Frequently Asked Questions for Shareholders

1. What will happen to the stock I own?

   This will be determined in the course of the Chapter 11 proceedings. However, we will seek to maximize value to all stakeholders, including our shareholders.

2. Will the Company be delisted/stop trading publicly? If so, when?

   On June 28, 2023, the Company received notice from the Listing Qualifications Department of the Nasdaq Stock Market LLC ("NASDAQ") that, as a result of the Chapter 11 proceedings and as is customary under such circumstances, Nasdaq determined that the Company's common stock would be delisted. On July 7, 2023, NASDAQ suspended trading in the Company's common stock. As a result of the suspension and delisting, the Company's common stock began trading exclusively on the over-the-counter market under the symbol RIDEQ.

3. Can equity holders expect recovery in a sale process?

   What will happen to the stock that you own will be determined in the course of the proceedings. However, we will seek to maximize value for all stakeholders, including our shareholders.

4. Can I sell my stock now? Should I?

   Please contact your investment advisor or brokerage firm to discuss the options available to you.