(a) To purchase, sell, invest and trade, directly or indirectly, on margin or otherwise, in all types of securities and other financial instruments of United States and non-U.S. entities, including, without limitation, capital stock; all manner of equity securities (whether registered or unregistered, traded or privately offered, American Depository Receipts, common or preferred); physical commodities; shares of beneficial interest; partnership interests, limited liability company interests and similar financial instruments; secured and unsecured debt (both corporate and sovereign, bank debt, syndicated debt, vendor claims and/or other contractual claims); bonds, notes and debentures (whether subordinated, convertible or otherwise); currencies; interest rate, currency, equity and other derivative products, including, without limitation, (i) future contracts (and options thereon) relating to stock indices, currencies, United States Government securities, securities of non-U.S. governments, other financial instruments and all other commodities, (ii) swaps and contracts for difference, options, swaptions, rights, warrants, when-issued securities, caps, collars, floors, forward rate agreements, and repurchase and reverse repurchase agreements and other cash equivalents, (iii) spot and forward currency transactions and (iv) agreements relating to or securing such transactions; leases, including, without limitation, equipment lease certificates; equipment trust certificates; mortgage-backed securities and other similar instruments (including, without limitation, fixed-rate, pass-throughs, adjustable rate mortgages, collateralized mortgage obligations, stripped mortgage-backed securities and REMICs); loans; credit paper; accounts and notes receivable and payable held by trade or other creditors; trade acceptances and claims; contract and other claims; statutory claims; royalty claims; executory contracts; participations; mutual funds, exchange traded funds and similar financial instruments; money market funds and instruments; obligations of the United States, any state thereof, non-U.S. governments and instrumentalities of any of them; commercial paper; certificates of deposit; bankers' acceptances; trust receipts; letters of credit; choses in action; puts; calls; other obligations and instruments or evidences of indebtedness of whatever kind or nature; and real estate and any kind of interests in real estate; in each case, of any person, corporation, government or other entity whatsoever, whether or not publicly traded or readily marketable (all such items being called herein a "Financial Instruments"), and to sell Financial Instruments short and cover such sales;

(b) To possess, transfer, mortgage, pledge or otherwise deal in, and to exercise all rights, powers, privileges and other incidents of ownership or possession with respect to, Financial Interests held or owned by the Partnership with the ultimate objective of the preservation, protection, improvement and enhancement in value thereof and to hold such Financial Interests in the name of the Partnership, in the name of any securities broker or firm, in the name of any nominee of such firm, or in the name of any other nominee or any other street name, or any combination thereof;

(c) To lend, either with or without security, any Financial Instruments, funds or other properties of the Partnership, including by entering into reverse repurchase agreements, and, from time to time, undertake leverage on behalf of the Partnership;

(d) To borrow or raise moneys and, from time to time, without limit as to amount, to issue, accept, endorse and execute promissory notes, drafts, bills of exchange, warrants, bonds, debentures and other negotiable or non-negotiable instruments and evidences of indebtedness, and to secure the payment of any of the foregoing instruments and of the interest thereon by mortgage upon or pledge, conveyance or assignment in trust of the whole or any part of the property of the Partnership, whether at the time owned or thereafter acquired, and to sell, pledge or otherwise dispose of such bonds or other obligations of the Partnership for its purposes;

(e) To have and maintain one or more offices within or without the Cayman Islands and in connection therewith to rent or acquire office space, engage personnel and do such other acts and things as may be necessary or advisable in connection with the maintenance of such office or offices;

(f) To open, maintain and close bank accounts and brokerage accounts, including the power to draw checks or other orders for the payment of monies; and

(g) To enter into, make and perform all contracts, agreements and other undertakings as may be necessary or advisable or incidental to the carrying out of the foregoing objects and purposes.

2.2 Rights, Powers, Limitations on Liability and Indemnification of General Partner.

(a) Whether or not herein expressly so provided, every provision of this Agreement relating to the conduct or affecting the liability of or affording protection to the General Partner, its members or any of their respective affiliates and their respective partners, members, officers, directors, employees, shareholders and agents (including members of any committee and parties acting as agents for the execution of transactions) (each, a "Covered Person" and collectively, "Covered Persons") shall be subject to the provisions of this Section.

(b) To the fullest extent permitted by law, no Covered Person shall be liable to the Partnership or anyone for any reason whatsoever (including but not limited to (i) any act or omission by any Covered Person in connection with the conduct of the business of the Partnership, that is determined by such Covered Person in good faith to be in or not opposed to the best interests of the Partnership, (ii) any act or omission by any Covered Person based on the suggestions of any professional advisor of the Partnership whom such Covered Person believes is authorized to make such suggestions on behalf of the Partnership, (iii) any act or omission by the Partnership, or (iv) any mistake, negligence, misconduct or bad faith of any broker or other agent of the Partnership selected by Covered Person with reasonable care), unless any act or omission by such Covered Person constitutes willful misconduct or gross negligence by such Covered Person (as determined by a non-appealable judgment of a court of competent jurisdiction).

(c) Covered Person may consult with legal counsel or accountants selected by such Covered Person and any act or omission by such Covered Person on behalf of the Partnership or in furtherance of the business of the Partnership in good faith in reliance on and in accordance with the advice of such counsel or accountants shall be full justification for the act or omission, and such Covered Person shall be fully protected in so acting or omitting to act if the counsel or accountants were selected with reasonable care.

(d) To the fullest extent permitted by law, the Partnership shall indemnify and save harmless Covered Persons (the "Indemnitees"), from and against any and all claims, liabilities, damages, losses, costs and expenses, including amounts paid in satisfaction of judgments, in compromises and settlements, as fines and penalties and legal or other costs and expenses of investigating or defending against any claim or alleged claim, of any nature whatsoever, known or unknown, liquidated or unliquidated, that are incurred by any Indemnitee and arise out of or in connection with the business of the Partnership, any investment made under or in connection with this Agreement, or the performance by the Indemnitee of Covered Person's responsibilities hereunder and against all taxes, charges, duties or levies incurred by such Covered Person or any Indemnitee in connection with the Partnership, provided that an Indemnitee shall not be entitled to indemnification hereunder to the extent the Indemnitee's conduct constitutes willful misconduct or gross negligence (as determined by a non-appealable judgment of a court of competent jurisdiction). The termination of any proceeding by settlement, judgment, order or upon a plea of nolo contendere or its equivalent shall not, of itself, create a presumption that the Indemnitee's conduct constituted willful misconduct or gross negligence.

(e) Expenses incurred by an Indemnitee in defense or settlement of any claim that shall be subject to a right of indemnification hereunder, shall be advanced by the Partnership prior to the final disposition thereof upon receipt of an undertaking by or on behalf of the Indemnitee to repay the amount advanced to the extent that it shall be determined ultimately that the Indemnitee is not entitled to be indemnified hereunder.

(f) The right of any Indemnitee to the indemnification provided herein shall be cumulative of, and in addition to, any and all rights to which the Indemnitee may otherwise be entitled by contract or as a matter of law or equity and shall be extended to the Indemnitee's successors, assigns and legal representatives.

(g) The provisions of this Section are expressly intended to confer benefits upon Covered Persons and such provisions shall remain operative and in full force and effect regardless of the expiration or any termination of this Agreement.

(h) Notwithstanding anything in this Agreement to the contrary, the aggregate maximum amount that a Covered Person may be liable to the Partnership and/or any of the Partners pursuant to this Agreement shall, to the extent not prohibited by law, never exceed the amount of management and incentive fees received by such Covered Person from the Partnership under this Agreement prior to the date that the acts or omissions giving rise to a claim for indemnification or liability shall have occurred. In no event shall any Covered Person be liable for special, exemplary, punitive, indirect, or consequential loss, or damage of any kind whatsoever, including without limitation lost profits. No Covered Person shall incur any liability for interest on any monies at any time received by such Covered Person or any investment loss or other charge resulting therefrom with respect to amounts invested hereunder.

(i) WAIVER OF CONSUMER RIGHTS: The Partnership and each of the Limited Partners waive all of their respective rights, if any, under the Deceptive Trade Practices-Consumer Protection Act, Section 17.41 et seq., Texas Business & Commerce Code ("DTPA"), a law that gives consumers special rights and protections. After consultation with an attorney of Partnership's own selection, Partnership voluntarily consents to this waiver. This waiver includes any right to recover attorneys' fees under the DTPA. Further, Partnership waives all of its rights to any and all protections afforded by any other state or federal Consumer Protection Acts, including the recovery of attorneys' fees.

(j) No Covered Person shall be liable hereunder for any settlement of any action or claim effected without its written consent thereto.

Pursuant to the foregoing indemnification and exculpation provisions applicable to each Covered Person, the Partnership (and not the applicable Covered Person) shall be responsible for any losses resulting from trading errors and similar human errors, absent gross negligence or reckless or intentional misconduct of any Covered Person. Given the volume of transactions executed on behalf of the Partnership, Limited Partners acknowledge that trading errors (and similar errors) will occur and that the Partnership shall be responsible for any resulting losses, even if such losses result from the negligence (but not gross negligence) of any Covered Person.

(k) This Section 2.2 shall survive a Limited Partner's withdrawal as a limited partner of the Partnership and any termination of this Agreement.

ARTICLE III
CAPITAL ACCOUNTS AND DIVISION OF PROFITS AND LOSSES

3.1 Capital Contributions.

(a) Each Partner has made the capital contributions to the Partnership in the amount set forth in the records of the Partnership. The Limited Partner has contributed to the Partnership all of the outstanding equity interests of CLO HoldCo.

3.2 Capital Account; Allocation of Profits and Losses.

(a) There shall be established for each Partner on the books of the Partnership as of the first day of the fiscal period during which such Partner was admitted to the Partnership a capital account for such Partner in an amount equal to his capital contribution to the Partnership.

(b) Since the General Partner's capital account and contributions shall be the minimum required by Law, all income, deductions, gains, losses and credits of the Partnership shall be allocated shall be for the benefit of the Limited Partner, except as may otherwise be required by law. In the event any valuation of assets is necessary or appropriate, the General Partner shall determine such value in any reasonable manner determined by the General Partner in its sole discretion consistent with relevant accounting principles and applicable law.

(c) For purposes of determining the share of any items allocated to any period during the relevant Taxable Year of the Partnership, such shares shall be determined by the General Partner using any method permitted by the Code and the regulations thereunder. All allocations to be made by the General Partner may be overridden if necessary to comply with the Code, the regulations thereunder or other applicable law.

(d) To the extent that the Partnership pays withholding taxes as to a Partner, such amounts shall be charged to the applicable Partner's capital account; provided, however, that any such amounts may be treated as an advance to the Partner with interest to be charged to that Partner's capital account at a rate determined by the General Partner.

(e) Each Partner agrees not to treat, on any tax return or in any claim for a refund, any item of income, gain, loss, deduction or credit in a manner inconsistent with treatment of such item by the Partnership.

ARTICLE IV
LEGAL INTERESTS, DISTRIBUTIONS AND PARTIAL WITHDRAWALS FROM CAPITAL ACCOUNT

4.1 Legal Interest. Each Partner shall have and own during any Taxable Year an undivided interest in the Partnership equal to his opening capital account for such period.

4.2 Distributions.

(a) Distributions shall be made to the Limited Partner at the times, in a manner (including in kind) and in the aggregate amounts determined by the General Partner, after taking into consideration available cash and the needs of the Indirect Charitable Owners of the Limited Partner for funds to cover their administrative and operating expenses. In determining the amount of cash or securities available for distribution, the General Partner may retain reasonable reserves in such amounts as it determines may be necessary to cover expenses, contingencies and losses. Notwithstanding the foregoing, distributions made in connection with a sale of all or substantially all of the Partnership's assets or a liquidation of the Partnership shall be made in accordance with the capital account balances of the Partners within the time period set forth in Treasury Regulations Section 1.704-1(b)(2)(ii)(b)(3).

(b) The General Partner may withhold and pay over to the U.S. Internal Revenue Service (or any other relevant taxing authority) such amounts as the Partnership is required to withhold or pay over, pursuant to the Code or any other applicable law, on account of a Partner's distributive share of the Partnership's items of gross income, income or gain.

For purposes of this Agreement, any taxes so withheld or paid over by the Partnership with respect to a Partner's distributive share of the Partnership's gross income, income or gain shall be deemed to be a distribution or payment to such Partner, reducing the amount otherwise distributable to such Partner pursuant to this Agreement and reducing the capital account of such Partner. If the amount of such taxes is greater than any such distributable amounts, then such Partner and any successor to such Partner's interest shall pay the amount of such excess to the Partnership, as a contribution to the capital of the Partnership.

4.3 Withdrawal. Without the consent of the General Partner, no Partner may withdraw as a Partner or make withdrawals from such Partner's capital account. In the event the General Partner permits any such withdrawal, the withdrawal shall be on such terms and conditions as the General Partner shall determine in its sole discretion. The General Partner may terminate all or any part of the interest of any Limited Partner at any time for any reason or no reason by written notice; provided that any new or additional Limited Partner shall be directly or indirectly an entity or organization exempt from taxation under Section 501(c)(3) of the Code.

ARTICLE V
DURATION OF PARTNERSHIP

5.1 Termination. The Partnership shall be required to be wound up and dissolved upon:

(a) the service of a notice by the General Partner on the other Partners requiring that the Partnership be wound up and dissolved; or

(b) the withdrawal by or resignation of the General Partner as general partner of the Partnership; or

(c) the withdrawal of all Limited Partners.

Upon the occurrence of any such event, the Partnership's affairs shall be wound up by the General Partner or such other Person as the General Partner shall appoint.

5.2 Winding Up. Upon the Partnership being required to be wound up and dissolved, the General Partner shall proceed with the liquidation and distribution of the assets of the Partnership, and upon completion of the winding up of the Partnership, shall have the authority to and shall execute and file a dissolution notice and such other documents required to effect the dissolution and termination of the Partnership in accordance with the Law. Before the distribution of all the assets of the Partnership, the business of the Partnership and the affairs of the Partners, as such, shall continue to be governed by this Agreement. The winding up of the Partnership and payment of creditors shall be effected in accordance with the Law.

ARTICLE VI
MISCELLANEOUS

6.1 Tax Matters Partner. The General Partner shall at all times constitute, and have full powers and responsibilities, as the Tax Matters Partner of the Partnership. In the event the Partnership shall be the subject of an income tax audit by any Federal, state or local authority, to the extent the Partnership is treated as an entity for purposes of such audit, including administrative settlement and judicial review, the Tax Matters Partner shall be authorized to act for, and his decision shall be final and binding upon, the Partnership and each Partner thereof, and the Tax Matters Partner shall be indemnified and held harmless by the Partnership and each Partner for any action so taken by him in good faith. All expenses incurred in connection with any such audit, investigation, settlement or review shall be borne by the Partnership to the extent of available Partnership funds, and any excess shall be paid by the Partners individually in proportion to their percentage interests in the Partnership.

6.2 Right to Hire.

(a) Nothing herein shall preclude the General Partner from engaging on behalf of the Partnership the services of any person or firm, whether or not affiliated with the General Partner, including the General Partner, to render for compensation such services to the Partnership as may be necessary to implement the business purposes of the Partnership.

(b) Each of the Partners consents that the General Partner, the Investment Manager or any Limited Partner or any affiliate (as defined in the Securities Act of 1933, as amended, and the regulations thereunder) of any of them, including without limitation the investment manager of the CLO HoldCo, may engage in or possess an interest in directly or indirectly, any other present or future business venture of any nature or description for his own account, independently or with others, including but not limited to, any aspect of the securities business or any other business engaged in by the Partnership, and may become the general partner in other partnerships; and neither the Partnership nor any Partner shall have any rights in or to such independent venture or the income or profits derived therefrom.

(c) The General Partner, the Investment Manager and any affiliate or employee of such General Partner or Investment Manager, may hereafter render investment advisory services to other investors with respect to, and/or may own, purchase or sell, securities or other interests in property the same as or similar to those which the General Partner may purchase, hold or sell on behalf of the Partnership.

6.3 Applicable Law, etc. This Limited Partnership Agreement: (i) shall be binding on the executors, administrators, estates, heirs and legal successors of the Partners; (ii) shall be governed by, and construed in accordance with, the laws of the Cayman Islands; and (iii) may be executed in more than one counterpart with the same effect as if the parties executing the several counterparts had all executed one counterpart as of the day and year first above written; provided, however, that in the aggregate, they shall have been signed by all of the Partners. All pronouns and any variations thereof shall be deemed to refer to the masculine, feminine or neuter, singular or plural as the identity of the person may require. The term "gross negligence" and its cognates shall be interpreted in accordance with the laws of the State of Delaware.

6.4 Power of Attorney. Each of the undersigned does hereby constitute and appoint the General Partner, with full power of substitution, his true and lawful representative and attorney in-fact, in his name, place and stead to make, execute, sign and file this Agreement and any amendment to this Agreement authorized by the terms of this Agreement, and all such other instruments, documents and certificates (and any amendments thereto) which may from time to time be required by the laws of the Cayman Islands, the United States of America, or any state in which the Partnership shall determine to do business, or any political subdivision or agency thereof, to effectuate, implement and continue the valid and subsisting existence of the Partnership and to take any further action that the General Partner considers advisable in its sole discretion in connection with the exercise of its authority pursuant to this Agreement. This power of attorney is intended to secure an interest in property and, in addition, the obligations of each relevant Limited Partner under this Agreement and shall be irrevocable.

6.5 Tax Elections Under the Internal Revenue Code. The General Partner shall have the authority to make all tax elections and determinations on behalf of the Partnership under the Internal Revenue Code, the regulations promulgated thereunder or other applicable law to effect any elections, determinations or capital allocations.

6.6 Amendments to Partnership Agreement. The terms and provisions of this Agreement may be modified or amended at any time and from time to time with the consent of the General Partner together with the consent of a majority in interest of the Limited Partners, insofar as is consistent with the laws governing this Agreement. Notwithstanding the foregoing, the General Partner shall have the right to effect amendments to this Agreement without the consent of any Limited Partner, including without limitation, to reflect: a change in the location of the Partnership's principal place of business; a change in the registered office or registered agent; a change in the name of the Partnership; admission of Partners in accordance with this Agreement; a change that is necessary to qualify the Partnership as a limited partnership under the laws of any state or that is necessary or advisable in the opinion of the Tax Matters Partner to ensure that the Partnership will not be treated as an association taxable as a corporation for Federal income tax purposes; a change of the provisions relating to the management fee or other compensation to the Investment Manager or the General Partner so that such provisions conform to any applicable requirements of the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission and other regulatory authorities; a change (i) that is necessary or desirable to satisfy any requirements, conditions or guidelines contained in any opinion, directive, order, ruling or regulation of any Federal or state agency or contained in any Federal or state statute, compliance with any of which the General Partner deems to be in the best interests of the Partnership and the Limited Partners, (ii) that is required or contemplated by this Agreement, or (iii) that is necessary or desirable to implement new regulations published by the Internal Revenue Service with respect to partnership allocations of income, gain, loss, deduction and credit; a change to cure any ambiguity, to correct or supplement any provision herein which may be inconsistent with any other provision herein, or to make any other provision with respect to the matters or questions arising under this Agreement which will not be inconsistent with the provisions hereof; or a change that does not adversely affect the Limited Partners in any material respect; provided, that in no event shall the General Partner effect any amendment to this Agreement that has the effect of giving the General Partner any economic benefits in the assets of the Partnership; provided further, that the General Partner shall give notice to the Limited Partners of any such amendment.

6.7 Investment Representation. Each Partner hereby acknowledges and represents that it acquired its interest in the Partnership for investment purposes only and not with a view to its resale or distribution.

6.8 Notices. All notices, requests or approvals that any party hereto is required or desires to give to any Partner or to the Partnership shall be in writing signed by or on behalf of the party giving the same and delivered personally or sent overnight express mail by a reputable private carrier or by prepaid registered or certified mail, return receipt requested, addressed (i) to the Limited Partner at the addresses set forth beneath his signature to this Agreement; (ii) to the Partnership at the principal place of business of the Partnership with a copy of each such notice sent simultaneously to the General Partner and the Investment Manager at Nextbank Tower, 13455 Noel Road, 8th Floor, Dallas, Texas 75240; or (iii) to the respective party at such other address or addresses as the party may specify from time to time in a writing given to the Partnership in the manner provided in this Section 6.8 of ARTICLE VI. Notice shall be deemed to have been duly given and received (i) on the date of delivery, if personally delivered, (ii) on the next business day subsequent to sending by overnight express mail as aforesaid, or (iii) on the third day subsequent to mailing if mailed as aforesaid; provided that any withdrawal notices shall not be deemed to have been given until actually received by the Partnership.

6.9 General Partner Determinations. Any determinations or calculations made by the General Partner shall, if made in good faith and in the absence of manifest error, be binding upon the Partnership and its Limited Partners.

6.10 Dispute Resolution. The following procedures shall be used to resolve any controversy or claim ("Dispute") arising out of, relating to or in connection with the Agreement or otherwise involving the Partnership, its Partners and/or any Covered Person. If any of these provisions are determined to be invalid or unenforceable, the remaining provisions shall remain in effect and binding on the parties to the fullest extent permitted by law.

(a) Mediation.

(1) Any Dispute shall be submitted to mediation by written notice to the other party or parties. In the mediation process, the parties will try to resolve their differences voluntarily with the aid of an impartial mediator, who will attempt to facilitate negotiations. The mediator will be selected by agreement of the parties. If the parties cannot agree on a mediator, a mediator shall be designated by JAMS/Endispute at the request of a party using, if necessary, strike and rank procedures then in effect.

(2) The mediation will be conducted as specified by the mediator and agreed upon by the parties. The parties agree to discuss their differences in good faith and to attempt, with the assistance of the mediator, to reach an amicable resolution of the dispute.

(3) The mediation will be treated as a settlement discussion and therefore will be confidential. The mediator may not testify for either party in any later proceeding relating to the dispute. No recording or transcript shall be made of the mediation proceedings.

(4) Each party will bear its own costs in the mediation. The fees and expenses of the mediator will be shared equally by the parties.

(b) Arbitration. If a Dispute has not been resolved within 90 days after the written notice beginning the mediation process (or a longer period, if the parties agree to extend the mediation), the mediation shall terminate and the dispute will be settled by arbitration. A party who files a suit in court regarding a Dispute rather than in arbitration waives its claim and must pay all attorney's fees and costs incurred by the other party in seeking to have such suit dismissed. Under no circumstances will a party maintain its right to pursue his/her/its Dispute if that party initiates a judicial suit instead of complying with the mediation and arbitration provisions herein. The arbitration will be conducted through JAMS/Endispute in accordance with the procedures in this document and the commercial dispute arbitration rules then in effect ("Arbitration Rules"). In the event of a conflict, the provisions of this document will control.

(1) The arbitration will be conducted before a panel of three arbitrators, regardless of the size of the dispute, to be selected as provided in the Arbitration Rules. Any issue concerning the extent to which any dispute is subject to arbitration, or concerning the applicability, interpretation, or enforceability of these procedures, including any contention that all or part of these procedures are invalid or unenforceable, shall be governed by the Federal Arbitration Act ("FAA"), and resolved by the arbitrators, provided, however, that the Partnership or such applicable affiliate thereof may pursue a temporary restraining order and/or preliminary injunctive relief in connection with confidentiality covenants or agreements binding on any party, with related expedited discovery for the parties, in a court of law, and, thereafter, require arbitration of all issues of final relief. Under no circumstances will a state arbitration act preclude application of the FAA, including any choice of law provisions in this agreement, or any other agreement. No potential arbitrator may serve on the panel unless he or she has agreed in writing to abide and be bound by these procedures.

(2) The arbitrators may not award non-monetary or equitable relief of any sort. They shall have no power to award punitive damages or any other damages not measured by the prevailing party's actual damages, and the parties expressly waive their right to obtain such damages in arbitration or any in other forum. In no event, even if any other portion of these provisions is held to be invalid or unenforceable, shall the arbitrators have power to make an award or impose a remedy that could not be made or imposed by a court deciding the matter in the same jurisdiction. The arbitrator(s) shall be required to state in a written opinion all facts and conclusions of law relied upon to support any decision rendered. Any dispute over whether the arbitrator(s) has failed to comply with the foregoing will be resolved by summary judgment in a court of law.

(3) The party initiating arbitration shall pay all arbitration costs and arbitrator's fees, subject to a final arbitration award on who should bear costs and fees. All proceedings shall be conducted in Dallas, Texas, or another mutually agreeable site. Each party shall bear its own attorneys fees, costs and expenses, including any costs of experts, witnesses and/or travel, subject to a final arbitration award on who should bear costs and fees. The duty to arbitrate described above shall survive the termination of this Agreement. This provision is intended to supersede any rights under Texas Civil Practices and Remedies Code § 38.001(8), which rights the parties expressly waive.

(4) No discovery will be allowed in connection with the arbitration unless the arbitration panel, upon a showing of substantial need, expressly authorizes it. In any event, there shall be no more than (i) two party depositions of six hours each. Each deposition is to be taken pursuant to the Texas Rules of Civil Procedure; (ii) one non-party deposition of six hours; (iii) twenty-five interrogatories; (iv) twenty-five requests for admission; (v) ten requests for production. In response, the producing party shall not be obligated to produce in excess of 5,000 total pages of documents. The total pages of documents shall include electronic documents; (vi) one request for disclosure pursuant to the Texas Rules of Civil Procedure. Any discovery not specifically provided for in this paragraph, whether to parties or non-parties, shall not be permitted.

(5) All aspects of the arbitration shall be treated as confidential, including its institution and/or settlement. Neither the parties nor the arbitrators may disclose the existence, content or results of the arbitration, except as necessary to comply with legal or regulatory requirements. Before making any such disclosure, a party shall give written notice to all other parties and shall afford such parties a reasonable opportunity to protect their interests. In the event a party who recovered monies by settlement, award by the arbitration panel, or otherwise in connection with the Dispute violates this confidentiality term, he, she, or it shall refund all such sums recovered. The parties expressly intend to waive the right to retain any monies received through settlement, award by the arbitration panel, or otherwise in connection with the Dispute in the event that that party violates the aforementioned confidentiality term.

(6) The result of the arbitration will be binding on the parties, and judgment on the arbitrators' award may be entered in any court having jurisdiction.

6.11 Successors and Assigns. Subject to the limitations set forth in Section 1.11, this Agreement shall inure to the benefit of and be binding upon the parties and to their respective heirs, executors, administrators, successors and permitted assigns. For the avoidance of doubt, any Limited Partner who becomes a former Limited Partner shall remain bound to all terms and conditions of this Agreement.

6.12 Severability. Every provision of this Agreement is intended to be severable. If any term or provision hereof is illegal or invalid for any reason whatsoever, such term or provision will be enforced to the maximum extent permitted by law and, in any event, such illegality or invalidity shall not affect the validity of the remainder of the Agreement.

6.13 No Third Party Rights. Except for rights expressly granted hereunder to the Covered Persons, this Agreement is intended solely for the benefit of the parties hereto and is not intended to confer any benefits upon, or create any rights in favor of, any Person other than the parties hereto.

6.14 No Right to Partition. Each of the Partners, on behalf of themselves and their shareholders, partners, principals, members, successors and assigns, if any and as permitted hereunder, hereby specifically renounce, waive and forfeit all rights, whether arising under contract or statute or by operation of law, except as otherwise expressly provided in this Agreement, to seek, bring or maintain any action in any court of law or equity for partition of the Partnership or any asset of the Partnership, or any interest which is considered to be Partnership property, regardless of the manner in which title to such property may be held.

6.7 Investment Representation. Each Partner hereby acknowledges and represents that it acquired its interest in the Partnership for investment purposes only and not with a view to its resale or distribution.

6.8 Notices. All notices, requests or approvals that any party hereto is required or desires to give to any Partner or to the Partnership shall be in writing signed by or on behalf of the party giving the same and delivered personally or sent overnight express mail by a reputable private carrier or by prepaid registered or certified mail, return receipt requested, addressed (i) to the Limited Partner at the address set forth in this Agreement; (ii) to the Partnership at the principal place of business of the Partnership with a copy of such notice sent simultaneously to the General Partner at 6716 Glenhurst Dr., Dallas, TX 75254; or (iii) to the respective party at such other address or addresses as the party may specify from time to time in a writing given to the Partnership in the manner provided in this Section 6.8 of ARTICLE VI. Notice shall be deemed to have been duly given and received (i) on the date of delivery, if personally delivered, (ii) on the next business day subsequent to sending by overnight express mail as aforesaid, or iii) on the third day subsequent to mailing if mailed as aforesaid; provided that any withdrawal notices shall not be deemed to have been given until actually received by the Partnership.

6.9 General Partner Determinations. Any determinations or calculations made by the General Partner shall, if made in good faith and in the absence of manifest error, be binding upon the Partnership and its Limited Partners.

6.10 Dispute Resolution. The following procedures shall be used to resolve any controversy or claim ("Dispute") arising out of, relating to or in connection with the Agreement or otherwise involving the Partnership, its Partners and/or any Covered Person. If any of these provisions are determined to be invalid or unenforceable, the remaining provisions shall remain in effect and binding on the parties to the fullest extent permitted by law.

(a) Mediation.

(1) Any Dispute shall be submitted to mediation by written notice to the other party or parties. In the mediation process, the parties will try to resolve their differences voluntarily with the aid of an impartial mediator, who will attempt to facilitate negotiations. The mediator will be selected by agreement of the parties. If the parties cannot agree on a mediator, a mediator shall be designated by JAMS/Endispute at the request of a party using, if necessary, strike and rank procedures then in effect.

(2) The mediation will be conducted as specified by the mediator and agreed upon by the parties. The parties agree to discuss their differences in good faith and to attempt, with the assistance of the mediator, to reach an amicable resolution of the dispute.

(3) The mediation will be treated as a settlement discussion and therefore will be confidential. The mediator may not testify for either party in any later proceeding relating to the dispute. No recording or transcript shall be made of the mediation proceedings.

(4) Each party will bear its own costs in the mediation. The fees and expenses of the mediator will be shared equally by the parties.

(b) Arbitration. If a Dispute has not been resolved within 90 days after the written notice beginning the mediation process (or a longer period, if the parties agree to extend the mediation), the mediation shall terminate and the dispute will be settled by arbitration. A party who files a suit in court regarding a Dispute rather than in arbitration waives its claim and must pay all attorney's fees and costs incurred by the other party in seeking to have such suit dismissed. Under no circumstances will a party maintain its right to pursue his/her/its Dispute if that party initiates a judicial suit instead of complying with the mediation and arbitration provisions herein. The arbitration will be conducted through JAMS/Endispute in accordance with the procedures in this document and the commercial dispute arbitration rules then in effect ("Arbitration Rules"). In the event of a conflict, the provisions of this document will control.

(1) The arbitration will be conducted before a panel of three arbitrators, regardless of the size of the dispute, to be selected as provided in the Arbitration Rules. Any issue concerning the extent to which any dispute is subject to arbitration, or concerning the applicability, interpretation, or enforceability of these procedures, including any contention that all or part of these procedures are invalid or unenforceable, shall be governed by the Federal Arbitration Act ("FAA"), and resolved by the arbitrators, provided, however, that the Partnership or such applicable affiliate thereof may pursue a temporary restraining order and/or preliminary injunctive relief in connection with confidentiality covenants or agreements binding on any party, with related expedited discovery for the parties, in a court of law, and, thereafter, require arbitration of all issues of final relief. Under no circumstances will a state arbitration act preclude application of the FAA, including any choice of law provisions in this agreement, or any other agreement. No potential arbitrator may serve on the panel unless he or she has agreed in writing to abide and be bound by these procedures.

(2) The arbitrators may not award non-monetary or equitable relief of any sort. They shall have no power to award punitive damages or any other damages not measured by the prevailing party's actual damages, and the parties expressly waive their right to obtain such damages in arbitration or any in other forum. In no event, even if any other portion of these provisions is held to be invalid or unenforceable, shall the arbitrators have power to make an award or impose a remedy that could not be made or imposed by a court deciding the matter in the same jurisdiction. The arbitrator(s) shall be required to state in a written opinion all facts and conclusions of law relied upon to support any decision rendered. Any dispute over whether the arbitrator(s) has failed to comply with the foregoing will be resolved by summary judgment in a court of law.

(3) The party initiating arbitration shall pay all arbitration costs and arbitrator's fees, subject to a final arbitration award on who should bear costs and fees. All proceedings shall be conducted in Dallas, Texas, or another mutually agreeable site. Each party shall bear its own attorneys fees, costs and expenses, including any costs of experts, witnesses and/or travel, subject to a final arbitration award on who should bear costs and fees. The duty to arbitrate described above shall survive the termination of this Agreement. This provision is intended to supersede any rights under Texas Civil Practices and Remedies Code§ 38.001(8), which rights the parties expressly waive.

(4) No discovery will be allowed in connection with the arbitration unless the arbitration panel, upon a showing of substantial need, expressly authorizes it. In any event, there shall be no more than (i) two party depositions of six hours each. Each deposition is to be taken pursuant to the Texas Rules of Civil Procedure; (ii) one non-party deposition of six hours; (iii) twenty- five interrogatories; (iv) twenty-five requests for admission; (v) ten requests for production. In response, the producing party shall not be obligated to produce in excess of 5,000 total pages of documents. The total pages of documents shall include electronic documents; (vi) one request for disclosure pursuant to the Texas Rules of Civil Procedure. Any discovery not specifically provided for in this paragraph, whether to parties or non-parties, shall not be permitted.

(5) All aspects of the arbitration shall be treated as confidential, including its institution and/or settlement. Neither the parties nor the arbitrators may disclose the existence, content or results of the arbitration, except as necessary to comply with legal or regulatory requirements. Before making any such disclosure, a party shall give written notice to all other parties and shall afford such parties a reasonable opportunity to protect their interests. In the event a party who recovered monies by settlement, award by the arbitration panel, or otherwise in connection with the Dispute violates this confidentiality term, he, she, or it shall refund all such sums recovered. The parties expressly intend to waive the right to retain any monies received through settlement, award by the arbitration panel, or otherwise in connection with the Dispute in the event that that party violates the aforementioned confidentiality term.

(6) The result of the arbitration will be binding on the parties, and judgment on the arbitrators' award may be entered in any court having jurisdiction.

6.11 Successors and Assigns. Subject to the limitations set forth in Section 1.11, this Agreement shall inure to the benefit of and be binding upon the parties and to their respective heirs, executors, administrators, successors and permitted assigns. For the avoidance of doubt, any Limited Partner who becomes a former Limited Partner shall remain bound to all terms and conditions of this Agreement.

6.12 Severability. Every provision of this Agreement is intended to be severable. If any term or provision hereof is illegal or invalid for any reason whatsoever, such term or provision will be enforced to the maximum extent permitted by law and, in any event, such illegality or invalidity shall not affect the validity of the remainder of the Agreement.

6.13 No Third Party Rights. Any Covered Person not being a party to this Agreement, may enforce any rights granted to it pursuant to this Agreement in its own right as if it were a party to this Agreement. Except as expressly provided in the foregoing sentence, a person who is not a party to this Agreement shall not have any rights under the Contracts (Rights of Third Parties) Act (as amended)

of the Cayman Islands to enforce any term of this Agreement. Notwithstanding any term of this Agreement, the consent of or notice to any person who is not a party to this Agreement shall not be required for any termination, rescission or agreement to any variation, waiver, assignment, novation, release or settlement under this Agreement at any time."

6.14 No Right to Partition. Each of the Partners, on behalf of themselves and their shareholders, partners, principals, members, successors and assigns, if any and as permitted hereunder, hereby specifically renounce, waive and forfeit all rights, whether arising under contract or statute or by operation of law, except as otherwise expressly provided in this Agreement, to seek, bring or maintain any action in any court of law or equity for partition of the Partnership or any asset of the Partnership, or any interest which is considered to be Partnership property, regardless of the manner in which title to such property may be held.

(a) issue, allot and dispose of the same to such Persons, in such manner, on such terms and having such rights and being subject to such restrictions as they may from time to time determine; and

(b) grant options with respect to such Shares and issue warrants or similar instruments with respect thereto;

and, for such purposes, the Directors may reserve an appropriate number of Shares for the time being unissued.

9. The Directors may authorise the division of Shares into any number of Classes and the different Classes shall be authorised, established and designated (or re-designated as the case may be) and the variations in the relative rights (including, without limitation, voting, dividend and redemption rights), restrictions, preferences, privileges and payment obligations as between the different Classes (if any) may be fixed and determined by the Directors.

10. The Company may insofar as may be permitted by law, pay a commission to any Person in consideration of his subscribing or agreeing to subscribe whether absolutely or conditionally for any Shares. Such commissions may be satisfied by the payment of cash or the lodgement of fully or partly paid-up Shares or partly in one way and partly in the other. The Company may also pay such brokerage as may be lawful on any issue of Shares.

11. The Directors may refuse to accept any application for Shares, and may accept any application in whole or in part, for any reason or for no reason.

MODIFICATION OF RIGHTS

12. Whenever the capital of the Company is divided into different Classes the rights attached to any such Class may, subject to any rights or restrictions for the time being attached to any Class, only be materially adversely varied or abrogated with the consent in writing of the holders of not less than two-thirds of the issued Shares of the relevant Class, or with the sanction of a resolution passed at a separate meeting of the holders of the Shares of such Class by a majority of two-thirds of the votes cast at such a meeting. To every such separate meeting all the provisions of these Articles relating to general meetings of the Company or to the proceedings thereat shall, mutatis mutandis, apply, except that the necessary quorum shall be one or more Persons at least holding or representing by proxy one-third in nominal or par value amount of the issued Shares of the relevant Class (but so that if at any adjourned meeting of such holders a quorum as above defined is not present, those Shareholders who are present shall form a quorum) and that, subject to any rights or restrictions for the time being attached to the Shares of that Class, every Shareholder of the Class shall on a poll have one vote for each Share of the Class held by him. For the purposes of this Article the Directors may treat all the Classes or any two or more Classes as forming one Class if they consider that all such Classes would be affected in the same way by the proposals under consideration, but in any other case shall treat them as separate Classes.

13. The rights conferred upon the holders of the Shares of any Class issued with preferred or other rights shall not, subject to any rights or restrictions for the time being attached to the Shares of that Class, be deemed to be materially adversely varied or abrogated by, inter alia, the creation, allotment or issue of further Shares ranking pari passu with or subsequent to them or the redemption or purchase of any Shares of any Class by the Company.

CERTIFICATES

14. No Person shall be entitled to a certificate for any or all of his Shares, unless the Directors shall determine otherwise.

FRACTIONAL SHARES

15. The Directors may issue fractions of a Share and, if so issued, a fraction of a Share shall be subject to and carry the corresponding fraction of liabilities (whether with respect to nominal or par value, premium, contributions, calls or otherwise), limitations, preferences, privileges, qualifications, restrictions, rights (including, without prejudice to the generality of the foregoing, voting and participation rights) and other attributes of a whole Share. If more than one fraction of a Share of the same Class is issued to or acquired by the same Shareholder such fractions shall be accumulated.

LIEN

16. The Company has a first and paramount lien on every Share (whether or not fully paid) for all amounts (whether presently payable or not) payable at a fixed time or called in respect of that Share. The Company also has a first and paramount lien on every Share registered in the name of a Person indebted or under liability to the Company (whether he is the sole registered holder of a Share or one of two or more joint holders) for all amounts owing by him or his estate to the Company (whether or not presently payable). The Directors may at any time declare a Share to be wholly or in part exempt from the provisions of this Article. The Company's lien on a Share extends to any amount payable in respect of it.

17. The Company may sell, in such manner as the Directors in their absolute discretion think fit, any Share on which the Company has a lien, but no sale shall be made unless an amount in respect of which the lien exists is presently payable nor until the expiration of fourteen days after a notice in writing, demanding payment of such part of the amount in respect of which the lien exists as is presently payable, has been given to the registered holder for the time being of the Share, or the Persons entitled thereto by reason of his death or bankruptcy.

18. For giving effect to any such sale the Directors may authorise some Person to transfer the Shares sold to the purchaser thereof. The purchaser shall be registered as the holder of the Shares comprised in any such transfer and he shall not be bound to see to the application of the purchase money, nor shall his title to the Shares be affected by any irregularity or invalidity in the proceedings in reference to the sale.

19. The proceeds of the sale after deduction of expenses, fees and commission incurred by the Company shall be received by the Company and applied in payment of such part of the amount in respect of which the lien exists as is presently payable, and the residue shall (subject to a like lien for sums not presently payable as existed upon the Shares prior to the sale) be paid to the Person entitled to the Shares immediately prior to the sale.

CALLS ON SHARES

20. The Directors may from time to time make calls upon the Shareholders in respect of any moneys unpaid on their Shares, and each Shareholder shall (subject to receiving at least fourteen days' notice specifying the time or times of payment) pay to the Company at the time or times so specified the amount called on such Shares.

21. The joint holders of a Share shall be jointly and severally liable to pay calls in respect thereof.

22. If a sum called in respect of a Share is not paid before or on the day appointed for payment thereof, the Person from whom the sum is due shall pay interest upon the sum at the rate of eight percent per annum from the day appointed for the payment thereof to the time of the actual payment, but the Directors shall be at liberty to waive payment of that interest wholly or in part.

23. The provisions of these Articles as to the liability of joint holders and as to payment of interest shall apply in the case of non-payment of any sum which, by the terms of issue of a Share, becomes payable at a fixed time, whether on account of the amount of the Share, or by way of premium, as if the same had become payable by virtue of a call duly made and notified.

24. The Directors may make arrangements on the issue of partly paid Shares for a difference between the Shareholders, or the particular Shares, in the amount of calls to be paid and in the times of payment.

25. The Directors may, if they think fit, receive from any Shareholder willing to advance the same all or any part of the moneys uncalled and unpaid upon any partly paid Shares held by him, and upon all or any of the moneys so advanced may (until the same would, but for such advance, become presently payable) pay interest at such rate (not exceeding without the sanction of an Ordinary Resolution, eight percent per annum) as may be agreed upon between the Shareholder paying the sum in advance and the Directors.

FORFEITURE OF SHARES

26. If a Shareholder fails to pay any call or instalment of a call in respect of partly paid Shares on the day appointed for payment, the Directors may, at any time thereafter during such time as any part of such call or instalment remains unpaid, serve a notice on him requiring payment of so much of the call or instalment as is unpaid, together with any interest which may have accrued.

27. The notice shall name a further day (not earlier than the expiration of fourteen days from the date of the notice) on or before which the payment required by the notice is to be made, and shall state that in the event of non-payment at or before the time appointed the Shares in respect of which the call was made will be liable to be forfeited.

28. If the requirements of any such notice as aforesaid are not complied with, any Share in respect of which the notice has been given may at any time thereafter, before the payment required by notice has been made, be forfeited by a resolution of the Directors to that effect.

29. A forfeited Share may be sold or otherwise disposed of on such terms and in such manner as the Directors think fit, and at any time before a sale or disposition the forfeiture may be cancelled on such terms as the Directors think fit.

30. A Person whose Shares have been forfeited shall cease to be a Shareholder in respect of the forfeited Shares, but shall, notwithstanding, remain liable to pay to the Company all moneys which at the date of forfeiture were payable by him to the Company in respect of the Shares forfeited, but his liability shall cease if and when the Company receives payment in full of the amount unpaid on the Shares forfeited.

31. A statutory declaration in writing that the declarant is a Director, and that a Share has been duly forfeited on a date stated in the declaration, shall be conclusive evidence of the facts in the declaration as against all Persons claiming to be entitled to the Share.

32. The Company may receive the consideration, if any, given for a Share on any sale or disposition thereof pursuant to the provisions of these Articles as to forfeiture and may execute a transfer of the Share in favour of the Person to whom the Share is sold or disposed of and that Person shall be registered as the holder of the Share, and shall not be bound to see to the application of the purchase money, if any, nor shall his title to the Shares be affected by any irregularity or invalidity in the proceedings in reference to the disposition or sale.

33. The provisions of these Articles as to forfeiture shall apply in the case of non-payment of any sum which by the terms of issue of a Share becomes due and payable, whether on account of the amount of the Share, or by way of premium, as if the same had been payable by virtue of a call duly made and notified.

TRANSFER OF SHARES

34. The instrument of transfer of any Share shall be in any usual or common form or such other form as the Directors may, in their absolute discretion, approve and be executed by or on behalf of the transferor and if in respect of a nil or partly paid up Share, or if so required by the Directors, shall also be executed on behalf of the transferee and shall be accompanied by the certificate (if any) of the Shares to which it relates and such other evidence as the Directors may reasonably require to show the right of the transferor to make the transfer. The transferor shall be deemed to remain a Shareholder until the name of the transferee is entered in the Register in respect of the relevant Shares.

35. The Directors may in their absolute discretion decline to register any transfer of Shares without assigning any reason therefor.

36. The registration of transfers may be suspended at such times and for such periods as the Directors may from time to time determine.

37. All instruments of transfer that are registered shall be retained by the Company, but any instrument of transfer that the Directors decline to register shall (except in any case of fraud) be returned to the Person depositing the same.

TRANSMISSION OF SHARES

38. The legal personal representative of a deceased sole holder of a Share shall be the only Person recognised by the Company as having any title to the Share. In the case of a Share registered in the name of two or more holders, the survivors or survivor, or the legal personal representatives of the deceased survivor, shall be the only Person recognised by the Company as having any title to the Share.

39. Any Person becoming entitled to a Share in consequence of the death or bankruptcy of a Shareholder shall upon such evidence being produced as may from time to time be required by the Directors, have the right either to be registered as a Shareholder in respect of the Share or, instead of being registered himself, to make such transfer of the Share as the deceased or bankrupt Person could have made; but the Directors shall, in either case, have the same right to decline or suspend registration as they would have had in the case of a transfer of the Share by the deceased or bankrupt Person before the death or bankruptcy.

40. A Person becoming entitled to a Share by reason of the death or bankruptcy of a Shareholder shall be entitled to the same dividends and other advantages to which he would be entitled if he were the registered Shareholder, except that he shall not, before being registered as a Shareholder in respect of the Share, be entitled in respect of it to exercise any right conferred by membership in relation to meetings of the Company.

ALTERATION OF SHARE CAPITAL

41. The Company may from time to time by Ordinary Resolution increase the share capital by such sum, to be divided into Shares of such Classes and amount, as the resolution shall prescribe.

42. The Company may by Ordinary Resolution:

(a) consolidate and divide all or any of its share capital into Shares of a larger amount than its existing Shares;

(b) convert all or any of its paid up Shares into stock and reconvert that stock into paid up Shares of any denomination;

(c) subdivide its existing Shares, or any of them into Shares of a smaller amount provided that in the subdivision the proportion between the amount paid and the amount, if any, unpaid on each reduced Share shall be the same as it was in case of the Share from which the reduced Share is derived; and

(d) cancel any Shares that, at the date of the passing of the resolution, have not been taken or agreed to be taken by any Person and diminish the amount of its share capital by the amount of the Shares so cancelled.

43. The Company may by Special Resolution reduce its share capital and any capital redemption reserve in any manner authorised by law.

REDEMPTION AND PURCHASE OF SHARES

44. Subject to the Law, the Company may:

(a) issue Shares on terms that they are to be redeemed or are liable to be redeemed at the option of the Company or the Shareholder on such terms and in such manner as the Directors may, before the issue of such Shares, determine;

(b) purchase its own Shares (including any redeemable Shares) on such terms and in such manner as the Directors may determine and agree with the Shareholder; and

(c) make a payment in respect of the redemption or purchase of its own Shares in any manner authorised by the Law, including out of its capital, profits or the proceeds of a fresh issue of Shares.

45. Any Share in respect of which notice of redemption has been given shall not be entitled to participate in the profits of the Company in respect of the period after the date specified as the date of redemption in the notice of redemption.

46. The redemption or purchase of any Share shall not be deemed to give rise to the redemption or purchase of any other Share.

47. The Directors may when making payments in respect of redemption or purchase of Shares, if authorised by the terms of issue of the Shares being redeemed or purchased or with the agreement of the holder of such Shares, make such payment either in cash or in specie.

GENERAL MEETINGS

48. The Directors may, whenever they think fit, convene a general meeting of the Company.

49. General meetings shall also be convened on the requisition in writing of any Shareholder or Shareholders entitled to attend and vote at general meetings of the Company holding at least ten percent of the paid up voting share capital of the Company deposited at the Office specifying the objects of the meeting for a date no later than 21 days from the date of deposit of the requisition signed by the requisitionists, and if the Directors do not convene such meeting for a date not later than 45 days after the date of such deposit, the requisitionists themselves may convene the general meeting in the same manner, as nearly as possible, as that in which general meetings may be convened by the Directors, and all reasonable expenses incurred by the requisitionists as a result of the failure of the Directors to convene the general meeting shall be reimbursed to them by the Company.

50. If at any time there are no Directors, any two Shareholders (or if there is only one Shareholder then that Shareholder) entitled to vote at general meetings of the Company may convene a general meeting in the same manner as nearly as possible as that in which general meetings may be convened by the Directors.

NOTICE OF GENERAL MEETINGS

51. At least seven days' notice in writing counting from the date service is deemed to take place as provided in these Articles specifying the place, the day and the hour of the meeting and, in case of special business, the general nature of that business, shall be given in the manner hereinafter provided or in such other manner (if any) as may be prescribed by the Company by Ordinary Resolution to such Persons as are, under these Articles, entitled to receive such notices from the Company, but with the consent of all the Shareholders entitled to receive notice of some particular meeting and attend and vote thereat, that meeting may be convened by such shorter notice or without notice and in such manner as those Shareholders may think fit.

52. The accidental omission to give notice of a meeting to or the non-receipt of a notice of a meeting by any Shareholder shall not invalidate the proceedings at any meeting.

PROCEEDINGS AT GENERAL MEETINGS

53. All business carried out at a general meeting shall be deemed special with the exception of sanctioning a dividend, the consideration of the accounts, balance sheets, any report of the Directors or of the Company's auditors, the appointment and removal of Directors and the fixing of the remuneration of the Company's auditors. No special business shall be transacted at any general meeting without the consent of all Shareholders entitled to receive notice of that meeting unless notice of such special business has been given in the notice convening that meeting.

54. No business shall be transacted at any general meeting unless a quorum of Shareholders is present at the time when the meeting proceeds to business. Save as otherwise provided by these Articles, one or more Shareholders holding at least a majority of the paid up voting share capital of the Company present in person or by proxy and entitled to vote at that meeting shall form a quorum.

55. If within half an hour from the time appointed for the meeting a quorum is not present, the meeting, if convened upon the requisition of Shareholders, shall be dissolved. In any other case it shall stand adjourned to the same day in the next week, at the same time and place, and if at the adjourned meeting a quorum is not present within half an hour from the time appointed for the meeting the Shareholder or Shareholders present and entitled to vote shall form a quorum.

56. If the Directors wish to make this facility available for a specific general meeting or all general meetings of the Company, participation in any general meeting of the Company may be by means of a telephone or similar communication equipment by way of which all Persons participating in such meeting can communicate with each other and such participation shall be deemed to constitute presence in person at the meeting.

57. The chairman, if any, of the Directors shall preside as chairman at every general meeting of the Company.

58. If there is no such chairman, or if at any general meeting he is not present within fifteen minutes after the time appointed for holding the meeting or is unwilling to act as chairman, any Director or Person nominated by the Directors shall preside as chairman, failing which the Shareholders present in person or by proxy shall choose any Person present to be chairman of that meeting.

59. The chairman may with the consent of any general meeting at which a quorum is present (and shall if so directed by the meeting) adjourn a meeting from time to time and from place to place, but no business shall be transacted at any adjourned meeting other than the business left unfinished at the meeting from which the adjournment took place. When a meeting, or adjourned meeting, is adjourned for fourteen days or more, notice of the adjourned meeting shall be given as in the case of an original meeting. Save as aforesaid it shall not be necessary to give any notice of an adjournment or of the business to be transacted at an adjourned meeting.

60. The Directors may cancel or postpone any duly convened general meeting at any time prior to such meeting, except for general meetings requisitioned by the Shareholders in accordance with these Articles, for any reason or for no reason, upon notice in writing to Shareholders. A postponement may be for a stated period of any length or indefinitely as the Directors may determine.

61. At any general meeting a resolution put to the vote of the meeting shall be decided on a show of hands, unless a poll is (before or on the declaration of the result of the show of hands) demanded by the chairman or one or more Shareholders present in person or by proxy entitled to vote, and unless a poll is so demanded, a declaration by the chairman that a resolution has, on a show of hands, been carried, or carried unanimously, or by a particular majority, or lost, and an entry to that effect in the book of the proceedings of the Company, shall be conclusive evidence of the fact, without proof of the number or proportion of the votes recorded in favour of, or against, that resolution.

62. If a poll is duly demanded it shall be taken in such manner as the chairman directs, and the result of the poll shall be deemed to be the resolution of the meeting at which the poll was demanded.

63. In the case of an equality of votes, whether on a show of hands or on a poll, the chairman of the meeting at which the show of hands takes place or at which the poll is demanded, shall be entitled to a second or casting vote.

64. A poll demanded on the election of a chairman of the meeting or on a question of adjournment shall be taken forthwith. A poll demanded on any other question shall be taken at such time as the chairman of the meeting directs.

VOTES OF SHAREHOLDERS

65. Subject to any rights and restrictions for the time being attached to any Share, on a show of hands every Shareholder present in person and every Person representing a Shareholder by proxy shall, at a general meeting of the Company, each have one vote and on a poll every Shareholder and every Person representing a Shareholder by proxy shall have one vote for each Share of which he or the Person represented by proxy is the holder.

66. In the case of joint holders the vote of the senior who tenders a vote whether in person or by proxy shall be accepted to the exclusion of the votes of the other joint holders and for this purpose seniority shall be determined by the order in which the names stand in the Register.

67. A Shareholder of unsound mind, or in respect of whom an order has been made by any court having jurisdiction in lunacy, may vote in respect of Shares carrying the right to vote held by him, whether on a show of hands or on a poll, by his committee, or other Person in the nature of a committee appointed by that court, and any such committee or other Person, may vote in respect of such Shares by proxy.

68. No Shareholder shall be entitled to vote at any general meeting of the Company unless all calls, if any, or other sums presently payable by him in respect of Shares carrying the right to vote held by him have been paid.

69. On a poll votes may be given either personally or by proxy.

70. The instrument appointing a proxy shall be in writing under the hand of the appointor or of his attorney duly authorised in writing or, if the appointor is a corporation, either under Seal or under the hand of an officer or attorney duly authorised. A proxy need not be a Shareholder.

71. An instrument appointing a proxy may be in any usual or common form or such other form as the Directors may approve.

72. The instrument appointing a proxy shall be deposited at the Office or at such other place as is specified for that purpose in the notice convening the meeting no later than the time for holding the meeting or, if the meeting is adjourned, the time for holding such adjourned meeting.

73. The instrument appointing a proxy shall be deemed to confer authority to demand or join in demanding a poll.

74. A resolution in writing signed by all the Shareholders for the time being entitled to receive notice of and to attend and vote at general meetings of the Company (or being corporations by their duly authorised representatives) shall be as valid and effective as if the same had been passed at a general meeting of the Company duly convened and held.

CORPORATIONS ACTING BY REPRESENTATIVES AT MEETINGS

75. Any corporation which is a Shareholder or a Director may by resolution of its directors or other governing body authorise such Person as it thinks fit to act as its representative at any meeting of the Company or of any meeting of holders of a Class or of the Directors or of a committee of Directors, and the Person so authorised shall be entitled to exercise the same powers on behalf of the corporation which he represents as that corporation could exercise if it were an individual Shareholder or Director.

DIRECTORS

76. The name(s) of the first Director(s) shall either be determined in writing by a majority (or in the case of a sole subscriber that subscriber) of, or elected at a meeting of, the subscribers of the Memorandum of Association.

77. The Company may by Ordinary Resolution appoint any natural person or corporation to be a Director.

78. Subject to these Articles, a Director shall hold office until such time as he is removed from office by Ordinary Resolution.

79. The Company may by Ordinary Resolution from time to time fix the maximum and minimum number of Directors to be appointed but unless such numbers are fixed as aforesaid the minimum number of Directors shall be one and the maximum number of Directors shall be unlimited.

80. The remuneration of the Directors may be determined by the Directors or by Ordinary Resolution.

81. There shall be no shareholding qualification for Directors unless determined otherwise by Ordinary Resolution.

82. The Directors shall have power at any time and from time to time to appoint a natural person or corporation as a Director, either as a result of a casual vacancy or as an additional Director, subject to the maximum number (if any) imposed by Ordinary Resolution.

ALTERNATE DIRECTOR OR PROXY

83. Any Director may in writing appoint another Person to be his alternate and, save to the extent provided otherwise in the form of appointment, such alternate shall have authority to sign written resolutions on behalf of the appointing Director, but shall not be required to sign such written resolutions where they have been signed by the appointing Director, and to act in such Director's place at any meeting of the Directors at which he is unable to be present. Every such alternate shall be entitled to attend and vote at meetings of the Directors as a Director when the Director appointing him is not personally present and where he is a Director to have a separate vote on behalf of the Director he is representing in addition to his own vote. A Director may at any time in writing revoke the appointment of an alternate appointed by him. Such alternate shall not be an officer of the Company. The remuneration of such alternate shall be payable out of the remuneration of the Director appointing him and the proportion thereof shall be agreed between them.

84. Any Director may appoint any Person , whether or not a Director, to be the proxy of that Director to attend and vote on his behalf, in accordance with instructions given by that Director, or in the absence of such instructions at the discretion of the proxy, at a meeting or meetings of the Directors which that Director is unable to attend personally. The instrument appointing the proxy shall be in writing under the hand of the appointing Director and shall be in any usual or common form or such other form as the Directors may approve, and must be lodged with the chairman of the meeting of the Directors at which such proxy is to be used, or first used, prior to the commencement of the meeting.

POWERS AND DUTIES OF DIRECTORS

85. Subject to the Law, these Articles and to any resolutions passed in a general meeting, the business of the Company shall be managed by the Directors, who may pay all expenses incurred in setting up and registering the Company and may exercise all powers of the Company. No resolution passed by the Company in general meeting shall invalidate any prior act of the Directors that would have been valid if that resolution had not been passed.

86. The Directors may from time to time appoint any natural person or corporation , whether or not a Director to hold such office in the Company as the Directors may think necessary for the administration of the Company, including but not limited to, the office of president, one or more vice-presidents, treasurer, assistant treasurer, manager or controller, and for such term and at such remuneration (whether by way of salary or commission or participation in profits or partly in one way and partly in another), and with such powers and duties as the Directors may think fit. Any natural person or corporation so appointed by the Directors may be removed by the Directors or by the Company by Ordinary Resolution. The Directors may also appoint one or more of their number to the office of managing director upon like terms, but any such appointment shall ipso facto determine if any managing director ceases from any cause to be a Director, or if the Company by Ordinary Resolution resolves that his tenure of office be terminated.

87. The Directors may appoint any natural person or corporation to be a Secretary (and if need be an assistant Secretary or assistant Secretaries) who shall hold office for such term, at such remuneration and upon such conditions and with such powers as they think fit. Any Secretary or assistant Secretary so appointed by the Directors may be removed by the Directors or by the Company by Ordinary Resolution.

88. The Directors may delegate any of their powers to committees consisting of such member or members of their body as they think fit; any committee so formed shall in the exercise of the powers so delegated conform to any regulations that may be imposed on it by the Directors.

89. The Directors may from time to time and at any time by power of attorney (whether under Seal or under hand) or otherwise appoint any company, firm or Person or body of Persons, whether nominated directly or indirectly by the Directors, to be the attorney or attorneys or authorised signatory (any such person being an "Attorney" or "Authorised Signatory", respectively) of the Company for such purposes and with such powers, authorities and discretion (not exceeding those vested in or exercisable by the Directors under these Articles) and for such period and subject to such conditions as they may think fit, and any such power of attorney or other appointment may contain such provisions for the protection and convenience of Persons dealing with any such Attorney or Authorised Signatory as the Directors may think fit, and may also authorise any such Attorney or Authorised Signatory to delegate all or any of the powers, authorities and discretion vested in him.

90. The Directors may from time to time provide for the management of the affairs of the Company in such manner as they shall think fit and the provisions contained in the three next following Articles shall not limit the general powers conferred by this Article .

91. The Directors from time to time and at any time may establish any committees, local boards or agencies for managing any of the affairs of the Company and may appoint any natural person or corporation to be a member of such committees or local boards and may appoint any managers or agents of the Company and may fix the remuneration of any such natural person or corporation.

92. The Directors from time to time and at any time may delegate to any such committee, local board, manager or agent any of the powers, authorities and discretions for the time being vested in the Directors and may authorise the members for the time being of any such local board, or any of them to fill any vacancies therein and to act notwithstanding vacancies and any such appointment or delegation may be made on such terms and subject to such conditions as the Directors may think fit and the Directors may at any time remove any natural person or corporation so appointed and may annul or vary any such delegation, but no Person dealing in good faith and without notice of any such annulment or variation shall be affected thereby.

93. Any such delegates as aforesaid may be authorised by the Directors to sub-delegate all or any of the powers, authorities, and discretion for the time being vested in them.

BORROWING POWERS OF DIRECTORS

94. The Directors may exercise all the powers of the Company to borrow money and to mortgage or charge its undertaking, property and uncalled capital or any part thereof, to issue debentures, debenture stock and other securities whenever money is borrowed or as security for any debt, liability or obligation of the Company or of any third party.

THE SEAL

95. The Seal shall not be affixed to any instrument except by the authority of a resolution of the Directors provided always that such authority may be given prior to or after the affixing of the Seal and if given after may be in general form confirming a number of affixings of the Seal. The Seal shall be affixed in the presence of a Director or a Secretary (or an assistant Secretary) or in the presence of any one or more Persons as the Directors may appoint for the purpose and every Person as aforesaid shall sign every instrument to which the Seal is so affixed in their presence.

96. The Company may maintain a facsimile of the Seal in such countries or places as the Directors may appoint and such facsimile Seal shall not be affixed to any instrument except by the authority of a resolution of the Directors provided always that such authority may be given prior to or after the affixing of such facsimile Seal and if given after may be in general form confirming a number of affixings of such facsimile Seal. The facsimile Seal shall be affixed in the presence of such Person or Persons as the Directors shall for this purpose appoint and such Person or Persons as aforesaid shall sign every instrument to which the facsimile Seal is so affixed in their presence and such affixing of the facsimile Seal and signing as aforesaid shall have the same meaning and effect as if the Seal had been affixed in the presence of and the instrument signed by a Director or a Secretary (or an assistant Secretary) or in the presence of any one or more Persons as the Directors may appoint for the purpose.

97. Notwithstanding the foregoing, a Secretary or any assistant Secretary shall have the authority to affix the Seal, or the facsimile Seal, to any instrument for the purposes of attesting authenticity of the matter contained therein but which does not create any obligation binding on the Company.

99. The Directors may meet together (either within or without the Cayman Islands) for the despatch of business, adjourn, and otherwise regulate their meetings and proceedings as they think fit . Questions arising at any meeting shall be decided by a majority of votes. In case of an equality of votes the chairman shall have a second or casting vote. A Director may, and a Secretary or assistant Secretary on the requisition of a Director shall, at any time summon a meeting of the Directors.

100. A Director may participate in any meeting of the Directors, or of any committee appointed by the Directors of which such Director is a member, by means of telephone or similar communication equipment by way of which all Persons participating in such meeting can communicate with each other and such participation shall be deemed to constitute presence in person at the meeting.

101. The quorum necessary for the transaction of the business of the Directors may be fixed by the Directors, and unless so fixed, if there be two or more Directors the quorum shall be two, and if there be one Director the quorum shall be one. A Director represented by proxy or by an alternate Director at any meeting shall be deemed to be present for the purposes of determining whether or not a quorum is present.

102. A Director who is in any way, whether directly or indirectly, interested in a contract or proposed contract with the Company shall declare the nature of his interest at a meeting of the Directors. A general notice given to the Directors by any Director to the effect that he is a member of any specified company or firm and is to be regarded as interested in any contract which may thereafter be made with that company or firm shall be deemed a sufficient declaration of interest in regard to any contract so made. A Director may vote in respect of any contract or proposed contract or arrangement notwithstanding that he may be interested therein and if he does so his vote shall be counted and he may be counted in the quorum at any meeting of the Directors at which any such contract or proposed contract or arrangement shall come before the meeting for consideration.

103. A Director may hold any other office or place of profit under the Company (other than the office of auditor) in conjunction with his office of Director for such period and on such terms (as to remuneration and otherwise) as the Directors may determine and no Director or intending Director shall be disqualified by his office from contracting with the Company either with regard to his tenure of any such other office or place of profit or as vendor, purchaser or otherwise, nor shall any such contract or arrangement entered into by or on behalf of the Company in which any Director is in any way interested, be liable to be avoided, nor shall any Director so contracting or being so interested be liable to account to the Company for any profit realised by any such contract or arrangement by reason of such Director holding that office or of the fiduciary relation thereby established. A Director, notwithstanding his interest, may be counted in the quorum present at any meeting of the Directors whereat he or any other Director is appointed to hold any such office or place of profit under the Company or whereat the terms of any such appointment are arranged and he may vote on any such appointment or arrangement.

104. Any Director may act by himself or his firm in a professional capacity for the Company, and he or his firm shall be entitled to remuneration for professional services as if he were not a Director; provided that nothing herein contained shall authorise a Director or his firm to act as auditor to the Company.

105. The Directors shall cause minutes to be made in books or loose-leaf folders provided for the purpose of recording:

(a) all appointments of officers made by the Directors;

(b) the names of the Directors present at each meeting of the Directors and of any committee of the Directors; and

(c) all resolutions and proceedings at all meetings of the Company, and of the Directors and of committees of Directors.

106. When the chairman of a meeting of the Directors signs the minutes of such meeting the same shall be deemed to have been duly held notwithstanding that all the Directors have not actually come together or that there may have been a technical defect in the proceedings.

107. A resolution in writing signed by all the Directors or all the members of a committee of Directors entitled to receive notice of a meeting of Directors or committee of Directors, as the case may be (an alternate Director, subject as provided otherwise in the terms of appointment of the alternate Director, being entitled to sign such a resolution on behalf of his appointer), shall be as valid and effectual as if it had been passed at a duly called and constituted meeting of Directors or committee of Directors, as the case may be. When signed a resolution may consist of several documents each signed by one or more of the Directors or his duly appointed alternate.

108. The continuing Directors may act notwithstanding any vacancy in their body but if and for so long as their number is reduced below the number fixed by or pursuant to these Articles as the necessary quorum of Directors, the continuing Directors may act for the purpose of increasing the number, or of summoning a general meeting of the Company, but for no other purpose.

109. The Directors may elect a chairman of their meetings and determine the period for which he is to hold office but if no such chairman is elected, or if at any meeting the chairman is not present within fifteen minutes after the time appointed for holding the meeting, the Directors present may choose one of their number to be chairman of the meeting.

110. Subject to any regulations imposed on it by the Directors, a committee appointed by the Directors may elect a chairman of its meetings. If no such chairman is elected, or if at any meeting the chairman is not present within fifteen minutes after the time appointed for holding the meeting, the committee members present may choose one of their number to be chairman of the meeting.

111. A committee appointed by the Directors may meet and adjourn as it thinks proper. Subject to any regulations imposed on it by the Directors, questions arising at any meeting shall be determined by a majority of votes of the committee members present and in case of an equality of votes the chairman shall have a second or casting vote.

112. All acts done by any meeting of the Directors or of a committee of Directors, or by any Person acting as a Director, shall notwithstanding that it be afterwards discovered that there was some defect in the appointment of any such Director or Person acting as aforesaid, or that they or any of them were disqualified, be as valid as if every such Person had been duly appointed and was qualified to be a Director.

DIVIDENDS

113. Subject to any rights and restrictions for the time being attached to any Shares, the Directors may from time to time declare dividends (including interim dividends) and other distributions on Shares in issue and authorise payment of the same out of the funds of the Company lawfully available therefor.

114. Subject to any rights and restrictions for the time being attached to any Shares, the Company by Ordinary Resolution may declare dividends, but no dividend shall exceed the amount recommended by the Directors.

115. The Directors may, before recommending or declaring any dividend, set aside out of the funds legally available for distribution such sums as they think proper as a reserve or reserves which shall, in the absolute discretion of the Directors be applicable for meeting contingencies, or for equalising dividends or for any other purpose to which those funds may be properly applied and pending such application may in the absolute discretion of the Directors, either be employed in the business of the Company or be invested in such investments as the Directors may from time to time think fit.

116. Any dividend may be paid in any manner as the Directors may determine. If paid by cheque it will be sent through the post to the registered address of the Shareholder or Person entitled thereto, or in the case of joint holders, to any one of such joint holders at his registered address or to such Person and such address as the Shareholder or Person entitled, or such joint holders as the case may be, may direct. Every such cheque shall be made payable to the order of the Person to whom it is sent or to the order of such other Person as the Shareholder or Person entitled, or such joint holders as the case may be, may direct.

117. The Directors when paying dividends to the Shareholders in accordance with the foregoing provisions of these Articles may make such payment either in cash or in specie.

118. Subject to any rights and restrictions for the time being attached to any Shares, all dividends shall be declared and paid according to the amounts paid up on the Shares, but if and for so long as nothing is paid up on any of the Shares dividends may be declared and paid according to the par value of the Shares.

119. If several Persons are registered as joint holders of any Share, any of them may give effectual receipts for any dividend or other moneys payable on or in respect of the Share.

120. No dividend shall bear interest against the Company.

ACCOUNTS, AUDIT AND ANNUAL RETURN AND DECLARATION

121. The books of account relating to the Company's affairs shall be kept in such manner as may be determined from time to time by the Directors.

122. The books of account shall be kept at the Office, or at such other place or places as the Directors think fit, and shall always be open to the inspection of the Directors.

123. The Directors may from time to time determine whether and to what extent and at what times and places and under what conditions or regulations the accounts and books of the Company or any of them shall be open to the inspection of Shareholders not being Directors, and no Shareholder (not being a Director) shall have any right of inspecting any account or book or document of the Company except as conferred by law or authorised by the Directors or by Ordinary Resolution.

124. The accounts relating to the Company's affairs shall only be audited if the Directors so determine, in which case the financial year end and the accounting principles will be determined by the Directors.

125. The Directors in each year shall prepare, or cause to be prepared, an annual return and declaration setting forth the particulars required by the Law and deliver a copy thereof to the Registrar of Companies in the Cayman Islands.

CAPITALISATION OF RESERVES

126. Subject to the Law, the Directors may, with the authority of an Ordinary Resolution:

(a) resolve to capitalise an amount standing to the credit of reserves (including a Share Premium Account, capital redemption reserve and profit and loss account), whether or not available for distribution;

(b) appropriate the sum resolved to be capitalised to the Shareholders in proportion to the nominal amount of Shares (whether or not fully paid) held by them respectively and apply that sum on their behalf in or towards:

(i) paying up the amounts (if any) for the time being unpaid on Shares held by them respectively, or

(ii) paying up in full unissued Shares or debentures of a nominal amount equal to that sum,

and allot the Shares or debentures, credited as fully paid, to the Shareholders (or as they may direct) in those proportions, or partly in one way and partly in the other, but the Share Premium Account, the capital redemption reserve and profits which are not available for distribution may, for the purposes of this Article, only be applied in paying up unissued Shares to be allotted to Shareholders credited as fully paid;

(c) make any arrangements they think fit to resolve a difficulty arising in the distribution of a capitalised reserve and in particular, without limitation, where Shares or debentures become distributable in fractions the Directors may deal with the fractions as they think fit;

(d) authorise a Person to enter (on behalf of all the Shareholders concerned) into an agreement with the Company providing for either:

(i) the allotment to the Shareholders respectively, credited as fully paid, of Shares or debentures to which they may be entitled on the capitalisation, or

(ii) the payment by the Company on behalf of the Shareholders (by the application of their respective proportions of the reserves resolved to be capitalised) of the amounts or part of the amounts remaining unpaid on their existing Shares,

and any such agreement made under this authority being effective and binding on all those Shareholders; and

(e) generally do all acts and things required to give effect to the resolution.

SHARE PREMIUM ACCOUNT

127. The Directors shall in accordance with the Law establish a Share Premium Account and shall carry to the credit of such account from time to time a sum equal to the amount or value of the premium paid on the issue of any Share .

128. There shall be debited to any Share Premium Account on the redemption or purchase of a Share the difference between the nominal value of such Share and the redemption or purchase price provided always that at the discretion of the Directors such sum may be paid out of the profits of the Company or, if permitted by the Law, out of capital.

133. Notice of every general meeting of the Company shall be given to:

(a) all Shareholders holding Shares with the right to receive notice and who have supplied to the Company an address for the giving of notices to them; and

(b) every Person entitled to a Share in consequence of the death or bankruptcy of a Shareholder, who but for his death or bankruptcy would be entitled to receive notice of the meeting.

No other Person shall be entitled to receive notices of general meetings.

INDEMNITY

134. Every Director (including for the purposes of this Article any alternate Director appointed pursuant to the provisions of these Articles), Secretary, assistant Secretary, or other officer for the time being and from time to time of the Company (but not including the Company's auditors) and the personal representatives of the same (each an "Indemnified Person") shall be indemnified and secured harmless against all actions, proceedings, costs, charges, expenses, losses, damages or liabilities incurred or sustained by such Indemnified Person, other than by reason of such Indemnified Person's own dishonesty, wilful default or fraud, in or about the conduct of the Company's business or affairs (including as a result of any mistake of judgment) or in the execution or discharge of his duties, powers, authorities or discretions, including without prejudice to the generality of the foregoing, any costs, expenses, losses or liabilities incurred by such Indemnified Person in defending (whether successfully or otherwise) any civil proceedings concerning the Company or its affairs in any court whether in the Cayman Islands or elsewhere.

135. No Indemnified Person shall be liable:

(b) for any loss on account of defect of title to any property of the Company; or

(c) on account of the insufficiency of any security in or upon which any money of the Company shall be invested; or

(d) for any loss incurred through any bank, broker or other similar Person; or

(e) for any loss occasioned by any negligence, default, breach of duty, breach of trust, error of judgement or oversight on such Indemnified Person's part; or

(f) for any loss, damage or misfortune whatsoever which may happen in or arise from the execution or discharge of the duties, powers, authorities, or discretions of such Indemnified Person's office or in relation thereto;

unless the same shall happen through such Indemnified Person's own dishonesty, wilful default or fraud.

NON-RECOGNITION OF TRUSTS

136. Subject to the proviso hereto, no Person shall be recognised by the Company as holding any Share upon any trust and the Company shall not, unless required by law, be bound by or be compelled in any way to recognise (even when having notice thereof) any equitable, contingent, future or partial interest in any Share or (except only as otherwise provided by these Articles or as the Law requires) any other right in respect of any Share except an absolute right to the entirety thereof in each Shareholder registered in the Register, provided that, notwithstanding the foregoing, the Company shall be entitled to recognise any such interests as shall be determined by the Directors.

WINDING UP

137. If the Company shall be wound up the liquidator shall apply the assets of the Company in such manner and order as he thinks fit in satisfaction of creditors' claims.

138. If the Company shall be wound up, the liquidator may, with the sanction of an Ordinary Resolution divide amongst the Shareholders in specie or kind the whole or any part of the assets of the Company (whether they shall consist of property of the same kind or not) and may, for such purpose set such value as he deems fair upon any property to be divided as aforesaid and may determine how such division shall be carried out as between the Shareholders or different Classes. The liquidator may, with the like sanction, vest the whole or any part of such assets in trustees upon such trusts for the benefit of the Shareholders as the liquidator, with the like sanction shall think fit, but so that no Shareholder shall be compelled to accept any assets whereon there is any liability.

AMENDMENT OF ARTICLES OF ASSOCIATION

139. Subject to the Law and the rights attaching to the various Classes, the Company may at any time and from time to time by Special Resolution alter or amend these Articles in whole or in part.

CLOSING OF REGISTER OR FIXING RECORD DATE

140. For the purpose of determining those Shareholders that are entitled to receive notice of, attend or vote at any meeting of Shareholders or any adjournment thereof, or those Shareholders that are entitled to receive payment of any dividend, or in order to make a determination as to who is a Shareholder for any other purpose, the Directors may provide that the Register shall be closed for transfers for a stated period which shall not exceed in any case 40 days. If the Register shall be so closed for the purpose of determining those Shareholders that are entitled to receive notice of, attend or vote at a meeting of Shareholders the Register shall be so closed for at least ten days immediately preceding such meeting and the record date for such determination shall be the date of the closure of the Register.

141. In lieu of or apart from closing the Register, the Directors may fix in advance a date as the record date for any such determination of those Shareholders that are entitled to receive notice of, attend or vote at a meeting of the Shareholders and for the purpose of determining those Shareholders that are entitled to receive payment of any dividend the Directors may, at or within 90 days prior to the date of declaration of such dividend, fix a subsequent date as the record date for such determination.

142. If the Register is not so closed and no record date is fixed for the determination of those Shareholders entitled to receive notice of, attend or vote at a meeting of Shareholders or those Shareholders that are entitled to receive payment of a dividend, the date on which notice of the meeting is posted or the date on which the resolution of the Directors declaring such dividend is adopted, as the case may be, shall be the record date for such determination of Shareholders. When a determination of those Shareholders that are entitled to receive notice of, attend or vote at a meeting of Shareholders has been made as provided in this Article, such determination shall apply to any adjournment thereof.

REGISTRATION BY WAY OF CONTINUATION

143. The Company may by Special Resolution resolve to be registered by way of continuation in a jurisdiction outside the Cayman Islands or such other jurisdiction in which it is for the time being incorporated, registered or existing. In furtherance of a resolution adopted pursuant to this Article, the Directors may cause an application to be made to the Registrar of Companies to deregister the Company in the Cayman Islands or such other jurisdiction in which it is for the time being incorporated, registered or existing and may cause all such further steps as they consider appropriate to be taken to effect the transfer by way of continuation of the Company.

DISCLOSURE

144. The Directors, or any authorised service providers (including the officers, the Secretary and the registered office agent of the Company), shall be entitled to disclose to any regulatory or judicial

3. Subject to the preceding Articles, any words defined in the Law shall, if not inconsistent with the subject or context, bear the same meaning in these Articles.

PRELIMINARY

4. The business of the Company may be commenced at any time after incorporation.

5. The Office shall be at such address in the Cayman Islands as the Directors may from time to time determine. The Company may in addition establish and maintain such other offices and places of business and agencies in such places as the Directors may from time to time determine.

6. The expenses incurred in the formation of the Company and in connection with the offer for subscription and issue of Shares shall be paid by the Company. Such expenses may be amortised over such period as the Directors may determine and the amount so paid shall be charged against income and/or capital in the accounts of the Company as the Directors shall determine.

7. The Directors shall keep, or cause to be kept, the Register at such place or (subject to compliance with the Law and these Articles) places as the Directors may from time to time determine. In the absence of any such determination, the Register shall be kept at the Office. The Directors may keep, or cause to be kept, one or more Branch Registers as well as the Principal Register in accordance with the Law, provided always that a duplicate of such Branch Register(s) shall be maintained with the Principal Register in accordance with the Law.

SHARES

8. Subject to these Articles, all Shares for the time being unissued shall be under the control of the Directors who may:

   (a) issue, allot and dispose of the same to such Persons, in such manner, on such terms and having such rights and being subject to such restrictions as they may from time to time determine; and

   (b) grant options with respect to such Shares and issue warrants or similar instruments with respect thereto;

   and, for such purposes, the Directors may reserve an appropriate number of Shares for the time being unissued.

9. The Directors, or the Shareholders by Ordinary Resolution, may authorise the division of Shares into any number of Classes and the different Classes shall be authorised, established and designated (or re-designated as the case may be) and the variations in the relative rights (including, without limitation, voting, dividend and redemption rights), restrictions, preferences, privileges and payment obligations as between the different Classes (if any) may be fixed and determined by the Directors or the Shareholders by Ordinary Resolution.

10. The Company may insofar as may be permitted by law, pay a commission to any Person in consideration of his subscribing or agreeing to subscribe whether absolutely or conditionally for any Shares. Such commissions may be satisfied by the payment of cash or the lodgement of fully or partly paid-up Shares or partly in one way and partly in the other. The Company may also pay such brokerage as may be lawful on any issue of Shares.

11. The Directors may refuse to accept any application for Shares, and may accept any application in whole or in part, for any reason or for no reason.

MODIFICATION OF RIGHTS

12. Whenever the capital of the Company is divided into different Classes the rights attached to any such Class may, subject to any rights or restrictions for the time being attached to any Class, only be materially adversely varied or abrogated with the consent in writing of the holders of not less than two-thirds of the issued Shares of the relevant Class, or with the sanction of a resolution passed at a separate meeting of the holders of the Shares of such Class by a majority of two-thirds of the votes cast at such a meeting. To every such separate meeting all the provisions of these Articles relating to general meetings of the Company or to the proceedings thereat shall, mutatis mutandis, apply, except that the necessary quorum shall be one or more Persons at least holding or representing by proxy one-third in nominal or par value amount of the issued Shares of the relevant Class (but so that if at any adjourned meeting of such holders a quorum as above defined is not present, those Shareholders who are present shall form a quorum) and that, subject to any rights or restrictions for the time being attached to the Shares of that Class, every Shareholder of the Class shall on a poll have one vote for each Share of the Class held by him. For the purposes of this Article the Directors may treat all the Classes or any two or more Classes as forming one Class if they consider that all such Classes would be affected in the same way by the proposals under consideration, but in any other case shall treat them as separate Classes.

13. The rights conferred upon the holders of the Shares of any Class issued with preferred or other rights shall not, subject to any rights or restrictions for the time being attached to the Shares of that Class, be deemed to be materially adversely varied or abrogated by, inter alia, the creation, allotment or issue of further Shares ranking pari passu with or subsequent to them or the redemption or purchase of any Shares of any Class by the Company.

CERTIFICATES

14. No Person shall be entitled to a certificate for any or all of his Shares, unless the Directors shall determine otherwise.

FRACTIONAL SHARES

15. The Directors may issue fractions of a Share and, if so issued, a fraction of a Share shall be subject to and carry the corresponding fraction of liabilities (whether with respect to nominal or par value, premium, contributions, calls or otherwise), limitations, preferences, privileges, qualifications, restrictions, rights (including, without prejudice to the generality of the foregoing, voting and participation rights) and other attributes of a whole Share. If more than one fraction of a Share of the same Class is issued to or acquired by the same Shareholder such fractions shall be accumulated.

LIEN

16. The Company has a first and paramount lien on every Share (whether or not fully paid) for all amounts (whether presently payable or not) payable at a fixed time or called in respect of that Share. The Company also has a first and paramount lien on every Share (whether or not fully paid) registered in the name of a Person indebted or under liability to the Company (whether he is the sole registered holder of a Share or one of two or more joint holders) for all amounts owing by him or his estate to the Company (whether or not presently payable). The Directors may at any time declare a Share to be wholly or in part exempt from the provisions of this Article. The Company's lien on a Share extends to any amount payable in respect of it.

17. The Company may sell, in such manner as the Directors in their absolute discretion think fit, any Share on which the Company has a lien, but no sale shall be made unless an amount in respect of which the lien exists is presently payable nor until the expiration of fourteen days after a notice in writing, demanding payment of such part of the amount in respect of which the lien exists as is presently payable, has been given to the registered holder for the time being of the Share, or the Persons entitled thereto by reason of his death or bankruptcy.

18. For giving effect to any such sale the Directors may authorise some Person to transfer the Shares sold to the purchaser thereof. The purchaser shall be registered as the holder of the Shares comprised in any such transfer and he shall not be bound to see to the application of the purchase money, nor shall his title to the Shares be affected by any irregularity or invalidity in the proceedings in reference to the sale.

19. The proceeds of the sale after deduction of expenses, fees and commission incurred by the Company shall be received by the Company and applied in payment of such part of the amount in respect of which the lien exists as is presently payable, and the residue shall (subject to a like lien for sums not presently payable as existed upon the Shares prior to the sale) be paid to the Person entitled to the Shares immediately prior to the sale.

CALLS ON SHARES

20. The Directors may from time to time make calls upon the Shareholders in respect of any moneys unpaid on their Shares, and each Shareholder shall (subject to receiving at least fourteen days' notice specifying the time or times of payment) pay to the Company at the time or times so specified the amount called on such Shares.

21. The joint holders of a Share shall be jointly and severally liable to pay calls in respect thereof.

22. If a sum called in respect of a Share is not paid before or on the day appointed for payment thereof, the Person from whom the sum is due shall pay interest upon the sum at the rate of eight percent per annum from the day appointed for the payment thereof to the time of the actual payment, but the Directors shall be at liberty to waive payment of that interest wholly or in part.

23. The provisions of these Articles as to the liability of joint holders and as to payment of interest shall apply in the case of non-payment of any sum which, by the terms of issue of a Share, becomes payable at a fixed time, whether on account of the amount of the Share, or by way of premium, as if the same had become payable by virtue of a call duly made and notified.

24. The Directors may make arrangements on the issue of partly paid Shares for a difference between the Shareholders, or the particular Shares, in the amount of calls to be paid and in the times of payment.

25. The Directors may, if they think fit, receive from any Shareholder willing to advance the same all or any part of the moneys uncalled and unpaid upon any partly paid Shares held by him, and upon all or any of the moneys so advanced may (until the same would, but for such advance, become presently payable) pay interest at such rate (not exceeding without the sanction of an Ordinary Resolution, eight percent per annum) as may be agreed upon between the Shareholder paying the sum in advance and the Directors.

FORFEITURE OF SHARES

26. If a Shareholder fails to pay any call or instalment of a call in respect of any Shares on the day appointed for payment, the Directors may, at any time thereafter during such time as any part of such call or instalment remains unpaid, serve a notice on him requiring payment of so much of the call or instalment as is unpaid, together with any interest which may have accrued.

27. The notice shall name a further day (not earlier than the expiration of fourteen days from the date of the notice) on or before which the payment required by the notice is to be made, and shall state that in the event of non-payment at or before the time appointed the Shares in respect of which the call was made will be liable to be forfeited.

28. If the requirements of any such notice as aforesaid are not complied with, any Share in respect of which the notice has been given may at any time thereafter, before the payment required by notice has been made, be forfeited by a resolution of the Directors to that effect.

29. A forfeited Share may be sold or otherwise disposed of on such terms and in such manner as the Directors think fit, and at any time before a sale or disposition the forfeiture may be cancelled on such terms as the Directors think fit.

30. A Person whose Shares have been forfeited shall cease to be a Shareholder in respect of the forfeited Shares, but shall, notwithstanding, remain liable to pay to the Company all moneys which at the date of forfeiture were payable by him to the Company in respect of the Shares forfeited, but his liability shall cease if and when the Company receives payment in full of the amount unpaid on the Shares forfeited.

31. A statutory declaration in writing that the declarant is a Director, and that a Share has been duly forfeited on a date stated in the declaration, shall be conclusive evidence of the facts in the declaration as against all Persons claiming to be entitled to the Share.

32. The Company may receive the consideration, if any, given for a Share on any sale or disposition thereof pursuant to the provisions of these Articles as to forfeiture and may execute a transfer of the Share in favour of the Person to whom the Share is sold or disposed of and that Person shall be registered as the holder of the Share, and shall not be bound to see to the application of the purchase money, if any, nor shall his title to the Shares be affected by any irregularity or invalidity in the proceedings in reference to the disposition or sale.

33. The provisions of these Articles as to forfeiture shall apply in the case of non-payment of any sum which by the terms of issue of a Share becomes due and payable, whether on account of the amount of the Share, or by way of premium, as if the same had been payable by virtue of a call duly made and notified.

TRANSFER OF SHARES

34. The instrument of transfer of any Share shall be in any usual or common form or such other form as the Directors may, in their absolute discretion, approve and be executed by or on behalf of the transferor and if in respect of a nil or partly paid up Share, or if so required by the Directors, shall also be executed on behalf of the transferee and shall be accompanied by the certificate (if any) of the Shares to which it relates and such other evidence as the Directors may reasonably require to show the right of the transferor to make the transfer. The transferor shall be deemed to remain a Shareholder until the name of the transferee is entered in the Register in respect of the relevant Shares.

35. The Directors may in their absolute discretion decline to register any transfer of Shares without assigning any reason therefor.

36. The registration of transfers may be suspended at such times and for such periods as the Directors may from time to time determine.

37. All instruments of transfer that are registered shall be retained by the Company, but any instrument of transfer that the Directors decline to register shall (except in any case of fraud) be returned to the Person depositing the same.

TRANSMISSION OF SHARES

38. The legal personal representative of a deceased sole holder of a Share shall be the only Person recognised by the Company as having any title to the Share. In the case of a Share registered in the name of two or more holders, the survivors or survivor, or the legal personal representatives of the deceased holder of the Share, shall be the only Person recognised by the Company as having any title to the Share.

39. Any Person becoming entitled to a Share in consequence of the death or bankruptcy of a Shareholder shall upon such evidence being produced as may from time to time be required by the Directors, have the right either to be registered as a Shareholder in respect of the Share or, instead of being registered himself, to make such transfer of the Share as the deceased or bankrupt Person could have made; but the Directors shall, in either case, have the same right to decline or suspend registration as they would have had in the case of a transfer of the Share by the deceased or bankrupt Person before the death or bankruptcy.

40. A Person becoming entitled to a Share by reason of the death or bankruptcy of a Shareholder shall be entitled to the same dividends and other advantages to which he would be entitled if he were the registered Shareholder, except that he shall not, before being registered as a Shareholder in respect of the Share, be entitled in respect of it to exercise any right conferred by membership in relation to meetings of the Company.

ALTERATION OF SHARE CAPITAL

41. The Company may from time to time by Ordinary Resolution increase the share capital by such sum, to be divided into Shares of such Classes and amount, as the resolution shall prescribe.

42. The Company may by Ordinary Resolution:

(a) consolidate and divide all or any of its share capital into Shares of a larger amount than its existing Shares;

(b) convert all or any of its paid up Shares into stock and reconvert that stock into paid up Shares of any denomination;

(c) subdivide its existing Shares, or any of them into Shares of a smaller amount provided that in the subdivision the proportion between the amount paid and the amount, if any, unpaid on each reduced Share shall be the same as it was in case of the Share from which the reduced Share is derived; and

(d) cancel any Shares that, at the date of the passing of the resolution, have not been taken or agreed to be taken by any Person and diminish the amount of its share capital by the amount of the Shares so cancelled.

43. The Company may by Special Resolution reduce its share capital and any capital redemption reserve in any manner authorised by law.

REDEMPTION, PURCHASE AND SURRENDER OF SHARES

44. Subject to the Law, the Company may:

(a) issue Shares on terms that they are to be redeemed or are liable to be redeemed at the option of the Company or the Shareholder on such terms and in such manner as the Directors may determine;

(b) purchase its own Shares (including any redeemable Shares) on such terms and in such manner as the Directors may determine and agree with the Shareholder;

(c) make a payment in respect of the redemption or purchase of its own Shares in any manner authorised by the Law; and

(d) accept the surrender for no consideration of any paid up Share (including any redeemable Share) on such terms and in such manner as the Directors may determine.

45. Any Share in respect of which notice of redemption has been given shall not be entitled to participate in the profits of the Company in respect of the period after the date specified as the date of redemption in the notice of redemption.

46. The redemption, purchase or surrender of any Share shall not be deemed to give rise to the redemption, purchase or surrender of any other Share.

47. The Directors may when making payments in respect of redemption or purchase of Shares, if authorised by the terms of issue of the Shares being redeemed or purchased or with the agreement of the holder of such Shares, make such payment either in cash or in specie.

TREASURY SHARES

48. Shares that the Company purchases, redeems or acquires (by way of surrender or otherwise) may, at the option of the Company, be cancelled immediately or held as Treasury Shares in accordance with the Law. In the event that the Directors do not specify that the relevant Shares are to be held as Treasury Shares, such Shares shall be cancelled.

49. No dividend may be declared or paid, and no other distribution (whether in cash or otherwise) of the Company's assets (including any distribution of assets to members on a winding up) may be declared or paid in respect of a Treasury Share.

50. The Company shall be entered in the Register as the holder of the Treasury Shares provided that:

    (a) the Company shall not be treated as a member for any purpose and shall not exercise any right in respect of the Treasury Shares, and any purported exercise of such a right shall be void;

    (b) a Treasury Share shall not be voted, directly or indirectly, at any meeting of the Company and shall not be counted in determining the total number of issued shares at any given time, whether for the purposes of these Articles or the Law, save that an allotment of Shares as fully paid bonus shares in respect of a Treasury Share is permitted and Shares allotted as fully paid bonus shares in respect of a treasury share shall be treated as Treasury Shares.

51. Treasury Shares may be disposed of by the Company on such terms and conditions as determined by the Directors.

GENERAL MEETINGS

52. The Directors may, whenever they think fit, convene a general meeting of the Company.

53. The Directors may cancel or postpone any duly convened general meeting at any time prior to such meeting, except for general meetings requisitioned by the Shareholders in accordance with these Articles, for any reason or for no reason at any time prior to the time for holding such meeting or, if the meeting is adjourned, the time for holding such adjourned meeting. The Directors shall give Shareholders notice in writing of any postponement, which postponement may be for a stated period of any length or indefinitely as the Directors may determine.

54. General meetings shall also be convened on the requisition in writing of any Shareholder or Shareholders entitled to attend and vote at general meetings of the Company holding at least ten percent of the paid up voting share capital of the Company deposited at the Office specifying the objects of the meeting for a date no later than 21 days from the date of deposit of the requisition signed by the requisitionists, and if the Directors do not convene such meeting for a date not later than 45 days after the date of such deposit, the requisitionists themselves may convene the general meeting in the same manner, as nearly as possible, as that in which general meetings may be convened by the Directors, and all reasonable expenses incurred by the requisitionists as a result of the failure of the Directors to convene the general meeting shall be reimbursed to them by the Company.

55. If at any time there are no Directors, any two Shareholders (or if there is only one Shareholder then that Shareholder) entitled to vote at general meetings of the Company may convene a general meeting in the same manner as nearly as possible as that in which general meetings may be convened by the Directors.

NOTICE OF GENERAL MEETINGS

56. At least seven clear days' notice in writing counting from the date service is deemed to take place as provided in these Articles specifying the place, the day and the hour of the meeting and, in case of special business, the general nature of that business, shall be given in the manner hereinafter provided or in such other manner (if any) as may be prescribed by the Company by Ordinary Resolution to such Persons as are, under these Articles, entitled to receive such notices from the Company, but with the consent of all the Shareholders entitled to receive notice of some particular meeting and attend and vote thereat, that meeting may be convened by such shorter notice or without notice and in such manner as those Shareholders may think fit.

57. The accidental omission to give notice of a meeting to or the non-receipt of a notice of a meeting by any Shareholder shall not invalidate the proceedings at any meeting.

PROCEEDINGS AT GENERAL MEETINGS

58. All business carried out at a general meeting shall be deemed special with the exception of sanctioning a dividend, the consideration of the accounts, balance sheets, any report of the Directors or of the Company's auditors, and the fixing of the remuneration of the Company's auditors. No special business shall be transacted at any general meeting without the consent of all Shareholders entitled to receive notice of that meeting unless notice of such special business has been given in the notice convening that meeting.

59. No business shall be transacted at any general meeting unless a quorum of Shareholders is present at the time when the meeting proceeds to business. Save as otherwise provided by these Articles, one or more Shareholders holding at least a majority of the paid up voting share capital of the Company present in person or by proxy and entitled to vote at that meeting shall form a quorum.

60. If within half an hour from the time appointed for the meeting a quorum is not present, the meeting, if convened upon the requisition of Shareholders, shall be dissolved. In any other case it shall stand adjourned to the same day in the next week, at the same time and place, and if at the adjourned meeting a quorum is not present within half an hour from the time appointed for the meeting the Shareholder or Shareholders present and entitled to vote shall form a quorum.

61. If the Directors wish to make this facility available for a specific general meeting or all general meetings of the Company, participation in any general meeting of the Company may be by means of a telephone or similar communication equipment by way of which all Persons participating in such meeting can communicate with each other and such participation shall be deemed to constitute presence in person at the meeting.

62. The chairman, if any, of the Directors shall preside as chairman at every general meeting of the Company.

63. If there is no such chairman, or if at any general meeting he is not present within fifteen minutes after the time appointed for holding the meeting or is unwilling to act as chairman, any Director or Person nominated by the Directors shall preside as chairman, failing which the Shareholders present in person or by proxy shall choose any Person present to be chairman of that meeting.

64. The chairman may adjourn a meeting from time to time and from place to place either:

(a) with the consent of any general meeting at which a quorum is present (and shall if so directed by the meeting); or

(b) without the consent of such meeting if, in his sole opinion, he considers it necessary to do so to:

(i) secure the orderly conduct or proceedings of the meeting; or

(ii) give all persons present in person or by proxy and having the right to speak and / or vote at such meeting, the ability to do so,

but no business shall be transacted at any adjourned meeting other than the business left unfinished at the meeting from which the adjournment took place. When a meeting, or adjourned meeting, is adjourned for fourteen days or more, notice of the adjourned meeting shall be given in the manner provided for the original meeting. Save as aforesaid, it shall not be necessary to give any notice of an adjournment or of the business to be transacted at an adjourned meeting.

65. At any general meeting a resolution put to the vote of the meeting shall be decided on a show of hands, unless a poll is (before or on the declaration of the result of the show of hands) demanded by the chairman or one or more Shareholders present in person or by proxy entitled to vote, and unless a poll is so demanded, a declaration by the chairman that a resolution has, on a show of hands, been carried, or carried unanimously, or by a particular majority, or lost, and an entry to that effect in the book of the proceedings of the Company, shall be conclusive evidence of the fact, without proof of the number or proportion of the votes recorded in favour of, or against, that resolution.

66. If a poll is duly demanded it shall be taken in such manner as the chairman directs, and the result of the poll shall be deemed to be the resolution of the meeting at which the poll was demanded.

67. In the case of an equality of votes, whether on a show of hands or on a poll, the chairman of the meeting at which the show of hands takes place or at which the poll is demanded, shall be entitled to a second or casting vote.

68. A poll demanded on the election of a chairman of the meeting or on a question of adjournment shall be taken forthwith. A poll demanded on any other question shall be taken at such time as the chairman of the meeting directs.

VOTES OF SHAREHOLDERS

69. Subject to any rights and restrictions for the time being attached to any Share, on a show of hands every Shareholder present in person and every Person representing a Shareholder by proxy shall, at a general meeting of the Company, each have one vote and on a poll every Shareholder and every Person representing a Shareholder by proxy shall have one vote for each Share of which he or the Person represented by proxy is the holder.

70. In the case of joint holders the vote of the senior who tenders a vote whether in person or by proxy shall be accepted to the exclusion of the votes of the other joint holders and for this purpose seniority shall be determined by the order in which the names stand in the Register.

71. A Shareholder of unsound mind, or in respect of whom an order has been made by any court having jurisdiction in lunacy, may vote in respect of Shares carrying the right to vote held by him, whether on a show of hands or on a poll, by his committee, or other Person in the nature of a committee appointed by that court, and any such committee or other Person, may vote in respect of such Shares by proxy.

72. No Shareholder shall be entitled to vote at any general meeting of the Company unless all calls, if any, or other sums presently payable by him in respect of Shares carrying the right to vote held by him have been paid.

73. On a poll votes may be given either personally or by proxy.

74. The instrument appointing a proxy shall be in writing under the hand of the appointor or of his attorney duly authorised in writing or, if the appointor is a corporation, either under Seal or under the hand of an officer or attorney duly authorised. A proxy need not be a Shareholder.

75. An instrument appointing a proxy may be in any usual or common form or such other form as the Directors may approve.

76. The instrument appointing a proxy shall be deposited at the Office or at such other place as is specified for that purpose in the notice convening the meeting no later than the time for holding the meeting or, if the meeting is adjourned, the time for holding such adjourned meeting.

77. The instrument appointing a proxy shall be deemed to confer authority to demand or join in demanding a poll.

78. A resolution in writing signed by all the Shareholders for the time being entitled to receive notice of and to attend and vote at general meetings of the Company (or being corporations by their duly authorised representatives) shall be as valid and effective as if the same had been passed at a general meeting of the Company duly convened and held.

CORPORATIONS ACTING BY REPRESENTATIVES AT MEETINGS

79. Any corporation which is a Shareholder or a Director may by resolution of its directors or other governing body authorise such Person as it thinks fit to act as its representative at any meeting of the Company or of any meeting of holders of a Class or of the Directors or of a committee of Directors, and the Person so authorised shall be entitled to exercise the same powers on behalf of the corporation which he represents as that corporation could exercise if it were an individual Shareholder or Director.

DIRECTORS

80. The name(s) of the first Director(s) shall either be determined in writing by a majority (or in the case of a sole subscriber that subscriber) of, or elected at a meeting of, the subscribers of the Memorandum of Association.

81. The Company may by Ordinary Resolution appoint any natural person or corporation to be a Director.

82. Subject to these Articles, a Director shall hold office until such time as he is removed from office by Ordinary Resolution.

83. The Company may by Ordinary Resolution from time to time fix the maximum and minimum number of Directors to be appointed but unless such numbers are fixed as aforesaid the minimum number of Directors shall be one and the maximum number of Directors shall be unlimited.

84. The remuneration of the Directors may be determined by the Directors or by Ordinary Resolution.

85. There shall be no shareholding qualification for Directors unless determined otherwise by Ordinary Resolution.

86. The Directors shall have power at any time and from time to time to appoint a natural person or corporation as a Director, either as a result of a casual vacancy or as an additional Director, subject to the maximum number (if any) imposed by Ordinary Resolution.

ALTERNATE DIRECTOR

87. Any Director may in writing appoint another Person to be his alternate and, save to the extent provided otherwise in the form of appointment, such alternate shall have authority to sign written resolutions on behalf of the appointing Director, but shall not be required to sign such written resolutions where they have been signed by the appointing Director, and to act in such Director's place at any meeting of the Directors at which he is unable to be present. Every such alternate shall be entitled to attend and vote at meetings of the Directors as a Director when the Director appointing him is not personally present and where he is a Director to have a separate vote on behalf of the Director he is representing in addition to his own vote. A Director may at any time in writing revoke the appointment of an alternate appointed by him. Such alternate shall not be deemed to be an officer of the Company solely as a result of his appointment as an alternate. The remuneration of such alternate shall be payable out of the remuneration of the Director appointing him and the proportion thereof shall be agreed between them.

88. Any Director may appoint any Person, whether or not a Director, to be the proxy of that Director to attend and vote on his behalf, in accordance with instructions given by that Director, or in the absence of such instructions at the discretion of the proxy, at a meeting or meetings of the Directors which that Director is unable to attend personally. The instrument appointing the proxy shall be in writing under the hand of the appointing Director and shall be in any usual or common form or such other form as the Directors may approve, and must be lodged with the chairman of the meeting of the Directors at which such proxy is to be used, or first used, prior to the commencement of the meeting.

POWERS AND DUTIES OF DIRECTORS

89. Subject to the Law, these Articles and to any resolutions passed in a general meeting, the business of the Company shall be managed by the Directors, who may pay all expenses incurred in setting up and registering the Company and may exercise all powers of the Company. No resolution passed by the Company in general meeting shall invalidate any prior act of the Directors that would have been valid if that resolution had not been passed.

90. The Directors may from time to time appoint any natural person or corporation, whether or not a Director to hold such office in the Company as the Directors may think necessary for the administration of the Company, including but not limited to, the office of president, one or more vice-presidents, treasurer, assistant treasurer, manager or controller, and for such term and at such remuneration (whether by way of salary or commission or participation in profits or partly in one way and partly in another), and with such powers and duties as the Directors may think fit. Any natural person or corporation so appointed by the Directors may be removed by the Directors or by the Company by Ordinary Resolution. The Directors may also appoint one or more of their number to the office of managing director upon like terms, but any such appointment shall ipso facto determine if any managing director ceases from any cause to be a Director, or if the Company by Ordinary Resolution resolves that his tenure of office be terminated.

91. The Directors may appoint any natural person or corporation to be a Secretary (and if need be an assistant Secretary or assistant Secretaries) who shall hold office for such term, at such remuneration and upon such conditions and with such powers as they think fit. Any Secretary or assistant Secretary so appointed by the Directors may be removed by the Directors or by the Company by Ordinary Resolution.

92. The Directors may delegate any of their powers to committees consisting of such member or members of their body as they think fit; any committee so formed shall in the exercise of the powers so delegated conform to any regulations that may be imposed on it by the Directors.

93. The Directors may from time to time and at any time by power of attorney (whether under Seal or under hand) or otherwise appoint any company, firm or Person or body of Persons, whether nominated directly or indirectly by the Directors, to be the attorney or attorneys or authorised signatory (any such person being an "Attorney" or "Authorised Signatory", respectively) of the Company for such purposes and with such powers, authorities and discretion (not exceeding those vested in or exercisable by the Directors under these Articles) and for such period and subject to such conditions as they may think fit, and any such power of attorney or other appointment may contain such provisions for the protection and convenience of Persons dealing with any such Attorney or Authorised Signatory as the Directors may think fit, and may also authorise any such Attorney or Authorised Signatory to delegate all or any of the powers, authorities and discretion vested in him.

94. The Directors may from time to time provide for the management of the affairs of the Company in such manner as they shall think fit and the provisions contained in the three next following Articles shall not limit the general powers conferred by this Article.

95. The Directors from time to time and at any time may establish any committees, local boards or agencies for managing any of the affairs of the Company and may appoint any natural person or corporation to be a member of such committees or local boards and may appoint any managers or agents of the Company and may fix the remuneration of any such natural person or corporation.

96. The Directors from time to time and at any time may delegate to any such committee, local board, manager or agent any of the powers, authorities and discretions for the time being vested in the Directors and may authorise the members for the time being of any such local board, or any of them to fill any vacancies therein and to act notwithstanding vacancies and any such appointment or delegation may be made on such terms and subject to such conditions as the Directors may think fit and the Directors may at any time remove any natural person or corporation so appointed and may annul or vary any such delegation, but no Person dealing in good faith and without notice of any such annulment or variation shall be affected thereby.

97. Any such delegates as aforesaid may be authorised by the Directors to sub-delegate all or any of the powers, authorities, and discretion for the time being vested in them.

BORROWING POWERS OF DIRECTORS

The Directors may exercise all the powers of the Company to borrow money and to mortgage or charge its undertaking, property and uncalled capital or any part thereof, to issue debentures, debenture stock and other securities whenever money is borrowed or as security for any debt, liability or obligation of the Company or of any third party.

The Seal shall be affixed in the presence of a Director or a Secretary (or an assistant Secretary) or in the presence of any one or more Persons as the Directors may appoint for the purpose and every Person as aforesaid shall sign every instrument to which the Seal is so affixed in their presence.

100. The Company may maintain a facsimile of the Seal in such countries or places as the Directors may appoint and such facsimile Seal shall not be affixed to any instrument except by the authority of a resolution of the Directors provided always that such authority may be given prior to or after the affixing of such facsimile Seal and if given after may be in general form confirming a number of affixings of such facsimile Seal. The facsimile Seal shall be affixed in the presence of such Person or Persons as the Directors shall for this purpose appoint and such Person or Persons as aforesaid shall sign every instrument to which the facsimile Seal is so affixed in their presence and such affixing of the facsimile Seal and signing as aforesaid shall have the same meaning and effect as if the Seal had been affixed in the presence of and the instrument signed by a Director or a Secretary (or an assistant Secretary) or in the presence of any one or more Persons as the Directors may appoint for the purpose.

101. Notwithstanding the foregoing, a Secretary or any assistant Secretary shall have the authority to affix the Seal, or the facsimile Seal, to any instrument for the purposes of attesting authenticity of the matter contained therein but which does not create any obligation binding on the Company.

A Director may, and a Secretary or assistant Secretary on the requisition of a Director shall, at any time summon a meeting of the Directors.

104. A Director may participate in any meeting of the Directors, or of any committee appointed by the Directors of which such Director is a member, by means of telephone or similar communication equipment by way of which all Persons participating in such meeting can communicate with each other and such participation shall be deemed to constitute presence in person at the meeting.

105. The quorum necessary for the transaction of the business of the Directors may be fixed by the Directors, and unless so fixed, if there be two or more Directors the quorum shall be two, and if there be one Director the quorum shall be one. A Director represented by proxy or by an alternate Director at any meeting shall be deemed to be present for the purposes of determining whether or not a quorum is present.

106. A Director who is in any way, whether directly or indirectly, interested in a contract or proposed contract with the Company shall declare the nature of his interest at a meeting of the Directors. A general notice given to the Directors by any Director to the effect that he is a member of any specified company or firm and is to be regarded as interested in any contract which may thereafter be made with that company or firm shall be deemed a sufficient declaration of interest in regard to any contract so made. A Director may vote in respect of any contract or proposed contract or arrangement notwithstanding that he may be interested therein and if he does so his vote shall be counted and he may be counted in the quorum at any meeting of the Directors at which any such contract or proposed contract or arrangement shall come before the meeting for consideration.

107. A Director may hold any other office or place of profit under the Company (other than the office of auditor) in conjunction with his office of Director for such period and on such terms (as to remuneration and otherwise) as the Directors may determine and no Director or intending Director shall be disqualified by his office from contracting with the Company either with regard to his tenure of any such other office or place of profit or as vendor, purchaser or otherwise, nor shall any such contract or arrangement entered into by or on behalf of the Company in which any Director is in any way interested, be liable to be avoided, nor shall any Director so contracting or being so interested be liable to account to the Company for any profit realised by any such contract or arrangement by reason of such Director holding that office or of the fiduciary relation thereby established. A Director, notwithstanding his interest, may be counted in the quorum present at any meeting of the Directors whereat he or any other Director is appointed to hold any such office or place of profit under the Company or whereat the terms of any such appointment are arranged and he may vote on any such appointment or arrangement.

108. Any Director may act by himself or his firm in a professional capacity for the Company, and he or his firm shall be entitled to remuneration for professional services as if he were not a Director; provided that nothing herein contained shall authorise a Director or his firm to act as auditor to the Company.

109. The Directors shall cause minutes to be made in books or loose-leaf folders provided for the purpose of recording:

(a) all appointments of officers made by the Directors;

(b) the names of the Directors present at each meeting of the Directors and of any committee of the Directors; and

(c) all resolutions and proceedings at all meetings of the Company, and of the Directors and of committees of Directors.

110. When the chairman of a meeting of the Directors signs the minutes of such meeting the same shall be deemed to have been duly held notwithstanding that all the Directors have not actually come together or that there may have been a technical defect in the proceedings.

111. A resolution in writing signed by all the Directors or all the members of a committee of Directors entitled to receive notice of a meeting of Directors or committee of Directors, as the case may be (an alternate Director, subject as provided otherwise in the terms of appointment of the alternate Director, being entitled to sign such a resolution on behalf of his appointer), shall be as valid and effectual as if it had been passed at a duly called and constituted meeting of Directors or committee of Directors, as the case may be. When signed a resolution may consist of several documents each signed by one or more of the Directors or his duly appointed alternate.

112. The continuing Directors may act notwithstanding any vacancy in their body but if and for so long as their number is reduced below the number fixed by or pursuant to these Articles as the necessary quorum of Directors, the continuing Directors may act for the purpose of increasing the number, or of summoning a general meeting of the Company, but for no other purpose.

113. The Directors may elect a chairman of their meetings and determine the period for which he is to hold office but if no such chairman is elected, or if at any meeting the chairman is not present within fifteen minutes after the time appointed for holding the meeting, the Directors present may choose one of their number to be chairman of the meeting.

114. Subject to any regulations imposed on it by the Directors, a committee appointed by the Directors may elect a chairman of its meetings. If no such chairman is elected, or if at any meeting the chairman is not present within fifteen minutes after the time appointed for holding the meeting, the committee members present may choose one of their number to be chairman of the meeting.

115. A committee appointed by the Directors may meet and adjourn as it thinks proper. Subject to any regulations imposed on it by the Directors, questions arising at any meeting shall be determined by a majority of votes of the committee members present and in case of an equality of votes the chairman shall have a second or casting vote.

116. All acts done by any meeting of the Directors or of a committee of Directors, or by any Person acting as a Director, shall notwithstanding that it be afterwards discovered that there was some defect in the appointment of any such Director or Person acting as aforesaid, or that they or any of them were disqualified, be as valid as if every such Person had been duly appointed and was qualified to be a Director.

DIVIDENDS

117. Subject to any rights and restrictions for the time being attached to any Shares, or as otherwise provided for in the Law and these Articles, the Directors may from time to time declare dividends (including interim dividends) and other distributions on Shares in issue and authorise payment of the same out of the funds of the Company lawfully available therefor.

118. Subject to any rights and restrictions for the time being attached to any Shares, the Company by Ordinary Resolution may declare dividends, but no dividend shall exceed the amount recommended by the Directors.

119. The Directors may, before recommending or declaring any dividend, set aside out of the funds legally available for distribution such sums as they think proper as a reserve or reserves which shall, in the absolute discretion of the Directors be applicable for meeting contingencies, or for equalising dividends or for any other purpose to which those funds may be properly applied and pending such application may in the absolute discretion of the Directors, either be employed in the business of the Company or be invested in such investments as the Directors may from time to time think fit.

120. Any dividend may be paid in any manner as the Directors may determine. If paid by cheque it will be sent through the post to the registered address of the Shareholder or Person entitled thereto, or in the case of joint holders, to any one of such joint holders at his registered address or to such Person and such address as the Shareholder or Person entitled, or such joint holders as the case may be, may direct. Every such cheque shall be made payable to the order of the Person to whom it is sent or to the order of such other Person as the Shareholder or Person entitled, or such joint holders as the case may be, may direct.

121. The Directors when paying dividends to the Shareholders in accordance with the foregoing provisions of these Articles may make such payment either in cash or in specie.

122. Subject to any rights and restrictions for the time being attached to any Shares, all dividends shall be declared and paid according to the amounts paid up on the Shares, but if and for so long as nothing is paid up on any of the Shares dividends may be declared and paid according to the par value of the Shares.

123. If several Persons are registered as joint holders of any Share, any of them may give effectual receipts for any dividend or other moneys payable on or in respect of the Share.

124. No dividend shall bear interest against the Company.

ACCOUNTS, AUDIT AND ANNUAL RETURN AND DECLARATION

125. The books of account relating to the Company's affairs shall be kept in such manner as may be determined from time to time by the Directors.

126. The books of account shall be kept at the Office, or at such other place or places as the Directors think fit, and shall always be open to the inspection of the Directors.

127. The Directors may from time to time determine whether and to what extent and at what times and places and under what conditions or regulations the accounts and books of the Company or any of them shall be open to the inspection of Shareholders not being Directors, and no Shareholder (not being a Director) shall have any right of inspecting any account or book or document of the Company except as conferred by law or authorised by the Directors or by Ordinary Resolution.

128. The accounts relating to the Company's affairs shall only be audited if the Directors so determine, in which case the financial year end and the accounting principles will be determined by the Directors.

129. The Directors in each year shall prepare, or cause to be prepared, an annual return and declaration setting forth the particulars required by the Law and deliver a copy thereof to the Registrar of Companies in the Cayman Islands.

CAPITALISATION OF RESERVES

130. Subject to the Law and these Articles, the Directors may:

(a) resolve to capitalise an amount standing to the credit of reserves (including a Share Premium Account, capital redemption reserve and profit and loss account), whether or not available for distribution;

(b) appropriate the sum resolved to be capitalised to the Shareholders in proportion to the nominal amount of Shares (whether or not fully paid) held by them respectively and apply that sum on their behalf in or towards:

(i) paying up the amounts (if any) for the time being unpaid on Shares held by them respectively, or

(ii) paying up in full unissued Shares or debentures of a nominal amount equal to that sum,

and allot the Shares or debentures, credited as fully paid, to the Shareholders (or as they may direct) in those proportions, or partly in one way and partly in the other, but the Share Premium Account, the capital redemption reserve and profits which are not available for distribution may, for the purposes of this Article, only be applied in paying up unissued Shares to be allotted to Shareholders credited as fully paid;

(c) make any arrangements they think fit to resolve a difficulty arising in the distribution of a capitalised reserve and in particular, without limitation, where Shares or debentures become distributable in fractions the Directors may deal with the fractions as they think fit;

(d) authorise a Person to enter (on behalf of all the Shareholders concerned) into an agreement with the Company providing for either:

(i) the allotment to the Shareholders respectively, credited as fully paid, of Shares or debentures to which they may be entitled on the capitalisation, or

(ii) the payment by the Company on behalf of the Shareholders (by the application of their respective proportions of the reserves resolved to be capitalised) of the amounts or part of the amounts remaining unpaid on their existing Shares,

and any such agreement made under this authority being effective and binding on all those Shareholders; and

(e) generally do all acts and things required to give effect to any of the actions contemplated by this Article.

SHARE PREMIUM ACCOUNT

131. The Directors shall in accordance with the Law establish a Share Premium Account and shall carry to the credit of such account from time to time a sum equal to the amount or value of the premium paid on the issue of any Share.

132. There shall be debited to any Share Premium Account on the redemption or purchase of a Share the difference between the nominal value of such Share and the redemption or purchase price provided always that at the discretion of the Directors such sum may be paid out of the profits of the Company or, if permitted by the Law, out of capital.

NOTICES

133. Any notice or document may be served by the Company or by the Person entitled to give notice to any Shareholder either personally, or by posting it airmail or air courier service in a prepaid letter addressed to such Shareholder at his address as appearing in the Register, or by electronic mail to any electronic mail address such Shareholder may have specified in writing for the purpose of such service of notices, or by facsimile should the Directors deem it appropriate. In the case of joint holders of a Share, all notices shall be given to that one of the joint holders whose name stands first in the Register in respect of the joint holding, and notice so given shall be sufficient notice to all the joint holders.

136. Any notice or document delivered or sent by post to or left at the registered address of any Shareholder in accordance with the terms of these Articles shall notwithstanding that such Shareholder be then dead or bankrupt, and whether or not the Company has notice of his death or bankruptcy, be deemed to have been duly served in respect of any Share registered in the name of such Shareholder as sole or joint holder, unless his name shall at the time of the service of the notice or document, have been removed from the Register as the holder of the Share, and such service shall for all purposes be deemed a sufficient service of such notice or document on all Persons interested (whether jointly with or as claiming through or under him) in the Share.

137. Notice of every general meeting of the Company shall be given to:

(a) all Shareholders holding Shares with the right to receive notice and who have supplied to the Company an address for the giving of notices to them; and

(b) every Person entitled to a Share in consequence of the death or bankruptcy of a Shareholder, who but for his death or bankruptcy would be entitled to receive notice of the meeting.

No other Person shall be entitled to receive notices of general meetings.

INDEMNITY

138. Every Director (including for the purposes of this Article any alternate Director appointed pursuant to the provisions of these Articles), Secretary, assistant Secretary, or other officer for the time being and from time to time of the Company (but not including the Company's auditors) and the personal representatives of the same (each an "Indemnified Person") shall be indemnified and secured harmless against all actions, proceedings, costs, charges, expenses, losses, damages or liabilities incurred or sustained by such Indemnified Person, other than by reason of such Indemnified Person's own dishonesty, wilful default or fraud, in or about the conduct of the Company's business or affairs (including as a result of any mistake of judgment) or in the execution or discharge of his duties, powers, authorities or discretions, including without prejudice to the generality of the foregoing, any costs, expenses, losses or liabilities incurred by such Indemnified Person in defending (whether successfully or otherwise) any civil proceedings concerning the Company or its affairs in any court whether in the Cayman Islands or elsewhere.

139. No Indemnified Person shall be liable:

(c) on account of the insufficiency of any security in or upon which any money of the Company shall be invested; or

(d) for any loss incurred through any bank, broker or other similar Person; or

(e) for any loss occasioned by any negligence, default, breach of duty, breach of trust, error of judgement or oversight on such Indemnified Person's part; or unless the same shall happen through such Indemnified Person's own dishonesty, wilful default or fraud.

(f) for any loss, damage or misfortune whatsoever which may happen in or arise from the execution or discharge of the duties, powers, authorities, or discretions of such Indemnified Person's office or in relation thereto;

NON-RECOGNITION OF TRUSTS

140. Subject to the proviso hereto, no Person shall be recognised by the Company as holding any Share upon any trust and the Company shall not, unless required by law, be bound by or be compelled in any way to recognise (even when having notice thereof) any equitable, contingent, future or partial interest in any Share or (except only as otherwise provided by these Articles or as the Law requires) any other right in respect of any Share except an absolute right to the entirety thereof in each Shareholder registered in the Register, provided that, notwithstanding the foregoing, the Company shall be entitled to recognise any such interests as shall be determined by the Directors.

WINDING UP

141. If the Company shall be wound up the liquidator shall apply the assets of the Company in such manner and order as he thinks fit in satisfaction of creditors' claims.

142. If the Company shall be wound up, the liquidator may, with the sanction of an Ordinary Resolution divide amongst the Shareholders in specie or kind the whole or any part of the assets of the Company (whether they shall consist of property of the same kind or not) and may, for such purpose set such value as he deems fair upon any property to be divided as aforesaid and may determine how such division shall be carried out as between the Shareholders or different Classes. The liquidator may, with the like sanction, vest the whole or any part of such assets in trustees upon such trusts for the benefit of the Shareholders as the liquidator, with the like sanction shall think fit, but so that no Shareholder shall be compelled to accept any assets whereon there is any liability.

AMENDMENT OF ARTICLES OF ASSOCIATION

143. Subject to the Law and the rights attaching to the various Classes, the Company may at any time and from time to time by Special Resolution alter or amend these Articles in whole or in part.

CLOSING OF REGISTER OR FIXING RECORD DATE

144. For the purpose of determining those Shareholders that are entitled to receive notice of, attend or vote at any meeting of Shareholders or any adjournment thereof, or those Shareholders that are entitled to receive payment of any dividend, or in order to make a determination as to who is a Shareholder for any other purpose, the Directors may provide that the Register shall be closed for transfers for a stated period which shall not exceed in any case 40 days. If the Register shall be so closed for the purpose of determining those Shareholders that are entitled to receive notice of, attend or vote at a meeting of Shareholders the Register shall be so closed for at least ten days immediately preceding such meeting and the record date for such determination shall be the date of the closure of the Register.

145. In lieu of or apart from closing the Register, the Directors may fix in advance a date as the record date for any such determination of those Shareholders that are entitled to receive notice of, attend or vote at a meeting of the Shareholders and for the purpose of determining those Shareholders that are entitled to receive payment of any dividend the Directors may, at or within 90 days prior to the date of declaration of such dividend, fix a subsequent date as the record date for such determination.

146. If the Register is not so closed and no record date is fixed for the determination of those Shareholders entitled to receive notice of, attend or vote at a meeting of Shareholders or those Shareholders that are entitled to receive payment of a dividend, the date on which notice of the meeting is posted or the date on which the resolution of the Directors declaring such dividend is adopted, as the case may be, shall be the record date for such determination of Shareholders. When a determination of those Shareholders that are entitled to receive notice of, attend or vote at a meeting of Shareholders has been made as provided in this Article, such determination shall apply to any adjournment thereof.

REGISTRATION BY WAY OF CONTINUATION

147. The Company may by Special Resolution resolve to be registered by way of continuation in a jurisdiction outside the Cayman Islands or such other jurisdiction in which it is for the time being incorporated, registered or existing. In furtherance of a resolution adopted pursuant to this Article, the Directors may cause an application to be made to the Registrar of Companies to deregister the Company in the Cayman Islands or such other jurisdiction in which it is for the time being incorporated, registered or existing and may cause all such further steps as they consider appropriate to be taken to effect the transfer by way of continuation of the Company.

MERGERS AND CONSOLIDATION

148. The Company may by Special Resolution resolve to merge or consolidate the Company in accordance with the Law.

DISCLOSURE

149. The Directors, or any authorised service providers (including the officers, the Secretary and the registered office agent of the Company), shall be entitled to disclose to any regulatory or judicial authority, or to any stock exchange on which the Shares may from time to time be listed, any information regarding the affairs of the Company including, without limitation, information contained in the Register and books of the Company.

EXHIBIT 44

CHARITABLE DAF HOLDCO, LTD
the ("Company")

Unanimous Written Resolutions of all of the Directors of the Company passed on 18 December 2024 in accordance with the Articles of Association of the Company

1 Declaration of Interests

IT IS NOTED THAT the directors of the Company (each, a "Director" and together, the "Directors") have declared their respective interests (if any) in the matters contemplated by these resolutions, and any such interest be and is hereby noted, ratified and acknowledged.

2 Transfer of interest in the Partnership

2.1 IT IS NOTED THAT:

(a) In connection with a corporate restructure of the Company's group, the Company proposes to transfer, convey, assign or otherwise contribute to CDMCFAD, LLC, a Delaware limited liability company (the "Transferee"), 100% of the Company's interests in CHARITABLE DAF FUND, LP, an exempted limited partnership established in the Cayman Islands (the "Partnership") in consideration for the contribution by the sole member of the Transferee of 100% of the issued and outstanding limited liablity company interests in the Transferee (the "Transfer").

(b) In connection with the Transfer, the Company proposes to enter into a deed of assignment and assumption (the "Deed"), substantially in the form that was circulated to and carefully considered by the Directors, to be entered into by and among the Company, the Transferee and CDH GP, LTD, solely in its capacity as general partner (the "GP") of the Partnership, under the terms of which the Company will transfer, convey, assign or otherwise contribute all of its Transferred Interest (as defined in the Deed) to the Transferee on the terms and conditions set out therein.

(c) Section 1.11(a) of the amended and restated limited partnership agreement of the Partnership dated as of 7 November 2011 as amended on 26 July 2022 and as further amended and restated as of 11 March 2024 (as further amended, restated and/or supplemented from time to time) (the "Partnership Agreement") provides that a Limited Partner may not assign his interest in whole or in part to any person, without the prior written consent of the General Partner, except by operation of law, nor shall he be entitled to substitute for himself as a Limited Partner any other person, without the prior written consent of the General Partner, which in either case may be given or withheld in the sole discretion of the General Partner (each term as defined in the Partnership Agreement).

(d) Under the terms of the Deed, it is expected that:

(i) the Transferee will make in favour of the GP and the Company, each representation, as was made by the Company in connection with its admission as a Limited Partner;

(ii) the Transferee will undertake to perform all of the obligations of a Limited Partner and be bound by and receive the benefit of all terms of the Partnership Agreement and replace the Company as a Limited Partner and will assume all the duties, liabilities and obligations, whether past (to the extent permitted by law), present or future, under the Partnership Agreement with respect to the Transferred Interest;

(iii) the GP will: (x) consent to the assignment and assumption contemplated thereby; (y) acknowledge that all requirements and conditions for the Transfer and the admission of the Transferee as a Limited Partner of the Partnership have been satisfied or waived; and (z) certify that the Transferee will, in accordance with Section 1.15 of the Partnership Agreement, be listed in the books and records of the Partnership as a Limited Partner and as sole legal owner of the Transferred Interest;

(iv) the GP will agree to admit the Transferee as a Limited Partner in respect of the Transferred Interest and remove, in accordance with Section 1.15 of the Partnership Agreement, the name of the Company from the register of Limited Partners maintained in respect of the Partnership; and

(v) the Company and Transferee will undertake to jointly and severally indemnify the GP and the Partnership from any expense arising from the transactions contemplated by the Deed or any losses arising from the breach of the Deed or the Partnership Agreement.

(e) All the requirements of the transfer provisions contained in the Partnership Agreement have been or will be either satisfied by the Company and Transferee or waived by the GP.

(f) U.S. tax counsel has advised the Company and its Directors that reorganization of the Company and its subsidiaries pursuant to the Transfer generally would provide the following benefits and protections to the Company, the Partnership, and the Company's subsidiaries (collectively, the "DAF"):

(i) The Transfer would help insulate the DAF from exposure to James Dondero and his entities (collectively, "Dondero"), who may be at risk of causing the Internal Revenue Service (the "IRS") to revoke the tax-exempt status of one or more of the participating shareholders/supporting organizations, which could imperil the assets of the DAF;

(A) Each Internal Revenue Code (the "IRC") Section 501(c)(3) organization must be organized and operating primarily for charitable purposes;

(B) Treasury Regulation Section 1.501(c)(3)-1(c)(1) provides that an organization will not be compliant with the operational test "if more than an insubstantial part of its activities is not in furtherance of an exempt purpose"; and

(C) An IRC Section 501(c)(3) organization cannot be operated for the benefit of an individual or entity due to the private benefit/private inurement prohibition.

(ii) The Transfer would help reduce the influence of Dondero and, as such, would broaden the charitable scope of DAF for its benefit and the benefit of the public;

(iii) The IRS would look favorably upon any and all attempts for DAF to maintain its influence from "what seems to be persistent attempts by Dondero and the entities controlled by him to use DAF for his private benefit and private inurement"; and

(iv) Further, due to Dondero's attempts to control the DAF and its assets, DAF runs an increased risk of being embroiled in litigation directed against Dondero and his entities.

(g) Delaware counsel has advised the Company and its Directors that, as a result of the Transfer, the Transferred Interest shall be held by the Transferee, and that certain Limited Liabiltiy Company Agreement of the Transferee (the "LLC Agreement"), along with the Transfer generally, shall provide the following benefits and protections to the Company and the Partnership:

(i) Under Delaware law and the Delaware Limited Liability Compay Act (the "LLC Act"), there are very few required adminstrative or other requirements for a limited liablity company that cannot be modified or elimintated in a limited liablity company agreement and therefore, the Company and the Partnership will benefit from the contractual freedom and flexbility to provide for its desired terms under the LLC Agreement;

(ii) As a Delaware limited liability company, the Transferee will be governed by the LLC Act, which unlike the statutes in almost every other jurisidction, is updated annually to stay current based on the needs of companies forming in Delaware and the changing markets, as well as any needed changes due to the results of case law;

(iii) Under the LLC Act, the only required filing in Delaware is a certificate of formation that contains only the name of the company and its registered agent and registered office, therefore maintaining the privacy of the members and managers of the company by allowing them to put their business terms into a limited liablity company agreement that is a private document not avialable to the public;

(iv) Under the LLC Act, and the LLC Agreement, the neither the Company nor the Partnership shall be personally liable for the debts, obligations and liabilities of the Transferee, whether such debts, obligations or liabilities arise in contract, tort or otherwise;

(vi) It will be very difficult to dissolve and terminate the Transferee, with any such voluntary decision requiring the consent of the manager of the Transferee;

(vii) The cost to maintain a limited liability company in Delaware is relatively low, with only a $300 annual state franchise tax and minimal expenses to maintain a Delaware registered agent and registered office;

(viii) Any enforcement action with respect to the LLC Agreement will likely occur in the Delaware Chancery Court, which is known as being one of the most respected and sophisticated business courts in the United States.

(B) Unless otherwise defined, capitalised terms used in this Deed have the meanings given to them in the Partnership Agreement.

(C) In connection with a corporate restructuring of the Transferor's corporate group, the Transferor now wishes to assign to the Transferee the entirety of its interest in the Partnership, together with the rights and obligations attaching thereto (together, the "Transferred Interest") for the Consideration (as defined below) to the Transferor, and the Transferee wishes to assume all of the rights and obligations with respect to the Transferred Interest and be admitted to the Partnership, subject to the terms and conditions of this Deed (the "Assignment").

NOW IT IS HEREBY AGREED AS FOLLOWS:

1 Assignment of Transferred Interest

1.1 Subject to the terms and conditions of this Deed, the Transferor hereby assigns the Transferred Interest to the Transferee with effect on and from the date of this Deed (the "Transfer Date") in consideration for the contribution by the sole member of the Transferee of 100% of the issued and outstanding limited liablity company interests in the Transferee (the "Consideration") to the Transferor, and without prejudice to its obligations under clause 7 hereof and subject to the remaining terms and conditions of this Deed, the Transferee shall exercise its reasonable best endeavours to facilitate the implementation of the transfer, assignment, conveyance and contribution of the Consideration to the Transferor, with effect as of the date of this Deed.

2.1 In accordance with the terms of the Partnership Agreement and upon the General Partner giving its consent to the Assignment, and making appropriate entries for the name and details of the Transferee, including as required by sections 1.11(a) and 1.15 of the Partnership Agreement, into the register of Limited Partners, the Transferee undertakes to the General Partner and the Partnership that it will be bound by and have full benefit of all the terms of the Partnership Agreement and this Deed in the place of and instead of the Transferor in respect of the Transferred Interest and will assume all the duties, liabilities and obligations, whether past (to the extent permitted by law), present or future, of the Transferor under the Partnership Agreement with respect to the Transferred Interest as if the Transferee had been a Limited Partner in the Partnership with respect to the Transferred Interest with effect from the date upon which the Transferor became a Limited Partner pursuant to the terms of the Partnership Agreement and for all other purposes under the Partnership Agreement and any other relevant agreements. Furthermore, the General Partner hereby confirms the satisfaction or due waiver by the General Partner of any and all applicable conditions and restrictions set forth in the Partnership Agreement (or any other relevant agreements) to the proposed Assignment.

2.3 The Transferee hereby makes in favour of the General Partner and the Transferee, each representation, as was made by the Transferor in connection with its admission as a Limited Partner.

3 Distributions and other accrued sums in respect of the Transferred Interest

3.1 The Transferor agrees that:

(a) on and from the Transfer Date, it shall cease to have any further entitlement to allocations of income or distributions whatsoever or any other rights or benefits in respect of the Transferor's interest in the Partnership (including, for the avoidance of doubt, any dividends which may be payable in connection with the Transferred Shares relating to the period up to the Transfer Date but which may be paid after the Transfer Date) (collectively, the "Distributions");

(b) all Distributions payable to the Transferor under the terms of the Partnership Agreement in respect of the Transferred Interest transferred and assigned hereunder and which accrue during, or are payable by reference to, any period prior to the Transfer Date shall be payable to the Transferee; and

4 Accession

In consideration of the mutual covenants contained herein, the General Partner, Transferor and Transferee hereby agree that, with effect from the Transfer Date, the Transferee shall have the rights and benefits under, and be bound by the provisions of, the Partnership Agreement in respect of the Transferred Interest and all parties, other than the Transferor, shall be bound by the terms of the Partnership Agreement in every way as if the Transferee was named therein in substitution of and for the Transferor.

5 Approval of General Partner and Updates to Register of Limited Partners

5.1 In reliance upon the undertakings, representations and warranties given by the Transferor and Transferee (as applicable) under this Deed, the General Partner:

(a) consents, for the purposes of section 1.11 of the Partnership Agreement and for all other purposes, to the transactions contemplated by this Deed;

(b) acknowledges that all requirements and conditions relating to such transactions have been satisfied or waived; and

(c) certifies that the Transferee will be listed in the books and records of the Partnership as a Limited Partner and as sole legal owner of the Transferred Interest in substitution of and for the Transferor; and shall, on the Transfer Date, promptly:

(d) record the assignment of the Transferred Interest in accordance with applicable law;

(e) admit the Transferee as a Limited Partner in respect of the Transferred Interest; and

(f) remove the name of the Transferor from the register of Limited Partners.

6 Indemnification

6.1 The Transferor and the Transferee hereby agree to indemnify and hold the General Partner and the Partnership harmless from any damage, loss, claim or expense resulting from:

(a) the transactions contemplated by this Deed; or

(b) any breach of this Deed or the Partnership Agreement by the Transferor or the Transferree, whether such breach occurred prior to, on or after the Transfer Date.

6.2 The liability of the Transferor and the Transferee under clause 6.1 shall be joint and several.

7 Further Assurances

Each of the parties hereto shall, at any time and from time to time, at the request of the other, promptly and duly execute and deliver any and all such further documents and instruments as may be reasonably required for the Transferor and Transferee to obtain the full benefit of the transactions contemplated by this Deed or as may be required pursuant to the Partnership Agreement to complete the substitution of the Transferor by the Transferee as a Limited Partner of the Partnership.

8 Miscellaneous

8.1 All words and terms which are defined in the Partnership Agreement and which are used in this Deed shall (where so used, and save only: (a) where otherwise expressly provided; or (b) where the context otherwise requires) have the same meanings as are given to such words and terms in the Partnership Agreement.

8.2 In this Deed, the clause headings are for convenience only and shall not affect the construction of this Deed, words and terms (including defined terms) denoting the singular shall include the plural and vice versa and words importing any gender shall include all genders.

8.4 Neither the Transferor nor the Transferee shall assign all or any part of their rights or obligations under this Deed.

8.5 If any provision of this Deed shall be held to be illegal or unenforceable, the enforceability of the remainder of this Deed shall not be affected.

8.6 This Deed may be signed in any number of counterparts. Any single counterpart or a set of counterparts signed, in either case, by all the parties hereto shall constitute a full and original Deed for all purposes.

8.7 This Deed and the rights of the parties hereto shall be governed by, and interpreted in accordance with, the laws of the Cayman Islands. The parties hereto hereby submit to the non-exclusive jurisdiction of the Cayman Islands courts.

LIMITED LIABILITY COMPANY AGREEMENT

OF

A DELAWARE LIMITED LIABILITY COMPANY

This Limited Liability Company Agreement of CDMCFAD, LLC, a Delaware limited liability company, is entered into as of December 18, 2024 and is hereby made effective as of the Effective Date (as defined below).

SECTION 1

DEFINITIONS

1.1 Specific Definitions. As used in this Agreement:

Act shall mean the Delaware Limited Liability Company Act, Title 6, Delaware Code, Section 18-101 et seq.

Adjusted Capital Account Deficit shall mean, with respect to any Member, the deficit balance, if any, in such Member's Capital Account as of the end of the relevant Fiscal Year, after giving effect to the following adjustments:

(a) The Capital Account shall be increased by any amounts that such Member is obligated to restore pursuant to any provision of this Agreement or is deemed to be obligated to restore pursuant to Treasury Regulations Section 1.704-1(b)(2)(ii)(c) or the penultimate sentences of each of Treasury Regulations Sections 1.704-2(g)(1) and 1.704-2(i)(5); and

(b) The Capital Account shall be decreased by the items described in Treasury Regulations Sections 1.704-1(b)(2)(ii)(d)(4), 1.704-1(b)(2)(ii)(d)(5) and 1.704-1(b)(2)(ii)(d)(6).

The foregoing definition of Adjusted Capital Account Deficit is intended to comply with the provisions of Treasury Regulations Section 1.704-1(b)(2)(ii)(d) and shall be interpreted consistently therewith.

Affiliate shall mean, with respect to any Person, any other Person with regard to which the Person is controlling, controlled or commonly controlled. For purposes of the preceding sentence, "control" shall mean the power to direct the principal business management and activities of a Person, whether through ownership of voting Securities, by agreement, or otherwise.

Agreement shall mean this Limited Liability Company Agreement of CDMCFAD, LLC, a Delaware limited liability company, including all schedules, appendices, and exhibits hereto, as amended in accordance with the terms hereof.

Allocation Percentage shall mean, for each Member, the percentage set forth on Schedule A, which shall be adjusted as necessary to reflect the Members' varying interests in the Company. For the avoidance of doubt, the aggregate Allocation Percentages of all Members shall at all times equal one hundred percent (100%).

Capital Account shall mean, for each Member, a separate account that is:

(a) Increased by: (i) the amount of such Member's Capital Contribution and (ii) allocations of Profits to such Member pursuant to Section 4;

(b) Decreased by: (i) the amount of cash distributed to such Member by the Company; (ii) the Fair Market Value of any other property distributed to such Member by the Company (determined as of the time of distribution and net of liabilities secured by such property that the Member assumes or to which the Member's ownership of the property is subject); and (iii) allocations of Losses to such Member pursuant to Section 4;

(c) Otherwise adjusted in accordance with the provisions of this Agreement; and

(d) Revalued in connection with any event described in paragraph (a) of the definition of "Gross Asset Value" to the extent the Manager determines that a revaluation is necessary to preserve the economic arrangement of the Members. In determining the amount of any liability for purposes of subparagraphs (a) and (b) above, there shall be taken into account Section 752(c) of the Code and any other applicable provisions of the Code and Treasury Regulations.

Capital Accounts shall be maintained in accordance with Treasury Regulations Section 1.704-1(b) and specifically in a manner consistent with the Member's interest in the Company and the provisions of this Agreement shall be interpreted and applied in a manner consistent with such regulations and intent.

Capital Contribution shall mean, for any Member, the sum of the net amount of cash and the Fair Market Value of any other property (determined as of the time of contribution and net of liabilities secured by such property that the Company assumes or to which the Company's ownership of the property is subject) contributed by such Member to the capital of the Company. For purposes of this Agreement, each Capital Contribution shall be deemed to have been made at the later of: (i) the Close of Business on the due date of such Capital Contribution as determined in accordance with this Agreement; or (ii) the Close of Business on the date on which such Capital Contribution is actually received by the Company.

Certificate shall mean the Certificate of Formation of the Company, as amended and/or restated from time to time.

Close of Business shall mean 5:00 p.m., local time, in New York, New York.

Code shall mean the United States Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended.

Company shall mean CDMCFAD, LLC, a Delaware limited liability company.

Depreciation shall mean, for each Fiscal Year or other period, an amount equal to the federal income tax depreciation, amortization or other cost recovery deduction allowable with respect to an asset for such Fiscal Year or other period; provided, however, that if the Gross Asset Value of an asset differs from its adjusted basis for federal income tax purposes at the beginning of such Fiscal Year or other period, Depreciation shall be an amount that bears the same ratio to such beginning Gross Asset Value as the federal income tax depreciation, amortization or other cost recovery deduction with respect to such asset for such Fiscal Year or other period bears to such beginning adjusted tax basis; and provided further, that if the federal income tax depreciation, amortization or other cost recovery deduction for such Fiscal Year or other period is zero, Depreciation shall be determined with reference to such beginning Gross Asset Value using any reasonable method selected by the Manager.

Fair Market Value shall have the meaning set forth in Section 6.9(b).

Fiscal Period shall mean the Fiscal Year or such shorter period as necessary to take into account the Members' varying interests in the Company.

Fiscal Year shall mean the period from January 1 through December 31 of each year (unless otherwise required by law).

Gross Asset Value shall mean, with respect to any asset, such asset's adjusted basis for federal income tax purposes (except that the initial Gross Asset Value of any asset contributed by a Member to the Company shall be the gross Fair Market Value of the asset on the date of contribution), except as follows:

(a) The Gross Asset Value of all Company assets shall be adjusted to equal their respective fair market values upon the occurrence of any of the events listed in Treasury Regulations Section 1.704-1(b)(2)(iv)(f)(5); provided, however, that adjustments pursuant to this clause (a) (other than in a liquidation of the Company within the meaning of Treasury Regulations Section 1.704-1(b)(2)(ii)(g)) shall be made only if the Manager reasonably determines that such adjustments are necessary or appropriate to reflect the relative economic interests of the Members in the Company; and

(b) The Gross Asset Value of any Company asset distributed to any Member shall be the Fair Market Value of such asset on the date of distribution.

If the Gross Asset Value of an asset has been determined or adjusted pursuant to paragraph (a) or paragraph (b) above, such Gross Asset Value shall thereafter be adjusted by the Depreciation taken into account with respect to such asset for purposes of computing Profits and Losses.

Interest shall mean, for each Member, the entirety of such Member's rights, duties and limited liability company interest in respect of the Company in such Member's capacity as such (as distinguished from any other capacity such as employee, debtor or creditor) and shall include such Member's right, if any, to vote on Company matters, bind the Company vis-à-vis third parties, or receive distributions as well as such Member's obligation under this Agreement, if any, to provide services, make Capital Contributions or take any other action.

Member Minimum Gain has the same meaning as the term "partner nonrecourse debt minimum gain" in Treasury Regulations Section 1.704-2(i)(2).

Member Nonrecourse Deduction shall mean an item of loss, expense or deduction attributable to a nonrecourse liability of the Company for which a Member bears the economic risk of loss within the meaning of Treasury Regulations Section 1.704-2(i).

Minimum Gain of the Company or Company Minimum Gain shall, as provided in Treasury Regulations Section 1.704-2, mean the total amount of gain the Company would realize for federal income tax purposes if it disposed of all assets subject to nonrecourse liability for no consideration other than full satisfaction thereof.

(a) Any income of the Company exempt from federal income tax and not otherwise taken into account in computing Profits or Losses pursuant to this definition shall be added to (or subtracted from, as the case may be) such taxable income or loss;

(b) Any expenditures of the Company described in Section 705(a)(2)(B) of the Code (or treated as expenditures described in Section 705(a)(2)(B) of the Code pursuant to Treasury Regulations Section 1.704-1(b)(2)(iv)(i)) and not otherwise taken into account in computing Profits or Losses pursuant to this definition shall be subtracted from (or added to, as the case may be) such taxable income or loss;

(c) In the event that the Gross Asset Value of any Company asset is adjusted in accordance with paragraphs (a) or (b) of the definition of "Gross Asset Value," the amount of such adjustment shall be taken into account as gain or loss from the disposition of such asset for purposes of computing Profits or Losses;

(d) Gain or loss resulting from any disposition of any asset of the Company with respect to which gain or loss is recognized for federal income tax purposes shall be computed by reference to the Gross Asset Value of the asset disposed of, notwithstanding that the adjusted tax basis of such asset differs from its Gross Asset Value;

(e) In lieu of the depreciation, amortization and other cost recovery deductions that would otherwise be taken into account in computing such taxable income or loss, there shall be taken into account Depreciation for such Fiscal Year or other Fiscal Period, computed in accordance with the definition of "Depreciation" above; and

(f) Notwithstanding any other provision of this definition, any items that are specially allocated pursuant to Sections 4.2 or 4.3 shall not be taken into account in computing Profits or Losses.

Securities shall mean debt, equity and synthetic securities of any type.

1.2 General Usage. The section headings contained in this Agreement are for reference purposes only and shall not affect the meaning or interpretation of this Agreement. Except where the context clearly requires to the contrary: (i) each reference in this Agreement to a designated "Section," "Schedule," "Exhibit," or "Appendix" is to the corresponding Section, Schedule, Exhibit, or Appendix of or to this Agreement; (ii) instances of gender or entity-specific usage (e.g., "his," "her," "its," "person" or "individual") shall not be interpreted to preclude the application of any provision of this Agreement to any individual or entity; (iii) the word "or" shall not be applied in its exclusive sense; (iv) "including" shall mean "including, without limitation"; (v) references to laws, regulations and other governmental rules, as well as to contracts, agreements and other instruments, shall mean such rules and instruments as in effect at the time of determination (taking into account any amendments thereto effective at such time without regard to whether such amendments were enacted or adopted after the effective date of this Agreement) and shall include all successor rules and instruments thereto; (vi) references to any specific statute or similar codification of law shall mean such statute or other codification as construed, modified, extended or enabled by any applicable binding governmental rules or regulations; (vii) references to "law" shall mean any applicable law, whether embodied in statute, governmental rule or regulation, case law or other legally binding format; (viii) references to "$" or "dollars" shall mean the lawful

FORMATION

2.1 Formation and Name.

(a) The Members hereby enter into this Agreement and form the Company as a limited liability company in accordance with the Act. Mark Patrick is hereby designated as an "authorized person" of the Company within the meaning of the Act, and has executed, delivered and filed the Certificate of Formation of the Company with the Secretary of State of the State of Delaware (such filing being hereby approved and ratified in all respects and the time at which the initial Certificate of Formation is filed with the Secretary of State of the State of Delaware, the "Effective Date"). Upon the filing of the Certificate of Formation of the Company with the Secretary of State of the State of Delaware, his powers as an "authorized person" of the Company ceased, and the Manager thereupon became the designated "authorized person" of the Company and shall continue as the designated "authorized person" of the Company within the meaning of the Act. The Manager, as an "authorized person" of the Company within the meaning of the Act, shall execute, deliver and file, or cause the execution, delivery and filing of, all certificates (and any amendments and/or restatements thereof) required or permitted by the Act to be filed with the Secretary of State of the State of Delaware. The Member shall execute, deliver and file, or cause the execution, delivery and filing of any certificates (and any amendments and/or restatements thereof) necessary for the Company to qualify to do business in any other jurisdiction in which the Company may wish to conduct business.

(b) The name of the Company shall be "CDMCFAD, LLC."

2.2 Term. The "Term" of the Company commenced as of the filing of the Certificate with the Secretary of State of the State of Delaware and shall continue until the Company is dissolved and then wound up pursuant to Section 8.1. Except as provided in Section 8.1, the Company shall not be dissolved.

2.3 Purpose and Scope. Within the meaning and for purposes of the Act, the purpose and scope of the Company shall include any lawful action or activity permitted to a limited liability company under the Act, as determined by the Manager.

2.4 Principal Office. The Company shall have a single "Principal Office" which shall at all times be located within the United States. The Principal Office shall be located at such location as may hereafter be determined by the Manager.

2.5 Delaware Office and Agent. The Company shall maintain a Delaware registered office and agent for service of process as required by the Act. In the event the registered agent ceases to act as such for any reason or the registered office shall change, the Manager shall promptly designate a replacement registered agent or file a notice of change of address, as the case may be, each in accordance with the Act.

2.6 Admission of Members. Each Person as of the date hereof that has executed this Agreement and whose name is listed under Name and Contact Information on Schedule A, as such Schedule A may be updated from time to time by the Manager, is hereby admitted as a member of the Company. With the consent of the Manager, additional Members may be admitted to the Company from time to time upon each such Person's execution of a counterpart signature page to this Agreement or other joinder agreeing to be bound by the terms of this Agreement.

2.7 Contact Information of the Members. Set forth below the name of each Member on Schedule A shall be appropriate contact information for such Member. Each Member shall promptly provide the Company with the information required to be set forth for such Member on Schedule A and shall thereafter promptly notify the Company of any change to such information.

2.8 Additional Documents. The Manager shall cause to be executed, filed, recorded, published, or amended any documents, as the Manager in its reasonable discretion determines to be necessary or advisable: (x) in connection with the formation, operation, dissolution, winding-up, or termination of the Company pursuant to applicable law; or (y) to otherwise give effect to the terms of this Agreement. The terms and provisions of each document described in the preceding sentence shall be initially established and shall be amended as necessary to cause such terms and provisions to be consistent with the terms and provisions of this Agreement.

2.9 Title to Property. Title to all Company property shall be held in the name of the Company; provided, however, that publicly traded Securities may be held in "street name" or through a similar arrangement with a reputable financial institution.

SECTION 3

CAPITALIZATION

3.1 Capital Contributions.

(a) Initial Capital Contributions. Each Member has contributed (or is deemed to have contributed) such capital to the Company as set forth on the books and records of the Company. Except to the extent set forth on the books and records of the Company or agreed to by the Manager, all Capital Contributions shall be in cash and/or cash equivalents.

(b) Increased Capital Contributions. The Members may make additional Capital Contributions to the Company at such times and in such amounts as shall be determined by the Manager and the Member making such additional Capital Contribution.

(c) Adjustment of Member Allocation Percentages. Upon (i) the admission of a Member following the date hereof or (ii) the acceptance of Capital Contributions by the Company from a Member following contribution of such Member's initial Capital Contribution, the Manager shall adjust the Allocation Percentage of each Member, and shall accordingly update Schedule A hereto, so that the Allocation Percentages of the Members represent their Interest in the Company taking into account a revaluation of the Company's assets, if any, and in accordance with the economic arrangement of the Members.

3.2 Limitation on Capital Contributions. Except as specifically provided in this Section 3, no Person shall be permitted or required to make a contribution to the capital of the Company.

3.3 Withdrawal and Return of Capital. Except as provided in Section 5 and Section 8 or as otherwise agreed to by the Manager, no Member shall be entitled to the return of such Member's Capital Contribution, a distribution in respect of such Member's Capital Account balance, or any other distribution in respect of such Member's Interest.

3.4 Loans to the Company. No Member shall be required to lend any money to the Company or to guaranty any Company indebtedness.

3.5 Interest on Capital. No Member shall be entitled to interest on such Member's Capital Contribution, Capital Account balance, or share of unallocated Profits.

3.6 Limitation of Liability; Return/Withholding of Certain Distributions.

(a) Except as otherwise provided by the Act, the debts, obligations and liabilities of the Company, whether arising in contract, tort or otherwise, shall be solely the debts, obligations and liabilities of the Company, and no Member or Manager shall be obligated personally for any such debt, obligation or liability of the Company solely by reason of being a member or manager of the Company.

(b) A Member that receives a distribution (i) in violation of this Agreement or (ii) that is required to be returned to the Company under applicable law shall return such distribution within thirty (30) days after demand therefor by the Manager. The Company may elect to withhold from any distributions otherwise payable to a Member amounts due to the Company from such Member.

(c) Nothing in this Section 3.6 shall be applied to release any Member from (i) its obligation to make Capital Contributions or other payments specifically required under this Agreement or (ii) its obligations pursuant to any relationship between the Company and such Member acting in a capacity other than as a Member (including, for example, as a borrower, employee or independent contractor).

PROFITS AND LOSSES

4.1 Allocations of Company Profits and Losses. Except as otherwise provided in this Agreement, Profits and Losses for each Fiscal Period shall be allocated as follows:

(a) Profits shall be allocated among the Members in the following order of priority:

(i) First, among the Members on a pro rata basis so as to reverse prior allocations of Losses for prior Fiscal Periods under Section 4.1(b)(ii) until cumulative Profit allocated under this Section 4.1(a)(i) equals the cumulative Losses allocated under Section 4.1(b)(ii); and

(ii) Second, among the Members in proportion to their Allocation Percentages.

(b) Losses shall be allocated among the Members in the following order of priority:

(i) First, among the Members on a pro rata basis so as to reverse allocations of Profits for prior Fiscal Periods under Sections 4.1(a)(i) and 4.1(a)(ii), in reverse order, until Losses allocated under this Section 4.1(b)(i) equal the cumulative Profit previously allocated under Sections 4.1(a)(i) and 4.1(a)(ii); and

(ii) Second, among the Members in proportion to their Allocation Percentages.

4.2 Allocation Adjustments Required to Comply With Section 704(b) of the Code.

(a) Limitation on Allocation of Losses. If an item of Losses otherwise allocable to a Member under Section 4.1(b) would cause such Member to have an Adjusted Capital Account Deficit at the end of any Fiscal Year (or increase the amount of such Member Adjusted Capital Account Deficit), the item shall not be allocated to such Member, but shall instead be specially allocated as follows:

(i) To the Members in proportion to their respective positive Capital Account balances, until the Capital Account balance of each Member has been reduced to (but not less than) zero; and

(ii) Next, to the Members as a group in proportion to their respective Allocation Percentages as determined in the reasonable discretion of the Manager.

To the extent that there have been special allocations of Losses away from a Member under this Section 4.2(a) that have not subsequently been reversed pursuant to this sentence or Sections 4.2(f) or 4.3(e), the next available items of Profits otherwise allocable to such Member pursuant to Section 4.1(a) shall be specially allocated to the Members to whom such items of Losses had been specially allocated under this Section 4.2(a) so as to first offset in reverse order such special allocations of Losses.

(b) Qualified Income Offset. In the event any Member unexpectedly receives any adjustments, allocations or distributions described in Treasury Regulations Sections 1.704-1(b)(2)(ii)(d)(4), (5) or (6), items of Company income and gain shall be specially allocated to each such Member in an amount and manner sufficient to eliminate, to the extent required by the Treasury Regulations, the Adjusted Capital Account Deficit of such Member as quickly as possible, provided that an allocation pursuant to this Section 4.2(b) shall be made only if and to the extent that such Member would have an Adjusted Capital Account Deficit after all other allocations provided for in this Section 4 have been tentatively made as if this Section 4.2(b) were not in this Agreement.

(c) Gross Income Allocation. In the event any Member has an Adjusted Capital Account Deficit at the end of any Fiscal Year, that Member shall be specially allocated items of Company income and gain in the amount of such excess as quickly as possible, provided that an allocation pursuant to this Section 4.2(c) shall be made only if and to the extent that the Member would have a deficit Capital Account in excess of such sum after all other allocations provided for in this Section 4 have been made, as if Section 4.2(b) and this Section 4.2(c) were not in this Agreement.

(d) Member Nonrecourse Deductions. In accordance with the provisions of Treasury Regulations Section 1.704-2(i), each item of Member Nonrecourse Deduction shall be allocated among the Members in proportion to the economic risk of loss that the Members bear with respect to the nonrecourse liability of the Company to which such item of Member Nonrecourse Deduction is attributable.

(e) Minimum Gain Chargeback. This Section 4.2(e) hereby incorporates by reference the "minimum gain chargeback" provisions of Treasury Regulations Section 1.704-2. In general, upon a reduction of Company Minimum Gain or Member Minimum Gain, the preceding sentence shall require that items of income and gain be allocated among the Members in a manner that reverses prior allocations of deductions attributable to liabilities giving rise to Company Minimum Gain or Member Nonrecourse Deductions as well as reductions in the Members' Capital Account balances resulting from distributions that, notwithstanding Section 4.4, are allocable to increases in the Company Minimum Gain. Subject to the provisions of Section 704 of the Code and the Treasury Regulations thereunder, if the Manager determines in its reasonable discretion at any time that operation of such "minimum gain chargeback" provisions likely will not achieve such a reversal by the conclusion of the liquidation of the Company, the Manager shall adjust the allocation provisions of this Section 4 as necessary to accomplish that result.

(f) Intent of Regulatory Allocations. The allocations set forth in Sections 4.2(a) through 4.2(e) are intended to comply with certain regulatory requirements under the Code. The Members intend that, to the extent possible, all allocations made pursuant to such Sections will, over the term of the Company, be offset either with other allocations pursuant to Sections 4.2(a) through 4.2(e) or with special allocations of other items of Company income, gain, loss or deduction pursuant to this Section 4.2(f). Accordingly, the Manager is hereby authorized and directed to make offsetting allocations of Company income, gain, loss or deduction under this Section 4.2(f) in whatever manner the Manager determines is appropriate so that, after such offsetting special allocations are made, the Capital Accounts of the Members are, to the extent possible, equal to the Capital Accounts each would have if the provisions of Sections 4.2(a) through 4.2(e) were not contained in this Agreement and all Company income, gain, loss, and deduction were instead allocated in accordance with the provisions of Section 4.1.

4.3 General Allocation and Capital Account Maintenance Provisions.

(a) Book - Tax Accounting Disparities. If Company property is reflected in the Capital Accounts of the Members at a value that differs from the adjusted tax basis of such property (whether because such property was contributed to the Company by a Member or because of a revaluation of the Members' Capital Accounts under Treasury Regulations Section 1.704-1(b)), allocations of depreciation, amortization, income, gain or loss with respect to such property shall be made among the Members in a manner which takes such difference into account in accordance with Code Section 704(c) and the Treasury Regulations issued thereunder using a method determined in the reasonable discretion of the Manager.

(b) Allocations in Event of Transfer. If an Interest in the Company is Transferred in accordance with this Agreement, allocations of Profits and Losses as between the transferor and transferee shall be made using any method selected by the Manager and permitted under Section 706 of the Code.

(c) Adjustment to Capital Accounts for Distributions of Property. If property distributed in kind is reflected in the Capital Accounts of the Members at a value that differs from the Fair Market Value of such property at the time of distribution, the difference shall be treated as Profit or Loss on the sale of the property and shall be allocated among the Members in accordance with the provisions of Section 4.

(d) Tax Credits and Similar Items. Any tax credits or similar items not allocable pursuant to Sections 4.1, 4.2 and 4.3(a) through 4.3(c) shall be allocated to the Members in proportion to their respective Allocation Percentages. Notwithstanding the preceding sentence, if Company expenditures that give rise to tax credits also give rise to Member Nonrecourse Deductions, the tax credits attributable to such expenditures shall be allocated in accordance with Treasury Regulations Section 1.704-1(b)(4)(ii).

(e) Reallocation of Certain Losses. To the extent that: (i) Losses which otherwise would have been allocated to a Member under this Section 4.3 were allocated to one or more other Members pursuant to Section 4.2(a) or any other provision of this Agreement that prohibits the allocation to a Member of Losses which would reduce such Member's Capital Account (or Updated Capital Account) balance below a specified amount; (ii) such allocation has not been reversed pursuant to the subsequent operation of Section 4.2(a) or this Section 4.3(e); and (iii) the Member thereafter returns a distributed amount as required under Section 3.6(b) or otherwise makes a contribution to the capital of the Company, the Capital Accounts of the Members shall be adjusted in connection with such return or contribution (to the extent of the value thereof) to effect a reallocation, in reverse order, of such Losses to the Member.

(f) Tax Allocations. It is intended that items of Company income, gain, loss, deduction or credit recognized for federal income tax purposes shall be allocated among the Members for federal income tax purposes in the same manner as its correlative item of "book" income, gain, loss or deduction is allocated pursuant to Sections 4.1 and 4.2 hereof, to the extent consistent with the requirements of the Code and the Treasury Regulations.

4.4 Nonallocation of Distributions to Increases in Minimum Gain. To the extent permitted under Treasury Regulations Section 1.704-2(h), distributions to Members shall not be allocable to increases in the Company Minimum Gain. In general, and except as provided in such Treasury Regulations, the preceding sentence is intended to ensure that reductions in a Member's Capital Account balance resulting from distributions of money or other property to that Member are not reversed by the minimum gain chargeback provisions of Section 4.2(e).

4.5 Allocation of Liabilities. Solely for purposes of determining the Members' respective shares of the nonrecourse liabilities of the Company within the meaning of Treasury Regulations Section 1.752-3(a)(3), each Member's interest in Company Profits shall be equal to the ratio that such Member's Allocation Percentage bears to the aggregate Allocation Percentages of the Members.

4.6 Modifications to Preserve Underlying Economic Objectives. In the event that (i) there is a change in the federal income tax law, (ii) the Company borrows money or property, or (iii) the Company makes an election to adjust the basis of the Company's assets under Section 754 of the Code, the Manager, acting in his reasonable discretion after consultation with tax counsel to the Company, shall make the minimum modifications to the allocation provisions of this Agreement necessary to preserve the underlying economic objectives of the Members as reflected in this Agreement and, in the case of such a borrowing or election, to properly allocate the tax items relating to such borrowing or election in accordance with the Code and the Treasury Regulations.

4.7 Withholding Taxes.

(a) The Company shall be permitted to withhold taxes from distributions to, and allocations among, the Members to the extent required by law (as determined by the Manager in the Manager's sole discretion). Except as otherwise provided in this Section 4.7, any amount so withheld by the Company with regard to a Member shall be treated for purposes of this Agreement as an amount actually distributed to such Member pursuant to Section 5.1. An amount shall be considered withheld by the Company if, and at the time, remitted to a governmental agency without regard to whether such remittance occurs at the same time as the distribution or allocation to which it relates; provided, however, that an amount actually withheld from a specific distribution or designated by the Manager as withheld from a specific allocation shall be treated as if distributed at the time such distribution or allocation occurs. Nothing in this Section 4.7(a) shall have any bearing on amounts withheld from a Member in respect of compensation paid or payable to such Member in such Member's capacity as an employee of the Company or pursuant to a bona fide written employment agreement between such Member and the Company.

(b) If, pursuant to Section 4.7(a), an amount withheld with regard to a Member is treated for purposes of this Agreement as an amount distributed to such Member pursuant to Section 5.1, subsequent actual distributions to such Member pursuant to Section 5.1 shall be reduced as necessary to, as quickly as possible, cause the aggregate distributions to such Member over the term of the Company (including actual distributions and distributions deemed to have occurred pursuant to Section 4.7(a)) to equal the actual distributions that would have been made to such Member if Section 4.7(a) were not part of this Agreement.

(c) To the extent that operation of Section 4.7(a) would create a negative balance in a Member's Updated Capital Account or increase the amount by which such Updated Capital Account balance is negative, the amount of the deemed distribution shall instead be treated as a loan by the Company to such Member, which loan shall be payable upon demand by the Company and shall bear interest at a floating rate equal to the prime rate as announced from time to time by the Wall Street Journal, compounded daily.

(d) In the event that the Manager determines in its discretion that the Company lacks sufficient cash available to pay withholding taxes in respect of a Member, the Manager may, in its sole and absolute discretion, make a loan to the Company to enable the Company to pay such taxes. Any such loan shall be full-recourse to the Company and shall bear interest at a floating rate equal to the prime rate as published from time to time by The Wall Street Journal, compounded daily. Notwithstanding any provision of this Agreement to the contrary, any loan (including interest accrued thereon) made to the Company by a Member or the Manager pursuant to this Section 4.7(d) shall be repaid or returned as promptly as is reasonably possible.

(e) Each Member hereby agrees to indemnify the Company and the other Members for (i) any liability they may incur for failure to properly withhold taxes in respect of such Member, and (ii) any tax liabilities imposed on the Company with respect to such Member; moreover, each Member hereby agrees that neither the Company nor any other Member shall be liable for any excess taxes withheld in respect of such Member's Interest and that, in the event of overwithholding, a Member's sole recourse shall be to apply for a refund from the appropriate governmental authority. The obligations of a Member set forth in this Section 4.7 shall survive the resignation of any Member from the Company or any Transfer of a Member's Interest.

4.8 Intent of Allocations/Cash Savings Clause. The parties intend that the foregoing allocation provisions of this Section 4 shall produce final Capital Account balances of the Members that will permit liquidating distributions that are made in accordance with final Capital Account balances under Section 8.2(d) hereof to be made in a manner identical to the order of priorities set forth in Section 5.1(b). To the extent that the allocation provisions of this Section 4 would fail to produce such final Capital Account balances, (i) such provisions shall be amended by the Manager without the consent of any Member or other Person, if and to the extent necessary to produce such result and (ii) income and loss of the Company for prior open years (including items of gross income and deduction of the Company for such years) shall be reallocated by the Manager among the Members to the extent it is not possible to achieve such result with allocations of items of income (including gross income) and deduction for the current year and future years, as approved by the Manager. This Section 4.8 shall control notwithstanding any reallocation or adjustment of taxable income, taxable loss, or items thereof by the Internal Revenue Service ("IRS") or any other taxing authority. The Manager shall have the power to amend this Agreement without the consent of the Members, as it reasonably considers advisable, to make the allocations and adjustments described in this Section 4.8. To the extent that after making the allocations and adjustments described in this Section 4.8, the distributions that any Member will receive under this Agreement are less than the amount of the distributions such Member would receive if all such distributions were made pursuant to the order of priority set forth in Section 5.1(b), the Company may make a guaranteed payment (within the meaning of Section 707(c) of the Code) to such Member (to be made at the time such Member would otherwise receive the distributions that have been reduced) to the extent such payment does not violate the requirements of Sections 704(b) and 514(c)(9)(E) of the Code or may take such other action as reasonably determined by the Manager to offset such reduction.

DISTRIBUTIONS

5.1 Distributions.

(a) General. Except as otherwise provided in this Agreement, distributions prior to the dissolution of the Company shall be made in accordance with this Section 5.1 and each Member actually receiving amounts pursuant to a specific distribution by the Company shall receive a pro rata share of each item of cash or property of which such distribution is constituted (based upon such Member's share under this Agreement of the total amount to be included in such distribution).

(b) Discretionary Distributions. The Manager may at any time in its sole discretion to the extent the Company has cash and any property available for distribution taking into account current and anticipated needs (including without limitation operating expenses, debt service, guaranteed payments and a reserve for future operating costs), distribute such excess cash and any property available for distributions to the Members in accordance with their respective Allocation Percentages.

(c) Tax Distributions.

(i) Notwithstanding the foregoing, the Company shall distribute to each Member, not later than ninety (90) days after the close of each Fiscal Year, or as soon as reasonably practicable thereafter, an amount of cash equal to the product of the Tax Percentage for such Fiscal Year and such Member's allocated share of the Company's net taxable income and gain for such Fiscal Year as shown on the Company's federal income tax return. The Manager may, in its sole discretion and determination, make distributions pursuant to this Section 5.1(c) on a quarterly basis so as to permit the Members to make quarterly estimated tax payments.

(ii) For purposes of this Section 5.1(c), the "Tax Percentage" shall equal the highest combined federal, state and local marginal tax rate for an individual resident of the State of Texas with respect to net taxable income or net short term capital gains or with respect to net long term capital gains, as applicable. The Manager may adjust the determination of the Tax Percentage to reflect a change in law or rates.

(iii) For purposes of determining whether the Company has satisfied its distribution obligation under Section 5.1(c)(i), all cash distributions made during a Fiscal Year shall be treated as distributions made to satisfy Section 5.1(c)(i) in respect of such Fiscal Year (except to the extent that such distributions were made to satisfy the obligations of the Company under Section 5.1(c)(i) in respect of one or more prior Fiscal Years, in which case such distributions shall be treated as having been made pursuant to Section 5.1(c)(i) in respect of such prior Fiscal Year(s)). Further, distributions made in respect of this Section 5.1(c) during any Fiscal Year shall be treated as satisfying the distribution requirement of Section 5.1(b) hereof with respect to such Fiscal Year (except to the extent that such distributions were made in respect of a prior Fiscal Year, in which case such distribution shall be treated as having been made in respect of such prior Fiscal Year(s)).

(iv) At the election of the Manager, no distribution shall be required pursuant to Section 5.1(c)(i) in respect of any Fiscal Year if the total net taxable income and gain of the Company for such Fiscal Year is less than or equal to One Hundred Thousand Dollars ($100,000).

(v) No distribution shall be required to be made pursuant to this Section 5.1(c) to a Member to the extent such Member has a cumulative net loss with respect to such Member's allocable share of the taxable income or gain, as the case may be, after taking into account allocations for the current and all prior taxable periods.

(vi) The Company shall not make a distribution under this Section 5.1(c) to a Member to the extent such Member is allocated net taxable income and gain solely in connection with (A) redemption of such Member's Interest or (B) a liquidation of the Company.

(d) Source of Items Available for Distribution. In the event that, at the time of a distribution, items available for distribution include items from more than one source, the source of those items actually distributed shall be determined by the Manager in its sole discretion.

5.2 Limitation on Distributions. No distribution shall be made to a Member pursuant to Section 5.1 if and to the extent that such distribution would: (i) create a negative balance in the Updated Capital Account of such Member or increase the amount by which such Updated Capital Account balance is negative; (ii) cause the Company to be insolvent; or (iii) render the Member liable for a return of such distribution under applicable law. Notwithstanding any provision to the contrary contained in this Agreement, the Company shall not make a distribution to a Member on account of its interest in the Company if such distribution would violate the Act or other applicable law.

ADMINISTRATION; MANAGEMENT

6.1 Management Powers and Authority of the Manager. Except as otherwise specifically provided in this Agreement, the Company and its business shall be managed, controlled and operated exclusively by the Manager, which shall be the "manager" of the Company within the meaning of Section 18-101 of the Act and shall have all of the powers and authority in respect of the Company permitted to managers under the Act.

6.2 Designation of Manager. The initial Manager shall be Mark Patrick. In the event that Mark Patrick dies or is unable to serve as such, the will or other testamentary documentation for Mark Patrick shall designate a successor Manager. To the extent that the will or other related documentation for Mark Patrick fails to provide for a successor Manager or if any such designated individual shall be unable or is unwilling to fill such position, the managing shareholder of Charitable DAF HoldCo, Ltd., shall appoint a successor Manager. To the extent that Mark Patrick desires to resign as Manager, he shall appoint his successor.

6.3 Manager's Power to Bind the Company.

(a) Notwithstanding any provision of this Agreement to the contrary, any contract agreement, deed, lease, note or other document or instrument executed on behalf of the Company by a Manager shall be deemed to have been duly executed by the Company; no Member's signature shall be required in connection with the foregoing and third parties shall be entitled to rely upon the Manager's power to bind the Company without otherwise ascertaining that the requirements of this Agreement have been satisfied.

(b) The Manager is hereby authorized to file with any governmental entity, on behalf of the Company and the Members, a certificate or similar instrument that evidences the Manager's power to bind the Company as set forth in the preceding paragraph (a).

(c) To the fullest extent permitted by law and notwithstanding any other provision of this Agreement or in any agreement contemplated herein or applicable provisions of law or equity or otherwise, whenever in this Agreement the Manager is permitted or required to make a decision (i) in its "sole discretion" or "discretion" or under a grant of similar authority or latitude, the Manager shall be entitled to consider only such interests and factors as it desires, including its own interests, and shall have no duty or obligation to give any consideration to any interest of or factors affecting the Company or any other Person, or (ii) in its "good faith" or under another express standard, the Manager shall act under such express standard and shall not be subject to any other or different standard.

6.4 Action by Members. Except as set forth in Section 6.2, no Member shall have any right to vote with respect to any Company action.

6.5 No Duties to the Company. To the fullest extent permitted by law, including Section 18-1101(c) of the Act, and notwithstanding any other provision of this Agreement or in any agreement contemplated herein or applicable provisions of law or equity or otherwise, the parties hereto hereby agree that the Manager shall owe no fiduciary duty to any Member or the Company; provided, however, that the foregoing shall not eliminate the duty to comply with the implied contractual covenant of good faith and fair dealing.

6.6 Manager and Member Expenses.

(a) General. Except as otherwise provided in this Section 6.6, no Manager or Member shall be reimbursed for expenses incurred on behalf of, or otherwise in connection with, the Company. Any reimbursement paid by a third party for expenses actually reimbursed by the Company shall be retained by (or paid over by the recipient thereof to) the Company.

(b) Manager. The Manager shall be reimbursed by the Company for reasonable out-of-pocket expenses incurred by the Manager on behalf of the Company.

(c) Member. A Member shall be reimbursed for expenses incurred on behalf of the Company only with the approval of the Manager, which approval may be withheld by the Manager in its sole and absolute discretion.

6.7 Tax Matters; Partnership Representative.

(a) Partnership Classification for Tax Purposes. Except to the extent otherwise required by applicable law (disregarding for this purpose any requirement that can be avoided through the filing of an election or similar administrative procedure), the Manager shall cause the Company to take the position that the Company is a "partnership" or disregarded entity, as applicable, for federal, state and local income tax purposes and shall cause to be filed with the appropriate tax authorities any elections or other documents necessary to give due legal effect to such position. A Member shall not file (and each Member hereby represents that it has not filed) any income tax election or other document that is inconsistent with the Company's position regarding its classification as a "partnership" for applicable federal, state and local income tax purposes.

(b) Notice of Inconsistent Treatment of Company Item. No Member shall file a notice with the IRS under Section 6222(b) of the Code in connection with such Member's intention to treat an item on such Member's federal income tax return in a manner which is inconsistent with the treatment of such item on the Company's federal income tax return.

(c) Notice of Settlement Agreement. Any Member entering into a settlement agreement with the United States Department of the Treasury which concerns a Company item shall notify the Manager of such settlement agreement and its terms within sixty (60) days after the date thereof.

(d) Partnership Representative and Audits.

(i) The Manager shall be the "partnership representative" of the Company (the "Partnership Representative") pursuant to and to the extent permitted by Section 6223 of Title XI of the Bipartisan Budget Act of 2015 ("Title XI 2015 BBA"). In the event of any pending tax action, investigation, claim or controversy at the Company level that may result in a "partnership adjustment," within the meaning of Section 6241(2) of Title XI 2015 BBA (a "Partnership Adjustment"), to any item reported on a federal tax return of any Member(s), the Partnership Representative, shall keep such Member(s) fully and timely informed by written notice of any audit, administrative or judicial proceedings, meetings or conferences with the IRS or other similar material matters that come to its attention in its capacity as Partnership Representative. The Partnership Representative will give the Members not less than fifteen (15) days' prior written notice as to any action to be taken or of any decision not to take action with respect to any such material matter. The Partnership Representative shall act in any similar capacity under applicable state, local or foreign law, subject to similar restrictions and obligations.

The Company shall reimburse the Partnership Representative for its reasonable expenses in connection with the performance of his duties hereunder.

(ii) For any Partnership Adjustment or proposed Partnership Adjustment to the federal income tax returns of the Company for which an "imputed underpayment," within the meaning of Section 6225(b) of Title XI 2015 BBA would arise, then either, (1) the Partnership Representative may require that the Member(s) affected by such Partnership Adjustment file amended returns that take into account such Partnership Adjustments and pay any additional tax due pursuant to Section 6225(c) of Title XI 2015 BBA or (2) if the Partnership Representative does not require the affected Member(s) to file such amended returns as provided in clause (1), and the affected Member(s) do not otherwise file such amended returns, the Partnership Representative may elect application of Section 6226 of Title XI 2015 BBA. In any case, the affected Member(s) shall keep the Partnership Representative fully and timely informed by written notice of any administrative or judicial proceedings, meetings or conferences with the IRS or other similar matters with respect to the Partnership Adjustment, and the Partnership Representative shall have the right to review and comment on any submissions to the IRS, and attend and jointly participate in any meetings or conferences with the IRS.

(iii) This Section 6.7(d) is intended to comply with certain provisions under Title XI 2015 BBA that may be subject to change or further interpretation by the U.S. Treasury or IRS. In the event of such change or further interpretation, the Manager is hereby authorized to amend this Agreement consistent with the provisions of Sections 6.7(d)(i) and 6.7(d)(ii) above.

6.8 Records and Financial Statements.

(a) The Company shall maintain true and proper books, records, reports, and accounts in which shall be entered all transactions of the Company. The Company shall also maintain all schedules to this Agreement and shall update such schedules promptly upon receipt of new information relating thereto. Notwithstanding anything in Section 18-305 of the Act, except as provided in Section 6.8(b), no Member shall have any right to review or inspect any of the books or records of the Company or receive any other Company information.

(b) Within ninety (90) days after the end of each Fiscal Year, or as soon as reasonably practicable thereafter, the Company shall supply to each Member such Member's IRS Schedule K-1 for such Fiscal Year.

6.9 Valuation of Company Assets.

(a) General. The Manager shall make a good faith determination of the value of the Company's assets in connection with any distribution pursuant to Section 8.1(b), as required under Section 4.3(c), upon the dissolution of the Company, and whenever otherwise required by this Agreement or determined by the Manager.

(b) Binding Effect. The value of any Company asset or Interest determined pursuant to this Section 6.9 shall be binding upon the Company and the Members and shall establish the "Fair Market Value" of such asset or Interest for all purposes under this Agreement.

6.10 Officers. The Manager may, from time to time as it deems advisable, select natural persons who are employees or agents of the Company and designate them as officers of the Company (the "Officers") and assign titles (including, without limitation, President, Vice President, Secretary, and Treasurer) to any such person. Unless the Manager decides otherwise, if the title given to an Officer is one commonly used for officers of a business corporation formed under the Delaware General Corporation Law, the assignment of such title shall constitute the delegation to such person of the authorities and duties that are normally associated with that office. Any delegation pursuant to this Section 6.10 may be revoked at any time by the Manager. An Officer may be removed with or without cause by the Manager.

TRANSFERS AND RESIGNATIONS

7.1 Transfers of Interests. To the fullest extent permitted by law, a Member shall not Transfer all or any portion of its Interest without the prior written consent of the Manager, which consent may be granted or withheld in the Manager's sole discretion.

7.2 Resignation/Removal of a Member. No Member shall resign from the Company or otherwise cease to be a Member without the consent of the Manager, which consent may be granted or withheld in the Manager's sole discretion.

7.3 Redemption. The Manager, in its sole discretion, may cause any Member's Interest to be redeemed by the Company for any reason. Any Interest of a Member to be redeemed by the Company shall be redeemed for the Fair Market Value of such Interest, as determined by the Manager in its sole discretion. Such payment to the Member shall either be made in cash or pursuant to a promissory note. Such promissory note shall: (i) provide for interest at the lowest rate necessary to avoid the imputation of additional interest under the Code; and (ii) have a stated principal amount of the Fair Market Value of such Member's Interest being redeemed, as determined by the Manager in its sole discretion.

DISSOLUTION AND LIQUIDATION

8.1 Dissolving Events. The Company shall be Dissolved upon the occurrence of any of the following events:

(a) An election in writing by the Manager to dissolve the Company;

(b) Any time there are no members of the Company, unless the Company is continued in accordance with the Act; or

(c) The entry of a decree of judicial dissolution of the Company under Section 18-802 of the Act.

To the maximum extent permitted by the Act, the Members hereby waive their rights to seek a judicial dissolution of the Company.

8.2 Winding Up and Liquidation.

(a) Upon dissolution of the Company, the Manager shall promptly wind up the affairs of, and liquidate the Company. In furtherance thereof, the Manager, as the "liquidating trustee" of the Company within the meaning of the Act shall: (i) continue to have all of the administrative and management rights and powers of the Manager (including the power to bind the Company); and (ii) be reimbursed for Company expenses it incurs. Following dissolution, the Company shall sell or otherwise dispose of assets determined by the Manager to be unsuitable for distribution to the Members, but shall engage in no other business activities except as may be necessary to preserve the value of the Company's assets during the period of winding-up and liquidation. At the conclusion of the winding-up and liquidation of the Company, the Manager shall: (i) hold the books and records of the Company for not less than six years following the termination of the Company under the Act; and (ii) execute, file and record, as necessary, a certificate of cancellation or similar document to effect the termination of the Company under the Act and other applicable laws.

(b) Distributions to the Members in liquidation may be made in cash or in kind, or partly in cash and partly in kind, as determined by the Manager. Distributions in kind shall be valued at Fair Market Value as determined in accordance with the provisions of Section 6.9 and shall be subject to such conditions and restrictions as may be necessary or advisable to preserve the value of the property so distributed or to comply with applicable law. Each Member actually receiving amounts pursuant to a specific distribution shall receive a pro rata share of each item of cash or property of which such distribution is constituted (based upon such Member's share of the total amount to be included in such distribution).

(c) The Profits and Losses of the Company during the period of winding-up and liquidation shall be allocated among the Members in accordance with the provisions of Section 4. If any property is to be distributed in kind, the Capital Accounts of the Members shall be adjusted with regard to such property in accordance with the provisions of Section 4.3(c).

(d) The assets of the Company (including proceeds from the sale or other disposition of any assets during the period of winding-up and liquidation) shall be applied as follows:

(i) First, to repay any claims and obligations of the Company, whether to third parties or the Members, in the order of priority required by law and to the creation of any reserves which the Manager, or the liquidating trustee, as applicable, reasonably deems necessary for all contingent, conditional or unmatured claims or obligations of the Company (which reserves when they become unnecessary in accordance with the Act, shall be distributed in accordance with the provisions of clause (i), below); and

(ii) Next, to the Members in proportion to their respective positive Capital Account balances (after taking into account all adjustments to the Members' Capital Accounts required under Section 8.2(c)).

8.3 Deficit Restoration/Liability. Except as otherwise specifically provided in this Agreement, a Member shall have no obligation to restore a negative balance in such Member's Capital Account at the time of dissolution of the Company and no liability to the Company or to any other Member in respect of a negative balance in such Member's Capital Account during the term of the Company or at the conclusion of the Company's termination.

SECTION 9

EXCULPATION; INDEMNIFICATION

9.1 Exculpation. To the fullest extent permitted by applicable law, neither the Manager, Partnership Representative nor any Officer or Member nor any officer, director, employee, agent or Affiliate of the foregoing (collectively, the "Covered Persons"), shall be liable to the Company, or any other Person who is bound by this Agreement for any loss, damage or claim incurred by reason of any act or omission performed or omitted by such Covered Person in good faith on behalf of the Company and in a manner reasonably believed to be within the scope of the authority conferred on such Covered Person by this Agreement, except that a Covered Person shall be liable for any such loss, damage or claim incurred by reason of such Person's gross negligence or willful misconduct.

9.2 Indemnification.

(a) To the fullest extent permitted by applicable law, a Covered Person shall be entitled to indemnification from the Company for any loss, damage or claim incurred by such Covered Person by reason of any act or omission performed or omitted by such Covered Person in good faith on behalf of the Company and in a manner reasonably believed to be within the scope of the authority conferred on such Covered Person by this Agreement, except that no Covered Person shall be entitled to be indemnified in respect of any loss, damage or claim incurred by such Covered Person by reason of such Covered Person's gross negligence or willful misconduct with respect to such acts or omissions; provided, however, that any indemnity under this Section 9.2 by the Company shall be provided out of and to the extent of Company assets only, and no Member nor the Manager shall have personal liability on account thereof.

(b) To the fullest extent permitted by applicable law, expenses (including reasonable legal fees) incurred by a Covered Person defending any claim, demand, action, suit or proceeding shall, from time to time, be advanced by the Company prior to the final disposition of such claim, demand, action, suit or proceeding upon the receipt by the Company of an undertaking by or on behalf of the Covered Person to repay such amount if it shall be determined that the Covered Person is not entitled to be indemnified as authorized in this Section 9.2.

(c) A Covered Person shall be fully protected in relying in good faith upon the records of the Company and upon such information, opinions, reports or statements presented to the Company by any Person as to matters the Covered Person reasonably believes are within such other Person's professional or expert competence and who has been selected with reasonable care by or on behalf of the Company, including information, opinions, reports or statements as to the value and amount of the assets, liabilities, or any other facts pertinent to the existence and amount of assets from which distributions to the Members might properly be paid.

(d) The provisions of this Agreement, to the extent that they restrict or eliminate the duties and liabilities of a Covered Person to the Company or its members otherwise existing at law or in equity, are agreed by the parties hereto to replace such other duties and liabilities of such Covered Person.

(e) The foregoing provisions of this Section 9.2 shall survive any termination of this Agreement.

SECTION 10

GENERAL PROVISIONS

10.1 Meetings. There shall be no requirement of annual or periodic meetings of the Company's members or managers within the meaning of the Act.

10.2 Action Without a Meeting. Any action of the Manager may be taken by written consent of the Manager. Any consent or approval required by this Agreement to be "written" may also be made by the use of electronic transmission.

10.3 Entire Agreement. This Agreement and the other agreements referred to herein, including any employment, services, granting or other similar agreements, contain the entire understanding among the Members, and supersede any prior written or oral agreement between them, with respect to the Company. There are no representations, agreements, arrangements, or understandings, oral or written, among the Members relating to the Company which are not fully expressed in this Agreement (or any employment, services, granting or other similar agreements).

10.4 Amendments. This Agreement may be amended, in whole or in part, only through a written amendment executed by the Manager.

10.5 Counterparts; Binding upon Members. This Agreement may be executed in any number of counterparts and, when so executed, all of such counterparts shall constitute a single instrument binding upon all parties notwithstanding the fact that all parties are not signatory to the original or to the same counterpart.

10.6 No Third Party Beneficiaries. The provisions of this Agreement are not intended to be for the benefit of or enforceable by any third party and shall not give rise to a right on the part of any third party to require a Member to make a Capital Contribution, return distributions, or make other payments to the Company as set forth in this Agreement.

10.7 Notices, Consents, Elections, Etc. All notices, consents, agreements, elections, amendments, demands and approvals provided for or permitted by this Agreement or otherwise relating to the Company shall be in writing and signed copies thereof shall be retained with the books of the Company. For purposes of the following provisions of this Section 10.7, the term "notice" shall be deemed to include any notice, statement, report, consent or similar item required or permitted to be provided to one or more Persons under this Agreement or applicable law.

10.8 Severability. In the event that any provision of this Agreement is determined to be invalid or unenforceable, such provision shall be deemed severed from the remainder of this Agreement and replaced with a valid and enforceable provision as similar in intent as reasonably possible to the provision so severed, and shall not cause the invalidity or unenforceability of the remainder of this Agreement.

10.9 Governing Law. The interpretation and enforceability of this Agreement and the rights and liabilities of the Members and the Manager as such shall be governed by the laws of the State of Delaware. To the extent permitted by the Act and other applicable law, the provisions of this Agreement shall supersede any contrary provisions of the Act or other applicable law.

10.10 Status Under the Act. This Agreement is the "limited liability company agreement" of the Company within the meaning of Section 18-101 of the Act.

10.11 Partnership for Tax Purposes Only. As set forth in Section 2.1, the Members hereby form the Company as a limited liability company under the Act. The Members expressly do not intend hereby to form a partnership except insofar as the Company may be treated as a partnership solely for tax purposes.

10.12 Miscellaneous. This Agreement shall not be construed for or against any party by reason of the authorship or alleged authorship of any provisions hereof or by reason of the status of the respective parties. Each Member hereby specifically consents to the selection of all other Members admitted to the Company pursuant to the terms of this Agreement.

RE: Valuation Analysis of Certain Participation Shares of Charitable DAF HoldCo, Ltd

Dear Mr. Higgins:

Pursuant to your request, we were retained to perform an independent valuation analysis to determine the fair market value of following participation shares (the "Subject Interest" or the "Participation Shares") of Charitable DAF HoldCo, Ltd ("DAF" or the "Company") as of March 25, 2025 (the "Valuation Date").[1]

- 100 Participation Shares of DAF held by Highland Dallas Foundation, Inc.
- 100 Participation Shares of DAF held by Highland Kansas City Foundation, Inc.
- 100 Participation Shares of DAF held by Highland Santa Barbara Foundation, Inc.
- 5 Participation Shares of DAF held by The Community Foundation of North Texas

This valuation analysis was conducted for internal reporting, transaction support (including the issuance and redemption of shares), dispute resolution, regulatory compliance, or any other context where a fair market valuation is required.

DEFINITION AND PREMISE OF VALUE

The standard of value is fair market value. Fair market value is defined by IRS Revenue Ruling 59-60, 1959-1 C.B. 237 as the price at which the property would change hands between a willing buyer and a willing seller when the former is not under any compulsion to buy and the latter is not under any compulsion to sell, both parties having reasonable knowledge of relevant facts.

To develop our conclusion of value for the Subject Interest, we considered all of the factors listed in Revenue Ruling 59-60. These factors include:

1. The nature of the business and its history from inception.

[1] Our analysis assumes that the Company's financial position remains materially consistent between September 30, 2024 and the Valuation Date.

2. The economic outlook in general and the condition and outlook of the specific industry in which it operates.
3. The book value and the financial condition of the business.
4. The earning capacity of the business.
5. The dividend-paying capacity of the business.
6. Whether the enterprise had goodwill or other intangible value.
7. The market prices of the stocks of corporations engaged in the same or similar line of business having their stocks actively traded on an exchange or over the counter.
8. The marketability, or lack thereof, of the securities.

The valuation is conducted under the assumption that the DAF will continue as a going concern.[2] The liquidation premise of value was considered but deemed inapplicable, as the going-concern premise reflects the "highest and best use" of the Participation Shares.

SCOPE OF WORK

To gain an understanding of DAF's operations, we reviewed the Company's financial and operational data and spoke with the Company's management shareholder ("Management"). To understand the environment in which DAF operates, we researched relevant information concerning the US private equity, hedge funds & investment vehicles industry. We also studied economic conditions as of the Valuation Date and their impact on DAF and the industry.

We valued the Company in accordance with generally accepted valuation standards and included such valuation tests and procedures that we considered necessary under the circumstances. Our conclusion of value reflects these findings, our judgment and knowledge of the marketplace, and our expertise in valuation.

In performing our work, we were provided with and/or relied upon various sources of information, including (but not limited to):

- Balance sheet for CLO HoldCo, Ltd. as of September 30, 2024
- The Memorandum and Articles of Association of Charitable DAF HoldCo, Ltd, amended and restated as of January 24, 2024

[2] The International Glossary of Business Valuation Terms defines "Going Concern" as "an ongoing operating business enterprise," and "Going Concern Value" as "the value of a business enterprise that is expected to continue to operate into the future. The intangible elements of going concern value result from factors such as having a trained workforce, an operational plant, and the necessary licenses, systems, and procedures in place."

- Information regarding the Company's history and current operations
- Historical distributions paid to the holders of the Subject Interest

Fourth quarter distributions were historically larger than in the first three quarters.[5] Historical Distributions are presented in the following charts and in Schedules A.1 and A.2.

[5] Distributions are typically paid a few months following the end of a quarter. As a result, fourth quarter distributions may be paid in the first or second quarter of the following calendar year.

Note: Q4 2024 distributions have not yet been paid.

SUBJECT INTEREST OVERVIEW

The Subject Interest consists of participation shares, which from time to time may receive discretionary cash distributions intended to support the charitable and expense goals of the holders. The rights and limitations of the participation shares are defined by the DAF Agreement and are directly influenced by the discretion and actions of the Company's Management and directors.

The DAF Agreement grants the directors substantial discretion over distributions, share issuances, governance, and financial transparency, leaving participation shareholders with little influence over corporate decisions. They are subject to potential dilutions, transfer restrictions, and limited access to information, with limited voting rights and no ability to amend governing documents. Given these extensive limitations, the participation shares represent a highly restricted and passive financial interest with limited control or enforceable rights.

Limited Rights Over Distributions

Participation shareholders do not have:

- The right to cause, vote on, or receive pro-rata distributions.
- The right to annual, timed, or guaranteed distributions.
- The right to receive notice of distributions made to other participation shareholders.
- The ability to amend the DAF Agreement to modify distribution rights.

Governance and Voting Limitations

Participation shareholders do not have:

- The right to remove or appoint directors.
- The right to vote on the issuance of additional participation shares, receive notice of such issuance, or exercise pre-emption rights.
- The right to vote on or receive notice of share redemptions.

The appointed directors and Management have full control over the management, operations, and affairs of the Company (subject to requiring a two-thirds majority of the participation shareholders for any material adverse variation or abrogation of rights attached to the participation shares), including the issuance and purchase of shares on terms they determine. Since participation shareholders do not have voting or approval rights over further issuances, additional participation shares may be issued at any time, potentially impacting the economic interests associated with existing shares (noting that the purchase of participation shares, or issuance of further shares ranking pari passu or subsequent to the participation shares, is not regarded as causing a material adverse variation or abrogation of the rights of the participation shareholders). Additionally, the transfer of participation shares requires director approval, and directors may reject transfer at their discretion.

Restrictions on Meetings and Information Access

Participation shareholders do not have:

- The right to receive notice of, attend, speak at, or vote at general meetings.
- The right to inspect company records, accounts, or documents, except at the director's sole discretion (or in the very limited circumstances conferred by law).
- The ability to modify or amend the DAF Agreement in any capacity.

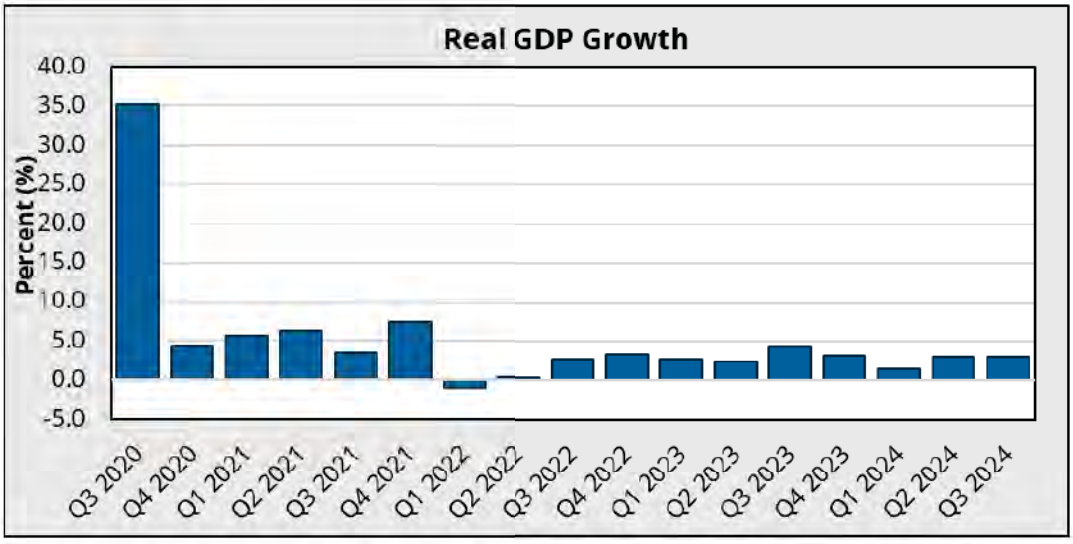
Restricted Persons Clause

Certain individuals or entities may be classified as Restricted Persons, including:

- Any holder of participation shares in breach of applicable laws.
- Any holder that is not exempt from taxation under Section 501(c)(3).
- Any holder whose participation, in the opinion of the directors, could cause the Company to incur tax, legal, regulatory, administrative, or pecuniary liabilities that it would not otherwise face.

If the directors become aware that any participation shares are held by a Restricted Person, they may, by written notice, require the transfer of such shares in accordance with the DAF Agreement.

For further details, refer to Appendix A for key provisions of the DAF Agreement.



ECONOMIC AND INDUSTRY OVERVIEW

OVERVIEW OF THE U.S. ECONOMY

In the third quarter of 2024, the US economy expanded at a faster pace than in the second quarter. Inflation, which peaked at 8.99% in June 2022, declined to 2.73% by November 2024, reflecting progress toward the Federal Reserve's target. After a prolonged period of elevated interest rates to curb inflation, signs of a cooling labor market and stable prices led the Fed to cut rates by 25 basis points in December. The rate hikes that began in 2023 initially resulted in an inverted yield curve, signaling investor concerns about an economic slowdown, but the curve has since normalized following the presidential election. Meanwhile, US equity markets gained momentum, with major indices ending the year higher, supported by easing inflation and expectations of further monetary policy accommodation.

Gross Domestic Product[6]

Real gross domestic product (GDP) increased at an annual rate of 3.1 percent in the third quarter of 2024, following an increase of 3.0 percent in the second quarter. The acceleration in real GDP in the third quarter primarily reflected accelerations in exports, consumer spending, and federal government spending. These movements were partly offset by a downturn in private inventory investment and a larger decrease in residential fixed investment.

Population

Population growth is an important driver of long-term growth in an economy. The total population increased from 335.9 million in November 2023 to 337.7 million in November 2024.[7] The working-age population (15-64) increased from 208.9 million in November 2023 to 209.0 million in November 2024.[8]

Labor force participation had a sharp decline at the onset of the COVID-19 pandemic. It partially recovered in just several months and has been trending upward/flat. In November 2023, the civilian labor force participation rate was 62.8% and stands at 62.5% as of November 2024.[9]

Employment

Nonfarm payroll employment, according to the Bureau of Labor Statistics (BLS), rose by 227,000 in November 2024 and the unemployment rate changed little at 4.2 percent. Employment trended up in health care, leisure and hospitality, government, and social assistance. Retail trade lost jobs.

The U6 unemployment rate, which includes all marginally attached workers and those employed part-time for economic reasons, increased from 7.0% in November 2023 to 7.7% in November 2024.[10]

Forecasters surveyed by the Federal Reserve Bank of Philadelphia predicted the unemployment rate will increase from 4.0 percent in 2024 to 4.3 percent in 2025 and then decrease to 4.1 percent in 2027.

Inflation

According to the BLS, The Consumer Price Index for All Urban Consumers (CPI-U) increased 0.3 percent in November on a seasonally adjusted basis, after rising 0.2 percent in each of the following 4 months. Over the last 12 months, the all-items index increased 2.7 percent before seasonal adjustment.[11]

The index for shelter rose 0.3 percent in November and was the main factor in the all items increase. The food index increased 0.4 percent in November. The index for food away from home rose 0.5 percent over the month, while the index for food at home rose 0.3 percent. The energy index fell 0.2 percent over the month, after being unchanged in the preceding month.

The price pressures measure estimates the probability that the personal consumption expenditures price index inflation rate will exceed 2.5% over the next twelve months. This price pressures measure has declined significantly since a year ago, November 2023, declining from 53.20% to 5.10% in November 2024[12].The forecasters predict current-quarter headline CPI inflation will average 2.2 percent at an annual rate, down from the prediction of 2.5 percent in the previous survey[13].

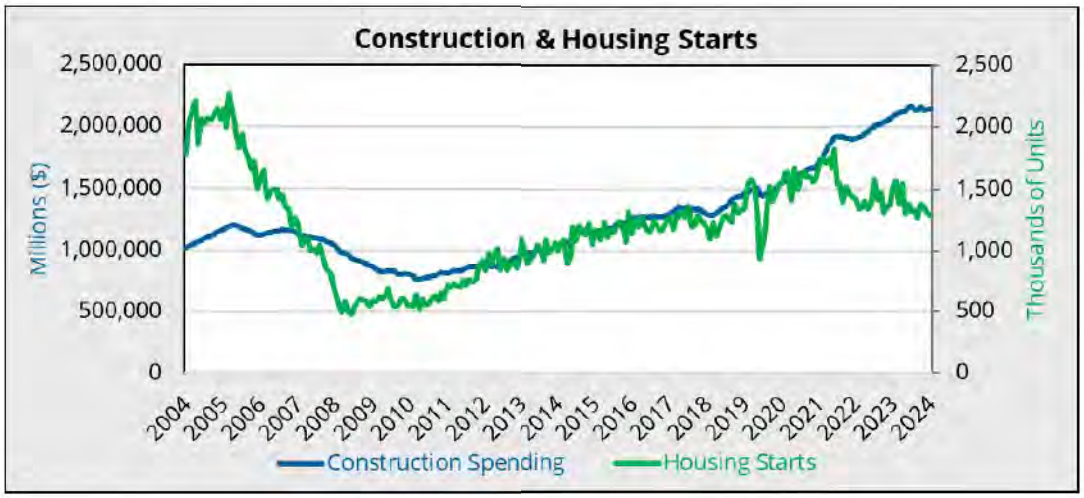
Stock Markets[19]

The stock markets gained momentum from December 29, 2023, to December 31, 2024. The S&P 500 Index (SPY) closed at 475.31 on December 29, 2023, and closed higher at 586.08 on December 31, 2024. The NASDAQ Composite Index (QQQ) closed at 409.52 on December 29, 2023, and closed higher at 511.23 on December 31, 2024. In the graph below, the December 30, 2022, values were set to 100.

Construction & Housing Starts



Construction spending and housing starts are two other important indicators for the economy. Construction spending may indicate the sentiment in real estate markets and the soundness of the economy while housing starts are an alternative indicator of consumer sentiment. Increases in demand for newly constructed homes can lead to job growth in the construction industry, increased demand for appliances and furniture, and have ripple effects throughout the economy. Housing starts decreased from 1.510 million units in November 2023 to 1.289 million units in November 2024.[20] Construction spending, a seasonally adjusted annual figure, increased from $2.09 trillion in November 2023 to $2.15 trillion in November 2024.[21]

Consumer Sentiment

The University of Michigan Survey of Consumers reported that the Index of Consumer Sentiment has increased from 61.30 a year ago in November 2023 to 71.80 in November 2024. Although it has increased significantly from a year ago, the index is still well below the pre-COVID high of 101.0 in February 2020.[22] The index is based on a survey of consumer perceptions of present economic conditions and expectations of future conditions. The survey is based on a sample of 500 phone interviews consisting of 50 core questions conducted across the continental U.S. This is considered a leading indicator of future consumer expenditures and economic activity.

OVERVIEW OF THE PRIVATE EQUITY, HEDGE FUNDS & INVESTMENT VEHICLES INDUSTRY[23]

This industry is composed of private equity funds, hedge funds, closed-end funds, unit investment trusts and other financial vehicles. Entities in this industry manage securities or other assets on behalf of shareholders, unit holders or other beneficiaries to achieve high returns on targeted investments. This industry excludes insurance and employee-benefit funds, open-end investment funds and trusts, estates and agency accounts.

Executive Summary

In recent years, industry assets have become increasingly integral to institutional investors' portfolios and the larger asset management market. Institutional investors are individuals or organizations that trade securities in such substantial volumes that they qualify for lower commissions and fewer protective regulations since it's assumed that they're knowledgeable enough to protect themselves. Increasing demand from institutional investors has contributed to the surge in the industry's assets under management (AUM) and revenue during the current period.

In recent years, the industry has continued to enmesh itself more deeply within the broader financial ecosystem despite the challenges posed at the onset of the period. The pandemic, mainly in the first quarter of 2020, contributed to revenue declines for many operators. Many portfolios, previously thought to be sound investments, were reevaluated and businesses pivoted their strategies due to the unprecedented nature of the crisis. However, as inflation was rampant in the latter part of the period, the FED increased interest rates to control high inflation, although as inflationary pressures eased in 2024, the FED cut interest rates, which will increase liquidity in financial markets. The Fed is anticipated to cut rates further in 2025, increasing liquidity and driving the shift of investments into equities from fixed-income securities. Overall, over the past five years, industry revenue grew at a CAGR of 4.2% to $310.1 billion, including an increase of 2.5% in 2025 alone. Industry profit has climbed significantly and will comprise 49.6% of revenue in the current year.

Industry revenue will grow at a CAGR of 2.7% to $353.7 billion over the five years to 2030. The Federal Reserve is anticipated to cut interest rates as inflationary pressures continue to ease. These declining interest rates will increase liquidity in the markets. Private equity firms and hedge funds will have less difficulty raising capital for investments. As characteristics of the financial system change in light of post-financial crisis banking regulations and regulators' recognition of the importance of hedge funds within the financial system, hedge funds will likely experience heightened oversight.

VALUATION METHODOLOGY

There are three conceptually distinct methodologies that can be applied to estimate indications of value of a business or asset: (a) the income approach, (b) the market approach, and (c) the cost approach.

VALUATION APPROACHES

Income Approach

The income approach quantifies the present value of anticipated future income generated by a business or an asset. Forecasts of future income require analyses of variables that influence income, such as revenues, expenses, and taxes. One form of the income approach, the discounted cash flow (DCF) analysis, defines future economic income as net cash flow and takes into account not only the profit-generating abilities of a business but also the investment in capital equipment and working capital required to sustain the projected net cash flow. The forecasted net cash flow is then discounted to present value using an appropriate rate of return or discount rate. The income approach is unique in its ability to account for the specific contribution to the overall value of various factors of production.

Market Approach

The market approach considers the implied pricing in third-party transactions of comparable businesses or assets. Transactions are analyzed in order to identify pricing patterns or trends that can be used to infer value on the subject business or asset. Adjustments are made to the transaction data to account for relative differences between the subject and the comparable transactions. The primary strength of the market approach is that it offers relatively objective pricing evidence from the market at large and, aside from certain adjustments to the transaction data, requires few assumptions to be made.

Asset-Based (Cost) Approach

The asset-based approach considers the value of a business or security based on the value of its assets net of its liabilities. Replacement cost is often a primary indicator of the value of a business' assets. The asset-based approach is based on the reasoning that a prudent investor would not pay more for a business or asset than the cost to the investor to replace or re-create it. Historical cost data and reported book values are often used as initial indications of value, with certain adjustments made for physical deterioration, obsolescence, input costs, appreciation, or other factors. The asset-based approach makes fewer assumptions than the income approach, but its primary limitation is its inability to capture the value of many categories of intangible assets.

VALUATION METHODS

The following are common valuation methods used under the three approaches:

A. Income Approach
1. Discounted Cash Flow Method (multi-period model)
2. Direct Capitalization Method (single period model)
3. Excess Earnings Method

B. Market Approach
1. Guideline Public Company Method
2. Merger and Acquisition Method

C. Asset-Based Approach
1. Reproduction Cost Method
2. Replacement Cost Method
3. Net Asset Value Method

SUMMARY OF THE VALUATION APPROACHES AND METHODS

For the valuation of non-controlling interests in holding companies such as DAF, the asset-based approach is most commonly used. When applied to such companies, the approach consists of measuring the underlying net asset value (NAV) of an entity (the fair market value of the entity's assets less the fair market value of its liabilities). The NAV is then discounted as appropriate to determine the fair market value of the fractional interest in the entity.

However, in the case of the participation shares under consideration, the asset-based approach is not applicable. These shares do not confer control and only have a claim in respect of the underlying assets in a winding up. Unlike equity interests that derive value from an allocable portion of the entity's net assets, the economic benefits of these shares are contingent upon discretionary distributions by the director. As such, their value is not directly tied to the entity's NAV, and an alternative valuation approach is required to appropriately reflect their characteristics and economic reality.[24]

Given the nature of the participation shares, the income approach, specifically the discounted cash flow (DCF) method, is the most appropriate valuation methodology.[25]

[24] Previous valuations conducted by ValueScope did not account for the rights of the participation shares under the applicable law, specifically that these shares confer an extremely limited enforceable claim to the entity's underlying NAV.

[25] The market approach was considered but deemed inapplicable due to the absence of comparable transactions involving securities with characteristics similar to the participation shares.

This approach estimates the present value of expected future distributions, if any, based on reasonable assumptions regarding the manager's discretion in making such distributions. If no future distributions are expected, the value of the Subject Interest would be nominal. The DCF method captures the time value of money and the risk associated with the uncertainty of future distributions, providing a more accurate measure of the fair market value of the Participation Shares.

VALUATION ANALYSIS

INCOME APPROACH ANALYSIS

The income approach estimates the fair market value of an interest based on the present value of expected future economic benefits. In the case of the Participation Shares, these economic benefits are exclusively tied to discretionary distributions made by the director, rather than earnings or cash flows of the DAF's underlying assets. The approach involves forecasting expected future distributions and discounting them to present value using a rate of return that reflects the risk associated with the uncertainty and discretionary nature of these payments. The resulting present value represents the fair market value of the Subject Interest.

Discounted Cash Flow Method

We developed a DCF model to determine the fair market value of the Subject Interest as of the Valuation Date. The DCF method projects the distributions that the Participation Shareholders are expected to receive. Each projected distribution is discounted to present value using a rate that reflects the risk associated with the uncertainty and discretionary nature of these payments.

Projected Distributions

Distributions to the holders of the Subject Interest were projected based on discussions with Management and a review of historical distributions. Management indicated that the timing and size of future distributions will be discretionary, and that DAF does not intend to establish reserves for distributions.

Despite this discretion, Management currently intends to maintain distributions to the holders of the Subject Interest at levels consistent with those paid over the past 12 to 24 months. We projected distributions to occur quarterly, with the next four quarters reflecting the average distribution of the corresponding quarters from the prior two years, totaling approximately $950,000. Beyond this period, distributions were assumed to grow at an annual rate of 2.5%, consistent with expected inflation, in perpetuity.

Cost of Equity

A cost of equity of 68.3% was applied to discount the expected discretionary distributions to the holders of the Subject Interest, reflecting their high-risk profile, extremely limited claim on underlying NAV, and absence of control over distributions. This rate was selected based on the third quartile of required returns for pre-seed venture capital investments from the Pepperdine 2024 private capital markets report, aligning with the speculative nature of potential cash flows, significant legal and governance risks, and the inability to force a sale or liquidity event. The Subject Interest exhibits characteristics similar to early-stage equity investments, where cash flows are highly uncertain, illiquidity risks are substantial, and investor returns are largely dependent on discretionary managerial decisions. Given these factors, a higher-end venture capital return benchmark was deemed appropriate.

Conclusion – Income Approach Analysis

Based on the forecasts and methodologies presented in this analysis, the income approach indicated a minority and marketable value of the Subject Interest of $2,045,531 as of the Valuation Date.

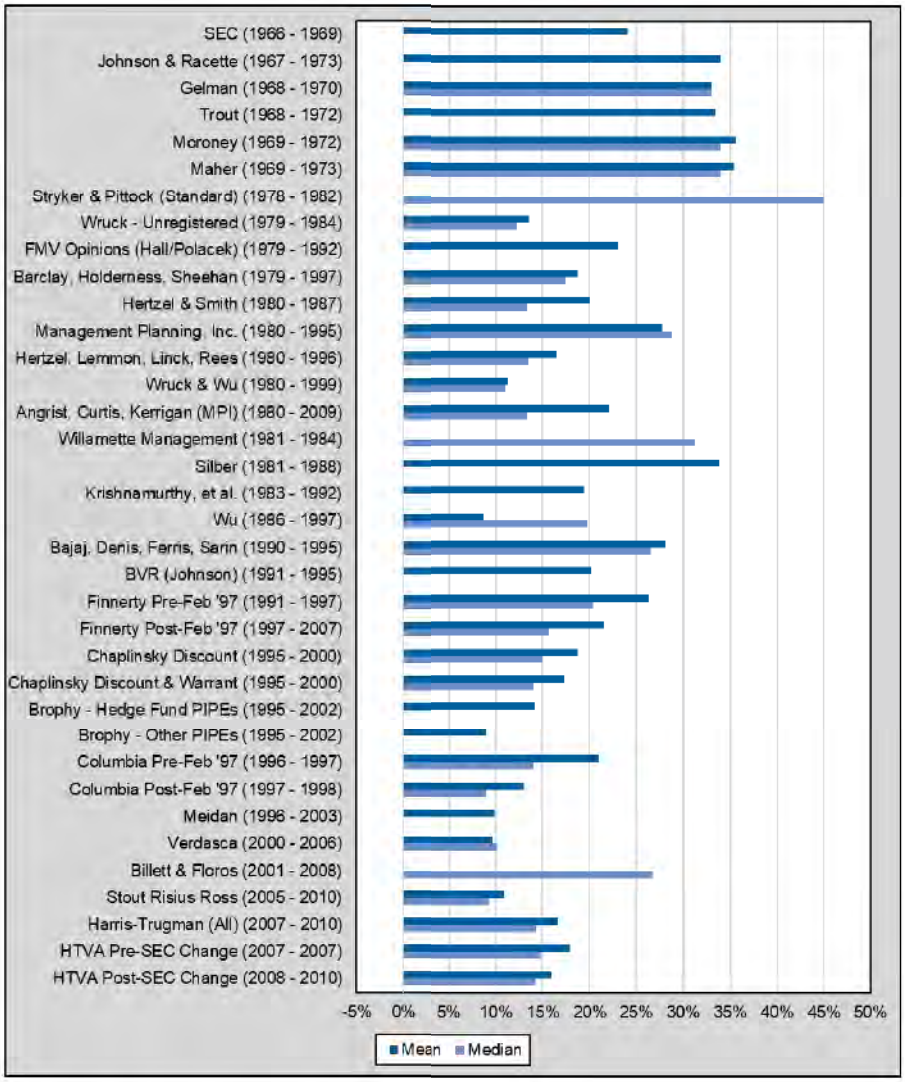
This conclusion of value implies a discount for lack of control (DLOC) of 99.2%, calculated as the concluded marketable value of the Subject Interest divided by the NAV of CLO HoldCo.[26]

To assess the impact of the discount rate, a sensitivity analysis was performed under the hypothetical assumption that projected distributions followed the risk profile of a risk-free perpetual bond with identical expected cash flows. In this scenario, a 4.65% discount rate, equivalent to the 30-year US Treasury yield as of the Valuation Date, was applied. Under this assumption, the minority, marketable value of the Subject Interest would be $44.7 million, resulting in an implied DLOC of 83.4%. However, this analysis does not reflect the substantial risks associated with the Subject Interest.

[26] Discounts for lack of control are applied based on the premise that an asset or interest in an entity in which an owner lacks decision making control would sell for less to a hypothetical buyer than an identical asset or interest which the same owner controls. Lack of control removes the investor's ability to make key decisions, including how to best manage the business, whether and how much cash to distribute to shareholders, or whether to pursue an acquisition or sale of the business.

CONCLUSION OF VALUE - SUBJECT INTEREST

Based on the methodologies presented in this analysis, it is our opinion that the value of the Subject Interest on a minority and marketable basis, as of the Valuation Date, can reasonably be stated as $2,045,531.



DISCOUNT FOR LACK OF MARKETABILITY

A discount for lack of marketability (DLOM) is necessary to determine the fair market value of the Subject Interest, as it cannot be readily sold or liquidated in an active market. The absence of a public exchange and transfer restrictions further constrain liquidity. A review of restricted stock studies was conducted to support the DLOM, examining the price differences between freely traded shares and comparable shares with resale restrictions. These studies provide empirical evidence of the impact of illiquidity on value, reinforcing the rationale for applying a marketability discount.

Restricted Stock Studies

The restricted stock studies reviewed included data from 1966 through 2010. The studies analyzed the difference in prices between publicly traded stock and restricted stocks of the same entity. The restricted stocks were identical to the traded stock except for marketability. A summary of the mean and median discounts of the restricted stock studies is presented in the following figure.

Summary of Restricted Stock Studies

SEC Institutional Investor Study[27]

The SEC Institutional Investor Study is a comprehensive restricted stock study with 398 transactions from January 1, 1966, through October 22, 1969. The study analyzed differences in discounts based on the following categories: trading market, type of institution purchasing the security, transaction size, sales of the issuer, and earnings of the issuer. The study found significant differences in discounts for type of exchange, sales, and earnings of the issuer. Stocks listed on the major exchanges had lower discounts than smaller exchanges and over-the-counter stocks. The study found higher discounts for companies with smaller sales and lower earnings.

Johnson & Racette Study[28]

Richard Johnson and George Racette performed a study on restricted securities purchased by registered investment companies between 1967 and 1973. The study included 86 observations sent from 75 investment companies that met the selection criteria. Johnson and Racette's analysis indicated an average marketability discount of 34%, in line with the range with the most common observations of 30-40%.

Gelman Study[29]

Milton Gelman of National Economic Research Associates, Inc. conducted a study of 89 restricted stock transactions executed by four investment companies from 1968 to 1970. The investment companies were formed in 1968 to specialize in restricted securities. A significant portion of the funds of the investment companies were invested in restricted stock transactions consisting of shares of large and small companies listed on large and small exchanges, over the counter, purchased directly from the companies, or from selling stockholders. Gelman's analysis found mean and median discounts of approximately 33%. In addition, 59% of the transactions had discounts of 30% or more and 36% of the transactions had discounts of 40% or more.

Trout Study[30]

Robert R. Trout, a principal of Trout, Shulman & Associates, analyzed 60 transactions involving the purchase of restricted stock by mutual funds from 1968 to 1972. Trout performed a regression analysis to determine the relationship between discounts and certain variables such as exchange listing, number of shares outstanding, and transaction size relative to total outstanding shares. Trout's findings suggested an intercept or implied mean and median discount of 43.5%.

Moroney Study[31]

Robert E. Moroney of Moroney, Beissner & Co. in Houston presented his restricted stock study to the Texas CPA Tax Institute in November 1972. The study was subsequently published in 1973. The analysis focused on 146 transactions in restricted securities by 10 registered investment companies. The discounts ranged from a 30% premium to a 90% discount with a mean and median discount of 35.8% and 32.8%, respectively.

Maher Study[32]

Michael Maher, a former estate and gift tax agent with the Internal Revenue Service, published his study results in 1976. The study observed discounts for 34 restricted stock transactions from 1966 to 1973. The results of his study suggested a mean discount for his total and adjusted analyses of 35.4% and 34.7%, respectively.

Standard Research Consultants Study[33]

A 1983 study by two Standard Research consultants, William F. Pittock and Charles H. Stryker, CPA, observed discounts relating to 28 private placements of common stock from October 1978 to June 1982. The discounts varied from 7% to 91% with a median of 45%. The results of the study tend to suggest higher discounts for companies with smaller revenues.

Wruck Study[34]

Karen Wruck's Harvard University study on firm value analyzed 83 sales of unregistered securities from 1979 to 1984, 37 of which were observable and included in the study's sample. On average, the offering price of the unregistered securities was set at 86.5% of the market price of the stock on the day before the announcement, indicating a discount of 13.5%. The median discount indicated was similar at 12.2%.

FMV Opinions Study[35]

The FMV Study included over 230 transactions from 1980 through April 1997, the date of the most recent amendment of Rule 144. The mean and median discounts were 22.3% and 20.1%, respectively. The authors of the study made the following generalization regarding their analysis:

- Companies with higher revenues resulted in lower discounts and vice versa
- Companies with unrestricted stock traded on exchanges exhibited lower discounts
- Discounts were higher for blocks exceeding 10% of ownership
- Discounts for companies with capitalization under $50 million ranged from 30% to 40%

Barclay, Holderness, Sheehan Study[36]

Michael J. Barclay, Clifford G. Holderness, and Dennis P. Sheehan's study observed private placements of large-percentage blocks of stock from 1980 to 1996. Specifically, the study analyzed private placements to a variety of different types of investors, namely active investors, passive investors, and management. Active investors were found to be willing to pay higher prices in their placements, indicating lower discounts, while management placements had the highest discounts, although they were found to not have a statistically significant difference from private placements. In total, the average discount across all private placements was 18.7% while the median discount was 17.4%.

Hertzel & Smith Study[37]

A 1993 study by Michael Hertzel and Richard L. Smith analyzed private placements between 1980 between 1987. The study's sample included private placements of 106 companies listed on the NYSE and AMEX exchanges as well as OTC firms. While the mean and median indicated discounts were 20% and 13%, respectively, more than 35% of the private placements observed had discounts greater than 25%.

Management Planning Study[38]

Management Planning, Inc. published the results of a study performed from 1980-1996 by Robert P. Oliver, ASA and Roy H. Meyers, ASA, CFA. They started with a base on 231 transactions and looked at discounts from the total sample, discounts from 53 transactions without registration rights, and discounts from 27 transactions with registration rights. A summary of the mean and median discounts from their study is presented in the following table.

Results of Management Planning Study

Discount	Entire Sample of 231 Transactions	53 Transactions without Registration Rights	27 Transactions with Registration Rights
Low	N/A	3.0%	N/A
Mean	29.0%	27.0%	12.8%
Median	28.0%	25.0%	9.1%
High	N/A	58.0%	N/A

The authors cite the difference between discounts with and without registration rights as evidence of the lack of marketability on an investment. Certain factors were also cited by the authors as the most influential in determining discounts. The factors include:

- Companies with higher revenues tend to have lower discounts
- Companies with higher earnings tend to have lower discounts
- Higher per share prices tend to have lower discounts
- Lower price volatility tends to result in lower discounts
- Block sizes representing a higher percentage of average trading volume tend to have higher discounts
- Large dollar blocks tend to have lower discounts

Hertzel, Lemmon, Linck, Rees Study[39]

A 2001 study by Michael Hertzel, Michael Lemmon, James Linck, and Lynn Rees analyzed private placements from 1980 to 1996. A total of 619 private placements were ultimately selected for the sample, which primarily consisted of small-cap, technology companies as 79% of the sample companies were traded on the NASDAQ exchange and the mean market value of equity for the companies was $188 million. Of the 619 private placements in the sample, 404 had sufficient information and disclosures to determine relevant discounts. The study indicated a mean discount of 16.5% and a median discount of 13.4%.

Wruck & Wu Study[40]

A study by Karen Wruck and YiLin Wu in 2008 supplemented Ms. Wruck's 1989 study and analyzed private placements of companies between 1980 and 1999. 1,976 private placements were selected in the sample. Of these, 1,854 had data for observed discounts. The study found a mean discount of 11.33% and a median discount of 10.96%.

Angrist, Curtis, Kerrigan (MPI) Study[41]

A study by Ezra Angrist, Harry Curtis, III, CFA, ASA, and Daniel Kerrigan, CFA in 2011 grouped a total of 402 transactions of unregistered stock into four groups based on the timing of the issuances in respect to the changes in holding period restrictions per Rule 144 as follows:

Results of Angrist, Curtis, Kerrigan (MPI) Study

Period	Observations	Mean Discount	Median Discount
Pre-1990	79	30.5%	32.3%
1990 - Apr 1997	110	25.1%	22.5%
May '97 - Feb '08	164	20.8%	16.6%
Feb '08 - Dec '08	49	5.9%	5.0%
Total	402	22.1%	19.6%

Results of the study show that as restriction periods have declined, so have discounts.

Willamette Management Associates Study[42]

Willamette performed an analysis of 33 private placements of restricted stock from January 1, 1981 through May 27, 1984. There was a brief overlap in the latter part of the period included in the Standard Research Consultants Study. The Willamette study resulted in a mean discount of 31.2%.

Silber Study[43]

William L. Silber, a professor of finance and economics at the Stern School of Business at New York University analyzed 69 private placements from 1981 through 1989. Silber's study results ranged from a 12.7% premium to an 84% discount with a mean discount of 33.8%. Silber also cited in his findings that discounts are larger when the block of restricted stock is large relative to the total shares outstanding and the dollar size is inversely related to the discount.

Krishnamurthy, et al. Study[44]

Srinivasan Krishnamurthy, Pual Spindt, Venkat Subramaniam, and Tracie Woidtke's 2001 study analyzed private placements from 1983 to 1992. The study performed different discount calculations for the following classifications: 1) restricted shares, 2) shares with registration pending, 3) shares not known to be restricted, and 4) shares with pending registration or not known to be restricted (groups 2 and 3 combined). The mean discounts for Groups 1-4 were 34.0%, 23.3%, 15.4%, and 16.0%, respectively. The overall mean discount was 19.4%.

Wu Study[45]

YiLin Wu's study on private placements was published in the Journal of Financial Economics in 2004. The study analyzed 301 private placements taking place from 1986 to 1997. Mean and median discounts of 8.7% and 19.8%, respectively, were observed.

Bajaj Study[46]

The Bajaj study expands on previous restricted stock studies, namely by Wruck and by Hertzel and Smith. This study analyzed 88 private placements occurring between 1990 and 1995. The 88 observations revealed results ranging from a premium of approximately 14% to a discount of 68%, with mean and discounts of 22% and 21%, respectively. The authors note four characteristics to consider regarding the target firm and private placement itself when analyzing discounts: the percentage of total shares offered, business risk, financial distress, and total proceeds.

Johnson Study (Business Valuation Review)[47]

Bruce A. Johnson, ASA of Munroe, Park & Johnson conducted a restricted stock study from 1991 to 1995. The study included 72 private placements with results varying from a 10% premium to a 60% discount with a mean discount of 20%. Johnson also cited four important factors to consider when evaluating potential discounts: positive net income, sales volume, transaction value, and net income strength.

Finnerty Study[48]

John D. Finnerty, professor of finance at Fordham University, performed two studies to compare the impact of the changes in law regarding restriction periods for private placements that occurred in 1997 and 2008. The first study focused on private placements from 1991 to 1997 and resulted in mean and median discounts of 26% and 20%, respectively. The second study focused on private placements from 1997 to 2008 and resulted in mean and median discounts of 22% and 16%, respectively.

Chaplinsky Purchase Discount and Warrant Study[49]

Susan Chaplinsky's and David Haushalter's 2010 study analyzed private placements with a concentration on contract terms. The study asserts that companies that are riskier and have poorer performance more commonly have private placement contracts with contingency terms rather than just offering a pure discount. The indicated mean discount considering only the purchase discount was 19%, and the median was 15%. The indicated mean discount considering purchase discounts as well as warrants was 17%, and the median was 14%.

Brophy PIPE Study[50]

David J. Brophy, Paige P. Ouimet, and Clemens Sialm of the University of Michigan performed a 2006 study that compared the effects of issuing private placements to hedge fund investors versus other investors. The study indicated a mean discount of 14% when private placements were issued to hedge funds, but the mean discount when the issuance involved other investors was just 9%.

Columbia Financial Advisors Study[51]

This study focused on the effect of the Rule 144 holding period reduction to one year. The study considered two periods: January 1, 1996, to April 30, 1997, and May 1, 1997, to December 31, 1998. The one-year holding period became effective April 29, 1997. A summary of the study results is presented in the following table.

Summary of Columbia Financial Advisors Study

	January 1, 1996 to April 30, 1997	May 1, 1997 to December 31, 1998
Number of Transactions	23	15
Low	0.8%	0.0%
Mean	21.0%	13.0%
Median	N/A	9.0%

Meidan Study[52]

Danny Meidan's 2006 study observed PIPE transactions between 1996 and 2003. The study categorized a total of 1,726 total private placement transactions into three groups: placements issued at discounts greater than 30%, placements issued between a 30% discount and 5% premium, and placements issued at a premium greater than 5%. The majority of these transactions fell into the 30% discount to 5% premium category at 1,278 placements, or roughly 74% of the total sample. The weighted average of the mean discounts was calculated as 9.8%.

Verdasca Study[53]

Andrew Verdasca of the Leonard N. Stern School of Business of New York University performed a 2007 study on a sample of 771 private placement transactions. The study found a discount range from a 78% discount to a 93% premium, but both the mean and median results indicated discounts of approximately 10%.

Billett & Floros Study[54]

Matthew T. Billett and Ioannis V. Floros' 2012 study focuses on two key features of financial relationships, contract terms and investor identity, in regard to private placements between 2001 and 2008. These factors were found to both complement and substitute for the other depending on individual circumstances. By analyzing 12,004 transactions in the PlacementTracker and PrivateRaise databases, the study concluded a median discount of 26.7%.

Stout Risius Ross Study[55]

Aaron M. Stumpf, CPA/ABV, Robert L. Martinez, and Christopher T. Stallman of the valuation firm Stout Risius Ross performed a study of restricted stock transactions from September 2005 through May 2010, focusing on discounts associated with shorter holding periods. The chosen time period includes transactions both before and after Rule 144 implementation. The study found that for all transactions considered, the average and median discounts were 10.9% and 9.3%, respectively. Stout Risius Ross also found that the most significant and reliable factors influencing discounts were subject company volatility, block size, dividends, profitability, growth, and size.

Harris-Trugman Study[56]

William Harris, AM of Trugman Valuation Associates, Inc.'s study was performed to analyze the impact of the economic recession on implied restricted stock discounts and the statistical relationships between implied restricted stock discounts and various company-specific variables. The study originally included 80 transactions of restricted stock sales that took place in 2007-2008. Due to the volatility of the Rule 144 holding period implementation, an additional 56 transactions were included in 2011. For the 47 transactions that took place prior to Rule 144 implementation, the average and median discounts were 17.9% and 14.8%, respectively. The 89 transactions analyzed after the rule implantation had average and median discounts of 15.9% and 14.3%, respectively. The overall group indicated mean and median discounts of 16.6% and 14.3%, respectively. The Harris-Trugman study noted that the only company-specific variable that had a notable statistical relationship with the implied discounts was volatility.

Summary of Restricted Stock Studies

The restricted stock studies previously mentioned were performed based on data from 1966 to 2010. Reported mean discounts range from 8.7% to 35.6%. The average of reported mean discounts was 20.8%, while the median was 19.4%. Reported median discounts range from 9.0% to 45.0%. The average of reported median discounts was 19.9%, while the median was 15.3%.

Some of the variation in the studies has to do with the specific periods analyzed. Prior to April 1997, the SEC-required holding period for restricted stocks was two years. That was decreased to one year on April 29, 1997. Similarly, the holding period was reduced from one year to six months effective February 15, 2008.

The following table shows the summary statistics for studies based upon the period studied.

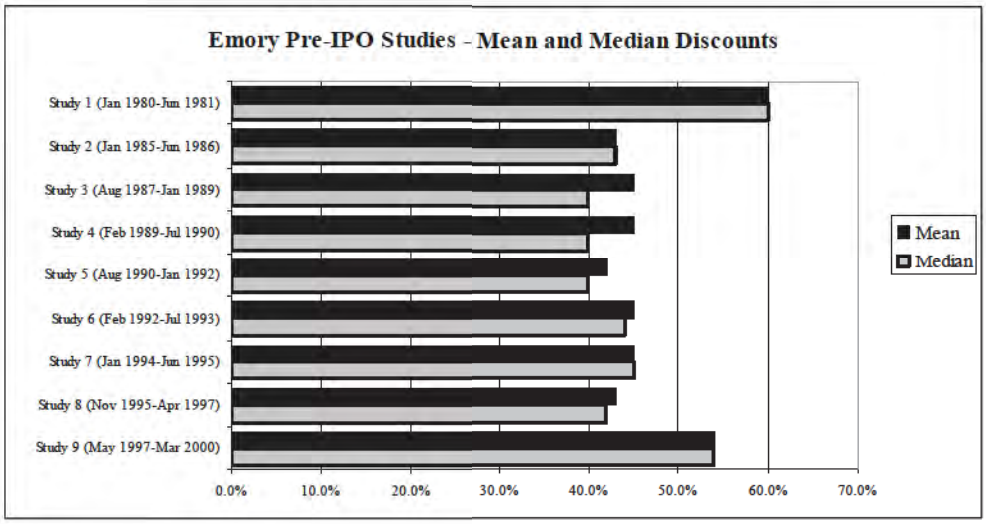
PRE-IPO STUDIES



In recent years, a number of pre-IPO studies were performed to support marketability discounts. The methodology applied in these studies is based on the initial offering price (the price prior to public trading). This price is reduced by the price per share at the time of the last private transaction (which must be less than five months prior to the initial offering to qualify for the study) and adjusted by an appropriate index to account for related market or sector movements over the five-month period. The resulting amount is divided by the initial offering price to arrive at the appropriate discount. The pre-IPO methodology of determining marketability discounts is a relevant method as private stockholders experience an inability to freely sell their stock in the open market, similar to restricted stockholders. Furthermore, private stockholders differ from unrestricted public stockholders, much like restricted stockholders, because there is not a public forum in which investments can be easily liquidated (which is only one of the differences between private and public stockholders).

Emory Studies

John Emory, Sr., ASA began his pre-IPO studies with Baird & Co. and continued his studies with his own firm, Emory Business Valuation, LLC. Emory has completed nine studies with the original published in June 1986. The first eight studies eliminated development-stage companies, companies with historical operating losses and companies with IPO prices less than $5 per share. The ninth study deviated from the previous studies as follows:

- Included only companies with "com" in their names
- Review period was increased from 18 months in the previous studies to 35 months
- All transactions were actual sales as opposed to the previous studies that included options
- Most of the companies did not have earnings

The study consisted of 53 transactions. The mean and median discounts by study are presented in the following chart.

Willamette Management Associates Pre-IPO Study

This study observed 556 companies and 1,007 transactions from 1975 through 1997. The adjusted mean discount[57] for each time period varied from 28.9% to 56.8%. The mean for the entire review period was 44.2%. The median discount range was from 31.8% to 73.1% with the overall median at 50.4%. The Willamette study found the standard mean discount was greater than 35% for all but three of the 14 periods in the study and that median discounts exceeded 40% in all but one year.

Valuation Advisors Pre-IPO Study

Two studies were conducted by Valuation Advisors for the calendar years of 1999 and 2000. The mean discount of these studies was 48.9%. The key feature of this study was the inclusion of holding period based upon the length of time between the private transaction and the IPO. The study confirmed the author's initial hypothesis that higher discounts accompany longer holding periods.

APPLICATION OF RESTRICTED STOCK STUDIES TO THE SUBJECT INTEREST

While there are potential application problems associated with various studies, especially the pre-IPO studies, a review of these studies is helpful in assessing a reasonable marketability discount for the Subject Interest. The mean and median discounts from the restricted stock studies ranged from 9% to 45%. The findings of the restricted stock studies as well as additional private placement studies by Hertzel and Smith suggest discounts can vary greatly depending on size, profitability and other company or security specific factors.

57 Excluded highest and lowest deciles of indicated discounts

The latest restricted stock studies indicate mean and median marketability discounts in 14% range. We view the latest restricted stock studies as shorter term and therefore have taken the full sample of restricted stock studies into account in our analysis. Our analysis compares these interests to the comparable transactions and makes adjustments from the baseline discounts noted in the comparable transactions. Since the latest one-year study does not measure restricted securities with similar hold periods relative to the vast majority of other discount studies and since it has a relatively small sample size, we relied upon all the restricted stock studies' findings as the basis for our comparison.

The pre-IPO studies may be less indicative of appropriate marketability discounts, as much of the differences in the transaction prices between pre-IPO and IPO may include event premiums, such as the securing of additional capital which promotes the viability of the company. We did not use these studies for our analysis.

Factors Affecting Marketability

Based on the SEC Study, we noticed that as company size and profitability decreases, the marketability discount associated with restricted stock in these companies increase. We also note that various other factors affected discounts observed in the other studies. Most notably, the following affect marketability discounts:

- Increase in dividend payment decreases marketability discounts
- Increase in the size of interest and amount of control decreases discounts
- Increase in financial strength of the company decreases discounts
- Increase in restrictions increases marketability discounts

Given the characteristics of size, lack of distribution history, etc., we concluded a 20.8% marketability discount, with a standard deviation of 8.2%, as the baseline observed from all the restricted stock studies we reviewed.

DISCOUNT ADJUSTMENT DISCUSSION

In the following sections, we adjust the marketability discount to reflect the attributes of the Subject Interest.

The analysis originates with the baseline discount concluded in the previous section. Then, our analysis reviews several factors that affect marketability for both the interests being valued and the comparable interest which provides the base of comparison. Each interest is assigned a ranking from 1 to 5 (from Poor to Strong) based upon the respective feature. Then, the feature ranking for the Subject Interest is subtracted from the feature ranking from the comparable interest. This results in a range of outputs from -4 to +4

(from significantly worse to significantly better). The output is then multiplied by the standard deviation of the restricted stock studies (lack of marketability) to give an indication as to the adjustment necessary to the baseline discount based upon this feature. An importance factor (from low to high) is also attributed to each feature to provide a final scaling factor for the specific feature.

Once the individual feature scaling factors are computed, the baseline discounts are adjusted upward and downward by multiplying the baseline discount by the product of all relevant feature scaling factors.

SUBJECT INTEREST DISCOUNT CALCULATION

Adjustment Analysis – Marketability

The Subject Interest is characterized by a lack of rights and, is therefore, somewhat riskier and more volatile. The Participation Shares have restrictions on the transfer of their shares and only have a claim in respect of the underlying assets in a winding up.

The 20.8% baseline lack of marketability discount of the comparable investments reflects the discount that would apply to the Subject Interest if it had illiquidity features similar to restricted stock. Since the Subject Interest did not exhibit these exact characteristics, further adjustments were necessary to conclude fair market value.

Schedule C.3 summarizes the differences between the Subject Interest and the comparable investments used in our analysis. Overall, these factors resulted in a modest decrease in the discount from the baseline.

Based on the analyses and procedures outlined herein, we concluded that a lack of marketability discount of 20.0% is appropriate for the Subject Interest.

FAIR MARKET VALUE CONCLUSION

Based on the procedures outlined herein and the corresponding analysis, it is our opinion that the fair market value of the Subject Interest as of the Valuation Date can be reasonably stated as:

$1,637,192
ONE MILLION SIX HUNDRED THIRTY-SEVEN THOUSAND ONE HUNDRED NINETY-TWO DOLLARS

Actual results achieved during the period covered by our prospective financial analysis will vary from those described in our report, and the variations may be material.

Any use of management's projections or forecasts in our analysis will not constitute an examination, review, or compilation of prospective financial statements in accordance with standards established by the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants (AICPA). Such matters, if any, are noted in the report. POTENTIAL FUTURE SALES

Any decisions to purchase, sell, or transfer any interest in the subject company or its subsidiaries shall be your sole responsibility, as well as the structure to be utilized and the price to be accepted.

The selection of the price to be accepted requires consideration of factors beyond the information we will provide or have provided. An actual transaction involving the subject business might be concluded at a higher value or at a lower value, depending upon the circumstances of the transaction and the business and the knowledge and motivations of the buyers and sellers at that time. Due to the economic and individual motivational influences which may affect the sale of a business interest, the appraiser assumes no responsibility for the actual price of any subject business interest if sold or transferred.

Furthermore, the Company agrees to indemnify ValueScope and any Indemnified Party against any losses, claims, damages, judgments, or liabilities incurred as a result of a third party initiating a lawsuit against any Indemnified Party based upon any consulting services rendered to the Company pursuant to this agreement. In consideration for this indemnification agreement, ValueScope will provide professional advisory services.

The Company agrees to reimburse ValueScope and any Indemnified Party for any necessary and reasonable expenses, attorneys' fees, or costs incurred in the enforcement of any part of the indemnity agreement 30 days after receiving written notice from ValueScope.

The obligations of ValueScope under this agreement are solely corporate obligations, and no officer, director, employee, agent, shareholder, or controlling person in ValueScope shall be subjected to any personal liability whatsoever to any person, nor will any such claim be asserted by or on behalf of you or your affiliates.

DLOM Qualitative Scoring

Feature	Restricted Stock	Rating	Discount for Lack of Marketability (DLOM) Analysis	Rating	Advantage
Asset liquidity	Securities examined in marketability studies often are of smaller industrial operating companies, often with poor cash flows.	Fair	A majority of investments are in illiquid securities with poor cash flows. However, CLO HoldCo has approximately $91 million in net cash, representing approximately 34% of net asset value.	Strong	Better
Cash flow expectations	Restricted securities typically have a lower likelihood of paying dividends since they are associated with emerging companies.	Fair	Distributions are entirely dependent on director discretion as to the timing and amount. Distributions are not required. Howevever, regular distributions have been made over the last five years.	Good	Slightly better
Contingent liabilities	Moderate probability of contingent liabilities depending on type of company and size. Smaller companies can fall prey to securities litigation.	Fair	Higher probability of contingent liabilities. The Company and CLO HoldCo has been engaged in numerous litigation matters.	Weak	Slightly worse
Debt capacity	Company leverage is usually on the higher side, as they are typically in the emerging stage.	Weak	CLO HoldCo has a small amount of debt representing 15% of net asset value.	Good	Better
Redemption/ withdrawal	No redemption rights.	Poor	No redemption rights.	Poor	Equal
Transfer restrictions	Transfer restrictions are limited to securities laws, with holding periods of two years. Holding period was shortened to one year in 1997, but studies generally relate to two year holds. Once the restriction time period is complete, no restrictions on transfer exist. Markets are liquid for non-restricted shares.	Fair	Transfers must be approved by the directors.	Poor	Worse
Value of entity	Companies range in size, however, restricted securities are more commonly utilized by smaller companies in the development stage. Approximately 50 percent of the companies issuing restricted stock included in the Silber study had sales less than $40 million.	Fair	Participating shareholders have no direct rights to the underlying net asset value other than in a winding up. CLO HoldCo is expected to generate revenue well in excess of the expected distributions.	Good	Slightly better
Value of interest	Purchasers of restricted securities tend to be institutional or private investors that are active in the public markets. The analysis associated with these types of securities precludes small holders from purchasing. Size of interests tend to be moderate.	Fair	Participation shareholders are small, private foundations. The foundations must be 501c3 non-profit organizations. At the director's discretion, participating shareholders may be diluted through the issuance of additional participation shares to non-existing participating shareholders.	Poor	Worse

DLOM Footnotes and Comments

A) Our comparison matrix ranks the features of the Subject Interest and the comparable interests on a scale from 1 to 5.
1 = Poor 2 = Weak 3 = Fair 4 = Good 5 = Excellent
We then subtract the Subject Interest feature score from the comparable feature score to determine the advantage.
0 = Equal 1 = Slightly Better 2 = Better 3 = Much Better 4 = Significantly Better
-1 = Slightly Worse -2 = Worse -3 = Much Worse -4 = Significantly Worse

B) B is calculated as the weighted average standard deviation of the comparable investments in closed end funds multiplied by the Advantage Score.

C) The importance of the feature is assessed.
1 = Low 2 = Medium 3 = High

D) Weights are allocated as follows:
Low = 25% Medium = 50% High = 100%

E) To compute the adjustment, B is multiplied by D.

F) The scaling adjustment is computed as 1+E if E > 0 or 1/(1-E) if E < 0 for the particular feature.

G) The net scaling adjustment for marketability factors is the product of all marketability features' scaling adjustments.

H) The net scaling adjustment for control factors is the product of all control features' scaling adjustments.

I) This is the concluded baseline marketability discount determined for comparable investments.

J) This is the baseline marketability discount multiplied by the scaling factor.

K) This is the concluded baseline minority interest discount determined for comparable investments.

RE: Valuation Analysis of 100 Participation Shares of Charitable DAF HoldCo, Ltd

Dear Mr. Patrick:

Pursuant to your request, we were retained to perform an independent valuation analysis to determine the fair market value of 100 participation shares (the "Subject Interest") out of an assumed 305 participation shares of Charitable DAF HoldCo, Ltd ("DAF" or the "Company") as of September 30, 2024 (the "Valuation Date"). ValueScope has not independently verified the total number of participation shares outstanding.[1] This valuation analysis was conducted for internal reporting purposes. No other use for this analysis is intended or should be inferred.

DEFINITION AND PREMISE OF VALUE

The standard of value is fair market value. Fair market value is defined by IRS Revenue Ruling 59-60, 1959-1 C.B. 237 as the price at which the property would change hands between a willing buyer and a willing seller when the former is not under any compulsion to buy and the latter is not under any compulsion to sell, both parties having reasonable knowledge of relevant facts.

To develop our conclusion of value for the Subject Interest, we considered all of the factors listed in Revenue Ruling 59-60. These factors include:

1. The nature of the business and its history from inception.
2. The economic outlook in general and the condition and outlook of the specific industry in which it operates.
3. The book value and the financial condition of the business.
4. The earning capacity of the business.
5. The dividend-paying capacity of the business.
6. Whether the enterprise had goodwill or other intangible value.

[1] The Subject Interest is assumed to effectively represent approximately 32.8% of all participation shares.

7. The market prices of the stocks of corporations engaged in the same or similar line of business having their stocks actively traded on an exchange or over the counter.
8. The marketability, or lack thereof, of the securities.

The premise of value followed herein is going concern.[2] The liquidation premise of value was considered and rejected as not applicable because the going-concern value results in a "highest and best use" value for the interest.

SCOPE OF WORK

To gain an understanding of DAF's operations, we reviewed the Company's financial and operational data and spoke with the Company's advisors. To understand the environment in which DAF operates, we researched relevant information concerning the collateralized debt industry. We also studied economic conditions as of the Valuation Date and their impact on DAF and the industry.

We valued the Company in accordance with generally accepted valuation standards and included such valuation tests and procedures that we considered necessary under the circumstances. Our conclusion of value reflects these findings, our judgment and knowledge of the marketplace, and our expertise in valuation.

In performing our work, we were provided with and/or relied upon various sources of information, including (but not limited to):

- Financial statements for the Company as of September 30, 2024
- The Memorandum and Articles of Association of Charitable DAF HoldCo, Ltd
- Information regarding the Company's history and current operations

We relied on information received as indicative of the Company as of the Valuation Date. We made limited investigation as to the accuracy and completeness of such information and did not verify this information as part of our valuation. Therefore, we express no opinion or other form of assurance regarding the accuracy of the source data. Our analysis was based in part on this information, as well as on other data we developed.

[2] The International Glossary of Business Valuation Terms defines "Going Concern" as "an ongoing operating business enterprise," and "Going Concern Value" as "the value of a business enterprise that is expected to continue to operate into the future. The intangible elements of going concern value result from factors such as having a trained workforce, an operational plant, and the necessary licenses, systems, and procedures in place."

CONCLUSION OF VALUE

Based on the procedures outlined herein and the corresponding analysis, it is our opinion that the fair market value of the Subject Interest as of the Valuation Date can be reasonably stated as:

$75,961,370
SEVENTY-FIVE MILLION NINE HUNDRED SIXTY-ONE THOUSAND THREE HUNDRED SEVENTY DOLLARS

ECONOMIC AND INDUSTRY OVERVIEW

OVERVIEW OF THE U.S. ECONOMY

In the second quarter of 2024, the US economy experienced positive growth that surpassed the pace of the first quarter. Inflation has moderated significantly from its peak of 8.99% in June 2022 to 2.59% by August 2024, reflecting progress toward the Federal Reserve's inflation target. After an extended period of elevated interest rates to curb inflation, recent data pointed to a cooling labor market and continued price stability, prompting the Fed to cut rates by 50 basis points. The steady rate hikes initiated in 2023 led to an inverted yield curve, suggesting investor expectations of an economic slowdown. Nevertheless, US stock markets have gained momentum, with indices closing higher year-over-year, supported by declining inflation and anticipated further monetary easing.

Gross Domestic Product[5]

Real gross domestic product (GDP) increased at an annual rate of 3.0 percent in the second quarter of 2024, following an increase of 1.6 percent in the first quarter. The acceleration in real GDP in the second quarter primarily reflected accelerations in consumer spending, private inventory investment, and nonresidential fixed investment. These movements were partly offset by a deceleration in residential fixed investment. Imports increased.

Population

Population growth is an important driver of long-term growth in an economy. The total population increased from 335.4 million in August 2023 to 337.2 million in August 2024.[6] The working-age population (15-64) increased from 208.7 million in August 2023 to 208.9 million in August 2024.[7]

Labor force participation had a sharp decline at the onset of the COVID-19 pandemic. It partially recovered in just several months and has been trending upward/flat. In August 2023, the civilian labor force participation rate was 62.8% and stands at 62.7% as of August 2024.[8]

Employment

Nonfarm payroll employment, according to the Bureau of Labor Statistics (BLS), rose by 142,000 in August 2024 and the unemployment rate increased slightly to 4.2 percent. Job gains occurred in construction and healthcare.

The U6 unemployment rate, which includes all marginally attached workers and those employed part-time for economic reasons, increased from 7.1% in August 2023 to 7.9% in August 2024.[9]

Forecasters surveyed by the Federal Reserve Bank of Philadelphia predicted the unemployment rate will be 4.2% for both 2026 and 2027.

Inflation

According to the BLS, The Consumer Price Index for All Urban Consumers (CPI-U) increased 0.2 percent in August on a seasonally adjusted basis, after the same increase in July. Over the last 12 months, the all-items index increased 2.5 percent before seasonal adjustment.[10]

The index for shelter rose 0.5 percent in August and was the main factor in the all items increase. The food index increased 0.1 percent in August, after rising 0.2 percent in July. The index for food away from home rose 0.3 percent over the month, while the index for food at home was unchanged. The energy index fell 0.8 percent over the month, after being unchanged in the preceding month.

The price pressures measure estimates the probability that the personal consumption expenditures price index inflation rate will exceed 2.5% over the next twelve months. This price pressures measure has declined significantly since a year ago, August 2023, declining from 88.97% to 24.05% in August 2024[11].The forecasters predict current-quarter headline CPI inflation will average 2.3 percent at an annual rate, down from the prediction of 2.8 percent in the previous survey[12].

Construction & Housing Starts

Construction spending and housing starts are two other important indicators for the economy. Construction spending may indicate the sentiment in real estate markets and the soundness of the economy while housing starts are an alternative indicator of consumer sentiment. Increases in demand for newly constructed homes can lead to job growth in the construction industry, increased demand for appliances and furniture, and have ripple effects throughout the economy. Housing starts increased from 1.305 million units in August 2023 to 1.356 million units in August 2024.[19] Construction spending, a seasonally adjusted annual figure, increased from $2.05 trillion in August 2023 to $2.13 trillion in August 2024.[20]

Consumer Confidence

The University of Michigan Survey of Consumers reported that the Index of Consumer Sentiment has decreased from 69.40 a year ago in August 2023 to 67.90 in August 2024. Although it has declined slightly from a year ago, the index is still well below the pre-COVID high of 101.0 in February 2020.[21] The index is based on a survey of consumer perceptions of present economic conditions and expectations of future conditions. The survey is based on a sample of 500 phone interviews consisting of 50 core questions conducted across the continental U.S. This is considered a leading indicator of future consumer expenditures and economic activity.

OVERVIEW OF THE PRIVATE EQUITY, HEDGE FUNDS & INVESTMENT VEHICLES INDUSTRY[22]

This industry is composed of private equity funds, hedge funds, closed-end funds, unit investment trusts and other financial vehicles. Entities in this industry manage securities or other assets on behalf of shareholders, unit holders or other beneficiaries to achieve high returns on targeted investments. This industry excludes insurance and employee-benefit funds, open-end investment funds and trusts, estates and agency accounts.

Executive Summary

In recent years, industry assets have become increasingly integral to institutional investors' portfolios and the larger asset-management market. Institutional investors are individuals or organizations that trade securities in such substantial volumes that they qualify for lower commissions and fewer protective regulations since it's assumed that they're knowledgeable enough to protect themselves. Increasing demand from institutional investors has contributed to the surge in the industry's assets under management (AUM) and revenue during the current period.

In recent years, the industry has continued to enmesh itself more deeply within the broader financial ecosystem despite challenges posed by the COVID-19 pandemic in 2020 and 2021. The pandemic, mainly in the first quarter of 2020, contributed to revenue declines for many operators. Many portfolios, previously thought to be sound investments, were reevaluated, and businesses pivoted their strategies due to the unprecedented nature of the crisis. In the past five years, industry revenue grew at a CAGR of 4.0% to $312.2 billion, including 5.2% in 2024 alone, when profit will increase to 48.9%.

Industry revenue will grow at a CAGR of 4.2% to $383.6 billion over the five years to 2029, when profit will rise to 50.5%. The Federal Reserve is increasing interest rates to quell historically high inflation. These higher interest rates are reducing liquidity in the markets. Private equity firms and hedge funds will have more difficulty raising capital for investments. As characteristics of the financial system change in light of post-financial crisis banking regulations and regulators' recognition of the importance of hedge funds within the financial system, hedge funds will likely experience heightened oversight.

Industry Performance

The Federal Reserve has increased interest rates to combat rampant inflation, which has surged due to persistent supply chain issues and a global energy crisis. After lowering rates to historic lows in response to the COVID-19 pandemic, the Fed began raising them in 2022, with the current target rate ranging from 5.25% to 5.50%. These higher rates are reducing liquidity in financial markets, compelling private equity and hedge funds to seek new methods of raising capital, while those unable to adapt are exiting the industry. The previous decade's low-interest-rate environment had been advantageous for these investment vehicles, as it led investors to shift away from fixed-income and credit securities in favor of potentially higher returns. With more accessible funds during that period, fundraising activity surged, and those who capitalized on lower rates are currently benefiting from reduced interest payments and enhanced returns.

Simultaneously, there is a growing interest in Environmental, Social, and Governance (ESG) factors among investors who wish to align their investments with their values. This shift has led private equity firms and hedge fund managers to increasingly incorporate ESG considerations into their investment strategies. For instance, investments are now evaluated for their long-term environmental impact. Investors are also demanding that companies disclose information about their environmental and social performance. In response, private equity firms and hedge funds are diversifying their workforces and integrating ESG principles into their organizational frameworks.

Moreover, minority stakes are becoming more common in private equity firms. As internal competition intensifies, firms are diversifying their investments and establishing smaller, targeted funds, driven by a decrease in liquidity. The significant volatility in prominent markets like the S&P 500 during the COVID-19 pandemic encouraged companies to acquire minority stakes either in other companies or investments. There is a trend towards large private equity groups acquiring minority stakes in one another, as firms seek creative strategies to unlock potential investments. Changes in management types, with CEOs preferring to retain control while leveraging private equity expertise for growth, have also contributed to this trend.

Finally, technology and data analytics are increasingly being utilized by private equity firms and hedge funds to enhance their investment processes. These firms are employing machine learning algorithms to analyze vast amounts of data—such as financial statements, news articles, and social media posts—to uncover trends and insights not immediately visible to human analysts. Additionally, some are automating back-office functions like accounting and compliance using artificial intelligence (AI), which improves task processing and operational efficiency.

Industry Outlook

The Federal Reserve's ongoing battle against inflation is likely to result in volatile interest rates in the near future. As inflation continues to affect the U.S. economy, the Fed has signaled that it may maintain or further increase interest rates if necessary. These higher rates will reduce market liquidity, making it more challenging for hedge funds and private equity firms to raise capital. Firms that cannot adapt may be forced out of the industry. Typically, investors turn to lower-risk investments, such as bonds, when interest rates are high, which will pose significant obstacles for the industry due to decreased liquidity and shifting investor preferences. Consequently, hedge funds and private equity firms will need to be more strategic and innovative in finding profitable investments as liquidity tightens.

At the same time, there is a sustained interest in Environmental, Social, and Governance (ESG) factors. Investors are increasingly concerned about the impact of their investments on the environment and society, seeking to align their portfolios with their values. Private equity firms and hedge fund managers are expected to continue integrating ESG considerations into their investment strategies, with climate change effects increasingly influencing investment decisions across various sectors. As environmental conditions worsen, the importance of selecting investments that contribute positively to the environment will grow. Additionally, as the population becomes more diverse, there is an expectation for hedge funds and private equity firms to reflect this diversity in their operations.

The use of technology and data analytics by private equity firms and hedge funds is expected to expand further. These firms will increasingly rely on advanced technology to identify and evaluate potential investments, and to manage and monitor existing portfolios. With the growing dependence on technology, cybersecurity will become increasingly critical, prompting firms to invest more in securing their technological networks. As artificial intelligence (AI) evolves, it will enable hedge funds and private equity firms to analyze extensive data sets in real-time, facilitating more informed trading and investment decisions. Given that data is now considered a crucial asset, industry players will use improved tools to access and analyze data, aiming to discover new investment opportunities.

Moreover, fintech is emerging as an attractive investment area for private equity, hedge funds, and investment vehicles. The rapidly growing fintech and biotechnology sectors, though currently constrained, are poised for future expansion and will likely attract increased investment. The proximity of Silicon Valley and Wall Street offers industry players easy access to cutting-edge technological innovations and robust financial networks, enhancing their ability to invest in promising new ideas. As the distinction between Silicon Valley and Wall Street continues to blur, private equity firms and hedge funds that can sift through the hype to find valuable opportunities will be well-positioned in the evolving fintech landscape.

VALUATION METHODOLOGY

There are three conceptually distinct methodologies that can be applied to estimate indications of value of a business or asset: (a) the income approach, (b) the market approach, and (c) the cost approach.

VALUATION APPROACHES

Income Approach

The income approach quantifies the present value of anticipated future income generated by a business or an asset. Forecasts of future income require analyses of variables that influence income, such as revenues, expenses, and taxes. One form of the income approach, the discounted cash flow (DCF) analysis, defines future economic income as net cash flow and takes into account not only the profit-generating abilities of a business but also the investment in capital equipment and working capital required to sustain the projected net cash flow. The forecasted net cash flow is then discounted to present value using an appropriate rate of return or discount rate. The income approach is unique in its ability to account for the specific contribution to the overall value of various factors of production.

Market Approach

The market approach considers the implied pricing in third-party transactions of comparable businesses or assets. Transactions are analyzed in order to identify pricing patterns or trends that can be used to infer value on the subject business or asset. Adjustments are made to the transaction data to account for relative differences between the subject and the comparable transactions. The primary strength of the market approach is that it offers relatively objective pricing evidence from the market at large and, aside from certain adjustments to the transaction data, requires few assumptions to be made.

Asset-Based (Cost) Approach

The asset-based approach considers the value of a business or security based on the value of its assets net of its liabilities. Replacement cost is often a primary indicator of the value of a business' assets. The asset-based approach is based on the reasoning that a prudent investor would not pay more for a business or asset than the cost to the investor to replace or re-create it. Historical cost data and reported book values are often used as initial indications of value, with certain adjustments made for physical deterioration, obsolescence, input costs, appreciation, or other factors. The asset-based approach makes fewer assumptions than the income approach, but its primary limitation is its inability to capture the value of many categories of intangible assets.

VALUATION METHODS

The following are common valuation methods used under the three approaches:

A. Income Approach
1. Discounted Cash Flow Method (multi-period model)
2. Direct Capitalization Method (single period model)
3. Excess Earnings Method

B. Market Approach
1. Guideline Public Company Method
2. Merger and Acquisition Method

C. Asset-Based Approach
1. Reproduction Cost Method
2. Replacement Cost Method
3. Net Asset Value Method

SUMMARY OF THE VALUATION APPROACHES AND METHODS

For the valuation of non-controlling interests in holding companies such as DAF, the asset-based approach is most commonly used. When applied to such companies, the approach consists of measuring the underlying net asset value (NAV) of an entity (the fair market value of the entity's assets less the fair market value of its liabilities). The NAV is then discounted as appropriate to determine the fair market value of the fractional interest in the entity.

VALUATION ANALYSIS

ASSET-BASED APPROACH ANALYSIS - NET ASSET VALUE

DAF's ultimate holdings are interests in various investment assets. DAF's sole asset reported as of the Valuation Date consisted of 100% of the equity of CLO HoldCo. CLO HoldCo is a holding company which invests in CLOs and other investments. We relied upon DAF management's determination of CLO HoldCo's NAV based on the values of its various underlying investments and assets. CLO HoldCo's balance sheet as of the Valuation Date is shown in the following charts and in Schedule A.1.

As shown below, CLO HoldCo's primary assets consist of cash & cash equivalents and other investment investments[23]. CLO HoldCo reported $316.3 million in total assets. CLO HoldCo also reported $47.2 million in total liabilities as of the Valuation Date. Therefore, CLO HoldCo's equity can be reasonably stated as $269.1 million.

DAF NAV Conclusion

As of the Valuation Date, DAF's balance sheet consisted solely of a 100% ownership interest in CLO HoldCo's equity. Therefore, DAF's NAV can be reasonably stated as $269.1 million (rounded). This analysis is summarized in the following table and in Schedule A.2.

	Balance Sheet as of: 9/30/2024
	Actual	%

CONCLUSION OF VALUE - SUBJECT INTEREST

DAF's NAV was determined to equal $269.1 million as of the Valuation Date. Dividing this NAV by the 305 total participation shares outstanding results in a NAV per share of $882,140. However, sellers of fractional interests in holding companies rarely receive a price equal to the NAV of their investment. This is because the interest holders do not have direct control over the entity's assets and have a limited market for their interests. Therefore, in order to arrive at the fair market value of the Subject Interest shares that are the subject of this analysis, we applied relevant discounts (control and marketability).

DISCOUNT FOR LACK OF CONTROL

Discounts for lack of control are applied based on the premise that an asset or interest in an entity in which an owner lacks decision making control would sell for less to a hypothetical buyer than an identical asset or interest which the same owner controls. Lack of control removes the investor's ability to make key decisions, including how to best manage the business, whether and how much cash to distribute to shareholders, or whether to pursue an acquisition or sale of the business.

Due to the Company's ultimate holdings in debt and equity investments, the Company exhibits some of the characteristics of a closed-end fund. Closed-end funds, like open-ended mutual funds, are asset holding companies that typically hold a portfolio of publicly traded securities. However, unlike unit holders in open-ended funds, closed-end fund unit holders who wish to liquidate their investment cannot look to the fund to repurchase their shares. Rather, they must sell them on the open market. The price they receive is not usually equal to the fundamental or net asset value of the investment. Therefore, the fair market value of closed-end funds is generally described in terms of a discount or premium to net asset value.

To align with the Company's holdings, we selected closed-end fund data from investment grade bond funds and general equity funds. The investment grade bond fund data shown in Schedule B.1 indicated mean and median discounts of 2.9% and 2.5%, respectively. The general equity fund data shown in Schedule B.2 indicated mean and median discounts of 12.1% and 13.6%, respectively. Based on these indications, we selected a discount for lack of control of 8.1% to be applicable to the Subject Interest, as shown in Schedule B.3.

DISCOUNT FOR LACK OF MARKETABILITY

Discounts for lack of marketability (DLOMs) are applied to the shares of private companies based on the premise that an asset or interest in an entity without a readily available market would sell for less to a hypothetical buyer than an identical asset or interest that is readily marketable. Several factors are widely recognized to affect marketability, such as distributions or dividends, investment performance, holding period to complete a sale, and management performance, among others. We utilized two methods of quantifying a relevant DLOM: the put option approach and an analysis of restricted stock studies.

Put Option Approach

The price of a contract providing the right to sell a number of shares (a put option) represents the difference between the non-marketable and marketable price of an asset. For example, if a holder of restricted or non-marketable stock purchases a put option on the underlying asset, the holder would be purchasing marketability. The price of the put determines the size of the DLOM.

In order to determine the price of such a put, we utilized the Black-Scholes put option model.[24] Based on our analysis, we determined that an appropriate volatility for investment grade bond funds and general equity bond funds such as DAF is approximately 12.3% (Schedule C.2) and between one half and one year (averaged to 0.75 years) would be required to sell the Subject Interest in an orderly transaction. As a result of these inputs, the put option approach indicated a discount for lack of marketability of 2.8%. This DLOM indication is presented in Schedule C.1.

Restricted Stock Study Analysis

There are several studies that attempt to measure discounts for lack of marketability, and a review of these studies is helpful in assessing a reasonable marketability discount for the Subject Interest.[25] As mentioned, we would expect between six months and one year to be required to sell the Subject Interest in an orderly transaction.

Schedule C.4 presents a summary of restricted stock studies performed involving issuances of shares during the time period 1997 through 2008, which is when the SEC-mandated lock-up period for restricted stocks was one year. Based on a range of low discounts of 9.0%-10.9%, we selected a 9.7% DLOM utilizing the findings of the restricted stock studies.

DLOM Conclusion

The put option approach in Schedule C.1 indicated a DLOM of 2.8%. The restricted stock study analysis in Schedule C.4 indicated a DLOM of 9.7%. Based on these indications, we concluded a discount for lack of marketability of 6.3%. This conclusion is presented in Schedule C.5.

CONCLUSION - SUBJECT INTEREST VALUE

Based on the procedures outlined herein and the corresponding analysis, it is our opinion that the fair market value of the Subject Interest as of the Valuation Date can be reasonably stated as:

Re: Letter Agreement re: Assignment of Undertakings

To whom it may concern:

This letter agreement (this "Agreement") is to confirm in writing an agreement made by Charitable DAF HoldCo, Ltd., a Cayman Islands limited company ("Holdco") and CDMCFAD, LLC, a Delaware limited liability company ("DAF"). Each party hereto may be referred to generically as a "Party" or collectively as the "Parties" in this Agreement.

WHEREAS, DAF completed a restructuring on March 27, 2025, that (i) issued new membership interests in DAF to DFW Charitable Foundation, a Delaware 501(c)(3) non-profit organization and (ii) redeemed the membership interests in DAF owned by Holdco (collectively, the "Issuance and Redemption Transaction");

WHEREAS, Mark Patrick and Paul Murphy, the Directors of Holdco intend to wind up the affairs of Holdco and engage liquidators to complete that process; and

WHEREAS, in connection with the Issuance and Redemption Transaction, Holdco and DAF have mutually agreed to assign all of the contracts and agreements listed on Schedule A hereto (collectively, the "Assigned Contracts") from Holdco to DAF.

NOW, THEREFORE, as material inducement to each Party entering this Agreement, and in consideration of the mutual representations and covenants contained herein and for other good and valuable consideration, the receipt and sufficiency of which is hereby acknowledged, the Parties agree as follows:

1. Assignment of Undertakings. Subject to the terms hereof, Holdco hereby assigns the Assigned Contracts to DAF with effect on and from the date first written above in consideration for the assumption of liabilities set forth herein (the "Assignment of Undertakings").

2. Assumption of Liabilities. In connection with the Assignment of Undertakings, DAF has agreed to assume all responsibilities and risks in any manner connected with the Assigned Contracts, whether now existing or hereafter arising.

3. Further Assurances. Until such time as Holdco completes its liquidation, Holdco agrees to cooperate (at DAF's sole expense) with DAF to take any further actions requested by DAF in connection with this Assignment of Undertakings, including executing assignment or similar agreements necessary to cause DAF to enter into the Assigned Contracts and obtain consent from counterparties. Notwithstanding anything to the contrary set forth herein, DAF shall not be responsible for funding any litigation of adverse actions relating to Holdco arising after the date hereof.

4. Representations and Warranties. By its execution and delivery hereof, each of the Parties represents and warrants to the other Party that, as of the date hereof and after giving effect to this Agreement:

(a) (i) such Party has all requisite power and authority to execute and deliver this Agreement, (ii) this Agreement has been duly executed and delivered by each Party to the other, and (iii) this Agreement constitutes the legal, valid, and binding obligations of such Party, enforceable in accordance with its respective terms;

(b) neither the execution, delivery, and performance of this Agreement, nor the consummation of any transactions contemplated herein or therein, will (i) contravene the terms of the trust agreement, limited liability company agreement, or other governing documents as applicable to such Party hereto; (ii) conflict with or result in any breach or contravention of, or the creation of (or the requirement to create) any lien under, or require any payment to be made under (a) any contractual obligation to which such Party is bound or affecting such Party or its respective properties or (b) any order, injunction, writ or decree of any governmental authority or any arbitral award to which such Party or such Party's property is subject; or (iii) violate any applicable law; and

(c) no approval, consent, exemption, authorization, or other action by, notice to, or filing with, any governmental authority or other person not previously obtained is necessary or required in connection with the execution, delivery, or performance by, or enforcement against, such Party to this Agreement.

5. Assignment. Neither Party may assign this Agreement without the other Party's prior written consent.

6. Governing Law; Venue. The Parties (a) hereby irrevocably and unconditionally submit to the jurisdiction of the state courts of Texas and to the jurisdiction of the federal courts with jurisdiction covering Dallas, Texas, for the purpose of any suit, action or other proceeding arising out of or based upon this Agreement, (b) agree not to commence any suit, action or other proceeding arising out of or based upon this Agreement except in the state courts of Texas or the federal courts with jurisdiction covering Dallas, Texas, and (c) hereby waive, and agree not to assert, by way of motion, as a defense, or otherwise, in any such suit, action or proceeding, any claim that it is not subject personally to the jurisdiction of the above-named courts, that its property is exempt or immune from attachment or execution, that the suit, action or proceeding is brought in an inconvenient forum, that the venue of the suit, action or proceeding is improper or that this Agreement or the subject matter hereof may not be enforced in or by such court.

7. Further Assurances. Each Party agrees to execute, acknowledge, and deliver such further instruments and to do all such other acts as may be reasonably necessary or appropriate in order to carry out the purposes and intent of this Letter.

8. Notices. All notices or requests required or permitted to be given hereunder shall be in writing and shall be deemed to have been duly given when hand delivered or sent by certified mail, return receipt requested, or by reputable overnight courier, in each case with receipt verified in writing, addressed in accordance with the respective Parties' signature on the signature pages hereto.

9. Signature; Counterparts. This Agreement may be executed electronically, or in counterparts, each of which shall be deemed an original, but all of which together shall constitute one and the same agreement.

10. Enforceability. If one or more provisions of this Agreement is found by a court of competent jurisdiction to be illegal, invalid, or unenforceable in whole or in part, the remaining terms and provisions of this Agreement shall remain in full force and effect disregarding such illegal, invalid, or unenforceable portion and such court shall be empowered to modify, if possible, such illegal, invalid, or unenforceable provision to the extent necessary to make it enforceable in accordance with the intent and purposes of the Parties expressed herein to the fullest extent permitted by applicable law.

11. WAIVER OF JURY TRIAL. EACH PARTY HEREBY WAIVES ITS RIGHTS TO A JURY TRIAL OF ANY CLAIM OR CAUSE OF ACTION BASED UPON OR ARISING OUT OF

THIS AGREEMENT OR THE SUBJECT MATTER HEREOF. THE SCOPE OF THIS WAIVER IS INTENDED TO BE ALL-ENCOMPASSING OF ANY AND ALL DISPUTES THAT MAY BE FILED IN ANY COURT AND THAT RELATE TO THE SUBJECT MATTER OF THIS AGREEMENT, INCLUDING, WITHOUT LIMITATION, CONTRACT CLAIMS, TORT CLAIMS (INCLUDING NEGLIGENCE), BREACH OF DUTY CLAIMS, AND ALL OTHER COMMON LAW AND STATUTORY CLAIMS. THIS SECTION HAS BEEN FULLY DISCUSSED BY EACH OF THE PARTIES HERETO AND THESE PROVISIONS WILL NOT BE SUBJECT TO ANY EXCEPTIONS. EACH PARTY HERETO HEREBY FURTHER WARRANTS AND REPRESENTS THAT SUCH PARTY HAS REVIEWED THIS WAIVER WITH ITS LEGAL COUNSEL, AND THAT SUCH PARTY KNOWINGLY AND VOLUNTARILY WAIVES ITS JURY TRIAL RIGHTS FOLLOWING CONSULTATION WITH LEGAL COUNSEL.

12. Merger; Amendment. This Agreement (i) is the only agreement between the Parties concerning the subject matter hereof and supersedes, terminates and cancels any prior statements, representations or agreements between the Parties concerning the subject matter hereof, (ii) is being executed by the Parties without reliance upon any representation, warranty, or other statement of any kind whatsoever, whether oral or written, which is not expressly set forth herein, and (iii) may not be changed orally, but only in a writing signed by duly authorized representatives of each of the Parties.

WRITTEN CONSENT OF THE MANAGER
OF

March 27, 2025

The undersigned, being the manager (the "Manager") of CDMCFAD, LLC, a Delaware limited liability company (the "Company"), does hereby consent to, adopt and approve, ratify and confirm by written consent the following resolutions and directs that this written consent be filed with the minutes of the proceedings of the Company:

WHEREAS, the current sole member of the Company is Charitable DAF Holdco, Ltd. (the "Current Member");

WHEREAS, the Company is currently governed by that certain Limited Liability Company Agreement of the Company, dated December 18, 2024 (the "LLC Agreement");

WHEREAS, the Company is part of a larger group of entities that include the Current Member (collectively the "DAF"), and the mission statement of the Current Member (which is representative of DAF as a whole) is as follows: "Charitable DAF makes investments in order to support community-focused non-profit foundations with a demonstrated focus of giving funds to worthy causes and making a difference" (the "Mission Statement");

WHEREAS, the Highland Dallas Foundation, Inc., the Highland Kansas City Foundation, Inc., and the Highland Santa Barbara Foundation, Inc. (collectively, the "Highland Foundations") are Participating Shareholders in the Current Member and may be entitled to discretionary dividends if declared by the current Directors of the Current Member;

WHEREAS, the Manager has formed the view that the Current Member, by virtue of being a member of the Company and having as Participating Shareholders the Highland Foundations, poses a material risk to the Company, its assets, and the Mission Statement of DAF due to, among other things, (i) officers and directors of the Highland Foundations seeking to assert dominion and control over the assets of DAF (through the Current Member), despite no legal ability to do so under the Current Member's organizational documents and despite the potential illegality (as demonstrated by tax counsel to DAF—see Exhibits C and D) of doing so, (ii) the potential loss of the non-profit status of the Highland Foundations due to their actions, among others, described in clause (i), and (iii) the potential loss of the tax-exempt status which the Highland Foundations currently enjoy and which is central to the mission of DAF, as a result of the factors including those described in clauses (i) and (ii);

WHEREAS, and in connection therewith, the Manager desires to cause the Company to (i) admit DFW Charitable Foundation as an additional member of the Company and to amend the LLC Agreement to reflect the same, each pursuant to the terms of that certain Admission and Amendment No. 1 Agreement, a form of which is attached hereto as Exhibit A (the "Admission Agreement") and (ii) redeem the entire limited liability company interests in the Company held by the Current Member and to amend the LLC Agreement to reflect the same, each pursuant to the terms of that certain Redemption and Amendment No. 2 Agreement, a form of which is attached hereto as Exhibit B (the "Redemption Agreement" and together with the Admission Agreement, jointly, the "Restructure Agreements");

WHEREAS, in connection with the Restructure Agreements and the transactions contemplated thereby, the Manager (on behalf of the Company) obtained a valuation report of the membership interests of the Company from ValueScope and (ii) FTI Consulting, copies of which are attached hereto as Exhibit E, which valuation reports have informed the Manager the fair market value of the membership interests;

WHEREAS, for the foregoing reasons, and others, the Manager has determined it to be in the best interests of the Company and its members for the Company to take all steps necessary to complete the transactions contemplated by the Restructure Agreements (such transactions collectively, the "Member Reorganization") so that the Company and DAF can again fulfill its Mission Statement and charitable purpose.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, that the Member Reorganization is hereby approved in all respects in accordance with the terms set forth in the Restructure Agreements; and be it

RESOLVED FURTHER, that the terms, conditions and provisions of each of the Restructure Agreements are hereby approved in all respects; and be it

RESOLVED FURTHER, that the Manager, acting alone, be, and hereby is, authorized and empowered to execute and deliver in the name and on behalf of the Company and to cause the Company to perform its obligations under, such other and further agreements, instruments or documents (with such changes as the Manager deems necessary or advisable, such determination to be conclusively evidenced by the Manager's execution thereof) and to take all other actions that the Manager deems necessary or advisable to evidence and finalize the Member Reorganization and to carry out the intent and accomplish the purposes of these resolutions; and be it

RESOLVED FURTHER, that all acts of the Manager taken prior to the adoption of the foregoing resolutions, which acts are consistent with the purposes of the foregoing resolutions are hereby severally ratified, confirmed, approved and adopted as acts of the Company.

(THE "COMPANY")

WRITTEN RESOLUTIONS OF THE DIRECTORS OF THE COMPANY

MADE ON 13th September 2024

The undersigned, being all of the Directors of the Company, hereby resolve, pursuant to the Articles of Association of the Company, the following directors' resolutions.

1. REVIEW AND APPROVAL OF COMPENSATION FOR MARK PATRICK.

1.1 NOTED THAT:

(a) Since 24 March 2021, Mr. Mark Patrick has been appointed as President, Chief Investment Officer and General Counsel of the Company, and appointed as President and Chief Investment Officer for seven subsidiaries/affiliated entities.

(b) In or about March 2024, the Company, including Charitable DAF Fund LP, engaged Mercer LLP to conduct an independent compensation review of Mr. Mark Patrick's duties as President, Chief Investment Officer and General Counsel of the Company, and as President and Chief Investment Officer for seven subsidiaries/affiliated entities.

(c) Mercer LLP prepared an independent report dated 26 August 2024 ("Mercer Report") which contains a summary of Mr. Patrick's roles and responsibilities and their methodology for calculating market comparables. At page 5 of that report, Mercer recommended that Mr Patrick's compensation be structured as follows:

a. Base salary: USD $850,000 or USD $750,000 if general partner liability insurance can be acquired to mitigate Mr Patrick's personal risk exposure.

b. Long-term incentive ("LTI") tied to DAF LP returns: 7.5% of annualized net fund returns in excess of 10% (capped at 25% annualized return).

(d) The Mercer report raised two issue for the Company to consider::

a. Whether performance for the LTI compensation be calculated based on 2021 performance or start for the 2022 cycle; and

b. Whether the LTI calculation should be calculated net of all Company expenses or new of fund expenses only.

(e) On 12th September 2024, Mr. Paul Murphy, a co-director of the Company, spoke to Heidi O'Brien, a Partner at Mercer, to discuss the issues identified in 1, 1.1 (d) a. and b. Following this conversation and based on the fact that (i) Ms. O'Brien confirmed that it was not uncommon for similar companies to award employees for the complete fiscal year when starting part way through the year, and (ii) Mr. Patrick was appointed in March 2021, the Directors have concluded that Mr. Patrick's LTI compensation should be calculated on the basis of the 2021 cycle.

(f) In addition, the Directors have concluded that the Company should assess the legal expenses attributable to investments which impact the LTI compensation and, after that assessment, determine whether the LTI compensation should be increased.

(g) Based on the knowledge of the Directors of Mr. Patrick's roles and responsibilities, the Mercer LLP report and fact that Mr. Patrick is considered a key employee, the Directors have concluded that Mr. Patrick's compensation should be set in accordance with the recommendation in the Mercer report with the additional caveat that Mercer identified that CEOs and CIOs are often compensated on the basis of a base salary, annual incentive and LTI and an annual incentive is not included in the Mercer report. The Directors have concluded that it is in the Company's interest to determine whether an annual incentive should also be included as part of Mr. Patrick's compensation and, if so, how this is to be assessed.

(h) Mr. Patrick has declared his interests to the Company in relation to the matters the subject of this resolution, being that Mr Patrick is Director of the Company, and also employed by the Company as President, Chief Investment Officer, and General Counsel of the Company.

1.2 IT IS RESOLVED by unanimous written resolution that:

(a) Mr. Patrick's compensation be fixed, in accordance with recommendation of the Mercer LLP report, as follows:

a. Base salary: USD $850,000, provided that, 100% of the base salary for calendar year 2024 may be paid on or about the date of these resolutions.

b. Long-term incentive tied to DAF LP returns: 7.5% of annualized net fund returns in excess of 10% (capped at 25% annualized return), less any amounts previously advanced to Mr. Patrick.

(b) The Directors will assess:

a. Whether any adjustment should be made to the LTI calculation based on whether the calculation should be made net of all expenses or net of fund expenses; and

b. Whether Mr. Patrick should receive an annual bonus and the basis of that annual bonus.

WRITTEN RESOLUTIONS OF THE DIRECTORS OF THE COMPANY

MADE ON 1 October 2024

The undersigned, being all of the Directors of the Company, hereby resolve, pursuant to the Articles of Association of the Company, the following directors' resolutions. Any capitalized terms not defined herein are taken from the Directors' Resolution dated 12th September 2024.

1. ESTABLISHMENT OF COMPENSATION COMMITTEE/GUIDELINES AND APPOINTMENT OF MEMBERS OF COMPENSATION COMMITTEE.

1.1 NOTED THAT:

(a) The Company does not presently have a compensation committee and the Directors believe it is in the best interest of the Company to establish a compensation committee which will be guided and governed by compensation committee guidelines established by the Directors.

(b) Given the Directors knowledge and experience of the Company, the initial appointments to the compensation committee will be Mark Patrick and Paul Murphy.

1.2 IT IS RESOLVED THAT:

(a) The Company establish a compensation committee ("Compensation Committee") and adopt the guidelines in the form substantially contained in Appendix 1 to these resolutions ("Compensation Committee Guidelines").

(b) Mark Patrick and Paul Murphy be appointed to the Compensation Committee.

(c) The Company empowers the Compensation Committee to make recommendations to the Directors on all matters outlined in the Compensation Committee Guidelines, provided that, all recommendations by the Compensation Committee are subject to review and approval by the Directors.

(d) The Compensation Committee shall not make any recommendations in relation to Mark Patrick's compensation arising from the resolution passed by the Directors on 12th September 2024, in particular, the LTI payment and annual bonus resolution passed in these Directors' Resolutions paragraph number 2.

2. FURTHER REVIEW AND APPROVAL OF COMPENSATION FOR MARK PATRICK AND EMPLOYMENT AGREEMENT.

2.1 NOTED THAT:

(a) On 12 September 2024, the Directors passed a directors' resolution addressing Mark Patrick's compensation as a Director, President/CEO, Chief Investment Officer and General Counsel of the Company. The Directors approved compensation in the following amounts:

a. Base salary: USD $850,000.

b. LTI tied to Charitable DAF Fund LP ("DAF LP") returns: 7.5% of annualized net fund returns in excess of 10% (capped at 25% annualized return).

(b) In addition, the Directors resolved that they would assess:

a. Whether any adjustment should be made to the LTI calculation based on whether the calculation should be made net of all expenses or net of fund expenses; and

b. Whether Mr. Patrick should receive an annual bonus and the basis of that annual bonus.

LTI

(c) Paul Murphy noted that the return of the Company is impacted by whether legal expenses should be included as an operational expense of the Company (in which case the LTI payment would be lower) or whether legal expenses have been incurred not as an operational expense but as an expense to preserve, protect and maximize returns to the Company (in which case it is appropriate to exclude these expenses when assessing the Company's return thereby raising the LTI payment, in whole or in part).

(d) Paul Murphy, having a detailed and working knowledge of the Company's legal issues, and having commissioned Shawn Raver, legal advisor to the Company, to provide a breakdown of legal fees (i) which are attributable to the normal operation of the Company's investment portfolio, and (ii) which have been incurred to preserve, protect and maximize returns to the Company, who has assessed that 75% of those legal fees have been incurred to preserve, protect and maximize returns to the Company.

(e) Accordingly, the LTI calculation should be adjusted to award 75% of the difference between the figures noted in page 9 of the Mercer Report which is $975,000.[1]

Annual Bonus

(f) Paul Murphy conducted an independent assessment of whether Mark Patrick should receive an annual bonus and the basis of that annual bonus having regard to the Mercer Report, further discussions with Heidi O'Brien (Partner at Mercer), further review of industry comparables with CEO/CIO roles in complex structured finance senior positions, and assessment of other charitable organisations/structures (acknowledging that the Company and its subsidiaries are not subject to United States of America regulations).

(g) Having (i) reviewed the Compensation Committee Guidelines and, (ii) a detailed working knowledge of the Company and Mark Patrick's roles and responsibilities, Paul Murphy assessed that Mark Patrick is eligible for an annual bonus in the amount of 2.5 times his base salary for the year 2023 and payable immediately for, inter alia, the following reasons:

a. CEOs and CIOs in comparable positions are typically awarded a base salary, annual bonus and form of long term incentive plan which is designed to compensate senior executives for their performance and value to a company on an annual and long term basis (see Mercer Report page 17, which is consistent with and supported by Paul Murphy's knowledge of US based asset managers).

b. The Company, in the absence of a senior executive willing to undertake the roles and responsibilities of a CEO, CIO and general counsel would, in the US, have to incur annual expenses of at least $3-4m at the median range and $5-6m at the upper range[2] to appropriately staff these positions.[3] By undertaking the roles of CEO, CIO and General Counsel, Mark Patrick would be undercompensated if the Company were only to award a base salary and LTI.

c. The Company has faced/is facing significant and complex legal issues in Texas, New York, the Cayman Islands and, until recently, Guernsey, which it has had to manage on a reactive and proactive basis and which Mark Patrick has been instrumental in the prosecution and defence of. These include sophisticated parties including US Bank, UBS and a Trustee in Bankruptcy.

d. Mark Patrick was instrumental in 2023/2024 defeating an action by UBS against the Company in New York which significantly reduced the Company's potential liabilities.

e. The risk profile to Mark Patrick as a director, CEO and CIO is high and his decision making will and is likely to be scrutinized which may lead to personal liability. He is undertaking these positions without the benefit of directors' and officers' insurance.

f. Mark Patrick has been instrumental in implementing and driving forward policies that will bring rigorous scrutiny and governance to the Company.

g. The Company's investments over the past three years have outperformed the S&P 500 significantly where the average returns for the S&P 500 over the same period returned 11.49% compared to 16.46% for the Company.

h. To date, Mark Patrick has not been awarded an annual bonus during his tenure at the Company nor has he received benefits which a CEO/CIO would typically enjoy.

(h) These are not a comprehensive list of factors Paul Murphy took into account but form the basis of his independent conclusion that the Directors should (i) enter into an employment agreement in a form drafted by the Company's US and Cayman Islands counsel which reflects the on-going compensation package, and (ii) award an annual discretionary bonus for 2023 at an amount of 2.5 times his base salary.

(i) Mr. Patrick has declared his interests to the Company in relation to the matters the subject of this resolution, being that Mr Patrick is Director of the Company, and also employed by the Company as President, Chief Investment Officer, and General Counsel of the Company.

2.2 IT IS RESOLVED by unanimous written resolution that:

[2] Per Mercer Report at page 7 and adjusted to account for base compensation and annual bonus/long term incentive for general counsel.

[3] It is noted that the basis for these figures includes assessment of charities and foundations in the US which the Company is not. Whilst useful guidance, the Company must be mindful of the fact that the Company is a Cayman Islands company that holds complex structured financial products through Cayman Islands companies and is not bound by the same provisions that relate to US charities and foundations.

(a) Mark Patrick be awarded:

a. An adjustment to the LTI incentive payment in the amount of $975,000.

b. An annual bonus for the year 2023, payable immediately, of 2.5 times his base salary.

c. No annual bonus for the years 2021 and 2022 given the entirety of the compensation package provided to Mark Patrick as of 12th September 2024 and the date of this resolution.

5 In March 2021, Mark Patrick (the "First Defendant") was appointed the sole director and registered as the sole Management Shareholder of the Company. In April 2021, Paul Murphy (the "Second Defendant") was appointed by the First Defendant as a second director of Holdco.

6 By virtue of a series of transactions or purported transactions between March 2024 and March 2025, unbeknownst to the holders of the Participating Shares (the "Participating Shareholders") of the Company, Mr Patrick caused:

6.1 the Company, with the agreement and concurrence of Mr Murphy, to assign its interest in the Fund to the Third Defendant, a Delaware limited liability company, formed in December 2024 and controlled by Mr Patrick, in exchange for a membership interest in that entity;

6.2 the Company, with the agreement and concurrence of Mr Murphy, to issue and allot further Participating Shares (representing a majority of the issued participating share capital) to the Fourth Defendant, a Delaware company, incorporated in December 2024 and controlled by Mr Patrick;

6.3 the Third Defendant to redeem the Company's membership interest in the Third Defendant for a consideration of c. US$1.6 million, representing approximately 0.59% of the total net asset value of the assets held by the Fund; and

6.4 the Company, with the agreement and concurrence of Mr Murphy, to be placed into voluntary liquidation after having made a final distribution to all Original Participating Shareholders (defined below) in the Company of the proceeds of redemption, collectively the "Impugned Transactions".

7 The First and Second Defendants effected the Impugned Transactions in breach of their fiduciary and other duties to the Company in order to bring ownership of the Fund and its assets, with a net value of c. US$270 million (as assessed at 30 September 2024), under Mr Patrick's effective control to the exclusion of the interests of the Charities. The Charities, as the original, and rightful, ultimate beneficiaries of the Fund, have been left with nothing.

8 Further, during the period March 2021 to June 2024, the First and Second Defendants, in breach of fiduciary duty, caused the Company to pay excessive fees and expenses to Mr Patrick.

10 The directors of the Company are Mr Patrick (appointed on 25 March 2021) and Mr Murphy (appointed by Mr Patrick on 22 April 2021).

11 The Company has been governed by the following memorandum and articles of association from time to time:

11.1 The memorandum and articles of association dated 27 October 2011; and 11.2 The amended and restated memoranda and articles of association dated 19 January 2015; 24 January 2024; and 20 February 2025 respectively.

The Company remains governed by the memorandum and articles of association as amended and restated on 20 February 2025 (the "Articles") save that the Company reserves the right to challenge the validity of the Articles.

12 Save as set out above, the Company will rely on the Articles and all previous iterations for their applicable full terms and effect.

13 Pursuant to the Articles and at all relevant times, the authorised share capital of the Company was US$50,000 divided into 100 Management Shares of US$0.01 par value each and 4,999,900 Participating Shares of US$0.01 par value each.

14 The Articles (with reference to the defined term of 'Restricted Person') require that the Participating Shareholders must at all times qualify as a tax-exempt organisation pursuant to section 501(c)(3) of the United States Internal Revenue Code of 1986 ("IRC").

15 The Participating Shares do not have voting rights but confer the right to participate in the profits or assets of the Company including by way of the receipt of dividends (Article 12).

16 The Management Shares have voting rights but confer no other right to participate in the profits or assets of the Company (Article 11).

17 The Participating Shareholders therefore have the entirety of the economic interest in the Company, whereas the Management Shareholders have the control rights.

18 On 7 November 2011, the Company issued:

18.1 300 Participating Shares to The Highland Capital Management Partners Charitable Trust #2 ("Trust #2"); and 18.2 100 Management Shares to Grant Scott.

19 On 30 November 2011, Trust #2 transferred its 300 Participating Shares equally amongst:

19.2 Highland Dallas Foundation, Inc.[1]; and

19.3 Highland Santa Barbara Foundation, Inc.,

collectively, the "Supporting Organisations".

20 On 12 August 2015, the Company issued 5 Participating Shares to the Community Foundation of North Texas, ("CFNT", and together with the Supporting Organisations the "Original Participating Shareholders") for Highland Capital Management, L.P. Charitable Fund at CFNT.

21 On 25 March 2021, the Management Shares were transferred to Mr Patrick and he continues to hold these shares.

22 The Participating Shares held by the Original Participating Shareholders represented the entire issued Participating Share capital of the Company until 7 February 2025. On that date, Mr Patrick, with the agreement and concurrence of Mr Murphy, caused the Company to issue 318 Participating Shares to the Fourth Defendant, DFW Charitable Foundation ("DFW"), significantly diluting the shareholdings of the Original Participating Shareholders and the indirect economic interest of the Charities.

23 Until 18 December 2024, the sole asset of the Company was its limited partnership interest in the Fund (the "Partnership Interest").

24 As a result of the Impugned Transactions, the Company now has no material assets.

DFW

25 DFW (the Fourth Defendant) is a non-profit non-stock corporation incorporated in Delaware on 9 December 2024, which is organised under the General Corporation Law of the State of Delaware exclusively for charitable purposes.

29 Mr Patrick was instrumental in the establishment of the Company, the Fund and the Fund structure.

30 Until 18 December 2024, the Company was the sole limited partner of the Fund.

31 On 18 December 2024, Mr Patrick, with the agreement and concurrence of Mr Murphy, caused the Company to transfer its limited partnership interest to CDMCFAD, LLC ("CDM") (the Third Defendant) in exchange for a membership interest in CDM.

33 On 7 March 2024, the Original GP was replaced by CDH GP, Ltd. (the "New GP") (the Fifth Defendant).

53 Upon the formation of the Fund, the Company was admitted as a limited partner and, by way of capital contribution, contributed all of the outstanding equity interests in CLO HoldCo to the Fund.

54 The purpose of the Fund was to make investments for the ultimate benefit of the Original Participating Shareholders and the Charities:

[2]Mr Murphy was appointed to the board of directors of the following entities on 22 April 2021; Liberty CLO Holdco, Ltd., Liberty Sub, Ltd., HCT Holdco 2, Ltd. and MGM Studios Holdco, Ltd. at the same time as Charitable DAF HoldCo, Ltd and CLO HoldCo, Ltd.

54.1 The recitals to the LPA of the Fund provide that the purpose of the Fund was to "make certain investments directly or indirectly on behalf of certain entities exempt from taxation under section 501(c)(3) of the U.S. Internal Revenue Code … for the economic benefit of the Limited Partner and its Indirect Charitable Owners…".

54.2 Clause 1.3 of the LPA provides that "… the Partnership may make investments in other types of securities, investment vehicles and instruments in the sole discretion of the General Partner for the purpose of benefitting, directly or indirectly, the Indirect Charitable Owners".

54.3 Clause 1.6(a) of the LPA provides that "the Partnership's assets and investments shall be for the benefit of the Limited Partners and not for the economic benefit of the General Partner".

54.4 "Indirect Charitable Owners" is defined in the LPA as "the indirect equity owners of the Limited Partners which shall at all times be entities or organizations exempt from taxation under Section 501(c)(3) of the Code or entities or organizations whose sole beneficiaries are entities or organizations exempt from taxation under Section 501(c)(3) of the Code." i.e., the Company's Participating Shareholders or the Charities.

54.5 Clause 4.2(a) of the LPA provides that "Distributions shall be made to the Limited Partner at the times, in a manner (including in kind) and in the aggregate amounts determined by the General Partner, after taking into consideration available cash and the needs of the Indirect Charitable Owners of the Limited Partner for funds to cover their administrative and operating expenses…".

54.6 The LPA does not modify the statutory duty of the General Partner to act in good faith and in the interests of the Fund.

55 The Charities are the following four US charitable or non-profit foundations:

55.1 The Dallas Foundation: a charitable entity established in Texas in 1929 which has awarded over $1 billion in grants and manages over $500 million in assets.

55.2 Greater Kansas City Community Foundation: a charitable entity established in Missouri in 1978 which has awarded over $7 billion in grants and manages over $6 billion held in charitable funds.

55.3 Santa Barbara Foundation: a charity established in 1928 which is the largest community foundation on California's Central Coast and manages assets of over $800 million.

55.4 North Texas Community Foundation: which manages assets totalling $513 million and donated $38.9 million to local non-profits in 2023.

56 The Dallas Foundation, Greater Kansas City Community Foundation and Santa Barbara Foundation (the "Supported Organisations") hold their interests in the Company through their respective Supporting Organisation namely Highland Dallas Foundation, Inc. as the Supporting Organisation for The Dallas Foundation; Highland Kansas City Foundation, Inc. as the Supporting Organisation for the Greater Kansas City Community Foundation; Highland Santa Barbara Foundation, Inc as the Supporting Organisation for the Santa Barbara Foundation.

57 CFNT holds its Participating Shares in the Company directly.

THE TAX STRUCTURE

58 As a matter of U.S. tax law, in order for the Supported Organisations to benefit from distributions from the Fund in a tax efficient manner, it was necessary for them to hold their interests through an offshore corporate blocker entity, namely the Company:

58.1 S501(c)(3) of the IRC provides that charitable organisations which meet certain criteria are exempt from state and federal taxes except to the extent that it receives income classified as unrelated business taxable income ("UBTI"); and 58.2 the Supported Organisations and their Supporting Organisations meet the criteria of s501(c)(3). They are therefore generally exempt from U.S. state and federal taxes, with a few exceptions, including to the extent that they receive UBTI.

59 As a matter of U.S. tax law, at least a portion of income received directly from the Fund by the Supported Organisations would likely be considered UBTI.

60 In order to insulate the Supported Organisations from UBTI, instead of holding their interest in the Fund directly, they held through an offshore corporate blocker structure, namely the Company.

THE SUPPORTED ORGANISATIONS CONTROL THE SUPPORTING ORGANISATIONS

61 The Supporting Organisations were incorporated in Delaware by Mr Dondero on or about 22 November 2011 for the purpose of making charitable donations to their respective charity from the proceeds of dividends received by the Supporting Organisations from the Company.

62 Supporting organisations under the IRC are tax exempt charitable organisations that provide financial or operational support to one or more public charitable organisations (called “supported organisations”). Because of the link with the supported public charities, supporting organisations are classified as public charities themselves, as opposed to private foundations, despite the fact that a supporting organisation's sources of funding may be limited to a single individual, which would otherwise cause the entity to be classified as a private foundation.

63 Contributions to supporting organisations, as public charities, qualify for the highest tax deductibility thresholds under the IRC (up to 50% of the taxpayer’s adjusted gross income, or 60%, in the case of cash gifts) instead of the substantially lower threshold for contributions to private foundations (30% of adjusted gross income, regardless of the character of the contribution).

64 The Supporting Organisations are "Type I" tax exempt organisations under the IRC which means they must be organised and operated exclusively to support and benefit their relevant charity and controlled by that charity:

64.1 S509(a)(3) of the IRC contains the qualifications for a "supporting organisation". Under that section, a supporting organisation is a tax-exempt entity that must be organised and then operate exclusively for either (i) the benefit of, (ii) to perform the functions of, or (iii) to carry out the purposes of one or more supported organisations. The supported organisations must also be s501(c)(3) entities;

64.2 There are three types of supporting organisations, known as “Type I”, “Type II” and “Type III”. S509(a)(3)(B)(i), (ii) and (iii) sets out the requirements for each “Type”, respectively;

64.3 S509(a)(3)(B)(i) provides that a Type I supporting organisation must be operated, supervised or controlled by the supported organisation; and 64.4 S509(a)(3)(C) provides that the supporting organisation may not be controlled by a disqualified person, other than the foundation managers and the supported organisation.

65 The Supporting Organisations are so controlled by the respective Supported Organisations.

66 The Supporting Organisations are governed by the terms of their respective Certificate of Incorporation and by-laws (the "Bylaws").

67 The Certificates of Incorporation provide (amongst other things) that:

67.1 the Supporting Organisation:

(a) is organised and shall be operated exclusively for charitable, educational and scientific purposes;

(b) is organised and operated exclusively to support and benefit the particular charity that controls it; and

(c) is a non-profit non-stock corporation and cannot issue any capital stock;

67.2 no part of the net earnings of the Supporting Organisation shall be distributable to the directors and officers of the Supporting Organisation or other private persons save that the Supporting Organisation can pay reasonable compensation for services rendered; and 67.3 net earnings can be used to make grants, loans and similar payments for charitable, educational and scientific purposes to benefit the relevant Supported Organisation.

68 The Bylaws provide that (amongst other things):

68.1 There are two classes of members of the Supporting Organisations with one member in each such class:

(a) the institutional member (the "Institutional Member") which shall be the Supported Organisation; and

(b) the individual member (the "Individual Member") which shall be Mr Dondero or an individual designated as the Individual Member in the Bylaws.

68.2 In terms of voting on a matter submitted to a vote of the members (except as otherwise provided in the Bylaws):

(a) the Institutional Member is entitled to two votes; and

(b) the Individual Member is entitled to one vote.

68.3 Institutional membership is not transferable or assignable.

68.4 Individual membership is transferable or assignable only upon approval of the Institutional Member.

68.5 Both the Institutional Member and the Individual Member must be present in person or by represented proxy to constitute a quorum at all meetings of members.

68.6 There shall be three directors of the board of the Supporting Organisation. Two directors shall be elected annually by the Institutional Member and one director shall be elected annually by the Individual Member.

69 The relationship between the Supporting Organisations and their respective Supported Organisation are governed by separate operating/legal relationship agreements (collectively "Operating Agreements"). These agreements provide, among other things, that:

69.1 the Supported Organisation will provide certain services to the Supporting Organisation;

69.2 the Supported Organisation will appoint two of the three directors of the Supporting Organisation as required by Bylaws; and 69.3 in consideration for the services provided by the Supported Organisation to the Supporting Organisation, the Supporting Organisation shall pay a fee to the Supported Organisation.

FILED by Maples and Calder (Cayman) LLP, attorneys for the Plaintiff, whose address for service is PO Box 309, Ugland House, Grand Cayman, KY1-1104, Cayman Islands. (Ref: CJM/JRN/TQR/858403.000001/83559387)

70 Mr Dondero sits on the board of each of the Supporting Organisations with two other directors from each of the Supported Organisations respectively.

71 The relationships, rights and obligations created by and between the Supported Organisations and the Supporting Organisations pursuant to the agreements entered into between them were at all material times in summary that:

71.1 the Supported Organisations control the Supporting Organisations through their majority voting interest and their ability to elect a majority of the directors of the Supporting Organisations;

71.2 the Supporting Organisations support the Supported Organisations by way of making grants to them from time to time from their assets, including any dividends received from the Company;

71.3 the Supporting Organisations have no ability to pay dividends to any private person or make payments to their directors (save reasonable reimbursement for reasonable out-of-pocket expenses) and can only make grants to the relevant Charity in furtherance of their charitable purposes; and 71.4 while Mr Dondero sits on the board of the Supporting Organisations, he does not control them, as a supermajority of the votes are always held by the respective Charity.

72 The Company will rely on the Certificates of Incorporation, Bylaws, Operating Agreements and terms of the IRC for their applicable full terms and effect.

THE CONTROL POSITION OF MR PATRICK OVER THE COMPANY AND THE FUND

73 The terms of the LPA grant sole control over the management and distribution of the Fund's assets to the General Partner. The terms of the Articles grant sole control over the management and distribution of the Company's assets to the Management Shareholder.

Except as otherwise expressly provided in this Agreement, the General Partner is hereby granted the right, power and authority to do on behalf of the Partnership all things which, in the General Partner's sole discretion, are necessary or appropriate to manage the Partnership's affairs and fulfill the purposes of the Partnership; provided, however the Partnership's assets and investments shall be for the benefit of the Limited Partners and not for the economic benefit of the General Partner.

(ii) Except as otherwise provided herein, the Limited Partners, in their capacity as Limited Partners, shall not participate in the management of or have any control over the Partnership's business nor shall the Limited Partners have the power to represent, act for, sign for or bind the General Partner or the Partnership. The Articles

73.3 Article 11

The Management Shares shall be issued at par value and shall carry the right to receive notice of and to attend, to speak at and to vote at any general meeting of the Company. In the event of a winding up or dissolution of the Company, whether voluntary or involuntary or for the purposes of a reorganization or otherwise or upon any distribution of capital, the entitlement of the holders of Management Shares shall be determined in accordance with these Articles. 73.5 Article 13

…the rights attached to any such Class may… only be materially adversely varied or abrogated with the consent in writing of the holders of not less than two-thirds of the issued Participating Shares of the relevant Class or with the sanction of a resolution passed at a separate meeting of the holders of the Participating Shares of such Class by a majority of two-thirds of the votes case at such a meeting.

73.6 Article 84 (d)

The office of Director shall be vacated if the Director…is removed from office by Ordinary Resolution.

The definition of Ordinary Resolution is a vote of the Management Shares.

73.7 Article 99

Subject to any rights and restrictions for the time being attached to any Shares, or as otherwise provided for in the Act and these Articles, the Directors may from time to time declare dividends (including interim dividends) and other distributions on Shares in issue and authorise payment of the same out of the funds of the Company lawfully available therefor.

73.8 Article 104

Subject to any rights and restrictions for the time being attached to any Participating Shares, all dividends shall be declared and paid in such amounts as may be declared by the Director's in their sole and absolute discretion without a requirement to pay such dividends on a pro-rata basis as to the paid-up or par value of the Shares.

74 The Management Shares in the Company and the General Partner in the Fund have at all material times been held and/or controlled by a single individual who, as a result, has sole control of the Fund structure (the "Control Position"):

74.1 In or around November 2011:

(a) Grant Scott was appointed as the sole director and allotted the 100 Management Shares of the Company; and

(b) Grant Scott became the holder of the membership interest in the Original GP and was appointed the Manager thereof, thereby assuming the Control Position from that date.

74.2 In or around 24 March 2021, Mr Scott:

(a) assigned 100% of the membership interest in the Original GP to Mr Patrick pursuant to an Assignment and Assumption of Membership Interests Agreement, which membership interest gave Mr Patrick the sole right to manage the Original GP;

(b) transferred to Mr Patrick the 100 Management Shares in the Company; and

(c) resigned as a director of the Company and resolved to appoint Mr Patrick as the sole director in his place.

74.3 On 25 March 2021, Mr Patrick was entered into the Company's Register of Members as the holder of the Management Shares.

74.4 Mr Patrick therefore assumed the Control Position from that date.

74.5 On 22 April 2021, Mr Patrick resolved to appoint Mr Murphy as a second director of the Company.

74.6 On 7 March 2024, by way of a Deed of Assignment and Assumption, Mr Patrick, as managing member of the Original GP, caused the Original GP to transfer its general partnership interest in the Fund to the New GP.

74.7 Mr Patrick is the sole shareholder and director of the New GP.

74.8 Mr Patrick therefore remains in the Control Position and was in such position at all relevant times since 25 March 2021.

75 Further, the sole asset of the Fund is its shares in CLO Holdco (the Sixth Defendant). Mr Patrick and Mr Murphy are the directors of CLO Holdco and were appointed on 2 April 2021 and 22 April 2021 respectively.

76 The Control Position was not and is not a term of art but was nevertheless a legal and factual position:

76.1 where a single individual was the sole Management, and therefore voting, Shareholder of the Company;

76.2 where the same individual was a director of the Company;

76.3 where the same individual was the sole shareholder or controller of the General Partner;

76.4 where the same individual was a director of the General Partner;

76.5 where the same individual was in complete and effective control of at least the Company, of the General Partner, of the Fund and of CLO Holdco;

76.6 where the same individual was in effective sole control of all assets of the Fund;

EVENTS RESULTING IN THE COMPANY HAVING NO MATERIAL ASSETS AND THE DILUTION OF THE SUPPORTING ORGANISATIONS' INTERESTS

Plan to defeat the interests of the Original Participating Shareholders

77 On 9 November 2023, Shields Legal Group ("Shields Legal") (the U.S. attorneys for the Company) sent to Campbells LLP ("Campbells") (then Cayman Islands attorneys for the Company) a work plan (the "Work Plan") relevant to the Company, the Fund and CLO HoldCo.

78 It can be inferred, and is averred, that the purpose of the Work Plan and the subsequent advice and steps taken as detailed below was to seek to entrench Mr Patrick's Control Position and defeat the interests of the Original Participating Shareholders.

79 The Work Plan stated that (amongst other things):

79.1 the advice required related to "…potential disputes and corporate reviews and best practices for each, including proactive corporate actions, solidifying defenses, etc..."; and

79.2 "…we may need to rely on opinions and memoranda in potential future disputes..."

80 The Work Plan set out the issues on which the Directors sought advice, including among other things the following questions:

80.1 'Can the controlling person dilute shares, e.g., the Participation Shares?'

80.2 'Can the controlling person redeem shares, e.g., the Participation Shares?'

80.3 'Is there any Cayman law requirement that the Company distribute money upwards to the next level of entities (Highland Dallas Foundation, Inc. and others)?'

80.4 'Could the Company liquidate, distribute all its assets elsewhere, or otherwise make the Participation Shares worthless?'

80.5 'What can be done at this point to make [the share transfers in the Company from Mr Scott to Mr Patrick] bullet proof?'

81 The Directors were advised that any steps taken in relation to the proposed issuance of new Participating Shares and withholding dividends must be in compliance with their fiduciary duties and taken in the best interest of the Company:

81.1 On 8 January 2024, Walkers (Cayman) LLP ("Walkers") (also then Cayman Islands counsel for the Company) provided advice on issues set out in the Work Plan to the effect that (amongst other things):

(a) the Directors have power under the Articles to issue new Participating Shares that dilute the current Participating Shareholders, but must consider their fiduciary duties (including the duty to act in the best interests of the Company) when issuing such shares;

(b) the Participating Shares are non-redeemable;

(c) while payment of a dividend or other distribution is at the discretion of the Directors, if the Company were to have distributable reserves available, there may be a question of whether the Directors would be acting in its best interests to not pay some dividend or distribution; and

(d) the Directors have fiduciary duties to the Company which are paramount when considering (i) making a distribution and (ii) the distributable reserves available from which to make payments; they must have regard to what is in the Company's best interests, its future cash requirements, and its present and future solvency.

82 In February 2024, without telling the Supporting Organisations or the Charities, Mr Patrick sought to form a new entity to replace the Original GP. On 5 February 2024, Walkers emailed Mr Patrick to ask whether that entity should be a Cayman LLC or an exempted company, to which he responded later that day: "Doesn't matter to me. Whatever from a strategic point of view - hard to find or track, or trace. Or find owners etc. Generic name. Strong litigation protection."

83 On 27 February 2024, without telling the Supporting Organisations or the Charities, the New GP (the Fifth Defendant) was incorporated in the Cayman Islands.

84 On 7 March 2024, Mr Patrick, in his capacity as Managing Member of the Original GP, and without telling the Supporting Organisations or the Charities, executed a written consent for the transfer of the GP Interest to the New GP, thereby replacing the Fund's General Partner. The Supporting Organisations subsequently discovered this change only by chance in February 2025.

85 In or around August 2024, the Supporting Organisations were provided with a financial analysis (prepared by NexPoint Advisors LP) of the Fund's annual expenses which showed or appeared to show increases in expenditure, particularly as follows (and without prejudice to any further relevant facts and matters relating to Directors' fees or expenses):

85.1 directors' fees increased from around US$40,000 in 2022 to almost US$600,000 in 2023 – and increased further to around US$2.25 million in the first half of 2024; and

85.2 expenses overall for the first half of 2024 were around US$18.3 million – almost the same amount spent over the entire course of 2023 (i.e. US$18.6 million).

86 On 13 September 2024, without telling the Supporting Organisations or the Charities, the Directors resolved (amongst other things) with respect to Mr Patrick's compensation:

86.1 to increase Mr Patrick's salary to US$850,000 per annum;

86.2 include a long-term incentive ("LTI") tied to the Fund's returns, being 7.5% of annualised net fund returns in excess of 10% (capped at 25% annualised return); and 86.3 the Company should assess legal expenses attributable to investment which impacted the LTI compensation and then determine whether the LTI compensation should be increased.

87 On 1 October 2024, without telling the Supporting Organisations or the Charities:

87.1 the Directors resolved (amongst other things) that Mr Patrick would receive:

FILED by Maples and Calder (Cayman) LLP, attorneys for the Plaintiff, whose address for service is PO Box 309, Ugland House, Grand Cayman, KY1-1104, Cayman Islands. (Ref: CJM/JRN/TQR/858403.000001/83559387)

(a) an LTI payment of US$975,000; and

(b) an 'annual discretionary bonus' for 2023 at an amount of 2.5 times his base salary.

87.2 Previously, in or around October 2021, Mr Patrick had signed an 'employment agreement' for his position at the Company, for the period commencing 24 March 2021, which provides that Mr Patrick:

(a) shall receive a base salary of US$850,000;

(b) shall receive an LTI payment for the period 24 March 2021 to 24 March 2024 in the amount of US$4,759,000; and

(c) is eligible for both annual and discretionary bonuses as determined at the 'sole and absolute discretion of the Directors'.

88 Comparatively, Mr Scott's salary during his tenure in the Control Position was approximately US$60,000 per annum. Notwithstanding the above, the Supporting Organisations were not informed of these increases to the Directors' fees, remuneration and/or benefits.

89 In late October 2024, as a result of concerns arising from this additional expenditure, the Supporting Organisations requested that Mr Patrick provide relevant financial information for the Company and the Fund. Mr Patrick did not do so.

90 On 11 November 2024, Holland and Knight ("H&K"), U.S. attorneys for the Supporting Organisations, issued a letter to Mr Murphy advising that the Supporting Organisations no longer had confidence in the governance of the Company and/or the Fund and considered that a reorganisation of the governance structures was required to protect the charitable efforts of the Supporting Organisations (the "No Confidence Letter").

FILED by Maples and Calder (Cayman) LLP, attorneys for the Plaintiff, whose address for service is PO Box 309, Ugland House, Grand Cayman, KY1-1104, Cayman Islands. (Ref: CJM/JRN/TQR/858403.000001/83559387)

91 On 26 November 2024, Mr Patrick sought advice from Walkers as to whether the Company could issue further Participating Shares to a new non-profit organisation to dilute the Supporting Organisations so as to weaken any winding-up petition brought by the Supporting Organisations on just and equitable grounds. Mr Murphy wrote that:

> "Issuance of new participation shares, where the existing foundations represent a smaller % of the issued and outstanding shares, would weaken any petition based on just and equitable grounds but we must be careful they don't point to this as ground to wind up i.e. the existing foundations say we're artificially trying to weaken their position by diluting them therefore the company should be wound up or an order made for change of management /revocation of the share issuances. It's a very difficult situation to get right without gifting them a potential ground…"

92 On 27 November 2024, Walkers responded to the Directors confirming that, if other shareholders were to oppose an equitable winding up, such opposition will be taken into consideration and would likely help.

93 On 9 December 2024, DFW was incorporated as a non-profit non-stock company in Delaware, by or with the assistance of Mr Douglas Mancino, partner of U.S. firm, Seyfarth Shaw LLP ("Seyfarth"), who, worked alongside Mr Patrick in the establishment of the Company and the Fund structure. The sole member of DFW was and is Mr Patrick.

94 On 7 February 2025, 318 Participating Shares were issued to DFW.

95 On 20 February 2025, Mr Patrick as the Management Shareholder of the Company resolved to adopt the Amended and Restated Memorandum and Articles of Association dated 20 February 2025 which, among other things:

95.1 Amended the Memorandum at paragraph 3 to give the Company charitable objects;

FILED by Maples and Calder (Cayman) LLP, attorneys for the Plaintiff, whose address for service is PO Box 309, Ugland House, Grand Cayman, KY1-1104, Cayman Islands. (Ref: CJM/JRN/TQR/858403.000001/83559387)

95.2 Amended article 70 to introduce the concept of a Management Director (being a director holding the Management Share) and to weight the voting such that on all matters the Management Director had 10 votes and any other directors had 1 vote;

95.3 Deleted the previous articles 70 and 71 giving the right to appoint alternate directors and proxies. By email dated 27 February 2025, Walkers confirmed that the purpose of this deletion was to "avoid the risk of 'outsiders' being brought into the fold".

96 The Company reserves its position in respect of the validity of these amendments.

The purported restructuring: Mr Patrick causes the assignment of the Partnership Interest to CDM 97 On 12 December 2024, CDM was incorporated as a limited liability company in Delaware.

98 On 18 December 2024, without telling the Supporting Organisations or the Charities, the Directors of the Company resolved (the "Transfer Resolutions") to approve the transfer of the entirety of the Company's limited partnership interest in the Fund to CDM, in consideration for the contribution by the sole member of CDM of 100% of the membership interest in CDM. The Transfer Resolutions provide (amongst other things) that, based apparently on U.S. tax advice, the transfer of the limited partnership interest to CDM:

98.1 "…would help insulate the DAF from exposure to [Dondero] and his entities who may be at risk of causing the [IRS] to revoke the tax-exempt status of one or more of the Participating Shareholders/supporting organizations which could imperil the assets of the Company";

98.2 "The IRS would look favorably upon any and all attempts for DAF to maintain its influence from what seems to be persistent attempts by Dondero and the entities controlled by him to use DAF for his private benefit and private inurement";

FILED by Maples and Calder (Cayman) LLP, attorneys for the Plaintiff, whose address for service is PO Box 309, Ugland House, Grand Cayman, KY1-1104, Cayman Islands. (Ref: CJM/JRN/TQR/858403.000001/83559387)

98.3 As a Delaware limited liability company (CDM): "…as permitted under the LLC Act, the terms of the LLC Agreement eliminate the fiduciary duties of the manager of the Transferee".

99 On 18 December 2024, without telling the Supporting Organisations or the Charities, the Company, CDM and the New GP entered into a Deed of Assignment and Assumption (the "Deed") which was executed by Mr Patrick on behalf of each of (i) the Company in his capacity as Director; (ii) CDM in his capacity as Manager; and (iii) the New GP in his capacity as Director. Pursuant to the terms of the Deed:

99.1 The Company assigned its entire limited partnership interest in the Fund to CDM (the "CDM Assignment").

99.2 The New GP provided its written consent to the CDM Assignment and the admission of CDM as the new limited partner, in accordance with clause 1.11(a) of the LPA.

99.3 CDM agreed to exercise its reasonable best endeavours to ensure that 100% of the membership interest in CDM held by Mr Patrick would be transferred to the Company (the "CDM Membership Interest").

100 On 18 December 2024, the Company (as member) and Mr Patrick (as manager) entered into a Delaware law governed Limited Liability Company Agreement in respect of CDM (the "LLC Agreement").

101 The LLC Agreement, materially provides (amongst other things) that:

"Fair Market Value shall have the meaning set forth in Section 6.9(b).

The initial Manager shall be Mark Patrick.

FILED by Maples and Calder (Cayman) LLP, attorneys for the Plaintiff, whose address for service is PO Box 309, Ugland House, Grand Cayman, KY1-1104, Cayman Islands. (Ref: CJM/JRN/TQR/858403.000001/83559387)

30

6.5 No Duties to the Company. To the fullest extent permitted by law, including Section 18-1101(c) of the Act, and notwithstanding any other provision of this Agreement or in any agreement contemplated herein or applicable provisions of law or equity or otherwise, the parties hereto hereby agree that the Manager shall owe no fiduciary duty to any Member or the Company; provided, however, that the foregoing shall not eliminate the duty to comply with the implied contractual covenant of good faith and fair dealing.

6.9 Valuation of Company Assets.

(a) General. The Manager shall make a good faith determination of the value of the Company's assets in connection with any distribution pursuant to Section 8.1(b), as required under Section 4.3(c), upon the dissolution of the Company, and whenever otherwise required by this Agreement or determined by the Manager.

(b) Binding Effect. The value of any Company asset or Interest determined pursuant to this Section 6.9 shall be binding upon the Company and the Members and shall establish the "Fair Market Value" of such asset or Interest for all purposes under this Agreement.

7.3 Redemption. The Manager, in its sole discretion, may cause any Member's Interest to be redeemed by the Company for any reason. Any Interest of a Member to be redeemed by the Company shall be redeemed for the Fair Market Value of such Interest, as determined by the Manager in its sole discretion. Such payment to the Member shall either be made in cash or pursuant to a promissory note. Such promissory note shall: (i) provide for interest at the lowest rate necessary to avoid the imputation of additional interest under the Code; and (ii) have a stated principal amount of the Fair Market Value of such Member's Interest being redeemed, as determined by the Manager in its sole discretion."

102 The Company will rely on the terms of the LLC Agreement for their applicable full terms and effect.

103 The effect of these transactions was that:

103.1 CDM was inserted into the corporate structure below and as a subsidiary of the Company and would hold the entirety of the limited partnership interest in the Fund previously held by the Company; and

103.2 The Company would hold the entire membership interest in CDM, with the result that the Company's sole asset, having previously been its limited partnership interest in the Fund, was exchanged for the CDM Membership Interest

(the "Restructuring")

104 The Restructuring was at an undervalue and not in the interests of the Company (in that the CDM Membership Interest was less valuable than the limited partnership interest that the Company assigned to CDM) because (amongst other things):

104.1 The General Partner owed fiduciary duties to the Company in the Fund, but the Manager (Mr Patrick) did not owe any fiduciary duties to CDM; and 104.2 The CDM Membership Interests were susceptible to being redeemed by Mr Patrick (as Manager) in his sole discretion and for any reason, for "fair market value" as defined by Article 6.9, i.e. a "good faith determination of the value".

FILED by Maples and Calder (Cayman) LLP, attorneys for the Plaintiff, whose address for service is PO Box 309, Ugland House, Grand Cayman, KY1-1104, Cayman Islands. (Ref: CJM/JRN/TQR/858403.000001/83559387)

105 On 3 April 2025, the Company obtained retrospective advice from Leading Counsel on the steps taken by the Company in December 2024 to effect the Restructuring and whether the transfer is "open to challenge by the Participating Shareholders", which advice:

105.1 refers to the justifications for the decisions taken as set out in the Restructuring Resolutions, and considers that, if called upon to justify the purpose of those decisions, the Directors would need to explain:

(a) how the penalisation or loss of tax-exempt status any of the current Participating Shareholders could have "imperil[ed]" the "assets" of the Company;

(b) the detrimental issues the Company was facing that the Directors believed would be mitigated by the interposition of CDM into the Fund structure; and

(c) how and/or why the Restructuring would (i) benefit the Company and (ii) reduce the influence of Mr Dondero; and

105.2 considers that a shareholder reviewing the reasons listed in the Restructuring Resolutions "might suggest that the contents of the resolution are self-serving and do not tell the full story, but rather seek to obscure the true motivations of the board".

Persistent and continual lack of information for the Supporting Organisations

106 On 23 January 2025, having received no response from Mr Murphy to the No-Confidence Letter, Julie Diaz, the CEO of The Dallas Foundation, sent Mr Patrick an email advising that the Supporting Organisations needed to better understand the Company's/Fund's asset position, and requesting certain information be provided by 10 February 2025.

107 Having received no response, on 28 January 2025, Ms Diaz sent a further email to the Directors expressing serious concern (i) that the Supporting Organisations' requests for information continued to be disregarded, and (ii) about the ongoing lack of transparency on the part of the Directors.

108 On 30 January 2025, Mr Murphy replied to Ms Diaz stating that the Directors:

108.1 had not received the 23 January email – but understood the next step was for the Directors to "present directly" to the Supporting Organisations to address the No-Confidence Letter; and 108.2 are cooperating with the Supporting Organisations to provide additional information – but "have no legal obligation to do so" and such cooperation "should not be construed as an implicit acknowledgement of any duty to continue providing information to you".

109 On 31 January 2025, Mr Michael Stockham of H&K responded to Mr Murphy noting that he and Mr Patrick were fiduciaries, managing US$270 million in assets for the benefit of charities that support the most vulnerable (i.e. the Charities) and: "[w]hatever your side's obvious antagonism to Mr Dondero, the fact remains that the underlying assets are ultimately for these charitable missions."

110 On 4 February 2025, Mr Murphy responded that while open to resolving the concerns, they (i.e. the Directors) were struggling to understand the Supporting Organisations' change in position.

111 On 7 February 2025, H&K responded that the Directors were fiduciaries in control of US$270 million for the benefit of charities: "these monies are for improving the quality of life of children, building pathways for everyone to have a fair opportunity to succeed and … fostering a love for education. They are not meant to pay you and Mr. Patrick millions in director fees".

112 On 14 February 2025, H&K received a letter from Mr Mancino which rejected the accuracy of the reported increases in expenditure. On 27 February 2025, H&K responded that his clients were frustrated by the lack of transparency and refusal to answer simple queries about the financial position. In response, Seyfarth sought available dates for Mr Murphy to make the promised presentation to the Supporting Organisations. H&K responded the next day with three potential dates/times for the proposed call between 26 March and 3 April 2025. Mr Mancino did not respond.

113 On 20 March 2025, Mr Mancino sent a letter purportedly on behalf of the Company to the IRS about alleged undue influence and control exercised over the Supporting Organisations by Mr Dondero. The letter makes serious and unsubstantiated allegations about the Supporting Organisations, absent evidential support, including that they each (i.e. all of them): "operates for Mr Dondero's private benefit when he uses his influence or control over them to cause them to use or attempt to use their influence as Participating Shareholders of DAF Holdco to wrest control of DAF Holdco and its assets…".

114 On 3 April 2025, Mr Mancino sent an email to H&K stating that he had just learned there was a call scheduled for the following day and seeking to reschedule. H&K responded that no such call had been arranged and queried the apparent source of confusion.

115 Mr Mancino, and Mr Patrick and Mr Murphy (each in part through Mr Mancino as an instructed attorney) acted in bad faith by maintaining a pretence of actual or potential cooperation with the Supporting Organisations when this was not the case, and by sending or causing to be sent the email of 20 March 2025 in secret:

115.1 four (4) months after the Directors and/or the Company transferred away the Company's interest in the Fund without telling the Supporting Organisations or the Charities;

115.2 two (2) months after the Directors and/or the Company diluted the existing Participating Shareholders without telling the Supporting Organisations or the Charities (see below);

FILED by Maples and Calder (Cayman) LLP, attorneys for the Plaintiff, whose address for service is PO Box 309, Ugland House, Grand Cayman, KY1-1104, Cayman Islands. (Ref: CJM/JRN/TQR/858403.000001/83559387)

115.3 one (1) week after the Directors and/or the Company redeemed the Company's interest in CDM without telling the Supporting Organisations or the Charities (see below);

115.4 one (1) day after the Directors placed the Company in voluntary liquidation, without telling the Supporting Organisations or the Charities.

Purported Share Issuance and allotment to DFW

116 In November 2024, without telling the Supporting Organisations or the Charities, the Directors began seeking advice from Walkers on whether the Company could issue new Participating Shares that would have the effect of diluting the existing Participating Shareholders - "in light of a possible just and equitable winding up petition" being filed by one of the Supporting Organisations.

117 On 7 February 2025, Walkers advised that, while there must be a corporate benefit to the exercise of the power, the Articles grant the Directors power to issue new shares that dilute the Participating Shareholders, and recommended the shares be issued sooner than later, and before any winding up petition was presented, since any alteration to the Company's membership made after the presentation of the petition would be void.

118 On 7 February 2025, without telling the Supporting Organisations or the Charities, the Directors resolved to issue 318 Participating Shares to DFW (the "Share Issue Resolutions"), resulting in DFW owning 51.04% of the Participating Shareholding and the dilution of the Supporting Organisations from an aggregate shareholding of 100% to 48.96% (the "Share Issuance"). The Share Issue Resolutions provided that:

118.1 Participating Shareholders had requested information and made false and misleading claims about the Company and its finances which the Directors believe were directed by Mr Dondero.

FILED by Maples and Calder (Cayman) LLP, attorneys for the Plaintiff, whose address for service is PO Box 309, Ugland House, Grand Cayman, KY1-1104, Cayman Islands. (Ref: CJM/JRN/TQR/858403.000001/83559387)

118.2 Based apparently on U.S. tax advice:

(a) There was a heightened risk the IRS could revoke the tax-exempt status of the Participating Shareholders which could imperil the status and assets of the Company.

(b) Increasing the number of Participating Shareholders would mitigate the undue influence and private inurement of Mr Dondero.

(c) The IRS would look favourably upon attempts by the Fund to maintain its independence from his (i.e. Mr Dondero's) attempts to use the Fund for his private benefit.

118.3 The Directors believed the Share Issuance to DFW would protect the Company and the Participating Shareholders and resolved that the Share Issuance to DFW be approved.

119 On 5 March 2025, Leading Counsel (Mr Tony Beswetherick KC) issued draft retrospective (but final) advice to the Company on the Share Issuance in which he opined (amongst other things) as follows:

119.1 where Articles confer a power on directors to issues shares, that power is a fiduciary one and must only be exercised for proper purposes; an issue of shares "…deliberately aimed at altering the balance of power between" is problematic; the power should not be exercised with a view to altering an existing balance of power, irrespective of whether the directors consider that doing so is in the interests of the company;

119.2 the effect of the Share Issuance was that, if there were to be a company meeting or proposal to approve a modification that affects the Participating Shareholders' rights, the ability of the prior Participating Shareholders to vote down such a change was negatively affected (DFW now having over 50% of the total Participating Shares);

119.3 it is not immediately clear from the Share Issue Resolutions whether the justifications stated were actually relevant to the Directors' decision. If they were relevant, it is not explained why the issue of shares to DFW would prevent false claims being made by Mr Dondero; it may be that those matters are part of the context, rather than part of the reason for the decision; and 119.4 the Participating Shareholders might suggest the Share Issue Resolutions are self-serving and do not tell the full story, but rather seek to obscure the true motivations of the board.

Plan to redeem the Original Participating Shareholders

120 In January and February 2025, the Directors, in connection with a plan to try to redeem the Participating Shareholders and/or the CDM Membership Interest held by the Company, and without telling the Supporting Organisations or the Charities, sought to obtain an analysis of the fair market value of the Participation Shares, and the discount that should be applied to such valuation, given the limited rights conferred upon Participating Share under the Articles.

Historic ValueScope Valuations

121 At the request of the Company, ValueScope, Inc. ("ValueScope") conducted a series of valuation analyses of 100 Participation Shares on a net asset value ("NAV") basis between December 2020 and September 2024 to determine their fair market value ("FMV"). These valuations were apparently prepared for internal reporting purposes and apparently applied consistent methodologies throughout the period. The results of these valuations are summarised below:

FILED by Maples and Calder (Cayman) LLP, attorneys for the Plaintiff, whose address for service is PO Box 309, Ugland House, Grand Cayman, KY1-1104, Cayman Islands. (Ref: CJM/JRN/TQR/858403.000001/83559387)

Valuation date	NAV	NAV Per Share	Combined Discounts	FMV Per Share	FMV (100 shares)
31 December 2020	$176.96M	$580,193	17.0%	$481,468	$48,146,754
31 December 2021	$243.19M	$797,343	11.6%	$705,210	$70,521,019
31 December 2022	$276.24M	$905,711	15.4%	$766,549	$76,654,941
31 December 2023	$277.57M	$910,076	14.0%	$782,847	$78,284,712
30 September 2024	$269.05M	$882,140	13.9%	$759,614	$75,961,370

122 The final NAV-based valuation prepared by ValueScope prior to the Restructuring was dated 7 January 2025, and gave a valuation of 100 Participating Shares as at 30 September 2024 (the "September 2024 Valuation").

PwC and FTI

123 On 14 January 2025, Walkers inquired with PwC about a valuation of "the shares of Charitable DAF Holdco". In that email, Walkers, presumably on instructions from the Directors, listed the Supporting Organisations as "potential adverse parties".

124 On 7 February 2025, Walkers informed PwC that CDM had been inserted into the structure and requested that a second valuation be prepared of all the CDM Membership Interest, which valuation Walkers said was also to rely on the NAV as previously advised (rather than leaving PwC to determine their own valuation methodology). PwC responded that their initial view is "there is no meaningful difference" between the two valuations requested - "i.e. the economic interest in the underlying NAV still fully accrues to the participating shareholders" - but that voting power/control remains with Mr Patrick (or with entities he controls). PwC asked for further information about what Mr Patrick was trying to achieve by the Restructuring to help them understand the valuation implications.

125 On 10 February 2025, PwC suggested a call with Walkers to discuss the second valuation, which call took place on 11 February 2025, and was also attended by Mr Patrick's 'onshore and Delaware counsel'. Following that call, PwC declined to take on the instructions:

> "... our view is that the new Delaware entity (CDMCFAD) effectively has full economic interest and control over the Fund, so we don't really see a basis for applying any discounts to the underlying Fund NAV for that entity. As it relates to the participating shareholders' interest in Charitable DAF Holdco, Ltd., we don't think we can reliably estimate the value/discount given the current fact pattern. While we could make hypothetical assumptions about how the articles may be interpreted, and/or how future cash flows may or may not be distributed, the impact on value is so substantial that we don't think it would be a meaningful exercise (i.e. we'd end up with the discount being 100% in one scenario, but 0% in another). On that basis, I don't think there is a fee / scope that can work for us currently."

The FTI Memo

126 On 13 February 2025, without telling the Supporting Organisations or the Charities, the Company engaged FTI Consulting in London ("FTI") to advise on (i) the discount applicable (if any) to a valuation considering how the rights attached to Participation Shares differed from those typically associated with ordinary shares, and (ii) the impact of the existence of an additional share class (being the Management Shares held by Mr Patrick). FTI's engagement letter also stated that "The Memo will also include a valuation of the ordinary shares of CDMCFAD, LLC, the immediate subsidiary of Charitable DAF HoldCo".

127 On 2 March 2025, FTI provided a draft memorandum to Walkers/the Company.

128 On 27 March 2025, FTI issued its final memorandum (the "FTI Memo"), which stated (amongst other things) that the rights of Participating Shares were extremely limited, and the potential distribution of cash was highly dependent on a member's alignment with the Fund's mission. The FTI Memo concluded that a "limited discount" for lack of control and marketability should be applied where a member is aligned with the Fund's mission (said to be close to the range concluded by ValueScope in its 7 January ValueScope Report, i.e. a discount of 13.9%), and a "high discount" of 95% where a member is not.

Legal advice sought

129 On 25 February 2025, without telling the Supporting Organisations or the Charities, the Directors sought advice from Walkers and Shields Legal on any powers under the Articles to enable the removal of the Supporting Organisations, including by (i) redemption of the Participating Shares (Art 14 and 28), (ii) a forced transfer of Participating Shares held by a Restricted Person (Art 21) (iii) or an alternative course whereby DFW repurchased the shares, which could then be cancelled, and new shares issued which are redeemable by the Company. Walkers advised that both redemption and forced transfers were not permitted but agreed with the alternative course involving DFW.

130 On 5 March 2025, as stated above, Leading Counsel provided retrospective advice to the Company regarding the Share Issuance, which also considered whether the Directors had power under the Articles to redeem the Participating Shares. Leading Counsel opined that they did not, on the basis that the Participating Shares were not issued as redeemable shares, and could not be redeemed unless there were a prior variation of the rights ascribed to them. That said, any proposal to vary the rights attached to the shares to make them redeemable would support an argument "that the [DFW Share Issue] was itself procured with a view, ultimately, to disenfranchising the pre-existing Participating Shareholders".

131 On 17 March 2025, Mr Patrick wrote to Walkers in the following terms:

> "Agree we need to finalise the [FTI valuation] reports …We should request any limits on use removed.
> We are seeking U.S. tax counsel to send emails to Paul and I that the non profits are Restricted Persons and/or best interests of the Company to have non dondero holders of its interests. After that, an alternative approach is to give them what they want – liquidate Holdco Ltd after its only investment is redeemed by the US. LLC pursuant to U.S. counsel advice above, that it's in the best interests of the Company to redeem all non-profits affiliated with Dondero. US LLC has same valuation conducted on its shares as the participation shares. so we would redeem the LLC interest, then distribute the proceeds out of Holdco Ltd., and file articles of Dissolution for Charitable daf Holdco Ltd before a wind up petition is filled. That would put us on the "high ground" to fight (rather the way this is currently heading in a defensive posture). they would have to scrap their wond up petition and fight for reinstatement, gripe about the valuations, and file fiduciary breach actions …
> We will stage this in light of the Doug letter, new advice of two separate U.S Tax counsel, and seeing how successful (or not) our outreach to the Texas attorney general office is.
> Note US LLC would make DFW its sole owner."

132 The email of 19 March 2025 makes plain that the Directors, or at least Mr Patrick, intended to liquidate the Company without notice to the Supporting Organisations and to otherwise obstruct the Supporting Organisations' ability to exercise any right to petition to wind up the Company on just and equitable grounds.

133 On 20 March 2025, Walkers provided comments on the FTI draft valuation, and FTI responded. These comments include, amongst other things:

> "Walkers: It is stated at [3.2(2)] that "there is no overriding duty of DAF's Directors to act in the shareholders' interest. The Directors will act according to the best interest of the company, that is, to achieve the charitable causes that are aligned with DAF's mission". However, as a matter of Cayman law, directors owe duties to the company, and must act in its best interests [which are] generally regarded as the interests of the members as a whole, and in certain circumstances the objects of the company may be taken into account when determining what is in its best interests.
> FTI: Can you explain how it was in the interests of the company to materially dilute the existing shareholders?
> Walkers: It is stated at [3.10] that "the Participating Shareholders do not have any rights to cause a liquidation/winding up of the company". However, the Participating Shareholders do have the right to seek a winding up of the company, as conferred upon them by the Companies Act (rather than the Articles).
> FTI: Why won't they just do this immediately and seek distributions? Isn't the ability to trigger a liquidation contradictory with point 1 which states "Shareholders do not have any right to exert influence on whether/how the funds of DAF are used or distributed".

Walkers: As per our comments, please could you delete references to our advice so as to avoid any potential arguments about waiver of privilege.

FTI: Your advice is important in us arriving at our conclusions. I understand from our legal team that we either (i) keep the reference to your advice or (ii) address the memo to you. Are you expecting there to be litigation in relation to the proposed transaction?

Walkers: Our client now seeks a valuation report which may, in connection with a proposed redemption of the membership interests in CDM, be disclosed to third parties and relied on to establish fair market value of both the membership interests in CDM, and in turn HoldCo.

FTI: This is a material change in the purpose and access rights of the report. Please provide more detail of the transaction. Is it the case that Mark will make CDM redeem the shares owned in by DAF? And who would you like to share the report with? And on what basis (e.g. non-reliance)? We also note our memo is not a valuation – it is a quantification of discounts given the rights of the participating shares. To do a valuation, we would need to do a more detailed exercise, including valuing the underlying assets."

134 On 21 to 24 March 2025, FTI and Walkers had an exchange (amongst other things) as follows:

"FTI: If the firm was wound down, would it result in distributions to the existing participating shareholders? Or would Mark still be able to shareholder structure to ensure the existing participating shareholders got nothing? Given they haven't received dividends since 2019, why haven't the participating shareholders triggered a wind down? If they can trigger a wind down and then in short order receive $300m of distributions, it does change things re discount.

Walkers: if HoldCo was wound up, the Participating Shareholders would receive distributions which would be made pari passu, and Mark (if he was the liquidator) would not be able to ensure the existing Participating Shareholders get nothing. Whilst the Participating Shareholders have the right to seek to wind up under the Companies Act, they need a proper basis to do so… We can only assume [they] have not commenced proceedings seeking to wind the company up because they do not have a proper basis on which to do so …

FTI: Would an absence of distributions be sufficient grounds to make an application to wind the company up? If the participating shareholders did make the application, would Mark be able to issue a vast number of shares to another party before the distributions were made thereby ensuring the existing shareholders received very little?

Walkers: A Participating Shareholder may consider an absence of distributions sufficient grounds for a winding up order on the just and equitable basis… But it is difficult for us to say whether that petition would be successful. If (a) a Participating Shareholder presented a petition; (b) new shares were purportedly issued; and (c) the Court then made a winding up order, the issue of the new shares would be void and not impact the amounts the Participating Shareholders would receive."

135 On 26 and 27 March 2025, FTI and Walkers had an exchange (amongst other things) as follows*:*

"Walkers: We have discussed with our client and onshore counsel and set out some amendments in the attached. In addition, we note (1) we have not received any material addressing reliance on the memo by CDM; and (2) the "Limitations and restrictions" section still provides that the memo "should not be used to support a transaction". For the memo to be useful in the circumstances, CDM [and HoldCo] need to be able to rely on it or a separate memo would need to be addressed to CDM on which it may rely. Further, both entities need to be able to rely on the memo(s) to support the proposed transaction.

FTI: What is the intention of adding that directors should act in the interests of future members? I am struggling to understand how a director could act in a manner which is beneficial for future shareholders which is not also helpful for existing shareholders.

The limitations in our note will remain. To do a valuation to support a transaction, we will need to do significantly more detailed work. This is an unusual/complicated situation. We are open to doing a fairness opinion on the transaction. But this will require approval from our risk committee and more information on the transaction and situation. We are happy for CDM to have our memo on a non-reliance basis. But this memo should not be used to support a transaction."

March 2025 ValueScope Valuation

136 Following the Restructuring, ValueScope was requested by Shields Legal, without telling the Supporting Organisations or the Charities, to prepare two valuation analyses:

136.1 100% Membership Interest in CDM; and 136.2 Certain Participating Shares of the Company as at 25 March 2025 (the "March 2025 Valuation").

137 The March 2025 Valuation had the same instructions, definition of value and scope of work as the September 2024 Valuation. Like the September 2024 Valuation, the March 2025 Valuation also referenced a 30 September 2024 balance sheet (and did not refer to any later analysis of assets and liabilities). As shown below, the September 2024 Valuation and March 2025 Valuation produced very different results.

138 A comparative summary of the September 2024 and March 2025 Valuations is set out below:

Valuation Date	DLOC*	DLOM	Valuation Basis	FMV (100 Shares)
30 September 2024	8.1%	6.3%	NAV	$75,961,370
25 March 2025	99.2%	20.00%	DCF	$536,784
Difference	+91.1%	+13.7%		-$75,424,586

*DLOC – Discounted for Lack of Control

DLOM – Discounted for Lack of Marketability

DCF – Discounted Cash Flow

139 The March 2025 Valuation stated: "for the valuation of non-controlling assets in holding companies such as DAF, the asset-based approach is most commonly used [as Valuescope had always done previously]. When applied to such companies, the approach consists of measuring the underlying net asset value of an entity (the fair market value of the entity's assets less the fair market value of its liabilities). The NAV is then discounted as appropriate to determine the fair market value of the fractional interest in the entity. However, in the case of the participation shares under consideration, the asset-based approach is not applicable. These shares do not confer control and only have a claim in respect of the underlying assets in a winding up."

FILED by Maples and Calder (Cayman) LLP, attorneys for the Plaintiff, whose address for service is PO Box 309, Ugland House, Grand Cayman, KY1-1104, Cayman Islands. (Ref: CJM/JRN/TQR/858403.000001/83559387)

140 ValueScope does not appear to have considered whether winding up was a possibility, and therefore, whether value could have been realised that way and by reference to NAV.

141 For reasons which are unclear to the Company, the March 2025 Valuation expressly rejected the asset-based (NAV) approach on the basis that the economic benefits of the Participating Shares in the Company were contingent on discretionary distributions by its manager. The report states.

> 'Unlike equity interests that derive value from an allocable portion of the entity's net assets, the economic benefits of these shares are contingent upon discretionary distributions by the director. As such, their value is not directly tied to the entity's NAV, and an alternative valuation approach is required to appropriately reflect their characteristics and economic reality'.

142 Accordingly, the methodology applied in the March 2025 Valuation was markedly different from the methodology applied in the September 2024 Valuation. Instead of relying on discounted net assets, the March 2025 Valuation:

142.1 applied a discounted cash flow ("DCF") methodology to estimate the present value of expected future distributions, rather than an asset-based approach, as had been applied in at least the past five annual valuations by ValueScope;

142.2 determined the FMV of 100 Participating Shares to be US$536,784;

142.4 applied a discount of 20.00% for DLOM.

143 The DCF model is based on the present value of future distributions to the Company. ValueScope's report shows that these were estimated based on historic distributions themselves controlled by Mr Patrick.

FILED by Maples and Calder (Cayman) LLP, attorneys for the Plaintiff, whose address for service is PO Box 309, Ugland House, Grand Cayman, KY1-1104, Cayman Islands. (Ref: CJM/JRN/TQR/858403.000001/83559387)

144 Based on the valuations above, between 30 September 2024 and 25 March 2025, the FMV of 100 Participating Shares in the Company apparently declined from US$75,961,370 to US$536,784, representing a reduction in value of 99.29% in less than a six month period, in which the Restructuring occurred, attributable to a change in valuation basis (amongst other things) from NAV to DCF.

145 Furthermore, ValueScope does not appear to have sense-tested their valuation. Although they identified "total equity" of c. US$270 million and concluded that all of the Participation Shares had a value of only c. US$1.6 million, they did not address themselves to who benefitted from the residual value of c. US$268 million.

Admission and Redemption

146 On 27 March 2025, Mr Patrick, as manager of CDM, executed a written consent (the "Manager Consent") to (a) cause CDM to admit DFW as an additional member of CDM pursuant to the terms of an Admission and Amendment No.1 Agreement (the "Admission Agreement") and (b) redeem the CDM Membership Interest held by the Company pursuant to the terms of a Redemption and Amendment No. 2 Agreement (the "Redemption Agreement" and together with the Admission Agreement, the "Restructure Agreements"):

146.1 The recitals to the Manager Consent stated that the redemption of the Company's membership interest was justified by reason of alleged attempts by the Supporting Organisations to exert control, and the potential loss of their (i.e. the Supporting Organisations') non-profit and tax-exempt status:

> "… the Manager has formed the view that the Current Member, by virtue of being a member of the Company and having as Participating Shareholders the Highland Foundations, poses a material risk to the Company, its assets, and the Mission Statement of DAF due to, among other things, (i) officers and directors of the Highland Foundations seeking to assert dominion and control over the assets of DAF (through the Current Member), despite no legal ability to do so under the Current Member's organizational documents and despite the potential illegality (as demonstrated by tax counsel to DAF—see Exhibits C and D) of doing so, (ii) the potential loss of the non-profit status of the Highland Foundations due to their actions, among others, described in clause (i), and (iii) the potential loss of the tax-exempt status which the Highland Foundations currently enjoy and which is central to the mission of DAF, as a result of the factors including those described in clauses (i) and (ii)"

146.2 The Manager Consent further stated:

"WHEREAS, in connection with the Restructure Agreements and the transactions contemplated thereby, the Manager (on behalf of the Company) obtained a valuation report of the membership interests of the Company from ValueScope and FTI Consulting, copies of which are attached hereto as Exhibit E, which valuation reports have informed the Manager the fair market value of the membership interests"

146.3 Exhibits C and D to the Manager Consent are documents purportedly containing information regarding various alleged U.S. tax issues relating to the Company.

146.4 Exhibit C is the letter from Mr Mancino to the IRS dated 20 March 2025, in which Mr Mancino (amongst other things) stated:

(a) there has been "deterioration" of the Company's relationship with Highland Dallas Foundation, Inc. ("HDF") due to the undue influence and control exercised over HDF by Mr Dondero.

FILED by Maples and Calder (Cayman) LLP, attorneys for the Plaintiff, whose address for service is PO Box 309, Ugland House, Grand Cayman, KY1-1104, Cayman Islands. (Ref: CJM/JRN/TQR/858403.000001/83559387)

(b) the information in the letter will demonstrate clearly that Mr Dondero's influence and control is an inappropriate donor relationship with representatives of the HDF who serve on the Board of Directors of and as officers of HDF.

(c) such undue influence and control potentially jeopardises the tax-exempt status of HDF as an organisation described in s.501(c)(3) and, at a minimum, causes it to fail to remain a supporting organisation described in s. 509(a)(3).

146.5 Exhibit D is an advice produced by Carrington Coleman (U.S. law firm) dated 25 March 2025 (the "Carrington Advice") which amongst other things:

(a) asserts that Mr Dondero has been attempting "through his control of the Highland SOs, to exert dominion and control over the cash and property he previously donated to DAF and for which he claimed charitable deductions, all for his personal benefit."

(b) suggests that Mr Dondero was using the Company as his personal "piggy bank", and that it may be perceived by the IRS that the Fund has been or is his financial alter ego.

(c) concludes that "the IRS will look favourably upon any and all attempts for DAF to maintain its independence from what seems to be persistent attempts by Dondero, and the entities controlled by him to use DAF for his private benefit and inurement."

146.6 Exhibit E contained two valuation reports:

(a) The first was a ValueScope valuation.

(b) The second is the FTI Memo referred to above, in which FTI expressly stated that the analysis in the FTI Memo should not be used in support of a transaction, but which Mr Patrick, in any event:

(i) expressly relied upon in the Manager Consent to determine the fair market value of the CDM Membership Interest and the basis for the redemption of the Company's interests; and

(ii) permitted Carrington Coleman to refer to and rely on in the FTI Memo (indeed, having provided the 27 March 2025 copy which was a draft copy only).

146.7 On 27 March 2025, without telling the Supporting Organisations or the Charities, Mr Patrick executed the:

(a) Admission Agreement between CDM and DFW under which DFW was admitted as a member of CDM, in consideration for a capital contribution of US$1,637,192; and

(b) Redemption Agreement under which CDM redeemed the Company's membership interest in CDM for the same sum of US$1,637,192 (the "Redemption Sum").

147 On 27 March 2025, without telling the Supporting Organisations or the Charities, the Company entered into a letter agreement with CDM (the "Letter Agreement"), pursuant to which the Company assigned to CDM various contracts and agreements to which the Company was a party, listed in Schedule A to the Letter Agreement and CDM agreed to assume the liabilities and obligations in respect of those contracts.

148 On 2 April 2025, the Directors of the Company, by way of written resolution:

FILED by Maples and Calder (Cayman) LLP, attorneys for the Plaintiff, whose address for service is PO Box 309, Ugland House, Grand Cayman, KY1-1104, Cayman Islands. (Ref: CJM/JRN/TQR/858403.000001/83559387)

148.1 Noted the redemption of the Company's membership interest in CDM for the Redemption Sum (the "Redemption").

148.2 Resolved to pay a dividend to the Original Participating Shareholders of US$1,612,192.01 in the amount of (i) US$528,587.54 with respect to each of HDF, Highland Kansas City Foundation, Inc. and Highland Santa Barbara Foundation, Inc.; and (ii) US$26,429.39 with respect to CFNT.

149 The substantive financial effect of the Redemption, under which DFW did or was committed to make a capital contribution equivalent to the Redemption Sum to CDM, and the CDM Membership Interest held by the Company were redeemed for the Redemption Sum, was that the Company's membership interest in CDM was purchased by or otherwise transferred to DFW for the Redemption Sum.

150 The substantive effect of the overall transaction or series of transactions pleaded above, including the Impugned Transactions already pleaded, was that:

150.1 The Company realised its interest in the Fund, which had a NAV of c. US$270 million, for c. US$1.6 million.

150.2 The Company made a distribution to the Original Participating Shareholders (c. US$1.6 million).

150.3 The Supporting Organisations and the Charities were actually or effectively divested of their indirect interest in the Fund, and the assets underlying the Fund; and 150.4 The Original Participating Shareholders were diluted from 100% of the economic interests in the Company to less than 50%.

Voluntary Liquidation and Supervision Order

151 On 2 April 2025, the Directors resolved, without telling the Supporting Organisations or the Charities, to place the Company into voluntary liquidation and appoint Mitchell Mansfield and William Clarke (the JVLs) of Kroll (Cayman) Ltd as voluntary liquidators.

152 However, unaware of the voluntary liquidation, on 10 April 2025, the Supporting Organisations presented a petition seeking the winding up of the Company on a just and equitable basis, under section 92(e) of the Companies Act (2025 Revision) (the "J&E Petition").

153 On 25 April 2025, Walkers and Shields Legal held a call to discuss the J&E Petition. Following that call, Mr Patrick wrote in an email that the "message ideas" "for Monday" were to "poison the well", by which he meant to create a negative impression of Mr Dondero in the eyes of the Court.

154 On 6 May 2025, Justice Jalil Asif KC made a supervision order, under which voluntary liquidation of the Company was to be continued under the supervision of the Court pursuant to s.131 of the Companies Act (As Revised), and the JOLs were appointed.

OBLIGATIONS OWED BY THE DIRECTORS

155 At all material times, the Directors, as directors, owed the following duties individually to the Company:

155.1 A fiduciary duty to act bona fide in what he considers to be the best interests of the Company (the "Best Interests Duty").

155.2 A fiduciary duty to exercise his powers for a proper purpose, and for the purposes for which they were conferred (the "Proper Purpose Rule").

155.3 A fiduciary duty not to place himself in a position where his personal interest actually or potentially conflicted with his duty of loyalty to the Company (the "First No-Conflicts Duty").

155.4 A fiduciary duty not to place himself in a position where his duty to another actually or potentially conflicted with his duty of loyalty to the Company (the "Second No-Conflicts Duty").

155.5 A fiduciary duty to not make an unauthorised profit from or by reason of his fiduciary position (the "No Profit Duty").

155.6 A fiduciary duty not to accrue or take a benefit or commercial opportunity from the Company without the full and informed consent of the Company (the "No Self-Dealing Rule").

155.7 A duty to exercise reasonable skill, care, and diligence in the performance of his role and function as director (the "Reasonable Care Duty").

156 With respect at least to Mr Patrick, his duties above and the standard to which he was obliged to comply with such duties are affected by being in the Control Position and the trustee or trustee-like position he occupied. Paragraph 76 above is also relied upon.

157 The Company reserves its position as to whether Mr Patrick, by reason of being in the Control Position and the trustee or trustee-like position he occupied, was an express or other trustee of the assets of the Fund for the Original Participating Shareholders and, through or in addition to them, the Charities.

ATTRIBUTION OF KNOWLEDGE AND INTENTION

158 As a matter of Cayman Islands law, Mr Patrick's intention and knowledge of facts and matters for all such purposes relevant to this claim is to be attributed to each of DFW, CDM, and the New GP on the basis of at least the following facts:

158.1 As regards DFW, Mr Patrick is listed under DFW's certificate of incorporation, dated 9 December 2024, as "the member of the corporation", and the Admission Agreement showed he served as its "President". Mr Patrick is also the registered director of DFW. Mr Patrick the agent of DFW, in which capacity Mr Patrick executed the Admission Agreement.

158.2 As regards CDM, Mr Patrick is described under the LLC Agreement as the "Manager" of CDM, in which role Mr Patrick was CDM's agent, and in which capacity he (i) executed the Deed of Assignment and Assumption on behalf of CDM, and (ii) executed a written 'Manager Consent' (the "Manager Consent") approving the Redemption and Admission Agreements; and executed the Redemption and Admission Agreements.

158.3 As regards the New GP, Mr Patrick was and remains its director, and therefore its agent (in which capacity, Mr Patrick executed the Deed of Assignment and Assumption on the New GP's behalf). Further, Mr Patrick is the sole shareholder of the New GP.

159 Further, if applicable, as a matter of the laws of the State of Delaware, Mr Patrick's knowledge and intention is to be attributed to DFW, CDM, and the New GP on a like basis.

CLAIMS AGAINST THE DEFENDANTS

Breaches of fiduciary and other duty

160 The First and Second Defendants, and each of them, in their capacity as a Director of the Company, acted in breach of their fiduciary and other duties to the Company as follows.

FILED by Maples and Calder (Cayman) LLP, attorneys for the Plaintiff, whose address for service is PO Box 309, Ugland House, Grand Cayman, KY1-1104, Cayman Islands. (Ref: CJM/JRN/TQR/858403.000001/83559387)

Restructuring, including the CDM Assignment

161 The Directors (and each of them), in procuring, directing or effecting the Restructuring as set out above, acted in breach of their duties to the Company, including the Best Interests Duty, the Proper Purpose Rule and the Reasonable Care Duty. Additionally, Mr Patrick, in procuring, directing or effecting the Restructuring as set out above, acted in breach of his duties to the Company, including the No Self-Dealing Rule, No Profit Duty, and No-Conflicts Duty (First and Second No-Conflicts Duties).

PARTICULARS

161.1 The Plaintiff relies on paragraphs 77 to 105 above.

161.2 With the assistance of Mr Mancino, Mr Patrick took steps to form CDM and appoint himself as Manager of CDM.

161.3 Mr Patrick designed and/or negotiated and/or directed and/or effected the Restructuring in his capacity as Director of the Company, Director of the New GP, and Manager of CDM, being each of the parties to the Deed, and signed the Deed on behalf of each party.

161.4 The Directors (and each of them) approved the transfer of the Company's entire limited partnership interest in the Fund (having net assets worth c. US$270 million) to CDM, a Delaware entity whose LLC Agreement excluded any fiduciary obligations owed by its Manager (i.e. Mr Patrick) to CDM itself or to its members; in exchange for membership interest in CDM, which interest was capable of being extinguished, by redemption, and for a "fair value", determined at the discretion of the Manager (i.e. Mr Patrick).

FILED by Maples and Calder (Cayman) LLP, attorneys for the Plaintiff, whose address for service is PO Box 309, Ugland House, Grand Cayman, KY1-1104, Cayman Islands. (Ref: CJM/JRN/TQR/858403.000001/83559387)

161.5 The Restructuring was of no benefit to the Company and not in its best interests, and Mr Patrick was subject to conflicts of interest (First and Second No-Conflicts Duties) and committed acts of self-dealing.

161.6 The Directors (and each of them) acted when each of them:

(a) knew or ought to have known that the Company was proposing to exchange the Partnership Interest for a membership interest in CDM that was subject to redemption entirely at Mr Patrick's discretion, and for a "fair value" determined, in good faith, in his discretion.

(b) knew or ought to have known that the Company was therefore proposing to trade its Partnership Interest, which was not in practical terms defeasible, for an interest that could be extinguished: (i) at a time over which it had no control, (ii) for a price over which it had very limited control and (iii) for a potential valuation basis which excluded a net asset valuation of the assets held in the Fund.

(c) knew or ought to have known that the CDM Membership Interest was to be in a Delaware-incorporated company whose LLC Agreement excluded any fiduciary obligations owed by its Manager either to CDM itself or to its members and was therefore less valuable than the Partnership Interest.

(d) knew or ought to have known that the CDM Assignment was therefore a transaction at an undervalue.

161.7 It can be inferred, and is averred, that Mr Patrick was drawing fees or remuneration or emoluments or benefits from CDM without the full authorisation or full and informed consent of the Company.

161.8 Further, and in any event, the Directors (and each of them) acted when each of them:

FILED by Maples and Calder (Cayman) LLP, attorneys for the Plaintiff, whose address for service is PO Box 309, Ugland House, Grand Cayman, KY1-1104, Cayman Islands. (Ref: CJM/JRN/TQR/858403.000001/83559387)

(a) knew or ought to have known that the CDM Assignment was the first step in a series of connected future transactions, including those pursuant to the CDM Assignment, the Share Issuance, the Admission Agreement, the Redemption Agreement and the Redemption, under which the Directors were able to and ultimately did procure the redemption of the Company's CDM Membership Interest, thus extinguishing the Company's interest in the Fund, for an undervalue.

(b) knew or ought to have known that:

(i) the full terms and effect of the CDM Assignment was not a proper or proportionate response to any genuinely perceived risk about U.S. tax concerns.

(ii) the full terms and effect the CDM Assignment was not a proper or proportionate response to any genuinely perceived risk to the Company, which was not itself a Donor Advised Fund and/or did not enjoy or require tax-exempt status under s.501(c)(3) of the U.S. Internal Revenue Code.

(iii) other approaches to address concerns with respect to the tax-exempt status of the HDF short of undertaking the Restructuring (and entering into the CDM Assignment) included notifying the HDF of the conflict and/or concerns and requesting it to remedy it or them.

(iv) even if the facts and matters alleged in relation to the HDF were correct, there was more than a possibility, after an extended passage of time and at least two levels of appeal, that a U.S. tax audit would result in an adverse determination with respect to the tax-exempt status of the HDF.

FILED by Maples and Calder (Cayman) LLP, attorneys for the Plaintiff, whose address for service is PO Box 309, Ugland House, Grand Cayman, KY1-1104, Cayman Islands. (Ref: CJM/JRN/TQR/858403.000001/83559387)

(v) the tax-exempt status of the HDF was of no concern or no reasonable concern to the Company.

(c) knew or ought to have known that they were keeping the Restructuring, the CDM Assignment, CDM itself and all the surrounding circumstances secret from the Participating Shareholders.

162 By reason of the foregoing breaches of duty or any of them:

162.1 The CDM Assignment is void, alternatively voidable and hereby avoided.

162.2 CDM holds the Partnership Interest on trust or constructive trust for the Company.

162.3 CDM is required to re-transfer the Partnership Interest to the Company and account for any profits on the basis of such trust or constructive trust and/or on a restitutionary and/or on a proprietary basis.

Share Issuance

163 The Directors (and each of them), in procuring, directing or effecting the Share Issuance as set out above, acted in breach of their duties to the Company, including the Best Interests Duty, the Proper Purpose Rule and the Reasonable Care Duty. Additionally, Mr Patrick, in procuring, directing or effecting the Share Issuance as set out above, acted in breach of his duties to the Company, including the No Self-Dealing Rule, No Profit Duty, and No-Conflicts Duty (First and Second No-Conflicts Duties).

PARTICULARS

163.1 The Plaintiff relies on paragraphs 77 to 84, 91 to 96 and 106 to 119 above.

FILED by Maples and Calder (Cayman) LLP, attorneys for the Plaintiff, whose address for service is PO Box 309, Ugland House, Grand Cayman, KY1-1104, Cayman Islands. (Ref: CJM/JRN/TQR/858403.000001/83559387)

163.2 The Directors (and each of them) designed and/or engineered the Share Issuance, having sought legal advice in relation to the powers conferred on them as Directors of the Company, for the improper purpose of:

(a) diluting without any proper reason or corporate purpose the existing Participating Shareholders and/or depriving the ability of the Supporting Organisations to continue to comprise a majority of the Participating Shareholders.

(b) inserting DFW as a new Participating Shareholder, an entity under the sole control of Mr Patrick, to obstruct and/or prejudice and/or adversely affect the exercise of a Participating Shareholders' right to petition for the just and equitable winding-up of the Company.

163.3 The Directors (and each of them) acted when each of them:

(a) knew or ought to have known the issue and allotment of shares at par to DFW was of no benefit to the Company.

(b) knew or ought to have known that the exercise of the power to issue shares and allot them to DFW was for the improper purpose of diluting the interest of the Original Participating Shareholders.

(c) knew or ought to have known that the Share Issue Resolution and/or the Share Issuance or otherwise the issue and/or allotment of shares to DFW was a response to the prospect that the Supporting Organisations might present a petition for the winding-up of the Company on a just and equitable basis, as indeed they did on 10 April 2025 in ignorance of the Share Issue Resolution and/or the Share Issuance or otherwise the issue and/or allotment of shares to DFW.

FILED by Maples and Calder (Cayman) LLP, attorneys for the Plaintiff, whose address for service is PO Box 309, Ugland House, Grand Cayman, KY1-1104, Cayman Islands. (Ref: CJM/JRN/TQR/858403.000001/83559387)

(d) knew or ought to have known that the sole or primary purpose of the Share Issue Resolution and/or the Share Issuance or otherwise the issue and/or allotment of shares to DFW was to insert a new majority Participating Shareholder (under their or at least Mr Patrick's control) into the Company's share capital structure to (if they or at least Mr Patrick deemed fit) to oppose the actions of the Supporting Organisations and/or the Original Participating Shareholders, both in relation to any potential contributories' winding-up petition and otherwise, and/or to obstruct and/or prejudice and/or adversely affect the exercise at any time of any rights of the Supporting Organisations as Participating Shareholders.

163.4 Mr Patrick designed and/or directed and/or effected the Share Issuance in his capacity as Director of the Company, even though he was 'President' of DFW and the sole member and the sole director of DFW.

163.5 It can be inferred, and is averred, that Mr Patrick was drawing fees or remuneration or emoluments or benefits from DFW (if not also from CDM) without the full authorisation or full and informed consent of the Company.

164 By reason of the foregoing breaches of duty or any of them:

164.1 the Share Issue Resolution and/or the Share Issuance or otherwise the issue and/or allotment of shares to DFW is void, alternatively voidable and hereby avoided.

164.2 DFW holds its shares on trust or constructive trust for the Company.

164.3 DFW is required to concur in the rescission of the allotment and to re-transfer its shares to the Company on the basis of such trust or constructive trust and/or on a restitutionary and/or on a proprietary basis.

164.4 The Company's register of shareholders shall be rectified accordingly.

Admission and Redemption

165 The Directors (and each of them), in procuring or entering into the Admission Agreement and the Redemption Agreement, and/or in procuring, directing or effecting the Redemption acted in breach of their duties to the Company, including the Best Interests Duty, the Proper Purpose Rule and the Reasonable Care Duty. Additionally, Mr Patrick, in procuring or entering into the Admission Agreement and the Redemption Agreement, or in procuring, directing or effecting the Redemption as set out above, acted in breach of his duties to the Company, including the No Self-Dealing Rule, No Profit Duty, and No-Conflicts Duty (First and Second No-Conflicts Duties).

PARTICULARS

165.1 The Plaintiff relies on paragraphs 120 to 150 above.

165.2 The Directors (and each of them) acted when each of them:

(a) knew or ought to have known that:

(i) proceeding on the basis of the Seyfarth/Mancino letter to the IRS dated 20 March 2025 was flawed or unreasonable.

(ii) proceeding was not a proper or proportionate response to any genuinely perceived risk about U.S. tax concerns.

(iii) the tax-exempt status of the HDF was of no concern or no reasonable concern to the Company.

(iv) proceeding on the basis of the March 2025 Valuation and the FTI Report was flawed in that: (i) the 99.2% discount in value proposed by the ValueScope Report was a manifestly excessive discount, and resulted in the Company parting with its indirect ownership of 99% of the economic interest in the Fund (which had net assets worth c. US$270 million) for a mere US$1,637,192; and (ii) as pleaded above, the FTI Report expressly stated that "this memo should not be used to support a transaction."

(v) the Admission Agreement and the Redemption Agreement were steps in a series of connected transactions, including those pursuant to the CDM Assignment, the Share Issuance, under which the Directors were able to and ultimately did procure the extinguishment of the Company's interest in the Fund, through the redemption of the Company's membership interest in CDM, for an undervalue.

(b) knew or ought to have known that the sole or primary purpose of the Admission Agreement, the Redemption Agreement and the Redemption was to ensure that the Company was fully and finally deprived of an asset (its interest in the Fund) at an undervalue; and to enable a third party, DFW, controlled by Mr Patrick, to procure ownership of an interest in the Fund in complete replacement of the Company.

165.3 Mr Patrick designed and/or negotiated and/or directed and/or effected the Admission Agreement, the Redemption Agreement and the Redemption as Director of the Company, even though he was Manager of CDM and 'President' of DFW, sole member of CDM and sole member and sole director of DFW.

166 By reason of the foregoing breaches of duty or any of them:

FILED by Maples and Calder (Cayman) LLP, attorneys for the Plaintiff, whose address for service is PO Box 309, Ugland House, Grand Cayman, KY1-1104, Cayman Islands. (Ref: CJM/JRN/TQR/858403.000001/83559387)

166.1 DFW holds the CDM Membership Interest on trust or constructive trust for the Company.

166.2 DFW is required to concur in the transfer of the CDM Membership Interest to the Company or as the Company directs on the basis of such trust or constructive trust and/or on a restitutionary and/or on a proprietary basis.

Further claims against Mr Murphy

167 In respect of any breach of duty as set out above for which Mr Patrick alone is liable:

167.1 At all material times, Mr Murphy worked in close concert with Mr Patrick, including at his direction.

167.2 Mr Murphy knew or ought to have known all the facts and matters pleaded above as known or ought to have been known by Mr Patrick.

167.3 Mr Murphy knew or ought to have known of all the facts and matters pertaining to such breach or breaches by Mr Patrick.

167.4 Mr Murphy took no steps to stop Mr Patrick or to prevent or report the breach or breaches of duty by Mr Patrick.

167.5 Mr Murphy accepted and acquiesced in all steps and actions suggested, promoted or effected by Mr Patrick.

167.6 Mr Murphy accepted and acquiesced in the breach or breaches of duty by Mr Patrick.

167.7 As a consequence, Mr Murphy has acted in breach of his duties to the Company, including the Best Interests Duty and the Reasonable Care Duty.

FILED by Maples and Calder (Cayman) LLP, attorneys for the Plaintiff, whose address for service is PO Box 309, Ugland House, Grand Cayman, KY1-1104, Cayman Islands. (Ref: CJM/JRN/TQR/858403.000001/83559387)

Directors' Fees, Remuneration and Expenses

168 The Company is still unclear as to what precise fees or remuneration or emoluments or benefits were afforded to the Directors and from what source, and as to the proper expenses of the Company, in the period after March 2021 and thus reserves its position.

169 As is pleaded above in paragraphs 85 to 89, the Directors approved large increases for Mr Patrick's remuneration, benefits or emoluments: by around 1 October 2024, Mr Patrick's remuneration comprised a base salary of US$850,000, a bonus of 2.5 times that base salary, an LTI incentive payment of US$975,000; for the period March 2021 to March 2024, Mr Patrick was entitled to an aggregate LTI payment of US$4,759,000; and eligibility for discretionary and annual bonuses in addition, to be determined at the sole and absolute discretion of the Directors. By contrast, Mr Scott's annual salary and entire benefits during his tenure in the Control Position was US$60,000.

170 Insofar as the Directors (or each of them) approved of or procured any payment or benefit to or for Mr Patrick or Mr Murphy more than the sum of US$60,000 per annum each in respect of fees or remuneration or emoluments or benefits, such sum was excessive and conferred in breach of duty to the Company, including the Best Interests Duty, the Proper Purpose Rule, the first No-Conflicts Duty, the No Self-Dealing Rule and the Reasonable Care Duty.

171 Further, as is pleaded above, the Directors (or each of them) approved or caused the payment of considerable sums by way of expenses, amounting for example to US$18.3 million for the first half of 2024, and US$18.6 million spent over 2023. Such expenses may include the expenses incurred in effecting the transactions which are the subject matter of these proceedings. The reasonableness or bona fides of these expenses is not accepted by the Company.

172 The Company claims:

FILED by Maples and Calder (Cayman) LLP, attorneys for the Plaintiff, whose address for service is PO Box 309, Ugland House, Grand Cayman, KY1-1104, Cayman Islands. (Ref: CJM/JRN/TQR/858403.000001/83559387)

172.1 Full information, documents and discovery as to the fees or remuneration or emoluments or benefits or expenses paid or claimed by Mr Patrick and Mr Murphy and each of them since March 2021.

172.2 Full information, documents and discovery as to expenses incurred by the Company or the Fund or any of the Fund's subsidiaries or investments since March 2021.

172.3 Repayment to the Company of all fees or remuneration or emoluments or benefits paid or claimed by Mr Patrick or Mr Murphy and each of them in excess of US$60,000 per annum; together with all improperly paid expenses caused or procured by Mr Patrick or Mr Murphy (or damages or equitable compensation in relation thereto).

Unlawful Means Conspiracy

173 The facts and matters pleaded above amount to an unlawful means conspiracy as follows:

173.1 It is unclear when the conspiracy began but it appears to have started by around the start of 2024.

173.2 The original conspirators were Mr Patrick and Mr Murphy. The Company is unaware of the circumstances in which Mr Patrick and Mr Murphy agreed or combined and is unable to plead further pending further information or discovery.

173.3 As they were incorporated and participated in the facts and matters pleaded above, the New GP, CDM and DFW joined the conspiracy but remain liable in damages for all losses, including prior to joining the conspiracy.

173.4 The conspiracy was a conspiracy to injure the Company.

173.5 The overt acts of the conspiracy were all the facts and matters pleaded above, including as breaches by Mr Patrick or Mr Murphy.

FILED by Maples and Calder (Cayman) LLP, attorneys for the Plaintiff, whose address for service is PO Box 309, Ugland House, Grand Cayman, KY1-1104, Cayman Islands. (Ref: CJM/JRN/TQR/858403.000001/83559387)

173.6 The unlawful means of the conspiracy were all the facts and matters pleaded above as breaches of duty by Mr Patrick or Mr Murphy.

173.7 Each of the conspirators intended to injure the Company. This averment is an inference from all the facts and matters pleaded above.

173.8 As a consequence, the Company has suffered loss and damage, as a result of the Restructuring, the CDM Assignment, and the Admission and Redemption, and the combined effect thereof, as set out above.

Proprietary claim and/or unconscionable receipt

174 The facts and matters pleaded above give rise to claims by the Company for unconscionable receipt as follows:

174.1 CDM received the Company's Partnership Interest in the Fund under the CDM Assignment.

174.2 The knowledge of CDM was and is that of Mr Patrick.

174.3 The breaches of duty in relation to the CDM Assignment above are relied upon.

174.4 CDM knew that the CDM Assignment was at an undervalue and that causing or procuring the Company to enter into the CDM Assignment was a breach of fiduciary duty by Mr Patrick and/or Mr Murphy.

174.5 By reason of the foregoing, it is unconscionable for CDM to retain the Partnership Interest in the Fund and CDM is liable to account to the Company in equity, by restoring Partnership Interest in the Fund to the Company and/or accounting for any profits or otherwise accounting to the Company in equity.

FILED by Maples and Calder (Cayman) LLP, attorneys for the Plaintiff, whose address for service is PO Box 309, Ugland House, Grand Cayman, KY1-1104, Cayman Islands. (Ref: CJM/JRN/TQR/858403.000001/83559387)

Unjust Enrichment

175 In receiving the Company's Partnership Interest in the Fund, CDM was unjustly enriched at the Company's expense and is liable to the Company in restitution:

175.1 The Partnership Interest was transferred on the basis that there was a valid assignment agreement effecting that transfer.

175.2 That basis has totally failed, the CDM Assignment being either void, or avoided hereby.

Alter Ego and Lifting the Corporate Veil

176 In order to obtain the return to it of the Partnership Interest in the Fund, together with an Account of Profits, the Company does not need as a matter of law to make any allegation of "alter ego" or to lift the corporate veil in relation to CDM or DFW.

177 If, contrary to the paragraph above, the Company does so need, it makes the following allegations for the purposes of all relevant claims or causes of action set out above.

177.2 DFW is the "alter ego" of Mr Patrick.

177.3 In relation to the receipt of any property by CDM directly or indirectly from the Company or the accrual of any profits or benefits by reason of such receipt, the corporate veil should be lifted, with the consequence that such receipt and such profits or benefits should be treated as those of Mr Patrick personally.

177.4 In relation to the receipt of any property by DFW directly or indirectly from the Company or the accrual of any profits or benefits by reason of such receipt, the corporate veil should be lifted, with the consequence that such receipt and such profits or benefits should be treated as those of Mr Patrick personally.

FILED by Maples and Calder (Cayman) LLP, attorneys for the Plaintiff, whose address for service is PO Box 309, Ugland House, Grand Cayman, KY1-1104, Cayman Islands. (Ref: CJM/JRN/TQR/858403.000001/83559387)

PARTICULARS

(i) Mr Patrick was and is the Manager. There are no other officers or managers.

(ii) Mr Patrick was and is the managing member.

(iii) CDM was incorporated at Mr Patrick's instigation in order to enter into the CDM Assignment or a transaction of like nature.

(iv) CDM's sole or primary purpose was to play a part in a scheme whereby Mr Patrick would obtain control of the Company's Partnership Interest in the Fund free of the Company, the Company's obligations towards the Supporting Organisations and (if the scheme succeeded) free of Mr Patrick's duties to the Company.

(v) CDM exists and operates in order to conceal the identity of the true or real actor, namely Mr Patrick.

(b) In relation to DFW:

(i) Mr Patrick was and is the 'President'. There are no other officers or managers.

(ii) Mr Patrick was and is the sole member.

(iv) DFW was incorporated at Mr Patrick's instigation in order to enter into a transaction whereby it would in effect take over the Company's interest in CDM pursuant to the CDM Assignment.

(v) DFW's sole or primary purpose was (i) to play a part in a scheme whereby Mr Patrick would obtain control of the Company's Partnership Interest in the Fund free of the Company, the Company's obligations towards the Supporting Organisations and (if the scheme succeeded) free of Mr Patrick's duties to the Company, (ii) to be the ultimate vehicle by which Mr Patrick would so control of the Company's Partnership Interest in the Fund and (iii) to be a newly-inserted majority Participating Shareholder (under at least Mr Patrick's control) in the Company's share capital structure to oppose the actions of the Supporting Organisations, both in relation to any potential contributories' winding-up petition and otherwise, and/or to obstruct and/or prejudice and/or adversely affect the exercise at any time of any rights of the Supporting Organisations as Participating Shareholders.

(vi) DFW exists and operates in order to conceal the identity of the true or real actor, namely Mr Patrick.

178.4 Improper expenses (if any).

178.5 The lost opportunity cost of the Fund and its subsidiaries deploying such funds (as set out in (1), (2) and (3) above) elsewhere, and the consequent fall in value of the Company's interest in the Fund.

178.6 The legal and liquidation costs of investigating the conspiracy, and the costs of these proceedings.

179 The Company and the JOLs (who direct the Company in bringing these proceedings) fully reserve their position to apply to amend this claim in any way or to bring fresh or further proceedings against any of the Defendants (whether in the Cayman Islands or elsewhere) in the name of the Company or in the name of the JOLs.

To: Mr. Paul Murphy
Director of Charitable DAF HoldCo, Ltd. and Charitable DAF Holdings Corp.
paul@gkmanagement.com.ky

Dear Mr. Murphy:

We write to you collectively on behalf of the following organizations:

1. Highland Dallas Foundation, Inc., a participation shareholder in Charitable DAF HoldCo, Ltd., of which you are a director along with Mark Patrick. As you know, Mr. Patrick also is the managing member of the Charitable DAF GP, LLC, which governs the related Charitable DAF Fund, LP.

2. Highland Kansas City Foundation, Inc., also a participation shareholder in Charitable DAF HoldCo, Ltd.

3. Highland Santa Barbara Foundation, Inc., also a participation shareholder in Charitable DAF Holdco, Ltd.

Highland Dallas Foundation, Inc is a supporting organization of The Dallas Foundation. Highland Kansas City Foundation, Inc. is a supporting organization of Greater Kansas City Community Foundation. Highland Santa Barbara Foundation, Inc. is a supporting organization of Santa Barbara Foundation. The Dallas Foundation, Greater Kansas City Community Foundation and Santa Barbara Foundation (collectively the "Foundations") have worked closely with their respective supporting organizations named above to award grants and funding to a wide range of charitable causes that have made tangible, lasting impacts on the communities they serve. Our primary commitment has been, and always will be, our concern for the community, respect for donors, thoughtful giving, and careful investing—core values that have guided each of us throughout our existence.

With these core values and with the well-being of these Foundations in mind, we write you to voice that we no longer have confidence that the governance structures of, including but not limited to Charitable DAF-GP, LLC, Charitable DAF HoldCo, Ltd., Charitable DAF Fund, L.P. and CLO HoldCo, Ltd. (collectively the "DAF-related entities"), can function appropriately. We believe a reorganization must occur or the DAF-related entities should be equitably wound up because the governance structure has become unworkable. Recently, various competing constituencies provided the Foundations with conflicting information related to the operations and financial inner workings of the DAF-related entities. This conflicting information raises significant concerns about how the corpus of these funds is administered and spent. The Foundations have no real pathway to verify the information as the current governance structures prevent them from receiving such information, and indeed, efforts to secure additional information have been rebuffed. As a result, these recent submissions demonstrate that the current governance structure is ill-equipped to address such allegations and provide sufficient protection to the economic funds that support so many charitable efforts.

Further, because we have substantial concerns, out of an abundance of caution, and until an accounting can be conducted, we believe it is inappropriate for anyone to authorize the depletion of further assets of DAF-related entities. We urge you to take our accounting and governance concerns seriously because depletion of assets in the DAF-related entities has a direct impact on our mission and the charitable good works in our communities.

Thank you for your attention to this matter. Our counsel with the law firm of Holland & Knight LLP is copied on this letter should you have any questions.

Sincerely yours,

[this message is from an external sender]

Thanks for this Geoffry,

Mark, I'll let Walkers come back but here are my thoughts:

1. Issuance of new participation shares, where the existing foundations represent a smaller % of the issued and outstanding shares, would weaken any petition based on just and equitable grounds but we must be careful that they don't point to this as ground to wind up i.e. the existing foundations say we're artificially trying to weaken their position by diluting them therefore the company should be wound up or an order made for change of management/revocation of the share issuances. It's a very difficult situation to get right without gifting them a potential ground to claim just and equitable grounds.

2. Management shareholders have a right to object to the winding up but they have no special status by virtue of being management shares. I'll have to double check the docs but this would be different if there were something in the articles of association/share issuance agreement where there was an explicit provision where they had agreed not to present a winding up petition. The just and equitable ground is specifically designed to prevent unfair prejudice to a shareholder.

3. I think our main point is to stress that if they take any action they significantly undermine Donderro's position in the bankruptcy and UBS action because he will be seen as the alter ego of DAF as they've always claimed. Additionally, taking steps to preserve independence improves the DAFs standing in those proceedings. This isn't related to the advice but something for the call next week.

Paul.

Another consideration, is that Holdco has management shares. Does the equitable theory take into account the rights of the owner of the management shares when the non-control shares want equitable relief. If the management shareholders, disagrees, are those powers and right abdicated in a equitable wind down proceedong? Seems the Management Shareholder has a right to express its rights as to whether the company should be wound down or not.

Subject: DAF - Participating Shares Summary

[this message is from an external sender]

Doug and Walkers team,

As discussed, here are our notes from a review of the provisions applicable to Participating Shares in the Articles for Charitable DAF HoldCo, Ltd. As you know, we are not licensed in the Cayman Islands, so we would appreciate Walkers' help to confirm/expand our views.

Rights of Participating Shares*:

Rights

1. Participate (receive) discretionary dividends. See "Participating Share" and Articles generally.
2. If new shares/classes are issued, and the change would materially adversely vary the Participating Shares, then 2/3rds Participating Shareholder consent is required. See #13.
    a. Issuance of authorized but unissued Participating Shares (i.e., dilution of existing shareholders) makes this consent right contingent on outstanding shares. See #14 and #7.
3. Rights to assets in a winding up in accordance with the waterfall. See #122-124.
4. Certain foundations own 100 Participating Shares out of a total of authorized 4,999,900 Participating Shares. See #7.

No rights

1. Cannot vote shares. See #12.
2. Cannot redeem shares. See "Participating Shares."
3. No rights to information. See #12.
4. No rights to attend meetings. See #12.
5. No rights to notice of meetings. See #12.
6. No rights to pro rata distributions based on % of Participating Shares. See #105.
7. No rights to appoint or remove directors or officers. See Articles generally and #65.
8. No rights to receive notice of issuance of additional shares. See Articles generally.
9. No rights to receive notice of distributions to other Participating Shareholders. See Articles generally.
10. No pre-emptive rights. See Articles generally.

Restrictions

1. If a Participating Shareholder is (i) in breach of any law, (ii) is not a non-profit, or (iii) the directors are of the opinion such Shareholder might result in the Company incurring additional liability, including for legal reasons, the directors may require such Shareholder to transfer its shares. See #21. Walkers to review.
2. May be diluted by the directors issuing additional Participating Shares. See #8.
    a. Including additional pari passu shares. See #14.
    b. Dilution may, ultimately, affect the ability of the existing Participating Shareholders to consent to changes to the rights attached to the Participating Shares. See #14, #7, and Articles generally.

*Suggest the foundations confirm that they have the latest version of the Articles (attached). We suspect they do not.

Best regards,

Brandon

Hi Mark, Paul

Thanks for your emails. Our answers to Mark's questions are as follows, and we generally agree with Paul's comments in respect of them:

1. If new participating shares are issued to a new non-profit, and say per Paul's point they try to implement an "equitable" winding down of the company, but the new shareholders objects, would that help?
    a. Yes, if other shareholders are opposed to an equitable winding up that will be taken into consideration and would likely help. However, it may not be determinative – the question will still be whether, in all of the circumstances, it is just and equitable for the company to be wound up.

2. Also, what could possibly be the basis for any "equitable" liquidation if the Articles don't give such rights.
    a. The right to seek a winding up order on the just and equitable ground is provided by legislation (see the Companies Act (2023 Revision) sections 92(e)) and 95(3)).

3. Charitable DAF Holdco holds only one asset - LP interest in charitable daf fund LP. As a limited partner, Holdco cannot force the partnership to wind its affairs?
    a. As a limited partner of Charitable DAF Fund LP, Charitable DAF HoldCo Ltd does have standing to present a petition seeking the winding up of Charitable DAF Fund LP, including on the just and equitable basis.

4. Another consideration, is that Holdco has management shares. Does the equitable theory take into account the rights of the owner of the management shares when the non-control shares want equitable relief. If the management shareholders, disagrees, are those powers and right abdicated in a equitable wind down proceeding? Seems the Management Shareholder has a right to express its rights as to whether the company should be wound down or not.
    a. As above, on the hearing of a winding up petition on the just and equitable ground, the question will be whether, in all of the circumstances, it is just and equitable for the company to be wound up. The rights and views of the holder of the management shares will be relevant to that consideration, but may not be determinative. If a winding up order is made and a liquidator appointed, the rights of the holder of the management shares will be varied in line with relevant legislation and the articles. Noting the meeting tomorrow morning we have not explored this in detail but please let us know if you would like further advice in that regard.

5. Please provide a couple Cayman Cases where Equitable wind up occurred for my review based on mismanagement, etc. I'd like some context if this procedure is extra ordinary / rare or an action that does occur leading to Cayman Case Law.
    a. Winding up orders on the just and equitable ground are not extraordinary or rare in the Cayman Islands. Please see attached two Cayman decisions involving winding up orders on the just and equitable ground (noting that partnerships may be wound up on the just and equitable ground under the same provisions as companies, and that the Aquapoint decision is currently on appeal to the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council).

Please let us know if you would like anything further before the meeting tomorrow morning.

1. Agreed about the perception.

However, I have been exploring funding a large campus in DFW with a major church building, housing, and conference center, and exhibitions. In addition we been having exploring other large donations in the future on the scale of tens of millions leading to hundreds millions for educational buildings for an existing University in Dallas.

People I have spoken to have suggested I form a non profit now to work these endeavors.

"... all Shares for the time being unissued shall be under the control of the Directors who may:

(a) issue, allot and dispose of the same to such Persons, in such manner, on such terms and having such rights and being subject to such restrictions as they may from time to time determine;

and, for such purposes, the Directors may reserve an appropriate number of Shares for the time being unissued." (Art 7)

Participating Shareholders do not have:

"The capital of the Company is US$50,000.00 divided into 4,999,900 Participating Shares of a nominal or par value of US$0.01 each 100 Management Shares of a nominal or par value of US$0.01 each..." (Art 7)

Note: Of the authorised share capital of the Company, 305 Participating Shares have been issued. In accordance with the Articles, the Directors may unilaterally issue additional Participating Shares and thereby dilute the power of existing shareholders for the purposes of voting on matters that may materially adversely vary or abrogate the rights of the Participating Shareholders.

Additional Note: many of the rights that shareholders of a company typically hold (e.g. the right to receive notices, and the right to vote at general meetings, including in respect of the appointment and removal of directors) are held by the Management Shareholder (Mark Patrick) rather than the Participating Shareholders. In addition, the Directors (Mark Patrick and Paul Murphy) have the ability to unilaterally declare dividends and issue new Participating Shares without the approval of the Participating Shareholders (or the Management Shareholder).

Share Redemption

Share Redemption

""Participating Share" means a non-voting, participating, non-redeemable share in the capital of the Company of $0.01 nominal or par value issued subject to and in accordance with the provisions of the Act and these Articles..."

"The rights conferred upon the holders of the Participating Shares ... shall not ... be deemed to be materially adversely varied or abrogated by ... the redemption or purchase of any Participating Shares of any Class by the Company." (Art 14)

Participating Shareholders do not have:

- the right to redeem their shares; or
- the right to vote on the Company's redemption of their shares.

Transfer of Shares

Share Transfer by Notice of the Directors – Restricted Person

"If it comes to the notice of the Directors that any Shares are held by a Restricted Person the Directors may by notice in writing require the transfer of such Shares in exercise of their powers under these Articles." (Art 21)

"Restricted Person" means any Person holding Participating Shares:

a) in breach of the law or requirements of any country or governmental authority;

b) that is not an entity or organisation exempt from taxation under Section 501(c)(3) of the Code or an entity or organisation all of whose beneficiaries are exempt under Section 501 (c)(3) of the Code; or

c) in circumstances (whether directly or indirectly affecting such Person and whether taken alone or in conjunction with any other Person, connected or not, or any other circumstances) which, in the opinion of the Directors, might result in the Company incurring any liability to taxation or suffering any other pecuniary, legal, regulatory or administrative disadvantage which the Company might not otherwise have incurred or suffered."

Note: the Directors have duties to act, and to exercise their powers, in the best interests of the Company. The scope of those duties includes continually evaluating whether any Participating Shareholder may pose a threat to the Company which could cause them to fall within the definition of Restricted Person, and how best to protect the Company against any such threat.

General Meetings

General Meetings

"Participating Shares shall confer upon a Shareholder no right to receive notice of, to attend, to speak at nor to vote at general meetings of the Company..." (Art 12)

Participating Shareholders do not have:

- the right to receive notice of general meetings;
- the right to attend general meetings;
- the right to speak at general meetings;
- the right to vote at general meetings; or
- the right to information regarding proceedings of general meetings.

Limited Information Rights

Limited Information Rights

"The books of account relating to the Company's affairs shall be kept in such manner as may be determined from time to time by the Directors." (Art 108)

"The Directors may from time to time determine whether and to what extent and at what times and places and under what conditions or regulations the accounts and books of the Company or any of them shall be open to the inspection of Shareholders not being Directors, and no Shareholder (not being a Director) shall have any right of inspecting any account or book or document of the Company except as conferred by law or authorised by the Directors or by Ordinary Resolution." (Art 110)

Participating shareholders have very limited information rights. Specifically, the articles do not provide the Participating Shareholders with the following:

- the right to inspect any account;
- the right to inspect any book; or
- the right to inspect any document of the Company.

Further to the above, we note that :

- This only applies to the limited company which issued the participation shares, i.e. DAF HoldCo;
- It does not apply to subsidiary entities;
- It does not apply to entities in which DAF HoldCo holds a passive interest; and
- There is no "look- through" down through all the entities in the structure.

Paul-

I appreciate your email, and your willingness to find a framework to resolve the concerns, but am flummoxed by your, "struggle" to understand our growing frustration.

I do not believe it should be difficult to comprehend the request for transparency around $270 million dollars you control as a fiduciary for the benefit of charities in Dallas, Kansas City, and Santa Barbara. Indeed, these odd legal and rhetorical machinations of yours and Mr. Patrick miss the point. These monies are for improving the quality of life of children, building pathways for everyone to have a fair opportunity to succeed, and—among other things—creating a lasting impact on young minds by fostering a love for education. They are not meant to pay you and Mr. Patrick millions in director fees. If I'm wrong, please educate me.

Your failure to be forthcoming about the underlying assets, the investment philosophy of the fund, and the "revised" governance, have caused me to start digging. I am not only a lawyer but also a Certified Fraud Examiner and a Certified Compliance & Ethics

Professional, and what I have found is nothing short of alarming.

- As I mentioned, director fees for 2024 appeared to be on track to exceed $5 million, which was an over 12,000 percent increase—up from zero. It is hard to fathom what you and Mr. Patrick have changed or contributed to the funds to warrant such a drastic change in director fees. I could be wrong, but if so, then tell me why. What is the dramatic value add?

- As I understand it, the annualized expenses of the funds were on pace to outstrip the actual return on the investments. So I am at a loss as to how you can justify running the fund at a loss while apparently paying the directors handsomely and freezing Supporting Organizations (the shareholders) out of basic information.

On November 6, 2024, we had an introductory video call with Doug Mancino, who announced himself as Compliance Counsel. But no details of the assets or financial condition of the funds were communicated.

On November 20, 2024, we had another video call with folks from your side, including ValueScope, and it was informative; however, the thrust of the presentation was why you refused proposed investments from NexPoint. It had nothing to do with the underlying assets and financial conditions of the fund. This was perplexing as ValueScope has been the valuation firm for the fund for years; yet they were silent about the condition of the fund.

On December 11, 2024, we had a video call with you, Doug Mancino, and your Cayman counsel. The thrust of that discussion was your vision of running the fund more as an institutional investment vehicle and a promise to provide financial information in the future. But the presentation again lacked any information on the underlying assets and financial conditions of the fund. It did, however, include a discussion that the Supporting Orgs had no right to information under the structure of the funds.

Shortly after the December 11 call, we received your first demand to withdraw our concerns about the governance of the funds, and it also advanced that if the Supporting Organizations wanted more transparency they must sign a non-disclosure agreement with a liquidated damages clause. Which is, quite frankly, ridiculous.

In sum, and as I understand the thread running through the communications, your continuing posture is the following. The Supporting Orgs have no right to information. And, if the Supporting Organizations want more information, they must both recant their governance concerns and then sign the NDA. Those are both coercive non-starters. Again, if I'm wrong please tell me how.

Finally, and this I find perhaps the most egregious, I just discovered through my own research that Mark Patrick cancelled the Delaware charter of Charitable DAF GP, LLC on October 30, 2024 and rechartered it in Cayman. I can find no legitimate reason to recharter the general partner, and instead believe it to be a move to further insulate Mr. Patrick's and your actions by retreating from jurisdiction in the United States and offshore the entity in its entirety. If I've misunderstood, please let me know in detail how, but I remain skeptical. Further, in the calls listed above, not one representative from your side spoke up to explain, or even mention, the rechartering of the general partner. That is a striking repeated omission.

So the change of tone should not provide any struggle to puzzle through. Over the last three months, you have not provided any information about the assets and financial health of the fund. You have demanded that information only flows under an NDA with liquidated damages. You continually issue a veiled threat that information is a privilege not a right under the agreements. Expenses have gone through the roof, and the governance has been changed to further insulate it in a foreign jurisdiction. To say the least, I see red flags all over this situation, but have not received any facts, yet, that tell me they are unwarranted.

If I'm wrong, fine. It won't be the first time. But this also isn't my first rodeo, and the way to diffuse this is through immediate full transparency and facts. So if I've misunderstood, and your intent is to provide a fully transparent briefing to the Supporting Organizations without coercive caveats, then we stand ready to have that conversation after receiving the basic financial information requested by Julie Diaz in her January 23, 2025 email.

Dear Mike,

We remain open to finding a framework within which we can resolve your clients' concerns.

I don't want to repeat points already made in my email dated 30th January 2025, but our understanding was that we were to prepare a presentation for the Foundations to address these concerns. This was a course of action suggested by you in our call last year and one which we thought was very sensible.

We are struggling to understand what happened between 21st January (when David Rosenburg, from your firm, confirmed a video conference would be acceptable) and 23rd January when an email was sent to Mark's old email address repeating various allegations that we were going to address in the presentation.

We remain committed to trying to work with your clients and would be grateful if you could confirm your clients' willingness to do so.
Many thanks,
Paul.

Paul-

I have added Doug Mancino to this email chain, as you are represented by counsel, I believe it appropriate to loop him in for this communication. I also told you that I had a tendency toward the blunt.

I am appalled by your response. As fiduciaries, you and Mr. Patrick manage $270 million in assets for the benefit of charities that support the most vulnerable in their communities. Whatever your side's obvious antagonism to Mr. Dondero, the fact remains that the underlying assets are ultimately for these charitable missions. And your focus and mission should be not only to ensure the success of the investments, but transparency to the ultimate beneficiaries. The assets are for their benefit, not Mr. Dondero, not Mr. Patrick, and not you.

The Supporting Organizations have legitimate concerns. The last information they received from SEI in July of 2024 — before Mr. Patrick shut down that line of communication and information — showed legal expenses had increased to $6 million in the first six months of 2024 compared to $4 million for all of 2022. If annualized, and at that pace, legal expenses appeared to be on path to exceed $12 million for 2024. That's a 300% increase. Director fees skyrocketed from $40 thousand in 2022 to $2.25 million in the first six months of 2024. Again, annualized, these fees are on a path to exceed $5 million in 2024. That is a 12,400% increase. Yet, no information has been provided by you and Mr. Patrick, no clarity given. It appears that total expenses for 2024, if annualized, were on pace to exceed $36 million. Even if you earned a return of 10 percent on the $270 million invested, the fund would be at $11 million of negative revenue for 2024. If the information we received is wrong, then please explain why, and provide the detailed information to disabuse us of these concerns. But telling us we have no legal right to the answers is not workable.

Upon Mr. Patrick taking control, you and he should have immediately engaged with the Supporting Organizations to explain the transition, your plans, and how the assets are being managed. I would have thought that a fiduciary would have engaged in a campaign of maximum transparency and disclosure. Instead, as to the actual financial condition of the assets, you have been opaque at best and purposefully elusive at worse, and your email below retreats into statements about having no legal obligation to disclose the activities of the funds. And it seems to condition further transparency on the Supporting Organizations recanting their earlier expressed concerns. I think you should reconsider such an entrenchment.

The Supporting Organizations have no interest in the animosity or dysfunction between Mr. Patrick and Mr. Dondero. What they do have an interest in, is an active campaign by you and Mr. Patrick to continue to manage the assets in a shroud of mystery, dripping out details and information whenever you deem it appropriate. To do so simply proves our concerns that the governance structure of these entities is broken.

Yes, it is true that we have been in discussions for months about transparency, and you provided some information. However, what has been ignored are the repeated requests for a simple set of financials. But how hard is it to create a short PowerPoint on the current state of financial statements, a simple diagram of the alleged new governance structure (who are the advisory board members?), your visions for the funds, and then provide a one-hour briefing to the Supporting Organizations? If you are truly managing the funds to the institutional-investor standards represented in our call, these details should be at your fingertips. Yet somehow this has all devolved into delays and posturing related to the dust up between Messrs. Dondero and Patrick.

That type of myopic thinking is not appropriate in this situation. The Supporting Organizations deserve answers, and the transparency needs to happen sooner rather than later. And, the answer you provided, which essentially said that you can tell the organizations to pound sand and they should be grateful for the information you do provide, is not acceptable.

Subject: RE: DAFHoldCo information request

[External email]
Dear Julie,

I am an independent director of Charitable DAF HoldCo, Ltd. (which I believe is the entity you refer to as "DAF HoldCo" in your email dated 28 January 2025 (the "28 January Email")).

As an initial matter, I hope you will find the tone of this initial response to the 28 January Email conciliatory as I am keen to avoid any misunderstandings in circumstances where I had understood the next steps following the meetings between our respective legal representatives (Douglas Mancino and David Rosenberg) in December last year was for us to present directly to the foundations/supporting organizations in order to address some of the concerns in the letter dated 11 November 2024 (the "11 November Letter"). This proposed presentation would supplement the two Zoom conference calls with your attorneys held by me and our independent valuation experts, ValueScope, in December last year as well as the ValueScope 9/30/24 report sent to you on 7 January that provided a balance sheet and information on all investment holdings.

As recently as 21 January 2025, David again confirmed that a Zoom conference call with yourselves would be an effective way to address your concerns and move forward in a cooperative manner.

Given our transparency and cooperation with the foundations/supporting organizations, as well as the agreed way forward, it was surprising to receive the 28 January Email which repeats some of the allegations in the 11 November Letter. Please note that neither Mark nor myself received your email dated 23 January 2025 given that it was sent to an out-of-use email address for Mark (which I understand he communicated to you and your assistant in person) and did not copy me. Therefore, the basis of the concerns and request to wind-up expressed in the 28 January Email, appears to be the single failure to respond to an email that was sent to a defunct email address. Having now been reminded that the email address is not functional, I hope you can take some comfort that you were not being ignored.
However, given the content and tone of the 28 January Email and David's request to progress the direct presentation to the foundations/supporting organizations only 7 days prior on 21 January 2025, there seems to be a disconnect between the conciliatory approach adopted in the latter and the more aggressive position set out in the former.

For our part, at this stage we are more than happy to continue to engage with the foundations/supporting organizations in an effort to provide clarity on investments and the DAF HoldCo governance structure.

I must, however, record that we have some growing concern around the content and circumstances your email of 23 January 2025, specifically that it might be interpreted as a premise to attempt to inappropriately exercise control over DAF HoldCo and/or its assets. As a reminder, when the participating shares in DAF HoldCo were issued to the supporting organizations, there was no conveyance of voting rights or control, and it has always been well understood that such shares did not convey voting rights or control. In particular, without waiving applicable privileges, we are advised that any attempt to exert control of DAF HoldCo or its assets by James Dondero would be both inappropriate, unlawful and inconsistent with DAF HoldCo's charitable mission. We are deeply concerned that this outreach, which began following Mark's resignation from Skyview in October 2024, may be the supporting organizations acting as proxy for Mr. Dondero. We hope we are wrong, but the supporting organizations have received the same ValueScope quarterly financial reports and charitable distributions over time without change and without issue.

Please let us know if you are prepared to withdraw the allegations made in the 11 November Letter and the 23 and 28 January Emails and are content to proceed with our proposed delivery of the presentation which we are confident will provide a complete answer to your concerns.

Finally, as a matter of record, it is important that I outline the following:

The 11 November 2024 Letter was not directly sent to me. I received it from Charitable DAF HoldCo's US attorneys who had, in turn, received it from a US law firm acting for Mr. Dondero. As set out above, this supports our belief, which is also based on other actions we have seen to date, that Mr. Dondero is seeking to improperly exerting influence over the foundations and supporting organizations for self-serving purposes to the detriment of DAF HoldCo, the foundations and supporting organizations.

We note that your communications to date contain several misstatements of fact and we reject all of your allegations. DAF HoldCo holds itself to the highest standards in achieving its goal of maximizing returns in risk-adjusted assets to achieve its charitable objectives. It is important to underline that we have policies and procedures in place to preserve DAF HoldCo's independence and are advised by best-in-class, independent experts.

Whilst we are cooperating with the foundations/supporting organizations to provide additional information we have no legal obligation to do so (which is not disputed). In no way should our cooperation be construed as an implicit acknowledgment of any duty to continue providing information to you or as a waiver of any DAF HoldCo's rights and remedies.

We look forward to hearing from you in relation to the proposed presentation and withdrawal of the allegations.

Kind regards,

Paul.

Mark and Paul-

We have great concern that our reasonable requests below have not been acknowledged. This failure to provide the courtesy of a response continues a pattern of a lack of communication and transparency as to assets and financials of DAF HoldCo under your stewardship. These failures exacerbate the concerns we previously communicated in our letter to Paul in November 2024 (copy attached), which highlighted our concerns that the governance of the DAF HoldCo has failed in its current structure. The situation as it now stands is untenable. The lack of engagement on the true financial condition of the DAF HoldCo and the underlying assets leads us to believe that you have rejected our request to revise the governance of the DAF HoldCo and related structure. As such we are requesting that DAF HoldCo and the related entities be wound up and the underlying assets be distributed in kind to the Supporting Organizations so they can manage those assets for the benefit of the charities and the communities they serve. As previously requested, until these issues are resolved, we are insisting that you do not dissipate the assets further.

Hi Mark –

Since we spoke last fall, the three CEOs from Santa Barbara, Kansas City, and Dallas community foundations (copied here) were discussing our plans for 2025 and wanted to reach out to you to check in on the DAFHoldCo. We have been discussing the need for a better understanding of the assets and thought it would be helpful if you could provide us with several detailed reports now that the new structure is in place.

Specifically, could you send:

- Income Statements for the last for years: A complete set of income statements (or profit and loss statements) for the last four fiscal years (2021-2024), including any supplemental notes or breakdowns that provide insight into revenue streams and expenses
- Listing of Underlying Assets: A detailed listing of the underlying assets held by DAF HoldCo, including both tangible and intangible assets. This should include any real estate, investments, intellectual property, or other significant assets that contribute to the company's operations or value.
- Audited Financial Statements: The most recent audited financial statements for DAFHoldCo, including the balance sheet, statement of cash flows, and any related auditor's reports. Please include any supplementary schedules or disclosures that are typically associated with these statements.
- Current Structure of DAFHoldCo Operations: An up-to-date organizational chart or structural overview detailing the key divisions, subsidiaries, and any relevant operational or financial entities that comprise the DAFHoldCo structure, including any significant changes that may have occurred over the last few years.

As you can appreciate, our job as leaders of our respective community foundations is to ensure proper stewardship of the charitable assets that are owned by our organizations. We are grateful for the decade plus of charitable investments that we have been able to make from the proceeds of the DAFHoldCo and would like to have confidence that this vehicle will continue to grow and make additional meaningful contributions to our respective communities.

Please let us know your ability to get this information to us by Feb. 10, 2025.

Thank you and happy New Year.

(d) the Company has no assets and no liabilities;

(e) in the circumstances, there is no reason for the Company to continue as a going concern and the Directors are of the view that the Company should therefore be wound up voluntarily;

(f) Mitchell Mansfield and William Clarke of Kroll (Cayman) Ltd, Strathvale House, 3rd Floor, 90 North Church Street, George Town, Grand Cayman, KY1-1204, Cayman Islands have indicated that they consent to act as joint voluntary liquidators of the Company (the "JVLs") if so appointed;

(g) the Directors have received and reviewed a liquidation proposal from the JVLs, together with its terms and conditions (the "Liquidation Proposal");

(h) the Directors have conducted a full enquiry into the Company's affairs and to the best of the Directors' knowledge and belief the Company will be able to pay its debts in full together with interest at the prescribed rate within twelve-month period from the commencement of the voluntary winding up; and

(i) the Directors have received a form of the declaration of solvency for execution pursuant to section 124 of the Companies Act (as amended) (the "Declaration of Solvency").

1.2 IT IS RESOLVED that:

(a) the Liquidation Proposal be approved;

(b) the Directors recommend to Mark Patrick, being the only Shareholder having the right to receive notice of, attend, speak at and vote at general meetings of the Company, that:

(i) the Company be wound up voluntarily; and

(ii) Mitchell Mansfield and William Clarke of Kroll (Cayman) Ltd be appointed as the JVLs of the Company; and

(c) if the Company is wound up voluntarily, each Director execute the Declaration of Solvency.

2. GENERAL AUTHORISATION

2.1 IT IS RESOLVED that, in connection with or to carry out the actions contemplated by the foregoing resolutions, any Director, officer or (if applicable) any attorney or duly authorised signatory of the Company (any such person being an "Attorney" or "Authorised Signatory" respectively), and such other persons as are authorised by any of them be, and each hereby is, authorised, in the name and on behalf of the Company, to do such further acts and things as any Director or officer or such duly authorised other person shall deem necessary or appropriate, including to do and perform (or cause to be done and performed), in the name and on behalf of the Company, all such acts and to sign, make, execute, deliver, issue or file (or cause to be signed, made, executed, delivered, issued or filed) with any person including any governmental authority or agency, all such agreements, documents, instruments, certificates, consents or waivers and all amendments to any such agreements, documents, instruments, certificates, consents or waivers and to pay, or cause to be paid, all such payments, as any of them may deem necessary or advisable in order to carry out the intent of the foregoing resolutions, the authority for the doing of any such acts and things and the signing, making, execution, delivery, issue and filing of such of the foregoing to be conclusively evidenced thereby.

Dear Mr Johnstone

CHARITABLE DAF HOLDCO, LTD (IN VOLUNTARY LIQUIDATION) (THE "COMPANY")

1. We act as Cayman Islands counsel to the Company.

2. We refer to the documents served yesterday by your firm on the Company at its registered office, which include a winding up petition ("Petition"), an application for the appointment of provisional liquidators ("PL Application"), and a cover letter of service ("Service Letter").

The Company is already in Voluntary Liquidation

3. Please note the following (all documents enclosed):

   (a) On 29 March 2025, Mitchell Mansfield and William Clarke of Kroll (Cayman) Ltd executed a consent to act as joint voluntary liquidators of the Company ("JVLs").

   (b) On 2 April 2025: (i) the directors of the Company executed written resolutions including to recommend to the management shareholder that the Company be wound up voluntarily and the JVLs be appointed; (ii) the management shareholder executed special resolutions that the Company be wound up voluntarily and the JVLs be appointed; and (iii) the directors of the Company executed a declaration of solvency.

   (c) On 14 April 2025, Gazette Issue No. 8/2025 was published, which included notice that on 2 April 2025 the Company was placed into Voluntary Liquidation and the JVLs appointed.

4. Further, please see enclosed:

   (a) The current Memorandum and Articles of the Company, dated 20 February 2025 ("M&A").

(b) The current Register of Members of the Company, dated 25 April 2025.

(c) An email chain between your firm and our firm dated 23-24 April 2025.

5. As outlined above, the Company is in Voluntary Liquidation.

6. That fact should have been evident from a search of the Gazette prior to service, as per the enclosed notice referred to at paragraph 3(c) above.

7. Further, the email chain referred to at paragraph 4(c) above is all that we received from your firm by way of pre-action correspondence. We enquired as to the nature of the proceedings to be served, and had we been informed that it was a winding up petition and application for the appointment of provisional liquidators (rather than simply that the proceedings were in the process of being served on the Company's registered office), we would have informed you that the Company was already in Voluntary Liquidation.

8. There is nothing in the M&A which entitles your clients to receive notice from the Company of its entry into Voluntary Liquidation.

The appropriate course of action

9. As the Company is already in Voluntary Liquidation, the Petition and PL Application are plainly redundant, and we invite your clients to withdraw them without delay.

10. If the JVLs (or your clients) consider it appropriate that the Voluntary Liquidation be brought under the supervision of the court, any of them may make an application for a supervision order pursuant to the Companies Act section 131. If your clients would like to discuss such an application with the JVLs, including in respect of funding, please let us know.

11. In the event that the Petition and PL Application are not withdrawn, or at the very least the hearing of the PL Application (which we understand from your firm's Service Letter is listed on Monday 28 April 2025 at 2pm) is not adjourned, this letter must be brought to the attention of the Court, and we will appear on behalf of the Company.

12. If it becomes appropriate to do so, we will put this letter before the Court including on the question of costs.

Yours faithfully

IN THE GRAND COURT OF THE CAYMAN ISLANDS

FINANCIAL SERVICES DIVISION

FSD NO. OF 2025 (JAJ)

IN THE MATTER OF SECTION 131 OF THE COMPANIES ACT (2025 REVISION)

AND IN THE MATTER OF CHARITABLE DAF HOLDCO, LTD

PETITION FOR COURT SUPERVISION OF A VOLUNTARY LIQUIDATION

TO: THE GRAND COURT OF THE CAYMAN ISLANDS

THE HUMBLE PETITION of (1) The Highland Dallas Foundation, Inc, (2) The Highland Kansas City Foundation, Inc, (3) The Highland Santa Barbara Foundation, Inc, (4) The HCMLP Charitable Fund (the Supporting Organisations or Petitioners), in their capacity as members of Charitable DAF Holdco, Ltd (the Company or HoldCo):

1. The purpose of this petition (the Supervision Application) is to seek an order that the voluntary liquidation of the Company continue under the supervision of this Honourable Court pursuant to section 131 of the Companies Act (2025 Revision) (the Act) and Order 15, Rule 3 of the Companies Winding Up Rules (2023 Consolidation) (the CWR). The Company was placed into voluntary liquidation, and Mitchell Mansfield and William Clarke (together, the JVLs) of Kroll (Cayman) Ltd, pursuant to written resolutions of the directors of the Company dated 2 April 2025.

2. The petitioning Supporting Organisations are non-profit charitable entities exempt from taxation under s.501(c)(3) of the US Internal Revenue Code who collectively hold (or in light of recent developments allegedly held) 100% of the Participating Shares in the Company. Holders of Participating Shares are entitled under the Company's Amended and Restated Memorandum and Articles of Association dated 20 February 2025 (the Articles) to participate in the profits or assets of the Company but are not entitled to attend, to speak at, or to vote at general meetings. By contrast, holders of Management Shares are entitled to attend, to speak at and to vote at any general meeting, but have no right to participate in the profits or assets of the Company.

3. HoldCo is a Cayman Islands exempt company formed on 27 October 2011 (registration no. 263805) whose registered office is Campbells Corporate Services Ltd, Floor 4, Willow House, Cricket Square, Grand Cayman, KY1-9010, Cayman Islands. HoldCo is purportedly governed by the Articles.

4. HoldCo is (or at least was) the limited partner of Charitable DAF Fund, LP (the Fund), a Cayman Islands limited partnership formed on 28 October 2011 (registration no. 53083) whose registered office is Campbells Corporate Services Ltd, Floor 4, Willow House, Cricket Square, Grand Cayman, KY1-9010, Cayman Islands. The Fund is, to the best of the Petitioners' knowledge, governed by the Amended and Restated Limited Partnership Agreement dated 7 November 2011 (the ARLPA).

5. This Petition refers to the Supporting Organisations' petition seeking the winding up of the Company on just and equitable grounds dated 10 April 2025 (the J&E Petition), and the summons for the appointment of provisional liquidators dated 10 April 2025 (the PL Summons), in Proceedings FSD. No. 99 of 2025, the latter of which is listed for hearing before this Honourable Court on 29 April 2025 (the Hearing) – copies of which are at Schedules A and B, respectively.

VOLUNTARY LIQUIDATION OF THE COMPANY

6. On 23 April 2025 at 1:42pm, Johnstone Law (the Petitioners' attorneys) sent an email to Walkers (Cayman) LLP advising that they acted for the Supporting Organisations and seeking confirmation as to whether Walkers acted for and were instructed to accept service on the Company's behalf.

7. On 24 April 2025 at 11:35am, Walkers responded to Johnstone Law requesting confirmation of the nature of the proceeding to be served – but not addressing whether they acted for or had instructions to accept service on the Company's behalf. Johnstone Law replied that given their failure to respond the day prior, the papers would be served on HoldCo's registered office. That same day, copies of the Petition, the PL Summons and supporting materials were served on the Company's registered office.

8. On 25 April 2025, the Petitioners were preparing for the Hearing of the J&E Petition / PL Summons and in the course of finalising the hearing materials for delivery to the Court. At 3.32pm that day however Johnstone Law received a letter from Walkers (the Walkers Letter) that stated inter alia:

   (a) On 2 April 2025, nearly four weeks ago: (i) HoldCo was placed into voluntary liquidation, and the JVLs appointed, by way of written resolutions of the directors, and (ii) the directors had executed a declaration of solvency with respect to the Company.

(b) On 14 April 2025, Gazette Issue No. 8/2025 (the Gazette) was published, which included notice that the Company was placed into voluntary liquidation.

(c) Nothing in the Articles entitled the Petitioners to receive notice from the Company of its entry into Voluntary Liquidation, and "[t]he fact should have been evident from a search of the Gazette prior to service, as per the enclosed notice".

(d) As the Company was already in voluntary liquidation, the Petition and Summons were "plainly redundant" and should be withdrawn. If they were not withdrawn, this letter must be brought to the Court's attention at the Hearing, at which Walkers will appear for the Company and seek costs if appropriate.

9. Enclosed to the Walkers Letter were copies of the following:

(a) director resolutions dated 2 April 2025 (the Director Resolutions);

(b) management shareholder resolution dated 2 April 2025;

(c) the JVLs' consents to act;

(d) declaration of solvency;

(e) the Gazette;

(f) the Articles;

(g) the Company's register of members as at 25 April 2025.

10. Although not stated anywhere in the Walkers Letter, the enclosures revealed the following matters, which were previously unknown to the Petitioners:

(a) On 7 February 2025, HoldCo allotted 318 participating shares to an entity named 'DFW Charitable Foundation' (DFW) – the effect being the substantial dilution of the Supporting Organisations' interest in the Company, from a cumulative holding of 100% of the Participation Shares to 48.9%. The Petitioners have since discovered that DFW is a Delaware company incorporated on 9 December 2024, registered to Mark Patrick's home address and Mark Patrick being the sole member. Mark Patrick is a director of and holds the Management Shares in HoldCo. DFW was purportedly granted charitable status by the State of Delaware on 7 February 2025, the same day it was allotted 318 participating shares in the Company.

(b) On 20 February 2025, HoldCo amended its Articles by way of special resolution, such special resolution passed solely by Mark Patrick.

(c) The Company's sole investment, being an interest in an entity by the name of CDMCFAD LLC was redeemed on 27 March 2025 and, on 2 April 2025, the proceeds available for distribution from this redemption were distributed in the amount of US$1,612,192 purportedly to HoldCo's participating shareholders;

(d) As at 2 April 2025, the Company has no assets.

11. On 27 April 2025, Johnstone Law responded to the Walkers Letter setting out the Petitioners' serious concerns arising from the matters disclosed therein, and stating inter alia:

(a) There can be no honest, reasonable or lawful justification or basis for the Company taking the steps it has, or for doing so without notifying and consulting the Petitioners in advance, and the subsequent failure to provide notice of such actions makes clear the information was deliberately withheld (supported further by the matters being disclosed only 1 clear working day before the Hearing).

(b) The steps were taken while the Supporting Organisations and HoldCo were engaged in correspondence about financial irregularities and lacking transparency on the part of the Company and its underlying interests. The failure of HoldCo (through its current directors or its US attorneys) to disclose this information in the course of that correspondence is proof of the utmost bad faith and deception on the part of HoldCo and its directors.

(c) The fact that the JVLs appointed by the Company have themselves taken no steps to inform the Supporting Organisations of such matters since their appointment causes them to conclude the JVLs lack sufficient independence required to protect the interests of the Supporting Organisations and the Company as a whole.

(d) The Walkers Letter makes it more, not less, essential that independent officer holders operating under the Court's supervision are appointed over the Company without delay. The Supporting Organisations will not withdraw the Petition or the PL Summons, but plan to issue or at least finalise additional proceedings on 28 April 2025, and to invite the Court to appoint Margot MacInnis and Sandipan Bhowmik as official liquidators of the Company at the Hearing – and seeking the Company's agreement by 12pm on 28 April 2025.

(e) The Supporting Organisations were, until 7 February 2025, and in law remain, owners of 99% of the economic interest in HoldCo. They do not approve of the purported share dilution nor the appointment of JVLs and their rights are fully reserved, and in the circumstances, it is inappropriate for assets of the Company, or any related entities, to be used for the purpose of payment of legal fees.

(f) A request for details of DFW, including when it was formed and received charitable status, the identity of its owners/controllers, its registered address and centre of operations.

(g) A request for confirmation by 8pm on 27 April 2025: (i) what has become of the Company's interest in the Fund, and (ii) to whom and in what amounts were the distributions referred to in the Director Resolutions transferred.

12. No response was received from Walkers by 8pm on 27 April 2025. At 9:16pm, Johnstone Law sent an email to Walkers noting the failure to provide the information and requesting that, in the circumstances and, if within their knowledge, the JVLs provide such information.

NOTICE OF SUPERVISION APPLICATION

13. In the circumstances, in particular that the Supporting Organisations (and purportedly DFW, although the Petitioners do not accept the validity of the share allotment to DFW) are the Company's only contributories – and given the clear evidence that the Supporting Organisations' interests in the Company have been diluted and the assets of the Company dissipated without notice or justification – the Petitioners respectfully request the Court exercise its discretion to dispense, as it is entitled to do, with the notice requirements in O.15 of the CWR.

APPLICATION FOR SUPERVISION ORDER

14. The Petitioners respectfully seek an Order from this Honourable Court that the voluntary liquidation of the Company continue under the supervision of the Court pursuant to section 131 of the Act, and that Margot MacInnis and Sandipan Bhowmik of Grant Thornton be appointed as joint official liquidators (together, the JOLs) of the Company, for the following reasons:

(a) The making of a supervision order will allow the JOLs to conduct a proper investigation of the affairs of the Company and conduct an orderly winding up under the supervision of this Honourable Court for the benefit of all stakeholders.

(b) There is to say the least a large cloud hanging over Mr Patrick and Mr Murphy, as directors of HoldCo, who should not be allowed or entitled, irrespective of the professionalism of the JVLs, to retain the role and functions that directors normally retain attendant upon voluntary liquidations.

(c) The Supporting Organisations, as the owners of 100% of the economic interest in the Company (at least prior to the purported allotment of shares to DFW on 7 February 2025) should be entitled to choose the liquidator, or at least a liquidator not appointed by the directors, the conduct of whom has raised serious concerns even prior to the events disclosed in the Walkers Letter.

(d) Court supervision will result in an indisputably more effective, economic, and expeditious liquidation of the Company in the interests of the Supporting Organisations as contributories. Save in respect of any claim the Supporting Organisations save, there does not appear to be any creditors.

(e) An investigation into the allegations of misconduct on the part of the management of the Company will be substantially expedited and more effective if conducted by official liquidators, who are not the same persons as the JVLs.

(f) Should an investigation identify transactions that should be set aside, or claims that should be advanced, whether against the directors of the Company or third parties, such actions are most appropriately and effectively undertaken by official liquidators, who are not the same persons as the JVLs.

(g) As the holder of the Management Shares in the Company (Mr Patrick) is resident in the US and as are many of the entities related to and with whom the Fund transacts, it is highly likely, if not certain, that the liquidators will need to instruct attorneys in the US, obtain recognition under chapter 15 of the US Bankruptcy Code, and commence proceedings in the US to recover any assets wrongfully dissipated. Such steps necessitate the liquidation being conducted under the supervision of the Court.

15. Ms MacInnis and Mr Bhowmik of Grant Thornton:

(a) are "qualified insolvency practitioners" as defined in s.89 of the Act and as prescribed by Regulation 4 of the Insolvency Practitioners' Regulations (2023 Consolidation) (IPR);

(b) meet the residency requirements contained in Regulation 5, IPR;

(c) meet the independence requirements prescribed by Regulation 6, IPR;

(d) meet the insurance requirements prescribed by Regulation 7, IPR, and Grant Thornton holds a trade licence which authorises its staff to carry on business as professional insolvency practitioners; and

(e) consent to their appointment as official liquidators of the Company, if so appointed.

YOUR PETITIONERS THEREFORE HUMBLY PRAY THAT:

1. The voluntary liquidation of the Company be continued under the supervision of the Court pursuant to s.131 of the Act and O.15, r.8 of the CWR.

2. Margot MacInnis and Sandipan Bhowmik of Grant Thornton Specialist Services (Cayman) Ltd. of Second Floor, Century Yard, Cricket Square, George Town, Grand Cayman, Cayman Islands, be appointed as joint official liquidators (JOLs) of the Company pursuant to s.132 of the Act.

3. The JOLs have the power to act jointly and severally.

4. The JOLs shall not be required to give security for their appointment.

5. The JOLs be authorised pursuant to s.110(2)(a) of the Act, to jointly and severally exercise all of the powers specified in Part II of the Third Schedule to the Act..

6. The JOLs be authorised pursuant to s.110(2)(a) of the Act to exercise the following powers in Part I of the Third Schedule to the Act, without the further sanction or intervention of the Court:

   a. The power to bring or defend any action or other legal proceeding in the name and on behalf of the company;

   b. The power to carry on the business of the company so far as may be necessary for its beneficial winding up;

   c. The power to compromise on such terms as may be agreed all debts and liabilities capable of resulting in debts, and all claims (present or future, certain or contingent, ascertained or sounding only in damages) subsisting, or supposed to subsist between the company and a contributory or alleged contributory or other debtor or person apprehending liability to the company.

   d. The power to deal with all questions in any way relating to or affecting the assets or the winding up of the company, to take any security for the discharge of any such call, debt, liability or claim and to give a complete discharge in respect of it.

   e. The power to engage staff, agents and/or consultants in the Cayman Islands and elsewhere to assist the JOLs in the performance of their functions; and

   f. The power to engage attorneys and other professionally qualified persons in the Cayman Islands and elsewhere to assist the JOLs in the performance of their functions.

7. The JOLs be specifically authorised and entitled without the further sanction of the Court to undertake the following:

   a. Presenting a petition for the winding up of the exempted limited partnership, Charitable DAF Fund, LP (the Fund).

   b. Taking control of the Company's subsidiaries, joint ventures, investments, associated companies, businesses, or other entities (collectively referred to as the "Associated Companies") in which the Company holds an interest (or such shares of such Subsidiaries and/or Associated Companies as are owned directly or indirectly by the Company), in each case, wherever located, as the JOLs see fit. Additionally, to call or cause to be called meetings of such Subsidiaries and/or Associated Companies, and to sign resolutions (in accordance with the provisions of any relevant constitutional or related documentation of such companies) and take such other steps, including applications to and communications with appropriate courts and/or regulators, as the JOLs consider necessary to appoint or remove directors, legal representatives, officers, and/or managers to or from such Subsidiaries and/or Associated Companies. In each case, take the necessary steps to ensure that the registered agents (or other equivalent corporate administrators) of such Subsidiaries or Associated Companies implement the changes to the boards of directors, legal representatives, officers, and/or managers of such companies or entities. This includes (without limitation) effecting changes to the company registers of such Subsidiaries or Associated Companies as may be deemed appropriate by the JOLs. Furthermore, to take such other actions in relation to all such Subsidiaries or Associated Companies as the JOLs see fit for the purpose of protecting the assets of the Company and managing its affairs (which, to avoid any doubt, shall include the assets and affairs of the Subsidiaries and Associated Companies).

c. Issuing and pursuing an application by summons for an order appointing themselves or other fit and proper persons as joint provisional liquidators of the Fund.

d. Locating and taking possession of and preserving all the Company's books, records and other papers (whether hard copy, digital or otherwise).

e. Identifying the nature and location of all property and assets which appear to belong to the Company.

f. Getting in or otherwise securing and protecting all such property and assets.

g. Investigating the costs and expenses incurred by the Company.

h. Identifying any creditors of the Company.

i. Investigating the promotion, business, dealings, and affairs of the Company.

j. Investigating whether the Company or the JOLs may have any claims (either in this jurisdiction or elsewhere) against any officer or employee or former officer or employee of the Company, or against any other person or persons.

k. Commencing and pursuing any such or other claims, if the JOLs are of the view that that is necessary or desirable in order to protect the ability of the Company or any liquidator of the Company to pursue any such claims or otherwise to preserve the value of any such claims.

l. Seeking registration or recognition of themselves and/or the Official Liquidation in any State in the United States for any purpose connected with the liquidation.

m. Carrying on the business of the Company so far that may be beneficial for the Company, its creditors.

n. Being at liberty to complete or terminate any contracts or transactions entered into by the Company.

o. Retaining and operating the existing bank or other accounts of the Company and where necessary opening new accounts.

p. Taking control of or redirecting any email or other digital communication method used for the purposes of the Company's business or affairs.

q. Applying to the Court for directions, including on short notice, including for Orders to vary these powers and functions.

8. The Court dispenses with the requirement for this Supervision Application and the hearing of this Supervision Application to be advertised pursuant to O.15 of the CWR.

9. The JOLs' remuneration and expenses be paid out of the assets of the Company in accordance with s.109 of the Act, Part III of the Regulations, and O.20 of the CWR.

10. The costs of this Supervision Application shall be paid out of the assets of the Company as an expense in the liquidation, such costs to be taxed if not agreed with the JOLs.

11. The JVLs shall prepare a final report and accounts for the period from the commencement of the voluntary liquidation until the date of the supervision order, and deliver such report to the JOLs within 28 days of this Order.

12. Such further or other orders be made as the Court shall deem fit.

AND your Petitioner will ever pray etc.

Re: Future Correspondence with Directors of Charitable DAF Holdco, Ltd. ("Charitable DAF")

I am writing you because I am disappointed by the increasingly hostile and accusatorial tone of your emails to Paul Murphy and Mark Patrick. After I re-read your Friday January 31st and Friday February 7th emails to Paul, Mark and Julie Diaz, the tone of which was, in my view, "over the top" of reasonableness even for someone who describes himself as having "tendency toward the blunt," I decided it was time to clear the air about several of your allegations and request that all future communications to my client and its representatives from you or your firm and from representatives of your clients such as Julie Diaz be sent through me only.

First, Charitable DAF is not paying Paul or Mark "millions in director fees," as alleged in your January 31st email. The information supplied by SEI is simply incorrect. Also, all compensation decisions are supported by outside expert opinions. Similarly, for 2024 the legal spend did not exceed $10 million and as matters are settled will continue to fall in 2025 and 2026. Furthermore, as was discussed in ValueScope's November 18, 2024 presentation, virtually all non-transactional legal expenses relate to claims brought by, or initiated due to actions of Mr. Dondero's many adversaries.

Second, it is hard to understand the change of heart about ValueScope and the nature and amount of the information it provides to your clients about Charitable DAF investments. It appears that when Grant Scott, Mr. Dondero's close friend, was Charitable DAF's sole director, the degree of detailed information provided in ValueScope's valuation analysis was fine (see, e.g., the valuation analysis dated March 31`, 2020 attached). Now that Mark has left Skyview and is not rubber-stamping investment requests from NextPoint, as was Grant Scott, the tone of communications has become increasingly hostile and the demands for information have only increased, even though, as you yourself acknowledged in one of our early calls, Participating Shareholders of Charitable DAF have no rights to information and what they already get exceeds that to which they are entitled.

Finally, the controlling role and influence that Mr. Dondero and his agents such as Lucy Bannon appear to be exerting over the Supporting Organizations raise significant private benefit concerns that call into question whether one or more of the Supporting Organizations is at risk of becoming a Restricted Person as that term is defined Article 21 of Charitable DAF's Articles of Association. I know David will be familiar with the seminal Tax Court decision in American Campaign Academy v. Commissioner, 92 T.C. 1053 (1989),which involved the denial of section 501(c)(3) exemption because the Internal Revenue Service concluded that the organization was operated for the substantial nonexempt purpose of benefitting private interests. We offer no opinion on that question but raise it as a matter of concern to Charitable DAF.

In closing, Paul is still willing to have a Zoom call with representatives the Supporting Organizations as we agreed to in December 2024. There should be no pre-conditions other than that the call not be recorded and that your clients acknowledge the importance of keeping the contents of the call confidential.

Very truly yours,

Re: Charitable DAF Holdco, Ltd. ("Charitable DAF")

Doug-

I received your letter dated February 14, 2025. I apologize if you believe my previous emails to be "over the top." However, what you perceive as "hostility" is nothing more than frustration at the circuitous dialogue and veiled threats we receive in response to simple and repeated requests for transparency as to the finances and governance of Charitable DAF. So far, our specific concerns have been met with denials but no real data on the particular issues raised. In a world where Messrs. Dondero and Patrick appear to be feuding, the Supporting Organizations can, at best, adopt a position of "trust but verify." They will, therefore, continue to push for transparency.

Further, the frustration you perceive arises from comments in many of the communications we have received from you and your clients attempting to position the Supporting Organizations as being manipulated by Mr. Dondero. The Supporting Organizations are nobody's patsy, proxy, or puppet. To suggest otherwise insults the intellect and professionalism of the executive leadership at each of the Supporting Organizations.

Paul Murphy continues to assert that he is ready to present to the Supporting Organizations and clear up all the misunderstandings. You know our concerns; let us get to it. Please propose dates in the next two weeks on which Paul is ready to present to, and answer questions from, the Supporting Organizations.

Sincerely yours,

Michael W. Stockham

Re: Highland Dallas Foundation, Inc. (EIN: 45-3961755)

Dear Sir or Madam:

I am writing on behalf of my client, Charitable DAF Holdco, Ltd., a Cayman Islands exempt[1] company ("DAF Holdco"), concerning the deterioration of its relationship with one of its Participating Shareholders, Highland Dallas Foundation, Inc. ("Highland Dallas"). Highland Dallas is a supporting organization of the Dallas Foundation.[2]

The deterioration of this relationship is due directly to the undue influence and control exercised over Highland Dallas by James D. Dondero and his affiliates, as described in this Form 13909, Tax-Exempt Organization Complaint (Referral). This disclosure letter supplements in detail and in exhibits the more general information described in the accompanying Form 13909 and is an integral part of that form (collectively, the Form 13909 and this letter are referred to as the "Referral").

We believe the information described in this Referral will demonstrate clearly that Mr. Dondero's influence and control is an inappropriate donor relationship with representatives of the Dallas Foundation who serve on the Board of Directors of and as officers of Highland Dallas. We believe this undue influence and control potentially jeopardizes the tax-exempt status of Highland Dallas as an organization described in section 501(c)(3) and, at a minimum, causes it to fail to remain a supporting organization described in section 509(a)(3) because of the excessive influence of a disqualified person and substantial contributor, i.e., Mr. Dondero, under section 509(a)(3)(C).

[1] To be clear, DAF Holdco is not a tax-exempt organization under U.S. tax law, notwithstanding the use of the term "DAF" in its corporate name.. However, under its Cayman Islands Articles of Association, a "Restricted Person," i.e., an entity that cannot own Participating Shares, is an organization that is not described in section 501(c)(3) of the Code. As a consequence, all Participating Shareholders of DAF Holdco must be and remain organizations described in section 501(c)(3).

[2] The Dallas Foundation is a tax-exempt community foundation described in sections 501(c)(3), 509(a)(1) and 170(b)(1)(A)(vi) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 (the "Code").

This Referral is divided into three major parts, with multiple subparts.

Part I provides the Internal Revenue Service (the "IRS" or the "Service") with extensive factual information concerning Highland Dallas, its governance and control. As will be seen, Mr. Dondero exerts undue influence and control over Highland Dallas directly, as a director, President and substantial contributor, and indirectly through his and his associates' influence over Highland Dallas's supported organization representatives on the Highland Dallas Board of Directors, and the Dallas Foundation itself.

Part II provides the IRS with background information on DAF Holdco and Mr. Dondero's efforts to exert dominion and control over DAF Holdco and its assets. Because Highland Dallas is a Participating Shareholder of DAF Holdco, Mr. Dondero's efforts (both successful and unsuccessful) to control DAF Holdco for his personal gain directly affect Highland Dallas financially and provide him an additional amount of private benefit and private inurement from a donation where he once benefitted from a charitable contribution deduction to a charitable remainder trust ("CRT").

As will be discussed in Part III, the tax discussion section, Mr. Dondero's influence and control is pervasive and is exercised primarily for Mr. Dondero's financial benefit directly and for the financial benefit he derives indirectly through several entities owned or controlled by him. We believe he therefore derives more than insubstantial benefit form Highland Dallas and causes its net earnings to inure to his benefit, all in violation of section 501(c)(3)'s most basic operational requirements. Also, at a minimum, we believe his influence and control over Highland Dallas has caused it to become a private foundation, thereby subjecting Mr. Dondero to Chapter 42 excise tax exposure.

I. Background Concerning the Formation and Legal Structure of Highland Dallas, Highland Capital Management, L.P., and NexPoint Advisors, L.P.

A. Highland Dallas

Highland Dallas was incorporated as a Delaware nonprofit nonstock corporation by Mr. Dondero in 2011 in connection with his desire to form three tax-exempt public charities to become the three remaindermen of a CRT of which he was the income beneficiary. Highland Dallas applied for and was recognized by the IRS as a charitable organization described in section 501(c)(3) of the Code and as a supporting organization of the Dallas Foundation described in section 509(a)(3) of the Code. Highland Dallas did not register as a foreign corporation to do business in Texas until 2020.

At the time of its formation, Mr. Dondero became the sole "individual" member of Highland Dallas, with the legal power to select one director. The Dallas Foundation became the sole "institutional" member of Highland Dallas, with the power to select two directors. Thus, in 2011, Highland Dallas satisfied the requirements for being classified as a Type I supporting organization of the Dallas Foundation.

In addition, Mr. Dondero, in 2011, became and remains today the President of Highland Dallas and a member of its Board of Directors.

The other two supporting organizations are the Highland Santa Barbara Foundation, Inc. ("Highland Santa Barbara") (EIN: 45-3962008) and the Highland Kansas City Foundation, Inc. ("Highland Kansas City") (EIN: 45-3961865). These two supporting organizations of the Santa Barbara Foundation and Greater Kansas City Community Foundation, respectively, also have the same legal structure as Highland Dallas and, like Highland Dallas, each owns 100 Participating Shares of DAF Holdco.

We do not believe either Highland Santa Barbara or Highland Kansas City is as easily manipulated by Mr. Dondero and his affiliates as Highland Dallas because, according to their Forms 990 for 2023 (which is the last year those forms are available on Guidestar.com), Participating Shares of DAF Holdco are their only assets. By contrast, Mr. Dondero has made substantial additional contributions to Highland Dallas after 2011, either directly or through trusts or other entities owned or controlled by Mr. Dondero, some of which will be addressed later in this Referral. Thus, we believe Mr. Dondero is in a position to exert greater influence as a substantial contributor to Highland Dallas on the Directors of Highland Dallas appointed by the Dallas Foundation (including the Dallas Foundation's President & CEO, Julie Diaz).[3]

B. Mr. Dondero and Highland Capital Management, L.P.

Highland Capital Management, L.P. ("HCM") is an investment management firm located in Dallas, Texas that was co-founded in 1993 and controlled by Mr. Dondero and individuals close to him. As described on page 7 of the Special Turnover Petition filed by UBS Securities LLC and UBS AG London Branch in the New York Supreme Court in 2023, a complete copy of which is enclosed with this Referral as Exhibit 1 (the "2023 UBS Petition"), before HCM filed for bankruptcy, "HCM was an investment management firm that managed billions of dollars of assets 'through its organizational structure of approximately 2,000 separate business entities.'" (citation omitted). It is estimated by a plaintiff in another action that, at its height, HCM managed as much as $40 billion in assets.

Mr. Dondero was not only HCM's co-founder with Mark Okada,[4] he served as HCM's President and Chief Executive Officer until he was removed by the bankruptcy trustee in 2020.

[3] By way of example, the consolidated financial statements of the Dallas Foundation for 2023 available on its website include the assets of seven supporting organization, including Highland Dallas. Page 22 of the statements disclose that approximately $163.4 million of its assets were held by supporting organizations. On page 19, it appears that approximately $92.3 million (almost 57%) represent Highland Dallas assets. Also, in 2023, Highland Dallas received almost $34 million in charitable contributions, presumably all from Mr. Dondero and entities affiliated with or controlled by him. Thus, it is understandable why the Dallas Foundation representatives who serve on the Highland Dalias Board would acquiesce to almost any request or demand made by Mr. Dondero or one of his associates such as Lucy Bannon.

[4] In the Dallas Foundation's 2022 Form 990, the most recent available on Guidestar.com, Mr. Okada was listed as a member of the Board of Governors of the Dallas Foundation. On its website, the Dallas Foundation identifies another confidant and employee of Mr. Dondero, Lucy Bannon, as an "Advisory Member" of the Board of Governors (last visited March 5, 2025). Thus, Mr. Dondero continues to exert substantial indirect influence over Highland Dallas's supported organization, the Dallas Foundation.

C. Mr. Dondero, NexPoint Advisors, L.P., and NexPoint Hospitality Trust

In 2012, prior to his removal as President of HCM in 2020, Mr. Dondero formed NexPoint Advisors, L.P. ("NexPoint Advisors"), a Dallas-based portfolio real estate and investment firm. NexPoint Advisors is one of a vast array of entities operating under the "NexPoint" umbrella. After the HCM bankruptcy, Mr. Dondero and his affiliates seamlessly shifted their operations from HCM to NexPoint Advisors and its affiliates.

As alleged in another lawsuit filed in 2021 in the United States Bankruptcy Court of the Northern District of Texas by Marc S. Kirshner as a litigation trustee in the HCM bankruptcy case, "NexPoint [Advisors] was effectively a shell entity that Dondero created in March 2012 to siphon profits from [HCM] in order to evade [HCM's] creditors." See Complaint and Objection to Claims, in Kirschner v. Dondero, et. Al. Case No. 19-34054-sgj11, at pages 18-21, a copy of which is attached as Exhibit 2.

Mr. Dondero's family trust, The Dugaboy Investment Trust ("Dugaboy"), a grantor trust, allegedly owns 99.9% of NexPoint Advisors. Mr. Dondero is the income beneficiary of Dugaboy and his sister, Nancy Dondero, is the family trustee of Dugaboy.

One of the entities affiliated with and advised by NexPoint Advisors is NexPoint Hospitality Trust, an open-ended real estate investment trust (the "REIT") based in Ontario, Canada. The REIT was formed in 2018 for the purpose of acquiring and operating income-producing hotel properties in the United States. The REIT's investment interests (called "Units") were listed for public trading on the TSX Venture Exchange of the Toronto Stock Exchange ("TSXV").

Dugaboy contributed 1,500,000 Class B non-voting Units of the REIT to Highland Dallas on December 24, 2019 and also granted Highland Dallas an "embedded" put option to sell them back to Dugaboy for $6.19 per share (the "Put Option"). The net asset value of the REIT as of December 24, 2019 was $6.19 per share. The Put Option is exercisable at any time prior to December 24, 2026. See the Dugaboy/REIT documents included as Exhibit 2.

The significance of the Put Option at that time is that the Class B non-voting Units could be treated for valuation purposes as equivalent to the Class A voting Units, which were owned or controlled by Mr. Dondero. Therefore, for purposes of determining their fair market value on the date of the charitable contribution, the valuation firm could value them as if they were voting Units unreduced by a 2.9% discount for lack of control. That allowed Dugaboy to claim a charitable deduction in 2019 of $11,505,000, which we assume passed through to Mr. Dondero as the income beneficiary of Dugaboy. We also assume that Highland Dallas signed a Form 8283, Noncash Charitable Contributions, form acknowledging it received the Units that would have been included with Mr. Dondero's 2019 Form 1040 along with a qualified appraisal of the Units (we have no actual knowledge of this, however).

On information and belief, we believe Mr. Dondero has used his influence and control over Highland Dallas to cause it defer exercising the Put Option at least through the effective time of the merger for at least three reasons.

- First, the forbearance to exercise the Put Option allows Mr. Dondero and Dugaboy to enjoy the benefits of an interest-free loan of $9,285,000 (the put exercise price ($6.19 x 1,500,000 units) while the Put Option remains outstanding and unexercised.

- Second, the forbearance to exercise the Put Option effectively has protected Mr. Dondero from the declining value of the REIT between December 2019 and November 2024. As of November 22, 2024, the reported fair value of the Units was $0.015 per Unit, so the fair value on that date of 1,500,000 Units was only $22,500, less than one percent of the Put Option value of $9,285,000.

- Third, most charitable organizations have a policy of immediately selling contributed shares that are listed for trading on a stock exchange in order both to diversify and to reinvest the sale proceeds in a manner that aligns more closely with the charity's investment policy. Had Highland Dallas sold the Units on the TSXV at any time within three years after their receipt, Highland Dallas would have been required to file a Form 8282, Donee Information Return, with the Service that would likely have reflected a much lower value of the original contribution amount claimed in 2019. Thus, in effect, Highland Dallas was acting to protect Mr. Dondero from having to address the precipitous fall in fair market value as the REIT Units plummeted in value beginning shortly after the gift was made.

Highland Dallas's failure to exercise the Put Option up until now becomes all the more significant because on November 25, 2024, the REIT announced the execution of a definitive agreement (the "Merger Agreement") pursuant to which the REIT will be dissolved and its subsidiary entities will be merged with and into entities owned or controlled, directly or indirectly, by NexPoint Diversified Real Estate Trust. Under the Merger Agreement, The proposed price per Unit is $0.36 per Unit. According to the press release issued by the REIT announcing the merger, "[t]he proposed price of US$0.36 per Unit represents a premium of approximately 2300% to the 30-day volume weighted average price per Unit on the TSXV ended November 22, 2024 of US$0.015."

Last month, in a press release issued on February 21, 2025, it was announced that a majority of minority votes approved of the merger. Under Canadian law, when a person such as Mr. Dondero owns or controls a majority of a Canadian public company's voting shares, a transaction such as this merger must be approved by two-thirds of the minority shares, or in this instance the 5,131,020 Class B non-voting Units.

Based on public filings with the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission, we believe the REIT had approximately 29,353,660 Units, of which 82.52% were owned by entities owned or controlled by Mr. Dondero.

We have to assume that Highland Dallas voted its 1,500,000 Units in favor of the merger at Mr. Dondero's request.[5] That suggests that the merger needed Highland Dallas's 29.2% (almost one-third of the two-thirds vote required) of minority Unit's approval. That also suggests that

---

[5] We understand that the Board of Directors of Highland Dallas usually acts by Unanimous Written Consent Without a Meeting, which means the Mr. Dondero along with the two Dallas Foundation Board appointees would have approved voting in favor of the merger. Presumably the same would be true if a decision were taken by the Board to refrain from exercising the Put Option.

Highland Dallas chose not to exercise its Put Option to permit Mr. Dondero to retain control over the REIT even as its finances deteriorated.

We have no way of knowing whether Highland Dallas will exercise the Put Option before the REIT is dissolved (projected for the end of the first quarter of 2025, i.e., by the end of this month), but clearly if it fails to do so this will result in a $9 million inappropriate windfall to both Dugaboy and Mr. Dondero. Obtaining the answer to this question would only require the IRS to open an examination of Highland Dallas and issue an Information Document Request and/or issue a third-party subpoena to Dugaboy.[6]

D. Highland Dallas's Assumed Name

In March 2024, Highland Dallas filed an Assumed Name certificate with the Texas Secretary of State to permit it to operate under the name "NexPoint Philanthropies Dallas, Inc." This is consistent with Mr. Dondero's current ownership and control of NexPoint Advisors and his loss of control of HCM in the bankruptcy and consistent with the goal of allowing a private company (NexPoint) and Mr. Dondero to take credit for and enjoy the halo effect from NexPoint Philanthropies Dallas's (really Highland Dallas's) charitable giving.

E. Mr. Dondero's Firearms Contributions to Highland Dallas

Several years ago, Mr. Dondero (either directly or through entities owned and controlled by him) made contributions of a collection of firearms to Highland Dallas. Presumably, a Highland Dallas officer signed the donee acknowledgement on Form 8283, Noncash Charitable Contributions, and checked the box "No" asking whether the organization intended to use the property for an unrelated use, because checking "Yes" would limit Mr. Dondero's charitable contribution deduction to his adjusted basis and not its appraised fair market value. This in itself demonstrates Mr. Dondero's improper influence over the Dallas Foundation representatives serving as Board members and officers of Highland Dallas, especially as it is hard to believe a supporting organization of a community foundation could possibly use firearms in a related trade or business.

But to further demonstrate his abuse and diversions of assets for his own benefit, earlier this year in 2025 he diverted a substantial debt service payment of $1.3 million on a loan owed to one of DAF Holdco's subsidiaries to pay for a specially-designed and built vault for those firearms (shotguns). That diversion of assets has caused a default of that loan that has now landed in Texas State court, thereby depleting DAF Holdco's assets further because of legal fees. It is unknown whether the vault was requested by anyone associated with the Dallas Foundation serving as a director or officer of Highland Dallas, such as Julie Diaz, but we believe it likely was.

F. Mr. Dondero's Character

Mr. Dondero has a demonstrated pattern of behavior of stealing assets from those he perceives as adversaries. What is also demonstrated by even a cursory reading of the 2023 UBS Petition

---

[6] We will be happy to provide the IRS with a copy of the S-4 filed with the SEC available on EDGAR and the REIT's press releases that were used to develop this data.

and the First Amended Original Complaint filed by Highland Employee Retention Assets LLC against Mr. Dondero and his affiliates on July 15, 2024 in the U.S. District Court for the Northern District of Texas, Dallas Division, a complete copy of which is enclosed as Exhibit 4 with this Referral (the "2024 Complaint"), Mr. Dondero, to put it mildly, has no respect for corporate formalities and is willing to engage in self-dealing to strip entities of their assets without regard to any fiduciary duty of care or loyalty to serve his personal needs and to benefit himself financially to the detriment of others, including his own former HCM employees.[7]

The 2023 UBS Petition outlines how Mr. Dondero, facing a $1 billion judgment, directed various entities he owned and controlled to shift substantially all of their assets offshore to a Cayman Islands insurance company for a fraudulent insurance policy. The 2023 UBS Petition is an attempt to collect on a 2020 $1 billion judgment in favor of the UBS entities. Mr. Dondero has been so successful at hiding assets that the UBS entities have not been paid.

The 2024 Complaint seeks recovery of hundreds of millions from Mr. Dondero. It describes how a former Mr. Dondero employee at HCM, Patrick Daugherty, had a falling out with Mr. Dondero. After the falling out, Mr. Dondero took extraordinary steps to ruin Mr. Daugherty's life—depriving him of assets, removing his long-term incentive plan, embroiling him in lawsuits, and the list goes on.

These are not isolated incidents. In the ACIS Capital Management, L.P. matter,[8] Mr. Dondero had a falling out with Josh Terry, a former employee of HCM, and took extraordinary steps to ruin Mr. Terry's life—the same playbook as above with Mr. Daugherty.

In fact, Mr. Dondero and his litigiousness is widely known in the Dallas/Fort Worth area. Mr. Dondero is variously described as "Highland Capital's Giraffe-Eating Hedge Fund Manager" (Dallas Observer June 1, 2012), and "the distressed debt investor who was once a scourge to private equity. . . " (Financial Times March 10, 2023).

As it relates to this Referral more specifically, in a May 3, 2023 post entitled "James Dondero: Dallas's Surprising Philanthropy Hero," the post states: "Most gifts are made through the Highland Dallas Foundation, Inc., the philanthropic arm of Highland Capital Management." Note that this post appears to have been prepared by Mr. Dondero himself and appeared three years after he was ousted as HCM's President. What's more to the point is that it outlines in Mr. Dondero's own words the likely failures of Highland Dallas to comply with the section 509(a)(3) operational test discussed below. A copy of that post is included as Exhibit 6.

G. Skyview Group

Skyview Group is a back-office and administrative service provider whose clients consist 99% of entities affiliated with or controlled by Mr. Dondero. Mr. Mark Patrick was engaged as a tax

[7] See also In Re: Highland Capital Management L.P. v. Dondero, Case No. 19-34054-sgj11 (June 6, 2021), a decision by the U.S. Bankruptcy Court for the Northern District of Dallas. In that opinion, the Bankruptcy Judge found Mr. Dondero to be in contempt for violating a temporary restraining order. A copy of that opinion is enclosed as Exhibit 5.

[8] We can provide the IRS with a copy of this complaint if that would be of interest.

consultant by Skyview Group until Mr. Patrick resigned in October 2024 on the advice of the undersigned counsel. Skyview Group charged DAF Holdco management fees for its services.

Skyview Group is nominally owned and controlled by Scott Ellington, who was HCM's Chief Legal Officer and General Counsel until his removal by the bankruptcy trustee in 2021. Despite this nominal ownership and control by Mr. Ellington, Mr. Dondero controls all compensation decisions, including decisions relating to Mr. Ellington's compensation, and thus dominates Skyview Group as if he owned it himself.

Since Mr. Patrick's resignation from Skyview Group, Mr. Patrick has been directly employed and compensated by DAF Holdco rather than Skyview Group. In addition, Mr. Patrick, again acting on advice of counsel, caused DAF Holdco to give six-months' notice in October 2024 to Skyview Group that it was terminating its contract with Skyview Group.

Mr. Dondero became furious when he learned of these actions, and that is when (for the first time in over a decade) Highland Dallas and Dallas Foundation executives and attorneys started raising questions about DAF Holdco's investments and management. In addition, this is when Highland Dallas, and Julie Diaz (who serves as both the President of the Dallas Foundation and as a Director and Vice President of Highland Dallas), began voicing concerns over DAF Holdco's investment performance, concerns that were never raised when Mr. Dondero's lackey, Grant Scott was rubber-stamping NexPoint and other Dondero-related investments and that were never raised prior to Mr. Patrick's resignation from Skyview Group.

II. DAF Holdco

A. The Grant Scott Control Era

Back in 2011, when Highland Dallas and the two other supporting organizations were being formed, one of the highly successful types of investments designed and marketed by HCM through investment partnerships were collateralized loan obligations, or CLOs.

A CLO is a single security backed by a pool of corporate debt issued by corporate borrowers with low credit ratings or loans taken out by private equity firms to conduct leveraged buyouts. With a CLO, the investor receives scheduled debt payments from the underlying loans, assuming most of the risk in the event of a default. In exchange for taking on that default risk, the investor is offered greater diversity and the potential for higher-than-average investment returns. DAF Holdco was formed initially in 2011 to hold partnership interests in partnerships that held CLOs.

Mr. Dondero caused DAF Holdco to be formed to have a structure through which he could have his CRT make remainder interest distributions of the Participating Shares of DAF Holdco to Highland Dallas and to the other two supporting organizations.[9] How CLOs work is not relevant to this Referral except to the extent that Management Shares of DAF Holdco were initially issued to Mr. Dondero's college roommate and long-time close friend, Grant Scott.[10]

---

[9] This is documented in Part III, Line 4a of each of the three supporting organizations' Form 990, Return of Organization Exempt From Income Tax, for 2023 (the last year for which a Form 990 for the organizations was posted on Guidestar.com).

Grant Scott's ownership of the Management Shares from 2011 to 2021 effectively allowed Mr. Dondero to retain control of DAF Holdco and, thereby, use DAF Holdco's assets as a piggybank for other investments described below. Management Shares have no economic right to distributions; the value for Mr. Dondero is in their control over DAF Holdco and the ability to utilize its assets either to make dividend distributions to the Participating Shareholders (i.e., the supporting organizations) or to fund Dondero-managed investments on non-market terms and with below-market returns on investment.

NexPoint Advisors repeatedly reached out to DAF Holdco for investment-backing with below market terms and rates of returns while under the control of Grant Scott. Grant Scott consummated these transactions without hiring outside counsel or valuation experts for DAF Holdco. The lack of ams'-lenggth dealing inder Grant Scott's control is made patently obvious in the ValueScope November 18, 2024 presentation materials included as Exhibit 7. The economics of these transactions clearly show that Mr. Dondero was directing Grant Scott to cause DAF Holdco to enter into below-market deals for DAF Holdco that redirected the profits to Mr. Dondero and entities he owns. In other words, Mr. Dondero was stealing from DAF Holdco and, in turn, the supporting organizations.

Mr. Dondero's theft was not limited to below-market transactions. In March 2020, Mr. Dondero and his affiliates directed Grant Scott to make a $1 million payment to an entity called Tall Pine Group, LLC. The payment was allegedly for professional services rendered, but no such services were rendered to DAF Holdco. In subsequent court filings, it became clear that the $1 million went to pay Mr. Dondero's affiliates' employment compensation bonuses, which could not be paid in the normal course because HCM was subject to various bankruptcy restrictions at the time. Further detail is available in the Kirschner Complaint, at page 61, a copy of which is attached hereto as Exhibit 2.

B. The Mark Patrick Control Era (including present day)

Grant Scott assigned the Management Shares to Mark Patrick in March 2021. Mr. Patrick now controls DAF Holdco and the timing of distributions to the supporting organizations, including Highland Dallas. Mr. Patrick also controls the negotiations and approvals of the terms and conditions of all investments since he assumed control. Since then, under Mark Patrick's leadership DAF Holdco has begun to diversify away from Dondero-managed investments.

Total DAF Holdco (including its subsidiaries) exposure to Dondero-managed investments was over $100 million in June 2023. Because of the formation history of DAF Holdco and the various transactions between DAF Holdco and Dondero-managed investments, DAF Holdco has been named as a defendant in numerous lawsuits claiming it is an alter ego of Mr. Dondero and his entities and that the initial funds transferred to DAF Holdco from the CRT were fraudulent transfers. These lawsuits have been very expensive and time-consuming for DAF Holdco, which disadvantages Highland Dallas and the other Participating Shareholders because the payment of legal fees depletes available cash.

[10] On pages 7 and 8 of the litigation trustee's Complaint and Objection to Claims in Kirschner v, Dondero included as Exhibit 2, the trustee described Grant Scott as follows: "Dondero personally selected Scott as his successor to run the Charitable DAF Fund. . . . Scott has no training in finance or compliance and no investment experience. Scott routinely rubber-stamped Dondero's and [HCM's] directives without asking questions or requesting additional information."

Because Mr. Patrick viewed the $100 million exposure to Dondero-related and the lawsuits as a risk to DAF Holdco (and therefore the Participating Shareholders), he has taken steps to create layers of independence between DAF Holdco and Mr. Dondero. As documented by an independent valuation consultant, ValueScope, LLC (a copy of the ValueScope report is enclosed as Exhibit 7), upon assuming control of DAF Holdco, Mr. Patrick engaged independent counsel to assist him in negotiating "market" terms and returns on investment for investments with all outside parties, especially those controlled by or affiliated with Mr. Dondero, such as NexPoint Advisors. Neither Mr. Dondero nor his associates expected this because no market discipline was exercised by DAF Holdco when it was controlled by Mr. Dondero's college roommate and close friend Grant Scott.

Outside counsel and valuation experts frequently either negotiated more market-standard (and more favorable to DAF Holdco) terms for Dondero-managed investments or advised against the transactions on the terms proposed by Mr. Dondero (via his various entities, including NexPoint Advisors). And, because Mr. Patrick refused to simply rubber-stamp Dondero-related investment asks, Mr. Dondero became upset with Mr. Patrick and demanded that Mr. Patrick provide him with increased levels of control over DAF Holdco, including meetings between Mr. Patrick and Mr. Dondero three times per week when he was still a consultant with Skyview Group and permitting one of Mr. Dondero's affiliates increased access to DAF Holdco information and finances. Mr. Patrick refused these requests.

Mr. Patrick also hired an independent director for DAF Holdco, Paul Murphy. During Mr. Scott's control, Mr. Scott served as sole director and sole person in control. There was no requirement under Cayman law to hire an independent director; Mr. Patrick did so for the benefit of DAF Holdco (and, indirectly, Highland Dallas and the other Participating Shareholders).

Mark Patrick also resigned from Skyview Group in October 2024. As noted above, Mr. Dondero effectively controls Skyview Group, and it is nominally owned by one of his affiliates, Scott Ellington. Mr. Dondero viewed this as the last straw—he viewed this as his final loss of control over DAF Holdco and its assets. On the same day, in order to complete the separation, Mr. Patrick directed DAF Holdco to terminate a services agreement with Skyview Group.

Mr. Patrick's resignation from Skyview Group was recommended by outside counsel, including this firm. Mr. Patrick recognizes he has fiduciary duties to DAF Holdco and its subsidiaries. Mr. Dondero created tension with these duties by demanding that Mr. Patrick rubber-stamp Dondero-managed investments, as did Grant Scott. For example, in September 2024, Mr. Dondero recommended that DAF Holdco consummate a real property acquisition on The Campus at Legacy (described in Exhibit 7) for $45 million and provide one of Mr. Dondero's entities a repurchase option if the price were to appreciate. In no uncertain terms, DAF Holdco would take all the downside financial and real estate risk and transfer the upside financial benefit to Mr. Dondero if this proposal had been accepted. This was typical for Dondero-managed investments.

Mr. Dondero also demanded that Mr. Patrick cause DAF Holdco to wire one of Mr. Dondero's offshore entities, Sentinel, $1.5 million in November 2023. Mr. Patrick sought the advice of outside counsel, who told Mr. Patrick the payment would be "impermissible and illegal for a number of reasons". Mr. Patrick accordingly refused the payment (i.e., embezzlement) request.

Mr. Dondero's behavior and attitude toward DAF Holdco is nothing if not consistent. Whether Mr. Scott or Mr. Patrick was in control, Mr. Dondero never abandoned the belief that the assets he caused his CRT to distribute to DAF Holdco remained his own. Mr. Patrick's steps toward independence and then resigning from Skyview Group in October 2024 led to Mr. Dondero exerting his influence over Highland Dallas in a manner we believe results in improper private benefit accruing to him as discussed in the tax aspects portion of this disclosure letter.

Following Mr. Patrick's resignation from Skyview Group, Mr. Dondero directed his entities to cease all principal and interest payments owed on Dondero-managed investments to DAF Holdco and its subsidiaries, which has led to several ongoing lawsuits discussed below and outlined in Exhibit 7. It is inevitable that Mr. Patrick will receive the same treatment as Mr. Daugherty and Mr. Terry (described above)—he will be subject to frivolous, vexatious lawsuits and harassment because he is Mr. Dondero's newest villain.

C. October 2024 to Present

The events that have unfolded show Mr. Dondero's anger at his loss of control of DAF Holdco's assets. Mr. Patrick met with Highland Dallas shortly after his resignation from Skyview Group and assured Julie Diaz of Highland Dallas and the Dallas Foundation that his resignation would not modify management of distributions to the Dallas Foundation. Mr. Patrick believed the meeting went well; Ms. Diaz voiced no concerns and actually requested additional distributions.

Shortly thereafter, Highland Dallas and the two other Participating Shareholders hired the law firm Holland & Knight (which had already represented the Dallas Foundation for years) to represent them and to send a "no confidence" letter to DAF Holdco. This purported lack of confidence was a new sentiment by Highland Dallas, which had never previously expressed any concern when it received ValueScope reports from Grant Scott. The "no confidence" letter came out of the blue—there were no calls, emails, or other communications that expressed a lack of confidence or requested any information whatsoever.

DAF Holdco subsequently learned that Mr. Dondero directed his subordinates at Skyview Group and NexPoint Advisors to provide false and misleading financial information to Highland Dallas and to the other Participating Shareholders. Rather than contact DAF Holdco or Mr. Patrick to question this information (especially given the questionable source), Highland Dallas sent the "no confidence" letter without any attempt to verify it. (As a post-script, DAF Holdco has refuted the false and misleading information, but the dispute continues because it was never really about that.)

Despite the November 11, 2024 date on the "no confidence" letter, DAF Holdco did not receive it until December 6, 2024, after the November 18, 2024 presentation to the supporting organizations' attorneys, Holland &Knight. In addition, DAF Holdco received the "no confidence letter from Mr. Dondero's personal attorneys, who do not represent Highland Dallas or the other Participating Shareholders.

DAF Holdco responded and voiced its concerns that Mr. Dondero was directing Highland Dallas to take these actions. Recall that Mr. Dondero is a Director and President of Highland Dallas. Holland & Knight ignored the accusations that Mr. Dondero was calling the shots and began sending acrimonious (but toothless) emails to DAF Holdco. Finally, Julie Diaz, a Director and Vice President of Highland Dallas (and President of the Dallas Foundation), sent an email requesting a winding up of DAF Holdco and distribution of all of its assets to Highland Dallas and the other Participating Shareholders.

Paul Murphy, an independent Director of DAF Holdco, made a presentation to the supporting organizations' attorneys from Holland & Knight in which he reviewed all of the governance and management improvements that have already been made, but they persist behind the scenes to facilitate Mr. Dondero's attempts to undermine Mr. Patrick and regain control over DAF Holdco's assets for use by NexPoint for investments.

DAF Holdco was contacted in February 2025 by Cayman Islands counsel stating they represent "DAF 2." DAF Holdco believes this "DAF 2" is an attempt by Mr. Dondero and his affiliates to fraudulently obtain DAF's assets.

In February 2025, DAF Holdco subsidiaries filed two lawsuits against Mr. Dondero's entities for non-payment on Dondero-managed investments. Mr. Patrick also directed a non-DAF entity he controls to file a third lawsuit against Mr. Dondero's entities for non-payment. These lawsuits are fundamentally the same as other lawsuits where creditors have sued Mr. Dondero and his entities for nonpayment. Mr. Dondero has not changed—he refuses to pay his debts and he believes he is the rightful owner of DAF Holdco's assets. Mr. Dondero's instrument is Highland Dallas. He controls Highland Dallas and will cause it to continue its crusade against DAF Holdco. As noted by James Seery, the HCM bankruptcy trustee who removed Mr. Dondero from HCM, Mr. Dondero will "burn the place down" if he does not get his way.

III. Discussion of Tax Exemption-Related Lack of Compliance and Outright Avoidance

In order for an organization to qualify for tax-exempt status under section 501(a) of the Code as a charitable organization described in section 501(c)(3) of the Code, it must be organized and operated exclusively for one or more charitable purposes described in section 501(c)(3) and the Treasury Regulations promulgated thereunder. We do not question whether Highland Dallas is organized for charitable purposes, nor do we question whether Highland Dallas's grantmaking to the Dallas Foundation and other bona-fide charitable organizations is consistent with its charitable purposes.

We do question whether Mr. Dondero's influence and control over at least Highland Dallas has allowed some portion of their net earnings to indirectly inure to Mr. Dondero's benefit as a result of his historic access to DAF Holdco's assets at below market rates and terms that appear to have been acquiesced to by each supporting organization. As we discuss below, Mr. Dondero's influence and control over DAF Holdco when Grant Scott was the Management Shareholder was never of concern, especially to Highland Dallas, even as each supporting organization received periodic valuation reports prepared by ValueScope detaining DAF Holdco's NexPoint investments. See report prepared for Grant Scott by ValueScope, attached hereto as Exhibit 8. In fact, we believe those valuation reports were used by each of them to prepare their Forms 990 and to prepare consolidated financial statements.

We also believe that each of the supporting organizations operates for Mr. Dondero's private benefit when he uses his influence or control over them to cause them to use or attempt to use their influence as Participating Shareholders of DAF Holdco to wrest control of DAF Holdco and its assets now that Mr. Patrick declined NexPoint investment requests that are both on non-market proposed terms and provide below market returns on investment.

If Highland Dallas elects not to exercise the Put Option before the REIT dissolves, we believe that would be an excess benefit transaction under section 4958 of the Code in which the organization managers had to have knowingly participated.

We also believe Mr. Dondero exercises such control as a substantial contributor of Highland Dallas, resulting from gifts he has made since the initial gift of Participating Shares were made by the CRT in 2011, that Highland Dallas should no longer satisfy the requirement in section 509(a)(3)(C) that there be no control by disqualified persons.

Finally, as discussed briefly below, we believe the donor advised fund rules in section 4966 and 4967 may be implicated, but have insufficient knowledge of the facts to assert conclusively that they do apply.

A. Private Benefit

We respectfully submit that Highland Dallas in particular no longer satisfies the operational test of section 501(c)(3) because its actions taken at Mr. Dondero's direction serve his private interests more than incidentally as prohibited by Treasury Regulation § 1.501(c)(3)-1(d)(1)(ii).

As we have outlined above, Mr. Dondero and affiliates such as NexPoint Advisors used DAF Holdco, when it was controlled by Grant Scott, as his personal piggybank. And, when Grant Scott controlled DAF Holdco, neither Julie Diaz (in her capacity as Director and Vice President of Highland Dallas) nor the Dallas Foundation questioned whether DAF Holdco's investment were prudent or generated market returns. Rather, even as they received and used for tax and financial reporting purposes the ValueScope valuation opinions which disclosed DAF Holdco's NexPoint and other Dondero-related investments, they never questioned whether the terms were market terms or whether the asset allocations were prudent. It was only after Mr. Patrick took over as Management Shareholder of DAF Holdco and (a) started declining NexPoint investment asks—really demands, (b) started diversifying DAF Holdco's investments away from NexPoint investments, (c) began demanding repayment of amounts owed with respect to NexPoint investments, and (d) Mr. Patrick resigned from Skyview Group and terminated its contract for back office and other services, that the supporting organizations collectively hired outside counsel and, under the lead of Julie Diaz, a Director and Vice President of Highland Dallas began sending no-confidence emails to DAF Holdco Directors (including Mr. Patrick and Mr. Murphy) demanding information to which they were not even legally entitled (a fact that their attorneys openly acknowledged in a Zoom call) and a complete restructuring of DAF Holdco to bring it back under Mr. Dondero's control.

In the seminal decision, American Campaign Academy v. Commissioner, 92 T.C. 1053 (1989), the Tax Court concluded that the absence of private inurement to the benefit of a private shareholder or individual does not end the analysis of whether an organization satisfies the operational test of exemption under section 501(c)(3). it went on to state: "when the Court concludes that no prohibited inurement of net earnings exists, it cannot stop there but must inquire further and determine whether a prohibited private benefit is conferred."(citations omitted) Id. at 1070. It concluded that "an organization's conferral of benefits on disinterested persons may cause it to serve 'a private interest' within the meaning of section 1.501(c)(3)-1(d)(1)(ii)." Id. at 1070.

Finally, after looking at the organization's exclusive source of funding (much the same as Mr. Dondero's exclusive funding of Highland Dallas), control of a majority of the Board by members of the Republican Party (analogous to Mr. Dondero's role as President and Director of Highland Dallas and his substantial influence over the two Dallas Foundation directors evidenced by their epiphany that something has to be done since Mr. Dondero no longer controls DAF Holdco), and several other factors, "we conclude that petitioner is operated for the benefit of private interests, a nonexempt purpose." Id. at 1080.

In another case, Airlie Foundation, Inc. v. United States, 55 F.3d 684 (D.C. Cir. 1995), the relationship between the founder and executive director of the foundation bears a strong resemblance to the relationship between Mr. Dondero and Highland Dallas and served as a basis for sustain the Service's revocation of its section 501(c)(3) exemption on the ground that it provided more than incidental private benefit to the founder. Although the actual basis for revocation of exemption was a finding of inurement of net earnings, the pervasive control of the founder clearly influenced the D.C. Circuit to affirm the District Court and, equally important, the court cited American Campaign Academy for the proposition that an organization does not operate exclusively for tax-exempt purpose if it serves a private interest rather than a public interest and "[t]his requirement applies to the organization's actual, not purported purposes." Id. at 75 AFTR 2d 95-2068, 95-2071.

B. Potential Inurement

Section 501(c)(also requires that "no part of the net earnings " of the organization may "inure to the benefit of any private shareholder or individual." As observed in the Airlie Foundation case, "the extent of the inurement is immaterial." Id. As noted in that case, and as is the case with Mr. Dondero, the founder of Airlie Foundation, Inc. "established and controlled a network of taxable and tax-exempt entities. The transactions that took place within the network organizations formed the basis for the IRS's revocation of AFI's tax-exempt status, as discussed at length by the district court."

We respectfully submit that if the Service audits Highland Dallas it will identify many more instances of inurement, beyond the single instance of forgiving $33,672 by Airlie Foundation, Inc. owed by one of the founder's affiliated entities. The Dugaboy effective interest-free loan and potential windfall if Highland Dallas fails to exercise its Put Option should be enough, but we believe there will be many other transactions such as management and administrative fees that generate income for Dondero-related entities.

As discussed above in Section II.A., during the Grant Scott control era of DAF Holdco, Mr. Dondero's effective control of DAF Holdco led DAF Holdco to make investments that benefitted him personally. These investment deprived DAF Holdco of assets that could be distributed to Participating Shareholders, including Highland Dallas.

C. The Failure to Exercise the Put Option as an Excess Benefit Transaction

As you know, section 4958 treats as excess benefit transactions between a public charity such as Highland Dallas and a disqualified person such as Mr. Dondero economic arrangements that are above or below market between them. Section 4958(c)(3)(A) also treats as "automatic" excess benefit transactions "any grant, loan, compensation or other similar payment to" a disqualified person such as a substantial contributor.

We believe, upon examination, the Service will find that Highland Dallas has engaged in multiple automatic excess benefit transactions with Mr. Dondero or entities owed and controlled by him such as NextPoint Advisors.

First, the forbearance to exercise the Put Option effectively created an interest free loan to Dugaboy, a disqualified person. Thus, the mere fact it has remained outstanding for years means it is an automatic excess benefit transaction that requires not only the payment of the 25% excise tax by Dugaboy but also the correction of it through the payment of the full $9,250,000 plus interest.

Second, if NexPoint Advisors performs investment management services for a fee, that would be an automatic excess benefit transaction requiring not only correction but also payment of the 25% excise tax. In fact, we know from public SEC filings that NexPoint Advisors or one of its affiliates does perform investment management services for the REIT, which may itself be an excess benefit transaction requiring correction.

Finally, while other excess benefit transactions may be identified during an examination of Highland Dallas, any forbearance to exercise the Put Option to benefit Dugaboy should be regarded, at a minimum, as a "similar payment" given the fact that Mr. Dondero benefits economically in a substantial way from that forbearance.

Given that the other two directors must act to approve these actions, it is likely they have done so knowingly and willfully.

D. Potential Non-Compliance with Section 509(a)(3) Operational Test Sufficient to Cause Highland Dallas to be Reclassified as a Private Foundation and Thus Subject to Chapter 42 Rules

In Mr. Dondero's article entitled "James Dondero: Dallas's Surprising Philanthropy Hero" (May 3, 2023, copy enclosed as Exhibit 6), Mr. Dondero said as follows:

> "Mr. Dondero and his firm have supported The Family Place, The Dallas Zoo, SMU's Tower Scholars program, The Perot Museum of Nature and Science, Education Is Freedom, and many more local charity organizations. Most gift are made through the philanthropic arm of Highland Capital Management."

Thus, in his own words, Mr. Dondero has acknowledged Highland Dallas has violated the section 509(a)(3) operational test in Treasury Regulation § 1.509(a)-4(e)(1) concerning permissible beneficiaries of a supporting organization and should be re-classified as a private foundation. That would mean that all dealings between Highland Dallas and entities owned or controlled by Mr. Dondero should be scrutinized to determine whether they constitute acts of self-dealing described in section 4941 of the Code or violate other provisions of Chapter 42 of the Code, such as the taxable expenditure rules in section 4945.

Under Treasury Regulation § 1.509(a)(-4(e)(1), "[a] supporting organization will be regarded as 'operated exclusively' to support one or more specified publicly supported organizations . . . only if it engages solely in activities which support or benefit the specified publicly supported organizations." (emphasis supplied)

The only exception to the requirement that a supporting organization benefit the supported organization "solely" is when the supporting organization provides benefits to individual members of the charitable class benefitted by the supported organization, such as by granting scholarships to graduates of a particular high school for college. See, e.g., Nellie Callahan Scholarship Fund v. Commissioner, 73 T.C. 626 (1980). The word "solely" is unambiguous; therefore, Mr. Dondero's own acknowledgement that Highland Dallas is the source of his funding of other admittedly charitable organizations provides conclusive evidence that Highland Dallas fails the operational test of section 509(a)(3).

Furthermore, section 509(a)(3)(C) provides that a supporting organization may not be controlled directly or indirectly by a disqualified person. A substantial contributor to a supporting organization is a disqualified person under section 4946(a)(1)(A). Thus, Mr. Donero's Dugaboy gift of the REIT Units to Highland Dallas made him a disqualified person and his effective veto power places him in control of Highland Dallas.

Therefore, we respectfully submit that that the Service should examine Highland Dallas to determine if it should be reclassified as a private foundation for the foregoing reasons and, if it is so-reclassified, all transactions between Mr. Dondero and his related or controlled entities should be evaluated to determine whether any constitute acts of self-dealing under section 4941. This should include the failure on the part of Highland Dallas to exercise its Put Option

E. Potential Non-Compliance with Section 4966/4967 Rules Applicable to Donor Advised Funds

Finally, we respectfully submit that the Service should examine Highland Dallas to determine whether it, in effect, functions as a donor advised fund of Mr. Dondero given the fact he provided substantially all of its funding, effectively controls it and may personally benefit financially more than incidentally through entities he owns or controls from management fees, charity special events such as banquets and other means.

Representatives of DAF Holdco will be available to be interviewed by the Service in a manner that will not result in compromising confidentiality under section 6103 and without the need for an administrative summons.

I THE MATTER OF SECTIO OF THE COMPA IES ACT REVISIO

A D I THE MATTER OF CHARITA LE DAF HOLDCO LTD

WI DI G P PETITIO

TO T e Grand Court o t e Cayman Islands

THE H M LE PETITIO of the Supporting Organisations (as defined below) (the Petitioners), in their capacity as members of Charitable DAF Holdco, Ltd (the LP) (and indirectly by way of separate petition the Charitable DAF Fund, LP (the Fund)) shows that:

A I TROD CTIO

1. The Petitioners respectfully seek:

   (a) an order pursuant to section 92(e) of the Companies Act (2025 Revision) (the Act) that the LP be wound up on the basis that it is just and equitable to do so; and

   (b) the appointment of Margot MacInnis and Sandipan Bhowmik of Grant Thornton Specialist Services (Cayman) Ltd. of Second Floor, Century Yard, Cricket Square, George Town, Grand Cayman, Cayman Islands as joint official liquidators (the JOLs) of the Fund; and/or

   (c) such other orders as the Court considers to be appropriate.

THE F D

2. The Fund is a Cayman Islands limited partnership formed on 28 October 2011 (registration number 53083) whose registered office is Campbells Corporate Services Limited, Floor 4, Willow House, Cricket Square, Grand Cayman, KY1-9010, Cayman Islands.

3. The Fund is governed by the Amended and Restated Limited Partnership Agreement dated 7 November 2011 (the ARLPA).

4. The Fund invests in securities for the purpose of benefiting, directly and indirectly, its Supporting Organisations (as defined below) which support various charitable causes in the U.S., including education, veteran and first responder welfare, medical research, economic and community initiatives, and youth and family programs.

5. The LP is the sole limited partner of the Fund and is a Cayman Islands exempt company incorporated on 27 October 2011 (registration number 263805) whose registered office is Campbells Corporate Services Limited, Floor 4, Willow House, Cricket Square, Grand Cayman, KY1-9010, Cayman Islands.

6. The LP is governed by the Amended and Restated Memorandum and Articles of Association of the LP dated 19 January 2015 (the Articles).

7. The general partner of the Fund is (or at least was at the time of the Fund's formation and pursuant to the ARLPA) Charitable DAF GP, LLC (the GP), a Delaware company incorporated on 25 October 2011, whose registered office is Campbells Corporate Services Limited, Floor 4, Willow House, Cricket Square, Grand Cayman, KY1-9010, Cayman Islands.

Ownership and Management

8. The Fund was formed to "make certain investments directly or indirectly on behalf of certain entities exempt from taxation under section 501(c)(3) of the U.S. Internal Revenue Code (the Code) … for the economic benefit of the Limited Partner and its Indirect Charitable Owners" (ARLPA, Recitals).

9. The Petitioners understand that exempt entities under section 501(c)(3) of the Code, commonly referred to as charitable organisations, must be operated exclusively for charitable purposes and not for the benefit of private interests. 'Supporting organizations' under section 509(a)(3) of the Code must carry out such exempt purposes by supporting other charities.

10. In this context:

(a) The LP holds ninety-nine percent (99%) of the economic interest in the Fund. The other one per cent (1%) in the Fund is held by the GP or its successor as GP.

(b) The LP issued 305 participation shares (the Participation Shares) that are held by four Delaware corporate entities, namely: The Highland Dallas Foundation, Inc. (HDF), The Highland Kansas City Foundation, Inc. (HKCF), The Highland Santa Barbara Foundation, Inc. (HSBF), and The HCMLP Charitable Fund (HCMLP) (together, the Supporting Organisations).

(c) Each Supporting Organisation provides funding to its respective U.S. charitable foundation (together, the Charities) which are the ultimate beneficial owners of the Fund's entire economic interest.

(d) The LP also issued 100 management shares (the Management Shares) which attach the only voting rights for all shareholders of the LP. The terms of the ARLPA and the Articles together grant complete management control of the Fund to the holder of the Management Shares, and the holder of the entire issued share capital in the GP (the Membership Interest).

11. The Management Shares and the Membership Interest have at all material times been held by a single individual who, as a result, has sole control of the Fund structure (the Control Position).

C THE PETITIO ERS

12. As stated above, the Petitioners (the Supporting Organisations) are non-profit charitable entities exempt from taxation under section 501(c)(3) of the \ Code and through the LP hold 99% of the economic interest in the Fund.

13. The Supporting Organisations provide funding directly to the Charities as follows:

(a) HDF holds 32.87% of the Participating Shares. HDF provides funding to The Dallas Foundation, a charitable entity established in Texas in 1929, which has awarded over $1 billion in grants and manages over $500 million in assets.

(b) HKCF holds 32.87% of the Participating Shares. HKCF provides funding to the Greater Kansas City Community Foundation, a charitable entity established in Kansas in 1978 which has awarded over $7 billion in grants and currently manages over $5 billion in assets.

(c) HSBF holds 32.787% of the Participating Shares. HSBF provides funding to the Santa Barbara Foundation, a charity established in 1928 which is the largest community foundation on California's Central Coast and manages assets of over $800 million.

(d) HCMLP holds 1.639% of the Participating Shares. HCMLP provides funding to the North Texas Community Foundation, which manages assets totaling $513 million and donated $38.9 million to local nonprofits in 2023.

14. Since the Fund's inception in 2011, through profits generated by the Fund the Supporting Organisations have granted over $42 million to charitable foundations and have funded $32 million in total commitments, including donations to 275 organisations, with average annual grant payments of $3.7 million.

D ACKGRO D

15. The Fund was created in 2011 on the instructions of James Dondero. Mr Dondero is the President of NexPoint Advisors, L.P. (NexPoint), an alternative investment firm registered with the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC), and the former President of Highland Capital Management, L.P. (Highland), also an SEC registered investment advisor which he founded in 1993. Mr Dondero is a regular donor to philanthropic and charitable causes. The Fund is one of the vehicles he utilises to donate such funds to charitable organisations. Mr Dondero holds no ownership or control stake in the Fund or any related entities, although he sits on the boards of the Supporting Organisations.

16. From the Fund's formation until March 2021, the Control Position was held by Grant Scott. On 25 March 2021, Mr Scott: (i) resigned as director of the Fund and the LP, (ii) appointed Mark Patrick as director of the Fund and the LP, and (iii) transferred to Mr Patrick the Management Shares in the LP and Management Interest in the GP. Mr Patrick therefore assumed the Control Position from that date.

17. From 2008 to 2021, Mr Patrick was employed as tax counsel by Highland Capital Management, LP (Highland), an investment advisor founded by Mr Dondero. From March 2021 to October 2024, Mr Patrick was employed as tax counsel by Skyview Group (Skyview). In both positions, Mr Patrick acted as an advisor to Mr Dondero and entities owned or affiliated to him.

18. On 22 April 2021, Paul Murphy, a Cayman Islands resident, was appointed as director of the LP.

19. On 16 October 2019, Highland filed for bankruptcy protection under Chapter 11 of the United States Bankruptcy Code in the Northern District of Texas (the Highland Bankruptcy). The Highland Bankruptcy plan was confirmed in February 2021, and the estate remains open as it makes distributions to creditors.

E EVE TS FOLLOWI G MR PATRICK S ASS MPTIO OF THE CO TROL POSITIO

20. Since assuming the Control Position, Mr Patrick has used that position to advance his own interests to the detriment of the LP, the Fund, the Supporting Organisations and the Charities.

Non-disclosure of personal interest in grant

21. In June 2023, Mr Patrick made a request that the Highland Dallas Foundation (i.e. the Supporting Organization that supports the Dallas Foundation) "direct $10,000" to Creative HEARTS TX, a non-profit entity formed on 13 June 2023. Following due diligence, it was discovered that the directors of the entity were Mr Patrick, Darees Patrick and Alyse Patrick (his daughter and wife). Mr Patrick had made the grant request without disclosing his and/or his family's involvement.

22. The grant payment was authorised on 5 September 2023, but Mr Patrick was informed that further payments were unlikely.

Attempt to obtain secret profit

23. In September 2023, Mr Dondero was contacted by Kevin Cronin of Fortaris Capital Advisors (Fortaris), a firm providing litigation support and investigative services which, at the time, was engaged by the Fund on an unrelated matter.

24. Mr Cronin disclosed to Mr Dondero that Mr Patrick had approached him with a proposition whereby Mr Patrick (on behalf of the Fund) would engage an entity controlled by Mr Cronin (other than Fortaris) at a monthly fee of between US$25,000 and US$50,000, and that this fee would be split between Fortaris and Mr Patrick as a supplement to Mr Patrick's compensation.

25. Mr Cronin refused Mr Patrick's proposal.

26. Mr Patrick's attempt to obtain a secret, undisclosed personal profit from the Fund would, if successful, have constituted U.S. federal wire fraud, and/or violations of the Texas Penal Code's prohibitions on bribery and misapplication of fiduciary property. It was otherwise a breach of Mr Patrick's duties to the LP and, through the LP, to the Fund.

Unauthorised use of MNPI / Insider Trading

27. NexPoint and its affiliates, through their investment activities, regularly obtain material non-public information (MNPI) related to those investments. As a service provider to NexPoint and its affiliates, Skyview employees also obtain the same MNPI. Trading on the basis of MNPI amounts to 'insider trading' which is prohibited under U.S. securities and other laws. As a result, NexPoint and its affiliates, and Skyview, all have the same robust regulatory compliance program to prevent, among other things, insider trading (the Compliance Policy). NexPoint and its affiliates, and Skyview, require their employees to abide by the Compliance Policy at all times and employees are required to confirm in writing each quarter that they will not use MNPI while trading. Mr Patrick completed an annual 2023, Q4 2023, Q1 2024 and Q2 2024 certifications, among others.

28. In late August 2024, Mr Patrick contacted the attorneys to the Dallas Foundation to provide information about an asset held by the Dallas Foundation, which was held directly and separately from the Fund. This information was obtained by Mr Patrick through his employment at Skyview and constituted MNPI. On the basis of this MNPI, Mr Patrick advised the Dallas Foundation to exercise a put option it held in a NexPoint affiliated asset. The Dallas Foundation did not act on the information or recommendation provided by Mr Patrick, but in the event it had exercised the put option, both the Dallas Foundation and Mr Patrick would have committed violations of the U.S. securities laws that prohibit insider trading.

29. Upon receipt of the allegations against Mr Patrick, Skyview's compliance department commenced an internal investigation which, due to the serious nature of the allegations, was conducted without Mr Patrick's knowledge, so as to avoid potentially tipping off Mr Patrick. The investigation concluded that Mr Patrick's actions constituted a serious breach of his compliance and employee obligations and that Mr Patrick had attempted a serious breach of U.S. securities laws.

30. Mr Patrick resigned from Skyview immediately before the internal investigation was finalised. At the same time, he terminated the Fund's services agreement with Skyview. That termination was not in the interests of the Fund, was for Mr Patrick's own self-protection and was otherwise a breach of Mr Patrick's duties to the LP and, through the LP, to the Fund.

Financial Irregularities in the Fund / Unexplained Expenditure

31. A review of the Fund's financial records conducted by Skyview covering the calendar years ending 2018 to 2023 and the first half of 2024 showed significant increases in expenditures, notably:

(a) Directors ees, which increased from US$40,000 in 2022 to almost US$600,000 in 2023, and in the first half of 2024 alone, increased further to around US$2.25 million; and

(b) E penses overall, which for the first half of 2024 were around US$18.3 million, with a further US$18.6 million being spent in the calendar year 2023.

32. In October 2024, the Charities requested that Mr Patrick provide financial information about the Fund entities to seek to understand these increases in expenditures. This information was not provided.

33. In November 2024, Holland and Knight (H&K), the Charities' US attorneys, delivered a letter to Mr Murphy from the Charities advising that the Charities no longer had confidence in the governance of the Fund and considered that a reorganisation was required (the No Confidence Letter). No response to the No Confidence Letter was received.

34. In January 2025, further correspondence was sent to Mr Patrick and Mr Murphy advising that a better understanding of the Fund's asset position was needed and expressing serious concern that the Charities' requests for information continued to be disregarded, reflecting an ongoing lack of transparency on the part of Mr Patrick and Mr Murphy. Mr Murphy responded via email to this request noting that he and Mr Patrick would "present directly to the foundations/supporting organisations" to address some of the concerns in the No Confidence Letter.

35. H&K responded to Mr Murphy's email noting, inter alia, that the Supporting Organisations had legitimate concerns and highlighted that "the last information they received from in July of 2024, before Mr Patrick shut down [communication] showed that legal expenses had increased to $6 million in the first six months of 2024 compared to $4 million for all of 2022" (a 300% increase, if annualized) and "director fees skyrocketed from $40 thousand in 2022 to $2.25 million in the first six months of 2024" (a 12,400% increase, if annualized).

36. In February 2025, further correspondence was sent between H&K and Douglas Mancino (Mr Mancino) of Seyfarth Shaw LLP (Seyfarth), US counsel purporting to act for the Fund, whereby Seyfarth rejected the reported increases in legal and directors' fees and provided a valuation of the Fund from 2020 to support the suggestion that similar information was provided to the Charities when Mr Scott was in the Control Position. It is clear that Mr Patrick and/or Mr Murphy has instructed Seyfarth, purportedly on behalf of the Fund, to take a hostile, indignant and non-neutral stance when faced with reasonable requests on behalf of the Charities, as ultimate beneficiaries of the assets of the Fund. Such conduct is a breach of their duties to the LP and, through the LP, to the Fund.

37. H&K responded to Seyfarth that the Charities were becoming frustrated by the ongoing lack of transparency and refusal to respond to simple inquiries about the financial position and governance of the Fund. Seyfarth sent an email to H&K requesting available dates for Mr Murphy to make the promised presentation to the Charities. The next day, H&K suggested three potential dates/times for such a call between 26 March and 3 April 2025, but did not receive any response. On 3 April 2025, Seyfarth sent an email to H&K stating that they had just learned that a call was scheduled for the following day and seeking to reschedule. H&K responded that no such call had been arranged and queried the source of confusion. Seyfarth has made no further efforts to schedule the meeting, nor has it otherwise provided any of the requested financial information.

Replacement of GP without notification

38. In February 2025, H&K discovered that Mr Patrick had redomiciled and replaced the general partner of the Fund, without notice to the Charities, almost one year prior.

39. On 27 February 2024, CDH GP, Ltd (the New GP) was incorporated in the Cayman Islands (registration number 407515) with its registered office at Campbells Corporate Services Ltd, Floor 4, Willow House, Cricket Square, Grand Cayman KY1-9010, Cayman Islands.

40. Mr Patrick is the sole director of the New GP.

Sale of assets

41. Following Mr Patrick's resignation from Skyview and his termination of Skyview's services agreement with the Fund, the Petitioners have become aware that assets of the Fund have been sold without explanation, at values which appear to be below-market.

Hunter Mountain

42. In February 2025, an individual associated with Mr Patrick, Shawn Raver, asked for the in-bound wire instructions for one of Mr Dondero's affiliates that owned a position in a trust called Hunter Mountain. Hunter Mountain is an indirect majority owned subsidiary of the Fund and owns the majority of the distribution rights of the equity position in the Highland Bankruptcy. The residual value of the Highland estate should be distributed to Hunter Mountain at the close of the Highland Bankruptcy.

43. According to Hunter Mountain's own filings, this value has been calculated in excess of $100 million gross, with approximately $17 million net value. After additional inquiries from accounting staff, Mr Raver disclosed that the entire Hunter Mountain position had been sold, at potentially a substantial undervalue, to an unidentified party for $1 million. The Fund has not disclosed the identity of the purchaser. In the absence of a further or better explanation, there is the inference of self-dealing, fair dealing, no profit or conflict rules

Atlas IDF, L.P.

44. Atlas IDF, L.P. is a fund controlled by its general partner Atlas IDF GP, LLC, a wholly owned subsidiary of the Fund. The economic beneficiaries of Atlas IDF are the holders of annuity policies issued by Crown Global Insurance Company. The majority annuity policyholder is Empower Dallas Foundation (EDF), a charitable foundation for which Mr Dondero serves as President whose purpose is to benefit the Dallas Foundation.

45. On 20 February 2025, Mr Patrick in his capacity as the general partner of Atlas IDF GP, LLC, sent a letter to Crown Global Insurance advising of the intention to dissolve Atlas in accordance with the partnership agreement dated 30 November 2015 on the basis of:

(a) concerns about the long-term availability and viability of back-office support;

(b) unsuccessful efforts to sell the defaulted Notes issued by HCRE Partners (one of Mr Donero's affiliates) dated 7 May 2014 in the amount of $2.3M and 27 May 2014 in the amount of $5M, held by the Partnership; and

(c) the decision by an affiliate of the GP to purchase the Notes at a price above their appraised value of zero dollars to facilitate an orderly wind-up.

46. At the time, the amounts outstanding on the two Notes, including accumulated interest, were in excess of $13M. The intention was to sell the Notes collectively for $500,000. Mr Patrick launched litigation related to these Notes prior to the 20 February 2025 and attempted sale of the Notes to an affiliate.

47. On 27 February 2025, H&K as counsel for EDF (the policyholder), sent an email to Crown Global advising that the foundation was gathering information and requested that Crown Global therefore withdraw its consent to the proposed sale of the Notes.

48. On 28 February 2025, Mr Patrick sent a further letter to Crown Global noting the revocation of consent to sell the Notes, and further noting that: "in addition to the purchase of the "Notes" for $500,000, we also intend to include a provision in the purchase and sale documents that, if the Notes are repaid in full within 12 months, all amounts received (minus fees and expenses of collection and purchase price) will be remitted to you as the sole limited partner of Atlas IDF, LP." The initial zero valuation and proposed $500,000 sale price is commercially unjustifiable.

Attorney General Investigation

49. The Petitioners have been informed that on 14 March 2025, the Texas Attorney General (Texas AG) commenced an investigation into Charitable DAF GP, LLC (the Fund's former general partner) in relation to the organisation, conduct and management of Charitable DAF GP, LLC, and its related entities.

50. It is understood that the Texas AG has the power to investigate a charity, should it deem necessary, to determine whether a charity is complying with Texas law.

51. The Charities have requested information about the investigation from the Texas AG, but do not have knowledge of any further details.

F GRO DS FOR WI DI G P

52. The Supporting Organizations bring this Petition based on the multiple concerns identified above about the governance of the LP and the Fund, including potential mismanagement of assets and/or use of assets for purposes other than to benefit and support the Charities, as the ultimate beneficial owners of the Fund's interest, in carrying out their charitable purposes, in accordance with the terms of the ARLPA, on the basis of a complete breakdown in confidence in the person in the Control Position.

53. Accordingly, the Petitioners seek a winding up of the LP on a just and equitable basis and in particular, without limitation, on the following grounds (each discussed in detail below):

(a) governance issues and mismanagement; and

(b) the need for an investigation into the recent activities and expenditure of the Fund; and

(c) justifiable loss of faith and confidence in the management of the Fund.

F APPLICATIO

54. Given the above, the Petitioners seek an order that the LP be wound up pursuant to section 92(e) of the Act.

55. The Petitioners also seek an order appointing Margot MacInnis and Sandipan Bhowmik of Grant Thornton Specialist Services (Cayman) Ltd. of Second Floor, Century Yard, Cricket Square, George Town, Grand Cayman, Cayman Islands, as the joint official liquidators (JOLs) of the LP.

56. Margot MacInnis and Sandipan Bhowmik of Grant Thornton Specialist Services (Cayman) Ltd:

(a) are "qualified insolvency practitioners" as defined in section 89 of the Act and as prescribed by Regulation 4 of the Insolvency Practitioners' Regulations (2023 Consolidation) (IPR);

(b) meet the residency requirements contained in Regulation 5 of the IPR;

(c) meet the independence requirements prescribed by Regulation 6 of the IPR;

(d) meet the insurance requirements prescribed by Regulation 7 of the IPR and A&M holds a trade licence which authorises its staff to carry on business as professional insolvency practitioners; and

(e) consent to their appointment as official liquidators of the LP, if so appointed by the Court.

YO R PETITIO ERS THEREFORE H M LY PRAY THAT –

1. The LP be wound up by the Court in accordance with section 92(e) of the Act.

2. Margot MacInnis and Sandipan Bhowmik of Grant Thornton Specialist Services (Cayman) Ltd. of Second Floor, Century Yard, Cricket Square, George Town, Grand Cayman, Cayman Islands be appointed as the joint official liquidators (the JOLs) of the LP.

3. The JOLs be authorized to act jointly and severally in their capacity as liquidators of the LP.

4. The JOLs shall not be required to give security for their appointment.

5. In addition to their powers prescribed in Part II of the Third Schedule to the Act, which are exercisable without sanction of this Honourable Court, the JOLs may also without further sanction or intervention from this Honourable Court exercise the following powers set out in Part I of the Third Schedule to the Act:

(a) The power to engage staff, agents and/or consultants (whether or not as employees of the LP) in the Cayman Islands and elsewhere to assist the JOLs in the performance of their functions; and

(b) The power to engage attorneys and other professionally qualified persons in the Cayman Islands and elsewhere to assist the JOLs in the performance of their functions.

6. The JOLs be authorised to do any act or thing considered by them to be necessary or desirable in connection with the liquidation of the LP.

7. The JOLs' remuneration and expenses be paid out of the assets of the LP in accordance with section 109 of the Act, Part III of the Regulations, and CWR Order 20.

8. The costs of this Petition shall be paid out of the assets of the LP as an expense in the liquidation, such costs to be taxed if not agreed with the JOLs.

9. The JOLs shall be at liberty to apply to further directions concerning their functions and the exercise or the proposed exercise of their powers.

10. Such further or other orders and directions be made as the Court shall deem fit.

A D your Petitioners will ever pray etc.

(3) An exempted company which defaults in submitting its annual return under section 168 or the fee specified in subsection (1) shall incur a penalty of —

ORDER 15

Introduction (O.15, r.1)

1. (1) An application for a supervision order must be made by a company's voluntary liquidator in accordance with section 124 of the Law if its directors fail to make and deliver their declaration of solvency to the voluntary liquidator within 28 days of the commencement of the liquidation.

(2) Notwithstanding that a declaration of solvency has been duly made in accordance with section 124 of the Law, the voluntary liquidator or any contributory or any creditor may apply to the Court for a supervision order on the grounds contained in section 131 of the Law.

Application under section 124 (O.15, r.2)

2. (1) The requirement to apply for a supervision order under section 124 of the Law shall apply only if the voluntary liquidation was commenced on or after 1 March 2009.

(2) An application for a supervision order under section 124 shall be made by petition.

(3) A petition under this Rule shall contain —

(a) particulars of the company's incorporation;

(b) particulars of the method by which the company was put into voluntary liquidation;

(c) particulars of the persons who are or were directors of the company on the date on which its voluntary liquidation commenced;

(d) a statement that the voluntary liquidator did not receive, within 28 days of the commencement of the liquidation, a declaration of solvency in the prescribed form signed by all of the company's directors; and

(e) if the voluntary liquidator is a qualified insolvency practitioner, a statement that the voluntary liquidator consents to being appointed as official liquidator; or

(f) if the voluntary liquidator is not a qualified insolvency practitioner or is unable to comply with the independence requirements of the Regulations or is unwilling to be appointed as official liquidator, the name and address of a qualified insolvency practitioner nominated for appointment as official liquidator.

(4) Every petition under this Rule must be presented within 35 days of the date upon which the liquidation is deemed to have commenced under section 117(1) of the Law.

(5) Unless the voluntary liquidator is a qualified insolvency practitioner who is willing and properly able to accept appointment as official liquidator, the voluntary liquidator must give notice of the petition to the company's members by whatever means is provided in its articles of association for giving notice of a general meeting of the company.

Application under section 131 (O.15, r.3)

3. (1) An application by a voluntary liquidator, contributory or creditor for a supervision order to be made under section 131 shall be made by petition.

(2) A petition under this Rule shall contain full particulars of the grounds upon which it is presented.

(3) Upon the presentation of a petition under this Rule, the petitioner must at the same time issue a summons for directions in respect of the matters contained in this Rule.

(4) Upon hearing the summons for directions, the Court shall either —

(a) make a supervision order, if the Court is satisfied that the company's members consent or do not object to an order being made; or

(b) fix a hearing date and make such directions as the Court thinks appropriate in respect of the following matters —

(i) whether the petition should be served and, if so, upon whom it should be served;

(ii) whether the petition should be advertised and, if so, in what manner it should be advertised;

(iii) the manner in which further evidence is to be given; and

(iv) such other procedural matters as the Court thinks fit.

(5) A petition under this Rule may be presented at any time.

Supporting Affidavits (O.15, r.4)

4. (1) The petition shall be verified by an affidavit that the statements in the petition are true, or are true to the best of the deponent's knowledge, information and belief.

(2) An affidavit verifying a petition under Rule 2 shall be sworn by the voluntary liquidator personally.

(3) An affidavit verifying a petition under Rule 3 shall be sworn by —

(a) the petitioner; or

(b) the voluntary liquidator; or

(c) any director, officer or agent of the petitioner who has been concerned in and has personal knowledge of the matters giving rise to the petition.

(4) Unless the voluntary liquidator is a qualified insolvency practitioner who is willing and properly able to accept appointment as official liquidator, a petition under Rule 2 or Rule 3 must also be supported by an affidavit sworn by the person or persons nominated for appointment as official liquidator and containing the information required by Order 3, rule 4.

Hearing of section 124 Petition (O.15, r.5)

5. (1) If the voluntary liquidator is a qualified insolvency practitioner who has sworn an affidavit verifying that the voluntary liquidator is willing and properly able to accept appointment as official liquidator, a Judge may make a supervision order under section 124 of the Law without the need for any hearing if the Judge is satisfied that —

(a) notice of the petition has been given to the company's creditors and, if it appears to the voluntary liquidator that the company may in fact be solvent, to its shareholders; and

(b) there is no reason to believe that any creditor or, if applicable, any shareholder objects to the appointment of the voluntary liquidator as official liquidator.

(2) In any other case, the voluntary liquidator shall apply to fix a date for hearing the petition in open court and –

(a) give notice of the hearing of the petition to the company's creditors and, if applicable, to its shareholders in whatever manner is likely to bring it to their attention; and

(b) advertise the hearing of the petition once in a newspaper having a circulation within the Islands and, if the company is carrying on business outside the Islands, once in a newspaper having a circulation in a country in which the company appears most likely to have creditors, in which case the advertisement shall be published in the official language of such country.

(3) An advertisement under this Rule shall be in CWR Form No. 22.

(4) Any member or creditor of the company may appear on the petition and be heard upon the question of who should be appointed as official liquidator provided that that member or creditor has given notice of their intention to do so and has complied with the requirements of Order 3, rule 8(3).

Release of Voluntary Liquidator (O.15, r.6)

6. (1) Unless a voluntary liquidator is appointed as official liquidator, the voluntary liquidator shall cease to hold office automatically upon the making of a supervision order.

(2) When a voluntary liquidator ceases to hold office in accordance with this Rule, the voluntary liquidator shall prepare a final report and accounts for the period from the commencement of the voluntary liquidation until the date of the supervision order.

(3) The voluntary liquidator shall deliver the voluntary liquidator's final report and accounts to the official liquidator within 28 days of the date upon which the supervision order was made and the official liquidator shall —

(a) file the report and accounts in Court; and

(b) publish the report and accounts to the company's members and creditors in such manner as the official liquidator thinks fit.

(4) Having delivered the voluntary liquidator's final report and accounts, the voluntary liquidator may apply (but shall not be obliged to apply) to the Court for an order that the voluntary liquidator's accounts (including the amount of the voluntary liquidator's remuneration) be approved and that the voluntary liquidator be released from the performance of any further duties.

Delivery of Company's Books and Records (O.15, r.7)

7. (1) A voluntary liquidator who ceases to hold office upon the making of a supervision order shall forthwith deliver to the voluntary liquidator's successor the company's books and a copy of the voluntary liquidator's liquidation files (maintained in accordance with Order 26, rule 2).

(2) The official liquidator shall allow the voluntary liquidator to have unrestricted access to the company's books and records for the purpose of preparing the voluntary liquidator's report in compliance with Order 13, rule 8.

Supervision Order (O.15, r.8)

8. (1) A supervision order shall be in CWR Form No 23.

(2) The requirements of Order 3, rules 22 and 23 shall apply to supervision orders as they apply to winding up orders.

(3) On the making of a supervision order all the powers of the directors cease, save that directors retain residual powers to allow them to initiate an appeal against the supervision order.

Dear Sirs

Re: Charitable DAF Holdco, Ltd. (in Official Liquidation) (the "Company")
FSD Cause No. 116 of 2025 (JAJ)

We refer to your letters dated 22 and 30 May 2025 sent on behalf of the joint official liquidators (the "JOLs") of the Company. Capitalised terms, unless otherwise defined, adopt the definitions applied in our letters dated 12 and 16 May 2025 ("Our Letter)" which were addressed to the JOLs.

As a preliminary point, we received a letter from Maples and Calder dated 28 May 2025 indicating that they have recently been instructed to act for the JOLs. We understood, based on your 22 May letter, that Johnstone Law were engaged as counsel by the JOLs (subject to sanction by the Court). In circumstances where two law firms are now corresponding with us, purportedly on behalf of the JOLs, it is incumbent on the JOLs to immediately clarify the situation.

Please confirm, by no later than 5pm on Monday, 2 June 2025, the respective roles of Maples and Calder and Johnstone Law.

Attendance at the Directions Hearing

1. Your letters repeatedly assert that our clients have "no standing in the liquation". This is patently incorrect. The JOLs were specifically authorised to commence proceedings against our client as a direct result of the evidence and draft order prepared by your firm, on behalf of the petitioner, at the supervision hearing.[1] This resulted in the Court making an Order which granted the JOLs authority to present a petition / seek the appointment of provisional liquidators to the Fund before they could possibly have had an opportunity to consider the relevant facts, or if such steps were necessary or appropriate. In the circumstances, it is obvious that, (i) your firm cannot objectively advise the JOLs, and (ii) the Fund, as a party named in the Appointment Order, have standing to address the Court on those provisions.

2. As Lord Millet observed on behalf of the Privy Council in Deloitte and Touche AG v Johnson,[2] "Orders made by the court are coercive. Every order of the court affects the freedom of action of the party against whom it is made". Accordingly, when determining whether an applicant has standing, the Court will first consider if it has jurisdiction to make the order, and secondly, in words of Lord Millet, whether the applicant has a "legitimate interest in the relief which they seek". Clearly, given the Fund is the party directly affected by the inclusion of these 'coercive' provisions, they have standing to bring an application to have the offending paragraphs removed from the Appointment Order.

3. As regards the reporting 'Protocol' proposed in Our Letter and referred to at the Directions Hearing, your 22 May letter, despite seeking "assurances regarding the assets under the control of" our clients, did not address the Protocol, or take us up on our offer to "discuss the terms of the Protocol in further detail". We were therefore surprised to hear Mr Johnstone summarily dismiss the Protocol as "paper thin" at the Directions Hearing. For the avoidance of doubt, our clients' offer to enter into a reporting Protocol in respect of material transactions remains open (to which, see paragraph 12 below).

4. As to the balance of the entirely baseless criticisms in your 30 May letter, we have no obligation to, and no intention of, addressing these. The appropriate forum to address those issues was in front of Mr Justice Asif KC at the Directions Hearing. They warrant no further comment.

JOLs' Powers

5. As regards paragraph 3 of your 22 May letter, the powers conferred on liquidators by the CWR and the Act to collect in the books and records of a company in liquidation, including those in paragraph 1 of Part II to Schedule 3, are to be exercised by the liquidator in respect the "property of the Company" and / or "the company's books and records". As these statutory powers do not extend to distinct legal entities which are not the subject of a liquidation or other court order, it follows

[1] Your 22 May letter indicates that these provisions were granted by the Court "on the basis of the evidence before it", although it is notable that you have not provided the transcript of the petition hearing (insofar as it relates to paragraphs 6(a) and (b) of the Appointment Order) we requested in Our Letter, or confirmation as to whether these provisions were addressed in legal submissions.

that our clients' documents are not the "property of the Company" and JOLs have no basis to claim that the Company is entitled to these documents.

6. Further, any duty which Messrs Patrick or Murphy owe to the JOLs in their capacity as former directors of the Company does not extend to the books and records of the CDM Entities which are separate entities over which the JOLs have no power or authority. It is plainly incorrect to suggest that directors of the CDM Entities can disregard their duties to those companies on the basis of your assertion that they fall within the definition of "relevant persons" under s.103 of the Act. Directors are bound by duties under common law and statute to protect the interests, confidentiality, and assets of the companies they serve. To comply with your baseless requests would place them in breach of those duties unless and until a court determines otherwise.

7. If the JOLs believe it necessary to investigate particular transactions involving the CDM Entities, the proper course is to seek the appropriate order from the Grand Court under section 103 or 138 of the Act. This approach ensures that the statutory process is respected and our clients' rights are protected.

Response to Requests in your 22 May Letter

8. In response to the requests listed at paragraph 5 of your 22 May letter, please see the Schedule to this letter which lists each of the CDM Entities we represent.

9. As to paragraphs 5(b), (c) and (d), for the reasons outlined above, your request for extensive documentation, including registers, asset holdings, and transaction histories, has no legal basis. Nor is there any basis on which the JOLs can demand "firm undertakings" from our clients not to deal with their assets.

10. We do not understand the reference to the purported transaction involving Hunter Mountain Trust in your 30 May letter. The bare assertion of a proprietary claim (which is made for the first time in this letter) is completely unsubstantiated and legally flawed. Needless to say, the JOLs have no interest, proprietary or otherwise, in any assets held by the Fund and our clients do not need to seek approval or consult with the JOLs regarding transactions in the ordinary course of business.

11. Notwithstanding, our clients have already offered to enter into a reporting Protocol in an effort to assuage any misplaced concerns the JOLs may have regarding the commercial activities of the Fund and the risk of dissipation of assets outside of the ordinary course of business. However, it is notable that your letters have eschewed this reasonable and constructive proposal in favour of misconceived and unsustainable requests of our clients.

12. We now enclose a draft reporting Protocol whereby our clients offer to provide, inter alia, the following information to the JOLs:

    (a) a report listing all transactions undertaken by the Fund, or any of the CDM Entities, since 27 March 2025 which exceed US$5,000,000;

    (b) a 'business plan' explaining the ordinary day to day business of the Fund;

    (c) a monthly transactions report; and

    (d) advance notice of any single transaction exceeding US$5,000,000, or any series of transactions in an aggregate amount exceeding US$5,000,000 (save for transactions in the ordinary course of business involving or related to the renumeration of employees, officers and directors, agents, advisors and / or service providers).

13. For the avoidance of doubt, our clients reject the suggestion that they are under any duty to provide this information. However, in circumstances where the CDM Entities, including the Fund, are operating in the ordinary course to make investments on behalf of, and to support charitable causes, our clients are offering this Protocol to ensure that these charitable operations are not unnecessarily impacted by the JOLs.

14. Please confirm your agreement to, or provide any comments on, the draft protocol by 3pm on Wednesday, 4 June 2025.

Paragraphs 6(a) and 6(b) of the Appointment Order

15. With regard to paragraphs 6(a) and (b) of the Appointment Order, as noted above and in Our Letter, we have serious concerns regarding the propriety of the JOLs seeking to retain the same counsel who had expressly sought, and obtained, an order that the JOLs be authorised to present a petition for the winding up of, and appointment of provisional liquidators to, the Fund "if so advised". There is simply no legal or practical basis for the JOLs to present a petition for the winding up of the Fund and, as foreshadowed at the Directions Hearing, our clients intend to apply to have paragraphs 6(a) and (b) struck from the Appointment Order.

16. It is well established in this jurisdiction that, per Mr Justice Jones KC in Re ICP Strategic Credit Income Fund Limited,[3] "an official liquidator's power to 'bring or defend any action or other legal proceeding in the name and on behalf of the company' is exercisable only with the sanction of the Court." In addition, when determining whether to sanction such proceedings, "the court must be satisfied that they have causes of action against the proposed defendants with a reasonable prospect of success and that the interests of the creditors will be best served by allowing proceedings to be commenced. As officers of the court, official liquidators are expected to behave in an exemplary manner and to perform their duties and exercise their powers fairly. The court will not allow its official liquidators to threaten or commence litigation speculatively as a means of extracting a settlement from a party against whom there is no genuine cause of action or no evidence from which to infer that a possible cause of action has any real prospect of success" (at paragraph 10).

17. Accordingly, it is clear that, despite the inexplicable inclusion of paragraphs 6(a) and (b) in the Appointment Order, the JOLs should be expected to obtain Court sanction before issuing any proceedings in the name of the Company. However, were the JOLs to seek sanction for the presentation of a winding up petition against the Fund, such an application would be destined to fail in circumstances where, for the reasons outlined in Our Letter, there is no genuine cause of action and no realistic prospect of the petition being successful.

18. Furthermore, given these provisions were sought and included in the Appointment Order without any proper consideration of the underlying transactions or the relevant facts, our clients have serious concerns with the manner in which the JOLs, presumably influenced by legal counsel, appear to have predetermined the course of the liquidation and the investigations which will be required into the affairs of our clients. Such conduct by the JOLs, without first ensuring they are "thoroughly acquainted with the affairs of the company" clearly disregards the dicta of the Court of Appeal in In re Contract Corporation, Gooch's Case (as applied by the Cayman Islands Court of Appeal in In Re China Branding Group Ltd).[4] In the circumstances, Mr Justice Jones KC's observation at paragraph 11 in Re ICP Strategic Credit Income Fund Limited that "the Court's decision to sanction the commencement of litigation can never be entirely divorced from questions about how and by whom it will be financed" seems particularly relevant.

19. We enclose herewith a draft Summons seeking a variation of the Appointment Order by removing paragraphs 6(a) and (b). As stated at the Directions Hearing, our instructions are to file this Summons and, given the narrow scope of the issue to be determined, to request that it is heard with the existing JOLs' sanction application on 24 June 2025.

20. However, in the circumstances, including, inter alia, the reasons set out above, we believe it would be practical for the JOLs to agree to vary the Appointment Order without requiring the issuance of a Summons and the associated hearing costs. We therefore invite the JOLs to agree a consent order agreeing that paragraphs 6(a) and (b) should be struck from the Appointment Order which we can jointly submit for His Lordship's consideration.

[4] In re Contract Corporation, Gooch's Case [1871] 12 LR Ch App 207, p 211: "In truth, it is of the utmost importance that the liquidator should, as the officer of the Court, maintain an even and impartial hand between all the individuals whose interests are involved in the winding up. He should have no leaning for or against any individual whatever. It is his duty to the whole body of shareholders, and to the whole body of creditors, and to the Court, to make himself thoroughly acquainted with the affairs of the company; and to suppress nothing, and to conceal nothing, which has come to his knowledge in the course of his investigation, which is material to ascertain the exact truth in every case before the Court. And it is for the Judge to see that he does his duty in this respect" (emphasis added).

21. Please confirm by 3pm (Cayman Islands time) on Wednesday, 4 June 2025, if the JOLs are amenable to agreeing a consent order in the manner proposed. If we do not hear from you before this, we are instructed to file a Summons without further notice to you and will rely on this letter for costs purposes.

Yours faithfully,

FSD NO. 116 OF 2025 (JAJ)

IN THE MATTER OF SECTION 131 OF THE COMPANIES ACT (2025 REVISION)

AND IN THE MATTER OF CHARITABLE DAF HOLDCO, LTD (IN OFFICIAL LIQUIDATION)

PROTOCOL IN RESPECT OF CHARITABLE DAF FUND, LP

By a petition filed on 2 May 2025, the (1) the Highland Dallas Foundation, Inc., (2) the Highland Kansas City Foundation, Inc., (3) the Highland Santa Barbara Foundation, Inc., and (4) the HCMLP Charitable Fund sought an order that the voluntary liquidation of Charitable DAF HoldCo, Ltd ("HoldCo") continue under the supervision of the Court (the "Supervision Application") pursuant to s.131 Companies Act (2025 Revision) (the "Act").

By order of the Grand Court of the Cayman Islands (the "Court") in respect of FSD 116 of 2025 (JAJ) dated 6 May 2025 (the "Order"), the Court determined the Supervision Application and directed that Ms. Margot MacInnis and Mr. Sandipan Bhowmilk be appointed as Joint Official Liquidators (the "JOLs") of HoldCo.

Paragraph 6, 6(a) and 6(b) of the Order provide as follows:

> "The JOLs are in addition authorised to exercise the following powers and to take the following steps without further sanction by the Court:
> (a) The power to present a petition for the winding up of Charitable DAF Fund, LP (the Fund) if so advised;
>
> (b) The power to file a summons and to apply for an order appointing provisional liquidators of the Fund if so advised…"

(the "DAF Provisions")

Charitable DAF Fund, LP ("DAF LP") was not represented at the Supervision Application and understands that that the DAF Provisions were included in the Order "on the basis of the evidence before [the Court]".[1]

HoldCo was, and DAF LP is, part of a larger group of entities (collectively the "DAF Structure") whose establishment and aim is, according to its 'Mission Statement', to "make investments in order to support community-focused non-profit foundations with a demonstrated focus of giving funds to worthy causes and making a difference". "CDM Entities" means the DAF Structure entities listed on Annexure 1 hereto.

Preliminary statement

The purpose of this Protocol (the "Protocol") is to ensure the efficient and orderly administration of DAF LP, the CDM Entities, and the liquidation estate of HoldCo. The Protocol is designed to avoid conflict between the JOLs and DAF LP, to assuage any concerns the JOLs may have regarding the commercial activities of DAF LP with respect to the risk of dissipation / misuse of assets outside of the ordinary course of business, and, subject to the approval of the Court, to facilitate the removal of the DAF Provisions from the Order (without prejudice to the JOLs entitlement to seek sanction in the ordinary manner and in accordance with the Act and the Companies Winding Up Rules (2023 Consolidation)).

Background

DAF LP is a Cayman Islands limited partnership formed on 28 October 2011. CDH GP Ltd (the "GP"), is a Cayman Islands company incorporated in or around 7 February 2024 and is the general partner of DAF LP. From its incorporation until March 2025 when it was placed in voluntary liquidation, Holdco was the limited partner of DAF LP through which it indirectly owned the other entities in the DAF Structure.

Dear Colleagues

Charitable DAF HoldCo, Ltd (In Official Liquidation) (the Company) | FSD No. 116 of 2025 (JAJ)

We refer to your letter dated 30 May 2025 and our recent correspondence in relation to the above matter.

Maples engagement

1. The JOLs have engaged both Johnstone Law (JL) and Maples and Calder (Cayman) LLP (Maples) in these proceedings and their respective involvement subject to the JOLs oversight and instruction. Both engagements are subject to the sanction of the Court.

Directions Hearing

2. The Directions Hearing related to an application for sanction under s.110 of the Act of the attorneys engaged by the JOLs. Irrespective of wider questions of standing (see below), your clients have and had no arguable standing to appear on a sanction application, being neither creditors nor contributories of the Company. You avoid this question because there is no answer to it.

3. With respect to your assertion that the specific terms of the Appointment Order give your clients standing to challenge it – you are simply wrong.

JOLs' Powers and Requests for Information

4. The JOLs assert no right to the books and records of your clients under their powers to collect in the books and records of the Company and your refusal to cooperate on this basis is entirely unhelpful.

5. The JOLs were appointed on 6 May 2025 and have now been in office almost a month. Despite ample opportunity, almost no information of substance or genuine utility has been provided to the JOLs by the majority of parties, your clients included. Instead, the weeks since the JOLs' appointment have been occupied with meritless challenges and tenuous technical objections at best rather than assisting the liquidators in their investigation of the C$270m that has been removed from the Company.

6. It is mandatory for your clients to cooperate with the JOLs and they are choosing not to do so. If required, as warned, the JOLs will take steps to obtain the information they require with the assistance of the Court.

Protocol

7. The JOLs' preliminary view is that the Company may have inter alia clear prima facie proprietary and other claims to the asset transferred pursuant to the transfer of the Company's interest in the Charitable DAF Fund, LP to your client, CDMCFAD, LLC, pursuant to a deed of assignment and assumption on 18 December 2024 (the Deed). Nothing in your letter changes that analysis.

8. The protocol you propose is entirely inappropriate both to responding to proprietary claims and to the current circumstances. No dealing of any nature is appropriate in assets over which proprietary claims are asserted, whether in the ordinary course of business or subject to any threshold. Further, no expenditure from these assets on legal or any other professional fees is appropriate at any time.

9. It is in any event impossible for the JOLs to engage with the protocol in circumstances where they have no serious knowledge or understanding of what is happening at any underlying level. Your clients have had since 12 May 2025 to provide that knowledge and understanding and continue to decline to provide it to the JOLs. We again urge all your clients to set aside their distractive tactics and cooperate, and provide all information and documents, in an open and frank manner.

10. In the circumstances, the JOLs require your clients to provide undertakings by 3pm on 6 June 2025 that there will be no dealing in the assets formerly owned by the Company, and the provision of full and complete information on the whereabouts, ownership and control of all assets owned by the Company (directly or indirectly, legally or beneficially) prior to execution of the Deed. Nothing short of those assurances and undertakings is acceptable at this stage to the JOLs.

Hunter Mountain Investment Trust

11. We highlight below one specific aspect of the JOLs' concerns about dealing in assets. This relates to the Hunter Mountain Investment Trust (HMIT) transaction. As stated in our 30 May letter, the JOLs have become aware that your clients have, since receipt of the JOLs letter dated on 12 May 2025 (the Initial Letter), and without notice to the JOLs, sought approval of a transaction involving HMIT. We requested information about this transaction and sought your urgent confirmation that no transactions will be undertaken involving any assets held by them.

12. HMIT was formerly the sole beneficiary of the Rand PE Fund, I, LP. The disclosure of those for whom you act includes a number of entities unknown to the JOLs, and does not include the HMIT Entities[1] which formerly held Fund assets.

[1] 'HMIT Entities' defined in Settlement Agreement as Hunter Mountain Investment Trust, Beacon Mountain LLC, Rand Advisors LLC, Rand PE Fund I, L.P, Rand-PE Fund Management, LLC, Atlas IDF, LP, and Atlas IDF GP, LLC

13. In your 30 May letter, you stated that your clients "do not understand the reference to the purported transaction involving HMIT". The JOLs have however since been provided with a copy of a settlement agreement between the Highland Entities[2] and the HMIT Entities[3] (the Settlement Agreement) which was executed by Mark Patrick on behalf of the HMIT Entities on 19 May 2025 – a mere matter of days after receipt of the Initial Letter.

14. Under the Settlement Agreement, HMIT stands to receive inter alia (i) initial payment of US$500,000, (ii) promissory note with an original face amount of $24,268,621.69 and other interests, (iii) distributions from its Class 10 Interest until 2029, and (iv) distributions from various other interests.

15. This appears to be a transaction involving assets which at some stage were indirectly owned by the Company, although your clients' continued non-disclosure makes it difficult for the JOLs to conduct a full and complete analysis of the true position. It is particularly concerning however that this transaction was executed after the JOLs' appointment and without notice to the JOLs, and it would be inappropriate for this transaction to be approved without their input, or at the very least prior to the JOLs being fully apprised of the nature and circumstances giving rise to this transaction. Please provide a full explanation, with all relevant details, by return.

Appointment Order

16. It is a matter for your clients if they wish to seek to challenge the Appointment Order, albeit such an application would clearly be hopeless.

17. The evidence supporting the applications in FSD No. 99 and FSD No. 116 was uncontested, and the issues ventilated over the course of two hearings during which Justice Asif KC engaged with the parties as to the form of the draft order, and indeed variously amended its terms (which is abundantly clear on the face of the draft and final versions).

18. The JOLs do not consent to the proposed (or any other) variation of the Appointment Order.

Conclusion

19. The JOLs would prefer to work cooperatively and constructively with your clients to protect the assets of the Fund and to "hold the ring", to obtain information necessary for the JOLs' investigations, and to expedite the conclusion of those investigations. They have provided a more than significant opportunity for your clients to offer and provide such cooperation, but it has not been forthcoming. On the contrary, your clients have continued to deal in assets to which the JOLs assert claims, without notice to the JOLs and have behaved antagonistically and obstructively.

20. Should your clients fail to provide the information and undertakings requested by 4pm on 6 June 2025, the JOLs will seek the assistance of the Court on these matters, without further notice.

---

[2] 'Highland Entities' defined in H Settlement MIT Agreement as Highland Capital Management, L.P, Highland Claimant Trust, Highland Litigation Sub-Trust, and Highland Indemnity Trust

Yours faithfully

Dear Sirs

Re: Charitable DAF Holdco, Ltd. (in Official Liquidation) (the "Company")
FSD Cause No. 116 of 2025 (JAJ)

1. Further to previous correspondence in relation to this matter, we enclose herewith a revised reporting protocol for the JOLs' consideration.

2. As indicated in previous correspondence, we believe the appropriate course of action is for the JOLs to engage on the terms of the protocol, which will appease any concerns they may have regarding the dissipation or misuse of the Fund's assets outside of the ordinary course of business during the currency of the liquidation.

3. For convenience, our clients' proposed amendments are tracked in the enclosure and serve to; (i) remove the value threshold from the historical reporting obligation at paragraph 2.1, and (ii) reduce the value threshold for the provision of advance notice at paragraph 2.5.

4. Please confirm your agreement to, or provide any comments on, the draft protocol by 3pm on Wednesday, 11 June 2025, failing which we are instructed to file a Summons without further notice and will rely on this letter, and previous correspondence, for costs purposes.

Yours faithfully,

FSD NO. 116 OF 2025 (JAJ)

IN THE MATTER OF SECTION 131 OF THE COMPANIES ACT (2025 REVISION)

AND IN THE MATTER OF CHARITABLE DAF HOLDCO, LTD (IN OFFICIAL LIQUIDATION)

PROTOCOL IN RESPECT OF CHARITABLE DAF FUND, LP

By a petition filed on 2 May 2025, the (1) the Highland Dallas Foundation, Inc., (2) the Highland Kansas City Foundation, Inc., (3) the Highland Santa Barbara Foundation, Inc., and (4) the HCMLP Charitable Fund (the "Highland Foundations") sought an order that the voluntary liquidation of Charitable DAF HoldCo, Ltd ("HoldCo") continue under the supervision of the Court (the "Supervision Application") pursuant to s.131 Companies Act (2025 Revision) (the "Act").

Formatted: Font: Bold

By order of the Grand Court of the Cayman Islands (the "Court") in respect of FSD 116 of 2025 (JAJ) dated 6 May 2025 (the "Order"), the Court determined the Supervision Application and directed that Ms. Margot MacInnis and Mr. Sandipan Bhowmilk be appointed as Joint Official Liquidators (the "JOLs") of HoldCo.

Paragraph 6, 6(a) and 6(b) of the Order provide as follows:

> "The JOLs are in addition authorised to exercise the following powers and to take the following steps without further sanction by the Court:
> (a) The power to present a petition for the winding up of Charitable DAF Fund, LP (the Fund) if so advised;
>
> (b) The power to file a summons and to apply for an order appointing provisional liquidators of the Fund if so advised…"

(the "DAF Provisions")

Formatted: Font: (Default) Calibri, 10 pt

Charitable DAF Fund, LP ("DAF LP") was not represented at the Supervision Application and understands that that the DAF Provisions were included in the Order "on the basis of the evidence before [the Court]".[1]

HoldCo was, and DAF LP is, part of a larger group of entities (collectively the "DAF Structure") whose establishment and aim is, according to its 'Mission Statement', to "make investments in order to support community-focused non-profit foundations with a demonstrated focus of giving funds to worthy causes and making a difference". 19 June 2025

Dear Colleagues

Charitable DAF HoldCo, Ltd (In Official Liquidation) (the "Company")

FSD Cause No: 2025-116 (JAJ)

1 We refer to your letter to Johnstone Law dated 9 June 2025 and the previous correspondence in relation to the draft protocol as to the conduct and management of Charitable DAF Fund, LP (the "Fund") and related entities.

2 The JOLs appreciate your clients preparing a revised version of the protocol (the "CDM Protocol"). However, the JOLs' position is that the terms proposed by your clients are inadequate to serve the purpose of the protocol in a number of respects.

3 Rather than seek to significantly amend the CDM Protocol, the JOLs have prepared their own version in a form acceptable to them (copy enclosed) (the "JOLs' Protocol"). The JOLs' Protocol approximates as much as possible the level of protection that the JOLs/Company could expect to receive from an injunction order against your clients and ancillary disclosure orders. This is both necessary and justified in the present circumstances. Please note that whilst we are happy to use the language of "protocol", we will require any agreed scheme to be incorporated into an undertaking given formally in writing to the Court not only by your clients but also by the clients of Baker & Partners and Kobre & Kim (each of whom are copied to this letter).

4 Without being exhaustive, some of the aspects of the CDM Protocol which are unacceptable to the JOLs are:

4.1 There is no provision expressly requiring CDH GP, Ltd. (the "GP"), CDMCFAD, LLC ("CDM") and DFW Charitable Foundation ("DFW") from disposing of or diminishing the value of any interest they hold in the Fund and its assets. This is an essential term that is needed in order to preserve the status quo whilst the JOLs continue their investigations.

4.2 Similarly, there should be an express requirement that Mark Patrick and Paul Murphy (together, the "Directors") and DFW must preserve any assets in their possession or control which have been previously been paid to them by the Company, the Fund and/or CDM, whether by way of distribution, divided or otherwise.

4.3 In relation to the proposed historical transaction report, the CDM Protocol would only require the Directors to provide confirmation of all transactions of the Fund and related entities since 27 March 2025 (i.e. just over 2 months ago). That period is obviously inadequate to serve the purpose of the protocol. The JOLs' position is that the period should commence on no later than 27 February 2024, being the date that the GP was incorporated and took over management of the Fund. Further, your clients' proposed reporting period would not cover the full period of the relevant sequence of transactions involved in the DAF Restructuring, which is not acceptable to the JOLs.

4.4 The CDM Protocol is lacking in any details of what is to be included in the historical transaction report (and in the monthly transaction reports moving forward). This is provided for at sections 3.1-3.2 and 4.9-4.12 of the JOLs' Protocol. This will add necessary certainty to your clients' obligations and will minimise the scope for future disputes about what is required. The required details are uncontroversial and we expect your clients will have no objection to them.

4.5 The CDM Protocol also would not require your clients to give full disclosure of the Fund's and related entities' assets and their current value. This is necessary in order for the JOLs to be able to properly police your clients' property preservation obligations referred to above and properly assess any requests by your clients to approve certain transactions moving forward.

4.6 The CDM Protocol is lacking any meaningful details as to what is to be included in the business plan for the ongoing management of the Fund and related entities and the deadline by which it should be submitted to the JOLs for approval. The JOLs' Protocol expressly provides for the information that is to be included in the business plan and requires the business plan to be provided to the JOLs within 21 days of execution of the protocol (with the JOLs then having 21 days to agree to it or reject it, in which case the JOLs can seek appropriate relief from the Court).

4.7 As there is likely scope for debate as to what is meant by the "ordinary course of business", we propose that your clients provide a written outline of what activities are within the Fund's "ordinary course of business" for the JOLs' approval. Your clients' proposed Protocol also does not prevent your clients from undertaking transactions that are not in the Fund's ordinary course of business. That is, for obvious reasons, an essential requirement for the JOLs and has therefore been included in the JOLs' Protocol.

4.8 The protocol needs to put in place protections for the period between the protocol being executed and the Business Plan being agreed. The JOLs' position is that the appropriate way to address this is to require that your clients must provide the JOLs with at least 7 days' advance notice of any transactions affecting the Fund, or any assets of the Fund, and for the JOLs to review and approve the transactions.

4.9 The US$1,000,000 threshold for transactions that are to be reported to the JOLs in the monthly transaction reports is still far too high. The threshold should be set at what would be a typical threshold for a freezing injunction and disclosure orders, say US$10,000. In addition, merely requiring the Directors to "endeavour" to provide advance notice of transactions is not sufficient. The Directors must be required to provide written notice of a proposed transaction and the JOLs will then have the opportunity to approve or reject if it appears to be outside of the Fund's ordinary course of business or otherwise raises concerns.

4.10 Clause 2.6 of the CDM Protocol is not acceptable to the JOLs. It is far too broad and leaves it up to the Directors to take virtually any action if they, in their discretion, consider it reasonably necessary to comply with their legal obligations.

4.11 Clause 4 of the CDM Protocol is also unacceptable to the JOLs. The clause as presently drafted presupposes that the JOLs would consciously decide to exceed their powers, which the JOLs wholly disagree with. The JOLs will exercise their powers in accordance with the order appointing them, any sanction obtained from the Court and their powers under the Companies Act (As Revised). If the JOLs need to obtain sanction to exercise a certain power, the JOLs will make a sanction application and attend to service as required.

5 Please confirm your clients' agreement to giving an undertaking to the Court in the form of the enclosed Protocol or provide comments by no later than 12pm on Thursday, 26 June 2025. If ultimately the Protocol cannot be agreed by our respective clients, the JOLs reserve all of their rights to take other appropriate protective measures.

Yours faithfully

PROTOCOL AND COURT UNDERTAKING IN RESPECT OF CHARITABLE DAF FUND, LP (THE "FUND") AND THE FUND ENTITIES

By a petition filed on 2 May 2025, the (1) the Highland Dallas Foundation, Inc., (2) the Highland Kansas City Foundation, Inc., (3) the Highland Santa Barbara Foundation, Inc., and (4) the HCMLP Charitable Fund sought an order that the voluntary liquidation of Charitable DAF HoldCo, Ltd ("HoldCo") continue under the supervision of the Court pursuant to s.131 Companies Act (2025 Revision).

By order of the Grand Court of the Cayman Islands (the "Court") in respect of FSD 116 of 2025 (JAJ) dated 6 May 2025, the Court determined the supervision application and directed that Ms. Margot MacInnis and Mr. Sandipan Bhowmik be appointed as Joint Official Liquidators (the "JOLs") of HoldCo.

Preliminary statement

The Fund is a Cayman Islands exempted limited partnership formed on 28 October 2011. CDH GP, Ltd. (the "GP"), is a Cayman Islands company incorporated on 27 February 2024 and is the general partner of the Fund. Mark Patrick is the sole director of the GP. Mr Patrick is also the Manager of CDMCFAD, LLC ("CDM") and the registered director, president and sole member of DFW Charitable Foundation ("DFW"). HoldCo was incorporated and registered as a Cayman Islands exempted limited company on 27 October 2011. Until its voluntary liquidation on 2 April 2025, the directors of HoldCo were Mr Patrick and Paul Murphy (the "Directors"). From its incorporation until 27 March 2025, HoldCo was the sole limited partner of the Fund through which it indirectly owned the other entities in the DAF Structure (the "Fund Entities")[1]. For the avoidance of doubt, "Fund Entities" includes any other entities identified pursuant to clause 4.4(a) below.

The purpose of this protocol (the "Protocol") is to ensure the efficient and orderly administration of the Fund and the Fund Entities. The Protocol is designed to avoid conflict between the JOLs and the Fund, to assuage any concerns the JOLs may have regarding the commercial activities of the Fund and the Fund Entities with respect to the risk of dissipation / misuse of assets, and to (subject to compliance with the terms of this Protocol) avoid the need for the JOLs to seek injunctions and ancillary disclosure orders against the Fund and/or the Fund Entities.

Dear Sirs

FSD Cause No. 116 of 2025 (JAJ)

1. We refer to your letter dated 19 June 2025 (the "Protocol Letter"), to previous correspondence between this firm and Johnstone Law regarding a draft reporting protocol in respect of the assets and operations of Charitable DAF Fund, LP and related entities, to the letter sent by the joint official liquidators (the "JOLs") of the Company to the Trustees of the Highland Capital Management L.P. (the "Trustees") dated 24 June 2025 (the "Trustee Letter"), and to the enclosed stipulation dated 27 June 2025 entered into in between the Dallas Foundation and the HMIT Entities in the Highland Capital Management L.P. bankruptcy proceedings and which has been filed with the United States Bankruptcy Court (the "Stipulation").

2. Capitalised terms, unless otherwise defined, adopt the definitions applied in the Protocol Letter.

Previous Correspondence in respect of CDM Protocol and JOLs' standing

3. Before addressing the draft protocol enclosed with the Protocol Letter, it appears to be necessary to remind the JOLs of our previous correspondence with Johnstone Law regarding the CDM Protocol and the JOLs' standing to take steps against the Fund.

4. The JOLs have not established any direct or indirect beneficial interest in or creditor claim against the Fund or the CDM Entities. At most, the JOLs appear to have formed the view that they have an as yet unparticularized and unasserted claim to an indirect beneficial interest in the CDM Entities.

It is not necessary for us to pass comment on any such claim, other than to note that, even if the JOLs were able to establish an indirect beneficial interest in the Fund or any of the CDM Entities, that would not displace the directors' control of the CDM Entities.

5. We would remind you that the CDM Entities are managed by professionally qualified individuals who have repeatedly acknowledged their obligations to the companies to which they are appointed, and whose actions are guided by legal and other professional advice. The JOLs have no mandate or authority to interfere with the management of the CDM Entitles by those individuals.

6. However, in good faith, and without any legal obligation to do so, the CDM Entities voluntarily offered a transactional reporting protocol to the JOLs in an effort to alleviate (unwarranted) concerns the JOLs had with respect to the management of the CDM Entities and to demonstrate that their business operations were and are being conducted appropriately and transparently. This offer was made to the JOLs, by letter dated 16 May 2025. It is our clients' view that the JOLs, acting objectively, would have considered this protocol to be perfectly sufficient to allow them to discharge any duty they had to exercise oversight of the management of the CDM Entities.

7. However, Johnstone Law engaged in correspondence with this firm on behalf the JOLs but inexplicably refused to meaningfully engage with our clients' offer to provide a reporting protocol. Consequently, under cover of letter dated 30 May 2025, we sent a draft of the CDM Protocol to Johnstone Law and invited their agreement or comments. As noted at paragraph 13 of that letter, "our clients reject the suggestion that they are under any duty to provide this information. However, in circumstances where the CDM Entities, including the Fund, are operating in the ordinary course to make investments on behalf of, and to support charitable causes, our clients are offering this Protocol to ensure that these charitable operations are not unnecessarily impacted by the JOLs."

8. Johnstone Law responded on 5 June 2025 and again inexplicably refused to engage with the CDM Protocol. Our response dated 9 June 2025 reiterated that our clients are under no obligation to provide information to the JOLs, but were willing to do so "in an attempt to assuage the JOLs' misplaced concerns and demonstrate that the CDM Entities are operating in the ordinary course of business".

9. In a subsequent letter also dated 9 June 2025, the CDM Entities enclosed a revised version of the CDM Protocol which removed the value threshold from the proposed historical reporting protocol, and reduced the value threshold for the provision of advance notice from $5m to $1m. The letter reiterated the CDM Entities belief that "the appropriate course of action is for the JOLs to engage on the terms of the protocol, which will appease any concerns they may have regarding the dissipation or misuse of the Fund's assets outside of the ordinary course of business during the currency of the liquidation."

10. We note that at the hearing of the JOLs' sanction application on 24 June 2025, His Lordship, in obiter dictum, indicated that entry into a protocol seemed a sensible course of action. We believe that Court appointed liquidators acting objectively and in an even-handed manner would have accepted the original CDM Protocol, and that the JOLs' failure to do so indicates a predetermination that the conduct of the CDM Entities and their management merit investigation, which position is inconsistent with the JOLs' duty to "maintain an even and impartial hand".[1] However, we hope that the JOLs are willing to moderate their position in light of judicial encouragement to do so.

The JOLs' Protocol

11. In light of the foregoing, it is no surprise that our clients fundamentally object to the approach adopted in the JOLs' Protocol, which is completely inappropriate and unwarranted. The proposed restrictions, controls and undertakings sought by the JOLs would impose severe limitations on our clients' ability to operate, and would have the practical effect of placing their ongoing charitable activities under the de facto control of the JOLs, notwithstanding that no such legal authority exists.

12. Your references to the JOLs requiring what are, in effect, restrictions mirroring injunctive relief is entirely misguided. The only circumstances in which the draconian conditions sought in the JOLs' Protocol could be imposed would be if the JOLs, with the sanction of the Grand Court, sought and obtained a freezing injunction. That injunction would require the JOLs to, inter alia, make out a good arguable case (where it is denied that such a case exists) and provide evidence of that there is a real risk of dissipation of assets (where the CDM Protocol clearly demonstrates there is no such risk). Furthermore, were the JOLs to seek injunctive relief the CDM Entities would at least have the benefit of the protection afforded by the cross-undertaking in damages (which they do not have under the JOLs' Protocol). Following recent authority,[2] that cross-undertaking in damages would likely need to be supported by an indemnity from relevant stakeholders. The JOLs' Protocol seeks all of the benefits of an injunction without the JOLs or those funding them assuming any of the burdens that such relief would entail.

13. If the JOLs believe that injunctive or other restrictive relief is warranted, the proper course is for them to make an application to the Court in the ordinary course and satisfy these well-established

He should have no leaning for or against any individual whatever. It is his duty to the whole body of shareholders, and to the whole body of creditors, and to the Court, to make himself thoroughly acquainted with the affairs of the company; and to suppress nothing, and to conceal nothing, which has come to his knowledge in the course of his investigation, which is material to ascertain the exact truth in every case before the Court. And it is for the Judge to see that he does his duty in this respect*" (emphasis added).

legal requirements. Our clients will of course strenuously resist any such application. However, there is no lawful or reasonable basis for the JOLs to seek to impose such intrusive restrictions on the CDM Entities, nor to demand undertakings that would exceed what the Court could properly order on an application for interim relief. If the JOLs and our clients are unable to agree the terms of a protocol, the correct course of action is to have the Court determine the scope of any such protocol as opposed to the JOLs seeking injunctive relief - the specter of which seems to be threatened in the Protocol Letter.

The Stipulation

14. Further, we note the Dallas Foundation and other entities referred to in the Stipulation as the 'Foundation Parties', have now entered into a binding term sheet (the "Term Sheet") with the HMIT Entities. As you can see, the Foundation Parties withdrew their objections to the Settlement Motion (defined below) with prejudice. At the hearing of the Settlement Motion, Mr. Dondero was allowed to testify in opposition to the settlement on behalf of a family trust (Dugaboy), though we understand that a material portion of his attempted testimony was stricken or subject to successful objection, and it appears that the US Bankruptcy Court gave his testimony no weight. Ms Diaz of the Dallas Foundation, who signed the Term Sheet on behalf of the Foundation Parties, swore affidavits on behalf of the petitioners in both the just and equitable winding up, and supervision applications. Ms Diaz's evidence in the supervision application, which was provided on behalf of all 'Supporting Organisations', was that a supervision order was required in order to "allow the JOLs to conduct a proper investigation of the affairs of the Company"[3] (as you know, this evidence is disputed).

15. Page two of the Term Sheet mandates that the Dallas Foundation will undertake various actions in relation to "DAF", which is described in the Term Sheet as "the historical corporate structure of Charitable DAF Holdco, Ltd, its parents and subsidiaries, in existence as of January 1, 2024, and changes thereto" (which would include the CDM Entities). These actions include the Dallas Foundation agreeing to meet with Mr Raver (as a representative of HMIT) to review the DAF structure and the balance sheets of DAF as of 30 September 2024, 31 December 2024 and 31 March 2025. The Term Sheet also provides that the Dallas Foundation will be provided with "an accounting of any transfer assets from an entity within the DAF structure during the periods covered by the balance sheets to any other entity, including another entity within the DAF structure".

16. This meeting is now scheduled for 2 July 2025. The meeting will be face to face, and Mr. Raver intends to provide additional balance sheet information beyond that required under the Term Sheet. The meeting (defined as the "DF Meeting") is specifically described as a confidential settlement meeting "with an eye to commencing negotiations with DF about the use of current support organization(s) or the creation of new support organizations to support the DF and as appropriate the other Foundations mentioned above (the "Resolution")." The Term Sheet also provides for the prospect of a subsequent meeting which Mr Patrick will attend with the objective being to further discussions toward a "Resolution". The Term Sheet explicitly provides that if the parties can agree on a Resolution, then "Mr. Patrick, the Supporting Organization, and Dallas Foundation shall jointly request a meeting with the JOLs and the DF, with a view toward winding up the liquidation proceedings of Charitable DAF Holdco, Ltd., including not seeking any equitable wind up of Charitable DAF Fund, LP., all of which should be able to be accomplished expeditiously in the event of agreements hoped to be achieved upon the meeting described above".

17. That the lead petitioner—having given evidence on behalf of all Supporting Organisations at the supervision application—has now entered into the Term Sheet is a clear indication that there is no longer any justification for the investigations it originally proposed (and which the JOLs appear to be myopically pursuing), and no real or justifiable risk of asset dissipation, particularly given that the CDM Entities' balance sheets and financial information will be shared with the Dallas Foundation. Given that the Term Sheet contemplates the Dallas Foundation and Supporting Organisations requesting a meeting with the JOLs with a view to concluding the liquidation of the Company and avoiding any application to wind up the Fund, it is difficult to reconcile the actions of the JOLs with the stated intention of the purported primary stakeholder.

Updated CDM Protocol

18. Notwithstanding, our clients remain willing to agree a reasonable protocol that provides the JOLs with an appropriate level of visibility into relevant matters while preserving our clients' right to conduct their charitable operations in the ordinary course of business. We do not, however, accept that the JOLs' Protocol represents a fair or proportionate proposal - it is neither necessary nor justified.

19. In particular, we make the following general observations:

    (a) The JOL's Protocol seeks to prohibit entirely lawful transactions from being conducted in the ordinary course of business, absent Court order, and effectively subjects all of the CDM Entities' operations to prior approval and veto - a degree of control that (i) is completely unwarranted, and (ii) could only properly be obtained through injunctive relief.

    (b) The financial thresholds, advance approvals, and granularity of the reporting provisions proposed in the JOLs' Protocol would materially and unfairly impede the CDM Entities' ordinary and necessary charitable operations and increase the costs of those operations to no obvious benefit to those entities.

(c) The JOLs' request that the CDM Entities provide extensive documentation, including registers, asset holdings, and transaction histories, appears to simply repeat misconceived requests made by Johnstone Law on behalf of the JOLs and has no legal basis. As stated in response to those previous requests, "Directors are bound by duties under common law and statute to protect the interests, confidentiality, and assets of the companies they serve. To comply with your baseless requests would place them in breach of those duties unless and until a court determines otherwise."[4]

(d) Your letter asserts that the scope of disclosure sought by the JOLs' Protocol is necessary to enable the JOLs "to properly police [our] clients' property preservation obligations". There is simply no basis for this assertion, which was also addressed in correspondence with Johnstone Law when it was suggested the JOLs are somehow authorized to "hold the ring" in order to protect the assets of the Fund.[5]

(e) Similarly, for the reasons outlined above, your proposal to set the advance reporting threshold at US$10,000 as "that would be a typical threshold for a freezing injunction and disclosure order" is wholly unrealistic and impractical. Despite the JOLs not having obtained a freezing injunction, the CDM Entities are willing to set a reporting threshold which would afford the JOLs advance notice of substantial and meaningful transactions. However, requiring the CDM Entities to provide advance notice of such de minimus transactions, and to wait for the JOLs to prospectively approve these transactions, would severely hamper the charitable operations of the CDM Entities.

20. We enclose a revised version of the CDM Protocol with this letter. This updated version reflects a number of clarifications aimed at addressing the JOLs' concerns, while preserving our clients' ability to conduct their affairs in the ordinary course of business. These revisions are marked-up against the previous version of the CDM Protocol sent to Johnstone Law on 9 June 2025 and include, inter alia:

(a) Confirmation that the CDM Entities will engage Armanino LLP as an independent accounting firm to provide the financial reporting and accounting analysis required under the CDM Protocol;

[4] Paragraph 6 of Campbells letter to Johnstone Law dated 30 May 2025.

[5] Paragraph 17 of Campbells letter to Johnstone Law dated 9 June 2025. "As we have explained numerous times and attempted to demonstrate by way of our proposed reporting protocol, the CDM Entities, including the Fund, are operating in the ordinary course to support charitable causes and their assets do not need to be protected by the JOLs."

(b) Inclusion of the details which are to be provided in the Historical and Monthly Transaction Reports (which reflect the information requested at sections 3.1 and 4.12 of the JOLs' Protocol;

(c) Inclusion of wording at paragraph 2.6 which would require the JOLs to consult with the 'Directors' before unilaterally contacting our clients' third-party service providers. Unfortunately, given the JOLs repeated attempts to interfere with our clients' lawful operations (to which, see below regarding the Trustee Letter), we believe this is necessary;

(d) Extension of the date for the Historical Transaction Report to 1 July 2024 (we understand that the Skyview Group had access to the CDM Entities' financials through to 30 June 2024 so the JOLs can obtain any older financial information from other sources); and

(e) Reduction of the value threshold for the provision of advance notice from US$1m to US$250,000.

21. We invite the JOLs to consider the revised draft of the CDM Protocol and to engage with us to agree terms that are reasonable and proportionate. For the reasons outlined above, our clients are unwilling to accept the fundamentally disproportionate proposals set out in the JOLs' Protocol. However, they remain open to agreeing an appropriate protocol to facilitate the JOLs' ongoing investigations (which the Dallas Foundation no longer support or think necessary) and to avoid the need for unnecessary and costly Court proceedings.

22. Please confirm your agreement to, or provide any comments on, the revised CDM Protocol by 5pm on 4 July 2025.

23. If, notwithstanding the proffered protocol, the JOLs consider it necessary to seek injunctive relief that is, of course, a matter for them, but given the extensive correspondence on this issue we would expect (i) any application for injunctive relief to be served on this firm where it would be plainly inappropriate to proceed on an ex parte basis; or (ii) at the very least, if the JOLs do seek injunctive relief on an ex parte basis, that this and previous correspondence regarding the protocol be provided to the Court in furtherance of the JOLs' duty of full and frank disclosure.

Trustee Letter

24. We refer to the Trustee Letter, which related to the Motion for Entry of an Order Pursuant to Bankruptcy Rule 9019 and 11 U.S.C. § 363 approving Settlement with the HMIT Entities and Authorizing Actions Consistent Therewith, Case No. 19-34054-sgj11 (Bankr. N.D.Tex.) [Dkt. 4216] (the "Settlement Motion"). We understand that your firm were also copied to this correspondence.

25. The Trustee Letter, sent on the eve of the hearing of the Settlement Motion, requested an adjournment to afford the JOLs additional time to progress their investigations of the HMIT Entities, or alternatively, that the Trustees defer making distributions to the HMIT Entities to allow the JOLs time to carry out investigations "without the risk of asset dissipation in connection with protocol discussions". The protocol discussions were referred to in the JOLs' Letter, which notes that the JOLs "are concerned to ensure the parameters of the protocol mitigate the risk of asset dissipation pending the completion of their investigations."

26. Quite how the JOLs were able to form the extraordinary view that a professionally qualified director acting with the benefit of legal and other professional advice seeking approval from the US Court to enter into a settlement with a resultant accretion to HMIT of $67 million might represent an attempt at asset dissipation calls for an explanation in and of itself, but particularly in light of the repeated attempts by the CDM Entities to engage in discussions with the JOLs and Johnstone Law about the terms of a protocol which was directly aimed at addressing the JOLs' (baseless) concerns in that regard.

27. To address unparticularised assertions in Johnstone Law's letters dated 30 May and 5 June 2025 of proprietary claims to certain assets of the CDM Entities, including in respect of assets which were the subject of the HMIT settlement agreement, our first letter dated 9 June 2025, to which we did not receive a reply, is worth repeating:

> "Your reference to the so-called HMIT transaction is vague, speculative, and appears to rely on materials filed in separate bankruptcy proceedings in the United States concerning entities related to Mr James Dondero (the individual who swore evidence in support of FSD No. 99 seeking to have the Company and the Fund wound up on a just and equitable basis and who agreed to fund those proceedings). Given the assertions in your letter alleging the JOLs have received minimal cooperation, it is curious that you have such detailed knowledge of a transaction undertaken by entities which the JOLs have no interest in. Please confirm the source of this information.
> Further, it is clear that the Settlement Agreement benefits the HMIT Entities (as defined in your letter) and, accordingly, there is no question that assets of the CDM entities are being dissipated or misused. Taking your unfounded assertions in relation to the proprietary claims at their height, the HMIT transaction would inure to the benefit of the liquidation estate. It is perhaps telling that it is our understanding the HMIT transaction does not benefit Mr Dondero and his broader interests. In the circumstances, we do not understand why the JOLs would not support the HMIT transaction even if a proprietary claim has not been established.

Our clients do not accept that any transaction involving the HMIT Entities warrants the JOLs' oversight, and they are not aware of any basis on which the JOLs are entitled to be 'notified' or to 'approve' their lawful dealings. Your claim that HMIT was formerly the beneficiary of a fund in which the Company had an indirect interest does not confer any rights on the JOLs in relation to any of the assets involved in the HMIT transaction."

28. By failing to accurately address the correspondence relating to the CDM Protocol and any of the points made in our letter of 9 June 2025, the Trustee Letter was vague and misleading, and it is regrettably the case that the JOLs' attempt to interfere with the Settlement Motion in this manner can only be described as improper.

29. The fact that entities affiliated with Mr. Dondero immediately seized upon the Trustee Letter to support their own request for an adjournment, in circumstances where their previous application for an adjournment had been refused, leads to the impression that this was the true purpose of the Trustee Letter.

30. Similarly, the JOLs' initial failure to engage with the proposed protocol at all, and the insistence now that the protocol must replicate the effect of injunctive relief, do nothing to dispel the impression of a tendency towards bias in favour of the position of Mr. Dondero and his affiliates, particularly in light of Mr. Dondero's subsequent testimony at the Settlement Motion.

31. We reserve the right to refer to this and previous correspondence in any subsequent proceedings.

Yours faithfully

FSD NO. 116 OF 2025 (JAJ)

IN THE MATTER OF SECTION 131 OF THE COMPANIES ACT (2025 REVISION)

AND IN THE MATTER OF CHARITABLE DAF HOLDCO, LTD (IN OFFICIAL LIQUIDATION)

PROTOCOL IN RESPECT OF CHARITABLE DAF FUND, LP

By a petition filed on 2 May 2025, the (1) the Highland Dallas Foundation, Inc., (2) the Highland Kansas City Foundation, Inc., (3) the Highland Santa Barbara Foundation, Inc., and (4) the HCMLP Charitable Fund (the "Highland Foundations") sought an order that the voluntary liquidation of Charitable DAF HoldCo, Ltd ("HoldCo") continue under the supervision of the Court (the "Supervision Application") pursuant to s.131 Companies Act (2025 Revision) (the "Act").

By order of the Grand Court of the Cayman Islands (the "Court") in respect of FSD 116 of 2025 (JAJ) dated 6 May 2025 (the "Order"), the Court determined the Supervision Application and directed that Ms. Margot MacInnis and Mr. Sandipan Bhowmilk be appointed as Joint Official Liquidators (the "JOLs") of HoldCo.

Paragraph 6, 6(a) and 6(b) of the Order provide as follows:

> "The JOLs are in addition authorised to exercise the following powers and to take the following steps without further sanction by the Court:
> (a) The power to present a petition for the winding up of Charitable DAF Fund, LP (the Fund) if so advised;
>
> (b) The power to file a summons and to apply for an order appointing provisional liquidators of the Fund if so advised…"

(the "DAF Provisions")

Charitable DAF Fund, LP ("DAF LP") was not represented at the Supervision Application and understands that that the DAF Provisions were included in the Order "on the basis of the evidence before [the Court]".[1]

HoldCo was, and DAF LP is, part of a larger group of entities (collectively the "DAF Structure") whose establishment and aim is, according to its 'Mission Statement', to "make investments in order to support community-focused non-profit foundations with a demonstrated focus of giving funds to worthy causes and making a difference". "CDM Entities" means the DAF Structure entities listed on Annexure 1 hereto.

Preliminary statement

The purpose of this Protocol (the "Protocol") is to ensure the efficient and orderly administration of DAF LP, the CDM Entities, and the liquidation estate of HoldCo. The Protocol is designed to avoid conflict between the JOLs and DAF LP, to assuage any concerns the JOLs may have regarding the commercial activities of DAF LP with respect to the risk of dissipation / misuse of assets outside of the ordinary course of business, and, subject to the approval of the Court, to facilitate the removal of the DAF Provisions from the Order (without prejudice to the JOLs entitlement to seek sanction in the ordinary manner and in accordance with the Act and the Companies Winding Up Rules (2023 Consolidation)).

Background

DAF LP is a Cayman Islands limited partnership formed on 28 October 2011. CDH GP Ltd (the "GP"), is a Cayman Islands company incorporated in or around 7 February 2024 and is the general partner of DAF LP. Mark Patrick is the director of the GP and Paul Murphy and Mark Patrick are the directors of the Cayman-domiciled operating entities owned by DAF LP (the "Directors"). Holdco was incorporated and registered as a Cayman Islands exempted limited company on 27 October 2011. From its incorporation until March 2025 when it was placed in voluntary liquidation, Holdco was the direct or indirect limited partner of DAF LP through which it indirectly owned the other entities in the DAF Structure.

AND IN THE MATTER OF CHARITABLE DAF HOLDCO, LTD (IN OFFICIAL LIQUIDATION)

PROTOCOL IN RESPECT OF CHARITABLE DAF FUND, LP

By a petition filed on 2 May 2025, the (1) the Highland Dallas Foundation, Inc., (2) the Highland Kansas City Foundation, Inc., (3) the Highland Santa Barbara Foundation, Inc., and (4) the HCMLP Charitable Fund (the "Highland Foundations") sought an order that the voluntary liquidation of Charitable DAF HoldCo, Ltd ("HoldCo") continue under the supervision of the Court (the "Supervision Application") pursuant to s.131 Companies Act (2025 Revision) (the "Act").

By order of the Grand Court of the Cayman Islands (the "Court") in respect of FSD 116 of 2025 (JAJ) dated 6 May 2025 (the "Order"), the Court determined the Supervision Application and directed that Ms. Margot MacInnis and Mr. Sandipan Bhowmilk be appointed as Joint Official Liquidators (the "JOLs") of HoldCo.

Paragraph 6, 6(a) and 6(b) of the Order provide as follows:

> "The JOLs are in addition authorised to exercise the following powers and to take the following steps without further sanction by the Court:
> (a) The power to present a petition for the winding up of Charitable DAF Fund, LP (the Fund) if so advised;
>
> (b) The power to file a summons and to apply for an order appointing provisional liquidators of the Fund if so advised…"

(the "DAF Provisions")

Charitable DAF Fund, LP ("DAF LP") was not represented at the Supervision Application and understands that that the DAF Provisions were included in the Order "on the basis of the evidence before [the Court]".[1]

HoldCo was, and DAF LP is, part of a larger group of entities (collectively the "DAF Structure") whose establishment and aim is, according to its 'Mission Statement', to "make investments in order to support community-focused non-profit foundations with a demonstrated focus of giving funds to worthy causes and making a difference". "CDM Entities" means the DAF Structure entities listed on Annexure 1 hereto.

Preliminary statement

The purpose of this Protocol (the "Protocol") is to ensure the efficient and orderly administration of DAF LP, the CDM Entities, and the liquidation estate of HoldCo. The Protocol is designed to avoid conflict between the JOLs and DAF LP, to assuage any concerns the JOLs may have regarding the commercial activities of DAF LP with respect to the risk of dissipation / misuse of assets outside of the ordinary course of business, and, subject to the approval of the Court, to facilitate the removal of the DAF Provisions from the Order (without prejudice to the JOLs entitlement to seek sanction in the ordinary manner and in accordance with the Act and the Companies Winding Up Rules (2023 Consolidation)).

Background

DAF LP is a Cayman Islands limited partnership formed on 28 October 2011. CDH GP Ltd (the "GP"), is a Cayman Islands company incorporated in or around 7 February 2024 and is the general partner of DAF LP. Holdco was incorporated and registered as a Cayman Islands exempted limited company on 27 October 2011. From its incorporation until March 2025 when it was placed in voluntary liquidation, Holdco was the direct or indirect limited partner of DAF LP through which it indirectly owned the other entities in the DAF Structure.

CAUSE NO. _____

THE HIGHLAND DALLAS FOUNDATION, INC., THE HIGHLAND KANSAS CITY FOUNDATION, INC., and THE HIGHLAND SANTA BARBARA FOUNDATION, INC., Plaintiffs, v. MARK PATRICK and DFW CHARITABLE FOUNDATION, CDMCFAD, LLC, CHARITABLE DAF GP, LLC and CDH GP, Ltd., Defendants.	IN THE TEXAS BUSINESS COURT 1ST DIVISION DALLAS, TEXAS

PLAINTIFFS' ORIGINAL PETITION, APPLICATION FOR TEMPORARY RESTRAINING ORDER AND TEMPORARY INJUNCTION, AND EMERGENCY REQUEST FOR APPOINTMENT OF RECEIVER

TO THE HONORABLE JUDGE OF SAID COURT: The Highland Dallas Foundation, Inc., The Highland Kansas City Foundation, Inc., and The Highland Santa Barbara Foundation, Inc., (collectively, the "Plaintiffs" or "Supporting Organizations") file this Original Petition, Application for Temporary Restraining Order and Temporary Injunction, and Emergency Application for Appointment of Receiver, and in support thereof, respectfully show the Court as follows:

I. PRELIMINARY STATEMENT

1.1 Defendant, Mark Patrick, through a host of corporate manipulations, took over $270 million in cash and assets that supported some of the most important community-based charities in the country. In Patrick's own testimony from just last Wednesday, June 25th, the Supporting Organizations, plaintiffs here, were left with "nothing."[1]

1.2 Through the mechanism of Charitable DAF GP, LLC (organized in Delaware) and later via a secretly incorporated entity, CDH GP, Ltd., Mark Patrick held the sole control position of what was a $270 million charitable fund (Charitable DAF Fund, LP) that four charities and the Supporting Organizations relied on to perform vital and sustained philanthropic work in specific communities in the United States. Patrick flagrantly violated both his express and implied fiduciary duties to the Supporting Organizations. He did so in order to redirect the fund's beneficial ownership to a brand-new sham charitable organization controlled by him, DFW Charitable Foundation. These actions come against a backdrop and pattern of sustained self-aggrandizement by Patrick using the fund's resources and his technical authority over them. If the Defendants here are not immediately prevented from taking further adverse actions, then placed into receivership and subjected to judicial scrutiny, the Plaintiffs will be cut off from the lifeblood of their charitable work by the very person whose duty was to act in their interests. Accordingly, Plaintiffs seek a Temporary Restraining Order and Temporary Injunction freezing the funds, followed by the appointment of a Receiver over the funds and the organization holding them.

II. DISCOVERY CONTROL PLAN AND MONETARY RELIEF

2.1 Plaintiffs intend that discovery be conducted under Level 2 as set forth in Rule 190.3 of the Texas Rules of Civil Procedure. Plaintiffs reserve the right to request to conduct discovery pursuant to "Level 3" as set forth in Rule 190 of the Texas Rules of Civil Procedure.

2.2 Plaintiffs seek damages in excess of $5,000,000 exclusive of interest, statutory damages, exemplary damages, penalties, attorney's fees, and court costs.

IV. JURISDICTION AND VENUE

4.1 Pursuant to Government Code § 25A.004, this Court has jurisdiction over this matter because the amount in controversy exceeds $5 million excluding interest, statutory damages, exemplary damages, penalties, attorney's fees, and court costs:

- and is an action regarding the governance, governing documents, or internal affairs of organizations, namely Charitable DAF Fund, L.P., and DAF HoldCo, Ltd;

- and is an action by an owner of an organization, namely the Supporting Organizations as participating and beneficial owners of DAF HoldCo, Ltd and thereby Charitable DAF, L.P., and is brought against a controlling person and managerial official of the organization, namely Patrick, Charitable DAF, GP, LLC, CDH GP, Ltd and Patrick's controlled entities, DFWCF, and CDMCFAD, LLC; and alleges numerous fiduciary and other breaches of Patrick's, Charitable DAF, GP, LLC's, and CDH GP, Ltd's obligations in the capacity of a controlling person and managerial official of DAF HoldCo, Ltd and Charitable DAF, L.P.;
- and is an action alleging that Patrick, as a controlling person, and managerial official, with the entities he dominated and used, breached a duty owed to the Supporting Organizations as a controlling owner of DAF HoldCo, Ltd, CDMCFAD, LLC, and Charitable DAF, L.P., DFW Charitable Foundation by reason of the Patrick's status as an owner of management interests, controlling person, and managerial official, including the breach of a duty of loyalty and good faith.

4.3 The Court also maintains plenary power to appoint a receiver under Texas Government Code § 24.003, Texas Civil Practice and Remedies Code § 64.001(a)(3), Texas Business and Organizations Code §§ 11.401 and 11.410, and through the Court's inherent powers at equity.

4.4 Personal jurisdiction is proper by Texas courts pursuant to Texas Civil Practice & Remedies Code § 17.042 because Defendants committed tortious actions, including Texas resident,

Mark Patrick, who improperly took approximately $270 million in value, and other conduct within Texas, incorporated herein, which are the subject of this Petition. Defendants are therefore subject to specific personal jurisdiction because of the complained-of acts that they committed in Texas. Defendants all have substantial business operations, assets, and other connections to Texas. Defendants are subject to general personal jurisdiction in Texas because they both reside in, and have continuous and systematic contacts with, Texas. Defendants have also consented to the jurisdiction of Texas courts.

4.5 Venue is proper in this county under Texas Civil Practice & Remedies Code § 15.002 because Defendant Patrick is a resident of Dallas County, Texas and Patrick undertook and directed a substantial portion of the complained-of acts in Dallas County, Texas. V. FACTUAL BACKGROUND

A. The Fund Structure

5.1 James Dondero was the President of Highland Capital Management, L.P. ("Highland"), an SEC registered investment advisor. At Mr. Dondero's direction, in 2010, the finance, accounting, and tax staff of Highland identified certain assets to be donated to a charitable foundation. The goal was to create a permanent, self-sustaining, self-governing charitable infrastructure to facilitate sustained philanthropic efforts in specific communities in the United States.

5.2 To that end, in 2011, "Charitable DAF Fund, L.P. ("Charitable DAF Fund") was formed to hold the donated assets.

5.3 The Charitable DAF Fund primarily holds assets through a wholly-owned subsidiary entity called CLO HoldCo, Ltd. ("CLO HoldCo").

5.4 At the same time the Charitable DAF Fund was created, Charitable DAF HoldCo, Ltd ("Charitable DAF HoldCo"), a Cayman Islands entity, was also organized. Charitable DAF HoldCo held all of the economic interest in the Charitable DAF Fund. In other words, Charitable DAF HoldCo was the beneficial owner of all monies flowing from the assets held in the Charitable DAF Fund.

5.5 The ultimate purpose of forming Charitable DAF Fund and Charitable DAF HoldCo was to benefit certain, substantial regional nonprofit charities and their supporting organizations in California, Kansas, and Texas. Participating shares in Charitable DAF HoldCo were therefore issued to four Supporting Organizations, which were the ultimate beneficial owners of the assets held in the Charitable DAF Fund. Together, the four Supporting Organizations owned 100% of Charitable DAF HoldCo. The four Supporting Organization held their beneficial ownership in the assets of the Charitable DAF Fund by virtue of those Participating Shares in Charitable DAF HoldCo. Put simply: the four Supporting Organizations owned 100% of Charitable DAF HoldCo, which was the beneficial owner of all the assets in the Charitable DAF Fund. Three of the four Supporting Organizations are the Plaintiffs in this Lawsuit.

5.6 In turn and as intended, the funds provided to the Plaintiff Supporting Organizations from the Charitable DAF Fund empowered them to provide funding directly to charitable foundations in three regions of the United States. Specifically, The Dallas Foundation, The Greater Kansas City Community Foundation, and The Santa Barbara Foundation (together, the "Charities") are each affiliated with one of the Supporting Organizations and receive regular grants for charitable work ultimately funded by Charitable DAF Fund.

5.7 Since the Charitable DAF Fund's inception, the Supporting Organizations have granted over $42 million to charitable organizations, including donations to 275 organizations, with average annual grant payments of $3.7 million. The Supporting Organizations and the charitable organizations perform irreplaceable philanthropic work in their respective communities, and do so in a steady, reliable manner that permits them to build progress on initiatives year after year.

B. Control of the Fund

5.8 The founders of the Charitable DAF Fund and of Charitable DAF HoldCo wanted to ensure that the fund assets were professionally managed by experts. So, although the Supporting Organizations were the sole beneficiaries of the Charitable DAF Fund and together held all of the economic interest in it, management control of the Charitable DAF Fund and Charitable DAF HoldCo was vested not with those organizations but rather in "Management Shares," with general partner status. These "Management Shares" provided the only voting rights for any and all shareholders in Charitable DAF HoldCo. But they did not convey a right to any economic benefit of the assets in the Charitable DAF Fund, which belonged solely to the Supporting Organizations.

5.9 So, the "Management Shares" exercised control over the assets and over the operations of Charitable DAF HoldCo, even though they conveyed no economic benefit. In the interest of efficient management, the Management Shares and general partner status in the Charitable DAF Fund were concentrated in one person, the "Control Position." The Control Position was therefore responsible to manage the Charitable DAF Fund and Charitable DAF HoldCo for the economic benefit of their economic beneficiaries—the "Supporting Organizations," which held their "Participating Shares." The Control Position therefore owed the Supporting Organizations fiduciary duties of candor, care, and loyalty, including a prohibition against any self-dealing.

5.10 In essence, the governing documents of Charitable DAF HoldCo grant complete control of Charitable DAF Fund structure to the holder of the 100 Management Shares in Charitable DAF HoldCo. Those shares have at all material times been held by a single individual, who as a result has substantial control over the entire Charitable DAF Fund structure.

5.11 The Charitable DAF Fund, however, is also expressly, separately controlled by the Control Position. Similar to control over Charitable DAF HoldCo, control over the Charitable DAF Fund is separate from the beneficial economic ownership of the Charitable DAF Fund (which belongs entirely to the Supporting Organizations). Control over the Charitable DAF Fund was reposited in the Control Position through its complete ownership of a Delaware entity named Charitable DAF GP, LLC[2] (the "Delaware GP"). The Delaware GP was the managing general partner in the Charitable DAF Fund.

5.12 The Amended and Restated Limited Partnership Agreement of the Charitable DAF Fund, dated November 7, 2011 (the "ARLPA"), and the Amended and Restated Memorandum and Articles of Association of the LP dated January 19, 2015 ("Articles"), govern the Charitable DAF Fund and its partners. The ARLPA makes it clear the Control Position is to exercise his powers for the sole benefit of the Supporting Organizations.

5.13 For example, the Preamble to the ARLPA states: "WHEREAS, the Partnership was formed in order to own, operate and make certain investments directly or indirectly on behalf of certain entities exempt from taxation under Section 501(c)(3) of the U.S. Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended and the parties hereto desire for the Partnership to be for the economic benefit of the Limited Partner and its Indirect Charitable Owners (as defined below) as set forth herein[.]"

[2] The Charitable DAF GP, LLC, held all the general partnership shares in Charitable DAF Fund, which provided all management control over the Charitable DAF Fund, but conveyed no beneficial economic interest.

5.14 Likewise, Section 1.3 (Purpose and Powers) states that the Control Position must manage the fund assets "for the purpose of benefitting, directly or indirectly, the Indirect Charitable Owners."[3]

5.15 Section 1.6 (Powers) likewise emphasizes: "[T]he General Partner [Control Position] . . . is hereby granted the right, power and authority to do on behalf of the Partnership all things which, in the General Partner's sole discretion, are necessary or appropriate to manage the Partnership's affairs and fulfill the purposes of the Partnership; provided, however that the Partnership's assets and investments shall be for the benefit of the Limited Partners and not for the economic benefit of the General Partner."[4]

5.16 The ARLPA thus provides that Charitable DAF Fund was formed to make investments, directly or indirectly, "for the economic benefit of the Limited Partner [DAF HoldCo] and its Indirect Charitable Owners" and contemplates the engagement of investment (and other service) advisors to achieve this. In this context, the Control Position is responsible for the governance and management functions of the Charitable DAF Fund as required for it to carry out its sole purpose of benefiting the Supporting Organizations and the Charities they support. The ARLPA is infused throughout with the singular command: The Control Position has great authority but is required to act with fidelity in exercising it for the benefit of the Supporting Organizations.

5.17 Grant Scott was initially selected for the Control Position. Mr. Scott was a longtime friend of Mr. Dondero's and a lawyer in North Carolina. Mr. Dondero knew and trusted Mr. Scott.

[3] Emphasis added.
[4] Emphasis added.

Mr. Scott effectively served the Supporting Organizations' charitable purposes in his role in the Control Position. For this, Mr. Scott received $60,000 in annual compensation—a compensation rate that remained unchanged for the better part of decade. During this time, the Supporting Organizations and their respective charitable foundations made great strides in creating philanthropic, and charitable, work that was efficient, that was steady and reliable, and that grew and built on their progress year after year.

C. Mark Patrick's Assumption of Control

5.18 Highland filed for bankruptcy in October 2019 ("Highland Bankruptcy") and, as a result, the Charitable DAF Fund became engaged in certain disputes arising from the bankruptcy, increasing the time and responsibilities associated with the Control Position. Mr. Scott did not feel qualified to manage those disputes and decided to resign from the Control Position.

5.19 Mark Patrick, a tax attorney and employee of Mr. Dondero who had played a significant role in developing the overall Charitable DAF Fund structure while at Highland, suggested to Mr. Scott and Mr. Dondero that he was prepared to take on the Control Position and, in that role, to handle the litigation related to the Highland Bankruptcy as it affected Charitable DAF Fund. At the time, Patrick was an employee of Mr. Dondero's enterprises and was serving as Mr. Dondero's attorney and Mr. Dondero had no objection to Mr. Scott transferring the Control Position to Patrick. As a result of his attorney and employee status, Mr. Patrick owed significant fiduciary duties to Mr. Dondero's entities and to the Charitable DAF Fund structure—fiduciary duties that he has violated in a series of self-serving and self-dealing transactions.

5.20 On March 25, 2021, Mr. Scott resigned and appointed Patrick as director of DAF HoldCo, transferring all his management shares and membership interest to Patrick for nominal consideration. Patrick therefore assumed the Control Position from that date. Patrick then hired Paul Murphy, a Cayman Islands' director, to join him in his efforts to abscond with the $270 million in assets.

5.21 At the time Patrick assumed the Control Position, he was employed at Skyview Partners, a service organization that provided support primarily to Mr. Dondero and entities in which Mr. Dondero had an interest. As an employee of Skyview, he owed fiduciary duties to his employer.

D. Patrick's Breaches of Fiduciary Duty

5.22 In 2023, while still employed by Dondero entities, and as the sole fiduciary for the Charitable DAF Fund and DAF HoldCo, Patrick initiated a two-year pattern of malfeasance all culminating in his current effort to abscond with $270 million. His initial small infidelities quickly blossomed into a brazen, fraudulent play for the Charitable DAF Fund and its $270 million in holdings, putting at risk the charitable works supported by the Supporting Organizations.

E. Undisclosed Self-Dealing

5.23 In June 2023, Patrick requested that The Highland Dallas Foundation, Inc. direct $10,000 to Creative HEARTS TX, a non-profit entity formed on June 13, 2023. Patrick expected this to be an annually recurring donation. Patrick failed to disclose that he, his wife, and daughter were the directors of this entity, which had been created approximately two weeks earlier. The Highland Dallas Foundation, Inc. funded an initial $10,000 contribution but declined to commit to doing so annually.

F. Attempted Fraudulent Kickback Scheme

5.24 In September 2023, Patrick approached Kevin Cronin, CEO of Fortaris Capital Advisors, proposing a fraudulent kickback scheme to personally benefit Patrick. Fortaris previously provided legitimate services to the Charitable DAF Fund. Now, Patrick proposed that the Charitable DAF Fund engage a new vendor controlled by Mr. Cronin. Patrick proposed that the Charitable DAF Fund pay this sham vendor a monthly fee of $25,000-$50,000. The sham vendor, however, would not provide any services to the Charitable DAF Fund. Instead, Patrick expected to collect half of the fee as undisclosed supplemental compensation. That is, he expected to collect something for nothing in a classic fraud.

5.25 Mr. Cronin declined and relayed what occurred to Mr. Dondero. Mr Dondero then confronted Patrick, who admitted that what Mr. Cronin reported was true.

5.26 Mr. Dondero ensured that Supporting Organizations were also informed about Patrick's kickback scheme. Despite significant concern, the Supporting Organizations had doubts about whether, based on the governing documents and Patrick's positions, they could remove Patrick from the Control Position.

G. Insider Trading

5.27 In August 2024, Patrick tried to capitalize on material non-public information obtained through his employment at Skyview to advise The Dallas Foundation to exercise a put option in a NexPoint affiliated asset, constituting attempted violations of U.S. securities laws. The Dallas Foundation declined to trade on Patrick's improper tip.

5.28 Skyview's compliance department conducted an internal investigation that concluded Patrick's actions constituted serious breaches of compliance obligations and attempted serious breaches of U.S. securities laws.

5.29 Patrick resigned from Skyview immediately before the investigation was finalized and simultaneously terminated the Charitable DAF Fund's services agreement with Skyview without justification and against the Charitable DAF Fund's interests.

H. Financial Irregularities and Lack of Transparency

5.30 After resigning from Skyview, Patrick began shrouding the Charitable DAF Fund structure's overall financial reporting and communications to the point that the Supporting Organizations were essentially cut off from any view into the financial transactions and soundness of the fund. As of September 2024, the Charitable DAF Fund held approximately $270 million strictly for the financial benefit of the Supporting Organizations and ultimately their supported Charities.

5.31 But a review of the Charitable DAF Fund's last accessible financial records showed dramatic and unexplained increases in expenditures:

- Directors' fees increased from $40,000 in 2022 to almost $600,000 in 2023, and to approximately $2.25 million in the first half of 2024 alone (a 12,400% increase from 2022 if annualized).
- Legal expenses increased to $6 million in the first six months of 2024 compared to $4 million for all of 2022 (a 300% increase if annualized).
- Overall expenses for the first half of 2024 were around $18.3 million, compared to $18.6 million for all of 2023.

5.32 Despite repeated requests from the Supporting Organizations and their counsel and counsel for the Charitable DAF Fund, Patrick and Murphy have ignored and refused to provide requested financial information or explanations for these dramatic expenditure increases.

5.33 Patrick must have personally benefited from the dramatic increases in director's fees and, given Patrick's prior attempt to implement a kickback scheme through Mr. Cronin, the other remarkable increases in expenses raise deep concerns about potential self-dealing.

I. Patrick Ignores the Supporting Organizations Concerns

5.34 On November 11, 2024, given what the Supporting Organizations already knew, the three major Supporting Organizations drafted a letter to Murphy, the Cayman Islands director, stating that "we no longer have confidence that the governance structures of, including but not limited to Charitable DAF-GP, LLC, Charitable DAF HoldCo, Ltd., Charitable DAF Fund, L.P. and CLO HoldCo, Ltd. (collectively the "DAF-related entities"), can function appropriately. We believe a reorganization must occur or the DAF-related entities should be equitably wound up because the governance structure has become unworkable."[5]

5.35 The letter continued, "because we have substantial concerns, out of an abundance of caution, and until an accounting can be conducted, we believe it is inappropriate for anyone to authorize the depletion of further assets of DAF-related entities. We urge you to take our accounting and governance concerns seriously because depletion of assets in the DAF-related entities has a direct impact on our mission and the charitable good works in our communities."[6]

5.36 Patrick and Murphy never responded to the letter, other than a threat that if the Supporting Organizations did not withdraw it, then Patrick and Murphy would embark on an effort at the Internal Revenue Service to revoke the Supporting Organizations' charitable status.

5.37 In January 2025, the Supporting Organizations demanded Patrick and Murphy provide clarity into the Charitable DAF Fund's financial position, expressing dismay that Patrick and Murphy continued to ignore their repeated requests for information. Murphy responded via email to this request stating that he and Patrick would "present directly to the foundations/supporting organi[z]ations" to address some of the concerns in the No Confidence Letter. Murphy never did.[7]

[7] See Ex. 4-B, Email chain ending Jan. 23, 2025 (Appx. Pg. 171)

5.38 Counsel for the Supporting Organizations and for the Charitable DAF Fund exchanged further communications, but Patrick, Murphy, and the Charitable DAF Fund's counsel never provided answers and information in response to the Supporting Organizations' basic requests. Instead, they wrapped all their future communications in half-truths and subterfuge.[8] At the same time, they offered the Supporting Organizations vague assurances that all their maneuvers were to improve the structure, focus, and performance of the fund, for the benefit of the Supporting Organizations.

5.39 The Charitable DAF Fund's counsel promised a meeting to address the Supporting Organizations' concerns, but after the Supporting Organizations' counsel suggested dates, the Charitable DAF Fund and its counsel delayed and delayed until it eventually went silent.[9]

5.40 In the interim, Patrick accelerated his multi-year fraud.

J. Dilution Scheme and Liquidation Maneuver

5.41 Between December 2024 and the present, Patrick executed a series of moves to dilute the Supporting Organization's interests in the Charitable DAF Fund, and alienate those same assets entirely away from them. The purpose and result of Patrick's moves was to entirely eliminate the Supporting Organization's ownership of the Charitable DAF Fund assets. In short, he stole them.

5.42 In December 2024, Patrick formed new entities (as described below) with Patrick as the sole director. He then replaced the current entities holding and controlling the Charitable DAF Fund with his own entities, essentially transferring all ownership and control to himself in a brazen act of self-dealing. He never notified the Supporting Organizations of this massive reorganization of the Charitable DAF Fund. Indeed, the Supporting Organizations found out about this monumental reorganization only when Patrick and his counsel had to admit it in a Cayman court as part of the Supporting Organization's successful effort to appoint Cayman Liquidators to unravel Patrick's fraud in that jurisdiction.

5.43 In a move that would make most fraudsters blanch, and certainly continued to violate all his fiduciary duties, on December 9, 2024, Patrick formed Defendant DFWCF (also referred to herein as the "Sham Charity"), a Delaware nonprofit corporation. Patrick named himself the Sham Charity's sole member and its registered address was Patrick's home. Patrick then issued his charity a fifty-one percent (51%) interest in the charitable assets. In essence, Patrick awarded himself the ability to distribute over half of the Charitable DAF Fund's $270 million in economic interest to his own entity, from his living room in Dallas.

5.44 Three days later, on December 12, 2024, Patrick incorporated CDMCFAD, LLC, a Delaware limited liability company.

5.45 In secret, and without notice to the Supporting Organizations, on December 18, 2024, Charitable DAF HoldCo transferred to CDMCFAD, LLC 100 percent of its interest in Charitable DAF Fund, and Charitable DAF HoldCo acquired 100 percent of the interest in CDMCFAD, LLC. As a result, CDMCFAD effectively was inserted as a blocking company in between Charitable DAF HoldCo, owned by the Supporting Organizations, and the Charitable DAF Fund itself (where the assets resided). Suddenly, the Supporting Organizations no longer held a 100 beneficial interest in the entity that held the assets of Charitable DAF Fund. Instead, Patrick ensured a different and new entity (CDMCFAD) held Charitable DAF Fund.

5.46 Patrick's fraud continued to evolve in February 2025. On February 7, 2025, again without notice to the Supporting Organizations, DAF HoldCo (in an ultra vires act) allotted 318 participating shares to DFWCF, the Sham Charity controlled by Patrick. This sham dilution reduced the Supporting Organizations' cumulative holding in Charitable DAF HoldCo from 100% of the participation shares to 48.9%. Following the new issuance: (i) HDFI's interest was diluted from 32.787% to 16.05%; (ii) HKCF's interest was diluted from 32.787% to 16.05%; (iii) HSBFI's interest was diluted from 32.787% to 16.05% and (iv) the HCMLP Charitable Fund's[10] interest was diluted from 1.639% to 0.80%. Said another way, Patrick absconded with over half of the participating interest of the Supporting Organizations and other charitable funds. Before, during, and after this action—and at all times it was contemplated and executed—Patrick and Charitable DAF HoldCo still owed fiduciary duties to the Supporting Organizations.

5.47 In February 2025, the Sham Charity acquired IRS 501(c)(3) tax exempt status. The By-Laws of the Charitable DAF Fund required that its limited partnership interests be owned by an entity with such tax-exempt status. Therefore, obtaining 501(c)(3) status for the Sham Charity was a necessary step to effectuate Patrick's complete control of the assets of Charitable DAF Fund.

5.48 On March 27, 2025, Patrick caused CDMCFAD (the holder of $270 million in assets) to issue shares to the Sham Charity, and only to the Sham Charity. He issued no shares in CDMCFAD to the Supporting Organizations. His fraudulent scam was nearly complete. Now, Patrick's Sham Charity controlled all the direct economic interest in the entity Patrick had inserted between Charitable DAF HoldCo and the assets in Charitable DAF Fund, and the Supporting Organizations were left out in the cold.

5.49 On April 2, 2025, Patrick caused Charitable DAF HoldCo to redeem its interests in CDMCFAD for a total payment of $1.6 million. That is, he exchanged $270 million for $1.6

[10] The HCMLP Charitable Fund is a separate charity which provides funding for the North Texas Community Foundation. While it is not a named plaintiff, the damages it incurred because of the acts of Patrick are notable and relevant to show Patrick's impact across the State of Texas.

million, a ridiculous transaction bereft of reasonably equivalent value.[11] After the transaction, Charitable DAF HoldCo purportedly had no assets and no remaining interest in Charitable DAF Fund. As a result, Patrick's Sham Charity, Defendant DFWCF, was the sole limited partner and beneficial owner of Charitable DAF Fund, through its now-100% ownership of CDMCFAD, and CDMCFAD's 100% ownership of the fund. This final step completely severed the Supporting Organizations and their nonprofit charities from the assets of the Charitable DAF Fund. In Patrick's own words under oath, "the entity in liquidation [Charitable DAF Holdco, Ltd.] owns nothing."[12]

5.50 Before the start of these self-dealing transactions, in October 2024, the Supporting Organizations owned 100% of the Participation Shares representing the economic ownership of $270 million in assets. As of April 2025, the Supporting Organizations owned Participation Shares worth zero. While Patrick allegedly distributed a paltry portion of $1.6 million to the Supporting Organizations, receipt of those funds has yet to be verified. Again, all of his self-dealing activity took place with no clarity or transparency. Patrick converted the Supporting Organizations' assets to Patrick's personal benefit and ownership, and violated his fiduciary duties of care, candor, and loyalty that he owed to the Supporting Organizations.

K. The Cayman Island Proceedings

5.51 On April 2, 2025, again unbeknownst to the Supporting Organizations, Patrick placed DAF HoldCo into voluntary liquidation in the Cayman Islands through written resolutions of directors executed by Patrick, with joint voluntary liquidators appointed.

5.52 But the Supporting Organizations already did know: that Patrick had (1) actively thwarted all financial transparency; (2) refused to address the Supporting Organizations well-founded concerns including their expression of no-confidence; (3) engaged in a pattern of fraudulent self-dealing; (4) taken all participating ownership from the Supporting Organizations without any approval or appropriate compensation; and (5) and restructured the underlying funds. This was enough to convince the Supporting Organizations to take action.

5.53 The Supporting Organizations filed an involuntary Petition for Winding Up in the Grand Court of the Cayman Islands (the "Grand Court"), Financial Services Division, Cause No. FSD 99 OF 2025 (JAJ), styled In the Matter of Section 92 of the Companies Act (2025 Revision) and In the Matter of Charitable DAF HoldCo, Ltd. Absent doing so, the Supporting Organizations would not have learned about Patrick's voluntary liquidation.

5.54 Cayman Islands counsel for the Supporting Organizations alleged essentially the same facts as recounted in this Petition before the Grand Court. However, Defendants DFWCF and CDMCFAD are Delaware-organized entities and were not expressly named in the Grand Court proceedings.

5.55 The Grand Court, after lengthy hearing and in consideration of written submissions and evidentiary exhibits, ordered among other things[13]:

> 5. The joint official liquidators are authorized to exercise the following powers in Part I of Third Schedule 3 to the Companies Act, without requiring further sanction by the Court:
> a) the power to commence legal proceedings in the name and on behalf of the Company to obtain the provision of information and/or documents and/or the examination of individuals in the Cayman Islands or the United States; and
> b) the power to apply in the Cayman Islands or the United States for the preservation, freezing or attachment of assets to which the Company is or may arguably be entitled.

[13] Ex. 8, Supervision Order (Appx. Pg. 244-246)

6. The joint official liquidators are in addition authorized to exercise the following powers and to take the following steps without further sanction by the Court:

a) the power to present a petition for the winding up of Charitable DAF Fund, LP (the Fund) if so advised;

b) the power to file a summons and to apply for an order appointing provisional liquidators of the Fund if so advised; and

c) the power to seek registration or recognition of themselves and/or the Official Liquidation in any State in the United States for any purpose connected with the exercise of the powers specified in paragraphs 5(a) or 5(b) of this Order.

5.56 While the Cayman Islands-appointed official liquidators now conduct their investigation of the assets and other matters pertaining to the Cayman Islands' proceedings, Defendants Patrick, DFWCF, and CDMCFAD (all sited in the United States, and more specifically Dallas County) remain in actual control and beneficial ownership of all assets that were held by the Charitable DAF Fund and DAF HoldCo. In the meantime, the rightful beneficial owners, the Supporting Organizations, are without the benefit of the considerable assets formerly held by the Charitable DAF Fund and without any insight into the current status and security of the assets. This not only damages the Supporting Organizations, but the charitable causes in their communities that rely on funding from the Charitable DAF Fund.

VI. CAUSES OF ACTION

Count I - Breach of Fiduciary Duty Against Patrick, CDH GP, Ltd., and Charitable DAF GP, LLC

6.1 Paragraphs 1.1 - 5.56 are incorporated as if fully restated herein.

6.2 In "a limited partnership, the general partner stands in the same fiduciary capacity to the limited partners as a trustee stands to the beneficiaries of a trust." Hughes v. St. David's Support Corp., 944 S.W.2d 423, 425–26 (Tex. App.—Austin 1997, writ denied); Feeley v. NHAOCG, LLC, 62 A.3d 649, 661 (Del. Ch. 2012) (There "has never been any serious doubt that the general partner of a Delaware limited partnership owes fiduciary duties."). Likewise, under traditional principles of equity, and various statutes generally hold that a manager of an LLC would qualify as a fiduciary of that LLC and its members. Auriga Capital Corp. v. Gatz Properties, 40 A.3d 839, 850 (Del. Ch. 2012), judgment entered sub nom. Auriga Capital Corp. v. Gatz Properties, LLC (Del. Ch. 2012), aff'd, 59 A.3d 1206 (Del. 2012); Davis v. Crawford, 700 S.W.3d 438, 449 (Tex. App.—Eastland 2024, no pet.) ("[T]he relationship between a managing member of an LLC and a nonmanaging member is similar to that of a general partner/limited partner relationship, and that such an arrangement thereby creates a fiduciary obligation on the part of the managing member.").

6.3 By virtue of Patrick's Control Positions related to the overall Charitable DAF Fund structure and specifically DAF HoldCo and the Charitable DAF Fund, Patrick owed fiduciary duties to the Plaintiffs.

6.4 Patrick breached his fiduciary duties to the Plaintiffs by stripping them of their legal, equitable, and beneficial interests in the Charitable DAF Fund structure including DAF HoldCo, the Charitable DAF Fund, and ultimately the substantial assets held for the Plaintiffs' benefit.

6.5 Patrick breached these duties through self-dealing, attempted secret profit schemes, use of inside information, financial mismanagement, orchestrating asset sales at below-market values, and transferring beneficial ownership to the Sham Charity.

6.6 Patrick breached his fiduciary duties by mismanaging the Charitable DAF Fund's finances, and dramatically increasing director compensation to his own benefit.

6.7 Patrick breached his fiduciary duty by successfully soliciting a charitable contribution ultimately from a Supporting Organization to a charity controlled by Patrick and his immediate family without disclosing the relationship.

6.8 The actions incorporated herein have wrongfully deprived the Plaintiffs of substantial economic support and assets, harming, and threatening irreparable harm to, the Plaintiffs and the Charities that they support. Plaintiffs have suffered damages as a result of Patrick's breach of his fiduciary duties.

Count II - Constructive Fraud Against Patrick

6.9 Paragraphs 1.1 – 5.56 are incorporated as if fully restated herein.

6.10 "Constructive fraud is the breach of a legal or equitable duty that the law declares fraudulent because it violates a fiduciary relationship." Hubbard v. Shankle, 138 S.W.3d 474, 483 (Tex. App.—Fort Worth 2004, pet. denied). "[I]n a claim for constructive fraud, the actor's intent is irrelevant." Strobach v. WesTex Cmty. Credit Union, 621 S.W.3d 856, 879 (Tex. App.—El Paso 2021, pet. denied). "[C]onstructive fraud is the breach of some legal or equitable duty which, irrespective of moral guilt, the law declares fraudulent because of its tendency to deceive others, to violate confidence, or to injure public interests." Id.

6.11 As a fiduciary, Patrick's conduct in diluting the Plaintiffs' interests, selling assets at below-market values to undisclosed parties, and liquidating DAF HoldCo and transferring its interests to the Sham Charity without notice constitutes constructive fraud.

6.12 Patrick injured public interests by his conduct. Plaintiffs have suffered damages as a result of Patrick's fraud.

Count III - Unjust Enrichment Against Patrick, CDMCFAD, and DFWCF

6.13 Paragraphs 1.1 – 5.56 are incorporated as if fully restated herein.

6.14 A claim of unjust enrichment applies when a party obtains "a benefit from another by fraud, duress, or the taking of an undue advantage." Sw. Bell Tel. Co. v. Mktg. on Hold Inc., 308 S.W.3d 909, 921 (Tex. 2010)).

6.15 Patrick and DFWCF stripped the Plaintiffs of their rightful legal, equitable, and beneficial interests in the Charitable DAF Fund structure including DAF HoldCo, the Charitable DAF Fund, and ultimately the substantial assets held for the Plaintiffs' benefit.

6.16 Patrick and DFWCF took these interests and assets for their own benefit via fraud and taking undue advantage of the access available through the Control Positions and overlapping control with DFWCF.

6.17 Patrick also took undue advantage through self-dealing, attempted secret profit schemes, use of inside information, financial mismanagement, orchestrating asset sales at below-market values, and transferring beneficial ownership to the Sham Charity.

6.18 Patrick and DFWCF have been unjustly enriched at the expense of the Plaintiffs. Plaintiffs have been damages by Patrick's unjust enrichment.

Count IV – Conversion Against Patrick, CDMCFAD, and DFWCF

6.19 Paragraphs 1.1 – 5.56 are incorporated as if fully restated herein.

6.20 Conversion requires a showing that (1) the plaintiff owned, had legal possession, or was entitled to possession of the property, (2) the defendant assumed and exercised dominion and control over the property in an unlawful and unauthorized manner, to the exclusion of and inconsistent with the plaintiff's rights, and (3) the defendant refused the plaintiff's demand for return of the property. Automek, Inc. v. Orandy, 105 S.W.3d 60, 63 (Tex. App.—Houston [1st Dist.] 2003, no pet.).

6.21 The Plaintiffs held legal, equitable, and beneficial interests in the Charitable DAF Fund structure including DAF HoldCo, the Charitable DAF Fund, and ultimately the substantial assets held for the Plaintiffs' benefit.

6.22 Patrick with DFWCF has unlawfully and without authorization, assumed and exercised dominion over the Plaintiffs' legal, equitable, and beneficial interests in the Charitable DAF Fund structure including their participation in DAF HoldCo, the Charitable DAF Fund, and Charitable DAF Fund assets through the dilution scheme that diverted all the legal and beneficial economic interests to Patrick's controlled entity, DFWCF.

6.23 The Plaintiffs requested distribution in kind of the Charitable DAF Fund structure assets, which Patrick and now, DFWCF, have ignored and refused. Plaintiffs have been damages as a result of these conversions.

Count V – Imposition of Constructive Trust Against Patrick, CDMCFAD, and DFWCF

6.24 Paragraphs 1.1 – 5.56 are incorporated as if fully restated herein.

6.25 "A constructive trust is considered a legal fiction and is a creation of equity to prevent a wrongdoer from profiting from his wrongful acts." In re Harding, 563 S.W.3d 366, 372 (Tex. App.—Texarkana 2018, no pet.). "[T]o obtain a constructive trust, [a party] must prove: (1) breach of a special trust, fiduciary relationship, or actual fraud; (2) unjust enrichment of the wrongdoer; and (3) tracing to an identifiable res." Id. (cleaned up).

6.26 Patrick through DFWCF has breached his fiduciary relationship with the Plaintiffs by converting legal, equitable, and beneficial interests in the Charitable DAF Fund structure including DAF HoldCo, the Charitable DAF Fund, and ultimately the substantial assets held for the Plaintiffs' benefit, resulting in the unjust enrichment of DFWCF and Patrick.

6.27 All the legal, equitable, and beneficial interests in the Charitable DAF Fund structure including DAF HoldCo, the Charitable DAF Fund, and ultimately the substantial assets held for the Plaintiffs' benefit in the overall Charitable DAF Fund structure should be imposed with a constructive trust running to the benefit of the Plaintiffs.

VII. EMERGENCY APPLICATION FOR RECEIVERSHIP

7.1 Paragraphs 1.1 - 5.56 are incorporated as if fully restated herein.

7.2 The Plaintiffs seek the immediate appointment of a receiver over Defendants DFWCF and CDMCFAD, LLC (the "Receivership Entities") under three independent bases: Texas Civil Practice & Remedies Code §§ 64.001(a)(3), (7), Texas Business and Organizations Code § 11.410, and the Court's inherent equitable powers.

A. Texas Civil Practice & Remedies Code

7.3 [U]nder section 64.001 of the Texas Civil Practice and Remedies Code ("CPRC"), a court may appoint a receiver in an action between "partners or others jointly owning or interested in any property or fund," CPRC §§ 64.001(a)(3) or "in any case in which a receiver may be appointed under the rules of equity." CPRC §§ 64.001(a)(7); Elliott v. Weatherman, 396 S.W.3d 224, 228 (Tex. App.—Austin 2013, no pet.).

7.4 A party with a probable interest or a right to the property or fund has standing to seek the appointment of a receiver. CPRC § 64.001(b). "[T]he property or fund must be in danger of being lost, removed, or materially injured." Id.

7.5 A probable interest exists by statute in actions between partners and in actions between joint owners of property. CPRC § 64.001(a)(3).

7.6 One purpose of a receivership is to preserve assets and resolve issues relating to an entity's affairs where there are allegations of fraud or improper activities. See Floyd v. MMWKM

Advisors, LLC, No. 05-23-00638-CV, 2024 WL 549036 at *2 (Tex. App. – Dallas 2024, pet. denied, reh'g denied).

B. Texas Business and Organizations Code

7.7 Like CPRC § 64.001, a court that has subject matter jurisdiction over specific property of a domestic or foreign entity in Texas may appoint a receiver for that property in several scenarios, including an action between "partners or others jointly owning or interested in the property or fund." Tex. Bus. & Orgs. Code § 11.403(a)(3).

7.8 Additionally, under Section 11.410 of the Texas Business and Organizations Code ("TBOC"), a court may appoint a receiver for all of the property, in and outside Texas, of a foreign entity doing business in Texas and its business if the court determines, in accordance with the ordinary usages of equity, that circumstances exist that necessitate the appointment of a receiver even if a receiver has not been appointed by another court. TBOC § 11.410(a).

C. Rules of Equity

7.9 In addition to specific statutory authority to appoint receivers, Texas courts retain inherent equitable power to do so. The CPRC, § 64.004 makes clear that the rules of equity control the appointment and power of a receiver unless inconsistent with a statutory provision.

D. Receivership Standards Under Texas Law and Equity

7.10 "The appointment of a receiver lies within the sound discretion of the trial court." In re Estate of Herring, 983 S.W.2d 61, 65 (Tex. App.—Corpus Christi–Edinburg 1998, no pet.). "The appointment of a receiver, either as authorized by statute or usages of equity, will not be disturbed on appeal unless the record reveals a clear abuse of discretion." O & G Carriers, Inc. v. Smith Energy 1986-A P'ship, 826 S.W.2d 703, 706 (Tex. App.—Houston [1st Dist.] 1992, no writ).

7.11 The party submitting an application for appointment of a receiver bears the burden of proof to present evidence justifying the appointment. Furgerson v. First Nat'l Bank, 218 S.W.2d 1019, 1020 (Tex. Civ. App. – Texarkana 1949, no writ). The party can meet that burden by submitting a sworn verification supporting the claimed grounds for the appointment, In re Estate of Herring, 983 S.W.2d 61, 65 (Tex. App. – Corpus Christi 1999, no pet.), and a court may consider oral testimony as evidence in support of an application. See Furgerson, 218 S.W.2d at 1020.

7.12 An application seeking a receivership pursuant to a statutory provision must allege facts that meet the elements of the provision. Associated Bankers Credit Co. v. Meis, 456 S.W.2d 744, 748 (Tex. Civ. App. – Corpus Christi 1970, no writ). The facts alleged in the application will be construed as favorably as possible for the applicant. Couch Mortgage Co. v. Roberts, 544 S.W.2d 944, 946-47 (Tex. Civ. App. – Houston [1st Dist.], no writ).

7.13 Conduct that supports a cause of action for fraud or breach of fiduciary duties is often the same type of conduct that supports an application for a receivership. Ritchie v. Rupe, 443 S.W.3d 856, 873 (Tex. 2014).

E. The Supporting Organizations are entitled to the Emergency Appointment of a Receiver to Oversee the Receivership Entities

7.14 The Plaintiffs have an ownership interest in their participating shares in DAF HoldCo and thereby its economic ownership of the Charitable DAF Fund and the assets that were rightfully held by the Charitable DAF Fund and entrusted to the control of Patrick.

7.15 Patrick wrongfully caused the Plaintiffs' participation shares to be diluted and then caused the Plaintiffs' beneficial economic interests in the Charitable DAF Fund structure to be wrongfully transferred to a collection of sham entities wholly dominated by Patrick.

7.16 Charitable DAF Fund was valued at $270 million as recently as September 2024. Now no assets remain in the Charitable DAF Fund structure. The Plaintiffs have not received any just compensation, participation, or other consideration for the conversion of their substantial interests in the Charitable DAF Fund structure.

7.17 Receivership Entities now maintain complete management control and beneficial rights over the Charitable DAF Fund structure's substantial assets or otherwise possess those assets to the exclusion of Charitable DAF Fund.

7.18 Patrick dominates and controls the Receivership Entities. As shown, Patrick has demonstrated a pattern of selling assets at below-market values, attempting to engage in self-dealing transactions, transacting assets at non-market terms in potential self-dealing transactions, dramatically increasing internal and professional administrative expenses that burdens and dissipates charitable assets, and secreting his activities while controlling assets dedicated to charitable causes. To preserve assets from further dissipation, a receiver should replace Patrick's oversight of the Receivership Entities and their assets, which were wrongfully acquired and held.

7.19 The Plaintiffs have been stripped of access to the benefit of assets meant to support charitable causes, resulting in financial distress and immediately threatening planned and ongoing support of countless charities including education, medical research, and community initiatives.

7.20 The Plaintiffs have demonstrated a strong likelihood of success on their claims given the documented pattern of breaches, financial irregularities and successful litigation in the Cayman Islands.

7.21 The Plaintiffs have demonstrated a clear and compelling need for immediate court oversight to prevent further injury and preserve the charitable assets at risk due to Patrick's actions via the Receivership Entities.

7.22 The participating shares in DAF HoldCo as well as assets valued at $270 Million are in danger of being lost, removed, or materially injured and circumstances exist to necessitate the appointment of a receiver to conserve the property, fund, and avoid further, irreparable harm to Plaintiffs.

7.23 Given Patrick's demonstrated and recent malfeasance using the Receivership Entities as tools of fraud, no other adequate remedy exists under law.

Count VI – APPLICATION FOR TEMPORARY RESTRAINING ORDER AND TEMPORARY INJUNCTION PENDING APPROVAL OF RECEIVERSHIP

8.1. Plaintiffs seek immediate injunctive relief preventing the Defendants from further use, transfer, dispersal, and/or alienation of the assets that were held in the Charitable DAF Fund as of the instant date of this filing, regardless of where they are presently held. If not enjoined, Defendants' actions pose an immediate threat of irreparable harm and injury to Plaintiffs for which there is no adequate remedy at law because the harm cannot be undone by a damages award, as once the assets are spent or dispersed, Defendants will be unable to pay a judgment. This application is supported by the sworn declarations of Julie Diaz and James David Dondero.

8.2. A writ of injunction is proper where "the applicant is entitled to the relief demanded and all or part of the relief requires the restraint of some act prejudicial to the applicant," or where "a party performs or is about to perform or is procuring or allowing the performance of an act relating to the subject of pending litigation, in violation of the rights of the applicant, and the act would tend to render the judgment in that litigation ineffectual," or where "irreparable injury to real or personal property is threatened, irrespective of any remedy at law." Tex. Civ. Prac. & Rem. Code § 65.011. "A temporary injunction pending trial on the merits 'may be and usually is issued in connection with any species of litigation where it is necessary to preserve the status quo pending a final adjudication of the rights of the parties.'" Lometa Bancshares, Inc. v. Potts, 952 S.W.2d 631, 633 (Tex. App.-Austin 1997) (quoting Turcotte v. Alice Nat'l Bank, 402 S.W.2d 894, 896 (Tex.1966)). "In cases like the present, an applicant for the writ must show (1) a probable right to recover on the merits after final hearing and (2) a probable and irreparable injury unless the writ is issued." Lometa, 952 S.W.2d at 633 (citing Tex. Civ. Prac. & Rem. Code Ann. § 65.011 (West 1997); Walling v. Metcalfe, 863 S.W.2d 56, 58 (Tex.1993); Sun Oil Co. v. Whitaker, 424 S.W.2d 216, 218 (Tex.1968)).

8.3. Texas courts universally recognize that in cases where dispersal or liquidation of assets required to pay a judgment is likely, temporary injunctive relief is proper to preserve the status quo and ensure that the efficacy of ultimate relief for the Plaintiffs is not defeated by financial machinations while the case is pending. In other words, "the adequacy of an available legal remedy must be judged in the circumstances of the particular case[,]" and "[i]n such circumstances, any legal remedy by way of a judgment for money damages is properly viewed as inadequate on the ground that the funds may be reduced pending final hearing and thus be unavailable in their entirety[.]" Lometa, 952 S.W.2d at 633; see also Minexa Arizona, Inc. v. Staubach, 667 S.W.2d 563, 567–68 (Tex.App.—Dallas 1984, no writ); Sonics Int'l Inc. v. Dorchester Enters., 593 S.W.2d 390, 393 (Tex.Civ.App.—Dallas 1980, no writ); Baucum v. Texam Oil Corp., 423 S.W.2d 434, 442 (Tex.Civ.App.—El Paso 1967, writ ref'd n.r.e.).

8.4. The above authorities support the award of the temporary injunctive relief requested herein, because the assets formerly held in the Charitable DAF Fund for the benefit of the Plaintiffs are already being alienated from their beneficial owners and the conduct of Defendants demonstrates the likelihood of their continued transfer, alienation, expenditure, and dispersal while this case is pending and before the rights of the Plaintiffs to those funds can be vindicated.

8.5. Unless enjoined, Patrick and the other Defendants will cause and continue to cause irreparable harm to Plaintiffs for which there is no adequate remedy at law; including, without limitation, the dispersal, expenditure, transfer, and further alienation of more than $270 Million that can never be replaced because the Defendants will lack the means to do so.

8.6. Plaintiffs will therefore suffer immediate and irreparable injury without adequate remedy at law if a Temporary Restraining Order ("TRO") is not granted against the Defendants. Accordingly, Plaintiffs request the Court issue a TRO that freeze:

(a) all assets that were held in the Charitable DAF Fund as of the instant date of this filing, and

(b) prohibiting Patrick and the other Defendants, or anyone acting in concert with them or at their direction, from any use, expenditure, transfer, dispersal, dilution, encumbrance, or alienation of any of those funds pending resolution of Plaintiff's Motion for Temporary Injunction.

8.7. The harm to Plaintiffs is imminent, and if the Court does not issue a TRO and injunctive relief, it will be irreparably injured, as set forth herein. Conversely, the granting of a TRO will merely require Defendants to refrain from doing anything with the funds for two weeks. If the Defendants prevail on the merits, the funds will still be available to them for their use in future. The balance of burdens thus strongly favors Plaintiffs, who stand to lose everything absent immediate injunctive relief—over Defendants, who will at most suffer a minor inconvenience if they ultimately prevail.

8.8. The issuance of injunctive relief will not disserve the public interest. Balancing the equities and other factors, including the significant potential for irreparable harm to the Plaintiffs and the lack of harm to Defendants due to the entry of a TRO, demonstrates that the relief will not disserve the public interest. Indeed, freezing the funds at issue in place to ensure that this fraudulent scheme is not permitted consummation absent judicial scrutiny serves the public interest by protecting vital charitable interests.

8.9. A temporary restraining order is necessary to maintain the status quo during the pendency of this action. See In re Newton, 146 S.W.3d 648, 651 (Tex. 2004) ("defining the status quo as "the last, actual, peaceable, non-contested status which preceded the pending controversy.") The facts above establish the required elements for Plaintiffs to obtain a TRO against Defendant, specifically: (1) a cause of action against Defendants with a probable right to relief; (2) a probable, imminent, and irreparable injury to Plaintiffs in the interim; (3) the threatened injury outweighs any damage the injunction might cause the opposing party; and (4) the injunction will not disserve the public interest. See Butnaru v. Ford Motor Co., 84 S.W.3d 198. 204 (Tex. 2002).

A. Plaintiffs have a Probable Right to the Relief Sought in their Claims Against Defendants.

8.10. Plaintiffs easily satisfy this test. Establishing a probable right to relief does not require the applicant for a TRO to establish that it will prevail at trial. See Walling v. Metcalfe, 863 S.W.2d 56, 58 (Tex. 1993). Instead, this element requires only that the applicant allege a cause of action and present evidence that tends to sustain that cause of action. See Miller Paper Co. v. Roberts Paper Co., 901 S.W.2d 593, 597 (Tex. App.— Amarillo 1995, no writ). The cause of action itself need not involve permanent injunctive relief—the trial court "[has] discretion to preserve the status quo so long as [a movant] demonstrate[s] his probable right to recover damages." Metcalfe, 863 S.W.2d at 58; see also Gryphon Master Fund, L.P. v. Path 1 Network Technologies, Inc., No. 3:06 CV 0107 D, 2007 WL 1723703, at *5 (N.D. Tex., Jun. 14, 2007) (citing Metcalfe).

8.11. Plaintiffs have a probable right to the relief sought on its claims for breach of fiduciary duty, constructive fraud, unjust enrichment, and conversion. As alleged in more detail above, Defendants have committed and continue to commit acts that have raided four vital charitable organizations of $270 Million that forms the lifeblood of vital philanthropic efforts relied upon by key communities across the nation. The evidence summarized herein thus establishes that these injuries arise as a direct result of Defendants' conduct.

B. Plaintiffs Will Suffer Immediate, Irreparable Injury in the Absence of a Temporary Restraining Order and Temporary Injunction.

8.12. Plaintiffs will suffer immediate, irreparable injury in the absence of a temporary restraining order and temporary injunction, as summarized above. Plaintiffs will suffer precisely the sort of irreparable injuries Texas courts have sought to prevent by granting temporary injunctive relief. Lometa, 952 S.W.2d at 633; see also Minexa Arizona, Inc. v. Staubach, 667 S.W.2d 563, 567–68 (Tex.App.—Dallas 1984, no writ); Sonics Int'l Inc. v. Dorchester Enters., 593 S.W.2d 390, 393 (Tex.Civ.App.—Dallas 1980, no writ); Baucum v. Texam Oil Corp., 423 S.W.2d 434, 442 (Tex.Civ.App.—El Paso 1967, writ ref'd n.r.e.).

8.13. Plaintiffs have no adequate remedy at law. Without injunctive relief, the assets intended to benefit the Plaintiffs will be spent, dispersed, transferred, and alienated while this litigation unfolds. These losses, as well as others which will inevitably occur if Defendants are not enjoined, cannot be compensated in monetary terms once the funds are dispersed, and are the types of harm for which injunctive relief is particularly necessary and appropriate.

8.14. Accordingly, and in order to preserve the status quo during the pendency of this action, Defendants should be cited to appear and show cause why the funds at issue should not be frozen for the pendency of this Action, and why Defendants should not be temporarily restrained during the pendency of this action from directly or indirectly using, spending, transferring, encumbering, dispersing, or further alienating the funds and assets that were held in the Charitable DAF Fund as of as of the instant date of this filing.

8.15. Plaintiffs seek a temporary restraining order and temporary injunction against Defendants freezing all funds and assets that were held in the Charitable DAF Fund as of as of the instant date of this filing, and enjoining Defendants and any others acting by, for, or in concert with them, including but not limited to their officers, agents, servants, employees, and attorneys, and those persons in active concert or participation with them who receive notice of the order by personal service or otherwise, from either directly or indirectly: spending, dispersing, using, encumbering, transferring, or alienating those funds and assets.

8.16. Plaintiffs further seeks a receivership over the funds and assets and the entities holding the funds and assets, whereupon the temporary injunctive relief sought here may properly expire because the assets will then be under the control of a receiver answering to this Court.

8.17. Plaintiffs is willing to post a bond in an amount directed by the Court.

VIII. PRAYER FOR RELIEF

Plaintiffs respectfully request that this Court:

A. Appoint a receiver to take possession and control of all assets, properties, and operations of DFW Charitable Foundation and CDMCFAD, LLC;

B. Enjoin Defendants from further disposing of, transferring, encumbering, or dissipating any Charitable DAF Fund and DAF HoldCo assets;

C. Require the reversal of the dilution scheme and unauthorized asset transfers;

D. Impose a constructive trust over the res of DAF HoldCo, CDMCFAD, LLC and the Charitable DAF Fund wrongfully taken from the Plaintiffs;

E. Award actual damages in an amount to be proven at trial;

F. Award exemplary damages as permitted by law;

G. Award attorneys' fees and costs;

H. Grant such other and further relief as the Court deems just and proper.

Respectfully submitted,

Paul Murphy

Independent Director

Charitable DAF Holdco, Ltd.

4th December 2024

Introduction

This discussion is intended to give beneficiaries of Charitable DAF Holdco, Ltd ("DAF") an insight into the leadership and governance of the charity since the appointment of Mark Patrick and Paul Murphy as directors in 2021.

We will discuss:

- Legacy issues the DAF faced.
- Resolution of those issues since 2021.
- Future of the DAF

Whilst we welcome an open dialogue, there are certain matters that are confidential to the DAF and we mean no discourtesy to the foundations by refusing to provide information on certain issues.

Legacy Issues (pre-2021)

Grant Scott was the sole managing member and director of the DAF from its incorporation in 2012.

Mark Patrick was transferred the management shares in 2021 and appointed as a director immediately after.

Mr. Patrick identified a number of issues facing the DAF:

- Fund transfers to Mr. Dondero's affiliates for services that were not performed:
  - Tall Pines transaction in HCM LP Ch. 11 (19-34054-sgj11) (US. Bankruptcy N.D. TX.).
  - US$1m to Issac Leventon, Scott Ellington and others.
- Mr. Scott authorizing the DAF to commence actions against Josh Terry and affiliated entities to bolster claims brought by Mr. Dondero.
- Improper payment of US$300,000 from Mr. Terry to DAF at Mr. Scott's direction.

Legacy Issues (pre-2021)

Mr. Patrick was aware that serious allegations had been brought against the DAF that it was Mr. Dondero's "alter ego" and entities, including the DAF, were used as "lifeboats" to defeat creditor claims:

- Bankruptcy proceedings in Texas District Court (Case no: 3:21-cv-00880-X, 00881-X, 01010-X. 01378-X and 01379-X).
- UBS proceedings in New York Supreme Court (Index No: 650744/2023).

These claims, if successful, could potentially result in all of the DAF's assets being paid to the Trustee in Bankruptcy for distribution to creditors and/or UBS.

Legacy Issues (pre-2021)

Finally, upon investigation, it was evident that:

- There were no independent directors or advisors to the DAF.
- There was a lack of corporate governance.
- Investments had been made with Nexpoint Advisors, Mr. Dondero's investment manager, that were not reflective of market standards, were not risk adjusted, generated below market returns and, in some cases, seemed to "shore up" failing or illiquid investments. This includes purchasing Midwave debt under Mr. Scott's tenure which the DAF has historically extended to the equity holders in the position but to the detriment of the DAF.

In these circumstances, and with particular regard to the allegations made in bankruptcy proceedings and by UBS, it was clear that the DAF had to impose policies and procedures to mitigate these allegations, protect the DAF's assets and generate risk adjusted returns to ensure the foundations would continue to receive distributions into the future.

Resolution of Legacy Issues

Since becoming managing member and a director, Mr. Patrick has:

- Appointed Paul Murphy as an independent director. Mr. Murphy:
  - was called to the Bar of England and Wales in 2004 and Cayman Bar in 2012.
  - practiced as a litigation, insolvency and restructuring attorney handling cases predominantly with connections to the USA. He was a "recommended attorney" in the Legal 500 in 2017.
  - Since 2018, has worked as an independent director and been general counsel for a BNY Mellon backed US reinsurance company with a focus on asset management strategies.
- Brought in third-party law firms and valuation experts to negotiate deal terms, substantially improving DAF's investment protections and overall returns.

Resolution of Legacy Issues

Both Mr. Patrick and Mr. Murphy, since their appointment as directors, have:

- Adopted institutional grade investment committee guidelines.
- Formed an investment committee to advise on investments with best-in-class mangers including the former head of Harvard's fixed income portfolio.
- Adopted a mission statement.
- Terminated Skyview Group's servicing contract (a Scott Ellington owned and controlled entity) saving the DAF US$1m p.a. in servicing fees and creating distance from existing litigation.
- Overseen the dismissal of the UBS action in New York supreme court (the only defendant to have defeated UBS' allegations).

Issues Currently Facing the DAF

In addition to the pre-2021 issues, the DAF has several threats to its charitable mission and assets:

- Nov 2023, Mr. Dondero demanded that the DAF pay $1.5m for services from Skyview Group to Sentinel Reinsurance Ltd. (both Mr. Dondero affiliated entities). These services were not requested by the DAF and it received no benefit from them. Upon advice of counsel no payment was made.
- Upon Mr. Patrick's resignation from Skyview in 2023, there are various facts which suggest Mr. Dondero is attempting to impose his will on the DAF including:
  - Using the participating shareholders to exercise leverage over the DAF including sending "lack of confidence" correspondence to Mr. Murphy (although not received directly by Mr. Murphy).
  - Aggressive communication with Mr. Patrick.
  - Small Bay II, an investment managed by Nexpoint Advisors, has withheld payment of $8.25m.

Future of the DAF

It is Mr. Patrick and Mr. Murphy's intention to:

- Wind down any lawsuits which were encouraged by or caused by an affiliation with Mr. Dondero.
- Rebalance the DAF's investment portfolio over the next three years to maximize returns for DAF and its shareholders.
- Continue to work to prevent future litigation and protect DAF and its shareholders.
- Build on the existing corporate governance to ensure the DAF's assets generate attractive but risk adjusted yields to maximize distributions to its shareholders.

Subject: DAF--proposed reorganization

CAUTION: This email originated from outside of the organization.

Brian,

In accordance with our conversation this morning with Mark Patrick, here are my initial thoughts regarding the U.S. tax issues that merit a reorganization of Charitable DAF Holco, Ltd. ("DAF"). It is my understanding that DAF currently has four (4) non-voting participating shareholders/supporting organizations, each of which is an IRC Section 501(c)(3) organization (per filings with the IRS) and controlled, directly or indirectly, by James Dondero ("Dondero"). You have detailed instances in which you believe Dondero has acted in ways that create a per se conflict of interest between him and each of the participating shareholders that he controls, as well as DAF. For example, it is my understanding that as recently as November, 2023, Dondero requested the current manager of DAF to transfer approximately $1,000,000 to Sentinel Reinsurance, Ltd. (a Dondero-controlled entity) in payment of legal fees unrelated to DAF or its charitable purposes. It is my further understanding that Grant Scott, the prior manager of DAF and a college friend of Dondero, had a history of using DAF funds to benefit Dondero personally. While the current manager has been acting independently of Dondero and those under Dondero's influence and/or control, this pattern of Dondero's using DAF as his personal "piggy bank" has caused the perception among many of Dondero's creditors that DAF has been or is as his financial alter ego. As such, DAF runs an increased risk of being embroiled in litigation directed against Dondero and his entities.

To the extent that the participating shareholders/supporting organizations have either encouraged or acquiesced in Dondero's accessing DAF funds for his personal benefit, either directly or through the entities that he controls or in which he has considerable financial interest, those organizations run the risk of losing their tax-exempt status with the IRS. Each IRC Section 501(c)(3) organization must be organized and operating primarily for charitable purposes. Treas. Reg. Section 1.501(c)(3)-1(c)(1) provides that an organization will not be compliant with the operational test "if more than an insubstantial part of its activities is not in furtherance of an exempt purpose." Additionally, an IRC Section 501(c)(3) organization cannot be operated for the benefit of an individual or entity—private benefit/private inurement prohibition.

Given what has been detailed about Dondero's past and continued actions with the participating shareholders/supporting organizations and DAF, there is a heightened risk that the IRS could revoke the tax-exempt status of one or more of said participating shareholders/supporting organizations, which could imperil the status and assets of DAF. To help insulate DAF from any such exposure and to facilitate and expand its charitable purposes, DAF is considering a two-prong restructure/reorganization that will bring in additional participating shareholders and create a Delaware blocking LLC. Clearly, expanding the number of shareholders of DAF will dilute the influence of Dondero and the entities controlled by him and, as such, will broaden the charitable scope of DAF for the benefit of the public. The IRS will look favorably upon any and all attempts for DAF to maintain its independence from what seems to be persistent attempts by Dondero and the entities controlled by him to use DAF for his private benefit and private inurement.

CAUSE NO. _____

THE HIGHLAND DALLAS FOUNDATION, INC., THE HIGHLAND KANSAS CITY FOUNDATION, INC., and THE HIGHLAND SANTA BARBARA FOUNDATION, INC.,, Plaintiffs, v. MARK PATRICK and DFW CHARITABLE FOUNDATION, CDMCFAD, LLC, CHARITABLE DAF GP, LLC and CDH GP, Ltd., Defendants.	IN THE TEXAS BUSINESS COURT 1ST DIVISION DALLAS, TEXAS

TEMPORARY RESTRAINING ORDER AND ORDER SETTING HEARING FOR TEMPORARY INJUNCTION

After considering the application for temporary restraining order filed by The Highland Dallas Foundation, Inc., The Highland Kansas City Foundation, Inc., and The Highland Santa Barbara Foundation, Inc., (collectively, the "Plaintiffs"), Plaintiff's Original Petition, Application for Temporary Restraining Order and Temporary Injunction, and Emergency Application for Appointment of Receiver (the "Petition"), the Affidavit of Julie Diaz in support of the injunctive relief sought in the Petition (the "Affidavit"), and statements of counsel, the Court finds there is evidence that harm is imminent to Plaintiffs, and if the Court does not issue the temporary restraining order, Plaintiffs will be irreparably injured because they will be denied their rights to realize the full value of the assets that were held in the Charitable DAF Fund, L.P. (the "Charitable DAF Fund") expressly held for the Plaintiffs' as indirect charitable owners if Defendants transfer, conceal, encumber or endanger those assets or liquidate or modify the governance or ownership of Charitable DAF Fund or any of its affiliates or subsidiaries, or the DFW Charitable Foundation, or any of its affiliates or subsidiaries, CDMCFAD, LLC, or any of its affiliates or subsidiaries, Charitable DAF GP, LLC, or any of its affiliates or subsidiaries, and CDH GP, Ltd. or any of its affiliates or subsidiaries (collectively the "Covered Entities") and that the injury to Plaintiffs will be irreparable because of the inability to recover the assets coupled with the likely insolvency of Defendants.

Therefore, by this order, the Court:

(a) restrains, enjoins, and prohibits Defendants and Defendants' respective agents, servants, employees, representatives, and all other persons acting under the aegis of, in concert with, or for Defendants, from transferring, concealing, withdrawing, alienating, expending, dispersing, or otherwise disposing of any and all funds, assets, receivables, or shares ever held by the Covered Entities, regardless of where they are presently held;

(b) restrains, enjoins, and prohibits Defendants and Defendants' respective agents, servants, employees, representatives, and all other persons acting under the aegis of, in concert with, or for Defendants, from taking any action to dissolve, winddown, liquidate, or otherwise alter the corporate standing of Covered Entities;

(c) restrains, enjoins, and prohibits Defendants and Defendants' respective agents, servants, employees, representatives, and all other persons acting under the aegis of, in concert with, or for Defendants, from taking any action to modify or alter the corporate governance of the Covered Entities, including but not limited to any amendment to their respective bylaws or organizational documents;

(d) restrains, enjoins, and prohibits Defendants and Defendants' respective agents, servants, employees, representatives, and all other persons acting under the aegis of, in concert with, or for Defendants, from taking any action to modify or alter the current ownership of the Covered Entities, including but not limited to the admission of new shareholders, partners, members, or other equity interest holders or the transfer of any shares, partnership interests, member interests, or other equity interests to any other party;

(e) restrains, enjoins, and prohibits Defendants and Defendants' respective agents, servants, employees, representatives, and all other persons acting under the aegis of, in concert with, or for Defendants, from altering, concealing, or destroying any business records concerning the Defendants, including any transfers of funds, assets, receivables, or shares to the Defendants;

(f) restrains, enjoins, and prohibits Defendants and Defendants' respective agents, servants, employees, representatives, and all other persons acting under the aegis of, in concert with, or for Defendants, from exercising any control over the Covered Entities;

(g) orders the clerk to issue notice to Defendants, that the hearing on Plaintiff's application for temporary injunction is set for July ____, 2025, at _____ a.m./p.m. to determine whether this temporary restraining order should be made a temporary injunction pending a full trial on the merits; and

(h) Sets bond at $_____, which may be paid by Plaintiff with check (or by attorney or law firm check) payable to the [Dallas County District Clerk], approved and conditioned as the law requires.

Once effective, this temporary injunction shall remain in full force and effect until it expires fourteen (14) days after the date and hour of issue reflected below, unless extended by this Court or by agreement of the parties.

SO ORDERED.

(1) The "Covered Entities" as referred to herein is defined to include collectively Charitable DAF Fund, LP and/or any of its subsidiaries, the DFW Charitable Foundation and/or any of its subsidiaries, CDMCFAD, LLC and/or any of its subsidiaries, and/or any of its subsidiaries, and CDH GP, Ltd. and/or any of its subsidiaries.

DuaneMorris

in this matter (these limits shall have no effect on any discovery conducted after the Temporary Injunction is decided):

a. Plaintiffs and Defendants each (not per party) may serve 25 requests for production to the other, may serve 5 interrogatories, may serve 10 requests for admission, and may take 3 depositions (2 of which shall be limited to 3 hours, and one of which shall be limited to 6 hours, the selection of the witness for the six hour deposition to be determined by the party seeking the deposition).

b. The Parties shall serve all discovery requests no later than Wednesday, July 16, 2025.

c. Responses to the written discovery and substantial completion of related any related document production shall be served as follows: (1) if the Court denies the Plea as to any Defendant, seven business days after the Court order denying the Plea is entered; (2) if the Court grants the Plea as to all Defendants, then responses to written discovery shall not be due, if at all, until seven business days after the Court's order granting the Plea is reversed or overturned.

Depositions shall take place within seven days after the written discovery responses and documents are served as set forth in c. above.

(6) If the Court denies the Plea, the Temporary Injunction shall be heard as reasonably practicable after the ruling, unless stayed by an appellate court. If the Plea is granted, but is later reversed or overturned, the same timelines for discovery provided in (5) above shall be followed and the Parties shall then seek to expeditiously set a hearing before the Court.

b. not take any action to increase the compensation paid to any employee of the Covered Entities;

c. not to take any action to dissolve, winddown, liquidate, or otherwise alter the corporate standing of Covered Entities;

d. not to take any action to modify or alter the corporate governance of the Covered Entities, including but not limited to any amendment to their respective bylaws or organizational documents;

e. not to take any action to sell, exchange, or dispossess any asset of one of the Covered Entities unless (i) the sale is to a bona third party purchaser for reasonably equivalent value, (ii) except in the case of marketable securities, the bona fide purchaser is made aware of this Rule 11 Agreement, and (iii) the proceeds from that sale, exchange, or disposition remain owned by the Covered Entities;

f. not to alter, conceal, or destroy any business records concerning the Defendants, including any transfers of funds, assets, receivables, or shares to the Defendants;

(8) This Agreement shall be filed with the Court and, as provided in the first sentence of this letter, constitutes an enforceable agreement pursuant to Texas Rule of Civil Procedure 11. This Agreement shall expire and be of no force or effect on the earlier of (a) thirty days after a final order of the Court dismissing this case or (b) the Court's ruling on Plaintiffs' current request for a temporary injunction (or as subsequently amended). This does not prevent a party from requesting that a court of appeals issue an order to keep this Rule 11 Agreement in place during the pendency of such appeal or any objection to such request.

If the terms above accurately reflect our agreement, please acknowledge your agreement by signing below.

Best regards.

Sincerely,

Summary of the Motion 8
Factual Background 10
A. The Dondero Organizations pleaded themselves out of this Court's jurisdiction 10
B. Faced with mounting litigation losses, Dondero seeks to control the Charitable DAF to use its resources for his own ends. 11
C. Seeking to gain control of the Charitable DAF for his own purposes, Dondero manufactures allegations of wrongdoing, many of them years old. 15
D. The Dondero Organizations do not own any of the Charitable DAF entities or allege standing facts to support jurisdiction. 15
1. The Charitable DAF Fund 16
2. Charitable DAF HoldCo—the Debtor 19
3. The Current Charitable DAF Fund 22
E. This case is Dondero's latest attempt to take control over the Charitable DAF so that he can misuse its assets for his own personal benefit. 25
Legal Standards 26
Argument and Authorities 27
A. This Court does not have statutory subject matter jurisdiction. 27
1. The Dondero Organizations cannot establish subject matter jurisdiction under § 25A.004(b)(4) because they are not "owners." 27
2. This Court lacks jurisdiction under § 25A.004(b)(2) because the Dondero Organizations don't have standing to sue over the Charitable DAF's governance, governing documents, or internal affairs. 29

3. The Dondero Organizations do not have standing under § 2 5A.004(b)(5). 34

B. The Dondero Organizations do not have standing because their claims, if they had any merit, would belong solely to the Debtor. 35

Defendants Mark Patrick, DFW Charitable Foundation, CDMCFAD, LLC, Charitable DAF GP, LLC, and CDH GP, Ltd. (each a "Charitable DAF Entity," and collectively the "Charitable DAF" or "Charitable DAF Entities") ask the Court to dismiss this action because the Court lacks subject matter jurisdiction over the claims brought by Plaintiffs The Highland Dallas Foundation, Inc., The Highland Kansas City Foundation, Inc., and The Highland Santa Barbara Foundation, Inc. (all of which James Dondero swore he serves on the board of directors for—and swore that he is funding this litigation—collectively the "Dondero Organizations").

SUMMARY OF THE MOTION

This Court lacks subject matter jurisdiction over the claims asserted by the Dondero Organizations on at least two bases: (1) the claims do not fall under the Court's subject matter jurisdiction under the Government Code, and (2) the Dondero Organizations lack standing to bring these claims.

First, the Dondero Organizations' pleading demonstrates that the Government Code's jurisdictional requirements are not met. The Dondero Organizations admit they are not an owner of any Charitable DAF Entity, only that they had "participating shares" in Charitable DAF HoldCo, Ltd., a different entity in wind-up proceedings in the Cayman Islands ("Charitable DAF HoldCo" or the "Debtor"), which is not a party here. Yet they argue at the same time that their lawsuit falls under this Court's jurisdiction as (1) an action by an owner of an organization brought against that organization; (2) an action alleging the breach of a duty owed to them as owners of an organization; and (3) an action regarding the governance, governing documents, or internal affairs of an organization. It is none of those on its face.

While someone could pursue Dondero's unfounded and unmeritorious claims against the Charitable DAF, the Dondero Organizations cannot—they are not the class of litigants entitled to bring an action complaining about the governance, governing documents, or internal affairs of organizations that they do not own by their own admission. This Court lacks a statutory basis to exercise subject matter jurisdiction under the Government Code.

The Court also lacks subject matter jurisdiction because the Dondero Organizations do not have standing to bring their claims. The Dondero Organizations do not have a justiciable interest in the claims they assert because they do not have a sufficient relationship to any Charitable DAF Entity. The only entity that (a) has any relationship to any Charitable DAF Entity and (b) arguably has standing to assert the claims brought by the Dondero Organizations, are the Cayman liquidators of the non-party Debtor.[1] Accordingly, the Charitable DAF respectfully requests that the Court dismiss this suit for lack of subject matter jurisdiction.

FACTUAL BACKGROUND

A. The Dondero Organizations pleaded themselves out of this Court's jurisdiction.

The Dondero Organizations' Petition, including Dondero's attached sworn declaration, provides this Court with all it needs to find that it lacks subject matter jurisdiction over these claims between these parties.

To aid the Court's review of this jurisdictional challenge, the Charitable DAF therefore summarizes the portions of the Dondero Organizations' pleading and sworn proof that pleaded them out of this Court's jurisdiction.

[1] Even if these claims were brought by the Cayman liquidators, the Charitable DAF denies that any wrongdoing occurred.

This factual background relies only on the Dondero Organizations' Original Petition and attachments, published and unpublished court opinions and rulings, and other facts subject to judicial notice. It is organized in three sections: (1) general background of this dispute, (2) a brief statement regarding Dondero's oft-repeated, years-old and pretextual false allegations of wrongdoing, and (3) the facts that show the Dondero Organizations pleaded themselves out of this Court.

B. Faced with mounting litigation losses, Dondero seeks to control the Charitable DAF to use its resources for his own ends.

One of the most extraordinary things so far in this case is Dondero's admission in his Declaration that he alone is financing this litigation. Ex. 6 to Orig. Pet. ¶¶ 35-36, Appx. 219-210. Dondero of course claims altruistic intentions. Id.

Dondero originally set up the Charitable DAF for "efficient management" such that power over it was "concentrated in one person." Orig. Pet. ¶ 5.9. Initially Dondero put Grant Scott in place, "Dondero's long-time friend, college housemate, and best man at his wedding" who later "resigned from that role [] after apparent disagreements with Mr. Dondero." In re Highland Capital Mgmt., L.P., No. 19-34054-SGJ11, 2021 WL 3418657, at *1 (Bankr. N.D. Tex. Aug. 4, 2021), vacated and remanded sub nom. Matter of Highland Capital Mgmt., L.P., 98 F.4th 170 (5th Cir. 2024). Now the control person is Mark Patrick, who was not Dondero's long-time friend, college housemate, or best man at his wedding. Instead, Mr. Patrick is a tax attorney who Dondero swore is "well-qualified tax counsel." Orig. Pet. ¶ 5.19; see also id. Ex. 6 to Orig. Pet ¶ 34, Appx. 219.

Mark Patrick is not in sole control of the Charitable DAF—he ceded unilateral control to "a person named Paul Murphy based in the Cayman Islands …" Ex. 6 to Orig. ¶ 19, Appx. 214. So two individuals currently control the Charitable DAF. Id.

Dondero swears that Mr. Patrick "became openly hostile towards the Charities, my affiliated companies, and me." Id. ¶ 33, Appx. 219. It is true that, among other things, entities controlled by the Charitable DAF requested that entities controlled by Dondero pay substantial obligations owed to the Charitable DAF, and Dondero refused. E.g. Cause No. 25-BC01B-004; Atlas IDF, LP v. NexPoint Real Estate Partners, LLC, et al; In the Texas Business Court, First Division (where a Charitable DAF controlled entity demands payment on ~$12M demand notes; Dondero's entity and sister, as trustee of his trust, refuse to pay the Charitable DAF; and Dondero's sister cross claims against Mark Patrick and Shawn Raver).[2] Seeking payment on ~$12M demand notes—money that would further the Charitable DAF's philanthropic mission—is in no way improper. See, e.g. Matter of Highland Capital Mgmt., L.P., 116 F.4th 422, 429, 439 (5th Cir. 2024) (affirming summary judgment in favor of Highland, the payor, against Dondero and his entities, the payees, on promissory notes for "more than $60 million of unpaid principal and interest").[3]

It is also true that "communications between Mr. Patrick, Skyview, and [Dondero] began to become less frequent" as Mark Patrick and Paul Murphy sought to fortify the independence of the Charitable DAF. Ex. 6 to Orig. Pet. ¶ 20, Appx. 214. For example, NexPoint is Dondero's newest "alternate investment firm," after his former alternative investment firm, Highland Capital Management, L.P. ("Highland"), was forced to file bankruptcy. Highland Capital, 116 F.4th at 429; Ex. 6 to Orig. Pet. ¶ 3, Appx. 210-211. As Dondero notes in his Declaration, at one point "NexPoint provided, without charge, investment ideas to" the Charitable DAF. Ex. 6 to Orig. Pet. ¶ 20, Appx. 214. In the best interests of the Charitable DAF, the Charitable DAF no longer accepts Dondero's "investment ideas," i.e. investing in Dondero's deals. Ex. 6 to Orig. Pet. ¶ 20, Appx. 214. In addition, Mark Patrick resigned from his position at Skyview, "a service organization that provided support primarily to Mr. Dondero and entities in which Mr. Dondero had an interest." Orig. Pet. ¶ 5.21; see also In re Highland Capital Mgmt., L.P., No. 19-34054-SGJ11, 2022 WL 3959550, at *16 (Bankr. N.D. Tex. Aug. 30, 2022) ("Skyview being owned and operated by individuals previously employed by Highland"). Mark Patrick had no legal obligation to work for Dondero's companies, or to accept their services on behalf of the Charitable DAF, or to have the Charitable DAF make investments in Dondero's self-interested transactions, i.e. his "investment ideas." Ex. 6 to Orig. Pet. ¶ 20, Appx. 214.

[2] Atlas is not owned by the Charitable DAF. A Charitable DAF Subsidiary is the investment manager of Atlas.

[3] In addition to the $60 million notes judgment against him and his entities affirmed by the Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals, and the bankruptcies of Highland and Acis Capital Management, Dondero also faces an action in New York State Court by UBS AG for over $1 billion. Index No. 650744/2023; UBS Securities LLC v. Dondero et al, In the Supreme Court of the State of New York, New York County; https://news.bloomberglaw.com/banking-law/ubs-sues-highlands-dondero-over-1-billion-it-won-in-long-fight.

C. Seeking to gain control of the Charitable DAF for his own purposes, Dondero manufactures allegations of wrongdoing, many of them years old.

For purposes of this Motion, the Court is to "construe the plaintiff's pleadings liberally, taking all factual assertions as true …" Heckman v. Williamson Cnty., 369 S.W.3d 137, 150 (Tex. 2012). Thus the Charitable DAF will not address here the Dondero Organizations' false allegations regarding Mark Patrick. Orig. Pet. ¶¶ 6.1-6.27.

However, as the Dondero Organizations are aware—because they are a party to the proceeding—Mark Patrick refuted in detail and under oath these false allegations in the Cayman proceeding for the Debtor on June 4, 2025. Notably, the other independent director, Paul Murphy, continues to serve the Charitable DAF alongside Mr. Patrick. Ex. 6 to Orig. Pet. ¶ 19, Appx. 214.

D. The Dondero Organizations do not own any of the Charitable DAF entities or allege standing facts to support jurisdiction.

The following sections demonstrate each instance where the Dondero Organizations admit they have no ownership interest in any of the Charitable DAF Entities they sued in Business Court, or where the evidence attached to the Petition rebuts their allegations, such that they cannot rely on the Business Court jurisdictional Sections 25A.004(b)(2), (b)(4), or (b)(5) of the Government Code.

1. The Charitable DAF Fund

The Dondero Organizations correctly identify that $270 million in allegedly "stolen" assets are held by non-party Charitable DAF Fund, L.P. ("The Charitable DAF Fund"). Orig. Pet. ¶ 5.2. But as shown in more detail in the chart below, the only direct ownership interests any of the Dondero Organizations ever held were "Participating Shares" in non-party Charitable DAF HoldCo, Ltd. (the Debtor), which was the limited partner of the Charitable DAF Fund. Id. ¶ 5.3; see also Ex. 2-A to Orig. Pet., Appx. 49.[4]

Pls.' Allegation	Evidence
"Non-Party] Charitable DAF Fund, L.P. ("Charitable DAF Fund") was formed to hold donated assets." (Orig. Pet. ¶ 5.2) "The Charitable DAF Fund primarily holds assets through a [non-party] wholly owned subsidiary called CLO HoldCo, Ltd. ("CLO HoldCo")." (¶ 5.3)	The Dondero Organizations do not allege that they have a direct ownership interest in the Charitable DAF Fund itself. See generally Orig. Pet.

[4] The Dondero Organizations expressly state that they had no ownership interest in the general partner of Charitable DAF Fund, Defendant Charitable DAF Fund GP, LLC. Orig. Pet. §§ 1.2, 3.8, 5.11.

Pls.' Allegation	Evidence
"At the same time the Charitable DAF Fund was created, [non-party] Charitable DAF HoldCo, Ltd ("Charitable DAF HoldCo"),[5] a Cayman Island entity, was also organized. Charitable DAF HoldCo held all of the economic interest in the Charitable DAF Fund. In other words, Charitable DAF HoldCo was the beneficial owner of all monies flowing from the assets held in the Charitable DAF Fund." (¶ 5.4)	Charitable DAF HoldCo was the limited partner of the Charitable DAF Fund. (Ex. 2-A, Appx. 49). In other words, the Dondero Organizations held "Participating Shares" (described more fully below) in the former limited partner of the Charitable DAF Fund.
"Participating shares in Charitable DAF HoldCo were therefore issued to four Supporting Organizations,[6] which were the ultimate beneficial owners of the assets held in the Charitable DAF Fund. Together, the four Supporting Organizations owned 100% of Charitable DAF HoldCo." (¶ 5.5)	The only "economic interest" Charitable DAF HoldCo possessed in the Charitable DAF Fund was to discretionary distributions—"Distributions shall be made to the Limited Partner at the times, in a manner (including in kind) and in the aggregate amounts determined by the General Partner[.]" (Id. ¶ 4.2(a), Appx. 58)
"Control over the Charitable DAF Fund was reposited in the Control Position through its complete ownership of a Delaware entity named Charitable DAF GP, LLC (the 'Delaware GP'). The Delaware	As the former limited partner in the Charitable DAF Fund, Charitable DAF Holdco was prohibited from participating in the "management of or have any control over [Charitable DAF

[5] Defendants also define Charitable DAF HoldCo as the Debtor, but the Charitable DAF Entities use "Charitable DAF HoldCo" in the charts because that is how the Dondero Organizations refer to it in the Original Petition.

[6] The "Supporting Organizations" are defined as Plaintiffs The Highland Dallas Foundation, Inc., The Highland Kansas City Foundation, Inc., and The Highland Santa Barbara Foundation, Inc. Orig. Pet. at 1.

Pls.' Allegation	Evidence
GP was the managing general partner in the Charitable DAF Fund." (¶ 5.11)	Fund]'s business nor shall the Limited Partners have the power to represent, act for, sign for or bind the General Partner or the Partnership." (Id. ¶ 1.6(b), Appx. 51) Charitable DAF HoldCo expressly "consent[ed] to the exercise by the General Partner of the Powers conferred on it by this Agreement." (Id.) Beyond that consent, Charitable DAF HoldCo had no voting or consent rights, or rights to information, related to the management of Charitable DAF Fund. (See generally id.)

Based on the Dondero Organizations' own pleadings and evidence, the Dondero Organizations held "Participating Shares" (the limited nature of which is described in Section B below) in the limited partner of the Charitable DAF Fund. In essence, the Dondero Organizations were a limited partner of a limited partner of the Charitable DAF Fund. And Charitable DAF HoldCo, as the former limited partner in the Charitable DAF Fund, was only entitled to discretionary distributions from Charitable DAF Fund, determined by the General Partner in its sole discretion.

2. Charitable DAF HoldCo—the Debtor

Based on the pleadings and evidence presented by the Dondero Organizations themselves, their so-called "Participating Shares" in a non-party—the Debtor currently in wind-up proceedings in the Cayman Islands—entitled them to discretionary dividends determined by the Control Position of the Debtor in their sole discretion. And their continued participation in the Debtor was far from guaranteed.

Pls.' Allegations	Evidence
"[M]anagement control of the Charitable DAF Fund and Charitable DAF HoldCo was vested not with those [Supporting] Organizations but rather in 'Management Shares,' with general partner status. These 'Management Shares' provided the only voting rights for any and all shareholders in Charitable DAF HoldCo. But they did not convey a right to any economic benefit of the assets in the Charitable DAF Fund, which belonged solely to the Supporting Organizations." (¶ 5.8)	Management Shares are defined as "a voting non participating share in the capital of [Charitable DAF HoldCo][.]" (Ex. 2-B at Appx. 71). Management Shares "carry the right to receive notice of and to attend, to speak at and to vote at any general meeting of the Company." (Id. ¶ 11) "Participating Shares" are defined as "a non-voting, participating, non-redeemable share in the capital of [Charitable DAF HoldCo][.]" (Id. at Appx. 72). Participating Shares "shall confer upon a Shareholder no right to receive notice of, to attend, to speak at nor to vote at general meetings of the Company but shall confer upon the Shareholders rights in a winding-

	up or repayment of capital and the right to participate in the profits or assets of the Company in accordance with these Articles." (Id. ¶ 19)
"So, the 'Management Shares' exercised control over the assets and over the operations of the Charitable DAF HoldCo, even though they conveyed no economic benefit. [T]he Management Shares and general partner status in the Charitable DAF Fund were concentrated in one person, the 'Control Position.'" (¶ 5.9, see also ¶ 5.10)	The Director(s) of Charitable DAF HoldCo had considerable power: "[T]he Directors may from time to time declare dividends (including interim dividends) and other distributions on Shares in issue and authorize payment of the same out of the funds of the Company lawfully available therefor." (Id. ¶ 108) "[A]ll dividends shall be declared and paid in such amounts as may be declared by the Director's in their sole and absolute discretion without a requirement to pay such dividends on a pro-rata basis as to the paid-up or par value of the Shares." (Id. ¶ 113) There is no restriction on the dilution of any shares, including Participating Shares, in Charitable DAF Holdco, nor did the Dondero Organizations have any right to notice or input on any dilutive event:

Pls.' Allegations	Evidence
	• "[T]he Company shall have power to redeem or purchase any of its shares and to sub-divide or consolidate the said shares or any of them[.]" (Id. ¶ 7_ • "[A]ll Shares for the time being unissued shall be under the control of the Directors who may: issue, allot and dispose of the same to such Persons, in such manner, on such terms and having such rights and being subject to such restrictions as they may from time to time determine." (Id. ¶ 7(a)) • "The rights conferred upon the holders of the Participating Shares of any Class issued with preferred or other rights shall not . . . be deemed to be materially adversely varied or abrogated by, inter alia, the creation, allotment or issue of further Participating Shares ranking pari passu with or subsequent to them or the redemption or purchase of any Participating Shares of any Class by the Company." (Id. ¶ 21)

Pls.' Allegations	Evidence
	The Dondero Organizations had no information rights—"[N]o Shareholder (not being a Director) shall have any right of inspecting any account or book or document of the Company except as conferred by law or authorized by the Directors or by Ordinary Resolution." (Id. ¶ 118.)

Thus, the Dondero Organizations' so-called "Participating Shares" in the non-party Debtor entitled them to very little except for discretionary dividends determined by the Control Position of Debtor in their sole discretion. And Debtor, in turn, was only entitled to discretionary distributions from Charitable DAF Fund as determined by the General Partner in its sole discretion.

3. The Current Charitable DAF Fund

James Dondero and Julie Diaz's declarations are riddled with mischaracterizations and mistruths regarding the alleged "dilution scheme and liquidation maneuver" vetted by a bevy of outside counsel and advisors by which the Charitable DAF was restructured beginning in December 2024.[7] The Charitable DAF denies it committed any wrongdoing in connection with the restructure. As noted above, the Dondero Organizations, as Participating Shareholders only in the Debtor, had no right to vote on these transactions, nor did they have any right to any information or notice about them. See supra § B. Furthermore, the Participating Shares are subject to express dilution and liquidation rights, which the Dondero Organizations conveniently ignore:

> 21. The rights conferred upon the holders of the Participating Shares of any Class issued with preferred or other rights shall not, subject to any rights or restrictions for the time being attached to the Participating Shares of that Class, be deemed to be materially adversely varied or abrogated by, inter alia, the creation, allotment or issue of further Participating Shares ranking pari passu with or subsequent to them or the redemption or purchase of any Participating Shares of any Class by the Company.

See Ex. 2-B to Orig. Pet. § 21, Appx. 76.

> 80. Subject to the Law, these Articles and to any resolutions passed in a general meeting, the business of the Company shall be managed by the Directors, who may pay all expenses incurred in setting up and registering the Company and may exercise all powers of the Company. No resolution passed by the Company in general meeting shall invalidate any prior act of the Directors that would have been valid if that resolution had not been passed.

Id. § 80, Appx. 83.

[7] For purposes of this Motion, the Charitable DAF will not address the Dondero Organizations' false allegations regarding Mark Patrick's actions, all of which were done in the best interests of the Charitable DAF, and specifically to uphold its charitable purpose.

WINDING UP

130. If the Company shall be wound up the liquidator shall apply the assets of the Company in such manner and order as he thinks fit in satisfaction of creditors' claims.

131. Subject to any rights and restrictions for the time being attributed to any Class or Series, the assets available for distribution among the Shareholders shall then be applied in the following priority:

(a) first, in the payment to the holders of Participating Shares and Management Shares, pari passu, of a sum equal to the par value of the Participating Shares or Management Shares held by them; and

(b) second, in the payment of any balance to holders of Participating Shares, such payment being made in proportion to the number Participating Shares of the relevant Class and Series held.

132. If the Company shall be wound up, the liquidator may, with the sanction of an Ordinary Resolution divide amongst the Participating Shareholders in specie or kind the whole or any part of the assets of the Company (whether they shall consist of property of the same kind or not) and may, for such purpose set such value as he deems fair upon any property to be divided as aforesaid and may determine how such division shall be carried out as between the Participating Shareholders or different Classes. The liquidator may, with the like sanction, vest the whole or any part of such

Id. § 132, Appx. 91.

But even so, what is clear from the Dondero Organizations' allegations is they do not own any interest in any Charitable DAF Entity. The Dondero Organizations repeatedly disclaim ownership in any Charitable DAF Entity:[8]

- "The purpose and result of Patrick's moves was to entirely eliminate the Supporting Organization's ownership of the Charitable DAF Fund assets." Orig. Pet. § 5.41.

- "In December 2024, Patrick formed new entities (as described below) with Patrick as the sole director. He then replaced the current entities holding and controlling the Charitable DAF Fund with his own entities, essentially transferring all ownership and control to himself[.]" Id. § 5.42.

[8] While the Dondero Organizations bring claims against CDH GP, Ltd., there are no real factual allegations contained in their Petition about this Charitable DAF Entity. See generally id. But they do allege that they have no ownership interest in CDH. Id. § 3.7; Ex. 1-C.

- "Patrick formed Defendant DFWCF [], a Delaware non-profit corporation. Patrick named himself [DFWCF's] sole member[.]" Id. § 5.43; see also id. § 3.4 and Ex. 1-A.

- "On April 2, 2025, Patrick caused Charitable DAF HoldCo to redeem its interests in CDMCFAD for a total payment of $1.6 million. . . . As a result . . . Defendant DFWCF, was the sole limited partner and beneficial owner of Charitable DAF Fund, through its now-100% ownership of CDMCFAD, and CDMCFAD's 100% ownership of the fund." Id. § 5.49 (emphasis added).

Thus, nothing in the 71 paragraphs of factual allegations in the Petition changes the fact that the Dondero Organizations have only ever owned one thing—Participating Shares (with extremely limited rights) in the Debtor, which is not a party to this suit and is currently in wind-up proceedings in the Cayman Islands.

E. This case is Dondero's latest attempt to take control over the Charitable DAF so that he can misuse its assets for his own personal benefit.

Dondero admits he is personally financing this litigation and that he sits on the board of his Organizations. Ex. 6 to Orig. Pet. ¶¶ 35-36, Appx. 219-210. He controls this litigation.

LEGAL STANDARDS

When subject matter jurisdiction is in question, the trial court must determine at its earliest opportunity whether it has jurisdiction before allowing the litigation to proceed. Tex. Dept. of Parks and Wildlife v. Miranda, 133 S.W.3d 217, 226 (Tex. 2004). "To establish subject matter jurisdiction, a plaintiff must allege facts that affirmatively demonstrate the court's jurisdiction to hear the claim." Town of Shady Shores v. Swanson, 590 S.W.3d 544, 550 (Tex. 2019).

When a plea to the jurisdiction is based on the pleadings, the trial court must determine if the plaintiffs have alleged facts that affirmatively demonstrate the court's jurisdiction to hear the cause. Tex. Ass'n of Bus. v. Tex. Air Control Bd., 852 S.W.2d 440, 446 (Tex. 1993). "If the pleadings do not affirmatively demonstrate incurable defects in jurisdiction, the issue is one of pleading sufficiency, and the plaintiffs should be afforded the opportunity to amend." Miranda, 133 S.W.3d at 226-27. However, if as here "the pleadings affirmatively negate the existence of jurisdiction, then a plea to the jurisdiction may be granted without allowing the plaintiffs an opportunity to amend." Id. at 227.[9]

[9] The Court may consider evidence that the Dondero Organizations attached to their Original Petition. Bland Indep. School Dist. v. Blue, 34 S.W.3d 547, 555 (Tex. 2000).

ARGUMENT AND AUTHORITIES

A. This Court does not have statutory subject matter jurisdiction.

The Dondero Organizations allege this Court has jurisdiction under Government Code § 25A.004(b)(2), (b)(4), and (b)(5). Orig. Pet. ¶ 4.1. But they cannot establish subject matter jurisdiction under any of these subdivisions based on their own pleading. They admit they are not owners of any Charitable DAF Entity, precluding jurisdiction under § 25A.004(b)(4). And as non-owners, they do not have a valid cause of action, and thus cannot invoke jurisdiction, under § 25A.004(b)(2). And the Dondero Organizations failed to sufficiently plead derivative standing to invoke jurisdiction under § 25A.004(b)(5).

1. The Dondero Organizations cannot establish subject matter jurisdiction under § 25A.004(b)(4) because they are not "owners."

Under § 25A.004(b)(4), the Business Court has jurisdiction over "an action by an organization, or an owner of an organization, if the action: (A) is brought against an owner, controlling person, or managerial official of the organization; and (B) alleges an act or omission by the person in the person's capacity as an owner, controlling person, or managerial official of the organization." TEX. GOV'T CODE § 25A.004(b)(4) (emphasis added).

An "owner" is defined as "an owner of an organization" and includes: "(A) a shareholder or stockholder of a corporation or other organization; (B) a general or limited partner of a partnership or an assignee of a partnership interest in a partnership; (C) a member of, or an assignee of a membership interest in, a limited liability company; and (D) a member of a nonprofit organization." TEX. GOV'T CODE § 25A.001(11).

The Dondero Organizations do not fit this definition. The Dondero Organizations name DFW Charitable Foundation, CDMCFAD, LLC, Charitable DAF GP, LLC, and CDH GP, Ltd. as Defendants. But the Dondero Organizations' pleadings show they are not "owners" of any of these entities. According to the Original Petition, DFW Charitable Foundation's "sole member" is Mark Patrick. Orig. Pet. ¶ 3.4. CDMCFAD, LLC is "100% own[ed]" by DFW Charitable Foundation. Id. ¶ 5.49. Charitable DAF GP, LLC, before its dissolution, was owned by Mark Patrick as its sole managing member. Id. ¶ 5.11. And CDH GP, Ltd.'s "100% owner and sole director" is Mark Patrick. Id. ¶ 3.7. Thus, § 25A.004(b)(4) does not apply because the Dondero Organizations are not owners, controlling persons,[10] or managerial officials of any Charitable DAF Entity.

Because the Dondero Organizations pleaded they are not "owners" of each of the four Charitable DAF Entities—as that term is defined in the statute—they pleaded themselves out of this Court's jurisdiction under § 25A.004(b)(4).

2. This Court lacks jurisdiction under § 25A.004(b)(2) because the Dondero Organizations don't have standing to sue over the Charitable DAF's governance, governing documents, or internal affairs.

Under § 25A.004(b)(2), the Business Court has jurisdiction over an "action regarding the governance, governing documents, or internal affairs of an organization." TEX GOV'T CODE § 25A.004(b)(2). This ground fails because the Dondero Organizations do not have § 25A.004(b)(2) standing to maintain a cause of action regarding the Charitable DAF's governance, governing documents, or internal affairs.

[10] The Dondero Organizations affirmatively plead that "management control of the Charitable DAF Fund and Charitable DAF HoldCo was vested not with [the Dondero Organizations] but rather in 'Management Shares,'" which "provided the only voting rights for any and all shareholders in Charitable DAF HoldCo." Orig. Pet. ¶ 5.8. So even to the extent the Dondero Organizations may attempt to argue some version of "they have indirect control over the Charitable DAF Entities through the non-party Charitable DAF HoldCo" could confer jurisdiction under these sections, the Dondero Organizations have pleaded out of such jurisdiction.

As discussed above, the Dondero Organizations are not owners of any of the Charitable DAF Entities. Instead, the Dondero Organizations were the limited partner of a non-party limited partner (the Debtor—Charitable DAF HoldCo) of the Charitable DAF Fund, originally set up by Dondero in 2011, that received discretionary distributions to be used for charitable donations. Orig. Pet. ¶¶ 5.1-5.6. Charitable donations, of course, receive favorable tax treatment ultimately benefiting Dondero. E.g. 26 U.S.C.A. § 170(a)(1).

Yet the Dondero Organizations now claim this Court has jurisdiction by complaining about the governance, governing documents, or internal affairs of distinct legal entities—the Charitable DAF Entities. Genssler v. Harris Cnty., 584 S.W.3d 1, 8 (Tex. App.—Houston [1st Dist.] 2010, no pet.) ("Generally, a business entity exists as a separate legal entity . . ."). But a person does not have a cause of action to complain about the internal affairs of distinct entities in which it has no interest. That's the gist of the Dondero Organizations' argument—that they can somehow complain in this Court about the governance, governing documents, or internal affairs of a stranger. No such cause of action exists now, nor was one created by Government Code § 25A.004. The Dondero Organizations essentially ask this Court to read such a cause of action into the Government Code. The Court cannot.

Standing to sue may be predicated on either statutory or common law. Bickham v. Dallas County, 612 S.W.3d 663, 669 (Tex. App.—Dallas 2020, pet. denied). "The legislature may grant private standing to bring [an] action[], but it must do so clearly." Id. Courts "apply a strict rule of construction to statutory enforcement schemes and imply causes of action only when the drafter's intent is clearly expressed from the language written." Id. (citation modified).

Texas courts are hesitant to read a cause of action into a statute if one is not explicitly created. See Ritchie v. Rupe, 443 S.W.3d 856, 875 (Tex. 2014) (refusing to read a cause of action for certain remedies into a statute where such a remedy was not explicitly specified). In line with this hesitation, courts regularly reason that jurisdictional statutes do not create causes of action. See e.g., Williams v. Stevens, No. 05-22-00440-CV, 2023 WL 5621835 at *5 (Tex. App.—Dallas Aug. 31, 2023, no pet.) (noting that a "jurisdictional statute establishing that district courts shall have original jurisdiction of civil actions … does not create a cause of action"); In re Estate of Devitt, 758 S.W.2d 601, 607 (Tex. App.—Amarillo 1988, writ denied) (reasoning that a statute providing the appropriate court with jurisdiction to hear a will contest does not create a cause of action for a will contest).

Here the jurisdictional statute provides the Business Court with "civil jurisdiction concurrent with district courts" over a limited list of actions. TEX. GOV'T CODE § 25A.004(b). In other words, it provides that the Business Court is an appropriate forum to litigate certain existing causes of action. The jurisdictional statute does not provide a source of duty or otherwise create causes of action. Instead, it simply delineates what falls within the Business Court's limited jurisdiction.

"Without a breach of a legal right belonging to the plaintiff, no cause of action can accrue to his benefit." JSFN, LLC. V. SJ Properties, LLC, No. 10-16-00362-cv, 2018 WL 1867105 at *2 (Tex. App.—Waco Apr. 18, 2018, no pet.) (citing Nobles v. Marcus, 533 S.W.2d 923, 927 (Tex. 1976)). Plenty of existing causes of action can be maintained in the Business Court under § 25A.004(b)(2). An action by Dondero's Organizations complaining that wholly separate and distinct entities are not being run the way Dondero wishes is not one of them.

Under the Dondero Organizations' interpretation of § 25A.004(b)(2), any stranger to an entity who does not agree with a decision of that entity can challenge that entity's governance, governing documents, or internal affairs. The consequence of such an interpretation would be chaos. Exxon could file suit in this Court against Chevron because its CEO declined to do business with Exxon, under the auspices that Exxon disagreed with the corporate governance decisions and governing documents of Chevron. Such an absurd result was not the legislature's intent when it drafted the Business Court's limited jurisdiction. See Jose Carreras, M.D., P.A. v. Marroquin, 339 S.W.3d 68, 73 (Tex. 2011) ("We also interpret statutes to avoid an absurd result"). Because the Dondero Organizations do not have standing to bring a claim that invokes § 25A.004(b)(2) (and because the provision itself does not create a private right of action that would trigger this Court's jurisdiction), § 25A.004(b)(2) does not confer subject matter jurisdiction over this lawsuit. See Bickham, 612 S.W.3d at 670.

3. The Dondero Organizations do not have standing under § 25A.004(b)(5).

The Dondero Organizations allege that the Court has jurisdiction under § 25A.004(b)(5)—"an action alleging that an owner, controlling person, or managerial official breached a duty owed to an organization or an owner of an organization by reason of the person's status as an owner, controlling person, or managerial official, including the breach of a duty of loyalty or good faith." Id. § 25A.004(b)(5). But the Dondero Organizations: (1) do not state anywhere in their Petition that they are bringing this action derivatively on behalf of any entity in which they had an interest (which may in turn give rise to a fiduciary duty); (2) do not cite to any provision of either the Texas Business Organizations Code, or another state's laws, that would authorize the filing of this suit on behalf of any entity in which they had any interest, and (3) do not demonstrate that they have met any prerequisites for derivative standing under any state's laws. Accordingly, the Dondero Organizations failed to sufficiently plead that the Court has jurisdiction under § 25A.004(b)(5).

But even if they sufficiently pleaded a derivative action on behalf of an entity in which they had an interest, they do not have standing to bring those claims by virtue of the Cayman wind-up proceeding, addressed in Section B below.

B. The Dondero Organizations do not have standing because their claims, if they had any merit, would belong solely to the Debtor.

The Dondero Organizations also lack traditional standing to bring their claims, depriving the Court of subject matter jurisdiction.

"A plaintiff must have both standing and capacity to bring a lawsuit." Austin Nursing Center v. Lovato, 171 S.W.3d 845, 848 (Tex. 2005). "The issue of standing focuses on whether a party has a sufficient relationship with the lawsuit so as to have a 'justiciable interest' in its outcome." Id.

As they state in their Petition, the Dondero Organizations already filed an involuntary Petition for Winding Up the Debtor—Charitable DAF HoldCo—in the Grand Court of the Cayman Islands.[11] Orig. Pet. ¶ 5.53. And as they admit, the Dondero Organizations "alleged essentially the same facts recounted in this Petition before the Grand [11] As the attachments to the Dondero Organizations' Petition demonstrate, Mark Patrick made no objection to the voluntary liquidation being brought under the supervision of the Grand Court. Orig. Pet. App. 154.

Court." Id. ¶ 5.54.[12] The proceedings in the Cayman Islands culminated in the appointment of independent liquidators. Id. ¶ 5.51. These liquidators are already empowered to wind-up the Debtor and distribute its assets, if any. The liquidators, appointed by the Grand Court of the Cayman Islands, have exclusive standing and power to pursue any claims against the Charitable DAF on behalf of the Debtor arising out of the actions the Dondero Organizations complain of here, if they choose to do so.

This situation is similar to when a domestic entity enters bankruptcy. A bankrupt debtor's assets, including its claims against third-parties, are vested in the bankruptcy estate. See Moser, Trustee of Estate of Mason v. Dillon Investments, LLC, 649 S.W.3d 259, 263 (Tex. App.—Dallas 2022, no pet.) (citing 11 U.S.C. § 541(a) and Kane v. Nat'l Union Fire Ins. Co., 535 F.3d 380, 385 (5th Cir. 2008)). The property of a bankruptcy estate includes "all legal or equitable interests of the debtor in property as of the commencement of the case." 11 U.S.C. § 541(a)(1). "The phrase 'all legal or equitable interests of the debtor in property' has been construed broadly, and includes 'rights of action' such as claims based on state or federal law." Highland Capital Mgmt. LP v. Chesapeake Energy Corp., 522 F.3d 575, 584 (5th Cir. 2008). Where a legal claim is vested in a bankruptcy estate, the trustee of that estate "has exclusive standing to bring a claim on behalf of the bankruptcy estate." Moser, 649 S.W.3d at 265 (citation modified).

[12] This appears to be the Dondero Organizations' pattern—recycle its allegations against Mark Patrick in as many forums as possible and hope they are successful in one of them. As another example, the Dallas Foundation filed an objection to a settlement in the Highland bankruptcy, objecting to the transfer of a promissory note to an entity controlled by the Charitable DAF on similar grounds. See Objection of the Dallas Foundation and Crown Global Life Insurance, Ltd, ECF No. 4231, In re Highland Capital Mgmt., L.P., (No. 19-34054-SGJ11). This was withdrawn at the hearing on June 25, 2025, and the settlement was approved by the Bankruptcy Court, the week before this suit was filed in the Business Court. See Order Approving Settlement between Highland Entities and the HMIT Entities, ECF No. 4297, In re Highland Capital Mgmt., L.P., (No. 19-34054-SGJ11).

With respect to claims asserted against a corporation's directors and officers, the bankruptcy estate "succeeds to any right of action the debtor corporation may have to recover damages for misconduct, mismanagement, or neglect of duty by a corporate officer or director." In re Educators Group Health Trust, 25 F.3d 1281, 1284 (5th Cir. 1994). Therefore "the trustee may prosecute a cause of action based on the fraud of the officers, directors, or shareholders for fiduciary misconduct, unlawful diversion of assets, or upon a statutory liability created by the law of the state of incorporation." Id. If under the law of the state of formation[13] of an entity in bankruptcy, "the debtor could have raised these claims at the commencement of its case—that is, in these particular circumstances, if the claims are derivative to the corporation—the claims will belong to the estate." In re Dexterity Surgical, Inc., 365 B.R. 690, 695 (Bankr. S.D. Tex. 2007) (emphasis added) (citing In re Educators Group Health Trust, 25 F.3d 1281, 1284 (5th Cir.1994); In re MortgageAmerica Corp., 714 F.2d 1266, 1276 (5th Cir.1983)). "If a cause of action belongs to the estate, then the Trustee has exclusive standing to assert the claim." In re NC12, Inc., 478 B.R. 820, 831 (Bankr. S.D. Tex. 2012) (citing Schertz–Cibolo–Universal City, Indep. Sch. Dist. (In re Educators Grp. Health Trust), 25 F.3d 1281, 1284 (5th Cir.1994)). The court in NC12 consequently held "[i]f the Plaintiffs and Intervenors lack standing to bring claims, the Court must dismiss the claims for lack of subject matter jurisdiction." Id. (citing Highland Capital Mgmt. LP v. Chesapeake Energy Corp. (In re Seven Seas

[13] Here, the place of formation of the Debtor is the Cayman Islands. Orig. Pet. ¶ 5.4. Under Cayman law, an organization owns a claim where it sustains an actionable loss, not the organization's owner. Foss v. Harbottle, (1843) 67 Eng. Rep. 189, 202 (Eng.). In fact, if an owner wants to pursue a derivative claim before the Grand Court, the owner must obtain leave from the Grant Court. Grand Court Rules, O. 15 r. 12A (Cayman Islands 2022). Therefore, under the law of the place of formation, the claims brought by the Dondero Organizations belong to the Debtor. See Dexterity Surgical, 365 B.R. at 695.

Petroleum), 522 F.3d 575, 583 (5th Cir.2008) ("If the claims belong to the estate, then it was not error for the bankruptcy court to deny remand (because it has jurisdiction over all property of the estate) and dismiss the claims (because the trustee has exclusive standing to assert claims belonging to the estate)."); Cobb v. Cent. States, 461 F.3d 632, 635 (5th Cir.2006) ("[T]he issue of standing is one of subject matter jurisdiction."). In other words, the derivative claims of a debtor's owners belong to the bankruptcy estate, and no one else has standing to assert those claims.

The same is true under the law of the Cayman Islands. In a wind-up conducted under Cayman law, when a court supervised liquidation begins, the debtor is divested of the beneficial ownership of its assets and a statutory trust applies to those assets. Ayerst (Inspector of Taxes) v. C&K (Construction) Ltd. [1975] AC 167, 179. The Grand Court appoints joint official liquidators, who are officers of the Grand Court. Companies Act, 2025, s.108. These liquidators have the power to investigate the debtor's affairs, collect and realize the debtor's assets (if any), and distribute those realizations to those that are entitled to them. Companies Act, 2025, s.110. The liquidators can also (1) bring legal proceedings in the debtor's name; and (2) take possession of the debtor's property, including taking all proceedings required for this purpose. Companies Act, 2025, s.110, p.1.1 and p.2.1.

In fact, United States courts regularly characterize Cayman liquidation proceedings as "foreign main proceedings" deserving of recognition under chapter 15 of the United States Bankruptcy Code. See, e.g., In re Ascot Fund Limited, 603 B.R. 271, 278 (Bankr. S.D.N.Y. 2019) ("[C]ourts in this district have consistently recognized Cayman Islands liquidation proceedings as 'foreign proceedings' for purposes of chapter 15 of the Bankruptcy Code."). This recognition is sweeping. "[U]pon recognition of the foreign proceeding as a 'foreign main proceeding…' the foreign representative may operate the debtor's business and exercise the rights and powers of a trustee under Bankruptcy Code sections 363 and 552." In re SPhinX, Ltd., 351 B.R. 103, 115 (Bankr. S.D.N.Y. 2007) (citing 11 U.S.C. § 1520(a)(1)-(3)). In other words, a Cayman liquidator in a foreign main proceeding under Chapter 15 has the sole right to prosecute a debtor's claims. And Dondero is well aware of this fact—in 2017, when he was President of Highland, a United States bankruptcy court ruled that Cayman liquidation proceedings were foreign main proceedings under Chapter 15, over Highland's objection. In re Ocean Rig UDW Inc., 570 B.R. 687, 690 (Bankr. S.D.N.Y. 2017); Orig. Pet. Apx. 210 ¶ 3.

The Dondero Organizations' claims center on the Charitable DAF's alleged manipulation of the Debtor by redeeming the Dondero Organizations' Participating Shares in the Debtor for $1.6 million. Orig. Pet. ¶ 5.49. Setting aside (a) that the organizational documents expressly permit this and (b) the Dondero Organizations did not sue in the Business Court derivatively on behalf of the Debtor, because the Debtor is in wind-up proceedings in the Caymans, all of its claims (including the ones here) belong to the insolvency estate. The fact that the liquidation proceedings are pending in the Cayman Islands does not change this fact. See In re Bullmore, 300 B.R. 719, 724 (Bankr. D. Neb. 2003) (noting a winding-up proceeding in the Cayman Islands is "analogous" to the filing of a United States bankruptcy case and that the appointment of liquidators "terminated the authority of the directors of the company and put the operation of the company into the hands of the [liquidators] pending final order."); see also Companies Act, 2025, s.110. The liquidators, as the Cayman Islands' equivalent to a bankruptcy trustee, have exclusive authority and standing to pursue the claims alleged by the Dondero Organizations on behalf of the Debtor. The Dondero Organizations therefore lack standing, and the Court does not have subject matter jurisdiction over this lawsuit.

CONCLUSION

The Charitable DAF stands ready to defend every action it took in the best interests of the Charitable DAF and to uphold its charitable purpose, in the face of a multi-pronged effort by Dondero—often through his proxies—to take control of the Charitable DAF for Dondero's own purposes.

But who, if anyone, brings those claims, and where they must be brought, are foundational. The Dondero Organizations cannot proceed in this Court because they fail to establish a statutory basis for its jurisdiction. The Dondero Organizations are not owners of the Charitable DAF and lack standing to bring claims against the DAF in the Business Court. If anyone, the Caymanian liquidators on behalf of the Debtor would have exclusive standing to bring the claims asserted by the Dondero Organizations. The Charitable DAF therefore requests that the Court dismiss this case for lack of subject matter jurisdiction.

Respectfully submitted,

MEMORANDUM

Date: July 9, 2021

To: Mark Patrick

Company: Charitable DAF Holdco, Ltd. and CLO Holdco, Ltd.

From: Haynes and Boone, LLP, by Kenneth Bezozo

Subject: Donor Advised Funds ("DAFs"), Sponsoring Organizations and Supporting Organizations -- The Reasons for Making Investments in Offshore Jurisdictions

1. What are Donor Advised Funds, Sponsoring Organizations and Supporting Organizations?

A donor advised fund, or DAF, is a separately managed charitable investment account established by a donor within a public charity (a section 501(c)(3) organization), which is generally referred to as a sponsor. Sponsors may include a community foundation, university, religious organization, or financial institution. The donor (or the donor's designee) typically maintains certain advisory privileges over the DAF funds or account – specifically with respect to charities that should receive donations, although the DAF account is fully and completely owned and controlled by the sponsor.

In some cases, a sponsor can create as a subsidiary a "supporting organization" which also is a Section 501(c)(3) public charity. A supporting organization is a separate entity controlled by the sponsor through its ability to elect a majority of the supporting organization's governing board. Because of this control, a supporting organization is treated financially as part of a consolidated unit with the sponsor.

Here, for example, The Dallas Foundation formed, and owns and controls, a supporting organization named Highland Dallas Foundation, Inc. ("Highland Dallas Foundation") to assist The Dallas Foundation in carrying out its charitable mission in helping support a wide variety of community affairs. Donations were made to the Highland Dallas Foundation as both the sponsor and the supporting organization. The Highland Dallas Foundation from time to time makes distributions of funds to The Dallas Foundation which in turn makes further distributions to local public charities. Exhibit 1 attached shows these above-described entities, as well as other entities referenced herein that are pertinent to this donor advised fund.

2. How Does a Donor Establish a DAF Account?

To establish a DAF fund or account, a donor must make an irrevocable contribution of assets, such as cash, stock or securities or other business or financial assets, to a sponsoring public charity. The donor's contribution is recorded and recognized as a donation to the sponsoring public charity of the DAF. A donor can make additional contributions to the sponsoring organization whenever they choose.

Because a contribution to a sponsoring organization is, for tax purposes, the equivalent of a contribution to a public charity and because the donor gets an immediate tax benefit for the contribution, the contribution, when made, is permanent and irrevocable. This is true even though the donor contribution to the sponsoring organization is in an account that grows tax-free and the donor has advisory rights as to where to invest the assets and donations made from these assets.

Here, the Highland Dallas Foundation is the sponsor of the DAF account which it fully owns and controls. Although the donor has advisory rights regarding investments and donations to charities (by way of a board seat he fills in the supporting organization), the Highland Dallas Foundation has full authority and control over all such decision-making.

3. What Type of Investments Can be Made by a Sponsor/Supporting Organization?

A sponsor and its supporting organization, such as The Dallas Foundation and Highland Dallas Foundation, are able to invest in a wide variety of assets including, but not limited to, marketable securities, financial assets, businesses, real estate, private equity and hedge funds. But because the sponsor and supporting organization are both public charities that are tax-exempt organizations, their investments must take into account all laws that could possibly effect their tax-exempt status.

a. Can a Sponsor and its Supporting Organization Invest in a Hedge Fund, Private Equity Fund or Similar Investment Vehicle?

The short answer is yes, but as stated above, a sponsor and its supporting organization, such as The Dallas Foundation and Highland Dallas Foundation, are both public charities that are tax-exempt organizations. As a strong general rule, a tax-exempt organization will avoid any investments that will subject it to federal or state taxes. A tax-exempt organization is generally exempt from all federal and state taxes except to the extent it receives income classified as unrelated business taxable income (UBTI), which would be taxed at a 21% rate. The term "unrelated business taxable income" generally means the income derived from an unrelated trade or business regularly conducted by the tax-exempt organization. UBTI also can arise from the receipt of income from debt-financed investments, which is why hedge and private equity funds generally utilize a special investment structure to ensure tax-exempt investors do not have UBTI.

To prevent UBTI from flowing through to a tax-exempt organization, a corporation can be utilized to "block" this income at the corporate level, which is accomplished by having a corporation interposed between the tax-exempt organization and the hedge fund, such as The Charitable DAF Holdco, Ltd. (a corporate blocker) from the Charitable DAF Fund, L.P. Using a structure in this manner is often described as using a "blocker" because the UBTI is blocked out and does not flow through to the tax-exempt investor. Instead, the UBTI is included in the income of, and subject to tax in, the blocker corporation. The blocker corporation thereafter distributes the income to the tax-exempt investor through the payment of dividends which are not UBTI and therefore not taxable to a tax-exempt organization.

Although using a domestic corporate blocker can avoid the problem of having UBTI passed through to a tax-exempt sponsor or its supporting organization, a U.S.-based blocker corporation will be required to pay corporate and state-level income tax on the income they receive from an investment fund.

b. Are There Particular Jurisdictions in Which Hedge and Private Equity Funds form Investment Partnerships and Blocker Corporations for their tax-exempt investors?

It is common for hedge and private equity funds that have tax-exempt investors such as The Dallas Foundation and Highland Dallas Foundation to utilize an offshore structure to form its investment partnership. In addition, these funds may form offshore blocker corporations as well as for other reasons including the ability to make non-U.S. investments or U.S. investments that do not give rise to U.S. tax for foreign investors (i.e., U.S. investments that do not cause the investor to be "engaged in a U.S. trade or business.") Jurisdictions such as Bermuda and the Cayman Islands are typically used because those countries do not have an income tax regime.

By utilizing an offshore structure with corporate blockers, hedge and private equity funds can ensure their tax-exempt investors will not receive any UBTI from investments held by The Dallas Foundation or Highland Dallas Foundation. In addition, to the extent the sole source of UBTI is through debt financing (which is often the case in a hedge fund), then using an offshore corporate blocker can eliminate this type of UBTI (because the debt financing will not flow through the corporate blocker to taint the income received by the tax-exempt investor). This allows the sponsor (i.e., Highland Dallas Foundation), as well as any other charities that receive distributions from Highland Dallas Foundation or The Dallas Foundation, to receive the largest possible distributions.

Utilizing an offshore structure for hedge and private equity funds in the manner described above for tax-exempt investors is a best practice used by many U.S. law firms representing U.S. hedge and private equity funds. In fact, if a U.S. law firm didn't use offshore blockers in the manner described above, it could be considered a poor practice.

In summary, using an offshore blocker corporation, such as Charitable DAF Holdco, Ltd. and CLO Holdco, Ltd., for many hedge funds minimizes taxes and increases the net after-tax cash flow to the tax-exempt investors because investments grow tax-free, giving a sponsor, such as Highland Dallas Foundation, the potential to create even more capital for philanthropic giving.

4. Who Has Control and Authority over the Assets Held by the Sponsor?

Because a DAF is an account within a sponsor organization, the sponsoring organization has full, complete and final control over the funds in the DAF, which is the case here with the sponsor, the Highland Dallas Foundation. Although the supporting organization permits the donor or the donor's designee to recommend how funds should be invested and how funds should be distributed to other public charities, Highland Dallas Foundation must approve any investments and all distributions to charities.

In this case, the donor of the charitable DAF, or his designee, is able to appoint a representative to the board of the Highland Dallas Foundation, which allows the donor to recommend investments or distributions to charitable organizations, i.e., organizations that are tax-exempt under Internal Revenue Code section 501(c)(3) and classified as public charities under Internal Revenue Code section 509(a). But the donor (or the donor's designee) only has advisory privileges over making investments and the distribution of funds.

5. What Are the Benefits to a Donor of a Contribution to a DAF account?

A DAF account allows a donor who makes an irrevocable charitable contribution to the DAF account to receive an immediate tax deduction, and with the ability to recommend distributions be made by the sponsor to specific charities either presently or in the future. Also, if the donor contributes certain appreciated assets to the DAF account, such as stock or securities, the donor avoids the recognition of any gain in these appreciated assets. This is a significant additional benefit to donors made available in the Internal Revenue Code.

The DAF assets that are not immediately distributed to charities are then invested and depending on the type of investments and the jurisdiction in what the investments are made, the assets may grow tax-free.

EXECUTIVE EMPLOYMENT AGREEMENT

THIS EMPLOYMENT AGREEMENT (the "Agreement") is made and entered into effective as of March 24, 2021 (the "Effective Date"), by and between MARK PATRICK ("Executive") and CHARITABLE DAF HOLDCO, LTD., a Cayman Islands company (the "Company"), as a "Party" or collectively as the "Parties".

WHEREAS, the Company has employed Executive on the terms and conditions set forth herein since March 24, 2021; and

WHEREAS, Executive agrees to be employed by the Company on such terms and conditions as set forth herein.

NOW, THEREFORE, in consideration of the mutual covenants, promises, and obligations set forth herein, the Parties agree as follows:

1. Employment Term. Executive's employment hereunder shall be effective as of the Effective Date and shall continue until terminated pursuant to Section 5 of this Agreement.

2. Position and Duties.

2.1 Position. During the Employment Term, Executive shall serve as the President and CEO, Chief Investment Officer, Chief Financial Officer, and General Counsel of the Company, reporting to the Directors of the Company (the "Directors"). In such position, Executive shall have such duties, authority, and responsibilities as shall be determined from time to time by the Directors, which duties, authority, and responsibilities are consistent with Executive's position.

2.2 Duties. During the Employment Term, Executive shall perform such duties, as are reasonably assigned to Executive and devote a reasonable amount of Executive's business time and attention to the performance of Executive's duties, including, without limitation, service as an officer for other affiliates and subsidiaries of the Company.

3. Place of Performance. The principal place of Executive's employment shall be the place as determined by the Parties; however, Executive shall be permitted to work remotely so long as doing so does not interfere with the Executive's responsibilities under this Agreement. Executive may also be required to travel on Company business during the Employment Term. The Company may provide a remote travel office, or transportation, to accommodate the Executive in his performance of his duties.

4. Compensation.

4.1 Base Salary. Beginning with the 2023 calendar year, the Company shall pay Executive an annual base salary of $850,000 (the "Base Salary") in periodic installments in accordance with customary payroll practices and applicable wage payment laws. Notwithstanding the foregoing, the Executive's annual base salary may be advanced in one or more installments from time to time pursuant to a Director's resolution, but in such amounts not to exceed one year of Base Salary. The Base Salary may be adjusted within the first sixty

(60) days of any calendar year by an amendment to this Agreement in accordance with Section 14 below.

4.2 Annual Bonus. For each fiscal year of the Employment Term, Executive shall be eligible to earn an annual bonus (the "Annual Bonus"). The decision to provide an Annual Bonus and the amount and terms of such Annual Bonus shall be in the sole and absolute discretion of the Directors, which may be paid in advance of the close of any one year. The Directors may establish and approve written criteria or guidelines that may be taken into account when determining whether an Annual Bonus should be paid and the amount in which it is paid. In exercising their discretion, the Directors will take into account industry standards in relation to annual bonuses awarded to people employed in comparable positions to Executive.

4.3 Discretionary Bonuses. At any time and from time to time during the Employment Term, the Executive shall be eligible to earn discretionary bonuses (each a "Discretionary Bonus"). Such Discretionary Bonuses shall be at the sole and absolute discretion of the Directors.

4.4 Long Term Incentive Plan: Executive shall participate in the Long Term Incentive Plan ("LTIP"). The LTIP will cover a period of three (3) years. For purposes of this agreement, the LTIP will cover the period from March 24, 2021 through March 24, 2024 (the "First LTIP") and is awarded in the total amount of $4,759,000. The second LTIP period will cover the period from March 25, 2024 through March 24, 2027 (the "Second LTIP"). The Second LTIP may be awarded at the discretion of the Directors through a cash payment made at the end of 2027, or by periodic awards in the equity of investments of the Company, or a combination of both.

4.5 Retirement Incentive Plan. At the discretion of the Directors, the Company may authorize a "Retirement Incentive Plan" to be put into place on behalf of the Executive.

4.6 Employee Benefits. During the Employment Term, Executive shall be entitled to participate in an employee benefit plan, including but not limited to health insurance, disability benefits, and retirement plan or other benefit practices and programs as may be implemented from time to time by the Company (collectively, "Employee Benefit Plans"), to the extent consistent with applicable law and the terms of the applicable Employee Benefit Plans. The Company reserves the right to amend or terminate any Employee Benefit Plans at any time in its sole discretion, subject to the terms of such Employee Benefit Plan and applicable law.

4.7 Vacation; Paid Time Off. During the Employment Term, Executive shall be entitled to forty (40) days of paid vacation per calendar year (prorated for partial years). Executive shall receive other paid time off in accordance with Company policies as may exist from time to time or as otherwise determined by the Directors.

4.8 Business Expenses. Executive shall be entitled to reimbursement for all reasonable and necessary out-of-pocket business, entertainment, and travel expenses incurred by Executive in connection with the performance of Executive's duties hereunder.

4.9 Indemnification. In the event that Executive is made a party or threatened to be made a party to any action, suit, or proceeding, whether civil, criminal, administrative, or investigative (a "Proceeding"), other than any Proceeding initiated by Executive or the Company related to any contest or dispute between Executive and the Company or any of its affiliates or subsidiaries with respect to this Agreement or Executive's employment hereunder, by reason of the fact that Executive is or was a director or officer of the Company, or any affiliate or subsidiary of the Company, or is or was serving at the request of the Company as a director, officer, member, employee, or agent of another corporation or a partnership, joint venture, trust, or other enterprise, Executive shall be indemnified and held harmless by the Company from and against any liabilities, costs, claims, and expenses, including all costs and expenses incurred in defense of any Proceeding (including attorneys' fees).

5. Employment Term and Termination of Employment. The initial term of employment of Executive shall be the period from the Effective Date until December 31, 2021, and thereafter shall automatically renew from year-to-year for additional one (1) year periods, unless either Party provides written notice of non-renewal to the other Party within sixty (60) days prior to the expiration of the applicable Employment Term, or Executive's employment is otherwise terminated in accordance with this Section 5 below (the "Employment Term"). In the event of non-renewal of the Employment Term by either Party, Executive shall be entitled to payment of the Severance Payment Amount (as defined in Section 5.2(d) below). The Employment Term and Executive's employment hereunder may be terminated by either the Company or Executive at any time and for any reason; provided that, unless otherwise provided herein, either Party shall be required to give the other Party at least sixty (60) days advance written notice of any termination of Executive's employment. On termination of Executive's employment during the Employment Term, Executive shall be entitled to the compensation and benefits described in this Section 5 and shall have no further rights to any compensation or any other benefits from the Company or any of its affiliates.

5.1 For Cause or Without Good Reason.

(a) Executive's employment hereunder may be terminated by the Company for Cause or by Executive without Good Reason. If Executive's employment is terminated by the Company for Cause or by Executive without Good Reason, Executive shall be entitled to receive:

(i) any accrued but unpaid Base Salary and accrued but unused vacation which shall be paid on the Termination Date (as defined below);

(ii) any earned but unpaid Annual Bonus with respect to any completed calendar year immediately preceding the Termination Date, which shall be paid on the otherwise applicable payment date; provided that, if Executive's employment is terminated by the Company for Cause, then any such accrued but unpaid Annual Bonus shall be forfeited;

(iii) reimbursement for unreimbursed business expenses properly incurred by Executive in accordance with Section 4.8 of this Agreement; and

(iv) such employee benefits, if any, to which Executive may be entitled under the Company's employee benefit plans as of the Termination Date; provided that, in no event shall Executive be entitled to any payments in the nature of severance or termination payments except as specifically provided herein; and

(v) accrued and unpaid First or Second LTIP.

Items 5.1(a)(i) through 5.1(a)(v) are referred to herein collectively as the "Accrued Amounts". For the avoidance of doubt, any LTIP that has awarded any exposure to an investment such as equity shall be deemed vested if not vested already.

(b) For purposes of this Agreement, "Cause" shall mean:

(i) Executive's conviction of or plea of guilty or nolo contendere to a crime that constitutes a felony (or state law equivalent);

(ii) Executive's material breach of the provisions of this Agreement in the course of performing Executive's duties that results in material harm to the Company; or

(iii) Executive is deemed by a court of competent jurisdiction to have engaged in any act or omission constituting willful misconduct, gross negligence, or fraud in the course of performing Executive's duties.

Notwithstanding the foregoing, for subsections (i) to (iii), the Employment Term and Executive's employment shall not be deemed to have been terminated for Cause unless the Company shall have given Executive: (A) written notice setting forth the reasons for the Company's intention to terminate Executive's employment for Cause, and (B) a reasonable opportunity, not to exceed thirty (30) days, to cure such default.

(c) For purposes of this Agreement, "Good Reason" shall mean the occurrence of any of the following, in each case during the Employment Term, without Executive's written consent:

(i) a material reduction of, or failure to pay, Executive's Base Salary; or

(ii) a material, adverse change in Executive's authority, duties, or responsibilities (other than (i) temporarily while Executive is physically or mentally incapacitated, (ii) where, if applicable, in Executive's capacity as a director, officer, managing member or other position to exert control or influence in the Company or subsidiary ("Controlling Position"), the Executive has directed or caused a material adverse change himself, (iii) where the Company's business has materially changed through no fault of the Company, (iv) or as required by applicable law); or

(iii) Company's material breach of the provisions of this Agreement.

Executive cannot terminate employment for Good Reason unless: (i) Executive has provided written notice to the Company of the existence of the circumstances providing grounds for termination for Good Reason within fifteen (15) days of the initial existence of such grounds, and (ii) the Company has had at least thirty (30) days from the date on which such notice is provided to cure such circumstances. Executive agrees and acknowledges that if he holds a Controlling Position he is obliged to act in good faith and with all due diligence and expedition to help the Company cure any such grounds.

5.2 Without Cause or for Good Reason. The Employment Term and Executive's employment hereunder may be terminated by Executive (i) for Good Reason, (ii) by the Company without Cause, or in the event of non-renewal of the Employment Term in accordance with Section 5. In the event of such termination, Executive shall be entitled to receive the Accrued Amounts and, subject to Executive's compliance with Section 6, Section 7, and Section 8 of this Agreement, Executive shall be entitled to receive the following:

(a) continued Base Salary for twelve (12) months following the Termination Date payable in equal installments, but no less frequently than monthly;

(b) a payment equal to the product of (i) the Annual Bonus, if any, that Executive would have earned for the fiscal year in which the Termination Date (as determined in accordance with Section 5.5) occurs based on achievement of the applicable performance goals for such year and (ii) a fraction, the numerator of which is the number of days Executive was employed by the Company during the year of termination and the denominator of which is the number of days in such year (the "Pro-Rata Bonus"), plus any accrued but unpaid Discretionary Bonuses as determined by the Directors. These amounts shall be paid on the date that Annual or Discretionary Bonuses are normally paid;

(c) If Executive timely and properly elects health continuation coverage under the Consolidated Omnibus Budget Reconciliation Act of 1985 ("COBRA"), the Company shall reimburse Executive for the monthly COBRA premium paid by Executive for Executive and Executive's dependents. Such reimbursement shall be paid to Executive on the seventh (7th) day of the month immediately following the month in which Executive timely remits the premium payment. Executive shall be eligible to receive such reimbursement until the earliest of: (i) the date Executive is no longer eligible to receive COBRA continuation coverage; and (ii) the date on which Executive becomes eligible to receive substantially similar coverage from another employer or other source; and

(d) An early termination payment in the nature of a severance payment in the amount of $10,000,000 payable at termination (the "Severance Payment Amount").

5.3 Death or Disability.

(a) Executive's employment hereunder shall terminate automatically on Executive's death during the Employment Term, and the Company may terminate Executive's employment on account of Executive's Disability.

(b) If Executive's employment is terminated during the Employment Term on account of Executive's death or Disability, Executive (or Executive's estate and/or beneficiaries, as the case may be) shall be entitled to receive the following:

(i) the Accrued Amounts; and,

(ii) a lump sum payment equal to the Pro-Rata Bonus, and any accrued but unpaid discretionary bonuses, if any, that Executive earned for the fiscal year in which the termination date occurs which shall be payable on the date that annual bonuses are normally paid to the Company's executives, but in no event later than three (3) months following the end of the fiscal year in which the termination date occurs; and,

(iii) in the event of the Executive's death or disability, the Company shall pay the Executive's estate an amount equal to the Severance Payment Amount.

Notwithstanding any other provision contained herein, all payments made in connection with Executive's Disability shall be provided in a manner which is consistent with federal and state law.

(c) For purposes of this Agreement, "Disability" shall mean a condition that entitles Executive to receive long-term disability benefits under the Company's long-term disability plan, or if there is no such plan, Executive's inability, due to physical or mental incapacity, to perform the essential functions of Executive's job, with or without reasonable accommodation, for a period of ninety (90) consecutive days or a period of ninety (90) days in any one hundred eighty (180) day period. Any question as to the existence of Executive's Disability as to which Executive and the Company cannot agree shall be determined in writing by a qualified independent physician mutually acceptable to Executive and the Company. If Executive and the Company cannot agree as to a qualified independent physician, each shall appoint such a physician and those two physicians shall select a third who shall make such determination in writing. The determination of Disability made in writing to the Company and Executive shall be final and conclusive for all purposes of this Agreement.

5.4 Notice of Termination. Any termination of Executive's employment hereunder by the Company or by Executive during the Employment Term (other than termination pursuant to Section 5.3(a) on account of Executive's death) shall be communicated by written notice of termination ("Notice of Termination") to the other party hereto in accordance with Section 20 herein. The Notice of Termination shall specify:

(b) To the extent applicable, the facts and circumstances claimed to provide a basis for termination of Executive's employment under the provision so indicated;

(c) To the extent applicable, the date notice of intention to terminate Executive's employment was provided or the date notice of existence of the circumstances providing grounds for termination for Good Reason was provided; and

(b) If Executive's employment hereunder is terminated on account of Executive's Disability, the date that it is determined that Executive has a Disability;

(c) Unless otherwise indicated herein, if the Company terminates Executive's employment hereunder for Cause, the date the Notice of Termination is delivered to Executive. If the Company is required to give notice of intention to terminate Executive's employment and an opportunity to cure, and Executive fails to cure same, the date on which the cure period expires;

(d) If the Company terminates Executive's employment hereunder without Cause, the date specified in the Notice of Termination, which shall be no less than sixty (60) days following the date on which the Notice of Termination is delivered;

6. Cooperation. The parties agree that certain matters in which Executive will be involved during the Employment Term may necessitate Executive's cooperation in the future. Accordingly, following the termination of Executive's employment for any reason, to the extent reasonably requested by the Directors, Executive shall cooperate with the Company, its affiliates and subsidiaries in connection with matters arising out of Executive's service to the Company; its affiliates or subsidiaries, provided that, the Company shall make reasonable efforts to minimize disruption of Executive's other activities. 8. Restrictive Covenants.

8.1 Acknowledgement. Executive understands that the nature of Executive's position gives Executive access to and knowledge of Confidential Information and places Executive in a position of trust and confidence with the Company, its affiliates and subsidiaries. Executive understands and acknowledges that the services Executive provides to the Company, its affiliate and subsidiaries are unique, special, or extraordinary.

Executive further understands and acknowledges that the Company's ability to reserve these for the exclusive knowledge and use of the Company, its affiliates and subsidiaries is of great competitive importance and commercial value to the Company, its affiliates and subsidiaries and that improper use or disclosure by Executive is likely to result in unfair or unlawful competitive activity.

8.2 Non-Competition. Because of the Company's legitimate business interest as described herein and the good and valuable consideration offered to Executive, during the Employment Term and for a period of one (1) year, beginning on the last day of Executive's employment with the Company, Executive agrees and covenants not to engage in Prohibited Activity within the areas in which the Company has conducted business.

For purposes of this Section 8.2, "Prohibited Activity" is activity in which Executive contributes Executive's knowledge, directly or indirectly, in whole or in part, as an employee, employer, owner, operator, manager, advisor, consultant, agent, employee, partner, director, stockholder, officer, volunteer, intern, or any other similar capacity to an entity engaged in the same or similar business as the Company, or its affiliates. Nothing herein shall prohibit Executive from purchasing or owning less than one percent (1%) of the publicly traded securities of any corporation, provided that such ownership represents a passive investment and that Executive is not a controlling person of, or a member of a group that controls, such corporation.

This Section 8 does not, in any way, restrict or impede Executive from exercising protected rights to the extent that such rights cannot be waived by agreement or from complying with any applicable law or regulation or a valid order of a court of competent jurisdiction or an authorized government agency, provided that such compliance does not exceed that required by the law, regulation, or order. Executive shall promptly provide written notice of any such order to the Directors.

8.3 Non-Solicitation of Employees. Executive agrees and covenants not to directly or indirectly solicit, hire, recruit, attempt to hire or recruit, or induce the termination of employment of any employee of the Company, or attempt to do so, for a period of one (1) year, to run consecutively, beginning on the last day of Executive's employment with the Company.

8.4 Non-Solicitation of Customers. Executive understands and acknowledges that because of Executive's experience with and relationship to the Company, its affiliates and subsidiaries, Executive will have access to and learn about the Company's, its affiliates' and subsidiaries' customer information. "Customer Information" includes, but is not limited to, names, phone numbers, addresses, email addresses, order history, order preferences, chain of command, decisionmakers, pricing information, and other information identifying facts and circumstances specific to the customer and relevant to services.

Executive understands and acknowledges that loss of this customer relationship and/or goodwill will cause significant and irreparable harm.

Executive agrees and covenants, for a period of one (1) year, not to directly or indirectly solicit, contact (including but not limited to email, regular mail, express mail, telephone, fax, instant message, or social media), attempt to contact, or meet with the Company's, its affiliates' or its subsidiaries' customers for purposes of offering or accepting goods or services similar to or competitive with those offered by the Company, its affiliates or subsidiaries.

9. Acknowledgement. Executive acknowledges and agrees that the services to be rendered by Executive to the Company, its affiliates and subsidiaries, are of a special and unique character; that Executive will obtain knowledge and skill relevant to the Company's, its affiliates' and subsidiaries' industries, their methods of doing business and marketing strategies by virtue of Executive's employment; and that the restrictive covenants and other terms and conditions of this Agreement are reasonable and reasonably necessary to protect the legitimate business interest of the Company, its affiliates and subsidiaries.

Executive further acknowledges that the benefits provided to Executive under this Agreement, including the amount of Executive's compensation, reflects, in part, Executive's obligations and the Company's rights under Section 7 and Section 8, of this Agreement; that

10. Remedies. In the event of a breach or threatened breach by Executive of Section 7 and Section 8 of this Agreement, Executive hereby consents and agrees that the Company, its affiliates and subsidiaries shall be entitled to seek, in addition to other available remedies, a temporary or permanent injunction or other equitable relief against such breach or threatened breach from any court of competent jurisdiction, and that money damages would not afford an adequate remedy, without the necessity of showing any actual damages, and without the necessity of posting any bond or other security. The aforementioned equitable relief shall be in addition to, not in lieu of, legal remedies, monetary damages, or other available forms of relief.

11. Proprietary Rights.

11.1 Work Product. Executive acknowledges and agrees that all right, title, and interest in and to all writings, works of authorship, technology, inventions, discoveries, processes, techniques, methods, ideas, concepts, research, proposals, materials, and all other work product of any nature whatsoever, that are created, prepared, produced, authored, edited, amended, conceived, or reduced to practice by Executive individually or jointly with others during the Employment Term and relate in any way to the business or contemplated business, products, activities, research, or development of the Company, its affiliates or subsidiaries or result from any work performed by Executive for the Company, its affiliates or subsidiaries (in each case, regardless of when or where prepared or whose equipment or other resources are used in preparing the same), all rights and claims related to the foregoing, and all printed, physical and electronic copies, and other tangible embodiments thereof (collectively, "Work Product"), as well as any and all rights in and to US and foreign (a) patents, patent disclosures and inventions (whether patentable or not), (b) trademarks, service marks, trade dress, trade names, logos, corporate names, and domain names, and other similar designations of source or origin, together with the goodwill symbolized by any of the foregoing, (c) copyrights and copyrightable works (including computer programs), mask works, and rights in data and databases, (d) trade secrets, know-how, and other confidential information, and (e) all other intellectual property rights, in each case whether registered or unregistered and including all registrations and applications for, and renewals and extensions of, such rights, all improvements thereto and all similar or equivalent rights or forms of protection in any part of the world (collectively, "Intellectual Property Rights"), shall be the sole and exclusive property of the Company, its affiliates or subsidiaries, as applicable.

11.2 Work Made for Hire; Assignment. Executive acknowledges that, by reason of being employed by the Company, its affiliates or subsidiaries, at the relevant times, to the extent permitted by law, all of the Work Product consisting of copyrightable subject matter is "work made for hire" as defined in 17 U.S.C. § 101 and such copyrights are therefore owned by the Company, its affiliates or subsidiaries, as applicable. To the extent that the foregoing does not apply, Executive hereby irrevocably assigns to the Company, its affiliates or subsidiaries, as applicable, for no additional consideration, Executive's entire right, title, and interest in and to all Work Product and Intellectual Property Rights therein, including the right to sue, counterclaim, and recover for all past, present, and future infringement, misappropriation, or dilution thereof, and all rights corresponding thereto throughout the world. Nothing contained in this Agreement shall be construed to reduce or limit the Company's, its affiliates' or subsidiaries' rights, title, or interest in any Work Product or Intellectual Property Rights so as to be less in any respect than that the Company, its affiliates, subsidiaries or assigns, would have had in the absence of this Agreement.

11.3 Further Assurances; Power of Attorney. During and after the Employment Term, Executive agrees to reasonably cooperate with the Company, its affiliates, subsidiaries and assigns to (a) apply for, obtain, perfect, and transfer to the Company, its affiliates or subsidiaries, as applicable, the Work Product as well as any and all Intellectual Property Rights in the Work Product in any jurisdiction in the world; and (b) maintain, protect and enforce the same, including, without limitation, giving testimony and executing and delivering to the Company, its affiliates and subsidiaries, as the case may be, any and all applications, oaths, declarations, affidavits, waivers, assignments, and other documents and instruments as shall be requested by the Company, its affiliates or subsidiaries. The power of attorney is coupled with an interest and shall not be affected by Executive's subsequent incapacity.

11.4 No License. Executive understands that this Agreement does not, and shall not be construed to, grant Executive any license or right of any nature with respect to any Work Product or Intellectual Property Rights or any Confidential Information, materials, software, or other tools made available to Executive by the Company.

12. Security.

12.1 Security and Access. Executive agrees and covenants (a) to comply with all security policies and procedures as in force from time to time including without limitation those regarding the Company's, its affiliates' or subsidiaries' facilities, IT resources and communication technologies ("Facilities and Information Technology Resources"); (b) not to access or use any Facilities and Information Technology Resources except as authorized by the Company, its affiliates or subsidiaries; and (iii) not to access or use any Facilities and Information Technology Resources in any manner after the termination of Executive's employment by the Company, its affiliates or subsidiaries whether termination is voluntary or involuntary. Executive agrees to promptly notify the Company, its affiliates or subsidiaries, as applicable, in the event Executive learns of any violation of the foregoing by others, or of any other misappropriation or unauthorized access, use, reproduction, or reverse engineering of, or tampering with any Facilities and Information Technology Resources or other Company, affiliate or subsidiary property or materials by others.

13. Entire Agreement. Unless specifically provided herein, this Agreement contains all of the understandings and representations between Executive and the Company pertaining to the subject matter hereof and supersedes all prior and contemporaneous understandings, agreements, representations, and warranties, both written and oral, with respect to such subject matter. The parties mutually agree that the Agreement can be specifically enforced in court and can be cited as evidence in legal proceedings alleging breach of the Agreement.

14. Modification and Waiver. No provision of this Agreement may be amended or modified unless such amendment or modification is agreed to in writing and signed by Executive and the Director of the Company. No waiver by either of the parties of any breach by the other party hereto of any condition or provision of this Agreement to be performed by the other party hereto shall be deemed a waiver of any similar or dissimilar provision or condition at the same or any prior or subsequent time, nor shall the failure of or delay by either of the parties in exercising any right, power, or privilege hereunder operate as a waiver thereof to preclude any other or further exercise thereof or the exercise of any other such right, power, or privilege.

15. Severability. Should any provision of this Agreement be held by a court of competent jurisdiction to be enforceable only if modified, or if any portion of this Agreement shall be held as unenforceable and thus stricken, such holding shall not affect the validity of the remainder of this Agreement, the balance of which shall continue to be binding upon the parties with any such modification to become a part hereof and treated as though originally set forth in this Agreement.

The parties further agree that any such court is expressly authorized to modify any such unenforceable provision of this Agreement in lieu of severing such unenforceable provision from this Agreement in its entirety, whether by rewriting the offending provision, deleting any or all of the offending provision, adding additional language to this Agreement, or by making such other modifications as it deems warranted to carry out the intent and agreement of the parties as embodied herein to the maximum extent permitted by law.

The parties expressly agree that this Agreement as so modified by the court shall be binding upon and enforceable against each of them. In any event, should one or more of the provisions of this Agreement be held to be invalid, illegal, or unenforceable in any respect, such invalidity, illegality, or unenforceability shall not affect any other provisions hereof, and if such provision or provisions are not modified as provided above, this Agreement shall be construed as if such invalid, illegal, or unenforceable provisions had not been set forth herein.

16. Captions. Captions and headings of the sections and paragraphs of this Agreement are intended solely for convenience and no provision of this Agreement is to be construed by reference to the caption or heading of any section or paragraph.

17. Counterparts. This Agreement may be executed in separate counterparts, each of which shall be deemed an original, but all of which taken together shall constitute one and the same instrument.

18. Section 409A.

18.1 General Compliance. This Agreement is intended to comply with Section 409A or an exemption thereunder and shall be construed and administered in accordance with Section 409A. Notwithstanding any other provision of this Agreement, payments provided under this Agreement may only be made upon an event and in a manner that complies with Section 409A or an applicable exemption. Any payments under this Agreement that may be excluded from Section 409A either as separation pay due to an involuntary separation from service or as a short-term deferral shall be excluded from Section 409A to the maximum extent possible. For purposes of Section 409A, each installment payment provided under this Agreement shall be treated as a separate payment. Any payments to be made under this Agreement upon a termination of employment shall only be made upon a "separation from service" under Section 409A. Notwithstanding the foregoing, the Company makes no representations that the payments and benefits provided under this Agreement comply with Section 409A, and in no event shall the Company be liable for all or any portion of any taxes, penalties, interest, or other expenses that may be incurred by Executive on account of non-compliance with Section 409A.

18.2 Specified Employees. Notwithstanding any other provision of this Agreement, if any payment or benefit provided to Executive in connection with Executive's termination of employment is determined to constitute "nonqualified deferred compensation" within the meaning of Section 409A and Executive is determined to be a "specified employee" as defined in Section 409A(a)(2)(b)(i), then such payment or benefit shall not be paid until the first payroll date following the six-month anniversary of the Termination Date or, if earlier, on Executive's death (the "Specified Employee Payment Date"). The aggregate of any payments that would otherwise have been paid before the Specified Employee Payment Date and interest on such amounts calculated based on the applicable federal rate published by the Internal Revenue Service for the month in which Executive's separation from service occurs shall be paid to Executive in a lump sum on the Specified Employee Payment Date and thereafter, any remaining payments shall be paid without delay in accordance with their original schedule.

18.3 Reimbursements. To the extent required by Section 409A, each reimbursement or in-kind benefit provided under this Agreement shall be provided in accordance with the following:

(a) the amount of expenses eligible for reimbursement, or in-kind benefits provided, during each calendar year cannot affect the expenses eligible for reimbursement, or in-kind benefits to be provided, in any other calendar year;

(b) any reimbursement of an eligible expense shall be paid to Executive on or before the last day of the calendar year following the calendar year in which the expense was incurred; and

(c) any right to reimbursements or in-kind benefits under this Agreement shall not be subject to liquidation or exchange for another benefit.

18.4 Tax Gross-ups. Any tax gross-up payments provided under this Agreement shall be paid to Executive on or before December 31 of the calendar year immediately following the calendar year in which Executive remits the related taxes.

19. Successors and Assigns. This Agreement is personal to Executive and shall not be assigned by Executive. Any purported assignment by Executive shall be null and void from the initial date of the purported assignment. The Company may assign this Agreement to any successor or assign (whether direct or indirect, by purchase, merger, consolidation, or otherwise) to all or substantially all of the business or assets of the Company. This Agreement shall inure to the benefit of the Company and permitted successors and assigns.

RE: Valuation Analysis of Membership Interest in CDMCFAD, LLC

Dear Mr. Higgins:

Pursuant to your request, we were retained to perform an independent valuation analysis to determine the fair market value of the 100% non-controlling membership interest (the "Subject Interest" or the "Membership Interest") in CDMCFAD, LLC (the "Company") as of March 25, 2025 (the "Valuation Date").[1] This valuation analysis was conducted for internal reporting, transaction support (including the issuance and redemption of membership interests), dispute resolution, regulatory compliance, or any other context where a fair market valuation is required.

DEFINITION AND PREMISE OF VALUE

The standard of value is fair market value. Fair market value is defined by IRS Revenue Ruling 59-60, 1959-1 C.B. 237 as the price at which the property would change hands between a willing buyer and a willing seller when the former is not under any compulsion to buy and the latter is not under any compulsion to sell, both parties having reasonable knowledge of relevant facts.

To develop our conclusion of value for the Subject Interest, we considered all of the factors listed in Revenue Ruling 59-60. These factors include:

1. The nature of the business and its history from inception.
2. The economic outlook in general and the condition and outlook of the specific industry in which it operates.
3. The book value and the financial condition of the business.
4. The earning capacity of the business.
5. The dividend-paying capacity of the business.
6. Whether the enterprise had goodwill or other intangible value.

[1] Our analysis assumes that the Company and CLO HoldCo's financial position remains materially consistent between September 30, 2024 and the Valuation Date.

7. The market prices of the stocks of corporations engaged in the same or similar line of business having their stocks actively traded on an exchange or over the counter.
8. The marketability, or lack thereof, of the securities.

The valuation is conducted under the assumption that the Company will continue as a going concern.[2] The liquidation premise of value was considered but deemed inapplicable, as the going-concern premise reflects the "highest and best use" of the Membership Interest. The Membership Interest does not confer control and has an extremely limited claim to the underlying net asset value of CLO HoldCo, Ltd ("CLO HoldCo"). Economic benefits are contingent on discretionary distributions made by the Company's manager ("Management"). Given these characteristics, the going concern approach appropriately reflects their value.

SCOPE OF WORK

To gain an understanding of Company's operations, we reviewed the Company's financial and operational data and spoke with Management. To understand the environment in which Company operates, we researched relevant information concerning the US private equity, hedge funds & investment vehicles industry. We also studied economic conditions as of the Valuation Date and their impact on the Company and its industry.

We valued the Subject Interest in accordance with generally accepted valuation standards and included such valuation tests and procedures that we considered necessary under the circumstances. Our conclusion of value reflects these findings, our judgment and knowledge of the marketplace, and our expertise in valuation.

In performing our work, we were provided with and/or relied upon various sources of information, including (but not limited to):

- Balance sheet for CLO HoldCo as of September 30, 2024
- The Limited Liability Company Agreement of CDMCFAD, LLC, as of December 18, 2024
- Information regarding the Company's history and current operations

[2] The International Glossary of Business Valuation Terms defines "Going Concern" as "an ongoing operating business enterprise," and "Going Concern Value" as "the value of a business enterprise that is expected to continue to operate into the future. The intangible elements of going concern value result from factors such as having a trained workforce, an operational plant, and the necessary licenses, systems, and procedures in place."

- Historical distributions from CLO HoldCo
- The organizational structure chart for CDMCFAD, LLC
- Discussions with Management
- Pepperdine 2024 Private Capital Markets Report, dated June 10, 2024
- IBISWorld Industry Report 52599, Private Equity, Hedge Funds & Investment Vehicles in the US, October 2024

The procedures employed in valuing the Subject Interest included such steps that we considered necessary, including (but not limited to):

- An analysis of the general economic environment and industry as of the Valuation Date
- An interview with Management regarding expectations for future distributions
- An application of appropriate valuation techniques and procedures, including the income approach
- An analysis of other pertinent facts and data influencing our conclusion of value

We relied on information received as indicative of the Company as of the Valuation Date. We made limited investigation as to the accuracy and completeness of such information and did not verify this information as part of our valuation. Therefore, we express no opinion or other form of assurance regarding the accuracy of the source data. Our analysis was based in part on this information, as well as on other data we developed.

CONCLUSION OF VALUE

Based on the procedures outlined herein and the corresponding analysis, it is our opinion that the fair market value of the Subject Interest as of the Valuation Date can be reasonably stated as:

$1,637,192
ONE MILLION SIX HUNDRED THIRTY-SEVEN THOUSAND ONE HUNDRED NINETY-TWO DOLLARS

Fair Market Value Summary

We are independent of the Company and its affiliates and have no current or prospective economic interest in the assets that are the subject of this analysis. Our fee for these valuation services was in no way influenced by the results of our analysis. ENGAGEMENT OVERVIEW

DESCRIPTION OF THE ASSIGNMENT

We were retained to perform an independent valuation analysis to determine the fair market value of the 100% non-controlling membership interest (the "Subject Interest" or the "Membership Interest") in CDMCFAD, LLC (the "Company") as of March 25, 2025 (the "Valuation Date").[3] This valuation analysis was conducted for internal reporting, transaction support (including the issuance and redemption of membership interests), dispute resolution, regulatory compliance, or any other context where a fair market valuation is required.

The fifth section presents our valuation analysis, and the sixth section presents our conclusion of the fair market value of the Subject Interest.

PROCEDURES

This valuation analysis was conducted in accordance with generally accepted valuation procedures. Our analysis was based in part on this information, as well as on other data obtained through additional research. A full discussion of the methodologies employed appears in the following sections of this report.

[3] Our analysis assumes that the Company and CLO HoldCo's financial position remains materially consistent between September 30, 2024 and the Valuation Date.

SUBJECT INTEREST OVERVIEW

The Subject Interest consists of a 100% non-controlling membership interest in the Company. The Subject Interest may receive discretionary cash distributions from time to time. The rights and limitations of the Membership Interest are defined by the Company Agreement and are directly influenced by the discretion and actions of Management.

The Company Agreement grants Management substantial discretion over distributions, interest allocation, governance, and financial transparency, leaving members with little influence over corporate decisions. The Membership Interest is subject to transfer restrictions and limited access to information, with limited voting rights and no ability to amend governing documents. Given these extensive limitations, the Membership Interest represents a highly restricted and passive financial interest with little control or enforceable rights.

Limited Rights Over Distributions

Members do not have:

- The right to cause, vote on, or receive distributions.
- The right to annual, timed, or guaranteed distributions.
- The ability to amend the Company Agreement to modify distribution rights.

Governance and Voting Limitations

Members do not have:

- The right to remove or appoint Management.
- The right to vote on the issuance of additional membership interest, receive notice of such issuance, or exercise pre-emption rights.
- The right to vote on or receive notice of membership redemptions.

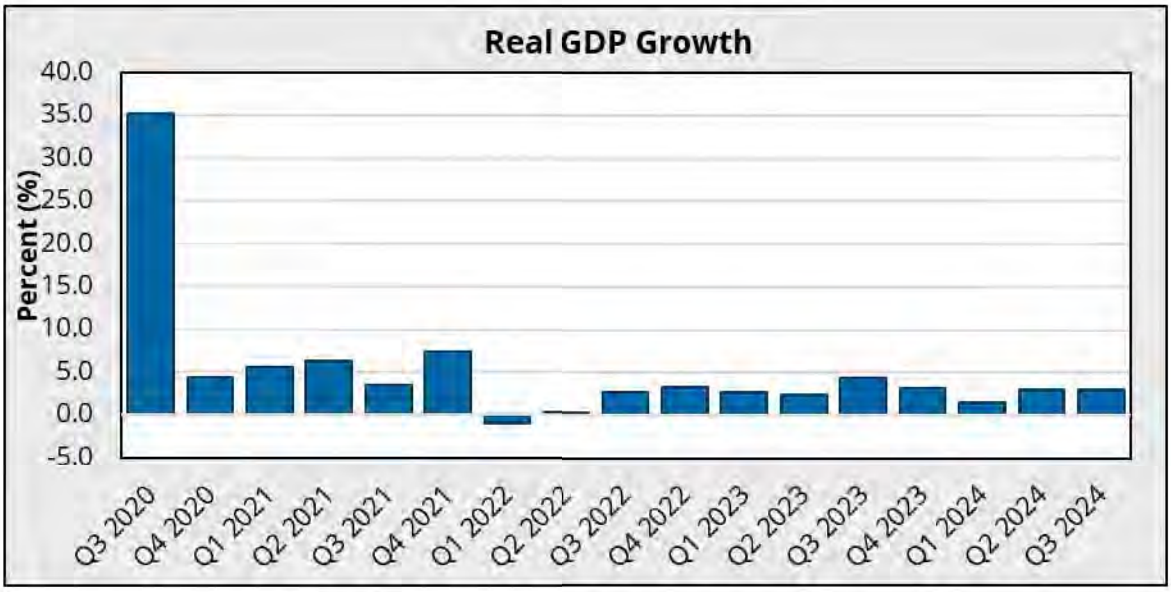
The appointed Management has full control over the management, operations, and affairs of the Company, including the reallocation of the membership interests on terms they determine. Since members do not have voting or approval rights over reallocation, the membership interest may be reallocated at any time, potentially impacting the economic interests associated with existing interest. Additionally, the transfer of membership interest requires Management consent, and Management may reject transfers at their discretion. Furthermore, Management may cause any membership interest to be redeemed by the Company for any reason.

Restrictions on Meetings and Information Access

Members do not have:

- The right to receive notice of, attend, speak at, or vote at general meetings.
- The right to inspect company records, accounts, or documents, except at Management's sole discretion.
- The ability to modify or amend the Company Agreement in any capacity.

For further details, refer to Appendix A for key provisions of the Company Agreement.



ECONOMIC AND INDUSTRY OVERVIEW

OVERVIEW OF THE U.S. ECONOMY

In the third quarter of 2024, the US economy expanded at a faster pace than in the second quarter. Inflation, which peaked at 8.99% in June 2022, declined to 2.73% by November 2024, reflecting progress toward the Federal Reserve's target. After a prolonged period of elevated interest rates to curb inflation, signs of a cooling labor market and stable prices led the Fed to cut rates by 25 basis points in December. The rate hikes that began in 2023 initially resulted in an inverted yield curve, signaling investor concerns about an economic slowdown, but the curve has since normalized following the presidential election. Meanwhile, US equity markets gained momentum, with major indices ending the year higher, supported by easing inflation and expectations of further monetary policy accommodation.

Gross Domestic Product[6]

Real gross domestic product (GDP) increased at an annual rate of 3.1 percent in the third quarter of 2024, following an increase of 3.0 percent in the second quarter. The acceleration in real GDP in the third quarter primarily reflected accelerations in exports, consumer spending, and federal government spending. These movements were partly offset by a downturn in private inventory investment and a larger decrease in residential fixed investment.

Population

Population growth is an important driver of long-term growth in an economy. The total population increased from 335.9 million in November 2023 to 337.7 million in November 2024.[7] The working-age population (15-64) increased from 208.9 million in November 2023 to 209.0 million in November 2024.[8]

Labor force participation had a sharp decline at the onset of the COVID-19 pandemic. It partially recovered in just several months and has been trending upward/flat. In November 2023, the civilian labor force participation rate was 62.8% and stands at 62.5% as of November 2024.[9]

Employment

Nonfarm payroll employment, according to the Bureau of Labor Statistics (BLS), rose by 227,000 in November 2024 and the unemployment rate changed little at 4.2 percent. Employment trended up in health care, leisure and hospitality, government, and social assistance. Retail trade lost jobs.

The U6 unemployment rate, which includes all marginally attached workers and those employed part-time for economic reasons, increased from 7.0% in November 2023 to 7.7% in November 2024.[10]

Forecasters surveyed by the Federal Reserve Bank of Philadelphia predicted the unemployment rate will increase from 4.0 percent in 2024 to 4.3 percent in 2025 and then decrease to 4.1 percent in 2027.

Inflation

According to the BLS, The Consumer Price Index for All Urban Consumers (CPI-U) increased 0.3 percent in November on a seasonally adjusted basis, after rising 0.2 percent in each of the following 4 months. Over the last 12 months, the all-items index increased 2.7 percent before seasonal adjustment.[11]

The index for shelter rose 0.3 percent in November and was the main factor in the all items increase. The food index increased 0.4 percent in November. The index for food away from home rose 0.5 percent over the month, while the index for food at home rose 0.3 percent. The energy index fell 0.2 percent over the month, after being unchanged in the preceding month.

The price pressures measure estimates the probability that the personal consumption expenditures price index inflation rate will exceed 2.5% over the next twelve months. This price pressures measure has declined significantly since a year ago, November 2023, declining from 53.20% to 5.10% in November 2024[12].The forecasters predict current-quarter headline CPI inflation will average 2.2 percent at an annual rate, down from the prediction of 2.5 percent in the previous survey[13].

The Dow Jones Industrial Average Index (DIA) closed at 376.87 on December 29, 2023, and closed higher at 425.50 on December 31, 2024. The NASDAQ Composite Index (QQQ) closed at 409.52 on December 29, 2023, and closed higher at 511.23 on December 31, 2024. In the graph below, the December 30, 2022, values were set to 100.

Construction & Housing Starts

Construction spending and housing starts are two other important indicators for the economy. Construction spending may indicate the sentiment in real estate markets and the soundness of the economy while housing starts are an alternative indicator of consumer sentiment. Increases in demand for newly constructed homes can lead to job growth in the construction industry, increased demand for appliances and furniture, and have ripple effects throughout the economy. Housing starts decreased from 1.510 million units in November 2023 to 1.289 million units in November 2024.[20] Construction spending, a seasonally adjusted annual figure, increased from $2.09 trillion in November 2023 to $2.15 trillion in November 2024.[21]

Consumer Sentiment

The University of Michigan Survey of Consumers reported that the Index of Consumer Sentiment has increased from 61.30 a year ago in November 2023 to 71.80 in November 2024. Although it has increased significantly from a year ago, the index is still well below the pre-COVID high of 101.0 in February 2020.[22] The index is based on a survey of consumer perceptions of present economic conditions and expectations of future conditions. The survey is based on a sample of 500 phone interviews consisting of 50 core questions conducted across the continental U.S. This is considered a leading indicator of future consumer expenditures and economic activity.

OVERVIEW OF THE PRIVATE EQUITY, HEDGE FUNDS & INVESTMENT VEHICLES INDUSTRY[23]

This industry is composed of private equity funds, hedge funds, closed-end funds, unit investment trusts and other financial vehicles. Entities in this industry manage securities or other assets on behalf of shareholders, unit holders or other beneficiaries to achieve high returns on targeted investments. This industry excludes insurance and employee-benefit funds, open-end investment funds and trusts, estates and agency accounts.

Executive Summary

In recent years, industry assets have become increasingly integral to institutional investors' portfolios and the larger asset management market. Institutional investors are individuals or organizations that trade securities in such substantial volumes that they qualify for lower commissions and fewer protective regulations since it's assumed that they're knowledgeable enough to protect themselves. Increasing demand from institutional investors has contributed to the surge in the industry's assets under management (AUM) and revenue during the current period.

In recent years, the industry has continued to enmesh itself more deeply within the broader financial ecosystem despite the challenges posed at the onset of the period. The pandemic, mainly in the first quarter of 2020, contributed to revenue declines for many operators. Many portfolios, previously thought to be sound investments, were reevaluated and businesses pivoted their strategies due to the unprecedented nature of the crisis. However, as inflation was rampant in the latter part of the period, the FED increased interest rates to control high inflation, although as inflationary pressures eased in 2024, the FED cut interest rates, which will increase liquidity in financial markets. The Fed is anticipated to cut rates further in 2025, increasing liquidity and driving the shift of investments into equities from fixed-income securities. Overall, over the past five years, industry revenue grew at a CAGR of 4.2% to $310.1 billion, including an increase of 2.5% in 2025 alone. Industry profit has climbed significantly and will comprise 49.6% of revenue in the current year.

Industry revenue will grow at a CAGR of 2.7% to $353.7 billion over the five years to 2030. The Federal Reserve is anticipated to cut interest rates as inflationary pressures continue to ease. These declining interest rates will increase liquidity in the markets. Private equity firms and hedge funds will have less difficulty raising capital for investments. As characteristics of the financial system change in light of post-financial crisis banking regulations and regulators' recognition of the importance of hedge funds within the financial system, hedge funds will likely experience heightened oversight.

VALUATION METHODOLOGY

There are three conceptually distinct methodologies that can be applied to estimate indications of value of a business or asset: (a) the income approach, (b) the market approach, and (c) the cost approach.

VALUATION APPROACHES

Income Approach

The income approach quantifies the present value of anticipated future income generated by a business or an asset. Forecasts of future income require analyses of variables that influence income, such as revenues, expenses, and taxes. One form of the income approach, the discounted cash flow (DCF) analysis, defines future economic income as net cash flow and takes into account not only the profit-generating abilities of a business but also the investment in capital equipment and working capital required to sustain the projected net cash flow. The forecasted net cash flow is then discounted to present value using an appropriate rate of return or discount rate. The income approach is unique in its ability to account for the specific contribution to the overall value of various factors of production.

Market Approach

The market approach considers the implied pricing in third-party transactions of comparable businesses or assets. Transactions are analyzed in order to identify pricing patterns or trends that can be used to infer value on the subject business or asset. Adjustments are made to the transaction data to account for relative differences between the subject and the comparable transactions. The primary strength of the market approach is that it offers relatively objective pricing evidence from the market at large and, aside from certain adjustments to the transaction data, requires few assumptions to be made.

Asset-Based (Cost) Approach

The asset-based approach considers the value of a business or security based on the value of its assets net of its liabilities. Replacement cost is often a primary indicator of the value of a business' assets. The asset-based approach is based on the reasoning that a prudent investor would not pay more for a business or asset than the cost to the investor to replace or re-create it. Historical cost data and reported book values are often used as initial indications of value, with certain adjustments made for physical deterioration, obsolescence, input costs, appreciation, or other factors. The asset-based approach makes fewer assumptions than the income approach, but its primary limitation is its inability to capture the value of many categories of intangible assets.

VALUATION METHODS

The following are common valuation methods used under the three approaches:

A. Income Approach
1. Discounted Cash Flow Method (multi-period model)
2. Direct Capitalization Method (single period model)
3. Excess Earnings Method

B. Market Approach
1. Guideline Public Company Method
2. Merger and Acquisition Method

C. Asset-Based Approach
1. Reproduction Cost Method
2. Replacement Cost Method
3. Net Asset Value Method

SUMMARY OF THE VALUATION APPROACHES AND METHODS

For the valuation of non-controlling interests in holding companies such as the Company, the asset-based approach is most commonly used. When applied to such companies, the approach consists of measuring the underlying net asset value (NAV) of an entity (the fair market value of the entity's assets less the fair market value of its liabilities). The NAV is then discounted as appropriate to determine the fair market value of the fractional interest in the entity.

However, in the case of the Membership Interest under consideration, the asset-based approach is not applicable. The Subject Interest does not confer control and only have a claim in respect of the underlying assets of CLO HoldCo in a winding up. Unlike equity interests that derive value from an allocable portion of the entity's net assets, the economic benefits of this interest are contingent upon discretionary distributions by Management. As such, the value is not directly tied to the entity's NAV, and an alternative valuation approach is required to appropriately reflect their characteristics and economic reality.

Given the nature of the Membership Interest, the income approach, specifically the discounted cash flow (DCF) method, is the most appropriate valuation methodology.[24] This approach estimates the present value of expected future distributions, if any, based on reasonable assumptions regarding Management's discretion in making such distributions. If no future distributions are expected, the value of the Subject Interest would be nominal. The DCF method captures the time value of money and the risk associated with the uncertainty of future distributions, providing a more accurate measure of the fair market value of the Membership Interest.

VALUATION ANALYSIS

INCOME APPROACH ANALYSIS

The income approach estimates the fair market value of an interest based on the present value of expected future economic benefits. In the case of the Membership Interest, these economic benefits are exclusively tied to discretionary distributions made by Management, rather than earnings or cash flows of the underlying NAV of the Company or CLO HoldCo. The approach involves forecasting expected future distributions and discounting them to present value using a rate of return that reflects the risk associated with the uncertainty and discretionary nature of these distributions. The resulting present value represents the fair market value of the Subject Interest.

Discounted Cash Flow Method

We developed a DCF model to determine the fair market value of the Subject Interest as of the Valuation Date. The DCF method projects the distributions that the member is expected to receive. Each projected distribution is discounted to present value using a rate that reflects the risk associated with the uncertainty and discretionary nature of these payments.

Projected Distributions

Distributions to the holders of the Subject Interest were projected based on discussions with Management and a review of historical distributions. Management indicated that the timing and size of future distributions will be discretionary, and that the Company does not intend to establish reserves for distributions.

Despite this discretion, Management currently intends to maintain distributions to the holders of the Subject Interest at levels consistent with those paid by CLO HoldCo over the past 12 to 24 months. We projected distributions to occur quarterly, with the next four quarters reflecting the average distribution of the corresponding quarters from the prior two years, totaling approximately $950,000. Beyond this period, distributions were assumed to grow at an annual rate of 2.5%, consistent with expected inflation, in perpetuity.

Cost of Equity

A cost of equity of 68.3% was applied to discount the expected discretionary distributions to the holders of the Subject Interest, reflecting their high-risk profile, lack of claim on underlying NAV, and absence of control over distributions. This rate was selected based on the third quartile of required returns for pre-seed venture capital investments from the Pepperdine 2024 private capital markets report, aligning with the speculative nature of potential cash flows, significant legal and governance risks, and the inability to force a sale or liquidity event. The Subject Interest exhibits characteristics similar to early-stage equity investments, where cash flows are highly uncertain, illiquidity risks are substantial, and investor returns are largely dependent on discretionary managerial decisions. Given these factors, a higher-end venture capital return benchmark was deemed appropriate.

Conclusion – Income Approach Analysis

Based on the forecasts and methodologies presented in this analysis, the income approach indicated a minority and marketable value of the Subject Interest of $2,045,531 as of the Valuation Date.

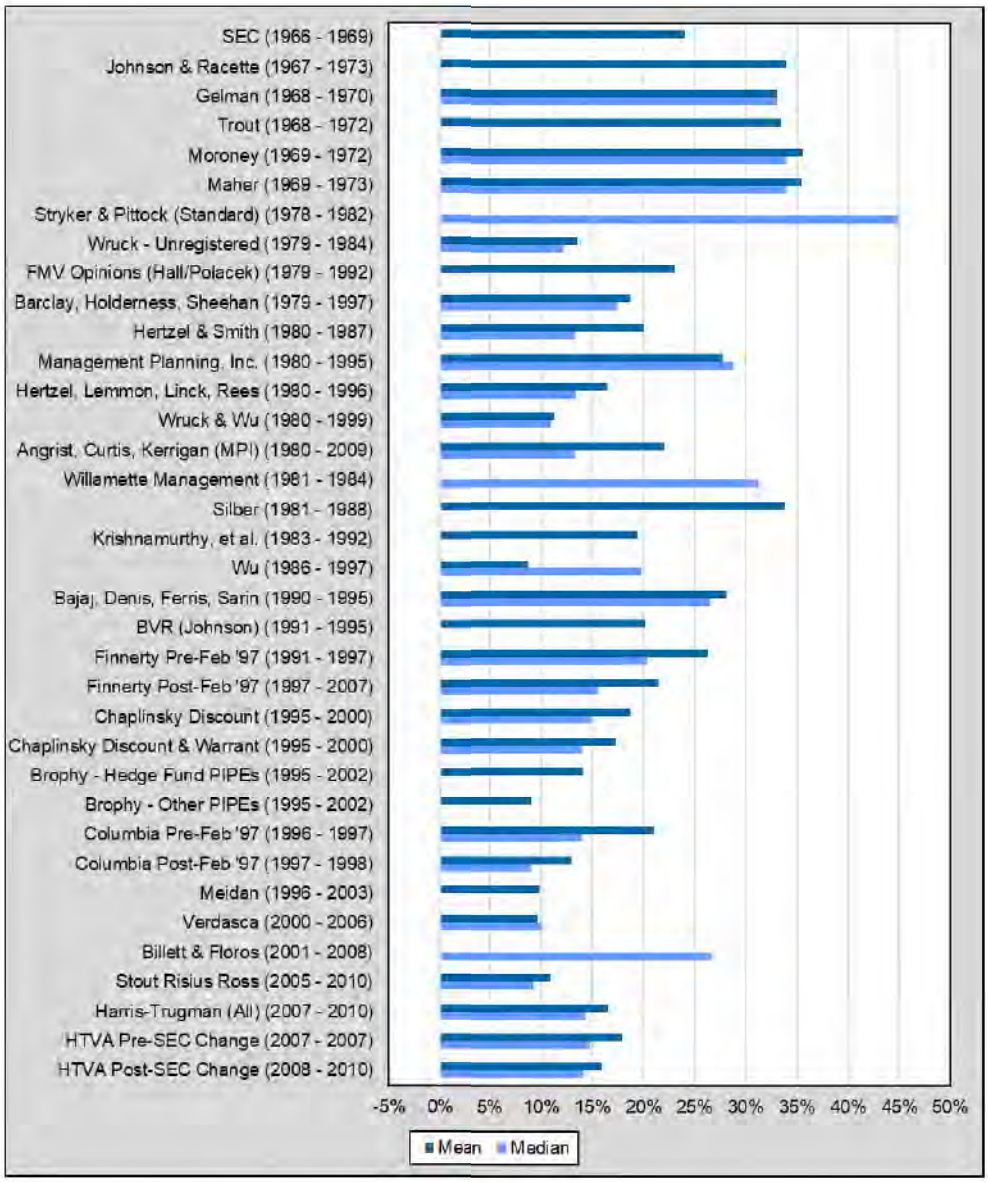
This conclusion of value implies a discount for lack of control (DLOC) of 99.2%, calculated as the concluded marketable value of the Subject Interest divided by the NAV of CLO HoldCo.[25]

To assess the impact of the discount rate, a sensitivity analysis was performed under the hypothetical assumption that projected distributions followed the risk profile of a risk-free perpetual bond with identical expected cash flows. In this scenario, a 4.65% discount rate, equivalent to the 30-year US Treasury yield as of the Valuation Date, was applied. Under this assumption, the minority, marketable value of the Subject Interest would be $44.7 million, resulting in an implied DLOC of 83.4%. However, this analysis does not reflect the substantial risks associated with the Subject Interest.

[25] Discounts for lack of control are applied based on the premise that an asset or interest in an entity in which an owner lacks decision making control would sell for less to a hypothetical buyer than an identical asset or interest which the same owner controls. Lack of control removes the investor's ability to make key decisions, including how to best manage the business, whether and how much cash to distribute to shareholders, or whether to pursue an acquisition or sale of the business.

CONCLUSION OF VALUE - SUBJECT INTEREST

Based on the methodologies presented in this analysis, it is our opinion that the value of the Subject Interest on a minority and marketable basis, as of the Valuation Date, can reasonably be stated as $2,045,531.



DISCOUNT FOR LACK OF MARKETABILITY

A discount for lack of marketability (DLOM) is necessary to determine the fair market value of the Subject Interest, as it cannot be readily sold or liquidated in an active market. The absence of a public exchange and transfer restrictions further constrain liquidity. A review of restricted stock studies was conducted to support the DLOM, examining the price differences between freely traded shares and comparable shares with resale restrictions. These studies provide empirical evidence of the impact of illiquidity on value, reinforcing the rationale for applying a marketability discount.

Restricted Stock Studies

The restricted stock studies reviewed included data from 1966 through 2010. The studies analyzed the difference in prices between publicly traded stock and restricted stocks of the same entity. The restricted stocks were identical to the traded stock except for marketability. A summary of the mean and median discounts of the restricted stock studies is presented in the following figure.

Summary of Restricted Stock Studies

SEC Institutional Investor Study[26]

The SEC Institutional Investor Study is a comprehensive restricted stock study with 398 transactions from January 1, 1966, through October 22, 1969. The study analyzed differences in discounts based on the following categories: trading market, type of institution purchasing the security, transaction size, sales of the issuer, and earnings of the issuer. The study found significant differences in discounts for type of exchange, sales, and earnings of the issuer. Stocks listed on the major exchanges had lower discounts than smaller exchanges and over-the-counter stocks. The study found higher discounts for companies with smaller sales and lower earnings.

Johnson & Racette Study[27]

Richard Johnson and George Racette performed a study on restricted securities purchased by registered investment companies between 1967 and 1973. The study included 86 observations sent from 75 investment companies that met the selection criteria. Johnson and Racette's analysis indicated an average marketability discount of 34%, in line with the range with the most common observations of 30-40%.

Gelman Study[28]

Milton Gelman of National Economic Research Associates, Inc. conducted a study of 89 restricted stock transactions executed by four investment companies from 1968 to 1970. The investment companies were formed in 1968 to specialize in restricted securities. A significant portion of the funds of the investment companies were invested in restricted stock transactions consisting of shares of large and small companies listed on large and small exchanges, over the counter, purchased directly from the companies, or from selling stockholders. Gelman's analysis found mean and median discounts of approximately 33%. In addition, 59% of the transactions had discounts of 30% or more and 36% of the transactions had discounts of 40% or more.

Trout Study[29]

Robert R. Trout, a principal of Trout, Shulman & Associates, analyzed 60 transactions involving the purchase of restricted stock by mutual funds from 1968 to 1972. Trout performed a regression analysis to determine the relationship between discounts and certain variables such as exchange listing, number of shares outstanding, and transaction size relative to total outstanding shares. Trout's findings suggested an intercept or implied mean and median discount of 43.5%.

Moroney Study[30]

Robert E. Moroney of Moroney, Beissner & Co. in Houston presented his restricted stock study to the Texas CPA Tax Institute in November 1972. The study was subsequently published in 1973. The analysis focused on 146 transactions in restricted securities by 10 registered investment companies. The discounts ranged from a 30% premium to a 90% discount with a mean and median discount of 35.8% and 32.8%, respectively.

Maher Study[31]

Michael Maher, a former estate and gift tax agent with the Internal Revenue Service, published his study results in 1976. The study observed discounts for 34 restricted stock transactions from 1966 to 1973. The results of his study suggested a mean discount for his total and adjusted analyses of 35.4% and 34.7%, respectively.

Standard Research Consultants Study[32]

A 1983 study by two Standard Research consultants, William F. Pittock and Charles H. Stryker, CPA, observed discounts relating to 28 private placements of common stock from October 1978 to June 1982. The discounts varied from 7% to 91% with a median of 45%. The results of the study tend to suggest higher discounts for companies with smaller revenues.

Wruck Study[33]

Karen Wruck's Harvard University study on firm value analyzed 83 sales of unregistered securities from 1979 to 1984, 37 of which were observable and included in the study's sample. On average, the offering price of the unregistered securities was set at 86.5% of the market price of the stock on the day before the announcement, indicating a discount of 13.5%. The median discount indicated was similar at 12.2%.

FMV Opinions Study[34]

The FMV Study included over 230 transactions from 1980 through April 1997, the date of the most recent amendment of Rule 144. The mean and median discounts were 22.3% and 20.1%, respectively. The authors of the study made the following generalization regarding their analysis:

- Companies with higher revenues resulted in lower discounts and vice versa
- Companies with unrestricted stock traded on exchanges exhibited lower discounts
- Discounts were higher for blocks exceeding 10% of ownership
- Discounts for companies with capitalization under $50 million ranged from 30% to 40%

Barclay, Holderness, Sheehan Study[35]

Michael J. Barclay, Clifford G. Holderness, and Dennis P. Sheehan's study observed private placements of large-percentage blocks of stock from 1980 to 1996. Specifically, the study analyzed private placements to a variety of different types of investors, namely active investors, passive investors, and management. Active investors were found to be willing to pay higher prices in their placements, indicating lower discounts, while management placements had the highest discounts, although they were found to not have a statistically significant difference from private placements. In total, the average discount across all private placements was 18.7% while the median discount was 17.4%.

Hertzel & Smith Study[36]

A 1993 study by Michael Hertzel and Richard L. Smith analyzed private placements between 1980 between 1987. The study's sample included private placements of 106 companies listed on the NYSE and AMEX exchanges as well as OTC firms. While the mean and median indicated discounts were 20% and 13%, respectively, more than 35% of the private placements observed had discounts greater than 25%.

Management Planning Study[37]

Management Planning, Inc. published the results of a study performed from 1980-1996 by Robert P. Oliver, ASA and Roy H. Meyers, ASA, CFA. They started with a base on 231 transactions and looked at discounts from the total sample, discounts from 53 transactions without registration rights, and discounts from 27 transactions with registration rights. A summary of the mean and median discounts from their study is presented in the following table.

Results of Management Planning Study

Discount	Entire Sample of 231 Transactions	53 Transactions without Registration Rights	27 Transactions with Registration Rights
Low	N/A	3.0%	N/A
Mean	29.0%	27.0%	12.8%
Median	28.0%	25.0%	9.1%
High	N/A	58.0%	N/A

The authors cite the difference between discounts with and without registration rights as evidence of the lack of marketability on an investment. Certain factors were also cited by the authors as the most influential in determining discounts. The factors include:

- Companies with higher revenues tend to have lower discounts
- Companies with higher earnings tend to have lower discounts
- Higher per share prices tend to have lower discounts
- Lower price volatility tends to result in lower discounts
- Block sizes representing a higher percentage of average trading volume tend to have higher discounts
- Large dollar blocks tend to have lower discounts

Hertzel, Lemmon, Linck, Rees Study[38]

A 2001 study by Michael Hertzel, Michael Lemmon, James Linck, and Lynn Rees analyzed private placements from 1980 to 1996. A total of 619 private placements were ultimately selected for the sample, which primarily consisted of small-cap, technology companies as 79% of the sample companies were traded on the NASDAQ exchange and the mean market value of equity for the companies was $188 million. Of the 619 private placements in the sample, 404 had sufficient information and disclosures to determine relevant discounts. The study indicated a mean discount of 16.5% and a median discount of 13.4%.

Wruck & Wu Study[39]

A study by Karen Wruck and YiLin Wu in 2008 supplemented Ms. Wruck's 1989 study and analyzed private placements of companies between 1980 and 1999. 1,976 private placements were selected in the sample. Of these, 1,854 had data for observed discounts. The study found a mean discount of 11.33% and a median discount of 10.96%.

Angrist, Curtis, Kerrigan (MPI) Study[40]

A study by Ezra Angrist, Harry Curtis, III, CFA, ASA, and Daniel Kerrigan, CFA in 2011 grouped a total of 402 transactions of unregistered stock into four groups based on the timing of the issuances in respect to the changes in holding period restrictions per Rule 144 as follows:

Results of Angrist, Curtis, Kerrigan (MPI) Study

Period	Observations	Mean Discount	Median Discount
Pre-1990	79	30.5%	32.3%
1990 - Apr 1997	110	25.1%	22.5%
May '97 - Feb '08	164	20.8%	16.6%
Feb '08 - Dec '08	49	5.9%	5.0%
Total	402	22.1%	19.6%

Results of the study show that as restriction periods have declined, so have discounts.

Willamette Management Associates Study[41]

Willamette performed an analysis of 33 private placements of restricted stock from January 1, 1981 through May 27, 1984. There was a brief overlap in the latter part of the period included in the Standard Research Consultants Study. The Willamette study resulted in a mean discount of 31.2%.

Silber Study[42]

William L. Silber, a professor of finance and economics at the Stern School of Business at New York University analyzed 69 private placements from 1981 through 1989. Silber's study results ranged from a 12.7% premium to an 84% discount with a mean discount of 33.8%. Silber also cited in his findings that discounts are larger when the block of restricted stock is large relative to the total shares outstanding and the dollar size is inversely related to the discount.

Krishnamurthy, et al. Study[43]

Srinivasan Krishnamurthy, Pual Spindt, Venkat Subramaniam, and Tracie Woidtke's 2001 study analyzed private placements from 1983 to 1992. The study performed different discount calculations for the following classifications: 1) restricted shares, 2) shares with registration pending, 3) shares not known to be restricted, and 4) shares with pending registration or not known to be restricted (groups 2 and 3 combined). The mean discounts for Groups 1-4 were 34.0%, 23.3%, 15.4%, and 16.0%, respectively. The overall mean discount was 19.4%.

Wu Study[44]

YiLin Wu's study on private placements was published in the Journal of Financial Economics in 2004. The study analyzed 301 private placements taking place from 1986 to 1997. Mean and median discounts of 8.7% and 19.8%, respectively, were observed.

Bajaj Study[45]

The Bajaj study expands on previous restricted stock studies, namely by Wruck and by Hertzel and Smith. This study analyzed 88 private placements occurring between 1990 and 1995. The 88 observations revealed results ranging from a premium of approximately 14% to a discount of 68%, with mean and discounts of 22% and 21%, respectively. The authors note four characteristics to consider regarding the target firm and private placement itself when analyzing discounts: the percentage of total shares offered, business risk, financial distress, and total proceeds.

Johnson Study (Business Valuation Review)[46]

Bruce A. Johnson, ASA of Munroe, Park & Johnson conducted a restricted stock study from 1991 to 1995. The study included 72 private placements with results varying from a 10% premium to a 60% discount with a mean discount of 20%. Johnson also cited four important factors to consider when evaluating potential discounts: positive net income, sales volume, transaction value, and net income strength.

Finnerty Study[47]

John D. Finnerty, professor of finance at Fordham University, performed two studies to compare the impact of the changes in law regarding restriction periods for private placements that occurred in 1997 and 2008. The first study focused on private placements from 1991 to 1997 and resulted in mean and median discounts of 26% and 20%, respectively. The second study focused on private placements from 1997 to 2008 and resulted in mean and median discounts of 22% and 16%, respectively.

Chaplinsky Purchase Discount and Warrant Study[48]

Susan Chaplinsky's and David Haushalter's 2010 study analyzed private placements with a concentration on contract terms. The study asserts that companies that are riskier and have poorer performance more commonly have private placement contracts with contingency terms rather than just offering a pure discount. The indicated mean discount considering only the purchase discount was 19%, and the median was 15%. The indicated mean discount considering purchase discounts as well as warrants was 17%, and the median was 14%.

Brophy PIPE Study[49]

David J. Brophy, Paige P. Ouimet, and Clemens Sialm of the University of Michigan performed a 2006 study that compared the effects of issuing private placements to hedge fund investors versus other investors. The study indicated a mean discount of 14% when private placements were issued to hedge funds, but the mean discount when the issuance involved other investors was just 9%.

Columbia Financial Advisors Study[50]

This study focused on the effect of the Rule 144 holding period reduction to one year. The study considered two periods: January 1, 1996, to April 30, 1997, and May 1, 1997, to December 31, 1998. The one-year holding period became effective April 29, 1997. A summary of the study results is presented in the following table.

Summary of Columbia Financial Advisors Study

	January 1, 1996 to April 30, 1997	May 1, 1997 to December 31, 1998
Number of Transactions	23	15
Low	0.8%	0.0%
Mean	21.0%	13.0%
Median	N/A	9.0%
High	67.5%	30.0%

Meidan Study[51]

Danny Meidan's 2006 study observed PIPE transactions between 1996 and 2003. The study categorized a total of 1,726 total private placement transactions into three groups: placements issued at discounts greater than 30%, placements issued between a 30% discount and 5% premium, and placements issued at a premium greater than 5%. The majority of these transactions fell into the 30% discount to 5% premium category at 1,278 placements, or roughly 74% of the total sample. The weighted average of the mean discounts was calculated as 9.8%.

Verdasca Study[52]

Andrew Verdasca of the Leonard N. Stern School of Business of New York University performed a 2007 study on a sample of 771 private placement transactions. The study found a discount range from a 78% discount to a 93% premium, but both the mean and median results indicated discounts of approximately 10%.

Billett & Floros Study[53]

Matthew T. Billett and Ioannis V. Floros' 2012 study focuses on two key features of financial relationships, contract terms and investor identity, in regard to private placements between 2001 and 2008. These factors were found to both complement and substitute for the other depending on individual circumstances. By analyzing 12,004 transactions in the PlacementTracker and PrivateRaise databases, the study concluded a median discount of 26.7%.

Stout Risius Ross Study[54]

Aaron M. Stumpf, CPA/ABV, Robert L. Martinez, and Christopher T. Stallman of the valuation firm Stout Risius Ross performed a study of restricted stock transactions from September 2005 through May 2010, focusing on discounts associated with shorter holding periods. The chosen time period includes transactions both before and after Rule 144 implementation. The study found that for all transactions considered, the average and median discounts were 10.9% and 9.3%, respectively. Stout Risius Ross also found that the most significant and reliable factors influencing discounts were subject company volatility, block size, dividends, profitability, growth, and size.

Harris-Trugman Study[55]

William Harris, AM of Trugman Valuation Associates, Inc.'s study was performed to analyze the impact of the economic recession on implied restricted stock discounts and the statistical relationships between implied restricted stock discounts and various company-specific variables. The study originally included 80 transactions of restricted stock sales that took place in 2007-2008. Due to the volatility of the Rule 144 holding period implementation, an additional 56 transactions were included in 2011. For the 47 transactions that took place prior to Rule 144 implementation, the average and median discounts were 17.9% and 14.8%, respectively. The 89 transactions analyzed after the rule implantation had average and median discounts of 15.9% and 14.3%, respectively. The overall group indicated mean and median discounts of 16.6% and 14.3%, respectively. The Harris-Trugman study noted that the only company-specific variable that had a notable statistical relationship with the implied discounts was volatility.

Summary of Restricted Stock Studies

The restricted stock studies previously mentioned were performed based on data from 1966 to 2010. Reported mean discounts range from 8.7% to 35.6%. The average of reported mean discounts was 20.8%, while the median was 19.4%. Reported median discounts range from 9.0% to 45.0%. The average of reported median discounts was 19.9%, while the median was 15.3%.

Some of the variation in the studies has to do with the specific periods analyzed. Prior to April 1997, the SEC-required holding period for restricted stocks was two years. That was decreased to one year on April 29, 1997. Similarly, the holding period was reduced from one year to six months effective February 15, 2008.

The following table shows the summary statistics for studies based upon the period studied.

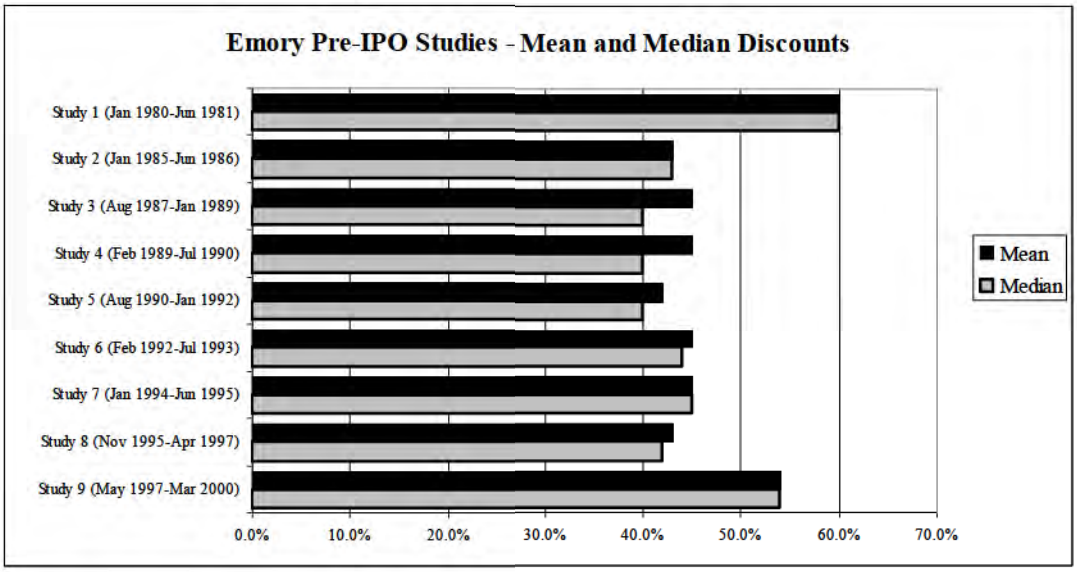
PRE-IPO STUDIES



In recent years, a number of pre-IPO studies were performed to support marketability discounts. The methodology applied in these studies is based on the initial offering price (the price prior to public trading). This price is reduced by the price per share at the time of the last private transaction (which must be less than five months prior to the initial offering to qualify for the study) and adjusted by an appropriate index to account for related market or sector movements over the five-month period. The resulting amount is divided by the initial offering price to arrive at the appropriate discount. The pre-IPO methodology of determining marketability discounts is a relevant method as private stockholders experience an inability to freely sell their stock in the open market, similar to restricted stockholders. Furthermore, private stockholders differ from unrestricted public stockholders, much like restricted stockholders, because there is not a public forum in which investments can be easily liquidated (which is only one of the differences between private and public stockholders).

Emory Studies

John Emory, Sr., ASA began his pre-IPO studies with Baird & Co. and continued his studies with his own firm, Emory Business Valuation, LLC. Emory has completed nine studies with the original published in June 1986. The first eight studies eliminated development-stage companies, companies with historical operating losses and companies with IPO prices less than $5 per share. The ninth study deviated from the previous studies as follows:

- Included only companies with “com” in their names
- Review period was increased from 18 months in the previous studies to 35 months
- All transactions were actual sales as opposed to the previous studies that included options
- Most of the companies did not have earnings

The study consisted of 53 transactions. The mean and median discounts by study are presented in the following chart.

Willamette Management Associates Pre-IPO Study

This study observed 556 companies and 1,007 transactions from 1975 through 1997. The adjusted mean discount[56] for each time period varied from 28.9% to 56.8%. The mean for the entire review period was 44.2%. The median discount range was from 31.8% to 73.1% with the overall median at 50.4%. The Willamette study found the standard mean discount was greater than 35% for all but three of the 14 periods in the study and that median discounts exceeded 40% in all but one year.

Valuation Advisors Pre-IPO Study

Two studies were conducted by Valuation Advisors for the calendar years of 1999 and 2000. The mean discount of these studies was 48.9%. The key feature of this study was the inclusion of holding period based upon the length of time between the private transaction and the IPO. The study confirmed the author's initial hypothesis that higher discounts accompany longer holding periods.

APPLICATION OF RESTRICTED STOCK STUDIES TO THE SUBJECT INTEREST

While there are potential application problems associated with various studies, especially the pre-IPO studies, a review of these studies is helpful in assessing a reasonable marketability discount for the Subject Interest. The mean and median discounts from the restricted stock studies ranged from 9% to 45%. The findings of the restricted stock studies as well as additional private placement studies by Hertzel and Smith suggest discounts can vary greatly depending on size, profitability and other company or security specific factors.

[56] Excluded highest and lowest deciles of indicated discounts

The latest restricted stock studies indicate mean and median marketability discounts in 14% range. We view the latest restricted stock studies as shorter term and therefore have taken the full sample of restricted stock studies into account in our analysis. Our analysis compares these interests to the comparable transactions and makes adjustments from the baseline discounts noted in the comparable transactions. Since the latest one-year study does not measure restricted securities with similar hold periods relative to the vast majority of other discount studies and since it has a relatively small sample size, we relied upon all the restricted stock studies' findings as the basis for our comparison.

The pre-IPO studies may be less indicative of appropriate marketability discounts, as much of the differences in the transaction prices between pre-IPO and IPO may include event premiums, such as the securing of additional capital which promotes the viability of the company. We did not use these studies for our analysis.

Factors Affecting Marketability

Based on the SEC Study, we noticed that as company size and profitability decreases, the marketability discount associated with restricted stock in these companies increase. We also note that various other factors affected discounts observed in the other studies. Most notably, the following affect marketability discounts:

- Increase in dividend payment decreases marketability discounts
- Increase in the size of interest and amount of control decreases discounts
- Increase in financial strength of the company decreases discounts
- Increase in restrictions increases marketability discounts

Given the characteristics of size, lack of distribution history, etc., we concluded a 20.8% marketability discount, with a standard deviation of 8.2%, as the baseline observed from all the restricted stock studies we reviewed.

DISCOUNT ADJUSTMENT DISCUSSION

In the following sections, we adjust the marketability discount to reflect the attributes of the Subject Interest.

The analysis originates with the baseline discount concluded in the previous section. Then, our analysis reviews several factors that affect marketability for both the interests being valued and the comparable interest which provides the base of comparison. Each interest is assigned a ranking from 1 to 5 (from Poor to Strong) based upon the respective feature. Then, the feature ranking for the Subject Interest is subtracted from the feature ranking from the comparable interest. This results in a range of outputs from -4 to +4

(from significantly worse to significantly better). The output is then multiplied by the standard deviation of the restricted stock studies (lack of marketability) to give an indication as to the adjustment necessary to the baseline discount based upon this feature. An importance factor (from low to high) is also attributed to each feature to provide a final scaling factor for the specific feature.

Once the individual feature scaling factors are computed, the baseline discounts are adjusted upward and downward by multiplying the baseline discount by the product of all relevant feature scaling factors.

SUBJECT INTEREST DISCOUNT CALCULATION

Adjustment Analysis – Marketability

The Subject Interest is characterized by a lack of rights and, is therefore, somewhat riskier and more volatile. The Membership Interest has restrictions on the transfer of the interest and only have a claim in respect of the underlying assets in a winding up.

The 20.8% baseline lack of marketability discount of the comparable investments reflects the discount that would apply to the Subject Interest if it had illiquidity features similar to restricted stock. Since the Subject Interest did not exhibit these exact characteristics, further adjustments were necessary to conclude fair market value.

Schedule C.3 summarizes the differences between the Subject Interest and the comparable investments used in our analysis. Overall, these factors resulted in a modest decrease in the discount from the baseline.

Based on the analyses and procedures outlined herein, we concluded that a lack of marketability discount of 20.0% is appropriate for the Subject Interest.

FAIR MARKET VALUE CONCLUSION

Based on the procedures outlined herein and the corresponding analysis, it is our opinion that the fair market value of the Subject Interest as of the Valuation Date can be reasonably stated as:

$1,637,192
ONE MILLION SIX HUNDRED THIRTY-SEVEN THOUSAND ONE HUNDRED NINETY-TWO DOLLARS

Fair Market Value Summary
		Value	Reference
Income Approach
Value of Subject Interest, Minority, Marketable		$2,045,531	Schedule B.1
Less: Discount for Lack of Marketability	20.0%	($408,339)	Schedule C.4
Value of Subject Interest, Minority, Non-Marketable		$1,637,192

Our conclusion of value implies an expected payback period of 1.27 years for the Subject Interest. Our conclusion of value is presented in the Summary Schedule as well as in the chart above.

DLOM Qualitative Scoring

Feature	Restricted Stock	Rating	Discount for Lack of Marketability (DLOM) Analysis	Rating	Advantage
Asset liquidity	Securities examined in marketability studies often are of smaller industrial operating companies, often with poor cash flows.	Fair	A majority of investments are in illiquid securities with poor cash flows. However, CLO HoldCo has approximately $91 million in net cash, representing approximately 34% of net asset value.	Strong	Better
Cash flow expectations	Restricted securities typically have a lower likelihood of paying dividends since they are associated with emerging companies.	Fair	Distributions are entirely dependent on manager discretion as to the timing and amount. Distributions are not required. Howevever, regular distributions have been made over the last five years.	Good	Slightly better
Contingent liabilities	Moderate probability of contingent liabilities depending on type of company and size. Smaller companies can fall prey to securities litigation.	Fair	Higher probability of contingent liabilities. CLO HoldCo has been engaged in numerous litigation matters.	Weak	Slightly worse
Debt capacity	Company leverage is usually on the higher side, as they are typically in the emerging stage.	Weak	CLO HoldCo has a small amount of debt representing 15% of net asset value.	Good	Better
Redemption/ withdrawal	No redemption rights.	Poor	No redemption rights.	Poor	Equal
Transfer restrictions	Transfer restrictions are limited to securities laws, with holding periods of two years. Holding period was shortened to one year in 1997, but studies generally relate to two year holds. Once the restriction time period is complete, no restrictions on transfer exist. Markets are liquid for non-restricted shares.	Fair	Transfers must be approved by the managers.	Poor	Worse
Value of entity	Companies range in size, however, restricted securities are more commonly utilized by smaller companies in the development stage. Approximately 50 percent of the companies issuing restricted stock included in the Silber study had sales less than $40 million.	Fair	Members have extremely limited rights to the underlying net asset value. CLO HoldCo is expected to generate revenue well in excess of the expected distributions.	Good	Slightly better
Value of interest	Purchasers of restricted securities tend to be institutional or private investors that are active in the public markets. The analysis associated with these types of securities precludes small holders from purchasing. Size of interests tend to be moderate.	Fair	At the manager's discretion, members may be diluted through the issuance of additional membership interests to non-existing members.	Poor	Worse

DLOM Footnotes and Comments

A) Our comparison matrix ranks the features of the Subject Interest and the comparable interests on a scale from 1 to 5.
1 = Poor 2 = Weak 3 = Fair 4 = Good 5 = Excellent
We then subtract the Subject Interest feature score from the comparable feature score to determine the advantage.
0 = Equal 1 = Slightly Better 2 = Better 3 = Much Better 4 = Significantly Better
-1 = Slightly Worse -2 = Worse -3 = Much Worse -4 = Significantly Worse

B) B is calculated as the weighted average standard deviation of the comparable investments in closed end funds multiplied by the Advantage Score.

C) The importance of the feature is assessed.
1 = Low 2 = Medium 3 = High

D) Weights are allocated as follows:
Low = 25% Medium = 50% High = 100%

E) To compute the adjustment, B is multiplied by D.

F) The scaling adjustment is computed as 1+E if E > 0 or 1/(1-E) if E < 0 for the particular feature.

G) The net scaling adjustment for marketability factors is the product of all marketability features' scaling adjustments.

H) This is the concluded baseline marketability discount determined for comparable investments.

I) This is the baseline marketability discount multiplied by the scaling factor.

THIRD AFFIDAVIT OF MARGOT MACINNIS

I, MARGOT MACINNIS of Grant Thornton Specialist Services (Cayman) Limited, 2nd Floor, Century Yard, Cricket Square, Grand Cayman, KY1-1102, Cayman Islands MAKE OATH AND SAY as follows:

FILED by Maples and Calder (Cayman) LLP, attorneys for the Plaintiff, whose address for service is PO Box 309, Ugland House, Grand Cayman, KY1-1104, Cayman Islands. (Ref: LRA/858403-000002/85175762)

1 I am the same Margot MacInnis who swore affidavits in these proceeding on 15 July 2025 ("MacInnis 1") and 24 July 2025 ("MacInnis 2"). Capitalised terms used in this affidavit have the same meaning as in MacInnis 1 and the other affidavits referred to below, to which I reply in this affidavit.

2 I am Managing Director of Grant Thornton Specialist Services (Cayman) Limited ("Grant Thornton"). I am one of the joint official liquidators ("JOLs") of Charitable DAF HoldCo, Ltd (in Official Liquidation) (the "Company"), alongside Sandipan Bhowmik also of Grant Thornton. Mr Bhowmik and I were appointed as JOLs of the Company by an order of this Honourable Court dated 6 May 2025 in Cause No. FSD 116 of 2025 (JAJ) (the "Appointment Order").

3 I am duly authorised by my fellow JOL, Sandipan Bhowmik, to make this affidavit on the JOLs' behalf in support of the JOLs' summons dated 15 July 2025 (the "Application"). The purpose of this affidavit is to set out the JOLs' evidence in reply to the following affidavits filed by the Defendants:

3.1 First Affidavit of Paul Murphy sworn 18 September 2025 ("Murphy 1")[1] and its exhibit PM-1.

3.2 Second Affidavit of Mark Eric Patrick sworn 17 October 2025 ("Patrick 2") and its exhibit MEP-2.

3.3 Third Affidavit of Mark Eric Patrick sworn 17 October 2025 ("Patrick 3") and its exhibit MP-3.

3.4 The unsworn First Affidavit of Douglas M. Mancino dated 30 July 2025 ("Mancino 1") and its exhibits.

[1] I shall refer to the first affidavit of Paul Murphy dated 4 June 2025, filed in the Company's liquidation proceedings, as the "Murphy Liquidation Affidavit"

4 The facts and matters set out in this affidavit that are within my own personal knowledge are true and correct. Where the contents of this affidavit are not within my own personal knowledge, I have stated the source of my knowledge and such facts are true and correct to the best of my information and belief.

A1 Purported Justifications for the "DAF Restructuring"

7 In MacInnis 1 at paragraphs 65 to 78, I went through the justifications provided by the Defendants for the DAF Restructuring in their evidence filed in the Company's liquidation proceedings to that point. Having now read the Defendants' responsive evidence, there do not appear to be any new justifications given for the DAF Restructuring beyond those I have already addressed in MacInnis 1.

The 'No Economic Interest Justification'

Murphy 1

8 In Murphy 1, Mr Murphy makes several assertions as to the nature of the Supporting Organisations' rights and interests in the Company including:

8.1 At paragraph 13.2 – the Company's Participating Shares "confer qualified rights to participate in the profits or assets of the Company".

8.2 At paragraph 16 – the Supporting Organisations were "gifted [their] shares around the time of the Company's incorporation".

8.3 At paragraph 21 - "I do not believe that it is disputed that the circa US$270 million in assets held by CLO and its subsidiaries (the "DAF Entities") were contributed neither by the Supporting Organisations nor the U.S. Charities".

9 I understand these assertions to be directed at the Defendants' argument that the DAF Restructuring was justifiable because, on their case, the Supporting Organisations did not have an economic interest in the Company but, rather, the Company's purpose was to act as a throughput for discretionary, charitable donations to qualifying recipients (which were not necessarily the Supporting Organisations or the Charities) (i.e. the 'No Economic Interest Justification'). Why the JOLs believe the 'No Economic Interest Justification' does not stand up to scrutiny is set out at paragraphs 66 to 69 of MacInnis 1. Mr Murphy has made no attempt to address the points made therein.

10 At paragraph 68 of Murphy 1, Mr Murphy relies on a single email exchange between Mr Dondero and Mr Patrick from over 10 years ago to support the proposition that the Supporting Organisations had no economic interest in the Company and its underlying assets[2]. The JOLs find this to be an unconvincing attempt to seek to justify retrospectively Mr Murphy's and Mr Patrick's conduct in transferring away the Company's only significant asset. It is not clear if Mr Murphy was even aware of that email exchange at the time of undertaking the DAF Restructuring. In any event, Mr Murphy has made no attempt to explain why, even if the Supporting Organisations' participating shares only entitled them to discretionary cash distributions for charitable uses[3], he thought it in their best interests to completely extinguish that right by way of the DAF Restructuring, which left the Company with no assets that would generate income to be able to make said discretionary distributions[4].

11 Furthermore, I note that pursuant to amendments to the Company's Articles approved by Mr Patrick and Mr Murphy in 2025, which appear to have been made without notice to or with the engagement of the Supporting Organisations, the Company's object was amended to benefitting "community-focused non-profit foundations globally or for purposes recognised as charitable", as determined by the directors (which did not exist in the prior iterations of the

[3] As set out in the first affidavit of Mark Patrick in his capacity as Management Shareholder dated 4 June 2025 filed in the Company's liquidation proceedings at paragraph 67, where the email exchange from 2014 referred to by Mr Murphy is referred to.

[4] i.e. the Partnership Interest

Articles).[5] The JOLs are concerned that this amendment was passed by Mr Patrick and Mr Murphy in an attempt to give them a purported basis to transfer the Company's sole valuable asset to another entity under their control, so long as they continued to expend some of the Fund's assets on charitable donations, whilst simultaneously paying themselves excessive compensation.

12 At paragraphs 28 to 29 of Murphy 1, he acknowledges that the express purpose of the Fund under the LPA was to benefit the "Indirect Charitable Owners". As Mr Patrick observes at paragraph 64 of Patrick 2, distributions from the Fund were expressly intended to address the financial needs of the "Indirect Charitable Owners":

> "Distributions shall be made to the Limited Partner [the Company] at the times, in a manner (including in kind) and in the aggregate amounts determined by the General Partner after taking into consideration available cash and the needs of the Indirect Charitable Owners of the Limited Partner for funds to cover their administrative and operating expenses…." [emphasis added]

13 It does not appear to be in dispute that before the DAF Restructuring, the "Indirect Charitable Owners" were the Supporting Organisations or the Charities in their capacity as the indirect equity owners of the sole "Limited Partner", which under the LPA was defined as the Company. I understand one of the arguments put forward by Mr Patrick and Mr Murphy to be that because the definition of "Limited Partner" referred to the Company "and each person subsequently admitted as a limited partner by the General Partner pursuant to the terms of the LPA", this gave them the authority to approve the transfer of the Partnership Interest from the Company to CDM at a significant undervalue. In other words, they claim their actions were lawful because

[5] Similarly, the JOLs are concerned that Mr Patrick appears to have relied on the provision of the Company's Articles permitting the Company "to do all such things [that] in the opinion of the Directors are or may be incidental or conducive to" the Company's 'Mission Statement' as a broad mandate allowing him to effect the DAF Restructuring under the pretense of serving charitable purposes - see paragraph 44, footnote 11 of Patrick 2.

the LPA did not forbid the admission of new limited partners and they were fulfilling the Fund's purpose. The JOLs find that to be an entirely unconvincing argument.

14 In any event, nowhere has it been explained in Mr Murphy's evidence or Mr Patrick's evidence how they satisfied themselves that it was in the Company's best interests and fulfilling of the Company's purpose in its Articles (being to provide donations to the "Indirect Charitable Owners" of the Company[6]) to transfer away the Company's only asset worth in the vicinity of US$270 million for minimal consideration. The most that is offered by Mr Murphy is at paragraphs 32 and 33 of Murphy 1:

> "32. If a Participating Shareholder became a Restricted Person, they could be forced to transfer their shares under Article 21 of the 2025 AOA [MM-1/13]. Therefore an "Indirect Charitable Owner" effectively meant a qualifying Participating Shareholder of the Company who was not a Restricted Person.
> 33. I believe this had the effect of enabling the Company and its directors to uphold and give primacy to the charitable purpose of the CDAF Fund, and required the directors of the Company to discharge their fiduciary obligations in the interests of that purpose rather than particular beneficiaries."

15 The JOLs are of the view that Mr Murphy and Mr Patrick's "Restricted Person" concerns were greatly overblown and likely manufactured by Mr Patrick and Mr Murphy as a means of justifying their conduct in approving the DAF Restructuring. I refer to paragraph 43.10(c) below and paragraphs 70, 72, and 74 to 75 of MacInnis 1 on this issue.

[6] As Mr Murphy acknowledges at paragraph 18 of Murphy 1

Patrick 2

16 Mr Patrick also appears to advance the 'No Economic Interest Justification' at paragraphs 62 to 70 of Patrick 2 under the heading "Discretionary Nature of Participating Shares", and at paragraphs 71 to 79 in relation to Mr Patrick and Mr Murphy's decision to cause the Company to issue a majority shareholding to DFW as part of the DAF Restructuring. The JOLs do not believe that any of the points made by Mr Patrick therein stand up to scrutiny, let alone justify the DFW Share Issuance.

17 At paragraph 71 of Patrick 2, he reasons that issuing a majority shareholding in the Company to DFW "would have the effect of diluting the holdings of the Highland Foundations and safeguarding the [Fund's] charitable mission". The JOLs find it concerning that Mr Patrick has admitted in sworn evidence that he intentionally diluted the holdings of the Company's existing Participating Shareholders. The JOLs also do not understand how that dilution could "safeguard the Fund's charitable mission". In particular, whilst the dilution would introduce other shareholders into the Company, it would not sever any link between the Company and Mr Dondero through the Supporting Organisations, which remained Participating Shareholders. Further, it seems to the JOLs that the Defendants' explanations are inconsistent; on the one hand, they say that the Supporting Organisations had no economic interest in the Company and were merely the recipient of discretionary distributions, but, on the other, say that, through the Supporting Organisations Mr Dondero exercised power and control over the Fund. The two propositions cannot both be true. In reality, the position is that the Supporting Organisations had valuable economic rights in the Company, including upon winding up, but they did not have the ability to control the management of the Company.

18 Whilst Mr Patrick refers to his purported concerns that the Supporting Organisations had become 'Restricted Persons' to justify the DFW Share Issuance, the JOLs believe that the true purpose of the DFW Share Issuance was to seek to weaken the prospects of any just and equitable winding up petition filed by the Supporting Organisations against the Company[7].

19 At paragraphs 66 to 68 of Patrick 2, Mr Patrick makes the points that: (i) payment of dividends by the Company to its Participating Shareholders (the Supporting Organisations) was at the discretion of the directors; and (ii) the Charities had contractual rights[8] to fees or distributions from their respective Supporting Organisations that were calculated as a percentage of the Company's NAV.

20 As regards (i), it is commonplace for the articles of association of Cayman Islands companies to give directors discretion as to the payment of dividends to participating shareholders. As regards (ii), I note that Mr Patrick confirms that the quantum of the dividends that the Company historically paid to the Supporting Organisations mirrored those that the Supporting Organisations were obligated to pay to their respective Charities pursuant to their contractual rights: "the quantum of their annual distributions [from the Company] was dependent on the contractual terms which governed the relationship between each of the Highland Foundations and their underlying charities." Yet at the same time, Mr Patrick appears to assert that because the Articles provide that dividends are at the discretion of the directors, this permitted the directors to entirely disregard the interests of the Supporting Organisations (and their respective Charities contractual rights to distributions) by transferring away the Company's sole valuable asset for minimal consideration. The result of which was to reduce the Company's NAV by approximately 99%; rendering the Charities' contractual rights to distributions from their Supporting Organisations effectively worthless. The JOLs believe that to be a wholly unsustainable assertion.

[7] See the advice Mr Patrick and Mr Murphy sought from Walkers on the DFW Share Issuance and the correspondence referred to in paragraphs 38 to 39 of MacInnis 1

[8] Under the 'Legal Relationship Agreement' for Highland Kansas City and the 'Operating Agreements' for Highland Dallas and Highland Santa Barbara, as described in paragraph 18.5 of MacInnis 1

21 As regards paragraph 72 of Patrick 2, contrary to what Mr Patrick asserts, the advice from Walkers is contested by the JOLs to the extent that Mr Patrick is relying on it to suggest that the DFW Share Issuance was lawful because the Supporting Organisations had no economic interest in the Company. In this regard, the second advice from Walkers referred to in paragraph 73 of Patrick 2 expressly acknowledges that the DFW Share Issuance would not have been in the best interests of the Company's existing shareholders[9]. I also note that, having read the two Walkers' advices, they are silent on whether the Directors were acting for an improper purpose in issuing a majority shareholding to DFW. Accordingly, the JOLs believe that the DFW Share Issuance was undertaken for an improper purpose in circumstances where the Directors had advice that it would not be in the best interests of the Company's existing Participating Shareholders but proceeded to do so in any event. In the premises, the JOLs believe the DFW Share Issuance amounted to a wilful breach of the Directors' fiduciary duties.

22 Further, Mr Patrick's suggestion that the Supporting Organisations had no economic interest in the Company appears to the JOLs to be at odds with the fact that the Articles expressly provide that the Participating Shareholders are entitled to share in the profits of the Company (as Mr Patrick admits). The Articles also provide that in the event of a liquidation, the assets of the Company shall be distributed to the Participating Shareholders and holder of the management shares pari passu after satisfaction of creditor claims (Article 122, internal page 146 of Exhibit MEP-2). The JOLs consider that this makes quite clear that the Participating Shareholders did hold a real economic interest in the Company. The JOLs believe that the Directors' decision to transfer the Company's major asset away without notice or fair value consideration, to the detriment of the Participating Shareholders, is a wilful breach of their duties.

23 As regards paragraph 74 of Patrick 2, he refers to email advice given by Maples in response to questions by Shields Legal ("Shields") (on instructions from Mr Patrick and Mr Murphy) as to the Directors' powers to issue shares under the Articles. Having read these emails, it appears to the JOLs that Shields provided Maples with no factual context for the proposed share issuance. Also, Maples were not asked to opine on whether the directors would be in breach of their duties by carrying out the share issuance. Shields simply asked Maples to advise on whether the directors had the power to issue new shares, and "if the basis for that decision is the best interest of [the Company], what are some of the reasons they could cite for doing so?". In other words, Shields asked Maples to assume that the Directors' decision was in the best interests of the Company. In the premises, the JOLs believe that this is yet another example of the Directors deliberately limiting the information provided to the Company's advisors as a means of obtaining the specific advice they were seeking in order to justify the DAF Restructuring.

24 At paragraph 81 of Patrick 2, Mr Patrick refers to the FTI Report and the ValueScope Reports and asserts that they "concluded that the DAF's NAV was not a suitable method to value the Participating Shares". However, from my reading of Patrick 2, Mr Patrick has not addressed any of the issues with those reports that I identified at paragraph 77 of MacInnis 1.

The 'Dondero Control Justification'

25 In Murphy 1, Mr Murphy also makes several assertions that appear to be directed at the Defendants' argument that the DAF Restructuring was justified because it was necessary to create distance between the Fund and Mr Dondero, whom they allege was exercising dominion and control over the Supporting Organisations (i.e. the 'Dondero Control Justification'). One example is at paragraph 23 of Murphy 1:

> "As noted at paragraphs 46 to 97 of my June Affidavit, a corporate restructuring (the "DAF Restructuring") took place in late 2024 and early 2025 because Mr. Patrick and I were concerned that James Dondero was seeking to exert improper dominion and control over the assets of CDAF Fund through the Supporting Organisations, which (amongst other value-destructive things such as the UBS litigation noted at paragraph 46.2 of my June Affidavit) could expose the Company (and, as its directors, Mr. Patrick and me) to potential breaches of U.S. tax laws and regulations"

26 At paragraph 60 of Murphy 1, Mr Murphy asserts that the JOLs "seem to have summarily discounted these critical matters, although it is unclear to me why they have done so", and that the JOLs have "align[ed] themselves with Mr Dondero". Contrary to this assertion - the JOLs have not aligned themselves with Mr Dondero – I have never met or spoken to Mr Dondero and I understand from my fellow JOL Mr Bhowmik that he has never met or spoken to Mr Dondero either. The JOLs have analysed the facts of the DAF Restructuring objectively and taken appropriate advice, which has led the JOLs to decide that action should be taken to recover the Partnership Interest that has been misappropriated from the Company by the Defendants. Mr Patrick and Mr Murphy's explanations for the DAF Restructuring have not been "summarily discounted" - the JOLs have thoroughly investigated them and taken advice on them. The JOLs' findings on each of those explanations are as set out in paragraphs 65 to 78 of MacInnis 1 (paragraphs 70 to 76 with respect to the "Dondero Control Justification"). In the JOLs' view, Mr Murphy and Mr Patrick have not provided any credible answers to the points made therein.

27 The list of purported 'Dondero Concerns' are repeated at paragraph 44 of Patrick 2. I address each of them below insofar as they are addressed in Murphy 1 and Patrick 2.

The purported tax concerns arising from Mr Dondero's alleged attempts to exercise "dominion and control"

28 At paragraphs 63.2, 68 and 74 of MacInnis 1, I referred to the Carrington Coleman Memo, which Mr Patrick and Mr Murphy relied upon to complete the DAF Restructuring. As I explained, the JOLs have serious concerns about the veracity of the Carrington Coleman Memo. On 18 September 2025, the JOLs obtained an order for provisional relief in the United States Bankruptcy Court for the District of Delaware against various of the Company's former service providers, including Carrington Coleman, for turnover of copies of all books and records in the service providers' possession generated or received in their representation of, or engagement by the Company ("US Discovery Order") (pages 2 to 9). The documents that have been produced have reinforced the JOLs' concerns about the Carrington Coleman Memo and the Directors' reliance on it. For example, Carrington Coleman have produced:

28.1 An earlier version of the Carrington Coleman Memo dated 17 March 2025 (pages 10 to 26), of which the JOLs were not previously aware, which indicates that the author had not independently verified the facts that had been provided by Mr Patrick and Shields to Carrington Coleman in order to prepare their US law tax advice: "I have not been asked to nor have I independently verified the facts that you [the memo is addressed to Charitable DAF Holdco Ltd] have provided to me as they relate to DAF, Dondero, SOs (individually or collectively, including tax-exempt status by the IRS), and other individuals or entities associated therewith or who may have contracted or interacted therewith." (page 10). The 17 March 2025 version of the Carrington Coleman Memo also contains the statement: "I cannot opine as to how the IRS will treat DAF's supporting organisations, as I do not have enough information about their internal operations" (page 831)

28.2 An undated document entitled "Carrington Coleman Tax Legal Advice" (pages 27 to 28), which was supplied to Carrington Coleman by Shields by way of data-room upload. The exact date and author of the memo is unknown. However, the JOLs believe it can be reasonably inferred from the following text that Mr Patrick and Mr Murphy were specifically seeking advice to support their rationalisation for, and the propriety of, the DAF Restructuring, which they anticipated would be challenged in the Cayman Islands Court:

> "1. Problem: avoid Cayman judge determines the MidCo Contribution Transaction (the "Contribution") is viewed as prejudicial to the participating shareholders and ignores the management's purported reliance and reasoning availing itself of Delaware law. The concern is the judge will likely say management has entrenched itself in light of the timing of the Contribution and the supporting organization letter.
> 2. Solution: provide info such that Cayman court will be less inclined to second guess U.S. legal advice that management received to undertake the Contribution."

29 I also note on the subject of Mr Patrick and Mr Murphy's purported tax concerns that at paragraph 19 of Patrick 2, Mr Patrick refers to certain correspondence between him and Mr Mancino between 2011 and 2013[10], which he asserts demonstrates that: "an overarching consideration when structuring and staffing the DAF, the Company and the Highland Foundations, was "to avoid a potential IRS argument that Mr Dondero would have indirect de facto control over the three supporting organizations [i.e. the Highland Foundations] as prohibited by section 509(a)(3)". Mr Patrick appears to be referring specifically to the memo of advice issued by Mr Mancino to Mr Patrick dated 12 September 2013 with subject line "Charitable DAF HoldCo, Ltd. and Highland Supporting Organizations – Succession Issues"[11]. The full quote from the memo, which is largely omitted from Patrick 2, is as follows:

> "Whichever approach is utilized, the question remains who can properly succeed Grant Scott as owner of the Management Shares and as the sole director of [the Company]. The designated successor should not be Mr. Dondero, a business partner, an entity more than 35% controlled by Mr. Dondero, an employee of such a controlled entity, or certain family members (not including siblings). This is to avoid a potential IRS argument that Mr. Dondero thereby would have indirect de facto control over the three supporting organizations as prohibited by section 509(a)(3). Subject to these limitations, we believe that one workable approach would be for Mr. Dondero's sister to succeed Grant Scott as the owner of the Management Shares and as the sole director of HoldCo. His sister could be authorized to designate her own successor (or this could be handled in an amendment to the Articles of HoldCo), and thereafter the selection of the successor owner of the Management Shares could fall to the board of an entity over which Mr. Dondero does not have voting control (perhaps the board of one or more of the three supporting organizations)."

[11] At pages 62 to 66 of Exhibit MP-1

30 The footnote to the third sentence of the above extract of the memo reads:

"The concern would be that if Mr. Dondero (or a person or entity under his control) owns the Management Shares of HoldCo, he would then be in a position to cut off all funding to the three supporting organizations and, therefore, at least indirectly have the ability to influence the election of the "independent" directors of each SO by the Institutional Member."

31 It therefore appears to the JOLs that the "potential IRS argument" of indirect de facto control by Mr Dondero over the Supporting Organisations was raised in relation to a hypothetical scenario whereby Mr Dondero or an entity controlled by him was to be transferred the management shares in the Company and take over as sole director of the Company from Mr Scott. However, Mr Dondero did not become the sole management shareholder and did not become the sole director of the Company in place of Mr Scott - Mr Patrick did.

32 The JOLs have now filed the affidavit of Marvin Bradford Bedingfield sworn on 14 November 2025 in reply to Mancino 1 and Reid 1 ("Bedingfield Affidavit"). The Bedingfield Affidavit addresses matters of US tax law relevant to the purported tax concerns relied upon by Mr

Patrick and Mr Murphy to justify the DAF Restructuring. I have read the Bedingfield Affidavit and note that, inter alia, Mr Bedingfield concludes the following (at paragraphs 41 and 42):

> "Both Mr. Mancino and Mr. Reid note generally that an IRS investigation could result in significant costs[12] – but as noted above, those are costs to the Supporting Organization(s), not to the Company. Were the Supporting Organizations to lose their supporting organization status and become private foundations, they would still be 501(c)(3) private foundations (as is the DFW Foundation), and that would have no negative US tax consequences to the Company itself. Even if the IRS were to revoke entirely the 501(c)(3) status of one or more of the Supporting Organizations, that would not by itself result in liabilities or material negative consequences to the Company under US tax law – the Supporting Organization that lost its 501(c)(3) status might be forced to dissolve, and under its governing documents would be required to transfer its remaining assets to its Supported Organization (the community foundation that controls it), which could continue holding the participating shares. If for some reason the Supporting Organization were to find itself in receivership, the receiver would at most step into the shoes of the Supporting Organization as participating shareholder, but would not by virtue of such receivership have any more rights to access the underlying assets of the Company than did the Supporting Organization as participating shareholder.
> Regardless of the potential result of the filing of the Form 13909 by Mr. Mancino on the potential public charity or 501(c)(3) status of the Highland Dallas Foundation, I do not see any material risk under US tax law to the underlying assets of the Company arising from any potential change in the tax-exempt status of one or more of the Supporting Organizations"

[12] Mancino DM-1, paragraph 14; Reid AR-1, paragraph 70.

33 The Bedingfield Affidavit has reinforced the JOLs' already strong belief that, when properly analysed, Mr Patrick's and Mr Murphy's purported concerns about the tax status of the Supporting Organisations are self-serving and do not justify their drastic actions in effecting the DAF Restructuring.

The purported 'alter ego' concerns

34 At paragraph 38 of Patrick 2, Mr Patrick refers to the "UBS Litigation" involving Mr Dondero and UBS. The Company is not a party to the UBS Litigation and therefore the JOLs do not have a complete understanding of it. However, the JOLs understand that the 'alter ego' claims made by UBS against CLO HoldCo (the Sixth Defendant) were dismissed pursuant to an order of the New York Supreme Court dated 8 July 2024 (page 29). Mr Patrick asserts that the fact that CLO HoldCo was originally a defendant to the UBS Litigation "caused Mr Murphy and I to be concerned that UBS (and/or other creditors) might seek collection from the DAF Structure on the basis that it constituted the 'alter ego' of Mr Dondero, and, as outlined in Murphy 1, was an important consideration when evaluating the DAF Restructuring." The JOLs have taken US law advice on the test for a corporate entity to be treated as an individual's 'alter ego' under US law (privilege over which is not waived), from which the JOLs believe that the purported 'alter ego' concerns held by Mr Patrick and Mr Murphy were overstated and also did not justify the DAF Restructuring.

The purported concerns about Mr Dondero misappropriating the assets of the DAF Structure and/or making demands to use those assets for certain transactions

35 At paragraphs 34 and 35 of Patrick 2, Mr Patrick refers to an alleged incident in or around November 2023, when Mr Dondero asked Mr Patrick "to transfer approximately US$1.5 million of the DAF's assets to offshore entities owned by Mr Dondero" in order to settle Mr Dondero and Mr Ellington's legal fees relating to the UBS Litigation. Mr Patrick states that he refused to effect the transfer of funds requested by Mr Dondero because to do so would pose "a real risk to the integrity of the DAF Structure". Mr Patrick's account therefore appears to be that Mr Dondero had no authority to issue commands or directives to Mr Patrick as to the use of the Fund's assets, and Mr Patrick had the power and authority to refuse to follow Mr Dondero's instructions (which he says he in fact did). With that being so, the JOLs do not understand why Mr Patrick contends that it was necessary to implement the DAF Restructuring in order to remove the Fund and its assets from the control of Mr Dondero. By Mr Patrick's own admission, Mr Dondero did not have control over decision-making with respect to the assets of the Company, the Fund, and the broader Fund structure prior to the DAF Restructuring - Mr Patrick did.

36 At paragraph 36 of Patrick 2, Mr Patrick refers to paragraphs 111 to 119 of his first affidavit filed in the Company's liquidation proceedings ("Patrick 1") wherein he listed potential transactions that he asserts would have ultimately benefitted Mr Dondero and related entities to the detriment of the Fund structure. I note that Patrick 1 confirms that Mr Patrick rejected all such potential transactions proposed to him after his appointment as the "Control Person" (as he refers to it)[13]. The JOLs believe this further demonstrates that there was no risk of Mr Dondero exercising control over the Fund structure in circumstances where Mr Patrick had the power to refuse to implement Mr Dondero's requested transactions (and did in fact refuse to implement them). In short, once Mr Scott had ceased to hold the control position, and Mr Patrick had assumed it, any historic control alleged to have been exerted by Mr Dondero (through his close relationship with Mr Scott) was irrelevant.

37 The JOLs also find it ironic that Mr Patrick cites his concern that Mr Dondero was attempting to misappropriate the assets of the DAF Structure and use it "as his own personal piggy-bank" when that is precisely what appears to have been done by Mr Patrick (and Mr Murphy) through the DAF Restructuring. That is, Mr Patrick has:

[13] See for example, paragraphs 113 to 116 of Patrick 1 in relation to transactions proposed by Mr Dondero or NexPoint that Mr Patrick on behalf of the Fund declined to proceed with.

37.1 Misappropriated the Company's asset (the Partnership Interest) by transferring it to an entity owned and controlled by him (CDM);

37.2 Abused his control of the Fund and its subsidiary entities in the Fund structure by causing them to pay him grossly excessive salaries and bonuses using money that would otherwise be available for making distributions to the Supporting Organisations and onwards to the supported Charities (see paragraphs 52 to 57 below); and 37.3 Made token donations through DFW of approximately US$10,000 each to various charities for the months of July and August 2025[14] totalling US$266,323.58, and a further single donation of US$157,120.50 in September 2025, but by this stage Mr Patrick had already caused various Fund entities to pay him US$10,548,778 and US$3,325,000 in purported salaries and bonuses in 2024 and the first half of 2025 alone, respectively.

38 Mr Patrick also contradicts himself when seeking to explain the reasons for the DAF Restructuring where he states at paragraph 45 of Patrick 2 that "I firmly believe that the steps undertaken as part of the DAF Restructuring were necessary to protect the DAF and its charitable mission…from retaliatory actions by Mr Dondero", but then at paragraph 47 states that he anticipated that the DAF Restructuring would be met by retaliatory actions by Mr Dondero. This is yet another reason why the JOLs believe the true purpose of the DAF Restructuring was to benefit Mr Patrick and Mr Murphy personally rather than any legitimate reason involving Mr Dondero.

39 In relation to the first step of the DAF Restructuring, at paragraph 58 of Patrick 2, Mr Patrick asserts that it was necessary to insert CDM into the structure between the Company and the Fund "as a pre-emptive measure to enhance governance, mitigate alter-ego risk, and preserve compliance with U.S. charitable-tax requirements by guarding against improper interference by Mr Dondero." Mr Patrick does not provide any detail of why inserting CDM into the structure would achieve the above outcomes. It is unclear to the JOLs how or why inserting a new entity into the structure beneath the Company would in any way "enhance governance" or guard against any alleged improper interference by Mr Dondero in the Supporting Organisations' and/or Company's affairs. The only examples Mr Patrick has provided of the alleged improper interference are instances where Mr Dondero asked Mr Patrick to undertake certain transactions on behalf of Fund entities, which Mr Patrick says he refused. Mr Patrick retained the same power and authority to refuse to follow Mr Dondero's instructions as to the use of Fund assets both before and after CDM was inserted into the structure, which suggests to the JOLs that there was no actual risk of external interference in the Company's affairs by Mr Dondero whilst Mr Patrick was in control. However, the interposition of CDM did enable Mr Patrick to procure the redemption of the Company's interest in it, whereas the Company held an unredeemable interest in the Fund prior to that point. The JOLs believe that this was the real purpose that lay behind the insertion of CDM into the Fund structure.

[14] Pages 30 to 31. The JOLs have obtained this information from DFW pursuant to the Interim Undertakings, which require retrospective disclosure of monthly transactions below US$50,000 and advance notice of payments over US$50,000.

The Redemption

40 At paragraph 84 of Patrick 2, he refers to a retrospective fairness opinion that CDM obtained from Weaver as to the fairness of the proceeds paid by the Company (under Mr Patrick and Mr Murphy's control) to the Supporting Organisations for the redemption of their Participating Shares (the "Weaver Opinion")[15]. I note that Mr Patrick criticises the JOLs for not referring to the Weaver Opinion in MacInnis 1 (or the JOLs' evidence in support of the application for sanction to commence these proceedings) in circumstances where it was provided to the JOLs on 1 July 2025. As to this:

[15] At pages 382 to 384 of Exhibit MEP-2

40.1 The Weaver Opinion was provided to the JOLs by Shields as part of the JOLs' efforts to obtain the Company's books and records. It was one document of many uploaded by Shields to the JOLs' data room on 1 July 2025 as part of Shields' second batch of uploaded documents. No specific attention was drawn to the Weaver Opinion by Shields or any of the Defendants at that time.

40.2 Having since reviewed the Weaver Opinion, the JOLs' have serious doubts as to its reliability, particularly considering that it was sought and obtained by CDM after the Redemption had already occurred. The Weaver Opinion is three pages long and appears to be mostly a series of disclaimers and caveats to the opinion, such as the following –

> "We have not been asked to undertake, and have not undertaken, an independent verification of any information provided to or reviewed by us, nor have we been furnished with any such verification performed by Management or any other party and we do not assume any responsibility or liability for the accuracy or completeness thereof. …
> We did not perform either a selected public company analysis or a precedent transaction analysis because we were unable 1.1 to find public companies or precedent transactions with publicly disclosed financial information that we deemed sufficiently comparable to the Company or the Transaction, respectively. …
> The Opinion does not address any other aspect or implication of the Transaction, the Agreement, or any other agreement or understanding entered into in connection with the Transaction or otherwise, including: (a) the relative merits of the Transaction as compared to other business strategies that might have been available to the Company; (b) the Company's underlying business decision to effect the Transaction; (c) the fairness of any portion or aspect of the Transaction to creditors or other constituencies of the Company, or to any other party, and (d) the fairness of any portion or aspect of the Transaction to any one class or group of the Company's or any other party's security holders or other constituents vis-à-vis any other class or group of the Company's or such other party's security holders."

40.3 The Weaver Opinion also expressly relies on the FTI Report, which in turn was explicitly not to be distributed and was not to be used to support a transaction.

40.4 The Weaver Opinion was also referred to and relied upon in the evidence in support of DFW's application to remove the JOLs filed in the Company's liquidation proceedings (the "Removal Application"). On 5 September 2025, Maples sent a letter to Baker & Partners which set out the JOLs' position that the Removal Application was bound to fail (pages 32 to 42). In that letter, Maples addressed the Weaver Opinion as follows –

"(iv) Your client alleges that, in seeking sanction to commence FSD Proceedings, the JOLs failed to disclose the Weaver Opinion (which opined that the proceeds paid to the Highland Foundations in their capacity as Participating Shareholders following the DAF Restructuring were fair). It is worth remembering that, in opposition to the JOLs' sanction application with respect to the engagement of counsel, your client, Mr Patrick, and Mr Murphy produced three voluminous affidavits (running to 142 pages of text and 1,699 pages of exhibits) outlining their justifications for the transactions in issue, all of which were sworn very shortly after the date of the Weaver Opinion. It is telling that in the volume of evidence filed, the Weaver Opinion was not mentioned once. Clearly that indicates that neither your client (nor Mr Patrick nor Mr Murphy) considers it material. We agree.

(v) Your client's recent reliance on the Weaver Opinion (obtained after the date of the JOLs' appointment) completely misses the point. The interposition of CDM between the Company and its interest in the Fund was part of the overall scheme that removed the Company's interest in the Fund from its economic stakeholders. The fact that CDM has managed to obtain a fairness opinion with respect to CDM's redemption of the Company does not answer the question of the propriety of interposing CDM between the Company and the Fund in the first place (or the broader transactions)."

A2 The correspondence with the Supporting Organisations leading up to the DAF Restructuring

41 At paragraph 23 of Murphy 1, he states that:

"It is important to note that Mr. Patrick and I took a staged approach towards the DAF Restructuring, which was responsive to increasingly aggressive actions taken by the Supporting Organisations, their legal advisors, and other parties associated with Mr. Dondero. We had hoped that the Supporting Organisations would engage with us to allay our concerns about Mr. Dondero's overreach. It was only when it became clear that Mr. Dondero, through the Supporting Organisations, had no intention of engaging with us in good faith that the final stages of the DAF Restructuring were implemented".

42 Similarly, at paragraphs 59 and 60 of Patrick 2, he asserts that he and Mr Murphy decided to implement the DAF Restructuring because:

"…it became increasingly clear that the Highland Foundations were adopting a hostile position and seemed determined to impugn my and Mr Murphy's management of the Company. Mr Mancino exchanged several emails and letters with H&K during this period, culminating in his letter dated 14 February 2025. In this letter, Mr Mancino addressed the Highland Foundation's incorrect assertions regarding director fees and legal expenditure, the provision of financial information to the Highland Foundations, and flagged his concerns regarding Mr Dondero's influence and control over the Highland Foundations…

Having received no response to Mr Mancino's letter [dated 14 February 2025], Mr Murphy and I concluded that it would be prudent to implement the CDM Restructuring"

43 Those statements do not accord with the contemporaneous correspondence between representatives of the Supporting Organisations and Mr Murphy and Mr Patrick. Whilst that correspondence is referred to in general terms in Murphy 1 and Patrick 2, from the JOLs' review, neither of them have squarely addressed the substance of the concerns raised by the Supporting Organisations in that correspondence and why their requests for information about the Company's affairs were refused (beyond asserting that they had no rights to the information). Whilst the JOLs have not been provided with a full set of Mr Patrick or Mr Murphy's emails from their Company email addresses[16], the JOLs have in their possession the following correspondence between the Supporting Organisations on the one hand and Mr Murphy and Mr Patrick on the other in the period 11 November 2024 to 14 February 2025:

43.1 On 11 November 2024, the Supporting Organisations (minus CFNT), sent a letter to Mr Murphy in his capacity as a director of the Company and Charitable DAF Holdings Corp which set out that they "no longer have confidence that the governance structures of, including but not limited to Charitable DAF-GP, LLC, Charitable DAF HoldCo, Ltd., Charitable DAF Fund, L.P. and CLO HoldCo, Ltd. (collectively the DAF-related entities, can function appropriately" (pages 43 to 44) (which I refer to as the "No Confidence Letter" in MacInnis 1). The No Confidence Letter referred to "conflicting information" that they had been provided with as to the "financial inner workings of the DAF-related entities", which gave rise to "significant concerns about how the corpus of these funds is administered and spent". The No Confidence Letter also conveyed that their efforts to obtain information from the Company on these matters had been "rebuffed", and suggested that "because we have substantial concerns, out of an abundance of caution, and until an accounting can be conducted, we believe it is inappropriate for anyone to authorize the depletion of further assets of DAF-related entities".

43.2 On 23 January 2025, Ms Julie Diaz of the Highland Dallas Foundation sent an email to Mr Patrick on behalf of herself and the other CEOs of the Highland Santa Barbara Foundation and the Highland Kansas City Foundation (pages 45 to 58). In her email, Ms Diaz stated that: "We have been discussing the need for a better understanding of the assets and thought it would be helpful if you could provide us with several detailed reports now that the new structure is in place". Her email then requested (i) income statements for the Company for the previous four years; (ii) a listing of the Company's underlying assets; (iii) the Company's audited financial statements; and (iv) an explanation of the current structure of the Company and its subsidiaries.

43.3 On 28 January 2025, Ms Diaz sent a further email to Mr Patrick and Mr Murphy noting that a response had not been received to her 23 January 2025 email and asserting that: "[t]his failure to provide the courtesy of a response continues a pattern of a lack of communication and transparency as to assets and financials of DAF Holdco under your stewardship. These failures exacerbate the concerns we previously communicated in our letter to [Mr Murphy] in November 2024" (page 55). The letter concluded by requesting that the Company be wound up and that Mr Murphy and Mr Patrick not dissipate the Company's assets until the Supporting Organisations' concerns had been resolved.

43.4 On 30 January 2025, Mr Murphy sent an email in response to Ms Diaz indicating that he had understood that "the next steps following the meetings between our respective legal representatives (Douglas Mancino and David Rosenberg) in December last year was for us to present directly to the foundations/supporting organisations in order to address some of the concerns in the letter dated 11 November 2024" (pages 51 to 52). Mr Murphy noted that "it was surprising to receive the 28 January Email which repeats some of the allegations in the 11 November Letter" and informed Ms Diaz that he and Mr Patrick had not received Ms Diaz's 23 January email as it was sent to an out-of-use email address. The email also included the following paragraphs:

> "I must, however, record that we have some growing concern around the content and circumstances your email of 23 January 2025, specifically that it might be interpreted as a premise to attempt to inappropriately exercise control over DAF HoldCo and/or its assets. As a reminder, when the participating shares in DAF HoldCo were issued to the supporting organizations, there was no conveyance of voting rights or control, and it has always been well understood that such shares did not convey voting rights or control. In particular, without waiving applicable privileges, we are advised that any attempt to exert control of DAF HoldCo or its assets by James Dondero would be both inappropriate, unlawful and inconsistent with DAF HoldCo's charitable mission. We are deeply concerned that this outreach, which began following Mark's resignation from Skyview in October 2024, may be the supporting organizations acting as proxy for Mr. Dondero. We hope we are wrong, but the supporting organizations have received the same ValueScope quarterly financial reports and charitable distributions over time without change and without issue.
> Whilst we are cooperating with the foundations/supporting organizations to provide additional information we have no legal obligation to do so (which is not disputed). In no way should our cooperation be construed as an implicit acknowledgment of any duty to continue providing information to you or as a waiver of any DAF HoldCo's rights and remedies." (pages 53 to 54)

43.5 It is not clear to the JOLs how Mr Murphy interpreted the Supporting Organisations' requests in Ms Diaz's email of 23 January 2025 for basic financial information and to not dissipate the Company's assets as "a premise to attempt to inappropriately exercise control over [the Company] and/or its assets."

43.6 On 31 January 2025, Mr Michael Stockham of Holland & Knight, the US attorneys then acting for the Supporting Organisations, sent an email to Mr Murphy that included the following statements:

(a) "I am appalled by your response. As fiduciaries, you and Mr. Patrick manage $270 million in assets for the benefit of charities that support the most vulnerable in their communities. Whatever your side's obvious antagonism to Mr. Dondero, the fact remains that the underlying assets are ultimately for these charitable missions. And your focus and mission should be not only to ensure the success of the investments, but transparency to the ultimate beneficiaries. The assets are for their benefit, not Mr. Dondero, not Mr. Patrick, and not you." [emphasis added] (pages 49 to 51).

I have emphasised the last sentence of this extract as it summarises the JOLs' position on the facts of this case and the JOLs' reason for commencing these proceedings – that is, Mr Patrick and Mr Murphy appear to have treated the Partnership Interest and the underlying assets it represents as their own, and justified it on the basis that those assets do not belong to Mr Dondero, when in fact the assets belong to none of them – they belong to the Company and enure to the ultimate benefit of the Supporting Organisations and their underlying Charities[17]. As such, the JOLs on behalf of the Company see it as their duty and responsibility to seek to recover the Partnership Interest and preserve as much of the assets it represents as possible.

(b) "The Supporting Organizations have legitimate concerns. The last information they received from SEI in July of 2024 - before Mr. Patrick shut down that line of communication and information - showed legal expenses had increased to $6 million in the first six months of 2024 compared to $4 million for all of 2022. If annualized, and at that pace, legal expenses appeared to be on path to exceed $12 million for 2024. That's a 300% increase. Director fees skyrocketed from $40 thousand in 2022 to $2.25 million in the first six months of 2024. Again, annualized, these fees are on a path to exceed $5 million in 2024. That is a 12,400% increase."

In fact, the JOLs have discovered that the director fees paid to Mr Murphy and Mr Patrick in 2024 were closer to US$11 million. The JOLs believe this level of compensation to be unjustified and approved by Mr Patrick and Mr Murphy in wilful breach of fiduciary duty. I address this issue further at paragraphs 63 to 67 below.

(c) "The Supporting Organizations have no interest in the animosity or dysfunction between Mr. Patrick and Mr. Dondero. What they do have an interest in, is an active campaign by you and Mr. Patrick to continue to manage the assets in a shroud of mystery, dripping out details and information whenever you deem it appropriate. To do so simply proves our concerns that the governance structure of these entities is broken.

[17] And Mr Patrick and Mr Murphy's fiduciary duties were to act in the best interests of the Company, which in effect meant the best interests of the Supporting Organisations and the Charities.

Yes, it is true that we have been in discussions for months about transparency, and you provided some information. However, what has been ignored are the repeated requests for a simple set of financials. But how hard is it to create a short PowerPoint on the current state of financial statements, a simple diagram of the alleged new governance structure (who are the advisory board members?), your visions for the funds, and then provide a one-hour briefing to the Supporting Organizations? If you are truly managing the funds to the institutional-investor standards represented in our call, these details should be at your fingertips. Yet somehow this has all devolved into delays and posturing related to the dust up between Messrs. Dondero and Patrick.

That type of myopic thinking is not appropriate in this situation. The Supporting Organizations deserve answers, and the transparency needs to happen sooner rather than later." (pages 50 to 51)

43.7 On 4 February 2025, Mr Murphy sent a short email response to Mr Stockham noting that he and Mr Patrick "remain open to finding a framework within which we can resolve your clients' concerns." (pages 48 to 49). Mr Murphy's email did not address the concerns raised in Mr Stockham's email about the apparent significant increases in expenses and director compensation.

43.8 On 7 February 2025, Mr Stockham sent an email to Mr Murphy that began as follows:

"I appreciate your email, and your willingness to find a framework to resolve the concerns, but am flummoxed by your, "struggle" to understand our growing frustration.

I do not believe it should be difficult to comprehend the request for transparency around $270 million dollars you control as a fiduciary for the benefit of charities in Dallas, Kansas City, and Santa Barbara. Indeed, these odd legal and rhetorical machinations of yours and Mr. Patrick miss the point. These monies are for improving the quality of life of children, building pathways for everyone to have a fair opportunity to succeed, and among other things-creating a lasting impact on young minds by fostering a love for education. They are not meant to pay you and Mr. Patrick millions in director fees. If I'm wrong, please educate me." (page 45)

43.9 In the same email, Mr Stockham explained the video calls that had taken place between representatives of the Supporting Organisations and representatives of the Company (under the control of Mr Patrick and Mr Murphy) on 6 November 2024, 20 November 2024, and 11 December 2024 (page 46). Mr Stockham's account was that: (i) no information was provided to the Supporting Organisations on the underlying assets and financial condition of the Fund at those meetings; and (ii) shortly after the 11 December 2024 video call, the Supporting Organisations received a demand from Mr Patrick and Mr Murphy to withdraw their concerns about the governance of the Company and the Fund, which demand suggested that if the Supporting Organisations wished to receive more information, they needed to execute a non-disclosure agreement with a liquidated damages clause. The JOLs do not presently have a copy of this demand letter to verify the above statements

43.10 On 14 February 2025, Doug Mancino of Seyfarth, sent a letter to Mr Stockham on behalf of the Company (pages 59 to 60). In this letter, Mr Mancino made the following assertions:

(a) "First, Charitable DAF is not paying Paul or Mark "millions in director fees," as alleged in your January 31st email. The information supplied by SEI is simply incorrect."

This assertion appears to be false. As explained in paragraphs 63 to 67 below, the Defendants have disclosed that the director fees and expenses paid to Mr Murphy and Mr Patrick (which they themselves approved) exceeded US$11 million for 2024. This is in addition to the US$500,000 paid to Mr Murphy in 2025[18] and the US$3,608,333 paid to Mr Patrick in 2025[19] (of which the JOLs are aware), which amounts were paid notwithstanding the Supporting Organisations had requested in their 11 November 2024 letter that there be no further dissipation of assets until their concerns were resolved.

(b) "[the Supporting Organisation's] demands for information have only increased, even though, as you yourself acknowledged in one of our early calls, Participating Shareholders of Charitable DAF have no rights to information and what they already get exceeds that to which they are entitled." (page 59)

This illustrates that Mr Patrick and Mr Murphy were continuing to rely on their position that the Supporting Organisations had no legal rights to the financial information they were seeking as a basis for refusing to provide any such information to them. The JOLs do not know why Mr Murphy and Mr Patrick took this position.

(c) "Finally, the controlling role and influence that Mr. Dondero and his agents such as Lucy Bannon appear to be exerting over the Supporting Organizations raise significant private benefit concerns that call into question whether one or more of the Supporting Organizations is at risk of becoming a Restricted Person as that term is defined Article 21 of Charitable DAF's Articles of Association. I know David will be familiar with the seminal Tax Court decision in American Campaign

[18] See paragraphs 60-62 below

[19] See paragraph 49 of MacInnis 1

Academy v. Commissioner, 92 T.C. 1053 (1989),which involved the denial of section 501(c)(3) exemption because the Internal Revenue Service concluded that the organization was operated for the substantial nonexempt purpose of benefitting private interests. We offer no opinion on that question but raise it as a matter of concern to Charitable DAF." (pages 59 to 60)

Based on the documents and correspondence the JOLs have in their possession, this appears to be the first time the "Restricted Person" reasoning for the DAF Restructuring was raised in correspondence with the Supporting Organisations]. In that regard, I note that by the date of the Seyfarth letter, the first two steps in the DAF Restructuring had already been completed (the LP/LLC Exchange and DFW Share Issuance). It therefore appears to the JOLs that the "Restricted Person" reasoning was introduced at a late stage to support the final step of the DAF Restructuring – the Redemption and extinguishment of the Company's interest in the Fund. The JOLs have now also filed the Bedingfield Affidavit addressing matters of US tax law relevant to this issue, which is addressed at paragraphs 32 to 33 above.

43.11 I also note that at paragraph 60 of Patrick 2, Mr Patrick asserts that: "Having received no response to Mr Mancino's letter [dated 14 February 2025], Mr Murphy and I concluded that it would be prudent to implement the CDM Restructuring. Accordingly, on 18 December 2024, the Company, CDM and the GP executed a Deed of Assignment and Assumption, the effect of which was to transfer the Company's interest in the DAF to CDM, with the Company obtaining 100% of the membership interest in CDM". This statement is contradictory and false. It cannot have been the case that the lack of a response from the Supporting Organisations to Mr Mancino's letter of 14 February 2025 led Mr Patrick and Mr Murphy to implement the CDM Restructuring by way of executing the Deed of Assignment and Assumption almost two months earlier on 18 December 2024. The JOLs believe this to be yet another concerning statement from Mr Patrick indicating that his underlying motivation for the DAF Restructuring was not as he suggests in his evidence.

44 It appears to the JOLs from the above correspondence that, contrary to what is suggested by Mr Murphy at paragraph 23 of Murphy 1, the Supporting Organisations' concerns about Mr Murphy and Mr Patrick's management of the Company and the Fund were conveyed in correspondence before Mr Murphy and Mr Patrick's concerns about "Mr Dondero's overreach" were conveyed to the Supporting Organisations.

45 Mr Murphy also points to no specific documentary evidence to substantiate his assertion that: "It was only when it became clear that Mr. Dondero, through the Supporting Organisations, had no intention of engaging with us in good faith that the final stages of the DAF Restructuring were implemented" (i.e. the suggestion that Mr Murphy and Mr Patrick only undertook those steps in response to an alleged lack of good faith engagement from the Supporting Organisations). At paragraph 94 of the Murphy Liquidation Affidavit, Mr Murphy makes a similar statement in response to the emails from Mr Stockham and Ms Diaz referred to above whereby they sought information about the Company and its assets: "Given the position of Ms Diaz and Michael Stockham, I formed the view that the Highland Foundations had no genuine interest in seeking to resolve their perceived and unfounded grievances and Mr Patrick and I proceeded to execute the DFW Share Issuance." The JOLs find that to be an extraordinary admission that Mr Patrick and Mr Murphy made the deliberate decision to dilute the Supporting Organisations' shareholding in the Company by issuing shares to DFW (an entity controlled by Mr Patrick) in circumstances where –

45.1 The Supporting Organisations' grievances as to the apparent increase in expenses and director remuneration were not addressed by Mr Patrick or Mr Murphy in any way;

45.2 The Supporting Organisations' requests for financial information were not responded to or satisfied; and 45.3 The only response from Mr Patrick and Mr Murphy was to seek to point the finger at Mr Dondero's perceived influence as a basis for their own purported concerns about the Supporting Organisations' intentions.

46 In any event, the JOLs believe that Mr Murphy's sworn statements extracted at paragraph 45 above are contradicted by evidence that suggests that Mr Patrick and Mr Murphy were contemplating transferring away the Company's assets and/or the Fund's assets to new entities from as early as 9 November 2023. I refer to the following:

46.1 Paragraphs 76.3 and 76.4 of MacInnis 1 and the Work Plan prepared by Shields for the Company dated 9 November 2023[20].

46.2 On 23 January 2024, Shields sent an email to Walkers, then Cayman Islands attorneys for the Company, which set out some "Proposed Cayman Restructuring Options" in response to "some very minor issues with the transfer of the membership interests and role of managing member of Charitable DAF GP, LLC from (i) James Dondero to Grant Scott and (ii) Grant Scott to Mark Patrick" (pages 61 to 62). The proposed options included some that would appear to have had the effect of transferring away the Company's and/or the Fund's assets to new entities:

> "3. HoldCo forms new LP and contributes old LP assets to new LP
> a. Create new Charitable DAF Fund II, LP
> b. Create new Charitable DAF GP II, LLC

[20] At pages 1433 to 1440 of Exhibit MM-1

c. HoldCo contributes old LP to new LP

d. New GP is managing member of new LP

e. Old LP dissolves and distributes all assets to new LP

4. Form new HoldCo and contribute old HoldCo assets to new Holdco

a. Create new Charitable DAF HoldCo II, Ltd. subsidiary of old HoldCo

b. Create new Charitable DAF Fund II, LP subsidiary of new HoldCo

c. Create new Charitable DAF GP II, LLC

d. New GP is managing member of new LP

e. Old HoldCo liquidates and contributes all assets to new HoldCo

f. New HoldCo issues new participation shares to old participation shareholders".

46.3 On 8 March 2024, Shields sent an email to Walkers which set out Mr Patrick and Mr Murphy's objective as: "…the goal is to reduce or eliminate the possibility of litigation filed from the participation shareholders to Charitable DAF HoldCo, Ltd. We understand that participation shareholders do not generally having [sic] voting rights under the articles, but they do have a consent right to actions that would modify the rights of the participation shares. We have discussed a couple solutions on our side, and we would appreciate your team's input and creativity." (pages 63 to 64). The proposed "solutions" included the following:

"Blocker LLCs (with participation shareholder consent)

- Form new blocker LLCs between Charitable DAF HoldCo, Ltd. and the participation shareholders…

Transfer Charitable DAF Fund, LP in some manner (without participation shareholder consent)

- Charitable DAF HoldCo, Ltd. is a holding company. The assets are generally held at the CLO HoldCo, Ltd. and Liberty CLO HoldCo, Ltd. levels, so a transfer of Charitable DAF Fund, LP to a new holding company (e.g. Charitable DAF HoldCo, Ltd. #2) could provide some protection." (page 63)

47 It appears to the JOLs that the logical explanation for the short delay between each of the three steps of the DAF Restructuring was due to the time it took for Mr Patrick and Mr Murphy to find advisors who were willing to give opinions that said what they wanted them to say in order to provide a basis to justify each of those steps[21]. This is aptly demonstrated by the email from Mr Patrick to Walkers and Shields dated 17 March 2025, where Mr Patrick laid out his strategy to remove the Supporting Organisations from the structure or otherwise defeat their interest in the Company as follows:

"We are seeking U.S. tax counsel to send emails to both Paul and I that the non profits are Restricted Persons and/or best interests of the Company to have non dondero holders of the its (sic) interests.

After that, an alternative approach is to give them what they want - liquidate Holdco Ltd after its only investment is redeemed by the US. LLC pursuant to U.S. counsel advice above, that it's in the best interests of the Company to redeem all non-profits affiliated with Dondero.

[21] See the chronology of relevant events and correspondence with valuation and legal advisors with respect to the stages of the DAF Restructuring set out at paragraphs 37 to 48, 63, 71, 76 to 77 of MacInnis 1

US LLC has same valuation conducted on its shares as the participation shares. so we would redeem the LLC interest, then distribute the proceeds out of Holdco Ltd., and file articles of Dissolution for Charitable daf Holdco Ltd before a wind up petition is filled. That would put us on the "high ground" to fight (rather the way this is currently heading in a defensive posture). they would have to scrap their wond up petition and fight for reinstatement, gripe about the valuations, and file fiduciary breach actions (all of which they will do anyway under a wind up).

We will stage this in light of the Doug letter, new advice of two separate U.S Tax counsel, and seeing how successful (or not) our outreach to the Texas attorney general office is....

Note : US LLC would make DFW its sole owner." [emphasis added] (page 65)

48 In this respect, as Mr Murphy points out at paragraph 46 of Murphy 1, each of his director services agreements ("DSAs") with the Company and subsidiary entities (including the Fund) contained terms purporting to exonerate Mr Murphy of any liability for anything he did in reliance on professional advice unless through actual fraud or wilful default. It is the JOLs' position that Mr Murphy and Mr Patrick's selective instructions and selective reliance on certain advices they obtained on the various steps of the DAF Restructuring (whilst discounting the views of other professional advisors who reached different conclusions, such as PwC[22]) was not in good faith, and their carrying out of those steps was a wilful breach of their fiduciary duties to the Company.

[22] See paragraph 77.4 of MacInnis 1

49 At paragraphs 63 and 67 of Murphy 1, Mr Murphy asserts that the reason the Supporting Organisations started to raise concerns about the governance of the Company in October 2024 was that "Mr. Patrick and the DAF Fund had formally cut ties with Mr Dondero and Skyview" and Mr Dondero was therefore allegedly driving the Supporting Organisations' concerns. In this regard, Mr Murphy omits to mention the fact that in or around August 2024, the Supporting Organisations were provided with a financial analysis (prepared by NexPoint Advisors LP) of the Fund's annual expenses which showed or appeared to show increases in expenditure, particularly as follows:

49.1 Directors' fees increased from around US$40,000 in 2022 to almost US$600,000 in 2023 – and increased further to around US$2.25 million in the first half of 2024; and

49.2 Expenses overall for the first half of 2024 were around US$18.3 million – almost the same amount spent over the entire course of 2023 (i.e. US$18.6 million).

50 As regards expenses, I note at paragraphs 51 and 138 of Patrick 2, he contends that of the US$18.3 million for the first half of 2024, this was partially offset by US$6.1 million of income. However, Mr Patrick appears to concede that total expenses were in fact at US$18.3 million (leaving aside any alleged offsetting income).

51 The Supporting Organisations' concerns about the apparent increase in expenses and director compensation, and requests for information about the Fund's assets and management, were subsequently conveyed to Mr Murphy and Mr Patrick in the correspondence listed at paragraph 43 above. As noted above, Mr Murphy does not engage with the substance of the Supporting Organisations' questions and concerns in his affidavit but instead appears to have discounted them entirely because he believed Mr Dondero was driving them (the same view is expressed by Mr Patrick at paragraphs 54-56 of Patrick 2). Even if Mr Murphy was correct in that view, the JOLs do not believe that it provides a justification for ignoring reasonable questions from the Supporting Organisations in response to evidence of significant increases in director compensation and expenses that they, as the Participating Shareholders, found to be a cause for concern[23].

A3 The Significant Increases in Mr Patrick's and Mr Murphy's Compensation

Mr Patrick's excessive salaries and bonuses

52 The excessive salaries and bonuses that Mr Patrick and Mr Murphy have resolved to pay Mr Patrick for his directorship of the Company are addressed at paragraph 49 of MacInnis 1. As explained in more detail at paragraphs 63 to 69 below, the JOLs understand from the disclosure provided by the Defendants pursuant to the Interim Undertakings that Mr Patrick was paid a total of $13,873,778.03[24], comprising US$10,548,778 in 2024 and US$3,325,000 in the first six months of 2025[25]. The JOLs believe these payments to be grossly excessive and paid in breach of Mr Patrick's fiduciary duties to the Company. The JOLs do not believe there to be any rational justification for the Directors to approve that level of compensation for Mr Patrick, particularly given Mr Patrick is a US tax lawyer and does not appear to have any relevant experience or qualifications to manage a fund with net assets of approximately US$270 million.

53 The JOLs also have grounds to believe that Mr Patrick used a portion of the above funds to acquire certain properties in the United States, over which the Company now asserts a proprietary tracing claim in its Amended Statement of Claim filed on 15 October 2025. In particular, the JOLs' investigations have revealed the following:

53.1 On 4 November 2024, Mr Patrick and his wife, Darees Patrick, purchased a property at 4909 Minor Hill Road, Missouri, United States of America, for consideration of approximately US$1,664,500 (the "Missouri Property"). The purchase was recorded in a Trustee's Deed dated 4 November 2024 between Harold W. Cunningham and Wanda S. Cunningham, in their capacity as trustees of the Harold W. Cunningham and Wanda S. Cunningham Revocable Trust on the one hand, and Mr Patrick and Mrs Patrick on the other (pages 108 to 109).

[23] Which concerns have turned out to be entirely warranted, as further explained at paragraphs 49 to 51 of MacInnis 1 and paragraphs 52-69 below

[24] This figure includes discretionary bonuses paid to Mr Patrick totalling US$5,450,000.

[25] Pages 84 and 95

53.2 On 20 November 2024, Mr Patrick and Mrs Patrick transferred title to the Missouri Property to the DAAM Real Estate Trust, of which Mr Patrick and Mrs Patrick are the trustees. The transfer was recorded in a Warranty Deed dated 20 November 2024 between Mr Patrick and Mrs Patrick in their personal capacities on the one hand, and Mr Patrick and Mrs Patrick in their capacity as trustees of the DAAM Real Estate Trust on the other (pages 110 to 111).

53.3 On 28 January 2025, Mr Patrick made a payment to Wells Fargo Bank, N.A. to fully repay a loan of US$300,000 and discharge a mortgage on Mr and Mrs Patrick's family home at 6716 Glenhurst Drive, Dallas, Texas, United States of America (the "Texas Property"). Mr Patrick's repayment of the loan and the discharge of the mortgage in respect of the Texas Property was recorded in a Deed of Release executed by Wells Fargo Bank, N.A. dated 28 January 2025 (pages 112 to 113).

54 Pursuant to the Amended Injunction Summons, the JOLs seek orders restraining Mr Patrick from transferring or dealing with those properties pending trial (see paragraph 148.3 below).

55 Mr Patrick relies solely on the Mercer Report to support the level of compensation he has paid himself from the Fund structure. I have addressed the Mercer Report at paragraph 78 of MacInnis 1. The JOLs do not believe the Mercer Report validates the level of compensation that Mr Patrick has been paid for his (former) directorship of the Company and management of other entities in the Fund structure. Whilst the issues with the Mercer Report and the Directors' reliance on it will be addressed in more detail in the JOLs' legal submissions, I note that the Mercer Report does not set out or consider Mr Patrick's qualifications, experience or suitability to the role. As far as the JOLs are aware, Mr Patrick does not have any investment management qualifications or experience aside from his experience as the person in control of the Fund. In this regard, I refer to extracts of the transcript of Mr Patrick's testimony in the Highland Chapter 11 proceedings where he admitted he had no prior investment management experience (pages 114 to 118).

56 I also note that the Mercer Report assumes that the Fund is comparable to a "PE firm with AUM of $400m - $1bn". The JOLs do not agree with that assumption based on the financial information that the Defendants have disclosed to the JOLs to date pursuant to the Interim Undertakings. In particular, the JOLs understand that more than half of the c.US$270 million of net assets of the Fund structure are held in cash or cash equivalents. Finally, I note that Mr Reid also appears to disagree with Mercer's assumption where he states at paragraph 25 of Reid 1 that: "DAF LP's purpose is not to aggregate capital from investors in the expectation that invested capital will be managed in accordance with a well-defined investment strategy or to provide returns to investors based on the success of that strategy. As such, the notion of an investment fund is inapplicable to DAF LP." [emphasis added]

57 At paragraph 134 of Patrick 2, he relies on another report prepared by ValueScope dated 20 November 2024 "which shows the financial performance and returns made by the DAF Structure under my stewardship consistently beat returns made by the S&P 500". I have read ValueScope's report and do not believe that Mr Patrick's claim is correct. At page five of the report[26], there is a chart purporting to show the Fund's performance by NAV against the S&P 500 as a benchmark for the period 1 March 2021 to 1 June 2024. At the top of the chart, it states that "DAF has performed in line with a benchmark S&P 500 Total Return Index from March 31, 2021 to June 30, 2024. DAF's returns generally exhibit less volatility than the S&P 500 over the period" [emphasis added]. The chart also shows the cumulative returns of the

[26] Exhibit MEP-2 at page 160

Fund and the S&P 500 index meeting at the same point by 30 June 2024. There are other questions the JOLs have as to the methodology used in the ValueScope Report and the appropriateness of creating indexes comparing the S&P 500 with the Fund, but the chart alone rebuts Mr Patrick's assertion of outperforming the S&P 500 during his tenure as the person in charge of the Fund.

The Murphy DSAs

58 At paragraph 36 of Murphy 1, he explains the terms of his appointment as a director of the Company in April 2021 as follows:

> "I negotiated the terms of my appointment with HAK (acting for the Company), and was appointed as a director of the Company on 21 April 2021. I did not speak to Mr. Patrick, or otherwise communicate with him, about the role until after my appointment. The agreed terms were set out in a DSA executed between me, the Company, and the eight other entities listed at Schedule 1 (including CDAF GP, CDAF Fund, and CLO) (together, the "Corporate Parties") on 21 April 2021"

59 The compensation that Mr Murphy was entitled to under the 2021 DSA[27] mirrored that of his predecessor, Mr Scott, namely US$60,000 per year[28]. However, from this point on, when Mr Murphy's compensation was negotiated and agreed directly with his fellow director Mr Patrick[29], his compensation grew by many multiples and he was awarded a large bonus, many payments of which coincided with the timing of certain steps in the DAF Restructuring:

[27] As defined in Murphy 1. All references to "[insert year] DSA" in this affidavit shall have the same meaning as they have in Murphy 1

[28] In the case of the 2021 DSA, the compensation payable to Mr Murphy also included an uplift of US$500 per hour for any additional work carried out thereunder of more than 30 hours in any three-month period.

[29] As is admitted in the final sentence of paragraph 37 of Murphy 1

59.1 The 2021 DSA was further amended by way of an agreement signed by Mr Murphy and by Mr Patrick on behalf of the Companies (as defined therein)[30] dated 6 November 2023 (the 2023 DSA). The 2023 DSA provides that the 2021 DSA is amended such that –

(a) Mr Murphy shall receive an annual fee of US$200,000; and

(b) The services Mr Murphy was to provide the Companies would be expanded to include, amongst other things, acting upon all lawful directions issued by Mr Patrick subject to Mr Murphy discharging his fiduciary duties to the Companies[31].

59.2 A further DSA dated 12 December 2024 signed by Mr Murphy and Mr Patrick on behalf of the Companies (the 2024 DSA) replaced the amended April 2021 DSA. Pursuant to the 2024 DSA, Mr Murphy–

(a) Was to provide services in his capacity as a director of the Companies; and

(b) Was to be paid an annual fee of US$200,000 and a discretionary bonus or bonuses in an amount and time determined by Mr Patrick as the Chief Executive Officer of the Companies[32].

59.3 Four days later on 16 December 2024, a resolution of the board of directors of the Company, being Mr Patrick and Mr Murphy, was passed, which purported to award Mr Murphy a discretionary bonus of US$250,000 payable immediately[33]. The resolution is signed by both Mr Patrick and Mr Murphy.

[30] Meaning the Company and the other subsidiary entities listed in the schedule to the DSA for whom Mr Murphy was to act as a director

[31] Exhibit PM-1, page 54

[32] Exhibit PM-1, pages 126-127

[33] Exhibit PM-1, pages 128-129

59.4 The 2024 DSA was amended by way of an agreement dated 27 March 2025 signed by Mr Murphy and Mr Patrick on behalf of the Murphy Entities (the 2025 DSA). Pursuant to the 2025 DSA, Mr Murphy –

(a) Was to provide services in his capacity as a director of the Murphy Entities, which services were to include assisting "the joint official liquidators of Charitable DAF including taking any and all steps necessary to defend any allegations against Mark Patrick arising from the management of Charitable DAF's affairs"; and

(b) Was to be paid an annual fee of US$500,000 to be paid in equal instalments on the last business day of each calendar month[34].

60 The 2025 DSA expressly provides that the Companies "may pay the Director in advance for any fees or expenses in circumstances where the Companies may have an inability to discharge their financial obligations to the Director, for example, where freezing injunctions or temporary restraining orders may be sought against the Companies". In apparent reliance on this provision, Mr Murphy was paid the US$500,000 annual fee in a lump sum prior to the Directors resolving to put the Company into voluntary liquidation five days later on 2 April 2025[35].

61 The fact that Mr Murphy was awarded this compensation shortly after completing the DAF Restructuring and putting the Company into liquidation only reinforces the JOLs' concerns that the true purpose of the DAF Restructuring was to allow Mr Patrick and Mr Murphy to have full control of the Fund structure (without the imposition of the Company, Supporting Organisations and supported Charities that were the ultimate beneficial owners of the Fund) and thereby allow Mr Patrick and Mr Murphy to award themselves unjustifiably excessive compensation

[34] Exhibit PM-1, pages 147-148

[35] However, see paragraph 79 below. It is unclear if the correct date of the 2025 DSA is 27 March 2025 or 27 May 2025 without any accountability to the Supporting Organisations. I also note in this regard that the report that the JOLs received from the Company's former joint voluntary liquidators, Mitchell Mansfield and William Clarke of Kroll (the "JVLs"), shortly after the JOLs' appointment, indicates that Mr Patrick and Mr Murphy informed the JVLs that their engagement would be "on the basis of a non-contentious straight forward liquidation of the Company" (page 120). Further:

61.1 On 25 April 2025, Mr Patrick sent an email to Shields regarding his strategy for the hearing of the Supporting Organisation's application to put the Company into provisional liquidation, where Mr Patrick stated:

> "Goal : Keep Kroll; help Kroll understand management and directors actions, avoid Judicial liquidation." [emphasis added] (page 131)

61.2 Finally, in the extract of the email from Mark Patrick to Shields and Walkers dated 17 March 2025 to which I refer at paragraph 47 above, Mr Patrick laid out his strategy behind putting the Company into liquidation as follows:

> "so we would redeem the LLC interest, then distribute the proceeds out of Holdco Ltd., and file articles of Dissolution for Charitable daf Holdco Ltd before a wind up petition is filled. That would put us on the "high ground" to fight (rather the way this is currently heading in a defensive posture). [the Supporting Organisations] would have to scrap their wond up petition (sic) and fight for reinstatement, gripe about the valuations, and file fiduciary breach actions (all of which they will do anyway under a wind up)." [emphasis added] (page 65)

These materials strongly suggest that Mr Patrick and Mr Murphy were seeking to have the Company wound up and dissolved without any proper investigation by the liquidators into the propriety of their conduct in effecting the DAF Restructuring.

62 The JOLs understand that none of the above increases in the fees or remuneration paid to Mr Murphy were disclosed by Mr Murphy or Mr Patrick to the Supporting Organisations or the Charities in advance or at all. The JOLs understand that the same is true with respect to the over US$10.5 million in director fees paid to Mr Patrick in 2024, as set out in part at paragraph 49 of MacInnis 1 and at paragraphs 63 to 67 below.

The US$11.6 million of director fees for 2024

63 As noted above, the JOLs' concerns as to the compensation Mr Patrick and Mr Murphy have been awarding themselves has magnified upon the review of the financial information that has been disclosed by the Defendants pursuant to the Interim Undertakings they gave to the Court[36]. On 12 September 2025, after several emails from Grant Thornton following up for proper disclosure[37], Mr Shawn Raver on behalf of the Defendants provided income statements for 7 of the 22 "CDM Entities" caught by the injunction order[38] (pages 134 to 140). The income statements for Charitable DAF Holdings Corp., Liberty CLO Holdco, Ltd., and CLO HoldCo, each of which are direct or indirect wholly owned subsidiaries of the Fund, showed directors' fees amounting to a total of approximately US$11.6 million for the year 2024 alone (pages 137 to 139):

Company	2024 Directors' Fees
Liberty CLO Holdco Ltd.	US$225,000
CLO HoldCo	US$974,666

[36] Pursuant to the Consent Order in these proceedings dated 31 July 2025

[37] I address in a separate section below the Defendants' various breaches of the undertakings to date (many of which are ongoing).

[38] 27 including the additional entities disclosed by the Defendants pursuant to the Interim Undertakings

Charitable DAF Holdings Corp.	US$10,448,643.47
TOTAL	US$11,648, 309.47

64 The income statements did not show to which person or persons the directors' fees were paid. In response to a series of follow-on emails from Grant Thornton seeking further clarity, Mr Shawn Raver, the Company's former Chief Operating Officer and the person to whom Mr Patrick and the other Defendants have seemingly delegated their responsibility of providing disclosure to the JOLs pursuant to the Interim Undertakings (as defined below), provided a further breakdown of the US$11.6 million as follows (page 84):

	2024
	Paul Murphy US$	Mark Patrick US$	Shawn Raver US$	Compensation Study US$	Total US$
Salary	$216,667	$3,464,500	$268,978
Bonus	$250,000	$2,550,000	$306,250
LTI payment I		$3,559,278
LTI payment II		$975,000
Total Compensation	$466,667	$10,548,778	$575,228	$99,804.75
				Total Expenses	$11,648,309.47

65 The JOLs have since discovered that the US$10,548,778 paid to Mr Patrick was paid on the Company's behalf by the Company's then indirect subsidiaries over the course of eight months in 2024 as follows[39]:

Date	Paying entity	Payment for	Amount (US)
20-Feb-24	Charitable DAF Holdings Corp.	Salary	$800,000
20-Feb-24	Charitable DAF Holdings Corp.	Salary	$939,500
29-Feb-24	CLO HoldCo, Ltd.	Salary	$25,000

[39] Page 141

29-Feb-24	CLO HoldCo, Ltd.	Salary	$425,000
13-Sep-24	Liberty CLO Holdco, Ltd.	LTI Payment 1	$225,000
13-Sep-24	Charitable DAF Holdings Corp.	Salary	$850,000
13-Sep-24	Charitable DAF Holdings Corp.	Salary	$850,000
13-Sep-24	Charitable DAF Holdings Corp.	LTI Payment 1	$3,334,278
02-Oct-24	Charitable DAF Holdings Corp.	Bonus	$2,125,000
02-Oct-24	Charitable DAF Holdings Corp.	LTI Payment 2	$975,000
TOTAL			$10,548,778

66 In relation to the timing of the above payments to Mr Patrick, I note that:

66.1 On 13 September 2024, Mr Patrick and Mr Murphy passed a Company board resolution approving a base salary of Mr Patrick for 2024 of US$850,000 and a LTI payment based on a percentage of annualised net Fund returns, which had yet to be calculated[40]. Despite this, immediately after the board resolution was executed, four payments were made to Mr Patrick comprised of US$1,700,000 for salary and US$3,559,278 in LTI payments. These payments were made on instructions from Mr Murphy to Mr Raver immediately after the 13 September 2024 board resolution was finalised and executed. In this regard, I refer to an email chain between Mr Murphy, Mr Patrick, Mr Raver, Shields and Campbells relating to the draft board resolution wherein Mr Murphy wrote: "Shawn – can you make sure you're happy with the figures going out to MP re: baseline and LTI and get that wire ready to send today?", and Mr Raver later in the chain confirmed: "Paul - I will send the wire once you execute the resolutions." (page 160)

66.2 On 1 October 2024, Mr Patrick and Mr Murphy passed a Company board resolution approving an adjustment to Mr Patrick's LTI payment to increase it by US$975,000 and an annual bonus for the year 2023 in the amount of 2.5 times Mr Patrick's annual salary[41]. These payments were made the next day on 2 October 2024, being the same day that Mr Patrick resigned from Skyview, as explained further at paragraph 75 below.

66.3 On 2 October 2024, after Mr Patrick's compensation had been dealt with and paid, Campbells commenced work on updating Mr Murphy's DSA to "bolster the protections you have as a director" – see the email from Campbells to Mr Murphy and Mr Patrick dated 2 October 2024, which attached a mark-up of the 2021 DSA (pages 161 to 176).

67 The balance of the payments made from the three subsidiary entities referenced above were paid to (i) Mr Murphy (US$466,667) and (ii) Mr Raver (US$575,228). Mr Murphy confirms at paragraph 76 of Murphy 1 that the amounts paid to him were paid from CLO HoldCo's operating accounts.

The US$4.49 million of directors' fees for the first half of 2025 identified by the JOLs

68 Pursuant to certain financial information provided by the Defendants pursuant to the Interim Undertakings, the JOLs have identified that for the period January to June 2025, CLO HoldCo and Charitable DAF Holdings Corp. made director and officer compensation payments totalling US$4,490,161.25 to Messrs Patrick, Murphy and Raver (page 177).

69 Of the US$4,490,161.25 in compensation payments, a sum of US$3,325,000 was paid to Mr Patrick, including salary payments of US$425,000 and a discretionary bonus of US$2,900,000.

Mr Murphy's assertion that his increased workload justified his higher salaries and bonus

70 As regards the suggestion in Murphy 1 that the significant increases in his salary and bonuses in 2024 and 2025 were justified because he had to take on more complex work, I note that when Mr Murphy was first appointed as a director of the Company on 21 April 2021, the services he was to provide to the Company (and other entities included in the schedule 1 to the 2021 DSA, including the Fund) were as follows –

> "1. Review and approve or disapprove proposals for investments in amounts greater than $1 million supported by an economic analysis by Skyview and an independent appraisal. In the event the Director proposes to disprove an investment, he will give the Companies at least 30 days' notice of his intention to do so and provide detailed written reasons why;
> 2. To declare dividends from time to time subject to be satisfied that the Company declaring the dividend is solvent; and
> 3. Subject to being satisfied that the Company or Companies in question would not breach any applicable law or regulation, act upon the reasonable instructions of Skyview as the Director may be given from time to time.[42]"

71 The above is consistent with the JOLs' understanding of how the Company and the Fund operated at that time – Skyview conducted investment analyses and made recommendations to the directors, which the directors then approved or rejected on behalf of the relevant entities. As set out in item 3 above, the directors were required to act upon the reasonable instructions of Skyview so long as they were satisfied that they would not be breaching any law or regulation in doing so. It therefore appears to the JOLs that the directors (Mr Murphy and Mr Patrick) had minimal substantive work to do[43]. The only other service Mr Murphy was to provide under the 2021 DSA was to declare dividends to the Company's participating shareholders (i.e. the Supporting Organisations), which is another fact that the JOLs believe undermines the Defendants 'No Economic Interest Justification' for transferring away the Company's sole valuable asset.

[42] Exhibit PM-1, page 230

[43] Not just in their capacity as directors of the Company, but as directors of all the entities listed in schedule 1 (including the Fund GP)

72 The 2023 DSA provided that, in addition to the services set out in the 2021 DSA, Mr Murphy was to provide the following services:

> "(i) undertake responsibility for all offshore matters involving the Companies;
> (ii) involve himself in any onshore issues involving the Companies;
>
> (iii) act upon all lawful directions issued by Mark Patrick subject to the Director discharging his fiduciary duties to the Companies including acting with independence of judgement; and
> (iv) make himself available to the Companies at all times acting with due diligence and expedition[44]."

73 It is unclear to the JOLs specifically what additional work was to be undertaken pursuant to (i) and (ii) above – i.e. "offshore matters" and "onshore matters" are not defined or particularised. It is also unclear to the JOLs what (iv) means and how it would not already be subsumed into the usual role and responsibilities of a director. It therefore appears that the only new "service" that Mr Murphy was to offer the Company (and subsidiary entities) pursuant to the 2023 DSA was to act upon all lawful directions issued by Mark Patrick. Accordingly, at this stage, Mr Murphy appears to have contractually agreed to act upon the reasonable instructions of Skyview (pursuant to the 2021 DSA) whilst also acting upon the lawful directions of Mark Patrick (pursuant to the 2021 DSA as amended by the 2023 DSA).

74 On 11 October 2024, Stephanie Vitiello, the Chief Compliance Officer at Skyview, issued a report as to concerns about potential insider trading by Mr Patrick (pages 190 to 194). The report noted that on 2 October 2024, before Ms Vitiello could interview Mr Patrick, he resigned as an employee of Skyview and terminated the services agreement between Skyview and the

"DAF Entities"[45]. The report ultimately concluded that: "Patrick materially violated Skyview's compliance policies and procedures. If the Dallas Foundation traded on Patrick's disclosure of MNPI[46], Patrick and the Dallas Foundation would likely have violated insider trading laws and triggered disclosure to the SEC". Having terminated the Skyview services agreement, Mr Patrick was then in a position of complete control of the Fund (through his directorship of the Company and Fund GP). It was only then, as further explained below, that Mr Murphy began to be awarded excessive salaries and bonuses by Mr Patrick for his directorship roles. This was notwithstanding that the only work Mr Murphy claims to have undertaken in that period, besides giving evidence in unparticularised Guernsey litigation and New York litigation, was carrying out the "DAF Restructuring", which the JOLs allege was a deliberate scheme to deprive the Company of the Partnership Interest at a significant undervalue.

75 It also appears to the JOLs that both Mr Patrick and Mr Murphy were aware that the Skyview report was forthcoming and took action to ensure Mr Patrick's self-awarded LTI payment was paid out before he resigned from Skyview and the report was issued. I refer to an email chain between Mr Murphy, Mr Patrick, Shields and Campbells relating to the 1 October 2024 resolution of the board of the Company to approve Mr Patrick receiving an LTI payment of US$975,000 and an annual discretionary bonus for 2023 at an amount of 2.5 times his base salary[47]. The first email in this chain is an email from Mr Murphy directed at Shields and Campbells asking them to review the draft 1 October 2024 board resolution, where Mr Murphy stated: "Need this to be executed asap given matters with Skyview tomorrow."

76 On 12 December 2024, Mr Murphy entered into the 2024 DSA. As with the 2023 DSA, the 2024 DSA was executed by Mr Murphy and Mr Patrick (acting on behalf of the Company and other subsidiary entities party to the DSA). The list of services that Mr Murphy was to provide

[45] As defined therein, and including the Company and the Fund

[46] Material non-public information to the Company and subsidiaries are listed in Schedule 2 to the 2024 DSA. As with the 2021 DSA (as amended), the list of services included "to declare dividends from time to time subject to be [sic] satisfied that the Company declaring the dividend is solvent"[48].

77 Schedule 3 to the 2024 DSA set out the fees that Mr Murphy was to be provided for his services, which were US$200,000 per year and "a discretionary bonus or bonuses in an amount and time determined by the current Chief Executive Officer of the Companies [Mr Patrick] which may also include issuing equitable interests or creating a long-term incentive plan". Mr Murphy was granted that right to a discretionary bonus by Mr Patrick (acting on behalf of the Company and other subsidiary Fund entities party to the DSA) six days prior to the LP/LLC Exchange effected by Mr Murphy and Mr Patrick, being the transactions pursuant to which the Partnership Interest was transferred from the Company to CDM in exchange for the sole membership of CDM.

78 At paragraph 65 of Murphy 1, he confirms that on 16 December 2024, four days after the 2024 DSA was executed, he and Mr Patrick in their capacity as directors approved a discretionary bonus to be paid to Mr Murphy in the amount of US$250,000, which amount was apparently determined by Mr Patrick in recognition of: "(i) [Mr Murphy's] performance; (ii) [Mr Murphy's] contribution to the increased independence of the Company; and (iii) [Mr Murphy's] input into responding to the Supporting Organisations' behaviour in November/December 2024". Based on Murphy 1 and Mr Murphy's other sworn evidence, (i) to (iii) appear to be references to Mr Murphy's role in carrying out the corporate steps to cut the Company and the Supporting Organisations out of the structure on the purported justification that to do so was necessary to distance the Fund from the perceived influence of Mr Dondero and avoid negative US tax consequences. As noted above, this "Dondero Control Justification" and why the JOLs believe it does not stand up to scrutiny have previously been addressed in MacInnis 1 at paragraphs 70 to 76. It is therefore the JOLs' belief that the award of the discretionary bonus to Mr Murphy by Mr Patrick in close proximity to their carrying out the first step in the DAF Restructuring (the LP/LLC Exchange) amounted to Mr Patrick awarding Mr Murphy special compensation for acting in accordance with Mr Patrick's instructions to complete the DAF Restructuring[49]. As such, the JOLs seek to recover this amount (and others) from Mr Murphy in the Amended Statement of Claim.

79 At paragraph 37 and elsewhere in Murphy 1, Mr Murphy refers to the 2025 DSA, which is dated 27 March 2025. However, it appears likely to have been executed on or around 27 May 2025, given it refers to the Company being "placed into court supervised liquidation in the Grand Court of the Cayman Islands on 6th May 2025". This is broadly consistent with Mr Murphy's sworn evidence that the "Company was not party to the 2025 DSA due to the fact that it was in voluntary liquidation" (which I believe must be an error and is instead meant to refer to court supervised liquidation). I note that the 2025 DSA included the following:

79.1 The services Mr Murphy was to provide to the Companies (as defined) included to "[a]ssist the joint official liquidators of [the Company] including taking any and all steps necessary to defend any allegations against Mark Patrick arising from the management of [the Company's] affairs."

79.2 Mr Murphy was to be paid US$500,000 in fees payable in monthly instalments and backdated to 1 January 2025. This amount was permitted to be paid by the Companies (as defined) "in advance…in circumstances where the Companies may have an inability to discharge their financial obligations to [Mr Murphy], for example, where freezing injunctions or temporary restraining orders may be sought against the Companies". At paragraph 72 of Murphy 1, Mr Murphy confirms that he was paid the full US$500,000 in advance by CLO HoldCo sometime on or after 12 May 2025.

[49] Which, as noted above, the JOLs believe to have been a deliberate scheme to misappropriate the Partnership Interest in breach of their fiduciary duties to the Company.

80 The JOLs believe these provisions may indicate that Mr Patrick approved significant compensation to Mr Murphy in circumstances where Mr Murphy had agreed to provide support in addressing any allegations relating to the management of the Company, including the claims now raised by the JOLs in these proceedings. The JOLs also believe that the timing of the US$500,000 payment to Mr Murphy, not long after the completion of the DAF Restructuring[50], suggests the payment was made partly to compensate Mr Murphy for his involvement in effecting each of the steps involved. Finally, the JOLs believe that Mr Patrick and Mr Murphy agreeing a justification for paying the annual fee to Mr Murphy in advance where there was a risk of "freezing injunctions or temporary restraining orders" shows that they understood the risk that the DAF Restructuring could be challenged and an injunction sought against the entities involved. Against that backdrop, it is unclear to the JOLs how Mr Patrick and Mr Murphy decided it was in the Companies' (as defined) best interests to pay Mr Murphy the full amount of his US$500,000 annual fees upfront (or at all).

81 Whilst the 2025 DSA required Mr Murphy to "assist" the JOLs, I understand that as a former director of the Company, Mr Murphy has an independent duty to cooperate with the JOLs in any event. In that respect, the JOLs consider that Mr Murphy (and Mr Patrick) failed to comply with their obligation to deliver up the Company's books and records. This failure is evidenced by the substantial volume of new documents (at least 500 comprising over 5,000 pages) produced under the US Discovery Order, which ought to have been delivered up by Mr Murphy (and Mr Patrick) following the JOLs' initial request on 6 May 2025. Further, the JOLs have yet to receive a statement of affairs for the Company from either Mr Murphy or Mr Patrick, as required under section 101 of the Companies Act.

82 At paragraph 78 of Murphy 1, he asserts that: "[t]o the best of my knowledge, [the JOLs] have made no effort at all to investigate the nuances of the industry, my role or the work I have

[50] Or, if the correct date of the 2025 DSA is in fact 27 March 2025, on the same date as the final step of the DAF Restructuring, being the redemption of the Company's membership in CDM on 27 March 2025 actually performed in my time at the Company." As far as the JOLs are aware, Mr Murphy has no prior experience of managing an investment fund with net assets worth over US$270 million, let alone one which has been created to benefit underlying charities. As noted at paragraph 74 above, it appears that a main (or at least major) component of the work Mr Murphy has undertaken as a director of the Company has been the DAF Restructuring, which is the impugned conduct underpinning the Company's claims in these proceedings. The only other work disclosed in Murphy 1 is: (i) assisting with New York proceedings and giving evidence in Guernsey proceedings (of which minimal detail is given); and (ii) setting up various committees (which I address below).

83 In relation to Mr Murphy's point at paragraph 58 of Murphy 1 that he "spent significant effort creating more independence in the corporate structure" by way of "establishing the conflicts committee and investment committee":

83.1 It is unclear who sits on the conflicts committee and what, if any, work that committee has performed. The conflicts committee is not referred to or explained in any of Mr Murphy's or Mr Patrick's sworn evidence in these proceedings or the Company's liquidation proceedings.

83.2 It is unclear who sits on the investment committee and when exactly it was formed. It is referred to in Mr Murphy's presentation dated 3 December 2024[51], but there are no board resolutions creating the committee. The Company appears to have adopted investment committee guidelines by resolution dated 3 December 2024[52]. The resolution states that the guidelines were prepared by Mr Michael Llodra, but is silent as to who sits on the committee. No specific evidence has been given by Mr Murphy or Mr Patrick of what work the investment committee has done, if any, since its creation.

[52] See Exhibit MEP-2, at pages 1-9

83.3 Mr Patrick and Mr Murphy are the only appointed members of the compensation committee, having appointed themselves to it by way of a board resolution dated 1 October 2024[53]. The JOLs do not believe that Mr Murphy and Mr Patrick appointing themselves to the compensation committee and having absolute discretion as to what compensation to award each other as directors is consistent with creating "more independence" in the structure. To the contrary, it appears to the JOLs to create an obvious conflict of interest between their fiduciary duties to the Company and their own self-interest in awarding themselves excessive compensation.

84 In any event, the JOLs do not see how the existence of these committees bears in any way on whether Mr Murphy and Mr Patrick's actions in carrying out the DAF Restructuring amounted to a breach of fiduciary duty or not. Mr Murphy and Mr Patrick have not suggested that any of these committees reviewed and approved the DAF Restructuring.

A4 D&O Insurance, Indemnification, and Payment of Legal Fees

85 In Murphy 1, Mr Murphy asserts that it was not possible for him to obtain D&O insurance for his role as director of the Company (or any other entities for whom he was appointed a director under the DSAs). At paragraph 39 of Murphy 1, he refers to a conversation he had with Hunton Andrews Kurth ("HAK"), the Company's US lawyers at the time, prior to accepting the appointment as a director:

> "HAK explained to me that D&O insurance was not available for the role with the Company due to its connections with Mr. Dondero, who (as noted above) is a prolific litigant. This was widely known, and for this reason it was generally impossible to obtain any (or any cost-effective) D&O insurance"

[53] See Exhibit MM-1 at pages 695-696

86 I note that Mr Murphy makes no attempt to explain in his evidence if he stress-tested what he was told by HAK. I also note that Mr Murphy has not referred to any enquiries he made with D&O insurers or exhibited any contemporaneous correspondence to that effect. It therefore appears to the JOLs that Mr Murphy did not approach any D&O insurance providers prior to accepting the appointment. Mr Patrick does not address the issue of D&O insurance in either Patrick 2 or Patrick 3, and therefore the JOLs have assumed that he also does not have D&O insurance in place for his various directorships in the Fund structure[54]. If Mr Patrick does in fact have D&O insurance, the JOLs would expect him to be calling on that insurance rather than depleting the assets of the Fund and its subsidiaries by relying on the contractual indemnities he refers to at paragraphs 148 to 149 of Patrick 2.

87 Paragraph 39 of Murphy 1 continues with a reference to an opinion from Justice Jernigan in the Highland Chapter 11 proceedings dated 5 March 2023 where the following was stated:

> "multiple witnesses testified that there was a phenomenon in the insurance industry colloquially referred to as the "Dondero Exclusion"—meaning that cost-effective liability insurance could not be obtained for the officers of Highland because of the company's historical inclination toward litigation"

88 The above does not appear to the JOLs to have any direct bearing on Mr Murphy's ability or inability to obtain D&O insurance for his directorship of the Company. Mr Murphy was not being employed as an officer of Highland - he was being appointed to the board of the Company, of which Mr Dondero was not a director or officer. In any event, I note that the above opinion post-dates the pre-appointment discussions between Mr Murphy and HAK by two years, so it could not have formed part of Mr Murphy's reasoning for not seeking to obtain D&O insurance at the time of his appointment.

[54] Or at the very least, for his directorship/management of the Third through Sixth Defendants to these proceedings

89 As regards paragraphs 41 to 42 of Murphy 1 and paragraphs 148 to 149 of Patrick 2, which deal with the indemnity and exculpation provisions of the Company's Articles of Association (the "Articles") and other contractual indemnities relied upon by Mr Patrick, the scope and application of these provisions will be addressed in legal argument as necessary. A copy of the letters the JOLs received from Mr Patrick directly and Kobre & Kim (on behalf of Mr Murphy) seeking to call on their indemnity under the Articles for their legal costs to defend these proceedings, and the letter from Maples to Kobre & Kim dated 28 October 2025 in response, are exhibited at pages 199 to 205.

90 As regards paragraphs 43 to 46 of Murphy 1, which deal with the indemnity and exculpation provisions of Mr Murphy's DSA's, the scope and application of these provisions will also be addressed in legal argument as necessary. On the JOLs' review of the DSAs, the JOLs believe that they evince a pattern of: (i) Mr Patrick increasingly rewarding Mr Murphy at each juncture of the DAF Restructuring; (ii) Mr Patrick and Mr Murphy agreeing to expand the scope of the indemnities to make express provision for the claims they expected would be made against them for their involvement in the DAF Restructuring; and (iii) Mr Patrick and Mr Murphy creating provisions for a right to indemnification and advancement of legal fees from the Fund and other entities that they anticipated would remain under their control (and whom would still hold assets) following the DAF Restructuring, rather than from the Company, which was left with no material assets and placed into liquidation.

91 In relation to (ii) and (iii), as Mr Murphy points out at paragraph 45 of Murphy 1, the indemnity provisions in the 2025 DSA were expanded such that:

91.1 The indemnity was no longer given by the Company itself (which was by that stage in liquidation), but by all of the "Companies" as defined in 'Schedule 1: Parties' therein[55]; and

91.2 The following language was added expressly providing for advancement of legal fees to defend claims brought by the JOLs against Mr Murphy: "The Companies shall also advance any documented costs and expenses incurred by the Director in relation to any and all proceedings arising from the liquidation of Charitable DAF including any allegations that the Director has been fraudulent, dishonest, wilfully negligent, wilfully defaulted or mismanaged Charitable DAF's affairs. The Companies agree to provide any necessary information that will allow the Director to assess the assets of the Companies and that the Companies will be jointly and severally liable for any indemnity."

92 The JOLs believe the nature of these amendments and their timing demonstrates that Mr Patrick and Mr Murphy were aware that what they had done in carrying out the DAF Restructuring could result in claims being made against them by the liquidators of the Company, which is precisely what has happened. The decision to expand the indemnity such that it was given by all the "Companies" rather than just the Company, appears to the JOLs to have been made by Mr Patrick and Mr Murphy in cognisance of the fact that the Company was left with no material assets following the DAF Restructuring and therefore would unlikely be able to satisfy any indemnity.

93 At paragraph 40 of Murphy 1, he asserts that: "I would not have accepted any appointment to the board of the Company without the indemnity [in the DSAs and the Articles]." The JOLs are perturbed that after having:

[55] The 'Companies' as listed at page 146 of PM-1 are: CDMCFAD,LLC, CDH GP, Ltd., Charitable DAF Fund 2, LP, Charitable DAF Fund, LP, CLO HoldCo, LLC, Charitable DAF Fund, L.P. (which appears to be a duplication), Acis CLO Value Fund II Charitable DAF Ltd, CLO HoldoCo, Ltd. and MGM Studios Holdco, Ltd.

93.1 Made no attempt to obtain D&O insurance;

93.2 Caused the Company to agree broad indemnities in his favour that were expressed to apply specifically to "any and all proceedings arising from the liquidation of Charitable DAF including any allegations that [Mr Murphy] has been fraudulent, dishonest, wilfully negligent, wilfully defaulted or mismanaged Charitable DAF's affairs"; and

93.3 Carried out a series of transactions that had the effect of depriving the Company of its sole valuable asset and source of income,

Mr Murphy now expects the Company (and/or other entities listed in the DSAs) to honour the indemnity for his legal fees to defend claims made by the JOLs that he has acted in wilful breach of fiduciary duty by approving said transactions. Indeed, from recent disclosure provided by the Defendants pursuant to the Interim Undertakings, it has been revealed that US$250,000 was paid to Kobre & Kim (Mr Murphy's legal counsel) by CLO HoldCo in apparent reliance on the indemnity and advancement provisions of the DSAs[56].

94 The JOLs' position is that if Mr Murphy or Mr Patrick intend to continue to rely on their directors' indemnities to cover their legal fees for defending these proceedings, they should have to (at a minimum):

94.1 Disclose precisely which indemnity they are relying upon;

94.2 Disclose which entity the funds are being paid from and on what basis; and 94.3 Give an undertaking to the Court to repay all of those amounts should it be proven at trial that the indemnities did not apply (e.g. where there is a finding that Mr Murphy and Mr Patrick acted in wilful breach of their fiduciary duties).

[56] Page 206

95 The above requirements are reflected in the Amended Injunction Summons (which I explain further at paragraphs 148 to 150 below).

A5 Interim Undertakings

96 The hearing of the Injunction Application was originally listed for 31 July 2025. However, on the eve of the hearing the parties agreed a consent order providing for the adjournment of the injunction hearing subject to the Defendants giving certain undertakings to the Court pending the determination of the Injunction Application (the "Interim Undertakings"). The Interim Undertakings can be found at Schedule A of the consent order in these proceedings dated 31 July 2025 (the "Consent Order"). This section is broken down into two parts:

96.1 First, I address the JOLs' position on the inadequacy of the Interim Undertakings to protect the Company's position through to trial and the lack of proper transparency provided by the Defendants pursuant to the Interim Undertakings to date.

96.2 Second, I address some of the factual inaccuracies in Patrick 2 and Murphy 1 with respect to the Interim Undertakings (to the extent not already addressed elsewhere in this affidavit).

Inadequacy of the Interim Undertakings and lack of transparency by the Defendants

Defendants' ability to exploit the 'ordinary course of business' exception

97 Whilst the Interim Undertakings offer some protection, the JOLs' position has always been, and remains, that the Interim Undertakings would not adequately protect the Company's position in these proceedings through to a trial. By way of one example only, the Interim Undertakings include carve-outs for the Defendants and CDM Entities to undertake "ordinary course of business" transactions[57], which the JOLs believe is being exploited. In particular, the

[57] See Schedule A to the Consent Order at paragraph 1(a) and paragraph 2(a)

JOLs are concerned that if such a carve-out remains through to trial, Mr Patrick and Mr Murphy will rely on it to continue to pay themselves excessive salaries and bonuses from one or more of the Defendants or Fund Entities[58]. In their present form, the Interim Undertakings would provide the JOLs with no ability to stop those payments being made.

98 From the disclosure of July 2025 transactions pursuant to the Interim Undertakings (which disclosure was provided over three months after the transactions occurred), it is also apparent that Mr Patrick and Mr Murphy are authorising significant payments by CLO HoldCo to Baker & Partners, DFW's counsel, to pay for DFW's legal fees of these proceedings and the liquidation proceedings (including, presumably, DFW's costs of preparing the Removal Application). In July 2025 alone, CLO HoldCo settled invoices to Baker & Partners on DFW's behalf totalling US$764,880.66, with a further US$254,847.40 paid to Baker & Partners in September 2025[59]. The JOLs assume that the payments are being made under the guise of the "ordinary course of business" exception, despite there being no apparent legal basis for CLO HoldCo to be liable for DFW's legal fees.

99 As part of the negotiations of the "protocol" and later, the Interim Undertakings, the JOLs sought the Defendants' agreement to a scheme whereby all transactions above a certain amount would need to first be approved by the JOLs. The Defendants and CDM Entities refused to agree to any such scheme. However, from the JOLs' experience of the Interim Undertakings in practice since then, the JOLs are of the view that nothing short of strict prohibitions on the Defendants' and Fund Entities' use of assets that the Company asserts a proprietary claim to[60] would suffice.

[58] Defined as "CDM Entities" in the Interim Undertakings but referred to as the "Fund Entities" in the Amended Injunction Summons

[59] Pages 247 and 267

[60] Or assets that are directly referable to the value of said proprietary claim (e.g. assets held by the Fund's subsidiaries, being the Fund Entities).

Inadequacy of disclosure provided pursuant to the Interim Undertakings

100 Prior to the Interim Undertakings being in place, the JOLs did not have transparency into the Company's and the Fund's affairs. Whilst Mr Patrick and Mr Murphy have provided some documents to the JOLs, the JOLs have not been provided with a complete set of the Company's books and records. This has necessitated the JOLs seeking provisional relief in the United States Bankruptcy Court against various of the Company's former service providers (including ValueScope and Carrington Coleman) for disclosure of various books and records belonging to the Company (see paragraph 28 above regarding the US Discovery Order). The JOLs obtained the US Discovery Order on 18 September 2025 and have been receiving and reviewing the disclosure on a rolling basis, with the final tranche of disclosure due from ValueScope on 31 October 2025. Despite the JOLs requesting full provision of the Company's books and records and a statement of affairs from Mr Patrick and Mr Murphy pursuant to section 101 of the Companies Act, these have not been provided. For example, the JOLs are aware that Mr Patrick and Mr Murphy used the Company email addresses set out in footnote 11 above, but to date neither Mr Patrick nor Mr Murphy have provided a full suite of those emails.

101 Now that the Interim Undertakings are in place, the level of transparency into the affairs of the Fund and the CDM Entities provided by the Defendants has only marginally improved. As noted above, the Interim Undertakings provide the JOLs with a retrospective window into transactions below US$50,000 and a right to 7 days' notice of any transactions above US$50,000, but no ability to prevent any inappropriate or suspicious transactions. If this arrangement were to continue through to trial, the JOLs believe it will have the effect of depleting the assets of the Fund structure and undermining the value of the Company's proprietary claim to the Partnership Interest and its traceable proceeds.

102 The JOLs' concerns have been heightened by the Defendants' overly restrictive interpretation of the Interim Undertakings. On 30 September 2025, Maples sent a letter to Campbells pointing out that the Defendants' and CDM Entities' disclosure of financial records to that point was incomplete and did not satisfy the requirements of the Interim Undertakings[61]. On 7 October 2025, Campbells sent a response to Maples whereby Campbells asserted that the Interim Undertakings only required the Defendants and CDM Entities to provide a consolidated balance sheet at the level of the Fund (rather than individual balance sheets and other financial statements and records for each Defendant and CDM Entity). Campbells' letter reasoned that this was all that was required because a consolidated balance sheet (with no supporting information or records) is allegedly all that was provided to the Supporting Organisations in the past[62]. Campbells also asserted that because the Interim Undertakings refer to "existing and up to date" balance sheets and financial records, the Defendants and CDM Entities were only required to provide any financial statements that already existed and did not need to create any new records (including basic records such as balance sheets and profit and loss statements for each individual entity)[63]. In other words, the Defendants' position appears to be that they were only obliged to provide the JOLs with a simple (and not very informative) consolidated balance sheet for the Fund, and anything beyond that would only be voluntary.

103 Pausing there, the JOLs are surprised by Campbells' suggestion that there are no other "existing" financial records for a fund with net assets of c.US$270 million besides a one-page consolidated balance sheet at the Fund level. In the JOLs' experience of such accounting and record-keeping matters, it would not ordinarily be possible to prepare a consolidated balance sheet for the Fund without the individual balance sheets for each of its subsidiaries. This could only be the case if an exercise was never undertaken to figure out which entities hold which assets – which would itself be quite shocking, and certainly not how the JOLs would expect a c.US$270 million fund to be run responsibly and in circumstances where the Fund is paying significant sums to a purported investment manager (Mr Patrick).

[61] Pages 686 to 688

[63] Page 689

104 The Fund's consolidated balance sheet also does not have any line item for accounts payable, and the Fund does not maintain an accounts payable ledger[64]. It is unclear to the JOLs how the Fund accurately reports net assets and monitors the balance of accounts payable despite, for example, the fact that the JOLs are aware that there are 27 different law firms that have been engaged by entities in the Fund structure since the beginning of January 2025.

105 In the JOLs' view, the poor state of the accounting and record-keeping for the Fund structure under Mr Patrick's stewardship also calls into question what work Armanino[65] is being paid for and, more importantly, how Mr Patrick can appropriately discharge his duties without these basic accounting reports. In circumstances where Mr Patrick's salary is allegedly comparable to roles in Publicly Traded REITs, PE firms etc (per the Mercer Report), the lack of proper accounting for the Fund and its many subsidiaries (including a lack of any audited accounts) suggests a concerning disregard for good governance and oversight.

106 Even in a hypothetical scenario in which the Interim Undertakings continued through to trial and offered what the JOLs believe to be a sufficient level of protection (which they do not), the Defendants have breached the Interim Undertakings and remain in breach in a number of material respects. The full suite of correspondence between the JOLs and the Defendants (acting through either Campbells or Mr Shawn Raver, the Company's former Chief Operating Officer) on the disclosure the Defendants have undertaken to the Court to provide is at pages 360 to 385. A detailed chronology of this correspondence explaining the various breaches and/or issues the JOLs have encountered with the Defendants' disclosure to date is at pages 222 to 231. In summary:

106.1 Numerous financial records remain outstanding despite repeated requests from the JOLs, including 69 separate reports across 28 entities. Income statements and balance sheets for each Fund Entity have either been delayed or not provided at all. No working papers or supporting documentation have been provided to the JOLs to substantiate the consolidated Fund balance sheet dated 31 July 2025.

[64] See, for example, the email from Mr Raver to the JOLs dated 12 September 2025, where Mr Raver confirmed that there were no accounts payable on the Fund Entities' consolidated balance sheet as the accounting is conducted on a cash basis. Pages 437

106.2 Despite multiple follow-ups from the JOLs, the Defendants have failed to explain why there is an apparent understatement of net assets of US$139,000,000 on CLO Holdco's balance sheet as at 30 June 2025. Separately, the JOLs were required to press for further information to explain discrepancies in information provided by the Defendants and reconstruct the Fund and Fund Entities' financials, including between the individual balance sheets and consolidated balance sheets, which remains unreconciled to the extent of US$259,000.

106.3 Multiple iterations of the Fund structure chart were provided by the Defendants, each correcting prior omissions or errors, causing the JOLs to have a lack of visibility over the full Fund structure until 25 September 2025, the date on which the fifth and final iteration of the structure chat was provided by the Defendants.

106.4 Monthly transaction listings for each Fund Entity have been provided to the JOLs consistently late or with incomplete information. For example, whilst the Interim Undertakings provide that the Defendants and Fund Entities are to provide a monthly transaction report for the previous month of transactions below US$50,000 and seven-days' notice of any transactions above US$50,000, the Defendants and Fund Entities initially only provided what transpired to be an incomplete list of transactions below US$50,000 for the month of July 2025. Months later, on 24 October 2025, after numerous emails from the JOLs to Mr Raver whereby the JOLs were seeking to reconcile the financial information that we had been provided, the Defendants provided a full list of transactions for the month of July 2025. The list included significant payments of US$2,680,000 to various law firms and ValueScope that had not previously been disclosed to the JOLs, including retainers of US$500,000 to Campbells, US$250,000 to Richards Layton & Finger, and US$90,000 to ValueScope. A spreadsheet showing the payments disclosed in the original July 2025 transaction listing as against the payments disclosed in the updated July 2025 transaction listing is at page 692. It therefore appears to the JOLs that the Defendants were concerned about the prospects of injunctions being ordered against them at the original injunction hearing on 31 July 2025 and took steps to transfer out a significant amount of assets from CLO HoldCo to various law firms and ValueScope before any injunction could be granted. The information confirming this position was not provided to the JOLs for a number of months.

106.5 The Fund seemingly operated without entity-level financial visibility, relying solely on consolidated reporting without supporting working papers, which the JOLs consider a fundamental lack of financial control and poor governance, as explained above. To the extent that working papers and supporting documentation for the balance sheets and income statements that have been provided do in fact exist, the Defendants should have provided those materials to the JOLs pursuant to the Interim Undertakings.

107 Should the above breaches of the Interim Undertakings continue, the JOLs may need to seek more stringent relief against the Defendants, such as the appointment of a receiver over CDM, the Fund GP and/or the Fund. The fact that the JOLs may need to seek the appointment of a receiver was expressly foreshadowed to the Defendants by way of a letter from Maples to each of the Defendants' Attorneys[66] dated 15 July 2025 (pages 693 to 703)[67].

108 For the above reasons, the JOLs reject entirely Mr Patrick's assertion at paragraph 162 of Patrick 2 that the Defendants have provided "full visibility of the financial position of the DAF structure".

[66] Campbells, Baker & Partners and Kobre & Kim (the "Defendants' Attorneys").

[67] At paragraph 4 therein.

Inaccuracies in Patrick 2 and Murphy 1 regarding the Interim Undertakings

109 At paragraph 81.4, Mr Murphy seems to suggest that there has been a volte face by the JOLs on the adequacy of the Interim Undertakings the Defendants have given to the Court pending the determination of the Injunction Summons. That is false. The JOLs' express position has always been that whilst the Interim Undertakings provide some protection, they do not adequately protect the Company's position in these proceedings through to trial, hence why the JOLs seek a broader range of injunctive and disclosure relief in the Amended Injunction Summons. Further, the Interim Undertakings are expressed to apply only until the determination of the Injunction Application (not through to trial) and the Defendants expressly agreed therein that "the issue of whether they are permitted to use funds that derive directly or indirectly from the limited partner interest in the Fund to pay their legal fees and other service providers will be determined at the [adjourned injunction hearing]". This was agreed in recognition of the JOLs' belief that restraints on the use of Fund assets to pay the Defendants' legal fees should be ordered in the circumstances of this case. It should therefore have been clear to Mr Murphy that the JOLs would not accept the Interim Undertakings as a protective measure through to trial.

110 At paragraph 147 of Patrick 2, he addresses the JOLs' position on the payment of the Defendants' and Fund Entities legal fees and expenses. Mr Patrick refers to a letter from Campbells to Maples dated 8 September 2025 whereby Campbells communicated that the Defendants "will not accept any undertakings which unduly restricts their ability to defend [these proceedings]"[68]. On 15 October 2025, Maples sent a letter to the Defendants' Attorneys in response, which enclosed a draft Amended Injunction Summons and set out the JOLs' position on: (i) the scope of the Company's proprietary claim; and (ii) the payment of the Defendants' and Fund Entities' legal fees (pages 704 to 727). I explain the JOLs' position on the extent to which the Defendants and Fund Entities should be able to pay their legal fees if injunctions are granted in more detail at paragraphs 148 to 150 below under the heading 'Amended Injunction Summons'.

111 The JOLs also take issue with the assertion made in Campbells' 8 September 2025 letter that: "the legal costs being incurred [by the Defendants] - which are necessitated by the claims brought by your clients - are reasonable and proportionate having regard to the complexity of the Proceedings and the value of the assets in dispute." The total amount of legal fees incurred by the Defendants in relation to the Company's liquidation proceedings and these proceedings that the JOLs have been made aware of is US$4,256,882 being US$512,404 to Campbells[69], US$2,326,465 to Kobre & Kim[70], US$1,289,728 to Baker & Partners[71] and US$128,285 to Baker Hostetler[72]. The JOLs consider this level of legal fees to be wholly disproportionate to the work that has been done, particularly given these proceedings remain in their early stages[73] and there is no apparent need for DFW to be separately represented from Mr Patrick and the other Defendants he controls.

112 At paragraph 142 of Patrick 2, Mr Patrick states that a requirement that the "Defendants and CDM Entities provide advance notice of all transactions over US$10,000 and await approval from the JOLs before proceeding…[was] already included in the Protocol offered to the JOLs". That is incorrect – the Defendants and Fund Entities never offered a protocol whereby the JOLs would have the right to approve or reject proposed transactions. Mr Patrick appears to admit this at paragraph 143 of Patrick 2 where he states that he was reluctant to agree to such a requirement.

[70] This includes retainer amounts of US$750,000 and excludes fees that accrued in October 2025.

[71] This excludes fees that accrued in August 2025, September 2025 and October 2025.

[73] The "value of the assets in dispute" should not be a relevant consideration to the Defendants' when assessing the reasonableness of the legal fees that they are incurring.

A6 Injunction Application

113 At paragraph 91 of MacInnis 1, I addressed factual matters that the JOLs believe to be relevant to the legal elements for obtaining the injunctions the JOLs seek. Mr Patrick addresses points he believes to be relevant to those elements at paragraphs 152 to 175 of Patrick 2, and paragraph 114 of Patrick 3. I reply to some of those points below insofar as they touch on matters of fact. Where I have not replied to any points it is not because I agree with them – the legal elements for injunctions will be more fulsomely addressed in the Company's skeleton argument and oral submissions.

Serious issue to be tried

114 At paragraph 154 of Patrick 2, Mr Patrick seeks to downplay the fact that the JOLs have obtained sanction of this Honourable Court to commence these proceedings because:

114.1 There was no mention of the "DFW Summons" in the JOLs' evidence for the sanction application; and 114.2 There was very limited reference to the parties' correspondence about the "Protocol".

115 I understand that the DFW Summons is incapable of resolving the issues in dispute amongst all the parties to these proceedings. This was explained to the Defendants' Attorneys in a letter from Maples dated 27 July 2025 (pages 796 to 802). The Defendants' Attorneys have not responded to that explanation and DFW has made no attempt thereafter to list the DFW Summons for hearing. As regards the Protocol correspondence, the inadequacy of the protocols offered by the Defendants prior to the JOLs commencing these proceedings is addressed at length in MacInnis 1 and further at paragraphs 151.1 to 151.2 below.

116 The JOLs do not agree with Mr Patrick's explanation of the scope of the Company's proprietary claim in these proceedings at paragraph 156 of Patrick 2 or paragraph 114(a)(i) of Patrick 3.

The JOLs' position on this issue has been explained to the Defendants in a letter from Maples dated 15 October 2025 (pages 704-708) and will be expanded upon in legal argument. However, even if Mr Patrick were correct that the Company's proprietary claim is limited to the Partnership Interest in the Fund and nothing further, the JOLs believe the proprietary claim would be rendered futile (or at least lower in value) if the Fund and its subsidiaries, under the control of Mr Patrick, are permitted to freely dissipate their assets.

Damages would not be an adequate remedy

117 At paragraph 157 of Patrick 2 and paragraph 114(d)(ii) of Patrick 3, Mr Patrick addresses the potential loss or harm that would be suffered by the Supporting Organisations if injunctions are not granted and contends that any such loss could be adequately compensated in damages. This does not address the issue of what damage would be suffered by the Company, which I understand to be the relevant consideration. This issue will be addressed further in legal argument.

118 The JOLs also believe an award of damages in favour of the Company would not be an adequate remedy if injunctions were not granted and the Company succeeds on is proprietary claim at trial because:

118.1 There is no evidence before the Court to suggest that Mr Patrick, Mr Murphy, CDM or DFW have sufficient assets to satisfy an order requiring them to pay the Company what is likely to be a significant amount of damages.

118.2 Any payment of damages by the Fund, CLO HoldCo and/or the Fund Entities to the Company would be circular and would not provide any actual compensation to the Company. That is, the Company would recover the Partnership Interest and thereby own (directly or indirectly) the Fund, CLO HoldCo and the Fund Entities, such that any payment of damages they make to the Company would be sourced from the Company's own property (whether directly or indirectly held).

Balance of convenience

119 At paragraph 160 of Patrick 2, he asserts that the Fund Entities "…are actively managed. The injunction sought by the JOLs would seriously and unjustifiably interfere with that management. Any interference with the operation of these businesses has the potential to cause serious and irreparable harm to the CDM Entities". These appear to the JOLs to be unsubstantiated assertions. From my reading of Patrick 2 and Patrick 3, there is no detail of which Fund Entities are "actively managed", what that means in practice, and specifically how an injunction would interfere with the "businesses" of the Fund Entities.

120 Mr Patrick has produced a further document (the "Damages Report") prepared by ValueScope, the same entity that provided a report opining that a fair value for the redemption of the Partnership Interest was c.US$1.6 million (when it had net assets of c.US$270 million), which purports to assess the likely damage that the injunction will cause to the Fund, if granted[74]. The headline point of the Damages Report is that ValueScope opine that the estimated damage resulting from the injunction is the remarkable sum of US$126.7 million. The JOLs do not accept this for a number of reasons.

121 First, no permission has been granted to the Defendants to adduce expert evidence, and the Damages Report was only provided to the JOLs for the first time on 3 November 2025, although it was dated 29 July 2025. This obviously hampers the JOLs' ability to assess the report and respond to it, including by reference to expert evidence of their own. This is especially so in light of the fact that many of the claims made in the report are not supported by documentary evidence that the JOLs can investigate and verify.

122 Second, this document was prepared by ValueScope, the same entity that provided valuations that purported to justify Mr Patrick's decision in effect to sell the Partnership Interest to CDM for what appears to be a substantial undervalue. The JOLs therefore consider that valuations provided by ValueScope have already been shown to be unreliable documents that serve Mr Patrick's interests, and we hold justifiable doubts as to ValueScope's independence.

[74] Pages 728 to 783

123 Third, the JOLs have been provided with at least some of the instructions given by Mr Patrick to ValueScope:

> "We think the opposition will simply argue for something below $10mm and make the daf sound likes its just a giant escrow so no concern about damages from an asset freezing injunction.
> They likely plan to wing it and not have a Report from a third party valuation company to support their minimal request for a seven figure bond.
> Brandon is working on a narrative that details all the areas that could be damaged from a freezing injunction.
> Do you think ValueScope could prepare an analysis of a bond or cash deposit reflecting the estimated harm that could befall the daf from a freezing injunction taking into account Brandon's narrative, that we can submit to a court to indicate Dondero needs to deposit within 7 days of the order for the injunction?" (page 784)

124 From this, it can be seen that ValueScope have been instructed to prepare a valuation analysis based on "Brandon's narrative". Whilst it is not entirely clear what this narrative entails, it underlines that the report is based on the version of events that Mr Patrick wanted them to use, rather than ValueScope having undertaken any independent verification of the facts that form part of "Brandon's narrative".

125 Fourth, the Damages Report is extremely thin on detail, and appears to adopt valuation mechanisms that suit Mr Patrick's purpose, but with no explanation, let alone justification, of why those mechanisms are appropriate. The Damages Report opines that damage is likely to be caused by the injunction to [redacted] projects that the Fund is currently undertaking, and I consider each of these projects, and the unsatisfactory nature of ValueScope's analysis, in the paragraphs below.

[redacted]

126 First, the Damages Report considers alleged lost opportunities in respect of land [redacted]. This is said to be vacant land, owned by the Fund, totalling around [redacted] It is proposed that this land would be used for the [redacted], which I understand to be a [redacted]; in short, the proposal appears to be that the Fund's land would be used [redacted] that this use of land would be profitable, and that the injunction would impair the Fund's ability to negotiate with [redacted]

127 The Damages Report says that the value of the [redacted] was US$11.29m as at 21 August 2024. This is on the basis of a report prepared by "[redacted]"[75], but no details are given as to how this figure was reached. Then, with no explanation whatsoever, the Damages Report states that a multiple of 10x should be applied to assess the "improved" value of the [redacted] if the land were to be used for the [redacted], giving a value of US$112.9m, and a profit after cash flow and sale cost expenses of US$95.1m, that the Damages Report says will be lost if the injunction were to be granted. To put it mildly, that appears to be an optimistic estimate, but since no explanation has been provided as to why a 10x multiple has been used, it is impossible for the JOLs to engage in a meaningful assessment. All I can say at this stage is that a 10x multiplier of value seems both unlikely and is a round number that seems to have little close analysis behind it.

[75] [redacted]

128 Similarly, no explanation has been given as to why US$855,200 has been used for the 12-month cash flow figure or why 5% has been allowed for selling costs; there is nothing that explains why these are appropriate and realistic figures.

129 The exhibits to the Damages Report that concern the [redacted] are a series of documents that appear to illustrate that [redacted], but they provide no support, as far as I can see, for the alleged increase in the [redacted] value that will result from [redacted] Rather, they are merely documents that provide a general explanation of the nature of the project.

130 Further, no real explanation is given as to the current likelihood that, but for the injunction, the project will go ahead as planned. If it really were the case that the potential land improvement was 10x the relevant land's value, [redacted].

131 Finally, it is not explained why it is said that the project will not go ahead if the injunction is granted, other than to "impair the DAF's ability to [redacted]". Whilst the ValueScope Report opines that the "DAF will be unable to engage with [redacted] to secure the [redacted] no explanation is given of why this should be the case, and nor does this appear to be a matter that lies within ValueScope's expertise (being a matter of the scope of the injunction, as a matter of law).

[redacted]

132 As far as the JOLs understand it, this property comprises [redacted] land with a present value of US$376,000 as at 26 August 2024 (which is said to be [redacted] valuation, but no concrete evidence is provided), which it is proposed to obtain a [redacted] It is said by ValueScope that the project can be expected to turn a profit of c.US$5 million, but that the Fund will be "[redacted]

133 However, I would note the following:

133.1 ValueScope have assessed the value of the land [redacted] i.e. they have allowed no discount for the possibility that [redacted] The JOLs do not believe this approach is defensible.

133.2 ValueScope have applied a 5.5% cap rate and assumed selling costs of 5%, with no explanation as to why those rates are appropriate.

133.3 The Damages Report has again worked on the basis that the opportunity allegedly presented by the project will be lost entirely were the injunction to be granted. No explanation is given as to how, exactly, the injunction would prevent the [redacted] or how it is that ValueScope are able to opine on this question.

[redacted]

134 [redacted], I understand, a company [redacted] and is an entity to which the Fund made a number of loans that accrue paid-in-kind (PIK) interest at an annual rate of 13% compounded monthly, with a par value of US$112.6 million at maturity on 31 December 2025, according to the Damages Report.

135 ValueScope estimated that the injunction would cause the Fund a loss of US$25.9 million by comparison with the position it would have been in had it not been for the injunction, on the basis that (p.6) [redacted] Rather, the Damages Report asserts, [redacted]

136 However, ValueScope's analysis is very difficult to follow; in particular, it is hard to understand what negative effect ValueScope think the injunction would have on the Fund's rights as a [redacted]

137 The key point appears to be an assumption on the part of ValueScope that the Fund's options without the injunction are either [redacted] and the Amended Injunction Summons contains a carve-out for the reasonable legal fees that would be incurred in taking this course. I do not see how the injunction would reduce the value of the Fund's investment in [redacted] at all.

138 Further, even leaving that aside, there is no explanation provided by ValueScope for a number of the material assumptions made as part of their calculations:

138.1 ValueScope assumes that, if the Fund [redacted] would recover 95% of par, but with no explanation as to why that is.

138.2 ValueScope assumes that the Fund will make only 70% of par if it cannot exit; this is said to be based on price discovery, but no documents are exhibited to support this figure.

138.3 ValueScope assumes that, if the injunction is granted, [redacted] is only 15%, by comparison with 50% ("two equally likely" scenarios) if the injunction is not granted. Again, there is no explanation, let alone justification, as to why the injunction would produce such a different outcome.

[redacted]

139 ValueScope estimate US$700,000 of losses arising in relation to the [redacted] That site is said to have had a value of US$570,000 on 11 October 2024 (again, this is said to be [redacted] valuation, but no concrete evidence is provided). In relation to this, it is said that the injunction would put a halt to talks that the Fund is participating in to lease around [redacted] to a [redacted] However, no explanation is given as to why it is said that the injunction will have this effect, and I do not understand why it would.

140 Further, and like for the other properties, no explanation is given for the cap rate of 7% that ValueScope use, or why it is that 5% is a realistic estimate of selling costs.

Attempts to address the Damages Report in correspondence

141 Despite the obvious deficiencies in the Damages Report, on 12 November 2025, Maples wrote to Campbells (copying Kobre & Kim and Baker & Partners), seeking to learn more about the damage that the injunction is alleged to be likely to cause, and offering to seek to reach agreement on potential carve-outs to the injunction to address the Defendants' concerns in that respect:

> "On the state of the evidence, including the Damages Report, the JOLs' view is that it is unrealistic to expect the Court to not grant any injunctive relief against your clients or to order fortification of a cross-undertaking in damages in an amount even remotely approaching US$126 million. In any event, to reduce the issues in dispute for the hearing, the JOLs believe there is considerable merit in the parties exploring whether agreement can be reached to address your clients' concerns regarding the alleged loss of opportunities set out in the Damages Report.

We previously wrote to your firm on 15 October 2025 seeking your clients' feedback on the proposed carve-outs to the injunctive relief sought by the JOLs and enclosing a draft amended injunction summons. The draft amended injunction summons is yet to be filed. We would therefore encourage your clients to make a proposal to the JOLs as to the protections that could be incorporated into any injunction order to alleviate the risk of alleged losses set out in the Damages Report. In that regard, we note that the JOLs previously offered, in the context of the protocol and the interim undertakings, a scheme whereby the Defendants and Fund Entities could seek the JOLs' approval for any expenditure above a certain threshold, which your clients rejected. Further, the injunction summons dated 15 July 2025 expressly provided for the Defendants and Fund Entities to seek the JOLs' approval to make any potentially profitable investments as follows:

> "5.2 To the extent that any Defendant, Fund Entity or any of their wholly owned subsidiaries wishes to (i) make any payment or otherwise deal with its assets for the purpose of preserving, improving or maintaining the value of its assets; or (ii) make any new investments, they may make a written request (in the case of a Fund Entity or one of their wholly owned subsidiaries, through the Sixth Defendant) to the Plaintiff to undertake the proposed transaction. Such request must include full supporting information and documentation as well as an explanation of the rationale for the transaction. The Plaintiff shall be required to give its approval or non-approval to the proposed transaction within 7 days of the request being made. Should the Plaintiff not approve the proposed transaction, the party making the request shall not consummate the proposed transaction."

An agreed scheme modelled on the above provision would appear to fully address the risk of alleged losses identified in the Damages Report. In the alternative, if the parties cannot reach agreement, the appointment of receivers over the Fund would also fully address that risk. In that case, professional Court-appointed receivers could independently determine whether or not to pursue the investments in question. As we foreshadowed in our letter of 15 July 2025 (at the time of filing the injunction summons), the JOLs reserve the right to amend their application to seek the appointment of receivers over the Fund and/or other Defendants if necessary." (pages 785 to 787)

142 The JOLs are awaiting a response from Campbells to Maples' letter before finalising and filing the Amended Injunction Summons, but we intend to do so in any event prior to the hearing on 15-16 December 2025.

Alleged Prejudice to Mr Murphy and Mr Patrick of an Injunction

143 At paragraph 88 of Murphy 1, he asserts that the Company's liquidation proceedings and the claims made by the Company against him in these proceedings "affects my ability to accept appointments and casts a shadow over my role as an attorney at Stanbrook Prudhoe" and that "there is a significant risk that my ability to earn income from alternative sources is severely diminished until I am vindicated in these proceedings." However, those statements only refer to the prejudice Mr Murphy alleges he would suffer from the commencement of those proceedings (which I understand is a matter of public record). Mr Murphy has not addressed in Murphy 1 the matter of any alleged prejudice he would suffer by virtue of any injunctions ordered against him in these proceedings as distinct from the alleged prejudice he claims to have suffered from the proceedings generally.

144 In any event, Mr Murphy appears to contradict himself at paragraph 9 of Murphy 1, where he states that: "I have since been appointed to various boards of directors and continue to be offered roles which are a good fit for my particular background as a litigation lawyer" (emphasis added). If Mr Murphy is continuing to be offered directorship roles then it casts doubt on the alleged prejudice he claims he has suffered from these proceedings. The JOLs also believe Mr Murphy's statement to be inconsistent with the bare assertion made in the letter from his attorneys, Kobre & Kim, to Maples dated 29 July 2025[76] that "the imposition of injunctive relief…could lead to a loss of at least US$500,000 in income per annum (in today's value), for the duration of his working life".

145 Mr Patrick does not appear to contend in his evidence that he personally would suffer any particular prejudice if injunctions were granted against him.

Cross-undertaking in damages

146 At paragraph 168 of Patrick 2, Mr Patrick asserts that because the initial tranche of funding provided to the Company by Crossvine has been exhausted, Mr Patrick has "concerns…regarding Crossvine's ability willingness and ability to meet the any [sic] cross-undertaking in damages". The JOLs do not believe that the exhaustion of the initial tranche of funding in any way speaks to Crossvine's ability to meet the cross-undertaking in damages that it has agreed to give (if required by the Court). The funding provided by Crossvine was only ever intended to be an initial tranche. The JOLs are in advanced discussions with several third-party funders, including Crossvine, as to the provision of further funding to cover the Company's legal costs and expenses through to trial.

[76] Exhibit PM-1, page 181

Fortification

147 The matter of fortification will be addressed in legal argument. However, the JOLs do not believe fortification is necessary or appropriate given: (i) the strength of their case against the Defendants; (ii) the fact that the Defendants' actions have caused the Company to have no material assets with which to give a cross-undertaking in its own name; and (iii) the fundamental flaws in the Damages Report, being the sole piece of evidence the Defendants rely upon to assert that CDM and/or the Fund Entities would suffer significant damage from an injunction. To the extent fortification of any cross-undertaking is required by the Court, the JOLs do not believe that it should be anywhere near the US$126 million amount sought by the Defendants.

Amended Injunction Summons

148 On 15 October 2025, Maples sent a letter to the Defendants' Attorneys which enclosed a draft amended version of the Injunction Summons (the "Amended Injunction Summons")[77]. The main changes to the original Injunction Summons were as follows:

148.1 Included an exception to the injunction for Mr Patrick and Mr Murphy to pay their reasonable living expenses up to a cap of US$10,000 per month from any compensation they have been paid by any of the corporate Defendants or Fund Entities.

148.2 The Defendants are not permitted to use assets ultimately deriving from the Fund (in respect of which the Company asserts a proprietary claim) to pay their legal fees and expenses, subject to the following exceptions –

[77] Pages 704 to 727

(a) The Fund, CLO HoldCo and any of the Fund Entities are permitted to make payment of their reasonable legal fees and expenses. The rationale for this exception being that those entities could only ever use "Fund assets" to pay for their legal fees given where they sit in the Fund structure.

(b) Mr Patrick and Mr Murphy are permitted to pay their reasonable legal fees and expenses out of assets ultimately deriving from the Fund but only where the payment is being made pursuant to a contractual right of indemnification and advancement from an entity other than the Company, in which case they must comply with the requirements set out at paragraph 94 above.

148.3 Included a specific restraint on Mr Patrick transferring or dealing with the Missouri Property or the Texas Property, on the basis that the Company asserts a proprietary tracing claim in relation to those properties as explained at paragraphs 53 to 54 above.

149 Maples letter of 15 October 2025 sought answers from the Defendants as to the source of the funds being used to pay for their legal fees and whether any Defendants were relying on contractual indemnities to pay their legal fees out of assets ultimately deriving from the Fund or its subsidiaries. The letters in response from Kobre & Kim and Campbells, both dated 27 October 2025, are at pages 788 to 795. Whilst the JOLs had intended to finalise and file the Amended Injunction Summons after receipt of those responses, the JOLs decided to wait to review the Damages Report (once provided) before finalising the Amended Injunction Summons.

150 As noted at paragraph 142 above, the JOLs are awaiting a response from Campbells to Maples' letter dated 12 November 2025 in relation to the Damages Report before finalising and filing the Amended Injunction Summons, but we intend to do so in any event prior to the hearing on 15-16 December 2025.

A7 Other Matters

151 Sections F through J of Patrick 2 do not appear to the JOLs to be directly relevant to the Injunction Application. Accordingly, I do not propose to address those sections in detail, save to clarify the following points:

151.1 Protocol Correspondence: I have addressed the correspondence between the JOLs and the Defendants in relation to their proposed protocols at paragraphs 92 to 93 of MacInnis 1 and do not propose to repeat those points here. However, since MacInnis 1 was filed, there has been some limited further correspondence between the parties which helps to further explain the inadequacies of the protocols proposed by the Defendants. In particular, the letter from Maples to Campbells dated 27 July 2025[78], whereby Maples set out in detail at paragraphs 5 and 6 that none of the versions of the protocol offered by the Defendants included asset preservation undertakings, concluding that:

> "If your clients genuinely were willing to give asset preservation undertakings previously as you suggest, then it bears explaining why they decided not to give those undertakings when the JOLs first (and second) requested them. Absent a satisfactory explanation, of which there isn't any, the JOLs are firmly of the view that your clients did not engage in the protocol correspondence in good faith."

Campbells did not respond to that letter.

151.2 I also note that, whilst the Defendants' protocols offered to provide a listing of all transactions undertaken by the Fund and its subsidiaries dating back to 1 July 2024, those protocols expressly stated that the transactions they would disclose: "shall not include renumeration of employees, officers and directors, agents, advisors and / or service providers of the CDM Entities."[79] I now believe Mr Patrick included this proviso in order to allow him to conceal from the JOLs the excessive salaries and bonuses he had paid himself from Fund Entities in 2024 and continues to pay himself (see paragraphs 63 to 69 above as to the information the JOLs have since obtained about the compensation paid to Mr Patrick).

[78] Which responded to a letter from Campbells dated 24 July 2025 (both of which are exhibited at pages 796 to 808

151.3 HMIT Settlement and related correspondence: The JOLs were not a party to the Highland Bankruptcy proceedings or the HMIT Settlement that is addressed at paragraphs 96 to 107 of Patrick 2 and therefore cannot comment on most of what is said in those paragraphs. However, I understand that Mr Patrick is critical in his affidavit of a letter that the JOLs sent to the litigation trustees of the Highland Bankruptcy in relation to the proposed HMIT Settlement dated 24 June 2025. The basis for the JOLs sending that letter was that the JOLs had limited information about the HMIT Settlement and we believed that we needed to understand the transaction before allowing it to proceed in the discharge of our duties to the Company and the Court (particularly given the quantum of the assets involved). The JOLs therefore do not understand the criticism from Mr Patrick. In the JOLs' view, Mr Patrick and Mr Murphy should have disclosed the HMIT Settlement and provided full information of it to the JOLs prior to it being consummated.

151.4 As regards paragraph 107 of Patrick 2, I reject the contention that the JOLs are not independent and are being influenced by the interests of Mr Dondero. The JOLs' actions in the liquidation and these proceedings are being motivated solely by our duty as Court-appointed officers to recover the assets of the Company that the JOLs believe have been misappropriated by the Defendants acting in concert. The JOLs have had no communications with Mr Dondero and cannot speak to the decision of Dugaboy to file a motion in the Highland Bankruptcy seeking to stay the HMIT Settlement.

151.5 Texas Proceedings: The Company is not a party to the Texas Proceedings nor the Rule 11 Agreement and so the JOLs are not able to comment on paragraphs 108 to 111 of Patrick 2. I have set out at paragraph 97 of MacInnis 1 the reasons why the JOLs believe that the Rule 11 Restrictions are not sufficient to protect the Company's position in these proceedings. Those beliefs have only been strengthened following the JOLs' discovery of the US$13,873,778 in salaries and fees Mr Patrick has paid himself out of the Fund structure in 2024 and the first half of 2025 alone (see paragraphs 63 to 69 above). The JOLs hold concerns that Mr Patrick will rely on the ordinary course of business exception to the Rule 11 Restrictions (and indeed the Interim Undertakings) to continue to pay himself grossly excessive compensation and thereby deplete the assets of the Fund structure if injunctions are not granted by this Honourable Court.

151.6 As regards the "CC Proposal" referred to at paragraphs 120 to 124 of Patrick 2, the JOLs have no direct knowledge of the CC Proposal and therefore cannot speak to Mr Patrick's assertion that the Supporting Organisations did not engage with that proposal. However, I have now read the CC Proposal exhibited to Patrick 2 and note that it does not address the issue of the excessive compensation that Mr Patrick has been paying himself from the Fund structure and what he proposes to do about it moving forward. If Mr Patrick were truly concerned about the Charities and not his own self-interest, the JOLs would have expected him to confirm in the CC Proposal that he would be willing to: (i) resign as a director of the Fund GP and all of the Fund's subsidiary entities; and (ii) cause CDM to return the Partnership Interest to the Company. The JOLs firmly believe that Mr Patrick is not a fit and proper person to be managing the Fund's assets. The JOLs view the recovery of the Partnership Interest that belongs to the Company as a necessary first step to reclaim control of the Fund structure. Once that is achieved, the JOLs believe they will then need to assess, in consultation with the Court, a way forward for the Company and the Fund which is aimed at ensuring no further corporate governance issues arise and the Company and the Fund operate smoothly and for the sole benefit of the Supporting Organisations and the supported Charities, as they are meant to. The JOLs expect such measures will likely include removing Mr Patrick and Mr Murphy as directors/managers of all the Fund Entities and appointing new independent management (subject to the approval of this Honourable Court).

151.7 Funding: At paragraphs 112 to 117 of Patrick 2, Mr Patrick takes issue with the funding that the JOLs have obtained for the liquidation and these proceedings to date. In reply to those paragraphs, I wish to note the following points –

(a) It has only been necessary for the JOLs to obtain third party funding because of the actions of Mr Patrick and Mr Murphy in transferring away the Company's sole valuable asset (worth c. US$270 million) for nominal consideration, leaving the Company without material assets to pay for the legal fees of its asset recovery efforts. The JOLs therefore believe any purported concerns or objections that Mr Patrick has to the JOLs' funding arrangements to be purely tactical and consistent with what the JOLs perceive to be Mr Patrick's strategy of seeking to: (i) impede the JOLs' efforts to recover the Company's property; and (ii) avoid a determination of the JOLs' claims against him on the merits for as long as possible.

(b) Mr Patrick asserts that the JOLs are conflicted and/or acting under the influence of Mr Dondero due to the initial tranche of funding being provided by Crossvine Litigation Funding LLC ("Crossvine"). The JOLs strongly reject that assertion. The JOLs have obtained sanction of this Honourable Court to enter into the funding agreement with Crossvine and are acting in what we believe to be the Company's best interest in seeking to recover its highly valuable property from the Defendants. Neither Crossvine nor any parties connected with Crossvine (let alone Mr Dondero) have any control over or influence on the JOLs' investigations and decision-making. In any event, I understand that Mr Patrick's allegations against the JOLs are not a matter for determination on the Injunction Application and I understand those allegations will be considered at the hearing of the Removal Application. In that regard and for completeness, I exhibit at pages 809 to 819 a copy of a letter from Maples to Baker & Partners (DFW's attorneys) dated 5 September 2025, which sets out the JOLs' position on the Removal Application and why it is bound to fail.

(c) As regards paragraph 116 of Patrick 2, the JOLs have no information about the litigation proceedings to which any Fund Entities are party besides: (i) publicly available information; and (ii) the limited information amount of information that the Defendants have disclosed to the JOLs pursuant to the Interim Undertakings, which expressly requires the JOLs not to disclose the information to: "Mr James Dondero, the Supporting Organisations (being Highland Santa Barbara Foundation, Highland Dallas Foundation, and Highland Kansas City Foundation), or any known affiliates or service providers of these individuals / entities, subject to where the JOLs' are required to disclose any such information in the discharge of their duties to the Court or as otherwise required by law."

(d) Mr Patrick also raises purported concerns about the funding provided by Crossvine having been exhausted. The JOLs believe these concerns to be misguided. As noted at paragraph 146 above, the JOLs only ever sought an initial tranche of funding from Crossvine – it was never intended by the JOLs that it would cover the full costs of the liquidation and these proceedings. The JOLs are presently in advanced discussions with third party funders to provide a further tranche of funding that is intended to cover the duration of these proceedings. However, the Company's costs are being exacerbated by the hostile and highly defensive position of the Defendants, who have filed a combined six summonses in the liquidation proceedings and these proceedings already. The JOLs believe this to be part of the Defendants' strategy to stultify the progress of these proceedings and delay a determination of the JOLs' claims on their merits (whilst expending considerable sums on legal fees out of assets ultimately belonging to the Company in the process).

151.8 Alleged inaccuracies in MacInnis 1: At paragraph 118 of Patrick 2, Mr Patrick criticises me for not addressing Mr Dondero's position as President of each of the Supporting Organisations. The issue of what powers the President of the Supporting Organisations can exercise and whether they can circumvent the board of directors is addressed in the Bedingfield Affidavit at paragraph 25. I also note that Mr Patrick concedes that the President has "all powers that are delegated [to the President] by the Board of Directors" (emphasis added). Further, as Mr Mancino noted in his memo of advice to Mr Patrick dated 12 September 2013, "the board of each supporting organization is controlled by the supported organisation..."[80]. Mr Patrick has provided no evidence to suggest that the majority independent board of directors of each of the Supporting Organisations has delegated any specific powers to Mr Dondero as President. Mr Patrick's assertion that Mr Dondero has single-handedly caused the Supporting Organisations to take certain actions appears to be simply conjecture.

151.9 At paragraph 119 and footnote 23 of Patrick 2, he takes issue with my reference in MacInnis 1 to the Supporting Organisations making grants to their respective Charities from time to time from any dividends received from the Company. I do not believe that my evidence was inaccurate in any material respect – the issue appears to me to be one of terminology. As Mr Patrick admits, "the terms of each charitable foundation's annual distributions from the Company [are] provided for in the Legal Relationship Agreement or Operating Agreements they entered into with the Supporting Organizations". Whereas I referred to "dividends" paid by the Company to the Supporting Organisations, Mr Patrick refers to "distributions". Where I referred to the Supporting Organisations using those funds to make "grants" to their respective Charities, I accept that the proper terminology for these payments under the Legal Relationship Agreement or Operating Agreements are payment of fees to the Charities. Indeed, I believe I described it correctly at paragraph 18.5(b) of MacInnis 1 where I stated that those agreements provide that: "in consideration for the services provided by the Charity to the Supporting Organisation, the Supporting Organisation shall pay an administrative fee to the Charity (most of which are based on a percentage of the market value of the assets held by the relevant Supporting Organisation)". The JOLs also find it contradictory for Mr Patrick to assert that the Supporting Organisations and their respective Charities had no economic interest in the Company when at the same time he admits that there were contractual terms governing "each charitable foundation's annual distributions from the Company".

151.10 I note that at paragraph 125 of Patrick 2, he asserts that the "CDM Entities" (or "Fund Entities" as they are referred to in the Amended Injunction Summons) are not "mostly passive investment vehicles" because they have a number of actively managed business lines. However, Mr Patrick provides no details of which Fund Entities allegedly operate active business lines beyond the high-level business categories described in paragraph 125(a) to (d). The information that the JOLs have received from the Defendants to date pursuant to the Interim Undertakings has not revealed any new significant investments, trades or asset sales for the period from July 2025 onwards. Of the total of 14 transactions above US$50,000 that the Defendants have provided the JOLs with notice of, 11 relate to payment of legal fees or service providers. Further, the transaction listings provided to the JOLs for the months of July through September 2025 disclose Fund Entities receiving 32 payments from external parties, 30 of which represent passive income streams such as dividends, interest, rent or settlement distributions (pages 820 to 822).

151.11 At paragraphs 130 to 133, Mr Patrick addresses the Mercer report. I have addressed the Mercer Report at paragraphs 55 to 56 above and it will be addressed further in the JOLs' legal submissions.

151.12 As regards paragraph 137 of Patrick 2, the JOLs do not have sufficient information to take a position on the appropriateness of the compensation paid to the Fund's previous investment managers/advisors in the period 2014 to 2020. However, taking the list of payments exhibited at pages 422 to 423 of Exhibit MEP-2 at face value, I disagree with Mr Patrick's contention that the remuneration he has paid himself from the Fund structure represents only a "fraction" of the amounts paid to the investment managers/advisors associated with Mr Dondero in the period 2014 to 2020. Mr Patrick has been paid compensation of US$13,873,778.03 from the Fund structure in 2024 and the first half of 2025 alone. This represents approximately 209% of the fees Mr Patrick contends were paid to the Fund's previous investment managers/advisors for an equivalent 18-month period (US$30.85 million / 4.666 = US$6.61 million).

151.13 Fund structure chart: At paragraph 13 of Patrick 2, he exhibits a "structure chart of the DAF structure, both before and after the DAF Restructuring". However, the "before" chart he exhibits does not show the DAF structure prior to the DAF Restructuring and is misleading in that it shows CDM as the holder of the Partnership Interest, when in fact CDM was incorporated by Mr Patrick specifically for the purposes of carrying out the DAF Restructuring, one of the steps of which was the transfer of the Partnership Interest from the Company to CDM. The correct structure chart showing the position prior to any steps had been taken in the DAF Restructuring is at page 823, whereby the Company held the Partnership Interest and CDM was not a part of the structure.

152 The only other part of Murphy 1 that I wish to respond to is paragraph 81, which is misleading in several respects. Without wishing to be exhaustive on matters that do not bear on the merits of the JOLs' case for injunctions against Mr Murphy and the other Defendants, I wish to note the following:

152.1 Contrary to what is suggested at paragraph 81.1 of Murphy 1 (and paragraph 144 of Patrick 2), the JOLs' case for urgency in having the Injunction Summons listed for hearing was conveyed to the Honourable Judge by letter dated 15 July 2025 (pages 824 to 827), and the hearing was listed on that basis.

152.2 Paragraphs 81.2 and 81.3 do not provide an accurate account of Maples' efforts, on instructions from the JOLs, to have the adjourned Injunction Summons listed for hearing[81]. An accurate chronology of Maples' attempts to find mutually available dates for the adjourned hearing of the Injunction Summons across the three firms acting for the Defendants can be provided if it would assist the Court.

B REPLY TO PATRICK 3

153 The JOLs are perturbed that Mr Patrick has decided to incur unnecessary costs to have two different firms (Campbells and Baker & Partners) prepare two affidavits sworn by him that largely make the same points (Patrick 2 and Patrick 3). In this regard, I note that at the hearing of the JOLs' application for sanction to engage legal counsel, the Honourable Justice Asif commented on several occasions that he did not understand why DFW (an entity controlled by Mr Patrick and represented by Baker & Partners) needed to be separately represented from

[81] The adjournment being agreed by the parties on the eve of the original hearing date in conjunction with the Defendants giving asset preservation undertakings to the Court, and recorded in the Consent Order

Mr Patrick and the other Defendants he controls (all of whom are represented by Campbells). The relevant extracts from the transcript are as follows:

> "JUDGE: …I don't really understand why it's necessary for Mr Patrick to be separately represented, and simply because I gave him permission doesn't mean he has to take it up."[82]

> "JUDGE: Well, My Tyers-Smith, my query is this, if DFW and the management shareholder [Mr Patrick] are aligned, which seems to be they're very highly likely to be, I don't really understand why they need separate representation. And if they're not aligned, that means there must be a conflict between them. And I have a bit of difficulty in understanding how Mr Patrick can remain director of a company where he has a conflict"[83].

154 This point was also addressed in a letter from Maples to Baker & Partners dated 15 August 2025 (pages 828 to 829): "In circumstances where: (i) DFW was created and is controlled by Mr Patrick; and (ii) their interests in the defence of the FSD Proceedings are obviously aligned, there is no good reason for DFW to be separately represented to Mr Patrick in the FSD Proceedings (or the Liquidation Proceedings). At the sanction hearing on 24 June 2025, Justice Asif on many occasions emphasised that he considered it was unnecessary for DFW to be separately represented from Mr Patrick. We would encourage you to take up his Lordship's suggestion. Should you not do so, the JOLs reserve their right to make an appropriate application to the Court."

155 The JOLs also take issue with the significant amount of legal fees being incurred by DFW to Baker & Partners, which are being paid for by CLO HoldCo, despite there being no apparent reason for DFW to be separately represented from Mr Patrick. Accordingly, the JOLs reserve the right to object to DFW's leading counsel making any oral submissions at the hearing of the Injunction Application. Campbells has confirmed that Mr Patrick and the other Defendants he controls will already be represented by leading counsel at the hearing, such that it would only serve to chew up the available hearing time and increase costs for DFW to make the same or similar submissions.

156 From my reading of Patrick 3, most of it repeats the points already made in Patrick 2 and Reid 1, which only increases the JOLs' concerns and objections to DFW's unnecessary legal costs that are being paid for out of the Fund structure. The JOLs therefore do not see the need to prepare a fulsome reply to Patrick 3. The JOLs only wish to respond to the following handful of points made therein:

156.1 At paragraph 6 of Patrick 3, Mr Patrick takes issue with the Company's Amended Writ and Statement of Claim filed on 15 October 2025. The Amended Writ is marked amended pursuant to Grand Court Rules ("GCR") O.20, r.3(1) and the Amended Statement of Claim is marked amended pursuant to GCR O.20, r.12(1). I understand from Maples that these are typographical errors and should refer to GCR O.20, r.1(1) and GCR O.20, r.3(1) respectively, pursuant to which I understand that the Company does not require leave of the Court or the agreement of the Defendants for the amendments. If required by the Court, the JOLs will seek leave to file a further Amended Writ and Statement of Claim correcting these typographical errors.

156.2 At paragraph 59 of Patrick 3 onwards under the heading 'Inequitable Conduct', Mr Patrick makes various criticisms of the JOLs. Mr Patrick's criticisms of the JOLs have culminated in DFW filing the Removal Application, which is conspicuously only mentioned in passing at paragraph 109 of Patrick 3 and not at all in Patrick 2. The JOLs believe it is telling of the lack of merit in those criticisms that neither Patrick 3 nor Patrick 2 addresses the letter from Maples to Baker & Partners dated 5 September 2025 setting out the multitude of reasons why the Removal Application is bound to fail, which letter Maples has not received a response to (see paragraph 40.4 above).

156.3 At paragraph 78 of Patrick 3, he insinuates that the JOLs deliberately withheld the identity of a further senior counsel from whom the JOLs have taken advice on the merits of the Company's claims. That is incorrect – the Honourable Justice Asif made sealing orders over various parts of MacInnis 5 filed in the liquidation proceedings, including the identity of the senior counsel in question. The JOLs are therefore bound not to disclose the identity of that person to the Defendants.

156.4 At paragraphs 86 to 87 of Patrick 3, he alleges that Mr Andrew Ayres KC is conflicted from acting for the JOLs in this matter. That allegation has already been addressed and rejected by the JOLs in a letter from Maples to Baker & Partners dated 15 August 2025 (pages 828 to 829). Baker & Partners has not responded to that letter.

156.5 The assertions made by Mr Patrick at paragraphs 110 to 111 are incorrect and misleading. The JOLs' letter to the Court dated 15 July 2025 set out that the JOLs were concerned to get the injunction hearing listed before the long Court summer recess began on 1 August 2025 in circumstances where the Rule 11 Agreement in Texas (which provided only partial protection to the Company in these proceedings) may have been discharged by the end of that recess.

C REPLY TO MANCINO AND REID AFFIDAVITS

157 I understand that the function of affidavits in Cayman Islands court proceedings such as these is to provide evidence, not to make legal or other arguments. I therefore do not seek to respond to the various arguments made in Mancino 1 and Reid 1. This is on the basis that, insofar as necessary and appropriate, these will be dealt with in the JOLs' legal submissions. I also understand that neither Mr Mancino nor Mr Reid have any Cayman Islands law qualifications. However, it appears to the JOLs that in a number of instances, Mr Reid and Mr Mancino have opined on the fiduciary duties of the Company's directors and whether the steps they took in relation to the DAF Restructuring were compliant with those duties. These matters will also be dealt with in the JOLs' legal submissions.

158 At paragraph 32 above, I extracted what appears to be the key conclusions from the Bedingfield Affidavit, which contradict the evidence of Mr Mancino and Mr Reid. In addition to those points, whilst I am not a US tax lawyer, I note an internal contradiction in Mr Reid's reasoning in that:

158.1 Mr Reid states that "the key tax benefit enjoyed by the Supporting Organisations is that they are not classified as private foundations."[84]

158.2 Mr Reid goes on to reason that "Mr Dondero's presence on the Board of the Highland Foundations is problematic because he is a Disqualified Person, and his presence on the board jeopardizes their tax status as non-private foundations. If a Disqualified Person exercises substantial influence over a Supporting Organization, whether directly or indirectly, then the Supporting Organization would be subject to the private foundation rules, which involve greater scrutiny and a significant tax burden."[85]

158.3 However, in relation to DFW, which is controlled by Mr Patrick and after the DAF Restructuring became the sole member of CDM and thereby the indirect owner of the Fund, Mr Reid confirms that "DFW is a U.S. private foundation, so it is subject to all U.S. tax laws affecting charitable organizations".[86]

159 If that is the case, the JOLs struggle to understand how a risk of the Company's Participating Shareholders becoming private foundations justified transferring away the Company's significant asset to another entity (CDM) whose sole membership interest was owned by a private foundation (DFW), both of whom were controlled by Mr Patrick.

[84] Reid 1, paragraph 30

[85] Reid 1, paragraph 34

[86] Reid 1, paragraph 82

160 Finally, I wish to address briefly the inaccuracies that Mr Reid and Mr Mancino allege were in MacInnis 1:

160.1 At paragraph 63 of Reid 1, Mr Reid misconstrues the following statement I made at paragraph 17 of MacInnis 1: "[e]ach of the Charities held their interests in the Company indirectly through Highland Kansas Foundation, the Highland Dallas Foundation and the Highland Santa Barbara Foundation respectively (i.e. the Dallas Foundation held their interest through the Participating Shares held by Highland Dallas Foundation etc)". Mr Reid interpreted that as suggesting that: "each Supported Organization is the alter ego of its respective Supporting Organization, lacking a separate identity." That is not what I was suggesting. The point I was making is that it was ultimately the Charities (Supported Organisations) who stood to benefit in economic terms from the assets of the Company, which economic benefit would arise by way of distributions from the Company to its Participating Shareholders (the Supporting Organisations), which would then in turn be used to pay the fees that the Supported Organisations are contractually entitled to (calculated based on a percentage of the Company's NAV) from the Supporting Organisations.

160.2 At paragraphs 8 to 9 of Mancino 1 and various places in Reid 1, they take issue with my description of the Charities[87] being the "indirect beneficial owners" of the Company. What I meant by that term is explained above. However, I would also observe that this terminology is consistent with the way the Charities are described in the Fund LPA – the "Indirect Charitable Owners".

[87] Referred to as "Supported Organizations" in Mancino 1 and Reid 1

160.3 Mr Mancino's and Mr Reid's other comments on MacInnis 1 focus on US law tax issues. Having taken the US tax law advice referred to in MacInnis 1 (privilege over which is not waived) and having reviewed Mancino 1, Reid 1, and the Bedingfield Affidavit, the JOLs' views on the propriety of the DAF Restructuring, including the purported US tax law concerns relied upon by Mr Patrick and Mr Murphy for it, have not changed.

Dear Ms Hoskins

Charitable DAF HoldCo, Ltd (in Official Liquidation) (the "Company") v Mark Eric Patrick & Ors – FSD 201 of 2025 (RPJ)

Draft Judgment

1 We refer to the draft judgment (the "Draft Judgment") in relation to the hearing on 15 and 16 December 2025 of the Company's application, by way of Amended Summons dated 4 December 2025 (the "Amended Summons"), for an injunction restraining the disposal of and dealing with assets over which the Company asserts a proprietary interest. The Draft Judgment was circulated to the parties on 28 January 2026.

2 This letter addresses the following points: (a) a potential omission from the Draft Judgment; and (b) the timing of the handing down of the final judgment.

Omission from the Draft Judgment

3 The Draft Judgment dismisses the Amended Summons in its entirety. This includes the Company's application, at paragraph 1.1(a) of the Amended Summons, for an order restraining the Defendants from taking steps to dispose of and/or transfer the limited partnership interest (the "Partnership Interest") itself that the Company formerly held in Charitable DAF Fund, LP (the "Fund") which was previously an asset of the Company and was transferred to the Third Defendant in March 2025. The application for injunctive relief in respect of the Partnership Interest itself is distinct from the injunctive relief sought in respect of the underlying assets of the Fund and/or subsidiaries of the Fund.

4 The Draft Judgment does not, however, appear to address the Company's proprietary interest in the Partnership Interest itself and does not consider whether on the balance of convenience an injunction should be granted in respect of the Partnership Interest. This appears to be an omission from the Draft Judgment. In this regard:

(a) It is not disputed by the Defendants that the Company had a proprietary interest in the Partnership Interest.

(b) The Honourable Judge has determined that there is a serious issue to be tried in respect of the Restructuring which caused the Partnership Interest to be transferred to the Third Defendant.

(c) An injunction over transferring the Partnership Interest itself would plainly not interfere with the underlying business of the Fund. This was the basis on which the Honourable Judge found that the balance of convenience weighed against granting an injunction over the underlying Fund assets.

5 The Company is not attempting to make further submissions in respect of the Amended Summons but respectfully seeks to query whether the Honourable Judge would consider amending the Draft Judgment to determine this issue. As currently drafted, upon delivery of the final judgment, the Company will have no protections in respect of the Partnership Interest, and it is not clear whether this was the intention of the Court.

Timing

6 The Company intends to appeal the final judgment once handed down. The Company will seek to have the appeal listed as soon as practicable. To preserve its position pending the appeal, the Company intends to apply to this Honourable Court for a short interim injunction on the same or similar terms as the interim undertakings set out in the Consent Order dated 31 July 2025 (the "Interim Undertakings") to continue until either the determination of (i) the appeal of this Honourable Court's final judgment; or in the alternative (ii) the Company's application to the Cayman Islands Court of Appeal for an interim injunction pending appeal (the "Interim Application").

7 To address the risk of further dissipation of assets during the period between the delivery of the final judgment and the determination of the Interim Application, the Company respectfully requests that the Interim Application be listed and determined before or at least simultaneously when the final judgment is delivered. The Company will file the Interim Application promptly once the Honourable Court has had an opportunity to respond to our query above and make any desired consequential amendments to the Draft Judgment. Given the terms of the Interim Undertakings, which have been in place since 31July 2025, we do not consider that the proposed approach would cause any party any undue prejudice.

8 The Company will write to the Defendants to seek their consent to extend the Interim Undertakings pending determination of the appeal. If the Defendants give such consent, the Interim Application may not be necessary.

9 We should be grateful if you would please place this letter before the Honourable Judge at your earliest convenience. Please do not hesitate to contact Caroline Moran or Christian La-Roda Thomas of this firm (details above) if you require any further information.

Yours faithfully

Proprietary injunction - jurisdiction - s.11 of the Grand Court Act (2015 Revision) - O.29, r.1 and r.2 of the Grand Court Rules - test for grant of injunction - serious issue to be tried - nature of proprietary interest - discretion - cross undertaking in damages - fortification - charitable fund structure - Cayman Islands exempted limited company in structure to make charitable distributions for US tax reasons to US charities - reorganisation by directors of fund structure - transference of limited partnership interest without notification to supporting organisations - claims of improper purpose to gain control - claims of excessive remuneration against directors - alleged transactions at undervalue.

Introduction

1. Charitable DAF HoldCo, Ltd (in Official Liquidation) (the "Company") is a Cayman Islands exempted company. It applies[1] for a proprietary injunction restraining the disposal of and dealing with assets over which the Company asserts a proprietary claim.

2. The application arises from transactions procured by the First and Second Defendants (Mr Mark Patrick and Mr Paul Murphy, collectively "the Directors" and D1 and D2) in alleged breach of fiduciary duties owed to the Company.

3. Four parties addressed the Court over a two-day hearing. Mr Andrew Ayres KC represented the Company, Mr Andrew Scott KC represented D1, D3, D5 and D6 (the “CDM Defendants” or “CDM Entities”), Mr David Quest KC represented D2 (“Mr Murphy”), and Ms Jennifer Colegate represented D4 (“DFW”).

4. All of the Defendants contested the application on various grounds. The affidavits and exhibits submitted on the application are voluminous.[2]

5. In a nutshell the Company’s claim alleges that unlawful steps were taken by the Directors to divest the Company of its sole asset, which is a limited partnership interest (the “Partnership Interest") in a Cayman Islands exempted limited partnership, Charitable DAF Fund, LP (the "Fund").

6. The Company alleges that control of the Partnership Interest of the Company was transferred to D3 and/or D4, entities under Mr Patrick's sole control and ownership, for a gross undervalue of c.US$ 1.6 million in March 2025.

7. The Company points to the fact that the Fund's net asset value was estimated at c.US$ 270 million in September 2024.

8. The joint official liquidators ("JOLs")[3], who bring the claim on behalf of the Company, are concerned that the Directors remain in control of the relevant assets and that the Company has been divested of its control of the Fund. They are concerned that value has been lost and will continue to be lost while the Directors enrich themselves by paying themselves what the JOLs say are 'vast and unjustifiable' fees and by the expenditure of large sums under the guise of 'ordinary business expenses'.

Factual Background

The Fund

9. The factual background to the Fund's establishment and the transfer of the Partnership Interest is explained in the First Affidavit of Margot MacInnis sworn 15 July 2025 ("MacInnis 1"). The following is a summary of the relevant structures and transactions which show how this worked.

10. The Fund is a Cayman Islands exempted limited partnership formed to invest and manage assets for the benefit or ultimate benefit of certain registered charitable organisations in the US.

11. The Fund is governed by the Second Amended and Restated Exempted Limited Partnership Agreement dated 11 March 2024 (the "ARLPA").

12. The Fund was formed in 2011 at the instigation of Mr James Dondero, a U.S. resident and the founder of Highland Capital Management, L.P. ("Highland"), to enable certain assets to be donated to those registered charitable organisations.

[3] Appointed on 6 May 2025.

13. The Fund's sole asset is or was its single share, comprising 100% of the issued share capital in CLO HoldCo, Ltd (D6).

The Company

14. The Company, until recently the Fund's sole limited partner, and owner of the 99% Partnership Interest, was incorporated in the Cayman Islands on 7 November 2011.

15. The Company's share capital is divided into Participating Shares and Management Shares[4]:

(1) The entirety of the Participating Shares were, from 2011 to 2024, held by four non-profit U.S. companies[5] (the "Original Participating Shareholders") that act as "Supporting Organisations" to US charities (the "Charities").[6] Each is a charitable entity exempt from taxation under section 501(c)(3) of the U.S. Internal Revenue Code of 1986 (the "IR Code"). Mr Dondero was (and remains) involved at board level with these Supporting Organisations, but according to Ms MacInnis he does not control them. The Defendants say that he does own and in effect controls them.

(2) The Management Shares were initially held by a Mr Grant Scott, but were transferred to Mr Patrick on 25 March 2021, on which date Mr Patrick was also appointed to replace Mr Scott as sole director of the Company.

16. On 22 April 2021, Mr Patrick, as Management Shareholder, appointed Mr Murphy as a director of the Company. Mr Murphy is resident in the Cayman Islands.

17. The Company's Memorandum and Articles of Association[7] provide that Management Shareholders had the right to receive notice of, and to attend, to speak at and to vote at, any general meeting of the Company, but no right to participate in the profits or assets of the Company (Article 11).

---

[4] Authorised share capital of US$50,000 divided into 100 Management Shares of US$0.01 par value each and 4,999,900 Participating Shares of US$0.01 par value each.
[5] Highland Dallas Foundation, Inc, Highland Santa Barbara Foundation Inc, Highland Kansas City Foundation Inc (together the "Highland Foundations"), and subsequently Community Foundation of North Texas ("CFNT").
[6] Save that CFNT an underlying charity, has no "Supporting Organisation" and holds its shares in the Company directly.
[7] The memorandum and articles of association dated 27 October 2011; and the amended and restated memoranda and articles of association dated 19 January 2015; 24 January 2024; and 20 February 2025 respectively.

18. The Participating Shareholders have no right to vote at Company meetings, but did have rights in a winding up or repayment of capital and the right to participate in the profits or assets of the Company by way of dividend in accordance with Article 12.

19. The Participating Shareholders therefore have the economic interest in the Company, whereas the Management Shareholders have the control rights.

20. The Company was placed into voluntary liquidation by directors' resolution on 2 April 2025.

The General Partner of the Fund

21. Under the ARLPA, sole control over the management and distribution of the Fund's assets was granted to the Fund's general partner. From its formation until 7 March 2024, the Fund's General Partner was Charitable DAF GP, LLC, a Delaware limited liability company registered as a foreign company in the Cayman Islands (the "Original GP"). On 25 March 2021, the same date he appointed Mr Patrick sole director of the Company, and transferred his 100 Management Shares to him, Mr Scott also transferred to Mr Patrick the entire issued share capital in the Original GP. On 7 March 2024, the Original GP was replaced by CDH GP, Ltd, a Cayman Islands incorporated company (D5 and the "New GP"), of which Mr Patrick is sole shareholder and director.

Charitable Purpose and Tax Considerations

The Fund's Purpose

22. The purpose of the Fund was to make investments for the ultimate benefit of the Charities which the Supporting Organisations supported.

23. The Charities are the following four U.S. charitable or non-profit organisations:

(1) The Dallas Foundation: a charitable entity established in Texas in 1929 which has awarded over US$1 billion in grants and manages over US$500 million in assets.

(2) Greater Kansas City Community Foundation: a charitable entity established in Missouri in 1978 which has awarded over US$7 billion in grants and manages over US$6 billion held in charitable funds.

(3) Santa Barbara Foundation: a charity established in 1928 which is the largest community foundation on California's Central Coast and manages assets of over US$800 million.

(4) North Texas Community Foundation: which manages assets totalling US$513 million and donated US$38.9 million to local non-profits in 2023.

The Tax Structure[8]

24. As a matter of US tax law, in order for the Charities to benefit from distributions from the Fund in a tax efficient manner, it was necessary for them to hold their interests through an offshore 'corporate blocker', i.e. the Company.

25. Section 501(c)(3) of the IR Code provides that charitable organisations which meet certain criteria are exempt from state and federal taxes except to the extent that they receive income classified as unrelated business taxable income ("UBTI").

26. Section 509 of the IR Code defines the term "supporting organisation" as a tax-exempt entity that must be organised and then operate exclusively either (i) for the benefit of, (ii) to perform the functions of, or (iii) to carry out the purposes of, one or more supported organisations (the Charities). The supported organisations must also be s501(c)(3) entities.

27. Both the Charities and the Supporting Organisations apparently meet the criteria of s501(c)(3), and are therefore exempt from US state and federal taxes save to the extent that they receive UBTI.

28. Apparently as a matter of US tax law, some income received directly from the Fund by the Charities would likely be considered UBTI.

29. In order to 'insulate' the Charities from UBTI, instead of holding their interest in the Fund directly, the Supporting Organisations hold their interest through an 'offshore corporate blocker' structure, i.e. the Company.

30. The purpose of inserting the Company into the structure was that any tax that was due from these investments would be paid at the Company level, and the proceeds would then be distributed to the Supporting Organisations and then to the Charities free of any tax liability.

[8] See affidavit of Marvin Bradford Bedingfield.

Company Submission on this Structure

31. The Company argues that:

(1) The Supporting Organisations (the four non-profit US companies who were the original Participating Shareholders) and the Charities hold or ultimately hold the real economic interest in the Fund;

(2) They are not merely discretionary beneficiaries whom the Fund may or may not choose to confer a benefit on, but the ultimate owners of the Fund, albeit through the Company as a tax filter, and with the Fund having its own discretion as to how to manage its investments; and

(3) The fact that the GP had a discretion as to whether to make any distribution to any of the Participating Shareholders does not change this analysis.

Relationship between Supporting Organisations and the Charities

32. As to the relationship between the Supporting Organisations and the Charities:

(1) The Supported Organisations (Charities) are said to control the Supporting Organisations (Participating Shareholders) through their majority voting interest and their ability to elect a majority of the directors of the Supporting Organisations (Participating Shareholders);

(2) The Supporting Organisations (Participating Shareholders) support the Supported Organisations (Charities) by way of paying fees (i.e. making grants) to them from time to time from their assets, including any dividends received from the Company;

(3) The Supporting Organisations (Participating Shareholders) have no ability to pay dividends to any private person or make payments to their directors (save reasonable reimbursement for reasonable out-of-pocket expenses) and can only make grants to their relevant Charity in furtherance of their charitable purposes; and

(4) Whilst Mr Dondero sits on the board of the Supporting Organisations (Participating Shareholders), he does not control them, as a supermajority of the votes are always held by the respective Charity.

33. As described above, the structure was set up to make discretionary distributions to qualifying tax exempt organisations under Section 501(c)(3) of the IR Code. US tax rules apparently require donors to cede 'dominion and control' over contributed assets and for donees to be genuinely independent from donor influence.[9]

Mr Patrick's Role

34. Mr Patrick is a US attorney and was employed as tax counsel by Highland from 2008 to 2021, and as tax counsel by Highland Consulting Group, Inc. d/b/a Skyview Group from March 2021 to October 2024. Highland is a group of companies set up by Mr Dondero. Mr Patrick was instrumental in the creation of the Fund in 2011; in particular, he advised on the tax structure of using an offshore 'blocker' company.

35. From March 2021, Mr Patrick was the sole director of the Company, and holder of the 100 Management Shares in it, and the sole director and shareholder in the Fund's general partner (as at March 2021, the Original GP). Mr Patrick occupied a position informally termed "the Control Position", the effect of which was that Mr Patrick was in effective sole control of the limited partner (i.e. the Company), the general partner (the Original GP), and was therefore in effective sole control of the Fund and all its assets, albeit, according to the Company, with no economic, residual, beneficial or winding up interest in either the Company or the Original GP.

Directors' Fees and Expenditure

36. The Company says that the Fund's annual expenses showed increases in expenditure which show:

(1) Directors' fees increased from around US$40,000 in 2022 to almost US$600,000 in 2023 and increased further to around US$2.25 million in the first half of 2024; and

(2) Expenses overall for the first half of 2024 were around US$18.3 million, almost the same amount spent over the entire course of 2023 (i.e. US$18.6 million).

[9] Patrick 2 section D, Reid 1 and Mancino 1.

37. As is explained in MacInnis 1,[10] in October 2024, Mr Patrick executed an employment agreement, under which he was entitled to receive a base salary of US$850,000; a long-term incentive plan payment for the period 24 March 2021 to 24 March 2024 in the amount of US$4,759,000; and is eligible for both annual and discretionary bonuses as determined at the sole and absolute discretion of the Directors.

38. The Company points to Mr Grant Scott's salary during his previous tenure which, by contrast, was approximately US$60,000 per annum, and says Mr Patrick's remuneration and benefits are 'grossly excessive'.

The Divestiture of the Company's Limited Partnership Interest in the Fund

Supporting Organisations' Concerns

39. In late October 2024, as a result of concerns arising from the expenditure by the Directors on fees and expenses, the Supporting Organisations asked for financial information from Mr Patrick.

40. On 11 November 2024, Holland and Knight, U.S. attorneys for the Supporting Organisations, sent a letter to Mr Murphy advising that they no longer had confidence in the governance of the Company and/or the Fund and considered that a reorganisation of the governance structures was required to protect the charitable efforts of the Supporting Organisations.

41. On 26 November 2024, Mr Patrick sought advice from Walkers (Cayman) LLP ("Walkers"), then Cayman attorneys to the Company, as to whether the Company could issue further Participating Shares to a new non-profit organisation to dilute the Supporting Organisations and insert a new member able to oppose a potential winding up petition brought by the Supporting Organisations on just and equitable grounds.

42. On 27 November 2024, Walkers responded to the Directors confirming that, if other shareholders were to oppose an equitable winding up, such opposition would be taken into consideration and would likely help any efforts Mr Patrick might make to resist such a winding up.

[10] At §49.

The Reorganisation

43. The Company relies on the following steps taken by the Defendants, each without informing the Supporting Organisations or the Charities.

CDM

44. On 18 December 2024, the Directors passed a resolution (the "18 December Resolution"), under which:

> "In connection with a corporate restructure of the Company's group, the Company proposes to transfer, convey, assign or otherwise contribute to CDMCFAD, LLC, a Delaware limited liability company (the "Transferee"), 100% of the Company's interests in CHARITABLE DAF FUND, LP, an exempted limited partnership established in the Cayman Islands (the "Partnership") in consideration for the contribution by the sole member of the Transferee of 100% of the issued and outstanding limited liability company interests in the Transferee (the "Transfer").

45. The 18 December Resolution also provided that (based apparently on US tax advice) the proposed assignment of the Partnership Interest to D3, CDM (the "CDM Assignment"):

> "… would help insulate the DAF from exposure to [Dondero] and his entities … who may be at risk of causing the [IRS] to revoke the tax-exempt status of one or more of the participating shareholders/supporting organizations, which could imperil the assets of the DAF"; and that
> "The IRS would look favorably upon any and all attempts for DAF to maintain its influence from 'what seems to be persistent attempts by Dondero and the entities controlled by him to use DAF for his private benefit and private inurement'".

46. This resolution was given effect by way of a Deed of Assignment and Assumption of the same date which was executed by Mr Patrick on behalf of each of: (i) the Company, in his capacity as Director; (ii) CDM, in his capacity as Manager; and (iii) the New GP, in his capacity as Director (a position which the Company says gives rise to an irreconcilable conflict of interest).

47. CDM is a Delaware limited liability company. Its Certificate of Formation, dated 12 December 2024, is signed by Mr Patrick, who is CDM's sole member.

48. Also on 18 December 2024, the Company (as member) and Mr Patrick (as manager) entered into a Delaware law governed Limited Liability Company Agreement in respect of CDM (the "LLC Agreement").

49. The LLC Agreement provides that:

> "Fair Market Value shall have the meaning set forth in Section 6.9(b).
> ...
> The initial Manager shall be Mark Patrick.
> ...
> 6.5 No Duties to the Company. To the fullest extent permitted by law, including Section 18-1101(c) of the Act, and notwithstanding any other provision of this Agreement or in any agreement contemplated herein or applicable provisions of law or equity or otherwise, the parties hereto hereby agree that the Manager shall owe no fiduciary duty to any Member or the Company; provided, however, that the foregoing shall not eliminate the duty to comply with the implied contractual covenant of good faith and fair dealing.
> ...
> 6.9 Valuation of Company Assets.
> (a) General. The Manager shall make a good faith determination of the value of the Company's assets in connection with any distribution pursuant to Section 8.1(b), as required under Section 4.3(c), upon the dissolution of the Company, and whenever otherwise required by this Agreement or determined by the Manager.
> (b) Binding Effect. The value of any Company asset or Interest determined pursuant to this Section 6.9 shall be binding upon the Company and the Members and shall establish the "Fair Market Value" of such asset or Interest for all purposes under this Agreement.
> ...
> 7.3 Redemption. The Manager, in its sole discretion, may cause any Member's Interest to be redeemed by the Company for any reason. Any Interest of a Member to be redeemed by the Company shall be redeemed for the Fair Market Value of such Interest, as determined by the Manager in its sole discretion. Such payment to the Member shall either be made in cash or pursuant to a promissory note. Such promissory note shall: (i) provide for interest at the lowest rate necessary to avoid the imputation of additional interest under the Code; and (ii) have a stated principal amount of the Fair Market Value of such Member's Interest being redeemed, as determined by the Manager in its sole discretion."

50. The Company says the effect of these changes was that:

(1) CDM was inserted into the corporate structure and as a subsidiary of the Company and would hold the Partnership Interest (previously held by the Company);

(2) The Company would hold the entire membership interest in CDM, with the result that the Company's sole asset, having previously been the Partnership Interest, was exchanged for its membership of CDM (the "Company's CDM Membership"); and

(3) The Company's CDM Membership was inherently fragile as it was held in a company that (by a combination of Delaware law and the LLC Agreement) was owed no fiduciary duties by its manager, Mr Patrick; and subject to redemption at any time of Mr Patrick's choosing, and for any price of Mr Patrick's choosing, subject to the 'good faith' proviso at paragraph 6.9(a) of the LLC Agreement.

New Shares to DFW

51. In February 2025, the Directors again sought advice from Walkers on whether the Company could issue new Participating Shares that would have the effect of diluting the existing Participating Shareholders, "in light of a possible just and equitable winding up petition" being filed by one of the Supporting Organisations.

52. On 7 February 2025, the Company's board passed a resolution (the "Share Issuance Resolution") approving a proposed share issue of 318 Participating Shares, of a nominal or par value of US$0.01 each as fully paid up, to D4, DFW. Paragraph 5.2 of the Share Issuance Resolution noted that "following the Share Issuance, DFW shall own 51.04% of the issued Participating Shares of the Company."

53. DFW is, according to its Certificate of Incorporation, a Delaware non-profit non-stock corporation. It is organised under the General Corporation Law of the State of Delaware exclusively for charitable purposes, incorporated on 9 December 2024, and was incorporated by Mr Douglas Mancino, then a partner at Seyfarth Shaw, a U.S. law firm apparently engaged by the Fund. The sole member of DFW is Mr Patrick.

54. The Share Issuance Resolution stated that the Directors believed the issuance of shares to DFW was justified as a means of protecting the Company, because:

(1) There was a heightened risk that the IRS could revoke the tax-exempt status of the Participating Shareholders which could imperil the status and assets of the Company;

(2) Increasing the number of Participating Shareholders would mitigate the undue influence and private inurement of Mr Dondero; and

(3) The IRS would look favourably upon attempts by the Fund to maintain its independence from his (i.e. Mr Dondero's) attempts to use the Fund for his private benefit.

55. The Company says the effect of the Share Issuance Resolution was to remove the majority that was held by the Original Participating Shareholders, and to dilute their shareholding into a minority stake. DFW (D4) now holds 51% of the Participating Shares.

The Admission and Redemption

56. On 27 March 2025, the Company entered into a letter agreement with CDM, pursuant to which it was agreed that CDM would redeem the Company's CDM Membership, and CDM would admit DFW to membership of CDM, with DFW obtaining membership in it.

57. On 27 March 2025, Mr Patrick executed:

(1) Admission and Amendment No.1 Agreement between CDM and DFW under which DFW was admitted as a member of CDM, in consideration for a capital contribution of US$1,637,192; and

(2) Admission and Amendment No.2 Agreement under which CDM redeemed (the "Redemption") the Company's CDM Membership for the same sum of US$1,637,192 (the "Redemption Sum").

58. On the same day, Mr Patrick executed a written consent (the "Manager Consent") to the Admission and Redemption, on behalf of CDM, under which the Admission and Redemption was justified by reference to Participating Shareholders allegedly posing a material risk to the Company, due to:

> "among other things, (i) officers and directors of the Highland Foundations seeking to assert dominion and control over the assets of DAF (through the Current Member), despite no legal ability to do so under the Current Member's organizational documents and despite the potential illegality (as demonstrated by tax counsel to DAF—see Exhibits C and D) of doing so, (ii) the potential loss of the non-profit status of the Highland Foundations due to their actions, among others, described in clause (i), and (iii) the potential loss of the tax-exempt status which the Highland Foundations currently enjoy and which is central to the mission of DAF, as a result of the factors including those described in clauses (i) and (ii)."

59. The Company says that the substantive financial effect of the Redemption, under which DFW paid the Redemption Sum to CDM, and the Company's CDM Membership was redeemed for the Redemption Sum, was that the Company's CDM Membership was purchased by or otherwise transferred to DFW for the Redemption Sum.

Effect of the Reorganisation

60. The Company says that the result of these transactions, all done 'in secret', is that:

(1) The Company realised its interest in the Fund, which it says had a Net Asset Value ("NAV") of c.US$269.1m, for only US$1.6m;

(2) The Company made a distribution to Participating Shareholders (c.US$1.6m);

(3) The Supporting Organisations and the Charities were divested of their indirect interest in the Fund, and the assets underlying the Fund; and

(4) The Original Participating Shareholders were diluted from 100% of the economic interests in the Company to less than 50%.

The Issue of Control

61. The Company argues that:

(1) the Company, in its role as tax blocker and which formerly held a very valuable interest in the Fund, no longer has that interest or anything like proper value in exchange for it;

(2) the Charities have been completely disconnected from the Fund and structure which was set up to produce capital and income for their activities; and

(3) Mr Patrick remains in control of the Fund and its assets but in a way and pursuant to a structure which has no supervision by the Charities or the Supporting Organisations, and nor do they have any economic interest in it.[11]

62. The Defendants in answer broadly say that:

(1) It is because of Mr Dondero's historic intermeddling and wrongdoing that the Control Person for the DAF structure, D1 (Mr Patrick), acted to reorganise the DAF structure to protect it from Mr Dondero's predations and the risks these posed to its assets and charitable mission, in the sole service of which the Company existed;

(2) Mr Patrick took this protective restructuring action together with the other director of the Company, D2 (Mr Murphy), in good faith, believing it to be in the best interest of the Company, and acting with the benefit of legal and tax advice from an array of respected advisors in this jurisdiction and in the US;[12] and

(3) CDM redeemed the Company's membership interest for fair market value, and the Company paid dividends with the proceeds to its Participating Shareholders.

63. Mr Patrick and Mr Murphy vehemently deny, for the reasons set out in detail in their affidavit evidence, that the restructuring was done in breach of their fiduciary duties to the Company or that they are in any other way in breach as alleged by the Company.

64. Mr Ayres KC for the Company described the reason given for the restructuring as a bogus reason. It has never been properly explained how the assets of the Fund might be imperilled by Mr Dondero.

[11] The claims are pleaded in the Statement of Claim dated 15 July 2025 and amended on 15 October 2025.
[12] Including Walkers (Cayman) LLP ("Walkers"), Maples & Calder (Cayman) LLP ("Maples") and Campbells LLP in the Cayman Islands, Shields Legal Group, Carrington Coleman & Sloman & Blumenthal, L.L.P, Dorsey & Whitney and others in the US, and Tony Beswetherick KC in the UK.

The Interim Undertakings and Disclosure

65. The JOLs originally requested urgent injunctive relief last year and the application was listed for 31 July 2025, the last day of term. In the event there was a compromise, the hearing was adjourned and a series of undertakings (the "Interim Undertakings") were given by the Defendants pending the determination of this application.

66. In outline, the effect of the Interim Undertakings was as follows:

(1) Pending the determination of this application, the Defendants and the CDM Entities undertook not to deal with or dispose of any assets of the CDM Entities other than in the ordinary course of business;

(2) The Defendants undertook not to dispose of or diminish the value of their, or any, interest in the Fund other than in the ordinary course of business;

(3) The Defendants and the CDM Entities were not prohibited from making payments to any attorney, lawyer, third party consultant, accountant, or external professional services advisor which is required, either in the ordinary course of business, or in respect of their reasonable legal fees and expenses in connection with these proceedings or the official liquidation of Charitable DAF HoldCo, Ltd (in Official Liquidation) FSD 116 of 2025 (JAJ) (the "Liquidation Proceedings"), or the related Chapter 15 recognition application commenced by the JOLs; and

(4) The Defendants were to provide a retrospective notification of transactions below US$50,000, and agreed to give 7 days' notice of any transactions above US$50,000.

The JOLs' Continuing Concerns about the Interim Undertakings

67. The JOLs say that the Interim Undertakings, although not adequate for the long-term because there is no ability to prevent any inappropriate or suspicious transactions, were agreed out of a desire for a pragmatic compromise to adjourn a hearing on the last day of the summer term.

68. They say that the Interim Undertakings were expressed to apply only until the determination of the present application (as opposed to through to trial), and the Defendants expressly agreed as part of the Interim Undertakings that the issue of whether they are permitted to use funds that derive directly or indirectly from the Partnership Interest to pay their legal fees and other service providers will be determined as part of this application.

69. The JOLs are also concerned that the 'ordinary course of business' exception to the prohibition contained in the Interim Undertakings is susceptible to exploitation by Mr Patrick and Mr Murphy because they are likely to say that their 'exorbitant' fees are paid in the ordinary course of business, and are also concerned that the legal fees that have been incurred by the Defendants so far are excessive.[13]

JOLs' Legal Fees - Funding Agreement

70. In July 2025, the JOLs filed an ex parte sanction application in the Liquidation Proceedings seeking approval to enter a funding agreement (the "Funding Agreement") with an entity named Crossvine Litigation Funding LLC ("Crossvine"), a special purpose vehicle whose managers are Mr Scott Ellington and Mr Michael McDonald. Mr Ellington is apparently a longtime business associate of Mr Dondero.

71. On 5 September 2025, the JOLs notified DFW (D4) (but apparently none of the other Defendants) that they had exhausted the litigation funding provided by Crossvine.

72. Crossvine is apparently:

> "incorporated for the purpose of ultimately Mr Dondero … funding the liquidation of the Company and the JOLs pursuing the Proposed Proceedings"[14]

73. As to the arrangements with Crossvine, the CDM Defendants maintain that through the Company, the JOLs are asserting proprietary claims over assets of the CDM Entities that include causes of action and litigation receivables which would inure to the benefit of the liquidation estate, and those causes of action and litigation receivables are, in many cases, directly adverse to the interests of Messrs Dondero and Ellington.

74. The CDM Defendants believe this constitutes an unacceptable conflict of interest, as does the profit Mr Dondero stands to make on any sums advanced under the Funding Agreement.

Disclosure

---

[13] Amounting to, as far as the JOLs are aware, at least US$4,256,882 (MacInnis 3, §111).
[14] MacInnis 6, §11.

75. The JOLs also complain that the disclosure provided by the Defendants under the Interim Undertakings has been deficient. The disclosure deficiencies are described in the detailed chronology referred to at §106 of MacInnis 3. It is not necessary to set them out. They are denied by the Defendants.

76. The JOLs are of the view that no exercise has been undertaken to determine where the assets of the Fund and each of its subsidiaries are held, which raises a wider question about how Mr Patrick has performed his duties to manage the Fund, receiving large fees for doing so, without proper information concerning the Fund's assets. This again is denied by the Defendants, particularly the CDM Defendants.

77. The JOLs say Mr Patrick's attempt to justify his approach at Patrick 2 §151, is cursory and unconvincing.[15]

78. The JOLs argue that the objection is not that consolidated balance sheets were provided, but that there was a failure to provide more detailed, entity-by-entity disclosure that would provide the JOLs with proper visibility into the Fund's asset position.

79. The CDM Defendants respond that the DAF structure historically produced consolidated balance sheets and accompanying quarterly valuation materials. That was always what was provided to the Supporting Organisations and was given to the JOLs immediately following entry into the Interim Undertakings on 31 July 2025.[16]

The Relevant Law

Proprietary Injunction

80. It is important to emphasise that this is an application for a proprietary injunction. It is not an application for Mareva style relief which would require a risk of dissipation and which would normally include an ordinary course of business exception. A proprietary injunction would not usually provide such an exception.

---

[15] "...as the DAF Structure prepares consolidated financial materials in the ordinary course, I believe that these allegations are incorrect".

[16] They add that once the JOLs requested entity specific financials (which go beyond the existing consolidated records), the CDM Defendants engaged an external accounting firm, Armanino LLC, to prepare entity-level financial information at year-end 31 December 2024, and subsequently as at 30 June 2025.

Jurisdiction

81. The Court's power to grant such relief arises under s.11 of the Grand Court Act (2015 Revision) in conjunction with O.29, r.1 and r.2 of the Grand Court Rules (2023 Revision) ("GCR").

"Section 11.

(1) The Court shall be a superior court of record and, in addition to any jurisdiction heretofore exercised by the Court or conferred by this or any other law for the time being in force in the Islands, shall possess and exercise, subject to this and any other law, the like jurisdiction within the Islands which is vested in or capable of being exercised in England by-

(a) Her Majesty's High Court of Justice; and
(b) the Divisional Courts of that Court, as constituted by the Senior Courts Act, 1981, and any Act of the Parliament of the United Kingdom amending or replacing that Act.

Application for injunction (O.29, r.1)

1. (1) An application for the grant of an injunction may be made by any party to a cause or matter before or after the trial of the cause or matter, whether or not a claim for the injunction was included in that party's writ, originating summons, counterclaim or third party notice, as the case may be.

(2) Where the applicant is the plaintiff and the case is one of urgency such application may be ex parte on affidavit but, except as aforesaid, such application must be made by motion or summons."

82. A key feature of the jurisdiction is that a proprietary injunction is only available where the plaintiff can maintain a prima facie proprietary claim to the assets which are the subject of the injunction.

§28-199 of Grant and Mumford on Civil Fraud (1st ed) ("Civil Fraud") states:

"Accordingly, where a claimant asserts a claim in specie to relevant property that claimant can apply to the court for an interim injunction aimed at preserving in the hands of the defendant that property on the basis that at trial the claimant will seek a remedy which involves the return of that property to the claimant. The term "proprietary injunction" is used to describe the type of injunction issued by the court in response to such a claim."

Test

83. In deciding whether to grant a proprietary injunction, the Court applies the principles of American Cyanamid v Ethicon Ltd [1975] AC 396.[17]

84. In applying those principles, the applicant must establish three general matters:

(1) There is a serious issue to be tried on the merits;

(2) The balance of convenience is in favour of the grant of an injunction; and

(3) It is just and convenient to grant the injunction.

85. This Court, in In Frabran Holdings Limited and Ors. -v- Daventree Trustees Limited and Ors,[18] ("Daventree Trustees") confirmed the application of the American Cyanamid principles to proprietary injunctions, and stated at §154:

"In applications for proprietary injunctions, the matter is one for the discretion of the court. On ordinary principles, a plaintiff beneficiary would have to show:

a) a prima facie case the property is his,

b) a serious issue to be tried that the trust property is in danger pending the hearing of his claim,

c) that damages would not be an adequate remedy,

d) that the balance of convenience favours the grant of an injunction, [18] Parker J (Unreported, 17 January 2024).

e) and that it is just and convenient to order an injunction."[19]

86. In a recent case Ramsay-Hale CJ helpfully set out the scope of the Court's power to order proprietary injunctions[20] at §29:

> "The scope of the Court's power to make property preservation orders pursuant to GCR O.29, r.2(1) is usefully summarized in the White Book:
> i. the source of the Court's power is the inherent jurisdiction of the Court to secure by orders the just and proper trial of the issues: see White Book note 29/8A/2;
> ii. the Court may only make an order in relation to property "which is the subject-matter of the cause or matter or as to which any question may arise therein." The property must be bona fide the subject-matter of the action: see note 29/8A/7;
> iii. the order may be granted even where the party against whom it is sought has a proprietary interest in it. An order should not be refused merely because the defendant claims that he has a discretionary power to determine whether or not the property should be preserved and how it should be preserved, when one of the issues in the case is whether or not the power is untrammelled by a duty to the plaintiff to preserve the property: Johnson v Tobacco Leaf Marketing Board [1967] VR 427."

Serious Issue to be Tried

87. The Company must show a serious issue to be tried that it has a specific proprietary interest in the asset under consideration i.e. the Partnership Interest. The test is whether the claim has a real (as opposed to a fanciful) prospect of success which would withstand a reverse summary judgment application.

88. As the Court said in Ascentra:[21]

[19] See also Smellie CJ in Classroom Investments Inc v China Hospitals Inc [2015] (1) CILR 451 at §§50-57.
[21] Ascentra Holdings, Inc (in official liquidation) v Yoshida [2024 (1) CILR 409] Parker J.

"97. The company must show a serious issue to be tried, i.e., that there is a "real, as opposed to a fanciful, prospect of success on the claim." This is lower than the "good arguable case" threshold that applies in freezing injunction cases. A serious issue to be tried has to be shown on the evidence, not by mere assertion or allegation.

98. Further, it follows from the nature of a proprietary injunction that the serious issue to be tried should be in respect of facts which, if proven, would afford the claimant a proprietary remedy."

Balance of Convenience

89. If a properly arguable claim to a proprietary interest is established, it may well be the case that damages will not be an adequate remedy if the property is dealt with pending trial, and so the balance of convenience will generally be in favour of the applicant.[22]

90. As Flaux J said in Madoff Securities v Raven [2011] EHWC 3102 (Comm) at §140, once a sufficiently arguable proprietary case has been established, arguments by respondents that '"it would be frightfully inconvenient to tell you what I've done with your money or to be prevented from continuing to use it" when, on this hypothesis [the respondent] should not have had the money in the first place, do not cut much ice".

91. Whilst the Court will not enquire too closely into the merits at this stage, where the scales are evenly balanced in relation to the balance of convenience, the Court can take into account the relative strengths of the parties' cases.[23]

92. As to the exercise of discretion, the court said in Ascentra at §124:

> "The question in relation to this issue is which course is likely to involve the least risk of injustice or irremediable prejudice to one party or the other. The analysis will include the prejudice to the company if no injunction is granted, or to the defendants if it is, the likelihood of such prejudice actually occurring, the extent to which it may be compensated by an award of damages or enforcement of the cross-undertaking, the likelihood of either party being able to satisfy such an award, and the likelihood that the injunction will turn out to have been wrongly granted or withheld."

---

[22] Grant and Mumford (eds), Civil Fraud: Law, Practice, & Procedure ("Civil Fraud") at 28-206.
[23] Polly Peck International plc v Nadir [1992] 4 All ER 769 at 784G–784H.

93. For the Court to exercise its discretion in all the circumstances of the case, the effect of the injunction must be examined to ensure that it is in the interests of justice overall and does not work unfairly, oppressively or is granted without good cause. The court must assess whether granting or refusing to grant an injunction is more likely to produce a just result.

94. As Lord Hoffmann said as to the purpose and effect of interim injunctions:

> "It is often said that the purpose of an interlocutory injunction is to preserve the status quo, but it is of course impossible to stop the world pending trial. The court may order a defendant to do something or not to do something else, but such restrictions on the defendant's freedom of action will have consequences, for him and for others, which a court has to take into account. The purpose of such an injunction is to improve the chances of the court being able to do justice after a determination of the merits at the trial. At the interlocutory stage, the court must therefore assess whether granting or withholding an injunction is more likely to produce a just result…that means that if damages will be an adequate remedy for the plaintiff, there are no grounds for interference with the defendant's freedom of action by the grant of an injunction..."[24]

Just and Convenient

95. Generally speaking where the Court finds that the balance of convenience favours the grant of the injunction, it would be unlikely that the Court found that it was not just and convenient to grant the injunction.[25]

Use of Funds for Ordinary Course Business Purposes

96. In Polly Peck International plc v Nadir, Scott LJ commented that a proprietary injunction "would not be subject to provisos enabling the use of the money for normal business purposes, or for the payment of legal fees, or the like".[26]

97. The rationale for this is that the applicant has established that the particular asset in question arguably belongs to him and so the question is whether the respondent should be permitted to use assets which may turn out to be the applicant's for any of those purposes.

98. Therefore, in the case of a proprietary injunction, if ordered, whilst there is no presumption in favour of the exceptions for such payments being included in a proprietary order, the defendants may show (and the burden is on them) that it is nonetheless appropriate for any expenditure from the injuncted assets to be permitted.[27]

99. This issue was further examined in Marino v FM Capital Partners [2016] EWCA Civ 1301 per Sales LJ at §23:

> "Lewison J (as he then was) in Independent Trustee Services Ltd v GP Noble Trustees Ltd [2009] EWHC 161 (Ch) helpfully summarised the proper approach at para. [6] by setting out the four questions which should be addressed: (1) does the claimant have an arguable proprietary claim to the funds in issue? (2) if yes, does the defendant have arguable grounds for denying that claim? (3) if yes, has the defendant demonstrated that without the release of the funds in issue he cannot effectively defend the proceedings (or, it may be added, meet his legitimate living expenses)? (4) if yes, where does the balance of justice lie as between, on the one hand, permitting the defendant to expend funds which might belong to the claimant and, on the other hand, refusing to allow the defendant to expend funds which might belong to it?"

Legal Expenses

100. Similarly, if there is an argument that provision for legal expenses is to be carved out from the injunction, the defendants will need to satisfy the court that they have no other source of funding available apart from the disputed funds, and that the balance of prejudice comes down in their favour.[28]

101. Further, Miles J in AB v CD [2023] EWHC 2419 (Ch) at §43 noted that the balancing exercise must be carried out in relation to "all relevant circumstances", and that '[t]he court will "act cautiously so as to ensure that the funds are not wasted", which may be achieved by "limiting the amount …even if that may cause a defendant to reassess how to pursue her case or to consider alternative funding models"'.

[28] Ascentra ibid, §151.

Ancillary Disclosure

102. Ancillary to freezing and proprietary jurisdiction, it is well established that the Court has jurisdiction to require respondents to provide disclosure.

103. In the context of proprietary injunctions, it is legitimate for such disclosure orders to be aimed at establishing the whereabouts of missing funds, as opposed to merely policing the terms of the order.

104. As the editors of Civil Fraud point out at 29-028 to 29-029:

> "The court's approach is epitomised in the famous dictum of Templeman LJ in Mediterranea Raffineria Siciliana Petroli SpA v Mabanaft GmbH:
> > "A court of equity has never hesitated to use the strongest powers to protect and preserve a trust fund in interlocutory proceedings on the basis that, if the trust fund disappears by the time the action comes to trial, equity will have been invoked in vain."
>
> The disclosure typically ordered in such a case is categorically different to a normal asset disclosure order. What the court is here doing is requiring the respondent to identify the current location and status of assets, or their proceeds, to which the claimant lays claim, even if they are no longer in the possession of the respondent and regardless of whether the respondent himself claims ownership of the assets…"

Cross-Undertakings and Fortification

105. The court will normally require a cross undertaking in damages as the price for interfering with the defendant's freedom before they have been found liable for anything and to indemnify the defendants for any damage found wrongfully to have been caused to them by the injunction, if they ultimately prevailed at trial.[29]

[29] Kelly v Fujigmo Limited [2012] (2) CILR 222 Smellie CJ at §13; JSC Mezhdunarodniy Promyshlenniy Bank v Pugachev [2015] EWCA 139 at §68.

106. This would be the usual order to achieve justice at the trial.[30] There are rare exceptions where the court has waived or limited the size of the cross undertaking required, but there would have to be a good reason not to make the usual order, for example where the applicant's inability to provide the undertaking has been caused by the wrongful conduct of the defendants or where there is no practical possibility of damage being suffered. The mere fact that the claim is being brought by liquidators of an insolvent company does not lead to the conclusion that a cross undertaking should be capped.[31]

Fortification

107. Assuming that the defendants can show:

(1) on a good arguable case basis, that the injunction will cause them loss; and

(2) that the party offering the cross undertaking will not be good for the money absent fortification,[32]

the approach is for the Court to make an intelligent estimate of the likely amount of any loss which might be suffered by the applicant for fortification by reason of making the interim order, and assess whether the making of the interim order is or was a cause without which the relevant loss would not be or would not have been suffered.[33]

D1, D3, D5 and D6 (CDM Defendants) Arguments in Outline

108. The following represents a summary of the points Mr Andrew Scott KC made on behalf of the CDM Defendants:

(1) Mr Patrick and Mr Murphy vehemently deny that there has been any breach of their fiduciary duties to the Company for the reasons set out in their affidavit evidence;

---

[30] Hoffmann-La Roche & Co. A.G. v Trade & Indus. [1975] AC 295 at §361 (Lord Diplock), cited by the Cayman Islands Court of Appeal in Ennismore Fund Management Ltd v Fenris Consulting Limited [2020] (2) CILR 147 at §37.
[31] Re IAHP Group Holdings Limited; Bucknall v Rizvi [2025] EWHC 2069 (Ch) per Mellor J at §87.
[32] Omni Bridgeway (Fund 5) Cayman Invt Limited v Bugsby Property LLC & Anor [2024] Costs LR 405 per Jacobs J at §9.
[33] Daventree Trustees at §162.

(2) The proprietary injunction sought, in respect of the limited partnership interest (the Partnership Interest) held by CDM is too wide and would restrain dealings with partnership assets of the Fund to which the Company has no pleaded proprietary claim;

(3) There is no legal basis for such a claim under the Exempted Limited Partnership Act (as amended) ("ELP Act") or the ARLPA;[34]

(4) The relevant assets are held by the general partner on statutory trust for the partnership and not by or for any limited partner;

(5) Even if there were a proprietary interest in the limited partnership, it is of no economic value to the Company, being a right to be considered by the general partner for discretionary charitable distributions for the benefit of qualifying Indirect Charitable Owners, and so any loss would fall on those owners, not the Company, and being financial in nature it could be adequately compensated in damages;

(6) The effect of the relief sought would be to 'lock down' the Fund and the CDM Entities and place their operations under the control of the JOLs, which is not justified. It would restrain the CDM Defendants from conducting their lawful business operations in the ordinary course, impairing their ability to make distributions to charitable causes;

(7) The Company's only rights as the former limited partner of the Fund were to be considered for discretionary distributions at the sole discretion of the general partner[35], and there is no justification for the JOLs taking such control;

(8) The Company's purpose and role within the DAF structure was to facilitate charitable distributions to qualifying non-profit organisations. It did not exist to operate or transact business as a commercial entity or to benefit its Participating Shareholders;[36]

[34] The limited partnership interest is a bundle of contractual and /or statutory rights not a proprietary interest in the Fund's assets.

[35] See Article 4.2 of the ARLPA. The ARLPA also confirms that: (i) the General Partner has full, exclusive and complete discretion to manage the DAF's affairs and assets (Article 1.6(a)); (ii) Limited Partners do not participate in management and have no power to bind the DAF (Article 1.6(b)); (iii) distributions are at the General Partner's discretion (Article 4.2(a)); and (iv) partners renounce any right to partition partnership property (Article 6.14).

[36] See Asif J's comments at the June 2024 sanction hearing in the Liquidation Proceedings: "this structure is unlike the majority of funds in that there is no right to receive dividends. So it's purely discretionary, it's almost like a discretionary trust" and "could, for example, be set up as a foundation company."

(9) The JOLs are being funded by Mr Dondero (who allegedly has a history of dishonesty and vexatious litigation) through a funding vehicle, Crossvine, established for his benefit, which has opaque financial standing;

(10) The reason Mr Patrick acted in late 2024 and 2025 to restructure was to protect the Fund from Mr Dondero's predations and the risks[37] that these posed to its assets and charitable mission;

(11) Both Mr Patrick and Mr Murphy carried out the restructuring in good faith believing it to be in the best interests of the Company having taken legal and tax advice from respected advisers in this jurisdiction and in the US;[38]

(12) When Mr Patrick and Mr Murphy caused the Company to assign the Partnership Interest as part of the DAF restructuring, they did so in good faith, in the best interests of the Company, and for valuable consideration in the form of the Company's CDM Membership. They likewise acted when the Company's CDM Membership was redeemed. The Company was paid US$1,637,192 upon redemption, a fair market valuation supported at the time by two independent valuation exercises (by ValueScope and FTI) and subsequently confirmed by a third independent firm, Weaver & Tidwell LLP ("Weaver").[39] Having received the fair market value of its CDM membership interest, the Company immediately distributed those proceeds to the Original Participating Shareholders;

(13) Having carried out the restructuring, there is no realistic risk that CDM will dispose of or diminish the value of the Partnership Interest now that it has been put beyond Mr Dondero's reach;

---

[37] An illustration of that exposure is, according to the CDM Defendants, the litigation that UBS pursued in the US Courts against Mr Dondero and entities with which he was affiliated or controlled (the "UBS Litigation"). On 8 February 2023, UBS filed a Special Turnover Petition whereby, apparently, it sought to challenge as fraudulent certain transactions by which attempts were made to put assets beyond UBS's reach and to affix liability to the entities involved on the basis that they were the "alter egos" of Mr Dondero. One such transaction involved D6 ("CLO HoldCo"), one of the holding companies within the DAF Structure, which was joined as a defendant to the petition. UBS alleged that "CLO HoldCo is a wholly owned subsidiary of [the DAF] which Dondero indirectly controls and has funded from personal assets, his family trusts, and HCM". Mr Patrick and Mr Murphy were able to settle UBS's claims and secure broad releases for the benefit of CLO HoldCo and other CDM Entities. The CDM Defendants say that UBS were willing to settle and provide releases as they were satisfied that CLO HoldCo and the CDM Entities were no longer aligned with Mr Dondero.

[38] The decision-making is recorded in the Company board resolutions dated 18 December 2024,7 February 2025 and 2 April 2025.

[39] See Patrick 2 at §81.

(14) The relief sought would risk causing irremediable harm to the Fund, the CDM Entities, and their ongoing businesses, impairing the charitable mission they support by US$126.7 million[40]. The JOLs are unwilling or unable to offer a properly fortified cross undertaking in damages in respect of this risk and so the balance of convenience weighs decisively against granting the injunctive relief;

(15) The imposition of an injunction stands to benefit Mr Dondero, and Mr Ellington personally. For example, it would prevent the CDM Entities from pursuing valuable litigation claims which are adverse to their interests (claims which, taking the JOLs' pleaded case at its height, would otherwise inure to the benefit of the liquidation estate); and

(16) There is no basis for a proprietary injunction against Mr Patrick in respect of his properly incurred, approved and documented salary and bonus payments or the two pieces of US real estate referred to in the pleaded case, as he was paid by other entities within the structure, not the Company, and it has no pleaded proprietary claim to those assets or any prima facie case that they belong to it.[41]

Constructive Trust

109. The CDM Defendants also argue that there is also no arguable proprietary case available to the JOLs that:

(1) CDM holds its limited partnership interest in the Fund on constructive trust for the Company; or

(2) DFW holds the Participating Shares issued to it on constructive trust for the Company; or

(3) DFW holds its membership interest in CDM on constructive trust for the Company.

---

[40] As set out in the Damages Report from ValueScope.
[41] Mr Patrick is a US citizen who lawfully purchased these assets with remuneration received from his employment by US entities.

No Assets at Risk

110. The CDM Defendants argue that even if any of the proprietary claims were sustainable, they would not support the extraordinary relief sought, where the JOLs have had the benefit of the Interim Undertakings, which have 'held the ring' in a manner that is just and convenient and which has allowed the Fund and the CDM Entities to further their charitable mission in the ordinary course of their business.

111. The CDM Defendants say that the criticisms the JOLs advance[42] are not a fair reflection of how they have worked in practice and that there has been no exploitation of the ordinary course of business exception as alleged. The CDM Defendants also say the JOLs have had ample opportunity to police and if required prevent suspicious transactions of which there have been none.

Remuneration

112. They strongly refute the criticisms regarding the alleged excessive remuneration received by Mr Patrick and Mr Murphy[43] and rely, in respect of Mr Patrick's remuneration, on the compensation benchmarking work done by Mercer, a global consulting firm, and by the remuneration/compensation committee.

113. They also rely on the fact that the JOLs have not filed expert evidence which challenges Mercer's recommendations. They point out that the comparisons the JOLs make with Mr Grant Scott's historical remuneration are inappropriate for a number of reasons, not least that Mr Scott's role was fundamentally different in scope, complexity and exposure to Mr Patrick's. They say that Mr Scott only passively managed the structure, outsourcing management of the assets and investment decisions to entities owned or controlled by Mr Dondero, who then charged significant investment management and advisory fees.[44]

Modified Undertakings

114. The CDM Defendants refer to the modified set of undertakings that they offered on 24 November 2025, to last until the determination of the trial, subject to the provision of appropriate fortification of the cross undertaking, which the JOLs refused.

---

[42] See MacInnis 3.
[44] Estimated at approximately US$30 million between 2014 and 2020, Patrick 2 at §137.

115. As to the modified undertakings offered, Mr Ayres KC explained the objection taken by the JOLs, in particular to the suggestions which now said that the CDM Entities would only be obliged to give 7 days' notice of transactions above US$100,000 (as opposed to US$50,000) and that no disclosure was required of payments made by the CDM Entities to Mr Patrick and Mr Murphy above US$50,000 where the payments were contractual salary or bonus entitlements accrued in the ordinary course.

116. Mr Andrew Scott KC argued that if the Court were minded to grant some form of injunctive relief, it should be the minimum necessary to maintain the status quo pending trial and any order should be modelled on these undertakings.

117. He argued that the JOLs' criticisms regarding the Interim Undertakings' apparent 'inadequacies' and lack of protection are overblown. He submitted that the JOLs have not shown any irreparable harm to the Company or that there is any real risk that the assets would be adversely dealt with.

Texas Proceedings

118. Reference was made to Texas proceedings which it is necessary to briefly describe.

119. The Highland Foundations applied in July 2025 to obtain a Temporary Restraining Order that would have 'locked down' the DAF structure.

120. In the Texas Petition, the Highland Foundations sought (among other things) the imposition of a constructive trust over all assets, interests, and property of, and immediate injunctive relief to freeze all assets held in, the Fund. The Highland Foundations alleged that Mr Patrick owed them fiduciary duties which were breached in the restructuring that he organised.

121. The CDM Defendants point out that the Judge in the Texas proceedings observed to the Highland Foundations at the hearing that:

> "I'm struggling to find evidence in the record that there is an immediate threat of irreparable harm. It appears that the $270 million is gone. Your concern is you don't want to confirm it away. But I'm not seeing anything in the record to indicate to me that there is an immediate threat of that".

122. The matter was settled (by the Rule 11 Agreement) upon the CDM Entities giving undertakings on 11 July 2025.

123. Mr Scott KC invited the Court to endorse the Texas court's recognition that there was no risk of irremediable harm. Particularly in the light of the Rule 11 Agreement in Texas where undertakings were given not to make payments other than in the ordinary course of business, for investments and monies to be kept in the entities which they currently resided in, and for there to be no further change in the corporate structure. Subject to that the Fund and its assets could be operated in the ordinary course.

124. Mr Ayres KC pointed out that these proceedings did not concern the Company, the relief sought was not refused and the agreement made was outside the JOLs' control.

125. Mr Scott KC urged the Court to have regard to the effect of an injunction which would:

(1) cause serious and irreversible prejudice to the CDM Defendants by restraining them from conducting their lawful business operations and impairing their ability to make distributions to charitable causes; and

(2) benefit Mr Dondero and Mr Ellington personally. It would, he said, prevent the CDM Entities from pursuing valuable litigation claims which were adverse to their personal interests which would be otherwise for the benefit of the liquidation estate, and it would also benefit them personally as they would gain from any uplift of sums advanced under the funding agreement.

Legal Fees

126. The CDM Defendants argue that the JOLs' criticism of the amount of legal fees expended was misplaced because such fees were caused by the JOLs' litigation tactics in the U.S. and Cayman, for example their conduct of the sanction application in June 2025 which resulted in indemnity costs of circa US$1m being awarded against them in favour of DFW and Mr Patrick.

D2 Submissions in Outline

127. Mr David Quest KC's submissions included the following points on behalf of Mr Murphy:

(1) There is no adequately pleaded case or serious issue to be tried on the evidence that the payment of remuneration to Mr Murphy amounted to a breach of fiduciary duty;

(2) There is no tracing claim that money paid to him by way of remuneration would justify a proprietary, as opposed to a personal, claim against him;

(3) If there were any such case, the proper plaintiff would be the corporate entity that made the payment and the Company did not make any payment. The Company does not have and never has had its own source of liquidity given its purpose as a blocker for UBTI;[45]

(4) The Company has no proprietary claim to the assets of the Fund and less so to the assets held by subsidiaries of the Fund because its limited partnership interest only gave it an entitlement to be considered for discretionary charitable distributions, not for its own account but for the account of the appropriately qualified charities;

(5) The Terms of the ARLPA[46] made clear that the Company had no entitlement to remain an object of the charitable purposes of the Fund and, unlike a shareholder, never had any right to exercise managerial control over the Fund assets;

(6) Pursuant to section 16(1) of the ELP Act, the general partner of the Fund held its sole asset (the shares in CLO HoldCo) on trust for the Fund in accordance with the ARLPA;[47]

(7) Damages would be an adequate remedy if liability were established at trial and so the balance of convenience is against any proprietary injunctive relief;

(8) If an injunction were granted against Mr Murphy, the assets in question would have a maximum value of US$900,000[48] which is insignificant compared to the value of the overall claim (c.US$270m); and [48] Although he has been spending money on outgoings: Murphy 1, §§84-87.

(9) An injunction would be highly invasive and prejudicial to Mr Murphy as it would freeze most of his liquid assets and the bank accounts into which his salary and bonus were paid.

DFW (being the majority Participating Shareholder of the Company) (D4) Submissions in Outline

128. The only liquid assets which DFW holds are the discretionary distributions it receives through its limited partnership membership in CDM (the "CDM Interest"). It also has 51% of the Participating Shares of DFW in the Company.

129. Ms Jennifer Colegate's submissions included the following points:

(1) The property in the hands of DFW was not property which could be followed or traced from the Company to DFW, and as such cannot be the subject of a constructive trust;

(2) There is no basis for restitution as between DFW and the Company in respect of the CDM Interest because the interest conferred on DFW has not been done so at the expense of the Company - it was redeemed for value;

(3) Damages would be an adequate remedy if the redemption was found at trial to be for insufficient consideration;

(4) There is no serious issue to be tried as to the Company having a proprietary interest under Cayman law in the CDM Interest and it is not pleaded how agreements governed by the laws of Delaware would support the imposition of a proprietary injunction;

(5) The Company does not and cannot as a matter of law hold title to its own shares and cannot assert a constructive trust over shares it has issued;

(6) There is no risk of DFW disposing of any assets and DFW has no intention to do so;

(7) An injunction would prevent DFW from making charitable distributions to charities in accordance with the Fund's charitable purposes; and

(8) DFW should be allowed to defray necessary legal costs from funds available to it via CDM.

Decision

Is there a serious issue to be tried that the Company has a proprietary interest in the asset(s) over which an injunction is sought to be imposed?

130. The Court has carefully considered whether the Company, as a limited partner in the Fund, has a proprietary interest as a limited partner which would entitle it to be protected by way of the injunction sought and/or an indirect beneficial interest in the underlying assets of the Fund.

131. The Court answers both of these questions in the negative.

132. Taking a step back, wide interim proprietary injunctive relief with similarly broad orders for asset disclosure are sought by the Company which would require (among other things) each Defendant to:

> "preserve and… not in any way dispose of, deal with, encumber, transfer or diminish the value of… any interest… in Charitable DAF Fund, LP… the Fund Entities… and/or any assets of the Fund", with no exceptions for ordinary course dealings.

133. The Court accepts the Defendants' submissions that it would restrain dealings with partnership assets of the Fund to which the Company has no pleaded proprietary claim which may be because, under Cayman law, the assets are held by the general partner on statutory trust for the partnership and not by or for any limited partner.

134. An Exempted Limited Partnership ("ELP") under Cayman law is different from an ordinary partnership and a registered company. It has no legal personality.

135. The property and rights of an ELP are held on trust by the general partner as an asset of the partnership in accordance with the terms of the partnership agreement.[49]

136. The limited partners do not own those assets, whether legally or beneficially. They instead have contractual rights under the ARLPA and statutory rights under the ELP Act. Those rights do not in the Court's view found a seriously arguable proprietary claim to partnership assets.

---

[49] Section 16(1) of the ELP Act.

137. Notwithstanding this, a limited partner may be said to have a 'proprietary interest' in the partnership assets,[50] a concept which Mr Ayres KC relied upon.

138. However, in the same way beneficiaries under a discretionary trust may have a 'proprietary interest' in the trust assets and their interests are to be considered.

139. The limited partnership interest in this case is not a proprietary interest in the assets themselves but the right to be considered for potential distributions[51] which the Company then passes on to the Charities.

140. The Court is not satisfied in this case that there is a real prospect of showing that the Company has a legitimate proprietary claim to legal or beneficial ownership of the assets it seeks to injunct.

141. The Court has examined the particular features of the legal structure of the ELP and the terms of the relevant partnership agreement to ascertain the extent and nature of any proprietary claim and entitlement of the limited partner.[52]

142. The recitals to the ARLPA provide that the purpose of the Fund was to:

> "make certain investments directly or indirectly on behalf of certain entities exempt from taxation under section 501(c)(3) of the U.S. Internal Revenue Code … for the economic benefit of the Limited Partner and its Indirect Charitable Owners*…".* (emphasis added)

143. Clause 1.3 of the ARLPA provides that:

> "… the Partnership may make investments in other types of securities, investment vehicles and instruments in the sole discretion of the General Partner for the purpose of benefitting, directly or indirectly, the Indirect Charitable Owners*".* (emphasis added)

[50] Aquapoint LP (in Official Liquidation) v Fan [2025] UKPC 56 per Lord Richards at §48: this view was expressed in the context of a winding up petition appeal, not a proprietary injunction case.
[51] Y v R [2018] 1 CILR 1 Mangatal J at §59 and §§66-68 and JSC Mezhdunarodniy Promyshlenniy Bank v Pugachev (CA) [2016] 1 WLR 160.
[52] The legal interest of the limited partner is expressed in the partnership agreement to be an ownership interest equal to each limited partner's opening capital account: clause 4.1 of the ARLPA.

144. "Indirect Charitable Owners" is defined in clause 1.12 of the ARLPA as:

> "the indirect equity owners of the Limited Partners, which shall at all times be entities or organizations exempt from taxation under Section 501(c)(3) of the Code or entities or organizations whose sole beneficiaries are entities or organizations exempt from taxation under Section 501(c)(3) of the Code."* (emphasis added)

145. Clause 4.2(a) of the ARLPA provides that:

> "Distributions shall be made to the Limited Partner at the times, in a manner (including in kind) and in the aggregate amounts determined by the General Partner, after taking into consideration available cash and the needs of the Indirect Charitable Owners of the Limited Partner for funds to cover their administrative and operating expenses…". (emphasis added)

146. The particular position and purpose of the Company in the structure gives it no proprietary claim to the assets of the Fund or the assets held by the subsidiaries of the Fund.

147. The Company's limited partnership interest only gave it an entitlement to be considered for discretionary distributions, not for its own account, but for the account of the appropriately qualified charities.

148. It is true that the Original Participating Shareholders had the right to be considered for a dividend from the Company (Article 12), but the purpose of the Fund was to make charitable distributions to the relevant Charities through the Company which was given no ownership rights and, in the Court's view, was not entitled to be an object of the charitable purposes of the Fund.

149. Mr Ayres KC submitted that clause 4.2 of the ARLPA is expressed in mandatory terms with regard to distributions, but reading the clause as a whole, together with the ARLPA, it is clear that discretion was left to the general partner after first taking into consideration available cash and the needs of the Indirect Charitable Owners.

150. It also appears from Mr Patrick's evidence[53] that the distributions which the Company made to each of the Supporting Organisations were not linked to the number of Participating Shares held by each organisation, but on a predetermined formula primarily linked to the Company's NAV. This is set out by Mr Patrick in an excel spreadsheet.

151. The Participating Shareholders did not receive a pro rata distribution or dividend from the Company and instead their annual distribution was dependent on the contractual terms which governed the relationship between each of these Supporting Organisations and their underlying Charities which are, as an average, set out in Mr Patrick's evidence:

> "§68 These distributions were, on average, c.US$160,000 per annum for Highland Kansas City, c.US$280,000 per annum for Highland Dallas, and c.US$60,000 per annum for Highland Santa Barbara. In addition, CFNT was paid $100,000 per year annually in the fourth quarter of each year."

152. This is further support for the Court's view, on a proper analysis, that the Company has no legal or beneficial claim to own assets of the Fund or the CDM Entities.

153. This also accords with the Mission Statement adopted by the Company and its objects.

154. The Mission Statement, adopted by the Company by way of written resolution of the Directors on 3 December 2024, stated:

> '1. ADOPTION OF COMPANY MISSION STATEMENT.
> 1.1 NOTED THAT:
> (a) The Company wishes to adopt a mission statement to clearly outline the purpose and objectives of the Company.
> (b) Based on the Company's operating history (which includes significant donations to various charities) and the reason for establishing the Company, the Company wishes to adopt the following mission statement:
> "Charitable DAF makes investments in order to support community-focused non-profit foundations with a demonstrated focus of giving funds to worthy causes and making a difference." ("Mission Statement")'

155. The Court finds that this accords with the purpose of the Fund structure, which is to support the Fund's charitable mission, and that the assets are assets of the Fund which are held by the general partner on statutory trust in accordance with the ELP Act and the ARLPA.

156. Moreover, by clause 4.3 of the ARLPA, the general partner can terminate the limited partner's interest in its sole discretion and apparently at will. The limited partner has no entrenched rights.

157. Clause 4.3 of the ARLPA provides that:

> "The General Partner may require the withdrawal of all or any part of the interest of any Limited Partner at any time for any reason or no reason by written notice; provided that any new or additional Limited Partner shall be directly or indirectly an entity or organization exempt from taxation under Section 501(c)(3) of the Code."

158. The following clauses also make clear that the Company is to be considered for distributions at the general partner's sole discretion, not for its own account, but for the benefit of the Supporting Organisations insofar as they qualified as Indirect Charitable Owners.

159. As the Court has found, that is not a proprietary right to the Fund's assets, but is a limited right consistent with the role of the Company to act as a tax blocker and conduit for charitable distributions.

160. Clause 1.6 (GP powers) of the ARLPA provides that:

> (a) Subject to the terms and conditions of this Agreement, the General Partner shall have full, exclusive and complete discretion in the management and control of the business and affairs of the Partnership, shall make all decisions regarding the business of the Partnership, and shall have all of the rights, powers and obligations of a general partner of a limited partnership under the laws of the Cayman Islands. Except as otherwise expressly provided in this Agreement, the General Partner is hereby granted the right, power and authority to do on behalf of the Partnership all things which, in the General Partner's sole discretion, are necessary or appropriate to manage the Partnership's affairs and fulfill the purposes of the Partnership*;*[54] provided, however that the Partnership's assets and investments shall be for the benefit of the Limited Partners and not for the economic benefit of the General Partner. (emphasis added)

[54] i.e. principally to benefit the Indirect Charitable Owners.

(b) Except as otherwise provided herein, the Limited Partners, in their capacity as Limited Partners, shall not participate in the management of or have any control over the Partnership's business nor shall the Limited Partners have the power to represent, act for, sign for or bind the General Partner or the Partnership. The Limited Partners hereby consent to the exercise by the General Partner of the Powers conferred on it by this Agreement."

161. In addition, in keeping with the limited rights afforded, Clause 6.14 of the ARLPA provides that all Partners:

> "renounce, waive and forfeit all rights, whether arising under contract or statute or by operation of law, except as otherwise expressly provided in this Agreement, to seek to bring or maintain any action in any court of law or equity for partition of the Partnership or any asset of the Partnership, or any interest which is considered to be Partnership property, regardless of the manner in which title to such property may be held".

Koza[55], Gill and Kaur, and Bourlakova

162. Mr Ayres KC sought to rely on the English Court of Appeal's decision in Koza and the subsequent decisions which considered Koza to persuade the Court that a proprietary claim was justified in this case. The Court has carefully considered these decisions and the helpful submissions of both Mr Ayres KC and Mr Scott KC.

163. The Court has concluded that there is good reason not to follow each of these decisions in the way that Mr Ayres KC suggested the Court should. To explain why the court has decided not to follow them in the way Mr Ayres KC suggested, it is necessary to give short explanations and analysis.

164. The Koza case was principally concerned with the Mareva jurisdiction (freezing orders) of the English court, not the proprietary injunction jurisdiction.

165. One of the issues considered by the Court of Appeal was whether the court had jurisdiction to make the injunction regardless of whether there had been a breach of an undertaking given to the court. The Court of Appeal decided that there was such jurisdiction and Lord Justice Popplewell gave the leading judgment:

> "67 Although at first sight it might seem surprising that the jurisdiction to make ancillary orders to enforce or render effective undertakings can be invoked when it is not, and never will be, definitively established that the threatened conduct is a breach of the undertaking, and there is no decided case revealed by counsel's researches in which it has been exercised in such circumstances, it seems to me that it is consistent with established principle and practice that such jurisdiction exists and can be exercised in such circumstances.
> 68 The starting point is that where the court has by injunction restrained conduct in general terms, the ancillary jurisdiction permits the grant of a further injunction to restrain something specific which is within the scope of the general restraint. This is a common feature of freezing orders*."*(emphasis added)

166. Popplewell LJ made the distinction between the freezing order jurisdiction and a proprietary claim to assets which he described as founding a principled basis for preserving those assets pending trial:[56]

> "82 I would also accept the existence of this alternative jurisdictional basis for the injunction granted by the judge. Where there is a dispute over control of a company the court may make interim orders, including freezing orders, whose purpose is to preserve the value of the company in favour of a party who has a legitimate interest in preserving its value. (emphasis added)
> 83 Section 37(1) of the Senior Courts Act 1981 is in very wide terms. ... Where a claimant has a proprietary claim to assets, there is obviously a principled basis for preserving those assets pending trial, and a proprietary freezing order is commonly granted in such circumstances. In the present case Koza Altin has no proprietary claim as such to the assets in question: the funding will be from assets owned by its subsidiary, Koza Ltd. However, a parent company does have an interest in the use by its subsidiary of the latter's assets because such use affects the value of its shareholding in the subsidiary, and such > interest is proprietary in nature because the shareholding is a species of property. It is, therefore, in accordance with principle that the court's wide jurisdiction under section 37 should be exercisable to protect such a proprietary interest in appropriate circumstances. Koza Altin's proprietary interest in preserving the value of Koza Ltd's assets, and the consequent value of its own shareholding, is a legitimate interest which is capable of justifying protection by the grant of a freezing order*. It is a separate question whether the circumstances justify the grant of such an injunction in any particular case; but the existence of a power to grant it is consistent with principle."* (emphasis added)

167. As to the freezing order jurisdiction, the court needed to determine whether there was a real risk that the alleged expenditure at issue in breach of undertaking would be an unjustified dissipation of assets otherwise than in the ordinary and proper course of Koza Ltd's business.

168. In the Court's view, the Koza decision does not assist Mr Ayres KC in relation to the jurisdiction to grant the proprietary injunction in this case, where the facts are very different.

Gill and Kaur[57]

169. In this case the respondents to the injunctions did not appear and were unrepresented. Bryan J had heard no opposition to the injunctions and said, purporting to apply Koza, at § 40:

> "In order to obtain a proprietary injunction, it is not necessary for the applicant to have a direct proprietary claim to the assets themselves."

170. The Court finds this to be unpersuasive authority in the circumstances in which the Judge made that comment, against the jurisprudence to the contrary which requires a proprietary claim to the assets themselves.

[57] [2025] EWHC 156 (Comm).

Bourlakova[58]

171. This, unlike Koza and Gill and Kaur, was a proprietary injunction case where the claimant sought injunctions to restrain dealings with the company's assets pending trial. The claimants claimed to be shareholders of the relevant companies.

172. However, the judge in that case, Smith J, was not being asked to order an injunction which would prevent the companies from continuing in the ordinary course of their business. That is unusual for a proprietary injunction case, which unlike the freezing order jurisdiction, does not require a real risk of dissipation of assets and would normally not allow an ordinary course of business exception because the assets themselves are claimed to be owned by the applicant.

173. Smith J took Koza to establish that a proprietary injunction could be made to restrain the company from dealing with assets without the need for any proprietary claim and without the need to show any risk of unjustified dissipation.[59]

174. With respect to the Judge, this Court does not accept that the analysis he makes of Popplewell LJ's judgment in Koza is correct.

175. Popplewell LJ found on the particular facts of that case that the parent had an interest in the use by its subsidiary of the subsidiary's assets, even though it did not have a proprietary claim to those assets, because he found that such use affected the value of its shareholding in the subsidiary, and such an interest is proprietary in nature because the shareholding was a species of property.

176. Popplewell LJ, however, was dealing with a freezing order which could still be made provided its requirements were met in relation to a real risk of dissipation.

177. In any event, Bourlakova can also be distinguished on the facts.

178. An ordinary course exception is applied for in this case which concerns a limited partner interest in a Fund, not a shareholder's interest in a Company.

---

[58] [2025] EWHC 1792 (Ch).
[59] §§140-144.

Lakeshore[60]

179. Even if it could be said that the rights of the Company in this case, as a limited partner in the Fund, are somehow analogous to a shareholder's rights in the above three cases (which the Court doubts), the Court could not grant a proprietary injunction if there is no prima facie ownership interest in the relevant assets sought to be injuncted.

180. This issue was considered by the Chief Justice in Lakeshore. In that case a displaced shareholder sought a proprietary injunction against a company in respect of the company's assets. This was refused on the basis that there was no good claim to beneficial ownership of those assets and the shareholder rights asserted in that case did not found a basis for proprietary injunctive relief.

181. The Court held that a proprietary claim is one where the claimant asserts a legal or beneficial interest in an asset and that the asset must be specific and ascertained, citing Gee Commercial Injunctions (7th Ed.) at 2-026.[61]

182. The Court noted that a company's shareholders have no proprietary interest in its assets.

183. This Court accepts the reasoning in that case and applies it to this application.

Valuation Issues

184. The Court has also reviewed the detailed advice of Mr Beswetherick KC who advised the Company that the Company's objects, revised in line with the Mission Statement, could not realistically be challenged by the Participating Shareholders.[62]

185. The Court has concluded that the Fund structure in this case gave the Company and its Participating Shareholders no rights of legal or beneficial ownership or indeed control with regard to the Fund and its assets.

186. There is evidence that other charitable entities were unwilling to accept 'a gift of Participating Shares' on this basis:

---

[60] [2025] CIGC (FSD) 24.
[61] §61 and see §§62-69.
[62] See §§56-60.

> "[t]hese charities carried out extensive due diligence on the Participating Shares and ultimately rejected the gift. These charities determined that the shares did not confer sufficient economic rights to qualify as a gift because they provided only discretionary dividends, carried no liquidation rights, and were susceptible to being diluted at any point".[63]

187. As borne out by the valuations conducted in this case, this outcome was of more limited economic value to the Company as a limited partner in the Fund than an asset valuation of the Fund's assets.

188. Having considered the Company's arguments and evidence, the Court takes the view that there is no good reason to impugn ValueScope's assessments of the CDM Interest,[64] or to second guess the FTI report[65] (which considered appropriate discounts in relation to the Participating Shares), and/or the Weaver fairness opinion.

189. The Court is unpersuaded on this application that the transactions undertaken were at an undervalue. The JOLs have adduced no valuation evidence.

What Rights did the Company have as a Limited Partner in the Fund?

190. The Court accepts Mr Scott KC's submissions that the Company's rights as a limited partner in this structure were not typical of those in a commercial Cayman investment fund. The Fund was not an investment vehicle for limited partners on commercial terms as is usually the case.[66]

191. Unlike a limited partnership agreement used for commercial investment purposes, the ARLPA did not have the usual provisions relating to, for example: the limited partners' capital commitments; investment objectives; carried interest and distributions; and investment periods. The Fund did not solicit capital from investors. There are no subscription agreements through which interests are taken up as the Supporting Organisations did not make any capital commitments. The Fund was not able to make capital calls against the Supporting Organisations or against the Company.[67]

192. Rather, the ARLPA reflects the charitable purpose of the Fund which was to benefit a defined class of qualifying beneficiaries, namely the Indirect Charitable Owners.[68]

193. As stated above, the Court agrees with the Defendants' submissions that the Company only had the right to be considered for discretionary distributions by the general partner at the partnership level and by the Directors at the Company level (by way of dividend).[69]

194. As a matter of US tax law, in order for the Charities to benefit from distributions from the Fund in a tax efficient manner, it was necessary for them to hold their interests through an offshore 'corporate blocker', i.e. the Company. The Company was constituted in a form to facilitate the surrender of ownership and control.

195. It did not hold any assets or cash reserves.[70]

196. It is clear having reviewed the Memorandum and Articles of the Company that the Participating Shareholders (who paid no money for their shares) had no control or ownership rights in the Fund's assets.

197. The Court accepts Mr Scott KC's submission that any economic rights that the Company may have had[71] were satisfied when the Company was voluntarily wound up after the restructuring had taken place.

The Company's Pleaded Proprietary Claims against CDM and DFW

198. The claims are in respect of:

(1) the limited partnership interest held by CDM;

(2) the participating shares held by DFW; and

(3) the membership interest in CDM also held by DFW.

199. They are all pleaded to arise from the restructuring on the basis of a constructive trust.

[70] Patrick 1, §31.
[71] Under Article 12 "The participating shares shall confer upon the shareholders rights in a winding up of repayment of capital and the right to participate in the profits or assets of the Company in accordance with these Articles."

200. The Court, consistent with its findings in relation to the proprietary injunction analysis, finds that those claims raise no serious issue to be tried. The Court finds that there is no seriously arguable case that the Participating Shares held by DFW and the CDM Interest also held by DFW were assets owned legally or beneficially by the Company. No constructive trust arises absent a proprietary interest.[72]

201. The Court is also unpersuaded that there is a real risk that those assets will be diminished or otherwise unlawfully dealt with (see below).

The Injunction against Mr Patrick

The Corporate Entity which made the Remuneration Payments

202. The Court has reviewed the relevant evidence and the pleadings. The Court takes the provisional view that the sums paid to Mr Patrick as remuneration for his work did not come from Company funds or assets.

203. Whilst there are Company board resolutions in respect of the payments, other companies in the structure actually paid Mr Patrick on behalf of the Company.[73] This may give rise to a proprietary tracing claim by the Company, but there is no seriously arguable case that the payments represent assets which belong to the Company.

Excessive Remuneration

204. The Company says in contrast to Mr Scott, who was paid US$60,000 per annum, Mr Patrick awarded himself sums comprising a base salary of US$850,000, a bonus of 2.5 times that base salary, and a long-term incentive ("LTI") payment of US$975,000. For the period March 2021 to March 2024, Mr Patrick was entitled to an aggregate LTI payment of US$4,759,000.

205. From disclosure provided pursuant to the Interim Undertakings, the JOLs say that Mr Patrick received, by way of director's fees, a total of US$10,548,778 in 2024 and US$3,325,000 in the first six months of 2025.[74]

[73] They seem to have been paid by Liberty CLO HoldCo, Ltd, CLO HoldCo Ltd, and Charitable DAF Holdings Corp.
[74] MacInnis 3, §52.

206. Having reviewed the affidavit evidence on this question including the detailed report dated 26 August 2024 from Mercer, the Court finds that there is no serious issue to be tried that this remuneration was excessive and in breach of his duty to the Company.

207. If there were any such irregularity in Mr Patrick's remuneration, the Articles contain an indemnity for officers for conduct short of bad faith.

208. The remuneration levels were the subject of professional advice. Mercer undertook benchmarking and market research which considered the complexity of Mr Patrick's role and the value of the Fund's assets and holdings.

209. The JOLs and the Company have not provided any expert evidence to gainsay Mercer's view.

210. In addition, the remuneration was structured in accordance with legal advice including the establishment of a remuneration committee.

211. Mr Patrick's second affidavit and Mr Murphy's first affidavit set out in some detail the demands of the role of being a Director, their own expertise, and the level of risk involved, particularly in relation to the extensive litigation involving the Fund. Apparently, Mr Murphy was unable to obtain directors and officers insurance given the history of claims made by Mr Dondero.

212. It may be said that as a matter of common sense the Court should objectively assess whether the amounts paid were excessive.

213. Even if there was a seriously arguable case that these amounts were excessive from that point of view and Mr Patrick acted in breach of duty (in bad faith) in relation to his remuneration, the Court finds that this is not a proprietary claim of the Company and is a claim for which damages would be an adequate remedy.

214. The court finds that there is no serious issue to be tried that a proprietary claim lies against the Texas and Missouri properties such that would justify a proprietary injunction restraining the disposition of these properties. The Court accepts Mr Scott KC's submission that there is no pleaded proprietary claim to these specific properties and there is no prima facie case that the Company owns those properties or that they are the traceable proceeds of anything belonging to it.

215. There is insufficient evidence that the alleged excess remuneration was used to purchase these properties.

The Injunction against Mr Murphy

216. Mr Ayres KC made clear that as Mr Murphy still plays a role in the Fund and the Company, the JOLs apply to injunct him in respect of all the Fund entities.

217. However, it is undisputed, on the evidence before the court, that Mr Murphy does not hold any interest in the Fund or in its limited or general partner and has no shareholding or any other interest in any of the companies connected with the Fund.

218. The Company's proprietary claim concerns only money that was paid to him as remuneration under his director's service agreements.

219. The Court takes the view that the damages and compensation claimed based on his participation in the restructuring are not proprietary claims in nature.

220. Having reviewed Mr Murphy's affidavit evidence,[75] the levels of remuneration he received (which is not contradicted) do not seem to the Court to be excessive in the circumstances. They are within the margin of appreciation in respect of commercial decisions such as risk and reward relating to remuneration.

221. In 2024, Mr Murphy was paid a total of US$466,667[76] including a bonus of US$250,000 in recognition of his:

> "contribution to the increased independence of the Company" and "input in responding to the Supporting Organisations' behaviour in November/December".

222. The Company says that this appears to be a reward for Mr Murphy's actions in supporting the restructuring and therefore the Company claims to recover this sum.

223. Mr Murphy was also paid US$500,000[77] in fees payable in monthly instalments and backdated to 1 January 2025, to be paid in advance:

---

[75] Murphy 1, §§48-78.
[76] MacInnis 3, §§64-66, §74.
[77] On or after 12 May 2025: Murphy 1, §72.

> "in circumstances where the Companies may have an inability to discharge their financial obligations to [Mr Murphy], for example, where freezing injunctions or temporary restraining orders may be sought against the Companies".

224. The Court accepts that the comparison made by the Company with the salary paid to Mr Grant Scott is not apposite given the complex and contentious issues that Mr Murphy had to deal with and the professional services he provided.

225. Moreover Mr Patrick, and not Mr Murphy, replaced Mr Scott. Mr Scott had been the sole Management Shareholder of the Company. Mr Murphy's role was newly created.

226. A second director was appointed because entities in the Fund had become involved in US Chapter 11 proceedings (including proceedings for contempt of court) and proceedings brought by UBS in respect of a judgment exceeding US$1 billion. It was considered that there was an urgent need to appoint a robust independent director with litigation experience.[78]

227. Mr Grant Scott was a close personal friend of Mr Dondero, and was:

> "a patent lawyer with no experience in finance or running charitable organisations, who was Mr. Dondero's long-time friend, college housemate and best man at his wedding".[79]

228. Mr Dondero's deposition evidence in the Highland Capital Chapter 11 bankruptcy proceedings (in Texas) given on 1 June 2021 shows that Mr Scott was not fulfilling a serious role and reveals the difficulties in identifying anyone prepared to take on his position without sufficient protections.

229. Mr Quest KC emphasised that Mr Murphy is a professional independent director with (by 2021) 17 years of relevant legal, financial services, and asset-management experience.

230. The Court is not persuaded that the payment of his remuneration gave rise to an actionable breach of fiduciary duty.

231. Moreover, there is no pleaded case of fraud or wilful default against him or any deliberate decision by him to act in breach of his fiduciary duty. There is also no evidence that would support an allegation of fraud or wilful default against Mr Murphy, or which would support any allegation of relevant actual knowledge.

---

[78] Murphy 1, §35.6.
[79] As noted by Judge Jernigan in the US civil contempt proceedings.

232. The Court does not however agree with Mr Quest KC that there is no evidence to support the suggestion that Mr Murphy was paid in return for his agreement to the course of action that Mr Patrick took in relation to the restructuring.[80] The timing of the payment of US$250,000 and the reason given for it, raise a plausible inference.

233. However, the Court is of the view that in the light of the 'Directors liability and indemnity' provisions of his service agreement,[81] there is no serious issue to be tried.

234. The Court accepts Mr Ayres KC's point that he does not need in his pleading to anticipate defences which may or may not be run. However, the evidence does not show a serious issue to be tried against the liability and indemnity protection.

235. In addition, the Company did not pay Mr Murphy. The Court is not persuaded that the Company owned the funds that were paid to Mr Murphy or that it had a proprietary interest in the remuneration paid by CLO HoldCo (D6) to Mr Murphy. The Company as a limited partner had no control over CLO HoldCo (D6).

236. The balance of convenience is firmly against granting a proprietary injunction against Mr Murphy. The injunction sought against him is not against any identifiable fund over which any proprietary claim by the Company could be made. Even if there were such an identifiable fund, if the injunction were to be granted, it would give Mr Murphy a difficult task to comply with.

237. The remuneration was paid into Mr Murphy's bank accounts. If an order was made against him, he would be left having to work out which monies he still had (and from a proportion of his remuneration said to be excessive over 4 ½ years) or which may be received from any assets of the Fund, at the risk of committal for breach. No tracing claim is pleaded. This ambiguity would be a reason as a matter of discretion to refuse to make the injunction against him.[82]

238. The Court accepts Mr Quest KC's cogent submissions that it is hard to see any benefit to the Company and the JOLs in the injunction application against Mr Murphy not to diminish assets, and there is real potential oppression to Mr Murphy in seeking to comply with the injunction sought.

The Balance of Convenience Generally

Assets in Danger

239. Had the Court been persuaded that there was a serious issue to be tried in relation to the proprietary interest of the Company and there was a legitimate juridical basis to grant a proprietary injunction, it would not have granted the injunction against any of the Defendants because it is not persuaded that there is a real risk that the assets are in danger.

240. There is no good reason to believe that the relevant assets will be adversely dealt with given the evidence that the Court has considered on this application, and following the undertakings in July 2025 and suggested in November 2025, as well as the Texas Rule 11 Agreement.

241. Having considered the affidavit evidence and submissions made, the Court is unpersuaded that the ordinary course of business exception poses any real risk to the Fund or to the Company.

242. The Court has concluded that the course which is likely to involve the least risk of injustice is not to grant the injunction.

Lock Down and Transference of Control to JOLs

243. The balance of convenience would also come down firmly in favour of the Defendants because the effect of the relief if granted would be to lock down the charitable activities of the Fund and place it under the control of the JOLs, which the Court regards as unjustified at this interlocutory stage.

244. The Court is not persuaded that the carve outs for specific projects proposed by the JOLs remedy the issue.

245. There is on the other hand no real risk of irremediable prejudice to the Company and the JOLs if the injunction is refused.

Serious Issue to be Tried on the Restructuring

246. The question whether the allegations made against the Directors are true or not will be properly investigated at trial. The principal allegation is a serious one, namely that they have stripped the Company of its only asset so as to seize control and enrich themselves without the scrutiny of the Supporting Organisations.

247. They each vehemently deny these allegations and give reasons for the reorganisation which will need to be investigated at trial. There is a mass of contemporaneous documentary material to consider including legal and professional advice provided at the time. The Defendants say that it is inherently improbable that all of these advisers were wrong and that the restructuring was invalid or illegal and that the Directors knew this to be the case at the time.

248. No doubt the allegations the Defendants make that the Highland Foundations, which Mr Dondero controlled as Participating Shareholders, were used as vehicles to exert influence over the assets and operations of the Fund, inconsistently with its purpose and exposing it and its assets to litigation in which he was personally involved, will also be examined in detail at trial.[83]

249. All of the evidence will be properly tested at trial against the contemporaneous material so that a conclusion may be drawn as to whether the Directors took the decisions they did because they believed them to be in the best interests of the Company, as they say, or whether they are in breach of fiduciary duty as the JOLs and the Company say.

250. It is clear that Mr Dondero and his affiliates have a long history of contention with Mr Patrick and the Fund. The Court also notes that the Defendants say that Mr Dondero is the primary stakeholder in the liquidation, is funding it, and has a considerable personal stake in the claims being advanced by the Company, as well as the standing to benefit from any recoveries made pursuant to the funding agreement with Crossvine.

251. The Court has carefully considered the actions taken by the Directors, the advice sought and given, and the justifications put forward for the actions that were undertaken. The time when these actions were undertaken coincides with when the Supporting Organisations (Participating Shareholders) were getting increasingly concerned about the conduct of the Directors.

252. The Court has also taken into account the Company's point that these complex transactions were undertaken in secret without notifying the Original Participating Shareholders (Supporting Organisations) and in effect presented them with a fait accompli.

[83] Patrick 1 Liquidation, §§101-164 and Patrick 2, §§26-43

253. The Court has been persuaded that the Company and JOLs have a case which the Directors need to answer in relation to the divestiture of the Company's limited partner interest in the Fund which does withstand a reverse summary judgment application.

254. Weighing all of these points at this stage with a necessarily incomplete picture, the Court is persuaded that there is a serious issue to be tried as to whether the Directors acted in breach of duty in undertaking the restructuring.

255. The Court expresses no view as to whether that case is likely to succeed or not at this stage, merely that it has cleared the relatively low bar of having a real, as opposed to a fanciful, prospect of success at trial.

256. That finding does not change the analysis or outcome on this application and in particular does not affect the Court's view on the balance of convenience and the exercise of its discretion generally.

257. The Company's interest at stake is not proprietary, is of no economic value to the Company which has not already been reimbursed, and was a right to be considered by the general partner for discretionary charitable distributions for the Indirect Charitable Owners. Any loss would be felt by those owners and could be compensated by an award of damages which could be met from the Fund's assets.

Cross Undertaking

258. There is a further important reason why the Court, even had it been persuaded that there was a juridical basis to grant a proprietary injunction, would not have done so.

259. Given the wide nature of the injunction applied for and the significant costs which the Defendants would need to spend to comply with it, the absence of a secure cross undertaking is a good reason to not grant the injunction.

260. The default position is that an applicant for an interim injunction is required to give a cross undertaking in damages. This is not a case where it would be right to waive the cross undertaking required.

261. The Court has concluded that if the injunction were granted, significant loss would be likely to be caused to the Fund and its charitable recipients. There might also be business related and reputational impacts on individuals, including most obviously the Directors, which may be hard to quantify.

Fortification

262. The Court has also concluded in its discretion that this is a proper case for fortification. The JOLs themselves are not offering a cross undertaking and yet ask for wide ranging relief and further disclosure orders.

263. The Court is not persuaded that Crossvine, which is put forward to provide a cross undertaking, would be good to make up the likely loss sustained if it was to be found that the injunction had been wrongly granted.

264. The Defendants say Crossvine is controlled by Messrs Dondero and Ellington, both of whom are involved in the UBS Litigation in the US where it is alleged that Mr Dondero has an outstanding judgment against him of more than US$1.2 billion.

265. There is scant material on this application as to the nature, extent and location of Crossvine's assets. Apparently, the original funding Crossvine agreed has been exhausted.

266. The Defendants point out that an indemnity costs order[84] that was made against the Company as part of a June sanction application in the Liquidation Proceedings has not been complied with.

267. The Defendants have a good arguable case that there is a real risk that Crossvine, on the present evidence available, will not be good for the money.

268. Mr Ayres KC argued that the evidence from ValueScope suggesting potential damage to the Fund of c.US$127m if the injunction is granted is flawed because they had been involved in justifying the redemption of the Company's interest in CDM and so were not able to provide objective and independent evidence to the Court by way of the Damages Report. The Court does not agree.

[84] Said to be circa US$1 million.

269. An intelligent estimate of the loss is, in the Court's view, in the region of the ValueScope Damages Report. There is a real need for fortification in this case and none is offered. That in itself is a powerful factor against the granting of the proprietary injunction sought on the balance of convenience.

Conclusion

270. For these reasons, the Court refuses to make an order in the terms of the amended injunction summons filed on 4 December 2025.

THE HON. JUSTICE RAJ PARKER
JUDGE OF THE GRAND COURT

4. HMIT Class 10 Interest.

(a) Subject to entry of the Bankruptcy Court Order, and the terms of this Agreement, the HMIT Class 10 Interest shall be deemed allowed in the amount of Three Hundred Thirty-Six Million Nine Hundred Forty Thousand Two Hundred Thirty and 58/100 Dollars (US$336,940,230.58), which amount represents the HMIT Capital Account Balance, less the HMIT Note Balance.

(b) Notwithstanding anything to the contrary in the Plan or the Claimant Trust Agreement, as an integral part of this Agreement to consent to the allowance of the HMIT Class 10 Interest and the other considerations in this Agreement, HMIT shall not be deemed, and no holder of the HMIT Class 10 Interest shall be, a Claimant Trust Beneficiary or a "Beneficiary" under the Claimant Trust Agreement, and the Highland Released Parties, individually and collectively, shall owe no duty to any HMIT Releasor (whether contractual, fiduciary, equitable, statutory or otherwise), including with respect to the HMIT Class 10 Interest, in each case, except as expressly set forth in this Agreement. Furthermore, without limiting the foregoing and for the avoidance of doubt, the contractual right of the holder of the HMIT Class 10 Interest to receive or recover any payments or Indemnity Trust Assets from the Indemnity Trust as set forth in this Agreement or the Indemnity Trust Agreement does not make any HMIT Releasor or any other Person a beneficiary of the Indemnity Trust or under the Indemnity Trust Agreement.

(c) Notwithstanding anything to the contrary in the Plan, the Claimant Trust Agreement or the Indemnity Trust Agreement, in no event shall HMIT sell, transfer, assign, pledge, hypothecate, participate or otherwise dispose of or encumber the HMIT Class 10 Interest or any rights (including any right to payment) with respect thereto (collectively, a "Class 10 Assignment"), and any attempted Class 10 Assignment shall be null and void.

(d) For the avoidance of doubt, the HMIT Class 10 Interest is and shall remain senior to the not yet allowed, unvested contingent Class 11 Claims of Equity Interests as provided for in the Plan, the Plan Documents, and the Claimant Trust Agreement.

(b) Within five (5) Business Days after the Bankruptcy Court Approval Date (the "Note Assignment Date"), the Highland Entities shall cause the portion of the Dugaboy Note held by the Highland Entities to be distributed to HMIT in-kind and take all actions necessary for HMIT to become the holder of such portion of the Dugaboy Note, and shall in addition pay to HMIT cash in the aggregate amount of all principal and interest payments actually received on the Dugaboy Note by the Highland Entities, including the Indemnity Trust, from the Agreement Date to the Note Assignment Date. Prior to the Bankruptcy Court Approval Date, HMIT will engage an independent valuation service provider to value the Dugaboy Note for purposes of determining the magnitude of reduction to the outstanding allowed Class 10 Interests on account of such in-kind distribution, which shall not be less than Fifty percent (50%) of the current balance owed under the Dugaboy Note. The HMIT Entities acknowledge and agree that none of the Highland Entities are representing or warranting that the Dugaboy Note can be sold, or the price, if any, that could be received for the Dugaboy Note and further acknowledge and agree that any such purchase price may be de minimis.

6. Subsequent Distribution(s) on the Allowed Class 10 Interests.

(a) On December 1, 2027, the Indemnity Trust shall distribute (such distribution, collectively, the "First Subsequent Distribution", and the date on which such Subsequent Distribution is made, the "First Subsequent Distribution Date") Pro Rata to the Holders of allowed Class 10 Claims or Equity Interests: cash in the aggregate amount of Six Million Five Hundred Thousand Dollars (US$6,500,000.00), by Wire Transfer.

(b) On December 1, 2028, the Indemnity Trust shall distribute (such distribution, collectively, the "Second Subsequent Distribution", and the date on which such Subsequent Distribution is made, the "Second Subsequent Distribution Date") Pro Rata to the Holders of allowed Class 10 Claims or Equity Interests cash in the aggregate amount of Six Million Five Hundred Thousand Dollars (US$6,500,000.00) by Wire Transfer.

(c) Notwithstanding anything herein to the contrary, the obligations of the Indemnity Trust to make the First Subsequent Distribution or Second Subsequent Distribution is subject in all respects to (i) there being no Threats and (ii) a determination in accordance with Article VIII, Section 8.1(c) of the Indemnity Trust Agreement that the Indemnity Trust Assets comprising such distributions are not reasonably necessary to satisfy current or potential Indemnification Obligations (as defined in the Indemnity Trust Agreement) to all persons who are or might become Beneficiaries (as defined in the Indemnity Trust Agreement).

7. Final Distribution on the Allowed Class 10 Interests.

(a) On the later of the Final Court Approval Date and April 1, 2029, the Indemnity Trust will distribute all excess remaining Indemnity Trust Assets in accordance with Article VIII of the Indemnity Trust Agreement; provided, however, that the obligation of the Indemnity Trust to make any such distributions and/or dissolve and wind up the affairs of the Indemnity Trust is subject in all respects to (i) there being no Threats and (ii) a determination in accordance with Article VIII of the Indemnity Trust Agreement that (1) a Final Order(s) (as defined in the Indemnity Trust Agreement) has been entered resolving all litigation, claims or proceedings in any forum of any kind which could give rise to Indemnity Obligations (as defined in the Indemnity Trust Agreement) and payment in full of all such Indemnity Obligations and (2) all applicable statutes of limitations and any applicable tolling of such statutes of limitation have expired.

(b) The Indemnity Trust agrees to not use Indemnity Trust Assets to fund Operating Expenses.

(c) Following the Bankruptcy Court Approval Date, at the request of Mark Patrick, solely in his capacity, and to the extent he remains, as administrator of HMIT, but not more often than quarterly, Highland and the Indemnity Trust Administrator agree to review (i) the status of their respective assets, (ii) the balance of cash held, (iii) the status of any claims made for indemnification and any resolutions thereof, (iv) the status of any litigation, and (v) forecasted operating expenses with Mr. Patrick, and will each work in good faith to reduce operating expenses where reasonably practicable; provided, however, that all such reporting shall be subject to Mr. Patrick's agreement to maintain confidentiality with respect to any non-public information.

8. Transfer Kirschner Claims; Dismissal of HMIT Note Claims.

(a) Within five (5) Business Days after the Bankruptcy Court Approval Date, but after the dismissal provided for in Section 2, the Litigation Sub-Trust shall execute a short-form assignment in in favor of the HMIT Entities transferring all of the Litigation Sub-Trust's right, title, and interest in and to the Kirschner Claims (the "Kirschner Transfer"). Such assignment shall be in a form mutually acceptable to the Parties and its substance shall be consistent with the terms, conditions and limitations set forth in this Agreement, including Section 8(b) below. Each HMIT Entity acknowledges and agrees that none of the Highland Entities will have any duty or obligation to assist the HMIT Entities in any way with respect to the Kirschner Claims, including the prosecution thereof, except as provided in this Agreement, including the terms of Section 8(c) below.

(b) THE HMIT ENTITIES SPECIFICALLY ACKNOWLEDGE AND AGREE THAT THE LITIGATION SUB-TRUST IS TRANSFERRING THE KIRSCHNER CLAIMS ON AN "AS IS AND WITH ALL FAULTS" BASIS AND THAT THE HMIT ENTITIES ARE NOT RELYING ON ANY REPRESENTATIONS OR WARRANTIES OF ANY KIND WHATSOEVER, EXPRESS OR IMPLIED, FROM THE HIGHLAND ENTITIES OR THEIR REPRESENTATIVES AS TO ANY MATTERS CONCERNING THE KIRSCHNER CLAIMS AND AMENDED COMPLAINT, INCLUDING WITH RESPECT TO THE ENFORCEABILITY, TRANSFERABILITY, VIABILITY, STRENGTH, OR VALUE OF ANY OF THE KIRSCHNER CLAIMS OR THE AMENDED COMPLAINT. The HMIT Entities hereby specifically acknowledge that they have carefully reviewed this Section and have had the opportunity to discuss its import with legal counsel and that the provisions of this Section are a material part of this Agreement. Thus, if for any reason HMIT is precluded from or is otherwise unable to prosecute all or any of the Kirschner Claims, (i) the HMIT Releasors shall have no recourse against any Highland Released Parties whatsoever and shall not be entitled to compensation of any kind, it being agreed that the HMIT Entities are otherwise receiving adequate consideration for the duties and obligations they are undertaking pursuant to this Agreement and (ii) there will be no effect whatsoever on the validity and enforceability of this Agreement or any of the other transactions contemplated hereby.

(c) As promptly as reasonably practicable following the Bankruptcy Court Approval Date, the Highland Entities shall provide to the HMIT Entities electronic copies of written discovery requests and responses thereto, and documents produced in discovery in respect of the Kirschner Claims and the Amended Complaint. The Highland Entities will not provide any other documents regarding the Kirschner Claims including any attorney-client communications and any documents subject to the attorney work-product doctrine or similar privileges or immunities concerning the Kirschner Claims (collectively, the "Kirschner Privileges"), it being understood and agreed that the Highland Entities are retaining, and not transferring or waiving, the Kirschner Privileges.

(d) Each Party acknowledges and agrees that if (i) the Kirschner Transfer is found or deemed to be impermissible or invalid, for any reason, or (ii) any HMIT Entity materially breaches this Agreement, the Kirschner Claims and Amended Complaint will revert to, and remain an asset of, the Litigation Sub-Trust.

13. Representations and Warranties.

(a) Each of the HMIT Entities hereby represents and warrants that every HMIT Entity Released Claim has not heretofore been assigned or encumbered and is not the subject of a transfer (as such term is defined in 11 U.S.C. § 101(54)), by any HMIT Releasor.

(b) The HMIT Entities, on their own behalf and on behalf of the other HMIT Releasors, acknowledge and agree that each Plan Provision is lawful, effective, and binding on the HMIT Releasors. The HMIT Entities further agree, on their own behalf and on behalf of the other HMIT Releasors, that the HMIT Releasors will never, in any way, challenge or seek to modify, nullify, vacate, or revoke, or induce, encourage or direct any other Person to do so or act in concert with or assist (financially or otherwise) any other Person in doing so the Confirmation Order, the Plan, the Plan Protections, or any Plan Document, including the Claimant Trust Agreement, the LPA, the Indemnity Trust Agreement or the Litigation Sub-Trust Agreement, in the Bankruptcy Court, in any other state or federal court, in any other forum or tribunal, or otherwise, including administrative or regulatory tribunals and foreign courts.

(c) Each of the Highland Entities hereby represents and warrants that every Highland Entity Released Claim has not heretofore been assigned or encumbered and is not the subject of a transfer (as such term is defined in 11 U.S.C. § 101(54)), by any Highland Releasor.

(d) Each Party severally represents and warrants as to itself only that: (i) it has taken all necessary action to authorize and approve the execution, delivery and performance of this Agreement; (ii) such Party has full power and authority to execute and deliver this Agreement; and (iii) this Agreement constitutes a valid, legal and binding obligation of such Party, and is enforceable subject to its terms. Each individual signatory hereto individually warrants and represents to all Parties hereto that such individual has full power and authority to act on behalf of and bind the Party for which he or she has executed this Agreement; provided, however that no signatory shall otherwise provide any warranty or representation or otherwise be a party to this Agreement on an individual basis.

14. No Continuing Rights, Duties or Obligations. Except for the rights, duties, and obligations expressly set forth in this Agreement, all Rights and Obligations that existed or may have existed shall be deemed terminated, extinguished, and released upon the Agreement Date. For the avoidance of doubt, from and after the Agreement Date, (a) the Highland Released Parties, individually and collectively, shall owe no duty, past or present, including with respect to the Kirchner Claims, to the HMIT Released Parties, individually and collectively, whether contractual, fiduciary, equitable, statutory or otherwise, except as arising out of this Agreement, and (b) the HMIT Released Parties, individually and collectively, shall owe no duty to the Highland Released Parties, individually and collectively, whether contractual, fiduciary, equitable, statutory or otherwise, except as arising out of this Agreement.

15. Gatekeeper Standard.

(a) The HMIT Entities and the Highland Entities, on their own behalf and on behalf of the other HMIT Releasors and Highland Releasors, respectively, acknowledge and agree that, notwithstanding the United States Court of Appeals for the Fifth Circuit's decision in Highland Capital Management Fund Advisors, L.P. v. Highland Capital Management, L.P., No. 23-10^{53}4 (5th Cir. Mar. 18, 2025), the "Gatekeeper" provisions contained in Highland's Original Plan is forever binding on each of the HMIT Entities and any Persons claiming through, under or on behalf of any of them, and for a claim or cause of action to be "colorable" for purposes of the Gatekeeper, it must be found by final order of the Bankruptcy Court (the "Gatekeeper Court"), which order shall be subject to appeal to a court of competent jurisdiction, to have satisfied the "Gatekeeper Colorability Test" as such term is defined in In re Highland Capital Management, L.P., 2023 Bankr. LEXIS 2104 at *124-36 (Bankr. N.D. Tex. Aug. 24, 2023).

(b) The HMIT Entities and the Highland Entities, on their own behalf and on behalf of the other HMIT Releasors and Highland Releasors, respectively, acknowledge and agree that compliance with the Gatekeeper requires (i) a motion seeking leave to sue an Exculpated Party (as that term is defined in Highland's original Plan) and a finding that the litigant's claims and causes of action are "colorable" attaching a complaint setting forth the basis for such claims or causes of action and (ii), in the Gatekeeper Court's sole discretion, an evidentiary hearing (during which the Gatekeeper Court may, among other things, hear testimony and assess the credibility of any witness(es)) to determine whether a proposed claim or cause of action is "colorable."

(c) The HMIT Entities and the Highland Entities, on their own behalf and on behalf of the other HMIT Releasors and Highland Releasors, respectively, further acknowledge and agree that the moving party under the Gatekeeper has the burden of satisfying the "Gatekeeper Colorability Test," and that the dismissal of the Pending Litigation shall have res judicata effect.

16. Indemnification.

(a) Without in any manner limiting the available remedies for any breach of this Agreement, the HMIT Entities, severally but not jointly, agree to indemnify, defend, and hold the Highland Released Parties harmless from and against any and all Liability, that may arise or result from or on account of, or that are otherwise related or attributable to (x) any breach of this Agreement or of any representation or warranty contained in the Agreement, including the representations and warranties of any HMIT Entity set forth in Section 13 or (y) any Actions brought or prosecuted by or on behalf of, any HMIT Releasor or that are induced, encouraged, assisted or directed by any HMIT Releasor or brought or prosecuted in concert with any HMIT Releasor against any Highland Released Party with respect to or related to any HMIT Entity Released Claims. Without limiting the scope of the foregoing in any manner, any HMIT Entity that breaches Section 12 shall be liable to the Highland Released Party against whom the applicable Action has been brought or prosecuted in violation of Section 12 for the reasonable attorneys' fees and costs incurred by such Highland Released Party in defending against or otherwise responding to such Action. Each HMIT Entity acknowledges and agrees that the HMIT Entities are and shall be severally but not jointly liable for any Liability arising from or out of any breach of this Agreement or of any representation or warranty set forth in this Agreement.

(b) Without in any manner limiting the available remedies for any breach of this Agreement, the Highland Entities, severally but not jointly, agree to indemnify, defend, and hold the HMIT Released Parties harmless from and against any and all Liability, that may arise or result from or on account of, or that are otherwise related or attributable to (x) any breach of this Agreement or of any representation or warranty contained in the Agreement, including the representations and warranties of any Highland Entity set forth in Section 13 or (y) any suits, proceedings, or other actions brought or prosecuted by or on behalf of, any Highland Releasor or that are induced, encouraged, assisted or directed by any Highland Releasor or brought or prosecuted in concert with any Highland Releasor against any HMIT Released Party with respect to or related to any Highland Entity Released Claims. Without in any manner limiting the scope of the foregoing, any Highland Entity that breaches Section 12 shall be liable to the HMIT

Released Party against whom the applicable Action has been brought or prosecuted in violation of Section 12 for the reasonable attorneys' fees and costs incurred by such HMIT Released Party in defending against or otherwise responding to such Action. Each Highland Entity acknowledges and agrees that the Highland Entities are and shall be severally but not jointly liable for any Liability arising from or out of any breach of this Agreement or of any representation or warranty set forth in this Agreement.

17. Execution. This Agreement may be executed by the exchange of signatures by facsimile or by PDF attachment to an email transmittal and in counterparts, and if so executed, shall be fully executed when a counterpart has been executed and delivered by all Parties hereto through counsel. All counterparts taken together shall constitute one and the same agreement and shall be fully enforceable as such.

18. Bankruptcy Court Order. The allowance of the allowed HMIT Class 10 Interest pursuant to Section 4 is subject to the entry of the Bankruptcy Court Order. To that end, the Highland Entities shall file the 9019 Motion no later than five (5) Business Days after the Agreement Date. Each Party shall, and shall cause each of their respective Affiliates to, undertake any and all actions in compliance with applicable law to obtain the Bankruptcy Court Order as promptly as practicable, and without limiting the foregoing, if an Action is threatened or instituted by any Person opposing the 9019 Motion or otherwise challenging the validity or legality, or seeking to restrain the consummation, of the transactions contemplated by this Agreement or the Bankruptcy Court Order, each Party shall, and shall cause its respective Affiliates to, use their commercially reasonable best efforts to avoid, resist, resolve or, if necessary, and defend to effectuate this Agreement and consummate the transactions hereby. If the 9019 Motion is not approved by entry of the Bankruptcy Court Order or if the Bankruptcy Court Approval is precluded from becoming a Final Order, (a) there will be no effect on, adjustment to, or impairment of, in any way, the validity and enforceability of the remainder of this Agreement, and the other transactions contemplated hereby, all of which shall remain in full force and effect and (b) each Party shall, and shall cause its respective Affiliates to, use their best efforts to seek the allowance of the HMIT Class 10 Interest in a substantially similar amount and on substantially similar terms as set forth in Section 4 to the fullest extent possible so as to give effect to the original intent of the Parties as closely as possible.

19. Fees and Expenses. Whether or not the transactions contemplated hereby are consummated or the Bankruptcy Court Order is obtained, and except as otherwise expressly provided in this Agreement, each Party will bear its respective fees, costs and expenses (including legal, accounting and other professional fees) incurred in connection with the preparation, negotiation, execution and performance of this Agreement or the transactions contemplated hereby, including with respect to each Party's respective obligations pursuant to Section 18. Notwithstanding the foregoing, if any Party hereto, any Highland Released Party, or any HMIT Released Party brings an Action to enforce or interpret the terms and provisions of this Agreement, the prevailing Person in that Action shall be entitled to have and recover from the non-prevailing Person all such fees, costs and expenses (including all court costs and reasonable attorneys' fees) as the prevailing Person may suffer or incur in the pursuit or defense of such action or proceeding.

20. Entire Agreement; No Other Representations. THIS AGREEMENT CONTAINS THE ENTIRE AGREEMENT BETWEEN THE PARTIES, AND NO RIGHTS ARE CREATED IN FAVOR OF ANY PERSON OTHER THAN AS SPECIFIED OR EXPRESSLY SET FORTH IN THIS AGREEMENT. THERE ARE NO REPRESENTATIONS, CONDITIONS, WARRANTIES, STATEMENTS, OR UNDERSTANDINGS (COLLECTIVELY, "REPRESENTATIONS"), EITHER ORAL OR WRITTEN, BETWEEN THE PARTIES OTHER THAN THOSE EXPRESSLY SET FORTH IN THIS AGREEMENT. THE PARTIES EXPRESSLY AGREE THAT THEY HAVE NOT BEEN INDUCED TO ENTER INTO THIS AGREEMENT BY ANY REPRESENTATIONS NOT SET FORTH IN THIS AGREEMENT; AND THE PARTIES EXPRESSLY AGREE THAT THEY HAVE NOT RELIED ON ANY REPRESENTATIONS NOT EXPRESSLY SET FORTH IN THIS AGREEMENT. THE PARTIES EXPRESSLY AGREE THAT THEY ARE ENTERING INTO THIS AGREEMENT RELYING SOLELY ON THEIR OWN JUDGMENT AND NOT ON ANY REPRESENTATIONS BY ANY PARTY, EXCEPT FOR THOSE REPRESENTATIONS EXPRESSLY SET FORTH IN THIS AGREEMENT. THE PARTIES AGREE THAT REPRESENTATIONS NOT EXPRESSLY SET FORTH IN THIS AGREEMENT SHALL NOT BE USED IN THE INTERPRETATION OR CONSTRUCTION OF THIS AGREEMENT, AND NEITHER THE HMIT RELEASED PARTIES NOR THE HIGHLAND RELEASED PARTIES SHALL HAVE ANY LIABILITY FOR ANY CONSEQUENCES ARISING AS A RESULT OF ANY REPRESENTATIONS NOT SET FORTH IN THIS AGREEMENT.

21. Agreement and Release Knowing and Voluntary. The Parties acknowledge that they have considered this Agreement with their respective attorneys and have carefully read this Agreement, that it has been fully explained by their attorneys, and that they have had a reasonable opportunity to consider this Agreement. The Parties further represent that they know and fully understand the contents of this Agreement, that they intend to be legally bound by this Agreement and the releases and covenants contained herein, and that they are signing this Agreement, including the release provisions herein, voluntarily and of their own free will and without coercion, and with the benefit of advice of counsel.

22. Cooperation. The Parties agree to perform any services or actions reasonably necessary to carry out the terms and conditions of this Agreement or the transactions contemplated hereby, including the execution and delivery of reasonable additional documents, instruments, conveyances and/or assurances, in good faith, and to reasonably communicate and cooperate with one another in this regard. For the avoidance of doubt, nothing in this Section shall obligate the Highland Entities to assist the HMIT Entities in any way with respect to the Kirschner Claims, including the prosecution thereof.

23. Governing Law. This Agreement shall be construed pursuant to and governed by the laws of the State of Delaware (substantive and procedural) without reference to principles of conflicts of law that would result in the application of any other State's laws.

24. Jurisdiction/Venue. The Parties hereby irrevocably submit to the jurisdiction and venue of the Bankruptcy Court with respect to any Action arising out of or related to this Agreement or the subject matter hereof; if (and only if) the Bankruptcy Court lacks personal or subject matter jurisdiction to adjudicate an Action arising out of or related to this Agreement or the subject matter hereof, then the Parties irrevocably submit to the jurisdiction and venue of the United States District Court for the Northern District of Texas.

25. No Admissions. All Parties acknowledge and agree that the matters set forth in this Agreement constitute the settlement and compromise of disputed Claims and that this Agreement shall not constitute the admission of any fact or liability by any of them regarding any Claim, including the Claims released hereunder, and neither the terms hereof, nor the fact of this Agreement itself, shall be evidence of any kind in any Action, other than an Action to enforce the terms of the Agreement or any instrument executed in connection herewith or any claim for damages or other relief for breach of any representation or warranty contained herein or in any instrument executed in connection herewith.

26. Other Provisions.

(a) No representation, inducement, agreement, promise or understandings altering, modifying, amending, taking from or adding to, the terms and conditions hereof shall have any force or effect unless the same is in writing and validly executed by each of the Parties hereto.

(b) The waiver by any Party of any breach of, or default under, any provision of this Agreement shall not operate or be construed as a waiver of any subsequent breach or default; provided, however, that for any such waiver to be enforceable, it shall be in writing and executed by the non-breaching Party.

(c) The headings contained in this Agreement are for convenience only and shall in no way restrict or otherwise affect the construction of the provisions hereof.

(d) The Parties shall each execute all documents and perform all acts necessary and proper to effectuate the terms of this Agreement.

27. Notices. All notices required or permitted to be provided hereunder shall be afforded to the respective parties to and through their counsel, and shall be transmitted simultaneously by electronic mail (with PDF attachments, as necessary) and by telefax, addressed as follows:

Reorganized Debtor.	§

ORDER PURSUANT TO BANKRUPTCY RULE 9019 AND 11 U.S.C. § 363 APPROVING SETTLEMENT BETWEEN THE HIGHLAND ENTITIES AND THE HMIT ENTITIES AND AUTHORIZING ACTIONS CONSISTENT THEREWITH

This matter having come before the Court on the Motion for Entry of an Order Pursuant to Bankruptcy Rule 9019 and 11 U.S.C. § 363 Approving Settlement with the HMIT Entities and Authorizing Actions Consistent Therewith [Docket No. 4216] (the "Motion")[2] filed by Highland Capital Management, L.P., the reorganized debtor (the "Debtor" or "Highland") in the above-captioned chapter 11 case (the "Bankruptcy Case"), the Highland Claimant Trust (the "Claimant

[1] The last four digits of the Reorganized Debtor's taxpayer identification number are 8357. The headquarters and service address for the Highland is 100 Crescent Court, Suite 1850, Dallas, TX 75201.

Trust"), and the Highland Litigation Sub-Trust (the "Litigation Sub-Trust," and together with Highland and the Claimant Trust, the "Movants"); and the Court having jurisdiction over this matter pursuant to 28 U.S.C. §§ 157 and 1334 as well as the retention of jurisdiction provisions of the Plan; and the Court having found that this is a core proceeding pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 157(b)(2); and venue in this District being proper pursuant to 28 U.S.C. §§ 1408 and 1409; and the Court having considered (a) the Motion, (b) Patrick Daugherty's Objection to Motion for Entry of an Order Pursuant to Bankruptcy Rule 9019 and 11 U.S.C. § 363 Approving Settlement with the HMIT Entities and Authorizing Actions Consistent Therewith [Docket No. 4229] (the "Daugherty Objection") filed by Patrick Daugherty, (c) the Preliminary Objection of the Dugaboy Investment Trust to the Motion for Entry of an Order Pursuant to Bankruptcy Rule 9019 and 11 U.S.C. § 363 Approving Settlement with the HMIT Entities [Docket No. 4230] (the "Dugaboy Objection," and together with the Daugherty Objection, the "Objections"), filed by The Dugaboy Investment Trust, (d) the Objection of the Dallas Foundation and Crown Global Life Insurance Ltd. to Motion for Entry of an Order Pursuant to Bankruptcy Rule 9019 and 11 U.S.C. § 363 Approving Settlement with the HMIT Entities and Authorizing Actions Consistent Therewith [Docket No. 4231] (the "Charitable Foundation Objection"), filed by The Dallas Foundation (the "Dallas Foundation") (on behalf of Empower Dallas Foundation ("EDF") and The Okada Family Foundation ("Okada Family"), and Crown Global Life Insurance, Ltd., not individually, but solely in respect of Segregated Accounts 30218 and 30219 ("Crown"), (e) the evidence admitted into the record during the hearing on the Motion on June 25, 2025 (the "Hearing") in support of, and in opposition to, the Motion, including the Court's assessment of the witnesses' credibility, and (f) all arguments heard at the Hearing in connection therewith; and the Court having found that the legal and factual bases set forth in the Motion establish sufficient cause for the relief granted herein; and adequate notice of the Motion having been given; and after due deliberation and good cause appearing therefor,

THE COURT HEREBY FINDS THAT:

1. The Court's findings of fact and conclusions of law set forth on the record at the conclusion of the Hearing are incorporated by reference except as supplemented in this Order, and as may be further supplemented by the Court.

2. Entry into the Settlement Agreement is an appropriate exercise of the Movants' business judgment.

3. The Settlement Agreement is fair, reasonable, and in the best interests of each of the Highland Entities and their creditors and constituents.

4. The Settlement Agreement was negotiated and entered into by the Highland Entities and the HMIT Entities without collusion or fraud, in good faith, and was the product of arm's- length negotiations.

5. The HMIT Entities are not "insiders" or "affiliates" of Highland as those terms are defined in Bankruptcy Code sections 101(31) and 101(2).

6. The HMIT Entities entered into the Settlement Agreement, are acquiring the Transferred Claims and Dugaboy Note in good faith, and have proceeded with all aspects of the Settlement Agreement in good faith, and have received fair value in consideration of their entry into the Settlement Agreement.

7. The Transferred Claims and Dugaboy Note are property of the estate, and the Highland Entities' sale of those assets free and clear of all liens and encumbrances but otherwise subject to the Settlement Agreement is a proper exercise of their business judgment.

NOW, THEREFORE, IT IS ORDERED, ADJUDGED, AND DECREED THAT:

8. The Motion is GRANTED.

9. As stated on the record during the Hearing, The Charitable Foundation Objection is withdrawn with prejudice.

10. All other Objections to the Motion are overruled.

11. The Settlement Agreement attached as Exhibit 1 to the Demo Declaration is approved in all respects pursuant to Rule 9019 of the Federal Rules of Bankruptcy Procedure and section 363(b) of the Bankruptcy Code.

12. HMIT's Class 10 Interest is Allowed in the amount of $336,940,230.58.

13. The HMIT Entities, as good faith purchasers of Estate assets in the Settlement, are entitled to the protections contained in section 363(m) of the Bankruptcy Code.

14. The Highland Entities and their agents are authorized to take any and all actions necessary or desirable to implement the Settlement Agreement without further notice or further Court approval.

15. Notwithstanding anything in the Settlement Agreement to the contrary, none of the Dallas Foundation, EDF, Okada Family, or Crown (collectively, the "Foundation Parties") are or will be included in the definitions of "HMIT Releasors" or "Highland Releasors." For the avoidance of doubt, however, any attempt by the Foundation Parties to assert a Claim against a HMIT Released Party by, through, or under, including derivatively, a Highland Entity, or against a Highland Released Party by, through, or under, including derivatively, a HMIT Entity is barred by this Order and the Settlement Agreement.

16. The Court shall retain jurisdiction to hear and determine all matters arising from or related to the implementation, interpretation, or enforcement of this Order.

J A M E S D O N D E R O, called as a witness, having been duly sworn by a Notary Public, was examined and testified as follows:

EXAMINATION BY

MR. MORRIS:

Q. Good morning, Mr. Dondero.

A. Good morning.

Q. Can you hear me okay?

A. Yes.

Q. Okay.

I'll try to be efficient today. We've done this so many times. So I'm going to skip the ground rules unless there's something of particular concern for you.

Is that okay?

A. That's fine.

Q. Are you ready to proceed?

A. Yes.

Q. The Dugaboy Boy Investment Trust is your family trust, correct?

A. Yes.

Q. And we're going to refer to that entity today as Dugaboy, okay?

A. Yes.

Q. You established Dugaboy; is that correct?
A. Yes.
Q. How did you choose the name?
A. It's the name of an animal in Africa.
Q. Okay.
When did you establish Dugaboy?
A. I don't remember. It's been around for a while, though.
Q. You're the sole beneficiary of Dugaboy during your lifetime, correct?
A. Yes.
Q. And you understand that Dugaboy is controlled by a trustee, correct?
A. I -- it has a trustee. I don't know the exact rights and responsibilities.
Q. Who is the trustee?
A. My sister.
Q. Does anybody have any rights -- withdrawn.
Does anybody -- withdrawn.
To the best of your knowledge, does anybody have the right to make decisions on behalf of Dugaboy other than your sister in her capacity as the trustee?

A. There are no other parties I'm aware of.

Q. So is it fair to say that, to the best of your knowledge, Nancy is the only person authorized to make decisions on behalf of Dugaboy?

A. Yes.

Q. And when did -- withdrawn.

When did Nancy become Dugaboy's trustee?

A. I don't recall. Several years ago.

Q. Is it fair to say she's been the trustee since at least before the Highland bankruptcy was commenced in the fall of 2019?

A. I don't remember.

Q. Do you know how she became Dugaboy's trustee?

A. I don't remember.

Q. Did you appoint Nancy as the trustee of Dugaboy?

A. I -- I believe so. I don't remember, though.

Q. Do you know if you have the ability to remove Nancy as Dugaboy's trustee?

A. I don't know.
Q. Do you have any knowledge as to how Nancy might be removed as Dugaboy's trustee?
A. I don't know.
Q. Okay.
It fair to say that as the trustee, Nancy solely controls Dugaboy?
A. I don't know.
Q. Is there anybody else who you have reason to believe might control Dugaboy other than Nancy?
A. I struggle with the word control. I don't know specs that are within her discretion, or if there's asset managements or other agreements. Like, I don't know.
Q. Do you know if anybody has asset management agreements with Dugaboy?
A. I don't know.
Q. Does any entity owned or control by you have any agreement of any kind with Dugaboy?
A. Don't know.
Q. Do you have any role in the management of Dugaboy's assets?
MR. EDNEY: I'm going to object to the form of the question.

A. I believe there's a large chunk of NexBank stock in Dugaboy. I'm the chairman of NexBank.

Q. Do you know if Nancy receives any advice on how to invest Dugaboy's assets?

A. I don't know.

Q. Have you ever provided any advice to Nancy as to how to manage Dugaboy's assets?

MR. EDNEY: I'm going to object to the form of the question.

A. I don't recall.

Q. You have no memory of ever providing any advice to Nancy as to how Dugaboy should manage its assets; is that right?

A. I can't remember any specifics as I sit here today.

Q. How about generally? Do you ever remember, in general, providing any advice to Nancy as to how Dugaboy should manage its assets?

A. Not as I sit here today.

Q. Do you recall if anybody while you were affiliated with Highland provided any advice to Nancy as to how Dugaboy should manage its assets?

MR. EDNEY: I'm going to object to the form of the question.

A. I don't recall.

Q. You have no memory of anybody at Highland ever providing any advice to Nancy as to how Dugaboy should manage its assets.

Is that your testimony?

MR. EDNEY: I'm going to object to the form of question.

A. I don't recall.

Q. How about NexPoint? Do you know if anybody at NexPoint has ever provided any advice to Nancy as to how Dugaboy should manage its assets?

MR. EDNEY: I'm going to object to the form of the question.

A. I don't recall.

Q. So as you sit here today, you can't think of any time that anybody employed by NexPoint provided advice to Nancy as to how to manage Dugaboy's assets.

Do I have that right?

MR. EDNEY: I object to the form of the question.

A. I don't recall.

Q. How about Skyview? Are you familiar with an entity called Skyview?

A. Yes.

Q. Do you have an understanding as to the business of Skyview?

A. Yes.

Q. What's your understanding of Skyview's business?

A. They provide HR, legal, and accounting services to several -- several of the entities that we manage money for, or several -- various different entities that we have that require those services.

Q. Do you know if Skyview has ever provided any services to Dugaboy?

A. I -- I don't know. I don't know. Logically, they would, but I don't have a specific awareness.

Q. So you have no personal knowledge of anybody at Skyview ever performing any services for the benefit of Dugaboy?

Do I have that right?

MR. EDNEY: I'm going to object to the form of that question.

A. Oh, I have awareness. But like I said, it would be logical that they provided some accounting or HR or tax services for Dugaboy.

Q. Are you aware of Nancy delegating any authority to act on Dugaboy's behalf to anybody in the world at any time?

MR. EDNEY: I'm going to object to the form of that question.

A. Not that I recall.

Q. Has Nancy ever delegated any authority to you to act on Dugaboy's behalf?

MR. EDNEY: I'm going to object to the form of the question.

A. I don't know.

Q. Okay.

So as you sit here today, you have no memory of Nancy ever delegating any authority to you to act on Dugaboy's behalf?

Do I have that right?

A. I don't know.

Q. Okay.

Do you have any recollection of Nancy ever delegating you to act as Dugaboy's agent for any purpose?

MR. EDNEY: Object to the form of the question.

A. I don't know.

Q. So you have no personal knowledge of Nancy ever appointing you as an agent for Dugaboy?

Is that fair?

A. I don't have specific awareness.

Q. Okay.

A. I don't know. Yeah, and I don't know what happened or how the different roles in how -- who -- yeah, how responsibilities are shifted, or who they're directly part of.

Q. Can you identify anybody who provides professional services for the benefit of Dugaboy today?

MR. EDNEY: Object to the form of the question.

A. I don't know. I didn't -- I wasn't prepared for this as a relevant topic.

Q. You needed to prepare yourself in order to learn who provides professional services to Dugaboy.

Do I have that right?

MR. EDNEY: I'm going to object to the form of the question.

A. I'm not involved in the details, typically.

Q. Okay.

Can you identify any law firm that represents Dugaboy.

A. I believe Stinson represents Dugaboy quite a bit.

Q. Can you name any other law firm that, as you sit here right now, you believe represents Dugaboy for any purpose.

MR. EDNEY: Object to the form of the question.

A. I don't want to -- I don't want -- I'm not a hundred percent certain. I don't want to speculate.

Q. Okay.

I don't want you to speculate either.

But do you have any -- do you have any basis to identify -- other than -- withdrawn. Sorry.

Other than speculation, do you have any basis to identify any other law firm that provides legal services to Dugaboy today?

A. I don't want to speculate.
Q. Okay.
How about accounting? Do you know who provides accounting services to Dugaboy?
MR. EDNEY: I'm going to object to the form of the question.
A. I -- I do not have specific knowledge.
Q. How about asset management advice? Do you have any knowledge as to who provides asset management advice to Dugaboy, if anybody?
MR. EDNEY: Object to the form of the question.
A. I do not.
Q. Does Nancy -- is it your understanding that as the trustee of Dugaboy, Nancy has the power and authority to choose an investment advisor?
MR. EDNEY: I'm going to object to the form of the question.
A. I don't know.
Q. Do you have any understanding as to whether a trustee -- withdrawn.
Have you ever given Nancy any advice on who to use as an asset manager?

A. Not that I recall.
Q. Do you know where Dugaboy's assets are held today? What institution?
MR. EDNEY: Object to the form of the question.
A. I believe different asset -- multiple institutions. Some are held at Raymond James. I know Raymond James holds some.
Q. Can you identify any other institution that you believe holds Dugaboy assets.
A. Not that I recall.
Q. If Nancy decided, is it your understanding that she would have the power and authority to move assets from Raymond James to a different financial institution?
MR. EDNEY: Object to the form of the question.
A. I don't know.
Q. Do you know if you have any rights under the Dugaboy partnership -- Dugaboy trust agreement?
A. I don't know.
Q. Do you have any reason to believe that Nancy needs to obtain your consent to take any act in her capacity as the trustee of the Dugaboy investment trust?

MR. EDNEY: Objection to the form of the question.

A. I don't know.

Q. Do you have any knowledge as to what assets Dugaboy is invested in today?

MR. EDNEY: Objection to the form of the question.

A. It owns some stocks. It owns a large chunk of NexBank. And I believe some assorted real estate investments.

Q. Do you know how Dugaboy came to own a large chunk of NexBank stock?

MR. EDNEY: Objection to the form of the question.

A. As an investor over the years to NexBank.

Q. NexBank advised Nancy to purchase a chunk of its stock.

Is that your understanding?

MR. EDNEY: Objection to the form of the question. Misstates testimony.

A. Yeah, no, that's not true.

Q. I apologize, Mr. Dondero. I may have misunderstood.

I'm trying to figure out if you have any knowledge as to how Dugaboy came to own a large chunk of NexBank stock, the entity in which you are affiliated?

MR. EDNEY: That's not a question, Mr. Morris. Please state one.

BY MR. MORRIS:

Q. Do you know how Nancy came to invest on Dugaboy's behalf a large -- in a large chunk of NexBank stock?

MR. EDNEY: Objection to the form of the question.

A. Dugaboy was an early, if not an original investor, and the interest grew enormously over time.

Q. And you advised her to do that; isn't that right?

MR. EDNEY: Objection to the form of the question.

BY MR. MORRIS:

Q. Withdrawn.

You advised her to invest in NexBank, correct?

MR. EDNEY: Objection to the form of the question.

A. I don't have a recollection of that.

Q. Does Nancy have any investment experience, to the best of your knowledge?

MR. EDNEY: Objection to the form of the question.

A. Yes, she has some.

Q. What's the asset base? Do you know the current value of the Dugaboy asset base today?

MR. EDNEY: Objection to the form of the question.

A. No.

Q. Do you know if it's more than $100 million?

A. Yes.

Q. Is it more than $200 million?

MR. EDNEY: Objection to the form of the question.

A. I believe so.

Q. Do you believe it's more than -- that the assets that Dugaboy has are worth more than $300 million?

MR. EDNEY: Objection to the form of the question.

A. The NexBank stock is worth quite a bit, and that's the primary asset in there. Oh, yes, I believe it's worth more than 300 million.

Q. Is it worth more than 500 million?

MR. EDNEY: Objection to the form of the question.

A. I don't want to speculate beyond 300 million.

Q. That's fair.

Does Dugaboy have any employees?

A. No.

Q. Does Dugaboy have any officers or directors?

MR. EDNEY: Objection to the form of the question.

A. No, not that I'm aware of.

Q. Does Dugaboy have any relationship with any person or entity on a contract basis?

MR. EDNEY: Objection to the form of the question.

A. I would believe so.

Q. Can you identify any.

MR. EDNEY: Objection to the form of the question.

A. No.
Q. Do you have any reason to believe that Dugaboy ever had an interest in Hunter Mountain Investment Trust?
MR. EDNEY: Objection form of the question.
A. I don't know.
Q. As you sit here today, you have no reason to believe that Dugaboy ever had an interest in the Hunter Mountain Investment Trust?
Is that fair?
MR. EDNEY: Objection to the form of the question.
A. I don't know.
Q. Do you have any reason to believe that Nancy needs to obtain your consent to take any action in your capacity as Dugaboy's trustee?
MR. EDNEY: Objection to the form of the question.
A. I don't know.
Q. Do you have any reason to believe that Nancy needs to obtain anyone's consent to take any action in her capacity as Dugaboy's trustee?

MR. EDNEY: Objection to the form of the question.

A. I don't know.

Q. Do you control Dugaboy in any way?

A. (Inaudible.)

Q. I'm sorry. Your voice faded, at least in my side.

A. I said I don't know.

Q. Thank you very much.

Are you authorized to make any decisions on Dugaboy's behalf?

MR. EDNEY: Objection to the form of the question.

BY MR. MORRIS:

Q. Withdrawn.

Do you know if you're authorized to make any decision on Dugaboy's behalf?

MR. EDNEY: Objection to the form of the question.

A. I don't know.

Q. Have you ever made any decision on Dugaboy's behalf?

MR. EDNEY: Objection to the form of the question.

A. It's a very static portfolio. I can't remember the last time anything has moved in and out of it. I don't know.

Q. Well, Dugaboy does more than invest; isn't that right?

A. I don't know.

Q. Dugaboy is a litigant, isn't it?

A. Yes.

Q. Dugaboy has litigated against Highland for a long time, right?

A. I guess.

Q. And who makes decisions on Dugaboy's behalf with respect to litigation, to the extent that you know?

MR. EDNEY: Objection to the form of the question.

A. I don't know.

Q. Have you ever made any decisions on of Dugaboy's behalf with respect to any aspect of litigation brought against Highland?

MR. EDNEY: Objection to the form of the question.

A. I don't know.

Q. You don't know, as you sit here right now, whether you have ever made a decision on Dugaboy's behalf with respect to any litigation brought against Highland?

Do I have that right?

MR. EDNEY: Objection to the form of the question.

A. I struggle with the word decision. I don't know where my authority begins and ends. I didn't prepare on that, Dugaboy documents.

And I don't know where the decisionmaking process begins and ends with myself, the trustee, the lawyers, the in-house lawyers, et cetera. I don't know.

Q. Well, does anybody seek Dugaboy's consent before filing papers on Dugaboy's behalf?

MR. EDNEY: Objection of the form of the question.

A. I don't know.

Q. You think -- do you have any reason to believe that Stinson files papers on Dugaboy's behalf without obtaining its client's consent?

MR. EDNEY: Objection to the form of the question.

A. I assume everybody is operating properly and compliantly. I don't know, and I don't want to speculate otherwise.

Q. To the best of your knowledge, who is authorized to give instruction on Dugaboy's behalf with respect to litigation filings?

A. I don't know.

Q. Have you ever authorized a lawyer at any time to file papers on Dugaboy's behalf?

MR. EDNEY: Objection to the form of the question.

A. I don't recall.

Q. Are you aware of Nancy ever authorizing a law firm to file papers on Dugaboy's behalf against Highland?

MR. EDNEY: Objection to this form of the question.

A. I don't know.

Can we take a break.

Q. No.

Can we just -- I want to finish this line of questioning.

A. Finish it.

Q. I will do the best that I can.

Are you authorized to act on Dugaboy's behalf with respect to this litigation?

MR. EDNEY: Objection to the form of the question.

A. I don't know.

Q. Did Nancy designate you to act on Dugaboy's behalf with respect to any aspect concerning the settlement between the HMIT entities and the Highland entities?

MR. EDNEY: Objection to form.

A. I don't know. Not that I'm aware of.

Q. Did you ever discuss -- withdrawn.

Are you aware that Dugaboy made a motion to vacate the order that was entered last June by the bankruptcy court approving the settlement between the HMIT entities and the Highland entities?

A. Generally. I don't know if that's what it's called. But generally, yes.

Q. What's your understanding of the nature of the motion that Dugaboy filed?

A. It was to unwind the 9019 settlement.

Q. And do you know who authorized the filing of the motion to undo the 9019 settlement on Dugaboy's behalf?

MR. EDNEY: Objection to the form of the question.

A. I do not.

Q. Did you authorize any lawyer to file the motion to undo the 9019 order on Dugaboy's behalf?

A. I don't know. I'm willing to be educated. But I don't know.

Q. I'm -- I can't educate you. These are facts in your head.

MR. MORRIS: Why don't we take that break now, sir. It's 9:03, or I guess 11:03 where you are. Let's come back by 9:15 or 11:15.

And, please, consistent with rules, no discussions with counsel about the substance of the deposition.

(Recess is taken.)

BY MR. MORRIS:

Q. I apologize. Just a couple more questions on that topic, Mr. Dondero.

Do you know if Nancy designated you to testify today as Dugaboy's agent?

A. The whole process is and proper procedures to have me be agent on this litigation have been done properly based on everybody's role in the Dugaboy trust.

Q. Okay.

I had asked you earlier if you had ever been designated as Dugaboy's agent for any purpose and you said you weren't aware of that.

Are you changing your testimony now after the break?

A. Yes.

Q. And did you speak with your lawyer on this topic during the break?

A. Yes.

Q. And after speaking with your lawyer, you're changing your testimony?

Do I have that right?

A. I -- correct.

Q. Why don't you tell me what the correct testimony is now that you've spoken with your lawyer.

A. That is the correct testimony. I wasn't -- we have many, many different entities, many, many different trustees, many, many different roles of independents and agents. And I'm well aware of the Dugaboy litigation.

But I wasn't aware particularly what process or protocol had been done behind the scenes to be -- for me to be the agent or representative of Dugaboy in this litigation.

But I was assured that everything that needed to be properly done was done.

Q. So you just learned that during the break?

Do I have that right?

A. Yes.

Q. Okay.

And before the break, you were unaware that you had been designated as the agent by Dugaboy for today's deposition?

Do I have that right?

A. I -- the questions you're asking me were regarding process and who approved and who whatever. I wasn't aware of the process and that between internal counsel, external counsel, trustee role, Dugaboy documents, that I was properly made the agent.

And it all has been done. I was assured it's all been done properly, and I am the agent.

Q. And who gave you the assurance that it was done properly?

A. Counsel.

Q. Is that Mr. Edney?

A. Yes.

Q. Did he describe for you what the process was?

A. No.

Q. Did you ask him what's the process?

A. No.

Q. Did you -- did you ask -- you don't care? Is that fair?

You don't care what the process was.

Your lawyer told you on the break that you were the agent and the process was fine and you're good with that.

Is that fair?

A. Yeah, the process is different. It's largely administrative each time. It's different on every structure.

Q. Do you know if there's any written document that reflects the designation of you as Dugaboy for this purpose?

A. I do not.
Q. Do you know if you've been designated by Dugaboy as Dugaboy's agent for any other litigation that concerns Highland?
A. I don't know.
Q. Should we take another break so you can ask Mr. Edney?
A. If it's relevant, sure.
Q. I'm just asking you the question.
So you have no knowledge, as you sit here right now, of ever having been designated as Dugaboy's agent for any litigation purpose relating to Highland?
Is that fair?
A. I'm saying we do things properly and compliantly. But it's subject to numerous documentations and hurdles. And it's -- I imagine it's different in every case.
Q. I appreciate that it may be different in every case.
And I'm not asking about process here.
I'm just asking if you know whether you've ever been designated by Dugaboy to act as its agent in connection with any litigation pertaining to Highland other than this deposition?

MR. EDNEY: Objection to the form of the question.

A. I don't know. I don't know, as I sit here.

Q. One moment.

Did -- withdrawn.

I think you said earlier that you're aware that Dugaboy has made a motion to set aside the 9019 settlement; is that right?

A. Yes.

Q. Did you ever read Dugaboy's motion?

A. I don't -- yes, yes. But I haven't reread it recently.

Q. Did you review the motion before it was filed?

A. Yes.

Q. Did you approve the motion before it was filed?

A. Yes.

Q. And did you offer comments to the motion before it was filed?

A. I don't remember, specifically.

Q. Did Isaac Leventon play in role in preparing the motion?

MR. EDNEY: Objection to the form of the question.

A. I don't know.

Q. Did anybody from Skyview play any role in connection with preparation of the motion?

A. I don't know.

Q. Did you ever discuss the motion with Nancy?

A. Not specifically.

Q. Did you discuss the motion with Nancy, generally?

A. Yeah, I believe I did, generally. Yes.

Q. What did you discuss with her?

A. Just that Mark Patrick was continuing to be a person off the reservation.

Q. Anything else?

A. That's all I remember.

Q. What did she say, if anything?

A. She had known Mark for a long time. She was disappointed. Disappointed that he was continuing to behave as he was.

Q. Anything else?

A. That's it.
Q. Did you share any documents with Nancy concerning Dugaboy's motion?
A. I did not.
Q. Let's go back to the 9019 motion from last June.
Do you remember that Highland filed a motion for Court approval of the proposed settlement agreement between the HMIT entities and the Highland entities?
A. Yes.
Q. And do you recall that Dugaboy filed an objection to that motion?
A. Yes.
Q. Did you ever discuss that objection with Nancy?
A. Not specifically.
Q. Do you recall any conversation that you ever had with Nancy concerning Dugaboy's objection to Highland's 9019 motion?
MR. EDNEY: Objection to the form of the question.
A. I'll just repeat my general comments.
Q. There's been a big proceeding -- withdrawn.

There's been a proceeding in the Cayman Islands involving the supporting organization.

You're aware of that, right?

A. Yes.

Q. And you submitted a declaration in connection with that proceeding, correct?

A. Yes.

Q. Did you ever discuss the Cayman proceedings with Nancy?

MR. EDNEY: Objection to the form of the question.

A. I mean, just generally. When the Caymans put their piece together, I said it was damming and reflected premeditation on Mark's part.

Q. Anything else?

A. I don't believe anything more specific than that.

Q. Did you give her -- did you ever e-mail or send to her any documents that were filed in the Cayman Island relating to the matters that the supporting organizations were prosecuting?

MR. EDNEY: Objection to the form of the question.

A. I don't believe so.

Q. Do you know if anybody ever provided Nancy any documents that were filed in the Cayman Islands?

MR. EDNEY: Objection to the form of the question.

And I'm going to instruct my client not to answer to the extent any information he has is from communications with counsel.

You can go ahead and answer the question, if you know otherwise.

A. I'm not aware of her being in the workflow or the document flow at all.

Q. And let's go back to the 9019.

Are you aware of her being in the workflow or document flow in connection with that matter?

MR. EDNEY: I'm going to object to the form of the question and issue the same instruction.

And you can go ahead and answer, if you have knowledge outside of communication with counsel.

A. I am not aware.

Q. Are you aware that the supporting organizations filed an action in Texas in July -- on July 1, 2025, against Mark Patrick and others?

A. Yes.

Q. And you submitted a declaration in connection with that, right?

A. Yes.

Q. Did you ever discuss -- can I refer to that proceeding as the Texas -- the Texas proceeding?

A. Yes.

Q. Did you ever have any discussion with Nancy at any time about the Texas proceeding?

A. No, not that I remember at all.

Q. So then is it fair to say, to the best of your recollection, you never provided Nancy with any information concerning the Texas proceeding?

MR. EDNEY: Object to the form of the question and issue the same instruction.

You can answer to the extent it doesn't involve communications with counsel.

A. Yeah, I did not.

Q. Are you aware that Dugaboy contends that the 9019 motion should be set aside based on newly discovered evidence?

A. Yes.

Q. Can you identify the newly discovered evidence for me.

MR. EDNEY: Object to the form of the question.

BY MR. MORRIS:

Q. All right.

Let me ask a new question.

Mr. Dondero, are you aware of any evidence that you learned after July 28, 2025, that pertains to Mark Patrick and allegations of wrongdoing?

MR. EDNEY: I'll object to the form of question.

A. Yes, I believe there were numerous things laid out in the Cayman litigation that we were unaware of.

Q. Okay.

Can you identify any fact that you were unaware of that was laid out in the Cayman litigation.

A. Sure. The value scope appraisal of the assets, the mechanisms by which Mark Patrick defrauded all the charities and moved things around and issued more shares to himself.

And also there was reference to him rushing the process and keeping it secret from the charities, based on a confidential informant.

Q. Anything else?

MR. EDNEY: Object to the form of the question.

A. No. Those are the things off the top of my head at the moment.

Q. Okay.

Did you share any of those things at any time with Nancy?

MR. EDNEY: I'm going to object to the form of the question and issue the same instruction about not providing information when counsel was present.

But if you have any other information, please go ahead and answer the question.

MR. MORRIS: Withdrawn.

BY MR. MORRIS:

Q. Let me ask this question.

Were you ever party to a conversation with Nancy where a lawyer was present concerning Dugaboy's motion to vacate the 9019 proceeding?

A. No.

Q. Okay.

So now, let's go back to the question.

Did you ever discuss with Nancy any of the new information that you just identified?

A. No.

Q. So to the best of your knowledge, as you sit here today, Dugaboy is unaware of any of the newly discovered evidence that you just described, fair?

MR. EDNEY: Objection to the form of the question. Misstates testimony.

BY MR. MORRIS:

Q. You can answer.

A. I think all I'm saying is Nancy is not aware of the details.

Q. Okay.

In fact, she's not aware of any of the newly discovered evidence that you just described for me, to the best of your knowledge, correct?

MR. EDNEY: Objection to the form of the question.

A. To the best of my knowledge.

Q. Thank you very much.

A. There was one more thing from the Caymans that was highlighted and egregious. It was regarding the expense earned. The -- I believe it was 28 or 29 lawyers at law firms that had become 30 law firms, and then the tens of millions of compensation to Mark Patrick.

Q. Okay.

So you -- you're telling me that you learned after July 28th about compensation issues?

A. Yes, yes. Sort of in that -- yes. In that period after mid July, whenever the Cayman complaint was made public.

Q. Okay.

Mr. Dondero, the Cayman complaint you're referring to, is that the writ and summons that the joint official liquidators filed in the Cayman Islands on or about July 15, 2025?

A. Yes.

Q. And it's that document that you're saying contains the information that you learned about Mark Patrick's compensation?

Do I have that right?

MR. EDNEY: Objection to the form of the question.

A. Yeah, I believe that's the extent, or I believe that's when we learned most of it. I think we learned more recently. But that was the -- that was the first knowledge of the excessiveness.

Q. What was the July 15th joint official liquidator writ; is that right?

A. Yes, that's the document we're talking about.

Q. Okay.

And how about the hiring of the law firms?

I think you said there were 28 or 30 law firms.

Did I hear that correctly?

A. Yes.

Q. When did you first learn that he had hired 28 or 30 law firms?

MR. EDNEY: Objection to the form of the question.

A. In that Cayman writ was when we found out about 28. I think he added two or three more since then. Maybe a couple more criminal attorneys.

Q. So the compensation information and the law firms came from the writ.

Do I have that right?

MR. EDNEY: Objection to the form of the question.

A. Yes.

Q. You mentioned value scope.

Did I hear that correctly?

A. Yes.

Q. You were aware before there was a Highland 9019 motion that Mark Patrick had sold Hunter Mountain for about a million dollars; isn't that right?

MR. EDNEY: Objection to the form of the question.

A. Yes, I believe so.
Q. Okay.
So does the value scope appraisal relate to that sale, to the sale of Hunter Mountain?
MR. EDNEY: Objection to the form of the question.
A. The value scope appraisal, I believe, pertained to the 135 million in cash and 135 million of other assets that were on the balance sheets of the charities.
Q. And do you know when that appraisal was issued?
A. I -- again, we found out about it, that that was the justification for his testimony of the charities have nothing. They'll get nothing.
And his basis for removing all of their assets was that value scope appraisal or contrivance. Whatever you want to call it.
Q. Was the value scope appraisal an appraisal of Hunter Mountain?
A. I don't believe so.
Q. Do you know what the value scope appraised?

A. I don't know when their appraisal was done, if it would have included Hunter Mountain on the balance sheet at the time.

I don't know when the value scope appraisal was done, if it was done before or after the transfer. I don't know if it included it or not.

Q. Do you recall when you first learned about the value scope appraisal?

A. The value scope appraisal was something we found out about in the Cayman writ.

Q. Okay.

So -- so to the best of your knowledge, the value scope appraisal is addressed within the July 15, 2025, writ that the JOLs filed in the Cayman Islands; is that right?

MR. EDNEY: Objection to the form of the question.

A. I'm sorry. Can you repeat the question, just to...

Q. Sure.

The value -- to the best of your memory, the value scope -- withdrawn.

To the best of your recollection, you learned about the value scope appraisal because it was discussed in the July 15, 2025, writ that the JOLs filed in the Cayman Islands; is that correct?

MR. EDNEY: Objection to the form of the question.

A. My recollection is we knew he had contrived the million and a half as the kiss-off money for the charity, so to speak. But we didn't know the basis for it.

And I think that basis for it being a value scope appraisal or a contrivance or whatever was made known to us in the writ.

Q. Okay.

How did you learn of the writ?

A. We learned of it right around when it was filed. I'm not sure we even got a copy of it until a few days afterwards.

Q. Would it refresh your recollection to -- to tell you that the writ was filed in the Cayman Islands on July 15th, and Dugaboy attached it to its motion for a stay of the 9019 order two days later on July 17th?

A. Okay.

Q. So I'm asking you if you recall how you first -- withdrawn.

Did you ever see a copy of the writ?

A. Yes.

Q. Did you see a copy of the writ before Dugaboy filed its motion for a stay on July 17th?

MR. EDNEY: Objection to the form of the question.

A. Yes.

Q. How did you obtain a copy of the writ?

A. As soon as we got it and as soon as someone read it, it was -- you know, it was -- it was immediately -- it was considered unbelievable and sensational. And it was immediately brought to me.

Q. Okay.

You're aware that the supporting organizations sit on the liquidation committee of the DAF HoldCo entity in the Cayman Islands, right?

A. Yes.

Q. And you are a principal officer of the Highland Dallas Foundation, the Highland Kansas City Foundation, and the Highland Santa Barbara Foundation, correct?

MR. EDNEY: Objection to the form of the question.

A. I'm one of the board members of those entities, yes.

Q. And you're also designated as the principal officer, correct?

MR. EDNEY: Objection to the form of the question.

A. I don't know that.

Q. Okay.

MR. MORRIS: Can I please ask that the court reporter put up Tab 2. Which we'll mark as Exhibit 1.

(Dondero Exhibit 1, Form 990, marked for identification.)

MR. MORRIS: And if we could scroll down just a little bit.

BY MR. MORRIS:

Q. So this is Exhibit 1, Mr. Dondero.

MR. MORRIS: And if you could stop right there.

BY MR. MORRIS:

Q. Do you know what a Form 990 is?

A. No.
Q. Do you see this document that is called a return of organization exempt from income tax?
A. Yes.
Q. Have you ever signed such a form?
A. I don't know.
Q. If I told you that we obtained this document from the IR -- from publicly available information, would that surprise you?
A. No.
Q. Do you see that this Form 990 was filed by the Highland Dallas Foundation Inc.?
A. Does it matter that I can't see it or...
MR. EDNEY: No, no, if you need to...
BY MR. MORRIS:
Q. In box C.
A. Okay.
MR. EDNEY: Can you see it from there or do you need to get up?
THE WITNESS: I'm going to get closer to the screen.
(Document review.)

A. Highland Dallas Foundation Inc.

Q. That's an entity that you formed, correct?

A. That was an entity that was formed as part of the DAF structure.

MR. EDNEY: Jim, why don't you come back to your seat.

MR. MORRIS: Mike, can we get a laptop in front of him.

MR. EDNEY: Yeah. Yes, sir.

BY MR. MORRIS:

Q. Mr. Dondero, can you see in box F that you are named as the principal officer of the Highland Dallas Foundation?

A. Yes, I saw that when I was up there.

Q. Okay.

And your address and the Highland Dallas Foundation address is the same, correct?

MR. EDNEY: Jim, I can read it.

It says 2101 Cedar Springs, Suite 1200, Dallas, Texas 75201.

A. That's not our address here, though, right.

That's at the Dallas foundation, I assume?

Q. Mr. Dondero, can you put yourself in a position where you can be seen on the screen and see the exhibits as we're putting them up.

A. They're getting a laptop as we speak.

Q. Are you aware that you are the -- you were designated on Form 990 as the principal officer of the Highland Dallas Foundation?

A. I -- I was not.

Q. So as you sit here right now, you're learning for the first time that you've been designated by the Highland Dallas Foundation as its principal officer?

A. I knew I was on the board. I did not know I was a principal officer.

Q. Did you know you signed tax returns on that entity's behalf?

A. I did not, specifically. I signed -- I signed a couple thousand tax returns every year.

MR. MORRIS: Can we scroll down to the next Form 990.

Keep going. Keep going.

Stop right there.

BY MR. MORRIS:

Q. You're also the president; is that right.

Do you see that, sir?

A. Yes, I see that.

Q. Were you aware until this moment that you're the president of the Highland Dallas Foundation?

A. I was not.

Q. You're not aware of that?

A. I was not.

Q. Okay.

(Document review.)

MR. MORRIS: Let's keep scrolling.

Keep going.

Okay. Stop right there.

BY MR. MORRIS:

Q. Do you see the page we're on now is the first page of the 2004 Form 990 for the Highland Kansas City Foundation?

THE WITNESS: Thank you, sir. I've got a laptop now.

MR. MORRIS: Excellent.

MR. EDNEY: You can't manipulate it. They have to move it.

THE WITNESS: Oh, okay.

MR. EDNEY: So just read what they show you.

BY MR. MORRIS:

Q. Do you have the first page of the 2024 Form 990 in front of you?

A. I do. It looks similar to the other one.

Q. Okay.

And do you understand today that you were designated as the principal officer of the Highland Kansas City Foundation?

A. Yes.

Q. Did you know that before today?

A. I did not.

MR. MORRIS: Can we scroll down, please.

BY MR. MORRIS:

Q. Do you have any reason to believe that you're not the principal officer of both the Highland Dallas Foundation and the Highland Kansas City Foundation?

MR. EDNEY: Objection to the form of the question.

A. I do not, no.

MR. MORRIS: Stop right there, please.

BY MR. MORRIS:

Q. Do you see that you are designated as both the president and the director of the Highland Kansas City Foundation?

A. Yes.

Q. Are you learning that for the first time today?

A. Yes.

Q. Okay.

MR. MORRIS: Let's keep scrolling down until we get to the last of the 990s.

(Document review.)

BY MR. MORRIS:

Q. Great.

Do you see this is the Form 2024 Form 990 for the Highland Santa Barbara Foundation?

A. Yes.

Q. And do you see that you're designated as the principal officer for that entity?

A. Yes.

Q. Are you learning that for the first time today?

A. Yes.

Q. Okay.

And let's go down and just confirm that he's also the president of this entity.

Right there.

Do you see you've been designated as both the director and the president of the Highland Santa Barbara Foundation?

A. Yes.

Q. Are you learning that for the first time today?

A. Yes.

MR. MORRIS: You can take that down.

BY MR. MORRIS:

Q. So -- so these three entities, the Highland Dallas Foundation, the Highland Santa Barbara Foundation, and the Highland Kansas City Foundation, I'm going to refer to those collectively as the supporting organizations.

Is that is that okay?

A. Yes.

Q. You're aware that the supporting organizations were members of the liquidation committee of the entity that's in liquidation in the Cayman Islands, correct?

A. Yes.

Q. Do you know when they were appointed?

A. By the Court or...

Q. When they were appointed to the liquidation committee?

A. I think by the Court sometime in April or May.

Q. Okay.

So members of the supporting organization -- who from the supporting organization represented those entities on the liquidation committee, if you know?

A. I believe they are represented by Maples.

Q. Okay.

So Maples is the law firm.

And who -- who from each of the Highland Dallas, Kansas City, and Santa Barbara, like what are the people that sat on the committee to represent those supporting organizations?

MR. EDNEY: Objection to the form of the question.

A. I don't know if the president of each organization or their CFO was sitting on it.

They were represented by counsel at Holland & Knight that did most of the interaction with the Maples law firm and the advisory firm.

Q. And in your capacity as the principal officer, director, and president of each of the supporting organizations, did you receive reports from time to time as to the liquidation's doings?

MR. EDNEY: Objection to the form.

A. No, zero, for a few reasons.

Q. Do you know if the liquidation committee had an opportunity to review the writ before it was filed?

MR. EDNEY: Objection to form.

A. I do not know.

Q. Do you know if the liquidation committee authorized the joint official liquidators to file the writ?

MR. EDNEY: Objection to form.

A. I know they authorized them to put the entity in liquidation and move as quickly as possible. I don't know what specific authority they gave.

Q. Were you informed prior to July 15th that the JOLs were preparing a writ?

A. No, it was a surprised -- surprise to all of us.

Q. Okay.

So you learned that it's filed on the 15th and your testimony is that within 48 hours, Dugaboy prepared and filed a motion to stay the implementation of the 9019 order, correct?

MR. EDNEY: Objection to form.

A. There was urgency around the criminal activity, correct. Yes.

Q. Okay.

MR. MORRIS: I move to strike the reference to criminal activity. I didn't ask about that.

BY MR. MORRIS:

Q. I'm just asking about your knowledge, sir.

To the best of your knowledge, Dugaboy obtained a copy of the order that was -- withdrawn.

To the best of your knowledge, Dugaboy obtained a copy of the JOLs' writ that was filed in the Cayman Islands on July 15th and attached it to its motion for stay of the 9019 order two days later; is that right?

MR. EDNEY: Objection to form.

A. We handled it with proper urgency. If those are the exact dates, I'm not disagreeing.

Q. Did you have any discussion with Nancy about whether to file a motion for a stay?

A. No.

Q. Do you know who authorized the filing of the motion for a stay on Dugaboy's behalf?

A. You mean, which law firm or which...

Q. No.

Who -- who gave instructions on Dugaboy's behalf to file the motion for a stay?

A. If I was -- it's probably my signature, if I was operating as an agent on it from the beginning, I guess.

Q. And that's just a guess; isn't that right?

A. No, that's probably correct.

Q. So you were acting as -- I'm going to ask you again. This is about the fourth time I'm asking you the question.

Tell me every single time you know of that you were designated as Dugaboy's agent to prosecute litigation with respect to Highland.

MR. EDNEY: Objection to the form of the question.

A. I believe that's largely been my role. And it was handled properly, process-wise, between internal counsel, external counsel, Nancy in her role as trustee, and mine as beneficiary until my death of the trust.

Q. Who told you you were Dugaboy's agent for purposes of filing the motion for a stay?

MR. EDNEY: Objection to the form of the question.

A. Who told me? It seems like I've been in that role for quite a while.

Q. Who put you in that role?

A. The proper process between Nancy, as an uninvolved trustee, and me, as the benefactor and grantor and beneficiary of the trust, and whatever other process or protocols needed to be followed.

Q. Can you describe for me the process or protocols that were followed.

A. No. It would've all been proper legal work.

Q. Can you describe for me the proper legal work.

A. No.

Q. Can you tell me when you were appointed Dugaboy's agent for these purposes.

A. It appears that I have been that for quite some time.

Q. What makes you think -- what makes that apparent?

MR. EDNEY: Objection to the form of the question.

A. It's not apparent. My sister is not involved in the details. There's various internal and external counsel involved.

But it sounds like, to the extent that anybody speaks for the trusts, it's me, as agent.

Q. When you say she's not involved in the details, did she have any involvement whatsoever, to the best of your knowledge, with respect to the preparation and filing of the motion to vacate the 9019 order?

MR. EDNEY: Objection to the form of the question.

A. She had no involvement or awareness that I'm aware of.

Q. Okay.

So you acted on Dugaboy's behalf.

Do I have that right?

A. Yes.

Q. And you didn't seek her consent, correct?

MR. EDNEY: Objection to the form of the question.

A. If it was necessary, I'm sure it was properly done by our extensive legal and compliance team.

Q. Okay. I move to strike.

I'm asking you for your memory, sir.

MR. EDNEY: I object to the motion to strike.

A. That is my -- that is my memory.

Q. Do you have a specific recollection --

A. No.

(Multiple speakers.)

Q. -- again -- let me finish the question. I appreciate that.

Do you have a specific recollection of your seeking Nancy's consent before authorizing the filing of the motion to vacate?

MR. EDNEY: Objection to the form of the question. Asked and answered.

A. No.

Q. Do you have any recollection of seeking or obtaining Nancy's consent before filing the objection to the 9019 motion last June?

MR. EDNEY: Objection to the form of the question.

A. My recollection -- my understanding is the agency, so to speak, or my agency was in place properly, as administered by the law firms and compliance.

Q. What law firms administered the agency agreement that you're referring to?

MR. EDNEY: Objection to the form of the question.

A. I don't -- I don't know. I don't know if it was a formal agreement or an internal agreement. I don't know.

Q. Can you describe anything about the agreement.

A. No.

Q. Can you describe the subject matter of the agreement.

A. Not beyond power for legal agency.

Q. What's the power for legal agency?

A. Act on behalf of Dugaboy in -- properly in legal matters.

Q. You said a couple of times that it was properly done.

What's your basis for telling me that it was properly done?

A. We run a highly compliant organization. We have lots of people in compliance. We have a lots of internal lawyers and external lawyers. They handle this stuff in due course, and they handle it well.

Q. Can you identify the people who were involved in the process of granting you agency from Dugaboy with respect to these litigation matters.

A. No.

MR. MORRIS: Can we mark as Exhibit 2, Tab 13.

(Dondero Exhibit 2, Objection to the 9019 Motion, marked for identification.)

MR. MORRIS: And while we're putting that up, I'm going to put up now, Mr. Dondero, Dugaboy's objection to the 9019 motion. Okay.

BY MR. MORRIS:

Q. We can scroll through as much of this document as you want. I'm not going to ask you any particular questions.

Let me just start with the first one, which is: Do you recall that Dugaboy filed an objection to the 9019 motion?

A. Yes.

Q. Do you know who -- who authorized Hunton Andrews Kurth to file this document on Dugaboy's behalf?

A. Probably me.

Q. Did you review it before it was filed?

A. Yes.

Q. Did you discuss it with Nancy before it was filed?

A. I do not believe so.

Q. Did you seek Nancy's consent or approval before authorizing the filing of this document?

MR. EDNEY: Objection to the form of the question.

A. Not that I recall. But I don't know in the background if it was done as part of the process. But I don't have knowledge of that either.

Q. Okay.

So is it fair to say that, to the best of your knowledge, Nancy's consent or approval was not sought or obtained before this document was filed?

MR. EDNEY: Objection to the form of the question.

A. I'm saying I don't know.

Q. Yeah, that's all.

So you lack knowledge, correct?

A. I lack knowledge.

I mean, we can scroll to the end. It could be signed by me. It could be signed by her. I don't know. But it'll be -- it will have been done in a compliant way.

Q. Yeah.

It's just signed by a lawyer.

A. Okay.

Q. Do you see that?

A. Yes.

Q. Were you familiar with this objection before it was filed?

A. Yes.

Q. Do you understand that Dugaboy did not object to the 9019 settlement on the grounds that Mark Patrick lacked authority to enter into the agreement on behalf of the HMIT entities?

MR. EDNEY: Objection to the form of the question.

And I would instruct you not to answer with respect to any information you learned from counsel with respect to this particular matter.

If you have other knowledge, you can go ahead and answer the question.

A. Yeah, I don't know.

Q. You don't recall that Dugaboy did not object to the 9019 settlement on the grounds that Mark Patrick lacked authority to enter into the agreement on behalf of the HMIT entities?

MR. EDNEY: Objection. Asked and answered.

A. I don't know.

Q. Well, as the person who was acting as the agent for Dugaboy, did you give any instruction as to -- as to whether or not Mark Patrick's authority should be addressed in the objection?

MR. EDNEY: I'm going to object to that question and instruct him not to answer, as it calls for attorney-client privileged communication.

MR. MORRIS: Fine.

BY MR. MORRIS:

Q. Mr. Dondero, you said you reviewed this document before you authorized it to be filed, correct?

A. Yes.

Q. And before authorizing to be filed, did you believe that it stated all of the bases for objecting to the 9019 motion that Dugaboy wanted to assert?

MR. EDNEY: Objection to the form of the question.

A. Yeah, I don't know.

Q. You wouldn't have authorized this to be filed if you thought it was missing important objections, would you?

MR. EDNEY: Objection to the form of the question.

BY MR. MORRIS:

Q. You can answer.

A. I rely on counsel regarding tactics and items that highlight and items they wait to highlight.

Q. Great.

So in reliance on counsel, and based on your knowledge and experience, you believed at the time you authorized this to be filed, that it contained all of the objections that Dugaboy wanted to assert, correct?

MR. EDNEY: I'm going to object that question and instruct my client not to answer because it calls for attorney-client privileged communication.

MR. MORRIS: It doesn't.

I'm asking him for his --

(Multiple speakers.)

MR. EDNEY: I'm sorry you feel that way.

My instruction not to answer stands.

MR. MORRIS: All right. I'm going to try again.

BY MR. MORRIS:

Q. Mr. Dondero, when this was filed, you believe that it included all of the objections that Dugaboy should be asserting to the 9019 motion, correct?

MR. EDNEY: I'm going to object to the form of the question.

MR. MORRIS: You can answer that one.

A. I don't know. And I don't want to make a legal conclusion.

Q. So as the agent for Dugaboy, is it possible that you authorized the filing of an objection that didn't include material objections that you now believe should have been asserted?

MR. EDNEY: I'm objecting to the form of that question.

A. Sure.
Q. Yes? The answer to that is yes?
A. It's possible.
Q. All right.
You're aware that the Dallas Foundation and an entity called Crown Global Life Insurance Company jointly filed an objection to the proposed settlement between the Highland and the HMIT entities, correct?
A. Yes.
Q. And we're going to refer to Crown Global Life Insurance Limited as Crown Global, okay?
A. Yes.
Q. And we'll refer to the joint objection that was filed by the Dallas Foundation and Crown Global as the Dallas Foundation objection, okay?
A. Yes.
Q. What is the Dallas Foundation, if you know?
A. That's the primary charity, the umbrella charity above Highland Dallas.
Q. Do you play any role with respect to the Dallas Foundation?

A. Not that I'm aware of.
Q. Are you aware that the Dallas Foundation objection was filed on behalf of entities called Empower Dallas Foundation and the Okada Family Foundation?
A. Yes.
Q. Do you know what Empower Dallas Foundation is?
A. I believe it's a subsidiary charity of which I was the donor.
And the other one that you mentioned, Mark Okada's, was a subsidiary charity for assets he was -- charitable assets he was the donor of.
Q. Okay.
Do you know when they were formed?
A. I do not.
MR. MORRIS: Let's put up Tab 1. We'll call it Exhibit 3.
(Dondero Exhibit 3, Organizational Chart, marked for identification.)
MR. MORRIS: Which is an organizational chart.
BY MR. MORRIS:
Q. Can you see that, sir?

A. Yes.
Q. Have you seen this before?
A. If I have, not in a long time.
Q. Okay.
Take as much time as you want to review it.
But my first question is whether this organizational chart reflects your understanding of the organization of the entities depicted therein for the period of time August 2022 through February 12, 2025?
(Document review.)
A. Okay. I see it.
What's the question?
Q. The question is whether you have any -- any knowledge that any aspect of this organizational chart is inaccurate for the period of time reflected in the upper left-hand corner?
MR. EDNEY: Objection to the form of the question.
A. I do not have specific knowledge either way.
Q. On the bottom, you see Hunter Mountain Investment Trust.

Do you see that?

A. Yes.

Q. Okay.

I'm going to refer to that as HMIT.

Is that okay?

A. Sure.

Q. You're aware that on Highland's petition date in October 2019, HMIT owned 99.5 percent of the limited partnership interest in Highland Capital Management LP, right?

A. Yes.

Q. We'll refer to Highland Capital Management LP as Highland, okay?

A. Yes.

Q. And on -- on the petition date, other entities, including Dugaboy, collectively owned the other one-half of one percent of the limited partnership interest of Highland, correct?

A. Yes.

Q. And those entities were subordinated to HMIT under the limited partnership agreement, correct?

MR. EDNEY: Objection to the form of the question.

A. What was that last -- subordinate?

Q. Yeah.

There were different classes of partnership interests under the -- under the then-effective limited partnership agreement of Highland, right?

MR. EDNEY: I object to the form of the question.

A. I don't know what you're asking. I'm sorry.

Q. Do you recall that under the limited partnership agreement, there were -- there were different classes of limited partnership interests?

A. Different classes, meaning what? Different entities or...

Q. Okay.

Do you remember that there was a class A, a class B, and a class C?

A. No.

Q. Do you remember that HMIT held the class B and class C limited partnership interest, and the other one-half of one percent held the class A limited partnership interest?

A. Okay. No, I don't remember that.
Q. Okay.
But you do know that Mark Patrick was the control person of HMIT during the period of time depicted in the upper left-hand corner.
Is that fair?
MR. EDNEY: Objection to the form of the question.
A. I don't want to comment generally on his authority. Because there are things that void his authority, too.
Q. Did any of those things occur before -- well, has anybody ever voided his authority?
MR. EDNEY: Objection to the form of the question.
A. I think his authority automatically voids.
Q. So is it your testimony that you do not believe Mark Patrick controls Hunter Mountain today?
A. Correct.
Q. When did he lose the authority to manage Hunter Mountain?
A. I think it was automatic, when he went from being a normal trustee type administrator for the best interest of the charities, when he shifted to self-interest and contrived transactions, embezzlement, everything else, which I think rolls all the way back to '23 or '24.

I think he automatically lost authority then.

Q. Who acts on behalf of Hunter Mountain today, to the best of your knowledge?

MR. EDNEY: Objection to the form of the question.

A. It's not him. It should be -- it should be the underlying charities.

Q. Okay.

I'm not asking who it should be, sir. I'm asking you a very simple question.

To the best of your knowledge, can you identify the person that acts on behalf of HMIT today?

MR. EDNEY: Objection to the form of the question.

A. I believe he's commandeered it, and he's inappropriately tried to commandeer it.

But I believe he was automatically eliminated from that role.

Q. Okay.

Please listen carefully to my question.

Can you identify the person who controls Hunter Mountain today.

MR. EDNEY: Objection to the form of the question. Asked and answered.

A. I have asked and answered it.

Q. Sir, has anybody ever asked a Court to remove Mark Patrick as the control person of Hunter Mountain Investment Trust?

MR. EDNEY: Objection to the form of question.

A. I understand the documentation would be automatic. Not necessarily requiring that.

If it needs to be ratified, I don't know what the process is for that.

Q. Okay.

I'm going to move to strike.

And I'm going to ask you to listen carefully to my question.

MR. EDNEY: I'm going to object to your motion strike.

MR. MORRIS: Great.

BY MR. MORRIS:

Q. Do you know if anybody has ever asked a Court to remove Mark Patrick as the duly authorized representative of HMIT?

MR. EDNEY: Objection.

A. Not as I sit here today.

Q. Do you know why nobody has ever sought to remove Mark Patrick as the authorized representative of HMIT?

MR. EDNEY: Objection to the form of the question.

A. I believe legal tactics have been to have him removed overall from the entire entity. So I don't -- I believe I'm going to rely on counsel. But I believe the tactics were to have him out entirely, of which I don't want to be a part of that.

Q. In what proceeding has somebody sought to have Mr. Patrick removed entirely?

A. Cayman and Dallas business court. Various regulatory bodies.

Q. What regulatory bodies are you referring to?

A. Texas AG. Missouri AG.

Q. Anything else?

A. No.

Can we break for lunch or...

MR. MORRIS: Sure.

How long would you like, sir?

MR. EDNEY: Well, what works for you? Can we do 45 minutes?

MR. MORRIS: I would prefer less. I would prefer a half an hour. We started late at your request.

(Recess is taken.)

BY MR. MORRIS:

Q. Mr. Dondero, are you ready to proceed?

A. Yes.

Q. Did you have any substantive conversations with your lawyer during the break about this deposition?

A. No.

Q. Earlier I had asked you about evidence that you learned after the hearing on the 9019 settlement.

Do you remember that?

A. Yes.

Q. And you described for me information concerning compensation.

Do you remember that?

A. Yes.

Q. And you told me that you learned that information in the joint official liquidator's writ, correct?

A. Yes.

Q. And the same is true with respect to Mr. Patrick's retention of 25 to 30 law firms.

You learned that in the writ, correct?

A. Yes.

Q. And the same is true with respect to value scope.

You learned in the writ, correct?

A. Yeah. We got a taste for all of it in the writ, yes.

Q. Okay.

I just want to cover the two other items that I think you mentioned, one of which was rushing the process, keeping it secret.

Is that an accurate statement of information that you learned after the June hearing?

A. Yes.

Q. And what --

(Multiple speakers.)

A. After the July -- after the July release of the writ.

Q. Okay.

What do you mean by rushing the process, keeping it secret?

A. There was an e-mail between Mark and one of his attorneys talking about a mole that they had on the other side, indicating that the charities were moving towards liquidation in Cayman and he needed to move fast.

Q. And do you know who the mole was?

A. We have suspicions, but we're working on it.

Q. Who is the suspicion?

MR. EDNEY: I'm going to object to the form of the question.

A. Yeah, I don't want to -- I don't want to accuse or defame anybody until we know for sure.

Q. Okay.

But you learned of this e-mail with the reference to the mole and the concept of rushing the process and keeping it secret in connection with the writ?

MR. EDNEY: Objection to the form of the question.

A. Yes. In general, yes.

Q. And have you been investigating the mole since the writ was filed last July 15, 2025?

MR. EDNEY: Objection to the form of the question.

A. Investigating, compiling evidence in all aspects of the allegations for the last six, seven months, yes.

Q. And then I think the other thing you mentioned was -- and these are just my notes, so I may not have gotten this accurately.

But my notes say: Mechanism: Issued more shares to himself.

Do you know what I'm referring to there?

MR. EDNEY: Objection to the form of the question.

I don't think it's fair to ask Mr. Dondero to interpret your notes.

MR. MORRIS: Okay.

BY MR. MORRIS:

Q. But you can answer, sir.

A. I -- I believe we had some indications that -- that charities have been wiped out for the million six.

We didn't know where that valuation came from. And we didn't know that, as part and parcel of fleecing them out of their assets, he also, in the entities that they had interest in, he issued and diluted their shares enormously on new shares or his own charity or DFW or himself or whatever.

But the mechanisms by which he defrauded the charities weren't known or -- weren't known and the details weren't known until the writ came out.

Q. So that also you learned about with respect to the writ.

Is that fair?

A. Yes.

Q. Okay.

Is there anything that we've missed in terms of information that you learned after the hearing?

MR. EDNEY: Objection to the form of the question.

MR. MORRIS: You can answer.

MR. EDNEY: And I'm going to instruct him not to answer to the extent it calls for any communications with counsel.

MR. MORRIS: Fantastic.

BY MR. MORRIS:

Q. Let me ask the question again, because I definitely want to respect the privilege.

Are you aware of any facts that you learned after the hearing on the 9019 motion that you haven't shared with me already?

MR. EDNEY: Object to the form of the question.

I'm going to instruct the client not to reveal any communications with counsel in his answer.

If he has a nonprivileged source for the information, he may share it.

A. I think how best to be responsive here.

The writ represented allegations. We ran with them as quickly as possible, I believe. As you noted a couple of days later.

But the evidence and the support in the specific e-mails and, you know, the org charts showing the wiping out of assets and the charities, and so that stuff didn't come in for months later. And then it -- well, it all came in through counsel.

But anyway. All right. That's all I have to say on that.

Q. Was it all -- do you know if it was all put before the Court in the Cayman Islands?

A. I -- it -- I think they had an extensive compilation period that -- well, you know, extended through the writ and thereafter. You know, they were aware of the hearings in Jernigan's court and they asked for more time and Jernigan denied it.

So I don't know if that accelerated their timeframe in terms of trying to get something out.

And I don't know how complete their product was and how much of it came later.

Q. Okay.

So I want to ask very specific questions.

You mentioned org charts.

Can you identify any org charts that you obtained after the June hearing.

MR. EDNEY: Object to the form of the question.

A. Not -- not specifically.

Q. Can you identify any specific evidence that you haven't described for me that -- that you learned of after the June hearing on the 9019 hearing.

MR. EDNEY: Object to the form of the question.

A. I mean, I run a big business. I'm not involved in the details. But I know lots of stuff was compiled from things that came out of the Cayman. And not just in July and August, but even recently.

You know, so I -- but I don't have direct awareness or I don't have the flow charts that show how the assets or monies disappeared or whatever.

Q. Let me try and ask this question.

Other than what you have identified so far, you're not able to identify any specific evidence that you learned after the hearing on the 9019 motion.

Is that fair?

MR. EDNEY: Object to the form of the question.

A. Yeah, well, what I'm saying is the allegations that were in the writ were not even -- were not known -- barely suspected in the June hearing. And then the evidence supporting the writ trickled in and came in later.

Q. Great.

What evidence supporting the writ trickled in later?

A. The details, the e-mails, the creating org charts from the entities. All that stuff came in later.

Q. What --

(Multiple speakers.)

A. The writ was -- the writ was allegations. And they were allegations that were suspected but unknown in June.

Q. Okay.

But -- but what evidence supporting the writ trickled in later?

You mentioned e-mails.

Do you know what e-mails you're referring to?

I'm trying to -- I want to see the evidence.

We're here the last business day before the trial. I want to try to understand what evidence you're referring to.

So let me ask the question again.

What e-mails supported the writ that -- can you -- withdrawn. I'm sorry.

Can you identify any e-mails that support the writ that came in after the writ was filed.

MR. EDNEY: Object to the speech and question.

A. I'm going to have to defer to counsel and our pleadings. I assume relevant evidence is presented or will be presented. But I'm -- I'm not the keeper or presenter of the evidence.

Q. Okay.

So you can't describe the evidence.

Is that fair?

MR. EDNEY: Object to the form of the question.

A. I believe I've described it already.

Q. Okay.

But you can't describe it any further than you have.

Is that fair?

A. Correct.

Q. Thank you.

Do you know if the evidence that trickled in after the writ was filed was presented to the Court in the Cayman Islands?

MR. EDNEY: Object to the form of question.

A. I don't know.

Q. Did you take any steps to make sure that the evidence that trickled in after the writ was filed was presented to the Cayman Court?

MR. EDNEY: Object to the form of the question.

A. No. That would not have been my role. The -- the joint liquidators were representing the charities. They had counsel. DFW had objected to my participation.

So I was recused. So I did not oversee, you know, minutiae or evidence or even aware of it.

Q. Do you believe Maples competently represented the joint official liquidators?

MR. EDNEY: Object to the form of question.

A. As far as -- as far as I know. I think there's been fits and starts. But I think they're on a good path now.

Q. Do you have any reason to believe, as you sit here today, that Maples failed to represent all the evidence that supported the writ to the Cayman Court?

MR. EDNEY: Objection to the form of the question.

A. Yeah, I -- I -- when I say there were fits and starts, I think there was one hearing that they lost but then got overturned. And when they lost it, they didn't believe that it was an evidentiary hearing, so they didn't provide as much evidence. But they did on the second hearing and won.

But again, this is all -- I get all of it secondhand. None of it concurrent or realtime. And, you know, none of it directly.

Q. As you sit here today, the entity that's the subject of the proceedings in the Cayman Islands is Charitable DAF HoldCo Limited, correct?

A. I have to lean on my lawyers for that one.

Q. You don't know what entity is the subject of the Cayman proceedings?

A. I believe there's a complex holding company structure and there's a half a dozen entities. And I'm not familiar with the names of which ones are actual defendants.

Q. The evidence that you just described as being newly discovered, is that, in your mind, also evidence of fraudulent conduct by Mr. Patrick?

A. Yes. And it's a continuation of a scheme, I believe, too.

Q. Okay.

Other than the evidence that you've described for me, did you learn of any additional evidence of the -- of fraud committed by Mr. Patrick after -- withdrawn.

I'm sorry. That was bad.

Other than the information that you've shared with me as having been newly discovered, did you learn of any new facts supporting allegations of fraud against Mr. Patrick after the June 9019 hearing?

MR. EDNEY: I'm going to object to the form of that question.

I'm going to instruct the witness not to answer to the extent he has knowledge drawn from communications with his counsel that is privileged.

If he has some other source of that information, he may share it with you.

Go ahead, Jim.

MR. MORRIS: I'm really just asking for facts, Mike. I'm not sure why the objections are necessary. I'm asking only for facts. I'm not asking for anything about communications.

And just because he learns a fact from somebody, it's still a fact.

MR. EDNEY: I mean, listen --

MR. MORRIS: I'll reserve because I don't think that's proper. But...

MR. EDNEY: John, I just want to put you at ease about the nature of my objection.

I mean, Dugaboy has counsel that's investigating this stuff, and, you know, they are reporting to Mr. Dondero in a privileged setting regarding that.

You know, I don't want him revealing the conversations he's had with counsel about it. Yes, he's had access to some documents that aren't privileged. And, you know, I think he's doing his best to recall what is coming from them.

But frankly, those documents and/or time and speak for themselves.

MR. MORRIS: Okay. Mike, I really do appreciate that. And I just want to have clarity on the record, because we're going to have an evidentiary hearing on Monday.

We're going to ask the Court to consider evidence of fraud or newly discovered evidence that wasn't available at a certain point in time.

And I think you're telling me right now that there is some of that evidence but you're not going to share it with me because it's subject to the attorney-client privilege; is that right?

MR. EDNEY: No. I think what I'm telling you is that, you know, he is perfectly fine talking to you about his recollection of reading public documents.

But if you want to find out what evidence that we think is newly discovered, when it came in, and obviously the evidence has a provenance to it that will be documented, you need to look at the pleadings of Dugaboy, right.

I'm not going to let you get behind the -- the work of counsel in investigating this matter.

Look, it would be a different question, sir, if -- if, you know, this was about what Mr. Dondero did, right.

But this hearing coming up is about what others did. And to some extent, what you're getting in our pleadings and what you've got in our papers is what you're seeing in the depositions, is what counsel has done to uncover it.

So it is a tricky privilege situation. I think he's doing the best he can. But as a steward of the privilege, I also need to protect it. So...

MR. MORRIS: And that's fair.

MR. EDNEY: I don't think we're laying a trap for you. I guarantee you that the -- you know, we're going to be very transparent about the evidences that has come out of the Cayman process, and, you know, when it has come out of it and what the source of it is. You know, whether be it the McGinnis affidavits over time, or the allegations in the writ down in the Cayman Islands.

So I just want to be transparent with you about our thinking on that.

It's -- yeah, this is an odd deposition insofar as you're -- you're questioning of derivative knowledge of events that are really happening elsewhere.

MR. MORRIS: All right. I appreciate that, Mike. And I'm going to tell you, I don't think you're being transparent at all. I think you're hiding the ball.

I'm sitting here one business day before the hearing, and I do not know, as I sit here today, what newly discovered evidence you all are relying on.

MR. EDNEY: You'll get our reply brief in a few hours.

MR. MORRIS: I understand. I understand.

I want it to be really clear that you're going to wait until the day before the hearing in your reply brief to describe for the first time what the newly discovered evidence is. And --

(Multiple speakers.)

MR. EDNEY: I mean, I don't agree with you --

MR. MORRIS: I'm glad that we have that on the record. I'm glad --

MR. EDNEY: I don't agree with you that's a standard, and I do think the schedule is a little screwed up. And I brought that to the attention of the Court and you pounded the table and proposed my modifications to the schedule.

So we're in -- you guys want to move this on a railroad, right, you know, we have to deal with the timing performances of the debtor.

MR. MORRIS: Enough, Mike. Enough. Enough. It ain't the schedule.

Let's move on. Okay.

You take that position.

BY MR. MORRIS:

Q. So earlier, Mr. Dondero, you referred to regulatory agencies that are looking into Mr. Patrick's conduct.

Is that fair?

A. Yes.

Q. And you mentioned the Missouri attorney general.

Did I hear that correctly?

A. Yes.

Q. How do you know that the Missouri attorney general is looking into any allegations concerning Mark Patrick?

A. I believe through counsel.

Q. And what did counsel tell you?

MR. EDNEY: Objection. I'm going to instruct my client not to answer.

BY MR. MORRIS:

Q. What is the Missouri attorney general investigating?

A. All the issues we've discussed.

Q. Do you know, did somebody acting on behalf of the supporting organizations file a complaint with the Missouri Attorney General's Office?

MR. EDNEY: Objection. Lack of foundation.

A. I don't know specifics, but I believe there's been outreach.

Q. And who made the outreach, to the best of your knowledge?

A. I don't know, specifically.

Q. Sir, you told me that you believe there's been outreach.

What is your basis for telling me that you believe there's been outreach?

A. Conversations with attorneys.

Q. Do you know who made the outreach, sir?

A. No.

Q. Is it your understanding that investigations by attorneys general are generally private?

MR. EDNEY: Objection to the form of the question.

MR. MORRIS: Withdrawn.

BY MR. MORRIS:

Q. Did Johnny Sutton contact the attorney's general office in Missouri?

MR. EDNEY: Objection to the form of the question.

A. Not that I'm aware of.

Q. Have you ever spoken to Johnny Sutton?

A. Yes.

Q. Johnny Sutton, he used to -- he's in Missouri, right?

A. No, I believe he's in Austin, Texas.

Q. But he was in Missouri, right?

He's affiliated with Mr. Ashcroft, right?

A. I think Johnny Sutton's name and Ashcroft's name are both on the door. But I'm not aware of Johnny's connection to Missouri.

Q. Can you tell me anything about the Missouri attorney general's investigation of Mark Patrick.

A. No. I mean, I do believe some of it is confidential. I think they'll express to professionals whether or not they have a strong interest in their pursuing it.

But you're right, in general, it's confidential and they don't keep you apprised of all of the sausage meat.

Q. When did the investigation begin, to the best of your knowledge?

A. I don't know.

Q. Has -- have the supporting organizations provided information to the attorney general?

MR. EDNEY: Objection to the form of question.

A. Again, well, it's just from conversation with lawyers, but I believe they had been queried, and I think they've been responsive directly through their counsel.

Q. Okay.

So it's your understanding that the supporting organizations, through their counsel, have provided information to the Missouri attorney general.

Do I have that right?

A. I believe both attorney generals.

Q. Okay.

And is the Texas attorney general, like the Missouri attorney general in that you understand that there's been some, quote, reach out?

A. Yes.
Q. Okay.
When did that reach out happen?
A. I think it's been ongoing. I think early -- early after Mark Patrick's departure.
Q. So your understanding is that the Texas attorney general has been investigating these matters since 2023 or 2024?
A. 2025.
Q. Early 2025, correct?
A. Yes. Not '23 or '24.
Q. Okay.
You said after he left, so I was just using that date.
And who reached out to the Texas attorney general with respect to Mr. Patrick?
A. I think it's been various counsel. Various counsel at various times.
Q. Just name the counsel.
THE WITNESS: Is that proper, sir?
MR. EDNEY: Good question.
Let's see if Mr. Morris can lay a foundation that's not privileged.
MR. MORRIS: I've already laid a foundation. And I can't imagine that it's privileged.

If you want to instruct him not to answer, you go ahead. But it's a really simple question.

BY MR. MORRIS:

Q. What law firms contacted the Texas attorney general with respect to Mark Patrick?

MR. EDNEY: If you know whether a law firm has contacted the Texas attorney general, you should answer the question, Jim.

A. Hance Scarborough.

Q. What's the name?

A. Hance Scarborough.

Q. And who do they represent?

A. I believe they represented either -- yeah, me, as grantor. I think myself, as grantor, actually.

THE COURT REPORTER: Can you repeat that firm name.

THE WITNESS: Hance Scarborough.

BY MR. MORRIS:

Q. And that firm represented you in your individual capacity when they contacted the Texas attorney general regarding Mark Patrick; is that right?

A. Yes, they're one of the firms.

Q. Thank you very much, sir.

Can you name any other firms, as you sit here right now.

A. On behalf of the charity, I know Holland & Knight has been in.

Q. Okay.

So --

(Multiple speakers.)

A. Significant numerous contact with them.

Q. So Holland & Knight on behalf of the supporting organizations or the Dallas foundation or both?

A. All three.

Q. All three supporting organizations?

A. Correct.

Q. So let me ask a clean question.

You know that Holland & Knight, on behalf of the supporting organizations, has been in communication with the Texas attorney general regarding Mark Patrick; is that right?

A. Yes.

Q. And it's your understanding that

Holland & Knight initiated those discussions, fair?

MR. EDNEY: Objection. Lack of foundation.

A. I don't know. I don't know how it started.

Q. But you do know that the Hance Scarborough firm, acting on your behalf, initiated their discussions with the attorney general, correct?

MR. EDNEY: Objection. Lack of foundation.

A. Yes. Early on, at our behest.

Q. And you've done that several times in the Highland bankruptcy case, right?

You have filed complaints or initiated communications with government regulatory agencies, right?

A. Yeah, at different times, when we thought there was criminal activity.

Q. Right.

And remember, you had Dugaboy contact the Texas Securities Exchange Commission regarding matters that were the subject of the so-called insider trading case.

Do you remember that?

MR. EDNEY: Objection to your question.

A. They were bona fide insider trades with train tickets and nonpublic information and things that were bona fide criminal activity.

Q. That's what you say.

But you know that the Texas -- the Texas Securities Commission closed their investigation and took no action; isn't that right?

A. I believe that's correct.

Q. Okay.

So you have your view and the Texas Securities Commission has its view.

Is that fair?

A. Okay.

Q. Yup.

And you also initiated the contact with the Texas attorney general that -- that prompted the filing of the letter last July, correct?

MR. EDNEY: Objection to the form of the question.

A. I don't know if those two are connected. But we -- we did reach out to the Texas attorney general in early '25.

Q. And other than filing that letter, the Texas attorney general has taken no action against Mark Patrick.

Is that fair?

MR. EDNEY: Objection to the form of the question.

A. Well, the investigation is private. It's ongoing, as far as we know. But that letter asks for more time. And I believe it was ignored by the Court.

Q. And other than that letter, the Texas attorney general has never made an appearance in the Highland bankruptcy case, correct?

MR. EDNEY: Objection to the form of the question.

A. As far as I know.

Q. Do you recall some of the attorneys that represented your interest earlier included Davor Rukavina and Douglas Draper and Amy Ruhland?

A. Yes.

Q. And do you recall that the three of them sent multiple letters to the U.S. Trustee's Office in Washington, D.C., concerning the Highland bankruptcy case?

A. Yes.

Q. And none of those letters ever caused any action to be taken against Highland; is that right?

MR. EDNEY: Objection to the form of the question.

A. Not yet. Well, not that I'm aware of. Not yet.

Q. And they were filed years ago, right?

They were filed in 2021 and 2022, right?

MR. EDNEY: All right, Mr. Morris.

So listen, you guys have filed all these motions to limit discovery to things that are relevant.

And we have a hearing coming up in just a few hours on --

MR. MORRIS: Stop --

MR. EDNEY: -- (inaudible) -- with Hunter Mountain. So --

(Multiple speakers.)

MR. MORRIS: I didn't file anything.

MR. EDNEY: I mean, I am getting towards end of my latitude about collateral matters.

MR. MORRIS: All right. Great.

MR. EDNEY: If you have a question or two left, great. But you're getting very close to me, you know, redirecting this towards something that might actually be relevant to Monday.

And if you want to take that up with the Court, I think he'll have very low patience for it.

MR. MORRIS: Mike, stop talking.

MR. EDNEY: So wrap it up.

MR. MORRIS: Stop talking. Okay.

MR. EDNEY: No, I'm going to make a record.

MR. MORRIS: This is improper.

MR. EDNEY: You're going to listen to me make a record.

MR. MORRIS: This is improper. Okay.

I didn't file any motion to limit anything. Okay.

BY MR. MORRIS:

Q. Mr. Dondero, this is your MO, isn't it?

You like to file complaints with regulatory agencies and then point to them as evidence that there's investigations and wrongdoing being investigated; isn't that right?

MR. EDNEY: Objection to the form of the question.

BY MR. MORRIS:

Q. This is what you do all the time, isn't it?

MR. EDNEY: Objection to the form of the question.

A. No.

Q. Did somebody acting at your direction contact the U.S. Trustee's Office with respect to this matter?

A. I hope so.

Q. I'm not asking you what you hope.

I'm asking if you know.

A. I hope so. I don't know, specifically.

Q. Who's Mr. Tarasov (phonetic)?
A. He's an attorney.
Q. Has he filed an appearance in this case?
A. I don't know.
Q. Does he represent Dugaboy?
A. Not that I'm aware of.
Q. Do you know who he represents?
A. I do not.
Q. Do you know why he contacted the U.S. Trustee's Office?
A. Maybe there were six U.S. trustee letters that need to be addressed. I don't know.
Q. Do you know who authorized him to contact the U.S. Trustee's Office?
A. Nope.
Q. How about Mr. Sutton? Do you know who he represents?
A. Sutton, I believe, represents Dugaboy.
Q. Really?
A. Or if not Dugaboy, then he represents me, I guess. But one or the other.
Q. So you don't know who he represents;

is that right?

A. I -- I thought it was Dugaboy. But if it's not Dugaboy, then it's me, personally.

Q. Is he going to be at the trial on Monday?

A. I don't know.

Q. All right.

MR. MORRIS: Can we go back to Exhibit 3, please.

BY MR. MORRIS:

Q. All right.

Mr. Patrick became the control person of HMIT in August 2022, correct?

A. I don't know.

Q. He replaced Mr. Honis, right?

A. Yes, he replaced Mr. Honis.

Q. Mr. Honis had been the control person of the HMIT entities prior to Mr. Patrick, correct?

A. Yes.

Q. Who is Mr. Honis?

A. Longtime friend of mine. Board member in our retail mutual funds. Independent board member on our independent retail mutual funds.

Q. Do you know the circumstances by which Mr. Honis gave control of the HMIT entities to Mr. Patrick?

A. I don't know. I don't know specific details.

Q. Did Mr. Honis want to step down as the control person of the HMIT entities?

A. Yeah, I think he was tired of being deposed by you guys, you know.

Q. Okay.

You don't dispute that Mr. Patrick replaced Mr. Honis as HMIT's control person in August 2022, do you?

MR. EDNEY: Objection to the form of the question.

A. I don't know that they -- I would have to rely on counsel for the accuracy of this chart.

Q. I can take the chart down.

Do you need to check with counsel in order to be able to tell me that you're aware that Mr. Patrick replaced Mr. Honis as the control person of the HMIT entities?

A. No, I know he replaced him. I would have to check with counsel if you want me to verify August 22, five years ago.

Q. Okay.

I didn't mean to do that. So let me ask it again.

Are you aware -- you don't dispute that Mr. Patrick replaced Mr. Honis as the control person of the HMIT entities, correct?

A. Correct.

Q. And Mr. Patrick has served as the control person of the HMIT entities on a continuous basis since replacing Mr. Honis.

Is that fair?

A. That's not consistent with my testimony earlier.

Q. Oh, that's because you think what, as a matter of -- withdrawn.

Can you tell me when Mr. -- withdrawn.

Is it your position that Mr. Patrick is not the control person of the HMIT entities today?

A. Correct.

Q. Do you know when he ceased to be the control person of the HMIT entities?

A. When he failed to act properly and for the benefit of -- in a normal trustee role, as soon as he -- the litany of things we've alleged in terms of embezzlement, self-dealing, and whatever, a lot of that stuff started in '23 and '24. And I think as soon as the bad acts began he, was automatically removed.

Q. And who removed him?

A. I didn't take a person. It was just automatic.

Q. Pursuant to what?

A. The document.

Q. And did anybody ever replace him?

A. He wouldn't really step aside, provide books and records, or...

Q. I asked a simple question.

Did anybody replace him?

A. I think, again, because it's automatic, I think it would be once he was automatically out, whoever else was in the chain of ownership. Whether it was Crown or Dallas Foundation or whatever. So I think at that point in time, it automatically moved to somebody else.

Q. So going back to June 2025, you authorized the filing of an objection to the 9019 motion on behalf of Dugaboy, correct?

A. Yes.

Q. And none of what you just testified to is in Dugaboy's objection; is that right?

MR. EDNEY: Objection to the form of the question.

A. I'm not aware of when we were aware. I'm not aware that it's -- the automatic is affected by that or not. I don't want to make legal conclusions or comments.

Q. Well, you just said that he automatically lost his position as the control person in 2023 or 2024, when he stopped acting in the interest of the charities.

Do I have that right?

A. That's how I read the paragraph.

Q. Okay.

So why didn't you, on behalf of Dugaboy, put that in Dugaboy's objection to the 9019 settlement?

MR. EDNEY: Objection to the form of the question.

A. I don't know.

Q. The Dallas Foundation objected to the settlement on the grounds that Mr. Patrick wasn't authorized to act on behalf of the HMIT entities because of his conduct.

Are you aware of that?

A. Yes.

Q. One moment.

And after -- withdrawn.

After the Dallas Foundation filed its objection to the 9019 settlement on the grounds that Mark Patrick engaged in wrongful conduct, they took discovery.

Do you recall that?

A. Not specifically, but yes.

Q. And Dugaboy took discovery as well, right?

A. Yes.

Q. And you were the one who was acting on Dugaboy's behalf, right?

A. Yes.

Q. And you're familiar with the discovery process, aren't you?

A. Yes.

Q. And you understand that the Dallas Foundation and Dugaboy had the right to seek documents from Highland and from the HMIT entities, correct?

A. I believe many requests were made and none were provided.

Q. Are you aware that Dugaboy served document requests on Highland?

A. I'm aware that the charities made numerous, numerous requests for books and records from Mark Patrick. Never received them.

And Mark was, in his deposition, evasive and non-- nonresponsive for most of it.

Q. Okay.

I want to distinguish any request that was made for information outside of the 9019 contested matter from information that was sought and received in the context and within the 9019 contested matter process.

Do you understand that?

A. Yes.

Q. Okay.

And do you understand that Dugaboy served document requests on Highland in the 9019 process?

A. I assume so.

Q. And are you aware that Highland produced over 4,000 pages of documents in response to Dugaboy's request?

A. I'm not aware of specifics, but...

Q. As you sit here today, can you identify -- withdrawn.

As you sit here today, can you identify anything that Dugaboy requested that Highland failed to produce.

MR. EDNEY: Objection to the form of the question.

A. I don't know.

Q. Okay.

You cannot identify anything, as you sit here today, that Highland failed to produce in response to Dugaboy's discovery request.

Is that fair?

MR. EDNEY: Same objection.

A. I don't know. And I wouldn't be the person to answer that.

Q. Do you have any reason to believe that Highland failed to comply with any discovery request made by the Dallas Foundation or Dugaboy?

MR. EDNEY: Same objection.

A. I don't know. And I wouldn't be in a position to know.

Q. Okay.

Do you know if Dugaboy served any discovery request on the HMIT entities?

MR. EDNEY: Objection to the form of the question.

A. I don't know.

Q. So as you sit here today, you have no reason to believe that Dugaboy sought documents from the HMIT entities, right?

MR. EDNEY: Objection to the form of the question.

A. I don't know.

Q. Do you have any reason to believe that the HMIT entities ever failed to provide any documents in response to any request that was made by Dugaboy in connection with the 9019 proceeding?

MR. EDNEY: Objection to the form of the question.

A. I don't know. And I wouldn't be in a position to know.

Q. Okay.

Do you know if the Dallas Foundation served document requests on the HMIT entities?

A. I don't know.

Q. Do you have any reason to believe that the Dallas Foundation ever contended that the HMIT entities failed to comply with any discovery requests that they made?

MR. EDNEY: We lost you there.

Mr. Morris, you cut out in the middle of your last question. Sorry.

MR. MORRIS: Can you hear me now?

MR. EDNEY: Yup, you're back. You froze for ten seconds.

BY MR. MORRIS:

Q. Mr. Dondero, do you have any reason to believe, as you sit here today, that the HMIT entities failed to fully respond to all discovery requests that were made by the Dallas Foundation?

MR. EDNEY: Objection to the form of the question.

A. I don't know. And I wouldn't be in a position to know.

Q. Okay.

I don't know whether you would or you wouldn't be in a position.

But you would agree that, as you sit here today, you have no reason to believe that HMIT failed to comply with any discovery request made by either Dugaboy or the Dallas Foundation, correct?

MR. EDNEY: Objection to the form of the question. Asked and answered.

A. I have no relevant awareness, knowledge, or ability to comment.

Q. Okay.

Are you aware of any motion to compel -- withdrawn.

Do you know what a motion to compel discovery is, right?

A. Yes.

Q. Okay.

Do you know if Dugaboy ever filed a motion to compel discovery against Highland in connection with the 9019 proceeding?

MR. EDNEY: Objection to the form of the question.

A. I don't know.

Q. Do you know if Dugaboy ever filed a motion to compel discovery against the HMIT entities in connection with the 9019 proceeding?

A. I don't know.

Q. Do you know if the Dallas Foundation ever filed a motion to compel discovery against Highland in connection with the 9019 proceeding?

MR. EDNEY: Same objection.

A. I don't know.

Q. Do you know if the Dallas Foundation ever filed a motion to compel discovery against the HMIT entities in connection with the 9019 hearing?

A. (Inaudible.)

THE COURT REPORTER: Can you repeat your answer.

THE WITNESS: I don't know.

BY MR. MORRIS:

Q. To the best of your knowledge, neither Dugaboy nor the Dallas Foundation ever contended before the hearing on the 9019 motion that Highland had failed to comply with any discovery, correct?

MR. EDNEY: Objection to the form of the question.

A. I don't know.

Q. To the best of your knowledge, neither Dugaboy nor the Dallas Foundation ever contended before the 9019 hearing that the HMIT entities failed to comply with their discovery obligations, correct?

A. I don't know.

MR. EDNEY: Objection to the form of the question.

BY MR. MORRIS:

Q. I'm sorry. What was the answer?

A. I don't know.

Q. Okay.

Are you aware of any limitations that were placed on the scope of discovery that the Dallas Foundation and that Dugaboy could have sought in connection with the 9019 motion?

MR. EDNEY: Objection to the form of the question.

A. I don't know.

Q. Are you aware that a half a dozen people were deposed in connection with the 9019 motion?

MR. EDNEY: Objection to the form of the question.

A. I was not aware.

Q. Are you aware that the Dallas Foundation and Dugaboy deposed Mark Patrick and Shawn Raver in connection with the 9019 hearing?

MR. EDNEY: Objection to the form of the question.

A. Yes.

Q. Okay.

Do you know whether Dugaboy or the Dallas Foundation ever contended before the June 25th hearing on the 9019 motion that Mr. Patrick failed to adequately respond to questions posed to him during the deposition?

MR. EDNEY: Objection to the form of the question.

A. I don't know.

Q. Do you know whether Dugaboy or the Dallas Foundation ever made a motion to compel Mr. Patrick to answer questions that were perceived to be answered evasively in the deposition?

A. I don't know.

Q. As you sit here today, can you identify any fact that you believe was responsive to any question posed to Mr. Patrick during his deposition that he failed to disclose?

MR. EDNEY: I object to the form of the question.

A. I did not prepare -- review Mark Patrick's deposition. I do not know. I don't have specific awareness.

Q. As you sit here today, can you identify any answer that Mr. Patrick gave during his deposition on the 9019 motion that Dugaboy contends was inaccurate or misleading?

MR. EDNEY: I object to the form of the question.

A. I do not know.

Q. To the best of your knowledge, neither Dugaboy nor the Dallas Foundation ever contended before the 9019 hearing that Shawn Raver failed to adequately respond to questions posed to him during his deposition, correct?

MR. EDNEY: Objection to form.

A. I don't know.

Q. As you sit here today, can you identify any fact that you believe was responsive to a question posed to Mr. Raver, that he failed to disclose?

MR. EDNEY: Objection to form.

A. I don't know.
Q. As you sit here today, can you identify any answer that Mr. Raver provided during his deposition on the 9019 hearing that Dugaboy contends today was inaccurate or misleading?
A. I do not know.
Q. Do you know that the Dallas Foundation and Dugaboy also deposed James Siri (phonetic) and David Claus (phonetic)?
A. I was not aware.
Q. Okay.
Then I'll leave that alone.
You're aware that I took the depositions of Ms. Diaz and Mr. Littleton in connection with the Dallas Foundation objections, correct?
A. Yes.
Q. Are you familiar with their testimony?
A. I never saw the deposition.
Q. Are you aware that they testified that Mr. Patrick did not need to obtain the Dallas Foundation's consent to enter into the HMIT settlement on behalf of the HMIT entities?

MR. EDNEY: Objection to the form of the question.

A. I'm not aware of her testimony.

Q. Is it your position that Mr. Patrick needed the Dallas Foundation's consent before entering into the HMIT settlement?

MR. EDNEY: Objection to the form of the question.

A. State of disarray. I don't believe he had any authority by the time he got to June of '25.

Q. Okay.

But Dugaboy didn't make that objection to the Court; is that right?

MR. EDNEY: Objection to the form of the question.

A. Not that I'm aware of or aware that it was necessarily to do that.

Q. Okay.

Before Mr. Patrick automatically ceased to be the control person of the HMIT entities, it your understanding that he did have the authority to enter into settlement agreements without needing to obtain anybody else's consent?

MR. EDNEY: Objection to the form of the question.

A. No, I'm not -- no.

Q. Whose consent did he need?

A. It depends on what period of time. You go back to -- you go back to early '25, when all the underlying charities have said we've lost confidence with you, we believe you've embezzled money, we believe you're not working the best interest, we want our stuff distributed in kind, you can make the argument he lost all authority at that point.

You can make the argument -- yeah. But I'm just -- I'm not going to admit that he had any legitimate authority by the time June rolled around.

Q. Great.

So I'm trying to -- my question was intended to address that point.

You're not able to tell me with specificity the date on which Mr. Patrick lost authority to act on behalf of the HMIT entities; is that right?

MR. EDNEY: Objection to the form of the question.

A. I said it earlier. And, you know, we still have to peel back the onion on when the bad acts, the self-interest, the embezzlement, embezzlement in the form of compensation, when did all that stuff begin?

When did the bad acts begin that triggered the automatic?

But it was quite while ago.

Q. Well, the first act that's in your sworn declaration is June 2023, when he asked for $10,000 charitable contribution to be made to a charity that him and his wife and his daughter controlled.

Do you remember that?

MR. EDNEY: Objection to the form of the question. Lack of foundation.

A. I barely remember the incident you're describing. But he didn't asked. He had just taken it. That was --

(Multiple speakers.)

Q. Do you remember --

A. It was -- (inaudible.)

Q. Do you remember any so-called bad act that happened before that?

A. Like I said, we're still peeling back the onion.

Q. I appreciate that.

Given all of the peeling that you've done, are you aware of any bad act that occurred before June of 2023?

A. I don't know. But it's definitely began around there. I don't know if it began earlier than that. But it definitely around then, for sure.

Q. Great.

So in December 2022, would Mark Patrick have had the authority to enter into the HMIT settlement with the Highland entities?

A. I don't know.

Q. You don't have a view one way or the other.

Is that fair?

A. We don't have enough detail and evidence. Eventually a receiver gets placed in, and eventually everything gets discovered. And we'll know then.

Q. Sir, I'll try it this way.

Would John Honis have had the authority to enter into the HMIT settlement agreement with the Highland entities?

MR. EDNEY: I'm objecting to the form of the question.

A. Generally, I believe so.

Q. Okay.

So it's your understanding that under the terms of Hunter Mountain Investment Trust agreement, that the administrator or control person has the authority to settle matters on behalf of the trust without obtaining any anybody's consent.

Is that fair?

A. I think there's a duty of care. Fiduciary responsibility of the owners are, you know.

Q. Who owns -- I'm sorry. Go ahead.

A. Within that context.

Q. You're aware that after I took the depositions of Ms. Diaz and Mr. Littleton, the Dallas Foundation withdrew their objection to the HMIT settlement with prejudice; isn't that correct?

MR. EDNEY: Objection to the form of the question.

A. Are you talking about the Sunday afternoon badgering that you noticed the day before? Is that the depo you're talking about?

Q. Sir, can you answer my question.

A. I'm trying to understand which depo you're talking about.

Q. You're aware that I took the depositions of Ms. Diaz and Mr. Littleton, correct?

A. Which one? Or what day was it?

Q. I only took their deposition once, sir.

A. What day was it?

Q. I have no idea.

What difference does it make?

A. Just trying to get a sense for it in my mind.

Q. You're aware that after those depositions, the Dallas Foundation withdrew its objection to the 9019 settlement with prejudice, correct?

MR. EDNEY: Objection to the form of the question.

A. I wasn't aware that it was with prejudice, but yes.

Q. As you sit here today, you do not understand that the Dallas Foundation withdrew their foundation with prejudice?

MR. EDNEY: Lack of foundation. Objection to the form of the question.

A. I knew they'd withdrawn it. I didn't know it was with prejudice.

Q. Okay.

And the Dallas Foundation's objection was based on allegations that Mark Patrick lacked authority to enter into the HMIT settlement agreement on behalf of the HMIT entities because he engaged in wrongful conduct; isn't that right?

MR. EDNEY: Objection to the form of the question.

A. Can you repeat it again, please.

Q. The basis for the Dallas Foundation's objection to the 9019 settlement was that Mark Patrick had engaged in wrongful conduct such that he could not act on the HMIT entities' behalf; isn't that right?

A. Generally. I'd rather have a document to look at to answer that question, specifically.

Q. Well, you're aware that the Dallas

Foundation filed their objection, correct?

A. Yes.

Q. And the Dallas Foundation had the opportunity to take discovery, correct?

A. Yes.

Q. And the Dallas Foundation took discovery, correct?

A. Yes.

Q. And the Dallas Foundation withdrew its objection with prejudice, correct?

MR. EDNEY: Objection to the form of the question.

MR. MORRIS: I apologize.

BY MR. MORRIS:

Q. And you're aware that the Dallas Foundation withdrew its objection, correct?

A. Yes.

Q. I do listen.

Are you aware that in addition to withdrawing its objection, the Dallas Foundation, Crown Global, Empower Dallas, and the Okada Family Foundation also entered into a binding term sheet with the HMIT entities?

MR. EDNEY: Objection to the form of the question.

A. No, I was not aware of that.

Q. Is that news to you today that the Dallas Foundation, Crown Global, Empower Dallas, and the Okada Family Foundation entered into a binding term sheet with the HMIT entities in connection with the withdrawal of its objection to the 9019 motion?

MR. EDNEY: Objection to the form of the question. Asked and answered.

A. I never saw the paperwork. I wasn't aware that it was a term sheet.

I know that Mark Patrick tried to orchestrate a settlement that also released the estate of bad actors in the estate. But I'm not aware of the term sheet or the mechanism for the seller.

Q. Are you aware that when -- when -- withdrawn.

Are you aware that following the Dallas Foundation's withdrawal of its objection, Mark Patrick retained the control position of the HMIT entities from the perspective of the Dallas Foundation?

MR. EDNEY: Objection to the form of the question.

A. I don't remember the specifics.

Q. Do you know that the Mark Patrick signed an agreement on behalf of the HMIT entities with the Dallas Foundation, Crown Global, Empower Dallas, and the Okada Family Foundation that left him in place as the control person of the HMIT entities?

MR. EDNEY: Objection to the form of the question.

A. I -- I don't know the specifics. I know -- I know he -- he gave releases, got releases, got no consideration. Yeah. But I don't know the specifics of the paperwork.

Q. Okay.

It's on the docket.

A. Okay.

MR. EDNEY: Good point.

THE WITNESS: Can we take a break again, please.

MR. MORRIS: Sure.

How long would you like, sir?

THE WITNESS: 15 minutes.

MR. MORRIS: We're running kind of late. And I know we started late. I'm concerned about the court reporter.

It's not that I mean to press you, but I think she expected the day to end earlier than it's going to be.

So let's come back at --

THE WITNESS: 2:30.

MR. MORRIS: Mr. Dondero, you'll be responsible for this.

Take as long as you want.

MR. EDNEY: We'll see you at the bottom of the hour, Mr. Morris. Thank you.

(Recess is taken.)

BY MR. MORRIS:

Q. In its current motion, Dugaboy contends that the settlement agreement that was approved last June should be set aside because Dugaboy has newly discovered evidence and uncovered evidence of fraud, correct?

A. I believe that's what the pleadings say.

Q. Okay.

Did you personally convey any of that newly discovered evidence or fraud to the Dallas Foundation, Crown Global, Empower Dallas, or the Okada Family Foundation?

A. I did not.

Q. Why not?

A. I wasn't person of knowledge or direct knowledge. And all the people you mentioned were getting it directly from the liquidators -- (inaudible) -- anyway.

Q. The liquidators of what?

A. The liquidators or Stockton from Holland & Knight. All the people you mentioned were getting direct channels from them.

Q. Great.

So it's your understanding that the Dallas Foundation, Crown Global, Empower Dallas, and the Okada Family Foundation has all of the newly discovered evidence and all of the new evidence of fraud, and they got it through other channels.

Do I have that right?

MR. EDNEY: Objection to the form of the question.

A. I'm just saying I may keep them apprised. I believe to the extent that they needed to or wanted to be appraised, they had their other channels of information.

Q. Do you have reason to believe that the liquidators and Holland & Knight gave those entities the newly discovered information and the new information about fraud?

Yes or no, do you have a reason to believe that?

MR. EDNEY: Objection to the form of the question.

A. I believe the liquidators have had numerous regular conversations with Holland & Knight and David Stockton, sometimes individually and sometimes with the charities on the phone. But I believe that's correct.

Q. The information in the writ, you thought was really powerful, right?

A. The allegations. Correct.

Q. And did you feel any responsibility at all to make sure that the Dallas Foundation, Crown Global, Empower Dallas, or the Okada Family Foundation was aware of that information?

MR. EDNEY: Objection to the form of the question.

A. I don't know why we keep going in circles on this.

I was recused from direct information. They had much more direct information from the liquidators. Whatever we got it in mid July, I believe they either got it before or contemporaneously.

So there was no reason for me to have to send it to them on the -- the 15th. If that's what you're asking.

Q. Yes.

And how about any of the e-mails or organizational charts that you mentioned earlier that trickled in after the writ was filed?

Do you know whether that information was provided to the Dallas Foundation, Crown Global, Empower Dallas, or the Okada Family Foundation?

A. I believe, in general, we were the last to get information. I believe, as liquidators uncovered information, they made it known to the charities, and then we would find out about it later.

Q. Do you know if Holland & Knight represents the Dallas Foundation, Crown Global, Empower Dallas, or the Okada Family Foundation?

A. I know they represent Dallas Foundation, Kansas City, Santa Barbara. I do not know if they represent Okada or Empower.

Q. Okay.

And when I talk about the Dallas Foundation, I'm not talking about Highland Dallas Foundation.

I'm talking about the Dallas Foundation entity that filed the objection to the 9019.

Those are two different entities, right?

A. Yes.

Q. Okay.

So it's your understanding that Holland & Knight represents the supporting organizations.

Is that fair?

A. Yes.

Q. So the supporting organizations would've gotten all of this information from either the joint official liquidators or from Holland & Knight.

Is that your understanding?

A. Yes.

Q. Do you have any -- do you know if anybody provided this newly discovered evidence and this evidence of fraud to the Dallas Foundation, Crown Global, Empower Dallas, or the Okada Family Foundation?

MR. EDNEY: Objection to the form of the question.

BY MR. MORRIS:

Q. You may answer.

A. John, I feel like I've answered this like five times.

But you want me to answer it again?

Q. Yeah.

Maybe I missed it, sir. I really do apologize. You know, I don't like repeat myself. But I don't think I asked the question.

But go ahead.

A. Okay. The July 15th payment writ was allegations. All the evidence came in subsequently over time. The direct channels of communication, because I was recused, was between the charities and supporting orgs and the liquidators.

We have Stockton in the middle and Maples in the middle, with the Grant Thornton woman also involved.

I've said that four times.

And the information has come in over the last six, seven, eight months. The evidence and the details supporting the excessive compensation, supporting the -- the e-mails supporting trying to camouflage and make sure that, you know, no one would ever find out about the machinations and the restructurings.

All of that stuff has come in over the last six, seven months. That's why we're here with the Rule 60 now instead of whatever, August of last year.

Q. Well, the joint official liquidators must have had some information because they made the allegations.

They didn't just make them up; is that right?

A. That's right. And they had quotes from e-mails. They had snippets from e-mails. Details permeating their thing.

But they didn't have the actual e-mails in their writ. They didn't have the actual evidence. That all came later.

Q. All right.

I think the problem that I was having, Mr. Dondero, is that my understanding is that JOLs have the supporting organizations under liquidation committee.

And I think you've agreed with that; is that right?

A. Yes.

Q. But do the JOLs have any relationship with the Dallas Foundation, Crown Global, Empower Dallas, or the Okada Family Foundation?

A. I think that's who they view their claim as.

Q. Okay. I didn't understand that.

A. Okay.

Q. In addition to the Highland Dallas Foundation, the Highland Kansas City Foundation, and the Highland Santa Barbara Foundation, your understanding is that the JOLs also believe their clients include the Dallas Foundation, Crown Global, Empower Dallas, and the Okada Family Foundation.

Do I have it right?

MR. EDNEY: Objection to the form of the question.

A. No, the three underlying supporting works.

(Multiple speakers.)

Q. Exactly --

A. Not Empower.

Q. Right.

A. Not the Okada Family Foundation.

Q. Okay.

So now, we agree that the JOLs are only connected to the supporting organizations, right?

MR. EDNEY: Objection to the form of the question. Misstates testimony.

BY MR. MORRIS:

Q. You can answer, sir.

Let me ask a different question.

Let's put the supporting organizations to the side because they're getting information from Holland & Knight and the JOLs.

Do you know whether anybody gave the Dallas Foundation, Crown Global, Empower Dallas, or the Okada Family Foundation the information that was in the writ and that trickled in after the writ was filed?

A. Not that I'm aware of.
Q. Did you give them that information?
A. No -- maybe this is why I keep struggling.
Where would I be getting it from?
Q. You had the information.
You represented -- Dugaboy filed on July 17th a motion for a stay and attached the writ, correct?
A. Yeah. We had the writ. But we didn't have -- we didn't have the underlying evidence in the writ.
Q. Did you give -- did you give the writ to the Dallas Foundation, Crown Global, Empower Dallas, or the Okada Family Foundation?
MR. EDNEY: Objection to the form of the question.
A. No, they all got it, as far as we knew, directly from the Caymans.
Q. Okay.
So you believe that they got the writ directly from the Caymans.
Is that your understanding?
A. Yes.
Q. Okay.

Do you also believe that those four entities as opposed to the supporting organizations also obtained the evidence that you referred to, the details that you referred to, that support the allegations in the writ?

Do they have that, too?

MR. EDNEY: Objection to the form of the question.

A. Yes, that is my belief, that they have been in the workstream and they get it, put it together, compile it, get versions of it long before we see it.

Q. Okay.

And what is your basis for believing that the Dallas Foundation, Crown Global, Empower Dallas, and the Okada Family Foundation have the same information that you have, they just got it earlier?

MR. EDNEY: Objection to the form of the question.

A. They're not subject to recusal the way we are. And they're not subject to some of the privy and publication issues as being somebody directly involved in the Cayman, as I understood it.

Their access is better and different than ours was.

Q. Okay.

Neither the Dallas Foundation nor Crown Global nor Empower Dallas nor the Okada Family Foundation has joined Dugaboy's motion to set aside the order approving the HMIT settlement; is that right?

A. I don't know.

Q. Do you have any reason to believe that any of those entities have joined Dugaboy's motion to set aside the 9019 settlement?

A. I don't know. I don't believe so, but I don't know.

Q. Do you control Empower Dallas?

A. No.

Q. Who controls Empower Dallas?

A. It's a three-person board. I don't have -- for tax purposes, it's a board. It's not -- it's not controlled. The president title is not a functioning executive --

Q. Okay.

A. -- power, as I understand it.

Q. Have -- have -- Ms. Diaz is at both the Dallas Foundation and the Highland Dallas Foundation, correct?

A. Yes.

Q. Did you ever tell Ms. Diaz, Ms. Diaz, we've got newly discovered information, we've got more evidence of fraud, you should join Dugaboy's motion to set aside the 9019 settlement?

Did you ever discuss it with her?

MR. EDNEY: Objection to the form of the question.

A. She had -- again, she gets information before we do. She's -- you know, she's in the charity business. She's not in the justice business.

Q. Is that what she told you?

A. No. I didn't talk to her about it.

Q. Did you ever recommend to the Dallas Foundation, Crown Global, Empower Dallas, or the Okada Family Foundation that they join in Dugaboy's motion?

MR. EDNEY: Objection to the form of the question.

A. I did not.

THE COURT REPORTER: I'm sorry. I didn't get his answer.

Q. He said, I did not.

So you didn't feel any responsibility to try to solicit the Dallas Foundation, Crown Global, Empower Dallas, or the Okada Family Foundation to join Dugaboy in it motion to set aside the settlement, correct?

MR. EDNEY: Objection to form.

A. I did not.

Q. Okay.

And to the best of your knowledge, neither the Dallas foundation nor Crown Global nor Empower Dallas nor the Okada Family Foundation has sought to rescind the binding term sheet that was signed last June on the ground of fraud or newly discovered evidence, correct?

MR. EDNEY: Objection to the form of the question.

A. I don't know.

Q. Did you ever recommend to the Dallas Foundation, Crown Global, Empower Dallas, or the Okada Family Foundation that they try to get out from the agreement that they entered into with the HMIT entities as part of the withdrawal of their objection to the HMIT settlement?

MR. EDNEY: Objection to form.

A. I did not.

MR. MORRIS: Can we go back to Exhibit 3, please.

BY MR. MORRIS:

Q. Can you see that, Mr. Dondero?

A. Yup.

Q. To the best of your knowledge, Dugaboy has never had an interest of any kind in any of the entities that are in the red boxes; is that correct?

MR. EDNEY: Objection to form.

(Document review.)

A. As I sit here today, I don't think so, but I would need to defer to counsel.

Q. Okay.

Until early 2025, is it your understanding that Crown Global was the sole limited partner of Atlas IDF LP?

MR. EDNEY: Objection to form.

A. Yeah, I don't know.

Q. Did you -- did you have an understanding that Atlas IDF LP held the ownership interest as reflected on this document in the entities below it?

MR. EDNEY: Objection to form.

A. Yeah, I don't know.

Q. Are you aware that Atlas IDF LP only owned 99 percent of the limited partnership interest in Rand PE Fund I LP?

MR. EDNEY: Objection to form.

A. I can read the chart.

I don't have awareness, though.

Q. All right.

I'm going to refer to Rand PE Fund I LP as Rand.

Is that okay?

A. Sure.

Q. Are you aware that the remaining one percent of Rand was held by two entities, one called Dolomiti LLC and one called Hakusan LLC?

MR. EDNEY: Objection to form.

A. This is not ringing a bell.

Q. Do you know if Dugaboy ever held an interest in an entity called Dolomiti LLC?

A. Not that I recall at this point.

Q. On February 6, 2025, Mr. Patrick, acting as the control person of Rand, redeemed the limited partnership interest held by Dolomiti LLC and Hakusan; isn't that right?

MR. EDNEY: Objection to form.

A. I do not have awareness of that.

MR. MORRIS: Can we mark as Exhibit 4 the document that's Tab 14.

(Dondero Exhibit 4, Letter, marked for identification.)

BY MR. MORRIS:

Q. 300 Crescent Court, Suite 700, that's NexPoint's address, rights?

A. Yes.

Q. Have you ever heard of Dolomiti LLC?

A. Not before today.

Q. Why don't you take a moment and review this document.

Its -- its entirety is on the screen right now. It's just those two paragraphs.

(Document review.)

A. Okay. I've read it.

Q. Okay.

You see the document was sent by certified mail, return receipt requested, right?

A. Yes.
Q. Okay.
Do you have any reason to believe that Dolomiti didn't receive this letter in February 2025?
MR. EDNEY: Objection to form.
A. I have every reason to believe Mark Patrick didn't have authority to do it.
Q. Okay.
Do you know whether anybody acting on behalf of Dolomiti ever told him that?
MR. EDNEY: Objection to form.
A. I do not have awareness.
Q. Do you understand that pursuant to this document, Rand redeemed Dolomiti's less than one percent interest in that entity?
A. That appears to be what it says.
Q. And does it also appear to say that on the same date, in the same letter, Dolomiti was also informed that it was no longer entitled to exercise voting rights afforded to limited partners of Rand under the LPA?
A. That's what it says.
Q. Are you aware of anybody objecting on behalf of Dolomiti's behalf as to the actions being taken by Rand as set forth in this letter?

MR. EDNEY: Object to form.

A. I do not have awareness.

Q. Okay.

You understand, though, that following -- let's just go to the next page.

Do you see Mr. Patrick's signature there on behalf of Rand?

A. Yes.

Q. Okay.

Let's go to the next page. I'm sorry. Keep going. Keep going.

Stop there.

2101 Cedar Springs Road.

Is that an address where Mr. Okada maintains an office?

A. I don't know.

Q. Do you know if Hakusan is an entity that was directly or indirectly owned by Mr. Okada?

A. I do not.

Q. Is it fair to say you have no knowledge that Hakusan ever objected to the actions being taken by Rand as set forth in this letter?

A. I do not know.

Q. Is it your understanding, based on your experience, that following the redemption of the Dolomiti and Hakusan limited partnership interest, that Atlas would've become the 100 percent owner of the limited partnership of Rand?

MR. EDNEY: Objection to form.

A. I don't know.

Q. Okay.

MR. MORRIS: All right. Let's go back to Exhibit 3, please.

BY MR. MORRIS:

Q. Before we look at this document again, do you have any reason to believe that Rand did not give proper notice to Dolomiti and Hakusan in February 2025 that its interests were being redeemed in Rand, and that it would no longer have any voting rights?

MR. EDNEY: Objection to form.

A. I think we covered this. But Mark Patrick as signatory, we do not believe had authority.

Q. Okay.

Did anybody tell Mark Patrick that?

MR. EDNEY: Objection to form.

MR. MORRIS: Withdrawn.

Fair enough.

BY MR. MORRIS:

Q. Did anybody ever tell Mark Patrick that he didn't have the authority to act on behalf of Rand to redeem the limited partnership interest held by Dolomiti and Hakusan?

MR. EDNEY: Objection to form.

A. Not that I'm aware of. And not that I'm aware was necessary.

Q. Okay.

So looking back on the chart that's on the board. We've got Crown Global Life Insurance Limited, the Bermuda entity on the left, right?

Is it your understanding that Crown Global ever had any right to control any of the HMIT entities?

MR. EDNEY: Objection to form.

A. I don't want to speculate on a legal conclusion, when Mark Patrick drops out of authority, where authority falls back to.

Q. Isn't the point of creating this structure to separate the economic beneficiaries from the controlling parties?

MR. EDNEY: Objection to form.

A. I would not say that.

Q. No, you think that economic beneficiaries are permitted to control the -- the same entity and still maintain their -- their tax status?

MR. EDNEY: Objection to form.

A. I would not say that either.

Q. Okay.

Can you tell me, based on your understanding, the circumstances under which an economic beneficiary of a -- of an organization can also control it -- withdrawn.

Your declaration sets out the distinction between economic beneficiaries and controlling entities, correct?

A. I don't know.

MR. EDNEY: Objection to form.

BY MR. MORRIS:

Q. Do you know the difference between the participation shares and the management shares?

MR. EDNEY: Objection to form.

A. They're different in every transaction. In every structure.

Q. Okay.

For this structure, do you know there's a distinction between management shares and participation shares?

MR. EDNEY: Objection to form. Lack of foundation.

A. I would have to be refreshed.

Q. Okay.

We'll do that on Monday.

When John Honis controlled the boxes in red, did he share that control with any person, to the best of your knowledge?

MR. EDNEY: Objection to form.

A. I don't know the Crown Global or the Charitable DAF influence on -- or rights on the red boxes when John Honis was administering the red boxes.

Q. Okay.

So the answer is you don't know?

A. Yes.

Q. Okay.

You're aware that Mark Patrick told

Crown Global in February of 2025 that he was going to liquidate Atlas, correct?

MR. EDNEY: Objection to form.

A. I do not have awareness of that.

MR. MORRIS: Okay. Can we put up Tab 4. And let's call it Exhibit 5.

(Dondero Exhibit 5, Affidavit, marked for identification.)

MR. MORRIS: And if we can go to paragraph 41.

BY MR. MORRIS:

Q. Do you recall signing an affidavit in support of the supporting organizations' winding up petition that was filed in the Cayman Islands?

MR. EDNEY: Mr. Morris, can I ask before you start asking questions about this document, that you show him what it is. I think --

MR. MORRIS: Sure.

MR. EDNEY: -- we blew fast the first page awfully fast.

MR. MORRIS: Can we go back up to the top, please.

MR. EDNEY: Maybe not that page.

There we go.

BY MR. MORRIS:

Q. All right.

Do you see that this is your affidavit?

A. Sure.

Q. Do you see in the upper right-hand corner, in the European style, it says it was filed on April 16, 2025?

A. Yup. Yes.

Q. This is -- this is before there ever is a 9019 settlement motion, right?

A. Yes.

Q. And the reason that you signed this affidavit is because you wanted the supporting organizations' winding up petition to be granted, right?

A. Yes.

Q. Okay.

Who drafted this?

A. I don't know. It would have been some combination of in-house counsel and outside counsel.

Q. In-house counsel where? At Skyview?

A. I don't know.

Q. In-house counsel at NexPoint?
A. I don't know.
Q. So when you use the phrase in-house counsel, who are you referring to?
A. Soughter (phonetic) handles most of this kind of stuff. But I don't know for sure if it was him.
Q. Did you review this document before you signed it?
A. Yes.
Q. Did you think that it was accurate at the time?
A. Yes.
Q. Okay.
Let's go to paragraph 41, please.
Okay. The first sentence begins (as read): On February 20, 2025, Mr. Patrick, in his capacity as the general partner of Atlas IDF GP LLC, sent a letter to Crown Global Insurance advising of the intention to dissolve Atlas in accordance with the partnership agreement dated November 30, 2015.
Other than the use of the European style for the dates, have I read that accurately?

A. Yes.

Q. So you knew before there ever was an 9019 settlement agreement that Mr. Patrick exercised his authority as the general partner of Atlas IDF GP LLC to dissolve Atlas, and that he gave notice of that effect to Crown Global, correct?

A. Yes.

Q. Okay.

And so, we saw the redemption letters of Dolomiti and Hakusan.

And now, we see that Mr. Patrick is giving notice to Crown Global of his intention to resolve Atlas. And all of this is being disclosed before there's ever a 9019 settlement.

Is that fair?

MR. EDNEY: Objection to form.

A. I'm sorry. What was the question again?

Q. Mr. Patrick, in February of 2025, before there was a 9019 agreement, has told Dolomiti and Hakusan that it was redeeming their limited partnership interest in Rand, and he told Crown Global that he intended to dissolve Atlas; is that right?

A. Yes.

Q. Okay.

Did anybody with that information seek injunctive relief?

Did anybody run into court to try to stop what he was doing?

A. I don't know if we knew enough at the time, that he had lost his authority. I don't know if we had enough information yet.

But I don't remember anybody running into court, no.

Q. Did anybody object to these steps that he was taking?

A. There was a lot of back-and-forth and objection regarding those notes in particular. But I -- I don't remember the specifics.

Q. He also -- you came to learn before you filed this affidavit that Mr. Patrick had caused Beacon Mountain to be sold for about a million dollars; is that right?

MR. EDNEY: Objection to form.

A. I don't remember. I don't remember what was in Beacon Mountain.

Q. Hunter Mountain?

A. I don't remember what was in Beacon Mountain.

Q. Let's look at your declaration?

MR. MORRIS: Can we scroll up to, I guess, paragraph 38.

BY MR. MORRIS:

Q. So you knew no later than April 16th that in February of 2025, Mr. Raver had asked for inbound wire instructions for an affiliate that owned a position in a trust called Hunter Mountain.

Do you see that?

A. Yes.

Q. What affiliate does that refer to?

A. I don't know.

Q. Is that Dolomiti?

A. I don't know.

Q. Did you know when you signed the affidavit?

MR. EDNEY: Objection to form.

A. I don't remember.

Q. But you knew that Hunter Mountain owned most of the distribution rights of the equity position in Highland bankruptcy, correct?

A. Yes.

Q. And as a result of inquiries -- if we can go to paragraph 39 -- you learned before there ever was a 9019 settlement, that Mr. Raver had disclosed that the entire Hunter Mountain position had been sold to an unidentified party for a million dollars, right?

MR. EDNEY: Objection to form.

A. Yeah, the affidavit says what it says. But that's essentially what it says.

Q. Right.

So did you ever learn who the buyer was of Beacon Mountain?

A. I never saw the document. I believe I heard through counsel that it was DFW. I don't know for sure. If that's a factual question.

Q. But you knew the identity of the buyer before the 9019 hearing.

Isn't that fair?

MR. EDNEY: Objection to form.

A. No.

Q. No?

When did you learn of the identity of the buyer?

A. I don't know. But it was -- we knew very little in June and July.

Q. Did -- did you think to ask the question during discovery in connection with the 9019 motion?

Did anybody ask Mr. Raver or Mr. Patrick who bought -- who bought Beacon Mountain?

MR. EDNEY: Objection to form.

A. I don't know.

Q. Are you aware of any reason why somebody couldn't have asked that deposition -- that question in either one of their depositions?

MR. EDNEY: Objection to form. Assumes facts not in evidence.

A. Maybe they did. I don't know.

Q. In fact, it is very possible that they did; isn't that right?

MR. EDNEY: Objection to form.

A. No idea.

Q. And you never -- you never thought to suggest to anybody that somebody inquire as to the identity of the buyer of Beacon Mountain as part of the discovery process in the 9019 hearing.

Is that fair?

A. I wasn't directly involved with the questions set.

Q. You were fully aware that Mark Patrick was taking for himself what you believed to be oversized compensation long before there was a 9019 settlement; isn't that right?

MR. EDNEY: Objection to form.

A. I think we were aware of first 7 or 8 million, but not the next 15 million.

Q. All right.

MR. MORRIS: Let's go up to paragraph 31.

BY MR. MORRIS:

Q. I'm sorry, Mr. Dondero.

Did I cut you off?

A. No, that's my recollection. Let's see what it says.

Q. So your declaration that was filed in April, you noted that the fees went from 40,000 in 2022 to 600,000 in 2023 to 2 and a quarter million dollars in the first half of '24 alone.

Do I have that right, in 31A?

A. Yes, I believe this was accurate at the time.

Q. Okay.

Did anybody think to ask Mr. Patrick or Mr. Raver during their depositions what compensation was paid in the second half of 2024 and the first half of 2025?

MR. EDNEY: Objection to form.

A. I mean, I don't know whether it came out of those depositions or Cayman stuff. You know, there was a lot more directors' fees and a lot more compensation paid than these numbers.

Q. I'm just asking you whether or not you're aware of any barrier to the Dallas Foundation or Dugaboy that would have prevented them from inquiring as to Mr. Patrick's or the director's compensation during the 9019 proceeding?

MR. EDNEY: Objection to form.

A. I don't know if people ask, like, how much money he stole lightly.

You know, can you update monies that you've stolen?

I don't know if all those questions were asked.

Q. Did you do anything to make sure on Dugaboy's behalf that those questions were asked?

MR. EDNEY: Objection to form.

I'm going to instruct him not to answer to the extent it calls for his communications with counsel that were handling those hearings.

The record of that case speaks for itself.

A. I wasn't directly --

MR. EDNEY: Don't answer the question.

MR. MORRIS: He can -- why can't he answer the question?

MR. EDNEY: Because it calls for privileged information.

I'm instructing him not to answer.

Move along, Counsel.

MR. MORRIS: I'll try again.

BY MR. MORRIS:

Q. Did it occur to you, Mr. Dondero, to try to obtain information as part of the discovery process concerning Mr. Patrick or the director's compensation?

MR. EDNEY: Objection to form.

A. I wasn't directly involved. I left it in the competent hands of my attorneys.

Q. How about the expenses?

Were you offended by the expenses that were being incurred by Mr. Patrick?

A. I was offended by these expenses that we outlined in the affidavit.

Q. Okay.

A. And those were just the tip of the iceberg.

Q. Do you know if Dugaboy made any effort to obtain information as part of the discovery process concerning the expenses that were being incurred?

MR. EDNEY: Objection to form.

A. I wasn't involved in the questions set. I left it to the competent hands of the attorneys.

Q. You accused Mr. Patrick of misusing material nonpublic inside information; is that right?

A. Yes.

Q. What material nonpublic inside information do you contend that Mr. Patrick abused?

A. I don't remember exactly. But I believe it was -- if it wasn't part of this affidavit, maybe the other affidavit.

But it was regarding a restructuring of a private REIT. And yeah -- I believe the evidence was clear. I don't remember whether it was e-mails or conversations with recently deceased Doug Mancino (Phonetic).

Q. Mr. Patrick advised the Dallas Foundation to exercise a put option; isn't that right?

A. Correct.

Q. Who is on the other side of that transaction?

A. One of the private REITs that we manage here.

Q. What private REITs that you managed was the other side of the put option?

A. A small little hospitality REIT.

Q. And if the Dallas Foundation had exercised that put option, do you have an understanding of how much money it would have received?

A. No.

Q. You didn't want the Dallas Foundation to exercise the put option; isn't that right?

A. I didn't have an opinion.

Q. The exercise of the put option would've been adverse to the REIT; isn't that right?

A. The put option would've been outstanding for a long time. It wasn't timely or helpful. I think it was one of the many things Mark Patrick did to be punitive after he left. I don't think the economic consequence was significant.

That's my recollection.

Q. Well, how would it have been punitive?

A. Well, it just would've affected liquidity on, you know, a hospitality company that was getting its feet back under itself post COVID.

Q. So the exercise of put option would have had adverse consequences for that entity, correct?

A. I -- yeah, I believe it would have been --

(Multiple speakers.)

Q. And that's --

A. -- yes.

Q. That's --

MR. EDNEY: Hang on. Let the man finish his answer.

Are you finished, Mr. Dondero?

A. Yeah, I believe it was unnecessary and unhelpful in terms of long-term value for that entity.

Q. For which entity?

A. That small hospitality REIT.

Q. If the Dallas Foundation had exercised the option, how much would the small hospitality REIT have to have paid?

A. It was only a few million dollars. But I don't remember the exact amount.

But again, he -- except for inside information, he would have no basis for deciding to do it or not do it.

Q. He didn't exercise any transaction, did he?

A. I don't remember. It says what it says here. I don't remember exactly.

Q. Did you have any conversations with the Dallas Foundation about whether they should or shouldn't exercise the put option?

A. I did not.

Q. Did anybody acting on behalf of the small hospitality REIT?

A. Don't know.

Q. Do you know whether the Dallas Foundation ever exercised the put option?

A. I do not.

Q. Did the put option expire at some point?

A. Not that I'm aware of.

Q. Is the put -- was the put option in the money at this time?

A. I don't know.

Q. Did you ever report Mr. Patrick to the SEC?

A. I don't know on this or on other things. But we have a responsibility when we -- when we know registered investment advisors have done something improper. We have a responsibility to inform regulatory bodies.

So we were implying it -- here. So if we were aware of anything, we did what we were supposed to do.

But I don't know, specifically.

Q. So you don't know if back in August 2024, Mr. Patrick's abusive material, nonpublic inside information, caused you to contact the SEC?

A. Like I said, I know as a registered investment advisor, just like the insider trading that Stone Hill did, we have an obligation to tell regulatory authorities. And we -- we do tell regulatory authorities when we have an obligation to.

Q. And I'm just asking you if you had an obligation in this case?

A. I'm just saying if we did, we did.

Q. So you don't know, as you sit here today, if you had an obligation.

Is that fair?

A. Correct. I don't know.

Q. All right.

MR. MORRIS: Let's take a ten-minute break. I may be close to done here.

It is 1:27 or, I guess, 3:27 your time. Let's actually take until 3:40.

(Recess is taken.)

BY MR. MORRIS:

Q. Mr. Dondero, are you sure that the obligor on the put option was a small hospitality REIT?

A. I'm not sure. That's my recollection, as I sit here today. But I have to refresh myself on it.

Q. Okay.

The JOLs haven't joined Dugaboy's motion to vacate the 9019 settlement; is that right?

A. I believe that's correct.

Q. In fact, the JOLs have never appeared in the Highland bankruptcy case; is that right, to the best of your knowledge?

A. I believe that's correct.

Q. The supporting organizations haven't joined Dugaboy's motion to set the 9019 settlement agreement aside; is that correct?

A. I believe that's correct.

Q. And to the best of your knowledge, has any -- have any of the supporting organizations ever appeared in the Highland bankruptcy case?

A. I -- other than Julie Diaz that we've discussed, I do not believe so.

Q. And Julie Diaz, as we discussed, did not appear in the Highland bankruptcy case on behalf of the Highland Dallas Foundation; she appeared in the case on behalf of the Dallas Foundation; is that correct?

A. I believe that's correct.

Q. Okay.

And neither the Dallas Foundation nor Crown Global decided to join Dugaboy's motion to vacate the settlement; is that right?

A. I believe that's correct.

Q. Okay.

Can you tell me why Dugaboy filed its motion to vacate the 9019 settlement when nobody else is joining it.

MR. EDNEY: Objection to form.

A. Those are two separate issues.

Q. Okay.

I apologize. Let's take them one at a time.

Can you tell me why Dugaboy decided to file the motion to vacate.

A. In a nutshell, where Patrick got no consideration, no meaningful consideration that he wasn't already entitled to, I guess, number one.

Number two, the Highland estate has been very unfortunate Chapter 11 that got flipped into a 7, but has been highly solvent since the beginning. It's highly solvent now, with tens or hundreds of millions of reserve accounts.

There's been, in our belief, bad acts and bankruptcy fraud, none of which should have been released. And Mark Patrick didn't deserve a release as part of it also.

Q. Okay.

Do you recall Highland's plan of reorganization and its disclosure statement?

A. Generally.

Q. Do you recall that in November of 2020, Highland projected that general unsecured creditors in Class 8 would recover 70 percent?

A. I thought it was even less. But something around that number, yes.

Q. And do you recall that Dugaboy and other entities affiliated with you filed a host of objections to the plan?

A. Yes.

Q. Do you recall that none of those objections concerned valuation?

MR. EDNEY: Objection to the form of question.

A. That's not true. I think the objections were largely around lack of transparency, mismarked assets, lack of detail on the assets that were ultimately sold for $850 million. That if they had been sold well, would've been sold for $950 million against, you know, original claimants who all sold for 160 million, to affiliates or disclosed business relationships of Jim Siri and Grosvenor (phonetic.)

I think it's the biggest fraud that's occurred in bankruptcy in a decade.

Q. So it's your recollection that you and others affiliated with you objected to Highland's plans on the grounds that the valuations were inaccurate?

A. Yes.

Q. Okay.

Can you think of any other reasons that Dugaboy filed the motion to vacate?

MR. EDNEY: By the motion to vacate, you mean the one in February of 2026?

MR. MORRIS: Yes, sir.

MR. EDNEY: The Rule 60(b) motion, Jim.

A. Yeah, I think I highlighted them. There's significant solvency and there always has been in the estate. There's significant bad acts that will be more difficult to pursue, if the releases hold against Stone Hill and Fairlawn, in particular.

I think Mark Patrick had no meaningful consideration, and he gave himself releases. I think it would be unconscionable for it not to be set aside.

Q. Is it fair to say, based on your testimony, that you believe the settlement was in Highland's best interest?

MR. EDNEY: Objection to the form of the question.

A. I'm not even sure it was in Highland's interest. I think it was in Stone Hill and Fairlawn's best interest. And I think it was in the best interest of professional fees that are north of 300 million in an $850 million estate. And likely to burn up the 150, 200 million that's left.

Q. Okay.

Are you aware that the supporting organizations commenced an action in Texas Business Court against Mark Patrick and others on or about July 1, 2025?

A. Yes.

Q. Are you aware that that case was abated?

MR. EDNEY: Objection to the form of the question.

A. If abatement means waiting for Cayman to join it, that's where I understand that is.

Q. Great.

And let's use that definition of abatement.

Is it your understanding that the case was abated in September 2025 and it remains abated today?

A. At the moment, yes.

Q. And do you know why the joint official liquidators haven't joined that case?

MR. EDNEY: Objection to the form of the question.

A. I think it's a complicated answer. I don't want to speculate. I don't know the exact reasons.

Q. Okay.

Are you aware that the supporting organizations entered into a Rule 11 agreement with Mr. Patrick and the other defendants pending the abatement?

MR. EDNEY: Objection to the form of the question.

Do you know what a Rule 11 agreement is, Jim?

THE WITNESS: I do not.

MR. EDNEY: Remember, he's not a lawyer.

MR. MORRIS: Okay.

BY MR. MORRIS:

Q. Are you aware of any agreement between the supporting organizations and Mr. Patrick and the other defendants arising out of or relating to the Texas business lawsuit?

A. Is that the injunction that's in place? Is that what the Rule 11 is?

Q. I'm talking about an agreement, not an injunction.

MR. EDNEY: Objection to the form of the question.

A. I don't have awareness.

Q. What injunction are you thinking about?

A. The judge in the Dallas business court put in an induction Mark Patrick's activities that is in place. Maybe not as tight as it should be, but it's in place.

Q. Do you understand that Mr. Patrick voluntarily consented to the terms of that order?

MR. EDNEY: Objection to the form of the question.

A. I believed the judge asked both sides to agree on something and they did.

Q. And pursuant to that agreement, Mark Patrick remains the sole authorized representative of the defendants in that lawsuit, correct?

MR. EDNEY: Objection to the form of the question.

A. I don't know the specifics.

Q. Did you ever try to find out the terms of the agreement or the injunction that you're referring to?

MR. EDNEY: Objection to the form of the question.

A. Not specifically.

Q. Are you aware that the supporting organizations left Mr. Patrick in place as the control person of the defendants in the Dallas -- in the Texas business lawsuit?

A. Like I said, you know, consistent with the injunction and a desire to move the case forward, yeah.

Q. Okay.

So you're aware of that; is that right?

You're aware that the supporting organizations entered into an agreement pursuant to which Mr. Patrick remains in control of the defendants of the Texas business suit, correct?

MR. EDNEY: Objection to the form of the question.

A. At the moment, I believe that's the case.

Q. Thank you very much.

Ms. McGinnis is one of the JOLs; is that right?

A. Yes, I believe so.

Q. Do you know how the JOLs were identified?

A. It was a process.

Q. Do you know anything about the process?

A. A little bit, but not specifically.

Q. Do you know if anybody had a prior relationship with either of the JOLs before they were engaged?

MR. EDNEY: Objection to the form of the question.

MR. MORRIS: Withdrawn.

BY MR. MORRIS:

Q. Do you know of anybody that you're affiliated with that had a prior relationship with the JOLs before they were engaged?

MR. EDNEY: Objection to form.

A. I have no awareness of such regarding Grant Thornton and Maples.

Q. Do you know if Scott Ellington had a prior relationship with Ms. McGinnis?

MR. EDNEY: Objection to form.

A. Not that I'm aware of.

Q. Okay.

Are you aware that for two days in December 2025, the Cayman court heard argument on the JOLs' writ?

A. Yes.

Q. And the JOLs' writ was supplemented by further declarations that were filed on behalf of the JOLs; is that right?

A. I don't have awareness of that.

Q. Are you aware that the Cayman court issued a decision in early February with respect to the JOLs' request for proprietary injunction?

A. My general awareness is they lost the stringent injunction that they had applied for in December, but they may have won most of it back on appeal recently. That's my knowledge.

Q. Let's take it one step at a time.

Is it your understanding that the JOLs -- withdrawn.

Is it your understanding that the Cayman trial court declined to issue any injunction following a two-day hearing in December?

MR. EDNEY: Objection to form.

A. That's not my understanding.

Q. What -- what action on behalf of Mr. Patrick was enjoined by the Cayman trial court, to the best of your knowledge?

A. To the best of my knowledge, they went to put in a strict injunction that would have stopped all the expense bleed and almost like a receiver. And that was not granted.

But then the appellate court put back in most of the injunction, but not the highly restricted receiver-type injunction that they are highly confident they're going to get in September.

Q. Okay.

I want to separate the appellate process from the trial court in the Cayman Islands.

Do you understand that?

A. I've given my full general understanding.

Q. You keep coming back to the appellate court. And we're going to get to that and you can tell me about the appellate court.

I'm just asking if you're aware of any injunction that was issued by the Grand Court of the Cayman Islands Financial Services Division on the JOLs' writ following the two-day hearing in December?

MR. EDNEY: Objection to form.

A. I have the same answer.

Q. They didn't issue any injunction; is that right?

MR. EDNEY: Objection to form.

A. They were looking for a very strict injunction and they didn't get it. I don't know what they did get.

Q. Okay.

So as you sit here today, you're not aware of the Grand Court of the Cayman Islands Financial Services Division enjoining Mr. Patrick in any way following the two-day hearing in December; is that right?

MR. EDNEY: Objection to form.

A. I know they didn't win in December.

They felt like they won at the appellate court recently. But that's all I know.

Q. Okay.

The appeal has not been heard; is that correct?

A. No, it has been.

Q. Your understanding is that the appellate court has already rendered a decision?

A. Correct.

Q. So what's going to happen in September?

A. That's the full injunction hearing.

The full evidentiary hearing, I understand, is in September. The appellate review, where they got appellate guys to fly in, that happened a month or two ago, reinstated some of the original injunction stuff and reversed the December judge, as far as I understand.

And then the true evidentiary hearing is coming in September. But that's all I know.

Q. Is it your understanding that what the appellate court did was adopt the terms of the agreement in the Texas Business Court that had been agreed to by the supporting organizations and Mr. Patrick and the defendants there?

MR. EDNEY: Objection to the form of the question.

A. I'll state it one more time, because this is all I know. December released the criteria of the injunction that was in place prior to December. And they were disappointed by that.

When they got appellate relief, they put it back to where it was in September. I don't know if it mirrors Texas Business Court or not. So I can't answer affirmatively or negatively on that.

But the appellate court put it back to where it was prior to the December hearing.

And then the full evidentiary hearing is occurring in September, where they're optimistic based on all the facts and everything that they'll get a strong injunction in place.

Q. Okay.

MR. MORRIS: I've got nothing further.

THE WITNESS: Thank you.

MR. EDNEY: All right. Mr. Morris, I don't have any redirect.

Thank you very much for your time today.

We can go off the record.

ARTICLE IV

This Agreement constitutes a legal, valid and binding obligation of Buyer enforceable against Buyer in accordance with its terms, except as such enforceability may be limited by bankruptcy, insolvency, reorganization, moratorium or similar Laws affecting creditors' rights generally and by general principles of equity (regardless of whether enforcement is sought in a proceeding at law or in equity).

Section 4.02 No Conflicts; Consents. The execution, delivery and performance by Buyer of this Agreement, and the consummation of the transactions contemplated hereby, do not and will not: (a) violate or conflict with any provision of the certificate of incorporation or by-laws of Buyer; (b) violate or conflict with any provision of any law or governmental order applicable to Buyer; (c) require the consent, notice or other action by any person under, violate or conflict with, or result in the acceleration of any agreement to which Buyer is a party; or (d) require any consent, permit, governmental order, filing or notice from, with or to any governmental authority; except, in the cases of clauses (b) and (c), where the violation, conflict, acceleration or failure to obtain consent or give notice would not have a material adverse effect on Buyer's ability to consummate the transactions contemplated hereby and, in the case of clause (d), where such consent, permit, governmental order, filing or notice which, in the aggregate, would not have a material adverse effect on Buyer's ability to consummate the transactions contemplated hereby.

Section 4.03 Legal Proceedings. There are no actions pending or, to Buyer's knowledge, threatened against or by Buyer or any of its affiliates that challenge or seek to prevent, enjoin or otherwise delay the transactions contemplated by this Agreement.

Section 4.04 Buyer Acknowledgement of SALI Agreement and CG Agreement. Buyer acknowledges the obligations of (i) the Advisor pursuant to the Subadvisor Agreement dated September 25, 2013 between the Advisor and SALI Fund Management, LLC (the "SALI Agreement") and (ii) Atlas IDF, LP and the Advisor pursuant to the Participation Agreement dated as of November 30, 2015 among Crown Global Life Insurance Ltd., Atlas IDF, LP and the Advisor (the "CG Agreement"). Section 4.05 Independent Investigation. Buyer has conducted its own independent investigation, review and analysis of Seller, the Companies, the Managed Companies, the Client Funds and the SALI Fund, and acknowledges that it has been provided adequate access to the personnel, properties, assets, premises, books and records and other documents and data of Seller, the Companies, the Managed Companies, the Client Funds and the SALI Fund for such purpose. ARTICLE V
COVENANTS

Section 5.01 Director, Manager and Officer Indemnification Liability.

(a) Buyer agrees that all rights to indemnification, advancement of expenses and exculpation by each Company now existing in favor of each person who is now, or has been at any time prior to the date hereof, an officer, manager, member or director of such Company, in each case as in effect on the date of this Agreement, or pursuant to any other agreements in effect on the date hereof, shall survive the Closing Date and shall continue in full force and effect in accordance with their respective terms.

(b) Each Company shall, and Buyer shall cause each Company to (i) maintain in effect for a period of six (6) years after the Closing Date the current policies of Investment Adviser and Fund Professional and Directors and Officers Liability Insurance (or similar policy) maintained by each Company immediately prior to the Closing Date (provided that each Company may substitute policies, of at least the same coverage and amounts and containing terms and conditions that are not less advantageous to the directors, members, managers and officers of such Company when compared to the insurance maintained by such Company as of the date hereof), or (ii) obtain as of the Closing Date "tail" insurance policies with a claims period of six (6) years from the Closing Date with at least the same coverage and amounts, and containing terms and conditions that are not less advantageous to the mangers and officers of such Company, in each case with respect to claims arising out of or relating to events which occurred on or prior to the Closing Date (including in connection with the transactions contemplated by this Agreement). The parties acknowledge and agree that the coverages required by this Section 5.01(b) shall not be required to cover the Excluded Claims referenced in Section 5.04 hereinafter.

(c) The obligations of Buyer and each Company under this Section 5.01 shall not be terminated or modified in such a manner as to adversely affect Seller.

(d) In the event that Buyer, any Company or any of their respective successors or assigns (i) consolidates with or merges into any other person and shall not be the continuing or surviving corporation or entity in such consolidation or merger or (ii) transfers all or substantially all of its properties and assets to any person, then, and in either such case, proper provision shall be made so that the successors and assigns of Buyer or such Company, as the case may be, shall assume all of the obligations set forth in this Section 5.01.

Section 5.02 Further Assurances. Following the Closing:

(a) each of the parties hereto shall, and shall cause their respective affiliates to, execute and deliver such additional documents and instruments and take such further actions as may be reasonably required to carry out the provisions hereof and give effect to the transactions contemplated by this Agreement.

(b) The parties agree that certain matters in which any of the Affected Parties will be involved may necessitate Seller's cooperation in the future. Accordingly, for any reason, to the extent requested by any of the Affected Parties or their representatives and/or agents, Seller shall reasonably cooperate with the Affected Parties in connection with any matters in which any of the Affected Parties asserts that Seller's assistance is necessary, including, but not limited to, the Kirschner Litigation, the HCMLP Bankruptcy, and any other disputes; provided that, any of the Affected Parties shall make reasonable efforts to minimize disruption of Seller's other activities. The respective Affected Parties shall reimburse Seller for reasonable expenses incurred in connection with such reasonable cooperation and, to the extent that Seller is required to spend substantial time on such matters, the respective Affected Parties shall compensate Seller at an hourly rate of $350.00 per hour. Such reasonable cooperation shall include, but is not limited to, providing interviews, truthful testimony, documents, assistance, information, and executing and returning documents related to any litigation or disputes in which any of the Affected Parties is involved, including, but not limited to, the Kirschner Litigation and/or the HCMLP Bankruptcy and any disputes related thereto. "Affected Parties" shall collectively mean Buyer, Companies, Client Funds, SALI Fund and Managed Companies.

(c) Additionally, Seller agrees that he will not voluntarily provide reasonable assistance to or cooperate with any party that has any adverse interests to any of the Affected Parties without prior written consent from the respective Affected Parties, and Seller will notify the Affected Parties if any third-party seeks such reasonable assistance or cooperation from Seller. Any failure to comply with this clause by Seller shall constitute a material breach of this Agreement. Seller shall not, except as required by law, disclose to any third party this Agreement, its terms and particularly this cooperation clause. If, at any time, Seller is ordered or subpoenaed by any court, regulator, agency, or legislative body to disclose, or is served with a subpoena or discovery request seeking or requiring disclosure of, this Agreement or any of its terms, Seller shall so notify the Affected Parties at least two (2) business days in advance of the time for compliance with the order, subpoena or discovery request.

Section 5.03 Transfer Taxes. All transfer, documentary, sales, use, stamp, registration, value added and other such taxes and fees (including any penalties and interest) incurred in connection with this Agreement shall be borne and paid by Buyer when due. Buyer shall, at its own expense, timely file any tax return or other document with respect to such taxes or fees (and Seller shall cooperate with respect thereto as necessary).

Section 5.04 Release. Effective as of the Closing, (i) Buyer shall, (ii) Buyer shall cause the Companies, (iii) Buyer shall cause the Companies to cause the Client Funds, and (iv) Buyer shall cause the Companies to cause the Managed Companies (together, the "Buyer Releasors") generally, irrevocably, unconditionally and completely to release and forever discharge Seller and his partners, affiliates, employees, consultants, counsel and agents, and the counsel, consultants and agents of the Companies, the Managed Companies, and the Client Funds (each, a "Seller Releasee" and collectively, the "Seller Releasees") from, and irrevocably, unconditionally and completely to waive and relinquish each and all past, present and future disputes, claims, controversies, demands, rights, obligations, liabilities, actions and causes of action of every kind and nature, including any unknown, unsuspected or undisclosed claim (collectively "Claims"), that the Buyer Releasors may have had in the past, may now have or may have in the future against any of the Seller Releasees and has arisen or arises directly or indirectly out of, or relates directly or indirectly to, this Agreement and the transactions contemplated hereby, or the operation of the Companies, the Managed Companies, the SALI Fund or the Client Funds, other than any claim that Buyer may have against any of the Seller Releasees that arises under this Agreement. Buyer Releasors, acknowledges that the laws of many states provide substantially the following: "A GENERAL RELEASE DOES NOT EXTEND TO CLAIMS WHICH THE CREDITOR DOES NOT KNOW OR SUSPECT TO EXIST IN HIS OR HER FAVOR AT THE TIME OF EXECUTING THE RELEASE, WHICH IF KNOWN BY HIM OR HER MUST HAVE MATERIALLY AFFECTED HIS OR HER SETTLEMENT WITH THE DEBTOR." The Buyer Releasors acknowledge that such provisions are designed to protect a party from waiving claims which it does not know exist or may exist. Nonetheless, the Buyer Releasors, agree that, effective as of the Closing, the Companies, the Client Funds and the Managed Companies shall be deemed to waive any such provision. Buyer shall not permit any Company, Client Fund or Managed Company to institute, solicit or encourage, or participate, assist or cooperate in, any legal proceeding based upon, arising out of, or relating to any of the disputes, claims, controversies, demands, rights, obligations, liabilities, actions and causes of action waived under this Section 5.04. Notwithstanding the foregoing, the parties acknowledge and agrees that the Claims released by this Section 5.04 shall not include any and all Claims that are found by a court of competent jurisdiction to be a result of a Seller Releasees fraud, gross negligence or willful misconduct (each an "Excluded Claim" and/or collectively, the "Excluded Claims").

Section 5.05 Guaranty.

(a) The Guarantor hereby irrevocably and unconditionally guarantees to Seller full and punctual performance of and compliance with all of Buyer's obligations pursuant to this Agreement. The guaranty set forth in this Section 5.05(a) is an absolute, present, primary and continuing guaranty of performance, payment and compliance. The Guarantor acknowledges and agrees that upon any default by Buyer, Seller shall not be obligated to first attempt enforcement against Buyer. Seller acknowledges and agrees that all right, title and interest in such Confidential Information, including, without limitation, all conceivable intellectual property rights, including, without limitation, all copyrights, trademarks, service marks, patents, and discoveries shall remain the property of the applicable Company on and after the Closing Date. This Amended and Restated Limited Partnership Agreement of Rand PE Fund I, L.P., a Delaware "series" limited partnership ("Partnership"), is entered into as of November 30, 2015 ("Agreement") by and among: (i) Rand PE Fund Management, LLC, a Delaware limited liability company ("General Partner"), with an address at 87 Railroad Place, Suite 403, Saratoga Springs, New York, 12866; (ii) such persons and entities who are or may become limited partners in accordance with the terms hereof ("Limited Partners"; and, together with the General Partner, shall collectively be referred to as the "Partners"); (iii) John Honis, as the initial Limited Partner ("Initial Limited Partner"); and (iv) such other persons who may become parties to this Agreement from time to time.

WITNESSETH:

WHEREAS, the General Partner and the Initial Limited Partner entered into a Limited Partnership Agreement, dated and effective as of October 29, 2015 ("Current Agreement"); and

WHEREAS, the General Partner desires to amend and restate the Current Agreement in its entirety pursuant to, and in accordance with the terms of, Section 28 thereof, including to reflect the conversion of the Partnership into a "series" limited partnership.

NOW THEREFORE, in consideration of the mutual promises of the parties hereinafter set forth and of other good and valuable consideration, the receipt and sufficiency of which is hereby acknowledged, the undersigned parties agree to amend and restate the Current Agreement in its entirety with the following terms and conditions:

ARTICLE I
GENERAL PROVISIONS

Section 1.01 Formation of Partnership. The Partnership was formed as a limited partnership under the Delaware Revised Uniform Limited Partnership Act (as in effect on the date hereof and as amended from time to time, the "Act") by the filing of its Certificate of Limited Partnership (the "Certificate") with the Secretary of State of the State of Delaware (the "Delaware Secretary") on September 18, 2015. On November 19, 2015, an amended Certificate was filed with the Delaware Secretary to convert the Partnership into a "series" limited partnership under Section 17-218 of the Act. The General Partner, for itself and as agent for the Limited Partners, shall accomplish all filing, recording, publishing and other acts necessary or appropriate for compliance with all the requirements for the formation and operation of the Partnership as a limited partnership under this Agreement and the Act and under all other laws of the State of Delaware and such other jurisdictions in which the General Partner determines that the Partnership may conduct business. Each Limited Partner admitted to the Partnership by the General Partner shall promptly execute all relevant certificates and other documents, as the General Partner shall request.

Section 1.02 Partnership Name. The name of the Partnership is Rand PE Fund I, L.P.

Section 1.03 Purpose. The Partnership was organized for the purpose of investing and trading in a wide variety of securities and financial instruments, domestic and foreign, of all kinds and descriptions, whether publicly traded or privately placed, including but not limited to, common and preferred stocks, bonds and other debt securities, convertible securities, limited partner interests, mutual fund shares, options, warrants, commodities, futures, derivatives (including swaps, forward contracts and structured instruments), currencies, monetary instruments, and cash and cash equivalents. In furtherance of the foregoing, the Partnership may engage in any lawful act or activity for which limited partnerships may be formed under the Act, and any and all activities necessary or incidental thereto, including any other business activities described in the Partnership's confidential private placement memorandum (as amended and supplemented from time to time, the "Memorandum").

Section 1.04 Place of Business. The Partnership shall have offices located at 87 Railroad Place, Suite 403, Saratoga Springs, New York, 12866, or elsewhere as the General Partner may from time to time determine. The Partnership may have more than one (1) office as may from time to time be determined by the General Partner.

Section 1.05 Fiscal Year. The fiscal year of the Partnership (the "Fiscal Year") shall end on December 31 of each year, except that it may be changed at any time by the General Partner in its sole discretion. In the event that the General Partner changes the Partnership's Fiscal Year, the dates and time periods referred to in this Agreement shall be appropriately adjusted.

Section 1.06 Term of Partnership. The term of the Partnership commenced upon filing of the Partnership's Certificate with the Delaware Secretary and shall continue indefinitely; provided, however, that the Partnership shall be dissolved forthwith upon the occurrence of any one of the events set forth in Section 13.01.

ARTICLE II
COMPOSITION; ADMISSIONS

Section 2.01 Names of the Partners. Rand PE Fund Management, LLC, a Delaware limited liability company, is the sole general partner of the Partnership as of the date hereof. The names and addresses of the General Partner and of each of the Limited Partners shall be set forth in the records of the Partnership to be kept on file at all times at the principal place of business of the Partnership.

Section 2.02 Admission of Partners. Additional Limited Partners (as defined in Section 8.01) may be admitted to the Partnership at such times as provided in Article VIII. In connection with the admission of a Limited Partner to the Partnership, such Limited Partner shall, in advance of such admission and as a condition thereto, sign a copy of this Agreement or an agreement to become bound by the provisions of this Agreement and such other subscription materials as shall be determined by the General Partner. Upon the admission of a Limited Partner, the Initial Limited Partner listed on the signature page hereof shall automatically be deemed to have withdrawn from the Partnership. A substitute general partner and additional general partners may be admitted to the Partnership as provided in Article IV.

Section 2.03 Partnership Interests. For purposes of this Agreement, the term "Partnership Interest" shall mean the quotient resulting from dividing (i) the amount in a Partner's Capital Account (as defined in Section 9.01), including the fair value of such Partner's interests in any Side Pocket Accounts (as defined in Section 9.07) or New Issues Accounts (as defined in Section 9.08(a)) and other memorandum accounts, by (ii) the aggregate amount in the Capital Accounts of all Partners, including the fair value of any Side Pocket Accounts, New Issues Accounts and other memorandum accounts. "Partnership Interests" shall mean the sum of all amounts in the Capital Accounts of all Partners (including all Side Pocket Accounts, New Issues Accounts and other memorandum accounts).

Section 2.04 Issuance of Interests in Series.

(a) Pursuant to Section 17-218 of the Act, the Partnership Interests will be offered in separate series ("Series"). The Partnership is currently offering one Series of Partnership Interests: "Series 1 Partnership Interests". Each Series of Partnership Interests will have separate rights and obligations.

(b) In addition, each Series of Partnership Interests may correspond to a separate portfolio of assets, which may have different investment objectives and strategies. The Partnership may issue additional Series of Partnership Interests in the future, which may have rights and obligations that differ from those of the Series 1 Partnership Interests with respect to any matters, including without limitation, fees, withdrawal rights, participation in Side Pocket Accounts (as defined) and other rights and terms. The terms of such additional Series shall be determined by the General Partner, in its sole discretion.

(c) Each Series shall have separate rights, powers and duties with respect to its investment portfolio and other property and obligations and the profits and losses associated with such portfolio, property and obligations. The Partnership shall maintain separate and distinct records for each Series and shall hold and account for the assets and liabilities of such Series separately from other Series.

(d) Pursuant to Section 17-218 of the Act, (i) the debts, liabilities and obligations incurred, contracted for or otherwise existing with respect to a particular Series shall be enforceable against the assets of such Series only, and not against the assets of any other Series, and (ii) none of the debts, liabilities and obligations incurred, contracted for or otherwise existing with respect to the Partnership generally or any other Series shall be enforceable against the assets of such Series.

(e) Unless the context otherwise requires, Series 1 Partnership Interests and any other Series of Partnership Interests shall be collectively referred to throughout this Agreement as the "Partnership Interests." As the context may require, the holders of Series 1 Partnership Interests may be referred to herein as "Series 1 Limited Partners". Series 1 Limited Partners and, to the extent applicable, all the Limited Partners of other Series shall be collectively referred to throughout this Agreement the "Limited Partners".

(f) References herein to the Partnership shall include, where appropriate, each Series of the Partnership. The terms of the other Series may be set forth in an amended version of this Agreement and/or in a separate supplement thereto.

ARTICLE III
MANAGEMENT

Section 3.01 Management of Partnership

(a) The business and affairs of the Partnership shall be managed exclusively by the General Partner. The Limited Partners shall take no part in the management or control of the Partnership's business and shall have no authority to act for or bind the Partnership. The General Partner shall have sole discretion and authority to select investments, shall invest the funds of the Partnership from time to time as the General Partner deems appropriate in accordance with the purposes set forth in Section 1.03, and shall have (without limitation) the powers set forth in Section 3.02. The General Partner may select an investment manager ("Investment Manager") to provide all or any portion of the portfolio management services required by the Partnership, including the valuation of assets of the Partnership. The Investment Manager may be changed from time to time by the General Partner in its sole and absolute discretion. The initial Investment Manager shall be Rand Advisors, LLC, a Delaware limited liability company and an affiliate of the General Partner. If at any time there is no Investment Manager, then the General Partner shall provide such portfolio management services, and be subject to the provisions of this Agreement applicable to the Investment Manager.

(b) Each of the General Partner and the Investment Manager shall not be required to devote its full time to the business of the Partnership, but shall devote so much of its time and efforts to the affairs of the Partnership as may in its judgment be necessary to accomplish the purposes of the Partnership. Nothing herein contained shall prevent the General Partner or the Investment Manager from conducting any other business, including any business with respect to securities (and/or other investments), whether or not such business ventures are in direct or indirect competition with the Partnership. Each of the General Partner and the Investment Manager is not prohibited from buying or selling securities for its own account, including the same securities (and/or other investments) as are purchased, sold or held by the Partnership, but none of the General Partner, the Investment Manager or any of their respective affiliates (which shall not include, for purposes of this paragraph, advisory clients or managed funds) shall buy securities (and/or other investments) from or sell securities (and/or other investments) to the Partnership without the written consent of either all Limited Partners or a committee of independent Limited Partners.

(c) Specifically, as of the date hereof: (i) the Investment Manager acts as the investment manager to Atlas IDF, LP, a Delaware "series" limited partnership ("IDF Fund") that is structured as an insurance-dedicated fund and is expected to invest a portion of its assets in the Partnership; (ii) Atlas IDF GP, LLC, a Delaware limited liability company and an affiliate of the General Partner and the Investment Manager, is the general partner of the IDF Fund; (iii) the Principal (as defined in the Memorandum) is the managing member and controlling person of Atlas IDF GP, LLC; and (iv) the Investment Manager acts as the investment subadvisor to a series of SALI Multi-Series Fund, L.P., a Delaware "series" limited partnership, and provides certain discretionary investment advisory or consulting services to such series, as further set forth in the Memorandum.

Section 3.02 Powers of the General Partner. Without in any way intending to limit the powers of the General Partner, the General Partner shall have the right, power and authority on behalf of the Partnership (or to delegate any portion of such rights, power and authority):

(a) As provided in Section 3.01, to allocate all of the assets of the Partnership among securities (and/or other investments) to be selected by the General Partner in its sole and absolute discretion, including, but not limited to the right to:

(i) purchase, hold and sell securities (and/or other investments) and rights therein of any kind or nature;

(ii) purchase, hold, sell and otherwise deal in put and call options, monetary instruments and any combinations thereof and any other financial instruments or contracts of any nature or kind;

(iii) maintain margin accounts with brokers, pledge securities for loans and, in connection with any such pledge, effect borrowings from brokers or banks in such amounts as may be determined from time to time; and

(iv) transact business through brokers and dealers and other persons selected by the General Partner in its sole discretion, and in selecting such brokers, dealers and other persons, and determining the compensation payable to such persons, it shall seek to obtain the best execution for the Partnership taking into account the value of any research and brokerage services or products provided by such persons to the General Partner or the Partnership even though other persons may be able to provide transactional services (without any accompanying research or brokerage services or products) at lower rates of compensation;

(b) To acquire and enter into any contract of insurance that the General Partner deems necessary or appropriate for the protection of the Partnership and the General Partner or for any purpose convenient or beneficial to the Partnership;

(c) To engage in any transaction with affiliates of the General Partner, including entering into and amending and restating an investment management agreement with the Investment Manager (any such agreement, in effect from time to time, "Investment Management Agreement"), subject to the restrictions in Section 3.01(b);

(d) To employ persons, whether full-time or part-time, in the operation and management of the business of the Partnership, on such terms and for such compensation as the General Partner shall determine, regardless of whether or not such persons also may be employed by the General Partner or its affiliates;

(e) To file, conduct and defend legal proceedings of any form, including proceedings against Partners, and to compromise and settle any such proceedings or any claims, including claims against Partners, on whatever terms deemed appropriate by the General Partner;

(f) To open brokerage, bank and other accounts and, to the extent that funds are not invested, to deposit and maintain such funds in the name of the Partnership in such accounts and to temporarily invest such funds in short term United States and/or foreign government securities, money market accounts and/or other short term interest-bearing instruments; provided, however, that the Partnership's funds shall not be commingled with the funds of any other person or entity;

(g) To cause the Partnership to make or revoke any of the elections referred to in Section 754 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended ("Code"), or any similar provision enacted in lieu thereof;

(h) To act as the "tax matters partner" of the Partnership within the meaning of Section 6231(a)(7) of the Code;

(i) To select as its accounting year the annual period ending December 31 or any other Fiscal Year as is permitted by the Internal Revenue Service ("IRS");

(j) To engage independent accountants, attorneys, investment managers, sub-advisers, broker-dealers, administrators, custodians, consultants and such other persons as the General Partner may deem necessary or advisable;

(k) To establish and maintain for the conduct of Partnership affairs one or more offices and in connection therewith rent or acquire office space, engage personnel, whether part time or full time, and do such other acts and incur such expenses as the General Partner may deem necessary or advisable in connection with the maintenance or administration of such office;

(l) To require a provision in any Partnership contract that the General Partner shall not have any personal liability therefor, but that the person or entity contracting with the Partnership is to look solely to the Partnership and its assets for satisfaction;

(m) To purchase and sell Partnership assets at such price or amount for cash, securities or other property and upon such terms as are deemed in the General Partner's absolute discretion to be in the best interests of the Partnership;

(n) To prepare (or cause to be prepared), execute, acknowledge and/or deliver any and all instruments to effectuate the business of the Partnership, including, but not limited to, annual and/or interim reports, a copy of which shall be delivered to each Partner, as provided in Sections 3.06(b) and 13.05;

(o) To effect on behalf of the Partnership any "agency cross transaction" (as contemplated in Rule 206(3)-2 under the U.S. Investment Advisers Act of 1940, as amended ("Advisers Act")) through the General Partner or any of its affiliates that is registered as a broker or dealer; provided that the authority granted in this subsection may be revoked at any time by the General Partner or by vote or consent of Limited Partners owning more than fifty percent (50%) of the Partnership Interests held by Limited Partners;

(p) To "cross" any transaction for the purchase or sale of securities between two or more advisory clients or managed funds, including the Partnership (as contemplated in Rule 206(3) under the Advisers Act and interpretations thereunder) ("Cross Trading"); provided that the General Partner receives no additional compensation in connection with such Cross Trading activities, and subject to the restrictions in Section 3.01(b);

(q) To waive or reduce, in whole or in part, any notice period, minimum amount requirement, or other limitation or restriction imposed on Capital Contributions (as defined in Section 8.01), withdrawals of capital, any fee, any payment to the General Partner and/or any requirement imposed on a Limited Partner by this Agreement, regardless of whether such notice period, minimum amount, limitation, restriction, withdrawal provision, fee, payment or other requirement of this Agreement, or the waiver or reduction thereof, operates for the benefit of the Partnership, the General Partner or fewer than all the Limited Partners;

(r) To establish such reserves for the Partnership as the General Partner shall, in its sole but reasonable discretion, deem appropriate to pay current and future, definite, contingent and possible obligations of the Partnership or a Series (even if such reserves are not in accordance with U.S. generally accepted accounting principles ("GAAP"));

(s) To value the assets and liabilities of the Partnership;

(t) To create special purpose vehicles to make or pursue investments either alone or as a joint-venture with other persons or entities;

(u) To establish and offer multiple Series of Partnership Interests with such rights and privileges as the General Partner shall determine, and to amend this Agreement in connection therewith to reflect such multi-Series structure;

(v) To convert the Partnership from a stand-alone fund into a "feeder fund" as part of a master-feeder structure, and to amend this Agreement pursuant thereto to reflect such master-feeder structure;

(w) To create a liquidating fund entity (e.g., a liquidating trust or similar vehicle), and to transfer all or a portion of the Partnership's assets to such entity for any reason, including an orderly liquidation of any illiquid Partnership assets; and

(x) To do any act, engage in any activity or execute any agreement of any nature, necessary or incidental to the accomplishment of the purposes of the Partnership in accordance with the provisions of this Agreement, the Memorandum and all applicable federal, state and local laws and regulations.

Section 3.03 Actions of General Partner. The General Partner is authorized, directed and empowered to act individually on behalf of the Partnership, and in accordance therewith, to execute all documents and instruments on behalf of the Partnership. Third parties may rely on the execution of any documents on behalf of the Partnership by the General Partner.

Section 3.04 Liability and Indemnification

(a) None of the General Partner, the Investment Manager or any of the Investment Manager Affiliates (as defined in Section 6.02(a)) shall be liable to the Partnership or the Limited Partners for any action or inaction in connection with the business and affairs of the Partnership unless such action or inaction is determined by a final, non-appealable decision of a court of competent jurisdiction to constitute gross negligence or willful misconduct. It shall be conclusively presumed and established that the General Partner, the Investment Manager and such persons acted in good faith if any action is taken, or not taken, by any of them on the advice of legal counsel or other independent outside consultants; provided that the General Partner, the Investment Manager and such persons did not act with gross negligence or willful misconduct in the selection of such counsel or consultants. Any exculpation under this Section 3.04(a) shall apply only to the extent that such exculpation does not violate applicable federal and state laws.

(b) The Partnership shall indemnify and hold harmless the General Partner, the Investment Manager and the Investment Manager Affiliates (which, for purposes of this Section 3.04(b), shall include fund counsel (except for legal malpractice)) from and against any and all claims, liabilities, obligations, judgments, suits, proceedings, actions, demands, losses, costs, expenses (including attorneys' fees and other expenses of litigation), damages, penalties or interest, as a result of any claim or legal proceeding (made or threatened) related to any action or inaction by any of them in connection with the business and affairs of the Partnership (including the settlement or appeal of any such claim or legal proceeding); provided, however, that the party against whom the claim is made or legal proceeding is directed is not guilty of gross negligence or willful misconduct, as determined by a final, non-appealable decision of a court of competent jurisdiction. Any indemnity under this Section 3.04(b) shall be paid from and to the extent of Partnership assets only, and shall apply only to the extent that such indemnity does not violate applicable federal and state laws. The Partnership shall, in the sole discretion of the General Partner, advance amounts and/or pay expenses as incurred in connection with the indemnification obligation herein. In the event this indemnification obligation shall be deemed unenforceable, whether in whole or in part, such unenforceable portion shall be stricken or modified so as to give effect to this paragraph to the fullest extent permitted by law. For the avoidance of doubt, the foregoing indemnification provisions shall apply on a Seriesby-Series basis.

(c) If, to the extent, and at such times as, any assets of the Partnership are deemed to be "plan assets" within the meaning of the Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974, as amended ("ERISA"), of any Limited Partner that is an employee benefit plan governed by ERISA, the General Partner shall be, and hereby acknowledges that it shall be considered to be, a fiduciary within the meaning of Section 3(21) of ERISA as to that Limited Partner. In such an event, or if any manager, member, officer, employee, agent or affiliate of the General Partner, is ever held to be a fiduciary of any Limited Partner, then, in accordance with Sections 405(b)(1), 405(c)(2) and 405(d) of ERISA, the fiduciary responsibilities of that person shall be limited to the person's duties in administering the business of the Partnership, and the person shall not be responsible for any other duties to such Limited Partner, specifically including evaluating the initial or continued appropriateness of this investment in the Partnership under Section 404(a)(1) of ERISA.

Section 3.05 No Prohibition Against Other Business Ventures. Each of the General Partner, the Investment Manager, the Principal and the Investment Manager Affiliates may engage and hold interests in other business ventures of every kind and description for its own account, including, without limitation, other investment entities similar to the Partnership, whether or not such business ventures are in direct or indirect competition with the Partnership, and whether or not the Partnership or any of the Partners also has an interest therein, without having to account to the Partnership or any Partner for any profits or other benefits derived therefrom and without incurring any obligation to offer any interest in any such activity to the Partnership or any Partner.

Section 3.06 Duty to Keep Books, Financial and Tax Reports

(a) At all times during the existence of the Partnership, the General Partner shall keep true and complete records and books of account, in which each transaction of the Partnership shall be entered fully and accurately. The General Partner has the power, in its sole and absolute discretion, to delegate some or all of the administrative bookkeeping functions relating to the Partnership to an administrator or other agent, which may be the Partnership's accountants.

(b) The General Partner shall cause to be prepared and distributed to each Partner as soon as practicable following each Fiscal Year the Partnership's annual financial statements prepared in accordance with GAAP (except to the extent that the Memorandum or this Agreement states or contemplates that such statements may be inconsistent with GAAP) and audited by an independent certified public accounting firm. The General Partner shall also have prepared and filed all federal, state and local income, franchise, gross receipts, payroll and other tax returns that the Partnership is obligated to file. Subject to the limitations set forth in Section 5.04, copies of all Partnership tax returns, information returns or reports shall be available to all Partners as soon as possible after the close of the Partnership's Fiscal Year at the principal office of the Partnership. Copies of each Partner's Schedule K-1 of the Partnership's Tax Return (Form 1065) shall be distributed to such Partner as soon as practicable after the close of the Partnership's Fiscal Year. The General Partner may agree to provide certain Limited Partners with additional information on the underlying investments of the Partnership, as well as heightened access to the General Partner, the Investment Manager and their respective employees for relevant information. For the avoidance of doubt, the foregoing reporting provisions shall apply on a Series-by-Series basis.

(c) Notwithstanding anything to the contrary herein, the General Partner may at any time choose to change the Partnership's accounting guidelines from GAAP to the International Financial Reporting Standard ("IFRS"). In such event, the financial performance of the Partnership, as determined under IFRS, may vary from those determined under GAAP.

ARTICLE IV
GENERAL PARTNER RESIGNATION; TRANSFER OF GENERAL PARTNER INTEREST;

CONTINUATION OF PARTNERSHIP; SUBSTITUTION OF GENERAL PARTNER

Section 4.01 General Partner Resignation and Involuntary Withdrawal; Admission of Additional General Partners and Transfer by General Partner

(a) The General Partner shall not be permitted to voluntarily withdraw or resign as the general partner of the Partnership, except upon no less than thirty (30) days' prior written notice to all Limited Partners. In the event of dissolution of the General Partner, or if a voluntary or involuntary petition for bankruptcy shall be filed by or against the General Partner, or the General Partner shall make any assignment for the benefit of its creditors (any of the foregoing, an "Involuntary Withdrawal"), the General Partner or the General Partner's trustee, receiver or assignee shall have none of the rights and powers of a general partner hereunder, and shall have no authority to act on behalf of the Partnership or have any voice in the management and operation of the Partnership, except as provided in Section 13.02.

(b) The General Partner may admit additional general partners to the Partnership at such times as the General Partner shall determine, without the consent of the Limited Partners. Notwithstanding anything herein to the contrary, the General Partner shall have the right to transfer its interest, as the general partner of the Partnership, to any affiliate of the General Partner, including any person or entity controlled by the General Partner, controlling the General Partner or under common control with the General Partner, without the consent of the Limited Partners. In the event of such transfer by the General Partner to an affiliate, the General Partner shall not be deemed to have resigned or withdrawn from the Partnership for purposes of Section 13.01(a). Any affiliate transferee of the General Partner under this Section 4.01(b) shall assume the status of and shall have all of the rights, powers and obligations that the General Partner possessed prior to such transfer. The General Partner shall not assign, transfer, sell, mortgage or otherwise encumber or transfer its interest as the general partner of the Partnership, except as set forth herein. Any additional general partner or transferee of the General Partner shall execute and acknowledge any and all instruments that are necessary or appropriate to effect the admission of any such person or entity as a general partner, including, without limitation, the written acceptance and adoption by such person of the provisions of this Agreement and, if required by the Act, an amendment of the Certificate. For the avoidance of doubt, should the General Partner transfer its interest, as the general partner of the Partnership, to any non-affiliate of the General Partner, the Limited Partners shall have the right to revoke such appointment within ninety (90) days after such event, by affirmative vote of Limited Partners owning more than fifty percent (50%) of the Partnership Interests held by Limited Partners.

Section 4.02 Continuation of Partnership; Appointment of Substitute General Partner by Limited Partners. If an event as set forth in Section 13.01(a) occurs, the Limited Partners shall have the right, within ninety (90) days after such event, by affirmative vote of Limited Partners owning more than fifty percent (50%) of the Partnership Interests held by Limited Partners, to appoint a substitute general partner, in which event the Partnership shall not dissolve and shall continue its existence.

Section 4.03 Substitute General Partner Requirements. Any substitute general partner shall execute and acknowledge any and all instruments that are necessary or appropriate to effect the admission of any such person or entity as a substitute general partner, including, without limitation, the written acceptance and adoption by such person of the provisions of this Agreement and, if required by the Act, an amendment of the Certificate. Any successor to such office of general partner shall assume the status of and shall have all of the rights, powers and obligations that the General Partner possessed prior to its withdrawal, resignation or Involuntary Withdrawal from the Partnership.

ARTICLE V
STATUS, RIGHTS, POWERS AND VOTING RIGHTS OF LIMITED PARTNERS

Section 5.01 Limited Liability. No Limited Partner, Substitute Limited Partner (as defined in Section 10.02) or Additional Limited Partner shall be personally liable or bound for the expenses, liabilities or obligations of the Partnership or the relevant Series beyond the amount in such Partner's Capital Account in the relevant Series, from time to time, including any amounts thereof attributable to Capital Contributions, except that such Partner may be obligated to return all or a portion of any distributions (including withdrawal proceeds) received from the Partnership (x) in an amount up to its aggregate Capital Contributions in the relevant Series (including any income or gains thereon) to the Partnership in order to pay such Partner's pro rata share of any Partnership liabilities that arose while such Partner held Partnership Interests, and (y) as required under Section 5.02(b).

Section 5.02 Capital Contributions

(a) No Limited Partner shall be entitled to a return of such Limited Partner's Capital Contribution or any portion thereof, except as set forth in Section 7.01, and no time has been agreed upon for the return of any Partner's Capital Contribution, except as herein provided.

(b) Each Limited Partner, if such Limited Partner receives a return of all or any part of such Limited Partner's Capital Contribution, may, to the extent provided for in the Act, be liable to the Partnership or the relevant Series for an amount equal to such distribution, if at the time of such distribution, the Limited Partner knew the Partnership or the relevant Series was prohibited from making such distribution under the Act.

Section 5.03 Liability of Limited Partner for Additional Contributions and Loans. No Limited Partner shall be obligated to provide any contributions to the Partnership, other than the Original Capital Contribution (as defined in Section 9.02) of such Limited Partner. No Limited Partner shall be obligated to make any loan to the Partnership.

Section 5.04 Rights of Limited Partners to Inspect Books, Records, and Partnership Documents. Upon reasonable advance written notice and during reasonable business hours, a Limited Partner may inspect and copy, at the Limited Partner's expense and solely for a purpose reasonably related to the Limited Partner's interest as a Partner, the records of the Partnership required to be maintained pursuant to Section 17-305 of the Act and any financial statements maintained by the Partnership. Any such inspection must be in good faith without any intent to damage the Partnership or any of its Partners in any manner. Notwithstanding the foregoing, the General Partner in its discretion may limit the information that a Limited Partner may obtain pursuant to this Section 5.04 to the extent that such information shall allow a Limited Partner to identify any other Limited Partner. As a result, each Limited Partner agrees and acknowledges that any books and records of the Partnership made available to a Limited Partner for inspection may be redacted to exclude any information concerning the identity of the other Limited Partners, and, to the extent such books and records cannot be so redacted, such books and records may be withheld for inspection to such requesting Limited Partner. Copies of this Agreement and all amendments hereto shall be furnished to each Limited Partner upon request. For the avoidance of doubt, the foregoing reporting provisions shall apply on a Series-by-Series basis.

Section 5.05 No Restriction on Other Activities. Limited Partners may engage and hold interests in business ventures of every kind and description for their own accounts, including, without limitation, business ventures which are, directly or indirectly, in competition with the Partnership and whether or not the Partnership or any of the Partners also has an interest therein. Neither the Partnership nor any of the Partners shall have any rights in such independent business ventures by virtue of this Agreement.

Section 5.06 Voting Rights. In addition to the rights to vote conferred upon the Limited Partners in Sections 3.01(b), 3.02, 4.02 and 13.02 or otherwise specifically set forth herein, Limited Partners shall have the right to vote on amendments to this Agreement to the extent provided in Section 14.08.

Section 5.07 Constructive Consent by Limited Partners. In the event that the General Partner requires the consent of the Limited Partners in order to take action (including approving amendments to this Agreement), and written notice of such action is sent to any such Limited Partners by (i) certified mail, return receipt requested, (ii) electronic mail, or (iii) overnight delivery by a reputable private carrier or by the postal service, those Limited Partners not affirmatively objecting in writing within thirty (30) days after such notice is deemed to have been mailed or sent (under Section 14.01) be deemed to have consented to the proposed action set forth in the General Partner's notice.

Section 5.08 Rights as to Dissolution. The Limited Partners shall have no right or power to cause the dissolution and winding up of the Partnership by court decree or otherwise or to withdraw or reduce their Capital Contributions, except as set forth in the Certificate and this Agreement. No Limited Partner shall have the right to bring an action for partition against the Partnership, and each Partner hereby waives any right to partition of the Partnership's property.

Section 5.09 Consent by Partners in Lieu of Meeting. Any action required by this Agreement or the Act to be taken at any regular or special meeting of the Partners, may be taken without a meeting, without prior notice and without a vote, if a consent or consents in writing, setting forth the action so taken, shall be signed by the Partners (or shall be deemed signed by the Partners pursuant to Section 5.07) having not less than the minimum number of votes that would be necessary to authorize or take such action at a meeting at which all Partners entitled to vote thereon were present and voted.

Section 5.10 Non-Voting Interests of BHC Limited Partners; Other Non-Voting Interests

(a) The portion of any Partnership Interest held for its own account by a BHC Limited Partner (as defined in this Section 5.10(a)) whose interests in the Partnership are determined, at any time, to be in excess of 4.99% (or such greater or lesser percentage as may be permitted or required from time to time under Section 4(c)(6) of the Bank Holding Company Act of 1956, as amended ("BHCA")) of the aggregate outstanding Partnership Interests of all Limited Partners, excluding any other Partnership Interests that are non-voting Partnership Interests pursuant to this Section 5.10, shall be deemed to be non-voting Partnership Interests to the extent of such excess above 4.99% (whether or not subsequently transferred, in whole or in part, to any other person or entity) (collectively, "Non-Voting Interests"); provided that such Non-Voting Interests shall be permitted to participate in any vote by the Limited Partners on (i) any proposal to dissolve or continue the business of the Partnership under this Agreement, (ii) any vote pursuant to Section 4.02, and (iii) matters with respect to which voting rights are not considered to be "voting securities" under 12 C.F.R. § 225.2(q)(2), including such matters which may "significantly and adversely" affect a BHC Limited Partner (such as amendments to this Agreement or modifications of the terms of its Partnership Interest). Except as provided in Section 13.01(a), a BHC Limited Partner shall not be permitted to vote on the selection of any successor general partner of the Partnership, and each BHC Limited Partner irrevocably waives its right to vote its Non-Voting Interest on the selection of a successor general partner of the Partnership under Section 17-801 of the Act, which waiver shall be binding upon such BHC Limited Partner or any person or entity that succeeds to its Partnership Interest. A "BHC Limited Partner" shall mean any Limited Partner that is, or is an affiliate of, a bank holding company (as defined in Section 2(a) of the BHCA) that is subject to the provisions of Regulation Y issued by the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System.

(b) To the extent permitted by the BHCA, and except as otherwise provided in this Section 5.10, Non-Voting Interests shall not be counted as Partnership Interests held by any Limited Partner for purposes of determining whether any vote or consent required by this Agreement has been approved or given by the requisite percentage of the Limited Partners.

(c) Notwithstanding the foregoing, any BHC Limited Partner may elect to no longer be treated as a BHC Limited Partner for the purposes of this Agreement by delivering written notice of such election to the General Partner. Any such election made by a BHC Limited Partner may be rescinded at any time by providing written notice thereof to the General Partner.

(d) The General Partner may, for legal, regulatory or other reasons, designate any other Partnership Interests as non-voting, in whole or in part. Except as provided in this Section 5.10, a Partnership Interest held by a Limited Partner as a non-voting Partnership Interest shall be identical in all regards to all other Partnership Interests held by Limited Partners.

(e) For the avoidance of doubt, the provisions of this Section 5.10 shall apply on a Series-by-Series basis.

ARTICLE VI
FEES AND EXPENSES; BROKERAGE PRACTICES

Section 6.01 Management Fee.

(a) In consideration for services provided pursuant to the Investment Management Agreement, the Investment Manager shall receive a quarterly management fee ("Management Fee") equal to a percentage of each Limited Partner's share of the Partnership's Net Asset Value (as defined in Section 9.04), and based on the Partnership's total Net Asset Value, as follows:

Partnership's Total Net Asset Value	Management Fee (per annum)
$0 - $99,999,999	0.5500%
$100,000,000 - $199,999,999	0.5000%
$200,000,000 - $249,999,999	0.4500%
$250,000,000 - $499,999,999	0.3500%
> $500,000,000	0.3400%

For the avoidance of doubt, the Management Fee calculated based on the foregoing schedule will be calculated on a "progressive" basis. For example, if the Partnership's Net Asset Value reaches $150,000,000, the initial $99,999,999 will always be charged a Management Fee of 0.55000% annually. The benefit of the declining Management Fee schedule above is intended to benefit all Limited Partners as each Capital Account will be charged a blended Management Fee based on the above schedule.

The Management Fee shall be calculated and payable to the Investment Manager quarterly, in advance, as of the first day of each calendar quarter. A pro rata Management Fee shall be charged to Limited Partners on any amounts accepted by the General Partner during a calendar quarter. No part of the Management Fee shall be refunded in the event that a Limited Partner withdraws, whether voluntarily or involuntarily, all or any of the value in such Limited Partner's Capital Account during any calendar quarter. Management Fees shall be payable with respect to the Partnership Interests of a Limited Partner in any Side Pocket Account.

(b) For purposes of calculating the Management Fee with respect to Side Pocket Accounts, Illiquid Investments (each as defined in Section 9.07) shall be carried at their fair value (which may be at, above or below cost) as determined by the Investment Manager.

(c) With respect to any Limited Partner who has requested to withdraw all of its Partnership Interests from the Partnership, with the exception of any Partnership Interests maintained in a Side Pocket Account, the Partnership may reserve an amount from the withdrawing Limited Partner's withdrawal proceeds in order to cover the estimated accrued Management Fees and expenses attributable to the Limited Partner's Partnership Interests in the Side Pocket Account based on the Investment

Manager's estimate of the time period that the Illiquid Investments held in the Side Pocket Account shall remain in such Side Pocket Account (collectively, the "Management Fee Reserve"). The Management Fee Reserve shall be treated as a liability of the Partnership, and the balance of the Management Fee Reserve, if any, shall be paid to the withdrawing Limited Partner, without interest, upon such Limited Partner's complete withdrawal from the Side Pocket Account.

Section 6.02 Expenses

(a) Organizational and Initial Offering Expenses. The Partnership shall pay or reimburse the General Partner, the Investment Manager and/or their respective managers, members, shareholders, directors, officers, partners, employees, agents and/or affiliates (collectively, "Investment Manager Affiliates") for all organizational and initial offering expenses of the Partnership, including, but not limited to, legal and accounting fees, printing and mailing expenses and government filing fees (including blue sky filing fees). The Partnership's organizational and initial offering expenses may be, for accounting purposes, capitalized and amortized by the Partnership for up to sixty (60) months from the date the Partnership commences operations. Amortization of such expenses is a divergence from GAAP. In certain circumstances, this divergence may result in a qualification of the Partnership's annual audited financial statements. In such instances, the Partnership may elect to: (i) avoid the qualification by recognizing the unamortized expenses or (ii) make GAAP-conforming changes for financial reporting purposes, but capitalize and amortize expenses for purposes of calculating the Partnership's Net Asset Value (resulting in a divergence in Fiscal Year-end Net Asset Values reported in the Partnership's financial statements, and as otherwise applicable under the provisions of this Agreement). If the Partnership capitalizes and amortizes such expenses and is then terminated within sixty (60) months of its commencement, any unamortized expenses shall be recognized. If a Limited Partner makes a withdrawal prior to the end of the period during which the Partnership is capitalizing and amortizing expenses, the Partnership may, but is not required to, accelerate a proportionate share of the unamortized expenses based upon the amount being withdrawn and reduce withdrawal proceeds accordingly.

(b) Operating Expenses. The Partnership shall pay or reimburse the General Partner, the Investment Manager and/or the Investment Manager Affiliates for: (i) all expenses incurred in connection with the ongoing offer and sale of Partnership Interests, including, but not limited to, printing of the Memorandum and exhibits, marketing expenses and documentation of performance and the admission of Limited Partners, (ii) all operating expenses of the Partnership, such as tax preparation fees, governmental fees and taxes, fees to the Partnership's administrator ("Administrator"), costs of communications with Limited Partners, and ongoing legal, accounting, auditing, bookkeeping, consulting and other professional fees and expenses, (iii) all Partnership research, trading and investment-related costs and expenses (e.g., brokerage commissions, research fees, margin interest, expenses related to short sales, custodial fees, bank service fees, and clearing and settlement charges), (iv) technology-related costs and expenses, including, but not limited to, software licenses, data feeds and colocation expenses, (v) all expenses related to attending any conference or seminar related to alternative investments (e.g., registration, transportation, accommodation or meal expenses), (vi) regulatory and other filing fees and expenses, (vii) travel expenses related to meeting with management teams, or related to any of the other categories of expenses set forth herein, (viii) any costs and expenses incurred by the Partnership in connection with converting from a stand-alone fund into a "feeder fund" as part of a master-feeder structure, (ix) director and officer liability insurance or other insurance premiums for any principal or employee of the Partnership, the General Partner, the Investment Manager or any of the Investment Manager Affiliates, (x) all fees and other expenses incurred in connection with the investigation, prosecution or defense of any claims, assertion of rights or pursuit of remedies, by or against the Partnership, including, without limitation, professional and other advisory and consulting expenses, and (xi) any and all costs and expenses incurred in connection with the dissolution, winding up, or termination of the Partnership. Each of the General Partner, the Investment Manager or any of the Investment Manager Affiliates, in its sole discretion, may from time to time pay for any of the foregoing Partnership expenses. Any such person may elect to be reimbursed for such expenses, or to waive its right to reimbursement for any such expenses, as well as terminate any such voluntary payment or waiver of reimbursement.

(c) Allocation of Expenses Among Series. The General Partner and/or the Investment Manager will allocate all expenses attributable to the Partnership among the Series on a pro rata basis or otherwise in their reasonable discretion.

(d) General Partner and Investment Manager Expenses. The General Partner and the Investment Manager shall pay for their own general operating and overhead expenses associated with providing the management and investment management services required under this Agreement and the Investment Management Agreement, respectively. These expenses include all expenses incurred by the General Partner and the Investment Manager in providing for their normal operating overhead, including, but not limited to, the cost of providing relevant support and administrative services (e.g., employee compensation and benefits, rent, office equipment, computer systems, insurance (other than as expressly set forth above), utilities, telephone, secretarial and bookkeeping services, etc.), but not including any Partnership operating expenses described above. The General Partner and the Investment Manager may use "soft dollar" commissions or rebates by brokerage firms of commissions generated by the Partnership's brokerage transactions executed through those firms to pay for certain brokerage and research products and services that fall within the safe harbor under Section 28(e) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended, as set forth in the Memorandum.

Section 6.03 Marketing Fees and Sales Charges. The General Partner and/or the Investment Manager may sell Partnership Interests through broker-dealers and pay a marketing fee or commission in connection with such activities, including ongoing payments, at the General Partner's or the Investment Manager's own expense. The General Partner and/or the Investment Manager may also deduct a percentage of the amount invested by a Limited Partner in the Partnership to pay sales fees or charges, on a fully disclosed basis, to a broker-dealer based upon the Capital Contribution of such Limited Partner introduced to the Partnership by such broker-dealer. Any such sales fees or charges would be assessed against the referred Limited Partner and would reduce the amount actually invested by such Limited Partner in the Partnership. If a Limited Partner is introduced to the Partnership through a broker-dealer that is not affiliated with the General Partner and/or the Investment Manager, the arrangement, if any, with such broker-dealer shall be disclosed to, and acknowledged by, such Limited Partner.

Section 6.04 Directed Brokerage. The Investment Manager is authorized to direct Partnership brokerage transactions to brokers or other persons who refer prospective Limited Partners to the Partnership. The Investment Manager is authorized to pay finders' fees or other compensation at its own expense to such persons.

Section 6.05 Allocation of Investment Opportunities. The Investment Manager may at times determine that certain investments shall be suitable for acquisition by the Partnership and by other accounts managed by the Investment Manager, the Investment Manager's own accounts or accounts of an affiliate. If that occurs, and the Investment Manager is not able to acquire the desired aggregate amount of such investments on terms and conditions which the Investment Manager deems advisable, the Investment Manager shall endeavor to allocate in good faith the limited amount of such investments acquired among the various accounts for which the Investment Manager considers them to be suitable. The Investment Manager may make such allocations among the accounts in any manner which it considers to be fair under the circumstances, including, but not limited to, allocations based on relative account sizes, the degree of risk involved in the investments acquired, and the extent to which such investments are consistent with the investment policies and strategies of the various accounts involved.

Section 6.06 Aggregation of Orders. The Investment Manager may aggregate purchase and sale orders of investments held by the Partnership with similar orders being made simultaneously for other accounts or entities if, in the Investment Manager's reasonable judgment, such aggregation is reasonably likely to result in an overall economic benefit to the Partnership based on an evaluation that the Partnership shall be benefited by relatively better purchase or sale prices, lower commission expenses or beneficial timing of transactions, or a combination of these and other factors. In some instances, the purchase or sale of investments for the Partnership may be effected simultaneously with the purchase or sale of like investments for other accounts or entities. Such transactions may be made at slightly different prices, due to the volume of investments purchased or sold. In such event, the average price of all investments purchased or sold in such transactions may be determined, at the Investment Manager's sole discretion, and the Partnership may be charged or credited, as the case may be, with the average transaction price.

ARTICLE VII
WITHDRAWALS FROM CAPITAL ACCOUNT; DISTRIBUTIONS

Section 7.01 Permissible Withdrawals. A Limited Partner may withdraw all or any of the value in such Limited Partner's Capital Account in any Series in the manner and to the extent provided in Section 7.02. Each of the General Partner and its principals and affiliates may withdraw all or any of the value in its respective Capital Account at any time, from time to time, without the consent of the Limited Partners and without notice to any of the Limited Partners.

Section 7.02 Withdrawal Procedures

(a) Subject to the Lock-Up Period (as defined in Section 7.02(b)) and certain other restrictions described herein, each Limited Partner may withdraw a minimum of $100,000 as of the last day of each calendar quarter and at such other times as the General Partner may determine in its sole discretion (each such date shall be referred to herein as a "Withdrawal Date"), upon at least ninety-one (91) days' prior written notice to the Administrator, with a copy to the General Partner. Unless the General Partner consents, partial withdrawals may not be made if they would reduce a Limited Partner's Capital Account balance below $500,000. All withdrawals shall be deemed made prior to the commencement of the following calendar quarter (or other relevant period).

(b) Each Capital Contribution by a Limited Partner to the Partnership will be subject to a twelve (12)-month lock-up period ("Lock-Up Period") during which such capital may not be withdrawn from the Partnership, unless the Lock-Up Period is waived or reduced by the General Partner. If a Limited Partner purchases Partnership Interests on multiple dates, each tranche of Partnership Interests will be tracked separately for purposes of the Lock-Up Period, and withdrawals will be deemed made from Partnership Interests purchased on the earliest date (as adjusted for changes in the Net Asset Value). For the avoidance of doubt, the foregoing Lock-Up provisions shall apply on a Series-by-Series basis.

(c) Notwithstanding anything to the contrary herein, the General Partner cannot guarantee that the assets of the Partnership will be invested in a manner which would allow the General Partner to satisfy withdrawal requests. The General Partner may, in its sole discretion: (i) defer withdrawal requests until the Partnership's assets mature or are liquidated in due course, (ii) elect to purchase with its own funds the Partnership Interests of the withdrawing Partner, or (iii) borrow from a third party or draw from a line of credit, subject to availability and other factors, in order to fund any withdrawal.

(d) A Limited Partner may not withdraw any of the amounts in its Capital Account that are attributable to the value of an Illiquid Investment held in a Side Pocket Account until such time that such Illiquid Investment (or the sales proceeds thereof) is reallocated to such Limited Partner's Capital Account. At the sole discretion of the Investment Manager, an Illiquid Investment may be held in a Side Pocket Account until the occurrence of a Realization Event (as defined in Section 9.07). For the avoidance of doubt, any investment made by Series 1 into the Highland Transaction (if any) may be held in a Side Pocket Account indefinitely.

(e) The following provision shall apply to withdrawals, on a Series-by-Series basis:

(i) A Limited Partner who requests any withdrawal of capital that constitutes, together with prior withdrawals within any Fiscal Year, less than ninety percent (90%) of the value of such Limited Partner's Capital Account (excluding any amounts held in any Side Pocket Accounts) shall be paid within ninety (90) days after the applicable Withdrawal Date.

(ii) In the event that a Limited Partner requests a withdrawal of capital that constitutes, together with prior withdrawals within any Fiscal Year, ninety percent (90%) or more of the value of such Limited Partner's Capital Account (excluding any amounts held in any Side Pocket Accounts), the General Partner may reduce the amounts paid after any Withdrawal Date so that they constitute, in the aggregate during such Fiscal Year ninety percent (90%) of an amount estimated by the General Partner to be the amount to which the withdrawing Limited Partner is entitled in the aggregate (calculated on the basis of unaudited data); such amount will be paid within ninety (90) days after the applicable Withdrawal Date. The balance of the amount payable upon such withdrawal shall be paid, without interest, within ninety (90) days after completion of the audited financial statements for the Fiscal Year in which the withdrawal occurs. Notwithstanding the foregoing, the General Partner may, in its sole discretion, agree to pay up to the full Capital Account balance (calculated on the basis of unaudited data) to a withdrawing Limited Partner within ninety (90) days after the applicable Withdrawal Date, subject to adjustment based on audited financial statements. To the extent that the sum previously paid to a withdrawing Limited Partner is calculated to have exceeded the amount to which it is entitled, that Limited Partner shall be required to repay to the Partnership the balance.

(f) The General Partner may, in its sole discretion, require a Limited Partner to withdraw any or all of the value of such Limited Partner's Capital Accounts on at least five (5) days' notice for any reason or no reason; provided, however, that the General Partner may require such a withdrawal on less (or no) notice in order to comply with any laws and regulations applicable to the Partnership and/or its affiliates.

(g) The Partnership or the relevant Series has the right to pay cash or in-kind, or a combination of both, to a Limited Partner that makes a withdrawal from such Limited Partner's Capital Account under this Article VII.

(h) All withdrawals shall be subject to the General Partner's power to establish such reserves for the Partnership or a Series as the General Partner shall, in its sole but reasonable discretion, deem appropriate to pay current and future, definite, contingent and possible obligations of the Partnership or a Series (even if such reserves are not in accordance with GAAP), including estimated expenses in connection therewith, which could reduce the amount of a distribution upon withdrawal.

(i) All notices of withdrawal must specify the dollar amount or percentage of value of a Limited Partner's Capital Account to be withdrawn. The General Partner, in its sole discretion, may waive or modify any of the terms relating to withdrawals, including, without limitation, minimum amounts, notice periods and the Lock-UP Period, for all or any of the Limited Partners in its discretion without notice to the other Limited Partners.

(j) If the General Partner, in its sole discretion, permits a Limited Partner to withdraw capital other than on a regularly scheduled Withdrawal Date, the General Partner may impose an administrative fee to cover the actual legal, accounting, administrative, brokerage, and any other costs and expenses associated with such withdrawal. Such fee shall be payable to the relevant Series of the Partnership and shall be deducted from the withdrawal proceeds of the withdrawing Limited Partner as of such Withdrawal Date.

(k) Upon withdrawal of all of the capital in its Capital Account (excluding for purposes hereof, any remaining investments held in a Side Pocket Account), a Limited Partner shall be deemed to have withdrawn from the Partnership or the relevant Series and, upon notice of such withdrawal, a Limited Partner shall not be entitled to exercise any voting rights afforded to Limited Partners under this Agreement.

Section 7.03 Limitations on Withdrawals

(a) The Partnership or a Series may suspend (or postpone) withdrawals, subscriptions, calculations of Net Asset Value and/or payments upon any withdrawals (in whole or in part) from Capital Accounts:

(i) during the existence of any state of affairs which, in the opinion of the General Partner, makes the disposition of the Partnership's investments impractical or prejudicial to the Partners, or where such state of affairs, in the opinion of the General Partner, makes the determination of the price or value of the Partnership's investments impractical or prejudicial to the Partners;

(ii) where any such withdrawals, subscriptions, calculations and/or payments, in the opinion of the General Partner, would result in the violation of any applicable law or regulation;

(iii) if the General Partner determines, in its sole discretion, that such suspension or postponement is prudent in order to prevent the Partnership from being subject to adverse tax or regulatory implications; or

(iv) for such other reasons or for such other periods as the General Partner may in good faith determine.

(b) All Limited Partners shall be notified in writing of any such suspension or postponement and the termination thereof. Following any suspension or postponement of withdrawals, a withdrawal request made by a Limited Partner prior to such suspension or postponement shall be effected as of the first Withdrawal Date following the recommencement of withdrawals.

(c) For the avoidance of doubt, the following "gate" provisions shall apply on a Series-by-Series basis. In the event that Limited Partners, in the aggregate, request, as of any Withdrawal Date, withdrawals of more than twenty-five percent (25%) of the aggregate balances of the Partnership's Capital Accounts (excluding any Side Pocket Accounts), the requested amounts may, in the General Partner's sole discretion, be reduced to an amount equal to twenty-five percent (25%) of the aggregate Capital Account balances of the Partnership (excluding any Side Pocket Accounts) as of such date, and satisfied on a pro rata basis, based on the respective amounts of requested withdrawals of capital by each withdrawing Limited Partner. Capital withdrawal requests that are deferred due to such limitation may be revoked by the withdrawing Limited Partner, and if not revoked, will be aggregated with other withdrawal requests received for subsequent Withdrawal Dates. In the interim, all of the remaining capital in such Limited Partner's Capital Account (including the capital subject to such deferred withdrawal request) shall remain subject to the performance of the Partnership.

Section 7.04 Distributions

(a) The Partnership (or any Series) is not required, and generally does not intend, to make any distributions of cash or other property. However, the Partnership (or any Series) may make such distributions at such times and in such amounts as the General Partner shall determine in its sole discretion.

(b) All distributions hereunder (other than those made related to withdrawals from Capital Accounts) shall be made pro rata to all Partners in accordance with their relative Capital Accounts (or Side Pocket Accounts, New Issues Accounts or other memorandum accounts, as applicable) at the time of any such distribution. The General Partner may set up such reserves as it shall determine shall be appropriate or necessary to accomplish the purposes of the Partnership (even if such reserves are not in accordance with GAAP). If the Partnership (or a Series) shall distribute property other than cash pursuant to this Section 7.04, the Capital Accounts of the Partners shall be adjusted as if such property were sold at the value of such property as determined under Section 9.04, and the cash proceeds of such sale were distributed.

ARTICLE VIII
ADDITIONAL LIMITED PARTNERS

Section 8.01 Future Issuance of Partnership Interests. The General Partner may admit as of the first day of each month (each such date, a "Contribution Date"), or at any other time that the General Partner determines in its sole and absolute discretion, as additional Limited Partners ("Additional Limited Partners"), persons who contribute cash or, in the General Partner's sole discretion, persons who contribute securities (and/or other investments), for Partnership Interests ("Capital Contributions"). If the General Partner consents to a Limited Partner's contribution of securities (and/or other investments) to the Partnership, the Partnership may, in the General Partner's discretion, assess a special charge against such Limited Partner equal to the actual costs incurred by the Partnership in connection with accepting such contributed securities (and/or other investments), including, but not limited to, the costs of liquidating, or otherwise adjusting the Partnership's portfolio to accommodate, such securities (and/or other investments), and legal, accounting and administration costs. Such special charge shall be assessed as of such dates deemed appropriate by the General Partner. Any securities (and/or other investments) accepted as a Capital Contribution shall be valued by the General Partner, in its sole discretion, using the valuation criteria set forth in Section 9.04.

ARTICLE IX
CAPITAL ACCOUNTS; CAPITAL CONTRIBUTIONS; NET ASSET VALUE ADJUSTMENTS; TAXABLE INCOME AND LOSS AND DISTRIBUTIONS

Section 9.01 Capital Accounts. A Partner's "Capital Account" as of a particular date shall consist of the following:

(a) an amount equal to the Partner's Original Capital Contribution;

(b) the increases, if any, to such account by reason of Additional Capital Contributions (as defined in Section 9.03(a));

(c) the decreases, if any, to such account by reason of withdrawals (and distributions) from such Capital Account; and

(d) the increases or decreases, if any, to such Capital Account in accordance with the provisions of this Article IX.

Capital Accounts shall be maintained in accordance with the provisions of Treasury Regulations Section 1.704-1(b)(2), or any successor provisions thereto.

Section 9.02 Original Capital Contributions. A Partner's "Original Capital Contribution" shall be the amount of the cash, or in the sole discretion of the General Partner, securities (and/or other investments), contributed by such party upon such Partner's admission as a Partner. The General Partner may establish such minimum Original Capital Contribution as the General Partner deems appropriate and that minimum may thereafter be waived or changed by the General Partner. In the event an Original Capital Contribution is accepted as of any day other than a Contribution Date, the General Partner shall cause appropriate adjustments to be made for purposes of applying the accounting and allocation provisions of this Agreement. At any time that a Partner is admitted, the General Partner shall end the prior accounting period on the day prior to the date of the acceptance of the Original Capital Contribution, and commence a new accounting period on the date of such admission, and upon such admission, the Partnership Interests shall be adjusted and reallocated based upon the Capital Accounts of the respective Partners.

Section 9.03 Additional Capital Contributions

(a) A Partner shall be permitted, with the consent of the General Partner, to make additional Capital Contributions in an amount deemed appropriate by the General Partner in cash or, in the sole discretion of the General Partner, securities (and/or other investments) ("Additional Capital Contributions") to the capital of the Partnership as of any Contribution Date, or at any other time that the General Partner determines in its sole and absolute discretion. In the event an Additional Capital Contribution is accepted as of any day other than a Contribution Date, the General Partner shall cause appropriate adjustments to be made for purposes of applying the accounting and allocation provisions of this Agreement. At any time that Additional Capital Contributions are accepted pursuant to this Section 9.03, the General Partner shall end the prior accounting period on the day prior to the date of the acceptance of the Additional Capital Contributions, and commence a new accounting period on the date of such acceptance, and upon such acceptance, the Partnership Interests shall be adjusted and reallocated based upon the Capital Accounts of the respective Partners. Any securities accepted as an Additional Capital Contribution shall be valued by the General Partner, in its sole discretion, using the valuation criteria set forth in Section 9.04.

(b) In connection with an Additional Capital Contribution by an existing Limited Partner, the General Partner shall (i) treat such Additional Capital Contribution as a Capital Contribution with respect to one of such Limited Partner's existing Capital Accounts or (ii) establish a new Capital Account to which such Capital Contribution shall be credited and which shall be maintained for the benefit of such Limited Partner separately from any existing Capital Account of such Limited Partner. Such separate Capital Account may be maintained for any purpose, in the discretion of the General Partner, including the calculation of the Performance Allocation, the Loss Carryforward (each as defined in Section 9.05) and/or the Lock-Up Period. If a Limited Partner has more than one Capital Account, any withdrawals by or distributions to such Limited Partner shall be applied to such Capital Accounts in such manner and proportion as the General Partner shall determine in its sole discretion.

Section 9.04 Determination of Net Asset Value

(a) The net asset value ("Net Asset Value") of the Partnership, on a Series-by-Series basis, shall be determined on an accrual basis of accounting, as of the end of each calendar month (or other period, as the case may be), in accordance with GAAP, consistently applied (except that: (x) organizational and initial offering expenses of the Partnership may be capitalized and amortized over a period of up to sixty (60) months from the date the Partnership commences operations and (y) reserves may be taken that are inconsistent with GAAP), the Memorandum and the following:

(1) No value shall be assigned to goodwill;

(2) All accrued debts and liabilities shall be treated as liabilities, including, but not limited to, all compensation payable to the Investment Manager that has been earned but not yet paid (e.g., Management Fees), any allowance for the Partnership's estimated annual audit and legal fees and other operating expenses and any contingencies for which reserves are required;

(3) Securities, commodities and other financial instruments (other than options) that are listed on a national securities, commodities or other exchange, or over-the-counter instruments listed on NASDAQ, shall be valued at their last sales prices on such date or, if no sales occurred on such date, at the midpoint between the last "bid" and "ask" prices for such securities, commodities or financial instruments on such date;

(4) Options that are listed on a securities or commodities exchange shall be valued at their last sales prices on the date of determination on the largest securities or commodities exchange (by trading volume) on which such options shall have traded on such date; provided that, if the last sales prices of such options do not fall between the last "bid" and "ask" prices for such options on such date, then such options shall be valued at the midpoint between the last "bid" and "ask" prices for such options on such date;

(5) Securities, commodities, options and other financial instruments that are not listed on an exchange or quoted on an over-the-counter market, but for which there are available quotations, shall be valued based upon quotations obtained from market makers, dealers or pricing services;

(6) Securities (and/or other investments) contributed to the Partnership as subscription proceeds shall be treated as if purchased by the Partnership at market value on the date of contribution, and securities (and/or other investments) distributed from the Partnership as withdrawal proceeds shall be treated as if sold by the Partnership at market value on the date of distribution;

(7) Net profits and net losses from New Issues (as defined in Section 9.08(a)) shall only be credited or debited to the Net Asset Value of the New Issues Accounts, except to the extent permitted by the applicable rules of the FINRA (as defined in Section 9.08(a)), in which case a portion of the net profits and net losses from New Issues may be credited or debited to the Net Asset Value of the Capital Accounts of Limited Partners who are Restricted Persons (as defined in Section 9.08(a)) up to an amount permitted by applicable FINRA rules;

(8) Any securities, commodities, options and other financial instruments that have no public market, investments in other asset classes (including those in Side Pocket Accounts), and all other assets of the Partnership for which a valuation methodology is not specified, shall be valued by the Investment Manager in a manner determined in good faith to reflect their fair market value; and

(9) The Investment Manager intends to engage an independent third-party valuation agent (in addition to the Administrator) to appraise the Partnership's interests in Illiquid Investments.

(b) If the Investment Manager determines, in its sole discretion, that the valuation of any security, commodity, option or other financial instrument does not fairly represent its market value, the Investment Manager shall value such security, commodity, option or other financial instrument as it reasonably determines.

(c) In connection with the determination of the Net Asset Value of the Partnership, the Investment Manager may consult with and is entitled to rely upon the advice of the Partnership's brokers and any other third parties deemed appropriate by the Investment Manager. In no event and under no circumstances shall the Investment Manager, the Partnership's brokers or such other third parties incur any individual liability or responsibility for any determination made or other action taken or omitted by them in good faith.

(d) Absent bad faith or manifest error, all Net Asset Value determinations pursuant to this Agreement are conclusive and binding as to all Partners.

(e) After the foregoing determinations have been made, a further calculation shall be made to determine the increase or decrease in Net Asset Value of the Partnership during the month (or other time period, as the case may be) just ended. The term "increase in Net Asset Value" shall be the excess of Net Asset Value at the end of any month (or other time period, as the case may be) over that of the Net Asset Value of the Partnership as of the end of the preceding period, after adjusting for Capital Contributions, distributions and withdrawals. The term "decrease in Net Asset Value" shall be the amount by which the Net Asset Value at the end of the month (or other time period, as the case may be) is less than the Net Asset Value of the Partnership as of the end of the preceding period, after making the adjustments specified above.

Section 9.05 Allocation of Increases and Decreases in Net Asset Value; Performance Allocation

(a) Any net increase or decrease in Net Asset Value during any month (or such other period, as the case may be) shall be allocated as of the end of such month (or such other period, as the case may be) to the Capital Account of each Partner in the proportion which such Partner's Capital Account bore to the sum of the Capital Accounts of all the Partners as of the beginning of such month (or such other period, as the case may be); provided that net increases or decreases in Side Pocket Accounts, New Issues Accounts and other memorandum accounts shall be allocated as provided in Sections 9.07 and 9.08, respectively.

(b) In consideration for the management services provided pursuant to this Agreement, the General Partner shall receive a performance allocation ("Performance Allocation") at the close of each Fiscal Year (or such other applicable period that this allocation is made in accordance with this Agreement, as the case may be) equal to five percent (5%) of the net increase in Net Asset Value (including realized and unrealized gains and losses and net of the Management Fee) attributable to each Limited Partner's Capital Account for such Fiscal Year (or other applicable period), as determined on the accrual basis of accounting; provided, however, that the Performance Allocation shall be subject to a Loss Carryforward (as described below in Section 9.05(g)); and provided further that, notwithstanding the foregoing, General Partner shall not charge any Performance Allocations with respect to the first $50 million of Limited Partners' Capital Contributions to the Partnership.

(c) The Performance Allocation shall not include any change in the value of an Illiquid Investment held in a Side Pocket Account until such Illiquid Investment (or the sales proceeds thereof) has been reallocated from such Side Pocket Account to the Capital Accounts of participating Partners. Notwithstanding the foregoing, any income generated from an Illiquid Investment shall be transferred to and included in the Capital Accounts of participating Partners for purposes of calculating the Performance Allocation.

(d) The General Partner shall also receive the Performance Allocation with respect to any amounts withdrawn by a Limited Partner, whether voluntary or involuntary, and upon dissolution of the Partnership under Article XIII. The Performance Allocation shall be allocated to the General Partner in addition to, and separately from, the allocations of net increases or decreases in Net Asset Value to its Capital Account pursuant to Section 9.05(a).

(e) In the event of a net decrease in the Net Asset Value of the Capital Account of any Limited Partner in any Fiscal Year (or other relevant Performance Allocation period), the amount of such net decrease shall be recorded and carried forward as a "Loss Carryforward". Any net increase in the Net Asset Value of the Capital Account of such Limited Partner in a subsequent Fiscal Year (or other period) shall be applied to reduce (but not below zero) such Loss Carryforward balance (and, conversely, any net decrease in Net Asset Value shall be applied to increase such Loss Carryforward balance). No Performance Allocation shall be allocated in any subsequent Fiscal Year (or other period) in respect of such Capital Account until the Loss Carryforward has been fully recovered as described above, and in such Fiscal Year (or other period) of such recovery, the Performance Allocation shall be calculated based on the excess net increase in Net Asset Value of such Capital Account (i.e., after being applied to reduce the Loss Carryforward to zero). However, in the event that a Limited Partner withdraws funds at a time in which such Limited Partner's Capital Account has a Loss Carryforward, the amount of such Loss Carryforward at such Withdrawal Date applicable to such Limited Partner's Capital Account shall be reduced by a percentage equal to one hundred percent (100%) multiplied by a fraction, the numerator of which is the amount to be withdrawn from the Limited Partner's Capital Account, and the denominator of which is the amount in such Capital Account immediately prior to the withdrawal.

(f) Notwithstanding the provisions set forth above, if the Partnership has a material item of income or loss in any fiscal period which relates to a matter or transaction occurring during a prior fiscal period (e.g., if the Partnership wins a cash settlement in a case it began in a prior period) the item of income or loss may, at the sole discretion of the General Partner, be shared among the Partners (including persons who ceased to be Partners) in accordance with each such Partner's Partnership Interest in the Partnership during the prior period.

Section 9.06 Allocations for Tax Purposes; General Partner Discretion on Allocations; Withholding

(a) Ordinary income, gains, losses and deductions of the Partnership for each Fiscal Year shall accrue to, and be borne by, the Partners in proportion to their sharing of net increases or decreases in Net Asset Value, the allocations of various types of taxable income and losses likewise being as nearly as possible proportionate.

(b) All allocations under this Section 9.06 shall be made pursuant to the principles of Section 704 of the Code and in conformity with Treasury regulations promulgated thereunder ("Regulations"), or the successor provisions to such Code Section and Regulations.

(c) All matters concerning the allocation of profits, gains and losses among the parties (including the taxes thereon) and accounting procedures not expressly provided for by the terms of this Agreement shall be determined by the General Partner in its sole discretion, and the General Partner is expressly permitted to use the aggregate method of apportioning taxable gain and loss under Treasury Regulation Section 704(b). The General Partner is expressly authorized to make special allocations to the Partners of such gains or income as shall be necessary to satisfy the "qualified income offset" requirements of Treasury Regulations Section 1.704-1(b)(2)(ii)(d). The General Partner's determination of the foregoing matters shall be final and conclusive as to all parties.

(d) Notwithstanding anything to the contrary contained in this Agreement, in the event a Partner withdraws all of the capital in its Capital Account from the Partnership (excluding any amounts held in Side Pocket Accounts), the General Partner shall have the discretion to specially allocate an amount of the Partnership's taxable gains or losses to the withdrawing Partner to the extent that the Partner's Capital Account exceeds, or is less than, its federal income tax basis in its Partnership Interest.

(e) Any taxes, fees or other charges that the Partnership is required to withhold under applicable law with respect to any Partner shall be withheld by the Partnership (and paid to the appropriate government authority) and shall be deducted from the Capital Account of such Partner as of the last day of the Fiscal Year (or earlier if the Partner withdraws) with respect to which amounts are required to be withheld.

(f) For the avoidance of doubt, the provisions of this Section 9.06 shall apply on a Series-by-Series basis.

Section 9.07 Side Pocket Accounts

(a) The Investment Manager may designate that certain investments held by a Series of the Partnership be carried in one or more separate memorandum accounts (each, a "Side Pocket Account") for such period of time as the Investment Manager determines. Such investments may include: (i) privately placed, unregistered securities, commodities, options and other financial instruments, or those investments that, in the opinion of the Investment Manager, do not have a readily ascertainable market value; (ii) other illiquid securities that may be valued but are not freely transferable; and (iii) investments in other asset classes (such as real estate) and other property that are not traded on public exchanges (each, as designated by the Investment Manager, along with follow-on investments, if any, an "Illiquid Investment"). For the avoidance of doubt, (i) there will be no limitation on the percentage of the Partnership's portfolio that may be carried in a Side Pocket Account, and (ii) any investment made by Series 1 into the Highland Transaction (if any) may be held in a Side Pocket Account indefinitely. Illiquid Investments held in a Side Pocket Account shall be carried at their fair value (which may be at, above or below cost) as determined by the Investment Manager.

(b) At the sole discretion of the Investment Manager, an Illiquid Investment may be held in a Side Pocket Account until the occurrence of a Realization Event. Upon a Realization Event, such Illiquid Investment (or the sales proceeds thereof) shall be reallocated, pro rata, from the Side Pocket Account to the Capital Accounts of participating Partners in accordance with their respective interests in such Side Pocket Account. Until such reallocation, a Limited Partner may not withdraw any of the amounts in its Capital Account that are attributable to the value of Illiquid Investments held in a Side Pocket Account. Upon such reallocation, a Limited Partner that has withdrawn all of its capital from the Partnership other than the capital attributable to such Side Pocket Account shall receive an amount equal to its interest in such Side Pocket Account (net of: (i) any accrued Management Fees and accrued expenses (to the extent not covered by the Partnership's reserves, including the Management Fee Reserve), and (ii) the Performance Allocation, if any, with respect thereto) within ninety (90) days after such reallocation. A "Realization Event" occurs: (1) when an Illiquid Investment becomes liquid, as determined in the reasonable discretion of the Investment Manager; (2) when an Illiquid Investment is sold or otherwise disposed of by the Partnership; (3) when circumstances otherwise exist that, in the reasonable judgment of the Investment Manager, conclusively establish a value for an Illiquid Investment, as determined in the reasonable discretion of the Investment Manager (including, without limitation, when additional securities substantially similar to the Illiquid Investment have been issued by the issuer of the Illiquid Investment); or (4) as otherwise determined in the sole discretion of the Investment Manager.

(c) Newly-admitted Limited Partners may not participate in Illiquid Investments that were placed in a Side Pocket Account prior to their admission. Notwithstanding any provisions of this Agreement to the contrary, any expenses relating specifically to a Side Pocket Account shall be charged to the Partners participating in such account in proportion to their respective interests therein, as of the commencement of such Side Pocket Account.

(d) If the Investment Manager in its discretion designates any investment as a follow-on investment to an existing Illiquid Investment (each, a "Follow-On Investment"), only the Partners participating in such original investment shall participate in such Follow-On Investment in proportion to their interest in the related Side Pocket Account; provided, however, that if a Partner shall have withdrawn from the Partnership, the General Partner shall equitably adjust the interests of the remaining participating Partners to reflect such withdrawn Partner's non-participation in the Follow-On Investment. In its discretion, the Investment Manager need not designate as a "Follow-On Investment" an additional investment in the same or similar opportunity as the investment for which a Side Pocket Account has been established, but instead may designate such investment as a new investment with a separate Side Pocket Account. Additionally, the Investment Manager, in its sole and absolute discretion, may determine that, for various reasons, an asset that initially was not an Illiquid Investment should be categorized as an Illiquid Investment.

Section 9.08 New Issues; Other Memorandum Accounts for Restricted Transactions.

(a) From time to time, the Partnership may invest in initial public offerings of equity securities ("New Issues"). Under rules adopted by the Financial Industry Regulatory Authority ("FINRA"), (i) certain persons engaged in the securities, banking or financial services industries (and members of their immediate families) and (ii) certain persons who are affiliated with companies that are current, former or prospective investment banking clients of the Partnership's broker(s) (collectively, "Restricted Persons") are restricted from participating in New Issues, each subject to a de minimis exemption ("De Minimis Limit"). To the extent necessary to comply with FINRA rules, in addition to the Partnership's regular Capital Accounts and any Side Pocket Accounts, the General Partner may establish one or more memorandum accounts that are authorized to participate in New Issues (each, a "New Issues Account"). Participation in New Issues Accounts shall be limited to (i) those Limited Partners who are not Restricted Persons, and (ii) those Limited Partners who are Restricted Persons, but only to the extent that such participation by Restricted Persons does not exceed the De Minimis Limit. To the extent not prohibited by applicable FINRA rules, the General Partner shall be entitled to receive the Performance Allocation with respect to any profits arising from New Issues trades.

(b) In the event a New Issues Account is established, to effect a transaction in New Issues, the requisite funds shall be transferred from the Partnership to the New Issues Account. Securities held in the New Issues Account shall be held there until they are eventually sold or transferred. Upon the sale or other disposition of New Issues (including any transfer of the underlying securities in the New Issues Account to the Capital Accounts of all of the Partners after such securities no longer constitute New Issues), any profits or losses resulting from securities transactions in the New Issues Account in any fiscal period shall be credited or debited to the Capital Accounts of Limited Partners participating in the New Issues Account in accordance with their interests therein. In the event that the Partnership establishes one or more New Issues Accounts, the General Partner shall be authorized to make an equitable adjustment to account for the fact that Limited Partners that are not Restricted Persons were receiving profits based in part on the capital of Limited Partners that are Restricted Persons. Such adjustment may, in the sole and absolute discretion of the General Partner, and to the extent not prohibited by rules of FINRA, consist of: (i) assessing an interest charge to the Capital Accounts of Limited Partners that are not Restricted Persons, in favor of the Partnership, in an amount deemed appropriate to compensate the Partnership for the use of capital by Limited Partners that are not Restricted Persons in connection with New Issue trades; or (ii) such other adjustment as the General Partner considers equitable and is not inconsistent with the rules of FINRA.

(c) In addition to the foregoing provisions with respect to New Issues Accounts and Side Pocket Accounts, to the extent that certain Limited Partners are restricted from participating in any transactions of the Partnership by applicable laws or regulations, or for any other reason determined by the General Partner in good faith, the General Partner may, in its discretion, establish one or more separate memorandum accounts to hold such investments and isolate ownership away from such non-participating Limited Partners. Only those Limited Partners who the General Partner determines are eligible shall participate in such accounts. In the event that the Partnership establishes one or more memorandum accounts, the General Partner shall be authorized to make an equitable adjustment to account for the fact that participating Limited Partners were receiving profits based in part on the capital of non-participating Limited Partners. Such adjustment may, in the sole and absolute discretion of the General Partner, consist of: (i) assessing an interest charge to the Capital Accounts of participating Limited Partners, in favor of the Partnership, in an amount deemed appropriate to compensate the Partnership for the use of capital by participating Limited Partners in connection with such trades; or (ii) such other adjustment as the General Partner considers equitable.

ARTICLE X
RESTRICTIONS ON TRANSFERS OF PARTNERSHIP INTERESTS OF LIMITED PARTNERS; ADMISSION OF SUBSTITUTE LIMITED PARTNERS; OTHER MATTERS AFFECTING PARTNERSHIP INTERESTS

Section 10.01 Restrictions on Transfer of Partnership Interests of Limited Partners

(a) Except for transfers by will or intestate succession or by operation of law, no Limited Partner may offer, sell, transfer, assign, exchange, hypothecate or pledge, or otherwise dispose of or encumber (hereinafter collectively, "Transfer" or "Transferred"), in whole or in part, such Limited Partner's Partnership Interest without the consent of the General Partner, which may be given or withheld in the sole and absolute discretion of the General Partner.

(b) No Limited Partner may Transfer, in whole or in part, such Limited Partner's Partnership Interest if, in the General Partner's discretion, such Transfer could result in the termination of the Partnership for federal income tax purposes, and any purported Transfer that could result in the termination of the Partnership for federal income tax purposes shall be void ab initio. In its sole and absolute discretion, the General Partner may request a written opinion of counsel acceptable to the General Partner (the expenses of which may be allocated to the relevant Limited Partner) as to whether any contemplated Transfer could result in the termination of the Partnership for federal income tax purposes, and the General Partner shall be entitled to rely conclusively upon such opinion in determining whether such Transfer could result in the termination of the Partnership and whether consent to such disposition should be given.

(c) The Partnership Interests may not be transferred without documentation acceptable to the General Partner, which may include a written opinion of counsel acceptable to the General Partner (the expenses of which may be allocated to the relevant Limited Partner) that such proposed Transfer may be effected without:

(i) registration of the Partnership Interest being made under the Securities Act of 1933, as amended;

(ii) violating any applicable state securities or "blue sky" law (including investment suitability standards) or the laws of any other jurisdiction;

(iii) the Partnership becoming subject to the Investment Company Act of 1940, as amended ("1940 Act"); or

(iv) violating the Act.

(d) In no event shall the Partnership Interest of a Limited Partner or any portion thereof be Transferred to a minor or incompetent, unless by will or intestate succession.

Section 10.02 Admission of Substitute Limited Partner

(a) Subject to the provisions of this Article X, an assignee of the Partnership Interest of a Limited Partner (which shall include any purchaser, transferee, donee or other recipient of any disposition of such Partnership Interest) shall be deemed admitted to the Partnership as a Limited Partner (a "Substitute Limited Partner") only upon the satisfactory completion of the following:

(i) consent of the General Partner shall have been given, which may be given or withheld in the sole and absolute discretion of the General Partner and which shall be evidenced by a written document executed by the General Partner;

(ii) the assignee shall have accepted and agreed to be bound by the terms and provisions of this Agreement (as it may be amended from time to time) by executing a counterpart hereof and such assignee shall have expressly assumed all of the rights and obligations of the assignor Limited Partner hereunder, and shall have executed such other documents or instruments as the General Partner may require in its sole and absolute discretion in order to effect the admission of such person as a Limited Partner;

(iii) an amendment to the Certificate, if required by the Act (in the opinion of the General Partner), evidencing the admission of such person as a Limited Partner shall have been filed;

(iv) the assignee shall have delivered a letter containing a representation that the assignee's acquisition of the Partnership Interest is made as a principal, for the assignee's own account, for investment purposes only and not with a view to the resale or distribution of such Partnership Interest, and that the assignee will not Transfer such Partnership Interest or any fraction thereof to anyone in violation of this Agreement;

Section 10.03 Rights of Assignee of Partnership Interest

(a) Subject to Section 10.01(b), if a Limited Partner Transfers all or a portion of such Limited Partner's Partnership Interest, involuntarily, by operation of law or voluntarily, without the consent required by this Article X, the transferee or assignee shall: (i) be entitled only to receive that proportion of profit and loss, and any distribution of Partnership assets, attributable to the Partnership Interest acquired by reason of such disposition from and after the effective date of such disposition, and only upon written notification of same to the General Partner consistent with Section 10.03(b); and (ii) have no other rights as a Limited Partner unless admitted as a Substitute Limited Partner in accordance with the terms of this Agreement.

(b) Subject to the provisions of Section 10.01, and except as required by operation of law, the Partnership shall not be obligated for any purposes whatsoever to recognize the assignment by any Limited Partner of such Limited Partner's Partnership Interest until the General Partner has received notice thereof.

(c) Any person or entity who is the assignee of all or any portion of the Partnership Interest of a Limited Partner, but who has not become a Substitute Limited Partner, and desires to make a further disposition of such Partnership Interest, shall be subject to all the provisions of this Article X to the same extent and in the same manner as any Limited Partner desiring to make a disposition of such Limited Partner's Partnership Interest.

Section 10.04 Effect of Bankruptcy, Death or Incompetence of a Limited Partner. The bankruptcy, dissolution or winding up of a Limited Partner, the death of a Limited Partner or an adjudication that a Limited Partner is incompetent (which term shall include, but not be limited to, insanity), shall not cause the termination, wind-down or dissolution of the Partnership and the business of the Partnership shall continue. If a Limited Partner becomes bankrupt, dissolved or wound up, the trustee or receiver of such Limited Partner's estate or, if a Limited Partner dies, such Limited Partner's executor, administrator or trustee, or, if such Limited Partner is adjudicated incompetent, such Limited Partner's committee, guardian or conservator, shall have the rights of such Limited Partner for the purposes of settling or managing such Limited Partner's estate or property and such power as the bankrupt, deceased or incompetent Limited Partner possessed to dispose of all or any part of such Limited Partner's Interest and to join with any assignee in satisfying conditions precedent to the admission of the assignee as a Substitute Limited Partner.

(a) Such Limited Partner shall provide promptly, upon request by the General Partner, all financial data, documents, reports, certifications or other information necessary or appropriate to enable the Partnership to apply for and obtain an exemption from the registration provisions of applicable law and any other information required by governmental agencies having jurisdiction over the Partnership.

(b) There is no misrepresentation contained in the Subscription Documents and the forms attached thereto completed by such Limited Partner.

(c) If such Limited Partner is a corporation, partnership, limited liability company, trust or other entity, that the officer (or other signatory) signing on its behalf has been duly authorized to execute and deliver this Agreement and, to the extent requested by the General Partner, the Certificate.

ARTICLE XII
SPECIAL POWER OF ATTORNEY

Section 12.01 Execution and Consent. Each Limited Partner hereby irrevocably constitutes and appoints the General Partner and its respective successors (hereinafter referred to as "Special Attorney") as the attorney-in-fact for such Limited Partner with power and authority to act in the Limited Partner's name and on the Limited Partner's behalf to execute, acknowledge, swear to and file documents and instruments necessary or appropriate to the conduct of the Partnership's business, which shall include, but not be limited to, the following:

(a) the Certificate and this Agreement, as well as amendments thereto as required by the laws of any state, or any other jurisdiction, or as otherwise permitted under the terms of this Agreement;

(b) any other certificates, instruments and documents, including fictitious name certificates, as may be required by, or may be appropriate under, the laws of any state;

(a) is a special power of attorney, coupled with an interest, and is accordingly

irrevocable;

(b) may be exercised by the Special Attorney for each Limited Partner either by signing separately as attorney-in-fact for each Limited Partner or, by executing any instrument with the single signature of such Special Attorney acting as attorney-in-fact for all of the Limited Partners; and

(c) shall survive the assignment by a Limited Partner of the whole or any portion of such Limited Partner's Partnership Interest; provided that where the assignee has been approved in accordance with the provisions of this Agreement for admission to the Partnership as a Substitute Limited Partner, the Power of Attorney shall survive such assignment for the sole purpose of enabling the Special Attorney to execute, acknowledge and file any instrument necessary to effect such substitution.

ARTICLE XIII
DISSOLUTION AND LIQUIDATION

Section 13.01 Dissolution. The Partnership shall be dissolved upon the earliest to occur of:

(a) the withdrawal, resignation or Involuntary Withdrawal of the General Partner, or any other event that results in such entity ceasing to be a general partner, unless the remaining Limited Partners agree, within ninety (90) days after such event, to continue the Partnership with a new and qualified substitute general partner pursuant to and in accordance with the terms and conditions set forth in Article IV;

(b) an election to dissolve the Partnership made by the General Partner, in its discretion, upon thirty (30) days' prior written notice to the Limited Partners; or

(c) the happening of any other event, including the entry of a decree of judicial dissolution under Section 17-802 of the Act, that under the law of the State of Delaware, mandatorily requires the dissolution of the Partnership.

For the avoidance of doubt, the termination of the Partnership shall constitute the termination of all Series. For the avoidance of doubt, the termination of an individual Series, however, shall not constitute the termination of the Partnership.

Section 13.02 Liquidation. Upon the dissolution of the Partnership, the "Liquidators", namely: (i) the General Partner or, if there is no general partner at the time, or if the principal(s) of the General Partner are unable to act on its behalf, (ii) (A) the person or persons previously designated in writing by the General Partner and notified to the Partnership's auditors, or (B) if the General Partner has not made such a designation, the person or persons designated by Limited Partners owning more than fifty percent (50%) of the Partnership Interests held by Limited Partners, shall cause the cancellation of the Certificate, liquidate (or distribute) the assets of the Partnership, and apply and distribute the balance of the proceeds of such liquidation in accordance with the following order of priority: (1) pay off known liabilities; (2) establish reserves for contingent liabilities and expenses of liquidation (even if such reserves are not in accordance with GAAP); and (3) distribute the remainder to the Partners in proportion to the Capital Account balances maintained in accordance with the provisions of Section 9.01 and the Act. The Liquidators shall take all other steps necessary to wind up the affairs of the Partnership as promptly as practicable. To the extent reasonable, the business of the Partnership may continue to be conducted until liquidation is complete. For purposes hereof, the term "Liquidators" shall also include the trustees, receivers or other persons required by law to wind up the affairs of the Partnership.

Section 13.03 Notice of Dissolution

(a) Upon the dissolution of the Partnership or the relevant Series, the Liquidators shall promptly notify the Partners of such dissolution as well as known creditors and claimants whose addresses appear on the Partnership's or the relevant Series' records.

(b) The General Partner shall give at least fifteen (15) days' prior written notice to each Limited Partner that is a BHC Limited Partner (as defined in Section 5.10) of any proposal to distribute property in-kind to such Limited Partner and the proposed date of such distribution, and shall not make any such distribution in-kind to the extent that such Limited Partner advises the General Partner at least five (5) days prior to the date set forth in such notice for such distribution that such distribution in-kind could reasonably be expected to cause it to violate the BHCA. In the event that a BHC Limited Partner notifies the General Partner to such effect, the General Partner shall be authorized to make such arrangements for the property that it would have otherwise distributed in-kind as the General Partner shall determine in its reasonable discretion.

Section 13.04 Deferred Liquidation; Distribution In-Kind of Joint Interests in Property. For the avoidance of doubt, the following provisions of this Section 13.04 shall apply on a Series-by-Series basis. Notwithstanding the provisions of Section 13.02, if on dissolution of the Partnership the Liquidators shall determine that an immediate sale of part or all of the Partnership's assets would be impractical or would cause undue loss to the Partners, the Liquidators may, in their absolute discretion, either defer for a reasonable time the liquidation of any assets, except those necessary to satisfy liabilities of the Partnership (other than those to Partners), or distribute to the Partners, in lieu of cash, as tenants in common and in proportion to their respective interests in the Partnership, undivided interests in such Partnership assets as the Liquidators deem not suitable for liquidation. To the extent that the General Partner exercises its right, power and authority under Section 3.02(w), this Section shall be construed by the Liquidators in their reasonable discretion to give effect thereto.

Section 13.05 Final Statement. As soon as practicable after the dissolution of the Partnership or the relevant Series, a final statement of its assets and liabilities shall be prepared by the General Partner and/or the internal accountants for the Partnership or the relevant Series and furnished to the Partners.

ARTICLE XIV
GENERAL PROVISIONS

Section 14.01 Address and Notices. The address of each Partner (other than the General Partner) for all purposes shall be the address set forth on the signature page to this Agreement or such other address of which the General Partner has received written notice in accordance with this Section 14.01. The address of the General Partner for all purposes shall be the address set forth in Section 1.04 or such other address of which the General Partner has provided written notice to the Partners in accordance with this Section 14.01. Any notice, demand or request required or permitted to be given or made hereunder shall be in writing and shall be deemed given or made (i) when delivered in person, (ii) when sent to such Partner at such address by registered or certified mail, return receipt requested, or by electronic mail, or (iii) when delivered by overnight delivery by a reputable private carrier or by the postal service.

Section 14.02 Titles and Captions. All Article and Section titles and captions in this Agreement are for convenience only. They shall not be deemed part of this Agreement and in no way define, limit, extend or describe the scope or intent of any provisions hereof.

Section 14.03 Pronouns and Plurals. Whenever the context may require, any pronoun used herein shall include the corresponding masculine, feminine or neuter forms. The singular form of nouns, pronouns and verbs shall include the plural and vice versa.

Section 14.04 Further Action. The Limited Partners shall execute and deliver all documents, provide all information and take or forbear from taking all such action as may be necessary or appropriate, in the discretion of the General Partner, to achieve the purposes set forth in this Agreement.

Section 14.05 Governing Law, Personal Jurisdiction and Venue. EACH LIMITED PARTNER ACKNOWLEDGES AND AGREES THAT ANY CLAIM, CONTROVERSY, DISPUTE OR ACTION RELATING IN ANY WAY TO THIS AGREEMENT, THE SUBSCRIPTION AGREEMENT OR SUCH LIMITED PARTNER'S INVESTMENT IN THE PARTNERSHIP

SHALL BE GOVERNED SOLELY AND EXCLUSIVELY BY THE LAWS OF THE STATE OF DELAWARE, WITHOUT REGARD TO ANY CONFLICT OF LAWS DOCTRINES. EACH LIMITED PARTNER UNDERSTANDS AND AGREES THAT IT IS WAIVING THE PROTECTION OF STATUTES IN ITS STATE OF RESIDENCE THAT PROVIDE IT WITH CERTAIN RIGHTS, REMEDIES AND PROTECTIONS IN THE CASE OF FRAUD OR MISREPRESENTATION AND AGREES TO RELY SOLELY UPON THE LAWS OF THE STATE OF DELAWARE AND ANY APPLICABLE FEDERAL LAWS. EACH LIMITED PARTNER MAKES THIS WAIVER KNOWINGLY AND REPRESENTS THAT IT HAS CONSULTED INDEPENDENT COUNSEL, OR THAT IT HAS HAD THE OPPORTUNITY TO CONSULT WITH SUCH INDEPENDENT COUNSEL BUT HAS ELECTED NOT TO DO SO, AND AGREES THAT THE ONLY STATE LAWS THAT WILL APPLY TO THIS AGREEMENT, THE SUBSCRIPTION AGREEMENT AND ITS INVESTMENT IN THE PARTNERSHIP ARE THE LAWS OF THE STATE OF DELAWARE.

EACH OF THE LIMITED PARTNERS, FUND COUNSEL AND ANY OTHER PARTY TO THIS AGREEMENT, THE SUBSCRIPTION AGREEMENT OR ANY OTHER AGREEMENT REGARDING SUCH LIMITED PARTNER'S INVESTMENT IN THE PARTNERSHIP (COLLECTIVELY, FOR PURPOSES OF THIS CLAUSE, THE "PARTIES") IRREVOCABLY CONSENTS TO BEING SERVED WITH LEGAL PROCESS ISSUED FROM THE STATE AND FEDERAL COURTS LOCATED IN THE STATE OF NEW YORK AND IRREVOCABLY CONSENTS TO THE EXCLUSIVE PERSONAL JURISDICTION OF THE FEDERAL AND STATE COURTS SITUATED IN THE STATE OF NEW YORK. THE PARTIES IRREVOCABLY WAIVE ANY OBJECTIONS TO THE PERSONAL JURISDICTION OF THESE COURTS. SAID COURTS SHALL HAVE SOLE AND EXCLUSIVE JURISDICTION OVER ANY AND ALL CLAIMS, CONTROVERSIES, DISPUTES AND ACTIONS, OF ANY KIND OR MANNER, WHICH IN ANY WAY RELATE TO THIS AGREEMENT, THE SUBSCRIPTION AGREEMENT, OR SUCH LIMITED PARTNER'S INVESTMENT IN THE PARTNERSHIP. THE PARTIES ALSO IRREVOCABLY WAIVE ANY OBJECTIONS THAT THESE COURTS CONSTITUTE AN OPPRESSIVE, UNFAIR, OR INCONVENIENT FORUM AND AGREE NOT TO SEEK TO CHANGE VENUE ON THESE GROUNDS OR ANY OTHER GROUNDS. THE PARTIES FURTHER AGREE THAT THEY WILL NOT FILE SUIT IN A JURISDICTION OTHER THAN NEW YORK AND THAT, SHOULD THEY DO SO, THEY SHALL BE LIABLE FOR ALL DAMAGES AS A RESULT OF MAKING SUCH A FILING AND SHALL PAY ALL ATTORNEYS' FEES INCURRED BY ANY PARTY IN CONNECTION WITH MOVING TO DISMISS THE SUIT FOR FAILURE TO COMPLY WITH THIS PROVISION.

In the event that (i) any current or prior Limited Partner ("Claiming Party") initiates or asserts any litigation, arbitration or similar claim or counterclaim, or joins, offers substantial assistance to or has a direct financial interest in any claim ("Claim") against the Partnership, the General Partner, the Investment Manager or any Investment Manager Affiliates, including any Claim purportedly filed on behalf of the Partnership or any Limited Partner, and (ii) the Claiming Party (or the third party that received substantial assistance from the Claiming Party or in whose Claim the Claiming Party had a direct financial interest) does not obtain a judgment on the merits that substantially achieves, in substance and amount, the full remedy sought, then each Claiming Party shall be obligated jointly and severally to reimburse the Partnership and/or the General Partner, the Investment Manager or any such Investment Manager Affiliate for all fees, costs and expenses of every kind and description (including, but not limited to, all reasonable attorneys' fees and other litigation expenses) that the parties may incur in connection with such Claim.

Section 14.06 Binding Effect. This Agreement shall be binding upon and inure to the benefit of the parties and their heirs, executors, administrators, successors, legal representatives and permitted assigns; provided, however, that fund counsel shall be a party to this Agreement solely with respect to Sections 3.04(b) and 14.05 hereof in order to benefit from and enforce such Sections, and a conformed signature page for fund counsel is included as a counterpart to this Agreement.

Section 14.07 Entire Agreement. This Agreement, together with the related Subscription Documents and any other written agreement between the General Partner, on behalf of the Partnership (acting severally in the name of and for the account of any individual Series), and any Limited Partner of that Series, shall constitute the entire agreement and understanding among all the parties hereto with respect to the subject matter hereof, and supersedes all prior and contemporaneous agreements, negotiations, correspondence, undertakings and communications of the parties, oral or written, respecting such subject matter, including, without limitation, the Current Agreement. The parties hereto acknowledge that, notwithstanding any other provision of this Agreement or the Subscription Documents, the General Partner, on its own behalf or on behalf of the Partnership, without any act, consent or approval of any other Partner, may enter into side letters or other writings to or with one or more Limited Partners that have the effect of establishing rights under, or altering or supplementing the terms of, this Agreement or the Subscription Documents ("Side Letters"). The parties agree that any rights established, or any terms of this Agreement or the Subscription Documents altered or supplemented, in a Side Letter to or with one or more Limited Partners shall govern with respect to such Limited Partner(s) notwithstanding any other provision of this Agreement or the Subscription Documents. No covenant, representation or condition not expressed in this Agreement or such Subscription Documents (and, if applicable, any Side Letter) shall affect or be deemed to interpret, change or restrict the express provisions hereof and thereof.

Section 14.08 Amendment. This Agreement may be modified or amended only by the affirmative vote of the General Partner and Limited Partners owning more than fifty percent (50%) of all of the outstanding Partnership Interests of each Series; provided that the General Partner may amend this Agreement from time to time (x) only with the affirmative vote of the General Partner and Limited Partners owning more than fifty percent (50%) of the Partnership Interests held by Limited Partners of a specific Series of Partnership Interests, if such amendment, in the opinion of the General Partner, only has a material effect on such Series of Partnership Interests, and (y) without the consent, approval or other authorization of, or notice to, any of the Limited Partners (including pursuant to Sections 3.02(u) and (v)) if, in the opinion of the General Partner, the amendment does not have a material adverse effect on any Limited Partner. Notwithstanding the foregoing, no amendment may: (i) convert a Limited Partner's interest to that of a general partner or, modify the limited liability of any Limited Partner, without the consent of each affected Partner or (ii) amend any provision hereof which requires the consent or approval of a specified percentage in interest of the Limited Partners without the consent of such specified percentage in interest of the Limited Partners.

Section 14.09 Creditors. None of the provisions of this Agreement shall be for the benefit of or enforceable by any creditors of the Partnership or the relevant Series.

Section 14.10 Waiver by Partner

(a) Any Partner by notice to the General Partner may, but shall be under no obligation to, waive any of its rights or any conditions to its obligations hereunder, or any duty, obligation or covenant of any other Partner to such first mentioned Partner.

(b) No such waiver shall affect or alter the remainder of this Agreement, but each and every covenant, agreement, term and condition hereof shall continue in full force and effect with respect to any other existing or subsequent breach.

Section 14.11 Rights and Remedies

(a) The rights and remedies of any of the Partners hereunder shall not be mutually exclusive, and the implementation of one or more of the provisions of this Agreement shall not preclude the implementation of any other provision.

(b) Each of the Partners confirms that damages at law may be an inadequate remedy for a breach or threatened breach of any provision hereof. The respective rights and obligations hereunder shall be enforceable by specific performance, injunction or other equitable remedy but nothing herein contained is intended to or shall limit or affect any rights at law or by statute or otherwise of any Partner aggrieved as against the other Partners for a breach or threatened breach of any provision hereof, it being the intention of this paragraph to make clear that the respective rights and obligations of the Partners hereunder shall be enforceable in equity as well as at law or otherwise, except as provided in Section 5.08.

Section 14.12 Counterparts. This Agreement may be executed in counterparts, all of which taken together shall constitute one agreement binding on all parties, notwithstanding that all the parties are not signatories to the original or the same counterpart. Each party shall become bound by this Agreement immediately upon affixing his, her or its signature hereto, independently of the signature of any other party.

Section 14.13 Certain Tax Matters

(a) Tax Matters Partner

(i) The Tax Matters Partner (as such term is defined in Section 6231(a)(7) of the Code) of the Partnership shall be the General Partner. The General Partner shall have all powers necessary to perform fully in its capacity as Tax Matters Partner and, in such capacity, the General Partner shall use its reasonable efforts to comply with the responsibilities outlined in Sections 6221 through 6233 of the Code (including the Regulations) and shall have any powers necessary to perform fully in such capacity.

(ii) In furtherance of the foregoing, the General Partner is authorized to represent the Partnership before taxing authorities and courts in tax matters affecting the Partnership and the Partners in their capacity as such and shall keep the Partners informed of any such administrative and judicial proceedings. The General Partner shall be entitled to be reimbursed by the Partnership for all costs and expenses incurred by it in connection with any administrative or judicial proceeding affecting tax matters of the Partnership and the Partners in their capacity as such and to be indemnified by the Partnership (solely out of Partnership assets) with respect to any action brought against it in connection with any judgment in or settlement of any such proceeding, except in the case of the General Partner's own fraud, gross negligence, willful misconduct or conduct that is the subject of a criminal proceeding (where the General Partner has a reasonable cause to believe that such conduct was unlawful).

(iii) Any Partner that is in dispute with any tax authority in relation to any Partnership matter shall notify the General Partner within thirty (30) calendar days, and if the General Partner reasonably determines that the matter is of material relevance to the tax position of the Partnership, such Partner shall consult with the General Partner (or any advisor appointed by the General Partner for the purpose) as to how that dispute shall be handled. Any Partner who enters into a settlement agreement with respect to any Partnership item shall notify the Tax Matters Partner of such settlement agreement and its terms within thirty (30) calendar days after the date of settlement.

(iv) The provisions of this Section 14.13(a) shall survive any termination of this Agreement.

(b) Tax Elections. Each Partner agrees to provide the Partnership with such information which may be necessary or desirable in order for the General Partner to carry out its powers under this Section 14.13 and Section 3.02(g), including, without limitation, to facilitate compliance with Section 743 of the Code and elections permitted thereunder.

(c) Classification as a Partnership. The parties hereto intend that the Partnership be classified as a partnership for federal income tax purposes. The General Partner shall not elect to have the Partnership classified as an association taxable as a corporation for federal income tax purposes pursuant to Regulation Section 301.7701–3. The General Partner shall, for and on behalf of the Partnership, take all steps as it may deem reasonably necessary to maintain the Partnership's classification as a partnership for federal income tax purposes.

(d) Tax Audits. Each Limited Partner shall reasonably cooperate with the General Partner in connection with any tax audit of the Partnership or any existing or former investment.

This Investment Management Agreement (this "Agreement") is entered into as of November 30, 2015 by and among: (i) Rand Advisors, LLC, a Delaware limited liability company (the "Investment Manager"); (ii) Atlas IDF, LP, a Delaware "series" limited partnership, acting severally in the name of and for the account of each individual Series (as defined herein) (the "Partnership"); and (iii) such other persons who may become parties this Agreement from time to time.

WHEREAS, the Partnership is governed by its Amended and Restated Limited Partnership Agreement (as the same may be amended and/or restated from time to time, the "Partnership Agreement");

WHEREAS, the Partnership sells limited partner interests ("Interests"), which may be offered in multiple series (the "Series"), to eligible investors ("Limited Partners") pursuant to the Partnership's Confidential Private Placement Memorandum (as the same may be amended and/or supplemented from time to time, the "Memorandum");

WHEREAS, as of the date hereof, the Partnership is offering Interests in one Series, and the terms of the other Series (if any) may be set forth in an amended version of the Memorandum, the Partnership Agreement and/or this Agreement and/or in a separate supplement to any such document;

WHEREAS, the Partnership shall not accept additional Limited Partners into any existing Series if such Series has existing Side Pocket Accounts at the time of such admission;

WHEREAS, the Partnership is an insurance-dedicated investment fund;

WHEREAS, in addition to investing in individual traded assets, the Partnership may invest a significant portion of its assets in other investment vehicles, including, without limitation, hedge funds, managed accounts and other private investment funds (collectively, the "Portfolio Funds"), including those managed by, or otherwise affiliated or related to, the Investment Manager;

WHEREAS, the Investment Manager desires to manage and invest the assets of the Partnership in accordance with the terms and conditions set forth herein; and

WHEREAS, the Investment Manager and the Partnership desire to establish the duties and responsibilities of the Investment Manager and the compensation to be paid to the Investment Manager in connection therewith.

NOW, THEREFORE, in consideration of the mutual covenants and agreements contained herein and for other good and valuable consideration, the receipt and sufficiency of which are hereby acknowledged, the parties hereby agree as follows:

1. Definitions. All capitalized terms used herein which are not otherwise defined shall have the meanings ascribed to them in the Partnership Agreement and/or the Memorandum, as the case may be.

2. Appointment of the Investment Manager. The Investment Manager shall act as investment manager to the Partnership and shall manage the investment and re-investment of the cash, securities, commodities, financial instruments and other assets of the Partnership in accordance with the terms hereof.

3. Authority of the Investment Manager. (a) In connection with its obligations hereunder, the Investment Manager shall have the authority for and in the name of the Partnership to:

(i) purchase, hold, sell, sell short, cover and otherwise deal in securities, various financial instruments of any sort, including interests in other investment vehicles, and rights therein, on margin or otherwise on a discretionary basis;

(ii) write, purchase, hold, sell and otherwise deal in put and call options of any sort and any combination thereof;

(iii) purchase, hold, sell, sell short and otherwise deal in commodities, commodity contracts, commodity futures, financial and other types of futures and options in respect thereof;

now or are hereafter created;

(v) open, maintain and close futures, margin and custodial accounts; open, maintain and close bank accounts and draw checks or other orders for the payment of moneys; pledge assets for loans, and to effect borrowings from brokers, banks and other financial, governmental and other institutions;

(vi) exercise all rights, powers, privileges and other incidents of ownership or possession with respect to the assets of the Partnership, including voting proxies on behalf of the Partnership;

(vii) engage personnel, whether part-time or full-time, and attorneys, independent accountants, administrators or such other persons and service providers as the Investment Manager may deem necessary or advisable;

(viii) supply the attorneys, the independent accountants, the administrators of, and other service providers to, the Partnership with such information and instructions as may be necessary to enable such person or persons to perform their duties in accordance with applicable agreements;

(ix) cause the Partnership to engage in agency, agency cross and principal transactions with affiliates to the extent permitted by applicable securities law;

(x) enter into, make and perform any contracts, agreements or other undertakings it may deem advisable in connection with providing investment management services to the Partnership, including, but not limited to, contracts, agreements or other undertakings with persons, firms or corporations with which the Investment Manager or any principal of the Investment Manager is affiliated;

(xi) authorize any member, employee or other agent of the Investment Manager or agent or employee of the Partnership to act for and on behalf of the Partnership in all matters incidental to the foregoing;

(xii) delegate the rights and obligations under this Agreement, at the Investment Manager's discretion; and (xiii) otherwise act for the Partnership as it may deem necessary or advisable in connection with any investment management related matters.

(b) The Investment Manager may, if it deems advisable, maintain any portion of the assets of the Partnership in cash, cash-equivalents and short-term obligations. The Investment Manager shall be free to sell securities, commodities, options, futures and other financial instruments or assets of the Partnership regardless of the length of time they have been held. The Investment Manager shall further be free to make investment changes regardless of the resulting rate of portfolio turnover, when it, in its sole discretion, shall determine that such changes will promote the investment objective of the Partnership.

4. Policies of the Partnership. The activities engaged in by the Investment Manager on behalf of the Partnership shall be subject to the policies and control of the general partner of the Partnership, Atlas IDF GP, LLC, a Delaware limited liability company (the "General Partner"). The Investment Manager shall submit such periodic reports to the General Partner regarding the Investment Manager's activities hereunder as the General Partner may reasonably request.

5. Status of the Investment Manager. The Investment Manager shall for all purposes be an independent contractor and not an agent or employee of the Partnership, nor shall anything herein be construed as making the Partnership a partner or co-venturer with the Investment Manager or any of its managers, members, shareholders, directors, officers, partners, employees, agents and affiliates (all of the foregoing, persons and entities, collectively, "Affiliates"). The Investment Manager shall have no authority to act for, represent, bind or obligate the Partnership except as specifically provided herein.

6. Investments. All investments of the Partnership shall at all times conform to and be in accordance with the requirements imposed by: (a) any provisions of applicable law; (b) the provisions of the Memorandum and the Partnership Agreement, as the same may be amended, supplemented or otherwise modified from time to time; provided that the Investment Manager shall not be bound by any such amendment, supplement or modification until it has been given notice thereof; and (c) such policies as may be adopted from time to time by the General Partner and communicated to the Investment Manager.

7. Valuation of Assets. The assets of the Partnership shall be valued in accordance with the terms of the applicable Memorandum and the Partnership Agreement.

8. Management Fee Payable to the Investment Manager. In consideration for services provided pursuant to this Agreement, the Investment Manager shall receive a quarterly management fee (the "Management Fee") equal to a percentage of each Limited Partner's share of the Partnership's Net Asset Value, and based on the Partnership's total Net Asset Value, as follows:

Partnership's Total Net Asset Value	Management Fee (per annum)
$0 - $99,999,999	0.5500%
$100,000,000 - $199,999,999	0.5000%
$200,000,000 - $249,999,999	0.4500%
$250,000,000 - $499,999,999	0.3500%
> $500,000,000	0.3400%

For the avoidance of doubt, the Management Fee calculated based on the foregoing schedule will be calculated on a "progressive" basis. For example, if the Partnership's Net Asset Value reaches $150,000,000, the initial $99,999,999 will always be charged a Management Fee of 0.55000% annually. The benefit of the declining Management Fee schedule above is intended to benefit all Limited Partners as each Capital Account will be charged a blended Management Fee based on the above schedule.

The Management Fee shall be calculated and payable to the Investment Manager quarterly, in advance, as of the first day of each calendar quarter. A pro rata Management Fee shall be charged to Limited Partners on any amounts accepted by the General Partner during a calendar quarter. No part of the Management Fee shall be refunded in the event that a Limited Partner withdraws, whether voluntarily or involuntarily, all or any of the value in such Limited Partner's Capital Account during any calendar quarter. Management Fees shall be payable with respect to the Interests of a Limited Partner in any Side Pocket Account. For purposes of calculating the Management Fee with respect to Side Pocket Accounts, Illiquid Investments will be carried at their fair value (which may be at, above or below cost) as determined by the Investment Manager.

With respect to any Limited Partner who has requested to withdraw all of its Interests from the Partnership, with the exception of any Interests maintained in a Side Pocket Account, the Partnership may reserve an amount from the withdrawing Limited Partner's withdrawal proceeds in order to cover the estimated accrued Management Fees and expenses attributable to the Limited Partner's Interests in the Side Pocket Account based on the Investment Manager's estimate of the time period that the Illiquid Investments held in the Side Pocket Account will remain in such Side Pocket Account (collectively, the "Management Fee Reserve"). The Management Fee Reserve will be treated as a liability of the Partnership, and the balance of the Management Fee Reserve, if any, will be paid to the withdrawing Limited Partner, without interest, upon such Limited Partner's complete withdrawal from the Side Pocket Account.

The Partnership will also bear its pro rata share of the management fees charged by the managers of the Portfolio Funds. Notwithstanding the foregoing, the Investment Manager intends to waive any management fees due to the Investment Manager with respect to any investment of the Partnership in any Affiliated Funds, including the PE Portfolio Fund (as defined herein). Accordingly, to the extent the Partnership invests in any Affiliated Funds, including the PE Portfolio Fund, the Partnership will not be subject to a layering of fees.

9. Services to Other Clients; Conflicts of Interest.

(a) The Investment Manager and its Affiliates may provide investment management and other services to parties other than the Partnership and may manage other accounts and/or establish other private investment funds in the future (both domestic and offshore), including those which may employ an investment strategy similar to that of the Partnership, and shall not by reason thereof be deemed to be acting in conflict with the interests of the Partnership. Specifically, as of the date hereof: (i) the Investment Manager acts as the investment manager to Rand PE Fund I, L.P., a Delaware "series" limited partnership ("PE Portfolio Fund") that: (x) is expected to initially invest in the Highland

Transaction (as defined in the Memorandum), if any, and (y) will potentially make investments in the future in other private transactions similar to the Highland Transaction; (ii) Rand PE Fund Management, LLC, a Delaware limited liability company and an affiliate of the General Partner and the Investment Manager, is the general partner of the PE Portfolio Fund; (iii) the Principal is the managing member and controlling person of Rand PE Fund Management, LLC; and (iv) the Investment Manager acts as the investment subadvisor to a series of SALI Multi-Series Fund, L.P., a Delaware "series" limited partnership, and provides certain discretionary investment advisory or consulting services to such series.

(b) The parties hereby acknowledge that they have reviewed the conflicts of interest and related disclosures in the Memorandum.

10. Expenses. The Investment Manager shall pay for its own general operating and overhead expenses associated with providing the investment management services required under this Agreement. These expenses include all expenses incurred by the Investment Manager in providing for its normal operating overhead, including, but not limited to, the cost of providing relevant support and administrative services (e.g., employee compensation and benefits, rent, office equipment, computer systems, insurance (other than as expressly set forth in the Memorandum and/or the Partnership Agreement as an expense of the Partnership), utilities, telephone, secretarial and bookkeeping services, etc.), but not including any Partnership operating expenses of the Partnership set forth in the Memorandum or the Partnership Agreement. The Investment Manager may use "soft dollar" commissions or rebates by brokerage firms of commissions generated by the Partnership's brokerage transactions executed through those firms to pay for certain brokerage and research products and services that fall within the safe harbor under Section 28(e) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended as further described in the Memorandum and the Partnership Agreement.

11. Exculpation and Indemnification.

(a) Notwithstanding any other provision of this Agreement to the contrary, none of the Investment Manager or any of its Affiliates (collectively, "Indemnified Persons") shall be liable to the Partnership or its investors for any action or inaction in connection with the business and affairs of the Partnership unless such action or inaction is determined by a final, non-appealable decision of a court of competent jurisdiction to constitute gross negligence or willful misconduct. It shall be conclusively presumed and established that the Investment Manager and such persons acted in good faith if any action is taken, or not taken, by any of them on the advice of legal counsel or other independent outside consultants; provided that the Investment Manager did not act with gross negligence or willful misconduct in the selection of such counsel or consultants. Any exculpation under this Section 11(a) shall apply only to the extent that such exculpation does not violate applicable federal and state laws.

(b) Notwithstanding any other provision of this Agreement to the contrary, the Partnership shall indemnify and hold harmless the Indemnified Persons (which, for purposes of this indemnity, shall include fund counsel (except for legal malpractice)) from and against any and all claims, liabilities, obligations, judgments, suits, proceedings, actions, demands, losses, costs, expenses (including attorneys' fees and other expenses of litigation), damages, penalties or interest, as a result of any claim or legal proceeding (made or threatened) related to any action or inaction by any Indemnified Person in connection with the business and affairs of the Partnership (including the settlement or appeal of any such claim or legal proceeding); provided, however, that the party against whom the claim is made or legal proceeding is directed is not guilty of gross negligence or willful misconduct, as determined by a final, non-appealable decision of a court of competent jurisdiction. Any indemnity under this Section 11(b) shall be paid from and to the extent of Partnership assets only, and shall apply only to the extent that such indemnity does not violate applicable federal and state laws. For the avoidance of doubt, the foregoing indemnification provisions shall apply on a Series-by-Series basis.

(c) The foregoing provisions of this Section 11 shall survive the termination of this Agreement.

12. Representations, Warranties and Covenants of the Investment Manager. The Investment Manager represents, warrants and covenants to the Partnership that:

(a) It has full authority to enter into this Agreement.

(b) It shall not by entering into this Agreement: (i) be required to take any action contrary to its formation documents or any applicable statute, law or regulation to which it is subject; or (ii) breach or cause to be breached any undertaking, agreement, contract, statute, rule or regulation to which it, or any of its Affiliates, is a party or by which it or they are/is bound which, in the case of (i) or (ii), would materially limit or materially adversely affect its or any of its Affiliates' ability to perform its duties under this Agreement.

(c) It shall comply in all material respects with all laws, rules, and regulations having application to its business, properties and assets. Except to the extent otherwise disclosed to the Partnership, there are no actions, suits, proceedings, or investigations pending or to its knowledge threatened against the Investment Manager or its principal(s), at law or in equity or before or by any federal, state, municipal, or other governmental department, commission, board, bureau, agency, or instrumentality, any self-regulatory organization, or any exchange that might be material to an investor investing in any Fund.

The foregoing shall be continuing during the term of this Agreement, and if, at any time any of the foregoing becomes untrue or inaccurate, the Investment Manager shall promptly notify the Partnership in writing of that fact.

13. Termination. This Agreement shall remain in effect indefinitely, except that it may be terminated at any time by any party upon thirty (30) days' prior written notice by the terminating party to the other parties.

14. Governing Law, Personal Jurisdiction and Venue. EACH OF THE PARTNERSHIP AND THE INVESTMENT MANAGER ACKNOWLEDGES AND AGREES THAT ANY CLAIM, CONTROVERSY, DISPUTE OR ACTION RELATING IN ANY WAY TO THIS AGREEMENT SHALL BE GOVERNED SOLELY AND EXCLUSIVELY BY THE LAWS OF THE STATE OF DELAWARE, WITHOUT REGARD TO ANY CONFLICT OF LAWS DOCTRINES. EACH OF THE PARTNERSHIP AND THE INVESTMENT MANAGER UNDERSTANDS AND AGREES THAT IT IS WAIVING THE PROTECTION OF STATUTES IN ITS STATE OF RESIDENCE THAT PROVIDE IT WITH CERTAIN RIGHTS, REMEDIES AND PROTECTIONS IN THE CASE OF FRAUD OR MISREPRESENTATION AND AGREES TO RELY SOLELY UPON THE LAWS OF THE STATE OF DELAWARE AND ANY APPLICABLE FEDERAL LAWS. EACH OF THE PARTNERSHIP AND THE INVESTMENT MANAGER MAKES THIS WAIVER KNOWINGLY AND REPRESENTS THAT IT HAS CONSULTED INDEPENDENT COUNSEL, OR THAT IT HAS HAD THE OPPORTUNITY TO CONSULT WITH SUCH INDEPENDENT COUNSEL BUT HAS ELECTED NOT TO DO SO, AND AGREES THAT THE ONLY STATE LAWS THAT WILL APPLY TO THIS AGREEMENT ARE THE LAWS OF THE STATE OF DELAWARE.

EACH OF THE PARTNERSHIP, THE INVESTMENT MANAGER, FUND COUNSEL AND ANY OTHER PARTY TO THIS AGREEMENT (COLLECTIVELY, FOR PURPOSES OF THIS CLAUSE, THE "PARTIES") IRREVOCABLY CONSENTS TO BEING SERVED WITH LEGAL PROCESS ISSUED FROM THE STATE AND FEDERAL COURTS LOCATED IN THE STATE OF NEW YORK AND IRREVOCABLY CONSENTS TO THE EXCLUSIVE PERSONAL JURISDICTION OF THE FEDERAL AND STATE COURTS SITUATED IN THE STATE OF NEW YORK. THE PARTIES IRREVOCABLY WAIVE ANY OBJECTIONS TO THE PERSONAL JURISDICTION OF THESE COURTS. SAID COURTS SHALL HAVE SOLE AND EXCLUSIVE JURISDICTION OVER ANY AND ALL CLAIMS, CONTROVERSIES, DISPUTES AND ACTIONS, OF ANY KIND OR MANNER, WHICH IN ANY WAY RELATE TO THIS AGREEMENT. THE PARTIES ALSO IRREVOCABLY WAIVE ANY OBJECTIONS THAT THESE COURTS CONSTITUTE AN OPPRESSIVE, UNFAIR, OR INCONVENIENT FORUM AND AGREE NOT TO SEEK TO CHANGE VENUE ON THESE GROUNDS OR ANY OTHER GROUNDS. THE PARTIES FURTHER AGREE THAT THEY WILL NOT FILE SUIT IN A JURISDICTION OTHER THAN NEW YORK AND THAT, SHOULD THEY DO SO, THEY SHALL BE LIABLE FOR ALL DAMAGES AS A RESULT OF MAKING SUCH A FILING AND SHALL PAY ALL ATTORNEYS' FEES INCURRED BY ANY OTHER PARTY IN CONNECTION WITH MOVING TO DISMISS THE SUIT FOR FAILURE TO COMPLY WITH THIS PROVISION.

15. Notices. Any notice, consent or other communication made or given in connection with this Agreement shall be in writing and shall be deemed to have been duly given (x) when delivered in person, (y) when sent to the parties at such address by registered or certified mail, return receipt requested, as set forth below, or to such other mailing address as any party may hereafter specify for the purpose by notice to the other parties, or by electronic mail, or (z) when delivered by overnight delivery by a reputable private carrier or by the postal service:

EXHIBIT 82

INVESTMENT MANAGEMENT AGREEMENT

This Investment Management Agreement (this "Agreement") is entered into as of November 30, 2015 by and among: (i) Rand Advisors, LLC, a Delaware limited liability company (the "Investment Manager"); (ii) Rand PE Fund I, L.P., a Delaware "series" limited partnership, acting severally in the name of and for the account of each individual Series (as defined herein) (the "Partnership"); and (iii) such other persons who may become parties this Agreement from time to time.

WHEREAS, the Partnership is governed by its Amended and Restated Limited Partnership Agreement (as the same may be amended and/or restated from time to time, the "Partnership Agreement");

WHEREAS, the Partnership sells limited partner interests ("Interests"), which may be offered in multiple series (the "Series"), to eligible investors ("Limited Partners") pursuant to the Partnership's Confidential Private Placement Memorandum (as the same may be amended and/or supplemented from time to time, the "Memorandum");

WHEREAS, as of the date hereof, the Partnership is offering Interests in one Series, and the terms of the other Series (if any) may be set forth in an amended version of the Memorandum, the Partnership Agreement and/or this Agreement and/or in a separate supplement to any such document;

WHEREAS, the Investment Manager desires to manage and invest the assets of the Partnership in accordance with the terms and conditions set forth herein; and

WHEREAS, the Investment Manager and the Partnership desire to establish the duties and responsibilities of the Investment Manager and the compensation to be paid to the Investment Manager in connection therewith.

NOW, THEREFORE, in consideration of the mutual covenants and agreements contained herein and for other good and valuable consideration, the receipt and sufficiency of which are hereby acknowledged, the parties hereby agree as follows:

1. Definitions. All capitalized terms used herein which are not otherwise defined shall have the meanings ascribed to them in the Partnership Agreement and/or the Memorandum, as the case may be.

2. Appointment of the Investment Manager. The Investment Manager shall act as investment manager to the Partnership and shall manage the investment and re-investment of the cash, securities, commodities, financial instruments and other assets of the Partnership in accordance with the terms hereof.

3. Authority of the Investment Manager. (a) In connection with its obligations hereunder, the Investment Manager shall have the authority for and in the name of the Partnership to:

(i) purchase, hold, sell, sell short, cover and otherwise deal in securities, various financial instruments of any sort and rights therein, on margin or otherwise on a discretionary basis;

(ii) write, purchase, hold, sell and otherwise deal in put and call options of any sort and any combination thereof;

(iii) purchase, hold, sell, sell short and otherwise deal in commodities, commodity contracts, commodity futures, financial and other types of futures and options in respect thereof;

(iv) purchase, hold, sell, sell short and otherwise deal in currencies, forwards, swaps, partnership interests, interests in other investment companies and any other financial instruments which exist now or are hereafter created;

(v) open, maintain and close futures, margin and custodial accounts; open, maintain and close bank accounts and draw checks or other orders for the payment of moneys; pledge assets for loans, and to effect borrowings from brokers, banks and other financial, governmental and other institutions;

(vi) exercise all rights, powers, privileges and other incidents of ownership or possession with respect to the assets of the Partnership, including voting proxies on behalf of the Partnership;

(vii) engage personnel, whether part-time or full-time, and attorneys, independent accountants, administrators or such other persons and service providers as the Investment Manager may deem necessary or advisable;

(viii) supply the attorneys, the independent accountants, the administrators of, and other service providers to, the Partnership with such information and instructions as may be necessary to enable such person or persons to perform their duties in accordance with applicable agreements;

(ix) cause the Partnership to engage in agency, agency cross and principal transactions with affiliates to the extent permitted by applicable securities law;

(x) enter into, make and perform any contracts, agreements or other undertakings it may deem advisable in connection with providing investment management services to the Partnership, including, but not limited to, contracts, agreements or other undertakings with persons, firms or corporations with which the Investment Manager or any principal of the Investment Manager is affiliated;

(xi) authorize any member, employee or other agent of the Investment Manager or agent or employee of the Partnership to act for and on behalf of the Partnership in all matters incidental to the foregoing;

(xii) delegate the rights and obligations under this Agreement, at the Investment Manager's discretion; and (xiii) otherwise act for the Partnership as it may deem necessary or advisable in connection with any investment management related matters.

(b) The Investment Manager may, if it deems advisable, maintain any portion of the assets of the Partnership in cash, cash-equivalents and short-term obligations. The Investment Manager shall be free to sell securities, commodities, options, futures and other financial instruments or assets of the Partnership regardless of the length of time they have been held. The Investment Manager shall further be free to make investment changes regardless of the resulting rate of portfolio turnover, when it, in its sole discretion, shall determine that such changes will promote the investment objective of the Partnership.

4. Policies of the Partnership. The activities engaged in by the Investment Manager on behalf of the Partnership shall be subject to the policies and control of the general partner of the Partnership, Rand PE Fund Management, LLC, a Delaware limited liability company (the "General Partner"). The Investment Manager shall submit such periodic reports to the General Partner regarding the Investment Manager's activities hereunder as the General Partner may reasonably request.

5. Status of the Investment Manager. The Investment Manager shall for all purposes be an independent contractor and not an agent or employee of the Partnership, nor shall anything herein be construed as making the Partnership a partner or co-venturer with the Investment Manager or any of its managers, members, shareholders, directors, officers, partners, employees, agents and affiliates (all of the foregoing, persons and entities, collectively, "Affiliates"). The Investment Manager shall have no authority to act for, represent, bind or obligate the Partnership except as specifically provided herein.

6. Investments. All investments of the Partnership shall at all times conform to and be in accordance with the requirements imposed by: (a) any provisions of applicable law; (b) the provisions of the Memorandum and the Partnership Agreement, as the same may be amended, supplemented or otherwise modified from time to time; provided that the Investment Manager shall not be bound by any such amendment, supplement or modification until it has been given notice thereof; and (c) such policies as may be adopted from time to time by the General Partner and communicated to the Investment Manager.

7. Valuation of Assets. The assets of the Partnership shall be valued in accordance with the terms of the applicable Memorandum and the Partnership Agreement.

8. Management Fee Payable to the Investment Manager. In consideration for services provided pursuant to this Agreement, the Investment Manager shall receive a quarterly management fee (the "Management Fee") equal to a percentage of each Limited Partner's share of the Partnership's Net Asset Value, and based on the Partnership's total Net Asset Value, as follows:

Partnership's Total Net Asset Value	Management Fee (per annum)
$0 - $99,999,999	0.5500%
$100,000,000 - $199,999,999	0.5000%
$200,000,000 - $249,999,999	0.4500%
$250,000,000 - $499,999,999	0.3500%
> $500,000,000	0.3400%

For the avoidance of doubt, the Management Fee calculated based on the foregoing schedule will be calculated on a "progressive" basis. For example, if the Partnership's Net Asset Value reaches $150,000,000, the initial $99,999,999 will always be charged a Management Fee of 0.55000% annually. The benefit of the declining Management Fee schedule above is intended to benefit all Limited Partners as each Capital Account will be charged a blended Management Fee based on the above schedule.

The Management Fee shall be calculated and payable to the Investment Manager quarterly, in advance, as of the first day of each calendar quarter. A pro rata Management Fee shall be charged to Limited Partners on any amounts accepted by the General Partner during a calendar quarter. No part of the Management Fee shall be refunded in the event that a Limited Partner withdraws, whether voluntarily or involuntarily, all or any of the value in such Limited Partner's Capital Account during any calendar quarter. Management Fees shall be payable with respect to the Interests of a Limited Partner in any Side Pocket Account. For purposes of calculating the Management Fee with respect to Side Pocket Accounts, Illiquid Investments will be carried at their fair value (which may be at, above or below cost) as determined by the Investment Manager.

With respect to any Limited Partner who has requested to withdraw all of its Interests from the Partnership, with the exception of any Interests maintained in a Side Pocket Account, the Partnership may reserve an amount from the withdrawing Limited Partner's withdrawal proceeds in order to cover the estimated accrued Management Fees and expenses attributable to the Limited Partner's Interests in the Side Pocket Account based on the Investment Manager's estimate of the time period that the Illiquid Investments held in the Side Pocket Account will remain in such Side Pocket Account (collectively, the "Management Fee Reserve"). The Management Fee Reserve will be treated as a liability of the Partnership, and the balance of the Management Fee Reserve, if any, will be paid to the withdrawing Limited Partner, without interest, upon such Limited Partner's complete withdrawal from the Side Pocket Account.

9. Services to Other Clients; Conflicts of Interest.

(a) The Investment Manager and its Affiliates may provide investment management and other services to parties other than the Partnership and may manage other accounts and/or establish other private investment funds in the future (both domestic and offshore), including those which may employ an investment strategy similar to that of the Partnership, and shall not by reason thereof be deemed to be acting in conflict with the interests of the Partnership. Specifically, as of the date hereof: (i) the Investment Manager acts as the investment manager to Atlas IDF, LP, a Delaware "series" limited partnership ("IDF Fund") that is structured as an insurance-dedicated fund and is expected to invest a portion of its assets in the Partnership; (ii) Atlas IDF GP, LLC, a Delaware limited liability company and an affiliate of the General Partner and the Investment Manager, is the general partner of the IDF Fund; (iii) the Principal is the managing member and controlling person of Atlas IDF GP, LLC; and (iv) the Investment Manager acts as the investment subadvisor to a series of SALI Multi-Series Fund, L.P., a Delaware "series" limited partnership, and provides certain discretionary investment advisory or consulting services to such series.

(b) The parties hereby acknowledge that they have reviewed the conflicts of interest and related disclosures in the Memorandum.

10. Expenses. The Investment Manager shall pay for its own general operating and overhead expenses associated with providing the investment management services required under this Agreement. These expenses include all expenses incurred by the Investment Manager in providing for its normal operating overhead, including, but not limited to, the cost of providing relevant support and administrative services (e.g., employee compensation and benefits, rent, office equipment, computer systems, insurance (other than as expressly set forth in the Memorandum and/or the Partnership Agreement as an expense of the Partnership), utilities, telephone, secretarial and bookkeeping services, etc.), but not including any Partnership operating expenses of the Partnership set forth in the Memorandum or the Partnership Agreement. The Investment Manager may use "soft dollar" commissions or rebates by brokerage firms of commissions generated by the Partnership's brokerage transactions executed through those firms to pay for certain brokerage and research products and services that fall within the safe harbor under Section 28(e) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended as further described in the Memorandum and the Partnership Agreement.

11. Exculpation and Indemnification.

(a) Notwithstanding any other provision of this Agreement to the contrary, none of the Investment Manager or any of its Affiliates (collectively, "Indemnified Persons") shall be liable to the Partnership or its investors for any action or inaction in connection with the business and affairs of the Partnership unless such action or inaction is determined by a final, non-appealable decision of a court of competent jurisdiction to constitute gross negligence or willful misconduct. It shall be conclusively presumed and established that the Investment Manager and such persons acted in good faith if any action is taken, or not taken, by any of them on the advice of legal counsel or other independent outside consultants; provided that the Investment Manager did not act with gross negligence or willful misconduct in the selection of such counsel or consultants. Any exculpation under this Section 11(a) shall apply only to the extent that such exculpation does not violate applicable federal and state laws.

(b) Notwithstanding any other provision of this Agreement to the contrary, the Partnership shall indemnify and hold harmless the Indemnified Persons (which, for purposes of this indemnity, shall include fund counsel (except for legal malpractice)) from and against any and all claims, liabilities, obligations, judgments, suits, proceedings, actions, demands, losses, costs, expenses (including attorneys' fees and other expenses of litigation), damages, penalties or interest, as a result of any claim or legal proceeding (made or threatened) related to any action or inaction by any Indemnified Person in connection with the business and affairs of the Partnership (including the settlement or appeal of any such claim or legal proceeding); provided, however, that the party against whom the claim is made or legal proceeding is directed is not guilty of gross negligence or willful misconduct, as determined by a final, non-appealable decision of a court of competent jurisdiction. Any indemnity under this Section 11(b) shall be paid from and to the extent of Partnership assets only, and shall apply only to the extent that such indemnity does not violate applicable federal and state laws. For the avoidance of doubt, the foregoing indemnification provisions shall apply on a Series-by-Series basis.

(c) The foregoing provisions of this Section 11 shall survive the termination of this Agreement.

12. Representations, Warranties and Covenants of the Investment Manager. The Investment Manager represents, warrants and covenants to the Partnership that:

(a) It has full authority to enter into this Agreement.

(b) It shall not by entering into this Agreement: (i) be required to take any action contrary to its formation documents or any applicable statute, law or regulation to which it is subject; or (ii) breach or cause to be breached any undertaking, agreement, contract, statute, rule or regulation to which it, or any of its Affiliates, is a party or by which it or they are/is bound which, in the case of (i) or (ii), would materially limit or materially adversely affect its or any of its Affiliates' ability to perform its duties under this Agreement.

(c) It shall comply in all material respects with all laws, rules, and regulations having application to its business, properties and assets. Except to the extent otherwise disclosed to the Partnership, there are no actions, suits, proceedings, or investigations pending or to its knowledge threatened against the Investment Manager or its principal(s), at law or in equity or before or by any federal, state, municipal, or other governmental department, commission, board, bureau, agency, or instrumentality, any self-regulatory organization, or any exchange that might be material to an investor investing in any Fund.

The foregoing shall be continuing during the term of this Agreement, and if, at any time any of the foregoing becomes untrue or inaccurate, the Investment Manager shall promptly notify the Partnership in writing of that fact.

13. Termination. This Agreement shall remain in effect indefinitely, except that it may be terminated at any time by any party upon thirty (30) days' prior written notice by the terminating party to the other parties.

14. Governing Law, Personal Jurisdiction and Venue. EACH OF THE PARTNERSHIP AND THE INVESTMENT MANAGER ACKNOWLEDGES AND AGREES THAT ANY CLAIM, CONTROVERSY, DISPUTE OR ACTION RELATING IN ANY WAY TO THIS AGREEMENT SHALL BE GOVERNED SOLELY AND EXCLUSIVELY BY THE LAWS OF THE STATE OF DELAWARE, WITHOUT REGARD TO ANY

CONFLICT OF LAWS DOCTRINES. EACH OF THE PARTNERSHIP AND THE INVESTMENT MANAGER UNDERSTANDS AND AGREES THAT IT IS WAIVING THE PROTECTION OF STATUTES IN ITS STATE OF RESIDENCE THAT PROVIDE IT WITH CERTAIN RIGHTS, REMEDIES AND PROTECTIONS IN THE CASE OF FRAUD OR MISREPRESENTATION AND AGREES TO RELY SOLELY UPON THE LAWS OF THE STATE OF DELAWARE AND ANY APPLICABLE FEDERAL LAWS. EACH OF THE PARTNERSHIP AND THE INVESTMENT MANAGER MAKES THIS WAIVER KNOWINGLY AND REPRESENTS THAT IT HAS CONSULTED INDEPENDENT COUNSEL, OR THAT IT HAS HAD THE OPPORTUNITY TO CONSULT WITH SUCH INDEPENDENT COUNSEL BUT HAS ELECTED NOT TO DO SO, AND AGREES THAT THE ONLY STATE LAWS THAT WILL APPLY TO THIS AGREEMENT ARE THE LAWS OF THE STATE OF DELAWARE.

EACH OF THE PARTNERSHIP, THE INVESTMENT MANAGER, FUND COUNSEL AND ANY OTHER PARTY TO THIS AGREEMENT (COLLECTIVELY, FOR PURPOSES OF THIS CLAUSE, THE "PARTIES") IRREVOCABLY CONSENTS TO BEING SERVED WITH LEGAL PROCESS ISSUED FROM THE STATE AND FEDERAL COURTS LOCATED IN THE STATE OF NEW YORK AND IRREVOCABLY CONSENTS TO THE EXCLUSIVE PERSONAL JURISDICTION OF THE FEDERAL AND STATE COURTS SITUATED IN THE STATE OF NEW YORK. 5. Management of the Company and Officers. The business and affairs of the Company shall be managed by the Managing Member, who shall have the exclusive power and authority, on behalf of the Company, to take any action of any kind not inconsistent with the provisions of this Agreement and to do anything and everything it deems necessary or appropriate to carry on the business and purposes of the Company. The Managing Member will be the "manager" (within the meaning of the Act) of the Company. 7. Initial Capital Contributions; Percentage Interests. The Managing Member has made a capital contribution to the Company in the amount set forth in the books and records of the Company. Unless otherwise consented to by the Managing Member, a withdrawn Member shall not be entitled to any further allocation of any other net income in which the Member would otherwise thereafter have shared.

12. Transfer. A Member may not sell, assign, pledge, transfer or otherwise dispose of all or any part of his or her interest in the Company without the consent of the Managing Member, and any purported sale, assignment, pledge, transfer or other disposition of all or any part of a Member's interest in the Company without the Managing Member's consent shall be null and void.

(g) To enter into, make and perform all contracts, agreements and other undertakings as may be necessary or advisable or incidental to the carrying out of the foregoing objects and purposes.

2.2 Rights, Powers, Limitations on Liability and Indemnification of General Partner.

(a) Whether or not herein expressly so provided, every provision of this Agreement relating to the conduct or affecting the liability of or affording protection to the General Partner, its members or any of their respective affiliates and their respective partners, members, officers, directors, employees, shareholders and agents (including members of any committee and parties acting as agents for the execution of transactions) (each, a "Covered Person" and collectively, "Covered Persons") shall be subject to the provisions of this Section.

(b) To the fullest extent permitted by law, no Covered Person shall be liable to the Partnership or anyone for any reason whatsoever (including but not limited to (i) any act or omission by any Covered Person in connection with the conduct of the business of the Partnership, that is determined by such Covered Person in good faith to be in or not opposed to the best interests of the Partnership, (ii) any act or omission by any Covered Person based on the suggestions of any professional advisor of the Partnership whom such Covered Person believes is authorized to make such suggestions on behalf of the Partnership, (iii) any act or omission by the Partnership, or (iv) any mistake, negligence, misconduct or bad faith of any broker or other agent of the Partnership selected by Covered Person with reasonable care), unless any act or omission by such Covered Person constitutes willful misconduct or gross negligence by such Covered Person (as determined by a non-appealable judgment of a court of competent jurisdiction).

(c) Covered Person may consult with legal counsel or accountants selected by such Covered Person and any act or omission by such Covered Person on behalf of the Partnership or in furtherance of the business of the Partnership in good faith in reliance on and in accordance with the advice of such counsel or accountants shall be full justification for the act or omission, and such Covered Person shall be fully protected in so acting or omitting to act if the counsel or accountants were selected with reasonable care.

(d) To the fullest extent permitted by law, the Partnership shall indemnify and save harmless Covered Persons (the "Indemnitees"), from and against any and all claims, liabilities, damages, losses, costs and expenses, including amounts paid in satisfaction of judgments, in compromises and settlements, as fines and penalties and legal or other costs and expenses of investigating or defending against any claim or alleged claim, of any nature whatsoever, known or unknown, liquidated or unliquidated, that are incurred by any Indemnitee and arise out of or in connection with the business of the Partnership, any investment made under or in connection with this Agreement, or the performance by the Indemnitee of Covered Person's responsibilities hereunder and against all taxes, charges, duties or levies incurred by such Covered Person or any Indemnitee in connection with the Partnership, provided that an Indemnitee shall not be entitled to indemnification hereunder to the extent the Indemnitee's conduct constitutes willful misconduct or gross negligence (as determined by a non-appealable judgment of a court of competent jurisdiction). The termination of any proceeding by settlement, judgment, order or upon a plea of nolo contendere or its equivalent shall not, of itself, create a presumption that the Indemnitee's conduct constituted willful misconduct or gross negligence.

(e) Expenses incurred by an Indemnitee in defense or settlement of any claim that shall be subject to a right of indemnification hereunder, shall be advanced by the Partnership prior to the final disposition thereof upon receipt of an undertaking by or on behalf of the Indemnitee to repay the amount advanced to the extent that it shall be determined ultimately that the Indemnitee is not entitled to be indemnified hereunder.

(f) The right of any Indemnitee to the indemnification provided herein shall be cumulative of, and in addition to, any and all rights to which the Indemnitee may otherwise be entitled by contract or as a matter of law or equity and shall be extended to the Indemnitee's successors, assigns and legal representatives.

(g) The provisions of this Section are expressly intended to confer benefits upon Covered Persons and such provisions shall remain operative and in full force and effect regardless of the expiration or any termination of this Agreement.

(h) Notwithstanding anything in this Agreement to the contrary, the aggregate maximum amount that a Covered Person may be liable to the Partnership and/or any of the Partners pursuant to this Agreement shall, to the extent not prohibited by law, never exceed the amount of management and incentive fees received by such Covered Person from the Partnership under this Agreement prior to the date that the acts or omissions giving rise to a claim for indemnification or liability shall have occurred. In no event shall any Covered Person be liable for special, exemplary, punitive, indirect, or consequential loss, or damage of any kind whatsoever, including without limitation lost profits. No Covered Person shall incur any liability for interest on any monies at any time received by such Covered Person or any investment loss or other charge resulting therefrom with respect to amounts invested hereunder.

(i) WAIVER OF CONSUMER RIGHTS: The Partnership and each of the Limited Partners waive all of their respective rights, if any, under the Deceptive Trade Practices-Consumer Protection Act, Section 17.41 et seq., Texas Business & Commerce Code ("DTPA"), a law that gives consumers special rights and protections. After consultation with an attorney of Partnership's own selection, Partnership voluntarily consents to this waiver. This waiver includes any right to recover attorneys' fees under the DTPA Further, Partnership waives all of its rights to any and all protections afforded by any other state or federal Consumer Protection Acts, including the recovery of attorneys' fees.

(j) No Covered Person shall be liable hereunder for any settlement of any action or claim effected without its written consent thereto.

Pursuant to the foregoing indemnification and exculpation provisions applicable to each Covered Person, the Partnership (and not the applicable Covered Person) shall be responsible for any losses resulting from trading errors and similar human errors, absent gross negligence or reckless or intentional misconduct of any Covered Person. Given the volume of transactions executed on behalf of the Partnership, Limited Partners acknowledge that trading errors (and similar errors) will occur and that the Partnership shall be responsible for any resulting losses, even if such losses result from the negligence (but not gross negligence) of any Covered Person.

(k) This Section 2.2 shall survive a Limited Partner's withdrawal as a limited partner of the Partnership and any termination of this Agreement.

ARTICLE III

CAPITAL ACCOUNTS AND DIVISION OF PROFITS AND LOSSES

3.1 Capital Contributions.

(a) Each Partner has made the capital contributions to the Partnership in the amount set forth in the records of the Partnership. The Limited Partner has contributed to the Partnership all of the outstanding equity interests of CLO HoldCo.

3.2 Capital Account; Allocation of Profits and Losses.

(b) There shall be established for each Partner on the books of the Partnership as of the first day of the fiscal period during which such Partner was admitted to the Partnership a capital account for such Partner in an amount equal to his capital contribution to the Partnership.

(c) Since the General Partner's capital account and contributions shall be the minimum required by Act, all income, deductions, gains, losses and credits of the Partnership shall be allocated shall be for the benefit of the Limited Partner, except as may otherwise be required by law. In the event any valuation of assets is necessary or appropriate, the General Partner shall determine such value in any reasonable manner determined by the General Partner in its sole discretion consistent with relevant accounting principles and applicable law.

(d) For purposes of determining the share of any items allocated to any period during the relevant Taxable Year of the Partnership, such shares shall be determined by the General Partner using any method permitted by the Code and the regulations thereunder. All allocations to be made by the General Partner may be overridden if necessary to comply with the Code, the regulations thereunder or other applicable law.

(e) To the extent that the Partnership pays withholding taxes as to a Partner, such amounts shall be charged to the applicable Partner's capital account; provided, however, that any such amounts may be treated as an advance to the Partner with interest to be charged to that Partner's capital account at a rate determined by the General Partner.

(f) Each Partner agrees not to treat, on any tax return or in any claim for a refund, any item of income, gain, loss, deduction or credit in a manner inconsistent with treatment of such item by the Partnership.

ARTICLE IV

LEGAL INTERESTS, DISTRIBUTIONS AND PARTIAL WITHDRAWLS FROM CAPITAL ACCOUNT

4.1 Legal Interest. Each Partner shall have and own during any Taxable Year an undivided interest in the Partnership equal to his opening capital account for such period.

4.2 Distributions.

(a) Distributions shall be made to the Limited Partner at the times, in a manner (including in kind) and in the aggregate amounts determined by the General Partner, after taking into consideration available cash and the needs of the Indirect Charitable Owners of the Limited Partner for funds to cover their administrative and operating expenses. In determining the amount of cash or securities available for distribution, the General Partner may retain reasonable reserves in such amounts as it determines may be necessary to cover expenses, contingencies and losses. Notwithstanding the foregoing, distributions made in connection with a sale of all or substantially all of the Partnership's assets or a liquidation of the Partnership shall be made in accordance with the capital account balances of the Partners within the time period set forth in Treasury Regulations Section 1.704- 1(b)(2)(ii)(b)(3).

(b) The General Partner may withhold and pay over to the U.S. Internal Revenue Service (or any other relevant taxing authority) such amounts as the Partnership is required to withhold or pay over, pursuant to the Code or any other applicable law, on account of a Partner's distributive share of the Partnership's items of gross income, income or gain.

(c) For purposes of this Agreement, any taxes so withheld or paid over by the Partnership with respect to a Partner's distributive share of the Partnership's gross income, income or gain shall be deemed to be a distribution or payment to such Partner, reducing the amount otherwise distributable to such Partner pursuant to this Agreement and reducing the capital account of such Partner. If the amount of such taxes is greater than any such distributable amounts, then such Partner and any successor to such Partner's interest shall pay the amount of such excess to the Partnership, as a contribution to the capital of the Partnership. Notwithstanding anything to the contrary contained in this Agreement, the Partnership, and the General Partner on behalf of the Partnership, will not be required to make a distribution to any Partner on account of its interest in the Partnership if such distribution would violate any provision of the Act or any other applicable law.

4.3 Withdrawal. Without the consent of the General Partner, no Partner may withdraw as a Partner or make withdrawals from such Partner's capital account. In the event the General Partner permits any such withdrawal, the withdrawal shall be on such terms and conditions as the General Partner shall determine in its sole discretion. The General Partner may require the withdrawal of all or any part of the interest of any Limited Partner at any time for any reason or no reason by written notice; provided that any new or additional Limited Partner shall be directly or indirectly an entity or organization exempt from taxation under Section 501(c)(3) of the Code.

ARTICLE V

DURATION OF PARTNERSHIP

5.1 Commencement of Winding Up. The Partnership shall be required to be wound up and subsequently dissolved pursuant to the provisions of Section 36(1)(a) of the Act after the earliest of:

(a) the service of a notice by the General Partner on the other Partners requiring that the Partnership be wound up and dissolved; or

(b) the withdrawal by or resignation of the General Partner as general partner of the Partnership; or

(c) the withdrawal of all Limited Partners.

Upon the occurrence of any such event, the Partnership's affairs shall be wound up by the General Partner or such other Person as the General Partner shall appoint to act as liquidator of the Partnership.

5.2 Winding Up. Upon the commencement of the winding up of the Partnership, the General Partner (or a duly appointed liquidator, as applicable) shall proceed with the liquidation and distribution of the assets of the Partnership in an orderly manner in accordance with this Agreement and the Act.

5.3 Termination. Upon completion of the winding up of affairs of the Partnership in accordance with the Act and this Agreement, the General Partner (or liquidator, as applicable) shall execute a notice of dissolution ("Notice of Dissolution") in respect of the Partnership and cause such Notice of Dissolution to be filed with the Registrar of Exempted Limited Partnerships of the Cayman Islands, and this Agreement shall terminate.

ARTICLE VI

MISCELLANEOUS

6.1 Tax Matters Partner. The General Partner shall at all times constitute, and have full powers and responsibilities, as the Tax Matters Partner of the Partnership. In the event the Partnership shall be the subject of an income tax audit by any Federal, state or local authority, to the extent the Partnership is treated as an entity for purposes of such audit, including administrative settlement and judicial review, the Tax Matters Partner shall be authorized to act for, and his decision shall be final and binding upon, the Partnership and each Partner thereof, and the Tax Matters Partner shall be indemnified and held harmless by the Partnership and each Partner for any action so taken by him in good faith. All expenses incurred in connection with any such audit, investigation, settlement or review shall be borne by the Partnership to the extent of available Partnership funds, and any excess shall be paid by the Partners individually in proportion to their percentage interests in the Partnership.

6.2 Right to Hire.

(a) Nothing herein shall preclude the General Partner from engaging on behalf of the Partnership the services of any person or firm, whether or not affiliated with the General Partner, including the General Partner, to render for compensation such services to the Partnership as may be necessary to implement the business purposes of the Partnership. For the avoidance of doubt, the General Partner and the Limited Partners confirm that any such compensation is received by the General Partner in its capacity as general partner of the Partnership and in furtherance of the General Partner's authority to conduct the Partnership's business and affairs on behalf of the Partnership.

(b) Each of the Partners consents that the General Partner or any Limited Partner or any affiliate (as defined in the Securities Act of 1933, as amended, and the regulations thereunder) of any of them, including without limitation the investment manager of the CLO HoldCo, may engage in or possess an interest in directly or indirectly, any other present or future business venture of any nature or description for his own account, independently or with others, including but not limited to, any aspect of the securities business or any other business engaged in by the Partnership, and may become the general partner in other partnerships; and neither the Partnership nor any Partner shall have any rights in or to such independent venture or the income or profits derived therefrom.

(c) The General Partner and any affiliate or employee of such General Partner, may hereafter render investment advisory services to other investors with respect to, and/or may own, purchase or sell, securities or other interests in property the same as or similar to those which the General Partner may purchase, hold or sell on behalf of the Partnership.

6.3 Applicable Law, etc. This Agreement: (i) shall be binding on the executors, administrators, estates, heirs and legal successors of the Partners; (ii) shall be governed by, and construed in accordance with, the laws of the Cayman Islands; and iii) may be executed in more than one counterpart, all of which taken together shall constitute one and the same instrument.

6.4 Power of Attorney. Each of the undersigned does hereby constitute and appoint the General Partner, with full power of substitution, his true and lawful representative and attorney in-fact, in his name, place and stead to make, execute, sign and file this Agreement and any amendment to this Agreement authorized by the terms of this Agreement, and all such other instruments, documents and certificates (and any amendments thereto) which may from time to time be required by the laws of the Cayman Islands, the United States of America, or any state in which the Partnership shall determine to do business, or any political subdivision or agency thereof, to effectuate, implement and continue the valid and subsisting existence of the Partnership and to take any further action that the General Partner considers advisable in its sole discretion in connection with the exercise of its authority pursuant to this Agreement.

This power of attorney is intended to secure a proprietary interest of the General Partner and, in addition, the obligations of each relevant Limited Partner under this Agreement and shall be irrevocable.

6.5 Tax Elections Under the Internal Revenue Code. The General Partner shall have the authority to make all tax elections and determinations on behalf of the Partnership under the Internal Revenue Code, the regulations promulgated thereunder or other applicable law to effect any elections, determinations or capital allocations.

6.6 Amendments to Partnership Agreement. The terms and provisions of this Agreement may be modified or amended at any time and from time to time with the consent of the General Partner together with the consent of a majority in interest of the Limited Partners, insofar as is consistent with the laws governing this Agreement. Notwithstanding the foregoing, the General Partner shall have the right to effect amendments to this Agreement without the consent of any Limited Partner, including without limitation, to reflect: a change in the location of the Partnership's principal place of business; a change in the registered office or registered agent; a change in the name of the Partnership; admission of Partners in accordance with this Agreement; a change that is necessary to qualify the Partnership as a limited partnership under the laws of any state or that is necessary or advisable in the opinion of the Tax Matters Partner to ensure that the Partnership will not be treated as an association taxable as a corporation for Federal income tax purposes; a change of the provisions relating to the management fee or other compensation to the General Partner so that such provisions conform to any applicable requirements of the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission and other regulatory authorities; a change (i) that is necessary or desirable to satisfy any requirements, conditions or guidelines contained in any opinion, directive, order, ruling or regulation of any Federal or state agency or contained in any Federal or state statute, compliance with any of which the General Partner deems to be in the best interests of the Partnership and the Limited Partners, (ii) that is required or contemplated by this Agreement, or (iii) that is necessary or desirable to implement new regulations published by the Internal Revenue Service with respect to partnership allocations of income, gain, loss, deduction and credit; a change to cure any ambiguity, to correct or supplement any provision herein which may be inconsistent with any other provision herein, or to make any other provision with respect to the matters or questions arising under this Agreement which will not be inconsistent with the provisions hereof; or a change that does not adversely affect the Limited Partners in any material respect; provided, that in no event shall the General Partner effect any amendment to this Agreement that has the effect of giving the General Partner any economic benefits in the assets of the Partnership; provided further, that the General Partner shall give notice to the Limited Partners of any such amendment.

6.7 Investment Representation. Each Partner hereby acknowledges and represents that it acquired its interest in the Partnership for investment purposes only and not with a view to its resale or distribution.

6.8 Notices. All notices, requests or approvals that any party hereto is required or desires to give to any Partner or to the Partnership shall be in writing signed by or on behalf of the party giving the same and delivered personally or sent overnight express mail by a reputable private carrier or by prepaid registered or certified mail, return receipt requested, addressed (i) to the Limited Partner at the address set forth in this Agreement; (ii) to the Partnership at the principal place of business of the Partnership with a copy of such notice sent simultaneously to the General Partner at 6716 Glenhurst Dr., Dallas, TX 75254; or (iii) to the respective party at such other address or addresses as the party may specify from time to time in a writing given to the Partnership in the manner provided in this Section 6.8 of ARTICLE VI. Notice shall be deemed to have been duly given and received (i) on the date of delivery, if personally delivered, (ii) on the next business day subsequent to sending by overnight express mail as aforesaid, or iii) on the third day subsequent to mailing if mailed as aforesaid; provided that any withdrawal notices shall not be deemed to have been given until actually received by the Partnership.

6.9 General Partner Determinations. Any determinations or calculations made by the General Partner shall, if made in good faith and in the absence of manifest error, be binding upon the Partnership and its Limited Partners.

6.10 Dispute Resolution. The following procedures shall be used to resolve any controversy or claim ("Dispute") arising out of, relating to or in connection with the Agreement or otherwise involving the Partnership, its Partners and/or any Covered Person. If any of these provisions are determined to be invalid or unenforceable, the remaining provisions shall remain in effect and binding on the parties to the fullest extent permitted by law.

(a) Mediation.

(1) Any Dispute shall be submitted to mediation by written notice to the other party or parties. In the mediation process, the parties will try to resolve their differences voluntarily with the aid of an impartial mediator, who will attempt to facilitate negotiations. The mediator will be selected by agreement of the parties. If the parties cannot agree on a mediator, a mediator shall be designated by JAMS/Endispute at the request of a party using, if necessary, strike and rank procedures then in effect.

(2) The mediation will be conducted as specified by the mediator and agreed upon by the parties. The parties agree to discuss their differences in good faith and to attempt, with the assistance of the mediator, to reach an amicable resolution of the dispute.

(3) The mediation will be treated as a settlement discussion and therefore will be confidential. The mediator may not testify for either party in any later proceeding relating to the dispute. No recording or transcript shall be made of the mediation proceedings.

(4) Each party will bear its own costs in the mediation. The fees and expenses of the mediator will be shared equally by the parties.

(b) Arbitration. If a Dispute has not been resolved within 90 days after the written notice beginning the mediation process (or a longer period, if the parties agree to extend the mediation), the mediation shall terminate and the dispute will be settled by arbitration. A party who files a suit in court regarding a Dispute rather than in arbitration waives its claim and must pay all attorney's fees and costs incurred by the other party in seeking to have such suit dismissed. Under no circumstances will a party maintain its right to pursue his/her/its Dispute if that party initiates a judicial suit instead of complying with the mediation and arbitration provisions herein. The arbitration will be conducted through JAMS/Endispute in accordance with the procedures in this document and the commercial dispute arbitration rules then in effect ("Arbitration Rules"). In the event of a conflict, the provisions of this document will control.

(1) The arbitration will be conducted before a panel of three arbitrators, regardless of the size of the dispute, to be selected as provided in the Arbitration Rules. Any issue concerning the extent to which any dispute is subject to arbitration, or concerning the applicability, interpretation, or enforceability of these procedures, including any contention that all or part of these procedures are invalid or unenforceable, shall be governed by the Federal Arbitration Act ("FAA"), and resolved by the arbitrators, provided, however, that the Partnership or such applicable affiliate thereof may pursue a temporary restraining order and/or preliminary injunctive relief in connection with confidentiality covenants or agreements binding on any party, with related expedited discovery for the parties, in a court of law, and, thereafter, require arbitration of all issues of final relief. Under no circumstances will a state arbitration act preclude application of the FAA, including any choice of law provisions in this agreement, or any other agreement. No potential arbitrator may serve on the panel unless he or she has agreed in writing to abide and be bound by these procedures.

(2) The arbitrators may not award non-monetary or equitable relief of any sort. They shall have no power to award punitive damages or any other damages not measured by the prevailing party's actual damages, and the parties expressly waive their right to obtain such damages in arbitration or any in other forum. In no event, even if any other portion of these provisions is held to be invalid or unenforceable, shall the arbitrators have power to make an award or impose a remedy that could not be made or imposed by a court deciding the matter in the same jurisdiction. The arbitrator(s) shall be required to state in a written opinion all facts and conclusions of law relied upon to support any decision rendered. Any dispute over whether the arbitrator(s) has failed to comply with the foregoing will be resolved by summary judgment in a court of law.

(3) The party initiating arbitration shall pay all arbitration costs and arbitrator's fees, subject to a final arbitration award on who should bear costs and fees. All proceedings shall be conducted in Dallas, Texas, or another mutually agreeable site. Each party shall bear its own attorneys fees, costs and expenses, including any costs of experts, witnesses and/or travel, subject to a final arbitration award on who should bear costs and fees. The duty to arbitrate described above shall survive the termination of this Agreement. This provision is intended to supersede any rights under Texas Civil Practices and Remedies Code§ 38.001(8), which rights the parties expressly waive.

(4) No discovery will be allowed in connection with the arbitration unless the arbitration panel, upon a showing of substantial need, expressly authorizes it. In any event, there shall be no more than (i) two party depositions of six hours each. Each deposition is to be taken pursuant to the Texas Rules of Civil Procedure; (ii) one non-party deposition of six hours; (iii) twenty- five interrogatories; (iv) twenty-five requests for admission; (v) ten requests for production. In response, the producing party shall not be obligated to produce in excess of 5,000 total pages of documents. The total pages of documents shall include electronic documents; (vi) one request for disclosure pursuant to the Texas Rules of Civil Procedure. Any discovery not specifically provided for in this paragraph, whether to parties or non-parties, shall not be permitted.

(5) All aspects of the arbitration shall be treated as confidential, including its institution and/or settlement. Neither the parties nor the arbitrators may disclose the existence, content or results of the arbitration, except as necessary to comply with legal or regulatory requirements. Before making any such disclosure, a party shall give written notice to all other parties and shall afford such parties a reasonable opportunity to protect their interests. In the event a party who recovered monies by settlement, award by the arbitration panel, or otherwise in connection with the Dispute violates this confidentiality term, he, she, or it shall refund all such sums recovered. The parties expressly intend to waive the right to retain any monies received through settlement, award by the arbitration panel, or otherwise in connection with the Dispute in the event that that party violates the aforementioned confidentiality term.

(6) The result of the arbitration will be binding on the parties, and judgment on the arbitrators' award may be entered in any court having jurisdiction.

6.11 Successors and Assigns. Subject to the limitations set forth in Section 1.11, this Agreement shall inure to the benefit of and be binding upon the parties and to their respective heirs, executors, administrators, successors and permitted assigns. For the avoidance of doubt, any Limited Partner who becomes a former Limited Partner shall remain bound to all terms and conditions of this Agreement.

6.12 Severability. Every provision of this Agreement is intended to be severable. If any term or provision hereof is illegal or invalid for any reason whatsoever, such term or provision will be enforced to the maximum extent permitted by law and, in any event, such illegality or invalidity shall not affect the validity of the remainder of the Agreement.

6.13 No Third Party Rights. Any Covered Person not being a party to this Agreement, may enforce any rights granted to it pursuant to this Agreement in its own right as if it were a party to this Agreement. Except as expressly provided in the foregoing sentence, a person who is not a party to this Agreement shall not have any rights under the Contracts (Rights of Third Parties) Act (as amended)

of the Cayman Islands to enforce any term of this Agreement. Notwithstanding any term of this Agreement, the consent of or notice to any person who is not a party to this Agreement shall not be required for any termination, rescission or agreement to any variation, waiver, assignment, novation, release or settlement under this Agreement at any time."

6.14 No Right to Partition. Each of the Partners, on behalf of themselves and their shareholders, partners, principals, members, successors and assigns, if any and as permitted hereunder, hereby specifically renounce, waive and forfeit all rights, whether arising under contract or statute or by operation of law, except as otherwise expressly provided in this Agreement, to seek, bring or maintain any action in any court of law or equity for partition of the Partnership or any asset of the Partnership, or any interest which is considered to be Partnership property, regardless of the manner in which title to such property may be held.

Patrick's Authority and Control Over the HMIT Entities Before Restructuring

Patrick Controls DAF Holdings Corp. and Its Assets

- On August 1, 2022, John Honis transferred to Charitable DAF Holdings Corp. (f/k/a Rand Advisors Holdings Corp., "DAF Holdings Corp.")[1] 100% of the issued and outstanding membership interests of each of (1) Atlas IDF GP, LLC ("Atlas IDF GP"), (2) Rand PE Fund Management, LLC ("Rand PE Fund Management"), and (3) Rand Advisors, LLC ("Rand Advisors").[2] Patrick has been the Control Person of all DAF entities since March 25, 2021.[3]

- As a result, DAF Holdings Corp. became the sole member of (1) Atlas IDF GP, (2) Rand PE Fund Management, and (3) Rand Advisors, with the power to appoint and remove the boards/officers of each entity.[4]

- On October 13, 2022, Patrick was appointed as the Sole Manager, President, Secretary, and Treasurer of each of (1) Atlas IDF GP, (2) Rand PE Fund Management, and (3) Rand Advisors.[5]

Patrick, Via Atlas IDF GP, Rand Advisors LLC, and Rand PE Fund Mgmt. LLC, Controls and Advises Atlas IDF and Rand PE Fund

- Atlas IDF GP is the general partner of, and has full and exclusive authority and control over, Atlas IDF, L.P. ("Atlas IDF"), including the express right, power and authority to settle claims.[6] Patrick is the control person of Atlas IDF GP.

- Rand PE Fund Management LLC is the general partner of, and has full and exclusive authority and control over, Rand PE Fund I, L.P. ("Rand PE Fund"), including the express right, power, and authority to settle claims. Patrick is the control person of Rand PE Fund Management LLC.[7]

- Rand Advisors is the investment manager of Atlas IDF and Rand PE Fund. Patrick is the control person of Rand Advisors.[8]

Patrick Controls Beacon Mountain and HMIT

- Patrick controls Beacon Mountain through his control of Rand PE Fund. Prior to the 2025 Beacon Mountain sale, Beacon Mountain was a member-managed LLC. As its sole member, Rand PE Fund had full authority and control over Beacon Mountain.[9]

- Beacon Mountain is the sponsor and beneficial owner of Hunter Mountain Investment Trust ("HMIT").[10] Patrick is the sole "Administrator" of HMIT with full and exclusive authority over HMIT, including the express right, power and authority to settle claims.[11]

Patrick's Authority and Control Over the DAF Entities Before Restructuring

Patrick Controls DAF GP, DAF Fund, and Its Assets

- On March 24, 2021, Grant Scott transferred 100% of the limited liability company interests of Charitable DAF GP, LLC ("DAF GP") to Patrick, and Patrick was admitted as substitute member of DAF GP,[12] giving Patrick full authority and control over DAF GP.[13]
- The general partner of Charitable DAF Fund, L.P. ("DAF Fund") has full authority and control over DAF Fund. The initial general partner of DAF Fund was DAF GP, thus Patrick controlled DAF Fund via DAF GP.[14]
- Patrick, via DAF Fund, controls CLO Holdco, Ltd. and its subsidiaries, including DAF Holdings Corp. and CLO Holdco, LLC.
  - CLO Holdco, Ltd. is a wholly-owned subsidiary of DAF Fund.[15] On April 2, 2021, Patrick was appointed as sole director of CLO Holdco, Ltd.[16]
  - Liberty CLO Holdco, Ltd. is a wholly-owned subsidiary of CLO Holdco, Ltd. On March 24, 2021, Patrick was appointed as director of Liberty CLO Holdco, Ltd. [17]

  - DAF Holdings Corp. is a wholly-owned subsidiary of Liberty CLO Holdco, LLC[19] and Patrick is the President and Director of DAF Holdings Corp.[20]

Patrick Does Not Share Authority Over HMIT or DAF Entities

None of the Supporting Organizations Has Any Authority or Control Over HMIT

- The HMIT Entities were intentionally structured to prevent any of The Dallas Foundation or its supporting organizations, The Empower Dallas Foundation, Inc. and The Okada Family Foundation (collectively, the "Supporting Organizations"), from being treated as the owners of the HMIT Entities or their assets for tax purposes. Were it otherwise, such organizations could be treated as having received the distributions, interest, capital gains, and other income, including unrelated business taxable income (UBTI), realized by the HMIT Entities.[21]

- Instead, the Supporting Organizations purchased deferred variable annuity policies issued by Crown Global Insurance Company, a Bermuda insurer ("Crown Global"). As a result, "The Dallas Foundation and the Supporting Organizations have no legal, equitable, direct, or indirect interest in any of the assets held by Atlas IDF. Rather, [they] only have a contractual claim against Crown Global to collect cash from the [deferred variable annuity policies]." [22]

- The Supporting Organizations are prohibited from even communicating with Rand Advisors or Atlas IDF GP regarding Atlas IDF or its assets.[23]

Crown Global, The Sole Limited Partner Of Atlas IDF, Has No Control Over Atlas

- "[T]he Limited Partners shall take no part in the management or control of [Atlas IDF's] business and shall have no authority to act for or bind the Partnership."[24]

- Atlas IDF's Limited Partnership Agreement limits the matters on which the Limited Partners are entitled to vote to (i) approval of certain affiliate transactions (§ 3.01(b)), (ii) revocation of the General Partner's authority to effect agency cross transactions (§ 3.02(o)), (iii) appointment of a successor General Partner in the event of a withdrawal of the General Partner (§ 4.02), (iv) the appointment of a liquidator upon dissolution in the event the General Partner fails to appoint one (§ 13.02), and (v) amendments to the Limited Partnership Agreement (§ 14.08).

None of DAF Holdco or the Dondero Foundations Had Any Authority or Control Over the DAF Entities

- Prior to the 2025 DAF restructuring transactions, Charitable DAF Holdco, Ltd. ("DAF Holdco") was the sole limited partner of DAF Fund.[25]

- The Limited Partnership Agreement of DAF Fund expressly provides that the limited partners have no authority or control over DAF Fund.[26]

- The Dondero Foundations held participating shares of DAF Holdco.[27] The holders of participating shares have no right to vote on matters relating to DAF Holdco.[28]

Patrick's Post-Restructuring Authority

Patrick Continues To Have Full Authority Over Beacon Mountain & HMIT Entities

- Rand PE Fund Sells Beacon Mountain to CLO Holdco, LLC - On February 12, 2025, Rand PE Fund (controlled by Patrick) sold all of the issued and outstanding membership interests of Beacon Mountain to CLO Holdco, LLC [29] for an aggregate purchase price of $1,000,000.[30]

- Following the 2025 Beacon Mountain Sale, Patrick Continues to Control Beacon Mountain - Now Through His Control of CLO Holdco, LLC - Following the sale, Beacon Mountain continued to be a member-managed LLC. As its new sole member, CLO Holdco, LLC has full authority and control over Beacon Mountain.[31]

- Beacon Mountain remains the sole beneficiary of HMIT.

Patrick Continues to Have Full Authority Over DAF Entities

- On March 7, 2024, DAF GP (owned by Patrick) assigned its general partner interest in DAF Fund to CDH GP, Ltd. ("CDH GP"), which is also 100% owned by Patrick and of which Patrick is Director.[32]

- Thus, Patrick remains in full control of DAF Fund, now through CDH GP, instead of through DAF GP.

Conclusion

- Before the restructuring, Patrick had full authority over every HMIT Entity signatory to the settlement.
- After the restructuring, Patrick continued to have full authority over every HMIT Entity signatory to the settlement.
- Patrick continued to have full authority over every HMIT Entity signatory after the restructuring and continues to have the full authority today.

For purposes of this Memorandum, the term Policy Owner includes: (i) any trustees of a Policy Owner; (ii) any Policy beneficiaries; (iii) any affiliated person (as this term is defined in Section 2(a)(3) of the Investment Company Act) of the foregoing persons; or (iv) any person that represents the Policy Owner . . . (Pgs. 1, 9, 21, 74 of the Confidential Private Placement Memorandum of Atlas IDF, dated November 30, 2015); "All decisions involving the investment of [Atlas IDF's] assets shall be made by the relevant Adviser Party in its sole and absolute discretion, without any direct or indirect input from any Policy Party . . . no Adviser Party shall knowingly discuss, communicate or solicit in any manner, whether directly or indirectly, the views of any Policy Party on the current or future investments, objectives, strategies or policies of [Atlas IDF], either in general or specific terms" (Schedule D to Participation Agreement, dated November 30, 2015 by and among Crown Global, Atlas IDF, and Rand Advisors); "Assets held in the Separate Account are the sole property of the Insurer. The Proposed Policyholder will have no direct proprietary interest in the assets held in any separate account, including, without limitation, the Separate Account with respect to this Policy . . . The Proposed Policyholder agrees that, except for the selection of the allocation of Separate Account assets among Investment Options as contemplated in Section 4.3, and changes to such allocations as contemplated in Section 4.5, it will not select, identify or recommend, nor will it contact any investment manager for the purpose of influencing, any particular investment or group of investments to be made directly or indirectly with the assets of any Subaccount, including, without limitation, an investment manager with respect to an IDF in which funds held in a particular Subaccount are invested. A Proposed Policyholder may not have direct contact or communicate with the investment manager of either an IDF or a Managed Subaccount and may not directly participate in the management of the Separate Account or any IDF or Managed Subaccount. (§§ 1.7, 4.4 of each of the Deferred Variable Annuity Policies); "As a basic premise, to allow a Proposed Policyholder to be entitled to defer the current recognition of income resulting from the inside build up within a Separate Account, the assets in the Separate Account must be considered to be owned by the Insurer, not by the Proposed Policyholder. In order to meet this requirement, the Proposed Policyholder may not have direct or indirect control over the specific investment decisions made by the investment manager with respect to the assets in the Separate Account, or be treated as possessing any "incidents of ownership." If the Proposed Policyholder retains or exercises prohibited control, the Proposed Policyholder will be treated as the owner of the underlying assets held in the Separate Account, and income, accretions and gain recognitions within the Separate Account may become currently includable in the Proposed Policyholder's taxable U.S. gross income . . . In order to minimize the potential U.S. federal income tax exposure to each Proposed Policyholder with respect to the investor control doctrine, the Insurer will contractually prohibit each Proposed Policyholder from directly or indirectly consulting with the investment manager managing the Separate Account backing his or her respective Policy following the Policy's issuance. All investment decisions will be made exclusively by the investment manager in its sole and absolute discretion, but subject to the Investment Option selected by the Proposed Policyholder. Proposed Policyholders or Policyholders will not have any authority to require the investment manager to acquire or dispose of any particular investment" (Pg. 67 of each Confidential Private Placement Memorandum for Deferred Variable Annuity (DVA) with Flexible Premiums Payable, dated June 28, 2011) . . . "The Proposed Policyholder acknowledges and agrees that all investment decisions with regard to the management of assets held in the Separate Account backing the Policy shall be made by the investment manager in the investment manager's sole and absolute discretion" (Part D of each Deferred Variable Annuity Application).
