleadings about Mr. Seery's excess conversation. Do you recall that series of questions?

A Yes. Or his statements, yes.

Q Yes. And he did not direct your --

MR. MORRIS: I move to strike. I asked him if he had any knowledge of the man's compensation package. That's what I asked him.

MR. MCENTIRE: No, sir. Your Honor, that's not what he asked him. That was one of the questions he asked. The other question was, there's nothing in here about compensation. That's what I'd like to address now.

MR. MORRIS: Oh, go right ahead.

THE COURT: Okay.

BY MR. MCENTIRE:

Q Directing your attention --

THE COURT: You can ask. I'd have to go back and check the record whether you had that second question you mentioned. I remember questions about does he have knowledge of Seery's compensation. I just can't remember if he asked, --

MR. MCENTIRE: Fair enough.

THE COURT: -- were there references to it in the --

MR. MCENTIRE: Well, --

THE COURT: -- prior pleadings.

MR. MCENTIRE: -- for the record, we'll make it clear that there is a reference.

BY MR. MCENTIRE:

Q If I could direct your attention to Paragraph 23, Exhibit -- as to --

MR. MORRIS: What exhibit is it?

MR. MCENTIRE: It's Exhibit 3.

MR. MORRIS: Hold on one second.

MS. MUSGRAVE: Your exhibit.

THE COURT: Highland's Exhibit 3.

MR. MORRIS: Give me a moment.

THE COURT: Page what?

MR. MCENTIRE: It's Paragraph 22 on Page 5.

THE WITNESS: I'm sorry. My Exhibit 3?

BY MR. MCENTIRE:

Q Could you read for me, please, Mr. --

MR. MORRIS: Hold on one second. It's my Exhibit 3 or your exhibit?

MR. MCENTIRE: It's your exhibit. This is Hunter Mountain's binder.

MR. MORRIS: Ah, I apologize.

MR. MCENTIRE: You were just using it.

MR. MORRIS: Okay. All right. Go ahead. What paragraph were you?

BY MR. MCENTIRE:

Q I'd direct your attention, Mr. Dondero, to Paragraph 22.

MR. MORRIS: Yeah.

BY MR. MCENTIRE:

Q Would you read -- would you read Paragraph 22 into the record, please?

A (reading) Mr. Seery had much to gain by brokering a sale of the claim suggested to Muck, mainly his knowledge that Farallon as a friendly investor would allow him to remain as Highland's CEO with virtually unfettered discretion to administer Highland. In addition, Mr. Seery's written compensation package incentivized him to continue the bankruptcy for as long as possible.

Q There was also a series of questions to you about a transaction involving NexPoint -- NexPoint Diversified Real Estate Trust. Do you recall those questions?

A Yeah. Let's talk about that.

Q All right. Tell me what the transaction was.

A I'm sorry. The tender that he was asking about or --

Q Yes, the tender.

A There was -- investors wanted some shares retired, and we didn't have enough cash on the balance sheets. So we tendered in the form of giving them Preferred, which was like equity but a better dividend or a more secured dividend, and 20 percent cash. And then insiders weren't allowed to participate. But the whole tender was only for eight or ten percent of the nominal amount outstanding. And again, you've got a package of securities, so you didn't get any -- you didn't cash. And although it reduced the share count, it also increased the Preferred or the claims against the company. So it was marginally accretive, I guess.

Q All right.

A But, again, as far as inside information is concerned, Compliance is a separate party organization that reports up to the SEC. Has a dotted line to me. Reports to the SEC. They make sure everything we do is compliant.

Q Mr. Dondero, --

A Yeah. Can --

Q -- you didn't participate in the transaction, did you?

A No. Insiders weren't allowed to participate in the transaction.

MR. MCENTIRE: Reserve the rest of my questions, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Any recross?

RECROSS-EXAMINATION

BY MR. MORRIS:

Q The reference to the compensation that we just looked at, that was your own personal view, not something that anybody from Farallon ever told you, correct? You can go back and look.

A Yeah, that --
Q I mean, it's not a trick question.
A Yeah, that was my pleading.
Q Okay. And that was your own speculation, if you will? It had nothing to do with anything Farallon ever told you, correct?
A I never discussed Seery's compensation with Farallon.
Q Okay. Thank you, sir, very much. Just one last question. The price of the tender --
A Yes.
Q -- was based in part on the value of the MGM stock, correct?
A The tender was based on market price --
Q And --
A -- of where the closed-in fund was trading. It was trading at a discount. And the discount to NAV, the NAV included MGM accurately marked at whatever time.
Q I appreciate that.
MR. MORRIS: No further questions, Your Honor.
THE COURT: All right. Mr. Dondero, that concludes your testimony.
THE WITNESS: Thank you.
THE COURT: You are excused from the witness box.
(The witness steps down.)

THE COURT: We probably should take a break, right?

MR. MORRIS: Okay.

THE COURT: Caroline, do you want to give them the aggregate time used?

THE CLERK: Yes. The Defendants used 91 minutes right now. And the Respondents together, 86 minutes.

THE COURT: Okay. I thought it was going to be higher than that.

(Laughter.)

MR. MCENTIRE: That's what it feels like.

MR. MORRIS: You were wishing.

THE COURT: I was wishing. Okay. A ten-minute break.

THE CLERK: All rise.

(A recess ensued from 3:17 p.m. until 3:28 p.m.)

THE CLERK: All rise.

THE COURT: All right. Please be seated. We're back on the record in the Highland matter. Mr. McEntire, you may call your next witness.

MR. MCENTIRE: Your Honor, Hunter Mountain would call Mr. Seery adversely.

MR. STANCIL: Your Honor, we're waiting for Mr. Morris for just 60 more seconds. I think he's on his way back to the courtroom.

THE COURT: Okay. I just noticed.

Did I hear you say you're going to call him virtually?

MR. MCENTIRE: Adversely.

THE COURT: Oh, adversely? Okay. I'm so used to hearing the word "virtually" the past few years.

Oh, and there he is. Okay.

MR. SEERY: I'm sorry, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Mr. Seery, welcome.

MR. SEERY: Good afternoon, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Please raise your right hand.

(The witness is sworn.)

THE WITNESS: I do.

THE COURT: All right. You may be seated.

JAMES P. SEERY, JR., HUNTER MOUNTAIN INVESTMENT TRUST'S ADVERSE WITNESS, SWORN

DIRECT EXAMINATION

BY MR. MCENTIRE:

Q Mr. Seery, would you please state your full name for the record?

A James P. Seery, Jr.

Q And you and I met for the first time I believe it was last Friday in your deposition; is that correct?

A You were by video.

Q I mean, --

A We didn't actually meet.

Q Correct. You are currently the CEO of the Reorganized

Debtor?
A That's correct.
Q Prior to your appointment as the CEO of the Reorganized Debtor, you've never served as a CEO of a reorganized debtor in the past, have you?
A I have not.
Q You previously served as the chief executive officer of Highland Capital as a Debtor-In-Possession. Is that correct?
A That's correct.
Q And that was the first time you'd ever served in a position such as that; is that correct?
A As the CEO of a debtor, yes.
Q Right. You also now currently serve as a Trustee for the Highland Claimant Trust, which was put into effect after the effective date of the plan, correct?
A Yes, I'm the Claimant Trustee.
Q All right. That's the first time --
THE COURT: Mr. McEntire, we usually require standing at the podium. I mean, do you need --
MR. MCENTIRE: That's fine. I'm totally fine.
THE COURT: Okay. That's --
MR. MCENTIRE: I forgot.
THE COURT: Okay. Thank you.
BY MR. MCENTIRE:
Q That was -- and your capacity as the Trustee for the Claimant Trust, that's a first experience as well, correct?

A As the Claimant Trustee, yes.
Q All right. And in these various capacities as a CEO of the Reorganized Debtor, do you consider yourself to be subject to the Investment Advisers Act?
A No, I don't I'm subject to the Investment Advisers Act. I think Highland in certain capacities could be.
Q All right. But do you have any duties that -- that you are required to fulfill under the Investment Advisers Act accordingly?
A Do I?
Q Yes.
A I believe Highland does. I don't know that I have any personal duties.
Q All right, sir. Let me now talk a little bit about your duties that you did have at Highland. You agree that when you were at Highland you had fiduciary duties that you owed to the estate?
A Yes.
Q What were those duties?
A To generally treat the estate on an honest and fair matter.
Q Avoid conflicts of interest?
A Yes.
Q Not self-deal?

A Yes.
Q Do you agree with me that you would have a duty not to trade on material inside -- material nonpublic information?
A Generally, I would have a duty to not trade on material nonpublic information, yes.
Q Can you think of an exception?
A There may be. I just don't think of any one off the top of my head.
Q So, today, you would agree, for purposes of these proceedings, that you would have an obligation as the CEO of the Debtor-In-Possession not to participate in a transaction involving material nonpublic information? Agreed?
A It would depend. So, for example, if I was trading with someone else who had material nonpublic information, that might be a permissible transaction.
Q The HarbourVest transaction, you were involved in negotiating the HarbourVest settlement?
A Yes, I was.
Q Did that involve any component related to MGM stock?
A No, it did not.
Q There was no involvement at all concerning the transfer of MGM stock to any entity as a result of that transaction?
A None whatsoever.
Q Okay. And does HCLOF not have a participation at this time in MGM stock?

A We call it H-C-L-O-F.
Q Yes.
A It does not own MGM stock, and as I far as I know, never owned MGM stock.
Q Okay. You agree you received an email from Mr. Dondero in December of 2020. We've had it here before. You've seen it in the courtroom, correct?
A Yes.
Q Okay. Did you ever send -- forward that email to anyone else?
A I'm sorry. Could you repeat that?
Q Did you forward that email on to anyone else?
A I believe I did, yes.
Q To whom?
A I certainly discussed it with counsel. I believe I forwarded it to counsel, both the Pachulski firm and the WilmerHale firm. Thomas Surgent had gotten it. He was on the email. And I also forwarded it, I believe -- certainly, discussed it -- with the other independent directors.
Q Okay. I'm not going to talk about your conversations with other lawyers in-house, okay, or your outside counsel. Did you take any steps yourself personally to make sure that MGM stock was placed on a restricted list at Highland Capital after you received that email?
A No. MGM was already on the restricted list at Highland Capital.

Q Okay. And is that because of Mr. Dondero's position on the board of MGM?

A It -- I believe that's the reason. It was on before I got to Highland.

Q Okay. And you agree, do you not, sir, that the email that you received from Mr. Dondero also contained material nonpublic information?

A I don't think so, no.

MR. MCENTIRE: Would you put up Exhibit -- our Exhibit 4, please?

MR. MORRIS: 4?

MR. MCENTIRE: 4.

BY MR. MCENTIRE:

Q Did H-C-L-O-F -- I'll refer to it as HCLOF, you refer to it as H-C-L-O-F -- did that -- did HCLOF own any funds that owned MGM stock?

A HCLOF had interest in certain Highland-managed CLOs that did own some.

Q As a result of the Highland settlement -- excuse me, the HarbourVest settlement, was there any impact on who owned some of those CLO funds?

A No.

Q Okay. How was the CLOs, the funds, handled, if at all, in the -- in the HarbourVest settlement?

A They didn't have any impact whatsoever on the HarbourVest settlement.

Q Looking at Exhibit 4 for a moment, please, did the interests, did the interests in -- HarbourVest's interests in any of those CLOs transfer?

A No, they did not.

Q Okay. And did HCLOF acquire any interest in any of those CLO's as a consequence of the HarbourVest settlement?

A No, it did not.

Q Looking at Exhibit 4. Excuse me, Exhibit 3 is what I meant to say. Exhibit 3.

THE COURT: Hunter Mountain Exhibit 3?

MR. MCENTIRE: Yes, ma'am.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. MCENTIRE: Yes, Your Honor. Excuse me.

BY MR. MCENTIRE:

Q This is the email that we were just referring to that you received, correct?

A Yes.

Q And you don't think -- you knew that Mr. Dondero was on the board of directors of MGM?

A Yes.

Q And he -- as a member of the board of directors, when you received this, you see where he indicated that it was probably a first-quarter event? Do you see that?

A I see what it says, yes.
Q Okay. And you did not think that that was material nonpublic information?
A No, I did not.
Q When he indicated that Amazon and Apple were actively diligencing -- are diligencing in the data room, both continue to express material interest, coming from a member of the board of directors of MGM, you did not think that was material nonpublic information?
A I did not, no.
Q You know the difference between a newspaper article or a media article that discusses rumors of a possible sale and the difference between that and a member of the board of directors saying that a sale is going to occur? You understand the difference between the two?
A Between the two things you just outlined?
Q Yes.
A Yes. One you said a sale is going to occur, and the other you said a media report. But it would depend on what's in the media report. Some media reports are pure speculation. Others have a lot of detail, and they clearly came from an inside source, and that's why the market moves on them.
Q Okay. So what you're suggesting to me, that there was some indication in the media press before you received this email suggesting that there was actually going to be a sale in the first quarter of 2021?

A I don't know if it had a first-quarter event in it, but certainly it was clear from the media reports and the actual quotes from Kevin Ulrich of Anchorage, who was the chairman at MGM, that a transaction had to take place very quickly. And in fact, the transaction did not take place in the first quarter.
Q Okay. So you -- when you received this particular email, you did not think that it was requiring any additional protection at -- in any way? Is that what you're suggesting to this Court?
A That the email required additional protection?
Q That you didn't take additional steps to make sure that it was maintained on the restricted list.
A It was already on the restricted list, so there was no change.
Q Was it --
A I --
MR. MORRIS: Hold on. Let him finish.
BY MR. MCENTIRE:
A I was suspicious when I got the email, but I didn't think I had to do anything else than the steps I told you I just took.
Q Yeah, I'm not asking whether you were suspicious or not. My question's a little bit different. You understand that MGM was taken off your restricted list in April of 2021?

A I understand that that's what you've recently shown me. I wasn't aware of that fact or I didn't have a recollection of that fact, but certainly April of 2021 would be beyond the first quarter. Mr. Dondero was not an employee, an affiliate, subject to a contractual relationship. He had no duty to Highland and Highland had no duty to him. And in fact, it was quite antagonistic by that time. So it would be appropriate to take MGM off the restricted list at the end of that time.
Q Well, hopefully you won't take this as argumentative, but I object as nonresponsive. That really wasn't my question. Okay? My question --
THE COURT: Sustained.
BY MR. MCENTIRE:
Q -- is a little bit different. As far as you were concerned, MGM was on the restricted list and stayed on the restricted list all the way until the public announcement in May of 2021?
A That's not true.
Q When did you first become aware it was taken off the restricted list?
A I didn't -- I wasn't aware that it had come off the restricted list. I would have assumed it would have been off the restricted list once Mr. Dondero had been severed from Highland.

Q I see. Now, Mr. Dondero has relayed a conversation that he had with Mr. Patel and Mr. Linn, suggesting that they were particularly optimistic about MGM based upon what you told them.

A I --

Q Let me finish. If that occurred, are you suggesting that that is a lie?

A Two things. One is I don't think he actually testified to that. I think he said he had a conversation with Mr. Patel. Then he had a different conversation with Mr. Linn, and a subsequent conversation with Mr. Linn. So the way he laid it out were multiple conversations.

Q Agreed.

A I don't -- I don't know which one you're talking about.

Q Mr. Dondero testified that Mr. Patel was particularly optimistic about the investment because of what he had learned from Mr. -- from you about MGM.

MR. MORRIS: I dispute that characterization. Why can't he just ask the question?

MR. MCENTIRE: That is my question. If that --

THE COURT: What is the question? I'm not sure I hear the question.

MR. MCENTIRE: I'm getting lost because I'm getting interrupted. I'll try to rephrase it again.

MR. MORRIS: It's my first objection.

MR. MCENTIRE: And I --

THE COURT: Go ahead.

MR. MCENTIRE: I'm just going to rephrase, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Just rephrase your question.

MR. MCENTIRE: Thank you.

BY MR. MCENTIRE:

Q Mr. Dondero has testified that Farallon advised him in May of 2021 that they were optimistic about MGM based upon what you told them. Assuming that to be the case, do you deny that happened?

A I do deny that happened. Because I can't -- I don't know what Farallon told him, but I never told Farallon anything. And a conversation on May 28th, after the May 26th announcement that MGM was going through, might make people optimistic that it could go through, but there was a very difficult FTC process that MGM would have to go through.

Q And I'm referring to that. If Farallon stated that they were optimistic about MGM based upon what you had told them, --

A That would not be true.

Q -- that would be false?

A That would not be true.

Q And is Mr. Dondero says that's what Farallon told them, that would also be false?

A That's correct.
Q So we have your statement, we have what may be Farallon's statement, and we have what Mr. Dondero believes may have been Farallon's statement, and you're saying the latter two are just not true?
A I didn't have a conversation with Farallon about MGM that -- that I recall --
Q Well, you're on the witness stand.
A -- virtually at any time.
Q You're on the witness stand.
A Oh, I'm aware of where I am sitting.
Q Yeah. Good. We've got that cleared up. Now, are you suggesting that -- that you may not specifically recall this conversation?
A No, I am not saying that at all. After May 26th, when the MGM announcement was made and it was public, I may have had conversations with a number of people about MGM.
Q Well, let's make sure the record is clear. Did you call Farallon on May 26th and say, hey, did you know that MGM just sold?
A No, I don't recall any such conversation, and I wouldn't have had to, since it was in the paper.
Q I'm not talking about what's in the paper. I'm talking about conversations between you and Farallon.
A Yeah. I don't recall having a conversation with Farallon on May 26th.

Q How about May 27th?

A Not that I recall, no.

Q How about May 28th?

A Not that I recall off the top of my head.

Q And we understand that that's the day that Mr. Dondero actually had his conversation that he's reported, at least, with Farallon. Do you recall that?

A That's what he claims, yes.

Q You were with a company called River -- you're a lawyer, correct?

A I am. I'm in retired status.

Q Okay. I wish I was.

A It's simply retiring your license and not having to take the CLE.

Q Understood. Now, you were with a company called River Birch?

A Yes.

Q And from River Birch, you went to Guggenheim Securities?

A That's correct.

Q At Guggenheim Securities, did you go to Farallon and meet with Mr. Patel in their offices in San Francisco?

A I believe we did, yes.

Q You call it a meet-and-greet?

A I do, yes.

Q That was in 2017?
A 2017, 2018. I'm not exactly sure when it was.
Q And one of the purposes of meet-and-greet is to solicit business or to see if a business opportunity -- see if it exists?
A That's not correct, no.
Q What is a meet-and-greet for, then?
A It's to meet the people at the fund and to greet the people at the fund. Introduce them to other people in your firm.
Q Just because it's going to be fun, or does it have a business angle to it?
A Oh, it hopefully will be fun, yes, but it's done in order to build a relationship over time. You're not in there soliciting business. If you do that, you won't do very well.
Q Okay. Fair enough. So you're there trying to develop a relationship with Farallon?
A Guggenheim was, yes.
Q And you were part of it?
A That's correct.
Q And what was your job at Guggenheim?
A I was co-head of credit.
Q Is that a fairly significant position at Guggenheim?
A Not really, no.
Q It's not significant at all?

A No.
Q All right.
A Which is why --
Q Well, you left --
A Which is why they don't have that business.
Q Okay. So is that why you left Guggenheim?
A It -- I did, yeah. It wasn't a good fit for either Guggenheim or for me, because it really wasn't something --
Q When did you --
A -- that they were set up to do.
Q -- leave Guggenheim?
A In 2019.
Q And then you went back to Farallon to meet with them again, did you not?
A I met with Farallon while I was in San Francisco with my wife.
Q Okay. Did you call ahead to arrange the meeting, or was it just a --
A I --
Q -- a blind call?
A I did call ahead, yes.
Q A cold call, I guess, is the word -- the phrase that they use. Okay. So -- and was that a meet-and-greet?
A That was again, yes.
Q Again, what were you trying to do? Develop a relationship with Farallon?

A I was trying to catch up with them after having met them previously. And that was just Raj Patel. And this one I also met Michael Linn.
Q Okay. What kind of business were you in when you met with them the second time?
A I wasn't doing anything.
Q What were you hoping to do?
A I was hoping to get back into the investing side of the business, from running a credit-type lending business at Guggenheim, which is what they tried to do and it didn't work out. And I wanted to get back to what I was doing more at River Birch, but I was looking at other opportunities, whatever came along.
Q Well, what were the different options that you were looking at?
A I was looking at potentially getting back into investing, joining potentially a restructuring firm, any options like that. I was not looking to become a lawyer again.
Q And why would meeting and greeting with Farallon fit in within that scenario, the strategic scenarios that you've just discussed?
A They're a giant hedge fund.
Q A giant hedge fund?
A Yes.

Q And so it would be good to have a relationship with a giant hedge fund, wouldn't it?
A And to know what their thinking of the markets, where the opportunity set might be, who they are dealing with and interacting with. Those are -- those are valuable things to know over time.
Q And --
A And you need to maintain those relationships in order to be --
Q Sure.
A -- part of any business.
Q Sure. These meet-and-greets can actually evolve and provide relationship benefits, correct?
A I don't -- I'm not sure what you mean by relationship benefits.
Q Sloppy words for -- on my part. They can evolve into something that is a meaningful relationship?
A They could over time, yes.
Q And we know that after you became the CEO of Highland Capital that you received a call from, was it Farallon, to congratulate you on your appointment?
A It was an email.
Q And that was in the summer of 2020, shortly after your meet-and-greet out in San Francisco?
A Your calendar's a bit off, but it was in June of 2020, so that would have been more than shortly after, but yes.

Q Okay. And who contacted you to congratulate you on your appointment?
A This was my appointment as an independent director. I had not yet been appointed as CEO or CRO. This was in June of 2020, and it was Michael Linn.
Q Michael Linn? Was it a telephone call?
A I think 30 seconds ago I said it was an email.
Q Fair enough. Do you still have that email?
A I do, yes.
Q Okay. He contacted you again, "he" being Michael Linn, he contacted you again in January of 2021, did he not?
A That's correct, yes.
Q He wanted to see if he could get involved somehow in the Highland bankruptcy?
A Well, he congratulated -- he didn't congratulate -- he wished me a happy new year, and he basically said it looks like you're -- again, he's following the case -- it looks like you're doing good work. Is there any way for us to get involved? We're interested in claims or buying assets.
Q Okay. And Stonehill. Now, you know the founder of Stonehill, do you not?
A No, I don't know him. I've met him several times.
Q Doesn't he come by and stop in and talk with you when you're in Stonehill's offices? And that's happened recently?

A Your use of the plural is incorrect, and you know that from the deposition. I was in Stonehill's office one time, and I was in a meeting with Mr. Stern. We ended up having a board meeting from Stonehill's office with the other participants on video, and Mr. Motulsky came in and said hello.

Q All right. And who's Mr. Motulsky?

A He's the founder of Stonehill.

Q I see. And did you know Mr. Motulsky before that?

A I'd interacted with Mr. Motulsky over the years at -- mostly at industry-type functions.

Q Okay. Now, Stonehill is also a hedge fund?

A Yes.

Q Are they different than Farallon in that regard, or similar?

A I don't know as much about what their business is. They certainly do a direct lending component, so I know that they -- they will do some direct lending, which I don't think is something Farallon really does. Farallon is much bigger, as I understand it, but I don't really know the size of Stonehill.

Q Okay.

A I know they're not a $50 billion fund like Farallon.

Q And do you know Mr. Stern at Farallon?

A I now know him, yes, because he was -- he's really the representative on the -- no, he's not the representative on the board, but he is the one who manages the Stonehill and Jessup positions for Stonehill.

Q Well, we know that after you were CEO of Highland, you also got a text message, correct, a text message from someone at Stonehill, correct?

A Mr. Stern sent me a text message reintroducing himself -- I don't know if it was re- or just introducing -- and sent me his email and asked me to contact him about the case. This was at the end of February/beginning of March 2021, after the confirmation order.

Q Okay. After the -- after the confirmation order?

A Yes.

Q I believe the confirmation order -- I may be wrong -- I thought it was like the 21st, 22nd, somewhere in there. Does that sound right to you?

A Yes.

Q Okay. So, shortly after confirmation, then, Farallon calls you to congratulate you and wants to see how they can get involved?

A No. There was no congratulations there. Shortly after the confirmation order, which I believe was at least a week to ten days after confirmation, I got the communication from Mr. Stern to try to connect about the case.

Q All right.

A He's at Stonehill, not Farallon.

Q Correct. Now, --
A You said Farallon.
Q I misspoke, then. Thank you for correcting me. Let's talk about -- you live in New York?
A I do.
Q You're involved with a charity called Team Rubicon?
A Yes.
Q And Team Rubicon is a -- is that a veterans-type charity?
A Yeah. It's a veteran-led organization, and what it does is connects veterans to disasters. And mostly in the U.S., but also all over. So if there's a flood, if there's a hurricane, if there's an earthquake, veterans who have been trained in -- by the military in ready response and really being able to handle themselves when things are bad are deployed to help the communities that are hit. So I think that Team Rubicon likes to think, you know, on your worst day they're your best friend.
Q So you're -- are you on the board?
A No, I'm not.
Q You're on the Host Committee?
A I was on the Host Committee last year, and I'll be on the Host Committee this year.
Q Okay. And you have charity events?
A We have a charity event, yes.
Q Okay. And the purpose of the charity event is to raise a bunch of money?

A That's correct.
Q Okay. Have you been successful in the past?
A I do my best. Team Rubicon is a big organization. It's done very well raising money. It doesn't have an endowment. The founder's theory was that if people give us money, we're supposed to spend it on helping other people. And so each year it has to raise more money.
Q And Stonehill has been -- has contributed to your charity?
A I believe Stonehill, one or two years, and I should know this, and I didn't look it up after our deposition, gave $10,000.
Q Okay. Maybe once, maybe twice?
A Maybe twice.
Q Okay.
A I hope more.
Q Okay. And they also attend your -- your actual charity events, do they not?
A No.
Q All right. They just give money?
A That's right. And the Mike Stern who's on the board of Team Rubicon is not the Mike Stern who is at Stonehill. It's an older gentleman who's in Texas who just happens to give a lot of money to --
Q All right.

A -- Team Rubicon.
Q You also represented Blockbuster. Take that back. Were you the lawyer or the attorney representing the Creditors Committee, the UCC, in the Blockbuster bankruptcy?
A No, I was not.
Q Tell me what your capacity was.
A I represented a group of bondholders, secured bondholders. So I represented the group.
Q And was Stonehill a member of that group?
A Not that I recall, but your pleadings seem to indicate that they were. So if they were, they were a small participant. The largest participant was Carl Icahn, who owned about 30 percent of it. Then the others who were big were DK, Davidson Kempner, Monarch, Owl Creek. Those were the big players.
Q Well, --
A When Carl Icahn is in your group, you remember that.
Q Yeah, well, Carl Icahn is not here. We're talking about Stonehill right now.
A And I said I don't remember them actually being a part of it. If they were, --
Q Okay. Well, let me -- let me give you what I'm going to mark as Exhibit 80. That's your name at the top, right?
(Hunter Mountain Investment Trust's Exhibit 80 is marked for identification.)

A That's correct, yes.
Q You were at the time with Sidley & Austin?
A That's correct, yes.
Q This is In re Blockbuster.
MR. MCENTIRE: Scroll down, please.
BY MR. MCENTIRE:
Q And steering group of senior -- involves -- well, let's count them. Let's see. One, two, three, four, five. Five entities comprising the backstop lenders. Is that correct?
A I think that's the steering group. So, in order to represent the group, you need to try to assemble a large-enough group that it's material to the company. And then the company, if you're -- particularly if you're over 50 percent, will pay the fees of the group. And you don't represent any individual member of the group. I've never represented Carl Icahn. I represent the group. And if folks want to stay in the group, they can stay. If they want to trade out of the group, they do. And the company will generally continue to pay the fees, and you represent the group so long as you have a controlling interest in the -- whatever the issue is.
Q Well, that's interesting, because now what you're telling me is that this group right here, this is kind of like the executive committee of the group.
A No, it's called the steering group, and it doesn't necessarily --

Q That's fine.
A Well, it's not an executive committee. It doesn't necessarily include just the largest. Some large holders won't be on it. The largest holders here by a long shot were Icahn, who -- Q I'm not talking about --
A -- unloaded, as I say, over 30 percent. Monarch, Owl Creek, and I just don't recall Stonehill being a part of it.
Q I'm not really interested in Carl Icahn. I just want to establish this is a steering group in which you were the lead counsel and Blockbuster was on it. Is that correct?
A Yes.
Q Excuse me. Not Blockbuster.
A I'm sorry.
Q Stonehill.
A No, it's the Blockbuster case in 2010, and Stonehill was apparently on it, but I just don't have a recollection of their involvement.
Q All right. So when Mr. -- who sent you the text message in February of 2021 from Stonehill?
A Michael Stern.
Q And had you actually met him before?
A I think I had, but we didn't know each --
Q All right.
A You know, we certainly didn't know each other, we'd never worked on anything together, but I --

Q Do you have all your text messages from that period of time, that first quarter of 2021?

A I believe I do, yes.

Q They're saved?

A Yes.

Q Okay. When did the automatic delete button on your cell phone start?

MR. STANCIL: Your Honor, objection. We've covered this this morning. I believe this is a motion coming down the pike, and I thought we had -- thought we had had tabled this preservation issue.

MR. MCENTIRE: This has a direct bearing on his communications with Farallon and Stonehill in this period of time, Your Honor. We have one text message that he's identified, and I have a right to examine whether there are others. Or if not, why not.

MR. STANCIL: Your Honor, he's --

MR. MCENTIRE: That's a legitimate -- I'm not finished. That's a legitimate area of inquiry in this examination.

MR. STANCIL: He's testified he has them all. Your Honor did not order document discovery. I think that's it for purposes of today's hearing, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Okay. I sustain the objection.

BY MR. MCENTIRE:

Q After this text message that you received from Stonehill in February 2021, did you have any follow-up?

A Well, his text message, I don't recall what it said other than I was -- I do recall that he gave me his email address, because I didn't have it. And we just didn't know each other well enough. But we definitely had follow -up. He wanted to talk to me, and at some point we talked.

Q And when did you talk?

A I'm sorry?

Q When did you talk?

A When? I -- it was at the, initially, end of February, beginning of March. So it would have been somewhere in that -- in that time period.

Q End of February, beginning of March? And we also know that you next talked to Farallon, according to your testimony, and they advised you they had already purchased all their claims as of March 15, correct?

A On March 15th, they sent me an email that said they had purchased an interest in claims, and --

Q So -- go ahead.

A I'm not finished. And then at some point after that, we arranged a quick discussion, because that was a curious --

Q I want to assure you I will always let you finish.

A Thank you very much.

Q Unlike others. So, with that said, Mr. Seery, can you identify -- let me back up. Was there a data room set up at Highland Capital for claims investors to come in and look at data?

A No, there was not.

Q Are you aware, sitting here today, that Farallon did any due diligence in connection with its investment in the claims it purchased that are at issue in this proceeding?

A I have indication that they did some, yes. I don't know how much they did.

Q What is the indication?

A In the email in June of 2020, Mr. Linn said that he and his associate were following the case, thought it was -- that's the one that congratulated me on being an independent director, and that they were paying attention to the case. And it -- I don't recall the exact other items in there, but it was clear that they were following the Highland matter. And then in the email in January 2021, he also indicated that they'd been following the case further, and said, Looks like you have things well in hand, or something to that effect. So --

Q Do you have that email, too? Have you saved that email?

A They're all saved, yeah.

Q Okay. So let's talk about that. But you had no data room that would allow them to come in and actually investigate the underlying assets. Is that correct?

A Not in respect of anybody trying to buy claims. We did have a data room with respect to financing.
Q Please listen to my question. I'll get to it. Data room for claims investors. There was no data room set up on or before March 15 to allow Farallon to come in and investigate its investment in this claim?
A That's correct.
Q There was no data room set up prior to March 15 to allow Stonehill to come in and investigate its investment in the claims it purchased. Is that correct?
A That's correct.
Q Can you identify any due diligence, sitting here today -- let me back up. You heard Mr. Dondero's testimony about portfolio companies, correct?
A Yes.
Q Portfolio companies are companies in which Highland Capital has an interest that actually have separate and distinct management. Is that correct?
A Generally. And it -- I disagree with some of his testimony, but generally that's correct, yes.
Q Well, okay. Let's just take on the part that you agree with. With regard to those portfolio companies, was there anything that was disclosed in the Highland publicly-available financials that would allowed a detailed analysis of Highland's investments in each of those portfolio companies?

A I don't know. Certainly, in the four or five sets of projections that were filed, there were financial projections. I'm not sure exactly what was included in each one or in the disclosure statement.
Q Fair enough. Well, I'll represent to you I don't think there's detailed information on each individual portfolio company.
MR. MORRIS: Your Honor, he's not here to testify. I move to strike.
MR. MCENTIRE: Okay.
THE COURT: Sustained.
BY MR. MCENTIRE:
Q In that regard, Mr. Seery, can you identify what Farallon did to investigate the underlying asset value of any of these portfolio companies?
A I don't have any knowledge as to what Farallon did before it bought claims.
Q Can you identify what due diligence Stonehill did to investigate the underlying asset value in any of these portfolio companies?
A I don't -- I mean, in connection with claims purchasing, I have no idea what Stonehill did.
Q Now, I understand that you solicited -- perhaps I don't recall correctly. Did you solicit both Farallon and Stonehill to participate in a bid to provide exit financing?

A I don't think that's fair. I solicited Farallon because I knew they already owned claims. Stonehill reached out to me, and that was one of the things they were interested in doing, if there was financing needs.
Q Okay.
A And at the time they reached out, which was right after confirmation -- right after confirmation and the confirmation order, we didn't know what our needs would be. We didn't really, at the early stage, think we needed exit financing. When we looked at some of the difficulty we were going to have -- for example, collecting notes and realizing on assets -- we realized that we were going to need some exit financing in order to have enough money to support the enterprise to monetize the assets.
Q And I think you used the -- I think the phrase you used, you are the straw man or a straw man bid? Is that what you called it the other day?
A We did. You set up a very typical competitive process to do exit financing.
Q And what was the --
A And what -- well, I --
Q -- suggest --
A I was going to get to your straw man. And one of the things you do is you assess what the market's going to look like, what you think the market looks like, what you think a financing would be good for the enterprise, the flexibility you need, how you'd structure it. And then you put that out to prospective lenders and say, Here's our straw man. This is what we'd like you to consider in terms of financing. And then they do their work and come back. And they can either say, that looks great, or we have a totally different idea of what the financing might be, or some other combination of those things.

Q Mr. Seery, thank you for that answer, but I need to ask you to do me a favor. I'm on the clock, and so I'd just like to get my questions out, if you'd try to respond. Okay?

A Uh-huh.

Q Because your answers, as long as they may be, are impacting me a little bit.

So let me ask this question. In the straw man proposal that you put out for bid, what was the suggested interest rate?

A You know, you asked me that the other day, and I think I was slightly off. So it -- and I -- but I did tell you that it depended. There was -- I don't recall what the rate was, but it starts -- if everybody wants to put out money -- and I apologize for the length of the answer -- they look and they say, well, what if I get paid back in six months? Nobody wants to do that. So, duration makes a difference. So there's an interest rate. There's upfront fees. There's often exit fees. And sometimes there's other amounts. So, our -- my recollection is that our straw man was somewhere in the low teens on the high end, and then closer to high single-digits on the low end. Something in that range.

Q And Farallon indicated to you they were not interested, correct?

A No, not exactly. What Farallon said was they didn't -- they signed an NDA because we invited them in. We invited in six folks. Five signed NDAs. Two of the -- I invited in Farallon. I invited in Stonehill. Well, Stonehill called me. I invited in Contrarian because they had bought claims. And then two lenders that I knew. And Farallon did the work and came back and said, this isn't really what we do. And the other guys, you're telling me, which I was, that other people are more competitive. And so it's not really what we do, we don't think the returns are good enough, but if you need us, because now they're already invested in the claims, call us.

Q Okay.

MR. MCENTIRE: And again, I'll object as nonresponsive. Your Honor, that was a very long answer talking about a lot of other entities. My only question was what the interest rate was.

MR. MORRIS: Your Honor, we oppose the motion to strike. I think it's --

MR. MCENTIRE: No, I didn't strike it. I said -- my objection was nonresponsive. I will now follow it up with a motion to strike his answer.

THE COURT: Overruled. Okay.

BY MR. MCENTIRE:

Q Mr. Seery, you just told us that the interest rate was in the high single digits to in the 12 and 13 percent range.

A No, I was giving you the all-in return for the lender. That's a very different --

Q All-in return?

A -- thing for the -- than an interest rate.

Q That's even better.

A And it depended on the time.

Q Fair enough.

Q So if -- the shorter the duration, the higher the effective return, because he's not getting the return for as long a period of time. If I have $100 million and I get 10 percent, I get just $10 million. But if I have that out for $3 million, I've earned $30 million. So maybe that gets squeezed in the longer it's out.

Q And Farallon said that the interest rate or the return rate was not what they were looking for?

A They indicated two things. I believe I've said this several times. One is they said, this isn't really what we do, a $50-ish million dollar loan to do an exit. But we're in the case. If you need us, call us. Included in that was, it doesn't look attractive enough to us because you're telling me other guys are more competitive.

Q Okay. And do you know what kind of rate of return they were going to get on the investment of the -- on the claims at a 71 percent projected return rate?

A If we only hit the plan, Farallon's two purchases, based on the numbers you get -- you gave, over a two-year period, would be 38.9 percent.

Q Okay, but we're going to talk about that in a second. Okay. How much -- how much did Farallon actually invest?

A I'd have to look back at your numbers. They're in your pleading. I don't know what they actually paid. I just have it from your pleading.

Q Okay. And do you have paperwork that -- can you (inaudible) calculation here?

A I have a calculator that, when I looked at your numbers, I ran that, and I --

Q I see. All right.

A I'm able to remember certain things.

Q So, so if it's projected that the internal rate of return is only six percent, do you disagree with that?

A A hundred percent disagree. There's -- that's virtually impossible.

Q Okay.

A And that's, by the way, for hitting the plan.
Q I'm sorry?
A That's for hitting the 70 -- the 71-and-change percent.
Q I want to ask you a question about that. The 71-percent-and-change --
A Uh-huh.
Q -- that came out of the plan for Class 8, --
A Yes.
Q -- that was for Class 8, correct?
A Correct.
Q There was zero expected return to Class 9, correct?
A That's correct. They would only get upside, and I think it says in the projections, based upon our view at the time, litigation that could ensue, and that was part of the plan.
Q And as I understand it, that 71-and-some-change --
A Uh-huh.
Q -- projected return rate never changed from the date of confirmation all the way up to the effective date. Am I correct?
A The -- we didn't change the projections that we'd filed with the plan because the plan was confirmed. We didn't need to change the projections that were filed with the plan.
Q The NDAs, as you understand it, can you tell me specifically when the NDAs were signed?
A I know it's the first week of April to the second week of April. Blue Torch may have signed -- who actually ended up doing the financing -- they may have signed it a week or so before. They'd been around offering financing a number of times in the past.

Q Fair enough. But we know that you understood as of March 15th that Farallon had already made their investments? I mean, claims?

A That's what they told me in that email, yes.

Q Okay. When did Stonehill sign the NDA?

A In and around the same time.

Q But you don't know when Stonehill actually purchased their claims?

A I don't know exactly when. I know generally that by the end of April, early May, they were -- they were the holder of the Redeemer claim. And --

(Interruption.)

A -- I can't remember whether it was from them or whether it was from --

Q Did you ever communicate with Stonehill during the time that they were doing their due diligence on the exit financing?

A Yes.

Q Okay. Did they come to your offices?

A I don't know if we were back yet. I think we were back, but I don't recall them coming to our offices. I think it was all virtual. It's early '21, so there would have been vaccines. It would have been very -- very -- I don't recall them coming to the offices at that time.

Q But just to be clear, you don't know, you can't give the Court a date when Stonehill actually completed their investments in either Redeemer or HarbourVest?

A No, I don't. I don't know. Did -- just --

Q That was my question.

A When you say Redeemer or HarbourVest, they never bought HarbourVest.

Q It was just Redeemer?

A Correct.

Q All right. You understand that Muck is an entity, a special-purpose entity created by Farallon?

A That's my understanding, yes.

Q And you understand Jessup is a special-purpose entity created by Stonehill?

A That's my understanding, yes.

Q Muck and Jessup are both on the Oversight Committee?

A They are. They -- those entities are the --

Q Is it the Oversight Committee or the Oversight Board?

A Same thing.

Q Fair enough.

A I'll consider them the same.

Q And there's a third member, too, correct?

A That's correct.
Q Okay.
A Independent member.
Q Okay. So you have a three-person board; is that right?
A That's correct.
Q And one of their jobs is to make decisions concerning your compensation?
A The structure of the Claimant Trust Agreement provides that I'm to negotiate with the -- either the Committee or the Oversight Board. And the compensation in the Claimant Trust Agreement is a base salary of $150,000, which is -- a month, which is the same as the one in the case, plus severance, plus a success fee. And it's very specific that that will be negotiated by the -- either the Committee or then the Oversight Board.
Q And Michael Linn, who Mr. Dondero has referred to, he's actually on the Oversight Board, is he not?
A He's the Muck representative on the Oversight Board.
Q All right.
A Yes.
Q If I understand it correctly, you are currently receiving, as the Trustee, $150,000 a month. Is that correct?
A That's incorrect.
Q What are you receiving?
A I receive $150,000 a month as the Trustee and the CEO of Highland Capital.

Q Well, --

A So I have --

Q -- fair enough.

A I have both roles. The Trustee, for example, doesn't manage the team, they actually work for Highland Capital, and I'm the CEO of Highland Capital.

Q There was some suggestion that the $150,000 was something that the Court had passed upon prior to the effective date or part of the plan. This is a separate negotiated item that you -- that you allegedly negotiated that was awarded to you post-effective date, correct?

A That's false.

Q Okay. So the $150,000 had a discount that was supposed to drop down to $75,000 after a period of time. That never happened, did it?

A The -- you seem to be mixing concepts. But the $150,000 a month was set by the plan and the -- and the Claimant Trust Agreement as the "base salary." That wasn't going to move. When we -- it never was supposed to move.

When I began negotiating with the Oversight Board for the success fee, they pushed back and said, we would like that to step down. So in our -- I did not say, oh, that's a great idea. We ended up negotiating, and they included a provision that we would renegotiate depending on the level of work.

That's one of the provisions.

Q Okay. But renegotiate down to $75,000 after a period of time, but that never happened?

A Initially, I believe it was supposed to step down to $75,000 automatic, subject to renegotiation that it go back up, not a structure that I particularly liked. And since then, we've negotiated on that point.

Q So you currently are making $150,000 a month?

A That's correct.

Q How often do you come to Dallas?

A Usually I'm here at least once a month. Usually it's between two and four days.

Q Okay. And you have a staff here in Dallas at Highland Capital, correct?

A Yes.

Q How many people?

A Eleven.

Q Eleven people?

A Uh-huh.

Q Working full-time?

A Yes.

Q And you're still making $1.8 million a year?

A Yes.

Q You also have a bonus structure, correct?

A That's correct.

Q And that's performance-based?
A That's correct.
MR. MCENTIRE: Can you pull up the agreement please? Okay.
(Pause.)
BY MR. MCENTIRE:
Q All right. Do you see --
MR. MCENTIRE: We're having technical difficulty here.
BY MR. MCENTIRE:
Q All right. Can you identify this document?
MR. MCENTIRE: What exhibit number is this?
MR. MILLER: 28.
BY MR. MCENTIRE:
Q Exhibit 28.
MR. MCENTIRE: I believe this is already in evidence.
THE COURT: Hunter Mountain Exhibit 28?
MR. MCENTIRE: Yes, Your Honor.
THE COURT: Okay.
BY MR. MCENTIRE:
Q This is the memorandum of agreement. Do you see that?
A Yes.
Q On the third line, it says -- and your name is identified here. You're the Claimant Trustee, correct?
A Claimant Trustee/CEO.

Q Engaged in robust, arm's length, and good-faith negotiations regarding the incentive compensation program.

As part of this robust, arm's length, and good-faith negotiation, did you personally conduct any independent search in the marketplace?

A I did -- what do you mean by search in the marketplace?

Q Well, did you try to do a market study? I asked that question in your deposition.

A I didn't know if you were asking a different question.

Q Same question.

A You mean market study on compensation?

Q Yes.

A No, I did not.

Q Are you aware of whether or not any member of the Oversight Board or Oversight Committee did a market study?

A On compensation?

Q On compensation.

A I'm not aware that they did one, no.

Q So this robust, arm's length, and good-faith negotiation, as far as you know, is divorced from any market study database or -- or methods. Is that correct?

A I don't believe that's correct, no.

Q I see. So did -- was any third-party consultant hired?

A Not by me or Highland or the Trust, no.

Q All right.

MR. MCENTIRE: Can you scroll down a little bit, please?

BY MR. MCENTIRE:

Q You signed this agreement, correct?

A Yes.

Q And we have Michael Linn signing on behalf of Muck, who also is with Farallon, correct?

A That's correct.

MR. MCENTIRE: Scroll down.

BY MR. MCENTIRE:

Q And by the way, this is a heavily-redacted document. The redactions deal with what?

A The redactions deal with the portion that would go to the team as opposed to going to me.

Q Are we talking about the 11-member team?

A Correct.

MR. MCENTIRE: Can you scroll down? Stop. Go back.

BY MR. MCENTIRE:

Q So we have the assumed allowed claim amounts under Section D. Do you see that?

A Yes.

Q Class 9, $98 million and some change. Class 8, $295 million and some change. Then we go into the incentive payment tiers. Do you see that?

A Yes.

Q What's the purpose of the tiers?
A The purpose of the tiers was to set additional compensation so that, the more recovery, the higher the compensation. So, below Tier 1, there was really effectively no bonus, is my recollection. And then in each tier there would be a percentage.

So the first tier is $10 million. There would be a percentage of that $10 million that could be allocated for bonus. Then in the next tier it would be $56 million. A portion of that would be allocated for bonus. And it's weighted more heavily to the higher-recovery tiers, meaning it incentivizes both me and the team to try to reach deeper into Class 8 and Class 9 and get higher recoveries.

Q Okay. So the idea is, the more difficult it is to get the recoveries, the higher percentage you should get, because if you're successful then you should be rewarded accordingly? Is that kind of how it works?
A I'm not sure if difficult is the term, but it's a combination of both expertise, difficulty, and time.

MR. MCENTIRE: All right. Can you scroll down, please? Next page.

BY MR. MCENTIRE:
Q And here are your actual tier participations. They go -- you said basically nothing Tier 1, up through 6 percent. So Tier 1 is the 71 percent, right?

A It's .72 percent, and it's of the -- that's the first piece. You have to get to Tier 1. So if we had not -- I believe it's structured is if we don't get to Tier 1, for example, we don't hit the plan, right around the plan number of 71-and-change cents, then there wouldn't -- there wouldn't be upside.

So it was very much structured in a way that you had to perform. And then the better the performance, the bigger the percentages of the tier.

Q So, in theory, Mr. Seery, by the time you get down to Tier 4 and Tier 5, it's a little bit less certain that you're ever going to get there. Is that right?

A Well, out of the gate, going deeper was uncertain. It's a question of being able to execute well on the assets and being able to control the costs and being able to make distributions. It wasn't based on what we just got for the assets. It's actually based on actual distributions --

Q I understand that.

A -- to Class 8 and 9 claimants.

Q I understand that. And the idea is, is that it take a lot more effort -- the theory was it might take a lot more effort to get all the way to the bottom of Tier 5 to pay all the Class 9 claims, right?

A And maybe a little luck.

Q Yeah. And Class 10 is not even factored into this, is it?

A No, it is not.
Q And so you didn't consider Class 10. You stopped at Tier 5?
A That's correct.
Q So your entitlement to a 6 percent return, or a 6 percent bonus on the recoveries, you say it's there to incentivize you. You didn't expect that to actually happen, did you, when you signed this? Is that your testimony?
MR. STANCIL: I object to the form of the question. It mischaracterizes the agreement.
BY MR. MCENTIRE:
Q You didn't expect it to happen, did you, sir?
THE WITNESS: Well, the six --
THE COURT: Wait. I'm sorry. Could you rephrase the question?
MR. MCENTIRE: Sure.
BY MR. MCENTIRE:
Q Are you telling the judge that you really didn't expect that to happen and that's why you were entitled to a higher percentage?
A No. We didn't expect to reach Class 9 and go deep into Class 9, but we certainly held out the possibility that we could. And it's not six percent. It's six percent of the increment. These are cumulative. So you get .72 of Tier 1. You get 1.17 of Tier 2. And you can add those, and you earn them when you've actually made the distribution, but you don't get paid until you get all your distribution or we're relatively done or there's a renegotiation. Because the Committee wanted to make sure that I didn't say, hey, I hit Tier 3, time to go, I got a better job.

Q So, Mr. Seery, if Farallon told Mr. Dondero that they wouldn't sell basically at any price because you said it was too valuable, and they rejected a 40 or 50 percent premium, if they said that, is that -- is that a lie?

A That I -- rephrase that, please. I don't -- didn't quite understand your question.

Q Yeah. You've heard the testimony that Farallon, Michael Linn, told Mr. Dondero that they were not going to sell their claim at any amount because you had told them it was too valuable. Is that a lie?

A I think that's -- yeah, I don't think that's true.

Q Okay. And obviously, if they're not going to be willing to sell at any amount, they must be pretty certain they're going to hit Tier 5. Would that just be a lie?

A That -- that conversation was before this negotiation. That -- there's no -- they could not have had any expectation, either when they had that conversation in May or when we had this discussion that I was going to hit Tier 5 and I hadn't hit Tier 5. And the idea that they wouldn't sell at any price is complete utter nonsense, because they're capped on what they can get.

Q So if -- sure. Okay. So, but if Farallon told --

A But that's what you said.

Q If Farallon told Mr. Dondero that they wouldn't even sell at 130 percent of the purchase price because you told them it would be too valuable, is that a lie?

A I never told them it would be too valuable. I don't -- I don't know any of the other parts that you're saying, the 130 percent of an unknown number, some guess number that Mr. Dondero had. I never told them it would be too valuable. That would be their own assessment of where we were at the end of May 2021.

Q If they said that you told them not to sell, that it was too valuable, is that a lie?

A That's untrue, yes.

Q If they told him -- if they told him that he told you -- that you told them it was too valuable because of MGM, is that a lie?

A Yes.

Q How many shares of stock did Highland Capital own?

MR. MCENTIRE: Well, one second. What is my time? How much time do I have?

THE CLERK: Right now you're at --

MR. MCENTIRE: So I'm almost two and a half hours in?

THE CLERK: Just about. A little under.

BY MR. MCENTIRE:

Q I'm going to have to speed up here, Mr. Seery.

THE COURT: A little under two and a half, you said.

BY MR. MCENTIRE:

Q Mr. Seery, I want to make sure. Highland Capital owns interests in the CLOs. What is the CLOs' stake in the MGM stock, or what was it?

A Highland Capital does not own any interest in any of the CLOs it manages. It has a fee stream, and it can have certain deferred fees that it can get, but it didn't own any interest in any of the CLOs that it managed.

Q Fair enough. How about the portfolio companies?

A Did Highland Capital own interests in the portfolio companies?

Q Yes.

A Some of the ones Mr. Dondero listed, but they weren't portfolio companies. So he said OmniMax, but we didn't have any management of OmniMax. We just had debt that converted to equity, but we didn't control the -- the thing. That was during the case, the company.

Q Did Multistrat have an interest in MGM?

A Multistrat owned MGM, yes.

Q Okay. And did your company, Highland Capital -- your company -- Highland Capital have an interest in Multistrat?

A Highland Capital owns 57 percent of Multistrat, yes.

Q And did Highland Capital have an interest in any other portfolio companies that have an interest in -- had a stake in MGM?

A RCP. Restoration Capital Partners.

Q And do you recall what the value of that was?

A It shifted over time. I don't -- I don't know what time you're talking about.

Q And isn't it true that 90 percent of all the securities that Highland Capital owned at the time that the sale went public was roughly 90 percent of all of Highland Capital's securities?

MR. STANCIL: Objection, Your Honor. I don't know what that question is asking.

THE COURT: I don't understand it, either. Could you rephrase?

MR. MCENTIRE: I'll try to.

BY MR. MCENTIRE:

Q At the time that the announcement was made about Amazon buying MGM in May of 2021, what percentage of all the securities did MGM comprise of the securities that were owned by Highland Capital?

A Of the securities that were directly owned by Highland Capital, it may have been -- I'm thinking of public or semi-public securities, the 150,000 or 170,000 that we had that were subject to the Frontier lien. Might have been almost all of the securities that we owned. It wasn't -- it was a good position, but it wasn't a huge driver for the directly-owned shares. There was more value in the Multistrat and the RCP.

Q What percent of shares of all --

MR. STANCIL: Your Honor, I'm sorry, I'm having trouble hearing the end of Mr. Seery's answers. So I know it's not his --

THE WITNESS: I'm sorry.

THE COURT: Okay. If you could make sure you speak into the mic.

THE WITNESS: Yeah. I'm sorry.

MR. STANCIL: I'm having trouble with Mr. McEntire talking over the end of Mr. Seery's answers.

THE COURT: Ah.

MR. STANCIL: I'm having trouble following.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. STANCIL: I apologize.

THE COURT: Okay. Could you --

MR. MCENTIRE: I didn't know I was doing that.

THE COURT: Well, --

MR. MCENTIRE: I'll try to do better.

BY MR. MCENTIRE:

Q Mr. Seery, of all the stock that Highland Capital owned in May of 2021, what percentage of that was (inaudible) stock?

A Hopefully this is clear. Highland Capital did not own a lot of stock. Highland Capital did have a direct ownership interest in MGM, so that might have been the vast majority of the stock that Highland Capital owned. It did own interest in other entities, like its investment in RCP or its investment in Multistrat. But of the stock that it owned directly, that was probably it, and that's the one that was liened up to Frontier.

Q Mr. Seery, did Highland Capital own approximately 170,000 shares of MGM stock in May of 2021?

A Yes. You -- I'm sorry. You asked me what percentage, and I think I said roughly that amount of stock liened up to Frontier, and that that might have been almost all of the stock we owned.

Q Does Highland Capital own a direct interest in HCLOF?

A In HC --

Q HCLOF?

A HCLOF? Yes. Highland Capital owns a small direct interest, and a large indirect interest which we got through the settlement with HarbourVest.

Q And the entity in which you acquired the indirect interest, what's the name of that entity?

A I don't recall. It's a -- it's a single-shell special-purpose entity that we own all of it and it has no other assets.

Q And just to make sure that the record is clear, you deny under oath that HCLOF has any interest -- or had any interest in MGM stock?

A HCLOF has never owned MGM stock and still doesn't own MGM stock. It's never owned it.

Q Um, --

A At least -- at least, as long as I've been in this case.

MR. MCENTIRE: One second, Your Honor, please.

(Pause.)

MR. MCENTIRE: I'm going to have to pass the witness because of time sensitivities, Your Honor, so I'll pass the witness at this time.

THE COURT: Okay. Cross?

CROSS-EXAMINATION

BY MR. MORRIS:

Q Mr. Seery?

A Yes, sir.

Q You just covered a lot of what we would have covered, so I want to be really, really quick here. Okay? We're not covering old ground. Let's just start with the HarbourVest settlement. Do you recall that Mr. Dondero sent the email to you on December 17th?

A Yes.

Q Okay. When did you reach the agreement with HarbourVest on the settlement?

A December 10th.

Q Okay.

MR. MCENTIRE: Your Honor, I'd like to move into evidence Exhibit 31. Actually, let me lay a foundation first.

Can you give the witness --

MR. MCENTIRE: Is this a new exhibit?

MR. MORRIS: No. It's Exhibit 31.

MR. MCENTIRE: Can I see it, Tim, please?

MR. MORRIS: It's in your box.

MR. MCENTIRE: Give me a minute.

MR. MORRIS: Uh-huh.

THE COURT: Okay. We're about to focus on Highland Exhibit what?

MR. MORRIS: 31.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. MORRIS: Do you have it, Your Honor?

THE COURT: I do.

BY MR. MORRIS:

Q Do you have it, Mr. Seery?

A I do, yes.

MR. MORRIS: Do you have it, sir?

MR. MCENTIRE: I do. Thank you.

MR. MORRIS: Okay.

BY MR. MORRIS:

Q Can you just tell the Court what this is?

A This is an email chain. It starts from me to the other independent directors, copying counsel, to outline the terms of the HarbourVest settlement that I had just made the offer to HarbourVest to settle on these terms on December 8th. And this was the product of a number of negotiations that had taken place over the prior weeks, and this was the final offer that I was making to them to settle.

Q Directing your attention to the bottom of the first page, the first email dated December 8, 2020 at 6:46 p.m., can you just read the first sentence out loud.

A I lost -- you lost me.

Q That begins, "As discussed yesterday."

A Oh. "As discussed yesterday, after consultation with John Morris" -- that would be you -- "regarding litigation risks, this evening I made an offer" -- it says "and," but it should have said "an" -- "offer to HarbourVest to settle their claims. The following are the proposed terms."

Q Okay. Just stop right there. And you were -- this is the report that you gave to the independent directors?

A The other independent directors.

Q Right.

A I was also one.

Q Right. And did Mr. Dubel respond?

A He did, yes.

Q And can you just describe briefly what your understanding was of his response?

A Dubel responds a couple hours after I sent the original email: "Jim, this basically looks like a $10 million -- net $10 million payment to HV." That's HarbourVest. "Is that correct? Does the 72-cent recovery include the $22-1/2 million that we get from the transfer of HCLOF interests? Remind me again, post-effective date, who is managing HCLOF?"

So I think my understanding was Mr. Dubel was querying me on some of the terms that I had set forth here, including that the value of the claim in our estimation was going to be about $9.9 million, meaning they would have a $45 million senior claim, a $35 million junior claim, and we thought, based on the values we had then, it was going to pay out about $9.9 million.

Q Okay. And was this offer accepted?

A Yes, it was.

Q When was it accepted?

A I think I just said. On -- on December 10th.

Q Okay. And did the terms that you described for the other independent directors on December 8th, did they change in any way at all from that reflected in this email until the time we got to the 9019 hearing?

A Not at all, no.

Q Okay. I see that you mention in here that you -- it says, quote, "The interests have a marked value of $22-1/2 million, according to Hunter Covitz." Do you see that?

A That's correct, yes.
Q Who's Hunter Covitz?
A Hunter Covitz was a Highland employee. He ran the structured products business. So he was responsible for making sure that the CLO we managed, which was AC7, was compliant and was -- with the indentures. He also was responsible for monitoring the -- what we call the 1.0 CLOs, even though they weren't really CLOs, they were more like closed-in funds. And he also kept track of the Acis -- CLOs that HCLOF had an interest in that were managed by Acis.
Q Okay. And do you recall how he conveyed to you the NAV?
A Well, I talked to him numerous times, so this wasn't our -- I didn't just call him up at the end and say, what's the NAV? I had had discussions with him while I was negotiating with HarbourVest. And at some point, he or someone -- he told me the amount, and at some point he gave me a NAV statement that actually showed the NAV of HCLOF, which at 11/30 was roughly $45 million.
Q Okay. Can you turn to Exhibit 31-A, the next document in the binder?
A Mine's completely blacked out.
THE COURT: I'm sorry, what number?
MR. MORRIS: 31-A.
THE COURT: Oh.
MR. MORRIS: And the first two pages are redacted just because they're not relevant and they're business information.

BY MR. MORRIS:

Q But can you turn to the last page, sir?

A Yes.

Q Can you tell the judge what this is?

A So this is a net asset value statement from HCLOF. That's Highland CLO Funding, Limited. That's the Guernsey entity that -- that held these interests. And this is a net asset amount, and it shows what the net -- what the net asset value is as of this time on a carryforward basis of $45.191 million.

Q Okay. And where did you get this document?

A I believe I got it from Covitz. It's generated by an entity called Elysium, which is the fund administrator for HCLOF, and I believe they're out of Guernsey.

Q And did you rely on this document in setting the proposal to HarbourVest?

A Well, both the conversations with Covitz and the document. And frankly, HarbourVest got the same documents because they were -- they held a membership interest in HCLOF. So he -- Michael Pugatch knew what the NAV was.

Q And would Mr. Dondero or entities controlled by him who also have interests in HCLOF, is it your understanding that they would have also had this document available?

A All members would --

MR. MCENTIRE: Excuse me. Excuse me. I object to that question, the question being "and the entities controlled by Mr. Dondero." There's no foundation for this witness to answer a question like that.

BY MR. MORRIS:

Q Who else owned --

THE COURT: Sustained.

BY MR. MORRIS:

Q -- an interest in HCLOF?

THE COURT: Go ahead.

THE WITNESS: It would have been DAF.

BY MR. MORRIS:

Q The DAF?

A Yeah.

Q Okay. Let's just ask this question. Is it your understanding that these NAV valuation reports were made to all holders of interests in HCLOF?

A Yes. And that would include the DAF. And I did leave off that there were three former Highland employees long gone, or at least not around at this point, who also owned very small interests, and they would have gotten those statements as well.

Q And does HCLOF also produce audited financial statements?

A It does, yes.

Q Can you go to Exhibit 60, please?

A Six zero?
Q Yes, sir. A couple of questions here. Is this a document that Highland would have received in the ordinary course of business?
A Yes, it is.
Q Okay. And what is the NAV depicted on this page as of the end of the year 2020?
A Well, you have to look through it, because this document is actually dated 4/21/21, --
Q Okay.
A -- which you can see on Page 10 where it's signed. And that shows a net asset value of $50.4 million as of 12/31/21. 12/20. I'm sorry. And -- but it wasn't prepared until -- the audits aren't done and we don't get this document until after the directors sign off in April.
Q Okay.
MR. MORRIS: And Your Honor, I move for the admission into evidence of these three HarbourVest-related documents, 30, 31-A, and 60.
MR. MCENTIRE: No objection.
THE COURT: They're admitted.
MR. MORRIS: Okay.
(Debtors' Exhibits 30, 31-A, and 60 are received into evidence.)
BY MR. MORRIS:

Q Okay. Let me move on. We've seen Mr. Dondero's email today. You've seen that before, correct?

A Yes.

Q Okay. What was your reaction when you got it?

A I was highly suspicious.

Q Why is that?

A Well, not to replow too much old ground, but this came after he threatened me. He threatened me in writing. I'd never been threatened in my career. I've never heard of anyone else in this business who's been threatened in their career. So anything I would get from him, I was going to be highly suspicious.

It also followed the imposition of a TRO for interfering with the business. He knew what was in the TRO and he knew what it applied to, and it restricted him from communicating with me or any of the other independent directors without Pachulski being on it.

Furthermore, Pachulski had advised Mr. Dondero's counsel that not only could they not communicate with us, if they wanted to communicate they had to prescreen the topics.

And how do we know that? Because Dondero filed a motion to modify the TRO. And that was all before this email.

In addition, that followed the termination of the shared service arrangements, the approval of the disclosure statement, and the demand to collect on the demand notes that

Mr. Dondero and his entities were liable for.

So at that point, he'd been interfering with the business, he had threatened me, he was subject to a TRO, and I got this email and I was highly suspicious.

Q Did you ever share this email with anybody at Farallon?

A No.

Q Did you ever share this email with anybody at Stonehill?

A No. And just to be clear, not just the email, the contents. Never discussed it with them.

Q That was going to be my next question. Did you ever share any information about MGM with anybody?

MR. MCENTIRE: Objection. Leading.

MR. MORRIS: I'm asking the question.

MR. MCENTIRE: No, you're leading.

MR. MORRIS: This is the whole --

MR. MCENTIRE: You're leading the witness.

THE COURT: Overruled. Finish the question.

BY MR. MORRIS:

Q Did you ever share any information concerning with MGM with anybody at Stonehill before you learned that they had purchased claims?

MR. MCENTIRE: Objection. Leading.

THE COURT: Overruled.

THE WITNESS: No. No, I did not.

BY MR. MORRIS:

Q Did you ever share any information with anybody at Farallon concerning MGM before you learned that they purchased their claims?

MR. MCENTIRE: Objection. Leading.

THE WITNESS: No, I did not.

THE COURT: Overruled.

THE WITNESS: I'm sorry.

(Pause.)

THE WITNESS: You know, you just asked me something about Stonehill.

THE COURT: No.

THE WITNESS: I'm sorry.

BY MR. MORRIS:

Q Yeah. No question.

A I wanted to clarify one.

Q What did you want to clarify, sir?

A Certainly didn't share anything about this email, any of the contents of it. I don't know if I ever -- I don't know exactly when Stonehill bought their claims, and they were subject to the NDA to do the financing process. So I know when Farallon told me they had bought their claims and I know we never had any discussions at all before they acquired their claims, and I don't know when Stonehill got those -- their claims, so I don't know when -- what was in the data room or what -- what might have been discussed about MGM while they were under an NDA.

Q Okay.
A But certainly nothing -- I never shared the contents of this email, the substance of this email, the email at all. That's what I wanted to clarify.
Q What data room are you talking about, sir?
A This was the data room related to the exit financing where we sought exit financing and ultimately got exit financing from Blue Torch Capital.
Q And who put together the data room?
A DSI, which was our financial consultants, and our finance team.
Q And why did you -- did you delegate responsibility for creating the data room to DSI and the members of your team you just identified?
A Yeah, of course.
Q How come?
A I don't really know how to put together a data room.
Q Did you -- did you direct them to put anything in the data room?
A Not specifically. We had a deck that we -- that certainly I worked on and commented on, which would have been a general overview of the -- of the post-reorganized Highland and the -- and the -- and the Claimant Trust. So I certainly commented on that. But the specific information in the data room, I don't -- I never looked at it. I don't know what it is.

Q How many -- how many entities who were participating in the exit facility process wound up making bids or offers?
A There were five that signed NDAs. Three provided substantive proposals. One was verbal. That was Bardin Hill, who'd been contacting me throughout the case, and they do this kind of financing, and they submitted a competitive bid. Stonehill in writing, and then amended, a more aggressive one, in writing. And Blue Torch probably three, and the most aggressive.
Q And did you give the -- did you give the opportunity to your age-old friends at Stonehill?
A They're not my age-old friends. And no, they lost. They were second, they were close, it was a good real proposal, but they didn't win.
Q So, --
A Blue Torch won.
Q So is it fair to say that you -- did you pick the best proposal that you thought provided the best value for the company that you were managing?
MR. MCENTIRE: Your Honor, again, for the last ten minutes, we've had nothing but leading questions. And it just is --
MR. MORRIS: Fine. Happy to --
THE COURT: Sustained. Rephrase.

BY MR. MORRIS:

Q Why did you pick Stone -- why did you pick Blue -- Blue-?

A Blue Torch.

Q Blue Torch, over the other bids?

A It was the best bid. So, structurally, it was the least expensive, although they were extremely close. I had a lot of confidence in Blue Torch because this type of financing is what they do. And while you can never have a hundred percent confidence that if somebody goes through the -- this is an LOI, right, so this is a letter of intent. When they go further, they may -- they may not complete it. But I had a high degree of confidence that they would get there, because, again, that's what they do. And they were the -- they were just the better bid.

Q Okay. Do you recall that in Mr. Dondero's notes he wrote down that he was told that Farallon had purchased their claims in February or March?

A I saw that on what he claimed, yes.

Q And is that consistent with what you were told by Farallon in March?

A They told me they acquired the claims -- they had acquired the claims on March 15th, by email. I don't know if they acquired them in February or March. Or even January. I know they said they had them on March 15.

Q Did you ever speak with Farallon about anything having to do with the purchase of their claims?

MR. MCENTIRE: Objection. Leading.

THE COURT: Overruled.

THE WITNESS: Not -- not before they sent me that email.

MR. MORRIS: I apologize. Withdrawn.

BY MR. MORRIS:

Q Before -- before learning of their purchase, had you had any discussions with them about potential claim purchases?

MR. MCENTIRE: Objection.

THE WITNESS: No.

MR. MCENTIRE: Leading.

THE WITNESS: I'm sorry.

THE COURT: Overruled.

THE WITNESS: No, I didn't.

BY MR. MORRIS:

Q Okay. Before you learned that Stonehill had purchased claims in the Highland bankruptcy, had you ever had any conversation with them about the potential purchase of claims?

MR. MCENTIRE: Objection. Leading.

THE WITNESS: No, I don't -- I don't --

THE COURT: Overruled.

THE WITNESS: I'm sorry. I don't -- I don't believe so, no.

BY MR. MORRIS:

Q Do you have any knowledge at all as to how the sellers went about selling their claims?

A I have some knowledge now, post-effective date, that I believe I have some understanding, but not a great one.

Q Did you ever communicate with any of the sellers about the potential sale of their claims prior to the time their claims were sold?

MR. MCENTIRE: Objection. Leading.

THE COURT: Overruled.

THE WITNESS: I did have a conversation with Eric Felton who was the Redeemer representative on the Creditors' Committee. And it came out of one of the emails I got. I think it indicated that --

MR. MCENTIRE: Objection, hearsay, Your Honor. I mean, hearsay, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. MCENTIRE: It's hearsay.

THE COURT: Okay. He's about to say something that's hearsay is the objection. Any response?

MR. MORRIS: I'm not offering it for the truth of the matter asserted. I'm offering it for Mr. Seery's state of mind and the extent of his communications. How about that?

MR. MCENTIRE: I don't see how you could offer it for anything other than for the truth of the matter asserted. It's coming from a third party, so I object to hearsay.

MR. MORRIS: Okay. You know what? We --

BY MR. MORRIS:

Q Other than the one conversation --

THE COURT: Are you withdrawing the question or do I need --

MR. MORRIS: Yeah. This is just --

THE COURT: Okay. You're withdrawing the question.

MR. MORRIS: I'll withdraw the question.

THE COURT: Okay.

BY MR. MORRIS:

Q Other than the one conversation with Mr. Felton, did you ever have a conversation with any seller prior to the time you learned that Farallon or Stonehill --

MR. MCENTIRE: Objection. Leading.

BY MR. MORRIS:

Q -- purchased the claims?

THE COURT: Overruled.

THE WITNESS: No.

BY MR. MORRIS:

Q Did you play any role in facilitating or recommending to Farallon or Muck that it purchase claims?

MR. MCENTIRE: Objection. Leading.

THE COURT: Overruled.

THE WITNESS: No. None whatsoever.

BY MR. MORRIS:

Q Did you play any role in facilitating or recommending that Stonehill or Jessup purchase claims?
A No.
MR. MCENTIRE: Objection. Leading.
THE COURT: Overruled.
THE WITNESS: I'm sorry.
BY MR. MORRIS:
Q All right. Let's just finish up with compensation. Can you go to Exhibit 41, please? Can you just identify that document for the Court?
A This is the -- it's a memorandum agreement that sits on top of an outline. It is the December 2 incentive compensation agreed terms for Highland Capital --
Q Okay.
A -- and the Trust.
Q And when was this signed?
A It would have been -- the date is December 6th.
Q And --
A 2021. I'm sorry.
Q Okay. And when did you and the Committee members begin discussing your compensation package?
A Shortly after the effective date, which was August 11, 2021.
Q And were there any negotiations during that intervening three- or four-month period?

A Considerable negotiations during that period, yes.
Q Can you go to the last page of Exhibit 41? Can you describe that for the Court? I know it's hard to read, but --
A I --
Q -- the numbers don't matter so much as the infor... you know, just, can you just describe --
A Yeah.
Q -- what's being conveyed?
A So it's very hard to read, but it says -- because it's small -- Seery Proposal 1, Oversight Counter 1, Seery Proposal 2, Oversight Counter 2, and then it continues down. My recollection is that we had four or five rounds of back-and-forth that were meaningful. But it -- but it even took a detour in the middle, because it started with my proposal, which was pretty robust, and their response to me that they didn't like the structure or the amount, and so then we started talking about that. And then they -- after we were kind of hitting numbers and structure at the same time, they came back to me and said, stop, we've got to agree on the structure before we agree on the amounts.

MR. MCENTIRE: Your Honor, I'm going to object as it's hearsay and move to strike. This is -- he's not talking about the document. He's talking about something outside of the four corners of the document. I object to hearsay.

MR. MORRIS: Hearsay? There's no statement.

THE COURT: There was --

MR. MORRIS: It's a description of what happened.

MR. MCENTIRE: But he's actually referring to statements in his substantive comments.

THE COURT: Overruled. Okay.

MR. MORRIS: I move for the admission into evidence of Exhibit 41.

THE COURT: Any objection?

MR. MCENTIRE: That's the memorandum agreement, Mr. Morris? Is that it?

MR. MORRIS: Yes, sir.

MR. MCENTIRE: No objection.

THE COURT: Admitted.

(Debtors' Exhibit 41 is received into evidence.)

BY MR. MORRIS:

Q Can we go backwards to Exhibit 39, please? Can you describe for the Court what that is?

A This is a redacted copy of minutes of the board meeting on August 21 -- 26, 2021.

Q And there's a lot of stuff redacted there. Do you have an understanding as to why there is redactions?

A It would have nothing to do with these issues that we're discussing or the alleged quid pro quo.

Q Okay. Can you just read out loud the last portion that's unredacted on the second page, beginning with "Mr. Seery reviewed"?

A It actually says, "Mr. Seery also presented the board with an overview of his incentive compensation program proposal, which would include not only Mr. Seery but the current HCMLP team. The terms and structure of the proposal had been previewed with the board in prior operating models presented by Mr. Seery. Mr. Seery reviewed the proposal and stated his view that the proposal was market-based and was designed to align incentive between himself and the HCMLP team on the one hand and the Claimant Trust beneficiaries on the other. The board asked questions regarding the proposal and determined that it would consider the proposal and revert to Mr. Seery with a counterproposal."

Q All right. When you were -- when you were shown one of these documents before, you were asked to identify Mr. Linn, but you weren't asked about the others. Do you see Richard Katz there?

A Yes.

Q Who's that?

A He's the independent member.

Q Did he play any role in the negotiation of your compensation package?

A Yes. He was actively involved.

Q Okay. And how about Mr. Provost? Who's he?

A He is the Jessup person. Jessup is the board member.

He's their representative on the board.

Q Okay.

MR. MORRIS: And I move for admission into evidence of Exhibit 39.

MR. MCENTIRE: No objection, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Admitted.

(Debtors' Exhibit 39 is received into evidence.)

BY MR. MORRIS:

Q Let's go to Exhibit 40, please. Can you just describe for the Court what that is?

A This is a subsequent board meeting minutes, August 30, 2021.

Q And can you just read into the record -- why are there redactions?

A Again, they would -- if there are redactions, it would have nothing to do with the issues that are being brought up in this motion.

Q And can you just read into the record the paragraph beginning, "Mr. Katz"?

A "Mr. Katz began the meeting by walking the Oversight Board and Mr. Seery through the Oversight Board's counterproposal to the HCMLP incentive compensation proposal, including the review of the spreadsheet and summary of the counterproposal. Discussion was joined by Mr. Linn and Mr. Stern. Mr. Seery asked numerous questions and received detailed responses from the Oversight Board. Mr. Seery and the Oversight Board agreed to continue the discussion and negotiations regarding the proposed incentive compensation plan for the Claimant Trustee and the -- and the HCMLP."

Q So they didn't accept your original proposal that you made in the earlier document?

A They did not.

Q Okay. And did negotiations continue?

A They did, yes.

MR. MORRIS: Before we go on, I move for admission into evidence Exhibit 40.

THE COURT: Any --

MR. MCENTIRE: No objection.

THE COURT: It's admitted.

(Debtors' Exhibit 40 is received into evidence.)

BY MR. MORRIS:

Q Can you go to Exhibit 59, please? Can you describe for the Court what this is?

A This is an email string between me and the Oversight Board regarding the compensation proposal.

Q Okay. And directing your attention to the bottom, I guess, of the second page, there is an email from Mr. Katz dated October 26. Do you see that?

A At the bottom of the second -- oh, yes, yes.

Q Okay. Can you just read the sentence at the bottom of the page beginning "We propose"?

MR. MCENTIRE: Well, Your Honor, I would, first of all, object to him just reading from the document until it's been put into evidence.

THE COURT: I'm sorry, say again?

MR. MCENTIRE: I would object to Exhibit --

THE COURT: We can't pick things up on the record when you don't speak in a mic.

MR. MCENTIRE: I object to him simply reading from the document before the document is offered into evidence.

MR. MORRIS: Okay.

MR. MCENTIRE: Accepted into evidence.

MR. MORRIS: Sure. I'd move it into evidence.

MR. MCENTIRE: I object as hearsay.

MR. MORRIS: This is a present sense recollection -- recorded. It's a clear business record. It's a negotiation that's happening over time. Mr. Seery is here to answer any questions about authenticity.

MR. MCENTIRE: Well, first of all, it's an email string involving communications with third parties. That's hearsay in and of itself. And it's not been established that this is a business record. And Mr. Morris's statements to that effect, frankly, don't carry his burden. There's internal hearsay contained throughout the document, Your Honor, even if it is a business record.

MR. MORRIS: Your Honor, just to be clear, let me respond.

THE COURT: Uh-huh.

MR. MORRIS: Exceptions to hearsay rule. 803(1) present sense impression; (2) -- (3) existing mental impression, state of mind about motive, (5) recorded recollection, (6) records of regularly-conducted activity, or Federal Rule of Evidence 807, residual exception for trustworthy and probative evidence. I'll take any of them.

MR. MCENTIRE: None of them apply.

MR. MORRIS: Okay.

THE COURT: Okay. Overruled.

MR. MORRIS: Thank you.

THE COURT: I admit it. 59's admitted.

(Debtors' Exhibit 59 is received into evidence.)

BY MR. MORRIS:

Q Can you just read that last sentence at the bottom of that page?

A This is from Rich Katz to me.

Q Uh-huh.

A (reading) We propose doing this in two stages. First, we'd like to come to agreement on structural, underscored, elements of the ICP.

ICP means incentive compensation program or plan.

Only after we'd done that, when the board had greater understanding of what plan they were pricing, would we haggle out the specific numbers, underscore, tier attachment points, and percentage participation in each tier.

Q Okay. And going to the right-hand part of that, do you see where it says, Salary J.S. Only?

A Yes.

Q Can you just, you know, generally describe for the Court what the debate is or the negotiation that's happening on that particular point?

A Well, this was brought up earlier. The salary was $150,000 a month. That was the same salary that I'd had during the case that was approved by the Court. It had been approved by the Committee, approved by the other independent members. That was continuing. It was also contained as an actual base salary in the plan and the Claimant Trust Agreement, and they were never amended.

The Committee came back to me and said, we'd like that to step down. And they'd like it to step down on a definitive specific schedule, because they had a view that that would incentivize me to work faster to make distributions before the stepdown and that I wouldn't linger in the role. And the yellow --

Q Can you just read the yellow out loud?

A That's --

Q Read the whole thing.

A That's my response.
Q Read the whole thing.
A (reading) Based on the required expertise, volume, and personal risk of the work today, I do not think that any formulaic reduction in base comp is appropriate. With the complexity and amount of issues that I have to manage on a daily basis, I currently do not have capacity to take on significant outside work. Of course, things can change. If they do, I am open to discussing reduction in the base. I have no interest in sitting around doing nothing, having no risk, and collecting the full base compensation. We can include prefatory language and an agreement to revisit our terms, but I do not see an avenue to set parameters to lock in an agreement for the future at this time.
And then there's another paragraph on severance.
Q You can stop there.
MR. MORRIS: I have no further questions.
THE COURT: All right. Pass the witness.
MR. MCENTIRE: Do you have any questions?
A VOICE: No.
MR. MCENTIRE: Okay. How much time do I have, please?
THE CLERK: So, the limit is at two hours and 32 minutes.
MR. MCENTIRE: All right.

REDIRECT EXAMINATION

BY MR. MCENTIRE:

Q Just a couple questions very quickly, Mr. Seery. Highland Capital Management paid HarbourVest cash as part of the settlement, correct?

A That's incorrect.

Q There was no cash component at all?

A There was not.

Q And in connection with the HarbourVest settlement, HarbourVest transferred an interest in HCLOF to Highland Capital or an entity affiliated with Highland Capital; is that not correct?

A That's correct.

Q And that -- that entity -- and HCLOF, and HCLOF had an interest in various CLOs, correct?

MR. MORRIS: Your Honor, I object. This is beyond the scope of my cross, or redirect, however you prefer.

MR. MCENTIRE: Well, you spent a lot of time on HarbourVest. I'm just trying to clear it up.

MR. MORRIS: I didn't say the word CLO. I did not say the word CLO.

THE COURT: Overruled. He can go there.

If you'd please move the mic towards your voice.

BY MR. MCENTIRE:

Q And HCLOF had an interest in various CLOs, correct?

A I believe it had an interest in five CLOs. Oh, that's not true. It had an interest in five of the 1.0 CLOs. It also owned one hundred -- basically, somewhere between 87 and a hundred percent of Acis 3, 4, 5, 6, and 7, which is about a billion dollars of CLOs to 10 (inaudible) leveraged vehicles, and they owned basically all the equity, so that was the driver of the value.

Q And various entities that were -- I mean, some of these various CLOs had an interest in MGM stock, correct?

A The 1. -- the Highland 1.0s did. The value drivers I just described -- Acis 3, 4, 5, 6, and 7 -- had no interest in MGM.

Q But one of them did have an interest in MGM?

A That's not correct.

Q What did you just say?

A 3, 4, 5, 6, and 7 did not have any interest in MGM.

Q Were there any CLOs that had an interest in MGM?

A Some of the 1.0 CLOs did, --

Q I see.

A -- yes.

MR. MCENTIRE: Pass the witness.

MR. MORRIS: No further questions.

THE COURT: Mr. Seery, I want to ask you one thing.

THE WITNESS: Yes, Your Honor.

EXAMINATION BY THE COURT

THE COURT: We dance around it a lot. The Highland ownership of MGM stock. If think -- if you could confirm I've heard this correct -- you said Highland itself owned 170,000 shares that were subject to a Frontier Bank lien?

THE WITNESS: Yes, Your Honor. I believe that's the right amount. So, Highland directly owned about 170,000 shares. Those were liened up to Frontier. They were -- they were never transferred. Highland never sold any MGM stock.

THE COURT: Okay. So Frontier still holds it or what?

THE WITNESS: No. In fact, post-effective -- I believe it was post-effective date, and with cash generated, we -- we paid off the Frontier loan, --

THE COURT: Uh-huh.

THE WITNESS: -- released that lien, and then we held those shares in MGM until the merger was consummated.

THE COURT: Okay.

THE WITNESS: So we tendered our shares into the -- into the merger and got the merger consideration, which was cash.

THE COURT: Okay. And so there was that. But other than that, you said Highland owned 50 percent of Multistrat, which owned some MGM stock?

THE WITNESS: Multistrat had a -- I don't recall the amount, but a material amount of MGM stock. That also -- so, Highland owned 57 percent of Multistrat. Is also the manager of Multistrat.

THE COURT: Uh-huh.

THE WITNESS: Multistrat did not sell any MGM stock. It also tendered them into the merger as well.

THE COURT: Okay. And then you said Highland owned some percentage of Restoration --

THE WITNESS: Restorations Capital Partners.

THE COURT: -- Capital Partners, which owned some MGM stock?

THE WITNESS: Similarly, Highland is the manager of what we call RCP. RCP owned a material amount of MGM stock. RCP did not sell any MGM stock. However, in 2019, you'll recall that Mr. Dondero sold $125 million of stock postpetition out of RCP. It was MGM stock. He sold it back to MGM. We had a -- we had a hearing on it, because subsequently the Independent Board learned about it, the Committee learned about it, they had not -- it had not been disclosed, but there was a -- what we thought was a binding agreement with MGM, and MGM indicated that they were going to hold us to it, and so we had a hearing about approving that transaction. The Committee was not happy.

THE COURT: Okay. I'm fuzzy on when that was. You said?

THE WITNESS: That would have been in early 2020, probably April-ish timeframe.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. MORRIS: Your Honor?

THE WITNESS: The transaction was in November, I believe.

MR. MORRIS: If it's helpful, Your Honor, you can find it at Docket 487.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. MORRIS: I think that's the objection from the Committee where the issue was -- comes up at least at one time.

THE COURT: Okay. And then I think this is the last category I heard, that HCM and its specially-created sub owned just over 50 percent of HCLOF, and it in turn owns interest in a lot of CLOs, and a few of those, what you call the 1.0 CLOs, did own some MGM stock?

THE WITNESS: That's correct. So if you look on the audited financials that we had introduced into evidence, you'll see actually every asset that HCLOF owns. There's no MGM in there. It does own interest. There were minority interests in five or six of the 1.0 CLOs. Grayson, Greenbrier, Gleneagles, Brentwood, Liberty, and one other. And it had interest in those, but it never owned any MGM stock and it never traded any MGM stock. It didn't own any.

THE COURT: All right. Did I cover the universe of what MGM stock was owned by Highland or something Highland had an interest in?

THE WITNESS: Yeah. So, the ones that HCLOF had an interest in that I just listed, those -- Jasper was the other one. I apologize. The -- they owned -- they owned MGM stock among their other -- they had a lot of other assets. The other CLOs, the 1.0 CLOs that Highland had, every one of them owned MGM stock. None of them sold or bought any stock. Those all tendered into the merger as well. Highland did not own any interest in any of those entities.

THE COURT: Uh-huh.

THE WITNESS: It just managed them.

THE COURT: Okay. And this is my last question. Someone brought up or it came up today that exactly two years ago today -- I didn't remember we were on an anniversary of that -- but was when we had a hearing, and I think it was a contempt hearing, but I had, I guess, read in the media, like many other human beings, an article about the MGM-Amazon transaction, and I had said I had hope in my heart and brain that this could be an impetus or a triggering event for maybe a settlement. And that was kind of quickly pooh-poohed, if you will.

Remind me why I was quickly persuaded, oh well, I guess that's not going to happen. I just can't remember what I heard that day.

THE WITNESS: Well, it was widely known that Highland, meaning not the 171,000 --

THE COURT: Uh-huh.

THE WITNESS: -- but the entities that Highland or related entities, including DAF, the other Dondero entities, controlled a lot of Highland stock, as even Mr. Dondero said between Anchorage --

THE COURT: You mean MGM?

THE WITNESS: MGM, I'm sorry. Between -- there were only five major holders. There was the two we just mentioned and Davidson Kempner and Monarch and Owl Creek, and just a few other big holders.

And so Your Honor would have learned it from the case, but you also would have learned it from the paper, that any time a holder is mentioned, it's first Anchorage, because they owned the biggest piece, and Kevin Ulrich, who was the chairman of Anchorage, was also the chairman of MGM. And then Highland was always mentioned.

The reason that it didn't have some great amount of capital that went on to Highland, although there was money from RCP and there was money from MGM, is Highland doesn't own the stock that's -- or interests in the 1.0 CLOs that owned all of it. We just manage it.

THE COURT: Uh-huh.

THE WITNESS: And that goes to various other entities, including, in large part, to Dondero entities. So there wasn't a big windfall to Highland from that.

The possibility of some upside from HCLOF, because it owned small interests in those five, there was some value in that, but a lot of it got tied up in the litigation that other entities, Dondero entities, are bringing against U.S. Bank and Acis, which has tied up everything in that -- those distributions.

THE COURT: Okay. All right. Thank you. You are excused from the stand.

THE WITNESS: Thank you, Your Honor.

MR. STANCIL: I owe you a docket number, Your Honor. You said don't let us leave before we give you a docket number for that second contempt order. We promised to come back. It was #2660.

THE COURT: Okay. Got it.

MR. STANCIL: Which -- did we move that into evidence?

MR. MORRIS: No. We asked the Court to take judicial notice.

THE COURT: I will take judicial notice of 2660, --

MR. STANCIL: Thank you, Your Honor.

THE COURT: -- I already said. Thank you.

THE WITNESS: Thank you, Your Honor.

THE COURT: You're excused.

(The witness steps down.)

THE COURT: All right. Are you going to have any other evidence, Mr. McEntire?

MR. MCENTIRE: Your Honor, as I respond to your question, I think we have 30 -- approximately 30 minutes left.

THE CLERK: Twenty-six, yes.

MR. MCENTIRE: Twenty-six. We do have another witness. We also have a closing final argument. And we also have an opportunity -- we want to reserve an opportunity for our experts that is still under advisement.

So my first action would be to ask for an extension of time, or we would like to add to our time limit. Instead of just three hours, we'd like to increase the time so we can accomplish all these things.

I mean, if the Court is unwilling to give us additional time, then I will be forced not to call another witness. I will move to a very short final argument. I need to preserve some time for my experts, should you allow them to testify.

THE COURT: Well, --

MR. MORRIS: May I respond?

THE COURT: -- you don't have to preserve time. I'm either going to allow you to put on your experts, and we said 30 minutes/30 minutes, --

MR. MORRIS: That was what I was going to say, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. MORRIS: There's no prejudice here. Nobody's being harmed. There's no appellate issue. I thought we were really clear. Everybody gets their three hours today. We will file our reply brief on Monday. The Court will determine both whether it needs to hear expert testimony and whether or not our motion should be sustained. If the Court denies the motion, we'll take a couple of depositions and each side will get whatever period of time the Court orders.

But, you know, the attempts to create an appellate record are just -- you know, that's not -- there's no issue here. He can -- he's got 26 minutes. He can put on his witness, he can make his closing in the 26 minutes that they've always had.

THE COURT: All right. Well, we have --

MR. MCENTIRE: May I caucus? May I caucus very quickly, Your Honor?

THE COURT: Okay. Uh-huh. And while you're caucusing, we have our game plan on the experts. We know how that's going to happen. And I'm not extending the three hours.

MR. MORRIS: (sotto voce) We have 62 minutes?

(Pause.)

MR. MCENTIRE: Your Honor, accordingly, I'll just -- we'll move into a final argument at this time.

THE COURT: Okay. So you rest?

MR. MCENTIRE: I rest.

THE COURT: All right.

MR. MORRIS: We call Mark Patrick.

THE COURT: All right. Mr. Patrick, you've been called to the witness stand.

MR. MORRIS: I just need to find my examination notes. Just give me one moment, please.

THE COURT: All right. Please raise your right hand. Could you remain standing, please.

(The witness is sworn.)

THE COURT: All right. You may be seated.

MARK PATRICK, DEBTORS' WITNESS, SWORN

DIRECT EXAMINATION

BY MR. MORRIS:

Q Hi, Mr. Patrick.

A Hello.

Q Did you ever meet with anybody at the Texas State Securities Board?

A No.

Q Do you know if -- do you know anybody who ever met with anybody at the Texas State Securities Board concerning Highland?

A Yes.

Q And who met with the Texas State Securities Board concerning Highland?

A Ronnie (phonetic) Patel.

Q And is that a lawyer?
A Yes.
Q Do you know who retained Mr. -- that lawyer?
A Yes.
Q Who retained that lawyer?
A The DAF, the Charitable DAF Fund. Or one of its entities.
Q Okay. And is it your understanding that the DAF Fund or one of its charitable entities filed a complaint with the Texas State Securities Board?
A Yes.
Q Okay. Thank you very much. Does Hunter Mountain owe any money to Mr. Dondero?
A No.
Q Is there a promissory note that's outstanding that Mr. Dondero has pursuant to which Hunter Mountain owes him $60-plus million?
A No.
Q Who created Hunter Mountain?
A Well, I don't recall specifically. I just recall the facts that, when Hunter Mountain was created, Thomas Surgent, the chief compliance officer of Highland Capital Management, who was representing the Dugaboy Investment Trust as well as Highland Capital legally with respect to that transaction, requested to Rand that the Hunter Mountain Investment Trust be created for purposes of Highland filing its ADV with the SEC.

It was my understanding that when the ADV would be filed, sort of the ownership change would -- chain would stop at Hunter Mountain.

Q Okay. Dugaboy is Mr. Dondero's family trust, correct?

A No. But I'll help you along. Just please use the full name of the trust.

Q If I refer to the Trust, will you know that that's -- is that for the Hunter Mountain Investment Trust, or do you want me to use trust --

A There's no entity called Dugaboy. Just Dugaboy. There's not.

Q Okay.

A It's a shorthand. I'm --

Q Okay. I'll refer to Dugaboy then, okay?

A What are we referring to?

Q The trust known as Dugaboy.

A Okay. Fair enough. Go ahead.

Q Okay. Did Dugaboy contribute a portion of its ownership interest in Highland to the Highland -- to the Hunter Mountain Investment Trust?

A Contribute? No.

Q Did it transfer?

A Yes.

Q And did it receive in exchange a promissory note from Hunter Mountain?

A Yes, it did.
Q Okay. And Mr. Dondero is the lifetime beneficiary of Dugaboy, correct?
A Yes and no. It's a placeholder -- a placeholder provision that's never been used.
MR. MCCLEARY: Your Honor, pardon me. Pardon me. Objection, relevance, Your Honor.
THE COURT: Relevance?
MR. MORRIS: This is -- we've been told so many times that Mr. Dondero has no interest in this case, he has nothing to do with Hunter Mountain. He's the lifetime beneficiary of Dugaboy. And if I --
THE WITNESS: That provision has never been invoked. He's received no money through that provision.
THE COURT: Okay. Just wait. We're resolving --
MR. MORRIS: Right.
THE COURT: -- an objection at the moment.
BY MR. MORRIS:
Q Can we turn to Exhibit 51?
THE COURT: I'm still working on the objection.
MR. MORRIS: I'm going to try and lay a foundation. Okay?
THE COURT: Okay. So he's withdrawing the question.
MR. MCCLEARY: He's withdrawing the question? Okay.
THE COURT: Okay.

BY MR. MORRIS:

Q You have a binder in front of you, sir. Can you go to Exhibit 51?

THE COURT: And this is Highland's Exhibit 51?

MR. MORRIS: Yeah.

THE COURT: Okay.

BY MR. MORRIS:

Q And is that a promissory note that was made --

A Yes, it is.

Q -- that was made by Hunter Mountain in favor of Dugaboy back in 2015?

MR. MCCLEARY: Objection, relevance, Your Honor.

MR. MORRIS: I'm trying to connect Mr. Dondero to Hunter Mountain.

THE COURT: Okay. Overruled.

THE WITNESS: Yeah. It's a secured promissory note with the amount of approximately $62.6 million signed by Beacon Mountain, LLC, --

MR. MORRIS: Uh-huh.

THE WITNESS: -- as administrator for Hunter Mountain Investment Trust.

BY MR. MORRIS:

Q Okay. And as the -- what's your role with Hunter Mountain today?

A And it's in favor, just to answer your question, it's in favor of the Dugaboy Investment Trust. That's where I was just being a little stickler --

Q I appreciate that.

A -- previously. Sorry.

Q I do.

A Okay. What is your question?

Q What's your role with Hunter Mountain today?

A I am the administrator.

Q When did you become the administrator?

A On or about August of 2022.

Q Okay. How did you become the administrator?

A Through the acquisition of Rand Advisors.

Q And does Hunter Mountain have any employees?

A No.

Q Does it have any operations?

A No.

Q Does it generate any revenue?

A Not -- not currently.

Q Okay. Did it generate any revenue in 2022?

A No.

Q Does it own any assets?

A Yes.

Q What does it own?

A It has -- it's my understanding it has a contingent beneficiary interest in the Claimants Trust.

Q And that's the only asset it has, right?
A Correct.
Q So that if it -- if that interest has no value, then Hunter Mountain has no ability to pay the Dugaboy note. Fair?
A (sotto voce) If that interest has no value?
That is correct.
Q Okay.
MR. MORRIS: I move Exhibit 51 into evidence.
MR. MCCLEARY: Your Honor, relevance. Objection.
THE COURT: Your response?
MR. MORRIS: Mr. Dondero desperately needs Hunter Mountain to win in this lawsuit because otherwise his family trust will get nothing on this $63 million note.
THE COURT: Okay. Overrule the objection. It's admitted.
(Debtors' Exhibit 51 is received into evidence.)
BY MR. MORRIS:
Q Neither you or any representative of Hunter Mountain has ever spoken with any representative of Farallon, correct?
A Correct.
Q Neither you nor any representative of Hunter Mountain has ever spoken with anybody at Stonehill, correct?
A Correct.
Q You have -- neither you nor Hunter Mountain have any personal knowledge about a quid pro quo, correct?

A (sotto voce) Nor Hunter Mountain have any personal knowledge about a quid pro quo.

Correct.

Q Neither you nor anybody at Hunter Mountain have any personal knowledge about how Mr. Seery's compensation package was determined, correct?

A Correct.

Q Neither you nor anybody at Hunter Mountain had any knowledge about the terms of Mr. Seery's compensation package until the Highland parties voluntarily disclosed that in opposition to the Hunter Mountain motion, correct?

A No. I --

MR. STANCIL: Objection, relevance, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Overruled.

THE WITNESS: No. I seem to -- I seem to have an awareness that the performance fee was amended at a certain time post-confirmation, or, you know, around the confirmation time period. And so that's with respect to the compensation. I -- just myself.

BY MR. MORRIS:

Q Can you tell Judge Jernigan everything you know or everything you knew before receiving Highland's opposition to this motion about Mr. Seery's compensation as the CEO of the Reorganized Debtor at the Claimant Trustee?

MR. MCCLEARY: Objection, Your Honor. That's overboard and an unclear question.

THE COURT: Overruled. He's gone through some specific things now. I guess he's just trying to encompass anything we haven't covered.

THE WITNESS: Yeah. I had a -- I personally had a general understanding that Mr. Seery's compensation changed after the claims trading to put in a performance-based-type measure. But I do recall that it was always very -- it was unclear exactly the terms.

BY MR. MORRIS:

Q Okay. Did you learn anything else?

A Such as?

Q Just, did you ever learn anything else about Mr. Seery's compensation package that you haven't testified to yet?

MR. STANCIL: Your Honor, objection. Vague.

THE COURT: Overruled.

THE WITNESS: No.

BY MR. MORRIS:

Q Okay. Neither you nor Hunter Mountain has any personal knowledge whatsoever about any due diligence that Stonehill did in connection with the purchase of claims, correct?

MR. MCCLEARY: Your Honor, he's getting into allegations in the complaint which involve attorney work product, so we object on the basis of invading the attorney work product.

THE COURT: Overruled.

THE WITNESS: Can you restate the question again?

BY MR. MORRIS:

Q Yes, sir. Neither you nor Hunter Mountain have any personal knowledge as to what due diligence Stonehill did before purchasing its claims in this case, correct?

MR. MCCLEARY: Objection. Attorney work product. Invasion of that. Could I --

THE COURT: I just ruled.

MR. MCCLEARY: I understand.

THE COURT: I just --

MR. MCCLEARY: Could I have a running objection to this line of questioning on that basis, Your Honor, invasion of attorney work product?

THE COURT: Why don't you explain why it's attorney work product. I'm missing --

MR. MCCLEARY: Because they might -- he would have knowledge from the efforts and investigation through attorneys in the case. I assume he's not asking -- you can't separate that, potentially. So he's getting into attorney work product.

MR. MORRIS: I'm asking for facts.

THE COURT: He's asking for facts. I overrule.

BY MR. MORRIS:

Q Can you answer the question, sir?

A Yeah. I'm not aware -- I'm not personally aware of how much work Farallon did, or Stonehill.
Q You have no knowledge whatsoever about the diligence Stonehill did before purchasing its claims, correct?
A Well, I would generalize now is that they did nothing.
Q And that's on the basis of Mr. Dondero's testimony, correct?
A I would just call it on a basis of our general inquiry, which would be including, in part, Mr. Dondero's testimony.
Q What else are you relying upon for your conclusion that you just described other than Mr. Dondero's? What other facts?
A Yeah, we -- yeah, we have not uncovered any facts that indicated that they did conduct any due diligence of any sort.
Q Okay. And are you -- do you have any personal knowledge as to what Farallon did in connection with its due diligence prior to buying its claim?
A Yeah. We have not been able to find any facts that would suggest that Farallon conducted any due diligence of any kind.
Q Okay.

MR. MORRIS: One second, Your Honor.

(Pause.)

BY MR. MORRIS:
Q Who's paying Hunter Mountain's legal fees?
A Hunter Mountain is paying -- is legally obligated and paying its own legal fees.

Q If it generates no income and its only assets is the interest in Highland, where is it getting the funds to pay legal fees?

MR. MCCLEARY: Objection, Your Honor. This is irrelevant and invades the attorney-client privilege.

MR. STANCIL: Your Honor, I'm happy to read a Fifth Circuit case that says the identity of a third-party payer of attorneys' fees is not privileged. I would refer them to In re Grand Jury Subpoena, 913 F.2d 1118, a 1990 Fifth Circuit case. I can read from Judge Jones' opinion, but you tell me how much you want to hear on this.

THE COURT: Okay. I overrule your objection. He can answer.

THE WITNESS: There is a settlement agreement by Hunter Mountain Investment Trust as well as the Dugaboy Investment Trust that provides for the payment of attorney fees.

MR. MORRIS: No further questions, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Okay. Cross?

MR. MCCLEARY: Yes, Your Honor, briefly.

CROSS-EXAMINATION

BY MR. MCCLEARY:

Q Mr. Patrick, how would you describe Mr. Dondero's relationship with Hunter Mountain Investment Trust today?

A None.

Q You were asked some -- let me ask you about litigation, and litigation involving the sub-trust. Has Hunter Mountain been involved in litigation with Mr. Kirschner?

A Yes.

Q Okay. And what is your understanding of Mr. Kirschner's role?

MR. MORRIS: Your Honor, while I would love for them to continue --

MR. MCCLEARY: He's the --

MR. MORRIS: -- to use their time, I object that it's beyond the scope of my examination. They passed on the witness. They rested their case. He should be limited to the scope of my inquiry.

THE COURT: Okay. How does this tie to direct?

MR. MCCLEARY: Your Honor, it -- just very generally. This is --

THE COURT: Okay. I need to know how it ties to the direct.

MR. MCCLEARY: This doesn't tie directly to the direct, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Then it's beyond the scope, you acknowledge?

MR. MCCLEARY: Yes, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Okay. Sustained, then.

MR. MCCLEARY: Okay.

BY MR. MCCLEARY:

Q Mr. Patrick, has Hunter Mountain Investment filed any litigation as a plaintiff other than its efforts to be a plaintiff in this lawsuit and its action as a petitioner in the Rule 201 matter earlier this year in Dallas state court?

A The 202.

Q 202, yes.

A No, it has not.

Q All right. And then it's -- has it been a party, then, to any other litigation other than the efforts to file this action, the Rule 202 action, and has it been a defendant in any lawsuits?

A To my understanding, no.

Q Is it involved as a defendant in the Kirschner litigation?

A Yes.

Q Mr. Kirschner is suing Hunter Mountain; is that correct?

A That is correct.

Q Okay. So, is Hunter Mountain a vexatious litigant?

MR. MORRIS: Objection, Your Honor. This is now really beyond the scope. We're not doing -- this is -- we're not doing it. I'm not letting -- because there's a vexatious litigant motion pending now in the district court right now before Judge Starr. This has nothing to do with anything I asked.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. MCCLEARY: They're trying to draw --

THE COURT: You've already asked him is it a party in any other litigation besides the 202 and this attempted one, so where are we going with this?

MR. MCCLEARY: Well, they're just trying to draw Mr. Dondero into this and -- this vexatious litigant argument, and we're just developing the fact that obviously Hunter Mountain has only filed -- attempting to file this action and a Rule 202 proceeding. So they're not involved in a lot of litigation and they're not a vexatious litigant.

THE COURT: Okay. I think I'll sustain that and we can just move on.

MR. MCCLEARY: Okay. Then I'll pass the witness. Thank you, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Okay. Any redirect?

MR. MORRIS: No, thank you, Your Honor.

THE COURT: All right. You are excused, Mr. Patrick.

(The witness steps down.)

THE COURT: Anything else?

MR. MORRIS: Just a time check for both sides and let's get to closings.

THE COURT: Okay. Caroline?

THE CLERK: Movant has 23 minutes left and the Respondents have 47.

THE COURT: 23 and 47. Any other evidence from the Respondents?

MR. MORRIS: That is a fair question.

(Discussion.)

MR. MCCLEARY: Your Honor, I just want to confirm that all the exhibits that they did not object to have been admitted into evidence.

THE COURT: All right. Well, let me --

MR. MCCLEARY: We do offer them.

MR. MORRIS: Oh.

THE COURT: Hang on.

MR. MORRIS: Did I get Exhibit 45, Your Honor?

THE COURT: Just a moment. I'm doing two things at once here. 45 is in.

MR. MORRIS: Okay.

THE COURT: All right. On HMIT's exhibits, okay, first, as we all know, 29 through 52 are carried until -- if we have another hearing with the experts.

(HMIT's Exhibits 29 through 52 carried.)

THE COURT: I'm showing we have -- and speak up if anyone questions this -- I show that we have Hunter Mountain Exhibits 3 and 4, and then 7 through 10, 12 through 23, and 26 through 38, and 53 through 57, 64, 65, and then 67 through seventy --

(HMIT's Exhibits 3, 4, 7-10, 12-23, 26-38, 53-57, 64, 65, 67-70 are received into evidence.)

MR. MCCLEARY: Your Honor, I apologize. From 36 -- 26 to 32 are in?

THE COURT: I believe that was part of the stipulation, Mr. Morris, right?

MR. MCCLEARY: Yes.

MR. MORRIS: I think that's right.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. MORRIS: We really didn't object to very many.

THE COURT: Yes.

MR. MCCLEARY: That would be 25, too. That would include 25?

MR. STANCIL: No. Objection. 25 is not --

THE COURT: It's not admitted.

MR. STANCIL: It's not in evidence.

THE COURT: 25 and 24 were not admitted.

MR. MORRIS: Correct. Those are my emails.

THE COURT: Okay. So --

MR. MCCLEARY: 25 is an article.

THE COURT: Your 25 was John Morris Email Re: Text Messages dated March 10, 2023.

MR. MCCLEARY: Okay.

THE COURT: Okay. I can't remember where I left off. I think I left off -- I'll just repeat after the expert exhibits that are carried. I've admitted 53 through 57. I have admitted 64, 65, 67 through 71.

(HMIT's Exhibit 71 is received into evidence.)

Now, I'm not sure if I ended up admitting 72. That was the articles. I can't remember if you stipulated on that finally.

MR. MORRIS: I said they --

MR. MCCLEARY: They had no objection.

MR. MORRIS: -- they come in --

THE COURT: Not for the truth of the matter asserted.

MR. MORRIS: -- self -- exactly.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. MORRIS: Self-authenticating.

THE COURT: So 72 is in.

MR. MCCLEARY: Okay.

(HMIT's Exhibit 72 is received into evidence.)

THE COURT: Then we had some pleadings. I think 73, 74, 75 are in, but again, not for the truth of the matter asserted in any advocacy on 73 and 74. And then 77, 78, 79 are in. And that's it.

(HMIT's Exhibits 73, 74, 75, 77, 78, and 79 are received into evidence.)

MS. DEITSCH-PEREZ: Your Honor, I didn't make an appearance, but I was taking notes (inaudible).

MR. MCCLEARY: Your Honor, I believe 80 should be in.

MR. MORRIS: No objection to 80. It's on our -- it's part of our Exhibit 5.

THE COURT: Okay. 80 is in. Admitted.

(HMIT's exhibit 80 is received into evidence.)

MR. MORRIS: Yeah. That's really Section A of that thing that I gave you this morning.

THE COURT: If Ms. Deitsch-Perez wants to consult with the Hunter Mountain lawyers, she can. I don't know --

MR. MORRIS: Can I go through quickly mine, Your Honor? Because we actually never had the opportunity to put our exhibits in.

THE COURT: Okay. Let's make sure we're to --

MR. MORRIS: Okay. I'm sorry. I'm sorry.

THE COURT: -- closure on the Hunter Mountain exhibits.

MR. MORRIS: I'm sorry.

THE COURT: Anything I said that you disagree with? I don't think --

(Pause.)

THE COURT: Okay. Let's hurry up. What is the controversy?

A VOICE: Roger? The Court's addressing you.

MR. MCCLEARY: Oh. Excuse me, Your Honor. So, just a little unclear of whether you have Exhibits 21 through 25 admitted.

THE COURT: I have 21, 22, and 23. Not 24. Not 25.

Okay. Anything else?

MR. MCCLEARY: Okay. Then we do offer 24 and 25.

THE COURT: You offered them. I did not admit them.

MR. MCCLEARY: Okay. 76. I believe -- was that -- you're carrying?

MS. DEITSCH-PEREZ: Carried.

MR. MCCLEARY: You're carrying that?

THE COURT: Okay. I carried that and --

MR. MCCLEARY: It's part of the expert issue.

THE COURT: Okay. Yes, part of the expert. So it's carried.

(HMIT's Exhibit 76 is carried.)

(Pause.)

MR. MCCLEARY: I understand you've admitted 53 through 83, although some of them have now not been approved.

THE COURT: All right. Well, we need to clarify. 58 through 63, you think you offered them and I admitted them, but not for the truth? I remember that being discussed for 58 through 63. Are you actually offering them?

MR. MCCLEARY: Yes. 58 through 63.

THE COURT: All right. And Mr. Morris, you ultimately agreed that yes, but not for the truth of the matter asserted?

MR. MORRIS: That's right, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Okay. So they are admitted. Okay.

(HMIT's Exhibits 58 through 63 are received into evidence.)

THE COURT: And then there was an objection to the Mark Patrick declaration for the same thing, not for the truth of the matter asserted.

MR. MORRIS: Exactly.

THE COURT: But you agree as long as it's --

MR. MORRIS: Correct.

THE COURT: Okay. So what that means is, to recap, 53 through 75 are admitted, although some of those are only -- they're not for the truth of the matter asserted. And then 77 through 80 are admitted. Okay?

MR. MCCLEARY: And 76? We offered 76.

THE COURT: That's -- we carried it. We carried it. It relates to the expert.

MR. MCCLEARY: Carried it.

(Pause.)

MR. MCCLEARY: Thank you, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Okay. Now let's straighten out Highland's exhibits. So, I'm showing 1 through 16 have been admitted, and then 25 through 31-A?

MR. MORRIS: 25 through 31-A?

THE COURT: I'm sorry. Yes. 25 through 31-A.

MR. MORRIS: Okay.

THE COURT: And then 34. And then 39, 40, 41, and then 45. 51, 59, and 60.

MR. MORRIS: Okay. So I'm going to do my best not to burden the Court. I'm trying to focus. We move for the admission into evidence of Exhibit 32, which is Mr. Dondero's objection to the HarbourVest settlement. And the reason that we're offering it is because he made no mention of any concern at all that the settlement implicated material nonpublic inside information.

THE COURT: All right. Any objection?

MR. MCCLEARY: 32?

THE COURT: Uh-huh.

MR. MCCLEARY: Yes, Your Honor. Relevance and hearsay.

THE COURT: Overruled. And I can take judicial notice of it in any event.

(Debtors' Exhibit 32 is received into evidence.)

MR. MORRIS: We move for the admission into evidence of Exhibit 33, which is the recent letter from the Texas State Securities Board declining to take any action after conducting an investigation of the Dugaboy complaint.

THE COURT: Okay. Any objection?

MR. MCCLEARY: We object on the grounds of relevance, 403, hearsay, and authenticity, Your Honor.

And I also, I think it's important that the decision by a regulatory body has no bearing on this cause of action or the colorability of this claim, and the Texas State Securities Board will tell you that. This is completely and utterly irrelevant to your inquiry, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Okay. I overrule the relevance objection. Certainly, it goes to colorability. It's some evidence. It's some evidence. A regulatory body did not choose to go forward --

MR. MCCLEARY: But that could be for --

THE COURT: -- on the complaint.

MR. MCCLEARY: That could be for reasons entirely unrelated.

THE COURT: True, true. It's some evidence.

MR. MORRIS: That's speculation.

MR. MCCLEARY: Not for this.

THE COURT: But what is the authenticity objection?

MR. MCCLEARY: Well, there's no demonstration. I don't believe they sponsored that with anyone.

THE COURT: Pardon? Say again?

MR. MCCLEARY: They didn't sponsor that with anyone.

MR. MORRIS: Your Honor, I actually -- if they really put me to it, because I was reading the Rules of Evidence in the wee hours of the morning, I am certain that there's an exception for government documents and government statements and government decisions.

MR. STANCIL: Your Honor, as to its authenticity, I could produce a witness from Highland who said they got it, if that's really what we're doing. That it's the letter, they got it from the TSSB, if we're really doing authenticity.

MR. MCENTIRE: Well, first of all, it's hearsay and there is no authenticity issue and it's irrelevant. I understand --

MR. STANCIL: What is the authenticity issue, Mr. McEntire?

THE COURT: I'm trying to understand the authenticity issue. You think this is a --

MR. STANCIL: Do you think it's a real letter or a fake letter?

MR. MCENTIRE: Well, first of all, I'm going to address the Court and not you, okay?

Your Honor, --

THE COURT: Well, address by speaking in a --

MR. MCENTIRE: Yeah. Thank you.

THE COURT: Okay. I'm just saving the court reporter from grief, okay?

MR. MCENTIRE: It is hearsay, and it is hearsay that is calculated to be misrepresented or mischaracterized because it's utter speculation as to the basis for their decision. And if it's -- utter speculation is the basis of your decision, it has no reason to come in. There's no --

THE COURT: What you're telling me, it goes to the weight of the evidence. Okay?

MR. MCENTIRE: Your Honor, --

THE COURT: Okay. You're not telling me it's inadmissible hearsay.

MR. MCENTIRE: Well, it is inadmissible hearsay.

MR. MORRIS: Can I just, for one second?

THE COURT: Please.

MR. MORRIS: Paragraph 34 of their motion, Your Honor. Quote, "The Court also should be aware that the Texas State Securities Board opened an investigation into the subject matter of the insider tradings at issue, and this investigation has not been closed. The continuing nature of this investigation underscores HMIT's position that the claims described in the attached adversary proceeding are plausible and certainly far more than merely colorable."

They used the investigation to try to convince you that their claims are colorable, and now we have a letter saying there's nothing.

THE COURT: Okay. You want to explain that to me?

MR. MCENTIRE: Well, we put no evidence in, in this proceeding --

THE COURT: You put what?

MR. MCENTIRE: We have put no evidence in, in this proceeding, --

THE COURT: You filed a pleading under Rule 11 suggesting this was highly relevant, right?

MR. MCENTIRE: We filed a motion. Yes, we did.

THE COURT: Under Rule 11.

MR. MCENTIRE: Yes. Of course we did.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. MCENTIRE: Of course we did.

THE COURT: Suggesting this Texas State Securities Board complaint and investigation was highly relevant.

MR. MCENTIRE: The fact that it had opened an investigation and was conducting an investigation is irrelevant. Its decision to stop the investigation without further elaboration or clarification, this is why it calls for utter speculation.

MR. MORRIS: Your --

THE COURT: Okay. Do you have the hearsay exception that applies? I'm looking at my evidence rules right now for the government record or public record. Is it 803(8) that we need to have addressed here?

MR. STANCIL: 803(8), Your Honor.

A VOICE: Yeah, public records.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. STANCIL: Public record. Sets out --

THE COURT: Public records, 803(8), hearsay exception. Moreover, you pled allegations suggesting this investigation was really relevant. So I overrule your objection, and so that means 33 is admitted.

(Debtors' Exhibit 33 is received into evidence.)

MR. MORRIS: Thank you, Your Honor. I continue. Exhibit 36 --

MR. MCENTIRE: Which one was that?

MR. MORRIS: That was 33.

So now we're up to 36, Your Honor. I'm going to skip some of these.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. MORRIS: But this is just the Court's order approving Mr. Seery's original --

THE COURT: I'm waiting for any objection for the record. Do we have an objection, Mr. McCleary?

MR. MCCLEARY: 36, relevance, Your Honor.

MR. MORRIS: The relevance is that this Court approved without objection Mr. Seery's compensation package in an amount that included a base salary of $150,000, which the Claimant Purchasers and the independent director saw fit to continue.

THE COURT: Objection overruled. It's admitted.

(Debtors' Exhibit 36 is received into evidence.)

MR. MORRIS: I think 38 may be on their list. Yeah, 38 is in as their 26, right? So that should be admitted.

THE COURT: Admitted.

(Debtors' Exhibit 38 is received into evidence.)

MR. MCCLEARY: If it's on our list, we agree.

THE COURT: Okay. It's admitted.

MR. MORRIS: That's it, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Okay. Do you all need a five-minute break before we do closing arguments?

MR. MORRIS: I'd be grateful.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. MCCLEARY: Yes, Your Honor. Thank you.

THE COURT: Will do.

THE CLERK: All rise

(A recess ensued from 5:49 p.m. to 5:57 p.m.)

THE CLERK: All rise.

THE COURT: All right. Please be seated.

We're back on the record in the Highland matter. Closing arguments. Just for everyone's benefit, time -- you said 47 minutes and 23 minutes back several minutes ago, and then we had all the housekeeping stuff. So I'm not sure if that's where we are right now or if --

MR. MCENTIRE: I'm waiting for my monitor guy to be here.

THE COURT: Okay. Okay.

So Caroline, is it still 47 and 23?

THE CLERK: Yes.

THE COURT: That's when we started the housekeeping stuff.

MR. MCENTIRE: So 27 minutes?

THE COURT: Twenty-three.

THE CLERK: Twenty-three.

MR. MCENTIRE: Twenty-three? Can I get a five-minute warning, please? Would you pull up the PowerPoint? And let's go to Slide 39.

May I proceed, Your Honor?

THE COURT: You may.

CLOSING ARGUMENT ON BEHALF OF HUNTER MOUNTAIN INVESTMENT TRUST

MR. MCENTIRE: So, before I go to the PowerPoint, I'd like to kind of give a high-altitude overview of the situation as I see it from the evidence perspective. We don't believe this should have been an evidentiary hearing. Evidence has been allowed.

We had a situation where, if you believe Mr. Dondero's testimony as contrasted with Mr. Seery's testimony, you have a credibility issue. So the Court is now conducting an inquiry presumably on the basis in part on the credibility of witnesses. And if you engage -- and if you want to indulge that type of inquiry, the credibility of witnesses, without allowing the Plaintiff in this case or the Movant in this case to conduct some level of meaningful discovery, I would suggest we have been deprived of due process, because without documents to test Mr. Seery's statements, we are being deprived of something that's basically very fundamental in our judicial process.

And therefore, it underscores our argument and our rationale why this shouldn't be an evidentiary hearing, because I don't believe the Court can consider credibility issues.

We have, on the one hand, unequivocal notes from Mr. Dondero prepared contemporaneously that would suggest that someone admitted to him and stated to him that they did in fact obtain material nonpublic information. Mr. Seery says that didn't happen. I specifically said, is that a lie? Yes, it's not true. Well, that's a real problem, because that's not the criteria that this Court should use for determining whether we have a colorable claim. A colorable claim is whether there is some possibility. It's something less, even less stringent than a 12(b)(6) standard, plausibility. We have that.

If you look at our pleadings, we have set forth all of the facts we need, all the elements we need to establish a trade on material inside information, nonpublic information. We have evidence -- we have allegations that there was no due diligence. And Farallon's lawyer stood up here -- well, I'm not going to really address that today. But if there was any day to address it, it was today. We have no evidence to suggest they did do due diligence. Even Mr. Seery said, I don't know what due diligence they did. We have evidence to suggest that the only due diligence they did was to talk to Mr. Seery, who has told -- who told them that this is very valuable, don't -- this is a really good -- a good investment here, it's a lot better than the 71 percent that's on our disclosures.

And Judge, that evidence supports the colorability of the claim. And if you go down the pathway of saying, well, I'm not sure about Mr. Dondero because he had been held in contempt two years ago, that's a real problem. That's a problem for this Court. And I'm going to suggest that's why this should have been a four-corners deliberation. Even Farallon and Stonehill suggest this should be a four-corners deliberation.

We have evidence now of no due diligence. We have evidence before you that suggests that they did learn about MGM before the announcement date. We have evidence that Mr. Seery did trade on -- did -- was aware and received information of material nonpublic information. And for him, a CEO of his reputed stature, to sit here and say that was not material and that was nonpublic defies common sense. It defies reasonableness. That goes to credibility.

Mr. Dondero's notes speak volumes. The trades themselves speak volumes. Mr. Dondero established that the interest -- return of interest here is to be less than one -- it's in the one digits, and hedge funds trade in the 30, 40, 50 percent range. Well, if that's the case, we have Farallon walking away from a return on the exit financing of 13 percent, and that wasn't good enough for him. How could six percent be good enough for him? There's something missing here. There's something not right.

And we're entitled to get our lawsuit on file and do some discovery. And if they want to do a 12(b)(6), they do a 12(b)(6). If they want to do a Rule 56 after discovery, they could do a Rule 56, all in this Court. But to address this threshold issue now based upon this, what happened here today, is a fundamental denial of due process.

I'd like to go to my pleadings.

Can you go to Slide 39, please?

First of all, let there be no doubt -- 39. Slide 39. 38. 38, please.

We can plead on information and belief. We have a right to plead on information and belief. And the Fifth Circuit -- that is an acknowledged procedural practice in the Fifth Circuit. And if some of our allegations are based upon information and belief, so be it. The test here is not at this stage. The test here is whether I have sufficient factual allegations, whether on information and belief or otherwise, to satisfy at most a plausibility standard. That's it.

And if they want to challenge us at a later date, they can. Rule 56. 12(b)(6). Or standing. But we have standing. We have standing. We have standing under Delaware law. We're a contingent beneficial interest that has standing under Delaware law and all other law. All -- even Texas agrees that a contingent interest has standing, an inchoate interest as Mr. Seery described. A property interest. You have property interest, you have standing.

THE COURT: Let me ask you.

And Caroline, turn the clock off when the Court interrupts.

Just so you know, I mean, my analysis here is standing first. Does your client have standing? Because we all know that's a subject matter jurisdiction inquiry and I have to explore that first. And then I've said many times the legal standard question for colorability. That's kind of the second place I go --

MR. MCENTIRE: Sure.

THE COURT: -- if I find there's standing. But can you tell me, have there been appellate decisions that are relevant today on standing? Contrary to what people may expect, I don't follow every appellate decision from every appeal in the Highland case. Okay? I wait until I get a mandate --

MR. MCENTIRE: Sure.

THE COURT: -- to where I have to act on something.

MR. MCENTIRE: Sure.

THE COURT: So I feel like I've learned at some point that some either district judge or Fifth Circuit said some party didn't have standing. And I don't know if it was Hunter Mountain or some other trust.

MR. MCENTIRE: Not --

THE COURT: And is there anything they said that, if it wasn't Hunter Mountain, could be relevant here?

MR. MCENTIRE: I hope somebody kicks me if I'm wrong, what I'm about to say. I'm not aware of any such issue --

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. MCENTIRE: -- dealing with Hunter Mountain Investment Trust. I am not.

THE COURT: But any other party that might somehow bear on this case?

MR. MORRIS: I apologize, Your Honor, I was distracted. For which issue?

THE COURT: Standing. Because I was saying my first thing I've got to tackle in ruling on this is standing of Hunter Mountain. And I seem to remember learning that either the district court on an appeal or the Fifth Circuit on some appeal from Highland --

MR. MORRIS: Correct.

THE COURT: -- said some party didn't have standing.

MR. MORRIS: Correct.

THE COURT: And I don't know if it was --

MR. MORRIS: Dugaboy on the 2015.3, for sure, was a Fifth Circuit standing decision.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. MORRIS: I think there was a district court order that preceded that.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. MORRIS: That was the subject of the appeal.

THE COURT: The Dugaboy --

MR. MORRIS: 2015.3.

THE COURT: -- motion to require those --

MR. MORRIS: Yeah.

THE COURT: -- 2015.3 statements. Okay.

MR. MCENTIRE: So what we have here -- we can go back on the clock if you'd like.

THE COURT: Yes, please.

MR. MCENTIRE: How much time do I have?

THE CLERK: You have just under 16 minutes.

MR. MCENTIRE: Sixteen? Okay. Give me a two-minute warning. Sorry.

Your Honor, what we have here --

THE COURT: I don't think the U.S. Supreme Court justices will give you a two-minute warning, but maybe I'm wrong.

MR. MCENTIRE: Would you give me a two-minute warning, please?

THE COURT: And I'm sure not a Supreme Court justice.

MR. MCENTIRE: What we have here is we have a 99.5 percent equity interest that has now been relegated to a category of contingent interest, which we don't believe we should be, and that's part of our declaratory judgment relief we're asking for, which we have standing to do that at a minimum because we want to be treated like a Class 9.

If they want to treat us like a Class 10, I have an argument for that, and it's more than colorable. It's persuasive. It's -- it is a winning argument. And that is we do have standing in our individual capacity, and we have given you a whole bunch of cases in our PowerPoint, or we will give you a whole bunch of cases in our PowerPoint and in our briefing to support that.

We also have given you Delaware case law that says we have standing under Delaware trust law to bring a derivative action against the Trustee. We have done everything appropriate here.

We have the -- a demand upon Seery obviously would be futile to prosecute the claim. A demand upon the Oversight Board would be futile to make a demand on Muck and Jessup, because they're Defendants and they're SPEs of Farallon and Stonehill. And a demand upon Mr. Kirschner would be futile. They suggest that there's an assignment of some sort, but that would be a modification -- of the claims over to the Litigation Trust, but that would be a modification of the plan.

There's been no assignment of this claim, or these claims, to the Litigation Trust Trustee. But even if there had been, we pled that in the alternative as well. And it would be futile to make a demand on Mr. Kirschner because he's suing Hunter Mountain.

So we are an appropriate party. The only, then, issue becomes whether or not we have standing under Delaware law to bring a derivative action. And we have briefed that and we -- and that's included in our PowerPoint. The answer is yes.

I'd like to go briefly to Page -- next slide.

In our factual section, we set forth why this investment would defy any kind of rational economic sense in the absence of material nonpublic information as a factual allegation supported by data, supported by dates, supported by time.

Based upon that, we also have allegations that are framed around the admissions that Mr. Michael Linn provided. We have allegations that he turned down a 30 or 40 percent premium in our petition. We have allegations that they admitted that they did no due diligence. We have allegations that they admitted that they got material -- basically information about MGM.

And again, it's not all about MGM. It's about the values of all the portfolio companies. They want to make it about MGM. If they do, we win. But it's much broader than that.

And we have standing to bring this claim because if we're right Mr. Seery will have to return excess compensation and the Claims Purchasers will have to disgorge. And that's going to help not just Hunter Mountain. That's going to help other creditors who haven't been paid yet.

So this is not exclusively -- Hunter Mountain would substantially benefit. I'm not suggesting otherwise. But it also benefits innocent stakeholders other than Hunter Mountain. And that's why we are an appropriate party. We don't have a conflict of interest to bring this. Everybody on their side of the table does. There's no one else who could bring this.

Your Honor, it's very clear when the trades took place. We give dates and times. It's very clear that -- next slide, 40. It's very clear that their investment was over $160 million. If it isn't, I don't see any denials. All we got today was a lame statement from the lawyer saying we're not here today to deny this.

MR. MORRIS: I'm offended.

THE COURT: He's offended by being called lame.

MR. MCENTIRE: Not you lame personally.

MR. MORRIS: Oh, thanks for the clarification.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. MCENTIRE: A lame statement by you. In fact, it wasn't even you, so --

In any event, Your Honor, --

MR. MORRIS: I've been called worse.

MR. MCENTIRE: -- the point being is that there was no -- there's not -- never been an attempt to deny the factual allegations in our pleadings dealing with Farallon and Stonehill. None at all.

And so -- not that that's ultimately relevant, because that's an evidentiary issue outside of the four corners of our pleading, but it does -- it just stands out and screams. It screams. And it screams volumes.

So right, now based upon our pleadings -- we even plead in Paragraph 42, Paragraph 42, exactly what they invested. This is what you have before you. No one has disputed it. It's in the four corners of our pleading. We've got dates, times, amounts. We have admissions to Mr. -- well, we have admissions from Michael Linn, Paragraph 47. We have -- we do plead upon information and belief the quid pro quo on compensation. And frankly, the evidence here today is that the compensation is excessive. And the experts will further confirm that it is excessive. $1.8 million with a bonus program in place to pay him another $8, $9, $10 million, when in fact the risks don't exist and there's no uncertainty and therefore the percentages make no sense. That's --

THE COURT: What do you mean, the risks don't exist and there is no uncertainty?

MR. MCENTIRE: If Mr. Seery is telling Farallon and Stonehill don't sell, this could be really valuable, it's inconsistent with the notion that the schedule and the performance -- performance schedule in the compensation agreement is rationally justified. Because if it's really certain or it's likely you're going to make a lot of money, there's no reason to give him six percent to incentivize him because it's already a done deal.

And the whole point here is that I scratch your back, you scratch mine. They make a lot of money on their deal and he gets a lot of money on the backside post-effective date. Post-effective date.

Next slide, 49.

It would have been impossible, based upon the publicly-available information in Paragraph 49, impossible for Stonehill and Farallon, in the absence of inside information, to forecast any significant profit when they made their investments. It's not possible. Because given the amount of the Claim 8 and Claim 9 claims -- they actually invested in Claim 9 with a zero return. It's projected to be a negative result. On Claim 8, even if you allocate their entire purchase price to Claim 8, they're going to get something less than a 10 percent return paid out over a couple years. Nobody invests that kind of money in an unsecured creditor asset that hasn't been collateralized. There's something wrong here.

And we have a right to have our day in court to show that. We have our right to take a true deposition of Mr. Seery with documents. We have a right to take Farallon and Stonehill's deposition with documents. And we have tried to get information and we have been turned down at every turn. We have a right to have our day in court, Your Honor.

We have allegations of excessive compensation. I know Mr. Morris suggested the other day that we didn't have any such allegations. They're here. The whole idea here is that Mr. Seery would really profit on the backside. And, you know, he actually testified, I believe -- I won't do that because that's outside the four corners of our pleading. But the -- there is a quid pro quo. We allege there's a quid pro quo upon information and belief. And we also allege willfully and knowingly, we allege conduct that falls clearly within the exceptions.

None of this -- none of these claims were released. Mr. Seery's not an exculpated party in the context of how we -- proposing to sue him here. None of the protected parties, to the extent that Muck and Jessup claim to be protected parties, they're not protected here, because all of the claims we're making are on the basis of willful misconduct and bad faith, which are the standards that they used and incorporated in the plan and in the gatekeeper provisions.

How much time do I have?

THE CLERK: Right now you have --

MR. MCENTIRE: Thirty seconds?

THE CLERK: -- seven minutes left.

MR. MCENTIRE: Okay. Next slide, please.

Mr. Seery has admitted that he has a duty to avoid self-dealing. We allege that he did self-deal. There is clearly a relationship. We have a right to explore the depths of that relationship. Well, already we know there is a relationship. We have investments in charities, contributions to charities, meet-and-greets, congratulatory emails. It's not as if Farallon and Stonehill are strangers, or Mr. Seery's a stranger to them. It's not like that at all. They contacted him to get involved.

And by placing -- by acquiring these claims -- and by the way, this is the most significant trading activity in your bankruptcy, in this bankruptcy proceeding. Post-confirmation. Post-confirmation. By acquiring these claims, they were guaranteed to be put onto the Oversight Board. By acquiring these claims, they were guaranteed to be put in a position -- into a position where they would adjust, monitor, compensate Mr. Seery. That's the terms of the Claimant Trust. Those are the terms.

And it's interesting, because one of the amendments that's in evidence to the plan, I think it's either the third or the fourth amendment, that came out of nowhere right before confirmation, they changed the structure of the Claimant Trust to go off a standard base pay and added in a bonus structure at the last minute. That's evidence.

Mr. Seery has acknowledged, we have alleged he had duties to avoid self-dealing, to always look out for the best interests of the estate, to avoid conflicts of interest. Well, here, to the extent that there is a quid pro quo, he is self-dealing and he has injured the Reorganized Debtor and he's injured the Claimant Trust, because that's just less money.

And we also allege, Your Honor, it's also an allegation that --

THE COURT: And let me ask, the sole injury here is compensation was more than it would have been if not for the sale of the claims to Farallon and Stonehill --

MR. MCENTIRE: That's one of the injuries.

THE COURT: -- and therefore less money at the end of the day for creditors and ultimately Hunter Mountain?

MR. MCENTIRE: Yes. And we also allege that, as part of this arrangement, conspiracy, as we allege conspiracy, we have seen over $200 million flow out of the coffers of this estate in the form of --

THE COURT: What do you mean, as a result of the alleged conspiracy? What do you mean?

MR. MCENTIRE: A delay, a postponement, making long-term payouts, keeping the litigation alive. They actually suggested to Mr. Linn, don't settle these claims, don't sell out, because this is asset-backed, and we also have claims. And so --

THE COURT: Wait, what? Say again?

MR. MCENTIRE: One of the things that Mr. Linn told Mr. Dondero, according to Mr. Dondero's notes, is we have -- this is very valuable, we're buying assets and we're buying into claims, the litigation claims that are being asserted in this bankruptcy proceeding.

THE COURT: Yes. Got it.

MR. MCENTIRE: Yeah. And so the whole idea here is, is that people are funneling money in and taking money out of the coffers of this estate to fuel future litigation in order to have a bigger payday at the end for Class 8 and Class 9. That's exactly what those notes suggest.

THE COURT: I don't understand the correlation. What correlation are you making? Because of the claims being purchased, what?

MR. MCENTIRE: The claims being purchased allow Muck and Jessup to be in a position to award compensation. We've talked about that.

THE COURT: I got that.

MR. MCENTIRE: That's one type of injury. The other injury is, and we have alleged it, is the fact that these claims become very valuable not only because they're asset-backed but because also the litigation claims that Mr. Kirschner is prosecuting.

THE COURT: But how does the purchase of the claims impact that? They were allowed claims at certain amounts before, and after the purchase they're still allowed claims.

MR. MCENTIRE: Mr. Seery is telling them that, basically, this is our plan, this is what we're doing, this is --

THE COURT: That was the plan of reorganization that was confirmed by the Court. I don't get how something changed. I'm trying to get to what are the injuries that your client has suffered. And I get the compensation argument you're making, but I don't get the rest of it.

MR. MCENTIRE: If Mr. Dondero had been in a position, or one of his entities had been in a position, or even Hunter Mountain, and I'm not sure why Hunter Mountain -- be in a position to have acquired the claims, then we would -- this bankruptcy wouldn't even be in existence anymore. It'd be over. All creditors would be paid. It would be done. Be over. And that is an allegation we have made --

THE COURT: How do I know that?

MR. MCENTIRE: Because all the creditors would have been paid off.

THE COURT: How do I know, if he would have purchased the claims, that's what would have happened?

MR. MCENTIRE: Well, that's what he testified to today here. I don't want to get off on a rabbit trail.

THE COURT: I'm trying to understand the injury, --

MR. MCENTIRE: Sure. I understand.

THE COURT: -- because that's part of my analysis here.

MR. MCENTIRE: The focus, the focus is on the compensation. And once they aid and abet, once they aid and abet a breach of fiduciary duties, they are subject to disgorgement, and disgorgement of all of their ill-gotten gains. And the ill-gotten gains are now well over -- approaching over $100,000 million.

THE COURT: How do you get to that number?

MR. MCENTIRE: Easily. We know how much they purchased, which has never been denied. We know how much has been distributed to Class 8. And we know what percentage of Class 8 they own. They own about 95 percent of all Class 8 claims. So if $270,000 million has been distributed to Class 8, they got 90 percent of that, 95 percent of it has already gone to them, Farallon and Stonehill.

THE COURT: But it would have gone to the sellers of the claims as well. I'm trying to make the connection.

MR. MCENTIRE: That's not the injury. The injury is what -- that is a consequence of their conduct. The injury is the compensation. All right? That's a distinct injury. They are subject to disgorgement as a consequence because they have done wrong, and the law should not tolerate -- should not tolerate and allow wrongdoers to get away. And that's where the unjust enrichment and disgorge --

THE COURT: And what are your best cases for that, that they would have to disgorge --

MR. MCENTIRE: We have cited --

THE COURT: -- the Purchasers would have to disgorge --

MR. MCENTIRE: We have cited cases in our brief.

THE COURT: I'm asking you now to --

MR. MCENTIRE: I don't have them in front of me right this second. But an aider and abettor --

THE COURT: The CVC case, is that your best case?

MR. MCENTIRE: I don't have the cases in front of me. I can say this, that the case law is robust, and I can supply you --

THE COURT: It is not robust. That's why I'm asking you to zero in. I read your CVC case from the Third Circuit, and I'm wondering, is that your strongest case?

MR. MCENTIRE: No. I think we -- I think we have a lot of strong cases. I'm not sure that it is the strongest.

THE COURT: Tell me which ones, so I --

MR. MCENTIRE: Ma'am, I just said I don't have it in front of me. If you'll look --

THE COURT: Okay. Well, this is closing argument where you present law in support of your position.

MR. MCENTIRE: Well, actually, I'm arguing facts right now. But Your Honor, what I want to tell you is if you'd like me to submit a letter brief on that, I will.

THE COURT: No.

MR. MCENTIRE: Okay. Then I won't. It's in my brief. All of our authorities are in the brief.

In conclusion, --

THE COURT: Okay. So that was the CVC case from the Third Circuit which dealt with an insider who purchased claims, statutory insider, a board member, a 28-percent equity owner, who purchased claims during the case to be in a position to file a competing plan and didn't disclose to the board or file a 3001(e) notice. Okay. There was -- claims shouldn't be allowed at more than what the purchaser paid for it.

MR. MCENTIRE: Okay.

THE COURT: Okay. I'm asking you, is that your best case? Because you also cited Adelphia, which seemed kind of factually off the mark. And so I really --

MR. MCENTIRE: I -- I'm sorry, --

THE COURT: I need to know, because I've made clear from the beginning, --

MR. MCENTIRE: Yes.

THE COURT: -- I'm struggling with how is there a cause of action related to claims trading.

MR. MCENTIRE: (chuckles)

THE COURT: I don't know why you're giggling. This is --

MR. MCENTIRE: No, I'm not. But --

THE COURT: -- serious stuff. Okay?

MR. MCENTIRE: Agreed. Agreed.

THE COURT: A bankruptcy estate is being charged ka-ching, ka-ching -- not bankruptcy estate -- the post-confirmation trust. Ka-ching, ka-ching, ka-ching. So this is serious stuff.

MR. MCENTIRE: Agreed.

THE COURT: I need to, you know, colorable claim.

MR. MCENTIRE: Agreed.

THE COURT: Colorable claim.

MR. MCENTIRE: Agreed.

THE COURT: Even if plausibility is the standard, which I've expressed my doubt about that, how do you have a plausible claim? What is your best case?

MR. MCENTIRE: Okay. This --

THE COURT: Just to recap what I'm focused on, purchaser and seller, okay? I can see where breach of contract, maybe some sort of torts between those two. Okay. I can see where the U.S. Trustee, the SEC, I don't know, the Texas State Securities Board, they might get concerned about allegations of insider trading and there might be a regulatory action. But the estate? Again, the post-confirmation trust --

MR. MCENTIRE: Okay.

THE COURT: -- and a contingent beneficiary. I'm trying to understand what is the best legal authority that might support a colorable claim. And we talked about the CVC case and Adelphia. I'm trying to figure out what are other cases you think I should really hone in on to understand this.

MR. MCENTIRE: All right. At the very beginning this morning, during my opening statement, I had said this is not your typical claims-handling case, because I recall from our last conference you asked that question a couple of times. This is not your typical claims-handling case. And it's not a typical claims-handling case because we have a fiduciary that we claim breached his duties that were owed to the estate. And he self-dealt. And he -- this has nothing to do with the plan. This has something to do with what Mr. Seery did outside the corners of the plan. Perhaps he used the plan expediently. He self-dealt.

That's why this is not just between a seller and a buyer of a claim. That's number one.

We have been denied an opportunity to discover the communications between the sellers and the buyers, and my guess is we have big boy agreements that prevent the sellers from ever coming back at anybody for fraud. My expectation, that's the case. We should have a right to go explore that. So that's why they're not here.

THE COURT: Why? I mean, what would that tell you? What would that tell you?

MR. MCENTIRE: That --

THE COURT: If there's a big boy agreement, if there's not, what --

MR. MCENTIRE: It would tell us --

THE COURT: -- consequence would that have for this --

MR. MCENTIRE: It would tell us --

THE COURT: -- proposed lawsuit?

MR. MCENTIRE: It would answer Mr. Morris's question that he's raised several times, this is the seller's issue, this is not -- this is not the Hunter Mountain's issue. It is Hunter Mountain's issue. Hunter Mountain as an equity interest-holder should be in a position to be certified as a Class 9 beneficiary now pursuant to our declaratory judgment action. That's number one.

Number two. As a contingent beneficiary, it is entitled to protect its interests and bring suits if it sees that something has happened that is incorrect and is a tort involving the Reorganized Debtor and the Claimant Trust. That is the nature and the essence of our claim.

And as a consequence, the aiders and abettors should not be allowed to walk away unharmed. They should be required to disgorge their ill-gotten profits. And that calculation is easily done, as I've just demonstrated.

Your Honor, that's all I have. Thank you very much.

THE COURT: Thank you.

MR. MCENTIRE: And we talked -- we'd need an opportunity to argue on the issue of experts, because -- whether you're just going to take it under advisement, I'm not sure how you're going to handle that.

THE COURT: I'm going to read the pleadings and then I'm going to let you all know are we coming back for another day.

MR. MCENTIRE: Thank you.

THE COURT: All right. Who is making the closing argument -- do we have three closing arguments?

MR. STANCIL: Yes.

MR. MCILWAIN: We're going to do it in reverse order.

MR. MORRIS: Reverse order in.

THE COURT: Okay. Reverse order of --

MR. STANCIL: Keep it interesting.

MR. MORRIS: I think I was last on the opening.

THE COURT: -- importance?

(Laughter.)

THE COURT: No. Just kidding. Just kidding.

MR. MORRIS: We're assuming you remember what the original order was.

MR. STANCIL: Yeah, right, right.

MR. MORRIS: It was so many hours ago.

THE COURT: Okay. Oh, so many hours ago.

MR. MCILWAIN: I think I was referred to earlier as the lame lawyer.

THE COURT: Oh, you were. I think --

MR. MCILWAIN: So I'll start. I think --

THE COURT: I think you --

MR. MCILWAIN: Or maybe it was the lame argument, whatever. Whatever.

THE COURT: I think you were the lame one.

CLOSING ARGUMENT ON BEHALF OF THE CLAIM PURCHASERS

MR. MCILWAIN: Your Honor, Brent McIlwain here for the Claim Purchasers.

Let me start, I guess, by saying I understand now why Hunter Mountain did not want to put on evidence, because the evidence that they put on, frankly, made their case much worse.

As we argued or we stated in the opening statement, our position is that you can look within the four corners of this document and determine that there is no plausible or colorable claim. What the evidence showed is that Mr. Dondero allegedly had a call with one -- with Farallon, not with Stonehill, with Farallon, Farallon wouldn't tell him what they paid, Farallon did not accept an offer of 130 or 140 percent of whatever they paid for the claim, and he thinks they did no due diligence, right? He had nothing in his notes about MGM. So he can say that he thought that they were positive because of MGM, but it's certainly not -- I don't think the Court should take that evidence with any credibility.

But interestingly, what Mr. Dondero says is, well, how do you know how much they paid for these claims? He goes, well, there was a market for the claims, right? They were all trading at 50 or 60 cents. But yet no one would ever buy these claims without any due diligence because the projections in the plan indicate that they wouldn't -- they wouldn't get a return.

Well, if there's a market for the claims and he's willing to pay 30 or 40 percent more than whatever someone purchased, certainly there is a market for the claims. And he is the only one, frankly, that had inside information. That's why he was willing to maybe pay more.

Or, alternatively, the case that you were describing before, Mr. Dondero maybe wanted to buy the claims so he could control the case, right, so he could dismiss any litigation that was pending against himself so he could avoid the ire of the estate that is aimed at him.

It also -- the Court's inquiry as to what the injury is I think is precisely on point. The only injury offered at this point really is that somehow my client's agreed-to higher compensation that is reasonable or appropriate in return for some inside information on claims that were allegedly trading at 50 or 60 cents in any instance. And what the evidence showed is that, one, Mr. Dondero never had any information about that, about the compensation that Seery is receiving when this complaint was filed, when this motion for leave was filed.

And so if you judge the complaint within the four corners, there is no -- there is no quid pro quo, right? Because he says, well, there's obviously something up here because they wouldn't have bought these claims without due diligence, and they must have agreed to higher compensation, and that's why it all happened. And if we throw all this out here, then we'll get to do the discovery that we wanted to do.

Importantly, if you look at his notes, right, the first thing that's written down is discovery to follow, because that's how he operates. That's how a serial litigator operates. Discovery to follow so that I can pay you back for not selling your claim to me. Right? So I can't control the world, so I can't control this case, you're going to pay. And we're all paying. Every one of us here. Right? There's 15 lawyers in the courtroom and probably 10 on the phone, right? We're all paying.

And so when Mr. McEntire says I'm not getting my day in court, we've had an entire day in court. We've had three hearings to decide what this hearing is going to be. And he's gotten more than his day in court for, frankly, what is word salad. This complaint doesn't pass any test, whether it's 12(b)(6) or under the Barton Doctrine. It's simply allegations that are thrown out there, and they're saying, so that we can do more discovery to determine if we actually have allegations. Because they want to continue to harass people, they want to continue to be a thorn in everyone's side, so that perhaps they can avoid further litigation against Mr. Dondero or they can convince somebody to settle with Mr. Dondero.

It doesn't make any sense, Your Honor, and this is exactly why there is a gatekeeper provision, right. That's why the Court imposed this.

And you ask yourself, why would someone sell these claims? Obviously, the sellers of the claims have not shown up. Whether they're big boy, it doesn't matter, because the Court and this estate had nothing to do with those sales. But they haven't shown back up. I can -- I can venture a guess why, if I was involved with Mr. Dondero, I would sell my claim, right? Because I wouldn't have to be here. And that's exactly why the Court should not authorize this complaint to be filed and the gatekeeper provision of the order should prevent it. And frankly, this should be shut down and we should not have to have continued litigation over experts, or anything else, for that matter. And frankly, we should just be able to go on and let Mr. Seery do his job.

Because I think the evidence was pretty clear that his compensation is reasonable and it was in line, frankly, with what he was making before. And candidly -- and maybe it's because Mr. McEntire is not involved in bankruptcy cases, but this is similar compensation that I see in numerous cases, and it's tiered to incentivize Mr. Seery to do his job, and he's doing his job.

So, with that, Your Honor, I'll cede the rest of the time to the other parties.

THE COURT: Okay. Thank you.

CLOSING ARGUMENT ON BEHALF OF JAMES P. SEERY, JR.

MR. STANCIL: Thank you, Your Honor. I'm going to focus -- and I'm going to put my little clock up so Mr. Morris doesn't, you know, give me the hook here.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. STANCIL: But first --

THE COURT: Next time we're all here, maybe I'll have one of those red, what do you call them, the buzzer.

MR. STANCIL: Oh, the big light?

THE COURT: The red light.

MR. STANCIL: We used to joke that the judge I clerked for wished he had a trapdoor and he could just pull the lever when it was done.

THE COURT: Okay.

(Laughter.)

MR. STANCIL: Maybe I shouldn't have put that in your head.

THE COURT: Who was that? Are we going to say who that was?

MR. STANCIL: So Your Honor, I'm going to try to set the legal framework. I'm going to ask you -- and I think we have our -- we have the deck. It's the little -- if we could put that up and start on Slide 2.

I'd like to address what standard applies, and then I'd like to spend a few minutes asking Your Honor again not only to rule on multiple alternative grounds, but also I'd like to walk through what if you did this on a pure 12(b)(6), because it's going to collapse.

So, well, we'll just jump in. I said at the beginning that we know that the question here is not what does the word colorable mean in isolation. We wouldn't do that in any context. We would always look and see what the operative language here is in the Court's confirmation order. So the question is, what did the Court mean, it must represent a colorable claim?

So we mentioned before Paragraph 80 of the confirmation order. That cites Barton. It cites the vexatious litigant cases. I've not heard one word from Mr. McEntire answering how it can be that we're here on a sub-12(b)(6) standard he now says when the Court articulated this legal authority and this legal basis in the confirmation order. If he believed that, the time to make that argument was on the confirmation appeal, and that's over.

But let me then say, how did we get, how did the Court get to Paragraph 80? Well, that came after a series of factual findings in the confirmation order -- in fact, actually, Josh, do you have the hard copy of this?

MR. LEVY: Yeah.

MR. STANCIL: If I could hand that to the Court.

May I approach, Your Honor?

THE COURT: You may. Thanks.

MR. STANCIL: And I don't propose to go through every slide, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. STANCIL: But if you could turn to Slide #5. This is Paragraph 77 of the Court's confirmation order. Factual support for gatekeeper provision.

MR. MCENTIRE: Excuse me. May I have a copy? I can't see it.

THE COURT: Oh.

MR. LEVY: Oh, yeah, sure, sure.

MR. STANCIL: And can we get a copy of yours as well, --

MR. MCENTIRE: Sure.

MR. STANCIL: -- while we're at it? Thanks.

The facts supporting the need for the gatekeeper provision are as follows. I will not read them all, but if you scroll about eight lines down, it says, During the last several months, Mr. Dondero and the Dondero-related entities have harassed the Debtor, which has resulted in further substantial, costly, and time-consuming litigation for the Debtor. And then there are six separate enumerated examples of that.

Paragraph 78 on the next slide. Findings regarding Dondero postpetition litigation. The Bankruptcy Court finds that the Dondero postpetition litigation was a result of Mr. Dondero failing to obtain creditor support for his plan proposal and consistent with his comments, as set forth in Mr. Seery's credible testimony, that if Mr. Dondero's plan proposal was not accepted he would, quote, burn down the place.

Next slide. This is Paragraph 79. Necessity of the gatekeeper provision. If you would just skim to the bottom of that first column, it says, Approval of the gatekeeper provision will prevent baseless litigation designed merely to harass the post-confirmation entities charged with monetizing the Debtors' assets for the benefit of its economic constituents, will avoid abuse of the court system and preempt the use of judicial time that properly could be used to consider the meritorious claims of other litigants.

And then came Paragraph 80, which we've just discussed. With respect, Your Honor, the question is, what is the meaning of Paragraph 80? And in context, following those paragraphs regarding vexatious litigation and abuse of litigation, it is simply implausible to suggest that colorability is a sub-12(b)(6) standard.

And that is Mr. McEntire's contention today, that the gatekeeping order is actually lower than the threshold that every other litigant faces. Everyone else has to file a claim, pass a 12(b)(6), and on they go to get to discovery. Mr. McEntire believes that the gatekeeping order imposes less than that on him, and then he's treated just like everybody else. It makes no sense whatsoever.

So I'll skip Slides 8 and 9, Your Honor, but that's where the Fifth Circuit described the gatekeeping orders, affirmed them in relevant part, citing Barton. There is no mystery here.

If you could flip, Your Honor, to Slide 10 very briefly. We've talked about this case a little bit in one of our status hearings, In re Vistacare Group. This is the leading case that describes what it is that one does under a Barton analysis, and it says that the trustee must make a -- pardon me -- a party seeking leave to sue a trustee must make a prima facie case against the trustee, showing that its claim is not without foundation. A prima facie case is more than a 12(b)(6).

And I would direct Your Honor to the language in the third bullet. It involves a greater degree of flexibility than a Rule 12(b)(6) motion to dismiss because the bankruptcy court, which, given its familiarity with the underlying facts and the parties, is uniquely situated to determine whether a claim against the trustee has merit. Boy howdy, are we -- I'm sorry. My kids are going to tease me for that.

But this -- no case has ever proved the wisdom of that statement, Your Honor. We are here, and the Court is all too familiar with the facts and the parties of this case. And we're not here on an adversary proceeding. We're here on a contested matter. And Your Honor has the authority on any contested matter to take evidence, and a broad, broad discretion as to what evidence is appropriate to meet that standard.

So we have laid out briefly in Slide 11 what -- why we believe that -- or how we believe that the prima facie showing would work. And in short -- and maybe this will help us going forward -- we believe that if they make -- if a party seeking relief under the gatekeeping order says things, we have the right to rebut them, like in a burden-shifting or a burden of production -- pardon me -- analysis. So you can say that the sun rises in the west, but we can bring in evidence to say it doesn't, it rises in the east. And that's the plausibility threshold.

And here, and if Your Honor would flip to the next slide, I'm not sure it's entirely fair to say, even after they have purported to withdraw their evidence, that they've really done so. And we disagreed with Mr. McEntire, and advised him of such leading up to this hearing, that we do not agree that his redactions fully excise all of the evidentiary assertions from his motion.

And I'll just pick one example here on Slide 12. On the left is Paragraph 32 of the motion for leave prior to the purported withdrawal. On the right is Paragraph 32 after the withdrawal. Your Honor will see all they've withdrawn are the citations. It's verbatim. It's the same allegations. And they have argued various facts and put them in evidence. So even if it were true, and it's not, but even if it were true that all you get here is a 12(b)(6) ruling in the ordinary case if you put no evidence in dispute, they forfeited that right by putting these facts and evidence in dispute in their motion.

The fact that they have withdrawn evidentiary support for their evidentiary assertions does not relieve them of the reality that they have made all sorts of factual arguments in their motion for leave, and as a contested matter we have the right to address it.

I'm proposing, Your Honor, unless you have questions on the cases on 13, 14, those are the cases where we have described the hearings that have been held under Vistacare and Foster, and I know more about the down-in-the-weeds of Foster than I ever cared to, but I don't want to repeat what's in our briefs.

If Your Honor is willing to flip to Page 15, this is an argument I've alluded to briefly, but boy, we don't hear -- we have not heard a single thing as to what function the gatekeeper serves, particularly in context of Your Honor's factual findings in the confirmation order, if all it means is 12(b)(6) or lower. It just, it's an unanswerable point that they just persist in ignoring.

But I'd like to address very briefly that third bullet, because at various times and in their brief they have cited, Hunter Mountain has cited, down here we call it Louisiana World, I think in the Second Circuit we call it STN, but this UCC derivative standing. There are, in fact, two elements one has to pass for that, and that's a different context. The first is colorability as it's used in that context, and that is often a 12(b)(6) standard in that context. But still to have standing, to bring that claim on behalf of the estate, you have to show a cost-benefit analysis. As we've heard today, we've probably spent more in legal fees today, or over the last three months, than the purportedly excessive compensation to Mr. Seery. And so I would respectfully submit, if we were here on a Louisiana World or STN hearing, this would be an open-and-shut case just as well.

So if I could, Your Honor, if you are willing to jump ahead to Slide 17, I'd like to ask you -- and I do want to address the standing jurisdictional question a little bit.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. STANCIL: Not to get into the weeds of standing, because I think we have briefed that out the wazoo in our papers, and I read this morning -- I think it was this morning -- from the Claimant Trust Agreement, which says they're not a beneficial interest.

But my understanding is that Article III standing, whether there is a theoretical injury in any way, that is -- that goes to Your Honor's subject matter jurisdiction under Article III, but that is not true of statutory standing under Delaware law or prudential standing. Those are -- those go to basically whether they state a claim.

So, Your Honor, I believe, can -- and I've confessed to my colleague that the only way I remember this is I screwed it up really, really badly when I was clerking years ago -- but I believe Your Honor can, and in this case should, rule on the standing ground in the alternative. Not on the Article III. Article III is binary. They either have it or they don't. But on the statutory standing, you can say -- I think you can hold that they do not have standing under Delaware law to pursue the claim, but even if they do have standing, and then reach the remainder.

And we know we're headed for appeal. We've heard -- pretty much two-thirds of the time this morning has been laying the groundwork for an appeal. And we would only like -- we would like to make sure that we give the Fifth Circuit a fulsome record.

So I would like to ask Your Honor to flip to Page 19. And this is really the end of, I think, what we need to do. So, Your Honor, what if we were here just on 12(b)(6)? So we've got a quid, we've got a pro, we've got a quo. They fail at each turn. Let me spend most of my time on the quid. I'll let the documents of which the Court can take judicial notice speak for themselves. I will let the bare-bones nature of the assertion -- and it's okay to put in a complaint something on information and belief, but you still have to pass Iqbal and Twombly. I can't say upon information and belief that I was denied a starting position on the Knicks, right? I would like to believe that's the case, but it still has to be a plausible allegation.

Let's look at this chart. And this chart is taken right out of our brief. These are their numbers. This is at the bottom. And I want to -- I would like to take head-on this proposition that this is not a rational investment on their numbers.

So let's take the Stonehill purchase of Redeemer. They paid $78 million to earn a projected profit, according to the November 30 disclosure statement, of $19.71 million. By my arithmetic, that is a return of 25.27 percent. Even by Mr. Dondero's lights, that's a pretty good return.

I'm going to come back to why that's not the end of the return, but let's look at the Farallon purchase of Acis. Spent $8 million. Projected profit, $8.4 million. I'll take 105 percent return any day.

Let's look at the Farallon purchase of HarbourVest. Purchase price, $27 million. Projected profit, $5.09 million. That is -- oh, I can't read my own writing anymore -- I think that is 18.85 percent. I would again gladly take that every day of the week, whether it's a distressed asset or otherwise.

But let me make one really important point that Mr. Dondero obfuscated, Mr. McEntire does not acknowledge, and it is just a fact. These are projected profits if all Mr. Seery does is hit the plan. November 30, 2021. If he does no better than what he thought these assets were worth then, this is the expected return. So for those trades that we've talked about, that's a slam dunk even on that.

But let's look about -- we'll talk about upside. Because, as Your Honor knows from doing bankruptcy cases, upside, it's all about upside for people who are purchasing claims. So it isn't just that their returns were capped at these already-ample percentages. If Class 8, for example, of Redeemer paid out in full, they would be making not -- oh, gosh, I'm not sure I should do this on the fly -- but they'd be recovering $137 million on the Class 8 claim, not the $97.71 million. So there's another $40 million of upside.

Even if it's a low-probability event, that's a -- hedge funds do that all day every day.

Same here with Acis. Paid $8 million, expected $16.4 million, but they could get up to $23 million.

Now, we've heard so much about how Class 9 was worthless, worthless, worthless. No, it's not. There's always the potential for upside. Paid $27 million. Could recover $45 million just on Class 8. Could recover another $35 million on Class 9. They could recover $80 million on a $27 million purchase. Now, the probability of that is complicated, but it's not zero. We know that it's not zero. All we've heard from them today is that Mr. Seery is -- could pay off 8 and 9 in full. So I don't think that is even remotely plausible.

Let's talk briefly about UBS. They like to talk about UBS for the projected profit of $3.61 million in loss. But that was -- that's in August, and that claim trades.

So a couple of things that happened between the November 30 disclosure statement setting that projected value and the purchase of the UBS claim in August. Number one is we are nine, ten months past the worst of COVID. And Your Honor could take judicial notice of massive market movements just if you do nothing.

We don't need to get to that, because we talked all morning about MGM. May 26th, it's announced publicly. May 26, 2021.

So the notion that a purchaser of a UBS claim in the summer of 2021, after this MGM transaction is announced, would think, you know what, I think these claims are only worth what they were worth back in November, is not plausible.

And so this is why the comparisons to the debt, the exit financing, well, 12 percent. That's a 12 percent capped return. We're talking here about returns of 25 percent, 105 percent, 18.85 percent, just based on projections at the -- sort of in the darkest days post-COVID.

So it's not plausible. If a court were looking at this just under the 12(b)(6) standard, we would be -- we'd be dismissing this claim as well. And we really -- respectfully,

Your Honor, we need that ruling. We think we need that ruling so that whatever the -- whatever they may say the standard is in the Fifth Circuit, we only have to go one time. And we really believe that we're entitled to that.

I'll let Your Honor -- I will just stand on the deck and our briefs on the pro and the quo. But meet-and-greets, these are just conclusory allegations in the complaint. He says they worked -- that he worked for them 10 or 15 years ago, which some of that's not even true, but even if it were all true, if I were beholden to every client I've met at a schmooze fest or everybody I worked for in a group 20 years ago or 15 years ago, you know, I would be incapable of operating without a conflict of interest. And it's just not plausible. This is something that needs to go.

Unless the Court has questions, I will cede the remainder of our time to Mr. Morris.

THE COURT: No questions. Thank you.

CLOSING ARGUMENT ON BEHALF OF THE REORGANIZED DEBTOR

MR. MORRIS: Thank you so much, Your Honor, for your patience. It's been a very long day. I am very grateful that we're going to finish today.

As I said at the beginning, I believe this exercise, as difficult as it may have been, is so important and so vital, preserving this estate and what's left of it.

The gatekeeper exists for very important reasons. Your Honor made those findings in her order that has been upheld on appeal. And we're here to make sure that frivolous litigation is not commenced against my clients, or, frankly, against Stonehill and Farallon, given their capacity as Claimant Oversight Board members.

Hunter Mountain confuses argument with facts. There's no facts here to support anything, and that's what the gatekeeper is about. The gatekeeper is making sure that there's a good-faith basis to pursue claims. And as Mr. Stancil points out, it is certainly acceptable to state things upon information and belief. But the point of the gatekeeper is if somebody says -- not somebody says -- somebody offers proof that those beliefs are wrong, you no longer have a plausible claim. And that's why we thought it was so important to go through this exercise today. Because the facts show that their beliefs are simply wrong, and the entire complaint is based on their beliefs.

There is zero evidence concerning the compensation other than their belief that the compensation is excessive. The case is over. Like, you could stop there. I'm going to go through a bunch of things that -- you could stop there.

I want to actually begin backwards, though, in time, with the HarbourVest settlement. Right? After two years of litigation and re-litigation and re-litigation of the HarbourVest settlement, the claims of insider trading, finally the Court has before it admissible indisputable evidence that Mr. Seery negotiated the terms of the HarbourVest settlement before he ever got this notorious email from Mr. Dondero. That should be a finding of fact in Your Honor's order and it should never be -- nobody should ever make that allegation again. It's over. You have the documents. You have the email from Mr. Seery to the board, here are the terms, and those are the terms Your Honor approved.

And there's more. Because this is so important for us, because we're tired of being accused of wrongdoing. We're tired of being falsely accused of wrongdoing.

$22-1/2 million. That's the valuation Mr. Seery put on it. You can see that he's doing it to his Independent Board colleagues, copying his lawyers. He's telling them where he got it, from Hunter Covitz. The evidence is now in the record. It came from a regularly-published NAV report from November 30th. It was seven days old. It can never be disputed again that $22.5 million was a fair value, not based on some subjective view of Mr. Seery but based on the person who gave him the report that everybody relies upon that Mr. Dondero got.

And it was ratified yet again in the audited financial statements that came out, and it shows for the period ending -- this is Exhibit 60, I believe -- for the period ending December 31, 2020, $50 million. Okay, so it went up a few million dollars in December.

This is their case? This is the case? Your Honor I know is still working on the motion to dismiss. That's Mark Patrick, right? That's the complaint that he brought. That's what this is about. I don't mean to confuse the issue, but it's time to put this stuff to rest, because it's wrong. Mr. Dondero has lost and he's got to get over it at some point.

But here's the best piece of evidence about this whole shenanigans about MGM being inside information. Mr. Dondero filed a 15-page objection to the HarbourVest settlement and didn't say a word about it. How is that possible? Six days before the settlement, he sends this email. Two weeks later, in January, he files a 15-page objection and doesn't mention anything about insider trading, MGM, or any wrongdoing by Mr. Seery. In fact, he argues the exact opposite, that Mr. Seery cut a bad deal. How is that possible? This is a plausible claim?

It gets better, or worse, depending on your point of view. CLO Holdco filed an objection and they said they're entitled to buy the asset. This is Mr. Dondero's, you know, operating arm of the DAF. They lost -- they actually had an honorable person who concluded, I don't really have that right. But these are the claims that Mr. Patrick is asserting, and he asserted them on April -- in April, before the MGM deal was announced. Right? And Your Honor found, and that's why it was so important for the Court to take judicial notice of the second contempt order, because Mr. Dondero was intimately involved in bringing those claims and in bringing those claims against -- or trying to bring those claims against Mr. Seery, in violating of the gatekeeper. This is all tied together.

I have to tell you, I don't know why we're not doing Rule 11. Forget about colorable claims. This is a fraud on the Court. It really is. And I don't know when it's going to stop. I'd love to move on with my life, to be honest with you.

The tender offer. He's out there doing a tender offer benefitting as the fund that he manages acquires more shares and his interest goes up and the value goes up with all these MGM holdings. Really? And he's going to accuse Mr. Seery of wrongdoing?

There was one point of Mr. Dondero's testimony that made my heart skip a beat. It's when he referred to the need to get discovery. And why did it skip a beat? Because he actually had a moment of candor where he admitted that the notion that Mr. Seery gave them material nonpublic inside information was his thought. It's not anything that Farallon ever told him. And then it spins and it spins and it spins, and finally when he gets to the fifth version of his sworn statement MGM suddenly appears. It's not right. Colorable claims? Fraudulent claims.

What's the undisputed evidence right now? I'll take Mr. Dondero at his word that Mr. Patel told him that Farallon bought the claims in February or March. How did they reconcile that with the undisputed testimony that Mr. Seery thereafter invited Farallon to participate in the exit financing? And they signed an NDA in early April. Why would you sign an NDA if you already got inside information? Who would do that? What would be the purpose of that?

How do you reconcile the fact that, according to Mr. Dondero, the claims were already in Farallon's pocket when they signed an NDA to get information for an exit facility. Is that plausible?

We've heard Mr. McEntire say a bunch of times it's much broader than MGM. Not only not a scintilla of evidence, but no substantive allegation. Again, confusing argument with facts. Because he had -- yes, Mr. Seery had access to inside information relative to Highland. He's the CEO. But where is the evidence that he shared anything with anybody? There is nothing.

Mr. Dondero admitted in his motion -- in a moment of candor, he said that's what he concluded based on the fact that Mr. Patel supposedly told him, I bought because Seery told me to. He made the inference. No evidence. Nothing.

They're bringing this case for the benefit of innocent parties? These people have told you time and again that assets exceed liabilities. What innocent parties? Where are they and how come they're not -- let's get to that point, too. Because they're saying, oh, Mr. Seery is, like, just not declaring the end of this. Seriously? How much do they think Mr. Seery should reserve for indemnification claims as we do trials like this with a mountain of lawyers billing $800, $1,500 an hour? Seriously? Mr. Seery is somehow acting in bad faith by not declaring the end of this case? How much is he supposed to reserve? They keep skipping over that. We'll talk about that in the mediation motion. We'll talk about that in the Hunter Mountain motion in July. Who's prosecuting that? Mr. Dondero's lawyer. I know there's a really big separation between Hunter Mountain and Mr. Dondero, but Stinson is prosecuting that claim on behalf of Hunter Mountain when they're seeking information.

And they complain about the legal fees? We've put our pens down. Kirschner put his pens down. We put down the claim objection. What we're doing is defense at this point.

We're awaiting the ruling on the notes litigation, and we will very much prosecute the vexatious litigant motion if Judge Starr grants the pending motion to exceed the page limit that's been out there for months. I'm not sure what's happening there. We'll do that for sure. But otherwise, we're just playing defense.

We're here today because they've made a motion, a motion that lacks any good-faith basis whatsoever. And that's why today was so important, so the Court could hear the witnesses. They could -- the Court -- I mean, think about it. Texas State Securities Board. The audacity of saying that somehow a letter from the Texas State Securities Board saying they're taking no action after conducting an investigation of Dugaboy's claim of insider trading is irrelevant? Like, what?

I've told you before, all we do is play Whack-A-Mole. Whack-A-Mole. They make an argument, we prove it's frivolous, so they just make a new argument. Their pleading says their claims are colorable because there's an open investigation. Now there's no investigation and they say that's irrelevant. How can they say that with a straight face? I couldn't.

I want to talk about Mr. Seery. I want to finish with my Mr. Seery. I may not use all my time. We can go home early.

(Laughter.)

THE COURT: It's past early.

MR. MORRIS: But this guy has worked doggedly, Your Honor, and I will defend him until the end of time. He's a man who has so far exceeded expectations. And they're saying he's not -- he's overpaid? The guy is overpaid? When he's into Class 9? When he's being pursued with these frivolous claims? Every day he's being attacked. How much do they think he should be paid? I would have loved to -- I hope -- no, I don't hope. I don't think there's any reason to hear expert testimony. I think Your Honor should exercise -- the Court should exercise its discretion and say there's no need, the Court doesn't need to hear expert testimony.

But if we do, I'll be delighted to hear their expert's view on what Mr. Seery -- if it's not $8.8 million for all these years, what should it be, after he takes an estate from 71 percent on the 8s to, according to them, assets exceed liabilities, 9s are paid in full?

You know what? If they put their pens down, maybe there would be a conversation. But as long as we keep doing this ridiculous, baseless, frivolous litigation, Mr. Seery is going to conserve resources, because he's got to pay people like me to defend him and to defend the estate. This is a preview of what we'll talk about at the mediation motion. He's doing a great job. He's devoting his life to it. He has no other income. He's got no other job. It's wrong.

The claims are not only not colorable, they are frivolous. I ask the Court to stop this in its tracks right now.

Thank you very much.

THE COURT: Thank you.

All right. Is there any time for the Movant to have the last word, which we usually give the Movant the last word.

THE CLERK: The Movant, I think, has a little under -- maybe about a minute left.

THE COURT: Anything you want to say in a minute?

MR. MCENTIRE: Yes, just I'll take 30 seconds. How is that?

THE COURT: Okay.

REBUTTAL CLOSING ARGUMENT ON BEHALF OF HUNTER MOUNTAIN

MR. MCENTIRE: I just want to direct your attention to our reply brief, specific paragraphs that address your question about authorities. We do cite several cases on Page 41, 40 and 41, dealing with the issue of unjust enrichment. That's it.

Thank you, Your Honor, very much.

THE COURT: Okay. Thank you. Unjust enrichment?

MR. MCENTIRE: Disgorgement.

THE COURT: Okay. But I was really, you know, claims trading in the bankruptcy context, just your best --

MR. MCENTIRE: Well, I think the cases that you identified were our best cases. The --

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. MCENTIRE: -- Adelphia and the other cases.

THE COURT: All right. Well, --

MR. MCENTIRE: There are other cases, Your Honor, in different contexts. There's also the Washington Mutual case dealing with equitable disallowance. There's also the Mobile Steel case, a Fifth Circuit --

THE COURT: Mobile Steel? Oh, my goodness. Okay.

MR. MCENTIRE: Okay. All right.

THE COURT: 1968? Or no. That doesn't mean it isn't still quoted often, but --

MR. MCENTIRE: Those would also be relevant.

THE COURT: Equitable subordination --

MR. MCENTIRE: Yes, ma'am.

THE COURT: -- when there's bad acts.

MR. MCENTIRE: And Footnote #10 in the Mobile Steel case. That is relevant, too. Just, --

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. MCENTIRE: Thank you.

THE COURT: All right. So I gave a deadline of Monday, right, --

MR. STANCIL: Yes.

THE COURT: -- to reply to the response to the motion in limine?

MR. STANCIL: Yes, Your Honor. Do you want time before you leave for the day? I mean, it's not going to be that long, so 4:00 o'clock Monday? Does that work for you?

THE COURT: I don't care. I probably won't start looking at it until the next day.

MR. STANCIL: But I will -- I'll just reserve and so I don't have my associates --

THE COURT: Yes. I think these days midnight, 11:59 p.m., is what lawyers tend to want.

MR. STANCIL: Oh, not this lawyer.

THE COURT: Oh, well, okay. Okay. So I'll just have to look at this, and probably by Friday of next week I will reach out through Traci and let you know what my decision is on whether we're going to have another day of just 30 minutes, 30 minutes of experts.

MR. MCENTIRE: Your Honor, another housekeeping matter. You'd wanted a copy of our PowerPoint, --

THE COURT: Yes.

MR. MCENTIRE: -- which I'm pleased to give you. We found a typo that we can correct electronically on the version I showed.

THE COURT: Uh-huh.

MR. MCENTIRE: I likely will send that to you and I can copy opposing counsel. Is that --

THE COURT: Okay. Send it to Traci Ellison, my courtroom deputy.

MR. MCENTIRE: All right.

THE COURT: And she'll --

MR. MCENTIRE: We'll do that first thing in the morning.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. MCENTIRE: So you'll have a copy --

MR. STANCIL: Can we get the hard copy that -- from today, though?

MR. MCENTIRE: No, that had a typo on it. I really don't want to share it. We fixed it.

THE COURT: What? I'm sorry, what?

MR. MORRIS: That's fine.

MR. STANCIL: Never mind.

THE COURT: Do I not need to know?

MR. STANCIL: Let's all go home.

THE COURT: Okay. And then my last question is -- and there was a mention of the CLO Holdco lawsuit, where there's a pending motion to dismiss. There's an opinion I'm writing well underway. I just keep getting sidetracked by other things. Imagine that. So I know that people are wanting to get an answer to that. So, trust me, it's going to get done here pretty soon.

You mentioned Brantley Starr. I mean, it is not my role to pick up the phone and call him and say hey, --

MR. MCENTIRE: No, I wasn't suggesting that.

THE COURT: -- District Judge, get busy on that.

MR. MCENTIRE: Yeah.

THE COURT: But I'll at least tell you, I know the man seems to have more jury trials than any judge I've seen in this building, so I suspect he's working late hours trying to get things done.

MR. MCENTIRE: Yeah.

THE COURT: What do we have upcoming? We have what you called the mediation motion. When is that set?

MR. MORRIS: June 26.

THE COURT: June 26th. Be here before we know it.

MR. MORRIS: Yeah. And just to keep the Court informed, the Movant's reply was due today. We gave them a week extension. They asked earlier today. I saw in my email we gave them. So I think you should expect the reply on the 15th. The hearing is the 26th, and that's not in person.

THE COURT: Okay. Well, I'm very interested to dive into those pleadings. I knew the motion was coming because one of the lawyers said at a prior hearing it would be coming. So I haven't read any of those pleadings, but, well, I'm just very interested to hear how this plays out. I mean, I've said it before.

MR. MORRIS: Uh-huh.

THE COURT: We had global mediation in summer of 2020. We had two very fine mediators. We had a heck of a lot settled, to my amazement. But we're now way down the road and whole lot of money has been eaten up fighting lots of stuff. I mean, it would have to be pens down. There's an enormous amount out there that would have to be part of it, and I just don't know if everyone is fully appreciating that. I hope they are. Anyone listening. We're really, really far down the road now, and there's just how many appeals? Someone at one time told me there were 26. I bet it's more than that by now.

MR. MORRIS: I think that's right. I think we argued on Monday, what is it, the sixth of nine appeals in the Fifth Circuit. And we've got, you know, a cert petition that we're waiting to hear from on the Supreme Court. And yeah, there's still a couple dozen matters in the district court.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. MORRIS: Not one of them, not one of them we're prosecuting, with the exception of waiting on the Court to rule on the Report and Recommendation on the notes litigation and vexatious litigant. We are not the plaintiff, movant, in anything.

THE COURT: We've got adversaries. The Reports and Recommendations. That's just made everything go a lot slower. But all right. So we have that. And anything else coming up?

MR. MORRIS: I think on July 11th maybe there is a hearing scheduled on Hunter Mountain. If you recall, Hunter Mountain had that valuation motion last year that you denied on the grounds that they didn't have a legal right to valuation information. They made a motion earlier this year for leave to file an adversary proceeding to assert an equitable claim and some other declaratory relief, is my recollection.

While we filed an opposition, we didn't oppose the relief requested, so that motion got resolved. They have filed an adversary proceeding. And I think, if I remember correctly, our response to the complaint, maybe that's what due. Oh, the 11th is a status conference. It could be a status conference, maybe to set a scheduling order.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. MORRIS: But that's it. I think that's the only thing on the calendar.

THE COURT: That's a lot.

MR. MCENTIRE: Thank you.

THE COURT: Anything else? Okay.

MR. STANCIL: Thank you, Your Honor.

MR. MORRIS: Thank you, Your Honor.

THE CLERK: All rise.

EXHIBIT 37

REMITTANCE AGREEMENT

This Remittance Agreement (the "Agreement") is entered into as of January 10, 2025 (the "Effective Date") by and between NREA SB II Holdings, LLC (together with its successors and assigns in such capacities, "NexPoint Small Bay."), Charitable DAF Holdings Corp. (together with its successors and assigns in such capacities, "Charitable DAF"), and Liberty CLO Holdco, Ltd. (together with its successors and assigns in such capacities, "Liberty CLO"). NexPoint Small Bay, Charitable DAF, and Liberty CLO are each referred to herein individually as a "Party" and collectively as the "Parties."

RECITALS

WHEREAS, the Charitable DAF and Liberty CLO jointly previously provided temporary bridge funding and equity to NexPoint Small Bay, with repayment required in accordance with the Limited Liability Company Agreement of NexPoint Small Bay (the "DAF Bridge Equity"); and

WHEREAS, NexPoint Small Bay currently owes $8,265,050.74 to Charitable DAF and Liberty CLO, jointly, as repayment for the DAF Bridge Equity;

THEREFORE, for and in consideration of the payment, promises, covenants, conditions, stipulations, benefits, and obligations described and provided herein, the sufficiency and adequacy of which is expressly hereby acknowledged, the Parties agree as follows:

AGREEMENT

1. Payment to DAF. On or before January 14, 2025, NexPoint Small Bay shall pay to Charitable DAF and Liberty CLO, jointly, the amount of $8,265,050.74 (the "DAF Bridge Equity Payment").

2. Satisfaction and Release of Claims. Charitable DAF and Liberty CLO each stipulates and agrees that the DAF Bridge Equity Payment will fully and completely satisfy all obligations arising out of or relating to the DAF Bridge Equity, that they each, upon receipt of the DAF Bridge Equity Payment, automatically and forever release and discharge NexPoint Small Bay and its affiliates, members, successors, and assigns, of and from all claims, demands, damages, liability, and responsibility, of any type or kind arising from or relating to the DAF Bridge Equity and/or their membership in NexPoint Small Bay, and Charitable DAF and Liberty CLO shall cease to be Members of NexPoint Small Bay and cease to have any rights under the Limited Liability Company Agreement of NexPoint Small Bay. Charitable DAF and Liberty CLO hereby provide any consent that is required by them under the Limited Liability Company Agreement of NexPoint Small Bay.

3. Choice of Law; Jurisdiction; Venue. This Agreement shall be governed by and construed in accordance with the laws of the State of Texas, without regard to conflict of law provisions. Each Party to hereby consents and agrees that the courts located in Texas shall have sole and exclusive jurisdiction to hear and determine any claims or disputes between the parties pertaining to this Agreement or to any matter arising out of or relating to this Agreement. Each Party expressly submits and consents in advance to such jurisdiction in any action or suit commenced in any such court, and each Party hereby waives any objection that it may have based upon lack of personal jurisdiction, improper venue, or forum non conveniens.

4. Amendments; Waivers. No amendment, modification, or waiver of any of the provisions of this Agreement shall be deemed to be made unless the same shall be in writing signed on behalf of each Party, and each waiver, if any, shall be a waiver only with respect to the specific instance involved and shall in no way impair the rights of the Party making such waiver or the obligations of the other Party in any other respect or at any other time.

5. Binding Effect. Except as otherwise expressly provided herein, the provisions of this Agreement shall inure to the benefit of, and be binding upon, the Parties and their respective successors, assigns, executors, representatives, and administrators.

6. Entire Agreement. The Agreement contains the entire understanding of the Parties with respect to the subject matter hereof and supersedes all prior agreements and understandings, oral or written, with respect to such matters, which the Parties acknowledge have been merged into this Agreement.

7. Counterparts. This Agreement may be executed in counterparts, each of which shall be deemed an original but all of which taken together shall constitute one and the same instrument. Signature by facsimile or other similar electronic transmission shall have the same force and effect as an original signature.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, the Parties have executed this Remittance Agreement as of the Effective Date set forth above and in the capacities set forth below.

INTERCREDITOR AND PARTICIPATION AGREEMENT

This Intercreditor and Participation Agreement (the "Agreement") is entered into as of January 10, 2025 (the "Effective Date") by and between Highland CLO Management, Ltd. (together with its successors and assigns in such capacities, "HCLOM Ltd.") and Hunter Mountain Investment Trust (together with its successors and assigns in such capacities, "HMIT"). HCLOM Ltd. and HMIT are each referred to herein individually as a "Party" and jointly as the "Parties."

RECITALS

WHEREAS, on September 22, 2020, Highland Capital Management, L.P. filed a Notice of Filing of Debtor's Amended Schedules in its pending Chapter 11 Case No. 19-34054-sgj11 (the "Bankruptcy Case") in which it, among other things, scheduled a creditor's claim by HCLOM Ltd. (the "HCLOM Claim"); and

WHEREAS, on December 27, 2024, the Bankruptcy Court entered a Stipulated and Agreed Order Resolving (A) HCLOM, Ltd.'s Scheduled Claims 3.65 and 3.66; and (B) Highland Capital Management, L.P.'s (1) Objection and (2) Motion for a Bad Faith Finding and an Award of Attorneys' Fees Against HCLOM, Ltd. and James Dondero in Connection Therewith [Docket Nos. 3657, 4176] in the Bankruptcy Case (the "Stipulation and Agreed Order"); and

WHEREAS, the Stipulation and Agreed Order converted the HCLOM Claim to a Class 10 interest/claim (as such is defined in Article III.H. ¶ 10 of the Fifth Amended Plan of Reorganization of Highland Capital Management, L.P. (as Modified) in the Bankruptcy Case) (the "Plan") in the amount of $10,140,633.26; and

WHEREAS, the Parties have agreed to certain rights and priorities solely as between themselves regarding HCLOM Ltd.'s participation in the payment of Class 10 interests/claims;

THEREFORE, for and in consideration of the promises, covenants, conditions, stipulations, benefits, and obligations described and provided herein, the sufficiency and adequacy of which is expressly hereby acknowledged, the Parties agree as follows:

AGREEMENT

1. HMIT Payment Obligation to HCLOM Ltd. Upon HMIT's receipt of distributions on account of its Class 10 interest/claim (the "Distributions"), HMIT will pay to HCLOM Ltd. an amount equal to five percent (5%) of the funds received by HMIT within two (2) business days after receipt of indefeasible funds by HMIT (the "HMIT Payment Obligation"). HMIT shall be entitled to deduct from the Distributions the fees and expenses billed by Kelly Hart Hallman, LLP which directly relate to the Stipulation and Agreed Order or this Agreement (the "HMIT Expenses") until all HMIT Expenses are paid in full.

2. No Additional Duties to HCLOM Ltd. HMIT shall retain and have the sole discretion to act with respect to its Class 10 interest/claim, and shall owe no additional duties to HCLOM Ltd. or any other person or entity, including without limitation, with respect to (i) the amount of Distributions or recovery by HMIT on account of its Class 10 interests/claims,

(ii) the amount of Distributions that could be received by any holder of Class 10 interests/claims, (iii) the rights of any holder of Class 10 interests/claims, or (iv) any pleading or document that could or should be filed in any way related to the Bankruptcy Case, the Plan, or the HMIT Class 10 interests/claims.

3. No Liens or Encumbrances. HMIT will not take any action that could reasonably be expected to encumber HMIT's Class 10 interests/claims, limit or affect HMIT's right or ability to fulfil and perform the HMIT Payment Obligation, or limit or affect HCLOM Ltd.'s right to receive the Distributions.

4. This Agreement Supersedes the Effects of the Stipulated and Agreed Order Among the Parties. HCLOM acknowledges and agrees that, notwithstanding the Stipulated and Agreed Order, the terms of this Agreement amends and supersedes the effect of the Stipulation and Agreed Order as between the Parties and HCLOM's rights to payment under the Plan are limited solely to the HMIT Payment Obligation.

5. Non-Interference; No Cause of Action. Notwithstanding Paragraph 3, HCLOM will not have any rights to object to or otherwise interfere with the rights of HMIT as a holder of Class 10 interest to reach a settlement with Highland Capital Management, LP ("Highland"). HCLOM acknowledges that it shall have no right to notice or approval of such a settlement nor will it have any cause of action against HMIT arising out of any such settlement.

6. Remittance Agreement. The Parties acknowledge that contemporaneously herewith NREA SB II Holdings, LLC (together with its successors and assigns in such capacities, "NexPoint Small Bay."), Charitable DAF Holdings Corp. (together with its successors and assigns in such capacities, "Charitable DAF"), and Liberty CLO Holdco, Ltd. (together with its successors and assigns in such capacities, "Liberty CLO") have entered into that certain Remittance Agreement effective January 10, 2025 (the "Remittance Agreement"). HCLOM agrees that if NexPoint Small Bay fails to make the DAF Bridge Equity Payment (as defined in the Remittance Agreement) pursuant to the terms of the Remittance Agreement, HMIT will have no obligations to make the HMIT Payment Obligation, and HMIT shall not receive any distribution from HMIT or any other party related to any Class 10 interest/claim. Notwithstanding any failure of NexPoint Small Bay to adhere to the terms of the Remittance Agreement, HCLOM acknowledges that by executing this Agreement, it shall have no other recourse or rights to payment under the Plan other than the terms of this Agreement.

7. Choice of Law; Jurisdiction; Venue. This Agreement shall be governed by and construed in accordance with the laws of the State of Texas, without regard to conflict of law provisions. Each Party to hereby consents and agrees that the courts located in Texas shall have sole and exclusive jurisdiction to hear and determine any claims or disputes between the parties pertaining to this Agreement or to any matter arising out of or relating to this Agreement. Each Party expressly submits and consents in advance to such jurisdiction in any action or suit commenced in any such court, and each Party hereby waives any objection that it may have based upon lack of personal jurisdiction, improper venue, or forum non conveniens.

8. Amendments; Waivers. No amendment, modification, or waiver of any of the provisions of this Agreement shall be deemed to be made unless the same shall be in writing signed on behalf of each Party, and each waiver, if any, shall be a waiver only with respect to the specific instance involved and shall in no way impair the rights of the Party making such waiver or the obligations of the other Party in any other respect or at any other time.

9. Binding Effect. Except as otherwise expressly provided herein, the provisions of this Agreement shall inure to the benefit of, and be binding upon, the Parties and their respective successors, assigns, executors, representatives, and administrators.

10. Entire Agreement. The Agreement contains the entire understanding of the Parties with respect to the subject matter hereof and supersedes all prior agreements and understandings, oral or written, with respect to such matters, which the parties acknowledge have been merged into this Agreement.

11. Counterparts. This Agreement may be executed in counterparts, each of which shall be deemed an original but all of which taken together shall constitute one and the same instrument. Signature by facsimile or other similar electronic transmission shall have the same force and effect as an original signature.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, the Parties have executed this Intercreditor and Participation Agreement as of the Effective Date set forth above and in the capacities set forth below.

BINDING TERM SHEET

This Summary of Terms and Conditions (this "Term Sheet") outlines certain agreements by and between the HMIT Entities,[1] on the one hand, and The Dallas Foundation (the "Foundation"), Empower Dallas Foundation ("EDF"), the Okada Family Foundation ("Okada Family Foundation"), and Crown Global Life Insurance, Ltd. ("Crown," and with the Foundation, EDF, and the Okada Family Trust, the "Foundation Parties") resolving that Objection (the "Objection") of The Dallas Foundation and Crown Global Life Insurance, Ltd to Motion for Enry of an Order Pursuant to Bankruptcy Rule 9019 and 11 U.S.C. § 363 Approving Settlement With the HMIT Entities and Authorizing Actions Consistent Therewith [ECF No. 4216] (the "9019 Motion").

Clarification of 9019 Settlement Releases:	The parties have agreed to include language in any order granting the 9019 Motion clarifying the scope of releases as to the Foundation Parties.
Initial Settlement Payments to HMIT:	The HMIT Parties agree that the Cash Payment and the Initial Interim Distribution (the "Initial Settlement Payments") shall be made as provided in the Settlement Agreement and shall be held in accordance with the terms of this agreement. The HMIT Entities agree that the Initial Settlement Payments shall only be used to pay ordinary expenses of the HMIT entities in the nature of legal expenses and ordinary customary general expenses (the "Expenses"). At the Dallas Foundation Meeting (defined below), the HMIT Parties shall provide a projected quarterly expense budget to the Foundation Parties and shall continue to provide expense reporting reflecting the paid Expenses every forty-five (45) days, commencing August 5, 2025 (relating to Expenses paid June 15, 2025 to July 31, 2025). Such Expenses and the reports are "Information" within the meaning of this Agreement subject to the restrictions herein. Notwithstanding the foregoing, the HMIT Parties shall hold, in accordance with this Agreement, not less than $7,500,000.00 of the Initial Settlement

[1] Capitalized terms not defined herein shall have the meanings set forth in the 9019 Motion or 9019 Order.

	Payments actually received for a period of not less than thirty (30) calendar days following receipt of the Initial Settlement Payments. The HMIT Parties agree that the Initial Settlement Payments (less Expenses) shall be held in an account held by HMIT or CLO HoldCo LLC to be identified by the HMIT Parties. In identifying such account, the HMIT Parties shall provide the account number, the account name, and account location (institution name and location).
HMIT Meeting with The Dallas Foundation:	Mr. Shawn Raver, as representative of HMIT, will, as soon as is practicable, but no later than July 7, 2025 meet in person at a location mutually agreed upon (the "DF Meeting") with the Dallas Foundation and will review the current "DAF" structure, with an eye to commencing negotiations with DF about the use of current support organization(s) or the creation of new support organizations to support the DF and as appropriate the other Foundations mentioned above (the "Resolution"). Mr. Mark Patrick may attend the DF Meeting either in person or virtually. As used herein, the term "DAF" shall mean the historical corporate structure of Charitable DAF Holdco, LTD, its parents and subsidiaries, in existence as of January 1, 2024, and any changes thereto, including any changes described in that matter before the Grand Court of the Cayman Island – Financial Services Division, Cause No: FSD 99 of 2025 (JAJ). At the DF Meeting, which will be a confidential settlement meeting covered by any and all state, federal, and international confidentiality statutes, laws, customs, etc., with all parties to agreeing that no information ("Information") shared at the meeting can be shared further by any person or entity outside of the group participating at the meeting, except as otherwise provided herein. Prior to the Initial Meeting, the HMIT Parties and Foundation Parties may, but shall not be required as a pre-condition of the Initial Meeting, enter into such confidentiality agreements as may be agreed upon by the parties. Nothing in this agreement shall, however, preclude a party from disclosing Information pursuant to a subpoena, or other such legal compulsion or seeking information through subpoena within a proceeding in a tribunal of competent jurisdiction. At the DF Meeting, Mr. Raver will show and present the participants with a balance sheet for the DAF as of 9/30/2024, 12/31/2024, and 3/31/2025. For the avoidance of doubt, such accounting shall include an accounting of any transfer assets from an entity within the DAF structure during the periods covered by the balance sheets to any another entity, including another entity within the DAF structure.

	At any time after the DF Meeting, either the HMIT Parties or Foundation Parties may declare an impasse (an "Impasse") in negotiations in writing delivered to the parties. Unless an Impasse is declared following the DF Meeting, Mark Patrick agrees to meet with the Dallas Foundation and the other Supporting Organizations, or the Foundations they support, with an eye to furthering negotiations on the proposed Resolution. If an acceptable Resolution is agreed upon, Mr. Patrick, the Supporting Organization, and Dallas Foundation shall jointly request a meeting with the JOLs and the DF, with a view toward winding up the liquidation proceedings of Charitable DAF Holdco, Ltd., including not seeking any equitable wind up of Charitable DAF Fund, LP., all of which should be able to be accomplished expeditiously in the event of agreements hoped to be achieved upon the meeting described above.
Resolution of the Objection:	In return for the foregoing, TDF and Crown Global agree to withdraw their objection to the 9019 Motion, in all capacities in which their objection has been filed, and to withdraw the notice of deposition of Mark Patrick. The parties further agree that this Term Sheet shall be included as an attachment to the 9019 Order, and the terms of this Agreement enforceable in the Bankruptcy Court and the Bankruptcy Court shall maintain concurrent jurisdiction to resolve any dispute arising therefrom.

Re: The Highland Dallas Foundation, Inc, et al v. Mark Patrick, et al, Cause No. 25-BC01B-0027
Rule 11 Agreement

Dear Mr. Shaw:

Pursuant to Texas Rule of Civil Procedure 11, the parties in this matter The Highland Dallas Foundation, Inc., The Highland Kansas City Foundation, Inc., and The Highland Santa Barbara Foundation, Inc. (collectively "Plaintiffs"), and Mark Patrick, DFW Charitable Foundation, CDMCFAD, LLC, and CDH GP, Ltd. (collectively "Defendants"), agree to the following:

(1) The "Covered Entities" as referred to herein is defined to include collectively Charitable DAF Fund, LP and/or any of its subsidiaries, the DFW Charitable Foundation and/or any of its subsidiaries, CDMCFAD, LLC and/or any of its subsidiaries, and/or any of its subsidiaries, and CDH GP, Ltd. and/or any of its subsidiaries.

(2) Defendants shall have until Monday, July 14, 2025, to file a challenge to the court's jurisdiction (the "Plea").

(3) Plaintiffs shall have until Monday, July 21, 2025, to file a response to the Plea.

(4) Defendants shall have until Thursday, July 24, 2025, to file a reply to the Plea.

(5) The Parties agree to the following limits on discovery prior to any hearing on Plaintiffs' application for temporary injunction/appointment of receiver (the "Temporary Injunction")

Copy from re:SearchTX

in this matter (these limits shall have no effect on any discovery conducted after the Temporary Injunction is decided):

a. Plaintiffs and Defendants each (not per party) may serve 25 requests for production to the other, may serve 5 interrogatories, may serve 10 requests for admission, and may take 3 depositions (2 of which shall be limited to 3 hours, and one of which shall be limited to 6 hours, the selection of the witness for the six hour deposition to be determined by the party seeking the deposition).

b. The Parties shall serve all discovery requests no later than Wednesday, July 16, 2025.

c. Responses to the written discovery and substantial completion of related any related document production shall be served as follows: (1) if the Court denies the Plea as to any Defendant, seven business days after the Court order denying the Plea is entered; (2) if the Court grants the Plea as to all Defendants, then responses to written discovery shall not be due, if at all, until seven business days after the Court's order granting the Plea is reversed or overturned.

Depositions shall take place within seven days after the written discovery responses and documents are served as set forth in c. above.

(6) If the Court denies the Plea, the Temporary Injunction shall be heard as reasonably practicable after the ruling, unless stayed by an appellate court. If the Plea is granted, but is later reversed or overturned, the same timelines for discovery provided in (5) above shall be followed and the Parties shall then seek to expeditiously set a hearing before the Court.

(7) Pending the Court's decision on the Temporary Injunction or grant of the Plea relating to the Temporary Injunction or Plea), the Covered Entities and their respective agents, servants, employees, representatives, and all other persons acting under the aegis of, in concert with, or for any Covered Entity, agree:

a. not to transfer, conceal, withdraw, alienate, redeem, expend, encumber, disperse, or otherwise dispose of any and all funds, assets, receivables, or shares outside of the ordinary course of business;

b. not take any action to increase the compensation paid to any employee of the Covered Entities;

c. not to take any action to dissolve, winddown, liquidate, or otherwise alter the corporate standing of Covered Entities;

d. not to take any action to modify or alter the corporate governance of the Covered Entities, including but not limited to any amendment to their respective bylaws or organizational documents;

e. not to take any action to sell, exchange, or dispossess any asset of one of the Covered Entities unless (i) the sale is to a bona third party purchaser for reasonably equivalent value, (ii) except in the case of marketable securities, the bona fide purchaser is made aware of this Rule 11 Agreement, and (iii) the proceeds from that sale, exchange, or disposition remain owned by the Covered Entities;

f. not to alter, conceal, or destroy any business records concerning the Defendants, including any transfers of funds, assets, receivables, or shares to the Defendants;

(8) This Agreement shall be filed with the Court and, as provided in the first sentence of this letter, constitutes an enforceable agreement pursuant to Texas Rule of Civil Procedure 11. This Agreement shall expire and be of no force or effect on the earlier of (a) thirty days after a final order of the Court dismissing this case or (b) the Court's ruling on Plaintiffs' current request for a temporary injunction (or as subsequently amended). This does not prevent a party from requesting that a court of appeals issue an order to keep this Rule 11 Agreement in place during the pendency of such appeal or any objection to such request.

If the terms above accurately reflect our agreement, please acknowledge your agreement by signing below.

Best regards.

Sincerely,

Joseph M. Cox

Schedule A

Undertakings given by the Defendants

1 Pending the determination of the JOLs' Summons, the Defendants[1], and the related entities listed in Schedule B hereto (the "CDM Entities") and their respective agents, servants, employees, and representatives, agree and undertake to:

(a) not to transfer, conceal, withdraw, alienate, redeem, expend, encumber, disperse, or otherwise dispose of any and all funds, assets, receivables, or shares of the CDM Entities outside of the ordinary course of business;

(b) not to take any action to increase the remuneration paid to any employee, manager or director of the CDM Entities;

(c) not to take any action to dissolve, wind-down, liquidate, or otherwise alter the corporate standing of the CDM Entities;

(d) not to take any action to modify or alter the corporate governance of the CDM Entities, including but not limited to any amendment to their respective bylaws or organizational documents;

(e) not to take any action to sell, exchange, or dispossess any asset of one of the CDM Entities unless (i) the sale is to a bona fide third-party purchaser for reasonably equivalent value, (ii) except in the case of marketable securities, the bona fide purchaser is made aware of this undertaking, and (iii) the proceeds from that sale, exchange, or disposition remain owned by the CDM Entities; and

(f) not to alter, conceal, or destroy any business records concerning the Defendants or the CDM Entities, including any transfers of funds, assets, receivables, or shares to or from the Defendants or CDM Entities.

2 Further, and to the extent not addressed by the foregoing, the Defendants and the CDM Entities undertake and agree that:

[1] Being the First Defendant, Mark Patrick; the Second Defendant, Paul Murphy; the Third Defendant, CDMCFAD, LLC; the Fourth Defendant, DFW Charitable Foundation; the Fifth Defendant, CDH GP, Ltd. as general partner for and on behalf of Charitable DAF Fund, LP, and in its capacity as general partner; and the Sixth Defendant, CLO HoldCo, Ltd.

(a) they will preserve and will not in any way dispose of, deal with, encumber, transfer or diminish the value of (as applicable) their or any interest (of whatsoever nature), whether held directly or indirectly, in Charitable DAF Fund, LP (the "Fund"), and/or the CDM Entities and/or any assets of the Fund other than in the ordinary course of business; and

(b) they shall not do anything to cause, procure, incite, promote or assist a breach by any other party of this undertaking.

3 From the date of this undertaking to the date of the determination of the JOLs' Summons, the Third, Fourth, Fifth and Sixth Defendants (the "CDM Defendants") and the CDM Entities will give 7 days' written notice to the JOLs of any payment or transaction of any nature (or series of related payments or transactions) they propose to make at or above US$50,000. Such notice must include full supporting information and documentation as well as an explanation of the rationale for the transaction.

4 From the date of this undertaking to the date of the determination of the JOLs' Summons, the First Defendant and the Second Defendant will give 7 days' written notice to the JOLs of any payment or transaction of any nature (or series of related payments or transactions) they propose to make at or above US$100,000. Such notice must include full supporting information and documentation as well as an explanation of the rationale for the transaction.

5 If the JOLs have any queries regarding a transaction (or series of related payments or transactions) and whether it is in the ordinary course of the CDM Defendants' or the CDM Entities' business, the CDM Defendants and the CDM Entities undertake to consult with the JOLs and to provide clarification. For the avoidance of doubt, nothing in this undertaking shall prohibit the Defendants and the CDM Entities from making payments to any attorney, lawyer, third party consultant, accountant, or external professional services advisor which is required, either in the ordinary course of business, or in respect of their reasonable legal fees and expenses in connection with these proceedings or the official liquidation of Charitable DAF Holdco, Ltd (In Official Liquidation) [FSD 116 of 2025 (JAJ)], or the Chapter 15 Case (defined below). All such transactions of the CDM Defendants and the CDM Entities will be provided for in the monthly transactions report pursuant to paragraph 6 of this undertaking. However, the Defendants agree that the issue of whether they are permitted to use funds that derive directly or indirectly from the limited partner interest in the Fund to pay their legal fees and other service providers will be determined at the Hearing (as defined in paragraph 1 of the consent order to which these undertakings are appended).

6 From the date of this undertaking to the date of the determination of the JOLs' Summons, the CDM Defendants and the CDM Entities will disclose to the JOLs, at the end of each calendar month: (i) a full listing of payments or other transactions undertaken by them below US$50,000 in the calendar month just passed; and (ii) copies of all existing and up to date balance sheets and financial statements or records prepared in relation to the CDM Defendants or the CDM Entities for the period 30 June 2024 onwards. Any information of whatever nature relating to any member of the Defendants or the CDM Entities which is provided to the JOLs pursuant to this paragraph 5, shall not be disclosed to or shared with Mr James Dondero, the Supporting Organisations (being Highland Santa Barbara Foundation, Highland Dallas Foundation, and Highland Kansas City Foundation), or any known affiliates or service providers of these individuals / entities, subject to where the JOLs' are required to disclose any such information in the discharge of their duties to the Court or as otherwise required by law.

7 With respect to the chapter 15 case, In re Charitable DAF Holdco, Ltd (In Official Liquidation), United States Bankruptcy Court for the District of Delaware (the "Bankruptcy Court"), Case No. 25-11376 (BLS) (the "Chapter 15 Case"), (i) The First, Third, Fourth, Fifth and Sixth Defendants and the CDM Entities consent to the entry of an order, in the form and substance appended hereto at Schedule C, in the Chapter 15 Case, recognising and enforcing the above undertakings in the United States; (ii) the JOLs agree to adjourn the hearing to recognise the Cayman Islands liquidation of Charitable DAF Holdco, Ltd. (the "Company") as a foreign main proceeding from 14 August 2025, to a date as soon as practicable, based on the Bankruptcy Court's availability, following the conclusion of inter parties hearing regarding the JOL's Summons (such, date, the "Adjourned Recognition Hearing Date"); (iii) the JOLs and the First, Third, Fourth, Fifth and Sixth Defendants and the CDM Entities agree that the deadline to object to recognition of the Cayman Islands liquidation of the Company shall be the date that is 21 days before the Adjourned Recognition Hearing Date and the deadline for JOLs to reply to objections, if any, shall be the date that is 7 days before the Adjourned Recognition Hearing Date. For the avoidance of doubt, (i) the First, Third, Fourth, Fifth and Sixth Defendants and the CDM Entities reserve their rights regarding any relief sought in the Chapter 15 Case, including the relief sought in the Verified Petition for (I) Recognition of Foreign Main Proceeding, (II) Recognition of Foreign Representative and (II) Related Relief Under Chapter 15 of the Bankruptcy Code, other than with respect to matters expressly addressed in this undertaking; and (ii) the JOLs reserve their right to seek provisional relief against parties as they deem necessary or appropriate in furtherance of their duties as official liquidators, including in furtherance of their ongoing investigation of the business and affairs of the Company from the date hereof through the Adjourned Recognition Hearing Date.

In re:	Chapter 15
CHARITABLE DAF HOLDCO, LTD (In Official Liquidation),[2]	Case No. 25-11376 (BLS)
Debtor in a foreign proceeding.

ORDER GRANTING PROVISIONAL RELIEF PURSUANT TO BANKRUPTCY CODE SECTIONS 105(A) AND 1519 TO RECOGNIZE AND ENFORCE AN ORDER ENTERED BY THE CAYMAN COURT IMPLEMENTING AN ASSET PRESERVATION PROTOCOL WITH RESPECT TO THE CDM ENTITIES

Upon consideration of [a certification of counsel] with respect to the entry by the Cayman Court[3] of an Order Implementing an Asset Preservation Protocol in the Cayman Litigation, dated [July __, 2025] and attached hereto as Exhibit 1 (the "Asset Preservation Protocol") and it being understood that the JOLs and the First, Third, Fourth, Fifth and Sixth Defendants and the CDM Entities agree to the terms and form of this order (the "Order") and its entry by the Court; and after due deliberation and sufficient cause appearing therefor;

IT IS HEREBY ORDERED THAT:

1. The Asset Preservation Protocol is hereby recognized by this Court and all undertakings as they relate to the First, Third, Fourth, Fifth and Sixth Defendants and the CDM

[2] The Debtor is incorporated in the Cayman Islands as an exempted company and registered with registration number 263805. The Debtor's registered office is located at HSM Corporate Services Limited, P.O. Box 31726, 68 Fort Street, George Town, Grand Cayman, KY1-1207, Cayman Islands.

[3] Unless otherwise defined herein, all capitalized terms shall have the meanings ascribed to them in the Verified Petition for (I) Recognition of Foreign Main Proceeding, (II) Recognition of Foreign Representative, and (III) Related Relief Under Chapter 15 of the Bankruptcy Code [D.I. 3] (the "Verified Petition").

Entities, set forth therein are fully enforceable in the United States, including, but not limited to, each of the following:

a. the First, Third, Fourth, Fifth and Sixth Defendants (as defined in the Asset Preservation Protocol) and the related entities listed in and attached hereto as Exhibit 2 (the "CDM Entities") and their respective agents, servants, employees, and representatives, agree and undertake to:

   i. not transfer, conceal, withdraw, alienate, redeem, expend, encumber, disperse, or otherwise dispose of any and all funds, assets, receivables, or shares of the CDM Entities outside of the ordinary course of business;

   ii. not take any action to increase the remuneration paid to any employee, manager or director of the CDM Entities;

   iii. not take any action to dissolve, wind-down, liquidate, or otherwise alter the corporate standing of the CDM Entities;

   iv. not take any action to modify or alter the corporate governance of the CDM Entities, including but not limited to any amendment to their respective bylaws or organizational documents;

   v. not take any action to sell, exchange, or dispossess any asset of one of the CDM Entities unless (i) the sale is to a bona fide third party purchaser for reasonably equivalent value, (ii) except in the case of marketable securities, the bona fide purchaser is made aware of this undertaking, and (iii) the proceeds from that sale, exchange, or disposition remain owned by the CDM Entities;

vi. not alter, conceal, or destroy any business records concerning the First, Third, Fourth, Fifth and Sixth Defendants or the CDM Entities, including any transfers of funds, assets, receivables, or shares to or from the First, Third, Fourth, Fifth and Sixth Defendants or CDM Entities;

b. Further, and to the extent not addressed by the foregoing, the First, Third, Fourth, Fifth and Sixth and the CDM Entities undertake and agree that:

i. they will preserve and will not in any way dispose of, deal with, encumber, transfer or diminish the value of (as applicable) their or any interest (of whatsoever nature), whether held directly or indirectly, in Charitable DAF Fund, LP (the "Fund"), and/or the CDM Entities and/or any assets of the Fund other than in the ordinary course of business; and

ii. they shall not do anything to cause, procure, incite, promote or assist a breach by any other party of this Order;

c. From the date of the Asset Preservation Protocol to the date of the determination JOLs' Summons (as defined in the Asset Preservation Protocol), the CDM Defendants (as defined in the Asset Preservation Protocol) and the CDM Entities will give 7 days' written notice to the JOLs of any payment or transaction of any nature (or series of related payments or transactions) they propose to make at or above US$50,000. Such notice must include full supporting information and documentation as well as an explanation of the rationale for the transaction;

d. From the date of the Asset Preservation Protocol to the date of the determination of the JOLs' Summons (as defined in the Asset Preservation Protocol), the First Defendant (as defined in the Asset Preservation Protocol) will give 7 days' written notice to the JOLs of any payment or transaction of any nature (or series of related payments or transactions) he proposes to make at or above US$100,000. Such notice must include full supporting information and documentation as well as an explanation of the rationale for the transaction;

e. If the JOLs have any queries regarding a transaction (or series of related payments or transactions) and whether it is in the ordinary course of the CDM Defendants' or the CDM Entities' business, the CDM Defendants and CDM Entities undertake to consult with the JOLs and to provide clarification. For the avoidance of doubt, nothing in this undertaking shall prohibit the First, Third, Fourth, Fifth and Sixth Defendants and the CDM Entities from making payments to any attorney, lawyer, third party consultant, accountant, or external professional services advisor which is required, either in the ordinary course of business, or in respect of their reasonable legal fees and expenses in connection with the Cayman Litigation, the Cayman Proceeding or this Chapter 15 Case. All such transactions of the CDM Defendants and the CDM Entities will be provided for in the monthly transactions report pursuant to paragraph 1(f) of this Order. However, the First, Third, Fourth, Fifth and Sixth Defendants agree that the issue of whether they are permitted to use funds that derive directly or indirectly from the limited partner interest in the Fund to pay their legal fees and other service providers will be determined at the Hearing (as defined in the Asset Preservation Protocol);

f. from the date of the Asset Preservation Protocol to the date of the determination of the JOLs' Summons (as defined in the Asset Preservation Protocol), the CDM Defendants and the CDM Entities will disclose to the JOLs, at the end of each calendar month: (i) a full listing of payments or other transactions undertaken by them below US$50,000 in the calendar month just passed; and (ii) copies of all existing and up to date balance sheets and financial statements or records prepared in relation to the CDM Defendants or the CDM Entities for the period 30 June 2024 onwards. Any information of whatever nature relating to any member of the First, Third, Fourth, Fifth and Sixth Defendants or the CDM Entities which is provided to the JOLs pursuant to this paragraph 1(e), shall not be disclosed to or shared with Mr James Dondero, the Supporting Organizations (being Highland Santa Barbara Foundation, Highland Dallas Foundation, and Highland Kansas City Foundation), or any known affiliates or service providers of these individuals or entities, subject to where the JOLs' are required to disclose any such information in the discharge of their duties to the Cayman Court or as otherwise required by law;

2. Notwithstanding any provision in the Bankruptcy Rules to the contrary (i) this Order shall be effective immediately and enforceable upon entry; (ii) the JOLs are not subject to any stay in the implementation, enforcement, or realization of the relief granted in this Order; and (iii) the JOLs are authorized and empowered, and may, in their discretion and without further delay, take any action and perform any act necessary to implement and effectuate the terms of this Order.

3. Each of the First, Third, Fourth, Fifth and Sixth Defendants and the CDM Entities reserve their rights regarding any relief sought in the Chapter 15 Case, including the relief sought in the Verified Petition, other than with respect to matters expressly addressed in paragraph 1 of this Order. For the avoidance of doubt, the First, Third, Fourth, Fifth and Sixth Defendants (as defined in the Asset Preservation Protocol) and the CDM Entities hereby consent to the recognition and enforcement of the Asset Preservation Protocol in the United States through and including the date of determination of the JOLs' Summons (as defined in the Asset Preservation Protocol) and shall not oppose the continuation of such relief at any hearing for recognition of the Cayman Proceeding. By agreeing to the entry of this order, the First, Third, Fourth, Fifth and Sixth Defendants and the CDM Entities have not consented to jurisdiction in this Court. All parties' rights are reserved with respect to jurisdiction

4. This Order is a Final Order within the meaning of 28 U.S.C. § 158(a) and is effective immediately upon entry.

5. This Order shall be binding on and inure to the benefit of the Debtor, the JOLs, the First, Third, Fourth, Fifth and Sixth Defendants, and the CDM Entities.

6. To the extent there is any inconsistency between the terms of this Order and the Asset Preservation Protocol, the terms of the Asset Preservation Protocol as they relate to the First, Third, Fourth, Fifth and Sixth Defendants and the CDM Entities shall control.

7. This Court shall retain jurisdiction over any and all matters arising from or related to the implementation, interpretation, and/or enforcement of this Order, any request for additional relief or any adversary proceeding brought in and through this Chapter 15 Case, and any request by an entity for relief from the provisions of this Order, for cause shown, that is properly commenced and within the jurisdiction of this Court.

ORDER

Before the court are

1. Defendants' July 14, 2025, Motion to Dismiss and Plea to the Jurisdiction;

2. Plaintiffs' July 21, 2025, Response to Defendants' Motion to Dismiss and Plea to the Jurisdiction;

Copy from re:SearchTX

3. Defendants' July 25, 2025, Reply in Support of their Motion to Dismiss and Plea to the Jurisdiction;

4. Plaintiffs' July 30, 2025, Surreply to Defendants' Motion to Dismiss and Plea to the Jurisdiction;

5. Defendants' August 11, 2025, Supplemental Brief and Alternative Motion to Abate;

6. Plaintiffs' August 18, 2025, Response to Defendants' Supplemental Brief and Alternative Motion to Abate;

7. Defendants' August 21, 2025, Reply in Support of their Supplemental Brief and Alternative Motion to Abate; and

8. Plaintiffs' August 25, 2025, Sur-reply to Defendants' Supplemental Brief and Alternative Motion to Abate.

Having considered the pleadings, motions, party submissions, and oral arguments, the court makes the following findings and conclusions:

1. Plaintiffs have constitutional standing to assert their claims because they allege an injury to themselves. Additionally, the court has statutory jurisdiction under Texas Government Code § 25A.004(b). Therefore, Defendants' Motion to Dismiss and Plea to the Jurisdiction based on those premises is denied. These are not rulings on (i) the validity of plaintiffs' causes of action; (ii) whether plaintiffs are proper parties to assert those causes of action; or (iii) whether all necessary parties are before the court.

2. The court does not at this time decide whether plaintiffs have the legal capacity to assert their causes of action because defendants have not filed a verified denial raising a lack of capacity defense. See TEX. R. CIV. P. 93(1).

3. Charitable DAF HoldCo, Ltd.'s joint official liquidators (JOLs) are necessary parties under Texas Rule of Civil Procedure 39(a), they are not parties to this case, and the court cannot provide complete relief in their absence. Accordingly, this case should be abated until when the JOLs become parties, voluntarily or involuntarily.

4. Any further filings must be made by leave of court.

So ORDERED.

Execution Version

THIRTEENTH AMENDMENT TO SENIOR SECURED TERM LOAN CREDIT AGREEMENT

THIRTEENTH AMENDMENT TO SENIOR SECURED TERM LOAN CREDIT AGREEMENT, dated September 30, 2025 (this "Amendment"), is by and among MIDWAVE WIRELESS, INC. (f/k/a TERRESTAR CORPORATION) (the "Borrower"), MIDWAVE WIRELESS COMMUNICATIONS, LLC (F/K/A MOTIENT COMMUNICATIONS LLC), MIDWAVE WIRELESS HOLDINGS, INC. (F/K/A MOTIENT HOLDINGS INC.), MIDWAVE WIRELESS HOLDINGS I, INC. (F/K/A MVH HOLDINGS I INC.), 2014 AWS SPECTRUM PARTNERSHIP, LP, 2014 AWS SPECTRUM BIDCO CORPORATION, as guarantors (each a "Guarantor" and, collectively, the "Guarantors" and together with the Borrower, the "Loan Parties"), the Lenders party hereto (in such capacity, the "Consenting Lenders"), and NEXBANK, FKA NEXBANK SSB, as agent for the Lenders (in such capacity, the "Administrative Agent").

W I T N E S S E T H :

WHEREAS, the Loan Parties, Administrative Agent and the Lenders have entered into that certain Senior Secured Term Loan Credit Agreement, dated as of February 27, 2015, as amended and restated pursuant to that certain First Amendment, dated as of October 25, 2017, and as amended and restated pursuant to that certain Second Amendment, dated as of March 19, 2018, and as amended by that certain Third Amendment, dated as of August 1, 2018, that certain Fourth Amendment, dated May 15, 2019, that certain Fifth Amendment, dated as of May 15, 2020, that certain Sixth Amendment, dated as of December 29, 2020, that certain Seventh Amendment, dated as of July 6, 2021, that certain Eighth Amendment, dated as of August 5, 2021, that certain Ninth Amendment, dated as of June 30, 2023, that certain Tenth Amendment, dated as of November 7, 2024, that certain Eleventh Amendment, dated as of January 31, 2025, and that certain Twelfth Amendment, dated as of May 14, 2025 (as further amended, supplemented or otherwise modified prior to the date hereof, the "Existing Credit Agreement" and as amended by this Amendment, the "Credit Agreement"), pursuant to which the Lenders have made and may make loans and advances and provide other financial accommodations to the Borrower as set forth in the (x) Existing Credit Agreement and (y) other Loan Documents;

WHEREAS, pursuant to the Existing Credit Agreement, the Financing Fee Effective Date is October 1, 2025;

WHEREAS, pursuant to the Existing Credit Agreement, the Borrower agreed to pay to each Tenth Amendment Consenting Lender (other than the Specified Lender) a financing fee equal to 9.0% of the principal amount of the Loans held by such Tenth Amendment Consenting Lender on such Financing Fee Effective Date, which shall be payable in kind, capitalized, compounded and added to the unpaid principal amount of the Tranche J Loans held by such Tenth Amendment Consenting Lender on the Financing Fee Effective Date (the "Existing Financing Fee Requirement");

WHEREAS, the Borrower has requested that the Consenting Lenders agree to amend the timing and mechanics of the Existing Financing Fee Requirement with respect to the Loans held by such Consenting Lender on the terms and subject to the conditions set forth herein and in the Credit Agreement;

WHEREAS, the Consenting Lenders are willing to agree to such amendments to the Existing Credit Agreement on the terms and subject to the conditions set forth herein; and

WHEREAS, by this Amendment, the undersigned parties desire and intend to evidence such amendments;

NOW THEREFORE, in consideration of the foregoing and the mutual agreements and covenants contained herein and in the Credit Agreement, and other good and valuable consideration, the receipt and sufficiency of which are hereby acknowledged, the parties hereto agree as follows:

1. Consents; etc. Each of the Consenting Lenders and the Loan Parties consents to and approves this Amendment, the amendments to the Existing Credit Agreement effected hereby, and the Credit Agreement as amended by this Amendment.

2. Amendment to Existing Credit Agreement.

(a) Section 1.1 of the Existing Credit Agreement is hereby amended to add thereto, in alphabetical order, the following definitions which shall read in full as follows:

"Financing Fee PIK Interest" means PIK Interest applicable to 9.0% of the principal amount of the Loans held by a Tenth Amendment Consenting Lender for the period beginning on October 1, 2025, and ending on the Financing Fee Effective Date.

(b) Section 1.1 of the Existing Credit Agreement is hereby amended by amending and restating the definition of "Financing Fee Effective Date" in its entirety as follows:

"Financing Fee Effective Date" means December 15, 2025.

(c) Section 2.9(c) of the Existing Credit Agreement is hereby amended and restated in its entirety as follows:

"(c) Financing Fee. The Borrower agrees to pay to each Tenth Amendment Consenting Lender (other than the Specified Lender) on the Financing Fee Effective Date a financing fee equal to (i) 9.0% of the principal amount of the Loans held by such Tenth Amendment Consenting Lender on the Financing Fee Effective Date (after adding Financing Fee PIK Interest to the principal amount of the Loans held by such Tenth Amendment Consenting Lender) plus (ii) Financing Fee PIK Interest (collectively, the "Financing Fee"), which shall be payable in kind, capitalized, compounded and added to the unpaid principal amount of the Tranche J Loans held by such Tenth Amendment Consenting Lender on the Financing Fee Effective Date; provided, that any assignment of Loans by any Tenth Amendment Consenting Lender effected following the Tenth Amendment Effective Date shall be deemed to include an assignment of the right to receive any Financing Fee on account of such Loans."

3. Interpretation. For purposes of this Amendment, all terms used herein which are not otherwise defined herein, including but not limited to, those terms used in the recitals hereto, shall have the respective meanings assigned thereto in the Existing Credit Agreement as amended by this Amendment.

4. Representations and Warranties by Loan Parties. The Borrower and the Guarantors, jointly and severally, represent and warrant to the Administrative Agent and the Lenders as follows, which representations and warranties shall survive the execution and delivery hereof:

(a) no Default or Event of Default has occurred and is continuing as of the date hereof before and after giving effect to this Amendment;

(b) the Borrower and each Guarantor has taken all necessary corporate or other organizational action to authorize the execution, delivery and performance of this Amendment, and this Amendment has been duly executed and delivered by the Borrower and each Guarantor, and constitutes a legal, valid and binding obligation of the Borrower and each Guarantor, enforceable against such Borrower or Guarantor in accordance with its terms, except as enforceability may be limited by applicable domestic or foreign bankruptcy, insolvency, reorganization, moratorium or similar laws affecting the enforcement of creditors' rights generally and by general equitable principles (whether enforcement is sought by proceedings in equity or at law);

(c) the execution, delivery and performance of this Amendment by the Borrower or any Guarantor will not violate any Requirement of Law or Contractual Obligation of such Borrower or Guarantor in any respect that has or could reasonably be expected to have a Material Adverse Effect; and

(d) all of the representations and warranties set forth in the Existing Credit Agreement and the other Loan Documents, as amended hereby, are true and correct in all material respects (or, with respect to any representation or warranty that is itself modified or qualified by materiality or "Material Adverse Effect" standard, such representation or warranty shall be true and correct in all respects) on and as of the date hereof, as if made on the date hereof, except to the extent any such representation or warranty is made as of a specified date, in which case such representation or warranty shall have been true and correct in all material respects as of such date.

5. Conditions Precedent. The amendments contained herein shall only be effective on the date on which each of the following conditions precedent are satisfied or waived (the "Thirteenth Amendment Effective Date"):

(a) the Administrative Agent shall have received counterparts of this Amendment, duly authorized, executed and delivered by each of the Loan Parties;

(b) the Administrative Agent shall have received counterparts of this Amendment, duly authorized, executed and delivered by the Consenting Lenders constituting each of the Lenders;

(c) no Default or Event of Default shall exist or have occurred and be continuing (after giving effect to the provisions of this Amendment); and

(d) the representations and warranties of each of the Loan Parties contained in this Amendment and each other Loan Document shall be true and correct in all material respects

(or, if such representation or warranty is subject to a materiality or Material Adverse Effect qualification, in all respects) on and as of the Thirteenth Amendment Effective Date, except to the extent that such representations and warranties specifically refer to an earlier date, in which case they shall be true and correct in all material respects (or, if such representation or warranty is subject to a materiality or Material Adverse Effect qualification, in all respects) as of such earlier date.

6. Reaffirmation of the Guaranty and Collateral Documents.

(a) Each Loan Party (i) confirms, ratifies and reaffirms its respective obligations under the guaranty described in Article XI of the Credit Agreement (the "Guaranty"), (ii) agrees that the Guaranty remains valid, binding and enforceable in all respects against such Loan Party and that the Guaranty shall continue to be in full force and effect, with the same force, effect and priority in effect immediately prior to the Thirteenth Amendment Effective Date, and (iii) agrees to continue to comply with, and be subject to, all of the terms, provisions, conditions, covenants, agreements and obligations applicable to it as set forth in the Guaranty;

(b) Each Loan Party confirms, ratifies and reaffirms (i) its respective obligations under the Collateral Documents to which it is a party and (ii) the security interest granted in all of its right, title and interest in, to and under the Collateral under each Collateral Document to which it is a party;

(c) Each Loan Party agrees that each Collateral Document to which it is a party remains valid, binding and enforceable in all respects against such Loan Party and the security interests granted by it therein shall continue to be in full force and effect, with the same force, effect and priority in effect immediately prior to the Thirteenth Amendment Effective Date; and

(d) Each Loan Party agrees, acknowledges and reaffirms all the covenants and agreements contained in each Collateral Document to which it is a party.

All of the Collateral described therein do and shall continue to secure the payment of all Obligations of the Loan Parties under the Credit Agreement and the other Loan Documents, in each case, as amended by this Amendment.

7. Effect of this Amendment; No Novation. Except as expressly set forth herein, no other amendments, changes or modifications to the Loan Documents are intended or implied, and in all other respects the Loan Documents are hereby specifically ratified, reaffirmed and confirmed by each Loan Party as of the Thirteenth Amendment Effective Date and the Loan Parties shall not be entitled to any other or further amendment by virtue of the provisions of this Amendment or with respect to the subject matter of this Amendment. To the extent of conflict between the terms of this Amendment and the other Loan Documents, the terms of this Amendment shall control. The Credit Agreement and this Amendment shall be read and construed as one agreement. On and after the Thirteenth Amendment Effective Date, each reference in the Credit Agreement to "this Agreement", "hereunder", "hereof", "herein" or words of like import, and each reference in the other Loan Documents to the Credit Agreement, shall mean and be a reference to the Credit Agreement as amended by this Amendment. The parties hereto acknowledge and agree that this Amendment and the other Loan Documents, whether executed and delivered in connection herewith or otherwise, do not constitute a novation, satisfaction, payment, re-borrowing or termination of the "Obligations" under the Existing Credit Agreement or the other Loan Documents, and that all such "Obligations" under the Existing Credit Agreement or the other Loan Documents are in all respects continued and outstanding as "Obligations" under the Credit Agreement, except to the extent such obligations are modified from and after the Thirteenth Amendment Effective Date as provided in this Amendment or otherwise paid in full on the Thirteenth Amendment Effective Date.

8. Governing Law. This Amendment and the rights and obligations of the parties hereto shall be governed by, and construed and interpreted in accordance with, the law of the State of New York without giving effect to any provision thereof that would require the application of the law of another jurisdiction.

9. Binding Effect. This Amendment shall be binding upon and inure to the benefit of each of the parties hereto and their respective successors and assigns.

10. Further Assurances. The Borrower and the Guarantors shall execute and deliver such additional documents and take such additional action as may be reasonably requested by the Administrative Agent to effectuate the provisions and purposes of this Amendment.

11. Entire Agreement. This Amendment represents the entire agreement and understanding concerning the subject matter hereof among the parties hereto, and supersedes all other prior agreements, understandings, negotiations and discussions, representations, warranties, commitments, proposals, offers and contracts concerning the subject matter hereof, whether oral or written.

12. Headings. The headings listed herein are for convenience only and do not constitute matters to be construed in interpreting this Amendment.

13. Counterparts. This Amendment may be executed in any number of counterparts, each of which shall be an original, but all of which taken together shall constitute one and the same agreement. Delivery of an executed counterpart of this Amendment by facsimile or other electronic method of transmission shall have the same force and effect as delivery of an original executed counterpart of this Amendment. Any party delivering an executed counterpart of this Amendment by facsimile or other electronic method of transmission shall also deliver an original executed counterpart of this Amendment, but the failure to do so shall not affect the validity, enforceability, and binding effect of this Amendment.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, the parties hereto have caused this Limited Waiver to be duly executed and delivered by their authorized officers as of the day and year first above written.

ATLAS IDF, LP, Plaintiff, v. NEXPOINT REAL ESTATE PARTNERS, LLC f/k/a HCRE PARTNERS, LLC, and NANCY DONDERO, as Trustee of The Dugaboy Investment Trust, Defendants.	§ § § § § § § § § § § § § §	THE BUSINESS COURT OF TEXAS FIRST DIVISION Cause No. 25-BC01B-0004

AGREED FINAL JUDGMENT

The Court considered the Traditional Motion for Summary Judgment (the "Motion").[1] filed by Plaintiff Atlas IDF, LP ("Atlas") on September 29, 2025, the response and reply, the admitted summary-judgment evidence, the pleadings in this case, and the agreement of the parties reflected by this Agreed Final Judgment.

The Court concludes that the Motion should be granted and the parties' agreement honored, such that Atlas is entitled to final judgment against Defendant NexPoint Real Estate Partners, LLC f/k/a HCRE Partners, LLC ("NexPoint") as set forth below.

[1] All defined terms in the Motion are incorporated herein.

Copy from re:SearchTX

Accordingly, the Court therefore RENDERS final judgment in favor of Atlas on its claims for breach (1) of the $2.3M Note, and (2) the $5M Note against NexPoint.

It is ORDERED, Adjudged, and Decreed that Atlas shall recover the following amounts from NexPoint:

1. Damages on the $2.3M Note, calculated as follows: $4,583,477.85 in accrued but unpaid principal and interest due as of October 27, 2025; with pre-judgment interest on that amount at the rate of 8.00% annually, accruing at $967.71 per day beginning on October 27, 2025, until the day before the date of this Agreed Final Judgment;

2. Damages on the $5M Note, calculated as follows: $9,955,549.91 in accrued but unpaid principal and interest due as of October 27, 2025; with pre-judgment interest on that amount at the rate of 8.00% annually, accruing at $2,105.25 per day beginning on October 27, 2025, until the day before the date of this Agreed Final Judgment;

3. Atlas's reasonable and necessary pre-judgment attorneys' fees in the amount of $136,834.50;

Copy from re:SearchTX

4. Conditional post-judgment and appellate fees as follows:

a. $19,791.75 if NexPoint files an unsuccessful motion for new trial;

b. $118,750.50 if NexPoint files an unsuccessful appeal to the Court of Appeals;

c. $59,375.25 if NexPoint files an unsuccessful petition for review to the Supreme Court of Texas if a response to the petition for review is filed;

d. $118,750.50 if NexPoint files an unsuccessful petition for review to the Supreme Court of Texas if a brief on the merits is also filed; and

e. $79,167.00 if NexPoint files an unsuccessful appeal to the Supreme Court of Texas if the petition for review is granted and oral argument is presented;

5. Costs of court; and

6. Post-judgment interest on all amounts due under this Agreed Final Judgment at the contractual rate of 8.00% pursuant to Texas Finance Code § 304.002, beginning on the date this Agreed Final Judgment is rendered.

Copy from re:SearchTX

It is ORDERED, Adjudged, and Decreed that NexPoint shall pay to Atlas the net proceeds due to NexPoint from the sale of any of its assets to satisfy this Agreed Final Judgment until paid in full.

It is ORDERED, Adjudged, and Decreed that Atlas shall have all writs of process and orders necessary to execute on and enforce this Agreed Final Judgment.

This Agreed Final Judgment finally disposes of all claims, all causes of action, and all parties before the Court in this case. To the extent not addressed herein or in a prior order of the Court, all other relief requested by the parties is denied. This final judgment is appealable.

NexPoint waives all rights to appeal this Agreed Final Judgment.

It is SO ORDERED.

IN THE GRAND COURT OF THE CAYMAN ISLANDS

FINANCIAL SERVICES DIVISION

CAUSE NO: FSD OF 2025 ( )

IN THE MATTER OF SECTION 92 OF THE COMPANIES ACT (2025 REVISION)

AND IN THE MATTER OF CHARITABLE DAF HOLDCO, LTD

WINDING UP PETITION

TO: The Grand Court of the Cayman Islands

THE HUMBLE PETITION of the Supporting Organisations (as defined below) (the Petitioners), in their capacity as members of Charitable DAF Holdco, Ltd (the LP) (and indirectly by way of separate petition the Charitable DAF Fund, LP (the Fund)) shows that:

A INTRODUCTION

1. The Petitioners respectfully seek:

   (a) an order pursuant to section 92(e) of the Companies Act (2025 Revision) (the Act) that the LP be wound up on the basis that it is just and equitable to do so; and

   (b) the appointment of Margot MacInnis and Sandipan Bhowmik of Grant Thornton Specialist Services (Cayman) Ltd. of Second Floor, Century Yard, Cricket Square, George Town, Grand Cayman, Cayman Islands as joint official liquidators (the JOLs) of the Fund; and/or

   (c) such other orders as the Court considers to be appropriate.

B THE FUND

2. The Fund is a Cayman Islands limited partnership formed on 28 October 2011 (registration number 53083) whose registered office is Campbells Corporate Services Limited, Floor 4, Willow House, Cricket Square, Grand Cayman, KY1-9010, Cayman Islands.

3. The Fund is governed by the Amended and Restated Limited Partnership Agreement dated 7 November 2011 (the ARLPA).

4. The Fund invests in securities for the purpose of benefiting, directly and indirectly, its Supporting Organisations (as defined below) which support various charitable causes in the U.S., including education, veteran and first responder welfare, medical research, economic and community initiatives, and youth and family programs.

5. The LP is the sole limited partner of the Fund and is a Cayman Islands exempt company incorporated on 27 October 2011 (registration number 263805) whose registered office is Campbells Corporate Services Limited, Floor 4, Willow House, Cricket Square, Grand Cayman, KY1-9010, Cayman Islands.

6. The LP is governed by the Amended and Restated Memorandum and Articles of Association of the LP dated 19 January 2015 (the Articles).

7. The general partner of the Fund is (or at least was at the time of the Fund's formation and pursuant to the ARLPA) Charitable DAF GP, LLC (the GP), a Delaware company incorporated on 25 October 2011, whose registered office is Campbells Corporate Services Limited, Floor 4, Willow House, Cricket Square, Grand Cayman, KY1-9010, Cayman Islands.

Ownership and Management

8. The Fund was formed to "make certain investments directly or indirectly on behalf of certain entities exempt from taxation under section 501(c)(3) of the U.S. Internal Revenue Code (the Code) … for the economic benefit of the Limited Partner and its Indirect Charitable Owners" (ARLPA, Recitals).

9. The Petitioners understand that exempt entities under section 501(c)(3) of the Code, commonly referred to as charitable organisations, must be operated exclusively for charitable purposes and not for the benefit of private interests. 'Supporting organizations' under section 509(a)(3) of the Code must carry out such exempt purposes by supporting other charities.

10. In this context:

    (a) The LP holds ninety-nine percent (99%) of the economic interest in the Fund. The other one per cent (1%) in the Fund is held by the GP or its successor as GP.

(b) The LP issued 305 participation shares (the Participation Shares) that are held by four Delaware corporate entities, namely: The Highland Dallas Foundation, Inc. (HDF), The Highland Kansas City Foundation, Inc. (HKCF), The Highland Santa Barbara Foundation, Inc. (HSBF), and The HCMLP Charitable Fund (HCMLP) (together, the Supporting Organisations).

(c) Each Supporting Organisation provides funding to its respective U.S. charitable foundation (together, the Charities) which are the ultimate beneficial owners of the Fund's entire economic interest.

(d) The LP also issued 100 management shares (the Management Shares) which attach the only voting rights for all shareholders of the LP. The terms of the ARLPA and the Articles together grant complete management control of the Fund to the holder of the Management Shares, and the holder of the entire issued share capital in the GP (the Membership Interest).

11. The Management Shares and the Membership Interest have at all material times been held by a single individual who, as a result, has sole control of the Fund structure (the Control Position).

C THE PETITIONERS

12. As stated above, the Petitioners (the Supporting Organisations) are non-profit charitable entities exempt from taxation under section 501(c)(3) of the \ Code and through the LP hold 99% of the economic interest in the Fund.

13. The Supporting Organisations provide funding directly to the Charities as follows:

(a) HDF holds 32.87% of the Participating Shares. HDF provides funding to The Dallas Foundation, a charitable entity established in Texas in 1929, which has awarded over $1 billion in grants and manages over $500 million in assets.

(b) HKCF holds 32.87% of the Participating Shares. HKCF provides funding to the Greater Kansas City Community Foundation, a charitable entity established in Kansas in 1978 which has awarded over $7 billion in grants and currently manages over $5 billion in assets.

(c) HSBF holds 32.787% of the Participating Shares. HSBF provides funding to the Santa Barbara Foundation, a charity established in 1928 which is the largest community foundation on California's Central Coast and manages assets of over $800 million.

(d) HCMLP holds 1.639% of the Participating Shares. HCMLP provides funding to the North Texas Community Foundation, which manages assets totaling $513 million and donated $38.9 million to local nonprofits in 2023.

14. Since the Fund's inception in 2011, through profits generated by the Fund the Supporting Organisations have granted over $42 million to charitable foundations and have funded $32 million in total commitments, including donations to 275 organisations, with average annual grant payments of $3.7 million.

D BACKGROUND

15. The Fund was created in 2011 on the instructions of James Dondero. Mr Dondero is the President of NexPoint Advisors, L.P. (NexPoint), an alternative investment firm registered with the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC), and the former President of Highland Capital Management, L.P. (Highland), also an SEC registered investment advisor which he founded in 1993. Mr Dondero is a regular donor to philanthropic and charitable causes. The Fund is one of the vehicles he utilises to donate such funds to charitable organisations. Mr Dondero holds no ownership or control stake in the Fund or any related entities, although he sits on the boards of the Supporting Organisations.

16. From the Fund's formation until March 2021, the Control Position was held by Grant Scott. On 25 March 2021, Mr Scott: (i) resigned as director of the Fund and the LP, (ii) appointed Mark Patrick as director of the Fund and the LP, and (iii) transferred to Mr Patrick the Management Shares in the LP and Management Interest in the GP. Mr Patrick therefore assumed the Control Position from that date.

17. From 2008 to 2021, Mr Patrick was employed as tax counsel by Highland Capital Management, LP (Highland), an investment advisor founded by Mr Dondero. From March 2021 to October 2024, Mr Patrick was employed as tax counsel by Skyview Group (Skyview). In both positions, Mr Patrick acted as an advisor to Mr Dondero and entities owned or affiliated to him.

18. On 22 April 2021, Paul Murphy, a Cayman Islands resident, was appointed as director of the LP.

19. On 16 October 2019, Highland filed for bankruptcy protection under Chapter 11 of the United States Bankruptcy Code in the Northern District of Texas (the Highland Bankruptcy). The Highland Bankruptcy plan was confirmed in February 2021, and the estate remains open as it makes distributions to creditors.

E EVENTS FOLLOWING MR PATRICK'S ASSUMPTION OF THE CONTROL POSITION

20. Since assuming the Control Position, Mr Patrick has used that position to advance his own interests to the detriment of the LP, the Fund, the Supporting Organisations and the Charities.

Non-disclosure of personal interest in grant

21. In June 2023, Mr Patrick made a request that the Highland Dallas Foundation (i.e. the Supporting Organization that supports the Dallas Foundation) "direct $10,000" to Creative HEARTS TX, a non-profit entity formed on 13 June 2023. Following due diligence, it was discovered that the directors of the entity were Mr Patrick, Darees Patrick and Alyse Patrick (his daughter and wife). Mr Patrick had made the grant request without disclosing his and/or his family's involvement.

22. The grant payment was authorised on 5 September 2023, but Mr Patrick was informed that further payments were unlikely.

Attempt to obtain secret profit

23. In September 2023, Mr Dondero was contacted by Kevin Cronin of Fortaris Capital Advisors (Fortaris), a firm providing litigation support and investigative services which, at the time, was engaged by the Fund on an unrelated matter.

24. Mr Cronin disclosed to Mr Dondero that Mr Patrick had approached him with a proposition whereby Mr Patrick (on behalf of the Fund) would engage an entity controlled by Mr Cronin (other than Fortaris) at a monthly fee of between US$25,000 and US$50,000, and that this fee would be split between Fortaris and Mr Patrick as a supplement to Mr Patrick's compensation.

25. Mr Cronin refused Mr Patrick's proposal.

26. Mr Patrick's attempt to obtain a secret, undisclosed personal profit from the Fund would, if successful, have constituted U.S. federal wire fraud, and/or violations of the Texas Penal Code's prohibitions on bribery and misapplication of fiduciary property. It was otherwise a breach of Mr Patrick's duties to the LP and, through the LP, to the Fund.

Unauthorised use of MNPI / Insider Trading

27. NexPoint and its affiliates, through their investment activities, regularly obtain material non-public information (MNPI) related to those investments. As a service provider to NexPoint and its affiliates, Skyview employees also obtain the same MNPI. Trading on the basis of MNPI amounts to 'insider trading' which is prohibited under U.S. securities and other laws. As a result, NexPoint and its affiliates, and Skyview, all have the same robust regulatory compliance program to prevent, among other things, insider trading (the Compliance Policy). NexPoint and its affiliates, and Skyview, require their employees to abide by the Compliance Policy at all times and employees are required to confirm in writing each quarter that they will not use MNPI while trading. Mr Patrick completed an annual 2023, Q4 2023, Q1 2024 and Q2 2024 certifications, among others.

28. In late August 2024, Mr Patrick contacted the attorneys to the Dallas Foundation to provide information about an asset held by the Dallas Foundation, which was held directly and separately from the Fund. This information was obtained by Mr Patrick through his employment at Skyview and constituted MNPI. On the basis of this MNPI, Mr Patrick advised the Dallas Foundation to exercise a put option it held in a NexPoint affiliated asset. The Dallas Foundation did not act on the information or recommendation provided by Mr Patrick, but in the event it had exercised the put option, both the Dallas Foundation and Mr Patrick would have committed violations of the U.S. securities laws that prohibit insider trading.

29. Upon receipt of the allegations against Mr Patrick, Skyview's compliance department commenced an internal investigation which, due to the serious nature of the allegations, was conducted without Mr Patrick's knowledge, so as to avoid potentially tipping off Mr Patrick. The investigation concluded that Mr Patrick's actions constituted a serious breach of his compliance and employee obligations and that Mr Patrick had attempted a serious breach of U.S. securities laws.

30. Mr Patrick resigned from Skyview immediately before the internal investigation was finalised. At the same time, he terminated the Fund's services agreement with Skyview. That termination was not in the interests of the Fund, was for Mr Patrick's own self-protection and was otherwise a breach of Mr Patrick's duties to the LP and, through the LP, to the Fund.

Financial Irregularities in the Fund / Unexplained Expenditure

31. A review of the Fund's financial records conducted by Skyview covering the calendar years ending 2018 to 2023 and the first half of 2024 showed significant increases in expenditures, notably:

(a) Directors' fees, which increased from US$40,000 in 2022 to almost US$600,000 in 2023, and in the first half of 2024 alone, increased further to around US$2.25 million; and

(b) Expenses overall, which for the first half of 2024 were around US$18.3 million, with a further US$18.6 million being spent in the calendar year 2023.

32. In October 2024, the Charities requested that Mr Patrick provide financial information about the Fund entities to seek to understand these increases in expenditures. This information was not provided.

33. In November 2024, Holland and Knight (H&K), the Charities' US attorneys, delivered a letter to Mr Murphy from the Charities advising that the Charities no longer had confidence in the governance of the Fund and considered that a reorganisation was required (the No Confidence Letter). No response to the No Confidence Letter was received.

34. In January 2025, further correspondence was sent to Mr Patrick and Mr Murphy advising that a better understanding of the Fund's asset position was needed and expressing serious concern that the Charities' requests for information continued to be disregarded, reflecting an ongoing lack of transparency on the part of Mr Patrick and Mr Murphy. Mr Murphy responded via email to this request noting that he and Mr Patrick would "present directly to the foundations/supporting organisations" to address some of the concerns in the No Confidence Letter.

35. H&K responded to Mr Murphy's email noting, inter alia, that the Supporting Organisations had legitimate concerns and highlighted that "the last information they received from in July of 2024, before Mr Patrick shut down [communication] showed that legal expenses had increased to $6 million in the first six months of 2024 compared to $4 million for all of 2022" (a 300% increase, if annualized) and "director fees skyrocketed from $40 thousand in 2022 to $2.25 million in the first six months of 2024" (a 12,400% increase, if annualized).

36. In February 2025, further correspondence was sent between H&K and Douglas Mancino (Mr Mancino) of Seyfarth Shaw LLP (Seyfarth), US counsel purporting to act for the Fund, whereby Seyfarth rejected the reported increases in legal and directors' fees and provided a valuation of the Fund from 2020 to support the suggestion that similar information was provided to the Charities when Mr Scott was in the Control Position. It is clear that Mr Patrick and/or Mr Murphy has instructed Seyfarth, purportedly on behalf of the Fund, to take a hostile, indignant and non-neutral stance when faced with reasonable requests on behalf of the Charities, as ultimate beneficiaries of the assets of the Fund. Such conduct is a breach of their duties to the LP and, through the LP, to the Fund.

37. H&K responded to Seyfarth that the Charities were becoming frustrated by the ongoing lack of transparency and refusal to respond to simple inquiries about the financial position and governance of the Fund. Seyfarth sent an email to H&K requesting available dates for Mr Murphy to make the promised presentation to the Charities. The next day, H&K suggested three potential dates/times for such a call between 26 March and 3 April 2025, but did not receive any response. On 3 April 2025, Seyfarth sent an email to H&K stating that they had just learned that a call was scheduled for the following day and seeking to reschedule. H&K responded that no such call had been arranged and queried the source of confusion. Seyfarth has made no further efforts to schedule the meeting, nor has it otherwise provided any of the requested financial information.

Replacement of GP without notification

38. In February 2025, H&K discovered that Mr Patrick had redomiciled and replaced the general partner of the Fund, without notice to the Charities, almost one year prior.

39. On 27 February 2024, CDH GP, Ltd (the New GP) was incorporated in the Cayman Islands (registration number 407515) with its registered office at Campbells Corporate Services Ltd, Floor 4, Willow House, Cricket Square, Grand Cayman KY1-9010, Cayman Islands.

40. Mr Patrick is the sole director of the New GP.

Sale of assets

41. Following Mr Patrick's resignation from Skyview and his termination of Skyview's services agreement with the Fund, the Petitioners have become aware that assets of the Fund have been sold without explanation, at values which appear to be below-market.

Hunter Mountain

42. In February 2025, an individual associated with Mr Patrick, Shawn Raver, asked for the in-bound wire instructions for one of Mr Dondero's affiliates that owned a position in a trust called Hunter Mountain. Hunter Mountain is an indirect majority owned subsidiary of the Fund and owns the majority of the distribution rights of the equity position in the Highland Bankruptcy. The residual value of the Highland estate should be distributed to Hunter Mountain at the close of the Highland Bankruptcy.

43. According to Hunter Mountain's own filings, this value has been calculated in excess of $100 million gross, with approximately $17 million net value. After additional inquiries from accounting staff, Mr Raver disclosed that the entire Hunter Mountain position had been sold, at potentially a substantial undervalue, to an unidentified party for $1 million. The Fund has not disclosed the identity of the purchaser. In the absence of a further or better explanation, there is the inference of self-dealing, fair dealing, no profit or conflict rules

Atlas IDF, L.P.

44. Atlas IDF, L.P. is a fund controlled by its general partner Atlas IDF GP, LLC, a wholly owned subsidiary of the Fund. The economic beneficiaries of Atlas IDF are the holders of annuity policies issued by Crown Global Insurance Company. The majority annuity policyholder is Empower Dallas Foundation (EDF), a charitable foundation for which Mr Dondero serves as President whose purpose is to benefit the Dallas Foundation.

45. On 20 February 2025, Mr Patrick in his capacity as the general partner of Atlas IDF GP, LLC, sent a letter to Crown Global Insurance advising of the intention to dissolve Atlas in accordance with the partnership agreement dated 30 November 2015 on the basis of:

(a) concerns about the long-term availability and viability of back-office support;

(b) unsuccessful efforts to sell the defaulted Notes issued by HCRE Partners (one of Mr Donero's affiliates) dated 7 May 2014 in the amount of $2.3M and 27 May 2014 in the amount of $5M, held by the Partnership; and

(c) the decision by an affiliate of the GP to purchase the Notes at a price above their appraised value of zero dollars to facilitate an orderly wind-up.

46. At the time, the amounts outstanding on the two Notes, including accumulated interest, were in excess of $13M. The intention was to sell the Notes collectively for $500,000. Mr Patrick launched litigation related to these Notes prior to the 20 February 2025 and attempted sale of the Notes to an affiliate.

47. On 27 February 2025, H&K as counsel for EDF (the policyholder), sent an email to Crown Global advising that the foundation was gathering information and requested that Crown Global therefore withdraw its consent to the proposed sale of the Notes.

48. On 28 February 2025, Mr Patrick sent a further letter to Crown Global noting the revocation of consent to sell the Notes, and further noting that: "in addition to the purchase of the "Notes" for $500,000, we also intend to include a provision in the purchase and sale documents that, if the Notes are repaid in full within 12 months, all amounts received (minus fees and expenses of collection and purchase price) will be remitted to you as the sole limited partner of Atlas IDF, LP." The initial zero valuation and proposed $500,000 sale price is commercially unjustifiable.

Attorney General Investigation

49. The Petitioners have been informed that on 14 March 2025, the Texas Attorney General (Texas AG) commenced an investigation into Charitable DAF GP, LLC (the Fund's former general partner) in relation to the organisation, conduct and management of Charitable DAF GP, LLC, and its related entities.

50. It is understood that the Texas AG has the power to investigate a charity, should it deem necessary, to determine whether a charity is complying with Texas law.

51. The Charities have requested information about the investigation from the Texas AG, but do not have knowledge of any further details.

F GROUNDS FOR WINDING UP

52. The Supporting Organizations bring this Petition based on the multiple concerns identified above about the governance of the LP and the Fund, including potential mismanagement of assets and/or use of assets for purposes other than to benefit and support the Charities, as the ultimate beneficial owners of the Fund's interest, in carrying out their charitable purposes, in accordance with the terms of the ARLPA, on the basis of a complete breakdown in confidence in the person in the Control Position.

53. Accordingly, the Petitioners seek a winding up of the LP on a just and equitable basis and in particular, without limitation, on the following grounds (each discussed in detail below):

(a) governance issues and mismanagement; and

(b) the need for an investigation into the recent activities and expenditure of the Fund; and

(c) justifiable loss of faith and confidence in the management of the Fund.

F APPLICATION

54. Given the above, the Petitioners seek an order that the LP be wound up pursuant to section 92(e) of the Act.

55. The Petitioners also seek an order appointing Margot MacInnis and Sandipan Bhowmik of Grant Thornton Specialist Services (Cayman) Ltd. of Second Floor, Century Yard, Cricket Square, George Town, Grand Cayman, Cayman Islands, as the joint official liquidators (JOLs) of the LP.

56. Margot MacInnis and Sandipan Bhowmik of Grant Thornton Specialist Services (Cayman) Ltd:

(a) are "qualified insolvency practitioners" as defined in section 89 of the Act and as prescribed by Regulation 4 of the Insolvency Practitioners' Regulations (2023 Consolidation) (IPR);

(b) meet the residency requirements contained in Regulation 5 of the IPR;

(c) meet the independence requirements prescribed by Regulation 6 of the IPR;

(d) meet the insurance requirements prescribed by Regulation 7 of the IPR and A&M holds a trade licence which authorises its staff to carry on business as professional insolvency practitioners; and

(e) consent to their appointment as official liquidators of the LP, if so appointed by the Court.

YOUR PETITIONERS THEREFORE HUMBLY PRAY THAT –

1. The LP be wound up by the Court in accordance with section 92(e) of the Act.

2. Margot MacInnis and Sandipan Bhowmik of Grant Thornton Specialist Services (Cayman) Ltd. of Second Floor, Century Yard, Cricket Square, George Town, Grand Cayman, Cayman Islands be appointed as the joint official liquidators (the JOLs) of the LP.

3. The JOLs be authorized to act jointly and severally in their capacity as liquidators of the LP.

4. The JOLs shall not be required to give security for their appointment.

5. In addition to their powers prescribed in Part II of the Third Schedule to the Act, which are exercisable without sanction of this Honourable Court, the JOLs may also without further sanction or intervention from this Honourable Court exercise the following powers set out in Part I of the Third Schedule to the Act:

(a) The power to engage staff, agents and/or consultants (whether or not as employees of the LP) in the Cayman Islands and elsewhere to assist the JOLs in the performance of their functions; and

(b) The power to engage attorneys and other professionally qualified persons in the Cayman Islands and elsewhere to assist the JOLs in the performance of their functions.

6. The JOLs be authorised to do any act or thing considered by them to be necessary or desirable in connection with the liquidation of the LP.

7. The JOLs' remuneration and expenses be paid out of the assets of the LP in accordance with section 109 of the Act, Part III of the Regulations, and CWR Order 20.

8. The costs of this Petition shall be paid out of the assets of the LP as an expense in the liquidation, such costs to be taxed if not agreed with the JOLs.

9. The JOLs shall be at liberty to apply to further directions concerning their functions and the exercise or the proposed exercise of their powers.

10. Such further or other orders and directions be made as the Court shall deem fit.

AND your Petitioners will ever pray etc.

FSD NO. OF 2025 ( )

IN THE MATTER OF SECTION 92 OF THE COMPANIES ACT (2025 REVISION)

AND IN THE MATTER OF CHARITABLE DAF HOLDCO LTD AND THE CHARITABLE DAF FUND LP

AFFIDAVIT OF JAMES DAVID DONDERO

I, JAMES DAVID DONDERO, of 300 Crescent Court, Suite 700, Dallas, Texas, United States, 75201, MAKE OATH AND SAY as follows:

1. I am the President of NexPoint Advisors, L.P. (NexPoint), an investment advisor registered with the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC). I am a Certified Public Accountant and Chartered Financial Analyst with over forty years of investment advisory experience managing billions of dollars of investments across various assets classes.

2. I make this affidavit in support of the petition (the Petition) filed by the Supporting Organizations (as defined below) seeking the winding up on the just and equitable basis of Charitable DAF HoldCo, Ltd (the LP) and the Charitable DAF Fund, LP (the Fund) pursuant to section 92(e) of the Companies Act (2025 Revision) (the Act) and Order 3, rule 3 of the Companies Winding Up Rules (2025 Consolidation) (the CWR).

3. I make this affidavit from matters within my own personal knowledge and believe the information contained herein to be true and accurate in all respects.

4. Now produced and shown to me and marked "JDD-1" is a bundle of true copy documents to which I refer in this affidavit. References to page numbers in this affidavit are references to that exhibit unless otherwise specified.

BACKGROUND

5. I founded NexPoint in 2012. NexPoint is an alternative investment firm, with a particular focus on investment in the real estate sector. NexPoint has assets under management exceeding US$16 billion in value.

6. I was formerly the President of Highland Capital Management, L.P. (Highland), also an SEC registered investment advisor which I founded in 1993. From that time until 2015, Highland was majority owned by me and/or my affiliates. In December 2015, I divested my majority stake of Highland (2015 Transaction). On 16 October 2019, Highland filed for bankruptcy protection under Chapter 11 of the United States Bankruptcy Code (Highland Bankruptcy) in the Northern District of Texas. The Highland Bankruptcy plan was confirmed in February 2021, and the estate remains open as it makes distributions to creditors.

7. In February 2021, as part of the Highland Bankruptcy, the employment contracts of the majority of Highland's employees were terminated. Many of the former back-office employees of Highland thereafter became employees of a newly formed company called Skyview Group (Skyview) that provides middle and back-office services to various clients, including companies in which I hold an interest such as NexPoint.

THE FUND

8. In addition to my business interests, I am a regular donor to philanthropic and charitable causes. The Fund is one of the vehicles I utilize to donate such funds to charitable organizations.

9. In 2010, the finance, accounting, and tax staff of Highland identified certain assets to be donated to a charitable foundation. In 2011, I requested the Donor Advised Fund (or DAF) to be formed and structured in a way that allowed these donations to be receipted and distributed to certain charitable foundations, as the ultimate beneficial owners of the Fund's economic interest. The structure proposed by the tax and legal advisors to effect this was for the Fund to have one limited partner (i.e. the LP) which would issue 'participation shares' to be held by certain charitable supporting organizations (together, the Supporting Organizations) and in turn each of those entities would provide funding directly to certain charitable foundations in the U.S. (together, the Charities).

10. The Amended and Restated Limited Partnership Agreement of the Fund dated 7 November 2011 (ARLPA), and the Amended and Restated Memorandum and Articles of Association of the LP dated 19 January 2015 (Articles), govern the Fund and its partners.

11. The LP holds 99% ninety-nine percent (99%) of the economic interest in the Fund. The remaining one percent (1%) is (or at least was as at the time of the Fund's formation) held by its general partner, Charitable DAF GP, LLC (the GP), a Delaware company incorporated on 25 October 2011.

12. In addition to the Participation Shares, the LP issued 100 management shares (the Management Shares) with the only voting rights for any and all shareholders in the LP. In essence, the Articles and ARLPA therefore grant complete control of the Fund structure to the holder of the Management Shares in the LP and the entirety of the issued share capital of the GP. Those shares have at all material times been held by a single individual, who as a result has substantial control over the entire Fund structure (the Control Position).

13. The ARLPA provides that the Fund was formed to make investments, directly or indirectly, on behalf of certain entities "for the economic benefit of the Limited Partner and its Indirect Charitable Owners" and contemplates the engagement of investment (and other service) advisors to effect this. In this context, the Control Position is responsible for the governance and management functions of the Fund as required in order for the Fund to carry out its sole purpose of benefiting the Supporting Organizations and the Charities they support.

GRANT SCOTT

14. I initially selected Grant Scott for the Control Position, a person I have known for years who also has great integrity.

15. From 2010 until the 2015 Transaction, the Fund operated as a non-discretionary advised account of Highland, meaning Highland provided back-and-middle-office staff to the Fund and also provided recommendations regarding potential investments to Mr Scott as the Control Person. However, Mr Scott had complete discretion in adopting or rejecting the investment recommendations provided to the Fund by Highland. He also had final discretion over payments made by the Fund to third parties. In his position as the Control Person, Mr Scott was paid $60,000 USD per annum.

16. After the 2015 Transaction, my affiliates and I no longer owned a majority stake in Highland. Subsequently, I was advised that, as a result of the change of ownership, the Fund was permitted to enter into a paying Investment Advisory Agreement with Highland. This form of investment advisory agreement was in place from January 2017 until it was terminated effective March 2021.

MARK PATRICK

17. Mark Patrick was hired as Tax Counsel at Highland in 2008. His job duties included maximizing tax saving to Highland's limited partners, including me and my affiliates. In that role, Mr. Patrick directly represented me as my personal tax counsel. He represented me in tax efficiency planning and tax-deductible charitable giving, among other things. He provided the same services for various trusts and companies affiliated with me. Mr Patrick served that role at Highland from 2008 until his departure in February 2021.

18. In March 2021, Mr Patrick was hired by Skyview as Tax Counsel and continued to perform substantially similar tax counsel duties for me. At Mr Patrick's request, his job title was changed to "Managing Director, Tax" in September 2021, although his role with respect to me and my affiliates remained substantially the same.

19. The legal structure of the Fund (including as regards its partners and ultimate beneficiaries as discussed above) was created in 2011 on the advice of Mr Patrick working with outside counsel. Mr Patrick advised me that, to avoid potential negative findings by the U.S. Internal Revenue Service, as the donor/grantor of assets to the Fund, I could not have any control over the Fund or its entities. I followed his advice as my tax counsel.

20. In March 2021, Mr Scott informed me that he wanted to resign from the Control Position. The Fund had become engaged in certain disputes arising from the Highland Bankruptcy, and he did not believe he was equipped to handle those disputes. Mr Patrick suggested to Mr Scott and me that he was prepared to take on the Control Position and, in that role, to handle the litigation related to the Highland Bankruptcy as it affected the Fund. At the time, Mr Patrick was my attorney and Mr Scott was my trusted friend, and I was happy for Mr Scott to pass the Control Position to Mr Patrick.

21. On 25 March 2021, Mr Scott: (i) resigned as director of the LP, (ii) appointed Mr Patrick as director of the LP, and (iii) transferred to Mr Patrick the Management Shares for nominal consideration. Mr Patrick therefore assumed the Control Position from that date.

22. At some point, I understand that a person named Paul Murphy based in the Cayman Islands also was appointed as director to the LP and a portion of the Fund's subsidiaries, giving those entities two directors. However, I understand that in the event of a dissenting vote by Mr Murphy, Mr Patrick's vote counts as the tiebreaker for corporate voting.

MR PATRICK'S CONTROL OF THE FUND

23. In the initial period following Mr Patrick's assumption of the Control Position, there was no noticeable change in the management of the Fund. NexPoint provided, without charge, investment ideas to the Fund, as Highland previously had done, and Mr Patrick was free (as Mr Scott had been) to decide whether or not the Fund wished to follow NexPoint's recommendations. This approach was similar to the non-discretionary advised account status of the Fund prior to 2017.

24. Subsequently, however, communications between Mr Patrick and Skyview and me began to become less frequent, and over time I came to suspect that Mr Patrick was utilizing the Control Position not for the benefit of the Supporting Organizations, the Charities or the Fund, but rather for his own personal enrichment.

25. On 28 June 2023, Mr Patrick sent an email to Lauren Short, an employee of NexPoint, requesting that the Highland Dallas Foundation (i.e. the Supporting Organization that supports the Dallas Foundation) "direct $10,000" to Creative HEARTS TX, a non-profit entity formed on 13 June 2023. Following due diligence, Ms Short learned that the directors of the entity were Mr Patrick, Darees Patrick and Alyse Patrick (his daughter and wife). Mr Patrick had made the grant request without disclosing his and/or his family's involvement.

26. Ms Short discussed the matter with Mr Patrick, who did not provide many details, but said the non-profit was formed to facilitate paying for trainers or speakers on self-defense training for teenage girls. Ms Short understood that Patrick's expectation was that this would be an annual donation to a "club" at his daughter's school. While Ms Short inquired, there was no detail forthcoming as to whether or not Creative Hearts would be a pass-through donating the monies to other charities or would directly do any work with the trainers or speakers itself. There also was not clarity if Creative Hearts' members intended to take a salary from the grant. The grant payment was authorized on 5 September 2023, but Mr Patrick was informed that further payments were unlikely. I was informed of this process by Ms Short and her supervisor. Contemporaneously with the grant approval, my team also informed the Dallas Foundation of the situation.

27. As another example, in or around September 2023, I was contacted by Kevin Cronin of Fortaris Capital Advisors (Fortaris). Fortaris provides litigation support services including due diligence, internal investigations, fraud detection, asset verification and in-depth background checks. Mr Cronin is a former police sergeant and Special Agent with the Department of Homeland Security.

28. Fortaris was at the time engaged by the Fund in respect of an unrelated matter and Mr Cronin was known to me personally. In September 2023, Mr Cronin and I met, and he informed me that he had been approached by Mr Patrick with a proposition whereby Mr Patrick (on behalf of the Fund) would engage an entity controlled by Mr Cronin (other than Fortaris) at a monthly fee of between $25,000 and $50,000, and that this fee would be split between Fortaris and Mr Patrick as a supplement to Mr Patrick's compensation. Mr Cronin informed me that he had asked Mr Patrick if this arrangement would amount to fraud, and that Mr Patrick's response had been: "you can't steal from yourself."

29. Mr Cronin informed me that he understood from this statement that Mr Patrick believed he owned the Fund and could use the funds controlled by it however he pleased. Mr Cronin further informed me that he was uncomfortable about Mr Patrick's proposal and that he subsequently communicated this to Mr Patrick, Mr Patrick cut off all further communications between them.

30. Mr Cronin's allegations that Mr Patrick was seeking to make a secret, undisclosed personal profit from the Fund were extremely concerning. I have subsequently been informed by my U.S. attorneys that, had Mr Cronin agreed with this proposal, it would have likely constituted U.S. federal wire fraud, and/or violations of the Texas Penal Code's prohibitions on bribery and misapplication of fiduciary property. Shortly after Mr Cronin contacted me, I met with Mr Patrick and confronted him about the allegations, which he admitted to me were true. I informed the Supporting Organizations about the matter and Mr Patrick's admission. However, at the time, both the Supporting Organizations and I were concerned that under the Articles, the Supporting Organizations did not have the power (in their capacity as Participating Shareholders) to limit Mr Patrick's powers or remove him from his position.

31. Given the situations described above, and the lack of communication about the Fund, I became increasingly concerned about Mr Patrick's management of the Fund, including the potential misuse and/or misappropriation of its assets. In June 2024 therefore I requested that my team at NexPoint analyze the financial information of the Fund that I had in my possession, covering the calendar years ending 2018 to 2023 and the first half of 2024. My team produced an annual expense summary of that information (the Expense Summary) which indicated substantial increases in expenditures during Mr Patrick's tenure, particularly during early 2023 and mid-2024, as follows:

    (a) Directors' fees increased from around US$40,000 in 2022 to almost US$600,000 in 2023 – and increased even further to around US$2.25 million in the first half of 2024 alone.

    (b) Expenses overall for the first half of 2024 were around US$18.3 million – roughly the same amount spent over the entire course of 2023 (i.e. US$18.6 million).

32. The Expense Summary reinforced my concern that Mr Patrick is using the Control Position for his own enrichment rather than to benefit the Supporting Organizations and the causes they support. I therefore directed my employees at NexPoint to provide the Expense Summary to the Supporting Organizations, and which they promptly did.

33. In August 2024, I became aware of yet another issue concerning Mr Patrick. NexPoint and its affiliates, through their investment activities, regularly obtain material non-public information (MNPI) related to those investments. As a service provider to NexPoint and its affiliates, Skyview employees also obtain the same MNPI. Trading on the basis of MNPI amounts to 'insider trading' which is prohibited under U.S. securities laws. As a result, NexPoint and its affiliates, and Skyview, all have the same robust regulatory compliance program to prevent, among other things, insider trading (Compliance Policy). NexPoint and its affiliates, and Skyview, require their employees to abide by the Compliance Policy at all times and employees are required to confirm in writing on a quarterly basis that they will not use MNPI while trading. Mr Patrick completed the annual 2023, Q4 2023, Q1 2024, and Q2 2024 certifications, among others.

34. I was informed that my director of charitable giving had been contacted by Ms Diaz, the CEO of the Highland Dallas Foundation, Inc. (Dallas Foundation), one of the Charities. Ms Diaz stated that on 28 August 2024, Mr Patrick contacted the Dallas Foundation's attorney to provide information about an asset held by the Dallas Foundation, which was held directly and separately from the Fund. This information was obtained by Mr Patrick through his employment at Skyview and constituted MNPI, which is prohibited by U.S. securities laws from being disclosed and/or acted upon. On the basis of this MNPI, Mr Patrick advised the Dallas Foundation to exercise a put option it held in a NexPoint affiliated asset. The Dallas Foundation did not act on the information or recommendation provided by Mr Patrick, but in the event it had exercised the put option, both the Dallas Foundation and Mr Patrick would have committed violations of the U.S. securities laws that prohibit insider trading.

35. Upon receipt of the allegations against Mr Patrick, Skyview's compliance department commenced an internal investigation which, due to the serious nature of the allegations, was conducted without Mr Patrick's knowledge, so as to avoid potentially tipping off Mr Patrick about the investigation. By the end of September 2024, the investigation was substantially complete, and the conclusion had been reached that Mr Patrick's actions constituted a serious breach of his compliance and employee obligations. On 1 October 2024, as part of the finalisation of the investigation report, Skyview's chief compliance officer interviewed Ms Diaz about the allegations against Mr Patrick, which I understand confirmed Skyview's conclusions. The final investigation report was issued on 11 October 2024 and concluded that Mr Patrick had attempted a serious breach of U.S. securities laws. A copy of the report and its attachments is at page 1.

36. On 2 October 2024, Mr Patrick abruptly resigned his position from Skyview and thereafter became openly hostile towards the Charities, my affiliated companies, and me. Although neither I nor anyone at Skyview has direct evidence of Mr Patrick having been tipped off about the investigation, the timing of his resignation causes me to conclude that Mr Patrick became aware of the investigation into his behaviour and resigned before the report was published.

37. On the same day that Mr Patrick resigned his position at Skyview, he also terminated Skyview's service agreement with the Fund, and as a result all legal, compliance, back office and other services provided to the Fund. Mr. Patrick and Mr. Murphy have stated that that they intend to take on the role of investment advisors for the Fund. I am not aware of Mr. Murphy's qualifications for this role, nor am I aware of any third-party investment advisor that has been retained by the Fund to fill this role. Based on my knowledge and expertise in investment management, and my sixteen years working with Mr Patrick as my counsel, I believe that Mr Patrick is a well-qualified tax counsel, but does not have the experience, training, or expertise to be an investment professional.

38. After his resignation from Skyview and the termination of Skyview's services agreement with the Fund, I have received repeated reports and evidence of Mr Patrick causing certain DAF entities to liquidate their assets, some at below-market value. For example, on 20 February 2025, Mr Patrick's subordinate Shawn Raver asked for the in-bound wire instructions for one of my affiliates that owned a position in a trust called Hunter Mountain. Hunter Mountain owns most of the distribution rights of the equity position in the Highland Bankruptcy, meaning most of the residual value of the estate should be distributed to Hunter Mountain at the close of the Highland Bankruptcy. According to Hunter Mountain's own filings, this value has been calculated in excess of $100 million gross, with approximately $17 million net value.

39. After additional inquiries from accounting staff, Mr Raver disclosed that the entire Hunter Mountain position had been sold to an unidentified party for $1 million. The Fund has not disclosed the identity of the purchaser. I am familiar with the Highland Bankruptcy estate and there is no valuation, net, gross, or otherwise, that I can imagine that would support a $1 million sales price. Additionally, given my founding and my affiliates' ownership of Highland, Mr Patrick would know that I was one of a few natural buyers of the Hunter Mountain position. While Mr Patrick of course would not be obliged to sell Hunter Mountain to me, the fact that Mr Patrick authorized the sale of Hunter Mountain at a below-market value without even approaching a natural buyer indicates a non-market, non-fiduciary reason for the sale.

40. Atlas IDF, L.P. is a fund controlled by its general partner Atlas IDF GP, LLC, a wholly owned subsidiary of the DAF. The economic beneficiaries of Atlas IDF are the holders of annuity policies issued by Crown Global Insurance Company. The majority annuity policy holder is Empower Dallas Foundation, a charitable foundation for which I serve as President whose purpose is to benefit the Dallas Foundation.

41. On 20 February 2025, Mr Patrick in his capacity as the general partner of Atlas IDF GP, LLC, sent a letter to Crown Global Insurance advising of the intention to dissolve Atlas in accordance with the partnership agreement dated 30 November 2015 on the basis of (i) concerns about the long-term availability and viability of back-office support; (ii) unsuccessful efforts to sell the defaulted Notes issued by HCRE Partners (one of my affiliates) dated 7 May 2014 in the amount of $2,3M and 27 May 2014 in the amount of $5M, held by the Partnership; and (iii) the decision by an affiliate of the GP to purchase the Notes at a price above their appraised value of zero dollars to facilitate an orderly wind-up. At the time, the amounts outstanding on the two Notes, including accumulated interest, was in excess of $13M. The intention was to sell the Notes collectively for $500,000. Mr Patrick launched litigation related to these Notes prior to the 20 February 2025 attempted sale of the Notes to an affiliate.

42. On 27 February 2025, H&K as counsel for the Empower Dallas Foundation (the policyholder), sent an email to Crown Global advising that the foundation was gathering information and requested that Crown Global therefore withdraw its consent to the proposed sale of the Notes to CLO Holdco. On 28 February 2025, Mr Patrick sent a further letter to Crown Global noting the revocation of consent to sell the Notes, and noting that: "in addition to the purchase of the "Notes" for $500,000, we also intend to include a provision in the purchase and sale documents that, if the Notes are repaid in full within 12 months, all amounts received (minus fees and expenses of collection and purchase price) will be remitted to you as the sole limited partner of Atlas IDF, LP." The initial zero valuation and proposed $500,000 sale price was confusing given that HCRE Partners had offered to pay the full amounts due in an amortizing schedule. After the withholding of consent, the revised offer of 28 February 2025 still is confusing given that the amortization schedule is longer than 12 months.

ATTORNEY GENERAL INVESTIGATION

43. I have become aware that, on 14 March 2025, the Texas Attorney General (Texas AG) commenced an investigation into Charitable DAF GP, LLC (the Fund's former general partner) in relation to the organization, conduct and management of Charitable DAF GP, LLC, and its related entities.

44. I understand that the Texas AG has the power to investigate a charity, should it deem necessary, to determine whether a charity is complying with Texas law.

45. I understand that the Charities have requested information about the investigation from the Texas AG, but do not have knowledge of any further details.

DONATIONS TO THE CHARITIES

46. Until Mr Patrick's departure in October 2024, I regularly donated to through the Charities to the Fund as part of my charitable giving program. My affiliates and I, which donated through the Charities to the DAF entities in 2023 and in various years prior, and are the primary funding source for the Fund. As allowed pursuant to US law, I direct the Charities to utilize the Fund's assets to sponsor charitable causes I particularly value, including underprivileged youth education, cancer research, heart health, veterans' services, and local institutions such as zoos and museums. Though I wish to continue to support these charitable causes, I will not give any future donations through the Charities to the Fund while it is under Mr Patrick's management and/or control.

FUNDING OF PROCEEDINGS

47. As stated above, I do not hold a controlling interest in any of the Charities or the Supporting Organizations. However, I sit on the boards of the Supporting Organizations simply for the purpose of overseeing how the Charities are deploying the Fund's assets for charitable purposes, and the impact of those donations in the community. In this context, I became aware that the Supporting Organizations were meeting to vote on the decision to take legal action to take steps to preserve the assets of the Charities they exist to support. Given my connection with the Fund and personal relationship with Mr Patrick, I recused myself from that meeting and was not otherwise involved in the decision taken by the Supporting Organizations to commence these proceedings.

48. The Supporting Organizations approached me about the costs associated with legal action and their reticence to use funds that should and otherwise would be used for charitable purposes, and asked whether I would be prepared to fund the action personally. I agreed to do so. I have not and will not at any time receive a benefit, nor do I have control of the proceedings, because of this funding arrangement. The Supporting Organizations have decision making authority in relation to these proceedings. My concern is solely to ensure that the Fund, and the funds that I have donated over time that are held in the Fund, are used only to benefit the Charities and the causes they support.

IN THE GRAND COURT OF THE CAYMAN ISLANDS

FINANCIAL SERVICES DIVISION

FSD NO. OF 2025 (JAJ)

IN THE MATTER OF SECTION 131 OF THE COMPANIES ACT (2025 REVISION)

AND IN THE MATTER OF CHARITABLE DAF HOLDCO, LTD

PETITION FOR COURT SUPERVISION OF A VOLUNTARY LIQUIDATION

TO: THE GRAND COURT OF THE CAYMAN ISLANDS

THE HUMBLE PETITION of (1) The Highland Dallas Foundation, Inc, (2) The Highland Kansas City Foundation, Inc, (3) The Highland Santa Barbara Foundation, Inc, (4) The HCMLP Charitable Fund (the Supporting Organisations or Petitioners), in their capacity as members of Charitable DAF Holdco, Ltd (the Company or HoldCo):

1. The purpose of this petition (the Supervision Application) is to seek an order that the voluntary liquidation of the Company continue under the supervision of this Honourable Court pursuant to section 131 of the Companies Act (2025 Revision) (the Act) and Order 15, Rule 3 of the Companies Winding Up Rules (2023 Consolidation) (the CWR). The Company was placed into voluntary liquidation, and Mitchell Mansfield and William Clarke (together, the JVLs) of Kroll (Cayman) Ltd, pursuant to written resolutions of the directors of the Company dated 2 April 2025.

2. The petitioning Supporting Organisations are non-profit charitable entities exempt from taxation under s.501(c)(3) of the US Internal Revenue Code who collectively hold (or in light of recent developments allegedly held) 100% of the Participating Shares in the Company. Holders of Participating Shares are entitled under the Company's Amended and Restated Memorandum and Articles of Association dated 20 February 2025 (the Articles) to participate in the profits or assets of the Company but are not entitled to attend, to speak at, or to vote at general meetings. By contrast, holders of Management Shares are entitled to attend, to speak at and to vote at any general meeting, but have no right to participate in the profits or assets of the Company.

3. HoldCo is a Cayman Islands exempt company formed on 27 October 2011 (registration no. 263805) whose registered office is Campbells Corporate Services Ltd, Floor 4, Willow House, Cricket Square, Grand Cayman, KY1-9010, Cayman Islands. HoldCo is purportedly governed by the Articles.

4. HoldCo is (or at least was) the limited partner of Charitable DAF Fund, LP (the Fund), a Cayman Islands limited partnership formed on 28 October 2011 (registration no. 53083) whose registered office is Campbells Corporate Services Ltd, Floor 4, Willow House, Cricket Square, Grand Cayman, KY1-9010, Cayman Islands. The Fund is, to the best of the Petitioners' knowledge, governed by the Amended and Restated Limited Partnership Agreement dated 7 November 2011 (the ARLPA).

5. This Petition refers to the Supporting Organisations' petition seeking the winding up of the Company on just and equitable grounds dated 10 April 2025 (the J&E Petition), and the summons for the appointment of provisional liquidators dated 10 April 2025 (the PL Summons), in Proceedings FSD. No. 99 of 2025, the latter of which is listed for hearing before this Honourable Court on 29 April 2025 (the Hearing) – copies of which are at Schedules A and B, respectively.

VOLUNTARY LIQUIDATION OF THE COMPANY

6. On 23 April 2025 at 1:42pm, Johnstone Law (the Petitioners' attorneys) sent an email to Walkers (Cayman) LLP advising that they acted for the Supporting Organisations and seeking confirmation as to whether Walkers acted for and were instructed to accept service on the Company's behalf.

7. On 24 April 2025 at 11:35am, Walkers responded to Johnstone Law requesting confirmation of the nature of the proceeding to be served – but not addressing whether they acted for or had instructions to accept service on the Company's behalf. Johnstone Law replied that given their failure to respond the day prior, the papers would be served on HoldCo's registered office. That same day, copies of the Petition, the PL Summons and supporting materials were served on the Company's registered office.

8. On 25 April 2025, the Petitioners were preparing for the Hearing of the J&E Petition / PL Summons and in the course of finalising the hearing materials for delivery to the Court. At 3.32pm that day however Johnstone Law received a letter from Walkers (the Walkers Letter) that stated inter alia:

   (a) On 2 April 2025, nearly four weeks ago: (i) HoldCo was placed into voluntary liquidation, and the JVLs appointed, by way of written resolutions of the directors, and (ii) the directors had executed a declaration of solvency with respect to the Company.

(b) On 14 April 2025, Gazette Issue No. 8/2025 (the Gazette) was published, which included notice that the Company was placed into voluntary liquidation.

(c) Nothing in the Articles entitled the Petitioners to receive notice from the Company of its entry into Voluntary Liquidation, and "[t]he fact should have been evident from a search of the Gazette prior to service, as per the enclosed notice".

(d) As the Company was already in voluntary liquidation, the Petition and Summons were "plainly redundant" and should be withdrawn. If they were not withdrawn, this letter must be brought to the Court's attention at the Hearing, at which Walkers will appear for the Company and seek costs if appropriate.

9. Enclosed to the Walkers Letter were copies of the following:

(a) director resolutions dated 2 April 2025 (the Director Resolutions);

(b) management shareholder resolution dated 2 April 2025;

(c) the JVLs' consents to act;

(d) declaration of solvency;

(e) the Gazette;

(f) the Articles;

(g) the Company's register of members as at 25 April 2025.

10. Although not stated anywhere in the Walkers Letter, the enclosures revealed the following matters, which were previously unknown to the Petitioners:

(a) On 7 February 2025, HoldCo allotted 318 participating shares to an entity named 'DFW Charitable Foundation' (DFW) – the effect being the substantial dilution of the Supporting Organisations' interest in the Company, from a cumulative holding of 100% of the Participation Shares to 48.9%. The Petitioners have since discovered that DFW is a Delaware company incorporated on 9 December 2024, registered to Mark Patrick's home address and Mark Patrick being the sole member. Mark Patrick is a director of and holds the Management Shares in HoldCo. DFW was purportedly granted charitable status by the State of Delaware on 7 February 2025, the same day it was allotted 318 participating shares in the Company.

(b) On 20 February 2025, HoldCo amended its Articles by way of special resolution, such special resolution passed solely by Mark Patrick.

(c) The Company's sole investment, being an interest in an entity by the name of CDMCFAD LLC was redeemed on 27 March 2025 and, on 2 April 2025, the proceeds available for distribution from this redemption were distributed in the amount of US$1,612,192 purportedly to HoldCo's participating shareholders;

(d) As at 2 April 2025, the Company has no assets.

11. On 27 April 2025, Johnstone Law responded to the Walkers Letter setting out the Petitioners' serious concerns arising from the matters disclosed therein, and stating inter alia:

(a) There can be no honest, reasonable or lawful justification or basis for the Company taking the steps it has, or for doing so without notifying and consulting the Petitioners in advance, and the subsequent failure to provide notice of such actions makes clear the information was deliberately withheld (supported further by the matters being disclosed only 1 clear working day before the Hearing).

(b) The steps were taken while the Supporting Organisations and HoldCo were engaged in correspondence about financial irregularities and lacking transparency on the part of the Company and its underlying interests. The failure of HoldCo (through its current directors or its US attorneys) to disclose this information in the course of that correspondence is proof of the utmost bad faith and deception on the part of HoldCo and its directors.

(c) The fact that the JVLs appointed by the Company have themselves taken no steps to inform the Supporting Organisations of such matters since their appointment causes them to conclude the JVLs lack sufficient independence required to protect the interests of the Supporting Organisations and the Company as a whole.

(d) The Walkers Letter makes it more, not less, essential that independent officer holders operating under the Court's supervision are appointed over the Company without delay. The Supporting Organisations will not withdraw the Petition or the PL Summons, but plan to issue or at least finalise additional proceedings on 28 April 2025, and to invite the Court to appoint Margot MacInnis and Sandipan Bhowmik as official liquidators of the Company at the Hearing – and seeking the Company's agreement by 12pm on 28 April 2025.

(e) The Supporting Organisations were, until 7 February 2025, and in law remain, owners of 99% of the economic interest in HoldCo. They do not approve of the purported share dilution nor the appointment of JVLs and their rights are fully reserved, and in the circumstances, it is inappropriate for assets of the Company, or any related entities, to be used for the purpose of payment of legal fees.

(f) A request for details of DFW, including when it was formed and received charitable status, the identity of its owners/controllers, its registered address and centre of operations.

(g) A request for confirmation by 8pm on 27 April 2025: (i) what has become of the Company's interest in the Fund, and (ii) to whom and in what amounts were the distributions referred to in the Director Resolutions transferred.

12. No response was received from Walkers by 8pm on 27 April 2025. At 9:16pm, Johnstone Law sent an email to Walkers noting the failure to provide the information and requesting that, in the circumstances and, if within their knowledge, the JVLs provide such information.

NOTICE OF SUPERVISION APPLICATION

13. In the circumstances, in particular that the Supporting Organisations (and purportedly DFW, although the Petitioners do not accept the validity of the share allotment to DFW) are the Company's only contributories – and given the clear evidence that the Supporting Organisations' interests in the Company have been diluted and the assets of the Company dissipated without notice or justification – the Petitioners respectfully request the Court exercise its discretion to dispense, as it is entitled to do, with the notice requirements in O.15 of the CWR.

APPLICATION FOR SUPERVISION ORDER

14. The Petitioners respectfully seek an Order from this Honourable Court that the voluntary liquidation of the Company continue under the supervision of the Court pursuant to section 131 of the Act, and that Margot MacInnis and Sandipan Bhowmik of Grant Thornton be appointed as joint official liquidators (together, the JOLs) of the Company, for the following reasons:

(a) The making of a supervision order will allow the JOLs to conduct a proper investigation of the affairs of the Company and conduct an orderly winding up under the supervision of this Honourable Court for the benefit of all stakeholders.

(b) There is to say the least a large cloud hanging over Mr Patrick and Mr Murphy, as directors of HoldCo, who should not be allowed or entitled, irrespective of the professionalism of the JVLs, to retain the role and functions that directors normally retain attendant upon voluntary liquidations.

(c) The Supporting Organisations, as the owners of 100% of the economic interest in the Company (at least prior to the purported allotment of shares to DFW on 7 February 2025) should be entitled to choose the liquidator, or at least a liquidator not appointed by the directors, the conduct of whom has raised serious concerns even prior to the events disclosed in the Walkers Letter.

(d) Court supervision will result in an indisputably more effective, economic, and expeditious liquidation of the Company in the interests of the Supporting Organisations as contributories. Save in respect of any claim the Supporting Organisations save, there does not appear to be any creditors.

(e) An investigation into the allegations of misconduct on the part of the management of the Company will be substantially expedited and more effective if conducted by official liquidators, who are not the same persons as the JVLs.

(f) Should an investigation identify transactions that should be set aside, or claims that should be advanced, whether against the directors of the Company or third parties, such actions are most appropriately and effectively undertaken by official liquidators, who are not the same persons as the JVLs.

(g) As the holder of the Management Shares in the Company (Mr Patrick) is resident in the US and as are many of the entities related to and with whom the Fund transacts, it is highly likely, if not certain, that the liquidators will need to instruct attorneys in the US, obtain recognition under chapter 15 of the US Bankruptcy Code, and commence proceedings in the US to recover any assets wrongfully dissipated. Such steps necessitate the liquidation being conducted under the supervision of the Court.

15. Ms MacInnis and Mr Bhowmik of Grant Thornton:

(a) are "qualified insolvency practitioners" as defined in s.89 of the Act and as prescribed by Regulation 4 of the Insolvency Practitioners' Regulations (2023 Consolidation) (IPR);

(b) meet the residency requirements contained in Regulation 5, IPR;

(c) meet the independence requirements prescribed by Regulation 6, IPR;

(d) meet the insurance requirements prescribed by Regulation 7, IPR, and Grant Thornton holds a trade licence which authorises its staff to carry on business as professional insolvency practitioners; and

(e) consent to their appointment as official liquidators of the Company, if so appointed.

YOUR PETITIONERS THEREFORE HUMBLY PRAY THAT:

1. The voluntary liquidation of the Company be continued under the supervision of the Court pursuant to s.131 of the Act and O.15, r.8 of the CWR.

2. Margot MacInnis and Sandipan Bhowmik of Grant Thornton Specialist Services (Cayman) Ltd. of Second Floor, Century Yard, Cricket Square, George Town, Grand Cayman, Cayman Islands, be appointed as joint official liquidators (JOLs) of the Company pursuant to s.132 of the Act.

3. The JOLs have the power to act jointly and severally.

4. The JOLs shall not be required to give security for their appointment.

5. The JOLs be authorised pursuant to s.110(2)(a) of the Act, to jointly and severally exercise all of the powers specified in Part II of the Third Schedule to the Act..

6. The JOLs be authorised pursuant to s.110(2)(a) of the Act to exercise the following powers in Part I of the Third Schedule to the Act, without the further sanction or intervention of the Court:

   a. The power to bring or defend any action or other legal proceeding in the name and on behalf of the company;

   b. The power to carry on the business of the company so far as may be necessary for its beneficial winding up;

   c. The power to compromise on such terms as may be agreed all debts and liabilities capable of resulting in debts, and all claims (present or future, certain or contingent, ascertained or sounding only in damages) subsisting, or supposed to subsist between the company and a contributory or alleged contributory or other debtor or person apprehending liability to the company.

   d. The power to deal with all questions in any way relating to or affecting the assets or the winding up of the company, to take any security for the discharge of any such call, debt, liability or claim and to give a complete discharge in respect of it.

   e. The power to engage staff, agents and/or consultants in the Cayman Islands and elsewhere to assist the JOLs in the performance of their functions; and

   f. The power to engage attorneys and other professionally qualified persons in the Cayman Islands and elsewhere to assist the JOLs in the performance of their functions.

7. The JOLs be specifically authorised and entitled without the further sanction of the Court to undertake the following:

   a. Presenting a petition for the winding up of the exempted limited partnership, Charitable DAF Fund, LP (the Fund).

   b. Taking control of the Company's subsidiaries, joint ventures, investments, associated companies, businesses, or other entities (collectively referred to as the "Associated Companies") in which the Company holds an interest (or such shares of such Subsidiaries and/or Associated Companies as are owned directly or indirectly by the Company), in each case, wherever located, as the JOLs see fit. Additionally, to call or cause to be called meetings of such Subsidiaries and/or Associated Companies, and to sign resolutions (in accordance with the provisions of any relevant constitutional or related documentation of such companies) and take such other steps, including applications to and communications with appropriate courts and/or regulators, as the JOLs consider necessary to appoint or remove directors, legal representatives, officers, and/or managers to or from such Subsidiaries and/or Associated Companies. In each case, take the necessary steps to ensure that the registered agents (or other equivalent corporate administrators) of such Subsidiaries or Associated Companies implement the changes to the boards of directors, legal representatives, officers, and/or managers of such companies or entities. This includes (without limitation) effecting changes to the company registers of such Subsidiaries or Associated Companies as may be deemed appropriate by the JOLs. Furthermore, to take such other actions in relation to all such Subsidiaries or Associated Companies as the JOLs see fit for the purpose of protecting the assets of the Company and managing its affairs (which, to avoid any doubt, shall include the assets and affairs of the Subsidiaries and Associated Companies).

c. Issuing and pursuing an application by summons for an order appointing themselves or other fit and proper persons as joint provisional liquidators of the Fund.

d. Locating and taking possession of and preserving all the Company's books, records and other papers (whether hard copy, digital or otherwise).

e. Identifying the nature and location of all property and assets which appear to belong to the Company.

f. Getting in or otherwise securing and protecting all such property and assets.

g. Investigating the costs and expenses incurred by the Company.

h. Identifying any creditors of the Company.

i. Investigating the promotion, business, dealings, and affairs of the Company.

j. Investigating whether the Company or the JOLs may have any claims (either in this jurisdiction or elsewhere) against any officer or employee or former officer or employee of the Company, or against any other person or persons.

k. Commencing and pursuing any such or other claims, if the JOLs are of the view that that is necessary or desirable in order to protect the ability of the Company or any liquidator of the Company to pursue any such claims or otherwise to preserve the value of any such claims.

l. Seeking registration or recognition of themselves and/or the Official Liquidation in any State in the United States for any purpose connected with the liquidation.

m. Carrying on the business of the Company so far that may be beneficial for the Company, its creditors.

n. Being at liberty to complete or terminate any contracts or transactions entered into by the Company.

o. Retaining and operating the existing bank or other accounts of the Company and where necessary opening new accounts.

p. Taking control of or redirecting any email or other digital communication method used for the purposes of the Company's business or affairs.

q. Applying to the Court for directions, including on short notice, including for Orders to vary these powers and functions.

8. The Court dispenses with the requirement for this Supervision Application and the hearing of this Supervision Application to be advertised pursuant to O.15 of the CWR.

9. The JOLs' remuneration and expenses be paid out of the assets of the Company in accordance with s.109 of the Act, Part III of the Regulations, and O.20 of the CWR.

10. The costs of this Supervision Application shall be paid out of the assets of the Company as an expense in the liquidation, such costs to be taxed if not agreed with the JOLs.

11. The JVLs shall prepare a final report and accounts for the period from the commencement of the voluntary liquidation until the date of the supervision order, and deliver such report to the JOLs within 28 days of this Order.

12. Such further or other orders be made as the Court shall deem fit.

AND your Petitioner will ever pray etc.

IN THE MATTER OF SECTION 110(3) OF THE COMPANIES ACT (2025 REVISION)

AND IN THE MATTER OF CHARITABLE DAF HOLDCO, LTD (IN OFFICIAL LIQUIDATION)

FIRST AFFIDAVIT OF MARK ERIC PATRICK

I, MARK ERIC PATRICK, of 6716 Glenhurst Drive, Dallas, Texas, United Sates of America, 75254, do say as follows:

1. I am a registered director, president and sole member of DFW Charitable Foundation, a Delaware 501(c)(3) nonprofit corporation (DFW). DFW is the majority Participating Shareholder of Charitable DAF Holdco, Ltd. (Holdco or Company) of which I am both a director and the sole Management Shareholder. The remaining Participating Shareholders of Holdco are Highland Dallas Foundation, Inc., Highland Santa Barbara Foundation, Inc., Highland Kansas City Foundation, Inc., and HCMLP Charitable Fund (collectively, Highland Foundations and also referred to as the Supporting Organisations).

2. In addition, I am the sole director of CDH GP Ltd. (GP), a Cayman Islands limited company incorporated in or around 7 February 2024 which is the general partner of Charitable DAF Fund LP (DAF).

3. This affidavit is provided pursuant to the Orders of Justice Asif KC handed down at the directions hearing on 23 May 2025 (Directions Order) made with respect to an application of the joint official liquidators (JOLs) of Holdco issued by Summons dated 22 May 2025 (JOLs Summons), and amended as of 30 May 2025 seeking sanction from the Court for the engagement of Cayman attorneys, Cayman conflict counsel and US legal counsel (Application).

4. I am duly authorized to provide this affidavit for and on behalf of DFW to:

   (a) Oppose the engagement of Johnstone Law as Cayman Islands attorneys to the JOLs on the basis that Johnstone Law is subject to a conflict of interest;

   (b) Address the proposed appointment of Maples (Maples) as Cayman Islands conflict counsel to the JOLs; and

   (c) Oppose the engagement of US legal counsel pending determination of the Holdco estate, as addressed in section 60 herein.

5. In this affidavit I refer to the supervision hearing on 6 May 2025 (Supervision Hearing) at which this Honourable Court brought the voluntary liquidation of Holdco under its supervision on uncontested basis and refer to the order appointing the JOLs on 6 May 2025 as the Appointment Order.

6. The contents of this affidavit are, save where stated otherwise, within my own knowledge and are true. Where the contents of this statement are not within my own knowledge, they are true to the best of my knowledge and belief and I have indicated the source of my information. In making this affidavit I do not waive legal professional privilege in respect of any documents, information or advice referred to herein and no such waiver shall be implied.

7. There is now produced and shown to me a paginated bundle of documents marked "MP1". References in this affidavit are to pages in MP1 are in the form [MP1/page number]. The majority of the documents comprised in MP1 are materials that I and Mr Paul Murphy requested that our US attorneys compiled and made available in a data room to the JOLs following their appointment. As such, much of the material referred to in this affidavit is already and has been available since around 9 May 2025 to the JOLs. To illustrate this fact, I exhibit an index to the documents in the data room that was made available to the JOLs (MP1/ page 1 - 3).

8. I respond in this affidavit to the Second and Third Affidavits of Ms MacInnes dated 13 and 26 May 2025 respectively (MacInnes 2 and MacInnes 3 respectively), that were filed by the JOLs in support of the Application which I have reviewed. I have also reviewed the unsworn, undated and unsealed affidavit of Mr Andrew Johnstone of Johnstone Law (Johnstone 1) which was served on Baker and Partners (Cayman) Limited (Baker & Partners) as legal counsel to DFW on 26 May 2025. To the extent that any assertion made in Johnstone 1, MacInnes 2 or 3 go unanswered in this my first affidavit in these proceedings, that should not be taken as my agreement, acceptance or acquiescence of the position asserted by Ms MacInnes or Mr Johnstone.

9. There will be matters in this affidavit which relate to certain decisions and actions Mr Murphy and I have taken as directors of Holdco. I have noted that certain critical remarks have been made by Johnstone Law about the fact that I have a played a central role in controlling and managing several entities within the charitable structure of which the Company previously formed part. These remarks are unfounded in circumstances where the DAF Structure and the entities within it have always operated through a single human agent. This was by design so that Mr Dondero was able to draw on the economies of having a single point of contact across the entire structure. My role was exactly the same as that occupied by my predecessor, Mr Grant Scott, however my approach was and remains to ensure that each entity's role in the DAF Structure was professionally managed.

10. In light of the foregoing insofar as this affidavit deals with matters relating to my role in managing Holdco with Mr Murphy as well as other entities within the structure that is because of the architecture of the structure itself.

11. In light of the wider context in which the position of DFW should be considered, I have reviewed the evidence prepared by Johnstone Law in connection with the winding up of Holdco and filed on behalf of the Highland Foundations namely the

First Affidavit of Mr James Dondero filed on 16 April 2025 (Dondero 1), the First Affidavit of Ms Julie Diaz (Ms Diaz) filed on 16 April 2025 (Diaz 1) and the Second Affidavit of Ms Diaz filed on 29 April 2025 (Diaz 2), which was relied on by the Highland Foundations for the purposes of the Supervision Hearing. On my review I note there are a number of mischaracterisations and inaccuracies in the evidence relied on by the Highland Foundations.

12. These create an inaccurate picture of DAF, the DAF Structure (as defined below) and Mr Dondero's dealings with the same. To ensure the facts are accurately before the Court on these matters, and where not otherwise addressed in the content of my affidavit, I include in Sections E and F below specific responses to the inaccuracies set out in Dondero 1 and Diaz 1. I realise that the purpose of the Application is not to resolve complex issues of law or fact. However, I believe it is critical for this Honourable Court to have an understanding of the relevant contextual issues, even if disputed, in order to determine both the question of whether the proposed engagement of Johnstone Law will at the very least undermine the appearance of neutrality in dealing with these issues.

13. Equally, the objection of DFW to the engagement by the JOLs of US legal counsel at this juncture requires the Court to appreciate the facts and circumstances which required Mr Murphy and I to implement the DAF Restructuring (defined at paragraph 18 below).

14. This affidavit proceeds as follows:

    (a) Objections to the JOLs' Summons

    (b) Professional background and dealings with Holdco / DAF

    (c) Function of Holdco and DAF Structure

    (d) DAF as alter ego of Mr Dondero

    (e) Responses to First Affidavit of Ms Diaz

    (f) Responses to First Affidavit of Mr Dondero

A. OBJECTION TO JOLS' SUMMONS

15. In summary, DFW:

    (a) Opposes the engagement of Johnstone Law as Cayman Islands attorneys to the JOLs on the basis that Johnstone Law is subject to a conflict of interest.

    (b) Does not object to the proposed appointment of Maples (Maples) as Cayman Islands conflict counsel to the JOLs, subject to the conflict committee of Maples confirming that on considering the ability of Maples to act for the JOLs they gave specific consideration to the prospect that Maples would need to review and opine on the issuance

    (c) Opposes the engagement of US legal counsel pending determination of the Holdco estate, as addressed in section 60 below.

16. DFW objects to the appointment of Johnstone Law as Cayman Islands legal counsel to the JOLs. This opposition is based on Johnstone Law's immediately prior engagement by the Highland Foundations in seeking the just and equitable winding up of Holdco and the appointment of provisional liquidators, on the erroneous basis that the DAF Restructuring was a fraudulent scheme which resulted in assets in excess of US$250 million in value being misappropriated from the Company, to the detriment of the Highland Foundations. For the avoidance of doubt and as explained in Section C of my confirmatory affidavit, the Highland Foundations never had a traditional ownership economic interest in the DAF and its assets; they only had a right to discretionary dividends if and when paid.

17. The Highland Foundations are companies that are owned and controlled by Mr Dondero who is the President, Individual Member and Director of each of the Highland Foundations. The complaints and allegations made by the Highland Foundations and the arguments advanced on their behalf by Johnstone Law ignore the real prospect that it is Holdco which may have causes of action against the Highland Foundations and/or Mr Dondero, for the reasons articulated below (see also Section D).

18. At the Supervision Hearing the Highland Foundations, through Johnstone Law characterised the following steps as a fraudulent scheme:

    (a) The allotment of 318 Participating Shares in Holdco to DFW on 7 February 2025 which constituted DFW the single majority Participating Shareholder of Holdco.

    (b) On 27 March 2025, redeeming Holdco's interest in CDMCFAD LLC.

    (c) On 2 April 2025, distributing the proceeds of the aforementioned redemption to the Highland Foundations in their capacity as Participating Shareholders.

19. I refer to these steps collectively as the DAF Restructuring.

20. I reject any suggestion that the DAF Restructuring was improper, inappropriate or fraudulent. As I explain in further detail below, the DAF Restructuring was necessary to protect the DAF and its charitable intent from the retaliatory actions that can be traced back to Mr Murphy's and my refusal to accept Mr Dondero's demands to use the DAF's assets to invest in several opportunities that were inappropriate, arguably unlawful and to his personal benefit. I also discuss Mr Dondero's attempts to influence me to transfer approximately US $1.5 million to an offshore firm owned by Mr Dondero to settle outstanding legal fees which were not related to the DAF at paragraph 116(a) below.

21. For the avoidance of doubt and without waiving legal privilege, the DAF Restructuring and each of the steps forming that transaction, was / were undertaken with the benefit of thorough and extensive legal, tax and financial advice from third-party professionals and for the principal purposes of: (i) ensuring the DAF structure continues to fulfill its charitable purpose of supporting community-focused, non-profit foundations; and (ii) protecting DAF and the DAF Structure from being used by Mr Dondero or attacked by his creditors as his alter ego.

22. As a result of Mr Dondero's conduct, the Highland Foundations may not retain their non-profit status under the laws of the US. According to tax advice I sought for and on behalf of Holdco, the Highland Foundations were susceptible to being found as the alter ego of Mr Dondero or facilitating other claims against entities within the DAF Structure based on alter ego theories which are set out further at Section D, paragraph 78 onwards and paragraphs 145 onwards of this affidavit. Significantly, the Highland Foundations may also have liability as co-conspirators if Mr Dondero is found to have used them in a way which contravenes the US Internal Revenue Code (IRC). It was in recognition of this risk that Participating Shares were issued to DFW. As stated in the resolutions authorizing the issuance and allotment to DFW, this was necessary to ensure that DAF could continue to further its charitable mission where, upon advice, it seemed the Highland Foundations could not. I refer to the first affidavit of My Murphy and to Section V(ii) which addresses the DWF share issuance.

(i) Objections to Johnstone Law on the basis of a conflict of interest

23. The question of Johnstone Law's ability to advise the JOLs independently and impartially was a matter I instructed counsel for DFW to raise at the Supervision Hearing. While I had not opposed the making of a supervision order, nor found at that stage there was a need to object to the appointment of Ms MacInnes or Mr Bhowmik as JOLs, it was my firm belief that due to Mr Johnstone's prior engagement for the Highland Foundations he and his firm would not be sufficiently independent to act as legal counsel to the JOLs. My reasonable belief was founded on both my prior experience of how Mr Dondero conducts his arrangements and litigates aggressively (I refer the Court to the examples of such behaviour in Section D DAF As Alter Ego of Dondero (below) and to Section IV of Mr Murphy's affidavit); and on the allegations of fraud and misconduct which have been central to the applications persuade by the Dondero controlled and managed Highland Foundations.

24. At the Supervision Hearing, and as is set out in the letter from Baker & Partners to the JOLs dated 14 May 2025 and exhibited at MP1/ pages 4 – 7 (14 May Letter), the pleadings before the Court charcterised the DAF Restructuring as a "fraudulent Scheme" and that the former directors (myself and Mr Murphy) appeared to be "implementing a calculated and ultimately fraudulent scheme to dissipate the Company's assets to prevent thorough independent investigation".

25. The pleadings prepared by Johnstone Law characterise the Highland Foundations as "victims of the apparent fraud" and, with specific regard to the skeleton argument that Johnstone Law filed in support of the ex parte application for the appointment of provisional liquidators, Johnstone Law addressed the proposition that "There is no hard evidence of fraud or defalcation" by clearly refuting that suggestion as "not true" and that "it will not take the Court long to see that Mr Patrick and Mr Murphy's blocking tactics hide more nefarious conduct" (see 14 May Letter at MP1/ pages 4 - 7).

26. Johnstone Law also prepared and filed Diaz 2 which was given in support of the Highland Foundations application for the voluntary liquidation of the Company to be brought under the supervision of the Grand Court. In this respect, the terms of relief and basis for the need for supervision was allegedly due to a "cloud hanging over Mr Patrick and Mr Murphy, as directors of Holdco" (Diaz 2, para 15(b)). Ms Diaz goes on to incorrectly described the Highland Foundations / Supporting Organisations as "the owners of 100% of the economic interest in the Company" and that the need for supervision of the Grand Court is primarily for a "(a) proper investigation" "...(e) into the allegations of misconduct on the part of the management of the company" (Diaz 2, para 15.(a), (e)). Ultimately and as I consider to be indicated by the terms of the Diaz 2 (paragraph (f), the case advanced by Johnstone Law for the Highland Foundations envisaged and anticipated that transactions undertaken by Holdco would likely need to be set aside.

27. While I was not present at the Supervision Hearing I am informed by and understand that in accordance with my instructions, counsel for DFW foreshadowed the potential conflict of interest at the Supervision Hearing. After the DAF Restructuring, and subject any claims accruing to the Company, Holdco has no or de minimis assets. The central issue in the liquidation of Holdco is whether the DAF Restructuring was lawfully carried out by myself and Mr Murphy acting in the best interests of Holdco and exercising our powers as directors for a proper purpose. It simply cannot be the case that Mr Johnstone can review the DAF Restructuring impartially and with a fair-mind having already formed the view that that transaction amounted to a calculated and fraudulent scheme.

28. From my consideration of Johnstone 1 (paragraphs 14,15 and 17) I understand that:

(a) Mr Johnstone appeared as legal counsel to the Highland Foundations at the Supervision Hearing,

(b) After Justice Asif KC made the Supervision Order the engagement of Johnstone Law was terminated and at the same time the Highland Foundations consented to the engagement of Johnstone Law by the JOLs.

(c) I understand that the engagement with the JOLs is dated 7 May 2025. Having read MacInnes 2 I understand that the letter of engagement was executed by the JOLs on 13 May 2025 (see MM2/ page 4).

(d) Mr Johnstone asserts that he "no longer [has] obligations to the SOs (save for my ongoing duties of confidentiality), and as former client, rather than current clients" (Johnstone 1, paragraph 39) and that there is no "suggestion that in my capacity as attorney to the SOs, I obtained confidential information that would make it unfair for me to know represent the JOLs" (Johnstone 1, paragraph 40).

29. As is discussed in detail in Section IV of Mr Murphy's affidavit and Section D below, it was necessary for Mr Murphy and I to implement the DAF Restructuring so as to preserve the DAF assets and charitable standing of the DAF Structure. Given the potential civil and criminal consequences which may befall Holdco, DAF and its assets there is a real possibility that on investigation into the restructuring claims of Holdco are identified against the Highland Foundations and / or Mr Dondero.

30. I believe it is highly likely that Mr Johnstone holds confidential information relating to the operations of the Highland Foundations (being owned and controlled entities of Mr Dondero) that are highly relevant to the central issue in the liquidation, as presented by the Highland Foundations themselves.

31. It appears that the very real potential for Mr Johnstone and his firm's duty of confidentiality to the Highland Foundations as former clients, to conflict with the obligations to their current clients the JOLs has not been addressed in the discussions between Johnstone Law and the Highland Foundations; nor between Johnstone Law and the JOLs.

32. Significantly Mr Johnstone is "happy to confirm I have never been instructed by James Dondero and/or JP Seville". This statement itself may refer to the specific terms of any engagement letters entered into by Mr Johnstone and/or his law firm, however, Johnstone Law has recently been engaged by the Highland Foundations who are under the ownership and control of Mr Dondero in his capacities as the individual member, president, and director of each, not to mention the influence he may wield by promising additional donations. Furthermore, Mr Dondero has put in evidence for and on behalf of the Highland Foundations in support of the petition to wind up Holdco and it was in that engagement and in part on the evidence of Mr Dondero that Mr Johnstone formed the view that "it appeared on the evidence available that a fraud had been perpetrated" (Johnstone 1, paragraph 35). Furthermore, as I refer to in paragraph 187 below, there is reason to be concerned that Johnstone Law has been engaged by entities likely to be controlled, owned or associated with Mr Dondero.

33. Insofar as the question of Johnstone Law / Mr Johnstone's independence is addressed in MacInnes 2, Ms MacInnes does not confirm that the JOLs have made independent enquiry or sought the views of legal counsel on the issue of conflict, save for relying on the view of Mr Johnstone.

34. Johnstone 1, paragraph 41 notes that Mr Johnstone is "surprised" that the engagement of his law firm has elicited such opposition from DFW because it is usual for attorneys who have previously acted for the petitioners to take on the role of advising the liquidators. Mr Johnstone explains "This has the advantage that the attorneys already have considerable understanding of the case, and so do not approach the task from a 'standing start', which saves time and costs". This point is also supported at paragraph 11(a) of MacInnes 2 where Ms MacInnes states it to be her professional experience that liquidators frequently engage the firm of attorneys who acted for the petitioner upon their appointment, and the mere fact that a firm has previously acted for a petitioner does not of itself provide a basis for asserting that a firm lacks independence.

35. I do not accept this is correct in the context of liquidations arising from the breakdown of a shareholder relationship as is the case with Holdco. This evidence disregards the complex issues which arise in the context of this matter. I am informed by Cayman counsel and understand this issue will be addressed in submissions that while that general position as stated in Johnstone 1 and MacInnes 2 may be true where the winding up petition is premised on an undisputed debt, the position here is markedly different. There is a clear and contentious dispute brought by the Highland Foundations in the terms of the just and equitable petition that was filed against Holdco.

36. Insofar as MacInnes 2 asserts that the JOLs have concluded that Johnstone Law is independent and that the position of DFW in objecting to their appointment is without substance I note that:

    (a) It is Mr Johnstone himself who has informed the JOLs that his prior engagement by the Highland Foundations and that his own law firm had no conflict in acting. The JOLs do not appear to have made independent enquiry into the potential conflict nor taken independent advice on the point (Paragraphs 11(b)-(d) of MacInnes 2).

(b) Johnstone Law has also confirmed that they "have no preconceptions before accepting an engagement by the JOLS, and are not subject to any external pressure or influence" (paragraph 11(c) MacInnes 2). However, it remains the case as per Mr Johnstone's own evidence that he is of the view that a fraud has been perpetrated and that "that does appear to be an obvious explanation for what has occurred, and because those were my instructions" (Johnstone 1, paragraph 35). I do not accept that fraud was the "obvious explanation" let alone a reasonable one had Mr Johnstone considered whether any underlying factual basis was reasonably credible. He does not appear to have considered the extraordinary legacy of the very person behind the Highland Foundations or the person funding his engagement, here Mr Dondero.

37. In the circumstances I fail to see how it could be considered reasonable or fair-minded (as Johnstone 1 suggests at paragraph 42) for Johnstone Law's engagement to be sanctioned.

38. I am further informed by the Cayman attorneys to DFW that during the Supervision Hearing, Mr Johnstone submitted to the Court that the submissions of Baker & Partners with regard to the terms of Order ought not to be given weight because DFW is controlled by a person subject to investigation – that person being myself - and suggested I would seek to limit the powers of the liquidators. I refute the negative assertions that have been cast on my character advanced by Johnstone Law in written argument, and further at the Supervision Hearing. Additionally, recognizing that there is an investigation which needs to be conducted into the DAF Restructuring and its propriety, the conclusory view of Mr Johnstone that DFW's views should not be given weight because of that investigation itself indicates a position of partiality which DFW believes requires that the JOLs have the benefit of independent, unconnected legal counsel.

39. The engagement of Johnstone Law specifically was not a matter that was before the Court at the Supervision Hearing. I understand from legal counsel to DFW that it was submitted at the Supervision Hearing that the identity of Cayman Islands attorneys for the JOLs was not then known, and that Reed Smith were identified during the Supervision Hearing as US legal counsel.

40. However, the terms of the Draft Supervision Order provided to the Court on 6 May 2025 did seek sanction for the JOLs to engage attorneys. I exhibit at MP1/ page 9 - 11 a copy of the original draft order that was circulated on 6 May. It was this general sanction to engage attorneys that was denied and for which this Honourable Court directed the JOLs to make a sanction application for the specific firms to be engaged and the terms on which that engagement would proceed. Neither Johnstone 1 nor MacInnes 2 or 3 address the non-disclosure of Johnstone Law as proposed Cayman counsel to the JOLs. However, in the absence of independent legal counsel being identified I understand that (i) Johnstone Law's engagement with the Highland Foundations terminated after Supervision Hearing and (ii) Johnstone Law had issued a letter of engagement dated 7 May 2025 to Grant Thornton. There is a necessary inference that at the time of the Supervision Hearing Johnstone Law had been selected to act as Cayman legal counsel to the JOLs.

41. The concerns of DFW have been further compounded by steps immediately taken by the JOLs following their appointment.

42. Firstly, the clear overreach of their powers under the Appointment Order, insofar as the JOLs have sought to exercise authority and jurisdiction over entities which are neither Holdco, nor entities that are owned or controlled by Holdco. In this regard I refer to correspondence issued by the JOLs to Skyview Group (Skyview, legally incorporated as Highgate Consulting Group, Inc. and doing business as Skyview Group) dated 9 May 2025, in which the JOLs purported to have authority to request books and records from Skyview not only of Holdco but also to its current and former subsidiaries (Skyview Notice). In doing so the JOLs also sought to exercise their powers in the jurisdiction of the United States where, I am informed by legal counsel, the JOLs have no legal standing or authority. A copy of the notice and correspondence issued to Skyview is exhibited at MP1/ page 12 - 18.

43. These steps are value destructive to DAF and its direct and indirect subsidiaries (DAF Structure) insofar as the JOLs have caused banks and other service providers to the DAF and related entities to freeze the operative accounts of the DAF. As an example, email correspondence from Hancock Whitney is exhibited at MP1/ page 19 - 26. In turn, this prevents DAF from operating its business (i) making (and receiving payments on) investments and (ii) carrying out its charitable purpose and fulfilling obligations which DAF has assumed to support selected charities.

44. Second, on 12 May 2025 Baker & Partners issued a letter to the JOLs identifying the impropriety and overreach of the requests set out in the Skyview Notice. No response to that correspondence has been received. I exhibit at MP1/ page 27 – 29 a copy of the correspondence issued to the JOLs in response to the Skyview Notice.

45. Following the Supervision Hearing Mr Doug Mancino, a leading US tax attorney whose CV is exhibited at MP1/ page 30 - 41, informed me that he had agreed to a meeting with the JOLs. That meeting took place virtually on 12 May 2025 (12 May Meeting). I understand from Mr Mancino that Mr Johnstone of Johnstone Law was present at the virtual meeting. Mr Mancino also informed me that he was not informed during the call who Mr Johnstone was or in what capacity he was attending, that Mr Johnstone had represented (or was representing) the Highland Foundations, or that the JOLs had purported to engage Mr Johnstone as their counsel pursuant to a letter of engagement dated 7 May 2025 (despite the court requiring the JOLs to seek court approval for the appointment of legal counsel). I understand there to be a factual dispute relating to the 12 May Meeting and that Mr Mancino will directly address the assertion made in MacInnes 3 (paragraph 12) that at that meeting Mr Macino was informed that Mr Johnstone attended in his capacity as the JOLs' attorney.

46. On 14 May 2025, Baker & Partners wrote to ask who Mr Johnstone acted for while attending the 12 May Meeting. That same letter outlined to the JOLs the concern of DFW which arose from the representations made during the course of these proceedings by Mr Johnstone (see MP1/ page 4 - 7). As the letter of 12 May 2025 to the JOLs makes clear, DFW has serious and justifiable concerns that where conduct which Mr Johnstone has described as a fraudulent scheme are the very actions that will inevitably be investigated and considered by the JOLs, there is not only the appearance of a conflict but a serious question over the ability of Johnstone Law to impartially advise the JOLs on matters concerning the legality and propriety of the DAF Restructuring.

47. This extends to the very real possibility that on an independent and thorough investigation into the DAF Restructuring, causes of action may have accrued to HoldCo against the Highland Foundations and potentially Mr Dondero. DFW's position will be deeply prejudiced if the JOLs are unable or unwilling to act or even unable or unwilling to consider acting against the Highland Foundations and Mr Dondero. The timing of Johnstone Law's termination as counsel for the Highland Foundations as of 6 May, and appointment by the JOLs pursuant to a letter of engagement dated 7 May, in circumstances where Johnstone Law had already made accusations of fraud makes it difficult, if not impossible, to believe that Johnstone Law can advise the JOLs with a view to ensuring they investigate the affairs of Holdco fairly and independently.

48. Following the 12 May Meeting and the correspondence that was issued by Baker & Partners for DFW and on behalf of the Management Shareholder and directors by Kobre & Kim issued on 14 May 2025 (see MP1/ page 42 - 44) Johnstone Law made the Letter Application seeking the sanction of their appointment as legal counsel to the JOLs, without first seeking the formal views of DFW. I do not know if the Highland Foundations who are also participating shareholders of Holdco were notified.

49. I am informed by my legal counsel, without waiving privilege, that the usual course in making a sanction application is for the stakeholders of the liquidation to be consulted with, and for a hearing to be set down for that application to be heard, including the views of stakeholders. While I also understand that there may be circumstances in which it may be appropriate to seek to have a sanction application determined on the papers, the views of the stakeholders interested in the application should provide their consent to proceeding with an application without sanction. The fact that the Court properly directed that DFW and all relevant stakeholders be given notice of the application and a hearing set down only indicates that this sanction application was not one suitable to be determined on the papers.

50. I note at paragraph 20 of Johnstone 1 that the application for sanction of Johnstone Law was initially "made by letter to the Court dated 14 May 2025 (Letter Application)". At the time of swearing this affidavit I understand that a copy of the Letter Application has been requested from Johnstone Law but not yet provided to DFW. I refer the Court to MP1/ page 49 - 47 being a letter from Baker & Partners dated 20 May 2025 (20 May Letter) relating to the sanction application made by the JOLs and making specific requests for "copies of all correspondence between Johnstone Law and the Grand Court regarding the proposed sanction application".

51. I note that Johnstone 1 (at paragraph 55) outlines requests for documents and information that were made by Baker & Partners in the 20 May Letter but lists only 3 or the 4 categories that were requested. Johnstone 1 makes no reference to the request that was made by Cayman counsel for DFW for a copy of Johnstone Law's correspondence with the Court, which would necessarily include the Letter Application.

52. Significantly, if the concerns of myself and Mr Murphy regarding Mr Dondero's dealings with DAF are found on an independent investigation to have been well founded, there is a real prospect that Holdco would have actions against the Petitioners in respect of distributions that were made which did not actually comply with the charitable purpose for which the assets of DAF ought to have been deployed. Even in the absence of such causes of action, if my concerns about Mr Dondero, the Highland Foundations are vindicated through an independent investigation, the JOLs will be required to reach adverse conclusions about Johnstone Law's former clients. Given Johnstone Law at the very least holds confidential information about those parties, it is reasonable to infer that Johnstone Law will be strongly predisposed (or have the appearance of being strongly predisposed) towards their former clients. Indeed, Johnstone Law has already characterised his former clients as the "victims of fraud." (Supplementary Skeleton Argument, 28 April 2025, para, 17).

53. Once again, this raises a justifiable concern that Johnstone Law is not in a position to act independently in advising the JOLs to commence proceedings against the former clients of Johnstone Law or take adverse positions against them. Given the pervasive nature of the required investigation into the history of the DAF Structure, its connection with Mr Dondero and indeed DAF Restructuring, I do not see how the issue can be cured by the appointment of Maples as ad hoc conflict lawyers.

54. As I explain in further detail below a serious underlying concern of DFW as well as a concern Mr Murphy and I have held as directors appointed by the Management Shareholder to exercise its entitlements and functions, is that Mr Dondero historically misused DAF, the DAF Structure, and its assets for his own personal U.S. tax advantages and gain and intends to leverage the liquidation of Holdco to ultimately wrongfully require the DAF Structure and its assets.

55. Furthermore, I understand from the evidence filed by the Highland Foundations that Mr Dondero is funding the JOLs' fees and is privately financing these proceedings including meeting the fees of the Highland Foundations. In circumstances where Johnstone Law has been remunerated by Mr Dondero and indeed where they appear to have acted with certain entities associated with him, this inevitably gives rise to the real prospect that without instructing independent counsel, Johnstone Law and by extension the JOLs may not be in a position to reach fair and impartial findings against Mr Dondero or indeed the Highland Foundations with respect to any investigations of misuse or attempted misuse of the DAF Structure. Such findings would almost certainly be contrary to the position adopted by Johnstone Law on behalf of the Highland Foundations (and ultimately Mr Dondero).

56. Mr Dondero is a serial litigant. Since 2007 he has been locked in substantial litigation with UBS and since 2019 has been pervasively involved in the now infamous "Highland Bankruptcy" Chapter 11 proceeding in Texas. Mr Dondero is currently exposed to a summary judgment determination from the Southern District of New York which may imminently result in an award against him in the amount of US$1.2 billion (as more fully discussed below in paragraph 153). I believe the prospect of such a significant adverse judgment against Mr Dondero provides ample reason for him to seek to have the DAF Restructuring unwound and seek to control – directly or indirectly – that process. In simple terms Mr Dondero may need access to significant liquidity in the short term.

(ii) Engagement of Maples

57. I note from the Amended Summons provided by Johnstone Law on 26 May that the JOLs now seek sanction for the appointment of Maples as conflict legal counsel to the JOLs. As noted in MacInnes 3 (paragraph 19-24), Maples were previously retained by the Company to provide advice in connection with the power and ability of the directors of Holdco to issue and allot shares in Holdco to DFW.

58. Given the centrality of the DAF Restructuring and the DFW share issuance to the liquidation of Holdco, I was concerned that Maples would be in a position of conflict to the extent that Maples were instructed by the JOLs to assess or impunge the validity and propriety of the issuance of shares from Holdco to DFW. However, I also understand from both the terms of MacInnes 3 that Maples have cleared conflicts and do not regard the previous, advice provided to the Company as presenting a conflict of interest.

59. In the circumstances, I on behalf of DFW would not object to the engagement of Maples by the JOLs providing confirmation could be provided that the conflict committee had, on considering the engagement for the JOLs, specifically addressed the ability of Maples to advise on the validity and propriety of the share issuance to DFW by Holdco.

(iii) No requirement for US Counsel at this stage

60. DFW objects to the application for sanction by the JOLs to engage US counsel at this juncture. As is accepted by the JOLs, Holdco presently holds no assets in Cayman or anywhere else.

61. The issues that are raised by the Highland Foundations and which have been assumed by the JOLs, concern the validity and potential ability to unwind the DAF Restructuring.

62. In due course DFW intends to seek a declaration as to the validity of the DAF Restructuring from this Honorable Court and to make that application within the liquidation. Until such time as a determination has been made that would result in assets being conveyed to the Holdco estate, DFW objects to the sanction and engagement of US counsel for the reason that it is neither proportionate nor necessary.

B. PROFESSIONAL BACKGROUND AND DEALINGS WITH HOLDCO /DAF

63. I am a US tax attorney and have practiced as US tax counsel from 1998 until 2008. I hold a bachelors degree from the University of Miami Herbert Business School (BBA, Finance, Cum Laude); an LLM in Taxation from the New York University School of Law and am a Juris Doctor from the Boston University (Cum Laude).

64. For a significant part of my career through until October 2024 I have been employed by companies connected with or controlled by Mr Dondero. From January 2008 to February 2021 I was employed as Tax Counsel by Highland Capital Management, L.P. (Highland). During my employment with Highland, I provided tax consulting advice to Highland and engaged outside tax lawyers to provide legal advice to Highland relating to the management of its tax liabilities and the ability to make use of tax efficient structures.

65. Contrary to the assertion made by Mr Dondero (Dondero 1, paragraph 17) I have not and did not represent Mr Dondero as his personal tax counsel while employed at Highland or at any time thereafter. During this time, I held a license to practice law but my role within Highland was as a tax professional and not as an attorney and I was assigned to the tax department, not the legal department. To the extent that Mr Dondero required tax or trust advice in respect of his assets, external tax counsel were hired to fulfil that role. It is well understood in the U.S. that attorneys who are employed by a company represent the company and not its officers or directors.

66. Highland was an entity formerly owned and controlled by Mr Dondero, which was later placed into Chapter 11 Bankruptcy in the United States (Highland Bankruptcy). It is my understanding that the bankruptcy of Highland in 2019 was precipitated by Highland incurring significant exposure in what has been characterised as vexatious and oppressive litigation which Mr Dondero was instrumental in prosecuting. In particular in 2019 it was expected that a judgment would be made against Highland in favour of certain of its investors in the amount of US$189.3m. Highland was not in a position to satisfy this judgment and Mr Dondero placed the Company into Chapter 11. Following the collapse of Highland, Mr Dondero set up a new investment manager under the name NexPoint. Skyview was formed to provide back-office services to NexPoint and its managed funds.

67. I was employed by Skyview from March 2021 to October 2024.

68. I note that Mr Dondero refers to many of the former back-office employees of Highland becoming employees of the newly formed Skyview (Dondero 1, paragraph 7), Mr Dondero does not accurately describe the business of Skyview. From my time employed by Skyview I understand that almost all the clients of Skyview are entities owned and controlled by Mr Dondero.

69. Further, the Chief Executive Officer and owner of Skyview is Mr Scott Ellington, a longtime business associate of Mr Dondero and former General Counsel of Highland. During my employment at Skyview it was well understood by those working there including myself, that Mr Dondero had actual control of Skyview. By way of example, the compensation determination for all of Mr Dondero's companies' employees is carried out in January-to February. During this time the Head of Human Resources and a member of the Executive Board of Skyview would attend Mr Dondero's office at the Crescent where he would set the pay of every Skyview employee.

70. I provided tax advice to Skyview. In September 2021 my title was formally changed from "Tax Counsel" to "Managing Director, Tax". I requested this title change to make it objectively clear that I was not providing any legal services for Skyview, Mr Dondero, nor any of Mr Dondero's companies, which met no resistance from Skyview.

71. Contrary to the assertions made in Diaz 1, para 25(b)) and Dondero 1, para 18, at no point during my tenure at Skyview was I retained by Mr Dondero to advise in respect of his personal tax liability. As with my employment at Highland, external legal counsel was engaged to advise Mr Dondero in respect of his personal tax affairs and trusts. I submitted my resignation to Skyview by letter dated 2 October 2024, a copy of which I exhibit at MP1/ page 48. The significance of my resignation which I explain in further detail below has a direct correlation to the rapid deterioration of the ensuing interactions with the Highland Foundations.

72. During the course of my employment with Highland I, along with outside advisor Mr Douglas Mancino (Mr Mancino), was instrumental in the establishment of Holdco, DAF and the DAF Structure. Mr Mancino and I exchanged a series of letters exhibited at MP1/ pages 49 – 52, 53 – 55, 56 – 58 and 59 - 61 commissioned a memorandum exhibited at MP1/ page 62 - 66 and had in-depth discussions regarding the most advantageous structures, compliance implications, and outreach to potential recipients of the Participating Shares. This runs contrary to paragraph 9 of Dondero 1, where Mr Dondero over-states his involvement in establishing the DAF.

73. Contrary to the assertions made at paragraphs 8 and 9 of Dondero 1, Mr Dondero does not have the ability to use or influence the DAF to donate to charitable organizations. Furthermore, DAF entities are all for-profit entities and to the best of my knowledge and belief, Mr Dondero has never donated to.

74. At best, Mr Dondero is an indirect donor to DAF. Specifically, Mr Dondero donated assets to Highland Capital Management Partners Charitable Trust #2 ("Trust #2"), which was a charitable remainder trust and was required by law to donate all its assets to a charity by a certain date. My understanding is that a few years later, Trust #2 placed all its assets to an entity it owned called CLO HoldCo, Ltd. Trust #2 then contributed CLO HoldCo, Ltd. to Charitable DAF HoldCo, Ltd. in exchange for 300 participating shares in Charitable DAF HoldCo, Ltd. Trust #2 in turn gifted these 300 participating shares to the Highland Foundations. Mr Dondero's "donation" was in fact to Trust #2[1]. I am also aware that Mr Dondero or his trusts have made other donations to Highland Dallas Foundation from my work at Highland and Skyview.

C. FUNCTION OF HOLDCO AND DAF STRUCTURE

75. The DAF Structure was established in late October 2011 to provide a permanent capital offshore structure that would manage assets on a long-term basis, during which it would make discretionary distributions to the benefit of various charitable entities and their charitable endeavors. The structure was established for the purpose of reorganizing investment assets from Trust#2 and distributing such assets to non-profits when the trust expired per its term, and reducing the burden to pay US federal tax. It was never an investment fund.

76. In my experience these structures serve to mitigate the tax exposure of assets under management, while also permitting any donors of assets to have non-binding input on the investment of such donations and charitable contributions to charitable entities. It is important to stress that these arrangements, to avoid material tax liability and violations of criminal tax laws, must be conducted at arm's length and with strict adherence to the principle that the donor must totally relinquish dominion and control over the contributed assets.

[1] In 2011, Mr Dondero also owned and controlled Charitable DAF GP, LLC, a Delaware limited liability company, which was the General Partner of Charitable DAF Fund, LP and effectively had control over the DAF Structure (other than Charitable DAF HoldCo, Ltd.). Mr Dondero could not maintain control of the General Partner because, in order for his charitable deduction that he obtained when he donated assets to Trust #2 to remain legally valid, he had to cede dominion and control of the transferred assets.

77. From my background as a tax professional advisor I am aware of the importance of avoiding inferences of "dominion and control". These derive from the fact that under U.S. tax law, when someone donates to charity, they must forfeit "dominion and control" of the donated assets, meaning the donor must completely and irrevocably transfer ownership and control of the property to the charity. To qualify for a charitable deduction, the donor cannot reclaim the property or dictate how it is used, directly or indirectly (such as with the DAF Structure). This includes relinquishing any power to change the use or disposition of the donated assets.

78. Furthermore, for the donation to be tax-deductible, the donor must (i) intend to permanently give up control of the property, (ii) transfer legal title and control of the property, (iii) deliver the property, and (iv) ensure the charity accepts the donation. I exhibit at MP1/ page 16 - 83 a memorandum of advice prepared by Corrington for Holdco addressing the issue of dominon and control of assets provided to charity (Carrington Memo).

79. The charitable distributions to DAF were to be made through the Highland Foundations as the Supporting Organisations of the DAF Structure. I know from my involvement in establishing the DAF Structure that Mr Dondero is the President, Director, and Individual Member of each Supporting Organisation and wields further influence as a purported donor to the Highland Foundations. If, for example, the IRS were to make a finding that Mr Dondero never intended to part with dominion and control over the "gifts" he made to DAF, then they would likely disallow the income and gift tax deductions that he has benefited from and impose civil penalties, as outline in the Carrington Memo (ref to page in exhibit).

80. The charitable distributions made would be from the DAF through Supporting Organisations exempt from federal taxation under Section 501(c)(3) of the US IRC providing the DAF structure was administered and managed independently of any donor (including Mr Dondero's in his capacity as an indirect donor through the charitable remainder trust). At the time Mr Dondero and I discussed the establishment of the DAF Structure, I informed Mr Dondero that the structure required the complete divestiture of assets and that the terms of the DAF and its related entities could not provide Mr Dondero with any dominion or control over the structure or the distributions made by DAF.

81. For example, when I articulated to Mr Dondero that the investment income reported to each of the foundations which held the DAF was US $22,875,944 to Highland Dallas Foundation, Inc.; US $22,961,382 to Highland Santa Barbara Foundation, Inc.; and US $22,883,319 to Highland Kansas City Foundation, Inc., Mr Dondero's response was "They don't think of that money as their own do they???". In fact, the Highland Foundations as Participating Shareholders were only entitled to cash distributions, if and when made. Following my review of this correspondence I was concerned that Mr Dondero had evaluated the prospects of DAF to advance financing to his current and future projects in a way which may be contrary to Mr Dondero relinquishing dominion and control in respect of the DAF Structure. A copy of this email exchange is exhibited at MP1/ page 84 - 85.

82. In fact, the Carrington Memo at MP1/ page 76 advised that there was a "significantly heightened risk that the IRS could severely penalize and/or revoke the tax-exempt status of one of more" of the Supporting Organisations which could in turn imperil the status and assets of the DAF, for the reasons which I explain below.

83. My concerns which arose at a later date (again, the justifications for which are articulated more fully below) were that should Mr Dondero attempt, through his control of the Highland Foundations, to exert dominion and control over the cash and property that he previously (indirectly) donated to DAF (and for which I understand he claimed personal charitable deductions for U.S. tax purposes) and the IRS were to make that determination, then the IRS would likely disallow the income and gift tax deductions that Mr Dondero took, and impose civil penalties, such as, a penalty on underpayments under Code Section 6662 and potentially the civil fraud penalty authorized by Code Section 6663, as referred to in the Carrington Memo (insert page ref from exhibit).

84. In addition and as mentioned above, I understand that significant penalties can be imposed on self-dealings between a private foundation (such as each of the Highland Foundations) and a "disqualified person". The term disqualified person" includes an officer, director, or trustee of a foundation. Given Mr Dondero's involvement with the Highland Foundations, and further to the evidence which I give below, by late 2024 I harbored concerns that the IRS may consider Mr Dondero to be a "disqualified person" with respect to each and every Highland Foundation, which could expose each of those entities to revocation by the IRS of its tax-exempt status and possible criminal prosecution.

85. To the extent that the DAF's assets could have been used in such a way, my further concern was that creditors of Mr Dondero could view the DAF as Mr Dondero's financial alter ego under U.S. law. In tun that could expose DAF and its assets to creditor claims unrelated to the DAF Structure. Such claims could risk depleting the pool of assets held by DAF, which would result in depriving current and future charities from the benefit of those assets. I note that significant amounts of DAF's liquid assets are held in the U.S. and whilst I understand (without waiving privilege) that concepts of alter ego are different under Cayman Islands law, that would not prevent attachment of DAF's assets held in the U.S.

86. Quite simply, the assertions made on behalf of the Highland Foundations by the evidence of Ms Diaz show a fundamental misunderstanding of the corporate structure and charitable purpose of DAF. Primarily, the Highland Foundations assume that DAF was a "consolidated entity" when in fact the fundamental scheme of the corporate group intentionally, and necessarily, delineated between control of and economic interest in the DAF Structure.

87. In this regard, Holdco was incorporated and registered as a Cayman Islands exempted limited company on 27 October 2011 with registration number 263805 (see MP1/ page 86). Since its incorporation and until the DAF Restructuring in March 2025 (discussed below) Holdco was the Limited Partner of DAF through which it indirectly owned the entities in the DAF Structure. However, Holdco did not hold voting, control, or management rights in respect of DAF. Its sole purpose was to act as a conduit through which discretionary, charitable donations would pass.

88. DAF, an exempted Cayman Islands limited partnership was controlled and operated by its former general partner, Charitable DAF GP, LLC (Original GP) between October 2011 through to the Restructuring. From February 2024 DAF has been operated by the GP. The Original GP was arranged in Delaware and also registered in the Cayman Islands under Part IX of the Companies Act (as revised). The control of the Original GP and the Replacement GP are also explained below.

89. The characterization by the Highland Foundations through the evidence of Ms Diaz of DAF as a 'Fund' (Diaz 1, paragraph 12) is therefore misleading and liable to create confusion. DAF is not an investment fund but is a charitable vehicle and properly understood, DAF:

(a) Did not solicit capital from investors;

(b) Had / has no subscription agreements through which interests are taken up. Notably, the Highland Foundations did not "subscribe" to DAF in the way, I am informed by counsel (without waiving privilege), commonly used by investment funds in the Cayman Islands, but were granted Participating Shares in Holdco by way of a gift at the inception of the DAF Structure.

(c) Holdco as Limited Partner had restrictive rights in its participation and management of DAF, including restricted rights to information.

(d) Had no entitlement to make capital calls against the Supporting Organisations or indeed against Holdco;

(e) Does not have a registered investment advisor;

(f) There are no investment hurdles or reporting requirements;

(g) There are no marketing brochures, private placement memorandums or other materials relating to solicitation for investments;

(h) The economic substance filing lists business of Holdco; and

(i) There is no wind down date or term within which shareholders are entitled as of right to distributions.

90. Accordingly, to describe DAF as a fund, as the JOLs, Mr Johnstone, Mr Dondero and MS Diaz assert, is incorrect. Holdco was a passive holder and would receive cash distributions from time to time but purposefully did not enjoy any governance or fixed economic rights over the entities comprising the DAF Structure.

91. The constitutional documents of Holdco and DAF maintained the necessary distinction between the economic interest in the DAF Structure and control over the same. In the evidence of Ms Diaz the Highland Foundations incorrectly rely on the Amended and Restated Memorandum and Articles of Association of Holdco dated 19 January 2015 (2015 Articles) (Diaz 1, paragraph 15). The Articles have been amended and restated twice since the 2015 Articles both as of 24 January 2024 and again since 20 February 2025 (2025 Articles). It is the 2025 Articles which regulate the affairs of Holdco and are exhibited at MP1/ page 87 - 123.

92. Notwithstanding that the Holdco constitution has been amended, the provisions relating to the rights and interest of the shareholders of Holdco have not been modified. Holdco has issued both Participating Shares and Management Shares. The interests and rights conferred by these shares maintain a distinction between control of Holdco and an economic interest in Holdco.

93. Management Shares are "voting, non-participating share in the capital of" Holdco "that shall be non-redeemable at the option of the holder but redeemable by" Holdco. As stipulated in Art. 11 of the 2025 Articles, the Management Shares "shall carry the right to receive notice of and to attend, to speak at and to vote at any general meeting of" Holdco. Notably, Management Shares "confer no other right to participate in the profits or assets of" Holdco.

94. In contrast Participating Shares, being those held by the Highland Foundations, are "a non-voting, participating non-redeemable share in the capital of" Holdco. Specifically, Participating Shares confer the right upon the Participating Shareholders to participate in the profits or assets of Holdco in accordance with the terms of the 2025 Articles (Art. 12, 2025 Articles), which is subject to the sole discretion of the Directors of Holdco.

95. The distinction between Management and Participating Shareholder rights is evident throughout the 2025 Articles:

(a) it is for the Directors of Holdco to exercise their sole discretion to consider if a dividend ought to be paid to the Participating Shareholders, or whether the available funds ought to be set aside as a reserve. The Participating Shareholders have no ability to vote on whether a distribution would be made from Holdco (Arts 102, 105, 2025 Articles).

(b) Participating Shares do not confer the right to remove or appoint directors to Holdco. The right to appoint Directors to Holdco is reserved for the Management Shareholder and Directors, whereas the ability to remove Directors of Holdco is limited solely to the Management Shareholder (Arts 64, 65, 69, 2025 Articles).

(c) The Directors of Holdco have discretion to issue further shares in Holdco, and by the 2025 Articles the dilution of the Participating Shares "shall not be deemed to be materially adversely varied or abrogated by [the]...issue of further Participating Shares" (Arts 7, 14, 2025 Articles).

(d) Participating Shares do not confer a general right to inspect any account or book or document of Holdco, except in very limited circumstances being if such a right is granted by law or the Directors of Holdco otherwise authorize such inspection (Art 111, 2025 Articles).

96. At the time the DAF Structure was being established the limited nature of the Participating Shareholders' rights caused some charities who may have benefitted from the structure to reject the proposed gift of Participating Shares. I travelled and met with various charities, including the Greater Houston Community Foundation and Communities Foundation of Texas. These charities carried out extensive due diligence on the Participating Shares and ultimately rejected the gift. These charities determined that the shares did not confer sufficient economic rights to qualify as a gift because they provided only discretionary dividends, carried no liquidation rights, and were susceptible to being diluted at any point.

97. In contrast, the Dallas Foundation, the Great Kansas City Community Foundation and the Santa Barbara Foundation also undertook extensive due diligence and, through the Highland Foundations, accepted the Participating Shares by way of a gift in full knowledge of the very limited rights conferred by these shares. Having regard to paragraph 20(b) of Diaz 1, it appears that the Highland Foundations are seeking to assert some form of fixed or proprietary economic interests in DAF which they knew were at best (i) discretionary; (ii) subject to dilution; and (iii) not controlling rights. The assertion of the Highland Foundations in these respects are refuted. The Highland Foundations were cognizant of these limitations when they accepted the gift of Participating Shares. For example, I recall meeting with Mary Jalonick (now-retired former president of The Dallas Foundation, which is supported by the Highland Dallas Foundation, Inc.), who understood the limitations. The current effort by the Supporting Organisations therefore subverts the intention, understanding and terms of the agreement of the parties at the time the Particiapating Shares were gifted by the Company.

98. The Highland Foundations, Ms Diaz and Mr Dondero were and/or should each have been well aware of the ability of Holdco to issue new Participating Shares. In July 2015, I understand that Mr Dondero had encouraged Grant Scott to cause Holdco to issue 5 Participating Shares to Community Foundation of North Texas (now known as North Texas Community Foundation) in exchange for US$.05. A copy of the correspondence admitting North Texas Community Foundation as a Participating Shareholder is attached at MP1/ page 120 - 128. I am aware that Mr Dondero was frustrated with (what he considered to be) the "woke", liberal, California-based Santa Barbara Foundation and their priorities, so Mr Dondero and Lane Britian requested that I find a replacement charity. At the time, I spoke with the El Paso Foundation and the Miami Foundation, who both rejected the gift of Participating Shares. North Texas Community Foundation was willing to accept a modest number of shares (5) to be held in a donor-advised fund account.

99. I explained to Mr Dondero in November 2014 that the Highland Foundations did not think of DAF's assets as their own and understood they were only entitled to discretionary cash distributions, if and when made. A copy of the email correspondence is exhibited at MP1/ page 84 - 85.

100. The operations of DAF are regulated by the Second Amended and Restated Exempted Limited Partnership Agreement of DAF, dated 11 March 2024 (Amended LPA). Again, the Highland Foundations rely on an outdated version of the governance document for the DAF. A copy of the Amended LPA is exhibited at MP1/ page 129 - 146.

D. DAF AS ALTER EGO OF JAMES DONDERO

101. From October 2011 until March 2021, Mr Scott was Managing Member and Sole Member of the Original GP and was the holder of the Management Shares issued in Holdco. As such Mr Scott was the control person over DAF and the related structure (Control Person). The function of the Control Person was and is to ensure DAF made independent investment decisions for the ultimate benefit of charitable beneficiaries and the charities they support. From my professional experience and expertise I understood that if the Control Person fails to act independently, the charitable and tax-exempt status of the supporting organisations would be compromised. The mere illusion of lack of independence could also expose DAF and its assets to adverse tax treatment and penalties from the Internal Revenue Service as well as creditors and other adverse parties if independence were not maintained.

102. Prior to 2021 Mr Scott and Mr Dondero were longstanding friends and acquaintances. I am aware from my associations with both Mr Scott and Mr Dondero that they were college roommates and that Mr Scott acted as Best Man at Mr Dondero's wedding with Rebecca (Becky) Dondero in 2005, which ended in divorce and extensive public litigation all the way to the Supreme Court of Texas. Mr Scott and Mr Dondero continued to be friends following the divorce litigation.

103. In or around March 2021 I approached Mr Scott to assume the role as Control Person of the DAF. This required me to take on the directorship of the Original GP and be registered as holder of the Management Shares issued by Holdco. I assumed the role of Control Person as of 24 March 2021. Therefore, the concept of their being a sole human agent in control of the DAF is one that has represented the status quo since its inception in 2011. The aspersions and innuendos cast by Johnstone Law on behalf of the Highland Foundations and more recently the JOLs are therefore inappropriate and are also consistent with their prevailing inaccurate view that DAF should be regarded as a "consolidated entity."

104. At this time I understood from my conversations with Mr Scott that he and Mr Dondero had suffered a falling out because Mr Scott refused to take a step at the request of Mr Dondero which would have caused him to breach his fiduciary duties to DAF.

105. It is my understanding and belief that Mr Scott's refusal to act at the direction of Mr Dondero angered him and that, as a result of Mr Scott's opposition to Mr Dondero's instructions, Mr Dondero wanted Mr Scott to resign. I exhibit an email from Mr Scott to John Kane on 30 January 2021 at MP1/ page 147 which, contrary to the assertion made by Mr Dondero at paragraph 20 of Dondero 1 that Mr Scott informed him that he wished to resign in March 2021, Mr Dondero and Mr Scott reached a mutual agreement on a call on 30 January 2021 that Mr Scott would resign as a result of being at a "cross-roads" with Mr Dondero. In fact, Mr Dondero had stated to Mr Scott that "The releases and non objection to the plan was all Seery cared about … accusations of non independence was tweaking and always alleged against all trustees, very hard to prove … not a real threat but Seery got a lot for it, look what you signed". Mr Scott is not prepared to provide me with a copy of the unredacted email due to privilege but has intimated that he would be prepared to give evidence in these proceedings. My understanding is that Mr Dondero did not have the power to remove Mr Scott from his position, but he nonetheless encouraged Mr Scott to resign because he was displeased that Mr Scott had done something to benefit Seery as outlined above (the Highland Capital Management, L.P. chief restructuring officer after Mr Dondero was ousted from Highland Capital Management).

106. The appointment and subsequent resignation of Mr Scott as described by Mr Dondero in paragraphs 14 and 20-21 of Dondero 1 is misleading. Contrary to the impression conveyed at paragraph 14, Dondero 1 while Mr Dondero may have known and regarded Mr Scott for many years as a person of "great integrity" Mr Dondero did not select and nor could he select the Control Person of the DAF. To have such a level of decision-making in respect of the DAF Structure would have compromised the charitable standing and purpose of the structure from the outset.

107. At paragraphs 20-21 of Dondero 1, Mr Dondero deposes that Mr Scott volunteered his resignation due to the fact that he was ill-equipped to handle various disputes which had arisen in connection with the Highland Bankruptcy proceedings on foot in the United States. Mr Dondero further and wrongly deposes to the effect that he was consulted on the transfer of Control Person from Mr Scott to myself, and that he was "happy for Mr Scott to pass the Control Position" to me.

108. For the avoidance of doubt, Mr Dondero was not consulted regarding my assumption as Control Person. This was a matter communicated by email between Mr Scott and myself. Mr Dondero learnt that I had been appointed as the Control Person on or after the relevant corporate transfers as of 25 March 2021. Once again, the impression wrongly conveyed by Mr Dondero is that the DAF and DAF Structure are subject to or under his control.

109. Mr Dondero's account of how I came to act as the Control Person in these proceedings directly contradicts testimony he gave under oath on June 1, 2021. In that testimony Mr Dondero testified to the fact that I had replaced Mr Scott a month after it happened and Mr Dondero did not know beforehand (see extracts from Mr Dondero's deposition dated 1 June 2021 at MP1/ page 148 - 158). Mr Dondero was clear that he learned of my appointment after the fact and that I was the one who told him. As set out in the transcript exhibited at MP1/ page 149 - 150 Mr Dondero says, "And unbeknownst to me, [Mark and Grant] agreed, and [Grant] sent over the appropriate documentation...and Grant signed it, and Mark Patrick became the trustee." Mr Dondero goes on to say that, prior to learning about me taking over for Grant Scott, Dondero had no knowledge discussions were underway pursuant to which that would occur.

110. After assuming the role of Control Person I quickly formed the belief that Mr Scott had created potential liabilities for DAF and the DAF Structure as a result of failing to manage DAF and its assets independently of Mr Dondero, particularly where I suspected that Mr Scott had simply been authorizing investments proposed by Mr Dondero without due consideration for their appropriateness or any financial due diligence.

111. As set out in my evidence below, I have good reason to consider these investments may in fact have been for Mr Dondero's personal benefit and/or to further Mr Dondero's commercial interests, which were not aligned with the best interests of DAF, or the charitable purposes it was intended to serve. In effect, during Mr Scott's tenure as Control Person both the Highland Foundations and DAF were in effect under the common control of Mr Dondero which enabled Mr Dondero to utilize DAF and its assets as a private line of credit. As examples, (i) NexBank Capital Inc. (NexBank), which is a privately held bank where Mr Dondero has a significant ownership interest, sold land to DAF for tax benefits to NexBank, emails of which are exhibited at MP1/ PAGE 159 - 162 and (ii) Highland (then under the control of Mr Dondero) sold or caused to be sold so many assets to DAF that DAF had no money to fund other proposed Highland investments, emails of which are exhibited at MP1/ page 163 - 168.

112. I knew that should this be the case, this would have profound legal, compliance, and tax consequences for DAF and DAF's assets. I also became aware that Mr Scott's compensation for DAF was determined by Mr Dondero without consulting any compensation study or expert advice, a copy of which communication is exhibited at MP1/ page 169 - 170.

113. My concerns that Mr Scott may have come under pressure to authorize transactions which may not have been in the best interest of the DAF (but rather Mr Dondero) were duly reinforced when I was unduly pressured by Mr Dondero. In mid-

2024, Mr Dondero (via his employees at NexPoint) proposed various investment opportunities that involved using DAF's assets, which would have been to the benefit of Mr Dondero and/or his affiliates but which in my opinion were not suitable investment opportunities for DAF. These unsuitable investment opportunities included rescue financing for a NexPoint fund in connection with an SASB refinancing and a NexPoint-led Delaware Statutory Trust investment regarding storage facilities. In response to DAF turning down these investment opportunities, Mr Dondero (through his assistant) demanded in August 2024 that I meet him three times per week to discuss DAF management and investments. In accordance with my fiduciary duties to DAF, I refused these demands but strongly suspected Mr Dondero sought to exert control over DAF, contrary to its tax compliance requirements and charitable purpose.

114. My review of the investments and dispositions from DAF revealed that Mr Scott had historically approved every related party transaction between DAF and entities owned or controlled by Mr Dondero. If I were to characterise the history of the way in which Mr Dondero treated DAF and the DAF Structure from 2011 until my appointment in March 2021, Mr Dondero used DAF through influencing Mr Scott's position as Control Person to (i) generate income for Mr Dondero's commercial gain; (ii) provide liquidity to Mr Dondero and his affiliate entities to advance his commercial interests and/or to reduce the tax exposure of Mr Dondero affiliated entities; and (iii) take high risk positions for below market returns in order to generate significant profit for his affiliate entities whilst retaining the upside for Mr Dondero's affiliate entities and continuing to enjoy significant personal tax benefits.

115. With respect to point (i) above:

(a) I understand that Highland had previously charged investment manager fees to DAF. From my review of the investment management arrangement it does not appear that Mr Scott took any step during tenure as DAF's Control Person to independently review or assess the fees that were being charged to DAF.

(b) As mentioned above, NexPoint is an alternative investment firm founded by Mr Dondero in 2012 and in which Mr Dondero admits he holds an interest (Dondero 1, paragraph 7). I also recall in the first month of my tenure as DAF's Control Person, that Mr DC Sauter (general counsel of NexPoint) and Mr Isaac Leventon demanded DAF pay NexPoint a 2% base fee and 20% upside for managing DAF investments. I rejected this demand whilst fully appreciating that paying management fees would be a way for Mr Dondero to circumvent the "dominion and control" issues which would otherwise arise from a tax perspective. I was clear that my role as the DAF's Control Person was not to rubber-stamp Mr Dondero's proposals but rather to advocate for the DAF and its charitable purposes.

(c) When Mr Dondero or his entities needed capital and wanted to offload an illiquid or undesirable investment at a premium rate, such assets have been sold or donated to the DAF. By way of an example, the DAF currently has exposure of US $85 million to a syndicated debt facility where the borrower's sole investment is two wavelength spectrum licenses issued by the Federal Communications Commission. Such licenses are illiquid and speculative. In this case, I believe Mr Dondero (through both Highland and NexPoint entities) and his affiliates realised they were overleveraged in that investment and required DAF to buy it at par. I do not believe that DAF would be able to sell it at par because a maturity date extension signed in January 2025 required the borrower to pay steep fees and provide an increased interest rate, which are characteristic of troubled debt holdings.

116. With respect to point (ii) above:

(a) I recall that in November 2023, Mr Dondero attempted to exert influence over me as the Control Person, by asking me to transfer (on behalf of DAF) approximately US$1.5 million to offshore entities owned by Mr Dondero which I believed would be provided to Sentinel Reinsurance,

Ltd., a Cayman Islands limited company, (Sentinel) (or another entity above it in the Sentinel Structure) which I believe was then majority owned by Mr Dondero. I understand that the transfer was to settle the payment of outstanding legal fees which were wholly unrelated to DAF and its charitable purposes. The effect of this request would have meant that funds would be diverted from DAF and its charitable beneficiaries to further Mr Dondero's unrelated commercial interests. On the basis of advice received from Parsons McEntire McCleary PLLC and without waiving privilege, I determined the proposed transfer would be "impermissible and illegal" (as stated in the Carrington Memo at pages MP1/ page 68). It is important to note that at this time there were a number of outstanding lawsuits being conducted in the US in which the DAF Structure was being characterized as the alter ego of Mr Dondero. In accordance with my fiduciary obligations to DAF and in light of the real risk posed to the integrity of the DAF Structure by Mr Dondero's attempts to exert control, I refused to effect the transfer as directed.

(b) Similarly in the fiscal year 2024, I noted that Mr Dondero was experiencing liquidity issues and did not want Skyview Group to pay my bonus compensation. As such, Mr Dondero directed human resources at Skyview to email Shawn Raver (at the time, an independent consultant who helped me with DAF matters) and instruct him to have the DAF advance 90% of my bonus with Skyview paying the remaining 10%. Under this arrangement, such payments were likely characterized as director fees and is yet another example of how DAF was used by Mr Dondero to resolve third party liquidity issues.

(c) I understand that NexPoint (and other Dondero entities) had at various intervals sold to DAF its undesirable land situated in flood plains land and directed that investment funds related to Mr Dondero would sell other under or non-performing assets to the DAF to generate liquidity for Mr Dondero's entities. Again, the viability of these transactions does not appear to have been independently evaluated by Mr Scott in his capacity as the Control Person. As a general matter, DAF's balance sheet was full of former NexPoint and other Mr Dondero-affiliated investments.

117. I also understand that Mr Dondero directed Mr Scott to send US $1 million of DAF funds to the Tall Pine Group, in order to pay Mr Dondero's affiliates (such as Mr Ellington and Isaac Leventon) their bonuses at a time when paying those bonuses was blocked by the US Courts in the Highland Bankruptcy (see an invoice issued by Tall Pine Group LLC issued on 3 April 2020 at MP1/ page 171). Mr Scott caused DAF to make the US $1 million payment, which was flagged in the Highland bankruptcy proceedings as part of a larger US $17 million fraudulent transfer (see MP1/ page 172 - 305). With respect to point (iii) above, examples of the value destructive dealings and transactions that were imposed on DAF are set out in a report prepared by ValueScope dated 20 November 2024 (ValueScope Report). The ValueScope Report is exhibited at MP1/ page 307 - 315.

118. In summary, I observed that NexPoint would devise a scheme whereby it needed capital to consummate an initial investment and would engage DAF to provide bridge financing in exchange for a fixed rate of return with no upside beyond the fixed rate of return or repayment timeline. Under this arrangement, NexPoint would retain the upside (typically the common equity interests) and DAF would receive a preferred equity that would be extinguished upon repayment with a fixed interest rate. From industry experience, I do not believe that other lenders would agree to transactions on these terms, which is why I believe NexPoint would attempt to solicit funding from DAF. In effect, the DAF provided access to millions of dollars of its own assets to support NexPoint's (and by extension Mr Dondero's) commercial ventures.

119. The ValueScope Report also provides an overview of transactions and events (in terms similar to those described above) concerning DAF, which includes reference to the:

(a) The Campus at Legacy (TCAL) transaction - This was characterised in the ValueScope Report as "NexPoint's request to DAF shifted US $45 million of downside risk to DAF, while NexPoint retained full upside. Development of TCAL would accrue significant benefits to NexPoint and Dondero by enhancing their adjacent Texas Research Quarter...project" (TRQ) (MP1/ page 308). By way of background:

(a) In September 2024, NexPoint requested that DAF acquire the TCAL property, which was advertised primarily as a land investment comprising approximately 80 acres, and featuring two office buildings generating approximately US $800,000 in annual net operating income at 59.4% occupancy.

(b) NexPoint had TCAL under contract for US $45 million and it was anticipated that the acquisition would close in November 2024. After closing, I understand (see MP1/ page 308) that NexPoint intended to control the TCAL property and gradually wind down the tenant leases, with a view to demolishing the site to construct new life science manufacturing facilities.

(c) TCAL would also be integrated into TRQ, a planned 135-acre life sciences innovation district centered around the former Electronic Data Systems campus in Plano, Texas, United States, which borders the TCAL property.

(d) I understand that NexPoint and its related entities owned substantial debt and equity interests in the TRQ properties.

(e) Due to insufficient cash flows generated from the office buildings on the TCAL property, DAF requested a two-year ground lease with NexPoint as the master tenant as part of the property acquisition. Additionally, DAF required that NexPoint be contractually obligated to purchase TCAL from DAF at the end of the ground lease and requested a security interest.

(f) However, NexPoint declined, which would have left DAF with full downside exposure and limited upside potential.

(b) Preferred Dividend Financing

(a) In August 2024, NexPoint approached DAF to provide NexPoint Storage Partners (NSP), which was managed by NexPoint Advisors, with US $11 million in unsecured financing. DAF was told that the funds were required as a bridge loan for the sale and refinancing of NSP properties. However, DAF learned after conducting some due diligence that the real use was to make a US $6.4 million payment on an upcoming preferred equity dividend payment NSP owed to an investor, Extra Space Storage. DAF ultimately turned down the deal, but this is another example of how Mr Dondero tried to use DAF as a personal banking facility to support his commercial ventures whilst I was the Control Person.

(b) I also understand from the ValueScope Report that there was a failure to reduce risk in the deal by providing collateral, reducing outstanding NexPoint DST exposure, or by providing any put options.

(c) The deal structure and the purpose for the funds also changed several times during the 2-week negotiation period.

(c) Small Bay II DST bridge loan – with respect to DST investments, the ValueScope Report states that: "all three DST Investment made under prior leadership failed to be repaid from DST equity raise proceeds after full syndication, as opposed to full repayment on all new DST bridge loans that have been syndicated since Mark Patrick become the control person" (see MP1/ page 311). By way of background and in relation to the Small Bay II DST bridge loan:

(a) In or around June 2024, Mr Dondero caused NexPoint to demand that DAF roll over its equity from a prior transaction while, simultaneously, Mr Dondero's trust, The Dugaboy Investment Trust (Dugaboy), (of which Mr Dondero's family are the income beneficiaries and his sister, Nancy Dondero, is the trustee) which held a subordinate class of equity in the prior transaction, was paid at closing in full. In other words, Dugaboy received a payment in full despite being at a lower position in the payment waterfall, and DAF rolled over its investment. The return to Dugaboy was listed at US $13,650,280 and DAF rolled over two classes of equity totaling $6,404,958.

(b) As seen from the ValueScope Report, across the various investments DAF has made in NexPoint entities or NexPoint-related deals, DAF has also faced challenges in obtaining various repayments from NexPoint.

(c) These DST investments followed a similar pattern: DAF provided a DST bridge loan to ensure that the Delaware Statutory Trusts were adequately capitalised from inception, and DAF was to be repaid through the sale of trust equity interests to DST investors.

(d) However, NexPoint would regularly fall behind on these repayments to DAF by several months at a time (which were funds raised from investors). As a result, I negotiated a clause in the Small Bay II DST bridging loan agreement, which required NexPoint to pay DAF the funds that were raised within 5 business days (see an LLC Agreement of NREA SB II Holdings LLC dated 13 June 2024, exhibited at MP1/ page 316 – 350, and page 319 which provides for the five business day window). Ultimately, Mr Dondero was upset over my handling of the transaction and exercising independence to act for the DAF, as DAF obtained multiple benefits and protections by fighting NexPoint on Small Bay II, as outlined in the ValueScope Report.

(e) At the date of the ValueScope Report, NexPoint had not made any repayments and had retained at least US $8.26 million in funds with respect to Small Bay II and US $0.7 million in funds with respect to Polo Glen DST (described below) that it was contractually obligated to pay to DAF. In a settlement related to the Highland bankruptcy, I negotiated with Mr Dondero to cause Mr Dondero to release the US $8.26 million (as detailed further in HCLOM Claim Narrative at MP1/ page 351 – 354).

(d) Polo Glen DST

(a) DAF made another bridge loan (which I refer to as the Polo Glen DST bridge loan) in December 2019 part of which, has remained unpaid for approximately five years.

(b) As far as I am aware, there remains about US $0.7 million which NexPoint has refused to repay to DAF, despite having collected enough in asset management and various other fees to honour the repayment.

(c) As further stated in the ValueScope Report, I also negotiated a put option to NexPoint and related parties in June 2024 as an option to reclaim the outstanding balance, which NexPoint failed to honour when it was exercised.

120. In this respect, and contrary to the perception which Mr Dondero seeks to convey in Dondero 1, Mr Dondero frequently sought to utilize DAF as a means of generating liquidity for his other commercial ventures which placed DAF and the DAF Structure at risk of being characterized as the alter ego of Mr Dondero. Not only does Mr Dondero seem to be ignorant of the risks he was creating for DAF and the untenable position he was creating for anyone occupying the Control Position, but to compound his flawed thinking, once I pushed back (with the approval of Mr Muphy as independent/oversight director) on his demands, he has proceeded to retaliate by actively taking adversarial position against me and Mr Murphy through the Highland Foundations. The JOLs do not seem to be remotely attuned to what is happening and have unconditionally adopted a position that can easily be traced back to Mr Dondero through the Highland Foundations for whom Johnstone Law has acted. DAF is further at risk of being found to be the alter ego of Mr Dondero's alter ego given how it has been utilised in legal proceedings arising from Mr Dondero's actions. As observed in the ValueScope Report: "All DAF litigation arises from Dondero. Dondero adversaries have sued DAF, claiming that DAF is an alter ego of Dondero and his various entities. Certain causes place all of DAF's assets at risk to Dondero creditors and aggrieved parties. DAF must vigorously defend itself and its assets, which can be costly and time-consuming". The extensive suits in which the DAF has been caught up are divided between those that are cases brought or initiated by adversaries of Dondero and those that were actions at the recommendation of Dondero (see MP1/ page 313).

121. DAF's participation in numerous litigious proceedings will also inevitably result in the depletion of DAF's assets, which is to the detriment of the charitable purposes that DAF is meant to support. Mr Dondero has also been described as a "vexatious litigant" due to numerous and frivolous lawsuits brought by him either directly or indirectly, as discussed further in Mr Murphy's First Affidavit filed which is also being filed in opposition to this sanction application.

122. For the Court's benefit, a summary of these proceedings are as follows:

Turnover Proceedings - New York County Supreme Court (Index No 650744/23)

123. This claim was brought by UBS Securities LLC and UBS AG London Branch (collectively, UBS) to collect on a $1.1 billion judgment UBS had obtained against various Dondero entities. The UBS claim against DAF related to assets acquired by CLO Holdco in December 2010. Mr Dondero is a defendant in these proceedings.

124. Only DAF was dismissed as a defendant in these proceedings by the New York Supreme Court for lack of personal jurisdiction over CLO Holdco. The lawsuit proceeds against the other defendants. Whilst that outcome was positive for DAF, as I have alluded to above insofar as DAF's assets are within the U.S. I understand that if DAF is found to be the alter ego of Mr Dondero, those assets may be at risk of attachment by UBS (see further below).

125. With respect to paragraph 54 of Diaz 1, Ms Diaz omits the fact that Mr Dondero, together with various entities he owns, are being sued by UBS in this action for US $1.1 billion for, among other things, a Cayman Islands Monetary Authority-regulated company issuing a fraudulent after-the-event insurance policy in order to move assets from an advised fund of Mr Dondero to his company, Sentinel. Mr Dondero's motion to dismiss and motion for discovery in that action were both recently denied, and proceedings have been fast tracked for summary judgment[2].

126. As such, Mr Dondero will soon face the prospect of having to find and possibly liquidate the necessary assets in order to satisfy a potential billion dollar judgment. This is an important fact to omit, especially where DAF has a significant value of assets under management, which Mr Dondero has repeatedly exploited or tried to exploit in the past, to DAF's actual or potential commercial detriment.

127. Should a judgment be made against Mr Dondero, there is a risk that DAF's assets could be paid for distribution to creditors and/or UBS, if (a) Mr Dondero assumes control of the DAF; or (b) should creditors successfully argue that the DAF is in fact Mr Dondero's financial alter ego. It is for these additional reasons that establishing independence between DAF and Mr Dondero was critically important to obtain.

Turnover Proceedings - Bankruptcy Court, Northern District of Texas (Index No 20-03060)

128. These proceedings were brought by Acis Capital Management (Acis) and Josh Terry (Mr Terry) as part of Acis Bankruptcy (Acis Bankruptcy).

129. An action against Mr Scott was also brought in the Acis Bankruptcy, and Mr Scott was indemnified by DAF as former Control Person.

Declaratory Judgment - District Court, Southern District of New York (Index No 5. 21-11059)

130. This action was brought by Mr Terry, a former business partner of Mr Dondero, alleging that DAF and CLO Holdco did not have standing to bring claims related to

[2] Please note that summary judgment in these proceedings could result in three different outcomes: (1) the Turnover Petition is granted and the property is delivered up to UBS; (2) the Turnover Petition is declined; or (3) the Court finds that there are facts at issue which would result in discovery being ordered and a hearing is listed.

Acis's management of assets held by Highland CLO Funding, Ltd. (of which CLO Holdco held a 49.015% interest).

131. Acis and Mr Terry sought this relief on the basis that, prior to my accession as DAF's Control Person, DAF had fallen into a pattern of commencing multiple lawsuits and then dismissing them before discovery commenced.

132. Notably, I understand that attempts to settle this litigation were hindered by Mr Dondero and / or NexPoint's involvement each of which was against any settlement because I believe they wanted the litigation against Mr Terry to continue.

Derivative Action - Royal Court of Guernsey (Civil Number 2479)

133. These proceedings were brought on behalf of a Guernsey domiciled entity called HCLOF seeking the distribution of cash being withheld from HCLOF by Acis , Mr Terry and U.S. Bank, National Association.

Bankruptcy Litigation - Bankruptcy Court, Northern District of Texas (21-03073)

134. The purpose of these proceedings was to seek an Order to reverse the cancellation of DAF's ownership interest in Highland Crusader Fund II, Ltd.

Bankruptcy Litigation - Bankruptcy Court, Northern District of Texas (21-03076)

135. In these proceedings, DAF was sued by the Litigation Trustee of the Chapter 11 Proceedings of Highland (Highland Bankruptcy) in connection with certain contributions received by DAF in 2016.

Bankruptcy Litigation - Bankruptcy Court, Northern District of Texas (19-34054)

136. These proceedings concerned general matters related to the Highland Bankruptcy, including recovery of redemptions payable that were withheld by Highland.

General Litigation - District Court, Northern District of Texas (24-00498)

137. This action (styled Highland Employee Retention Assets LLC v. James Dondero et. al.) was brought by Patrick Daugherty (former partner of Highland), who sued

Hunter Mountain Investment Trust, an entity managed by Rand Advisors, LLC, which is a DAF subsidiary, related to actions undertaken by Mr. Dondero.

The Business Court of Texas First Division (25-BC01B-0004)

138. Separately, Atlas IDF, LP, a Delaware limited partnership and, a DAF controlled entity, is suing an entity affiliated with Mr Dondero (NexPoint Real Estate Partners, LLC) and Dugaboy to collect on US $13 million in demand notes, which were guaranteed by Dugaboy (the validity of these guarantees is now being contested in litigation). I understand that through Deborah Dietsch-Perez (Mr Dondero's counsel), Mr Dondero has attempted to delay the hearing in that matter on the basis that he anticipates gaining control of DAF as a result of these Cayman liquidation proceedings (which would enable him to control Atlas in those proceedings). DAF performed a valuation study and discovered that the notes have a heavy discount due to concerns with collectability. In other words, the valuation experts were concerned that Mr Dondero would not pay his debts. Upon demand (with ten days' grace provided), they were not paid; given they are demand notes, that was a default.

139. Mr Dondero has since tried to acquire Atlas's demand notes for US $600,000 (see MP1/ page 355 to 356).

140. Atlas will continue to litigate against Mr Dondero for the collection of the demand notes in full.

United States District Court for the Northern District of Texas, Dallas Division (3:25-cv-477)

141. I am also aware of another example whereby Mr Dondero is utilising these Cayman liquidation proceedings in an attempt to delay collection efforts by DAF. In this case DAF is suing another entity affiliated with Mr Dondero to collect on a $1 million debt obligation. Mr Dondero controls an entity, Highland Capital Management Services, Inc., that defaulted on an approximately $1 million promissory note because Mr Dondero directed payment to a personal friend of his, Patrick McCabe (Mr McCabe), who Mr Dondero may have believed that DAF owed money to, although I am not aware of any DAF obligation to or demand for payment from McCabe.

142. Broadly speaking, if Mr Dondero is successful at controlling the proceedings brought by DAF, I harbour concerns that he will direct the Highland Foundations to cease litigation and enter into settlements on terms that favour him. As a result, the Highland Foundations would provide Mr Dondero with an improper "private benefit" to the detriment of DAF.

143. Otherwise, I believe DAF has actively settled the other cases it had involvement with in 2025, and that its litigation expenses only relate to those cases mentioned above.

144. Shortly after my appointment as Control Person, Mr Dondero encouraged me to cause DAF to enter into litigation relating to Dondero's former company (Highland - in bankruptcy), which led to me being found liable for sanctions for breaching a gatekeeper order for filing a lawsuit recommended by Mr Dondero. This was later overturned by the U.S. 5th Circuit Court of Appeals. DAF and I were frequently referred to as:

    (a) as an alter ego of Dondero,

    (b) part of Dondero's web of entities, and

    (c) under the direct control and influence of Dondero.

145. I also exhibit a letter from Seyfarth Shaw LLP to the IRS dated 20 March 2025 at MP1/ page 357 - 374 (Seyfarth Letter), which notifies the IRS that Mr Dondero has an inappropriate donor relationship with representatives of the Highland Dallas Foundation (HDF), which is the Supporting Organization of the Dallas Foundation (which is a tax-exempt community foundation under US law, and whose president is Julie Diaz), which potentially jeopardizes the tax exempt status of HDF. Specifically, the Seyfarth Letter drew the IRS' attention to the fact that Mr Dondero exerts direct control over HDF as a director, substantial contributor and president, and indirectly through his and his associates' influence over Highland Dallas' supported organization representatives on the HDF Board of Directors and the Dallas Foundation itself.

146. The Seyfarth Letter also provided the IRS with background on Holdco as HDF is a Participating Shareholder of Holdco, and ergo, Mr Dondero's attempts to control Holdco could have impacted HDF financially.

147. Having appreciated the precarious situation DAF and the DAF Structure had been placed in as a result of the conduct of Mr Dondero both generally and in exercising control over the structure, I immediately took the following actions to protect and mitigate against what I would characterise as "Dondero-recommended transactions":

(a) I hired independent law firms (law firms that had not been previously engaged by Mr Dondero) to negotiate with Mr Dondero's investment professionals and counterparty lawyers on every transaction. This is something which, to the best of my knowledge and belief, Mr Scott never did during the decade he acted as the Control Person.

(b) In order to verify any potential investment was properly underwritten, I hired and consulted with investment analysts such as ValueScope to make independent judgments before agreeing to a transaction. I believe that Mr Scott did not take steps to independently verify the potential investment opportunities presented to DAF by Mr Dondero. The ValueScope Report demonstrates the increased value and performance of DAF after I assumed the role of Control Person and retained investment analysts such as ValueScope to negotiate the financial terms for proposed transactions (see Historical Performance, ValueScope Report, MP1/ page 310). In particular the ValueScope Report notes that "Under Mark Patrick's leadership, the DAF has delivered higher returns on bridge lending deals to NexPoint DSTs, all while managing risks more effectively than in transactions executed before Mark took over".

(c) DAF retained Paul Murphy as an independent director of Holdco and other DAF entities.

(d) We adopted institutional grade investment committee guidelines.

(e) We formed an investment committee to advise on investments with best-in-class managers, including the former Head of Harvard's fixed income portfolio.

(f) By terminating Skyview Group's servicing contract, the DAF saved US $1 million annually in service fees.

148. I took these steps knowing that the IRS would look favourably on any and all attempts made by the DAF to maintain its independence from Mr Dondero under the circumstances.

149. However, I realized that, despite the protocols I had established early in 2021, as the variety of litigation against the DAF was filed (including also DAF's litigation against a Guernsey entity, HCLOF referred to above at [x]), that a common theme and refrain was clear: the DAF was regarded as Mr Dondero's alter ego regardless of my legitimate actions to establish systems and protocols to attenuate that conclusion.

150. Additionally, I followed the various legal actions by UBS against Dondero relating to the Sentinel Fraud (as defined below), and I realized by early 2023 that both the Kirschner complaint against the DAF and potentially a future and significant claim to be brought by UBS (which eventually materialized) could jeopardize the DAF's assets and expose them to Mr Dondero's creditors and adversaries.

151. It is important to ensure the Court is appraised on the prior business dealings of Mr Dondero insofar as they demonstrate that in conducting his business affairs, Mr Dondero has previously placed himself in positions of influence and control for the purposes of personal gain through unlawful transaction. This is demonstrated by the adverse rulings that were made against Mr Dondero (amongst others) during the course of the bankruptcy of Sentinel (a Cayman Islands based reinsurance company which is ultimately owned by Mr Dondero and Mr Ellington).

152. In summary, UBS Securities LLC and UBS AG London Branch (UBS Entities) alleged that the specific transfers of assets to Sentinel during 2017 (set out and defined below as the 2017 Transfers) were executed after the UBS Entities obtained an order for summary judgment against Highland and other entities owned or otherwise affiliated with Mr Dondero. I refer to case UBS Secs. LLC v Highland Cap. Mgmt. , L.P. , (index No. 650097/2009) (Supreme Court of the State of New York, New York County) (the Underlying Action).

153. In the Turnover Petition (as defined below) the New York court accepted that the 2017 Transfers took place at a time when the named respondents in the Underlying Action anticipated a US $1.2 billion judgment against them. The judgment was awarded in UBS' favour in the Underlying Action, but since the entry of the judgment, UBS has only been able to collect a fraction of the interest (and none of the principal) on that judgment. The assets compromising the 2017 Transfers were transferred pursuant to an attendant Asset Purchase Agreement, as payment of the premium for an after-the-event insurance policy (the ATE Policy) to insure Highland CDO Opportunity Master Fund, L.P., Highland Special Opportunities Holding Company and Highland CDO Holding Company against liability in the Underlying Action. It was also claimed that the ATE Policy was outside the usual course of business for Sentinel, as Sentinel had never previously issued this type of policy or one as large as the ATE Policy and would not have had the means to pay on the ATE Policy without the assets received following 2017 Transfers (the Sentinel Fraud).

154. In connection with the Sentinel Fraud, Stephanie Vitiello (author of the Vitiello memo) and other affiliates of Mr Dondero received an indemnity for their role in the Sentinel Fraud, a copy of which indemnity is attached at MP1/ page 375 - 384. It is my understanding that UBS's counsel also used this indemnity as evidence of Stephanie Vitiello and other affiliates of Mr Dondero participating in the Sentinel Fraud.

155. In UBS Securities LLC, UBS AG London Branch v. James Dondero, Scott Ellington, Highland COO Holding Company, Highland COO Opportunity Masters Fund, L.P., Highland Financial Partners, L.P., Highland Special Opportunities Holdings Company, CLO HoldCo, Ltd., Mainspring, Ltd., Motage Holdings, Ltd (Index No. 6507 44/2023), the Supreme Court of the State of New York, New York County made a decision and order on 26 March 2025 (the Turnover Petition), finding that the Turnover Petition sufficiently alleged that:

(a) Mr Dondero and Mr Ellington undertook fraudulent conveyances under DCL 276, when they devised and implemented a scheme to move all the remaining assets of, but not limited to, Highland CDO Opportunity Master Fund, L.P., Highland Special Opportunities Holding Company and Highland Financial Partners, L.P. that could be subject to an impending judgment to Sentinel (the 2017 Transfers). To the extent that Mr Dondero and Mr Ellington sought to dismiss these claims, their motions were denied.

(b) Mr Dondero was the alter ego of another corporate vehicle called Mainspring, Ltd and that it was sufficiently alleged that Mr Dondero "used Mainspring to enter into fake service agreements in order to pay HCM [Highland Capital Management, L.P.] insiders bonuses that they were otherwise ineligible to receive in HCM's bankruptcy" and "used Mainspring to reward HCM employees who were loyal to him".

(c) Mr Dondero "used his dominance over Mainspring "to commit a fraud or wrong against the plaintiff, resulting in the plaintiff's injury"", with respect to allegations that Mr Dondero used his position as the ultimate beneficial owner of Mainspring, "to compel Sentinel to issue dividends, thereby draining assets that would have otherwise been available for collection by UBS". To the extent that Mr Dondero pursued a motion to dismiss claims which sought to hold him liable as the alter ego of Mainspring, that motion was dismissed by the Court.

156. In 2022, at a hearing in the Bankruptcy Court for the Northern District of Texas, where the Sentinel fraud was discussed, Judge Stacey Jernigan (Judge Jernigan) noted that she may make a referral to the U.S. attorney given the criminal conduct by Mr Dondero, Mr Ellington, and others to fraudulently hide assets from UBS and lie about it. I exhibit at MP1/ page 385 – 517, HCMLP Motion to Withdraw, Case No. 19-34054-sgj-11, Adversary Proceeding 21-3020-sgj.

157. I am also aware that Mr Dondero has a hatred of Judge Jernigan, who has consistently ruled against Mr Dondero. I understand it has been reported that a SEC whistleblower complaint was made against Judge Jernigan and I believe Mr Dondero subsequently directed an employee of one of his entities, Lucy Bannon (who is also an officer of the Highland Dallas Foundation) to leak the SEC whistleblower complaint to the press so they would cover it (see MP1/ page 670 – 677).

158. The actions by UBS (which I anticipated) underscore the need for clear independence between Dondero, his entities and affiliates on the one hand, and the DAF, including Holdco on the other.

159. In the middle of 2023, DAF's exposure to Dondero owned and controlled investments exceeded US $100 million. I successfully worked to reduce this exposure throughout 2024. At the end of 2024, exposure was about US $8 million. It was my belief that this exposure posed a material risk to the DAF because it could be used as alter ego evidence. This risk is also reflected in the ValueScope Report.

160. My actions to reduce the DAF's exposure to Dondero owned and controlled investments from US $100 million to US $8 million in the span of 18 months required DAF to turn down multiple deal proposals from Mr Dondero and his entities. In turn this led to increasing frustration from Mr Dondero at the beginning and throughout this period.

161. I managed the DAF while balancing (i) the legal and compliance need to reduce exposure (based on advice of Mr Alex McGeoch and Mr Mancino) to Mr Dondero owned and controlled investments and (ii) avoiding upsetting Mr Dondero and his affiliates as I was acutely aware of Mr Dondero's litigious nature and believed that Mr Dondero would stop paying amounts due on DAF investments if a clean break between Mr Dondero and DAF was implemented.

162. These concerns were clearly well founded. Immediately following my resignation from Skyview (which was made on advice (privilege in which is not waived) and in order to assert more independence from Mr Dondero to better protect the best interests of the DAF) Mr Dondero directed the entities he controlled to cease all payments to DAF, including US $8 million Mr Dondero owed on a deal called Small Bay II (referred above). In the following months, DAF sent letters attempting collection on three other investments. Mr Dondero has not met any of his obligations under them, requiring DAF to commence three lawsuits against Mr Dondero's entities for payment, each of which are ongoing.

163. Mr Dondero has, several times, commenced extensive, harassive litigation and/or engaged in other misconduct against his former employees and business partners. At MP1/ page 553, in the "Plaintiff Highland Employee Retention Assets LLC First Amended Complaint" records that Mr Dondero engaged in similar behavior against Joshua Terry, examples of Dondero and his affiliates' behavior is shown, which includes lying, fraud, and other types of misconduct and/or vexatious litigation against his former business partners Joshua Terry and Patrick Daugherty.

164. For the reasons set out herein, the background leading to the DAF restructuring is both factually and legally complex, as I understand counsel for DWF advanced at the Supervision Hearing.

E. RESPONSES TO FIRST AFFIDAVITS OF MS DIAZ

165. Save where already covered above, I address inaccuracies in Diaz 1 below. Paragraph references in this section are to paragraphs in Diaz 1.

166. With respect to Ms Diaz's evidence, she is wrong to describe and refer to DAF as a Fund for the reasons set our section x to above.

167. With respect to paragraph 27 of Diaz 1, this statement is inaccurate and misleading. I had informed several people affiliated with Highland Dallas Foundation, including Lucy Bannon and Lauren Short (NexPoint employees involved in personal relationships and charitable giving) that my daughter had formed this charity and I had asked whether they could donate US $5,000. Furthermore, no director or officer of Creative HEARTS TX has received or will receive any compensation, as these roles are strictly voluntary.

168. I understand that Ms Bannon and Ms Short approached Mr Dondero and obtained his approval. Creative HEARTS TX was then added to the approved list of charities of the Highland Dallas Foundation, which I had not requested. However, these facts may not have been known to Ms Diaz at the time she swore Diaz 1 and I have done nothing ethically and legally wrong and/or inappropriate as Ms Diaz suggests.

169. With respect to paragraph 28, Fortaris is owned by Kevin Cronin, a private investigator used by Mr Dondero and a trusted advisor of Mr Dondero. As I explain further in this affidavit, Mr Dondero determined my compensation whilst I worked at Skyview. After I assumed the role of Control Person of DAF I performed my functions as an employee of Skyview and as Control Person simultaneously. Accordingly, I was concerned that Mr Dondero would attempt to exert influence over my actions at DAF by controlling my compensation received from Skyview.

170. My concerns were well founded in this regard. As mentioned above, the Court found that it was sufficiently alleged in the Turnover Petition that Mr Dondero had rewarded those who were loyal to him, which was suggestive that Mr Dondero had controlled remuneration as a means of leverage. I also exhibit at ,MP1/ page 708 a confidential update with respect to Mr Dondero's negotiations with the Santa Barbara Foundation (SB Foundation) which illustrates how Mr Dondero threatened to withdraw US $1 million of funding to the SB Foundation because it elected to reject channeling funds to causes identified by Mr Dondero in favour of community causes. In response to the threat of having funding withdrawn, SB Foundation agreed that a full slate of grants would be presented that were desirable to Mr Dondero, and would be allocated to the US $1 million funding.

171. This emerging pattern of coercing others through financial control compounds my concerns that Mr Dondero may leverage the private funding which he is providing to run this liquidation, as a means of influencing the direction of the liquidation itself. He could do so by threatening to withhold funding (which the JOLs and their counsel depend on to cover their costs and expenses) from the JOLs and/or their counsel, thereby placing undue pressure on the JOLs and/or their counsel, which may affect the JOLs and/or their counsel's ability to conduct themselves impartially in this liquidation.

172. As previously mentioned, I had identified that it was imperative that DAF was and was seen to be operated independently from Mr Dondero. Given my employment at Skyview it was my view that I should be paid from DAF in respect of services I provided to DAF and its related entities as the Control Person. Not only would the compensation need to be provided independently of Skyview but the level of compensation would need to be based on an objective third party compensation valuation. An independent compensation review was provided for the role as Control Person. This was then independently verified by Mr Murphy.

173. Given my concerns that the influence and control that was being asserted by Mr Dondero over DAF may have given was giving rise to allegations of DAF being an alter ego of Mr Dondero, I sought to consider ways in which my remuneration in respect of DAF could properly be paid without being subject to Mr Dondero's oversight, precisely because of the alter ego risk. I recall having two brief telephone conversations with Mr Cronin, as I explored whether my compensation (which would be paid by DAF) could be routed through Fortaris. I believed that, given historical payments by Mr Dondero's entities to Mr Cronin and Fortaris, payments by DAF to Fortaris would not raise suspicion with the Skyview employees monitoring DAF's finances. I shared with Mr Cronin an organisational chart and legal advice from Alex McGeoch, a tax expert at Hunton Andrews Kurth LLP, asserting that DAF can independently compensate me.

174. My intention in raising this suggested compensation structure with Mr Cronin was to insulate DAF from potentially significant tax liabilities if the charitable structure of DAF was not operated separately from Mr Dondero. In any event, this arrangement did not come to fruition because Mr Cronin told Mr Dondero about my proposal. However, any actions I took in relation to Mr Cronin were taken in good faith.

175. I may have flippantly said something similar to Dondero 1 where Mr Cronin said "you can't steal from yourself". The context was that I was speaking to Mr Cronin and attempting to describe that, in my capacity as DAF's control person, I would be authorizing paying myself and that I was not "stealing" funds from anywhere. The basis for that statement was the written legal advice from Alex McGeoch (long-time DAF counsel) that I provided to Mr Cronin and attached at MP1/ page 645.

176. With respect to paragraphs 29 to 30 of Diaz 1, I believe that Mr Mancino did not mention material non-public information in his conversation with Mr Rosenberg and only mentioned the share price of NHT, which was public information of a public company. This did not constitute a MNPI and I note that Ms Diaz only says that it "could have" been. Counsel at Eversheds Sutherland, a respected firm with securities law expertise, concluded that the material shared was not MNPI and did not constitute a breach of Skyview's policies and procedures, a copy of which is attached at MP1/ page 647 - 650.

177. With respect to paragraphs 31 to 35, Mr Mancino sent Holland & Knight a letter on February 14, 2025 informing them the numbers, specifically that "millions in director fees", were incorrect. He also said that the legal fees (the vast majority were DAF expenses) did not exceed US $10 million in 2024 and that they would continue to fall in 2025 and 2026.

178. My compensation was based on my role as CEO, CIO, and GC of DAF, and not my sole role as a director. As such these fees have been misclassified as "Director fees". It was also calculated based on a third-party independent report which took into account compensation packages for similar roles and responsibilities. The final decision to approve my compensation was reviewed by Mr Murphy, in his capacity as an independent director, following his consultation with the third party expert. My compensation was only made after Mr Murphy executed written resolutions taking into account all of the relevant matters.

179. Both Mr Dondero and Ms Diaz make much of my "irresponsible management" of DAF by spending too much on expenses. However, US $6 million of the alleged US $18.3 million in expenses are not in fact expenses. Rather, Mr Dondero purposefully omitted that there was also US $6.1 million in income from a NexPoint-led transaction that more than offset the US $6 million in expenses, so Mr Dondero falsely inflated the expense number by omitting the offsetting income and the net gain to DAF from the transaction and those expenses. These are lease payments a DAF subsidiary receives in connection with an investment led by Mr Dondero called Skorpios (also known as NexPoint Life Science III). DAF is both lessee and lessor and generates around US $6.1 million per year from the arrangement. As such, DAF nets a profit each year (US $127,937 in 2024 and US $131,775 is anticipated in 2025, increasing substantially each year and maxing out at $364,815 in year 14), which is reflected in the spreadsheet attached at MP1/ page 651 - 669 and provided by NexPoint.

180. I also met with Ms Diaz and Torrey Littleton on October 10, 2024 and Ms Diaz did not raise any concerns with respect to those now raised in Diaz 1. At that meeting, I also suggested that I would like audited financials of DAF (which had never been provided before) within the next two years and I had hired a third party accounting service provider for that purpose. On the same day, I also had a phone call with Debbie Wilkerson, the CEO of the Highland Kansas City Foundation, Inc. who similarly did not raise any concerns with me. Furthermore, on November 20, 2024, ValueScope and Mr Mancino spent several hours presenting to Holland & Knight (counsel to the Highland Foundations) on the finances of DAF, its investments, and its outlook which I understand from discussing with ValueScope and Mr Mancino afterward was received very positively by Holland & Knight.

181. The next communication from the Highland Foundations that I received was the No Confidence Letter (as defined in Diaz 1) which was not actually received until December 2024 and left me in disbelief given that no questions or concerns had been raised with me previously. I was left confused why they had not voiced any concerns with me directly despite repeated affirmative outreach. Regardless, following the No Confidence Letter, on December 11, 2024, Mr Murphy presented to Holland & Knight regarding the DAF's corporate governance and investments, and which I understand was so well received, that Mr Murphy was invited by Michael Stockham, a partner at Holland & Knight, to provide the same presentation directly to the Highland foundation CEOs. The ValueScope Report also shows that the DAF had outperformed the S&P 500 during my tenure at DAF, and the Highland Foundations had been receiving quarterly financial updates from ValueScope for years.

182. With respect to paragraph 38, Ms Diaz had received an asset list via the ValueScope DAF quarterly financial update on January 7, 2025 and I found her request for the same information again on 23 January 2025 to feel quite orchestrated. Historically, these reports were the only information the Highland Foundations received and, in any event, exceeds what they are entitled to under the organizational documents given their status as passive discretionary holders.

183. With respect to paragraphs 46 to 49, the Highland Foundations were not entitled to notice but this change was done to use a Cayman (instead of Delaware) General Partner and to create more independence from Mr Dondero, for all the reasons above. I understand that under Cayman Islands law, a general partner of an exempted limited partnership must be a Cayman-registered entity whether as an exempted company or a company registered under Part IX of the Companies Act.

184. With respect to paragraphs 50 to 52 of Diaz 1, Ms Diaz omits to explain Highland Foundations' role in opening the Texas AG (as defined in Diaz 1) investigation but in any event, the Texas AG has taken no action outside of sending an initial letter to request that certain DAF entities preserve documents. I believe the Highland Foundations and Mr Dondero reached out to the Texas AG to open an investigation and use that as a data point in this matter. Mr Dondero's propensity to abuse a "complaint" filing is well known. As an example, refer to the SEC whistleblower complaint against Judge Jernigan described at MP1/ page 670 - 677. DAF is actively attempting to cooperate with Texas AG, but the Texas AG has been non-responsive to repeated requests to meet with me and my advisors.

185. As such, there is no dispute between myself and Mr Dondero, but simply a dispute between Mr Dondero and the assets under DAF's management which he seeks to control. To illustrate that point, in November 2024, I was offered through Mr Dondero's attorneys at the Ashcroft Law Firm (and its partner Johnny Sutton), a Caribbean Island and large sums of money if I agreed to step down from the DAF during a call on 22 November 2024. It was also intimated to me by Ashcroft that this offer was also made on behalf of the Highland Foundations. I believe Mr Dondero's intention in causing his attorneys to propose this was to remove me and insert someone who would not second guess his investment recommendations and would permit Mr Dondero to again use DAF (as was the case under Mr Scott's tenure as Control Person) for Mr Dondero's personal benefit. Needless to say, I turned down Mr Dondero's offer.

186. For these reasons, it is vitally important that the JOLs obtain independent counsel to ensure they are properly and impartially advised. The central issues in this liquidation concern the actions I took, with Mr Muphy's oversight, to attenuate direct and indirect influences from Mr Dondero, including through his control of the Highland Foundations whom Johnstone Law previously represented.

187. Furthermore, I understand that Mr Andrew Johnstone of Johnstone Law contacted My Murphy on February 12, 2025, purporting to represent "Charitable DAF Fund 2 LP (DAF 2)." . I understand that Mr Murphy referred this enquiry to Walkers, who were legal counsel to Holdco and DAF at the relevant time.

188. The purpose of this unsolicited outreach was unclear but it is evident that Johnstone Law as DAF 2 lawyers wanted to discuss DAF's assets. Why they wanted to do so and to what end has never been revealed. Critically, even assuming DAF 2 was a legitimate entity (presumably another exempted limited partnership), there is nothing in Johnstone Law's email to indicate (a) who the general partner of DAF 2 was (b) who the limited partners of DAF 2 were and (c) what possible interest any of them would have in confidential information concerning the assets of DAF. As if these concerns were not concerning enough, it subsequently transpired that DAF 2 does not even exist.

189. Following an entity search, Walkers determined that DAF 2 did not exist. I understand that Walkers followed up with Johnstone Law to clarify which entity they represented and where it was domiciled. Johnstone failed to respond to repeated follow ups and failed to provide context. It is my belief that through Johnstone Law, as was the case with Ashcroft, Mr Dondero was seeking to access Mr Murphy as a director of Holdco with a view to exercising control over DAF and its assets.

F. RESPONSES TO FIRST AFFIDAVIT OF MR DONERO

190. With each section that to the extent I do not specifically respond to the assertions made in Dondero 1 above, I wish to address the inaccuracies of that evidence below. Paragraph references in this section are to references in Dondero 1.

191. With respect to paragraph 13 of Dondero 1, there are no restrictions in the organizational documents of DAF that prevent the admission of additional charitable beneficiaries. Furthermore, DAF exists to benefit charities, not only the Highland Foundations.

192. With respect to paragraphs 29 to 30 of Dondero 1, I own shares in Holdco in my personal capacity, and any reference to me owning the DAF would be a reference to my ownership of the GP and the HoldCo Management Shares. However, it is completely inaccurate to say that I could pay myself however I pleased; that represents a fundamental misunderstanding of exempted limited partnerships generally but also misunderstands the nature of the DAF structure. I expressed to Mr Dondero that DAF needs to independently determine the value of my services without Mr Dondero's input, or input from an entity controlled by Mr Dondero. My reasons for this were to reduce any susceptibility to coercion from Mr Dondero (both directly and indirectly), which could have been exercised by interfering with my compensation, and create independence for DAF.

193. In relation to paragraph 31 of Dondero 1, it is highly unlikely that the expense summary could have been produced in June 2024 because, due to a lag in reporting times, June numbers would not have been available until later in the year. I received June 2024 numbers in October 2024.

194. With respect to paragraph 35 of Donder 1, the Vitiello memo referred to in Dondero 1 correctly concludes that I did not engage in insider trading under U.S. securities laws. This is in relation to a put option that was not exercised under a contract. Failure to exercise the put option jeopardizes Highland Dallas Foundation's tax-exempt status and, according to the Seyfarth Letter at MP1/ page 361, may have been an attempt to protect Mr Dondero from having to address the precipitous fall in fair market value shortly after the gift was made, as there would have been a requirement to file Form 8282 "Donee Information return" that would have revealed this information.

195. By way of background with respect to the Put Option, and as explained in the Seyfarth Letter at MP1/ page 360:

> Mr. Dondero's family trust, The Dugaboy Investment Trust ("Dugaboy"), a grantor trust, allegedly owns 99.9% of NexPoint Advisors. Mr. Dondero is the income beneficiary of Dugaboy and his sister, Nancy Dondero, is the family trustee of Dugaboy.
> One of the entities affiliated with and advised by NexPoint Advisors is NexPoint Hospitality Trust, an open-ended real estate investment trust (the "REIT") based in Ontario, Canada. The REIT was formed in 2018 for the purpose of acquiring and operating income-producing hotel properties in the United States. The REIT's investment interests (called "Units") were listed for public trading on the TSX Venture Exchange of the Toronto Stock Exchange ("TSXV").

Dugaboy contributed 1,500,000 Class B non-voting Units of the REIT to Highland Dallas on , December 24, 2019 and also granted Highland Dallas an "embedded" put option to sell them back to Dugaboy for $6.19 per share (the "Put Option"). The net asset value of the REIT as of December 24, 2019 was $6.19 per share. The Put Option is exercisable at any time prior to December 24, 2026...

196. The Seyfarth Letter concluded that based on public filings with the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission, REIT had approximately 29,353,66- Units, of which 82.52% were owned by entities affiliated or controlled by Mr Dondero. Furthermore, I understand that the REIT is to be dissolved which means that if the Put Option is not exercised before that point, then, according to the Seyfarth Letter, this will result in a US $9 million "inappropriate windfall to both Dugaboy and Mr Dondero".

197. As explained in the Seyfarth Letter at MP1/ page 360:

"The significance of the Put Option at that time is that the Class B non-voting Units could be treated for valuation purposes as equivalent to the Class A voting Units, which were owned or controlled by Mr. Dondero. Therefore, for purposes of determining their fair market value on the date of the charitable contribution, the valuation firm could value them as if they were voting Units unreduced by a 2.9% discount for lack of control. That allowed Dugaboy to claim a charitable deduction in 2019 of $11,505,000, which we assume passed through to Mr. Dondero as the income beneficiary of Dugaboy."

198. It was public information that NHT had declined from a price per unit of $7.67 in December 2019 (when the donation occurred) to $0.20 in August 2024, representing a 99.7% decline. In fact, whilst the figures quoted in the Seyfarth Letter vary slightly, it was calculated that as of 22 November 2024, 1,500,000 Units were only worth $22,500, which is less than 1% of the Put Option value of US $9,285,000. Additionally, NHT disclosed on August 2, 2024 (26 days before I spoke with the Dallas Foundation) in a document titled "Management's Discussion and Analysis of Financial Condition and Results of Operations that there was "a potential risk about [its] ability to continue as a going concern and, therefore, realize its assets and discharge its liabilities in the normal course of business." A copy of the NHT disclosure is attached at MP1/ page 678 - 707. Therefore, the information I disclosed was not "material" or "non-public" and would not have resulted in a violation of U.S. securities laws even if traded upon by Highland Dallas Foundation. This is also confirmed by the Eversheds Memo exhibited at MP1/ page 647 - 650.

199. Furthermore, and with reference to the Seyfarth Letter, it is important to not lose sight of the fact that the Put Option was in effect an interest free loan of US$9,285,000 for Mr Dondero and Dugaboy while the Put Option remains outstanding and unexercised.

200. For the purpose of responding to the JOLs' sanctions applications, I do not expand here on the factual inconsistencies which I have identified between the Vitiello memo and Dondero 1 and Diaz 1, but reserve all my rights to do so during the course of these liquidation proceedings.

201. With respect to paragraph 36 of Dondero 1, my resignation was not abrupt. It was the culmination of actions I had been working toward to create independence between the DAF and Mr Dondero for almost two years. I was not aware of any investigation or any accusation of wrongdoing on my part. The Vitiello memo was finalized after my resignation, not before.

202. With respect to paragraph 37 of Dondero 1, the Skyview services agreement required 180 days' notice to terminate, and was not terminated effective until March 31, 2025. Whilst I have 4 years of investment management experience, DAF also has a wealth of other investment advisors, including:

(a) Investment committee

(b) Investment advisors

(c) Investment houses and banks with investment functions

(d) Real estate advisors

(e) Security and portfolio monitoring

203. With respect to paragraphs 38 to 39 of Dondero 1, Hunter Mountain's interest was sold to a DAF subsidiary based on an independent third-party valuation report and because it was sold to a DAF subsidiary, there was no dissipation of assets.

204. Furthermore, Mr Dondero's proposal that he is a potential buyer of Hunter Mountain is misleading. Mr Dondero's attorneys (Ms Dietsch-Perez at Stinson) have argued that Hunter Mountain owes Dugaboy and other trusts US $65 million in debt obligations. These debt obligations were released by the plain language of a settlement agreement entered into in 2022, although I understand that Mr Dondero disputes this. Given this dispute, it is doubtful whether Mr Dondero would have paid any meaningful amount for Hunter Mountain, outside of credit bidding the debt he believes he is owed.

205. As mentioned above, a valuation study was performed on the Hunter Mountain interests, and the purchase price is in accordance with this valuation study. The seller made an attempt to find other buyers by contacting distressed asset buyers, but there was little interest given that there was a contingent claim in the Highland Bankruptcy that would not be paid out until litigation ceased.

206. For the purpose of responding to the JOLs' sanctions applications, I do not expand further on the issue here but I again reserve all my rights to do so during the course of these liquidation proceedings.

CONCLUSION

207. For the reasons stated above, I respectfully request that the JOLs' sanction application is denied.

ATTORNEYS FOR THE DALLAS FOUNDATION AND CROWN GLOBAL LIFE INSURANCE, LTD.

IN THE UNITED STATES BANKRUPTCY COURT
FOR THE NORTHERN DISTRICT OF TEXAS
DALLAS DIVISION

In re:	§
	§	Chapter 11
HIGHLAND CAPITAL MANAGEMENT, L.P.,	§
	§	Case No. 19-34054-sgj11
Debtor.	§

OBJECTION OF THE DALLAS FOUNDATION AND CROWN GLOBAL LIFE INSURANCE, LTD TO MOTION FOR ENTRY OF AN ORDER PURSUANT TO BANKRUPTCY RULE 9019 AND 11 U.S.C. § 363 APPROVING SETTLEMENT WITH THE HMIT ENTITIES AND AUTHORIZING ACTIONS CONSISTENT THEREWITH
[Related Docket No. 4216]

The Dallas Foundation (the "Foundation"), on behalf of Empower Dallas Foundation ("EDF") and The Okada Family Foundation (the "Okada Foundation"), and Crown Global Life Insurance, Ltd. ("Crown,"), not individually, but solely in respect of Segregated Accounts 30218 & 30219 (the "Segregated Accounts") hereby file this objection (the "Objection") to the Motion (the "9019 Motion") for entry of an order pursuant to sections 105(a) and 363 of title 11 of the United States Code (the "Bankruptcy Code") and Rule 9019 of the Federal Rules of Bankruptcy Procedure (the "Bankruptcy Rules") filed on behalf of Highland Capital Management, L.P., the reorganized debtor (the "Debtor" or "Highland," as applicable) in the above-captioned chapter 11 case (the "Bankruptcy Case"), the Highland Claimant Trust (the "Claimant Trust"), and the Highland Litigation Sub-Trust (the "Litigation Sub-Trust" and together with Highland and the Claimant Trust, the "Movants"), and respectfully states as follows:

I.
PRELIMINARY STATEMENT

1. Through the Motion, the Movants seek approval of a settlement agreement (the "Settlement") purportedly entered into by Movants with Hunter Mountain Investment Trust ("HMIT"), Beacon Mountain LLC ("Beacon Mountain"), Rand Advisors, LLC ("Rand Advisors"), Rand PE Fund I, LP ("Rand PE Fund"), Rand PE Fund Management, LLC ("Rand GP"), Atlas IDF, LP ("Atlas IDF"), and Atlas IDF GP, LLC ("Atlas GP" and together with HMIT, Beacon Mountain, Rand Advisors, Rand PE Fund, Rand GP, and Atlas IDF, the "HMIT Entities"), which Movants describe as "one of the most significant developments in the long-running Highland Bankruptcy Case." Motion, p. 3. As described by Movants, the significance of the settlement rests in the belief that it will bring to an end "protracted and value-destructive litigation that has impeded the Highland Entities' ability to distribute their assets to their constituents and fully implement the Plan." Id.

2. Unfortunately, unbeknownst to the Movants, the Settlement is potentially tainted by the actions of Mark Patrick, the apparent sole manager and director of the HMIT Entities. Specifically, upon information and belief, Mr. Patrick illicitly restructured the ownership of the HMIT Entities in a manner that seems to facilitate the diversion of millions of dollars in assets from the charitable entities that are the beneficial owners of the HMIT Entities. As set forth herein, given the actions of Mr. Patrick and the pending proceedings related thereto, rather than provide the peace sought by Movants, approval of and consummation of the Settlement will most likely result in further litigation both before this Court and in jurisdictions outside of the United States.

3. Further, as set forth in more detail herein, the alleged actions of Mr. Patrick, taken in his capacity as the sole manager or officer of various entities within the charitable organization structure supported by the HMIT Entities and their assets, along with the timing of the Settlement, all establish a cloud of suspicion over the HMIT Entities' entry into the Settlement. Upon information and belief, under the structure illicitly put in place by Mr. Patrick, more than half of the proceeds of the Settlement will flow to an entity formed very recently by Mr. Patrick and based out his personal home, rather than to the Charitable Entities (defined below) who should be receiving such proceeds. Approval of the Settlement would, therefore, also be inequitable at this time.

4. For these reasons, as more fully set forth herein, the 9019 Motion should be denied.

II.
FACTUAL BACKGROUND

5. The lengthy procedural history of this Bankruptcy Case has been well documented in numerous prior pleadings and orders from this Court and is, therefore, not repeated herein. Moreover, the Beneficial Owners do not at this time have sufficient information to either admit or deny the procedural or background allegations set forth in the Motion but admit that those certain publicly available pleadings and orders referenced were filed or entered, as the case may be, on the dates and in the proceedings set forth in the Motion.

A. The Foundation is a Beneficial Owner of the HMIT Entities

6. The HMIT Entities, and their assets, are held and managed for distribution to certain charitable organizations through a Donor Advised Fund (a "DAF") established at the direction of James Dondero in 2011.[1] The DAF was structured as a limited partnership and registered under the name The Charitable DAF Fund, L.P. (the "Fund"). The formation documents for the Fund make clear its charitable purposes and further establish that, while certain non-voting limited partnership interests were nominally held by the Supporting Organizations (defined below), the Charitable Entities (defined below) that they supported were the actual indirect, beneficial owners of the Fund.

7. Specifically, the recitals set forth in its partnership agreement provide that:

> the [Fund] was formed in order to own, operate and make certain investments directly or indirectly on behalf of certain entities exempt from taxation under Section 501(c)(3) of the U.S. Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended (the "Code") and the parties hereto desire for the [Fund] to be for the economic benefit of the Limited Partner and its Indirect Charitable Owners (as defined below) as set forth herein.

Amended and Restated Exempted Limited Partnership Agreement of The Charitable DAF Fund, LP, p. 1. Further, the "Purpose and Powers" of the Fund include investment: "in the sole discretion of the General Partner for the purpose of benefitting, directly or indirectly, the Indirect Charitable Owners." Id., at p. 2, Art. 1.3.

8. Lastly, the partnership agreement specifically provides that the Charitable Entities are: "the indirect equity owners of the Limited Partners, which shall at all times be entities or Organisations exempt from taxation under Section 501(c)(3) of the Code or entities or

[1] As originally structured, the HMIT Entities were wholly owned by their sole member, Charitable DAF Holdings Corp., which is, in turn, indirectly owned by the Fund.

Organisations whose sole beneficiaries are entities or Organisations exempt from taxation under Section 501(c)(3) of the Code." Id. at p. 4, Art. 1.12(b).

9. As a beneficial owner of the HMIT Entities, approval of the Settlement will have a direct, pecuniary impact upon the Charitable Entities, including the Foundation. This is because, as a result of actions believed to have illicitly taken by Mr. Patrick, a significant portion of the economic interests derived by the HMIT Entities from the Settlement will flow to Mr. Patrick rather than the Charitable Entities for whose benefit the Fund was established.

B. The Original Structure and Management of the Fund

10. To achieve certain desired tax treatments, the Fund, a Cayman Islands exempted limited partnership, was structured with a single limited partner, Charitable DAF Holdco, Ltd ("Holdco"), holding 99% of the economic interests in the Fund. Holdco, in turn, was owned through the issuance of participation shares (the "Participation Shares") to: (i) Highland Dallas Foundation, Inc. ("HDFI") (32.787%) for the benefit of the Foundation; (ii) Highland Kansas City Foundation, Inc. ("HKCF") (32.787%) for the benefit of Greater Kansas City Community Foundation ("GKCC Foundation"); (iii) Highland Santa Barbara Foundation, Inc. ("HSBFI") (32.787%) for the benefit of Santa Barbara Foundation ("SB Foundation"); and (iv) HCMLP Charitable Fund ("HCMLP," and, with HDFI, HKCF, and HSBFI, the "Supporting Organizations") (1.639%) for the benefit of The Community Foundation of North Texas ("CFNT," and, with the Foundation, the GKCC Foundation, and the SB Foundation, the "Charitable Entities").

11. The general partner of the Fund, as originally established, Charitable DAF GP, LLC (the "Original GP"), a Delaware limited liability company, held the remaining de minimis economic interest in the Fund. Additionally, to achieve the desired tax treatment as referenced above, the Fund issued to the Orignial GP 100 management shares (the "Management Shares") representing the only voting rights for any and all shareholders. In essence, this structure granted complete control of the Fund to the holder of the Management Shares, which shares have at all material times been held by a single individual as the manager of the Original GP. As a result, the manager of the general partner has substantial control over the entire Fund structure (the "Control Position"). From the inception of the Fund until March 25, 2021, the Control Position was held by Grant Scott.

C. Change of Control in 2021 and Resulting Concerns Regarding Mr. Patrick

12. In March 2021, Mr. Scott indicated his desire to retire from the Control Position. Mr. Patrick offered himself as a replacement to both Mr. Dondero and Mr. Scott. Mr. Patrick had been employed by the Debtor as tax counsel since 2008.[2] He had also provided personal tax advice to Mr. Dondero. Significantly, Mr. Patrick was intimately involved in the creation of the Fund in 2011, including providing advice as to the Fund's structure and in drafting the Fund's governing documents. He was at the time clearly an individual trusted by both Mr. Dondero and Mr. Scott to oversee the DAF and its charitable purposes. Thus, on March 25, 2021, Mr. Scott transferred the Management Shares, and the shares held in Holdco, to Mr. Patrick.

13. There was, initially, no noticeable change in the Fund's management following the transfer to Mr. Patrick. Over time, however, communications from Mr. Patrick and the Fund became less frequent and less substantive when provided. Further, through the Supporting Organizations, the Foundation and Crown became aware that Mr. Patrick had taken or had attempted to take various actions that appeared to be in conflict with the duties owed to the

[2] In February 2021, as part of this Bankruptcy Case, the employment contracts of many of Highland's employees, including Mr. Patrick, were terminated. Mr. Patrick, along with many other of the former back-office employees of the Debtor thereafter became employees of a newly formed company, Skyview Group ("Skyview"), that provides middle and back-office services to various clients.

Charitable Entities as beneficial owners of the Fund. Finally, an initial investigation into these alleged improper actions highlighted a substantial and sudden increase in the costs and expenses borne by the Fund.

i. Mr. Patrick attempts to direct charitable funds to benefit his own family.

14. An early example of these concerns occurred in June 2023. On June 28, 2023, Mr. Patrick attempted to have HDFI "direct $10,000" to Creative HEARTS TX ("CHTX"), a non-profit entity formed just two weeks earlier. Following due diligence, it was discovered that the directors of the CHTX were Mr. Patrick, Darees Patrick and Alyse Patrick (his daughter and wife). Mr. Patrick did not initially disclose either his or his family's involvement with CHTX.

15. When questioned regarding the nature of CHTX and his family's involvement Mr. Patrick represented that the nonprofit was formed to facilitate paying for trainers or speakers on self-defense training for teenage girls. Upon information and belief, Mr. Patrick's expectation was that this would be an annual donation to a "club" at his daughter's school. The grant payment to CHTX was authorized on September 5, 2023, but Mr. Patrick was informed that further payments were unlikely.

ii. Mr. Patrick resigns amidst insider trading concerns.

16. In August 2024, additional concerns arose regarding Mr. Patrick when he attempted to provide advice to the Foundation regarding an asset held directly by the Foundation (the asset in question was held separately from the Fund). Upon information and belief, the information provided was obtained by Mr. Patrick through his employment at Skyview and constituted material non-public information ("MNPI"). On the basis of this MNPI, Mr. Patrick advised the Foundation to exercise a put option it held in the subject asset. Uncomfortable with the nature of the information provided and the "tip" from Mr. Patrick, the Foundation notified Skyview of Mr. Patrick's actions and declined to act upon Mr. Patrick's advice.

17. On October 2, 2024, while his actions were being reviewed by Skyview's internal compliance department, Mr. Patrick abruptly resigned from his position at Skyview. On the same day, Mr. Patrick also terminated Skyview's service agreement with the Fund.

iii. Diversion of assets through the creation of new entities.

18. Through the Control Position, Mr. Patrick also manages the HMIT Entities, including Atlas IDF and its general partner, Atlas GP, which itself is a wholly owned subsidiary of the Fund. The economic beneficiaries of Atlas IDF are EDF and the Okada Foundation as the holders of annuity policies issued by Crown.

19. On February 20, 2025, Mr. Patrick in his capacity as the general partner of Atlas GP, sent a letter to Crown advising of the intention to dissolve Atlas IDF in accordance with the partnership agreement dated November 30, 2015, on the basis of (i) concerns about the long-term availability and viability of back-office support; (ii) unsuccessful efforts to sell certain defaulted Notes (the "HCRE Notes") issued by HCRE Partners (a Dondero affiliate) dated May 7, 2014, in the amount of $2,300,000.00, and May 27, 2014, in the amount of $5,000,000, which notes were held by Atlas IDF; and (iii) the decision by an affiliate of Atlas GP to purchase the HCRE Notes at a price above their appraised value of zero dollars to facilitate an orderly wind-up. At the time, the amounts outstanding on the HCRE Notes, including accumulated interest, was in excess of $13,000,000. The stated intention was to sell the HCRE Notes collectively for $500,000.

20. Crown initially provided consent to the sale and liquidation, but withdrew said consent on February 28, 2025, after being advised of the potential misconduct by Mr. Patrick. That same day, Mr. Patrick sent a further letter to Crown Global responding to the revocation of consent, and noting that: "in addition to the purchase of the 'Notes' for $500,000, we also intend to include a provision in the purchase and sale documents that, if the Notes are repaid in full within 12 months, all amounts received (minus fees and expenses of collection and purchase price) will be remitted to you as the sole limited partner of Atlas IDF, LP."

21. At the time that Mr. Patrick attempted to sell the HCRE Notes, upon information and belief, HCRE had proposed to cure its default and repay the HCRE Notes in full pursuant to a revised amortization schedule. As such, the initial zero valuation and proposed $500,000 sale price disclosed to Crown is troubling. More troubling, however, is the fact that the proposed amortization schedule extends beyond 12 months. In other words, Mr. Patrick's proposed "fix" – i.e. sharing upside in the event the HCRE Notes were repaid within one year – was carefully tailored to give the appearance of addressing Crown's concerns even though Mr. Patrick already knew that the repayment would not occur within the 12 month period.

D. The Cayman Insolvency Proceedings

22. In or around October 2024, the Charitable Entities, acting through counsel and the Supporting Organizations, requested that Mr. Patrick provide financial information explaining certain significant increases in the costs charged to the Fund.[3] In November 2024, having not received any of the requested financial information, the Charitable Entities delivered a letter of no confidence to Mr. Patrick requesting a formal reorganization of the Fund. No response to the no confidence letter was received.

[3] For example, directors' fees increased from $40,000 in 2022 to almost $600,000 in 2023 –and increased even further to around $2.25 million in the first half of 2024 alone. Expenses overall for the first half of 2024 were around $18.3 million – roughly the same amount spent over the entire course of 2023 (i.e. $18.6 million).

23. In January 2025, the Charitable Entities again reached out to Mr. Patrick and invited him to provide a presentation directly to the Charitable Entities and/or the Supporting Organizations to address the concerns raised in the no confidence letter.

24. In February 2025, the Supporting Organizations and the Charitable Entities learned that, almost a year earlier, Mr. Patrick had secretly redomiciled and replaced the Original GP. Specifically, on February 27, 2024, Mr. Patrick caused the formation of CDH GP, Ltd (the "New GP"), which was incorporated in the Caymen Islands (registration number 407515) with its registered office at Campbells Corporate Services Ltd, Floor 4, Willow House, Cricket Square, Grand Cayman KY1-9010, Cayman Islands. Mark Patrick is the sole director of the New GP.

25. In light of the mounting concerns regarding Mr. Patrick's actions, the Supporting Organizations, as holders of the Participation Shares, filed a petition (the "Cayman Petition") in the Cayman Islands requesting that the Fund be liquidated under the supervision of the Cayman Islands court and the appointment of joint official liquidators.

26. The Cayman Petition was served on the Fund on April 24, 2025. The next day, April 25, 2025, counsel purporting to act on behalf of the Fund responded by correspondence to counsel for the petitioning Supporting Organizations. Through this correspondence, the Supporting Organizations and the Charitable Entities that they serve learned for the first time that Mr. Patrick had engaged Kroll Cayman Ltd ("Kroll") to commence a liquidation of the Fund.

27. The Supporting Organizations and Charitable Entities further learned that Mr. Patrick had caused the issuance of new Participation Interests, representing 51.04% of the resulting total of issued Participation Interests, to an entity named DFW Charitable Foundation (the "MP Charity"). The issuance of these new Participation Interests resulted in substantial dilution of the interests beneficially held by the Charitable Entities such that, following the new issuance: (i) HDFI's interest was diluted from 32.787% to 16.05%; (ii) HKCF's interest was diluted from 32.787% to 16.05%; (iii) HSBFI's interest was diluted from 32.787% to 16.05%; and (iv) HCMLP's interest was diluted from 1.639% to 0.80%.

28. Publicly available records indicate that the MP Charity was formed in December 2024 and is based out of Mr. Patrick's home.

29. Additionally, the Supporting Organizations and the Charitable Entities learned that Mr. Patrick had caused the formation of another new entity, CDMCFAD, LLC ("CDMCFAD"), which was secretly inserted into the charitable organization structure. CDMCFAD is nominally a new wholly-owned subsidiary of the Fund, though, like the MP Charity, it is based out of Mr. Patrick's home. Upon information and belief, Mr. Patrick then caused the Fund to transfer its 100% interests in Charitable DAF Fund, LP to CDMCFAD. On March 27, 2025, the Fund's interest in CDMCFAD was purportedly redeemed for proceeds totaling $1,612,192.00 to be distributed to the Fund's participating interest holders.

30. In light of the existing liquidation and with these newly discovered facts, the Supporting Organizations amended their Cayman Petition to request that liquidation of the Fund continue under the supervision of the Cayman courts and that new independent, joint official liquidators be appointed to replace Kroll.

31. Following a hearing to consider the amended Cayman petition, the Cayman court entered its Supervision Order on May 6, 2025, and appointed Margo MacInnis and Sandipan Bhowmik as Joint Official Liquidators.[4]

[4] Mr. Patrick's chosen liquidators, Kroll, withdrew their consent to nomination prior to a May 5, 2025, hearing to consider the amended petition.

III.
OBJECTION

32. Against this backdrop, the proposed Settlement is problematic for a number of reasons. First, the Settlement purports to have been entered into on May 19, 2025, less than two weeks after entry of the Supervision Order by the Cayman court. Unfortunately, it does not appear, however, that Joint Official Liquidators are parties to or have authorized the Settlement. As a result, it is unclear whether Mr. Patrick had the requisite corporate authority to cause the HMIT Entities to enter into the Settlement. Indeed, many of Mr. Patrick's actions, including the insertion of newly created entities into the Fund's structure for the apparent purpose of diverting charitable assets will now be subject to the scrutiny of an independent, court appointed fiduciary and may be subject to claw back or other avoidance actions in the Cayman liquidation or such other tribunal as has jurisdiction.

33. In the event that it is ultimately determined that Mr. Patrick has acted against the fiduciary duties owed to the Fund, the Supporting Organizations, and the Charitable Entities, and the transfers of interests to Mr. Patrick's newly created companies are avoided, the validity of the Settlement will be in question. Thus, even if approved by this Court, consummation of the Settlement is not likely to buy the peace the Debtor now seeks.

34. Additionally, while Mr. Patrick may nominally be the sole manager of each of the HMIT Entities at this time, there is ample evidence that Mr. Patrick has acted and is acting well outside the scope of his authority and fiduciary obligations. Indeed, in light of the above, there is reason to suspect that the HMIT Entities' entry into the Settlement will further a scheme to wrongfully divert charitable funds from their intended beneficiaries. Under such circumstances, approval of the Settlement would be wholly inequitable.

35. For these reasons, the 9019 Motion should be denied.

IV.
ALTERNATIVE RELIEF

36. Alternatively, the Foundation and Crown respectfully request a continuance of the hearing to consider the 9019 Motion, which is currently scheduled for June 25, 2025. As noted above, upon becoming aware of the allegations discussed herein, the Supporting Organizations and Charitable Entities acted diligently to bring their concerns before a court of competent jurisdiction in the Cayman Islands. The Cayman court has granted relief in the form of the Supervision Order and the appointment of the JOLs. The JOLs, however, have held their positions for just over one month. Given the significance of the proposed Settlement to this bankruptcy estate, a short continuance to ensure that the Settlement is not being entered into improperly, without authority, and will not result in further, likely avoidable litigation, would benefit all parties in interest.

V.
CONCLUSION

37. In sum, the Foundation and Crown have received credible evidence that substantial charitable assets have been and are still being diverted from their benefit. The facts and circumstances set forth herein show that, at a minimum, there is good cause to suspect that entry into the Settlement by the HMIT Entities is but another attempt or the conclusion of an existing attempt to divert said charitable assets from their rightful recipients. Further, under these facts and circumstances, there is good cause to suspect that Mr. Patrick lacked the requisite corporate authority to enter into the Settlement or that any apparent authority he holds results from improper actions subject to avoidance and clawback. Under such circumstances, approval and consummation of the Settlement will not result in a cessation of litigation but will instead result in more litigation across multiple forums. For these reasons, the Foundation and Crown, each a beneficial owner of the HMIT Entities, respectfully request that the 9019 Motion be denied.

VI.
PRAYER

WHEREFORE, for the reasons stated above, The Dallas Foundation and Crown Global Insurance, Ltd., request that this Court enter an order (i) denying the 9019 Motion; or, in the alternative, continuing the hearing set for June 25, 2025; and (ii) granting such other and further relief as the Court may deem just and proper.

Respectfully submitted on this 9th day of June 2025.

ATTORNEYS FOR DUGABOY INVESTMENT TRUST

IN THE UNITED STATES BANKRUPTCY COURT
FOR THE NORTHERN DISTRICT OF TEXAS
DALLAS DIVISION

In re	§	Chapter 11
HIGHLAND CAPITAL MANAGEMENT, L.P.,	§	Case No. 19-34054-sgj11
Reorganized Debtor.[1]	§

DUGABOY INVESTMENT TRUST'S DISCOVERY RELATED TO RULE 9019 MOTION

Dugaboy Investment Trust ("Dugaboy"), by and through undersigned counsel, hereby serves the following First Set of Discovery upon Movants Highland Capital Management, L.P. ("HCMLP" or "Debtor"), Highland Claimant Trust ("Claimant Trust") and the Highland Litigation Sub-Trust ("Litigation Trust," and together with the Claimant Trust, the "Trusts," together with HCMLP, the "Movants"), with respect to the Movants' Motion for Entry of an Order Pursuant to Bankruptcy Rule 9019 and 11 U.S.C. § 363 Approving Settlement with the HMIT Entities and Authorizing Actions Consistent Therewith [Dkt. 4216] ("Motion") and requests that the Movants respond to such discovery requests within the time required by the applicable Federal Rules of Bankruptcy Procedure and Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, and that the Movants produce for inspection and copying the documents described below at the offices of counsel identified below.

[1] The Fifth Amended Plan of Reorganization of Highland Capital Management, L.P., (As Modified) [Dkt. 1808] ("Plan"), filed by Highland Capital Management, L.P. ("HCMLP") became effective on August 11, 2021 (the "Effective Date").

REQUESTS FOR PRODUCTION INSTRUCTIONS

1. Dugaboy seeks production of the documents set forth in the numbered requests below that are in the Movants' possession, custody, or control.

2. All electronically stored information shall be produced in a format mutually agreed upon by the parties or ordered by the Court.

3. Each document must be produced in its entirety (including all attachments) and without deletion or excisions, regardless of whether You consider the entire document or only parts thereof to be relevant or responsive to these requests. If you contend that any document or thing cannot be produced in full, produce it to the extent possible, indicating which document or portion of that document is being withheld and the reason it is being withheld. For any document withheld or redacted, in whole or in part, based on a clam of privilege or work product protection, You shall comply with Fed. R. Civ. P. 26(b)(5)(A). Any privilege log shall be produced in a format and according to a schedule mutually agreed upon the parties or ordered by the Court. Any purportedly privileged document containing non-privileged material must be produced, redacting only the portion purportedly privileged. If you file a timely objection to any portion of a request, definition, or instruction, documents responsive to the remaining portion are to be produced.

4. Documents not otherwise responsive to a discovery request shall be produced if such documents relate to the documents which are called for by this discovery request, or if such documents are attached to documents called for by a discovery request and constitute routine transmittal memoranda, letters, comments, evaluations, or similar materials.

5. Any alteration of a responsive document, including any marginal notes, handwritten notes, underlining, date stamps, received stamps, endorsed or filed stamps, drafts, revisions, modifications, and other versions of a final document is a separate and distinct document and it must be produced.

6. All documents shall be produced in a file folder, envelope, or other container in which the documents are kept or maintained by the Movants. If, for any reason, the container cannot be produced, produce copies of all labels or other identifying marks. Documents shall be produced in such fashion as to identify the department, branch, or office in whose possession it was located and, where applicable, the natural person in whose possession it was found and the business address of each document's custodian(s).

7. If any responsive document is believed to have existed but no longer exists or is otherwise unavailable, describe the document, the reason for its loss, destruction, or unavailability, and provide the name of each person believed by the Movants to have present possession, custody, or control of the original and any copy thereof (if applicable). If no document responsive to a request exists, please so state in the Movants' response.

8. These document requests are continuing and therefore require the Movants (or any person acting on the Movants' behalf) to furnish supplemental responses whenever the Movants (or any person acting on the Movants' behalf) obtains additional information called for by the request. Each supplemental response shall be served on Dugaboy no later than thirty (30) days after the discovery the additional information.

9. Capitalized terms not otherwise defined herein shall have their meanings as set forth in the Fifth Amended Plan of Reorganization of Highland Capital Management, L.P. (as Modified) (the "Plan"), and the associated Plan Documents giving meaning and effect to the Plan.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 1:

All communications between any of the Movants and the HMIT Entities (as defined in the Motion) related to the proposed Settlement Agreement (as referenced in the Motion).

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 2:

All communications between any of the Movants and any third-party related to the proposed Settlement Agreement.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 3:

All drafts of the proposed Settlement Agreement.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 4:

All documents supporting the allegation in Paragraph 21 of the Motion that "[i]f the Settlement Agreement is approved, the only unresolved Claims or Equity Interests will be the Daugherty Claim and the Class 11 Equity Interests asserted by two Dondero controlled entities—Dugaboy and Strand—that have no value but, if they did, their aggregate maximum value, if allowed, would not exceed approximately $1.7 million."

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 5:

All documents supporting the allegation in Paragraph 9 of the Motion that "[a]s of the Petition Date, HMIT's capital account balance on account of its Class B/C Interests was $394,630,871.53 (the "HMIT Capital Account Balance"), and the capital account for all Class A Interests in aggregate was $1,983,069.70.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 6:

All documents evidencing the "extensive arm's-length, good faith negotiations over the last several months [related to the proposed Settlement Agreement]" as referenced in Paragraph 20 of the Motion.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 7:

All documents evidencing any efforts that the Movants examined the effect of the potential Settlement Agreement on any of the remaining creditors of the estate.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 8:

All documents evidencing how HMIT's Capital Account Balance, as referenced in Paragraph 21 of the Motion, was calculated.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 9:

All documents related to the Dugaboy Note, as referenced in paragraph 21 of the Motion, including any documents evidencing payments or amounts owed related to the Dugaboy Note.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 10:

Any documents used to answer the Interrogatories in these discovery requests.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 11:

Documents sufficient to show the remaining unpaid amounts of allowed claims in Classes 8 and 9, as that term is defined in the Plan.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 12:

Documents demonstrating any efforts by the Movants to sell or transfer the claims and causes of action that were asserted by the Litigation Trustee in the Amended Kirschner Complaint to any parties.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 13:

Documents demonstrating any efforts by the Movants to sell or transfer the Dugaboy Note to any parties.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 14:

Documents related to or identifying the value of any consideration received or exchanged as part of the proposed Settlement Agreement, including any communications related to the value of any such consideration.

INTERROGATORY INSTRUCTIONS

1. Each Interrogatory shall be answered fully and separately. Interrogatories shall not be combined for the purpose of supplying a common answer thereto, but answers may be supplied by reference to the answer to another interrogatory.

2. Where an Interrogatory cannot be answered in full, state why, and furnish all available information.

3. Whenever the name or identity of a person is requested, state the full name and the home and business address of such person.

4. When knowledge or information in the possession of a party is requested, such request includes knowledge of the party's agents, representatives and, unless privileged, attorneys.

5. Whenever a document is cited in support of a response, identify the specific language in such document which the Movants contend provides support for the Movants' response.

6. These Interrogatories shall be deemed to be continuing, so as to require supplemental answers should the party on whom these Interrogatories are propounded obtain information responsive to these Interrogatories which has not previously been supplied. Such supplemental answers shall be served before trial and within a reasonable time after the information is obtained. The date such additional information was obtained shall be disclosed, and the identity of the source of the additional information shall be specified.

7. If the Movants claim a privilege as to any requested information, specify the privilege claimed, the Communication (as defined below) or other matter as to which such claim is made, the subject of the Communication or other matter and the basis which Defendants assert the claim of privilege.

INTERROGATORIES

INTERROGATORY NO. 1:

Identify who negotiated the proposed Settlement Agreement on behalf of the Movants and the HMIT Entities and identify the dates of such negotiations.

ANSWER:

INTERROGATORY NO. 2:

Identify any efforts to analyze the "complexity, duration, and costs of [the Pending HMIT Litigation]," as stated in Paragraph 29 of the Motion.

ANSWER:

INTERROGATORY NO. 3:

Identify any efforts to sell or transfer the claims and causes of action that were asserted by the Litigation Trustee in the Amended Kirschner Complaint.

ANSWER:

INTERROGATORY NO. 4:

Identify any efforts to sell or transfer the claims and causes of action that were asserted by the Litigation Trustee in the Amended Kirschner Complaint.

ANSWER:

INTERROGATORY NO. 5:

Identify any efforts to sell or transfer the Dugaboy Note to any parties other than the HMIT Entities.

ANSWER:

INTERROGATORY NO. 6:

Explain the basis for the Movants' contention in Paragraph 21 of the Motion that "the Daugherty Claim and the Class 11 Equity Interests asserted by two Dondero controlled entities—Dugaboy and Strand—[] have no value but, if they did, their aggregate maximum value, if allowed, would not exceed approximately $1.7 million."

ANSWER:

INTERROGATORY NO. 7:

Identify all consideration received by any parties as part of the proposed Settlement Agreement and identify the monetary value of all non-monetary consideration received as part of the proposed Settlement Agreement.

RESPONSES AND OBJECTIONS TO DUGABOY INVESTMENT TRUST'S DISCOVERY RELATED TO RULE 9019 MOTION

Highland Capital Management, L.P. ("HCMLP"), the Highland Claimant Trust (the "Claimant Trust") and the Highland Litigation Sub-Trust (the "Litigation Trust," and together with HCMLP and the Claimant Trust, the "Movants") hereby respond and object to Dugaboy Investment Trust's Discovery Related to Rule 9019 Motion (each, a "Request," and collectively, the "Requests"), served by the Dugaboy Investment Trust ("Dugaboy"). The Movants' responses and objections to the Requests (each, a "Response," and collectively, the "Responses") are made pursuant to Federal Rules of Civil Procedure ("FRCP") 26, 33, and 34, as made applicable in bankruptcy cases pursuant to Federal Rules of Bankruptcy Procedure 7026, 7033, and 7034.

GENERAL OBJECTIONS

Unless otherwise specified, the following general objections and caveats are applicable to each and every Response and are incorporated into each Response as though set forth in full:

1. The Movants object to the Requests to the extent they seek information or documents that are protected from discovery by the attorney-client privilege, the attorney work product doctrine or any other privilege or immunity. The inadvertent disclosure or production of any document that is protected from discovery by any privilege or immunity shall not constitute a waiver of any such privilege or immunity. The Movants' agreement to produce documents shall be construed to mean non-privileged documents.

2. The Movants object to the Requests to the extent they request information that is not reasonably or readily available to it, in their possession, custody or control, or is more readily available to Dugaboy from another source or for which the burden of obtaining such information is not substantially greater for Dugaboy than it is for the Movants.

3. The Movants object to the Requests to the extent they call for legal conclusions and/or legal analyses.

4. The Movants object to the Requests to the extent they seek information that is not relevant to the parties' claims or defenses or disproportionate to the needs of the case. See Fed. R. Civ. P. 26(b)(1).

5. All specific responses to the Requests are provided without waiver of, and with express reservation of (a) all objections as to competency, relevancy, materiality, and admissibility of the responses and the subject matter thereof as evidence for any purpose in any further proceedings in this matter; (b) all privileges, including the attorney-client privilege and work product doctrine; (c) the right to object to the use of such responses, or the subject matter thereof, on any ground in any further proceeding in this action; and (d) the right to object on any ground at any time to a demand or request for further responses to these or any other discovery requests or other discovery proceedings.

6. The Movants object to the Requests to the extent they seek to expand on or conflict with Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, the Federal Rules of Bankruptcy Procedure and/or the Local Rules of the Bankruptcy Court for the Northern District of Texas.

7. The Movants object to the Requests to the extent they seek information to which Dugaboy is not entitled under the terms of the Plan or the Claimant Trust Agreement.

8. The Movants' agreement to produce documents with respect to a specific Request shall not be construed as a representation that such documents actually exist or are within the Movants' possession, custody or control.

9. These General Objections and Responses shall be deemed to be incorporated by reference into the Specific Responses and Objections set forth below.

SPECIFIC RESPONSES AND OBJECTIONS TO REQUESTS FOR PRODUCTION OF DOCUMENTS

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 1:

All communications between any of the Movants and the HMIT Entities (as defined in the Motion) related to the proposed Settlement Agreement (as referenced in the Motion).

RESPONSE:

Subject to the General Objections, the Movants will conduct a reasonable search for, and produce, non-privileged documents responsive to this Request.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 2:

All communications between any of the Movants and any third-party related to the proposed Settlement Agreement.

RESPONSE:

Subject to the General Objections, the Movants will conduct a reasonable search for, and produce, non-privileged documents responsive to this Request.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 3:

All drafts of the proposed Settlement Agreement.

RESPONSE:

Subject to the General Objections, the Movants will conduct a reasonable search for, and produce, non-privileged documents responsive to this Request.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 4:

All documents supporting the allegation in Paragraph 21 of the Motion that "[i]f the Settlement Agreement is approved, the only unresolved Claims or Equity Interests will be the Daugherty Claim and the Class 11 Equity Interests asserted by two Dondero controlled entities—Dugaboy and Strand—that have no value but, if they did, their aggregate maximum value, if allowed, would not exceed approximately $1.7 million."

RESPONSE:

Subject to the General Objections, the Movants will conduct a reasonable search for, and produce, non-privileged documents responsive to this Request.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 5:

All documents supporting the allegation in Paragraph 9 of the Motion that "[a]s of the Petition Date, HMIT's capital account balance on account of its Class B/C Interests was $394,630,871.53 (the "HMIT Capital Account Balance"), and the capital account for all Class A Interests in aggregate was $1,983,069.70.

RESPONSE:

Subject to the General Objections, the Movants will conduct a reasonable search for, and produce, non-privileged documents responsive to this Request and refer to the information provided in Response to Request for Production No. 4.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 6:

All documents evidencing the "extensive arm's-length, good faith negotiations over the last several months [related to the proposed Settlement Agreement]" as referenced in Paragraph 20 of the Motion.

RESPONSE:

Subject to the General Objections, the Movants will conduct a reasonable search for, and produce, non-privileged documents responsive to this Request and refer to the information provided in Responses to Request for Production Nos. 1 and 3.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 7:

All documents evidencing any efforts that the Movants examined the effect of the potential Settlement Agreement on any of the remaining creditors of the estate.

RESPONSE:

Subject to the General Objections, the Movants will conduct a reasonable search for, and produce, non-privileged documents responsive to this Request.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 8:

All documents evidencing how HMIT's Capital Account Balance, as referenced in Paragraph 21 of the Motion, was calculated.

RESPONSE:

Subject to the General Objections, the Movants will conduct a reasonable search for, and produce, non-privileged documents responsive to this Request and refer to the information provided in Response to Requests for Production Nos. 4 and 5.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 9:

All documents related to the Dugaboy Note, as referenced in paragraph 21 of the Motion, including any documents evidencing payments or amounts owed related to the Dugaboy Note.

RESPONSE:

The Movants object to Request No. 9 on the grounds that it is overly broad, unduly burdensome, not proportional to the needs of the case, and not relevant to the parties' claims or defenses. See Fed. R. Civ. P. 26(b)(1). Subject to the General Objections and these Specific Objections, the Movants will conduct a reasonable search for, and produce, non-privileged documents responsive to this Request.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 10:

Any documents used to answer the Interrogatories in these discovery requests.

RESPONSE:

The Movants object to Request No. 10 on the grounds that it is overly broad and unduly burdensome. Subject to the General Objections and these Specific Objections, the Movants will conduct a reasonable search for, and produce, non-privileged documents responsive to this Request.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 11:

Documents sufficient to show the remaining unpaid amounts of allowed claims in Classes 8 and 9, as that term is defined in the Plan.

RESPONSE:

Subject to the General Objections, the Movants will conduct a reasonable search for, and produce, non-privileged documents responsive to this Request.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 12:

Documents demonstrating any efforts by the Movants to sell or transfer the claims and causes of action that were asserted by the Litigation Trustee in the Amended Kirschner Complaint to any parties.

RESPONSE:

Subject to the General Objections, there are no documents responsive to this Request.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 13:

Documents demonstrating any efforts by the Movants to sell or transfer the Dugaboy Note to any parties.

RESPONSE:

Subject to the General Objections, the Movants will conduct a reasonable search for, and produce, non-privileged documents responsive to this Request and refer to the information provided in Response to Request for Production No. 9.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 14:

Documents related to or identifying the value of any consideration received or exchanged as part of the proposed Settlement Agreement, including any communications related to the value of any such consideration.

RESPONSE:

Subject to the General Objections, the Movants will conduct a reasonable search for, and produce, non-privileged documents responsive to this Request.

RESPONSES AND OBJECTIONS TO INTERROGATORIES

INTERROGATORY NO. 1:

Identify who negotiated the proposed Settlement Agreement on behalf of the Movants and the HMIT Entities and identify the dates of such negotiations.

RESPONSE:

The Settlement Agreement was negotiated by James P. Seery, Jr. on behalf of the Movants and Mark Patrick on behalf of the HMIT Entities over the course of multiple in-person, telephonic and video conference meetings, and exchanges of draft Settlement Agreements, commencing on or around April 3, 2025, the specific dates of which are reflected in the Movants' document production.

INTERROGATORY NO. 2:

Identify any efforts to analyze the "complexity, duration, and costs of [the Pending HMIT Litigation]," as stated in Paragraph 29 of the Motion.

RESPONSE:

Subject to the General Objections, the Movants refer to all court filings in connection with the Pending HMIT Litigation, including, but not limited to, the witness and exhibit lists in connection with the First Motion for Leave, the order denying the First Motion for Leave, the briefs filed in connection with the appeal, and the legal invoices of Movants' counsel in connection with such matters, all of which Movants will produce in response to the Requests for Production.

INTERROGATORY NO. 3:

Identify any efforts to sell or transfer the claims and causes of action that were asserted by the Litigation Trustee in the Amended Kirschner Complaint.

RESPONSE:

Except as contemplated by Settlement Agreement, the Movants have not attempted to sell or transfer the claims and causes of action that were asserted by the Litigation Trustee in the Amended Kirschner Complaint.

INTERROGATORY NO. 4:

Identify any efforts to sell or transfer the claims and causes of action that were asserted by the Litigation Trustee in the Amended Kirschner Complaint.

RESPONSE:

The Movants object to Interrogatory No. 4 on the grounds that it is identical to and duplicative of Interrogatory No. 3.

INTERROGATORY NO. 5:

Identify any efforts to sell or transfer the Dugaboy Note to any parties other than the HMIT Entities.

RESPONSE:

Subject to the General Objections, the Movants refer to the information provided in Response to Request for Production Nos. 9 and 13.

INTERROGATORY NO. 6:

Explain the basis for the Movants' contention in Paragraph 21 of the Motion that "the Daugherty Claim and the Class 11 Equity Interests asserted by two Dondero controlled entities—Dugaboy and Strand—[] have no value but, if they did, their aggregate maximum value, if allowed, would not exceed approximately $1.7 million."

RESPONSE:

Subject to the General Objections, the Movants refer to the information provided in Response to Request for Production Nos. 4 and 5.

INTERROGATORY NO. 7:

Identify all consideration received by any parties as part of the proposed Settlement Agreement and identify the monetary value of all non-monetary consideration received as part of the proposed Settlement Agreement.

RESPONSE:

Subject to the General Objections, in response to Interrogatory No. 7, the Movants refer to the Settlement Agreement, which sets forth all consideration received by any parties as part of the Settlement Agreement.

THE HIGHLAND CLAIMANT TRUST AND HIGHLAND LITIGATION SUB-TRUST'S RESPONSES AND OBJECTIONS TO DUGABOY INVESTMENT TRUST'S FIRST SET OF DISCOVERY

[1] Highland's last four digits of its taxpayer identification number are (8357). The headquarters and service address for Highland is 100 Crescent Court, Suite 1850, Dallas, TX 75201.

The Highland Claimant Trust (the "Claimant Trust") and the Highland Litigation Sub-Trust (the "Litigation Trust," and together with the Claimant Trust, the "Trusts") hereby respond and object to Dugaboy Investment Trust's First Set of Discovery (each, a "Request," and collectively, the "Requests"),[2] served by the Dugaboy Investment Trust ("Dugaboy"). The Trusts' responses and objections to the Requests (each, a "Response," and collectively, the "Responses") are made pursuant to Federal Rules of Civil Procedure ("FRCP") 26, 33, and 34, as made applicable in bankruptcy cases pursuant to Federal Rules of Bankruptcy Procedure 7026, 7033, and 7034.

GENERAL OBJECTIONS

Unless otherwise specified, the following general objections and caveats are applicable to each and every Response and are incorporated into each Response as though set forth in full:

1. These Responses are based upon information presently known and ascertained by the Trusts.

2. The Trusts object to the Requests to the extent they seek information or documents that are protected from discovery by the attorney-client privilege, the attorney work product doctrine or any other privilege or immunity. The inadvertent disclosure or production of any document that is protected from discovery by any privilege or immunity shall not constitute a waiver of any such privilege or immunity. The Trusts' agreement to produce documents shall be construed to mean non-privileged documents.

3. The Trusts object to the Requests to the extent they request information that is not reasonably or readily available to them, in their possession, custody or control, or is more readily available to Dugaboy from another source or for which the burden of obtaining such information is not substantially greater for Dugaboy than it is for the Trusts.

[2] Capitalized terms not otherwise defined shall take on the meaning ascribed thereto in the Requests.

4. The Trusts object to the Requests to the extent they call for legal conclusions and/or legal analyses.

5. The Trusts object to the Requests to the extent they seek information that is not relevant to the parties' claims or defenses or not proportional to the needs of the case. See Fed. R. Civ. P. 26(b)(1).

6. All specific responses to the Requests are provided without waiver of, and with express reservation of (a) all objections as to competency, relevancy, materiality, and admissibility of the responses or information disclosed in connection therewith, and the subject matter thereof, as evidence for any purpose in any further proceedings in this matter or other matters or discovery proceedings; (b) all privileges, including the attorney-client privilege and work product doctrine; (c) the right to object on any ground at any time to a demand or request for further responses or information relating thereto to these or any other discovery requests in any other matters or discovery proceedings; and (d) the right to assert any defense to any claim arising under or relating to a request for the disclosure of information produced in response to, or relating to, the Requests in any other matters.

7. The Trusts object to the Requests to the extent they seek to expand on or conflict with Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, the Federal Rules of Bankruptcy Procedure and/or the Local Rules of the Bankruptcy Court for the Northern District of Texas.

8. The Trusts' agreement to produce documents with respect to a specific Request shall not be construed as a representation that such documents actually exist or are within the Trusts' possession, custody or control.

9. The Trusts generally rely on the Plan, the Claimant Trust Agreement, and the Litigation Sub-Trust Agreement.

10. These General Objections and Responses shall be deemed to be incorporated by reference into the Specific Responses and Objections set forth below.

SPECIFIC RESPONSES AND OBJECTIONS TO REQUESTS FOR PRODUCTION OF DOCUMENTS

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 1:

Documents sufficient to show all money or payments made or transferred into or out of Highland Capital Management, L.P., the Highland Claimant Trust, the Highland Litigation Sub-Trust, or the Highland Indemnity Trust.

RESPONSE:

The Trusts object to Request No. 1 on the grounds that it is overly broad, unduly burdensome, not proportional to the needs of the case, and not relevant to the parties' claims or defenses. See Fed. R. Civ. P. 26(b)(1).

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 2:

Any documents used to answer the Interrogatories in Dugaboy's First Set of Discovery.

RESPONSE:

The Trusts object to Request No. 2 on the grounds that it is overly broad, unduly burdensome, not proportional to the needs of the case, and not relevant to the parties' claims or defenses. See Fed. R. Civ. P. 26(b)(1). Subject to the General Objections and these Specific Objections, the Trusts will conduct a reasonable search for, and produce, non-privileged documents responsive to this Request.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 3:

All correspondence related to any money or payments made or transferred into or out of Highland Capital Management, L.P., the Highland Claimant Trust, the Highland Litigation Sub-Trust, or the Highland Indemnity Trust.

RESPONSE:

The Trusts object to Request No. 3 on the grounds that it is overly broad, unduly burdensome, not proportional to the needs of the case, and not relevant to the parties' claims or defenses. See Fed. R. Civ. P. 26(b)(1).

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 4:

Documents sufficient to identify any assets currently held by Highland Capital Management, L.P., the Highland Claimant Trust, the Highland Litigation Sub-Trust, or the Highland Indemnity Trust.

RESPONSE:

The Trusts object to Request No. 4 on the grounds that it is not proportional to the needs of the case, and not relevant to the parties' claims or defenses. See Fed. R. Civ. P. 26(b)(1). Subject to the General Objections and these Specific Objections, the Trusts refer to, and incorporate by reference, their Response to Interrogatory No. 3, which includes a list of the assets of Highland Capital Management, L.P., the Highland Litigation Sub-Trust, the Highland Indemnity Trust, and the Highland Claimant Trust as of the most recent month end. See Exhibit A, attached hereto and included in the Trusts' production.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 5:

Documents sufficient to identify any expenses or liabilities (fixed or contingent) of Highland Capital Management, L.P., the Highland Claimant Trust, the Highland Litigation Sub-Trust, or the Highland Indemnity Trust.

RESPONSE:

The Trusts object to Request No. 5 on the grounds that it is vague and ambiguous, not relevant to the parties' claims or defenses, and not proportional to the needs of the case. See Fed. R. Civ. P. 26(b)(1).

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 6:

All documents supporting the allegations made in the motion of the Highland Claimant Trust and the Highland Litigation Sub-Trust for entry of an order further extending the duration of the Trusts through and including August 11, 2026 [Bankr. Dkt. 4213] ("Motion").

RESPONSE:

The Trusts object to Request No. 6 on the grounds that it is vague and ambiguous, not relevant to the parties' claims or defenses, and not proportional to the needs of the case. See Fed. R. Civ. P. 26(b)(1). Subject to the General Objections and these Specific Objections, the Trusts will conduct a reasonable search for, and produce, non-privileged documents responsive to this Request. In addition to these documents, the Trusts refer Dugaboy to the docket in the Bankruptcy Case, along with other publicly available documents from related adversary, civil, and appellate proceedings.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 7:

All documents supporting the allegation in paragraph 1 of the Motion, stating that "Since the Effective Date, the Trusts have successfully monetized most of the Claimant Trust's assets, made substantial distributions to beneficiaries with vested interests in the Claimant Trust, managed substantial litigation, funded the Indemnity Trust, and reduced staff and expenses commensurate with reduced operations."

RESPONSE:

The Trusts object to Request No. 7 on the grounds that it is vague and ambiguous, not relevant to the parties' claims or defenses, and not proportional to the needs of the case. See Fed. R. Civ. P. 26(b)(1). Subject to the General Objections and these Specific Objections, the Trusts will conduct a reasonable search for, and produce, non-privileged documents responsive to this Request.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 8:

All documents supporting the allegation in paragraph 2 of the Motion, stating that "Among other things, the Trusts must still monetize a limited number of assets, resolve one disputed claim, and settle or otherwise dispose of certain Estate Claims."

RESPONSE:

The Trusts object to Request No. 8 on the grounds that it is vague and ambiguous, not relevant to the parties' claims or defenses, and not proportional to the needs of the case. See Fed.

R. Civ. P. 26(b)(1). The Trusts further object to this Request to the extent that it is redundant to other Requests, including Request Nos. 4, 6, 7, 10, and 11. Subject to the General Objections and these Specific Objections, the Trusts refer to, and incorporate by reference, their Responses to Request No. 4 and Interrogatory Nos. 3 and 4, and will conduct a reasonable search for, and produce, non-privileged documents responsive to this Request.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 9:

All documents supporting the allegation in paragraph 11 of the Motion, stating that "Among many other things, the Claimant Trust has successfully monetized most of its assets, managed substantial litigation, and made distributions to the Claimant Trust Beneficiaries substantially exceeding expectations."

RESPONSE:

The Trusts object to Request No. 9 on the ground that it is not proportional to the needs of the case. See Fed. R. Civ. P. 26(b)(1). Subject to the General Objections and this Specific Objection, the Trusts will conduct a reasonable search for, and produce, non-privileged documents responsive to this Request.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 10:

All documents supporting the allegation in paragraph 12 of the Motion, stating that "For example, a limited number of assets remain to be monetized."

RESPONSE:

The Trusts object to Request No. 10 on the grounds that it is redundant to other Requests, including Request Nos. 4, 6, 7, and 8. Subject to the General Objections and these Specific Objections, the Trusts refer to, and incorporate by reference, their Response to Request No. 4 and Interrogatory No. 3, and will conduct a reasonable search for, and produce, non-privileged documents responsive to this Request.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 11:

All documents supporting the allegation in paragraph 14 of the Motion, stating that "Ultimately, the Trusts cannot complete the forgoing tasks by August 11, 2025; an extension of the Trusts is therefore required."

RESPONSE:

The Trusts object to Request No. 11 on the ground that it is not proportional to the needs of the case. See Fed. R. Civ. P. 26(b)(1). Subject to the General Objections and this Specific Objection, the Trusts refer to, and incorporate by reference, their Response to Request No. 4 and Interrogatory No. 3, and will conduct a reasonable search for, and produce, non-privileged documents responsive to this Request.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 12:

All documents used to create the Post-Confirmation Reports for the Highland Claimant Trust or Highland Capital Management, L.P. filed with the United States Bankruptcy Court.

RESPONSE:

The Trusts object to Request No. 12 on the grounds that it is overly broad and unduly burdensome, and not relevant to the parties' claims or defenses. See Fed. R. Civ. P. 26(b)(1). The Trusts further object to this Request on the ground that it seeks information that is protected from discovery by the attorney-client privilege and the attorney work product doctrine.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 13:

Documents sufficient to show the remaining unpaid amounts of allowed claims in Class 9, as that term is defined in the Plan.

RESPONSE:

Subject to the General Objections, the Trusts will conduct a reasonable search for, and produce, non-privileged documents responsive to this Request.

RESPONSES AND OBJECTIONS INTERROGATORIES

INTERROGATORY NO. 1:

Identify any payments or distributions made by Highland Capital Management, L.P., the Highland Claimant Trust, the Highland Litigation Sub-Trust, or the Highland Indemnity Trust, including the date of the payments or distributions, who the payments or distributions were made to, and any documents evidencing the payments or distributions.

RESPONSE:

The Trusts object to Interrogatory No. 1 on the grounds that it is overly broad, unduly burdensome, not proportional to the needs of the case, and not relevant to the parties' claims or defenses. See Fed. R. Civ. P. 26(b)(1). Subject to the General Objections and these Specific Objections, the Trusts refer Dugaboy to the post-confirmation reports produced in response to the Requests for Production.

INTERROGATORY NO. 2:

Identify any payments or deposits of money made into the Highland Litigation Sub-Trust or the Highland Indemnity Trust, including the date of the payments or deposits, who made the payments or deposits, the reason the payments or deposits were made, and any documents evidencing the payments or deposits.

RESPONSE:

The Trusts object to Interrogatory No. 2 on the grounds that it is overly broad, unduly burdensome, not proportional to the needs of the case, and not relevant to the parties' claims or defenses. See Fed. R. Civ. P. 26(b)(1). Subject to the General Objections and these Specific Objections, the Trusts refer Dugaboy to their Response to Interrogatory No. 3, which contains a list of the assets currently held by the Highland Litigation Sub-Trust.

INTERROGATORY NO. 3:

Identify any assets currently held by the Highland Litigation Sub-Trust or the Highland Indemnity Trust and identify the value of those assets.

RESPONSE:

The Trusts object to Interrogatory No. 3 on the grounds that it is not proportional to the needs of the case and not relevant to the parties' claims or defenses. See Fed. R. Civ. P. 26(b)(1). Subject to the General Objections and these Specific Objections, the Trusts refer Dugaboy to Exhibit A attached hereto and contained in the Trusts' production, which lists the assets of the Highland Litigation Sub-Trust, Highland Capital Management, L.P., the Highland Claimant Trust, and the Highland Indemnity Trust.

INTERROGATORY NO. 4:

Identify any liabilities currently held by the Highland Litigation Sub-Trust or the Highland Indemnity Trust and identify the value of those assets.

RESPONSE:

The Trusts object to Interrogatory No. 4 on the grounds that it is vague and ambiguous, not proportional to the needs of the case, and not relevant to the parties' claims or defenses. See Fed. R. Civ. P. 26(b)(1). Subject to the General Objections and these Specific Objections, the Trusts refer Dugaboy to the Motion for Entry of an Order Pursuant to Bankruptcy Rule 9019 and 11 U.S.C. § 363 Approving Settlement with the HMIT Entities and Authorizing Actions Consistent Therewith [Docket No. 4216], pursuant to which Highland seeks to enter into a settlement with Hunter Mountain Investment Trust (the "HMIT Settlement").

INTERROGATORY NO. 5:

Identify any efforts that have been undertaken to monetize all remaining of the assets of the Highland Capital Management, L.P., the Highland Claimant Trust, the Highland Litigation Sub-Trust, or the Highland Indemnity Trust, including, but not limited to, identifying the actions taken, the date of such actions, and the current status of the monetization efforts.

RESPONSE:

The Trusts object to Interrogatory No. 5 on the grounds that it is overly broad, unduly burdensome, not proportional to the needs of the case, and not relevant to the parties' claims or defenses. See Fed. R. Civ. P. 26(b)(1). Subject to the General Objections and these Specific Objections, the Trusts refer Dugaboy to, and incorporate by reference, the information provided in Exhibit A, attached hereto and contained in the Trusts' production in response to the Requests for Production. The Trusts further refer Dugaboy to the Caris Life Sciences, Inc. Form S-1 and Amendment No. 1 to Form S1, the Confidentiality and Nondisclosure Agreement related to the "Korea" entity, the HCM Korea Overview presentations and "HC PEF Opportunity" slide deck, the Indicative Sales Agreement related to the SK Telecom CS T1 Co., Ltd. entity, and several documents related to the "Dugaboy Note", all of which are included in the Trusts' production.

INTERROGATORY NO. 6:

Identify any efforts that have been taken to monetize any remaining Class 8 or Class 9 claims or causes of action held by Highland Capital Management, L.P., the Highland Claimant Trust, the Highland Litigation Sub-Trust, or the Highland Indemnity Trust, including, but not limited to, identifying the actions taken, the date of such actions, and the current status of the monetization efforts.

RESPONSE:

The Trusts object to Interrogatory No. 6 on the grounds that it is nonsensical as drafted, overly broad, unduly burdensome, not proportional to the needs of the case, vague and ambiguous, and not relevant to the parties' claims or defenses. See Fed. R. Civ. P. 26(b)(1). Subject to the General Objections and these Specific Objections, the Trusts refer Dugaboy to their Response to Request for Production No. 9, the information provided in Exhibit A, and the HMIT Settlement.

INTERROGATORY NO. 7:

Identify the amounts of all reserves currently held in the Disputed Claims Reserve (as defined in the Claimant Trust Agreement).

RESPONSE:

Subject to the General Objection, in response to Interrogatory No. 7, the Trusts identify the following amounts as of May 31, 2025, which are materially unchanged since such date:

- Bank cash of $2,786.65

- Treasury bills maturing July 31, 2025 with a market value of $2,663,386.92

The Trusts further refer to the May 2025 brokerage statement produced in response to the Requests for Production.

[1] Does not include cash, restricted cash, or treasury holdings, nor does it include assets that are either diminimus in value or non-economic. The "Notes" described below accrue interest at various rates. Accrued, but unpaid interest with respect to these notes is also an asset for the entities.

[2] Appellants are NexPoint Diversified Real Estate Trust and NHF TRS, LLC. Appellees are Joshua N. Terry, Acis Capital Management, LP, and Brigade Capital Management, LP. Each of the Appellants had previously filed counterclaims against the Appellees in the Southern Disctrict of New York, alleging among other things, breach of fiduciary duty and mismanagement of the Acis CLOs. These claims were dismissed with the Court finding that the counterclaims were meritless and failed to state viable causes of action. The order dismissing the counterclaims is the subject of the on-going appeal, for which the opening brief of Appellants was filed June 6, 2025. Funds are currently reserved at Acis CLO 2015-6, Ltd., pending the resolution of the appeal. Highland CLO Funding, Ltd. as the approximately 87% holder of subordinated notes of Acis CLO 2015-6, Ltd., is the largest economic stakeholder in Acis CLO 2015-6, Ltd. Highland CLO Funding, Ltd. is also obligated to remit to Highland Capital Management, LP a percentage of any receipts received on account of the Acis CLO 2015-6, Ltd. subordinated notes.

[3] Highland Capital Management, LP owns 100% of the shares outstanding of HCMK. HCMK is a South Korea-domiciled entity that is the co-general partner and a limited partner of a private equity-style fund and related special purpose entities. Such entities hold minority interests in Caris Life Sciences, Inc., a US-based company that filed a registration statement on Form S-1 with the SEC on May 23, 2025, signifying its intention to go public with an initial public offering. The company has applied to list its shares on the Nasdaq Global Select Market under the ticker symbol "CAI".

MR. LANG: Michael Lang for Dugaboy Investment Trust, and I am in Dallas.

MR. PHILLIPS: Louis M. Phillips, Kelly Hart, representing -- sitting in, defending Mr. Raver, representing Hunter Mountain Investment Trust, and I'm in New Mexico.

MR. LOIGMAN: This is Robert Loigman of Quinn, Emanuel representing the Highland Litigation Trustee. And I am in New York.

MR. CURRY: And this is David Curry from Okin, Adams, Bartlett & Curry, on behalf of the Dallas Foundation and Crown Global Insurance, LTD, and I am in Houston.

THE REPORTER: Mr. Raver, at this time please raise your right hand to be sworn in.

(The witness was sworn)

THE WITNESS: I do.

THE REPORTER: Thank you.

Please proceed, Counsel.

SHAWN RAVER,

having been first duly sworn, testified as follows:

EXAMINATION

BY MR. LANG:

Q. Please state your name for the record.

A. Shawn Raver.

Q. Mr. Raver, how are you employed?

A. I'm employed by CDM CFAD, LLC.

Q. Can you give me those letters again?

A. Yes. CDM CFAD, LLC.

Q. And what does that LLC do?

A. It is basically a charitable investment, you know, fund, for a lack of a better word. But, you know, charitable investment structure.

Q. And how is CDM CFAD, LLC related to Hunter Mountain?

MR. MORRIS: Objection to the form of the question.

A. So Hunter Mountain would be an affiliate several layers below, so indirect subsidiary.

Q. (By Mr. Lang) Were you involved in the negotiation of the proposed settlement agreement in the Highland bankruptcy between Highland Capital Management and Hunter Mountain?

A. Yes. In a supporting role.

Q. Okay. What did you do in a supporting role?

A. You know, just took part in, you know, some meetings, reviewed drafts of the settlement agreement, provided comments, if I had any. You know, that was about it.

Q. And are you aware of when the negotiations began?

A. I became involved early April, right at the beginning of April.

Q. When is the first time -- let me ask this: Who initiated the settlement discussions, if you know?

A. I don't know.

Q. Under the proposed settlement agreement, Hunter Mountain received a promissory note from Highland, the Dugaboy Note. Are you familiar with that?

A. I am.

Q. Okay. Has Hunter Mountain performed any valuation on the Dugaboy note?

A. We had engaged a valuation firm, and it is in process, but it's not finished as of today.

Q. Does Hunter Mountain have an estimated value of the Dugaboy note?

A. No.

Q. What about the Kirschner Claims? Does Hunter Mountain have an estimated value of the Kirschner Claims?

A. Not to my knowledge, no.

Q. Are you familiar with the structure of DAF, the DAF CLO HoldCo?

A. Generally, yes.

Q. Let me try and share my screen here. I hope you guys can see the flowchart. Do you see that?

A. I can.

Q. Is this an accurate depiction of the structure of the DAF, which is the Donor Advised Fund, as it exists today?

A. No.

MR. PHILLIPS: Hold on, Shawn. Objection, Mr. Lang, sort of like and even stronger than Mr. Morris's suggestion that we limit the scope of the deposition to your objection. The court has said that the objection is not -- your client is not able to supplement your objection. We're not going to allow it to be supplemented through evidence outside the scope of the objection. And, in fact, the objection doesn't relate to the Hunter Mountain side at all, that we can figure out. So let's not challenge the authority of Mr. Patrick to sign on behalf of Hunter Mountain. So while Mr. Morris was very lenient in allowing you additional -- in allowing you leeway, we're going to be less so because your objection doesn't address, as we read it, the entire Hunter Mountain side of the settlement.

MR. LANG: Okay. You know, my issue is somebody has raised this issue. And if you're trying to buy peace and to risk the whole thing being unwound because of some capacity issue, I was just trying to get an idea of what changed in this work chart.

MR. PHILLIPS: Well, you didn't raise that as a problem. And the party who raises the problem, we know does not have standing to raise anything in connection with this transaction.

MR. CURRY: Well, Louis, do we want to go ahead and pause and get her on the phone, or do you want to just stop and redo this next week and waste everybody's time?

MR. PHILLIPS: No. I'm telling Mr. Lang that we're going to allow him some leeway but not much because his objection doesn't relate to any claim -- any suggestion or assertion about the Hunter Mountain side of the transaction.

MR. CURRY: Well, I don't want to do his job for him, but don't you think his client has an interest in not having to pay twice?

MR. PHILLIPS: I don't think -- well, his client -- whose client?

MR. CURRY: I said his. We're not being asked to anything. We're trying to make sure the money that's owed to us comes to us, but --

MR. PHILLIPS: I don't know who you are talking about having to pay twice.

MR. LANG: Let's sit through another deposition. That's all.

MR. PHILLIPS: I didn't hear that.

MR. CURRY: We'll just sit through another deposition. You're right.

MR. LANG: We'll sit through another deposition, that's all I was saying.

MR. PHILLIPS: I'm going to give you some leeway, but I'm just telling you, we're not going to allow for supplementation or amendment of the pleadings through evidence.

MR. LANG: Understood.

Q. (By Mr. Lang) So, Mr. Raver, can you tell me what has changed from the flowchart that you see in what I'm going to mark as Exhibit 1? Can you tell me what has changed between the organization chart as it exists here and how it looks today?

(Exhibit No. 1 marked)

A. The ownership of the Charitable DAF Fund, LP has changed.

Q. (By Mr. Lang) Okay. So on this flowchart, Charitable DAF HoldCo, Limited owned 100 percent of Charitable DAF Fund, LP, correct?

A. Yes.

Q. And Charitable DAF HoldCo, Limited no longer owns Charitable DAF Fund, LP?

A. Correct.

Q. Who owns Charitable DAF Fund, LP?

A. CDM CFAD, LLC.

Q. And does Charitable DAF HoldCo, Limited have any ownership interest, direct or indirect, you know, through whatever layers there are? Does it have any ownership interest in Charitable DAF Fund, LP?

MR. PHILLIPS: Object to the form of the question.

A. No.

Q. (By Mr. Lang) Does Charitable DAF Fund, LP still own 100 percent of CLO HoldCo?

A. Yes.

Q. So, currently, just so I'm clear, the structure below -- does the structure below the Charitable DAF Fund, LP generally look the same?

A. Generally, yes, it looks the same.

Q. And then -- and then CDM CFAD, LLC now sits above Charitable DAF Fund, LP?

A. Yes.

Q. And who owns Hunter Mountain? Where do they fall?

A. They are below -- they are below CLO HoldCo, LTD. The direct owner of Hunter Mountain is Beacon Mountain, LLC.

Q. And who owns Beacon Mountain?

A. CLO HoldCo, LLC.

Q. There was a mention in Mr. Klos's deposition about a Liberty or Liberty HoldCo. Where do they fall?

A. It's another 100 percent subsidiary of CLO HoldCo, LTD.

Q. So they go across the line under CLO HoldCo?

MR. PHILLIPS: Object to the form of the question.

A. Yeah, I think that's correct. Yeah.

Q. (By Mr. Lang) Which of -- which of the companies on the work chart on Exhibit 1 is in liquidation?

A. Charitable DAF HoldCo, LTD.

Q. And who currently owns, of the Hunter Mountain entities that are defined in the motion, Rand Advisors, LLC?

A. I'm sorry. Could you repeat that?

Q. There's a list of Hunter Mountain entities in the motion. They include Beacon Mountain, LLC, who we talked about, Rand Advisors, LLC, Rand PE Fund1, LLC, Rand PE Fund Management, Atlas IDF, LP, and Atlas IDF GP, LLC. Are you familiar with those entities?

MR. MORRIS: Object to the form of the question.

A. Yes.

Q. (By Mr. Lang) Okay. So who currently owns Rand Advisors, LLC?

A. Charitable DAF Holdings Corp.

Q. And who currently owns Rand PE Fund1, LP?

A. Atlas IDF, LP.

Q. And who currently owns Rand PE Fund Management, LLC?

A. Charitable DAF Holdings Corp.

Q. And Atlas IDF, LP, who owns that LP?

A. I think -- I always look at it as the sole limited partner as Crown Global, the insurance company on behalf of the two segregated annuity contracts.

Q. And then Atlas IDF GP, LLC is just a general partner of Atlas IDF?

A. Yes.

MR. LANG: I'll pass the witness to Mr. Curry.

MR. PHILLIPS: We have the same objection as Mr. Morris raised to Mr. Curry's participation. And in the spirit of cooperation, we will allow 15 minutes.

MR. CURRY: I'm going to take the time I need, Louis. If you instruct your witness to leave, we can either deal with it today, or we'll just re-notice him, so --

MR. PHILLIPS: That's fine. You can do whatever you do. I've told you what we're going to do, and then you can respond.

MR. CURRY: Are you saying you're going to leave in 15 minutes? Because I'll filibuster with you for 15 minutes and then completely have an obstruction issue.

MR. MORRIS: We're going to allow you to ask questions for 15 minutes and abide by the very agreement that your partner just did.

MR. CURRY: Well, that was on that deposition back then, John. He didn't make that agreement as to this deposition, and we're not agreeing to the limitation. So objection noted. You guys do what you want to do.

EXAMINATION

BY MR. CURRY:

Q. Mr. Raver, my name is David Curry. I'm with the law firm of Okin, Adams. I represent the Dallas Foundation and Crown Global Life Insurance. Are you familiar with those two entities?

A. Generally, yes.

Q. As to Crown Global, I think we were just going through this chart in here. Are you aware of Crown Global's limited partnership interest in this structure?

A. No, not in the structure.

Q. No? How about in the Rand entity structures? So if you go down from Rand to Hunter Mountain.

MR. PHILLIPS: Object to the form of the question.

A. Yeah, can you be a little clearer? I don't know what you mean by Rand.

Q. (By Mr. Curry) Rand Advisors Fund.

A. So Rand Advisors is the investment manager for Atlas IDF, LP.

Q. Atlas IDF, LP, it's a limited partnership?

A. Yes.

Q. And who would be the limited partner?
A. Crown Global.
Q. Thank you. I want to back up just a little bit and just kind of get a little bit of background information, Mr. Raver. You say your current employer is CDM CFAD, LLC?
A. Yes.
Q. Is that correct?
A. Correct.
Q. When did you become employed there?
A. My employment below that -- or for that entity was in March of this year.
Q. March of '25?
A. Correct.
Q. Where were you employed before then?
A. The employment agreement was with Charitable DAF HoldCo, LTD, and it would cover all the DAF entities.
Q. So you were employed by Charitable DAF HoldCo, LTD?
A. Yes.
Q. The entity that's in liquidation in the Caymans?
A. Yes.
Q. Okay. What was your role there?
A. Chief Operating Officer and Associate General Counsel.
Q. Okay. So we talked earlier, and you said -- and just looking here at Exhibit 1 that's up here, you said that this structure is no longer accurate. When did CDM CFAD acquire any interest in Charitable DAF Fund -- I mean, yeah, in the Charitable DAF Fund, LTD? I'm sorry. Alphabet soup. Sometimes it jumbles.

MR. MORRIS: Objection to the form of the question.

MR. PHILLIPS: Same objection.

MR. CURRY: Yeah. Let me rephrase it.

Q. (By Mr. Curry) I believe your testimony earlier was that Charitable DAF Fund, LP is owned by your employer, CDM CFAD, LLC. When did your employer acquire its interest in Charitable DAF Fund, LP?

A. I believe it was in March of 2025. I don't remember the exact date.

Q. Was it before or after you went to work for CDM CFAD?

A. I don't recall.

Q. You don't recall whether you were working for DAF HoldCo or CDM F -- we're just going to call it -- if we say CDM, can we all agree we know what we're talking about? It's a mouthful. Were you working at DAF HoldCo or at CDM when CDM acquired its interest in DAF Fund, LP?

A. I just don't remember the exact date. I don't know if it was concurrently or shortly thereafter that I became --

Q. You were the CEO and General Counsel of DAF HoldCo, that was your testimony, correct?

MR. PHILLIPS: Objection; misstating prior testimony.

MR. CURRY: Then I'm giving him the opportunity to correct it.

MR. PHILLIPS: Objection to the form of the question.

Q. (By Mr. Curry) Up until March '25, your testimony earlier was that you were the CEO and General Counsel for DAF HoldCo, correct?

MR. PHILLIPS: Object to the form of the question.

Q. (By Mr. Curry) Correct? Mr. Raver, go ahead and answer out loud.

A. Correct.

Q. Thank you. Correct. And so you're telling me you don't know whether or not you went to work for the purchaser before or after the asset was sold?

A. I just don't remember the specific dates, and I don't know the --

(Speaking simultaneously)

Q. (By Mr. Curry) Did you represent DAF HoldCo as internal counsel? Did you participate in the negotiation of the transaction transferring ownership of DAF Fund, LP from DAF HoldCo, LTD to CDM?

MR. MORRIS: Objection to the form of the question.

A. I was aware of it but I didn't -- I don't know if I -- I didn't participate, I guess, you know, in the restructuring.

Q. (By Mr. Curry) So as the CEO and General Counsel, your input was not sought into the structure of the transaction or the resulting structure? Is that your testimony, that you had no input?

MR. MORRIS: Objection to the form of the question.

A. I think you said CEO, which I wasn't.

Q. (By Mr. Curry) I'm sorry. COO.

A. Yeah, like I said, I was generally aware of it. I just don't recall, you know, how my input was requested. But, you know, I'm understandably aware of it.

Q. Did you -- as General Counsel, was it your responsibility to engage outside legal services?

MR. MORRIS: Objection to the form of the question.

MR. PHILLIPS: Objection to the form of the question.

Q. (By Mr. Curry) Let me -- all right -- Mr. Raver, tell us your roles at DAF HoldCo. What were your titles?

MR. PHILLIPS: Objection to the form of the question.

A. Chief Operating Officer and Associate General Counsel.

Q. (By Mr. Curry) Okay. In your role as associate General Counsel at Charitable DAF HoldCo, LTD, were your responsibilities -- did they include engagement of outside counsel?

A. At times, yes.

Q. Yes? Were you asked to engage outside counsel in connection with the transaction between DAF HoldCo and CDM?

A. Not that I recall, no.

Q. Okay. Do you know if outside counsel was engaged?

A. I believe so, yes.

Q. Do you know who that was?

A. I don't recall. I'd have to -- yeah, I don't remember.

Q. Okay. Who was the General Counsel?

MR. MORRIS: Objection to the form of the question.

Q. (By Mr. Curry) Okay. So sitting here today, your testimony is that you did not participate in any of the negotiation or drafting of the documents underlying a transaction that occurred in or around March of '25 -- 2025 whereby Charitable DAF HoldCo, LTD -- well, I'm going to say it this way -- whereby CDM CFAD, LLC acquired the sole partnership or the sole ownership interest in Charitable DAF Fund? So that's the transaction. Mr. Raver, do you understand when I say transaction? Are we in agreement in what I'm talking about?

A. I believe so, yes.

Q. Okay. So your testimony today is that in your capacity as Chief Operating Officer or Associate General Counsel with Charitable DAF HoldCo, LTD, that you did not participate in the drafting or the negotiation of the transaction documents; is that correct?

A. I don't think I said I did not participate. Yeah, I don't know -- I was aware of the transaction. I was aware of the concerns and the reasoning for the transaction, and, you know, I was aware of the documents, but I didn't draft them. So I guess I participated. I just don't know how, you know, how much I participated. I was aware of the transaction and, you know, the reasoning for it.

Q. So you were aware of the transaction, aware of the reasoning for it -- and I'm not trying to misstate this; this is a question -- had some familiarity or engagement with the documents or -- because you said something about the documents. I didn't quite hear you. It was broken up. I'm trying to get that clarified.

A. Right. I was aware of the documentation and may have reviewed it. So I guess I participated to some level. I just -- you know, I didn't draft the documents. I didn't engage outside counsel for that transaction.

Q. At the time of that transaction, who owned CDM CFAD, LLC?

A. Tell me the transaction again. I mean, with the redemption or the change of ownership of Charitable DAF Fund?

Q. Yeah. The change in ownership.

A. At that point, CDM was owned 50 percent by Charitable DAF HoldCo, LTD and 50 percent by CDM -- or DFW Charitable Foundation. Sorry.

Q. Okay. And so it was a 50/50 ownership? How did Charitable DAF HoldCo, LTD inquire its interest in CDM CFAD?

MR. MORRIS: Objection to the form of the question.

A. My recollection is it contributed its interest in Charitable DAF Fund, LP.

Q. (By Mr. Curry) So before it contributed its 50 percent ownership interest to Charitable DAF HoldCo, LTD, was it 100 percent owned by DFW Charitable Foundation?

A. I don't recall.

Q. I'm sorry?

A. I don't recall.

Q. Okay. As we sit here today, who owns CDM CFAD?

A. DFW Charitable Foundation.

Q. Just to make sure -- there's a little bit of choppiness, Mr. Raver, when you first start talking. So I'm losing a lot of your -- the beginning of your answers. So if you can just try to be aware of that and speak a little bit more clearly. Was your answer there that currently, now, CDM CFAD is owned by DFW Charitable Foundation? Is that 100 percent?

A. Right. Yes. 100 percent.

Q. And I think you alluded to this earlier when you were asking me to clarify which transaction I was talking about, you mentioned the redemption. By that, did you mean the transaction in which the 50 percent ownership that Charitable DAF HoldCo had in CDM -- well, wait. Let me back up. When was the CDM CFAD transaction? When did that occur?

A. I believe it was the end of March of 2025.

Q. Okay. So let me back up because I want to make sure we're establishing a timeline correctly here.

So before -- before CDM CFAD contributed 50 percent interest into Charitable DAF HoldCo, right, we all agree that the structure for CLO HoldCo, LTD, would you agree, Mr. Raver, that the chart that's on the screen as Exhibit 1 was what was accurate --

MR. PHILLIPS: Object to the form of the question.

Q. (By Mr. Curry) -- before the CDM transaction?

A. Yes.

Q. Okay.

A. Well, let me correct. I think the GP was different. It was a different GP. It was not Charitable DAF GP, LLC at that time, so I need to correct that.

Q. Was it CDH GP, LTD?

A. Yes.

Q. And who formed that entity?

A. It would've been Cayman counsel. I don't know who specifically would have formed it.

Q. Okay. So noting that discrepancy -- there's another issue there -- so the GP's been replaced by a new entity, and -- but before Charitable DAF HoldCo acquires its 50 percent interest in CDM CFAD, it owned 100 percent Charitable DAF Fund, LP, correct?

A. Can you repeat that? I'm sorry.

Q. CDM CFAD, before it was inserted into the structure, so before it contributed its interest and before the March '25 transaction we were talking about before, Charitable DAF Fund, LP was owned 100 percent by Charitable DAF HoldCo, LTD, right, right here as it says on Exhibit 1?

A. Yes.

Q. That's correct as far as you know, right?
A. Yes.
Q. Do you have any reason to believe that it would have been incorrect at anytime before the transaction with CDM CFAD?
A. Not to my knowledge, no.
Q. No? Okay.
MR. PHILLIPS: David, we're three minutes over. I'm going to give you another two minutes. That will give you 20.
MR. CURRY: Thank you, Louis. I should be able to wrap it up. If you give me 25, we'll definitely be done without a fight.
Q. (By Mr. Curry) So, Mr. Raver, when CDM CFAD contributed its 50 percent interest into Charitable DAF, so at this point, Charitable DAF HoldCo would own CDM CFAD, 50 percent; it's jointly owned with DFW Charitable Foundation, correct?
A. Yes.
Q. And so when CDM CFAD contributed its 50 percent interest in itself, did it own any assets?
MR. PHILLIPS: Objection to the form of the question.
Q. (By Mr. Curry) Did CDM own any assets?
A. I'm not sure I understand the question.

Q. Do you know what assets are?
A. Yes.
Q. Do you know what ownership is?
A. Yes.
Q. Did CDM own any assets when it contributed its 50 percent interest into Charitable DAF HoldCo?
A. I don't know.
Q. Okay. CDM, at some point, acquired 100 percent ownership of Charitable DAF Fund, LP, correct?
A. Yes.
Q. Other than its ownership of Charitable DAF Fund, LP, does CDM own any assets, any other assets?
A. No.
Q. I'm sorry. I didn't hear you.
A. No.
Q. No? Okay. So initially -- and I want to make sure I have the steps correct. So initially, we have this chart up here, Exhibit 1. We have Charitable DAF HoldCo. It holds 100 percent Charitable DAF Fund. Charitable DAF HoldCo acquires a 50 percent interest in CDM CFAD and then transfers its interest of Charitable DAF Fund, LP to CDM. And at the end of that transaction, if we are looking back at Exhibit 1, and I want to make sure -- I think I understand this correctly, but I just want to make sure -- that Charitable DAF HoldCo, LTD, once -- so it now owns CDM

CFAD 50 percent, right, and no longer owns an interest in Charitable DAF Fund, LP; is that correct? That's the change that occurred? Before the redemption -- I understand there's another transaction. But before --

MR. PHILLIPS: Object to the form.

Q. (By Mr. Curry) -- the redemption, the structure would have been Charitable DAF HoldCo, LTD owning CDM CFAD, which then held the rights to Charitable DAF Fund, LP. Is that the resulting structure?

A. Yes.

Q. Yes? Okay. So the transaction through which Charitable DAF HoldCo, LTD transferred its interest, you said you were familiar with. What was the consideration that was received by DAF HoldCo for the transfer of the Charitable DAF Fund, LP interest?

A. It would've been the interest in CDM CFAD, LLC.

Q. Right. So they gave 50 percent of all their assets, what they didn't return?

MR. PHILLIPS: Object to the form of the question.

A. I'm not sure I follow. They contributed --

Q. Well, let me walk you through it. DAF owned -- DAF Fund HoldCo owned Fund, LP 100 percent. When CDM was inserted in between it, it owned 50 percent of CDM. The other 50 percent was owned by DFW. So now, because it only owns 50 percent of the company that now owns all of the assets, it owns 50 percent of all the assets. Is that not correct?

MR. PHILLIPS: Object to the form of the question.

A. Yeah. I guess I just don't understand your question.

Q. (By Mr. Curry) What was the consideration given by CDM to DAF HoldCo in exchange for DAF HoldCo's 100 percent interest in DAF Fund, LP? What consideration was provided?

MR. PHILLIPS: Objection to the form of the question.

A. Again, my recollection, and I don't -- clearly don't recall all the steps of the restructuring, but they got an LLC interest for -- in consideration for its contribution.

Q. (By Mr. Curry) An LLC interest in -- sir, help me understand --

MR. PHILLIPS: 24-minute mark, David, so one more minute.

MR. CURRY: Well, sorry. We need some follow-up here.

MR. MORRIS: You're going to have one more minute. That's what we agreed to.

MR. PHILLIPS: Yeah. One more minute.

MR. CURRY: Well, we can press pause and call Judge Jernigan, or you guys can leave, and we'll note on the record that you're leaving over --

MR. MORRIS: You can do whatever you want. We gave you 15. Then we gave you 20. You said you only needed 25. We're done. One more minute. Go ahead.

MR. CURRY: Well, your witness is kind of giving me a little bit of issue here. And I notice that as we get to the questions that are important to what you guys are objecting on us, you're being the most obstructionist. So if you want to continue that, John, then I'm going to assume you're waving your argument to our standing.

(Speaking simultaneously)

MR. MORRIS: Don't be ridiculous, number one.

MR. CURRY: It's absurd as you're being, John.

MR. MORRIS: What I'm trying to do, David, is to abide by the very agreement that we just reached when you said 25 minutes would be enough. I'm just looking at the clock.

MR. CURRY: I just assumed that he would answer the questions. I didn't realize he would say he didn't know what assets were or what it meant to own something. We had to walk through a few more things.

MR. MORRIS: You've got 60 seconds. Go ahead.

MR. CURRY: Yeah.

Q. (By Mr. Curry) You -- Mr. Raver, you said that it was your understanding that what DAF HoldCo received in exchange for its 100 percent ownership of DAF Fund, LP, that the only thing it received was the LLC interest in CDM CFAD?

MR. PHILLIPS: Objection to form the question.

Q. (By Mr. Curry) That's it? That's the consideration? Because I'm trying to make sense of what you said.

A. I'm sorry. Can you repeat the question again? I'm not trying to delay. In all honesty --

Q. It's the same question that I've been asking that I'm trying to get answered.

A. In all honesty I didn't --

(Speaking simultaneously)

MR. PHILLIPS: All right. Let him finish. He's trying to answer.

MR. CURRY: Sorry. Sorry.

A. Yeah, in all honesty, I didn't review this restructuring, for purposes of your questioning because Crown Global has never had any ownership in this structure. So I guess I just wasn't expecting the questions.

Q. (By Mr. Curry) Well, my other client does. Let's back this up. So you worked at Charitable DAF HoldCo, LTD, right?

MR. MORRIS: Last question.

A. I did.

Q. (By Mr. Curry) It's a limited partnership, correct?

A. I think it's an exempted limited company.

Q. Limited company? Okay. Are you familiar with the limited company agreement?

MR. MORRIS: John --

Q. (By Mr. Curry) Are you familiar with the limited company agreement?

A. Generally, yes.

Q. Okay. Who -- the limited company economic interest, the participation interest, who --

MR. MORRIS: Louis, I really don't want to do this all day. It's your witness, but this is not --

MR. PHILLIPS: Yeah. I think we're done.

MR. CURRY: Hey, guys, you agreed to make him available for two hours, and it's only been an hour.

MR. PHILLIPS: Not to you.

MR. MORRIS: We didn't reach any agreement with you because you didn't have the courtesy of contacting us all --

MR. PHILLIPS: Right.

MR. CURRY: Yeah, John, because you've been assuming that we were affiliated with people that we're not. And you've been talking to them instead of getting back to us --

(Speaking simultaneously)

MR. MORRIS: They -- they --

MR. CURRY: -- you could have reached out to us.

MR. MORRIS: I sent you an e-mail earlier this week that you failed to respond to, true?

MR. CURRY: You're right. You asked me to file something and I haven't filed it. I'll get it filed.

(Speaking simultaneously)

MR. MORRIS: You don't know how -- you don't know how to serve a subpoena? Is this new to you? You don't know how to serve a subpoena?

(Speaking simultaneously)

MR. CURRY: I'll tell you what --

MR. MORRIS: You don't know how to reach out and say I'd like to take a deposition? You can say, I'd like to take a deposition. You can see --

(Speaking simultaneously)

MR. CURRY: You know what? That's fine, guys. I'll tell you what. Here's what we'll do --

(Speaking simultaneously)

MR. MORRIS: We're done.

MR. PHILLIPS: Yeah. Clearly -- clearly this a --

MR. CURRY: Fine. I didn't notice this deposition. I didn't participate in it. We'll see you guys Monday and Tuesday. We'll see you Monday and Tuesday.

And we're not doing it by Zoom, Louis. You are coming to Dallas.

MR. MORRIS: Right. Good luck.

MR. PHILLIPS: Good luck with that.

MR. CURRY: Hey, Louis, there's full knowledge of all this that's out there, right?

MR. MORRIS: Hey, let's not do this. I'm shutting this down.

MR. CURRY: I would assume -- hey, Louis. Louis, stop. This is a question for you.

(Speaking simultaneously)

MR. MORRIS: We're shutting this down. Madame Court Reporter, let's go off the record, please.

(Speaking simultaneously)

MR. PHILLIPS: Madame Court Reporter, let's go off the record, please.

MR. CURRY: Louis -- yeah, we can go off the record. Absolutely. Go off the record.

THE REPORTER: We are off the record at 12:19.

WHEREUPON,

JULIE DIAZ,

being first duly sworn or affirmed to testify to the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth, was examined and testified as follows:

EXAMINATION

BY ATTORNEY MORRIS:

Q. Good afternoon, Ms. Diaz. Can you hear me okay?

A. I can.

Q. My name is John Morris. I'm an attorney for Highland Capital Management, and we're here to take your deposition today in connection with the Dallas Foundation's objection to a certain settlement.

Are you aware of that?

A. Yes, I am.

Q. Have you ever been deposed before?

A. Yes, I have.

Q. Okay. So just some quick ground rules so we're on the same page.

I'm going to ask a series of questions, and it's very important that you allow me to finish my question before you begin the answer.

Is that fair?

A. Yes.

Q. I will try to allow you to finish your answer before I begin a question; but if I fail to do so, will you let me know that?

A. Yes, I will.

Q. If I ask a question that you don't understand, will you let me know that?

A. I will.

Q. If you need a break at any time, I'm happy to accommodate you; but I just ask that you not seek a break while a question is pending unless you need to consult with your lawyer about privilege questions.

Is that fair?

A. Yes.

Q. Are you affiliated with the Dallas Foundation?

A. Yes. I am the president and CEO.

Q. When did you become the president and CEO of the Dallas Foundation?

A. Formally, April 1st, 2024. Prior to that, I was interim CEO; and have been with the foundation for six years.

Q. Are you familiar with the company called Highland Capital Management, LP?

A. Yes, I am.

Q. Are you aware that Highland Capital Management, LP, filed for bankruptcy back in 2019?

A. Yes, I am.

Q. Are you aware that the Dallas Foundation recently filed in the bankruptcy court an objection to a proposed settlement between certain Highland affiliates and certain affiliates of Hunter Mountain Investment Trust?

A. Yes, I am.

Q. Are you aware of the parties to the settlement agreement that the Dallas Foundation has objected to?

A. Can you clarify that question.

Q. Can you identify the parties on the Highland side that are -- that executed the settlement agreement that the Dallas Foundation objected to?

A. No.

Q. Can you identify the parties -- withdrawn.

Are you aware that there are parties -- are you aware that Hunter Mountain Investment Trust is a party to the settlement agreement?

A. Yes, I am.

Q. Are you aware that a gentleman named Mark Patrick signed the agreement on behalf of the Hunter Mountain Investment Trust?

A. I'm aware of his involvement.

Q. But you're not aware as you sit here right now that Mr. Patrick signed on behalf of Hunter Mountain Investment Trust?

A. No.

Q. Can I refer to Hunter Mountain Investment Trust as "HMIT" for purposes of the deposition?

A. Yes, you may.

Q. Are you aware that there are other entities that are affiliated with HMIT that are also party to the settlement agreement?

A. Yes, I am.

Q. Can we generally refer to all of the affiliates of HMIT and HMIT itself as "the HMIT entities" for purposes of today's deposition?

A. Yes.
Q. Did you review the Dallas Foundation's objection before it was filed?
A. Yes, I did.
Q. Were you responsible for authorizing its filing?
A. Yes.
Q. Are you aware that the objection was filed on behalf of an entity called Empower Dallas Foundation?
A. Yes.
Q. Are you familiar with that entity?
A. Yes, I am.
Q. What is the Empower Dallas Foundation?
A. Empower Dallas Foundation is a supporting organization that is sponsored by the Dallas Foundation. It's a grant-making organization that's been in existence for at least 10 years.
Q. Do you know who formed Empower Dallas Foundation?
A. Yes. I'm aware that it came from Jim Dondero.
Q. What do you mean that it came from Jim Dondero?

A. Well, that the donation was made from Mr. Dondero.
Q. Did Mr. Dondero make a donation to Empower Dallas Foundation?
A. Yes.
Q. And does Empower Dallas Foundation fund the Dallas Foundation?
A. Technically, it is a -- we are a -- it is a supporting organization of the Dallas Foundation, which is an IRS entity for which it makes grant recommendations that then flow to a donor-advised fund that then the Dallas Foundation effectuates, basically, the grant.
Q. Do you know if the Dallas -- did I step on your words?
A. No.
Q. Do you know if the Dallas -- withdrawn.
Do you know if Empower Dallas Foundation had any contractual obligation to make donations to the Dallas Foundation?
A. I believe that through its charitable status, it is required to make contributions on a regular basis. And we also have governance that oversees activity within all of our charitable funds.

Q. Is there an agreement of any kind between the Dallas Foundation and Empower Dallas Foundation?
A. Yes. We have a fund agreement.
Q. And under that fund agreement, is the Dallas Foundation entitled to receive contributions from Empower Dallas?
A. Yes. I don't know the technical language offhand.
Q. Do you know if Mr. Dondero plays any role in the management of Empower Dallas Foundation?
A. What do you mean by "management"?
Q. Does he have any involvement in --
A. Yes. As any fundholder, he would have involvement in making recommendations for grants he would like to put into the community, as all of our fundholders do.
Q. Does he play any other role, to the best of your knowledge, with respect to the Empower Dallas Foundation?
A. No.
Q. Are you familiar with --

A. Oh, sorry. May I correct myself?
The Empower Dallas Foundation does have its own governance, of which he is president of the foundation. I'm the vice president. And we have a treasurer. As with all of our supporting orgs, the Dallas Foundation has majority oversight.
Q. The Dallas Foundation has majority oversight of Empower Dallas Foundation?
A. Yes.
Q. And how does it exercise that oversight?
A. In voting.
Q. And who gets to vote?
A. The officers: the president, the vice president, and the treasurer.
Q. Of which entity?
A. Of the supporting organization, the Empower Dallas Foundation.
Q. Can you identify who those people are.
A. Jim Dondero is the president; I'm the vice president; and our CFO, Torrey Littleton, is the treasurer.
Q. How about the Okada Family Foundation? Are you familiar with that?

A. Oh, excuse me -- sorry.
I'm -- I need to correct myself. That is for Empower Dallas, because we have two funds I'm confusing. Empower Dallas Foundation, I am the president; Torrey is the treasurer; and we have a secretary.
For consent agendas, Jim Dondero plays an individual member role.
Q. Ma'am, what are you reading right now?
A. I'm looking at the structure of our supporting organizations.
Q. Can you just hold that up for me so I can see what you're looking at.
A. It literally lists that for all of them.
Q. Do you have any other documents with you today?
A. Just my notes.
Q. Can I ask you to put those away for now.
A. Oh, sure.
Q. How about the Okada Family Foundation; is that another supporting organization?
A. Yes, it is.
Q. And do you know if Mr. Dondero has any involvement with that entity?

A. It does not have any involvement with that entity.
Q. Okay. Do you know if Mr. Dondero played any role in the Dallas Foundation's decision to object to the proposed settlement between the Highland entities and the HMIT entities?
A. Did not have any role.
Q. Did you ever speak to him about the objection?
A. I have spoken to him in the last six months.
Q. Did you ever speak with him about the objection?
A. No.
Q. Did you speak with him about any of the facts that are set forth in the objection?
A. No.
Q. Was Mr. Dondero a source for some of the facts that are set forth in the Dallas Foundation's objection?
A. No.
Q. Did Mr. Dondero or anyone acting on his behalf provide any information to the Dallas

Foundation that the Dallas Foundation used in its objection?
A. Repeat the question.
Q. Did Mr. Dondero or anybody you believe was acting on his behalf provide any information that the Dallas Foundation used in its objection?
A. I'll abstain from answering that.
Q. Excuse me?
A. I'd rather not answer that question.
Q. I appreciate that, but you have to.
A. Well, there's a lot of context around the formation of where we are today. So I have been engaged with our counterpart over the last six years, so I have a lot of information from working through our grant-making and the management of the assets over the past six years.
So in that same vein, I've learned a lot from many interested parties.
Q. Okay. So I ask you to listen carefully to my question, because it's rather precise.
Do you know if Mr. Dondero or anybody you believed was acting on his behalf provided the Dallas Foundation with any information that is -- that was used to prepare the objection?

A. No.
Q. Are you familiar with the objection?
A. I am familiar. I authorized it and read it.
Q. And it's your testimony that Jim Dondero wasn't the source of any information that's in that objection. Is that fair?
A. That is fair.
Q. Do you know where the idea of filing the objection originated?
A. I don't.
Q. Do you know whose idea, who came up with the idea to object to this -- withdrawn.
Do you know whose idea it was to object to the Highland/HMIT settlement?
ATTORNEY OKIN: Okay. Actually, Ms. Diaz, before you answer, just want to caution you that as long as it's not conveying advice of counsel, you can answer the question.
A. You'll have to repeat that. I don't understand that.
BY ATTORNEY MORRIS:
Q. Do you know who came up with the idea of objecting to the proposed Highland/HMIT settlement?

A. I believe it came out of discussions in another settlement.
Q. What settlement are you referring to?
A. In the Cayman Islands.
Q. What settlement is that?
A. Well, it has to do with the three large supporting orgs and an entity called DAF Holdco.
Q. Which three large supporting orgs are you referring to?
A. Kansas City Foundation; Santa Barbara Foundation; Highland Dallas Foundation; and really in a small way, North Texas Community Foundation. All --
Q. And I apologize. What did you just refer to those entities as? Supporting organizations?
A. Yes.
Q. The Kansas -- and you called it the Kansas City --
A. Foundation.
Q. -- Foundation, the Santa Barbara Foundation and the Dallas Foundation? And those are three additional supporting organizations of the Dallas Foundation?

A. Sorry. We have three -- four community foundations; right? Dallas Foundation, Santa Barbara Foundation, Kansas City Foundation, and North Texas Community Foundations.
The three -- Kansas City, Dallas and Highland -- I'm sorry -- Dallas, Kansas City, and Santa Barbara all have supporting organizations that were the result of contributions from Highland Capital in 2011.
Q. Do you know if Mr. Dondero has any relationship to the Dallas, Kansas City, or Santa Barbara Foundations that you just identified?
A. My understanding is they have -- he has the same structure of supporting org with Kansas City, Santa Barbara, and Dallas.
Q. Is he the president of each, to the best of your knowledge?
A. Yes.
Q. And are those the entities that commenced the Cayman Islands proceedings, to the best of your understanding?
A. Yes.
Q. Is it your understanding that Mr. Dondero directed those entities to do so?

A. No.
Q. Who directed those entities to do so, to the best of your knowledge?
A. CEOs of the organizations.
Q. And who are they?
A. Debbie Wilkerson is the CEO of Kansas City. Jackie Carrera is the CEO of Santa Barbara. Rose Bradshaw is the CEO of North Texas Community Foundation, although she did not enter in, in the formal filing. They have a very de minimis role in the asset.
Q. Are you aware that Mr. Dondero filed a declaration or an affidavit in the Cayman Islands in support of the Community Foundation's litigation that they commenced?
A. I did see that.
Q. Did you read it?
A. Yeah.
Q. Did you see any familiarity between that declaration and the Dallas Foundation's objection?
A. I think there were some similarities because of the nature of the activities that have been happening.
Q. Did you learn, when you read

Mr. Dondero's declaration in the Cayman Islands, that he's actually funding that litigation on behalf of the supporting organizations?
A. No, that's not when I learned that.
Q. That's not when you learned it or -- withdrawn.
Are you aware that he's funding that litigation?
A. Yes.
Q. When did you learn that he was funding that litigation?
A. Before we got into litigation.
Q. Is he funding this litigation on behalf of the Dallas Foundation?
A. Yes, he is.
Q. And how much money did he provide for the funding of this litigation?
A. We have not agreed on an amount. As with any of our fundholders', legal expenses will get paid through by the fund. So that's a very common business practice. And it would go until the legal issues ceased.
Q. But he's made a commitment to fund -- to personally fund the expenses of the Dallas Foundation in connection with this litigation; is that right?

A. Yes.
Q. Are you aware of any particular reason that that's not disclosed in the Dallas Foundation's objection?
A. I'm not aware.
Q. Why did the Dallas Foundation file the objection on behalf of Empower Dallas Foundation?
A. Well, we filed the objection on behalf of both Empower and Okada Family Foundation, in essence, because the person who has been overseeing the activity ceased to communicate with us as of last fall. And there were enough irregularities in our communication and accounting leading up to then some pretty dramatic changes in valuations that raised a red flag for us.
Q. Who is the person that you're referring to?
A. Mark Patrick.
Q. And did the Empower Dallas Foundation ask the Dallas Foundation to file this objection on its behalf?
A. As fiduciaries of all of our charitable assets, we oversee the activity; and when there is any irregular activity, we investigate.

Q. I appreciate that. I'm just asking you if the Empower Dallas Foundation asked the Dallas Foundation to file the objection on its behalf.
A. Well, since I am representative of the Empower Dallas Foundation, I don't have to ask anybody except ourselves to do that.
Q. And did you confer with Mr. Dondero about that decision?
A. I think we informed him.
Q. Did he review a copy of the objection before it was filed?
A. Not to my knowledge, no.
Q. Are you aware that the Dallas Foundation also filed the objection on behalf of certain segregated accounts held at Crown Global Life Insurance Limited?
A. Yes.
Q. Can I refer to Crown Global Life Insurance Limited as just "Crown Global"?
A. Yes.
Q. And can I refer to the segregated accounts that are identified in the Dallas

Foundation's objection as "the segregated accounts"?
A. Yes.
Q. And are you familiar with those segregated accounts?
A. At a high level.
Q. What's your understanding at a high level of what those segregated accounts are?
A. That the Crown Global assets are really insurance annuities that pay out to the fund; and that's the source of income for charitable purposes.
Q. Where does the income from the annuity flow to?
A. Flows to the supporting organizations.
Q. And then the supporting organizations have the proceeds from the annuity available for the foundations; is that fair?
A. Yes.
Q. And do you know who took out these insurance policies or these annuities? Which of the -- withdrawn.
Can you identify the supporting organization that funded the purchase of the annuities?

A. Empower Dallas Foundation and Okada Family Foundation.
Q. And is the cash that is thrown off from the annuities -- withdrawn.
To the best of your understanding, is the cash that's thrown off from the annuities the sole source of income for Empower Dallas Foundation and the Okada Foundation?
A. That's my understanding.
Q. Is it your understanding that the Dallas Foundation has not received anything of value from Empower Dallas Foundation or the Okada Family Foundation other than proceeds from the annuities?
A. That's my understanding.
Q. Do you know why the Dallas Foundation filed the objection on behalf of the segregated accounts at Crown Global?
A. Yes.
Q. Why did the Dallas Foundation file its objection on behalf of the segregated accounts?
A. As I said earlier, because there had been activity and essentially a write-down of 40 percent of value, we were concerned that there were activities within Crown Global for the organizations that support that that we did not have any, you know, access to, vision or communication around.

Q. Does the Dallas Foundation have any relationship with Crown Global?

A. Yes.

Q. As it pertains to -- what relationship does the Dallas Foundation have with Crown Global?

A. Well, I don't understand on a transactional, but we get quarterly reports from them. They obviously send the proceeds to us. I mean, they are a fiduciary to us in the same way we are to others.

Q. Crown Global is?

A. Yeah.

Q. With respect to the disbursement of proceeds from the annuity?

A. Yes.

Q. Okay. So the proceeds from the annuity don't go to Empower Dallas or the Okada Family Foundation; they get remitted directly to the Dallas Foundation.

Do I have that right?

A. No. They go -- they go to the supporting organizations. But in our governance that -- I refer to both as -- it flows into our finance office, and then they get allocated to the foundations.

Q. You mentioned that there was a 40 percent write-down in value. Is that with respect to the annuities?

A. I don't know all of the transactions that led up to that. But what we understood, there were a few -- sorry.

There are a few requests for us to approve that we didn't understand and sent them to our counsel, and then got the first-quarter report for March 30th, and it was significantly lower and we didn't know why.

So in asking for that, we found out there was a decline.

Q. And is that -- is it your understanding that it's the decline in value -- withdrawn.

Is it your understanding that it's the unexplained decline in value that caused the Dallas Foundation to file the objection on behalf of the segregated accounts?

A. Yes.

Q. Did anybody ask the Dallas Foundation to file the objection on behalf of the segregated accounts?

A. No.

Q. Can you identify the owner of the segregated accounts on behalf of -- on whose behalf the Dallas Foundation filed the objection?

Withdrawn. Too many words.

Do you know who owns the segregated accounts?

A. No. I won't guess.

Q. Are you aware that the owner of the segregated accounts is Crown Global?

A. Oh, yes.

Q. And so is that your understanding, that Crown Global --

A. Yes.

Q. -- owns the segregated accounts?

A. Yes.

Q. Did anybody from the Dallas Foundation seek Crown Global's consent and approval before filing the objection on behalf of the segregated accounts?

A. Yes.

Q. Yes?

And who at Crown Global gave the authorization, if you know?

A. Mr. -- the CEO and their chief legal, Hernandez -- Paul --

ATTORNEY OKIN: Let me interrupt here too, John. You're acting as though the objection was filed solely by the Dallas Foundation. We represent two clients here. We represent the Dallas Foundation and Crown Global.

And you're putting Ms. Diaz in a position where I think she thinks she has to justify having -- Crown Global's actions when they -- we represent them as well.

ATTORNEY MORRIS: Well, as I read the pleading that you filed, it said the Dallas Foundation -- I won't --

ATTORNEY OKIN: I think that's a --

ATTORNEY MORRIS: I'll ask the questions, and we'll --

ATTORNEY OKIN: Take a look at our signature block. It says clearly that we're doing it on behalf of the Dallas Foundation and Crown Global.

BY ATTORNEY MORRIS:

Q. Ms. Diaz, do you know if the Dallas

Foundation ever appeared in the Highland bankruptcy case before it filed this objection?
A. I do not believe so.
Q. To the best of your knowledge, the Dallas Foundation never filed a claim against Highland in the Highland bankruptcy case; correct?
A. No.
Q. To the best of your knowledge -- withdrawn.
Have you ever heard of the Highland Claimant Trust?
A. No.
Q. So is it fair to say that you have no reason to believe that the Dallas Foundation has any interest in the Highland Claimant Trust?
A. No. That is not -- that's not fair to claim.
Q. So is it your testimony that you believe the Dallas Foundation has a direct or indirect interest in the Highland Claimant Trust?
A. What you asked me was had we ever participated and did we then have any result from it.
I don't know the answer to that question.

Q. I apologize if my questioning wasn't clear to you. Let me try again.
To the best of your knowledge, the Dallas Foundation has never appeared in the Highland bankruptcy case until it filed the objection that we're talking about today; correct?
A. I don't know the answer to that.
Q. But to the -- you have no knowledge that they ever did; is that fair?
A. I have no knowledge.
Q. Okay. And you have no knowledge that the Dallas Foundation ever filed a claim against Highland in the Highland bankruptcy case; correct?
A. I have no knowledge of that.
Q. And you have no knowledge that the Dallas Foundation has any interest of any kind in the Highland Claimant Trust; correct?
A. I do not agree with that statement.
Q. What knowledge do you have that the Dallas Foundation has an interest in the Highland Claimant Trust?
A. Because of the relationship between Hunter Mountain and how it feeds up to Crown Global and, therefore, the supporting organizations.

Q. It might be my fault that I'm not being clear, but I'm really just focused on Highland right now. Has nothing to do with Crown Global --
A. Okay.
Q. -- or Hunter Mountain; it's just Highland.
A. Okay.
Q. Are you aware that as a result of the bankruptcy, an entity Called the Highland Claimant Trust was formed?
A. I was not, no.
Q. Okay. So if you weren't aware that an entity called the Highland Claimant Trust was formed, is it also fair to say you have no knowledge that the Dallas Foundation has an interest in the Highland Claimant Trust?
A. Okay.
Q. Okay. And does the Dallas Foundation have any contractual relationship with Highland Capital Management, LP?
A. No.

Q. Has the Dallas Foundation ever had a contractual relationship with Highland Capital Management, LP, to the best of your knowledge?
A. No.
Q. Does the Dallas Foundation have any contractual relationship with an entity called the Highland Claimant Trust, to the best of your knowledge?
A. No.
Q. And to the best of your knowledge, has the Dallas Foundation ever had a contractual relationship with an entity called the Highland Claimant Trust?
A. No.
Q. Do you have any reason to believe, as you sit here today, that Highland Capital Management, LP, owes any duties or obligations to the Dallas Foundation?
ATTORNEY OKIN: Object to form.
BY ATTORNEY MORRIS:
Q. You can answer.
A. Can you ask the question again.
Q. Sure.
As you sit here today, do you have any reason to believe that Highland Capital

Management, LP, owes any duties or obligations to the Dallas Foundation?

ATTORNEY OKIN: Object to form.

A. No.

BY ATTORNEY MORRIS:

Q. As you sit here today, do you have any reason to believe that Highland Capital Management, LP, ever had any duties or obligations that it owed to the Dallas Foundation?

ATTORNEY OKIN: Object to form.

A. No.

BY ATTORNEY MORRIS:

Q. Are you aware that if the settlement agreement between the Highland entities and the HMIT entities is approved, the HMIT entities will receive cash and other assets pursuant to the terms of the settlement agreement?

A. I'm assuming that there is assets within the agreement.

Q. Have you reviewed the settlement agreement yourself, Ms. Diaz?

A. No.

Q. Are you generally familiar with the terms of the settlement agreement?

A. At a high level.

Q. What's your understanding at a high level?

A. That once the settlement is complete, that Hunter Mountain will receive assets of some size that will flow up to Crown Global.

Q. Do you know if the requirement that the assets flow up to Crown Global is part of the settlement agreement that's before the Court and that the Dallas Foundation is objecting to?

A. That was our understanding.

Q. From the agreement itself?

A. I have not seen the settlement agreement.

Q. So you authorized an objection to a settlement agreement that you haven't seen; is that fair?

A. That's fair.

Q. Do you have any reason to believe that the Dallas Foundation has a right to recover any of the assets you just described that HMIT will receive if the settlement is approved by the Court?

ATTORNEY OKIN: Object to form.

A. Can you repeat the question.

BY ATTORNEY MORRIS:

Q. Do you have any reason to believe that the Dallas Foundation has a right to recover any portion of the assets that HMIT will receive if the settlement agreement is approved by the bankruptcy court?

ATTORNEY OKIN: Object to form.

A. My job is to protect the charitable assets under our organization's fiduciary compliance role; and so if there is any opportunity for assets to either be diminished or not move forward, it's my job to ensure that I've done everything I can to recover them.

BY ATTORNEY MORRIS:

Q. But do you have an understanding as to whether or not -- withdrawn.

I think you just testified that it's your understanding at a high level that HMIT will receive certain assets if the settlement agreement is approved.

Do I have that right?

A. Yes.

Q. Do you have an understanding that the Dallas Foundation is entitled to receive all or any portion of the assets that HMIT would receive under the settlement agreement?

ATTORNEY OKIN: Object to form.

A. I don't know that.

BY ATTORNEY MORRIS:

Q. You don't know that?

A. (Shakes head.)

Q. Have you asked anybody whether the Dallas Foundation has a right to recover any portion of the assets that HMIT will receive under the settlement agreement?

ATTORNEY OKIN: Before you answer that, Ms. Diaz, I'll just remind you: Other than disclosing any of your conversations with counsel for you or for the foundation.

BY ATTORNEY MORRIS:

Q. But you can answer the question.

A. You'll have to ask the question again.

Q. No problem. I appreciate that.

Did you ever ask anybody whether the Dallas Foundation had a right to receive any of the assets that HMIT will receive under the settlement agreement?

A. Like somebody-who in your question?

Q. Anybody. Did you ever ask the question of anybody? Let's just start with "yes" or "no."

A. Yes.
Q. And who did you ask?
A. I'll strike that, because it would be -- I couldn't tell you definitively I did that.
Q. Did Mr. Dondero tell you that the Dallas Foundation had a right to the assets that HMIT was going to receive under the settlement agreement?
A. No.
Q. And you don't recall asking that question of anybody; is that fair?
A. The only person I talked to this -- about these assets to is Mark Patrick.
Q. And did Mr. Patrick tell you that the Dallas Foundation had a right to recover any of the proceeds under the HMIT/Highland settlement agreement?
A. I don't know.
Q. Have you ever received any documents that lead you to believe that the Dallas Foundation has an ownership interest in any of the assets that HMIT will receive under the settlement agreement?

ATTORNEY OKIN: Object to form.
A. My understanding is that through the Hunter Mountain settlement, that those assets flow into the Atlas fund that I know Mark Patrick was managing. So indirectly.
BY ATTORNEY MORRIS:
Q. Is there a document that you reviewed that leads you to believe that the assets HMIT receives will go to the Atlas fund?
A. No.
Q. Can you identify with any specificity which Atlas entity you have in mind that's expected to receive the proceeds from the HMIT/Highland settlement?
A. No.
Q. Do you know if the Atlas entity that you just identified, does that have any obligation to disburse any of the assets it may receive from HMIT?
A. I don't know.
Q. Okay. Let's -- do you have any reason to believe that the Dallas Foundation will be impacted in any way if the settlement between Highland and the HMIT entities is approved?
A. As I said, because the Crown Global is to disburse money that it receives from Atlas, then there would be an impact. That's why we filed the objection.

Q. Is it fair to say that the Dallas Foundation's concern is what happens to the assets that HMIT receives after the settlement is approved and it's not with the agreement itself?
A. I can't answer that.
Q. If Mark Patrick hadn't done anything to change any of the structure that's described in the Dallas Foundation's objection such that the Dallas Foundation's expectations as set forth in its objection were met, would the Dallas Foundation have any reason to object to this settlement?
ATTORNEY OKIN: Objection; form.
A. I don't know.
BY ATTORNEY MORRIS:
Q. Isn't the problem here that you're concerned about what happens to the money after it's received by HMIT?
A. I'm concerned that the case that's pending in the Cayman Islands shows that $300 million of charitable assets have vanished and that the same type of behavior is happening in Crown Global and impacts those funds to the tune of $25 million.

Q. But that has nothing to do with Highland.
Fair enough?
A. I don't know.
Q. Do you have any basis to say that Highland has any involvement in anything you just described?
A. Well, I'm not a lawyer and, technically, I don't know how to answer that. But Highland has been involved from day one.
Q. Involved in what?
A. The original contribution to set up the supporting orgs with those shares; like I said, I -- all the different legal entities -- GPs, LPs, et cetera -- I leave you all to track.
Q. If the Court approved the settlement and Mark Patrick decided to give all of the proceeds to the Dallas Foundation, would the Dallas Foundation have any reason to object to the settlement?
ATTORNEY OKIN: Object to form.
A. I think we'd want to know more.
///

BY ATTORNEY MORRIS:
Q. What would you want to know?
A. What are the assets that we would be receiving? What would the structure be?
Q. Well, the assets are set forth in the settlement agreement; right? So there's no mystery about the assets.
Fair enough?
A. I don't know that. I don't know -- are they -- is it cash? Is it securities? What are the nature of the -- I would want to know a lot more before accepting all things like that.
Q. Do you know if Crown Global ever appeared in the Highland bankruptcy?
A. I don't know.
Q. Do you know if the segregated accounts ever filed a notice of appearance in the Highland bankruptcy?
A. I don't know.
Q. Do you know if Crown Global ever filed a claim against Highland in the Highland bankruptcy?
A. I don't know.
Q. Do you know if the segregated accounts ever filed a claim against Highland in the Highland bankruptcy?

A. I don't know.
Q. Do you know if Crown Global has an interest in the Highland Claimant Trust?
A. No. No, I don't know.
Q. Do you know if the segregated accounts have an interest in the Highland Claimant Trust?
A. I don't know.
Q. Do you know if Crown Global has any contractual relationship with Highland?
A. I don't know.
Q. Do you know if Crown Global has any contractual relationship with the Highland Claimant Trust?
A. No.
Q. I'm going to take Mr. -- I think it's Mr. Littleton's deposition next.
A. Yep.
Q. Do you know if he is affiliated with Crown Global in any way?
A. No. He's an employee of the Dallas Foundation.
Q. Thank you.
Do you know if Crown Global has any right to recover any of the assets that HMIT and the HMIT entities may receive under the settlement agreement?

ATTORNEY OKIN: Object to form.
A. I don't know.
BY ATTORNEY MORRIS:
Q. Have you asked that question of anybody?
ATTORNEY OKIN: Other than your lawyers, you can answer that, Ms. Diaz.
ATTORNEY MORRIS: Please --
BY ATTORNEY MORRIS:
Q. Was the answer "no," Ms. Diaz?
A. Ask the question again, please.
Q. Have you ever asked anybody whether Crown Global had the right to receive any of the assets that Highland will convey to HMIT under the settlement agreement?
A. No.
Q. We're using the phrase "HMIT entities" to mean the entities on whose behalf Mark Patrick signed the settlement agreement; right? Are we on the same page?
A. That's what you're telling me.
Q. Okay. Are you familiar with any of those entities?

A. Tell me what they are.
Q. Are you familiar with any of the Rand entities?
A. I'm familiar with Rand.
Q. And what's your familiarity with Rand?
A. Certainly it was another vehicle that flowed through to Atlas. And when Mr. Patrick came to see me last October, told me that there might be some issues with Rand and that structure might be changing. That's vague.
Q. Let's stick with the Hunter Mountain Investment Trust.
Are you aware of any assets that the Hunter Mountain Investment Trust owns today?
A. No.
Q. Was it your understanding that Mr. Patrick controlled Rand?
A. Yes.
Q. And is it your understanding that he controls Rand today?
A. Yes.
Q. And going back to Hunter Mountain Investment Trust, you're not aware of any assets that that entity holds today; correct?
A. No.

Q. Were you --
A. I'm assuming Rand is one of the assets, I guess.
Q. Were you ever -- did you ever know -- were you ever aware of any asset that HMIT owned?
A. Well, Atlas.
Q. It's your understanding --
A. Yeah, I feel like I'm being quizzed on Hunter Mountain Trust.
ATTORNEY OKIN: Let me interrupt here. John, two things.
One, if you want to show her an org chart so she can actually see these entities in a way that actually would help her remember them. Nobody can possibly keep them in their mind cold.
And, second, Ms. Diaz is not going to be our witness on this Hunter Mountain structure and the Rand structure. You can keep asking her questions about it and testing her memory on it, but I don't think you're going to find that the answers are going to be any different.
Mr. Littleton will talk to these issues, yes. I can't promise you he'll be able to answer every one of your questions. But to the extent you want somebody with the Dallas Foundation's knowledge of the workings of that structure, he's the one to ask about that.

ATTORNEY MORRIS: I'll continue to ask the questions, but I appreciate that.
BY ATTORNEY MORRIS:
Q. Do you know if the Dallas Foundation ever received anything of value from any of the HMIT entities?
A. Crown Global.
Q. Crown Global is not an HMIT entity. So I'm asking you to just focus on the entities that Mark Patrick controlled, the Rand entities, the Atlas entities and Hunter Mountain.
Did any of those entities ever give anything of value to the Dallas Foundation?
A. Not directly that I'm aware of, no.
Q. Did any of those entities ever have any business dealings with the Dallas Foundation?
A. Only in the relationship with Crown Global.
Q. Do you have any understanding as to whether any of the HMIT entities owes any duties or obligations to the Dallas Foundation today?
ATTORNEY OKIN: Objection to form.
A. I don't know.

BY ATTORNEY MORRIS:
Q. I understand there was some corporate reorganization earlier this year. I think that's described in the Dallas Foundation's objection.
Is that just generally fair?
A. As it relates to Mr. Patrick?
Q. Yes.
A. (Nods head.)
Q. Okay. Do you have any reason to believe that before Mr. Patrick effectuated those changes, that any of the HMIT entities owed any duty or obligation to the Dallas Foundation?
ATTORNEY OKIN: Objection to form.
A. I don't know.
BY ATTORNEY MORRIS:
Q. Are you aware that HMIT filed a couple of years ago a motion in the bankruptcy court for permission to bring certain claims against Highland Capital Management and a gentleman named James Seery?
A. No.
Q. Nobody ever told you that; is that fair?
A. Fair.
Q. Are you aware that Highland contends that the settlement agreement that it has entered into with the HMIT entities is the product of good-faith, arm's-length negotiations?

A. Am I aware? No.
Q. Do you have any knowledge of the nature of any negotiations between the Highland entities and the HMIT entities?
A. I'm aware that it's been going on for four years.
Q. I'm just talking about the settlement agreement now.
A. Okay.
Q. Do you have any knowledge of any facts concerning the negotiation of that particular settlement agreement?
A. No.
Q. Do you have any knowledge of any facts that might suggest that the settlement agreement was not the product of good-faith, arm's-length negotiations?
A. No.
Q. Do you have any reason to believe that the proposed settlement is unfair to Highland Capital Management, LP?
ATTORNEY OKIN: Object to form.

BY ATTORNEY MORRIS:
Q. You can answer, ma'am.
A. I don't know.
Q. Do you know whether the proposed settlement is unfair to the Highland Claimant Trust?
A. I don't know.
ATTORNEY OKIN: Object to form.
BY ATTORNEY MORRIS:
Q. You don't have a view on that; is that fair?
A. Yes.
Q. And is it fair that in connection with the preparation and the filing of the objection -- withdrawn.
The Dallas Foundation, in its objection, does not contend that the settlement is unfair to Highland Capital Management; is that correct?
A. I don't know.
Q. You reviewed and authorized the filing of the objection; isn't that right, ma'am?
A. Right.
Q. And you're familiar with the document that you authorized to be filed; fair?

A. Yes.
Q. And based on your recollection, do you recall the Dallas Foundation making any assertion or claim that the settlement agreement was unfair to Highland Capital Management, LP, or any of its affiliates?
A. The claim was that it was unfair to the supporting organizations.
Q. And how is the settlement agreement unfair to the supporting organizations?
A. Because we would -- well, what we claimed is that because of our lack of transparency of the flow of those funds and the changes in the fund recently, that the supporting organizations were losing their assets and any potential future assets.
Q. Is there any other basis that you're aware of by which the Dallas Foundation contends that the settlement agreement is unfair to it?
A. No.
Q. Does the Dallas Foundation contend that the settlement agreement is unfair to Hunter Mountain Investment Trust?
A. I don't know.
Q. As the person who authorized the filing of the objection on behalf of the Dallas Foundation, do you have any reason to believe that the terms of the settlement are unfair to the Hunter Mountain Investment Trust?

A. I do not.
Q. Are you aware that under the settlement agreement, the HMIT entities and the Highland entities are releasing each other from all liabilities except for the liabilities arising under the settlement agreement?
A. I'm assuming that's what the settlement is intended to do.
Q. And the Dallas Foundation doesn't have any concern about the scope of the mutual releases; is that fair?
ATTORNEY OKIN: Objection to form.
A. I don't know.
BY ATTORNEY MORRIS:
Q. As the person who authorized the filing of the objection on behalf of the Dallas Foundation, do you recall there being any statement in the objection where the Dallas Foundation expressed any concern at all about the scope of the mutual releases that are in the settlement agreement?

ATTORNEY OKIN: Object to form. The document speaks for itself. I mean, if you want to show it to her and ask her to find it, that's fine.
BY ATTORNEY MORRIS:
Q. You can answer, ma'am.
A. I don't --
Q. I'm sorry?
A. I don't recall that.
Q. Okay. Thank you.
Are you aware of any facts that could give rise to a claim by the Dallas Foundation against any Highland entity?
ATTORNEY OKIN: Object to form.
A. Repeat the question.
BY ATTORNEY MORRIS:
Q. Are you aware of any facts that would support a claim by the Dallas Foundation against Highland Capital Management, LP, or the Highland Claimant Trust?
ATTORNEY OKIN: Object to form.
A. No.
BY ATTORNEY MORRIS:
Q. Do you understand the basis for the Dallas Foundation's objection?

A. Yes.
Q. Can you articulate that for me. What's your understanding of the basis of the Dallas Foundation's objection?
ATTORNEY OKIN: Object to form.
A. Our objection --
BY ATTORNEY MORRIS:
Q. Pardon me? What's that, ma'am?
ATTORNEY OKIN: I said I object to the form of the question.
Go ahead. You can answer.
A. Our objection is based on -- and I've said this before -- the fact that there's been irregular significant erosion of the assets to date by the party who seems to control a lot of the liquidity flows and oversight of the assets.
And so with the backdrop of all of the work we're doing in the Cayman Islands to recover 300-plus million dollars, this seemed not insignificant to protect the $25 million for these two supporting organizations.
So as this happens on Wednesday, what we've learned is that every opportunity we can to slow down decisions that are made give us time to understand where -- what is happening with these charitable assets and where they are.

BY ATTORNEY MORRIS:
Q. Do you have any reason to believe that Mark Patrick does not have the authority to enter into the settlement agreement on behalf of each of the HMIT entities?
ATTORNEY OKIN: Object to the form of the question.
A. I don't know what authority he has to enter into that.
BY ATTORNEY MORRIS:
Q. Do you have any facts that you can share with me that suggest that Mr. Patrick does not have the legal authority to enter into the settlement agreement on behalf of any of the HMIT entities?
ATTORNEY OKIN: Object to the form of the question.
A. I don't.
BY ATTORNEY MORRIS:
Q. Is it your understanding that Mr. Patrick was required to obtain the Dallas Foundation or Crown Global's consent before entering into this settlement agreement?
A. I think what we would have appreciated and what had been our business as usual was information prior to and during anything that involved the assets under our aegis.

Q. Do you know if any of the HMIT entities had an obligation or duty to provide information to the Dallas Foundation or Crown Global before entering into the settlement agreement?
ATTORNEY OKIN: Object to the form of the question.
A. I don't --
BY ATTORNEY MORRIS:
Q. I'm sorry. Ms. Diaz, you don't know?
A. I don't contractually know that. But whether it's authority that he was given or assumed, he should have communicated with us.
Q. Should he have communicated with you before filing a lawsuit against the Highland -- withdrawn.
Do you believe that Mr. Patrick should have communicated with the Dallas Foundation before filing a lawsuit on behalf of Hunter Mountain Investment Trust against Highland, Mr. Seery, and others?
A. I don't know.

Q. You don't have a view on that; is that fair?
A. Fair.
Q. I apologize if I asked this, but do you have any reason to believe that Mr. Patrick was required to obtain either the Dallas Foundation's or Crown Global's consent before entering into the settlement on behalf of the HMIT entities?
ATTORNEY OKIN: Object to form of the question.
A. I don't know.
BY ATTORNEY MORRIS:
Q. Do you have any reason to believe that the Dallas Foundation or Crown Global has -- withdrawn.
Do you know if the Dallas Foundation has a direct ownership interest in any of the HMIT entities that are party to the settlement agreement?
A. I don't believe so.
Q. Do you know if Crown Global has a direct ownership interest in any of the HMIT entities that are party to the settlement agreement?

A. I don't know.
Q. Do you know if the Dallas Foundation has an indirect ownership interest in any of the HMIT entities that are party to the settlement agreement?
A. Indirect ownership?
ATTORNEY OKIN: Object to the form of the question.
A. I don't know.
BY ATTORNEY MORRIS:
Q. Did you ever ask anybody?
A. No.
Q. No?
A. No.
Q. Do you know if Crown Global has an indirect ownership interest in any of the HMIT entities that are party to the settlement agreement?
ATTORNEY OKIN: Object to the form of the question.
A. I don't know.
BY ATTORNEY MORRIS:
Q. Do you know if the Dallas Foundation has any right to control any of the HMIT entities?

A. No.
Q. No, you don't know; or, no, they don't have that right?
A. No, we don't have that right.
Q. Do you know if Crown Global has the right to control any of the HMIT entities?
A. I don't know.
Q. Do you know if the Dallas Foundation has the right to approve transactions that are entered into by any of the HMIT entities?
A. I don't know.
Q. Do you know if Crown Global has the right to approve any transaction that's entered into by any of the HMIT entities?
A. I don't know.
Q. Do you know if Crown Global or the segregated accounts has any right to control any of the HMIT entities?
A. I don't know.
Q. Do you know if Crown Global or the segregated accounts has any right to approve transactions that any of the HMIT entities might enter into?
A. I don't know.
Q. Do you know if any of the HMIT entities were required to obtain the segregated accounts' consent before entering into the settlement agreement?

ATTORNEY OKIN: Object to the form of the question.
A. I don't know.
ATTORNEY MORRIS: Okay. We're going to put up on the screen -- Nathan, can you please put up on the screen the Dallas Foundation's objection.
BY ATTORNEY MORRIS:
Q. And while we wait, Ms. Diaz, I will tell you that, you know, the good news with COVID -- or at least one piece of the good news -- is that we learned to do these remote depositions so people don't have to travel and it's much less expensive for clients.
The bad news is that I'm not in the room with you and we have to put documents on the screen, and sometimes that can be a little bit cumbersome.
The Dallas Foundation's objection is fairly lengthy. This is not a test at all. I am going to point to certain parts of the objection. But if you believe that you need to see any other portion of the document, will you let me know that so that I give you a chance to be fully informed?

A. Yes.
ATTORNEY MORRIS: Okay. I think it's towards the end, Nathan, paragraph 32.
This will be -- let's just call it Highland 1.
(Whereupon, Exhibit Highland 1 was marked for identification and is attached hereto.)
BY ATTORNEY MORRIS:
Q. So we've got up on the screen paragraph 32 of the objection. And the third sentence states, "Unfortunately, it does not appear, however, that joint official liquidators are parties to or have authorized the settlement."
Do you see that?
A. I see it.
Q. Okay. Are you aware that joint official liquidators were appointed by a Cayman court?
A. Yes.
Q. Do you know the entity over which the joint official liquidators were appointed?

A. I've met with them.
Entity?
ATTORNEY OKIN: Ms. Diaz, maybe you need the question repeated. You seem to be confused by the wrong part of it.
THE WITNESS: Okay.
ATTORNEY MORRIS: Thank you, Matt. That's fine. That's fine. I'll ask the question again.
BY ATTORNEY MORRIS:
Q. Can you identify the entity that's the subject of the Cayman Islands liquidation proceeding?
A. Yes; the DAF Holdco.
Q. Are you aware that all of the HMIT entities are Delaware corporations? Withdrawn.
Are you aware that all of the HMIT entities were formed under the laws of the State of Delaware?
A. Sounds familiar.
Q. And have you ever communicated with the joint official liquidators?
A. Yes.
Q. When did you do that?

A. Two weeks ago.
Q. Did you make them aware of Highland's motion to have the settlement between the Highland entities and the HMIT entities approved?
A. I'd have to look at my calendar.
Q. Do you need your calendar to refresh your recollection as to whether or not you informed them of the Highland settlement motion?
A. I would want to make sure that the day I met with them is clear in my mind as to this versus when we've talked to them.
Q. Fair enough.
A. As you can imagine, there's been a lot of detail around all of these cases.
Q. Sure. And I don't mean to be disrespectful at all, ma'am. I apologize if you took it that way.
Do you recall ever making the joint official liquidators aware of the Dallas Foundation's objection to the settlement motion?
A. As I said, I don't know if we've made them aware of the objection, except as it relates to ancillary activity that we're concerned about regarding Mark Patrick.
So this was filed on June 9th, and I would want to make sure that I spoke with them before or after that; and I don't have that.

Q. Do you know if anybody provided a copy of the Dallas Foundation's objection to the joint official liquidators?
A. I don't know that.
Q. Did you ever consider doing that?
A. I will after today.
Q. Do you know if anybody asked the joint official liquidators to make an appearance in this case?
A. I don't know that.
Q. Did you ever ask the joint official liquidators to appear in this case?
A. We've already precluded that we don't know whether I've actually talked to them about this case, so that's moot; right?
Q. Okay. Do you believe that Mr. Patrick was required to obtain the joint official liquidators' authorization before entering into the settlement agreement?
A. I don't know that.
ATTORNEY OKIN: Object to the form of the question.
///

BY ATTORNEY MORRIS:
Q. I'm sorry, ma'am. What did you say?
A. I don't know that.
Q. Did you have any reason to believe that Mr. Patrick was required to obtain the joint official liquidators' consent before entering into this settlement agreement?
A. I don't know.
Q. Do you have any reason to believe that the joint official liquidators have any authority to reject the proposed settlement?
ATTORNEY OKIN: Object to the form.
A. I don't know.
BY ATTORNEY MORRIS:
Q. A little bit further down, towards the bottom of this paragraph, there's a reference, it says that the Court-appointed fiduciary, quote, may -- withdrawn.
It says:
"Indeed, many of Mr. Patrick's actions, including the insertion of newly created entities into the fund's structure for the apparent purpose of diverting charitable assets, will now be subject to the scrutiny of an independent, Court-appointed fiduciary and may be subject to clawback or other avoidance actions in the Cayman liquidation or such other tribunal as has jurisdiction."

Do you see that?

A. No. You need to scroll down on the --

Q. It's just at the end of paragraph 32 here. It's the last sentence of 32.

A. And so what's your question?

Q. I just want to make sure that you and I are on the same page, because I'm going to ask some questions about this sentence.

A. Yeah.

Q. You're not an expert in Cayman Islands law; fair?

A. Fair.

Q. You're not a lawyer, are you?

A. Nope.

Q. You're not an expert on clawback or other avoidance actions, as that phrase is used in the Dallas Foundation's objection in paragraph 32; fair?

A. Fair.

Q. Do you have any understanding as to what facts must be established to succeed in a clawback or other avoidance action?

A. Repeat the question.

Q. Do you have any understanding as to what facts somebody needs to prove in order to succeed on a clawback or other avoidance action?

A. Not in a corporate setting.

Q. Is there any other type of setting that would pertain to the Dallas Foundation's claims against Mr. Patrick?

A. No.

Q. Okay. Do you have a view as to the likelihood that the Dallas Foundation might succeed in clawing back or asserting another avoidance action to set aside the settlement agreement if it's approved by the bankruptcy court?

ATTORNEY OKIN: Object to form.

A. I don't know.

BY ATTORNEY MORRIS:

Q. And you don't have a view; is that fair?

A. No, I just really don't know --

Q. If we could --

A. -- whether we will.

Q. Okay. You would have to speculate; is that fair?

A. Yes.

ATTORNEY MORRIS: Can we scroll down to paragraph 33, please.

ATTORNEY OKIN: John, how much longer do you anticipate going? We talked about these being an hour and a half.

ATTORNEY MORRIS: Correct. And we started at exactly 2:37 New York time. I expect to finish at 4:07 New York time.

ATTORNEY OKIN: Are we doing additional questions from anybody else?

ATTORNEY MORRIS: Mr. Phillips, do you have any questions?

You're on mute, sir.

We'll be done in the 90 minutes.

ATTORNEY PHILLIPS: Not at this time.

ATTORNEY MORRIS: Okay. Thank you.

BY ATTORNEY MORRIS:

Q. So in paragraph 33, it says at the end, quote: "Even if approved by this Court, consummation of the settlement is not likely to buy the peace the debtor now seeks."

Do you see that?

A. Yes.

Q. Are you aware of anything in the Dallas Foundation's objection that suggests the Highland parties have done anything wrong here?

A. Repeat that question.

Q. Is there anything in the Dallas Foundation objection that you read and authorized to be filed that suggests that any of the Highland parties have done anything wrong?

ATTORNEY PHILLIPS: I'm going to object to that question because you said that she read and authorized it to be filed.

ATTORNEY MORRIS: I apologize. I apologize. Thank you.

BY ATTORNEY MORRIS:

Q. Let me start again, Ms. Diaz.

Do you recall whether there's anything in the Dallas Foundation objection that asserts that any of the Highland parties have done anything wrong in connection with the entry into the settlement agreement?

A. I don't recall.

Q. Are you aware of any facts that cause you to believe that any of the Highland entities did anything wrong in negotiating and entering into the settlement agreement?

A. I don't know.
Q. If you're not aware of any facts suggesting that Highland has engaged in wrongdoing, do you know why the Dallas Foundation has informed the Court that consummation of the settlement is not likely to buy the peace the debtor now seeks?
ATTORNEY OKIN: Object to form.
A. I'll abstain from answering that.
BY ATTORNEY MORRIS:
Q. That's not a thing, respectfully.
ATTORNEY MORRIS: If -- Matt, if you want to just help your witness out.
ATTORNEY OKIN: You want me to give her the answer?
BY ATTORNEY MORRIS:
Q. Well, there's no abstention, so you have to answer the question, ma'am.
ATTORNEY OKIN: As best you can answer it, Ms. Diaz, answer it. If you can't answer it, tell him you can't answer it.
A. And I'll just say, when you say "Highland," you want to be more specific?
///

BY ATTORNEY MORRIS:
Q. Sure. Highland Capital Management, LP, the Highland Claimant Trust or the Highland Litigation Subtrust.
A. And so repeat the question.
Q. Okay. If you don't have any facts suggesting that they've done anything wrong, why did the Dallas Foundation inform the Court, at the end of paragraph 33, that consummation of the settlement is not likely to buy the peace the debtor now seeks?
ATTORNEY OKIN: Object to form.
BY ATTORNEY MORRIS:
Q. You can answer.
ATTORNEY OKIN: If you can answer it.
A. Again, I'll just repeat that the peace that the debtor seeks will be tainted because of the harm that will come to the Dallas Foundation.
BY ATTORNEY MORRIS:
Q. Anything else?
A. No.
Q. Is the Dallas Foundation considering bringing any claims against Highland, the Highland Claimant Trust or any of its fiduciaries?

A. (No audible response.)
Q. I'm sorry, ma'am. Did you answer?
A. I did. I said, "No."
Q. Thank you.
In paragraph 34 --
ATTORNEY MORRIS: Yeah, right there. Thank you Nathan --
BY ATTORNEY MORRIS:
Q. -- it says, quote: "There is ample evidence that Mr. Patrick has acted and is acting well outside the scope of his authority and fiduciary obligations."
Have I read that correctly?
A. Yes.
Q. Focusing solely on the settlement agreement, do you have any reason to believe that Mr. Patrick is acting outside of the scope of his authority in entering into the settlement agreement on behalf of each of the HMIT entities?
ATTORNEY OKIN: Object to form.
A. And I don't know.
BY ATTORNEY MORRIS:
Q. Okay. Focusing solely on the settlement agreement, do you have any reason to believe that Mr. Patrick is breaching his fiduciary obligations by entering into the settlement agreement on behalf of each of the HMIT entities?

A. I don't know.
ATTORNEY MORRIS: Can we scroll up to paragraph 16, please.
Do you see paragraph 16 concerns material nonpublic inside information?
A. Yes.
Q. And was Mr. Dondero the source of the information in this particular paragraph?
A. No.
Q. Who was?
A. My attorneys.
Q. That's how you learned about it; is that fair?
A. Yes.
Q. Do you see there's a reference to a put option in the last line of this paragraph?
A. Yes.
Q. Are you generally familiar with that put option?
A. Yes.
Q. And do you know who the counterparty is for that put option?

A. No, I don't.
Q. You don't know?
A. No.
Q. Did you ever ask?
A. I'm sure when we --
ATTORNEY OKIN: Louis, you're not on mute, by the way.
BY ATTORNEY MORRIS:
Q. Go ahead, Ms. Diaz. I'm sorry.
A. I'm sure when we received the contribution, we asked. And you can ask our CFO that question.
My understanding from the original call in Labor Day weekend to our attorney was that we should call the put. That was a 10-year, I believe, and this would have been at year 7; and we didn't understand why he would be calling to ask that. And ...
Q. Has the Dallas Foundation exercised the put as of today?
A. Absolutely not.
Q. Why not?
A. We stopped all activity because this, again, was the beginning of, why is somebody doing that, not giving us the information, not talking to us directly; and that -- and at advice of counsel, we -- we have been very careful with any of our activities to date.

Q. And do you know what material nonpublic inside information Mr. Patrick supposedly misused?
A. I'll just tell you the quote he gave us, which was Jim Dondero's spiraling out of control and you need to do this because nothing appears to be what it is.
Q. He didn't tell you who -- withdrawn.
Is that your basis for alleging that he had material nonpublic inside information --
A. I'll -- well, I guess, I can't abstain. I don't know.
Q. Do you have any other --
A. If my --
Q. I'm sorry.
A. Well, if my attorney says, "Don't do that," we don't do it.
Q. I appreciate that. I don't quarrel with you. I'm just trying to learn facts here.
Can you identify any information that you believe Mr. Patrick had that constitutes material nonpublic inside information, as that phrase is used in the Dallas Foundation's objections?

A. Right.
ATTORNEY OKIN: Hold on, John. I assume you're not -- I assume we're talking about information that's no longer nonpublic?
ATTORNEY MORRIS: If -- if you all want to mark this -- I don't know what it is, Matt, so I can't say. And it's not my information either. So I'm happy to mark it confidential if you really prefer.
ATTORNEY OKIN: I -- I don't even know if she knows the answer to the question.
A. I don't know the answer to that. But I will tell you that we quickly got a call from Skyview saying that Mark Patrick was no longer employed there and that that was confidential, yeah, insider information.
BY ATTORNEY MORRIS:
Q. Oh, so somebody at Skyview told you that; is that fair?
A. That's fair.
Q. And who was that at Skyview?
A. Well, it was an attorney for Skyview.
Q. Was it D.C. Sauder?

A. No. A woman.
Q. Okay. So a female attorney at Skyview told you that Mark Patrick had been terminated and that he had material nonpublic inside information.
Do I have that right?
A. That they were investigating him and understood that we had called the -- he had called -- told us to call the put option.
Q. Okay. But as you sit here today, you're not able to tell me what material nonpublic inside information Mr. Patrick supposedly had; fair?
A. Fair.
ATTORNEY MORRIS: Ma'am, thank you so much. I appreciate your time.
Matt, thank you for a professional deposition.
We'll see you all, I guess, in a little bit for the next deposition.
Thanks, folks.
THE COURT REPORTER: Do you want a copy of the transcript?
ATTORNEY OKIN: Yes, rushed, please. Whenever John gets it.

ATTORNEY PHILLIPS: Yes, expedited, like everybody else.

THE COURT REPORTER: Mr. Lang, do you want a copy of the transcript?

ATTORNEY LANG: Yes, please.

(Whereupon, at 3:08 p.m. Central Time, the proceedings concluded.)

WHEREUPON,

TORREY LITTLETON,

being first duly sworn or affirmed to testify to the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth, was examined and testified as follows:

EXAMINATION

BY ATTORNEY MORRIS:

Q. Actually, I just want to start by apologizing to the witness that I did not tell him that Sunday depositions were casual. Thanks for dressing up.

A. I appreciate it. No worries.

Q. And for some of us, Mr. Littleton, every day is Sunday unless we're going to court.

It's nice to meet you, sir.

A. Same here.

Q. Can you hear me okay, sir?

A. Yes, I can hear you.

Q. Okay. Good afternoon. My name is John Morris. I'm an attorney at a law firm who represents Highland Capital Management, LP, and the Highland Claimant Trust. And we're here today for your deposition in connection with the Dallas Foundation's objection to a certain proposed settlement agreement between Highland and some affiliates and some entities that are controlled by Mark Patrick.

Do you understand that?

A. Yes.

Q. Have you ever been deposed before, sir?

A. No. This is my first time.

Q. Okay. It's not -- just relax. It's a -- it's a formal process, but it's not a complicated process. I'm going to ask you a series of questions, and it's very important that you let me finish my question before you begin your answer. Okay?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. It's important that I allow you to finish your answer before I begin my next question; and if I fail to do that, will you let me know?

A. Yes, sir, I will.

Q. Do you understand that your testimony today is being transcribed by Gail, the court reporter?

A. Yes.

Q. So everything you and I say is going to be written down verbatim, or that's the goal anyway.

Do you understand that?

A. Yes, I do.

Q. Okay. If there's a question that I ask that you don't understand, will you let me know and I'll try to rephrase it?

A. Yes.

Q. From time to time your lawyer might object to some of my questions. It will give -- it's formal, legal stuff, lawyer stuff. It gives me a chance to think about whether there's a legal infirmity in my question, and it gives me an opportunity to rephrase it if I want.

But unless he directs you not to answer, I'm going to ask you to answer the question anyway. Okay?

A. Okay.

Q. Just so you're not surprised by the process.

If you need a break for any reason at any time, let me know, and I'll try to accommodate you as long as a question is not pending. Okay?

A. Yes.

Q. Are you affiliated with the Dallas Foundation, sir?

A. Yes, I am.

Q. In what capacity?

A. I am the CFO here at the Dallas Foundation.

Q. How long have you been the CFO of the Dallas Foundation?

A. I've been the CFO here since January 1st of 2022, but I've been with the organization for 13 years.

Q. And what are your duties and responsibilities as the CFO?

A. As the CFO, my main duty is to ensure the proper oversight and fiduciary stewardship of our charitable assets. That means having fiduciary oversight of our investments, our financial reporting, any legal aspects that may impact the foundation in any capacity.

I also serve as a board director as relates to some of our supporting organizations, part of our conversation here today with Empower Foundation and the Okada Family Foundation.

Q. Are you a lawyer?
A. No, sir.
Q. Are you familiar with a company called Highland Capital Management, LP?
A. Yes, sir.
Q. Are you aware that that entity filed for bankruptcy a number of years ago?
A. Yes, sir.
Q. Are you aware that that entity used to be controlled by a gentleman named Jim Dondero?
A. Yes, sir.
Q. Okay. Are you aware that the Dallas Foundation recently filed an objection in the bankruptcy court overseeing Highland's bankruptcy and the objection pertaining to a proposed settlement agreement between Highland and certain affiliates and certain entities that are controlled by Mr. Patrick?
A. Yes, sir.
Q. Did you review that objection before it was filed?
A. Yeah, I read through the objections. But for the most part, I rely on our legal team to give us a summary and kind of walk us through some of the pertinent details.

Q. Are you familiar with the entities that Mr. Patrick signed that agreement on behalf of?
A. Yeah; I believe it's the Hunter Mountain Investment Trust.
Q. Right. And you're aware that in addition to the Hunter Mountain -- can we refer to Hunter Mountain Investment Trust as "HMIT" today?
A. Yes.
Q. And are you aware that certain affiliates of HMIT are also party to the settlement agreement that is the subject of this proceeding?
A. I am.
Q. And can we refer to HMIT and those affiliates that are party to the agreement as "the HMIT entities"?
A. Yes.
Q. Okay. It's going to make our day a little bit quicker and a little bit easier.
A. Sure.
Q. Do you know who approved the filing of the objection on behalf of the Dallas Foundation?

A. Yeah, so it was approved by President Julie Diaz.
Q. Anybody else?
A. Then our legal team helped us kind of put together the objection.
Q. Do you know, have you ever met Jim Dondero?
A. I have never met him personally, no.
Q. Have you ever spoken with him?
A. I think I was on one conference call with him one time that I can recall.
Q. Okay. Do you know if he had any role in the preparation of the Dallas Foundation's objection?
A. I didn't have any exposure with Mr. Dondero. So, no, I do not know.
Q. Do you know where the idea of filing the objection originated? Like, whose idea was it?
A. Yes -- yes.
Q. Whose idea was it to file the objection?
A. Well, it's a combination of the Empower and Okada Foundation boards. Just looking at some of the investment activity that transpired through the first quarter, we had some concerns about the activity. And a portion of that activity was the sale of Hunter Mountain interests through the Rand PE Fund I that ultimately rolled up to the Atlas, LP Fund, which impacted the economic value of the portfolio that's held by Crown Global.

Q. That's why the -- let's unpack that a little bit. I asked where did the -- who came up with the idea of objecting? Let's take that first.
A. Sure, sure. Yeah, I think it was the board of the foundations, so primarily Julie Diaz and myself just kind of thinking through the activity that we became aware of.
Q. And Mr. Dondero is a member of the board; right?
A. That's correct.
Q. And it's just the three of you; correct?
A. That's correct.
ATTORNEY OKIN: Object to form.
BY ATTORNEY MORRIS:
Q. The Dallas Foundation's objection refers to certain litigation pending in the Cayman Islands.

Are you aware of that?
A. Yes.
Q. Are you aware that Mr. Dondero is funding that litigation on behalf of the supporting organizations that commenced it?
A. Yes, sir.
Q. And you're aware that he's funding this litigation on behalf of the Dallas Foundation; correct?
A. That's correct.
Q. Do you know why Empower Dallas Foundation and the Okada Family Foundation didn't just file the objection in their own name rather than having the Dallas Foundation do it for them?
ATTORNEY OKIN: Object to form.
A. I think we looked it as the Dallas Foundation is the supporting organization of the two entities. And we felt that the Dallas Foundation and our president, Julie Diaz, we just decided to file it under the foundation based on a recommendation from our legal counsel.
BY ATTORNEY MORRIS:
Q. Are you aware that the objection is also filed on behalf of Crown Global Life Insurance, Limited?

A. Yes, sir.
Q. Okay. And what is Crown Global Life Insurance, Limited?
A. The Crown Global Life Insurance, Limited, is an issuer of insurance annuities.
Q. What -- what role does it play with respect to the Dallas Foundation?
A. Yeah, so it plays a role more so with the Empower Dallas and Okada Family Foundation. They each hold policies with Crown Global through the insurance annuities. So the legal contract is between Empower Dallas and Okada Family Foundation with Crown Global.
Q. And -- and is the withdrawn.
Does the annuity pay dividends or make other distributions?
A. Yeah, it makes distributions to the fund as fixed payments through the contract, yes, sir.
Q. And do those fixed payments go directly from Crown Global to Empower Dallas and the Okada Family Foundation respectively?
A. That's correct.
Q. And do you know what the annuities are invested in?

A. I don't know the actual underlying investments. I know the annuities have within them the Atlas IDF, LP Fund, and that they -- what ultimately rolls up is the Rand Fund I, the Beacon Mountain and the Hunter Mountain, HMIT, ultimately rolls up.
Q. And is -- are the annuities the sole source of Empower Dallas and the Okada Family Foundation's income, to the best of your knowledge?
A. That's correct, yes, sir.
Q. And does a portion of that income then flow up to the Dallas Foundation?
A. Well, the income doesn't flow to the Dallas Foundation. What does happen is, as Empower and the Okada Family Foundations make recommendations, those recommendations flow to the Dallas Foundation, to the corresponding donor-advised fund; and then ultimately those donor-advised funds make the grants out to the community.
We typically don't get any of the income through the Crown Global vehicle -- the Dallas Foundation doesn't get any income through the Crown Global vehicle.

Q. Is there anybody in the room with you right now?
A. No, sir.
Q. Do you have any device on other than the computer that we're sharing right now?
A. No. I have a fan on. Is it causing feedback?
Q. No, but I have a fan on too. Maybe it's --
A. Okay. Sorry. Yeah. Sorry about that.
Q. Do you have any notes or anything that you're reading from or that you're looking at?
A. No, sir, no.
Q. Okay. So there are these annuities. How did those annuities get funded? Do you know?
A. Yes. So back in 2015, I believe, in November of 2015, we funded the annuities with about $29 million. So contributions from -- I think it was about $22 million from the -- Mr. Dondero, and then I believe another $7 million from Mr. Okada, which ultimately were sent over to Crown Global to invest in the annuities.

Q. And under the annuities, they pay fixed amounts to both supporting organizations?
A. Yes, sir, that's correct.
Q. And is there any market risk that the supporting organizations have, or is this a -- is it your understanding that it's a contractual obligation of Crown Global to pay that fixed amount for some duration?
A. Yeah, I believe Crown Global takes the risk. They have to pay a fixed amount through the obligation. I believe they take an M&E expense, which compensates for the risk.
Q. What's that last piece? I missed --
A. The M&E expenses, it's part of their -- we receive their statements quarterly. They have an administrative fee that they take, and then they have what they call an M&E expense, which it was explained a while back that's a percentage that they take to compensate for the risk associated with insurance annuities.
Q. And is the annuity tied to a -- is it a fixed period of time, or is it tied to a particular event?
A. That, I cannot answer.
Q. Okay. But is it fair to say that the supporting organizations paid money to Crown Royal -- Crown Global -- it's getting late. Sorry.

ATTORNEY OKIN: Sounds good.
THE WITNESS: No. Sounds good, yeah.
BY ATTORNEY MORRIS:
Q. Let me restate the question.
Is it your understanding that the supporting organizations paid money to Crown Global; and in exchange, they got annuities which produced a fixed stream of income for a period of time in the future? Is that right?
A. That's correct.
Q. Okay. And that the assets -- the segregated accounts themselves are owned by Crown Global; correct?
A. I believe the Atlas IDF Fund, I believe Crown Global has partnership interests in that particular fund. I don't think they have any ownership of the other underlying segregated accounts. Not that I'm aware of.
Q. Do the segregated accounts hold anything other than the annuities? Withdrawn.
Do the segregated accounts hold the annuities?

A. The segregated accounts, not to my knowledge do they hold the annuities. What I believe hold the annuities is the Atlas IDF, LP Fund holds the annuities.
Q. But Crown Global is the one who takes the risk with respect to the investments in the annuities; correct?
A. That's correct.
Q. And do they take the risk as well with respect to the value of Atlas, for example?
A. Yes, they do take the risk with the value of Atlas.
Q. So whether Atlas is worth a dollar or a billion dollars, Crown Global has the same obligation to the supporting organizations to pay the fixed stream of income that it agreed to when it sold the annuity to them; correct?
A. That's my understanding.
Q. Okay. So that regardless of the value of the segregated accounts, the supporting organizations are guaranteed to receive the exact same amount of money over time as long as Crown Global complies with its obligations in the annuity contract; correct?
A. Yes, sir.

Q. Okay. Do you know if the Dallas Foundation ever appeared in the Highland bankruptcy before it filed this objection?
A. No, sir, I don't believe we did.
Q. And as the CFO, is it fair to say that you know that the Dallas Foundation never filed a claim in the Highland bankruptcy?
A. Yes, sir.
Q. And do you also know that the Dallas Foundation does not have an interest in the Highland Claimant Trust that was formed as part of the plan of reorganization?
ATTORNEY OKIN: Object to form.
BY ATTORNEY MORRIS:
Q. Withdrawn. Let me lay a little bit of foundation.
Are you familiar with an entity called the Highland Claimant Trust?
A. Yes.
Q. Okay. Does the Dallas Foundation have, directly or indirectly, any interest in the Highland Claimant Trust?
ATTORNEY OKIN: Object to form.
A. What I could say is that it depends on the settlement with relationship with Hunter Mountain and indirectly with the roll-up that the beneficial interest to Empower and Okada Foundation and how that settlement impacts the economic interest there. I think that's where the Dallas Foundation could indirectly have some interest. While we're not the sole ownership of the Crown Global policy, we do have a relationship with Empower Dallas and the Okada supporting organizations.

BY ATTORNEY MORRIS:

Q. Well, you don't have an interest in what, did you say? The annuities?

A. We do have an interest in the annuity contracts.

Q. The Dallas Foundation didn't fund the annuity contracts; correct?

A. No, we did not fund them. But --

Q. And the Dallas Foundation doesn't own the annuity contracts; correct?

A. No, we don't own the annuity contracts. But what we do is we do have a fiduciary responsibility for any relationship that they financially to protect, preserve and to grow these charitable assets. And, ultimately, the supporting organizations, they roll up into our financial statements.

Q. Is it your understanding that Crown Global has a duty to distribute -- withdrawn.

Is it your understanding that Crown Global has a duty to make distributions to the Dallas Foundation?

A. No, sir. They make distributions to Empower and Okada supporting organizations.

Q. Do you have any reason to believe that Crown Global owes any duty at all to the Dallas Foundation with respect to the annuities?

ATTORNEY OKIN: Object to form.

A. There's no direct responsibility from Crown Global to the Dallas Foundation. But because of our relationship with Okada and Empower, there is an indirect relationship there, that we have an interest.

BY ATTORNEY MORRIS:

Q. And let's go beyond the annuities.

Do you know whether Crown Global has any direct duty to the Dallas Foundation for any reason?

ATTORNEY OKIN: Object to form.

A. I'm going to say not directly.

BY ATTORNEY MORRIS:

Q. Okay. Thank you.

Does the Dallas Foundation carry on its balance sheet any interest in the Highland Claimant Trust?

A. No, sir.

Q. Do you know if the Dallas Foundation has any contractual relationship with Highland Capital Management or the Highland Claimant Trust?

A. No, sir, we don't.

Q. Do you have any reason to believe today that Highland Capital Management or the Highland Claimant Trust owes any duties or obligations to the Dallas Foundation?

ATTORNEY OKIN: Object to form.

A. I wouldn't say there was any duties or obligations to the Dallas Foundation. But I do think we have, again, some interest in the settlements and how the funds originally were supposed to flow up to Empower and Okada.

Empower and Okada, they roll up to the Dallas Foundation's financial statements. So I think there is some indirect interest in Highland Capital Claimant Trust and the decisions that are being made as it relates to the settlement.

BY ATTORNEY MORRIS:

Q. I'm going to respectfully move to strike and ask you to listen carefully to my question --

A. Yes, sir.

Q. -- and this will go very smoothly.

Do you have any reason to believe that Highland Capital Management or the Highland Claimant Trust owes any duties or obligations to the Dallas Foundation?

ATTORNEY OKIN: Objection; form.

THE WITNESS: My apologies.

ATTORNEY OKIN: Go ahead.

A. No, sir.

BY ATTORNEY MORRIS:

Q. Are you aware that if the settlement between the Highland entities and the HMIT entities is approved, that the HMIT entities will receive cash and other assets as set forth in the agreement?

A. Yes.

Q. Do you have any reason to believe that the Dallas Foundation has a right to receive any of the cash or other assets that would be delivered to HMIT if the settlement is approved?

ATTORNEY OKIN: Object to form.
A. Like I say based on the facts is that the interest in HMIT were sold for a million dollars. So I believe the current structure as of now, the two supporting organizations would not receive any settlements. They would not have any economic benefit of the settlement payout.
Based on the historical structure, yes, I would have said yes. We had interest in that settlement that would ultimately impact the fair market values for Empower and Okada.
BY ATTORNEY MORRIS:
Q. Are you familiar with the fair market value of Empower and Okada?
A. So the fair market value is through the insurance annuity. So based on the --
Q. I'm sorry. Through the insurance what?
A. It's the insurance through Crown Global, so they produce a fund statement on a quarterly basis. We use that to state the fair market value.
Q. And is the fair market value based on anything other than the projected future income stream that you described earlier?

A. I believe there is impact related to some of the sub accounts. One thing we do know is in February of 2025, we saw the fair market value increased by 918,000 due to the sale of Rand's interest in Hunter Mountain. So we do believe there are other assets that impact the fair market value.
Q. But that's the fair market value of the annuities; is that right?
A. The sale of the Rand -- the interest in the Hunter Mountain, the Rand?
Q. Yeah, yeah. Is what you're describing the fair market value of the annuities that flows up to the supporting organizations?
A. I believe we have a couple of investments that are within the Crown Global structure. I think you have insurance annuities, and then you have other assets that are also within that structure through the Atlas platform. The way I understand it, the Atlas platform allows for other alternative investments to be wrapped within the insurance annuities.
Q. Did the supporting organizations have an ownership interest in Crown Global?

A. Yeah. They hold the policy, right? The supporting organizations hold the policy through Crown Global, so absolutely.
Q. And the policy that you're referring to are the annuity policies?
A. The annuity policies, that's correct.
Q. And, again, just for clarity, it does not matter to the supporting organization what the value of the assets that are held by Crown Global is; what matters is the agreed-upon future flow of distributions; fair?
A. That's fair, yes, sir. Yes.
Q. Are you familiar at all with the structure of the Highland Claimant Trust?
A. Not with the Highland Claimant Trust, no. I'm familiar with the structure of the -- the Rand structure here as relates to the Empower Dallas, and then I'm familiar with the DAF Holdco structure.
Q. Are you familiar with the HMIT structure?
A. I'm familiar -- I know how the structure flows up to the Atlas IDF Fund.
Q. Have you reviewed any of the governing documents for HMIT or any of the Rand funds or any of the Atlas funds? Have you ever reviewed the governing documents?

A. At a high level, I took a glance at the governing documents to get an understanding of the flow. I've seen organizational flow charts to kind of give me an idea of who owns what and how does it roll up ultimately to Crown Global.
Q. Do you have any knowledge as to what, if any, role Crown Global played in the Highland bankruptcy?
A. No, sir.
Q. So we've talked about the Rand and the Atlas entities and Hunter Mountain, and we've referred to those that signed on to the agreement as "the HMIT entities"; right?
A. Yes.
Q. Do you know why each of the HMIT entities was created? Do you know what purpose they served?
A. You know, I know that they create some vehicles that allow some different types of investments. I would imagine -- I don't know why the structures were created the way they were. We don't have that kind of insight. That's just an assumption.

Q. Can you identify any assets that HMIT owns today?
A. No, sir.
Q. Were you ever able to identify any assets that HMIT owned?
A. No.
Q. In your duties as the CFO for the Dallas Foundation, did you ever make an inquiry as to what assets HMIT owned?
A. We made an inquiry to the Atlas structure unsuccessfully over the years because they were able to get to the underlying assets to have a clear understanding of the holdings; so, no, I couldn't tell you that I was successful in understanding the underlying assets.
Q. So you've been the CFO for three years now --
A. Yes, sir.
Q. -- and a half?
But you were with the organization for about six; right?
A. For 13, 13 total.
Q. Thank you.
So you've been with the organization long before Mark Patrick ever had any role with respect to the HMIT entities; right?

A. Yes, sir.
Q. Okay. At any time that you've been with the Dallas Foundation, were you ever informed as to the assets that were held by HMIT?
A. No, sir.
Q. No; right?
A. That's correct -- no.
Q. Do you know today what assets are held by any of the HMIT entities?
A. No, sir.
Q. At any time during your tenure at the Dallas Foundation, were you ever informed as to what the assets were that any of the HMIT entities owned?
A. No, sir.
Q. Okay. And did you ever think that, as part of your duties and responsibilities working for the Dallas Foundation, that you needed to know that information?
A. Absolutely. Yeah, we inquired on multiple occasions to get our auditors comfortable with the investment vehicle.
Q. And you were never able to get that information, is that right?

A. That's right.
Q. And that was true for the entire time of your tenure at the Dallas Foundation?
A. Yes, sir.
Q. Okay. In the course of your duties, did you ever communicate with anybody who was acting on behalf of HMIT?
A. I had some communications with Mark Patrick, but I don't think he was over HMIT at the time. I don't know. So it's kind of hard to understand the transfer of a trustee or ownership or oversight those accounts had.
So at a high level, he was probably the person I tried to communicate with if we had any questions around the valuations.
Q. But it wasn't necessarily because he was wearing the HMIT hat; it was because he wore a lot of hats. Is that fair?
A. That's fair, yes.
Q. During the course of your tenure at the Dallas Foundation, did you ever once say to yourself, I need to speak to the guy who's the head of HMIT?
A. No, we've never said that.

Q. Okay. Did you ever say to yourself at any time during your tenure at the Dallas Foundation, I need to speak to the head of any of the HMIT entities?
A. No, sir.
Q. Do you know if the Dallas Foundation ever received anything of value from HMIT directly?
A. I can't say directly, no. I just assumed it had rolled up. It was -- we had some value through the structure, I would imagine.
Q. Do you know if the Dallas Foundation ever received anything of value directly from any of the HMIT entities?
A. No, sir.
Q. Do you know if any of the -- withdrawn.
Do you have any reason to believe that any of the HMIT entities owes a duty or obligation to the Dallas Foundation today?
ATTORNEY OKIN: Object to the form.
A. I believe that there's going to be impact to our economic interest in Crown Global. I do believe there's a fiduciary obligation to the Dallas Foundation to have communication if there are investment decisions that are being made that's going to impact that economic interest, positive or negatively.

BY ATTORNEY MORRIS:
Q. Sorry. I may not have heard it clearly.
But do you believe that Highland Capital Management or the Highland Claimant Trust owes a fiduciary duty to the Dallas Foundation?
A. Sorry. No. No. No. I thought you said HMIT. Sorry.
Q. You know what? I probably did. Let's do that.
A. Yeah.
Q. Did you believe -- do you believe that any of the HMIT entities owes a fiduciary duty to the Dallas Foundation?
ATTORNEY OKIN: Object to form.
A. Again, I'll just restate what I said.
If it's starting to impact the economic interest for the value of the Crown Global policies, I do think there's a fiduciary obligation to have a conversation to inform of any investment decisions that are being made that could have significant impact to that value.

BY ATTORNEY MORRIS:
Q. Okay. Are you aware that HMIT filed a motion in the bankruptcy court a couple of years ago seeking permission to file a lawsuit against Highland Capital Management and others?
A. Yes, sir, I am aware of that.
Q. You are.
Did HMIT seek the Dallas Foundation's approval before filing that motion?
A. No, sir, not that I'm aware of.
Q. Do you believe that HMIT was required to seek the Dallas Foundation's approval before filing that lawsuit?
A. Again, I think it -- I don't know if "seek approval" is the right language I would use. But I do think informing the Dallas Foundation, that this could impact the economic interests of Empower and Okada Foundation.
Q. And nobody ever told you that; is that right?
A. That's correct.
Q. How did you learn about the lawsuit that HMIT commenced against Highland and others a couple of years ago?

A. Well, as we kind of got -- one, it was kind of some news that was -- that came about through some other research. Currently, as of today, we have our legal team working, pulling together facts so they kind of reiterated some of the facts that could impact the overall case. So I will just lean on our legal team to kind of bring us up to speed on this fact-finding.
Q. Do you know who authorized the filing of that motion?
A. From HMIT?
ATTORNEY OKIN: Object to form. Which motion do you mean, John?
ATTORNEY MORRIS: The same one we're talking about, the motion for permission from the bankruptcy court to sue Highland and other parties.
ATTORNEY OKIN: The one he told you he didn't even know about what was filed.
ATTORNEY MORRIS: Hey, Matt, he did tell me. He actually did tell me --
ATTORNEY OKIN: He told you he heard about it after, but go ahead.
BY ATTORNEY MORRIS:
Q. So...

A. Yes, sir, I believe it was Mr. Mark Patrick that filed them.
Q. That authorized the filing of that lawsuit?
A. Yes, sir.
Q. Do you think he did anything wrong in doing that?
ATTORNEY OKIN: Object to form.
A. What I can say is that it has impact -- it can potentially have some impact on the -- it's convoluted. I can't say he did anything wrong with filing that motion. But if it's going to impact the Empower and Okada Foundation, which is why I'm here today, is to represent those supporting orgs, you know, I think we have interest in the decisions that he's making, right?
BY ATTORNEY MORRIS:
Q. Okay. But we can agree that he never sought nor obtained the Dallas Foundation's approval to file that motion; correct?
A. Yes, sir, we can agree.
Q. And can we also agree that you only heard about that lawsuit after it was commenced or after the motion was filed?

A. Yes, sir.
Q. Okay. Have you read the settlement agreement that is the subject of the Dallas Foundation's objection?
A. Yeah, I've got some high-level facts related to the settlement agreement. We had a legal team kind of -- again, we leaned on them to kind of pull out some of the important facts that could impact the Empower and Okada Foundation.
Q. Do you know generally what HMIT is proposing to give and receive under the settlement agreement?
A. Yes, sir, generally, I do know. I believe they're trying to release liability on some of the claims. I think that's part of the settlement agreement. I'm also aware that there are future payouts that will be made to Hunter Mountain.
Q. And are you aware of other assets that Hunter Mountain might receive if the settlement agreement is pursued?
A. Yes.
Q. And what other assets are you aware of?
A. I know there's a large sum of assets, you know, in the -- 300 million, I think that's the amount of it that I don't recall. But I couldn't go verbatim.

Q. It's not your understanding that there's $300 million worth of anything that's related to that agreement --
A. Oh, yeah, yeah, yeah. But, yeah, it's not -- it's not there -- I was thinking about there was some data around -- I apologize if I'm getting my facts confused.
Q. That's okay.
A. Yeah, actually, there's a -- as it relates to the Empower and Okada, I believe there was an impact of roughly 23-plus million dollars, potentially.
Q. But that has nothing to do with Highland; correct?
A. That's correct.
Q. And it has nothing to do with this settlement agreement; correct?
ATTORNEY OKIN: Object to form.
A. Well, I think if it has impact, ultimately, again, to Empower and Okada, again, we sold our interest in Highland Capital Management -- or Hunter Mountain for a million dollars. So based on what we know is if there is a payout of $23 million, Empower and Okada, we won't benefit from it.

BY ATTORNEY MORRIS:
Q. So is it fair to say that the Dallas Foundation's concern is not with the terms of the settlement agreement itself but with the disposition of the assets that Hunter Mountain will receive if the settlement agreement is approved?
ATTORNEY OKIN: Object to form.
A. Well, the only thing I would say about that is we have individuals making some questionable decisions and, you know, with charitable assets. I believe Highland Dallas has entered into a settlement agreement with this individual. I think that's -- that's what I could say is somewhat problematic.
BY ATTORNEY MORRIS:
Q. What's problematic?
A. Oh, we have an individual that's shifting around charitable assets out of the responsibility of Empower and Okada; right? And, you know, Highland Capital has entered into an agreement with this individual. I think we all understand the facts that are at play.

Q. Do you have any reason to believe that the settlement agreement was not the product of an arm's-length, good-faith negotiation between adverse parties?
ATTORNEY OKIN: Object to form.
A. I can't say anything. Yeah, I wasn't a part of those conversations, so I can't opine.
BY ATTORNEY MORRIS:
Q. And you don't have any facts that would suggest that the settlement agreement is anything other than the product of good-faith, arm's-length negotiations; correct?
ATTORNEY OKIN: Object to the form.
A. I wasn't part of the conversation, so I can't opine. But what I can state is that I believe there's significant impact to the Okada and Empower Dallas Foundation.
BY ATTORNEY MORRIS:
Q. And that's as -- not as a result of the settlement agreement, but as a result of what the Dallas Foundation contends was the restructuring that Mr. Patrick engaged in earlier this year; fair?
ATTORNEY OKIN: Object to form.

A. For the most part, I'd say that's fair.
BY ATTORNEY MORRIS:
Q. Okay. Do you have any concerns that the settlement agreement is not the product of arm's-length, good-faith negotiations?
A. I'd have to restate that, again, we have an individual who's moving around charitable assets. And, again, I think we understand the facts of restructuring, and the agreement was made to settle with this individual. So from our standpoint, again, it impacts the two supporting organizations that we are here representing.
So I think there's two things at play. The negotiations that you had with this individual, I can't opine whether or not that it wasn't done in good faith; but the impact of that settlement agreement does impact Okada and Empower Dallas.
Q. And that's because as a result of Mr. Patrick's restructuring, the Dallas Foundation is concerned that it may not have -- it may not receive as much as it would have indirectly had the restructuring not taken place; fair?

A. That's fair.
ATTORNEY OKIN: Object to form.
BY ATTORNEY MORRIS:
Q. Okay. Do you have any reason to believe that the proposed settlement is unfair to Highland Capital Management, LP?
A. Yeah, I don't have any reason to opine, no.
Q. Okay. Do you have any reason to opine as to whether or not the proposed settlement agreement is unfair to the Highland Claimant Trust?
A. No, sir.
Q. Do you have any reason to opine that the proposed settlement agreement is unfair to the Highland Litigation Subtrust?
A. No, sir.
Q. Do you have any reason to opine that the settlement agreement is unfair to Hunter Mountain Investment Trust?
A. No, sir. We can make good-faith settlements, given that there are facts that certain organizations or entities could be impacted, given what we've already talked about, what Mark Patrick has done with the restructuring.

Q. So two things can be true, at the same time --
A. Two things can be true.
Q. Two things can be true at the same time; right, sir? The settlement agreement can be a fair and reasonable settlement that's the product of arm's-length and good-faith negotiations; while at the same time, the Dallas Foundation can still have concerns over the disposition of the assets that Hunter Mountain receives as a result of this restructuring; fair?
A. I think for the most part, that's fair. The only caveat I would add to that is if I'm negotiating with an individual that we know is causing harm to other organizations, I just say maybe we don't care about that. But from our standpoint, we do.
Q. Do you have any reason to believe that the proposed settlement is unfair to any of the HMIT entities?
A. No, sir.
Q. Are you aware that under the settlement agreement, the HMIT entities are releasing the Highland parties from any liability other than that which arises out of the settlement agreement itself?

A. Yeah. I believe that was a part of the settlement. That's why we have the settlement. Yeah.
Q. Do you have any concern about the scope of the releases that the HMIT entities are providing?
ATTORNEY OKIN: Object to form.
BY ATTORNEY MORRIS:
Q. You can answer, sir.
A. No, sir; only as it impacts, how does it impact or potentially can impact lost income for Okada and Empower.
Q. Do you have any reason to believe that the granting of the releases in the proposed settlement agreement by the HMIT entities will have any impact at all on the supporting organizations?
ATTORNEY OKIN: Object to form.
A. Again, I think there's an economic interest in what does the settlement -- the loss of income streams to Empower and Okada, which we believe is true.
///

BY ATTORNEY MORRIS:
Q. I'm just focused on the releases now.
A. Sure.
Q. Do you have any reason to believe that the releases that the HMIT parties are granting under the proposed settlement will have any economic impact on the supporting organizations?
ATTORNEY OKIN: Object to form.
A. No, sir.
BY ATTORNEY MORRIS:
Q. Okay. Are you aware of any facts that could give rise to a claim by the Dallas Foundation against Highland?
ATTORNEY OKIN: Object to form.
A. Can you elaborate on that a little bit for me.
BY ATTORNEY MORRIS:
Q. Sure.
So I'm just -- I'm wondering if you know of any facts that might give rise to a claim or a cause of action by the Dallas Foundation against Highland Capital Management.
ATTORNEY OKIN: Object to form.
A. Not directly, no, sir.

BY ATTORNEY MORRIS:
Q. Okay. Are you aware of any facts that might give rise to a claim or cause of action that the Dallas Foundation could assert against the Highland Claimant Trust?
ATTORNEY OKIN: Object to form.
A. No, sir, not directly, no.
BY ATTORNEY MORRIS:
Q. Do you understand the basis for the Dallas Foundation's objection to the proposed settlement?
A. Absolutely, yes, I do.
Q. Can you describe for me in your own words what your understanding is of the basis of the objection.
A. Yeah. We are aware that we sold Rand PE Fund, which rolls up to the Atlas IDF Fund, sold its interest in the Hunter Mountain for a million dollars; and we believe that we have significant future economic payments that would be paid out to Hunter Mountain that Empower and Okada would no longer benefit from.
Q. Is it fair to say that the Dallas Foundation is concerned, not with the terms of the settlement agreement itself, but with the possibility that it may not get its fair share of the consideration that the HMIT entities are to receive under the settlement agreement?

ATTORNEY OKIN: Object to form.
A. Yeah, for the most part, that's the key -- that's our concern.
BY ATTORNEY MORRIS:
Q. Okay. Do you understand that Mark Patrick has entered into the settlement agreement with the Highland entities on behalf of each of the HMIT entities?
A. That's my understanding.
Q. Do you have any reason to believe that the governing documents for the HMIT entities did not authorize Mr. Patrick to enter into the settlement agreement on behalf of each of the HMIT entities?
ATTORNEY OKIN: Object to form.
A. You know, what I would say to that is, you know, regardless of the governing documents, I do believe there's a fiduciary obligation that Mr. Patrick had to the supporting organizations, to inform us of any significant investment decisions that could impact the economic interest in the Crown Global vehicle.

So I just believe that, you know, just like any trustee investment advisor/control person, those are just normal conversations that we expect to have; and we not did not have that in this situation.
BY ATTORNEY MORRIS:
Q. Okay. Anything else?
A. No, sir.
Q. Okay. You don't believe that Mr. Patrick was required to obtain the Dallas Foundation's consent before entering into the settlement agreement; fair?
A. That's fair.
Q. And you don't have any reason to believe that the Dallas Foundation has any right or ability to prevent Mr. Patrick from entering into the settlement agreement on behalf of the HMIT entities; fair?
ATTORNEY OKIN: Object to form.
A. You know, I think there's two things can be true again. I think there's documentation which I haven't seen, but, again, there's a fiduciary obligation to the interested parties, I believe, just as any relationship with an investment advisor or control person.

BY ATTORNEY MORRIS:
Q. And in your view, does the fiduciary duty that you believe Mr. Patrick had as the representative of the HMIT entities, does that extend anywhere beyond the duty to inform?
ATTORNEY OKIN: Object to form.
A. Well, I'm just trying to think about -- you know, we advised $650 million of assets under management. We have advisors all the time, before they make any decisions on the sale of investments, we're informed about it. They kind of let us know if it's going to have impact to our portfolios. And that's just an expectation that we have of any investment advisor or control person.
BY ATTORNEY MORRIS:
Q. I appreciate that you have that expectation. Do you have an expectation that the HMIT entities needed to obtain the Dallas Foundation's consent before entering into the settlement agreement?
A. I'm not a legal person. But I would imagine if you have the documentation legally, I don't know if you had to get our consent. It's more so just a fiduciary obligation.

Q. And, legally, do you have any reason to believe that the Dallas Foundation has a legal right over transactions that Mark Patrick, in his capacity as the representative of any of the HMIT entities, wanted to enter into?
ATTORNEY OKIN: Object to form.
A. As an interested party, I think we have an ability to have conversations to see if this decision was made that negatively impacted the supporting organizations. I think we do have a right there to really understand why this decision was made. Why are we selling the interest for a million dollars? Why now? Why is the timing that happened now? Because if nothing happened, what we know is we would have benefited from the settlement payouts.
BY ATTORNEY MORRIS:
Q. Does the Dallas Foundation have a direct ownership interest in any of the HMIT entities?
A. Not a direct ownership, no, sir.
Q. Does the Dallas Foundation have any indirect ownership interest in any of the HMIT entities?
ATTORNEY OKIN: Object to form.

A. Not directly. The Dallas Foundation does not.
BY ATTORNEY MORRIS:
Q. So no direct interest -- withdrawn.
No direct ownership interest and no indirect ownership interest; fair?
ATTORNEY OKIN: Object to form.
A. We do have an interest in -- because the assets roll up to our balance sheet overall, they would present an audited financial statement. So we do have to understand the fluctuations in market value to explain not just to our board but to our auditors what's happened. So we do have indirect interest.
BY ATTORNEY MORRIS:
Q. And none of the HMIT entities appear as an asset on the Dallas Foundation's balance sheet; correct?
A. Not directly. But if they roll up and they feed into the Atlas IDF Fund, right, and then the Atlas IDF Fund, which is a part of the Crown Global annuities, feeds into our balance sheet, there is an indirect interest in HMIT.
Fair to say?
Q. Does any Atlas entity appear on the Dallas Foundation balance sheet?

A. Yeah, through the Crown Global annuity. So if you look at the Crown Global statement, it lists an Atlas LP as the investment vehicle.
Q. Do you know if the Dallas Foundation has any right to control any of the HMIT entities?
ATTORNEY OKIN: Object to form.
A. No, we can't directly control the HMIT entities.
BY ATTORNEY MORRIS:
Q. Do you know if the Dallas Foundation has any right to approve or disapprove of any potential transaction that an HMIT entity was contemplating entering into?
A. Yeah, so with the Atlas IDF Fund, what I can say is the Empower and Okada, they do have the opportunity to consent.
We had some notes that were -- there were some notes that Mark Patrick wanted to sell in February. We had to get the consent of Crown Global in order to sell these notes; and we had -- we opined with Crown Global to withdraw consent, right?

So he did reach out to Crown Global for consent in which the Empower and Okada had an opportunity to provide our recommendation.

Q. Let's focus on the settlement agreement.

Do you have any reason to believe that Mr. Patrick was required to obtain the consent of the Dallas Foundation before he signed it on behalf of the HMIT entities?

ATTORNEY OKIN: Object to form.

A. No.

BY ATTORNEY MORRIS:

Q. Do you have any reason to believe that Mr. Patrick was required to obtain the consent of the supporting organizations before entering into the settlement agreement on behalf of the HMIT entities?

ATTORNEY OKIN: Object to form.

A. No, sir.

BY ATTORNEY MORRIS:

Q. Do you have any reason to believe that Mr. Patrick was required to obtain the consent of Crown Global before entering into the proposed settlement agreement on behalf of each of the HMIT entities?

ATTORNEY OKIN: Object to form.

A. No, sir.

BY ATTORNEY MORRIS:

Q. Do you have any reason to believe that Crown Global has any right to control any of the HMIT entities?

ATTORNEY OKIN: Object to form.

A. Not that I'm aware of, no.

BY ATTORNEY MORRIS:

Q. Do you have any reason to believe that -- we're going to move on.

So we're going to put up on the screen the Dallas Foundation's objection.

A. Yes, sir.

Q. It will just take a moment for my colleague to do that.

While he's doing that, let me just tell you that this can be a little bit of a cumbersome process. I'm doing this by Zoom. If there's any aspect of the document that you recall that you think you need to review to refresh your recollection or to put it in context, will you just let me know that so that I give you a full and fair opportunity to answer the questions?

A. Yes, sir.

ATTORNEY MORRIS: Okay. Can we go to paragraph 32, please.

(Previously marked Highland Exhibit 1 introduced by counsel.)

BY ATTORNEY MORRIS:

Q. So I've put up on the screen, Mr. Littleton, the portion of the Dallas Foundation's objection that was filed in this case.

And you're familiar with that document; is that right?

A. Yeah. I couldn't repeat it back to you verbatim, but I understand some of the high-level facts in this objection.

Q. You give me comfort when you say that. You should not be able to repeat verbatim what this document is. So --

ATTORNEY OKIN: And, Mr. Littleton, although he didn't say it this time, he did say it in the prior one: If you need to see any more of this in order to be able to answer his questions, be sure to point that out.

THE WITNESS: Absolutely.

ATTORNEY MORRIS: I actually did say that. That's okay.

ATTORNEY OKIN: Did you say that this time? I know you said it last time.

ATTORNEY MORRIS: Sorry, I must be putting you to sleep.

ATTORNEY OKIN: That's a possibility.

BY ATTORNEY MORRIS:

Q. Looking at the third line, I'm just going to read this quote: "Unfortunately, it does not appear, however, that joint official liquidators are parties to or have authorized the settlement."

Do you see that sentence?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. Do you know the entity over which the joint official liquidators were appointed?

A. Yes, sir. It's the DAF Foundation Holdco.

Q. And that's in the Cayman Islands; is that right?

A. Yes, sir; that's correct.

Q. Are you aware that all of the HMIT entities are Delaware organizations?

A. Yes, sir; that's correct.

Q. Have you ever communicated with the joint official liquidators?

A. No, not officially. We do have a planned communication this week.
Q. Do you know if anybody acting on behalf of the Dallas Foundation has ever informed the joint official liquidators of Highland's motion to have the settlement agreement approved?
A. No, sir.
Q. Do you know if anybody acting on behalf of the Dallas Foundation has provided a copy of the objection that's on the screen to the joint official liquidators?
A. Not that I'm aware of, sir.
Q. Do you have any reason to believe, as you sit here today, that the joint official liquidators have any knowledge of the settlement agreement that is going to be before the Court on Wednesday?
ATTORNEY OKIN: Object to form.
A. I can't directly say.
BY ATTORNEY MORRIS:
Q. Okay. You haven't had any communications with anybody in the world at any time that led you to believe that the joint official liquidators were informed of the proposed settlement agreement or the Dallas Foundation's objection; fair?

A. That's fair, sir.
Q. Okay. Do you have any reason to believe that Mr. Patrick was required to obtain the authorization of the joint official liquidators before entering into this settlement agreement on behalf of the HMIT entities?
ATTORNEY OKIN: Object to form.
A. No, sir, I can't. I can't speak to that.
BY ATTORNEY MORRIS:
Q. Can you speak to whether or not the joint official liquidators have any right to veto or prevent the HMIT entities from entering into the settlement agreement?
A. Again, I'm not a legal person, so I can't really opine on the official capacity of the joint liquidators and what they're capable of doing and not doing. So I'm going to have to say, no, I can't answer that question.
Q. Further down in the paragraph it states that:
"Indeed, many of Mr. Patrick's actions, including the insertion of newly created entities into the fund's structure for the apparent purpose of diverting charitable assets will now be subject to the scrutiny of an independent, Court-appointed fiduciary and may be subject to clawback or other avoidance actions in the Cayman liquidation or such other tribunal as has jurisdiction."

Have I read that correctly, sir?
A. Yes, sir, you have.
Q. Okay. You're not an expert in Cayman Islands law; correct?
A. No, sir.
Q. I think you said earlier you're not a lawyer. Right?
A. That's correct.
Q. Do you have any understanding as to what facts must be established in order to succeed in a clawback or avoidance action?
A. It would just be assumption of mine that I would have, whether it's a breach of contract, discovery of various actions decision-making. But, no, I can't give you a legal opinion.

Q. Do you have any view at all as to likelihood that the supporting organizations or the Dallas Foundation might succeed in clawing back or succeeding in other avoidance actions to set aside the settlement agreement if it's approved by the Court?
ATTORNEY OKIN: Object to form.
And I'll also just remind you, Mr. Littleton, to the extent it's implicated, don't go into attorney-client privileged information that you may have received.
A. Yeah, I can't -- I can't answer your question, Mr. Morris, on that one.
BY ATTORNEY MORRIS:
Q. Is it fair to say you'd have to speculate as to whether or not -- let me just finish the question.
Is it fair to say that you would have to speculate as to whether or not the Dallas Foundation or anybody else might succeed in clawing back or avoiding the settlement agreement if it's approved by the Court?
ATTORNEY OKIN: Object to form.
A. It would be my opinion. It would be speculation of how I feel, given the facts that I've seen and just some of the impact that we've seen on our supporting organizations; and I would just leave it there.

ATTORNEY MORRIS: Okay. If we could scroll up to paragraph 33, please.

BY ATTORNEY MORRIS:

Q. Okay. The last sentence of paragraph 33 says: "Thus, even if approved by this Court, consummation of the settlement is not likely to buy the peace the debtor now seeks."

Do you see that?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. Do you have any reason to believe that the Highland parties have done anything wrong in entering into this proposed settlement agreement?

ATTORNEY OKIN: Object to form.

A. You know, what I would say is we have an individual, in Mr. Patrick, that's moving around charitable assets; and we -- Highland Capital or the Highland entities have settled -- have made a settlement agreement with this individual, knowing some of the facts of how the charities are being negatively impacted. That's -- that would be my comment there.

BY ATTORNEY MORRIS:

Q. I'm not asking about the impact on the charitable foundations, and I'm not asking about Mr. Patrick. I'm just asking if you have any facts that lead you to believe that Highland has engaged in any wrongdoing with respect to negotiation and entry into the proposed settlement agreement.

ATTORNEY OKIN: Object to form. He answered your question.

BY ATTORNEY MORRIS:

Q. You can answer, sir.

A. No, sir. I'll just leave it as I stated. That was my answer.

Q. All right. So I didn't hear any facts, so you don't have any facts. Is that fair?

ATTORNEY OKIN: Object to form; argumentative. Come on, John.

ATTORNEY MORRIS: Matt, I'm being --

ATTORNEY OKIN: You asked him if they did anything wrong. He told you they did something wrong by --

(Indiscernible cross-talk.)

THE COURT REPORTER: I'm sorry. I can't understand you both when you are talking at the same time.

BY ATTORNEY MORRIS:

Q. Mr. Littleton, are you aware of any facts that cause you to believe that the Highland parties have done anything wrong in entering into this agreement?

ATTORNEY OKIN: Object to form.

A. Again, I would just state that we have an individual who is moving around charitable assets, and I think we all are aware of the facts of what has taken place. Now, whether we want to consider that as anything wrong, in quotations, that's up for opinion.

In terms of "facts" facts, I can't -- no, I'm going to say, no, I don't have facts that I can with share you, Mr. Morris.

BY ATTORNEY MORRIS:

Q. And you don't even have any facts that suggest Highland had any role in moving the assets around that you just described; fair?

A. Yeah, I don't understand that Highland has moved around the assets. But I think when you're making a deal knowing that the individual that I'm settling with has done some things that are questionable, you know, I think that discussion can be up for debate, whether -- you know, charities are being impacted; significant dollars are not going to be going out to the community; there's a lot of uncertainty with these assets.

And we all know the facts. The facts are clearly outlined.

Q. Do you know why the Dallas Foundation contends that: "Even if approved by the Court, consummation of the settlement is not likely to buy the peace that the debtor now seeks"?

What's the basis for that, if you have any understanding at all?

A. That one there, sir, I'm not going to be able to answer that one for you.

Q. Are you aware of any potential claims that the Dallas Foundation is considering bringing against Highland Capital Management or the Highland Claimant Trust?

ATTORNEY OKIN: I'm going to instruct him not to answer that. To the extent that he would be aware of those, that would be --

ATTORNEY MORRIS: Why don't we just do "yes" or "no," Matt. Okay?

ATTORNEY OKIN: No. I think -- I think whether or not there are any claims and whether we're considering any claims is attorney-client privilege. It's not a "yes" or "no" or detail; it's a not answer.

ATTORNEY MORRIS: I'll ask him on Wednesday.

ATTORNEY OKIN: Okay.

BY ATTORNEY MORRIS:

Q. Let's go to -- yeah, paragraph 34 says that "there is ample evidence that Mr. Patrick has acted and is acting well outside the scope of his authority and fiduciary obligations."

Do you see that?

A. Yes, sir, I do.

Q. Okay. I want to focus solely on the negotiation and execution of the settlement agreement.

Focusing --

A. Yes, sir.

Q. Focusing solely on the settlement agreement, do you believe that Mr. Patrick acted outside of the scope of his authority to negotiate and enter into the settlement agreement on behalf of each of the HMIT entities?

ATTORNEY OKIN: Object to form of the question.

A. Again, I think it's something that I've stated a few times now. Two things can be true. I think we've already agreed on that.

BY ATTORNEY MORRIS:

Q. Which two things can be true here?

A. The good-faith conversation with the settlement; but at the same time, it could have a consequential impact on the Okada and Empower Dallas supporting organizations.

Q. Okay. Do you believe -- do you have any reason to believe that Mr. Patrick acted outside of his fiduciary obligations with respect to his negotiation and execution of the settlement agreement on behalf of the HMIT entities?

ATTORNEY OKIN: Object to form. Are you asking him personally or the organization that filed this?

ATTORNEY MORRIS: It's not a 30(b)(6) witness. I know the difference.

ATTORNEY OKIN: Just so we're clear.

A. Yeah, I do think there was a fiduciary obligation to inform and have a conversation with the interested parties.

BY ATTORNEY MORRIS:

Q. Okay. So, again, it's a duty to inform but nothing more; is that fair?

ATTORNEY OKIN: Object to form.

A. Yeah, yeah, again, I think it's, you know, something that we all expect to have, again, with our investment advisors, control persons, trustees.

BY ATTORNEY MORRIS:

Q. Okay. Can we go to paragraph 16, please.

Do you see paragraph 16 refers to material nonpublic information?

A. Yes, sir. I see it.

Q. Do you know what material nonpublic information is being referred to there?

A. No, sir.

Q. Did you ever ask anybody?

A. No. I didn't want to get involved in that conversation, no, sir. I did not ask anybody.

Q. Do you know where -- withdrawn.

Do you know the Dallas Foundation's source of information that enabled it to state, upon information and belief, that the information provided was obtained by Mr. Patrick through his employment at Skyview and constituted MNPI?

ATTORNEY OKIN: Object to form.

A. No, sir, I was not -- no.

BY ATTORNEY MORRIS:

Q. You don't know where that information came from?

A. No, sir.

Q. The next sentence refers to a put option.

Do you see that?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. Did the foundation have a put option?

A. Yeah, the Highland Dallas Foundation had a put option agreement with the Dugaboy Investment Trust. I think we had 1.5 million shares of NexPoint Hospitality Trust. I think it was a contribution that was given in 2019 with the 7-year put option.

Q. And is that option now expired?

A. I believe it converted into a different investment vehicle now.

Q. So the Dallas Foundation never exercised that option; correct?

A. Correct.
Q. Why not?
A. We didn't have a -- we didn't feel we had any reason to exercise the put option.
Q. Did you ever do any analysis to try to determine what the economic impact would be on the Dallas Foundation if they actually exercised that put option?
A. We had some conversations with our internal investment advisor, and at the time his recommendation was not to make any changes or call the put option.
Q. Who was that advisor?
A. Madden & Associates at the time -- excuse me. Madden Asset Management.
Q. Do you have the shares to exercise the put today?
A. To be honest, Mr. Morris, there's a little bit of discovery we have to understand now that the shares have converted. I believe they converted to a different vehicle in April of this year.
Q. Are you aware that the Dallas Foundation lost $9 million by not exercising the put option before it converted?

ATTORNEY OKIN: Object to form.
A. I think we -- so we do have some information that we just need to understand thoroughly about what's happened now that the assets transferred into a different vehicle.
BY ATTORNEY MORRIS:
Q. Well, you're the CFO; right? And I think you said that your duty is to be responsible for the foundation's assets; right?
A. That's fair; yes, sir.
Q. Were you aware that the put was going to convert before it actually converted?
A. I was not aware of that. I was not informed of that.
Q. Were you ever told what the value would be to the Dallas Foundation if the Dallas Foundation exercised the put?
A. Yeah, I believe you're correct, it was in the ballpark range of $9 million.
Q. So is it fair to say that had the Dallas Foundation exercised the put, then it would have recovered $9 million?
A. Yeah, I think that's fair, yeah.
Q. What's the value of the shares that it received upon conversion? Do you know that?

A. No, I don't know that. We were just notified recently that the shares had converted.
Q. Is one of the reasons that you didn't exercise the put option is because Dugaboy, Mr. Dondero's family trust, was the counterparty?
ATTORNEY OKIN: Object to the form.
A. No, sir, that wouldn't be the reason.
BY ATTORNEY MORRIS:
Q. Do you think Mark Patrick breached his fiduciary duty by telling the Dallas Foundation that it should consider exercising a put that was worth $9 million?
ATTORNEY OKIN: Object to form.
A. You know, I think there was information that was not privy to individuals, so I don't know if we could rely on that information to make a decision.
BY ATTORNEY MORRIS:
Q. This was a put that was owned by the Dallas Foundation; do I have that right?
A. The Highland Dallas Foundation, supporting organization.
Q. And what's the relationship between the Dallas Foundation and the Highland Dallas Foundation?

A. Very similar to the relationship between Empower Dallas and Okada Dallas. The Highland Dallas Foundation is the supporting org that we have indirect oversight of.
Q. And if the Highland Dallas Foundation had exercised the put, would that have inured to the benefit of the Dallas Foundation?
ATTORNEY OKIN: Object to form.
A. It ultimately would have. What it would have benefited was the supporting organization to allow for more impactful grant-making. So you would have had $9 million of liquidity that could be pushed out into the community.
ATTORNEY MORRIS: Okay. How much time do I have left, Matt? I know you're watching.
ATTORNEY OKIN: I lost track, I was so enraptured by your questions.
18 minutes.
ATTORNEY MORRIS: You wouldn't be the first one.
Why don't we take a short break here. I've got 18 minutes left. If we could just take a five-minute break.

(Recess taken from 4:42 p.m. to 4:49 p.m.)

BY ATTORNEY MORRIS:

Q. Mr. Littleton, I think you answered this. If I did, I apologize.

Can you confirm for me that you've never communicated with the joint official liquidators?

A. Yes, sir. That is correct, other than emails to set up a conversation.

Q. Conversations that you did not participate in; is that right?

A. Yeah, just for -- yeah, just for some questions they wanted to ask of the Dallas Foundation's finance team.

Q. But did you participate -- so you spoke with the joint official liquidators' finance team?

A. No. They wanted to set up a call. That's the only time -- the only communication I've had.

Q. And you haven't had that call yet; is that right?

A. That's correct.

Q. And that call is going to be scheduled for sometime in the future; fair?

A. Yes, sir.

ATTORNEY MORRIS: I have no further questions.

ATTORNEY PHILLIPS: No questions.

ATTORNEY OKIN: All right.

ATTORNEY MORRIS: Mr. Littleton, thank you very, very much for your time and patience.

Matt, thank you for arranging this on short notice.

Gail, do you need anything else from anybody?

THE COURT REPORTER: Okay. I have copies for Mr. Morris, Mr. Lang, Mr. Okin, and Mr. Phillips.

Anybody else?

ATTORNEY OKIN: Gail, we do want to read and sign both transcripts.

(Whereupon, at 4:50 p.m. Central Time the proceedings concluded.)
