APPELLANT'S AMENDED DESIGNATION OF ITEMS TO BE INCLUDED IN THE RECORD ON APPEAL AND STATEMENT OF THE ISSUES PRESENTED

Pursuant to Federal Rule of Bankruptcy Procedure 8009(a), Appellant Patrick Daugherty ("Daugherty") hereby submits his amended designation of items to be included in the record on appeal and statement of issues to be presented in connection with his appeal from the July 24, 2026 Judgment and Memorandum Opinion [Docket Nos. 138, 139 in Adversary No. 25-03055-bwo]. See Notice of Appeal [Docket No. 142 in Adversary No. 25-03055-bwo].

Statement of Issues on Appeal

1. Whether the Bankruptcy Court erred in disallowing Daugherty's Reserved Claim based on the Employment Agreement's termination provisions, when the Court itself found the 2009 Compensation Statement was incorporated into the Employment Agreement and resolved its ambiguity in Daugherty's favor, concluding that Highland Capital Management, L.P. ("Highland") intended to compensate Daugherty for any material deviation in his 2008 tax refund.

2. Whether the Bankruptcy Court erred in applying the "no further liability or obligation" language of Sections 4.5 and 4.6 of the Employment Agreement to extinguish Daugherty's compensation entitlement under the 2009 Compensation Statement, when that language pertains to severance contingent upon execution of a separation agreement and not to earned compensation that accrued during Daugherty's active employment.

3. Whether the Bankruptcy Court erred in holding that James Dondero's oral promises to cover Daugherty's contingent tax liability were unenforceable under Texas's statute of frauds, Tex. Bus. & Com. Code § 26.01, when Highland had a main purpose of its own in making the promise and when the Court failed to consider Daugherty's continued employment and forbearance as adequate consideration.

4. Whether the Bankruptcy Court erred in denying Daugherty's counterclaim for specific performance of the Settlement Agreement's books-and-records provision by construing that provision through the statutory categories of 6 Del. C. § 18-305(a), rather than by the plain meaning of the negotiated Settlement Agreement requiring Highland to "transfer its interests in HERA and ERA to Daugherty" "[t]o facilitate [the] recovery of [] potential claims," including "the HERA and ERA books and records (spreadsheet) maintained on HCMLP's system."

5. Whether the Bankruptcy Court abused its discretion by granting Highland Capital Management, L.P.'s Cross Motion pursuant to Fed. R. Civ. P. 60(b)(6) when Highland failed to make a showing of manifest injustice and exceptional circumstances required to rewrite a term of the parties' bargained-for, court-approved settlement agreement that Highland Capital Management, L.P. entered on a free, deliberate, calculated, and counseled basis.

6. Whether the Bankruptcy Court abused its discretion by granting Highland Capital Management, L.P.'s Cross Motion pursuant to Fed. R. Civ. P. 60(b)(6) when Highland was estopped from seeking such relief after it obtained the benefits of the tolling provision in the settlement agreement, including, inter alia, the parties' negotiation and execution of a series of tolling agreements to the benefit of Highland Capital Management, L.P. regarding its certain claim-objection deadline.

MEMORANDUM OPINION

The Court issues this Memorandum Opinion in the action between Plaintiff and Counter-Defendant, Highland Capital Management, L.P. ("Highland"), and Patrick Hagaman Daugherty ("Daugherty"), Defendant and Counter-Plaintiff.

Highland contests the validity of Daugherty's proof of claim filed in its related bankruptcy case and seeks to disallow the claim. In the alternative, Highland asks the Court to estimate Daugherty's contingent claim under 11 U.S.C. § 502(c) for purposes of making a distribution under Highland's confirmed chapter 11 plan.[1] Daugherty's counterclaims allege that Highland breached a prior settlement agreement between the parties, in which Highland agreed to turnover the Highland Employee Retention Assets LLC ("HERA") and ERA Management, LLC ("ERA") books and records. Daugherty seeks specific performance of the settlement agreement.[2] Trial was held on April 17, 2026, after which the parties submitted proposed findings of fact and conclusions of law.

The Court's findings and conclusions are based upon the record before the Court and are issued under Rule 52 of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, made applicable in this adversary proceeding by Rule 7052 of the Federal Rules of Bankruptcy Procedure.

The issues here raise mixed questions of fact and law. Accordingly, where appropriate, findings of fact may be considered conclusions of law and conclusions of law may be considered findings of fact.

[1] Prior to trial, Highland withdrew its claim for subordination under 11 U.S.C. § 510(b). Unless otherwise stated, all "§" or "section" references are to Tile 11 of the United States Code (the "Bankruptcy Code").

[2] Prior to trial, Daugherty withdrew his claim for attorney's fees.

FINDINGS OF FACT

Highland's Bankruptcy Case and Daugherty's Reserved Claim

1. On October 16, 2019, Highland filed its petition for relief under chapter 11 of the Bankruptcy Code commencing the above-captioned bankruptcy case. Case No. 19-34054, Dkt. No. 1. In Highland's bankruptcy case, Daugherty filed several proofs of claim that culminated in proof of claim number 205, which is subject to the parties' dispute in this adversary proceeding. Dkt. No. 101, ¶ 2.[3]

2. On November 24, 2020, this Court entered an Order temporarily allowing Daughtery's claim in the amount of $9,134,019.00 for voting purposes only. Case No. 19-34054, Dkt. No. 1474. Then, on February 22, 2021, this Court entered the Order (i) Confirming the Fifth Amended Plan of Reorganization of Highland Capital Management, L.P. (as Modified) and (ii) Granting Related Relief.[4] Id., Dkt. No. 1943. Highland's confirmed plan became effective on August 11, 2021, at which time a claimant trust was established over which James P. Seery, Highland's Chief Executive Officer, was appointed trustee. Id., Dkt. Nos. 1808, 2700.

3. Following confirmation, on November 22, 2021, Highland and Daugherty executed a settlement agreement. Dkt. No. 101, ¶ 19. Among other things, the settlement agreement resolved Daugherty's claims against Highland's bankruptcy estate, save for one, and required Highland to turnover HERA and ERA's books and records to Daugherty. Highland Ex. 5; Daugherty Ex. 3. Below are provisions from the settlement agreement relevant to this dispute:

> 8. HERA and ERA: The Parties acknowledge and agree that as of the date hereof, HERA and ERA have no material assets other than potential claims that may exist against persons or entities not released at or prior to the date hereof, and no claims against the HCMLP Released Parties. The allowed claims provided in paragraph 1 hereof are expressly agreed to in order to satisfy any liability the Debtor may have in connection with the HERA Judgment. To facilitate recovery of such potential claims – which expressly excludes any and all claims by or in the name of HERA and ERA against any of the HCMLP Released Parties -- HCMLP will transfer its interests in HERA and ERA to Daugherty. Such transfer will include the HERA and ERA books and records (spreadsheet) maintained on HCMLP's system. Such transfer will be without representation or warranty of any type; including, for the avoidance of doubt, without any representation or warranty as to the merits of the potential claims or the efficacy of the transfer of the potential claims. Such transfer will be without any liability or material cost to HCMLP or its affiliates or the other HCMLP Released Parties, including any liability in respect of any assets that HERA or ERA ever actually or allegedly owned, possessed, or controlled and that were actually or allegedly transferred, conveyed, sold, written off or otherwise disposed of (in any such case, a "Disposition"). In connection with the transfer, HERA and ERA have expressly released the HCMLP Released Parties from any and all claims, including any claims actions or remedies related to any Disposition, either of them may have against any HCMLP Released Party now or in the future (the "HERA and ERA Release"). Daugherty on behalf of himself and each of the Daugherty Released Parties acknowledges, accepts, and agrees not to challenge the HERA and ERA Release or support any challenge thereto. A copy of the HERA and ERA Release is annexed hereto as Exhibit A. Daugherty acknowledges and agrees that even though HERA and ERA are not HCMLP Released Parties under this Agreement, Daugherty and all Daugherty Released Parties shall (a) not seek to hold any HCMLP Released Party liable for any action or inaction taken by or on behalf of HERA or ERA, including through any derivative, veil-piercing or similar cause of action or remedy; and (b) not seek to recover damages or obtain any form of relief against any HCMLP Released Party on account of any action or inaction taken by or on behalf of HERA or ERA, including through any veil piercing or similar cause of action or remedy. If, for any reason, HERA or ERA, or any person or entity acting on their behalf, recovers anything from any HCMLP Released Party, Daugherty shall promptly turnover to HCMLP or its successors and assigns any amounts actually recovered by Daugherty or any Daugherty Released Party, from HERA or ERA arising from, related to, or derived from any claim that HERA or ERA or any person or entity acting on their behalf has or may have against any HCMLP Released Party. HCMLP will provide reasonable assistance to Daugherty to assist with the preparation of any required HERA K-1s for 2021, but any requirement to provide such K-1s will be the obligation, if any, of HERA.

9. IRS Compensation Claim: In section 4(ii) of the Addendum to Proof of Claim No. 205, Daugherty contends that he has a contingent, unliquidated claim against the Debtor arising out of a 2008/2009 compensation letter (the "Reserved Claim"), which claim is also related to an audit/dispute between the Debtor and the Internal Revenue Service (the "IRS") (the dispute between the Debtor and IRS being referred to herein as the "IRS Audit Dispute"). The Debtor disputes the validity and amount of the Reserved Claim. Daugherty shall retain the Reserved Claim solely against the Debtor and not against any other HCMLP Released Party, and the Debtor reserves the right to assert any and all defenses thereto. Any litigation by and between the Debtor and Daugherty concerning the validity and amount of the Reserved Claim shall be stayed until the IRS makes a final determination with respect to the IRS Audit Dispute; provided, however, that Daugherty may file a motion with the Bankruptcy Court to have the Reserved Claim estimated for purposes of establishing a reserve as a "Disputed Claim" under the Debtor's Plan (the "Reserve Motion"), and the Debtor (and any successor) reserves the right to assert any and all defenses thereto. Notwithstanding the foregoing, Daugherty may address any personal claim or personal liability to the IRS as a result of the IRS Audit Dispute, including settlement of any such claims; provided, however, Daugherty agrees to forego settling or addressing any claims with the IRS without the written consent of the Debtor until March 31, 2022.

Highland Ex. 5, ¶¶ 8, 9; Daugherty Ex. 3, ¶¶ 8, 9. The Court entered an order approving the settlement agreement on March 8, 2022, which allowed Daugherty's proof of claim number 205 in the amounts set forth in the settlement agreement, subject to further resolution of the Reserved Claim.[5] Case No. 19-34054, Dkt. No. 3298.

4. On May 2, 2025, Highland commenced this adversary proceeding by filing its Complaint seeking to disallow the Reserved Claim or, alternatively, requesting that the Court estimate the Reserved Claim.[6] Dkt. No. 1. On June 4, 2025, Daugherty filed his Motion to Dismiss Highland's complaint. Dkt. No. 5.

[5] "Reserved Claim" has the meaning given to it by the Parties in the Settlement Agreement. Highland Ex. 5, ¶ 9; Daugherty Ex. 3, ¶ 9.

5. On July 18, 2025, Highland filed its (A) Objection to Patrick Daugherty's Motion to Dismiss, and (B) Cross Motion for Relief from a Final Order Pursuant to Bankruptcy Rule 9024 ("Cross Motion"). Dkt. No. 10. The Cross Motion sought to modify the order approving the settlement agreement to strike the so-called "Stay Provision." Such relief would permit Highland to proceed with its claim-disallowance proceeding against Daugherty despite there being no "final determination with respect to the IRS Audit Dispute." The Court granted the Cross Motion on September 5, 2025, and modification of the settlement order remains subject of Daugherty's appeal. Dkt. Nos. 23, 25.

6. Pursuant to the settlement agreement, Daugherty's Reserved Claim is fully reserved in an account held by the Claimant Trust with a balance equal to $2,650,353.00, the amount of the Reserved Claim asserted by Daugherty in his proof of claim. Daugherty Ex. 94, ¶ 1. At trial, Mr. Seery testified that this amount remains in a claimant trust account and is the last unresolved claim of the Highland bankruptcy estate. Trial Tr. at 241:21–242:3. Any distribution made to Daugherty on account of the Reserved Claim must occur prior to distributions to Highland's partnership interests—Classes 10 and 11. Trial Tr. at 240:23–243:11.

[6] See supra n.1 regarding Highland's claim for subordination.

Daugherty's Employment at and Separation from Highland

7. Daugherty was employed by Highland from 1998 to his voluntary resignation in 2011. Dkt No. 101, ¶ 8, 14. On December 31, 2004, Highland and Daugherty entered into an Amended Employment Agreement ("Employment Agreement"), which, among other things, described Daugherty's compensation and benefits. Highland Ex. 11. As 'Salary and Bonus" the Employment Agreement states the following:

> (a) Salary and Bonus. The annual salary (the "Base Salary") payable to the Executive during the term of this Agreement shall be an amount determined by the Company (in its sole discretion) and communicated in writing to the Executive, and will be subject to annual review pursuant to the Company's normal review policy for other similarly situated executives of the Company. Any increase in salary shall be based upon the Executive's performance and shall be determined by the Company in its sole discretion. In addition, the Company may from time to time award bonuses to the Executive based on such criteria as the Company may establish in its discretion. Any such bonus, unless specifically stated otherwise, will be paid in three (3) equal installments and is not earned or accrued until each payment date. The Executive must be employed on the payment date(s) in order to be eligible for the bonus. The payment of salary and bonuses shall be subject to all federal, state and withholding taxes, social security deductions and other general obligations. Furthermore, the designation of the Executive's compensation does not constitute a guarantee of employment for any specific period of time.

Id. ¶ 3.1(a). The Employment Agreement also includes a Form of Separation Agreement and Release, which an employee may sign at the termination of their employment. If an employee does not sign the separation agreement, then the Employment Agreement states that the employee is not entitled to severance, and Highland "will have no further liability or obligation to the [employee] under [the Employment Agreement] or in connection with [their] employment or termination." Id. ¶¶ 4.4–4.6.

8. Consistent with the Employment Agreement, Daugherty was provided with a Comprehensive Compensation and Benefits Statement ("2009 Compensation Statement") dated February 27, 2009. Highland Ex. 13. Therein, Daugherty's 2008 earnings and awards totaled $3,594,136, of which $1,475,816 was allocated as a 2008 tax refund.[7] Id. Stated with the 2008 tax refund line item is the following language:

> Refund is an estimated amount. If actual refund deviates materially from estimate, other compensation will be fairly adjusted. Refund is expected to be received in approximately 4 months.

Id. This language forms the basis for Daugherty's Reserved Claim against Highland's bankruptcy estate.

9. In an email from Scott Wilson, Highland's Principal, Internal Strategy, dated February 26, 2009, to Brian Collins and Patrick Boyce, Mr. Wilson included an attachment with draft questions and answers related to the 2008 tax refund. Highland Ex. 47. Of note, the following questions included draft answers:

> Why would you consider the tax refund as part of compensation? Isn't the refund in my name?
> When you paid taxes in 2006 and 2007 that are now potentially subject to a refund, you received a distribution from Highland to pay those taxes. Now we believe that the taxes were overpaid, due to subsequent losses, and as such, Highland distributed an excessive amount to you to pay the taxes. Accordingly, any difference, now or then, ends up being extra compensation to you, and keeping the refund represents an extra compensation to you from Highland (NOTE: this is by no means well researched legal argument. The Tax Dept. is investigating various legal and tax rationale in this matter, and we can discuss various options on this argument further in a verbal conversation)
>
> What would happen if my actual tax refund is different from this estimate, or if the timing is significantly delayed? Would I be "trued-up" if is it less? What if it is more?

[7] With the inclusion of "Highland Paid Benefits," Daugherty's compensation package totaled $3,619,376. Highland Ex. 13.

> If the actual refund ends up being different than the estimated amount, then we would consider what action to take on a case-by-case basis, considering several factors including the difference in the refund amount and if that creates any "gap" between the target total cash compensation and your actual cash compensation would be.

Id. at 3–5 (emphasis in original). A slide-deck dated March 6, 2009, and titled "Tax Discussion" included "[p]rovide overview of tax refund estimate calculation" as an objective. Highland Ex. 39; see also Trial Tr. 296:6–11. One slide answered affirmatively the following question: "Can the IRS claw back the refund?" Id. at 7.

10. In 2009, based on a draft Schedule K-1 that Highland provided to him, Daugherty filed his 2008 federal income tax return. Dkt. No. 101, ¶ 11. The Draft K-1 identified Daugherty's "partner's share of loss" as 0.746998% as of December 31, 2008. Daugherty Ex. 26. In 2009, Daugherty received refunds from the IRS of previously paid taxes in the amounts of $493,629 and $780,301 related to his 2008 Individual Income Tax Return (Form 1040) and his 2008 Application for Tentative Refund (Form 1045), respectively, for a total refund of $1,273,930. Highland Exs. 35, 36. These forms incorporated Highland's losses that were allocated to him as provided for in the draft Schedule K-1. Dkt. No. 101, ¶ 12. Later in 2009, Highland issued its final 2008 Schedule K-1 to Daugherty identifying Daugherty's "partner's share of loss" as 0.740262% as of December 31, 2008. Highland Ex. 14; Daugherty Ex. 24.

11. On March 3, 2010, the IRS notified Highland that it was initiating an audit of Highland's 2008 federal income tax return. Dkt. No. 101, ¶ 13.

12. On September 28, 2011, Daugherty gave voluntary notice of resignation from all positions at Highland with his last day as an employee being October 31, 2011. Id. ¶ 14. Daugherty did not sign the form separation agreement attached to the Employment Agreement. Prior to his last day of employment, Daugherty and Highland attempted to negotiate different separation and release terms that included, among other things, Highland's agreement to pay a "Notice of Tax Due," or other similar demand, delivered to Daugherty because of the IRS audit of Highland's tax return. Highland Exs. 40, 41. These negotiations did not culminate in a signed agreement. Trial Tr. 207:23–209:5.

13. At trial, Daugherty testified that James Dondero, Highland's former chief executive officer, made promises to Daugherty about the 2009 tax refund. Trial Tr. 296:18–22 ("[Dondero] said, I'll take care of you. I'll make it up to you.")

14. On December 8, 2017, an IRS examiner executed Form 4605-A, which proposed to increase Highland's reported 2008 short-term portfolio income by $166,332,713. Highland Ex. 15, Daugherty Ex. 27. Settlement discussions with the IRS remain ongoing. See Highland Ex. 20, Daugherty Ex. 32. To date, Daugherty has not received notice that he is required to repay any amount refunded to him in connection with his 2009 tax refund.

Compliance with the Settlement Agreement

15. The Settlement Agreement required Highland to "transfer its interests in HERA and ERA to Daugherty. Such transfer will include the HERA and ERA books and records (spreadsheet) maintained on HCMLP's system. Such transfer will be without representation or warranty of any type . . . . Such transfer will be without any liability or material cost to HCMLP or its affiliates . . . ." Highland Ex. 5 ¶ 8;

Daugherty Ex. 3 ¶ 8. On April 1, 2022, Highland transferred its interests in HERA and ERA to Daugherty pursuant to written agreements. Highland Ex. 52. Both HERA and ERA are Delaware limited liability companies. Id.

16. HERA and ERA were non-operating entities that did not have any employees, offices, servers, or email addresses. Trial Tr. at 183:17–185:7. The phrase "books and records (spreadsheet)" is not otherwise expressly defined in the settlement agreement.

17. On May 5, 2022, and October 19, 2022, Highland delivered certain documents and materials to Daugherty as reflected in Daugherty Exhibits 33 and 34. The May 2022 production included over 50MB of data and included all of HERA and ERA's (a) corporate governance records, (b) historical accounting records, and (c) historical tax filings. Trial Tr. at 192:6–21, 193:4–194:2. At Daugherty's request, Highland transmitted additional records in October 2022 that included legal invoices. Trial Tr. 80:16–81:11.

18. On February 29, 2024, HERA filed a lawsuit in the Northern District of Texas against 24 defendants. Case No. 3:24-cv-00498-K, Dkt. No. 1 (N.D. Tex.); see also Highland Ex. 54; Trial Tr. 198:22–199:9, 277:3–8.[8] In that case, there are pending motions to dismiss, and the district court stayed the case pending resolution of those motions to dismiss. Case No. 3:24-cv-00498-K, Dkt. No. 119. Daugherty testified that if HERA prevails on the motions to dismiss, it will seek discovery from Highland. Trial Tr. 277:18–22.

[8] The Court takes judicial notice of the docket in Case No. 3:24-cv-00498-K pending in the Northern District of Texas. Fed. R. Evid. 201(b)(2), (c)(1).

19. Daugherty performed and satisfied all obligations that the Settlement Agreement imposed upon him. Highland does not contest Daugherty's full performance of the Settlement Agreement. Daugherty's demand for specific performance relates to the HERA and ERA "books and records (spreadsheet)" provision of the settlement agreement. In particular, Daugherty seeks all materials "related to HERA and ERA" that are in Highland's possession. Dkt No. 102, ¶¶ 1, 27, 36 (emphasis added). Prior to filing his counterclaims in this adversary proceeding, Daugherty did not otherwise seek relief from this Court to enforce the settlement agreement.

CONCLUSIONS OF LAW

20. The Court has jurisdiction over this adversary proceeding under 28 U.S.C. § 1334. This action is a core proceeding under 28 U.S.C. § 157(b)(2)(B) and (O). Venue is proper under 28 U.S.C. §§ 1408 and 1409(a).

Burdens of Proof

21. 11 U.S.C. § 502(a) states, "A claim . . . proof of which is filed under section 501 [the Bankruptcy Code], is deemed allowed, unless a party in interest . . . objects." A properly filed proof of claim is prima facie evidence of the claimant's entitlement to collect against assets of the debtor's estate. Cal. State Bd. Of Equalization v. Off. Unsecured Creditors' Comm. (In re Fid. Holding Co.), 837 F.2d 696, 698 (5th Cir. 1988).

22. If a claim objection is filed, then the burden shifts to the objector to "produce evidence tending to defeat the claim that is of a probative force equal to that of the creditor's proof of claim." Simmons v. Savell (In re Simmons), 765 F.2d 547, 552 (5th Cir. 1985). If an objector produces evidence to rebut the prima facie validity of the claim, then the claimant must prove the validity of its claim by a preponderance of the evidence. See United States v. Canada, 574 B.R. 620, 627 (N.D. Tex. 2017).

23. Daugherty properly filed proof of claim number 205 and attached a compensation summary dated August 18, 2011, and the 2009 Compensation Statement. Case No. 19-34054, Dkt. No. 1280-2.[9] Thus, Highland must bring forward evidence equal in probative force to defeat Daugherty's claim.

The Employment Agreement Absolves Highland of Any Liability to Daugherty.

24. The parties do not contest that Texas law controls this dispute over Daugherty's Reserved Claim. Likewise, neither party contests the validity of the Employment Agreement. At issue, then, is how to construe the 2009 Compensation Statement.

25. "In construing a written contract, the primary concern of the court is to ascertain the true intentions of the parties as expressed in the instrument." Coker v. Coker, 650 S.W.2d 391, 393 (Tex. 1983). "Incorporation by reference" allows courts to also consider separate documents that are plainly referred to in the contract. See Zamora v. Swift Transp. Corp., 547 F. Supp. 2d 699, 702 (W.D. Tex. 2008) ("An employment agreement may incorporate, by reference, the terms of a separate document where the agreement directly and expressly refers to the separate document."); Owen v. Hendricks, 433 S.W.2d 164, 166 (Tex. 1968) ("It is uniformly held that an unsigned paper may be incorporated by reference in the paper signed by the person sought to be charged. The language used is not important provided the document signed by the defendant plainly refers to another writing.").

26. Article 3.1(a) of the Employment Agreement "plainly" states, ". . . annual salary . . . payable to the Executive . . . shall be communicated in writing to the Executive . . . ." Highland Ex. 11. The 2009 Compensation Statement was such a communication in writing related to Daugherty's compensation, and its terms are, therefore, incorporated in the Employment Agreement. The inquiry now turns to whether the terms in the 2009 Compensation Statement are ambiguous.

27. A contract is not ambiguous if its words can be given a certain or definite legal meaning. Coker, 650 S.W.2d at 393. On the other hand, ambiguity in a contract exists if its terms are uncertain, doubtful, or reasonably susceptible to more than one meaning. Towers of Tex., Inc. v. J & J Sys., Inc., 834 S.W.2d 1, 2 (Tex. 1992). Parties to a disputed contract are likely to take conflicting interpretation views, "but neither conflicting expectations nor disputation is sufficient to create an ambiguity." Forbau v. Aetna Life Ins. Co., 876 S.W.2d 132, 134 (Tex. 1994) (emphasis in original).

28. Neither Highland nor Daugherty argue that the Employment Agreement or the 2009 Compensation Statement are ambiguous. Rather, Highland argues that the 2009 Compensation Statement lacks material terms rendering it an indefinite agreement.

29. An alleged contract that fails to address all essential and material terms with a reasonable degree of certainty and definiteness is unenforceable as a matter of law. See APS Cap. Corp. v. Mesa Air Grp. Inc., 580 F.3d 265, 272 (5th Cir. 2009) ("In order to be a legally enforceable contract, an agreement must be formed around the contours of sufficiently specific terms."). Material terms "are those that the parties would reasonably regard as vitally important elements of their bargain," and "a contract must define its essential terms with enough precision to enable the court to determine the obligations of the parties." Tex. Architectural Aggregate, Inc. v. ACM-Tex., LLC (In re ACM-Tex., Inc.), 430 B.R. 371, 408 (Bankr. W.D. Tex. 2010) (internal citation omitted). Essential terms are unique to the type of agreement, and, in the employment context, essential terms include compensation, duties, and responsibilities. See City of Hou. V. Williams, 353 S.W.3d 128, 139 (Tex. 2011).

30. Legally, there is significant difference between ambiguity and indefiniteness. See Marx v. FDP, LP, 474 S.W.3d 368, 375 (Tex. App.—San Antonio 2015, pet. denied) ("Unlike the trial court's obligation to resolve any ambiguity necessary to enforce a contract, indefiniteness in a contract makes the contract unenforceable."); Sifuentes v. Carrillo, 982 S.W.2d 500, 504 (Tex. App.—San Antonio 1998, pet. denied). When an ambiguity is discovered, courts seek to resolve the ambiguity "by looking at the contract as a whole in light of the circumstances present when the contract was entered" to ascertain the parties' intent. Coker, 650 S.W.2d at 393–94. "As a general matter, Texas courts have consistently held that a contract may be held void for indefiniteness if it fails to specify" essential terms. Liberto v.

D.F. Stauffer Biscuit Co., 441 F.3d 318, 324 (5th Cir. 2006). In either instance, however, determining whether the contract is ambiguous or indefinite is a question of law. See Coker, 650 S.W.2d at 394; Abatement Inc. v. Williams, 324 S.W.3d 858, 862 (Tex. App.—Houston [14th Dist.] 2010, pet. denied).

31. The Employment Agreement incorporates by reference the 2009 Compensation Statement, such that, read together, the contract contains all material terms and is not indefinite. The following language, though, from the 2009 Compensation Statement is ambiguous:

> Refund is an estimated amount. If actual refund deviates materially from estimate, other compensation will be fairly adjusted. Refund is expected to be received in approximately 4 months.

In particular, the phrases "deviates materially," "other compensation," and "fairly adjusted" are all uncertain and reasonably susceptible to more than one meaning. There are no other provisions in the Employment Agreement or the 2009 Compensation Statement that give certain or definite legal meaning to these phrases. Thus, the Court must resolve the ambiguity to enforce the agreement.

32. The "ultimate goal" when resolving an ambiguity "is always to determine the parties' intent as objectively expressed in the words of their agreement." Endeavor Energy Res., L.P. v. Energen Res. Corp., 615 S.W.3d 144, 148 (Tex. 2020). To that end, courts may consider the facts and circumstances surrounding the contract, including "objectively determinable factors that give context to the parties' transaction." Id. (internal quotation and citation omitted). And while this extrinsic evidence is helpful in resolving the ambiguity, courts cannot interpret "contractual language to say what it unambiguously does not say." Id. (citation modified).

33. There can be little doubt that Highland intended the tax refund referenced in the 2009 Compensation Statement to be Daugherty's bonus for his work performed in 2008. Daugherty seemingly admits as much in his proof of claim. The ambiguity arises from the remaining language of the 2009 Compensation Statement that provided for a fair adjustment to other compensation if the refund amount materially deviated from the estimate. Highland Ex. 13; Daugherty Ex. 14.

34. Daugherty asserts the language obligates Highland to compensate Daugherty if the IRS Audit results in him paying back to the IRS all or part of the refund he received in 2009. Dkt. No. 102, ¶¶ 10–12. Highland argues the language is too vague and indefinite to create an enforceable obligation. Dkt. No. 101, ¶¶ 29–39.

35. The Court endeavors to resolve the ambiguity by determining the parties' intent from the entirety of the Employment Agreement and 2009 Compensation Statement. In doing so, the Court gives the words used in these documents their plain and ordinary meaning because they were not specifically defined or used in a technical manner. See Plains Expl. & Prod. Co. v. Torch Energy Advisors Inc., 473 S.W.3d 296, 307 (Tex. 2015). The Court concludes that, as a component of Daugherty's compensation, Highland estimated Daugherty's refund at $1,475,816 and, if the refund amount he received materially deviated from that estimate, Highland would adjust his other compensation to make up the difference.

Highland Ex. 13, Daugherty Ex. 14. Certainly, it is a material deviation if Daugherty must pay back the entire amount he received as a refund on account of the IRS Audit.

36. Nonetheless, whether the 2009 Compensation Statement language is ambiguous and capable of resolution is immaterial, because Daugherty's Reserved Claim faces a bigger obstacle for allowance against Highland's bankruptcy estate. While the language used in the 2009 Compensation Statement is susceptible to more than one meaning, the termination provisions in the Employment Agreement are clear and unambiguous.

37. Sections 4.5 and 4.6 of the Employment Agreement deal with an executive's voluntary termination of their employment with Highland. Each provision contains the following language:

> In the event the Executive declines to sign the separation agreement and release, he/she shall not be entitled to any severance, and the Company will have no further liability or obligation to the Executive under this Agreement or in connection with his/her employment or termination.

Highland Ex. 11 at 6 (emphasis added). Attached to the Employment Agreement as Exhibit A is the form separation agreement and release.

38. Daugherty submitted his resignation from Highland in September 2011 with an effective date of October 31, 2011. Highland Ex. 12; Daugherty Ex. 15. If Daugherty signed the separation agreement attached as Exhibit A, under the Employment Agreement, Daugherty would have been entitled to severance pay and additional earned compensation or benefits, including, potentially, a true up of the 2008 Tax Refund. Daugherty did not sign the separation agreement and release.

39. In fact, Daugherty attempted to negotiate a different general release and separation agreement with Highland prior to his last day with the company. See Highland Ex. 41. This separation agreement specifically referenced in paragraph 3.(c)(ii) Daugherty's right to payment from Highland if Daugherty were obligated to pay back the 2008 Tax Refund to the IRS. Id., ¶ 3.(c)(ii). Daugherty did not sign this separation agreement either.

40. Therefore, the Court finds that the Employment Agreement controls whether Daugherty's Reserved Claim should be allowed against the Highland bankruptcy estate. Pursuant to its express terms, Highland is absolved of all liability or obligations to Daugherty because he failed to execute either of the separation agreements presented to him. The Reserved Claim is disallowed.

Dondero's Oral Promises did not Create an Enforceable Guaranty.

41. To the extent Daugherty argues Dondero's promises are binding agreements to cover his contingent tax liability, this argument also fails.

42. "[I]t is so obviously just that a promisor receiving no benefits should be bound only by the exact terms of his promise." Davis v. Patrick, 141 U.S. 479, 488 (1891). In Texas, a promise by one person to answer for the debt of another person, must be in writing and "signed by the person to be charged with the promise or agreement or by someone lawfully authorized to sign for him." Tex. Bus. & Com. Code § 26.01(a), (b)(2).[10]

43. There is, however, an exception to the general rule that a promise to pay another's debt must be in writing—the main purpose doctrine.

> [W]herever the main purpose and object of the promisor is, not to answer for another, but to subserve some purpose of his own, his promise is not within the statute [of frauds], although it may be in form a promise to pay the debt of another, and although the performance of it may incidentally have the effect of extinguishing the liability of another.

Lemmon v. Box, 20 Tex. 329, 332 (1857). Three elements must be met to satisfy the main purpose doctrine and thereby remove the promise from the statute of frauds:

> (1) the promisor intended to create primary responsibility in itself to pay the debt; (2) there was consideration for the promise; and (3) the consideration given for the promise was primarily for the promisor's own use and benefit—that is, the benefit it received was the promisor's main purpose for making the promise.

Cruz v. Andrews Restoration, Inc., 364 S.W.3d 817, 828 (Tex. 2012). "Consideration is a bargained-for exchange of promises or return performance and consists of benefits and detriments to the contracting parties." Marx, 474 S.W.3d at 378. Without it, a contract is unenforceable. Id.

[10] The Texas Business and Commerce Code defines "person" as "an individual, corporation, business trust, estate, trust, partnership, limited liability company, association, joint venture, government, governmental subdivision, agency, or instrumentality, public corporation, any other legal or commercial entity, or a protected series or registered series of a for-profit entity." Tex. Bus. & Com. Code § 1.201(b)(27).

The evidence before the Court is that Daugherty worked in Highland's Texas office, negotiated his separation while in Texas, and the Employment Agreement identifies Texas in its "choice of law" provision. Thus, the Court will consider Texas law when construing Daugherty's testimony about Highland's promise to pay his unliquidated tax liability.

44. Assuming without deciding that Highland intended to create primary responsibility in itself to pay Daugherty's tax liability, the promise fails because there was no consideration. Though Daugherty testified that Dondero repeatedly promised to cover his tax liability, the only evidence before the Court of consideration for such promise is an unexecuted separation agreement. Highland Ex. 41. In that unexecuted separation agreement, Daugherty would give certain releases in favor of Highland and its subsidiaries in exchange for Highland's promise to pay "a 'Notice of Tax Due' or other such letter from a governmental taxing authority demanding payment for taxes that relates to an Internal Revenue Service audit." Id., ¶¶ 3(c)(ii), 4. Neither party, however, agreed to be bound by the terms of the separation agreement, and there is no evidence that Dondero's oral promise, made conceivably on behalf of Highland, is relieved from the statute of frauds. These unwritten promises are not enforceable and, likewise, prohibit Daugherty from collecting his Reserved Claim from Highland's bankruptcy estate.

45. Based on an argument that Dondero promised to make Daugherty whole, for the reasons set forth above, Daugherty's Reserved Claim is disallowed.

Highland Fulfilled its Obligations under the Settlement Agreement.

46. Daugherty bears the burden of proving that Highland breached the settlement agreement by failing to turnover the HERA and ERA "books and records (spreadsheet)," which is remedied only by specific performance. Movora LLC v. Gendreau, 345 A.3d 997, 1011 (Del. 2025); In re IBP, Inc. S'holders Litig., 789 A.2d 14, 53 (Del. Ch. 2001). To obtain specific performance under Delaware law, a plaintiff must prove by clear and convincing evidence: (1) a valid contract exists, (2) the plaintiff is ready, willing, and able to perform, (3) a legal remedy would be inadequate, and (4) the balance of equities tips in favor of the party seeking specific performance. Am. Healthcare Admin. Servs., Inc. v. Aizen, 285 A.3d 461, 495 (Del. Ch. 2022).

47. "Delaware adheres to the objective theory of contracts, i.e. a contract's construction should be that which would be understood by an objective, reasonable third party." Osborn v. Kemp, 991 A.2d 1153, 1159 (Del. 2010). Courts will give effect to the plain-meaning of a contract's terms and provisions where they are clear and unambiguous. Id. at 1159–60.

48. To that end, the Delaware Court of Chancery has stated that "[t]he meaning of the term 'books and records' can readily be understood through § 18–305 of the LLC Act and through its corporate law and limited partnership law counterparts, 8 Del. C. § 220 and 6 Del. C. § 17–305, respectively."[11] Arbor Place, L.P. v. Encore Opportunity Fund, L.L.C., No. CIV.A. 18928, 2002 WL 205681, at *3 n.3 (Del. Ch. Jan. 29, 2002) (finding tax returns were within the scope of a contractual "books and records" provision). The Delaware Limited Liability Company Act, 6 Del. C. § 18-305(a), generally identifies, at a minimum, the statutory books and records that a Delaware LLC must provide to its managers for inspection:

> (1) True and full information regarding the status of the business and financial condition of the limited liability company;

[11] 8 Del. C. § 220, the corporate books and records provision, sets out defined categories of corporate financial and governance documents and does not have a "just and reasonable" category. The Delaware Limited Partnership Law books and records provision, 6 Del. C. § 17–305, is substantially similar to the Delaware LLC Law's provision.

> (2) Promptly after becoming available, a copy of the limited liability company's federal, state and local income tax returns for each year;
> (3) A current list of the name and last known business, residence or mailing address of each member and manager;
> (4) A copy of any written limited liability company agreement and certificate of formation and all amendments thereto, together with executed copies of any written powers of attorney pursuant to which the limited liability company agreement and any certificate and all amendments thereto have been executed;
> (5) True and full information regarding the amount of cash and a description and statement of the agreed value of any other property or services contributed by each member and which each member has agreed to contribute in the future, and the date on which each became a member; and
> (6) Other information regarding the affairs of the limited liability company as is just and reasonable.

49. Highland provided Daugherty with HERA and ERA's financial, governance, and tax records. And, at Daugherty's request, Highland provided additional information that supported HERA and ERA's financial records. Daugherty's requests for "all" documents or documents that "related to" HERA and ERA were not "just and reasonable," and Highland was under no obligation to satisfy them. The Court thus finds that Highland did not breach the Books and Records Provision of the settlement agreement, and Daugherty is not entitled to specific performance.

50. The Court's conclusion here is without prejudice to HERA seeking discovery from Highland in connection with its lawsuit pending in the Northern District of Texas.

CONCLUSION

Daugherty's Reserved Claim is disallowed, and he shall collect nothing further from Highland's bankruptcy estate or the claimant trust. Daugherty's counterclaim for breach of contract and specific performance is denied. The Court will issue a judgment consistent with this Memorandum Opinion.

APPELLANT'S AMENDED DESIGNATION OF ITEMS TO BE INCLUDED IN THE RECORD ON APPEAL AND STATEMENT OF THE ISSUES PRESENTED

Pursuant to Federal Rule of Bankruptcy Procedure 8009(a), Appellant Patrick Daugherty ("Daugherty") hereby submits his amended designation of items to be included in the record on appeal and statement of issues to be presented in connection with his appeal from the July 24, 2026 Judgment and Memorandum Opinion [Docket Nos. 138, 139 in Adversary No. 25-03055-bwo]. See Notice of Appeal [Docket No. 142 in Adversary No. 25-03055-bwo].

Statement of Issues on Appeal

1. Whether the Bankruptcy Court erred in disallowing Daugherty's Reserved Claim based on the Employment Agreement's termination provisions, when the Court itself found the 2009 Compensation Statement was incorporated into the Employment Agreement and resolved its ambiguity in Daugherty's favor, concluding that Highland Capital Management, L.P. ("Highland") intended to compensate Daugherty for any material deviation in his 2008 tax refund.

2. Whether the Bankruptcy Court erred in applying the "no further liability or obligation" language of Sections 4.5 and 4.6 of the Employment Agreement to extinguish Daugherty's compensation entitlement under the 2009 Compensation Statement, when that language pertains to severance contingent upon execution of a separation agreement and not to earned compensation that accrued during Daugherty's active employment.

3. Whether the Bankruptcy Court erred in holding that James Dondero's oral promises to cover Daugherty's contingent tax liability were unenforceable under Texas's statute of frauds, Tex. Bus. & Com. Code § 26.01, when Highland had a main purpose of its own in making the promise and when the Court failed to consider Daugherty's continued employment and forbearance as adequate consideration.

4. Whether the Bankruptcy Court erred in denying Daugherty's counterclaim for specific performance of the Settlement Agreement's books-and-records provision by construing that provision through the statutory categories of 6 Del. C. § 18-305(a), rather than by the plain meaning of the negotiated Settlement Agreement requiring Highland to "transfer its interests in HERA and ERA to Daugherty" "[t]o facilitate [the] recovery of [] potential claims," including "the HERA and ERA books and records (spreadsheet) maintained on HCMLP's system."

5. Whether the Bankruptcy Court abused its discretion by granting Highland Capital Management, L.P.'s Cross Motion pursuant to Fed. R. Civ. P. 60(b)(6) when Highland failed to make a showing of manifest injustice and exceptional circumstances required to rewrite a term of the parties' bargained-for, court-approved settlement agreement that Highland Capital Management, L.P. entered on a free, deliberate, calculated, and counseled basis.

6. Whether the Bankruptcy Court abused its discretion by granting Highland Capital Management, L.P.'s Cross Motion pursuant to Fed. R. Civ. P. 60(b)(6) when Highland was estopped from seeking such relief after it obtained the benefits of the tolling provision in the settlement agreement, including, inter alia, the parties' negotiation and execution of a series of tolling agreements to the benefit of Highland Capital Management, L.P. regarding its certain claim-objection deadline.

COMPLAINT FOR (1) DISALLOWANCE OF CLAIM NO. 205 IN ITS ENTIRETY, (2) ESTIMATION OF CLAIM NO. 205 FOR ALLOWANCE PURPOSES, OR (3) SUBORDINATION OF ANY ALLOWED PORTION OF CLAIM NO. 205 OF PATRICK HAGAMAN DAUGHERTY

[1] Highland's last four digits of its taxpayer identification number are (8357). The headquarters and service address for Highland is 100 Crescent Court, Suite 1850, Dallas, TX 75201.

Highland Capital Management, L.P., the reorganized debtor ("Highland" or the "Debtor" as applicable) in the above-captioned chapter 11 case ("Bankruptcy Case") and the plaintiff in the above-captioned adversary proceeding (the "Adversary Proceeding"), files the Complaint for (1) Disallowance of Claim No. 205 in Its Entirety, (2) Estimation of Claim No. 205 for Allowance Purposes, or (3) Subordination of Any Allowed Portion of Claim No. 205 of Patrick Hagaman Daugherty (the "Complaint"), alleging upon knowledge of its own actions and upon information and belief as to all other matters as follows:

1. Patrick Daugherty is a former employee of, and former limited partner in, the Debtor. Mr. Daugherty filed a claim (denoted as Claim No. 205) in which he asserted a myriad of claims against the Debtor. All of Mr. Daugherty's claims were settled except his unliquidated, contingent claim that the Debtor has a continuing and indefinite obligation to make him whole if a tax refund he apparently received for tax year 2008 on account of his Partnership Interests is ever successfully challenged by the IRS.

2. As discussed below, in 2009, Mr. Daugherty was allocated his applicable losses from Highland for tax year 2008 on account of his Partnership Interests. The allocation of losses in 2009 fully satisfied the 2008 Refund line item in the 2009 Statement; Mr. Daugherty received exactly what he was entitled to receive from Highland. Accordingly, Mr. Daugherty's Claim against the Debtor for additional compensation for 2008 has no basis and the Claim should be disallowed.

3. To avoid this result, Mr. Daugherty alleges the Debtor is required to make him whole if any portion of the tax refund he received for 2008 on account of his Partnership Interest is clawed back by the IRS—Highland's 2008 tax return is currently subject to an IRS audit. But the 2009 Statement contains no future, ongoing obligations. Under the 2009 Statement, if Mr. Daugherty received the material equivalent of the "2008 Refund" (which he apparently did), Highland's obligations have been satisfied in full. The 2009 Statement contains no ongoing obligation for Highland to defend Mr. Daugherty or indemnify him. And it would violate basic tenets of contract law to read vague and indefinite precatory language in the 2009 Statement as creating a specific continuing and binding payment obligation that can be enforced forever. This is particularly true where the agreement that governed Mr. Daugherty's employment by the Debtor expressly provided that after his separation from the Debtor, the Debtor would have no further liability or obligation to Mr. Daugherty in connection with his employment.

4. However, even if Mr. Daugherty's Claim is not disallowed in its entirely, it remains contingent on the outcome of the 2008 Audit. It is unclear when, how, or if the 2008 Audit will be finally resolved. Moreover, if the Claim is not disallowed, it will need to be estimated—after taking into account the likely outcome of the 2008 Audit, including adjustments that result therefrom—pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 502(c). The Claim (in whatever amount) based on his partnership tax allocations must also be subordinated to the interests in Class 10 pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 510(b).

JURISDICTION AND VENUE

5. This Adversary Proceeding arises in and relates to Highland's Bankruptcy Case.

6. The Court has jurisdiction over this matter pursuant to 28 U.S.C. §§ 157 and 1334.

7. This matter is a core proceeding within the meaning of 28 U.S.C. § 157(b), and, pursuant to Bankruptcy Rule 7008, Highland consents to the entry of a final order by the Court if it is later determined that the Court, absent consent of the parties, cannot enter final orders or judgments consistent with Article III of the U.S. Constitution.

8. Venue is proper in this District pursuant to 28 U.S.C. §§ 1408 and 1409.

THE PARTIES

9. Highland is a limited partnership formed under the laws of Delaware with a business address at 100 Crescent Court, Suite 1850, Dallas, Texas 75201.

10. Upon information and belief, Defendant Patrick Daugherty is an individual residing at 3621 Cornell Avenue, Suite 830, Dallas, Texas 75205.

STATEMENT OF FACTS

I. The Bankruptcy Case and Mr. Daugherty's Claims

11. On October 16, 2019 (the "Petition Date"), the Debtor filed a voluntary petition for relief under chapter 11 of the Bankruptcy Code commencing the Bankruptcy Case.

12. On April 1, 2020, Mr. Daugherty filed Proof of Claim No. 67 ("Claim 67"). On April 6, 2020, Mr. Daugherty filed Proof of Claim No. 77 ("Claim 77"), which superseded and replaced Claim 67 in its entirety. On December 23, 2020, Mr. Daugherty filed Proof of Claim No. 205 (the "Claim" or "Claim 205"), which superseded and replaced Claim 77 in its entirety.

13. On February 22, 2021, this Court entered the Order Confirming the Fifth Amended Plan of Reorganization of Highland Capital Management, L.P. (as Modified) and (ii) Granting Related Relief [Bankr. Docket No. 1943],[3] which confirmed the Fifth Amended Plan of Reorganization of Highland Capital Management, L.P. (as Modified) [Bankr. Docket No. 1808] (as amended, the "Plan"). The Plan became effective August 11, 2021 [Bankr. Docket No. 2700].

14. On December 8, 2021, the Debtor filed Reorganized Debtor's Motion for Entry of an Order Approving Settlement with Patrick Hagaman Daugherty (Claim No. 205) and Authorizing Actions Consistent Therewith [Bankr. Docket No. 3088] (the "Settlement Motion").

15. This Court approved the Settlement Motion on March 8, 2022 [Bankr. Docket No. 3298] (the "Settlement Order"), disallowing Claim 67 and Claim 77 with prejudice and resolving all of Claim 205 other than Mr. Daugherty's claim for the 2008 Refund.

II. Mr. Daugherty Was Employed by the Debtor and Became a Limited Partner

16. Mr. Daugherty was hired by the Debtor in 1998. Later, he became eligible to participate in the Debtor's long-term incentive plan (the "LTIP"). Pursuant to the LTIP, at various times, Mr. Daugherty received limited partnership interests in the Debtor (the "Partnership Interests") and became one of the Debtor's limited partners. At all relevant times with respect to Claim 205 as it relates to the 2008 Tax Refund, Mr. Daugherty's employment was governed by an Amended and Restated Employment Agreement, dated as of December 31, 2004 (the "Employment Agreement"). For the 2008 tax year, Mr. Daugherty was allocated 0.740262% of the taxable losses of the Debtor on account of his Partnership Interests.

17. Because the Debtor was a limited partnership, it was a pass-through entity for tax purposes and paid no federal income tax. The Debtor's limited partners, including Mr. Daugherty, were therefore required to pay individual federal income taxes (among other taxes) based on, among other things, their allocable share of the Debtor's income, if any, or could use their allocable share of any losses to offset other current income or, in certain circumstances, carry back losses, and receive a tax refund from the Internal Revenue Service (the "IRS"). Thus, because of his Partnership Interests, Mr. Daugherty was entitled to receive a pass through of his allocable share of any taxable gains or losses generated by the Debtor. Taxable gains increase tax liability; taxable losses decrease tax liability.

III. The 2009 Statement and IRS Audit

18. On February 27, 2009, the Debtor provided Mr. Daugherty with a Comprehensive Compensation and Benefits Statement recapping all earnings, awards, and benefits Mr. Daugherty received in connection with his employment by and Partnership Interests in the Debtor during calendar year 2008 (the "2009 Statement"). A true and accurate copy of the 2009 Statement is attached hereto as Exhibit A. Such statements were provided to all employees each year at the conclusion of the annual performance review and bonus cycle.

19. The 2009 Statement included what Highland estimated to be the tax refund Mr. Daugherty could expect for tax year 2008 in the amount of $1,475,816 (the "2008 Refund"). That amount purported to be an estimate of the pre-tax equivalent refund that Mr. Daugherty should have expected to receive from the IRS on account of the losses attributable to his Partnership Interests for the 2008 tax year.

20. The 2008 Refund was "an estimated amount" based on the notion that losses in 2008 would equal or exceed total partnership gains that had been allocated to Mr. Daugherty in tax years 2005, 2006, and 2007 and assuming a 27% effective tax rate for each year for all of the employee limited partners. The amount was then "grossed up" by 35% so that Mr. Daugherty could compare it to the value of the other benefits for being a Debtor partner and employee[4]. Finally, the estimated partner tax refund amount was calculated without reference to Mr. Daugherty's other personal tax attributes for the 2008 tax year or prior years, and partners were advised that each person's own actual refund may vary based on their own effective tax rate.

21. While the 2009 Statement vaguely noted that "[i]f actual refund deviates materially from estimate, other compensation will be fairly adjusted," partners like Mr.

[4] The calculation of the 2008 Refund was therefore 2005-2007 allocated income of $3,552,890 x 27% or $959,280. Then the $959,280 was divided by 35% for a "pre-tax" calculated amount of $1,475,816.

Daugherty were told that the tax refund amounts were "not guaranteed," and that if refund amounts were different, Highland would merely "consider what action to take on a case-by case basis, considering several factors."

22. As reflected on his K-1 for tax year 2008 (the "2008 K-1"), Mr. Daugherty was allocated ordinary business losses by Highland in excess of $4 million, along with other losses that well-exceeded the allocated income from 2005-2007.[5] As shown in the 2008 K-1, Mr. Daugherty received what he was promised in the 2009 Statement, if not more.

23. After the obligations to Mr. Daugherty under the 2009 Statement had been satisfied, the IRS began an audit of Highland's 2008 tax return (the "2008 Audit").[6] On information and belief, the 2008 Audit is not yet fully resolved.

24. On October 31, 2011, Mr. Daugherty terminated his employment with Highland. Pursuant to the express conditions of his Employment Agreement, Mr. Daugherty acknowledged and agreed that the Debtor would "have no further liability or obligation to [Mr. Daugherty] under [the Employment Agreement] or in connection with his/her employment of termination."

IV. The Alleged Basis for the Claim

25. In the Claim, Mr. Daugherty demands the Debtor pay him $2,650,353, which consists of the full amount of the 2008 Refund ($1,475,816) plus interest of $1,174,537.[7] Mr.

[5] In the simplest terms, to determine whether an individual owes additional taxes or is entitled to a refund, income or losses are multiplied by the applicable tax rate. As an example, in a vacuum, $4 million of taxable losses allocated to an individual in the 27% bracket would result in $1.1 million of benefit in terms of reduction to their taxes owed ($4 million x 27% = $1.1 million). Likewise, $1 million of adjusted gross income resulting from W-2 wage income for an individual would result in $270,000 of tax liability for an individual whose effective tax rate is 27%, all else equal.

[6] Strand Advisors, Inc. ("Strand"), is the Debtor's "tax matters partner" for purposes of defending the 2008 Audit. Control of Strand reverted to James Dondero—the Debtor's ousted founder—in 2021, and the Debtor has no role in the 2008 Audit or visibility into its current status or how it is being conducted. On information and belief, the 2008 Audit has not been resolved and is heading to court with a resolution not expected until approximately 2029.

[7] Mr. Daugherty has provided no statutory or other justification for his claim for interest nor has he provided a proposed interest rate.

Daugherty's theory seems to be that if, upon the conclusion of the 2008 Audit, he is required to reverse the tax loss he received as a limited partner, the Debtor must reimburse him for the entirety of the 2008 Refund with interest. In other words, Mr. Daugherty reads a continuing obligation into the 2009 Statement to indemnify him for personal income taxes he may owe, if any, as a result of the 2008 Audit.

26. However, and as set forth above, there is no such obligation in the 2009 Statement. Mr. Daugherty has no claim.

27. But even if Mr. Daugherty did have a claim (he does not), it would be unliquidated and contingent and subordinated as it arises solely from his Partnership Interests.

FIRST CLAIM FOR RELIEF

(Disallowance under Bankruptcy Code 11 U.S.C. § 502(a))

28. Highland repeats and re-alleges as if set forth herein the foregoing factual allegations.

29. Under 11 U.S.C. § 502(a) a "claim ..., proof of which is filed under section 501 [of the Bankruptcy Code], is deemed allowed, unless a party in interest ... objects." 11 U.S.C. § 502(a).

30. The ultimate burden of proof for a claim always lies with the claimant. In re Armstrong, 347 B.R. 581, 583 (Bankr. N.D. Tex. 2006) (citing Raleigh v. Ill. Dep't of Rev., 530 U.S. 15 (2000)).

31. Mr. Daugherty received and has benefited for the past 16 years from the 2008 Refund, i.e., the 2008 losses allocated to Mr. Daugherty as a Highland partner. The benefit he received from the IRS (either as a tax refund or liability reduced through offsetting of income) did not materially deviate from, and may have exceeded, the basis for the estimated 2008 Refund set forth in the 2009 Statement.

32. Accordingly, the Debtor satisfied its obligations (to the extent it even had any) under the 2009 Statement in full, and no additional, future obligations exist under the 2009 Statement. Because the Debtor has satisfied its obligations, Claim 205 should be disallowed in its entirety.

33. Moreover, even if the tax benefits he received related to tax year 2008 materially deviated from the 2009 Statement, Mr. Daugherty would not be able to recover from the Debtor based on the vague statement in the 2009 Statement that lacks the definiteness required to form a contractual obligation.

SECOND CLAIM FOR RELIEF

(Estimation under Bankruptcy Code 11 U.S.C. § 502(c))

34. Highland repeats and re-alleges as if set forth herein the foregoing factual allegations.

35. As set forth above, Mr. Daugherty has no Claim; however, to the extent the Court believes he has one, it is unliquidated and contingent on the final outcome of the 2008 Audit, including the magnitude of any adjustments. If the 2008 Audit is successfully defended, Mr. Daugherty will have no claim.

36. Under 11 U.S.C. § 502(c) "[t]here shall be estimated for purposes of allowance … (1) any contingent or unliquidated claim, the fixing or liquidation of which … would unduly delay the administration of the case …."

37. The Plan was confirmed in February of 2021 and has been effective since August of 2021. Mr. Daugherty's Claim is the last unresolved claim[8] against the estate.

38. It is currently unknown when, if, or how the 2008 Audit will be resolved.

[8] The Equity Interests in subordinated Class 10 and further subordinated Class 11 have not been allowed under the terms of the Plan.

39. Accordingly, the Debtor requests that this Court estimate the Claim—after taking into account the likelihood and degree to which the 2008 Audit will be successful or unsuccessful—under 11 U.S.C. § 502(c) for purposes of allowance and distribution.

THIRD CLAIM FOR RELIEF

(Subordination under Bankruptcy Code 11 U.S.C. § 510(b))

40. Highland repeats and re-alleges as if set forth herein the foregoing factual allegations.

41. Under the Bankruptcy Code,

> a claim arising from rescission of a purchase or sale of a security of the debtor or of an affiliate of the debtor, for damages arising from the purchase or sale of such a security, or for reimbursement or contribution allowed under section 502 on account of such a claim, shall be subordinated to all claims or interests that are senior to or equal the claim or interest represented by such security ….

11 U.S.C. § 510(b). Section 510(b) requires the subordination of claims arising from the purchase of the equity itself and all claims arising thereafter as incidents of ownership. In re SeaQuest Diving, LP, 579 F.3d 411, 421 (5th Cir. 2009).

42. Section 510(b) applies to the ownership of limited partnership interests. Templeton v. O'Cheskey (In re Am. Hous. Found.), 785 F.3d 143, 154 (5th Cir. 2015).

43. Mr. Daugherty owned the Partnership Interests, and his Claim is contingent on the IRS clawing back the 2008 Refund he received on account of those Partnership Interests through the 2008 Audit.

44. But for the Partnership Interests, Mr. Daugherty would not have been entitled to the 2008 Refund nor would Mr. Daugherty have any potential liability to the IRS from the 2008 Audit. A nexus or causal relationship exists between Claim 205 and the "purchase" of the Partnership Interests.

45. Accordingly, judgment should issue declaring that the Claim—to the extent it is not disallowed in full—is subordinated pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 510(b) and shall, subject to such other defenses or objections as may exist with respect to the Claim, have the same rank and priority as Class 11 under the Plan.

PRAYER

WHEREFORE, Highland prays for judgment as follows:

1. For the disallowance of the Claim in its entirety;

2. For estimation for the Claim for purposes of allowance and distribution;

3. For subordination of the Claim;

4. For damages and costs of suit, including attorneys' fees, incurred in connection herewith; and

5. For such other and further relief as the Court deems just and proper.

INSTRUCTIONS

The filing of a bankruptcy case creates an "estate" under the jurisdiction of the bankruptcy court which consists of all of the property of the debtor, wherever that property is located. Because the bankruptcy estate is so extensive and the jurisdiction of the court so broad, there may be lawsuits over the property or property rights of the estate. There also may be lawsuits concerning the debtor's discharge. If such a lawsuit is filed in a bankruptcy court, it is called an adversary proceeding.

A party filing an adversary proceeding must also complete and file Form 1040, the Adversary Proceeding Cover Sheet, unless the party files the adversary proceeding electronically through the court's Case Management/Electronic Case Filing system (CM/ECF). (CM/ECF captures the information on Form 1040 as part of the filing process.) When completed, the cover sheet summarizes basic information on the adversary proceeding. The clerk of court needs the information to process the adversary proceeding and prepare required statistical reports on court activity.

The cover sheet and the information contained on it do not replace or supplement the filing and service of pleadings or other papers as required by law, the Bankruptcy Rules, or the local rules of court. The cover sheet, which is largely self-explanatory, must be completed by the plaintiff's attorney (or by the plaintiff if the plaintiff is not represented by an attorney). A separate cover sheet must be submitted to the clerk for each complaint filed.

Plaintiffs and Defendants. Give the names of the plaintiffs and defendants exactly as they appear on the complaint.

Attorneys. Give the names and addresses of the attorneys, if known.

Party. Check the most appropriate box in the first column for the plaintiffs and the second column for the defendants.

Demand. Enter the dollar amount being demanded in the complaint.

Signature. This cover sheet must be signed by the attorney of record in the box on the second page of the form. If the plaintiff is represented by a law firm, a member of the firm must sign. If the plaintiff is pro se, that is, not represented by an attorney, the plaintiff must sign.

NOTICE TO LITIGANTS

You have been named as a defendant in an adversary proceeding, the outcome of which could affect your bankruptcy discharge. Even if you have already received a discharge, this is a serious matter that you should not ignore.

Individual litigants are entitled to appear without an attorney and represent themselves in the Bankruptcy Court. However, the rules can be quite technical and failure to comply with the rules can have severe consequences. Before deciding to appear on your own, you should consider consulting an attorney. If you were represented in your chapter 7 or 13 bankruptcy case by counsel, you should notify that attorney that you have been named as a defendant.

If you cannot afford an attorney, you may be eligible for free legal representation through Legal Aid of NorthWest Texas (LANWT) or the Dallas Volunteer Attorney Program (DVAP). To determine if you are eligible, you must apply for legal representation at a regularly−scheduled neighborhood legal clinic. In addition, if you were recently represented by an attorney in a chapter 7 or 13 case, you should notify that attorney immediately.

Upon application at a neighborhood legal clinic, you will be screened for eligibility based on your current income and the availability of any other assets to pay for legal services. If it is determined that you are eligible, an attorney may be found who will represent you without payment of attorneys' fees. Please note that, even if you are eligible, you may still be responsible for the payment of costs, such as court reporter fees, deposition transcripts, court transcripts, postage and copies.

On the last page of this notice, you will find a list of neighborhood legal clinics, their locations, and the times they meet. When you make contact with DVAP or LANWT, please have your copy of the summons and complaint with you, as well as a copy of any Schedule of Assets and Liabilities and Statement of Financial Affairs filed in your bankruptcy case.

ORDER REGARDING ADVERSARY PROCEEDINGS TRIAL SETTING AND ALTERNATIVE SCHEDULING ORDER

An adversary complaint is set for trial routinely at the time of its filing. Special settings or pretrial conferences may be scheduled by contacting the appropriate Courtroom Deputy.

TRIAL is set before the Honorable Stacey G Jernigan at 1100 Commerce Street, 14th Floor, Courtroom #1, Dallas, Texas 75242 the week of October 20, 2025. Docket call for this trial will be held on October 6, 2025 at 01:30 pm at 1100 Commerce Street, 14th Floor, Courtroom #1, Dallas, Texas 75242. A pretrial conference shall be scheduled by the parties at least seven (7) calendar days prior to trial docket call in a complex adversary proceeding if the parties anticipate that trial will exceed one day or if there are preliminary matters that should be addressed by the Court prior to the commencement of trial.

PART I: INSTRUCTIONS

1. Plaintiff is responsible for ensuring that proper service is provided to each defendant. The Clerk shall issue one original summons, which shall be conformed by the plaintiff for service on multiple defendants. Federal Bankruptcy Rule 7004(e) requires you to serve the fully completed SUMMONS form and a copy of the COMPLAINT on each defendant within seven (7) days of issuance. In addition, the Court also directs that this ORDER be served with the SUMMONS and COMPLAINT.

2. Plaintiff shall file a RETURN on the SUMMONS with a CERTIFICATE OF SERVICE that provides the name and address of each party served and the manner of service.

3. If a trial setting is passed for settlement at trial docket call and no written request is filed to retain the case on the Court's docket, an automatic Dismissal Without Prejudice shall be entered on or after four (4) weeks. The Court's Trial Calendar is available on the court's web site at www.txnb.uscourts.gov.

PART II: GENERAL PROVISIONS GOVERNING DISCOVERY

1. Unless otherwise ordered by the Court, the disclosures required by Federal Bankruptcy Rule 7026(a) shall be made within fourteen (14) days of the entry of a scheduling order, including the Alternative Scheduling Order contained in Part III below (which shall become effective on the forty−sixth day following the entry of this Order.

2. Unless the parties agree or the Court orders otherwise, Federal Bankruptcy Rule 7026(f) requires that parties shall confer to consider the nature and basis of their claims and defenses and the possibilities for a prompt settlement or resolution of the case, to make or arrange for the disclosures required by Federal Bankruptcy Rule 7026(a)(1), to develop a proposed discovery plan, and to submit a proposed scheduling order. The parties shall confer with each other regarding these matters within thirty (30) days of the service of the Summons unless the Court orders otherwise.

3. During such conference, the parties may agree to waive the requirement of submitting their own proposed scheduling order and may follow the terms and deadlines contained in the Alternative Scheduling Order set forth in Part III below (the "Alternative Scheduling Order"). If the parties do not submit a proposed scheduling order or do not schedule a status conference with the Court to discuss the provisions and deadlines of a scheduling order within forty−five days of the filing of this adversary proceeding, then the parties are deemed to have consented to the terms of the Alternative Scheduling Order.

PART III: ALTERNATIVE SCHEDULING ORDER

The Court directs compliance with the following schedule:

1. Discovery must be completed forty−five (45) days prior to Docket Call. The names and addresses of experts must be exchanged sixty (60) days prior to Docket Call.

2. A Joint Pretrial Order in compliance with Local District Court Rule 16.4 shall be filed, served, and uploaded for Court entry seven (7) days prior to Docket Call. All counsel (or a pro se party) are responsible for preparing the Joint Pretrial Order, which shall contain the following: (a) a summary of the claims and defenses of each party; (b) a statement of stipulated facts; (c) a list of the contested issues of fact; (d) a list of contested issues of law; (e) an estimate of the length of trial; (f) a list of additional matters which would aid in the disposition of the case; and (g) the signature of each attorney (or pro se party).

3. Each exhibit shall be marked with an exhibit label. Except for impeachment documents, all exhibits, along with a list of witnesses to be called, shall be exchanged with opposing counsel (or pro se party) fourteen (14) days prior to Docket Call. Each party shall also file a list of exhibits and witnesses fourteen (14) days prior to Docket Call. All exhibits not objected to in writing by Docket Call shall be admitted into evidence at trial without further proof, except for objections to relevance. Written objections to exhibits will be taken up either at the beginning or during the course of the actual trial or at any pretrial conference.

4. Written Proposed Findings of Fact and Conclusions of Law shall be filed seven (7) days prior to Docket Call. Trial briefs shall be filed addressing contested issues of law seven (7) days prior to Docket Call.

5. Unless otherwise directed by the Presiding Judge, all dispositive motions must be heard no later than fourteen (14) days prior to Docket Call. Accordingly, all dispositive motions must be filed no later than forty−five (45) days prior to Docket Call, unless the Court modifies this deadline.

6. All parties and counsel must certify to full compliance with this Order at Docket Call. If a resetting is allowed by the Court, the plaintiff or plaintiff's attorney shall notify all other parties and shall file with the Clerk a certificate of service indicating the manner, date, and to whom notice was given.

7. If the case is reset, all the deadlines in Part III nos. 1 through 5 will be shifted to the newly scheduled Docket Call date in the absence of a contrary Court order.

8. Sanctions may be imposed for failure to comply with this Order.

PATRICK DAUGHERTY'S
MOTION TO DISMISS

[1] Highland's last four digits of its taxpayer identification number are (8357). The headquarters and service address for Highland is 100 Crescent Court, Suite 1850, Dallas, TX 75201.

Defendant Patrick Daugherty ("Daugherty") moves to dismiss this action pursuant to Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 12(b)(6) (incorporated herein by Fed. R. Bankr. P. 7012(b)) for failure to state a claim upon which relief may be granted. Further, the Court should deny leave for further amendments of the Complaint, as no amendment can cure what is otherwise a fatal defect: that the IRS Audit Dispute remains pending and is not yet final.

I. SUMMARY

1. Plaintiff filed its Complaint for (1) Disallowance of Claim No. 205 in its Entirety, (2) Estimation of Claim no. 205 for Allowance Purposes, or (3) Subordination of Any Allowed Portion of Claim No. 205 of Patrick Hagaman Daugherty [Docket No. 1] (the "Complaint") in the face of a Settlement Agreement approved by this Court on March 8, 2022,[2] that mandates a stay of any litigation by and between Plaintiff and Daugherty until the Internal Revenue Service ("IRS") makes a final determination regarding an IRS Audit Dispute material to Daugherty's Reserved Claim under the Settlement Agreement.[3] As Plaintiff concedes in its briefing, that IRS Audit Dispute remains unresolved.[4] Accordingly, Plaintiff's claim is premature, subject to the

[2] See Doc. No. 1 at ¶ 14 (citing Main Case Docket No. 3088, which itself incorporates and relies upon the "Settlement Agreement" at Main Case Docket No. 3089, Ex. 1). When reviewing a 12(b)(6) motion to dismiss, the Court "must consider the complaint in its entirety, as well as other sources courts ordinarily examine when ruling on 12(b)(6) motions to dismiss, in particular documents incorporated into the complaint by reference, and matters of which a court may take judicial notice." Funk v. Stryker Corp., 631 F.3d 777, 783 (5th Cir. 2011)(quoting Tellabs Inc. v. Makor Issues & Rights, Ltd., 551 U.S. 308 (2007)). In doing so, the Court may take judicial notice of its own records. E.g., Biliouris as next friend of Biliouris v. Patman, 751 Fed. App'x 603, 604 (5th Cir. 2019)("court may take judicial notice of the record in prior related proceedings"); ITT Rayonier Inc. v. U.S., 651 F.2d 343, 345 n.2 (5th Cir. 1981)("court may… take judicial notice of its own records…"). Plaintiff incorporated the Settlement Agreement by reference in its Complaint. Daugherty also respectfully requests the Court also take judicial notice of the Settlement Agreement at Main Case Docket No. 3089 as it considers this Motion to Dismiss.

[3] All capitalized terms used but not herein defined shall have the meanings ascribed to them in the Settlement Agreement at Main Case Docket No. 3089.

[4] Indeed, Plaintiff concedes as much stating "[o]n information and belief, the 2008 Audit has not been resolved and is heading to court with a resolution not expected until approximately 2029." Docket No. 1 at ¶ 23, n. 6.

Settlement Agreement's mandatory stay, and should be dismissed for failure to state a claim upon which relief may be granted.

II. BACKGROUND

2. On March 8, 2022, Daugherty and Plaintiff entered a Settlement Agreement to resolve, in part, his claims against Highland Capital Management, L.P. ("Debtor" or "Plaintiff"). Main Case Docket No. 3088, 3089.

3. Under that Settlement Agreement, Daugherty retained a Reserved Claim relating to an audit/dispute between the Debtor and the IRS concerning the Debtor's 2008 tax return.[5] Main Case Docket No. 3089 at Ex. 1, § 9. Critically, under the terms of the Settlement Agreement, "[a]ny litigation by and between the [Debtor] and Daugherty concerning the validity and amount of the Reserved Claim shall be stayed until the IRS makes a final determination with respect to the IRS Audit Dispute." Id. (emphasis added).

4. Despite the Settlement Agreement's mandatory stay language, Plaintiff filed its Complaint asserting three claims for relief: (1) disallowance under section 502(a) of the Bankruptcy Code; (2) estimation under section 502(c) of the Bankruptcy Code; and (3) subordination under section 510(b) of the Bankruptcy Code. See Docket No. 1 at ¶¶ 28-45. Each of those claims seek a determination from this Court on the "validity and amount" of Daugherty's Reserved Claim relating to the IRS Audit Dispute. Yet, Plaintiff concedes that resolution of the [5] Although Daugherty acknowledges that for purposes of ruling on a motion to dismiss under Fed. R. Civ. P. 12(b)(6) the Court must accept as true the allegations in the Complaint, Daugherty disputes Plaintiff's characterization of the Reserved Claim. The Reserved Claim concerns a compensation and benefits contract, between Plaintiff and Daugherty relating to Daugherty's cash bonus, that was presented pursuant to a tax refund scheme developed by Plaintiff during the financial crisis in 2008 and 2009. That tax refund scheme was later challenged by the IRS. Indeed, despite Plaintiff's passing attempt to downplay the document's language as vague, the "validity and amount" issues that are the gravamen of Daugherty's Reserved Claim (which is subject to the mandatory stay) relate to whether Plaintiff's refund "deviat[ed] materially from [Debtor's] estimate" such that "other compensation [to Daugherty should have been] fairly adjusted" as promised. Docket No. 1-1. Moreover, Plaintiff's Fifth Amended Plan of Reorganization, which was confirmed by the Court, provided for "Disputed Claims" and required the Claimant Trustee under the Plan to maintain a reserve account for such claims.

IRS Audit Dispute is still pending, alleging that "Highland's 2008 tax return is currently subject to an IRS audit." Id. at ¶ 3 (emphasis added). Plaintiff further concedes "the 2008 Audit has not been resolved" and "[i]t is unclear when, how, or if the 2008 Audit will be finally resolved." Id. at ¶¶ 4, 23 n. 6; see also id. at ¶ 38. Finally, Plaintiff acknowledges Daugherty's Reserved Claim is "contingent on the final outcome of the 2008 Audit." Id. at ¶ 35.

5. As such, Plaintiff's claims are premature, run afoul of the Settlement Agreement's mandatory stay, and should be dismissed pursuant Fed. R. Civ. P. 12(b)(6).

III. LEGAL STANDARD

6. To survive a motion to dismiss under Rule 12(b)(6), Plaintiff must assert a theory that could entitle it to relief. Fed. R. Civ. P. 12(b)(6). In support of that theory, a complaint must allege "sufficient factual matter" that, taken as true, "state[s] a claim for relief [that] is plausible on its face." Ashcroft v. Iqbal, 556 U.S. 662, 678 (2009). Plaintiff must establish more than a "sheer possibility that a defendant has acted unlawfully." Id. This Court need not accept as true legal conclusions or conclusory factual allegations. Id. "[W]hen the allegations in a complaint, however true, could not raise a claim of entitlement to relief, this basic deficiency should be exposed at the point of minimum expenditure of time and money by the parties and the court." U.S. ex rel. Bennett v. Medtronic, Inc., 747 F. Supp. 2d 745, 761 (S.D. Tex. 2010) (quoting Cuvillier v. Taylor, 503 F.3d 397, 401 (5th Cir. 2007)) (cleaned up).

IV. ARGUMENT

7. The final determination of the IRS Audit Dispute is a dispositive condition precedent to Plaintiff's right to commence and maintain any litigation concerning the amount or validity of Daugherty's Reserved Claim. The Complaint does not allege that a final determination has occurred, nor can it. In fact, the Complaint alleges the exact opposite: that the IRS Audit Dispute is ongoing. For this reason alone, the Complaint should be dismissed.

8. To the extent Plaintiff makes any claim of finality—despite not alleging it in the Complaint—that claim is the result of a fundamental misunderstanding of the administrative procedure at the IRS for auditing, assessing, and collecting tax amounts that are allegedly due following a partnership audit. There is no practical or economic effect of the IRS's proposed adjustment at the end of an audit beyond just that—proposing changes to partnership items subject to challenge by the partners, the courts, and subsequent limitations on assessment and collection.

9. Partnership audit procedures, in this case, are governed by the standards established in the Tax Equity and Fiscal Responsibility Act of 1982 ("TEFRA"). See 26 U.S.C. §§ 6221-6234, adopted by TEFRA, Pub. L. No. 97-248, § 402(a). TEFRA governs partnership audits for partnership years beginning after September 3, 1982, and applies generally to partnership tax years from 1983 through 2017 and subsequent tax years are governed by different rules.[6] Determinations at the partnership level are binding upon all direct and indirect partners of the partnership and, in the absence of a partnership-level proceeding, the IRS is bound by the partnership items as reported on the partnership return. Sente Inv. Club P'Ship of Utah v. Commissioner, 95 T.C. 243, 247-250 (1990); Roberts v. Commissioner, 94 T.C. 853, 862 (1990). The tax matters partner ("TMP"),[7] plays an important role in the audit and in any resulting administrative proceedings,[8] conducts judicial proceedings,[9] and is obligated to keep the partners informed.[10] The IRS has a duty to issue certain notices,[11] and partners have a right to participate in the administrative proceedings unless they waive or fail to exercise their rights.[12]

10. The IRS commences an audit by giving notice to all partners and all partners may participate in the audit, but the primary representative is the Tax Matters Partner ("TMP"). 26 U.S.C. § 6223(a); 26 U.S.C. § 6231(a)(7); Treas. Reg. § 301.6231(a)(7)-1(b)(1). A partnership audit is concluded by the IRS issuing a no-change finding or a Final Partnership Administrative Adjustment ("FPAA"). 26 U.S.C. § 6223(a)(2); Internal Revenue Manual § 8.19.12.3. The IRS is required to mail an FPAA to the TMP, all notice partners, and representatives of notice groups. The mailing of the FPAA to the TMP starts the clock on various procedures that are contingent on issuance of an FPAA. See e.g., Triangle Investors Ltd. Partners v. Comm'r, 95 TC 610 (1990). The mailing to the remaining partners must occur within 60 days after the mailing to the TMP. See Byrd Invs. v. CIR, 89 TC 1 (1988), aff'd, 853 F2d 928 (11th Cir. 1988) (procedures for mailing to partners other than TMP satisfy due process).

11. The IRS cannot assess tax resulting from adjustments to partnership items until the notice of an FPAA has been mailed, at least 150 days have elapsed after the mailing and the FPAA has not been contested. 26 U.S.C. § 6225(a)(1). If the IRS violates the assessment restriction, the assessment can be enjoined. 26 U.S.C. § 6225(b). If a Tax Court petition is filed within 150 days after the FPAA notice, no deficiency attributable to a partnership item may be assessed until the court's decision on the matter becomes final. 26 U.S.C. § 6225(a)(1). Partners who receive an FPAA are allowed to file a petition contesting the FPAA in the Tax Court, a federal district court, or the Court of Federal Claims. 26 U.S.C. § 6226; Internal Revenue Manual § 8.19.12.11.1.

12. Based on information and belief, Defendant expects that a challenge is most likely to occur in the U.S. Tax Court. In that instance, the Tax Court will employ the same reasoning applied in deficiency cases to a decision in a TEFRA proceeding. See Cinema '84 v. Commissioner, 122 T.C. 264 (2004). Any partner can appeal the decision, subject to the usual rules for appeals from the deciding court. 26 U.S.C. §§ 6226(g), 7485(b). Under TEFRA, there is only one appeal to one circuit court. See 26 U.S.C. § 7482(b)(1)(A); Abatti v. Comm'r, 86 T.C. 1319 (1986), aff'd, 859 F.2d 115 (9th Cir. 1988). If no notice of appeal is filed within the applicable period, the decision of the trial court becomes final and unappealable at the end of the appeal period. 26 U.S.C. § 7481(a)(1); see also Benenson v. United States, 385 F.2d 26 (2d Cir. 1967); Richland Knox Mutual Ins. Co. v. Kallen, 376 F.2d 360 (6th Cir. 1967).

13. If an appeal is filed, the decision becomes final after the appeal is resolved and the time to take any further appeal expires. Once the decision becomes final, the decision cannot be challenged without moving to vacate the court decision. See Tax Court Rule 162; see also Tashjian v. Comm'r, 320 Fed. App'x. 649 (9th Cir. 2009) (cannot contest partnership item decision in subsequent collection due process case for partner). The finality date is critical for determination of the statute of limitations and the IRS generally has at least one year after the date the decision becomes final to assess the partnership item adjustments. See 26 U.S.C. § 6229(d)(2).

14. Here, each and every one of Plaintiff's allegations is premised on speculating what the final outcome of the 2008 Audit will be. The FPAA, once one is issued, is subject to challenge and adjustment by the TMP and other partners and, if challenged, no assessment of any proposed adjustment can occur until a final decision is entered by the courts.. Even at the conclusion of all the court proceedings, which Plaintiff itself estimates will not occur until 2029,[13] the adjustments may still never occur if the IRS does not follow the requirements for assessment within the given statute of limitations. In short, the issuance of an FPAA at this stage—assuming one has actually been issued—is meaningless beyond providing a clear understanding of the IRS position on certain tax return items, and is subject to challenge and potential change by the partners or the courts.

15. Therefore, Plaintiff has failed to allege any facts which give rise to plausible claims for relief against Daugherty. As a result, all claims against Daugherty should be dismissed without prejudice.

V. DISMISSAL SHOULD BE WITHOUT PREJUDICE, AND LEAVE TO AMEND SHOULD BE DENIED

16. Leave to amend is not automatic, but "is within the sound discretion of the district court." United States ex rel. Doe v. Dow Chem. Co., 343 F.3d 325, 329 (5th Cir. 2003) (internal citations omitted). Courts typically afford leave to amend at least once, however, a plaintiff should be denied leave to amend if the court determines that the proposed change is frivolous or advances a claim or defense that is legally insufficient on its face. U.S. ex rel. Bennett v. Medtronic, Inc., 747 F. Supp. 2d 745, 761 (S.D. Tex. 2010); Ayers v. Johnson, 247 Fed. Appx. 534, 535 (5th Cir. 2007).

17. As set forth above, Plaintiff's claim is premature and as a result cannot be corrected by an amended pleading. Accordingly, should Plaintiff seek leave to amend, such request would be futile and should be categorically denied.

VI. CONCLUSION

18. For the foregoing reasons, the Court should dismiss all claims against Daugherty because the Complaint does not satisfy the Rule 12(b)(6) pleading requirements as it fails to state a claim upon which relief may be granted. Additionally, the Court should deny leave to amend because any attempt to amend the Complaint at this time would be futile as the IRS Audit Dispute remains pending and unresolved. Alternatively, the Court should stay this adversary proceeding until the Debtor's IRS Audit Dispute is fully and finally resolved.

Respectfully submitted this 4th day of June 2025.

STIPULATION CONCERNING SCHEDULING ORDER

[1] Highland's last four digits of its taxpayer identification number are (8357). The headquarters and service address for Highland is 100 Crescent Court, Suite 1850, Dallas, TX 75201.

This stipulation (the "Stipulation") is made by and between Highland Capital Management, L.P., the reorganized debtor ("Highland") in the above-captioned chapter 11 case ("Bankruptcy Case") and the plaintiff in the above-captioned adversary proceeding (the "Adversary Proceeding"), and Patrick Hagaman Daugherty ("Mr. Daugherty", and together with Highland, the "Parties") by and through their respective undersigned counsel.

RECITALS

WHEREAS, on May 2, 2025, Highland filed its Complaint for (1) Disallowance of Claim No. 205 in Its Entirety, (2) Estimation of Claim No. 205 for Allowance Purposes, or (3) Subordination of Any Allowed Portion of Claim No. 205 of Patrick Hagaman Daugherty [Docket No. 1] (the "Complaint");

WHEREAS, on May 5, 2025, the United States Bankruptcy Court for the Northern District of Texas, Dallas Division (the "Court"), issued the Summons in an Adversary Proceeding [Docket No. 4] (the "Summons") related to the Complaint;

WHEREAS, on May 5, 2025, the Court entered its Order Regarding Adversary Proceedings Trial Setting and Alternative Scheduling Order [Docket No. 3] (the "Scheduling Order");

WHEREAS, on May 6, 2025, Highland filed its proof of service of the Complaint and the Summons on Mr. Daugherty [Docket No. 4];

WHEREAS, on June 4, 2025, Mr. Daugherty filed his Motion to Dismiss [Docket No. 5] (the "Motion"); and

WHEREAS, subject to the Court's approval, the Parties have conferred in good faith to establish a schedule for the adjudication of the Motion.

NOW, WHEREFORE, IT IS HEREBY JOINTLY STIPULATED AND AGREED as follows:

1. The Parties agree that, subject to the Court's approval, the schedule set forth herein satisfies Parts II(2) & (3) of the Scheduling Order.

2. Highland shall file its opposition to the Motion on or before July 18, 2025.

3. Mr. Daugherty shall file his reply on or before August 8, 2025.

4. In the event the Motion is denied by the Court, the Parties agree that, within ten (10) days of the entry of the Court's order denying the Motion (the "Scheduling Order Deadline"), they will submit for the Court's consideration an agreed scheduling order governing the Adversary Proceeding (the "AP Scheduling Order"). If the Parties are unable to agree on a form of AP Scheduling Order by the Scheduling Order Deadline, either Party may promptly request a status conference with the Court to discuss scheduling of trial and pre-trial matters in the Adversary Proceeding.

5. This Stipulation shall not be amended or modified except by written agreement between the Parties or upon entry of an order by the Court entered after reasonable notice and a showing of good cause.

STIPULATION CONCERNING SCHEDULING ORDER

[1] Highland's last four digits of its taxpayer identification number are (8357). The headquarters and service address for Highland is 100 Crescent Court, Suite 1850, Dallas, TX 75201.

This stipulation (the "Stipulation") is made by and between Highland Capital Management, L.P., the reorganized debtor ("Highland") in the above-captioned chapter 11 case ("Bankruptcy Case") and the plaintiff in the above-captioned adversary proceeding (the "Adversary Proceeding"), and Patrick Hagaman Daugherty ("Mr. Daugherty", and together with Highland, the "Parties") by and through their respective undersigned counsel.

RECITALS

WHEREAS, on May 2, 2025, Highland filed its Complaint for (1) Disallowance of Claim No. 205 in Its Entirety, (2) Estimation of Claim No. 205 for Allowance Purposes, or (3) Subordination of Any Allowed Portion of Claim No. 205 of Patrick Hagaman Daugherty [Docket No. 1] (the "Complaint");

WHEREAS, on May 5, 2025, the United States Bankruptcy Court for the Northern District of Texas, Dallas Division (the "Court"), issued the Summons in an Adversary Proceeding [Docket No. 4] (the "Summons") related to the Complaint;

WHEREAS, on May 5, 2025, the Court entered its Order Regarding Adversary Proceedings Trial Setting and Alternative Scheduling Order [Docket No. 3] (the "Scheduling Order");

WHEREAS, on May 6, 2025, Highland filed its proof of service of the Complaint and the Summons on Mr. Daugherty [Docket No. 4];

WHEREAS, on June 4, 2025, Mr. Daugherty filed his Motion to Dismiss [Docket No. 5] (the "Motion"); and

WHEREAS, subject to the Court's approval, the Parties have conferred in good faith to establish a schedule for the adjudication of the Motion.

NOW, WHEREFORE, IT IS HEREBY JOINTLY STIPULATED AND AGREED as follows:

1. The Parties agree that, subject to the Court's approval, the schedule set forth herein satisfies Parts II(2) & (3) of the Scheduling Order.

2. Highland shall file its opposition to the Motion on or before July 18, 2025.

3. Mr. Daugherty shall file his reply on or before August 8, 2025.

4. In the event the Motion is denied by the Court, the Parties agree that, within ten (10) days of the entry of the Court's order denying the Motion (the "Scheduling Order Deadline"), they will submit for the Court's consideration an agreed scheduling order governing the Adversary Proceeding (the "AP Scheduling Order"). If the Parties are unable to agree on a form of AP Scheduling Order by the Scheduling Order Deadline, either Party may promptly request a status conference with the Court to discuss scheduling of trial and pre-trial matters in the Adversary Proceeding.

5. This Stipulation shall not be amended or modified except by written agreement between the Parties or upon entry of an order by the Court entered after reasonable notice and a showing of good cause.

HIGHLAND CAPITAL MANAGEMENT, L.P.'S (A) OBJECTION TO PATRICK DAUGHERTY'S MOTION TO DISMISS AND (B) CROSS MOTION FOR RELIEF FROM A FINAL ORDER PURSUANT TO BANKRUPTCY RULE 9024

Highland Capital Management, L.P., the reorganized debtor ("Highland" or the "Debtor" as applicable) in the above-captioned chapter 11 case (the "Bankruptcy Case") and the plaintiff in the above-captioned adversary proceeding (the "Adversary Proceeding"), files this (A) Objection to Patrick Daugherty's Motion to Dismiss, and (B) Cross Motion for Relief from a Final Order Pursuant to Bankruptcy Rule 9024 (the "Objection" or the "Cross Motion," as the case may be) in response to the Motion to Dismiss [Adv. Pro. Docket No. 5] (the "Motion") filed by Patrick Daugherty ("Daugherty" and together with Highland, the "Parties"). In support of its Objection and Cross Motion, Highland respectfully states as follows:

1. Highland commenced this action to disallow, estimate, and/or subordinate, Daugherty's remaining unliquidated, contingent claim based on an IRS tax refund that Daugherty admittedly received for the 2008 tax year. Daugherty claims that nearly 16 years after receiving his tax refund based on losses related to his Highland Partnership Interests, the Debtor must make him whole if that tax refund is ever successfully challenged by the IRS. In response, relying solely on the Stay Provision, Daugherty moves to dismiss the action as "premature"

[2] Capitalized terms used but not defined in this Preliminary Statement shall have the meanings below or as ascribed in Highland's Complaint for (1) Disallowance of Claim No. 205 in its Entirety, (2) Estimation of Claim No. 205 for Allowance Purposes, or (3) Subordination of Any Allowed Portion of Claim No. 205 of Patrick Hagaman Daugherty (Adv. Pro. Docket No. 1) (the "Complaint").

because there has not been a "final determination of the IRS Audit Dispute."[3] The Motion should be denied.

2. Based on available information, Highland believes that the "IRS [made] a final determination with respect to the IRS Audit Dispute" such that the Stay Provision does not apply. Daugherty disagrees, contending that his Reserved Claim cannot be adjudicated until there is a "final determination of the IRS Audit Dispute."[4] In Daugherty's view, a "final determination" will not occur until (at least) all appeals are exhausted.[5]

3. Rather than wade into the thicket of arcane tax regulations, the most efficient path here is for the Court to simply grant Highland's Cross Motion, strike the Stay Provision from the Settlement Agreement pursuant to Rule 60(b)(6), and deny the Motion.[6] Courts have broad discretion under Rule 60(b)(6) to relieve a party from a final order for "any [] reason that justifies relief." In light of unforeseen circumstances, the Court should use its "grand reservoir of equitable power" under Rule 60(b)(6) to achieve justice by striking the Stay Provision from the Court-approved Settlement Agreement.[7]

4. Since the Parties signed the Settlement Agreement in November 2021, Highland has taken substantial steps to implement its Plan, including monetizing assets, resolving general unsecured claims and interests, and making distributions to Claimant Trust Beneficiaries.

[3] Motion ¶7. Daugherty's alternative request that the Court "stay this adversary proceeding until the Debtor's IRS Dispute is fully and finally resolved" (Id. ¶18) should be denied because (a) it is conflicts with the Stay Provision, and (b) as discussed below, would cause the Highland Bankruptcy Case to remain open indefinitely.

[4] Motion ¶7.

[5] Motion ¶¶13-14. Daugherty even leaves open the possibility that a "final determination" may not occur "[e]ven at the conclusion of all court proceedings" unless the IRS takes certain action. Id. ¶14.

[6] Highland believes that a review of the facts in the context of the thicket of tax regulations would result in a finding that the IRS has made a "final determination with respect to the IRS Audit Dispute." However, Highland makes the Cross Motion in the interests of judicial economy as a far simpler approach and because the relief requested is warranted under the facts and applicable law.

[7] Seven Elves v. Eskenazi, 635 F.2d 396, 402 (5th Cir. 1981) ("Rule 60(b) is 'a grand reservoir of equitable power to do justice'") (quoting Menier v. United States, 405 F.2 245, 248 (5th Cir. 1968)).

Indeed, Highland has accomplished so much since the Settlement Agreement was signed that it substantially needs only to (a) resolve Daugherty's Reserved Claim, (b) monetize a "limited number of assets," and (c) fix the limited amount of several Class 11 interests before it can begin the dissolution process.[8]

5. No one foresaw more than three and a half years ago that (a) Daugherty's Reserved Claim would remain unresolved at this time, (b) Daugherty would baselessly contend that a "final determination of the IRS Audit Dispute [was] a condition precedent to resolution of" his Claim, or (c) the resolution of Daugherty's Reserved Claim would be among the last things to be done before Highland could commence the dissolution process. The operative Trust Agreements prove as much.[9] Regardless of how the Stay Provision is interpreted, Highland could not and did not agree to leave this Bankruptcy Case open indefinitely, and the Stay Provision was never intended to prevent Highland from dissolving until Daugherty's Reserved Claim was finally determined. Based on unforeseen circumstances, justice requires that the Court use its equitable power to strike the Stay Provision.[10]

6. Daugherty will not be prejudiced by the granting of Highland's Cross-Motion because he will be in the same position he would have been in had Highland objected to his Reserved Claim back in 2021.

[8] See Motion for an Order Further Extending Duration of Trusts, [Bankr. Docket No. 4213] ("Extension Motion") ¶¶2, 12; Patrick Daugherty's Objection to Motion for Entry of an Order Pursuant to Bankruptcy Rule 9019 And 11 U.S.C. § 363 Approving Settlement with the HMIT Entities and Authorizing Actions Consistent Therewith [Bankr. Docket No. 4229] ¶12 (acknowledging that Daugherty holds the last remaining unresolved claim against the estate).

[9] The best evidence that no one expected the IRS to need more than five years to make a "final determination," or that the Stay Provision could effectively prevent the commencement of the dissolution process, is Section 9.1 of the Claimant Trust and Litigation Sub-Trust Agreements, both of which contemplate dissolution within five years of the Plan's effective date. Extension Motion ¶9. Pursuant to the Court's recent order, the duration of the Trusts has been extended only until August 11, 2026, five years from the Plan's effective date. Bankr. Docket No. 4298.

[10] Bankruptcy Code section 502(c)(1) expressly authorizes the Court to estimate for allowance purposes "any contingent or unliquidated claim, the fixing or liquidation of which, as the case may be, would unduly delay administration of the estate." 11 U.S.C. § 502(c)(1) (emphasis added). Granting Highland's Cross Motion will enable the Court to effectuate this statutory provision exactly as intended.

7. Finally, if the Court decides that the IRS has not made a final determination and denies the Cross Motion, the Court should grant the Motion and dismiss the Complaint without prejudice, subject to (a) a further extension of the claim objection deadline through February 1, 2026,[11] and (b) Highland's right to re-file the Complaint between January 1, 2026 and January 31, 2026, together with a renewed motion under Rule 60(b)(6) (if necessary) so that they can be adjudicated and Highland's dissolution process can commence before August 11, 2026.

JURISDICTION AND VENUE FOR HIGHLAND'S CROSS MOTION

8. This Court has jurisdiction over Highland's Cross Motion under 28 U.S.C. §§ 157 and 1334 and the retention of jurisdiction provisions of Article XI of the Plan. This is a core proceeding under 28 U.S.C. § 157(b)(2). Venue in this district is proper under 28 U.S.C. §§ 1408 and 1409.

BACKGROUND

A. The Parties' Agreement Concerning Daugherty's Reserved Claim

9. Daugherty's operative proof of claim is Claim 205. Claim 205 included a purported tax claim for $1,475,816 of "Compensation Award" plus $1,174,537 of "Estimated Interest", for a total of $2,650,353. Highland and Daugherty later agreed that Highland would reserve Daugherty's asserted amount of $2,650,353, subject to Highland's right to assert any and all defenses as further described below.

10. On December 8, 2021, the Debtor filed the Settlement Motion by which it sought approval of that certain Settlement Agreement entered into between Highland and Daugherty (the

[11] Highland's deadline to object to Daugherty's Reserved Claim was extended through June 30, 2025, pursuant to a Tolling Agreement dated as of July 27, 2022, as amended. See Bankr. Docket No. 4255, Exhibits 60-63.

"Settlement Agreement"). Morris Exhibit 1.[12] On March 8, 2022, the Court entered the Settlement Order, granting the Settlement Motion and resolving all of Claim 205 other than Mr. Daugherty's claim related to the 2008 IRS Refund that he received (i.e., the Reserved Claim, as defined in the Settlement Agreement).

11. In paragraph 9 of the Settlement Agreement, (a) Highland expressly "reserve[d] the right to assert any and all defenses" to the Reserved Claim, and (b) the parties agreed that "[a]ny litigation by and between the Debtor and Daugherty concerning the validity and amount of the Reserved Claim shall be stayed until the IRS makes a final determination with respect to the IRS Audit Dispute." Morris Exhibit 1 ¶9 (the "Stay Provision") (emphasis added).

B. Highland Concludes the IRS Made a "Final Determination"

12. While employed by the Debtor, Daugherty received Partnership Interests in the Debtor and became one of the Debtor's limited partners.[13] As a partner in Highland, Daugherty was allocated partnership gains and losses pursuant to Highland's limited partnership agreement. For tax purposes, as a partner, each year Daugherty received a Schedule K-1 (IRS Form 1065) reflecting the gains and losses allocated to his Partnership Interests for a particular tax year.

13. On February 27, 2009, the Debtor gave Daugherty a Comprehensive Compensation and Benefits Statement recapping all earnings, awards, and benefits Daugherty received in connection with his employment by and Partnership Interests in the Debtor during calendar year 2008 (the "2009 Statement").

[12] "Morris Exhibits" refer to the exhibits annexed to the Declaration of John A. Morris in Support of Highland's (A) Objection to Patrick Daugherty's Motion to Dismiss, and (B) Cross Motion for Relief from a Final Judgment Pursuant to Bankruptcy Rule 9024(b) being filed contemporaneously with this Objection and Cross Motion.

[13] On October 31, 2011, Daugherty terminated his employment with Highland. Pursuant to the express conditions of his Employment Agreement, Daugherty acknowledged and agreed that the Debtor would "have no further liability or obligation to [Daugherty] under [the Employment Agreement] or in connection with his/her employment of termination."

14. The 2009 Statement included what Highland estimated to be the tax refund Daugherty could expect to receive for tax year 2008 in the amount of $1,475,816 (the "2008 Refund"). That amount purported to be an estimate of the pre-tax equivalent refund that Daugherty should have expected to receive from the IRS on account of the Highland losses attributable to his Partnership Interests for the 2008 tax year. Daugherty recently admitted that the IRS paid him a tax refund "on a net basis of just under $1.2 million."[14]

15. After all of the obligations to Daugherty under the 2009 Statement were satisfied, the IRS began an audit of Highland's 2008 tax return (the "2008 Audit").[15] Highland recently also found information suggesting that the "IRS [made] a final determination with respect to the IRS audit dispute."

16. Specifically, on February 3, 2018, Daugherty was (a) advised that the IRS field examiners had "concluded their audit," (b) informed that his allocable Portfolio income/short term gain was determined to be $1,257,792 (Form 886-Z), representing an adjustment (increase) of $1,231,361 (the "Adjustment"), and (c) given the opportunity to accept the IRS' determination and avoid penalties and further interest. (Form 870-PT). The Adjustment does not represent incremental tax owed, but rather incremental income that would be subject to tax at the applicable tax rate. Morris Exhibits 2-4, respectively.

17. Daugherty apparently decided not to accept the IRS' proposed adjustments and thereby accepted the risk that the IRS might impose penalties and interest on his allocable income/gain.

[14] See Transcript from June 25, 2025 hearing filed at Docket No. 4296 at 156.

[15] Strand Advisors, Inc. ("Strand") is the pre-petition debtor's tax matters partner for purposes of defending the 2008 Audit. Control of Strand reverted to James Dondero—the Debtor's ousted founder—in 2021, and the Debtor has had no role in the 2008 Audit since then.

18. Upon information and belief, the Adjustment has not changed since 2018 such that Daugherty's maximum tax underpayment exposure is equal to the highest individual income tax rate at the time (37%) times the income Adjustment, or about $455,000.[16]

19. Daugherty seeks to avoid adjudication of his Reserved Claim by asserting that this action is barred by the Stay Provision since there has not been (and may never be) a "final determination of the IRS Audit Dispute." See generally Daugherty's Motion.

C. The Highland Bankruptcy Is Nearly Complete and the Highland Claimant Trust Is Expected to Commence the Dissolution Process Before August 11, 2026

20. Daugherty's quest for an indefinite stay of litigation to finally resolve his Reserved Claim is untenable for at least the following reasons: (a) by its terms, the Stay Provision is tied to the IRS' final determination with respect to the Audit Dispute, not the "final determination of the IRS Audit Dispute," as Daugherty contends; (b) Section 9.1 of the Trust Agreements shows that Highland's dissolution was expected to commence within five years of the effective date of the Plan, but can only occur after, among other things, all disputed claims are resolved; and (c) if Daugherty's interpretation of the Stay Provision is correct (and it is not), this case will remain open indefinitely at considerable cost to the Claimant Trust and its stakeholders.

21. It is indisputable Highland substantially needs only to (a) resolve Daugherty's Reserved Claim, (b) monetize a "limited number of assets," and (c) fix the limited amount of several Class 11 interests before it can begin the dissolution process. See supra ¶4 and n.7. It is also indisputable that the disputes regarding the IRS Audit are unlikely to be completed for years. See Motion ¶1.

[16] This (a) does not take into account Highland's causes of action for disallowance and/or subordination and (b) conflicts with Daugherty's recent testimony that the IRS Audit could result in the imposition of millions of dollars in taxes, penalties, and interest that threaten to leave him bankrupt.

22. Thus, awaiting "a final determination of the IRS Audit" (or even the IRS' final determination if this Court finds that no such determination has yet been made) will unduly delay the administration of the Highland estate, including the anticipated commencement of Highland's dissolution process before August 11, 2026.

RELIEF REQUESTED ON CROSS MOTION

23. Pursuant to Bankruptcy Rule 9024(b)(6) ("Rule 60(b)(6)"), Highland files this Cross Motion and requests that the Court modify the Settlement Order to provide that the Stay Provision is stricken from the Settlement Agreement.

24. Courts have repeatedly observed that Rule 60(b)(6) "should be liberally construed" and that courts have broad discretion to grant relief under that provision to accomplish justice. See, e.g., Celtic Marine Corp. v. James C. Justice Cos., 593 F. App'x 300, 303 (5th Cir. 2014) ("Clause (6) is a residual clause used to cover unforeseen contingencies; that is, it is a means for accomplishing justice in exceptional circumstances … the rule should be liberally construed in order to achieve substantial justice") (quoting Steverson v. GlobalSantaFe Corp., 508 F.3d 303 (5th Cir. 2007)); Lindy Invs. v. Shakertown 1992, Inc., 360 F. App'x 510 (5th Cir. 2010) (granting Rule 60(b)(6) motion and observing that "the discretion under 60(b)(6) is said to be especially broad because relief may be granted under it when appropriate to accomplish justice.'") (quoting Harrell v. DCS Equip. Leasing Corp., 951 F.3d 1453, 1458 (5th Cir. 1992); Seven Elves, 635 F.2d at 401-02 (Rule 60(b)(6) "should be liberally construed in order to do substantial justice" and is 'a grand reservoir of equitable power to do justice'"); In re Strudel Holdings LLC, 656 B.R. 404 (Bankr. S.D. Tex. 2024 (granting Rule 60(b)(6) motion to amend sale order to modify the closing date based on unforeseen circumstances).

25. This is an easy case. Highland's dissolution is intended to commence by August 11, 2026, and was never dependent on the resolution of Daugherty's Reserved Claim the adjudication of which is plainly contemplated by Bankruptcy Code section 502(c). The Court should grant the Cross Motion so as not to indefinitely delay the conclusion of Highland's Bankruptcy Case and dissolution of the Claimant Trust.

CONCLUSION

WHEREFORE, Highland respectfully requests that the Court (a) deny the Motion and grant the Cross Motion; (b) alternatively, grant the Motion and dismiss the Complaint without prejudice, subject to (i) a further extension of the claim objection deadline through February 1, 2026, and (ii) Highland's right to re-file the Complaint between January 1, 2026 and January 31, 2026, together with a renewed motion under Rule 60(b)(6) (if necessary) so that they can be adjudicated and Highland's dissolution process can commence before August 11, 2026; and (c) grant Highland such further and additional relief as it may justly be entitled.

ORDER (A) DENYING PATRICK DAUGHERTY'S MOTION TO DISMISS AND (B) GRANTING HIGHLAND CAPITAL MANAGEMENT, L.P.'S CROSS MOTION FOR RELIEF FROM A FINAL ORDER PURSUANT TO BANKRUPTCY RULE 9024

Having considered (i) the Motion to Dismiss [Adv. Pro. Docket No. 5] (the "Motion") filed by Patrick Daugherty ("Daugherty") and (ii) the (A) Objection to Patrick Daugherty's Motion to Dismiss, and (B) Cross Motion for Relief from a Final Order Pursuant to Bankruptcy Rule 9024 (the "Objection" and the "Cross Motion," as appropriate)[2] filed by Highland Capital Management, L.P., the Court finds and concludes that: (i) the Court has jurisdiction to consider the Motion, the Objection, and the Cross Motion under 28 U.S.C. §§ 157 and 1334 and the retention of jurisdiction provisions of Article XI of the Plan; (ii) consideration of the Motion, the Objection, and the Cross Motion is a core proceeding under 28 U.S.C. § 157(b)(2); (iii) venue is proper in this district under 28 U.S.C. §§ 1408 and 1409; and (iv) the legal and factual bases set forth in the Objection and the Cross Motion establish good cause for the relief granted herein. Accordingly, it is hereby ORDERED THAT:

1. The Motion is DENIED in its entirety.

2. The Cross Motion is GRANTED in its entirety.

3. Pursuant to Bankruptcy Rule 9024(b)(6), the Settlement Order is hereby modified to provide that the Stay Provision is stricken from the Settlement Agreement.

4. The Court shall retain exclusive jurisdiction to hear and determine all matters and disputes arising from the interpretation and implementation of this Order.

HIGHLAND CAPITAL MANAGEMENT, L.P.'S (A) OBJECTION TO PATRICK DAUGHERTY'S MOTION TO DISMISS AND (B) CROSS MOTION FOR RELIEF FROM A FINAL ORDER PURSUANT TO BANKRUPTCY RULE 9024

Highland Capital Management, L.P., the reorganized debtor ("Highland" or the "Debtor" as applicable) in the above-captioned chapter 11 case (the "Bankruptcy Case") and the plaintiff in the above-captioned adversary proceeding (the "Adversary Proceeding"), files this (A) Objection to Patrick Daugherty's Motion to Dismiss, and (B) Cross Motion for Relief from a Final Order Pursuant to Bankruptcy Rule 9024 (the "Objection" or the "Cross Motion," as the case may be) in response to the Motion to Dismiss [Adv. Pro. Docket No. 5] (the "Motion") filed by Patrick Daugherty ("Daugherty" and together with Highland, the "Parties"). In support of its Objection and Cross Motion, Highland respectfully states as follows:

1. Highland commenced this action to disallow, estimate, and/or subordinate, Daugherty's remaining unliquidated, contingent claim based on an IRS tax refund that Daugherty admittedly received for the 2008 tax year. Daugherty claims that nearly 16 years after receiving his tax refund based on losses related to his Highland Partnership Interests, the Debtor must make him whole if that tax refund is ever successfully challenged by the IRS. In response, relying solely on the Stay Provision, Daugherty moves to dismiss the action as "premature"

[2] Capitalized terms used but not defined in this Preliminary Statement shall have the meanings below or as ascribed in Highland's Complaint for (1) Disallowance of Claim No. 205 in its Entirety, (2) Estimation of Claim No. 205 for Allowance Purposes, or (3) Subordination of Any Allowed Portion of Claim No. 205 of Patrick Hagaman Daugherty (Adv. Pro. Docket No. 1) (the "Complaint").

because there has not been a "final determination of the IRS Audit Dispute."[3] The Motion should be denied.

2. Based on available information, Highland believes that the "IRS [made] a final determination with respect to the IRS Audit Dispute" such that the Stay Provision does not apply. Daugherty disagrees, contending that his Reserved Claim cannot be adjudicated until there is a "final determination of the IRS Audit Dispute."[4] In Daugherty's view, a "final determination" will not occur until (at least) all appeals are exhausted.[5]

3. Rather than wade into the thicket of arcane tax regulations, the most efficient path here is for the Court to simply grant Highland's Cross Motion, strike the Stay Provision from the Settlement Agreement pursuant to Rule 60(b)(6), and deny the Motion.[6] Courts have broad discretion under Rule 60(b)(6) to relieve a party from a final order for "any [] reason that justifies relief." In light of unforeseen circumstances, the Court should use its "grand reservoir of equitable power" under Rule 60(b)(6) to achieve justice by striking the Stay Provision from the Court-approved Settlement Agreement.[7]

4. Since the Parties signed the Settlement Agreement in November 2021, Highland has taken substantial steps to implement its Plan, including monetizing assets, resolving general unsecured claims and interests, and making distributions to Claimant Trust Beneficiaries.

[3] Motion ¶7. Daugherty's alternative request that the Court "stay this adversary proceeding until the Debtor's IRS Dispute is fully and finally resolved" (Id. ¶18) should be denied because (a) it is conflicts with the Stay Provision, and (b) as discussed below, would cause the Highland Bankruptcy Case to remain open indefinitely.

[4] Motion ¶7.

[5] Motion ¶¶13-14. Daugherty even leaves open the possibility that a "final determination" may not occur "[e]ven at the conclusion of all court proceedings" unless the IRS takes certain action. Id. ¶14.

[6] Highland believes that a review of the facts in the context of the thicket of tax regulations would result in a finding that the IRS has made a "final determination with respect to the IRS Audit Dispute." However, Highland makes the Cross Motion in the interests of judicial economy as a far simpler approach and because the relief requested is warranted under the facts and applicable law.

[7] Seven Elves v. Eskenazi, 635 F.2d 396, 402 (5th Cir. 1981) ("Rule 60(b) is 'a grand reservoir of equitable power to do justice'") (quoting Menier v. United States, 405 F.2 245, 248 (5th Cir. 1968)).

Indeed, Highland has accomplished so much since the Settlement Agreement was signed that it substantially needs only to (a) resolve Daugherty's Reserved Claim, (b) monetize a "limited number of assets," and (c) fix the limited amount of several Class 11 interests before it can begin the dissolution process.[8]

5. No one foresaw more than three and a half years ago that (a) Daugherty's Reserved Claim would remain unresolved at this time, (b) Daugherty would baselessly contend that a "final determination of the IRS Audit Dispute [was] a condition precedent to resolution of" his Claim, or (c) the resolution of Daugherty's Reserved Claim would be among the last things to be done before Highland could commence the dissolution process. The operative Trust Agreements prove as much.[9] Regardless of how the Stay Provision is interpreted, Highland could not and did not agree to leave this Bankruptcy Case open indefinitely, and the Stay Provision was never intended to prevent Highland from dissolving until Daugherty's Reserved Claim was finally determined. Based on unforeseen circumstances, justice requires that the Court use its equitable power to strike the Stay Provision.[10]

6. Daugherty will not be prejudiced by the granting of Highland's Cross-Motion because he will be in the same position he would have been in had Highland objected to his Reserved Claim back in 2021.

[8] See Motion for an Order Further Extending Duration of Trusts, [Bankr. Docket No. 4213] ("Extension Motion") ¶¶2, 12; Patrick Daugherty's Objection to Motion for Entry of an Order Pursuant to Bankruptcy Rule 9019 And 11 U.S.C. § 363 Approving Settlement with the HMIT Entities and Authorizing Actions Consistent Therewith [Bankr. Docket No. 4229] ¶12 (acknowledging that Daugherty holds the last remaining unresolved claim against the estate).

[9] The best evidence that no one expected the IRS to need more than five years to make a "final determination," or that the Stay Provision could effectively prevent the commencement of the dissolution process, is Section 9.1 of the Claimant Trust and Litigation Sub-Trust Agreements, both of which contemplate dissolution within five years of the Plan's effective date. Extension Motion ¶9. Pursuant to the Court's recent order, the duration of the Trusts has been extended only until August 11, 2026, five years from the Plan's effective date. Bankr. Docket No. 4298.

[10] Bankruptcy Code section 502(c)(1) expressly authorizes the Court to estimate for allowance purposes "any contingent or unliquidated claim, the fixing or liquidation of which, as the case may be, would unduly delay administration of the estate." 11 U.S.C. § 502(c)(1) (emphasis added). Granting Highland's Cross Motion will enable the Court to effectuate this statutory provision exactly as intended.

7. Finally, if the Court decides that the IRS has not made a final determination and denies the Cross Motion, the Court should grant the Motion and dismiss the Complaint without prejudice, subject to (a) a further extension of the claim objection deadline through February 1, 2026,[11] and (b) Highland's right to re-file the Complaint between January 1, 2026 and January 31, 2026, together with a renewed motion under Rule 60(b)(6) (if necessary) so that they can be adjudicated and Highland's dissolution process can commence before August 11, 2026.

JURISDICTION AND VENUE FOR HIGHLAND'S CROSS MOTION

8. This Court has jurisdiction over Highland's Cross Motion under 28 U.S.C. §§ 157 and 1334 and the retention of jurisdiction provisions of Article XI of the Plan. This is a core proceeding under 28 U.S.C. § 157(b)(2). Venue in this district is proper under 28 U.S.C. §§ 1408 and 1409.

BACKGROUND

A. The Parties' Agreement Concerning Daugherty's Reserved Claim

9. Daugherty's operative proof of claim is Claim 205. Claim 205 included a purported tax claim for $1,475,816 of "Compensation Award" plus $1,174,537 of "Estimated Interest", for a total of $2,650,353. Highland and Daugherty later agreed that Highland would reserve Daugherty's asserted amount of $2,650,353, subject to Highland's right to assert any and all defenses as further described below.

10. On December 8, 2021, the Debtor filed the Settlement Motion by which it sought approval of that certain Settlement Agreement entered into between Highland and Daugherty (the

[11] Highland's deadline to object to Daugherty's Reserved Claim was extended through June 30, 2025, pursuant to a Tolling Agreement dated as of July 27, 2022, as amended. See Bankr. Docket No. 4255, Exhibits 60-63.

"Settlement Agreement"). Morris Exhibit 1.[12] On March 8, 2022, the Court entered the Settlement Order, granting the Settlement Motion and resolving all of Claim 205 other than Mr. Daugherty's claim related to the 2008 IRS Refund that he received (i.e., the Reserved Claim, as defined in the Settlement Agreement).

11. In paragraph 9 of the Settlement Agreement, (a) Highland expressly "reserve[d] the right to assert any and all defenses" to the Reserved Claim, and (b) the parties agreed that "[a]ny litigation by and between the Debtor and Daugherty concerning the validity and amount of the Reserved Claim shall be stayed until the IRS makes a final determination with respect to the IRS Audit Dispute." Morris Exhibit 1 ¶9 (the "Stay Provision") (emphasis added).

B. Highland Concludes the IRS Made a "Final Determination"

12. While employed by the Debtor, Daugherty received Partnership Interests in the Debtor and became one of the Debtor's limited partners.[13] As a partner in Highland, Daugherty was allocated partnership gains and losses pursuant to Highland's limited partnership agreement. For tax purposes, as a partner, each year Daugherty received a Schedule K-1 (IRS Form 1065) reflecting the gains and losses allocated to his Partnership Interests for a particular tax year.

13. On February 27, 2009, the Debtor gave Daugherty a Comprehensive Compensation and Benefits Statement recapping all earnings, awards, and benefits Daugherty received in connection with his employment by and Partnership Interests in the Debtor during calendar year 2008 (the "2009 Statement").

[12] "Morris Exhibits" refer to the exhibits annexed to the Declaration of John A. Morris in Support of Highland's (A) Objection to Patrick Daugherty's Motion to Dismiss, and (B) Cross Motion for Relief from a Final Judgment Pursuant to Bankruptcy Rule 9024(b) being filed contemporaneously with this Objection and Cross Motion.

[13] On October 31, 2011, Daugherty terminated his employment with Highland. Pursuant to the express conditions of his Employment Agreement, Daugherty acknowledged and agreed that the Debtor would "have no further liability or obligation to [Daugherty] under [the Employment Agreement] or in connection with his/her employment of termination."

14. The 2009 Statement included what Highland estimated to be the tax refund Daugherty could expect to receive for tax year 2008 in the amount of $1,475,816 (the "2008 Refund"). That amount purported to be an estimate of the pre-tax equivalent refund that Daugherty should have expected to receive from the IRS on account of the Highland losses attributable to his Partnership Interests for the 2008 tax year. Daugherty recently admitted that the IRS paid him a tax refund "on a net basis of just under $1.2 million."[14]

15. After all of the obligations to Daugherty under the 2009 Statement were satisfied, the IRS began an audit of Highland's 2008 tax return (the "2008 Audit").[15] Highland recently also found information suggesting that the "IRS [made] a final determination with respect to the IRS audit dispute."

16. Specifically, on February 3, 2018, Daugherty was (a) advised that the IRS field examiners had "concluded their audit," (b) informed that his allocable Portfolio income/short term gain was determined to be $1,257,792 (Form 886-Z), representing an adjustment (increase) of $1,231,361 (the "Adjustment"), and (c) given the opportunity to accept the IRS' determination and avoid penalties and further interest. (Form 870-PT). The Adjustment does not represent incremental tax owed, but rather incremental income that would be subject to tax at the applicable tax rate. Morris Exhibits 2-4, respectively.

17. Daugherty apparently decided not to accept the IRS' proposed adjustments and thereby accepted the risk that the IRS might impose penalties and interest on his allocable income/gain.

[14] See Transcript from June 25, 2025 hearing filed at Docket No. 4296 at 156.

[15] Strand Advisors, Inc. ("Strand") is the pre-petition debtor's tax matters partner for purposes of defending the 2008 Audit. Control of Strand reverted to James Dondero—the Debtor's ousted founder—in 2021, and the Debtor has had no role in the 2008 Audit since then.

18. Upon information and belief, the Adjustment has not changed since 2018 such that Daugherty's maximum tax underpayment exposure is equal to the highest individual income tax rate at the time (37%) times the income Adjustment, or about $455,000.[16]

19. Daugherty seeks to avoid adjudication of his Reserved Claim by asserting that this action is barred by the Stay Provision since there has not been (and may never be) a "final determination of the IRS Audit Dispute." See generally Daugherty's Motion.

C. The Highland Bankruptcy Is Nearly Complete and the Highland Claimant Trust Is Expected to Commence the Dissolution Process Before August 11, 2026

20. Daugherty's quest for an indefinite stay of litigation to finally resolve his Reserved Claim is untenable for at least the following reasons: (a) by its terms, the Stay Provision is tied to the IRS' final determination with respect to the Audit Dispute, not the "final determination of the IRS Audit Dispute," as Daugherty contends; (b) Section 9.1 of the Trust Agreements shows that Highland's dissolution was expected to commence within five years of the effective date of the Plan, but can only occur after, among other things, all disputed claims are resolved; and (c) if Daugherty's interpretation of the Stay Provision is correct (and it is not), this case will remain open indefinitely at considerable cost to the Claimant Trust and its stakeholders.

21. It is indisputable Highland substantially needs only to (a) resolve Daugherty's Reserved Claim, (b) monetize a "limited number of assets," and (c) fix the limited amount of several Class 11 interests before it can begin the dissolution process. See supra ¶4 and n.7. It is also indisputable that the disputes regarding the IRS Audit are unlikely to be completed for years. See Motion ¶1.

[16] This (a) does not take into account Highland's causes of action for disallowance and/or subordination and (b) conflicts with Daugherty's recent testimony that the IRS Audit could result in the imposition of millions of dollars in taxes, penalties, and interest that threaten to leave him bankrupt.

22. Thus, awaiting "a final determination of the IRS Audit" (or even the IRS' final determination if this Court finds that no such determination has yet been made) will unduly delay the administration of the Highland estate, including the anticipated commencement of Highland's dissolution process before August 11, 2026.

RELIEF REQUESTED ON CROSS MOTION

23. Pursuant to Bankruptcy Rule 9024(b)(6) ("Rule 60(b)(6)"), Highland files this Cross Motion and requests that the Court modify the Settlement Order to provide that the Stay Provision is stricken from the Settlement Agreement.

24. Courts have repeatedly observed that Rule 60(b)(6) "should be liberally construed" and that courts have broad discretion to grant relief under that provision to accomplish justice. See, e.g., Celtic Marine Corp. v. James C. Justice Cos., 593 F. App'x 300, 303 (5th Cir. 2014) ("Clause (6) is a residual clause used to cover unforeseen contingencies; that is, it is a means for accomplishing justice in exceptional circumstances … the rule should be liberally construed in order to achieve substantial justice") (quoting Steverson v. GlobalSantaFe Corp., 508 F.3d 303 (5th Cir. 2007)); Lindy Invs. v. Shakertown 1992, Inc., 360 F. App'x 510 (5th Cir. 2010) (granting Rule 60(b)(6) motion and observing that "the discretion under 60(b)(6) is said to be especially broad because relief may be granted under it when appropriate to accomplish justice.'") (quoting Harrell v. DCS Equip. Leasing Corp., 951 F.3d 1453, 1458 (5th Cir. 1992); Seven Elves, 635 F.2d at 401-02 (Rule 60(b)(6) "should be liberally construed in order to do substantial justice" and is 'a grand reservoir of equitable power to do justice'"); In re Strudel Holdings LLC, 656 B.R. 404 (Bankr. S.D. Tex. 2024 (granting Rule 60(b)(6) motion to amend sale order to modify the closing date based on unforeseen circumstances).

25. This is an easy case. Highland's dissolution is intended to commence by August 11, 2026, and was never dependent on the resolution of Daugherty's Reserved Claim the adjudication of which is plainly contemplated by Bankruptcy Code section 502(c). The Court should grant the Cross Motion so as not to indefinitely delay the conclusion of Highland's Bankruptcy Case and dissolution of the Claimant Trust.

CONCLUSION

WHEREFORE, Highland respectfully requests that the Court (a) deny the Motion and grant the Cross Motion; (b) alternatively, grant the Motion and dismiss the Complaint without prejudice, subject to (i) a further extension of the claim objection deadline through February 1, 2026, and (ii) Highland's right to re-file the Complaint between January 1, 2026 and January 31, 2026, together with a renewed motion under Rule 60(b)(6) (if necessary) so that they can be adjudicated and Highland's dissolution process can commence before August 11, 2026; and (c) grant Highland such further and additional relief as it may justly be entitled.

ORDER (A) DENYING PATRICK DAUGHERTY'S MOTION TO DISMISS AND (B) GRANTING HIGHLAND CAPITAL MANAGEMENT, L.P.'S CROSS MOTION FOR RELIEF FROM A FINAL ORDER PURSUANT TO BANKRUPTCY RULE 9024

Having considered (i) the Motion to Dismiss [Adv. Pro. Docket No. 5] (the "Motion") filed by Patrick Daugherty ("Daugherty") and (ii) the (A) Objection to Patrick Daugherty's Motion to Dismiss, and (B) Cross Motion for Relief from a Final Order Pursuant to Bankruptcy Rule 9024 (the "Objection" and the "Cross Motion," as appropriate)[2] filed by Highland Capital Management, L.P., the Court finds and concludes that: (i) the Court has jurisdiction to consider the Motion, the Objection, and the Cross Motion under 28 U.S.C. §§ 157 and 1334 and the retention of jurisdiction provisions of Article XI of the Plan; (ii) consideration of the Motion, the Objection, and the Cross Motion is a core proceeding under 28 U.S.C. § 157(b)(2); (iii) venue is proper in this district under 28 U.S.C. §§ 1408 and 1409; and (iv) the legal and factual bases set forth in the Objection and the Cross Motion establish good cause for the relief granted herein. Accordingly, it is hereby ORDERED THAT:

1. The Motion is DENIED in its entirety.

2. The Cross Motion is GRANTED in its entirety.

3. Pursuant to Bankruptcy Rule 9024(b)(6), the Settlement Order is hereby modified to provide that the Stay Provision is stricken from the Settlement Agreement.

4. The Court shall retain exclusive jurisdiction to hear and determine all matters and disputes arising from the interpretation and implementation of this Order.

SETTLEMENT AGREEMENT

This Settlement Agreement (the "Settlement") is made and entered into by and between (i) Highland Capital Management, L.P., as reorganized debtor ("HCMLP" or the "Debtor"), and (ii) Patrick Hagaman Daugherty ("Daugherty" and together with HCMLP, the "Parties," and individually as a "Party"). This Settlement provides for the treatment of certain claims asserted by Daugherty against the Debtor, and for the Parties to take certain other specified actions in settlement thereof.

RECITALS

WHEREAS, on October 16, 2019 (the "Petition Date"), the Debtor filed a voluntary petition for relief under title 11 of the United States Code (the "Bankruptcy Code");

WHEREAS, the Debtor's chapter 11 case (the "Bankruptcy") is pending in the Bankruptcy Court for the Northern District of Texas, Dallas Division (the "Bankruptcy Court");

WHEREAS, on February 2 and 3, 2021, the Court conducted a confirmation hearing with respect to the Fifth Amended Plan of Reorganization of Highland Capital Management, L.P. (as Modified) [Docket No. 1808] (the "Plan");

WHEREAS, on February 8, 2021, the Court rendered an opinion from the bench in which it confirmed the Plan [Docket No. 1924];

WHEREAS, on February 22, 2021, the Court issued an order confirming the Plan [Docket No. 1943];

WHEREAS, on August 11, 2021, the Effective Date (as defined in the Plan) occurred [Docket No. 2700];

WHEREAS, Daugherty is a former employee and limited partner of the Debtor and has served in other positions with affiliates and former affiliates of the Debtor;

WHEREAS, at the time of his resignation, Daugherty owned 19.1% of the preferred units of Highland Employee Retention Assets LLC ("HERA"), an employee deferred compensation vehicle managed by the Debtor and Highland ERA Management, LLC ("ERA") and contends that he owned or had the right to own all of the preferred units of HERA;

WHEREAS, prior to his resignation from HCMLP, Daugherty was awarded units of HERA, which vehicle owned interests in Restoration Capital Partners, LP ("RCP"), an HCMLP managed private equity fund, and other investments;

WHEREAS, in April 2012, the Debtor commenced an action against Daugherty in Texas state court (the "Texas Action"), and Daugherty subsequently asserted counterclaims for breach of contract and defamation, and third-party claims against HERA and others;

WHEREAS, after a three-week trial, the jury returned a verdict partially in favor of the Debtor, but Daugherty prevailed on his claims against the Debtor and James Dondero ("Dondero") for defamation with malice and a third-party claim against HERA and was awarded damages of $2.6 million against HERA, plus prejudgment and post-judgment interest at 5% (the "HERA Judgment");[1]

WHEREAS, in July 2017, after being unable to collect on the HERA Judgment, Daugherty commenced an action against the Debtor, Dondero, HERA, and ERA Management in the Delaware Chancery Court (the "Delaware Court"), in a case captioned Daugherty v. Highland Capital Management, L.P., et al., C.A. No. 2017-0488-MTZ, for fraudulent transfer, promissory estoppel, unjust enrichment, indemnification, and fees on fees (the "Highland Delaware Case");

[1] The Debtor prevailed on its claims against Mr. Daugherty for breach of contract and breach of fiduciary duty for non-monetary damages and obtained an award of $2.8 million in attorney's fees. The HERA Judgment was affirmed on appeal on December 1, 2016.

WHEREAS, the Delaware Court in the Highland Delaware Case (i) found that the Dondero-related defendants improperly withheld dozens of documents in discovery on privilege grounds, and (ii) ruled that there was "a reasonable basis to believe that a fraud has been perpetrated" such that the Delaware Court applied the "crime-fraud exception" to the attorney-client privilege assertion, and such rulings have not been overturned;

WHEREAS, Daugherty asserts that such withholding of documents and the failure to search defendants' and their employees personal electronic devices for stored documents and texts as well as other emails and domain names such as sasmgt.com and gmail.com which were in their possession and control and to provide required discovery injured him by undermining his attempts to build an evidentiary record to support his claims against the Debtor and the other defendants in the Highland Delaware Case;

WHEREAS, on October 14, 2019, the Highland Delaware Case proceeded to trial and two days later, on October 16, 2019, before the completion of the trial and before the Delaware Court ruled on Daugherty's and the Debtor's cross-motions for summary judgment regarding indemnification and fees on fees, the Debtor filed for bankruptcy;

WHEREAS, on December 1, 2019, Daugherty filed a separate lawsuit in the Delaware Court, captioned Daugherty v. Dondero, et al., C.A. No. 2019-0956-MTZ, against Dondero, HERA, ERA, Hunton Andrews Kurth LLP ("Andrews Kurth"), Marc Katz ("Katz"), Michael Hurst ("Hurst"), the Debtor's Chief Compliance Officer, the Debtor's then in-house counsel (Isaac Leventon ("Leventon")), and the Debtor's then general counsel (Scott Ellington ("Ellington")), for conspiracy to commit fraud, among other claims (the "HERA Delaware Case" and together with the Highland Delaware Case, the "Delaware Cases");

WHEREAS, on April 1, 2020, Daugherty filed a general, unsecured, non-priority claim against the Debtor in the amount of at "least $37,483,876.59," and such claim was denoted by the Debtor's claims agent as Proof of Claim No. 67 ("Proof of Claim No. 67");

WHEREAS, on April 6, 2020, Daugherty filed a general, unsecured, non-priority claim against the Debtor in the amount of at "least $37,482,876.62" that superseded Proof of Claim No. 67 and that was denoted by the Debtor's claims agent as Proof of Claim No. 77 ("Proof of Claim No. 77");

WHEREAS, on August 31, 2020, the Debtor commenced an adversary proceeding against Daugherty by filing a complaint (the "Complaint") in which the Debtor: (1) objected to Proof of Claim No. 77 on various grounds (the "Claim Objection"), and (2) asserted a cause of action for the subordination of part of Daugherty's claim pursuant to section 510(b) of the Bankruptcy Code. Adv. Proc. No. 20-03107 (the "Adv. Proc.") [Adv. Docket No. 1] (the "Adversary Proceeding");

WHEREAS, on September 29, 2020, Daugherty filed his answer to the Complaint [Adv. Docket No. 8] (the "Answer");

WHEREAS, on September 24, 2020, Daugherty filed his Motion to Confirm Status of Automatic Stay, or Alternatively to Modify Automatic Stay [Docket No. 1099] (the "Stay Motion") pursuant to which he sought to sever the Debtor from the Highland Delaware Case and then consolidate the remaining claims in the Highland Delaware Case into the HERA Delaware Case and proceed with one case against the non-Debtor parties;[2]

WHEREAS, on October 23, 2020, Daugherty filed a motion seeking leave to amend his Proof of Claim No. 77 [Docket No. 1280] (the "POC Amendment Motion"). The amended proof

[2] On October 8, 2020, the Debtor commenced a second adversary proceeding against Daugherty (the "Second Adversary Proceeding"), seeking to enjoin him from prosecuting the Delaware Cases. Adv. Proc. 20-03128 ("2d Adv. Proc.") [2d Adv. Proc. Docket No. 1]. On January 29, 2021, the parties filed a Settlement that resolved the Second Adversary Proceeding, and the Second Adversary Proceeding was subsequently dismissed with prejudice. [2d Adv. Proc. Docket No. 12].

of claim attached to the POC Amendment Motion increased Daugherty's general, unsecured, non-priority claim against the Debtor to the amount of at "least $40,410,819.42" and sought to supersede Proof of Claim No. 67 and Proof of Claim No. 77;

WHEREAS, on October 23, 2020, Daugherty filed his Motion for Temporary Allowance of Claim for Voting Purposes Pursuant to Bankruptcy Rule 3018 Motion, seeking for his Claim to be temporarily allowed for voting purposes in this amount of $40,410,819.42 [Docket No. 1281] (the "3018 Motion");

WHEREAS, on November 3, 2020, the Court granted the Stay Motion [Docket No. 1327];

WHEREAS, the Debtor opposed the 3018 Motion, and after conducting an evidentiary hearing for the limited purpose of determining the 3018 Motion, the Court entered an order temporarily allowing Daugherty's Claim only for voting purposes in the amount of $9,134,019 [Docket No. 1474];

WHEREAS, on December 10, 2020, the Court entered an order [Docket No. 1533] granting the POC Amendment Motion, and Daugherty was permitted to file an amendment to his proof of claim. On December 23, 2020, Daugherty filed an amended proof of claim, designated by the Debtor's claim agent as Proof of Claim No. 205 ("Proof of Claim No. 205" or the "Daugherty Claim"). Proof of Claim No. 205 superseded Proof of Claim No. 77 and increased the amount of the Daugherty's Claim to $40,710,819.42;

WHEREAS, on November 30, 2020, Daugherty filed his Motion to Lift the Automatic Stay (the "Lift Stay Motion") [Docket No. 1491] seeking to lift the automatic stay to allow him to finish his trial in the Delaware Court and liquidate his claims. The Debtor opposed the Lift Stay Motion, and after a hearing was held on December 17, 2020, the Court denied the relief requested in the Lift Stay Motion [Docket No. 1612];

WHEREAS, except with respect to the Reserved Claim (as defined below), the Parties have agreed to settle and resolve all claims and disputes between them and their respective current affiliates, managed entities, and employees, including the Daugherty Claim, on the terms set forth in this Settlement:

AGREEMENT

NOW, THEREFORE, after good-faith, arms-length negotiations, and in consideration of the foregoing, it is hereby stipulated and agreed that:

1. Allowed Claims: In full satisfaction of the entirety of the Daugherty Claim against the Debtor and HCMLP Released Parties (defined below), excluding the Reserved Claim, Daugherty shall receive (a) an allowed general unsecured Class 8 claim in the amount of $8,250,000; (b) an allowed subordinated general unsecured Class 9 claim in the amount of $3,750,000; and (c) a one-time lump sum cash payment in the amount of $750,000 to be paid within 5 business days of Bankruptcy Court approval of this Settlement Agreement.

2. Recovery: The Debtor makes no representation or warranty as to the recovery on Class 8 or Class 9 claims under the Plan.

3. Observation Access: As soon as practicable following entry of an order of the Bankruptcy Court approving this Settlement, HCMLP shall use reasonable efforts to petition the Claimant Trust Oversight Board[3] to permit Daugherty to have access as an observer to meetings of the Claimant Trust Oversight Board, subject to policies, procedures, and agreements applicable to other observers of the Claimant Trust Oversight Board, including policies, procedures, and agreements related to confidentiality and common interest. Whether Daugherty will be granted observer access and any continuing observer access is and will remain at the sole discretion of the Claimant Trust Oversight Board.

4. RCP Track Record: HCMLP shall use reasonable efforts to provide Daugherty with data constituting the investment performance track record of RCP during Daugherty's tenure at HCMLP. Daugherty shall not be entitled to any compensation with respect to the performance of RCP. HCMLP makes no representations or warranties regarding such data and takes no responsibility with respect to the use of such data for any purposes.

5. Daugherty Releases: Except as specifically provided in this paragraph 5, and to the maximum extent permitted by applicable law, the Debtor, on behalf of itself and each of the HCMLP Entities and HCMLP Parties (as those terms are defined in paragraph 6 below), hereby forever, finally, fully, unconditionally, and completely releases, relieves, acquits, remises, and exonerates, and covenants never to sue Daugherty, his successors, affiliates, and assigns, (and in each such category to include their respective advisors, trustees, directors, officers, managers, members, partners, employees, beneficiaries, shareholders, agents, participants, subsidiaries, parents, affiliates, and designees) (collectively, the "Daugherty Additional Release Parties" and together with Daugherty, the "Daugherty Released Parties"), in each case acting in such capacity, for and from any and all claims, debts, liabilities, demands, obligations, promises, acts, agreements, liens, losses, costs and expenses (including, without limitation, attorney's fees and related costs), damages, injuries, suits, actions, and causes of action of whatever kind or nature, whether known or unknown, suspected or unsuspected, matured or unmatured, liquidated or unliquidated, contingent or fixed, at law or in equity, statutory or otherwise, including, without limitation those which were or could have been asserted in the Bankruptcy, including the Adversary Proceeding, the Texas Action, or the Delaware Cases, all existing as of the date hereof (collectively, the "HCMLP Released Claims"); provided, however, that such release shall not apply with respect to any and all defenses that HCMLP or the HCMLP Entities may have to the Reserved Claim or the Reserve Motion (as those terms are defined herein) or Daugherty's obligations under this Settlement. For the avoidance of doubt, the HCMLP Released Claims include all claims or causes of action and facts, known or unknown, that exist as of the date hereof but do not include or apply to claims or causes of action based on facts occurring after the date hereof.

6. HCMLP Releases: Except as specifically provided in this paragraph 6, and to the maximum extent permitted by law, Daugherty, on behalf of himself and each of the Daugherty Released Parties, hereby forever, finally, fully, unconditionally, and completely releases, relieves, acquits, remises, and exonerates, and covenants never to sue, (a)(i) HCMLP; (ii) Strand Advisors Inc.; (iii) the Claimant Trust; (iv) the Claimant Trust Oversight Board; (v) the Highland Litigation Sub-Trust; (vi) the Highland Indemnity Trust; (vii) any entity of which greater than fifty percent of the voting ownership is held directly or indirectly by HCMLP as of the date hereof and any entity otherwise directly or indirectly controlled by HCMLP as of the date hereof,; and (viii) any entity managed by either HCMLP or a direct or indirect subsidiary of HCMLP, including Highland Restoration Capital Partners, L.P., Highland Restoration Capital Partners Offshore, L.P., Highland Restoration Capital Master, L.P. (and all of their respective general partners, feeder funds, managers, and affiliates) (the foregoing (a)(i) through (a)(viii) the "HCMLP Entities"), and (b) with respect to each such HCMLP Entity, such HCMLP Entity's respective current (meaning employed in their respective roles as of the date hereof) advisors, trustees, directors, officers, managers, members, partners, employees, beneficiaries, shareholders (but not the shareholders of Strand Advisors Inc.), agents, participants, subsidiaries, parents, affiliates, successors, designees, and assigns, except as expressly set forth below (the "HCMLP Parties," and together with the HCMLP Entities, the "HCMLP Released Parties"),[4] in each case acting in such capacity, for and from any and all claims, debts, liabilities, demands, obligations, promises, acts, agreements, liens, losses, costs and expenses (including, without limitation, attorney's fees and related costs), damages, injuries, suits, actions, and causes of action of whatever kind or nature, whether known or unknown, suspected or unsuspected, matured or unmatured, liquidated or unliquidated, contingent or fixed, at law or in equity, statutory or otherwise, including without limitation those which were or could have been asserted in the Bankruptcy, including the Adversary Proceeding, the Texas Action, the Daugherty Claim, or the Highland Delaware Case (collectively, the "Daugherty Released Claims"); provided, however, that such release shall not apply with respect to the Reserved Claim or the Reserve Motion (as those terms are defined in paragraph 9 below) or HCMLP's obligations under this Settlement. This release expressly applies to all current employees of HCMLP as the Reorganized Debtor (as defined in the Plan), in their capacities as such. For the avoidance of doubt, the Daugherty Released Claims includes all claims or causes of action and facts, known or unknown, that exist as of the date hereof but do not include or apply to claims or causes of action based on facts occurring after the date hereof.

7. Reservation of Daugherty Rights: Notwithstanding anything contained herein to the contrary, the term HCMLP Released Parties shall not include (a) NexPoint Advisors, L.P. (or any of its subsidiaries and employees, advisors, or agents), (b) the Charitable Donor Advised Fund, L.P. (and any of its subsidiaries, including CLO Holdco, Ltd., and any of their respective employees, advisors, or agents), (c) NexBank, SSB (or any of its subsidiaries, employees, advisors, or agents), (d) James Dondero or any trust in which Dondero or any of his family members are a trustee or beneficiary (or any trustee acting for such trust), including but not limited to Hunter

[4] The Daugherty Additional Released Parties and the HCMLP Released Parties are collectively referred to as the "Additional Released Parties."

Mountain Investment Trust, The Get Good Trust, Dugaboy Investment Trust, SLHC Investment Trust, (e) HERA (subject to paragraph 8 below), (f) ERA (subject to paragraph 8 below), (g) Grant Scott, (h) Mark Okada and any trust in which Mark Okada or any of his family members are a beneficiary (or any trustee acting for such trust in their respective capacities), (i) Ellington, (j) Leventon, (k) Katz, (l) Hurst, (m) Andrews Kurth, or (m) any other former employee (as of the date hereof) of the HCMLP Released Parties.

8. HERA and ERA: The Parties acknowledge and agree that as of the date hereof, HERA and ERA have no material assets other than potential claims that may exist against persons or entities not released at or prior to the date hereof, and no claims against the HCMLP Released Parties. The allowed claims provided in paragraph 1 hereof are expressly agreed to in order to satisfy any liability the Debtor may have in connection with the HERA Judgment. To facilitate recovery of such potential claims – which expressly excludes any and all claims by or in the name of HERA and ERA against any of the HCMLP Released Parties -- HCMLP will transfer its interests in HERA and ERA to Daugherty. Such transfer will include the HERA and ERA books and records (spreadsheet) maintained on HCMLP's system. Such transfer will be without representation or warranty of any type; including, for the avoidance of doubt, without any representation or warranty as to the merits of the potential claims or the efficacy of the transfer of the potential claims. Such transfer will be without any liability or material cost to HCMLP or its affiliates or the other HCMLP Released Parties, including any liability in respect of any assets that HERA or ERA ever actually or allegedly owned, possessed, or controlled and that were actually or allegedly transferred, conveyed, sold, written off or otherwise disposed of (in any such case, a "Disposition"). In connection with the transfer, HERA and ERA have expressly released the HCMLP Released Parties from any and all claims, including any claims actions or remedies related to any Disposition, either of them may have against any HCMLP Released Party now or in the future (the "HERA and ERA Release"). Daugherty on behalf of himself and each of the Daugherty Released Parties acknowledges, accepts, and agrees not to challenge the HERA and ERA Release or support any challenge thereto. A copy of the HERA and ERA Release is annexed hereto as Exhibit A. Daugherty acknowledges and agrees that even though HERA and ERA are not HCMLP Released Parties under this Agreement, Daugherty and all Daugherty Released Parties shall (a) not seek to hold any HCMLP Released Party liable for any action or inaction taken by or on behalf of HERA or ERA, including through any derivative, veil-piercing or similar cause of action or remedy; and (b) not seek to recover damages or obtain any form of relief against any HCMLP Released Party on account of any action or inaction taken by or on behalf of HERA or ERA, including through any veil piercing or similar cause of action or remedy. If, for any reason, HERA or ERA, or any person or entity acting on their behalf, recovers anything from any HCMLP Released Party, Daugherty shall promptly turnover to HCMLP or its successors and assigns any amounts actually recovered by Daugherty or any Daugherty Released Party, from HERA or ERA arising from, related to, or derived from any claim that HERA or ERA or any person or entity acting on their behalf has or may have against any HCMLP Released Party. HCMLP will provide reasonable assistance to Daugherty to assist with the preparation of any required HERA K-1s for 2021, but any requirement to provide such K-1s will be the obligation, if any, of HERA.

9. IRS Compensation Claim: In section 4(ii) of the Addendum to Proof of Claim No. 205, Daugherty contends that he has a contingent, unliquidated claim against the Debtor arising out of a 2008/2009 compensation letter (the "Reserved Claim"), which claim is also related to an audit/dispute between the Debtor and the Internal Revenue Service (the "IRS") (the dispute between the Debtor and IRS being referred to herein as the "IRS Audit Dispute"). The Debtor disputes the validity and amount of the Reserved Claim. Daugherty shall retain the Reserved Claim solely against the Debtor and not against any other HCMLP Released Party, and the Debtor reserves the right to assert any and all defenses thereto. Any litigation by and between the Debtor and Daugherty concerning the validity and amount of the Reserved Claim shall be stayed until the IRS makes a final determination with respect to the IRS Audit Dispute; provided, however, that Daugherty may file a motion with the Bankruptcy Court to have the Reserved Claim estimated for purposes of establishing a reserve as a "Disputed Claim" under the Debtor's Plan (the "Reserve Motion"), and the Debtor (and any successor) reserves the right to assert any and all defenses thereto. Notwithstanding the foregoing, Daugherty may address any personal claim or personal liability to the IRS as a result of the IRS Audit Dispute, including settlement of any such claims; provided, however, Daugherty agrees to forego settling or addressing any claims with the IRS without the written consent of the Debtor until March 31, 2022.

10. Current HCMLP Employees: The HCMLP Parties set forth on Appendix A hereto are currently employed by the Debtor are HCMLP Released Parties. By executing a copy of this Settlement and delivering it to Daugherty, each of the persons on Appendix A agrees not to sue, attempt to sue, or threaten or work with or assist any entity or person to sue, attempt to sue, or threaten any Daugherty Released Party on or in connection with any claim or cause of action arising prior to the date of this Settlement.

11. Dismissal and Motions in Other Actions. Within ten business days after approval of this Settlement by the Bankruptcy Court, the Parties shall take all steps necessary (a) to dismiss with prejudice (i) the Highland Delaware Case, as against the Debtor and any HCMLP Released Party, and (ii) the HERA Delaware Case, as against every HCMLP Released Party, (b) to file an agreed motion and proposed order to partially vacate the final judgment entered against Daugherty in the Texas Action, (c) withdraw HCMLP's objection to the Daugherty motion to recuse in the Texas Action, and (d) to dismiss the Adversary Proceeding with prejudice. The parties shall file the foregoing motions and withdrawals substantially in the form of the documents annexed hereto as Exhibit B.

12. Additional Third Party Claims Discovery: The Debtor (a) shall accept service of any subpoenas via email served by Daugherty in connection with the Delaware Cases on behalf of itself, the HCMLP Entities, the HCMLP Parties (but only in their capacity as employees of HCMLP); and (b) acknowledge and consent to the jurisdiction of the Delaware Chancery Court for purposes of enforcing any such subpoenas, subject in all respects to the rights that the HCMLP Entities and HCMLP Parties to defend the requested production, if any.

13. Settlement of Third Party Claims: Daugherty shall not settle any claims or causes of action against any current or former director, officer, employee, agent or representative of HCMLP or Strand Advisors Inc. (collectively, the "Potentially Indemnified Parties") to the extent such claims have been brought or could have been brought against any Potentially Indemnified Parties, if any such settlement designates, defines or describes the settled claims as arising out of or relating to simple negligence or as having otherwise been within the scope of employment of the Potentially Indemnified Party.

14. Claims Register: As soon as practicable after the Settlement Effective Date, HCMLP shall instruct the claims agent in the Debtor's chapter 11 case to adjust the claims register in accordance with this Settlement.

15. Daugherty Representations: Daugherty represents and warrants to each of the HCMLP Released Parties that (a) he has full authority to release the Daugherty Released Claims and has not sold, transferred, or assigned any Daugherty Released Claim to any other person or entity and that (b) no person or entity other than Daugherty has been, is, or will be authorized to bring, pursue, or enforce any Daugherty Released Claim on behalf of, for the benefit of, or in the name of (whether directly or derivatively) Daugherty.

16. HCMLP Representations: Each of HCMLP and each HCMLP Released Party who has signed this Settlement represents and warrants to Daugherty that (a) he, she or it has not sold, transferred, pledged, assigned or hypothecated any HCMLP Released Claim to any other person or entity and (b) he, she, or it has full authority to release any HCMLP Released Claims that such HCMLP Released Party personally has against Daugherty.

17. Additional HCMLP Representations: HCMLP represents and warrants that it is releasing the HCMLP Released Claims on behalf of the HCMLP Entities to the maximum extent permitted by any contractual or other legal rights HCMLP possesses. To the extent any of the HCMLP Entities dispute HCMLP's right to release the HCMLP Released Claims on behalf of any of the HCMLP Entities, HCMLP shall use commercially reasonable efforts to support Daugherty's position, if any, that such claims were released herein. For the avoidance of doubt, HCMLP will have no obligations to assist Daugherty under this paragraph if HCMLP has been advised by external counsel that such assistance could subject HCMLP to liability to any third party or if such assistance would require HCMLP to expend material amounts of time or money. HCMLP shall not argue in any forum that the non-signatory status of any of the HCMLP Entities to this Settlement shall in any way affect the enforceability of this Settlement vis-à-vis any of the HCMLP Entities. The Parties agree that all of the HCMLP Entities are intended third-party beneficiaries of this Release.

18. HCMLP Covenant: HCMLP and the HCMLP Entities covenant and agree that they will not pursue or seek to enforce any injunctions entered in the Texas Action against Daugherty.

19. Entire Agreement; Modification: This Settlement contains the entire agreement between the Parties as to its subject matter and supersedes and replaces any and all prior agreements and undertakings between the Parties. This Settlement may not be modified other than by a signed writing executed by the Parties.

20. Bankruptcy Court Approval: Notwithstanding anything to the contrary contained herein, the effectiveness of HCMLP and the Claimant Trust's execution of this Settlement shall be subject to entry of an order of the Bankruptcy Court approving this Settlement. HCMLP shall take all steps necessary to file with the Bankruptcy Court a motion for an order approving this Settlement pursuant to Federal Rule of Bankruptcy Procedure 9019 and section 363 of the Bankruptcy Code (the "Motion"). The parties agree to cooperate in the preparation and prosecution of the Motion which shall be filed no later than 5 business day after execution of this Settlement, unless such time is extended by mutual agreement.

21. Counterparts: This Settlement may be executed in counterparts (including facsimile and electronic transmission counterparts), each of which will be deemed an original but all of which together constitute one and the same instrument and shall be effective against a Party or Additional Released Party upon approval of the Settlement by the Bankruptcy Court.

22. Governing Law; Jurisdiction: This Settlement will be exclusively governed by and construed and enforced in accordance with the laws of the State of Delaware, without regard to its conflicts of law principles, and all claims relating to or arising out of this Settlement, or the breach thereof, whether sounding in contract, tort, or otherwise, will likewise be governed by the laws of the State of Delaware, excluding Delaware's conflicts of law principles. The Bankruptcy Court will retain exclusive jurisdiction over all disputes relating to this Settlement.

23. Headings: Paragraph headings included herein are for convenience and shall have no impact whatsoever on the meaning or interpretation of any part of this Settlement.

HERA RELEASE AGREEMENT

This HERA Release Agreement ("HERA Release Agreement") is entered into as of November 21, 2021 by and among Highland Capital Management, L.P., as reorganized debtor ("HCMLP" or the "Debtor"), Patrick Hagaman Daugherty ("Daugherty"), Highland Employee Retention Assets, LLC ("HERA") and Highland ERA Management, LLC ("ERA" and together with HCMLP, and HERA, the "Parties," and individually as a "Party").

WHEREAS, reference is hereby made to the Settlement Agreement (the "Settlement") of even date herewith and attached hereto made and entered into by and between the Debtor, the Highland Claimant Trust, and Daugherty.

WHEREAS, the Settlement settles all of Daugherty's claims against the HCMLP Released Parties, including all claims against the HCMLP Released Parties relating to transfers of assets from HERA.

WHEREAS, the Settlement includes, among other things, the transfer by HCMLP to Daugherty of HCMLP's interests in HERA and ERA.

WHEREAS, under the Settlement such transfer is being made without any liability to any of the HCMLP Released Parties of any type and is conditional on the full release of, and covenant not to sue, each of the HCMLP Released Parties, by and from HERA, ERA, Daugherty and the Daugherty Released Parties.

WHEREAS, neither HERA nor ERA filed proofs of claim in the Bankrupty and have no claims against HCMLP.

WHEREAS, out of an abundance of caution to confirm that HERA, ERA, Daugherty, and the Daugherty Released Parties have no claims against the HCMLP Released Parties, this HERA Release Agreement is being entered into contemporaneously with the Settlement and constitutes an essential part thereof.

WHEREAS, capitalized terms used herein but not otherwise defined herein have the respective meanings set forth in the Settlement.

NOW, THEREFORE, in consideration of the entry into of the Settlement, the transfer of the equity interests in HERA and ERA to Daugherty in accordance with the Settlement, and for other good and valuable consideration, including the provisions set forth herein, the parties hereto further agree as follows:

1. Upon entry of an order of the Bankruptcy Court approving this Settlement and to the maximum extent permitted by law, Daugherty, on behalf of himself and each of the Daugherty Additional Release Parties, together with each of HERA and ERA (Daugherty, the Daugherty Additional Release Parties, HERA and ERA shall be collectively referred to herein as the "HERA Releasing Parties"), each hereby forever, finally, fully, unconditionally, and completely releases, relieves, acquits, remises, and exonerates, and covenants never to sue, any of the HCMLP Released Parties for and from any and all claims, debts, liabilities, demands, obligations, promises, acts, agreements, liens, losses, costs and expenses (including, without limitation, attorney's fees and related costs), damages, injuries, suits, actions, and causes of action of whatever kind or nature, whether known or unknown, suspected or unsuspected, matured or unmatured, liquidated or unliquidated, contingent or fixed, at law or in equity, statutory or otherwise, including without limitation those which were or could have been asserted in the Bankruptcy, including the Adversary Proceeding, the Texas Action, the Daugherty Claim, Highland Delaware Case, or the HERA Delaware Case (collectively, "Claims"), in each case that in any way arise from or otherwise in any way relate to HERA or ERA, including, without limitation, any actual or potential claims, whether known or unknown, in any way related to or arising out of the formation, management, operation or assets of HERA, ERA or any of their respective predecessors or successors, including the transfer of any assets to or from HERA or ERA, it being understood that all remaining assets of HERA have been transferred to HCMLP prior to the date hereof, and in addition to the releases set forth above, each of the HERA Releasing Parties irrevocably waives and releases and covenants not to sue with respect to any Claims against any of the HCMLP Released Parties in any way related to any such transfers or assets, whether in personam with respect to the HCMLP Released Parties or in rem with respect to any of their assets (collectively, the "HERA Released Claims") or any other Disposition.

2. This Release constitutes a part of, and is supplemental to, the provisions of the Settlement.

In witness whereof, the parties hereto, intending to be legally bound, have executed this HERA Release Agreement as of the date set forth above.

AGREED MOTION TO PARTIALLY VACATE THE FINAL JUDGMENT DATED JULY 14, 2014

TO THE HONORABLE JUDGE OF SAID COURT:

Plaintiff Highland Capital Management, LP ("Highland") and Defendant Patrick Daugherty ("Daugherty" and together with Highland, the "Parties") file this Agreed Motion to Partially Vacate the Final Judgment dated July 14, 2014 (the "Motion"), and respectfully show the following:

1. On July 14, 2014, this Court entered a Final Judgment (the "Judgment") that, among other things, granted Highland's motion for injunctive relief against Daugherty.

2. The Judgment was amended on March 23, and June 23, 2017.

3. On October 16, 2019, filed a petition under chapter 11 in the United States Bankruptcy Court for the District of Delaware ("Highland's Bankruptcy Case"). On October 24,

2019, as a result of the commencement of Highland's Bankruptcy Case, the Supreme Court of Texas issued an order abating a related case that Daugherty had brought in that court, Case No. 19-0758. Highland's Bankruptcy Case was subsequently transferred to the United States Bankruptcy Court for the Northern District of Texas.

4. Daugherty asserted certain claims against Highland in Highland's Bankruptcy Case. The Parties have fully and finally resolved their disputes pursuant to a settlement agreement (the "Settlement Agreement") reached in the Highland Bankruptcy Case pursuant to which, among other things, (a) all of Daugherty's known and unknown claims against each of the Highland Released Parties (as those terms are defined in the Settlement Agreement) are resolved, and (b) this Motion seeking the vacatur of certain provisions of the Judgment specifically set forth below is being filed.

5. Highland and Daugherty hereby agree and stipulate that the Court has plenary power to issue an order granting this Motion because the Court retained authority to enforce the permanent injunction rendered in the Judgment, and that changed circumstances have now arisen such that the Court should dissolve the permanent injunction. Highland and Daugherty further agree and stipulate that this Motion shall be treated as an agreement of the Parties pursuant to Texas Rule of Civil Procedure 11, and is fully enforceable. See Coale v. Scott, 331 S.W.3d 829, 831-32 (Tex. App.—Amarillo 2011, no pet.) ("Irrespective of whether a trial court lost its plenary jurisdiction over its judgment, the trial court's authority to approve a Rule 11 agreement does not depend on whether it has such jurisdiction.").

6. Highland and Daugherty agree that the following portions of the Judgment shall be vacated pursuant to their settlement in the Highland Bankruptcy:

a. The second full paragraph on Page 2 of the Judgment, which begins "The Court, after considering the jury's findings regarding Daugherty's breaches of contract and breaches of fiduciary duty . . .";

b. The permanent injunction rendered against Daugherty in the third full paragraph on Page 2 of the Judgment, which begins "It is therefore further ORDERED that Daugherty be and hereby is commanded to cease and desist from . . .";

c. The fourth and fifth full paragraphs on Page 2 of the Judgment awarding Highland a monetary judgment against Daugherty for reasonable and necessary attorney's fees, as well as post-judgment interest on that award[1]; and

d. The jury's answers to Questions 1, 2, 5, 6, 9 and 12 in the Verdict, which was attached as Exhibit 1 to the Judgment.

7. Highland and Daugherty further agree that, as a result of the vacation of the permanent injunction in the Judgment, Highland hereby withdraws any pending motions to show cause or motions for contempt against Daugherty that allege Daugherty violated or is violating the permanent injunction. Highland also agrees not to seek to enforce the permanent injunction in any manner in the future.

[1] Daugherty previously satisfied the monetary judgment awarded to Highland, and Highland filed a release of the monetary judgment. Although Highland and Daugherty have agreed to vacate the monetary judgment awarded to Highland, Daugherty waives and relinquishes any right or claim to recover any amount previously paid in satisfaction of the Judgment and Highland shall not be required to reimburse Daugherty for his prior satisfaction of the monetary judgment. To the extent Daugherty is entitled to indemnification for any liabilities, losses, and damages allegedly incurred by him for actions taken in connection with Highland's business, including the liabilities Daugherty allegedly incurred in connection with this action and the Judgment, such indemnification claims have been fully and finally satisfied and resolved under the Settlement Agreement.

8. Concurrent with the filing of this Motion, Daugherty will file a motion to dismiss his as-yet unfiled petition for review pending before the Supreme Court of Texas under Case No. 19-0758.

9. Highland and Daugherty further agree that any portions of the Judgment that are not specifically vacated pursuant to this Motion shall remain in full force and effect.

WHEREFORE, Highland and Daugherty pray that the Court grant this Motion in its entirety, and for all further relief, at law or in equity, the Court deems necessary.

Re: Field Examiners' Proposed Tax Adjustments – 2008 Tax Year
Highland Capital Management, L.P.

Dear Patrick,

As previously advised, a team of IRS field examiners ("Exam") conducted an audit of the 2008 partnership tax return filed on behalf of Highland Capital Management, L.P. ("Highland"). Exam concluded their audit and have proposed an adjustment to the 2008 return.

We have enclosed with this letter the following items: (a) IRS Form 886-Z except -A, and (b) IRS Form 870-PT. At this time, no action on your part is required with respect to these documents unless you wish to agree to Exam's proposed adjustments – which we do not recommend.

Exam has scheduled a closing conference on March 2, 2018. You do not need to attend the closing conference. Please let us know by the close of business on February 15, 2018 if you wish to attend. Highland will handle the closing conference (unless waived) and appeal the proposed adjustment to the IRS Appeals Office after the conference.

Please contact me at 972-419-4438 if you have any questions.

Regards,

Brian Collins

Form 870-PT (Rev. 4-2012) For partnership taxable years ending after August 5, 1997	Department of the Treasury — Internal Revenue Service Agreement for Partnership Items and Partnership Level Determinations as to Penalties, Additions to Tax, and Additional Amounts	IN REPLY REFER TO:

Taxpayer(s) name(s), address and zip code:	Name of Partnership:	Tax Year(s) Ended:
Daugherty, Patrick 3621 Cornell Ave. Dallas, TX 75205	Highland Capital Management EIN: 75-2716725	12/31/2008
TIN: 452-94-7373	Name of Tax Matters Partner: Strand Advisors, Inc.

Offer of Agreement to Partnership Items and Partnership Level Determinations as to Penalties, Additions to Tax, and Additional Amounts & Waiver of Restrictions on Assessment for Partnership Items, Penalties, Additions to Tax, and Additional Amounts

Under the provisions of sections 6224(c) and 7121 of the Internal Revenue Code (IRC), the Commissioner of the Internal Revenue Service and the undersigned taxpayer(s) agree to the determination of partnership items and partnership level determinations as to penalties, additions to tax, and additional amounts that relate to adjustments to partnership items as shown on the attached Schedule of Adjustments.

The undersigned taxpayer(s), in accordance with IRC sections 6224(b) and 6213(d), also waive(s) the restrictions provided by IRC sections 6225(a) and 6213(a) and consent(s) to the assessment and collection of any deficiency attributable to partnership items, penalties, additions to tax, and additional amounts that relate to partnership items, as set forth in the attached Schedule of Adjustments (plus any interest provided by law). IRC Section 6651 late filing penalty applies to any late filed (or non-filed) returns that are required to report the partnership item adjustments.

This agreement is conditional and will not become effective or final until this agreement form is returned to the Commissioner and is signed on his or her behalf. The one-year extension of the period of limitations on assessments under IRC section 6229(f) will not begin to run until the date the Commissioner's representative signs this form on the Commissioner's behalf. If this is a partial agreement, the period of limitations for assessing any tax attributable to the settled items shall be determined as if this agreement had not been entered into.

If this part of this agreement form is signed for the Commissioner, the treatment of partnership items and partnership level determinations as to penalties, additions to tax and additional amounts that relate to adjustments to partnership items under this agreement will not be reopened in the absence of fraud, malfeasance, or misrepresentation of fact. In addition, no claim for an adjustment of partnership items, refund or credit based on any change in the treatment of partnership items or partnership level determinations as to penalties, additions to tax, and additional amounts may be filed or prosecuted.

Once the taxpayer signs such a waiver and it is countersigned by the Commissioner, the taxpayer cannot file an Administrative Adjustment Request (AAR) on any partnership items for the related TEFRA entity. This includes partnership items not specifically addressed on the attached Schedule of Adjustments.

INSTRUCTIONS FOR SIGNING FORM 870-PT

1. Sign the agreement if you wish to agree to the partnership items and partnership level determinations as to penalties, additions to tax, and additional amounts, as shown on the attached Schedule of Adjustments. The execution and filing of this offer will expedite the adjustment of tax liability.

2. If a JOINT RETURN OF A HUSBAND AND WIFE was filed and both spouses intend to agree, both spouses should sign Form 870-PT. One spouse may sign as agent for the other if acting under a power of attorney, which, if not previously filed, must accompany this form. The IRS may accept the signature of only one spouse at its discretion. However, the agreement will only be binding on the signing spouse.

3. If the taxpayer is a corporation, the agreement should be signed with the corporate name followed by the signature and title of the officer authorized to sign Form 870-PT.

4. Your attorney or agent may sign for you if this action is specifically authorized by a power of attorney, which if not previously filed, must accompany this form.

5. If this offer is signed by a trust, the agreement must be signed with the trust name, followed by the signature and title of the person authorized to sign on behalf of the trust. If the trustee is signing this agreement on behalf of the trust and all beneficiaries, a Form 56 must be signed by the trustee. If an individual beneficiary is signing the agreement to bind themselves to the agreement, no Form 56 is needed.

6. If the partner is an LLC, the agreement should be signed by the manager of the LLC or other authority as authorized by State law. The signature line should show: [Name of LLC], by [Name of Manager], Followed by the title [Manager].

7. For a partner who is a subsidiary corporation in a consolidated group:

   - If the agreement is for a partnership year(s) ending on or before the last day of a consolidated return year beginning before June 28, 2002, the agreement should be signed by a currently authorized officer of the corporation who was the common parent corporation of the consolidated group for the relevant consolidated return year(s). The common parent corporation signs the agreement in its own name. The signature and title of a current officer of the common parent corporation, who is authorized to bind the common parent corporation, should be displayed in the signature block. See Treas. Reg. § 1.1502-77A(a).

   - If the agreement is for a partnership year(s) ending on or before the last day of a consolidated return year beginning on or after June 28, 2002, then a currently authorized officer of the subsidiary corporation should sign the agreement and should do so in the name of the subsidiary corporation. See Treas. Reg. § 1.1502-77(a)(6)(iii). The signature and title of a current officer of the subsidiary corporation, who is authorized to bind the corporation, should be displayed in the signature block. The agreement should also be signed by a currently authorized officer of the corporation who was the common parent corporation of the consolidated group for the relevant consolidated return year(s). The signature and title of a current officer of the common parent corporation, who is authorized to bind the common parent corporation, should also be displayed in the signature block.

8. For a partner who is the common parent corporation of a consolidated group, a currently authorized officer of the corporation who was the common parent corporation of the consolidated group for such consolidated return year(s) should sign the agreement in the name of the common parent corporation. See Treas. Reg. § 1.1502-77(a).

9. If the Tax Matters Partner signs this offer, please include the title with the signature.

10. If the Tax Matters Partner is a subsidiary corporation in a consolidated group:

    - If the agreement is for a partnership year(s) ending on or before the last day of a consolidated return year beginning before June 28, 2002, then a currently authorized officer of the corporation who was the common parent corporation of the consolidated group for such consolidated return year should sign the agreement on behalf of the Tax Matters Partner. The signature and title of a current officer of the common parent corporation, who is authorized to bind the common parent corporation, should be displayed in the signature block. See Treas. Reg. § 1.1502-77A(a). An authorized officer for the subsidiary corporation should also sign if it, as the Tax Matters Partner, is binding non-notice partners under the agreement. The signature and title of a current officer of the subsidiary corporation, who is authorized to bind the corporation, should be displayed in the signature block

    - If the agreement is for a partnership year(s) ending on or before the last day of a consolidated return year beginning on or after June 28, 2002, then a currently authorized officer of the subsidiary corporation should sign the agreement in the name of the subsidiary corporation. See Treas. Reg. § 1.1502-77(a)(3)(v). The agreement should also be signed by a currently authorized officer of the corporation who was the common parent corporation of the consolidated group for the relevant consolidated return year(s). The signature and title of a current officer of the common parent corporation, who is authorized to bind the common parent corporation, should also be displayed in the signature block.

NOTE: The submission of this offer by you and the acceptance of the offer for the Commissioner may result in an additional tax liability to you plus interest as provided by law. If the result is a decrease in tax, the amount of the decrease will be sent to you with interest as provided by law.

WEBEX HEARINGS – CONNECTION INSTRUCTIONS

Please connect at least 10 minutes prior to the hearing time using one of the two options below. It is recommended that attorneys discuss the logistics of the WebEx appearance with their clients/witnesses at least 48 hours prior to the hearing.

Option 1: Using the WebEx app on your smartphone, tablet, laptop, or desktop.

- It is strongly preferred that participants who wish to speak during a hearing use the WebEx application rather than using the "call-in" option described in Option 2.
- Attorneys offering legal argument or conducting examination and all witnesses are required to utilize the video function. The Court may consider special requests for other appearance options on a case-by-case basis.
- Please connect using only one device. Using two or more devices may cause audio feedback issues.
- If using a smartphone or tablet for video, it should be set in a stationary position. Holding a phone or tablet in your hand while speaking does not yield a good video for the Court or other participants.

NOTE: If you are experiencing audio issues when using the WebEx application, you may use the "Call Me" selection under "Audio Connection" to move just the audio portion of the WebEx conference to your telephone.

Option 2: Call-in via phone (audio only).
The meeting number/access code and dial-in number can be found on the attached WebEx Connection Information. Please use *6 or the mute function on your smartphone to mute your line.

HELPFUL HINTS AND ETIQUETTE

• Please use the mute function when you are not speaking. Please be aware that sometimes the Court mutes everyone when there is background noise. When you want to speak, make sure you are not muted. Call-in users should dial *6 to unmute your line.

• Remember to state your name for the record each time before speaking and speak slowly and clearly so the Court can get a good record. Also, use your proper name on your device or for your WebEx login when participating over video, so that the Court can more easily determine who is speaking.

• Use headphones whenever possible, especially if using a desktop PC with external speakers. We have found that newer iPhones provide the best visual and audio feed – better than most desktop computers. If you are on a personal computer, headphones or earbuds are required for those who need to speak during the hearing.

• During examination, attorneys and witnesses should use a separate camera and microphone when possible. To avoid feedback, parties using separate devices must not be in the same room. The Court may consider special requests on a case-by-case basis.

• WebEx participants may use the "share" button to easily share their screen or document with the Court or other WebEx participants. Press “stop sharing” to remove the presentation from the meeting.

• When making an appearance from a vehicle, please park in a safe location with windows rolled up (to minimize background distraction and noise) and use a headset that is ear-to-phone (not the vehicle’s hands-free speaker-phone option).

• Suggestions for participating in a WebEx hearing from home: If you are having connectivity problems, turn off devices that may be using bandwidth on your home network. Devices or applications such as Facetime, Roku, streaming media players, video games, or large downloads can negatively impact the audio and video quality of the WebEx meeting.

• Participants are reminded that they should wear attire suitable for court.

• Participants who wish to test their WebEx connection or the share screen functionality in advance of the hearing may arrange a “practice run” by contacting the courtroom deputy at sgj_settings@txnb.uscourts.gov.

EXHIBITS AND DEMONSTRATIVE AIDS

Exhibits should be filed ahead of time by the date that they would normally be exchanged pursuant to our local rules using the "notice" or "list (witness/exhibit/generic)" event in ECF, with a true and correct copy of each designated exhibit filed as a separate, individual attachment, so that the Court and all participants have ready access to all designated exhibits. For voluminous exhibits, please provide the Court with two exhibit notebooks in advance of the hearing. For any witness who is to be called to testify remotely, the party calling the witness is responsible for supplying the witness or counsel, as appropriate, with paper copies of all designated exhibits prior to the hearing.
Demonstrative aids and PowerPoints should also be filed prior to the hearing, if possible. If not, WebEx has the ability to allow you to share your screen, or a particular document, with everyone in the hearing. If these documents are admitted as exhibits, they would then have to be filed after the hearing.

PATRICK DAUGHERTY'S (A) REPLY IN SUPPORT OF HIS MOTION TO DISMISS AND (B) RESPONSE TO PLAINTIFF'S CROSS MOTION FOR RELIEF FROM A FINAL ORDER PURSUANT TO BANKRUPTCY RULE 9024

Defendant Patrick Daugherty ("Daugherty") files this Reply in support of his Motion to Dismiss Plaintiff's Complaint pursuant to Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 12(b)(6) (incorporated herein by Fed. R. Bankr. P. 7012(b)) for failure to state a claim upon which relief may be granted, and this Response to Plaintiff's Cross Motion for Relief from a Final Order Pursuant to Bankruptcy Rule 9024.

I. SUMMARY

1. Plaintiff's Objection is a tortured, and ultimately unsuccessful, attempt to avoid the terms of the Settlement Agreement it voluntarily negotiated. It also fails to credibly contest the unambiguous admissions in Plaintiff's Complaint: that the IRS Audit Dispute[2] remains unresolved. In fact, the Objection does not even argue the Complaint's factual allegations plead a cognizable claim for relief.

2. Tellingly, the Objection fails to keep Plaintiff's story straight. At one point Plaintiff admits Daugherty's Reserved Claim is still "unresolved at this time[.]" See Highland Capital Management, L.P.'s (A) Objection to Partick Daugherty's Motion to Dismiss and (B) Cross Motion for Relief From a Final Order Pursuant to Bankruptcy Rule 9024 [Docket No. 10] (the "Objection") at ¶ 5. In other parts of the Objection, Plaintiff claims the IRS may have made a final determination. Id. at ¶ 2 (stating Plaintiff "believes" the IRS made a final determination); id. at ¶ 15 (asserting Plaintiff recently found "information suggesting" the IRS made a final determination). In support, Plaintiff relies on its own records to contend the final determination occurred three years before Plaintiff and Daugherty entered into the Settlement Agreement.

3. Plaintiff's fumbling attempt to characterize the IRS's final determination (or not) of the IRS Audit Dispute is a tacit concession that the Stay Provision of the Settlement Agreement controls. A fact bolstered by Plaintiff's complete failure to answer a simple, logical question: if the IRS had issued a final determination in 2018, then what was the need to reserve the claim in the Settlement Agreement?

4. Realizing its argument lacks a supportable premise, Plaintiff pivots to a Hail Mary: a cross-motion asking the Court to relieve Plaintiff from the Stay Provision in its bargained-for Settlement Agreement.[3] The Court should reject this request for several reasons. The parties clearly contemplated at the time they entered into the Settlement Agreement that final resolution of the IRS Audit Dispute was indeterminate. Plaintiff's failure to negotiate an end-date in the Settlement Agreement is its own fault. Plaintiff also claims the current circumstances were "unforeseen."[4] Mutual mistake, however, is not an "extraordinary circumstance" that justifies Court intervention under Rule 60(b)(6). Most importantly, Plaintiff obtained the benefits of the Stay Provision via multiple tolling agreements that extended Plaintiff's deadline to object to Daugherty's Reserved Claim. Plaintiff is therefore estopped from now trying to eliminate the same provision in the Settlement Agreement. Accordingly, Plaintiff's cross-motion should be denied, and the Complaint dismissed.

[3] Indeed, supporting the bargained-for nature of the settlement, in seeking court-approval of the Settlement Agreement, Plaintiff stated: "[T]he Settlement agreement was unquestionably negotiated at arm's length. The Terms of the settlement are the result of numerous, ongoing discussions and negotiations between the parties and represent neither party's 'best case scenario.'" [Main Case Docket No. 3088 at ¶ 48].

[4] Plaintiff's claim is problematic given the Court's comments during the parties' November 17, 2020 hearing on Daugherty's Motion for Temporary Allowance of Claim for Voting Purposes [Main Case Docket No. 1281 in Case 19-34054-sgj], where the Court commented with respect to Daugherty's Reserved Claim: "down the road we may get to a point where it's not contingent, the IRS has finished doing what it's going to do, and we may get to a point where we think the result is appropriate." [Main Case Docket No. 1426 in Case 19-34054-sgj at 85:16-19]. While that point in time has yet to come, it is hardly something "unforeseen." [See also generally id. at 46:16-48:22].

II. LEGAL STANDARD

5. To survive a motion to dismiss under Rule 12(b)(6), Plaintiff must assert a theory that could entitle it to relief. Fed. R. Civ. P. 12(b)(6). In support of that theory, a complaint must allege "sufficient factual matter" that, taken as true, "state[s] a claim for relief [that] is plausible on its face." Ashcroft v. Iqbal, 556 U.S. 662, 678 (2009). Plaintiff must establish more than a "sheer possibility that a defendant has acted unlawfully." Id. This Court need not accept as true legal conclusions or conclusory factual allegations. Id. "[W]hen the allegations in a complaint, however true, could not raise a claim of entitlement to relief, this basic deficiency should be exposed at the point of minimum expenditure of time and money by the parties and the court." U.S. ex rel. Bennett v. Medtronic, Inc., 747 F. Supp. 2d 745, 761 (S.D. Tex. 2010) (quoting Cuvillier v. Taylor, 503 F.3d 397, 401 (5th Cir. 2007)) (cleaned up).

III. ARGUMENT

A. The Complaint still fails to allege a plausible claim.

6. Plaintiff first contends that it "recently also found information suggesting that the 'IRS [made] a final determination with respect to the IRS audit dispute.'" Objection at ¶ 15. It points to three documents from Plaintiff's own records that were purportedly sent to Daugherty on or about February 3, 2018. Id. at ¶ 16 and Morris Exhibits 2-4. This argument fails for multiple reasons.[5]

[5] The Court also should decline to consider Morris Exhibits 2-4 because they are used in a manner inconsistent with the Complaint's factual allegations. While a plaintiff "has much more flexibility in opposing a Rule 12(b)(6) motion," any elaborations or extrinsic evidence must be consistent with the pleadings. Kinnie Ma Indiv. Retirement Acct. v. Ascendant Capital, LLC, Cause No. 1:19-CV-1050-LY, 2021 WL 11962856, at *1 (W.D. Tex. Aug. 25, 2021) (quoting Geinosky v. City of Chicago, 675 F.3d 743, 745 n. 1 (7th Cir. 2012)). The Complaint alleges the IRS Audit is not final. Plaintiff attempts to use the Morris Exhibits 2-4 to argue that the exact opposite. Notwithstanding the

7. First, Plaintiff's letter to Daugherty makes clear that the "IRS field examiners" did not reach a "final determination". Rather, they simply "proposed an adjustment" to Plaintiff's 2008 tax return. Morris Exhibit 2. The letter also makes clear that Plaintiff and Daugherty could accept or reject the proposed adjustment — and Plaintiff recommended Daugherty not agree to the proposed adjustments. Id. Moreover, the letter states that Plaintiff would "handle the closing conference . . . and appeal the proposed adjustment to the IRS Appeals Office after the conference." Id. Nothing in the letter or IRS forms establishes that the IRS had made a "final determination" with respect to the IRS audit dispute.

8. Second, Plaintiff argues the February 2018 letter and attached IRS forms suggest the IRS reached a final determination. But that argument is belied by the November 2021 Settlement Agreement. The parties expressly provided that Daugherty's Reserved Claim "shall be stayed until the IRS makes a final determination with respect to the IRS Audit Dispute." Settlement Agreement at ¶ 9. If the IRS had already made a final determination in February 2018, then there would be no need for Plaintiff and Daugherty to include the Stay Provision in the Settlement Agreement.

9. The parties' effectuation of the Settlement Agreement also acknowledged the IRS audit was not final. On July 27, 2022, the parties entered a Tolling Agreement Extending Claim Objection Deadline. [Main Case Docket No. 4255-60 in Case 19-34054-sgj].[6] The parties contradiction, the Court also has discretion not to consider matters outside the pleadings that are submitted in opposition to a 12(b)(6) motion. Tremont LLC v. Halliburton Energy Servs., Inc., 696 F.Supp.2d 741, 751 (S.D. Tex. 2010).

[6] As Daugherty pointed out in his Motion to Dismiss, the Court may take judicial notice of its own records. E.g., Biliouris as next friend of Biliouris v. Patman, 751 Fed. App'x 603, 604 (5th Cir. 2019)("court may take judicial notice of the record in prior related proceedings"); ITT Rayonier Inc. v. U.S., 651 F.2d 343, 345 n.2 (5th Cir. 1981)("court may… take judicial notice of its own records…"). Daugherty respectfully requests the Court take judicial notice of the Tolling Agreement filed by Plaintiff in the Main Case at Docket No. 4255-60 as it considers this Motion to Dismiss.

included recitals in the Tolling Agreement that there was an "absence of a resolution of the IRS Dispute" and "it is unknown when the IRS Dispute may be resolved". Id. at 4. Over the next three years the parties entered into three amendments to the Tolling Agreement. None of those amendments changed the characterization of the IRS Audit Dispute as unresolved. [Main Case Docket Nos. 4255-61 through 4255-63 in Case 19-34054-sgj].

10. Finally, the Objection fails to "wade into the thicket of arcane tax regulations" that eviscerate Plaintiff's argument. Objection at ¶ 3. Daugherty's Motion to Dismiss clearly explained how the IRS' proposed adjustment was not a final determination. Motion to Dismiss at ¶¶ 8-13. Plaintiff's intentional decision not to address those arguments is a tacit admission that the detailed explanation of the audit process in Daugherty's response established there was no final determination. The motion to dismiss did not, as Plaintiff claims, present meaningless arcane rules, or a thicket for the Court to wade through, but a clear legal standard that a dispute cannot be final until the allowed judicial review is concluded. These are established standards that both parties were aware of at the time of settlement. Any alleged inconvenience was known and accounted for by the parties during settlement negotiations and the resulting agreement.

11. In sum, the extrinsic evidence attached to Plaintiff's Objection fails to illustrate that the Complaint alleges any facts which give rise to plausible claims for relief against Daugherty. The Complaint and the Objection show Plaintiff filed this adversary proceeding before a final determination in the IRS Audit Dispute. As a result, all claims against Daugherty should be dismissed without prejudice pursuant to the Settlement Agreement.

B. Plaintiff's meritless Rule 60(b)(6) cross-motion should be denied.

i. Plaintiff improperly asks the Court to rewrite the parties' negotiated Settlement Agreement.

12. Rule 60(b)(6) is a "grand reservoir of equitable power" only when its use is necessary "to accomplish justice." Seven Elves, Inc. v. Eskenazi, 635 F.2d 396, 401 (5th Cir. 1981). Moreover, a motion for relief from a judgment is generally not favored and should only be granted upon a showing of exceptional circumstances. United States v. Int'l Bhd. of Teamsters, 247 F.3d 370, 391 (2nd Cir. 2001). Consistent with these principles, motions to reform or nullify settlements are disfavored precisely because settlements represent the parties' negotiated allocation of risk. See Cashner v. Freedom Stores, Inc., 98 F.3d 572, 580 (10th Cir. 1996) (denying 60(b)(6) motion when "[d]efendants made a free, counseled, deliberate choice whose consequences in hindsight are unfortunate.") (citing Pelican Prod. Corp. v. Marino, 893 F.2d 1143, 1147 (10th Cir.1990)). Whatever inconvenience Plaintiff now faces is a direct consequence of a contractual risk it willingly accepted. Rule 60(b)(6) does not permit the Court to rescue a sophisticated party from the predictable results of its own bargain. Yesh Music v. Lakewood Church, 727 F.3d 356, 363 (5th Cir. 2013) ("Rule 60(b)(6) relief will not be used to relieve a party from the free, calculated, and deliberate choices he has made."); S.E.C. v. Conradt, 309 F.R.D. 186, 187-88 (S.D.N.Y. 2015) (refusing to utilized Rule 60(b)(6) to vacate defendants' settlement agreements that resulted in consent judgments after defendants' guilty pleas in a parallel proceeding were vacated).

13. Here, the Stay Provision was an integral term of a comprehensive, court-approved Settlement Agreement that resolved years-old disputes and provided Daughterty with certainty that he would not be forced to litigate until after the IRS Audit Dispute reached a final determination. Settlement Agreement, ¶ 9. Indeed, Plaintiff previously lauded the Settlement Agreement as fair and reasonable when it sought approval of the same. [See e.g., Main Case Docket No. 3088 at ¶¶ 41-48]. This Court also "found the Settlement Agreement fair and equitable". [Main Case Docket No. 3298 at 2]. Now Plaintiff asks the Court to ignore that finding and write out an essential term of the parties' agreement to avoid the consequence of its bargain.

14. However, the Settlement Agreement's terms and the parties' subsequent tolling agreements establish the parties clearly anticipated the possibility—if not, the likelihood—that the IRS Audit Dispute could drag on for years. Plaintiff could have negotiated a temporal backstop, but it did not. Instead, Plaintiff reserved all defenses while agreeing that "any litigation…shall be stayed" until the IRS reaches a final determination. Settlement Agreement, ¶ 9.

ii. Rule 60(b)(6) should only be utilized in the face of manifest injustice and extraordinary circumstances—not to relieve Plaintiff of its obligations under a court-approved Settlement Agreement.

15. Relief under Rule 60(b)(6) "requires a showing of manifest injustice and extraordinary circumstances." Yesh Music, F.3d at 363; see also Liljeberg v. Health Servs. Acquisition Corp., 486 U.S. 847, 864 (1988) (Rule 60(b)(6) should only be applied in "extraordinary circumstances"). "[E]xtraordinary circumstances rarely exist when a party seeks relief from a judgment that resulted from the party's deliberate choices." Budget Blinds, Inc. v. White, 536 F.3d 244, 255 (3rd Cir. 2008). It is clear that a party who is simply trying to escape the effects of a bargain it regretted in hindsight has not demonstrated exceptional circumstances sufficient to warrant relief under Rule 60(b)(6). Coltec Indus., Inc. v. Hobgood, 280 F.3d 262, 273 (3rd Cir. 2002).

16. Plaintiff claims "no one foresaw" the IRS may require more than five years to make a final determination when the Settlement Agreement was negotiated.[7] Objection at ¶ 5. And now, Plaintiff complains that dissolving the estate may take longer than it anticipated at the time Plaintiff entered into the Settlement Agreement. However, Plaintiff's failure does not amount to an extraordinary circumstance. To the contrary, Plaintiff's arguments show that it is trying to escape the effects of a bargain it now regrets in hindsight.[8] Daugherty should not bear the consequences of Plaintiff's regret,[9] nor should the Court cosign Plaintiff's attempt to circumvent the parties' Settlement Agreement.

iii. Equitable considerations defeat Plaintiff's bid to rewrite a deal from which it has already benefited.

17. Equity runs in Daugherty's favor. After the Court entered the Settlement Order, Plaintiff repeatedly invoked the Settlement Agreement to secure four separate tolling agreements, thereby extending its claim-objection deadline from August 11, 2023, to June 30, 2025. (Main Case Docket Nos. 4255-60 through 4255–63). Plaintiff cannot accept those substantial benefits and now disavow the agreement that enabled them. The doctrine of judicial estoppel prevents a party from "playing fast and loose with the courts" by taking inconsistent positions in successive

[7] To the extent Plaintiff now characterizes the Stay Provision as a "mutual mistake" (or even a "unilateral mistake") that contention is legally irrelevant. Fifth Circuit precedent makes clear that "mistake or inadvertence" is covered by subsections (1)–(3) of Rule 60(b), and must be raised within one year. Fed. R. Civ. P. 60(c)(1); Seven Elves, 635 F.2d at 401–02; see also Pioneer Inv. Servs. Co. v. Brunswick Assocs. Ltd. P'ship, 507 U.S. 380, 393 (1993) (Rule 60(b)(1) covers mistake, inadvertence, surprise, or excusable neglect, and is subject to a one-year limitation). Plaintiff's motion—filed more than three years after the Settlement Order—comes far too late under those provisions and cannot be bootstrapped into subsection (6).

[8] This is particularly concerning, because Plaintiff previously stated, "the Settlement Agreement should be approved as a rational exercise of the Reorganized Debtor's business judgment made after due deliberation of the facts and circumstances concerning Daugherty's Claim." [See e.g., Main Case Docket No. 3088 at ¶ 48 (emphasis added)].

[9] Notably, at any time, Plaintiff could have negotiated an agreeable amendment to the Settlement Agreement with Daugherty to address its concerns. Instead, it chose to leave Daugherty in the dark and file this improper and meritless Adversary Proceeding in violation of the same.

proceedings. New Hampshire v. Maine, 532 U.S. 742, 749 (2001) (judicial estoppel prevents a party from prevailing in one phase of a case on an argument and then relying on a contradictory argument to prevail in another phase). Having treated the Stay Provision as valid and enforceable for years, Plaintiff is estopped from contending otherwise now—especially since Plaintiff has reaped other substantive benefits under the Settlement Agreement.

18. Moreover, Daugherty relied on the Stay Provision when entering those tolling agreements, to set it aside now would be manifestly prejudicial. In equity, the Court should consider that the current position of the parties is a direct result of their bargaining and refuse to tilt the scale in Plaintiff's favor.

iv. Plaintiff's cross-motion lacks authority and should be denied.

19. Every authority that Plaintiff relies on in its Objection involves either (i) default judgments or (ii) impossibility caused by events wholly outside the parties' contractual framework—not an attempt to rewrite a settlement term chosen by the parties.

20. For example, in Seven Elves, relief was granted where defendants never received notice of trial and a $250,000 default judgment was entered. 635 F.2d at 399. Unlike here, there was no negotiated settlement, and the movants had no opportunity to present their case. In Celtic Marine Corp. v. James C. Justice Companies, Inc., 593 F. App'x 300 (5th Cir. 2014), the court merely reduced the post-judgment interest rate because the contract lacked "clear, unambiguous" language. 593 F. App'x 300, 306. To the extent a settlement agreement was involved in the court's 60(b)(6) analysis, the ruling enforced, rather than voided, the settlement agreement. Id. at 302. In Lindy Investments III v. Shakertown 1992, Inc., 360 F. App'x 510 (5th Cir. 2010), the district court vacated a decade-old money judgment where the plaintiffs' own post-judgment conduct—continuing to use allegedly defective shingles—made enforcement inequitable. 360 F. App'x 510.

Again, no settlement existed, and relief merely restored the pre-judgment status quo. In In re Strudel Holdings LLC, 656 B.R. 404 (Bankr. S.D. Tex. 2024), the court extended a real-estate closing deadline because an unforeseen cyberattack on the escrow agent made compliance impossible. 656 B.R. 404. Here, by contrast, the Stay Provision already contemplates a drawn-out IRS process; Plaintiff's "difficulty" is neither unforeseen nor unavoidable.

21. Plaintiff cites these cases to support the general proposition that Rule 60(b)(6) "should be liberally construed" and that courts have broad discretion to grant relief under that provision to accomplish justice. Celtic Marine Corp, 593 F. App'x at 303. But none of these cases authorize a court to excise a bargained-for stay clause simply because one party regrets the timing implication years later. On the contrary, they reinforce that Rule 60(b)(6) is available only when an unanticipated event renders continued enforcement of a judgement manifestly unjust—an entirely different scenario from the one presented here. See Seven Elves, 635 F.2d at 402 (Rule 60(b) should be liberally construed to do substantial justice, but not to disturb the finality of judgments absent compelling circumstances).

22. In sum, the Stay Provision was a material term of a negotiated settlement, its continued enforcement is neither manifestly unjust nor extraordinary. For the foregoing reasons, the Court should hold Plaintiff to its bargain and dismiss the adversary proceeding, or, at a minimum, stay it until the IRS Audit Dispute is fully and finally resolved, exactly as the Settlement Agreement requires.

IV. DISMISSAL SHOULD BE WITHOUT PREJUDICE

23. Plaintiff's tertiary requested relief is for dismissal without prejudice, subject to (a) a further extension of the claim objection deadline through February 1, 2026, and (b) Plaintiff's right to re-file the Complaint between January 1 and 31, 2026 together with a renewed Rule

60(b)(6) motion. Objection at ¶ 25. Daugherty agrees the dismissal should be without prejudice. Daugherty also does not oppose an extension of the claim objection deadline to February 1, 2026. However, Daugherty opposes Plaintiff's request for the right to re-file in January 2026 to the extent that Plaintiff is seeking a ruling that it may file before the IRS makes a final determination. The more appropriate procedure would be for Plaintiff to seek a further extension of the claim objection deadline by February 1, 2026, if necessary.

V. CONCLUSION

24. For the foregoing reasons, the Court should dismiss all claims against Daugherty because the Complaint does not satisfy the Rule 12(b)(6) pleading requirements as it fails to state a claim upon which relief may be granted. Alternatively, the Court should stay this adversary proceeding until the Debtor's IRS Audit Dispute is fully and finally resolved.

Respectfully submitted this 8th day of August 2025.

HIGHLAND CAPITAL MANAGEMENT, L.P.'S REPLY IN FURTHER SUPPORT OF ITS CROSS MOTION FOR RELIEF FROM A FINAL ORDER PURSUANT TO BANKRUPTCY RULE 9024

Highland Capital Management, L.P., the reorganized debtor ("Highland" or the "Debtor" as applicable) in the above-captioned chapter 11 case (the "Bankruptcy Case") and the plaintiff in the above-captioned adversary proceeding (the "Adversary Proceeding"), files this Reply in Further Support of Its Cross Motion for Relief from a Final Order Pursuant to Bankruptcy Rule 9024 (the "Reply") in response to Daugherty's objection to Highland's Cross Motion [Adv. Pro. Docket No. 15] (the "Objection").[2] In further support of its Cross Motion, Highland respectfully states as follows:

REPLY

1. Stripped of its overly aggressive rhetoric, Daugherty's Objection dodges the merits of Highland's Cross Motion, avoiding entirely the unforeseen and extraordinary circumstances that indisputably exist. Daugherty's Motion should be denied, the Cross Motion should be granted, and the parties should be directed to litigate the merits of Highland's objections to Daugherty's Reserved Claim.[3]

2. Daugherty does not seriously dispute that neither the parties nor the Court nor any of Highland's stakeholders (all of whom who had an opportunity to object to the Stay Provision)

[2] Capitalized terms used but not defined herein shall have the meanings ascribed to them in Highland Capital Management, L.P.'s (A) Objection to Patrick Daugherty's Motion to Dismiss, and (B) Cross Motion for Relief from a Final Order Pursuant to Bankruptcy Rule 9024. Adv. Pro. Docket No. 10 (the "Cross Motion").

[3] While Daugherty cites the standard for a motion to dismiss under Rule 12(b)(6) (Objection at 4), he does not challenge any allegation in the Complaint and makes no argument that Highland's causes of action for disallowance, estimation, and subordination lack sufficient factual support. Instead, Daugherty's motion to dismiss is based solely on the Stay Provision. Just as the Court must accept well-pleaded allegations as true for purposes of a motion to dismiss, the Court should also accept as true Highland's well-pleaded allegations concerning the IRS's final determination of the IRS Audit. But the most efficient path forward given the indisputable and extraordinary circumstances that exist is for the Court to grant the Cross Motion, strike the Stay Provision (and avoid collateral litigation over whether the IRS has made a "final determination"), and direct the parties to litigate the merits of Highland's objections.

foresaw in 2021 that Daugherty's Reserved Claim would remain unresolved in 2025 and would—if Daugherty has his way—serve as a barrier to Highland's commencement of the dissolution process and the ultimate conclusion of the Highland bankruptcy case.[4] In fact, Daugherty recently testified that when the parties were negotiating the Settlement Agreement in 2021, Jim Seery's "view was that this thing could get resolved in 2022."[5]

3. Now, Daugherty argues that Highland erred and "should have" negotiated an end date to the Stay Provision. But this argument proves Highland's point: Highland did not make a "mistake" because no one—neither the parties nor the Court nor any of Highland's stakeholders—thought to include an end date because no one foresaw that Daugherty's Reserve Claim would be unresolved four years later and prevent Highland from commencing dissolution. What everyone did foresee is that dissolution was required to begin no later than August 11, 2026—the maximum life of the Claimant Trust. An indefinite stay of the adjudication of Daugherty's Reserved Claim conflicts with the well-known terms of the Plan and Claimant Trust and provides further proof that an open-ended, indefinite stay was not contemplated by anyone.

4. Daugherty also ignores the consequences of his quest for a perpetual stay.[6] This is not a two-party dispute; indefinitely continuing the Highland bankruptcy case until the IRS Dispute is finally resolved—as Daugherty demands even though that is not the standard under the Stay Provision (see Objection ¶ 23)—will have a substantial and adverse impact on all

[4] It is hard to imagine the Bankruptcy Court approved the Stay Provision believing that (a) the IRS might not make a "final determination" of the IRS Audit for five or more years, and (b) the Highland bankruptcy case would remain open indefinitely until, in Daugherty's view, all appeals to every imaginable tribunal have been exhausted. Again, Daugherty doesn't seriously dispute that no one foresaw the current circumstances—which is why "manifest justice" mandates the granting of relief under Rule 60.

[6] The parties dispute whether the IRS has made a "final determination" of the IRS Audit. While Daugherty contends it hasn't, he offers no guidance as to when he believes a "final determination" might be made other than to cite to Highland's recent suggestion that litigation concerning the IRS Audit might not be complete until at least 2029; in fact, in Daugherty's view, the IRS may never make a "final determination." Motion ¶ 14.

stakeholders and the Court by unnecessarily continuing a bankruptcy case at considerable expense for no purpose other than Daugherty's misguided self-interest.[7] In contrast, Daugherty will not be prejudiced because he will simply defend his claim as he would have had Highland moved for estimation under Bankruptcy Code section 502(c)(1) back in 2021.

5. Finally, Daugherty's contention that Highland should be "estopped" from arguing that the IRS made a "final determination" in 2018 because it entered into the Settlement Agreement with the Stay Provision in 2021 is meritless. Highland simply "kicked the can down the road" subject to a reservation of rights. Because Highland is now near the end of the road, and Daugherty moved to dismiss based on the Stay Provision, Highland searched for and identified the documents referenced in the Cross Motion. See Adv. Pro. Docket No. 11, Exhibits 1-4. Daugherty was not prejudiced by the purported "delay" in Highland's pursuit of claims. To the contrary—he benefited from it by gaining four additional years for the IRS Dispute to play out.

CONCLUSION

WHEREFORE, Highland respectfully requests that the Court deny the Motion, grant the Cross Motion, and direct the parties to promptly litigate the Adversary Proceeding to conclusion.

[REMAINDER OF PAGE INTENTIONALLY BLANK]

[7] In addition to avoiding the merits of the Cross Motion, Daugherty also ignored Highland's assertion that Daugherty's maximum underpayment exposure (and therefore the maximum amount of his claim, assuming for the sake of argument only that the Reserved Claim is valid) is $455,000. Cross-Motion ¶ 18. Having already received over $12 million dollars on his Class 8 and Class 9 claims, it is hard to understand Daugherty's motive in spending the time, money, and effort litigating this matter so forcefully (and opposing the recent HMIT settlement and then appealing the Bankruptcy Court's order approving it) with such relatively low stakes.

SETTLEMENT AGREEMENT

This Settlement Agreement (the "Settlement") is made and entered into by and between (i) Highland Capital Management, L.P., as reorganized debtor ("HCMLP" or the "Debtor"), and (ii) Patrick Hagaman Daugherty ("Daugherty" and together with HCMLP, the "Parties," and individually as a "Party"). This Settlement provides for the treatment of certain claims asserted by Daugherty against the Debtor, and for the Parties to take certain other specified actions in settlement thereof.

RECITALS

WHEREAS, on October 16, 2019 (the "Petition Date"), the Debtor filed a voluntary petition for relief under title 11 of the United States Code (the "Bankruptcy Code");

WHEREAS, the Debtor's chapter 11 case (the "Bankruptcy") is pending in the Bankruptcy Court for the Northern District of Texas, Dallas Division (the "Bankruptcy Court");

WHEREAS, on February 2 and 3, 2021, the Court conducted a confirmation hearing with respect to the Fifth Amended Plan of Reorganization of Highland Capital Management, L.P. (as Modified) [Docket No. 1808] (the "Plan");

WHEREAS, on February 8, 2021, the Court rendered an opinion from the bench in which it confirmed the Plan [Docket No. 1924];

WHEREAS, on February 22, 2021, the Court issued an order confirming the Plan [Docket No. 1943];

WHEREAS, on August 11, 2021, the Effective Date (as defined in the Plan) occurred [Docket No. 2700];

WHEREAS, Daugherty is a former employee and limited partner of the Debtor and has served in other positions with affiliates and former affiliates of the Debtor;

WHEREAS, at the time of his resignation, Daugherty owned 19.1% of the preferred units of Highland Employee Retention Assets LLC ("HERA"), an employee deferred compensation vehicle managed by the Debtor and Highland ERA Management, LLC ("ERA") and contends that he owned or had the right to own all of the preferred units of HERA;

WHEREAS, prior to his resignation from HCMLP, Daugherty was awarded units of HERA, which vehicle owned interests in Restoration Capital Partners, LP ("RCP"), an HCMLP managed private equity fund, and other investments;

WHEREAS, in April 2012, the Debtor commenced an action against Daugherty in Texas state court (the "Texas Action"), and Daugherty subsequently asserted counterclaims for breach of contract and defamation, and third-party claims against HERA and others;

WHEREAS, after a three-week trial, the jury returned a verdict partially in favor of the Debtor, but Daugherty prevailed on his claims against the Debtor and James Dondero ("Dondero") for defamation with malice and a third-party claim against HERA and was awarded damages of $2.6 million against HERA, plus prejudgment and post-judgment interest at 5% (the "HERA Judgment");[1]

WHEREAS, in July 2017, after being unable to collect on the HERA Judgment, Daugherty commenced an action against the Debtor, Dondero, HERA, and ERA Management in the Delaware Chancery Court (the "Delaware Court"), in a case captioned Daugherty v. Highland Capital Management, L.P., et al., C.A. No. 2017-0488-MTZ, for fraudulent transfer, promissory estoppel, unjust enrichment, indemnification, and fees on fees (the "Highland Delaware Case");

[1] The Debtor prevailed on its claims against Mr. Daugherty for breach of contract and breach of fiduciary duty for non-monetary damages and obtained an award of $2.8 million in attorney's fees. The HERA Judgment was affirmed on appeal on December 1, 2016.

WHEREAS, the Delaware Court in the Highland Delaware Case (i) found that the Dondero-related defendants improperly withheld dozens of documents in discovery on privilege grounds, and (ii) ruled that there was "a reasonable basis to believe that a fraud has been perpetrated" such that the Delaware Court applied the "crime-fraud exception" to the attorney-client privilege assertion, and such rulings have not been overturned;

WHEREAS, Daugherty asserts that such withholding of documents and the failure to search defendants' and their employees personal electronic devices for stored documents and texts as well as other emails and domain names such as sasmgt.com and gmail.com which were in their possession and control and to provide required discovery injured him by undermining his attempts to build an evidentiary record to support his claims against the Debtor and the other defendants in the Highland Delaware Case;

WHEREAS, on October 14, 2019, the Highland Delaware Case proceeded to trial and two days later, on October 16, 2019, before the completion of the trial and before the Delaware Court ruled on Daugherty's and the Debtor's cross-motions for summary judgment regarding indemnification and fees on fees, the Debtor filed for bankruptcy;

WHEREAS, on December 1, 2019, Daugherty filed a separate lawsuit in the Delaware Court, captioned Daugherty v. Dondero, et al., C.A. No. 2019-0956-MTZ, against Dondero, HERA, ERA, Hunton Andrews Kurth LLP ("Andrews Kurth"), Marc Katz ("Katz"), Michael Hurst ("Hurst"), the Debtor's Chief Compliance Officer, the Debtor's then in-house counsel (Isaac Leventon ("Leventon")), and the Debtor's then general counsel (Scott Ellington ("Ellington")), for conspiracy to commit fraud, among other claims (the "HERA Delaware Case" and together with the Highland Delaware Case, the "Delaware Cases");

WHEREAS, on April 1, 2020, Daugherty filed a general, unsecured, non-priority claim against the Debtor in the amount of at "least $37,483,876.59," and such claim was denoted by the Debtor's claims agent as Proof of Claim No. 67 ("Proof of Claim No. 67");

WHEREAS, on April 6, 2020, Daugherty filed a general, unsecured, non-priority claim against the Debtor in the amount of at "least $37,482,876.62" that superseded Proof of Claim No. 67 and that was denoted by the Debtor's claims agent as Proof of Claim No. 77 ("Proof of Claim No. 77");

WHEREAS, on August 31, 2020, the Debtor commenced an adversary proceeding against Daugherty by filing a complaint (the "Complaint") in which the Debtor: (1) objected to Proof of Claim No. 77 on various grounds (the "Claim Objection"), and (2) asserted a cause of action for the subordination of part of Daugherty's claim pursuant to section 510(b) of the Bankruptcy Code. Adv. Proc. No. 20-03107 (the "Adv. Proc.") [Adv. Docket No. 1] (the "Adversary Proceeding");

WHEREAS, on September 29, 2020, Daugherty filed his answer to the Complaint [Adv. Docket No. 8] (the "Answer");

WHEREAS, on September 24, 2020, Daugherty filed his Motion to Confirm Status of Automatic Stay, or Alternatively to Modify Automatic Stay [Docket No. 1099] (the "Stay Motion") pursuant to which he sought to sever the Debtor from the Highland Delaware Case and then consolidate the remaining claims in the Highland Delaware Case into the HERA Delaware Case and proceed with one case against the non-Debtor parties;[2]

WHEREAS, on October 23, 2020, Daugherty filed a motion seeking leave to amend his Proof of Claim No. 77 [Docket No. 1280] (the "POC Amendment Motion"). The amended proof

[2] On October 8, 2020, the Debtor commenced a second adversary proceeding against Daugherty (the "Second Adversary Proceeding"), seeking to enjoin him from prosecuting the Delaware Cases. Adv. Proc. 20-03128 ("2d Adv. Proc.") [2d Adv. Proc. Docket No. 1]. On January 29, 2021, the parties filed a Settlement that resolved the Second Adversary Proceeding, and the Second Adversary Proceeding was subsequently dismissed with prejudice. [2d Adv. Proc. Docket No. 12].

of claim attached to the POC Amendment Motion increased Daugherty's general, unsecured, non-priority claim against the Debtor to the amount of at "least $40,410,819.42" and sought to supersede Proof of Claim No. 67 and Proof of Claim No. 77;

WHEREAS, on October 23, 2020, Daugherty filed his Motion for Temporary Allowance of Claim for Voting Purposes Pursuant to Bankruptcy Rule 3018 Motion, seeking for his Claim to be temporarily allowed for voting purposes in this amount of $40,410,819.42 [Docket No. 1281] (the "3018 Motion");

WHEREAS, on November 3, 2020, the Court granted the Stay Motion [Docket No. 1327];

WHEREAS, the Debtor opposed the 3018 Motion, and after conducting an evidentiary hearing for the limited purpose of determining the 3018 Motion, the Court entered an order temporarily allowing Daugherty's Claim only for voting purposes in the amount of $9,134,019 [Docket No. 1474];

WHEREAS, on December 10, 2020, the Court entered an order [Docket No. 1533] granting the POC Amendment Motion, and Daugherty was permitted to file an amendment to his proof of claim. On December 23, 2020, Daugherty filed an amended proof of claim, designated by the Debtor's claim agent as Proof of Claim No. 205 ("Proof of Claim No. 205" or the "Daugherty Claim"). Proof of Claim No. 205 superseded Proof of Claim No. 77 and increased the amount of the Daugherty's Claim to $40,710,819.42;

WHEREAS, on November 30, 2020, Daugherty filed his Motion to Lift the Automatic Stay (the "Lift Stay Motion") [Docket No. 1491] seeking to lift the automatic stay to allow him to finish his trial in the Delaware Court and liquidate his claims. The Debtor opposed the Lift Stay Motion, and after a hearing was held on December 17, 2020, the Court denied the relief requested in the Lift Stay Motion [Docket No. 1612];

WHEREAS, except with respect to the Reserved Claim (as defined below), the Parties have agreed to settle and resolve all claims and disputes between them and their respective current affiliates, managed entities, and employees, including the Daugherty Claim, on the terms set forth in this Settlement:

AGREEMENT

NOW, THEREFORE, after good-faith, arms-length negotiations, and in consideration of the foregoing, it is hereby stipulated and agreed that:

1. Allowed Claims: In full satisfaction of the entirety of the Daugherty Claim against the Debtor and HCMLP Released Parties (defined below), excluding the Reserved Claim, Daugherty shall receive (a) an allowed general unsecured Class 8 claim in the amount of $8,250,000; (b) an allowed subordinated general unsecured Class 9 claim in the amount of $3,750,000; and (c) a one-time lump sum cash payment in the amount of $750,000 to be paid within 5 business days of Bankruptcy Court approval of this Settlement Agreement.

2. Recovery: The Debtor makes no representation or warranty as to the recovery on Class 8 or Class 9 claims under the Plan.

3. Observation Access: As soon as practicable following entry of an order of the Bankruptcy Court approving this Settlement, HCMLP shall use reasonable efforts to petition the Claimant Trust Oversight Board[3] to permit Daugherty to have access as an observer to meetings of the Claimant Trust Oversight Board, subject to policies, procedures, and agreements applicable to other observers of the Claimant Trust Oversight Board, including policies, procedures, and agreements related to confidentiality and common interest. Whether Daugherty will be granted observer access and any continuing observer access is and will remain at the sole discretion of the

[3] The Claimant Trust Oversight Board refers to the Oversight Board as defined in the August 11, 2021 Highland Claimant Trust Agreement establishing the Claimant Trust, as defined therein.

Claimant Trust Oversight Board.

4. RCP Track Record: HCMLP shall use reasonable efforts to provide Daugherty with data constituting the investment performance track record of RCP during Daugherty's tenure at HCMLP. Daugherty shall not be entitled to any compensation with respect to the performance of RCP. HCMLP makes no representations or warranties regarding such data and takes no responsibility with respect to the use of such data for any purposes.

5. Daugherty Releases: Except as specifically provided in this paragraph 5, and to the maximum extent permitted by applicable law, the Debtor, on behalf of itself and each of the HCMLP Entities and HCMLP Parties (as those terms are defined in paragraph 6 below), hereby forever, finally, fully, unconditionally, and completely releases, relieves, acquits, remises, and exonerates, and covenants never to sue Daugherty, his successors, affiliates, and assigns, (and in each such category to include their respective advisors, trustees, directors, officers, managers, members, partners, employees, beneficiaries, shareholders, agents, participants, subsidiaries, parents, affiliates, and designees) (collectively, the "Daugherty Additional Release Parties" and together with Daugherty, the "Daugherty Released Parties"), in each case acting in such capacity, for and from any and all claims, debts, liabilities, demands, obligations, promises, acts, agreements, liens, losses, costs and expenses (including, without limitation, attorney's fees and related costs), damages, injuries, suits, actions, and causes of action of whatever kind or nature, whether known or unknown, suspected or unsuspected, matured or unmatured, liquidated or unliquidated, contingent or fixed, at law or in equity, statutory or otherwise, including, without limitation those which were or could have been asserted in the Bankruptcy, including the Adversary Proceeding, the Texas Action, or the Delaware Cases, all existing as of the date hereof (collectively, the "HCMLP Released Claims"); provided, however, that such release shall not apply with respect to any and all defenses that HCMLP or the HCMLP Entities may have to the Reserved Claim or the Reserve Motion (as those terms are defined herein) or Daugherty's obligations under this Settlement. For the avoidance of doubt, the HCMLP Released Claims include all claims or causes of action and facts, known or unknown, that exist as of the date hereof but do not include or apply to claims or causes of action based on facts occurring after the date hereof.

6. HCMLP Releases: Except as specifically provided in this paragraph 6, and to the maximum extent permitted by law, Daugherty, on behalf of himself and each of the Daugherty Released Parties, hereby forever, finally, fully, unconditionally, and completely releases, relieves, acquits, remises, and exonerates, and covenants never to sue, (a)(i) HCMLP; (ii) Strand Advisors Inc.; (iii) the Claimant Trust; (iv) the Claimant Trust Oversight Board; (v) the Highland Litigation Sub-Trust; (vi) the Highland Indemnity Trust; (vii) any entity of which greater than fifty percent of the voting ownership is held directly or indirectly by HCMLP as of the date hereof and any entity otherwise directly or indirectly controlled by HCMLP as of the date hereof,; and (viii) any entity managed by either HCMLP or a direct or indirect subsidiary of HCMLP, including Highland Restoration Capital Partners, L.P., Highland Restoration Capital Partners Offshore, L.P., Highland Restoration Capital Master, L.P. (and all of their respective general partners, feeder funds, managers, and affiliates) (the foregoing (a)(i) through (a)(viii) the "HCMLP Entities"), and (b) with respect to each such HCMLP Entity, such HCMLP Entity's respective current (meaning employed in their respective roles as of the date hereof) advisors, trustees, directors, officers, managers, members, partners, employees, beneficiaries, shareholders (but not the shareholders of Strand Advisors Inc.), agents, participants, subsidiaries, parents, affiliates, successors, designees, and assigns, except as expressly set forth below (the "HCMLP Parties," and together with the HCMLP Entities, the "HCMLP Released Parties"),[4] in each case acting in such capacity, for and from any and all claims, debts, liabilities, demands, obligations, promises, acts, agreements, liens, losses, costs and expenses (including, without limitation, attorney's fees and related costs), damages, injuries, suits, actions, and causes of action of whatever kind or nature, whether known or unknown, suspected or unsuspected, matured or unmatured, liquidated or unliquidated, contingent or fixed, at law or in equity, statutory or otherwise, including without limitation those which were or could have been asserted in the Bankruptcy, including the Adversary Proceeding, the Texas Action, the Daugherty Claim, or the Highland Delaware Case (collectively, the "Daugherty Released Claims"); provided, however, that such release shall not apply with respect to the Reserved Claim or the Reserve Motion (as those terms are defined in paragraph 9 below) or HCMLP's obligations under this Settlement. This release expressly applies to all current employees of HCMLP as the Reorganized Debtor (as defined in the Plan), in their capacities as such. For the avoidance of doubt, the Daugherty Released Claims includes all claims or causes of action and facts, known or unknown, that exist as of the date hereof but do not include or apply to claims or causes of action based on facts occurring after the date hereof.

7. Reservation of Daugherty Rights: Notwithstanding anything contained herein to the contrary, the term HCMLP Released Parties shall not include (a) NexPoint Advisors, L.P. (or any of its subsidiaries and employees, advisors, or agents), (b) the Charitable Donor Advised Fund, L.P. (and any of its subsidiaries, including CLO Holdco, Ltd., and any of their respective employees, advisors, or agents), (c) NexBank, SSB (or any of its subsidiaries, employees, advisors, or agents), (d) James Dondero or any trust in which Dondero or any of his family members are a trustee or beneficiary (or any trustee acting for such trust), including but not limited to Hunter

[4] The Daugherty Additional Released Parties and the HCMLP Released Parties are collectively referred to as the "Additional Released Parties."

Mountain Investment Trust, The Get Good Trust, Dugaboy Investment Trust, SLHC Investment Trust, (e) HERA (subject to paragraph 8 below), (f) ERA (subject to paragraph 8 below), (g) Grant Scott, (h) Mark Okada and any trust in which Mark Okada or any of his family members are a beneficiary (or any trustee acting for such trust in their respective capacities), (i) Ellington, (j) Leventon, (k) Katz, (l) Hurst, (m) Andrews Kurth, or (m) any other former employee (as of the date hereof) of the HCMLP Released Parties.

8. HERA and ERA: The Parties acknowledge and agree that as of the date hereof, HERA and ERA have no material assets other than potential claims that may exist against persons or entities not released at or prior to the date hereof, and no claims against the HCMLP Released Parties. The allowed claims provided in paragraph 1 hereof are expressly agreed to in order to satisfy any liability the Debtor may have in connection with the HERA Judgment. To facilitate recovery of such potential claims – which expressly excludes any and all claims by or in the name of HERA and ERA against any of the HCMLP Released Parties -- HCMLP will transfer its interests in HERA and ERA to Daugherty. Such transfer will include the HERA and ERA books and records (spreadsheet) maintained on HCMLP's system. Such transfer will be without representation or warranty of any type; including, for the avoidance of doubt, without any representation or warranty as to the merits of the potential claims or the efficacy of the transfer of the potential claims. Such transfer will be without any liability or material cost to HCMLP or its affiliates or the other HCMLP Released Parties, including any liability in respect of any assets that HERA or ERA ever actually or allegedly owned, possessed, or controlled and that were actually or allegedly transferred, conveyed, sold, written off or otherwise disposed of (in any such case, a "Disposition"). In connection with the transfer, HERA and ERA have expressly released the HCMLP Released Parties from any and all claims, including any claims actions or remedies related to any Disposition, either of them may have against any HCMLP Released Party now or in the future (the "HERA and ERA Release"). Daugherty on behalf of himself and each of the Daugherty Released Parties acknowledges, accepts, and agrees not to challenge the HERA and ERA Release or support any challenge thereto. A copy of the HERA and ERA Release is annexed hereto as Exhibit A. Daugherty acknowledges and agrees that even though HERA and ERA are not HCMLP Released Parties under this Agreement, Daugherty and all Daugherty Released Parties shall (a) not seek to hold any HCMLP Released Party liable for any action or inaction taken by or on behalf of HERA or ERA, including through any derivative, veil-piercing or similar cause of action or remedy; and (b) not seek to recover damages or obtain any form of relief against any HCMLP Released Party on account of any action or inaction taken by or on behalf of HERA or ERA, including through any veil piercing or similar cause of action or remedy. If, for any reason, HERA or ERA, or any person or entity acting on their behalf, recovers anything from any HCMLP Released Party, Daugherty shall promptly turnover to HCMLP or its successors and assigns any amounts actually recovered by Daugherty or any Daugherty Released Party, from HERA or ERA arising from, related to, or derived from any claim that HERA or ERA or any person or entity acting on their behalf has or may have against any HCMLP Released Party. HCMLP will provide reasonable assistance to Daugherty to assist with the preparation of any required HERA K-1s for 2021, but any requirement to provide such K-1s will be the obligation, if any, of HERA.

9. IRS Compensation Claim: In section 4(ii) of the Addendum to Proof of Claim No. 205, Daugherty contends that he has a contingent, unliquidated claim against the Debtor arising out of a 2008/2009 compensation letter (the "Reserved Claim"), which claim is also related to an audit/dispute between the Debtor and the Internal Revenue Service (the "IRS") (the dispute between the Debtor and IRS being referred to herein as the "IRS Audit Dispute"). The Debtor disputes the validity and amount of the Reserved Claim. Daugherty shall retain the Reserved Claim solely against the Debtor and not against any other HCMLP Released Party, and the Debtor reserves the right to assert any and all defenses thereto. Any litigation by and between the Debtor and Daugherty concerning the validity and amount of the Reserved Claim shall be stayed until the IRS makes a final determination with respect to the IRS Audit Dispute; provided, however, that Daugherty may file a motion with the Bankruptcy Court to have the Reserved Claim estimated for purposes of establishing a reserve as a "Disputed Claim" under the Debtor's Plan (the "Reserve Motion"), and the Debtor (and any successor) reserves the right to assert any and all defenses thereto. Notwithstanding the foregoing, Daugherty may address any personal claim or personal liability to the IRS as a result of the IRS Audit Dispute, including settlement of any such claims; provided, however, Daugherty agrees to forego settling or addressing any claims with the IRS without the written consent of the Debtor until March 31, 2022.

10. Current HCMLP Employees: The HCMLP Parties set forth on Appendix A hereto are currently employed by the Debtor are HCMLP Released Parties. By executing a copy of this Settlement and delivering it to Daugherty, each of the persons on Appendix A agrees not to sue, attempt to sue, or threaten or work with or assist any entity or person to sue, attempt to sue, or threaten any Daugherty Released Party on or in connection with any claim or cause of action arising prior to the date of this Settlement.

11. Dismissal and Motions in Other Actions. Within ten business days after approval of this Settlement by the Bankruptcy Court, the Parties shall take all steps necessary (a) to dismiss with prejudice (i) the Highland Delaware Case, as against the Debtor and any HCMLP Released Party, and (ii) the HERA Delaware Case, as against every HCMLP Released Party, (b) to file an agreed motion and proposed order to partially vacate the final judgment entered against Daugherty in the Texas Action, (c) withdraw HCMLP's objection to the Daugherty motion to recuse in the Texas Action, and (d) to dismiss the Adversary Proceeding with prejudice. The parties shall file the foregoing motions and withdrawals substantially in the form of the documents annexed hereto as Exhibit B.

12. Additional Third Party Claims Discovery: The Debtor (a) shall accept service of any subpoenas via email served by Daugherty in connection with the Delaware Cases on behalf of itself, the HCMLP Entities, the HCMLP Parties (but only in their capacity as employees of HCMLP); and (b) acknowledge and consent to the jurisdiction of the Delaware Chancery Court for purposes of enforcing any such subpoenas, subject in all respects to the rights that the HCMLP Entities and HCMLP Parties to defend the requested production, if any.

13. Settlement of Third Party Claims: Daugherty shall not settle any claims or causes of action against any current or former director, officer, employee, agent or representative of HCMLP or Strand Advisors Inc. (collectively, the "Potentially Indemnified Parties") to the extent such claims have been brought or could have been brought against any Potentially Indemnified Parties, if any such settlement designates, defines or describes the settled claims as arising out of or relating to simple negligence or as having otherwise been within the scope of employment of the Potentially Indemnified Party.

14. Claims Register: As soon as practicable after the Settlement Effective Date, HCMLP shall instruct the claims agent in the Debtor's chapter 11 case to adjust the claims register in accordance with this Settlement.

15. Daugherty Representations: Daugherty represents and warrants to each of the HCMLP Released Parties that (a) he has full authority to release the Daugherty Released Claims and has not sold, transferred, or assigned any Daugherty Released Claim to any other person or entity and that (b) no person or entity other than Daugherty has been, is, or will be authorized to bring, pursue, or enforce any Daugherty Released Claim on behalf of, for the benefit of, or in the name of (whether directly or derivatively) Daugherty.

16. HCMLP Representations: Each of HCMLP and each HCMLP Released Party who has signed this Settlement represents and warrants to Daugherty that (a) he, she or it has not sold, transferred, pledged, assigned or hypothecated any HCMLP Released Claim to any other person or entity and (b) he, she, or it has full authority to release any HCMLP Released Claims that such HCMLP Released Party personally has against Daugherty.

17. Additional HCMLP Representations: HCMLP represents and warrants that it is releasing the HCMLP Released Claims on behalf of the HCMLP Entities to the maximum extent permitted by any contractual or other legal rights HCMLP possesses. To the extent any of the HCMLP Entities dispute HCMLP's right to release the HCMLP Released Claims on behalf of any of the HCMLP Entities, HCMLP shall use commercially reasonable efforts to support Daugherty's position, if any, that such claims were released herein. For the avoidance of doubt, HCMLP will have no obligations to assist Daugherty under this paragraph if HCMLP has been advised by external counsel that such assistance could subject HCMLP to liability to any third party or if such assistance would require HCMLP to expend material amounts of time or money. HCMLP shall not argue in any forum that the non-signatory status of any of the HCMLP Entities to this Settlement shall in any way affect the enforceability of this Settlement vis-à-vis any of the HCMLP Entities. The Parties agree that all of the HCMLP Entities are intended third-party beneficiaries of this Release.

18. HCMLP Covenant: HCMLP and the HCMLP Entities covenant and agree that they will not pursue or seek to enforce any injunctions entered in the Texas Action against Daugherty.

19. Entire Agreement; Modification: This Settlement contains the entire agreement between the Parties as to its subject matter and supersedes and replaces any and all prior agreements and undertakings between the Parties. This Settlement may not be modified other than by a signed writing executed by the Parties.

20. Bankruptcy Court Approval: Notwithstanding anything to the contrary contained herein, the effectiveness of HCMLP and the Claimant Trust's execution of this Settlement shall be subject to entry of an order of the Bankruptcy Court approving this Settlement. HCMLP shall take all steps necessary to file with the Bankruptcy Court a motion for an order approving this Settlement pursuant to Federal Rule of Bankruptcy Procedure 9019 and section 363 of the Bankruptcy Code (the "Motion"). The parties agree to cooperate in the preparation and prosecution of the Motion which shall be filed no later than 5 business day after execution of this Settlement, unless such time is extended by mutual agreement.

21. Counterparts: This Settlement may be executed in counterparts (including facsimile and electronic transmission counterparts), each of which will be deemed an original but all of which together constitute one and the same instrument and shall be effective against a Party or Additional Released Party upon approval of the Settlement by the Bankruptcy Court.

22. Governing Law; Jurisdiction: This Settlement will be exclusively governed by and construed and enforced in accordance with the laws of the State of Delaware, without regard to its conflicts of law principles, and all claims relating to or arising out of this Settlement, or the breach thereof, whether sounding in contract, tort, or otherwise, will likewise be governed by the laws of the State of Delaware, excluding Delaware's conflicts of law principles. The Bankruptcy Court will retain exclusive jurisdiction over all disputes relating to this Settlement.

23. Headings: Paragraph headings included herein are for convenience and shall have no impact whatsoever on the meaning or interpretation of any part of this Settlement.

HERA RELEASE AGREEMENT

This HERA Release Agreement ("HERA Release Agreement") is entered into as of November 21, 2021 by and among Highland Capital Management, L.P., as reorganized debtor ("HCMLP" or the "Debtor"), Patrick Hagaman Daugherty ("Daugherty"), Highland Employee Retention Assets, LLC ("HERA") and Highland ERA Management, LLC ("ERA" and together with HCMLP, and HERA, the "Parties," and individually as a "Party").

WHEREAS, reference is hereby made to the Settlement Agreement (the "Settlement") of even date herewith and attached hereto made and entered into by and between the Debtor, the Highland Claimant Trust, and Daugherty.

WHEREAS, the Settlement settles all of Daugherty's claims against the HCMLP Released Parties, including all claims against the HCMLP Released Parties relating to transfers of assets from HERA.

WHEREAS, the Settlement includes, among other things, the transfer by HCMLP to Daugherty of HCMLP's interests in HERA and ERA.

WHEREAS, under the Settlement such transfer is being made without any liability to any of the HCMLP Released Parties of any type and is conditional on the full release of, and covenant not to sue, each of the HCMLP Released Parties, by and from HERA, ERA, Daugherty and the Daugherty Released Parties.

WHEREAS, neither HERA nor ERA filed proofs of claim in the Bankrupty and have no claims against HCMLP.

WHEREAS, out of an abundance of caution to confirm that HERA, ERA, Daugherty, and the Daugherty Released Parties have no claims against the HCMLP Released Parties, this HERA Release Agreement is being entered into contemporaneously with the Settlement and constitutes an essential part thereof.

WHEREAS, capitalized terms used herein but not otherwise defined herein have the respective meanings set forth in the Settlement.

NOW, THEREFORE, in consideration of the entry into of the Settlement, the transfer of the equity interests in HERA and ERA to Daugherty in accordance with the Settlement, and for other good and valuable consideration, including the provisions set forth herein, the parties hereto further agree as follows:

1. Upon entry of an order of the Bankruptcy Court approving this Settlement and to the maximum extent permitted by law, Daugherty, on behalf of himself and each of the Daugherty Additional Release Parties, together with each of HERA and ERA (Daugherty, the Daugherty Additional Release Parties, HERA and ERA shall be collectively referred to herein as the "HERA Releasing Parties"), each hereby forever, finally, fully, unconditionally, and completely releases, relieves, acquits, remises, and exonerates, and covenants never to sue, any of the HCMLP Released Parties for and from any and all claims, debts, liabilities, demands, obligations, promises, acts, agreements, liens, losses, costs and expenses (including, without limitation, attorney's fees and related costs), damages, injuries, suits, actions, and causes of action of whatever kind or nature, whether known or unknown, suspected or unsuspected, matured or unmatured, liquidated or unliquidated, contingent or fixed, at law or in equity, statutory or otherwise, including without limitation those which were or could have been asserted in the Bankruptcy, including the Adversary Proceeding, the Texas Action, the Daugherty Claim, Highland Delaware Case, or the HERA Delaware Case (collectively, "Claims"), in each case that in any way arise from or otherwise in any way relate to HERA or ERA, including, without limitation, any actual or potential claims, whether known or unknown, in any way related to or arising out of the formation, management, operation or assets of HERA, ERA or any of their respective predecessors or successors, including the transfer of any assets to or from HERA or ERA, it being understood that all remaining assets of HERA have been transferred to HCMLP prior to the date hereof, and in addition to the releases set forth above, each of the HERA Releasing Parties irrevocably waives and releases and covenants not to sue with respect to any Claims against any of the HCMLP Released Parties in any way related to any such transfers or assets, whether in personam with respect to the HCMLP Released Parties or in rem with respect to any of their assets (collectively, the "HERA Released Claims") or any other Disposition.

2. This Release constitutes a part of, and is supplemental to, the provisions of the Settlement.

In witness whereof, the parties hereto, intending to be legally bound, have executed this HERA Release Agreement as of the date set forth above.

TO THE HONORABLE JUDGE OF SAID COURT:

Plaintiff Highland Capital Management, LP ("Highland") and Defendant Patrick Daugherty ("Daugherty" and together with Highland, the "Parties") file this Agreed Motion to Partially Vacate the Final Judgment dated July 14, 2014 (the "Motion"), and respectfully show the following:

1. On July 14, 2014, this Court entered a Final Judgment (the "Judgment") that, among other things, granted Highland's motion for injunctive relief against Daugherty.

2. The Judgment was amended on March 23, and June 23, 2017.

3. On October 16, 2019, filed a petition under chapter 11 in the United States Bankruptcy Court for the District of Delaware ("Highland's Bankruptcy Case"). On October 24,

2019, as a result of the commencement of Highland's Bankruptcy Case, the Supreme Court of Texas issued an order abating a related case that Daugherty had brought in that court, Case No. 19-0758. Highland's Bankruptcy Case was subsequently transferred to the United States Bankruptcy Court for the Northern District of Texas.

4. Daugherty asserted certain claims against Highland in Highland's Bankruptcy Case. The Parties have fully and finally resolved their disputes pursuant to a settlement agreement (the "Settlement Agreement") reached in the Highland Bankruptcy Case pursuant to which, among other things, (a) all of Daugherty's known and unknown claims against each of the Highland Released Parties (as those terms are defined in the Settlement Agreement) are resolved, and (b) this Motion seeking the vacatur of certain provisions of the Judgment specifically set forth below is being filed.

5. Highland and Daugherty hereby agree and stipulate that the Court has plenary power to issue an order granting this Motion because the Court retained authority to enforce the permanent injunction rendered in the Judgment, and that changed circumstances have now arisen such that the Court should dissolve the permanent injunction. Highland and Daugherty further agree and stipulate that this Motion shall be treated as an agreement of the Parties pursuant to Texas Rule of Civil Procedure 11, and is fully enforceable. See Coale v. Scott, 331 S.W.3d 829, 831-32 (Tex. App.—Amarillo 2011, no pet.) ("Irrespective of whether a trial court lost its plenary jurisdiction over its judgment, the trial court's authority to approve a Rule 11 agreement does not depend on whether it has such jurisdiction.").

6. Highland and Daugherty agree that the following portions of the Judgment shall be vacated pursuant to their settlement in the Highland Bankruptcy:

a. The second full paragraph on Page 2 of the Judgment, which begins "The Court, after considering the jury's findings regarding Daugherty's breaches of contract and breaches of fiduciary duty . . .";

b. The permanent injunction rendered against Daugherty in the third full paragraph on Page 2 of the Judgment, which begins "It is therefore further ORDERED that Daugherty be and hereby is commanded to cease and desist from . . .";

c. The fourth and fifth full paragraphs on Page 2 of the Judgment awarding Highland a monetary judgment against Daugherty for reasonable and necessary attorney's fees, as well as post-judgment interest on that award[1]; and

d. The jury's answers to Questions 1, 2, 5, 6, 9 and 12 in the Verdict, which was attached as Exhibit 1 to the Judgment.

7. Highland and Daugherty further agree that, as a result of the vacation of the permanent injunction in the Judgment, Highland hereby withdraws any pending motions to show cause or motions for contempt against Daugherty that allege Daugherty violated or is violating the permanent injunction. Highland also agrees not to seek to enforce the permanent injunction in any manner in the future.

[1] Daugherty previously satisfied the monetary judgment awarded to Highland, and Highland filed a release of the monetary judgment. Although Highland and Daugherty have agreed to vacate the monetary judgment awarded to Highland, Daugherty waives and relinquishes any right or claim to recover any amount previously paid in satisfaction of the Judgment and Highland shall not be required to reimburse Daugherty for his prior satisfaction of the monetary judgment. To the extent Daugherty is entitled to indemnification for any liabilities, losses, and damages allegedly incurred by him for actions taken in connection with Highland's business, including the liabilities Daugherty allegedly incurred in connection with this action and the Judgment, such indemnification claims have been fully and finally satisfied and resolved under the Settlement Agreement.

8. Concurrent with the filing of this Motion, Daugherty will file a motion to dismiss his as-yet unfiled petition for review pending before the Supreme Court of Texas under Case No. 19-0758.

9. Highland and Daugherty further agree that any portions of the Judgment that are not specifically vacated pursuant to this Motion shall remain in full force and effect.

WHEREFORE, Highland and Daugherty pray that the Court grant this Motion in its entirety, and for all further relief, at law or in equity, the Court deems necessary.

COMPLAINT FOR (1) DISALLOWANCE OF CLAIM NO. 205 IN ITS ENTIRETY, (2) ESTIMATION OF CLAIM NO. 205 FOR ALLOWANCE PURPOSES, OR (3) SUBORDINATION OF ANY ALLOWED PORTION OF CLAIM NO. 205 OF PATRICK HAGAMAN DAUGHERTY

[1] Highland's last four digits of its taxpayer identification number are (8357). The headquarters and service address for Highland is 100 Crescent Court, Suite 1850, Dallas, TX 75201.

Highland Capital Management, L.P., the reorganized debtor ("Highland" or the "Debtor" as applicable) in the above-captioned chapter 11 case ("Bankruptcy Case") and the plaintiff in the above-captioned adversary proceeding (the "Adversary Proceeding"), files the Complaint for (1) Disallowance of Claim No. 205 in Its Entirety, (2) Estimation of Claim No. 205 for Allowance Purposes, or (3) Subordination of Any Allowed Portion of Claim No. 205 of Patrick Hagaman Daugherty (the "Complaint"), alleging upon knowledge of its own actions and upon information and belief as to all other matters as follows:

1. Patrick Daugherty is a former employee of, and former limited partner in, the Debtor. Mr. Daugherty filed a claim (denoted as Claim No. 205) in which he asserted a myriad of claims against the Debtor. All of Mr. Daugherty's claims were settled except his unliquidated, contingent claim that the Debtor has a continuing and indefinite obligation to make him whole if a tax refund he apparently received for tax year 2008 on account of his Partnership Interests is ever successfully challenged by the IRS.

2. As discussed below, in 2009, Mr. Daugherty was allocated his applicable losses from Highland for tax year 2008 on account of his Partnership Interests. The allocation of losses in 2009 fully satisfied the 2008 Refund line item in the 2009 Statement; Mr. Daugherty received exactly what he was entitled to receive from Highland. Accordingly, Mr. Daugherty's Claim against the Debtor for additional compensation for 2008 has no basis and the Claim should be disallowed.

3. To avoid this result, Mr. Daugherty alleges the Debtor is required to make him whole if any portion of the tax refund he received for 2008 on account of his Partnership Interest is clawed back by the IRS—Highland's 2008 tax return is currently subject to an IRS audit. But the 2009 Statement contains no future, ongoing obligations. Under the 2009 Statement, if Mr. Daugherty received the material equivalent of the "2008 Refund" (which he apparently did), Highland's obligations have been satisfied in full. The 2009 Statement contains no ongoing obligation for Highland to defend Mr. Daugherty or indemnify him. And it would violate basic tenets of contract law to read vague and indefinite precatory language in the 2009 Statement as creating a specific continuing and binding payment obligation that can be enforced forever. This is particularly true where the agreement that governed Mr. Daugherty's employment by the Debtor expressly provided that after his separation from the Debtor, the Debtor would have no further liability or obligation to Mr. Daugherty in connection with his employment.

4. However, even if Mr. Daugherty's Claim is not disallowed in its entirely, it remains contingent on the outcome of the 2008 Audit. It is unclear when, how, or if the 2008 Audit will be finally resolved. Moreover, if the Claim is not disallowed, it will need to be estimated—after taking into account the likely outcome of the 2008 Audit, including adjustments that result therefrom—pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 502(c). The Claim (in whatever amount) based on his partnership tax allocations must also be subordinated to the interests in Class 10 pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 510(b).

JURISDICTION AND VENUE

5. This Adversary Proceeding arises in and relates to Highland's Bankruptcy Case.

6. The Court has jurisdiction over this matter pursuant to 28 U.S.C. §§ 157 and 1334.

7. This matter is a core proceeding within the meaning of 28 U.S.C. § 157(b), and, pursuant to Bankruptcy Rule 7008, Highland consents to the entry of a final order by the Court if it is later determined that the Court, absent consent of the parties, cannot enter final orders or judgments consistent with Article III of the U.S. Constitution.

8. Venue is proper in this District pursuant to 28 U.S.C. §§ 1408 and 1409.

THE PARTIES

9. Highland is a limited partnership formed under the laws of Delaware with a business address at 100 Crescent Court, Suite 1850, Dallas, Texas 75201.

10. Upon information and belief, Defendant Patrick Daugherty is an individual residing at 3621 Cornell Avenue, Suite 830, Dallas, Texas 75205.

STATEMENT OF FACTS

I. The Bankruptcy Case and Mr. Daugherty's Claims

11. On October 16, 2019 (the "Petition Date"), the Debtor filed a voluntary petition for relief under chapter 11 of the Bankruptcy Code commencing the Bankruptcy Case.

12. On April 1, 2020, Mr. Daugherty filed Proof of Claim No. 67 ("Claim 67"). On April 6, 2020, Mr. Daugherty filed Proof of Claim No. 77 ("Claim 77"), which superseded and replaced Claim 67 in its entirety. On December 23, 2020, Mr. Daugherty filed Proof of Claim No. 205 (the "Claim" or "Claim 205"), which superseded and replaced Claim 77 in its entirety.

13. On February 22, 2021, this Court entered the Order Confirming the Fifth Amended Plan of Reorganization of Highland Capital Management, L.P. (as Modified) and (ii) Granting Related Relief [Bankr. Docket No. 1943],[3] which confirmed the Fifth Amended Plan of Reorganization of Highland Capital Management, L.P. (as Modified) [Bankr. Docket No. 1808] (as amended, the "Plan"). The Plan became effective August 11, 2021 [Bankr. Docket No. 2700].

[3] Bankr. Docket No. __" refers to the docket maintained in Case No. 19-34054-sgj11.

14. On December 8, 2021, the Debtor filed Reorganized Debtor's Motion for Entry of an Order Approving Settlement with Patrick Hagaman Daugherty (Claim No. 205) and Authorizing Actions Consistent Therewith [Bankr. Docket No. 3088] (the "Settlement Motion").

15. This Court approved the Settlement Motion on March 8, 2022 [Bankr. Docket No. 3298] (the "Settlement Order"), disallowing Claim 67 and Claim 77 with prejudice and resolving all of Claim 205 other than Mr. Daugherty's claim for the 2008 Refund.

II. Mr. Daugherty Was Employed by the Debtor and Became a Limited Partner

16. Mr. Daugherty was hired by the Debtor in 1998. Later, he became eligible to participate in the Debtor's long-term incentive plan (the "LTIP"). Pursuant to the LTIP, at various times, Mr. Daugherty received limited partnership interests in the Debtor (the "Partnership Interests") and became one of the Debtor's limited partners. At all relevant times with respect to Claim 205 as it relates to the 2008 Tax Refund, Mr. Daugherty's employment was governed by an Amended and Restated Employment Agreement, dated as of December 31, 2004 (the "Employment Agreement"). For the 2008 tax year, Mr. Daugherty was allocated 0.740262% of the taxable losses of the Debtor on account of his Partnership Interests.

17. Because the Debtor was a limited partnership, it was a pass-through entity for tax purposes and paid no federal income tax. The Debtor's limited partners, including Mr. Daugherty, were therefore required to pay individual federal income taxes (among other taxes) based on, among other things, their allocable share of the Debtor's income, if any, or could use their allocable share of any losses to offset other current income or, in certain circumstances, carry back losses, and receive a tax refund from the Internal Revenue Service (the "IRS"). Thus, because of his Partnership Interests, Mr. Daugherty was entitled to receive a pass through of his allocable share of any taxable gains or losses generated by the Debtor. Taxable gains increase tax liability; taxable losses decrease tax liability.

III. The 2009 Statement and IRS Audit

18. On February 27, 2009, the Debtor provided Mr. Daugherty with a Comprehensive Compensation and Benefits Statement recapping all earnings, awards, and benefits Mr. Daugherty received in connection with his employment by and Partnership Interests in the Debtor during calendar year 2008 (the "2009 Statement"). A true and accurate copy of the 2009 Statement is attached hereto as Exhibit A. Such statements were provided to all employees each year at the conclusion of the annual performance review and bonus cycle.

19. The 2009 Statement included what Highland estimated to be the tax refund Mr. Daugherty could expect for tax year 2008 in the amount of $1,475,816 (the "2008 Refund"). That amount purported to be an estimate of the pre-tax equivalent refund that Mr. Daugherty should have expected to receive from the IRS on account of the losses attributable to his Partnership Interests for the 2008 tax year.

20. The 2008 Refund was "an estimated amount" based on the notion that losses in 2008 would equal or exceed total partnership gains that had been allocated to Mr. Daugherty in tax years 2005, 2006, and 2007 and assuming a 27% effective tax rate for each year for all of the employee limited partners. The amount was then "grossed up" by 35% so that Mr. Daugherty could compare it to the value of the other benefits for being a Debtor partner and employee[4]. Finally, the estimated partner tax refund amount was calculated without reference to Mr. Daugherty's other personal tax attributes for the 2008 tax year or prior years, and partners were advised that each person's own actual refund may vary based on their own effective tax rate.

21. While the 2009 Statement vaguely noted that "[i]f actual refund deviates materially from estimate, other compensation will be fairly adjusted," partners like Mr.

[4] The calculation of the 2008 Refund was therefore 2005-2007 allocated income of $3,552,890 x 27% or $959,280. Then the $959,280 was divided by 35% for a "pre-tax" calculated amount of $1,475,816.

Daugherty were told that the tax refund amounts were "not guaranteed," and that if refund amounts were different, Highland would merely "consider what action to take on a case-by case basis, considering several factors."

22. As reflected on his K-1 for tax year 2008 (the "2008 K-1"), Mr. Daugherty was allocated ordinary business losses by Highland in excess of $4 million, along with other losses that well-exceeded the allocated income from 2005-2007.[5] As shown in the 2008 K-1, Mr. Daugherty received what he was promised in the 2009 Statement, if not more.

23. After the obligations to Mr. Daugherty under the 2009 Statement had been satisfied, the IRS began an audit of Highland's 2008 tax return (the "2008 Audit").[6] On information and belief, the 2008 Audit is not yet fully resolved.

24. On October 31, 2011, Mr. Daugherty terminated his employment with Highland. Pursuant to the express conditions of his Employment Agreement, Mr. Daugherty acknowledged and agreed that the Debtor would "have no further liability or obligation to [Mr. Daugherty] under [the Employment Agreement] or in connection with his/her employment of termination."

IV. The Alleged Basis for the Claim

25. In the Claim, Mr. Daugherty demands the Debtor pay him $2,650,353, which consists of the full amount of the 2008 Refund ($1,475,816) plus interest of $1,174,537.[7] Mr.

[5] In the simplest terms, to determine whether an individual owes additional taxes or is entitled to a refund, income or losses are multiplied by the applicable tax rate. As an example, in a vacuum, $4 million of taxable losses allocated to an individual in the 27% bracket would result in $1.1 million of benefit in terms of reduction to their taxes owed ($4 million x 27% = $1.1 million). Likewise, $1 million of adjusted gross income resulting from W-2 wage income for an individual would result in $270,000 of tax liability for an individual whose effective tax rate is 27%, all else equal.

[6] Strand Advisors, Inc. ("Strand"), is the Debtor's "tax matters partner" for purposes of defending the 2008 Audit. Control of Strand reverted to James Dondero—the Debtor's ousted founder—in 2021, and the Debtor has no role in the 2008 Audit or visibility into its current status or how it is being conducted. On information and belief, the 2008 Audit has not been resolved and is heading to court with a resolution not expected until approximately 2029.

[7] Mr. Daugherty has provided no statutory or other justification for his claim for interest nor has he provided a proposed interest rate.

Daugherty's theory seems to be that if, upon the conclusion of the 2008 Audit, he is required to reverse the tax loss he received as a limited partner, the Debtor must reimburse him for the entirety of the 2008 Refund with interest. In other words, Mr. Daugherty reads a continuing obligation into the 2009 Statement to indemnify him for personal income taxes he may owe, if any, as a result of the 2008 Audit.

26. However, and as set forth above, there is no such obligation in the 2009 Statement. Mr. Daugherty has no claim.

27. But even if Mr. Daugherty did have a claim (he does not), it would be unliquidated and contingent and subordinated as it arises solely from his Partnership Interests.

FIRST CLAIM FOR RELIEF

(Disallowance under Bankruptcy Code 11 U.S.C. § 502(a))

28. Highland repeats and re-alleges as if set forth herein the foregoing factual allegations.

29. Under 11 U.S.C. § 502(a) a "claim ..., proof of which is filed under section 501 [of the Bankruptcy Code], is deemed allowed, unless a party in interest ... objects." 11 U.S.C. § 502(a).

30. The ultimate burden of proof for a claim always lies with the claimant. In re Armstrong, 347 B.R. 581, 583 (Bankr. N.D. Tex. 2006) (citing Raleigh v. Ill. Dep't of Rev., 530 U.S. 15 (2000)).

31. Mr. Daugherty received and has benefited for the past 16 years from the 2008 Refund, i.e., the 2008 losses allocated to Mr. Daugherty as a Highland partner. The benefit he received from the IRS (either as a tax refund or liability reduced through offsetting of income) did not materially deviate from, and may have exceeded, the basis for the estimated 2008 Refund set forth in the 2009 Statement.

32. Accordingly, the Debtor satisfied its obligations (to the extent it even had any) under the 2009 Statement in full, and no additional, future obligations exist under the 2009 Statement. Because the Debtor has satisfied its obligations, Claim 205 should be disallowed in its entirety.

33. Moreover, even if the tax benefits he received related to tax year 2008 materially deviated from the 2009 Statement, Mr. Daugherty would not be able to recover from the Debtor based on the vague statement in the 2009 Statement that lacks the definiteness required to form a contractual obligation.

SECOND CLAIM FOR RELIEF

(Estimation under Bankruptcy Code 11 U.S.C. § 502(c))

34. Highland repeats and re-alleges as if set forth herein the foregoing factual allegations.

35. As set forth above, Mr. Daugherty has no Claim; however, to the extent the Court believes he has one, it is unliquidated and contingent on the final outcome of the 2008 Audit, including the magnitude of any adjustments. If the 2008 Audit is successfully defended, Mr. Daugherty will have no claim.

36. Under 11 U.S.C. § 502(c) "[t]here shall be estimated for purposes of allowance … (1) any contingent or unliquidated claim, the fixing or liquidation of which … would unduly delay the administration of the case …."

37. The Plan was confirmed in February of 2021 and has been effective since August of 2021. Mr. Daugherty's Claim is the last unresolved claim[8] against the estate.

38. It is currently unknown when, if, or how the 2008 Audit will be resolved.

[8] The Equity Interests in subordinated Class 10 and further subordinated Class 11 have not been allowed under the terms of the Plan.

39. Accordingly, the Debtor requests that this Court estimate the Claim—after taking into account the likelihood and degree to which the 2008 Audit will be successful or unsuccessful—under 11 U.S.C. § 502(c) for purposes of allowance and distribution.

THIRD CLAIM FOR RELIEF

(Subordination under Bankruptcy Code 11 U.S.C. § 510(b))

40. Highland repeats and re-alleges as if set forth herein the foregoing factual allegations.

41. Under the Bankruptcy Code,

> a claim arising from rescission of a purchase or sale of a security of the debtor or of an affiliate of the debtor, for damages arising from the purchase or sale of such a security, or for reimbursement or contribution allowed under section 502 on account of such a claim, shall be subordinated to all claims or interests that are senior to or equal the claim or interest represented by such security ….

11 U.S.C. § 510(b). Section 510(b) requires the subordination of claims arising from the purchase of the equity itself and all claims arising thereafter as incidents of ownership. In re SeaQuest Diving, LP, 579 F.3d 411, 421 (5th Cir. 2009).

42. Section 510(b) applies to the ownership of limited partnership interests. Templeton v. O'Cheskey (In re Am. Hous. Found.), 785 F.3d 143, 154 (5th Cir. 2015).

43. Mr. Daugherty owned the Partnership Interests, and his Claim is contingent on the IRS clawing back the 2008 Refund he received on account of those Partnership Interests through the 2008 Audit.

44. But for the Partnership Interests, Mr. Daugherty would not have been entitled to the 2008 Refund nor would Mr. Daugherty have any potential liability to the IRS from the 2008 Audit. A nexus or causal relationship exists between Claim 205 and the "purchase" of the Partnership Interests.

45. Accordingly, judgment should issue declaring that the Claim—to the extent it is not disallowed in full—is subordinated pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 510(b) and shall, subject to such other defenses or objections as may exist with respect to the Claim, have the same rank and priority as Class 11 under the Plan.

PRAYER

WHEREFORE, Highland prays for judgment as follows:

1. For the disallowance of the Claim in its entirety;

2. For estimation for the Claim for purposes of allowance and distribution;

3. For subordination of the Claim;

4. For damages and costs of suit, including attorneys' fees, incurred in connection herewith; and

5. For such other and further relief as the Court deems just and proper.

INSTRUCTIONS

The filing of a bankruptcy case creates an "estate" under the jurisdiction of the bankruptcy court which consists of all of the property of the debtor, wherever that property is located. Because the bankruptcy estate is so extensive and the jurisdiction of the court so broad, there may be lawsuits over the property or property rights of the estate. There also may be lawsuits concerning the debtor's discharge. If such a lawsuit is filed in a bankruptcy court, it is called an adversary proceeding.

A party filing an adversary proceeding must also complete and file Form 1040, the Adversary Proceeding Cover Sheet, unless the party files the adversary proceeding electronically through the court's Case Management/Electronic Case Filing system (CM/ECF). (CM/ECF captures the information on Form 1040 as part of the filing process.) When completed, the cover sheet summarizes basic information on the adversary proceeding. The clerk of court needs the information to process the adversary proceeding and prepare required statistical reports on court activity.

The cover sheet and the information contained on it do not replace or supplement the filing and service of pleadings or other papers as required by law, the Bankruptcy Rules, or the local rules of court. The cover sheet, which is largely self-explanatory, must be completed by the plaintiff's attorney (or by the plaintiff if the plaintiff is not represented by an attorney). A separate cover sheet must be submitted to the clerk for each complaint filed.

Plaintiffs and Defendants. Give the names of the plaintiffs and defendants exactly as they appear on the complaint.

Attorneys. Give the names and addresses of the attorneys, if known.

Party. Check the most appropriate box in the first column for the plaintiffs and the second column for the defendants.

Demand. Enter the dollar amount being demanded in the complaint.

Signature. This cover sheet must be signed by the attorney of record in the box on the second page of the form. If the plaintiff is represented by a law firm, a member of the firm must sign. If the plaintiff is pro se, that is, not represented by an attorney, the plaintiff must sign.

TO THE HONORABLE STACEY G. C. JERNIGAN,
UNITED STATES BANKRUPTCY JUDGE:

Highland Capital Management, L.P., the above-captioned reorganized debtor (the "Reorganized Debtor" or "Debtor," as applicable), files this motion (the "Motion") for entry of an order, substantially in the form attached hereto as Exhibit A, pursuant to Rule 9019 of the Federal Rules of Bankruptcy Procedure (the "Bankruptcy Rules"), approving a settlement agreement (the "Settlement Agreement"),[2] a copy of which is attached as Exhibit 1 to the Declaration of John A. Morris in Support of the Debtor's Motion for Entry of an Order Approving Settlement with Patrick Hagaman Daugherty (Claim No. 205) and Authorizing Actions Consistent Therewith being filed simultaneously with this Motion ("Morris Dec."), that, among other things, fully and finally resolves the proof of claim filed by Patrick Hagaman Daugherty ("Mr. Daugherty"). In support of this Motion, the Reorganized Debtor represents as follows:

JURISDICTION

1. This Court has jurisdiction over this matter pursuant to 28 U.S.C. §§ 157 and 1334. This matter is a core proceeding within the meaning of 28 U.S.C. § 157(b)(2). Venue in this District is proper pursuant to 28 U.S.C. §§ 1408 and 1409.

2. The statutory predicates for the relief sought herein are sections 105(a) and 363 of title 11 of the United States Code (the "Bankruptcy Code") and Rule 9019 of the Bankruptcy Rules.

[2] All capitalized terms used but not defined herein shall have the meanings ascribed to them in the Settlement Agreement.

RELEVANT BACKGROUND

A. Procedural Background

3. On October 16, 2019 (the "Petition Date"), the Debtor filed a voluntary petition for relief under chapter 11 of the Bankruptcy Code in the Bankruptcy Court for the District of Delaware, Case No. 19-12239 (CSS) (the "Delaware Court").

4. On October 29, 2019, the official committee of unsecured creditors (the "Committee") was appointed by the U.S. Trustee in the Delaware Court.

5. On December 4, 2019, the Delaware Court entered an order transferring venue of the Debtor's case to the United States Bankruptcy Court for the Northern District of Texas, Dallas Division (the "Court"). [Docket No. 186].[3]

6. On February 22, 2021, the Court entered the Order (i) Confirming the Fifth Amended Plan of Reorganization (as Modified) and (ii) Granting Related Relief [Docket No. 1943] (the "Confirmation Order") with respect to the Debtor's Fifth Amended Plan of Reorganization of Highland Capital Management, L.P. [Docket No. 1808] (as subsequently modified, the "Plan").

7. The Plan went effective on August 11, 2021 (the "Effective Date") and, on that same date, the Reorganized Debtor filed the Notice of Occurrence of Effective Date of Confirmed Fifth Amended Plan of Reorganization of Highland Capital Management, L.P. [Docket No. 2700]. The Reorganized Debtor has commenced making distributions on certain allowed claims in accordance with the terms of the Plan.

B. Procedural Overview of Mr. Daugherty's Claim

8. Mr. Daugherty is a former employee and limited partner of the Debtor and previously served in other positions with affiliates and former affiliates of the Debtor.

[3] All docket numbers refer to the docket maintained by this Court.

9. At the time of his resignation, Mr. Daugherty owned 19.1% of the preferred units of Highland Employee Retention Assets LLC ("HERA"), an employee deferred-compensation vehicle managed by the Debtor and Highland ERA Management, LLC ("ERA Management"). Mr. Daugherty contends that he owned or had the right to own all of the preferred units of HERA.

10. In April 2012, following Mr. Daugherty's resignation and while under the control of James Dondero ("Mr. Dondero"), the Debtor commenced an action against Mr. Daugherty in Texas state court (the "Texas Action"), and Mr. Daugherty subsequently asserted (i) counterclaims for breach of contract and defamation, and (ii) third-party claims against HERA and others.

11. After a three-week trial, (a) the Debtor obtained a verdict on its claims against Mr. Daugherty for breach of contract and breach of fiduciary duty and obtained an award of $2.8 million in attorney's fees; and (b) Mr. Daugherty obtained a verdict on his claims against the Debtor and Mr. Dondero for defamation with malice and a third-party claim against HERA and obtained an award of $2.6 million against HERA (the "HERA Judgment"). The HERA Judgment was affirmed on appeal on December 1, 2016.

12. In July 2017, after being unable to collect on the HERA Judgment, Mr. Daugherty commenced an action against the Debtor, Mr. Dondero, HERA, and ERA Management in the Delaware Chancery Court (the "Chancery Court") in a case captioned Daugherty v. Highland Capital Management, L.P., et al., C.A. No. 2017-0488-MTZ, for, among other claims, fraudulent transfer, promissory estoppel, unjust enrichment, indemnification, and "fees on fees" (the "Highland Chancery Case").

13. In the spring of 2019, the Chancery Court in the Highland Chancery Case (i) found that the Dondero-related defendants improperly withheld dozens of documents in discovery on privilege grounds, and (ii) ruled that there was "a reasonable basis to believe that a fraud has been perpetrated" such that the Chancery Court applied the "crime-fraud exception" to the attorney-client privilege. Mr. Daugherty asserts that the defendants' failure to provide required discovery injured him by undermining his attempts to build an evidentiary record to support his claims against the Debtor and the other defendants in the Highland Chancery Case.

14. On October 14, 2019, the Highland Chancery Case proceeded to trial, but on October 16, 2019, before the trial was completed and before the Chancery Court ruled on Mr. Daugherty's and the Debtor's cross-motions for summary judgment regarding indemnification and fees on fees, the Debtor filed for bankruptcy.

15. On December 1, 2019, Mr. Daugherty filed a separate lawsuit in the Chancery Court captioned Daugherty v. Dondero, et al., C.A. No. 2019-0956-MTZ, against Mr. Dondero, HERA, ERA Management, Hunton Andrews Kurth LLP, Marc Katz, Michael Hurst, the Debtor's then-chief compliance officer, and the Debtor's then in-house counsel, Isaac Leventon and Scott Ellington, for conspiracy to commit fraud among other claims (the "HERA Chancery Case" and together with the Highland Chancery Case, the "Chancery Cases").

16. On April 1, 2020, Mr. Daugherty filed a general, unsecured, non-priority claim against the Debtor in the amount of at "least $37,483,876.59," and such claim was denoted by the Debtor's claims agent as Proof of Claim No. 67 ("Proof of Claim No. 67").

17. On April 6, 2020, Mr. Daugherty filed a general, unsecured, non-priority claim against the Debtor in the amount of at "least $37,483,876.59" that superseded Proof of Claim No. 67 and that was denoted by the Debtor's claims agent as Proof of Claim No. 77 ("Proof of Claim No. 77").

18. On August 31, 2020, the Debtor commenced an adversary proceeding against Mr. Daugherty by filing a complaint (the "Complaint") in which the Debtor: (1) objected to Proof of Claim No. 77 on various grounds (the "Claim Objection"), and (2) asserted a cause of action for the subordination of part of Mr. Daugherty's Claim pursuant to section 510(b) of the Bankruptcy Code. See Adv. Proc. No. 20-03107 (the "Adv. Proc.") [Adv. Docket No. 1] (the "Adversary Proceeding").

19. On September 29, 2020, Mr. Daugherty filed his answer to the Complaint [Adv. Docket No. 8] (the "Answer").

20. On September 24, 2020, Mr. Daugherty filed his Motion to Confirm Status of Automatic Stay, or Alternatively to Modify Automatic Stay [Docket No. 1099] (the "Comfort Motion") pursuant to which he sought to sever the Debtor from the Highland Chancery Case and then consolidate the remaining claims in the Highland Chancery Case into the HERA Chancery Case and proceed with one case against the non-debtors.[4]

21. On October 23, 2020, Mr. Daugherty filed a motion seeking leave to amend his Proof of Claim [Docket No. 1280] (the "POC Amendment Motion"). The amended proof of claim attached to the POC Amendment Motion increased Mr. Daugherty's general, unsecured, non-priority claim against the Debtor to the amount of at "least $40,710,819.42" and sought to supersede Proof of Claim No. 67 and Claim No. 77.

22. On October 23, 2020, Mr. Daugherty filed his Motion for Temporary Allowance of Claim for Voting Purposes Pursuant to Bankruptcy Rule 3018 Motion seeking for his Claim to be temporarily allowed for voting purposes in the amount of $40,710,819.42 [Docket No. 1281] (the "3018 Motion").

23. On November 9, 2020, the Debtor filed its Objection to Patrick Hagaman Daugherty's Motion for Temporary Allowance of Claim for Voting Purposes Pursuant to Bankruptcy Rule 3018 Motion [Docket No. 1349] (the "3018 Objection").

[4] On October 8, 2020, the Debtor commenced a second adversary proceeding against Mr. Daugherty (the "Second Adversary Proceeding"), seeking to enjoin him from prosecuting the Chancery Cases. Adv. Proc. 20-03128 ("2d Adv. Proc.") [2d Adv. Proc. Docket No. 1]. On January 29, 2021, the parties filed a Settlement that resolved the Second Adversary Proceeding, and the Second Adversary Proceeding was subsequently dismissed with prejudice. [2d Adv. Proc. Docket No. 12].

24. After conducting an evidentiary hearing with respect to the 3018 Motion, the Court entered an order temporarily allowing Mr. Daugherty's Claim for voting purposes in the amount of $9,134,019 [Docket No. 1474] (the "Rule 3018 Order").

25. On November 3, 2020, the Court granted the Comfort Motion [Docket No. 1327].

26. On December 10, 2020, the Court entered an order [Docket No. 1533] granting the POC Amendment Motion permitting Mr. Daugherty to amend his proof of claim. On December 23, 2020, Mr. Daugherty filed an amended proof of claim, designated by the Debtor's claim agent as Proof of Claim No. 205 ("Proof of Claim No. 205" or the "Daugherty Claim"). Proof of Claim No. 205 increased the amount of the Daugherty Claim to $40,710,819.42.

27. On November 30, 2020, Mr. Daugherty filed his Motion to Lift the Automatic Stay (the "Lift Stay Motion") [Docket No. 1491] seeking to lift the automatic stay to allow him to finish his trial in the Chancery Court and liquidate his claims. The Debtor opposed the Lift Stay Motion, and after a hearing was held on December 17, 2020, the Court denied the relief requested in the Lift Stay Motion [Docket No. 1612].

28. Except with respect to the Reserved Claim (as defined in the Settlement Agreement), the Parties have agreed to settle and resolve all claims and disputes between them, including the Daugherty Claim, on the terms set forth in the Settlement Agreement.

C. Summary of Mr. Daugherty's Claim

29. As generally described above, prior to the Petition Date, Mr. Daugherty on the one hand, and the Debtor, Mr. Dondero, other entities controlled by Mr. Dondero, and individuals then employed by the Debtor or otherwise associated with Mr. Dondero on the other hand, were embroiled in more than nine (9) years of highly contentious litigation involving a multitude of claims and counterclaims (the "Pre-Petition Litigation").

30. The Pre-Petition Litigation played out in front of a jury in Texas state court and wound its way through the state appellate courts. Thereafter, Mr. Daugherty opened a new front by commencing the Highland Chancery Case in the Chancery Court where he sought to hold the defendants to account for leaving HERA "judgment proof" and unable to satisfy the HERA Judgment that Mr. Daugherty had obtained.

31. While Mr. Dondero's decision to sue Mr. Daugherty in the Texas Action was questionable, his decisions to (a) continue fighting the HERA Judgment rather than accepting the net economic benefits awarded, and (b) fraudulently transfer HERA's assets leaving it "judgment proof" proved to be a disaster because it cost millions of dollars in legal fees and left the Debtor and related entities exposed to claims and liability for substantial wrongdoing.

32. The Daugherty Claim attaches and incorporates his operative complaint in the Highland Chancery Case and other voluminous documentation. The Daugherty Claim has the following components:

- Enforcement of the HERA Judgment against the Debtor, pursuant to unjust enrichment, promissory estoppel and fraudulent transfer claims, in the amount of $2.6 million plus prepetition interest of $1.22 million. (Mr. Daugherty contends that interest has continued to accrue post-petition);

- The estimated value of the HERA assets transferred to the Debtor on the theory that Daugherty owns 100% of HERA because the Debtor was not permitted to acquire the interests that it purchased from the former members and Daugherty was the last remaining interest holder. This allegedly leaves Mr. Daugherty by default as the 100% owner of the HERA Assets, which Mr. Daugherty asserts are worth at least $26.2 million as a whole;

- Indemnification for attorneys' fees, expenses, and interest of approximately $5.4 million incurred in the Texas Action under the Debtor's partnership agreement for actions Daugherty contends were taken in furtherance of his obligations to investors and funds under the Investment Advisors Act of 1940;

- Compensation as a former employee of the Debtor that Daugherty contends is contingent on the outcome of an audit of the Debtor's 2008/2009 tax returns and related expenses. Mr. Daugherty estimates this claim at approximately $2.7 million;

- Fee shifting and fees on fees that Daugherty contends are due to the bad faith actions of the Debtor, its officers, and agents in the Chancery Court. Daugherty estimates this claim at approximately $2.5 million; and

- Other related claims described in the Daugherty Claim for approximately $0.2 million.

33. The Debtor previously informed the Court that it does not object to Mr. Daugherty's claims related to the HERA Judgment ($2.6 Million, plus interest calculated at approximately $1.22 million as of about a year ago).

34. For a recitation of the Debtor's defenses to Daugherty's Claim, the Debtor incorporates by reference its 3018 Objection.

D. The Parties Engage in Arm's-Length Settlement Discussions

35. Although counsel for the Parties argued over the merits of, and the defenses to, the Daugherty Claim throughout the fall, they began discussing a possible resolution of Daugherty's Claim after the Court entered the 3018 Order.

36. In the days leading up to the Confirmation Hearing, those discussions evolved into substantive negotiations, and counsel for the parties exchanged various proposals and counterproposals in an effort to reach an agreement.

37. With the advice of counsel, James P. Seery, Jr., the Debtor's Chief Executive Officer, took the lead in the negotiations (directly and through counsel) and briefed the Independent Board on the progress.

38. The negotiations bore fruit. On February 2, 2021, at the commencement of the Confirmation Hearing, and with the unanimous approval of the Independent Board, Debtor's counsel announced that it had reached an agreement with Mr. Daugherty (subject to the execution of definitive documentation and Court approval) and read the principal terms into the record.

39. For a variety of reasons, documenting the agreement took more time than expected. For example, in the weeks and months that followed, (1) the principals and their counsel addressed the implications of the Sentinel Disclosures (as that term is defined below); (2) the tasks related to getting to the Effective Date took a higher priority; (3) the Reorganized Debtor had to educate the newly appointed Oversight Board on the background and litigation concerning, and the proposed resolution of, the Daugherty Claim; (4) the parties exchanged numerous iterations of the Settlement Agreement and ancillary documents; and (5) frankly, it was difficult to get Mr. Daugherty to say "yes" as he sought very hard to improve the economic and non-economic terms of the deal based on certain revelations in the ensuing months (which, of course, was his right).

E. Summary of Settlement Terms

40. The Settlement Agreement contains the following material terms, among others:

- Mr. Daugherty shall receive an allowed general unsecured, non-priority Class 8 claim in the amount of $8.25 million;
- Mr. Daugherty shall receive an allowed subordinated general unsecured, non-priority Class 9 claim in the amount of $3.75 million;
- Mr. Daugherty shall receive a one-time lump sum payment in the amount of $750,000 to be paid within five business days of Bankruptcy Court approval of this Settlement Agreement;
- Releases shall be exchanged as provided for in paragraphs 3 through 6 of the Settlement Agreement;
- The Reorganized Debtor shall transfer its interests in HERA and ERA to Mr. Daugherty in accordance with paragraph 6 of the Settlement Agreement;
- The Parties shall cooperate to terminate all litigation in accordance with paragraphs 9 and 10 of the Settlement Agreement; and
- The Parties shall adhere to certain other non-economic matters agreed to by them as specifically set forth in the Settlement Agreement.

See generally Morris Dec. Exhibit 1.[5]

[5] With two exceptions, these settlement terms are materially the same as those announced on the record on February 2, 2021 in connection with the confirmation hearing on the Debtor's Plan. The two exceptions are that (a) the Class 9 claim was increased by $1 million, and (b) the Reorganized Debtor agreed to transfer its interests in HERA and ERA to Mr. Daugherty. The former change was intended to take into account the increased risk to the Debtor arising from

BASIS FOR RELIEF REQUESTED

41. Bankruptcy Rule 9019 governs the procedural prerequisites to approval of a settlement, providing that:

> On motion by the trustee and after notice and a hearing, the court may approve a compromise or settlement. Notice shall be given to creditors, the United States trustee, the debtor, and indenture trustees as provided in Rule 2002 and to any other entity as the court may direct.

FED. R. BANKR. P. 9019(a).

42. Settlements in bankruptcy are favored as a means of minimizing litigation, expediting the administration of the bankruptcy estate, and providing for the efficient resolution of bankruptcy cases. See Myers v. Martin (In re Martin), 91 F.3d 389, 393 (3d Cir. 1996); Rivercity v. Herpel (In re Jackson Brewing Co.), 624 F.2d 599, 602 (5th Cir. 1980). Pursuant to Bankruptcy Rule 9019(a), a bankruptcy court may approve a compromise or settlement as long as the proposed settlement is fair, reasonable, and in the best interest of the estate. See In re Age Ref. Inc., 801 F.3d 530, 540 (5th Cir. 2015). Ultimately, "approval of a compromise is within the sound discretion of the bankruptcy court." See United States v. AWECO, Inc. (In re AWECO, Inc.), 725 F.2d 293, 297 (5th Cir. 1984); Jackson Brewing, 624 F.2d at 602–03.

43. In making this determination, the United States Court of Appeals for the Fifth Circuit applies a three-part test "with a focus on comparing 'the terms of the compromise with the rewards of litigation.'" Official Comm. of Unsecured Creditors v. Cajun Elec. Power Coop. (In re Cajun Elec. Power Coop.), 119 F.3d 349, 356 (5th Cir. 1997) (citing Jackson Brewing, the post-confirmation discovery and disclosures related to Sentinel (the "Sentinel Disclosures"). See UBS Secs. LLC v. Highland Capital Mgmt., L.P., Adv. Pro. No. 21-03020. The latter concerned Mr. Daugherty's final demand that the Debtor agreed to because (i) Mr. Daugherty continues to retain his claims against HERA and ERA and their respective officers, directors, and agents; (ii) HERA and ERA no longer have any tangible assets; (iii) the HERA Releasing Parties are confirming that they have no claims against and are releasing the HCMLP Released Parties pursuant to the HERA and ERA Release; and (iv) Mr. Daugherty insisted on this final term which, in the overall package, was not material under the Debtor's Plan or otherwise.

624 F.2d at 602). The Fifth Circuit has instructed courts to consider the following factors: "(1) The probability of success in the litigation, with due consideration for the uncertainty of law and fact, (2) The complexity and likely duration of the litigation and any attendant expense, inconvenience and delay, and (3) All other factors bearing on the wisdom of the compromise." Id. Under the rubric of the third factor referenced above, the Fifth Circuit has specified two additional factors that bear on the decision to approve a proposed settlement. First, the court should consider "the paramount interest of creditors with proper deference to their reasonable views." Id.; Conn. Gen. Life Ins. Co. v. United Cos. Fin. Corp. (In re Foster Mortgage Corp.), 68 F.3d 914, 917 (5th Cir. 1995). Second, the court should consider the "extent to which the settlement is truly the product of arms-length bargaining, and not of fraud or collusion." Age Ref. Inc., 801 F.3d at 540; Foster Mortgage Corp., 68 F.3d at 918 (citations omitted).

44. There is ample basis to approve the proposed Settlement Agreement based on the Rule 9019 factors set forth by the Fifth Circuit.

45. First, although the Reorganized Debtor believes that it has valid defenses to the Daugherty Claim, there is no guarantee that the Reorganized Debtor would succeed in its litigation with Daugherty. Indeed, to establish its defenses, the Reorganized Debtor would be required to rely, at least in part, on the credibility of witnesses whose veracity has already been called into question by this Court. Moreover, the events giving rise to Mr. Daugherty's claims arose over five years ago, raising considerable questions about the reliability of those witnesses' recollection.

46. The second factor—the complexity, duration, and costs of litigation—also weighs heavily in favor of approving the Settlement Agreement. As this Court is aware, the events forming the basis of the Daugherty Claim—including the Texas Action and the Highland Chancery Case—proceeded for years and have already cost the Debtor's estate millions of dollars in legal fees. If the Settlement Agreement is not approved, then the parties will expend significant resources litigating a host of fact-intensive issues including, among other things, the conduct of Mr. Dondero and the other defendants in the pending Chancery Actions.

47. Third, approval of the Settlement Agreement is justified by the paramount interest of creditors. Specifically, the settlement will enable the Reorganized Debtor to: (a) avoid incurring substantial litigation costs; and (b) avoid the litigation risk associated with Daugherty's $40 million claim. Notably, as set forth in its 3018 Objection, and regardless of whether this settlement is approved, the Debtor has already conceded liability of almost $4 million in connection with the HERA Judgment, making the risk/reward analysis compelling.

48. Finally, the Settlement Agreement was unquestionably negotiated at arm's-length. The terms of the settlement are the result of numerous, ongoing discussions and negotiations between the parties and represent neither party's "best case scenario." Indeed, the Settlement Agreement should be approved as a rational exercise of the Reorganized Debtor's business judgment made after due deliberation of the facts and circumstances concerning Daugherty's Claim.

NO PRIOR REQUEST

49. No previous request for the relief sought herein has been made to this, or any other, Court.

NOTICE

50. Notice of this Motion shall be given to the following parties or, in lieu thereof, to their counsel, if known: (a) counsel for Mr. Daugherty; (b) the Office of the United States Trustee; (c) the Office of the United States Attorney for the Northern District of Texas; and (d) parties requesting notice pursuant to Bankruptcy Rule 2002. The Reorganized Debtor submits that, in light of the nature of the relief requested, no other or further notice need be given.

WHEREFORE, the Reorganized Debtor respectfully requests entry of an order, substantially in the form attached hereto as Exhibit A, (a) granting the relief requested herein, and (b) granting such other relief as is just and proper.

PATRICK HAGAMAN DAUGHERTY'S MOTION FOR TEMPORARY ALLOWANCE OF CLAIM FOR VOTING PURPOSES PURSUANT TO BANKRUPTCY RULE 3018

TO THE HONORABLE STACEY G. C. JERNIGAN,
UNITED STATES BANKRUPTCY JUDGE:

Patrick Daugherty ("Daugherty") by and through his undersigned counsel, submits this motion (the "Motion") for entry of an order, substantially in the form attached hereto as Exhibit A (the "Order"), pursuant to Rule 3018 of the Federal Rules of Bankruptcy Procedure (the "Bankruptcy Rules") temporarily allowing Daugherty's claims in full for plan voting purposes only. Daugherty also concurrently files his Memorandum of Law and Brief in Support of the Motion (the "Brief") and Appendix (the "Appendix") in support. In support of the Motion, Daugherty respectfully states as follows:

1. This Court has jurisdiction to consider this Motion under 28 U.S.C. §§ 157 and 1334. This matter is a core proceeding within the meaning of 28 U.S.C. § 157(b). Venue is proper in this Court pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1409.

2. On October 16, 2019 (the "Petition Date"), the Debtor filed its voluntary petition for bankruptcy under chapter 11 of title 11 of the United States Code (the "Bankruptcy Code") in the United States Bankruptcy Court for the District of Delaware (the "Delaware Bankruptcy Court").

3. On October 29, 2019, the Official Committee of Unsecured Creditors (the "Committee") was appointed by the United States Trustee for in Delaware.

4. On December 4, 2019, the Delaware Bankruptcy Court entered an order transferring this case to this Court.

5. On April 1, 2020, Daugherty filed Proof of Claim No. 67, in an amount not less than $37,483,876.62, which was later amended on April 6, 2020 as Proof of Claim No. 77.

6. On August 31, 2020, the Debtor filed its Objection to Claim No. 77 of Patrick Hagaman Daugherty and (II) Complaint to Subordinate Claim of Patrick Hagaman Daugherty [Docket No. 1008] (the "Adversary Complaint") in this case, initiating Highland Capital Management, L.P. v. Daugherty, Adversary No. 20-03107 before this Court (the "Adversary Proceeding").

7. On September 21, 2020, the Debtor filed its First Amended Plan of Reorganization [Docket No. 1079] (the "Plan") and Disclosure Statement [Docket No. 1080] (the "Disclosure Statement"). A hearing on Debtor's Motion for Entry of an Order (A) Approving the Adequacy of the Disclosure Statement; (B) Scheduling a Hearing to Confirm the First Amended Plan of Reorganization; (C) Establishing Deadline for Filing Objections to Confirmation of Plan; (D) Approving Form of Ballots, Voting Deadline and Solicitation Procedures; and (E) Approving Form and Manner of Notice [Docket No. 1108], filed on September 28, 2020, is currently set for hearing on October 27, 2020 at 10:30 a.m. central.

8. Filed contemporaneously herewith, Daugherty has filed his Motion for Leave to Amend Proof of Claim No. 77 (the "Motion to Amend POC"). As explained more fully in the Motion to Amend POC, the proposed amendment to Daugherty's proof of claim does not add any additional bases or claims, but rather provides a definitive amount for one aspect of the claim, and provides further clarity as to other parts of the claim. The proposed amended proof of claim attached to the Motion to Amend POC asserts a claim in the amount of $40,710,819.42.

9. For the reasons identified and explained in the Brief, Daugherty respectfully requests that the Court enter an order allowing his claim, for voting purposes only, in the amount of $40,710,819.42.

WHEREFORE, PREMISES CONSIDERED, Daugherty respectfully requests that the Court enter an order allowing his claim, for voting purposes only, in the amount of $40,710,819.42 and granting such other and further relief to which the Debtor may be justly entitled.

Dated: October 23, 2020.

DALLAS, TEXAS - NOVEMBER 17, 2020 - 1:38 P.M.

THE CLERK: All rise. The United States Bankruptcy Court for the Northern District of Texas, Dallas Division, is now in session, the Honorable Stacey Jernigan presiding.

THE COURT: Good afternoon. Please be seated. We have a setting we'll start now in Highland, Case No. 19-34054. We have a motion of Patrick Daugherty to have his claim allowed for voting purposes under Bankruptcy Rule 3018. For Mr. Daugherty, who do we have appearing? Do we have Mr. Kathman and crew?

MR. KATHMAN: Good afternoon, Your Honor. Jason Kathman on behalf of Mr. Daugherty. I'm also joined today by my co-counsel in Delaware, Tom Uebler and Joe Christensen with the firm McCollum D'Emilio Smith & Uebler, LLC. They've been admitted pro hac vice in this case and they're going to be handling the case this morning for our side, Your Honor. We also have on the phone and in the WebEx today Mr. Daugherty as well.

THE COURT: All right. Very good. I see Mr. Morris up there. Are you going to be taking the lead for the Debtor this afternoon?

THE CLERK: He's on mute.

THE COURT: You're on mute, sir.

MR. MORRIS: Thank you very much. Yes, I -- yes, I will, Your Honor. It's John Morris from Pachulski Stang Ziehl

With the agreement of all of the parties, before we begin my partner Mr. Pomerantz would like to just briefly update the Court on certain plan issues, and then we'd like to proceed to the matter on the schedule.

THE COURT: All right. That is fine. So, we'll -- first off, I'm just going to note we have a lot of other participants showing on the video screen. I'm not going to take other appearances. I assume they're just interested observers today. The only pleadings on the contested matter were filed by Daugherty and the Debtor. But certainly if someone at some point has something to say regarding the case generally, I'm happy to hear anything people want to report.

So, with that, Mr. Pomerantz, what would you like to say?

MR. POMERANTZ: So, thank you, Your Honor. As Mr. Morris mentioned, I thought I would give Your Honor a brief update. We haven't been here in a couple of weeks, which has seemed like a lifetime, but I wanted to apprise the Court last Friday night the Debtor filed an amended plan and disclosure statement, pursuant to the Court's prior scheduling order. We also filed the infamous plan supplement, which was discussed in a lot of detail at the last hearing, which contained drafts, advance drafts of the principal plan implementation documents likely to be of interest to the creditors, including the Claimant Trust Agreement, the Liquidating Trust Agreement, other corporate organizational documents, and a list of retained causes of action under the plan.

And I'm pleased to report that over the last couple of weeks the Debtor and the Committee have made substantial progress in addressing the disputed issues that were forefront at the hearing on October 27th.

Such progress included a resolution of the structure and consideration relating to the releases to be provided under the plan; the identity of the independent board members and the Liquidating Trustee, or Litigation Trustee, excuse me; substantial agreement on the form of the Claimant Trust Agreement and the Litigation Trust agreement; and the inclusion of a protocol to address how disputed claims will be resolved.

While there are a few issues left to be resolved and ironed out between the Debtor and the Committee, (audio gap) can be resolved by Monday. We believe that as it relates to the Committee's issues next week, the hearing will largely be consensual, and we extend the opportunity to other parties who objected, including UBS, who has already reached out to us with a couple of comments they have, as well as we suggest that Mr. Daugherty and HarbourVest also reach out to us in advance of that hearing so that we can work through as many issues.

So, we took Your Honor's comments last week to heart, and

I think the parties have worked cooperatively to streamline to what I think will be a narrow set of issues, if any, that will be up for hearing on Monday, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Okay. That's very good to hear. I'll just check: Is Committee counsel on the line and do you wish to respond to that?

MR. CLEMENTE: Your Honor, it's Matt Clemente at Sidley. Can you hear me?

THE COURT: I can.

MR. CLEMENTE: Oh, hi, yeah, good afternoon, Your Honor. As Mr. Pomerantz I think has accurately captured of the current state of play, so we took the time that Your Honor wisely gave us and I think we worked very, very hard and I think we have come to conclusion on, you know, a variety of the issues that we had. Mr. Pomerantz is correct, there's a hearing full of things that we still need to discuss, Your Honor. But I would expect that either we come to a resolution on those or those are things that, you know, ultimately can be dealt with in connection with plan confirmation itself. But I agree with Mr. Pomerantz's comments.

THE COURT: Okay. Very good. Well, I hope all of you will keep working at it. You've got almost a week until we're here next Monday. So, UBS and the others, I really hope you will accept the invitation of Mr. Pomerantz you heard just now to talk to him and see if you can get your issues worked out.

All right. Well, we did note that you had filed the documents Friday night, and I think I know what my weekend activity is going to be besides, you know, watching my Longhorns: Reading the Highland disclosure statement and plan supplement. So, anyway, I look forward to doing that, and I will hope for a somewhat smooth hearing Monday, if not an entirely smooth hearing.

All right. Thank you for that report, Mr. Pomerantz.

MR. POMERANTZ: You're very welcome, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Okay. Thank you. All right. Well, let's turn to the matter at hand, the motion. You all have blessed me with lots of papers to read and exhibits for today. We have a two-hour time estimate, so I hope you will do your best to stick with that.

As far as your presentations today, let me tell you that I really don't need you to spend much time, if any, arguing the law, Bankruptcy Rule 3018(a), the case law construing it. I'm pretty familiar. It says such things as the Rule contemplates a summary estimation proceeding, not a full trial on the merits. The Court has a lot of discretion. So please don't argue the 20 or 30 cases that are out there that interpret Rule 3018. I'd really like to focus on the numbers more than anything else.

And so as far as opening statements, I'm going to turn to

-- I don't know if it will be Mr. Uebler or Mr. Christensen -- and ask you right off the bat: Why is the Debtors' suggested compromise of $9,134,019 not a fair resolution, when we all know that you can argue entitlement to every penny in that $40 million plus proof of claim ultimately in the adversary proceeding, in the trial on the proof of claim, but for now, it looks like the Debtor has put out a pretty reasonable olive branch? So let me just put you on the spot and ask you to start there in your opening statement.

MR. UEBLER: Thank you, Your Honor. This is Tom Uebler on behalf of Patrick Daugherty.

While it is a generous offer, it leaves disputed $31 -- approximately $31 million with respect to Mr. Daugherty's claims. The Debtor has agreed to the amount of Mr. Daugherty's 2012 Texas court judgment, plus interest, and the Debtor has also agreed to the unjust enrichment and promissory estoppel damages from the Delaware case in the amount of approximately $5 million. But what the Debtor refuses to agree to or acknowledge any potential liability for are the three other subparts of Mr. Daugherty's claim.

The first of those subparts is what we're calling the Reimbursement Claims, and that includes Mr. Daugherty's claims for contractual indemnification under Highland's partnership agreement. And it includes fees on fees -- at least that's how we refer to it in Delaware -- which are fees expended by Mr. Daugherty in seeking to establish his indemnification rights in Delaware. And finally, fee shifting, for what we have laid out as a decade pattern of litigation misconduct by Highland against Mr. Daugherty.

The Debtor also disputes Mr. Daugherty's claim for the remaining 80.9 percent of the value of HERA, Highland Employee Retention Assets. That claim is valued at approximately $21.2 million.

And finally, --

THE COURT: Let me stop you. Let me stop you there, because that's obviously a big, big, big chunk of the disparity. Remind me. Either you lost on that in Delaware, or I'm trying to remember, you abandoned it, you somehow had an adverse ruling in Delaware. Remind me real quick what that was.

MR. UEBLER: We did. We had an adverse ruling. We brought claims in Delaware as part of Mr. Daugherty's original pleading in 2017. And those were claims for breach of fiduciary duty, aiding and abetting breach of fiduciary duty. Ultimately, Mr. Daugherty was seeking to put back into HERA the millions of dollars that Highland had taken from HERA in 2013 and then to dissolve HERA. And it's Mr. Daugherty's position that he is the 100 percent owner of HERA at this point in time.

The Delaware Court of Chancery dismissed that portion of

Mr. Daugherty's pleading on laches grounds, finding that --

THE COURT: Yes.

MR. UEBLER: -- Mr. Daugherty should have filed that claim sooner. We argued that he was excused from the limitations period because there was an open question in the Texas courts about whether Mr. Daugherty remained a unit holder of HERA up through 2016. And that's an argument we plan to pursue on appeal.

To fully respond to your question, I want to note I read a footnote in the Debtors' opposition that said something like we've had a year to seek leave to file an appeal of that dismissal in Delaware. But we don't yet have a final appealable judgment in Delaware to appeal. That dismissal remains an interlocutory order. As Your Honor probably knows, we were in day three of trial on the claims that did survive the Debtors' motion to dismiss when this proceeding was filed. So we have not had an opportunity to appeal the dismissal of what we're calling the HERA 80 Percent Claim, but Mr. Daugherty intends to exercise those appellate rights in wherever the appropriate venue may be as this proceeds.

THE COURT: All right. Well, you know, courts always want to be pragmatic, as you know, in situations like this, 3018 estimation proceedings. And my pragmatic view of things is, while, again, we may have a multi-day trial one day where you convince me on this $21 million plus claim, that notwithstanding the Delaware court's dismissal of it for laches, at the end of the day you ought to get this, it seems like a pragmatic place to draw the line here today for purposes of an estimation hearing. I'm not sure how you could convince me in two hours that this absolutely is likely enough to prevail that you ought to get to vote the claim.

Another area, as long as I'm talking about pragmatic ways to resolve this issue today, is the post-petition interest. I have a feeling that's only a couple of hundred thousand dollars or so. But nevertheless, it's argued here somewhat extensively that Daugherty ought to get to keep accruing post-judgment interest on the HERA judgment post-petition because, you know, it's not really a judgment against the Debtor, it's a judgment against HERA, and the general 502(b)(2) you can't accrue post-petition interest, unmatured interest, if you're an unsecured creditor, ought not to apply. I'm just telling you right now, that would be a nonstarter here for me today. Again, I have a feeling that's only a couple of hundred thousand dollars, right? Maybe it's more than that. It can't be. Right?

MR. UEBLER: That's --

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. UEBLER: That's correct, Your Honor.

THE COURT: So, --

MR. UEBLER: So I won't, I won't address that any further.

THE COURT: Okay. So we can take that one off the table.

And then the other kind of pragmatic way I view things today is the attorney fee shifting. Now, you might be able to piece this together for me and show me that, contractually, under the indemnification provision, that there is some component of attorneys' fees that ought to be allowable, but, you know, to just generally kind of give a common law bad faith argument here, that I should depart from the American Rule -- you know, if there's no contractual entitlement, if there's no statutory entitlement -- that's a heavy lift. Again, you might prevail one day, but for purposes of a summary voting estimation claim context, I just don't see how you get there.

So, does that help narrow the issues today? I had trouble thinking how I'm ever going to get to the $21 million claim in a summary 3018 context, the breakaway from the American Rule on attorneys fee shifting, and then the post-petition interest.

So if you carve those away, I don't know how close we are to the $9,134,000 that the Debtor has proposed, but I guess we're still a few million away.

MR. UEBLER: We're getting closer, but let me respond to the pragmatic way of dealing with the HERA 80 Percent Claim, which is $21 million. We don't view that as at all a nothing amount for purposes of today. I might not convince you that Mr. Daugherty should be entitled to the entire $21 million, and I'm not -- I'm not going to try, because I do recognize that the claim was dismissed and that creates at least a procedural burden for us.

So, one result may be to award Mr. Daugherty a portion of that claim. But let me move on --

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. UEBLER: -- to address the fee issue. These are -- there are 30 different sources of Mr. Daugherty's rights to fee reimbursement, only one of which is the common law exception to the American Rule. And my thought was to just briefly outline what it is that we're asking for, break down Mr. Daugherty's claim, and then ask Mr. Daugherty to testify very briefly about how he calculated that amount and what out-of-pocket payments he's actually made throughout the course of this litigation, to give the Court an opportunity to see which of the different buckets the fees may fall into and how you may be able to resolve some or all of those amounts.

THE COURT: All right.

MR. UEBLER: So, the claim for indemnification and fee shifting, as I said, it has -- it has three components. The first, which we focused on in our reply, is the bad-faith fee shifting.

Now, in Mr. Morris's presentation that I expect him to show today, he'll refer to this as a new argument that wasn't in our Delaware complaint and was not in the proof of claim submitted by Mr. Daugherty. That's just not the case. This was an issue that was presented to the Delaware court in August 2019, before trial. We laid out why Mr. Daugherty should be entitled to fee shifting. And that's an issue that would have been addressed post-trial but for this bankruptcy. And that's based on the series of events that we laid out in detail -- probably too much detail for these purposes -- in our papers about shifting positions in litigation; attempts to put Mr. Daugherty in jail, which thankfully the Texas appellate court put a stop to; preventing Mr. Daugherty from collecting compensation that's rightfully his. All of that has cost Mr. Daugherty millions of dollars over the last ten years, and he hasn't recovered a dime.

So, the three legal doctrines are the bad-faith exception to the American Rule.

The second is contractual indemnification under Highland Capital's partnership agreement. This is a claim that was fully briefed on cross-motions for summary judgment in Delaware, and it was argued to the Delaware Vice Chancellor and submitted for a decision. The source of Mr. Daugherty's indemnification claim is Section 4.1(h) of Highland's partnership agreement, and that's Exhibit 39 in the papers we submitted. I'll just read briefly what that provision is.

It states that a partnership -- that is, Highland Capital -- shall indemnify and hold harmless the general partner -- which is a company called Strand -- and any director, officer, employee, agent, or representative of the general partner -- again, Strand -- against all liabilities, losses, and damages incurred by any of them by reason of any act performed or omitted to be performed in the name of or on behalf of the partnership -- which is Highland -- or in connection with the partnership's business -- which is Highland's business -- including, without limitation, attorney's fees and any amounts expanded in the settlement of any claims or liabilities, losses, or damages, to the fullest extent permitted by Delaware law.

Now, it was undisputed through summary judgment in the Delaware case and going I would say close to three years of litigation that Mr. Daugherty was a covered party under that provision. In other words, he was an officer, agent, representative of Strand who could be entitled to indemnification.

Highland admitted in every version of its answer in the Delaware case that Mr. Daugherty was, in fact, an officer or an agent of Strand through his resignation from Highland in 2011. But in this Court now, we have Highland claiming that Mr. Daugherty ceased being an officer of Strand in 2009.

And, in fact, just a few hours ago I received a few documents from Mr. Morris showing that Mr. Daugherty was not listed as an officer of Strand after 2009. I'm still processing in my own mind why I'm just receiving these documents now, after three years of litigation, why Highland made previous judicial admissions to the contrary, and why we made it through summary judgment without this issue being raised.

But ultimately, it doesn't matter, because Mr. Daugherty will prove, consistent with Highland's prior admissions in the Delaware court, that he is a covered person under this indemnification clause, because, at a minimum, he was an agent and representative of Strand through 2011.

And he'll also prove that all of the Texas litigation and what has happened since the Texas litigation began in 2012 really stems from what Mr. Daugherty did or did not do related to Highland's business. So the nexus requirement under the indemnification agreement is satisfied.

Again, this is an issue that was fully submitted to the Delaware court, but no decision was issued.

The third component of our reimbursement claim is fees on fees and the idea that, to the extent Mr. Daugherty is successful in establishing his contractual indemnification rights, he is also entitled to reimbursement for the cost of proving his entitlement to indemnification.

Now, if you put all of these three buckets together, you're left with $7.8 million. That's not an insignificant amount, and it's -- it's more than the $9 million that Highland has offered. And if any line is going to be drawn today, we submit that that line should be drawn to include this $7.8 million for -- based on the law that we've provided in our papers and based on the facts that we have demonstrated and the exhibits and Mr. Daugherty's declarations and the brief testimony you'll hear today about the litigation that Mr. Daugherty defended and what he's had to deal with for the last ten years.

I'm going to stop there. Do you have any questions at this time about the fee reimbursement portion of the claim, which is $7.8 million?

THE COURT: No questions on that.

MR. UEBLER: Okay. The one aspect of Mr. Daugherty's claim that we did not have an opportunity to talk about yet is what we're calling the 2008 Tax Refund Claim. And that's -- that's an amount of $2.6 million in Mr. Daugherty's proof of claim, and that amount should be allowed in full for voting purposes.

Now, I'm going to let Mr. Daugherty explain the factual background of this claim, but the short version is that Mr. Daugherty received compensation in 2008 from Highland Capital, and he received that compensation as an employee and in the form of a tax refund. The IRS is still in the process of auditing Highland's tax treatment for 2008, so there's a possibility that in the future the IRS will claw back Mr. Daugherty's 2008 compensation that was approximately $1.4 million. And with that would come interest and penalties that we estimate could total $2.6 million.

So, yes, it's correct that as of today there is no definite liability to the IRS. This is a contingent liability and we don't know what the total amount may be.

Now, if Highland hadn't come out and said in its adversary complaint that it's basically refusing to acknowledge any potential liability for this issue, we might not have a current claim to put before Your Honor today. But the fact that Highland has already come out and said it has no intention of either covering future tax liability or giving Mr. Daugherty substitute employee compensation for 2008 in the event that the IRS were to take that away, we think presents a live claim that Mr. Daugherty has sought to preserve through this proceeding.

He's not seeking a cash payment, ultimately. All he's looking for is some agreement by Highland to assume this liability or to put the money in escrow in the event of a clawback. But for voting purposes, we're asking that the full potential of $2.6 million for this claim be permitted.

And, you know, you asked earlier about why $9 million isn't enough. It's a matter of degree. Mr. Daugherty is a creditor and he is entitled to a say in the plan, and that's what we're trying to establish today. And we think it's important that Mr. Daugherty have a voice, and that voice carry some weight, to enable Mr. Daugherty to have a seat at the table, have a voice in the plan.

I think the more that this Court would be willing to permit at this summary stage of the proceedings, where there's a presumption in favor of claims, even if they're disputed -- I think that will be my only reference to 3018 law today -- we submit the Court should err on the side of more rather than less.

Mr. Morris and I had discussed doing mutual openings followed by Mr. Daugherty's testimony. I think now would be a good time to turn this over to Mr. Morris before we call Mr. Daugherty, if that works for you.

THE COURT: All right. That works for me. Mr. Morris?

MR. MORRIS: Good afternoon, Your Honor. John Morris; Pachulski Stand Ziehl & Jones, for the Debtor.

I really do appreciate Your Honor's preliminary projections of where we are. I had prepared a rather extensive presentation for the Court that I'm actually going to dispense with because I'd like to focus on the narrow issues that Your Honor has identified.

I want to begin by apologizing to the Court for having to engage in this process. We have tried very hard, I think as Your Honor has perceived, to fully resolve this particular motion. At the outset of the process, the Debtor readily acknowledged the validity of Mr. Daugherty's judgment in the amount of $2.6 million, plus interest, through $3.7 million. That's not an amount in dispute today. That won't be in dispute as a matter of his claim. We have admitted it, we acknowledge it, and it will be allowed in that amount.

We went one step further in the hope that it would resolve this motion by agreeing to allow the maximum amount that Mr. Daugherty's expert was prepared to testify to on the petition date for these promissory estoppel and other related claims. The expert at that time testified to a range of somewhere of four to about $4-1/2, $5-1/2 million, and that's how we arrived at the $9.1 million.

Let me make it clear, Your Honor, that if the parties are unable to resolve this, the Debtor will contest that. But for this purpose, we felt by giving it one hundred percent validity, notwithstanding the fact that we will contest it on the merits if needed, that that was a fair resolution, that that was a very simple way to get this done. Unfortunately, we were not successful.

We're here today not because we like to litigate but because we're doing our best for these estates and its stakeholders, including all unsecured creditors. Mr. Daugherty is entitled to a seat at the table. We have given him a seat at the table. He now sits with the third largest general unsecured claim that is going to be allowed, and that follows from the settlements with the Crusader and Redeemer Funds and with Acis. At $3.7 million, he's already got the third largest allowed claim. And we're prepared to give him a vote of over $9 million for this purpose. But what we don't do and we don't think our fiduciary duty will allow us to do is give him credit for claims that, in our view, clearly have no merit.

So let me just go through them very quickly. The first is a claim for over $20 million arising from the assertion that somehow he is now entitled to one hundred percent of the HERA assets. Mr. Daugherty -- I don't know Mr. Daugherty. I have no animosity against Mr. Daugherty. One of the things that I and my colleagues and the board have dealt with throughout this case is that there's so much baggage here, Your Honor. And it's -- this has been our burden, this has been our challenge, is to cut through this and try to get to the merits. What's really fair and what's really reasonable? And it's what we try to do in our settlement negotiations and it's the only reason we're here today, because we thought we made a generous offer.

And Mr. Daugherty is well within his rights to say, Not good enough. But we think, we think we've offered enough. When we think of his claim to a hundred percent of the HERA assets, he will testify, I assume, that when he left he had 19.1 percent. He never thought he had more than 19.1 percent. Nobody ever promised him any more than 19.1 percent. His expert in Delaware was prepared to testify on damages based on 19.1 percent. He actually pursued these claims, Your Honor, not just in Delaware, he actually started in Texas. He knew about this in 2013, right when it happened. It was part of his Texas action, and it was rejected. And you heard -- and we heard Mr. Uebler allude to it, right? So then he goes to -- he goes to Delaware and he tries to bring them again, maybe three years later, in 2017. These are undisputed facts, Your Honor. And they get dismissed.

Now, the interesting thing is, if you look at our Exhibit T, it's the Delaware -- I think it's V, actually. It's the Delaware court's order dismissing the claims. It didn't give a reason. But if you go back to Highland's brief, you'll see there's a multitude of reasons.

And when they use the phrase laches, Your Honor, it doesn't mean that Mr. Daugherty was found to have sat on his hands. The Delaware Chancery Court is a court of equity, and so they use equitable principles. What really happened is that the Delaware court found that the claim was barred by the statute of limitations because the cause of action arose in 2013, Mr. Daugherty knew that, and he didn't bring his action until 2017, more than, you know, more than the three-year statute of limitations.

But you'll see in the Debtors' brief, which we've cited, that Highland actually asserted a multitude of reasons why this claim should be barred. And we don't know exactly why the Chancery Court did it, but he's going to have to deal not just with laches -- which is the word, the phrase that's used for statute of limitations -- he's going to have to deal with promissory estoppel. He's going to have to -- not promissory estoppel; just estoppel generally. Res judicata. It's all in there. There is no chance he's going to succeed on this claim on appeal. And it's $21 million, and he shouldn't be given the right to vote any portion of it. That's number one.

Number two, with respect to the tax claim, what's really interesting here, Your Honor, is that there is no claim that Highland has breached any duty today. There's no claim that he's breached a contract -- that Highland has breached a contract. There's no claim that Highland has committed any tort.

What happened was, back in 2008, Mr. Daugherty, according to him, was promised $1.475 million as compensation. There was an agreement. That compensation was delivered to him not in cash but in the form of an allocation of losses from the Highland partnership. Mr. Daugherty was a limited partner.

He got over $4 million in losses. Those losses were recorded on a K-1 that's going to be admitted into evidence. And Mr. Daugherty took those losses and shielded his income and his gains in other places in his life, I don't know. But the benefit of that was $1.475 million.

Mr. Daugherty never says that Highland breached its agreement. He never says that Highland failed to perform. He never says that Highland did anything wrong. All that's happened here, Your Honor, is that the IRS is conducting an audit of Highland's 2008 taxes, including these losses. Okay? So, as we sit here today, Highland owes zero. There is no basis to give him any claim for voting purposes. There's just, there's no reason. It may be -- later that he should be getting. And what I would find to be very reasonable is that we are here on the merits and he asked the Court to establish a reserve. I think it's almost what Mr. Uebler asked for, that you establish some type of reserve for a contingent claim. You know, that would make sense. But that's not why we're here today. We're here to say whether or not he's allowed to vote this claim, a claim where Highland today admittedly owes nothing.

So, you know, I think that that dispenses with the tax issue.

The last one is this claim for attorneys' fees. I will tell you, Your Honor, I didn't have a good weekend myself this past weekend because I had to flip through 2,600 pages of Mr. Daugherty's appendix. I don't have the experience here on (garbled), but I waded all through that stuff. And Mr. Uebler and I have a very cordial relationship, which I'm grateful for, and we were talking on Friday, and he said, Why do you guys say that he resigned from Strand in 2009? And I said, I don't know where I picked it up, but that's what I put in here. And he said, But that's not right. And I asked him, I said, If you have a letter of resignation, you have something, give it to me. And he didn't give me anything.

But last night -- and this is why it came up at the last minute. This is why it came up at the last minute. Last night, they filed a declaration from someone named Mr. Covlin or Colvin, who I hadn't heard of but who apparently was the Highland general counsel back when Mr. Daugherty was at Highland. And you'll see in Paragraph 5 of his declaration he says, I don't have a memory of Mr. Daugherty resigning from the Strand board before he left in 2011. And I said to myself, I don't -- I don't understand why people can't -- there's got to be a letter of resignation, there's got to be something to prove the fact.

And so I called Highland this morning and I said, When did he resign? Do we have anything? I said, I want anything you can find. And we're going to put into evidence, Your Honor, two different exhibits, one of which, ironically, is a Secretary's Certificate that was signed by Mr. Colvin. And it was signed in early 2009, where he certifies to the Strand board resolutions, which set forth the officers of the company, and Mr. Daugherty is not on it.

The second document, Your Honor, is even more significant. It is a periodic statement of the officers of Strand that are listed by individual with their title and each person signs it. And what the evidence is going to show is that Mr. Daugherty signed his statement as either Secretary or Assistant Secretary every single time from 2006 until about March of 2009. And then in the mid-2009 document, consistent with Mr. Colvin's certificate, Secretary's Certificate, he's no longer there, but Mr. Colvin was still signing all of his papers without Mr. Daugherty.

So I don't really know the record of Delaware. I'm doing the best I can, Your Honor. But I don't think that there's going to be any dispute at the end of all of this that Mr. Daugherty ceased to be a director or an officer of Strand sometime between March and May 2009.

Why is that significant? Because that is what he hangs his hat on in order to establish his claim for indemnification. We don't think there is any claim because he was no longer an officer of Strand after early 2009.

Even if he was, Your Honor, everything that he's seeking indemnification for now arose after he left in 2011. He's trying to use the indemnification provision in order to recover his attorneys' fees, attorneys' fees that were recovered [sic] after 2011, that were incurred solely for his own personal benefit.

It's not as if he brought a claim derivatively on behalf of Highland. Instead, he pursued litigation where he would recover damages, where he was the plaintiff. In fact, Highland was a defendant, is a defendant in a lot of this litigation. I don't understand how anyone can fairly read an indemnification agreement that requires the indemnitee to act on behalf of the indemnitor, and that somehow suing an indemnitor is consistent with the concept of indemnification. It just, it doesn't make sense. He wasn't there. The fees accrued after the fact. There's just, there's no basis for it.

And fees on fees, that other concept that they're building upon, is fees on top of fees to pursue indemnity. So if the indemnity doesn't work, fees on fees don't work either, Your Honor.

And I'll just very briefly, the fee shifting thing, I heard Your Honor's point. But, again, I bear no ill will toward Mr. Daugherty, but a fair reading of the record says that nobody comes to this, none of those parties come here with unclean hands. Mr. Daugherty was found to have breached his fiduciary duty. The only judgments that have been rendered by any court so far have him paying Highland 2.8 and Highland paying him 2.6. He complains that so many of Highland's causes of actions were dismissed. We could do a scorecard if you think it's necessary showing that Daugherty's claims and causes of action were dismissed.

I heard Mr. Uebler talk about, you know, the appellate court reversing the criminal issue. But you know what, Your Honor? The trial court actually agreed with Highland there.

So, again, fee shifting is an extreme remedy, the absolute extreme remedy in the United States. And, again, not to cast aspersions against Mr. Daugherty, but nobody comes here with unclean hands. There's no basis to do it in this particular case.

So we think $9.1 million was very fair, Your Honor. We think the undisputed facts are going to show that the balance of these claims are without merit at the merit hearing, but certainly for this purpose, Your Honor. He doesn't -- he doesn't come close to the -- even the low bar that's needed for voting purposes.

Thank you, Your Honor.

THE COURT: All right. Thank you. Mr. Uebler, you can call your witness.

MR. UEBLER: Thank you, Your Honor. Mr. Daugherty, are you available?

MR. DAUGHERTY: Yes. I am here.

THE COURT: All right. Mr. Daugherty, I'm going to swear you in.

PATRICK DAUGHERTY, CREDITOR PATRICK DAUGHERTY'S WITNESS, SWORN

THE COURT: Thank you. You may proceed.

(Note: Witness muffled throughout testimony.)

DIRECT EXAMINATION

BY MR. UEBLER:

Q Good afternoon, Mr. Daugherty.

A Good afternoon.

Q I'd like to begin by asking you a few questions about what we call the fee reimbursement portion of your claim. Would you explain to the Court what out-of-pocket payments are included as components of that claim?

A As far as category or number?

Q What's -- however you'd like to address it. Maybe categories and then number.

A Sure. There's (inaudible) I'm pursuing for the costs incurred pursuant to executing my release under Strand. And just to be clear, Strand reimburses not just for officers and executives, but also for representatives in any case, which is consistent with what Highland said in Delaware on multiple occasions.

Then there are fees on fees, which is, under Delaware law as I understand it, I'm entitled to the fees that I had to incur in order to gain -- in order to get Highland to make good on its promise in that original partnership agreement with Strand and Highland.

And then, let's see, indemnification, fees on fees. And then there's my claim for the fee-shifting. And I certainly understand the concept of the American Rule and the judge's point, and (inaudible), but what you have to remember here is there was a crime fraud finding in Delaware which caused Highland to lose its attorney-client privilege where we discovered that its in-house counsel -- Scott Ellington, Isaac Leventon, Thomas Surgent -- working with outside counsel, basically provided prima facie evidence of a fraud. So this moves far beyond just, you know, two parties going at it. This has been, again, that Highland sued based on, frankly, lying to that very same judge in Dallas County Court that Mr. Morris referred to. And not only the judge, the jury, where we have (inaudible) law from the various outside firms summarizing what these people -- you know, again, I generally refer to them as the cabal. But this just goes far beyond two parties having a good-faith battle with one another. This turns into, frankly, fraud. And I've had -- and by the way, Judge (inaudible) in Delaware Chancery Court, once he made this ruling, said that he sees evidence of fraud going all the way back to December of 2013, when Highland allegedly set up an escrow account on my behalf, and it never happened. And not only did it not happen, but again, they told Judge Hoffman down in Texas and they told the jury that it did happen. And (inaudible) and everyone else on multiple occasions that (inaudible), only to find out in December of 2016, after all appeals -- the appeal process was exhausted, that most of that money was never put into escrow. Again, they never (inaudible) Dondero (inaudible). And (inaudible), his counsel. But that what any of those assets were there would have been shifting -- and when I say they, I mean Scott Ellington and Isaac Leventon -- while they (inaudible) my house in Dallas, while they were claiming that I had (inaudible) and were seeking turnover in Dallas, while they were terrorizing my family and sending the cops on the house, they had all those assets shifted to themselves, kept quiet about it, and then proceeded to order me to make a $3.1 million (inaudible) for their attorneys' fees.

I don't think a fraud can get more absolute than that. And so that is, you know, that's my quick summary on the nature of those fees. And, again, I know this (inaudible), but this is just a little bit different than your, you know, run-of-the-mill situation.

Q Mr. Daugherty, you mentioned indemnification in your answer. Did Highland or its affiliates assert claims against you in Texas state court based on your conduct as a Highland employee?

A They did. I mean, I was accused of having (inaudible), of committing securities fraud violations, of not executing my duties to investors, when in fact I was doing just the opposite and (inaudible) protecting them from being defrauded. And some of those investors are on the Creditors' Committee today, as the Crusader and Redeemer Committee, is Eric Felton, (inaudible) Montgomery. Those were the people I was trying to protect from -- and by the way, at the end of the day, I felt like I protected Highland, too, to keep them from doing something stupid that could end us in this -- all of us in the situation where we are today.

So I was executing my duties as a portfolio manager. I was -- and by the way, that carried all the way through to January or February of 2012, after I left, because what Mr. Morris didn't tell you is in Mr. Colvin's affidavit I was enlisted by Highland to come to an exit interview after I had resigned, where they wanted to hear two categories of topics. One, the performance of the individual (inaudible) in the Crusader Fund, because Highland had lied to them (inaudible). They wanted to hear from me what I thought its true value was. One of those investments was Cornerstone, which we're all familiar with.

And then the other category of topics that they wanted to discuss with me was (inaudible) leaving Highland. And that included the timing, (inaudible) efforts. Money was being thrown at me, or offered to me, I should say, directly from Dondero, from Cornerstone, to pay me a (inaudible) in order to seek releases for Highland.

So, you add all these things up together, and I was performing my duties as their portfolio manager and as a fiduciary that basically superseded any duty that I had to Highland itself when it came to those clients, which was my fund, Crusader, that I managed and that ultimately the beneficiaries, the investors, led by, as I said, one of their UCC members, Eric Felton, (inaudible) at the time, who now leads the Crusader entity.

Q Mr. Daugherty, with that background about the different bases for your theory (inaudible) claim, could you quantify it for us, how you reached $7.8 million?

A Well, the total fund, for the total 7.8, the answer is yes, I could break it down into individual components if it would be helpful to the judge because I believe the -- I believe the indemnification part of that, which the judge seemed to have issues with, was around 1.5, if I remember correctly. The rest of it was fees on fees, and defending myself against false accusations from the Debtor, and executing (inaudible) to defend those investors from -- (inaudible) that they were getting ripped off by Highland, by Dondero.

Q Are there any other components to your -- the amount that's represented in your fee claim?

A It's fees on fees. I think we touched on that. So that's related to the (inaudible).

Q You're -- you're saying that the claim included a reference to IRA penalties and --

A Oh, yeah. So, you know, when you have to proceed like this, and I know I've been presented as this rich greedy person, but there's a reason why Highland was wanting to get garnishment and wanting to seize my assets with the constable, because I got (inaudible) fighting this. And Judge Jernigan, I was in your case on another matter and you asked why there's not counsel, it's because I didn't have the money. And so one of the things I had to do was cash in my IRA, my wife's IRA.

Q What's --

A I had to take a mortgage on my house. I had -- with interest on that. And with penalties on the IRA. I did not (inaudible) -- I did not -- I hate this. I hate talking about this. Is that enough?

Q I want to talk briefly about this tax refund claim for 2008 and the basis for it. What -- what is this tax refund that you received in 2008?

A (inaudible). In 2008, and I put it in a page in my declaration, Highland was in trouble (inaudible) of the crisis, you know, the various -- and we had talked about our credit facility with our banks, led by Bank of America (inaudible), but they were unsecured. So what that's -- the way it's drafted, and they wanted to get secured. In the process, I was having negotiations, which (inaudible) into 2009. They were concerned that money was being siphoned out of Highland while we were in breach of our credit facility. Initially -- initially, they thought all the partners were taking money out, and after getting their -- after getting their forensic accountants in there from FTI, they discovered that the only people taking money out was Dondero and Okada, under a guise of quote/unquote repaying a loan to themselves.

So, in the heat of all that, there were two things that came from that. One, they shut down all the money going out of Highland and they closed (inaudible). We had to reduce our headcount by 20 percent. We also had to reduce our costs, you know, our outgoing costs, as you would expect when you're in this type of situation.

Well, the problem was there wasn't enough money to pay the cash element of bonuses that were coming due in February of 2009 for the work that we (inaudible), you know, operate for the year 2008. The way it worked at Highland, and still does apparently, the employees work the full year, and then in February of the following year they get a compensation benefits letter that says, Here's what your bonus is. Here's what your tax bonus is going to be. It's going to be paid out in installments, call it February or August, February and August of the subsequent years. And then there would be some type of deferred compensation and then some type of listing of the value of the (inaudible). So we got lunch generally every day, we had healthcare costs paid for, we had life insurance. And so we (inaudible) out all these things (inaudible).

And I think what you're asking in your question is, Where did the tax refund come in this? Well, historically, we would -- we would have got a cash bonus in that particular, you know, document that I mentioned. But (inaudible) pay cash bonuses beyond a de minimis amount. Dondero and, I believe, Mark Patrick in the tax groups and Rick Swadley, and there's another one, Jennifer Blumer, I think, and Michael Collins, they called all of us into the conference room and they said, We're going to pay your cash bonuses, but we're going to have to do it by making this election with the IRS.

And, frankly, none of us really understood what it was. It was very convoluted. But when we got our February 2009 award letter, and I think that's an exhibit in here somewhere, it says very clearly -- in my case, anyway -- (inaudible) tax refund, $1.475 million. And then it says, You're going to get this -- and I'm paraphrasing -- but, You're going to get this amount, but to the extent that you don't get this amount, we will provide you, you know, Highland will provide you substitute compensation.

So it was very important that -- to take the place of what had (inaudible) cash bonus, but it was compensation through and through. And when you hear Mr. -- Mr. Morris, I'm sorry, go on about me getting $4 million in the loss, well, I did get (inaudible) that had a $4 million loss. As the IRS interpreted it, they only netted, I guess, accepted it, the -- they had the number equivalent at roughly 1.1.

But the point in all this is that was the method that Dondero and the tax team had concocted to generate the funds for Highland, its separate obligation, this is a compensation of benefits letter that I got.

And we understood the situation that Highland was in and we were willing to live with that. Where I think things went bad -- and by the way, this has been dragged out forever, Your Honor. I've talked to Mr. Stewart about it. I informed the IRS, tried to settle it. And I know (inaudible) probably never (inaudible), I'm more than willing to work with the Debtor to get it settled. But what I want, and I don't know how this works in bankruptcy, Your Honor, I -- I've got a claim, so I filed the claim, because if you don't file the claim, you lose it. Right? And then what happens is I'm (inaudible) the Debtor. The Debtor (inaudible) as an adversary, said, We're going to equitably subordinate this because this is equity in nature. And at one time, the method of payment that was concocted by the Debtor (inaudible) was, the compensation agreement is separate and apart from that, and that stands. And neither I nor any of the other guys that got this are looking for a windfall. And I don't know how you vote it. I mean, if the Debtor had said, We're just going to assume this like a lease contract, I wouldn't be in here asking you to put a number on it. But what I got was an adversary saying, We're not going to pay this. We're going to go equitably subordinate this, even if you're trying to, you know, get it reimbursed through the partnership. So that forced me to bring it to you, Your Honor, and try to put a number on it.

Q Mr. Daugherty, during your time with Highland Capital, did you receive cash distributions from Highland in your capacity as a limited partner of Highland?

A That's a very important point. These K-1's that -- there were two kinds of partners at Highland. There were the real partners, Jim Dondero and Mark Okada, who referred to themselves as founding partners, and then there were the subclass of partners, really, we kind of -- we called ourselves profit centers partners because we had a place in the partnership but we weren't allowed to get any distributions.

So whenever you see a K-1, we didn't get any of that money. All right? That money stayed in the partnership or went to Mark and Jim. What we had was what's called a (inaudible) and a buy-sell agreement that were attached to the partnership which -- that basically we didn't get any (inaudible) distributions or income from this, but what we got was at the end of that time we could go and terminate it and say, Pay me out now, and at that point it would be valued. And so in my case, when I left, the value that they offered me was $199,000. For all, for all those years of service. And so to answer your question, no, I didn't get any money from it.

Q Thank you. I want to ask you just a few questions about the HERA 80 or 81 Percent Claim that they were referring to. At a high level, what is HERA?

A Well, this goes back to the same situation I was talking about before as it related to this 2008 tax refund. As I mentioned, we were losing employees. People were leaving. I mean, we started the year in 2008 with 22 partners and we were down to I think 11 or 12 at the start of 2009. The banks were just, the banks were furious and they were talking about liquidating us and getting a trustee put in place because they were furious to find out that Dondero and Okada had taken out money. It was around $20 or $30 million.

Once we got through that hurdle, I said, Listen -- because I became, by the way, Your Honor, I became Highland's kind of advisor, restructuring person. I did that for Highland as (inaudible) usually us on the same side of the table as the banks on, you know, I was head of distressed and private equity at Highland, so I -- distressed debt and go and negotiate at the Debtors' beck and call.

In this position, I moved over to the other side of the table and I was negotiating on behalf of Highland with a lot of my colleagues who were in the distressed community, which I generally refer to as knuckle raps. But they knew me, and I knew them, and we sort of -- and we had trust between each other, especially given what had just happened. And they agreed to set aside HERA, which is an acronym for Highland Employee Retention Assets, and it was a fund where they set aside, I don't know, around $20 to $25 million of assets that would then be used to incent employees to stay. And it had a three-year cliff vesting. And what happened is they didn't have any money left. Well, the employees that remained got reallocated their shares. So, contrary again to what Mr. Morris said, there was an agreement that the ownership interest would go up as we stayed through and helped right-size the ship.

Q Mr. Daugherty, why is it that you contend now that you're the one hundred percent owner of HERA?

A Well, this goes back to bad faith. And I sympathize with the judge, I did give you a ton of information, but this has just been nine years of terrorizing, you know, that I've had to contend with. And if you look back to December of 2012, January of 2013, a gentleman named (inaudible) had sent Dondero an email saying, Here's how you can pay everybody except for one. And (inaudible) board member on HERA. And on HERA's board, there's affiliates of this guy. Ellington and John (inaudible). It's basically Jim's buddies, Jim Dondero's buddies, not (inaudible). So he sent me this email saying, Here's how you can pay everybody but one. So we get into January 2013, and Highland purports to make an offer to buy out everybody at HERA except me. Well, guess what. In the middle of January, all of the board resigns, without having anyone change the shareholder unit to the LLC and without taking board action that would allow Highland Capital to be an assignee of these units.

There is a reason for this. We go back to why HERA was created. The banks were furious about Mark and Jim taking money and the banks wanted to take a secured interest in all things Highland. So what we agreed is we would put it in a (inaudible), in an entity referred to as HERA, and Mark and Jim and Highland would not be able to participate in it. So they are not recipients of the preferred units, and the only way it can ever become (inaudible) preferred units is for there to be action taken, specific action take to amend the documents, or by the board, if they remain. And in my Texas trial, this issue did come up, and Thomas Surgent said that no such action was taken. Thomas Surgent is Highland's chief compliance officer. (inaudible). I'm getting a little --

Q I'm just going to ask two questions briefly before we turn this over to Mr. Morris. How did you calculate the value of $21 million for this HERA 80 Percent Claim?

A I took what -- Highland took my own expert report and made it attorneys' eyes only in Delaware. So my lawyers could never sit down with me and explain it to me. So all I could go off of was what I saw at the trial. And it was only the last two or three days where Mr. Morris, he did file the entire expert opinion of my expert where I could see all the components.

So, at the time, I took what my expert was saying was the value of my expert assets, I think as of December 2016. And since I knew that that was based on 19.1 percent, I divided that number by 19.1 percent, came up with a total, and then re-multiplied by 80 -- 80.1 percent, to find out what that delta was.

Q Given that these claims were dismissed on procedural grounds in Delaware, and having heard Judge Jernigan's comments earlier about this claim and its value for voting purpose, what do you as the Claimant believe a fair allocation of this claim is for voting purposes?

MR. MORRIS: Objection to the form of the question.

THE WITNESS: Listen. I've --

THE COURT: Overruled.

THE WITNESS: -- been around Judge Jernigan --

THE COURT: Overruled. You can answer.

THE WITNESS: I've been around Judge Jernigan long enough to know that she means what she says and she says what she means. And I understand her reservations on this, too. But I will say there are some mitigating factors here that Highland, in Texas and all the way through the Texas Court of Appeals, they were saying (inaudible), this is a double counting, this is a double counting. That (inaudible) up for reconsideration in a court -- Texas Court of Appeals (inaudible), and the Court refused to see it that way. Then when we went to Delaware, they(inaudible), they said, Oh, no, we have cures. There's laches, statute of limitation is operating against them.

And so my reaction to that was, How am I supposed to be in an action based on my share ownership when you're saying I don't even own my share ownership and it's not determined until December 2016?

It is true that Judge (inaudible) said you should have basically filed a placeholder. As I've learned a little bit about Delaware law, I don't think that is consistent with Delaware law, but it is what it is. And if Judge Jernigan (inaudible) position. So if she's right to say that I could bring these claims over (inaudible) you know, contains, you know, a different item. And so you're asking me whether (inaudible) advice to the judge? I would say that I'm more -- I'm more than agreeable to whatever she decides. I just want to know -- her to know why I'm here and what this is about, that this is not frivolous, but if it doesn't end with plan voting as she sees it, then I can live with that.

Q Thank you, Mr. Daugherty.

THE COURT: All right. Thank you. Pass the witness. Mr. Morris?

MR. MORRIS: Thank you, Your Honor.

CROSS-EXAMINATION

BY MR. MORRIS:

Q Good afternoon, Mr. Daugherty.

A Hello.

Q My name is John Morris with Pachulski Stang and I'm here on behalf of the Debtor. We've never spoken before, have we?

A Yeah, we have.

Q Yeah? I don't --

A Yes.

Q I don't recall. But it's --

A You were in in-person court in Judge Jernigan's court in January and February and I think we spoke.

Q Okay. Well, forgive me for not recalling that particular detail. I just wanted -- just a few questions, sir. On the tax issue, according to your testimony you were promised $1.475 million approximately in connection with your 2008 compensation; do I have that right?

A That's correct.

Q And I understand your testimony that it was Highland's idea, but you agreed to the method of compensation in the form of an allocation of Highland's partnership losses, right?
A I would not say that. There was no -- it was dictation, not an offer and acceptance.
Q Well, you did accept -- you did accept the benefit of the allocation of the Highland losses on your 2008 tax returns, right?
A I -- I don't know if accept is the right answer. I sent my K-1 in with my tax return, and as I clearly admit, there's approximately $4 million of losses that are allocated to me via the K-1 that they could use in the computation of my taxes.
Q Okay. So it's fair to say, then, that the manner in which, or I think the word that was used in your papers, the method by which you were compensated was through the allocation of a portion of Highland's losses; is that right?
A That is wrong. I was compensated that said you're going to get 1.475. If you don't get 1.475, we will provide substitute compensation. What you're confusing is the manner in which Highland decided to try and fund the obligation, and I just don't think it's right to conflate the two.
Q Well, Highland did fund the obligation through the allocation of losses to you; isn't that right?
A It is not. As I said, I got the $4 million pass-through that the IRS determined was approximately $1.1 million, as I recall.

Again, I'm not here to try to capture that missing 3.75. All I want is Highland to basically stay in the shoes if -- or stand by the promise that they made, that they made, sorry, that they made to me, which is if the IRS changes their mind or if Highland (inaudible) and wanted to start to use this (inaudible) argument, that I get sufficient compensation to make me whole.

I mean, at this point, if that -- if we aren't successful, right, on this tax refund issue, then I'm going to get -- not just me. There's about seven or eight other employees who have all also filed claims in this case. We're going to get hammered with penalties and interest that far exceed that amount, and that's not fair.

Q Okay. As of today, Highland doesn't owe you -- that audit is not complete; is that right?

A Well, it's -- the audit took place for two years, and you're probably familiar more than me, I got a letter from Byron Collins in December of 2019, after the Debtor filed for bankruptcy, saying, We've exhausted effectively our negotiations with the IRS. We've now turned this over to some appeals unit in the IRS, and they determined that you don't get -- I'm paraphrasing -- that you don't get to keep this amount.

Now, that basically put me on notice, right, that this is coming to somewhat of a conclusion. (inaudible), I listed it as a claim, I listed it as unliquidated, because I really don't know how to treat it. I guess, I mean, hopefully, the judge makes a decision, and the same kind of category, I don't know how you classify this thing. But when you guys filed an adversary against me and said, You know what, by the way, (inaudible) to me about any of my clients. So when you present to the Court that you engage me and (inaudible) with this guy, you guys didn't talk to me once from the time you filed until October about my claims. You did it just recently, after you filed an adversary. I would have been happy to work with you on this.

MR. MORRIS: Your Honor? Your Honor, I apologize for interrupting. Can I have the question read back? Because I really move to strike. I'll be here all day if we get these answers that really have nothing to do with my question.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. MORRIS: It's not proper.

THE COURT: Well, I'm going to sustain and strike the narrative answer. I'm going to ask you to just repeat your question at this point.

MR. MORRIS: Okay.

BY MR. MORRIS:

Q The audit is not completed; isn't that correct?

A I don't know. I've been told by you that it's not.
Q Okay. And nobody has told you and you have no information to contradict my assertion that the audit is incomplete today?
A That's correct.
Q And as you sit here today, you don't know how much, if anything, you might owe on account of the tax issue. Is that right?
A That is right.
Q Okay. You first learned about the audit in 2010; isn't that correct?
A I don't know when I first learned about the audit.
Q You learned about the audit before you left Highland; isn't that correct?
A I know that when we filed this, you know, when we filed the returns, we had to file a cover letter that basically notified the IRS, hey, and I'm paraphrasing, we made these elections, you may not agree with these elections, but we're drawing your attention to it right now to put you on notice that we're making these elections. So that's what I know.
Q When is your first recollection of when you learned about the audit?
A I don't recall.
Q Okay. Let's talk about the HERA assets for a moment. When you left in 2011, you owned approximately 19.1 percent of the HERA preferred units; is that right?

A That is right.
Q Okay. And you learned in 2013 of the events that you described earlier with respect to the amendment of the HERA partnership agreement -- limited liability -- limited liability company agreement, the assignment agreement, the expense allocation? All of that occurred in 2013, and you knew it at that time, right?
A Well, if I could clarify that. I believe I was informed that the amendment -- you had a lot of questions in there, so I'll try and break it down. The amendment -- you're talking about 1241, right? I believe I was informed, informed of that either late February or early March 2014.
On the other stuff, we had -- we had sought discovery, and, you know, people have experiences that you don't always get discovery on an expedited basis all the time. We started to take discovery in dribs and drabs in -- early in July, and then a lot more in October and then a lot more in December of 2013. So the (inaudible) that you asked me a question about, we got a lot of it in that time period, and then some of it rolled into 2014.
Q Okay. So, you knew about Highland's purchase of the other holders of the HERA preferred units in 2013, right?
A Yeah, I knew about the purported purchase probably in February 2013.
Q And the purchases were by people who hold -- who held vested interests in their preferred units in HERA; isn't that right?

A You said it was by them. I think it was from them. But I think (inaudible).

Q If I did, I misspoke, but thank you for the correction. But you'll agree, right, that -- that you knew in 2013 that Highland purchased from the vested holders of the preferred units their interests in -- in the HERA --

A You know, I knew that ultimately that happened. I don't remember if I knew definitively it happened until probably October of 2013.

Q Okay. And you don't bring these claims relating to all of this -- all of these things that happened in 2013 until the summer of 2017 in Delaware; is that right?

A That -- that's generally about right.

Q Okay. And that's more than three years after you learned of them. Is that fair?

A I brought my claims after the Texas Court of Appeals said that I had that shares that your clients said I didn't.

Q Okay.

MR. MORRIS: I'd move to strike.

BY MR. MORRIS:

Q And I ask you to just listen carefully to --

THE COURT: Sustained.

BY MR. MORRIS:

Q -- my question. Okay. Listen carefully to my question. You brought the claims relating to the HERA events of 2013 for the very first time in Delaware in July 2017, right?

A Yes.

Q And it's more than three years after you learned of them; is that fair?

A I'm sorry. More than three years--?

Q More than three years after you learned of those events. You just said that you learned about them in 2013.

A I think that's right, yeah.

Q Okay. And you brought four different claims? I think claim -- Counts 2, 3, 4, and 5 in the original Delaware action were all based on the events of early 2013; is that right?

A I don't know. I don't -- I don't -- frankly, I don't recall my claims (inaudible) that you described.

Q Okay.

MR. MORRIS: Can we please call up Exhibit A to Mr. Daugherty's proof of claim, which I believe has been marked as Exhibit 40?

THE COURT: Okay. Are you going to share the screen or do you want the Court to pull it up?

MR. MORRIS: Yes.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. MORRIS: I think we'll be able to share the screen. Thank you. And if we could just scroll to the end.

And I apologize, I don't have the page number, but it should be --

THE WITNESS: Could you go back up to the top, just so I know what I'm dealing with here?

BY MR. MORRIS:

Q Yeah. It's Paragraph 82.

A No, I'm looking at the date this was filed. Can you do it to the top? All right. So this is --

Q This is your amended pleading.

A Oh, this -- okay. You mentioned 2017, so I got a little bit thrown off. Okay.

Q So this is the -- this is the document that was attached to your proof of claim. That's why I'm using it. Okay?

A Okay. We've amended our proof of claim. You're talking about the first one?

Q This is the -- this is the one that was attached to your proof of claim, right?

A Well, as I said, we've amended the proof of claim. So are we talking about the one that's amended or the first one?

Q All right. Just take a look,

MR. MORRIS: If you can scroll down to Paragraph -- keep -- no, keep going. Keep going. La Asia, can we scroll down, please? Okay. So go to Paragraph 84 and 85. Okay.

BY MR. MORRIS:

Q Can you read Paragraph 85 into the record, please?

A (inaudible) unit holder of Highland Employee Retention Assets. The purported purchases of units by Highland Capital on January 30th, 2013 using the funds of Highland Employee Retention Assets were -- were invalid transfers.

Q Okay. And that's exactly what you're asking the Court here to find; isn't that right? That you're the sole remaining holder and that the purported purchases by Highland in 2013 were invalid transfers, right?

A Correct.

Q Okay.

A Well, we're not asking her to find that, but we're asking her to find for voting purposes.

Q Okay.

MR. MORRIS: Can you go to Paragraph 89, please?

BY MR. MORRIS:

Q In 89, the relief that you requested is the return to HERA of the funds transferred it and distributed to you as the sole remaining shareholder, right?

A That's correct.

Q And that's specifically one of the claims that the Court dismissed; isn't that right?

A I thought it dismissed the claims for me making ownership of the, you know, the (inaudible) because of the laches issue that you described.

Q Sir, sir, this claim was dismissed by the Chancery Court, right?

A It was dismissed by Judge (inaudible) who's the Chancery Court on laches grounds.
Q Okay. How do you know it was on laches grounds?
A Because he said so.
Q Okay. Can we just look quickly at Cause of Action No. 3? This was a claim arising out of the exact same conduct against HERA Management and Mr. Dondero; isn't that right?
A I'm not sure I understand your question.
Q Count III was against HERA Management and Mr. Dondero arising out of the same facts, only this claim was for breach of fiduciary duty, right?
A I guess it was breach of fiduciary duty. I don't see -- I guess Mr. Dondero down there in No. 2, but I can't read the whole paragraph.
MR. MORRIS: Can you scroll down a little bit, please?
BY MR. MORRIS:
Q Okay. Right there, Paragraph 93?
A Correct.
Q The adoption of the third amended and restated agreement you allege to be self-dealing and constituting a breach of fiduciary duty, right?
A Correct.
Q And in Paragraph 94, if we can scroll down, you allege that the execution of the allocation, the expense allocation whereby your interest was reduced to zero was also self-dealing and a breach of duty, right?

A Can you go back there? I can't read it.

Q But you recall making that claim generally?

A (inaudible) You know, give -- ask me the question again about generally what I recall.

Q Do you recall generally making an allegation in the Delaware Chancery Court that there is a breach of fiduciary duty by executing the expense allocation agreement, right?

A Yeah. On behalf of Highland ERA Management.

Q Okay.

MR. MORRIS: Can we go to Paragraph 95, please?

BY MR. MORRIS:

Q You also challenge the assignment agreement, is that right, as an act of self-dealing and breach of fiduciary duty?

A Yeah. I obviously can't read the redacted parts.

Q But this claim was also dismissed, right?

A As I said, these claims were reduced on a laches basis, but obviously I plan to appeal. I just (inaudible).

Q Right. And laches you understood meant that it was time-barred, right? It was brought beyond the statute of limitations?

A Yeah, as I understood it, yes.

Q Okay.

MR. MORRIS: Can we go to the next cause of action? This will be the last one, Your Honor.

BY MR. MORRIS:

Q This is against the Debtor, Highland Capital. Aiding and abetting breach of fiduciary duty. If you look at Paragraphs 101 and 102 and 103, it's charging Highland with liability for the same conduct, for the execution of the third amended and restated agreement, the receipt of the HERA assets, right, as --

A Correct.

Q -- part of -- and this too was dismissed on statute of limitations grounds, right?

A I believe so.

Q Okay. Thank you.

A You know, I know that Highland is liable for the transfer of promissory stock and the unjust enrichment. I don't know if (inaudible).

Q Okay. Well, we'll leave that alone. Okay? I think that -- that's what we've actually offered to allow your claim for, for all of those claims. Let's --

THE COURT: Mr. Morris, I want to make sure --

MR. MORRIS: Yes, Your Honor.

THE COURT: -- the record is clear about what Mr. Daugherty was testifying about the last five minutes.

MR. MORRIS: Sure.

THE COURT: This is, of course, an attachment to Daugherty's original proof of claim, but it is in the record at Docket Entry #1388, which was collectively all of Daugherty's exhibits for today, and it was at --

MR. MORRIS: Right.

THE COURT: -- Subpart 40, or Exhibit 40 therein, Subpart A of that.

All right. Did you want to offer that or does anyone want to offer that into evidence so that the record will make sense?

MR. MORRIS: Sure. I'll take it upon myself for this specific exhibit, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. MORRIS: I offer -- I offer PHD Exhibit 40 unto evidence.

THE COURT: Okay. And I assume there's no objection since that was Daugherty's exhibit. It's admitted.

MR. UEBLER: No objection.

THE COURT: Okay.

(Patrick Daugherty's Exhibit 40 is received into evidence.)

BY MR. MORRIS:

Q Mr. Daugherty, let's just talk for a moment as to the timing of your departure from Strand. You were an officer of Strand at one point; isn't that right?

A Yes.

Q Do you have any letter of resignation or any other documentation that shows the date on which you were no longer an officer of Strand?

A I don't recall.

Q Okay.

MR. MORRIS: Can we please call up Exhibit X2? Your Honor, this is one of the two exhibits that I shared with counsel earlier today that are the corporate records that show the officers of Strand at various points in time.

THE COURT: All right. Are they on the docket?

MR. MORRIS: This goes to -- this goes to -- they're not. This goes to the indemnification claim.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. MORRIS: All right. So if we can get X2 up, please.

(Pause.)

MS. CANTY: I'm sorry, John. One second. The computer's acting a little crazy.

MR. MORRIS: Okay.

(Pause.)

You know, Your Honor, instead of taking the Court's time with this, I don't need to cross-examine Mr. Daugherty with this. What I'd like to do is, because I've shared the documents with Mr. Daugherty's counsel -- oh, here it is.

Okay.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. MORRIS: So let's just --

THE WITNESS: I see it.

MR. MORRIS: Thank you. Let's just get through this quickly.

BY MR. MORRIS:

Q Do you recall that, when you were an officer of Strand, that from time to time you signed a document that identified all of the officers of that entity?

A No.

Q Okay.

MR. MORRIS: Can you scroll down a little bit here?

BY MR. MORRIS:

Q Do you see that this is --

MR. MORRIS: I'm sorry, just a -- not quite so much. I want to see the first paragraph.

BY MR. MORRIS:

Q It says that "I am the president of Strand Advisors" and that Mr. Dondero was certifying that the people below were duly appointed and qualified to serve as officers of Strand. I'm paraphrasing a bit there. Do you see that?

A I can read it.

Q Okay. And do you see the third line down is you?

A Correct.

Q And that's your signature?
A It appears to be.
Q And did you serve in the capacity as Secretary of Strand?
A I mean, I served in various capacities. So I was agent, I was representative, I was an officer. I never was limited to just being Secretary.
Q Okay. But that's what you signed this document as, right?
A That's what my signature is next to.
Q Okay.

MR. MORRIS: And if you scroll down a little bit, let's just see the date.

BY MR. MORRIS:
Q And so that's August of 2006.

MR. MORRIS: Can we go to the next page, please?

BY MR. MORRIS:
Q You signed the next iteration of this as Secretary. Do you see that?
A I do.

MR. MORRIS: Can we scroll down a few lines to see the date?

BY MR. MORRIS:
Q That's February 27, 2007, okay? And all of these folks were officers at the time, do you recall?
A No.
Q No, you don't recall that?

A Huh-uh. I don't remember Nicky being an officer or Jim (inaudible) or Ron Williams.

Q Okay. It was 13 years ago.

MR. MORRIS: Let's scroll to the next page, please.

BY MR. MORRIS:

Q Do you see --

MR. MORRIS: Scroll down a little further.

BY MR. MORRIS:

Q You're now -- you've now been designated Assistant Secretary. Do you see that?

A Yes.

Q And that's your signature?

A It is.

Q And two lines above that, do you see there's Michael Colvin?

A Colvin, yes.

Q Yeah. And did you understand that he was Secretary of Strand at one point?

A I didn't focus on it one way or the other.

Q He submitted -- Mr. Colvin submitted a declaration last night on your behalf; isn't that right?

A He did.

Q And he said he couldn't recall when you stepped down from your position as an officer of Strand, right?

A Words to that effect, yes.

MR. MORRIS: Can we just show the date of this document? So, this is January 2008. Let's go to the next page. Here, again, if we can scroll down a little further, --

BY MR. MORRIS:

Q -- you have Mr. Colvin signing and you also signing as Assistant Secretary. Do you see that?

A I do.

Q And that's your signature?

A Yes.

MR. MORRIS: Okay. Can we just see the date of this document? This is May 2008. Let's go to the next page.

BY MR. MORRIS:

Q Okay. Again, Mr. Colvin as Secretary and you as Assistant Secretary; is that right?

A Yes.

Q And that's your signature?

A Yes.

Q And it's March 1st, 2009, right?

A That's what it says, yes.

MR. MORRIS: Okay. Let's go to the next page. Stop.

BY MR. MORRIS:

Q You see Mr. Colvin is still there, but you're not, right?

A Correct.

Q And this is dated May 29, 2009, right?

A Correct.

Q So Mr. Colvin, the person who submitted a declaration on your behalf, signed a document where you're no longer listed as an officer of Strand as of May 29, 2009, fair?
A That is correct.
Q Okay.
MR. MORRIS: Let's just keep going.
BY MR. MORRIS:
Q This one is dated January 2010. Again, Mr. Colvin was on and you're not, right?
A Correct.
MR. MORRIS: Next page.
BY MR. MORRIS:
Q Mr. Colvin was here as Secretary and you're not listed as an officer of Strand as of July 1st, 2010, right?
A That's correct.
Q Okay. Does -- does -- do these documents refresh your recollection that you stepped down as an officer of Strand sometime between March and May of 2009?
A No.
Q Okay.
MR. MORRIS: Can we call up the other exhibit, please?
BY MR. MORRIS:
Q This is a document entitled Secretary's Certificate. Do you see that?

A I do.
Q And do you see Mr. Colvin signed it as Secretary?
A I do.
Q And do you see that it was delivered on behalf of Strand Advisors?
A No.
Q Up at the top line.
A Oh, yes.
Q Okay. And Mr. Colvin signed this as of August 4, 2009, right?
A Well, it's --
A Well, Highland had the practice of -- it sort of had the practice where they would put an effective date prior to the actual time that the document was created.
Q So Mr. Colvin, the person and the attorney who submitted a declaration on your behalf, signed this document as of August 4, 2009, right?
A Well, well, it says, The undersigned has executed, so yeah, I'm just going to have to say yes. I'm just not sure -- I don't know, I guess, is my obvious question of when he actually signed it.
Q Okay. Well, he was comfortable signing it as of August 4, 2009, is that fair, based on his signature?
A I mean, you're showing me a document with his signature on it. That's all I see in front of me. I don't know what he was comfortable with.

Q Okay. And in Paragraph 1, it says that, The resolutions attached as Exhibit A have been duly authorized by the company, by the company's sole director. Do you see that?

A I do.

MR. MORRIS: Let's look at Exhibit A, please, if we can scroll down.

BY MR. MORRIS:

Q And this is the consent of the sole director as of May 29, 2009. Do you see that?

A Yeah. (inaudible) as Treasurer?

Q No, we'll scroll down, sir. No problem.

MR. MORRIS: Let's keep scrolling down. Okay. All right.

BY MR. MORRIS:

Q And there's your list of officers, and you don't appear there, right?

A I don't appear there, no.

Q And so would you agree that Mr. Colvin, the attorney who signed the declaration on your behalf last night, signed a Secretary's Certificate pursuant to which he attested to the accuracy of the resolution, that as of May 29, 2009 the officers were as listed here and it didn't include -- did not include you?

A Okay. I just want to clarify a couple things. One, he signed it on Friday. You know, just so you know, it didn't get created last night. And will you ask me the rest of that question?

Q Sure. I apologize. I just didn't see it until last night, and that's why I'm referring to last night, because I didn't see it until it was filed.

A I think we included it in the exhibit list on Friday.

Q Okay. I know it was on the list. In fact, that's where --

A I pulled it off the Internet from the court site, so they had it.

Q You're not on this list of officers?

A I'm not on this list, no.

Q Okay. And just a few more questions, sir.

THE COURT: I'm going to make sure the record is clear once again. Are you going to offer into evidence these pages you've described as Exhibit X2, so we --

MR. MORRIS: X2 and X1.

THE COURT: X2 and X1?

MR. MORRIS: Yes.

THE COURT: All right.

MR. MORRIS: And we will file -- we will file an amended list for the docket, Your Honor. But again, this just came up a couple of hours before the hearing, because personally I didn't see the Colvin declaration until I woke up this morning. I asked the question and I got these documents. So these documents are being tendered in response to that very specific declaration.

THE COURT: All right. It was filed at 6:11 p.m. last night, in case -- Central Time.

MR. MORRIS: Right.

THE COURT: Any objection to X1 and X2?

MR. UEBLER: And Your Honor, this is Tom Uebler. For purposes of this summary proceeding, I'm inclined not to object to the document. We've both put a lot of paper before the Court. But we would reserve our right to explore these documents further in discovery on the merits and try to find out why we didn't see them for the last three years in Delaware.

THE COURT: All right. So X1 and X2 will be admitted for today's hearing. And Mr. Morris, you're going to file them later on the docket.

MR. MORRIS: Yes, Your Honor.

(Debtors' Exhibits X1 and X2 received into evidence.)

MR. MORRIS: Yes, Your Honor. Just a few more questions. I know we're almost out of time here.

BY MR. MORRIS:

Q Mr. Daugherty, just quickly, in the Texas action you were found liable for breaching your fiduciary duty to Highland;

isn't that correct?
A Correct.
Q And you were ordered to pay Highland's legal fees of approximately $2.8 million; is that right?
A Correct.
Q The litigation that you -- excuse me. Withdrawn. The claims that you have been pursuing against all of the Highland-related people and entities, you would be the beneficiary of any judgment that you obtained, right?
A I don't know what you mean by that.
Q You are the sole plaintiff in all of these cases?
A On the actions that I brought?
Q Yes.
A I believe so, yeah.
Q Okay. And so any judgment that's rendered will be rendered in your own personal capacity; isn't that right?
A Yes.
Q You didn't bring --
A Well, I'm the plaintiff, I guess is what I'm saying.
Q Yeah. That's fair.
A So, I mean, yeah, the payments will go to me.
Q Okay. You mentioned something about a criminal case being overturned on appeal.
A I didn't. My lawyer did.
Q Okay. Can you just describe for the Court what the original charge was?

A I don't believe that it's relevant, but there was an injunction put in place that said that -- that prohibited me from retaining Highland's account information. And over the course of, I don't know, from about 2014 to 2018, Highland brought eight different, you know, variations of show cause violations on that injunction against me. Eight times I had to defend. And one of those eight was based on Josh Terry had just been terminated from Highland and I saw him, I think, I saw him in London May of 2016. He got terminated in June. I sent him -- I walked up to his house and handwrote him a letter extending my condolences and --

MR. MORRIS: Your Honor, I'm going to --

THE WITNESS: You asked me a question and I'm trying to answer it.

BY MR. MORRIS:

Q I apologize. I apologize. Let me ask a different question because -- because that wasn't responsive to what I was asking. Were you found in contempt of court?

A No.

Q Okay. What crime were you charged with?

A I was charged with contempt of court violating the injunction. And a three-member panel at the Texas Court of Appeals found unanimously in my favor that there was no evidence that I violated the injunction.

Q But the trial court did in fact not only find that there was evidence, but the trial court is the one who imposed the judgment against you; is that fair?
A That is correct. And he was ordered to vacate that ruling.
Q Okay.
MR. MORRIS: Your Honor, I have no further questions.
THE COURT: All right. Redirect?
MR. UEBLER: Thank you, Your Honor.

REDIRECT EXAMINATION

BY MR. UEBLER:
Q Mr. Daugherty, the fee award that Mr. Morris referred to in Highland's favor, did you pay that?
A I did. I wired approximately $3.1 million to Highland, I want to say, December 13th or 14th, 2016.
Q 2016?
A Yeah.
Q What amount have you received form Highland or any of its affiliates as a result of the judgment you obtained?
A Zero.
Q With respect to Strand Advisors, when did you last serve as an agent of Strand?
A January-February 2012, when Highland enlisted me to meet with the Crusader investors, and I guess one called a Stratus (phonetic) investor, to the Stratus -- as I mentioned, there was two categories. One, my view on value of various Top 40 portfolio investments, and two, to discuss my reasons for leaving Highland.

Q When did you last serve as a representative of Strand?

A In that January-February 2012 time frame.

Q Were you authorized to sign documents on behalf of Strand Advisors?

A Yes.

Q When did that authority cease?

A When my employment at Highland terminated in October 2011.

MR. UEBLER: Your Honor, I have no further questions.

THE COURT: Any recross?

MR. MORRIS: Mr. Daugherty? Yes, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Go ahead.

RECROSS-EXAMINATION

BY MR. MORRIS:

Q Mr. Daugherty, did you submit any documentation in support of your contention that you served not as an officer but as an agent or a representative of Strand until the time of your departure in 2011?

A Yes.

Q All right.

MR. MORRIS: No further questions, Your Honor.

THE COURT: All right. Thank you.

Mr. Daugherty, we appreciate your testimony. You're excused.

THE WITNESS: Thank you, Judge.

THE COURT: All right. Mr. Uebler, do you have any other evidence today?

MR. UEBLER: I don't have any other evidence, Your Honor, just some very brief closing remarks, if that's permitted. And I see we have four minutes left, so I'll defer to the Court.

THE COURT: Well, I won't cut you off cold in four minutes.

Mr. Morris, did the Debtor have any evidence today?

MR. MORRIS: Yes, Your Honor. Does Mr. Daugherty rest?

THE COURT: Yes, they rested. What I understood, they rest.

MR. UEBLER: I -- that's correct. I mean, subject to my comment earlier about submitting the exhibits and the papers as part of our case.

THE COURT: Well, let's make sure we get all of Mr. Daugherty's evidence in before I shift over to Mr. Morris. So what else did you want to offer?

MR. UEBLER: Only the -- the papers we've provided, including Mr. Daugherty's declaration and the exhibits attached to our motion and our reply.

THE COURT: All right. So those were filed as separate exhibits at Docket Entry No. 1388. I think it's all there, correct?

MR. UEBLER: Correct.

THE COURT: All right. So it looks like it's Exhibits 1 through 42 that appear there.

Any objection, Mr. Morris?

MR. MORRIS: Yes, Your Honor. I object to the admission into evidence of Exhibits 7 through 10, No. 14, and No. 17 through 38, on grounds that they are irrelevant in light of the fact that the Debtor has conceded for purposes of voting the $9.1 million in claims, and on the separate ground under Rule of Evidence 403 that any probative value of this material is greatly outweighed by the waste of time and the irrelevance of the subject matter.

I will point out just some examples, Your Honor. And this is why the Debtor really doesn't put this stuff in the record, because it is so irrelevant to these claims. But he's got things in there, the Court of Appeals decision on his criminal case. He's got a Crusader presentation. Actually, I -- we also object to that one, which is Exhibit 5. We've got, you know, appellate decisions, the escrow correspondence. We've got a Court of Appeals mandate. We've got correspondence relating to the escrow at Exhibit 30. We've got a transcript on an argument on a motion to compel. We've got motions for the argument.

If you look at these documents, Your Honor, they really have nothing to do with the claims that are being made here. Certainly, in light of the Defendant -- in light of the Debtor's concessions that we've made, we don't think that the record should include any of the documents that I've identified.

THE COURT: All right. Mr. Uebler, it's 2,619 pages in all. And what do you say to that objection?

MR. UEBLER: I agree they are prejudicial documents, Your Honor, but that doesn't make them inadmissible. They're prejudicial documents because they establish Mr. Daugherty's right to fee shifting under the bad-faith exception to the American Rule.

This is not, as Mr. Morris said earlier, a case where both sides' hands are dirty. This is a case where the Delaware court found the crime fraud exception applied. Based on my research, that was the second time that has happened in Delaware. That's a big deal.

And the transcripts that we put in, the motions for re-argument, the history we have presented in those 2,000 pages supports Mr. Daugherty's claim. It's directly relevant to an issue that I think Mr. Morris referred to as frivolous earlier, but I don't want to put words in his mouth. It's directly relevant, and that relevance by far outweighs any prejudice to Highland, or at least prejudice that wasn't of its own making.

So it should all be submitted at a minimum for the purpose of considering Mr. Daugherty's request for fees.

THE COURT: Okay. I overrule the objection. I'll admit Exhibits 1 through 42.

(Patrick Daugherty's Exhibits 1 through 42 are received into evidence.)

THE COURT: All right. So you rest at this point?

MR. UEBLER: Yes. Thank you, Your Honor.

THE COURT: All right. Mr. Morris?

MR. MORRIS: Yeah, just one clarification there, Your Honor. Is Mr. Daugherty attempting to offer into evidence Mr. Colvin's declaration?

THE COURT: I did not hear him offer that.

MR. UEBLER: I believe that's No. 42, Your Honor, so the answer is yes. And Mr. Morris had ample opportunity to question Mr. Daugherty about the substance of the declaration.

MR. MORRIS: Your Honor, it's --

THE COURT: Oh, okay. I had misunderstood.

MR. MORRIS: Okay.

THE COURT: It is Exhibit 42, even though it was just filed separately on the docket last night. So did you have an objection, Mr. Morris?

MR. MORRIS: I do. It's hearsay, Your Honor. It's being offered for the truth of the matter asserted by a witness who is not available to be cross-examined.

THE COURT: Okay. I sustain --

MR. UEBLER: Your Honor, --

THE COURT: I sustain that objection. 42 will not be admitted. All right.

(Admission of exhibits revised to exclude Patrick Daugherty's Exhibit 42.)

THE COURT: Mr. Morris, you have evidence?

MR. MORRIS: Yeah. So the Debtor offers into evidence Exhibits A through -- Exhibits A through V. And I guess Exhibits X1 and X2 have already been admitted.

THE COURT: All right. Let's be clear there. Those appear --

MR. KATHMAN: Your Honor? Your Honor, this is Jason Kathman. And I just wanted to -- on Exhibit 42, we talked with Mr. Morris, and maybe I had a misunderstanding, but my understanding is that we were going to present witnesses via declarations in that manner. And there had been some discussion about -- and giving him the opportunity to cross-examine Mr. Daugherty. So if I misunderstood the agreement, that's on me, but there was -- we had I believe it was in two phone calls, and I think he's had more (inaudible), about how testimony and witnesses would be presented for this hearing. And if Mr. Colvin is outside of that, again, maybe I'm misunderstanding, but I at least wanted to raise that issue.

MR. MORRIS: Your Honor, respectfully, I have great respect for Mr. Kathman, but he is misunderstanding. I would never, ever permit a declaration to come into evidence in a matter like this without the ability to cross-examine. I can describe for the Court what the offer was, but it was not that.

THE COURT: Okay. Well, I regret there was a misunderstanding, but just pulling this up, while it's only a one-and-a-half page declaration, it has 57 pages of attachments, or approximately 57 pages of just all kinds of things that I can presume the Debtor might want to cross-examine Mr. Colvin on. So I again sustain the objection. 42 will not come in.

All right. Mr. Morris, your evidence. Where do Exhibits A through V appear on the docket? I need to refresh my memory.

MR. MORRIS: Your Honor, just to let you know what happened last night, because we were working with Mr. Daugherty's counsels on redaction, and I think Mr. Anabel, with your Court's permission, allowed us to email the documents to you, and we had emailed them to Mr. Daugherty because we weren't sure at the late moment as to where we were going to be with the redactions. We can certainly file everything now. But Your Honor has those documents.

THE COURT: Okay. I do have those. I knew that there were several emails that they were attached to. I just didn't know if they were separately on the docket. So, again, let me pull those up. It's A through V?

MR. MORRIS: Yes.

THE COURT: Any objections by Daugherty's counsel?

MR. UEBLER: Your Honor, as I said, for this summary proceeding, we're not going to object to A through V. But with the exclusion of Daugherty 42, the Colvin declaration, it seems that X1 and X2 have no relevance anymore and should be excluded. Mr. Morris stated earlier that those two documents were submitted expressly in response to the Colvin declaration. With that out, Exhibits X1 and X2 should be out as well.

THE COURT: Okay. Your response, Mr. Morris?

MR. MORRIS: Yeah, very briefly. Number one, I used them to cross-examine his witness. I offered them into evidence. There was no objection. They've already been admitted into court. So I think this issue is moot.

But number two, when Mr. Daugherty said that he didn't -- I don't remember exactly what his testimony was, but suffice it to say that he wouldn't agree that he had resigned sometime between March 3rd and -- between March and May of 2009, I certainly could have used them as impeachment documents under any circumstance.

THE COURT: All right. I overrule the objection. X1 and X2 are in.

(Debtors' Exhibits X1 and X2 are again received into evidence.

THE COURT: Again, I think not only were they admitted without objection earlier, but they do, I guess you would say, contradict some of the testimony of Mr. Daugherty. His position, as I hear it, is he was still an agent, or he was an agent at least of Strand beyond the May 2009 time period. And these are documents that arguably impeach that testimony.

All right. So A through V and X1 and X2 are admitted.

(Debtors' Exhibits A through V and X1 and X2 received into evidence.)

THE COURT: If I could just ask, Mr. Morris, that you all later submit on the docket these exhibits, all of them, so we don't have to go back and print out the email attachments and do it the old-fashioned way.

MR. MORRIS: Sure.

THE COURT: All right. Any other evidence?

MR. MORRIS: No, Your Honor. The Debtor rests.

THE COURT: All right. I'll hear brief closing arguments. Mr. Uebler, you first. (Pause.) Mr. Uebler, you're on mute, sir. Mr. Uebler?

CLOSING ARGUMENT ON BEHALF OF CREDITOR PATRICK DAUGHERTY

MR. UEBLER: Thank you. Let me try that again. I want to start by responding to one of Mr. Morris's questions of Mr. Daugherty, which was, Did you submit any papers in this case that would establish that you were either an officer or an agent of Strand through resignation in 2011? That's Exhibit 2. It is, in fact, Highland's answer in the Delaware case at Paragraph 66, where Defendants admit that Daugherty served as an officer and agent of Strand from 2004 until he resigned from Highland in 2011. So I think that should answer Mr. Morris's question.

Let me just conclude by some comments that James Seery recently made in a deposition. He said, Equally, on the other side, you could say that the man's life was ripped out from him, that his position was taken away, that he got an arbitration award that arguably the Debtor and the Debtors' management at the time stripped away all the assets and pretty patently denuded it to try to leave him with no recovery. Then when he sought a recovery, they sought to sue him in every jurisdiction in the world and basically ruin the guy's life and put him in a position where, while to some it might seem a windfall, to him it might seem just.

Mr. Seery was talking about Josh Terry, not Mr. Daugherty. But Highland's blueprint for ruining a guy's life originated from its treatment of Mr. Daugherty.

We've given you reasons today to permit the full amount of the three remaining disputed issues for voting purposes for

Mr. Daugherty's claim. Allowing that full amount will protect Mr. Daugherty as a creditor, give him his appropriate say in any plan that's presented, and would hopefully bring these parties at least one step closer to resolution.

Thank you for your time today.

THE COURT: Thank you, Mr. Uebler. Mr. Morris?

CLOSING ARGUMENT ON BEHALF OF THE DEBTORS

MR. MORRIS: Yeah. Very briefly, I'll just borrow Mr. Uebler's phraseology and say that it would not be just to give to Mr. Daugherty anything on account of a $21 million claim that has already been dismissed and that his testimony just established will be time-barred. We don't believe that it would be just to give him anything on account of a tax claim that is completely contingent, unliquidated, and where the Debtor admittedly owes absolutely nothing to Mr. Daugherty today.

I can't imagine what it's been like to go through this litigation, just like I couldn't imagine from Mr. Terry's perspective, from Mr. Dondero's perspective. These people have been at this for a decade. That's not what -- that's, you know, it's not anything I can get my arms around. What I'm here to do is to protect the Debtors' estate and its stakeholders, including its general unsecured creditors.

Mr. Daugherty is going to have a very meaningful claim if the Court allows his claim for voting purposes at $9 million.

It's going to be the third biggest claim, at least at this point, of anybody. So that's just. It's just that he has a seat at the table. We're offering him a seat at the table. But he shouldn't get anything on account of the claims that really have little to no merit.

Thank you, Your Honor.

THE COURT: All right. Thank you.

Well, I thank you for your thoroughness, your professional courtesy that was very visible here today.

As I started out with today, Bankruptcy Rule 3018(a) is what guides us. That rule is a provision that states, quote, Notwithstanding an objection to a claim, the Court may temporarily allow a claim for voting purposes in such amount the Court deems proper, after notice and a hearing.

There are many cases that have attempted to kind of impose a legal framework for analysis on that rule because, as you've just heard, the rule doesn't give much detail. The cases all sort of sing the same tune, that the rule contemplates only a summary estimation proceeding, not a full trial on the merits. The Court has great discretion to employ whatever method is best-suited to the circumstances of the case in determining what amount should be allowed for voting purposes. The Court should consider things like whether there's a last-minute objection to strategically prevent a creditor from voting who might vote no and the objection might be frivolous, that sort of thing. And all decisions are reviewed for abuse of discretion, should there be any appeal.

So that is the rule and the case law interpreting the rule. Based on that, I will note that we start out here with an amended proof of claim filed by Mr. Daugherty in the amount of $40,710,819.42. And I studied hard before coming out here today the addendum to that proof of claim filed by Mr. Daugherty. It had a description of the claim that was done in the form of a chart. I'm holding it up here -- I don't know if it picks up on camera -- what I'm looking at. But it appears at Docket Entry 1280-2. It was part of the appendix to the motion to estimate claim.

So the amount is broken down into components. If you're looking at that chart -- again, which was most helpful -- I note that in the claim of Daugherty for HERA units, there are different line items that total approximately $26 million and some change. So that's the issue we've talked about a lot today. Is it correct, is it reasonable to assume that Daugherty might be entitled to a hundred percent of the value or a hundred percent of the HERA units? So, I found that, based on the evidence and the argument, to be a problematic assumption. Again, one day we will have a trial on the adversary, a trial on the proof of claim. I will hear every bit of relevant evidence that the parties choose to put in on that issue. But for our purposes today, under Rule 3018, I just found considerable doubt that that would be an appropriate damage calculation here.

So, again, using my discretion, I found that, at a minimum, you should reduce that $26 million-plus component of the Daugherty proof of claim by the roughly 81 percent, because it was 19.1 percent, I think, that Daugherty would have been entitled to of the HERA units. So that's a roughly $5 million amount, or a $19 million reduction that -- excuse me. I did my math wrong. That's a $21 million reduction that I think would be reasonable for estimation purposes under 3018.

Further looking at the chart that breaks down Daugherty's claim -- we discussed this today in testimony -- there is an attorney fee component that aggregates to $7,854,752.31, and that's the indemnification, it's the interest on indemnification award, it's the fee shifting fees on fee award. And once again, looking at this through the lens of 3018(a), I do not think it's appropriate to assume I'm going to get there, if you will, on this attorneys' fee award. There have been bona fide issues, if you will, raised on whether the indemnification provision that was cited would entitle Mr. Daugherty to these fees. Section 4.1(h) of the partnership agreement would be that indemnification provision.

Moreover, the deviation from the American Rule, if that indemnification provision does not apply, is a big hurdle to achieve. It's very deeply rooted in our law that if you don't have a contract provision and you don't have a statute that entitles you to attorneys' fees, it's quite a high hurdle to get there, whether it be Rule 11, the vexatious litigation statute, or some common law argument of bad faith.

So, again, looking through the lens I'm looking through today, I just cannot get there under 3018.

So, doing my math, I'll go backwards. I've just said that I can't there on $7,854,750.31 of Mr. Daugherty's $40-plus million claim. I've said I can't get there on $21 million of his $40.7 million proof of claim because of the HERA, the 81 percent interest in the HERA units. So what else in that chart gives me pause? The tax refund, the 2008 tax refund component. We have $1,475,816 plus estimated interest on that of $1.174537 [million]. It's very clear that at this point this is, at best, contingent. And again, down the road we may get to a point where it's not contingent, the IRS has finished doing what it's going to do, and we may get to a point where we think a result is appropriate. I don't know. There may be, even if we get there, a subordination argument. The point is, there are bona fide arguments today that do not allow me to get to the point I feel like I need to get at an estimation hearing to allow this claim, these components of the claim.

So when you subtract $7.854 million and $1.475 million and $1.174 million and $21 million, that's about $32 million that

I would -- I was thinking about, before I even heard the evidence, deducting out of the claim that I would estimate for voting purposes.

That, I will tell you, is why I came out here at the very beginning today and said, Jeez, the Debtors' suggested voting claim of $9,134,019, which the Debtor came at a different way as far as the math, that sounded darn reasonable to me.

So I am going to allow a voting claim for Mr. Daugherty at $9,134,019.

Now, let me say a couple of more words why I fall back on that number. A, it's pretty close to the direction I was leaning, but B, I want Mr. Daugherty, if he's still on the line, to understand. I hope it doesn't seem like I'm giving Highland every benefit of the doubt here today and reducing your claim by every argument they made and just going at it that way. I do feel like I am obviously giving you some benefits of the doubt here. Primarily, the benefits of the doubt I'm giving you are, number one, the HERA judgment was obviously a HERA judgment. I mean, it was a judgment awarded to Mr. Daugherty against HERA, not Highland per se, right? I didn't misunderstand that. So I am assuming you have got darn good arguments, Mr. Daugherty, to hold Highland liable for that HERA award, plus the pre-judgment and post-judgment interest, up to the bankruptcy petition date of October 16th, 2019.

So I'm giving you the benefit of the doubt there, and on -- well, I do want to make one more point on the attorneys' fees. Again, that was a huge component of your proof of claim. And I certainly well understand the bad faith arguments and your many ways you think you will have of getting attorneys' fees at the end of the day. But I'm sitting here today looking at the fact that the Texas state court actually awarded Highland attorneys' fees against you. Now, I understand, or I think I understand, that was somewhat of a discrete issue with regard to the breach of fiduciary duty arguments in sharing information or taking files or information. And you might argue, well, that was very discrete, and obviously you paid it. But all this to say there are lots of a bona fide disputes here, I think. And again, the rule doesn't use that term, bona fide disputes, but, again, I have lots of discretion here, and I think, at the end of the day, a roughly $9 million voting claim is very reasonable.

I know the point I ended up making. I've also given you the benefit of the doubt, Mr. Daugherty, on the roughly $5 million claim I'm giving you for the 19 percent of the HERA assets. And I understand there were things about the Texas state court judgment that left that a little ambiguous, whether you could get that or whether that would be double-counting. But again, I just, I want you to know that I haven't weighed every benefit of the doubt in favor of Highland here. I've weighed a couple of these doubts in your favor.

All right. So, $9,134,019 is the voting claim of Mr. Daugherty. Again, this is without prejudice or waiver of any arguments at a later trial on the claim for distribution purposes.

Are there any questions?

MR. DAUGHERTY: Just, you asked if I was on. I just wanted to let you know I got back on. I took my (inaudible). But I heard every word and I appreciate your comments.

THE COURT: All right. Thank you, Mr. Daugherty.

Mr. Morris, would you be the scrivener on this order? And of course, run it by Mr. Uebler and Kathman.

MR. MORRIS: Of course, Your Honor.

MR. KATHMAN: Your Honor? Your Honor, this is Jason Kathman. We have just one housekeeping issue. We had filed, when we filed our motion to -- this 3018 motion at Docket No. 1280, actually, we filed a motion for leave to amend our proof of claim, which is the -- actually, the chart that I think Your Honor was looking at was the chart that we attached to our amended proof of claim. We filed that with negative notice, and that negative notice actually ran yesterday. So we'll upload a certificate of no objection. But just, while we're here on the record, I wanted to ask for the Court to approve that motion for leave to file an amended proof of claim.

THE COURT: Okay. So I neglected to note that detail. I was of the impression it wasn't contested, and in fact, the objection deadline has run. So I will accept your order on that. Okay?

MR. KATHMAN: Thank you, Your Honor.

THE COURT: All right. Thank you all. We stand adjourned.

MR. MORRIS: Thank you, Your Honor.

THE CLERK: All rise.

EXHIBIT 60

EXECUTION VERSION

TOLLING AGREEMENT EXTENDING CLAIM OBJECTION DEADLINE

This Tolling Agreement (the "Agreement") is made as of July 27, 2022 (the "Effective Date"), by and between Patrick Hagaman Daugherty ("Mr. Daugherty"), on the one hand, and Highland Capital Management, L.P. ("Highland" or the "Debtor," as applicable) and the Highland Claimant Trust (the "Claimant Trust," and together with Highland, the "Highland Parties"), on the other. Each of Mr. Daugherty, Highland, and the Claimant Trust are individually referred to herein as a "Party" and collectively as the "Parties."

RECITALS

WHEREAS, Mr. Daugherty is a former employee and limited partner of Highland and served in other positions with affiliates and former affiliates of Highland from time to time;

WHEREAS, on October 16, 2019, Highland filed a voluntary petition for relief under chapter 11 of title 11 of the United States Code (the "Bankruptcy Case"), which is pending in the U.S. Bankruptcy Court for the Northern District of Texas, Dallas Division (the "Bankruptcy Court");

WHEREAS, on April 1, 2020, Mr. Daugherty filed a general, unsecured, non-priority claim against Highland in the amount of at "least $37,483,876.59," and such claim was denoted by Highland's claims agent as Proof of Claim No. 67 ("Claim No. 67");

WHEREAS, on April 6, 2020, Mr. Daugherty filed a general, unsecured, non-priority claim against Highland in the amount of at "least $37,482,876.62" that superseded Claim No. 67 and that was denoted by Highland's claims agent as Proof of Claim No. 77 ("Claim No. 77");

WHEREAS, on August 31, 2020, Highland commenced an adversary proceeding, Adv. Proc. No. 20-03107-sgj (Bankr. N.D. Tex.) (the "Adversary Proceeding"), against Mr. Daugherty by filing a complaint [Adv. Dkt. No. 1][1] (the "Complaint") in which Highland (a) objected to Claim No. 77 on various grounds, and (b) asserted a cause of action for the subordination of part of Mr. Daugherty's claim pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 510(b);

WHEREAS, on September 29, 2020, Mr. Daugherty filed his answer to the Complaint [Adv. Dkt. No. 8] in the Adversary Proceeding;

WHEREAS, on October 23, 2020, Mr. Daugherty filed a motion seeking leave to amend Claim No. 77 [Bankr. Dkt. No. 1280][2] (the "POC Amendment Motion") and attached an amended proof of claim to the POC Amendment Motion increasing Mr. Daugherty's general, unsecured, non-priority claim against Highland to the amount of at "least $40,410,819.42" and sought to supersede Claim No. 67 and Claim No. 77;

[1] Adv. Dkt. No. refers to the docket maintained in the Adversary Proceeding.

[2] Bankr. Dkt. No. refers to the docket maintained in the Bankruptcy Case.

WHEREAS, on December 10, 2020, the Bankruptcy Court entered an order [Bankr. Dkt. No. 1533] granting the POC Amendment Motion, and Mr. Daugherty was permitted to file an amendment to his proof of claim;

WHEREAS, on December 23, 2020, Mr. Daugherty filed an amended proof of claim, designated by Highland's claims agent as Proof of Claim No. 205 ("Claim No. 205," and together with Claim No. 67 Claim No. 77, the "Daugherty Claim");

WHEREAS, Claim No. 205 superseded Claim No. 77 and increased the Daugherty Claim to $40,710,819.42;

WHEREAS, on February 22, 2021, the Bankruptcy Court entered its Order (i) Confirming the Fifth Amended Plan of Reorganization of Highland Capital Management, L.P. (as Modified) and (ii) Granting Related Relief [Bankr. Dkt. No. 1943] (the "Confirmation Order") confirming the Fifth Amended Plan of Reorganization of Highland Capital Management, L.P. (as Modified) [Bankr. Dkt. No. 1808] (as amended, supplemented, or modified, the "Plan");

WHEREAS, on August 11, 2021, the Effective Date (as defined in the Plan) occurred [Bankr. Dkt. No. 2700];

WHEREAS, on or about November 22, 2021, Highland and Mr. Daugherty executed that certain Settlement Agreement (the "Settlement Agreement") attached as Exhibit 1 to the Declaration of John A. Morris in Support of the Reorganized Debtor's Motion for Entry of an Order Approving Settlement with Patrick Hagaman Daugherty (Claim No. 205) and Authorizing Actions Consistent Therewith [Bankr. Dkt. No. 3089] filed in support of the Reorganized Debtor's Motion for Entry of an Order Approving Settlement with Patrick Hagaman Daugherty (Claim No. 205) and Authorizing Actions Consistent Therewith [Bankr. Dkt. No. 3088] (the "Settlement Motion");

WHEREAS, following an evidentiary hearing on the Settlement Motion held on March 1, 2022, the Bankruptcy Court entered its order [Bankr. Dkt. No. 3298] (the "Settlement Order") approving the Settlement Motion and the Parties' entry into the Settlement Agreement;

WHEREAS, pursuant to the Settlement Order, the Daugherty Claim, excluding the Reserved Claim,[3] was satisfied in its entirety;

WHEREAS, the Highland Parties dispute the validity and amount of the Reserved Claim and, pursuant to Section 9 of the Settlement Agreement, Mr. Daugherty and Highland reserved all rights with respect to the Reserved Claim; provided, however, that any litigation between Highland and Mr. Daugherty concerning the Reserved Claim was stayed until the IRS makes a final determination with respect to the dispute between the Debtor and the IRS (the "IRS Dispute") or the Highland Parties and Mr. Daugherty otherwise agree;

[3] "Reserved Claim" means the contingent and unliquidated claim as referenced in Proof of Claim No. 205 that related to an alleged claim for compensation and an audit/dispute between the Debtor and the Internal Revenue Service (the "IRS") in an amount estimated to be $2,650,353.00 as of October 23, 2020.

WHEREAS, pursuant to the Confirmation Order, the deadline to object to claims was 180 days after the Effective Date, i.e., February 7, 2022, unless extended by the Bankruptcy Court (the "Claim Objection Deadline");

WHEREAS, the Claim Objection Deadline was extended by order of the Bankruptcy Court [Bankr. Dkt. No. 3198] to August 8, 2022;

WHEREAS, the Highland Parties were vested with the exclusive authority to compromise, settle, withdrew, or resolve all claims against the Debtor, including the Reserved Claim, without further order of the Bankruptcy Court pursuant to Article VII.B of the Plan;

WHEREAS, on July 6, 2022, the Highland Parties filed the Reorganized Debtor and Claimant Trustee Joint Motion for Entry of an Order Further Extending the Claim Objection Deadline Pursuant to Confirmed Chapter 11 Plan by which Reorganized Debtor May Object to Certain Claims [Bankr. Dkt. No. 3387] (the "Second Extension Motion");

WHEREAS, Mr. Daugherty and the Highland Parties continue to consider potential resolutions of the Reserved Claim in the absence of a resolution of the IRS Dispute;

WHEREAS, it is unknown when the IRS Dispute may be resolved; and

WHEREAS, solely to avoid the expense, inconvenience, and uncertainty associated with litigation, and without any Party admitting liability, fault, or wrongdoing, or releasing or waiving any rights or defenses with respect to the Reserved Claim, the Parties desire to enter into this Agreement to extend the Claim Objection Deadline, solely with respect to the Reserved Claim, to January 11, 2023, at 5:00 p.m. (Central Time) (the "Objection Deadline").

NOW, THEREFORE, effective as of the Effective Date, each of the Parties agrees as follows:

1. Covenant to Reserve. In consideration of Mr. Daugherty's agreement to extend the Claim Objection Deadline (as set forth in paragraph 2 of this Agreement), the Highland Parties agree not to commence any lawsuit, action or proceeding to further object to the Reserved Claim at any time until the Objection Deadline (notwithstanding Mr. Daugherty's position that the Highland Parties would have no right to do so in any event under the Settlement Agreement until such time that the IRS resolves the IRS Dispute) and further agree to reserve $2,650,353.00 on account of the Reserved Claim in the "Disputed Claim Reserve" as such term is defined in the Plan until the Parties resolve the Reserved Claim pursuant to a signed agreement, or, alternatively, an order of the Bankruptcy Court.

2. Extension of Claim Objection Deadline. In consideration of the Highland Parties' "Covenant to Reserve" (as set forth in paragraph 1 of this Agreement), Mr. Daugherty agrees that the Claim Objection Deadline applicable to the Reserved Claim is hereby tolled as of, and extended from, the Effective Date to the Objection Deadline.

3. Acknowledgement and Waiver. Mr. Daugherty acknowledges and agrees that:

a. Regardless of whether the Second Extension Motion is approved by the Bankruptcy Court, Mr. Daugherty waives any right or ability to argue (x) that the terms of this Agreement and the extension of the Claim Objection Deadline required an order of the Bankruptcy Court; or (y) the application of the expiration of the Claims Objection Deadline to the Reserved Claim; and

b. Mr. Daugherty is estopped from arguing that this Agreement is ineffective to extend the time within which the Highland Parties must object to the Reserved Claim.

4. Acknowledgement and Waiver. The Highland Parties acknowledge and agree that regardless of whether the Second Extension Motion is approved by the Bankruptcy Court, the Highland Parties waive any right or ability to argue that the terms of this Agreement and the extension of the Claim Objection Deadline required an order of the Bankruptcy Court.

5. Representations and Warranties.

a. Mr. Daugherty represents and warrants that he has not sold, transferred, hypothecated, pledged, or assigned the Reserved Claim to any other person or entity, and that no person or entity other than Mr. Daugherty has been, is, or will be authorized to bring, pursue, or enforce the Reserved Claim on behalf of, for the benefit of, or in the name of (whether directly or derivatively) Mr. Daugherty.

b. Each Party represents and warrants to the other Party that such Party is fully authorized to enter into and perform the terms of this Agreement and that, as of the Effective Date, this Agreement will be fully binding upon each Party in accordance with its terms.

6. Miscellaneous.

a. Binding Effect; Successors-in-Interest. Each of the Parties agrees that this Agreement will be binding upon the Parties, and, as applicable, upon their predecessors, successors, subsidiaries, divisions, alter egos, affiliated and related entities, and their past or present officers, directors, partners, employees, attorneys, assigns, agents, representatives, and any or all of them.

b. No Admission of Liability. The Parties acknowledge that there is a bona fide dispute with respect to the validity and amount of the Reserved Claim. Nothing in this Agreement will imply an admission of liability, fault or wrongdoing by the Highland Parties, Mr. Daugherty, or any other person and the execution of this Agreement does not constitute an admission of liability, fault, or wrongdoing on the part of the Highland Parties, Mr. Daugherty, or any other person.

c. Notice. Each notice and other communication hereunder will be in writing and will be sent by email and delivered or mailed by registered mail, receipt requested, and will be deemed to have been given on the date of its delivery, if delivered, and on the fifth full business day following the date of the mailing, if mailed to each of the Parties thereto at the following respective addresses or such other address as may be specified in any notice delivered or mailed as set forth below:

d. Advice of Counsel. Each of the Parties represents that such Party has: (a) been adequately represented by independent legal counsel of its own choice, in the negotiation of this Agreement; (b) executed this Agreement upon the advice of such counsel; (c) read this Agreement, and understands and assents to all the terms and conditions contained herein without reservation; and (d) had the opportunity to have the terms and conditions of this Agreement explained by independent counsel, who has answered any and all questions asked of such counsel, or which could have been asked of such counsel, including, but not limited to, with regard to the meaning and effect of any of the provisions of this Agreement.

e. Counterparts. This Agreement may be signed in counterparts and such signatures may be delivered by facsimile or other electronic means.

f. Entire Agreement. This Agreement sets forth the entire agreement between the Parties with respect to the subject matter hereof and supersedes all prior and contemporaneous written and oral agreements and discussions. This Agreement may only be amended by an agreement in writing signed by the Parties.

g. No Waiver and Reservation of Rights. Except as otherwise provided herein, nothing in this Agreement shall be, or deemed to be, a waiver of any rights, remedies or privileges of any of the Parties, and each Party hereby reserves all of such rights, privileges and remedies under applicable law.

h. No Waiver if Breach. The Parties agree that no breach of any provision hereof can be waived except in writing. The waiver of a breach of any provision hereof shall not be deemed a waiver of any other breach of any provision hereof.

i. Governing Law. This Agreement will be exclusively governed by and construed and enforced in accordance with the laws of the State of Delaware, without regard to its conflicts of law principles, and all claims relating to or arising out of this Agreement, or the breach thereof, whether sounding in contract, tort, or otherwise, will likewise be governed by the laws of the State of Delaware, excluding Delaware's conflicts of law principles.

j. Jurisdiction. The Bankruptcy Court will retain exclusive jurisdiction over disputes relating to this Agreement.

AMENDMENT NO. 1 TO TOLLING AGREEMENT
EXTENDING CLAIM OBJECTION DEADLINE

This Amendment No. 1 (the "Amendment"), dated as of December 21, 2022, to that certain Tolling Agreement Extending Claim Objection Deadline, dated as of July 27, 2022 (the "Agreement"), is made by and between Patrick Hagaman Daugherty, on the one hand, and Highland Capital Management, L.P. and the Highland Claimant Trust, on the other. Capitalized terms used but not defined herein have the meanings given to them in the Agreement.

RECITALS

WHEREAS, the Parties entered into the Agreement to extend the Claim Objection Deadline to object to the Reserved Claim to January 11, 2023, at 5:00 p.m. (Central Time) (i.e., the Objection Deadline).

WHEREAS, solely to avoid the expense, inconvenience, and uncertainty associated with litigation, the Parties desire to enter into this Amendment to further extend the Objection Deadline to object to the Reserved Claim.

NOW, THEREFORE, effective as of the date set forth above, each of the Parties agrees as follows:

1. Extension of Objection Deadline. The term Objection Deadline as used in the Agreement is hereby amended and modified to mean 5:00 p.m. (Central Time) on the earlier of (a) December 31, 2023, (b) the first business day after the date that James P. Seery, Jr., is no longer the sole trustee of the Claimant Trust, or (c) the first business day after the date that the Claimant Trust is no longer (i) Highland's sole limited partner or (ii) the sole owner of, and with the right to direct, Highland's general partner.

2. Representations and Warranties. Each Party represents and warrants that the representations and warranties set forth in Section 5 of the Agreement are true and accurate as of the date hereof.

3. Effectiveness of Agreement; No Other Changes. Except as set forth in this Amendment, the Agreement is unaffected and shall continue in full force and effect in accordance with its terms. If there is a conflict between this Amendment and the Agreement, the terms of this Amendment will prevail.

IN THE UNITED STATES BANKRUPTCY COURT
FOR THE NORTHERN DISTRICT OF TEXAS

In re:	§	Chapter 11

Reorganized Debtor.	§
HIGHLAND CAPITAL MANAGEMENT, L.P.,	§

PATRICK DAUGHERTY'S
MOTION TO DISMISS

[1] Highland's last four digits of its taxpayer identification number are (8357). The headquarters and service address for Highland is 100 Crescent Court, Suite 1850, Dallas, TX 75201.

Defendant Patrick Daugherty ("Daugherty") moves to dismiss this action pursuant to Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 12(b)(6) (incorporated herein by Fed. R. Bankr. P. 7012(b)) for failure to state a claim upon which relief may be granted. Further, the Court should deny leave for further amendments of the Complaint, as no amendment can cure what is otherwise a fatal defect: that the IRS Audit Dispute remains pending and is not yet final.

I. SUMMARY

1. Plaintiff filed its Complaint for (1) Disallowance of Claim No. 205 in its Entirety, (2) Estimation of Claim no. 205 for Allowance Purposes, or (3) Subordination of Any Allowed Portion of Claim No. 205 of Patrick Hagaman Daugherty [Docket No. 1] (the "Complaint") in the face of a Settlement Agreement approved by this Court on March 8, 2022,[2] that mandates a stay of any litigation by and between Plaintiff and Daugherty until the Internal Revenue Service ("IRS") makes a final determination regarding an IRS Audit Dispute material to Daugherty's Reserved Claim under the Settlement Agreement.[3] As Plaintiff concedes in its briefing, that IRS Audit Dispute remains unresolved.[4] Accordingly, Plaintiff's claim is premature, subject to the

[2] See Doc. No. 1 at ¶ 14 (citing Main Case Docket No. 3088, which itself incorporates and relies upon the "Settlement Agreement" at Main Case Docket No. 3089, Ex. 1). When reviewing a 12(b)(6) motion to dismiss, the Court "must consider the complaint in its entirety, as well as other sources courts ordinarily examine when ruling on 12(b)(6) motions to dismiss, in particular documents incorporated into the complaint by reference, and matters of which a court may take judicial notice." Funk v. Stryker Corp., 631 F.3d 777, 783 (5th Cir. 2011)(quoting Tellabs Inc. v. Makor Issues & Rights, Ltd., 551 U.S. 308 (2007)). In doing so, the Court may take judicial notice of its own records. E.g., Biliouris as next friend of Biliouris v. Patman, 751 Fed. App'x 603, 604 (5th Cir. 2019)("court may take judicial notice of the record in prior related proceedings"); ITT Rayonier Inc. v. U.S., 651 F.2d 343, 345 n.2 (5th Cir. 1981)("court may… take judicial notice of its own records…"). Plaintiff incorporated the Settlement Agreement by reference in its Complaint. Daugherty also respectfully requests the Court also take judicial notice of the Settlement Agreement at Main Case Docket No. 3089 as it considers this Motion to Dismiss.

[3] All capitalized terms used but not herein defined shall have the meanings ascribed to them in the Settlement Agreement at Main Case Docket No. 3089.

[4] Indeed, Plaintiff concedes as much stating "[o]n information and belief, the 2008 Audit has not been resolved and is heading to court with a resolution not expected until approximately 2029." Docket No. 1 at ¶ 23, n. 6.

Settlement Agreement's mandatory stay, and should be dismissed for failure to state a claim upon which relief may be granted.

II. BACKGROUND

2. On March 8, 2022, Daugherty and Plaintiff entered a Settlement Agreement to resolve, in part, his claims against Highland Capital Management, L.P. ("Debtor" or "Plaintiff"). Main Case Docket No. 3088, 3089.

3. Under that Settlement Agreement, Daugherty retained a Reserved Claim relating to an audit/dispute between the Debtor and the IRS concerning the Debtor's 2008 tax return.[5] Main Case Docket No. 3089 at Ex. 1, § 9. Critically, under the terms of the Settlement Agreement, "[a]ny litigation by and between the [Debtor] and Daugherty concerning the validity and amount of the Reserved Claim shall be stayed until the IRS makes a final determination with respect to the IRS Audit Dispute." Id. (emphasis added).

4. Despite the Settlement Agreement's mandatory stay language, Plaintiff filed its Complaint asserting three claims for relief: (1) disallowance under section 502(a) of the Bankruptcy Code; (2) estimation under section 502(c) of the Bankruptcy Code; and (3) subordination under section 510(b) of the Bankruptcy Code. See Docket No. 1 at ¶¶ 28-45. Each of those claims seek a determination from this Court on the "validity and amount" of Daugherty's Reserved Claim relating to the IRS Audit Dispute. Yet, Plaintiff concedes that resolution of the [5] Although Daugherty acknowledges that for purposes of ruling on a motion to dismiss under Fed. R. Civ. P. 12(b)(6) the Court must accept as true the allegations in the Complaint, Daugherty disputes Plaintiff's characterization of the Reserved Claim. The Reserved Claim concerns a compensation and benefits contract, between Plaintiff and Daugherty relating to Daugherty's cash bonus, that was presented pursuant to a tax refund scheme developed by Plaintiff during the financial crisis in 2008 and 2009. That tax refund scheme was later challenged by the IRS. Indeed, despite Plaintiff's passing attempt to downplay the document's language as vague, the "validity and amount" issues that are the gravamen of Daugherty's Reserved Claim (which is subject to the mandatory stay) relate to whether Plaintiff's refund "deviat[ed] materially from [Debtor's] estimate" such that "other compensation [to Daugherty should have been] fairly adjusted" as promised. Docket No. 1-1. Moreover, Plaintiff's Fifth Amended Plan of Reorganization, which was confirmed by the Court, provided for "Disputed Claims" and required the Claimant Trustee under the Plan to maintain a reserve account for such claims.

IRS Audit Dispute is still pending, alleging that "Highland's 2008 tax return is currently subject to an IRS audit." Id. at ¶ 3 (emphasis added). Plaintiff further concedes "the 2008 Audit has not been resolved" and "[i]t is unclear when, how, or if the 2008 Audit will be finally resolved." Id. at ¶¶ 4, 23 n. 6; see also id. at ¶ 38. Finally, Plaintiff acknowledges Daugherty's Reserved Claim is "contingent on the final outcome of the 2008 Audit." Id. at ¶ 35.

5. As such, Plaintiff's claims are premature, run afoul of the Settlement Agreement's mandatory stay, and should be dismissed pursuant Fed. R. Civ. P. 12(b)(6).

III. LEGAL STANDARD

6. To survive a motion to dismiss under Rule 12(b)(6), Plaintiff must assert a theory that could entitle it to relief. Fed. R. Civ. P. 12(b)(6). In support of that theory, a complaint must allege "sufficient factual matter" that, taken as true, "state[s] a claim for relief [that] is plausible on its face." Ashcroft v. Iqbal, 556 U.S. 662, 678 (2009). Plaintiff must establish more than a "sheer possibility that a defendant has acted unlawfully." Id. This Court need not accept as true legal conclusions or conclusory factual allegations. Id. "[W]hen the allegations in a complaint, however true, could not raise a claim of entitlement to relief, this basic deficiency should be exposed at the point of minimum expenditure of time and money by the parties and the court." U.S. ex rel. Bennett v. Medtronic, Inc., 747 F. Supp. 2d 745, 761 (S.D. Tex. 2010) (quoting Cuvillier v. Taylor, 503 F.3d 397, 401 (5th Cir. 2007)) (cleaned up).

IV. ARGUMENT

7. The final determination of the IRS Audit Dispute is a dispositive condition precedent to Plaintiff's right to commence and maintain any litigation concerning the amount or validity of Daugherty's Reserved Claim. The Complaint does not allege that a final determination has occurred, nor can it. In fact, the Complaint alleges the exact opposite: that the IRS Audit Dispute is ongoing. For this reason alone, the Complaint should be dismissed.

8. To the extent Plaintiff makes any claim of finality—despite not alleging it in the Complaint—that claim is the result of a fundamental misunderstanding of the administrative procedure at the IRS for auditing, assessing, and collecting tax amounts that are allegedly due following a partnership audit. There is no practical or economic effect of the IRS's proposed adjustment at the end of an audit beyond just that—proposing changes to partnership items subject to challenge by the partners, the courts, and subsequent limitations on assessment and collection.

9. Partnership audit procedures, in this case, are governed by the standards established in the Tax Equity and Fiscal Responsibility Act of 1982 ("TEFRA"). See 26 U.S.C. §§ 6221-6234, adopted by TEFRA, Pub. L. No. 97-248, § 402(a). TEFRA governs partnership audits for partnership years beginning after September 3, 1982, and applies generally to partnership tax years from 1983 through 2017 and subsequent tax years are governed by different rules.[6] Determinations at the partnership level are binding upon all direct and indirect partners of the partnership and, in the absence of a partnership-level proceeding, the IRS is bound by the partnership items as reported on the partnership return. Sente Inv. Club P'Ship of Utah v. Commissioner, 95 T.C. 243, 247-250 (1990); Roberts v. Commissioner, 94 T.C. 853, 862 (1990). The tax matters partner ("TMP"),[7] plays an important role in the audit and in any resulting administrative proceedings,[8] conducts judicial proceedings,[9] and is obligated to keep the partners informed.[10] The IRS has a duty to issue certain notices,[11] and partners have a right to participate in the administrative proceedings unless they waive or fail to exercise their rights.[12]

10. The IRS commences an audit by giving notice to all partners and all partners may participate in the audit, but the primary representative is the Tax Matters Partner ("TMP"). 26 U.S.C. § 6223(a); 26 U.S.C. § 6231(a)(7); Treas. Reg. § 301.6231(a)(7)-1(b)(1). A partnership audit is concluded by the IRS issuing a no-change finding or a Final Partnership Administrative Adjustment ("FPAA"). 26 U.S.C. § 6223(a)(2); Internal Revenue Manual § 8.19.12.3. The IRS is required to mail an FPAA to the TMP, all notice partners, and representatives of notice groups. The mailing of the FPAA to the TMP starts the clock on various procedures that are contingent on issuance of an FPAA. See e.g., Triangle Investors Ltd. Partners v. Comm'r, 95 TC 610 (1990). The mailing to the remaining partners must occur within 60 days after the mailing to the TMP. See Byrd Invs. v. CIR, 89 TC 1 (1988), aff'd, 853 F2d 928 (11th Cir. 1988) (procedures for mailing to partners other than TMP satisfy due process).

11. The IRS cannot assess tax resulting from adjustments to partnership items until the notice of an FPAA has been mailed, at least 150 days have elapsed after the mailing and the FPAA has not been contested. 26 U.S.C. § 6225(a)(1). If the IRS violates the assessment restriction, the assessment can be enjoined. 26 U.S.C. § 6225(b). If a Tax Court petition is filed within 150 days after the FPAA notice, no deficiency attributable to a partnership item may be assessed until the court's decision on the matter becomes final. 26 U.S.C. § 6225(a)(1). Partners who receive an FPAA are allowed to file a petition contesting the FPAA in the Tax Court, a federal district court, or the Court of Federal Claims. 26 U.S.C. § 6226; Internal Revenue Manual § 8.19.12.11.1.

12. Based on information and belief, Defendant expects that a challenge is most likely to occur in the U.S. Tax Court. In that instance, the Tax Court will employ the same reasoning applied in deficiency cases to a decision in a TEFRA proceeding. See Cinema '84 v. Commissioner, 122 T.C. 264 (2004). Any partner can appeal the decision, subject to the usual rules for appeals from the deciding court. 26 U.S.C. §§ 6226(g), 7485(b). Under TEFRA, there is only one appeal to one circuit court. See 26 U.S.C. § 7482(b)(1)(A); Abatti v. Comm'r, 86 T.C. 1319 (1986), aff'd, 859 F.2d 115 (9th Cir. 1988). If no notice of appeal is filed within the applicable period, the decision of the trial court becomes final and unappealable at the end of the appeal period. 26 U.S.C. § 7481(a)(1); see also Benenson v. United States, 385 F.2d 26 (2d Cir. 1967); Richland Knox Mutual Ins. Co. v. Kallen, 376 F.2d 360 (6th Cir. 1967).

13. If an appeal is filed, the decision becomes final after the appeal is resolved and the time to take any further appeal expires. Once the decision becomes final, the decision cannot be challenged without moving to vacate the court decision. See Tax Court Rule 162; see also Tashjian v. Comm'r, 320 Fed. App'x. 649 (9th Cir. 2009) (cannot contest partnership item decision in subsequent collection due process case for partner). The finality date is critical for determination of the statute of limitations and the IRS generally has at least one year after the date the decision becomes final to assess the partnership item adjustments. See 26 U.S.C. § 6229(d)(2).

14. Here, each and every one of Plaintiff's allegations is premised on speculating what the final outcome of the 2008 Audit will be. The FPAA, once one is issued, is subject to challenge and adjustment by the TMP and other partners and, if challenged, no assessment of any proposed adjustment can occur until a final decision is entered by the courts.. Even at the conclusion of all the court proceedings, which Plaintiff itself estimates will not occur until 2029,[13] the adjustments may still never occur if the IRS does not follow the requirements for assessment within the given statute of limitations. In short, the issuance of an FPAA at this stage—assuming one has actually been issued—is meaningless beyond providing a clear understanding of the IRS position on certain tax return items, and is subject to challenge and potential change by the partners or the courts.

15. Therefore, Plaintiff has failed to allege any facts which give rise to plausible claims for relief against Daugherty. As a result, all claims against Daugherty should be dismissed without prejudice.

V. DISMISSAL SHOULD BE WITHOUT PREJUDICE, AND LEAVE TO AMEND SHOULD BE DENIED

16. Leave to amend is not automatic, but "is within the sound discretion of the district court." United States ex rel. Doe v. Dow Chem. Co., 343 F.3d 325, 329 (5th Cir. 2003) (internal citations omitted). Courts typically afford leave to amend at least once, however, a plaintiff should be denied leave to amend if the court determines that the proposed change is frivolous or advances a claim or defense that is legally insufficient on its face. U.S. ex rel. Bennett v. Medtronic, Inc., 747 F. Supp. 2d 745, 761 (S.D. Tex. 2010); Ayers v. Johnson, 247 Fed. Appx. 534, 535 (5th Cir. 2007).

17. As set forth above, Plaintiff's claim is premature and as a result cannot be corrected by an amended pleading. Accordingly, should Plaintiff seek leave to amend, such request would be futile and should be categorically denied.

VI. CONCLUSION

18. For the foregoing reasons, the Court should dismiss all claims against Daugherty because the Complaint does not satisfy the Rule 12(b)(6) pleading requirements as it fails to state a claim upon which relief may be granted. Additionally, the Court should deny leave to amend because any attempt to amend the Complaint at this time would be futile as the IRS Audit Dispute remains pending and unresolved. Alternatively, the Court should stay this adversary proceeding until the Debtor's IRS Audit Dispute is fully and finally resolved.

Respectfully submitted this 4th day of June 2025.

PATRICK DAUGHERTY'S (A) REPLY IN SUPPORT OF HIS MOTION TO DISMISS AND (B) RESPONSE TO PLAINTIFF'S CROSS MOTION FOR RELIEF FROM A FINAL ORDER PURSUANT TO BANKRUPTCY RULE 9024

Defendant Patrick Daugherty ("Daugherty") files this Reply in support of his Motion to Dismiss Plaintiff's Complaint pursuant to Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 12(b)(6) (incorporated herein by Fed. R. Bankr. P. 7012(b)) for failure to state a claim upon which relief may be granted, and this Response to Plaintiff's Cross Motion for Relief from a Final Order Pursuant to Bankruptcy Rule 9024.

I. SUMMARY

1. Plaintiff's Objection is a tortured, and ultimately unsuccessful, attempt to avoid the terms of the Settlement Agreement it voluntarily negotiated. It also fails to credibly contest the unambiguous admissions in Plaintiff's Complaint: that the IRS Audit Dispute[2] remains unresolved. In fact, the Objection does not even argue the Complaint's factual allegations plead a cognizable claim for relief.

2. Tellingly, the Objection fails to keep Plaintiff's story straight. At one point Plaintiff admits Daugherty's Reserved Claim is still "unresolved at this time[.]" See Highland Capital Management, L.P.'s (A) Objection to Partick Daugherty's Motion to Dismiss and (B) Cross Motion for Relief From a Final Order Pursuant to Bankruptcy Rule 9024 [Docket No. 10] (the "Objection") at ¶ 5. In other parts of the Objection, Plaintiff claims the IRS may have made a final determination. Id. at ¶ 2 (stating Plaintiff "believes" the IRS made a final determination); id. at ¶ 15 (asserting Plaintiff recently found "information suggesting" the IRS made a final determination). In support, Plaintiff relies on its own records to contend the final determination occurred three years before Plaintiff and Daugherty entered into the Settlement Agreement.

3. Plaintiff's fumbling attempt to characterize the IRS's final determination (or not) of the IRS Audit Dispute is a tacit concession that the Stay Provision of the Settlement Agreement controls. A fact bolstered by Plaintiff's complete failure to answer a simple, logical question: if the IRS had issued a final determination in 2018, then what was the need to reserve the claim in the Settlement Agreement?

4. Realizing its argument lacks a supportable premise, Plaintiff pivots to a Hail Mary: a cross-motion asking the Court to relieve Plaintiff from the Stay Provision in its bargained-for Settlement Agreement.[3] The Court should reject this request for several reasons. The parties clearly contemplated at the time they entered into the Settlement Agreement that final resolution of the IRS Audit Dispute was indeterminate. Plaintiff's failure to negotiate an end-date in the Settlement Agreement is its own fault. Plaintiff also claims the current circumstances were "unforeseen."[4] Mutual mistake, however, is not an "extraordinary circumstance" that justifies Court intervention under Rule 60(b)(6). Most importantly, Plaintiff obtained the benefits of the Stay Provision via multiple tolling agreements that extended Plaintiff's deadline to object to Daugherty's Reserved Claim. Plaintiff is therefore estopped from now trying to eliminate the same provision in the Settlement Agreement. Accordingly, Plaintiff's cross-motion should be denied, and the Complaint dismissed.

[3] Indeed, supporting the bargained-for nature of the settlement, in seeking court-approval of the Settlement Agreement, Plaintiff stated: "[T]he Settlement agreement was unquestionably negotiated at arm's length. The Terms of the settlement are the result of numerous, ongoing discussions and negotiations between the parties and represent neither party's 'best case scenario.'" [Main Case Docket No. 3088 at ¶ 48].

[4] Plaintiff's claim is problematic given the Court's comments during the parties' November 17, 2020 hearing on Daugherty's Motion for Temporary Allowance of Claim for Voting Purposes [Main Case Docket No. 1281 in Case 19-34054-sgj], where the Court commented with respect to Daugherty's Reserved Claim: "down the road we may get to a point where it's not contingent, the IRS has finished doing what it's going to do, and we may get to a point where we think the result is appropriate." [Main Case Docket No. 1426 in Case 19-34054-sgj at 85:16-19]. While that point in time has yet to come, it is hardly something "unforeseen." [See also generally id. at 46:16-48:22].

II. LEGAL STANDARD

5. To survive a motion to dismiss under Rule 12(b)(6), Plaintiff must assert a theory that could entitle it to relief. Fed. R. Civ. P. 12(b)(6). In support of that theory, a complaint must allege "sufficient factual matter" that, taken as true, "state[s] a claim for relief [that] is plausible on its face." Ashcroft v. Iqbal, 556 U.S. 662, 678 (2009). Plaintiff must establish more than a "sheer possibility that a defendant has acted unlawfully." Id. This Court need not accept as true legal conclusions or conclusory factual allegations. Id. "[W]hen the allegations in a complaint, however true, could not raise a claim of entitlement to relief, this basic deficiency should be exposed at the point of minimum expenditure of time and money by the parties and the court." U.S. ex rel. Bennett v. Medtronic, Inc., 747 F. Supp. 2d 745, 761 (S.D. Tex. 2010) (quoting Cuvillier v. Taylor, 503 F.3d 397, 401 (5th Cir. 2007)) (cleaned up).

III. ARGUMENT

A. The Complaint still fails to allege a plausible claim.

6. Plaintiff first contends that it "recently also found information suggesting that the 'IRS [made] a final determination with respect to the IRS audit dispute.'" Objection at ¶ 15. It points to three documents from Plaintiff's own records that were purportedly sent to Daugherty on or about February 3, 2018. Id. at ¶ 16 and Morris Exhibits 2-4. This argument fails for multiple reasons.[5]

[5] The Court also should decline to consider Morris Exhibits 2-4 because they are used in a manner inconsistent with the Complaint's factual allegations. While a plaintiff "has much more flexibility in opposing a Rule 12(b)(6) motion," any elaborations or extrinsic evidence must be consistent with the pleadings. Kinnie Ma Indiv. Retirement Acct. v. Ascendant Capital, LLC, Cause No. 1:19-CV-1050-LY, 2021 WL 11962856, at *1 (W.D. Tex. Aug. 25, 2021) (quoting Geinosky v. City of Chicago, 675 F.3d 743, 745 n. 1 (7th Cir. 2012)). The Complaint alleges the IRS Audit is not final. Plaintiff attempts to use the Morris Exhibits 2-4 to argue that the exact opposite. Notwithstanding the

7. First, Plaintiff's letter to Daugherty makes clear that the "IRS field examiners" did not reach a "final determination". Rather, they simply "proposed an adjustment" to Plaintiff's 2008 tax return. Morris Exhibit 2. The letter also makes clear that Plaintiff and Daugherty could accept or reject the proposed adjustment — and Plaintiff recommended Daugherty not agree to the proposed adjustments. Id. Moreover, the letter states that Plaintiff would "handle the closing conference . . . and appeal the proposed adjustment to the IRS Appeals Office after the conference." Id. Nothing in the letter or IRS forms establishes that the IRS had made a "final determination" with respect to the IRS audit dispute.

8. Second, Plaintiff argues the February 2018 letter and attached IRS forms suggest the IRS reached a final determination. But that argument is belied by the November 2021 Settlement Agreement. The parties expressly provided that Daugherty's Reserved Claim "shall be stayed until the IRS makes a final determination with respect to the IRS Audit Dispute." Settlement Agreement at ¶ 9. If the IRS had already made a final determination in February 2018, then there would be no need for Plaintiff and Daugherty to include the Stay Provision in the Settlement Agreement.

9. The parties' effectuation of the Settlement Agreement also acknowledged the IRS audit was not final. On July 27, 2022, the parties entered a Tolling Agreement Extending Claim Objection Deadline. [Main Case Docket No. 4255-60 in Case 19-34054-sgj].[6] The parties contradiction, the Court also has discretion not to consider matters outside the pleadings that are submitted in opposition to a 12(b)(6) motion. Tremont LLC v. Halliburton Energy Servs., Inc., 696 F.Supp.2d 741, 751 (S.D. Tex. 2010).

[6] As Daugherty pointed out in his Motion to Dismiss, the Court may take judicial notice of its own records. E.g., Biliouris as next friend of Biliouris v. Patman, 751 Fed. App'x 603, 604 (5th Cir. 2019)("court may take judicial notice of the record in prior related proceedings"); ITT Rayonier Inc. v. U.S., 651 F.2d 343, 345 n.2 (5th Cir. 1981)("court may… take judicial notice of its own records…"). Daugherty respectfully requests the Court take judicial notice of the Tolling Agreement filed by Plaintiff in the Main Case at Docket No. 4255-60 as it considers this Motion to Dismiss.

included recitals in the Tolling Agreement that there was an "absence of a resolution of the IRS Dispute" and "it is unknown when the IRS Dispute may be resolved". Id. at 4. Over the next three years the parties entered into three amendments to the Tolling Agreement. None of those amendments changed the characterization of the IRS Audit Dispute as unresolved. [Main Case Docket Nos. 4255-61 through 4255-63 in Case 19-34054-sgj].

10. Finally, the Objection fails to "wade into the thicket of arcane tax regulations" that eviscerate Plaintiff's argument. Objection at ¶ 3. Daugherty's Motion to Dismiss clearly explained how the IRS' proposed adjustment was not a final determination. Motion to Dismiss at ¶¶ 8-13. Plaintiff's intentional decision not to address those arguments is a tacit admission that the detailed explanation of the audit process in Daugherty's response established there was no final determination. The motion to dismiss did not, as Plaintiff claims, present meaningless arcane rules, or a thicket for the Court to wade through, but a clear legal standard that a dispute cannot be final until the allowed judicial review is concluded. These are established standards that both parties were aware of at the time of settlement. Any alleged inconvenience was known and accounted for by the parties during settlement negotiations and the resulting agreement.

11. In sum, the extrinsic evidence attached to Plaintiff's Objection fails to illustrate that the Complaint alleges any facts which give rise to plausible claims for relief against Daugherty. The Complaint and the Objection show Plaintiff filed this adversary proceeding before a final determination in the IRS Audit Dispute. As a result, all claims against Daugherty should be dismissed without prejudice pursuant to the Settlement Agreement.

B. Plaintiff's meritless Rule 60(b)(6) cross-motion should be denied.

i. Plaintiff improperly asks the Court to rewrite the parties' negotiated Settlement Agreement.

12. Rule 60(b)(6) is a "grand reservoir of equitable power" only when its use is necessary "to accomplish justice." Seven Elves, Inc. v. Eskenazi, 635 F.2d 396, 401 (5th Cir. 1981). Moreover, a motion for relief from a judgment is generally not favored and should only be granted upon a showing of exceptional circumstances. United States v. Int'l Bhd. of Teamsters, 247 F.3d 370, 391 (2nd Cir. 2001). Consistent with these principles, motions to reform or nullify settlements are disfavored precisely because settlements represent the parties' negotiated allocation of risk. See Cashner v. Freedom Stores, Inc., 98 F.3d 572, 580 (10th Cir. 1996) (denying 60(b)(6) motion when "[d]efendants made a free, counseled, deliberate choice whose consequences in hindsight are unfortunate.") (citing Pelican Prod. Corp. v. Marino, 893 F.2d 1143, 1147 (10th Cir.1990)). Whatever inconvenience Plaintiff now faces is a direct consequence of a contractual risk it willingly accepted. Rule 60(b)(6) does not permit the Court to rescue a sophisticated party from the predictable results of its own bargain. Yesh Music v. Lakewood Church, 727 F.3d 356, 363 (5th Cir. 2013) ("Rule 60(b)(6) relief will not be used to relieve a party from the free, calculated, and deliberate choices he has made."); S.E.C. v. Conradt, 309 F.R.D. 186, 187-88 (S.D.N.Y. 2015) (refusing to utilized Rule 60(b)(6) to vacate defendants' settlement agreements that resulted in consent judgments after defendants' guilty pleas in a parallel proceeding were vacated).

13. Here, the Stay Provision was an integral term of a comprehensive, court-approved Settlement Agreement that resolved years-old disputes and provided Daughterty with certainty that he would not be forced to litigate until after the IRS Audit Dispute reached a final determination. Settlement Agreement, ¶ 9. Indeed, Plaintiff previously lauded the Settlement

Agreement as fair and reasonable when it sought approval of the same. [See e.g., Main Case Docket No. 3088 at ¶¶ 41-48]. This Court also "found the Settlement Agreement fair and equitable". [Main Case Docket No. 3298 at 2]. Now Plaintiff asks the Court to ignore that finding and write out an essential term of the parties' agreement to avoid the consequence of its bargain.

14. However, the Settlement Agreement's terms and the parties' subsequent tolling agreements establish the parties clearly anticipated the possibility—if not, the likelihood—that the IRS Audit Dispute could drag on for years. Plaintiff could have negotiated a temporal backstop, but it did not. Instead, Plaintiff reserved all defenses while agreeing that "any litigation…shall be stayed" until the IRS reaches a final determination. Settlement Agreement, ¶ 9.

ii. Rule 60(b)(6) should only be utilized in the face of manifest injustice and extraordinary circumstances—not to relieve Plaintiff of its obligations under a court-approved Settlement Agreement.

15. Relief under Rule 60(b)(6) "requires a showing of manifest injustice and extraordinary circumstances." Yesh Music, F.3d at 363; see also Liljeberg v. Health Servs. Acquisition Corp., 486 U.S. 847, 864 (1988) (Rule 60(b)(6) should only be applied in "extraordinary circumstances"). "[E]xtraordinary circumstances rarely exist when a party seeks relief from a judgment that resulted from the party's deliberate choices." Budget Blinds, Inc. v. White, 536 F.3d 244, 255 (3rd Cir. 2008). It is clear that a party who is simply trying to escape the effects of a bargain it regretted in hindsight has not demonstrated exceptional circumstances sufficient to warrant relief under Rule 60(b)(6). Coltec Indus., Inc. v. Hobgood, 280 F.3d 262, 273 (3rd Cir. 2002).

16. Plaintiff claims "no one foresaw" the IRS may require more than five years to make a final determination when the Settlement Agreement was negotiated.[7] Objection at ¶ 5. And now, Plaintiff complains that dissolving the estate may take longer than it anticipated at the time Plaintiff entered into the Settlement Agreement. However, Plaintiff's failure does not amount to an extraordinary circumstance. To the contrary, Plaintiff's arguments show that it is trying to escape the effects of a bargain it now regrets in hindsight.[8] Daugherty should not bear the consequences of Plaintiff's regret,[9] nor should the Court cosign Plaintiff's attempt to circumvent the parties' Settlement Agreement.

iii. Equitable considerations defeat Plaintiff's bid to rewrite a deal from which it has already benefited.

17. Equity runs in Daugherty's favor. After the Court entered the Settlement Order, Plaintiff repeatedly invoked the Settlement Agreement to secure four separate tolling agreements, thereby extending its claim-objection deadline from August 11, 2023, to June 30, 2025. (Main Case Docket Nos. 4255-60 through 4255–63). Plaintiff cannot accept those substantial benefits and now disavow the agreement that enabled them. The doctrine of judicial estoppel prevents a party from "playing fast and loose with the courts" by taking inconsistent positions in successive

[7] To the extent Plaintiff now characterizes the Stay Provision as a "mutual mistake" (or even a "unilateral mistake") that contention is legally irrelevant. Fifth Circuit precedent makes clear that "mistake or inadvertence" is covered by subsections (1)–(3) of Rule 60(b), and must be raised within one year. Fed. R. Civ. P. 60(c)(1); Seven Elves, 635 F.2d at 401–02; see also Pioneer Inv. Servs. Co. v. Brunswick Assocs. Ltd. P'ship, 507 U.S. 380, 393 (1993) (Rule 60(b)(1) covers mistake, inadvertence, surprise, or excusable neglect, and is subject to a one-year limitation). Plaintiff's motion—filed more than three years after the Settlement Order—comes far too late under those provisions and cannot be bootstrapped into subsection (6).

[8] This is particularly concerning, because Plaintiff previously stated, "the Settlement Agreement should be approved as a rational exercise of the Reorganized Debtor's business judgment made after due deliberation of the facts and circumstances concerning Daugherty's Claim." [See e.g., Main Case Docket No. 3088 at ¶ 48 (emphasis added)].

[9] Notably, at any time, Plaintiff could have negotiated an agreeable amendment to the Settlement Agreement with Daugherty to address its concerns. Instead, it chose to leave Daugherty in the dark and file this improper and meritless Adversary Proceeding in violation of the same.

proceedings. New Hampshire v. Maine, 532 U.S. 742, 749 (2001) (judicial estoppel prevents a party from prevailing in one phase of a case on an argument and then relying on a contradictory argument to prevail in another phase). Having treated the Stay Provision as valid and enforceable for years, Plaintiff is estopped from contending otherwise now—especially since Plaintiff has reaped other substantive benefits under the Settlement Agreement.

18. Moreover, Daugherty relied on the Stay Provision when entering those tolling agreements, to set it aside now would be manifestly prejudicial. In equity, the Court should consider that the current position of the parties is a direct result of their bargaining and refuse to tilt the scale in Plaintiff's favor.

iv. Plaintiff's cross-motion lacks authority and should be denied.

19. Every authority that Plaintiff relies on in its Objection involves either (i) default judgments or (ii) impossibility caused by events wholly outside the parties' contractual framework—not an attempt to rewrite a settlement term chosen by the parties.

20. For example, in Seven Elves, relief was granted where defendants never received notice of trial and a $250,000 default judgment was entered. 635 F.2d at 399. Unlike here, there was no negotiated settlement, and the movants had no opportunity to present their case. In Celtic Marine Corp. v. James C. Justice Companies, Inc., 593 F. App'x 300 (5th Cir. 2014), the court merely reduced the post-judgment interest rate because the contract lacked "clear, unambiguous" language. 593 F. App'x 300, 306. To the extent a settlement agreement was involved in the court's 60(b)(6) analysis, the ruling enforced, rather than voided, the settlement agreement. Id. at 302. In Lindy Investments III v. Shakertown 1992, Inc., 360 F. App'x 510 (5th Cir. 2010), the district court vacated a decade-old money judgment where the plaintiffs' own post-judgment conduct—continuing to use allegedly defective shingles—made enforcement inequitable. 360 F. App'x 510.

Again, no settlement existed, and relief merely restored the pre-judgment status quo. In In re Strudel Holdings LLC, 656 B.R. 404 (Bankr. S.D. Tex. 2024), the court extended a real-estate closing deadline because an unforeseen cyberattack on the escrow agent made compliance impossible. 656 B.R. 404. Here, by contrast, the Stay Provision already contemplates a drawn-out IRS process; Plaintiff's "difficulty" is neither unforeseen nor unavoidable.

21. Plaintiff cites these cases to support the general proposition that Rule 60(b)(6) "should be liberally construed" and that courts have broad discretion to grant relief under that provision to accomplish justice. Celtic Marine Corp, 593 F. App'x at 303. But none of these cases authorize a court to excise a bargained-for stay clause simply because one party regrets the timing implication years later. On the contrary, they reinforce that Rule 60(b)(6) is available only when an unanticipated event renders continued enforcement of a judgement manifestly unjust—an entirely different scenario from the one presented here. See Seven Elves, 635 F.2d at 402 (Rule 60(b) should be liberally construed to do substantial justice, but not to disturb the finality of judgments absent compelling circumstances).

22. In sum, the Stay Provision was a material term of a negotiated settlement, its continued enforcement is neither manifestly unjust nor extraordinary. For the foregoing reasons, the Court should hold Plaintiff to its bargain and dismiss the adversary proceeding, or, at a minimum, stay it until the IRS Audit Dispute is fully and finally resolved, exactly as the Settlement Agreement requires.

IV. DISMISSAL SHOULD BE WITHOUT PREJUDICE

23. Plaintiff's tertiary requested relief is for dismissal without prejudice, subject to (a) a further extension of the claim objection deadline through February 1, 2026, and (b) Plaintiff's right to re-file the Complaint between January 1 and 31, 2026 together with a renewed Rule

60(b)(6) motion. Objection at ¶ 25. Daugherty agrees the dismissal should be without prejudice. Daugherty also does not oppose an extension of the claim objection deadline to February 1, 2026. However, Daugherty opposes Plaintiff's request for the right to re-file in January 2026 to the extent that Plaintiff is seeking a ruling that it may file before the IRS makes a final determination. The more appropriate procedure would be for Plaintiff to seek a further extension of the claim objection deadline by February 1, 2026, if necessary.

V. CONCLUSION

24. For the foregoing reasons, the Court should dismiss all claims against Daugherty because the Complaint does not satisfy the Rule 12(b)(6) pleading requirements as it fails to state a claim upon which relief may be granted. Alternatively, the Court should stay this adversary proceeding until the Debtor's IRS Audit Dispute is fully and finally resolved.

Respectfully submitted this 8th day of August 2025.

APPELLANT'S AMENDED DESIGNATION OF ITEMS TO BE INCLUDED IN THE RECORD ON APPEAL AND STATEMENT OF THE ISSUES PRESENTED

Pursuant to Federal Rule of Bankruptcy Procedure 8009(a), Appellant Patrick Daugherty ("Daugherty") hereby submits his amended designation of items to be included in the record on appeal and statement of issues to be presented in connection with his appeal from the July 24, 2026 Judgment and Memorandum Opinion [Docket Nos. 138, 139 in Adversary No. 25-03055-bwo]. See Notice of Appeal [Docket No. 142 in Adversary No. 25-03055-bwo].

Statement of Issues on Appeal

1. Whether the Bankruptcy Court erred in disallowing Daugherty's Reserved Claim based on the Employment Agreement's termination provisions, when the Court itself found the 2009 Compensation Statement was incorporated into the Employment Agreement and resolved its ambiguity in Daugherty's favor, concluding that Highland Capital Management, L.P. ("Highland") intended to compensate Daugherty for any material deviation in his 2008 tax refund.

2. Whether the Bankruptcy Court erred in applying the "no further liability or obligation" language of Sections 4.5 and 4.6 of the Employment Agreement to extinguish Daugherty's compensation entitlement under the 2009 Compensation Statement, when that language pertains to severance contingent upon execution of a separation agreement and not to earned compensation that accrued during Daugherty's active employment.

3. Whether the Bankruptcy Court erred in holding that James Dondero's oral promises to cover Daugherty's contingent tax liability were unenforceable under Texas's statute of frauds, Tex. Bus. & Com. Code § 26.01, when Highland had a main purpose of its own in making the promise and when the Court failed to consider Daugherty's continued employment and forbearance as adequate consideration.

4. Whether the Bankruptcy Court erred in denying Daugherty's counterclaim for specific performance of the Settlement Agreement's books-and-records provision by construing that provision through the statutory categories of 6 Del. C. § 18-305(a), rather than by the plain meaning of the negotiated Settlement Agreement requiring Highland to "transfer its interests in HERA and ERA to Daugherty" "[t]o facilitate [the] recovery of [] potential claims," including "the HERA and ERA books and records (spreadsheet) maintained on HCMLP's system."

5. Whether the Bankruptcy Court abused its discretion by granting Highland Capital Management, L.P.'s Cross Motion pursuant to Fed. R. Civ. P. 60(b)(6) when Highland failed to make a showing of manifest injustice and exceptional circumstances required to rewrite a term of the parties' bargained-for, court-approved settlement agreement that Highland Capital Management, L.P. entered on a free, deliberate, calculated, and counseled basis.

6. Whether the Bankruptcy Court abused its discretion by granting Highland Capital Management, L.P.'s Cross Motion pursuant to Fed. R. Civ. P. 60(b)(6) when Highland was estopped from seeking such relief after it obtained the benefits of the tolling provision in the settlement agreement, including, inter alia, the parties' negotiation and execution of a series of tolling agreements to the benefit of Highland Capital Management, L.P. regarding its certain claim-objection deadline.

DECLARATION OF JOHN A. MORRIS IN SUPPORT OF HIGHLAND CAPITAL MANAGEMENT, L.P.'S (A) OBJECTION TO PATRICK DAUGHERTY'S MOTION TO DISMISS AND (B) CROSS MOTION FOR RELIEF FROM A FINAL ORDER PURSUANT TO BANKRUPTCY RULE 9024

I, John A. Morris, pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1746, under penalty of perjury, declare as follows:

1. I am an attorney in the law firm of Pachulski, Stang, Ziehl & Jones LLP, counsel to Highland Capital Management, L.P. ("Highland"), the reorganized debtor in the above-captioned chapter 11 case. I submit this Declaration in support of Highland Capital Management, L.P.'s (A) Objection to Patrick Daugherty's Motion to Dismiss and (B) Cross Motion for Relief from a Final Order Pursuant to Bankruptcy Rule 9024 (the "Objection" or the "Cross Motion," as the case may be) being filed contemporaneously with this Declaration. This Declaration is based on my personal knowledge and review of the documents listed below.

2. Attached hereto as Exhibit 1 is a true and correct copy of that certain Settlement Agreement (the "Settlement Agreement") by and between Highland and Patrick Daugherty ("Daugherty"), dated November 22, 2021.

3. Attached hereto as Exhibit 2 is a true and correct copy of the transmittal letter dated February 3, 2018, regarding the IRS' proposed tax adjustments for the 2008 tax year (the "Audit Letter").

4. Attached hereto as Exhibit 3 is a true and correct copy of IRS Form 886-Z (only as it pertains to Daugherty) that was attached to the Audit Letter.

5. Attached hereto as Exhibit 4 is a true and correct copy of IRS Form 870-PT pertaining to Daugherty that was also attached to the Audit Letter.

Dated: July 18, 2025

Final Execution Copy

SETTLEMENT AGREEMENT

This Settlement Agreement (the "Settlement") is made and entered into by and between (i) Highland Capital Management, L.P., as reorganized debtor ("HCMLP" or the "Debtor"), and (ii) Patrick Hagaman Daugherty ("Daugherty" and together with HCMLP, the "Parties," and individually as a "Party"). This Settlement provides for the treatment of certain claims asserted by Daugherty against the Debtor, and for the Parties to take certain other specified actions in settlement thereof.

RECITALS

WHEREAS, on October 16, 2019 (the "Petition Date"), the Debtor filed a voluntary petition for relief under title 11 of the United States Code (the "Bankruptcy Code");

WHEREAS, the Debtor's chapter 11 case (the "Bankruptcy") is pending in the Bankruptcy Court for the Northern District of Texas, Dallas Division (the "Bankruptcy Court");

WHEREAS, on February 2 and 3, 2021, the Court conducted a confirmation hearing with respect to the Fifth Amended Plan of Reorganization of Highland Capital Management, L.P. (as Modified) [Docket No. 1808] (the "Plan");

WHEREAS, on February 8, 2021, the Court rendered an opinion from the bench in which it confirmed the Plan [Docket No. 1924];

WHEREAS, on February 22, 2021, the Court issued an order confirming the Plan [Docket No. 1943];

WHEREAS, on August 11, 2021, the Effective Date (as defined in the Plan) occurred [Docket No. 2700];

WHEREAS, Daugherty is a former employee and limited partner of the Debtor and has served in other positions with affiliates and former affiliates of the Debtor;

WHEREAS, at the time of his resignation, Daugherty owned 19.1% of the preferred units of Highland Employee Retention Assets LLC ("HERA"), an employee deferred compensation vehicle managed by the Debtor and Highland ERA Management, LLC ("ERA") and contends that he owned or had the right to own all of the preferred units of HERA;

WHEREAS, prior to his resignation from HCMLP, Daugherty was awarded units of HERA, which vehicle owned interests in Restoration Capital Partners, LP ("RCP"), an HCMLP managed private equity fund, and other investments;

WHEREAS, in April 2012, the Debtor commenced an action against Daugherty in Texas state court (the "Texas Action"), and Daugherty subsequently asserted counterclaims for breach of contract and defamation, and third-party claims against HERA and others;

WHEREAS, after a three-week trial, the jury returned a verdict partially in favor of the Debtor, but Daugherty prevailed on his claims against the Debtor and James Dondero ("Dondero") for defamation with malice and a third-party claim against HERA and was awarded damages of $2.6 million against HERA, plus prejudgment and post-judgment interest at 5% (the "HERA Judgment");[1]

WHEREAS, in July 2017, after being unable to collect on the HERA Judgment, Daugherty commenced an action against the Debtor, Dondero, HERA, and ERA Management in the Delaware Chancery Court (the "Delaware Court"), in a case captioned Daugherty v. Highland Capital Management, L.P., et al., C.A. No. 2017-0488-MTZ, for fraudulent transfer, promissory estoppel, unjust enrichment, indemnification, and fees on fees (the "Highland Delaware Case");

[1] The Debtor prevailed on its claims against Mr. Daugherty for breach of contract and breach of fiduciary duty for non-monetary damages and obtained an award of $2.8 million in attorney's fees. The HERA Judgment was affirmed on appeal on December 1, 2016.

WHEREAS, the Delaware Court in the Highland Delaware Case (i) found that the Dondero-related defendants improperly withheld dozens of documents in discovery on privilege grounds, and (ii) ruled that there was "a reasonable basis to believe that a fraud has been perpetrated" such that the Delaware Court applied the "crime-fraud exception" to the attorney-client privilege assertion, and such rulings have not been overturned;

WHEREAS, Daugherty asserts that such withholding of documents and the failure to search defendants' and their employees personal electronic devices for stored documents and texts as well as other emails and domain names such as sasmgt.com and gmail.com which were in their possession and control and to provide required discovery injured him by undermining his attempts to build an evidentiary record to support his claims against the Debtor and the other defendants in the Highland Delaware Case;

WHEREAS, on October 14, 2019, the Highland Delaware Case proceeded to trial and two days later, on October 16, 2019, before the completion of the trial and before the Delaware Court ruled on Daugherty's and the Debtor's cross-motions for summary judgment regarding indemnification and fees on fees, the Debtor filed for bankruptcy;

WHEREAS, on December 1, 2019, Daugherty filed a separate lawsuit in the Delaware Court, captioned Daugherty v. Dondero, et al., C.A. No. 2019-0956-MTZ, against Dondero, HERA, ERA, Hunton Andrews Kurth LLP ("Andrews Kurth"), Marc Katz ("Katz"), Michael Hurst ("Hurst"), the Debtor's Chief Compliance Officer, the Debtor's then in-house counsel (Isaac Leventon ("Leventon")), and the Debtor's then general counsel (Scott Ellington ("Ellington")), for conspiracy to commit fraud, among other claims (the "HERA Delaware Case" and together with the Highland Delaware Case, the "Delaware Cases");

WHEREAS, on April 1, 2020, Daugherty filed a general, unsecured, non-priority claim against the Debtor in the amount of at "least $37,483,876.59," and such claim was denoted by the Debtor's claims agent as Proof of Claim No. 67 ("Proof of Claim No. 67");

WHEREAS, on April 6, 2020, Daugherty filed a general, unsecured, non-priority claim against the Debtor in the amount of at "least $37,482,876.62" that superseded Proof of Claim No. 67 and that was denoted by the Debtor's claims agent as Proof of Claim No. 77 ("Proof of Claim No. 77");

WHEREAS, on August 31, 2020, the Debtor commenced an adversary proceeding against Daugherty by filing a complaint (the "Complaint") in which the Debtor: (1) objected to Proof of Claim No. 77 on various grounds (the "Claim Objection"), and (2) asserted a cause of action for the subordination of part of Daugherty's claim pursuant to section 510(b) of the Bankruptcy Code. Adv. Proc. No. 20-03107 (the "Adv. Proc.") [Adv. Docket No. 1] (the "Adversary Proceeding");

WHEREAS, on September 29, 2020, Daugherty filed his answer to the Complaint [Adv. Docket No. 8] (the "Answer");

WHEREAS, on September 24, 2020, Daugherty filed his Motion to Confirm Status of Automatic Stay, or Alternatively to Modify Automatic Stay [Docket No. 1099] (the "Stay Motion") pursuant to which he sought to sever the Debtor from the Highland Delaware Case and then consolidate the remaining claims in the Highland Delaware Case into the HERA Delaware Case and proceed with one case against the non-Debtor parties;[2]

WHEREAS, on October 23, 2020, Daugherty filed a motion seeking leave to amend his Proof of Claim No. 77 [Docket No. 1280] (the "POC Amendment Motion"). The amended proof

[2] On October 8, 2020, the Debtor commenced a second adversary proceeding against Daugherty (the "Second Adversary Proceeding"), seeking to enjoin him from prosecuting the Delaware Cases. Adv. Proc. 20-03128 ("2d Adv. Proc.") [2d Adv. Proc. Docket No. 1]. On January 29, 2021, the parties filed a Settlement that resolved the Second Adversary Proceeding, and the Second Adversary Proceeding was subsequently dismissed with prejudice. [2d Adv. Proc. Docket No. 12].

of claim attached to the POC Amendment Motion increased Daugherty's general, unsecured, non-priority claim against the Debtor to the amount of at "least $40,410,819.42" and sought to supersede Proof of Claim No. 67 and Proof of Claim No. 77;

WHEREAS, on October 23, 2020, Daugherty filed his Motion for Temporary Allowance of Claim for Voting Purposes Pursuant to Bankruptcy Rule 3018 Motion, seeking for his Claim to be temporarily allowed for voting purposes in this amount of $40,410,819.42 [Docket No. 1281] (the "3018 Motion");

WHEREAS, on November 3, 2020, the Court granted the Stay Motion [Docket No. 1327];

WHEREAS, the Debtor opposed the 3018 Motion, and after conducting an evidentiary hearing for the limited purpose of determining the 3018 Motion, the Court entered an order temporarily allowing Daugherty's Claim only for voting purposes in the amount of $9,134,019 [Docket No. 1474];

WHEREAS, on December 10, 2020, the Court entered an order [Docket No. 1533] granting the POC Amendment Motion, and Daugherty was permitted to file an amendment to his proof of claim. On December 23, 2020, Daugherty filed an amended proof of claim, designated by the Debtor's claim agent as Proof of Claim No. 205 ("Proof of Claim No. 205" or the "Daugherty Claim"). Proof of Claim No. 205 superseded Proof of Claim No. 77 and increased the amount of the Daugherty's Claim to $40,710,819.42;

WHEREAS, on November 30, 2020, Daugherty filed his Motion to Lift the Automatic Stay (the "Lift Stay Motion") [Docket No. 1491] seeking to lift the automatic stay to allow him to finish his trial in the Delaware Court and liquidate his claims. The Debtor opposed the Lift Stay Motion, and after a hearing was held on December 17, 2020, the Court denied the relief requested in the Lift Stay Motion [Docket No. 1612];

WHEREAS, except with respect to the Reserved Claim (as defined below), the Parties have agreed to settle and resolve all claims and disputes between them and their respective current affiliates, managed entities, and employees, including the Daugherty Claim, on the terms set forth in this Settlement:

AGREEMENT

NOW, THEREFORE, after good-faith, arms-length negotiations, and in consideration of the foregoing, it is hereby stipulated and agreed that:

1. Allowed Claims: In full satisfaction of the entirety of the Daugherty Claim against the Debtor and HCMLP Released Parties (defined below), excluding the Reserved Claim, Daugherty shall receive (a) an allowed general unsecured Class 8 claim in the amount of $8,250,000; (b) an allowed subordinated general unsecured Class 9 claim in the amount of $3,750,000; and (c) a one-time lump sum cash payment in the amount of $750,000 to be paid within 5 business days of Bankruptcy Court approval of this Settlement Agreement.

2. Recovery: The Debtor makes no representation or warranty as to the recovery on Class 8 or Class 9 claims under the Plan.

3. Observation Access: As soon as practicable following entry of an order of the Bankruptcy Court approving this Settlement, HCMLP shall use reasonable efforts to petition the Claimant Trust Oversight Board[3] to permit Daugherty to have access as an observer to meetings of the Claimant Trust Oversight Board, subject to policies, procedures, and agreements applicable to other observers of the Claimant Trust Oversight Board, including policies, procedures, and agreements related to confidentiality and common interest. Whether Daugherty will be granted observer access and any continuing observer access is and will remain at the sole discretion of the

[3] The Claimant Trust Oversight Board refers to the Oversight Board as defined in the August 11, 2021 Highland Claimant Trust Agreement establishing the Claimant Trust, as defined therein.

Claimant Trust Oversight Board.

4. RCP Track Record: HCMLP shall use reasonable efforts to provide Daugherty with data constituting the investment performance track record of RCP during Daugherty's tenure at HCMLP. Daugherty shall not be entitled to any compensation with respect to the performance of RCP. HCMLP makes no representations or warranties regarding such data and takes no responsibility with respect to the use of such data for any purposes.

5. Daugherty Releases: Except as specifically provided in this paragraph 5, and to the maximum extent permitted by applicable law, the Debtor, on behalf of itself and each of the HCMLP Entities and HCMLP Parties (as those terms are defined in paragraph 6 below), hereby forever, finally, fully, unconditionally, and completely releases, relieves, acquits, remises, and exonerates, and covenants never to sue Daugherty, his successors, affiliates, and assigns, (and in each such category to include their respective advisors, trustees, directors, officers, managers, members, partners, employees, beneficiaries, shareholders, agents, participants, subsidiaries, parents, affiliates, and designees) (collectively, the "Daugherty Additional Release Parties" and together with Daugherty, the "Daugherty Released Parties"), in each case acting in such capacity, for and from any and all claims, debts, liabilities, demands, obligations, promises, acts, agreements, liens, losses, costs and expenses (including, without limitation, attorney's fees and related costs), damages, injuries, suits, actions, and causes of action of whatever kind or nature, whether known or unknown, suspected or unsuspected, matured or unmatured, liquidated or unliquidated, contingent or fixed, at law or in equity, statutory or otherwise, including, without limitation those which were or could have been asserted in the Bankruptcy, including the Adversary Proceeding, the Texas Action, or the Delaware Cases, all existing as of the date hereof (collectively, the "HCMLP Released Claims"); provided, however, that such release shall not apply with respect to any and all defenses that HCMLP or the HCMLP Entities may have to the Reserved Claim or the Reserve Motion (as those terms are defined herein) or Daugherty's obligations under this Settlement. For the avoidance of doubt, the HCMLP Released Claims include all claims or causes of action and facts, known or unknown, that exist as of the date hereof but do not include or apply to claims or causes of action based on facts occurring after the date hereof.

6. HCMLP Releases: Except as specifically provided in this paragraph 6, and to the maximum extent permitted by law, Daugherty, on behalf of himself and each of the Daugherty Released Parties, hereby forever, finally, fully, unconditionally, and completely releases, relieves, acquits, remises, and exonerates, and covenants never to sue, (a)(i) HCMLP; (ii) Strand Advisors Inc.; (iii) the Claimant Trust; (iv) the Claimant Trust Oversight Board; (v) the Highland Litigation Sub-Trust; (vi) the Highland Indemnity Trust; (vii) any entity of which greater than fifty percent of the voting ownership is held directly or indirectly by HCMLP as of the date hereof and any entity otherwise directly or indirectly controlled by HCMLP as of the date hereof,; and (viii) any entity managed by either HCMLP or a direct or indirect subsidiary of HCMLP, including Highland Restoration Capital Partners, L.P., Highland Restoration Capital Partners Offshore, L.P., Highland Restoration Capital Master, L.P. (and all of their respective general partners, feeder funds, managers, and affiliates) (the foregoing (a)(i) through (a)(viii) the "HCMLP Entities"), and (b) with respect to each such HCMLP Entity, such HCMLP Entity's respective current (meaning employed in their respective roles as of the date hereof) advisors, trustees, directors, officers, managers, members, partners, employees, beneficiaries, shareholders (but not the shareholders of Strand Advisors Inc.), agents, participants, subsidiaries, parents, affiliates, successors, designees, and assigns, except as expressly set forth below (the "HCMLP Parties," and together with the HCMLP Entities, the "HCMLP Released Parties"),[4] in each case acting in such capacity, for and from any and all claims, debts, liabilities, demands, obligations, promises, acts, agreements, liens, losses, costs and expenses (including, without limitation, attorney's fees and related costs), damages, injuries, suits, actions, and causes of action of whatever kind or nature, whether known or unknown, suspected or unsuspected, matured or unmatured, liquidated or unliquidated, contingent or fixed, at law or in equity, statutory or otherwise, including without limitation those which were or could have been asserted in the Bankruptcy, including the Adversary Proceeding, the Texas Action, the Daugherty Claim, or the Highland Delaware Case (collectively, the "Daugherty Released Claims"); provided, however, that such release shall not apply with respect to the Reserved Claim or the Reserve Motion (as those terms are defined in paragraph 9 below) or HCMLP's obligations under this Settlement. This release expressly applies to all current employees of HCMLP as the Reorganized Debtor (as defined in the Plan), in their capacities as such. For the avoidance of doubt, the Daugherty Released Claims includes all claims or causes of action and facts, known or unknown, that exist as of the date hereof but do not include or apply to claims or causes of action based on facts occurring after the date hereof.

7. Reservation of Daugherty Rights: Notwithstanding anything contained herein to the contrary, the term HCMLP Released Parties shall not include (a) NexPoint Advisors, L.P. (or any of its subsidiaries and employees, advisors, or agents), (b) the Charitable Donor Advised Fund, L.P. (and any of its subsidiaries, including CLO Holdco, Ltd., and any of their respective employees, advisors, or agents), (c) NexBank, SSB (or any of its subsidiaries, employees, advisors, or agents), (d) James Dondero or any trust in which Dondero or any of his family members are a trustee or beneficiary (or any trustee acting for such trust), including but not limited to Hunter

[4] The Daugherty Additional Released Parties and the HCMLP Released Parties are collectively referred to as the "Additional Released Parties."

Mountain Investment Trust, The Get Good Trust, Dugaboy Investment Trust, SLHC Investment Trust, (e) HERA (subject to paragraph 8 below), (f) ERA (subject to paragraph 8 below), (g) Grant Scott, (h) Mark Okada and any trust in which Mark Okada or any of his family members are a beneficiary (or any trustee acting for such trust in their respective capacities), (i) Ellington, (j) Leventon, (k) Katz, (l) Hurst, (m) Andrews Kurth, or (m) any other former employee (as of the date hereof) of the HCMLP Released Parties.

8. HERA and ERA: The Parties acknowledge and agree that as of the date hereof, HERA and ERA have no material assets other than potential claims that may exist against persons or entities not released at or prior to the date hereof, and no claims against the HCMLP Released Parties. The allowed claims provided in paragraph 1 hereof are expressly agreed to in order to satisfy any liability the Debtor may have in connection with the HERA Judgment. To facilitate recovery of such potential claims – which expressly excludes any and all claims by or in the name of HERA and ERA against any of the HCMLP Released Parties -- HCMLP will transfer its interests in HERA and ERA to Daugherty. Such transfer will include the HERA and ERA books and records (spreadsheet) maintained on HCMLP's system. Such transfer will be without representation or warranty of any type; including, for the avoidance of doubt, without any representation or warranty as to the merits of the potential claims or the efficacy of the transfer of the potential claims. Such transfer will be without any liability or material cost to HCMLP or its affiliates or the other HCMLP Released Parties, including any liability in respect of any assets that HERA or ERA ever actually or allegedly owned, possessed, or controlled and that were actually or allegedly transferred, conveyed, sold, written off or otherwise disposed of (in any such case, a "Disposition"). In connection with the transfer, HERA and ERA have expressly released the HCMLP Released Parties from any and all claims, including any claims actions or remedies related to any Disposition, either of them may have against any HCMLP Released Party now or in the future (the "HERA and ERA Release"). Daugherty on behalf of himself and each of the Daugherty Released Parties acknowledges, accepts, and agrees not to challenge the HERA and ERA Release or support any challenge thereto. A copy of the HERA and ERA Release is annexed hereto as Exhibit A. Daugherty acknowledges and agrees that even though HERA and ERA are not HCMLP Released Parties under this Agreement, Daugherty and all Daugherty Released Parties shall (a) not seek to hold any HCMLP Released Party liable for any action or inaction taken by or on behalf of HERA or ERA, including through any derivative, veil-piercing or similar cause of action or remedy; and (b) not seek to recover damages or obtain any form of relief against any HCMLP Released Party on account of any action or inaction taken by or on behalf of HERA or ERA, including through any veil piercing or similar cause of action or remedy. If, for any reason, HERA or ERA, or any person or entity acting on their behalf, recovers anything from any HCMLP Released Party, Daugherty shall promptly turnover to HCMLP or its successors and assigns any amounts actually recovered by Daugherty or any Daugherty Released Party, from HERA or ERA arising from, related to, or derived from any claim that HERA or ERA or any person or entity acting on their behalf has or may have against any HCMLP Released Party. HCMLP will provide reasonable assistance to Daugherty to assist with the preparation of any required HERA K-1s for 2021, but any requirement to provide such K-1s will be the obligation, if any, of HERA.

9. IRS Compensation Claim: In section 4(ii) of the Addendum to Proof of Claim No. 205, Daugherty contends that he has a contingent, unliquidated claim against the Debtor arising out of a 2008/2009 compensation letter (the "Reserved Claim"), which claim is also related to an audit/dispute between the Debtor and the Internal Revenue Service (the "IRS") (the dispute between the Debtor and IRS being referred to herein as the "IRS Audit Dispute"). The Debtor disputes the validity and amount of the Reserved Claim. Daugherty shall retain the Reserved Claim solely against the Debtor and not against any other HCMLP Released Party, and the Debtor reserves the right to assert any and all defenses thereto. Any litigation by and between the Debtor and Daugherty concerning the validity and amount of the Reserved Claim shall be stayed until the IRS makes a final determination with respect to the IRS Audit Dispute; provided, however, that Daugherty may file a motion with the Bankruptcy Court to have the Reserved Claim estimated for purposes of establishing a reserve as a "Disputed Claim" under the Debtor's Plan (the "Reserve Motion"), and the Debtor (and any successor) reserves the right to assert any and all defenses thereto. Notwithstanding the foregoing, Daugherty may address any personal claim or personal liability to the IRS as a result of the IRS Audit Dispute, including settlement of any such claims; provided, however, Daugherty agrees to forego settling or addressing any claims with the IRS without the written consent of the Debtor until March 31, 2022.

10. Current HCMLP Employees: The HCMLP Parties set forth on Appendix A hereto are currently employed by the Debtor are HCMLP Released Parties. By executing a copy of this Settlement and delivering it to Daugherty, each of the persons on Appendix A agrees not to sue, attempt to sue, or threaten or work with or assist any entity or person to sue, attempt to sue, or threaten any Daugherty Released Party on or in connection with any claim or cause of action arising prior to the date of this Settlement.

11. Dismissal and Motions in Other Actions. Within ten business days after approval of this Settlement by the Bankruptcy Court, the Parties shall take all steps necessary (a) to dismiss with prejudice (i) the Highland Delaware Case, as against the Debtor and any HCMLP Released Party, and (ii) the HERA Delaware Case, as against every HCMLP Released Party, (b) to file an agreed motion and proposed order to partially vacate the final judgment entered against Daugherty in the Texas Action, (c) withdraw HCMLP's objection to the Daugherty motion to recuse in the Texas Action, and (d) to dismiss the Adversary Proceeding with prejudice. The parties shall file the foregoing motions and withdrawals substantially in the form of the documents annexed hereto as Exhibit B.

12. Additional Third Party Claims Discovery: The Debtor (a) shall accept service of any subpoenas via email served by Daugherty in connection with the Delaware Cases on behalf of itself, the HCMLP Entities, the HCMLP Parties (but only in their capacity as employees of HCMLP); and (b) acknowledge and consent to the jurisdiction of the Delaware Chancery Court for purposes of enforcing any such subpoenas, subject in all respects to the rights that the HCMLP Entities and HCMLP Parties to defend the requested production, if any.

13. Settlement of Third Party Claims: Daugherty shall not settle any claims or causes of action against any current or former director, officer, employee, agent or representative of HCMLP or Strand Advisors Inc. (collectively, the "Potentially Indemnified Parties") to the extent such claims have been brought or could have been brought against any Potentially Indemnified Parties, if any such settlement designates, defines or describes the settled claims as arising out of or relating to simple negligence or as having otherwise been within the scope of employment of the Potentially Indemnified Party.

14. Claims Register: As soon as practicable after the Settlement Effective Date, HCMLP shall instruct the claims agent in the Debtor's chapter 11 case to adjust the claims register in accordance with this Settlement.

15. Daugherty Representations: Daugherty represents and warrants to each of the HCMLP Released Parties that (a) he has full authority to release the Daugherty Released Claims and has not sold, transferred, or assigned any Daugherty Released Claim to any other person or entity and that (b) no person or entity other than Daugherty has been, is, or will be authorized to bring, pursue, or enforce any Daugherty Released Claim on behalf of, for the benefit of, or in the name of (whether directly or derivatively) Daugherty.

16. HCMLP Representations: Each of HCMLP and each HCMLP Released Party who has signed this Settlement represents and warrants to Daugherty that (a) he, she or it has not sold, transferred, pledged, assigned or hypothecated any HCMLP Released Claim to any other person or entity and (b) he, she, or it has full authority to release any HCMLP Released Claims that such HCMLP Released Party personally has against Daugherty.

17. Additional HCMLP Representations: HCMLP represents and warrants that it is releasing the HCMLP Released Claims on behalf of the HCMLP Entities to the maximum extent permitted by any contractual or other legal rights HCMLP possesses. To the extent any of the HCMLP Entities dispute HCMLP's right to release the HCMLP Released Claims on behalf of any of the HCMLP Entities, HCMLP shall use commercially reasonable efforts to support Daugherty's position, if any, that such claims were released herein. For the avoidance of doubt, HCMLP will have no obligations to assist Daugherty under this paragraph if HCMLP has been advised by external counsel that such assistance could subject HCMLP to liability to any third party or if such assistance would require HCMLP to expend material amounts of time or money. HCMLP shall not argue in any forum that the non-signatory status of any of the HCMLP Entities to this Settlement shall in any way affect the enforceability of this Settlement vis-à-vis any of the HCMLP Entities. The Parties agree that all of the HCMLP Entities are intended third-party beneficiaries of this Release.

18. HCMLP Covenant: HCMLP and the HCMLP Entities covenant and agree that they will not pursue or seek to enforce any injunctions entered in the Texas Action against Daugherty.

19. Entire Agreement; Modification: This Settlement contains the entire agreement between the Parties as to its subject matter and supersedes and replaces any and all prior agreements and undertakings between the Parties. This Settlement may not be modified other than by a signed writing executed by the Parties.

20. Bankruptcy Court Approval: Notwithstanding anything to the contrary contained herein, the effectiveness of HCMLP and the Claimant Trust's execution of this Settlement shall be subject to entry of an order of the Bankruptcy Court approving this Settlement. HCMLP shall take all steps necessary to file with the Bankruptcy Court a motion for an order approving this Settlement pursuant to Federal Rule of Bankruptcy Procedure 9019 and section 363 of the Bankruptcy Code (the "Motion"). The parties agree to cooperate in the preparation and prosecution of the Motion which shall be filed no later than 5 business day after execution of this Settlement, unless such time is extended by mutual agreement.

21. Counterparts: This Settlement may be executed in counterparts (including facsimile and electronic transmission counterparts), each of which will be deemed an original but all of which together constitute one and the same instrument and shall be effective against a Party or Additional Released Party upon approval of the Settlement by the Bankruptcy Court.

22. Governing Law; Jurisdiction: This Settlement will be exclusively governed by and construed and enforced in accordance with the laws of the State of Delaware, without regard to its conflicts of law principles, and all claims relating to or arising out of this Settlement, or the breach thereof, whether sounding in contract, tort, or otherwise, will likewise be governed by the laws of the State of Delaware, excluding Delaware's conflicts of law principles. The Bankruptcy Court will retain exclusive jurisdiction over all disputes relating to this Settlement.

23. Headings: Paragraph headings included herein are for convenience and shall have no impact whatsoever on the meaning or interpretation of any part of this Settlement.

HERA RELEASE AGREEMENT

This HERA Release Agreement ("HERA Release Agreement") is entered into as of November 21, 2021 by and among Highland Capital Management, L.P., as reorganized debtor ("HCMLP" or the "Debtor"), Patrick Hagaman Daugherty ("Daugherty"), Highland Employee Retention Assets, LLC ("HERA") and Highland ERA Management, LLC ("ERA" and together with HCMLP, and HERA, the "Parties," and individually as a "Party").

WHEREAS, reference is hereby made to the Settlement Agreement (the "Settlement") of even date herewith and attached hereto made and entered into by and between the Debtor, the Highland Claimant Trust, and Daugherty.

WHEREAS, the Settlement settles all of Daugherty's claims against the HCMLP Released Parties, including all claims against the HCMLP Released Parties relating to transfers of assets from HERA.

WHEREAS, the Settlement includes, among other things, the transfer by HCMLP to Daugherty of HCMLP's interests in HERA and ERA.

WHEREAS, under the Settlement such transfer is being made without any liability to any of the HCMLP Released Parties of any type and is conditional on the full release of, and covenant not to sue, each of the HCMLP Released Parties, by and from HERA, ERA, Daugherty and the Daugherty Released Parties.

WHEREAS, neither HERA nor ERA filed proofs of claim in the Bankrupty and have no claims against HCMLP.

WHEREAS, out of an abundance of caution to confirm that HERA, ERA, Daugherty, and the Daugherty Released Parties have no claims against the HCMLP Released Parties, this HERA Release Agreement is being entered into contemporaneously with the Settlement and constitutes an essential part thereof.

WHEREAS, capitalized terms used herein but not otherwise defined herein have the respective meanings set forth in the Settlement.

NOW, THEREFORE, in consideration of the entry into of the Settlement, the transfer of the equity interests in HERA and ERA to Daugherty in accordance with the Settlement, and for other good and valuable consideration, including the provisions set forth herein, the parties hereto further agree as follows:

1. Upon entry of an order of the Bankruptcy Court approving this Settlement and to the maximum extent permitted by law, Daugherty, on behalf of himself and each of the Daugherty Additional Release Parties, together with each of HERA and ERA (Daugherty, the Daugherty Additional Release Parties, HERA and ERA shall be collectively referred to herein as the "HERA Releasing Parties"), each hereby forever, finally, fully, unconditionally, and completely releases, relieves, acquits, remises, and exonerates, and covenants never to sue, any of the HCMLP Released Parties for and from any and all claims, debts, liabilities, demands, obligations, promises, acts, agreements, liens, losses, costs and expenses (including, without limitation, attorney's fees and related costs), damages, injuries, suits, actions, and causes of action of whatever kind or nature, whether known or unknown, suspected or unsuspected, matured or unmatured, liquidated or unliquidated, contingent or fixed, at law or in equity, statutory or otherwise, including without limitation those which were or could have been asserted in the Bankruptcy, including the Adversary Proceeding, the Texas Action, the Daugherty Claim, Highland Delaware Case, or the HERA Delaware Case (collectively, "Claims"), in each case that in any way arise from or otherwise in any way relate to HERA or ERA, including, without limitation, any actual or potential claims, whether known or unknown, in any way related to or arising out of the formation, management, operation or assets of HERA, ERA or any of their respective predecessors or successors, including the transfer of any assets to or from HERA or ERA, it being understood that all remaining assets of HERA have been transferred to HCMLP prior to the date hereof, and in addition to the releases set forth above, each of the HERA Releasing Parties irrevocably waives and releases and covenants not to sue with respect to any Claims against any of the HCMLP Released Parties in any way related to any such transfers or assets, whether in personam with respect to the HCMLP Released Parties or in rem with respect to any of their assets (collectively, the "HERA Released Claims") or any other Disposition.

2. This Release constitutes a part of, and is supplemental to, the provisions of the Settlement.

AGREED MOTION TO PARTIALLY VACATE THE FINAL JUDGMENT DATED JULY 14, 2014

TO THE HONORABLE JUDGE OF SAID COURT:

Plaintiff Highland Capital Management, LP ("Highland") and Defendant Patrick Daugherty ("Daugherty" and together with Highland, the "Parties") file this Agreed Motion to Partially Vacate the Final Judgment dated July 14, 2014 (the "Motion"), and respectfully show the following:

1. On July 14, 2014, this Court entered a Final Judgment (the "Judgment") that, among other things, granted Highland's motion for injunctive relief against Daugherty.

2. The Judgment was amended on March 23, and June 23, 2017.

3. On October 16, 2019, filed a petition under chapter 11 in the United States Bankruptcy Court for the District of Delaware ("Highland's Bankruptcy Case"). On October 24,

2019, as a result of the commencement of Highland's Bankruptcy Case, the Supreme Court of Texas issued an order abating a related case that Daugherty had brought in that court, Case No. 19-0758. Highland's Bankruptcy Case was subsequently transferred to the United States Bankruptcy Court for the Northern District of Texas.

4. Daugherty asserted certain claims against Highland in Highland's Bankruptcy Case. The Parties have fully and finally resolved their disputes pursuant to a settlement agreement (the "Settlement Agreement") reached in the Highland Bankruptcy Case pursuant to which, among other things, (a) all of Daugherty's known and unknown claims against each of the Highland Released Parties (as those terms are defined in the Settlement Agreement) are resolved, and (b) this Motion seeking the vacatur of certain provisions of the Judgment specifically set forth below is being filed.

5. Highland and Daugherty hereby agree and stipulate that the Court has plenary power to issue an order granting this Motion because the Court retained authority to enforce the permanent injunction rendered in the Judgment, and that changed circumstances have now arisen such that the Court should dissolve the permanent injunction. Highland and Daugherty further agree and stipulate that this Motion shall be treated as an agreement of the Parties pursuant to Texas Rule of Civil Procedure 11, and is fully enforceable. See Coale v. Scott, 331 S.W.3d 829, 831-32 (Tex. App.—Amarillo 2011, no pet.) ("Irrespective of whether a trial court lost its plenary jurisdiction over its judgment, the trial court's authority to approve a Rule 11 agreement does not depend on whether it has such jurisdiction.").

6. Highland and Daugherty agree that the following portions of the Judgment shall be vacated pursuant to their settlement in the Highland Bankruptcy:

a. The second full paragraph on Page 2 of the Judgment, which begins "The Court, after considering the jury's findings regarding Daugherty's breaches of contract and breaches of fiduciary duty . . .";

b. The permanent injunction rendered against Daugherty in the third full paragraph on Page 2 of the Judgment, which begins "It is therefore further ORDERED that Daugherty be and hereby is commanded to cease and desist from . . .";

c. The fourth and fifth full paragraphs on Page 2 of the Judgment awarding Highland a monetary judgment against Daugherty for reasonable and necessary attorney's fees, as well as post-judgment interest on that award[1]; and

d. The jury's answers to Questions 1, 2, 5, 6, 9 and 12 in the Verdict, which was attached as Exhibit 1 to the Judgment.

7. Highland and Daugherty further agree that, as a result of the vacation of the permanent injunction in the Judgment, Highland hereby withdraws any pending motions to show cause or motions for contempt against Daugherty that allege Daugherty violated or is violating the permanent injunction. Highland also agrees not to seek to enforce the permanent injunction in any manner in the future.

[1] Daugherty previously satisfied the monetary judgment awarded to Highland, and Highland filed a release of the monetary judgment. Although Highland and Daugherty have agreed to vacate the monetary judgment awarded to Highland, Daugherty waives and relinquishes any right or claim to recover any amount previously paid in satisfaction of the Judgment and Highland shall not be required to reimburse Daugherty for his prior satisfaction of the monetary judgment. To the extent Daugherty is entitled to indemnification for any liabilities, losses, and damages allegedly incurred by him for actions taken in connection with Highland's business, including the liabilities Daugherty allegedly incurred in connection with this action and the Judgment, such indemnification claims have been fully and finally satisfied and resolved under the Settlement Agreement.

8. Concurrent with the filing of this Motion, Daugherty will file a motion to dismiss his as-yet unfiled petition for review pending before the Supreme Court of Texas under Case No. 19-0758.

9. Highland and Daugherty further agree that any portions of the Judgment that are not specifically vacated pursuant to this Motion shall remain in full force and effect.

WHEREFORE, Highland and Daugherty pray that the Court grant this Motion in its entirety, and for all further relief, at law or in equity, the Court deems necessary.

Respectfully submitted,

Re: Field Examiners' Proposed Tax Adjustments – 2008 Tax Year
Highland Capital Management, L.P.

Dear Patrick,

As previously advised, a team of IRS field examiners ("Exam") conducted an audit of the 2008 partnership tax return filed on behalf of Highland Capital Management, L.P. ("Highland"). Exam concluded their audit and have proposed an adjustment to the 2008 return.

We have enclosed with this letter the following items: (a) IRS Form 886-Z except -A, and (b) IRS Form 870-PT. At this time, no action on your part is required with respect to these documents unless you wish to agree to Exam's proposed adjustments – which we do not recommend.

Exam has scheduled a closing conference on March 2, 2018. You do not need to attend the closing conference. Please let us know by the close of business on February 15, 2018 if you wish to attend. Highland will handle the closing conference (unless waived) and appeal the proposed adjustment to the IRS Appeals Office after the conference.

Please contact me at 972-419-4438 if you have any questions.

Regards,

Brian Collins
Director of Human Resources
Highland Capital Management, L.P.

Form 870-PT (Rev. 4-2012) For partnership taxable years ending after August 5, 1997	Department of the Treasury — Internal Revenue Service Agreement for Partnership Items and Partnership Level Determinations as to Penalties, Additions to Tax, and Additional Amounts	IN REPLY REFER TO:

Taxpayer(s) name(s), address and zip code:	Name of Partnership:	Tax Year(s) Ended:
Daugherty, Patrick 3621 Cornell Ave. Dallas, TX 75205	Highland Capital Management EIN: 75-2716725	12/31/2008

Offer of Agreement to Partnership Items and Partnership Level Determinations as to Penalties, Additions to Tax, and Additional Amounts & Waiver of Restrictions on Assessment for Partnership Items, Penalties, Additions to Tax, and Additional Amounts

Under the provisions of sections 6224(c) and 7121 of the Internal Revenue Code (IRC), the Commissioner of the Internal Revenue Service and the undersigned taxpayer(s) agree to the determination of partnership items and partnership level determinations as to penalties, additions to tax, and additional amounts that relate to adjustments to partnership items as shown on the attached Schedule of Adjustments.

The undersigned taxpayer(s), in accordance with IRC sections 6224(b) and 6213(d), also waive(s) the restrictions provided by IRC sections 6225(a) and 6213(a) and consent(s) to the assessment and collection of any deficiency attributable to partnership items, penalties, additions to tax, and additional amounts that relate to partnership items, as set forth in the attached Schedule of Adjustments (plus any interest provided by law). IRC Section 6651 late filing penalty applies to any late filed (or non-filed) returns that are required to report the partnership item adjustments.

This agreement is conditional and will not become effective or final until this agreement form is returned to the Commissioner and is signed on his or her behalf. The one-year extension of the period of limitations on assessments under IRC section 6229(f) will not begin to run until the date the Commissioner's representative signs this form on the Commissioner's behalf. If this is a partial agreement, the period of limitations for assessing any tax attributable to the settled items shall be determined as if this agreement had not been entered into.

If this part of this agreement form is signed for the Commissioner, the treatment of partnership items and partnership level determinations as to penalties, additions to tax and additional amounts that relate to adjustments to partnership items under this agreement will not be reopened in the absence of fraud, malfeasance, or misrepresentation of fact. In addition, no claim for an adjustment of partnership items, refund or credit based on any change in the treatment of partnership items or partnership level determinations as to penalties, additions to tax, and additional amounts may be filed or prosecuted.

Once the taxpayer signs such a waiver and it is countersigned by the Commissioner, the taxpayer cannot file an Administrative Adjustment Request (AAR) on any partnership items for the related TEFRA entity. This includes partnership items not specifically addressed on the attached Schedule of Adjustments.

INSTRUCTIONS FOR SIGNING FORM 870-PT

1. Sign the agreement if you wish to agree to the partnership items and partnership level determinations as to penalties, additions to tax, and additional amounts, as shown on the attached Schedule of Adjustments. The execution and filing of this offer will expedite the adjustment of tax liability.

2. If a JOINT RETURN OF A HUSBAND AND WIFE was filed and both spouses intend to agree, both spouses should sign Form 870-PT. One spouse may sign as agent for the other if acting under a power of attorney, which, if not previously filed, must accompany this form. The IRS may accept the signature of only one spouse at its discretion. However, the agreement will only be binding on the signing spouse.

3. If the taxpayer is a corporation, the agreement should be signed with the corporate name followed by the signature and title of the officer authorized to sign Form 870-PT.

4. Your attorney or agent may sign for you if this action is specifically authorized by a power of attorney, which if not previously filed, must accompany this form.

5. If this offer is signed by a trust, the agreement must be signed with the trust name, followed by the signature and title of the person authorized to sign on behalf of the trust. If the trustee is signing this agreement on behalf of the trust and all beneficiaries, a Form 56 must be signed by the trustee. If an individual beneficiary is signing the agreement to bind themselves to the agreement, no Form 56 is needed.

6. If the partner is an LLC, the agreement should be signed by the manager of the LLC or other authority as authorized by State law. The signature line should show: [Name of LLC], by [Name of Manager], Followed by the title [Manager].

7. For a partner who is a subsidiary corporation in a consolidated group:

   - If the agreement is for a partnership year(s) ending on or before the last day of a consolidated return year beginning before June 28, 2002, the agreement should be signed by a currently authorized officer of the corporation who was the common parent corporation of the consolidated group for the relevant consolidated return year(s). The common parent corporation signs the agreement in its own name. The signature and title of a current officer of the common parent corporation, who is authorized to bind the common parent corporation, should be displayed in the signature block. See Treas. Reg. § 1.1502-77A(a).

   - If the agreement is for a partnership year(s) ending on or before the last day of a consolidated return year beginning on or after June 28, 2002, then a currently authorized officer of the subsidiary corporation should sign the agreement and should do so in the name of the subsidiary corporation. See Treas. Reg. § 1.1502-77(a)(6)(iii). The signature and title of a current officer of the subsidiary corporation, who is authorized to bind the corporation, should be displayed in the signature block. The agreement should also be signed by a currently authorized officer of the corporation who was the common parent corporation of the consolidated group for the relevant consolidated return year(s). The signature and title of a current officer of the common parent corporation, who is authorized to bind the common parent corporation, should also be displayed in the signature block.

8. For a partner who is the common parent corporation of a consolidated group, a currently authorized officer of the corporation who was the common parent corporation of the consolidated group for such consolidated return year(s) should sign the agreement in the name of the common parent corporation. See Treas. Reg. § 1.1502-77(a).

9. If the Tax Matters Partner signs this offer, please include the title with the signature.

10. If the Tax Matters Partner is a subsidiary corporation in a consolidated group:

    - If the agreement is for a partnership year(s) ending on or before the last day of a consolidated return year beginning before June 28, 2002, then a currently authorized officer of the corporation who was the common parent corporation of the consolidated group for such consolidated return year should sign the agreement on behalf of the Tax Matters Partner. The signature and title of a current officer of the common parent corporation, who is authorized to bind the common parent corporation, should be displayed in the signature block. See Treas. Reg. § 1.1502-77A(a). An authorized officer for the subsidiary corporation should also sign if it, as the Tax Matters Partner, is binding non-notice partners under the agreement. The signature and title of a current officer of the subsidiary corporation, who is authorized to bind the corporation, should be displayed in the signature block

    - If the agreement is for a partnership year(s) ending on or before the last day of a consolidated return year beginning on or after June 28, 2002, then a currently authorized officer of the subsidiary corporation should sign the agreement in the name of the subsidiary corporation. See Treas. Reg. § 1.1502-77(a)(3)(v). The agreement should also be signed by a currently authorized officer of the corporation who was the common parent corporation of the consolidated group for the relevant consolidated return year(s). The signature and title of a current officer of the common parent corporation, who is authorized to bind the common parent corporation, should also be displayed in the signature block.

NOTE: The submission of this offer by you and the acceptance of the offer for the Commissioner may result in an additional tax liability to you plus interest as provided by law. If the result is a decrease in tax, the amount of the decrease will be sent to you with interest as provided by law.

[1] Highland's last four digits of its taxpayer identification number are (8357). The headquarters and service address for Highland is 100 Crescent Court, Suite 1850, Dallas, TX 75201.

ORDER (A) DENYING PATRICK DAUGHERTY'S MOTION TO DISMISS AND (B) GRANTING HIGHLAND CAPITAL MANAGEMENT, L.P.'S CROSS MOTION FOR RELIEF FROM A FINAL ORDER PURSUANT TO BANKRUPTCY RULE 9024

Having considered (a) the Motion to Dismiss [Adv. Docket No. 5] (the "Motion") filed by Patrick Daugherty ("Mr. Daugherty"); (b) the (A) Objection to Patrick Daugherty's Motion to Dismiss, and (B) Cross Motion for Relief from a Final Order Pursuant to Bankruptcy Rule 9024 [Adv. Docket Nos. 9 and 10] (the "Objection" and the "Cross Motion," respectively)[2] filed by Highland Capital Management, L.P. ("Highland"); (c) the Declaration of John A. Morris in Support of Highland Capital Management, L.P.'s (A) Objection to Patrick Daugherty's Motion to Dismiss, and (B) Cross Motion for Relief from a Final Order Pursuant to Bankruptcy Rule 9024 and the exhibits annexed thereto submitted in support of Highland's Objection and Cross Motion [Adv. Docket No. 11]; (d) Patrick Daugherty's (A) Reply in Support of His Motion to Dismiss and (B) Response to Plaintiff's Cross Motion for Relief from a Final Order Pursuant to Bankruptcy Rule 9024 [Adv. Docket No. 15]; (e) Highland Capital Management, L.P.'s Reply in Further Support of Its Cross Motion for Relief from a Final Order Pursuant to Bankruptcy Rule 9024 [Adv. Docket No. 16]; (f) the exhibits filed by Mr. Daugherty at Adv. Docket No. 19; and (g) the arguments presented by counsel during the hearing held on September 4, 2025 (the "Hearing"), the Court finds and concludes that: (i) the Court has jurisdiction to consider the Motion, the Objection, and the Cross Motion under 28 U.S.C. §§ 157 and 1334 and the retention of jurisdiction provisions of Article XI of the Plan; (ii) consideration of the Motion, the Objection, and the Cross Motion is a core proceeding under 28 U.S.C. § 157(b)(2); (iii) venue is proper in this district under 28 U.S.C. §§ 1408 and 1409; and (iv) the legal and factual bases set forth in the Objection and the Cross Motion establish good cause for the relief granted herein.

[2] Capitalized terms not otherwise defined in this Order shall have the meanings ascribed to them in the Objection and Cross Motion.

Accordingly, for the reasons set forth on the record during the Hearing, it is hereby ORDERED THAT:

1. The Motion is DENIED in its entirety.

2. The Cross Motion is GRANTED in its entirety.

3. Pursuant to Bankruptcy Rule 9024(b)(6), the Settlement Order is hereby modified to provide that the Stay Provision is stricken from the Settlement Agreement.

4. The Court shall retain exclusive jurisdiction to hear and determine all matters and disputes arising from the interpretation and implementation of this Order.

NOTICE REGARDING THE RECORD FOR A BANKRUPTCY APPEAL

Federal Rule of Bankruptcy Procedure 8009 prescribes the deadlines for filing the designations of items to be included in the record, requires copies to be submitted to the bankruptcy clerk to prepare the record, and directs all parties to "take any other action necessary to enable the clerk to assemble and transmit the record." Fed.R.Bankr.P. 8009(g). The purpose of this notice is to provide guidance on the local application of this rule.

DESIGNATION OF THE RECORD

- If you are the appellant, when designating items for inclusion in the record,
  - ♦ list the following items first, in this order: (1) the notice of appeal, (2) the judgment, order, or decree appealed from, (3) any opinion, findings of fact, and conclusions of law of the bankruptcy court, and (4) the docket sheet;
  - ♦ then list the other items to be included, leaving for the end of your list any sealed documents, any exhibits, and any transcripts.
- If you are the appellee, cross−appellant, or cross−appellee and are designating additional items,
  - ♦ list the following items first, in this order: (1) any notice of cross−appeal, (2) any judgment, order, or decree appealed from that the appellant has not designated, and (3) any opinion, findings of fact, and conclusions of law of the bankruptcy court that the appellant has not designated;
  - ♦ then list the other items to be included, leaving for the end of your list any sealed documents , any exhibits, and any transcripts.
- All parties designating items to be included in the record on appeal must
  - ♦ for each item, specify the document number shown on the docket sheet. If an item does not have a document number, specify the date the item was filed.

- If you have designated a transcript that has not been filed, order it immediately by contacting the presiding bankruptcy judge's courtroom deputy or following the instructions at http://www.txnb.uscourts.gov/transcript−and−tape−orders.

ASSEMBLY OF THE RECORD

Within 14 days of filing your designation of the record, pursuant to Rule 8009, submit to the bankruptcy clerk any item that is not available in the ECF system, using this procedure:

- Enclose sealed items and non−documentary items (e.g., removable media) in 8.5" x 11" envelopes.
- Copy all other items in PDF files to a removable storage device (e.g., USB drives, DVDs, etc.), organized in the sequence in which they were designated. Limit files to 5.0 MB in size and do not include color.
- Save copies of court exhibits in PDF files to a removable storage device, organized in the sequence in which they are designated. Limit files to 5.0 MB in size and do not include color. (Use a separate removable storage device for each hearing.)
- Label any submission with the case caption and bankruptcy court case and/or adversary proceeding number.

TRANSMITTAL OF THE RECORD

- The bankruptcy clerk will electronically transmit the record to the district clerk. The parties must provide a paper copy of the record, if required.

REQUIREMENTS REGARDING PAPER RECORD

- If the district judge requires a paper copy, the district clerk will notify you that you are required to provide a copy of the items in your designation to the bankruptcy clerk, for quality review.
- If you are notified to provide a paper copy, organize the record according to the volumes maintained in the district court's ECF system.
- Even if a paper copy is not required when an appeal is entered on the docket, the district judge or the district clerk may later notify you that a paper copy is required for the use of the district judge or the court of appeals.

STIPULATED SCHEDULING ORDER

This stipulation (the "Stipulation") is made and entered into by and between plaintiff Highland Capital Management L.P. (the "Highland" or the "Debtor") and defendant Patrick Daugherty ("Daugherty" and together with Highland, the "Parties"), by and through their respective undersigned counsel, to establish certain deadlines pertaining to the litigation of claims asserted in Highland's Complaint for (1) Disallowance of Claim No. 205 in its Entirety, (2) Estimation of Claim No. 205 for Allowance Purposes, or (3) Subordination of any Allowed Portion of Claim No. 205 of Patrick Hagaman Daugherty [Adv. Pro. Docket No. 1] (the "Complaint"), provided that Daugherty's agreement to this Stipulation is made subject to, and without waiving, his Notice of Appeal [Adv. Pro. Docket No. 25] of the Court's Order [Adv. Pro. Docket No. 23], filed September 19, 2025.

RECITALS

WHEREAS, on October 16, 2019 (the "Petition Date"), the Debtor filed a voluntary petition for relief under chapter 11 of title 11 of the United States Code (the "Bankruptcy Code") in the United States Bankruptcy Court for the District of Delaware, Case No. 19-12239 (CSS) (the "Delaware Court").

WHEREAS, on December 4, 2019, the Delaware Court entered an order transferring venue of the Debtor's bankruptcy case to the United States Bankruptcy Court for the Northern District of Texas, Dallas Division (the "Bankruptcy Court"). Bankr. Docket No. 186.

WHEREAS, on April 1, 2020, Daugherty filed Proof of Claim No. 67 ("Claim 67"), which was superseded and replaced by Proof of Claim No. 77 ("Claim 77").

WHEREAS, on December 23, 2020, Daugherty filed Proof of Claim 205 (the "Claim" or "Claim 205"), which superseded and replaced Claim 77 in its entirety.

WHEREAS, on February 22, 2021, the Bankruptcy Court entered the Order (i) Confirming the Fifth Amended Plan of Reorganization (as Modified) and (ii) Granting Related Relief [Bankr. Docket No. 1943] (the "Confirmation Order") which confirmed the Fifth Amended Plan of Reorganization of Highland Capital Management, L.P., as Modified [Bankr. Docket No. 1808] (the "Plan").

WHEREAS, on December 8, 2021, the Debtor filed Reorganized Debtor's Motion for Entry of an Order Approving Settlement with Patrick Hagaman Daugherty (Claim No. 205) and Authorizing Actions Consistent Therewith [Bankr. Docket No. 3088] (the "Settlement Motion").

WHEREAS, on March 8, 2022, the Bankruptcy Court granted the Settlement Motion [Bankr. Docket No. 3298] (the "Settlement Order"), disallowing Claim 67 and Claim 77 with prejudice and resolving all of Claim 205 other than Daugherty's Reserved Claim (as defined in the Parties' Settlement Agreement approved by the Settlement Order).

WHEREAS, on May 2, 2025, Highland commenced the Adversary Proceeding by filing the Complaint to disallow, estimate or subordinate Daugherty's Reserved Claim.

WHEREAS, on June 4, 2025, Daugherty moved to dismiss the Complaint on the ground that it was to be stayed pursuant to the Parties' Settlement Agreement [Adv. Pro. Docket No. 5] (the "Motion to Dismiss").

WHEREAS, on July 18, 2025, Highland filed its opposition to the Motion to Dismiss and cross-moved for relief from the Settlement Order [Adv. Pro. Docket Nos. 9 and 10] (the "Cross Motion") seeking to strike the stay provision from paragraph 9 of the Settlement Agreement.

WHEREAS, on August 8, 2025, Daugherty filed his opposition to the Cross Motion [Adv. Pro. Docket No. 15].

WHEREAS, on September 4, 2025, after further briefing and oral argument, the Bankruptcy Court granted the Cross Motion, denied the Motion to Dismiss, and requested the Parties confer on a scheduling order for this litigation.

WHEREAS, the Parties have conferred and desire to enter into the proposed scheduling order set forth below.

NOW, THEREFORE, it is hereby stipulated and agreed, and upon approval of this Stipulation by the Bankruptcy Court, it shall be SO ORDERED:

1. On or before October 3, 2025, Daugherty shall serve and file his answer to the Complaint.

2. The Parties shall serve their written discovery requests (including document requests, interrogatories, and requests for admission) (the "Discovery Requests") on the other Party on or before October 24, 2025, after which no further Discovery Requests shall be served on another Party absent a Court order entered on reasonable notice and upon a showing of good cause.

3. The Parties shall (a) serve written responses and objections to any Discovery Requests on or before November 21, 2025, and (b) be substantially complete with document production on or before December 12, 2025.

4. Subpoenas for third-party discovery (including written discovery and depositions) shall be served on or before December 19, 2025.

5. Fact depositions shall be taken by video between January 5 and January 30, 2026. The Parties shall be limited to five (5) fact depositions per side (except that if multiple corporate representatives are designated, those shall collectively count as one fact deposition), and each fact deposition shall be limited to five (5) hours of testimony, absent further Court order made after reasonable notice and upon good cause shown.

6. The Parties shall confer in good faith as to the identity of witnesses they seek to depose. Notwithstanding the provisions of paragraph 5, in an effort to be efficient, reduce the burden on third parties, and avoid motion practice, if the Parties intend to depose the same witness, they shall do so in one day, with Highland having up to three (3) hours of testimony and Daugherty having up to four (4) hours of testimony.

7. Fact discovery (including third-party discovery) shall be completed by January 30, 2026; provided, however, that if a third-party fact witness is unavailable (or refuses to appear) for deposition on or before January 30, 2026, then the deadline for completing third-party witness depositions shall be extended to February 13, 2026, or such later date as the Court may order after reasonable notice and upon good cause shown.

8. On or before February 13, 2026, the Parties shall disclose the identity of any retained expert witness they intend to call at trial, and (b) serve the expert's report in compliance with Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 26(a)(2)(B).

9. On or before March 6, 2026, the Parties shall disclose the identity of any retained rebuttal expert witness they intend to call at trial, and (b) serve the expert's rebuttal report in compliance with Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 26(a)(2)(B).

10. Expert depositions and expert discovery shall be completed by March 23, 2026.

11. Except with respect to impeachment and rebuttal exhibits and witnesses, witness and exhibit lists will be filed on the docket and served on or before March 25, 2026, unless otherwise agreed in writing by the Parties. Objections to exhibits, other than for relevance, shall be filed on or before March 30, 2026, or they shall be deemed waived.

12. A joint pretrial order in compliance with the Court's Local Rules shall be filed on or before April 1, 2026.

13. Any Party wishing to file a trial brief shall file and serve the same on or before April 3, 2026.

14. A one-day evidentiary hearing will be held in person before the Court on April 8, 2026.

15. All deadlines set forth above are effective as of 5:00 p.m. (Central Time) on each applicable date.

16. If approved by the Court, this Stipulation shall only be modified in a writing signed by the Parties or upon the entry of an order of the Court entered upon notice to the Parties.

17. The Court shall retain jurisdiction over all disputes arising out of or otherwise concerning the interpretation and enforcement of this Stipulation.

Dated: September 25, 2025.

NOTICE REGARDING THE RECORD FOR A BANKRUPTCY APPEAL

Federal Rule of Bankruptcy Procedure 8009 prescribes the deadlines for filing the designations of items to be included in the record, requires copies to be submitted to the bankruptcy clerk to prepare the record, and directs all parties to "take any other action necessary to enable the clerk to assemble and transmit the record." Fed.R.Bankr.P. 8009(g). The purpose of this notice is to provide guidance on the local application of this rule.

DESIGNATION OF THE RECORD

- If you are the appellant, when designating items for inclusion in the record,
  - ♦ list the following items first, in this order: (1) the notice of appeal, (2) the judgment, order, or decree appealed from, (3) any opinion, findings of fact, and conclusions of law of the bankruptcy court, and (4) the docket sheet;
  - ♦ then list the other items to be included, leaving for the end of your list any sealed documents, any exhibits, and any transcripts.
- If you are the appellee, cross−appellant, or cross−appellee and are designating additional items,
  - ♦ list the following items first, in this order: (1) any notice of cross−appeal, (2) any judgment, order, or decree appealed from that the appellant has not designated, and (3) any opinion, findings of fact, and conclusions of law of the bankruptcy court that the appellant has not designated;
  - ♦ then list the other items to be included, leaving for the end of your list any sealed documents , any exhibits, and any transcripts.
- All parties designating items to be included in the record on appeal must
  - ♦ for each item, specify the document number shown on the docket sheet. If an item does not have a document number, specify the date the item was filed.

- If you have designated a transcript that has not been filed, order it immediately by contacting the presiding bankruptcy judge's courtroom deputy or following the instructions at http://www.txnb.uscourts.gov/transcript−and−tape−orders.

ASSEMBLY OF THE RECORD

Within 14 days of filing your designation of the record, pursuant to Rule 8009, submit to the bankruptcy clerk any item that is not available in the ECF system, using this procedure:

- Enclose sealed items and non−documentary items (e.g., removable media) in 8.5" x 11" envelopes.
- Copy all other items in PDF files to a removable storage device (e.g., USB drives, DVDs, etc.), organized in the sequence in which they were designated. Limit files to 5.0 MB in size and do not include color.
- Save copies of court exhibits in PDF files to a removable storage device, organized in the sequence in which they are designated. Limit files to 5.0 MB in size and do not include color. (Use a separate removable storage device for each hearing.)
- Label any submission with the case caption and bankruptcy court case and/or adversary proceeding number.

TRANSMITTAL OF THE RECORD

- The bankruptcy clerk will electronically transmit the record to the district clerk. The parties must provide a paper copy of the record, if required.

REQUIREMENTS REGARDING PAPER RECORD

- If the district judge requires a paper copy, the district clerk will notify you that you are required to provide a copy of the items in your designation to the bankruptcy clerk, for quality review.
- If you are notified to provide a paper copy, organize the record according to the volumes maintained in the district court's ECF system.
- Even if a paper copy is not required when an appeal is entered on the docket, the district judge or the district clerk may later notify you that a paper copy is required for the use of the district judge or the court of appeals.

PATRICK DAUGHERTY'S MOTION FOR STAY PENDING APPEAL

[1] Highland's last four digits of its taxpayer identification number are (8357). The headquarters and service address for Highland is 100 Crescent Court, Suite 1850, Dallas, TX 75201.

Defendant Patrick Daugherty files this Motion for Stay Pending Appeal pursuant to Bankruptcy Rule 8007(a)(1)(A) and moves the Court for entry of an order staying its September 4, 2025 Order [Doc. No. 23] and the above-captioned adversary proceeding and would show the Court as follows:

PRELIMINARY STATEMENT

1. On November 22, 2021, Daugherty and Plaintiff Highland Capital Management, L.P. signed a Settlement Agreement wherein Highland agreed it would not pursue litigation against Daugherty until after the IRS concludes its audit of Highland's tax returns. Also in that Settlement Agreement, Daugherty agreed to reduce some of his claims against Highland, its employees, and its representatives. This Court then approved the Settlement Agreement on March 8, 2022. Daugherty relied on the Court-approved Settlement Agreement for clarity and peace of mind and to manage his involvement in Highland's bankruptcy proceedings. The Settlement Agreement also gave both Daugherty and Highland a definitive triggering event (the "final determination" made by the IRS) for future litigation. The Settlement Agreement remained in effect for three years, until this Court granted Highland's request to rewrite the Settlement Agreement and remove its stay provision without providing any substitute consideration to Daugherty. Respectfully, there was no justification for the Court to second-guess the parties' bargained-for Settlement Agreement and modify it without Daugherty's approval.

2. While Daugherty understands (and shares) the Court's desire to conclude the "Highland litigation," that desire cannot outweigh the fact that Daugherty negotiated a binding give-and-take Settlement Agreement that he has relied upon in all his dealings since this Court approved it in 2022. Daugherty is entitled to the protections of the Settlement Agreement that he negotiated and obtained, specifically, the requirement that Highland not litigate against him until "the IRS makes a final determination with respect to the IRS Audit Dispute."

3. Relevant to this Motion, the Court should stay (1) the above-captioned adversary proceeding and (2) the enforcement of its September 4, 2025 Order, because Daugherty has satisfied all necessary elements of his requested relief. As detailed below, Daugherty has a substantial likelihood of success on the merits by seeking to enforce the binding Settlement Agreement as written. Moreover, a stay of the adversary and the September 4, 2025 Order would not harm other constituents and would only serve to prevent irreparable harm that might befall Daugherty if litigation continues. Lastly, staying the adversary and the September 4, 2025 Order would serve the public interest because it would give litigants confidence that their negotiated and bargained-for settlement agreements will be enforced by the judiciary.

4. Daugherty respectfully requests that the Court grant a stay of this adversary proceeding and the enforcement of the Court's September 4, 2025 Order so that the status quo can remain while the parties litigate the issues on appeal.

FACTUAL BACKGROUND

5. Daugherty and Highland executed a Settlement Agreement on November 22, 2021, that served to provide clarity for both parties as the main bankruptcy case proceeded towards confirmation. Main Case Docket No. 3088, 3089.[2] The Court approved the Settlement Agreement on March 8, 2022. Id.

6. The Settlement Agreement provided Daugherty with, among other things, a Reserved Claim related to the IRS's audit of Highland and its 2008 tax return. Ex. A at ¶ 9. Relevant here, the Settlement Agreement mandates that, "[a]ny litigation by and between

[2] All capitalized terms used but not defined in this motion shall have the same definitions as they have in the Settlement Agreement at Main Case Doc. No. 3089. The Settlement Agreement is also attached as Exhibit A.

[Highland] and Daugherty concerning the validity and amount of the Reserved Claim shall be stayed until the IRS makes a final determination with respect to the IRS Audit Dispute." Id. (emphasis added). The language is mandatory, and both parties relied on that language over the past three and a half years.

7. Despite this language, Highland filed this adversary proceeding against Daugherty seeking to disallow, estimate, and/or subordinate his claim. Doc. No. 1 at ¶¶ 28-45. Highland seeks a determination from the Court on the "validity and amount" of Daugherty's reserved claim—the exact type of relief that Highland agreed not to seek until the IRS makes its "final determination." Tellingly, Highland admits that the IRS audit is not concluded:

> is clawed back by the IRS—Highland's 2008 tax return is currently subject to an IRS audit. But the 2009 Statement contains no future, ongoing obligations. Under the 2009 Statement, if Mr. Daugherty received the material equivalent of the "2008 Refund" (which he apparently did), Highland's obligations have been satisfied in full. The 2009 Statement contains no ongoing obligation for Highland to defend Mr. Daugherty or indemnify him. And it would violate basic

> 4. However, even if Mr. Daugherty's Claim is not disallowed in its entirely, it remains contingent on the outcome of the 2008 Audit. It is unclear when, how, or if the 2008 Audit will be finally resolved. Moreover, if the Claim is not disallowed, it will need to be estimated—after taking into account the likely outcome of the 2008 Audit, including adjustments that result therefrom—pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 502(c). The Claim (in whatever amount) based on > 35. As set forth above, Mr. Daugherty has no Claim; however, to the extent the Court believes he has one, it is unliquidated and contingent on the final outcome of the 2008 Audit, including the magnitude of any adjustments. If the 2008 Audit is successfully defended, Mr. Daugherty will have no claim.

See Doc. No. 1 at ¶¶ 3, 4, 35.

8. Under the Settlement Agreement's plain language, Highland's claims against Daugherty are unquestionably premature. It must wait to litigate claims against Daugherty that may or may not exist (depending on the result of the IRS audit). In fact, that result is exactly what the parties bargained for and agreed upon – Daugherty, in part, reduced his claims against Highland in exchange for Highland's promise to wait to litigate the Reserved Claim until the conclusion of the IRS Audit Dispute.

9. On June 4, 2025, Daugherty moved to dismiss this adversary proceeding under Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 12(b)(6). Doc. No. 5. In addition to responding to Daugherty's motion, Highland filed its Cross-Motion for Relief from a Final Order Pursuant to Bankruptcy Rule 9024, in which it requested that this Court strike the stay provision in the Settlement Agreement. Doc. No. 9. After an oral hearing on September 4, 2025, the Court denied Daugherty's Motion to Dismiss in its entirety and granted Highland's Cross-Motion. See Doc. No. 23. Daugherty filed his notice of appeal of the portion of the Court's order granting the Cross-Motion on September 19, 2025. Doc. No. 25.

LEGAL STANDARD

10. Bankruptcy Rule 8007 authorizes a party to seek a "stay of the bankruptcy court's judgment, order, or decree of the bankruptcy court pending appeal." Fed. R. Bankr. P. 8007(a)(1)(A). It also authorizes a party to seek "an order suspending or continuing proceedings

. . . ." Fed. R. Bankr. P. 8007(a)(1)(D).[3] "The motion may be filed either before or after the notice of appeal is filed." Fed. R. Bank. P. 8007(a)(2). When ruling on motions to stay, courts consider the following factors: (1) whether the movant is likely to prevail on the merits; (2) whether the movant will suffer an irreparable injury absent a stay; (3) whether granting the stay would substantially harm other parties; and (4) whether granting the stay would serve the public interest. In re Heritage Org., L.L.C., 375 B.R. 230, 315 (N.D. Tex. 2007) (quoting Arnold v. Garlock, Inc., 278 F.3d 426, 438-39 (5th Cir. 2001)).

11. The Fifth Circuit, however, "has refused to apply these factors in a rigid mechanical fashion." Reading & Bates Petroleum Co. v. Musslewhite, 14 F.3d 271, 272 (5th Cir. 1994). Accordingly, several courts within the Fifth Circuit have determined that the "absence of any one factor is not fatal to a successful motion for stay." In re Permian Producers Drilling, Inc., 263 B.R. 510, 515 (W.D. Tex. 2000) (citing In re First S. Savs. Ass'n, 820 F.2d 700, 709 n. 10 (5th Cir. 1987)). Here, Daugherty can satisfy the Fifth Circuit's promulgated standard and asks that the Court grant this Motion.

ARGUMENT AND AUTHORITIES

I. Daugherty will likely prevail on appeal because the Settlement Agreement is a binding contract that this Court should not have modified under Rule 60(b)(6).

12. Because the Settlement Agreement created a binding, contractual relationship between Daugherty and Highland, Daugherty will likely prevail on appeal since he seeks merely to enforce the bargain to which Highland knowingly agreed. The movant on a motion for stay pending appeal must make a showing of the likelihood of success. See generally In re Heritage Org., 375 B.R. at 315. But that element is not nearly as onerous as the text makes it out to be. Even if the movant cannot show a "likelihood of success," the Fifth Circuit still leaves open the door for relief if the movant can "present a substantial case on the merits when a serious legal question is involved and show that the balance of equities weighs heavily in favor of granting the stay." Arnold, 278 F.3d at 438-39.

13. Other courts' analyses on this topic are instructive. For example, in In re Wright, the bankruptcy court granted the stay and found that a likelihood of success could exist even when the order on appeal reflected the majority view on the topic. See In re Wright, No. 20-12415-ABA, 2023 WL 3560551, at *13 (Bankr. D.N.J. May 18, 2023). The bankruptcy court found that, because "there [was a] minority position that the district court might favor," the first element was still satisfied. Id. Here, Daugherty needs only show that he can present a substantial case on the merits even if his argument is a request that the district court adopt a minority viewpoint.

14. As Daugherty put forward in his response to Highland's 60(b)(6) cross-motion, there is a body of law which stands for the principle that motions to reform or nullify settlements are disfavored. See In re Lease Oil Antitrust Litig., MDL No. 1206, 2002 WL 35645775, at *13 (S.D. Tex. Dec. 4, 2002) (holding that the movant on a 60(b)(6) presented "no reasons justifying a modification of the Global Settlement…The Court finds that the [current motion is simply] another attempt by CE Corp to collect under the Global Settlement – an action that is expressly prohibited" (emphasis added)); s*ee also Cashner v. Freedom Stores, Inc.*, 98 F.3d 572, 580 (10th Cir. 1996) (reversing the grant of a 60(b)(6) motion in situation where "[d]efendants made a free, counseled, deliberate choice whose consequences in hindsight are unfortunate" (citing Pelican Prod. Corp. v. Marino, 893 F.2d 1143, 1147 (10th Cir.1990))). The Fifth Circuit itself has reinforced this sentiment. In Yesh Music, the Fifth Circuit held that "Rule 60(b)(6) relief will not be used to relieve a party from the free, calculated, and deliberate choices he has made." Yesh Music v. Lakewood Church, 727 F.3d 356, 363 (5th Cir. 2013); see S.E.C. v. Conradt, 309 F.R.D. 186, 187-88 (S.D.N.Y. 2015) (refusing to utilize Rule 60(b)(6) to vacate defendants' settlement agreements that resulted in consent judgments after defendants' guilty pleas in a parallel proceeding were vacated).

15. Here, the "litigation stay provision" was integral to the parties' decision to enter the Settlement Agreement. Additionally, the Settlement Agreement itself represented the successful resolution of years-long disputes and provided Daugherty—and frankly, Highland—with clarity that further litigation would not occur until the IRS made its final determination. It also provided Highland (and its employees and representatives) with a reduction in liability based on Daugherty's claims. Highland itself previously lauded the Settlement Agreement as "fair and reasonable" and the Court found "the Settlement Agreement [to be] fair and equitable." Main Case Doc. No. 3088 at ¶¶ 41-48; Main Case Doc. No. 3298 at 2.

16. It is fundamentally unfair for Highland to rewrite the deal and file an adversary proceeding that it contractually promised not to bring against Daugherty until conclusion of the IRS audit. In fact, the Settlement Agreement's terms establish that the parties clearly anticipated the possibility that the IRS audit could drag on for years. Highland could have negotiated certain provisions or caveats that would have addressed the current situation (e.g., Highland could have insisted that the Settlement Agreement have a temporal "cap" on the amount of time it would wait for the IRS to conclude the audit). It did not. Instead, Highland simply reserved all defenses and agreed that "any litigation…shall be stayed" until the IRS reaches a final determination. Ex. A. at ¶ 9.

17. The Court should not have rewritten the parties' negotiated Settlement Agreement and should have denied Highland's 60(b)(6) cross-motion. The Settlement Agreement was in effect for over three years. The Court should not have used its inherent power to disturb a painstakingly negotiated Settlement Agreement between two sophisticated parties who each received and gave certain concessions to reach a final agreement. Because of this, Daugherty has a strong likelihood of success on the merits on his appeal. The Court should stay the adversary proceeding and the enforcement of the September 4, 2025 Order pending appeal.

II. There is a significant risk of irreparable injury if the Court does not grant the stay.

18. If the Court does not grant the stay, Daugherty is at risk of irreparable injury. Courts consistently find that the irreparable harm requirement is satisfied when an appellant's rights would be vitiated absent a stay. For example, the Southern District of New York—in issuing a stay pending appeal of a bankruptcy court's confirmation order—emphasized that the loss of appellate review is a "quintessential form of prejudice." ACC Bondholder Grp. v. Adelphia Commc'ns Corp. (In re Adelphia Commc'ns Corp.), 361 B.R. 337, 448 (S.D.N.Y. 2007) (citing In re Country Squire Assocs. of Carle Place, L.P., 203 B.R. 182, 183 (2nd Cir. BAP 1996)). There, the district court concluded that "where the denial of a stay pending appeal risks mooting any appeal of significant claims of error, the irreparable harm requirement is satisfied." Id. The Northern District of Texas reached a similar conclusion in In re Texas Equipment Co., Inc. There, the court explained that unless the party obtained the stay of a sale order, there would be no effective remedies on appeal. 283 B.R. 222, 228 (Bankr. N.D. Tex 2002); see also Manges v. Seattle-First Nat'l Bank (In re Manges), 29 F.3d 1034 (5th Cir. 1994).

19. Absent a stay pending appeal, Daugherty will have to litigate Highland's claims against him without any indication from the IRS whether it plans to increase, decrease, or leave untouched Highland's 2008 tax liability, thus affecting Daugherty's Reserved Claim. As the Court knows, litigating this dispute without finality from the IRS is pointless. The IRS has not made a "final determination" for Highland's 2008 tax year; that much is clear. Moreover, both Daugherty and Highland recognized that fact by signing the Settlement Agreement after the IRS issued a letter in February 2018, which is one of the ways that Highland now disingenuously argues that a final audit has already occurred. Doc. No. 9 at ¶ 16.

20. This adversary proceeding turns on the IRS's final determination. No matter the outcome, one thing is certain: it all depends on what the IRS does as it finalizes its audit of Highland's 2008 tax year. If the Court allows litigation to commence and grants Highland's requested relief of striking Daugherty's claim—only for the IRS to later determine that Highland had additional tax liability, thus validating Daugherty's claim—the harm would be irreparable. By that time, Highland will have fully consummated its plan of confirmation and Daugherty will have no recourse.

III. There would be no harm to other parties if the Court granted the stay.

21. If the Court entered a stay, other parties would suffer no prejudice. To the contrary, a stay would benefit Highland and other parties because it would avoid costly and time-consuming litigation that could prove to be an empty gesture depending on the results of the IRS' audit.

22. Moreover, there would be no harm to Highland because the stay is exactly what Daugherty and Highland agreed to in the Settlement Agreement. The stay is also what this Court approved. And because the IRS has not concluded its audit, there is no live controversy for Highland to litigate. Even if the stay causes a delay in the closure of Highland's bankruptcy case, the tradeoff is worthwhile. The Court should prioritize the enforcement of Settlement Agreements and its judicial approval of same, especially when the side opposing the stay will not suffer discernable prejudice.

IV. Granting the stay would further judicial economy and serve the public interest because it would give litigants confidence that courts will enforce settlement agreements.

A. If the Court grants the stay, it will support judicial economy.

23. A stay of the September 4, 2025 Order would further judicial economy. Federal courts should seek to avoid piecemeal appeals. See PYCA Indus., Inc. v. Harrison Cnty. Waste Water Mgmt. Dist., 81 F.3d 1412, 1421 (5th Cir. 1996). In In re Perry, the Eastern District of Louisiana reiterated that principle and denied a motion that would have likely caused two separate appeals – one on damages and one on liability. Nos. 23-5265, 23-5266, 2024 WL 68257, at *3 (E.D. La. Jan. 5, 2024). The Fifth Circuit itself has echoed this principle in other contexts. See Morrison v. W. Builders of Amarillo, Inc. (In re Morrison), 555 F.3d 473, 479 (5th Cir. 2009) (citing judicial economy as a reason not to force litigants to pursue separate litigation for a judgment after a bankruptcy court makes a nondischargeability determination). The Bankruptcy Court for the District of Delaware's language—in deciding to stay an entire adversary proceeding pending appeal of an order denying a 12(b)(6) motion—is instructive on the issue of judicial economy:

> First, there are not thousands of parties to this action, there are essentially only two parties (and their respective related entities) involved in this adversary proceeding. Second, the different practices and procedures in bankruptcy cases are founded on the concept that automatically staying a bankruptcy case upon the appeal of a specific issue would prevent the bankruptcy court from addressing the numerous other issues in the case and could adversely affect thousands of other creditors. In this case, there are no significant other issues that depend on the outcome of this adversary proceeding. The Debtors' Plan has been confirmed and there are few administrative matters pending. Further, the Defendants assert that their appeal only automatically stays the adversary proceeding, not the entire bankruptcy case. In > these respects, the Court agrees with the Defendants' arguments that this adversary proceeding is more akin to a civil action in district court than to a typical bankruptcy matter.

In re Nu Ride, Inc., 666 B.R. 510, 519 (Bankr. D. Del. Dec. 13, 2024).

Simply put, because the adversary proceeding was a narrow dispute that had little effect on the main bankruptcy case, staying the entire proceeding pending appeal would not hinder judicial economy in any meaningful way.

24. Although it is not an express factor in a stay determination, the Court should not ignore judicial economy. Here, the enforceability of the "litigation stay provision" in the Settlement Agreement is the critical issue on appeal. As Daugherty contends, litigation between him and Highland should not ensue until the IRS makes a "final determination" on Highland's 2008 audit. If that provision is determined to control, then any litigation that this Court allows to commence will be pointless and, importantly, voidable, wasting the parties' and the Court's time and resources. The parties would then have to re-litigate those exact issues with the benefit of the IRS' final determination. Thus, judicial economy weighs in favor of granting Daugherty's motion for stay pending appeal.

B. If the Court grants the stay, it will greatly serve the public interest.

25. The public interest will also be served by granting a stay because the Court—and all litigants in this circuit—should value the importance of binding settlement agreements. At their core, settlement agreements are contracts. And once they are executed, they "cannot be repudiated by either party and will be summarily enforced." United States v. City of New Orleans, 731 F.3d 434, 439 (5th Cir. 2013) (citing White Farm Equip. Co. v. Kupcho, 792 F.2d 526, 530 (5th Cir. 1986)). As the Texas Supreme Court said, "[a] deal is, of course, a deal." Chalker Energy Partners III, LLC v. Le Norman Operating LLC, 595 S.W.3d 668, 669 (Tex. 2020) (emphasizing the many ways in which an agreement will be binding under Texas law). Moreover, the Firth Circuit has held that when analyzing a signed settlement agreement, the presence of sophisticated parties and skilled counsel is a factor when determining whether there are ambiguities that would allow the inclusion of extrinsic evidence in the analysis. Lubrisol Corp. v. Exxon Corp., 871 F.2d 1279, 1284 (5th Cir. 1989).

26. Here, all signs point to the Settlement Agreement being entirely enforceable as drafted. It was negotiated by sophisticated parties with assistance of counsel who actively participated in give-and-take concessions. Its language—"[a]ny litigation by and between the Debtor and Daugherty…shall be stayed until the IRS makes a final determination with respect to the IRS Audit Dispute"—is clear and unambiguous. See Ex. A at ¶ 9. And this Court approved it.

27. Daugherty acknowledges that this Court retains power under Rule 60(b)(6) to modify the terms of an order or judgment. But as the cases interpretating that rule put forward, the Court should only exercise that power in the most unique circumstances and only to truly "do substantial justice." Seven Elves, Inc. v. Eskenazi, 635 F.2d 396, 401 (5th Cir. 1981). Without confidence that courts will enforce binding settlement agreements, litigants will lose confidence in their ability to rely on the exchange of bargained-for concessions to resolve cases through resolution. The Court should not let that sentiment become commonplace.

WHEREFORE, Patrick Daugherty respectfully requests that the Court (a) enter an order granting the immediate motion, (b) stay the adversary proceeding captioned as Highland Capital Management, L.P. v. Patrick Hagaman Daugherty (In re Highland Capital Management, L.P.), Case No. 19-34054 (SGJ), Adversary No. 25-03055, (c) stay the enforcement of the Court's September 4, 2024 Order, and (d) grant such other and further relief as may be just and proper.

Dated: September 26, 2025.

Respectfully submitted,

GRAY REED

EXHIBIT A

Final Execution Copy

SETTLEMENT AGREEMENT

This Settlement Agreement (the "Settlement") is made and entered into by and between (i) Highland Capital Management, L.P., as reorganized debtor ("HCMLP" or the "Debtor"), and (ii) Patrick Hagaman Daugherty ("Daugherty" and together with HCMLP, the "Parties," and individually as a "Party"). This Settlement provides for the treatment of certain claims asserted by Daugherty against the Debtor, and for the Parties to take certain other specified actions in settlement thereof.

RECITALS

WHEREAS, on October 16, 2019 (the "Petition Date"), the Debtor filed a voluntary petition for relief under title 11 of the United States Code (the "Bankruptcy Code");

WHEREAS, the Debtor's chapter 11 case (the "Bankruptcy") is pending in the Bankruptcy Court for the Northern District of Texas, Dallas Division (the "Bankruptcy Court");

WHEREAS, on February 2 and 3, 2021, the Court conducted a confirmation hearing with respect to the Fifth Amended Plan of Reorganization of Highland Capital Management, L.P. (as Modified) [Docket No. 1808] (the "Plan");

WHEREAS, on February 8, 2021, the Court rendered an opinion from the bench in which it confirmed the Plan [Docket No. 1924];

WHEREAS, on February 22, 2021, the Court issued an order confirming the Plan [Docket No. 1943];

WHEREAS, on August 11, 2021, the Effective Date (as defined in the Plan) occurred [Docket No. 2700];

WHEREAS, Daugherty is a former employee and limited partner of the Debtor and has served in other positions with affiliates and former affiliates of the Debtor;

WHEREAS, at the time of his resignation, Daugherty owned 19.1% of the preferred units of Highland Employee Retention Assets LLC ("HERA"), an employee deferred compensation vehicle managed by the Debtor and Highland ERA Management, LLC ("ERA") and contends that he owned or had the right to own all of the preferred units of HERA;

WHEREAS, prior to his resignation from HCMLP, Daugherty was awarded units of HERA, which vehicle owned interests in Restoration Capital Partners, LP ("RCP"), an HCMLP managed private equity fund, and other investments;

WHEREAS, in April 2012, the Debtor commenced an action against Daugherty in Texas state court (the "Texas Action"), and Daugherty subsequently asserted counterclaims for breach of contract and defamation, and third-party claims against HERA and others;

WHEREAS, after a three-week trial, the jury returned a verdict partially in favor of the Debtor, but Daugherty prevailed on his claims against the Debtor and James Dondero ("Dondero") for defamation with malice and a third-party claim against HERA and was awarded damages of $2.6 million against HERA, plus prejudgment and post-judgment interest at 5% (the "HERA Judgment");[1]

WHEREAS, in July 2017, after being unable to collect on the HERA Judgment, Daugherty commenced an action against the Debtor, Dondero, HERA, and ERA Management in the Delaware Chancery Court (the "Delaware Court"), in a case captioned Daugherty v. Highland Capital Management, L.P., et al., C.A. No. 2017-0488-MTZ, for fraudulent transfer, promissory estoppel, unjust enrichment, indemnification, and fees on fees (the "Highland Delaware Case");

[1] The Debtor prevailed on its claims against Mr. Daugherty for breach of contract and breach of fiduciary duty for non-monetary damages and obtained an award of $2.8 million in attorney's fees. The HERA Judgment was affirmed on appeal on December 1, 2016.

WHEREAS, the Delaware Court in the Highland Delaware Case (i) found that the Dondero-related defendants improperly withheld dozens of documents in discovery on privilege grounds, and (ii) ruled that there was "a reasonable basis to believe that a fraud has been perpetrated" such that the Delaware Court applied the "crime-fraud exception" to the attorney-client privilege assertion, and such rulings have not been overturned;

WHEREAS, Daugherty asserts that such withholding of documents and the failure to search defendants' and their employees personal electronic devices for stored documents and texts as well as other emails and domain names such as sasmgt.com and gmail.com which were in their possession and control and to provide required discovery injured him by undermining his attempts to build an evidentiary record to support his claims against the Debtor and the other defendants in the Highland Delaware Case;

WHEREAS, on October 14, 2019, the Highland Delaware Case proceeded to trial and two days later, on October 16, 2019, before the completion of the trial and before the Delaware Court ruled on Daugherty's and the Debtor's cross-motions for summary judgment regarding indemnification and fees on fees, the Debtor filed for bankruptcy;

WHEREAS, on December 1, 2019, Daugherty filed a separate lawsuit in the Delaware Court, captioned Daugherty v. Dondero, et al., C.A. No. 2019-0956-MTZ, against Dondero, HERA, ERA, Hunton Andrews Kurth LLP ("Andrews Kurth"), Marc Katz ("Katz"), Michael Hurst ("Hurst"), the Debtor's Chief Compliance Officer, the Debtor's then in-house counsel (Isaac Leventon ("Leventon")), and the Debtor's then general counsel (Scott Ellington ("Ellington")), for conspiracy to commit fraud, among other claims (the "HERA Delaware Case" and together with the Highland Delaware Case, the "Delaware Cases");

WHEREAS, on April 1, 2020, Daugherty filed a general, unsecured, non-priority claim against the Debtor in the amount of at "least $37,483,876.59," and such claim was denoted by the Debtor's claims agent as Proof of Claim No. 67 ("Proof of Claim No. 67");

WHEREAS, on April 6, 2020, Daugherty filed a general, unsecured, non-priority claim against the Debtor in the amount of at "least $37,482,876.62" that superseded Proof of Claim No. 67 and that was denoted by the Debtor's claims agent as Proof of Claim No. 77 ("Proof of Claim No. 77");

WHEREAS, on August 31, 2020, the Debtor commenced an adversary proceeding against Daugherty by filing a complaint (the "Complaint") in which the Debtor: (1) objected to Proof of Claim No. 77 on various grounds (the "Claim Objection"), and (2) asserted a cause of action for the subordination of part of Daugherty's claim pursuant to section 510(b) of the Bankruptcy Code. Adv. Proc. No. 20-03107 (the "Adv. Proc.") [Adv. Docket No. 1] (the "Adversary Proceeding");

WHEREAS, on September 29, 2020, Daugherty filed his answer to the Complaint [Adv. Docket No. 8] (the "Answer");

WHEREAS, on September 24, 2020, Daugherty filed his Motion to Confirm Status of Automatic Stay, or Alternatively to Modify Automatic Stay [Docket No. 1099] (the "Stay Motion") pursuant to which he sought to sever the Debtor from the Highland Delaware Case and then consolidate the remaining claims in the Highland Delaware Case into the HERA Delaware Case and proceed with one case against the non-Debtor parties;[2]

WHEREAS, on October 23, 2020, Daugherty filed a motion seeking leave to amend his Proof of Claim No. 77 [Docket No. 1280] (the "POC Amendment Motion"). The amended proof

[2] On October 8, 2020, the Debtor commenced a second adversary proceeding against Daugherty (the "Second Adversary Proceeding"), seeking to enjoin him from prosecuting the Delaware Cases. Adv. Proc. 20-03128 ("2d Adv. Proc.") [2d Adv. Proc. Docket No. 1]. On January 29, 2021, the parties filed a Settlement that resolved the Second Adversary Proceeding, and the Second Adversary Proceeding was subsequently dismissed with prejudice. [2d Adv. Proc. Docket No. 12].

of claim attached to the POC Amendment Motion increased Daugherty's general, unsecured, non-priority claim against the Debtor to the amount of at "least $40,410,819.42" and sought to supersede Proof of Claim No. 67 and Proof of Claim No. 77;

WHEREAS, on October 23, 2020, Daugherty filed his Motion for Temporary Allowance of Claim for Voting Purposes Pursuant to Bankruptcy Rule 3018 Motion, seeking for his Claim to be temporarily allowed for voting purposes in this amount of $40,410,819.42 [Docket No. 1281] (the "3018 Motion");

WHEREAS, on November 3, 2020, the Court granted the Stay Motion [Docket No. 1327];

WHEREAS, the Debtor opposed the 3018 Motion, and after conducting an evidentiary hearing for the limited purpose of determining the 3018 Motion, the Court entered an order temporarily allowing Daugherty's Claim only for voting purposes in the amount of $9,134,019 [Docket No. 1474];

WHEREAS, on December 10, 2020, the Court entered an order [Docket No. 1533] granting the POC Amendment Motion, and Daugherty was permitted to file an amendment to his proof of claim. On December 23, 2020, Daugherty filed an amended proof of claim, designated by the Debtor's claim agent as Proof of Claim No. 205 ("Proof of Claim No. 205" or the "Daugherty Claim"). Proof of Claim No. 205 superseded Proof of Claim No. 77 and increased the amount of the Daugherty's Claim to $40,710,819.42;

WHEREAS, on November 30, 2020, Daugherty filed his Motion to Lift the Automatic Stay (the "Lift Stay Motion") [Docket No. 1491] seeking to lift the automatic stay to allow him to finish his trial in the Delaware Court and liquidate his claims. The Debtor opposed the Lift Stay Motion, and after a hearing was held on December 17, 2020, the Court denied the relief requested in the Lift Stay Motion [Docket No. 1612];

WHEREAS, except with respect to the Reserved Claim (as defined below), the Parties have agreed to settle and resolve all claims and disputes between them and their respective current affiliates, managed entities, and employees, including the Daugherty Claim, on the terms set forth in this Settlement:

AGREEMENT

NOW, THEREFORE, after good-faith, arms-length negotiations, and in consideration of the foregoing, it is hereby stipulated and agreed that:

1. Allowed Claims: In full satisfaction of the entirety of the Daugherty Claim against the Debtor and HCMLP Released Parties (defined below), excluding the Reserved Claim, Daugherty shall receive (a) an allowed general unsecured Class 8 claim in the amount of $8,250,000; (b) an allowed subordinated general unsecured Class 9 claim in the amount of $3,750,000; and (c) a one-time lump sum cash payment in the amount of $750,000 to be paid within 5 business days of Bankruptcy Court approval of this Settlement Agreement.

2. Recovery: The Debtor makes no representation or warranty as to the recovery on Class 8 or Class 9 claims under the Plan.

3. Observation Access: As soon as practicable following entry of an order of the Bankruptcy Court approving this Settlement, HCMLP shall use reasonable efforts to petition the Claimant Trust Oversight Board[3] to permit Daugherty to have access as an observer to meetings of the Claimant Trust Oversight Board, subject to policies, procedures, and agreements applicable to other observers of the Claimant Trust Oversight Board, including policies, procedures, and agreements related to confidentiality and common interest. Whether Daugherty will be granted observer access and any continuing observer access is and will remain at the sole discretion of the

[3] The Claimant Trust Oversight Board refers to the Oversight Board as defined in the August 11, 2021 Highland Claimant Trust Agreement establishing the Claimant Trust, as defined therein.

Claimant Trust Oversight Board.

4. RCP Track Record: HCMLP shall use reasonable efforts to provide Daugherty with data constituting the investment performance track record of RCP during Daugherty's tenure at HCMLP. Daugherty shall not be entitled to any compensation with respect to the performance of RCP. HCMLP makes no representations or warranties regarding such data and takes no responsibility with respect to the use of such data for any purposes.

5. Daugherty Releases: Except as specifically provided in this paragraph 5, and to the maximum extent permitted by applicable law, the Debtor, on behalf of itself and each of the HCMLP Entities and HCMLP Parties (as those terms are defined in paragraph 6 below), hereby forever, finally, fully, unconditionally, and completely releases, relieves, acquits, remises, and exonerates, and covenants never to sue Daugherty, his successors, affiliates, and assigns, (and in each such category to include their respective advisors, trustees, directors, officers, managers, members, partners, employees, beneficiaries, shareholders, agents, participants, subsidiaries, parents, affiliates, and designees) (collectively, the "Daugherty Additional Release Parties" and together with Daugherty, the "Daugherty Released Parties"), in each case acting in such capacity, for and from any and all claims, debts, liabilities, demands, obligations, promises, acts, agreements, liens, losses, costs and expenses (including, without limitation, attorney's fees and related costs), damages, injuries, suits, actions, and causes of action of whatever kind or nature, whether known or unknown, suspected or unsuspected, matured or unmatured, liquidated or unliquidated, contingent or fixed, at law or in equity, statutory or otherwise, including, without limitation those which were or could have been asserted in the Bankruptcy, including the Adversary Proceeding, the Texas Action, or the Delaware Cases, all existing as of the date hereof (collectively, the "HCMLP Released Claims"); provided, however, that such release shall not apply with respect to any and all defenses that HCMLP or the HCMLP Entities may have to the Reserved Claim or the Reserve Motion (as those terms are defined herein) or Daugherty's obligations under this Settlement. For the avoidance of doubt, the HCMLP Released Claims include all claims or causes of action and facts, known or unknown, that exist as of the date hereof but do not include or apply to claims or causes of action based on facts occurring after the date hereof.

6. HCMLP Releases: Except as specifically provided in this paragraph 6, and to the maximum extent permitted by law, Daugherty, on behalf of himself and each of the Daugherty Released Parties, hereby forever, finally, fully, unconditionally, and completely releases, relieves, acquits, remises, and exonerates, and covenants never to sue, (a)(i) HCMLP; (ii) Strand Advisors Inc.; (iii) the Claimant Trust; (iv) the Claimant Trust Oversight Board; (v) the Highland Litigation Sub-Trust; (vi) the Highland Indemnity Trust; (vii) any entity of which greater than fifty percent of the voting ownership is held directly or indirectly by HCMLP as of the date hereof and any entity otherwise directly or indirectly controlled by HCMLP as of the date hereof,; and (viii) any entity managed by either HCMLP or a direct or indirect subsidiary of HCMLP, including Highland Restoration Capital Partners, L.P., Highland Restoration Capital Partners Offshore, L.P., Highland Restoration Capital Master, L.P. (and all of their respective general partners, feeder funds, managers, and affiliates) (the foregoing (a)(i) through (a)(viii) the "HCMLP Entities"), and (b) with respect to each such HCMLP Entity, such HCMLP Entity's respective current (meaning employed in their respective roles as of the date hereof) advisors, trustees, directors, officers, managers, members, partners, employees, beneficiaries, shareholders (but not the shareholders of Strand Advisors Inc.), agents, participants, subsidiaries, parents, affiliates, successors, designees, and assigns, except as expressly set forth below (the "HCMLP Parties," and together with the HCMLP Entities, the "HCMLP Released Parties"),[4] in each case acting in such capacity, for and from any and all claims, debts, liabilities, demands, obligations, promises, acts, agreements, liens, losses, costs and expenses (including, without limitation, attorney's fees and related costs), damages, injuries, suits, actions, and causes of action of whatever kind or nature, whether known or unknown, suspected or unsuspected, matured or unmatured, liquidated or unliquidated, contingent or fixed, at law or in equity, statutory or otherwise, including without limitation those which were or could have been asserted in the Bankruptcy, including the Adversary Proceeding, the Texas Action, the Daugherty Claim, or the Highland Delaware Case (collectively, the "Daugherty Released Claims"); provided, however, that such release shall not apply with respect to the Reserved Claim or the Reserve Motion (as those terms are defined in paragraph 9 below) or HCMLP's obligations under this Settlement. This release expressly applies to all current employees of HCMLP as the Reorganized Debtor (as defined in the Plan), in their capacities as such. For the avoidance of doubt, the Daugherty Released Claims includes all claims or causes of action and facts, known or unknown, that exist as of the date hereof but do not include or apply to claims or causes of action based on facts occurring after the date hereof.

7. Reservation of Daugherty Rights: Notwithstanding anything contained herein to the contrary, the term HCMLP Released Parties shall not include (a) NexPoint Advisors, L.P. (or any of its subsidiaries and employees, advisors, or agents), (b) the Charitable Donor Advised Fund, L.P. (and any of its subsidiaries, including CLO Holdco, Ltd., and any of their respective employees, advisors, or agents), (c) NexBank, SSB (or any of its subsidiaries, employees, advisors, or agents), (d) James Dondero or any trust in which Dondero or any of his family members are a trustee or beneficiary (or any trustee acting for such trust), including but not limited to Hunter

[4] The Daugherty Additional Released Parties and the HCMLP Released Parties are collectively referred to as the "Additional Released Parties."

Mountain Investment Trust, The Get Good Trust, Dugaboy Investment Trust, SLHC Investment Trust, (e) HERA (subject to paragraph 8 below), (f) ERA (subject to paragraph 8 below), (g) Grant Scott, (h) Mark Okada and any trust in which Mark Okada or any of his family members are a beneficiary (or any trustee acting for such trust in their respective capacities), (i) Ellington, (j) Leventon, (k) Katz, (l) Hurst, (m) Andrews Kurth, or (m) any other former employee (as of the date hereof) of the HCMLP Released Parties.

8. HERA and ERA: The Parties acknowledge and agree that as of the date hereof, HERA and ERA have no material assets other than potential claims that may exist against persons or entities not released at or prior to the date hereof, and no claims against the HCMLP Released Parties. The allowed claims provided in paragraph 1 hereof are expressly agreed to in order to satisfy any liability the Debtor may have in connection with the HERA Judgment. To facilitate recovery of such potential claims – which expressly excludes any and all claims by or in the name of HERA and ERA against any of the HCMLP Released Parties -- HCMLP will transfer its interests in HERA and ERA to Daugherty. Such transfer will include the HERA and ERA books and records (spreadsheet) maintained on HCMLP's system. Such transfer will be without representation or warranty of any type; including, for the avoidance of doubt, without any representation or warranty as to the merits of the potential claims or the efficacy of the transfer of the potential claims. Such transfer will be without any liability or material cost to HCMLP or its affiliates or the other HCMLP Released Parties, including any liability in respect of any assets that HERA or ERA ever actually or allegedly owned, possessed, or controlled and that were actually or allegedly transferred, conveyed, sold, written off or otherwise disposed of (in any such case, a "Disposition"). In connection with the transfer, HERA and ERA have expressly released the HCMLP Released Parties from any and all claims, including any claims actions or remedies related to any Disposition, either of them may have against any HCMLP Released Party now or in the future (the "HERA and ERA Release"). Daugherty on behalf of himself and each of the Daugherty Released Parties acknowledges, accepts, and agrees not to challenge the HERA and ERA Release or support any challenge thereto. A copy of the HERA and ERA Release is annexed hereto as Exhibit A. Daugherty acknowledges and agrees that even though HERA and ERA are not HCMLP Released Parties under this Agreement, Daugherty and all Daugherty Released Parties shall (a) not seek to hold any HCMLP Released Party liable for any action or inaction taken by or on behalf of HERA or ERA, including through any derivative, veil-piercing or similar cause of action or remedy; and (b) not seek to recover damages or obtain any form of relief against any HCMLP Released Party on account of any action or inaction taken by or on behalf of HERA or ERA, including through any veil piercing or similar cause of action or remedy. If, for any reason, HERA or ERA, or any person or entity acting on their behalf, recovers anything from any HCMLP Released Party, Daugherty shall promptly turnover to HCMLP or its successors and assigns any amounts actually recovered by Daugherty or any Daugherty Released Party, from HERA or ERA arising from, related to, or derived from any claim that HERA or ERA or any person or entity acting on their behalf has or may have against any HCMLP Released Party. HCMLP will provide reasonable assistance to Daugherty to assist with the preparation of any required HERA K-1s for 2021, but any requirement to provide such K-1s will be the obligation, if any, of HERA.

9. IRS Compensation Claim: In section 4(ii) of the Addendum to Proof of Claim No. 205, Daugherty contends that he has a contingent, unliquidated claim against the Debtor arising out of a 2008/2009 compensation letter (the "Reserved Claim"), which claim is also related to an audit/dispute between the Debtor and the Internal Revenue Service (the "IRS") (the dispute between the Debtor and IRS being referred to herein as the "IRS Audit Dispute"). The Debtor disputes the validity and amount of the Reserved Claim. Daugherty shall retain the Reserved Claim solely against the Debtor and not against any other HCMLP Released Party, and the Debtor reserves the right to assert any and all defenses thereto. Any litigation by and between the Debtor and Daugherty concerning the validity and amount of the Reserved Claim shall be stayed until the IRS makes a final determination with respect to the IRS Audit Dispute; provided, however, that Daugherty may file a motion with the Bankruptcy Court to have the Reserved Claim estimated for purposes of establishing a reserve as a "Disputed Claim" under the Debtor's Plan (the "Reserve Motion"), and the Debtor (and any successor) reserves the right to assert any and all defenses thereto. Notwithstanding the foregoing, Daugherty may address any personal claim or personal liability to the IRS as a result of the IRS Audit Dispute, including settlement of any such claims; provided, however, Daugherty agrees to forego settling or addressing any claims with the IRS without the written consent of the Debtor until March 31, 2022.

10. Current HCMLP Employees: The HCMLP Parties set forth on Appendix A hereto are currently employed by the Debtor are HCMLP Released Parties. By executing a copy of this Settlement and delivering it to Daugherty, each of the persons on Appendix A agrees not to sue, attempt to sue, or threaten or work with or assist any entity or person to sue, attempt to sue, or threaten any Daugherty Released Party on or in connection with any claim or cause of action arising prior to the date of this Settlement.

11. Dismissal and Motions in Other Actions. Within ten business days after approval of this Settlement by the Bankruptcy Court, the Parties shall take all steps necessary (a) to dismiss with prejudice (i) the Highland Delaware Case, as against the Debtor and any HCMLP Released Party, and (ii) the HERA Delaware Case, as against every HCMLP Released Party, (b) to file an agreed motion and proposed order to partially vacate the final judgment entered against Daugherty in the Texas Action, (c) withdraw HCMLP's objection to the Daugherty motion to recuse in the Texas Action, and (d) to dismiss the Adversary Proceeding with prejudice. The parties shall file the foregoing motions and withdrawals substantially in the form of the documents annexed hereto as Exhibit B.

12. Additional Third Party Claims Discovery: The Debtor (a) shall accept service of any subpoenas via email served by Daugherty in connection with the Delaware Cases on behalf of itself, the HCMLP Entities, the HCMLP Parties (but only in their capacity as employees of HCMLP); and (b) acknowledge and consent to the jurisdiction of the Delaware Chancery Court for purposes of enforcing any such subpoenas, subject in all respects to the rights that the HCMLP Entities and HCMLP Parties to defend the requested production, if any.

13. Settlement of Third Party Claims: Daugherty shall not settle any claims or causes of action against any current or former director, officer, employee, agent or representative of HCMLP or Strand Advisors Inc. (collectively, the "Potentially Indemnified Parties") to the extent such claims have been brought or could have been brought against any Potentially Indemnified Parties, if any such settlement designates, defines or describes the settled claims as arising out of or relating to simple negligence or as having otherwise been within the scope of employment of the Potentially Indemnified Party.

14. Claims Register: As soon as practicable after the Settlement Effective Date, HCMLP shall instruct the claims agent in the Debtor's chapter 11 case to adjust the claims register in accordance with this Settlement.

15. Daugherty Representations: Daugherty represents and warrants to each of the HCMLP Released Parties that (a) he has full authority to release the Daugherty Released Claims and has not sold, transferred, or assigned any Daugherty Released Claim to any other person or entity and that (b) no person or entity other than Daugherty has been, is, or will be authorized to bring, pursue, or enforce any Daugherty Released Claim on behalf of, for the benefit of, or in the name of (whether directly or derivatively) Daugherty.

16. HCMLP Representations: Each of HCMLP and each HCMLP Released Party who has signed this Settlement represents and warrants to Daugherty that (a) he, she or it has not sold, transferred, pledged, assigned or hypothecated any HCMLP Released Claim to any other person or entity and (b) he, she, or it has full authority to release any HCMLP Released Claims that such HCMLP Released Party personally has against Daugherty.

17. Additional HCMLP Representations: HCMLP represents and warrants that it is releasing the HCMLP Released Claims on behalf of the HCMLP Entities to the maximum extent permitted by any contractual or other legal rights HCMLP possesses. To the extent any of the HCMLP Entities dispute HCMLP's right to release the HCMLP Released Claims on behalf of any of the HCMLP Entities, HCMLP shall use commercially reasonable efforts to support Daugherty's position, if any, that such claims were released herein. For the avoidance of doubt, HCMLP will have no obligations to assist Daugherty under this paragraph if HCMLP has been advised by external counsel that such assistance could subject HCMLP to liability to any third party or if such assistance would require HCMLP to expend material amounts of time or money. HCMLP shall not argue in any forum that the non-signatory status of any of the HCMLP Entities to this Settlement shall in any way affect the enforceability of this Settlement vis-à-vis any of the HCMLP Entities. The Parties agree that all of the HCMLP Entities are intended third-party beneficiaries of this Release.

18. HCMLP Covenant: HCMLP and the HCMLP Entities covenant and agree that they will not pursue or seek to enforce any injunctions entered in the Texas Action against Daugherty.

19. Entire Agreement; Modification: This Settlement contains the entire agreement between the Parties as to its subject matter and supersedes and replaces any and all prior agreements and undertakings between the Parties. This Settlement may not be modified other than by a signed writing executed by the Parties.

20. Bankruptcy Court Approval: Notwithstanding anything to the contrary contained herein, the effectiveness of HCMLP and the Claimant Trust's execution of this Settlement shall be subject to entry of an order of the Bankruptcy Court approving this Settlement. HCMLP shall take all steps necessary to file with the Bankruptcy Court a motion for an order approving this Settlement pursuant to Federal Rule of Bankruptcy Procedure 9019 and section 363 of the Bankruptcy Code (the "Motion"). The parties agree to cooperate in the preparation and prosecution of the Motion which shall be filed no later than 5 business day after execution of this Settlement, unless such time is extended by mutual agreement.

21. Counterparts: This Settlement may be executed in counterparts (including facsimile and electronic transmission counterparts), each of which will be deemed an original but all of which together constitute one and the same instrument and shall be effective against a Party or Additional Released Party upon approval of the Settlement by the Bankruptcy Court.

22. Governing Law; Jurisdiction: This Settlement will be exclusively governed by and construed and enforced in accordance with the laws of the State of Delaware, without regard to its conflicts of law principles, and all claims relating to or arising out of this Settlement, or the breach thereof, whether sounding in contract, tort, or otherwise, will likewise be governed by the laws of the State of Delaware, excluding Delaware's conflicts of law principles. The Bankruptcy Court will retain exclusive jurisdiction over all disputes relating to this Settlement.

23. Headings: Paragraph headings included herein are for convenience and shall have no impact whatsoever on the meaning or interpretation of any part of this Settlement.

HERA RELEASE AGREEMENT

This HERA Release Agreement ("HERA Release Agreement") is entered into as of November 21, 2021 by and among Highland Capital Management, L.P., as reorganized debtor ("HCMLP" or the "Debtor"), Patrick Hagaman Daugherty ("Daugherty"), Highland Employee Retention Assets, LLC ("HERA") and Highland ERA Management, LLC ("ERA" and together with HCMLP, and HERA, the "Parties," and individually as a "Party").

WHEREAS, reference is hereby made to the Settlement Agreement (the "Settlement") of even date herewith and attached hereto made and entered into by and between the Debtor, the Highland Claimant Trust, and Daugherty.

WHEREAS, the Settlement settles all of Daugherty's claims against the HCMLP Released Parties, including all claims against the HCMLP Released Parties relating to transfers of assets from HERA.

WHEREAS, the Settlement includes, among other things, the transfer by HCMLP to Daugherty of HCMLP's interests in HERA and ERA.

WHEREAS, under the Settlement such transfer is being made without any liability to any of the HCMLP Released Parties of any type and is conditional on the full release of, and covenant not to sue, each of the HCMLP Released Parties, by and from HERA, ERA, Daugherty and the Daugherty Released Parties.

WHEREAS, neither HERA nor ERA filed proofs of claim in the Bankrupty and have no claims against HCMLP.

WHEREAS, out of an abundance of caution to confirm that HERA, ERA, Daugherty, and the Daugherty Released Parties have no claims against the HCMLP Released Parties, this HERA Release Agreement is being entered into contemporaneously with the Settlement and constitutes an essential part thereof.

WHEREAS, capitalized terms used herein but not otherwise defined herein have the respective meanings set forth in the Settlement.

NOW, THEREFORE, in consideration of the entry into of the Settlement, the transfer of the equity interests in HERA and ERA to Daugherty in accordance with the Settlement, and for other good and valuable consideration, including the provisions set forth herein, the parties hereto further agree as follows:

1. Upon entry of an order of the Bankruptcy Court approving this Settlement and to the maximum extent permitted by law, Daugherty, on behalf of himself and each of the Daugherty Additional Release Parties, together with each of HERA and ERA (Daugherty, the Daugherty Additional Release Parties, HERA and ERA shall be collectively referred to herein as the "HERA Releasing Parties"), each hereby forever, finally, fully, unconditionally, and completely releases, relieves, acquits, remises, and exonerates, and covenants never to sue, any of the HCMLP Released Parties for and from any and all claims, debts, liabilities, demands, obligations, promises, acts, agreements, liens, losses, costs and expenses (including, without limitation, attorney's fees and related costs), damages, injuries, suits, actions, and causes of action of whatever kind or nature, whether known or unknown, suspected or unsuspected, matured or unmatured, liquidated or unliquidated, contingent or fixed, at law or in equity, statutory or otherwise, including without limitation those which were or could have been asserted in the Bankruptcy, including the Adversary Proceeding, the Texas Action, the Daugherty Claim, Highland Delaware Case, or the HERA Delaware Case (collectively, "Claims"), in each case that in any way arise from or otherwise in any way relate to HERA or ERA, including, without limitation, any actual or potential claims, whether known or unknown, in any way related to or arising out of the formation, management, operation or assets of HERA, ERA or any of their respective predecessors or successors, including the transfer of any assets to or from HERA or ERA, it being understood that all remaining assets of HERA have been transferred to HCMLP prior to the date hereof, and in addition to the releases set forth above, each of the HERA Releasing Parties irrevocably waives and releases and covenants not to sue with respect to any Claims against any of the HCMLP Released Parties in any way related to any such transfers or assets, whether in personam with respect to the HCMLP Released Parties or in rem with respect to any of their assets (collectively, the "HERA Released Claims") or any other Disposition.

2. This Release constitutes a part of, and is supplemental to, the provisions of the Settlement.

In witness whereof, the parties hereto, intending to be legally bound, have executed this HERA Release Agreement as of the date set forth above.

AGREED MOTION TO PARTIALLY VACATE THE FINAL JUDGMENT DATED JULY 14, 2014

TO THE HONORABLE JUDGE OF SAID COURT:

Plaintiff Highland Capital Management, LP ("Highland") and Defendant Patrick Daugherty ("Daugherty" and together with Highland, the "Parties") file this Agreed Motion to Partially Vacate the Final Judgment dated July 14, 2014 (the "Motion"), and respectfully show the following:

1. On July 14, 2014, this Court entered a Final Judgment (the "Judgment") that, among other things, granted Highland's motion for injunctive relief against Daugherty.

2. The Judgment was amended on March 23, and June 23, 2017.

3. On October 16, 2019, filed a petition under chapter 11 in the United States Bankruptcy Court for the District of Delaware ("Highland's Bankruptcy Case"). On October 24,

2019, as a result of the commencement of Highland's Bankruptcy Case, the Supreme Court of Texas issued an order abating a related case that Daugherty had brought in that court, Case No. 19-0758. Highland's Bankruptcy Case was subsequently transferred to the United States Bankruptcy Court for the Northern District of Texas.

4. Daugherty asserted certain claims against Highland in Highland's Bankruptcy Case. The Parties have fully and finally resolved their disputes pursuant to a settlement agreement (the "Settlement Agreement") reached in the Highland Bankruptcy Case pursuant to which, among other things, (a) all of Daugherty's known and unknown claims against each of the Highland Released Parties (as those terms are defined in the Settlement Agreement) are resolved, and (b) this Motion seeking the vacatur of certain provisions of the Judgment specifically set forth below is being filed.

5. Highland and Daugherty hereby agree and stipulate that the Court has plenary power to issue an order granting this Motion because the Court retained authority to enforce the permanent injunction rendered in the Judgment, and that changed circumstances have now arisen such that the Court should dissolve the permanent injunction. Highland and Daugherty further agree and stipulate that this Motion shall be treated as an agreement of the Parties pursuant to Texas Rule of Civil Procedure 11, and is fully enforceable. See Coale v. Scott, 331 S.W.3d 829, 831-32 (Tex. App.—Amarillo 2011, no pet.) ("Irrespective of whether a trial court lost its plenary jurisdiction over its judgment, the trial court's authority to approve a Rule 11 agreement does not depend on whether it has such jurisdiction.").

6. Highland and Daugherty agree that the following portions of the Judgment shall be vacated pursuant to their settlement in the Highland Bankruptcy:

a. The second full paragraph on Page 2 of the Judgment, which begins "The Court, after considering the jury's findings regarding Daugherty's breaches of contract and breaches of fiduciary duty . . .";

b. The permanent injunction rendered against Daugherty in the third full paragraph on Page 2 of the Judgment, which begins "It is therefore further ORDERED that Daugherty be and hereby is commanded to cease and desist from . . .";

c. The fourth and fifth full paragraphs on Page 2 of the Judgment awarding Highland a monetary judgment against Daugherty for reasonable and necessary attorney's fees, as well as post-judgment interest on that award[1]; and

d. The jury's answers to Questions 1, 2, 5, 6, 9 and 12 in the Verdict, which was attached as Exhibit 1 to the Judgment.

7. Highland and Daugherty further agree that, as a result of the vacation of the permanent injunction in the Judgment, Highland hereby withdraws any pending motions to show cause or motions for contempt against Daugherty that allege Daugherty violated or is violating the permanent injunction. Highland also agrees not to seek to enforce the permanent injunction in any manner in the future.

[1] Daugherty previously satisfied the monetary judgment awarded to Highland, and Highland filed a release of the monetary judgment. Although Highland and Daugherty have agreed to vacate the monetary judgment awarded to Highland, Daugherty waives and relinquishes any right or claim to recover any amount previously paid in satisfaction of the Judgment and Highland shall not be required to reimburse Daugherty for his prior satisfaction of the monetary judgment. To the extent Daugherty is entitled to indemnification for any liabilities, losses, and damages allegedly incurred by him for actions taken in connection with Highland's business, including the liabilities Daugherty allegedly incurred in connection with this action and the Judgment, such indemnification claims have been fully and finally satisfied and resolved under the Settlement Agreement.

8. Concurrent with the filing of this Motion, Daugherty will file a motion to dismiss his as-yet unfiled petition for review pending before the Supreme Court of Texas under Case No. 19-0758.

9. Highland and Daugherty further agree that any portions of the Judgment that are not specifically vacated pursuant to this Motion shall remain in full force and effect.

WHEREFORE, Highland and Daugherty pray that the Court grant this Motion in its entirety, and for all further relief, at law or in equity, the Court deems necessary.

DALLAS, TEXAS - SEPTEMBER 4, 2025 - 9:34 A.M.

THE CLERK: All rise. The United States Bankruptcy Court for the Northern District of Texas, Dallas Division, is now in session, the Honorable Stacey Jernigan presiding.

THE COURT: Good morning. Please be seated.

All right. We have a setting this morning in Highland versus Daugherty, Adversary 25-3055. We have both a motion to dismiss adversary of Mr. Daugherty and we have a motion -- the calendar says for leave -- it was actually a cross-motion for relief from a final order by Reorganized Highland.

All right. So we'll talk about sequence and all that. Who do I have appearing? First I see Mr. Morris on there. You're appearing for Reorganized Highland?

MR. MORRIS: Yes, Your Honor. Good morning. John Morris; Pachulski Stang Ziehl & Jones; for Reorganized Highland.

THE COURT: All right. Thank you.

So I see both Mr. York and Mr. Smeltzer. Which one of you will be representing Mr. Daugherty today?

MR. YORK: Good morning, Your Honor. Drew York. I will do the primary argument. Depending upon whether the Court has any questions concerning the IRS audit process and procedures, Mr. Smeltzer, who's one of our tax litigators, is prepared to address any of those questions for you.

THE COURT: All right.

MR. YORK: But otherwise, I'm the one that will be handling the argument.

THE COURT: Okay. These are the only parties we have on today's matter. Was there anyone else on the video wanting to appear?

(No response.)

THE COURT: All right. Well, have you all discussed -- I'm assuming we'll go first with Mr. Daugherty's argument since it's the first-filed main motion, I guess you'd say. Did you all have any housekeeping matters or different ideas about that?

MR. MORRIS: No, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. YORK: No, Your Honor.

THE COURT: All right. Mr. York, I'll hear from you.

MR. YORK: Thank you, Your Honor. May it please the Court. And if I may share my screen, I've got a PowerPoint presentation.

THE COURT: All right. You may.

MR. YORK: So, Your Honor, we are here today on both motions. I'm going to talk about the motion to dismiss first. And the underlying basis of the adversary complaint that Highland has filed relates to a settlement agreement that the Court approved in 2022 between Mr. Daugherty and Highland. Among other things, the settlement reserved a general unsecured claim to Mr. Daugherty that was tied to an IRS audit of Highland's 2008 and 2009 tax returns, potential liability that Mr. Daugherty had or might have concerning a cash bonus that he received during his employment at the time. And what the settlement agreement specifically says, Your Honor, is that any litigation between Highland and Mr. Daugherty concerning the validity and the amount of this reserved claim shall be stayed until the IRS makes a final determination with respect to the IRS audit dispute.

And in order to ensure fairness to both sides, as part of that language and settlement, Highland also reserved its rights to dispute the claim, subject to the stay language, that at the appropriate time it could file its dispute or objection to that claim.

Well, what we have in this adversary complaint is Highland seeking three things. One is a disallowance of that reserved claim. Alternatively, an estimation of that reserved claim. And then, thirdly, a subordination of that claim to a Class 11 status.

And so the critical question then is, for purposes of the motion that we filed, Your Honor, is whether Highland has actually pled allegations that there has been a final determination by the IRS. And they have not. In fact, their own pleading takes the opposite approach. They state that the 2008 tax return is currently subject to an IRS audit in Paragraph 3 of their complaint. They state it's unclear when or how that 2008 audit will be finally resolved. And they state in Paragraph 23, on information and belief, the 2008 audit is not yet fully resolved.

There is not a single allegation anywhere in the complaint that the IRS has made a final determination with respect to the audit dispute that would alleviate Highland from its obligation to respect the stay provision that the parties freely and fairly negotiated between themselves that Highland said was part of a fair settlement to the Court and that the Court found just and reasonable as part of its order approving the settlement.

And because Highland has not pled such language, and because they incorporated the settlement agreement into the allegations in their complaint, the Court must dismiss this adversary action, without prejudice. And Highland is free to come back at a later date once it believes and can show that an actual final determination has occurred, and it can plead that and we can address the issue at that point. But it has not done so.

Instead, what Highland has done in response to our motion to dismiss is simply to say that it believes that the IRS has made a final determination with respect to the audit dispute such that the stay provision does not apply, but doesn't unequivocally state that that actually has happened. And in fact, the evidence that Mr. Morris attached to his declaration that was part of the response shows that the qualified statement that Highland made is contradicted by that evidence.

The first is that the exhibits that they rely upon were exhibits that were issued by the Debtor in February of 2018, more than three years before the settlement agreement was entered into. And so that raises a fundamental question. If there was a final determination, as Highland believes, as of February 2018, then there would have been no need for the parties to include the stay provision in the settlement agreement. But they did, because, in fact, there had been no final determination.

And then, secondly, even those documents belie Highland's own argument that there was a final determination. Instead, the letter that Highland issued to Mr. Daugherty -- and it's only a letter to Mr. Daugherty; it's not from the IRS itself -- simply says that the Field Examiners for the IRS have proposed an adjustment to Highland's tax return, something that Highland points out in the letter that can either be accepted or rejected by Highland and that Highland intended to appeal.

And so the exhibits themselves do not establish that a final determination was made. In fact, all they show is that there was a proposal that the IRS Field Examiners had at the time of an adjustment to be made, not that the IRS had reached a final determination.

And so because Highland has sidestepped its own pleading requirements, the Court must dismiss the complaint for failure to adequately plead the allegations to get around the stay provisions of the settlement agreement.

And I will, Your Honor, hold back on the arguments concerning the cross-motion until we get to that next. So, thank you.

THE COURT: Could you go, I think it was Slide 2. I was --

MR. YORK: Apologies.

THE COURT: I think it was Slide 2. The one that was quoting from Paragraph 9 of the settlement agreement. I have it in front of me, and --

MR. YORK: Is it showing, Your Honor? I apologize. Here you go.

THE COURT: No. I -- yes. Okay. Yes, I found that quote in Paragraph -- Section 9, but then that second, that was just your kind of paraphrasing?

MR. YORK: Yes, Your Honor.

THE COURT: I didn't see that second quote, so that's why I was double-checking that.

All right. Well, Mr. Morris, your turn.

MR. MORRIS: Thank you very much, Your Honor. I didn't take the time to prepare a PowerPoint for this. I want to try to be brief, but I do need to provide just a little bit of context.

As Your Honor will recall, Mr. Daugherty filed substantial claims against Highland within the bar date, at the beginning of the confirmation hearing in early February 2001 [sic]. We actually announced settlement terms in principle with Mr. Daugherty. A few weeks later, the Court confirmed Highland's plan and, importantly, also approved the Claimant Trust Agreement.

Why do I bring that up? Because it's directly related to the cross-motion. And it's related to the cross-motion because there are two important provisions in the Claimant Trust Agreement that I know Your Honor is aware of. The first is that the Claimant Trust can't be dissolved until all disputed claims are resolved. This is one of two remaining disputed claims or interests, the other one being that which relates to Class 11, which is subject to a motion right now.

The other important feature of the Claimant Trust Agreement is the provision that says its life is limited to three years but subject to two one-year extensions. As Your Honor will recall, back in June the Court approved the second one-year extension to August 11, 2026. No further extensions are permitted, you know, absent, I guess, some extraordinary circumstance, which this can't possibly rise to that level.

And so the parties are obligated, Highland is obligated, as the Claimant Trust Agreement provides, to commence dissolution by August 11, 2026, a step it cannot take until the claims are resolved.

That's a really important context. And I will get to why in a moment, although I suspect it's probably fairly obvious.

Mr. Daugherty's settlement didn't get consummated due to reasons that I don't think we need to get into right now. Negotiation (garbled) until November of 2021. While the Court didn't approve it until the following year, the settlement agreement was actually signed almost four years ago.

That settlement agreement resolved every single one of Mr. Daugherty's claims, with the exception of this IRS audit claim. Mr. York says, oh, gee, why did you -- why did you stay it, since we now contend that the IRS made a final determination in 2018? The answer for that is pretty simple, Your Honor. I'm not in the habit of doing work that I don't need to do. Mr. Daugherty wouldn't let go of this claim. We have done no work around it. We simply kicked the can down the road. There's very little road left today, and that's why we're here.

Your Honor focused on Paragraph 9 of the parties' agreement, and I want to highlight four provisions of that simple paragraph, because I think they're very important.

The first is it begins by saying that Mr. Daugherty contends that he has a contingent unliquidated claim against the Debtor arising out of 2008, 2009 compensation. It continues by saying, Highland disputes the validity and amount of the reserved claim. So make no mistake: The parties agreed and understood that Highland reserved the right not only to contest the amount of the claim, but the validity of the claim itself.

That concept is embodied in the very next sentence, where Highland reserves the right to assert any and all defenses.

And then you have the stay provision. And the stay provision was not, as I think Mr. Daugherty suggests, related to the final determination of the IRS audit, but it's limited to the IRS's final determination with respect to that audit.

So we entered into that agreement many years ago, and with an eye towards wrapping -- but now, with an eye towards wrapping this case up in advance of the August 2026 deadline, Highland began to do some diligence, because we have to resolve the claim. And we began reviewing the substance of Mr. Daugherty's reserved claim, and we uncovered the documents that are attached to my declaration which was filed in the adversary proceeding at Exhibit 11.

Based on Highland's understanding that the IRS has made a final determination, Highland commenced this action to disallow, estimate, or subordinate the reserved claim.

And let me just respond to the suggestion that somehow the pleading is deficient. There is no challenge to the adequacy of the pleading with respect to the three causes of action. I'm not even aware of a requirement that we needed to say anything about the stay itself. This is a motion to dismiss. We responded to the motion to dismiss. We've offered evidence as to why we believe the IRS has made a final determination.

But at the end of the day, the fact that we said repeatedly in our pleading that the audit is not resolved is completely irrelevant. It's irrelevant to the stay because that's not the standard under Paragraph 9. The issue is not whether the IRS audit has been resolved. The issue is whether the IRS has made a final determination, and we responded to the motion to dismiss with evidence.

Mr. Daugherty has moved to dismiss. As I mentioned, he did some not on the basis of the pleadings but in reliance on that singular sentence in the settlement agreement. Again, the stay provision does not require a final resolution of the IRS audit. Instead, it only requires that the IRS make a final determination, and we believe that that's exactly what the IRS did back in 2018.

Exhibit 3 to my declaration, Your Honor, is not a statement from Highland. It contains IRS Form 886-Z, which shows the IRS's determination that Mr. Daugherty's share of the partnership income was approximately $1.26 million.

Exhibit 4 is another IRS document, not something from Highland, where they -- and it constitutes a written offer from the IRS to settle Mr. Daugherty's claim based on his allocable share of Highland's adjusted and corrected income. Just look at Exhibit 4. The adjustments are there. Right? Highland reported, I think, $3 million of partnership income. The IRS said no, no, no, you're just off by about $166 million. So it turned out to be about $169 million of untaxed income, and Mr. Daugherty is responsible for his allocable share as a partner.

And that's why, of course, we say his claim is not valid or otherwise should be subordinated, because he received this money 15 years ago, 18 years ago, whatever it is, I've lost count, in his capacity as a partner.

But I digress a little bit. The point here, Your Honor, is that with August 2026 coming up, with no communication about this matter at all, Highland did the responsible thing and sought to resolve Mr. Daugherty's claim. That's why we're here.

I understand that Mr. Daugherty disputes both the interpretation of Section 9 as well as what the IRS has done, and that's fine. We could litigate the issue, Your Honor. I could have served discovery. This is almost jurisdictional in nature, the nature of this particular motion to dismiss. It has nothing to do with the claims itself. And we could have taken discovery. But who wants to do that, Your Honor? I really don't want to spend the money. I don't want to get experts. I don't want to subpoena Hunton & Williams. There are so many things we could do if we really had to get through this gating issue. We don't believe it makes any sense to do that.

And given the facts and circumstances that exist today that we did not pursue four years ago, we believe the Court should modify the prior order approving the settlement under Rule 60(b)(6) because justice requires. Under Rule 60(b)(6), courts have broad authority to relieve a party of an order that justifies relief. The Court should exercise this authority here and strike the stay provision.

No one anticipated that this matter would be unresolved four years after the original agreement was signed, and no one agreed, and I cannot believe the Court would ever have approved, that the life of the Claimant Trust Agreement would extend beyond August 11, 2026 because Mr. Daugherty's claim remained unresolved at this time. That's not what the parties expected. That's not what the parties foresaw. And yet here we are.

At this point, but for some appellate litigation, this case is nearly complete. Highland continues to take all steps necessary to commence its dissolution. Only two remaining disputed claims exist: this one, and as I mentioned earlier, the motion that we had filed to fix the amount of the Class 1 interests. That's it.

There's only two meaningful assets that remain to be liquidated. One concerns Korea, and the other is Highland's interest in an entity called HCLOF. We are hopeful that the Korean asset will be monetized by the end of the year. The HCLOF interest, regrettably, is the subject of Mr. Dondero-generated litigation. But that matter is subject to briefing at this time in the Second Circuit. We are optimistic of a positive result there, one that will allow us to liquidate that last remaining asset.

Highland intends to file a motion in the coming weeks -- I don't know if it will be a motion or a notice -- of its intention and desire to destroy a lot of books and records, historical books and records that are costing the estate a significant amount of money, but it's part of a wind-down process. We need to skinny this down.

We're going to be surrendering our office space at the end of the year, and the vital employees who remain will work remotely.

We are doing everything we can to complete this case, and Mr. Daugherty's reserved claim cannot be allowed to stand in the way. It was reserved, it was in a reserved amount that, you know, satisfied him at the time, so there's no question that the money is there to be had. Frankly, we think we should just get on with it today.

I know in response Mr. Daugherty said, well, stay it until January or February, and then let's come back and let's do this all again. You know, that might make sense and it might be appealing, Your Honor, if Mr. Daugherty gave the Court or Highland any indication that the use of the next 90 to 120 days would be helpful in getting him wherever he thinks he wants to be with respect to the IRS.

But I don't think that's what's at play here, Your Honor. I think there are ulterior motives. And I think that for the following reasons. Your Honor will recall back in June, when we had the hearing on Mr. Daugherty's objection to the HMIT settlement, that we encouraged him, we recommended that he try to resolve his dispute by adjusting the amount in the reserve. Your Honor will recall he did not do that.

I'm going to tell Your Honor that we have made several settlement offers to try to resolve his claim. We even suggested to Mr. Daugherty that he go back to the IRS and see what Mr. York characterized as a proposal back in 2018, see if it was still on the table. Because we have learned since this litigation began that his exposure is not that $1.2 million number, but it's simply the application of the highest individual income tax rate to that number. Thirty-seven percent. Thirty-seven percent times $1.2 million comes out to approximately $440,000.

We said, why don't you go see if that's on the table? And, you know, he sat here in court in June and said, Your Honor, I don't want to take a nickel I'm not entitled to, but I fear, I fear the risk that's associated with this dispute. Why not just pick up the phone and see if the IRS is willing to stand by the deal that they made, the offer that they made in 2018, and we could all go home? He refuses to do that. And instead he claims that he's entitled to other things. I'll just leave it at that.

We need to get on with this. The only claim that Mr. Daugherty has is this reserved claim. The parties dispute whether or not the IRS has made a final determination. I really don't want to litigate that issue, because it will be costly and it adds absolutely nothing.

This case needs to end. It has a final deadline of August 11, 2026. And whether we start the litigation today or in January or February, I'm not -- I don't feel terribly strongly about, but I have no reason to believe that waiting is going to change anything, and that's why I'd like to just get on with it.

So, you know, we respectfully request that the Court grant the cross-motion, modify the order approving the settlement, strike the stay provision, and then deny the motion to dismiss as moot.

Unless Your Honor has any questions, that's all I have.

THE COURT: Well, my only question is I just want a reminder. You've alluded to that there were multiple components, shall we say, to Mr. Daugherty's proof of claim, and I know we talked about this in June, but my brain has already forgotten. Mr. Daugherty was allowed several million dollars and would have been paid by now several million dollars from the Highland estate for the other components of his proof of claim.

Can you refresh my memory on that? I think I even read it somewhere --

MR. MORRIS: Yeah.

THE COURT: -- in my material for this morning, but I've forgotten.

MR. MORRIS: Sure. My recollection, Your Honor, and I don't have the agreement in front of me, my recollection is that Mr. Daugherty was given an allowed Class 8 claim of some $8 million.

THE COURT: Uh-huh.

MR. MORRIS: That, I think that's all been paid in full.

He was granted an allowed Class 9 claim. I believe it is some $3-plus million. That's also been paid a hundred percent.

So he's already received over $11 million by my count.

He also received other valuable consideration and other assets, including the HERA shells that he's using now to litigate with other people. But he's gotten -- he's gotten -- he's gotten a lot. This is the last little stub. It was a difficult negotiation, as Mr. Seery has already testified to, and we thought the better part of valor there was simply take, you know, 95 -- resolve 95 percent of his claim and deal with the other five percent on another day. And that's what we're trying to do here, and that's all we're trying to accomplish. It's not personal. It's not vindictive. We have a fiduciary duty to wind up the estate, and that's all we're trying to do here.

THE COURT: Okay. As you were talking, I found it. It's in Paragraph 1 of the settlement agreement at Page 6, showing the allowed amount of his different claims, excluding this reserved claim.

All right. Well, Mr. York, your reply?

MR. YORK: Sure, Your Honor. Let me, first, let me start with this with respect to the IRS final determination issue. The proposal with the IRS is simply that, because it only becomes final once it's either agreed to by the taxpayer or, if not, the challenge has been completed. And what's clear in both Highland's own filings in the complaint as well its exhibits to its response is that that hasn't happened because it is being challenged by Highland.

THE COURT: Okay. And I --

MR. YORK: And then --

THE COURT: Let me stop you. I'm looking at the February 3, 2018 letter that was one of the attachments to Mr. Morris' declaration. And I think here is the language that the Debtor suggests is basically a final determination, to use that term. The second sentence of the first paragraph: "Exam" -- which has been the defined term 'IRS Field Examiners,' --"concluded their audit and have proposed an adjustment to the 2008 return."

So I think that's one of the things we're arguing about today. Does that phraseology, "The IRS Field Examiners concluded their audit and proposed an adjustment to the 2008 return," does that constitute a final determination?

MR. YORK: It does not. And I'm going to defer to Mr. Smeltzer to explain why that is more specifically, Your Honor. But we laid that all out in our complaint to begin with, and Highland didn't challenge at all those procedures in its response, other than to say it didn't want to wade into the thicket of arcane regulations. And I'll let Mr. Smeltzer address the rest of that substantively.

THE COURT: And we'll come back to that thicket comment. But Mr. Smeltzer?

MR. SMELTZER: Sure. So, Your Honor, can you hear me?

THE COURT: Yes, I can.

MR. SMELTZER: All right. So, I do tax litigation and controversy all the time. I get it from DOJ, so on the Government side, and as a private attorney as well.

MR. MORRIS: I'm sorry to interrupt, Mr. Smeltzer. I just want to note an objection here, Your Honor. You know, there's no witnesses. To the extent that this is being proffered effectively as expert testimony, I would object. The papers say what the papers say, but if we're now going to have an education, I really would have liked to have notice, because I would have called the partner at Hunton & Williams with whom I spoke.

But having said that, I don't want to stop him from speaking. I think that's for Your Honor to determine. But I do want to note the objection, that to the extent that this is kind of expert testimony, we had no notice, we didn't have an opportunity to bring our own expert here. I thought we were limiting ourselves to the papers.

THE COURT: Okay. Thank you.

As to that, I'm going to regard this as lawyer argument, not a fact expert. So, Mr. Smeltzer, you can say what you were going to say.

MR. SMELTZER: Absolutely. Absolutely fine, Your Honor.

And so when the IRS Exam, which is referred to in there, right, is a -- their job is to examine the return and propose adjustments. When they made that proposal, that proposal, not only is it subject to challenge, but we don't even know if this has gone through the full IRS administrative process at all.

I've had my own cases that the proposed adjustment was changed by as much as $3 million once the final-final notice that can be challenged in court was actually received.

We have never been provided the final FPAA, which is what they have referred to, which is a Final Proposed Administrative Adjustment. That's what seals the IRS's position on what it thinks the appropriate adjustments are, subject to challenge.

We laid out in our motion to dismiss all the separate procedures that are involved there. It can be challenged by the tax matters partner, which is presumably the pleading that they weren't going to challenge that. It can also be challenged by partners, should the tax matter partner choose not to do it alone. And it only -- it's only when those adjustments are done that you can do that.

And it is very important, because at the lawsuit stage, it can, again, the numbers can be changed. The IRS can change. They could add penalties to it. They can do other things. The only thing that changes is they now bear the burden of proof on those issues.

But there is a lot of moving parts that happen in the litigation, both at the beginning, and then at the very end, because taxes are sometimes complicated and hard, there's a computation that's done at the very end of Tax Court proceedings. That as well can change the computation. The IRS has computation specialists. The partnership has computation specialists. They don't often agree.

And I, again, in my experience, sometimes that can be off by millions that's involved. And that is why just a proposed adjustment -- isn't even necessarily a final proposed adjustment because nobody seems to have a copy of that one -- that alone can be significantly changed several stages along the way.

So what we have, in my opinion, Your Honor, is an IRS proposal that is a guess at what the final result might be.

THE COURT: Okay. A couple of follow-up questions. Mr. Morris, he made a comment that I think was a practical suggestion more than anything else: Why won't you all call up the IRS and get some information about what's going on?

MR. SMELTZER: Sure. I can answer that as well. I don't think Mr. Daugherty has the authority to get any information from the IRS --

THE COURT: Well, wait, I heard you say that --

MR. SMELTZER: -- under --

THE COURT: -- either the managing -- whatever the term of art is -- either the managing tax partner or words to that effect, which I read somewhere in the pleading was --

MR. SMELTZER: Yeah.

THE COURT: -- Strand, which I think Mr. Dondero --

MR. SMELTZER: Yeah.

THE COURT: -- probably has control of at this point in time, or a partner could get information.

MR. SMELTZER: So, so --

THE COURT: I thought I heard you say that.

MR. SMELTZER: Sure. Mr. Daugherty may have right to information, but only if the tax matter partner doesn't choose to exercise -- to file a lawsuit. Then he would inherit rights to do it afterwards. And he could potentially intervene in that lawsuit.

But until then, only a person with a power of attorney form is allowed to get information from the IRS. There's a specific Internal Revenue Code that subjects them to both civil and potential criminal penalties for disclosing information to an unauthorized party.

And so it's possible that Mr. Daugherty, he could call, but they probably wouldn't tell him anything so that they don't get themselves in any sort of disclosure heat of doing that.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. SMELTZER: He would have to get --

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. SMELTZER: -- one of the --

THE COURT: Okay. Is there litigation pending right now?

MR. SMELTZER: I don't think we know. We've been told, I think, in there that they --

THE COURT: Okay. Help me to understand that, because I'm used to courts being very transparent. Are you telling me that Tax Court dockets, or even the lawsuits, a file number, a case number, aren't something that you can get access to, that a member of the public can't get access to?

MR. SMELTZER: Well, and I'll have to defer to Mr. York a little bit here, just because I don't know where we are in the time frame now, if Mr. Daugherty has received anything there.

But right, like, the adjustments go through just the partnership. The partnership has the chance to file a lawsuit. There's a time frame for that. And if they file it, they may not provide him notice. Maybe we could search and try and see if it has been filed. But I don't even know if the time has come.

It would have been very helpful to have an FPAA, because that would allow our side to both know the deadlines for filing such lawsuits; it also would have come with all the computation forms --

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. SMELTZER: -- that would also allow us --

THE COURT: I just, really, all I'm asking is, if a lawsuit is filed, it can't be publicly accessible, like any other federal court lawsuit?

MR. SMELTZER: The Tax Court has its own online system, and you can search for it, and as long as you have the right name you might be able to get it from there.

THE COURT: So you could easily search that, right?

MR. SMELTZER: I haven't searched for it, but presumably we could go for a name and see if it's there.

THE COURT: Okay. Well, I read somewhere in the paperwork that this was not anticipated to be resolved until mid- or sometime in 2028. Where was that retrieved?

MR. YORK: That was -- that statement first came up in the complaint in a footnote, I believe, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. YORK: Let me -- give me one second and I will point you to it.

THE COURT: Okay. Where did it come from? I don't -- I read it. I couldn't remember where I read it. But where is that coming from?

MR. YORK: Your Honor, I'd have to defer to Mr. Morris. It's their allegation.

THE COURT: Do you know if there's a lawsuit --

MR. MORRIS: Your Honor?

THE COURT: Oh, Mr. Morris, go ahead.

MR. MORRIS: Yeah. I don't have any information on that.

But I just have to take issue with what was just said, that there's nothing Mr. Daugherty can do here, so it's so sad and unfortunate.

If we just look at Exhibit 2 in my declaration that was sent to Mr. Daugherty, in 2018 Highland told him: At this time, no action on your part is required with respect to these documents unless you wish to agree with the Exam's proposed adjustments.

And then if you look at Exhibit 3, it relates only to Mr. Daugherty.

And then if you look at Exhibit 4, that is a proposal that is made to Mr. Daugherty and Mr. Daugherty alone.

Highland, as the tax audit partner, was telling Mr. Daugherty, you can settle the claim if you want. We recommend that you don't. And Mr. Daugherty decided not to.

We're just asking him, why don't you just go and try and see if that proposal is still on the table? Why don't you do that? They don't want to, Your Honor. This is not about resolution of this claim.

THE COURT: All right. Mr. York, you can say the rest of your reply.

MR. YORK: Sure. So, let's be clear, too. What Highland said in 2018 to Mr. Daugherty was, in the letter, You do not need to attend the closing conference. Highland will handle the closing conference and appeal the proposed adjustment to the IRS Appeals Office.

There was no -- never -- contrary to what Mr. Morris is saying based upon a redacted document that somehow this was provided to Mr. Daugherty, this sort of -- this offer, there's no evidence of that other than they have a copy of this in their own files. That's it.

So let's go -- but let's go back to the rest -- the other issue they raised, which was the cross-motion under Rule 60(b)(6), because I need to address that. And I'm going to share my screen.

So, there are multiple reasons the cross-motion needs to be denied. First off, Your Honor, it's an extraordinary process, an extraordinary circumstance, to use Rule 60(b)(6). And the courts are clear that you're not to use motions to reform or nullify settlements because settlements represent the parties' negotiated allocation of risk. And it doesn't permit -- the Rule doesn't permit the Court to rescue a sophisticated party such as Highland from the predictable results of its own bargain.

And that's -- as the Fifth Circuit has said. And that is exactly what has happened here, because Highland claims, well, no one foresaw the IRS audit would take this long, except, Your Honor, to the extent that that is a mutual mistake argument, that's not a 60(b)(6) issue. That's a 60(b)(1) issue. And under Rule 60(c)(1), that's got to be raised within one year, as the U.S. Supreme Court pointed out in the Pioneer Investment Services v. Brunswick Associates case. It's a one-year limitation.

Highland was also well aware, because it accepted the benefits of the settlement agreement's stay provision, because it secured four separate tolling agreements of its objection deadline along the way. And in fact, in the first tolling agreement that the parties entered into, the recitals specifically stated, the parties acknowledged that there was an absence of a resolution of the IRS dispute and it's unknown when the IRS dispute may be resolved.

Highland knew all of this at the time it entered into the settlement agreement. It could have asked for a specific time period by which the stay would be lifted in the settlement. It didn't do so. And the Court cannot rescue it under Rule 60(b)(6) from the bargain that it entered into.

And so, for all of those reasons, including the estoppel issue of Highland incurring the benefits of that stay through the extension of the claims objection deadline, the Court cannot strike the stay provision.

THE COURT: All right.

MR. MORRIS: Just very briefly in reply, Your Honor.

THE COURT: I guess you get to reply to his response on the Rule 60(b).

MR. MORRIS: Right. Just very briefly. Counsel continues to refer to our admissions that the IRS dispute remains unresolved and we don't know when it will be resolved. I confess to that admission. It's completely irrelevant. Look at the language of Section 9. It doesn't say it's stayed until the IRS dispute is resolved. It says it's stayed until the IRS makes a final determination. That's the issue before the Court.

So nothing that we've said about the indeterminate duration of the litigation concerning this IRS dispute is relevant at all. The admission is meaningless.

I have nothing further, Your Honor.

THE COURT: All right. Well, I didn't mean to get too bogged down on some of these technical issues. But I guess, at the same time, I felt like it was somewhat relevant here because, do we have extraordinary circumstances under Rule 60(b)(6)?

Rule 60(b)(6), it doesn't actually use the word extraordinary. It just, you know, any other reason that justifies relief. Are there grounds to grant relief from a final order after a laundry list of things like mistake, inadvertence, surprise, newly-discovered evidence, fraud, et cetera. As we all know, there's kind of a catchall phrase there, any other reason that justifies relief. And courts of appeals have put their gloss, if you will, on that, suggesting you should only use this section when you have extraordinary circumstances.

I find extraordinary circumstances here. And just to put it in context, we have a very large bankruptcy estate that had a plan confirmed in 2021, February 2021. The plan went effective August 2021. November 2021, the settlement agreement was reached, signed by the parties, that allowed Mr. Daugherty certain claims on which he has been paid, it looks to me like it was close to $13 million.

And this settlement agreement essentially carved out, carved out this claim, this contingent unliquidated disputed claim of Mr. Daugherty. And whatever the correct interpretation of final determination, the fact is here we sit close to four years later with almost nothing left to happen at the Bankruptcy Court level, hopefully at the Appellate Court level. I never know from day to day what's still pending out there. But here we are, four years later. Could anyone have reasonably anticipated that we would be sitting here in the latter part of 2025 with this bankruptcy estate still open?

I think the answer is no, and we know that because of the Claimant Trust Agreement and what it anticipated would be the appropriate duration and possible extensions. The Claimant Trust Agreement and the orders subsequently entered by the Court authorizing extension require basically the bankruptcy case and the associated trust to be wrapped up by August 11, 2026. I have heard nothing today to make me think -- to allow me to possibly assess, really, whether that's a possibility. And we cannot get in a situation where we're at August 2026 and I've entered an order saying it must be wrapped up, I've entered orders approving the Claimant Trust Agreement, I've entered orders extending.

I know that Mr. Daugherty wants me to honor the previous order approving the settlement agreement, which he thinks requires this reserve to be kept intact until some undetermined time. But I've really got a conflict of orders, right? I've got an order approving a plan that approved, as part of that plan, the Claimant Trust Agreement, which had a finite duration. I've got then an order extending the duration to -- I think we're at the end of the rope. I'm not even sure how much discretion there is to extend that further. And then I've got an order that might be an open order for 2028, 2029. I've really got a conflict of orders.

So I really do think it's extraordinary. It's extraordinary that we're down the road so far and this claim, this audit, has, we guess, still not been resolved, but I don't even have information to be clear about the status. Is there even a lawsuit?

So I don't like it, but I think clearly this Court has authority and should exercise its discretion to grant the motion -- I forget the way it was phrased -- but a motion under Rule 60(b)(6) for the settlement agreement and the order approving the settlement agreement to be modified, so that we don't have to wait any further for whatever final determination, however it might be interpreted, to be completed with regard to this tax refund.

And I'm stating the obvious, but I think the record needs to be clear on this. Mr. Daugherty at one time was a limited partner of the Debtor. He received a tax refund for Year 2008, and this was because he was allocated his applicable losses for the entity Highland's Tax Year 2008 on account of his partnership interest.

We are now -- yes, do the math -- 17 years down the road. I understand Mr. Daugherty believes that Highland was obligated, I guess because of this 2019 benefit statement, or I'm not sure if there was other documentation, to make him whole if any portion of that tax refund is later clawed back by the IRS. Highland disputes that.

But we can't wait forever. That's not what the Bankruptcy Code, the bankruptcy process, is designed to do. 502(c) is because of this sort of situation, where at some point you've got to estimate the claim if you can't get to a final determination otherwise. And I refuse to keep this estate open for who knows how many more years. Okay? I've made it very clear in other hearings, in other contexts, we need to wind this up.

So, based on everything I've heard, I do think it's appropriate to apply 60(b)(6). I do think it's fair to say this was an unforeseeable circumstance. I just don't think anyone thought, reasonably thought, this would still be hanging out there with who knows what status four years later.

So the Rule 60(b)(6) motion is granted. And because of that, I deny the motion to dismiss of Mr. Daugherty for failure to state a claim.

So I'll look, Mr. Morris, for a form of order on those matters.

And then I don't know if you have a viable scheduling order at this point or you'll need to talk amongst yourselves about a form of scheduling order. But I presume you will ask for a scheduling conference if that's what you decide you need to do.

All right. Anything further?

MR. YORK: No, Your Honor. And the parties did, in their, I guess, scheduling order previously submitted relating to the briefing, we did say that, depending on how the Court ruled, we would confer after that on a scheduling order for the remainder of the case.

THE COURT: Okay. I do remember that now. Thank you for reminding me.

Mr. Morris, you're on mute. Were you saying something else?

MR. MORRIS: I was just going to say, I'm very confident that we'll be able to come to a consensual scheduling order in short order.

THE COURT: Okay. All right. Thank you. We are adjourned.

MR. MORRIS: Thank you.

THE CLERK: All rise.

MR. YORK: Thank you, Your Honor.

STIPULATION REGARDING HIGHLAND CAPITAL MANAGEMENT, L.P.'S DEADLINE TO FILE RESPONSE TO PATRICK DAUGHERTY'S MOTION FOR STAY PENDING APPEAL

This stipulation (the "Stipulation") is made and entered into by and between plaintiff Highland Capital Management L.P. ("Highland") and defendant Patrick Daugherty ("Daugherty," and together with Highland, the "Parties"), by and through their respective undersigned counsel. Through this Stipulation, the Parties respectfully state and stipulate as follows:

RECITALS

WHEREAS, on May 2, 2025, Highland commenced the above-captioned adversary proceeding (the "Adversary Proceeding") by filing its Complaint for (1) Disallowance of Claim No. 205 in Its Entirety, (2) Estimation of Claim No. 205 for Allowance Purposes, or (3) Subordination of Any Allowed Portion of Claim No. 205 of Patrick Hagaman Daugherty [Adv. Pro. Docket No. 1] (the "Complaint").

WHEREAS, on June 4, 2025, Daugherty moved to dismiss the Complaint [Adv. Pro. Docket No. 5] (the "Motion to Dismiss") on the ground that it was to be stayed pursuant to the terms of that certain Settlement Agreement by and between Highland and Daugherty (the "Settlement Agreement") approved by the Bankruptcy Court in its Order Approving Settlement Agreement with Patrick Hagaman Daugherty (Claim No. 205) and Authorizing Actions Consistent Therewith [Bankr. Docket No. 3298] (the "Settlement Order").

WHEREAS, on July 18, 2025, Highland filed its opposition to the Motion to Dismiss and cross-moved for relief from the Settlement Order [Adv. Pro. Docket Nos. 9 and 10] (the "Cross Motion") seeking to strike the stay provision from paragraph 9 of the Settlement Agreement.

WHEREAS, on August 8, 2025, Daugherty filed his opposition to the Cross Motion [Adv. Pro. Docket No. 15].

WHEREAS, on September 5, 2025, the Bankruptcy Court entered its Order (A) Denying Patrick Daugherty's Motion to Dismiss and (B) Granting Highland Capital Management, L.P.'s Cross Motion for Relief from a Final Order Pursuant to Bankruptcy Rule 9024 [Adv. Pro. Docket No. 23] (the "9024 Order") granting the Cross Motion and denying the Motion to Dismiss.

WHEREAS, on September 19, 2025, Daugherty commenced his appeal of the 9024 Order (the "Appeal") by filing his Notice of Appeal [Adv. Pro. Docket No. 25].

WHEREAS, the Appeal has been docketed as civil action no. 3:25-cv-02584-E in the United States District Court for the Northern District of Texas, Dallas Division.

WHEREAS, on September 26, 2025, Daugherty filed with the Bankruptcy Court his Motion for Stay Pending Appeal [Adv. Pro. Docket No. 33] (the "Stay Motion") seeking, among other things, stays of (i) the Adversary Proceeding and (ii) enforcement of the 9024 Order.

WHEREAS, pursuant to Federal Rule of Bankruptcy Procedure 8013(a)(3)(A), Highland's deadline to respond to the Stay Motion is October 3, 2025.

WHEREAS, the Parties have conferred and are executing this Stipulation to clarify that Highland's deadline to respond to the Stay Motion shall be extended to Monday, October 6, 2025.

NOW, THEREFORE, IT IS HEREBY JOINTLY STIPULATED AND AGREED AS FOLLOWS:

1. Highland's deadline to respond to Daugherty's Stay Motion is extended to Monday, October 6, 2025.

2. This Stipulation may be executed in counterparts. A facsimile, electronic, or photocopy of this Stipulation and the signatures hereto shall have the same effect and may be accepted with the same authority as if it were an original.

3. The Parties agree that the Court shall retain jurisdiction with respect to all matters arising from or relating to the implementation, interpretation, and enforcement of this Stipulation and any order related thereto.

HIGHLAND CAPITAL MANAGEMENT, L.P., Plaintiff, v. PATRICK HAGAMAN DAUGHERTY, Defendant.	§	Adversary Proceeding No. 25-03055-sgj

ORDER APPROVING STIPULATED SCHEDULING ORDER

Upon consideration of the Stipulated Scheduling Order [Adv. Proc. Docket No. 31] (the "Stipulation")[2] by and between Highland Capital Management, L.P. ("Highland"), the reorganized

[1] Highland's last four digits of its taxpayer identification number are (8357). The headquarters and service address for Highland is 100 Crescent Court, Suite 1850, Dallas, TX 75201.

[2] Capitalized terms not otherwise defined in this Order shall have the meanings set forth in the Stipulation.

debtor in the above-captioned chapter 11 case (the "Bankruptcy Case") and the plaintiff in the above-captioned adversary proceeding (the "Adversary Proceeding"), and Patrick Hagaman Daugherty ("Daugherty," and together with Highland, the "Parties"), it is HEREBY ORDERED THAT:

1. The Stipulation, [3] a copy of which is attached hereto as Exhibit A, is APPROVED.

2. On or before October 3, 2025, Daugherty shall serve and file his answer to the Complaint.

3. The Parties shall serve their written discovery requests (including document requests, interrogatories, and requests for admission) (the "Discovery Requests") on the other Party on or before October 24, 2025, after which no further Discovery Requests shall be served on another Party absent a Court order entered on reasonable notice and upon a showing of good cause.

4. The Parties shall (a) serve written responses and objections to any Discovery Requests on or before November 21, 2025, and (b) be substantially complete with document production on or before December 12, 2025.

5. Subpoenas for third-party discovery (including written discovery and depositions) shall be served on or before December 19, 2025.

6. Fact depositions shall be taken by video between January 5 and January 30, 2026. The Parties shall be limited to five (5) fact depositions per side (except that if multiple corporate representatives are designated, those shall collectively count as one fact deposition), and each fact deposition shall be limited to five (5) hours of testimony, absent further Court order made after reasonable notice and upon good cause shown.

[3] As noted in the Stipulation, Daugherty's agreement to the Stipulation is subject to, and without waiving, his Notice of Appeal [Adv. Pro. Docket No. 25] of the Court's Order [Adv. Pro. Docket No. 23], filed September 19, 2025.

7. The Parties shall confer in good faith as to the identity of witnesses they seek to depose. Notwithstanding the provisions of paragraph 6 of this Order, in an effort to be efficient, reduce the burden on third parties, and avoid motion practice, if the Parties intend to depose the same witness, they shall do so in one day, with Highland having up to three (3) hours of testimony and Daugherty having up to four (4) hours of testimony.

8. Fact discovery (including third-party discovery) shall be completed by January 30, 2026; provided, however, that if a third-party fact witness is unavailable (or refuses to appear) for deposition on or before January 30, 2026, then the deadline for completing third-party witness depositions shall be extended to February 13, 2026, or such later date as the Court may order after reasonable notice and upon good cause shown.

9. On or before February 13, 2026, the Parties shall disclose the identity of any retained expert witness they intend to call at trial, and (b) serve the expert's report in compliance with Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 26(a)(2)(B).

10. On or before March 6, 2026, the Parties shall disclose the identity of any retained rebuttal expert witness they intend to call at trial, and (b) serve the expert's rebuttal report in compliance with Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 26(a)(2)(B).

11. Expert depositions and expert discovery shall be completed by March 23, 2026.

12. Except with respect to impeachment and rebuttal exhibits and witnesses, witness and exhibit lists will be filed on the docket and served on or before March 25, 2026, unless otherwise agreed in writing by the Parties. Objections to exhibits, other than for relevance, shall be filed on or before March 30, 2026, or they shall be deemed waived.

13. A joint pretrial order in compliance with the Court's Local Rules shall be filed on or before April 1, 2026.

14. Any Party wishing to file a trial brief shall file and serve the same on or before April 3, 2026.

15. A one-day evidentiary hearing will be held in person before the Court beginning at 9:30 a.m. (Central Time) on April 8, 2026.

16. All deadlines set forth above are effective as of 5:00 p.m. (Central Time) on each applicable date.

17. The schedule set forth in the Stipulation and this Order shall only be modified in a writing signed by the Parties or upon the entry of an order of the Court entered upon notice to the Parties.

18. The Court shall retain jurisdiction over all disputes arising out of or otherwise concerning the interpretation and enforcement of the Stipulation and this Order.

STIPULATED SCHEDULING ORDER

This stipulation (the "Stipulation") is made and entered into by and between plaintiff Highland Capital Management L.P. (the "Highland" or the "Debtor") and defendant Patrick Daugherty ("Daugherty" and together with Highland, the "Parties"), by and through their respective undersigned counsel, to establish certain deadlines pertaining to the litigation of claims asserted in Highland's Complaint for (1) Disallowance of Claim No. 205 in its Entirety, (2) Estimation of Claim No. 205 for Allowance Purposes, or (3) Subordination of any Allowed Portion of Claim No. 205 of Patrick Hagaman Daugherty [Adv. Pro. Docket No. 1] (the "Complaint"), provided that Daugherty's agreement to this Stipulation is made subject to, and without waiving, his Notice of Appeal [Adv. Pro. Docket No. 25] of the Court's Order [Adv. Pro. Docket No. 23], filed September 19, 2025.

RECITALS

WHEREAS, on October 16, 2019 (the "Petition Date"), the Debtor filed a voluntary petition for relief under chapter 11 of title 11 of the United States Code (the "Bankruptcy Code") in the United States Bankruptcy Court for the District of Delaware, Case No. 19-12239 (CSS) (the "Delaware Court").

WHEREAS, on December 4, 2019, the Delaware Court entered an order transferring venue of the Debtor's bankruptcy case to the United States Bankruptcy Court for the Northern District of Texas, Dallas Division (the "Bankruptcy Court"). Bankr. Docket No. 186.

WHEREAS, on April 1, 2020, Daugherty filed Proof of Claim No. 67 ("Claim 67"), which was superseded and replaced by Proof of Claim No. 77 ("Claim 77").

WHEREAS, on December 23, 2020, Daugherty filed Proof of Claim 205 (the "Claim" or "Claim 205"), which superseded and replaced Claim 77 in its entirety.

WHEREAS, on February 22, 2021, the Bankruptcy Court entered the Order (i) Confirming the Fifth Amended Plan of Reorganization (as Modified) and (ii) Granting Related Relief [Bankr. Docket No. 1943] (the "Confirmation Order") which confirmed the Fifth Amended Plan of Reorganization of Highland Capital Management, L.P., as Modified [Bankr. Docket No. 1808] (the "Plan").

WHEREAS, on December 8, 2021, the Debtor filed Reorganized Debtor's Motion for Entry of an Order Approving Settlement with Patrick Hagaman Daugherty (Claim No. 205) and Authorizing Actions Consistent Therewith [Bankr. Docket No. 3088] (the "Settlement Motion").

WHEREAS, on March 8, 2022, the Bankruptcy Court granted the Settlement Motion [Bankr. Docket No. 3298] (the "Settlement Order"), disallowing Claim 67 and Claim 77 with prejudice and resolving all of Claim 205 other than Daugherty's Reserved Claim (as defined in the Parties' Settlement Agreement approved by the Settlement Order).

WHEREAS, on May 2, 2025, Highland commenced the Adversary Proceeding by filing the Complaint to disallow, estimate or subordinate Daugherty's Reserved Claim.

WHEREAS, on June 4, 2025, Daugherty moved to dismiss the Complaint on the ground that it was to be stayed pursuant to the Parties' Settlement Agreement [Adv. Pro. Docket No. 5] (the "Motion to Dismiss").

WHEREAS, on July 18, 2025, Highland filed its opposition to the Motion to Dismiss and cross-moved for relief from the Settlement Order [Adv. Pro. Docket Nos. 9 and 10] (the "Cross Motion") seeking to strike the stay provision from paragraph 9 of the Settlement Agreement.

WHEREAS, on August 8, 2025, Daugherty filed his opposition to the Cross Motion [Adv. Pro. Docket No. 15].

WHEREAS, on September 4, 2025, after further briefing and oral argument, the Bankruptcy Court granted the Cross Motion, denied the Motion to Dismiss, and requested the Parties confer on a scheduling order for this litigation.

WHEREAS, the Parties have conferred and desire to enter into the proposed scheduling order set forth below.

NOW, THEREFORE, it is hereby stipulated and agreed, and upon approval of this Stipulation by the Bankruptcy Court, it shall be SO ORDERED:

1. On or before October 3, 2025, Daugherty shall serve and file his answer to the Complaint.

2. The Parties shall serve their written discovery requests (including document requests, interrogatories, and requests for admission) (the "Discovery Requests") on the other Party on or before October 24, 2025, after which no further Discovery Requests shall be served on another Party absent a Court order entered on reasonable notice and upon a showing of good cause.

3. The Parties shall (a) serve written responses and objections to any Discovery Requests on or before November 21, 2025, and (b) be substantially complete with document production on or before December 12, 2025.

4. Subpoenas for third-party discovery (including written discovery and depositions) shall be served on or before December 19, 2025.

5. Fact depositions shall be taken by video between January 5 and January 30, 2026. The Parties shall be limited to five (5) fact depositions per side (except that if multiple corporate representatives are designated, those shall collectively count as one fact deposition), and each fact deposition shall be limited to five (5) hours of testimony, absent further Court order made after reasonable notice and upon good cause shown.

6. The Parties shall confer in good faith as to the identity of witnesses they seek to depose. Notwithstanding the provisions of paragraph 5, in an effort to be efficient, reduce the burden on third parties, and avoid motion practice, if the Parties intend to depose the same witness, they shall do so in one day, with Highland having up to three (3) hours of testimony and Daugherty having up to four (4) hours of testimony.

7. Fact discovery (including third-party discovery) shall be completed by January 30, 2026; provided, however, that if a third-party fact witness is unavailable (or refuses to appear) for deposition on or before January 30, 2026, then the deadline for completing third-party witness depositions shall be extended to February 13, 2026, or such later date as the Court may order after reasonable notice and upon good cause shown.

8. On or before February 13, 2026, the Parties shall disclose the identity of any retained expert witness they intend to call at trial, and (b) serve the expert's report in compliance with Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 26(a)(2)(B).

9. On or before March 6, 2026, the Parties shall disclose the identity of any retained rebuttal expert witness they intend to call at trial, and (b) serve the expert's rebuttal report in compliance with Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 26(a)(2)(B).

10. Expert depositions and expert discovery shall be completed by March 23, 2026.

11. Except with respect to impeachment and rebuttal exhibits and witnesses, witness and exhibit lists will be filed on the docket and served on or before March 25, 2026, unless otherwise agreed in writing by the Parties. Objections to exhibits, other than for relevance, shall be filed on or before March 30, 2026, or they shall be deemed waived.

12. A joint pretrial order in compliance with the Court's Local Rules shall be filed on or before April 1, 2026.

13. Any Party wishing to file a trial brief shall file and serve the same on or before April 3, 2026.

14. A one-day evidentiary hearing will be held in person before the Court on April 8, 2026.

15. All deadlines set forth above are effective as of 5:00 p.m. (Central Time) on each applicable date.

16. If approved by the Court, this Stipulation shall only be modified in a writing signed by the Parties or upon the entry of an order of the Court entered upon notice to the Parties.

17. The Court shall retain jurisdiction over all disputes arising out of or otherwise concerning the interpretation and enforcement of this Stipulation.

STIPULATION REGARDING HIGHLAND CAPITAL MANAGEMENT, L.P.'S DEADLINE TO FILE RESPONSE TO PATRICK DAUGHERTY'S MOTION FOR STAY PENDING APPEAL

This stipulation (the "Stipulation") is made and entered into by and between plaintiff Highland Capital Management L.P. ("Highland") and defendant Patrick Daugherty ("Daugherty," and together with Highland, the "Parties"), by and through their respective undersigned counsel. Through this Stipulation, the Parties respectfully state and stipulate as follows:

RECITALS

WHEREAS, on May 2, 2025, Highland commenced the above-captioned adversary proceeding (the "Adversary Proceeding") by filing its Complaint for (1) Disallowance of Claim No. 205 in Its Entirety, (2) Estimation of Claim No. 205 for Allowance Purposes, or (3) Subordination of Any Allowed Portion of Claim No. 205 of Patrick Hagaman Daugherty [Adv. Pro. Docket No. 1] (the "Complaint").

WHEREAS, on June 4, 2025, Daugherty moved to dismiss the Complaint [Adv. Pro. Docket No. 5] (the "Motion to Dismiss") on the ground that it was to be stayed pursuant to the terms of that certain Settlement Agreement by and between Highland and Daugherty (the "Settlement Agreement") approved by the Bankruptcy Court in its Order Approving Settlement Agreement with Patrick Hagaman Daugherty (Claim No. 205) and Authorizing Actions Consistent Therewith [Bankr. Docket No. 3298] (the "Settlement Order").

WHEREAS, on July 18, 2025, Highland filed its opposition to the Motion to Dismiss and cross-moved for relief from the Settlement Order [Adv. Pro. Docket Nos. 9 and 10] (the "Cross Motion") seeking to strike the stay provision from paragraph 9 of the Settlement Agreement.

WHEREAS, on August 8, 2025, Daugherty filed his opposition to the Cross Motion [Adv. Pro. Docket No. 15].

WHEREAS, on September 5, 2025, the Bankruptcy Court entered its Order (A) Denying Patrick Daugherty's Motion to Dismiss and (B) Granting Highland Capital Management, L.P.'s Cross Motion for Relief from a Final Order Pursuant to Bankruptcy Rule 9024 [Adv. Pro. Docket No. 23] (the "9024 Order") granting the Cross Motion and denying the Motion to Dismiss.

WHEREAS, on September 19, 2025, Daugherty commenced his appeal of the 9024 Order (the "Appeal") by filing his Notice of Appeal [Adv. Pro. Docket No. 25].

WHEREAS, the Appeal has been docketed as civil action no. 3:25-cv-02584-E in the United States District Court for the Northern District of Texas, Dallas Division.

WHEREAS, on September 26, 2025, Daugherty filed with the Bankruptcy Court his Motion for Stay Pending Appeal [Adv. Pro. Docket No. 33] (the "Stay Motion") seeking, among other things, stays of (i) the Adversary Proceeding and (ii) enforcement of the 9024 Order.

WHEREAS, pursuant to Federal Rule of Bankruptcy Procedure 8013(a)(3)(A), Highland's deadline to respond to the Stay Motion is October 3, 2025.

WHEREAS, the Parties have conferred and are executing this Stipulation to clarify that Highland's deadline to respond to the Stay Motion shall be extended to Monday, October 6, 2025.

NOW, THEREFORE, IT IS HEREBY JOINTLY STIPULATED AND AGREED AS FOLLOWS:

1. Highland's deadline to respond to Daugherty's Stay Motion is extended to Monday, October 6, 2025.

2. This Stipulation may be executed in counterparts. A facsimile, electronic, or photocopy of this Stipulation and the signatures hereto shall have the same effect and may be accepted with the same authority as if it were an original.

3. The Parties agree that the Court shall retain jurisdiction with respect to all matters arising from or relating to the implementation, interpretation, and enforcement of this Stipulation and any order related thereto.

Counsel to Patrick Daugherty

IN THE UNITED STATES BANKRUPTCY COURT
FOR THE NORTHERN DISTRICT OF TEXAS
DALLAS DIVISION

In re:	§	Chapter 11
HIGHLAND CAPITAL MANAGEMENT, L.P.,[1]	§	Case No. 19-34054 (SGJ)
Reorganized Debtor.	§
HIGHLAND CAPITAL MANAGEMENT, L.P.,	§
Plaintiff,	§
v.	§
PATRICK HAGAMAN DAUGHERTY,	§	Adversary No. 25-03055
Defendant.	§

[1] Highland's last four digits of its taxpayer identification number are (8357). The headquarters and service address for Highland is 100 Crescent Court, Suite 1850, Dallas, TX 75201.

PATRICK DAUGHERTY'S ANSWER TO PLAINTIFF HIGHLAND CAPITAL MANAGEMENT, L.P.'S COMPLAINT FOR (1) DISALLOWANCE OF CLAIM NO. 205 IN ITS ENTIRETY, (2) ESTIMATION OF CLAIM NO. 205 FOR ALLOWANCE PURPOSES, OR (3) SUBORDINATION OF ANY ALLOWED PORTION OF CLAIM NO. 205 OF PATRICK HAGAMAN DAUGHERTY [DOC. NO. 1] AND ORIGINAL COUNTERCLAIM[2]

Defendant Patrick Daugherty files this Answer to Plaintiff Highland Capital Management, L.P.'s Complaint for (1) Disallowance of Claim No. 205 in its Entirety, (2) Estimation of Claim No. 205 for Allowance Purposes, or (3) Subordination of Any Allowed Portion of Claim No. 205 of Patrick Hagaman Daugherty [Doc. No. 1] and Original Counterclaim and would respectfully show the Court as follows:

I. ANSWER TO PRELIMINARY STATEMENT

1. Daugherty admits that he is a former employee of, and former limited partner as a profits interest holder in, Highland. Daugherty admits that he asserted a creditor's claim (Claim No. 205) against Highland and that he and Highland entered into a binding settlement agreement. Daugherty denies the remaining allegations in Paragraph 1.

2. Daugherty denies the allegations in Paragraph 2 based on Highland's characterization of the funds Daugherty received from Highland and the effect of those funds on his claims.

3. Daugherty denies the allegations in Paragraph 3.

[2] Daugherty files this Answer and Counterclaim without waiving the rights and arguments he asserts in his September 26, 2025 Motion to Stay Pending Appeal [Doc. No. 33] currently pending before the Court, as well as his Motion to Dismiss [Doc. No. 5] which the Court denied on September 5, 2025 [Doc. No. 23].

4. Daugherty admits that his remaining claim against Highland depends, at least in part, on the result of the IRS' "final determination" of Highland's 2008 tax return. Daugherty denies the remaining allegations in Paragraph 4.

II. ANSWER TO JURISDICTION AND VENUE

5. Daugherty admits the allegations in Paragraph 5.

6. Daugherty admits the allegations in Paragraph 6.

7. Daugherty admits the allegations in Paragraph 7.

8. Daugherty admits the allegations in Paragraph 8.

III. ANSWER TO PARTIES

9. Daugherty admits the allegations in Paragraph 9.

10. Daugherty admits the allegations in Paragraph 10.

IV. ANSWER TO STATEMENT OF FACTS

11. Daugherty admits the allegations in Paragraph 11.

12. Daugherty admits the allegations in Paragraph 12.

13. Daugherty admits the allegations in Paragraph 13.

14. Daugherty admits the allegations in Paragraph 14.

15. Daugherty admits the allegations in Paragraph 15.

16. Daugherty admits that he was hired by Highland in 1998 and that he later became eligible to participate in various Highland incentive plans including Highland's long-term incentive plan. Daugherty denies the remaining allegations in Paragraph 16.

17. Daugherty admits the Highland was a limited partnership and a pass-through entity as alleged in Paragraph 17 but denies any actual or implied characterization that Daugherty's 2008 pre-tax refund was based on taxable losses or that he or any partner other that Dondero, Okada, and their affiliates were ever allowed to participate in pass-through distributions from Highland.

18. Daugherty admits that Highland provided him with the Comprehensive Compensation and Benefits Statement, but Daugherty denies the allegation that such statement was entirely accurate and reserves the right to dispute same.

19. Daugherty admits that the Comprehensive Compensation and Benefits Statement included a characterized estimated tax refund, but Daugherty denies the allegation that such statement was entirely accurate and reserves the right to dispute the same. Daugherty otherwise denies any remaining allegations in Paragraph 19.

20. In response to the allegations in Paragraph 20, Daugherty admits that Highland provided him with the Comprehensive Compensation and Benefits Statement, but Daugherty denies the allegation that such statement was entirely accurate and reserves the right to dispute same.

21. Daugherty denies the characterization of the allegations in Paragraph 21 to the extent that the quotes cited therein refer to non-binding statements or assertions made by or to Daugherty.

22. Daugherty admits that the allegations in Paragraph 22 reflect some of what was included on the 2008 K-1, but Daugherty denies the reference to him receiving what "he was promised . . . if not more" to the extent it refers to something that alters the relevant, binding contractual language.

23. Daugherty admits that the IRS began an audit of Highland's 2008 tax return but denies that all "obligations" to Daugherty have been satisfied. To the best of Daugherty's belief, the IRS audit is not yet fully resolved.

24. Daugherty admits that he terminated his employment with Highland on October 31, 2011, because of improprieties regarding treatment of investor accounts, among other things, but Daugherty denies the allegations to the extent Highland interprets them to constitute a waiver on Daugherty's behalf.

25. Daugherty admits that Claim No. 205 originally estimated Highland was liable to him for $2,650,353 among other costs. Daugherty otherwise denies the allegations in Paragraph 25.

26. Daugherty denies the allegations in Paragraph 26.

27. Daugherty denies the allegations in Paragraph 27.

V. ANSWER TO CLAIMS FOR RELIEF

28. Daugherty denies the allegations in Paragraph 28 to the extent they seek to present prior opinions and legal conclusions as statements of verifiable fact.

29. Paragraph 29 contains statements that are legal conclusions for which no response is required. To the extent a response is required Daugherty denies the allegations.

30. Paragraph 30 contains statements that are legal conclusions for which no response is required. To the extent a response is required Daugherty denies the allegations.

31. Daugherty admits that he earned bonus compensation from Highland in 2008 that was allocatable to him pursuant to Highland's decision to fund the bonus with the tax refund scheme, but Daugherty denies Highland's characterization of same in the allegations in Paragraph 31.

32. Daugherty denies the allegations in Paragraph 32.

33. Daugherty denies the allegations in Paragraph 33.

34. Daugherty denies the allegations in Paragraph 34 to the extent they seek to present prior opinions and legal conclusions as statements of verifiable fact.

35. Daugherty denies the allegations in Paragraph 35.

36. Paragraph 36 contains statements that are legal conclusions for which no response is required. To the extent a response is required Daugherty denies the allegations and further denies the statute governs given the express language of the settlement agreement between Daugherty and Highland.

37. Daugherty admits the allegations in the first sentence of Paragraph 37. Daugherty lacks information to admit or deny the second sentence of Paragraph 37 and therefore denies it.

38. Daugherty admits the allegations in Paragraph 38.

39. Daugherty denies the allegations (and requests for relief) in Paragraph 39.

40. Daugherty denies the allegations in Paragraph 40 to the extent they seek to present prior opinions and legal conclusions as statements of verifiable fact.

41. Paragraph 41 contains legal conclusions for which a response is not required. To the extent a response is required Daugherty denies the allegations.

42. Paragraph 42 contains legal conclusions for which a response is not required. To the extent a response is required, Daugherty denies the allegations.

43. Daugherty admits he owned the Partnership Interests in the form of a profits interest in Highland but denies the remaining allegations in Paragraph 43.

44. Daugherty denies the allegations in Paragraph 44.

45. Daugherty denies the allegations (and request for relief) in Paragraph 45.

VI. PRAYER

Daugherty denies that Highland is entitled to any of the relief requested in its Complaint, or to any relief whatsoever, and requests that Highland's claims be dismissed with prejudice. Daugherty further requests that the Court award it costs and any other relief the Court deems proper.

VII. AFFIRMATIVE DEFENSES

1. Further answering Highland's claims, Daugherty asserts the following defenses without assuming any burden that he would not otherwise have, including without admitting or acknowledging that he bears the burden of proof as to any of the defenses denoted herein.

Prior Material Breach

2. Highland's claims are barred in whole or in part by its prior material breach of the governing employment agreement as well as the settlement agreement previously approved by this Court.

Failure to State a Claim

3. Highland's claims are barred in whole or in part by their failure to state a claim upon which relief can be granted.

Equitable Estoppel

4. Highland's claims are barred in whole or in part by the doctrine of equitable estoppel. Highland and Daugherty entered into a binding settlement agreement wherein Daugherty gave up various rights and claims in exchange for a bargained-for agreement that Highland would not commence litigation under the IRS has concluded audit of Highland's 2008 tax return. Highland's decision to seek judicial modification of a binding contract prevents it from having the equitable right to relief. Highland should be estopped from bringing the immediate litigation against Daugherty.

Failure of Consideration

5. Highland's claims fail because they are based upon a settlement agreement that was modified without consideration. Daugherty and Highland engaged in robust and detailed negotiations that ultimately culminated in the binding settlement agreement between the parties. Highland's decision to seek judicial modification of the settlement agreement—without providing substitute consideration to Daugherty—renders the Settlement Agreement unenforceable due to failure of consideration.

COUNTERCLAIM AGAINST PLAINTIFF/COUNTER DEFENDANT HIGHLAND CAPITAL MANAGEMENT, L.P.

Defendant/Counter-Plaintiff Patrick Hagaman Daugherty files this Original Counterclaim Against Plaintiff/Counter-Defendant Highland Capital Management, L.P. and would show the Court as follows:

PRELIMINARY STATEMENT

1. On November 22, 2021, Daugherty and Highland signed a Settlement Agreement wherein Daugherty acquired the "interests in HERA and ERA." The Settlement Agreement also mandated that Highland transfer the books and records of HERA (Highland Employee Retention Assets LLC) and ERA (Highland ERA Management LLC) that are "maintained on HCMLP's system." Despite demand, however, Highland refused and failed to turn over all books and records in its possession related to HERA and ERA – entities that Daugherty and his affiliates now own in their entirety. Highland's failure in this regard is a breach of the Settlement Agreement.

2. Daugherty's demand is even more urgent given Highland's latest filing in the main bankruptcy through which Highland seeks to destroy a significant amount of the records in its possession (under the guise of saving $7,500/month). As the Court is aware, there is extensive litigation between HERA and Dondero and his enablers in other forums. Daugherty bargained for and obtained the interests in HERA and acquired the rights to the HERA books and records in Highland's possession. HERA needs those books and records to continue litigating its claims against James Dondero and other former Highland employees and representatives. The Court should enforce the Settlement Agreement as written and require Highland to turn over to Daugherty what is rightfully his.

JURISDICTION AND VENUE

3. Jurisdiction and venue are proper in this Court for the reasons alleged and authorities cited in Highland's Complaint [Doc. No. 1] and pursuant to Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 13, as incorporated by Federal Rule of Bankruptcy Procedure 7013.

PARTIES

4. Defendant/Counter-Plaintiff Patrick Hagaman Daugherty is an individual residing in the State of Texas.

5. Plaintiff/Counter-Defendant Highland Capital Management, L.P. is a Delaware limited partnership with its principal place of business located at 100 Crescent Court, Suite 1850, Dallas, Texas 75201. Highland has appeared in this adversary proceeding through its attorneys of record.

FACTUAL BACKGROUND

6. Daugherty and Highland executed a Settlement Agreement on November 22, 2021, that provided clarity for both parties as the main bankruptcy case proceeded towards confirmation.

Main Case Docket No. 3088, 3089.[3] The Court approved the Settlement Agreement on March 8, 2022. Id.

7. Through the Settlement Agreement, Highland agreed to transfer to Daugherty Highland's interests in Highland Employee Retention Assets LLC ("HERA") and ERA Management, LLC ("ERA"). Specifically, the Settlement Agreement provided that, "[Highland] will transfer its interests in HERA and ERA to Daugherty. Such transfer will include the HERA and ERA books and records (spreadsheet) maintained on [Highland's] system." Id.

8. The Settlement Agreement was not permissive or discretionary in this regard. The Settlement Agreement required that Highland "will" do these things. Since March 2022, however, Daugherty has made several requests to Highland that it comply with the Settlement Agreement by turning over all of the HERA and ERA books and records. To date, Highland has not complied – and in fact has refused to do so. Daugherty, therefore, brings this counterclaim against Highland.

CAUSES OF ACTION

Count I – Breach of Contract

9. Daugherty incorporates by reference the above paragraphs.

10. On November 22, 2021, after extensive negotiations, Daugherty and Highland executed a binding contract – the Settlement Agreement. The Court approved the Settlement Agreement on March 8, 2022.

11. Daugherty performed and satisfied all obligations that the Settlement Agreement imposed upon him.

[3] All capitalized terms used but not defined in this motion shall have the same definitions as they have in the Settlement Agreement at Main Case Doc. No. 3089. The Settlement Agreement is also attached as Exhibit A.

12. Highland breached the Settlement Agreement by refusing to turn over all the HERA and ERA books and records in Highland's possession. Settlement Agreement at ¶ 8 (Highland agreed to turn over to Daugherty all "interests in HERA and ERA to Daugherty…Such transfer will include the HERA and ERA books and records (spreadsheet) maintained on HCMLP's system.").

13. HERA is currently engaged in litigation with Dondero and others in the case styled Highland Employee Retention Assets LLC v. James Donero, et al., Civil Action No. 3:24-cv-00498-K, pending in the United States District Court for the Northern District of Texas. That litigation centers on Dondero's mismanagement of the monetary contributions that numerous Highland employees made into retirement vehicles managed by HERA. But because of Dondero's and others' underhanded efforts to fraudulently transfer assets to benefit themselves and others, those contributions were funneled out of HERA and into various entities and accounts controlled by Dondero, Okada, Ellington and their affiliates.

14. Daugherty bargained for and obtained Highland's interests in HERA as well as Highland's books and records related to HERA. There is no question that Highland breached the Settlement Agreement by refusing to turn over all of those books and records. And as evidenced by Highland's Motion for Order Authorizing Destruction of Documents filed in the main bankruptcy, Highland clearly has no intention of honoring its commitment to turn over documents. See Main Bankruptcy Doc. No. 4416. In fact, Highland wants to destroy the very records it contractually promised to turn over to Daugherty.

15. Daugherty asks this Court to find that Highland breached the Settlement Agreement.

Count II – Specific Performance

16. Daugherty incorporates by reference the above paragraphs.

17. The Settlement Agreement is a binding contract that Daugherty has not repudiated or breached.

18. Daugherty performed and satisfied all obligations that the Settlement Agreement imposed upon him.

19. Highland breached the Settlement Agreement by refusing to turn over all the HERA and ERA books and records in Highland's possession. Settlement Agreement at ¶ 8 (Highland agreed to turn over to Daugherty all "interests in HERA and ERA to Daugherty…Such transfer will include the HERA and ERA books and records (spreadsheet) maintained on HCMLP's system.").

20. At all relevant times, Daugherty has been ready, willing, and able to work with Highland to effectuate the transfer of the HERA and ERA books and records.

21. Because of Highland's unique position as the sole custodian of the HERA and ERA books and records that Highland agreed to turn over to Daugherty, the circumstances are such that Daugherty cannot recover absent the Court ordering specific performance. The Court's specific performance order against Highland would be the just result, as the balance of equities tips in favor of Daugherty. See generally Osborn v. Kemp, 991 A.2d 1153, 1158 (Del. 2010).

22. If the Court does not order Highland to comply with the terms of the Settlement Agreement and turn over the relevant books and records, Daugherty will be irreparably harmed. HERA will be unable to adequately pursue its litigation against Dondero, Okada, Ellington and the others.

Count III – Attorneys' Fees

23. Daugherty incorporates by reference the above paragraphs.

24. As a result of Highland's bad faith conduct and breach of the Settlement Agreement, Daugherty has been forced to retain the services of the undersigned counsel to pursue his claims in this case. Because Delaware law governs the Settlement Agreement, Daugherty asks the Court to award him his reasonable and necessary attorneys' fees due to Highland's bad faith conduct. See generally Tandycrafts, Inc. v. Initio Partners, 562 A.2d 1162, 1164 (Del. 1989); see also Slawik v. State, 480 A.2d 636, 639 n. 5 (Del. 1984). The requirements of the Settlement Agreement are clear – Highland "will" turn over the HERA and ERA books and records to Daugherty. In bad faith, Highland has refused to do so, and the Court should award Daugherty his attorneys' fees accordingly.

CONCLUSION AND PRAYER

Defendant Patrick Hagaman Daugherty prays that the Court render final judgment that Highland takes nothing by its suit and award Daugherty a judgment against Highland for:

a. Specific performance against Highland that it be required to turn over the books and records in its possession related to HERA and ERA;

b. Daugherty's actual and compensable damages, if any;

c. Daugherty's reasonable and necessary attorneys' fees;

d. All costs of court;

e. Post-judgment interest accruing on the foregoing amounts at the maximum rate allowed by law; and

f. Any such further relief, both general and specific, legal or equitable, to which Daugherty may be justly entitled.

EXHIBIT A

Final Execution Copy

SETTLEMENT AGREEMENT

This Settlement Agreement (the "Settlement") is made and entered into by and between (i) Highland Capital Management, L.P., as reorganized debtor ("HCMLP" or the "Debtor"), and (ii) Patrick Hagaman Daugherty ("Daugherty" and together with HCMLP, the "Parties," and individually as a "Party"). This Settlement provides for the treatment of certain claims asserted by Daugherty against the Debtor, and for the Parties to take certain other specified actions in settlement thereof.

RECITALS

WHEREAS, on October 16, 2019 (the "Petition Date"), the Debtor filed a voluntary petition for relief under title 11 of the United States Code (the "Bankruptcy Code");

WHEREAS, the Debtor's chapter 11 case (the "Bankruptcy") is pending in the Bankruptcy Court for the Northern District of Texas, Dallas Division (the "Bankruptcy Court");

WHEREAS, on February 2 and 3, 2021, the Court conducted a confirmation hearing with respect to the Fifth Amended Plan of Reorganization of Highland Capital Management, L.P. (as Modified) [Docket No. 1808] (the "Plan");

WHEREAS, on February 8, 2021, the Court rendered an opinion from the bench in which it confirmed the Plan [Docket No. 1924];

WHEREAS, on February 22, 2021, the Court issued an order confirming the Plan [Docket No. 1943];

WHEREAS, on August 11, 2021, the Effective Date (as defined in the Plan) occurred [Docket No. 2700];

WHEREAS, Daugherty is a former employee and limited partner of the Debtor and has served in other positions with affiliates and former affiliates of the Debtor;

WHEREAS, at the time of his resignation, Daugherty owned 19.1% of the preferred units of Highland Employee Retention Assets LLC ("HERA"), an employee deferred compensation vehicle managed by the Debtor and Highland ERA Management, LLC ("ERA") and contends that he owned or had the right to own all of the preferred units of HERA;

WHEREAS, prior to his resignation from HCMLP, Daugherty was awarded units of HERA, which vehicle owned interests in Restoration Capital Partners, LP ("RCP"), an HCMLP managed private equity fund, and other investments;

WHEREAS, in April 2012, the Debtor commenced an action against Daugherty in Texas state court (the "Texas Action"), and Daugherty subsequently asserted counterclaims for breach of contract and defamation, and third-party claims against HERA and others;

WHEREAS, after a three-week trial, the jury returned a verdict partially in favor of the Debtor, but Daugherty prevailed on his claims against the Debtor and James Dondero ("Dondero") for defamation with malice and a third-party claim against HERA and was awarded damages of $2.6 million against HERA, plus prejudgment and post-judgment interest at 5% (the "HERA Judgment");[1]

WHEREAS, in July 2017, after being unable to collect on the HERA Judgment, Daugherty commenced an action against the Debtor, Dondero, HERA, and ERA Management in the Delaware Chancery Court (the "Delaware Court"), in a case captioned Daugherty v. Highland Capital Management, L.P., et al., C.A. No. 2017-0488-MTZ, for fraudulent transfer, promissory estoppel, unjust enrichment, indemnification, and fees on fees (the "Highland Delaware Case");

[1] The Debtor prevailed on its claims against Mr. Daugherty for breach of contract and breach of fiduciary duty for non-monetary damages and obtained an award of $2.8 million in attorney's fees. The HERA Judgment was affirmed on appeal on December 1, 2016.

WHEREAS, the Delaware Court in the Highland Delaware Case (i) found that the Dondero-related defendants improperly withheld dozens of documents in discovery on privilege grounds, and (ii) ruled that there was "a reasonable basis to believe that a fraud has been perpetrated" such that the Delaware Court applied the "crime-fraud exception" to the attorney-client privilege assertion, and such rulings have not been overturned;

WHEREAS, Daugherty asserts that such withholding of documents and the failure to search defendants' and their employees personal electronic devices for stored documents and texts as well as other emails and domain names such as sasmgt.com and gmail.com which were in their possession and control and to provide required discovery injured him by undermining his attempts to build an evidentiary record to support his claims against the Debtor and the other defendants in the Highland Delaware Case;

WHEREAS, on October 14, 2019, the Highland Delaware Case proceeded to trial and two days later, on October 16, 2019, before the completion of the trial and before the Delaware Court ruled on Daugherty's and the Debtor's cross-motions for summary judgment regarding indemnification and fees on fees, the Debtor filed for bankruptcy;

WHEREAS, on December 1, 2019, Daugherty filed a separate lawsuit in the Delaware Court, captioned Daugherty v. Dondero, et al., C.A. No. 2019-0956-MTZ, against Dondero, HERA, ERA, Hunton Andrews Kurth LLP ("Andrews Kurth"), Marc Katz ("Katz"), Michael Hurst ("Hurst"), the Debtor's Chief Compliance Officer, the Debtor's then in-house counsel (Isaac Leventon ("Leventon")), and the Debtor's then general counsel (Scott Ellington ("Ellington")), for conspiracy to commit fraud, among other claims (the "HERA Delaware Case" and together with the Highland Delaware Case, the "Delaware Cases");

WHEREAS, on April 1, 2020, Daugherty filed a general, unsecured, non-priority claim against the Debtor in the amount of at "least $37,483,876.59," and such claim was denoted by the Debtor's claims agent as Proof of Claim No. 67 ("Proof of Claim No. 67");

WHEREAS, on April 6, 2020, Daugherty filed a general, unsecured, non-priority claim against the Debtor in the amount of at "least $37,482,876.62" that superseded Proof of Claim No. 67 and that was denoted by the Debtor's claims agent as Proof of Claim No. 77 ("Proof of Claim No. 77");

WHEREAS, on August 31, 2020, the Debtor commenced an adversary proceeding against Daugherty by filing a complaint (the "Complaint") in which the Debtor: (1) objected to Proof of Claim No. 77 on various grounds (the "Claim Objection"), and (2) asserted a cause of action for the subordination of part of Daugherty's claim pursuant to section 510(b) of the Bankruptcy Code. Adv. Proc. No. 20-03107 (the "Adv. Proc.") [Adv. Docket No. 1] (the "Adversary Proceeding");

WHEREAS, on September 29, 2020, Daugherty filed his answer to the Complaint [Adv. Docket No. 8] (the "Answer");

WHEREAS, on September 24, 2020, Daugherty filed his Motion to Confirm Status of Automatic Stay, or Alternatively to Modify Automatic Stay [Docket No. 1099] (the "Stay Motion") pursuant to which he sought to sever the Debtor from the Highland Delaware Case and then consolidate the remaining claims in the Highland Delaware Case into the HERA Delaware Case and proceed with one case against the non-Debtor parties;[2]

WHEREAS, on October 23, 2020, Daugherty filed a motion seeking leave to amend his Proof of Claim No. 77 [Docket No. 1280] (the "POC Amendment Motion"). The amended proof

[2] On October 8, 2020, the Debtor commenced a second adversary proceeding against Daugherty (the "Second Adversary Proceeding"), seeking to enjoin him from prosecuting the Delaware Cases. Adv. Proc. 20-03128 ("2d Adv. Proc.") [2d Adv. Proc. Docket No. 1]. On January 29, 2021, the parties filed a Settlement that resolved the Second Adversary Proceeding, and the Second Adversary Proceeding was subsequently dismissed with prejudice. [2d Adv. Proc. Docket No. 12].

of claim attached to the POC Amendment Motion increased Daugherty's general, unsecured, non-priority claim against the Debtor to the amount of at "least $40,410,819.42" and sought to supersede Proof of Claim No. 67 and Proof of Claim No. 77;

WHEREAS, on October 23, 2020, Daugherty filed his Motion for Temporary Allowance of Claim for Voting Purposes Pursuant to Bankruptcy Rule 3018 Motion, seeking for his Claim to be temporarily allowed for voting purposes in this amount of $40,410,819.42 [Docket No. 1281] (the "3018 Motion");

WHEREAS, on November 3, 2020, the Court granted the Stay Motion [Docket No. 1327];

WHEREAS, the Debtor opposed the 3018 Motion, and after conducting an evidentiary hearing for the limited purpose of determining the 3018 Motion, the Court entered an order temporarily allowing Daugherty's Claim only for voting purposes in the amount of $9,134,019 [Docket No. 1474];

WHEREAS, on December 10, 2020, the Court entered an order [Docket No. 1533] granting the POC Amendment Motion, and Daugherty was permitted to file an amendment to his proof of claim. On December 23, 2020, Daugherty filed an amended proof of claim, designated by the Debtor's claim agent as Proof of Claim No. 205 ("Proof of Claim No. 205" or the "Daugherty Claim"). Proof of Claim No. 205 superseded Proof of Claim No. 77 and increased the amount of the Daugherty's Claim to $40,710,819.42;

WHEREAS, on November 30, 2020, Daugherty filed his Motion to Lift the Automatic Stay (the "Lift Stay Motion") [Docket No. 1491] seeking to lift the automatic stay to allow him to finish his trial in the Delaware Court and liquidate his claims. The Debtor opposed the Lift Stay Motion, and after a hearing was held on December 17, 2020, the Court denied the relief requested in the Lift Stay Motion [Docket No. 1612];

WHEREAS, except with respect to the Reserved Claim (as defined below), the Parties have agreed to settle and resolve all claims and disputes between them and their respective current affiliates, managed entities, and employees, including the Daugherty Claim, on the terms set forth in this Settlement:

AGREEMENT

NOW, THEREFORE, after good-faith, arms-length negotiations, and in consideration of the foregoing, it is hereby stipulated and agreed that:

1. Allowed Claims: In full satisfaction of the entirety of the Daugherty Claim against the Debtor and HCMLP Released Parties (defined below), excluding the Reserved Claim, Daugherty shall receive (a) an allowed general unsecured Class 8 claim in the amount of $8,250,000; (b) an allowed subordinated general unsecured Class 9 claim in the amount of $3,750,000; and (c) a one-time lump sum cash payment in the amount of $750,000 to be paid within 5 business days of Bankruptcy Court approval of this Settlement Agreement.

2. Recovery: The Debtor makes no representation or warranty as to the recovery on Class 8 or Class 9 claims under the Plan.

3. Observation Access: As soon as practicable following entry of an order of the Bankruptcy Court approving this Settlement, HCMLP shall use reasonable efforts to petition the Claimant Trust Oversight Board[3] to permit Daugherty to have access as an observer to meetings of the Claimant Trust Oversight Board, subject to policies, procedures, and agreements applicable to other observers of the Claimant Trust Oversight Board, including policies, procedures, and agreements related to confidentiality and common interest. Whether Daugherty will be granted observer access and any continuing observer access is and will remain at the sole discretion of the

[3] The Claimant Trust Oversight Board refers to the Oversight Board as defined in the August 11, 2021 Highland Claimant Trust Agreement establishing the Claimant Trust, as defined therein.

Claimant Trust Oversight Board.

4. RCP Track Record: HCMLP shall use reasonable efforts to provide Daugherty with data constituting the investment performance track record of RCP during Daugherty's tenure at HCMLP. Daugherty shall not be entitled to any compensation with respect to the performance of RCP. HCMLP makes no representations or warranties regarding such data and takes no responsibility with respect to the use of such data for any purposes.

5. Daugherty Releases: Except as specifically provided in this paragraph 5, and to the maximum extent permitted by applicable law, the Debtor, on behalf of itself and each of the HCMLP Entities and HCMLP Parties (as those terms are defined in paragraph 6 below), hereby forever, finally, fully, unconditionally, and completely releases, relieves, acquits, remises, and exonerates, and covenants never to sue Daugherty, his successors, affiliates, and assigns, (and in each such category to include their respective advisors, trustees, directors, officers, managers, members, partners, employees, beneficiaries, shareholders, agents, participants, subsidiaries, parents, affiliates, and designees) (collectively, the "Daugherty Additional Release Parties" and together with Daugherty, the "Daugherty Released Parties"), in each case acting in such capacity, for and from any and all claims, debts, liabilities, demands, obligations, promises, acts, agreements, liens, losses, costs and expenses (including, without limitation, attorney's fees and related costs), damages, injuries, suits, actions, and causes of action of whatever kind or nature, whether known or unknown, suspected or unsuspected, matured or unmatured, liquidated or unliquidated, contingent or fixed, at law or in equity, statutory or otherwise, including, without limitation those which were or could have been asserted in the Bankruptcy, including the Adversary Proceeding, the Texas Action, or the Delaware Cases, all existing as of the date hereof (collectively, the "HCMLP Released Claims"); provided, however, that such release shall not apply with respect to any and all defenses that HCMLP or the HCMLP Entities may have to the Reserved Claim or the Reserve Motion (as those terms are defined herein) or Daugherty's obligations under this Settlement. For the avoidance of doubt, the HCMLP Released Claims include all claims or causes of action and facts, known or unknown, that exist as of the date hereof but do not include or apply to claims or causes of action based on facts occurring after the date hereof.

6. HCMLP Releases: Except as specifically provided in this paragraph 6, and to the maximum extent permitted by law, Daugherty, on behalf of himself and each of the Daugherty Released Parties, hereby forever, finally, fully, unconditionally, and completely releases, relieves, acquits, remises, and exonerates, and covenants never to sue, (a)(i) HCMLP; (ii) Strand Advisors Inc.; (iii) the Claimant Trust; (iv) the Claimant Trust Oversight Board; (v) the Highland Litigation Sub-Trust; (vi) the Highland Indemnity Trust; (vii) any entity of which greater than fifty percent of the voting ownership is held directly or indirectly by HCMLP as of the date hereof and any entity otherwise directly or indirectly controlled by HCMLP as of the date hereof,; and (viii) any entity managed by either HCMLP or a direct or indirect subsidiary of HCMLP, including Highland Restoration Capital Partners, L.P., Highland Restoration Capital Partners Offshore, L.P., Highland Restoration Capital Master, L.P. (and all of their respective general partners, feeder funds, managers, and affiliates) (the foregoing (a)(i) through (a)(viii) the "HCMLP Entities"), and (b) with respect to each such HCMLP Entity, such HCMLP Entity's respective current (meaning employed in their respective roles as of the date hereof) advisors, trustees, directors, officers, managers, members, partners, employees, beneficiaries, shareholders (but not the shareholders of Strand Advisors Inc.), agents, participants, subsidiaries, parents, affiliates, successors, designees, and assigns, except as expressly set forth below (the "HCMLP Parties," and together with the HCMLP Entities, the "HCMLP Released Parties"),[4] in each case acting in such capacity, for and from any and all claims, debts, liabilities, demands, obligations, promises, acts, agreements, liens, losses, costs and expenses (including, without limitation, attorney's fees and related costs), damages, injuries, suits, actions, and causes of action of whatever kind or nature, whether known or unknown, suspected or unsuspected, matured or unmatured, liquidated or unliquidated, contingent or fixed, at law or in equity, statutory or otherwise, including without limitation those which were or could have been asserted in the Bankruptcy, including the Adversary Proceeding, the Texas Action, the Daugherty Claim, or the Highland Delaware Case (collectively, the "Daugherty Released Claims"); provided, however, that such release shall not apply with respect to the Reserved Claim or the Reserve Motion (as those terms are defined in paragraph 9 below) or HCMLP's obligations under this Settlement. This release expressly applies to all current employees of HCMLP as the Reorganized Debtor (as defined in the Plan), in their capacities as such. For the avoidance of doubt, the Daugherty Released Claims includes all claims or causes of action and facts, known or unknown, that exist as of the date hereof but do not include or apply to claims or causes of action based on facts occurring after the date hereof.

7. Reservation of Daugherty Rights: Notwithstanding anything contained herein to the contrary, the term HCMLP Released Parties shall not include (a) NexPoint Advisors, L.P. (or any of its subsidiaries and employees, advisors, or agents), (b) the Charitable Donor Advised Fund, L.P. (and any of its subsidiaries, including CLO Holdco, Ltd., and any of their respective employees, advisors, or agents), (c) NexBank, SSB (or any of its subsidiaries, employees, advisors, or agents), (d) James Dondero or any trust in which Dondero or any of his family members are a trustee or beneficiary (or any trustee acting for such trust), including but not limited to Hunter

[4] The Daugherty Additional Released Parties and the HCMLP Released Parties are collectively referred to as the "Additional Released Parties."

Mountain Investment Trust, The Get Good Trust, Dugaboy Investment Trust, SLHC Investment Trust, (e) HERA (subject to paragraph 8 below), (f) ERA (subject to paragraph 8 below), (g) Grant Scott, (h) Mark Okada and any trust in which Mark Okada or any of his family members are a beneficiary (or any trustee acting for such trust in their respective capacities), (i) Ellington, (j) Leventon, (k) Katz, (l) Hurst, (m) Andrews Kurth, or (m) any other former employee (as of the date hereof) of the HCMLP Released Parties.

8. HERA and ERA: The Parties acknowledge and agree that as of the date hereof, HERA and ERA have no material assets other than potential claims that may exist against persons or entities not released at or prior to the date hereof, and no claims against the HCMLP Released Parties. The allowed claims provided in paragraph 1 hereof are expressly agreed to in order to satisfy any liability the Debtor may have in connection with the HERA Judgment. To facilitate recovery of such potential claims – which expressly excludes any and all claims by or in the name of HERA and ERA against any of the HCMLP Released Parties -- HCMLP will transfer its interests in HERA and ERA to Daugherty. Such transfer will include the HERA and ERA books and records (spreadsheet) maintained on HCMLP's system. Such transfer will be without representation or warranty of any type; including, for the avoidance of doubt, without any representation or warranty as to the merits of the potential claims or the efficacy of the transfer of the potential claims. Such transfer will be without any liability or material cost to HCMLP or its affiliates or the other HCMLP Released Parties, including any liability in respect of any assets that HERA or ERA ever actually or allegedly owned, possessed, or controlled and that were actually or allegedly transferred, conveyed, sold, written off or otherwise disposed of (in any such case, a "Disposition"). In connection with the transfer, HERA and ERA have expressly released the HCMLP Released Parties from any and all claims, including any claims actions or remedies related to any Disposition, either of them may have against any HCMLP Released Party now or in the future (the "HERA and ERA Release"). Daugherty on behalf of himself and each of the Daugherty Released Parties acknowledges, accepts, and agrees not to challenge the HERA and ERA Release or support any challenge thereto. A copy of the HERA and ERA Release is annexed hereto as Exhibit A. Daugherty acknowledges and agrees that even though HERA and ERA are not HCMLP Released Parties under this Agreement, Daugherty and all Daugherty Released Parties shall (a) not seek to hold any HCMLP Released Party liable for any action or inaction taken by or on behalf of HERA or ERA, including through any derivative, veil-piercing or similar cause of action or remedy; and (b) not seek to recover damages or obtain any form of relief against any HCMLP Released Party on account of any action or inaction taken by or on behalf of HERA or ERA, including through any veil piercing or similar cause of action or remedy. If, for any reason, HERA or ERA, or any person or entity acting on their behalf, recovers anything from any HCMLP Released Party, Daugherty shall promptly turnover to HCMLP or its successors and assigns any amounts actually recovered by Daugherty or any Daugherty Released Party, from HERA or ERA arising from, related to, or derived from any claim that HERA or ERA or any person or entity acting on their behalf has or may have against any HCMLP Released Party. HCMLP will provide reasonable assistance to Daugherty to assist with the preparation of any required HERA K-1s for 2021, but any requirement to provide such K-1s will be the obligation, if any, of HERA.

9. IRS Compensation Claim: In section 4(ii) of the Addendum to Proof of Claim No. 205, Daugherty contends that he has a contingent, unliquidated claim against the Debtor arising out of a 2008/2009 compensation letter (the "Reserved Claim"), which claim is also related to an audit/dispute between the Debtor and the Internal Revenue Service (the "IRS") (the dispute between the Debtor and IRS being referred to herein as the "IRS Audit Dispute"). The Debtor disputes the validity and amount of the Reserved Claim. Daugherty shall retain the Reserved Claim solely against the Debtor and not against any other HCMLP Released Party, and the Debtor reserves the right to assert any and all defenses thereto. Any litigation by and between the Debtor and Daugherty concerning the validity and amount of the Reserved Claim shall be stayed until the IRS makes a final determination with respect to the IRS Audit Dispute; provided, however, that Daugherty may file a motion with the Bankruptcy Court to have the Reserved Claim estimated for purposes of establishing a reserve as a "Disputed Claim" under the Debtor's Plan (the "Reserve Motion"), and the Debtor (and any successor) reserves the right to assert any and all defenses thereto. Notwithstanding the foregoing, Daugherty may address any personal claim or personal liability to the IRS as a result of the IRS Audit Dispute, including settlement of any such claims; provided, however, Daugherty agrees to forego settling or addressing any claims with the IRS without the written consent of the Debtor until March 31, 2022.

10. Current HCMLP Employees: The HCMLP Parties set forth on Appendix A hereto are currently employed by the Debtor are HCMLP Released Parties. By executing a copy of this Settlement and delivering it to Daugherty, each of the persons on Appendix A agrees not to sue, attempt to sue, or threaten or work with or assist any entity or person to sue, attempt to sue, or threaten any Daugherty Released Party on or in connection with any claim or cause of action arising prior to the date of this Settlement.

11. Dismissal and Motions in Other Actions. Within ten business days after approval of this Settlement by the Bankruptcy Court, the Parties shall take all steps necessary (a) to dismiss with prejudice (i) the Highland Delaware Case, as against the Debtor and any HCMLP Released Party, and (ii) the HERA Delaware Case, as against every HCMLP Released Party, (b) to file an agreed motion and proposed order to partially vacate the final judgment entered against Daugherty in the Texas Action, (c) withdraw HCMLP's objection to the Daugherty motion to recuse in the Texas Action, and (d) to dismiss the Adversary Proceeding with prejudice. The parties shall file the foregoing motions and withdrawals substantially in the form of the documents annexed hereto as Exhibit B.

12. Additional Third Party Claims Discovery: The Debtor (a) shall accept service of any subpoenas via email served by Daugherty in connection with the Delaware Cases on behalf of itself, the HCMLP Entities, the HCMLP Parties (but only in their capacity as employees of HCMLP); and (b) acknowledge and consent to the jurisdiction of the Delaware Chancery Court for purposes of enforcing any such subpoenas, subject in all respects to the rights that the HCMLP Entities and HCMLP Parties to defend the requested production, if any.

13. Settlement of Third Party Claims: Daugherty shall not settle any claims or causes of action against any current or former director, officer, employee, agent or representative of HCMLP or Strand Advisors Inc. (collectively, the "Potentially Indemnified Parties") to the extent such claims have been brought or could have been brought against any Potentially Indemnified Parties, if any such settlement designates, defines or describes the settled claims as arising out of or relating to simple negligence or as having otherwise been within the scope of employment of the Potentially Indemnified Party.

14. Claims Register: As soon as practicable after the Settlement Effective Date, HCMLP shall instruct the claims agent in the Debtor's chapter 11 case to adjust the claims register in accordance with this Settlement.

15. Daugherty Representations: Daugherty represents and warrants to each of the HCMLP Released Parties that (a) he has full authority to release the Daugherty Released Claims and has not sold, transferred, or assigned any Daugherty Released Claim to any other person or entity and that (b) no person or entity other than Daugherty has been, is, or will be authorized to bring, pursue, or enforce any Daugherty Released Claim on behalf of, for the benefit of, or in the name of (whether directly or derivatively) Daugherty.

16. HCMLP Representations: Each of HCMLP and each HCMLP Released Party who has signed this Settlement represents and warrants to Daugherty that (a) he, she or it has not sold, transferred, pledged, assigned or hypothecated any HCMLP Released Claim to any other person or entity and (b) he, she, or it has full authority to release any HCMLP Released Claims that such HCMLP Released Party personally has against Daugherty.

17. Additional HCMLP Representations: HCMLP represents and warrants that it is releasing the HCMLP Released Claims on behalf of the HCMLP Entities to the maximum extent permitted by any contractual or other legal rights HCMLP possesses. To the extent any of the HCMLP Entities dispute HCMLP's right to release the HCMLP Released Claims on behalf of any of the HCMLP Entities, HCMLP shall use commercially reasonable efforts to support Daugherty's position, if any, that such claims were released herein. For the avoidance of doubt, HCMLP will have no obligations to assist Daugherty under this paragraph if HCMLP has been advised by external counsel that such assistance could subject HCMLP to liability to any third party or if such assistance would require HCMLP to expend material amounts of time or money. HCMLP shall not argue in any forum that the non-signatory status of any of the HCMLP Entities to this Settlement shall in any way affect the enforceability of this Settlement vis-à-vis any of the HCMLP Entities. The Parties agree that all of the HCMLP Entities are intended third-party beneficiaries of this Release.

18. HCMLP Covenant: HCMLP and the HCMLP Entities covenant and agree that they will not pursue or seek to enforce any injunctions entered in the Texas Action against Daugherty.

19. Entire Agreement; Modification: This Settlement contains the entire agreement between the Parties as to its subject matter and supersedes and replaces any and all prior agreements and undertakings between the Parties. This Settlement may not be modified other than by a signed writing executed by the Parties.

20. Bankruptcy Court Approval: Notwithstanding anything to the contrary contained herein, the effectiveness of HCMLP and the Claimant Trust's execution of this Settlement shall be subject to entry of an order of the Bankruptcy Court approving this Settlement. HCMLP shall take all steps necessary to file with the Bankruptcy Court a motion for an order approving this Settlement pursuant to Federal Rule of Bankruptcy Procedure 9019 and section 363 of the Bankruptcy Code (the "Motion"). The parties agree to cooperate in the preparation and prosecution of the Motion which shall be filed no later than 5 business day after execution of this Settlement, unless such time is extended by mutual agreement.

21. Counterparts: This Settlement may be executed in counterparts (including facsimile and electronic transmission counterparts), each of which will be deemed an original but all of which together constitute one and the same instrument and shall be effective against a Party or Additional Released Party upon approval of the Settlement by the Bankruptcy Court.

22. Governing Law; Jurisdiction: This Settlement will be exclusively governed by and construed and enforced in accordance with the laws of the State of Delaware, without regard to its conflicts of law principles, and all claims relating to or arising out of this Settlement, or the breach thereof, whether sounding in contract, tort, or otherwise, will likewise be governed by the laws of the State of Delaware, excluding Delaware's conflicts of law principles. The Bankruptcy Court will retain exclusive jurisdiction over all disputes relating to this Settlement.

23. Headings: Paragraph headings included herein are for convenience and shall have no impact whatsoever on the meaning or interpretation of any part of this Settlement.

HERA RELEASE AGREEMENT

This HERA Release Agreement ("HERA Release Agreement") is entered into as of November 21, 2021 by and among Highland Capital Management, L.P., as reorganized debtor ("HCMLP" or the "Debtor"), Patrick Hagaman Daugherty ("Daugherty"), Highland Employee Retention Assets, LLC ("HERA") and Highland ERA Management, LLC ("ERA" and together with HCMLP, and HERA, the "Parties," and individually as a "Party").

WHEREAS, reference is hereby made to the Settlement Agreement (the "Settlement") of even date herewith and attached hereto made and entered into by and between the Debtor, the Highland Claimant Trust, and Daugherty.

WHEREAS, the Settlement settles all of Daugherty's claims against the HCMLP Released Parties, including all claims against the HCMLP Released Parties relating to transfers of assets from HERA.

WHEREAS, the Settlement includes, among other things, the transfer by HCMLP to Daugherty of HCMLP's interests in HERA and ERA.

WHEREAS, under the Settlement such transfer is being made without any liability to any of the HCMLP Released Parties of any type and is conditional on the full release of, and covenant not to sue, each of the HCMLP Released Parties, by and from HERA, ERA, Daugherty and the Daugherty Released Parties.

WHEREAS, neither HERA nor ERA filed proofs of claim in the Bankrupty and have no claims against HCMLP.

WHEREAS, out of an abundance of caution to confirm that HERA, ERA, Daugherty, and the Daugherty Released Parties have no claims against the HCMLP Released Parties, this HERA Release Agreement is being entered into contemporaneously with the Settlement and constitutes an essential part thereof.

WHEREAS, capitalized terms used herein but not otherwise defined herein have the respective meanings set forth in the Settlement.

NOW, THEREFORE, in consideration of the entry into of the Settlement, the transfer of the equity interests in HERA and ERA to Daugherty in accordance with the Settlement, and for other good and valuable consideration, including the provisions set forth herein, the parties hereto further agree as follows:

1. Upon entry of an order of the Bankruptcy Court approving this Settlement and to the maximum extent permitted by law, Daugherty, on behalf of himself and each of the Daugherty Additional Release Parties, together with each of HERA and ERA (Daugherty, the Daugherty Additional Release Parties, HERA and ERA shall be collectively referred to herein as the "HERA Releasing Parties"), each hereby forever, finally, fully, unconditionally, and completely releases, relieves, acquits, remises, and exonerates, and covenants never to sue, any of the HCMLP Released Parties for and from any and all claims, debts, liabilities, demands, obligations, promises, acts, agreements, liens, losses, costs and expenses (including, without limitation, attorney's fees and related costs), damages, injuries, suits, actions, and causes of action of whatever kind or nature, whether known or unknown, suspected or unsuspected, matured or unmatured, liquidated or unliquidated, contingent or fixed, at law or in equity, statutory or otherwise, including without limitation those which were or could have been asserted in the Bankruptcy, including the Adversary Proceeding, the Texas Action, the Daugherty Claim, Highland Delaware Case, or the HERA Delaware Case (collectively, "Claims"), in each case that in any way arise from or otherwise in any way relate to HERA or ERA, including, without limitation, any actual or potential claims, whether known or unknown, in any way related to or arising out of the formation, management, operation or assets of HERA, ERA or any of their respective predecessors or successors, including the transfer of any assets to or from HERA or ERA, it being understood that all remaining assets of HERA have been transferred to HCMLP prior to the date hereof, and in addition to the releases set forth above, each of the HERA Releasing Parties irrevocably waives and releases and covenants not to sue with respect to any Claims against any of the HCMLP Released Parties in any way related to any such transfers or assets, whether in personam with respect to the HCMLP Released Parties or in rem with respect to any of their assets (collectively, the "HERA Released Claims") or any other Disposition.

2. This Release constitutes a part of, and is supplemental to, the provisions of the Settlement.

AGREED MOTION TO PARTIALLY VACATE THE FINAL JUDGMENT DATED JULY 14, 2014

TO THE HONORABLE JUDGE OF SAID COURT:

Plaintiff Highland Capital Management, LP ("Highland") and Defendant Patrick Daugherty ("Daugherty" and together with Highland, the "Parties") file this Agreed Motion to Partially Vacate the Final Judgment dated July 14, 2014 (the "Motion"), and respectfully show the following:

1. On July 14, 2014, this Court entered a Final Judgment (the "Judgment") that, among other things, granted Highland's motion for injunctive relief against Daugherty.

2. The Judgment was amended on March 23, and June 23, 2017.

3. On October 16, 2019, filed a petition under chapter 11 in the United States Bankruptcy Court for the District of Delaware ("Highland's Bankruptcy Case"). On October 24,

2019, as a result of the commencement of Highland's Bankruptcy Case, the Supreme Court of Texas issued an order abating a related case that Daugherty had brought in that court, Case No. 19-0758. Highland's Bankruptcy Case was subsequently transferred to the United States Bankruptcy Court for the Northern District of Texas.

4. Daugherty asserted certain claims against Highland in Highland's Bankruptcy Case. The Parties have fully and finally resolved their disputes pursuant to a settlement agreement (the "Settlement Agreement") reached in the Highland Bankruptcy Case pursuant to which, among other things, (a) all of Daugherty's known and unknown claims against each of the Highland Released Parties (as those terms are defined in the Settlement Agreement) are resolved, and (b) this Motion seeking the vacatur of certain provisions of the Judgment specifically set forth below is being filed.

5. Highland and Daugherty hereby agree and stipulate that the Court has plenary power to issue an order granting this Motion because the Court retained authority to enforce the permanent injunction rendered in the Judgment, and that changed circumstances have now arisen such that the Court should dissolve the permanent injunction. Highland and Daugherty further agree and stipulate that this Motion shall be treated as an agreement of the Parties pursuant to Texas Rule of Civil Procedure 11, and is fully enforceable. See Coale v. Scott, 331 S.W.3d 829, 831-32 (Tex. App.—Amarillo 2011, no pet.) ("Irrespective of whether a trial court lost its plenary jurisdiction over its judgment, the trial court's authority to approve a Rule 11 agreement does not depend on whether it has such jurisdiction.").

6. Highland and Daugherty agree that the following portions of the Judgment shall be vacated pursuant to their settlement in the Highland Bankruptcy:

a. The second full paragraph on Page 2 of the Judgment, which begins "The Court, after considering the jury's findings regarding Daugherty's breaches of contract and breaches of fiduciary duty . . .";

b. The permanent injunction rendered against Daugherty in the third full paragraph on Page 2 of the Judgment, which begins "It is therefore further ORDERED that Daugherty be and hereby is commanded to cease and desist from . . .";

c. The fourth and fifth full paragraphs on Page 2 of the Judgment awarding Highland a monetary judgment against Daugherty for reasonable and necessary attorney's fees, as well as post-judgment interest on that award[1]; and

d. The jury's answers to Questions 1, 2, 5, 6, 9 and 12 in the Verdict, which was attached as Exhibit 1 to the Judgment.

7. Highland and Daugherty further agree that, as a result of the vacation of the permanent injunction in the Judgment, Highland hereby withdraws any pending motions to show cause or motions for contempt against Daugherty that allege Daugherty violated or is violating the permanent injunction. Highland also agrees not to seek to enforce the permanent injunction in any manner in the future.

[1] Daugherty previously satisfied the monetary judgment awarded to Highland, and Highland filed a release of the monetary judgment. Although Highland and Daugherty have agreed to vacate the monetary judgment awarded to Highland, Daugherty waives and relinquishes any right or claim to recover any amount previously paid in satisfaction of the Judgment and Highland shall not be required to reimburse Daugherty for his prior satisfaction of the monetary judgment. To the extent Daugherty is entitled to indemnification for any liabilities, losses, and damages allegedly incurred by him for actions taken in connection with Highland's business, including the liabilities Daugherty allegedly incurred in connection with this action and the Judgment, such indemnification claims have been fully and finally satisfied and resolved under the Settlement Agreement.

8. Concurrent with the filing of this Motion, Daugherty will file a motion to dismiss his as-yet unfiled petition for review pending before the Supreme Court of Texas under Case No. 19-0758.

9. Highland and Daugherty further agree that any portions of the Judgment that are not specifically vacated pursuant to this Motion shall remain in full force and effect.

WHEREFORE, Highland and Daugherty pray that the Court grant this Motion in its entirety, and for all further relief, at law or in equity, the Court deems necessary.

Respectfully submitted,

APPELLANT'S DESIGNATION OF ITEMS TO BE INCLUDED IN THE RECORD ON APPEAL AND STATEMENT OF THE ISSUES PRESENTED

Pursuant to Fed. R. Bankr. P. 8009(a), Appellant Patrick Daugherty ("Daugherty") hereby submits his designation of items to be included in the record on appeal and statement of issues to be presented in connection with his appeal from the Order (A) Denying Patrick Daugherty's Motion to Dismiss and (B) Granting Highland Capital Management, L.P.'s Cross Motion for Relief from a Final Order Pursuant to Bankruptcy Rule 9024 [Docket No. 23 in Adversary No. 25-03055], to the extent it granted relief under Federal Rule of Bankruptcy Procedure 9024 and Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 60(b). See Notice of Appeal [Docket No. 25 in Adversary No. 25-03055].

Statement of Issues on Appeal

1. Whether the Bankruptcy Court abused its discretion by granting Highland Capital Management, L.P.'s Cross Motion pursuant to Fed. R. Civ. P. 60(b)(6) when Highland failed to make a showing of manifest injustice and exceptional circumstances required to rewrite a term of the parties' bargained-for, court-approved settlement agreement that Highland Capital Management, L.P. entered on a free, deliberate, calculated, and counseled basis.

2. Whether the Bankruptcy Court abused its discretion by granting Highland Capital Management, L.P.'s Cross Motion pursuant to Fed. R. Civ. P. 60(b)(6) when Highland was estopped from seeking such relief after it obtained the benefits of the tolling provision in the settlement agreement, including, inter alia, the parties' negotiation and execution of a series of tolling agreements to the benefit of Highland Capital Management, L.P. regarding its certain claim-objection deadline.

Designation of Record

Daugherty respectfully designates the following items to be included in the appellate record pursuant to Bankruptcy Rule 8009(a):

1. Notice of Appeal for Adversary No. 25-03055 [Docket No. 25].

2. The Judgment Order or Decree appealed from: Order (a) Denying Patrick Daugherty's Motion to Dismiss and (b) Granting Highland Capital Management, L.P.'s Cross Motion for Relief from a Final Order Pursuant to Bankruptcy Rule 9024 [Docket No. 23 in Adversary No. 25-03055].

3. Any opinion, findings of fact and conclusions of law of the bankruptcy court relating to the issues on appeal, including transcripts of all oral rulings: Transcript regarding hearing held September 4, 2025 before Judge Stacey C.G. Jernigan re: Patrick Daugherty's Motion to Dismiss; Highland's Cross Motion for Relief from Final Order [Docket No. 35].

4. Docket Sheet for Adversary Case No. 25-03055 kept by the Bankruptcy Clerk.

5. Documents listed below for Bankruptcy Case No. 19-34054-sgj11:

HIGHLAND CAPITAL MANAGEMENT, L.P., Plaintiff, v. PATRICK HAGAMAN DAUGHERTY, Defendant.	§	Adversary Proceeding No. 25-03055-sgj

ORDER APPROVING STIPULATED SCHEDULING ORDER

Upon consideration of the Stipulated Scheduling Order [Adv. Proc. Docket No. 31] (the "Stipulation")[2] by and between Highland Capital Management, L.P. ("Highland"), the reorganized

[1] Highland's last four digits of its taxpayer identification number are (8357). The headquarters and service address for Highland is 100 Crescent Court, Suite 1850, Dallas, TX 75201.

[2] Capitalized terms not otherwise defined in this Order shall have the meanings set forth in the Stipulation.

debtor in the above-captioned chapter 11 case (the "Bankruptcy Case") and the plaintiff in the above-captioned adversary proceeding (the "Adversary Proceeding"), and Patrick Hagaman Daugherty ("Daugherty," and together with Highland, the "Parties"), it is HEREBY ORDERED THAT:

1. The Stipulation, [3] a copy of which is attached hereto as Exhibit A, is APPROVED.

2. On or before October 3, 2025, Daugherty shall serve and file his answer to the Complaint.

3. The Parties shall serve their written discovery requests (including document requests, interrogatories, and requests for admission) (the "Discovery Requests") on the other Party on or before October 24, 2025, after which no further Discovery Requests shall be served on another Party absent a Court order entered on reasonable notice and upon a showing of good cause.

4. The Parties shall (a) serve written responses and objections to any Discovery Requests on or before November 21, 2025, and (b) be substantially complete with document production on or before December 12, 2025.

5. Subpoenas for third-party discovery (including written discovery and depositions) shall be served on or before December 19, 2025.

6. Fact depositions shall be taken by video between January 5 and January 30, 2026. The Parties shall be limited to five (5) fact depositions per side (except that if multiple corporate representatives are designated, those shall collectively count as one fact deposition), and each fact deposition shall be limited to five (5) hours of testimony, absent further Court order made after reasonable notice and upon good cause shown.

[3] As noted in the Stipulation, Daugherty's agreement to the Stipulation is subject to, and without waiving, his Notice of Appeal [Adv. Pro. Docket No. 25] of the Court's Order [Adv. Pro. Docket No. 23], filed September 19, 2025.

7. The Parties shall confer in good faith as to the identity of witnesses they seek to depose. Notwithstanding the provisions of paragraph 6 of this Order, in an effort to be efficient, reduce the burden on third parties, and avoid motion practice, if the Parties intend to depose the same witness, they shall do so in one day, with Highland having up to three (3) hours of testimony and Daugherty having up to four (4) hours of testimony.

8. Fact discovery (including third-party discovery) shall be completed by January 30, 2026; provided, however, that if a third-party fact witness is unavailable (or refuses to appear) for deposition on or before January 30, 2026, then the deadline for completing third-party witness depositions shall be extended to February 13, 2026, or such later date as the Court may order after reasonable notice and upon good cause shown.

9. On or before February 13, 2026, the Parties shall disclose the identity of any retained expert witness they intend to call at trial, and (b) serve the expert's report in compliance with Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 26(a)(2)(B).

10. On or before March 6, 2026, the Parties shall disclose the identity of any retained rebuttal expert witness they intend to call at trial, and (b) serve the expert's rebuttal report in compliance with Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 26(a)(2)(B).

11. Expert depositions and expert discovery shall be completed by March 23, 2026.

12. Except with respect to impeachment and rebuttal exhibits and witnesses, witness and exhibit lists will be filed on the docket and served on or before March 25, 2026, unless otherwise agreed in writing by the Parties. Objections to exhibits, other than for relevance, shall be filed on or before March 30, 2026, or they shall be deemed waived.

13. A joint pretrial order in compliance with the Court's Local Rules shall be filed on or before April 1, 2026.

14. Any Party wishing to file a trial brief shall file and serve the same on or before April 3, 2026.

15. A one-day evidentiary hearing will be held in person before the Court beginning at 9:30 a.m. (Central Time) on April 8, 2026.

16. All deadlines set forth above are effective as of 5:00 p.m. (Central Time) on each applicable date.

17. The schedule set forth in the Stipulation and this Order shall only be modified in a writing signed by the Parties or upon the entry of an order of the Court entered upon notice to the Parties.

18. The Court shall retain jurisdiction over all disputes arising out of or otherwise concerning the interpretation and enforcement of the Stipulation and this Order.

STIPULATED SCHEDULING ORDER

This stipulation (the "Stipulation") is made and entered into by and between plaintiff Highland Capital Management L.P. (the "Highland" or the "Debtor") and defendant Patrick Daugherty ("Daugherty" and together with Highland, the "Parties"), by and through their respective undersigned counsel, to establish certain deadlines pertaining to the litigation of claims asserted in Highland's Complaint for (1) Disallowance of Claim No. 205 in its Entirety, (2) Estimation of Claim No. 205 for Allowance Purposes, or (3) Subordination of any Allowed Portion of Claim No. 205 of Patrick Hagaman Daugherty [Adv. Pro. Docket No. 1] (the "Complaint"), provided that Daugherty's agreement to this Stipulation is made subject to, and without waiving, his Notice of Appeal [Adv. Pro. Docket No. 25] of the Court's Order [Adv. Pro. Docket No. 23], filed September 19, 2025.

RECITALS

WHEREAS, on October 16, 2019 (the "Petition Date"), the Debtor filed a voluntary petition for relief under chapter 11 of title 11 of the United States Code (the "Bankruptcy Code") in the United States Bankruptcy Court for the District of Delaware, Case No. 19-12239 (CSS) (the "Delaware Court").

WHEREAS, on December 4, 2019, the Delaware Court entered an order transferring venue of the Debtor's bankruptcy case to the United States Bankruptcy Court for the Northern District of Texas, Dallas Division (the "Bankruptcy Court"). Bankr. Docket No. 186.

WHEREAS, on April 1, 2020, Daugherty filed Proof of Claim No. 67 ("Claim 67"), which was superseded and replaced by Proof of Claim No. 77 ("Claim 77").

WHEREAS, on December 23, 2020, Daugherty filed Proof of Claim 205 (the "Claim" or "Claim 205"), which superseded and replaced Claim 77 in its entirety.

WHEREAS, on February 22, 2021, the Bankruptcy Court entered the Order (i) Confirming the Fifth Amended Plan of Reorganization (as Modified) and (ii) Granting Related Relief [Bankr. Docket No. 1943] (the "Confirmation Order") which confirmed the Fifth Amended Plan of Reorganization of Highland Capital Management, L.P., as Modified [Bankr. Docket No. 1808] (the "Plan").

WHEREAS, on December 8, 2021, the Debtor filed Reorganized Debtor's Motion for Entry of an Order Approving Settlement with Patrick Hagaman Daugherty (Claim No. 205) and Authorizing Actions Consistent Therewith [Bankr. Docket No. 3088] (the "Settlement Motion").

WHEREAS, on March 8, 2022, the Bankruptcy Court granted the Settlement Motion [Bankr. Docket No. 3298] (the "Settlement Order"), disallowing Claim 67 and Claim 77 with prejudice and resolving all of Claim 205 other than Daugherty's Reserved Claim (as defined in the Parties' Settlement Agreement approved by the Settlement Order).

WHEREAS, on May 2, 2025, Highland commenced the Adversary Proceeding by filing the Complaint to disallow, estimate or subordinate Daugherty's Reserved Claim.

WHEREAS, on June 4, 2025, Daugherty moved to dismiss the Complaint on the ground that it was to be stayed pursuant to the Parties' Settlement Agreement [Adv. Pro. Docket No. 5] (the "Motion to Dismiss").

WHEREAS, on July 18, 2025, Highland filed its opposition to the Motion to Dismiss and cross-moved for relief from the Settlement Order [Adv. Pro. Docket Nos. 9 and 10] (the "Cross Motion") seeking to strike the stay provision from paragraph 9 of the Settlement Agreement.

WHEREAS, on August 8, 2025, Daugherty filed his opposition to the Cross Motion [Adv. Pro. Docket No. 15].

WHEREAS, on September 4, 2025, after further briefing and oral argument, the Bankruptcy Court granted the Cross Motion, denied the Motion to Dismiss, and requested the Parties confer on a scheduling order for this litigation.

WHEREAS, the Parties have conferred and desire to enter into the proposed scheduling order set forth below.

NOW, THEREFORE, it is hereby stipulated and agreed, and upon approval of this Stipulation by the Bankruptcy Court, it shall be SO ORDERED:

1. On or before October 3, 2025, Daugherty shall serve and file his answer to the Complaint.

2. The Parties shall serve their written discovery requests (including document requests, interrogatories, and requests for admission) (the "Discovery Requests") on the other Party on or before October 24, 2025, after which no further Discovery Requests shall be served on another Party absent a Court order entered on reasonable notice and upon a showing of good cause.

3. The Parties shall (a) serve written responses and objections to any Discovery Requests on or before November 21, 2025, and (b) be substantially complete with document production on or before December 12, 2025.

4. Subpoenas for third-party discovery (including written discovery and depositions) shall be served on or before December 19, 2025.

5. Fact depositions shall be taken by video between January 5 and January 30, 2026. The Parties shall be limited to five (5) fact depositions per side (except that if multiple corporate representatives are designated, those shall collectively count as one fact deposition), and each fact deposition shall be limited to five (5) hours of testimony, absent further Court order made after reasonable notice and upon good cause shown.

6. The Parties shall confer in good faith as to the identity of witnesses they seek to depose. Notwithstanding the provisions of paragraph 5, in an effort to be efficient, reduce the burden on third parties, and avoid motion practice, if the Parties intend to depose the same witness, they shall do so in one day, with Highland having up to three (3) hours of testimony and Daugherty having up to four (4) hours of testimony.

7. Fact discovery (including third-party discovery) shall be completed by January 30, 2026; provided, however, that if a third-party fact witness is unavailable (or refuses to appear) for deposition on or before January 30, 2026, then the deadline for completing third-party witness depositions shall be extended to February 13, 2026, or such later date as the Court may order after reasonable notice and upon good cause shown.

8. On or before February 13, 2026, the Parties shall disclose the identity of any retained expert witness they intend to call at trial, and (b) serve the expert's report in compliance with Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 26(a)(2)(B).

9. On or before March 6, 2026, the Parties shall disclose the identity of any retained rebuttal expert witness they intend to call at trial, and (b) serve the expert's rebuttal report in compliance with Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 26(a)(2)(B).

10. Expert depositions and expert discovery shall be completed by March 23, 2026.

11. Except with respect to impeachment and rebuttal exhibits and witnesses, witness and exhibit lists will be filed on the docket and served on or before March 25, 2026, unless otherwise agreed in writing by the Parties. Objections to exhibits, other than for relevance, shall be filed on or before March 30, 2026, or they shall be deemed waived.

12. A joint pretrial order in compliance with the Court's Local Rules shall be filed on or before April 1, 2026.

13. Any Party wishing to file a trial brief shall file and serve the same on or before April 3, 2026.

14. A one-day evidentiary hearing will be held in person before the Court on April 8, 2026.

15. All deadlines set forth above are effective as of 5:00 p.m. (Central Time) on each applicable date.

16. If approved by the Court, this Stipulation shall only be modified in a writing signed by the Parties or upon the entry of an order of the Court entered upon notice to the Parties.

17. The Court shall retain jurisdiction over all disputes arising out of or otherwise concerning the interpretation and enforcement of this Stipulation.

Dated: September 25, 2025.

STIPULATION REGARDING HIGHLAND CAPITAL MANAGEMENT, L.P.'S DEADLINE TO FILE RESPONSE TO PATRICK DAUGHERTY'S MOTION FOR STAY PENDING APPEAL

This stipulation (the "Stipulation") is made and entered into by and between plaintiff Highland Capital Management L.P. ("Highland") and defendant Patrick Daugherty ("Daugherty," and together with Highland, the "Parties"), by and through their respective undersigned counsel. Through this Stipulation, the Parties respectfully state and stipulate as follows:

RECITALS

WHEREAS, on May 2, 2025, Highland commenced the above-captioned adversary proceeding (the "Adversary Proceeding") by filing its Complaint for (1) Disallowance of Claim No. 205 in Its Entirety, (2) Estimation of Claim No. 205 for Allowance Purposes, or (3) Subordination of Any Allowed Portion of Claim No. 205 of Patrick Hagaman Daugherty [Adv. Pro. Docket No. 1] (the "Complaint").

WHEREAS, on June 4, 2025, Daugherty moved to dismiss the Complaint [Adv. Pro. Docket No. 5] (the "Motion to Dismiss") on the ground that it was to be stayed pursuant to the terms of that certain Settlement Agreement by and between Highland and Daugherty (the "Settlement Agreement") approved by the Bankruptcy Court in its Order Approving Settlement Agreement with Patrick Hagaman Daugherty (Claim No. 205) and Authorizing Actions Consistent Therewith [Bankr. Docket No. 3298] (the "Settlement Order").

WHEREAS, on July 18, 2025, Highland filed its opposition to the Motion to Dismiss and cross-moved for relief from the Settlement Order [Adv. Pro. Docket Nos. 9 and 10] (the "Cross Motion") seeking to strike the stay provision from paragraph 9 of the Settlement Agreement.

WHEREAS, on August 8, 2025, Daugherty filed his opposition to the Cross Motion [Adv. Pro. Docket No. 15].

WHEREAS, on September 5, 2025, the Bankruptcy Court entered its Order (A) Denying Patrick Daugherty's Motion to Dismiss and (B) Granting Highland Capital Management, L.P.'s Cross Motion for Relief from a Final Order Pursuant to Bankruptcy Rule 9024 [Adv. Pro. Docket No. 23] (the "9024 Order") granting the Cross Motion and denying the Motion to Dismiss.

WHEREAS, on September 19, 2025, Daugherty commenced his appeal of the 9024 Order (the "Appeal") by filing his Notice of Appeal [Adv. Pro. Docket No. 25].

WHEREAS, the Appeal has been docketed as civil action no. 3:25-cv-02584-E in the United States District Court for the Northern District of Texas, Dallas Division.

WHEREAS, on September 26, 2025, Daugherty filed with the Bankruptcy Court his Motion for Stay Pending Appeal [Adv. Pro. Docket No. 33] (the "Stay Motion") seeking, among other things, stays of (i) the Adversary Proceeding and (ii) enforcement of the 9024 Order.

WHEREAS, pursuant to Federal Rule of Bankruptcy Procedure 8013(a)(3)(A), Highland's deadline to respond to the Stay Motion is October 3, 2025.

WHEREAS, the Parties have conferred and are executing this Stipulation to clarify that Highland's deadline to respond to the Stay Motion shall be extended to Monday, October 6, 2025.

NOW, THEREFORE, IT IS HEREBY JOINTLY STIPULATED AND AGREED AS FOLLOWS:

1. Highland's deadline to respond to Daugherty's Stay Motion is extended to Monday, October 6, 2025.

2. This Stipulation may be executed in counterparts. A facsimile, electronic, or photocopy of this Stipulation and the signatures hereto shall have the same effect and may be accepted with the same authority as if it were an original.

3. The Parties agree that the Court shall retain jurisdiction with respect to all matters arising from or relating to the implementation, interpretation, and enforcement of this Stipulation and any order related thereto.

APPELLANT'S AMENDED DESIGNATION OF ITEMS TO BE INCLUDED IN THE RECORD ON APPEAL AND STATEMENT OF THE ISSUES PRESENTED

Pursuant to Federal Rule of Bankruptcy Procedure 8009(a), Appellant Patrick Daugherty ("Daugherty") hereby submits his amended designation of items to be included in the record on appeal and statement of issues to be presented in connection with his appeal from the July 24, 2026 Judgment and Memorandum Opinion [Docket Nos. 138, 139 in Adversary No. 25-03055-bwo]. See Notice of Appeal [Docket No. 142 in Adversary No. 25-03055-bwo].

Statement of Issues on Appeal

1. Whether the Bankruptcy Court erred in disallowing Daugherty's Reserved Claim based on the Employment Agreement's termination provisions, when the Court itself found the 2009 Compensation Statement was incorporated into the Employment Agreement and resolved its ambiguity in Daugherty's favor, concluding that Highland Capital Management, L.P. ("Highland") intended to compensate Daugherty for any material deviation in his 2008 tax refund.

2. Whether the Bankruptcy Court erred in applying the "no further liability or obligation" language of Sections 4.5 and 4.6 of the Employment Agreement to extinguish Daugherty's compensation entitlement under the 2009 Compensation Statement, when that language pertains to severance contingent upon execution of a separation agreement and not to earned compensation that accrued during Daugherty's active employment.

3. Whether the Bankruptcy Court erred in holding that James Dondero's oral promises to cover Daugherty's contingent tax liability were unenforceable under Texas's statute of frauds, Tex. Bus. & Com. Code § 26.01, when Highland had a main purpose of its own in making the promise and when the Court failed to consider Daugherty's continued employment and forbearance as adequate consideration.

4. Whether the Bankruptcy Court erred in denying Daugherty's counterclaim for specific performance of the Settlement Agreement's books-and-records provision by construing that provision through the statutory categories of 6 Del. C. § 18-305(a), rather than by the plain meaning of the negotiated Settlement Agreement requiring Highland to "transfer its interests in HERA and ERA to Daugherty" "[t]o facilitate [the] recovery of [] potential claims," including "the HERA and ERA books and records (spreadsheet) maintained on HCMLP's system."

5. Whether the Bankruptcy Court abused its discretion by granting Highland Capital Management, L.P.'s Cross Motion pursuant to Fed. R. Civ. P. 60(b)(6) when Highland failed to make a showing of manifest injustice and exceptional circumstances required to rewrite a term of the parties' bargained-for, court-approved settlement agreement that Highland Capital Management, L.P. entered on a free, deliberate, calculated, and counseled basis.

6. Whether the Bankruptcy Court abused its discretion by granting Highland Capital Management, L.P.'s Cross Motion pursuant to Fed. R. Civ. P. 60(b)(6) when Highland was estopped from seeking such relief after it obtained the benefits of the tolling provision in the settlement agreement, including, inter alia, the parties' negotiation and execution of a series of tolling agreements to the benefit of Highland Capital Management, L.P. regarding its certain claim-objection deadline.

HIGHLAND CAPITAL MANAGEMENT, L.P.'S OBJECTION TO PATRICK DAUGHERTY'S MOTION FOR STAY PENDING APPEAL

Highland Capital Management, L.P., the reorganized debtor ("Highland" or the "Debtor," as applicable) in the above-captioned chapter 11 case (the "Bankruptcy Case") and the plaintiff in the above-captioned adversary proceeding, files this objection to Patrick Daugherty's Motion for Stay Pending Appeal [Adv. Docket No. 33] (the "Motion").

I. PRELIMINARY STATEMENT[2]

1. Daugherty fails to prove the extraordinary remedy of a stay pending his appeal is warranted. The Motion should be denied because Daugherty cannot meet his burden of proving that: (a) he has a substantial likelihood of succeeding on the merits of his appeal; (b) he will be irreparably harmed in the absence of a stay; (c) a stay would not harm other parties; or (d) a stay would serve the public interest. Daugherty cannot meet the first prong—a likelihood of success—for two reasons.

2. First, the Order is interlocutory and Daugherty failed to seek leave of court before he could appeal. The Appeal will likely be dismissed as procedurally improper.

3. Second, the Appeal would fail on the merits. Daugherty cannot show that the Court abused its broad discretion in granting the Cross Motion. The Court was faced with an unforeseen conflict between two different court-approved agreements: (a) the Sunset Provisions of the Claimant Trust Agreement (the "CTA") (which require Highland to resolve all disputed claims, including Daugherty's Reserved Claim, before August 11, 2026, so the Claimant Trust can be dissolved by that deadline), and (b) the Stay Provision of the Settlement Agreement (which stayed adjudication of Daugherty's Reserved Claim until the IRS made its final determination with respect to the "IRS Audit Dispute," an event the Debtor maintains has occurred but Daugherty disputes). As the Court found, this type of extraordinary circumstance warranted Rule 60(b) relief. The Court's decision to modify the Settlement Agreement (which affects only Daugherty), rather than the earlier-approved CTA (which affects all stakeholders and would have caused the Highland case to remain open indefinitely), was a proper exercise of its discretion.[3] Daugherty fails to show any—let alone a substantial—likelihood of success on the merits of his Appeal.

[2] Capitalized terms not defined in this Preliminary Statement have the meanings ascribed to them below or in the Plan.

4. Nor can Daugherty establish that he will be irreparably harmed in the absence of a stay. Daugherty could have resolved his dispute in 2018 when the IRS, after concluding its audit of Highland, made a settlement offer, but he did not engage at that time.[4] Even today, despite the supposed "risks" he faces, Daugherty refuses to try to resolve his dispute with the IRS. Any "harm" Daugherty faces is self-inflicted, speculative, and not the type of irreparable harm warranting a stay. Highland's stakeholders will be irreparably harmed if a stay is granted. A stay pending appeal would effectively vitiate the Sunset Provisions (without notice) by indefinitely delaying the resolution of Daugherty's Reserved Claim and, consequently, the commencement of the Claimant Trust's dissolution thereby imposing incalculable costs on the estate and Claimant Trust's stakeholders.

[3] Highland continues to reserve the right to establish that the IRS "made a final determination with respect to the IRS Audit Dispute" in 2018 if that ever becomes necessary. See, e.g., Morris Exhibits 2-4 (2017 and 2018 HCMLP and IRS notices to Daugherty with audit determination adjustment amount and proposed IRS settlement with Daugherty).

5. Daugherty's argument that a stay would serve the public interest is spurious. If upholding contracts was synonymous with the public interest, Rule 60 could never be utilized to effectuate justice in contract cases even though that is one of its express purposes. Daugherty offers no explanation why the "public interest" favors upholding his contract when doing so would violate the CTA and related orders.

6. The Motion should be denied.

[4] Daugherty offers no explanation for his failure to respond to the IRS Form 886-Z and 870-PT 2008 audit adjustment (the "Adjustment"). In any event, the results of the appeal of the Adjustment are largely irrelevant to the Debtor's objection to the Reserved Claim. As detailed in the complaint, Daugherty is not entitled to any recovery from the estate irrespective of the outcome of the Appeal.

II. FACTUAL BACKGROUND

A. The Parties Agreed to Stay Litigation Over Daugherty's Reserved Claim Until the IRS Makes a Final Determination with Respect to the IRS Audit Dispute

7. On November 22, 2021, Highland and Patrick Daugherty ("Daugherty," and together with Highland, the "Parties") entered into that certain Settlement Agreement (the "Settlement Agreement") resolving all of Daugherty's claims against the Debtor's estate except for his Reserved Claim (as that term is defined in the Settlement Agreement). Morris Exhibit 1.[5] On March 8, 2022, the Court entered an order approving the Settlement Agreement (the "Settlement Order") [Docket No. 3299].

8. The Settlement Agreement provides that: (a) Highland expressly "reserve[d] the right to assert any and all defenses" to the Reserved Claim, and (b) the parties agreed that "[a]ny litigation by and between the Debtor and Daugherty concerning the validity and amount of the Reserved Claim shall be stayed until the IRS makes a final determination with respect to the IRS Audit Dispute." Morris Exhibit 1 ¶ 9 (the "Stay Provision") (emphasis added).

[5] "Morris Exhibits" refer to the exhibits annexed to the Declaration of John A. Morris in Support of Highland Capital Management, L.P.'s (A) Objection to Patrick Daugherty's Motion to Dismiss, and (B) Cross Motion for Relief from a Final Order Pursuant to Bankruptcy Rule 9024 filed at Docket No. 11.

9. The Stay Provision did not include a specific date for the termination of the stay.

B. Highland Must Resolve All Disputed Claims and the Highland Claimant Trust Must Commence the Dissolution Process Before August 11, 2026

10. Nine months before the Parties executed the Settlement Agreement, this Court confirmed Highland's plan of reorganization. On February 22, 2021, the Court entered the Order (i) Confirming the Fifth Amended Plan of Reorganization of Highland Capital Management, L.P. (as Modified) and (ii) Granting Related Relief [Main Docket No. 1943] (the "Confirmation Order") with respect to the Plan.[6]

11. The Plan included a form of Claimant Trust Agreement (the "CTA"), the contract between Highland and James P. Seery, Jr., in his capacity as the Claimant Trustee, "entered for the benefit of Claimant Trust Beneficiaries entitled to the Claimant Trust Assets" (as those terms are defined in the CTA). [Main Docket No. 1811, Exhibit R (preamble)].[7] The Plan created the CTA when the Plan went effective on August 11, 2021. [Main Docket No. 2700].

12. Section 9.1 of the CTA provides that the Claimant Trust will be dissolved when: "all objections to Disputed Claims and Equity Interests are fully

[6] The "Plan" refers to the Fifth Amended Plan of Reorganization of Highland Capital Management, L.P. (as Modified) filed on the main docket at Docket No. 1808. The Confirmation Order was subsequently modified for reasons irrelevant to the Motion. See Main Docket No. 4378.

[7] Prior to its execution, the CTA was modified in non-substantive ways irrelevant to the Motion. See Main Docket No. 1875, Exhibit EE.

resolved . . . but in no event shall the Claimant Trust be dissolved later than three years from the Effective Date unless the Bankruptcy Court, upon motion made within the six-month period before such third anniversary (and, in the event of further extension, by order of the Bankruptcy Court, upon motion made at least six months before the end of the preceding extension), determines that a fixed period extension (not to exceed two years, together with any prior extensions) is necessary to facilitate or complete the recovery on, and liquidation of, the Claimant Trust Assets."[8]

13. In accordance with subsequent Court orders incorporating the CTA,[9] Highland is required under Section 9.1 of the CTA to resolve "all objections to Disputed Claims and Equity Interests" (including Daugherty's Reserved Claim) so that the Claimant Trust can dissolve on or before August 11, 2026 (collectively, the "Sunset Provisions").[10]

[8] The CTA follows the Plan which contains the same requirement that the Claimant Trust dissolve no later than August 11, 2026. Plan Art. IV.B.14.

[9] See, e.g., Confirmation Order ¶¶ A, D, 27.

[10] The initial three-year term of the CTA was extended to August 11, 2025, [Main Docket No. 4144], and again to August 11, 2026. [Main Docket No. 4298]. Daugherty was served with Highland's motions seeking the extensions of the CTA but lodged no objection.

C. Faced with Potentially Conflicting Orders, the Court Properly Exercises Its Discretion and Strikes the Stay Provision; Daugherty Appeals Without Seeking Leave of Court

14. On May 2, 2025, days before Highland moved to extend the life of the CTA one last time (to August 11, 2026), Highland commenced this adversary proceeding by filing its Complaint for (1) Disallowance of Claim No. 205 in its Entirety, (2) Estimation of Claim No. 205 for Allowance Purposes, or (3) Subordination of Any Allowed Portion of Claim No. 205 of Patrick Hagaman Daugherty (the "Complaint"). [Adv. Docket No. 1]. In its Complaint, Highland seeks to disallow, estimate for allowance purposes, or subordinate Daugherty's Reserved Claim.[11]

15. On June 4, 2025, Daugherty moved to dismiss the Complaint on the ground that litigation of his Reserved Claim was purportedly barred by the Stay Provision [Adv. Docket No. 5] (the "Dismissal Motion").

16. On July 18, 2025, Highland filed its objection to the Dismissal Motion and its cross-motion [Adv. Docket Nos. 9 and 10] (the "Cross Motion"). Therein, Highland (a) objected to the Dismissal Motion on the ground that the IRS had made a "final determination" of the IRS audit dispute such that the Stay Provision no longer applied, and (b) requested entry of an order modifying the Settlement Order by striking the Stay Provision from the Settlement Agreement.

[11] Highland maintains that it has no obligation for the Reserved Claim irrespective of the outcome of the taxpayers' appeal of the Adjustment.

17. The Court held oral argument on September 4, 2025. [See Adv. Docket No. 21].[12] The Court denied Daugherty's Dismissal Motion and granted Highland's Cross Motion from the bench, finding that "extraordinary circumstances" existed justifying Rule 60(b) relief. The Court found that the Sunset Provisions of the CTA conflicted with the Stay Provision of the Settlement Agreement in ways that could not have been reasonably foreseen when those agreements were executed and approved by the Court years earlier and that justice required favoring the broad interest in timely dissolving the Claimant Trust over Daugherty's personal interest in waiting indefinitely to allow the appeal of the IRS audit determination to be resolved by the courts. See September 4, 2025 Transcript ("Tr.") at 30:18-34:9.

18. On September 5, the Court entered an order granting Highland's Cross Motion [Adv. Docket No. 23] (the "Order"), and on September 19, 2025, Daugherty appealed [Adv. Docket No. 25].

[12] By then, the Court had entered an Order extending the life of the Claimant Trust one last time, to August 11, 2026, without objection. [Main Docket No. 4298].

III. ARGUMENT

A. Legal Standard

19. A stay pending appeal is "extraordinary relief" for which the movant bears a "heavy burden." Plaquemines Par. v. Chevron United States, Inc., 84 F.4th 362, 373 (5th Cir. 2023). To meet this burden, a movant must establish: (1) substantial likelihood of success on the merits of its appeal; (2) irreparable injury if the stay is not granted; (3) the stay will not substantially harm other parties; and (4) the stay would serve the public interest. See In re First S. Sav. Assoc., 820 F.2d 700, 704 (5th Cir. 1987).

20. "The Fifth Circuit has made clear that all four elements must be met, and that the party who seeks a stay bears the burden of establishing these prerequisites." In re M&C P'ship, LLC, 2021 WL 3145197, at *4 (E.D. La. July 26, 2021) (citing Arnold v. Garlock, Inc., 278 F.3d 426, 438 (5th Cir. 2001) and Ruiz v. Estelle, 666 F.2d 854, 856 (5th Cir. 1982)). "'A stay is not a matter of right, even if irreparable injury might otherwise result. It is instead an exercise of judicial discretion, and [t]he propriety of its issue is dependent upon the circumstances of the particular case.'" Plaquemines, 84 F.4th at 373 (quoting Nken v. Holder, 556 U.S. 418, 433 (2009)). "In the context of a stay pending appeal, the decision to enter the stay is committed to the discretion of the bankruptcy court." Ruff v. Ruff, 2023 WL 2574021, at *4 (E.D. Tex. Mar. 20, 2023) (citing First S. Sav. Assoc., 820 F.2d at 709).

21. Daugherty fails to establish any of the four elements required to warrant the extraordinary remedy of a stay pending his appeal of the Order.

B. Daugherty Fails to Show a Substantial Likelihood of Success on the Merits

22. Daugherty fails to show a substantial likelihood of success on the merits of his Appeal. "To make the requisite showing under this element, the movant must demonstrate a strong case that it is 'likely to succeed on the merits' ..., not [just] a 'mere possibility of relief.'" Trend Intermodal Chassis Leasing LLC v. Zariz Transp. Inc., 711 F. Supp. 3d 627, 640 (N.D. Tex. 2024), aff'd sub nom. Trend Intermodal Chassis Leasing, L.L.C. v. Zariz Transp. Inc., 2024 WL 3423217 (5th Cir. July 16, 2024) (internal quotations omitted).[13] "While the absence of any one factor is not fatal to a successful motion for stay, greater weight is given to the first factor—the movant's likelihood of success." See In re Permian Producers Drilling, Inc., 263 B.R. 510, 515 (W.D. Tex. 2000).

[13] Daugherty argues that he need "only show that he can present a substantial case on the merits even if his argument is a request that the district court adopt a minority viewpoint." Motion ¶ 13 (citing In re Wright, 2023 WL 3560551 (Bankr. D.N.J. May 18, 2023)). That is not the law. Daugherty's assertion that he need not prove a "substantial likelihood of success on the merits" also fails because his Appeal does not involve "a serious legal question." See Motion ¶ 12 (citing Arnold, 278 F.3d at 438-39). Daugherty's Appeal does not involve any "legal question." See Appellant's Designation of Items to Be Included in the Record on Appeal and Statement of the Issues Presented [Adv. Docket No. 41].

23. Daugherty has not met this burden. As set forth below, (a) the Appeal will likely be dismissed because the Order is interlocutory such that leave of court was required for appellate review; and (b) the Appeal would fail on the merits in any event.

1. Daugherty Failed to Seek or Obtain Leave of the Court Before Appealing the Interlocutory Order

24. Daughterty cannot succeed on his Appeal because the Order is interlocutory—it is not "final" because it does not end the litigation of Daugherty's Reserved Claim on the merits—and is not appealable as of right under 28 U.S.C. § 158(a)(1).[14] See X Corp. v. Media Matters for Am., 120 F.4th 190 (5th Cir. 2024) (noting that "typically, a decision is 'final' only if it ends the litigation on the merits and leaves nothing for the court to do but execute the judgment"); Gross v. Keen Grp. Sols., LLC, 18 F.4th 836, 839 (5th Cir. 2021) (grants of Rule 60(b) motions are "considered interlocutory and non-appealable"); Shepherd v. Int'l Paper Co., 372 F.3d 326, 328 (5th Cir. 2004) (same). Daugherty did not seek leave to appeal the interlocutory Order as required under 28 U.S.C. § 158(a)(3) and Bankruptcy Rule 8004. The Appeal is procedurally infirm and will likely be dismissed on this basis.[15] There is little likelihood, let alone a "substantial" likelihood, of success on the Appeal.

2. The Appeal Would Fail on the Merits

25. Even if the Appeal is heard on the merits, it would still fail. Daugherty cannot prove that the Bankruptcy Court abused its broad discretion by granting the Cross Motion.

26. Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 60(b) authorizes courts to relieve a party from a final judgment or order for any reason justifying relief from operation of the judgment. "[T]he decision to grant or deny relief under Rule 60(b) lies within the sound discretion of the district court and will be reversed only for abuse of that discretion." Brittingham v. Wells Fargo Bank, N.A., 543 F. App'x 372, 373–74 (5th Cir. 2013) (internal quotations omitted); see also Samaras v. America's Favorite Chicken Co. (In re Al Copeland Enters.), 153 F.3d 268, 271 (5th Cir. 1998) (same). "The discretion under 60(b)(6) is said to be especially broad because relief may be granted under it when appropriate to accomplish justice." Lindy Invs. III v. Shakertown 1992, Inc., 360 F. App'x 510, 513 (5th Cir. 2010) (internal quotations omitted). A court abuses its discretion only when its ruling is based on an erroneous view of the law or a clearly erroneous assessment of the evidence. Nunez v. Allstate Ins. Co., 604 F.3d 840, 844 (5th Cir. 2010).

[15] Even if the district court treats Daugherty's notice of appeal as a motion for leave to appeal under Bankruptcy Rule 8004(d), leave would be denied. No "exceptional" circumstances justify appellate review of an interlocutory order under § 1292(b). See Balestri v. Hunton & Williams, LLP (In re Hallwood Energy, L.P.), 2013 WL 524418, at *6 (N.D. Tex. Feb. 11, 2013); In re Royce Homes LP, 466 B.R. 81, 93 (S.D. Tex. 2012) (noting that district courts within the Fifth Circuit have looked to the factors listed under 28 U.S.C. § 1292(b) in determining whether to grant a motion for leave to appeal an interlocutory order under 28 U.S.C. § 158(a)(3)).

27. Daugherty will be unable to demonstrate that the Bankruptcy Court abused its discretion in granting relief under Rule 60. On the Cross Motion, the Court confronted potentially conflicting provisions in two agreements that were approved years earlier in separate court orders: the Sunset Provision in the Confirmation Order and the Stay Provision in the Settlement Agreement. Resolution of this conflict is precisely the type of "extraordinary circumstance" that justified relief under Rule 60. Tr. at 31:23-32:23.

28. As the Court explained, while the parties disputed the meaning of the Stay Provision and whether the IRS had made a "final determination" with respect to the IRS tax audit, "we can't wait forever. That's not what the Bankruptcy Code, the bankruptcy process, is designed to do." Tr. at 33:19-20. This is the type of situation that is contemplated by section 502(c), "where at some point you've got to estimate the claim if you can't get to a final determination otherwise." The Court properly exercised its discretion when it stated, "I refuse to keep this estate open for who knows how many more years," noting that during her five years presiding over Highland's Bankruptcy Case, "I've made it clear" we need to "wind this up." Id. at 33:23-34:1. Four years earlier no one "reasonably anticipated that we would be sitting here in the latter part of 2025 with this bankruptcy estate still open." Id. at 31:10-20. Based on its assessment of the evidence and the unique circumstances of this case, the Court's grant of the Cross Motion was a proper exercise of its broad discretion.

29. In his Motion, Daugherty focuses exclusively on the Stay Provision in the Settlement Agreement while ignoring the conflicting Sunset Provisions in the CTA, Confirmation Order, and related extension orders. The Bankruptcy Court had to resolve the potential conflict, and it did so by enforcing the Sunset Provision rather than the Stay Provision. Daugherty will not succeed in proving that the Court erroneously left the Sunset Provision in place—approved nine months earlier for the benefit of the Claimant Trust Beneficiaries—rather than the later-approved Stay Provision, supposedly adopted solely for Daugherty's benefit. Daugherty fails to explain why the dissolution of the Claimant Trust must be delayed indefinitely for his personal benefit.

30. Daugherty's contention that "Highland could have negotiated provisions or caveats that would have addressed the current situation" is irrelevant. Motion ¶ 16.[16] Highland brought the Cross Motion because, at the time the [16] Highland could turn the tables on this point: since the Sunset Provisions (approved nine months before Daugherty signed the Settlement Agreement) require that all disputed claims be resolved so that the Claimant Trust could commence dissolution no later than August 11, 2026, Daugherty should have protected himself against the possibility that the IRS would not complete its audit by that time. Yet he failed to do so; if Daugherty expected an indefinite stay, he should have addressed the conflict presented by the pre-existing Sunset Provisions. His failure to so do proves one thing:

Settlement Agreement was entered into, no one reasonably foresaw that Daugherty's Reserved Claim would remain unresolved four years later, with the deadline for dissolution of the Claimant Trust looming. The Court—intimately familiar with all aspects of the long-running Highland bankruptcy—resolved the conflict and granted the Cross Motion in a proper exercise of its discretion. See Permian, 263 B.R. at 519-20 (finding movant failed to show likelihood of success on the merits of appeal in proving that bankruptcy court abused discretion in ordering substantive consolidation of bankruptcy estates where there was "sufficient evidence" to support court's factual findings); Al Copeland Enters., 153 F.3d at 272 (affirming bankruptcy court's grant of Rule 60(b)(6) motion as proper exercise of its discretion where denial of the motion would have "inequitable" results); Lindy, 360 F. App'x at 513 (court's view of the evidence was not "clearly erroneous" where it was familiar with all aspects of the case).

31. The cases Daugherty relies on in support of his assertion that "motions to reform or nullify settlements are disfavored," (Motion ¶ 14), miss the mark. In Lease Oil Antitrust Litigation (No. II), MDL No. 1206, 2002 WL 35645775 (S.D. Tex. Dec. 4, 2002), a Rule 60 motion was denied because the movant sought to re-litigate issues. Cashner v. Freedom Stores, 98 F.3d 572 (10th Cir. 1996), involved the Parties did not foresee the conflict between the operative provisions of the CTA and the Settlement Agreement.

a Rule 60(b) motion brought based on party's "mistake" as to the terms of the agreement. Here, unlike in Cashner and Lease Oil, Highland was not judicially estopped from seeking the relief sought in the Cross Motion, and such motion was not premised on a party's "mistake."

32. In Yesh Music v. Lakewood Church, 727 F.3d 356 (2013), the Fifth Circuit affirmed the lower court's grant of a Rule 60(b) motion to reinstate a plaintiff-appellee's voluntary dismissal of a lawsuit in order to prevent manifest injustice that would arise otherwise. Here, as in Yesh, the Bankruptcy Court properly exercised its discretion in modifying the Settlement Agreement so the parties could litigate the Reserved Claim before the deadline for commencing the dissolution of the Claimant Trust. Just as in Yesh, the circumstances here justified the modification of Settlement Order under Rule 60 in order to prevent injustice. Daugherty fails to demonstrate a likelihood of substantial success on the merits of the Appeal and the Motion should be denied.

C. Daugherty Will Not Suffer Irreparable Harm Absent a Stay Pending Appeal

33. Daugherty also fails to demonstrate that he will suffer irreparable harm absent a stay pending appeal. Daugherty maintains any harm to him in the absence of a stay is "irreparable" because if the IRS determines Highland has additional tax liability, "Highland will have fully consummated" its Plan and Daugherty will have no recourse. Motion ¶ 20. This is insufficient to demonstrate irreparable harm warranting a stay.

34. Any harm to Daugherty resulting from the commencement of this litigation would be self-inflicted.[17] In 2018, well before there was a Highland bankruptcy, the IRS made a written offer to resolve Daugherty's dispute of the Adjustment. Morris Dec. Exhibits 2-4. For reasons known only to him, Daugherty chose to follow Highland's recommendation and did not accept the offer. Even today, Daugherty is unwilling to try and resolve the IRS determination of his 2008 tax return Adjustment. Tr. at 15:19-17:7; 23:13-27:20. Daugherty's refusal to try to eliminate the risk is precisely the type of self-inflicted damage that does not constitute "irreparable" injury. See State v. Biden, 10 F.4th 538, 558 (5th Cir. 2021) (finding movant's "irreparable injuries" are "self-inflicted and therefore do not count," noting "a party may not satisfy the irreparable harm requirement if the harm complained of is self-inflicted") (internal quotations omitted).

35. Daugherty's purported harm is also speculative. As the Bankruptcy Court found, any resolution resulting from Daugherty's challenge to the Adjustment could take years. Daugherty's concern about the IRS's "plans to increase, decrease, or leave untouched Highland's 2008 tax liability," (Motion ¶ 19), is the type of speculative, monetary injury that is insufficient to constitute "irreparable harm."

[17] Again, Daugherty will likely never be harmed because his Claim will ultimately be disallowed.

See, e.g., BioTE Med., LLC v. Jacobsen, 406 F. Supp. 3d 575, 584 (E.D. Tex. 2019) (noting, in the context of a motion for injunctive relief, "the movant must come forward with evidence that such an injury is irreparable by showing that the loss cannot be measured in money damages"); Holland Am. Ins. Co. v. Succession of Roy, 777 F.2d 992, 997 (5th Cir. 1985) (vacating injunction where movant failed to show irreparable harm, noting "[s]peculative injury is not sufficient; there must be more than an unfounded fear on the part of the applicant").

36. Daugherty's argument, if accepted, would render Bankruptcy Code section 502(c) ("Section 502") a nullity. Section 502 provides the statutory authority for estimating contingent and unliquidated claims for allowance purposes. If litigating a claim under Section 502 constitutes "irreparable harm," then that provision could never be enforced and all bankruptcy estates would be forced to remain open until all contingent and unliquidated claims were finally resolved. That is not the law.

37. Daugherty's case cites in support of his contention that he will suffer irreparable harm absent a stay are inapplicable. In re ACC Bondholder Grp. v. Adelphia Communications Corp. (In re Adelphia Communications Corp.), 361 B.R. 337 (S.D.N.Y. 2007), involved a stay pending appeal of a chapter 11 plan before the plan was substantially consummated. Here, Daugherty is not appealing Highland's Plan, and there is no dispute that Highland's Plan has been consummated.[18] Plains Farm Supply v. Texas. Equipment Co. (In re Texas Equipment Co.), 283 B.R. 222 (Bankr. N.D. Tex 2002), is equally distinguishable. There, the issue was whether an appeal of a bankruptcy court's order authorizing sale was moot pursuant to section 363(m) of the Bankruptcy Code once the sale has occurred. Here, Daugherty is not appealing a sale order issued under section 363. Daugherty fails to show there is any risk of irreparable harm to him in the absence of a stay.

D. Highland and Its Stakeholders Will Be Harmed by a Stay Pending Appeal

38. Highland and its stakeholders will be substantially harmed if a stay is granted. Highland is required, pursuant to the terms of the CTA, the Plan, Confirmation Order, and the orders extending the duration of the Trust, to dissolve the Claimant Trust by August 11, 2026. The Claimant Trust cannot be dissolved until all disputed claims—including Daugherty's Reserved Claim—are resolved.

39. Daugherty maintains that Highland will not be harmed "because the stay is exactly what Daugherty and Highland agreed to in the Settlement Agreement." (Motion ¶ 22). Daugherty again ignores the purpose of the Court's Order. The issue is not whether the Parties agreed to the Stay Provision four years ago. It is whether that provision should now be excised in the face of unforeseen and extraordinary circumstances—namely, a potentially conflicting order requiring Highland to commence dissolution of the Claimant Trust by August 2026. Highland, its estate, and the Claimant Trust Beneficiaries have already waited for years to end the Bankruptcy Case. It cannot go on indefinitely while Daugherty litigates his audit dispute with the IRS. As the Bankruptcy Court explained, "that's not what the Bankruptcy Code, the bankruptcy process, is designed to do." (Tr. at 33:19-20). A stay of this litigation pending Daugherty's Appeal will only further delay the Claimant Trust dissolution process, in violation of numerous orders, including the Confirmation Order, and to the detriment of the Claimant Trust Beneficiaries. Any such result would run afoul of the fundamental purpose of the bankruptcy process. See Permian, 263 B.R. at 522-53 (finding creditors would suffer by a stay of bankruptcy proceedings, noting "a fundamental purpose of the bankruptcy system, is to convert the assets of the bankrupt into cash for distribution among creditors," and "delay in payment to creditors runs counter to this fundamental purpose and, therefore, harms creditors"); Clyde Bergemann, Inc. v. Babcock & Wilcox Co. (In re Babcock & Wilcox), No. 00-10992, 2000 WL 533492, at *18 (E.D. La. May 3, 2000) (denying stay pending appeal, noting that "delay to creditors receiving payments is significant harm warranting denial of stay"). This factor weighs heavily against a stay.

[18] Manges v. Seattle-First Nat'l Bank (In re Manges), 29 F.3d 1034 (5th Cir. 1994) is inapplicable, as it also deals with whether a plan will be substantially consummated pending appeal. In any event, Daugherty's Reserved Claim is fully reserved.

E. A Stay Pending Appeal Is Contrary to the Public Interest

40. Finally, and for all these same reasons, the public interest would not be served by the granting of a stay. "The public interest, in the context of a bankruptcy proceeding, is in promoting a successful reorganization." Babcock, 2000 WL 533492, at *19 (internal quotations omitted). The Appeal lacks merit. It would be a waste of party, estate, and judicial resources to stay resolution of Daugherty's Reserved Claim pending resolution of an appeal that will fail. A stay pending the Appeal would unnecessarily delay the resolution of the Bankruptcy Case. See Bohm v. Howard (In re Howard), 422 B.R. 593, 605 (Bankr. W.D. Pa. 2010), aff'd, 2:10CV962, 2011 WL 578777 (W.D. Pa. Feb. 9, 2011) ("imposing a stay pending appeal and permitting the Defendant to continue to dissipate assets of the estate does nothing but delay this bankruptcy case and foster further litigation"); ePlus, Inc. v. Katz (In re Metiom, Inc.), 318 B.R. 263, 272 (S.D.N.Y. 2004) ("This Court finds that the public interest in the expeditious administration of bankruptcy cases as well as in the preservation of the bankrupt's assets for purposes of paying creditors, rather than litigation of claims lacking a substantial possibility of success, outweighs the public interest in resolving the issues presented here on appeal.").

41. Further delay of this Adversary Proceeding would be detrimental to Highland and the Claimant Trust Beneficiaries, as well as a waste of judicial resources. A stay of this litigation would also run afoul of Section 502, which allows an estimation of a claim where, as here, liquidating through the usual adjudicatory process would "unduly delay" the administration of the case. Daugherty fails to demonstrate the extraordinary remedy of a stay is warranted.

IV. CONCLUSION

Accordingly, Highland respectfully requests that the Court deny the Motion.

Counsel to Patrick Daugherty

IN THE UNITED STATES BANKRUPTCY COURT
FOR THE NORTHERN DISTRICT OF TEXAS
DALLAS DIVISION

In re:	§	Chapter 11
HIGHLAND CAPITAL MANAGEMENT, L.P.,[1]	§	Case No. 19-34054 (SGJ)
Reorganized Debtor.	§
HIGHLAND CAPITAL MANAGEMENT, L.P.,	§
Plaintiff,	§
v.	§
PATRICK HAGAMAN DAUGHERTY,	§	Adversary No. 25-03055
Defendant.	§

[1] Highland's last four digits of its taxpayer identification number are (8357). The headquarters and service address for Highland is 100 Crescent Court, Suite 1850, Dallas, TX 75201.

PATRICK DAUGHERTY'S REPLY IN SUPPORT OF MOTION FOR STAY PENDING APPEAL

Defendant Patrick Daugherty files this Reply in Support of Motion for Stay Pending Appeal pursuant to Bankruptcy Rule 8007(a)(1)(A) and would show the Court as follows:

PRELIMINARY STATEMENT

1. Highland's Objection [Doc. No. 44] lacks any meritorious argument. An order granting a Rule 60(b) motion is generally appealable. And the Motion sets out why Daugherty's appeal will succeed on its merits, why he would be irreparably harmed if the stay is not granted, why Highland would not be harmed, and why a stay would serve the public interest. The Objection raises nothing more than strawman arguments that miss the mark. The Court should grant the Motion and issue the stay.

ARGUMENT AND AUTHORITIES

I. Daugherty Did Not Need to Seek Leave to Appeal.

2. Highland argues Daugherty is appealing an interlocutory order, so he needed to seek leave to appeal. Objection at ¶ 24. This disregards the fact that the Order approving Daugherty's Settlement Agreement with Highland is final. Although an order approving a settlement agreement is not a "final judgment," the Fifth Circuit has held that it is a final order that is appealable as of right to the district court. See Adam v. Itech Oil Co. (In re Gibraltar Res., Inc.), 210 F.3d 573, 576 (5th Cir. 2000) (collecting cases). The Court's Order granting Highland's Rule 60(b)(6) Cross Motion to modify the Settlement Agreement is therefore immediately appealable. Browder v. Dir., Dep't of Corr. of Ill., 434 U.S. 257, 263 n.7 (1978); see also Halick v. La. Casino Cruises, Inc., 151 F.3d 465, 470 (5th Cir. 1998) (same).

II. Daugherty will likely prevail on appeal because the Settlement Agreement is a binding contract that this Court should not have modified under Rule 60(b)(6).

3. Highland completely ignores the binding nature of the Stay Provision, as well as the wealth of case law that motions to reform or nullify settlements are disfavored. In re Lease Oil Antitrust Litig., MDL No. 1206, 2002 WL 35645775, at *13 (S.D. Tex. Dec. 4, 2002) (holding that the movant on a 60(b)(6) presented "no reasons justifying a modification of the Global Settlement…[t]he Court finds that the [current motion is simply] another attempt by CE Corp to collect under the Global Settlement – an action that is expressly prohibited" (emphasis added)). Instead, Highland dodges to the Sunset Provision in the Confirmation Order and Claimant Trust Agreement, arguing the Court "confronted two potentially conflicting provisions in two agreements". Objection at ¶ 27. Highland further argues — without any supporting authority — that resolution of the purported conflict "is precisely the type of 'extraordinary circumstance' that justified relief under Rule 60." Id. Tellingly, Highland fails to acknowledge that because the Claimant Trust was extended to 2026, by Highland's own action, any perceived conflict at this time was eliminated. In addition, any possible future conflicting provisions of the agreements are simply illusory as Highland and the Claimant Trustee can use their powers to seek an extension of its duration. See e.g., Main Case Doc. Nos. 4213, 4298 ("This order is without prejudice to the Trusts' right to seek further extensions of their duration under the Plan or otherwise.").

4. Highland completely disregards that it previously lauded the Settlement Agreement as "fair and reasonable" and the Court found "the Settlement Agreement [to be] fair and equitable." Main Case Doc. No. 3088 at ¶¶ 41-48; Main Case Doc. No. 3298 at 2. Moreover, Highland took advantage of the Settlement Agreement for years through tolling agreements that extended the deadline for Highland's objection to Daugherty's Reserved Claim. Striking the Stay Provision now is inequitable to Daugherty. Moreover, contrary to Highland's argument, there is no actual conflict. As Highland itself points out, the Sunset Provision has been extended multiple times and could be extended again. Further, Highland's position is myopic, if Daugherty truly is the last remaining unresolved creditor, the Claimant Trust Agreement could be modified to place Daugherty in charge of the Trust. Accordingly, Daugherty is willing to extend the Trust and does not require the extensive releases and injunctive protections demanded by Highland and its employees, the Claimant Trustee, the Litigation Trustee, the Oversight Board Members, and their professionals that were prohibited by the Fifth Circuit.

5. Next Highland contends the Court's decision was implicitly connected to Bankruptcy Code section 502(c), which allows for estimation of a contingent or unliquidated claim that would unduly delay administration of the estate. Id. at ¶ 28. But doing so directly conflicts with the Settlement Agreement's terms that the Court previously approved — in other words, the Court is doing nothing more than revoking its approval of the Stay Provision. Nor is this something the Court did sua sponte. Rather, it did so based on Highland's Cross-Motion, which Highland claimed was due to unforeseen circumstances. As Daugherty previously pointed out, courts do not, and cannot, recuse parties from their own counseled, deliberate choices that in hindsight are unfortunate. Yesh Music v. Lakewood Church, 727 F.3d 356, 363 (5th Cir. 2013); see S.E.C. v. Conradt, 309 F.R.D. 186, 187-88 (S.D.N.Y. 2015) (refusing to utilize Rule 60(b)(6) to vacate defendants' settlement agreements that resulted in consent judgments after defendants' guilty pleas in a parallel proceeding were vacated).

6. Highland also contends Daugherty could have also sought protection in the Settlement Agreement from the Claimant Trust Agreement. Id. at ¶ 30. But mistake is not an "extraordinary circumstance" that justifies Court intervention under Rule 60(b)(6) – the basis for Highland's Cross Motion. Fifth Circuit precedent makes clear that "mistake or inadvertence" is covered by subsections (1)–(3) of Rule 60(b) and must be raised within one year. Fed. R. Civ. P. 60(c)(1); Seven Elves, Inc. v. Eskenazi, 635 F.2d 396, 401–02 (5th Cir. 1981); see also Pioneer Inv. Servs. Co. v. Brunswick Assocs. Ltd. P'ship, 507 U.S. 380, 393 (1993) (Rule 60(b)(1) covers mistake, inadvertence, surprise, or excusable neglect, and is subject to a one-year limitation). Highland's failure to timely raise the issue with the Court, and through the appropriate motion, demonstrates that Daugherty has a substantial likelihood of success on the merits.

III. There is a significant risk of irreparable injury if the Court does not grant the stay.

7. If the Court does not grant the stay, Daugherty is at risk of irreparable injury. Allowing Highland's adversary proceeding against Daugherty to conclude before the IRS Audit is final exposes Daugherty to additional tax liability that he cannot recover from Highland. Highland fails to cite any authority in the context of a motion to stay pending appeal that such "speculative" injury is insufficient to constitute irreparable harm. Cf. ACC Bondholder Grp. v. Adelphia Commc'ns Corp. (In re Adelphia Commc'ns Corp.), 361 B.R. 337, 448 (S.D.N.Y. 2007) (citing In re Country Squire Assocs. of Carle Place, L.P., 203 B.R. 182, 183 (2nd Cir. BAP 1996)); In re Texas Equipment Co., Inc., 283 B.R. 222, 228 (Bankr. N.D. Tex 2002); see also Manges v. Seattle-First Nat'l Bank (In re Manges), 29 F.3d 1034 (5th Cir. 1994).[2]

8. Separately, Highland argues that a stay would render section 502(c) a nullity, and that "provision could never be enforced and all bankruptcy estates would be forced to remain open until all contingent and unliquidated claims were finally resolved." Objection at ¶ 36. That is simply not true. The parties' Settlement Agreement supersedes section 502(c) under the circumstances here, especially where the Court held the Settlement Agreement was fair and reasonable.

IV. There would be no harm to other parties if the Court granted the stay.

9. Highland argues a stay would harm Highland, the estate, and other creditors who have "waited years to end the Bankruptcy Case." Objection at ¶ 39. Not true. A stay would benefit all those stakeholders because it would avoid costly and time-consuming litigation (including appeals) that could prove to be an empty gesture depending on the results of the IRS' audit. In fact, any purported delay is more than offset by the litigation savings Highland and the estate will see if this appeal is allowed to proceed now, because the appeal will determine whether the Court had authority to strike the Stay Provision. If the Court did not, the effect of that ruling would be to dismiss (or at the very least stay) the adversary proceeding until the IRS makes a final determination. That saves Highland and the estate from costly litigation and appeals, including appeals that would be filed after the adversary proceeding is concluded if the IRS audit is still pending.

V. Granting the stay would further judicial economy and serve the public interest because it would give litigants confidence that courts will enforce settlement agreements.

10. Daugherty's Motion established why a stay would further judicial economy. Highland makes a conclusory argument that the stay is a waste of judicial resources because Daugherty's appeal "will fail." But as Daugherty established in his Motion and above, there is a likelihood of success on the merits. Further, a stay promotes judicial economy because it avoids piecemeal appeals. See PYCA Indus., Inc. v. Harrison Cnty. Waste Water Mgmt. Dist., 81 F.3d 1412, 1421 (5th Cir. 1996); In re Perry, Nos. 23-5265, 23-5266, 2024 WL 68257, at *3 (E.D. La. Jan. 5, 2024). The enforceability of the "litigation stay provision" in the Settlement Agreement is the critical issue on appeal. If that provision is determined to control, then any litigation that this Court allows to commence will be pointless and, importantly, voidable, wasting the parties' and the Court's time and resources. The parties would then have to re-litigate the adversary proceeding after the IRS' final determination. Thus, judicial economy weighs in favor of granting Daugherty's motion for stay pending appeal.

11. Highland also ignores the public interest will be served by granting a stay because the Court—and all litigants in this circuit—should value the importance of binding settlement agreements, especially like the one here that was negotiated between sophisticated parties and skilled counsel. Finally, courts should only exercise the power under Rule 60(b)(6) in the most unique circumstances. Seven Elves, Inc. v. Eskenazi, 635 F.2d 396, 401 (5th Cir. 1981). This is not one of that small subset of cases. Litigants, and not just those in this case, should have confidence that binding settlement agreements they enter will be enforced as written

WHEREFORE, Patrick Daugherty respectfully requests that the Court (a) enter an order granting the immediate motion, (b) stay the adversary proceeding captioned as Highland Capital Management, L.P. v. Patrick Hagaman Daugherty (In re Highland Capital Management, L.P.), Case No. 19-34054 (SGJ), Adversary No. 25-03055, (c) stay the enforcement of the Court's September 4, 2024 Order, and (d) grant such other and further relief as may be just and proper.

Dated: October 13, 2025.

Respectfully submitted,

Dear Andrew York:

The above referenced case has been reviewed as part of the Clerk's Office continuing effort to identify cases that are deficient for specific documents. Our review indicates that this case requires:

- ☐ Interim Report
- ☐ Trustee's Final Account
- ☐ Trustee's Final Report
- ☐ 341 Meeting Minute Sheet and Exempt Property Report
- ☐ Report of Trustee in No−Asset Case and Application for Closing
- ☐ Motion to Dismiss debtor's Failure to Attend 341 Meeting
- ☑ Other: Please file an amended appellant designation to omit line item 3, that transcript you already listed on page 4.

Please electronically file the requested documents, provide a specific date for which this information will be provided to the Court, or provide information as to why this case should remain open. Failure to respond within 2 days from the date of this letter may result in the Court setting a status conference to determine why the document(s) has not been filed or the matter may be denied for want of prosecution.

APPELLANT'S AMENDED DESIGNATION OF ITEMS TO BE INCLUDED IN THE RECORD ON APPEAL AND STATEMENT OF THE ISSUES PRESENTED

Pursuant to Fed. R. Bankr. P. 8009(a), Appellant Patrick Daugherty ("Daugherty") hereby submits his amended designation of items to be included in the record on appeal and statement of issues to be presented in connection with his appeal from the rder (A) enying Patrick augherty s Motion to ismiss and (B) ranting Highland Capital Management, L.P. s Cross Motion for Relief from a inal rder Pursuant to Bankruptcy Rule [Docket No. 23 in Adversary No. 25-03055], to the extent it granted relief under Federal Rule of Bankruptcy Procedure 9024 and Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 60(b). ee Notice of Appeal [Docket No. 25 in Adversary No. 25-03055].

Statement of Issues on Appeal

1. Whether the Bankruptcy Court abused its discretion by granting Highland Capital Management, L.P.'s Cross Motion pursuant to Fed. R. Civ. P. 60(b)(6) when Highland failed to make a showing of manifest injustice and exceptional circumstances required to rewrite a term of the parties' bargained-for, court-approved settlement agreement that Highland Capital Management, L.P. entered on a free, deliberate, calculated, and counseled basis.

2. Whether the Bankruptcy Court abused its discretion by granting Highland Capital Management, L.P.'s Cross Motion pursuant to Fed. R. Civ. P. 60(b)(6) when Highland was estopped from seeking such relief after it obtained the benefits of the tolling provision in the settlement agreement, including, inter alia, the parties' negotiation and execution of a series of tolling agreements to the benefit of Highland Capital Management, L.P. regarding its certain claim-objection deadline.

Designation of Record

Daugherty respectfully designates the following items to be included in the appellate record pursuant to Bankruptcy Rule 8009(a):

1. Notice of Appeal for Adversary No. 25-03055 [Docket No. 25].

2. The Judgment Order or Decree appealed from: rder (a) enying Patrick augherty s Motion to ismiss and ( ) ranting Highland Capital Management, L.P. s Cross Motion for Relief from a inal rder Pursuant to Bankruptcy Rule [Docket No. 23 in Adversary No. 25-03055].

3. Docket Sheet for Adversary Case No. 25-03055 kept by the Bankruptcy Clerk.

4. Documents listed below for Bankruptcy Case No. 19-34054-sgj11:

HIGHLAND CAPITAL MANAGEMENT, L.P.'S ANSWER TO PATRICK DAUGHERTY'S ORIGINAL COUNTERCLAIM

Plaintiff/Counter-Defendant Highland Capital Management, L.P., the reorganized debtor ("Highland" or the "Debtor", as applicable), by and through its undersigned counsel, hereby answers the Original Counterclaim [Docket No. 39] (the "Counterclaim") filed by Defendant/Counter-Plaintiff Patrick Daugherty ("Daugherty"), as follows:

I. RESPONSE TO "PRELIMINARY STATEMENT"

1. Highland admits the allegations contained in Paragraph 1 of the Counterclaim that on November 22, 2021, Daugherty and Highland signed a Settlement Agreement. Highland denies that Daugherty acquired the "interests in HERA and ERA" via the Settlement Agreement as such acquisition was made by way of a separate legal transfer, albeit pursuant to the terms of the Settlement Agreement. Highland denies the allegations contained in the second sentence of Paragraph 1 to the extent that they misstate Daugherty's rights and Highland's obligations under the Settlement Agreement. Highland denies the remaining allegations contained in Paragraph 1.

2. Highland denies the allegations contained in the first sentence of Paragraph 2 of the Counterclaim. As to the allegations in the second sentence of Paragraph 2, Highland is without sufficient information to determine their truth or falsity, and accordingly, denies those allegations. Highland denies the allegations contained in the third sentence of Paragraph 2 to the extent that they misstate Daugherty's rights and Highland's obligations under the Settlement Agreement. Highland denies the remaining allegations contained in Paragraph 2.

II. RESPONSE TO "JURISDICTION AND VENUE"

3. Highland admits the allegations contained in Paragraph 3 of the Counterclaim.

III. RESPONSE TO "PARTIES"

4. Highland admits the allegations contained in Paragraph 4 of the Counterclaim to the best of its current knowledge.

5. Highland admits the allegations contained in Paragraph 5 of the Counterclaim.

IV. RESPONSE TO "FACTUAL BACKGROUND"

6. Highland admits the portion of the allegations contained in the first sentence of Paragraph 6 of the Counterclaim except to clarify that Highland executed the Settlement Agreement on November 21, 2021, and Daugherty executed the Settlement Agreement on November 22, 2021, but Highland denies the remaining allegations contained in that sentence. Highland admits the allegations contained in the second sentence of Paragraph 6 that the Court approved the Settlement Agreement on March 8, 2022.

7. Highland admits the allegations contained in Paragraph 7 of the Counterclaim, except to clarify that the correct legal name of the "ERA" entity as described in Paragraph 7 is "Highland ERA Management, LLC", not "ERA Management, LLC".

8. With respect to the allegations contained in the first and second sentences of Paragraph 8 of the Counterclaim, the referenced document speaks for itself, but to the extent a response is required, Highland admits these allegations. With respect to the allegations contained in the third sentence of Paragraph 8, Highland admits that although Daugherty previously made certain information requests to Highland, Highland has denied those requests since at least March 2022 because Daugherty seeks information that he is not entitled to under the Settlement Agreement and Highland has fully complied with its obligations thereunder. Highland denies the allegations contained in the fourth sentence of Paragraph 8. With respect to the allegations contained in the last sentence of Paragraph 8, Highland admits that Daugherty brings his Counterclaim but denies that Daugherty is entitled to any relief sought therein.

V. RESPONSES TO "CAUSES OF ACTION"

Count I – Breach of Contract

9. In response to Paragraph 9 of the Counterclaim, Highland incorporates by reference the above paragraphs.

10. Highland admits the allegations contained in Paragraph 10 of the Counterclaim except with respect to the execution dates.

11. Highland denies the allegations contained in Paragraph 11 of the Counterclaim.

12. Highland denies the allegations contained in the first sentence of Paragraph 12 of the Counterclaim. With respect to the second portion of Paragraph 12, which cites to Paragraph 8 of the Settlement Agreement, the referenced document speaks for itself.

13. Highland is generally aware of the existence of the pending litigation described in the first sentence of Paragraph 13, but Highland is without sufficient information to determine the truth or falsity of the allegations contained in Paragraph 13 of the Counterclaim, and accordingly, denies those allegations.

14. Highland denies the allegations contained in Paragraph 14 of the Counterclaim and avers that on October 8, 2025, it provided a list of the boxes of documents subject to the referenced motion with an offer to, "assuming they are plausibly related to some on-going litigation, . . . arrange to have them copied at [Daugherty's] expense and provide them pursuant to an agreed-upon confidentiality agreement."

15. In response to Paragraph 15 of the Counterclaim, Highland admits that in his Counterclaim, Daugherty asks this Court to find that Highland breached the Settlement Agreement, but Highland denies that it breached any agreement and denies that Daugherty is entitled to any relief.

Count II – Specific Performance

16. In response to Paragraph 16 of the Counterclaim, Highland incorporates by reference the above paragraphs.

17. Highland admits that the Settlement Agreement is binding but denies the remaining allegations contained in Paragraph 17 of the Counterclaim.

18. Highland denies the allegations contained in Paragraph 18 of the Counterclaim.

19. Highland denies the allegations contained in the first sentence of Paragraph 19 of the Counterclaim. With respect to the portion of Paragraph 19, which cites to Paragraph 8 of the Settlement Agreement, the referenced document speaks for itself.

20. Highland denies the allegations contained in Paragraph 20 of the Counterclaim.

21. Highland denies the allegations contained in Paragraph 21 of the Counterclaim.

22. Highland denies the allegations contained in Paragraph 22 of the Counterclaim.

Count III – Attorneys' Fees

23. In response to Paragraph 23 of the Counterclaim, Highland incorporates by reference the above paragraphs.

24. Highland denies the allegations contained in the first sentence of Paragraph 24 of the Counterclaim. In response to the allegations contained in the second sentence of Paragraph 24, (a) the allegations contain legal conclusions which Highland is not required to admit or deny, (b) to the extent a response is required, Highland denies the allegations, and (c) Highland admits that in the Counterclaim, Daugherty asks the Court to award him attorneys' fees, but denies that Daugherty is entitled to such relief. Highland denies the remaining allegations contained in Paragraph 24 of the Counterclaim.

RESPONSE TO "CONCLUSION AND PRAYER"

The remainder of the Counterclaim contains a "Prayer" to which no response is required. However, to the extent a response is required, Highland denies that Daugherty has any viable claims or causes of action against it or that Daugherty is entitled to any relief against it (whether included in the "Prayer" or otherwise).

FIRST AFFIRMATIVE DEFENSE

Highland denies each and every allegation of the Counterclaim that is not specifically admitted.

SECOND AFFIRMATIVE DEFENSE

(Statute of Limitations)

Daugherty's Counterclaims are barred by the applicable statute of limitations. Under Delaware law, breach of contract claims must be filed within three (3) years from the time the contract is breached. Daugherty's Counterclaim is premised on an alleged breach of the Settlement Agreement that Daugherty asserts occurred in March 2022 (see Counterclaim ¶ 8), more than three years ago. Accordingly, the Counterclaim is barred by the statute of limitations.

THIRD AFFIRMATIVE DEFENSE

(Failure to State a Claim)

Daugherty's Counterclaims fail to state a claim upon which relief can be granted against Highland.

FOURTH AFFIRMATIVE DEFENSE

(Bad Faith)

Daugherty commenced this action in bad faith against Highland.

FIFTH AFFIRMATIVE DEFENSE

(Unclean Hands)

Daugherty's action is barred by the doctrine of unclean hands.

SIXTH AFFIRMATIVE DEFENSE

(Right to Assert Affirmative Defenses)

Highland reserves the right to assert additional affirmative defenses based upon further investigation and discovery.

WHEREFORE, having fully answered the Counterclaim as set forth herein, Highland requests (a) that the Counterclaim be dismissed with prejudice, and (b) such other relief as the Court deems just and proper.

Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 45(c), (d), (e), and (g) (Effective 12/1/13)
(made applicable in bankruptcy cases by Rule 9016, Federal Rules of Bankruptcy Procedure)

(c) Place of compliance.

(1) For a Trial, Hearing, or Deposition. A subpoena may command a person to attend a trial, hearing, or deposition only as follows:

(A) within 100 miles of where the person resides, is employed, or regularly transacts business in person; or

(B) within the state where the person resides, is employed, or regularly transacts business in person, if the person

(i) is a party or a party's officer; or

(ii) is commanded to attend a trial and would not incur substantial expense.

(2)For Other Discovery. A subpoena may command:

(A) production of documents, or electronically stored information, or things at a place within 100 miles of where the person resides, is employed, or regularly transacts business in person; and

(B) inspection of premises, at the premises to be inspected.

(d) Protecting a Person Subject to a Subpoena; Enforcement.

(1) Avoiding Undue Burden or Expense; Sanctions. A party or attorney responsible for issuing and serving a subpoena must take reasonable steps to avoid imposing undue burden or expense on a person subject to the subpoena. The court for the district where compliance is required must enforce this duty and impose an appropriate sanction — which may include lost earnings and reasonable attorney's fees — on a party or attorney who fails to comply.

(2) Command to Produce Materials or Permit Inspection.

(A) Appearance Not Required. A person commanded to produce documents, electronically stored information, or tangible things, or to permit the inspection of premises, need not appear in person at the place of production or inspection unless also commanded to appear for a deposition, hearing, or trial.

(B) Objections. A person commanded to produce documents or tangible things or to permit inspection may serve on the party or attorney designated in the subpoena a written objection to inspecting, copying, testing or sampling any or all of the materials or to inspecting the premises — or to producing electronically stored information in the form or forms requested. The objection must be served before the earlier of the time specified for compliance or 14 days after the subpoena is served. If an objection is made, the following rules apply:

(i) At any time, on notice to the commanded person, the serving party may move the court for the district where compliance is required for an order compelling production or inspection.

(ii) These acts may be required only as directed in the order, and the order must protect a person who is neither a party nor a party's officer from significant expense resulting from compliance.

(3) Quashing or Modifying a Subpoena.

(A) When Required. On timely motion, the court for the district where compliance is required must quash or modify a subpoena that:

(i) fails to allow a reasonable time to comply;

(ii) requires a person to comply beyond the geographical limits specified in Rule 45(c);

(iii) requires disclosure of privileged or other protected matter, if no exception or waiver applies; or

(iv) subjects a person to undue burden.

(B) When Permitted. To protect a person subject to or affected by a subpoena, the court for the district where compliance is required may, on motion, quash or modify the subpoena if it requires:

(i) disclosing a trade secret or other confidential research, development, or commercial information; or

(ii) disclosing an unretained expert's opinion or information that does not describe specific occurrences in dispute and results from the expert's study that was not requested by a party.

(C) Specifying Conditions as an Alternative. In the circumstances described in Rule 45(d)(3)(B), the court may, instead of quashing or modifying a subpoena, order appearance or production under specified conditions if the serving party:

(i) shows a substantial need for the testimony or material that cannot be otherwise met without undue hardship; and

(ii) ensures that the subpoenaed person will be reasonably compensated.

(e) Duties in Responding to a Subpoena.

(1) Producing Documents or Electronically Stored Information. These procedures apply to producing documents or electronically stored information:

(A) Documents. A person responding to a subpoena to produce documents must produce them as they are kept in the ordinary course of business or must organize and label them to correspond to the categories in the demand.

(B) Form for Producing Electronically Stored Information Not Specified. If a subpoena does not specify a form for producing electronically stored information, the person responding must produce it in a form or forms in which it is ordinarily maintained or in a reasonably usable form or forms.

(C) Electronically Stored Information Produced in Only One Form. The person responding need not produce the same electronically stored information in more than one form.

(D) Inaccessible Electronically Stored Information. The person responding need not provide discovery of electronically stored information from sources that the person identifies as not reasonably accessible because of undue burden or cost. On motion to compel discovery or for a protective order, the person responding must show that the information is not reasonably accessible because of undue burden or cost. If that showing is made, the court may nonetheless order discovery from such sources if the requesting party shows good cause, considering the limitations of Rule 26(b)(2)(C). The court may specify conditions for the discovery.

(2) Claiming Privilege or Protection.

(A) Information Withheld. A person withholding subpoenaed information under a claim that it is privileged or subject to protection as trial-preparation material must:

(i) expressly make the claim; and

(ii) describe the nature of the withheld documents, communications, or tangible things in a manner that, without revealing information itself privileged or protected, will enable the parties to assess the claim.

(B)Information Produced. If information produced in response to a subpoena is subject to a claim of privilege or of protection as trial-preparation material, the person making the claim may notify any party that received the information of the claim and the basis for it. After being notified, a party must promptly return, sequester, or destroy the specified information and any copies it has; must not use or disclose the information until the claim is resolved; must take reasonable steps to retrieve the information if the party disclosed it before being notified; and may promptly present the information under seal to the court for the district where compliance is required for a determination of the claim. The person who produced the information must preserve the information until the claim is resolved.

(g) Contempt. The court for the district where compliance is required – and also, after a motion is transferred, the issuing court – may hold in contempt a person who, having been served, fails without adequate excuse to obey the subpoena or an order related to it.

For access to subpoena materials, see Fed. R. Civ. P. 45(a) Committee Note (2013)

EXHIBIT B

INSTRUCTIONS

1. For each Document (as defined below) withheld by reason of a claim of privilege, provide a privilege log identifying such Document together with: (a) the date of the Document; (b) the identity of the author or preparer; (c) the identity of each person who was sent or furnished with the Document or who received or had possession or custody of the document; (d) a description of the Document, including identification of any attachments or appendices; (e) a statement of the basis of the claim of privilege; and (f) the paragraph of this request to which the document is responsive. In the case of Documents concerning a meeting or conversation, identify all participants in the meeting or conversation.

2. Each Document shall be produced in a fashion that indicates clearly the file in which it was located.

3. If a Document cannot be produced in full, produce it to the extent possible, identify the portion that cannot be produced, and specify the reasons for Your (as defined below) inability to produce the remainder.

4. You are required to produce ESI (as defined below) in searchable form on DVDs, CD-ROMs or other media to be mutually agreed by the parties.

5. Documents may be produced in paper format or electronically. If Documents are produced electronically, or if any ESI is produced, the following formatting should be used:

- Use .tif format for all Documents that were not originally in Excel format, in which case, use .xls or .xlsx format;

- If possible, without creating undue delay, please produce Documents in Summation-ready DVDs, CD-ROMs or other media to be mutually agreed by the parties with .tiff and text format, and with a Summation load file; and
- Transmit electronic Documents or ESI on DVDs, CD-ROMs or other media to be mutually agreed by the parties or use an ftp site upload.

6. These Requests shall be deemed continuing and supplemental answers shall be required if You directly or indirectly obtain further information after Your initial response as required by Fed. R. Bank. P. 7026(e).

7. The use of either the singular or plural shall not be deemed a limitation. The use of the singular includes the plural, and vice versa.

8. Any Document that contains any comment, notation, addition, insertion or marking of any type or kind which is not part of another Document, is to be considered a separate Document.

9. The Requests seek Documents and Communications created, sent, or received between January 1, 2018, and the date of Your responses to these Requests.

DEFINITIONS

1. "2008 Audit" means the IRS's audit of Highland's 2008 tax return.

2. "Communications" means the transmittal of information (in the form of facts, ideas, inquiries, or otherwise) and includes all oral and written communications of any nature, type or kind including, but not limited to, any ESI (and any attachments thereto), Documents, telephone conversations, text messages, discussions, meetings, facsimiles, e-mails, pagers, memoranda, and any other medium through which any information is conveyed or transmitted.

3. "Concerning" means and includes relating to, constituting, defining, evidencing, mentioning, containing, describing, discussing, embodying, reflecting, edifying, analyzing, stating, referring to, dealing with, or in any way pertaining to the subject matter.

4. "Daugherty" means means Patrick Hagaman Daugherty and anyone with actual or apparent authority to act on his behalf, including his accountant or legal counsel.

5. "Document" means and includes all written, recorded, transcribed or graphic matter of every nature, type and kind, however and by whoever produced, reproduced, disseminated or made. This includes, but is not limited to, Communications, ESI, "writings" as defined by Rule 1001 of the Federal Rules of Evidence, copies or drafts, any tangible or intangible thing or item that contains any information, but specifically excluding any Documents provided by You to the IRS in response to any Information Document Request made in connection with the 2008 Audit.

6. "ESI" has the meaning ascribed to it in Federal Rules of Civil Procedure 16, 26, and 34(a).

7. "Highland" means Highland Capital Management, L.P., including its current and former officers, employees, and agents (e.g., outside counsel).

8. "Hunton" means the law firm Hunton Andrews Kurth LLP, including its attorneys and representatives and predecessors.

9. "IRS" refers to the Internal Revenue Service, including its employees and representatives.

HIGHLAND CAPITAL MANAGEMENT, L.P.'S MOTION TO COMPEL PRODUCTION OF AUDIO RECORDINGS, TRANSCRIPTS, AND RELATED DOCUMENTS

Plaintiff/Counter-Defendant Highland Capital Management, L.P., the reorganized debtor ("Highland" or the "Debtor," as applicable), by and through its undersigned counsel, hereby files its Motion to Compel Production of Audio Recordings, Transcripts and Related Documents (the "Motion") in the above-captioned adversary proceeding (the "Adversary Proceeding"). In support of its Motion, Highland respectfully states as follows:

I. PRELIMINARY STATEMENT[2]

1. Patrick Daugherty ("Daugherty") secretly recorded certain one-on-one telephone conversations he had with James Seery, Highland's CEO, and possesses audio recordings or transcripts of such conversations (the "Secret Recordings"). Yet, Daugherty refuses to produce these Secret Recordings (or any other conversations he may have surreptitiously recorded with other Highland representatives) in response to Highland's Requests on the sole ground that such information is somehow not "relevant" to this proceeding. Contrary to Daugherty's conclusory objections, the Requested Information is plainly relevant and within the broad scope of permissible discovery under Rule 26(b)(1).

2. First, given the limited nature of Daugherty's relationship with Seery, the Secret Recordings and related documents and information likely concern information that goes to the heart of the issues in this Adversary Proceeding, including (a) the negotiation of the Settlement Agreement that carved out Daugherty's contingent Reserved Claim for later resolution, (b) the status of the 2008 Audit and related matters, and (c) Daugherty's ill-founded quest to expand his demand for HERA's and ERA's "books and records (spreadsheet) maintained on Highland's system," which records were provided to him years ago.

3. Even if the Secret Recordings do not directly concern these issues, the Requested Information is still relevant because it pertains to Daugherty's credibility and trustworthiness. Such issues are well within the scope of Rule 26(b)(1)'s broad scope of discovery. Notably, Daugherty does not object on privilege grounds nor does he contend that production of responsive documents is burdensome. Moreover, Daugherty has no legitimate interest in continuing to conceal his Secret Recordings with his adversaries—and he certainly should not be permitted to effectively serve as the judge here, unilaterally reviewing the Secret Recordings and deciding on his own what is "relevant" under Rule 26(b)(1).

4. For the reasons set forth below, the Motion should be granted.

II. RELEVANT FACTUAL BACKGROUND

A. Daugherty's Reserved Claim and the Parties' Settlement Agreement

5. On October 16, 2019 (the "Petition Date"), the Debtor filed a voluntary petition for relief under chapter 11 of title 11 of the United States Code (the "Bankruptcy Code") commencing the above-captioned bankruptcy case (the "Bankruptcy Case").

6. On April 1, 2020, Daugherty filed Proof of Claim No. 67 ("Claim 67"). On April 6, 2020, Daugherty filed Proof of Claim No. 77 ("Claim 77"), which superseded and replaced Claim 67 in its entirety. On December 23, 2020, Daugherty filed Proof of Claim No. 205 ("Claim 205"), which superseded and replaced Claim 77 in its entirety. Claim 205 included a purported tax claim for $1,475,816 of "Compensation Award" plus $1,174,537 of "Estimated Interest", for a total of $2,650,353 arising from Daugherty's limited partnership interest in Highland from 2008.[3]

[3] Daugherty was an employee of Highland from 1998 to 2011 and a limited partner in Highland from 2004 to 2011.

7. On November 22, 2021, Highland and Daugherty entered into that certain Settlement Agreement (the "Settlement Agreement") resolving all of Claim 205 other than Daugherty's claim related to any potential reversal of the approximately $1,475,816 refund that he received from the IRS with respect to his 2008 tax returns (i.e., the Reserved Claim, as defined in the Settlement Agreement).

8. On December 8, 2021, Highland filed Reorganized Debtor's Motion for Entry of an Order Approving Settlement with Patrick Hagaman Daugherty (Claim No. 205) and Authorizing Actions Consistent Therewith [Bankr. Docket No. 3088] (the "Settlement Motion"). The Settlement Motion was approved by the Bankruptcy Court on March 8, 2022. [Bankr. Docket No. 3298].

9. Pursuant to the Settlement Agreement, Highland transferred to Daugherty Highland's interests in Highland Employee Retention Assets LLC ("HERA") and ERA Management, LLC ("ERA"), shell entities that had previously been used by Highland after the global financial crisis to retain and compensate certain personnel. In compliance with the Settlement Agreement, Highland also delivered to Daugherty copies of "the HERA and ERA books and records (spreadsheet) maintained on [Highland's] system." Settlement Agreement ¶ 8.

B. Highland Commences the Adversary Proceeding

10. On May 2, 2025, Highland commenced this Adversary Proceeding by filing its Complaint for (1) Disallowance of Claim No. 205 in Its Entirety, (2) Estimation of Claim No. 205 for Allowance Purposes, or (3) Subordination of Any Allowed Portion of Claim No. 205 of Patrick Hagaman Daugherty [Adv. Docket No. 1] (the "Complaint"). In its Complaint, Highland seeks to disallow, estimate for allowance purposes, or subordinate Daugherty's contingent Reserved Claim.

C. Daugherty Files His Counterclaim

11. On October 3, 2025, Daugherty filed his Original Counterclaim [Adv. Proc. Docket No. 39] (the "Counterclaim"). In his first Counterclaim, Daugherty alleges that Highland "breached the Settlement Agreement by refusing to turn over all the HERA and ERA books and records in Highland's possession." Counterclaim ¶ 12. On October 24, 2025, Highland filed its answer to the Counterclaim [Docket No. 56].

D. Daugherty Secretly Records Conversations with Jim Seery

12. Daugherty is the defendant in an unrelated lawsuit commenced in January 2022 in the 101st Judicial District Court of Dallas County, Texas, captioned Scott Byron Ellington v. Patrick Daugherty, Cause No. DC-22-00304. In that action, Highland's former general counsel, Scott Ellington, alleges that Daugherty stalked and harassed Ellington and his family (the "Stalking Suit").

13. While reviewing recent entries on the public docket in the Stalking Suit, Highland learned that Daugherty secretly recorded conversations between Daugherty and Seery (the "Secret Recordings"). Specifically, on August 28, 2025, Daugherty produced to Ellington a 26-minute audio recording of a May 4, 2022 conversation that purported to be between Daugherty and Seery. Daugherty admitted to secretly recording Seery in connection with the Stalking Suit and during the Bankruptcy Case in which "Daugherty is now adverse to Seery and [Highland] in connection with Daugherty's proof of claim." Winograd Dec. Exhibit 1 (Defendant's Response to Plaintiff's Sixth Motion to Compel) ¶ 17.[4] See also Winograd Dec. Exhibit 2 (August 28, 2025 Daugherty [4] "Winograd Dec." refers to the Declaration of Hayley R. Winograd in Support of Highland Capital Management, L.P.'s Motion to Compel Production of Audio Recordings, Transcripts, and Related Documents filed concurrently herewith.

Deposition Transcript) at 102:1-105:25; Winograd Dec. Exhibit 3 (Plaintiff's Sixth Motion to Compel) ¶¶ 7-8.

14. Daugherty's Secret Recordings appear to be of private telephone conversations which were recorded without any permission from, or notice to, Seery. Any other recordings of Highland personnel were likewise done without their knowledge or consent. Daugherty has no personal or business relationship with Seery or any other Highland personnel except with respect to his Class 8 and Class 9 claims in the Bankruptcy Case (which have been paid in full) and his Reserved Claim, which has been disputed since 2020. Thus, the only substantive subjects about which Daugherty would likely have conversed with Seery or the other Highland personnel concern the Bankruptcy Case, the Settlement Agreement, and Daugherty's claims, including the disputed Reserved Claim.

E. The Parties Engage in Discovery

15. On October 24, 2025, Highland served Daugherty with, among other things, Highland Capital Management, L.P.'s Requests for the Production of Documents Directed to Patrick Daugherty (the "Requests"). Requests 9 and 10 seek the information and documents subject to this Motion (the "Requested Information"). Specifically, Requests 9 and 10 seek documents concerning the Secret Recordings and any other recordings of conversations between Daugherty and Highland's representatives concerning Daugherty's Reserved Claim. See Winograd Dec. Exhibit 4 (Requests 9 and 10).

16. Daugherty objected to Requests 9 and 10 (the "Objections"), not on grounds of privilege or burden, but solely on relevance grounds:

> REQUEST NO. 9:
> All audio or other recordings of any conversations between You and Seery, including any purported transcript or summary of any such conversations.

> RESPONSE: Daugherty objects that the request seeks documents that are not relevant to the claims or defenses asserted in this adversary proceeding. Fed. R. Civ. P. 26(b)(1). Any recorded conversations have no bearing on Plaintiff's claims in this action, which relate solely to the treatment of Daugherty's Reserved Claim. Based on this objection, Daugherty is not producing any responsive documents.
>
> REQUEST NO. 10:
>
> All audio or other recordings of any conversation between You and any current or former employee, agent, or representative of Highland concerning the 2008 Refund, the 2008 K-1, and the 2008 Audit, including any purported transcript or summary of any such conversation.
>
> RESPONSE: Daugherty objects that the request seeks documents that are not relevant to the claims or defenses asserted in this adversary proceeding. Fed. R. Civ. P. 26(b)(1). Any recorded conversations have no bearing on Plaintiff's claims in this action, which relate solely to the treatment of Daugherty's Reserved Claim. Based on this objection, Daugherty is not producing any responsive documents.

Winograd Dec. Exhibit 5 (Daugherty's Objections) at 5.

17. The parties (through counsel) met and conferred by email and Zoom calls and resolved all discovery disputes except those concerning the Requested Information. As to that, Daugherty stands by his relevance Objections and refuses to provide the Requested Information.

III. ARGUMENT

A. Legal Standard

18. Rule 26 of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure (incorporated in this Adversary Proceeding by Rule 7026 of the Federal Rules of Bankruptcy Procedure) permits broad discovery of "any nonprivileged matter that is relevant to any party's claim or defense and proportional to the needs of the case." FED. R. CIV. P. 26(b)(1). "To be relevant under Rule 26(b)(1), a document or information need not, by itself, prove or disprove a claim or defense or have strong probative force or value." Samsung Elecs. Am., Inc. v. Yang Kun Chung, 321 F.R.D. 250, 280 (N.D. Tex. 2017). Thus, "courts construe discovery rules liberally to serve the purposes of discovery: providing parties with information essential to the proper litigation of all relevant facts, eliminating surprise, and promoting settlement." Kinney v. Select Portfolio Servs., 2015 WL 7871044, at *2 (S.D. Tex. Dec. 3, 2015) (internal quotations omitted); see also Rangel v. Gonzalez Mascorro, 274 F.R.D. 585, 590 (S.D. Tex. 2011) ("The threshold for relevance at the discovery stage is lower than at the trial stage."); Exp. Worldwide, Ltd. v. Knight, 241 F.R.D. 259, 262 (W.D. Tex. 2006) ("Relevancy is construed liberally so that the basic issues and facts of the case are disclosed to the fullest extent practical.").

19. A litigant may request the production of documents falling "within the scope of Rule 26(b)" from another party if the documents are in that party's "possession, custody, or control." FED. R. CIV. P. 34(a). To enforce discovery rights, a "party seeking discovery may move for an order compelling an answer, designation, production, or inspection." FED. R. CIV. P. 37(a)(3); see also Smith v. DeTar Hosp. LLC, 2011 WL 6217497, at *2 (S.D. Tex. Dec. 14, 2011) ("The party posing discovery may move to compel the disclosure of any materials requested so long as such discovery is relevant and otherwise discoverable.") (citing FED. R. CIV. P. 37(a)).

20. "The party resisting discovery must show specifically how each discovery request is not relevant or otherwise objectionable." Murillo Modular Grp., Ltd. v. Sullivan, 2016 WL 6139096, at *3 (N.D. Tex. Oct. 20, 2016) (citing McLeod, Alexander, Powel & Apffel, P.C. v. Quarles, 894 F.2d 1482, 1485 (5th Cir. 1990)); Orchestrate HR, Inc. v. Trombetta, 178 F. Supp. 3d 476, 506 (N.D. Tex 2016) (noting that in order to successfully resist a motion to compel, the opposing party must "specifically object and show that the requested discovery does not fall within Rule 26(b)(1)'s scope of relevance (as now amended) or that a discovery request would impose an undue burden or expense or is otherwise objectionable"); Kinney v. Select Portfolio Servs., 2015 WL 7871044, at *2 (S.D. Tex. Dec. 3, 2015) ("The party resisting discovery has the burden of establishing lack of relevance by demonstrating that the requested information either does not come within the broad scope of relevance or that the potential harm caused by discovery would outweigh the ordinary presumption in favor of broad disclosure."); In re Wade, 2012 WL 5449308, at *4 (Bankr. S.D. Tex. Nov. 7, 2012) (same).

21. "Where relevance is in doubt, the court should be permissive in allowing discovery." Kinney, 2015 WL 7871044, at *2. The trial court has "broad discretion" in determining whether to permit discovery. McKinney/Pearl Rest. Partners, L.P. v. Metro. Life Ins. Co., 322 F.R.D. 235, 242 (N.D. Tex. 2016).

B. Daugherty Should Be Compelled to Produce the Requested Information

22. The Requested Information is within the broad scope of discovery under Rule 26(b)(1). The information sought in Requests 9 and 10 is plainly relevant here. As set forth above, Daugherty has admitted to secretly recording multiple conversations with Seery as his "adverse" party in the Bankruptcy Case and in connection with Daugherty's contingent Reserved Claim. Therefore, the Secret Recordings are directly relevant to the claims and defenses asserted in the Adversary Proceeding to the extent they concern (a) the negotiation of the Settlement Agreement that carved out Daugherty's contingent Reserved Claim for later resolution, (b) the status of the 2008 Audit and related matters, and (c) Daugherty's quest to expand his demand for HERA's and ERA's "books and records (spreadsheet) maintained on Highland's system."

23. Even if the information sought in Requests 9 and 10 does not directly concern these specific issues, the recordings are still relevant under Rule 26(b)(1) because they concern the litigants and implicate Daugherty's credibility. See Ramos v. Capitan Corp., 2017 WL 1278737, at *3 (W.D. Tex. Feb. 2, 2017) ("Information relevant to a party's credibility may fall within Rule 26(b)'s scope.") (citing Murillo, 2016 WL 6139096, at *9). Daugherty admitted that he secretly recorded conversations he had with Seery without Seery's knowledge or consent, and that he possesses such recordings. Daugherty also (falsely) contended that one of the Secret Recordings proved that Seery lied during a deposition given in the Stalking Suit.

24. Under the circumstances, Highland has the right to obtain all of Daugherty's Secret Recordings of Highland's representatives, including Seery, and to use this discovery to support its claims and refute Daugherty's defenses and counterclaims, including by impeaching Daugherty's credibility. Daugherty has no legitimate interest in continuing to conceal the Secret Recordings and should not be permitted to be the sole arbiter of what is "relevant."

CONCLUSION

WHEREFOR, Highland respectfully requests that the Court (a) grant the Motion and direct Daugherty to produce the Secret Recordings and all other information responsive to Requests 9 and 10, and (b) grant any other relief that the Court deems just and proper.

DEFENDANT'S RESPONSE TO PLAINTIFF'S SIXTH MOTION TO COMPEL

TO THE HONORABLE JUDGE OF SAID COURT:

Defendant Patrick Daugherty ("Daugherty") files this Response ("Response") to Plaintiff Scott Byron Ellington's ("Ellington") Sixth Motion to Compel (the "Motion") and respectfully shows the Court as follows:

I. INTRODUCTION

1. To date, Daugherty has produced fifty-three-thousand-one-hundred-four (53,104) pictures, documents, communications, records, and other items of information in this litigation. The vast majority of which have nothing to do with Ellington's spurious claims for Stalking and Invasion of Privacy by Intrusion. Still, Daugherty produced it all in compliance with his discovery obligations under the Rules and this Court's orders compelling the same.

2. On August 28, 2025, Daugherty supplemented his production with a recording (sequentially marked "DEF053104") of a discussion with a non-party, James Seery ("Seery"), that predominantly concerns matters in a bankruptcy proceeding in the Northern District of Texas and other litigation (the "Recording"). Daugherty produced the Recording after its review in connection with proceedings before the Bankruptcy Court late this summer. He produced it because it included a minor discussion of Ellington's allegations in this lawsuit. The Recording was created well after Daugherty's investigation of Ellington concluded and involved no information relevant to this dispute beyond Ellington's allegations and the scope of Daugherty's actions of which Ellington has long been aware. Furthermore, the Recording is cumulative and duplicative of the 53,103 pages of information Ellington had in his possession before August 28, 2025.

3. Ellington has been aware for years that Daugherty communicated with Seery about Ellington.[1] The Recording provides no new insight into that fact, this case, or any claim or defense in this litigation. Nevertheless, Daugherty produced the Recording to Ellington because of the minor discussion about Ellington's allegations in this lawsuit. Ellington now seeks to punish Daugherty for doing so. Indeed, Ellington has proven with his onerous discovery practice of both Daugherty and non-parties that he cannot be satisfied. Now he wants Daugherty to do something that is impossible: produce non-existent recordings that are either (1) about any Ellington Party, Location or Recording, or (2) that are responsive to certain Requests for Production. This is something Daugherty cannot do since they do not exist. See Motion at Ex. G at 105:12-20.[2] Therefore, Daugherty respectfully requests the Court deny Ellington's Motion in its entirety.

II. RELEVANT FACTUAL BACKGROUND

4. Daugherty has testified—three times now—that his physical investigation into Ellington, which gave rise to Ellington's specious claims, began in January 2021 after he learned at a hearing in another proceeding that Ellington destroyed his cell phone during the pendency of other litigation between the parties. See e.g., Ex. A (2022.09.01 Temp. Inj. Trans.) at 70:1-5; Ex.

[1]At a minimum, Ellington has been aware of Daugherty's communications with Seery since July 2022. See Exhibit K at 60:8-61:2 (Daugherty's Deposition, dated July 2022) ("Q: To whom did you provide these emails and compilations? [Daugherty]: […] And then to Jim Seery, who is the CEO of Highland.").

[2] (Daugherty's Deposition, dated August 28, 2025)("…Q: Are there any other recordings that you have between you and Mr. Seery? [Daugherty]: Yes. … Q: Do any of them involve Mr. Ellington? [Daugherty]: No.")(cleaned up, objections omitted).

K at 57:4-61:18. Daugherty's investigation ended in December of 2021. Ex. A at 42:2-5 (G. Brandstatter Testimony), 119:9-121:3 (Daugherty Testimony).

5. On January 11, 2022, Ellington filed his Original Petition, Application for Temporary Restraining Order, Temporary Injunction on January 11, 2022. Ellington asserted two causes of action: (1) Stalking under the Tex. Civ. Prac. & Rem. Code § 85.002, and (2) Invasion of Privacy by Intrusion.

6. In August 2022, Daugherty produced nearly 18,000 pages of documents. Ex. B. That production included documents, photos, communications, and text messages that Daugherty exchanged with others during his investigation, including exchanges with Seery. Ellington also issued roughly 20 subpoenas duces tecum, the bulk of which were issued in fall of 2022, to various non-parties that he believed would produce evidence to support his baseless claims. Despite the extremely broad nature of those requests, the non-parties responses to those requests effectively mirrored Daugherty's August 2022 production.

7. Nevertheless, in August 2023, Ellington filed his fourth motion to compel seeking additional text messages Daugherty exchanged with Seery that far exceeded the scope of relevant discovery in this dispute. In reviewing that motion and exhibits, Daugherty identified one additional relevant and responsive text message not previously produced and provided a supplemental production of the text, sequentially labeled DEF018015, on August 31, 2023. Ex. C. On September 1, 2023, after a hearing on the same, the Court granted Plaintiff's Fourt Motion to Compel but appropriately limited the order's scope to texts regarding Ellington and "the stalking issues." Ex. D. Given his voluminous prior productions and the August 31 supplemental production, Daugherty had no additional texts to produce in response to the Court's order.

8. On March 19, 2025, the Court issued orders on six motions between the parties that had been pending before the Court for some time, which granted and denied various relief to both sides. In response, Daugherty produced an additional 30,000+ pages of documents and communications, along with reproductions of his prior 18,000+ pages of documents for Plaintiff's convenience. Ex. E (production links redacted).

9. In August and September 2025, non-parties Marcia Maslow (August 27) and Stephanie Archer (August 29), and parties Daugherty (August 28) and Ellington (September 8)[3] sat for court-ordered second depositions. On August 27, the morning of her deposition, Maslow produced over 50 pages of text messages. Ex. G. Indeed, Daugherty and Maslow both provided supplemental productions the morning of their depositions—Daugherty produced the Recording on August 28.

10. On October 28, Ellington filed his Sixth Motion to Compel seeking unwarranted relief, and Daugherty respectfully requests the Court deny the same.

[3]Notably, on September 9, 2025, Daugherty filed a Motion for Sanctions against Ellington for his failure to appear for deposition before August 29, 2025, despite a Court order and Rule 11 agreement among counsel for the same. Ex. F.

(Tex. App.—Houston [14th Dist.] 2018, no pet.) (overturning portion of trial court's order for production of documents that were irrelevant).

IV. ARGUMENT AND AUTHORITIES

A. DAUGHERTY PRODUCED THE RECORDING.

16. On August 28, 2025, Daugherty produced the Recording before beginning his deposition. Importantly, just the day before, Marcia Maslow (who is represented by Ellington's counsel) produced over 50 pages of text messages as her deposition began. Ex. G. The text messages were exchanges between Marcia Maslow and Gregory Brandstatter, both of whom are represented by Ellington's counsel, and both of whom are under a Court order, and have been for some time (circa 2022), to produce all responsive documents to non-party subpoenas issued to them seeking communications about Daugherty. See e.g., Ex. H, I, and J.

17. Daugherty produced the Recording after receiving Maslow's supplemental production the day before and considering whether any additional information needed to be produced in accordance with his discovery obligations. See Ex. G. It was determined by Daugherty and his Counsel that the Recording should be produced after it had recently percolated up for review and discussion in connection with unrelated proceedings before the Bankruptcy Court of the Northern District of Texas, where Daugherty is now adverse to Seery and Highland Capital Management, L.P. (reorganized debtor) in connection with Daugherty's proof of claim.

B. THE RECORDING IS DATED AFTER THE CONCLUSION OF DAUGHERTY'S INVESTIGATION.

18. Daugherty produced the recording because it references "Ellington," but the Recording (dated May 2022) came six months after the conclusion of Daugherty's investigation giving rise to this litigation (December 2021). Substantively, it merely concerns the content of this proceeding, Ellington's bad acts in other forums, and unrelated matters before the Bankruptcy Court. See Def's Motion at Ex. F. The Recording does not comprise a part of Daugherty's investigation, which ended in December 2021. See Ex. A at 42:2-5 (G. Brandstatter Testimony), 119:9-121:3 (Daugherty Testimony). Additionally, the Recording merely includes discussion between Daugherty and Seery that is detailed ad nauseum in the 50,000+ pages of production, and hours upon hours of testimony that Ellington has from Daugherty, Seery, and others in this proceeding. Compare e.g., Ex. A at 97:14-23, 110:4 – 113:19 (Daugherty Testimony) with Motion at Ex. F (Recording Transcript). Even so, cumulative or not, in accordance with the Rules and this Court's orders, Daugherty produced the Recording when its responsiveness became apparent after review and discussion concerning Seery's testimony in light of separate bankruptcy proceedings.

C. DAUGHERTY HAS AND CONTINUES TO COMPLY WITH HIS DISCOVERY OBLIGATIONS.

19. The mere fact that Daugherty produced the recording is evidence of his continued compliance with his discovery obligations in this proceeding. Daugherty produced over 18,000 pages of documents in August 2022. Ex. B. Daugherty supplemented text messages with Seery. Ex. C. Daugherty produced an additional 30,000+ pages of documents that merely reference "Ellington" in response to this Court's March 2025 orders despite their general lack of relevance to the claims and defenses in this litigation. Ex. E. Despite it all, Ellington's oppressive discovery practice continues with this most recent Motion seeking to further punish Daugherty's compliance with the Rules and this Court's orders.

20. Simply put, despite a mountain of production from Daugherty, over 20 non-party subpoenas duces tecum and responses, and hours upon hours of deposition testimony from non-parties for a dispute that is, by its very nature, between Ellington and Daugherty alone—Ellington incessantly demands more. Daugherty produced the Recording precisely because of his obligation under the Rules and this Court's orders. There are no other recordings that are otherwise responsive to Ellington's Requests for Production. Motion at Ex. G at 105:12-20. Enough is enough. Ellington's Motion is unwarranted and should be denied.

PRAYER

WHEREFORE PREMISES CONSIDERED, Defendant Patrick Daugherty prays the Court denies Plaintiff's Sixth Motion to Compel in its entirety, and for all further relief, at law or in equity, the Court deems necessary.

A. Yes.
Q. Looking at the meta data in this Exhibit 20, what is the most recent time that you have a record of Mr. Daugherty making a pass by an Ellington property?
A. December 11th, 2021.
Q. Are you seeing that in line 229?
A. And 230.
Q. Okay, 229 and 230.
A. Yes.
Q. Mr. Brandstatter, based on your experience, what is your opinion about Mr. Daugherty's drive-bys of the Ellington properties?
A. It's not that he'd be stalking Mr. Ellington and then he's conducting surveillance. It's a pre-attack indicator. I think he's conducting surveillance in succession of an attack. It's a precursor to a violent crime.
Q. When you say pre-attack surveillance, what do you mean by that?
A. It goes back to the attack cycle again where the person picks the target. Mr. Daugherty already did that. And then the first thing an attacker does or a terrorist does is conduct surveillance. They make their plan from surveillance. They rehearse their plan, and then they'll execute their plan and have an escape

A. Yeah, I have no idea whose car that is.
Q. And that's appropriate behavior in your mind, correct?
A. Yeah, I don't think there's anything wrong with that.
Q. It's kind of defiant, isn't it?
A. No, it's just taking a picture of a car.
Q. And this is part of your so-called investigation; is that right?
A. Yeah, I mean, I would call it part of the investigation that didn't lead anywhere.
Q. Okay. Self-help investigation?
A. I'm sorry, you broke up on me.
Q. I apologize. Self-help investigation; is that right?
A. Not sure what you mean by that, but I conducted an investigation that included the research of cars, license plates, the human beings associated therewith that, as I told you before, I cross referenced that to other business entities, et cetera, that got cross referenced to other business entities in the Cayman Islands, Bermuda, et cetera, where assets had been transferred.
Q. Okay. Would you call this vigilanteism?
A. No.

A. Just so I could either take a picture or understand what was going on or see if there was a new car that I didn't recognize before.

Q. Were you driving by these properties with the intention of taking pictures of people?

A. No.

Q. Now, there's been some testimony that you took a picture of Mr. Ellington?

A. That is correct.

Q. How many pictures of Mr. Ellington through the course of your investigation over this approximately eight months or so, how many pictures of Mr. Ellington did you take?

A. One.

Q. And that's the one we've heard about, correct?

A. Correct.

Q. Now, did you take a picture of anybody else associated with Mr. Ellington?

A. Yes.

Q. Okay. Who was that of?

A. As I mentioned, that picture was Mr. Ellington, and it had Trevor Smith in it. So that was the same picture.

Q. That's the same picture. Any other pictures of anybody else?

A. His girlfriend/fiance.
Q. All right. Who's that?
A. Stephanie Archer.
Q. How did you come to take Stephanie Archer's picture?
A. The first time I took her picture she had chased, if not followed, me or followed, if not chased, me around the corner of some street that I can't remember the name of -- Levy. Levy. And I had tried --
Q. You told us about that. Is that when you took a picture of her when she was in her car?
A. Yes. I was taking a picture of her, and she was taking a picture of me. I was in the parking lot, and she was in the street.
Q. She was in her car?
A. She was in her car.
Q. And you were in your car?
A. That is correct.
Q. Other than that picture of Ms. Archer, did you take any other pictures of his girlfriend or fiance, Stephanie Archer?
A. There's only one occasion when she was up the ramp in the warehouse.
Q. Tell me about that.
A. I had driven by, and I had slowed down to take pictures of the car. She was standing quite a distance away, and she said and then there's this guy. She said who are you? And I said I'm Pat. She goes Matt, what are you doing? I said I'm taking pictures, and I just drove off.

Q. Okay. You took her picture on that occasion?

A. I did.

Q. Okay. So other than those pictures you described of Ms. Archer, one in her car and one on the ramp of the warehouse, the picture of Ellington that you talked about in his front yard, did you take any other pictures of people associated with Mr. Ellington in these eight months?

A. The woman that was his former secretary dropping off documents.

Q. Tell us about that.

A. Sarah Bell-Goldsmith. That was, I don't know, in January/February 2021. I took, I guess, a couple pictures of her.

Q. Did you have any dialogue with her at that time?

A. Briefly.

Q. Tell me what was said between the two of you.

A. I asked her if Scott was back yet, and she said she didn't know. She was just moving these documents because he'd asked her to.

Q. Is that the extent of every word you can recall that was said between you and Ms. Bell?

A. Pretty much.

Q. Have you told us every word that you can recall was said between you and Ms. Archer?

A. Yes.

Q. Other than those words you exchanged with the assistant, Sarah Bell, and Stephanie Archer, did you ever talk to or have a conversation with anybody else in the course of this investigation where you're taking pictures?

A. Not that I can recall.

Q. So only two times were any words exchanged at all between you and someone else in connection with this investigation?

A. Just the two examples that I mentioned.

Q. Did you ever at anytime have words or talk to Mr. Ellington at all?

A. No.

Q. When's the last time you and Mr. Ellington even spoke to each other?

A. We were going up an elevator, and the Judge may not want to hear this, but there was another bankruptcy of another Highland entity called Aces and we

Q. Are they motion activated?

A. From what I understand.

Q. And do you know if that's when they obtained information about times that you would go by there when they would go through all those videos in those animal cameras and see if they could see you or your car? Do you know if that's how that worked?

A. Yeah, from what I understand.

Q. Now, in November/December 2021, did you stop driving by these Ellington locations we've identified and taking pictures?

A. Yes.

Q. Why?

A. My settlement with Highland had been pretty much finalized in November, and I think it was publicized in December, and I felt like I'd gotten all the information that I could have gotten from those cars. I know the judge doesn't want me to go into details, but we found a lot of missing assets in the entities in the Cayman Islands. I'll put it that way.

Q. So you stopped why?

A. Because I felt like the task was complete at least from my end. I'd gotten all the information I was going to need.

Q. Did you stop weeks or even months before this lawsuit was filed against you?

A. Yes.

Q. And since the lawsuit's been filed, have you driven by, taken any pictures, taken any observations of these properties since that time?

A. No.

Q. Why?

A. I guess the task was completed and that part of the investigation, from my perspective, was through.

Q. The lawsuit was filed January 11th, and on January 12th the Court entered a Temporary Restraining Order against you, correct?

A. Yes.

Q. And by the terms of that order it was in effect for some period of time, and I think the parties had an extension. So let's just say the next month or two months or three months you certainly would have been subject to a restraining order in connection with your conduct, correct?

A. I think it was two weeks, but, yes.

Q. But at some pint the restraining order expired and has not been in existence for months and months, correct?

A. Correct.

Q. Although it has not been in existence, have you taken any action to drive by, take pictures or make observations of the Ellington properties?

A. No.

Q. After Mr. Ellington filed his lawsuit on January 11th of this year, 2022, did he then file an objection to your settlement with Highland in the bankruptcy case and refer to that lawsuit and the fact that you had been stalking --

MR. HURST: Excuse me. Objection, relevance. Objection, leading.

THE COURT: I'll sustain it. Guys, I've been very liberal with my time. It's going on 5:00 o'clock, and, frankly, I've probably heard ten minutes worth of testimony that would assist me in reaching the decision. The other stuff is interesting, but I've got some five inch notebooks over here of interesting cases that I need to prep for tomorrow, so if we could really just kind of get to the chase. Like I said, it's very interesting, but just time-wise I'm not sure we're really using the Court's time as efficiently as it could be.

MS. DANIELS: Your Honor, I think I'm about finished up with everything I needed to establish with Mr. Daugherty. Let me check my notes real quick.

I'll pass the witness, Your Honor.

PROCEEDINGS

THE VIDEOGRAPHER: Good morning. This is the video recorded proceeding of witness Marcia Maslow, taken by counsel for the defendant, Patrick Daugherty, in the matter of Scott Byron Ellington versus Patrick Daugherty, filed in the District Court, the 101st Judicial District, Dallas County, Texas. This proceeding is being held at 2100 Ross Avenue, Suite 2700, Dallas, Texas 75201.

My name is Gregory Lee. I am the videographer on behalf U.S. Legal Support located at 16825 North Drive [sic], Suite 900, Houston, Texas 77060. I am not related to any party in the action nor am I financially interested in the outcome. The court reporter is Vanessa Robertson, also here on behalf of U.S. Legal Support.

Counsel will state their appearance for the record, after which, the court reporter will enter the statement for the proceedings into the record and swear in the witness.

MR. YORK: Drew York on behalf of the defendant, Patrick Daugherty.

MS. PETTIT: Julie Pettit for the plaintiff.

MR. HURST: Michael Hurst here on behalf of Scott Ellington, the plaintiff.

MARCIA MASLOW,

having being first duly sworn, testified as follows:

MR. HURST: That is Max, he's security.

MR. YORK: Security?

MR. HURST: Yes.

MR. YORK: Okay.

* * * EXAMINATION * * *

BY MR. YORK:

Q Ms. Maslow, my name is Drew York, I represent Mr. Daugherty. You understand you're ordered to appear for a second deposition in this case?

A Yes.

Q You understand you're still under oath?

A Yes.

Q This gentleman Max that's here, is he your personal security?

A No.

Q No? Who is he security for, do you know?

A I'd asked to have security here today.

Q You asked to have security here today --

A Yes, I did.

Q -- in the deposition?

A Yes.

Page 6

Q You requested that of Mr. Hurst and Ms. Pettit?
A Yes.
Q Okay. Why did you do that?
A Because I don't feel safe being in a room with someone that is accused of stalking me.
Q All right. You didn't bring your husband down here today with you?
A No.
Q All right. You gave a deposition in this case back in July of 2023, correct?
A Yes.
Q And is there anything from your prior testimony you wish to change today?
A No.
Q All right. Since your deposition, have you provided any documents to Mr. Hurst or Ms. Pettit?
A I provided text messages this morning.
Q This morning?
A Yes.
Q Did you -- did they bring them with them to the deposition?
MS. PETTIT: They're being printed now. We'll have them shortly.
MR. YORK: Okay. Why don't we take a break and let me see them and then we can go back on the record, make it more efficient.

THE VIDEOGRAPHER: We are going off the record. The time is 11:27 a.m.
(A recess was taken from 11:27 to 11:33.)
(Exhibit No. 1 was marked.)
THE VIDEOGRAPHER: We're going back on the record. The time 11:33 a.m.
Q (By Mr. York) All right. Ms. Maslow, before we went off the record, you mentioned that you provided text messages to Mr. Hurst and Ms. Pettit that you brought with you today. I've marked what your counsel handed to me at the break as Exhibit 1. It's Bates stamped Maslow 2 through 53.
Is this a copy of the text messages that you provided to Mr. Hurst and Ms. Pettit?
A Yes, it seems to be.
Q When did you provide them to your counsel?
A I don't know the exact time. I sent them this morning.
Q You sent them this morning?
A Yes.
Q How did you send them to your counsel?
A I E-mailed them.
Q Okay. So these were not actually -- did you -- did you take screenshots and send them the screenshots?

A Yes.
Q All right. So you didn't provide your phone and have it imaged, correct?
A Correct.
Q Okay. And had you been asked at any point since your deposition in July of 2023 by your counsel to provide any -- and supplement your production in response to the subpoena you were previously served with?
A Yes.
Q Okay. And you -- am I correct that Exhibit 1 that we have here includes text messages from June of 2023 through last Thursday, is that correct, with Mr. Brandstatter?
A Correct.
Q And just to be clear, since your deposition on July 11th of 2023 until today, you had not supplemented to your counsel any of these text messages that are marked in Exhibit 1; is that correct?
A Correct.
Q Now, other than these text messages, have you had any other written communications with Mr. Brandstatter since your deposition?

Page 9

A No.
Q No E-mails?
A No.
Q All right. Are you paying Mr. Brandstatter to continue to place the cameras around your house and obtain the footage off of them?
A No.
Q Is Mr. Brandstatter, to your knowledge, still being paid by your brother Scott Ellington for that service?
A I don't know how he's paid.
Q You don't know?
A No.
Q Okay. Is he doing it for free as far as you know?
A I don't know.
Q All right. Since your last deposition in July of 2023, have you taken any notes relating to the issues in this case?
A No.
Q Okay. Other than the text messages with Mr. Brandstatter, have you had any text messages with your brother about the issues in this lawsuit since your deposition?
A No.

ORDER DENYING PLAINTIFF'S MOTION TO QUASH AND MOTION FOR PROTECTION

On this day, the Court considered Plaintiff Scott Byron Ellington's Motion to Quash and Motion for Protection from Notices of Deposition for Reese Morgan, Byron Ellington, Marcia Maslow, Stephanie Archer, and Greg Brandstatter (the "Motion"), Defendant's Response to the same, other materials in the record of this case, and any argument of counsel. The Court finds that (1) Plaintiff identified Reese Morgan, Byron Ellington, Marcia Maslow, Stephanie Archer, and Greg Brandstatter (the "Subpoenaed Non-Parties") as persons having knowledge of relevant facts in Plaintiff's initial disclosures served in the above-styled litigation; (2) Defendant is entitled to discover the information in possession of the Subpoenaed Non-Parties; (3) Plaintiff's Motion to Quash did not stay the Subpoenaed Non-Parties obligation to respond to Defendant's document requests contained in Subpoenas Duces Tecum issued to each of the Subpoenaed Non-Parties; and (4) Defendant is entitled to depose his accusers, the Subpoenaed Non-Parties, before the Temporary Injunction hearing in this matter. Therefore, the Court is of the opinion that the Motion should, in all things, be DENIED.

Accordingly, it is ORDERED, ADJUDGED, and DECREED that Plaintiff's Motion is DENIED;

It is further ORDERED, ADJUDGED, and DECREED that the Subpoenaed Non-Parties appear for deposition ~~before August 26, 2022,~~ within 4 days of the date of this Order unless another date is agreed upon by the parties' counsel;

It is further ORDERED, ADJUDGED, and DECREED that the Subpoenaed Non-Parties respond and produce all non-privileged, responsive information to the document requests in each of their respective Subpoenas Duces Tecum within ~~seven (7)~~ 4 days of the date of the Court's order without objection.

SIGNED on this 25th day of August, 2022.

NON-PARTY MARCIA MASLOW'S OBJECTIONS AND RESPONSES TO DEFENDANT'S SUBPOENA DUCES TECUM

TO: Defendant Patrick Daugherty, by and through its attorneys of record, Ruth Ann Daniels, Andrew K. York, and Drake M. Rayshell, Gray Reed, 1601 Elm Street, Suite 4600; Dallas, Texas 75201.

Non-Party Marcia Maslow serves the following objections and responses to Defendant Patrick Daugherty's subpoena duces tecum ("Subpoena").

GENERAL OBJECTIONS

Ms. Maslow makes the following general objections to Patrick Daugherty's Requests for Production in the Subpoena, which are hereby incorporated by reference and made part of Ms. Maslow's responses to each request:

1. Ms. Maslow objects to the term "Investigation" (a) given that subsequent to the filing of Plaintiff's Petition and the Declaration of Greg Brandstatter, Plaintiff has characterized his stalking, surveillance, and other examination of Mr. Ellington and his family as an "investigation," and (b) use of the term "Investigation" as used in Requests therefore would be ambiguous, confusing, and would suggest that the efforts of Mr. Ellington to identify and document Mr. Daugherty's stalking is somehow equivalent to Mr. Daugherty's tortious "investigation". Therefore, as it relates to responses to these Requests, Ms. Maslow will use the term "Counter-Investigation" in substitute for the term "Investigation" as defined in these

Requests.[1]

2. Ms. Maslow objects to the Requests to the extent they seek information that is not within her possession, custody, or control.

3. Ms. Maslow objects to the Requests to the extent they seek the production/provision of documents or information protected from disclosure by privilege, including, without limitation, by the attorney-client privilege, attorney work product doctrine, the party communication privilege, the consulting expert privilege, the investigative privilege, the joint interest privilege, the common interest privilege, or any other applicable privileges.

4. Ms. Maslow objects to the Requests to the extent that they can be interpreted as requiring Ms. Maslow to create or produce documents that are not in existence.

5. Ms. Maslow is currently engaging in the discovery process, and reserves her right to amend or supplement these responses, if necessary.

6. All responses to the Requests are expressly subject to these General Objections, and such General Objections are incorporated into each individual response.

OBJECTIONS AND RESPONSES TO PRODUCTION OF DOCUMENTS

Marcia Maslow objects and responds to each of the Requests for Production in the Subpoena as follows:

1. Produce any and all Communications between You and Scott Byron Ellington evidencing, referring, or related to Patrick Daugherty.

RESPONSE: Ms. Maslow objects to this Request as overbroad and unduly burdensome because it is not limited to any relevant time frame, nor is this Request sufficiently tailored to the allegations in this dispute. Ms. Maslow objects to this request on the grounds that it seeks documents protected by protected by attorney-client privilege, and work product privilege under Rule 192.5 of the Texas Rules of Civil Procedure. Without waiving her objections, Ms. Maslow will produce documents, if any, relevant to Mr. Daugherty's actions as alleged in the Petition.

2. Produce any and all Communications between You and Byron Ellington (Scott Ellington's Father) evidencing, referring, or related to Patrick Daugherty.

RESPONSE: Ms. Maslow objects to this Request as overbroad and unduly burdensome because it is not limited to any relevant time frame, nor is this Request sufficiently tailored to the allegations in this dispute. Ms. Maslow objects to this request on the grounds that it seeks documents protected by protected by attorney-client privilege, and work product privilege under Rule 192.5 of the Texas Rules of Civil Procedure. Without waiving her objections, Ms. Maslow will produce documents, if any, relevant to Mr. Daugherty's actions as alleged in the Petition.

3. Produce any and all Communications between You and Stephanie Archer evidencing, referring, or related to Patrick Daugherty.

RESPONSE: Ms. Maslow objects to this Request as overbroad and unduly burdensome because it is not limited to any relevant time frame, nor is this Request sufficiently tailored to the allegations in this dispute. Ms. Maslow objects to this request on the grounds that it seeks documents protected by protected by attorney-client privilege, and work product privilege under Rule 192.5 of the Texas Rules of Civil Procedure. Without waiving her objections, Ms. Maslow will produce documents, if any, relevant to Mr. Daugherty's actions as alleged in the Petition.

4. Produce any and all Communications between You and Greg Brandstatter evidencing, referring, or related to Patrick Daugherty.

RESPONSE: Ms. Maslow objects to this Request as overbroad and unduly burdensome because it is not limited to any relevant time frame, nor is this Request sufficiently tailored to the allegations in this dispute. Ms. Maslow objects to this request on the grounds that it seeks documents protected by protected by attorney-client privilege, and work product privilege under Rule 192.5 of the Texas Rules of Civil Procedure. Without waiving her objections, Ms. Maslow will produce documents, if any, relevant to Mr. Daugherty's actions as alleged in the Petition.

5. Produce any and all Communications between You and Reese Morgan evidencing, referring, or related to Patrick Daugherty.

RESPONSE: Ms. Maslow objects to this Request as overbroad and unduly burdensome because it is not limited to any relevant time frame, nor is this Request sufficiently tailored to the allegations in this dispute. Ms. Maslow objects to this request on the grounds that it seeks documents protected by protected by attorney-client privilege, and work product privilege under Rule 192.5 of the Texas Rules of Civil Procedure. Without waiving her objections, Ms. Maslow will produce documents, if any, relevant to Mr. Daugherty's actions as alleged in the Petition.

6. Produce any and all Communications between You and any attorney or law firm representing Scott Byron Ellington evidencing, referring, or related to Patrick Daugherty.

RESPONSE: Ms. Maslow objects to this Request as overbroad and unduly burdensome because it is not limited to any relevant time frame, nor is this Request sufficiently tailored to the allegations in this dispute. Ms. Maslow objects to this request on the grounds that it seeks documents protected by protected by attorney-client privilege, and work product privilege under Rule 192.5 of the Texas Rules of Civil Procedure. Without waiving her objections, Ms. Maslow will produce documents, if any, relevant to Mr. Daugherty's actions as alleged in the Petition.

7. To the extent no included in any of the above requests, produce any and all Communications between You and any third parties evidencing, referring, or related to Patrick Daugherty.

RESPONSE: Ms. Maslow objects to this Request as overbroad and unduly burdensome because it is not limited to any relevant time frame, nor is this Request sufficiently tailored to the allegations in this dispute. Ms. Maslow objects to this request on the grounds that it seeks documents protected by protected by attorney-client privilege, and work product privilege under Rule 192.5 of the Texas Rules of Civil Procedure. Without waiving her objections, Ms. Maslow will produce documents, if any, relevant to Mr. Daugherty's actions as alleged in the Petition.

8. Produce any and all photographs in your possession allegedly depicting Patrick Daugherty outside Your home or business.

RESPONSE: Ms. Maslow objects to this Request to the extent it seeks discovery from a non-party that could be obtained through party discovery. Subject to, and without waiving such objection, Ms. Maslow will search for, and produce, any non-privileged responsive documents in her procession, custody, or control.

9. Produce any and all video in your possession allegedly depicting Patrick Daugherty outside Your home or business.

RESPONSE: Ms. Maslow objects to this Request to the extent it seeks discovery from a non-party that could be obtained through party discovery. Subject to, and without waiving such objection, Ms. Maslow will search for, and produce, any non-privileged responsive documents in her procession, custody, or control.

10. Produce any and all notes, memoranda or other similar documents evidencing, referring or related to Patrick Daugherty.

RESPONSE: Ms. Maslow objects to this Request as overbroad and unduly burdensome because it is not limited to any relevant time frame. Ms. Maslow objects to this request on the grounds that it seeks documents protected by the attorney client and/or party communications privileges. Without waiving her objections, Ms. Maslow will produce documents, if any, relevant to Mr. Daugherty's actions as alleged in the Complaint.

11. Produce any and all notes, memoranda or other similar documents evidencing, referring or related to SAS Asset Recovery or its affiliates since April 1, 2014.

RESPONSE: Ms. Maslow objects to this Request as irrelevant, totally unrelated to the allegations in the case, made solely for improper purposes or the purposes of harassment, and further evidence of Mr. Daugherty's vigilante "investigation" into Mr. Ellington and his family.

12. Produce any and all notes, receipts, photos, videos or documents evidencing trips to the Cayman Islands that you participated in where Scott Byron Ellington was present from April 1, 2014 to the present.

RESPONSE: Ms. Maslow objects to this Request as irrelevant, totally unrelated to the allegations in the case, made solely for improper purposes or the purposes of harassment, and further evidence of Mr. Daugherty's vigilante "investigation" into Mr. Ellington and his family.

13. Produce any and all documents related to CEV Holdings LLC and affiliates from April 1, 2014 to the present.

RESPONSE: Ms. Maslow objects to this Request as irrelevant, totally unrelated to the allegations in the case, made solely for improper purposes or the purposes of harassment, and further evidence of Mr. Daugherty's vigilante "investigation" into Mr. Ellington and his family.

NON-PARTY GREGORY ALLEN BRANDSTATTER'S OBJECTIONS AND RESPONSES TO DEFENDANT'S SUBPOENA DUCES TECUM

TO: Defendant Patrick Daugherty, by and through its attorneys of record, Ruth Ann Daniels, Andrew K. York, and Drake M. Rayshell, Gray Reed, 1601 Elm Street, Suite 4600; Dallas, Texas 75201.

Non-Party Gregory Allen Brandstatter serves the following objections and responses to Defendant Patrick Daugherty's subpoena duces tecum ("Subpoena").

GENERAL OBJECTIONS

Mr. Brandstatter makes the following general objections to Patrick Daugherty's Requests for Production in the Subpoena, which are hereby incorporated by reference and made part of Mr. Brandstatter's responses to each request:

1. Mr. Brandstatter objects to the term "Investigation" (a) given that subsequent to the filing of Plaintiff's Petition and the Declaration of Greg Brandstatter, Plaintiff has characterized his stalking, surveillance, and other examination of Mr. Ellington and his family as an "investigation," and (b) use of the term "Investigation" as used in Requests therefore would be ambiguous, confusing, and would suggest that the efforts of Mr. Ellington to identify and document Mr. Daugherty's stalking is somehow equivalent to Mr. Daugherty's tortious "investigation". Therefore, as it relates to responses to these Requests, Mr. Brandstatter will use the term "Counter-Investigation" in substitute for the term "Investigation" as defined in these Requests.[1]

2. Mr. Brandstatter objects to the Requests to the extent they seek information that is not within his possession, custody, or control.

3. Mr. Brandstatter objects to the Requests to the extent they seek the production/provision of documents or information protected from disclosure by privilege, including, without limitation, by the attorney-client privilege, attorney work product doctrine, the party communication privilege, the consulting expert privilege, the investigative privilege, the joint interest privilege, the common interest privilege, or any other applicable privileges.

4. Mr. Brandstatter objects to the Requests to the extent that they can be interpreted as requiring Mr. Brandstatter to create or produce documents that are not in existence.

5. Mr. Brandstatter is currently engaging in the discovery process and reserves his right to amend or supplement these responses, if necessary.

6. All responses to the Requests are expressly subject to these General Objections, and such General Objections are incorporated into each individual response.

OBJECTIONS AND RESPONSES TO PRODUCTION OF DOCUMENTS

Gregory Brandstatter objects and responds to each of the Requests for Production in the Subpoena as follows:

THE VIDEOGRAPHER: Good afternoon. We're going on the record at 1:01 p.m. on August the 28th, 2025. Please note the microphones are sensitive and they may pick up whispering and private conversations. Please mute your phones at this time. This is the video recorded deposition of Patrick Daugherty, taken by counsel in the matter of Scott Byron Ellington versus Patrick Daugherty, filed in the District Court of Dallas County, Texas. The Case Docket Number is 22-00304. The location of the deposition is a 1601 Elm Street, Dallas, Texas.

My name is Joe Willis representing Veritext. I am the videographer. The court reporter is Kristi Klund from the firm Veritext. I'm not related to any party in this action, nor am I financially interested in the outcome. If there are objections to proceeding, please state them at the time of your appearance. Will counsel and all present, including -- well, nobody is remote. Please state your appearance and affiliation for the record.

MS. PETTIT: Julie Pettit for the Plaintiff.

MR. HURST: Michael Hurst for the Plaintiff, Scott Ellington.

MR. YORK: Drew York for Patrick

Daugherty. And Ms. Pettit, just a quick clarification question. So the Court's Order on this deposition that we're here today was compartmentalized into two parts. One being that there were questions that were asked at Mr. Daugherty's deposition previously that he was instructed to answer that he did not answer. And the Court has allotted three hours -- up to three hours for those questions for which he's not to be instructed not to answer again. And then the remaining hour and 55 minutes from the original time available for the first deposition may be used and is not limited in scope. Are you intending to segment your examination into --

MS. PETTIT: Yes.

MR. YORK: -- these two parts?

MS. PETTIT: It will be in two parts.

MR. YORK: And which part are you intending to do first?

MS. PETTIT: The unanswered questions.

MR. YORK: Okay. And would you let me -- I mean, I've got the list here but then just so that we can try to keep this on task today, when we get to the points those are done we can --

MS. PETTIT: I will let you know.

MR. YORK: Thank you.

MS. PETTIT: Yep.

MR. YORK: Okay.

PATRICK DAUGHERTY,

after having been first duly sworn, testified as follows:

EXAMINATION

BY MS. PETTIT:

Q. All right. Good afternoon, Mr. Daugherty. Can you please state your name for the record?

A. Patrick Hagaman Daugherty.

Q. And in your last deposition we discussed a company by the name of Corinthian Capital and you were instructed not to answer who the owner was of that company. Can you identify who the owner is?

A. I'm not familiar with Corinthian Capital.

Q. You've never heard of Corinthian Capital?

A. No. You want me to help you? I think it's Corinthian Healthcare.

Q. Okay. Corinthian Healthcare. Who is the owner of Corinthian Healthcare?

A. As I understand it, Judy McNeel.

Q. You said Judy --

A. McNeel?

Q. -- McNeel. And how do you know Ms. McNeel?

A. She is my mother-in-law.

Q. Okay. Does the owner of Corinthian have any knowledge about your investigation of Mr. Ellington in

MR. YORK: Object to form.

A. I guess somebody came down to the lobby to greet me, a baldheaded guy that was tall, and a woman and they brought me up and then I met with Seery up there, some other people one time. I don't know. I just --

Q. (BY MS. PETTIT) Other than Seery, who did you meet with?

A. I mean, do you count these people that -- this one guy was an accountant and I think -- and the woman was I want to say some level of administrative role. I just -- I don't recall.

Q. Anyone else that you know by name?

A. No.

Q. What were the purposes of your meetings at the Highland Capital offices?

A. To discuss settlement issues.

Q. Did you negotiate the agreements while you were there in the office?

MR. YORK: Object to form.

A. I just don't -- I don't recall. I mean, the negotiations took place starting in 2020 and went all the way to November 2021. So various things got determined at various times.

Q. (BY MS. PETTIT) Did you ever sign any agreements while you were there?

A. No. I don't think so. If you have something that can refresh my memory, but I don't recall signing anything.

Q. Did you provide any information, such as the data compilations during any of the meetings at Highland's offices?

A. No. I think that had all been done before for the most part. I mean, I don't know -- some of the data compilations I resent when -- what's his name -- you know, there's two phases. There's the Highland bankruptcy where there was a creditor's committee and then there was the emergence from bankruptcy which I want to say was August 2021. And so, parts of my deal were negotiated prior to that August -- oh, confirmation and emergence. And then after August, the creditor's committee went away and in came the claimant trust and the claimant litigation trustee, if I'm recalling this correctly, and -- so, yeah, I mean some were done before and some were done after.

Q. Did you ever take any of your Ellington Recordings, according to my definition, to your meetings at the Highland offices?

MR. YORK: Object to form.

A. Yeah, I don't know what an Ellington Recording is. I don't think I have any Ellington Recordings.

Q. (BY MS. PETTIT) Okay. So I'll represent to you that we consider your photos that you produced in this case Ellington Recordings, according to our definition in Request For Production?

A. That's a weird definition. I don't agree with it.

Q. Okay. I understand you don't agree with it, but I'm asking you using that definition did you provide or bring any Ellington Recordings with you to the deposition -- excuse me -- to the meeting at Highland's offices?

MR. YORK: Hold on. Object to form, compound.

A. Yeah, look, I'm going to try and just cut through it. Because I don't like the question. It doesn't make much sense, but I didn't bring any pictures of Ellington.

Q. (BY MS. PETTIT) Well, what about the other photos that you produced in this case? Did you take any of those pictures with you?

A. What photos are you talking about?

Q. Any photo that you've produced in this case.

A. I don't -- no. I didn't bring any photos to their offices, no.

Q. Okay.

A. On those occasions.
Q. All right.
A. And by the way, I never sent them any photos. The only photo that was sent was of Ellington standing in the front yard when he'd gone AWOL.
Q. That's the only photo you sent to Jim Seery?
A. Of -- of Ellington? Of Ellington?
Q. Of any photo that was produced in this case.
A. Oh, no. I mean, I sent the Highland employee that was -- what was her name -- Sarah Beth Goldsmith or she was Sara Bell back then. Yeah, she was a Highland employee. Ellington had been fired for over a month and I'm like, oh, by the way, your employee's over here at Ellington's place. And she's like, she's no longer an employee, blah, blah, blah. And that was like two days before; and I think he even mentioned in his deposition it was kind of suspicious why -- why she was over there. I did send him those pictures.
Q. Okay.
A. And -- and, look, if you have others, just remind me. Stop trying to trick me.
Q. Okay. I have not had a chance yet to listen to the exhibit or the document recording that you-all produced labeled DEF53104, but can you just tell me generally what that is?

A. Seery's lying.
Q. And what is he lying about?
A. Not knowing about my investigation, not knowing about multiple things.
Q. And when was this recording made?
A. I want to say May 2022.
Q. So was it before or after his deposition?
A. Who's deposition?
Q. Mr. Seery?
A. Before.
Q. So you have a recording of Mr. Seery prior to his deposition which is now inconsistent, you're saying, with his deposition?
A. Correct.
Q. Okay. And why did you make that recording at the time?
A. Oh, because people lie, deny and die.
Q. What does that mean?
A. What do you think it means? It means what it says. People lie, you know, like Mr. Hurst to a jury or Mr. Seery in this case; and people deny, like Ellington, et cetera and lie and some people die -- some witnesses die over time. And so I made that recording to do -- to just trust but verify, you know. I didn't want there to be a situation where somebody turned on me and said, hey,

I had no idea and that's kind of what happened in that deposition. And we gave him every opportunity to set the record straight and he chose not to.

Q. What do you mean by you gave him every opportunity?

A. We asked him to clarify.

Q. During the deposition?

A. I think so --

Q. Okay.

A. -- yeah, and he dug in -- foolishly so, in my opinion.

Q. Are there any other recordings that you have between you and Mr. Seery?

A. Yes.

MR. YORK: Object to form.

A. I'm sorry, yes.

Q. (BY MS. PETTIT) Do any of them involve Mr. Ellington?

MR. YORK: Objection to form.

A. No.

Q. (BY MS. PETTIT) Is there any other -- was this recording made at an in-person meeting or over the phone?

A. Phone. He was in New York. I was in Dallas.

Q. Do you know if New York is a one or two-party state?

SCOTT BYRON ELLINGTON	§	IN THE DISTRICT COURT
Plaintiff,	§
V.	§	101st JUDICIAL DISTRICT
PATRICK DAUGHERTY,	§
Defendant.	§	DALLAS COUNTY, TEXAS

PLAINTIFF'S SIXTH MOTION TO COMPEL

Plaintiff Scott Byron Ellington ("Plaintiff" or "Ellington") files this Sixth Motion to Compel against Defendant Patrick Daugherty ("Defendant" or "Daugherty") pursuant to Texas Rule of Civil Procedure 215.1. Plaintiff respectfully shows the Court as follows:

I. SUMMARY

Ellington once again seeks the Court's assistance to obtain discovery responses from Daugherty, who continues to play games with the production of documents and information. On August 28, 2025, Daugherty produced for the first time a 26-minute audio recording (the "Recording") of a May 4, 2022 conversation between himself and Jim Seery, in which Plaintiff Scott Ellington and other Ellington Parties are discussed in detail. The Recording is plainly responsive to multiple outstanding discovery requests that have already been the subject of a Court Order compelling compliance. Defendant's delayed production of this highly relevant Recording demonstrates that Defendant has either (1) withheld responsive recordings in violation of Court orders, or (2) failed to conduct an adequate search for such recordings.

This Motion seeks to compel production of all additional responsive recordings in Defendant's possession, custody, or control, and information sufficient to verify whether additional recordings exist.

II. PROCEDURAL BACKGROUND

1. Plaintiff has served multiple sets of Requests for Production seeking, among other things, all recordings, documents, and communications related to the surveillance, observation, or investigation of the Ellington Parties and Ellington Locations.

2. On June 14, 2022, Defendant served responses to several of these Requests, including:

- RFP No. 2: All documents and communications containing or referencing any Ellington Recording sent to or received from any person or entity.
- RFP No. 3: All documents and communications with any person or entity regarding the Ellington Recordings and/or the surveillance, observation, recordation, or investigation of any Ellington Party or Location.
- RFP No. 4: All electronic or handwritten notes, memoranda, or other documents related to or evidencing such surveillance, observation, recordation, or investigation.
- RFP No. 8: All documents and communications sufficient to show any individual or entity, other than Defendant, who was aware of or involved in those efforts. See Exhibit A, Defendant's June 14, 2022 Responses.

3. On October 10, 2022, Defendant provided further responses, including to:

- RFP No. 15: All documents and communications referencing any Ellington Party, Location, or Recording sent to or received from Jim Seery.
- RFP No. 26: All documents and communications referencing any Ellington Party, Location, or Recording sent to or received from any person or entity.

- RFP No. 29: All documents and communications from third parties relating to any notes, memoranda, commentary, or other documents evidencing or discussing Defendant's surveillance, observation, recordation, or investigation of Ellington Parties or Locations. See Exhibit B, Defendant's October 10, 2022 Responses.

4. On July 7, 2023 Plaintiff filed its Third Motion to Compel, requesting Defendant completely and fully produce documents in Defendant's possession, custody, or control that are responsive to Plaintiff's Discovery Requests. See Exhibit C, Plaintiff's Third Motion to Compel.

5. On March 19, 2025, this Court entered an Order compelling Defendant to fully respond to, among others, Requests for Production Nos. 2, 3, 8, 15, 26, and 29.[1] See Exhibit D, March 19, 2025 Order.

6. At the time of that Order, Daugherty was in possession of the Recording taken on May 4, 2022 that is clearly responsive to at least Requests for Production Nos. 2, 3, 4, 8, 15, 26, and 29. See Exhibit F, transcript of the Recording.

7. The twenty-six minute and eleven second (26:11) Recording appears to be a conversation between Defendant Daugherty and Jim Seery. The recording specifically discusses Mr. Daugherty taking photographs of, among others, Mr. Ellington and his then fiancé, now wife, Stephanie Archer, at or around the 14:22 mark. There are further discussions of Mr. Ellington on the Recording.

[1] While Request for Production No. 4 is not included in the Order, Daugherty stated that he would produce copies of non-privileged documents responsive to this request, if any, within his possession, custody or control on a rolling basis in his June 14, 2022 Responses to Plaintiff's First Requests for Production. See Exhibit A.

8. Despite the Court's Order, Defendant failed to produce the May 4, 2022 Recording until August 28, 2025, after multiple discovery deadlines and less than three weeks before the then-current trial setting. Mr. Daugherty was set for his supplemental deposition on August 28, 2005. Moments before the deposition, Mr. Daugherty's counsel handed the Recording on a flash-drive to Plaintiff's counsel. Mr. Daugherty then made it clear at the deposition that he produced the recording because it exposes that Jim Seery lied about not knowing about Mr. Daugherty's "investigation" of Mr. Ellington. See Exhibit G (Daugherty August 28, 2025 deposition) at 102:22 – 103:11. That is, he produced this recording now because it's suddenly beneficial to him—not because it should have been produced long ago both in response to requests for production and this Court's March 19, 2025 Order.

9. Trial in this matter was originally scheduled for September 5, 2023, and has since been reset several times: first to June 3, 2024, then to August 5, 2025, and again to September 16, 2025. It is now set for April 27, 2026. The May 4, 2022 Recording was not produced until after both the original and several reset trial dates, underscoring Defendant's continued noncompliance with his discovery obligations.

10. On August 29, 2025, Plaintiff's counsel issued a letter demanding the production of all additional responsive recordings, identification of all devices used to create or store the May 4, 2022 Recording, and an explanation for the delayed production. See Exhibit E, Plaintiff's August 29, 2025 Letter.

11. To date, Defendant has provided neither an explanation of the prior failure to produce the Recording nor any additional recordings. Accordingly, Plaintiff is forced to file this additional Motion to Compel regarding the same subject matter as the Court's March 19, 2025 Order.

III. ARGUMENTS & AUTHORITIES

A. Standard.

The Texas Rules of Civil Procedure emphasize full transparency in discovery. The purpose of discovery is to seek the truth so that disputes may be decided by what facts are revealed, not by what facts are concealed. Crosstex Energy Services, L.P. v. Pro Plus, Inc., 430 S.W.3d 384, 394 (Tex. 2014). When responding to written discovery, a party must make a complete response, based on all information reasonably available to the responding party or its attorney at the time the response is made. Tex. R. Civ. P. 193.1.

Timely supplementation of incomplete discovery is a continuing obligation under Texas law. A party must make a full and complete response to proper discovery requests and must timely supplement those responses as needed—no later than thirty days before trial. See Branham v. Brown, 925 S.W.2d 365, 370 (Tex. App.—Houston [1st Dist.] 1996, no writ); Tex. R. Civ. P. 193.5(b). While Rule 193.5 presumes that supplements made less than thirty days before trial are untimely, courts have made clear that no opposite presumption exists for supplements made more than thirty days before trial. See Snider v. Stanley, 44 S.W.3d 713, 715 (Tex. App.—Beaumont 2001, pet. denied). Rather, a party must supplement "reasonably promptly" after discovering the need to do so. Tex. R. Civ. P. 193.5(b).

Whether a response is reasonably prompt depends on the circumstances, and Dallas courts have found supplementation untimely where the responding party had the materials in their possession for an extended period, was clearly on notice of their relevance, and failed to provide any justification for the delay. See Interest of A.R.M., 593 S.W.3d 358, 375 (Tex. App.—Dallas 2018, pet. denied) (holding supplementation was not reasonably prompt where materials were in party's possession for eight months and prior requests clearly covered the documents); In re Staff Care, Inc., 422 S.W.3d 876, 881 (Tex. App.—Dallas 2014, no pet.) (holding supplementation untimely where requests had been pending for two years and plaintiff failed to provide the information despite answering deposition questions on the subject).

Further, when a party fails to comply with a discovery order, such as an order granting a motion to compel, Rule 215.2(b) authorizes the Court to issue "just" orders, including those compelling further compliance or requiring the disobedient party or counsel to pay reasonable expenses caused by the failure. See Tex, R. Civ. P. 215.2(b). Rule 215.2(b)(8) provides that the court shall require the disobedient party, the advising attorney, or both to pay such expenses, including attorneys' fees, unless the failure was substantially justified. See Tex. R. Civ. P. 215.2(b)(8).

Additionally, Rule 215.3 empowers the court to impose appropriate remedies if it finds a party is abusing the discovery process by resisting discovery improperly or engaging in delay tactics. See Tex. R. Civ. P. 215.3. While the trial court has broad authority to impose sanctions, the sanctions imposed must be just. See TransAmerican Nat. Gas Corp. v. Powell, 811 S.W.2d 913, 917 (Tex. 1991); Shops at Legacy (Inland) Ltd. P'ship v.

Fine Autographs & Memorabilia Retails Stores, Inc., 418 S.W.3d 229, 232 (Tex. App.—Dallas 2013, no pet.). However, trial courts may impose death penalty sanctions when a party has repeatedly failed to comply with discovery orders, especially after having been warned of the consequences of continued noncompliance. See Hizar v. Heflin, 672 S.W.3d 774, 784–85 (Tex. App.—Dallas 2023, pet. denied) (affirming the trial court's imposition of death penalty sanctions, striking the defendant's pleadings, for failure to comply with two orders compelling discovery).

Collectively, these rules give the Court broad authority to enforce compliance with discovery obligations, protect the integrity of the discovery process, and, where appropriate, require the offending party to bear the costs incurred in seeking relief.

B. Defendant's Belated Production Violates the Court's Discovery Orders

Defendant's delayed production of the May 4, 2022 Recording violates both the Texas Rules of Civil Procedure and this Court's prior discovery order. As discussed above, Rule 215.1 expressly authorizes a party to move to compel discovery when another party fails to comply. Moreover, Rules 192.3 and 196.3 require parties to produce all relevant documents and tangible items within their possession, custody, or control in response to proper discovery requests.

The May 4, 2022 Recording is clearly responsive to at least Requests for Production Nos. 2, 3, 4, 8, 15, 26, and 29, each of which seeks documents or communications related to surveillance, recordings, and investigations involving Ellington and affiliated individuals. See Exhibit A-B, Defendant's Discovery Responses. This Court's March 19, 2025 Order specifically compelled Defendant to respond to those same Requests. See Exhibit D, March 19, 2025 Order (compelling responses to Requests for Production Nos. 2-3, 7-8, 14-30, and 34-35). Yet, Defendant failed to produce the Recording until August 28, 2025, more than five months after the Court's Order and after multiple discovery deadlines had passed.

There is no credible justification for this delay. The content and timing of the Recording make clear that it was responsive and within Defendant's possession during earlier discovery exchanges. Defendant's failure to produce it in a timely manner not only violates the Rules of Civil Procedure, it also constitutes a direct violation of the Court's order. This disregard for the discovery process reinforces the need for judicial intervention to ensure full compliance going forward.

C. The Late Production Raises Reasonable Suspicion of Additional Recordings

Defendant's last-minute production of a single, highly relevant recording long after the Court ordered compliance also raises serious concerns about whether additional responsive materials remain unproduced. Daugherty indicated that he produced the Recording because it fit his personal agenda of proving that Mr. Seery had lied in his deposition in March 2024. See Exhibit G at 102:22 – 103:11. Mr. Daugherty produced the Recording on August 28, 2025, was deposed on same day, and testified about the Recording at the deposition. It is plain that but-for the setting of Daugherty's supplemental deposition (as a result of another Court order) and Daugherty's desire to use the Recording to get back at Mr. Seery, the Recording never would have seen the light of day.[2]

On August 29, 2025, Plaintiff issued a letter demanding that Defendant produce all other responsive recordings, identify the devices or platforms used to record or store the May 4, 2022 Recording, and explain the reason for the delayed production. See Exhibit E, Plaintiff's August 29, 2025 Letter. To date, Defendant has failed to respond to that letter.

The content of the May 4, 2022 Recording itself, which discusses Plaintiff and other Ellington Parties in detail, shows that Defendant had both the means and practice of recording conversations relevant to this case. Defendant's history of surveillance and documentation, including photography of Plaintiff and his family, email and text messages referencing investigative efforts, and prior communications with third parties, further suggests that the May 4, 2022 Recording is not an isolated instance. Defendant's investigative activity at multiple locations involving multiple individuals supports the inference that additional recordings or communications exist.

In light of these circumstances, Plaintiff has a reasonable basis to believe that other responsive recordings have either been improperly withheld or overlooked. Without an order compelling compliance, including the identification of devices used and locations where recordings are stored, Plaintiff cannot verify that Defendant has fulfilled his discovery obligations. Plaintiff therefore respectfully requests that the Court issue a secondary order compelling full and transparent compliance. Plaintiff further requests

[2] Mr. Daugherty did testify that he had other recordings of Mr. Seery, but that none of them mention Mr. Ellington. Given the circumstances regarding the production of the Recording and the apparent lack of prior review by counsel, Mr. Daugherty's self-serving assertion should be given no weight by the Court.

language in the Order warning Defendant of the potential consequences of any further non-compliance in this case.[3]

IV. CONCLUSION & PRAYER

For the foregoing reasons, the Court should enter an order compelling Defendant to do the following within seven (7) days:

a. Produce all other recordings by Mr. Daugherty regarding any Ellington Party, Location, or Recording, as those terms are defined in the Requests for Production.

b. Produce all other recordings responsive to the Requests for Production compelled by the Court's March 19, 2025 Order, including but not limited to Requests for Production Nos. 2, 3, 8, 15, 26, and 29.

c. Produce any other responsive documents that have been overlooked by Defendant.

d. Provide information sufficient to identify what mechanism(s) or device(s) Defendant used to make and/or store the Recording in order to permit verification of the presence or absence of any additional responsive recordings.

Plaintiff prays for all such other relief to which he may be justly entitled.

MALE SPEAKER 1: Correct. And -- and so they're -- they're going to be fine to withdraw their claims. CalPERS can't find it. I've got to -- I got to call those guys again. Like, they literally don't know who -- who is responsible for filing it. It was somebody in legal in San Francisco. So I -- I got to try to hound that. If we can get ---

MALE SPEAKER 2: I -- I thought they were -- I thought -- as I recall, I thought CalPERS filed a claim really just so that Dondero (phonetic) would have to go through on buying their shares at whatever it was, 68 or $72 a share.

I -- I thought they said, "Look, we don't care what is going on with this bankruptcy. That was the deal that was struck. We need to get paid." I thought that was their claim. And I thought that had been paid during the estate. Yeah.

MALE SPEAKER 1: But -- but what they didn't know was they were selling them at 6850 and he was selling them at 7250 or 6750 and 7250. He was giving them five bucks.

MALE SPEAKER 2: Okay. Well, he was skimming them a lot more than that because it sold for 146. But yeah.

MALE SPEAKER 1: You think?

MALE SPEAKER 2: While he was on the board, I mean, that's why he was trying to give you that -- force you to use his insider information because he knew that, you know, Amazon was there for 146. I mean, that's what I've read in the press.

MALE SPEAKER 1: Yeah. It was all in the press anyway, but whatever.

MALE SPEAKER 2: Yeah.

MALE SPEAKER 1: I think the -- my point is if I can get those withdrawn and then we can figure out the other tax guys if that -- and I'll talk to Demo (phonetic) about that other than you and Todd, then as we -- I don't think we want to -- let -- we'll try to figure out where this tax -- you know, the status of the tax litigation.

MALE SPEAKER 2: Yeah.

MALE SPEAKER 1: But then it's easier to make a distribution and reserve.

MALE SPEAKER 2: Yeah. That's all. And -- and that was what I was calling about. I'm obviously going to stick to the terms of our deal, but just want to make sure the estate doesn't get liquidated and we get, you know ---

MALE SPEAKER 1: No -- no. Of course not.

MALE SPEAKER 2: Okay.

22 MALE SPEAKER 1: And also, I don't -- there's no

23 point in spending money while -- you know, we're all -- we're

24 all going to -- if ---

25 MALE SPEAKER 2: Yeah, if you do that, we'll sit

1 tight. We're not -- we're not dying to go and fight you.

2 MALE SPEAKER 1: Yeah, we'll just -- because

3 hopefully it'll -- it'll go away. I mean, at some point --

4 it's 10 years old, it's -- there's -- there's got to be a 5 resolution.

6 MALE SPEAKER 2: You would think. But, I mean, I

7 -- like you said, I think you hit the nail on the head. I

8 think they're after Dondero and Occada (phonetic) for the big

9 money and, you know, until they get some resolution on that,

10 you know, who knows?

11 I mean, you guys brought up a host of other tax

12 fraud issues when it came to all these transactions between 13 all these entities, right? The moving of the shared services

14 and the employment reimbursement contracts back and forth and 15 all that. I can't imagine that the ---

16 MALE SPEAKER 1: They said once that they were tax

17 fraud. Deveaux Lucarini (phonetic) brought that up.

18 MALE SPEAKER 2: That's what I mean, you brought up

19 the transactions and Deveaux brought up the tax fraud. No,

20 Morris made a point to -- to let the Judge know that you-all

21 -- you guys say -- you're assuming they're completely

file:///C/...20Perkins/Downloads/ellingtonmotiontofiletoday/Exhibit%20F%20-%20Recording%20taken%20on%20May%204,%202022.txt[10/27/2025 3:22:52 PM]

22 legitimate. If they're not, that's between, you know,

23 Dondero and the IRS, but yeah.

24 Anyway -- well, the reason why it -- it's on my

25 mind is because, you know, rumor mill, Dondero is running

1 around town telling everybody he is going to get back

2 Highland. He is going to get back the name, the brand, you

3 know, the legacy, whatever else goes along with it, he is 4 claiming he is going to get it back.

5 So, you know, my thought is if he has got any

6 grounds for saying that, which I always doubt first that

7 anything he says is true, but to the extent it is true, I

8 just want to make sure my unresolved things are getting

9 resolved. Unless he is going to do what he says he is going

10 to do, which is buy out this estate.

11 MALE SPEAKER 1: Yeah. Like, he is fucking insane.

12 MALE SPEAKER 2: Okay. Well, I figured, like I

13 said ---

14 MALE SPEAKER 1: You know, he -- he can definitely

15 buy out the estate and -- and, you know, if it's -- if 16 there's $600 million, like he said, you know, sold to him at 17 a 20 percent discount.

18 MALE SPEAKER 2: Yeah. He said you're sitting on 19 200 million in cash and the value of everything is 600. I

20 don't know. You -- like, you and I already talked about

file:///C/...20Perkins/Downloads/ellingtonmotiontofiletoday/Exhibit%20F%20-%20Recording%20taken%20on%20May%204,%202022.txt[10/27/2025 3:22:52 PM]

that. You just said he is making it up, so --

MALE SPEAKER 1: He is making it up.

MALE SPEAKER 2: Yeah. Not the first time. Okay. Those were -- that was -- those were those two items -- oh -- oh, on Ellington. You had mentioned to me in many conversations ago that he told you that he had a special relationship with Hoffman. He was bragging about it. I -- I can't remember what it was, but that -- and then the same conversation, I think you mentioned to me that he also said that I was stalking Hoffman at Disneyland, and I followed him all around Disneyland.

MALE SPEAKER 1: Yeah.

MALE SPEAKER 2: You mind -- I mean, we may have to call you as a witness on that. I -- I'm not sure that we will, but on the one hand it's defamation because I never stalked Hoffman at all at Disneyland or anywhere else.

But on the other hand, just want to -- we may need to show at some point down the line, Hey, this Ellington guy, he has -- he has used the stalking card before, and I don't know if you know this or not, but they're desperately trying to get back in front of Hoffman.

We have Judge Williams or Williamson, and they're trying to claim that all this stalking stuff relates back to the case way back in 2012. In fact, the papers that -- that Michael Hurst filed with the Court didn't even acknowledge the settlement where everything in the Texas action against me was vacated.

They're still operating and trying to tell the Court that Hoffman should have jurisdiction over this because of all the things that the jury found against me back in 2014. If you can believe it, that's actually what they're doing. That's what Michael Hurst is doing.

MALE SPEAKER 1: I mean, but all you got to do is put in front this other person, like -- yeah, the jury journal has struck -- maybe whatever they found was based on a whole thing of lies.

MALE SPEAKER 2: Yeah. Well, fortunately you did a really good job. I didn't even expect it. And were it not for Ellington objecting to my claim, it never would have gone on record. But in the transcript, you said there's fraud here, which was one of the most disturbing things that you discovered. And that there never was an escrow account. So, you know, it couldn't have been better.

MALE SPEAKER 1: I mean, I got -- I keep -- you -- you can't say this about Highland anymore because, like, how could I still be shocked, but I'm still shocked about stuff that I learned.

MALE SPEAKER 2: Yeah.

MALE SPEAKER 1: I -- I'm just blown away. Like,

20 I'm -- I mean, these guys literally fucking put on in front 21 of -- but now I've seen them do it again. You know, they put 22 it on in front of judges a fucking fraudulent case about 23 there being an escrow and about there being plenty of money
24 to pay you if you prevail. And then they -- they don't pay 25 you fucking, like, 2.6 million. Who the fuck does that?

1 MALE SPEAKER 2: I know -- I know. And -- I mean,
2 it's just unbelievable.
3 MALE SPEAKER 1: You paid him, like, it's fucking
4 insane.
5 MALE SPEAKER 2: You -- I don't even know if you
6 know the whole of it. They sent the constable over to my 7 house to seize my assets, claiming that I hadn't paid
8 anything. So I had to wire them 3.1 million because of 9 interest. All the while, they had taken all the assets out 10 of the escrow.
11 And Ellington has filed an affidavit saying that on 12 personal knowledge, I didn't have the assets to make due on 13 their claim against me. It was just unbelievable. But 14 anyway, I -- I don't want to go through all that. It's -- 15 it's not your problem anymore.
16 MALE SPEAKER 1: No -- no. That was a horrible
17 thing. I think you told me that you were away and your wife 18 called you.
19 MALE SPEAKER 2: I was in New York and my wife was in a complete panic with the kids, and I had my in-laws trying to get them out here, and we thought they might come in and take the dogs. So it was just ridiculous. But it is what it is. And I -- again, I'm not trying to drag you into that.

MALE SPEAKER 1: Yeah. I would say -- look, I don't know if I could say he said he had a special relationship. I don't ---

MALE SPEAKER 2: Well, that's what I'm getting at. What did he tell you as far as -- you said he boasted something about Hoffman, and I don't want to paraphrase you. I want to know what did he say.

MALE SPEAKER 1: It -- it's hard to -- I'm trying to be as both accurate in -- in memory. It was more in passing that he had a good relationship with Judge Hoffman. I think he said he had lunch with him. Now I may conflate some stuff because I think you or someone else has told me that, you know, he and -- and Levington (phonetic) and Savilla (phonetic) and Dondero -- not -- not that anything is illegal about it, but they all just happened to contribute to ---

MALE SPEAKER 2: Not Dondero, but yes, it was -- it was -- that I did tell you. I don't know if you heard from others, but it was -- it was Ellington, Levington, Savilla

19 and D'Orio (phonetic) contributed $25,000 to Judge Hoffman's 20 runoff campaign as Judge Hoffman was hearing a contempt of 21 Court case from them against me. But anyway, I could prove 22 that because I've got the records from the Attorney General's 23 office.
24 MALE SPEAKER 1: Right.
25 MALE SPEAKER 2: I just couldn't remember exactly

1 what it was that he boasted to you.
2 MALE SPEAKER 1: It was some -- it was hard to -- I
3 can't say it was Hoffman. There was definitely some 4 implication that he knew the Dallas Judges and he could have 5 lunch with them ---
6 MALE SPEAKER 2: Oh, so it wasn't even -- it wasn't
7 even specific to Hoffman?
8 MALE SPEAKER 1: It -- I don't -- I don't recall.
9 He is the only judge that -- that I've heard a name because 10 that went to the Disneyland thing.
11 MALE SPEAKER 2: Well, he -- yeah, that was pretty 12 clear. He did -- he -- you know, there's only one. That was 13 Hoffman that he was referring to there, so --- 14 MALE SPEAKER 1: Yeah. And -- and ---
15 MALE SPEAKER 2: And didn't he tell you I -- 16 because you asked me. No, don't you remember early on you
17 asked me -- you were like, "Hey, man, you don't have to tell 18 him if you don't want to, but did you" ---

file:///C/...20Perkins/Downloads/ellingtonmotiontofiletoday/Exhibit%20F%20-%20Recording%20taken%20on%20May%204,%202022.txt[10/27/2025 3:22:52 PM]

MALE SPEAKER 1: No. He said -- he -- he said that you stalked the guy.

MALE SPEAKER 2: Yeah.

MALE SPEAKER 1: Right? And so -- and told me all about it, how Hoffman came back, you know, really disturbed. And that's why he, like, put a -- some kind of order against you or something.

MALE SPEAKER 2: Well, okay. As usual, he was lying. I mean, I -- I did talk to Hoffman and he did say it was an improper ex parte communication, even though I was talking to him about a case I wasn't even involved in. But anyway, be that as it may, that's kind of my point is ---

MALE SPEAKER 1: Apparently, you didn't just fly and follow the dude to Disneyland. You go there with your family.

MALE SPEAKER 2: Yeah. Every year. And when I saw him, I was with my wife and daughter because I didn't even see him initially. My wife did. And she is like, you ought to introduce Judge Hoffman to your family and blah, blah, blah, blah. So, you know, I'm not -- I got my wife and daughter if necessary for witnesses on that front.

But I think we may have to show the Court, you know, that, A, this guy lies all the time, you know, not just about all the business stuff, but he has used the stalking thing before. Because I'm still having to deal with that --

MALE SPEAKER 1: I'll tell you one thing this guy has done is he has run from this case.

MALE SPEAKER 2: In what sense?

MALE SPEAKER 1: Their defense on the -- on the, you know, whatever this Rukavina thing he made up that they -- we were -- had to renegotiate this contract with Frank Waterhouse at the beginning of the case, told the ---

MALE SPEAKER 2: Oh, yeah. Well, he said he told Ellington.

MALE SPEAKER 1: Frank Caruso ---

MALE SPEAKER 2: Yeah.

MALE SPEAKER 1: --- just happens to be retired. So they -- they pick on Fred and then -- and Ellington and Levington -- well, Ellington and Levington are your guys. They -- you -- if 100 percent of their income come from Dondero, why weren't they testifying?

MALE SPEAKER 2: Oh, I see what you're saying. It's not like they dodged a subpoena from you, they just ---

MALE SPEAKER 1: No -- no. Oh, they did. When -- when we said, oh, we're going to actually -- we subpoenaed them for the -- the CPMC claims, they just agreed to take zero.

MALE SPEAKER 2: Got you.

MALE SPEAKER 1: (Indiscernible).

MALE SPEAKER 2: Well, because you had already taken both of their depositions -- I want to say January 56 -- 15th and 16th of 2021. Because that's when I found out about ---

MALE SPEAKER 1: I thought that was Klubock (phonetic).

MALE SPEAKER 2: Oh, was January 15th -- was that Klubock in January 15 and 16th?

MALE SPEAKER 1: I think Klubock took that.

MALE SPEAKER 2: Because that was the whole where Ellington said he -- he didn't know anything about Nimitz and Patton.

MALE SPEAKER 1: Yeah, well, we -- we know those true -- we know those unequivocally to be false.

MALE SPEAKER 2: Right. Remember I went and found Cayman Islands registrar and I gave this to Paige Montgomery at the time, and I found that Diorio was the board member of Sentinel.

MALE SPEAKER 1: Yeah. And -- and, you know, during -- during the case, Sentinel provided an indemnity, unbeknownst to me or anybody else, when I started getting a little bit close, maybe in the beginning of the summer when they were fraudulently hiding the whole settlement -- the whole payments to UBS.

17 And they were working with me on the strategy to 18 fight UBS, they got -- must have gotten worried. And 19 Savilla, Levington, Ellington, Katie Irving, Stephanie 20 Patella, all got indemnities, a written indemnity that they 21 each signed from Sentinel in June of 2020. Nobody ever 22 mentioned Sentinel. This was during the case while they were 23 full-time employees in Highlands.
24 MALE SPEAKER 2: Wow.
25 MALE SPEAKER 1: And then, you know, this guy says

1 he doesn't remember anything about the Sentinel structure.
2 MALE SPEAKER 2: Oh, I know. Yeah. He -- he said
3 he didn't know about it. He didn't -- wasn't involved and 4 knew -- knew he had heard the word, but that was it, you
5 know, blah, blah, blah.
6 MALE SPEAKER 1: Yeah. He knew -- he knew how to 7 build all of his expenses through it ---
8 MALE SPEAKER 2: Yeah.
9 MALE SPEAKER 1: --- at the very time.
10 MALE SPEAKER 2: Yeah.
11 MALE SPEAKER 1: With this indemnity. Yeah.
12 MALE SPEAKER 2: Well, okay. I -- I'm glad you
13 clarified on the whole judge thing. Just because if it
14 becomes necessary, we're going to have to, you know --- 15 MALE SPEAKER 1: Why are they --- 16 MALE SPEAKER 2: Continuing to fight it? Because it's ---

MALE SPEAKER 1: Well, I -- like, the whole thing -- the whole thing with you, right, it is clearly fabricated. They -- they could clearly say, "Hey, you went and took pictures of people." Okay.

MALE SPEAKER 2: Actually, I didn't take pictures of the people. I took pictures of the driver's license plates and the cars. The only people I took a picture of was one of Ellington, one of his secretary, and one of his -- what at the time, I didn't know who she was, but now we've learned that she is a fianc , workout partner/girlfriend, depending on who he is talking to. But other than that, all this shit about kids and all the others is made up.

MALE SPEAKER 1: Well, I don't -- I don't doubt that for a second, but -- but be that as it may, what -- what's the -- what are they defending -- what are you -- I guess I'm trying to figure out what he is -- why is he -- why is he in your -- why isn't he getting away from you too? Why -- what's -- why is he in your ---

MALE SPEAKER 2: I -- I think that's why he is doing this. I think he is saying, "Hey, if you come after me for your Delaware actions, and if you bring Herra (phonetic) after me" -- because that's what they said. You know, they said, "Hey, Your Honor, you can't approve this settlement."

16 This is to Judge Jernigan, because Daugherty is just going to 17 take Herra and come after us through Herra.
18 He is going to harass, you know, Ellington. And we 19 all knew it was really all of them. And so they've concocted
20 up -- this whole stalking thing is, in their mind, I guess,
21 some kind of, "Hey, you let us off of ours and we'll let you 22 off yours." And I'm like, "Screw you." You know, I
23 negotiated hard for the Herra thing for a reason.
24 And as you can imagine, we are now -- we got a -- 25 we got a meeting with Judge Zern tomorrow to move forward on

1 that. But there's a lot of people with a lot of problems on 2 the Herra front.
3 MALE SPEAKER 1: I mean, look, you -- your thing --
4 your pleading, which was, as I said, pretty good, the one
5 with the -- the crime fraud stuff, if only a quarter of it is 6 -- is -- it's all really bad. If only a quarter of it is 7 like -- somebody has got -- I mean, I can't imagine people 8 don't want to get the fuck out of that.
9 MALE SPEAKER 2: You know, look, and I'm always 10 open -- you know, you call it commercial. I'm always open to 11 a settlement, but the lying has to stop and the defamatory
12 stuff against me has to stop. And then I'll talk to anybody 13 who wants to be a grownup about coming up with a solution, 14 but I'm not going to go away just for the hell of it.
15 MALE SPEAKER 1: Yeah.

MALE SPEAKER 2: You know, so ---

MALE SPEAKER 1: Well, I don't trust Ellington for anything. I think he is -- he is a complete lying, cheating piece of shit.

MALE SPEAKER 2: Yeah. I -- you could put Levington in that group too.

MALE SPEAKER 1: But it seems to me like he is -- is he separating himself from -- I mean, the fact that he wasn't in any of these things, he has got to be telling him ---

MALE SPEAKER 2: I'm telling you the reason why he doesn't -- he hasn't gotten any of those things, is they don't want to put him on the witness stand where he could get caught perjuring and then be under the -- and then get repercussions from Jernigan. That's why.

MALE SPEAKER 1: I mean, I'm -- I'm going to be -- I'm going to be sorely disappointed if on that litigation over the fees she doesn't recommend or refer Dondero for prosecution -- investigation or prosecution. I'm -- I just -- I don't ---

MALE SPEAKER 2: You're talking about the promissory notes, making them all up with Nancy? Or are you talking about ---

MALE SPEAKER 1: No, that one is separate because file:///C/...20Perkins/Downloads/ellingtonmotiontofiletoday/Exhibit%20F%20-%20Recording%20taken%20on%20May%204,%202022.txt[10/27/2025 3:22:52 PM] that one, she didn't actually hear any testimony?

MALE SPEAKER 2: Correct.

MALE SPEAKER 1: So she is already ---

MALE SPEAKER 2: You are talking about the one where he got on there and was just making up and he said he was going to go after her to have her recused again.

MALE SPEAKER 1: Yeah -- yeah.

MALE SPEAKER 2: And he said it was financial mugging and everything else?

MALE SPEAKER 1: Yeah -- yeah. But he -- he flat out lied about all kinds of stuff.

MALE SPEAKER 2: Agreed.

MALE SPEAKER 1: And she -- she looked at him with her mouth open, like ---

MALE SPEAKER 2: Well, she looked at him over her glasses. She wasn't going to -- she wasn't going to give him a single word that he can use on his appeal.

MALE SPEAKER 1: And Waterhouse, I -- I ---

MALE SPEAKER 2: Waterhouse just looked like a Stockholm syndrome.

MALE SPEAKER 1: I'll be disappointed if she doesn't, like, literally, you know, refer them to the Justice Department for perhaps possible perjury. It -- there has to be some -- man, I guess maybe there isn't.

MALE SPEAKER 2: You know, it's funny you mentioned

15 Ellington. We haven't seen Ellington on the stand in her 16 Court since Asis when he got nailed for lying about the 17 HarbourVest stuff, and he stopped going to the Court. Isaac 18 Levington stopped going to the Court and they started sitting 19 JP Savilla in their place. And I haven't seen either one of 20 them, not only on the stand, but in the courtroom ever since.
21 And that was 2019 -- 2018.
22 MALE SPEAKER 1: Yeah.
23 MALE SPEAKER 2: So -- all right. Status on the 24 sales and everything, did you ever get the remaining pieces
25 of -- of Cornerstone done?

1 MALE SPEAKER 1: We are still working on it.
2 MALE SPEAKER 2: Okay.
3 MALE SPEAKER 1: We've got a couple -- there's a 4 couple of very difficult things that we have to deal with.
5 MALE SPEAKER 2: Okay.
6 MALE SPEAKER 1: We have a really good second
7 piece, so we need to be very, very quiet about it. We're 8 very optimistic for the remaining pieces. We have an LOI and 9 we're moving towards a PSA, it -- it's -- so we don't want to 10 mention that anywhere. We just want to keep it really low.
11 MALE SPEAKER 2: The PSA on the -- on the second 12 parts or the first part, or all of it?
13 MALE SPEAKER 1: Second part.

14 MALE SPEAKER 2: Okay. I won't say anything.

15 MALE SPEAKER 1: And -- and so we really -- I mean, 16 that one is the -- the community is too small.

17 MALE SPEAKER 2: Okay.

18 MALE SPEAKER 1: And then we've got a couple of one

19 particularly difficult thing that we're dealing with that

20 we're trying to expedite related to an investigation matter

21 in the company which is a gating item.

22 MALE SPEAKER 2: Oh, you're talking about an 23 internal operational problem?

24 MALE SPEAKER 1: Office of Inspector General.

25 MALE SPEAKER 2: Yeah. We've -- that's -- that

1 could be dealt with, the OIG. I mean, it sounds awful, but

2 it's not uncommon.

3 MALE SPEAKER 1: Yeah. The issue is it's -- you

4 know, you need to -- it's not uncommon. It's not that bad.

5 It's a key -- we think it's a Qui tam, but whatever.

6 MALE SPEAKER 2: Yeah.

7 MALE SPEAKER 1: And the issue is it's a little bit

8 pushing as strength. So we've got a strategy to get there,

9 you know, that'll -- we'll go over the next couple weeks how

10 our strategy looks because we've been providing information

11 and ---

12 MALE SPEAKER 2: Okay.

13 MALE SPEAKER 1: --- you know, there really isn't anything there, but we're not going to be able to close with that hanging out there.

MALE SPEAKER 2: Understood.

MALE SPEAKER 1: And so that -- that's ---

MALE SPEAKER 2: What about Trustway?

MALE SPEAKER 1: We -- we are -- you know, again, keep it to yourself, please. We are in the market.

MALE SPEAKER 2: Well, that's not a secret to anybody.

MALE SPEAKER 1: Well, we've actually -- we got a real launch. We were ---

MALE SPEAKER 2: Okay -- okay. I was hoping you're going to say I'm not -- I can't tell you, but I -- I -- you know, don't tell anybody, but it -- we think we can get 500 million for it.

MALE SPEAKER 1: I wish -- I wish.

MALE SPEAKER 2: One time is the backlog, man. One time is the backlog.

MALE SPEAKER 1: Yeah. The hard part for that business is -- is people getting their arms around that level of volatility unless they're in it. So the strategics, you know, obviously have -- have a better insight. You know, the financiability part of it is tougher.

MALE SPEAKER 2: Okay.

file:///C/...20Perkins/Downloads/ellingtonmotiontofiletoday/Exhibit%20F%20-%20Recording%20taken%20on%20May%204,%202022.txt[10/27/2025 3:22:52 PM]

13 MALE SPEAKER 1: For -- for a PE guy. So that's 14 that's the challenge. But the business is way different than 15 it was in 2018. It's -- it's just a different -- they put in 16 a whole bunch of different stuff that's made it a much, much 17 better business. And -- and, you know, we're -- we're 18 hopeful for ---
19 MALE SPEAKER 2: Well, remember I got to see the 20 entire business plan because of my appraisal rights hearing.
21 Carl Moore had to go through all the things that they were 22 going to do to bring all this value in.
23 MALE SPEAKER 1: Yeah. Well, a lot of that they've 24 changed -- like, they changed and I -- Jeff --- 25 MALE SPEAKER 2: Oh, really? Because that was

1 October 2018.
2 MALE SPEAKER 1: Yeah. They adapted to the market.
3 They did -- they did some of those, but they really have 4 gotten way better at their -- both their -- their payment
5 protection date provisions in their contracts as well as 6 their -- their hedging strategy. And then in addition, they 7 -- they concentrated their buys, so they just have a better
8 relationship with their suppliers.
9 And then they strategically focus themselves on the 10 more value-add customers who are willing to pay a premium,
11 both for the, you know, design execute -- design flexibility, 12 quality, but also the execution and delivery. And -- and file:///C/...20Perkins/Downloads/ellingtonmotiontofiletoday/Exhibit%20F%20-%20Recording%20taken%20on%20May%204,%202022.txt[10/27/2025 3:22:52 PM] notwithstanding -- notwithstanding, you know, some of them were difficult decisions during the -- the real spike and during the COVID. Trustway didn't miss a single contract. Didn't back out with -- didn't back out of one.

MALE SPEAKER 2: Yeah.

MALE SPEAKER 1: And all of the competitors did.

MALE SPEAKER 2: Okay. That's impressive.

MALE SPEAKER 1: And it was -- it wasn't an accident. It was like, all right, this is -- if we're going to have a business that we're selling to people as, "Hey, we're the high-quality guys and we deliver, we're a reliable partner." We got to actually do that. It had -- it had a short-term cost, but the numbers look really good and this year's performance was great. So hopefully -- hopefully we'll be able to continue.

MALE SPEAKER 2: Got you. Hey, one other thing I -- it just occurred to me, Todd Traver wanted me to ask this. You know, he and I -- I don't know if any of the other former partners hold it, but we have some significant ownership interest in HFP, you know, the equity pilot financial partners, also known as HFT, High Financial Trust.

MALE SPEAKER 1: Yeah.

MALE SPEAKER 2: And that entity I think took a billion-dollar judgment from UBS.

file:///C/...20Perkins/Downloads/ellingtonmotiontofiletoday/Exhibit%20F%20-%20Recording%20taken%20on%20May%204,%202022.txt[10/27/2025 3:22:52 PM]

MALE SPEAKER 1: Correct.

MALE SPEAKER 2: So I think it's pretty worthless under any scenario as it relates to us as pure equity holders.

MALE SPEAKER 1: Yeah.

MALE SPEAKER 2: The question was, we all have capital accounts that we've getting on our K1s. Are you just going to write those ---

MALE SPEAKER 1: Are you still getting K -- are you still getting K1s on those?

MALE SPEAKER 2: We did last year. I don't know if we're going to get -- you know, we ---

MALE SPEAKER 1: I thought the capital account had gotten zeroed out. I'll have to look at that.

MALE SPEAKER 2: Well, that's what I'm calling about. If you zero out ---

MALE SPEAKER 1: It would be worthless ---

MALE SPEAKER 2: Yeah. If you ---

MALE SPEAKER 1: --- on that already.

MALE SPEAKER 2: Yeah. I mean, for whatever reason Todd accountants thought that the company should do it. And I'm like, you don't have to wait for the company to do it. And I'm like, "Todd, they took a billion-dollar judgment and -- and" ---

MALE SPEAKER 1: They even sent out something in -- in '08 to tell everybody that there was no value. Now the truth was at that point there actually was all the value that ended up getting siphoned up.

MALE SPEAKER 2: Well, and that's just it. Todd is like, well, we had -- we had value based on all the money being siphoned out. But I'm like, okay, well, at this point that was an unsecured claim from the equity and now that UBS comes in with a billion dollars of non-equity based unsecured, I don't think we would -- I think we would get washed out. So ---

MALE SPEAKER 1: Yeah, no doubt about it. Somebody else recently asked us -- a Japanese account about this as well, who hadn't taken it. And we said, look ---

MALE SPEAKER 2: Well, that's why we're asking.

Are you just going to write it down and send out the K1s that -- that demonstrate that?

MALE SPEAKER 1: It's -- it's got a very fucked up management structure. And so while we owned the GP, there's a different board. So Dondero sat on that board by himself and controlled it.

MALE SPEAKER 2: Yeah. I remember that.

MALE SPEAKER 1: Through last year.

MALE SPEAKER 2: All through last year.

MALE SPEAKER 1: Through last year. And so I -- I got to look at it. It's -- I think our recommendation, I'd don't know that we'll be able to tell you what -- tell anybody what to do. I don't think there's any dispute that the equity is worthless.

MALE SPEAKER 2: I agree -- I agree. I -- I just -- you know, everybody is looking for something that's coming from a third party so that they could just ---

MALE SPEAKER 1: Yeah.

MALE SPEAKER 2: --- do it that way. All right.

MALE SPEAKER 1: Yeah. I think -- let me -- let me say -- I'll look at that for you guys because I think we had -- we gave something that was ---

MALE SPEAKER 2: Some type of notice that just says we've looked at it and it's a write off to zero. You know, that's just what people are looking for.

MALE SPEAKER 1: Okay. Let see what we can -- let me see what we had sent out and I think we had something helpful from Japanese guys.

MALE SPEAKER 2: Okay. Thank you.

MALE SPEAKER 1: Okay. Cool.

MALE SPEAKER 2: Bye.

MALE SPEAKER 1: I will talk to you. Thanks. Bye bye.

THE VIDEOGRAPHER: Good afternoon. We're going on the record at 1:01 p.m. on August the 28th, 2025. Please note the microphones are sensitive and they may pick up whispering and private conversations. Please mute your phones at this time. This is the video recorded deposition of Patrick Daugherty, taken by counsel in the matter of Scott Byron Ellington versus Patrick Daugherty, filed in the District Court of Dallas County, Texas. The Case Docket Number is 22-00304. The location of the deposition is a 1601 Elm Street, Dallas, Texas.

My name is Joe Willis representing Veritext. I am the videographer. The court reporter is Kristi Klund from the firm Veritext. I'm not related to any party in this action, nor am I financially interested in the outcome. If there are objections to proceeding, please state them at the time of your appearance. Will counsel and all present, including -- well, nobody is remote. Please state your appearance and affiliation for the record.

MS. PETTIT: Julie Pettit for the Plaintiff.

MR. HURST: Michael Hurst for the Plaintiff, Scott Ellington.

MR. YORK: Drew York for Patrick

Daugherty. And Ms. Pettit, just a quick clarification question. So the Court's Order on this deposition that we're here today was compartmentalized into two parts. One being that there were questions that were asked at Mr. Daugherty's deposition previously that he was instructed to answer that he did not answer. And the Court has allotted three hours -- up to three hours for those questions for which he's not to be instructed not to answer again. And then the remaining hour and 55 minutes from the original time available for the first deposition may be used and is not limited in scope. Are you intending to segment your examination into --

MS. PETTIT: Yes.

MR. YORK: -- these two parts?

MS. PETTIT: It will be in two parts.

MR. YORK: And which part are you intending to do first?

MS. PETTIT: The unanswered questions.

MR. YORK: Okay. And would you let me -- I mean, I've got the list here but then just so that we can try to keep this on task today, when we get to the points those are done we can --

MS. PETTIT: I will let you know.

MR. YORK: Thank you.

MS. PETTIT: Yep.

MR. YORK: Okay.

PATRICK DAUGHERTY,

after having been first duly sworn, testified as follows:

EXAMINATION

BY MS. PETTIT:

Q. All right. Good afternoon, Mr. Daugherty. Can you please state your name for the record?

A. Patrick Hagaman Daugherty.

Q. And in your last deposition we discussed a company by the name of Corinthian Capital and you were instructed not to answer who the owner was of that company. Can you identify who the owner is?

A. I'm not familiar with Corinthian Capital.

Q. You've never heard of Corinthian Capital?

A. No. You want me to help you? I think it's Corinthian Healthcare.

Q. Okay. Corinthian Healthcare. Who is the owner of Corinthian Healthcare?

A. As I understand it, Judy McNeel.

Q. You said Judy --

A. McNeel?

Q. -- McNeel. And how do you know Ms. McNeel?

A. She is my mother-in-law.

Q. Okay. Does the owner of Corinthian have any knowledge about your investigation of Mr. Ellington in

MR. YORK: Object to form.

A. I guess somebody came down to the lobby to greet me, a baldheaded guy that was tall, and a woman and they brought me up and then I met with Seery up there, some other people one time. I don't know. I just --

Q. (BY MS. PETTIT) Other than Seery, who did you meet with?

A. I mean, do you count these people that -- this one guy was an accountant and I think -- and the woman was I want to say some level of administrative role. I just -- I don't recall.

Q. Anyone else that you know by name?

A. No.

Q. What were the purposes of your meetings at the Highland Capital offices?

A. To discuss settlement issues.

Q. Did you negotiate the agreements while you were there in the office?

MR. YORK: Object to form.

A. I just don't -- I don't recall. I mean, the negotiations took place starting in 2020 and went all the way to November 2021. So various things got determined at various times.

Q. (BY MS. PETTIT) Did you ever sign any agreements while you were there?

A. No. I don't think so. If you have something that can refresh my memory, but I don't recall signing anything.

Q. Did you provide any information, such as the data compilations during any of the meetings at Highland's offices?

A. No. I think that had all been done before for the most part. I mean, I don't know -- some of the data compilations I resent when -- what's his name -- you know, there's two phases. There's the Highland bankruptcy where there was a creditor's committee and then there was the emergence from bankruptcy which I want to say was August 2021. And so, parts of my deal were negotiated prior to that August -- oh, confirmation and emergence. And then after August, the creditor's committee went away and in came the claimant trust and the claimant litigation trustee, if I'm recalling this correctly, and -- so, yeah, I mean some were done before and some were done after.

Q. Did you ever take any of your Ellington Recordings, according to my definition, to your meetings at the Highland offices?

MR. YORK: Object to form.

A. Yeah, I don't know what an Ellington Recording is. I don't think I have any Ellington Recordings.

Q. (BY MS. PETTIT) Okay. So I'll represent to you that we consider your photos that you produced in this case Ellington Recordings, according to our definition in Request For Production?

A. That's a weird definition. I don't agree with it.

Q. Okay. I understand you don't agree with it, but I'm asking you using that definition did you provide or bring any Ellington Recordings with you to the deposition -- excuse me -- to the meeting at Highland's offices?

MR. YORK: Hold on. Object to form, compound.

A. Yeah, look, I'm going to try and just cut through it. Because I don't like the question. It doesn't make much sense, but I didn't bring any pictures of Ellington.

Q. (BY MS. PETTIT) Well, what about the other photos that you produced in this case? Did you take any of those pictures with you?

A. What photos are you talking about?

Q. Any photo that you've produced in this case.

A. I don't -- no. I didn't bring any photos to their offices, no.

Q. Okay.

A. On those occasions.
Q. All right.
A. And by the way, I never sent them any photos. The only photo that was sent was of Ellington standing in the front yard when he'd gone AWOL.
Q. That's the only photo you sent to Jim Seery?
A. Of -- of Ellington? Of Ellington?
Q. Of any photo that was produced in this case.
A. Oh, no. I mean, I sent the Highland employee that was -- what was her name -- Sarah Beth Goldsmith or she was Sara Bell back then. Yeah, she was a Highland employee. Ellington had been fired for over a month and I'm like, oh, by the way, your employee's over here at Ellington's place. And she's like, she's no longer an employee, blah, blah, blah. And that was like two days before; and I think he even mentioned in his deposition it was kind of suspicious why -- why she was over there. I did send him those pictures.
Q. Okay.
A. And -- and, look, if you have others, just remind me. Stop trying to trick me.
Q. Okay. I have not had a chance yet to listen to the exhibit or the document recording that you-all produced labeled DEF53104, but can you just tell me generally what that is?

A. Seery's lying.
Q. And what is he lying about?
A. Not knowing about my investigation, not knowing about multiple things.
Q. And when was this recording made?
A. I want to say May 2022.
Q. So was it before or after his deposition?
A. Who's deposition?
Q. Mr. Seery?
A. Before.
Q. So you have a recording of Mr. Seery prior to his deposition which is now inconsistent, you're saying, with his deposition?
A. Correct.
Q. Okay. And why did you make that recording at the time?
A. Oh, because people lie, deny and die.
Q. What does that mean?
A. What do you think it means? It means what it says. People lie, you know, like Mr. Hurst to a jury or Mr. Seery in this case; and people deny, like Ellington, et cetera and lie and some people die -- some witnesses die over time. And so I made that recording to do -- to just trust but verify, you know. I didn't want there to be a situation where somebody turned on me and said, hey,

I had no idea and that's kind of what happened in that deposition. And we gave him every opportunity to set the record straight and he chose not to.

Q. What do you mean by you gave him every opportunity?

A. We asked him to clarify.

Q. During the deposition?

A. I think so --

Q. Okay.

A. -- yeah, and he dug in -- foolishly so, in my opinion.

Q. Are there any other recordings that you have between you and Mr. Seery?

A. Yes.

MR. YORK: Object to form.

A. I'm sorry, yes.

Q. (BY MS. PETTIT) Do any of them involve Mr. Ellington?

MR. YORK: Objection to form.

A. No.

Q. (BY MS. PETTIT) Is there any other -- was this recording made at an in-person meeting or over the phone?

A. Phone. He was in New York. I was in Dallas.

Q. Do you know if New York is a one or two-party state?

HIGHLAND CAPITAL MANAGEMENT, L.P.'S REQUESTS FOR THE PRODUCTION OF DOCUMENTS DIRECTED TO PATRICK DAUGHERTY

PLEASE TAKE NOTICE that, pursuant to Federal Rules of Bankruptcy Procedure 7026 and 7034, incorporating by reference Federal Rules of Civil Procedure 26 and 34, Highland Capital Management, L.P., the reorganized debtor in the above-referenced bankruptcy case and plaintiff/counter-defendant in the above-referenced adversary proceeding ("Highland"), hereby demands that Patrick Daughterty ("Daugherty") produce for inspection and copying all non-privileged documents responsive to the requests below (the "Requests") on or before November 24, 2025, by 5:00 p.m. Central Time, in connection with the litigation of claims asserted in Highland's Complaint for (1) Disallowance of Claim No. 205 in Its Entirety, (2) Estimation of Claims No. 205 for Allowance Purposes, or (3) Subordination of Any Allowed Portion of Claim No. 205 of Patrick Hagaman Daugherty [Adv. Pro. Docket No. 1] (the "Complaint").

INSTRUCTIONS

1. For each Document (as defined below) withheld by reason of a claim of privilege, provide a privilege log identifying such Document together with: (a) the date of the Document; (b) the identity of the author or preparer; (c) the identity of each person who was sent or furnished with the Document or who received or had possession or custody of the document; (d) a description of the Document, including identification of any attachments or appendices; (e) a statement of the basis of the claim of privilege; and (f) the paragraph of this request to which the document is responsive. In the case of Documents concerning a meeting or conversation, identify all participants in the meeting or conversation.

2. Each Document shall be produced in a fashion that indicates clearly the file in which it was located.

3. If a Document cannot be produced in full, produce it to the extent possible, identify the portion that cannot be produced, and specify the reasons for Your (as defined below) inability to produce the remainder.

4. You are required to produce ESI (as defined below) in searchable form on DVDs, CD-ROMs, or other media to be mutually agreed by the parties.

5. Documents may be produced in paper format or electronically. If Documents are produced electronically, or if any ESI is produced, the following formatting should be used:

- Use .tif format for all Documents that were not originally in Excel format, in which case, use .xls or .xlsx format;
- If possible, without creating undue delay, please produce Documents in Summation-ready DVDs, CD-ROMs, or other media to be mutually agreed by the parties with .tiff and text format, and with a Summation load file; and
- Transmit electronic Documents or ESI on DVDs, CD-ROMs, or other media to be mutually agreed by the parties or use an ftp site upload.

6. These Requests shall be deemed continuing, and supplemental answers shall be required if You directly or indirectly obtain further information after Your initial response to these Requests, as required by Fed. R. Bank. P. 7026(e).

7. The use of either the singular or plural shall not be deemed a limitation. The use of the singular includes the plural, and vice versa.

8. The Requests seek Documents and Communications created, sent, or received between February 27, 2009, and the date of Your responses to these Requests.

PATRICK DAUGHERTY'S AMENDED RESPONSES TO HIGHLAND CAPITAL MANAGEMENT, L.P.'S REQUESTS FOR THE PRODUCTION OF DOCUMENTS

TO: Plaintiff/Counter-Defendant, Highland Capital Management, L.P., by and through its attorneys of record, Jeffrey N. Pomerantz, John A. Morris, Gregory V. Demo, and Hayley R. Winograd, PACHULSKI STANG ZIEHL & JONES LLP, 10100 Santa Monica Blvd., 13th Floor, Los Angeles, CA 90067; and Melissa S. Hayward and Zachery Z. Annable, HAYWARD PLLC, 10501 N. Central Expressway, Suite 106, Dallas, Texas 75231.

Pursuant to Rule 34 of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, and Rule 7034 of the Federal Bankruptcy Rules of Procedure, and in accordance with the agreements reached between the parties as part of the meet and confer process, Patrick Daugherty ("Daugherty") hereby makes and serves his Amended Responses to certain of Highland Capital Management, L.P.'s Requests for the Production of Documents ("Amended Responses"). Specifically, Daugherty hereby amends his responses to Request Nos. 7 and 11.

RESPONSES TO REQUESTS FOR PRODUCTION

REQUEST NO. 1:

All Communications with the IRS concerning the 2008 Refund or the 2008 K-1 or the 2008 Audit.

RESPONSE: Daugherty will produce responsive documents in accordance with the Court's scheduling order for substantially completing document production by December 12, 2025. [Doc. No. 37 at p. 2.]

REQUEST NO. 2:

All Communications with the Tax Matters Partner concerning the 2008 Refund or the 2008 K-1 or the 2008 Audit.

RESPONSE: After a reasonable inquiry, Daugherty has not identified any responsive documents in his possession, custody or control.

REQUEST NO. 3:

All Communications with H&W concerning the 2008 Refund or the 2008 K-1 or the 2008 Audit.

RESPONSE: After a reasonable inquiry, Daugherty has not identified any responsive documents in his possession, custody or control.

REQUEST NO. 4:

All Communications with Highland concerning the 2008 Refund or the 2008 K-1 or the 2008 Audit.

RESPONSE: Daugherty will produce responsive documents in accordance with the Court's scheduling order for substantially completing document production by December 12, 2025. [Doc. No. 37 at p. 2.]

REQUEST NO. 5:

All Documents and Communications concerning the Compensation Statement.

RESPONSE: Daugherty objects to the portion of this request seeking "document concerning the Compensation Statement" as vague. Fed. R. Civ. P. 34(b)(2). Given that the Compensation Statement is, itself, a document, it is unclear how another document could be concerning that document. Daugherty is unable to search for responsive documents accordingly, but Daugherty agrees to reproduce the Compensation Statement in his possession, custody or control in accordance with the Court's scheduling order for completing document production by December 12, 2025. [Doc. No. 37 at p. 2.]

Daugherty also objects that this request appears to seek documents and communications that are the subject of the attorney-client and work product privileges. Daugherty is withholding any such documents and communications. Daugherty will produce any non-privileged "communications…concerning the Compensation Statement" in his possession, custody or control in accordance with the Court's scheduling order for completing document production by December 12, 2025. [Doc. No. 37 at p. 2.]

REQUEST NO. 6:

Your personal federal income tax return(s), including any amended return(s), for the 2008 tax year, and Your personal federal income tax returns for any other years that concern the 2008 Refund, the 2008 K-1, or the 2008 Audit, if applicable.

RESPONSE: Upon entry of a protective order, Daugherty will produce his tax return for the 2008 tax year as well as any other responsive documents.

REQUEST NO. 7:

All Documents and Communications concerning any Employment Agreement.

RESPONSE: Daugherty objects to the request as overbroad, not proportional to the needs of the case, and seeks documents and communications not relevant to the claims or defenses in this adversary proceeding. Fed. R. Civ. P. 26(b)(1). This adversary proceeding is about the 2008 Audit and related tax implications on Daugherty. The Employment Agreement covers a range of topics that have no bearing on the 2008 Audit or this lawsuit and thus, are irrelevant. For example, this request as written would require Daugherty to produce thousands and thousands of pages of documents from the Highland Capital Management, L.P. v. Daugherty lawsuit in Texas state court that reached a final, non-appealable judgment in 2016. Moreover, as written, the request would seek communications between Daugherty and his counsel in the Texas state court lawsuit, which would be subject to the attorney-client and work product privileges.

Based on these objections, Daugherty is not producing any responsive documents.

AMENDED RESPONSE: During the meet and confer process, Highland represented that it was narrowing the scope of this Request to "All Documents and Communications concerning the terms of any Employment Agreement between Highland and Daugherty" for the time period January 1, 2008, and the date Daugherty was no longer employed by Highland. Based on this representation, Daugherty withdraws the objections in his original response. Daugherty has not identified any responsive Documents or Communications to the narrowed scope of the Request in his possession, custody or control. Documents responsive to this Request are being produced concurrently herewith.

REQUEST NO. 8:

All Documents and Communications concerning the negotiation and drafting of the Settlement Agreement.

RESPONSE: Daugherty objects to this request because it seeks documents and communications between Daugherty and his counsel concerning the negotiation and drafting of the Settlement Agreement, which are subject to the attorney-client privilege. Such documents and communications will not be produced. Daugherty will produce any non-privileged documents or communications regarding the negotiation and drafting of the Settlement Agreement that he has in his possession, custody or control in accordance with the Court's scheduling order for completing document production by December 12, 2025. [Doc. No. 37 at p. 2.]

REQUEST NO. 9:

All audio or other recordings of any conversations between You and Seery, including any purported transcript or summary of any such conversations.

RESPONSE: Daugherty objects that the request seeks documents that are not relevant to the claims or defenses asserted in this adversary proceeding. Fed. R. Civ. P. 26(b)(1). Any recorded conversations have no bearing on Plaintiff's claims in this action, which relate solely to the treatment of Daugherty's Reserved Claim. Based on this objection, Daugherty is not producing any responsive documents.

REQUEST NO. 10:

All audio or other recordings of any conversation between You and any current or former employee, agent, or representative of Highland concerning the 2008 Refund, the 2008 K-1, and the 2008 Audit, including any purported transcript or summary of any such conversation.

RESPONSE: Daugherty objects that the request seeks documents that are not relevant to the claims or defenses asserted in this adversary proceeding. Fed. R. Civ. P. 26(b)(1). Any recorded conversations have no bearing on Plaintiff's claims in this action, which relate solely to the treatment of Daugherty's Reserved Claim. Based on this objection, Daugherty is not producing any responsive documents

REQUEST NO. 11:

All Documents and Communications concerning Your use, application, or investment of the 2008 Refund.

RESPONSE: Daugherty objects to this request to the extent it seeks documents and communications regarding matters not relevant to the immediate lawsuit. Fed. R. Civ. P. 26(b)(1). This lawsuit is entirely about the 2008 Audit and related tax implications on Daugherty. It matters not how Daugherty used or invested the 2008 Refund, despite Plaintiff's claim that Daugherty could not have suffered harm because of the amount of money he could have made—via investment or otherwise—in the period between 2008 and present. Moreover, the request is overbroad and not proportionate to the needs of the case because it would, as written, require Daugherty to turn over every financial document in his possession, custody or control that was created after the 2008 Refund. Daugherty is withholding documents accordingly.

AMENDED RESPONSE: During the meet and confer process, Highland's counsel represented that Hihgland was narrowing the scope of the Request to "All Documents and Communications concerning the initial disposition of the 2008 Refund (i.e.,, was it invested in the market, put in the bank, commingled, etc.)." Daugherty is maintaining his relevance objection to this Request. What Daugherty did with the 2008 Refund is not relevant to Highland's claims seeking to reject, estimate or subordinate Daugherty's Class 8 claim in the Highland Bankruptcy. Daugherty has not identified any responsive Documents or Communications still in his possession, custody or control that concern the initial disposition of the 2008 Refund. Documents responsive to this Request are being produced concurrently herewith.

REQUEST NO. 12:

All Documents and Communications concerning any contingent liability or contingent obligation You contend relate to the 2008 Refund.

RESPONSE: Daugherty will produce any responsive documents in his possession, custody or control in accordance with the Court's scheduling order for completing document production by December 12, 2025. [Doc. No. 37 at p. 2.]

REQUEST NO. 13:

All Documents and Communications concerning the Reserved Claim.

RESPONSE: Defendant objects to this request because it is overbroad and not proportional to the needs of the case. Fed. R. Civ. P. 26(b)(1), 34(b)(2). The Reserved Claim relates to the amount of money that might be owed to Daugherty based on the outcome of the IRS' audit of the 2008 Refund. The 2008 Refund and the related audit are what this litigation is entirely premised upon. Thus, this request seeks every document regarding the basis of this dispute and also subsumes a number of other requests herein. Daugherty also objects that this request seeks documents and communications between Daugherty and his counsel which are subject to the attorney-client or work product privileges. Daugherty is withholding any such documents and communications. Daugherty refers Plaintiff to the documents that will be produced in response to the other requests in accordance with the Court's scheduling order for completing document production by December 12, 2025. [Doc. No. 37 at p. 2.]

REQUEST NO. 14:

All Documents and Communications concerning the reserve created by Highland on account of the Reserved Claim.

RESPONSE: Daugherty objects to this request because it seeks, as written, documents and communications between Daugherty and his counsel that are subject to the attorney-client or work product privileges. Daugherty is withholding any such documents and communications. Daugherty will produce responsive, non-privileged documents in his possession, custody or control in accordance with the Court's scheduling order for completing document production by December 12, 2025. [Doc. No. 37 at p. 2.].

REQUEST NO. 15:

All Documents and Communications concerning any of Your affirmative defenses.

RESPONSE: Daugherty objects to this request as not reasonably particular because it merely asks for documents related to all affirmative defenses. Fed. R. Civ. P. 34(b). See Banca Pueyo, S.A. v. Lone Star Fund IX (U.S.), L.P., 2020 WL 10046110, at *11 (N.D. Tex. Sept. 25, 2020) (citing Hinds v. Baker Hughes, Inc., 2007 WL 9710939, at *5 (W.D. Tex. Aug. 8, 2007). The law is clear that a party cannot request all documents in support of a defense or contention. Daugherty is withholding documents accordingly.

REQUEST NO. 16:

All Documents and Communications concerning Your contention that Highland has "refused and failed" to turn over the Books and Records.

RESPONSE: Daugherty objects to this request because it seeks, as written, communications between Daugherty and his counsel that are subject to the attorney-client or work product privileges. Daugherty is withholding any such communications. Daugherty will produce responsive, non-privileged documents in his possession, custody or control in accordance with the Court's scheduling order for completing document production by December 12, 2025. [Doc. No. 37 at p. 2.].

REQUEST NO. 17:

All Documents and Communications concerning Your contention that You or any of Your controlled affiliates have any claims against any Highland employees, in any capacity, released pursuant to paragraph 6 of the Settlement Agreement.

RESPONSE: Daugherty objects to this request because it seeks, as written, communications between Daugherty and his counsel that are subject to the attorney-client or work product privileges. Daugherty is withholding any such communications. Daugherty will produce responsive, non-privileged documents in his possession, custody or control in accordance with the Court's scheduling order for completing document production by December 12, 2025. [Doc. No. 37 at p. 2.].

REQUEST NO. 18:

All Documents and Communications concerning Your contention that You or any of Your controlled affiliates have any claims against any Highland employees, in any capacity, released pursuant to paragraph 1 of the HERA Release Agreement.

RESPONSE: Daugherty objects to this request because it seeks, as written, communications between Daugherty and his counsel that are subject to the attorney-client or work product privileges. Daugherty is withholding any such communications. Daugherty will produce responsive, non-privileged documents in his possession, custody or control in accordance with the Court's scheduling order for completing document production by December 12, 2025. [Doc. No. 37 at p. 2.].

REQUEST NO. 19:

All Documents and Communications concerning Your Counterclaims, including all invoices concerning Your claim for attorneys' fees and any other damages You contend Highland caused by breaching its agreement with You.

RESPONSE: Daugherty objects to this request as not reasonably particular because it merely asks for documents concerning Daugherty's Counterclaims. Fed. R. Civ. P. 34(b). See Banca Pueyo, S.A. v. Lone Star Fund IX (U.S.), L.P., 2020 WL 10046110, at *11 (N.D. Tex. Sept. 25, 2020) (citing Hinds v. Baker Hughes, Inc., 2007 WL 9710939, at *5 (W.D. Tex. Aug. 8, 2007). The law is clear that a party cannot request all documents in support of a defense or contention. Daugherty is withholding documents accordingly, but Daugherty will produce redacted attorney's fees invoices concerning his Counterclaim for attorney's fees resulting from Highland's breach of the Settlement Agreement in accordance with the Court's scheduling order for completing document production by December 12, 2025. [Doc. No. 37 at p. 2.]

APPELLANT'S AMENDED DESIGNATION OF ITEMS TO BE INCLUDED IN THE RECORD ON APPEAL AND STATEMENT OF THE ISSUES PRESENTED

Pursuant to Federal Rule of Bankruptcy Procedure 8009(a), Appellant Patrick Daugherty ("Daugherty") hereby submits his amended designation of items to be included in the record on appeal and statement of issues to be presented in connection with his appeal from the July 24, 2026 Judgment and Memorandum Opinion [Docket Nos. 138, 139 in Adversary No. 25-03055-bwo]. See Notice of Appeal [Docket No. 142 in Adversary No. 25-03055-bwo].

Statement of Issues on Appeal

1. Whether the Bankruptcy Court erred in disallowing Daugherty's Reserved Claim based on the Employment Agreement's termination provisions, when the Court itself found the 2009 Compensation Statement was incorporated into the Employment Agreement and resolved its ambiguity in Daugherty's favor, concluding that Highland Capital Management, L.P. ("Highland") intended to compensate Daugherty for any material deviation in his 2008 tax refund.

2. Whether the Bankruptcy Court erred in applying the "no further liability or obligation" language of Sections 4.5 and 4.6 of the Employment Agreement to extinguish Daugherty's compensation entitlement under the 2009 Compensation Statement, when that language pertains to severance contingent upon execution of a separation agreement and not to earned compensation that accrued during Daugherty's active employment.

3. Whether the Bankruptcy Court erred in holding that James Dondero's oral promises to cover Daugherty's contingent tax liability were unenforceable under Texas's statute of frauds, Tex. Bus. & Com. Code § 26.01, when Highland had a main purpose of its own in making the promise and when the Court failed to consider Daugherty's continued employment and forbearance as adequate consideration.

4. Whether the Bankruptcy Court erred in denying Daugherty's counterclaim for specific performance of the Settlement Agreement's books-and-records provision by construing that provision through the statutory categories of 6 Del. C. § 18-305(a), rather than by the plain meaning of the negotiated Settlement Agreement requiring Highland to "transfer its interests in HERA and ERA to Daugherty" "[t]o facilitate [the] recovery of [] potential claims," including "the HERA and ERA books and records (spreadsheet) maintained on HCMLP's system."

5. Whether the Bankruptcy Court abused its discretion by granting Highland Capital Management, L.P.'s Cross Motion pursuant to Fed. R. Civ. P. 60(b)(6) when Highland failed to make a showing of manifest injustice and exceptional circumstances required to rewrite a term of the parties' bargained-for, court-approved settlement agreement that Highland Capital Management, L.P. entered on a free, deliberate, calculated, and counseled basis.

6. Whether the Bankruptcy Court abused its discretion by granting Highland Capital Management, L.P.'s Cross Motion pursuant to Fed. R. Civ. P. 60(b)(6) when Highland was estopped from seeking such relief after it obtained the benefits of the tolling provision in the settlement agreement, including, inter alia, the parties' negotiation and execution of a series of tolling agreements to the benefit of Highland Capital Management, L.P. regarding its certain claim-objection deadline.

AGREED PROTECTIVE ORDER

Plaintiff/Counter-Defendant Highland Capital Management, L.P. ("Plaintiff") and

[1] Highland's last four digits of its taxpayer identification number are (8357). The headquarters and service address for Highland is 100 Crescent Court, Suite 1850, Dallas, TX 75201.

Defendant/Counter-Plaintiff Patrick Hagaman Daugherty ("Defendant" or "Daugherty") (collectively, the "Parties") anticipate that Plaintiff and Defendant will produce or use certain Protected Material (as hereinafter defined) during the course of discovery in the above-captioned adversary proceeding (collectively, the "Action").[2] In order to facilitate production of the Protected Material, the Parties stipulate to and request that, pursuant to Rule 26(c) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, this Court enter this Agreed Protective Order ("Protective Order"), setting forth the conditions for obtaining, treating, and using Protected Material.

1. PURPOSES AND LIMITATIONS

(a) Protected Material shall be used for the purpose of prosecuting claims and asserting defenses in the Action. Plaintiff shall hold Protected Material in confidence in accordance with the terms and condition set forth in this Protective Order. Protected Material shall not be used for any other purpose, and shall not be used or shown, disseminated, copied, or otherwise disclosed to anyone not entitled to such Protected Material as herein provided. Plaintiff shall take reasonable steps to limit access to Protected Material to those persons entitled to review it in accordance with the terms of this Protective Order.

[2] Capitalized terms used and not defined here in have the meanings ascribed to such terms in Highland Capital Management, L.P.'s Request for the Production of Documents Directed to Patrick Daugherty, dated October 24, 2025 and delivered to Defendant in connection with the Action (the "RFP").

(b) The Parties acknowledge that the protection the Protective Order affords from public disclosure and use extends only to the specific Protected Material produced by Defendant or his agents to Plaintiff in this Action, except to the extent this Protective Order is modified at a later date.

2. DEFINITIONS

(a) "Outside Counsel" means (i) outside counsel for a Party or its affiliates, as applicable, and (ii) partners, principals, counsel, associates, employees, and contract attorneys of such counsel to whom it is reasonably necessary to disclose the information in connection with the Action, including supporting personnel employed by the attorneys, such as paralegals, legal translators, legal secretaries, legal clerks and any copying or clerical litigation support services working at the direction of such counsel, paralegals, and staff.

(b) "Outside Expert or Consultant" means a person retained by Outside Counsel to serve as an expert witness or a litigation consultant in the Action (including any necessary support personnel of such person to whom disclosure is reasonably necessary for this litigation), and who is not a current employee of a Party.

(c) "Party" means any party to this Action, their respective affiliates and related entities, and its and their respective officers, directors (including, without limitation, any members of the Highland Claimant Trust Oversight Board), trustees (including, without limitation, the trustees of the Highland Claimant Trust), administrators (including, without limitation, the indemnity trust administrator of the Highland Indemnity Trust), employees, consultants, agents, retained experts, and Outside Counsel and their support staffs.

(d) "Non-Protected Material" means any documents or information concerning Defendant's tax returns, partnership distributions, or compensation whilst employed at Highland Capital Management, L.P, that would otherwise meet the definition of "Protected Material" that (a) was or becomes actually published or publicly disseminated other than as a result of a disclosure by Plaintiff in violation of this Protective Order, (b) was in Plaintiff's possession as of the date hereof, including, without limitation, all of Plaintiff's tax returns, Mr. Daugherty's tax returns stored on Plaintiff's system as of the date hereof, accompanying K-1's, employee compensation information, and correspondence and other information and documents relating thereto, or (c) was or becomes available to Plaintiff on a non-confidential basis from a third party source other than Defendant; provided, that such source is legally permitted to disclose such information to Plaintiff and is not otherwise prohibited from disclosing such information pursuant to any contractual, legal, regulatory, fiduciary, or other obligation.

(e) "Protected Material" means the following documents and information, in each case, to the extent produced by or on behalf of Defendant to Plaintiff in this Action, all information contained therein, and all copies thereof: (i) federal or state tax returns filed by Patrick Daugherty; (ii) communications with the Internal Revenue Service or any corresponding state taxing authority concerning such tax returns; or (iii) financial information (such as documents relating to Daugherty's compensation, bank statements, account records, or other similar documents) concerning Mr. Daugherty, his family or any entities owned in whole or in part by Mr. Daugherty; provided, that, notwithstanding anything in this Protective Order to the contrary, "Protected Material" shall not include any "Non-Protected Material" as defined in this Protective Order or any information that is independently developed by Plaintiff without use or reference to any Protected Material.

(f) "Third Parties" means persons, organizations or entities who are not Plaintiff or Defendant in this Action.

3. SCOPE

(a) The protections conferred by this Protective Order apply to all Protected Material and any documents or information directly extracted therefrom, as well as all copies, excerpts, summaries, or compilations thereof, plus testimony, conversations, or presentations by Parties or their counsel in court that might reveal Protected Material.

(b) Nothing in this Protective Order shall prevent or restrict Defendant's own disclosure or use of his own Protected Material for any purpose.

(c) Nothing in this Protective Order provides any Party with any broader or expanded rights than it already had concerning the use or disclosure of Non-Protected Material, nor does it obviate the Party from its contractual, legal, regulatory, fiduciary, or other obligations that already existed with respect to Non-Protected Material.

(d) Nothing in this Protective Order shall be construed to prejudice any Party's right to use any Protected Material in any filing in the Action, provided the Party complies with the applicable rules regarding the filing of documents under seal.

4. DURATION

The confidentiality obligations imposed by this Protective Order shall remain in effect until a final, non-appealable order is entered resolving all claims and counterclaims asserted in the Action.

5. ACCESS TO AND USE OF PROTECTED MATERIAL

(a) Basic Principles. Protected Material shall be used as set forth herein below, and such use shall be solely for the purpose of prosecuting or defending any claims or defenses asserted in the Action or any related appellate proceeding. Protected Material shall not be distributed, disclosed, or made available to any persons, organizations or entities except as expressly provided in this Protective Order.

(b) Secure Storage. Protected Material shall be maintained by Plaintiff using a degree of care that is no less stringent than that used to protect Plaintiff's own confidential information of a similar nature, which in any event, shall be no less than a reasonable degree of care, and Plaintiff shall take reasonable measures to protect the secrecy, and prevent any disclosure, of Protected Material in violation of this Protective Order. For the avoidance of doubt, the Parties acknowledge and agree that Protected Material may be stored and maintained on Plaintiff's data management systems and cloud-based services managed and maintained by Third Parties, and Protected Material may be transmitted to and from Plaintiff's email system and the email addresses of its representatives.

(c) Legal Advice Based on Protected Material. Subject to the restrictions of Section 5(b) above, this Protective Order does not prevent counsel from advising their clients with respect to the Action based in whole or in part upon any Protected Materials, provided counsel does not disclose Protected Material except as permitted by this Protective Order.

(d) Third Party Discovery. Nothing in this Protective Order shall limit or impair the ability of any Party to obtain and use Third Party discovery. Nothing in this Protective Order shall limit or impair Defendant's right to seek a protective order concerning any material produced by any third party in discovery in the Action that contains Defendant's tax or financial information.

(e) This Order is without prejudice to the right of any Party to seek further or additional protection of any Protected Material or to modify this Order in any way upon reasonable notice to all Parties.

6. ADDITIONAL PROVISIONS RELATING TO PROTECTED MATERIAL

(i) Depositions and Testimony. Parties may designate testimony given in deposition and in other pretrial or trial proceeding that specifically references Protected Material by indicating on the record when the testimony is given or by sending written notice of the designations within five (5) days of receipt of the transcript. Only those portions of testimony that are appropriately designated shall be covered by this Protective Order.

The use of a document as an exhibit at a deposition shall not affect its designation as Protected Material. Protected Material used during a deposition shall remain subject to the provisions of this Protective Order.

Transcripts containing Protected Material shall have a conspicuous legend on the title page that the transcript contains Protected Material. If the deposition is videotaped, the original and all copies of the videotape shall be marked by the video technician to indicate that the contents of the videotape are subject to this Protective Order, substantially along the lines of "This videotape contains confidential testimony and is not to be viewed or the contents thereof to be displayed or revealed except pursuant to the terms of this Protective Order in this matter or pursuant to written stipulation of the Parties."

7. NOTICE OF DISCLOSURE

(a) Written Notice. Before an Outside Expert or Consultant may receive Protected Material, the Outside Expert or Consultant must sign the "Agreement to Be Bound by this Protective Order" (Exhibit A), a copy of which shall be provided to Defendant at the time the Parties must designate testifying experts under the scheduling order in the Action.

8. SUBPOENAS OR COURT ORDERS

(a) If Protected Material or Non-Protected Material is subpoenaed by any non-party to the Action, court, arbitral, administrative, or legislative body, the Plaintiff shall give prompt written notice thereof to Defendant and to his counsel. If Defendant does not take steps to prevent disclosure of such documents within seven (7) days of the date written notice is given, Plaintiff may produce such Protected Material in response thereto, but shall take reasonable measures to have such documents treated in accordance with terms of this Protective Order.

9. FILING PROTECTED MATERIAL

(a) Absent written permission from Defendant or a court order secured after reasonable notice to Defendant, Plaintiff may not file in the public record any Protected Material.

(b) Plaintiff is authorized under applicable rules to file, describe, or refer to Protected Material under seal in the Action.

(c) Prior to filing any Non-Protected Material in the Action, Plaintiff's counsel shall give Defendant's counsel 48 hours' notice of the intent to file such material and identify the specific Non-Protected Material that will be filed. Defendant's counsel may file a motion to seal the Non-Protected Material in the Action at any time prior to, or after, Plaintiff's filing of the Non-Protected Material.

10. INADVERTENT FAILURE TO DESIGNATE PROPERLY

(a) The inadvertent failure by Defendant to designate Protected Material shall not waive the protections afforded under this Protective Order; provided that Defendant notifies Plaintiff that such Protected Material is protected under this Protective Order within seven (7) days of Defendant learning of the inadvertent failure to designate. Defendant shall reproduce the Protected Material with a designation within seven (7) days upon its notification to Plaintiff.

11. INADVERTENT DISCLOSURE NOT AUTHORIZED BY ORDER

(a) In the event of a disclosure of Protected Material pursuant to this Protective Order to any person or persons not authorized to receive such disclosure under this Protective Order, Plaintiff shall promptly notify Outside Counsel for Defendant and provide to such counsel all known relevant information concerning the nature and circumstances of the disclosure. Plaintiff shall also promptly take reasonable measures to retrieve the unauthorized disclosed Protected Material and to take reasonable steps to prevent any further unauthorized disclosure of Protected Material.

(b) In addition to subsection (a) above, Plaintiff shall also use reasonable efforts to seek to bind such person or party to the terms of this Protective Order and (a) such person shall be informed promptly of all the provisions of this Protective Order by Plaintiff and asked to return the information; (b) such person shall be identified to Defendant; and (c) the person to whom disclosure was made shall be requested to sign Exhibit A hereto. Nothing in this Paragraph shall affect the Defendant's remedies under this Protective Order or otherwise for such unauthorized disclosure.

(c) Plaintiff's unauthorized or inadvertent disclosure does not change the status of Protected Material or waive the right to hold the disclosed document or information as Protected.

12. FINAL DISPOSITION

Unless otherwise ordered or agreed to in writing by Defendants, within sixty (60) days after the final termination of this Action by settlement or exhaustion of all appeals all parties in receipt of Protected Material shall exercise reasonable efforts to either return such materials and copies thereof to Defendant or destroy such Protected Material and certify that fact in writing. Plaintiff's reasonable efforts shall not require the return or destruction of Protected Material that (i) is stored on backup storage media made in accordance with regular data backup procedures for disaster recovery purposes and is overwritten in the normal course of business or (ii) is subject to legal hold obligations. Counsel for the Parties shall be entitled to retain copies of court papers (and exhibits thereto), correspondence, pleadings, deposition and trial transcripts (and exhibits thereto), expert reports and attorney work product that contain or refer to Protected Material, provided that such counsel and employees of such counsel shall not disclose such Protected Material to any person, except pursuant to Court order. Nothing shall be interpreted in a manner that would violate any applicable canons of ethics or codes of professional responsibility.

13. MISCELLANEOUS

(a) Right to Further Relief. Nothing in this Protective Order abridges the right of any person to seek its modification by this Court on reasonable notice. By stipulating to this Protective Order, the Parties do not waive the right to argue that certain material may require additional or different confidentiality protections than those set forth herein.

(b) Termination of Matter and Retention of Jurisdiction. The Parties agree that the terms of this Protective Order shall survive and remain in effect after the Final Determination of this Action. The Court shall retain jurisdiction after Final Determination of this Action to hear and resolve any disputes arising out of this Protective Order.

(c) Successors. This Protective Order shall be binding upon the Parties hereto, their attorneys, and their successors, executors, personal representatives, administrators, heirs, legal representatives, assigns, subsidiaries, divisions, employees, agents, retained consultants and experts, and any persons or organizations over which they have direct control.

(d) Right to Assert Other Objections. By stipulating to the entry of this Protective Order, no Party waives any right it otherwise would have to object to disclosing or producing any information or item. Similarly, no Party waives any right to object on any ground to use in evidence of any of the material covered by this Protective Order.

(e) Burdens of Proof. Notwithstanding anything to the contrary above, nothing in this Protective Order shall be construed to change the burdens of proof or legal standards applicable in disputes regarding whether particular Protected Material is confidential, whether disclosure should be restricted, and if so, what restrictions should apply.

(f) Modification by Court. This Protective Order is subject to further court order based upon public policy or other considerations, and this Court may modify this Protective Order sua sponte in the interests of justice. The United States Bankruptcy Court for the Northern District of Texas is responsible for the interpretation and enforcement of this Protective Order. All disputes concerning Protected Material, however designated, produced under the protection of this Protective Order shall be resolved by the United States Bankruptcy Court for the Northern District of Texas.

(g) Discovery Rules Remain Unchanged. Nothing herein shall alter or change in any way the discovery provisions of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, the Local Rules for the United States Bankruptcy Court for the Northern District of Texas, or this Court's own orders. Identification of any individual pursuant to this Protective Order does not make that individual available for deposition or any other form of discovery outside of the restrictions and procedures of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, the Local Rules for the United States Bankruptcy Court for the Northern District of Texas, or this Court's own orders.

(h) Attorneys and witnesses are prohibited from arguing or implying at trial that a witness for a Party should have or could have received or reviewed information protected by this Order if this Order prohibits that witness from receiving or reviewing such information.

###End of Order###

AGREED PROTECTIVE ORDER

Plaintiff/Counter-Defendant Highland Capital Management, L.P. ("Plaintiff") and

[1] Highland's last four digits of its taxpayer identification number are (8357). The headquarters and service address for Highland is 100 Crescent Court, Suite 1850, Dallas, TX 75201.

Defendant/Counter-Plaintiff Patrick Hagaman Daugherty ("Defendant" or "Daugherty") (collectively, the "Parties") anticipate that Plaintiff and Defendant will produce or use certain Protected Material (as hereinafter defined) during the course of discovery in the above-captioned adversary proceeding (collectively, the "Action").[2] In order to facilitate production of the Protected Material, the Parties stipulate to and request that, pursuant to Rule 26(c) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, this Court enter this Agreed Protective Order ("Protective Order"), setting forth the conditions for obtaining, treating, and using Protected Material.

1. PURPOSES AND LIMITATIONS

(a) Protected Material shall be used for the purpose of prosecuting claims and asserting defenses in the Action. Plaintiff shall hold Protected Material in confidence in accordance with the terms and condition set forth in this Protective Order. Protected Material shall not be used for any other purpose, and shall not be used or shown, disseminated, copied, or otherwise disclosed to anyone not entitled to such Protected Material as herein provided. Plaintiff shall take reasonable steps to limit access to Protected Material to those persons entitled to review it in accordance with the terms of this Protective Order.

(b) The Parties acknowledge that the protection the Protective Order affords from public disclosure and use extends only to the specific Protected Material produced by Defendant or his agents to Plaintiff in this Action, except to the extent this Protective Order is modified at a later date.

2. DEFINITIONS

(a) "Outside Counsel" means (i) outside counsel for a Party or its affiliates, as

[2] Capitalized terms used and not defined here in have the meanings ascribed to such terms in Highland Capital Management, L.P.'s Request for the Production of Documents Directed to Patrick Daugherty, dated October 24, 2025 and delivered to Defendant in connection with the Action (the "RFP").

applicable, and (ii) partners, principals, counsel, associates, employees, and contract attorneys of such counsel to whom it is reasonably necessary to disclose the information in connection with the Action, including supporting personnel employed by the attorneys, such as paralegals, legal translators, legal secretaries, legal clerks and any copying or clerical litigation support services working at the direction of such counsel, paralegals, and staff.

(b) "Outside Expert or Consultant" means a person retained by Outside Counsel to serve as an expert witness or a litigation consultant in the Action (including any necessary support personnel of such person to whom disclosure is reasonably necessary for this litigation), and who is not a current employee of a Party.

(c) "Party" means any party to this Action, their respective affiliates and related entities, and its and their respective officers, directors (including, without limitation, any members of the Highland Claimant Trust Oversight Board), trustees (including, without limitation, the trustees of the Highland Claimant Trust), administrators (including, without limitation, the indemnity trust administrator of the Highland Indemnity Trust), employees, consultants, agents, retained experts, and Outside Counsel and their support staffs.

(d) "Non-Protected Material" means any documents or information concerning Defendant's tax returns, partnership distributions, or compensation whilst employed at Highland Capital Management, L.P, that would otherwise meet the definition of "Protected Material" that (a) was or becomes actually published or publicly disseminated other than as a result of a disclosure by Plaintiff in violation of this Protective Order, (b) was in Plaintiff's possession as of the date hereof, including, without limitation, all of Plaintiff's tax returns, Mr. Daugherty's tax returns stored on Plaintiff's system as of the date hereof, accompanying K-1's, employee compensation information, and correspondence and other information and documents relating thereto, or (c) was or becomes available to Plaintiff on a non-confidential basis from a third party source other than Defendant; provided, that such source is legally permitted to disclose such information to Plaintiff and is not otherwise prohibited from disclosing such information pursuant to any contractual, legal, regulatory, fiduciary, or other obligation.

(e) "Protected Material" means the following documents and information, in each case, to the extent produced by or on behalf of Defendant to Plaintiff in this Action, all information contained therein, and all copies thereof: (i) federal or state tax returns filed by Patrick Daugherty; (ii) communications with the Internal Revenue Service or any corresponding state taxing authority concerning such tax returns; or (iii) financial information (such as documents relating to Daugherty's compensation, bank statements, account records, or other similar documents) concerning Mr. Daugherty, his family or any entities owned in whole or in part by Mr. Daugherty; provided, that, notwithstanding anything in this Protective Order to the contrary, "Protected Material" shall not include any "Non-Protected Material" as defined in this Protective Order or any information that is independently developed by Plaintiff without use or reference to any Protected Material.

(f) "Third Parties" means persons, organizations or entities who are not Plaintiff or Defendant in this Action.

3. SCOPE

(a) The protections conferred by this Protective Order apply to all Protected Material and any documents or information directly extracted therefrom, as well as all copies, excerpts, summaries, or compilations thereof, plus testimony, conversations, or presentations by Parties or their counsel in court that might reveal Protected Material.

(b) Nothing in this Protective Order shall prevent or restrict Defendant's own disclosure or use of his own Protected Material for any purpose.

(c) Nothing in this Protective Order provides any Party with any broader or expanded rights than it already had concerning the use or disclosure of Non-Protected Material, nor does it obviate the Party from its contractual, legal, regulatory, fiduciary, or other obligations that already existed with respect to Non-Protected Material.

(d) Nothing in this Protective Order shall be construed to prejudice any Party's right to use any Protected Material in any filing in the Action, provided the Party complies with the applicable rules regarding the filing of documents under seal.

4. DURATION

The confidentiality obligations imposed by this Protective Order shall remain in effect until a final, non-appealable order is entered resolving all claims and counterclaims asserted in the Action.

5. ACCESS TO AND USE OF PROTECTED MATERIAL

(a) Basic Principles. Protected Material shall be used as set forth herein below, and such use shall be solely for the purpose of prosecuting or defending any claims or defenses asserted in the Action or any related appellate proceeding. Protected Material shall not be distributed, disclosed, or made available to any persons, organizations or entities except as expressly provided in this Protective Order.

(b) Secure Storage. Protected Material shall be maintained by Plaintiff using a degree of care that is no less stringent than that used to protect Plaintiff's own confidential information of a similar nature, which in any event, shall be no less than a reasonable degree of care, and Plaintiff shall take reasonable measures to protect the secrecy, and prevent any disclosure, of Protected Material in violation of this Protective Order. For the avoidance of doubt, the Parties acknowledge and agree that Protected Material may be stored and maintained on Plaintiff's data management systems and cloud-based services managed and maintained by Third Parties, and Protected Material may be transmitted to and from Plaintiff's email system and the email addresses of its representatives.

(c) Legal Advice Based on Protected Material. Subject to the restrictions of Section 5(b) above, this Protective Order does not prevent counsel from advising their clients with respect to the Action based in whole or in part upon any Protected Materials, provided counsel does not disclose Protected Material except as permitted by this Protective Order.

(d) Third Party Discovery. Nothing in this Protective Order shall limit or impair the ability of any Party to obtain and use Third Party discovery. Nothing in this Protective Order shall limit or impair Defendant's right to seek a protective order concerning any material produced by any third party in discovery in the Action that contains Defendant's tax or financial information.

(e) This Order is without prejudice to the right of any Party to seek further or additional protection of any Protected Material or to modify this Order in any way upon reasonable notice to all Parties.

6. ADDITIONAL PROVISIONS RELATING TO PROTECTED MATERIAL

(i) Depositions and Testimony. Parties may designate testimony given in deposition and in other pretrial or trial proceeding that specifically references Protected Material by indicating on the record when the testimony is given or by sending written notice of the designations within five (5) days of receipt of the transcript. Only those portions of testimony that are appropriately designated shall be covered by this Protective Order.

The use of a document as an exhibit at a deposition shall not affect its designation as Protected Material. Protected Material used during a deposition shall remain subject to the provisions of this Protective Order.

Transcripts containing Protected Material shall have a conspicuous legend on the title page that the transcript contains Protected Material. If the deposition is videotaped, the original and all copies of the videotape shall be marked by the video technician to indicate that the contents of the videotape are subject to this Protective Order, substantially along the lines of "This videotape contains confidential testimony and is not to be viewed or the contents thereof to be displayed or revealed except pursuant to the terms of this Protective Order in this matter or pursuant to written stipulation of the Parties."

7. NOTICE OF DISCLOSURE

(a) Written Notice. Before an Outside Expert or Consultant may receive Protected Material, the Outside Expert or Consultant must sign the "Agreement to Be Bound by this Protective Order" (Exhibit A), a copy of which shall be provided to Defendant at the time the Parties must designate testifying experts under the scheduling order in the Action.

8. SUBPOENAS OR COURT ORDERS

(a) If Protected Material or Non-Protected Material is subpoenaed by any non-party to the Action, court, arbitral, administrative, or legislative body, the Plaintiff shall give prompt written notice thereof to Defendant and to his counsel. If Defendant does not take steps to prevent disclosure of such documents within seven (7) days of the date written notice is given, Plaintiff may produce such Protected Material in response thereto, but shall take reasonable measures to have such documents treated in accordance with terms of this Protective Order.

9. FILING PROTECTED MATERIAL

(a) Absent written permission from Defendant or a court order secured after reasonable notice to Defendant, Plaintiff may not file in the public record any Protected Material.

(b) Plaintiff is authorized under applicable rules to file, describe, or refer to Protected Material under seal in the Action.

(c) Prior to filing any Non-Protected Material in the Action, Plaintiff's counsel shall give Defendant's counsel 48 hours' notice of the intent to file such material and identify the specific Non-Protected Material that will be filed. Defendant's counsel may file a motion to seal the Non-Protected Material in the Action at any time prior to, or after, Plaintiff's filing of the Non-Protected Material.

10. INADVERTENT FAILURE TO DESIGNATE PROPERLY

(a) The inadvertent failure by Defendant to designate Protected Material shall not waive the protections afforded under this Protective Order; provided that Defendant notifies Plaintiff that such Protected Material is protected under this Protective Order within seven (7) days of Defendant learning of the inadvertent failure to designate. Defendant shall reproduce the Protected Material with a designation within seven (7) days upon its notification to Plaintiff.

11. INADVERTENT DISCLOSURE NOT AUTHORIZED BY ORDER

(a) In the event of a disclosure of Protected Material pursuant to this Protective Order to any person or persons not authorized to receive such disclosure under this Protective Order, Plaintiff shall promptly notify Outside Counsel for Defendant and provide to such counsel all known relevant information concerning the nature and circumstances of the disclosure. Plaintiff shall also promptly take reasonable measures to retrieve the unauthorized disclosed Protected Material and to take reasonable steps to prevent any further unauthorized disclosure of Protected Material.

(b) In addition to subsection (a) above, Plaintiff shall also use reasonable efforts to seek to bind such person or party to the terms of this Protective Order and (a) such person shall be informed promptly of all the provisions of this Protective Order by Plaintiff and asked to return the information; (b) such person shall be identified to Defendant; and (c) the person to whom disclosure was made shall be requested to sign Exhibit A hereto. Nothing in this Paragraph shall affect the Defendant's remedies under this Protective Order or otherwise for such unauthorized disclosure.

(c) Plaintiff's unauthorized or inadvertent disclosure does not change the status of Protected Material or waive the right to hold the disclosed document or information as Protected.

12. FINAL DISPOSITION

Unless otherwise ordered or agreed to in writing by Defendants, within sixty (60) days after the final termination of this Action by settlement or exhaustion of all appeals all parties in receipt of Protected Material shall exercise reasonable efforts to either return such materials and copies thereof to Defendant or destroy such Protected Material and certify that fact in writing. Plaintiff's reasonable efforts shall not require the return or destruction of Protected Material that (i) is stored on backup storage media made in accordance with regular data backup procedures for disaster recovery purposes and is overwritten in the normal course of business or (ii) is subject to legal hold obligations. Counsel for the Parties shall be entitled to retain copies of court papers (and exhibits thereto), correspondence, pleadings, deposition and trial transcripts (and exhibits thereto), expert reports and attorney work product that contain or refer to Protected Material, provided that such counsel and employees of such counsel shall not disclose such Protected Material to any person, except pursuant to Court order. Nothing shall be interpreted in a manner that would violate any applicable canons of ethics or codes of professional responsibility.

13. MISCELLANEOUS

(a) Right to Further Relief. Nothing in this Protective Order abridges the right of any person to seek its modification by this Court on reasonable notice. By stipulating to this Protective Order, the Parties do not waive the right to argue that certain material may require additional or different confidentiality protections than those set forth herein.

(b) Termination of Matter and Retention of Jurisdiction. The Parties agree that the terms of this Protective Order shall survive and remain in effect after the Final Determination of this Action. The Court shall retain jurisdiction after Final Determination of this Action to hear and resolve any disputes arising out of this Protective Order.

(c) Successors. This Protective Order shall be binding upon the Parties hereto, their attorneys, and their successors, executors, personal representatives, administrators, heirs, legal representatives, assigns, subsidiaries, divisions, employees, agents, retained consultants and experts, and any persons or organizations over which they have direct control.

(d) Right to Assert Other Objections. By stipulating to the entry of this Protective Order, no Party waives any right it otherwise would have to object to disclosing or producing any information or item. Similarly, no Party waives any right to object on any ground to use in evidence of any of the material covered by this Protective Order.

(e) Burdens of Proof. Notwithstanding anything to the contrary above, nothing in this Protective Order shall be construed to change the burdens of proof or legal standards applicable in disputes regarding whether particular Protected Material is confidential, whether disclosure should be restricted, and if so, what restrictions should apply.

(f) Modification by Court. This Protective Order is subject to further court order based upon public policy or other considerations, and this Court may modify this Protective Order sua sponte in the interests of justice. The United States Bankruptcy Court for the Northern District of Texas is responsible for the interpretation and enforcement of this Protective Order. All disputes concerning Protected Material, however designated, produced under the protection of this Protective Order shall be resolved by the United States Bankruptcy Court for the Northern District of Texas.

(g) Discovery Rules Remain Unchanged. Nothing herein shall alter or change in any way the discovery provisions of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, the Local Rules for the United States Bankruptcy Court for the Northern District of Texas, or this Court's own orders. Identification of any individual pursuant to this Protective Order does not make that individual available for deposition or any other form of discovery outside of the restrictions and procedures of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, the Local Rules for the United States Bankruptcy Court for the Northern District of Texas, or this Court's own orders.

(h) Attorneys and witnesses are prohibited from arguing or implying at trial that a witness for a Party should have or could have received or reviewed information protected by this Order if this Order prohibits that witness from receiving or reviewing such information.

###End of Order###

AGREED PROTECTIVE ORDER

Plaintiff/Counter-Defendant Highland Capital Management, L.P. ("Plaintiff") and

[1] Highland's last four digits of its taxpayer identification number are (8357). The headquarters and service address for Highland is 100 Crescent Court, Suite 1850, Dallas, TX 75201.

Defendant/Counter-Plaintiff Patrick Hagaman Daugherty ("Defendant" or "Daugherty") (collectively, the "Parties") anticipate that Plaintiff and Defendant will produce or use certain Protected Material (as hereinafter defined) during the course of discovery in the above-captioned adversary proceeding (collectively, the "Action").[2] In order to facilitate production of the Protected Material, the Parties stipulate to and request that, pursuant to Rule 26(c) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, this Court enter this Agreed Protective Order ("Protective Order"), setting forth the conditions for obtaining, treating, and using Protected Material.

1. PURPOSES AND LIMITATIONS

(a) Protected Material shall be used for the purpose of prosecuting claims and asserting defenses in the Action. Plaintiff shall hold Protected Material in confidence in accordance with the terms and condition set forth in this Protective Order. Protected Material shall not be used for any other purpose, and shall not be used or shown, disseminated, copied, or otherwise disclosed to anyone not entitled to such Protected Material as herein provided. Plaintiff shall take reasonable steps to limit access to Protected Material to those persons entitled to review it in accordance with the terms of this Protective Order.

(b) The Parties acknowledge that the protection the Protective Order affords from public disclosure and use extends only to the specific Protected Material produced by Defendant or his agents to Plaintiff in this Action, except to the extent this Protective Order is modified at a later date.

2. DEFINITIONS

(a) "Outside Counsel" means (i) outside counsel for a Party or its affiliates, as

[2] Capitalized terms used and not defined here in have the meanings ascribed to such terms in Highland Capital Management, L.P.'s Request for the Production of Documents Directed to Patrick Daugherty, dated October 24, 2025 and delivered to Defendant in connection with the Action (the "RFP").

applicable, and (ii) partners, principals, counsel, associates, employees, and contract attorneys of such counsel to whom it is reasonably necessary to disclose the information in connection with the Action, including supporting personnel employed by the attorneys, such as paralegals, legal translators, legal secretaries, legal clerks and any copying or clerical litigation support services working at the direction of such counsel, paralegals, and staff.

(b) "Outside Expert or Consultant" means a person retained by Outside Counsel to serve as an expert witness or a litigation consultant in the Action (including any necessary support personnel of such person to whom disclosure is reasonably necessary for this litigation), and who is not a current employee of a Party.

(c) "Party" means any party to this Action, their respective affiliates and related entities, and its and their respective officers, directors (including, without limitation, any members of the Highland Claimant Trust Oversight Board), trustees (including, without limitation, the trustees of the Highland Claimant Trust), administrators (including, without limitation, the indemnity trust administrator of the Highland Indemnity Trust), employees, consultants, agents, retained experts, and Outside Counsel and their support staffs.

(d) "Non-Protected Material" means any documents or information concerning Defendant's tax returns, partnership distributions, or compensation whilst employed at Highland Capital Management, L.P, that would otherwise meet the definition of "Protected Material" that (a) was or becomes actually published or publicly disseminated other than as a result of a disclosure by Plaintiff in violation of this Protective Order, (b) was in Plaintiff's possession as of the date hereof, including, without limitation, all of Plaintiff's tax returns, Mr. Daugherty's tax returns stored on Plaintiff's system as of the date hereof, accompanying K-1's, employee compensation information, and correspondence and other information and documents relating thereto, or (c) was or becomes available to Plaintiff on a non-confidential basis from a third party source other than Defendant; provided, that such source is legally permitted to disclose such information to Plaintiff and is not otherwise prohibited from disclosing such information pursuant to any contractual, legal, regulatory, fiduciary, or other obligation.

(e) "Protected Material" means the following documents and information, in each case, to the extent produced by or on behalf of Defendant to Plaintiff in this Action, all information contained therein, and all copies thereof: (i) federal or state tax returns filed by Patrick Daugherty; (ii) communications with the Internal Revenue Service or any corresponding state taxing authority concerning such tax returns; or (iii) financial information (such as documents relating to Daugherty's compensation, bank statements, account records, or other similar documents) concerning Mr. Daugherty, his family or any entities owned in whole or in part by Mr. Daugherty; provided, that, notwithstanding anything in this Protective Order to the contrary, "Protected Material" shall not include any "Non-Protected Material" as defined in this Protective Order or any information that is independently developed by Plaintiff without use or reference to any Protected Material.

(f) "Third Parties" means persons, organizations or entities who are not Plaintiff or Defendant in this Action.

3. SCOPE

(a) The protections conferred by this Protective Order apply to all Protected Material and any documents or information directly extracted therefrom, as well as all copies, excerpts, summaries, or compilations thereof, plus testimony, conversations, or presentations by Parties or their counsel in court that might reveal Protected Material.

(b) Nothing in this Protective Order shall prevent or restrict Defendant's own disclosure or use of his own Protected Material for any purpose.

(c) Nothing in this Protective Order provides any Party with any broader or expanded rights than it already had concerning the use or disclosure of Non-Protected Material, nor does it obviate the Party from its contractual, legal, regulatory, fiduciary, or other obligations that already existed with respect to Non-Protected Material.

(d) Nothing in this Protective Order shall be construed to prejudice any Party's right to use any Protected Material in any filing in the Action, provided the Party complies with the applicable rules regarding the filing of documents under seal.

4. DURATION

The confidentiality obligations imposed by this Protective Order shall remain in effect until a final, non-appealable order is entered resolving all claims and counterclaims asserted in the Action.

5. ACCESS TO AND USE OF PROTECTED MATERIAL

(a) Basic Principles. Protected Material shall be used as set forth herein below, and such use shall be solely for the purpose of prosecuting or defending any claims or defenses asserted in the Action or any related appellate proceeding. Protected Material shall not be distributed, disclosed, or made available to any persons, organizations or entities except as expressly provided in this Protective Order.

(b) Secure Storage. Protected Material shall be maintained by Plaintiff using a degree of care that is no less stringent than that used to protect Plaintiff's own confidential information of a similar nature, which in any event, shall be no less than a reasonable degree of care, and Plaintiff shall take reasonable measures to protect the secrecy, and prevent any disclosure, of Protected Material in violation of this Protective Order. For the avoidance of doubt, the Parties acknowledge and agree that Protected Material may be stored and maintained on Plaintiff's data management systems and cloud-based services managed and maintained by Third Parties, and Protected Material may be transmitted to and from Plaintiff's email system and the email addresses of its representatives.

(c) Legal Advice Based on Protected Material. Subject to the restrictions of Section 5(b) above, this Protective Order does not prevent counsel from advising their clients with respect to the Action based in whole or in part upon any Protected Materials, provided counsel does not disclose Protected Material except as permitted by this Protective Order.

(d) Third Party Discovery. Nothing in this Protective Order shall limit or impair the ability of any Party to obtain and use Third Party discovery. Nothing in this Protective Order shall limit or impair Defendant's right to seek a protective order concerning any material produced by any third party in discovery in the Action that contains Defendant's tax or financial information.

(e) This Order is without prejudice to the right of any Party to seek further or additional protection of any Protected Material or to modify this Order in any way upon reasonable notice to all Parties.

6. ADDITIONAL PROVISIONS RELATING TO PROTECTED MATERIAL

(i) Depositions and Testimony. Parties may designate testimony given in deposition and in other pretrial or trial proceeding that specifically references Protected Material by indicating on the record when the testimony is given or by sending written notice of the designations within five (5) days of receipt of the transcript. Only those portions of testimony that are appropriately designated shall be covered by this Protective Order.

The use of a document as an exhibit at a deposition shall not affect its designation as Protected Material. Protected Material used during a deposition shall remain subject to the provisions of this Protective Order.

Transcripts containing Protected Material shall have a conspicuous legend on the title page that the transcript contains Protected Material. If the deposition is videotaped, the original and all copies of the videotape shall be marked by the video technician to indicate that the contents of the videotape are subject to this Protective Order, substantially along the lines of "This videotape contains confidential testimony and is not to be viewed or the contents thereof to be displayed or revealed except pursuant to the terms of this Protective Order in this matter or pursuant to written stipulation of the Parties."

7. NOTICE OF DISCLOSURE

(a) Written Notice. Before an Outside Expert or Consultant may receive Protected Material, the Outside Expert or Consultant must sign the "Agreement to Be Bound by this Protective Order" (Exhibit A), a copy of which shall be provided to Defendant at the time the Parties must designate testifying experts under the scheduling order in the Action.

8. SUBPOENAS OR COURT ORDERS

(a) If Protected Material or Non-Protected Material is subpoenaed by any non-party to the Action, court, arbitral, administrative, or legislative body, the Plaintiff shall give prompt written notice thereof to Defendant and to his counsel. If Defendant does not take steps to prevent disclosure of such documents within seven (7) days of the date written notice is given, Plaintiff may produce such Protected Material in response thereto, but shall take reasonable measures to have such documents treated in accordance with terms of this Protective Order.

9. FILING PROTECTED MATERIAL

(a) Absent written permission from Defendant or a court order secured after reasonable notice to Defendant, Plaintiff may not file in the public record any Protected Material.

(b) Plaintiff is authorized under applicable rules to file, describe, or refer to Protected Material under seal in the Action.

(c) Prior to filing any Non-Protected Material in the Action, Plaintiff's counsel shall give Defendant's counsel 48 hours' notice of the intent to file such material and identify the specific Non-Protected Material that will be filed. Defendant's counsel may file a motion to seal the Non-Protected Material in the Action at any time prior to, or after, Plaintiff's filing of the Non-Protected Material.

10. INADVERTENT FAILURE TO DESIGNATE PROPERLY

(a) The inadvertent failure by Defendant to designate Protected Material shall not waive the protections afforded under this Protective Order; provided that Defendant notifies Plaintiff that such Protected Material is protected under this Protective Order within seven (7) days of Defendant learning of the inadvertent failure to designate. Defendant shall reproduce the Protected Material with a designation within seven (7) days upon its notification to Plaintiff.

11. INADVERTENT DISCLOSURE NOT AUTHORIZED BY ORDER

(a) In the event of a disclosure of Protected Material pursuant to this Protective Order to any person or persons not authorized to receive such disclosure under this Protective Order, Plaintiff shall promptly notify Outside Counsel for Defendant and provide to such counsel all known relevant information concerning the nature and circumstances of the disclosure. Plaintiff shall also promptly take reasonable measures to retrieve the unauthorized disclosed Protected Material and to take reasonable steps to prevent any further unauthorized disclosure of Protected Material.

(b) In addition to subsection (a) above, Plaintiff shall also use reasonable efforts to seek to bind such person or party to the terms of this Protective Order and (a) such person shall be informed promptly of all the provisions of this Protective Order by Plaintiff and asked to return the information; (b) such person shall be identified to Defendant; and (c) the person to whom disclosure was made shall be requested to sign Exhibit A hereto. Nothing in this Paragraph shall affect the Defendant's remedies under this Protective Order or otherwise for such unauthorized disclosure.

(c) Plaintiff's unauthorized or inadvertent disclosure does not change the status of Protected Material or waive the right to hold the disclosed document or information as Protected.

12. FINAL DISPOSITION

Unless otherwise ordered or agreed to in writing by Defendants, within sixty (60) days after the final termination of this Action by settlement or exhaustion of all appeals all parties in receipt of Protected Material shall exercise reasonable efforts to either return such materials and copies thereof to Defendant or destroy such Protected Material and certify that fact in writing. Plaintiff's reasonable efforts shall not require the return or destruction of Protected Material that (i) is stored on backup storage media made in accordance with regular data backup procedures for disaster recovery purposes and is overwritten in the normal course of business or (ii) is subject to legal hold obligations. Counsel for the Parties shall be entitled to retain copies of court papers (and exhibits thereto), correspondence, pleadings, deposition and trial transcripts (and exhibits thereto), expert reports and attorney work product that contain or refer to Protected Material, provided that such counsel and employees of such counsel shall not disclose such Protected Material to any person, except pursuant to Court order. Nothing shall be interpreted in a manner that would violate any applicable canons of ethics or codes of professional responsibility.

13. MISCELLANEOUS

(a) Right to Further Relief. Nothing in this Protective Order abridges the right of any person to seek its modification by this Court on reasonable notice. By stipulating to this Protective Order, the Parties do not waive the right to argue that certain material may require additional or different confidentiality protections than those set forth herein.

(b) Termination of Matter and Retention of Jurisdiction. The Parties agree that the terms of this Protective Order shall survive and remain in effect after the Final Determination of this Action. The Court shall retain jurisdiction after Final Determination of this Action to hear and resolve any disputes arising out of this Protective Order.

(c) Successors. This Protective Order shall be binding upon the Parties hereto, their attorneys, and their successors, executors, personal representatives, administrators, heirs, legal representatives, assigns, subsidiaries, divisions, employees, agents, retained consultants and experts, and any persons or organizations over which they have direct control.

(d) Right to Assert Other Objections. By stipulating to the entry of this Protective Order, no Party waives any right it otherwise would have to object to disclosing or producing any information or item. Similarly, no Party waives any right to object on any ground to use in evidence of any of the material covered by this Protective Order.

(e) Burdens of Proof. Notwithstanding anything to the contrary above, nothing in this Protective Order shall be construed to change the burdens of proof or legal standards applicable in disputes regarding whether particular Protected Material is confidential, whether disclosure should be restricted, and if so, what restrictions should apply.

(f) Modification by Court. This Protective Order is subject to further court order based upon public policy or other considerations, and this Court may modify this Protective Order sua sponte in the interests of justice. The United States Bankruptcy Court for the Northern District of Texas is responsible for the interpretation and enforcement of this Protective Order. All disputes concerning Protected Material, however designated, produced under the protection of this Protective Order shall be resolved by the United States Bankruptcy Court for the Northern District of Texas.

(g) Discovery Rules Remain Unchanged. Nothing herein shall alter or change in any way the discovery provisions of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, the Local Rules for the United States Bankruptcy Court for the Northern District of Texas, or this Court's own orders. Identification of any individual pursuant to this Protective Order does not make that individual available for deposition or any other form of discovery outside of the restrictions and procedures of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, the Local Rules for the United States Bankruptcy Court for the Northern District of Texas, or this Court's own orders.

(h) Attorneys and witnesses are prohibited from arguing or implying at trial that a witness for a Party should have or could have received or reviewed information protected by this Order if this Order prohibits that witness from receiving or reviewing such information.

AGREED PROTECTIVE ORDER

Plaintiff/Counter-Defendant Highland Capital Management, L.P. ("Plaintiff") and

[1] Highland's last four digits of its taxpayer identification number are (8357). The headquarters and service address for Highland is 100 Crescent Court, Suite 1850, Dallas, TX 75201.

Defendant/Counter-Plaintiff Patrick Hagaman Daugherty ("Defendant" or "Daugherty") (collectively, the "Parties") anticipate that Plaintiff and Defendant will produce or use certain Protected Material (as hereinafter defined) during the course of discovery in the above-captioned adversary proceeding (collectively, the "Action").[2] In order to facilitate production of the Protected Material, the Parties stipulate to and request that, pursuant to Rule 26(c) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, this Court enter this Agreed Protective Order ("Protective Order"), setting forth the conditions for obtaining, treating, and using Protected Material.

1. PURPOSES AND LIMITATIONS

(a) Protected Material shall be used for the purpose of prosecuting claims and asserting defenses in the Action. Plaintiff shall hold Protected Material in confidence in accordance with the terms and condition set forth in this Protective Order. Protected Material shall not be used for any other purpose, and shall not be used or shown, disseminated, copied, or otherwise disclosed to anyone not entitled to such Protected Material as herein provided. Plaintiff shall take reasonable steps to limit access to Protected Material to those persons entitled to review it in accordance with the terms of this Protective Order.

(b) The Parties acknowledge that the protection the Protective Order affords from public disclosure and use extends only to the specific Protected Material produced by Defendant or his agents to Plaintiff in this Action, except to the extent this Protective Order is modified at a later date.

2. DEFINITIONS

(a) "Outside Counsel" means (i) outside counsel for a Party or its affiliates, as

[2] Capitalized terms used and not defined here in have the meanings ascribed to such terms in Highland Capital Management, L.P.'s Request for the Production of Documents Directed to Patrick Daugherty, dated October 24, 2025 and delivered to Defendant in connection with the Action (the "RFP").

applicable, and (ii) partners, principals, counsel, associates, employees, and contract attorneys of such counsel to whom it is reasonably necessary to disclose the information in connection with the Action, including supporting personnel employed by the attorneys, such as paralegals, legal translators, legal secretaries, legal clerks and any copying or clerical litigation support services working at the direction of such counsel, paralegals, and staff.

(b) "Outside Expert or Consultant" means a person retained by Outside Counsel to serve as an expert witness or a litigation consultant in the Action (including any necessary support personnel of such person to whom disclosure is reasonably necessary for this litigation), and who is not a current employee of a Party.

(c) "Party" means any party to this Action, their respective affiliates and related entities, and its and their respective officers, directors (including, without limitation, any members of the Highland Claimant Trust Oversight Board), trustees (including, without limitation, the trustees of the Highland Claimant Trust), administrators (including, without limitation, the indemnity trust administrator of the Highland Indemnity Trust), employees, consultants, agents, retained experts, and Outside Counsel and their support staffs.

(d) "Non-Protected Material" means any documents or information concerning Defendant's tax returns, partnership distributions, or compensation whilst employed at Highland Capital Management, L.P, that would otherwise meet the definition of "Protected Material" that (a) was or becomes actually published or publicly disseminated other than as a result of a disclosure by Plaintiff in violation of this Protective Order, (b) was in Plaintiff's possession as of the date hereof, including, without limitation, all of Plaintiff's tax returns, Mr. Daugherty's tax returns stored on Plaintiff's system as of the date hereof, accompanying K-1's, employee compensation information, and correspondence and other information and documents relating thereto, or (c) was or becomes available to Plaintiff on a non-confidential basis from a third party source other than Defendant; provided, that such source is legally permitted to disclose such information to Plaintiff and is not otherwise prohibited from disclosing such information pursuant to any contractual, legal, regulatory, fiduciary, or other obligation.

(e) "Protected Material" means the following documents and information, in each case, to the extent produced by or on behalf of Defendant to Plaintiff in this Action, all information contained therein, and all copies thereof: (i) federal or state tax returns filed by Patrick Daugherty; (ii) communications with the Internal Revenue Service or any corresponding state taxing authority concerning such tax returns; or (iii) financial information (such as documents relating to Daugherty's compensation, bank statements, account records, or other similar documents) concerning Mr. Daugherty, his family or any entities owned in whole or in part by Mr. Daugherty; provided, that, notwithstanding anything in this Protective Order to the contrary, "Protected Material" shall not include any "Non-Protected Material" as defined in this Protective Order or any information that is independently developed by Plaintiff without use or reference to any Protected Material.

(f) "Third Parties" means persons, organizations or entities who are not Plaintiff or Defendant in this Action.

3. SCOPE

(a) The protections conferred by this Protective Order apply to all Protected Material and any documents or information directly extracted therefrom, as well as all copies, excerpts, summaries, or compilations thereof, plus testimony, conversations, or presentations by Parties or their counsel in court that might reveal Protected Material.

(b) Nothing in this Protective Order shall prevent or restrict Defendant's own disclosure or use of his own Protected Material for any purpose.

(c) Nothing in this Protective Order provides any Party with any broader or expanded rights than it already had concerning the use or disclosure of Non-Protected Material, nor does it obviate the Party from its contractual, legal, regulatory, fiduciary, or other obligations that already existed with respect to Non-Protected Material.

(d) Nothing in this Protective Order shall be construed to prejudice any Party's right to use any Protected Material in any filing in the Action, provided the Party complies with the applicable rules regarding the filing of documents under seal.

4. DURATION

The confidentiality obligations imposed by this Protective Order shall remain in effect until a final, non-appealable order is entered resolving all claims and counterclaims asserted in the Action.

5. ACCESS TO AND USE OF PROTECTED MATERIAL

(a) Basic Principles. Protected Material shall be used as set forth herein below, and such use shall be solely for the purpose of prosecuting or defending any claims or defenses asserted in the Action or any related appellate proceeding. Protected Material shall not be distributed, disclosed, or made available to any persons, organizations or entities except as expressly provided in this Protective Order.

(b) Secure Storage. Protected Material shall be maintained by Plaintiff using a degree of care that is no less stringent than that used to protect Plaintiff's own confidential information of a similar nature, which in any event, shall be no less than a reasonable degree of care, and Plaintiff shall take reasonable measures to protect the secrecy, and prevent any disclosure, of Protected Material in violation of this Protective Order. For the avoidance of doubt, the Parties acknowledge and agree that Protected Material may be stored and maintained on Plaintiff's data management systems and cloud-based services managed and maintained by Third Parties, and Protected Material may be transmitted to and from Plaintiff's email system and the email addresses of its representatives.

(c) Legal Advice Based on Protected Material. Subject to the restrictions of Section 5(b) above, this Protective Order does not prevent counsel from advising their clients with respect to the Action based in whole or in part upon any Protected Materials, provided counsel does not disclose Protected Material except as permitted by this Protective Order.

(d) Third Party Discovery. Nothing in this Protective Order shall limit or impair the ability of any Party to obtain and use Third Party discovery. Nothing in this Protective Order shall limit or impair Defendant's right to seek a protective order concerning any material produced by any third party in discovery in the Action that contains Defendant's tax or financial information.

(e) This Order is without prejudice to the right of any Party to seek further or additional protection of any Protected Material or to modify this Order in any way upon reasonable notice to all Parties.

6. ADDITIONAL PROVISIONS RELATING TO PROTECTED MATERIAL

(i) Depositions and Testimony. Parties may designate testimony given in deposition and in other pretrial or trial proceeding that specifically references Protected Material by indicating on the record when the testimony is given or by sending written notice of the designations within five (5) days of receipt of the transcript. Only those portions of testimony that are appropriately designated shall be covered by this Protective Order.

The use of a document as an exhibit at a deposition shall not affect its designation as Protected Material. Protected Material used during a deposition shall remain subject to the provisions of this Protective Order.

Transcripts containing Protected Material shall have a conspicuous legend on the title page that the transcript contains Protected Material. If the deposition is videotaped, the original and all copies of the videotape shall be marked by the video technician to indicate that the contents of the videotape are subject to this Protective Order, substantially along the lines of "This videotape contains confidential testimony and is not to be viewed or the contents thereof to be displayed or revealed except pursuant to the terms of this Protective Order in this matter or pursuant to written stipulation of the Parties."

7. NOTICE OF DISCLOSURE

(a) Written Notice. Before an Outside Expert or Consultant may receive Protected Material, the Outside Expert or Consultant must sign the "Agreement to Be Bound by this Protective Order" (Exhibit A), a copy of which shall be provided to Defendant at the time the Parties must designate testifying experts under the scheduling order in the Action.

8. SUBPOENAS OR COURT ORDERS

(a) If Protected Material or Non-Protected Material is subpoenaed by any non-party to the Action, court, arbitral, administrative, or legislative body, the Plaintiff shall give prompt written notice thereof to Defendant and to his counsel. If Defendant does not take steps to prevent disclosure of such documents within seven (7) days of the date written notice is given, Plaintiff may produce such Protected Material in response thereto, but shall take reasonable measures to have such documents treated in accordance with terms of this Protective Order.

9. FILING PROTECTED MATERIAL

(a) Absent written permission from Defendant or a court order secured after reasonable notice to Defendant, Plaintiff may not file in the public record any Protected Material.

(b) Plaintiff is authorized under applicable rules to file, describe, or refer to Protected Material under seal in the Action.

(c) Prior to filing any Non-Protected Material in the Action, Plaintiff's counsel shall give Defendant's counsel 48 hours' notice of the intent to file such material and identify the specific Non-Protected Material that will be filed. Defendant's counsel may file a motion to seal the Non-Protected Material in the Action at any time prior to, or after, Plaintiff's filing of the Non-Protected Material.

10. INADVERTENT FAILURE TO DESIGNATE PROPERLY

(a) The inadvertent failure by Defendant to designate Protected Material shall not waive the protections afforded under this Protective Order; provided that Defendant notifies Plaintiff that such Protected Material is protected under this Protective Order within seven (7) days of Defendant learning of the inadvertent failure to designate. Defendant shall reproduce the Protected Material with a designation within seven (7) days upon its notification to Plaintiff.

11. INADVERTENT DISCLOSURE NOT AUTHORIZED BY ORDER

(a) In the event of a disclosure of Protected Material pursuant to this Protective Order to any person or persons not authorized to receive such disclosure under this Protective Order, Plaintiff shall promptly notify Outside Counsel for Defendant and provide to such counsel all known relevant information concerning the nature and circumstances of the disclosure. Plaintiff shall also promptly take reasonable measures to retrieve the unauthorized disclosed Protected Material and to take reasonable steps to prevent any further unauthorized disclosure of Protected Material.

(b) In addition to subsection (a) above, Plaintiff shall also use reasonable efforts to seek to bind such person or party to the terms of this Protective Order and (a) such person shall be informed promptly of all the provisions of this Protective Order by Plaintiff and asked to return the information; (b) such person shall be identified to Defendant; and (c) the person to whom disclosure was made shall be requested to sign Exhibit A hereto. Nothing in this Paragraph shall affect the Defendant's remedies under this Protective Order or otherwise for such unauthorized disclosure.

(c) Plaintiff's unauthorized or inadvertent disclosure does not change the status of Protected Material or waive the right to hold the disclosed document or information as Protected.

12. FINAL DISPOSITION

Unless otherwise ordered or agreed to in writing by Defendants, within sixty (60) days after the final termination of this Action by settlement or exhaustion of all appeals all parties in receipt of Protected Material shall exercise reasonable efforts to either return such materials and copies thereof to Defendant or destroy such Protected Material and certify that fact in writing. Plaintiff's reasonable efforts shall not require the return or destruction of Protected Material that (i) is stored on backup storage media made in accordance with regular data backup procedures for disaster recovery purposes and is overwritten in the normal course of business or (ii) is subject to legal hold obligations. Counsel for the Parties shall be entitled to retain copies of court papers (and exhibits thereto), correspondence, pleadings, deposition and trial transcripts (and exhibits thereto), expert reports and attorney work product that contain or refer to Protected Material, provided that such counsel and employees of such counsel shall not disclose such Protected Material to any person, except pursuant to Court order. Nothing shall be interpreted in a manner that would violate any applicable canons of ethics or codes of professional responsibility.

13. MISCELLANEOUS

(a) Right to Further Relief. Nothing in this Protective Order abridges the right of any person to seek its modification by this Court on reasonable notice. By stipulating to this Protective Order, the Parties do not waive the right to argue that certain material may require additional or different confidentiality protections than those set forth herein.

(b) Termination of Matter and Retention of Jurisdiction. The Parties agree that the terms of this Protective Order shall survive and remain in effect after the Final Determination of this Action. The Court shall retain jurisdiction after Final Determination of this Action to hear and resolve any disputes arising out of this Protective Order.

(c) Successors. This Protective Order shall be binding upon the Parties hereto, their attorneys, and their successors, executors, personal representatives, administrators, heirs, legal representatives, assigns, subsidiaries, divisions, employees, agents, retained consultants and experts, and any persons or organizations over which they have direct control.

(d) Right to Assert Other Objections. By stipulating to the entry of this Protective Order, no Party waives any right it otherwise would have to object to disclosing or producing any information or item. Similarly, no Party waives any right to object on any ground to use in evidence of any of the material covered by this Protective Order.

(e) Burdens of Proof. Notwithstanding anything to the contrary above, nothing in this Protective Order shall be construed to change the burdens of proof or legal standards applicable in disputes regarding whether particular Protected Material is confidential, whether disclosure should be restricted, and if so, what restrictions should apply.

(f) Modification by Court. This Protective Order is subject to further court order based upon public policy or other considerations, and this Court may modify this Protective Order sua sponte in the interests of justice. The United States Bankruptcy Court for the Northern District of Texas is responsible for the interpretation and enforcement of this Protective Order. All disputes concerning Protected Material, however designated, produced under the protection of this Protective Order shall be resolved by the United States Bankruptcy Court for the Northern District of Texas.

(g) Discovery Rules Remain Unchanged. Nothing herein shall alter or change in any way the discovery provisions of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, the Local Rules for the United States Bankruptcy Court for the Northern District of Texas, or this Court's own orders. Identification of any individual pursuant to this Protective Order does not make that individual available for deposition or any other form of discovery outside of the restrictions and procedures of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, the Local Rules for the United States Bankruptcy Court for the Northern District of Texas, or this Court's own orders.

(h) Attorneys and witnesses are prohibited from arguing or implying at trial that a witness for a Party should have or could have received or reviewed information protected by this Order if this Order prohibits that witness from receiving or reviewing such information.

###End of Order###

Counsel to Patrick Daugherty

IN THE UNITED STATES BANKRUPTCY COURT
FOR THE NORTHERN DISTRICT OF TEXAS
DALLAS DIVISION

In re:	§	Chapter 11
HIGHLAND CAPITAL MANAGEMENT, L.P.,[1]	§	Case No. 19-34054 (SGJ)
Reorganized Debtor.	§
HIGHLAND CAPITAL MANAGEMENT, L.P.,	§
Plaintiff,	§
v.	§
PATRICK HAGAMAN DAUGHERTY,	§	Adversary No. 25-03055
Defendant.	§

[1] Highland's last four digits of its taxpayer identification number are (8357). The headquarters and service address for Highland is 100 Crescent Court, Suite 1850, Dallas, TX 75201.

PATRICK DAUGHERTY'S RESPONSE TO HIGHLAND'S MOTION TO COMPEL

Subject to his pending Motion to Stay, Defendant/Counter-Plaintiff Patrick Daugherty files this Response to Highland's Motion to Compel [Doc. No. 60] and would show the Court as follows:

PRELIMINARY STATEMENT

1. Highland seeks the production of recorded conversations between Daugherty and James Seery, Highland's CEO. The Court should deny Highland's Motion for two reasons. First, the discovery Highland seeks is irrelevant to the claims and defenses of this action. This dispute centers on two topics: (a) the amount and validity of Daugherty's bankruptcy claim, and (b) Daugherty's counterclaim for the production of Highland Employee Retention Assets, LLC's ("HERA") books and records. The recordings in Daugherty's possession—described in detail below—do not bear on either of those two topics, and Daugherty did not intend to use them in this adversary proceeding.[2]

2. Second, the recordings would only be used, if at all, for impeachment purposes, and Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 26 explicitly excludes impeachment evidence from all disclosure requirements until it is used. Federal courts also hold the recordings are not discoverable unless and until they are used to impeach Seery. Thus, Daugherty's recordings are not required to be produced at this juncture. As a result, the Court should deny Highland's Motion.

[2] In preparation of this Response, counsel re-reviewed the audio recordings provided to them and determined that one of the recordings contains a limited discussion of Daugherty's requests to Seery about HERA's books and records and Seery's agreement to produce the books and records. Counsel is in the process of processing the recording for production to Highland.

FACTUAL BACKGROUND[3]

3. As the Court is likely aware, the legal disputes surrounding Highland's downfall are abundant and malicious. And for over fifteen years, Daugherty has been the sole individual willing to stand up to Highland—and its former owners Jim Dondero and Mark Okada—and fight for his rights, and the rights of other creditors, in this Court and others. Through these disputes, Daugherty has exposed the fraud of others and has routinely observed adversaries and witnesses making misrepresentations, or inconsistent statements, in court.

4. Jim Dondero and Mark Okada co-founded Highland Capital Management, LP ("Highland") in 1993. They operated Highland with an iron fist. This was evident in their treatment of Highland's employees that has been well-documented in the immense collection of lawsuits involving them since Highland's downfall. In September 2008, Highland took a dramatic turn for the worse because of Dondero and Okada's mismanagement. Highland defaulted on its credit facility, which prompted Highland's lenders to demand a forensic accounting of Highland to investigate where Highland's money—their collateral—had gone. Other investigations resulted in numerous lawsuits against Dondero, Okada, their respective trusts, and various other individuals.

5. During his time at Highland, Daugherty rose to the rank of profits-interest partner, senior portfolio manager, and head of Private Equity. He held these roles from 1998 to 2011. In those roles, Daugherty was instrumental in Highland's success in both the collateralized loan obligation market and the distressed debt market. Despite Highland's default on its own credit facility in 2008, Daugherty remained at the firm and helped save the company from financial ruin. Ultimately, however, Daugherty resigned from Highland in the fall of 2011 because he refused to participate in conduct that would later result in awards of over a billion dollars in damages to investors and creditors for breach of fiduciary duty, willful misconduct, and fraud, among other causes of action.

6. Dondero, Okada, Scott Ellington, Isaac Leventon and others working with them, would later pursue legal actions on behalf of Highland against Daugherty to whitewash willful misconduct, breach of fiduciary duties and/or fraud, captioned Highland Management, L.P. v. Daugherty, Cause No. 12- 04005 (the "Texas Lawsuit"). Daugherty responded with counterclaims against Highland, HERA, and others, alleging breach of contract and breach of the covenant of good faith and fair dealing.

7. At trial, Dondero made it a point to let the court and jury know that HERA retained control of "all" of its assets. Dondero testified responding to questions by counsel Michael Hurst as follows:

> Q. Okay. So – so if, if Mr. Daugherty somehow prevails in his lawsuit against Patrick Boyce and Lane Britain and [HERA], what happens to Mr. Daugherty's interest that's being escrowed right now with a third-party escrow agent?
> A. They go to him.
> Q. I'm sorry?
> A. They go to him via to HERA and then to him.

Dondero further testified:

> Q. The escrow, did you just escrow this last month?
> A. No. We've had it segregated at Highland since April when we first put it in and then formalized the escrow. It takes a while to set up an escrow and transfer illiquid assets that have all sorts of transfer limitations.

8. After three weeks of trial, the jury found that HERA, at the direction of Dondero and others from Highland, breached the implied covenant of good faith and fair dealing by adopting a "lose-lose" clause in HERA's company agreement, and that Highland and Dondero had defamed Daugherty with malice.[4] The jury awarded Daugherty damages against HERA in the amount of $2.6 million, plus interest which remains unpaid. Once the appeals were exhausted in the Texas Lawsuit, Highland (through Dondero, Ellington, Leventon and others) terminated the escrow account and transferred the funds to Highland and away from HERA, where they rightfully belonged.

9. This forced Daugherty to initiate litigation against Highland, HERA, Dondero, Ellington and others in Delaware to try to satisfy his judgment. On the third day of trial, in October 2019, Highland filed a voluntary petition for relief under Chapter 11 of the Bankruptcy Code. Just a few months later, the Highland Creditors Committee sought a change of control over Highland, including seeking to have Seery appointed as an independent director and later as Highland's CEO and CRO.

10. During the course of Highland's bankruptcy, Daugherty wanted to ensure that the bankruptcy estate's value was maximized for the benefit of creditors. Given his longstanding role at Highland, Daugherty knew a substantial amount of information concerning not just the company but also but also the activities of it key figures and facilitators including Dondero, Okada, Ellington and Leventon. Over the course of a number of months, Daugherty provided extensive information to Seery, Marc Kirschner and Highland's litigation counsel relating to the same.

11. On October 15, 2021, Highland filed a lawsuit against Dondero, Ellington and others for various claims, including breaches of fiduciary duty and fraudulent conveyances. That lawsuit included allegations derived from many of the facts and information Daugherty had sent to Seery and Kirschner.

[4] FAC ¶91.

12. In late 2021 Daugherty and Highland reached a settlement resolving almost all of Daugherty's claims against Highland. The Settlement Agreement included cash compensation, Class 8 and Class 9 claims at certain agreed values, and a transfer of all of Highland's interests in HERA and its managing member, ERA Management, LLC, to Daugherty.[5] Highland filed a Notice to Approve the Settlement Agreement in December 2021.

13. Shortly after Highland filed Notice, but before any hearing before the Court, Ellington filed a baseless lawsuit against Daugherty alleging stalking. Ellington then used that lawsuit as the basis for objecting to the Settlement Agreement. [Docket No. 3242 in 19-34054-sgj].

14. During the hearing on the Settlement Agreement, Highland acknowledged that "Dondero, through Highland Capital, engaged in an asset-stripping campaign designed to render Plaintiff judgment-proof, further exposing Highland Capital to liability and unnecessary legal costs." Seery testified that "It actually looks like, frankly, the escrow was never really an escrow, and it was a – it was a fraud from the beginning."

15. It could not be clearer that Ellington's lawsuit against Daugherty was nothing more than a gambit to try to thwart the Settlement Agreement. After Highland and Seery advocated [5] HERA is currently engaged in litigation with Dondero, Ellington and others in the case styled Highland Employee Retention Assets LLC v. James Donero, et al., Civil Action No. 3:24-cv-00498-K, pending in the United States District Court for the Northern District of Texas. That litigation centers on Dondero et al.'s misconduct and fraud among other things in the treatment of the monetary contributions and assets that numerous Highland employees made into retirement vehicle known as HERA. But because of Dondero's and others' underhanded efforts to fraudulently transfer assets to benefit themselves and others, those assets were funneled out of HERA and into various entities and accounts controlled by Dondero, Okada, Ellington and their affiliates. That litigation remains pending since February 29, 2024.

against Ellington's interference, the Court rejected Ellington's gambit and approved the Settlement Agreement in March 2022.[6]

16. The Settlement Agreement also contained one additional pertinent provision: that Daugherty's Reserved Claim would not be litigated by either side until the IRS made a "final determination" concerning the 2008 Audit. In connection therewith, Highland sought multiple agreements from Daugherty that would toll Highland's deadline to object to the Reserved Claim. These were given in exchange for no additional consideration or demands by Daugherty. Despite Highland's promise not to litigate the Reserved Claim until after the 2008 Audit, Highland surreptitiously filed this adversary proceeding while at the same time admitting that the 2008 Audit was not final.

17. Through the litigation that has ensued since Highland's collapse—as well as the litigation involved in Highland's main bankruptcy case—Daugherty has been one of very few individuals willing to stand up to Highland, Dondero, Okada, Ellington, and their enablers. Daugherty endeavored to bring truth into the courts, which necessarily meant that he had to engage in litigation with Highland and its founders. This made him a target of Highland, Dondero, Okada, Ellington, Leventon and their professionals.

18. Because of the bitterness between various constituents, along with the incredible amount of misinformation being spread about him, Daugherty began recording conversations he had with various individuals, including Seery. Daugherty did this because he had legitimate concerns that certain individuals would tell him one thing on the phone and then take the opposite position during litigation. He needed to be able to refute the false claims that he anticipated being made. These recordings have been sparse and limited to conversations about Highland, HERA, Dondero, Okada, Ellington, Leventon and other ancillary litigation, and miscellaneous other issues unrelated to this case. To be clear, the recorded conversations in Daugherty's possession do not involve (a) Highland's treatment of Daugherty's bankruptcy claim, (b) the IRS' treatment of Daugherty's 2008 Refund and the 2008 Audit of Highland, or (c) details of Daugherty's counterclaim for HERA's books and records. As such, the recordings have no relevance to this action (other than as potential impeachment evidence if any witnesses or parties speak untruthfully about past events).

[6] Highland's Motion references Ellington's lawsuit against Daugherty but fails to tell the Court that the Fifth Court of Appeals found no evidence that Daugherty engaged in civil stalking. Daugherty v. Ellington, No. 05-22-00991-CV, 2024 WL 177482, at *5-6 (Tex. App.—Dallas Jan. 17, 2024, pet. denied). Highland also fails to disclose to the Court that in May 2022 Seery did not "doubt that for a second" that Ellington's allegations against Daugherty were "clearly fabricated," that Seery does not trust Ellington, and he considers Ellington a "complete lying, cheating piece of shit." See Highland's Motion at Exhibit 3, Exhibit F thereto [Docket No. 61-3] at 16:18-18:19. Conveniently, in March 2024 Seery changed his tune and called the lawsuit "disturbing" even though he had not looked at any of the evidence (either testimony or documents) in the case. See generally Burley Decl. at Ex. 1 (228:19-229:23).

ARGUMENT AND AUTHORITIES

19. The discovery that Highland seeks is not relevant. Though broad, the scope of discovery is not unlimited. See Oppenheimer Fund, Inc. v. Sanders, 437 U.S. 340, 351 (1978) ("[D]iscovery, like all matters of procedure, has ultimate and necessary boundaries."). Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 26(b) only permits discovery of "non-privileged matter[s] that [are] relevant to any party's claims or defenses and proportional to the needs of the case[.]" Fed. R. Civ. P. 26(b)(1).

20. Furthermore, "Rule 26(b) 'has never been a license to engage in an unwieldy, burdensome, and speculative fishing expedition.'" Curtis v. Metro. Life Ins. Co., No. 3:15-CV-2328-B, 2016 WL 687164, at *4 (N.D. Tex. Feb. 19, 2016) (quoting Crosby v. La. Health Serv. & Indem. Co., 647 F.3d 258, 264 (5th Cir. 2011)). Under Rule 26(b)(1), discoverable matters must be both relevant and proportional to the needs of the case. See Samsung Elecs. Am., Inc. v. Chung, 321 F.R.D. 250, 279 (N.D. Tex. 2017). And the "district court must limit otherwise permissible discovery if it determines that 'the burden or expense of the proposed discovery outweighs its likely benefit, considering the needs of the case, the amount in controversy, the parties' resources, the importance of the issues at stake in the action, and the importance of discovery in resolving the issues.'" Crosby, 647 F.3d at 264 (quoting Fed. R. Civ. P. 26(b)(2)(C)(iii)). The guiding principle for discoverability is relevance: what a party seeks must be relevant to the claims or defenses. That is not the case with what Highland seeks through its motion.

21. Here, Highland seeks the production of various recordings of conversations between Daugherty and Seery that Daugherty has in his possession. Highland speculatively contends that the recordings "likely concern information that goes to the heart of the issues in this Adversary Proceeding." Motion at ¶ 2 (emphasis added). In support of the relevance argument, Highland's argument is two-fold. First, Highland contends that the information is directly relevant because it (wrongly) believes the conversations are about the 2008 Audit or the HERA books and records. See generally Motion at ¶¶ 22-24. Second, Highland contends that alternatively, the recordings are relevant because they "concern the litigants and implicate Daugherty's credibility." Motion at ¶ 23. Neither of these arguments are meritorious.

22. As to relevance: Highland's adversary claims against Daugherty are predominantly statutory in nature. They address the singular question of: "How should the Court treat Daugherty's claim in the Highland bankruptcy?" That question hinges on whether the IRS has made a "final determination" as to the 2008 Audit of Highland as well as the accompanying analysis of Daugherty's 2008 Refund (which is directly tied to Highland's 2008 tax return and related financials). Even a cursory review of Highland's adversary complaint against Daugherty confirms that the complaint is confined to those issues. The claims themselves do not hinge on recordings. Moreover, it does not legally matter if the Court finds Daugherty's decision to record conversations to be justified, paranoid, or inappropriate. Instead, all that matters is that the recordings do not contain discussions of the issues of this lawsuit, including Daugherty's counterclaim for HERA's books and records. There is no basis for the Court to find that the recordings in Daugherty's possessions are relevant to the claims and defenses of this lawsuit.

23. As to impeachment/credibility: The recordings are not discoverable as credibility or impeachment evidence against Daugherty. The best that Highland can come up with is that the recordings go to Daugherty's credibility because he recorded Seery without his knowledge or consent. This argument is flawed. Daugherty did not need Seery's consent nor did he have to inform him that he was recording the conversations. Both federal and Texas law require only one party's consent to recording a call. Taylor v. State, 555 S.W.3d 765, 776 (Tex. App.—Amarillo 2018, pet. ref'd.). Daugherty was in Texas at the time of the calls in question, and Highland has presented no evidence that a two-party consent was required. And notably, Highland itself secretly recorded a portion of an off-record conversation between Daugherty and Dondero during a break in a hearing in the main bankruptcy case without advising either of the recording when no one from Highland participated in that specific conversation. It is Seery's credibility that may be at issue, not Daugherty's.

24. Moreover, any interest Highland has in attempting to use tapes in Daugherty's possession to attack Daugherty's credibility is outweighed by the potential use of those tapes to impeach Seery for any inconsistent statements he makes in this adversary proceeding. In Ramos v. Capitan Corporation, the lone case cited by Highland in its Motion on this topic, the court did not focus on instances of recorded conversations and their discoverability, but rather on whether criminal and litigation history were admissible under Federal Rule of Evidence 509. Ramos v.

Capitan Corp., 2017 WL 1278737, at *3 (W.D. Tex. Feb. 2, 2017). The court discussed the limited scope of Rule 509 and how it applies only to evidence that would demonstrate "inconsistent statements, criminal convictions, proof of bias, or similar material." Id. (citing Charles Alan Wright & Arthur R. Miller, Federal Practice and Procedure § 2015 (3d ed. 2016)). Importantly, the court went on to state that "'courts that have 'protected impeachment evidence from disclosure have done so because the only practical way to preserve the prophylactic effect of impeachment evidence is to keep its existence as well as its contents unknown.'" Id. (quoting Chiasson v. Zapata Gulf Marine Corp., 988 F.2d 513, 516 (5th Cir. 1993)). This line of reasoning tracks with the explicit exclusions of Rule 26. In both 26(a)(1)(ii) and (3)—the rules for initial and pretrial disclosures, respectively—impeachment evidence is excluded from disclosure requirements. "Neither rule [referring to Rule 26 and Northern District of Texas Local Rules] requires disclosure or witnesses or documents that will be used only for impeachment." Eagle Railcar Services-Roscoe, Inc. v. NGL Crude Logistics, LLC, 2018 WL 2317696, at *19 (N.D. Tex. May 22, 2018).

25. What Highland seeks is production of the tapes so that they can prepare Seery for his testimony and deposition in this case so that he does not trip up. That is like letting the fox guard the hen house. Indeed, courts have dealt with discoverability of impeachment evidence by requiring the party to be impeached to commit to his position through deposition before the impeachment evidence must be produced. Martin v. Long Island R.R. Co., 63 F.R.D. 53 (E.D.N.Y. 1974); Blyther v. Northern Lines, Inc., 61 F.R.D. 610 (E.D. Pa. 1973). And that is how this Court should treat the issue: allow Daugherty to take Seery's deposition, and if there are any inconsistent statements made during the deposition, Daugherty must produce any such recordings to Highland in order to be able to use those prior inconsistent statements at trial.

WHEREFORE, Patrick Daugherty respectfully requests that the Court (a) enter an order denying Highland's Motion to Compel, and (b) grant such other and further relief as may be just and proper.

Dated: January 5, 2026.

Respectfully submitted,

HIGHLAND CAPITAL MANAGEMENT, L.P.'S REPLY IN SUPPORT OF MOTION TO COMPEL PRODUCTION OF AUDIO RECORDINGS, TRANSCRIPTS, AND RELATED DOCUMENTS

Plaintiff/Counter-Defendant Highland Capital Management, L.P., the reorganized debtor ("Highland" or the "Debtor," as applicable), by and through its undersigned counsel, hereby files this reply to Patrick Daugherty's Response to Highland's Motion to Compel [Docket No. 69] (the "Response") and in further support of its Motion to Compel Production of Audio Recordings, Transcripts, and Related Documents [Docket No. 60] (the "Motion").[2] In further support of its Motion, Highland respectfully states as follows:

I. INTRODUCTION

1. The Secret Recordings fall squarely within the scope of discoverable information under Rule 26(b), and Daugherty fails to meet his burden of demonstrating why the Secret Recordings are irrelevant or otherwise objectionable.

2. Daugherty admits he secretly recorded his conversations with Seery, as his "adverse" party, and other Highland constituents, and he does not dispute that those conversations concerned the Bankruptcy Case, Daugherty's proof of claim (including the Reserved Claim), HERA, and the Settlement Agreement. All these topics relate to or could lead to the discovery of admissible evidence that goes to the heart of the issues in this Adversary Proceeding.

3. The Secret Recordings also bear directly on Daugherty's propensity for deception and therefore his credibility as a witness. This type of evidence is plainly discoverable under Rule 26(b). Daugherty's assertion that the Secret Recordings are not discoverable if they bear on credibility is premised on Daugherty's mistaken reliance on Rule 26(a). That rule concerns initial disclosures, not the scope of discovery under Rule 26(b). And while Rule 26(a) exempts from initial disclosures evidence used solely for impeachment, Rule 26(b) has no such exemption.

[2] Capitalized terms used but not defined herein have the meanings ascribed to them in the Motion.

4. Daugherty should not be able to unilaterally determine relevancy based on secret recordings which only he possesses—particularly where he admits that he created them for the express purpose of playing a game of "gotcha." Daugherty's refusal to produce the Secret Recordings until a later time in the proceeding so that he might be able to use them to impeach Seery (based on what Daugherty asserts is "irrelevant" material) has no basis under any rule, law, or precedent. The Court should exercise its discretion, grant the Motion, and compel Daugherty to immediately disclose all Secret Recordings.[3]

II. REPLY

5. The Secret Recordings plainly fall within the broad scope of relevance under Rule 26(b)(1) because they contain information, or may lead to the discovery of admissible evidence, going to the heart of the issues in this Adversary Proceeding and shed light on Daugherty's deceptive character. Daugherty fails to meet his burden of demonstrating how the information is not relevant or otherwise objectionable. See Murillo Modular Grp., Ltd. v. Sullivan, 2016 WL 6139096, at *3 (N.D. Tex. Oct. 20, 2016).

6. Daugherty vaguely maintains that the Requested Information is somehow not relevant under the broad scope of discovery under Rule 26 because (a) the Secret Recordings do not contain information concerning the Adversary Proceeding; and (b) the Secret Recordings supposedly relate to Seery's credibility and are therefore not discoverable. Each of these assertions is meritless.

[3] Daugherty is currently scheduled to take Seery's deposition on Monday, January 19, so time is of the essence.

A. The Secret Recordings Contain Discoverable Information About the Claims and Defenses

7. As discussed in the Motion, the Secret Recordings very likely contain conversations that go to the heart of the issues in this Adversary Proceeding or could otherwise lead to the discovery of admissible evidence. Daugherty admitted in the Stalking Suit that he has multiple recordings of Seery and that these Secret Recordings took place during the Bankruptcy Case in 2022 when Daugherty was "adverse" to Seery:

> It was determined by Daugherty and his Counsel that the Recordings should be produced after it had recently percolated up for review and discussion in connection with unrelated proceedings before the Bankruptcy Court . . . where Daugherty is now adverse to Seery and [Highland] in connection with Daugherty's proof of claim.

Winograd Dec. Exhibit 1, ¶ 17; see also Winograd Dec. Exhibit 2 at 105:12-14 (Daugherty admitting under oath that, in addition to the recordings he took of Seery on May 4, 2022, Daugherty has other secret recordings between himself and Seery). Daugherty further admits in his Response that he secretly recorded various "constituents" in the Bankruptcy Case, including Seery, because of "bitterness" and that such recordings are "conversations about Highland, HERA, Dondero (the former Highland CEO and founding partner), Okada (a former Highland founding partner), Ellington (the former Highland CEO), Leventon (the former Highland in-house litigator) and other ancillary litigation and miscellaneous other issues." Response ¶ 18. Daugherty also now admits that, notwithstanding several meet-and-confer calls with Highland's counsel regarding these discovery disputes, his counsel has "re-reviewed the audio recordings … and determined that one of the recordings contains a limited discussion of Daugherty's requests to Seery about HERA's books and records." Response ¶ 1 n. 2.

8. There is no dispute that since they first met in 2020 in connection with Highland's bankruptcy case, Daugherty's communications with Seery and other Highland personnel were limited to issues concerning the Bankruptcy Case, including the Reserved Claim, the Counterclaim, the Settlement Agreement, and HERA matters. The conversations Daugherty secretly recorded of Seery or Highland's other personnel or constituents are plainly relevant to the claims and defenses asserted in the Adversary Proceeding and were made by Daugherty for potential use in future litigation such as this.

9. The Secret Recordings indisputably concern issues arising in the Bankruptcy Case among adverse parties. Moreover, Daugherty does not contend that production of the Secret Recordings would be burdensome or implicate any privilege issues. Accordingly, Daugherty fails to meet his burden of demonstrating that the Secret Recordings lack relevance or that the potential harm caused by disclosure "outweighs the ordinary presumption in favor of disclosure." Kinney v. Select Portfolio Servs., 2015 WL 7871044, at *2 (S.D. Tex. Dec. 3, 2015); see also Orchestratehr, Inc. v. Trombetta, 178 F. Supp. 3d 476, 506 (N.D. Tex 2016) (same).

10. Under the circumstances, the Secret Recordings come within the broad scope of relevance under Rule 26(b), and Daugherty should be compelled to disclose them.[4]

B. Information About Credibility Is Relevant and Discoverable Under Rule 26(b)(1)

11. Daugherty fails to demonstrate that Highland is not entitled to obtain the Secret Recordings as evidence of Daugherty's credibility. Courts have routinely held that information bearing on a party's credibility falls within the broad scope of discovery under Rule 26(b)(1). See, e.g., Behler v. Hanlon, 199 F.R.D. 553, 561 (D. Md. 2001) ("[F]acts bearing on the credibility of witnesses are relevant to the claims and defenses raised by the pleadings."); Newsome v. Penske Truck Leasing Corp., 437 F. Supp. 2d 431, 436-37 (D. Md. 2006) (noting that "[a] party must disclose impeachment evidence in response to a specific discovery request," and "the federal rules promote broad disclosure during discovery so each party can evaluate the strength of its evidence and chances of success. This makes a trial less of a game of blind man's bluff and more of a fair contest.") (internal quotations omitted).

[4] Indeed, even if certain evidence discovered pursuant to the Requests may ultimately prove to be inadmissible, "[i]nformation within this scope of discovery need not be admissible in evidence to be discoverable." FED. R. CIV. P. 26(b)(1).

12. "This is because the information sought relates to the credibility of a witness whose testimony will be directed towards important issues in the case." Behler, 199 F.R.D. at 555. "Impeachment evidence is thus discoverable when relevant – in other words, when 'disclosure may reveal information affecting the credence afforded to a witness' trial testimony.'" Murillo, 2016 WL 6139096, at *9 (quoting Davidson Pipe Co. v. Laventhol and Horwath, 120 F.R.D. 455, 462 (S.D.N.Y. 2010)).

13. Daugherty's reliance on Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 26(a) in support of his argument that credibility or impeachment evidence need not be produced is misplaced. See Response ¶¶ 24. Rule 26(a) addresses a party's obligation to automatically disclose certain discovery, not the scope of discovery. See FED. R. CIV. P. 26(a)(1) and (3); see also Driscoll v. Castellanos, 2020 WL 7711869, at *7 (D.N.M. Dec. 29, 2020) ("Rule 26(a) is concerned with automatic disclosure of materials, not the scope of discovery.") (internal quotations omitted).

14. Although Rule 26(a) excepts from the parties' initial disclosure obligations information "solely for impeachment purposes," Rule 26(b) provides no similar exception. Compare FED. R. CIV. P. 26(a)(1)(B), (a)(3), with FED. R. CIV. P. 26(b)(1); see also Murillo, 2016 WL 6139096, at *9 ("Although the rules pertaining to initial and pretrial disclosures allows a party to withhold impeachment evidence, see FED. R. CIV. P. 26(a)(1) and (3), the rules regarding the discovery of evidence, see FED. R. CIV. P. 26(b), do not preclude impeachment materials from being subject to a discovery request.") (internal quotations omitted); Baker, 2021 WL 3378839, at *3 (rejecting defendants' arguments that discovery relating to impeachment need not be produced in response to a discovery request, noting that defendants' reliance on Rule 26(a) is "misplaced"); Papadakis v. CSX Transp., Inc., 233 F.R.D. 227, 228 (D. Mass. 2006) ("Rule 26(a) is concerned with automatic disclosure of materials, not the scope of discovery. . . . In contrast, Rule 26(b) governs the scope of discovery and does not exempt impeachment materials.") (internal quotations omitted); Castellanos, 2020 WL 7711869, at *7 ("Defendants appear to have mistakenly conflated their disclosure obligations with the scope of discovery. Defendants are correct that Rule 26(a) does not require them to automatically disclose pure impeachment evidence. . . . Nevertheless, such evidence is discoverable if it satisfies the requirements of Rule 26(b)(1) and is not otherwise privileged or protected."); Karr v. Four Seasons Mar., Ltd., 2004 WL 797728, at *1 (E.D. La. Apr. 12, 2004) ("[N]othing in the Federal Rules permits a party to refuse to produce impeachment evidence that is responsive to an opponent's discovery requests. The only basis for withholding such evidence is found in Rule 26(a)(1) and (3). However, Rule 26(a) governs disclosures only, not discovery.").

15. Here, the Requests are not premised on the automatic disclosure requirements of Rule 26(a). Rather, Highland seeks the Secret Recordings pursuant to its written discovery Requests made under Rule 26(b). The Secret Recordings satisfy the broad scope of discovery under Rule 26(b)(1), which includes impeachment material, and are not otherwise privileged or protected. The Secret Recordings speak directly to Daugherty's credibility as a witness since they demonstrate Daugherty's propensity for deception.[5] The recordings also contain statements that Daugherty said to Seery that could undermine Daugherty's credibility as a witness to the extent Daugherty's statements in those recordings are inconsistent with his current position. Daugherty's

[5] Amazingly, it appears that Daugherty made or continued to make Secret Recording after he had been credibly sued for stalking and invasion of privacy in January 2022. See Daugherty v. Ellington, No. 05-22-00991-CV (Tex. App.—Dallas, Jan. 17, 2024) (affirming temporary injunction against Daugherty based on evidence supporting invasion of privacy).

Secret Recordings—which contain conversations that go to the heart of the issues in this matter and show Daugherty's propensity for deception—are plainly discoverable under the broad scope of Rule 26(b)(1).

16. Daugherty's reliance on Eagle Railcar Services-Roscoe, Inc. v. NGL Crude Logistics, LLC, 2018 WL 2317696 (N.D. Tex. May 22, 2018), is misguided as that case dealt only with whether impeachment evidence is subject to initial disclosure under Rule 26(a), which again, is not applicable here. Daugherty's remaining case cites do not support his argument and are inapplicable. See Martin v. Long Island R.R. Co., 63 F.R.D. 53, 55 (E.D.N.Y. 1974) (granting motion to inspect photographs and movies before trial to allow counsel to effectively prepare for trial in FELA[6] case); Blyther v. N. Lines, Inc., 61 F.R.D. 610 (E.D. Pa. 1973) (dealing with the extent to which a plaintiff may obtain surveillance films from defendant in a personal injury action before plaintiff's deposition).

17. Daugherty's contention that secretly recording Seery without his knowledge or consent was legal (see Motion ¶ 23) is irrelevant for present purposes. Whether Daugherty's secret and malicious recording of Seery without his knowledge or consent was legal (which Highland does not concede it was) has no bearing on whether this evidence is relevant and discoverable under Rule 26(b) and is not at issue in this Adversary Proceeding.[7]

18. Daugherty insists on concealing the supposedly "irrelevant" recordings to see if he can spring them on Highland at a later date in this proceeding. See Response ¶ 25 (Daugherty stating that "if there are any inconsistent statements made during [Seery's] deposition, Daugherty

[6] Refers to Federal Employers' Liability Act.

[7] Although Daugherty baldly asserts that the telephone recording are legal because he was supposedly in Texas when he made them, Seery could have been in any number of places when he was secretly recorded, and secret telephone recordings are illegal in many jurisdictions to which Seery travels, including Connecticut where he has been frequently located throughout the Bankruptcy Case.

must produce any such recordings to Highland in order to be able to use those prior inconsistent statements at trial."). But for the reasons discussed, Daugherty's refusal to disclose this relevant, non-privileged information simply because Daugherty wishes to later use it to attack Seery's credibility is not permitted under the Federal Rules. See Baker, 2021 WL 3378839, at *4 ("The Court further rejects Defendants' argument that the discovery need not be produced if it will only be used for impeachment purposes at trial. Rule 26(b)(1) is defined by the claims and defenses in a case and not by a party's understanding of the nature or weight of the evidence."); Varga v. Rockwell Int'l Corp., 242 F.3d 693, 697 (6th Cir. 2001) ("[T]he recipient of a properly propounded document request must produce all responsive, non-privileged documents without regard to the recipient's view of how that information might be used at trial. A party may not, under any circumstances, hold back materials responsive to a proper discovery request because it prefers to use the evidence as surprise impeachment evidence at trial.").

19. The Secret Recordings are plainly relevant and discoverable under Rule 26(b)(1). Accordingly, the Court should exercise its broad discretion and require the disclosure of the Secret Recordings.

CONCLUSION

WHEREFORE, Highland respectfully requests that the Court (a) grant the Motion and (b) grant any other relief that the Court deems just and proper.

AGREED PROTECTIVE ORDER CONCERNING SUBPOENA TO THIRD-PARTY HUNTON ANDREWS KURTH LLP

[1] Highland's last four digits of its taxpayer identification number are (8357). The headquarters and service address for Highland is 6333 E. Mockingbird Lane, Suite 147 #5045, Dallas, TX 75214.

Plaintiff/Counter-Defendant Highland Capital Management, L.P. ("Plaintiff") and Defendant/Counter-Plaintiff Patrick Hagaman Daugherty ("Defendant" or "Daugherty") (collectively, the "Parties") anticipate that, pursuant to a subpoena issued by Plaintiff and served upon third-party Hunton Andrews Kurth LLP ("Hunton") on or about December 19, 2025 (the "Subpoena"), Hunton will produce certain Hunton Protected Material (as hereinafter defined) during the course of discovery in the above-captioned adversary proceeding (collectively, the "Action").[2] To facilitate production of the Hunton Protected Material, the Parties stipulate to and request that, pursuant to Rule 26(c) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, this Court enter this Agreed Protective Order Concerning Documents Produced by Hunton ("Protective Order"), setting forth the conditions for obtaining, treating, and using subpoenaed Hunton Protected Material.

1. PURPOSES AND LIMITATIONS

(a) Hunton Protected Material shall be used solely for the purpose of prosecuting claims and asserting defenses in the Action. Plaintiff and Defendant shall hold Hunton Protected Material in confidence in accordance with the terms and conditions set forth in this Protective Order. Hunton Protected Material shall not be used for any other purpose, and shall not be used or shown, disseminated, copied, or otherwise disclosed to anyone not entitled to such Hunton Protected Material as herein provided. Plaintiff and Defendant each shall take reasonable steps to limit access to Hunton Protected Material to those persons entitled to review it in accordance with the terms of

[2] Capitalized terms used and not defined herein have the meanings ascribed to such terms in the Subpoena.

this Protective Order.

(b) The Parties acknowledge that the protection the Protective Order affords from public disclosure and use extends only to the specific Hunton Protected Material produced by Hunton to Plaintiff in this Action, except to the extent this Protective Order is modified at a later date.

2. DEFINITIONS

(a) "Outside Counsel" means (i) outside counsel for a Party or its affiliates, as applicable, and (ii) partners, principals, counsel, associates, employees, and contract attorneys of such counsel to whom it is reasonably necessary to disclose the information in connection with the Action, including supporting personnel employed by the attorneys, such as paralegals, legal translators, legal secretaries, legal clerks and any copying or clerical litigation support services working at the direction of such counsel, paralegals, and staff.

(b) "Outside Expert or Consultant" means a person retained by Outside Counsel to serve as an expert witness or a litigation consultant in the Action (including any necessary support personnel of such person to whom disclosure is reasonably necessary for this litigation), and who is not a current employee of a Party.

(c) "Party" means any party to this Action, their respective affiliates and related entities, and its and their respective officers, directors (including, without limitation, any members of the Highland Claimant Trust Oversight Board), trustees (including, without limitation, the trustees of the Highland Claimant Trust), administrators (including, without limitation, the indemnity trust administrator of the Highland Indemnity Trust), employees, consultants, agents, retained experts, and Outside Counsel and their support staffs.

(d) "Hunton Protected Material" means all Documents Hunton produces pursuant to the Subpoena that Hunton designates in writing or marks on the Document as Hunton Protected Material, which may include the following Documents and information, in each case, to the extent produced by or on behalf of Hunton to Plaintiff in this Action, all information contained therein, and all copies thereof: (i) Hunton's Communications with the Internal Revenue Service ("IRS," which shall include IRS Independent Office of Appeals and its employees and agents), including all attachments to the Communications, Concerning the 2008 Audit; and (ii) Hunton's Communications with Defendant, if produced, Concerning a substantive aspect of the IRS or Hunton's (on behalf of its client) thoughts, opinions, work product, positions, or arguments for the 2008 Audit, including all attachments to such Communications; provided, that, notwithstanding anything in this Protective Order to the contrary, "Hunton Protected Material" shall not include any information that is independently developed by Plaintiff or Defendant without use or reference to any Hunton Protected Material.

(e) "Hunton Counsel" means Hunton's undersigned counsel signing in consent of this Protective Order or Hunton's substitute counsel whom Hunton designates to the Parties' Outside Counsel.

(f) "Third Parties" means persons, organizations or entities who are not Plaintiff or Defendant in this Action.

3. SCOPE

(a) The protections conferred by this Protective Order apply to all Hunton Protected Material and any documents or information directly extracted therefrom, as well as all copies, excerpts, summaries, or compilations thereof, plus testimony, conversations, or presentations by Parties or their counsel in court that might reveal Hunton Protected Material.

(b) Nothing in this Protective Order shall prevent or restrict Plaintiff or Defendant's disclosure or use for any purpose of their separately owned documents that otherwise may be contained in or be a part of produced Hunton Protected Material.

(c) Nothing in this Protective Order shall be construed to prejudice any Party's right to use any Hunton Protected Material in any filing in the Action, provided the Party complies with the Protective Order and applicable rules regarding the filing of documents under seal.

4. ACCESS TO AND USE OF HUNTON PROTECTED MATERIAL

(a) Basic Principles. Hunton Protected Material shall be used as set forth herein below, and such use shall be solely for the purpose of prosecuting or defending any claims or defenses asserted in the Action or any related appellate proceeding. Hunton Protected Material shall not be distributed, disclosed, or made available to any persons, organizations or entities except as expressly provided in this Protective Order.

(b) Secure Storage. Hunton Protected Material shall be maintained by the Parties and their respective Outside Counsel and Outside Expert or Consultants (collectively, "Protectors") using a degree of care that is no less stringent than that used to protect Plaintiff and Defendant's own confidential information of a similar nature, which in any event, shall be no less than a reasonable degree of care, and Protectors shall take reasonable measures to protect the secrecy, and prevent any disclosure, of Hunton Protected Material in violation of this Protective Order. For the avoidance of doubt, the Parties acknowledge and agree that Hunton Protected Material may be stored and maintained on the Parties' data management systems and cloud-based services managed and maintained by Third Parties, and Hunton Protected Material may be transmitted to and from the Parties' respective email systems and the email addresses of their representatives.

(c) Legal Advice Based on Hunton Protected Material. Subject to the restrictions of Section 5(b) above, this Protective Order does not prevent counsel from advising their clients with respect to the Action based in whole or in part upon any Hunton Protected Material, provided counsel does not disclose Hunton Protected Material except as permitted by this Protective Order.

(d) Third Party Discovery. Nothing in this Protective Order shall limit or impair the ability of any Party to obtain and use Third Party discovery obtained from a Third Party other than Hunton. Nothing in this Protective Order shall limit or impair Defendant's right to seek a protective order concerning any material produced by any third party in discovery in the Action that contains Defendant's tax or financial information.

(e) This Protective Order is without prejudice to the right of any Party, the IRS, Hunton or Hunton's clients to seek further or additional protection of any Hunton

Protected Material or to modify this Protective Order in any way upon reasonable notice to all Parties, including to seek a protective order for any non-Hunton Protected Material produced by Hunton in response to the Subpoena.

5. ADDITIONAL PROVISIONS RELATING TO HUNTON PROTECTED MATERIAL

(a) Testimony given in deposition and in other pretrial or trial proceeding that specifically references Hunton Protected Material shall be indicated on the record as covered by this Protective Order. Only those portions of testimony that are appropriately designated shall be covered by this Protective Order.

(b) The use of a document as an exhibit at a deposition shall not affect its designation as Hunton Protected Material. Hunton Protected Material used during a deposition shall remain subject to the provisions of this Protective Order.

(c) Transcripts containing Hunton Protected Material shall have a conspicuous legend on the title page that the transcript contains Hunton Protected Material. If the deposition is videotaped, the original and all copies of the videotape shall be marked by the video technician to indicate that the contents of the videotape are subject to this Protective Order, substantially along the lines of "This videotape contains confidential testimony and is not to be viewed or the contents thereof to be displayed or revealed except pursuant to the terms of this Protective Order in this matter or pursuant to written stipulation of the Parties and Hunton."

6. NOTICE OF DISCLOSURE

Before an Outside Expert or Consultant may receive Hunton Protected Material, the Outside Expert or Consultant must sign the "Agreement to Be Bound by this Protective Order" (Exhibit A), a copy of which shall be provided to the Parties and Hunton's Counsel at the time the Parties must designate testifying experts under the scheduling order in the Action.

7. SUBPOENAS OR COURT ORDERS

If Hunton Protected Material is subpoenaed by any non-party to the Action, court, arbitral, administrative, or legislative body, the subpoenaed Party (or its Outside Counsel or Outside Expert or Consultant, as the case may be) shall give prompt written notice thereof to the other Party, its Outside Counsel, and to Hunton Counsel. If Hunton does not take steps to prevent disclosure of such documents within seven (7) days of the date written notice is given, the subpoenaed Party may produce such Hunton Protected Material in response thereto, but shall take reasonable measures to have such documents treated in accordance with terms of this Protective Order.

8. FILING PROTECTED MATERIAL

(a) Absent written permission from Hunton or a court order secured after reasonable notice to Hunton, a Party may not file in the public record any Hunton Protected Material.

(b) A Party is authorized under applicable rules to file, describe, or refer to Hunton Protected Material under seal in the Action.

9. INADVERTENT FAILURE TO DESIGNATE PROPERLY

The inadvertent failure by Hunton to designate Hunton Protected Material shall not waive the protections afforded under this Protective Order; provided that Hunton notifies the Parties that such Hunton Protected Material is protected under this Protective Order within seven (7) days of Hunton learning of the inadvertent failure to designate. Hunton shall reproduce the Protected Material with a designation within seven (7) days upon its notification to the Parties.

10. INADVERTENT DISCLOSURE NOT AUTHORIZED BY ORDER

(a) In the event of a disclosure of Hunton Protected Material to any person or persons not authorized to receive such disclosure under this Protective Order, the disclosing Protector shall promptly notify Outside Counsel for the non-disclosing Party and Hunton's Counsel and provide to such counsel all known relevant information concerning the nature and circumstances of the disclosure. The disclosing Protector shall also promptly take reasonable measures to retrieve the unauthorized disclosed Hunton Protected Material and to take reasonable steps to prevent any further unauthorized disclosure of Hunton Protected Material.

(b) In addition to subsection (a) above, the disclosing Protector shall also use reasonable efforts to seek to bind such person or party to the terms of this Protective Order and (a) such person shall be informed promptly of all the provisions of this Protective Order by and asked to return the information; (b) such person shall be identified to Hunton Counsel; and (c) the person to whom disclosure was made shall be requested to sign Exhibit A hereto. Nothing in this Paragraph shall affect Hunton's remedies under this Protective Order or otherwise for such unauthorized disclosure.

(c) A Protector's unauthorized or inadvertent disclosure does not change the status of Hunton Protected Material or waive the right to hold the disclosed document or information as Hunton Protected Material.

11. FINAL DISPOSITION

Unless otherwise ordered or agreed to in writing by Hunton, within sixty (60) days after a final termination of this Action by settlement or exhaustion of all appeals ("Final Disposition"), all Parties and Protectors in receipt of Hunton Protected Material shall exercise reasonable efforts to either return all such materials and copies thereof to Hunton or destroy such Hunton Protected Material and certify that fact in writing to Hunton's Counsel. Protectors' reasonable efforts shall not require the return or destruction of Hunton Protected Material that (i) is stored on backup storage media made in accordance with regular data backup procedures for disaster recovery purposes and is overwritten in the normal course of business or (ii) is subject to legal hold obligations. Counsel for the Parties shall be entitled to retain copies of court papers (and exhibits thereto), correspondence, pleadings, deposition and trial transcripts (and exhibits thereto), expert reports and attorney work product that contain or refer to Hunton Protected Material, provided that such counsel and employees of such counsel shall not disclose such Hunton Protected Material to any person, except pursuant to Court order. Nothing shall be interpreted in a manner that would violate any applicable canons of ethics or codes of professional responsibility.

12. DEPOSITION OF HUNTON

After production of Hunton documents, the Parties and Hunton shall confer in attempt to reach agreement about any deposition of Hunton pursuant to the Subpoena ("Hunton Deposition") in terms of necessity, date, time, manner, length, and topic limitations, and each reserves its rights and objections regarding protection against or compelling of such for a Hunton Deposition.

13. MISCELLANEOUS

(a) Right to Further Relief. Nothing in this Protective Order abridges the right of any person to seek its modification by this Court on reasonable notice. By stipulating to this Protective Order, the Parties and Hunton do not waive the right to argue that certain material may require additional or different confidentiality protections than those set forth herein.

(b) Termination of Matter and Retention of Jurisdiction. The Parties agree that the terms of this Protective Order shall survive and remain in effect after the Final Disposition of this Action. The Court shall retain jurisdiction after Final Disposition of this Action to hear and resolve any disputes arising out of this Protective Order.

(c) Successors. This Protective Order shall be binding upon the Parties hereto, their attorneys, and their successors, executors, personal representatives, administrators, heirs, legal representatives, assigns, subsidiaries, divisions, employees, agents, retained consultants and experts, and any persons or organizations over which they have direct control.

(d) Right to Assert Other Objections. By stipulating to the entry of this Protective Order, no Party nor Hunton waives any right it otherwise would have to object to disclosing or producing any information or item. Similarly, no Party nor Hunton waives any right to object on any ground to use in evidence of any of the material covered by this Protective Order.

(e) Burdens of Proof. Notwithstanding anything to the contrary above, nothing in this Protective Order shall be construed to change the burdens of proof or legal standards applicable in disputes regarding whether particular Hunton Protected Material is confidential, whether disclosure should be restricted, and if so, what restrictions should apply.

(f) Modification by Court. This Protective Order is subject to further court order based upon public policy or other considerations, and this Court may modify this Protective Order sua sponte in the interests of justice. The United States Bankruptcy Court for the Northern District of Texas is responsible for the interpretation and enforcement of this Protective Order. All disputes concerning Hunton Protected Material, however designated, produced under the protection of this Protective Order shall be resolved by the United States Bankruptcy Court for the Northern District of Texas.

(g) Discovery Rules Remain Unchanged. Nothing herein shall alter or change in any way the discovery provisions of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, the Local Rules for the United States Bankruptcy Court for the Northern District of Texas, or this Court's own orders. Identification of any individual pursuant to this Protective Order does not make that individual available for deposition or any other form of discovery outside of the restrictions and procedures of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, the Local Rules for the United States Bankruptcy Court for the Northern District of Texas, or this Court's own orders.

(h) Attorneys and witnesses are prohibited from arguing or implying at trial that a witness for a Party should have or could have received or reviewed information protected by this Order if this Order prohibits that witness from receiving or reviewing such information.

AGREED PROTECTIVE ORDER CONCERNING SUBPOENA TO THIRD-PARTY HUNTON ANDREWS KURTH LLP

[1] Highland's last four digits of its taxpayer identification number are (8357). The headquarters and service address for Highland is 6333 E. Mockingbird Lane, Suite 147 #5045, Dallas, TX 75214.

Plaintiff/Counter-Defendant Highland Capital Management, L.P. ("Plaintiff") and Defendant/Counter-Plaintiff Patrick Hagaman Daugherty ("Defendant" or "Daugherty") (collectively, the "Parties") anticipate that, pursuant to a subpoena issued by Plaintiff and served upon third-party Hunton Andrews Kurth LLP ("Hunton") on or about December 19, 2025 (the "Subpoena"), Hunton will produce certain Hunton Protected Material (as hereinafter defined) during the course of discovery in the above-captioned adversary proceeding (collectively, the "Action").[2] To facilitate production of the Hunton Protected Material, the Parties stipulate to and request that, pursuant to Rule 26(c) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, this Court enter this Agreed Protective Order Concerning Documents Produced by Hunton ("Protective Order"), setting forth the conditions for obtaining, treating, and using subpoenaed Hunton Protected Material.

1. PURPOSES AND LIMITATIONS

(a) Hunton Protected Material shall be used solely for the purpose of prosecuting claims and asserting defenses in the Action. Plaintiff and Defendant shall hold Hunton Protected Material in confidence in accordance with the terms and conditions set forth in this Protective Order. Hunton Protected Material shall not be used for any other purpose, and shall not be used or shown, disseminated, copied, or otherwise disclosed to anyone not entitled to such Hunton Protected Material as herein provided. Plaintiff and Defendant each shall take reasonable steps to limit access to Hunton Protected Material to those persons entitled to review it in accordance with the terms of

[2] Capitalized terms used and not defined herein have the meanings ascribed to such terms in the Subpoena.

this Protective Order.

(b) The Parties acknowledge that the protection the Protective Order affords from public disclosure and use extends only to the specific Hunton Protected Material produced by Hunton to Plaintiff in this Action, except to the extent this Protective Order is modified at a later date.

2. DEFINITIONS

(a) "Outside Counsel" means (i) outside counsel for a Party or its affiliates, as applicable, and (ii) partners, principals, counsel, associates, employees, and contract attorneys of such counsel to whom it is reasonably necessary to disclose the information in connection with the Action, including supporting personnel employed by the attorneys, such as paralegals, legal translators, legal secretaries, legal clerks and any copying or clerical litigation support services working at the direction of such counsel, paralegals, and staff.

(b) "Outside Expert or Consultant" means a person retained by Outside Counsel to serve as an expert witness or a litigation consultant in the Action (including any necessary support personnel of such person to whom disclosure is reasonably necessary for this litigation), and who is not a current employee of a Party.

(c) "Party" means any party to this Action, their respective affiliates and related entities, and its and their respective officers, directors (including, without limitation, any members of the Highland Claimant Trust Oversight Board), trustees (including, without limitation, the trustees of the Highland Claimant Trust), administrators (including, without limitation, the indemnity trust administrator of the Highland Indemnity Trust), employees, consultants, agents, retained experts, and Outside Counsel and their support staffs.

(d) "Hunton Protected Material" means all Documents Hunton produces pursuant to the Subpoena that Hunton designates in writing or marks on the Document as Hunton Protected Material, which may include the following Documents and information, in each case, to the extent produced by or on behalf of Hunton to Plaintiff in this Action, all information contained therein, and all copies thereof: (i) Hunton's Communications with the Internal Revenue Service ("IRS," which shall include IRS Independent Office of Appeals and its employees and agents), including all attachments to the Communications, Concerning the 2008 Audit; and (ii) Hunton's Communications with Defendant, if produced, Concerning a substantive aspect of the IRS or Hunton's (on behalf of its client) thoughts, opinions, work product, positions, or arguments for the 2008 Audit, including all attachments to such Communications; provided, that, notwithstanding anything in this Protective Order to the contrary, "Hunton Protected Material" shall not include any information that is independently developed by Plaintiff or Defendant without use or reference to any Hunton Protected Material.

(e) "Hunton Counsel" means Hunton's undersigned counsel signing in consent of this Protective Order or Hunton's substitute counsel whom Hunton designates to the Parties' Outside Counsel.

(f) "Third Parties" means persons, organizations or entities who are not Plaintiff or Defendant in this Action.

3. SCOPE

(a) The protections conferred by this Protective Order apply to all Hunton Protected Material and any documents or information directly extracted therefrom, as well as all copies, excerpts, summaries, or compilations thereof, plus testimony, conversations, or presentations by Parties or their counsel in court that might reveal Hunton Protected Material.

(b) Nothing in this Protective Order shall prevent or restrict Plaintiff or Defendant's disclosure or use for any purpose of their separately owned documents that otherwise may be contained in or be a part of produced Hunton Protected Material.

(c) Nothing in this Protective Order shall be construed to prejudice any Party's right to use any Hunton Protected Material in any filing in the Action, provided the Party complies with the Protective Order and applicable rules regarding the filing of documents under seal.

4. ACCESS TO AND USE OF HUNTON PROTECTED MATERIAL

(a) Basic Principles. Hunton Protected Material shall be used as set forth herein below, and such use shall be solely for the purpose of prosecuting or defending any claims or defenses asserted in the Action or any related appellate proceeding. Hunton Protected Material shall not be distributed, disclosed, or made available to any persons, organizations or entities except as expressly provided in this Protective Order.

(b) Secure Storage. Hunton Protected Material shall be maintained by the Parties and their respective Outside Counsel and Outside Expert or Consultants (collectively, "Protectors") using a degree of care that is no less stringent than that used to protect Plaintiff and Defendant's own confidential information of a similar nature, which in any event, shall be no less than a reasonable degree of care, and Protectors shall take reasonable measures to protect the secrecy, and prevent any disclosure, of Hunton Protected Material in violation of this Protective Order. For the avoidance of doubt, the Parties acknowledge and agree that Hunton Protected Material may be stored and maintained on the Parties' data management systems and cloud-based services managed and maintained by Third Parties, and Hunton Protected Material may be transmitted to and from the Parties' respective email systems and the email addresses of their representatives.

(c) Legal Advice Based on Hunton Protected Material. Subject to the restrictions of Section 5(b) above, this Protective Order does not prevent counsel from advising their clients with respect to the Action based in whole or in part upon any Hunton Protected Material, provided counsel does not disclose Hunton Protected Material except as permitted by this Protective Order.

(d) Third Party Discovery. Nothing in this Protective Order shall limit or impair the ability of any Party to obtain and use Third Party discovery obtained from a Third Party other than Hunton. Nothing in this Protective Order shall limit or impair Defendant's right to seek a protective order concerning any material produced by any third party in discovery in the Action that contains Defendant's tax or financial information.

(e) This Protective Order is without prejudice to the right of any Party, the IRS, Hunton or Hunton's clients to seek further or additional protection of any Hunton

Protected Material or to modify this Protective Order in any way upon reasonable notice to all Parties, including to seek a protective order for any non-Hunton Protected Material produced by Hunton in response to the Subpoena.

5. ADDITIONAL PROVISIONS RELATING TO HUNTON PROTECTED MATERIAL

(a) Testimony given in deposition and in other pretrial or trial proceeding that specifically references Hunton Protected Material shall be indicated on the record as covered by this Protective Order. Only those portions of testimony that are appropriately designated shall be covered by this Protective Order.

(b) The use of a document as an exhibit at a deposition shall not affect its designation as Hunton Protected Material. Hunton Protected Material used during a deposition shall remain subject to the provisions of this Protective Order.

(c) Transcripts containing Hunton Protected Material shall have a conspicuous legend on the title page that the transcript contains Hunton Protected Material. If the deposition is videotaped, the original and all copies of the videotape shall be marked by the video technician to indicate that the contents of the videotape are subject to this Protective Order, substantially along the lines of "This videotape contains confidential testimony and is not to be viewed or the contents thereof to be displayed or revealed except pursuant to the terms of this Protective Order in this matter or pursuant to written stipulation of the Parties and Hunton."

6. NOTICE OF DISCLOSURE

Before an Outside Expert or Consultant may receive Hunton Protected Material, the Outside Expert or Consultant must sign the "Agreement to Be Bound by this Protective Order" (Exhibit A), a copy of which shall be provided to the Parties and Hunton's Counsel at the time the Parties must designate testifying experts under the scheduling order in the Action.

7. SUBPOENAS OR COURT ORDERS

If Hunton Protected Material is subpoenaed by any non-party to the Action, court, arbitral, administrative, or legislative body, the subpoenaed Party (or its Outside Counsel or Outside Expert or Consultant, as the case may be) shall give prompt written notice thereof to the other Party, its Outside Counsel, and to Hunton Counsel. If Hunton does not take steps to prevent disclosure of such documents within seven (7) days of the date written notice is given, the subpoenaed Party may produce such Hunton Protected Material in response thereto, but shall take reasonable measures to have such documents treated in accordance with terms of this Protective Order.

8. FILING PROTECTED MATERIAL

(a) Absent written permission from Hunton or a court order secured after reasonable notice to Hunton, a Party may not file in the public record any Hunton Protected Material.

(b) A Party is authorized under applicable rules to file, describe, or refer to Hunton Protected Material under seal in the Action.

9. INADVERTENT FAILURE TO DESIGNATE PROPERLY

The inadvertent failure by Hunton to designate Hunton Protected Material shall not waive the protections afforded under this Protective Order; provided that Hunton notifies the Parties that such Hunton Protected Material is protected under this Protective Order within seven (7) days of Hunton learning of the inadvertent failure to designate. Hunton shall reproduce the Protected Material with a designation within seven (7) days upon its notification to the Parties.

10. INADVERTENT DISCLOSURE NOT AUTHORIZED BY ORDER

(a) In the event of a disclosure of Hunton Protected Material to any person or persons not authorized to receive such disclosure under this Protective Order, the disclosing Protector shall promptly notify Outside Counsel for the non-disclosing Party and Hunton's Counsel and provide to such counsel all known relevant information concerning the nature and circumstances of the disclosure. The disclosing Protector shall also promptly take reasonable measures to retrieve the unauthorized disclosed Hunton Protected Material and to take reasonable steps to prevent any further unauthorized disclosure of Hunton Protected Material.

(b) In addition to subsection (a) above, the disclosing Protector shall also use reasonable efforts to seek to bind such person or party to the terms of this Protective Order and (a) such person shall be informed promptly of all the provisions of this Protective Order by and asked to return the information; (b) such person shall be identified to Hunton Counsel; and (c) the person to whom disclosure was made shall be requested to sign Exhibit A hereto. Nothing in this Paragraph shall affect Hunton's remedies under this Protective Order or otherwise for such unauthorized disclosure.

(c) A Protector's unauthorized or inadvertent disclosure does not change the status of Hunton Protected Material or waive the right to hold the disclosed document or information as Hunton Protected Material.

11. FINAL DISPOSITION

Unless otherwise ordered or agreed to in writing by Hunton, within sixty (60) days after a final termination of this Action by settlement or exhaustion of all appeals ("Final Disposition"), all Parties and Protectors in receipt of Hunton Protected Material shall exercise reasonable efforts to either return all such materials and copies thereof to Hunton or destroy such Hunton Protected Material and certify that fact in writing to Hunton's Counsel. Protectors' reasonable efforts shall not require the return or destruction of Hunton Protected Material that (i) is stored on backup storage media made in accordance with regular data backup procedures for disaster recovery purposes and is overwritten in the normal course of business or (ii) is subject to legal hold obligations. Counsel for the Parties shall be entitled to retain copies of court papers (and exhibits thereto), correspondence, pleadings, deposition and trial transcripts (and exhibits thereto), expert reports and attorney work product that contain or refer to Hunton Protected Material, provided that such counsel and employees of such counsel shall not disclose such Hunton Protected Material to any person, except pursuant to Court order. Nothing shall be interpreted in a manner that would violate any applicable canons of ethics or codes of professional responsibility.

12. DEPOSITION OF HUNTON

After production of Hunton documents, the Parties and Hunton shall confer in attempt to reach agreement about any deposition of Hunton pursuant to the Subpoena ("Hunton Deposition") in terms of necessity, date, time, manner, length, and topic limitations, and each reserves its rights and objections regarding protection against or compelling of such for a Hunton Deposition.

13. MISCELLANEOUS

(a) Right to Further Relief. Nothing in this Protective Order abridges the right of any person to seek its modification by this Court on reasonable notice. By stipulating to this Protective Order, the Parties and Hunton do not waive the right to argue that certain material may require additional or different confidentiality protections than those set forth herein.

(b) Termination of Matter and Retention of Jurisdiction. The Parties agree that the terms of this Protective Order shall survive and remain in effect after the Final Disposition of this Action. The Court shall retain jurisdiction after Final Disposition of this Action to hear and resolve any disputes arising out of this Protective Order.

(c) Successors. This Protective Order shall be binding upon the Parties hereto, their attorneys, and their successors, executors, personal representatives, administrators, heirs, legal representatives, assigns, subsidiaries, divisions, employees, agents, retained consultants and experts, and any persons or organizations over which they have direct control.

(d) Right to Assert Other Objections. By stipulating to the entry of this Protective Order, no Party nor Hunton waives any right it otherwise would have to object to disclosing or producing any information or item. Similarly, no Party nor Hunton waives any right to object on any ground to use in evidence of any of the material covered by this Protective Order.

(e) Burdens of Proof. Notwithstanding anything to the contrary above, nothing in this Protective Order shall be construed to change the burdens of proof or legal standards applicable in disputes regarding whether particular Hunton Protected Material is confidential, whether disclosure should be restricted, and if so, what restrictions should apply.

(f) Modification by Court. This Protective Order is subject to further court order based upon public policy or other considerations, and this Court may modify this Protective Order sua sponte in the interests of justice. The United States Bankruptcy Court for the Northern District of Texas is responsible for the interpretation and enforcement of this Protective Order. All disputes concerning Hunton Protected Material, however designated, produced under the protection of this Protective Order shall be resolved by the United States Bankruptcy Court for the Northern District of Texas.

(g) Discovery Rules Remain Unchanged. Nothing herein shall alter or change in any way the discovery provisions of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, the Local Rules for the United States Bankruptcy Court for the Northern District of Texas, or this Court's own orders. Identification of any individual pursuant to this Protective Order does not make that individual available for deposition or any other form of discovery outside of the restrictions and procedures of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, the Local Rules for the United States Bankruptcy Court for the Northern District of Texas, or this Court's own orders.

(h) Attorneys and witnesses are prohibited from arguing or implying at trial that a witness for a Party should have or could have received or reviewed information protected by this Order if this Order prohibits that witness from receiving or reviewing such information.

MEMORANDUM OPINION AND ORDER

Before the Court is Defendant's, Patrick Hagaman Daugherty ("Daugherty"), Motion for Stay Pending Appeal ("Stay Motion") [Dkt. No. 33].[1] The Stay Motion asks

[1] Unless otherwise stated, "Dkt. No." refers to the numbered docket entry in the Court's electronic case file for Adversary No. 25-03055.

the Court to stay this adversary proceeding pending Daugherty's appeal to the district court of this Court's Order (A) Denying Patrick Daugherty's Motion to Dismiss and (B) Granting Highland Capital Management, L.P.'s Cross Motion for Relief from a Final Order Pursuant to Bankruptcy Rule 9024 [Dkt. No. 23]. On January 14, 2026, the Court held a hearing on the Stay Motion. Counsel for both Daugherty and Highland Capital Management, L.P. ("Highland") argued the merits of the Stay Motion; however, neither Daugherty nor Highland offered any evidence in support of their legal arguments. Because the Court finds that Daugherty did not satisfy his burden under prevailing Fifth Circuit precedent, the Court denies the Stay Motion.

Jurisdiction

The Court has jurisdiction over the Stay Motion pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1334 and the Northern District of Texas's Order of Reference of Bankruptcy Cases and Proceedings Nunc Pro Tunc. Misc. Order No. 33 (N.D. Tex. Aug. 3, 1984). Consideration of the Stay Motion is a core proceeding under 28 U.S.C. § 157(b)(2). Venue is proper in this District and Division pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1409.

Procedural History

The issues articulated in the Stay Motion arise well before the commencement of this adversary proceeding. First, the Court confirmed Highland's chapter 11 plan. Case No. 19-34054, Dkt. No. 1943. The plan provided for the creation of a Claimant Trust to be administered by its trustee, James P. Seery, Jr. Id. at 102, 122–24. The Claimant Trust was created on the effective date of the plan. Id. at 102, 122. The trust agreement provides that the Claimant Trust will dissolve upon resolution of all

Disputed Claims and Equity Interests, as defined in the plan, but no later than five years from the effective date of the plan.[2] Id. at 105, 128, 140; Case No. 19-34054, Dkt. No. 1656-2 at 34. The five-year period expires on August 11, 2026. Case No. 19-34054, Dkt. No. 4298.

Second, the Court approved a settlement between Highland and Daugherty. Id., Dkt. No. 3298. As part of the settlement, Daugherty retained a contingent, unliquidated claim (the "Reserved Claim") against the bankruptcy estate related to Highland's 2008 tax return which remains under audit by the IRS. Id., Dkt. No. 3089-1. Depending on the result of the IRS audit, Daugherty asserts he could incur a tax liability for which Highland has agreed to indemnify him. Highland and Daugherty agreed, as part of the settlement, to stay any litigation concerning the Reserved Claim until the IRS completed its audit. Id.

Unfortunately, the IRS audit does not appear to be complete, and completion does not appear to be on the horizon before the August 11, 2026, dissolution of the Claimant Trust. For this reason, Highland filed its complaint seeking to disallow Daugherty's Reserved Claim, to estimate Daugherty's Reserved Claim under 11 U.S.C. § 502, and, to the extent the Reserved Claim is allowed, to subordinate the Reserved Claim pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 510(b). See Dkt. No. 1.

[2] The Claimant Trust Agreement provides for an initial period of three years, but the Court may extend the period for up to an additional two years. The Court has previously extended the three-year period to the maximum five-year period.

Because the settlement agreement provided for a stay of any litigation regarding the Reserved Claim, Daugherty filed his Motion to Dismiss this adversary proceeding under Rule 12(b)(6). Dkt. No. 5.

With its objection to the Motion to Dismiss, Highland moved for relief (the "Cross Motion") from the Court's order approving the settlement agreement pursuant to Rule 9024 of the Federal Rules of Bankruptcy Procedure (the "Bankruptcy Rules"). The Cross Motion asked the Court to strike from the settlement agreement the language preventing litigation of the Reserved Claim. Dkt. Nos. 9, 10.[3]

After considering the Motion to Dismiss and Highland's Cross Motion, the Court entered its order (the "Settlement Modification Order") denying the Motion to Dismiss, granting the Cross Motion, and striking the litigation stay language in the settlement agreement. Dkt. No. 23.

On September 19, 2025, Daugherty filed his Notice of Appeal. Dkt, No. 25. Pursuant to the Notice of Appeal, Daugherty appealed only the Court's Stay Modification Order "to the extent it granted relief under Rule 60(b)."[4] Id. at 2. Daugherty did not appeal the Court's denial of his Motion to Dismiss.

On September 26, 2025, Daugherty filed the Stay Motion seeking to stay this adversary proceeding pending Daugherty's appeal of the Settlement Modification Order.

---

[3] Because the objection responded to Daugherty's Motion to Dismiss and sought affirmative relief as part of Highland's Cross Motion, the pleading was docketed twice, once as the objection to the Motion to Dismiss and once as the Cross Motion.

[4] Bankruptcy Rule 9024 makes applicable to bankruptcy cases Rule 60 of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure.

Discussion

Bankruptcy Rule 8007 provides the procedure for seeking a stay of a bankruptcy court's order or judgment pending its appeal. FED. R. BANKR. P. 8007. Typically, the appellant must move first in the bankruptcy court for a stay pending appeal. Id. 8007(a)(1)(A), (D). Granting a stay is left to the discretion of the court. See Arnold v. Garlock, 278 F.3d 426, 438 (5th Cir. 2001). And a stay pending appeal "is an extraordinary remedy." Garcia Grain Trading Corp. v. Plascencia (In re Garcia Grain Trading Corp.), No. 23-7002, 2025 WL 2730614, at *3 (Bankr. S.D. Tex. Sept. 24, 2025) (quoting Smith v. Smith, No. 6:21-CV-01244-ADA-DTG, 2022 WL 3566453, at *1 (W.D. Tex. July 1, 2022)).

In the Fifth Circuit, courts employ a four-part test to determine whether a stay pending appeal is merited. See Arnold, 278 F.3d at 438. The movant must show (1) a likelihood of success on the merits of the appeal; (2) irreparable harm to the movant if the stay is not granted; (3) lack of substantial harm to the non-moving parties if the stay is granted; and (4) benefit to the public interest if the stay is granted. Id. at 439–42; Culwell v. Tex. Equip. Co. (In re Tex. Equip. Co.), 283 B.R. 222, 226–27 (Bankr. N.D. Tex. 2002) (Jones, J., ret.).

> While each part must be met, the appellant need not always show a probability of success on the merits; instead, the movant need only present a substantial case on the merits when a serious legal question is involved and show that the balance of the equities weighs heavily in favor of granting the stay.

Arnold, 278 F.3d at 438–39 (citation modified). However, "if the balance of the equities (i.e., consideration of the other three factors) is not heavily tilted in the movant's favor, the movant must then make a more substantial showing of likelihood of success on the merits" for the court to grant a stay. Ruiz v. Estelle, 650 F.2d 555, 565–66 (5th Cir. 1981).

The movant bears the burden to prove by a preponderance of the evidence that the stay is warranted. See Garcia Grain, 2025 WL 2730614, at *3; Collier v. Hodge, No. 15-CV-2119, 2015 WL 5016485, at *1 (W.D. La. Aug. 21, 2015). Here, Daugherty bears the burden to prove by a preponderance of the evidence that he is entitled to a stay of these proceedings.

I. Likelihood of Success on the Merits

Daugherty argues the issue on appeal—modification of the settlement agreement pursuant to Rule 60(b)—is a serious legal question for which he must only show a substantial case on the merits. Daugherty cites several cases which hold that a court should not modify agreements reached between the parties after free, calculated, and deliberate choices were made. See Dkt. No. 33 at 7–8. Daugherty asserts that the Court should not have modified the settlement agreement by striking the negotiated Reserved Claim litigation stay.

Highland argues that Daugherty cannot meet his burden to prove a likelihood of success on the merits for two reasons: (1) the Settlement Modification Order is interlocutory, and Daugherty failed to acquire leave to appeal an interlocutory order; and (2) Daugherty cannot show that the Court abused its discretion in granting the Cross Motion pursuant to Rule 60(b).

The Court disagrees with Highland that the Settlement Modification Order is an interlocutory order. Daugherty expressly appeals only the relief granted under Rule 60(b). Dkt. No. 25 at 2. The Court granted the Cross Motion modifying its order approving the settlement agreement. The order approving the settlement agreement was a final order. Any modification of it would likewise be a final, appealable order. This Court believes the Settlement Modification Order is a final, appealable order.[5]

The Court does agree with Highland, though, that Daugherty failed to meet his burden to prove a likelihood of success on the merits. "[T]he decision to grant or deny relief under Rule 60(b) lies within the sound discretion of the district court and will be reversed only for abuse of discretion." Edwards v. City of Houston, 78 F.3d 983, 995 (5th Cir. 1996). Though Daugherty asserts modifying settlement agreements is disfavored, he failed to demonstrate how the Court abused its discretion when it balanced the Claimant Trust's impending dissolution deadline with the settlement agreement's litigation stay provision and determined to strike the litigation stay provision. Co-existence of these conflicting provisions does not appear possible considering the IRS audit may last several more years.

Further, Daugherty failed to establish how the Court's order striking the litigation stay provision constitutes a serious legal question. See Garcia Grain, 2025 WL 2730614, at *5 (finding movant failed to establish a substantial likelihood of success on its appeal because movant failed to support with evidence the argument that the sanction dispute was a serious legal question). "Serious legal questions have far-reaching effects or are matters of public concern that go well beyond the interests of the parties." Hernandez v. Erazo, No. 23-50281, 2023 WL 3175471, at *5 (5th Cir. May 1, 2023) (citation modified). A serious legal question does not exist just because the issue on appeal concerns whether the lower court correctly applied established legal standards to the facts of the case. See id. Therefore, even if Daugherty's argument is that the Court failed to follow the established law on modifying settlement agreements, it does not mean the issue on appeal constitutes a serious legal question.

[5] As discussed further in analyzing irreparable harm, the Court does agree with Highland that the Settlement Modification Order did not dispose of the adversary proceeding, which creates a problem for Daugherty to meet his burden of showing irreparable harm if the stay is not granted.

Finally, as explained more fully below, Daugherty fails to meet the other factors for a stay. Even if the Court were to apply a more lenient standard for demonstrating a likelihood of success on the merits, the balance of the equities does not weigh heavily in favor of granting a stay. See Arnold, 278 F.3d at 439.

For these reasons, the Court finds Daugherty has failed to establish a likelihood of success on the merits.

II. Irreparable Injury if the Stay is Not Granted

At the hearing, Daugherty's arguments about irreparable harm were two-fold. First, Daugherty alleges that litigating the claim will be costly and may not be necessary at all if the IRS does not issue any assessment under the 2008 audit. Second, Daugherty argues that he will not have any effective remedies if the litigation is not stayed because, if the Court disallows the Reserved Claim and the IRS issues an assessment for which Daugherty has additional tax liability, Daugherty will not have recourse for his payment of additional tax liability once Highland's plan is fully consummated.

Daugherty makes both these arguments without presenting any evidence to establish that either will cause irreparable harm to him if the Court does not grant the stay. Daugherty had the burden to prove by a preponderance of the evidence irreparable harm. He did not meet his burden.

Regardless of the lack of evidence of irreparable harm, the Court finds that Daugherty will not be irreparably harmed if the stay is not granted. First, Daugherty appealed only that portion of the Settlement Modification Order that disturbed the terms of the settlement agreement. Daugherty did not appeal the Court's denial of his Motion to Dismiss. If Daugherty is successful in his appeal, and the district court reverses the modification of the settlement agreement, it does not resolve or dismiss this adversary proceeding. Reversal will only result in the stay provision remaining in effect. Daugherty may either seek summary judgment on the same grounds he raised in his Motion to Dismiss or have a claim against Highland for breach of the settlement agreement. In either scenario, Daugherty will still be required to litigate in this adversary proceeding.

Second, under 11 U.S.C. § 502(c), Highland invokes the statutory process of estimating a contingent, unliquidated claim for allowance. Congress created this process for this exact situation—a contingent, unliquidated claim that needs to be liquidated to avoid undue delay in administering a bankruptcy case. The process affords Daugherty effective remedies.

This adversary proceeding is about whether the Reserved Claim should be allowed or disallowed. Daugherty is entitled to prove that the Reserved Claim should be allowed, in what amount, and in what priority. He does not lose that right if a stay is not imposed. Further, Daugherty maintains his right to appeal any order or judgment finding the Reserved Claim is disallowed, allowed in a lesser amount than he believes is supported by evidence, or subordinated to other claims. Likewise, Highland set aside approximately $2.7 million to pay the Reserved Claim if it is allowed.[6] Thus, funds are available to pay Daugherty.

While Daugherty presumes the worst in his arguments, if this adversary proceeds to judgment in favor of Daugherty, then Daugherty may receive a windfall. Highland's counsel acknowledged that if the Court allows the Reserved Claim, Highland will be obligated to pay it even if the IRS does not issue an assessment causing Daugherty to pay additional tax liability.

For these reasons, Daugherty failed to show irreparable harm if the stay is not granted.

III. Lack of Substantial Harm to the Non-moving Parties if the Stay is Granted

Daugherty argues that neither Highland nor other parties will be harmed if the stay is granted. Daugherty asserts that a stay would prevent "costly and time-consuming litigation that could prove to be an empty gesture depending on the results of the IRS'[s] audit." Dkt. No. 33 at 10. Daugherty likewise argues the stay simply maintains the bargain for which Highland negotiated and agreed to as part of the settlement agreement.

[6] During the hearing, Highland's counsel represented to the Court that $2.7 million is set aside as a reserve for the Reserved Claim.

Again, Daugherty makes these arguments without having presented any evidence to establish the lack of substantial harm to the non-moving parties. Daugherty had the burden to prove by a preponderance of the evidence a lack of substantial harm to Highland and others. He did not meet his burden.

While no evidence was presented by either party, it stands to reason that if a stay is imposed, then determination of the Reserved Claim will be further delayed.[7] Counsel for Daugherty and Highland were unable to give the Court a reasonable estimate as to when the IRS would issue a "final determination" of the 2008 audit.[8] Waiting until the IRS makes a "final determination" delays the administration of this bankruptcy case. As stated, Highland reserved funds to cover the Reserved Claim. If the Reserved Claim is less than the reserved funds, additional funds can be paid to other creditors; however, this cannot be done until the Reserved Claim is resolved. Resolution of the Reserved Claim benefits creditors, including Daugherty, as they can be paid what they are owed under the plan. The opposite is true as well—delay in resolving the Reserved Claim harms creditors.

For these reasons, Daugherty failed to show a lack of substantial harm to non-moving parties if the stay is granted.

IV. Benefit to the Public Interest if a Stay is Granted

Daugherty argues the public has an interest in assuring that courts uphold settlement agreements. Daugherty further asserts that a stay in this case promotes

[7] Trial in this adversary proceeding is currently scheduled for April 8, 2026.

[8] The Court notes that Highland's counsel argued that the IRS already issued a "final determination." Yet, no evidence of said "final determination" was submitted to the Court.

judicial economy.

The Court disagrees with Daugherty's arguments. As explained above, the Bankruptcy Code specifically provides for estimation of contingent, unliquidated claims. See 11 U.S.C. § 502(c). The public policy behind the estimation process is to orderly administer bankruptcy cases and to prevent undue delay in their administration. See id.; In re Perry, 425 B.R. 323, 381 (Bankr. S.D. Tex. 2010). Thus, a stay pending appeal does not benefit the public interest in this case.

Further, the issue on appeal is a two-party dispute. The modification of the settlement agreement only affects Daugherty and Highland. Reversal of the Settlement Modification Order does not bestow upon the public any greater rights or benefits.

The Court, likewise, does not find Daugherty's judicial economy argument persuasive. Even if the district court reverses the Settlement Modification Order, as set forth above, the adversary proceeding will continue. Daugherty did not appeal the Court's denial of the Motion to Dismiss. While Daugherty implies a reversal somehow resolves this adversary proceeding, the Court does not agree. Procedurally, Daugherty would have to seek summary judgment on his claim that the settlement agreement bars the litigation until a "final determination" by the IRS. Thus, the Court will still proceed with the adversary proceeding.

For these reasons, Daugherty failed to show that public interests favor imposition of a stay.

Conclusion

Daugherty failed to meet his burden to prove he is entitled to a stay pending appeal of the Settlement Modification Order.

IT IS, THEREFORE, ORDERED that the Stay Motion is DENIED.

MEMORANDUM OPINION AND ORDER

Before the Court is Defendant's, Patrick Hagaman Daugherty ("Daugherty"), Motion for Stay Pending Appeal ("Stay Motion") [Dkt. No. 33].[1] The Stay Motion asks

[1] Unless otherwise stated, "Dkt. No." refers to the numbered docket entry in the Court's electronic case file for Adversary No. 25-03055.

the Court to stay this adversary proceeding pending Daugherty's appeal to the district court of this Court's Order (A) Denying Patrick Daugherty's Motion to Dismiss and (B) Granting Highland Capital Management, L.P.'s Cross Motion for Relief from a Final Order Pursuant to Bankruptcy Rule 9024 [Dkt. No. 23]. On January 14, 2026, the Court held a hearing on the Stay Motion. Counsel for both Daugherty and Highland Capital Management, L.P. ("Highland") argued the merits of the Stay Motion; however, neither Daugherty nor Highland offered any evidence in support of their legal arguments. Because the Court finds that Daugherty did not satisfy his burden under prevailing Fifth Circuit precedent, the Court denies the Stay Motion.

Jurisdiction

The Court has jurisdiction over the Stay Motion pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1334 and the Northern District of Texas's Order of Reference of Bankruptcy Cases and Proceedings Nunc Pro Tunc. Misc. Order No. 33 (N.D. Tex. Aug. 3, 1984). Consideration of the Stay Motion is a core proceeding under 28 U.S.C. § 157(b)(2). Venue is proper in this District and Division pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1409.

Procedural History

The issues articulated in the Stay Motion arise well before the commencement of this adversary proceeding. First, the Court confirmed Highland's chapter 11 plan. Case No. 19-34054, Dkt. No. 1943. The plan provided for the creation of a Claimant Trust to be administered by its trustee, James P. Seery, Jr. Id. at 102, 122–24. The Claimant Trust was created on the effective date of the plan. Id. at 102, 122. The trust agreement provides that the Claimant Trust will dissolve upon resolution of all

Disputed Claims and Equity Interests, as defined in the plan, but no later than five years from the effective date of the plan.[2] Id. at 105, 128, 140; Case No. 19-34054, Dkt. No. 1656-2 at 34. The five-year period expires on August 11, 2026. Case No. 19-34054, Dkt. No. 4298.

Second, the Court approved a settlement between Highland and Daugherty. Id., Dkt. No. 3298. As part of the settlement, Daugherty retained a contingent, unliquidated claim (the "Reserved Claim") against the bankruptcy estate related to Highland's 2008 tax return which remains under audit by the IRS. Id., Dkt. No. 3089-1. Depending on the result of the IRS audit, Daugherty asserts he could incur a tax liability for which Highland has agreed to indemnify him. Highland and Daugherty agreed, as part of the settlement, to stay any litigation concerning the Reserved Claim until the IRS completed its audit. Id.

Unfortunately, the IRS audit does not appear to be complete, and completion does not appear to be on the horizon before the August 11, 2026, dissolution of the Claimant Trust. For this reason, Highland filed its complaint seeking to disallow Daugherty's Reserved Claim, to estimate Daugherty's Reserved Claim under 11 U.S.C. § 502, and, to the extent the Reserved Claim is allowed, to subordinate the Reserved Claim pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 510(b). See Dkt. No. 1.

[2] The Claimant Trust Agreement provides for an initial period of three years, but the Court may extend the period for up to an additional two years. The Court has previously extended the three-year period to the maximum five-year period.

Because the settlement agreement provided for a stay of any litigation regarding the Reserved Claim, Daugherty filed his Motion to Dismiss this adversary proceeding under Rule 12(b)(6). Dkt. No. 5.

With its objection to the Motion to Dismiss, Highland moved for relief (the "Cross Motion") from the Court's order approving the settlement agreement pursuant to Rule 9024 of the Federal Rules of Bankruptcy Procedure (the "Bankruptcy Rules"). The Cross Motion asked the Court to strike from the settlement agreement the language preventing litigation of the Reserved Claim. Dkt. Nos. 9, 10.[3]

After considering the Motion to Dismiss and Highland's Cross Motion, the Court entered its order (the "Settlement Modification Order") denying the Motion to Dismiss, granting the Cross Motion, and striking the litigation stay language in the settlement agreement. Dkt. No. 23.

On September 19, 2025, Daugherty filed his Notice of Appeal. Dkt, No. 25. Pursuant to the Notice of Appeal, Daugherty appealed only the Court's Stay Modification Order "to the extent it granted relief under Rule 60(b)."[4] Id. at 2. Daugherty did not appeal the Court's denial of his Motion to Dismiss.

On September 26, 2025, Daugherty filed the Stay Motion seeking to stay this adversary proceeding pending Daugherty's appeal of the Settlement Modification Order.

---

[3] Because the objection responded to Daugherty's Motion to Dismiss and sought affirmative relief as part of Highland's Cross Motion, the pleading was docketed twice, once as the objection to the Motion to Dismiss and once as the Cross Motion.

[4] Bankruptcy Rule 9024 makes applicable to bankruptcy cases Rule 60 of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure.

Discussion

Bankruptcy Rule 8007 provides the procedure for seeking a stay of a bankruptcy court's order or judgment pending its appeal. FED. R. BANKR. P. 8007. Typically, the appellant must move first in the bankruptcy court for a stay pending appeal. Id. 8007(a)(1)(A), (D). Granting a stay is left to the discretion of the court. See Arnold v. Garlock, 278 F.3d 426, 438 (5th Cir. 2001). And a stay pending appeal "is an extraordinary remedy." Garcia Grain Trading Corp. v. Plascencia (In re Garcia Grain Trading Corp.), No. 23-7002, 2025 WL 2730614, at *3 (Bankr. S.D. Tex. Sept. 24, 2025) (quoting Smith v. Smith, No. 6:21-CV-01244-ADA-DTG, 2022 WL 3566453, at *1 (W.D. Tex. July 1, 2022)).

In the Fifth Circuit, courts employ a four-part test to determine whether a stay pending appeal is merited. See Arnold, 278 F.3d at 438. The movant must show (1) a likelihood of success on the merits of the appeal; (2) irreparable harm to the movant if the stay is not granted; (3) lack of substantial harm to the non-moving parties if the stay is granted; and (4) benefit to the public interest if the stay is granted. Id. at 439–42; Culwell v. Tex. Equip. Co. (In re Tex. Equip. Co.), 283 B.R. 222, 226–27 (Bankr. N.D. Tex. 2002) (Jones, J., ret.).

> While each part must be met, the appellant need not always show a probability of success on the merits; instead, the movant need only present a substantial case on the merits when a serious legal question is involved and show that the balance of the equities weighs heavily in favor of granting the stay.

Arnold, 278 F.3d at 438–39 (citation modified). However, "if the balance of the equities (i.e., consideration of the other three factors) is not heavily tilted in the movant's favor, the movant must then make a more substantial showing of likelihood of success on the merits" for the court to grant a stay. Ruiz v. Estelle, 650 F.2d 555, 565–66 (5th Cir. 1981).

The movant bears the burden to prove by a preponderance of the evidence that the stay is warranted. See Garcia Grain, 2025 WL 2730614, at *3; Collier v. Hodge, No. 15-CV-2119, 2015 WL 5016485, at *1 (W.D. La. Aug. 21, 2015). Here, Daugherty bears the burden to prove by a preponderance of the evidence that he is entitled to a stay of these proceedings.

I. Likelihood of Success on the Merits

Daugherty argues the issue on appeal—modification of the settlement agreement pursuant to Rule 60(b)—is a serious legal question for which he must only show a substantial case on the merits. Daugherty cites several cases which hold that a court should not modify agreements reached between the parties after free, calculated, and deliberate choices were made. See Dkt. No. 33 at 7–8. Daugherty asserts that the Court should not have modified the settlement agreement by striking the negotiated Reserved Claim litigation stay.

Highland argues that Daugherty cannot meet his burden to prove a likelihood of success on the merits for two reasons: (1) the Settlement Modification Order is interlocutory, and Daugherty failed to acquire leave to appeal an interlocutory order; and (2) Daugherty cannot show that the Court abused its discretion in granting the Cross Motion pursuant to Rule 60(b).

The Court disagrees with Highland that the Settlement Modification Order is an interlocutory order. Daugherty expressly appeals only the relief granted under Rule 60(b). Dkt. No. 25 at 2. The Court granted the Cross Motion modifying its order approving the settlement agreement. The order approving the settlement agreement was a final order. Any modification of it would likewise be a final, appealable order. This Court believes the Settlement Modification Order is a final, appealable order.[5]

The Court does agree with Highland, though, that Daugherty failed to meet his burden to prove a likelihood of success on the merits. "[T]he decision to grant or deny relief under Rule 60(b) lies within the sound discretion of the district court and will be reversed only for abuse of discretion." Edwards v. City of Houston, 78 F.3d 983, 995 (5th Cir. 1996). Though Daugherty asserts modifying settlement agreements is disfavored, he failed to demonstrate how the Court abused its discretion when it balanced the Claimant Trust's impending dissolution deadline with the settlement agreement's litigation stay provision and determined to strike the litigation stay provision. Co-existence of these conflicting provisions does not appear possible considering the IRS audit may last several more years.

Further, Daugherty failed to establish how the Court's order striking the litigation stay provision constitutes a serious legal question. See Garcia Grain, 2025 WL 2730614, at *5 (finding movant failed to establish a substantial likelihood of success on its appeal because movant failed to support with evidence the argument that the sanction dispute was a serious legal question). "Serious legal questions have far-reaching effects or are matters of public concern that go well beyond the interests of the parties." Hernandez v. Erazo, No. 23-50281, 2023 WL 3175471, at *5 (5th Cir. May 1, 2023) (citation modified). A serious legal question does not exist just because the issue on appeal concerns whether the lower court correctly applied established legal standards to the facts of the case. See id. Therefore, even if Daugherty's argument is that the Court failed to follow the established law on modifying settlement agreements, it does not mean the issue on appeal constitutes a serious legal question.

[5] As discussed further in analyzing irreparable harm, the Court does agree with Highland that the Settlement Modification Order did not dispose of the adversary proceeding, which creates a problem for Daugherty to meet his burden of showing irreparable harm if the stay is not granted.

Finally, as explained more fully below, Daugherty fails to meet the other factors for a stay. Even if the Court were to apply a more lenient standard for demonstrating a likelihood of success on the merits, the balance of the equities does not weigh heavily in favor of granting a stay. See Arnold, 278 F.3d at 439.

For these reasons, the Court finds Daugherty has failed to establish a likelihood of success on the merits.

II. Irreparable Injury if the Stay is Not Granted

At the hearing, Daugherty's arguments about irreparable harm were two-fold. First, Daugherty alleges that litigating the claim will be costly and may not be necessary at all if the IRS does not issue any assessment under the 2008 audit. Second, Daugherty argues that he will not have any effective remedies if the litigation is not stayed because, if the Court disallows the Reserved Claim and the IRS issues an assessment for which Daugherty has additional tax liability, Daugherty will not have recourse for his payment of additional tax liability once Highland's plan is fully consummated.

Daugherty makes both these arguments without presenting any evidence to establish that either will cause irreparable harm to him if the Court does not grant the stay. Daugherty had the burden to prove by a preponderance of the evidence irreparable harm. He did not meet his burden.

Regardless of the lack of evidence of irreparable harm, the Court finds that Daugherty will not be irreparably harmed if the stay is not granted. First, Daugherty appealed only that portion of the Settlement Modification Order that disturbed the terms of the settlement agreement. Daugherty did not appeal the Court's denial of his Motion to Dismiss. If Daugherty is successful in his appeal, and the district court reverses the modification of the settlement agreement, it does not resolve or dismiss this adversary proceeding. Reversal will only result in the stay provision remaining in effect. Daugherty may either seek summary judgment on the same grounds he raised in his Motion to Dismiss or have a claim against Highland for breach of the settlement agreement. In either scenario, Daugherty will still be required to litigate in this adversary proceeding.

Second, under 11 U.S.C. § 502(c), Highland invokes the statutory process of estimating a contingent, unliquidated claim for allowance. Congress created this process for this exact situation—a contingent, unliquidated claim that needs to be liquidated to avoid undue delay in administering a bankruptcy case. The process affords Daugherty effective remedies.

This adversary proceeding is about whether the Reserved Claim should be allowed or disallowed. Daugherty is entitled to prove that the Reserved Claim should be allowed, in what amount, and in what priority. He does not lose that right if a stay is not imposed. Further, Daugherty maintains his right to appeal any order or judgment finding the Reserved Claim is disallowed, allowed in a lesser amount than he believes is supported by evidence, or subordinated to other claims. Likewise, Highland set aside approximately $2.7 million to pay the Reserved Claim if it is allowed.[6] Thus, funds are available to pay Daugherty.

While Daugherty presumes the worst in his arguments, if this adversary proceeds to judgment in favor of Daugherty, then Daugherty may receive a windfall. Highland's counsel acknowledged that if the Court allows the Reserved Claim, Highland will be obligated to pay it even if the IRS does not issue an assessment causing Daugherty to pay additional tax liability.

For these reasons, Daugherty failed to show irreparable harm if the stay is not granted.

III. Lack of Substantial Harm to the Non-moving Parties if the Stay is Granted

Daugherty argues that neither Highland nor other parties will be harmed if the stay is granted. Daugherty asserts that a stay would prevent "costly and time-consuming litigation that could prove to be an empty gesture depending on the results of the IRS'[s] audit." Dkt. No. 33 at 10. Daugherty likewise argues the stay simply maintains the bargain for which Highland negotiated and agreed to as part of the settlement agreement.

[6] During the hearing, Highland's counsel represented to the Court that $2.7 million is set aside as a reserve for the Reserved Claim.

Again, Daugherty makes these arguments without having presented any evidence to establish the lack of substantial harm to the non-moving parties. Daugherty had the burden to prove by a preponderance of the evidence a lack of substantial harm to Highland and others. He did not meet his burden.

While no evidence was presented by either party, it stands to reason that if a stay is imposed, then determination of the Reserved Claim will be further delayed.[7] Counsel for Daugherty and Highland were unable to give the Court a reasonable estimate as to when the IRS would issue a "final determination" of the 2008 audit.[8] Waiting until the IRS makes a "final determination" delays the administration of this bankruptcy case. As stated, Highland reserved funds to cover the Reserved Claim. If the Reserved Claim is less than the reserved funds, additional funds can be paid to other creditors; however, this cannot be done until the Reserved Claim is resolved. Resolution of the Reserved Claim benefits creditors, including Daugherty, as they can be paid what they are owed under the plan. The opposite is true as well—delay in resolving the Reserved Claim harms creditors.

For these reasons, Daugherty failed to show a lack of substantial harm to non-moving parties if the stay is granted.

IV. Benefit to the Public Interest if a Stay is Granted

Daugherty argues the public has an interest in assuring that courts uphold settlement agreements. Daugherty further asserts that a stay in this case promotes

[7] Trial in this adversary proceeding is currently scheduled for April 8, 2026.

[8] The Court notes that Highland's counsel argued that the IRS already issued a "final determination." Yet, no evidence of said "final determination" was submitted to the Court.

judicial economy.

The Court disagrees with Daugherty's arguments. As explained above, the Bankruptcy Code specifically provides for estimation of contingent, unliquidated claims. See 11 U.S.C. § 502(c). The public policy behind the estimation process is to orderly administer bankruptcy cases and to prevent undue delay in their administration. See id.; In re Perry, 425 B.R. 323, 381 (Bankr. S.D. Tex. 2010). Thus, a stay pending appeal does not benefit the public interest in this case.

Further, the issue on appeal is a two-party dispute. The modification of the settlement agreement only affects Daugherty and Highland. Reversal of the Settlement Modification Order does not bestow upon the public any greater rights or benefits.

The Court, likewise, does not find Daugherty's judicial economy argument persuasive. Even if the district court reverses the Settlement Modification Order, as set forth above, the adversary proceeding will continue. Daugherty did not appeal the Court's denial of the Motion to Dismiss. While Daugherty implies a reversal somehow resolves this adversary proceeding, the Court does not agree. Procedurally, Daugherty would have to seek summary judgment on his claim that the settlement agreement bars the litigation until a "final determination" by the IRS. Thus, the Court will still proceed with the adversary proceeding.

For these reasons, Daugherty failed to show that public interests favor imposition of a stay.

Conclusion

Daugherty failed to meet his burden to prove he is entitled to a stay pending appeal of the Settlement Modification Order.

IT IS, THEREFORE, ORDERED that the Stay Motion is DENIED.

MEMORANDUM OPINION AND ORDER

Before the Court is Defendant's, Patrick Hagaman Daugherty ("Daugherty"), Motion for Stay Pending Appeal ("Stay Motion") [Dkt. No. 33].[1] The Stay Motion asks

[1] Unless otherwise stated, "Dkt. No." refers to the numbered docket entry in the Court's electronic case file for Adversary No. 25-03055.

the Court to stay this adversary proceeding pending Daugherty's appeal to the district court of this Court's Order (A) Denying Patrick Daugherty's Motion to Dismiss and (B) Granting Highland Capital Management, L.P.'s Cross Motion for Relief from a Final Order Pursuant to Bankruptcy Rule 9024 [Dkt. No. 23]. On January 14, 2026, the Court held a hearing on the Stay Motion. Counsel for both Daugherty and Highland Capital Management, L.P. ("Highland") argued the merits of the Stay Motion; however, neither Daugherty nor Highland offered any evidence in support of their legal arguments. Because the Court finds that Daugherty did not satisfy his burden under prevailing Fifth Circuit precedent, the Court denies the Stay Motion.

Jurisdiction

The Court has jurisdiction over the Stay Motion pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1334 and the Northern District of Texas's Order of Reference of Bankruptcy Cases and Proceedings Nunc Pro Tunc. Misc. Order No. 33 (N.D. Tex. Aug. 3, 1984). Consideration of the Stay Motion is a core proceeding under 28 U.S.C. § 157(b)(2). Venue is proper in this District and Division pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1409.

Procedural History

The issues articulated in the Stay Motion arise well before the commencement of this adversary proceeding. First, the Court confirmed Highland's chapter 11 plan. Case No. 19-34054, Dkt. No. 1943. The plan provided for the creation of a Claimant Trust to be administered by its trustee, James P. Seery, Jr. Id. at 102, 122–24. The Claimant Trust was created on the effective date of the plan. Id. at 102, 122. The trust agreement provides that the Claimant Trust will dissolve upon resolution of all

Disputed Claims and Equity Interests, as defined in the plan, but no later than five years from the effective date of the plan.[2] Id. at 105, 128, 140; Case No. 19-34054, Dkt. No. 1656-2 at 34. The five-year period expires on August 11, 2026. Case No. 19-34054, Dkt. No. 4298.

Second, the Court approved a settlement between Highland and Daugherty. Id., Dkt. No. 3298. As part of the settlement, Daugherty retained a contingent, unliquidated claim (the "Reserved Claim") against the bankruptcy estate related to Highland's 2008 tax return which remains under audit by the IRS. Id., Dkt. No. 3089-1. Depending on the result of the IRS audit, Daugherty asserts he could incur a tax liability for which Highland has agreed to indemnify him. Highland and Daugherty agreed, as part of the settlement, to stay any litigation concerning the Reserved Claim until the IRS completed its audit. Id.

Unfortunately, the IRS audit does not appear to be complete, and completion does not appear to be on the horizon before the August 11, 2026, dissolution of the Claimant Trust. For this reason, Highland filed its complaint seeking to disallow Daugherty's Reserved Claim, to estimate Daugherty's Reserved Claim under 11 U.S.C. § 502, and, to the extent the Reserved Claim is allowed, to subordinate the Reserved Claim pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 510(b). See Dkt. No. 1.

[2] The Claimant Trust Agreement provides for an initial period of three years, but the Court may extend the period for up to an additional two years. The Court has previously extended the three-year period to the maximum five-year period.

Because the settlement agreement provided for a stay of any litigation regarding the Reserved Claim, Daugherty filed his Motion to Dismiss this adversary proceeding under Rule 12(b)(6). Dkt. No. 5.

With its objection to the Motion to Dismiss, Highland moved for relief (the "Cross Motion") from the Court's order approving the settlement agreement pursuant to Rule 9024 of the Federal Rules of Bankruptcy Procedure (the "Bankruptcy Rules"). The Cross Motion asked the Court to strike from the settlement agreement the language preventing litigation of the Reserved Claim. Dkt. Nos. 9, 10.[3]

After considering the Motion to Dismiss and Highland's Cross Motion, the Court entered its order (the "Settlement Modification Order") denying the Motion to Dismiss, granting the Cross Motion, and striking the litigation stay language in the settlement agreement. Dkt. No. 23.

On September 19, 2025, Daugherty filed his Notice of Appeal. Dkt, No. 25. Pursuant to the Notice of Appeal, Daugherty appealed only the Court's Stay Modification Order "to the extent it granted relief under Rule 60(b)."[4] Id. at 2. Daugherty did not appeal the Court's denial of his Motion to Dismiss.

On September 26, 2025, Daugherty filed the Stay Motion seeking to stay this adversary proceeding pending Daugherty's appeal of the Settlement Modification Order.

---

[3] Because the objection responded to Daugherty's Motion to Dismiss and sought affirmative relief as part of Highland's Cross Motion, the pleading was docketed twice, once as the objection to the Motion to Dismiss and once as the Cross Motion.

[4] Bankruptcy Rule 9024 makes applicable to bankruptcy cases Rule 60 of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure.

Discussion

Bankruptcy Rule 8007 provides the procedure for seeking a stay of a bankruptcy court's order or judgment pending its appeal. FED. R. BANKR. P. 8007. Typically, the appellant must move first in the bankruptcy court for a stay pending appeal. Id. 8007(a)(1)(A), (D). Granting a stay is left to the discretion of the court. See Arnold v. Garlock, 278 F.3d 426, 438 (5th Cir. 2001). And a stay pending appeal "is an extraordinary remedy." Garcia Grain Trading Corp. v. Plascencia (In re Garcia Grain Trading Corp.), No. 23-7002, 2025 WL 2730614, at *3 (Bankr. S.D. Tex. Sept. 24, 2025) (quoting Smith v. Smith, No. 6:21-CV-01244-ADA-DTG, 2022 WL 3566453, at *1 (W.D. Tex. July 1, 2022)).

In the Fifth Circuit, courts employ a four-part test to determine whether a stay pending appeal is merited. See Arnold, 278 F.3d at 438. The movant must show (1) a likelihood of success on the merits of the appeal; (2) irreparable harm to the movant if the stay is not granted; (3) lack of substantial harm to the non-moving parties if the stay is granted; and (4) benefit to the public interest if the stay is granted. Id. at 439–42; Culwell v. Tex. Equip. Co. (In re Tex. Equip. Co.), 283 B.R. 222, 226–27 (Bankr. N.D. Tex. 2002) (Jones, J., ret.).

> While each part must be met, the appellant need not always show a probability of success on the merits; instead, the movant need only present a substantial case on the merits when a serious legal question is involved and show that the balance of the equities weighs heavily in favor of granting the stay.

Arnold, 278 F.3d at 438–39 (citation modified). However, "if the balance of the equities (i.e., consideration of the other three factors) is not heavily tilted in the movant's favor, the movant must then make a more substantial showing of likelihood of success on the merits" for the court to grant a stay. Ruiz v. Estelle, 650 F.2d 555, 565–66 (5th Cir. 1981).

The movant bears the burden to prove by a preponderance of the evidence that the stay is warranted. See Garcia Grain, 2025 WL 2730614, at *3; Collier v. Hodge, No. 15-CV-2119, 2015 WL 5016485, at *1 (W.D. La. Aug. 21, 2015). Here, Daugherty bears the burden to prove by a preponderance of the evidence that he is entitled to a stay of these proceedings.

I. Likelihood of Success on the Merits

Daugherty argues the issue on appeal—modification of the settlement agreement pursuant to Rule 60(b)—is a serious legal question for which he must only show a substantial case on the merits. Daugherty cites several cases which hold that a court should not modify agreements reached between the parties after free, calculated, and deliberate choices were made. See Dkt. No. 33 at 7–8. Daugherty asserts that the Court should not have modified the settlement agreement by striking the negotiated Reserved Claim litigation stay.

Highland argues that Daugherty cannot meet his burden to prove a likelihood of success on the merits for two reasons: (1) the Settlement Modification Order is interlocutory, and Daugherty failed to acquire leave to appeal an interlocutory order; and (2) Daugherty cannot show that the Court abused its discretion in granting the Cross Motion pursuant to Rule 60(b).

The Court disagrees with Highland that the Settlement Modification Order is an interlocutory order. Daugherty expressly appeals only the relief granted under Rule 60(b). Dkt. No. 25 at 2. The Court granted the Cross Motion modifying its order approving the settlement agreement. The order approving the settlement agreement was a final order. Any modification of it would likewise be a final, appealable order. This Court believes the Settlement Modification Order is a final, appealable order.[5]

The Court does agree with Highland, though, that Daugherty failed to meet his burden to prove a likelihood of success on the merits. "[T]he decision to grant or deny relief under Rule 60(b) lies within the sound discretion of the district court and will be reversed only for abuse of discretion." Edwards v. City of Houston, 78 F.3d 983, 995 (5th Cir. 1996). Though Daugherty asserts modifying settlement agreements is disfavored, he failed to demonstrate how the Court abused its discretion when it balanced the Claimant Trust's impending dissolution deadline with the settlement agreement's litigation stay provision and determined to strike the litigation stay provision. Co-existence of these conflicting provisions does not appear possible considering the IRS audit may last several more years.

Further, Daugherty failed to establish how the Court's order striking the litigation stay provision constitutes a serious legal question. See Garcia Grain, 2025 WL 2730614, at *5 (finding movant failed to establish a substantial likelihood of success on its appeal because movant failed to support with evidence the argument that the sanction dispute was a serious legal question). "Serious legal questions have far-reaching effects or are matters of public concern that go well beyond the interests of the parties." Hernandez v. Erazo, No. 23-50281, 2023 WL 3175471, at *5 (5th Cir. May 1, 2023) (citation modified). A serious legal question does not exist just because the issue on appeal concerns whether the lower court correctly applied established legal standards to the facts of the case. See id. Therefore, even if Daugherty's argument is that the Court failed to follow the established law on modifying settlement agreements, it does not mean the issue on appeal constitutes a serious legal question.

[5] As discussed further in analyzing irreparable harm, the Court does agree with Highland that the Settlement Modification Order did not dispose of the adversary proceeding, which creates a problem for Daugherty to meet his burden of showing irreparable harm if the stay is not granted.

Finally, as explained more fully below, Daugherty fails to meet the other factors for a stay. Even if the Court were to apply a more lenient standard for demonstrating a likelihood of success on the merits, the balance of the equities does not weigh heavily in favor of granting a stay. See Arnold, 278 F.3d at 439.

For these reasons, the Court finds Daugherty has failed to establish a likelihood of success on the merits.

II. Irreparable Injury if the Stay is Not Granted

At the hearing, Daugherty's arguments about irreparable harm were two-fold. First, Daugherty alleges that litigating the claim will be costly and may not be necessary at all if the IRS does not issue any assessment under the 2008 audit. Second, Daugherty argues that he will not have any effective remedies if the litigation is not stayed because, if the Court disallows the Reserved Claim and the IRS issues an assessment for which Daugherty has additional tax liability, Daugherty will not have recourse for his payment of additional tax liability once Highland's plan is fully consummated.

Daugherty makes both these arguments without presenting any evidence to establish that either will cause irreparable harm to him if the Court does not grant the stay. Daugherty had the burden to prove by a preponderance of the evidence irreparable harm. He did not meet his burden.

Regardless of the lack of evidence of irreparable harm, the Court finds that Daugherty will not be irreparably harmed if the stay is not granted. First, Daugherty appealed only that portion of the Settlement Modification Order that disturbed the terms of the settlement agreement. Daugherty did not appeal the Court's denial of his Motion to Dismiss. If Daugherty is successful in his appeal, and the district court reverses the modification of the settlement agreement, it does not resolve or dismiss this adversary proceeding. Reversal will only result in the stay provision remaining in effect. Daugherty may either seek summary judgment on the same grounds he raised in his Motion to Dismiss or have a claim against Highland for breach of the settlement agreement. In either scenario, Daugherty will still be required to litigate in this adversary proceeding.

Second, under 11 U.S.C. § 502(c), Highland invokes the statutory process of estimating a contingent, unliquidated claim for allowance. Congress created this process for this exact situation—a contingent, unliquidated claim that needs to be liquidated to avoid undue delay in administering a bankruptcy case. The process affords Daugherty effective remedies.

This adversary proceeding is about whether the Reserved Claim should be allowed or disallowed. Daugherty is entitled to prove that the Reserved Claim should be allowed, in what amount, and in what priority. He does not lose that right if a stay is not imposed. Further, Daugherty maintains his right to appeal any order or judgment finding the Reserved Claim is disallowed, allowed in a lesser amount than he believes is supported by evidence, or subordinated to other claims. Likewise, Highland set aside approximately $2.7 million to pay the Reserved Claim if it is allowed.[6] Thus, funds are available to pay Daugherty.

While Daugherty presumes the worst in his arguments, if this adversary proceeds to judgment in favor of Daugherty, then Daugherty may receive a windfall. Highland's counsel acknowledged that if the Court allows the Reserved Claim, Highland will be obligated to pay it even if the IRS does not issue an assessment causing Daugherty to pay additional tax liability.

For these reasons, Daugherty failed to show irreparable harm if the stay is not granted.

III. Lack of Substantial Harm to the Non-moving Parties if the Stay is Granted

Daugherty argues that neither Highland nor other parties will be harmed if the stay is granted. Daugherty asserts that a stay would prevent "costly and time-consuming litigation that could prove to be an empty gesture depending on the results of the IRS'[s] audit." Dkt. No. 33 at 10. Daugherty likewise argues the stay simply maintains the bargain for which Highland negotiated and agreed to as part of the settlement agreement.

[6] During the hearing, Highland's counsel represented to the Court that $2.7 million is set aside as a reserve for the Reserved Claim.

Again, Daugherty makes these arguments without having presented any evidence to establish the lack of substantial harm to the non-moving parties. Daugherty had the burden to prove by a preponderance of the evidence a lack of substantial harm to Highland and others. He did not meet his burden.

While no evidence was presented by either party, it stands to reason that if a stay is imposed, then determination of the Reserved Claim will be further delayed.[7] Counsel for Daugherty and Highland were unable to give the Court a reasonable estimate as to when the IRS would issue a "final determination" of the 2008 audit.[8] Waiting until the IRS makes a "final determination" delays the administration of this bankruptcy case. As stated, Highland reserved funds to cover the Reserved Claim. If the Reserved Claim is less than the reserved funds, additional funds can be paid to other creditors; however, this cannot be done until the Reserved Claim is resolved. Resolution of the Reserved Claim benefits creditors, including Daugherty, as they can be paid what they are owed under the plan. The opposite is true as well—delay in resolving the Reserved Claim harms creditors.

For these reasons, Daugherty failed to show a lack of substantial harm to non-moving parties if the stay is granted.

IV. Benefit to the Public Interest if a Stay is Granted

Daugherty argues the public has an interest in assuring that courts uphold settlement agreements. Daugherty further asserts that a stay in this case promotes

[7] Trial in this adversary proceeding is currently scheduled for April 8, 2026.

[8] The Court notes that Highland's counsel argued that the IRS already issued a "final determination." Yet, no evidence of said "final determination" was submitted to the Court.

judicial economy.

The Court disagrees with Daugherty's arguments. As explained above, the Bankruptcy Code specifically provides for estimation of contingent, unliquidated claims. See 11 U.S.C. § 502(c). The public policy behind the estimation process is to orderly administer bankruptcy cases and to prevent undue delay in their administration. See id.; In re Perry, 425 B.R. 323, 381 (Bankr. S.D. Tex. 2010). Thus, a stay pending appeal does not benefit the public interest in this case.

Further, the issue on appeal is a two-party dispute. The modification of the settlement agreement only affects Daugherty and Highland. Reversal of the Settlement Modification Order does not bestow upon the public any greater rights or benefits.

The Court, likewise, does not find Daugherty's judicial economy argument persuasive. Even if the district court reverses the Settlement Modification Order, as set forth above, the adversary proceeding will continue. Daugherty did not appeal the Court's denial of the Motion to Dismiss. While Daugherty implies a reversal somehow resolves this adversary proceeding, the Court does not agree. Procedurally, Daugherty would have to seek summary judgment on his claim that the settlement agreement bars the litigation until a "final determination" by the IRS. Thus, the Court will still proceed with the adversary proceeding.

For these reasons, Daugherty failed to show that public interests favor imposition of a stay.

Conclusion

Daugherty failed to meet his burden to prove he is entitled to a stay pending appeal of the Settlement Modification Order.

IT IS, THEREFORE, ORDERED that the Stay Motion is DENIED.

MEMORANDUM OPINION AND ORDER

Before the Court is Defendant's, Patrick Hagaman Daugherty ("Daugherty"), Motion for Stay Pending Appeal ("Stay Motion") [Dkt. No. 33].[1] The Stay Motion asks

[1] Unless otherwise stated, "Dkt. No." refers to the numbered docket entry in the Court's electronic case file for Adversary No. 25-03055.

the Court to stay this adversary proceeding pending Daugherty's appeal to the district court of this Court's Order (A) Denying Patrick Daugherty's Motion to Dismiss and (B) Granting Highland Capital Management, L.P.'s Cross Motion for Relief from a Final Order Pursuant to Bankruptcy Rule 9024 [Dkt. No. 23]. On January 14, 2026, the Court held a hearing on the Stay Motion. Counsel for both Daugherty and Highland Capital Management, L.P. ("Highland") argued the merits of the Stay Motion; however, neither Daugherty nor Highland offered any evidence in support of their legal arguments. Because the Court finds that Daugherty did not satisfy his burden under prevailing Fifth Circuit precedent, the Court denies the Stay Motion.

Jurisdiction

The Court has jurisdiction over the Stay Motion pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1334 and the Northern District of Texas's Order of Reference of Bankruptcy Cases and Proceedings Nunc Pro Tunc. Misc. Order No. 33 (N.D. Tex. Aug. 3, 1984). Consideration of the Stay Motion is a core proceeding under 28 U.S.C. § 157(b)(2). Venue is proper in this District and Division pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1409.

Procedural History

The issues articulated in the Stay Motion arise well before the commencement of this adversary proceeding. First, the Court confirmed Highland's chapter 11 plan. Case No. 19-34054, Dkt. No. 1943. The plan provided for the creation of a Claimant Trust to be administered by its trustee, James P. Seery, Jr. Id. at 102, 122–24. The Claimant Trust was created on the effective date of the plan. Id. at 102, 122. The trust agreement provides that the Claimant Trust will dissolve upon resolution of all

Disputed Claims and Equity Interests, as defined in the plan, but no later than five years from the effective date of the plan.[2] Id. at 105, 128, 140; Case No. 19-34054, Dkt. No. 1656-2 at 34. The five-year period expires on August 11, 2026. Case No. 19-34054, Dkt. No. 4298.

Second, the Court approved a settlement between Highland and Daugherty. Id., Dkt. No. 3298. As part of the settlement, Daugherty retained a contingent, unliquidated claim (the "Reserved Claim") against the bankruptcy estate related to Highland's 2008 tax return which remains under audit by the IRS. Id., Dkt. No. 3089-1. Depending on the result of the IRS audit, Daugherty asserts he could incur a tax liability for which Highland has agreed to indemnify him. Highland and Daugherty agreed, as part of the settlement, to stay any litigation concerning the Reserved Claim until the IRS completed its audit. Id.

Unfortunately, the IRS audit does not appear to be complete, and completion does not appear to be on the horizon before the August 11, 2026, dissolution of the Claimant Trust. For this reason, Highland filed its complaint seeking to disallow Daugherty's Reserved Claim, to estimate Daugherty's Reserved Claim under 11 U.S.C. § 502, and, to the extent the Reserved Claim is allowed, to subordinate the Reserved Claim pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 510(b). See Dkt. No. 1.

[2] The Claimant Trust Agreement provides for an initial period of three years, but the Court may extend the period for up to an additional two years. The Court has previously extended the three-year period to the maximum five-year period.

Because the settlement agreement provided for a stay of any litigation regarding the Reserved Claim, Daugherty filed his Motion to Dismiss this adversary proceeding under Rule 12(b)(6). Dkt. No. 5.

With its objection to the Motion to Dismiss, Highland moved for relief (the "Cross Motion") from the Court's order approving the settlement agreement pursuant to Rule 9024 of the Federal Rules of Bankruptcy Procedure (the "Bankruptcy Rules"). The Cross Motion asked the Court to strike from the settlement agreement the language preventing litigation of the Reserved Claim. Dkt. Nos. 9, 10.[3]

After considering the Motion to Dismiss and Highland's Cross Motion, the Court entered its order (the "Settlement Modification Order") denying the Motion to Dismiss, granting the Cross Motion, and striking the litigation stay language in the settlement agreement. Dkt. No. 23.

On September 19, 2025, Daugherty filed his Notice of Appeal. Dkt, No. 25. Pursuant to the Notice of Appeal, Daugherty appealed only the Court's Stay Modification Order "to the extent it granted relief under Rule 60(b)."[4] Id. at 2. Daugherty did not appeal the Court's denial of his Motion to Dismiss.

On September 26, 2025, Daugherty filed the Stay Motion seeking to stay this adversary proceeding pending Daugherty's appeal of the Settlement Modification Order.

---

[3] Because the objection responded to Daugherty's Motion to Dismiss and sought affirmative relief as part of Highland's Cross Motion, the pleading was docketed twice, once as the objection to the Motion to Dismiss and once as the Cross Motion.

[4] Bankruptcy Rule 9024 makes applicable to bankruptcy cases Rule 60 of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure.

Discussion

Bankruptcy Rule 8007 provides the procedure for seeking a stay of a bankruptcy court's order or judgment pending its appeal. FED. R. BANKR. P. 8007. Typically, the appellant must move first in the bankruptcy court for a stay pending appeal. Id. 8007(a)(1)(A), (D). Granting a stay is left to the discretion of the court. See Arnold v. Garlock, 278 F.3d 426, 438 (5th Cir. 2001). And a stay pending appeal "is an extraordinary remedy." Garcia Grain Trading Corp. v. Plascencia (In re Garcia Grain Trading Corp.), No. 23-7002, 2025 WL 2730614, at *3 (Bankr. S.D. Tex. Sept. 24, 2025) (quoting Smith v. Smith, No. 6:21-CV-01244-ADA-DTG, 2022 WL 3566453, at *1 (W.D. Tex. July 1, 2022)).

In the Fifth Circuit, courts employ a four-part test to determine whether a stay pending appeal is merited. See Arnold, 278 F.3d at 438. The movant must show (1) a likelihood of success on the merits of the appeal; (2) irreparable harm to the movant if the stay is not granted; (3) lack of substantial harm to the non-moving parties if the stay is granted; and (4) benefit to the public interest if the stay is granted. Id. at 439–42; Culwell v. Tex. Equip. Co. (In re Tex. Equip. Co.), 283 B.R. 222, 226–27 (Bankr. N.D. Tex. 2002) (Jones, J., ret.).

> While each part must be met, the appellant need not always show a probability of success on the merits; instead, the movant need only present a substantial case on the merits when a serious legal question is involved and show that the balance of the equities weighs heavily in favor of granting the stay.

Arnold, 278 F.3d at 438–39 (citation modified). However, "if the balance of the equities (i.e., consideration of the other three factors) is not heavily tilted in the movant's favor, the movant must then make a more substantial showing of likelihood of success on the merits" for the court to grant a stay. Ruiz v. Estelle, 650 F.2d 555, 565–66 (5th Cir. 1981).

The movant bears the burden to prove by a preponderance of the evidence that the stay is warranted. See Garcia Grain, 2025 WL 2730614, at *3; Collier v. Hodge, No. 15-CV-2119, 2015 WL 5016485, at *1 (W.D. La. Aug. 21, 2015). Here, Daugherty bears the burden to prove by a preponderance of the evidence that he is entitled to a stay of these proceedings.

I. Likelihood of Success on the Merits

Daugherty argues the issue on appeal—modification of the settlement agreement pursuant to Rule 60(b)—is a serious legal question for which he must only show a substantial case on the merits. Daugherty cites several cases which hold that a court should not modify agreements reached between the parties after free, calculated, and deliberate choices were made. See Dkt. No. 33 at 7–8. Daugherty asserts that the Court should not have modified the settlement agreement by striking the negotiated Reserved Claim litigation stay.

Highland argues that Daugherty cannot meet his burden to prove a likelihood of success on the merits for two reasons: (1) the Settlement Modification Order is interlocutory, and Daugherty failed to acquire leave to appeal an interlocutory order; and (2) Daugherty cannot show that the Court abused its discretion in granting the Cross Motion pursuant to Rule 60(b).

The Court disagrees with Highland that the Settlement Modification Order is an interlocutory order. Daugherty expressly appeals only the relief granted under Rule 60(b). Dkt. No. 25 at 2. The Court granted the Cross Motion modifying its order approving the settlement agreement. The order approving the settlement agreement was a final order. Any modification of it would likewise be a final, appealable order. This Court believes the Settlement Modification Order is a final, appealable order.[5]

The Court does agree with Highland, though, that Daugherty failed to meet his burden to prove a likelihood of success on the merits. "[T]he decision to grant or deny relief under Rule 60(b) lies within the sound discretion of the district court and will be reversed only for abuse of discretion." Edwards v. City of Houston, 78 F.3d 983, 995 (5th Cir. 1996). Though Daugherty asserts modifying settlement agreements is disfavored, he failed to demonstrate how the Court abused its discretion when it balanced the Claimant Trust's impending dissolution deadline with the settlement agreement's litigation stay provision and determined to strike the litigation stay provision. Co-existence of these conflicting provisions does not appear possible considering the IRS audit may last several more years.

Further, Daugherty failed to establish how the Court's order striking the litigation stay provision constitutes a serious legal question. See Garcia Grain, 2025 WL 2730614, at *5 (finding movant failed to establish a substantial likelihood of success on its appeal because movant failed to support with evidence the argument that the sanction dispute was a serious legal question). "Serious legal questions have far-reaching effects or are matters of public concern that go well beyond the interests of the parties." Hernandez v. Erazo, No. 23-50281, 2023 WL 3175471, at *5 (5th Cir. May 1, 2023) (citation modified). A serious legal question does not exist just because the issue on appeal concerns whether the lower court correctly applied established legal standards to the facts of the case. See id. Therefore, even if Daugherty's argument is that the Court failed to follow the established law on modifying settlement agreements, it does not mean the issue on appeal constitutes a serious legal question.

[5] As discussed further in analyzing irreparable harm, the Court does agree with Highland that the Settlement Modification Order did not dispose of the adversary proceeding, which creates a problem for Daugherty to meet his burden of showing irreparable harm if the stay is not granted.

Finally, as explained more fully below, Daugherty fails to meet the other factors for a stay. Even if the Court were to apply a more lenient standard for demonstrating a likelihood of success on the merits, the balance of the equities does not weigh heavily in favor of granting a stay. See Arnold, 278 F.3d at 439.

For these reasons, the Court finds Daugherty has failed to establish a likelihood of success on the merits.

II. Irreparable Injury if the Stay is Not Granted

At the hearing, Daugherty's arguments about irreparable harm were two-fold. First, Daugherty alleges that litigating the claim will be costly and may not be necessary at all if the IRS does not issue any assessment under the 2008 audit. Second, Daugherty argues that he will not have any effective remedies if the litigation is not stayed because, if the Court disallows the Reserved Claim and the IRS issues an assessment for which Daugherty has additional tax liability, Daugherty will not have recourse for his payment of additional tax liability once Highland's plan is fully consummated.

Daugherty makes both these arguments without presenting any evidence to establish that either will cause irreparable harm to him if the Court does not grant the stay. Daugherty had the burden to prove by a preponderance of the evidence irreparable harm. He did not meet his burden.

Regardless of the lack of evidence of irreparable harm, the Court finds that Daugherty will not be irreparably harmed if the stay is not granted. First, Daugherty appealed only that portion of the Settlement Modification Order that disturbed the terms of the settlement agreement. Daugherty did not appeal the Court's denial of his Motion to Dismiss. If Daugherty is successful in his appeal, and the district court reverses the modification of the settlement agreement, it does not resolve or dismiss this adversary proceeding. Reversal will only result in the stay provision remaining in effect. Daugherty may either seek summary judgment on the same grounds he raised in his Motion to Dismiss or have a claim against Highland for breach of the settlement agreement. In either scenario, Daugherty will still be required to litigate in this adversary proceeding.

Second, under 11 U.S.C. § 502(c), Highland invokes the statutory process of estimating a contingent, unliquidated claim for allowance. Congress created this process for this exact situation—a contingent, unliquidated claim that needs to be liquidated to avoid undue delay in administering a bankruptcy case. The process affords Daugherty effective remedies.

This adversary proceeding is about whether the Reserved Claim should be allowed or disallowed. Daugherty is entitled to prove that the Reserved Claim should be allowed, in what amount, and in what priority. He does not lose that right if a stay is not imposed. Further, Daugherty maintains his right to appeal any order or judgment finding the Reserved Claim is disallowed, allowed in a lesser amount than he believes is supported by evidence, or subordinated to other claims. Likewise, Highland set aside approximately $2.7 million to pay the Reserved Claim if it is allowed.[6] Thus, funds are available to pay Daugherty.

While Daugherty presumes the worst in his arguments, if this adversary proceeds to judgment in favor of Daugherty, then Daugherty may receive a windfall. Highland's counsel acknowledged that if the Court allows the Reserved Claim, Highland will be obligated to pay it even if the IRS does not issue an assessment causing Daugherty to pay additional tax liability.

For these reasons, Daugherty failed to show irreparable harm if the stay is not granted.

III. Lack of Substantial Harm to the Non-moving Parties if the Stay is Granted

Daugherty argues that neither Highland nor other parties will be harmed if the stay is granted. Daugherty asserts that a stay would prevent "costly and time-consuming litigation that could prove to be an empty gesture depending on the results of the IRS'[s] audit." Dkt. No. 33 at 10. Daugherty likewise argues the stay simply maintains the bargain for which Highland negotiated and agreed to as part of the settlement agreement.

[6] During the hearing, Highland's counsel represented to the Court that $2.7 million is set aside as a reserve for the Reserved Claim.

Again, Daugherty makes these arguments without having presented any evidence to establish the lack of substantial harm to the non-moving parties. Daugherty had the burden to prove by a preponderance of the evidence a lack of substantial harm to Highland and others. He did not meet his burden.

While no evidence was presented by either party, it stands to reason that if a stay is imposed, then determination of the Reserved Claim will be further delayed.[7] Counsel for Daugherty and Highland were unable to give the Court a reasonable estimate as to when the IRS would issue a "final determination" of the 2008 audit.[8] Waiting until the IRS makes a "final determination" delays the administration of this bankruptcy case. As stated, Highland reserved funds to cover the Reserved Claim. If the Reserved Claim is less than the reserved funds, additional funds can be paid to other creditors; however, this cannot be done until the Reserved Claim is resolved. Resolution of the Reserved Claim benefits creditors, including Daugherty, as they can be paid what they are owed under the plan. The opposite is true as well—delay in resolving the Reserved Claim harms creditors.

For these reasons, Daugherty failed to show a lack of substantial harm to non-moving parties if the stay is granted.

IV. Benefit to the Public Interest if a Stay is Granted

Daugherty argues the public has an interest in assuring that courts uphold settlement agreements. Daugherty further asserts that a stay in this case promotes

[7] Trial in this adversary proceeding is currently scheduled for April 8, 2026.

[8] The Court notes that Highland's counsel argued that the IRS already issued a "final determination." Yet, no evidence of said "final determination" was submitted to the Court.

judicial economy.

The Court disagrees with Daugherty's arguments. As explained above, the Bankruptcy Code specifically provides for estimation of contingent, unliquidated claims. See 11 U.S.C. § 502(c). The public policy behind the estimation process is to orderly administer bankruptcy cases and to prevent undue delay in their administration. See id.; In re Perry, 425 B.R. 323, 381 (Bankr. S.D. Tex. 2010). Thus, a stay pending appeal does not benefit the public interest in this case.

Further, the issue on appeal is a two-party dispute. The modification of the settlement agreement only affects Daugherty and Highland. Reversal of the Settlement Modification Order does not bestow upon the public any greater rights or benefits.

The Court, likewise, does not find Daugherty's judicial economy argument persuasive. Even if the district court reverses the Settlement Modification Order, as set forth above, the adversary proceeding will continue. Daugherty did not appeal the Court's denial of the Motion to Dismiss. While Daugherty implies a reversal somehow resolves this adversary proceeding, the Court does not agree. Procedurally, Daugherty would have to seek summary judgment on his claim that the settlement agreement bars the litigation until a "final determination" by the IRS. Thus, the Court will still proceed with the adversary proceeding.

For these reasons, Daugherty failed to show that public interests favor imposition of a stay.

Conclusion

Daugherty failed to meet his burden to prove he is entitled to a stay pending appeal of the Settlement Modification Order.

IT IS, THEREFORE, ORDERED that the Stay Motion is DENIED.

STIPULATION AS TO THE AUTHENTICITY OF DOCUMENTS PRODUCED BY HUNTON ANDREWS & KURTH LLP

This stipulation (the "Stipulation") is made and entered into by and between plaintiff Highland Capital Management L.P. ("Highland" or the "Debtor") and defendant Patrick Hagaman Daugherty ("Daugherty" and together with Highland, the "Parties"), by and through their respective undersigned counsel, pursuant to which the Parties agree that the documents produced by Hunton Andrews & Kurth LLP ("HAK") in response to a subpoena served by Highland in the above-referenced adversary proceeding (the "Adversary Proceeding") are authentic for purposes of Fed. R. Evid. 901.

RECITALS

WHEREAS, on October 16, 2019 (the "Petition Date"), the Debtor filed a voluntary petition for relief under chapter 11 of title 11 of the United States Code (the "Bankruptcy Code") in the United States Bankruptcy Court for the District of Delaware, Case No. 19-12239 (CSS) (the "Delaware Court").

WHEREAS, on December 4, 2019, the Delaware Court entered an order transferring venue of the Debtor's bankruptcy case to the United States Bankruptcy Court for the Northern District of Texas, Dallas Division (the "Bankruptcy Court"). Bankr. Docket No. 186.

WHEREAS, on May 2, 2025, Highland commenced the Adversary Proceeding against Daugherty.

WHEREAS, on December 19, 2025, Highland served a subpoena on HAK seeking certain documents.

WHEREAS, on January 22, 2026, the Court signed that certain Agreed Order Concerning Subpoena to Third-Party Hunton Andrews & Kurth LLP, and it was entered on the docket the following day at Adv. Pro. Docket No. 77 (the "Subpoena").

WHEREAS, on January 23, 2026, in response to the Subpoena, HAK produced to counsel for Highland and Daugherty documents bates-stamped Hunton 000001-2578 (the "HAK Documents").

WHEREAS, the Parties have conferred and desire to enter into this Stipulation agreeing to the authenticity of the HAK Documents.

NOW, THEREFORE, it is hereby stipulated and agreed, and upon approval of this Stipulation by the Bankruptcy Court, it shall be SO ORDERED:

1. The Parties agree that the HAK Documents are authentic evidence for purposes of Fed. R. Evid. 901.

2. Except for the foregoing, the Parties reserve all other rights to object to the admissibility of all or any of the HAK Documents.

3. If approved by the Court, this Stipulation shall only be modified in a writing signed by the Parties or upon the entry of an order of the Court entered upon notice to the Parties.

4. The Court shall retain jurisdiction over all disputes arising out of or otherwise concerning the interpretation and enforcement of this Stipulation.

Dated: February 9, 2026.
